

Board asked to solidify high schools' policies

PLYMOUTH — School Board Member Fred Penar has asked the school board and administration to study and develop policies on high school facilities and their utilization and management.

In a report to the board, Penar has requested that March 18 be set aside for a board study session "to develop board positions" on high school policies.

Among the things to be considered, Penar's report said, are: the location of future high schools, further development of the two existing schools at Centennial Education Park, sharing of facilities between the schools, and management (including student assignment).

"The scope of discussions leading to these position statements must include the feasibility of alternatives, but will not extend itself to details of implementation," Penar said.

"The primary purpose of this effort is the development of clear policy statements which reflect the will of the board and the community," he added. "Administrative plans for implementing these policy decisions will, of course, follow at a later date."

Penar is also proposing that the board study session be followed by two separate public hearings on the policies so that the final board position statements will be "modified by citizens' input from the public hearings."

He said the policies should look towards settling disputes over splitting music and athletic programs between the two high schools and also in the selection of students for attendance between the two schools — all of which have been hot issues in the past.

At the last school board meeting, Penar lost in his drive to get a random selection attendance policy established for the two high schools when the board voted down the idea 4 — 2. Marda Benson voted with Penar on the issue. School Board Member George Lawton was absent.

At that time, he argued that the random selection attendance procedure for the schools was "an inherent part" of the educational park concept.

In his report, Penar has compiled information from past school board meetings as far back as 1967 on policies relating to the park concept.

He will officially present the report at Tuesday's school board meeting.

How did energy crisis arise? What is being done about it?

By EDWARD WENDOVER

PLYMOUTH — The energy crisis — how did it arise and what's being done about it?

It was to that topic — which seems quite in vogue these days — that three experts in the energy field addressed themselves at last week's Plymouth Chamber of Commerce luncheon.

"The inside dope on the energy crunch" was the title of the program that featured Wendell Mason of Consumers Power Co., James Lagowski of Detroit Edison Co., and Walter McDonald of Marathon Oil Co. as speakers.

Mason, an assistant division manager for Consumers, said, "The energy joy ride in this country is coming to an end fast."

"We have to give some things up."

"The era of cheap energy and illusions of unlimited abundance is drawing to a close," he said, prophesizing rough sledding ahead.

Mason said the demand for energy has now outstripped energy production and that was caused by technology.

"It rests on technology's shoulders to find a solution, he added."

The various forms of energy and fuel are often inter-related, Mason explained. For example, the production of electricity uses coal, oil and some natural gas as fuel.

In the natural gas field, the present "crisis" was fueled by ecology measures — which he described as "neurotic approach to pollution control" — and a national governmental policy of "keep it (natural gas) cheap," he said.

Although North America represents six per cent of the world's population, it accounts for 64 per cent of the world's natural gas use, he said, describing the situation on this continent.

Because of increased cutbacks from its major supplier, Eastern Pipeline Co., Consumers has also cut back and is now adding residential customers only, Mason said.

To help alleviate the shortage, he said, his company is exploring in Michigan for natural gas reserves although this is not believed to be a total solution for meeting residential, commercial and industrial demands.

Lagowski, director of consumer products in Detroit Edison's public affairs department, said the energy crunch is being felt hard by electric companies.

He said that while there is an annual four per cent increase in demand for all types of energy, there is annually a seven per cent increase in demand for electricity.

He echoed Mason's statement that our continent consumes more than its proportionate share of energy, saying that the United States alone uses one third of the world's electricity.

Of that domestic output, he said, two thirds goes to commerce, industry and municipal customers while one third meets residential needs. A total of 10 per cent of all electricity is currently going towards environmental cleanup, Lagowski added.

The electric companies are currently feeling a squeeze because of the changeover from coal to oil fuels for pollution control at the same time there is a gap widening between oil production and demand for oil-based fuels, he said.

Michigan, which Lagowski termed an "energy poor state," gets 95 per cent of its energy from fuel brought in from other states or countries.

He said one possible step toward alleviating Michigan's problems in the electric energy field is the construction of more production facilities. But more financing is needed for that, he added.

"The demand for energy starts with people," Lagowski concluded, "and the energy crisis is going to be solved by people — individually and collectively."

McDonald, manager of Marathon Oil Co. technical services department, began his talk by scoffing at a statement made by Consumer Advocate Ralph Nader that "the world is literally drowning in a flood of oil."

He also dismissed the belief by some that the "energy crisis" is a conspiracy by the oil companies.

Consumers are equally responsible — along with the oil companies and the government — for the gasoline shortage now being felt, McDonald said.

Like Mason and Lagowski, the Marathon spokesman also said Americans account for far more than their proportionate energy use when it comes to gasoline. Sixty per cent of all gasoline in the world is burned in the United States, he said.

"The days of bargain prices for oil are probably over forever," McDonald emphasized.

Nuclear energy, once considered the hope for meeting rising energy demands, is doing a darn rotten job today.

"So for the next decade, oil has got to play the major role in energy," he said.

But this reliance on oil (and oil based fuels) is causing a crunch on oil refining capacities which, he said, are "inadequate to meet demand" because of governmental policies, lack of financial backing and environmental concerns.

McDonald stressed several times that the environmental concerns today are responsible for much wasting of energy.

In 1973 an estimated 12 million gallons of gasoline went toward automobile emission control devices each day, he said, "and that gasoline didn't drive us a single mile."

He said that was just one reason why gasoline supplies were not meeting demands today and suggested these possible solutions:

•The government should develop coordinated and consistent policies toward oil and gasoline production and use.

•Environmental and economic controls should be balanced.

•Price controls should be eliminated, thereby permitting a free market on gasoline and oil production. (This should perhaps should be done on a phased in basis.)

•The development of all U.S. energy sources should be encouraged.

•Consumers should try to conserve energy.

'Helpful' Scouts find marijuana

By MAURIE WALKER

PLYMOUTH — Alert action by several scouts of Plymouth Troop 1533 has resulted in the confiscation of approximately 20 pounds of marijuana and the arrest of a man who faces a charge of "intent to deliver."

Wynn Schrader, one of the leaders of the troop, said the boys were on a patrol Feb. 2 near Hudson Mills Metropark when they witnessed an accident on Territorial Road between a truck and a car.

The boys saw the man from the truck run into a nearby ravine. The boys went looking for the man, fearing he was injured, and discovered a black plastic bag which they took the park ranger station.

The rangers, who work for the Huron — Clinton Metropolitan Authority and are deputized by the Washtenaw County Sheriff Dept., said the bag contained "between 29 and 30 pounds of uncut marijuana."

The truck driver, whose name was withheld by police, returned to the scene of the accident and was arrested by the rangers.

He was turned over to the sheriff department, which confirmed that the bag contained marijuana. The truck driver is scheduled to appear in court this week on a charge of "intent to deliver marijuana."

Police say the man was arrested after the boy scouts found the bag which appeared to have been freshly hidden in the brush near the accident.

Breakin suspect nabbed after dive through window

PLYMOUTH — Police are holding a suspect in lieu of $15,000 bond on a charge of breaking and entering Wilt's Drug Store, 330 S. Main Sunday night.

Awaiting pre-trial examination Feb. 25 is John B. Roberts, 33, of Wayne. Police say he was captured after he dove through the store window in an attempt to escape.

Police this account of events leading to Roberts' arrest:

"At about 11:45 p.m., Lt. Henry Berghoff, who was off duty, spotted a car backing up to the rear of the drug store."

"He radioed headquarters."

Sgt. William Fletcher and Patrolman Thomas Drake responded.

"Fletcher spotted the man in the store. The suspect was ordered to halt but ignored the command. Berghoff and Drake entered the store, chasing the suspect to the front of the building."

"The man dove through the plate glass window, falling to the sidewalk. Fletcher drew his gun, ordering the man not to move. He was handcuffed and taken to headquarters."

Police said a bottle of pills, identified as coming from the store, were found in the man's jacket pocket.

PETER PAN and his friends will be in Plymouth this weekend when the American Assn. of University Women presents its annual children's play in Plymouth-Salem High School. Performances are at 7 p.m. Friday and at 10 a.m., 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. Saturday. Tickets are 60 cents. ## AAUW bringing 'Peter Pan' to town

PLYMOUTH — Peter Pan, childhood's ever-young, ever-lovable "lost boy," and all his funny and fierce friends from "Neverland" will come to life for hundreds of area children this weekend when the Plymouth branch of the American Assn. of University Women (AAUW) presents its 14th annual children's play.

The five-act production will be staged Friday and Saturday, Feb. 22 and 23, in the Plymouth — Salem High School auditorium. Performances will be at 7 p.m. Friday evening and at 10 a.m., 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. Saturday.

Tickets, at 60 cents each, are now available at Del's Shoe Store, 322 S. Main in Plymouth. Telephone ticket orders are also being taken by Jan Carney, of 11517 Burger Drive; Ruth Clemens, of 9950 Levan; and Janet Malmer, of 14630 Susanna.

Three additional performances will be presented on Saturday, March 9, in the Northville High School auditorium. Tickets for these engagements will be available, after March 1, at Del's Shoe Store, 153 E. Main in Northville. Nancy Olgren, of 43650 Nine Mile Road, Novi, will handle telephone ticket sales for these performances.

According to the play's director, Joan Davis of Plymouth, "Peter Pan" has the distinction of having the largest cast in AAUW children's theater history, with 33 speaking parts. "Because of the sheer number involved," she said, "this year's production is probably one of the group's most ambitious undertakings in terms of costuming, makeup, and properties."

"Tinkerbell," Pan's flying elfin companion, was one of our biggest casting problems, Mrs. Davis said. Although her solution will remain a surprise until the actual performances, Mrs. Davis is confident that "Tinkerbell" will surprise and delight young audiences.

Heading the cast will be Nancy Deck as Peter Pan, Lois Andres as Captain Hook, and Chris Timoshuk as Wendy. The rest of the Darling family will be played by Sharon Flowers and Joan Anderson as Mr. and Mrs. Darling; Sally Rowland as Michael; Linda Willing as John; and Joyce Reifer of Detroit as Nana, the children's canine nursemaid.

Other cast members are: Meredith Girard, Emily Kemnitz, Linda Gratsch, Maureen Krause, Janet Cunningham, Marilyn Dwyer, Marilyn Robison, Doris Balconi, Margo Panko, Bonnie Graham, Karen Minto, Ruth Burr, Ruth Davis, Peggy Fisher, Alice Chrenko, Daine Amos and Marilyn Carl, all of Plymouth. Donna Domalske, Janet Malmer, Sue Silletti and Coralyn Riley, of Livonia; Edna Fleming of Northville, and Jane Sparks of Westland.

Proceeds from the play are used to support local undergraduate scholarships at Schoolcraft Community College and the University of Michigan's Center for Continuing Education, as well as national and international graduate fellowships.

PEA fires negotiator

PLYMOUTH — The Plymouth Education Assn. has relieved its chief negotiator, William Kloote, of his duties.

Kloote had recommended that the teachers accept an offer made by the schools in December, but the membership voted on Dec. 19 to turn it down, 210 to 146.

At that time, some controversy and heated exchanges arose between Kloote and PEA President Joe Henshaw.

Dolly Carter, PEA vice president, said Kloote was removed by a petition signing by at least 51 per cent of the membership and the disagreement over the school's December offer "wasn't the only problem."

Kloote termed his removal "a vote of no confidence."

A new negotiator has not yet been appointed.

Governor's optimism rules at GOP banquet

By TIM RICHARD

Ask a Republican if he's worried about the Watergate fallout, and he'll say "sure."

But the party itself seems buoyant, at least in the 15th Congressional District in western Wayne County.

(That was prior to Monday's Democratic victory in Michigan's 5th Congressional District, a GOP stronghold under now - Vice President Gerald Ford.)

Last weekend's Lincoln Day dinner brought out a record 350 ticket buyers to the Hilton Inn overlooking Metro Airport - "the largest we've had in 10 years," said Chairman Ernest Fackler. It was even more impressive because this year's dinner price was $15, up 50 per cent.

A reason, Fackler said, was that "we've got the most popular guy in the state as our speaker" - Gov. William Milliken, expected to announce for another term soon.

There were other good signs for the GOP. There were many new faces in the under-40 age bracket, and there were many black faces. Time was when Inkster Mayor Ed Bivens was the only black person active in the 15th District.

GOV. MILLIKEN
'I sensed an upbeat'

And the program listed a healthy 36 members in the "Century Club" - donors of $100 or more.

A telegram signed "Richard Nixon" (rather than "The President") drew warm, though not wild, applause. The only poster in evidence displayed Gov. Milliken.

Milliken himself saw problems and yet was optimistic.

People are disillusioned about government, he began, and yet there was hope with "honest, straight - forward and enlightened" lawmakers like State Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth) and Rep. Robert Geake (R-Northville), both of whom happened to be in the audience.

The energy crisis is real: "No other state is more directly - and, regrettably, more negatively - affected than Michigan. . . It would be misleading to say it's of short duration."

But he expected "we'll soon see a resolution of the Middle East problem and resumption of oil shipments."

Unemployment is up, but the day before, Milliken had ribbon-cut at the reopening of Ford's Wayne assembly plant, a $75 million conversion to small car production. The governor "sensed an upbeat. . . As the months unwind into spring and summer, we're going to see better times."

He said "1974 is going to be a tough year for the Republican Party in Michigan and the U.S. . . I can't contend Watergate will help the Republican Party - it will hurt."

"The Republican Party, as a party, is not associated with Watergate per se. Most people in government are honest and trying to do a good job."

"If we find the finest, most able and honest candidates. . . stay united, we will not only hold but prosper," Milliken said.

Governor for six years, Milliken, if re-elected, would have 10 years in the job, second only to G. Mennen Williams (1949-60) in sheer length of Michigan service.

But Milliken was candid, though in a joking way, about the strains of office. Until this year, he has never been so open about the pressures and his own pleasure in getting away from Lansing, even for a political dinner in a district where his party draws 30 per cent of the vote.

How to help fight drugs

Library hosts Cooke's 'America' series

"MARY, MARY" will be presented again this weekend at Plymouth's Central School auditorium by the Plymouth Theater Guild at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday. Rehearsing for the production, which revolves around romantic and financial troubles of a recently divorced couple, are (standing) Kris Cook as Mary; and (seated) Diane Ball as Tiffany, and Jim Courtney as Bob. (Observer photo by Bob Woodring))

PLYMOUTH — Alistair Cooke's widely acclaimed "America" series will be offered free on Monday nights beginning March 4 in Dunning-Hough library.

The series, a 13-part filmed panorama of American life from the early 18th century to the present, was first televised in 1972.

It is winner of four Emmy awards and has been described as the "first, and perhaps the finest gift to the nation for its 200th birthday."

The films are embellished with anecdotes and narrated in conversational form by journalist Alistair Cooke, commentator for public television's Masterpiece Theatre and host of the Omnibus program of the 1950s.

The public is invited and may view all or any of the films, including just one of the two films offered an evening.

The schedule is: March 4 at 7 p.m., "New Found Land" in which one of the last of the untamed continents is explored and settled by the Spanish, French and finally taken over by the British;

March 4 at 8 p.m., "Home from Home," in which Puritans, Pilgrims and Quakers struggle with the rocky North while a landed gentry evolves a kind of feudal system in the South, and thus a conflict of values is begun.

