REMEMBER LAST YEAR when we thought spring had arrived? We got a record snowfall in the middle of March that shut down everything for a long weekend. Thursday evening's ice storm was this year's reminder from Mother Nature that Michigan spring is slow in coming. Ice downed many power wires and some phone lines in Plymouth and Canton townships and left many area roads slick Friday morning. The coat of ice was beautiful—like on this picnic table in Edward Hines Park—but only if you didn't have to drive anywhere. (Staff photo by Leonard Poger)

Walkathon will aid Joey Crissey

PLYMOUTH — The already overwhelming support shown for nine-year-old Joey Crissey will be given yet another boost on Saturday, April 13 when a walkathon will be held to raise money for the boy.

Joey, who has a rare disease which affects his muscle system, faces costly surgery later this month in an attempt to correct his problem.

Thus far some $5,000 has been raised to help Joey. Contributions have come from individuals, clubs, schools and civic organizations.

The walkathon, which is being coordinated by the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, will raise money from sponsors who pledge a certain amount per half mile walked by whoever they are sponsoring.

It will form at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, April 13 in Kellogg Park and will include a maximum five mile walk.

An organizational meeting for those walking will be held in the park at 11 a.m. Saturday, April 6.

Each person walking will be given sponsor sign-up sheets and will be encouraged to get as many sponsors to pledge money on a half-mile walked basis as possible.

Sponsor sign-up sheets are available now from the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce office in the Colonial Office Plaza at Forest and Wing streets.

Those wishing to sponsor walkers may call the chamber office, said Fred Hill, president of the chamber.

The chamber is now distributing a flier to area students with details on the walk.

Other donations to help pay for Joey's operation can be sent to either Mrs. Frances O'Connor of 15046 Robinwood or Mrs. Marianne Heaton of 15875 Marilyn.

Charter hopefuls must be 7-year residents

By W. EDWARD WENDOVER

PLYMOUTH — You'll have to have been a resident of Plymouth or Plymouth Township since 1967 to run for charter commission should consolidation pass May 7.

That residency requirement is the result of some rather complicated legal rulings, old and new state laws and a lot of conflicting decisions from the State Boundary Commission.

What it all boils down to, according to James Hyde, executive secretary of the boundary commission, is that the state laws which apply to the Plymouth consolidation attempt state a candidate for the charter commission must have been a resident of the community for three years prior to the date the consolidation petitions were filed.

The petitions seeking consolidation for Plymouth and Plymouth Township were filed on March 24, 1970 by Dr. Gary Hall, a Plymouth Township resident.

Thus says Hyde a candidate for the charter commission must have been a resident of the community since March 24, 1967.

"That's most unusual," Hyde commented.

It was as result of those petitions being filed that the boundary commission ordered the binding consolidation vote for Tuesday, May 7.

If that vote passes in both Plymouth and Plymouth Township, a second election would be held on July 2 to elect nine charter commissioners to write a charter for the new consolidated community.

Five of those charter commissioners would be elected from the township and four from the city. Once elected they would be charged with writing a new charter for the consolidated city.

Their charter must be approved by the voters in both the city and the township before consolidation could officially take place.

The residency requirement issue came to light in the Rochester - Avon Township consolidation proposal which will be on the ballot April 9.

That consolidation attempt bears much similarity to the Plymouth case in that both elections are being held under the same state guidelines. Since both petitions were filed, the state law has been changed so that the charter commission candidates' residency requirement is three years prior to the date of the election.

Hyde said the old state law, which both the Plymouth and the Rochester - Avon Township petitions were filed under, "does create some problems especially when you have these petitions wait for a long time before action is taken."

The Plymouth petitions sat in limbo for 3½ years after they were filed before the boundary commission was given jurisdiction to act on them.

Prior to a state appeals court ruling in August 1973, the consolidation petitions waited in line behind the old Plymouth Heights incorporation attempt.

That court ruling, however, said that even though the Plymouth Heights incorporation attempt is stalled while its backers wait for the Wayne County Board of Commissioners to call another election, the consolidation proposal could be acted upon by the state boundary commission.

In explaining the residency requirement issue for the Rochester consolidation election, the boundary commission sent out conflicting statements, corrections, correction corrections and finally, a correction correcting the correction correction.

According to Hyde's latest decision, candidates for the Plymouth consolidation charter commission must have been residents of their communities since March 24, 1967 and must be registered voters at the time they file.

The filing deadline for the July 2 election, should it be held, would be May 14.

Schools encouraging students to 'Think Metric'

By SHERRY KAHAN

PLYMOUTH — Goodbye, inchworm. Hello, centimeterworm.

The old familiar terms of measurement are on the way out and the metric system will soon take over. In a few years the man who walked a mile for a cigaret will be forced to trudge a kilometer.

Those stirring words from The Charge of the Light Brigade — "Half a league, half a league, half a league onward" will be even more incomprehensible than they are today. Certainly the whole rhythm will be lost if the leagues are converted to kilometers.

In Plymouth, educators are trying to anticipate the metric onslaught by preparing themselves in advance. Thus while the U.S. House of Representatives is stalled for the moment over a bill to convert this country to the metric system, Plymouth school Supt. John M. Hoben has already appointed two administrators to give direction to the development of the new system.

Larry Miller, principal of Central Elementary School, and Fred Meier, area coordinator at Plymouth - Salem High School, will be responsible for surveying the new materials on metrics coming into the district.

They will also be involved in training teachers regarding the new system and in gathering information for a resource center.

Early in March, teachers from Bird, Gallimore, Starkweather, Smith, Tanger, Farrand, Fiegel, Geer, and Allen schools met for a workshop on metric measurements programs. Dr. Donald Buckeye of Eastern Michigan University served as resource person.

"The purpose of the workshop was to take the first step in the awareness that we must soon move to metrics," said Carol Nichols, principal of Bird Elementary School where the workshop was held.

The next step, he pointed out, is to develop teaching strategies. With the assistance of Dr. Buckeye, Plymouth teachers began developing curriculum ideas and discussing materials to be used to teach this new concept.

"Our goal is to bring them along as the community moves closer to the system," he said.

He added, "For a while we will use both systems, but gradually we will shift away. By then we will have absorbed and made usable the pamphlets and material we are receiving almost every day."

Dr. John Porter, chairman of the State Board of Education, in a recent memorandum said that as one of the nation's leading educational and industrial states, "Michigan should take the lead in implementing the instruction of the International System of Units (metrics) in its schools."

Specifically he recommended that all textbooks in mathematics and sci-

Honor Society taps 82 PHS students

PLYMOUTH — Plymouth High School publicly commended 82 students who have earned distinguished academic records at a convocation initiating them into the National Honor Society.

"Both among classmates and in the public press, unfortunately, such achievement is likely to receive far less recognition than prominence in extra-curricular activities," an honor society statement said.

"It is accordingly appropriate that those pupils be honored who have most clearly and effectively recognized the first reason for a school's existence — to offer educational opportunities."

The pupils honored have achieved at least a B average since entering the 10th grade, with not more than one D in scholarship, character, leadership and service as judged by the faculty.

Plymouth Mayor Beverly McAninch delivered the main address for Plymouth High's 18th annual national honors convocation.

She congratulated the young people on their scholastic and service achievements and urged the young people of Plymouth give thought to what they can do for Plymouth.

Anne Pfeiffer, a senior at Plymouth - Salem, presided over the convocation which drew an audience of between 250 and 300.

The ideals of the National Honor Society were explained by Brian Smith, another Plymouth - Salem senior and president of the student government.

Music was provided by Lisa Toth of Plymouth - Salem who played a violin solo.

Smith presented the honors students to the audience by name and Plymouth - Salem Principal Bill Brown congratulated each and presented them with their National Honor Society membership cards.

Refreshments were served following the ceremony in the Plymouth - Canton cafeteria.

Students honored included seniors, juniors and sophomores.

'Local financing distorts justice'

State funding advocated for courts by Swainson

By HANK MEIJER

Local financing of courts results in unhealthy politics and "speed trap" justice, says one of the men charged with superintending courts in Michigan.

State Supreme Court Justice John B. Swainson advocated state funding of the entire Michigan judiciary. The former governor and state senator from western Wayne County spoke Thursday to a meeting of 2nd Congressional District Democrats in Livonia's senior citizens center.

"What we really should have are co-equal branches of government," Swainson said. "Financing at local levels leads to unhealthy situations."

He said that while the State Legislature votes to finance the executive and legislative branches of Michigan government, money to operate lower courts often depends on the wishes of local politicians.

He would like to do away with specialized local courts, such as the common pleas and recorder's courts in Detroit. He suggested creation of one circuit court for Wayne County, with different divisions for civil cases, domestic relations, and other matters brought before the court. A team of judges paid by the state would then handle all cases in the county on a rotating basis, taking turns in the various divisions of the single court.

Swainson said the Michigan constitution assigns to the State Supreme Court the task of a "general superintending of lesser courts," yet fails to define just what this means. According to Swainson, as it stands now, the Supreme Court has no say in the financing of lower courts and "no clear responsibilities" of supervision.

If a district judge needs another clerk to help him with his paperwork, Swainson said, he has to go before the town council in many places to request more money.

Often the council asks, "How much did you make?" The judge explains to council members that the effectiveness of justice can't be measured that way. Yet, said Swainson, local officials often want to justify new expenditures with the promise of greater revenue.

We have to make sure that the judge doesn't have to hire the sister of the chairman of the board of trustees," he said.

Swainson cited these circumstances as a major reason why many smaller communities have been notorious speed traps. "We need provision of equal justice for all citizens of Michigan," he said, "regardless of where they get stopped for speeding."

"Because the courts are in the business of applying the laws of the state," Swainson said, "the state should bear the cost of the courts." He called for passage of House Bill 4589, which would provide such financing.

The former Democratic governor was asked whether judges should be appointed rather than elected. "There is a great feeling in the state that judges should be elected," he said.

He noted that 80 per cent of the judges sitting on the bench today were originally appointed. He concluded that while elected judges make the judicial system more vulnerable to public whim and campaign manipulation, "People like to feel close to their judiciary." Besides, he said, "I like to go to a convention every few years and get nominated."

Asked about his own political plans, Swainson said: "I have none." Referring to Watergate, he said that "with what's happening nationally," he foresaw "good opportunities for Democrats to win in November."

He expressed support for County Commissioner Robert FitzPatrick's proposal to elect a strong Wayne County executive. "It might be helpful," he said.

Swainson was asked about the propriety of judges accepting campaign contributions from attorneys who may someday appear before them. Swainson agreed that the practice was subject to abuses and backed complete disclosure of campaign finances and the use of income tax checkoffs to partially offset campaign expenses of all candidates.

Referring to the high cost of campaigning for any major office, Swainson said jokingly: "If I didn't receive contributions from the attorneys, I suppose I'd look to the litigants."

In response to other questions, Swainson was critical of what he viewed as a trend in the federal courts away from the Miranda decision and strict adherence to the rights of persons accused of crimes.

He voiced opposition to stop and frisk laws, saying "they are generally enacted against black citizens."

