ANOTHER BARN FIRE on the former Schultz farm, Ann Arbor Road between Beck and Ridge Roads, was battled for nearly five hours early Sunday by three units from the Plymouth Township Fire Department assisted by one from Canton Township. Plymouth Township Fire Chief James Gignac said this is the third barn fire on this property in the past six months. Cost of fighting a fire of this sort, including overtime, pay for volunteers, gasoline, oil and wear of machinery is estimated at approximately $1,400, the chief said. The property is now owned by Donavan Associates who had been ordered several times to tear the buildings down. (Staff photo by Bob Woodring)

Consolidation study in Monday's edition

PLYMOUTH - In Monday's edition, the Plymouth Observer & Eccentric will publish the Plymouth -Plymouth Tewnship consolidation study as a public service.

The report, being released today (Thursday) by the Michigan State University Institute for Community Development and Services, was co sponsored by the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

Comparison of the two communities' levels of governmental services and consolidation's effect on that will be analyzed in the study.

Voters in Plymouth and Plymouth Township will vote Tuesday, May 7 on whether or not to consolidate their communities.

If that vote passes in both the city and the township, another election would be held on July 2 to elect nine charter commissioners who would be charged with writing a new charter for the new consolidated community.

Their charter would have to be approved by the voters of both communities before consolidation would officially take place.

The deadline for voter registration for the May 7 consolidation election is Monday, April 8. Both the Plymouth and Plymouth Township clerks' offices will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday to accommodate voter registration.

Schools may OK '45-15' ednesday

PLYMOUTH -- Unless something drastic happens between now and April 10, it looks as though Plymouth's "45-15" plan for year around school at the elementary level will get the go - ahead, perhaps on a district - wide basis.

The "45-15" plan was discussed by the Plymouth Board of Education and a group of approximately 30 to 40 parents and concerned citizens at a workshop session Monday night. The board hopes to make a definite decision on the plan at its next board meeting on

The "45-15" plan is one of two alternatives proposed to deal with overcrowding of schools in the district. The other is to divide the district and bus students in overcrowded schools continue to increase." to schools that can accommodate

The question arose if the proposed bond issue comes through and more elementary schools are built, what school days of vacation. The school would be completely shut down for two weeks in July and this plus the student's three weeks off some time during the summer, would replace the usual summer vacation period. If approved, the system would go into effect this July. Total cost of implementing the program is estimated at $47,000.

Initially, it was suggested that the plan, if approved, be piloted at Miller Elementary School. Miller was chosen because the area surrounding it is experiencing a rapid population growth. Enrollment for the school was recently closed at 704 students - 32 over its rated capacity.

A survey conducted in Miller's attendance area showed the residents there support the "45-15" plan three

Several said they didn't think the survey gave a correct account of what persons in the area really felt. Others said they voted yes (for the "45-15" plan) because they didn't think they had any alternative. Still, several others upheld the survey as fair and felt it gave an accurate ac-

Gallimore Elementary School is also being considered for the pilot program of "45-15". The area surrounding this school would also be surveyed before April 10, to determine how many residents would be in favor of implementing the "45-15"

The board is also faced with the decision of whether to make the plan mandatory or voluntary and whether to make it district - wide or confine it to designated schools such as Miller and Gallimore.

PLYMOUTH - Results are 'in' but not 'out' yet on how Plymouth public school students fared on this year's state assessment tests.

Plymouth school officials received local scores last week, but will not release the state's findings until they make a complete presentation at a board of education meeting set for April 23.

Fest results have already been made public by many other districts. Along with students from all Michigan school districts, Plymouth fourth and seventh graders were tested last October on their ability to attain selected learning "objectives" in reading and mathematics.

"In both grades we are at or above state average attainment levels," said Dr. Earl Hogan, deputy superintendent of the Plymouth schools.

A committee of Michigan educators selected groups of minimal objectives, 35 or 45 in math and 23 in reading, which they considered necessary for continued success in those subjects by all students. The objectives only measured selected achievements, and are not intended to cover the entire range of skills which students might achieve in reading or math by the end of third or sixth grade.

Five questions were given to measure attainment of each performance objective. The reading performance objectives stressed comprehension. Both tests were untimed, so that students could work at their own pace.

Local educators were sent three different reports on their local scores. Reports were made on individual student performance, how the student performed among the students in his class, and how each class performed in relation to other classes and other schools in the district.

A separate test was administered to students in both grades to learn their attitudes toward the school, their teachers, and the subjects they study.

On the reading and math tests, where the classroom summary report shows that most of the class has missed one or two questions on a particular objective, teachers may surmise that the students are all stumbling on a single fundamental con-

Retiree takes up avocation

By W.W. EDGAR

Little did the administrators at Scooolcraft College realize that night last June when they presented Jon Adams, retiring dean of the vocational school, with a confplete set of fishing tackle that they were starting him on his way back to school again.

But that's what happened. Now he is learning to fish and going to school to develop the technique of dressing and fileting the various species in the hope that he can earn the rank of an expert.

This new twist in his life - and it was entirely unexpected - came as a result of his wife, Charlotte, taking ill with the flu enroute to a vacation at Banff and Lake Louise.