March 11 at 7 p.m., "Making a Revolution" in which the colonists become dissatisfied with English rule, such leaders as Washington and Jefferson emerge and the nation turns to armed warfare;

March 11 at 8 p.m., "Inventing a Nation" in which the art of compromise gives birth to the Constitution, a visit to Monticello gives insight into the mind which created the Bill of Rights, and the nation presses westward, following the lead of Daniel Boone.

March 18 at 7 p.m., "Gone West" in which Lewis and Clark are sent on a mission to the Pacific and white settlers push whole Indian nations west of the Mississippi. The Gold Rush begins and California is the destination of thousands of '49ers in wagon trains.

March 18 at 8 p.m., "Fire-bell in the Night" in which Cooke explains conflicts that are still unresolved, stemming from the Civil War and deep racial wounds.

March 25 at 7 p.m., "Domesticating a Wilderness" in which the West is settled by ranchers, homesteaders and Mormons, while the Indians' last desperate struggles explode in the Custer massacre and the Battle of Wounded Knee, the prelude to the present poverty of today's reservation Indians.

March 25 at 8 p.m., "The Huddled Masses" in which turn of the century immigration scenes picture Ellis Island and garment factory sweatshops in contrast to the wealthy tycoons who got rich at the newcomers' expense.

April 1 at 7 p.m., "Money on the Land" in which turn of the century industrialists and early inventors like Edison find methods of making mass production pay off; then the big financiers move in and the nation shifts its center from rural countryside to the cities.

April 1 at 8 p.m., "The Promise Fulfilled and the Promise Broken" in which a view of the roaring '20s and the impact of the Model T Ford is shown followed by the advent of the Great Depression.

April 8 at 7 p.m., "Arsenal" in which Cooke traces, from Williamsburg to World War II and the current arms race, what he observes as the "American way of war."

April 8 at 8 p.m., "First Impact" which is a personal memoir by Cooke on his fascination with America and the things that made him want to stay — all the way from New Orleans jazz to H. L. Mencken.

April 15 at 7 p.m., "The More Abundant Life" which is a summary of the country's future and present which asks the question of what has been fulfilled and what betrayed in light of the American experience.

Woodhaven fires Sirbaugh

PLYMOUTH — Gary Sirbaugh, former purchasing supervisor for the Plymouth School District, has been fired from his position as business manager of the Woodhaven School District.

According to Woodhaven School Supt. Mark Wegenkia, Sirbaugh's contract was terminated as of Feb. 6 for "unsatisfactory performance" and "misrepresentation of credentials."

Wegenkia also acknowledged that an audit is currently being conducted on Sirbaugh's salary account relative to four checks.

Sirbaugh told The Plymouth Mail & Observer Monday that he was "never questioned once during any interview"

The Woodhaven superintendent disputed that and said Sirbaugh listed invalid credentials on his resume.

Sirbaugh left the Plymouth Schools for the Woodhaven job on July 30, 1973.

Democrats sets meeting

PLYMOUTH — The Plymouth - Northville Democratic Club will hold a second organizational meeting Friday, Feb. 22, at 8 p.m. in the Plymouth Federal Credit Union building, 500 Harvey St.

An initial organizational meeting involved a wide ranging discussion of possible avenues of approach to club organization, according to Richard B. McGinn, who was selected temporary chairperson.

Schools join retardation test program

PLYMOUTH — Plymouth has joined the Yeshiva University network for testing a curriculum for the mentally retarded.

The social learning curriculum, designed for the education of mentally retarded children and youth, is being developed at the Curriculum Research and Development Center in Mental Retardation at the university's Ferkau Graduate School of Humanities and Social Sciences in New York.

The program in Plymouth will be headed by Dr. Edwin R. Page, director of pupil personnel services for Plymouth schools. Five teachers are testing the program for Plymouth schools on the primary, intermediate and junior high school levels.

Taking physical, social and psychological elements of the environment into account, the special learning curriculum is designed to equip the special student with knowledge, skills and behaviors that will enhance his opportunities for success.

'Equal' treatment isn't always fair

So you own this gas station on Eight Mile Road and times are basead.

It's winter and your hands get awful cold when you're jerking gas, and your allocation has been chopped from what it was last year, and then the oil companies bumped the wholesale price and only a whole lot of shouting got the guys at the Cost of Living Council to let you pass the increase on to your customers, but even then your volume's down so much you can't make it even on the old margin and then - Sweet Lord; - then what do they do?

Then they tell you that you can't take care of your regular customers. You can't save a little gas for the guy who's been buying from you for 15 years, or give him a slip in the line, or make an appointment to fill him up.

Why? Why? Because it's discriminatory, that's why. To take care of your old customer discriminates against the out - of - stater, against the guy who's just cruising. The government passes a rule that says you gotta treat everybody who comes to your station equally, or else you'll get fined. And you're mad as hell.

AND I FOR ONE, don't blame you one bit. Because you're caught in one of the deepest and potentially most serious confusions in our existence as a nation.

A lot of people think that "equal" means the same thing as "fair." But it doesn't.

Of all the ideas propelling the history of our country, equality is surely one of the most important. The Declaration of Independence speaks of all men being created equal; the 14th amendment to the Constitution pledges equal treatment under the law for all; the idea

Observation Point

Philip H. Power

of equality is the engine that drives the movement against racial discrimination.

But push the application of the idea of equality too far and our common sense notion of fairness is violated.

The gas station operator depends absolutely on his regular customers; day in, day out, they sustain his business, pay his aut. Over the years they have been loyal to him, and it's only fair that during the gas shortage this loyalty be returned - at the cost of treating casual customers unequally.

Just how strong this notion of fairness is can be seen by the fact that when the federal government tried to enforce the strict equality rule, a whole lot of gas station operators immediately started talking about shutting down.

CONSIDER TWO other examples of the fairness - equality conflict.

All children ought to have equal access to an equally good education. But is it fair to either suburban or inner city children to bus them 20 or 30 miles to and from school each day?

All people ought to be treated equally under the law. Yet is it fair to order the cop on the beat to book the good kid who is caught on a first offense just like the repeated offender, when a little chat with the good kid and his parents might set him straight for life?

These examples help make clear the distinction between equality and fairness that I'm trying to make. Equality means just that; everybody is to be treated alike, pretty much regardless of circumstances. Fairness means that people are to be treated in accordance with circumstances, in ways appropriate to the situation, in the context of the relationship.

Equality, if pushed too hard, can lead to an inhuman kind of society, in which each individual is treated as nothing more than a statistic. Fairness, if pushed too far, can lead to a society of special privilege, in which class status represses simple humanity.

Both ideas - equality and fairness - are deeply embedded in the history and ethic of this country. Each is different; both are somewhat in conflict; and taken together, each limits the excesses of the other.

But in this age when the fashion is to talk endlessly of equality, the older more common sense notion of fairness seems to have slipped from our national discourse.

Perhaps that's partly why so many people are so sore and suspicious of our government, which, by forbidding gasoline stations to give their loyal customers special treatment, sacrifices fairness on the altar of equality and, in the process, devalues both.

Tennis has grown up in a few years

eccentricities

Idank Idogau

This has been and will be a very exciting week for tennis buffs in the metropolitan Detroit area.

For the last several years, the Junior League of Birmingham has sponsored the Virginia Slims Tennis Tournament. This year it will bring most of the top women players in the world to Cobo Hall to compete for a $50,000 purse.

To show the growing interest in tennis, four years ago the sponsors hoped to attract 2,500 people into the gym at Oakland University. This Sunday for the finals they expect to sell out the 11,000 seat arena at Cobo Hall.

THE BILLIE JEAN King - Bobby Riggs match last fall has not hurt the popularity of tennis, and with Billie Jean being the feature attraction at Cobo this week, those who failed to make it to the match in Houston have an opportunity to see the "supersperson" in action.

Cobo Hall has not been the only area of tennis activity.

In May, something new will be added to professional tennis - world team tennis.

Sixteen cities, including Detroit, have been given franchises to field teams of three men and three women who will play 44 matches over a period of three and a half months. Instead of individual competition, the winners will be determined by the total number of games won in three events; a women's singles, a men's singles and a mixed doubles event.

THIS IS OF SOME significance this week because last Sunday night at Centaur Farms Racquet Club in West Bloomfield Township, history was made by the playing of the first such match between the Detroit entry, the Detroit Loves, and a pickup team called the Nationals, which included a non - playing captain by the name of Billie Jean King.

The purpose of the match was to see how long it would actually take and what the hitches were in the program format so that when team tennis starts in May, they would be able to put on a match within the 2 1/2 hours allocated by television.

The 2 1/2 hour event lasted about four hours, which showed the common sense of having a dress rehearsal early enough so the program could be pared down.

THERE IS A QUESTION as to whether team tennis will make it, since it has to attract between 3,000 and 4,000 to Cobo Hall for each of its 22 home matches.

The owners of the Detroit Loves, Seymour Brode and Marshall Greenspan, are confident because they can see how well Detroit has supported the Virginia Slims tournament over the last couple of years. They were also fortunate enough in the draft to pick up Rosemary Casals, who is one of the most colorful women's players on the circuit.

They say tennis is the fastest growing participant sport in America. The fact that the Virginia Slims Tennis circuit expects to attract 11,000 people to Cobo Hall on Sunday and the fact that the preliminary exhibition for world team tennis held in a little out of the way tennis house in West Bloomfield attracted an overflow crowd would indicate that tennis will become increasingly more important as a spectator sport in the next few years.

Millage hike seems doomed

Crime.

In every survey of people's concern about the issues of the day, crime leads the list. All the prosperity, all the natural beauty in the world, all the good health man can develop - all of it means nothing if our streets are so crime - ridden that it's unsafe to walk them, or unsafe to leave our houses at dusk.

Every public official with his ear to the wind is proposing to do something about crime - more police, more courts, more prosecutors, more equipment.

Taxes. That's the one thing people seem to hate more than crime. Or so it appeared from a public hearing last week when a Wayne County Board of Commissioners committee sounded out local sentiment on a proposal to place a one - mill public safety tax on the ballot.

Sentiment was unanimously against the proposal of Board Chairman Robert FitzPatrick (D-Detroit), who, by the way, never showed up at the session. Another public hearing is set for the downriver area, and the scuttlebutt I get is that the tax package will be just as vigorously opposed there.

A third public hearing is planned for Detroit, but if a couple of Detroit women who journeyed to Westland for last week's hearing are any indication, the proposal won't do any better there.

One can understand the county's point of view: It's under pressure from the courts to do something about the jail; it's under pressure on the question of juvenile facilities; it's threatened by judges who want to give their employees generous pay hikes and the heck with fiscal policy... and it's locked in on local revenues.

If the county alone asked for a tax hike, it wouldn't get anywhere because it's a remote unit of government to most folks - no source of home town pride. So Chairman Fitz concocted the idea of splitting one mill, 20 per cent to the county and 80 per cent to the 43 local cities and townships in Wayne County. They didn't bite.

One reason was that FitzPatrick came up with a formula that would split the local share on the basis of the 1970 census and the annually changing state equalized valuations. That clearly would work against the western suburbs where population is growing, and in favor of the older cities where population is declining.

Another reason is that many cities haven't levied taxes up to their charter limits. Their councils simply don't need to go to the voters for more money.

A third reason is that Sam Turner (D-Detroit), chairman of the general government committee which conducted the hearing, failed to push the proposal. He could, for example, have asked witnesses opposing a one mill tax whether they would favor a half - mill; he could have asked city officials objecting to the formula whether they would have a different formula. Turner could, in short, have asked the public for constructive alternatives, but instead he chose to let the negative evidence pile up unopposed.

Redford Township, Livonia, the two Plymouths and Canton Township would all be better off asking voters directly for more police funds, if they need them (Redford's Chief Edwin Gleza thinks so), than by going along with FitzPatrick's proposal; and in Westland, Mayor Gene McKinney has other ideas to put on the ballot along with more public safety. So maybe it's just as well that FitzPatrick's proposal is allowed to die.

One good thing came out of the hearing. The county board, isolated and money - hungry in the days when Al Zak was chairman, is now going into the hinterlands and talking with us common folk. For that it deserves credit.

Corinne Abatt writes

Ski bunny takes her lumps

"See all the skiers on the slopes," my friend said driving through the gate to the ski resort.

This is called positive conditioning. As a non - skier I was about to make my first run down some as yet unseen bunny hill.

"Pull over and let the ambulances pass," I replied in a commanding backseat driver tone.

"Pay no attention," he said. "There are days when hardly anybody gets hurt." For years I had been telling my youngsters, assorted friends and leering enemies that I would learn to ski.

Someday is a wonderful put - off word. You can usually stretch a someday promise into an eternity. I But, suddenly someday had come.

Trapped! Now, skiing in the movies and on TV looks graceful, an outdoor symphony of snow, air and athlete.

But, mucking around on the ground in the plastic version of the iron shoe is like walking to the store with a garbage can on each foot.

So, there I am slogging along to the bunny slope, a pair of skis on my shoulder, two poles in one hand, leather gloves, extra socks and Ace bandages in the other.

The hill didn't look too bad. I mean, I had gone down steeper ones on the seat of my wool snow pants as a kid.

"At least show me how to steer," I yelled as the rest of the party shot down the hill like a flock of Jonathan Livingstone seagulls.

There was no time. The skis had a mind of their own. Like a horse heading for the barn they took off. Me on top - at least for the moment.

There was a group at the bottom of the hill who appeared to be taking bets on how long I would last before wiping out.

About halfway down a terrifying thought hit me. I didn't know how to stop.

"You forgot to tell me how to stop," I screamed nearing the landing strip.

"Bend your knees in," was the response.

Like a knock - kneed chicken I sailed right by the first group wondering if the steps of the lodge would slow the speed.

Then it happened - a perfect three point landing (hips, shoulders and knees) on the edge of the pond used for making snow.

Still, before the evening was over the runs down bunny hill got to be kind of fun.

Getting back up was something else.

You can only get left at the chair lift starting gate so many times before you get a klutz complex. And you can only be in a tow rope pileup a couple of times before realizing that skiing can be a contact sport.

On the way home, Ace bandages still in hand, I began to search for meaning. There had to be something gained besides sore muscles.

Indeed!

In the years to come when I tell this story to my grandchildren (an embellished version, naturally) I will pause and then add at the end in a deep, sartorial tone, "Just remember you're going downhill is easy. It's getting to the top in the first place that takes brains and effort."

Prosecutor Patterson helps solve people's problems

EDITOR: Today I wish to write to the people, especially the people of Farmington. In this age of mistrust and dissolution, to have the privilege to contact someone like speak on television. I contacted him by phone; he answered promptly, to say if I could not get him, to get in contact with his secretary. This I did, explaining the situation to her as also Mr. Patterson had.

L. Brooks Patterson, prosecuting attorney of Oakland County. I heard Mr. Patterson

My problem was red tape. Shifted to one call and place to another, getting absolutely nowhere.

Jacqueline Rice, Mr. Patterson's chief investigator, offered to drive me where I should go. This was through the courtesy of Mr. Patterson. I wish to thank these wonderful, considerate people publicly for their concern to simple people like me.

A 'slob' strikes the neighborhood

EDITOR: We would like to thank the inconsiderate slob who chose to dump their trash and garbage at the corner of Barlow and Orchard Lake roads. The people on Barlow and Greening really enjoy cleaning up after you, not to mention the joy of seeing your trash sit there until spring cleanup.

