Moceri Project showdown looms

By BOB ERICKSON
CANTON — The controversial "Moceri Project" has been dumped in the lap of the Canton Township Board of Trustees for final action and could come to a vote at the board's next meeting Tuesday, March 12, but board members won't say for sure.

The "Moceri Project" is a regional shopping center that would be larger than Westland Shopping Center and a multiple and single-family housing development. It is proposed for the southeast corner of Joy and Sheldon roads by Dominic Moceri of Grand Blanc.

According to Township Clerk John Flodin "the decision has not been made (whether the board will take up the matter on Tuesday), but I suspect... I think it probably will be."

The planning commission Tuesday paved the way for the board to join them on the Moceri battleground by forwarding a report from the Wayne County Planning Commission. The report recommended approval of the center, even though little more than one year ago, the county planners had rejected it.

The township planning commission unanimously recommended approval of the project on Jan. 15. Final decision rests with the township board.

Neither Flodin nor Township Treasurer Grant Campbell, who is also on the planning commission, would commit the board of trustees to action on the matter for Tuesday night, but Campbell said, "I can't tell you whether it will be on the agenda, but as far as I'm concerned, we should get going and get it over with." The agenda, he said, would be ready Friday.

In addition to handing the matter to the township board, planners continued their own involvement with the project by setting yet another public hearing, this time on the planned unit development (PUD) portion of the project for 8 p.m. on April 2 at the township fire hall.

When the trustees do take up the proposal, the county planners' report recommended, "the developer and the township should move carefully." Homeowners' groups have promised to force the issue to a referendum if the township board approves the project.

The Windsor Park Homeowners Assn., led by Carl Parsell, executive director of the Michigan Police Officers Assn. is already preparing a petition drive. The homeowners, who are to the immediate south of the project, claim they will seek township-wide support to defeat it.

Homeowners groups have been actively fighting the Moceri Project for more than a year, and the heavy turnout of citizens opposed to that development at two previous public hearings would indicate that the Moceri opposition has widespread support even from areas not directly affected.

At a public hearing in January more than 500 persons attended in direct opposition to the plan while only about 50 favored the project.

City, township sign pact for consolidation study

By W. EDWARD WENDOVER

PLYMOUTH — The study of consolidating Plymouth and Plymouth Township is officially under way.

A formal agreement between Michigan State University's Institute for Community Development and Services, the Ad Hoc Consolidation Committee, the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township was signed Monday.

Disagreements over the study's content had delayed its start until MSU researchers said there was not time to conduct the study before the April 2 date originally set by the State Boundary Commission for the consolidation election.

City and township officials, while working out their disagreements, went to the boundary commission to ask for a postponement of the election to allow the study to be conducted.

The boundary commission complied and moved the election date to May 7. A second election for charter commissioners would be held on July 2 if the May 7 consolidation election passes.

Township officials had rejected the MSU researchers' original study proposal which called for an updating of the Citizens Research Council Report on Plymouth unification issued in 1968.

The revised agreement, which was signed Monday, makes no mention of the CRC report.

According to the agreement:

"The question the voters face in the spring requires information regarding the outcome of consolidation should it be approved, as well as an assessment of the consequences if the proposal is rejected.

"In addition, however, the mere raising of the issue and concern over how to respond provides some evidence of the need for understanding a framework and developing a perspective regarding the function of local government in contemporary society. The project, then, will focus on these two major considerations: a study relating to the consolidation question and a series of seminars directed toward communication of the study findings as well as to improve understanding of the role of local government in the community."

According to the study agreement, the consolidation question will be examined primarily in terms of current conditions in both the city and the township. The effort will focus on the following questions:

• What services are currently being provided in or by the city and the township?

• What services will be provided by a consolidated city that are not currently being provided in the city or township?

• What increases in services will be made as a result of consolidation?

City knights 'Sir Ray' after dragon adventure

By W. EDWARD WENDOVER

PLYMOUTH — So you think that being a public official is easy?

Maybe it is, except when the weight of official responsibility includes having to deal with any occasional dragons that crop up.

Dragons?

Just ask Sir Ray Quada, city administrative assistant, who was recently dispatched by Lord (and city manager) Fred Yockey when the city of Plymouth encountered this small problem with a dragon.

The problem arose when the city decided to buy Robert Jones' house at 624 Church St. Jones, a composer and artist, was willing to sell his house but didn't want to part with his self-decorated tub.

The dragon, named "Smaug" after a storybook dragon, is painted on the side of a bathtub.

Dragon hunting wasn't one of the qualifications Quada listed when he applied for his job with the city, but in time of need he'd proved a stalwart lad in the past, so he was appointed to the task.

After all, a fellow can get pretty attached to his bathtub — particularly one which has been so uniquely adorned. (Jones described the tub artwork as a "spur of the moment idea" of his and his wife's.)

So the question arose as to whether the city would buy the house minus the dragon tub.

Quada was sent to settle the matter and it was decided Jones could keep the tub if he replaced it with another.

What does Jones plan to do with his tub once he's moved?

"We're going to use it for a planter in the solarium (of our new house)," he said.

All of which prompted Quada to remark, "Keeping up with these Joneses is pretty tough."

For his valiant efforts in solving the first dragon-related problem the city has seen (according to official records where nothing was listed under "dragons") Quada was dubbed "Sir

Ray" by the city commission Monday night and appointed "Plymouth's official disposer of dragons from this day forward."

The dubbing was the idea of City Commissioner Norbert Battermann who authored the following resolution which was unanimously adopted by the commission:

"Whereas once upon a time, not so long ago, the city of Plymouth did procure property on which later was found a dragon who did, on occasion, guard his owner's persons.

"Whereas the former owner was attached to said dragon and wished to retain it in his possession.

"Whereas this dragon, like all dragons, was not easily persuaded to move from his domicile leaving persons unprotected.

"And whereas the manager of the city responsible for rectifying the situation but lacking the courage to face the dragon he did command his most fearless and youngest assistant to come forward. The manager did then charge this handsome young noble to quickly go hence and solve the riddle of the dragon who guarded the lady's chamber.

"And whereas it came to pass that Ray Quada did gallantly and fairly rectify the awkward situation to the satisfaction of all present and to the cheers of those hearing the good news.

Ford tax cut costs schools $53,000

By W. W. EDGAR

PLYMOUTH — The Plymouth Community School District will suffer a rude financial blow in the proposed settlement of the Ford Motor Company's suit against Plymouth Township charging an overpayment of taxes for the years 1971-72-73.

The Ford Company charged that its assessment on the 158 acres on Sheldon Road was much too high and that the over-charge amounted to $71,662.79.

Under the terms agreed upon and awaiting final settlement prior to the pre-trial conference set for April 19, the assessment on the Ford plant (building only) will be reduced by $1,527,340. This will make the 1974 assessment $5,388,930 and cause the township, schools, county and Schoolcraft College to suffer reductions in tax revenues.

With reduction in assessed valuation these four integers will lose the amount of the charged over-payment and it is broken down in this fashion:

- School District — $52,891.78.
- Wayne County — $11,027.39.
- Township — $5,009.68.
- Schoolcraft College — $2,733.94.

In every dark cloud there is a silver lining and this is so in the case of the schools that will not be asked to refund any of the tax money received for the three disputed years.

Ray Hoedel, chief finance officer of the school district says the school's loss will mean a drop of $43,605 in operating millage and $8,813 in debt retirement for 1974.

It was pointed out, however, that some of the loss may be balanced by the continuation of the building activity in Canton Township and other areas in the district.

TWO VICTORIES by Plymouth-Salem and Plymouth-Canton in the first stage of tournament play advanced the teams to the district semi-finals which will be played tonight (Thursday). Salem will play Northville at 8:30 p.m. at Farmington Harrison High School while Canton plays Brighton at Brighton at 8 p.m. Details of the Rocks' 67-44 Tuesday victory and the Chiefs' 68-47 first tournament win appear in today's sports pages. Darlene Brinso, Salem cheerleader, seemed to show everyone's feelings about the two Plymouth victories. (Staff photo by Tom Donoghue)

Shortages threaten I-275, I-96 progress

By BOB ERICKSON

Highway construction work totaling more than $142 million on proposed I-275 and I-96 in this area may be delayed beyond the 1976 completion deadlines because of shortages of materials and rising costs stemming from the energy crisis, according to district officials of the Michigan Department of Highways.

The massive highway construction program now underway in Canton, Plymouth and Redford Townships and the cities of Plymouth, Livonia and Farmington may fall short of projected deadlines because of hard-to-get fuel, cement, asphalt and steel, says Frank Simmons, highway department district administrative assistant.

"The energy crunch has hit highway construction," Simmons said. "That can be a big factor in whether completion dates are met, especially if delays throw you into winter."

Simmons also said that cost estimates may fall well short of the mark because of rapidly increasing costs for materials.

"We have agreed to let contracts to bidders and later adjust them to meet rising expenses," he said. "We have to, because no contractor in his right mind would agree to any other terms. If he did, he would soon be on the rocky road to bankruptcy."

But whether or not the delays which Simmons and district construction engineer Alex Urbanic say are possible do occur, current estimates still call for construction work which should see much of the key highway system connecting downtown and downriver areas with the western suburbs finished by the end of next year, with the entire system scheduled to be opened to traffic the following year.

Barring the effects of shortages, Simmons and Urbanic say they see no other obstacles to completion as scheduled.

Work which engineer Urbanic expects to see completed by next year, all other things being equal, includes all bridges and grading with accompanying service drives, retaining walls and drainage along the entire stretch of I-275 and I-96.

All service drives are already completed, said Urbanic. Service drives are completed first in order to allow free travel on each side of the major structure when work is still being completed on the roadbed. Paving contracts on the roadbed are the last to be let, and are currently the only major contracts remaining to be put up for bids.

Industrialists head area's JA fund drive

Robert M. Gerrity, plant manager of the General Products Division of Ford Motor Co. on Sheldon Road in Plymouth, and Richard Dauch, plant manager of the Chevrolet Spring and Bumper Plant in Livonia, have been named division chairmen for the 1974 Junior Achievement fund drive.

As chairman of Division 22, Gerrity is responsible for raising $6,200 in the Plymouth area where funds will be used to maintain and expand the program at the Plymouth JA Center, 585 W. Ann Arbor Trail, where 12 JA companies meet Monday through Thursday.

Ford Motor Co. is one of JA's founding business concerns, and the Ford Sheldon Plant is currently sponsoring several JA companies at the Plymouth Center.

As chairman of Division 8, Dauch is responsible for raising $5,000 in the Livonia area, where the funds will go towards the construction and maintenance of a new JA center to be built this spring on the northwest corner of Farmington Road and Lyndon Avenue.

Total quota for this year's drive, which began Feb. 1 and ends March 26, is $570,000.

JA is now in its 25th year in southeastern Michigan. It is a no-cost program for high school students sponsored by business and industry whereby youngsters learn first-hand about the business world by forming and operating their own small-scale corporations.

Forty bridges are being constructed at 22 locations along proposed I-96 in Redford Township and in Livonia. Of those, three bridges at Telegraph, three at Inkster Road, one at Cardwell Road, one at the entrance to the Detroit Race Course and three at Middlebelt are already completed and open to traffic.

Those structures to be completed along that route (which parallels Schoolcraft) by the end of next year include one bridge at Melvin west of Middlebelt, a left turn bridge east of Minock Circle, one bridge at Berwyn, three at Beech-Daly, a pedestrian bridge east of Minock, a U-turn bridge at Arnold, and a bridge at Fenton.

Three bridges will also be constructed at Meridian, one at Warner Court east of Meridian, one at Berwick, one at Brynfield west of Farmington Road, three at Farmington Road, one at Stark, one at Yale, three at Levan, and three at Newburgh Road.

Along I-275 from Cherry Hill Road in the south to Base Line Road in the north, three bridges are open to traffic and nine bridge sites and two interchanges are to open next year.

Those sites include Cherry Hill Road, an interchange at Ford Road, a bridge site at Warren, Kopernick and Joy, an interchange at Ann Arbor Road, a bridge at Ann Arbor Trail (currently open, but to local traffic only), and one at Hines Drive.

Bridge sites currently completed and open to traffic are Plymouth Road, Schoolcraft and Five Mile. At Six Mile, Seven Mile and Eight Mile Road, contracts for bridges have just been let and construction has not yet begun.

While not all paving contracts have been let, recent bids accepted include the 3.3 miles of I-275 in Livonia extending from Ford Road to Plymouth Road, scheduled for completion in November of this year at a cost of $3.5 million. Paving contracts still to be let include the stretches of I-275 from Five Mile to Nine Mile and from Ford Road south to the Monroe County line.

Rape penalty reform asked

LANSING — Senator Carl Pursell (R-14) has co-sponsored a bill which proposes to significantly reform Michigan's 117-year-old law on rape.

The first reform of its kind in the nation, the bill is based on the proposal of the Michigan Women's Task Force on Rape which has been working statewide to combat the rising incidence of sexual assaults.

"The goal of the proposal is to correct injustices to both victims and defendants in rape trials and to eliminate the double standard which has made it almost impossible for female victims of sexual assault to successfully prosecute for the crime," said Pursell whose district includes Livonia, Plymouth and Redford.

The proposed law would protect both male and female victims from sexual assault under specific conditions of violence, coercion and confinement.

Because FBI estimates show that fewer than one out of five rape victims even report the crime, and only one out of one hundred offenders are convicted, the new law would encourage victims to seek justice and, hopefully, increase the number of convictions.

Titled "The Crime of Sexual Assault," the proposed law would bring prosecution for rape, forcible sodomy and other similar felonies into line with legal procedures for other violent crimes such as felonious assault. It would establish four degrees of sexual assault, with punishment scaled to the amount of violence and coercion committed by the offender.

SC accepts $300 in gifts

The Schoolcraft Board of Trustees graciously accepted two gifts at its Wednesday night board meeting.

A gift in the amount of $100 was accepted from the Schoolcraft College Foundation for the Father Wojcik Memorial Scholarship Endowment Fund. The interest earnings are to be expended in accordance with the needs of the college.

Richard Cutright of Detroit donated a four-wheel drive vehicle to the college. The vehicle will not be driven or licensed, but will be used for instructional purposes in the disassembly and assembly of component parts. The estimated value is $200.

ROBERT M. GERRITY, general manager of the Ford Motor Co.'s Sheldon Road plant in Plymouth who is heading the Junior Achievement fund drive in the Plymouth area, reports his committee is 50 per cent toward its $6,200 goal.

MACLD forming Plymouth chapter

PLYMOUTH — The Michigan Assn. for Children with Learning Disabilities (MACLD), hoping to form a Plymouth chapter, will hold a get-acquainted, organizational meeting Wednesday, March 31, at 7:30 p.m. in Pioneer Middle School.

The school is located at 46081 W. Ann Arbor Rd.

Parents attending will view the film, "Early Recognition of Learning Disabilities," and will be able to ask questions of Kathy Teahan, certified learning specialist.

MACLD representatives also will be on hand to answer questions regarding formation of a Plymouth chapter.

More than 300 parents and professionals attended an introductory February meeting at Isbister School. They were shown a film, "Why Billy Couldn't Learn."

Parents wishing detailed information about MACLD should contact Mrs. Arthur E. Leffler of 50025 W. Ann Arbor Rd.

"MACLD is a group of parents and professionals who work together at state and local levels to insure appropriate public school education for children with learning disabilities,"

James Eubank, MACLD president, explained.

"A local chapter can provide information at local meetings so that the parent may better understand the needs of the learning disabled child, guidance in becoming a participant in helping the school district institute programs for these children and literature to keep the parent constantly aware of new developments in the area of learning disabilities," he said.

MACLD also provides feel very much alone as they face the frustrations, fears and problems of coping with a learning disabled child," Eubank declared.

OUT OF THE PAST comes this picture of the Schrader Bros. Funeral Home as it looked several decades ago before Main Street was widened, forcing removal of the hedge that was part of the picturesque downtown area.

Schrader Funeral Home celebrates 70th year

By W. W. EDGAR

PLYMOUTH — The Schrader Funeral Home, which helped pioneer the move to take funeral services out of the living rooms of your home to a building set aside for that purpose, is celebrating its 70th anniversary in an unusual fashion.

To mark the anniversary, Win Schrader, grandson of the founder, announced that the present building, a landmark on Main Street for years, will be renovated and will have an offspring within a year. A new facility will be constructed on Canton Center Road just north of Ford Road in Canton Township.

"We've got to keep pace with competition," the younger Schrader stated, "and that prompted our move to Canton Township which is growing so rapidly."

For a long time the Schrader Funeral Home was the only one in the area and one of the few in western Wayne County. Over the years, only two other firms — Wilkie Funeral Home and the Sondrager Funeral Home — tried it. But they couldn't put a dent in the Schrader tradition and left the field to the pioneer.

Ante-dated as a business here only by the McLaren Coal and Lumber Co., Schrader Funeral Home was organized by two brothers — Fred and Nelson — in 1904 and occupied the building on Penniman Avenue that, until recently housed Blunk's Furniture Store.

In those days, with most of the funeral services being held in the family homes, undertakers, as they were called, sold furniture in conjunction with their business. And the Schraders followed suit.

Flushed with the success of the new organization, Nelson moved to Northville in 1908 and opened a branch there. This partnership later was dissolved and the big move came in 1917 when the funeral home took over its present location on Main Street.

This was a bold move for it marked a departure from the home funerals, and motorized equipment replaced the horse drawn hearse.

The trend proved popular. Through the years, the home has undergone several renovations to keep pace with the times.

One of the first steps was to drop the furniture end of the business in 1930. Three years later, the partnership was dissolved.

With his son Edwin (now known to many as "Bud") working at his side, Fred continued until his death in 1945. Bud was in service in the Pacific Ocean at the time.

"But my aunts and uncle took over the place," Win smiled, "so you see there always has been a Schrader on the scene."

"The family always has taken pride in personal service. The fact that the Schrader door always was open has been a major factor in the success of building up the tradition that I am hoping to carry on."

The family concept goes beyond the actual members. Ford Anthony, manager of the firm, hasn't missed a day's work in more than 20 years.

"He's one of us," young Win smiled. "He has helped to carry on the tradition of honesty and friendly service."

The renovations now going on as part of the anniversary celebration will include the lengthening the driveway to the back of the lot.

The firm owns all of the Main Street property from the present site down to the Dairy Queen ice cream store, including Fralich Street.

"I would like to close off Fralich," Win explained, "but at the moment I don't know how to do it. I understand that egress and ingress must be provided for other business places on the street."

The new facility in Canton Township will be modern in every respect to keep up the tradition that was started in that far distant day in March, 1904.

Chief Gignac warns of tornado dangers

By MAURIE WALKER

PLYMOUTH — With spring just around the corner, comes the possibility of tornado weather.

In an effort to acquaint residents of the various warnings and what to do should a tornado be sighted, Plymouth Township Fire Chief James Gignac offers the following information:

A tornado watch or forecast is to alert residents of the possibility of a storm. A forecast is issued by the weather bureau, indicating where tornados may develop during the next several hours.

The object of a "watch" is to alert the public in the areas of the forecast to the possibilities of a tornado occurring in these areas.

A tornado warning means that a tornado has actually been sighted or its presence has been detected by radar in the area. Such warning will indicate where the tornado was discovered and the path through which it is expected to move.

Gignac said, that upon receiving notice of a tornado watch or forecast, the following steps will be taken by officials:

- Weather conditions shall be observed continuously by personnel on duty and by tuning in the weather band radio.

- Should severe weather conditions develop, the officer on duty shall notify the chief and call in extra fire personnel.

- Men shall be placed at both township stations. Provisions shall be made for radio communication between Station One and Station Two.

- Constant contact with the State Police and the county sheriff's department shall be maintained for additional information. One fire department observer will be stationed at Ann Arbor Trail and Beck Road with a radio equipped car.

- Fire department personnel will be on the alert at both stations. •Firefighters will check the auxiliary generators to assure they will function properly.

- Upon receiving word from the observers or other reliable sources that a tornado is imminent, the siren shall be sounded with a continuous blast for three minutes. If the siren is out of order, police and fire equipment sirens shall be used. The siren shall be sounded only when a tornado funnel has been sighted nearby.

- Station One will be the command post from where operations will be directed. If this station is demolished or contact is no longer possible, the officer in charge of Station Two will assume command and continue to execute orders for operations.

If a tornado did not occur or hit the area, and all danger is past, the "All Clear" signal shall be sounded as follows: Three one minute blasts of the siren with a two minute interval between each blast.

If disaster strikes the officer in charge shall call for mutual aid assistance from all available fire department in the area.

The injured will be transported to the closest first aid station (Central Middle School), with the city of Plymouth and the township pooling their resources.

If no first aid or medical help is available, and for the seriously injured, transportation will be to the nearest hospital.

Injured persons will be sent to hospitals on a quota basis and a record kept at the command post with the victim's name and location where victim was picked up.

When necessary, the recruiting of additional help from the public will be carried out. Those recruited will be assigned to a firefighter and will be under close supervision of that firefighter.

The primary duty of all involved is to save lives.

Gignac said there is no universal protection against tornados other than caves or underground excavation.

"Such areas should be kept fit for use and an air outlet provided to help equalize the air pressure during a tornado. It must be kept free of gas, water or other debris and should be equipped with a pick and shovel."

If caught in open country, the chief said, move at right angles to the path of the tornado. They usually move at about 25 to 40 m.p.h. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression, such as a ditch or a ravine, Gignac advises.

"In a city or town, seek shelter in a strong, reinforced building if possible," the chief said. "The southwest corner of a basement is usually the best location in a building. In houses without basements, seek other shelter."

"Stay away from windows and outside walls. Doors and windows on the northeast side of the building should be opened to help reduce damage to the structure."