"We got as far as Lake Dryden. near International Falls late last summer." he said, smilingly, "when she became ill. Then I got a touch of it and we were laid up at the lake for more than a week.

It was then I was introduced to fishing for those big wall eyes and what a thrill it was to catch my first beauty.

"That settled it. I was hooked on fishing right there. We never got on to Banff and Lake Louise and now I am looking forward to going back to Lake Dryden to learn more about those big wall eyes."

With a chuckle he added: "With the gasoline situation the way it is I may never get beyond Kensington Lake, but I'll be fishing some place."

While waiting for that trip Adams keeps busier than he ever expected to be in retirement. He is commander of the Coast Guard Auxiliary, the civilian component of the Coast Guard. and he keeps all the records.

"It seems I never am finished working." he explained, "and retirement is so much different than I ex-

First he was presented with the "Outstanding Service Award" at the annual convention of the American Vocational Association following an unanimous vote. Then he received the "Certificate of Recognition" by the Industrial Planning Council of the Automobile Manufacturer's American Vocational Association.

It was the first award ever designated by this group and it recognized his years of loyalty and service.

Adams has held membership in the council since its founding days. The outstanding service awards are presented only to professional educators who have rendered service beyond the call of duty to vocational. technical and practical arts education and Adams is only the third man to receive the honor.

When he retired from Schoolcraft. Adams completed a distinguished 39, year career in vocational education. The career had many peaks, the last of which was the building of the vocational school at Schoolcraft where he served for eight years.

Prior to that he was generally credited with developing the program at Ferris Institute. Big Rapids, that gained national attention.

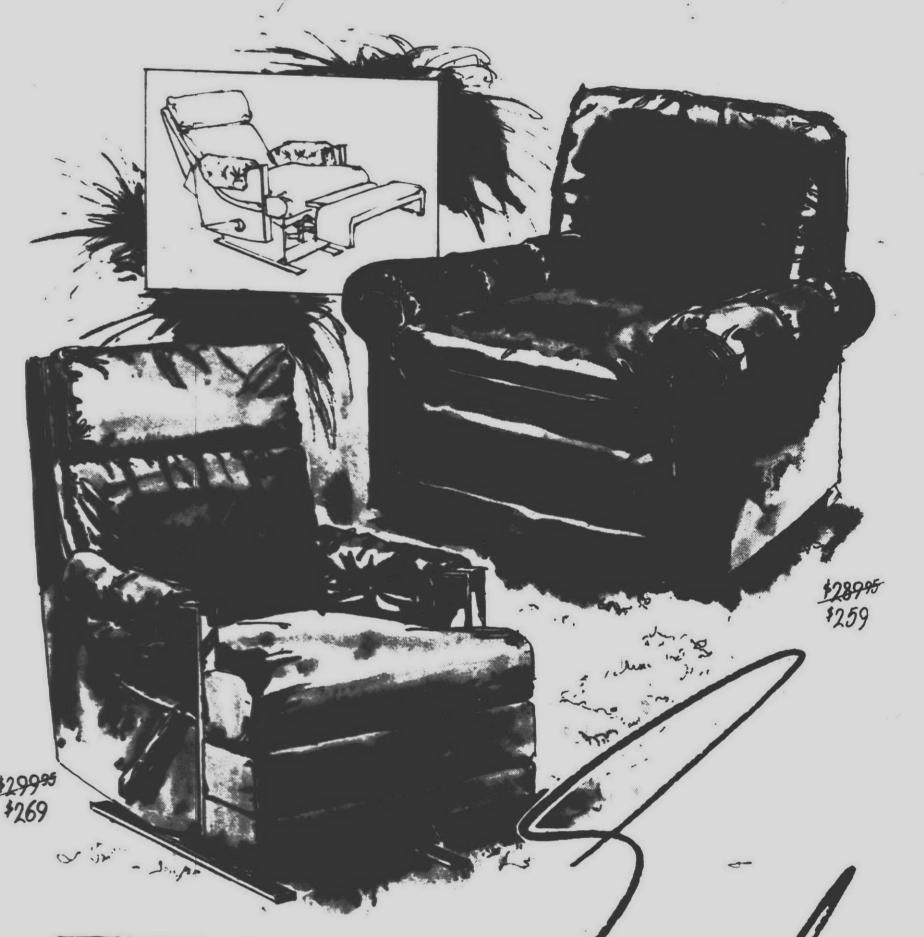

Aside from these two major accomplishments he also served as a region-

Adams began his fabulous career in 1934 as a vocational machine shop instructor at Dundee, Illinois. In the second year of his program he produced a student who won the state wide machine shop contest and was duly honored at the Illinois Vocational Association Convention.

From then on his career has been marked with outstanding success until he decided to close the book and take things easy.

The machine shops and vocational schools are now only pleasant memories as he polishes his fishing tackle and prepares to go after "those big wall eyes" at Lake Dryden on the way to Banff and Lake Louise.

Ecology 'fad' gone, but teachers still interested

By SUE ROSIEK

PLYMOUTH — Ecology classes aren't drawing the crowds of high school students they did a few years ago, according to Art Durow, biology and ecology teacher at Plymouth - Salem High School.