Your trash also serves as a daily reminder of your thoughtlessness as we leave for work each morning and greet us each evening.

We have had exactly one trash pickup since November.

Passbook critic unfair

EDITOR: The disappointed writer about Metro Passbook did not mention what things she could not obtain.

I have used quite a few coupons from my 1974 passbook and have not encountered any problems. I have purchased the Metro Passbook for several years and think they are great!

Some establishments have closed due to fire, etc., and some are under new management. No one can predict these places closing. A phone call to the place of business would confirm if the coupon was usable.

Most of the establishments are reliable companies. With such a large number of usable coupons, it is unfair to criticize the Metro Passbook because of a few unreliable businesses who do not live to their contracts with Metro Passbook.

Fathers ignored in school story

EDITOR:

This is in regard to the Jan. 30 issue of the Observer Life section, page 1. Several mothers were concerned about sex discrimination on the part of their daughters and shop classes.

There's something about those two articles that no one noticed.

Though the words "boys" and "girls" were used many times, the word "mother" or "mothers" were used eight times; "daughters" six times.

But "father" and "son" were never used. Only "husband" was used, once.

This tells us a lot. This tells us that while "father" is at work, not really worrying that his "son" isn't getting his fair share of home ec (he's even kind of glad), "mother" sits at home. And having nothing better to do, she complains that "daughter" is only being trained to be a "mother" so that she one day will have a daughter of her own to complain about.

So it has always been. So it will always be.

Another thing: Though we got the students' reaction to the equal amounts of shop and home ec that was forced upon them, we never got their opinion or even if they wanted to do it.

So mother, next time you want to complain about what your daughter is being taught, look first at what you and father have been conditioned to. You'd be surprised.

A driver gives thanks

EDITOR:

Many thanks to Captain Vern Rorabacher, Sgt. Larry Langwish and Firefighters Frank Chakrabarty and Jim Davison of the Canton Township fire department for helping me get from Canton Further thanks to Mr. and Mrs. John Cojeli of Plymouth who offered to drive me home — a mere 40 miles there and back — on that cold, snowy night.

Some folks like radio

EDITOR:

Re your editorial page of Jan. 9, Tim Richard asked, "Who wants a radio revival?" Perhaps he should ask a person who is blind, people who live beyond TV reception, long distance truck drivers or someone who has to work but can listen to the radio but can't watch TV.

Kinnick honored for saving boy's life

CANTON - Joseph Kinnick, Canton Township planning commissioner, has received a good citizenship commendation from the Michigan State Police for his role in saving the life of a seven-year-old Redford Township youngster last July.

Esch defends FISH from fuel rationing

PLYMOUTH - U.S. Rep. Marvin L. Esch (R-Ann Arbor) has asked the federal government to give consideration to voluntary, non-profit organizations such as FISH should fuel rationing be imposed.

Esch, whose district includes Plymouth and parts of Plymouth and Canton townships, expressed his interest in a letter to William E. Simpson, administrator of the Federal Energy Office.

"As you are well aware, it is difficult to develop and administer allocation and rationing type programs that take into account the varied and often divergent needs of our people and our economy," Esch wrote.

"By necessity, decisions are often arbitrary, and individual and group needs are often overlooked," he continued. "While the energy crisis has made such decisions necessary, I believe it is incumbent upon us to be ever watchful of those groups that deserve special attention."

"One such group that I am particularly concerned with is the FISH organization of Plymouth, Mich. FISH is a voluntary, non-profit organization that provides invaluable service to their community."

"Their work is basically provided on a one-time emergency basis, including babysitting, meals and housework for the sick, locating needed articles after personal tragedies, overnight housing and transportation of older people needing medical assistance. It is in this latter category that FISH will be particularly affected by any rationing program."

"While I realize it is impossible, and perhaps improper, to give special consideration to every group that appeals to your office, nevertheless I would suggest that there are groups whose contribution to their community is so significant that some consideration of their special role is appropriate."

20 wheels, tires stolen

PLYMOUTH - Police are investigating the theft of 20 tires and wheels over the weekend from six new cars stored in the lot of Jack Selle Buick, 200 Ann Arbor Rd.

The thieves took their tire equipment with them, police said. No jack or wrenches were found in the area.

heard were tires squealing and the sound of an accident," recalls Kinnick.

He said that he and the others rushed up to the road and found one of the youngsters lying in the middle of Five Mile.

"I picked him up and carried him over to the side of the road and immediately began mouth-to-mouth resuscitation until the fire department rescue squad arrived."

The boy was identified as Ronald Campbell of 26277 Elba, Redford.

Kinnick's efforts in the incident were further described by Edward Pobur, of Livonia, a former funeral director, who was in the four-some behind Kinnick.

In his statement to the police, Pobur said that when they reached the boy, he had already turned blue and "for all practical purposes appeared to have expired" when Kinnick began resuscitation. By the time the rescue squad arrived, the youngster was breathing on his own.

Kinnick said that in his line of duty as a volunteer officer, he is used to helping people - but this was the first time he has actually saved a life.

“Some days, Mary just didn't feel like cooking...She doesn't have to at The Center.”

We moved to The Lutheran Retirement Center a short while ago...for a number of reasons.

We didn't really need the house any more and keeping it up seemed to be wearing Mary down. She was tired all the time. Lots of days, she didn't even want to bother with dinner.

Planning the move to The Center was just about the smartest thing I've done since I asked that girl to marry me. We're able to do a lot of things we'd always planned without a lot of the work we always thought would go with it.

Take Mary and cooking. She's a good cook...but she fixed meals for me for thirty years and more. Doing the shopping, cooking and cleaning up. She earned a rest, and I can see that she gets it at The Center.

Let me set you straight on one thing. We don't eat in a cafeteria. We sit down and are served by waitresses in a beautiful dining room. And those big family dinners Mary loves? We still have them. We just reserve a private dining room and select the menu we want. Mary's very pleased about that.

As for me, I'm not a fussy eater, but I am diabetic. The staff dietician sees that what I eat suits my diet.

Food isn't the only reason we moved to The Center, but if you don't eat right, you don't feel right, and it sure is nice to have someone take the work off Mary, and give her more time to spend with me...at The Center.

The Lutheran Retirement Center

the interdenominational full-service retirement residence sponsored by Zion Lutheran Church Retirement Center, Inc., a nonprofit Michigan Corporation.

You are cordially invited to visit and tour The Center, 1200 Earhart Road, Ann Arbor, 48105, any weekday from 10 til 4, and on weekends from 1 til 5. Or you can obtain complete information by telephoning 769-6410 during these hours. Do come out and see The Center. You'll be happily surprised and thoroughly impressed.

Kill DST, proposes Pursell

Citing deep personal concern for child safety, State Sen. Carl D. Pursell (R-Plymouth) has pledged to continue his support for efforts to return Michigan to Eastern Standard Time.

"In its desire to conserve energy, Congress made a serious mistake when it ordered the nation to go on fast time and we in Michigan must do what we can to correct the situation," said Pursell, whose 14th district includes Plymouth, Livonia and Redford Township.

"It has resulted in the death of two children and injury to numerous others, including at least two in Plymouth, because drivers have been unable to see them in the dark."

"No conservation of energy, in my estimation, is worth killing and maiming our school children."

Pursell, a member of the influential Senate Appropriation Committee, noted that Michigan was hit harder than most states by the federal action because the state already is on Eastern Standard Time the year around instead of its normal Central Standard Time.

"The congressional action actually put Michigan two hours ahead of its historic time zone and made conditions intolerable in the morning because daylight was delayed until after children reached school," said Pursell.

"Unfortunately, it is too late to do anything to correct the situation this year but, hopefully, we can prevent it from happening again next year by adopting legislation designed specifically to returning Michigan to Eastern Standard Time next October rather than continuing on into the winter months again."

Esch asks jobless aid

U.S. Rep. Marvin L. Esch (R-Ann Arbor), whose district includes Plymouth and Livonia, has asked the House Appropriations Committee to approve an additional $500 million for public service jobs to relieve unemployment which he said has skyrocketed in Michigan and increased dramatically nationwide.

Esch said that under the Daniels-Esch Act signed by the President, funds are allocated for areas with high jobless rates to provide public service employment and job retraining.

"The bill can be a major tool in our fight to ease the burden of unemployment caused by job displacement," he said. "The impact on Michigan is especially brutal because of the heavy unemployment in the auto and recreational vehicle industry."

Esch said in a letter to appropriations Committee Chairman George Mahon (D-Texas) that the President's request of $250 million in early September reflects conditions at the beginning of the budget cycle. He said that since then, unemploy-

A day as a colonial woman

BY MARGARET MILLER

For Observerland women whose lives are bounded by today's suburban pursuits, it's just a short drive to the 18th century and colonial America.

They can spend a day learning, with a mother and daughter who have devoted a lot of study to the period, what it was like to be a pioneer woman.

And by sundown our local women, like their colonial counterparts, will have dyed wool for a warm garment, dipped beeswax candles, made soap from lye and fat and cooked Brunswick stew, spoon bread and boiled pudding with hard sauce.

The colonial day workshop is the project of Mrs. Peg Harding of Farmington and her daughter, Mrs. Lois Mitchell of Plymouth.

On many Saturdays — the schedule is flexible to accommodate those interested — they work with a group of six to 10 local residents, supervising them in the colonial woman - work and providing a wealth of information about life in those times.

On a recent Saturday there was plenty of colonial - type activity in Mrs. Mitchell's antique - filled home.

Mrs. Edna Grainer had come from Farmington with her daughter, Jackie, a student at Harrison High School. Mrs. Meriam Gardner had driven in from Dundee, and Mrs. Marie Harrison of Farmington joined two daughters - in - law, Joan Harrison of Livonia and Lee Harrison of Ann Arbor.

They carefully tied some of the wool Lois had spun and used cochineal to dye it red and marguerite flowers for a pretty yellow. They dipped candles and sore arm muscles told them it's not all that easy to plunge the wicks into hot wax 46 or more times, and then wind up with short candles because you are limited by the depth of the iron pot.

In the intricate process of soap - making, they realized that for women in colonial times cleanliness had to be next to hard work. They experienced an old - time cooking failure in their attempt at spoon bread, but the stew and boiled pudding were delicious.

Peg Harding and Lois Mitchell came to their colonial days programs through different paths of interest in that period of history.

An avid collector of antiques for 25 years, Mrs. Harding has in recent years been lecturing on "Women and their Heritage" before church and club groups and in schools.

Her daughter, wife of an architectural student and mother of two small boys, had grown up with a love of antiques and developed an interest in weaving, which in turn led to learning about various methods of spinning and dyeing wool.

She also lectures on weaving and teaches classes in the art, and last year she and her mother started thinking about a day - long workshop that would give women the "feel" of life in the earlier times.

"We wanted to do it well, so it took a lot of research to put together," Mrs. Mitchell said. "We tried to pick things that could be worked into a day's time and would give a good representation of the work colonial women had to do."

"That let out spinning and weaving because it takes too long, but the candlemaking was ideal and dyeing the wool could be managed."

Mrs. Harding said the classes were limited in size to 10 at a time, and six is an ideal number. The two leaders each take half the group and direct the activities, supplying extra tidbits of colonial information while the work goes on.

"We keep them busy," she added, "and they really have to keep moving to get all that done in a day. They do the work — we are strictly supervisors."

The workshops cost $20 and the women take home, in addition to their wool and soap and candles, recipes for colonial cooking and specific directions for the activities they engaged in so they can try them again at home.

Women interested in participating in one of the colonial days may call Mrs. Mitchell at 264 Ann, Plymouth.

"Everyone has been very enthusiastic," she reported. "They really get into the spirit of the thing and work hard to learn and get everything done."

"But, you know, a lot of the women say they've changed their mind about the good old days."

"It's fun to spend a day doing such work, they tell me, but they are glad they don't have to function that way all the time. They're glad to get back to their modern conveniences."

m. m. memos

After 10 years of having girl scouts in the family, I thought I had had every mother's eye view of the program.

I was wrong. It wasn't until this month that I found out how it feels when it's your daughter taking the responsibility — well, half of it, anyway — for a bunch of junior girl scouts on a camping trip.

We've been involved in lots of winter camp weekends, but I don't ever remember such preparations on any of them.

And I felt mighty close to the operation, though I didn't pack a pair of socks or drive a mile.

Our new adult and her co-leader, an almost-as-new adult, probably were as excited as any of their young charges. "We never realized before how much there was to do to get ready," they explained.

Besides the inevitable Girl Scout caper charts, they made food charts and driver charts and time charts. "Have to keep them busy," they said.

And I went back to my old tricks of worrying about the driving. The prospect of their driving to camp, each with a careful of little scouts, was a bit unnerving.

As it turned out, they went up on a gloriously sunny winter day, but came home in a Sunday snowstorm.

I must admit I had seldom been happier to see a car pull into the drive, and she even was home in time to play in a scheduled Sunday afternoon concert.

All reports indicated a most successful weekend.

But the leader in our family came home with a terrible cold, and when the next meeting day rolled around it turned out that half her troop shared the ailment.

Par for the course for winter camp, I guess. Some day I may learn what to expect.

— Margaret Miller

Livonia father, son help drive to aid crippled

A Livonia father and son are in the forefront of the current Crippled Children's Seal fund drive in western Wayne County.

Warren T. Strong, a systems engineer, an active member of the parents group in the Metropolitan Society for Crippled Children and a cubmaster in his spare time, is chairman of the drive in this area.

His nine - year - old son, Devin, is one of three children picked to represent western Wayne County for the Metropolitan Society drive.

Devin has been attending the society's special classes at 17330 Schaefer, Detroit, to receive physical and occupational therapy for seven years. He is in the third grade at Botsford School in the Clarenceville district, where he and his father are active in Cub Pack 287.

The other children representing the area are six - year - old Mark Argue of Westland, who goes to kindergarten at Stottlemeyer in the Wayne - Westland district and has been receiving developmental therapy at the society for two years, and Sue Ann Reese, seven of Dearborn.

The local seal fund drive was launched with a press conference in Huck's Bavarian Inn in Redford Township. It will continue through February. A similar drive in South Oakland County is being headed by William A. Penner, Birmingham banker.

Strong, in launching the drive in Wayne County, emphasized that the Metropolitan Society is an independent voluntary health organization.

It seeks public support to continue services to the handicapped through use of the purple and white Crippled Children's Seals, which are being mailed to residents of the area.

When a donation is made for the seals, the donor is giving a "Gift of Therapy" to handicapped children and adults.

Strong and his wife, Pamela, have been active in the society's parents group since it was organized, and he served in 1968.

In 1970 he was elected to the Metropolitan Society's board of directors.

Women on the Go

Farmington resident honored by Lutherans

By MARGARET MILLER Women's Editor

A life full of church work and some efficient service for special concert programs has made Mrs. Martha Eichinger of Farmington the metropolitan area's "Lutheran Woman of the Year."

The title and a silver pin to signify the honor were bestowed during a recent meeting of the Council of Lutheran Women for the Detroit area.

Nominated by the women's association in her own church, Gloria Dei in northwest Detroit, Mrs. Eichinger said she was most surprised to receive the award.

"I accept it very humbly — I am most honored," she added.

Mrs. Eichinger, mother of three, is known around Farmington as the lady who took care of tickets for the recent Max Davey concert to raise funds for the Farmington Community Center.

Earlier this year, she had served in a similar capacity for the Christian opera, "I Am The Way," which starred Jerome Hines and was performed in the Ford Auditorium on the evening of Good Friday.