Those in schools should keep down on the floor along inside walls.

"Do not use auditoriums or other large area rooms," Gignac said.

"In rural schools, where strongly reinforced construction does not exist, students and teachers should leave

2 injured firefighters released from hospital

CANTON — The two firemen, injured Saturday battling a fire at the Fellows Creek Apartments in Canton Township, have been released from the hospital.

Robert Dart, 28, a volunteer with the Plymouth Township Fire Department, was released Tuesday after suffering smoke inhalation. Bill Grady, 25, of the Canton Township Fire Department, was also released from Wayne County General Hospital this week. He also suffered from smoke inhalation.

Two other firemen, including one from Plymouth, were treated at Wayne County General Saturday and released the same night.

The firemen were overcome fighting the fire at the 12-unit two-story building under construction at Sheldon and Ford roads.

Canton Township Fire Chief Mel Paulin said the state fire marshal is probing the site of fire and that the cause is not yet known.

Estimated damage to the structure was still unavailable.

The fire, which started about 7 p.m., was brought under control by units of the Canton, Plymouth and Plymouth Township fire departments within two hours after the first alarm was sounded.

Faust seeks '75 census

CANTON — Canton Township may not have to wait six years to get its fair share of state revenue sharing funds if State Sen. William Faust (D-Westland) has his way.

According to recent SEMCOG findings, Canton's population has increased 98.6 per cent since the last federal census was taken in 1970.

With its population nearly double that of three years ago, Canton, along with other fast-growing Michigan communities, stands to receive far less than its proportionate share of certain state funds, such as gasoline sales revenue, which by law are distributed according to the most recent federal census.

Faust has introduced legislation which would permit a special census to be taken in the middle year between two federal census years at the request of any county, city, village, or township. Thus Canton would be eligible for an up-to-date census in 1975, rather than waiting until 1980.

Urban counties demand greater voice

Pressed by Wayne and other major counties, the National Assn. of Counties (NACo) took the first step toward giving urban counties their own voice within the association at its Annual Legislative Conference in Washington, DC.

Wayne County Board Chairman Robert E. FitzPatrick, joined by elected leaders from two other urban counties, succeeded in winning NACo recognition of the unique problems of the nation's heavily populated urban counties at the meeting of county leaders from throughout the nation.

The NACo directors acted after FitzPatrick, Jack Walsh, Chairman of the San Diego (Calif.) Board of Supervisors, and Ned Reagan, elected Executive of Erie County, N.Y., indicated they would form an organization of urban counties outside NACo if urban concerns weren't given a greater voice within NACo.

The NACo directors, of which FitzPatrick is a member, established a nine-member committee to develop recommendations for the structure, funding, and staffing of an organization to represent urban counties within NACo. The committee members were to be appointed in the near future by NACo President Gil Barrett of Dougherty County, Ga.

Creation of the special committee culminated a campaign by FitzPatrick and other urban county leaders over the last several years for greater recognition of urban interests within NACo, which until recent years was dominated primarily by its rural members. The committee was recommended by NACo's Committee on the Future, a group formed to study such broad policy questions.

Wayne County Commissioner Paul Silver (D-Detroit) is a committee member but was unable to attend the Washington Conference due to other business commitments.

The recommendations for an urban counties unit within NACo are to be presented for approval by the NACo delegates at NACo's annual convention in Miami in July.

FitzPatrick said about 100 counties have expressed interest in having a formal urban coalition. "The counties with large urban populations have many additional problems in terms of meeting the human needs in their areas, particularly in fields such as health, employment, mass transportation, low-income housing and urban rehabilitation and beautification."

"Because numerically there are more rural counties than urban counties in NACo, the NACo policies regarding federal legislation on many of these key areas of urban concern have not always fully reflected urban needs. Therefore, we are pleased that the leadership of NACo has recognized the need for a specific urban voice within the organization. We believe this will have an impact upon Federal legislation that will be of great benefit to the urban areas such as Detroit and its tri-county area."

During the conference, the 13 Wayne County Commissioners attended a meeting with Congressmen and Senators to discuss urban problems and to express the needs of this area regarding key legislation pending in Congress.

Among the matters discussed were revenue sharing, the pending national health insurance legislation, and the need for increased funding of manpower programs to cope with the sharp increase in unemployment in Michigan that has resulted from the energy crisis.

The commissioners reported they found a sense of frustration and dissatisfaction among members of the Democratic majority in Congress regarding the administration's eligibility requirements for providing jobs to the unemployed through Title II of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act of 1973 (CETA).

Rep. David R. Obey, D-Wisc., a member of the powerful House Appropriations Committee, charged in a meeting with the Wayne County officials that the administration arbitrarily was using unemployment figures which grossly under-represent the actual unemployment rate in hard hit industrial areas such as Wayne County.

Obey said that the programs, including summer employment, which would be funded under Title II of the Act, should receive at least $1 billion instead of the $250 million which the administration has recommended to Congress.

"What I am going to suggest in the committee is that if the administration maintains its position, we don't fund Title II and funnel the money into the state and local governments through Title I instead," Obey told the Wayne County officials. "I think what they are trying to do is administer the death of a bill they didn't want anyway."

Congressman John D. Dingell,

(D-16) also charged the administration has changed the statistical basis to minimize the increase in the cost-of-living and unemployment.

Dingell pointed out that two Congressmen from Wayne County - William D. Ford (D-15) and James G. O'Hara (D-12) - will play key roles in the shaping of the CETA funding as members of the House Education and Labor Committee. "I probably will be voting with them," Dingell said.

Rep. John Conyers (D-Detroit) said he planned to hold a Conference on Manpower Programs and the CETA next month in Detroit. He asked the Wayne County officials to prepare a detailed analysis of the legislation and of needs in Wayne County for presentation at the Conference. Conyers said he wanted to work closely with the County and the City of Detroit in establishing needs and priorities at the Federal level.

"I believe a failure in our political system is the lack of coordination between the various levels of government in defining needs and establishing priorities," Conyers said.

Vice President Gerald R. Ford, former Congressman from Grand Rapids, spoke at the closing session of the conference. He predicted President Nixon would veto the energy legislation passed by Congress, declaring that the legislation "has some good provisions, but also some bad ones." He charged that all this bill does is allocate the shortage. "It doesn't encourage production of more energy. I suspect the veto will be sustained," Ford charged.

Ford said the administration wants to "de-regulate" natural gas, "facilitate" transportation of crude oil through super ports, relax auto emission and other anti-pollution standards which reduce fuel economy, and encourage research and development toward other energy sources, such as solar energy and gasification.

Major business sessions at the Conference included meetings of the various NACo steering committees which draft the organization's policy positions on key areas of national concern.

Wayne County Commissioners Conrad L. Mallett (D-Detroit), Tom F. Taylor (D-Westland - Garden City) and FitzPatrick serve on the Health and Education Steering Committee. Mallett is chairman of that committee's sub-committee on health insurance.

The committee adopted a platform urging that the anticipated national health insurance legislation provide comprehensive health benefits for the entire population and emphasize preventive care as well as "sick" care. It also urged Congress to increase the supply of health manpower, especially in the public health, allied health and nursing fields. In addition, the committee urged that Congress adopt a program that would finance public health services not covered under national health insurance.

Richard E. Manning (D-Redford) served as the energy sub-committee chairman for the Environment and Energy Steering Committee.

Manning introduced a resolution urging that business expense income tax deductions be given to persons who use their cars for car pools in order to encourage car pool for conserving gasoline and reducing traffic congestion and air pollution. He estimated a driver could save $380 per year on his state and federal income taxes if he carried riders on a daily 30-mile trip to and from work.

Michigan ranks 3rd

How tourists spend money in state

Recent economic research conducted by Robert E. Manning, graduate student at Michigan State University, working under the direction of Dr. Robert W. McIntosh, extension specialist in tourism and recreation, Cooperative Extension Service, has discovered that tourism in Michigan in fiscal 1972 totaled $2.3 billion.

Working with recent data from the "1972 Census of Transportation, National Travel Survey," Manning discovered that a total of almost 66 million person nights were spent in Michigan by tourists.

These person nights were spent in commercial accommodations, but this represents only 25.3 per cent of all tourists who traveled to destinations in Michigan at least 100 miles away from home. The remaining 74.7 per cent or over 49 million person nights, were spent in the home of friends or relatives, in privately owned cabins or other types of non-commercial accommodations.

Then using recently released "1972 National Travel Expenditures Study" data done by the United States Travel Data Center, Washington, D.C., lodging represents only 17.6 per cent of total trip expenditures.

Other expenditures include: transportation, 38.4 per cent; food, 21 per cent; entertainment, 5.9 per cent; gifts, .5 per cent; and incidentals, 16.6 per cent.

Capitalizing the 4 per cent Michigan tax on commercial accommodations of $4.8 million results in total hotel and motel expenditures during fiscal 1972 to almost $120 million. If this represents only 17.6 per cent of total trip expenditures, then the total expenditures of tourists traveling to a point of 100 miles or more in Michigan from their home and using commercial accommodations comes to almost $679 million.

Computing the tourist expenditures of those not using commercial accommodations was calculated by taking the number of person nights spent in commercial accommodations and dividing these into each expenditure category with the exception of lodging to get the amount spent per person night.

The resulting figures were then multiplied by the number of person nights spent in noncommercial accommodations to obtain the total trip costs for these cases. The resulting figures for transportation, food, entertainment, gifts and incidentals amounts to $1.6 billion.

Then adding the expenditures of almost $679 million of the tourists who used commercial accommodations to those not using commercial accommodations results in a grand total of $2.3 billion.

The National Travel Survey of the United States Bureau of the Census indicates that 3.9 million persons made day use of facilities in Michigan but no attempt has been made to add in the dollar volume generated by these day users, as there exists no generalizable estimates as to how much a day user spends.

The omission of these figures, however, results in a total estimate that is, probably considerably lower than what it might actually be.

Michigan's tourism is promoted by four regional tourist associations. These are the Upper Michigan Travel and Recreation Assn., the East Michigan Tourist Assn., the Southeast Michigan Tourist Assn., the West Michigan Tourist Assn., and nationally, by the Michigan Tourist Council.

Breaking these figures down based on the ratios of rooms tax collected by counties, Manning discovered that Southeast Michigan, having 44.4 per cent of total use tax collections on rooms, produced a total tourist dollar volume of slightly over $1 billion.

West Michigan with 26.9 per cent of total use tax collections on rooms, generated almost $630 million. East Michigan, with 18.3 per cent of total use tax collections on rooms generated $428 million and the Upper Peninsula with 9.7 per cent of total use tax collections on rooms generated $227 million in tourist volume.

The seasonal variations in tourism are also very interesting. As might be expected, June, July, August and September were the biggest months generating 45.3 per cent of the business.

Some limitations of the study are that noncommercial accommodation users don't necessarily travel in the same areas or in the same patterns as those who use commercial accommodations, but it would appear as though the similarities are actually quite strong.

A test of the reliability of this data is found by dividing the amount spent for commercial accommodations of almost $120 million by the number of person nights of the tourist using commercial accommodations.

This averages $7.16 per night, a figure which appears quite reasonable considering that persons under 12 years of age frequently stay free of charge.

If this total dollar estimate of $2.3 billion is considered reasonable, it places Michigan in third position among all states in tourism.

Home & Garden

PARQUET-LIKE DESIGN of hardboard wall paneling is rerouted from a traditional Spanish approach to one inspired by southern France for use in creating an American family room. The rough plaster look is also paneling from Maso-nite. Accessories include a Robert Aaron Young painting and replicas of African and Columbian sculptures.

Flower show opens March 16

The annual mid-March Home, Fur-niture and Flower show, March 16 — 24, in Cobo Hall is planned to appeal to the five human senses: Hearing, seeing, touching, smelling and tasting.

The designers point out that the garden will feature sparkling colors to excite the eye, the fragrance of spring flowers, the roar of tumbling waters and the touch of delicate leaves.

The garden will occupy more than an acre of floor in Hall B of Cobo Hall. Flowers, sod and other materials have been growing in the Belle Isle greenhouses and other nurseries in the Detroit area.

More than 100 large evergreens, 450 rhododendrons and azaleas, 1,000 daffodils, and more than 150 other shrubs and flowers will be used.

There will be nine or more sponsored gardens in the show, built by landscapers who are members of the Detroit Landscaping Assn.

A feature of the garden will be the A-frame shelter, centrally located on a wooden deck overhanging the pool which holds 17,000 gallons of water, circulated constantly by special pumps, installed out of sight. Garden visitors will get an overview from the deck as they emerge in a grove of spruces, and see water tumbling into the pool below.

Advance tickets are now on sale at $1.50. After noon, March 16 admission will be door sales only at $2.50.

Houseplant of the week

The philodendron is characterized by its elongated heart shaped or broad split leaves, which grow to a length of 18 inches.

It is suited to a large tub, often being trained on trellises or moss-covered poles. Its native habitat is Columbia, Costa Rica Peru, Brazil, Puerto Rico and Mexico.

The soil should consist of equal quantities of perlite or vermiculite, good garden soil and peat or humus.

Packaged potting soil that has been sterilized can be used. In preparing your own soil, sterilize it by steaming for ½ hour at 180 degrees F. or baking moist soil for 45 minutes to one hour at 180 - 250 degrees F.

Water freely during the summer months and keep out of drafts. Keep the soil evenly moist but not constantly wet. Fertilize at least once a month during the growing season. Wash the leaves once a month with soap and water.

Temperatures can range from 65 degrees F. at night, rising as high as 85 degrees F. during the day with a relatively low humidity. During the rest period keep the temperature a few degrees lower. Avoid any sudden change in temperature.

The philodendron will tolerate the reduced light found in most homes during the winter. It is one of the few plants that will grow near a north window, however it prefers an east window. Sunlight must be filtered or diffused. If placed near a south window shade it from direct sunlight.

Propagation is by stem tip clippings, leaf and bud cuttings, air layering, or seeds sown direct.

PHILODENDRON CORDATUM

Lighted candle reveals draft

It's better to light a candle than curse the draft.

Eliminating air infiltration around windows and doors can mean real savings on fuel costs and make your home more comfortable.

The problem of air infiltration is caused by loose fitting doors and windows. One of the best methods for determining whether you have it is to move a lighted candle near the doors and windows.

If the candle flickers, you have infiltration.

To banish air infiltration from your home, weatherstrip and caulk the frames of all doors leading to the outside. It's also a good idea to weatherstrip interior doors that lead to unheated areas such as basements or attics.

Be sure to check the weatherstripping and caulking around the window frames. If you are building or remodeling, consult your local building supplies dealer about windows with factory applied weatherstripping.

Quality wood windows, such as ponderosa pine come with the weatherstripping already installed.

Tight weatherstripping and precisely fitted sash and frame assure a homeowner of snug window closure.

Tests have shown that properly weatherstripped wood sash windows with insulating glass can cut heat loss in an average five-room house by nearly five per cent, which is passed on to the homeowner in lower fuel bills.

Spot - seed for green lawns

Damaged portions of a lawn should be spot - seeded early to make the spring growing season as lengthy as possible.

Seeding grass on frost - pitted soil is often effective.

Sloppy soils, unworkable as they thaw make a poor seedbed. Wait until the ground dries enough so that its surface can be scratched with a rake, loosening the soil enough to catch the grass seed.

PLYMOUTH COMMUNITY SCHOOL DISTRICT Plymouth, Michigan

BOARD OF EDUCATION MINUTES

The Regular meeting of the Board of Education of the Plymouth Community School District, Wayne and Washtenaw Counties, Michigan, was held on Monday evening, February 11, 1974, in the Little Theater of Plymouth-Canton High School, 8415 Canton Center Road, Plymouth, Michigan.

The meeting was called to order by President McClendon at 8:00 p.m. following an executive and informational session.

Present: Members Benson, Gray, McClendon, Mirto, Penar and Turner.
Absent: Member Lawton.

Administrators present: Sup't Hoben, Deputy Sup't Hogan, Assistant Sup't-Business Hoedel, Administrative Assistant-Personnel Kée, Supervisor Symonds, Coordinators Jacobs and Morris, Director Masteller and Principals Brojtn, Smith, Taylor and Workman.

Others present: Representatives of the PEA, the Safety Committee and the Transportation Committee; Marie McGee, Plymouth Mail and Observer; E. Kirchgatter, AAUW; Scott Beaman, M. Borowski, J. Broome, and J.D. Roy, Michigan Bell; and about 40 interested citizens and students.

Additions to the agenda were called and approved.

It was moved by Member Penar and seconded by Member Turner to approve the minutes of the regular meeting of January 14, 1974, as distributed.

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, McClendon, Mirto, Penar and Turner.
Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

It was moved by Member Turner and seconded by Member Penar to approve the minutes of the regular meeting of January 22, 1974, as distributed.

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, McClendon, Mirto, Penar and Turner.
Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

President McClendon welcomed all guests, indicating that the Board was glad they had come regardless of what concerns they might have and that it was always a pleasure to this Board to have citizens who care about their schools and about the way the Board tries to provide leadership for those schools.

No citizens rose to address the Board; however, President McClendon asked Sup't Hoben to review the District policy regarding the distribution of school supplies in light of a complaint received by phone from a Plymouth citizen.

Mr. Hoben reviewed the policy for elementary schools, indicating distribution of paper and pencils on a regular handout basis, so many per month, and for the middle and high schools, where distribution is made upon request of the students. Member Mirto also summarized the court decision handed down by the Supreme Court of Michigan in this regard and the School District Policy as well.

It was moved by Member Penar and seconded by Member Mirto to accept a plaque for placement in the Geer School, indicating "Plymouth Historical Landmark", as requested by the American Association of University Women and to notify that organization of acceptance.

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, McClendon, Mirto, Penar and Turner.
Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

Sup't Hoben reported on a meeting held with middle and high school principals regarding the need for changing attendance areas and methods of announcement and public hearings for random selection of eighth graders for 1974-75 school year. He reported that the consensus was that random selection should be delayed until the 1975-76 school year because of the amount of work done on scheduling for next year and announcement as to where students would be placed already having been made to parents. He indicated that there was a need for change in attendance areas because there were 438 spaces at Canton facility and a 238 overload at Salem High School. Member Gray felt such a plan for random selection should be released to the press and a series of public meetings set to get the feeling of the community before any decisions are made.

Member Penar reviewed the decision of the Board to date which he felt was to assign on a random basis after middle school parents' meetings of 7th and 8th grades. He felt it was the Board's intention to go to this process for 1974-75 but little discussion was made on putting off the process until the 1975-76 school year. He asked for reasons for the delay.

Sup't Hoben repeated the feelings of the principals - that they were 70% into the scheduling at this time by attendance area and that there was a low disparity of numbers at both Salem and Canton buildings. At this point the 1975-76 class entering high school would not be told in which building they would be housed. Member Mirto asked whether the Superintendent could undertake a feasibility study to move toward random selection since no definite decision had been made by the Board at a workshop session, including a report from staff on the plan they would like to see and all ramifications of it, and including plans clearly and substantially aired before the community. Member Penar felt that going to a random selection this year would affect about one-third of the eighth grade students at the most.

It was moved by Member Penar and seconded by Member Benson that administration be directed to provide to this Board an analysis of the random selection possibilities at the high school site for the 1974-75 school year; that this report be submitted to the Board at the next regular meeting of the Board and that the current memo from Principal Smith regarding assigning students to the Centennial Park be taken under advisement by the Board.

Member Mirto spoke in opposition, feeling this was not adequate time to solicit the opinion of citizens. Member Gray again spoke in support of public meetings and felt that if the community would not support this type of action, they would not support other millage or bond issues.

Member Benson felt the matter should have been discussed three months ago and not when the staff is already into scheduling. Member Penar reiterated his proposal and felt that no decision should be railroaded through by administration but facts obtained and decision made on these facts. He said administration is put on notice that it does not commit itself to random selection or non-random selection for 1974-75. J. Broome asked about final date a decision could be made to be effective. He was told March 1. M. Borowski rose to ask the Board to consider the total concept of the Park at this time and until the public was aware of that, they could not make a decision. Member Penar asked Sup't Hoben what pre-work and plans at the administrative level would be necessary for implementing the plan. He replied that sex balance and number balance would have to be established through either an independent source or through the student council. He said the concept of two or three schools at the Park is important to a final decision. He also felt little pre-planning was necessary and could probably be ready the next day in his opinion.

A roll-call vote on the motion was called.

Nays: Members Gray, Mirto and Turner.

The motion was defeated.

It was moved by Member Mirto and seconded by Member Turner to direct staff to undertake a feasibility study specifying in every detail possible the implementation of random selection for students who would be beginning their time in school at the Educational Park; that no specific school year be indicated; that once this report has come before the Board that it then be proper for the Board to undertake discussion as to which manner it would conduct public hearings on the question of random selection; leaving the time to the discretion of the staff for a complete report.

Ayes: Members Gray, McClendon, Mirto and Turner.
Nays: Members Benson and Penar.

The motion was carried.

It was moved by Member Gray and seconded by Member Mirto to approve the following bills for payment, as submitted by administration:

The motion was carried.

It was moved by Member Penar and seconded by Member Mirto to approve that the Plymouth Community School District grant the right-of-way on school property located on the Cherry Hill School Site (corner of Ridge and Cherry Hill Roads) to the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, and that the President and the Secretary of the Board of Education be authorized to execute the deed drafted by Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, McClendon, Mirto, Penar and Turner.
Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

J. Douglas Roy of Michigan Bell Telephone Company presented background information regarding the above motion.

It was moved by Member Penar and seconded by Member Turner that the Plymouth Community School District adopt the attached agreement between the Plymouth Community School District and the Michigan Department of Corrections for a period commencing September, 1973 thru June 30, 1974, to provide instruction for the residents of the Detroit House of Correction/Women's Division and further authorize the President and Secretary of the Board of Education to sign such agreement.