Esch anti-busing bill in Senate for approval

Legislation making busing a limited, last resort remedy to overcome school segregation awaits Senate action in Washington after House passage by a 293-117 vote.

The restrictions are detailed in an amendment to a general school aid bill sponsored by Rep. Marvin L. Esch (R - Ann Arbor) and co-sponsored by Congressmen William D. Ford (D - Taylor) and Robert J. Huber (R - Troy).

The Esch amendment lists seven methods of dealing with segregation that must be tried before any busing can be ordered. Even then, busing could not go beyond the closest or next closest school to a pupil's home.

Similar legislation was passed by the House in 1972 but failed to get through the Senate.

Esch, whose district includes Plymouth and Livonia, said the main purpose of his amendment is to make clear that Congress is opposed to busing across school district lines.

A U. S. Supreme Court decision is pending in the Detroit school desegregation controversy which involves busing school children between city and suburbs.

Among alternatives to busing contained in the Esch amendment are assignment to neighborhood schools, voluntary transfers, construction or closing of schools and revising attendance zones.

Twelve of Michigan's 19 Congressmen voted for the amendment, seven Republicans and five Democrats. Four Democrats and two Republicans voted against it. Rep. Elford A. Cederberg (R - Midland) did not cast a vote.

Joining Esch and Ford in voting for the amendment was Rep. Martha W. Griffiths (D - Farmington) whose district includes Redford, northwest Detroit, Southfield and Farmington. Ford represents Garden City and Westland.

Congress has adopted restrictions on busing in the past only to have them ignored or overridden by the courts. Opponents predicted a similar fate for the Esch amendment even if passed by the Senate. They argued the language of his provision is unconstitutional.

However, Huber, a vocal opponent of cross-district busing, declared: "The final solution to forced busing should result from legislation, preferably a constitutional amendment the courts can't fiddle with, that more closely reflects the will of the people rather than some mandate dreamed up by the judges."

Our umbrella table and chair set for the great outdoors and great savings, now just $299

This stylish umbrella set by Tropitone is a sizzling bargain at $299. Because it's at the same special price it sold for last summer.

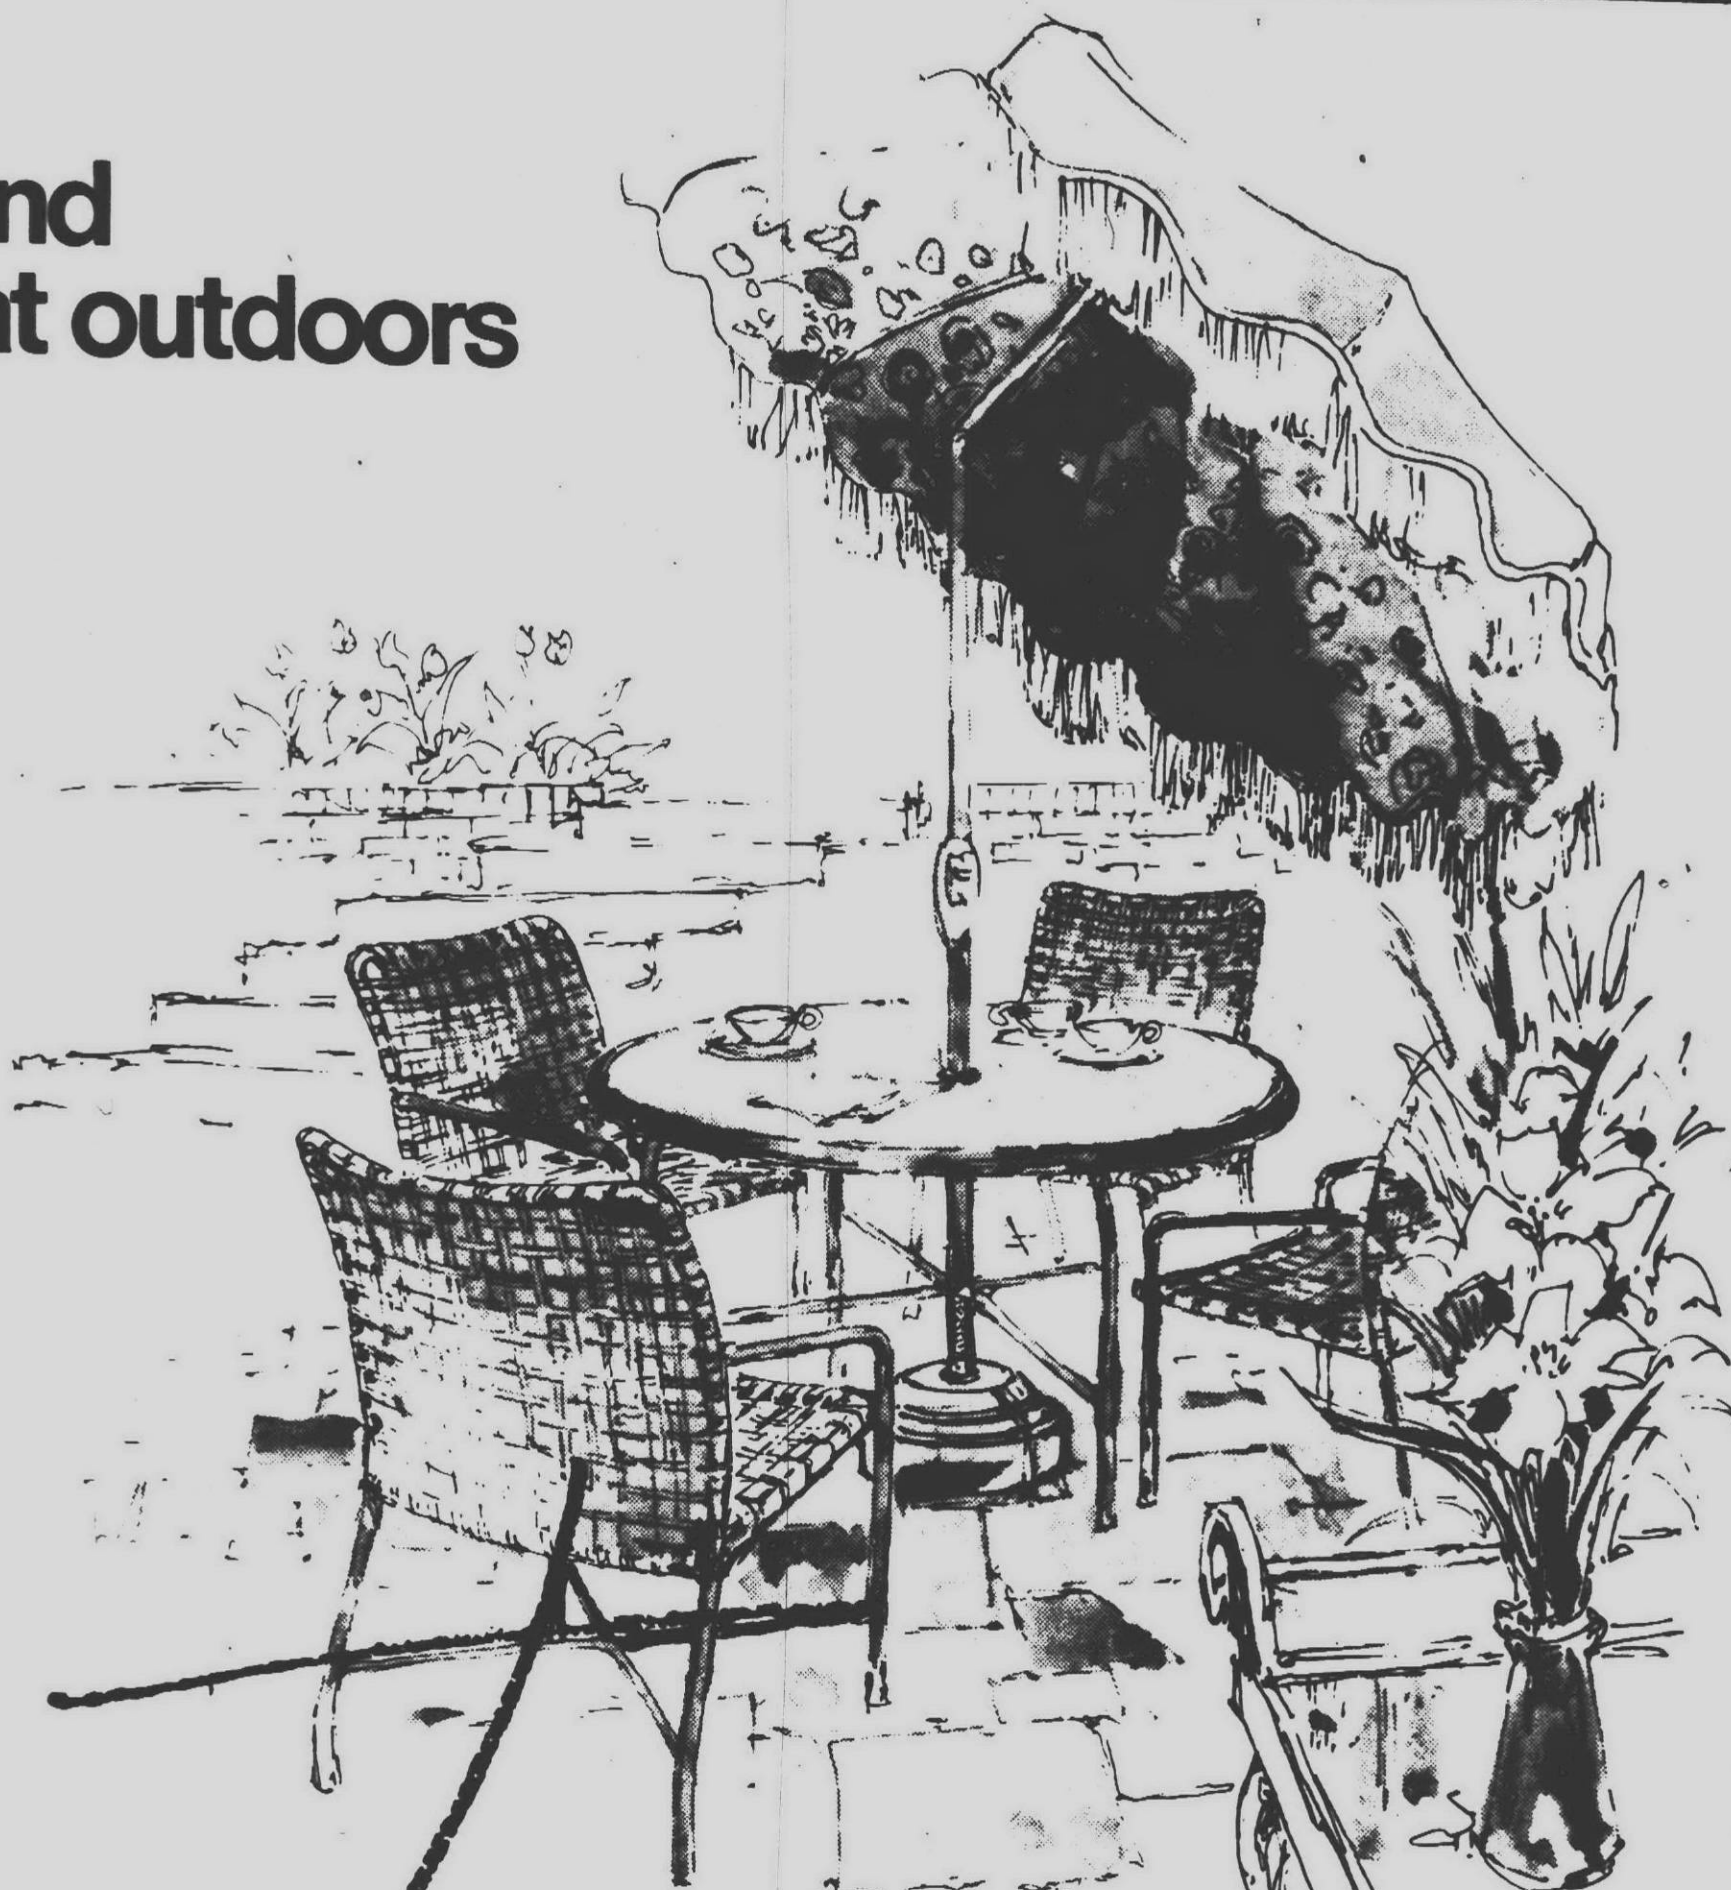

But especially because this requires the lowest maintenance of any patio furniture you'll find. (So if you have to take care of something in your yard, it certainly won't be your umbrella set.)