"Enrollment fluctuates and it has finally leveled off," Durow said. "It suggests that many students joined because of the ecology fad. On the other hand it indicates those students now taking the class are really interested, not just getting on the ecology

Environmental studies are becoming more diversified. The ecology classes, which four years ago were aimed at air and water pollution, have expanded into energy allocation, the exploding population and the erosion of natural areas.

bandwagon.'

The teaching techniques available to high school instructors are also expanding and constantly changing. Durow and three other teachers from the Plymouth area will get a chance to study some of the newest approachs to environmental studies this June at the 1974 Teachers Environmental School at Higgins Lake.

Joining Durow from Plymouth - Salem is Linda Wallace, first year biology and ecology instructor. Representing Plymouth - 'Canton are: Laurie Petersen, biology and physical science teacher and Mary McGrath, biology and chemistry instructor.

All four were awarded $75 scholarships to the environmental study session by the Plymouth and Lake Pointe branches of the Michigan Division Woman's Farm and Garden Assn. Each club sponsored two scholarships.

Each teacher will receive additional graduate credit for the ecollgy program. All chose the June 16 - 21 session entitled "Focus on the Future" with Dr. John Norman of Wayne State University.

The curriculum, resource people, materials, field trips and discussions are all focused on providing the teachers with an understanding of critical issues dealing with man and his environment. A special emphasis will be placed on relevant programs for instructors from the metropolitan area.

The environmental school is sponsored by Wayne State University, Univervity of Michigan, Western Michigan University, Eastern Mtchigan University, Central Michigan University and Michigan State University. The staff includes professors from participating schools, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, industry and other state agencies.

The teachers are looking forward to the summer study session in the natural area surrounding Higgins Lake. They all agreed the Plymouth Centennial educational park setting with its 57-acre wooded lot and ponds is a good place to implement some of the new teaching techniques.

The Stroller...

Queen of the Ice

By W. W. EDGAR

One of the most popular forms of entertainmnet these days is the colorful ice shows — both amateur and professional — sponsored in the various community arenas.

Within the past decade or two these arenas have sprung up in all sections with the result that ice skating, amateur hockey and all sorts of pageants have come into being.

But very few people who sit in the stands now and marvel at the performances realize that it was a smiling little Norwegian who started it all with one of the boldest gestures—ever made in the sports or entertainment world.

She was Sonja Henie and the story' of her domination of the ice skating and entertianment world may never be equalled.

The Stroller got to thinking about this the other evening while sitting in the Olympia looking at the latest edition of the Ice Capades and he couldn't help recalling the feats of the little blonde with the winsome smile.

He had come to know her personally while toiling in the sports department of the Detroit Free Press and never had he met a more determined person. Once she set a goal no one could stop her from reaching it — even though she had to battle the kings of finance and entertainment.

She had made a show of the field to win the Olympic figure skating title three times before she came to America to cash in on her ability.

She came with the idea that there was a place for her in the movies and she headed for Hollywood determined to make a fortune. but the movies would have none of her. Most other smiling little blondes would have taken this turn of events as a "tough break" and looked in another direction.

She didn't and thereby hangs one of the most amazing of all stories. Instead of departing from Hollywood with a broken dream she just became all the more determined. She arranged to rent a skating rink on the coast and then invited all the movie moguls to a special performance. They came. And what they saw amazed them.

Now, instead of turning their backs on the little Norwegian, they sought her services and there was a mad scramble. This was just what she wanted — and she made her move.

"You want me — now you pay me," she told them and succeeded in getting a contract for an almost unheard of amount in those days.

It is history now that her movie was a success and theaters from coast to coast were packed to see this graceful little Norwegian perform on skates.

It was then that the big step came in her career. Ice hockey had taken hold in America and most of the major cities had built arenas as home ice for their teams.

Foremost among the owners was James Norris, the wheat king of Chicago, who owned Olympia and had controlling interest in the Chicago Stadium and several other large ice palaces throughout the country.

Knowing a good thing when he saw it. Norris assigned his agent Arthur Wirtz to sign her to a contract. There never has been another like it. Not only was it exclusive in Norris stadiums, but she received a share of each admission and became a rich little lady and the "darling" of the figure skating followers.

That's how the Ice Follies and the figure skating extravaganzas started. And when you sit in the stands at the Plymouth Cultural Center or the ice rinks in Southfield, Livonia, Redford, Garden City or Westland, remember it was the little smiling Norwegian who made it all possible.

"LISTEN TO THE MUSIC" is the theme for the annual musical variety show by Plymouth High's Rockette Pom Pom Corps. The show will be staged Friday and Saturday, at 8 p.m. in the Salem High School auditorium. Rockettes members, (not pictured in order) are: Laura Cassini, Terri McIntyre, Donita Sullivan, Robin Powell, Lynn Gardner, Karin Fowler, Sue Moon, Sue Chopp, Terry Szlagyi, Terry Sarris, Mary Beth Wall, Sue Wehmeyer, Cheryl Edwards, Lynn Kaufman, Lydia Grauwickel, Michele Rapette, Kathy Campbell and Mary Hastings.