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, McClendon, Mirto, Penar and Turner.
Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

Member Mirto requested administration to prepare at a later date a summary of activities at the Detroit House of Correction, its staffing, curriculum, description on types of progress and budget, and include a statement for Superintendent Amberger as to how prison officials view the program and progress or lack thereof. In answer to an inquiry from Member Turner, Assistant Superintendent Hoedel stated that about $13,000-$14,000 of budget for the House of Correction program is on the plus side for the schools, including amortized inventory, depreciation of portable classrooms and the salary of the Director.

It was moved by Member Penar and seconded by Member Turner to authorize the advertising for sale of bus number 42, 1964 Ford, serial number B75KU555530, and further that the Administration be authorized to accept the high bid and to transfer title to the high bidder.

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, McClendon, Mirto, Penar and Turner.
Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

It was moved by Member Penar and seconded by Member Gray to accept the resignation of Mrs. Jill Potter, Pioneer School, English/Social Studies.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

It was moved by Member Penar and seconded by Member Benson to approve new contracts for the remainder of the 1973-74 school year for the following, as presented by administration:

Allan Cieslak	English/Social Studies	Pioneer
Audrey Etienne	Social Studies	Salem
Maria Homenik	Home Economics	Central

		Miller

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, McClendon, Mirto, Penar and Turner.
Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

It was moved by Member Penar and seconded by Member Mirto to authorize Administration to hire three (3) additional teachers to correct ratio inequities in the District, one each at Miller and Central Elementary and one at Pioneer Middle School; which would bring total certificated teaching staff to 533 prorated to full-time positions.

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, McClendon, Mirto, Penar and Turner.
Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

It was moved by Member Penar and seconded by Member Benson to table a proposal for administrative organization charts and for posting and hiring four new administrative positions as proposed by staff, with the exception of Supervisor of Accounting and to direct administration to place the time on our study session agenda as soon as possible.

Member Mirto spoke against tabling the proposal since he felt it was budgeted and that it was fair and equitable for a district which is growing and needs added help. Staff indicated no interviewing had taken place to date. Member Penar felt the need to look at the 1974-75 budget before consideration. Staff indicated item was not in that budget but was included in this year's budget. President McClendon indicated this motion was not a debatable item and cut off debate at this time.

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, McClendon and Turner.
Nays: None.

The motion was defeated.

It was moved by Member Turner and seconded by Member Gray to authorize administration to establish the position of Data Processing Coordinator and post same.

Vice-President Penar took the Chair.

It was moved by Member McClendon and seconded by Member Turner that this Board endorse the position resolution passed by the Schoolcraft Community College Board of Trustees on December 12, 1973, which would oppose legal action that would destroy community colleges' present alignment throughout the State of Michigan into a regional type of alignment.

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, McClendon, Mirto, Penar and Turner.
Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

President McClendon resumed the Chairmanship.

It was moved by Member Penar and seconded by Member Gray that since the Student Government organizations at the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park have failed to respond to the plan whereby one of their representatives would sit in on Board meetings, but with no vote, and have failed to come back to the Board with further proposals, that Member Mirto be relieved of his responsibility to have further discussion with the Student Government organizations.

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, McClendon, Mirto, Penar and Turner.
Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

It was moved by Member Penar and seconded by Member Mirto that a proposal on the establishment of a bank to defray cost of graduation submitted by Dr. Morris be deferred to administration who would come back to the Board with a recommendation, including answers to such questions as to whether custodians' contract would be violated in any way.

The motion was carried.

It was moved by Member Penar and seconded by Member Turner that a request be approved for a basic textbook entitled "Graphic Communications" by R. J. Broekhuizen, published by McKnight Company, 1973, 1st Edition at a cost of $6.99 each.

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, McClendon, Mirto, Penar and Turner.

It was moved by Member Mirto and seconded by Member Gray that the proposal from Scott Beaman be approved to allow U.S. History Advanced Placement students to travel to Williamsburg, Va., during the Spring vacation for five days, provided the gas situation is such that travel would be convenient; cost to the school district being minimal.

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, McClendon, Mirto, Penar and Turner.
Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

It was moved by Member Benson and seconded by Member Gray that a workshop be set up at the earliest available date (by reassigning other workshop sessions to bring this subject to an earlier date) on whether to proceed with the concept and plan of the Centennial Park Site, and if so, how to proceed, including third high school site.

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, McClendon, Mirto, Penar and Turner.
Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

Safety Committee reports were noted as follows: Minutes, Crossing Guards/Safety Committee Meeting, January 14, 1974; Safety Committee (District-Wide) Minutes, January 21, 1974; and Report on Meeting with Senator Pursell, January 21, 1974. Chairman F. Tonda asked permission to establish a "roving crossing guard" position to work with training new guards, considering new equipment and/or complaints and to be on call for principals to consult. Mr. Kee was asked to develop an administrative recommendation with Mrs. Tonda and Mr. Sandmann and he indicated personnel division concurs in the proposal. He would draw up guidelines to use in the future.

Member Gray inquired about status of side rails of Fiegel School overpass. Mr. Hoedel reported that they would be installed during March 1 to 15, at a cost of about $900.00.

President McClendon again expressed the Board's indebtedness to Mrs. Tonda and the Safety Committee for their dedicated work.

Member Mirto raised several questions regarding the Safety Committee documents: (1) The matter of gravel and sidewalks by Gallimore School and whether the staff was aware of that problem. Supervisor Symonds reported that gravel had been added twice on the path and that sidewalks could not be installed at this time due to the widening project for Sheldon Road. (2) The problem of bus window breakage by students throwing snowballs at school buses and whether the Director of Transportation was aware of this problem. Mr. Hoedel reported that records are made of breakage and a report can be prepared for the Board. He also said that something is being done about the problem, since referrals are made to building principals, and reprimand may be given to parents and student and/or suspension and withdrawal of the privilege of riding on the bus. Mrs. Tonda indicated she would contact homeowners associations and subdivisions which have newsletters so that they might circulate concern over this problem. Use of ID cards and assignment of students to specific buses has been considered.

It was moved by Member Penar and seconded by Member Turner that this meeting be adjourned.

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, McClendon, Mirto, Penar and Turner.
Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

The meeting was adjourned at 10 p.m.

Administration was asked to add the subjects under "Old Business" - The Update on Transportation Study and the Substitute Teacher Evaluation - to the next agenda.

The Board was apprised by President McClendon of the tragic deaths in an automobile accident of William C. Drummond and Brian Scannell and the injury to two other boys on Napier Road on February 10, 1974, and that all regret this tragedy.

Respectfully submitted,
GARY A. MIRTO, Secretary
Board of Education

Let bad drivers see their own blood flow

The idea was so beautiful that I wish I had thought of it myself. Instead the credit must go to Michele Mauch, a bright-eyed 10-year-old who lives in Livonia.

She is concerned about traffic accidents and the blood that is spilled in them. I am, too, because when you've written up as many accidents as I have, checked the spellings of as many dead persons' names, cropped pictures of as many gore-spattered cars — well, you don't cry aloud, but you don't get hardened to it either.

Michele's idea is this: "When people get tickets for just going too fast, take them to the hospital to give blood. That will be their ticket."

There are, unfortunately, some (ugh!) practical problems with her suggestion. If the driver is too young, or over age 60, the hospital can't accept his blood. The driver may also have a disease or health condition that would make him an unacceptable donor; he may have had a penicillin shot in the last four weeks, so that's no good because the recipient may be unable to tolerate penicillin.

Then, too, there's the money involved. Courts in the cities and townships which fund them are looking forward to the revenue which traffic fines bring in. In effect, the exchequer of our municipalities would have to give up, say, $20 each time a speeder opted for the blood bank instead of his checkbook.

But Michele's idea still has merit. If our district judges could forget the cash register for a moment, why couldn't they put speeders on probation, making the donation of a pint of blood a condition of that probation? If the guilty party doesn't donate within 30 days, the judge could then levy the fine.

It's an interesting experience to go to the Red Cross blood bank. There's one in Garden City on Ford Road east of Middle Belt. Somehow they found out my blood type is widely usable, so I get a fair number of calls. I'm not the volunteering type, but I can't say no when they give me a story about a veteran who needs open heart surgery. And it's a good excuse to get out of this madhouse of a newspaper office on a Monday morning.

You meet all sorts of interesting folks with different lines of work.

The atmosphere is the pleasantest possible. No real estate salesman seeing a gleam in your eye could treat you better than do the folks at the Red Cross. And when you see three clear bags of blood filling at once, you get what Schweitzer called "reverence for life."

Michele is right, of course. Requiring a traffic violator to donate blood would be a sobering, socially useful and not an unpleasant experience. Our present solution of checkbook justice is too easy. If our judges would remember that the purpose of a penalty is punishment and rehabilitation rather than fattening the local treasury, maybe they could take Michele's suggestion seriously.

Attack trash --twice

By MARGARET MILLER

Householders in and out of Observerland put into their garbage cans each week an awful lot of bottles and cans that held soft drinks and beer.

But they also put plenty of other stuff into those bags and cans that await the trash collector.

If they had to buy their drinks in bottles they had returned to the store because they had paid a deposit for them, a lot of trash would be gone from those bags.

But not all of it, by any means.

Which is precisely the reason why, in considering Michigan's numerous trash problems, the thinking shouldn't be "either or" about State Sen. Carl Pursell's resource recovery bill (SB 946) and House Bill 4926, known as the bottle bill.

If the state really wants to clean up its landscape and use available energy the best way, it needs both bills.

Pursell's bill looks at the whole question of recycling solid wastes and, if enacted, would lead to a long-hoped-for goal of developing by-products of energy.

It's a fine goal, earnestly supported by environmentalists and many others who want to be proud of their state. It should be enacted and implemented as soon as possible.

IN THE MEANTIME, manufacturing energy is being poured into production of bottles and cans that hold a serving of pop or beer one time and they are added to our heaps of solid waste and the litter that messes up our highways and communities.

It's energy that could be saved, because this product could be, in fact used to be, packaged in a bottle that could be used again. House Bill 4926 aimed at effecting that switch, is supported by the Detroit Area Coalition for the Environment and opposed by firms that make the bottles and some labor groups that fear loss of jobs.

The opposition is understandable.

But if we look back a bit, we see that the no-return bottles and cans represent a move to expand the glass and steel market a few years ago. Now we're realizing for the first time, as we look at conserving energy and saving our environment, that expansion isn't always improvement and that priorities must be established.

And if we look west a bit, we see that the state of Oregon, where a ban on returnable containers for soft drinks has been law for more than a year. There the beverage business is on the upgrade, the number of layoffs has been minimal and the view of the landscape has improved drastically.

Recent research has shown that recycling isn't economically feasible except in the case of newsprint.

GATHERING UP cans and bottles and taking them to the recycling center raises some funds because glass and metal companies pay by weight for the used container. It also helps fight litter, of course.

But the energy it takes to transport and recycle bottles and cans has been shown to exceed the amount that would be used if they were thrown away.

The bottle bill probably isn't winning any popularity contests. There's no getting around the convenience of the no-return system. But many people are coming to realize that convenience isn't always worth the price.

A long-range answer to a complicated problem lies in Sen. Pursell's Senate Bill 946.

"CHEER UP, MR. HASTINGS, I'M NOT ASKING FOR A POUND OF FLESH — JUST A PINT OF BLOOD."

Justice loses 'points'

Last week saw two important local developments in the continuing saga of the energy crisis: (1) The gasoline shortage hit our suburbs; (2) the State Legislature, after fussing for weeks, finally passed a reduced speed limit law — of a sort.

The gas crunch came to the suburbs with the end of the month wipe-out of local dealers' gas allocations. Many stations closed for lack of gas to sell; some closed to wait for the federally-approved price increase to take effect; a very few were open, especially over the weekend. For the guy with only a few gallons left and lots of miles to travel, the situation became grim.

The long lines extended throughout the suburbs. They were seven and eight deep at the Standard station in downtown Rochester, and the 20-car line ran clear across the street at the Texaco station at Plymouth and Levan Roads in Livonia.

Some stations that were open called this newspaper to come out and take pictures of the lines; at Boe's Total Service in Southfield, by the time our photographer got there, the station had pumped its last and was shut down.

Most local dealers said the situation should be better from now on. That is, until the end of this month's allocations repeats the whole mess.

THE INTENSITY of the crisis later this month may well be affected by the degree to which motorists obey the new state 55 mph speed limit, which was passed by the Legislature after exquisitely prolonged hassle last week.

The big disagreement was over the penalty for violating the 55 limit. Some legislators argued that a law is a law, and any driver convicted of speeding over 55 should get penalty "points" added to his record; others urged only fines and/or jail for violations between 55 and 70. The latter proposition, urged by the State Senate, finally won out in conference.

Two local House members are upset at the final vote. Rep. Raymond Smit (R-Ann Arbor), who represents much of Plymouth, charged that to

by PHILIP H. POWER

"waive points under the new speed limit law is to set two standards of drivers — those who will obey the law willingly and those who will speed 15 mph over the legal limit because they can afford to pay their fines."

He was joined by Rep. John Markes (D-Westland), whose district includes southwestern Livonia.

SMIT AND MARKES are quite right. Either we are going to have laws which set up equal penalties for breaking them or we are going to have no laws at all. Either we are going to have a system of justice in which penalties for breaking the law are equally onerous to rich and poor, or we are not going to have a system of justice worth the name.

Most cities simply fine motorists for parking violations. In fact, most efficient municipalities make it nice and easy for the guy whose meter runs out; all he does is sign the form, slip in the $1 and $2, and drop it in the mail.

Net result? Wholesale disregard for parking laws and meter violations.

I fear the new speed limit law, as passed by the Legislature, will have very little effect in actually lowering the average speed on our highways. If the penalty for following our old habit patterns is a $5 or $10 fine, I suspect most folks will probably run the risk and stay at the old 70.

And then the lines at the end of the month at your local gas station could be very much longer than they were this past weekend.

Watergate won't fade away

Somehow, the specter of Watergate doesn't seem to want to vanish from the scene.

The indictments handed down by the grand jury last week fail to answer the main concern of the American people. That is, was the president of the United States involved?

The election of Richard VanderVeen in Jerry Ford's old district indicates quite concretely that there is some disillusionment in the actions of Richard M. Nixon.

Many will say the impeachment proceedings in the House of Representatives will be the last word on whether Nixon is or is not guilty. But there is also suspicion in the minds of many that such proceedings will end up in being a partisan wrangle.

THE ELECTION in Grand Rapids and cocktail party talk seem to indicate three schools of thought in the United States.

There's the hard-core Republican who says a man is innocent until proven guilty and that we owe respect to Richard Nixon because he is our president.

Then there are the hard-core Democrats who didn't support Nixon in the first place and are willing to take any opportunity to criticize the man because they never felt he was worthy of support.

The third and larger group includes not only the independents, but many Republicans and Democrats who say we owe allegiance to the office of the president, not to the individual who holds that office, and the individual holding the office must be above reproach, like Caesar's wife.

By releasing the tapes to the court, where they could be scrutinized by an impartial observer, Richard Nixon had an opportunity to prove he was not involved in Watergate or its cover-up.

He refused, under the banner of executive privilege. He said he didn't want to diminish the office of the president for future officeholders by setting precedents as to executive privilege.

HOWEVER, it is obvious today from all of the polls that his actions had the opposite effects and brought respect for the office of the president to one of its all-time lows. To use a tennis term, the ball is clearly in the president's court. His supporters keep hoping he is going to pull a rabbit out of the hat and enter the controversy.

But the hour is getting late. If the president doesn't start squaring with the people instead of sparring with them and reveal all, then he cannot measure up to what the American people expect of him and he should step down from his position.

Sense And Nonsense

No one ever could accuse Charlie Lowe, attorney for the City of Plymouth, of lacking a sense of humor.

Asked to explain the recent amendment to the zoning ordinance permitting an increase of 25 percent in floor space when rebuilding a non-conforming unit, he answered:

"If you are expecting your mother-in-law to come and live with you, the amendment gives you the right to build a special room for her."

talk, he or she is asked to stand with back to the audience and speak into one of these weak mikes. More often than not, the general public knows little of what is being said.

Again the exception is the City of Livonia, where the citizen stands to the side of the council table and talks to both the members of the commission and the public at the same time — and in tones that can be heard.

There is a solution to the problem. It can be solved by the use of lavaliers (pendant) microphones. But somehow or other, the officials whimper at the very thought of them.

An added feature of the lavalier mike would be the real opportunity for the audience to hear what goes on in the whispering between members at the official table.

Years ago, it was said that what the country needed was a good five cent cigar. Today what is needed most is a well informed public, and the officeholders can't provide information with a scattered few microphones that are toned down to keep voices little above a whisper.

Study pact signed by city, township

•What are the costs of providing services in each of the units continuing separately?

•What costs will be incurred in providing present and new services as a consolidated city?

The study agreement says those questions will focus on — but not necessarily be limited to — the following service and regulatory functions:

- Police.
- Fire.
- Refuse collection.
- Road maintenance.
- Water and sewer.
- Health services.
- Library services.
- Recreation programs.
- General government (including assessment, building permits and inspection, and planning).

To publicize its findings and expand on them, the MSU researchers plan a series of three seminars, two of which will be held after the report is released and before the consolidation election and the third to be held following the election regardless of its outcome.

Arrangements for the seminars will be left to the Ad Hoc Committee, but seminar participants will be asked to attend all three of the sessions.

According to the agreement signed Monday, the consolidation study will be completed during the week of April 1.

Cost of the study will be $2,800, of which $1,000 was paid Monday by equal contributions from the city and township.

Longevity attributed to vegetable diet

Russian scientists who have been studying the amazing longevity of people in the Caucasus mountain range on the eastern shores of the Black Sea, believe that diet is the most important factor if a person is to live more than 100 years.

The number of people over 100 years of age in this particular region of southern Russia is estimated at 5,000 individuals.

The oldest living person in the region is believed to be almost 170 years old, and the Russian scientists feel that it may be possible for a person to live to 200 years of age.

In studying the diet of these amazingly healthy old people, the Russians discovered that 70 per cent of their caloric intake is of vegetable origin, particularly lettuce, cabbage, beans, spinach, corn, celery and parsley. Corn mush appears to be a part of every meal - eaten with a red pepper sauce.

Fresh green vegetables are also a major part of every meal.

Two other areas of the world noted for longevity and an unusually high number of centenarians are Vilcamba in the Ecuadorian Andes, South America, and the Hunza region of Pakistan.

In these two areas the importance of fresh vegetables is even more pronounced. In both regions meat and dairy products constitute a mere 1 1/2 per cent of the total diet, the rest coming mostly from vegetables.

Other important factors for a long, healthy life appear to be plenty of daily exercise and lack of tension. Most exercise consists of outdoor farming activities.

Also a good disposition seems to be a common characteristic among the old people.

For a brilliant show, the fiery - red spikes of the salvia are hard to beat. Some people have difficulty getting salvia seed to germinate.

Salvia likes heat for germination. We start ours about now in sand - peatmoss mixture, or one of the artificial mixes. Best temperature is 72 degrees F. or higher. Lower than 70 degrees F. the seed rots and this is why germination is so poor, especially when the night temperature goes below 70 degrees. For best germination, do not cover seed with soil, as light aids germination.

If your salvias do not bloom in late summer, better switch to an earlier variety. Usually, the taller the variety the later it blooms. Bonfire, for example, is later than St. John's Fire. One of the best dwarf salvias is Red Pillar, growing to a height of 15 inches.

Hot Pants is another early bloomer, continuing up to frost. Hot Pants keeps its flowers even in midsummer, when others shatter. The salvia plants should not be set outdoors until the weather is really warm and frost free, since salvias are touchy. During the summer, you can snip off the dead flowers to insure continuous bloom until frost.

There's a perennial blue salvia (Blue Bedder) which makes an ideal background plant for the red dwarf salvia. Blue Bedder has long graceful spikes of light grey - blue, ideal for cut flowers.

When settlers came to America they found no apples or tree fruits growing here. Early settlers brought apple seeds with them and this was the beginning of the apple industry. Before 1800 there were thousands of apple varieties in America but many of them were suitable only for cider or animal feed. As settlers moved south, west and into Canada they took seeds and seedlings with them.

During the depression years, a work project was set up in America to cut down many neglected apple trees to control pests. Thousands of old apple varieties were cut down, and some old varieties were lost forever.

Today, there's an effort being made to bring back and preserve old apple varieties; thanks to the efforts of Miller's Nurseries and the Worcester Co. Horticultural Society. Other nurserymen are gradually listing some of the older varieties. These people deserve credit for preserving such old varieties as Sweet Winesap, Fameuse, Grimes Golden, Maiden's Blush, Pound Sweet and dozens of others.

The Worcester Co. Horticultural Society has scions for budding and grafting, for those of you who want to try your hand. If you're interested in grafting or budding some old fashioned varieties, send me a self - addressed, stamped envelope. Or if you don't want to tackle the job of grafting or budding, you can buy trees already started from the nursery.

GREEN THUMB CLINIC: "We want to try starting our own tomatoes from seed. Should we sow the seed directly in the peat pot or should we use the Jiffy pellets?"

Answer: Either way is fine. Start them in the pellets and you can set pot and all out in the garden, without any shock of transplanting.

Plymouth service reaches 10th birthday

BY MARGARET MILLER

The symptoms of family problems are different, but what lies behind them doesn't change much over 10 years.

That was the assessment of a lady who has watched the development of Plymouth Family Service during the decade that culminated in a 10th birthday party at the Round Table Club last week.

"Kids still worry their parents and the parents still find it hard to understand," said Dolly Brenner, director of agency known as Child and Family Service of Washtenaw County, parent organization of the Plymouth-based service.