Practically indestructible, the frames are finished in a fused, chip-resistant thermoplastic that defies rust, weather, or whatever. The tabletop takes a lot more than an umbrella, since it's high-impact Acrylite to withstand abuse. The four chairs are laced with tough vinyl that's closely woven for comfort.

And right now this super set is in stock in mustard/citron color scheme to give you immediate delivery and a super savings of $100! Then set off your set with an umbrella from our large selection sold separately at prices from $44.95.

If you'd like to match your set with lounging pieces, you'll save on those too. There's a contour chaise for just $119, a sun chaise for $129, a lounge chair for $54 and an ottoman for $32! So shop around. Then come to Englander Triangle for exceptional values. On the finest in casual furniture.

Enrollment closed for Miller

CANTON — Enrollment for Miller Elementary School, 43721 Hanford Rd., in Canton Township has been closed because the school is over its capacity.

According to School Supt. John M.

Hoben, the enrollment was closed after the 704th student was enrolled last week in the school. He said the capacity there is rated as 672 students.

The superintendent said the rapid development in the area has meant an average of one student enrolling per day at the school.

New students to the area will now be bused to Fiegel elementary school.

DANNY CONRAD, a student at Bird Elementary School, seems surprised to discover how tall he has grown. His height has been computed according to the metric system, a method of measurement soon to become commonplace in this country. (Staff photo by Bob Woodring) ence purchased after June 1976, contain the metric system as the dominant form of measurement.

He also supported the promotion of a pocket card for every Michigan child, youth, and adult on the metric transition.

Teachers in Plymouth schools are beginning to develop and make their own materials with which to teach their students the modern mathematical facts of life. Old milk cartons have been cut down to liter size and then marked to indicate their liquid metric capacity.

Children are learning their height in centimeters. It may be a genuine surprise for the parents of seven-year-old Danny Conrad of Bird School to learn that he is 127 centimeters tall instead of four feet and one inch.

Clearly the whole matter is going to be difficult for parents. Who will be able to throw wide his arms to his children and say, "I love you a bushel and a peck," if this will sound as foreign as Chinese to his child. To say "I love you" in liters just won't do.

But any attempts that floundering parents may make toward trying to compare liters to quarts and kilometers to miles is a no-no in school, according to Mrs. Edna Fleming, a second grade teacher at Bird.

"The idea is for the students to learn to think metric," she explained. "We try to avoid relying on comparisons."

Both she and Nichols point out the essential logic of the new system based as it is on the decimal system. Each larger unit is ten times the size of the unit before it.

Our present system of measurements are not logical. Who can remember that it takes 5,280 feet to make a mile or that the length of the inch was determined in England during the reign of Edward II in the 13th century?

Now a highly mechanized world is calling for a standard system of measurements which can be easily understood and used in all countries.

But a start is being made in Plymouth — some 32 kilometers from Detroit.

Schools may offer jazz course

By JAN WILLIAMS

Jazz is slowly emerging from the depths of the cellar to claim its rightful place in the arts and if Detroit and suburban school systems play their cards right they could benefit from it.

Midge Ellis, coordinator of the Clarenceville Jazz Series, is working on a plan that would enable area schools to offer a five-week course on the history of jazz.

The program is sponsored by the Music Performance Trust Funds, a non-profit, public service organization created and financed by the recording industry under agreements with the American Federation of Musicians.

The course, to be offered one hour per week for five weeks during regular school hours, would be free to the public. In most cases it would be offered during the school assembly hour and students at schools where it is offered would be required to attend.

The sessions cover the history of jazz from its beginnings to the present, accompanied by live music.

There is, however, an obstacle to overcome before the wheels can be set in motion. In order to make the program available in the area, at least 20 schools must sign up for it — and each of those schools must come up with $1,000.

In turn, the federation will match each school's $1,000 with another $1,000. This fee is necessary to subsidize the program since it is offered free to the public. The program is open to junior high through college.

Mrs. Ellis says schools have until June 1, to sign up for the program. So far she has approached Livonia's Mayor Edward McNamara and school Supt. R.H. Upton on the subject, but hasn't received a response.

Clarenceville Supt. David McDowell is all for the idea, according to Mrs.

Ellis, but he says a final decision will be up to the administration.

"Once the ice is broken and one school accepts it, maybe others will follow suit," Mrs. Ellis says.

Clarenceville's jazz series, which began five years ago, was the first such offering in the area.

"Jazz has experienced a growth during the past few years and parents who used to drag their kids to the jazz concerts the first time, find them (the kids) coming back and bringing friends."

Mrs. Ellis says to her knowledge no area schools offer a course on jazz.

"You can find text books which teach about European composers, but none which teach about our own culture. Jazz is 'America's only truly native art form' and we are losing it."

She says the Detroit area has turned out many fine jazz musicians, but they don't stay because there are better opportunities for them in Europe.

"Besides offering an education on jazz, this program would give local jazz musicians an opportunity to be heard by people who probably don't even know about them."

Mrs. Ellis also noted that a course was once offered through Clarenceville's adult education program and many kids, as well as adults attended. She said the five-week course on the history of jazz has been successfully implemented in New York and Los Angeles.

"With so many kids looking for some form of self expression, this provides an excellent outlet. It's a free, self-expressive kind of music and it can't be taught with a chart."

"The jazz musician is a very accomplished musician and the only way to learn this is to be around it (jazz)."

Mrs. Ellis is hopeful that the program will be accepted by area schools.

"If this were a symphony or ballet program, the schools would probably grab it up right away. But jazz has never been given the importance it should have. Some educators may have to be educated on this first."

U - M offers conference on student rights

A conference on "Student Behavior, Student Rights and the Fair Administration of Justice" will be held on April 1 and 2 at The University of Michigan.

Area school board members, administrators, agency personnel and the community at large are invited to attend the conference sponsored by U - M's Program for Educational Opportunity. The meeting, open to the public without charge, will be held in the Michigan League.

Beginning at 1 p.m. April 1, the agenda will include addresses by William Morse, U - M professor of educational psychology, on "Faculty and Student Behavior and Relationships," and Eugene Krasicky, assistant state attorney general, on "The Present Scope of School Authority and Student Rights."

Discussion groups on student publications, elections, attendance policies, special education, and other topics will follow Krasicky's presentation.

At dinner, Emerson Powrie, deputy superintendent of Ann Arbor Schools, will speak on "The Politics of Administering a Student Discipline Code," followed by a panel discussion.

On April 2, Ypsilanti Atty. Larry Sperling and David Lowman of the Michigan Department of Education, will discuss "Insuring Due Process through Proper Hearing Procedures." A simulated hearing will be conducted.

Other speakers will include: Rita Scott of the Michigan Civil Rights Commission on "Factfinding Techniques," Don Erickson of the Kalamazoo Police Council on "Police Activities in the Schools," and Flint Atty. Roger Tilles on "Sufficiency Of Evidence."

The conference will conclude with an overview of "Educating the School Community about School Authority and Student Rights" by Robert Potts, human relations ombudsman for the Ann Arbor public schools.

Group meetings on "Discipline Codes and Student Rights Policies," "curriculum materials and techniques" and "workshops and in-service training will follow.

'behind the storefronts'

by Klaus P. Scherler

Bringing an added touch of culture to Livonia is the newly-opened L.L. Cazan Gallery on Middle Belt Road.

The gallery has a cosmopolitan air. Featured are original oil paintings from Romanian artists.

On display are works from artists Gheorghe Ionescu, Florea Dinu, Ion late 19th and early 20th century.

The subject matter is basic, focusing on the moods of Romanian folk country scenes, and still life.

One of the artists, Gheorghe Ionescu, spoke about his paintings, and of Romanian art in general.

He explains the ample use of vivid colors is characteristic of Romanian art. A glance around the gallery's displays with their kaleidoscopic hues support his statement.

Besides paintings, the gallery offers hand woven rugs from Romania and other imported art objects.

SENIOR CITIZENS HAVE been frequenting the Bonanza Sirloin Pit restaurants where each Monday is "their day."

The restaurants on 7 Mile and Farmington Roads, Livonia and on 8 Mile and Beech Daly Roads in Southfield are offering specially-priced luncheons Mondays for the general public with senior citizens receiving a bonus by being given beverages free.

Ray Seghi and Bob Wilson of the Livonia and Bob Seghi of the Southfield restaurant are originators of the idea and note the choice of meals offers senior citizens an opportunity to enjoy inexpensive, yet wholesome, meals while having an afternoon out.

A DECORATING AND CRAFTS boutique is scheduled for April 2 in the Minnesota Fabrics store at Newburgh and Six Mile.

The class is an excellent opportunity for area home economists to catch up on the latest in patterns and to view madeup items.

Instructing the class, which will be held from 1:30 to 7:30 p.m., is city home economist Alice Setter.

SC approves riot plans, grants sabbatical leave

The Schoolcraft Board of Trustees granted sabbatical leaves to two of its instructors Monday night at its regular monthly meeting at the college.

Joseph P. Dagher, English instructor, and Delavan W. Sipes, instructor in electronics, will each receive semester paid leaves in which to carry on work in their fields.

Dagher, who has written two college textbooks, will enroll in the winter semester at the American University of Beirut, Lebanon. Of Lebanese parentage, he will collect translations of Arabic prose and poetry to use in his literature classes at Schoolcraft. Eventually he hopes to write a novel with a Lebanese setting.

Sipes will use the time to complete a textbook which will cover the areas of mathematics used as tools to aid student comprehension of the abstract concepts of electrical theory.

Grote then suggested a bond burning ceremony to celebrate what amounts to the paying off of the first mortgage of the college.