On both occasions, more was involved than selling tickets. There were the matters of seeking patrons and coordinating local talent as well as getting tickets into the proper hands and keeping track of sales.

The enjoyment of meeting the people involved was well worth the effort on both occasions, Mrs. Eichinger said later.

Martha Eichinger's life story sounds like that of many church workers rolled into one.

A native of Bay City, she worked as secretary to the president of the Michigan district of the Missouri Synod before her marriage to A.J. Eichinger and a move to the Detroit area a couple of decades ago.

At Gloria Dei, she served on numerous church committees and was president of the women's association for three terms. When the church expanded its facilities, she worked on the committee that selected and coordinated interior furnishings, including kitchen equipment.

She has been active in the church's annual Vacation Bible School program, and a couple of years ago she served weekly dinners to the church youth group.

In between times she has had a circle that made Christmas for the church tree at Christmas and eggs decorated with Christian symbols for an Easter tree, as well as lap robes for convalescent homes and bazaar items.

She also has been active in PTA, March of Dimes, United Foundation, Boy Scouts and Braille typing work.

An important part of Martha Eichinger's story is the fact for nearly 10 years she has lived with the fact of cancer.

In 1964 she underwent an operation for breast cancer, and after a fast recovery has done considerable work in counseling others who faced similar surgery.

Then last year a check-up showed cancer had struck again, this time with bone involvement and tumors on the lungs and eyes.

Tests and treatments have followed, and there have been several hospital stays. Recently Mrs. Eichinger was informed that the chemical therapy she had been undergoing seemed to have the disease in check.

"I've had a lot of people praying for me, and I know it helps," she said. "So many wonderful things have happened this year, I forget about the illness."

Mrs. Eichinger's husband is employed by Michigan Bell Telephone Co. They have three children. Son, Peter, recently married and living in Southfield, is manager of Metropolitan Savings and Loan in Farmington, and daughter, Julieen, is in her first year of teaching at Bel-Aire, MI. Both are graduates of Western Michigan University.

A younger daughter, Janice, is a junior at Harrison High School.

Continuum center sets new classes

Two unusual programs, designed to improve the relationship between a man and woman, will be offered by Oakland University's Continuum Center in February.

A three-hour workshop for couples will be held from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 20, in Meadow Brook Clubhouse on the Oakland University campus. The single-session program, communication skills for couples, will be repeated April 24. Cost is $10 per couple.

OGE gives GED test

The General Educational Development Examination (GED) to establish high school equivalency will be given in the A Building of the Orchard Ridge Campus of Oakland Community College, located at 1400 and Orchard Lake Road in Farmington Hills, on Friday, Feb. 22 from 6 to 10 p.m. and on Saturday, Feb. 23 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Persons taking the test must attend both sessions.

The GED examination, which has been administered in the United States for over 25 years as an aid to students who are unable to complete their regular high school program, has been given at Oakland Community College since 1966 as a public service.

The examination is open to anyone 18 years or older, or to anyone whose regular high school class has graduated. Upon successful completion of the GED, students may apply to the Michigan State Department of Education in Lansing which will issue a High School Equivalency Certificate.

The GED examination which results in a High School Equivalency Certificate is recognized by numerous employers in the state as well as by colleges and universities. Many trade unions will accept the examination as high school equivalency for admission to apprenticeship programs.

The fee for the examination on Feb. 22 and 23 is $5 payable at the test site, preferably with a check made to the order of Oakland Community College. No appointment is necessary.

Persons interested in taking the GED should report to the second floor of the Orchard Ridge A Building just prior to 6 p.m. on Friday.

A USED BOOK SALE, with prices ranging from a nickel to 25 cents, is in progress until 8:30 p.m. today and will continue from 9 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Thursday at the Madonna College library in Livonia. Poring over some of the volumes gleaned from the library's shelves are students Liz Schneider and Elaine Homic. Proceeds will help purchase new library materials.

U.S. Rep. Marvin L. Esch (R-Ann Arbor), whose district includes Plymouth and Livonia, has nominated 12 young men from those communities for appointment to the nation's service academies.

To be eligible for appointment to one of the four academies - the Air Force Academy, the Military Academy, the Naval Academy or the Merchant Marine Academy - an applicant must be nominated by his congressman, but actual appointment is made by the academies.

Esch's nominations include: Timothy K. Sullivan, son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Sullivan of 39620 Ann Arbor Trail in Plymouth, nominated to the Military Academy; Steven H. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Charles Reid Brown of 35511 Wood Drive in Livonia, nominated to the Naval Academy, the Military Academy and the Air Force Academy; Marc Paul Cross, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Cross of 16556 Bell Creek Lane in Livonia, nominated to the Naval Academy and the Air Force Academy; Stephen P. Ferrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ferrick of 15721 Golfview Avenue in Livonia, nominated to the Air Force Academy.

William S. Frank, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Frank of 15160 Melrose in Livonia, nominated to the Naval Academy and the Air Force Academy; and Ricardo G. Galindo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richardo Galindo of 18430 Golfview Drive in Livonia, nominated to the Military Academy and the Merchant Marine Academy.

Also nominated by Esch were: Larry Dale Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Green of 18346 Westmore in Livonia, nominated to the Military Academy; Richard B. Patterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley B. Patterson of 17438 Sunset in Livonia, nominated to the Naval Academy; the Merchant Marine Academy and the Air Force Academy; Mark A. Roncoli, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Roncoli of 35935 Hees in Livonia, nominated to the Military Academy.

Mark William Scharrenberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Scharrenberg of 19785 Weyher in Livonia, nominated to the Air Force Academy and the Merchant Marine Academy; David A. Shelden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel R. Shelden of 29638 Pickford in Livonia, nominated to the Naval Academy; and David A. Williams, son of Mrs. LaDeen Mae Williams of 17762 Bell Creek Lane in Livonia, nominated to the Naval Academy and the Air Force Academy.

Nomination by Esch follows a district-wide competition among applicants. Each man is required to take a college entrance examination, submit evidence of academic qualification, and appear for interviews before a non-partisan Academy Board comprised of distinguished 2nd District residents.

Nominees selected will enter the academies in July.

2 scholarships given by JWV

The Department of Michigan Jewish War Veterans of the United States of America is again making available their two annual Michigan college scholarships in the amount of $300 each.

There are no restrictions as to race, color, or creed. Need for financial assistance is paramount. Any veteran, the son or daughter of a veteran, is eligible.

Applicants may include students attending accredited institutions on a college level as well as members of the January or June 1974 high school graduating class.

The qualified student should immediately write a letter requesting scholarship information and forms to the Scholarship Committee at 16990 W. 12 Mile Road, Southfield, 48076. All completed forms must then be returned by April 15.

"MR. THINK TANK" joins Fred Rehm, Automobile Club of Michigan general manager, in asking all motorists to contribute fuel-saving suggestions aimed at helping cut gas consumption by 25 per cent. All gas-saving tips sent to Auto Club will be researched and, if workable, shared with the public. The new Auto Club campaign-called "Think Tank"-is stressing the need to cut back on gas use voluntarily to avoid the realistic possibility of fuel rationing. Bumper stickers featuring "Mr. Think Tank's" picture are available free to the public at all 56 Auto Club offices across the state.

Setting a plus for LRTG

By STEVE BARNABY

Superb costuming and set design highlight the Livonia Redford Theater Guild's newest production "Hedda Gabler," by Henrik Ibsen. Unfortunately, the fine accouterments aren't able to overcome the mixed casting which taints the play's quality.

With performances slated for Feb. 22, 23 and March 1 and 2 at 8:30 p.m. and Feb. 24 at 7:30 p.m., the guild's third play of the season is in the playhouse, 15138 Beech-Daly, one block south of Five Mile, Redford Township.

Stashed away in the cramped quarters of the store front theater, LRTG has consistently managed to design unique settings to authenticate its plays. Much of the credit belongs to Warren Reinecker who is typical of what makes community theater run. Besides appearing in a number of the guild's productions, he spends many hours designing the sets.

An authentic 18th century woodburning stove highlights the set, offset by period lamps, furniture and curtains. An eerie painting of the past master of Hedda's hair appropriately sets the mood as it looms over the rest of the set. Reinecker did the painting in a matter of days.

The story revolves around Hedda Gabler, a woman bored with the mundane existence with husband, George Tesman, a professorial hopeful whose idea of fun is a night reading classical literature.

To relieve her boredom, Hedda attempts to control and manipulate all around her, even if it means a person's destruction. The plot is complicated with the arrival of Eilert Lovberg, Hedda's former lover who is recouping from a bout with the bottle. Hedda's task is plain: she must bring him under her control.

Laurels for acting belong to Howard Egan who plays George Tesman. He has his character down to a tee as he cavorts about the stage, naively expounding his interpretation of the events unfolding around him, shaking his finger and "tsking" at every opportunity.

Mary Ann Vosgerchain as Hedda is properly sly and devious.

Judge Brock (Lee O'Connell) is consistently stealthy throughout.

Competent performances are put in by Miss Kenney, Gwen Jackson as Aunt Julia and Jean Champe as the maid Berte.

The play is directed by Robert Oris.

GC metro band needs old music

If you have any old music scores lying around gathering dust, you can help yourself as well as the Metro West Big Band which is comprised of members of the Garden City Adult Concert Band Assn., Inc.

Jim Falk, business manager of the concert band association, says the band is in the market for dance or combo arrangements of the "big band" era.

"People still love to dance, listen and reminisce to the sounds of the '40s and '50s. The band has some arrangements of the big band era, but not enough. Since we are self-sustaining, we just don't have the money or grants to work from."

Because the association is a licensed non-profit organization, a contributor can deduct the estimated value of the music contribution on his next income tax return.

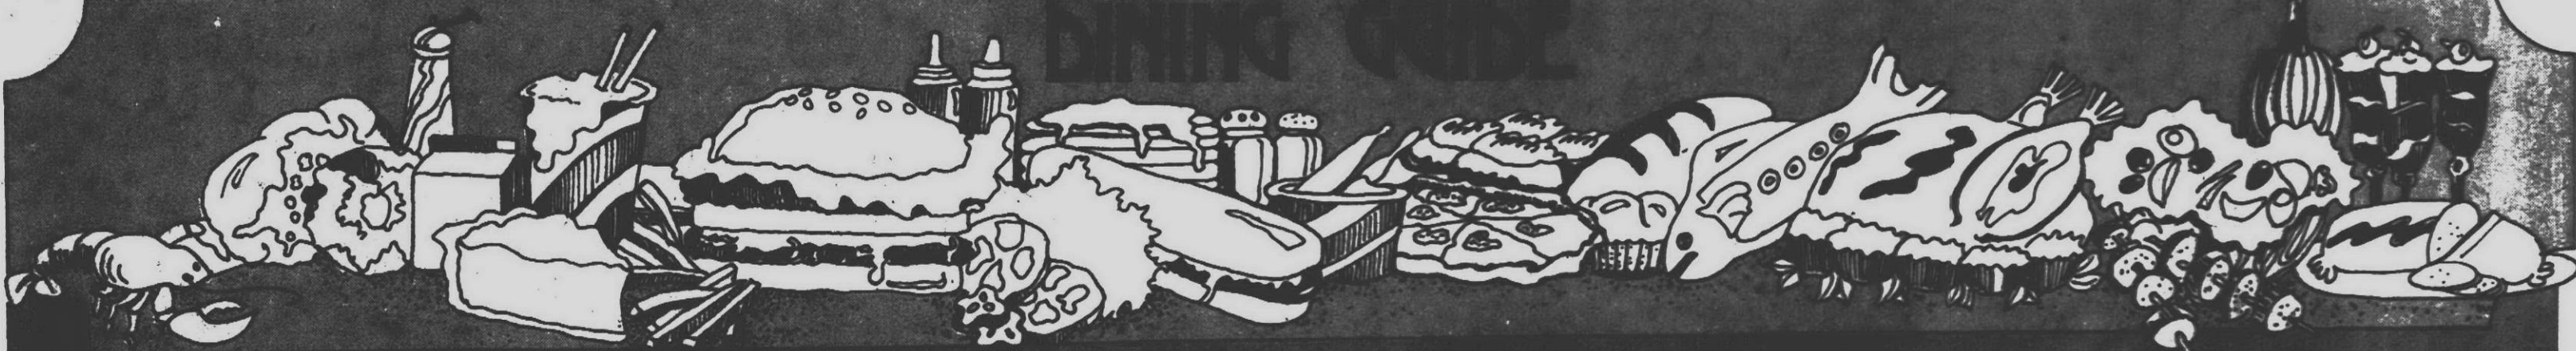

"This type of music is usually too expensive for us to buy and some originals, like Glenn Miller, you just can't find anymore."

Falk said the Internal Revenue Service will give the contributor an evaluation of the music. The value can then be deducted as a contribution. The association will provide a receipt as proof of the contribution.

Anyone with dance band or combo music to contribute may contact Jim Falk at 30622 Elmwood, Garden City.

The Metro West Big Band, a 17-piece dance band, plays periodic benefit dances with the proceeds going to the Garden City Concert Band Assn.

It also participates in other community activities such as outdoor dances.

Newcomers prove credit to PTG

By TIM RICHARD

A pair of newcomers helped keep the Plymouth Theater Guild's offering of "Mary, Mary" a cut above the level of a play you go to see because it's a civic duty and the cast worked so hard.

Kris Cook in the title role and Jim Courtney as her loving ex-husband Bob have some sense of stage presence and fairly good timing. Jean Kerr's comedy lines require that.

Courtney, so the program says, walked in cold, read for a part and landed the male lead. Otherwise he sells real estate. Mrs. Cook has experience in Marquette, the upper peninsula's most cultured municipality.

Other cast members seem embarrassed at cracking a good line. Their feet clomping is distracting.

Noteworthy and in the St. Valentine's season mood are the table decorations and dishes of candy. PTG crowds aren't big, so the plucky little group makes the best of it with a cabaret atmosphere.

A bad feature of Plymouth's Central Middle School (the former high school at Main and Church) is that you have to look upward to the stage. Actresses in short skirts are constantly twisting for modesty's sake.

The performance will be repeated next Friday and Saturday (Feb. 22-23) at 8 p.m. If you go, get several other couples to join you, not so much because PTG needs the audience but because the setting and the subject make it the kind of play that's party fun.

Story line is about a divorced couple who must meet to settle tax matters. Bob is engaged to a rich, young, health nut; Mary gets a lot of attention from Bob's quasi-heel actor friend. It's clean and funny.

Step-saving kitchen incentive to cooks

The words "gourmet food" often call to mind visions of delicious dishes almost too difficult to prepare.

It shouldn't be that way, says Anna Muffoletto, who teaches students at her New York cooking school how to fix mouth-watering meals with a minimum of time and effort.

Her advice couldn't be more simple: organize. A little planning goes a long way.

Planning involves step-saving kitchen layout, menu selection, and having the right utensils and equipment.

At her Cordon Bleu school (not related to Paris' Le Cordon Bleu which she attended), all necessary utensils hang on pegboard within easy grasp. This is not only convenient, it makes an attractive display, and it saves space — a consideration in almost anyone's kitchen.

Some of her advice — simple as it is — is more often preached than practiced.

For example, tidy up as you go along so you won't be faced with a mountainous cleaning chore after dinner. Of course, you always have dishes to do. Too tired? Stick them in the dishwasher. If you don't have a dishwasher, get one, even if it means parting with the family car (not a bad idea this season).