"It used to be booze and sex and now it's drugs and sex," she added, "but the basic conflict is about the same."

Mrs. Brenner made her comments as past and present members of the Plymouth Family Service committee gathered to remember the beginnings and look toward the future.

It was the agency she headed that was asked by four community leaders back in 1964 to help set up a means by which residents of the city and township could find help for personal problems.

Robert Barbour, president of the Plymouth Bank and one of that original quartet, took it from there.

"We had made a survey in connection with services that should be covered by the Plymouth Community Fund," he recalled.

"The results were shocking — unbelievable to me. I thought, like most people here, that in a settled, rather affluent community like Plymouth, that serious family problems were something that existed elsewhere.

"I guess we just wanted to sweep such problems under the rug and pretend they didn't exist."

Mrs. Reva Barber, another early committee member, recalled that the survey showed "we were doing a good job of meeting the needs of our community except in this one area," so the decision was to do something about that area by calling Mrs. Brenner, head of the agency then known as Ann Arbor Family Services.

The Plymouth branch was sent up with Anna Jung as the first social worker. It opened Feb. 1, 1964, in the Veterans Memorial Building at 173 N. Main. By the first of May there were 67 applications for service and counseling.

Miss Jung explained then, to members of the community who came to an open house showing off the new quarters, that she was trying as often as possible to involve the whole family in counseling problems, since all play a part in building the conflict.

That's still true today, reports Ruth Abell, current head of the agency that now is located in a suite of offices at 880 Wing.

"We get many referrals today from schools, for example," she said, "and in the counseling we try to work first with the principal and counselors and then with the family the child comes out of."

"What we are trying to do is come up with a program best for the child involved and his parents and brothers and sisters."

One thing that has changed a bit is the volume of cases handled. In 1965 it was counted at 190. The total in 1973 was 323.

"We are better known now and there are more referrals," Mrs. Abell said.

Miss Jung, the first Family Service social worker, remained with the agency until 1967. After a year without a worker assigned specifically to Plymouth, Fred Gibilisco arrived in 1968.

He left in 1971 to join the Eastern Michigan University faculty and Mrs. Abell, who had joined the staff in 1970, took over top responsibility. Walter MacDonald arrived in May of 1971, and Lisa Rossbach became a part-time social worker in July of last year.

Today work at the agency is abetted by several students from EMU and the University of Michigan. They do counseling under supervision and aid in the group therapy sessions.

Also important to the staff are the secretarial workers. Betty Hocking, who served as secretary several years ago, has been filling in recently during the illness of the current secretary, Connie Cavanaugh.

Various kinds of professional service are part of the Plymouth agency's make-up.

Mrs. Abell said her co-workers do a lot of group therapy but she herself is more likely to go to the individual session. "I find I can get to the problem that is bothering the person better on a one to one basis," she said.

"Some people just can't handle the kind of searching that comes in a group session. But for many young people who have grown up with the group idea, it works out well."

A committee of 12 members has from the beginning concerned itself with the functioning of Plymouth Family Service.

Early members, along with Barbour and Mrs. Barber, have been the Rev. Donald Williams, former pastor of the First Baptist Church of Plymouth, Mrs. Fran Bauer and Mrs. Mary Childs.

Some recent additions have been Ken Jacobs, assistant probation officer and area coordinator for Canton and Salem High Schools and Betty Andrews, senior adult affairs coordinator at Schoolcraft College.

"We try to keep a balance so all segments of the community are represented on the committee," Mrs. Abell said.

Drop-in counseling

Redford gets a 'Third Ear'

BY MARGARET MILLER

There's a Third Ear to be found in the Northwestern YMCA, 21755 Seven Mile, Detroit, and in the Methodist Children's Village, 26645 W. Six Mile, Redford Township.

That is the name of a new drop-in counseling service being set up on an informal basis by professionals on the staffs of the two agencies.

"Most people have two ears but don't listen," explained Fred Giltrow, Y staff member who is working closely with Dave Anderson and Bruce Binstock of the Village staff.

"We aim to provide an extra ear that will really listen and try to help."

The service is being set up to aid residents of the northwest Detroit and suburban areas in ways that a trained professional can best help.

"Both our agencies," said Giltrow, "have an interest in working with others and in developing programs that can help people in trouble."

"We want to be able to be flexible and get people to the agencies that can do them some good in their particular situation — whether it is finding suitable housing in a hurry, locating legal aid or just listening to a family problem."

The YMCA and the Village staffs both have had Wayne State University social work students working with them in recent months, and that in a way led to the Third Ear.

The WSU students were setting up teen groups, particularly involving boys from single parent families, Giltrow said, and that led all concerned to realize the need for more "listening" in this area.

"We found people were calling because they didn't know where to go for specific services," he added, "and teens were coming in in groups just to talk. They'd talk about all sorts of things, but they always seemed to get around to drugs eventually."

When the Third Ear was organized early this year, "we saw it mainly as a drop-in service," Binstock said.

"Then the telephone calls started coming in, and we found that was a way we could help many. Fortunately, the switchboard at the Y is open six days a week from 8:30 a.m. to 10 p.m., so referrals can be made that way."

The Third Ear has a special line that is open Monday through Thursday from 6 to 10 p.m.

One recent call to the Third Ear came from a woman who lives on the east side of Detroit, Binstock said. She had heard a radio announcement and hoped for help in finding housing.

Another Anderson received on a February afternoon was from a mother who said her early teen daughter was all at once becoming uncooperative and hostile in a wide variety of ways.

"This seemed to be a counseling case," Anderson said, "so I set up an appointment to see the parents and daughter that same evening."

"In a case like that we have two or three sessions for evaluation — determining what are the issues and what kind of service we can offer."

The original consultation, in that case, was $3. If the request comes from a youth under 18, there is no charge, Anderson said. If extended

We've increased the family a bit in the last couple of months by adding an actress.

The total member count is the same, but there's definitely a difference.

When she got the big part in the ninth-grade play, we were delighted. It was something she'd wanted to do for so long.

As rehearsals progressed, I began to see what the acting bug can do. More time involved than Girls Scouts and bands and music lessons all lumped together, I decided.

"The play's the thing" became pretty well recognized by the whole family. As performance time drew near, our university sophomore was urged to come in for the evening, but a mid-term exam kept her on campus.

She sent our actress a note, though, with the traditional theatrical advice "Break a Leg" instead of wishing her good luck.

From the audience on the big night, I thoroughly enjoyed the results of good coaching and hard work on the part of all involved. Our soft-spoken teen had an amazing amount of stage presence.

And I share her let-down when she said sadly after the after-play party "It's over."

But I have a feeling it isn't over at all.

Women want Mocerri because of 'shopping drive'

EDITOR:

(In reply to Rita Ringer's letter to the editor and to 'With Malice Toward None' both in the Feb. 27 edition of The Plymouth Mail & Observer.)

Maybe with this one missile I can get off two salvos and reply to your barbs directed to the opponents of the 'Mocerri Project' and the 'anti-growthers.'

As an eight year resident of Canton Township, I have become deeply involved and engrossed in our township's development, though only in the past two years.

Not as the hostile, rude, close-minded militiamen (borrowing from your statements), but as a citizen jarred to reality out of his organic garden when he realized the original planned community zoning wasn't being adhered to.

The so-called growth spawned a tremendous amount of ills for our newly-arrived residents. Our township representatives weren't equipped or prepared for the influx of sophisticated developers who dazzled them with tax base figures, planned unit development trade-offs, and visions of prosperity and well-being for the community.

To excerpt Mike Manore's quote: "Canton built the equivalent of one and a half cities the size of Plymouth between 1970 and 1973." does anyone know that Canton had only one building inspector to oversee the step-by-step construction up until 1973? The builders must have had a ball!!

Small wonder our newly-arrived residents have some misgivings about the quality of the construction of their homes, the street layouts, and the so-called dump-littered mini-parks.

Most tragic and appalling of all - the loss of those poor souls in the recent fire in one of those new dwellings. This is a shame upon our community, and the pity of it all is that it will happen again, even in new developments yet to come. If you think not, just attend any of our township meetings and learn how easily developers have their rezoning requests approved.

The Mocerri Development? I can understand Ms. Ringer's concern for a shopping center. One of the strongest "drives" in a woman is the shopping drive and woe to the obstacle that stands in its way! Even a headache won't allay it.

Inadequate roads have been the deterrent up to this point. We will have adequate roads, we're told, and they will be built four to five lanes wide running past Gallimore school and up to the I-275 overpass on Joy Rd. Both locations will increase as accident-prone, high-risk areas. Where do we see this combination at any

'I don't want recognition'

EDITOR:

It has been my pleasant opportunity to have had my name and picture in your newspaper a number of times these past months. As might be expected, the rewards of being a Salvation Army officer go beyond the pay received, and are found in the friends we meet and make during our community service.

May I take this opportunity to thank you, your paper, and all the private citizens and clubs who have expressed their appreciation for various services I've rendered to Plymouth.

However, may I also make two observations that have troubled me during this time of special recognition:

• Many of our attention-getting services revolve around the use of our Salvation Army mini-bus. Credit for this has to be shared with the Plymouth Community Fund (PCF) and all those who have given to it regularly. The PCF helped us secure this bus and helps with its everyday expenses.

• Even more important to me, I would be much happier if this recognition of services would go to the Salvation Army rather than to me personally. Nearly 20 years ago, God called me to be an Army officer, and He has given me whatever talent and love for people that makes these services possible.

As they say, "first things first." God - the Army - Warren Yoder.

WARREN YODER, Captain
Plymouth

EDITOR'S NOTE: It's refreshing nowadays to see modesty like Capt. Yoder's but we cannot ignore his personal accomplishments he has contributed to the community through The Salvation Army. The Plymouth Jaycees, who recently named Capt. Yoder outstanding young man of the year, apparently share our view.

Dean's list

PLYMOUTH — Douglas R. Wor-nop, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wor-nop, 47023 Stonecrest Dr., was named to the dean's list during the first term of the current year at Hope College.

'More news than ever'

EDITOR:

The announcement of the end of the Plymouth Mail and Observer seemed to be another blow to the Plymouth Community's identity - old but rapidly growing settlements being lumped into the category of "affluent suburbia."

I was happy to see that you haven't abandoned Plymouth. There was more news about the community in the first issue of the Plymouth Observer & Eccentric than ever.

It would be nice if - somewhere in the new paper - you could continue the name of "The Mail," simply because it played a large, if not always glorious, role in recording the 19th and 20th centuries of Plymouth and Canton history. A little reminder of heritage in the midst of explosive new growth can't hurt.

Thank you for doing an outstanding job of maintaining the individuality of the paper and, as always, keeping local readers informed of local happenings.

EDITOR'S HISTORICAL NOTE: The oldest journalistic name in Michigan was Father Gabriel Richard's "Michigan Essay, or Impartial Observer." It pre-dates both the Eccentric and the Mail.

This is a rainy day.

Debbie Moffitt's been saving for this rainy day for more than a year and a half. She knew a trip to the islands would cost money. So she came to us for advice.

And we recommended our 5% Regular Savings Passbook Account. Because it was the best savings plan for her.

It was easy for her to save, too. Because she took advantage of our Automatic Savings Plan. She had $20 transferred from her checking account to her savings account every pay day. So her savings really began to add up.

We've got other high-interest plans for rainy-day saving, too. Everything from our 5% Regular Savings Passbook Account to our 7% 4-Year Certificates of Deposit.

They'll all help make your rainy days just as bright as Debbie's.

5% Regular Savings Passbook: interest compounded quarterly. Withdrawals and deposits daily.
5% Special Time Savings Account: $500 minimum deposit, interest compounded continuously, payable quarterly, 90 day maturity, $50 minimum additional deposits.
6% 1-2% Year Certificates of Deposit: interest compounded quarterly with quarterly interest checks available, $500 minimum deposit. 6% 2 1/4 Year Certificates of Deposit: interest compounded quarterly with quarterly interest checks available, $500 minimum deposit. 7% 4-Year Certificates of Deposit: interest compounded quarterly with quarterly interest checks available, $1000 minimum deposit. Federal law and regulation prohibit the payment of a time deposit prior to maturity unless forfeited and interest on the amount withdrawn is reduced to the passbook rate.

Rotarians planning 50th anniversary

PLYMOUTH - The Rotary Club of Plymouth, which had its inception in the old Lutheran Church on Spring St. in 1924, will celebrate its golden jubilee with a special dinner in the Mayflower Meeting House on Friday evening, March 22.

As a climax to the big week Larry Carino, vice-president and general manager of TV Channel 2, will deliver the main address.

One of the most active of the TV officials, Carino will make his first major appearance in Plymouth.

Many top Rotary officials in the midwest will be on hand as a tribute to Ed Sawusch, governor of District 640, and to the club.

The dinner will climax a series of events marking the jubilee. First, the Rotary Club provided two kidney machines to St. Mary Hospital to establish a kidney dialysis unit.

Next, the club made a gift of a large identification sign to the farm unit of Plymouth-Salem High School and a large mural, depicting a street scene in downtown Plymouth on July 4, 1909 to the Historical Museum.

Prior to these gifts, the club also presented the fountain in Kellogg Park to the city as its contribution in beautifying the downtown area.

Since its inception the Rotary Club has had only three homes. After meeting in the church for several years the club transferred its sessions to the Masonic Temple and then to the Mayflower Hotel and Meeting House.

It was in Masonic Temple at a Rotary meeting that the idea of the hotel was first discussed.

Do not try to save fuel by coasting downhill in neutral in cars equipped with automatic transmission, advise auto experts. This builds up pressures in the hydraulic system that could cause serious transmission damage.

counseling is needed, it can be offered by staffs of either the Northwestern YMCA or the Children's Village, with costs based on an ability - to - pay scale and ranging from $2 to $30 a session.

The fact that most of the counseling work to be done can be handled by people with degrees in social work is one of the Third Ear's best features, its organizers believe.

"A lot of similar programs have a few professionals and a lot of volunteer help," Giltrow said. "We have a number of professionals on our two staffs and have committed staff time to this out - patient program."

Another unusual feature is the plan to do follow - up work on referral agencies.

"We will be sending people to other agencies for help," Binstock said, "and we then are going to check back and see if they received prompt attention or were put on a waiting list, and whether the service was helpful."

"We want to know if the resources available in this area are really helpful."

10 reasons to....

call us collect today about owning a luxury condominium on Lake Charlevoix

1. Enjoy Michigan's greatest winter sports yet this season.

The Landings, luxury condominiums, are less than 30 minutes from Michigan's five greatest ski areas: Boyne Mountain, Boyne Highlands, Walloon Hills, Thunder Mountain and Nub's Nob. You'll also enjoy cross country skiing, ice fishing and snowmobiling. This Spring you'll do some of the finest fishing in Michigan.

2. You get a private beach, heated pool and private boat slip.

Each condominium is located right on the water at Lake Charlevoix. You can sail, cruise, fish, water ski and swim. There is also a sandy beach and heated swimming pool. A large number of superb golf courses are within easy driving distance. Excellent hunting areas are also nearby. In the Fall the Koho salmon fishing is fantastic.

3. Own property in Michigan's most prestigious recreation area.

Lake Charlevoix opens directly into Lake Michigan with its beaches, high sand dunes, cliffs and picturesque lakeshore villages. It is in the very heart of ski country, within easy land, air and water access of major midwest cities.

4. Condominiums blend with natural lake-front environment.

You may never have seen a community like this before. The natural environment has been preserved. In addition, the landscaping is outstanding. Condominium homes blend easily into the natural surroundings.

5. Select the interior of your choice, with two or three bedrooms.

You'll enjoy a wood burning fireplace, an unobstructed lake view through giant size windows in your living room and dining area. If you select a three bedroom townhouse you'll find a dramatic spiral staircase leading to a great sleeping loft overlooking the lake. All kitchen appliances are built in, including color coordinated electric range, spacious refrigerator-freezer and dishwasher. You get a garbage disposal, and a stacked washing machine and dryer.

6. You get the best of two worlds: seclusion and convenience.

You'll live in wild, rugged, secluded country but Boyne City provides natural gas, electricity and water—complete sanitary services. Don't even think about septic tanks or well water. There's also cable TV. One of the finest and most exclusive shopping areas in the midwest is in Petoskey, just 15 minutes away.

7. The Landings is ready. Construction complete.

See for yourself. Many families are enjoying the Landings while you are reading this ad. Call us now for more information.

8. All the tax benefits and equity building of home ownership, plus freedom from maintenance.

You own your Landings condominium just as you own a home. You enjoy equity buildup and tax benefits. The Landings provides all exterior maintenance. You'll never have to paint or make exterior repairs. You'll never have to shovel snow or cut your grass. We'll even stack your fire wood, ready your boat and turn on your refrigerator when you tell us you are on the way.

9. There were just 36 condominiums left when we wrote this ad.

One of the most important features at the Landings is privacy. You'll live and vacation in a small, quiet community. We built just 56 exclusive condominiums at the Landings. This isn't pressure talk, but we do expect these homes to sell very quickly.

10. You can't beat the prices.

The price range at the Landings is $51,900 to $65,900 depending on the number of bedrooms and location you select. If you have looked at vacation home prices before, you know that you can pay twice these amounts in less desirable locations. Financing is available.

Call, or write, for a brochure, floor plans and additional information.

Torah fund supper set

The sisterhood of the Livonia Jewish Congregation plans its annual Torah fund supper Sunday, March 10, at 6:30 p.m. in the synagogue, 31840 W. Seven Mile, Livonia.

The Peppermints, a girls' singing group from Clarenceville High School, will present a program. Carol Horning is the director.

Salvation Army plans expansion

A $3,348,000 program to expand Salvation Army services in greater Detroit was announced recently by Fred H. Rollins Jr., chairman of the Army's advisory board.

The program will enable the Army to extend and improve its service outreach at Eventide Home for the Aging, Harbor Light Center, Echo Grove Camp, Emergency Lodge and Welfare Department and several Corps Community centers in the tri-county area.

The United Foundation's capital effort will provide $633,000, sale of replaced facilities is expected to be about $315,000, and $600,000 in bequests already received by the Army will be committed to the effort. The balance of $1.5 million will be sought from public subscriptions to the Salvation Army Development Fund.

Included in the plan is the construction of a nursing home at Eventide Home for the Aging. This 60-bed unit will provide medical care for residents who would otherwise have to leave this institution to obtain nursing care. It is expected that space will also be available to serve a portion of the general public.

Echo Grove Camp, the Army's 90-acre retreat for less privileged and handicapped of all ages, is slated to receive a new swimming pool and bath house. Five out-dated residence cabins also will be rejuvenated.

made the presentation to the two young members of her church. At the left is Marlene Squire, who plans to take the training during the next study series.

Garden City teens grads of course in evangelism

Two young people from Garden City, both members of the John 3:3 Bible study class in Garden City Presbyterian Church, are graduates of a special training course in evangelism.

Margaret Sipple and John Bristol received pins bearing a Fishers of Men insignia during a dinner in their honor in the Grand Ballroom of the Dearborn Inn.

Both have successfully completed a Coral Ridge Evangelism training program, said Bob Fowler, advisor of their Bible study group.

"Margaret and John are the first two teens from our group to finish the training program," Fowler added. "They have been instrumental in bringing several people to know Jesus Christ as their savior during the time they were in training."

Fowler also said another member of the group, Marlene Squire, soon would begin the training, given in the Warrendale Community Church in Dearborn.

Speaker for the banquet honoring graduates of the course was the Rev. Archie B. Parrish, evangelist from the Coral Ridge Presbyterian Church in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

The John 3:3 Bible study program for teens was launched in Garden City Presbyterian just a year ago by Fowler and the Rev. Henry Jones, serving there as interim minister at that time.

Since then it has divided into three groups, one for high school students with Fowler as advisor, one for junior highs with Betty Bristol and Janet White as advisors and one for pre-teens who work with Dennis Dupras and Mary Cameron.

The groups take their name from the passage in the gospel of John which reads: "Unless one is born anew, he cannot see the kingdom of God."

The chorale, directed by John Haimm, is touring Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa and Missouri this spring and will present works by Palestrina, Gabrieli, Faure, Hanson and Barber. Covenant College is located on Lookout Mountain in Tennessee.

BETHANY BAPTIST CHURCH, 34541 Five Mile, Livonia, plans two services based on mission work Sunday, March 10. Marvin Tyler, Christian Service Brigade representative in Michigan, will speak at 11 a.m. and at 7 p.m. will be shown a World Vision film, "Net with Empty Hands," depicting missionary endeavor in Cambodia. The public is invited to both services.

COVENANT COMMUNITY CHURCH, Beech - Daly and Student, Redford Township, will present the 40-voice Covenant College Chorale in a concert Sunday, March 10, at 7 p.m.

Church Bulletin

CHRIST THE KING LUTHERAN CHURCH, 9300 Farmington Road, Livonia, is offering a Bible study class Monday evenings during Lent. The class, taught by Rhonda Weick, deaconess at the church, began March 4 and will continue for five more weeks from 7 to 8 p.m. Special attention will be given to the law, prophets and writings of the Old Testament. Call the church office to enroll.

Religion

Girl Scouts in area worship March 10

Girl Scouts of this area will join more than six million of their counterparts around the world in religious ceremonies Sunday, March 10. Special services for these girls and their families have been planned in churches in Garden City, Westland and Plymouth.

A special mass for Girl Scouts will be held Sunday at 7 p.m. in St. Raphael's Church, 31530 Beechwood, Garden City. A social hour will follow with refreshments served by Catholic Girl Scouts.