As a final comment, several audience members agreed that they were ready to leave the decision of "45-15" up to the board members.

Classical wines and gourmet cheeses from around the world will highlight the "Spring Wine and Cheese Festival" Monday, May 6, at Schoolcraft College.

The Michigan Chefs de Cuisine Association and the Schoolcraft College Gourmet Club will present the festival from 7 to 10 p.m. in the Waterman Building on campus, 18600 Haggerty, Over 20 varieties of wines, cheeses, international breads and fruit platters will be featured. There will also be entertainment, favors and prizes.

There will be a donation of $6 per person and all proceeds will be used for educational purposes. For tickets contact Robert Breithaupt or David Swanson at the college.

To order tickets by mail, send check payable to Michigan Chefs Association to Wine and Cheese Festival, Schoolcraft College, 18600 Haggerty, Livonia, 48151. Enclose a self + addressed envelope.

The added entrance, boosting the number to five, would alleviate the 'already heavy traffic flow on Arlington," which will be the dividing line between the two subdivisions.

But while residents were fairly successful in convincing the commission about changes they wished to see made, the commissioners weren't as lucky in their bid for a promised pedestrian skywalk across Sheldon to Gallimore Elementary School.

Commissioners wanted to make sure they got the concession, but Franklin hedged on the point. He stated that the skywalk was another "trade-off" item. It would be built if the shopping center is approved, but probably dropped if the commercial development becomes a single - family housing development.

He said it would be "economically impossible" for Moceri to finance the overpass in the event the commercial development did not come to pass.

Acting as chairman for the evening was Commissioner Bob Simmons who explained that chairman Joseph Kinnick could not attend the session because of a previous commitment.

JUST IN CASE the truck drivers don't read the sign at right, the Wayne County Road Commission apparently has decided to warn motorists about trucks. These two conflicting signs appear on Edward Hines Drive at Wilcox Road by the

'Spring fever' lures inmates to try escape

By HANK MELJER

Spring fever is contagious at the Detroit House of Correction on Five Mile Road.

"Don't pick up any hitchikers aroun here in April." advises DeHoCo superintendent John M. Amberger · According to Amberger. April is the peak month for inmates of both the men's and women's prisons to attempt escapes.

Five Mile divides DeHoCo, and its runaway problem, into two very different parts. Buildings south of Five Mile are in Plymouth Township and house male prisoners. North of Five Mile, in Northville Township, is the women's facility.

The women's section of DeHoCo is Michigan's only women's prison. The 230 inmates there serve terms ranging from a few months to life imprisonment. The grounds are bordered with a six - foot high, barbed wire topped fence.

So far this year - the Northville Township police have picked up four female escapees themselves and assited the state police and DeHoCo security personnel in several more searches. Township Police Chief Ronald Nisun isn't happy about the situ-

Since he came to Northville in 1966, Nisun said, the situation has gone "from a point of nobody escaping and sort of mushroomed." In recent years the number of escapees has stabilized somewhat, however, and may even be declining slightly as DeHoCo officials have adopted a more consistent policy of prosecuting escapees.

But Nisun thinks other changes can further reduce the number of runaways. "DeoCo has an equipment

The men's side has equipped with police radios. "They'll, no fene. Most inmates have access to pick up and return runaways and we the grounds. won't even know they've been appre-

Referring to the long - term prisoners who have little to lose in an escape attempt. Nisun said, "I'm surprised that with the type of people they have nobody's been hurt around Nisun suggests that prison authorities could greatly curtail escapes by female prisoners and "save a lot of time" by putting a double fence around the institution. He also cites inadequate lighting on the present ferice. "Go out there at night and you can't even see anything." he said.

According to Nisun, the current situation "siphons the manpowers" from his already - undermanned department "because someone isn't doing enough to provide security in the women's side.'

Both Nisun and Amberger suggest the need for a larger staff and improved facilities and equipment. Nisum doesn't blame prison officials; "they haven't got the tools," he said.

On a map of Northville Township, Nisun points out that smart escapees from the women's side can follow a route that will keep them concealed by woods almost all the way out of the township. He said that neither he nor other law enforcement agencies have the staff necessary to properly search this terrain.

On the other side of Five Mile Road, over in Plymouth Township. the male runaway picture has recently been looking brighter. During the first two months of 1974

To avoid detection, most of the men hended." Nisun said. "We waste a lot escape south of the grounds toward the city of Plymouth. So far this year. however. Plymouth Police have discovered and captured only two runaways within the city limits.

Amberger expects the number of escapes to double in April. "When it's warmer there will be a few more." said Loren Johnson, Plymouth's assistant chief of police. In spite of changes in climate, however, both agree that fewer and fewer male inmates have been running away from Amberger cited two factors to explain the decline in escapes from the men's side: a smaller prison poiulation and improved communications between inmates and their families.

Two years ago DeHoCo housed 900 males, today there are only 700.

More significantly, a new $90,000 federally - funded family liason program has been in operation since November. The program, which grew from an analysis by prison officials of why people escape, is designed to help build a relationship between the inmate's family and the jail.