Trustees were also presented with details of the plans to be used by the administration in the event of a disturbance on campus.

The plan's first requirement is the notification of the president or the ranking administrator of a disturbance. Next the director of security is to notify the Michigan State Police. He may also contact the Livonia Police Department and the Wayne County Sheriff.

The scene will be investigated. If there is an unlawful take-over or an illegal tumultuous gathering, and it is deemed necessary to clear the campus, the administrator in charge will read a statement ordering the unruly assembly to disperse.

The administrator will state that as an agent of the board of trustees of the college he has the legal duty and power to operate the institution. Any license an individual has to use the premises will then be suspended whether the assembly is made up of students or not. The members of the gathering will then be instructed to depart immediately.

Failure to do so will subject them to disciplinary action, which may include suspension or expulsion from school. Failure to leave immediately will subject them to arrest and prosecution.

In its voting on financial matters, the board approved a low bid of $2,730 from the Standard Register Co. of Southfield for data processing equipment. It also accept a low bid of $3,360 from the Rayhaven Equipment Co. of Ferndale for office furniture.

A contract for printing the fall class schedule was awarded to the Northville Record on its low bid of $2,872.95.

The board also agreed to accept bids for improving heating, ventilating, and air conditioning equipment in the Applied Sciences building. It approved the expenditure of $44,200 for the project.

It also plans to advertise for bids for heating, ventilating, and air conditioning alterations to the Waterman Campus Center.

Clarenceville adopts its preliminary budget

The Clarenceville board of education has adopted a $4.3 million preliminary budget for the 1974 - 75 school year.

It exceeds anticipated revenue by $32,000.

"The budget is based on the best we know as of now," said Supt. David McDowell, "and put together without a great deal of knowledge."

Establishment of a budget is necessary at this time because of legal requirements. School districts normally rewrite the preliminary budget several times before final adoption.

Clarenceville District teachers and other union employees will work next year under the second year of already negotiated multi-year contracts which does allow the board to have a fair idea of what wage increases will cost.

The teacher contract, for example, calls for a pay raise of no less than four per cent and no more than six per cent, depending on the change in the Federal Cost of Living Index between June 1973, and June 1974.

With respect to state school income, McDowell said, "we have to take a calculated guess."

CHEVROLET MAKES SENSE FOR AMERICA

EXAMPLE: AMERICA'S LOWEST PRICED INTERMEDIATES ARE BOTH CHEVELLES.

$2878* MALIBU 6 COUPE

Small enough to be easy to drive and easy to park; big enough to carry six passengers. That's Chevelle Malibu. It's already the most popular name in mid-size history (which tells you about its reputation for value) and now this sporty Malibu Coupe with a thrifty 6-cylinder engine is just $2878. What better reason to consider it as your next new car?

Chevrolet

$2873* MALIBU 6 SEDAN

For many, this is the ideal family car. It gives you Malibu economy, ease of handling and six-passenger interior with the special convenience of a four-door design. And notice again the price: $2873 for a six-passenger mid-size sedan with an economical 6-cylinder engine. As we say, Chevrolet makes sense for America.

EDITORIAL OPINION

City must carefully watch spending level

Editorial

It's budget time again — that time of the year when many of our stories involve complicated figures proving the cost of local government is going up again.

Granted the budget matters aren't particularly interesting to readers, and we don't look at it as hot copy either.

But what is important for taxpayers to realize is the general direction the increasing budgets are heading.

Last week Plymouth Township approved its annual budget that represented about a three per cent increase for operating expenses.

Tonight (Monday) City Manager Fred Yockey will submit his proposed budget to the city commission.

The city budget for the coming fiscal year is expected also to represent some increases.

The cost of gasoline for police cars and DPW trucks is up, the cost for those plastic trash bags the city provides for leaf bagging has nearly doubled, and negotiated pay increases for city employees are expected to represent a significant boost.

Last year the city levied 14.70 mills to meet its operating and debt retirement obligations. If you deduct the millage for refuse removal and debt retirement from that total — as state law says you can but some taxpayers feel you shouldn't — it leaves an effective operating millage of 10.576 mills.

The city has a charter provision setting a 15 mill maximum for operating millage. It is obvious, in these times of Nixonomic inflation, the maximum is not far away.

Thus the city must begin to pay closer attention to its spending levels as the townships have had to do.

Since townships, unless chartered with other provisions, can levy only one mill for operating millage without vote of the taxpayers, the growth of township services has been tied directly to growth of the tax base.

If a new plant is built with a high state equalized valuation, the township can afford to increase its services by the amount the city tax base brings in.

In the city, where development has ceased for all practical purposes, there is little growth to the tax base to allow for inflation.

Thus the city commission is going to have pay close attention to the cost of city government now, before the 15-mill limitation strangles city services.

In light of its stabilized level of development, the commission must think twice about expanding governmental services.

Perhaps the township budget hawks could offer some tips to the city commission.

It's becoming evident that although the city has often criticized the township for not sharing in the cost of some programs (the township has pleaded poverty and found donations of public funds are illegal), the city may be in the same boat some day soon.

The Stroller... Passing scenes

By W. W. EDGAR

If it was possible to have time turn back in its flight what are some of the things you would like to see again?

This is one of the intriguing questions The Stroller was asked the other evening during a discussion with a group of the younger set on how times have changed.

It was a most interesting question; it got The Stroller to thinking about the things he misses most from that period now often referred to as "The good, old days."

And coming from a small town at the foothills of the mountains in eastern Pennsylvania it was only natural that some of the things he would long to see again might be laughable to the present generation.

But if he has a choice The Stroller would like to visit, just once more, the old time apothecary shop that displayed the egg-shaped bottles of red and blue colored liquid as its trade mark.

It isn't the colored baubles The Stroller misses so much, but the ice cream parlor that always was part of the shop. In those days there were no such places as the "Dairy Queen" and other drive-in quickies we now know.

Instead the ice cream parlor was an institution, especially since we lived under the famed Pennsylvania Blue Laws where no business was allowed to remain open on Sunday but the apothecary shop.

It might be laughable to today's young folks, but back then when a fellow had a Sunday evening "date" it was to attend church and then take a leisurely walk down the main street with the girl friend to the ice cream parlor. It was a Sunday night ritual.

Not too many years have passed since the ice cream parlor and the soda fountain played a major part in our every day life.

It was around the soda fountain in Roach's Drug Store at Five-Mile and Farmington roads, that the seeds were sown for the incorporation of the City of Livonia. And it was there, too, that the first move was made to establish a Chamber of Commerce and the possibility of having the Pelican Sisters build a hospital that now is St. Mary Hospital.

In Plymouth it was much the same. Many of the community's problems were discussed at Bob Beyer's soda fountain.

In fact, it has been said the downtown business loop still on the planning board was first discussed there more than two decades ago. Both fountains have now gone the way of all things that blocked the so-called march of progress and Bob Beyer who parted with his old fountain only a year or two ago doesn't know where it is.

It would be fine to have it in the Historical Museum and Roach's soda bar would be a great reminder of interesting days when the City of Livonia was being born.

And those two globes of colored liquid — red and blue — that served as the apothecary trade mark would be a most welcome sight again.

Increasing school enrollment makes '45-15' necessary

EDITOR:

In the March 25 edition of the Plymouth Observer and Eccentric I read a letter from three concerned parents opposing 45-15 extended school year plan. I, too, am a concerned parent with two children in Miller Elementary and one child attending Pioneer Middle School.

I also attended the March 8 meeting at Miller as well as two additional meetings held at Miller this school year concerning 45-15. However, I do not agree that it was a "super sell" of the 45-15 or that only one side was presented.

More time was spent explaining 45-15 as the other alternatives to overcrowding are self-explanatory. Most people attending the meeting were not aware of how the 45-15 functions and had many questions concerning the plan.

I also do not agree that this plan has been shoved down our throats in two weeks. Last year a Maximum Utilization Committee determined 45-15 the best solution to overcrowding. Last fall our educators were speaking all across the district on 45-15. Miller's first PTO meeting of this school year occurred in September and 45-15 was the program.

Our school administrators may not have all the facts, but it is not for lack of trying. Nor are they hiding anything.

The fact is our school district is facing a critical overcrowding problem. In the fall of this year it will be much worse, especially in the Miller attendance area. This is one reason for Miller's selection for 45-15.

I was an opponent of 45-15 last September. My objection was not valid. I simply did not want to change from our present system. However, this is not possible with our increasing enrollment.

I was also unfamiliar with 45-15, but I was familiar with extended day and overcrowded classrooms. After studying 45-15 and comparing it to the other alternatives to overcrowding, I found it to be the most educationally sound. I see this not only as a parent but as a teacher.

Certainly there will be problems. No one has denied this. But 45-15 can give our children a much better education than any of the other alternatives available. It can be applicable to our way of life as we are no longer an agrarian society.

I have every confidence in our school administrators and our elected board members. They are truly concerned with what is best for the education of our children. I personally want them to know how much I appreciate their efforts.

Historical site agencies overlooked auto industry

The auto industry has been overlooked by those designating national historical landmarks, the Automobile Club of Michigan feels, despite its profound effect on American life. Among 51 sites so designated in the field of commerce and industry, only Henry Ford's Dearborn home, Fair Lane, has been granted national historical status.

The club, in its latest issue of Motor News, claims many more sites are deserving of such recognition.

Among them it lists Henry Ford's village industries, such as Northville's Ford valve plant. These were water-powered factories planned as adjuncts to major production centers, offering employment to farmers during the winter.

"While such nationally unknown and insignificant landmarks as the Calhoun Mine, Lumpkin, Ga., and the Samuel Elmore cannery, Astoria, Ore., have been so designated, the auto industry has had short shrift," the magazine states in an article titled "Michigan's Auto Landmarks."

It urges that dozens of neglected Michigan auto landmarks be nationally recognized as part of the state's bicentennial effort.

It cites, as an example, Ford's Highland Park plant which was the birthplace of mass production of automobiles on a moving assembly line.

"From it, mass production moved to all phases of American and world industry, setting the pattern of abundance in the 20th century," the article declares. "The plant was the home of the immortal Model T and saw the announcement of the $5 minimum daily wage, the most dramatic event in the history of wages," it goes on.

"For that matter," asks Motor News, "do any of the presently designated historic sites have greater claim to fame and landmark status than Ford's gigantic River Rouge plant?"

Also in Detroit, the magazine points out, are the home of John Dodge on Boston Boulevard, now occupied by the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Detroit, and the Packard Motor Car Co. on East Grand Boulevard, designed by famed architect Albert Kahn.

In Flint are the homes of Louis Chevrolet, Charles Nash and Albert Champion, the "sparkplug king."

Saginaw has two old auto factories, the home of the Ranier and the Argo electric vehicle the Yale 8 was later produced.

Lansing has three historic auto sites: Oldsmobile's historic "Building 16," the original Durant - Star factory and the factory and offices of the Reo Motor Car Co.

Plants of several early auto companies still stand in Jackson, one of the cradles of the industry.