Girls who have uniforms are requested to wear them. Others may wear a dark skirt with a white blouse. Scouts participating in the ceremony will be Pam Melnick, Lisa Markowicz, Valerie Melnick, Anasie Markowicz, Natalie Wnuk, Kelly Lewis, Sue Sieniarecki, Elizabeth Tankersley, Carol Zassadney, Linda Sinclair and Janet Kielbowicz.

The Garden City Presbyterian Church, 1041 Middle Belt, is expecting Girl Scouts to attend its 9 a.m. service, which will be followed by a coffee fellowship. Troop flags may be placed inside the church before 9 a.m.

Scouts who wish to attend the 11 a.m. service in St. Matthew Lutheran Church, 5885 Venoy, Westland, are asked to wear uniforms and meet at the north of the church at 10:45 a.m. They will then be seated as a group.

Mrs. Judy Hackerd, Mrs. Sandra

Thomas and Mrs. Glenda Slaga will welcome the girls to the service at which the Rev. Ralph Fischer will officiate.

Coordinating the activities of Girl Scout Sunday are Mrs. Mary Markowicz, chairman of the committee, Mrs. Mary Zassadney, Mrs. Shirley Tankersley, Mrs. Dianne Krol, Mrs. Kay Pressey, Mrs. Joan DeFrances and Mrs. Judy Hackerd.

In Plymouth, Girl Scout Sunday will be observed from 2:30 to 4 p.m. in First Methodist Church, 45201 N. Territorial. Troops scheduled to participate are Brownie troops 520, 525, and 298. Junior troops 210, 528 and 230 along with Cadette/troop 626 will also be on hand.

Dunkelberger leads series in Plymouth

Dr. Richard Dunkelberger, former minister of Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church in Livonia and now director of Presbyterian Village, is leading a Lenten discussion series in the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth.

The series, "Lenten Discovery Time," is being offered Sunday evenings in March, beginning with a potluck dinner at 5:30 p.m.

Following dinner, Dr. Dunkelberger is leading adults with a presentation of the book, "Making Men Whole," by J.B. Phillips. Small discussion groups then are formed each week.

For children attending the evenings, many Bible-oriented programs are planned, including a ventriloquist, a magician, story-tellers and puppets.

Nursery care is provided for pre-schoolers.

Father Hayden comes to Holy Spirit church

The Rev. John H. Hayden is the new vicar of Holy Spirit Episcopal Church of Westland, located on Cowan near Wayne Road.

Father Hayden, succeeds the Rev. Jack Savage, who left Holy Spirit in January of 1973. The church was served during the intervening year by two interim pastors, the Rev. Robert MacDonald and the Rev. John Fitzgerald.

A committee from the local church assisted in the selection of Father Hayden to lead Holy Spirit.

"We do a lot of things for the community and are less interested in projects that raise money," one member put it. "In that, we're a rather special kind of church and need a vicar whose ideas are like ours."

Rev. Hayden comes to Westland from St. Luke parish in Darien, Conn., where he served as assistant minister from 1969 to 1973.

Delicious distribution to begin in area

Depending on your vantage point, you might consider the Girl Scout cookie sale big business — or a family affair.

You'd have thought big business if you had stopped by the parking lot of the Devonaire Ice Rink on West Chicago in Livonia Monday.

There, from two huge vans, over 35,000 boxes of cookies were distributed for sale in this area by members of 60 Girl Scout troops.

Mrs. Doris Horbach, regional cookie chairman, and area neighborhood cookie chairmen worked in the rain all day to keep the boxes moving out to cookie chairmen for each of the troops in the area.

But at the distribution point you see Girl Scout cookies as a family affair, because the whole clan gets into the act, from mother chairmen like Mrs. Horbach to the little brothers and sisters whose job is mainly eating.

Girl Scouts of Metropolitan Detroit, with which scout troops in Livonia, Redford Township, Garden City and part of Westland are affiliated, will be distributing cookies from March 8 to 17.

Some will be used to fill orders already taken, and some will be sold from booths in stores and shopping centers that have given their permission.

The cookies, on sale still at $1 a box although bakery costs have gone up, are the GSMD means of financing a large portion of operating expenses for scouting programs.

As the Metropolitan Detroit Council geared for cookie action, there was an announcement of successful advance sale from the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council, which includes troops in Plymouth and part of Westland.

Mrs. Robert McNaughton of Ann Arbor, chairman for that area, said the total sales were 270,330 boxes, well over the goal of 260,000 and the 1973 total of 252,000 boxes.

The successful completion of the drive, she said, means that the council will soon be able to burn the mortgage on Camp Linden, its resident camp purchased in 1963 for $10,000.

Cookies sold by Huron Valley Council troops will be delivered starting March 19.

Area managers who worked with Mrs. Horbach in the Livonia distribution were Mrs. George Huysken and Mrs. Thomas Winship of Livonia, Mrs. Caroline Meinschein of Redford Township, and Mrs. Jean Konchal of Westland. Neighborhood managers included:

Livonia — Mrs. Virginia Matley, Mrs. Barbara Custer, Mrs. Walter Young, Mrs. Wayne Thompson, Mrs. Marie Kohlar, Mrs. Carol Breslin, Mrs. Bruce Orr, Mrs. Robert Thomas, Mrs. John Lubanski, Mrs. Mary Frandsen, Mrs. Richard Laburn and Mrs. Frank Brennan.

Redford Township — Mrs. Isla Ecker, Mrs. Eleanor Christie, Mrs. Carol Nawrocki, Mrs. Esther Najarian, Mrs. Marilyn Costello, and Mrs. Barbara Dohring.

Westland — Mrs. Sharon Garveau, Mrs. Leo Kigenza, Mrs. Karen Hale and Mrs. Betty Laughren.

Garden City — Mrs. Ann Zajechowski, Mrs. Lois Kimble, Mrs. Sharon Lisanti, Mrs. Donald Chamberlain, Mrs. Denise Weakland.

A committee assigned to directing cookie sales in booths includes Mrs. Donald Ship of Livonia, chairman, Mrs. Marjorie Logie, Mrs. Charlotte Cutshaw of Livonia, Mrs. Ada Bauman of Redford Township, and Mrs. Bonnie Mitchell of Garden City.

DISTRIBUTING Girl Scout cookies looked like a big business venture in Livonia Monday. Mrs. Doris Horbach, district chairman, had two van trucks filled with boxes in the parking lot of the

ON THE HOME FRONT the whole family can get into the cookie act. David Phillips of Garden City prepares to taste test offerings from daughter Deborah, a member of Brownie troop 1757.

Ready with more cookies are his wife, Glenda, a Brownie leader, and daughter Sherry, who belongs to Junior troop 2323.

Mayor talks to Girl Scouts

Two talks by Plymouth Mayor Beverly McAninch to Cadette Girl Scout Troop 626 will be part of a "Horizons Unlimited" program being launched in Girl Scout Week, March 9 to 16.

The mayor has been invited to speak during the Girl Scout open house in the First United Methodist Church of Plymouth, North Territorial west of Sheldon, on Sunday, March 10, at 4 p.m.

The "Horizons Unlimited" program, continuing through the spring, will bring women from various careers, professional and home-oriented work to show the girls the various opportunities open.

Macrame is Juniors' topic

Carolyn Kleinsmith will teach macrame at the meeting of the Western Suburban Junior Woman's Club Monday, March 11, at 8 p.m. in Sword of the Spirit Church, 34563 Seven Mile, Livonia.

Mrs. Kleinsmith, a member of the club, will show how to make a belt and each woman will be able to take home a belt she has made.

Decorating tips shown

Techniques for decorating Easter eggs and chocolate bunnies as well as cakes shaped into baskets, lambs and bunnies will be demonstrated starting March 11 at Kitchen Glamor, 26770 Grand River, Redford Township.

Mrs. Pauline Olm will be in charge of the demonstrations given three times daily through March 15. The times will be at 9:30 a.m., 11 a.m. and

1 p.m.. An evening demonstration will take place on Friday at 7 p.m.

Tim Bellos will be on hand at the same location on Friday, March 8, to teach techniques in dicing, slicing and chopping. He will also discuss the use and quality of Trident knives. The demonstrations will be at 9:30 a.m., 1 p.m. and 7 p.m..

What good is living in a convenient community if you don't have time to enjoy it?

And we do offer a very convenient community. The City of Northville is a charming combination of antique shops, old water wheels, excellent schools, a fascinating new downtown shopping mall, and easy access to everywhere via I-696.

To take advantage of it, we also offer you a very convenient way of life. At our Lexington Condo Homes, your outside maintenance, yard work and snow shoveling are taken care of by Thompson-Brown Co. for a monthly fee. To give you more time to pack up your skis and get out of town.

But once you're inside one of our condominiums, you may not want to leave. They're built by Nosan Building Corp., a company accustomed to building luxury homes. Our homes have spacious master bedroom suites, 2 1/2 baths, kitchens with adjoining breakfast nooks, first floor laundry rooms and formal dining rooms plus a large basement for additional living space. Each of our homes has an attached garage with private entry into the home, a gas-burning fireplace, and options like a balcony so you can look out over the hillsides.

Why not come see this unique combination of convenient luxury this weekend at Eight Mile and Taft in Northville? Open daily and Sunday 1-8, Saturday 12-5 (closed Thursday). Call 522-4920 or 349-6350.

Our 2-bedroom models start at $41,600, our 3-bedrooms at $45,800.

Churchill-Franklin in finale tomorrow

BY TOM DONOGHUE
Sports Editor

It will be Livonia Churchill pitted against Livonia Franklin tomorrow night in District 20's championship cage clash at Stevenson High, with tip-off slated for 8 p.m.

The Patriots of Franklin High got by Garden City West, 58 - 55, and Churchill sweated out a spirited Bentley charge, 47 - 45, with a 15-footer by Don Forest with three seconds remaining telling the story last night in the district semi-finals.

Bob Visser's Franklin crew won the early game over West and afterwards Visser commented that they wanted to play Churchill in the finale.

"Our kids want Churchill so bad they can taste it," commented Visser before the Churchill - Bentley contest.

Churchill's solo loss of the 1973-74 campaign came at the hands of Franklin back on Jan. 4, 65 - 59. Visser watched his wish come true and it will now be an all - Livonia district finale tomorrow night, Churchill sporting a 20-1 mark and Franklin standing at 19-3, both loop champions.

Like the Charger's opening district win over Garden City East, they just piled troubles on top of troubles in the early stages.

This time, Bentley, spurred off to a 10-6 first quarter lead, Don Kegley scoring six points for John Farrar's Bulldogs.

Six straight points by Churchill early in the second gave the favored Churchill club a momentary, 14-12 lead but the Bulldogs fought back to regain a 26 - 22 margin at the half.

It was a different Churchill club that took the floor the second half. Montagano got his squad to go to the boards and three straight buckets at the end of the third quarter by Chuck Wayner, Jay Nelson and Ken Landini pushed Churchill to a 38 - 32 lead heading into the final eight minutes.

With six minutes remaining in the contest, another basket by Landini upped the margin to eight points but the Bulldogs were far from dead.

Churchill went four minutes without scoring a point and the Bulldogs went to work slicing into the margin and still threw away four chances at the line. With 2:11 remaining, Randy Litke's solo bucket pushed Bentley to a 45 - 44 lead. Litke fouled out five seconds later.

With 1:24 left, Don Braun made good one of two tosses from the free throw line to tie it at 45 all. Bob Jamrog then missed a one-and-one situation for Churchill and Braun had a basket taken away on a traveling call. Bentley was still in the game.

With 41 seconds showing on the clock, Braun missed a shot and Bentley hauled in the rebound but failed to click on a two- pointer and Landini got the rebound.

With just three seconds on the clock, Forest pumped in a 15 footer and the Churchill bench erupted. Bentley called a time-out but failed to hit on a last second desperation shot.

The Chargers, like the East game, had survived another scare by a team they had easily put away during the regular season.

Churchill, which shot 13 of 30 from the floor the first half hit seven of 16 in the third but only four of 13 in the fourth.

Bentley's story told it all. The Bulldogs hit only three of 15 from the field in the third and five of 18 in the fourth.

Franklin used the free throw route to move into Friday's district championship game at Stevenson High. The Patriots converted 26 of 32 Wednesday in the thrilling victory over West and that spelled the difference between victory and defeat.

The Tigers had 27 field goals against a mere 16 by the Patriots but hit on only 11 of 26 foul shots.

The tigers had 27 field goal against a mere 16 by the Patriots but hit on only 11 of 26 foul shots.

It was a real thriller all the way and it wasn't until the final two minutes that Franklin opened a 55-53 lead and went into a stall for the remaining time.

Kevin Kaseta gave the Patriots the edge they needed when he connected on the second of two charity tosses with four seconds to play. Then Jamie Knapp put on the clincher when he flipped in a pair of free throws with only four seconds on the clock.

That made it 58-53 and Franklin didn't even try to check Scott Chidester when he dribbled the length of the court for the final score.

The score was tied 12 times during the 32 minutes, on four occasions in the final period before Franklin finally pulled away for good.

With Kaseta, the high scorer for the Patriots shackled by a sagging zone defense and not up to his usual paf because of an ankle injury, West led 16-15 at the end of the first period and 35-30 at halftime.

Paul Tatro had a hot hand for the Tigers throughout the first half, scoring 18 of his team's 35 points.

Franklin finally knotted the count at 38 midway through the third stanza and it was anybody's game from that time.

The Patriots had a 47-46 margin at the end of three quarters when West hit a scoring drought that all but erased it from the game.

The score was knotted 53 - all with four minutes remaining and scores came few and far between from that time. West had a couple of chances from the foul line but missed and finally Franklin moved ahead and stayed in front.

It's 19-2 Salem against Northville tonight

BY FRED DELANO

Whether it will be North Farmington or Farmington High against either Plymouth Salem or Northville in Saturday night's finals of the Class A district cage tourney at Harrison will be decided in a double header tonight (Thursday).

Host Harrison was knocked out of the running by Plymouth in the first round Tuesday, 67 - 44, as the Rocks ripped the cords for 39 points in the second half and an easy win after being up by only one point at the intermission.

The defeat left the Hawks with a final 2 - 19 record for the season, while Plymouth's Suburban Eight champions are now 19 - 2 and have run their winning streak to 15 in a row.

Tonight's tourney semi - finals will pit North's Raiders (11 - 9) against the Falcons of Farmington High (3 - 16) at 7 p.m., while Plymouth and Northville will collide at 8:30. The winners will meet at 8 p.m. Saturday on the Harrison court in the championship game for the right to advance to next week's regional at Livonia Franklin.

The lopsided final score of the Plymouth - Harrison opener in no way tells of the tension which existed at halftime.

The Rocks looked the part of tournament favorites as they raced to a 10 - 0 lead in the first four minutes and an 18 - 9 margin for the initial quarter. But the game turned around in the second quarter as the hustling Hawks hit their one good spurt of the night behind the play of Bob Ffrench, Bob Mason and Mark Brozek.

They outscrapped the Rocks 18 - 10 for the period and left the floor trailing only 28 - 27 at halftime and it appeared that the type of upset for which Michigan state basketball tournaments are famous might be in the making.

When Mason hit from the left side of the key 20 seconds into the third quarter, putting Harrison ahead 29 - 28, Hawk fans were in a frenzy. But the dream was soon ended.

The following five minutes saw Plymouth drive to 15 straight points for a 43 - 29 lead and it was 47 - 31 when the stanza ended.

In that decisive burst, in which 6-9 Eric Agardy and 6 - 6 Jim Ellinghausen took command of the boards for Plymouth, Danny Moore got four of the 15 points, Ellinghausen six, Agardy three and Rick Neu the other two.

There was no stopping the Rock machine from then on.

"We thought we might catch them looking ahead, and for a few minutes it looked like we had," said Harrison Coach Bob Sutter after the firing had ceased. "In the end, though, their height was just too much for us."

The accuracy of Sutter's assessment was evidenced by the statistics which showed that Plymouth outrebounded Harrison 41 - 17, Ellinghausen and Agardy leading the way with 11 and 10 respectively.

Ellinghausen, a smooth moving youngster who has been chosen all-league even as a sophomore, topped Plymouth scorers with 18 points, Agardy adding 15 and Bruce Johnson 10. The Hawks had only two in double figures with Mason at 18 and Ffrench 12.

Plymouth's mastery also was seen in its 28 field goals in 60 shots from the floor (47 per cent) compared to Harrison's mark of 15 goals in 47 tries (32 per cent.)

Rock Coach Fred Thomann was elated at his club's second half comeback but said, "We'll wind up getting our pants whipped if we played another second quarter up here like that one."

Glenn Rockets rout AA Pioneer; Thurston dumps RU, 73-65

Westland John Glenn played the role of giant killer Wednesday night in knocking highly rated Ann Arbor Pioneer out of the Class A district basketball tourney at Ypsilanti Central.

When Glenn defeated highly ranked Pioneer 78 - 58, it brought the record of Coach Gordon Davis' club to 15-5, including 10 victories in the last 12 starts.

John Jesson came off the Glenn bench, starting his first game, to score 29 points for the winners as Glenn piled up 18-8 and 36 - 24 leads at the quarter and half.

In the third quarter the teams battled almost evenly, Pioneer taking a 20 - 19 advantage, but in the final stanza Glenn turned on the heat for a 23 - 14 edge to move into Saturday night's district championship finals.

The ball takes many strange bounces in state tournament basketball action, and Redford Thurston, with a 5 - 17 record that carried the Eagles into the district finals, knows it full well.

Thurston not only beat Detroit Redford 77 - 66 in the opener of the Class A tourney at Southfield Monday, but the Eagles came back Wednesday to topple Redford Union 73 - 65.

This triumph catapulted the Eagles into the district finals against the winner of tonight's battle between Southfield and Annapolis, in which the host Blue Jays are overwhelming favorites.

The title game is scheduled for 7 p.m. Saturday.

The tasty triumph for Thurston over RU was accomplished with a 26 point barrage in the fourth quarter, after the Panthers had held a 51 - 47 edge at the three quarter mark. The loss left RU 8 - 13 for the campaign.

WITH A REACH THAT SPANNED FOUR HARRISON PLAYERS, Plymouth Salem's Eric Agardy (54) bats down a possible Harrison shot in district cage play. Agardy also popped in 15

Turf Tips, Quips

By Doc Minard

Even though it supposedly had the best dates for thoroughbreds... the first meeting, with the fresh money and folks breaking their necks to get to the races and to the mutual windows... the Detroit Racing Association already is running into trouble.

Perhaps its the weather, perhaps the general gasoline picture, maybe its due to the fact the track doesn't have enough horses to fill the races each day, perhaps the fact that highways surrounding the big mile plant have been torn up for several years and are worse right now than at any previous time. Anyway, all are contributing factors but the fact remains all is not well.

Some indication of this was given during the first three days this week when only eight races were scheduled. Normally there would be nine but racing secretary Tom Dorsey and his crew couldn't scare up enough horses for a full card.

Maybe the big reason is that Michigan weather isn't that good this early for day racing at a plant which isn't exactly adapted for such programs.

The only racing plant in the area fully equipped for winter racing is Northville Downs where the clubhouse and grandstand are completely enclosed with heat for the winter and air conditioning for the summer months. Neither the DRC nor Hazel Park boast such facilities.

Could that be one of the reasons why folks are staying away from the DRC as if there was an epidemic of the plague? We doubt it since horse players are a hardy band and are ready for action wherever it may be and generally regardless of weather conditions.

Then one wonders if the DRC is offering fans what they want. Do fans want the Big P or would they prefer the perfectas and trifectas?

Judging from the handle of the Big P during the past week, we would almost have to believe that wagering would be as much on a perfecta or trifecta. There was one winner Tuesday for $27,400 of a pool of $31,000. That's an excellent payoff but not a very hefty pool. It should be up around $50,000 to $60,000.

That may be one of the answers. But then again, one notices the per capita is averaging barely $90 where it is almost $100 at Northville Downs and Windsor.

A thoroughbred track should have a per capita of $100 or more to meet the daily 'nut'. When it falls below that the track is in trouble. Thus it is enough to say the DRA is having problems.

The 16 states which have legalized parimutuel wagering on harness racing collected an all-time high total of $173,793,141 in taxes on the sport during 1973.

A record of $2,293,161,493 was wagered at the nation's harness tracks while attendance was 26,517,729, second only to the 27,203,645 turnstile mark set in 1971 and up from the 25,425,367 registered in 1972.

The percentages of increase in 1973 over 1972 are 10 per cent for wagering and four per cent in attendance.

The increases were achieved despite a 6.5 drop in average handle and a nine per cent decrease in average attendance in the state of New York where legalized offtrack betting operations made sharp inroads. About 40 per cent of the nation's harness track patronage and wagering is compiled in New York.

FROM THE USTA comes figures showing three drivers, all well known to Michigan harness racing fans, are members of the three million or more club. All of which means each has earnings of more than $3 million during his career.

The all-time list is headed by Billy Haughton who shows more than $19 million with Stan Dancer second with $16 million.

George Sholtz, the little man who learned the trade while serving as second trainer to Tommy Winn heads the local trio with $9.8 million. George has been doing all of his racing in the New York area for the past decade.

Joe Marsh Jr., who deserted the Detroit area for the better purses in Chicagoland, has picked up $5.6 million. Joe has been the top driver in the Windy City for the past several years.

Chris Boring, the still young veteran from Adrian, is on the list and that comes as no surprise to his hundreds of followers in the metropolitan Detroit area. Chris has winnings of $3,522,177 and that's a lot more than any of the other reinsmen in the area.

Latest statistics from the USTA show six Michigan drivers are members of the drivers 'one thousand' club. That is the exclusive organization for those with more than 1,000 wins.

Just a few years back veteran Tommy Winn, of Farmington, was the lone member. Tommy had 1,492 firsts before retiring to Florida.