Amberger's analysis discovered that inmates most often escape because of family problems. The inmate is often at the mercy of rumors and fears about the health and well being of his family.

Meanwhile, the wife suspects that the husband is having an easy time while she has to run the household and handle any problems which arise

Under the liaison program a fiveman staff at DeHoCo and a poverty agency in Detroit work to close the communications gap by counseling inmates' families on problems which come up while the head of the household is in jail.

The number of DeHoCo escapees may dwindle even more early this summer when the county erects a fence around the grounds.

60 firefighters attend Madonna

Sixty firefighters from throughout Michigan have registered to attend the "Instructor's Institute for Fire Aervice Personnel" being held at Madonna College, Livonia.

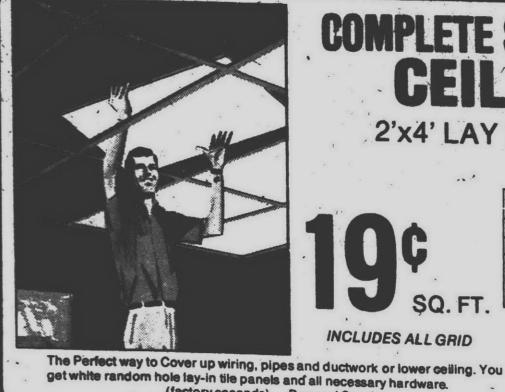

Among attending are these from the Livonia Fire Dept.: Cpt. Paul Klein. Lt. Glenn McGhee, engineers Ron Abraham and H. Dale Walley, and firefighters Eugene Henzi and Joel R. Williamson.

Others attending include: Lt. Paul Sanders of the Plymouth Fire Dept.. Sgt. John Frost of the Garden City Fire Dept., Larry M. Liedel, assistant fire detailman at the Livonia Chevrolet plant, and John Maxwell, fire inspector for the City of Farmington Dept. of Public Safety.

Purpose of the institute is to prepare fire service personnel as instructors for technical specialty courses by providing them with information on innovative teaching techniques, use of audio and visual aids, and preparation of materials.

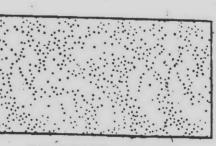

Upon completion of the course, participants may apply their earned credit toward a certificate or degree in the fire protection and occupational safety curriculum at Madonna. The institute is approved and partially funded by the Michigan Firefighters' Training Council.

running... but everybody says that. Bear with the length of this. but with most Plymouth school board members seeming like they're getting ready to run for something: all the elections are inter - related.

PLYMOUTH SCHOOL BOARD

There are three seats up for election on June 11 - those of George Lawton, Joe Gray and Tom Turner. But there could be a couple more if Fred Penar or Gary Mirto decides to run for something else and resigns a board seats.

Lawton and Gray have been rumored to be considering retiring but then rumor also has it Lawton might be eyeing something else.

Turner's plans are unknown. Among the challengers most certainly will be Marcia Borowski. who lost to Gray by 18 votes last election. Others might be Dick or Elaine Kirchgatter. Dave Trent or Carl Berry (a former board member).

It could be a wide open race. CHARTER COMMISSION

If consolidation passes in Plymouth and Plymouth Township on May 7. an election for charter commissioners would be held on July 2.

The State Boundary Commission recently ruled that candidates must have been residents since March 24, 1967 - seven years ago - so that will muddy things up plenty.

That ruling may be contested yet although some consider it academic since, they say, consolidation won't

According to state law, present city and township officials and employes can run but have to resign their current posts if elected.

This means it's unlikely they'd run. Watch for other well - known names though. Former office - holders are likely candidates - particularly with all the former city mayors we have around town.

The supervisor's race, fueled by rumors that Phil Dingeldey will retire. should be hot. Dingeldey hasn't announced his plans yet, so he's still in the running.

Challengers could be: Robert Greenstein (likely to have the endorsement of the Canton New Democratic Club), Carl Parsell (with possibly an endorsement from the Windsor Park Civic Assn.). John Flodin (currently the township clerk) and Don Korte (currently a trustee).

There are two other lurkers here both of them from the school board. Lawton and Penar are possibles although if they don't go for supervisor they might seek something else.

But then, who's certain Dingeldey will retire?

Rumored for other posts are all the incumbents up: Flodin (clerk), Grant Campbell (treasurer) and Korte and Brian Schwall (currently trustees). If they don't go after something else they'll probably seek reelection.

Challengers could be: Ellen Ruland (a clerk possibility), Robert Myers (king of the trailer courts), and a whole host of homeowner group lead-

Trustee Bob Griffin has been in very poor health and perhaps he will resign his seat before the election. Yes. The Democratic primary in Canton could be a class A brawl.

On the Republican slate - honest, there are some Republicans - look for Trustee Jim Poole to eye the supervisor's spot closely. He might throw in if the Democratic race seems a certainty for someone he doesn't like.

It, too, could be a wide - open race. Possible candidates are few, but former Supervisor Maurie Breen (or his wife Mary) could be interested. Would a former "Republican" run as a Democrat? There are lots of Democratic "Republicans" in the townsship.