"The failure to date of U. S. Interior Department officials to designate such auto-oriented structures as national registered historic landmarks may be because officials lack information, and perhaps special competence and good judgment," comments Motor News.

It urges readers to write to Interior Department officials to recommend designation of such historic sites or structures as national registered historic landmarks.

Budget Billing

CAN HELP YOU KEEP YOUR BUDGET BALANCED WITH 12 EQUAL MONTHLY PAYMENTS

We realize that balancing your monthly budget is not an easy task, and we'd like to help. Our Equal Monthly Payment Plan will divide your yearly Consumers Power bill into 12 equal monthly payments. You can enjoy the convenience, and leave the arithmetic to us.

You may sign up for Budget Billing at any time. But, if you start the plan in June, your monthly payments will be lower because they will be spread over a full 12-month period.*

Pick up your free copy of "The Advantages of Budget Billing" today, at any Consumers Power office. Or, if you are a heating customer, you can enroll in the plan simply by checking the box for Budget Billing on the bill you receive after April 15th.

* Our "Equal Payment Year" runs from June of one year through May of the next. If you enroll in the plan in any month later than June, your equal monthly payment will be determined by estimating the total service you will use for the remainder of the "Equal Payment Year." This amount will then be divided by the number of remaining months.

Nigeria beckons Livonia coed again

By MARGARET MILLER

Denise Sole, Schoolcraft, College nursing student, was considering enlisting in the Peace Corps after college and wondered how to be sure she'd like it.

So she went to Nigeria last summer with the Volunteers for International Development.

Now she's sure she wants to join the Peace Corps.

She also is going back to Africa this summer as a VID volunteer, and she's hoping to interest more students in this area to try it.

Denise, 19, and a Livonia resident, read about the program in this paper a year ago and wrote to Mr. and Mrs. Tom Jackson, who run the independent, non-profit organization out of a Grand Rapids office.

She learned that they were placing young volunteers in developing countries in the Caribbean, Africa and South America. The cost was $400 to the Central America areas and $995 to African or South American countries, and Denise, with the aid of a $300 VID scholarship, decided to visit Africa.

"We were placed in teams, and I wound up with four others in the little village of Ibiest in Southeast Nigeria," she said.

Although the basic goal of VID is to bring people of varying cultures closer together, each group of volunteers has some specific aims for the summer.

For Denise and her fellow workers, it was helping to build a secondary school.

"It was the hardest work I ever did in my life," she recalls a bit proudly. "There were two girls in their unit, and we worked right along with the men, laying cement, carrying bricks and doing all the other chores involved in constructing the foundation of a building."

About a dozen villagers worked with them, but none of them were women.

"The women in the village were really surprised and I think a bit impressed," Denise said. "In Africa, women don't do that kind of work, and they have the general impression that American women don't work at all."

The Observer & Eccentric PEOPLE

Monday, April 1, 1974

She added that "my mother was pretty impressed, too, when I wrote home about it."

Progress on the school building was slow, but development of friendships between the young Americans and the African villagers was much more rapid.

"They brought us all kinds of presents," Denise said, displaying one of them, an Ikpok-pok, or gourd drinking cup.

"They don't use them any more, but they thought I should have one," she said.

There also was a big party for the volunteers, and the native food served included a salad made of grasses.

"That really was too much, but we ate it to be nice."

Living quarters for the Americans were in a frame house that belonged to a doctor who was away. But huts were the homes for most of the villagers, Denise said.

She will return to Nigeria this summer after an orientation that begins July 5. "I thought of going to South America this time, but I really want to see these beautiful African people again," she said.

Her scholarship this year will be $400, and currently she is asking local business people to support her trip or the Volunteers for International Development's general program.

In Grand Rapids, she said, a marathon walk is being organized to raise funds, and she'd like to see that happen here.

VID volunteers, Denise said, are mainly students in college and late high school, but there are a few older adults. "Last year a family with parents in their 40s and three children went to Central America," she added. "Specially trained group leaders are in charge of each individual unit."

Those who think they would like to participate may apply anytime before April 30 by writing Volunteers for International Development, 16 Ionia S.W., Grand Rapids, 49502.

As for Denise, she's in a hurry to get back to Africa this summer and definitely plans on Peace Corps work after she finishes nursing studies at Schoolcraft.

"I can hardly wait," she says.

DENISE SOLE shows a few of the mementos she brought back from her first visit to Nigeria last summer. One of her favorites, shown in the small photo at the left, is a guitar-like instrument played with the thumbs on metal tines. (Staff photos by Harry Mauthe, Bob Woodring).

Needs of children focus of sessions

Child abuse, children's rights, ethnic curriculum and pre-school special education are among the varied issues to be examined in a child development conference April 5 at Michigan State University and April 6 at The University of Michigan.

"Caring for Children - Politics and Programs" is sponsored by the two universities and the new Michigan Chapter of the Association for the Education of Young Children. Teachers, parents and others concerned with the care of pre-schoolers are welcome to participate.

The sessions at MSU's Kellogg Center, April 5, will deal primarily with social, political and financial issues in pre-school care.

Fifteen morning and afternoon workshops will focus on community planning, curricular models, performance objectives, licensing, agency and parent participation, children's rights and "child abuse: when you suspect it, what do you do?"

William Sederberg of the Michigan Board of Education will speak on "Michigan's Commitment to Children" and Dr. Norbert B. Enzer, chairman of the MSU department of psychiatry, will speak on "Children's Needs, Our Responsibility" at the April 5 luncheon.

The workshops on April 6 at the U-M school of education, will deal with materials, content and psychological and social aspects of programs for young children.

Morning sessions will include pre-school curriculum topics, such as science, health, art activities, storytelling, musical experiences, cardboard carpentry, dance and black and Chicano curriculum.

The afternoon workshops will focus on children's values, emotional needs, behavior problems, the recognition of early learning disabilities, avoidance of sex typing, and other issues.

The registration fees are $4.50 for the MSU conference and $3 for the U-M workshops. A round trip bus service will be available between Kellogg Center and East Lansing on April 6.

To register or obtain further information on the MSU conference, contact "Child Development Conference," Continuing Education Service, MSU, East Lansing, 48824.

For further information on the U-M conference, contact the U-M Department of Conferences and Institutes, 350 S. Tayer, Ann Arbor, Mich. 48104.

Go-getters collect for Channel 56

If your child is a fan of "Sesame Street" what can you do?

Chances are you might be going door to door for the next few weeks gathering donations from local places of business for the Channel 56 auction. That is the public, non-profit TV station which carries "Sesame Street."

Forbidden by law from carrying commercials, Channel 56 receives most of its support from individuals and companies. In 1973, auction proceeds supplied one-third of the station's operating budget.

Mrs. Sindy Monks of Plymouth and Mrs. Janet Kargol of Westland are among the hundreds of Go-getters, who in appreciation for teaching their children the alphabet and numbers, will go to bat for Big Bird this month. Personally, both women prefer the station's Masterpiece Theater, which also benefits from the May 11 auction.

While both will carry colorful red and white plastic bags for collecting donations, they know that what they will receive will not always be portable.

For example, last year Val's Pizza in Plymouth donated to Channel 56's auction a large pizza each month for a year.

But even though 12 large pizzas would hardly fit in both their bags they would be happy to accept such a donation again this year.

Nor would the tune-up on any American Motors car offered by Fiesta American in Plymouth be turned down because it cannot be lugged down to auction headquarters. Similar offers are aired all the time at auction time with residents from the entire area reached by Channel 56 asked to bid on whatever prize interests them.

Mrs. Monks, who has been a Go-getter in earlier years, recalls that a few of the items auctioned last year were oil paintings, lithographs, major appliances, air conditioners, and even a day's free rental on a piece of construction equipment.

She was tempted to bid on a bulldozer to display as a status symbol.

The auction which will run from Saturday, May 4, through Saturday, May 11, will be on Channel 56 each day from 2 p.m. to midnight. Fifty phones will be manned by volunteers to take bids on the merchandise offered. Names of high bidders will be announced by the celebrity auctioneers.

The merchandise must all be donated by April 15. Merchants wishing to donate to the auction may contact Auction Central at Channel 56.

BY A. BRILL PHOOL

When the Michigan Mother of the Year for 1974 is picked on April 8, one of the top candidates will be Mrs. Harriette Esmerelda Charisma, Observerland & Eccentricville's own favorite mother.

This busy lady has her finger, maybe up to the elbow, in a number of organizations.

They include the busy Ladies Against Busing (BLAB), the Busing Lovers and Helpers (BLAH), and The Adult Tellers (TAT).

Then there are Abortions Altogether (AA), the Anti - Abortion Association (AAA) and the All - American Alliteration Amalgamation (AAAA).

"I like to join organizations with lots of As in them," she said. "I didn't see many of those things back when I graduated from fourth grade, so I like them now."

"Besides, it's important to keep busy, don't you think? Or don't you think? I rarely do. I'm too busy being on the go."

Harriette, as she is called affectionately by her long - suffering husband and 15 delinquent children, is an avid rooster of local sports teams.

She has been responsible for several bruised shins sported by Little League umpires in Redford Township and has received the Loud Mouth Award following a number of junior hockey encounters in Westland.

"I have to make sure my kids get into all the fights on ice," she shouted.

"How else are they going to defend themselves while I'm off being Mother of the Year?"

Always community spirited, Mrs. Charisma can be seen walking along the shoulders of Livonia roads picking up empty pop bottles. Redeeming them helps finance her participation in Saturday afternoon wrestling at Cobo Hall.

In her fight for honesty in advertising, she has picketed all social affairs of the Tonquish Creek Yacht Club in Plymouth and the Kenwood Lake Surf and Turf Club in Farmington, claiming both are without proper docking facilities.

Perhaps her most vigorous fight was against the flooding of Hines Park. She and her children formed a Bucket Brigade to lower the level of the Rouge River.

Their human chain worked for 16 hours before being forcibly removed by a Wayne County Road Commission crew.

Our Harriette countered this action by staging a lean - in in Garden City.

"It was a lean - in," she said, because I don't believe in sit - ins. And I got tired standing. I'm an action person, but I got weary and positioned myself against the wall.

"It is the legs that gave out. If I wasn't such an action person, My legs would probably be as strong as they are beautiful."

Despite weak legs, she has made a recent mark in sports history. She streaked, almost unnoticed, through the entire Wayne County suburban area.

Her husband commented briefly on her Mother of the Year nomination after dashing from his kitchen to the basement to throw another load of clothes into the dryer.