Now there are: Wally McMurray with 1,608; Chris Boring, 1,528; Ted Taylor, 1,485; Don Hall, 1,419; and Frank O'Mara, of Adrian, with 1,074.

Speed To Mark

When Wayne State University's six runners - Don Richardson, Gary Trombley, Frank Tymrak, Marty Cohen, Geoff Lane and Dwight Holt - finished first in 27:21.1 over the new Oakland University 4.7 mile course, they established a record for the hilly layout.

Clarenceville bumped 62-55

Clarenceville High's long basketball season came to a swift close in the opening round of the state Class B Districts at Brighton.

South Lyon, a club that had beaten the Clarenceville Trojans earlier in the season by a 59 - 56 score, outscored the Trojans, 38 to 32 in the second half en route to a 62 - 55 district win.

Thus closes the first year door for Coach Bob Wolf who attempted to pick up the pieces of a 1973-74 season mark of 4 - 15.

But Wolf quickly found the door slamming shut on a one win and 19 loss season.

The Trojans dropped their first seven contests before topping Brighton, 65 - 53, back on Jan. 8. Since then it has been 12 consecutive setbacks with the Trojans finishing with a 43.9 points per game average while its defense gave up an average of 66.3 points per contest.

The district battle started off as if Clarenceville might turn the tables with South Lyon slipping behind after eight minutes, 13-10. South Lyon fought back before the half ended to take a slim, 24 - 23 margin into the locker room.

The third quarter spelled defeat for the Trojans as they went four minutes with scoring just one bucket and South Lyon jumped to a 40 - 33 margin heading into the final eight minutes.

Clarenceville battered down a 12 point deficit in the fourth and fought to within five but it wasn't to be. South Lyon advanced a step in the tourney and the Trojans were caught already thinking of next season when Wolf will have four off and on starters returning.

"At least we bowed out of this season looking respectable," commented Wolf in reference to the lashing his Trojans took in the regular season finale with Milford, losing, 62 - 36. "I was wondering after that Milford game if we really could play basketball or not."

Clarenceville wound up 25 of 46 from the floor for a 54 per cent while

South Lyon hit 23 of 51 for 45 per cent. The difference came at the charity line where South Lyon popped in 16 of 26 and the Trojans only five of 10.

Fred McClain continued his heavy assault on the pins in the Garden Lanes Classic with a 668 count to pace the league and boost his average to 206.

He put together games of 255, 216 and 197 to gain a one pin edge on John McMullen who opened with a 246 in a 667 series. Others in high brackets included Immer Santti with 658 and Harry Topalian with 632.

One of the week's features at the Garden was provided by Janet Sebok, a 137 average bowler, who fashioned a 561 series.

Bob O'Brien was the big gun in the Westland Classic when he posted an unusual 714 series. He opened with a 257, dropped to 201 and then closed with a 256.

His closest rivals were Ron Sharples with a 681. Bob Garrett with 667 and Ekar Wylie who had a 290 closing game for 658.

Scoring honors for the week at Bel-Aire went to Joe Foster who had a 276 middle game for 670.

Close behind him, tied for second place, were Jack Aldred and Jerry Lidgely, each of whom rolled a 665. And four pins behind them came Maurice Sloan with a 661.

Among the women Casey Brumm was high with a 211 in 534. Sherry had a 188 in 520.

The junior bowlers continue to furnish outstanding feats. The latest is Greg Hooker, a 14-year-old who topped the "impossible" 4-6-7-10 split in the Parks and Recreation League at Merri-Bowl.

Sue Padadich paced the women's invitational with a high single of 233 and Marlene Manier posted a 613 for high series.

Tony Sokolowski and Loraine Godfrey also came in for a share of the week's honors when each converted the 7-10 split.

The "no tap" competition at Woodland is bringin some high scoring and Sandy Emert is the latest leader with a 290 in a 710 series.

Mayflower Lanes is continuing its reputation as the house for converting splits. This week it was Bob Cowens who topped the 4-6-7-10 and Bob Davis had a 182 triplicate.

Major honors in the Livonia Ladies Classic this week went to Lorraine Ivancik who won one game, tied another and took the series. She posted a 171-46-217 to deadlock with Betty Moeller who had a 177-40-217. She then won the final, 166-46-212 and the series with a 461-138-599. The odd game went to Eleanor Slavin with 188-47-235.

The senior citizens turned in some fine scoring at Plaza Bowl where William Briemaier contributed a 540. Others who bettered 500 included Bill Dhafter with a 212 in 508 and David Eshbach who had a 200 in 506.

Meanwhile Sharn Beasley paced the women's classic at Plymouth Bowl on games of 200, 250 and 178 for 628. Sharing scoring honors with her was Bob Heath with a 655 series that included a 261 middle game.

There was a time - not too many years ago - when one had to journey to the inner city to watch the all star bowlers in action.

Most of them were members of what originated as the Times Classic that later became known, far and wide, as the All-Star Classic. Now with the surge to the suburbs, and particularly Observerland, the stars are making their presence felt and the inner city no longer is the focal point.

The latest example of the suburban strength came last Tuesday evening, in the Wonderland Lanes Classic when three members broke the 700 barrier and the 20-team circuit averaged 204 per man.

Showing the way in this pin barrage was Larry Brandt with games of 257, 263 and 242 for 752. But the real star of the night was Jules Gerhart, who, despite his 65 years, posted a 724. He started with a 235, followed with 244 and closed with 245.

It was Jules' first 700 series in the four decades he has been aiming at the head pin. The third big series was contributed by Stan Gagacki who had a middle game of 266 in a 708. And to top off the night George Bashara's Wonderland team ran up a 3306 count on games of 1102, 1179 and 1024.

Fred Hamlin, genial proprietor of Farmington Lanes, has been waiting all season for someone to post a perfect game. Each season there has been at least one 300 game registered.

He got his wish in the Farmington Mixed League this week when Stan Chetosky reached the bowlers' goal with 12 strikes in a row.

The big game came unexpectedly as he had opened with a 190, seven pins above his average, and dropped to 140 in the second. Suddenly finding the range he ran up his string for a 630 total - not bad for a 183 average bowler.

No. 1 Churchill nips Stevenson

Chargers do it in double-overtime, 53-48.

Sports Editor

One-free throw - a charity toss via a technical foul route with 16 seconds remaining, that's all that stood between Livonia Churchill and a quick exit from the state basketball tourney.

Pat Montagano's Churchill Chargers, No. 1 club in the area - fifth ranked cage squad in the state with a 19-1 record - and champions of the Western Six loop almost...almost threw it all away.

Host Stevenson came close to pulling off one of the major upsets in the state - close as a free throw and then possession of the ball can get.

In a double overtime, Churchill survived it all. The Chargers topped a spirited Stevenson squad, 53-48, and it is into round two of the districts with the finale set for tomorrow, Friday, at Stevenson.

It was these same two clubs that met in the Christmas Holiday tourney finale at Plymouth High with Churchill proving to superior club in a 62-46 style.

Since that clash, Churchill had reeled off 12 victories against one loss while Stevenson stumbled to an overall 10-10 showing.

The early moments, in fact the entire first half showed every sign of another Churchill controlled 32 minutes of basketball.

The Chargers led after one quarter, 14-4, and 23-10 at the half. But something went flat the third quarter, Churchill went four minutes without scoring a point and the margin was sliced to 30-20 heading into the final eight minutes.

Even with one minute remaining, the Chargers maintained a five point lead. But the ball started bouncing Stevenson's way and a tip-in by George Herman sliced it to 37-35 with 41 seconds left. The two clubs exchanged two-pointers and with 16 seconds remaining, Jim Gilland popped in a 12 footer. Churchill's Don Braun was called for slapping the backboard on the bucket and with it tied at 39 all and 16 seconds remaining, Stevenson had itself a charity toss and then possession of the ball.

Churchill's Montagano was completely up in arms.

"There is no way he (Don Braun) slapped the backboard on that shot," said the Churchill coach. "If anything, he touched the net and goal - tending should have been called."

Stevenson Coach George VanWagoner selected Gilland to shoot the technical and every Churchill player knew that this could be the whole season wrapped up in a shot where they just had to stand by and watch.

Gilland stepped up to the line and arched it up but the ball hit the back of the rim and bounced clear of the backboard.

Montagano drew a sigh of relief but Stevenson still had possession and a bucket would all but seal their fate.

The Spartans worked the ball in and with four seconds remaining, Gilland was called for charging - Churchill had possession. Braun attempted a 20 footer but his on-target shot had about five feet too much and the buzzer sounded with it notched at 39 - all after 32 minutes.

Churchill won the first overtime tip but lost the ball on a drive and Stevenson pumped home the tie-breaking basket but Churchill's Rich VanWagoner tied it at 41-41 with 1:26 left.

Stevenson's Herman then fouled out and Jay Nelson let a one-and-one situation slip away but Braun tipped in the rebound to give Churchill the lead, 43-41. Nelson then came back with a bucket to make 45-41 but John Bowlby cut it to 45-43.

Churchill then couldn't get the ball past the 10 second line against Stevenson's press and the Spartans gained control with 12 seconds showing. Gilland came through this time for Stevenson and sent one through the hoop to tie it at 45 all and send the contest into its second overtime.

Gilland was fouled to open the sixth period and made good one of two from the line. Ken Landini then came up with Churchill's lone bucket of the second overtime as he hauled in a half court pass from Braun and broke in alone for two. John Dolan came back for Stevenson and gave the Spartans a 48-47 lead.

With 1:49 remaining in the second overtime, the Stevenson's coach's son Rich who beat him in the Plymouth Holiday Tourney, was fouled and stepped to the line. The younger VanWagoner popped in two and was fouled again 15 seconds later.

Rich VanWagoner then proceeded to make good two more tosses and it was 51-48 with 1:34 showing. Stevenson was then into a must foul situation and Bob Jamrog failed to make good a one and one situation for Churchill. With seconds remaining, the younger VanWagoner sewed up the win with two more free tosses and a five point win belonged to the Chargers.

Churchill which shot seven of 11 in the first quarter from the floor, hit only four of 15 in the second period, three of 12 in the third and six of 17 in the fourth period and two overtimes.

The Chargers wound up 20 of 55 for a 38 per cent for a season low.

Stevenson meanwhile connected on 20 of 61 tosses for 33 per cent.

Both clubs hauled in 44 rebounds.

"We just lost our poise after that first quarter," commented Montagano. "We just didn't execute. I have to hand it to Stevenson, it played a good ballgame, they made us look terrible."

Braun was high man for Churchill with 18 points followed by VanWagoner with 14. Box score:

Taylor attacks hospital 'give away'

Two key members of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners criticized another commissioner's proposal to sell, lease or give away Wayne County General Hospital.

Commissioner Tom F. Taylor, (D-Westland), chairman of the board committee that oversees the hospital, said the proposal "appears to be an

Pursell tells how aid data to be compiled

LANSING - School Aid Data Instant Exhibit (SADIE) soon will be coming to the aid of state Legislators, Sen. Carl D. Pursell (R-14).

SADIE is the acronym for a special computer system which will soon be installed in the Legislature to speed instant information on school aid to the lawmakers, said Pursell who, along with Rep. Earl Nelson (D-Lansing), has been the prime sponsor of the service.

"School aid and all its ramifications is one of the most complex problems we have to deal with in the Legislature," said Pursell, a member of the influential Senate Appropriations Committee whose district includes Livonia, Plymouth, and Redford.

"It is so complicated that answers needed immediately often require lengthy staff research and valuable time is lost waiting for data. One of the great reforms we can accomplish is to provide legislators, who make the decisions, with the information they need and provide it on a timely basis. SADIE is the important first-step in this reform process.

"When SADIE is operating, any legislator should be able to type a request into a typewriter terminal and receive up to 100 information items on public school education.

The total project will cost about $30,000 in initial outlay and will require an annual operating budget of about $1,200 but will be well worth the cost, the senator added.

over-simplistic answer to a very complex problem."

Boar Chairman Robert E. FitzPatrick agreed with Taylor and said the proposal "comes at a most inappropriate time. I am sure the majority of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners will not take Commissioner Barr's resolution seriously," FitzPatrick added.

Commissioner John Barr, (D-Dearborn Heights), proposed that the county turn over the hospital to some other entity, such as a nonprofit corporation, then purchase needed services from the hospital.

His resolution to that effect, introduced at the Feb. 21 board meeting, was referred by the board to Taylor's committee for consideration.

Citing complicated county bureaucratic procedures, Barr said he believed a more efficient way could be found to provide hospital care. He described the hospital as a "constant embarrassment, a dollar-wasting venture" and said "it does not provide the health care that taxpayers should be getting."

Taylor stated: "As chairman of the human resources committee, I assure that no final action will be taken on this resolution until such time as the people directly affected by such a proposal have been given every opportunity to make in-put.

"This will require public hearings, lengthy investigation and testimony by consumers groups, employee groups, professionals in the health care delivery system and others."

FitzPatrick strongly disagreed with Barr's contention that the hospital is not providing adequate health care.

We are, of course, aware of the inadequacy of some non-medical procedures at the hospital, but at no time has the Board of Commissioners considered the health care services, professional and paramedical, to be inadequate," he said. "Some of the finest medical care in the nation is provided at Wayne County General Hospital."

FitzPatrick also reacted to Barr's statement that the county should get out of the hospital business because "we are losing and wasting a fortune out there."

"To suggest that we should get out of the business because we are not making money," FitzPatrick said, "is a most unfortunate choice of words."

He said the board did not begin the phase-out of the Wayne County Child Development Center - a comparison cited by Barr - to save money, but to "provide better care and services for retarded children through the Wayne County Referral Center."

Taylor added: "Commissioner Barr appears to be overly concerned with the economic aspects of this problem and has not given sufficient consideration to a number of other factors."

These factors, Taylor said, include the following questions:

"How will current employees be provided for; how will Wayne County meet its statutory obligation to the medically indigent; who will provide, in the absence of Wayne County General Hospital, a much needed teaching and research facility which is responsible for the graduation of a number of physicians and nurses annually?"

Barr took the reaction to his proposal with aplomb. He said he realized the matter is complex and will require lengthy deliberation. He said he intended his resolution to serve merely as the starting point for such deliberation. Barr said he agreed there should be public hearings.

Taylor said that "to approach this problem from a purely economical standpoint is rash and erroneous. There are a great number of social and medical considerations which will have to be delved into. I intend to see that this is done."

Barr is chairman of the board's ways and means committee and was a member of the human resources committee last year.

Barr's proposal was blasted from the floor at the board meeting by Commissioner Paul Silver, (D-Detroit), the human resources committee chairman last year.

He charged that the resolution was full of factual errors.

"It also is cruel and irresponsible because it has put a fear in the minds of hundreds of county employees about their job security and in the minds of thousands of people out-county who feel a great need for the hospital."

Silver said Barr ignored the fact that similar proposals were explored in the restructuring of the Detroit General Hospital administration and it was ascertained that the city would still be obligated to make up any hospital deficit.

"If we were to follow Barr's suggestion, we should contract out our courts and the entire sheriff's staff because probably the Pinkerton detective agency could do the job much cheaper," he added.

U-M expert economists vary on energy impact

ANN ARBOR — The era of cheap energy hasn't passed according to one business economist from the University of Michigan. Another U-M professor, however, believes the days of bargain-basement prices for "limitless" energy are over.

Those different stances were taken within a 20-day period by Ross J. Wilhelm and Paul W. McCracken.

Wilhelm says the era of cheap energy hasn't passed but has only been interrupted temporarily. He predicts the energy crisis will be over within two to five years. "The solution to the energy crisis is like taking medicine. The medicine may taste bad and it may be hard to swallow, but the sooner it is done the more quickly the cure is achieved."

McCracken, former chairman of President Nixon's Council of Economic

ELVIN DOUGHERTY

Dougherty quits post

LIVONIA — Elvin (Al) Dougherty has resigned as president of Michigan National Bank - West Metro in Livonia.

Dougherty resigned effective March 1 for personal reasons. He told the Observer - Eccentric he plans to take some time off before making any definite future plans, which could include further work for Michigan National. The parting was described as amiable.

William E. Dove of Bloomfield Hills has been named temporary successor. Dove was senior vice-president, cashier and a director of Michigan National West Metro.

Dove will serve as president until March 12 when the board of directors meets to confirm management's recommendation for a permanent successor.

Bank officials wouldn't reveal the name now, because board approval is uncertain, but did say that he is familiar with the northwestern suburbs and with suburban banking.

Diesel forms new sales unit

Detroit Diesel Allison Division of General Motors has announced the formation of a select, new organization for salesmen within its distributor network.

Known as the Power Circle Society (PCS), the group will be composed of leading salesmen from among the 55 distributorships blanketing the U.S. and Canada.

"The society is specifically designed to recognize sales excellence," said Emmett B. Lewis, the division's general sales manager, in announcing the establishment of PCS.

A structured point system for various products will be used to determine individual eligibility for PCS incentive awards.

Each PCS member who earns at least 200 points annually will earn silver circle status within the society, and the top 15 silver circle members each year will attain gold circle status.

ic Advisers, maintains that the lifting of the Arab embargo won't result in a return to previous prices for oil and gasoline.

The most responsible action Congress could take, he says, would be a decision to wait for a year on any action to let market forces accelerate the process of regaining balance. Relying on market forces for necessary adjustments would mean higher prices now for gasoline and other forms of energy, McCracken admits, but would also intensify efforts to enlarge supplies and prod consumers to use energy more efficiently.

McCracken says the typical citizen will guard fiercely the sense of personal freedom that comes from owning a car and will continue buying au-

GM honors employees

Nearly 1,500 employees in General Motors three Livonia plants received awards totaling $175,000 for suggestions they made while on the job during the past year.

The winners, from GM's Cadillac Division, Chevrolet Spring and Bumper, and Fisher Body plants, included 21 employees who received awards of $1,000 or more and one winner of the $10,000 maximum award.

Last year GM hourly and salaried employees in the U.S. and Canada were awarded $16.5 million for suggestions made in all areas of GM operations. Awards ranged from $15 to $10,000.

Ideas for energy conservation have recently received added emphasis under the suggestion plan and GM executives hope they will aid in a planned 15 per cent reduction in corporate energy use by September.

Since the suggestion plan was introduced in 1942 more than three million employee suggestions have been adopted.

Farmington Hills residents Vural Uygur and Robert Hammel were recently elected to the board of directors of Wabeek Country Club in Bloomfield Township.

Uygur is senior vice president at Giffels & Associates. He lives at 31870 Kingswood Lane.

Hammel, executive vice president of Keystone Metal Moulding, lives at 30974 Sutterhill Court.

tomobiles. "There is, in short, a future for cars.

"And this enables us to be both realistic and optimistic about Michigan's most important industry and its employment opportunities. If there has been a permanent change in the available supplies and costs of oil, and in my judgment this is the only realistic assumption to make, an enormous market opportunity for cars reflecting these new facts of life has opened up."

Wilhelm suggests the cure for the energy crisis is in two basic sets of changes: allow the prices of all types of energy to move freely without restraint; and, remove the barriers to added supplies.

"The oil industry is going to require hundreds of billions of dollars for its capital needs over the coming years. This is where most profits go. Third, the dangers to the environment will be minimized if we allow the free market to work."

Wilhelm argues that if prices are allowed to rise freely, the most immediate effect will be reduced consumption. A second effect of higher prices will be to increase supply, he adds. "Increased supply, when coupled with declining consumption, has to mean lower prices over the long run — three to five years."

"We will return to cheap energy if we allow prices to move freely and if we remove the barriers to increasing supplies."

"If we are really concerned about the poor, the way to help them is to give them more money. Low gasoline prices affect everyone, not just the poor, and it is simply bad public policy to now allow the price mechanism to reduce the consumption of everyone."

"If we are going to do something meaningful for the poor, then let's clean up the welfare mess and get rid of the enormous bureaucracy that sucks off money that should go to the poor."

"Many think if we let prices go up, the poor will be hurt and the oil companies enriched. Others feel removing the barriers to expanding energy supplies will ruin the environment."

"The effects of higher gasoline prices for the poor will be trivial. The high profits of the oil companies will only be temporary, and they will plow most of it back into new facilities and new jobs."

A gentleman wrote to you about the decision of Plymouth's East Middle School to offer shop and home ec classes equally to boys and girls.

This gentleman's world must be exactly to his liking for he sounded comfortable and content with things just as they are. It is only natural that he would want no changes.

But "sissy" does not fit the man who sews professionally as a tailor, as my own father did for many years. In one of the communities we lived in, one of the football "stars" wanted to take cooking. His father was a chef in an outstanding restaurant, and the boy wished to follow in his father's occupation as early as possible instead of waiting until college where he could take cooking in Michigan State University's hotel and restaurant management course.

I have requested that girls at last be given the opportunity to take shop. One view of equality this man ignores is "helping each other." If I had had the chance to learn basic carpentry, metal working, electrical wiring, car servicing, my husband would not have the pressure of returning home to a bunch of repairs after many hours of work.

My parents used the services of a "handy man." In our world, the handy man is my husband, and he does a good job when he has the time. Why must the bulk of the adult world refuse to see that ability to do the job is what counts — not sex role. Sure, I'd like my husband to help out when we have company and I don't have enough hands to hang up coats AND stir the thickening gravy.

The one person I do want the gentleman to understand is the "home manager." We do not sit around all day looking at the walls and looking for things to complain about. We're too busy. He could ask his own wife.

School tax is a bargain

EDITOR:

On March 11 we have the opportunity to participate in a 60 per cent refund sale.

The Livonia School District has two millage proposals which total 8.25 mills on the ballot. These include renewal of 4.5 mills now in our taxes, plus 3.75 new mills.