Maybe there'll be some planning commission members interested.

One thing is certain: All the "possible candidates" will be watching the ·consolidation election closely.

ASSORTED OTHER RACES

Carl Pursell, Republican state senator whose district includes Plymouth and Plymouth Township, has had his district changed Democratically since his last election but no major challenger has come forward yet.

Possible challengers could be Livonia Mayor Ed McNamara or Marv Stempien (defeated by Marvin Esch for Congress last time).

At Gallimore School:

How parents help teach reading

By MARIE MGEE

CANTON - There's more to the games that kids are playing at Gallimore Elementary School than meets

One big difference is that in the long run there are no losers -- just winners. What the games are actually doing is assisting teachers in reinforcing reading skills.

The novel approach is the brainchild of Reading Consultant Mrs. Linda Clinard

To accomplish her mission, she has come up with a version of the popular TV show "Concentration" and has even modified bingo into "Wordo" and added a few originals. These include a Michigan map travel game and a battery - operated word-match game featuring "Snoopy" of Peanuts cartoon fame.

There are more to come, she prom-

The other big difference, perhaps, is that all the games available to Gallimore teachers are "mother-made" in special workshops set up by Mrs. Cli-

Using materials supplied by the school's PTO, the volunteers meet about every six weeks with Mrs. Clinard to review what stock to replenish and what new garnes to add. "Concentration (easy to make, by the way) is by far the most popular game." she laughs.

The mothers often carry their volunteer work one step further by using the games in a special tutoring program for children who need individual

Without this volunteer mother support, Mrs. Clinard feels the program rould not be nearly as successful as "They're simply great." she comments, giving a special pat on the back to Mrs. Nancy Soderholm who acts as parent volunteer coordinator.

In fact. Mrs. Clinard continues. it. was this same spirit of cooperation displayed by parents throughout the district that helped her decide to introduce the games concept at Gallimore last September.

The idea to use games to assist teachers came from a wealth of teaching experience encompassing many situations and includes two foreign country assignments.

"I've just had reams and reams of ideas from everywhere." she says enthusiastically. But the other important is made, Snoopy's nose lights up. Mrs. Sabados made the game during one of the special workshops set up by reading consultant part of implementing this type of approach, she feels, is in the sharing of knowledge with others in the field.

She says that about once a month all the reading consultants in the district get together just to talk and exchange ideas.

Out of those meetings, she says, also comes the concern that Plymouth School District parents aren't aware of the complete role reading comp sultants play in the total school pro-

"Our main job is to diagnose and prescribe, but we're involved in the total school program, not just with individual referrals," she says.

To the kids at Gallimore she is fast becoming known as an "okay-dokay" teacher. Partly because that's one of the expressions she frequently uses in introducing the games to them.

And the other is their assessment of the method she's using to help them become better readers.

Vandals damage mausoleum

PLYMOUTH - Vandals caused an estimated $1,600 in damages to the Riverside Cemetery mausoleum last

Police say a florist reported the breakin to police when he discovered the damage while delivering flowers to the mausoleum.

The vandals gained entry by breaking the southeast basement window. removing a trap door to get upstairs.

Burned paper, believed used for light, was found in three areas of the Damage on the main floor consisted of breaking the inner seal of two crypts, exposing the caskets. Police say the bodies of the interned persons were untouched. Marble seals with nameplates had been broken and thrown on the floor. A marble urn had been taken/from a wall niche and broken. Police say a two - by - four - foot oval marble - top table was stolen. There were no foot prints, tools or tool marks found at the scene, according to police.

Plymouth teacher going to England

By W. W. EDGAR

PLYMOUTH - With a twinkle in her eye, Mrs. Virginia Hunt, a teacher at the Isbister School, is counting the days to Aug. 17 in eager anticipation of a year's stay in England as an exchange instructor.

On that day she is due to leave by plane for the little town of Wallasey on the Irish Sea where she will exchange places with a Miss Thelma Cosshan, who is due to arrive in Plymouth at about the same time.

"I am all excited about the trip," Mrs. Hunt said between classes, "but I don't know how I ever am going to get the things done that I have to do.

"Not only do I have to pack my clothes to live over there for a year, but I must finish my work here in Plymouth. On top of that my son, Lynn, is getting married."

Holding the latest edition of the European tour guide, she spake like a real mother, telling how the is pre-paring several rooms of her home in Ann Arbor for the newlyweds.

"But I'll make it," she said, as she unfolded the story of the latest twist in her life.

The widow of George Hunt, who taught at the University of Michigan, she recalled that she had lived in Ashford, a little town south of London, for six months in 1965 and always has wanted to go back.

"I knew of this exchange program," she confided, "but it was dormant for several years. Then, a short time ago I read in the Health, Education and Welfare magazine that it was started again and I applied."

With a smile of satisfaction she continued, "I was accepted, despite my age (55) and I have had all my examinations. All that's left is three days of indoctrination in Washington and then I will be on my way."

Mrs. Hunt, an Ohioan by birth, has been teaching for 18 years, the last three of which were in Plymouth schools.