Ideally, the refrigerator should be located next to the sink separated by a counter for washing and fixing vegetables. Pots and pans go near the stove, naturally.

To save your countertops, a wooden chopping board is a must. Use one side of the board for strong foods (onions, etc.) and the other for mild foods (fruit). The best way to clean the board is to scrub it with coarse rock salt which absorbs odors.

The floor should be easy to care for — preferably one of the new no-wax types on the market. Mrs. Muffoletto uses Armstrong's Solarian flooring in a fresh, white cobblestone pattern. Regular sweeping and a once-a-week sponge-mopping with mild detergent keep it shiny and new-looking without wax.

When drawing up a menu, remember that some foods are more easily prepared than others and take less cooking time. So if you're going to attempt an especially ambitious entree, accompany it with relatively easy side dishes. This not only sets off the main course, it's one reason why some people seem able to serve an elegant dinner without getting a hair out of place.

Also, prepare things beforehand when possible. Many foods can be cooked and refrigerated or frozen to be reheated later, without affecting flavor.

On one of those rare morning or afternoons when you have spare time, lavish a little imagination on a fancy casserole and stick it in the freezer. Make enough for two meals, and in effect you'll be cutting your cooking time in half.

A professional chef and instructor needs more kitchen equipment than the ordinary person. But she thinks anyone can have a well-equipped kitchen, perfectly adequate to turn out most gourmet meals, with a score of basic items. She scoffs "gadgets," but insists on quality tools to work with. They may cost more initially, but they do the job better and last longer.

For her students, she recommends carbon steel knives, at least three, for paring or peeling, chopping and carving. Carbon steel should not be soaked in dishwasher, just wiped clean. While carbon steel rusts (the rust can be easily removed with cream of tartar), it takes the sharpest edge.

A 12 inch frying skillet is essential. It may be cast iron, steel or copper. If you decide on copper, the French type seems to make the best type. The French copper is not merely a thin coating for show purposes but a heavyweight layer that heats evenly and won't warp.

An omelet pan is advisable; so is a large stainless steel pot for boiling and a steel pan for sautes. (Don't crowd a pan if you're, say, frying meat. Otherwise, the effect is really steaming, not frying.)

One of Mrs. Muffoletto's most valued possessions is a couscousier, a double-decker pot named for couscous, a traditional Moroccan one-course meal. The bottom part can be used for boiling water and making sauces or stews, and the top acts as a collander for steaming vegetables (they come out crispier, more nutritious).

No kitchen should be without a "bate cotlette," an impressive term for a heavy mallet. Many recipes, like Chicken Kiev, call for pounding the meat, or fowl, flat. The action of the mallet also tenderizes, an extra dividend that lets you prepare first-rate cuisine from cheaper cuts of meat, like breast of veal or lamb.

New cosmos changes color

New colors in flowers are always exciting to grow, particularly when the flower is easy to grow in all parts of the country.

Cosmos Diablo, one of the six new all-America award winners for 1974, has all these qualities and more.

The flower color is unusual, a deep reddish orange, a more desirable color for home gardens than any previous cosmos. The flowers are semi-double, measuring up to two inches across, and possess an unusual color-changing characteristic.

The flowers open a bright fiery orange, then deepen to a fiery red after the first day.

Diablo has an upright branching habit with attractive feathery foliage. It has good weather tolerance, pest resistance, and it thrives in a wide assortment of soil conditions — even poor soil.

For best results the seed of Diablo should be sown directly into the garden after danger of frost.

The plants make rapid growth and soon cover themselves in hundreds of fiery red blooms from July until frost, creating a striking effect when planted in a flower border or between shrubs.

Girl Scouts off to Mexico

PLYMOUTH — As you read this, 13 girl scouts from Plymouth's Troop 501 will be on their way to Mexico with three chaperones to participate in a two-week long public service project and tour of the country.

They will be attending a conference in the International Girl Scout Center "Our Cabana" in Cuernavaca, Morelos, Mexico in conjunction with their public service project — which consists of working with 125 orphan girls between the ages of 7 and 10.

As if it weren't enough to work with the orphan girls with arts and crafts, games and songs, the girl scouts have to do it all in Spanish.

But with a little help from Mrs. Daniel Fowler on their dancing and from Carmelo Crespo on their Spanish, they're all set.

The service project will take place in Gualupita. But in addition, the Plymouth girl scouts will join with 60 girls from all over the world in an "international evening." Their part will be a square dance.

Following their work with the orphans and their meeting with other scouts, the Plymouth girls will take a four-day tour of Mexico City during which they will see University City, Toluca, San Teotihuacan, a Mexican ballet, Zochimilco by boat and a bullfight. They will return March 4.

The entire project meant that the girls had to spend many hours of preparation and raising funds by baby-sitting, collecting newspapers, selling Christmas cards and poinsettias, and by holding a giant garage sale.

Chaperones will be: Mrs. Robert Leweling, Mrs. Burton Batholomew and Mrs. Louis Hurtik.

PLYMOUTH COMMUNITY SCHOOL DISTRICT Plymouth Michigan

BOARD OF EDUCATION MINUTES

The regular meeting of the Board of Education of the Plymouth Community School District, Wayne and Washtenaw Counties, Michigan, was held on Monday evening, January 14, 1974, in the Little Theater of Plymouth-Canton High School, 5015 Canton Center Road, Plymouth, Michigan.

The meeting was called to order by President McClelland at 8:02 p.m. Present: Members Benson, Gray, Lawton, McClelland, Mirto, Penar and Turner.

Absent: None.

Administrators present: Sup. Hoban, Deputy Sup. Hogan, Assistant Sup. Shannon Hoesel, Adm. Assistant - Personnel Koe, Supervisors Symonds and Houghton, Coordinator Ople, Principals Brown, Elston, Gilson, Gorgas, Lutz, Smith, and Taylor and Assistant Principals Kelson.

Others present: Representatives of the PEA, the Safety Committee, Transportation Committee, Marie McGee, Plymouth Mail and Observer, J. Broome and about 15 interested citizens, parents, students and teachers.

It was moved by Member Turner and seconded by Member Gray to approve the minutes of the regular meeting of December 18, 1973, as distributed. Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, Lawton, McClelland, Mirto, Penar and Turner. Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

It was moved by Member Turner and seconded by Member Penar to approve the minutes of the special meeting of December 17, 1973, as distributed. Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, Lawton, McClelland, Mirto, Penar and Turner. Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

Suggestions from citizens were called. Statements were read by the following on sex discrimination in curriculum both at the middle school and high school levels:

1. Mrs. Donna Hensel, Plymouth citizen
2. Mrs. Jeanette Shanks, Plymouth citizen
3. Dr. Douglas McClelland, Wayne State University (read by Mrs. Shanks)
4. Mrs. Sylvia D. Yuhmlich, President, Schoolcraft Chapter of N.O.W.
5. Mrs. Marlene Borsowski, League of Women Voters, Northville-Plymouth
6. Mrs. Lee Loveland, Book Depository, N.O.W. of Michigan

It was moved by Member Penar and seconded by Member Turner that the direct statements of the above persons be included in the minutes of this meeting. (Part of the permanent records.) Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, Lawton, McClelland, Mirto, Penar and Turner. Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

It was generally agreed, on a suggestion by Member Penar, to defer any action on decision as to those courses which seem to cause sex discrimination within the school district until the next regular meeting so that administration may provide a list of those courses which of necessity must be segregated during the next year.

Mrs. Alice Farskan, a parent from Tanager School, presented a petition to the Board requesting 60 concerned residents in Lake Pointe Subdivision, which demanded a controlled traffic light in front of Tanager School. This was a result of the unfortunate accident which occurred on the morning of January 11, 1974. She reported that a meeting would also be held in the Plymouth Township office on January 23 regarding the traffic situation in the Tanager area. She stated that the 40-mile-per-hour speed limit should be 25 miles per hour; that no sign appears eastbound on Five Mile Road at Hartman Street and the intersection of the road and Tanager School during the accident emergency as well as the Northville Township police and the Plymouth Township Police.

Mrs. Pat Goshue rose to speak to the issue of Daylight Saving Time in general and spoke of the apprehension she feels for a twelve-year-old who attends West Middle School and walks along Sheldon Road.

Mr. Talerico, a resident of Camelot West Subdivision, requested information as to why the starting hour for the first bus is only extended 15 minutes and not 45 minutes, and why his six-year-old child must be picked up on Ford Road with the bus stopping directly in the road and not off to the side. He also asked why a bus scheduled to arrive on Ford Road at 7:50 a.m. did not arrive some days till 8:25 a.m.

Mrs. Phoebe Tunda, Chairman of the District-Wide Safety Committee, explained what had been done during the past few days due to the safety issue at hand. She said that the Wayne County Road Commission would install immediately a sign "SCHOOL ZONE 25 MPH WHEN FLASHING" to be in operation when students are crossing on Five Mile Road at Tanager School. The Road Commission has also requested State Police to conduct a traffic study to reduce the speed limit to 25 mph on Sheldon Road at Hartman Street and to install a "stop and go" traffic light by Labor Day. They will conduct a traffic count at Sheldon Road and Hartman Street. A full-phase traffic signal will be installed at Hartman Road and Am Arbor Trail by spring.

In addition, Mrs. Tunda suggested the following precautions be taken by parents of children walking to school in the District: (1) that paths to school be steps to clear, the snow pushed down and covered with straw; (2) that side-walks to bus stops and to schools be cleared when sidewalks are provided; (3) that children be provided with flashlights and/or reflector devices or tape — decals which may be purchased through the schools for 10 cents each and which would become a part of children's apparel the same as boots and hats; and (4) that parents cooperate with the Safety Committee and schools by instructing children in the safest and best way to get to school and that parents see children obey each rule. She also reported that Judge Damber Davis, a representative of the State Board of Education, and State Police have met to determine why cars are not stopping for school bus loading and unloading and that she intends to publish her thoughts in the newspaper.

Mrs. Tunda expressed appreciation to the office girls at the Board of Education who have always cooperated to the fullest with the Safety Committee.

Sup. Hoban reported on a meeting he had with eight superintendents in the southeast area schools regarding starting times and reviewed all starting times within the Wayne County Intermediate School District. He listed eight reasons why most of the districts are remaining on the same time schedule. Member Mirto reported that he had met with the parents of the injured children at the hospital and visited the children. He related his conversation with the father of one child who asked "Why?" Member Mirto said "I was responsible as an elected official in this District," and the back route at this Board to have the freight to see the increasing safety hazards in this District, despite blame to State Police and Wayne County Road Commission. He said the Board had not carried out its responsibility on this matter and said to parents and citizens, "I'm sorry; and it did not happen again." He pledged that he would be more aware and more sensitive to problems and a better Board member with significant participation to exert every effort to see the moral responsibility as to "who should make the first step" to improve safety conditions.

Member Gray also reported on the condition of the children as of this date. President McClelland asked Administration for any changes which could be made in the 15-minute adjustment for starting time. Member Penar asked for proof-times of sunrise up till February 5. The matter of the PEA suggested continuing changing starting times for the balance of the school year was considered. It was pointed out that morning kindergarten would be affected to such a degree that the District could not meet its obligations to state law.

The third session will be Saturday, Feb. 23, at 9 a.m.

Their objective is to provide a basis from which groups and individuals can work to prevent abuse of dangerous drugs, according to Denise Dara, staff member.

"Our House" also is conducting Monday night "rap groups" at 7:30 p.m. geared to high school age students. Meetings cover any topics the group feels are relevant to their needs.

Additionally, a "parent experience exchange" will be held March 4 at 1 p.m. in the center, 185 S. Harvey St. These one-hour Monday sessions will run for 10 weeks.

The objective is to allow parents to exchange the knowledge and skills they have developed, as well as problems they have encountered, in raising their children.

The annual meeting of the Council for Community Concerns will be March 5 at 7:45 p.m. at First Presbyterian Church on Church St. in Plymouth. New board members will be elected.

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, Lawton, McClelland, Mirto, Penar and Turner. Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

It was moved by Member Benson and seconded by Members Penar and Lawton that it has been brought to the attention of this Board that equal educational opportunities in this District are not being provided on an equal basis to both boys and girls. It is the intent of this Board to provide an education to our youth without discrimination. Now, therefore, be it resolved that there be an immediate and to sex role stereotyping in the courses, classes and extra-curricular opportunities offered by the Plymouth Community School District. Equal opportunities to an exciting, challenging and meaningful curriculum must be provided to every individual.

It was moved by Member Penar and seconded by Member Gray to strike the word "immediate" in above motion and insert "rapid."

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, Lawton, McClelland, Mirto, Penar and Turner. Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

Amended motion was: Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, Lawton, McClelland, Mirto, Penar and Turner.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

Superintendent Hoban indicated that there are no classes which cannot be co-curricular and Member Turner suggested that administration should come back with recommendations for next year's classes.

It was moved by Member Penar and seconded by Member Turner to delete any reference to sex of students in courses that are offered, and that administration provide a list of courses to the Board for consideration as exceptions to this rule and to provide written rationale for each exception as soon as possible to allow a determination to be made for the 1974-75 school year.

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, Lawton, McClelland, Mirto, Penar and Turner. Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

It was moved by Member Penar and seconded by Member Lawton to approve the following new contracts for the 1973-74 school year as presented by administration:

Kathleen Allen	Elementary	Tanager School
George Rothwell	Elementary	Tanager School
David Ordan	Math	Canton School
Sarah Evans	Elementary	Tanager School
Cheryl Mottishaw	Elementary	Tanager School

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, Lawton, McClelland, Mirto, Penar and Turner. Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

It was moved by Member Penar and seconded by Member Turner to authorize Administration to hire three (3) additional teachers to correct ratio imbalances in the District and which would bring total certificated teaching staff to 699 provided full-time positions.

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, Lawton, McClelland, Mirto, Penar and Turner. Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Chairman Penar was asked to assume the Chair and President

McClelland read the following resolution: "The School District wishes to commend three teachers from Tanager School, Barbara Doyle, Robert Johns and James DeKiere, Head Maintenance Men Lawrence David and the Crossing Guard, Mrs. Jean Bonneau, who acted in the Tanager School emergency on Friday, January 11, over and above the call of duty and contributed to the saving of two lives, and that this Council commend them for their heroic actions and their records and property communicated to the teachers, maintenance men and crossing guard."

Vice-President Penar ruled that this vote be declared unanimous approval by the Board of Education.

President McClelland resumed the chair.

Mr. Gordon Worth and Mrs. Gloria Hammond spoke to the proposal of Miller Elementary School for a British Exchange Program during Spring 1974 and answered questions posed by the Board.

It was moved by Member Penar and seconded by Member Mirto that preliminary approval to plan for the British Exchange Program at Miller School be granted, but any final approval for same be withheld until a detailed statement of financial arrangements and other auxiliary arrangements have been established and documented information is presented to the Board, and with the understanding that the Board would have no financial responsibility to the project.