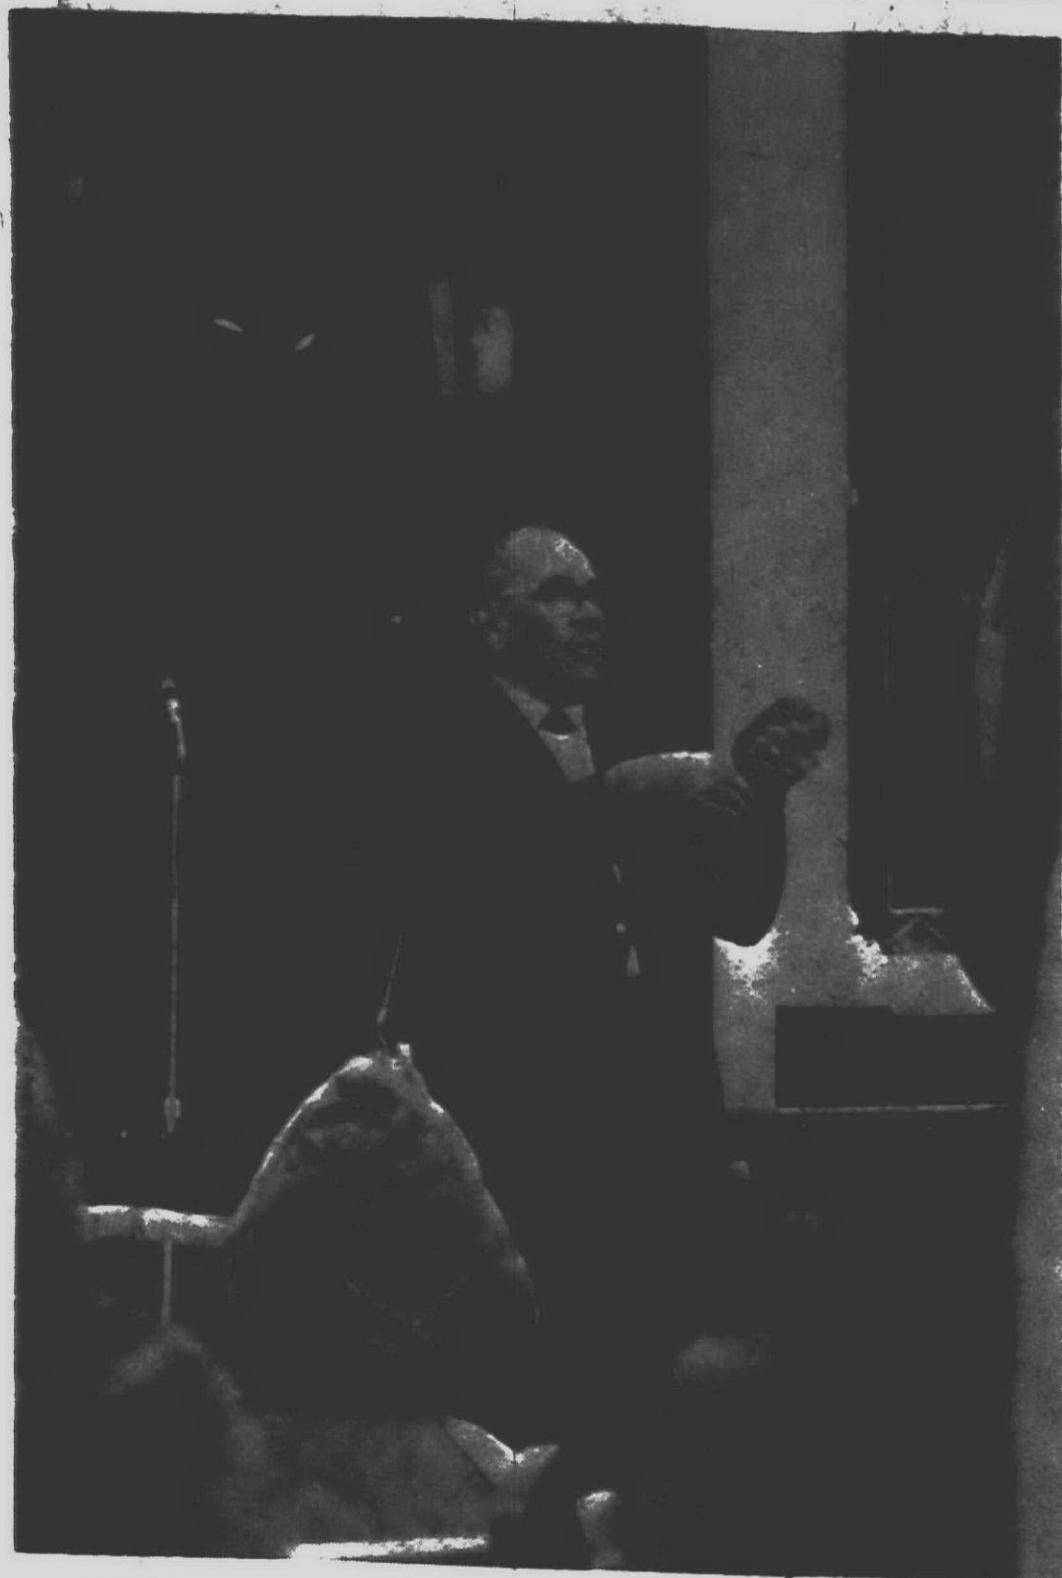

"She deserves everything she gets," he sighed, especially on April 1.

Everyone certainly will agree, after Mother Harriette gets her award motherhood will never be the same.

NOTHING PLEASED Roy Rew, the Plymouth magician, more than to entertain youngsters with his sleight-of-hand tricks. Here he works some of his routines for such a group in Old Village. Rew died Wednesday.

Plymouth magician Roy C. Rew dies

PLYMOUTH — The children of Plymouth lost one of their best friends in the death of Roy C. Rew, the magician, who was buried in Riverside Cemetery Saturday afternoon.

For more than a year he had suffered from pulmonary emphysema and survived several trips to the hospital before death came last Wednesday morning. He lived at 1051 Harding.

Born in Oakdale, Tenn., in 1901, he came to Plymouth in 1942 and spent most of his time entertaining the school children and various service clubs with his feats of magic.

More than half of his life was devoted to bringing joy to others and he liked nothing better than to gather a group of youngsters and perform his famous "ring" trick in which he would join and separate as many as a half dozen stainless steel rings while they looked on in utter amazement.

His health started to fail several years ago and he was forced to reduce his activities. He did — except where entertaining the children was concerned.

When not performing his feats of magic in his later years, he spent what leisure hours he had selling flags and he was a regular visitor with luncheon companions at the Round Table Club.

As a youth he attended high school in Jacksonville, Fla. and through the years he became affiliated with Masons: Hi-12; AFL; the IBM Wandwavers whom he served as president in 1948; and until his death was an active member of the Colonial Kiwanis Club of Plymouth.

Honored by many organizations, he was proudest of the fact that he was named an honorary Kentucky Colonel in Burnside, Ky.

He is survived by two sons, Jon William and Robert Allen, and two grandchildren.

Township OKs budget

PLYMOUTH — A 1974-75 budget of $1,018,494.20, about three percent above the last fiscal year's budget, was approved unanimously by the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees Tuesday.

The budget calls for an expense of some $923,830, up 126,336 from the previous year. Two items which don't apply to the budget are $65,000 for the purchase of a new fire department pumper truck and $56,000 for storm sewer levy.

Prior to approving the budget, Supervisor James McLaren said salaries and expenses as well as an increase in expenses for the parks and recreation department included in part for the bigger budget.

Major increases are also shown for the elections department for the upcoming elections expenses.

State revenue sharing incomes and property tax revenues are expected to provide the township an additional $20,000 in the new fiscal year.

The fire department budget, for which $344,551 had been proposed by Chief James Gignac, was approved at $285,831. Last year's budget for the department was $296,648.

But not shown in the budget is an increase in fire department salaries that are awaiting outcome of negotiations.

McLaren said staff salaries for other departments are up from six to 10 per cent, reflecting recent increases. The new budget also reflects decreases in spending for debt administration, public improvement, insurance and bonds.

Pioneer merchant Borregard dies

PLYMOUTH — Lou Borregard, one of the pioneer businessmen who helped make Old Village a thriving community more than a quarter of a century ago, succumbed to a long illness Friday afternoon and was buried in Riverside Cemetery today (Monday) at 11 a.m.

Born in Calgary, Canada, on Oct. 5, 1901, he came to the Plymouth community in the late '40s and made his bow in the Old Village business world by taking over the B & F Auto Supply Co. from Bill Michael and Floyd Tib-bitts, that was located at 1100 Starkweather. He remained there for years until poor health forced him to retire.

Well known throughout the business world, in 1963 he was appointed to the Plymouth Building Authority that made possible the building of the present city hall.

Shortly after that structure was completed his health started to fail and he was a hospital patient until his latest illness — a stroke — placed him in the West Trail Nursing Home where he died.

A highly respected Rotarian, he joined the Plymouth club in 1960 and was active until his illness forced him to the sidelines.

He is survived by his widow, Audrey (Noble), sons Don, Ross and Gerald, and nine grandchildren.

He was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth. The pastor, Rev. Philip Magee conducted the Monday morning services.

Jane Fan is lecturing

PLYMOUTH — Jane T. Fan of Plymouth was named recently as one of 14 new part-time faculty members at the University of Michigan - Dearborn. She will be an adjunct lecturer in chemistry. Her appointment was approved March 15 by the U - M Board of Regents.

Dean's list taps Pam Powell

PLYMOUTH — Pamela Anne Powell of Plymouth was named to the dean's list at the University of Southern Mississippi for the winter quarter.

The honor requires a grade point average of at least 3.25 based on a four point scale.

DAWN MILLER of Plymouth placed second in both poetry and duo events of the Huron Invitational Forensics Tournament at Eastern Michigan University. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Voss of 845 Simpson. Miss Miller is a freshman at EMU majoring in special education.

West School symphony rated tops

PLYMOUTH — West Middle School's symphony band has matched the triumphs of the high school band and orchestra by gaining a first division - superior rating in the recent district festival sponsored by the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Assn.

West competed in Class A at Saline under the baton of Jeff Drifmeyer, the performance being judged by four professional musicians and teachers.

James Hause, head of Eastern Michigan University's music department, included in his notes on West's musicianship the comment, "This is without question the most outstanding band we have heard today." Another judge commented, "This group plays as well as many high school bands."

West also was represented at the festival by its concert band which received a second division rating in Class B.

The symphony band's first division rating qualifies that group of seventh and eighth graders to participate in the MSBOA's state junior high festival May 4 at Fraser. Meanwhile, the school's smaller stage band will compete Saturday, April 6 at Warren in the district jazz group festival.

Major event of the spring in school music circles will come Saturday, April 27 when Plymouth - Salem hosts the state high school band finals.

Central band wins honors

PLYMOUTH — Central Middle School's advanced band has qualified to take part in the state middle school band festival May 4 at Fraser.

The 45-member band, directed by Michael Di Courci, gained the honor by earning a superior rating in competition against 12 other bands in Class "C" at the district band festival in Saline.

Hospital asks for old papers

Metropolitan West Hospital, 28308 Jct. in Westland, is in the middle of a drive for old newspapers. The papers may be deposited in the lobby near the gift shop.

Proceeds will be used to improve patient comfort and hospital facilities.

Brooks-Stewart

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brooks of Grandon Street, Livonia, announce the engagement of their daughter, Judith Phyllis, to Jack Arthur Stewart, son of Mrs. Jane Seesholtz of August Street, Westland. The bride-elect graduated in 1972 from Schoolcraft College and works for the Ford Motor Co. A 1969 Franklin High School graduate, her fiancé serves in the U.S. Navy. The wedding will be June 7.