Her eagerness for the opportunity to teach in the little English town is the able.

result of her desire to learn more about individuality in education.

"I want to become more flexible," she explained. "I always have been of the opinion that we are too rigid over here. So, I am going over there to teach and be taught!"

On her return she hopes to continue teaching for at least another 10 years. In the meantime she is counting the days for what she calls "one of the finest experiences of my life."

Officially as yet, the Plymouth school board has not approved the teacher exchange but has tabled the matter until more details are avail-

Pilgrim Towers group seeks city underwriting

By W. W. EDGAR

PLYMOUTH - A complete study of Pilgrim Towers, the 200 unit housing project being planned on Ann Arbor Trail, is being made by the Plymouth City Commission to determine the advisability of accepting an invitation to join in underwriting the project.

The invitation was extended Monday night by James Houk, in behalf of the Pilgrim Non - Profit Housing Corp., with the hope that it would be accepted before the options expire

'Mirto is intelligent'

EDITOR:

I would like to respond to your column, "With Malice Toward None." in the March 28 newspaper.

I take issue with you concerning Gary Mirto. I believe in him and, as a citizen of this community. I am tired of hearing him twice unfairly "raked over the coals" by the Observer and Eccentric newspaper.

The first article said he engaged in a fist fight with a citizen at a board meeting when, in actuality, he had a verbal argument with the person and he was obviously provoked by the citizen in this instance.

The second is your article in "With Malice Toward None" of March 28.

This board member is very intelligent and, I believe, interested in the education of our students. I had a very important problem concerning education and he was told of it by a high official in the schools. He called me personally about it.

I see a hard working board member truly concerned with the needs of the citizens of the community.

MRS. ROBERT LEEDS Plymouth

Moceri is realistic

EDITOR:

The Observer and Eccentric has published a number of letters voicing reasons why the Moceri Shopping Center should not be built.

It appears all these reasons can be reduced to the last sentence - nay. the last two words - of Lynne Ott's letter published in your editions of Thursday. March 28.

It reads: "If Moceri wants a shopping center, as I do, let him be realistic and build it somewhere away from homes, especially mine."

There is a difference between being emotional and being realistic. Look at the Moceri site on a map and note its location in relation to present population, expected future growth and development; then note its access to main streets and expressways, not as they look today but as they will look in three to five years.

It appears to me that Mr. Moceri is the realistic one. ROBERT J. SHEFFERLY

Band deserves fund support

EDITOR:

Having just read about our Community Band going broke and also Plymouth Youth, Inc., needing financial help, I cannot understand why a senior citizen club here in Plymouth has, for the last several years, been getting $2,000 a year from our Community Fund.

The Parks and Recreation Dept. is doing wonderful things for our senior citizens, such as trips, tours and parties. Why should they be getting money when an outstanding band which has and still will do so much for Plymouth citizens and youth is in need?

Yes, I am a senior citizen belonging to another group (there are five groups) here in Plymouth and not taking money from our Community

I say, give this $2,000 where it is needed - to the Community Band so we can all enjoy the concerts in the park.

> SENIOR CITIZEN Plymouth

(Editor's Note: Name withheld by

In making his presentation. Houk informed the commission that state housing authorities were looking with favor upon the project and that it possibly would be fully funded with federal funds distributed by the state.

He also explained that there was need for money to hold the property and that is where the city could help.

In this report Houk furnished a financial statement showing that a monthly payment of $229 was needed after July 1. Under this plan the city would boligated - if the invitation is accepted -- for approximately $3,000 annually.

Commissioner John Moehle questioned the advisability of accepting the invitation inasmuch as the proposed budget wouldn't allow any additional expenditures.

A further technicality arose when it was stated that at some future time. the management of the project would have to be changed from a non - profit to a profit - making corporation.

To this end it was agreed that City

Manager Fred Yockey make a study of the project and report his findings to the commission as soon as possible.

The city has already aided the Pilgrim Towers group by picking up the options on some of the property needed for the senior citizens project.

'Manufactured logs can be dangerous,' says chief

enteres de la compacta del la compacta de la compacta del la compacta de la compa of manufactured wood firelogs replacing natural firewood, brings some safety tips from Plymouth Township Fire Chief James Gignac.

"Convenience, economy and ecology are causing more and more consumers to use manufactured wood logs. However, it is important they a real wood fire are either wasteful or read the directions on manufactured logs," the chief said.

"Like all fire products. the logs should be used carefully, requiring a break from traditional fireplace

Gignac said many things done with dangerous.

"Poking at the fire, breaking up a burning log and building too large a fire are the most serious mistakes.

"These same habits can also create potential danger when manufactured logs are being used."

One of the major causes of diffi- more than one at a time are ignited, culty consumers experience with manufactured logs is using more than one at a time or adding a firelog to an existing fire.

"Nearly all nationally distributed brands of firelogs put out as much heat as two or three hardwood logs. If an accident can occur. Adding a wax log to an existing fire may result in a flare up or an excessively hot fire." Gignac said.

Another mistake firelog users often make is poking or breaking the log

"The firelogs are made of compressed sawdust and wax. When poked, bits of burning wax may stick to the fireplace tools and drip on the carpet. Poking may also break up the log, creating a larger burning surface resulting in an intense heat flareup."