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, Lawton, McClelland, Mirto, Penar and Turner. Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

A letter from the President of the PEA was considered regarding outcome of an early, joint attempt to reach a contract settlement which was rejected by the PEA. Member Mirto asked Administration Assistant, Mr. Shannon Hoesel, whether the PEA concerns regarding administration involvement with teachers in the bargaining unit while negotiations were pending was indeed a fact. Mr. Hoesel replied that to the best of his knowledge there was no involvement. Member Penar stated that inasmuch as the PEA has not accepted the current board proposal by its expiration date, two options are available: (1) to begin formal negotiations on April 1, 1974; or (2) for the PEA, through its Professional Negotiating Team, to informally present an extension proposal to the Board's negotiating team, under the same conditions as the Board offer and accompanying similar limitations. No action was necessary on this suggestion since the date for the Board's original proposal had expired on January 11.

Member Gray was excused from the meeting.

It was moved by Member Penar and seconded by Member Turner that this Board be responsive to a request by Canton Township to purchase the Canton Center School and water tower any formal offer by the Township.

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, Lawton, McClelland, Mirto, Penar and Turner. Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

Discussion on the above also considered a lease of the property to Canton Township but not under a lease agreement with the School District. Member Benson expressed her opposition to giving up control of the building.

Member Gray returned.

It was moved by Member Penar and seconded by Member Turner that the Board be directed to pursue a lease agreement with the Township for the use of the southeast corner of the Plymouth Centennial Education Park for the erection of a fire station.

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, Lawton, McClelland, Mirto, Penar and Turner. Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

The lease to be considered would carry mutual responsibility of the District and the Township in its provisions and would benefit school district in that a vacant square would be housed in that station and carry some educational benefits.

The following resolution was introduced by Member Turner and seconded by Member Lawton and discussion on its content followed the reading:

Although the Board of Education believes it inappropriate to interject itself into the specific zoning issues involved in the Moorehead Manogian project now under consideration by the Canton Township Planning Commission, it does hereby reaffirm its support for the efforts undertaken by the various municipal bodies to attract major commercial or industrial developments, such as that being proposed by the Moorehead Manogian project, which would bring economic benefits to the citizens within the Plymouth Community School District and to provide increased learning and employment opportunities for its students.

Member Turner first reviewed the history of the project to date and its financial implications to the School District. He reported that he obtained from voting at the Plymouth-Canton Development Commission meeting to which he is a delegate from this School District. Member Penar expressed opposition to the proposed rezoning of the Moorehead Manogian project as it would place a burden on the citizens within the Plymouth Community School District and to provide increased learning and employment opportunities for its students.

Churchill wins 2, nears loop crown

Livonia Churchill went outside the Western Six family to run its season basketball record to 16-1 with a squeaky, come-from-behind 52-51 victory over Ann Arbor Huron Saturday and now it's back to the league wars where the Chargers are in position to clinch at least a tie for the title this week.

Coach Pat Montagano's troops become a double winner, bombing Northville 74-52 Friday, and in the Western Six the Chargers are 8-0 compared to second place Waterford Mott's 7-1.

Both have two games remaining - the second against each other on the Charger floor March 1.

Immediate hurdle in the quest for a second straight league championship is Friday night's date at Plymouth Canton. If the Chargers win this one (and they whipped Canton 93-52 a month ago), they can't do any worse than deadlock with Mott for the crown.

The Chargers had one of their worst scares of the season against Huron, suffering from a cold shooting second quarter which saw them leave the court at halftime trailing 31-24.

But in the third period it was a totally different story as the Chargers whipped in 12 points to Ann Arbor's four, Churchill going in front by a point, 36-35.

The ding-dong final stanza was a 16-16 standoff and for Churchill it was the second one-point victory of the campaign. The other was over Mott, 48-47, on the Waterford court.

Ken Landini was the only Charger in double figures against Huron, matching his 21-point performance of the night before against Northville. Actually, the tide turned at the foul line where Churchill hit 10 of 19 tries as Huron was netting only one out of three.

Against Northville, following a sluggish first half, the Chargers hustled to a 46-point second half as Don Braun led the attack with 26 points on 13 baskets. Tom Eis led Northville with 18.

Patriots, minus top star, roar past Thurston

Bob Visser's smile couldn't be wider these days. He knows his Patriot cagers have come of age.

Franklin, playing without the services of its "Mr. Everything" got by a sparkling Northville club and then put its forces together to knock off Thurston to remain the one to catch in the Northwest Suburban loop.

It was Franklin, 69-48, over Thurston.

It was also win No. 7 for Franklin in the Northwest against a solo setback to Oak Park. The Patriots stand at 13-3 overall.

The closest club to Franklin in the league is Glenn with a six win - two loss mark, both defeats against Franklin.

With just two contests remaining, Oak Park and North Farmington, all the Patriots need is one win to assure at least a share of the crown.

Coach Visser was worried early in the week as to how his Patriots would react without Kaseta, the area's No. 1 scorer with a 22.1 points per game average. Kaseta was sidelined against Northville with a virus but Franklin pulled out a 60-56 non-leaguer.

Kaseta returned to action against Thurston at only half-strength, played about 20 minutes, hauled in 16 rebounds and popped in six points.

Jamie Knapp and Matt DeMars picked up the Patriot scoring slack, Knapp hitting for 18 and DeMars for 14.

It was 12-8 Franklin after one quarter.

Franklin broke things open in the second quarter, outscoring the Eagles, 25-12 and hitting 10 of 19 from the floor. Knapp popped in eight points and Franklin led at the half, 37-20.

DeMars hit for 10 of his 14 points in the third quarter as Franklin stretched it to 55-30 after three quarters.

Franklin wound up 29 of 63 from the field for 46 per cent and Thurston shot a 31 per cent, 19 of 62.

It was Thurston's 12th straight setback in a now one win and 15 loss season.

The rebounding contest pretty much matched the scoring as Franklin won it going away, 51-33. Kaseta hauled in 16 and Keith Blaizaitis 13. Box score:

Rocks within a victory of championship

By FRED DELANO

Plymouth Salem's 71-65 victory over Allen Park, coupled with Redford Union's upset of Edsel Ford, put the Rocks within one stride of an undisputed Suburban Eight basketball championship, which will be within their grasp Saturday.

Second place Dearborn, 8-3 in the league compared to Plymouth's 10-1, invades the lair of the Rocks in the loop's showdown battle of the season. It is scheduled for Saturday because Plymouth Canton will be using the same court Friday night as host to Livonia Churchill in a Western Six contest.

Plymouth still will have two Sub 8 games next week in which it could wrap up the title (RU Tuesday and Trenton Friday), but taking the crown at home Saturday would carry special satisfaction for Coach Fred Thomann and his troops.

It also would be a victory which would establish the 1973-74 Rocks as the winningest Plymouth team of all time, no previous quintet ever having exceeded the mark of 15 victories. The current club is 15-2 overall with three to play before tournament time, and Rock fans already are beginning to talk about a tourney showdown with neighboring Churchill (16-1).

Two up with three to play, Plymouth would be three up with only two left if they can get past Dearborn's Pioneers, which is easier said than done. The Rocks had to struggle from behind to win, 59-50, at Dearborn Jan. 15 as they were pestered by the Pioneers' ball control, slow down tactics.

Again at Allen Park, the big front line of Eric Agardy, Jim Ellinghausen and Bruce Johnson - averaging 6-7 - pounded the boards for a precious rebounding advantage in a rugged, aggressive physical battle which saw the Rocks run their winning streak to 11 straight.

It also was an emotional test, for the Jaguar boo-birds never let up on the 6-9 Agardy, a former Allen Park squad member himself until his parents moved to Plymouth last summer. The same fans recalled that last winter Agardy's older brother, Tom, a 6-11 star, led the Parkers to the league title. He is now a freshman at the University of Wisconsin along with Plymouth's '73 leader, Ron Egloff.

Agardy was used sporadically after picking up three personal fouls in the first quarter, but never lost his poise and finished with 16 points. So did Ellinghausen, while Johnson had his best night of the campaign and netted 22.

Box score: PLYMOUTH SALEM (71): Men, 3-1-3-7; Moore, 0-0-0-0; Agardy, 6-4-0-16; Ellinghausen, 6-4-1-16; Johnson, 7-0-1-22; Pruster, 0-1-4-11; Lambrant, 2-3-0-2; Zlat, 0-0-0-0; Moore, 0-0-0-0. TOTALS: 28-19-34-71.

ALLEN PARK (69): Program, 3-4-0-10; McDonald, 4-0-0-10; Brighton, 2-0-0-4; Supes, 11-1-1-23; Georges, 0-0-0-0; Pater, 1-0-1-2; Leonard, 0-0-0-0; Leonard, 1-0-0-2.

Schoolcraft hosts NJCAA Swim Meet

New York's Alfred Tech is heavily favored to win its fourth straight title when the 1974 National Junior College Athletic Association's (NJCAA) swimming and diving championships are held at Schoolcraft College next weekend.

The three - day meet is slated to get underway Friday, Feb. 22, and run through Sunday, Feb. 24.

Time trials get underway on Friday and Saturday at noon with the finals in the evening at 7 p.m. Sunday preliminaries begin at 11 a.m. with finals at 5 p.m.

There is a $1 fee for the preliminaries and $2 for finals. A ticket for all six preliminary and final sessions can be purchased at a cost of $7.

Grand Rapids Community College, which dethroned Schoolcraft as Michigan's Junior College champion two weeks ago, is a strong contender for second place honors in the national meet.

Last year Schoolcraft finished second nationally.

Schoolcraft will be paced by Steve LeClair, the defending national champion in both the 500 and 1,650 yard freestyle events. LeClair is also a threat in the 200 yard freestyle in which he finished second last year.

Millen has several other swimmers who he feels are threats to capture national titles. Tim Orians finished third in the 200 yard breaststroke and fourth in the 100 yard breaststroke last year and has the third fastest time in the 200 yard breaststroke in the nation this year.

Tom O'Hagan has the second fastest time in the nation in the 200 yard backstroke this year and is also a threat in the 400 yard and 200 yard individual medleys.

A Diver Gary Wales is a contender for the national honors off both the one and three - meter boards.

More than 30 junior college teams are expected to participate in the meet.

Glenn keeps title hopes alive

The Rocket hopes are still alive. Westland John Glenn remained one step off the Northwest Suburban front ranking by crushing Garden City East, 65-47.

It was Glenn's sixth victory in the Northwest against two setbacks to front-runner Franklin which stands at 7-1.

Glenn is next best at 6-2. While Franklin has North Farmington and Oak Park remaining on its loop schedule, Glenn must contend with Thurston and North Farmington.

All the Rockets can do is hope that either the Redskins or Raiders knock off Franklin while they are continuing to win.

The second round victory over East was Glenn's 13th overall against four setbacks, two to Franklin and two to Cherry Hill, by a total of 27 points.

The loss was the fourth straight for Billy Joe Young's crew which before this recent dive, had won three straight to up its respective mark to six wins and seven losses.

East is now 6-11 overall and 2-6 in the Northwest.

"We allowed ourselves to be beat in this one," commented Young whose Panthers fell to Glenn in the first round by a 71-50 score. "Glenn's experience took its toll in the final quarter."

Young has to be thinking of the next few seasons as he went with three sophomores the entire game in Mike Mitchell, Jim Riley and Greg Emery.

"We are taking our lumps now but things will be different come next year and the year after," finished the East coach.

Glenn went to the boards and popped in 21 points to East's 10.

East shot 40 per cent from the floor, 20 of 50, Emery finishing with 17 points. Glenn came up with a 29 of 60 performance for 42 per cent.

The rebound battle told the story of the 19 point difference as Glenn outrebounded East, 48 to 27. Box score:

Franklin slams door on Stevenson puckmen

The Franklin Patriots have made it known they are to be contended with this prep hockey season.

Franklin rifled Stevenson, 6-4.

It was the first setback for defending champion Stevenson after winning its first six games.

After giving up the lead four times, Franklin goals by Tim Livesay and Dave Garbutt in the last 3 1/2 minutes sewed up a key victory.

Coach Paul Ferguson knew his club was ready for this one and with only 53 seconds elapsed, Garbutt scored to give the Patriots a 1-0 lead. It was then back and forth with Jerry DiRusso scoring for Stevenson, Ken Franklin for Franklin, Wally McIlmurray for Stevenson, Tim Livesay for Franklin and McIlmurray again for Stevenson. It was three-all after one period.

Steve Filarecki then replaced Don Perrie in the Franklin nets and the second period was just the opposite of the first. Stevenson goalie Curt Downs shut the door and Filarecki kicked out nine shots.

It all started up again at 3:34 in the third with Gerry Kmet giving Franklin a 4-3 lead. Then only nine seconds later, Steven Hillman notched it at four-all for Stevenson.

Just when it appeared the State Legislature would take some action on the controversial dog racing bill which had come out of committee in the Senate, the proposal went on the floor for action and after a bitter debate was turned back to the committee.

The racing commissioner's offices at the state fairgrounds. Interested persons may present data, views and arguments in writing to the commissioner prior to the hearing or may appear in person to express thoughts on the proposal.

vorite and won as he pleased, paying a mere $2.60, the shortest price of the meeting.

THE HORSEOWNER with the biggest smile Saturday at the 'Downs was big Bob Kalish of Southfield, who saw his five - year - old Spanish Mac register a major upset in the $4,000 open handicap pace.

This means it probably will be buried for this Senate session but there is a distinct possibility a similar bill, supposedly resting in committee in the House, will come out for discussion one of these bright days.

That's when the fur will fly. But that could be some time away and for the moment it doesn't appear the opponents of dog racing have much to worry about. It will be a case of carefully watching actions of the House and taking the proper precautions.

IT WILL BE early post time again this year for the Detroit Race Course. That was the announcement of Vice President and General Manager Richard Wilson recently as the association worked on plans to open in less than two weeks.

"We made a survey among patrons at our meeting last fall," said Wilson, "and discovered most liked the 2:30 p.m. post on weekdays and 1:30 on Saturdays and holidays. So we're going to continue on that basis...what people like, you give them. We hope the early post will strike a popular chord this year and boost attendance and wagering."

Wilson reports more than 300 horses on the grounds with daily morning workouts on the big mile track.

"Thus far the trainers and owners have reported the surface in good shape for this early in the year," stated Wilson. "We have crews working daily and expect to have the track in excellent condition for the opener on March 1...provided of course we get a break in the weather and not a continuance of the snow."

INTERESTING INDEED is a note from the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce indicating it objects to any change in Rule 336 of the racing act which prohibits minors under 12 from attending races at any time.

The objection was raised after Racing Commissioner Leo Shirley announced a public hearing on Feb. 26 for the purpose of revising Rule 336 as requested by the Detroit Racing Assn.

The DRC proposes the rule should be changed to read "minors may be permitted to enter the track as spectators only and only if accompanied by a parent. This rule, however, shall not preclude any association from taking a more restrictive rule against admission of minors at the association's discretion."

The Detroit Race Course and Wolverine Raceway had planned several events for families but had programs slashed by the commissioner's ruling. Shirley also issued the same orders for all tracks operating in Michigan, barring children under 12 from all.

Several instances of violations were brought to his attention during the year and he immediately ordered track management to instruct gatekeepers to refuse admission, regardless of the circumstances.

The hearing is scheduled in Incidentally, Tiger Jet, the five - year - old son of Rusty Range owned by Dom Giamangeli of Dearborn and A.S. DiPietro of Livonia, came roaring past the field on the outside to capture the $3,250 secondary feature.

Some three weeks back in the $9,300 finale of the Jackson - at - Northville winter pacing series, Tiger Jet began making his bid midway through the backstretch and was literally flying on the final turn.