Lundsten-Campbell

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Lundsten of Richland Avenue, Livonia, announce the engagement of their daughter, Gloria, to Gregg Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Campbell of Fairground, Plymouth. The bride-to-be is a student at Schoolcraft College. Her fiancé is employed by Ford Marketing Co. in Detroit. A November wedding is planned.

Clinic offers family planning

The Inkster Family Planning Clinic, 3505 Walnut, offers many free services to women who wish to plan their families. The clinic is jointly operated by the Southeastern Michigan Family Planning Project and the Wayne County Health Department.

Complete pelvic examinations, cancer detection tests (pap smear and breast examinations) and venereal disease examinations are conducted. A blood cell test for anemia and a urinalysis is an additional service offered by the clinic.

Counseling by a professional clinic staff member is also part of the family planning program. A physician will assist the patient in the selection of the birth control method best suited to her individual need.

Contraceptive materials are prescribed by the clinic physician and are available at the clinic. Instruction by a trained nurse in the use of these birth control methods is another function of the clinic staff.

Those interested in making an appointment may call the Wayne County Health Department at Merriman and Eloise.

Visit to Israel topic of talk

Meetings with Foreign Minister Abba Eban, Mayor Teddy Kollek of Jerusalem, and other Israeli dignitaries will be discussed by Mrs. Albert Silber at a meeting Monday, April 1, of the Detroit Women's Division of American Jewish Congress.

Mrs. Silber just returned from a Congress study mission to Israel. Members of the mission met with political and military figures as well as young people, academicians, and Arabs.

Open to the public, the meeting will take place after a noon coffee hour at Hunters Ridge Clubhouse in Farmington Hills.

Teachers hold 50th reunion

Detroit Teachers College, the forerunner of Wayne State University's College of Education, will hold a 50-year reunion for graduates of the class of 1924 on Thursday, April 4 in the Alumni Lounge at WSU.

The College of Education Alumni Assn. will sponsor a golden anniversary tea from 4-6 p.m.

Lillian Covington of Pasteur School is working with WSU's Alumni House to contact as many members of the class as possible. Graduates of that class who have not been contacted may call Alumni House for information.

Symphony to woo concertgoers

New season ticket sales and subscriber renewals will be the key objectives of the Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra as it launches its 1974-75 ticket campaign.

Marshall W. Turkin, symphony executive director, recently described many of the highlights of the forthcoming season to a group of area chairmen and team captains who will be most active in the ticket campaign.

Rosedale club to observe 35th birthday

A birthday luncheon to celebrate the 35th anniversary of the founding of the Rosedale Gardens Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association will be held Tuesday, April 2.

To take place at noon in the dining room of the Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church, the event will feature a specially decorated cake frosted in green and white, the club's national colors.

Invitations to the luncheon have been sent to past presidents of the organization now living in Livonia, Detroit, Ohio, Alabama, and Florida. Many are planning to attend.

Mrs. Harry Miller, vice president and membership chairman of the Michigan division, will greet the members. Minutes of the very first meeting of the Rosedale Gardens will be read, and each past president will comment on an interesting event that took place during her term of office.

Among the many contributions made to their city by this organization was the donation in Livonia's early days of flowering crab trees to schoolyards and elsewhere. These trees, seen today in many Livonia yards were purchased many years ago from the Rosedale Gardens Branch, with proceeds going into a college fund.

In addition to its scholarship funds to support students at Michigan State University, the branch contributes to Pennies for Friendship (4-H Farm Youth Exchange) and the Youth For Alfred Noble Branch library each year.

Among its members is Mabel Petersen, 10745 Wayne, Livonia, who is 97 years old. She has donated several of her paintings to the Plymouth State Home and Training School. At one time branch members did horticultural therapy at this institution.

Local area chairmen of the drive will be Mrs. Frederick P. Betz of the Birmingham-Bloomfield area, Mrs. Donald Glossop, Dearborn; Mrs. John J. McMullen, Detroit; Mrs. Harry Taylor, Grosse Ile; Mrs. Joseph Jennings, Grosse Pointe; Mrs. Felix Resnick, Royal Oak, and Mrs. Martin Hollander of Southfield.

Approximately 100 women will be involved in this attempt to increase the number of concertgoers next season. For the worker responsible for the largest dollar volume from new ticket sales, there will be a first prize trip to either San Francisco or Las Vegas through the courtesy of Ask Mr. Foster Travel Service.

For the worker who places second, there will be a trip either to Montreal or New York City. Both trips are for two persons.

A dinner at the Pontchartrain Hotel followed by a Detroit Symphony concert will honor the team and team captain obtaining the largest dollar volume from new season ticket sales.

Visit to Israel topic of talk

Meetings with Foreign Minister Abba Eban, Mayor Teddy Kollek of Jerusalem, and other Israeli dignitaries will be discussed by Mrs. Albert Silber at a meeting Monday, April 1, of the Detroit Women's Division of American Jewish Congress.

Mrs. Silber just returned from a Congress study mission to Israel. Members of the mission met with political and military figures as well as young people, academicians, and Arabs.

Open to the public, the meeting will take place after a noon coffee hour at Hunters Ridge Clubhouse in Farmington Hills.

Teachers hold 50th reunion

Detroit Teachers College, the forerunner of Wayne State University's College of Education, will hold a 50-year reunion for graduates of the class of 1924 on Thursday, April 4 in the Alumni Lounge at WSU.

The College of Education Alumni Assn. will sponsor a golden anniversary tea from 4-6 p.m.

Lillian Covington of Pasteur School is working with WSU's Alumni House to contact as many members of the class as possible. Graduates of that class who have not been contacted may call Alumni House for information.

3 schools share limelight

BY TOM DONOGHUE
Sports Editor

Pile up the sticks, pads and pucks for another long hot summer.

But before we close the book on the 1973-74 prep hockey campaign, the final chapter must be read by all.

Post season honors is the heading and the four Livonia High Schools made it a complete sweep in the Suburban Hockey loop all-area pickings.

Bentley, Franklin and Stevenson each sport two members on the first team. Stevenson copped three berths on the second team with Bentley, Churchill and Franklin getting a single player slot.

The '73-'74 season was one that saw a spirited Franklin charge beat the odds and Stevenson out for league honors. The Franklin Patriots crushed Stevenson in their final two meetings to wind up in a regular season tie for first. Both teams sported nine wins - two losses and one tie.

Paul Ferguson's Patriots took home the league trophy on the next deciding statistic - fewer goals scored against. Franklin had given up only 24 goals in the 12 games while Stevenson netminders had allotted 34.

So the league trophy belonged to Franklin but Stevenson came to play in the Observer & Eccentric sponsored George Gee tourney. The defending champions crushed Churchill, 9-5, and batted down the Patriots in the finale, 5-3.

It was an all - senior showing in the all-area first team selections with the second team boasting three juniors to match its three seniors.

And Stevenson Coach Gerry Goode has to be smiling these days - those three juniors on the second team all belong to him and will be wearing the Spartan "blue" come next season.

The first team is composed of Franklin's Don Perrie and Dave Garbutt, Stevenson's Tom Shipp and Brian VanNorman and Bentley's Paul Roshirt and Bob Wasilewski.

Second team billing goes to Stevenson's Curt Downs, Bob Gamache and Jerry DiRusso, Bentley's Bob McCann, Churchill's Brian Veasey, and Franklin's Tim Livesay.

No. 1 goalie honors go to Franklin's Perrie who was selected to the second team last year as a junior. The 5-foot-8 155 pound senior chalked up two shutouts and gave up an average of 2.6 goals per game.

On first team defense we have Stevenson's Shipp and Bentley's Roshirt. Shipp scored five goals and picked up eight assists in playing the role of Stevenson's penalty killer.

Roshirt is the "horse" of the all-area team. The Bentley Bulldog senior checks in at 6-foot-2 and 210 pounds. Roshirt scored five goals and assisted on nine and was the toughest man to run into when trying to break a defense.

At one forward slot we have Franklin's Dave Garbutt, selected the league's most Sportsmanlike Player of the Year. The 5-foot-5, 130 pound senior pumped in 14 goals and recorded 15 assists for a total of 29 assists in pacing the Patriots to the loop crown.

Garbutt collected only two minutes in penalties the entire league season.

Bentley's Bob Wasilewski is at another forward. The Bulldog "Mr. Everything" is a repeater off last year's all-area team and was the winner of the first George Gee Most Valuable Player award in his junior stint.

The 6-foot, 180 pound senior was also all-area quarterback in the fall grid lineups and this puck season popped in 11 goals and picked up nine assists in Bentley's 8-3-1 season.

Rounding out the first team card is Stevenson captain, Brian VanNorman. This 5-foot-9, 135 pound senior collected 24 points, scored 10 goals and 14 assists, and had to be the key figure in the Spartan's assault on Franklin in the tourney.

Selected as Second Team netminder is Stevenson's Curt Downs. The 5-foot-7, 155 pound junior slammed the door on Franklin's face in the tourney finale and gave up 34 goals in nine league games.

On defense for Downs are teammate Bob Gamache and Bentley's Bob McCann.

The 5-foot-9 155 pound junior Gamache tallied two goals and three assists and together with Shipp formed the top defensive twosome in the league.

McCann, at 5-foot-11 and 157 pounds, scored four goals and seven assists for 11 points and together with Roshirt would give the Shipp - Gamache twosome some kind of battle.

Churchill's lone all-area performer in Brian Veasey heads the forward list. The 5-foot-9 160 pound junior scored 14 goals and collected 12 assists in Churchill's 5-5-2 season.

At another slot is Tim Livesay of Franklin. The Patriot forward matched Veasey with 14 goals and 12 assists.

The George Gee tourney's most valuable player rounds out the second crew in 5-foot-2, 125 pound Jerry DiRusso. It was this gummy Spartan that constantly provided the Stevenson spark. He wound up with 13 goals, and eight assists and will be back in Goode's lineup come the '74-'75 season.

There it is, the "blue chip" lineup of the Suburban Hockey loop.

IN THE POCKET

By W.W. EDGAR

In the long history of the American Bowling Congress no team ever has made an impact on the annual tournament to match the performance of Bob Hart's Goebel squad during the past week.

When the team departed from the lanes it had virtually wrecked the standings by reaching the top in three divisions and narrowly missing records that were thought to be out of real danger.

And the star of the lot was Bob Hart himself, as he piled up a nine-game total of 2087 to take the lead in the all - events. To reach this big count Bob rolled 687 in the team event, 702 in the doubles where he paired with Cuck Sunseri to take the pacemaking role with 717 and then topped the performance with 698 in the singles.

Bob was well on his way to better the all - events record another Detroit - Ed Lubanski - set several years when he compiled a 4116 count. Lady Luck frowned on him, however, when he encountered the 4 - 6 split in the final frame and settled for the 2087 and the lead.

The team, as a whole, played a starring role, too, to take team all - events lead with a count of 9575 and some within 33 pins of the ABC record.