For most homeowners the state will refund 60 per cent of the new mills through the new Homestead Tax Credit. Senior citizens, and certain other deserving groups, may even get larger refunds.

That is, most of us can buy 3.75 mills of educational services at a net cost of 1.5 mills. The other 2.25 mills will be paid by the state, but only if we approve the March 11 proposals.

This is a bargain we cannot afford to miss. I urge you to join me in voting "Yes" on March 11.

HOWARD YOUNG

Legislator backs millage

EDITOR:

I personally endorse the millage proposal for Livonia public schools.

Economic pressure caused by inflation has affected all of us, but a quality education for our children must remain a high priority.

The pressures will change, but any void in our children's education will follow them through life.

We simply cannot afford a poor judgment of our priorities. I urge your support to pass the millage.

Teachers get challenge

EDITOR:

Open letter to the Livonia Education Assn.:

When the National Education Assn. backed the NAACP in the cross-district busing suit before the U.S. Supreme Court, we thought surely the suburban education associations in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties would rebel in some manner — pressure your parent organizations for support by withholding dues — something!

Time has passed with no pronouncements forthcoming. Why not? Many teachers also have children and are opposed; but except for one brave soul whose letter was recently published, they do nothing. Evidently they are depending upon their leaders to represent them.

We do not understand why the LEA has refrained from publicly denouncing this NEA action. Why hasn't the LEA demanded support for Livonia from the MEA? Is it because the president of the LEA and president-elect of the MEA (one and the same) chooses not to support Livonia children, parents and your own dues-paying teacher — parents?

We would appreciate an explanation as soon as possible.

Group backs school millage

EDITOR:

As parents working for better education for all students in Livonia, Livonia Parents for Accelerated Education is most concerned about the passage of the millage proposals on March 11. We are convinced of the need for approval of these proposals if the quality of our schools is to be maintained and improved. GORDON FRASER

Teaching pros underpaid

EDITOR:

Now that I am in my last semester of college, I am thinking ahead toward a teaching job in physical education. One of my deepest concerns is that teaching is one of the most underpaid professions I know of — frightfully underpaid.

Look at the new teaching concepts being experimented with and used today. The open classroom is being tested in the elementary schools, and now a look toward high school open classroom is evident, along with the middle school concept, experimenting with the idea that the sixth grade can fit in with the junior high concept, due to more rapid maturation.

The team teaching concept, where a child is not being developed by only one teacher but by two teachers working hand in hand. The young teachers, and the new concepts of teaching, enable a child, your child, to learn maximally, but not at a near maximal income.

As an example, I observed a special education class and witnessed what this kind of teacher goes through. He is not only a teacher but a father and mother, counselor, referee, taxi service, driving instructor as well as trying to be a successful basketball coach.

You ask a factory worker if he likes his job, he says no, but the money is good! You ask a teacher if he likes teaching and he says I love it, and the kids, but the money is not as good as it should be. So when it comes contract time and money is a factor, look twice at the teacher.

Appreciate traffic light

EDITOR:

Whatever department was responsible for the traffic light at Stark and Schoolcraft roads, I would like publicly to say "thanks a million."

This much needed safety accommodation has certainly erased many frustrating and tense mornings. Someone is concerned about the safety of us early morning and early evening commuters, and we don't have to "wait til someone gets killed" for action.

Make decision on pensions

EDITOR:

As a member of the Westland Fire Dept., I realize that it may seem I have a bias on the proposed pension improvements now before the city council of Westland.

But I seem to remember several council candidates, prior to the election, who chose to ride the fence on the entire issue and leave it up to the residents by means of an advisory vote, stating their decision would most likely (but not necessarily) be in line with the public's vote. Councilmen thus left the back door open for a safe but quick exit in case voters chose to support the police and firefighters in their plea for pension improvement.

The administration, at that time, refused to use their powers to enact such improvements in the pension system and, by placing it on the ballot as an advisory question, in effect "tabled" the issue until it would be politically safe to act on.

Now, several weeks and months later, the administration hasn't acted on the measure. Statements have been made that the economics of the city would be reduced to the financial trouble similar to those in the Detroit police and fire pension system, but nothing is said that those troubles were brought upon by that city in its neglect to contribute to the fund as required, in effect borrowing from the fund and leaving its responsibility in a deficit.

Finally, we come to the city's latest ploy — that this is a negotiable item and should be brought up during contract negotiations later this spring.

Possibly unknown to the council, but certainly not the mayor's office, this was brought up in negotiations. As a former officer of the Firefighters Assn. and a member of the last bargaining committee, I can state that this item was brought up during negotiations and was dismissed by the administration's bargaining team (in which the mayor took an active part, at our request), when communications began to falter.

At that time, the city labeled it as a "non-negotiable" item that must be taken up with city council independently of any collective bargaining agreement.

I feel the council and administration have sat on their hands long enough, and have also duped the public into fears of economic instability due to the pension improvements. It is about time for the council to make up its mind and act, or are they considering another "do-nothing" advisory vote on whether a decision should be made.

Artrain gets warm welcome in Livonia

Approximately 100 persons attended opening ceremonies for the Artrain in Livonia last Sunday, located on the railroad tracks at Levan and Industrial Roads, between Schoolcraft and Plymouth Roads.

A 15 minute program included introductory remarks by State Representative John Markes (D - Westland) and Mrs. Geraldine Joyner, a member of the Livonia Board of Education.

Markes, who made the initial suggestion that Livonia make a bid for an Artrain visit, said he was impressed by the diversity of art activities scheduled for the week and by the degree of community involvement in the program.

"My congratulations to all of you who took part in planning this event, and to the hundreds of artists, performers, exhibitors and others whose participation assures its success."

Mrs. Joyner said she hoped Livonia would benefit from the Artrain visit in terms of building up a cultural center in the city. The voters turned down a proposal on the ballot three years ago by the school board to establish a cultural center within the city.

"I hope the Artrain will continue to involve the school system in its cultural endeavors and activities."

Jim Kline, president of the Livonia Jaycees, gave a general welcome on

Robert Osborn, Mayor Edward McNamara's executive assistant, welcomed visitors on behalf of the City of Livonia. Mayor McNamara was out of town during the event.

Bill Poppenger, chairman of the Artrain committee, acknowledged members of his committee, including members of the Livonia Jaycees and Jayettes.

Artrain committee member Bill Joyner said he was very pleased with the number of people that showed up.

"This climaxes a year of cultural awakening in the city which started a year ago with the Wilson Barn and now the Artrain."

The Artrain symbolizes what's taking place culturally in the city.

Other persons present for the opening included Livonia schoolboard members, Schoolcraft College board members, members of the city council and county commissioners.

Following the ceremonies, tours began of the four - car train. Two of the coaches consist of films, slides, music, art work, and narration to familiarize the visitor with the importance of art in society. Another car provides an artist workshop where visitors can watch.

Area groups performing at the Artrain site on Sunday were the Livonia Youth Choir (elementary school children) under the direction of Hank Naasko; Ladywood High School Choral Honors Ensemble under the direction of Sister Caroline Marie; the Livonia Civic Chorus; and the Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church Carillon Choir under the direction of Shirley Harden.

In addition, Livonia elementary school children will exhibit their art work in the Livonia Mall, city hall, board of education and the libraries throughout the week.

Also, the Livonia Artist Club will exhibit members' work in the Chamber of Commerce on Farmington Rd. and in the Family Y on Stark Rd., during the Artrain visit, through March 10. Check the Artrain calendar in the amusements section for additional activities.

Livonia is the 13th and final stop on the second Michigan tour by the Artrain, a program of the Michigan Council for the Arts. From here, under the sponsorship of the National Endowment for the Arts, it will go on tour in six southeastern states this spring.

Observing SPORTS with TOM DONOGHUE

Well it's here, all the flurry and color and drama of March Madness is upon us.

A quick dash back from Tigertown, Lakeland, Fla., has put us right back in the front row seat to watch Churchill, Franklin and Plymouth Salem do their thing.

Eighteen hours out of the fervid battling cage in Tigertown, it was into the area cage tourney "hotbed" at Livonia Stevenson where one could have only worked up as good a sweat as a five mile jog in Willie Horton's sweat-suit.

Opening district play pitted heavily favored Franklin against a sophomore packed Garden City East crew.

If I hadn't known better I would have sworn that it was the junior varsity contest before the big one between Churchill and Stevenson. The two clubs battled it out to a four - all tie after one quarter and traveling music picked up considerably with the ticking away of the 32 minutes.

All signs pointed to a season opener but here it was a district game. Granted Franklin was without the services of All - State candidate Kevin Kaseta but can one team rely so much on just one player?

Franklin did win out at the end but it won without the help of its fans.

There must have been a grand total of about 250 rooters from Franklin Patriot territory - I would say a little shy of what a League champion and 17 - 3 club should sport.

Garden City East, a club that has struggled through a 7 - 12 season boasted a better turnout. Here it is state tournament basketball time. I guess it is a dream to imagine the stands packed as they are in most states.

Livonia Churchill and Stevenson followed with what had to be one of the most exciting contests of the season - a double overtime and Churchill the victor because Stevenson missed a charity toss via the technical foul route.

A lucky break for the area's No. 1 club but one would have to surmise that Montagano's Chargers with an 18 - 1 regular season mark earned it somewhere along the way.

The cage prediction charts wound up with a 201 win and 64 loss That's a .751 winning percentage.

Remember those season cage predictions at the beginning of the season?

Of the 19 schools, two were hit right on the nail, and four were only one off.

Plymouth Salem was picked to finish 180 - 2 and that's how it wound up. Nice going Fred Thomann - Rocks and Co. Redford Union was the other crew hit right one the nose with an 8 - 12 mark.

And here we go with ol' buddy Churchill again. The pick that was off was Churchill. A pre-season 12 - 8 record was given but Montagano's crew stormed away with another Western Six crown and an 18 - 1 showing and have all but dominated the No. 1 berth in the area.

For sure, March Madness' is here and you have to like Plymouth Salem and Churchill.

Just think, the Tiger home opener is only 33 days away.

Livonia Y gymnasts score 2nd victory

The Livonia Y girls' gymnastic squad captured its second win in as many matches in a 62.10 - 44.40 over downriver.

Borgess looking for area baseball games

The Bishop Borgess High School baseball squad is looking for games with teams in the Observer & Eccentric area. Any schools interested in adding the Spartans on their spring schedule should contact Coach Jim Brisky at Borgess High.

Chris Wesman in the age 10 and under bracket, took one first, two seconds and a third to win the all-around competition.

Beth Divens, taking four firsts and one second swept the all-around 11 to 12 year old division. Anne Zimmer won two firsts, a second and third won honors in the all-around 13-14 age group.

In the 15-18 age slot, Sheila Mayes captured three firsts and a second.

Others winning awards were Lisa LuAllen, Laura Olthhouse, Kristen Schwender, Ledah Schrader, Margie Treharne, Ann O'Connell, Karen Merriam and Pam Adams.

The Plymouth Canton cagers scored a first in a first.

The fruits of victory have been far and few apart for the Canton Chiefs in their first year of varsity competition but Casey Cavell's crew tasted victory where it really counts.

After stumbling through a two win and 16 loss season minus a senior class against Class A competition, Canton which finds itself in Class B state tourney action, stormed past Novi, 68 - 47, in a district opener at Brighton.

Canton will be pitted against host Brighton tonight (Thursday) with tip-off slated for 8 p.m. Brighton got by Dexter in its first round, 84 - 80.

"We played defense and Novi didn't," explained Cavell after the 21 point victory. "Playing against good Class A teams all season has to help us in this tourney."

Woodhaven was the solo Class B club on Canton's schedule during the regular season with the Chiefs losing in the first round, 52 - 43, but bouncing back with a 64 - 49 win.

Other than those two games, it has been all Class A competition where Cavell feels defense is more a key than in Class B ball.

Canton connected on four of nine tosses in the opening quarter with Novi, Ron Lack popped in seven of his game high 24 points and the Chiefs were out to a 17 - 4 advantage, scoring the first 14 points of the game.

It was then a matter of pulling away as Canton won the second quarter, 17 - 14, to lead at the half, 34 - 28, and took the third quarter, 19 - 10, to carry a 53 - 28 margin into the final eight minutes.

Novi took the final stanza, 19 - 15 with Cavell clearing the bench.

Canton wound up hitting 26 of 65 from the floor for 40 per cent and hauled in 38 rebounds to Novi's 20.

This season will probably be Canton's only shot in Class B state play as enrollment is sure to carry the Chiefs into Class A next year

"Be are really hoping to surprise a few people in this thing," added Cavell. "And I guess the important thing is that the kids are starting to believe in themselves." Box score:

Franklin (minus Kaseta) tops GC East

BY TOM DONOGHUE
Sports Editor

Heavily favored Livonia Franklin, minus All-State candidate Kevin Kaseta, stumbled its way into round two of the cage districts at Stevenson High.

After a four - all first quarter, Franklin jumped to an 18 - 11 halftime margin over Garden City East and survived scanty comebacks in the second half by East to take the opening round, 48 - 35.

It was victory No. 18 for the Northwest champions who had beaten Billy Joe Young's crew twice during loop competition, 68 - 50 and 69 - 51.

The area's No. 1 scorer Kaseta, who is averaging 21.8 points per game, was ready to play after injuring his ankle in the loop finale with Oak Park but Franklin Coach Bob Visser elected to rest him, confident of a win over East.

"The doctor gave me the ok on Kevin for this game," said Visser. "But I felt we could win without him and the couple of extra days rest will do him good. "We had enough to get the job done," finished Visser.

For Franklin it was step No. 1 to the district finale with Garden City West on tap last night.

For Billy Joe Young's East cagers, it was defeat No. 13 in 20 outings, a season where the Panthers averaged 51.5 points per game and gave up an average of 60 points per contest.

"I honestly felt we matched up with Franklin in every aspect but the final score," commented Young who is now readying himself for his first venture as head baseball coach at East. "We were able to get the open 13 to 16 footers but we just couldn't hit."

East hit only two of 13 in the first quarter, two of 12 in the second, four of 19 in the third and five of 15 in the final period for an overall, 13 of 59 showing for 22 per cent - a season low for the Panthers.

But Young wasn't all frowns as he knows he will have eight returning part-time starters back next season. Young let three sophomores go most of the route against the now 18 - 3 Franklin club as he did most of the season and came close to winning results.

Franklin wound up 18 of 51 from the floor for 36 per cent, Keith Blazaitis picking up the scoring punch with 16 points along with copping 21 rebounds in leading Franklin to a 43 - 32 advantage in that department.

A bucket by Tim Gilligan with 56 seconds elapsed gave East an early 2-0 lead - the lone time it was to be on top.

With 6:12 left in the opening quarter, Blazaitis tied it at two - all. Two minutes later, Matt DeMars popped in an 18 footer and Franklin was up, 4-2. Followed was four minutes of fun and frolic on the court - no points but lots of traveling calls. With five seconds remaining in the period, Jim Riley sank a two - pointer and it was four - all after eight minutes.

Two baskets in the first three minutes of the second quarter gave Franklin a four point margin, Tim Neuman made good a toss from the free throw line and Demars pushed it to 11 - 6.

East hit only one field goal the remainder of the half, that a 12 - footer by Greg Emery while the Panthers made good only three of seven at the line. Franklin meanwhile upped the margin to 18 - 11 on baskets by Jamie Knapp and Newman and free throws by Newman and Richard Gibson.

Franklin maintained at least a 10 point advantage in the third quarter and spurred to a 33 - 19 lead heading into the fourth period on two quick buckets by Blazaitis.

After Franklin had pulled away to a 14 point difference, baskets by Jim Peter and Jim Riley cut it to 10. That's when Visser regrouped his forces, took a glance to Kaseta sitting on the bench and went to work on East's inexperience.

Knapp hit two from the line for Franklin and East missed on three straight one - and - one situations and the Patriots were home - Panther scare and all. Box score:

Everything you always wanted to know about * ...but were afraid to ask

My mother had one of those big, ugly sewing machines in a wooden cabinet with spindly legs. I swore that when I got married there wouldn't be an ugly sewing machine in the house.

My wife put her sewing machine in our bedroom. When I wake up in the morning it's one of the first things I see. It's uglier than my mother's.

Being a reasonable man, I told my wife that she could keep the sewing machine.

* * *

"JUST PUT the thing in the closet and roll it out when you needed it," I suggested.

She agreed to the plan, but the closet wouldn't go along. The sewing machine remained where it was. Marriage, my wife and I learned, is a series of adjustments.

No one ever told us, for instance, that we would have to agree on what kind of toothpaste to use. Or which newspaper we should order.

* * *

OR HOW the bills should be handled.

Or what station we should tune the radio to.

... OR A BIG DRIP

Such trifles—which seem like, well, trifles—become the building

The first morning in our new apartment after our honeymoon, my beautiful bride asked what I wanted for breakfast?

"Do we have any of those pizza mixes?" I asked.

* * *

SHE THREW a pillow at me and our marriage began in earnest.

"But I'm not really fond of eggs, toast is kind of like dry bread and bacon is too expensive," I said. "Besides, it's almost time for lunch."

* * *

AFTER THE honeymoon we also began writing all those thank-you notes for the wedding gifts. ("Thank-you for the plaster of Paris salad bowls. We use them every day.")

We returned the second, third, fourth and fifth toasters we received and exchanged them for things we needed, like silverware and dishes.

Of course our first (and only toaster) broke two weeks later.

* * *

THE WEDDING pictures, when they came back and were paid for, also had to be taken around to all the relatives. All the relatives.

Then there were things like deciding where to keep the wet towels, what kind of salad dressing to buy, how much should be spent on phone calls and what time to set the alarm clock for.

And, once you're married, you have to decide where to insure your car (or cars), whether or not to get life insurance (and if so, how much?) and where to do banking.

* * *

ON TOP OF that, there's the name-changing game. Social security cards, drivers licenses and charge cards must be changed.

Add to that address changes if you move to a new place.

Marriage also calls for other little adjustments.

"I want to sleep on that side of the bed," my wife said one evening.

* * *

I LOOKED up from my pillow, not sure if I was awake.

"Why?"

"It's too hot on this side."

"But it's not any different on this side," I said.

MARRIAGE CAN BE A BIG KISS . . .

"YES IT is, let's trade places," she said.

We traded places and things went along fine—for the rest of the night. Now we trade places about twice a week.

As a kid I used to watch Ozzie and Harriet. Good ole Ozzie always wore that sweater, a white shirt and tie. At least once a week he went out and bought some icecream.

* * *

OZZIE WAS always clean shaven, and yet Harriet never complained about the stubble he left around the sides of the sink.

In turn, Harriet didn't use Ozzie's razor to shave her legs. If she did, Ozzie never figured it out, or else he was too much of a gentleman to say anything.

Harriet always cooked good meals that Ozzie liked. He never dribbled gravy on her new table cloth or fell asleep watching television.

* * *

BEING AN impressionable youngster, I figured that Ozzie and Harriet had the perfect marriage. They always got along, they always looked fresh and their biggest problem was figuring out what to get Ricky for his birthday.

But from that first bacon and eggs breakfast I had the uneasy feeling that our marriage wasn't going according to Ozzie and Harriet standards. It became even clearer two weeks later.

I was asleep when my wife suddenly said "I'm cold" and pulled away my half of the blanket.

* * *

FOR HALF a minute I lay there shivering, trying to figure out what had happened. Then I got myself together enough to try and get back my half of the blanket. I tugged, but the blanket wouldn't budge from her grasp.

On my second tug she released it, smiled and said "I love you."

Well, it wasn't exactly Ozzie and Harriet, but I didn't really mind.

Is 'until death do us part' obsolete?

"Death do us part."

Obsolete? Impractical? Perhaps, but this year more than 2 million couples will say those or similar words after a walk down the wedding aisle.

Of that 2 million how many will buck soaring divorce rates and spend a lifetime of wedded bliss?

According to Bob Trenz, a psychologist with the Michigan Department of Mental Health and teacher of marriage seminars at Oakland University's Continuum Center, the structure of the relationship may determine survival.

RELATIONSHIPS, Trenz said, must have a "basic underlying fabric," a fabric determined by attitudes toward each other, communication skills and faith in marriage as an institution.

Unfortunately, "no one ever teaches about the basics of a relationship," Trenz said. "I don't think many couples really have that underlying fabric in their relationship."

That fabric is partly woven with an understanding of the concepts of coupling and, of course, love.

ERIC FROMM, author of "The Art of Loving," describes love as a reduction of the separateness individuals experience. Individuals choose pairing as a way of leading a more fulfilled life.

"When two people have committed themselves to this mutual endeavor they are saying, 'I have decided that I can have a happier, more rewarding life by being coupled than as an individual,'" Trenz explained.

The decision to couple and with whom to couple should be based on good feelings.

"IT SHOULD involve making life easier, taking away some of the loneliness through sharing, making each other feel better about themselves and respecting and feeling good about each other," Trenz said.

Therein lies the "attitude" of the foundation. But with skills and faith in marriage, attitude isn't enough.

Communication is not inherent. When communication snarls in a marriage relationship, problems aren't far behind.

CONSEQUENTLY, communication skills must be learned, especially in the area of fighting. Improper fighting can destroy relationships. Good fighting can strengthen them.

Dr. George Bach describes aspects of fighting in his book "The Intimate Enemy." He elaborates on when and how to fight, how to turn a domestic quarrel into a constructive discussion.

Hair in the sink, socks on the floor, grocery bills, broken furniture and more can build into seemingly unresolvable issues. Healthy fighting means focusing on how the issue affects the emotions, rather than the issue itself.

"IT'S REALLY not what you have the argument over, it's how you have the argument," Trenz said.

Round robin, where the same issue repeats itself; gunny sacking, where pet peeves build up; and below the belt fights, which unfairly capitalize on a spouse's weak spot, are taboo.