THE LONGSHOT BETTORS had their biggest moment of the Northville meeting Saturday when the combination of 7 - 4 - 3 came in on the seventh race trifecta and paid a whopping $5,647.20.

And that made six lucky ticket holders glad they had attended the races that night.

It all started when Cute Mover, a four - year - old mare, came storming down the outside through the stretch and finally passed the leading Star Hill and second place Regal Rhonda to win by a half - length.

Raiders upset Oak Park, 62-50

Ken Dean is going to be ready and fully equipped for Franklin this time around.

In what everyone but Dean tabbed a Northwest upset, Dean's North Farmington Raiders drubbed the Redskins of Oak Park, 62-50, and are waiting for Franklin.

North Farmington was labeled the Northwest sleeper early in the season, rattling off six straight wins before falling to Birmingham Groves in a holiday tourney finale.

The "sleeper" ran into a bad dream when it lost its No. 1 and No. 2 players before its most crucial week with Franklin and John Glenn.

Thus North was easily handcuffed by both, 27 points by Franklin and 22 by Glenn. Mike Bancroft and Jim Fredericks will be back in the Raider lineup when the Patriots at 7-1 invade the North gym Friday. The Raiders are hot off a 12 point victory over Oak Park and Dean is sure to have a few surprises for Bob Visser's Patriots, a team that Dean has yet to beat in his coaching career.

The 12 point triumph over

Oak Park had to be a surge after a close defeat at the hands of heavily favored Berkeley, 65-56.

Oak Park led after one quarter, 14-12, and had a five point margin in the second before North spurred ahead at the half, 27-26.

North again fell behind early in the third, 38-33 but regained its composure and outscored the Redskins, 10-2 to lead after three quarters, 43-40.

With 2:46 remaining, North was on top, 53-46, and Dean decided not to sit on it. North wound up making only seven of 13 from the free throw line in that quarter, missing three one and one situations but maintained the margin as Oak Park could hit only five of 14 from the field.

North finished 26 of 62 from the floor for 42 per cent and Oak Park, 24 of 58 for 41 per cent. Frederick's 17 grabs paced North to an overall, 42-39 rebound advantage.

Fredericks also contributed 21 points to stand at No. 2 in the scoring honors in Observerland at 20.8 points per game. Franklin's Kaseta is tops with a 22.1 mark and this Friday's meeting between the two will be a first for the current campaign.

Waterford's fast break whips Harrison, 91-71

Behind by only eight points at the half, 41-33, Farmington Harrison's hopes of a Western Six cage upset were shattered by a fast-break that could not be stopped.

Waterford Mott kept its Western Six basketball hopes alive with a 34 point output in the third quarter while holding Harrison off with just 12 and coasting home with a 91-71 victory.

It was Mott's seventh win in the Western Six against a Churchill setback. Churchill's triumph over Northville kept the Chargers unbeaten and on top of the Six at 8-0.

Mott wraps up its regular season at Churchill on March 1.

For Harrison, the 20 point loss did have one spark in that it was the Farmington club's top offensive display of the season. Previous high was 55 points in a 55-49 victory over rival Farmington.

Mott danced off to a 25-20 first quarter lead and edged it to 41-33 at the half. Then came the 34 point third quarter and the ball game was all but decided.

Harrison did manage to win the fourth quarter, 26-16. Mott finished 37 of 64 from the floor for 58 per cent, 12 men breaking into the scoring column. Harrison hit 28 of 60 for 47 per cent. Box score:

Stevenson checks Annapolis

An 11-point fourth quarter burst by Jim Gilland helped carry Livonia Stevenson to a 52-44 victory over Dearborn Heights Annapolis to even the Spartans' record for the season at 8-8.

Gilland wound up with 16 points as high scorer and was one of three Spartans in double figures as they picked up their fifth win in the last six starts. Joe Isanhardt had 11 and Joe Centers 10.

The non-league test saw Annapolis start with a deliberate ball control pattern which slowed the action, Stevenson trailing 6-4 after the first eight minutes. The Spartans picked up the momentum in the second period for a 17-15 halftime lead.

In the third stanza the Spartans cracked the Annapolis zone on the outside shooting of Centers and Rob Rose and from then on Stevenson was able to play its own driving style of ball.

The Spartans will return to Inter Lakes league action Friday night in a home game against Farmington.

Trojans fall again

Clarenceville's Trojans took it on the chin again in Wayne - Oakland basketball competition, this time by a 51-33 count from co-leader Clarkston and fell to 0-8 in the loop and 1-15 for the season.

"We had the shots, but didn't make them often enough," said Clarenceville's Bob Wolf in regard to the Trojans' mark of 12 field goals on 36 attempts which contrasted with Clarkston hitting on 21 of 57.

The Trojans trailed 12-4 after the first quarter and 24-14 at the half before rallying to come within four in the third period. Then Clarkston went into a full court press and the resultant Clarenceville turnovers spelled the Trojans' doom.

Clarenceville will try to play the spoiler again Friday when it hosts Bloomfield Hills Andover, which is locked with Clarkston and Waterford Kettering at the top of Wayne - Oakland standings at 6-2.

Bentley pucksters storm into 1st

It may turn out to be just a momentary flash but for the time being, the Bentley Bulldogs are in first place in the Suburban prep hockey loop.

An overpowering 6-3 victory over the Southfield Blue Jays upped Bentley's loop mark to 6-3-1 for 13 points.

Open softball loop meeting set March 7

The kickoff meeting for the 1974 Western Suburban Open Softball League has been set for Thursday, March 7, at 6 p.m. at the Observer Newspaper office.

The loop, which plays all its games at Thompson Memorial Field on Six Mile and Beck in Northville, will begin play the last week in April.

There are tentative eight openings with no teams eligible to play if carrying Major Metro players on their rosters. Each club will play doubleheaders every Sunday with two teams drawing byes every fourth Sunday.

At the same time, defending champion Stevenson fell to Franklin, 6-4, and the Spartans now sport a 6-1 record for 12 points.

Bentley has just one Southfield contest remaining before the George Gee tourney kicks off on March 15, and Stevenson has four remaining.

Bob Wasilewski, most valuable player in last year's tourney, came up with a three goal hat-trick in the Southfield victory. Results:

Canton Chiefs lose

Plymouth Canton's new found basketball success apparently took the wrong road to Walled Lake Western. The new formula just wasn't there for Canton.

After snapping a 13 game winless streak with back-to-back victories over Farmington Harrison and Woodhaven, Casey Cavell's Canton Chiefs tumbled once again.

Walled Lake Western slipped Canton its seventh Western Six setback, 56-54.

If this heartbreaker wasn't enough for the Chiefs to swallow, they now have the area's No. 1 club to contend with Friday as Churchill invades Plymouth.

The last time Churchill played in the Plymouth gym was to take Christmas tourney honors over Stevenson, Thurston and Plymouth Salem.

It was tied at 14-all after one quarter.

The second quarter spelled things out for Canton as Western took a 16-8 advantage and led at the half, 30-22. Western built a 14 point lead in the third but Canton sliced it back to 44-36 heading into the final eight minutes.

A bucket by Dave Edwards at the buzzer was the closest Canton could get. The Chiefs finished 20 of 46 from the floor for 42 per cent. Edwards and Ron Lack shared scoring honors for the Chiefs with 21 points each. Box score:

Breaking the cycle: DeHoCo gals get involved

She walks calmly and quietly around the ward of children born with a variety of severe disabilities. Most will never leave a bed or wheelchair. Few can feed themselves. Some have no way of ever making their wants known.

She is a pretty 19-year-old with shiny, long, brown hair. She stops at one padded wheel chair to smooth a lock of hair. She hands a toy to another and goes to make the bed of a third. In return she may get a crooked smile or a tiny hand reaching in her direction.

She stops to straighten her yellow smock which she wears proudly. "I never knew there were places like this. After I leave, I'm going to college to become an occupational therapist."

Her name is Peggy Bare. She leaves the ward to attend afternoon classes in child psychology and nursing and after that she boards a bus which takes her back to the Detroit House of Correction (DeHoCo).

She is a prisoner there. There is a rule against disclosing the crime which brought her there but it doesn't seem important to probe the past.

What is important is that a special program which she and 20 other women are involved in is going to have a decidedly positive effect on the future.

Don Laird, who conceived the program and now administers it, calls it "unique in the entire nation."

Unique because it is the first time a college, a hospital and a prison have combined efforts in rehabilitation. Schoolcraft College, the state's Plymouth Center for Human Development and DeHoCo, are the three institutions involved.

Laird, a candidate for a doctorate in political science at the University of Michigan, has long been interested and active in prison reform. He presented the plan to the City of Detroit. It was approved and funds came from the U.S. Dept. of Justice Law Enforcement Assistance Administration through a grant from the Michigan Office of Criminal Justice Programs.

Essentially Laird's plan was to carefully select 25 women from DeHoCo and give them a 22-week program of classroom and on the job training in child care and nursing. The wards of the nearby Plymouth Center, which house mentally and physically handicapped children, provide the on-the-job training.

Each morning the 21 women (four left the program) are bused to the center where they go in groups to one of four residential wards. A matron goes with them on the bus, and each group has a leader. The groups will work several weeks on each ward and then change locations to provide a broad experience in various types of care and duties.

Lula Blair, 24, who had just come to Howe Hall from Carlson Hall last week, was feeling lonely. She missed the teenagers she had been working with for the past ten weeks.

"The whole staff gave us a party before we left - not just cake and coffee, but a complete buffet dinner."

Jane Bushroe, program director at Carlson, says the presence of the students had a very good effect both on the patients and the staff.

"It's done a great deal for the staff, and it certainly has for me. For instance, we never could have afforded to send 19 kids to the circus if we hadn't had the students to help."

She continues, "They (the students) really generate enthusiasm about the kids. Having somebody new who comes in so enthusiastically zips us all up. This is probably one of the most positive programs I've ever seen."

Although Susan Mite, 20, had been at Carlson only a few days, she was taking over like a veteran. She wiped some crumbs from the face of a teenage boy in a wheelchair who had just had a snack.

"I miss the kids from the other hall, but I'm enjoying it here too," she said.

She stood for a minute looking to see who needed help in the day room. She was dressed immaculately in a pair of blue hip huggers and a light blue sweater. A touch of eye makeup deepened the color of her soft azure blue eyes.

"All my life I knew I wanted to help somebody. Now I have the chance."

"I plan to take more courses in child care and after I get out, I'd really like to come back here to work."

Because two teachers, Mrs. Irmgard Gelletly, child psychologist, and Mrs. Dora Cavalieri, registered nurse, are technically on the staff of the college and the program is administered by the college, students could receive up to 14 hours of college credit for their work.

Some, like Miss Blair, will use this as a base for further study. Miss Blair has made up her mind to go for a full four year nursing degree.

Others like Roberta Bovee, 19, mother of two youngsters, three years and five months, may go right into the work world.

She comments, "I've been learning so much that I know I'll be able to cope with my own children and family much better. One thing I've learned is patience. I didn't have patience before, but I do now."

While getting back into the classroom routine of taking notes, learning new words and absorbing vast amounts of technical information has been difficult for some of the students, not for Eddie Jean Williams.

Miss Williams, a straight A student in the classroom, says as she rocks a small boy, "You've gotta get back into the classroom thing, but once you do, it's fun. All my life I knew I wanted to help somebody. Now I have the chance."

She would like to work with the mentally retarded in her home area of Saginaw.

Chances are very strong that Miss Williams will be able to get the kind of job she wants. Laird has already jumped one of the major stumbling blocks to successful rehabilitation.

That's getting back into the outside world with no money and no job.

His students will take - and he feels sure will pass - a Civil Service exam qualifying them to work as nurses' aides and attendants at $3.40 per hour.

"So many have virtually no money and no job when they hit the street. Our students will have their nurses' smocks and nurses' watch which they earn after so many weeks work and a living allowance until their first pay check."

He explains that the money to hold them over will come from the Michigan Dept. of Corrections which has a fund of 'discretionary money' for such purposes.

Laird is proud of his program and even more so of the way the women have responded.

"We're carrying 21 out of 25 after two months. That's something of a track record. Most are mothers, most are very well motivated. All volunteered for the program. The volunteers were interviewed by a panel made up of representatives from the prison, the college and the center."

"All the assaultative types and child molesters were immediately weeded out. And they were given a medical check before being approved. The selection was rigorous."

The two teachers aren't going easy on the students. Although not many of the students have been in school since the seventh grade, they are working at college level.

Both Mrs. Cavalieri and Mrs. Gelletly are offering far more information than that which directly concerns children. Care and understanding of adult patients are included because many may end up working on adult wards.

The problems and questions which the students encounter in the morning are analyzed and discussed in the afternoon.

"If they ask questions, I always give an immediate answer," says Mrs. Cavalieri. She says that she includes information on how to study, how to organize material and establish good study habits.

"At first they thought it was beneath them, but not now."

Mrs. Gelletly, too, is careful to tie in the practical experience with her classroom material.

"We go into the general rules of child development and learning theory and they can apply the theory to what they see. The further they go, the more they know. Our discussions are really good. Yesterday it was like a revelation."

Laird admits that students identify with the children saying, "The kids are surrogates for their own children," but there is more to it. Women who lose their identity as women in a prison atmosphere suddenly get it back as they care for children.

It breaks the grim and highly structured pattern of prison life. But more than that, it replaces it with another one ... full of hope, security ... and understanding.

HELPING PEOPLE has always been one of Eddie Jean Williams' lifetime ambitions.

STUDENT PEGGY BARE thought Amy might like to have a doll to cuddle.

Will forum tackle RR problem?

Have you ever been blocked by a train for more than five minutes while driving along Main Street during rush hour?

If so, you're cordially invited by the MC&OPM Club to attend next Tuesday's public forum on the railroad problem. The forum is sponsored by the C&O Railroad and the city and will be held at Plymouth City Hall starting at 7:30 p.m.

"What is the MC&OPM Club?" you ask.

The "Make C&O Pay More" (MC&OPM) Club is an organization dedicated to doing something about the railroad problem in this community by making the C&O pay more for:

- Fines for illegally blocking crossings more than five minutes.

- A grade separation, overpass or underpass, that would help alleviate the problem of hitting the same six - minute train three times while driving through town.

The club gives out honorary memberships to anyone filing a complaint against the railroad for illegally blocking crossings or for generating a new idea or a lot of effort toward finding a solution for the problem.

Our latest honorary membership goes to State Sen. Carl Pursell of Plymouth who has introduced an amendment to state law that would place a greater share of the cost to build a grade separation on the railroad.

While current law sets 15 per cent as the maximum the railroads must pay for an overpass, the Pursell amendment would raise that to 40 per cent with the state paying 30 per cent, the county 20 per cent, and the local government, 10 per cent.

But in a note explaining he finds "legislative support still very difficult" on the amendment. Pursell said, "Maybe there is a better solution."

Yes, Carl, there probably is. But by making the railroad stand to bear more of the cost of an overpass, we make it more likely to work harder toward a solution, too.

So let's see how Pursell's amendment fares in Lansing - land of strong railroad lobbyists.

Another MC&OPM honorary membership has been awarded to Robert F. Childs of 14851 Dogwood Court, Plymouth.

He has proposed adding yet another reason for lengthy crossing delays to those given by C&O's Plymouth Yardmaster, Harry Rodman.

"The engine stopped close enough to a crossing to activate crossing guards while the crew had a cup of coffee," Childs proposed as reason.