Hart started this off with his 2087 and Sunseri followed with 1941. Back of this pair came Jack Trearlor with-1859, Tom McKay with 1845 and Roger Helle with 1843.

Almost over - looked on the wave of flying pins was the fact that the team, one of the leaders in the all-star classics that bowl weehly in the metropolitan area, fired a 3053 to take sixth place in the regular team event.

In another week the famed Stroh team, winner of the ABC Classic All - Events crown: a year ago, will make its bid to gain a share of the fame and prestige in the regular divisions. But it may find it difficult to better the performance of the Goebel team.

Virtually lost in the shuffle last week was another performance by a well known metropolitan area pin spiller, who came within a single pin of ABC fame.

He was Leo Elliott, a 48 - year - old bus driver, who piled up 11 strikes and appeared to be firing the first perfect game of the tournament when misfortune befell him.

On what looked like a solid hit he left up a balky No. 7 pin and settled for a 299. This thrilling performance lifted his Tip's Motel teammates to their top performance as they roared to the Booster Division team lead with a 3139.

So, all told, it was a big week for the metropolitan Detroit bowlers in the biggest of all tournaments.

Wonderland Lanes in Livonia took a big step forward this when in its battle with North Hill in Rochester as the top scoring house in the entire area.

When the last pin fell, 42 members of the Wonderland Classic had bettered double century figures and included in the barrage were four series above 700. Tony Raines set the pace with a 742.

For the first time since the Detroit Bowling Hall of Fame was inaugurated in 1957 the Bowling Proprietors Association of Greater Detroit is going outside of the city to host the banquet honoring the inductees.

Following ceremonies at the Detroit Historical Museum on Saturday, April 13, the scene will shift to the new Shiawassee Hotel in Southfield where the new members of the Hall - will be honored.

The inductees will include Charles (Buch) Walby, owner of the Thunderbird Lanes in Troy; Mary Beck, former member of the Detroit City Council, and Bill Bunetta, one time star of the famed E & B and Pfeiffer teams, while the late Fred Bujack, also a member of the E & B and Pfeiffer teams, will be honored posthumously.

Franklin's Ferguson selected No. 1 coach

Hockey is now a winning sport at Livonia Franklin High School.

The man behind that victory charge has been selected the area's 1973-74 hockey coach-of-the-year.

Congratulations, Paul Ferguson.

In only two years, Ferguson (who will be 29 Saturday, April 6), carried his troopers from a three win-13 loss season to a 10-9 record last year and to a Suburban League championship this past season with a nine win-two loss-and one tie mark.

"This has been just one fantastic year," commented Ferguson. "It was just too bad that we couldn't win the George Gee Tourney to cap it off."

After topping defending champion Stevenson twice to win the loop crown, Ferguson's Patriots fell to Stevenson in the tourney finale, 5-3.

The Franklin coach graduated from Cooley High in Detroit in '63 and played for the Detroit Shamrock hockey club his sophomore through senior years.

It was then on to Eastern Michigan University where he received a Bachelor of Science degree in '67. Paul then went full time to grad school and in September of '68 started in the Livonia system at Riley Junior High where he still teaches.

Ferguson is a media specialist at Riley - which is fast becoming the "hub" of Livonia hockey.

Riley is also the working grounds for Churchill High's hockey coach, Adam Mitchell. The assignment to Riley had to be some sort of reunion for Ferguson as he and Mitchell had played together on the same line for the Detroit Shamrocks while attending high school.

"I was at left wing, and Mitchell was the center," said the Franklin coach. "Some of the teachers here at Riley make a lot of two rival coaches teaching at the same school, but they make more out of it than we do."

Paul married his college sweetheart upon graduation and he and his wife, Barbara, now have an eight-month-old son, Michael. Mrs. Ferguson is also in the teaching ranks in Livonia-having a first grade class at Hoover Elementary.

"I guess I sort of made her into a hockey fan," said the Franklin coach who has also been officiating hockey the past four years in Livonia.

"I guess I am the sort of guy that brings the game home with me and she (Barbara) calms me down. Barbara is also my good-will ambassador in the stands. We couldn't have had a greater turnout of support from the parents this year-they were just great."

A tip of the hat to Paul Ferguson-hockey coach-of-the-year.

Scuba course being offered

The Wayne Westland Department of Continuing Education is offering in its spring schedule a nine week YMCA Certified Scuba course.

Classes will begin April 1 at John Glenn High School and will be open to all persons 15 years of age and older. The course will go from 7 - 11 p.m. every Monday and Wednesday and interested persons must sign up at Wayne Memorial High School.

Class tuition is $30 and students must obtain their own mask, fins and snorkel. Scuba equipment must also be rented or borrowed. A preliminary swim test involving a 300 yard survival swim will be administered according to class instructor Ron Smith.

Central students' play has 'Spirit'

PLYMOUTH — Fifth graders in the class of Mrs. Carol Welsh will stage morning and afternoon performances of the play, "The Spirit of America," for the entire student body at Allen Elementary School Tuesday.

Curtain times will be 10 a.m. and 1 p.m.

The play was written by Mrs. Welsh and Mrs. Judy Blake, a teacher at Our Lady of Good Counsel School.

The story centers on the problems of a student named Mike who is asked to memorize the poem at the base of the Statue of Liberty and to tell how it fits into the Spirit of America.

Several fellow students try to help Mike but to no avail. Weary from research and unhappy because his friends are all in the living room watching "This Is Your Life" on TV, Mike falls asleep at his desk.

His dream is a "This Is Your Life" takeoff on the Statue of Liberty. History is revived before his eyes.

"I guess what I really learned (from his dream) was that as long as America has the kind of people in it that we have had in our past, there will always be hope for the future," Mike says in his final statement. "If each of us tries, each one of us can succeed."

The Statue of Liberty used in the play was built by one of the fifth graders, Sandy Williams.

Ballet dancers include Chris Anderson, Jane Graza, Janet Powell, Mary Miller, Eileen McGlinni, Nadine Chandler and Jill Slayton.

Doug Kleinsmith plays Gen. Robert E. Lee and marchers for the Union and Confederacy are Joe LaBeau, Ricky Cavallare, Steve Neal, Keith Braun, Jay Parks, Tony Gozalez, Paul Swantok and Mike Rodriguez.

Students writing an essay in the play are Dana Fischer, Scott Hand, Dan Doherty and Pat Constantine.

Janet Robertson plays Carrie Nation and Billy Tiele is Charlie Feltman. Mike Hoffman is a bugler, Steve Schumaker plays Uncle Sam.

Tom Rothermel enacts the role of Ralph Edwards, Claudia Bodendiech is Betsey Ross, Grant Crage is President Herbert Hoover, Mark Bistersky is Dan Butterfield and John Jones is Babe Ruth.

PCJBA crowns five teams champs

PLYMOUTH — Five league champion teams were crowned recently at the close of the 1973-74 season of the Plymouth - Canton Junior Basketball Assn.

Winners of the boys "AA" league were the Hawkeyes, coached by Don Bevelheimer. Players included Chuck Bevelheimer, Bill Christie, Jim Carber, Don Hafley, John Peter, Chris Hohmbaum, Gerald St. Pierre, Bill Mundy, and John Beems.

The boys "A" league winners were the Warriors, coached by Bill Moore, Dick deBear, and John Van Wagoner. The Warriors were Bryan Busch, Douglas Gullekson, Jim Hayes, Chris Mallow, Pat Moore, Jeff Powers, Joel Schuneman, Steve Stinebaugh, Don Stork, Tim Stork, and John Van Wagoner.

The 76ers, winners of the boys "B" league, included Joe Bagnasco, Brian Ebmeyer, Sean Houle, Jim Mills, Paul Petrits, Gordon Cole, Mark Meyers, Andy Johnson, and Aaron Emerson. Bob Jamrog and John Shinn were coaches.

The Blues, winners in girls "A" league play, were Janice Grissom, Jill Yale, Theresa Byers, Alene Emerson, Jill McCann, Sue Welles, Julie Jimmerson, Collette Cabadas, Kim Triplett, and Laura Close. The Blues were coached by Joe McCann and Gerry Triplett.

Winners of the girls "B" league were the Chargers, coached by John Merrifield and Dave Edmisten. Charger players included Kathy Agnew, Vicki Cavallaro, Mary Hanrahan, Linda Hanrahan, Kallie Bila, Jean Timlin, Jacque Merrifield, Julie Edmisten, Melodie Triplett, and Marti Williams.

Continuing education offers spring classes

PLYMOUTH — The Plymouth Community School District's continuing education department is now taking registrations for a series of classes starting the week of April 22.

All are evening classes held at varying hours with cost ranging from $10 to $12. Details may be secured from the continuing education office.

All classes with the exception of golf will be held for a period of eight weeks. Golf classes will be five weeks.

Children's swim classes will not start until June 17.

Other classes, all starting the week of April 22, will be elementary ballet on Tuesdays, bridge I on Mondays, bridge II on Tuesdays, beginner golf on Tuesdays, advanced golf on Tuesdays, slim trim, volleyball and pool on Tuesdays, and interior decorating on Tuesdays and Wednesdays.

Women's swim classes will begin May 9 with Thursday classes for both beginner and advanced.

Yoga classes for both beginner and advanced will be on Tuesdays beginning April 9.

Bill requires school supt. input on setting speed limits

PLYMOUTH — A bill requiring that local school superintendents take part in setting speed limits near schools located beyond the incorporated limits of a city has been approved by the Michigan House.

The bill was introduced by Rep. Raymond J. Smit (R - Ann Arbor) whose district includes Plymouth.

The Plymouth school district's Safety Committee was a principal lobbyist for the measure. State Sen. Carl Pursell (R - Plymouth) also helped get the bill passed.

Present speed limits outside incorporated cities are determined by State Police and either the county road commission or state highway commission.

Smit's bill would require that those speed - establishing bodies include the local school superintendent if he feels that speeds within 1,000 feet of a school are not reasonable nor safe.

"In urbanizing townships, there has been a lot of concern about the speed limits near schools," Smit said. "Many times under the present system superintendents would plead for lower speed limits and find their pleas falling on deaf ears."

Smit added that with the degree of urbanization in many municipalities, schools are now being located more and more in townships rather than in cities, creating an "alarming" increase in student injuries.

7 at WMU honored

PLYMOUTH — Seven Plymouth students at Western Michigan University were named to the dean's list recently for their work in the winter term.

Recognized for maintaining a 3.5 or better average were: Leslie Griebel, 9345 Ivanhoe; Donald Reef, 11817 Wildwing; Mary Rogers, 1627 Gloucester; Elaine Rybka, 42106 Ford Rd.; Martha Spear, 1614 Lexington; Bradley Weage, 750 Sunset; and Robert Willette, 735 Burroughs.

The best part is the Heil Heritage II air conditioning system provides up to 15% or more efficiency than many brands. That saves you money on your electric bill and helps conserve energy. And the Heil Heritage II system is quiet thanks to Heil's exclusive solid state variable speed fan control which adjusts the fan speed to the temperature load. It's good looking too, and because it's a top discharge system you can plant shrubs close to it. Call today for a free estimate.