Fight guidelines should be set and spouses should strive to fight within those guidelines.

WHEN GUIDELINES are gone and arguments take more time than friendly conversations, it's time for a review.

"When things get bad you have to go back to the roots of what you had in mind when you got married," Trenz advised. "The roots are the needs individuals still have."

Reviewing the beginning may even help a relationship where personality changes have occurred. The constant "you're not the same person I married" is true. But the new person still has many of the old needs.

FAITH IN marriage is perhaps the hardest to establish. Trends toward living together and high divorce rates "reflect a growing attitude of skepticism toward marriage," Trenz said.

But a belief that marriage works if it's worked at can be encouragement to struggling couples.

"Marriage is a long-term pairing, two partners agreeing to help meet each other's needs. You really have to believe that marriage does all those things," Trenz said.

GINGHAM FOR THE BRIDEGROOM

Can a bridegroom be a fashionplate?

Weddings have traditionally been for the bride. Her entrance evokes the oo's and ah's but this year the bridegroom's going to offer competition in frilly shirts, bright colors and stylish jackets.

Gingham, brocade and herringbone patterns add new dimension to the bridegroom's look and offer a diversion from dull black or white.

His total picture is a long silhouette, created with a fitted jacket and modified flared pants. A six-button vest allows the best of the frills to show and a tear drop bowtie tops the entire ensemble.

THE WINDSOR LOOK HAS VELVET LAPELS

MARCHING DOWN THE AISLE

be the accompaniment for a brisk exit by the wedding party.

"There is no need for it to be a march, because no one will bother to follow the beat after the excitement of the ceremony," one director said.

He suggested that he sometimes just improvises rather than play something specific, but among his suggestions for recognizable music are Back's Tocatta and Fugue, Brahm's St. Anthony's Chorale and some parts of Moussorgsky's "Pictures at an Exhibition."

Most churches can supply lists of material they feel is appropriate to the setting. It is best to ask the church office about organists' or soloists' fees, but either should be paid before the ceremony.

An average musical director's fee is under $25; for a singer it is from $25 to $35.

Shall we face the

It may come as a surprise to many brides and bridegrooms that the old standby — the Wedding March from Wagner's "Lohengrin" — has been banned in some churches.

Classed as a secular piece, it can be replaced by a library full of interesting bridal ceremony music with little trouble. To prevent problems later, seek the advice of the musical director of the place where your marriage will take place.

He or she will probably be able to suggest a long list of appropriate music for all tastes, including Beatles music.

DESPITE THE ban on secular music in some churches, most encourage individuality in choosing wedding music.

"There is greater variety than ever in what people are asking me to play," said one organist, "and even though some churches still want to hold the line to sacred music, most feel that it is the couple's wedding and so anything reasonable and meaningful to them should be played."

"You'd be surprised how many brides, when it come to planning their wedding music, stick to tradition as though it was a security blanket," one organist said.

ALTHOUGH IT is easier to follow the beat of a march for the processional, many people getting married, organists say, prefer to have popular songs played, to which they better relate.

Among them is The Carpenters' song, "We've only just begun."

A standard and appropriate composition of a more classical nature which can be played as processional music is the Trumpet Voluntary by Jeremiah Clark.

DURING THE service the wedding couple may also want some music played and/or sung. If the couple does not have a personal friend who will sing for them, most churches and synagogues have regular soloists who will oblige for a fee.

A variety of music may be used at this time, including the most popular selection, Edward Hay Mallot's "Lord's Prayer," "Still As the Night" by Brahms or the "Wedding Song" by Paul Stookey.

Michel Le Grand's "What are you doing for the rest of your life?" is another song which could be sung at this time.

RECESSIONAL MUSIC is considered by most musical directors to

CUPID LIKES THE NOSEGAY

Are traditions changing?

Only a few months ago families were shook-up over their daughters' determination to be married in a public park, barefoot and braless.

Sixty years ago, moms swooned because daughters refused to abide by the old custom that once "the cards were out" brides were not to be seen in public. The cards were the invitations to the weddings and Dame Curtsey, whose book of etiquette, circa 1909, mentioning the passing of the tradition, comments: "The custom . . . was a good one, inasmuch as it gave (the bride) time to rest and make final preparations in a leisurely manner."

So we see that changes of the Sixties were monumental only because they were thought spectacular at the moment and part of the then fashionable plan to drive parents bananas.

AND THROUGH it all came father.

He is still first choice to give the bride away—although its a little known fact that mom can properly do so.

And no one has ever denied him his inalienable right to pick up the tab for the WHOLE thing.

NO CHANGE in tradition was ever shorter-lived than the departure from the traditional white wedding gown, if the event was to be an occasion at all.

Store personnel maintain that even at the height of the revolution requests for it far outnumbered the cries for "something REALLY different."

Now more than ever girls are reverting to the usual feminine gowns—white in the summer, ivory in winter. They wear fewer face veils but demand full-length mantillas and chapel-length veils rather than the picture hats considered in vogue.

AFTER ALL the veil itself was at one time considered "revolutionary," for they are the offshot of ancient days when it was the custom for females to wear their long hair flowing until after marriage. Binding up the bride's hair was a formal wedding ceremony, a signal that she was no longer a virgin.

A bridal tradition that persists is an especially decorated cake for the occasion.

The custom of taking a honeymoon is very much IN. Sometimes it is a belated one and the Grand Tour is no longer considered de rigueur.

THERE ARE too many places other than Europe to spend a honeymoon, and too many ways of financing travel other than hitting Dear Old Dad (the bridegroom's father in this case).

Flowers continue to be the number one wedding decoration, as champagne still goes its bubbly way as the proper libation even though an open bar is provided.

Nothing can really replace the bridal bouquet. (Who would throw a prayer book at the girls to find out who the next bride will be?) The girls favor nosegays for themselves and their attendants, although use of single long-stemmed rose has not been discarded.

THERE IS more color in bridal bouquets and a variety of types of flowers chosen over a cluster of a single variety.

Budgets tamper more with tradition than the brides, their finances, families and the New Morality lumped together.

Flowers may still be first choice in wedding decoration but their use is in proportion to the sum specified on the expense account. Interiors of churches are seldom transformed into rose gardens anymore. In the spacious assembly rooms of clubs or halls, decorations are apt to be confined to the tables.

But mothers still cry at weddings. That's more a privilege than a tradition. Traditions have reasons.

What's the response?

"I pronounce you man and wife." The phrase is repeated several times a week by some judges.

Many couples are married in the judge's chambers or courtroom.

When the wedding party is small (six or less) the ceremony takes place in their offices.

A larger wedding may be held in a courtroom where the bride may walk down the center aisle.

Gardens are popular locations in the spring and summer. Judges even go to homes for weddings.

The ceremonies vary as much as the setting. More and more couples write their own ceremonies in place of the traditional one.

REQUIRED BY law are the questions to both bride and groom, "Wilt thou have this man or this woman . . ." and the final pronouncement.

"Most who compose their own ceremony don't like the traditional parts of the other," says Judge Dunbar Davis of Plymouth. "Mainly they want to include poetry," he said.

But, even in the traditional ceremony Judge Davis includes poetry. It may be a stanza from Robert Frost, Shelly, Kahlil Gibran or for older couples the much loved first lines of Robert Browning's "Rabbi Ben Ezra."

When there are no special requests, he uses the stanza from Gibran just before the pronouncement, "You were born together—and together you shall be forever more . . ."

Many of the marriages Judge Davis performs are the second and third time around for some couples. Others are between people of different faiths or those who prefer not to have a religious ceremony.

Children of the first marriage are frequently included in the ceremony.

"For instance," he says, "If there are children about five or seven years old, I have them stand with the couple. I will say to a youngster, 'will you take this man and look up to him as your father?' and then I will say the same thing to the step father."

Marrying is a duty of a judge. There is a standard fee of $10 set by law, but the judge may not keep it.

MEN'S FORMAL WEAR

Who's the cover couple?

Fifty years ago, a school teacher who married a wine salesman would have been drummed out of the corps.

Fortunately for Kathy Lynn Ziegler of Bloomfield Hills and her fiancé John Coe of Troy, nobody asks or cares anymore.

It took this engaged couple decades to get back together after elementary school (which only their mothers remember).

JOHN WAS graduated from Bloomfield Hills High School in 1967, and in 1969 Kathy was graduated from Lahser High School.

John also has been in the Army which took him to Vietnam and Darmstadt, West Germany, among other places. He is currently studying business at Oakland Community College when he isn't representing the J. Lewis Cooper Wine Distributing Co.

Kathy received her degree from Central Michigan University where she was an education major. She has been substitute teaching since graduating.

TO HER, the most important thing in marriage is communicating.

"That communication must be open and honest. There must be a great deal of trust," she said.

"We both feel that just because a person's values are different, that doesn't automatically make them less valid or important than your own," Kathy said.

JOHN SAID he has his famous "Basket W — for waste" for people who can't be honest and for girls "who play games."

"Kathy is not one of those girls," he said.

It's a long way from third grade to a post college party, but that's where John and Kathy remet.

"I WENT with another date whom I knew was the wrong date after I'd talked to Kathy for a while. She was my brother's date so I didn't call her right away after the party.

"I waited a reasonable time before I moved in on his territory," John said.

As for common interests other than in each other, both said they like camping. "Also they like collecting antiques."

"WE HAVE been buying things for our place ever since we decided to get married," Kathy said.

Among their first acquisitions was a Victorian table bought in Ohio. Both said they favor Victorian furnishings—especially things from Kathy's grandmother.

Their wedding will be at Kirk in the Hills and they hope to live in Rochester.

a bride to wear?

flounces of fabric at hemlines and sleeves. The stiffness of the stand-up ruffle is practically non-existent as natural looks dominate.

The newest look for the 1974 bride is a hooded jersey creation.

SIMPLE, elegant, the hood gently drapes over the head, connects to a flowing empire waist, long sleeved gown.

In sparkling ice white, it is a knock out for the sophisticated woman.

Variations on the jersey theme include empire waist gowns, minus the hood or simple a-line cuts with v-necks.

A NOSTALGIC LOOK is designed by Ruben Cruz for Charmante Creations. V-neck, long tapering sleeves, soft silhouette, the gown swings and clings in panels of satin crepe de chine.

The traditional 40's gown is returning. Bodices are fitted, skirts fuller. Natural waistlines make the transition from bodice to skirt subtle and enhance body lines.

The high, stiff collar look is often replaced with scooped or v-necklines. Femininity blossoms with yokes of lace or shawl collars. And the lower neckline adds grace and coolness in balmy months.

SLEEVES, when not long and detailed, are capped or continue from the shawl collar. The cap sleeve is perfect for the petite bride.

Organza continues to be a popular fabric among bridal designers. Sheer, lightweight, it is handsomely decorated with lace appliques or trimmed with Venise lace.

Color is surprisingly important for the bride. Priscilla introduces a subtle contrast with ivory lace on white.

BLUSH PINK is popular for an entire gown and white with an accent ribbon is a charming way to coordinate bride with bridesmaid.

The new Leica CL.

Only Leitz could have created the CL, a true take-it-anywhere camera with all the precision and performance of a Leica. And of all compact cameras, only the CL has Leica's 50 years of leadership in 35 mm photography behind it.

The CL is the smallest and lightest Leica ever made. It weighs just 17 1/4 oz. with standard lens and measures only 3 inches high, 4 1/4 inches wide and 1 1/4 inches deep. Yet it is the first compact camera to offer full-frame 35mm format with viewfinder-coupled interchangeable lenses and through-the-lens metering.

It is the first compact camera with interchangeable rangefinder-coupled lenses. Two lenses have been specially designed for the CL: a 40mm Summicron-C 1/2 and an exceptionally compact 90mm Elmar-C 1/4. And it will also accept most recent Leica M-series lenses.

PUCKERED UP SOFA

Where's my chair?

Maybe you can live on love, but you can't sit on it.

Furnishing your first home together doesn't have to be terrorizing.

There are several routes to take.

FORTUNATELY one of the home furnishings philosophies that's acceptable is one which espouses a "less is more" thought.

With this in mind, good planning and keeping things simple will get you farther down the right track than you might think.

As in dress, there aren't any rules anymore for how a home should be furnished. Comfort is an important factor, however.

THERE ARE very few homes today which are furnished in one style only. But "early attic" continues to be popular among newly married couples.

Granny's old sofa, with a little time and effort and less money, can be refurbished and given new life. Also whether it be Duncan Phyfe, art deco (a real prize) or wicker, it can set a mood for an entire room.

Then again, just huge pillows can serve as casual seating pieces for a new home. Later they can move to the den or library, as new furniture is accumulated.

THINKING about home furnishings ahead of the day you'll be moving into that new abode is a good idea. Manufacturing schedules and delivery being what they are, it could be months before an ordered piece of furniture arrives.

Furniture you put together yourself ("ready-to-assemble") is an asset to new homemakers because it's fast and usually less expensive than custom made pieces.

Unpainted furniture, available in large department stores and many hardware stores, is an inexpensive source of furniture which can be easily adapted to any interior design scheme.

PARTICULARLY valuable are the varied modules which can be combined to create whole walls of storage and shelving space. This functional approach can be used in every room of the house.

Ready-made shelving systems, while expensive, yield a lifetime of service if chosen properly. They also reduce clutter, something which ruins decorating schemes fast.

If your new home isn't one with a separate dining room, but you still want a dining area, consider a table which could double as a desk or flat work space.

ALSO DINING sets intended for porch areas, can add a light touch to a dining area, without calling too much attention to themselves as huge pieces of furniture. Most porch furniture is scaled smaller than dining room pieces, too.

The Dearborn Inn

"Across from Greenfield Village"

Will he ask today?

The candles flicker softly across the shadow of a man knelling before a young woman.

The words "Will you marry me?" float into the air.

That romantic notion of a marriage proposal seems to have gone the way of Clark Gable movies.

ACCORDING TO newly-engaged women, one-the-knee marriage proposals are about as common as bustled wedding gowns.

Proposals come as no surprise to most young women considering marriage.

Most recently-engaged women said marriage proposals are anticipated and expected.

"It wasn't a surprise to either of us," said recently-engaged Linda Fisher of Bloomfield Hills. "It just seemed kind of natural," she said of her marriage proposal from James Kaltz, also of Bloomfield Hills.

"YOU TALK about it between you," said Marcy Raschke of West Bloomfield about modern marriage proposals. "The guy doesn't go home and think of it himself."

"I don't think it's a big pop-the-question deal among younger couples," said another 20-year old woman. "You talk about it before it happens."

Another convention which seems to have fallen out of wedding etiquette is the practice of requesting a woman's hand in marriage from her father.

While many fathers with engaged daughters may still recall with trepidation their speeches before their present father-in-laws, some young couples have bypassed the ritual.

"I DON'T think anybody does that anymore," said one 17-year-old engaged woman.

"He didn't ask my father, he asked me," said another.

While some traditions may be discontinued among young couples, there are some replacements in the offing.

SOME YOUNG observers pointed to the practice of women initiating the marriage proposal.

Although the women might not actually pop the question, they apparently approach the subject of marriage and convey their willingness.

"I've seen it happen," said Miss Raschke. "A girl will bring it up to her boyfriend first and then he asks her."

wedding cakes, Daddy?

Mrs. Charlotte Shapiro, administrative assistant at Shaarey Zedek Synagogue in Southfield, said couples do not have to be members of the congregation for a wedding ceremony, but they must both be Jewish. No fee is charged if they are members of Shaarey Zedek. Again, three months is usually needed.

RABBI IRWIN Groner, a cantor and associate cantor perform the ceremony. Receptions may follow in the Morris Adler Social Hall or their West Social Hall.

A staff member of the First Presbyterian Church of Birmingham said the couple does not have to be church members to be married in the church. Although there is no charge for members, a nominal fee is charged for the organist and sexton for non-members.

"Usually at least three months is preferred, but there is no problem if the church is available," a spokesman said.

At First Presbyterian, a reception can be arranged in the church parlors. No alcoholic beverages may be served.

SHAAREY ZEDEK has its own caterer, Marvin Siegel, who said catering reservations must be made anywhere from one month to one year in advance.

"Our wedding cakes are baked on the premises," Siegel said. They have from two to nine layers and can vary from fruit cake to Black Forest Torte, with cake prices ranging from $45 to $450 for a towering nine-tier cake.

The Dearborn Inn suggests that wedding reception arrangements be made "as soon as a definite date is set." A spokesman said the Inn has bookings "years ahead" in some cases, but weekdays are available on much shorter notice.

The Alexandria Ballroom at the Dearborn Inn has a capacity of up to 250 for dinner and dancing. Prices vary widely depending on the type of reception.

CAKES AT THE Inn are made "with real butter and eggs."

MAKING A ROSETTE

SWEET LOVEY DOVES

Vladimir's of Farmington Hills is a caterer who handles weddings in the Livonia, Farmington, Redford and Southfield area. Vladimir said he can take care of a party of any size up to 700 in the Spanish decor building.

Although they have some bookings as far ahead as June, 1975, there are openings, and sometimes cancellations make a closer time available. Prices range from $10 to $25 per person.

A staff member for the Raleigh House in Southfield said "usually a year" is needed for catering reservations, although they have "scattered openings." Raleigh House facilities can host a wedding party as large as 1,500. The cost per person can range from $7 for a simple reception to $35 per person for a gourmet dinner.

Please don't overlook YOUR HAIR...

We at Douglas

put this in the form of a plea because we know that most young brides-to-be feel they "know" their hair and can "do-it-themselves" on or before their Wedding Day.

We also know that they want everything to be perfect and will spend many carefully saved dollars to insure a day they'll always remember! And in this we don't blame them one bit!

But Please don't Overlook Your Hair...

It's a very important part of a Bride's total loveliness and one that should have as much professional attention as Veil, Gown or Flowers.

THE FINISHING TOUCH

Once a couple has decided on the date for their marriage, one of the next steps is to contact the church or synagogue.

Usually the mother of the bride initiates the wedding arrangements. Unless a weekday wedding is planned, three months is most often needed. A longer lead time is desired.

To book a caterer on a Friday, Saturday or Sunday, orders may have to be made a year in advance.

FATHER THOMAS shields, pastor of St. Regis Catholic Church of Birmingham, said three months notice is preferred, but if the church is available three months notice is not necessary. At St. Regis one member of the couple must belong to the parish.

Father Shields said a couple can "make up their own vows, as long as the essential content is preserved." No fees are involved. If desired, contemporary guitar music may be played.

The Rev. Frank Brannon of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Troy said, "We like three months notice. The new Canon law requires one member of the couple to be a member of the church." The 1973 Canon law requires three counseling sessions with the minister, he added.

Is she practicing what she preaches?

How does it feel when an experienced bridal consultant plans her own wedding?

"It's exciting," says Joyce Mazzoni of Garden City, "and a lot different from being a consultant."

Joyce has for 10 years been advising brides through a registry service at Orin Jewelers, a business her family operates.

SHE TRAINED for the work by graduating from a course conducted by the National Bridal Service.

And, before she becomes the bride of Perry Pappas Oct. 26, she intends to complete a detailed correspondence course to make her a registered bridal consultant.

"I'M SO THANKFUL to have had experience in the field," she said. "I get so many thank-you notes from brides and their mothers after the ceremony is over.

"I've always been grateful for these, but felt it was part of my job. It's only now that I really understand how important the service is in taking a load off their minds."

After setting the date, Joyce and her fiancé, co-owner of a new bookstore in Livonia, have engaged the church and the hall and arranged for flowers and a photographer.

It's a little early to order invitations, but Joyce has decided definitely on traditional ones engraved on cream paper because "engraving is still the ultimate and the most proper." She's toying with the idea of using the family crest too.

JOYCE SELECTED her sterling pattern several years ago.

Advice Joyce would offer brides to help avoid frequent pitfalls would involve checking dates for both church and hall early, "like we did it, 11 months before the wedding, and I don't think it was any too soon"—allowing plenty of time for invitations to be printed and not forgetting to find a place to live.

"My fiancé is living now in the townhouse that will be our home," she said.

She also advises brides and mothers of brides to get a good bridal book. She recommends especially "Your Wedding," by Winifred Grey, available in both hard cover and paper back.

"And go to a Bridal consultant," she adds, not surprisingly. "Find someone you can like and trust, and she can help you so much with the details. Someone with specific training can take the worry away so you can relax and enjoy the wedding."

What must the bridegroom do for this wedding?

You're the groom and you're nervous.

You don't know who gets what, when; who drives whom where.

In the middle of the service you're wondering where the ring is . . . in your head it's all chaos.

All that nervousness may never go away but you can eliminate some of it by knowing what and how to plan ahead.

Start with money matters.

BEFORE YOU buy anything make sure you buy the marriage license. From there you can spend your cash on a million different things including rings, flowers and presents.

You buy the flowers. They're chosen by her, but you pay. That includes bridesmaids, mothers and ushers. For yourself, cut a sprig from your brides bouquet.

You also buy the rings. To avoid unwanted styles or incorrect sizes make ring buying a joint venture.

YOU ALSO buy gifts for your ushers and most importantly a wedding gift for your bride.

If your ushers are from out-of-town you make their in-town arrangements. This includes lodging, transportation from the airport, to the church and reception.

Other travel arrangements to be made by you include transportation from the reception and the honeymoon (joint decision) but you arrange it.

WHEN YOU get to the reception your responsibilities aren't over. After the first toast, made by your best man, you make a toast to your wife.

You begin the dancing with your bride, then her mother, then your mother then the bridesmaids . . . then you may need a rest.

Probably very few weddings would receive an A-plus from Amy Vanderbilt, but you can relieve some of your own jitters by trying to plan things ahead.

You and your bride should decide together how things will work.