Don't expect next Tuesday's railroad forum to be a witch hunt, though - the railroad does have problems with mechanical breakdowns that stop trains across crossings.

Of course, it is only fair to remind the C&O that while mechanical failure or derailment are defenses against fines under state law, a grade separation would also eliminate that problem.

Since it agreed to this meeting, the C&O has reportedly been logging its crossing blockings of more than five minutes and reporting them to police. But in at least one instance witnessed by a city commissioner, an overly delayed crossing was not reported.

Let's see what the railroad has to say Tuesday night, and let's tell them our gripes. But the most important thing to accomplish is a move toward a solution.

Everybody's probably got at least one idea.

Take Mike Caffery and Soren Pedersen, also awarded honorary MC&OPM memberships, who have proposed a whole new crossingless entry into town.

While all the details, like informing the affected property owners or getting somebody to fund the idea, haven't been worked out as yet, this pair proposes a bridge from the park entrance on Mill Street between Plymouth Road and Ann Arbor Trail to be built over the C&O tracks ending somewhere in the vicinity of City Hall.

Of course, this might wipe out Adistra's back yard and a few houses, but if your property is in the way, don't worry; it's just an off - the - cuff proposal. The bulldozers won't be tearing up your shrubs, at least until your complaints can be overruled at a public hearing.

Seriously, though, there should be lots of input at the railroad forum. Just think of all the folks who've been held up unduly by the C&O. What if they all turned out Tuesday night?

To encourage such a show of public concern, the MC&OPM Club has decided to award free memberships to all those attending.

We'll also pass out secret decoder rings.

If you ever get mad because the train crossings make you late, you owe it to yourself to come out to City Hall Tuesday night.

'Head shop' quietly opens in Old Village

By BOB ERICKSON

PLYMOUTH - Around the corner from the antique shops and the quaint buildings that make up the business community of Plymouth's Old Village is a new business, unique to the rustic setting.

The new shop, called "The Box," is unobtrusively located between a sausage shop and a TV repair operation where its owner quietly goes about his business - the sale of paraphernalia, the implements and equipment used, mostly by young people, to "do" drugs.

The shop sells pipes and cigaret papers which can be used to smoke hashish and marijuana; clips; containers and equipment used to hold, store and clean the drugs; and various other objects commonly associated with the "drug culture." It is operating by the grace of a state law which, while making it illegal to use paraphernalia, puts no limits on the sale of such equipment.

The owner of "The Stash," Dennis Poppenger, 20, insists that his is "just a business, like any other," and says that though he has heard "some things," he has received no direct complaints either from neighbors or law enforcement officers about the nature of his business.

"We've had police officers in here, Poppenger said, "but they didn't really hassle us - they were just checking." So far, he says, complaints about the shop are "just rumors."

Indeed, some neighbors seem relatively oblivious to Poppenger's new enterprise. Down the street, antique shop owner Ruth Holly admitted, "We didn't even know they were down there until they came in and introduced themselves."

Local law enforcement officials admit to having made arrests in the past under the state's paraphernalia law

Skin care is class's topic

PLYMOUTH - A mini-class in skin care for teenagers slated for Feb. 26 at the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park continues the successful series of mini-classes offered to interested students with unscheduled time.

Classes and programs offered earlier this year have included hair care instruction, classes in self-defense, skiing and backpacking, programs on the energy crisis, the prison system, and student rights and responsibilities.

(conviction can only be made if laboratory tests prove the drug paraphernalia has actually been used for drugs). They say they have received no formal complaints about the shop and there appears to be no reason for legal action.

"Business has been slow," Poppenger says from behind the glass display cases in the tiny darkened shop. But, he adds, "we're getting by."

In the display cases are a hundred or so different items, neatly arranged like rings and pins in a jeweler's shop. There are posters on the walls and rock music, on low volume, like piped music in an elevator.

"We use judgment," Poppenger said in response to a question about selling the paraphernalia on display to minors. Poppenger said that he would not sell a drug paraphernalia item to a youngster who looked "under 16," but the shop does not ask for identification or refuse entry to persons under that age.

"We get people of all ages in here," Poppenger said. "A man about 60 came in and bought some incense and a 'roach clip' (an item used to hold the butt of a marijuana cigaret)."

In recent years, so-called "head shops" like Poppenger's have appeared in almost every community of any size in the country, and in most, if they are financially successful, they seem to endure.

(There was a similar "head shop" on Main Street in Plymouth which folded several years ago.)

They have apparently become, like marijuana, part of the American scene but the irony that what they sell is illegal to use, also seems to endure.

ELLEN McMULLEN, a student in the advanced food service class at Plymouth's Centennial Education Park, gets experience as a waitress through the restaurant program the class runs for high school staff members. Here she pours coffee for Erma Sloan, a secretary at the schools.

How PHS cooking class program trains students

The teachers and other staff members at Plymouth Salem and Canton high schools are very happy these days because a new restaurant has opened within walking distance of their classrooms.

The "Hidden Room" is the name given to the dining area where faculty members and guests gather during lunchtime to take advantage of the culinary talents and skills presented by the students enrolled in Food Service II.

The students plan, prepare and serve meals daily as a part of their training in the Food Service II class. They are learning skills in the roles of cook, sandwich maker, salad maker, baker, dishwasher, waiter, waitress, busboy, cashier and store room manager. Their classroom is a miniature restaurant kitchen which is stocked with institutional equipment so the student will become familiar with its usage.

Faculty members have a varied menu selection from which to choose ranging from soups, salads, and sandwiches to a "Blue-plate Special" which is featured daily. There is also a section of foods for weight-watchers. Teachers pay for their lunches and with this money the program is subsidized.

The enthusiastic students also plan and prepare special faculty banquets during the year such as Thanksgiving and Christmas to give them experience in other types of food service. The class has been involved in community banquet catering too, which is done outside of school hours. Last year they handled a dinner for 500 people besides numerous other activities.

The 35 seat dining room (which is a converted cafeteria line) is new this year due to the growth and expansion of the program. The original dining room could hold only 22 customers at one time. The students made curtains, arranged tables and decorated the present facility to add atmosphere and a nice place to greet their customers.

Food Service II is one of several of the school's vocational classes designed to acquaint the student with possible job occupations upon graduation. To become eligible for entrance to the two-credit class, which at this point can handle about 40 students, Food Service I must be taken as a prerequisite. This is usually done in the student's sophomore or junior year, so he is knowledgeable in basic cooking skills when entering Food Service II.

Upon completion of this advanced course as a junior the student is then in a position to be placed in the Food Service Co-operative training program for the next year.

Carey Schwartz and Joyce Totten are the instructors for this program with Mrs. Schwartz also acting as food service coordinator in the co-op training department. Both of the teachers feel "there is a great need for trained personnel in the food service industry and people with training are the first to get the jobs." They are anxious to provide the students with as many experiences as possible to give them a well-rounded education in occupational training.

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, McClelland, Mirto and Turner.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

The status of the School District Investment Account was reviewed by Assistant Sup't. Hoedel. The sincere thanks of the Board of Education was extended to Mr. Hoedel and to Board Treasurer Gray who have spent considerable time in rigorously monitoring the investment portfolio of the District and in attaining greatest return on liquid assets. It was pointed out that there had been more activity in investment portfolio in the past months than in the past which was to the benefit of both the taxpayers and the students in the District.

Mr. Hoedel also indicated that he has arranged with units of government within the District for pick-up of tax collection checks in order to gain one or two days' interest on their investment by not having them sent through the mail.

The matter of starting time of school was discussed by Sup't. Hoban. He commented the PEA for their cooperation in schedule adjustment, and that lunch hour adjustments were made by mutual agreement with the PEA. He expressed concern for morning kindergarten scheduled time, and distributed schedule of sunrise times for the school year, pointing out that sunrise by March 4 would be at 8 a.m. and on February 11 it would be at 8:25 a.m. Principal Smith was asked about middle school rescheduling problems. He felt each class would be reduced by two minutes which would limit lab experience.

Mr. Hoban reported that the safety problem of buses stopping along Ford Road near Chalmers West Subdivision had been solved by moving the stop into the subdivision.

Member Gray asked to clarify some misquotes regarding the accident near Tanager School, indicating that starting time of school was not considered a factor, and that the driver of the car had been cited for reckless driving. The Northville Police Chief had reported that on Monday following the accident the crossing guard and children were clearly visible at 8:30 a.m. Member Gray stated that a driver eastbound on Five Mile Road at the time of the accident near Tanager School had stopped for the crossing guard and then gone on after the accident occurred. He is urgently requested to come forward as a witness to the accident.

It was moved by Member Mirto and seconded by Member Gray that the starting time of elementary school be set at 8:15 a.m. until February 11, 1974, and at 8:30 a.m. following that date.

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, McClelland, Mirto and Turner.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

President McClelland asked that administration take a long look into the whole scheduling process with the middle schools for another year, especially as to added transportation costs and consider an additional 15 minutes to one-half hour on all three levels, elementary, middle and high school.

The matter of curriculum discrimination by sex was again discussed. Sup't. Hoban indicated that middle school principals had been instructed that equal opportunities should exist in all middle school courses during the second semester. He listed high school courses which were now segregated to a degree.

Member Benson pointed out that it was time to end sex-role stereotyping in co-educational classes. President McClelland felt that the first concern for such scheduling should be non-violation of the law and the second concern should be the best educational program possible for all students and that the entire curriculum should be reviewed. Member Mirto felt the Centennial Park administration is aware that no student should be denied course entrance on the basis of sex in such classes as drafting, home economics, dental assistant, body shop, etc.

Sup't. Hoban indicated that the English courses entitled "For Guys Only" and "Girl Talk" would be eliminated from the schedule at the high school and physical education courses by sex would be eliminated in handbook. He also felt that Member Penar's motion to submit rationale for classes to be segregated in writing has been fulfilled by his superintendent's notes and that administration was moving in the interest of the resolution. Member Benson felt that education for girls would be covered in a Workshop discussion and President McClelland asked administration to take another look to see if other courses should be covered under the resolution.

Mrs. Shirley Spauld, Principal of Miller School, rose to speak to the issue of the Miller School Exchange Program in response to Board members' questions which had been raised at the last meeting. She reported that alternate procedures because of energy crisis have been considered and listed financial commitments which have been made by individuals or organizations. She reviewed medical insurance plans, criteria for choice of students and curriculum plans. The Board indicated that preliminary approval would still be in effect as per the motion made at the last meeting.

President McClelland read a letter addressed to him by K. W. Dunsinger, president that professional engineers residing in the District be recruited to work with the Safety Committee and its projects. President McClelland reported that a traffic safety engineer from the AAA would now be coming to Safety Committee meetings. Mrs. Phyllis Tonda, District-Wide Safety Committee, gave the report of the Committee at this time.

She would welcome any help from any citizens on the matter of safety for children. She reported on cooperation by AAA, by the Wayne County Road Commission and by Senator Carl Perrell. She had met with the Senator and representatives of the State Highway Department and Police Department who have agreed to provide the Committee with a map of new roads and data to be completed and of cooperation and the location of calls and to conduct road control surveys. The State Police have agreed to study five areas of speed limit control at a time, the first of which will be: Pioneer School (near 50 mph), Sheldon and Highland Roads (45 mph), Sheldon and Hartough (45 mph), Five Mile near Tanager School (45 mph) and the 5-6 mile area on Ann Arbor approaching Sheldon Road (45 mph). Mrs. Tonda also indicated that crossing guard training will be conducted by the AAA beginning February 11, at the request of Senator Perrell.

President McClelland expressed the Board's indebtedness beyond measure to the Safety Committee and to Mrs. Tonda's leadership.

It was moved by Member Turner and seconded by Member Gray that this meeting be adjourned.

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, McClelland, Mirto and Turner.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

The meeting was adjourned at 9:45 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
GARY A. MIRTO, Secretary
Board of Education

Crime tax proposal gaining little support

By BOB ERICKSON
and
YVONNE BOILEAU

WESTLAND — A proposal by Wayne County to levy a one mill tax for increased police services may be in for an uphill struggle if the reaction of citizens and municipal representatives at a public hearing in the Westland City Hall last Thursday is any indication of public sentiment.

The hearing, at which no Observerland communities were officially represented, was intended to be the first of at least three such gatherings held by county commissioners to assess public reaction to the proposed law enforcement levy, but negative response by citizens and representatives of downriver communities appears to spell trouble for the county plan.

Those present told commissioners on the county board's general government committee that citizens would not stand for new taxes and would especially not tolerate new taxes imposed at the county level.

"I'm Mrs. Orpha Gilbert from Detroit," one woman told the commissioners on the panel, "and I'm against any more taxes for anything." She said that Detroiters had just been assessed a new tax for schools, and that people like senior citizens who live on fixed incomes "just can't afford another tax."

"Tax propositions are bad at this time," said Dearborn City Attorney Joseph Burtell whose city government opposes the county plan. "It's amazing how many people are out of work." He said that Dearborn would not benefit from the tax and that the issue raised "serious home rule questions."

Justine Barns, president pro-tem of the Westland City Council, agreed. She told the panel of commissioners, "I resent 'Big Brother' helping me make decisions within my local budget."

A number of citizens spoke against the tax proposal because they felt it would not be a real solution to the crime problem.

"More money isn't the answer," said Estelle Ehred of Redford Township. "Unless we let the police and the courts enforce the law, all the money in the world won't stop crime."

"The mere fact of more police," Burtell agreed, "won't necessarily reduce crime."

A number of communities presented official opposition to the $133 million, 10-year plan.

House hearing set on pensions

LANSING — The House Taxation Committee will hold a public hearing in Westland City Hall Monday morning, Feb. 25, on a bill which would exempt private and federal government pensions from state income taxes.

State Rep. Thomas Brown (D-Westland), committee member, announced that the hearing will start at 10 a.m. in the city council chambers.

He said the proposed House Bill 4856 would give federal government and industrial retirees the same exemptions from state income taxes as allowed for state and local government retirees.

Dearborn, River Rouge, Flat Rock, Romulus and Belleville all opposed the tax plan through their representatives at the hearing, and when committee chairman Commissioner Samuel Turner asked if anyone would speak in favor of the proposition, the audience laughed.

Asked about the future of the plan in view of the negativism voiced at the hearing, Observerland commissioners on the five man committee and present in the audience were guarded.

Commissioner Richard Manning (D-Redford), a member of the committee, said he was hopeful there would be more public hearings and that more information would be available as to the county's specific needs. But, he said, "I don't think the problem that we had here tonight is going to go away."

Another committee member, Commissioner Brian Arrowsmith (R-Wayne), whose district includes Plymouth, Canton Township and part of Westland, was more candid. Arrowsmith said he had met earlier with nine representatives of cities and townships that would be affected by the proposal, and almost all were opposed. He himself would be opposed to the plan "the way it's set up now," Arrowsmith said.

Commissioner Tom Taylor (D-Westland), seated in the audience, said he does not yet know how he would vote on the proposal. "I'm not opposed to the plan and I'm not for it," he said. "I want to spend more time talking to the people."

Taylor said he had hoped there would be more "grass roots" people who were the victims of crime at the meeting, which he characterized as "mostly officials."

Members of the committee empaneled to hear the comments and criticisms of county residents about the proposed millage must now decide whether to go ahead with further public hearings on the matter in the light of the negative attitudes prevalent at the meeting, or to recommend to the full board of commissioners that another approach to the problem of needed police services be adopted.