Most importantly, the chief emphasizes, follow all the directions on the firelog wrapper. For brands that have few instructions, users should consider the following list of cautions for using any manufactured log. These include:

•Start with an open damper and clean flue.

•Use the right log for the fireplace. Small logs producing lower heat are acceptable for small and free - standing fireplaces.

•Read and follow the manufacturer's instructions.

•Place the log at the back of the fireplace, preferably on a grate.

•Don't unwrap the log. • Don't overload the fireplace.

•Never break up a burning log. •Don't try to move a burning log it •Never add manufactured firelogs to an existing fire. However, a firelog or other fuel amy be added to a manufactured firelog fire after two hours. •Never leave children unattended near fire. •To extinguish in emergency. douse flames with sand, water or chemical fire extinguisher. Do not break log apart. Thistends to spread the fire. Gignac said that by paying close attention to such safety instructions. persons can take full advantage of the benefits manufactured logs provide.

Ford seeks tax reduction

U.S. Rep. William D. Ford (D-Taylor) is cosponsoring legislation to reduce the Social Security payroll tax by nearly one-third for low and middle-income taxpayers.

The reduction would be achieved by increasing the taxable wage base from $13,200 to $25,000, and by providing for a three-way split of the payroll tax among employers, employes, and the federal government.

"As now constituted, the Social Security tax is unfair and regressive," declared Ford. "It puts the greatest burden on those who can least afford it--the low and middle-income taxpayer." Ford's 15th District includes Westland, Garden City and part of Canton Township.

He explained that of the estimated 80 million Americans who will file income tax returns this year, more than half will have paid more Social Security taxes than income taxes. For example, a married couple with two children, earning $7,000, will pay a federal income tax of $406 and a Social Security tax of $409.50.

"Wage earners in the low or middle-income brackets should not be expected to carry the major load of supporting our Social Security program," Ford said. "Those in the higher brackets can and should be carrying a proportionately higher share

Reform asked for rape trials

Two women members of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners want official attitudes softened toward rape victims and statutes revised to place the burden of proof on rapists rather than their victims. A resolution urging such action on both state and local levels was introduced by Commissioners Mary Dumas (R - Liv) and Rose Mary Robinson (D - Detroit). It was referred to the board's general government committee for consideration before going on to the public safety committee.

Pointing out that incidence of rape increased 40 per cent in Wayne County in 1973 as compared with 1972, the women asked commission support of a State Senate bill which, they said, "provides a more effective means of prosecuting the rapist and more rational sentences for the offender while protecting the legal rights of the defendant." They also asked that special police social worker teams "with orientation in the problems of rape" be present to provide psychological and moral support to the victim at all stages of examination and prosecution.

Mrs. Dumas said present attitudes of police, medical examiners and courts "tend to indict the victim rather than the rapist" and cause "extreme psychological trauma and social damage" to the victim.

The Senate bill, which seeks reform in laws dealing with prosecution of rapists, is co - sponsored by Sen. Carl Pursell (R - Plymouth).

Area telephone book delivery starts today

Michigan Bell has begun distribution of its 1974 West - Northwest area telephone directories today · (Thursday).

One new directory will be dropped off at each household, says Haze Wilson, local Michigan Bell manager,

"Where a resident who isn't home requires extra books, he may request them from the company's business office," said Wilson.

Michigan Bell has been consulting in recent years with the larger businesses and industries to determine actual needs and will continue to check with these customers. "Under this policy, we've achieved significant reductions in the number of books provided to businesses and we assume we wil continue to make such savings."

The paper shortage has also caused the phone company to eliminate publication of the separate suburban white pages directories this year.

'Customers who now have copies of the suburban white pages (the East, North, West, or Downriver) are requested to keep their copies for reference until April 1975, when the next issue will be published."

Wilson adds that it will take about 10 days to complete delivery of the new area directories.

Meeting as the ways and means committee March 28, commissioners referred the crime unit's budget request to its public safety and judiciary committee for a 30 - day re-

However, because federal financing for the task force ended March 31, the commisioners approved county funds for the unit during the review period.

After the review period, said Ways and Means Committee Chairman John Barr, commissioners will decide whether to continue the task force as is, cease its operation entirely or alter its funding pattern.

Barr. (D - Dbn. Hgts.) emphasized that the task force activites will not be interrupted during the review.

"Our intention is not to automatically fund this program; neither will we automatically suspend it. We want a genuine evaluation of the effectiveness of this unit before we decide whether or not we are interested in maintaining this operation with county money.

Barr added, "Frankly , we have some reservations about the agency that we did not have at budget time. Since that time, the director of the Michigan Office of Criminal Justice Planning (OCJP) has stated publicly that his office does not intend to fund any more organized crime units because "they just haven't paid off like they were supposed to."

During budget deliberations last fall, commissioners allocated $352,000 to continue the unit April 1 - Dec. 1. 1974. but also voted to evaluate the agency before releasing the funds.

Earlier this month, County Board Chairman Robert E. FitzPatrick asked Gov. Milliken to convince federal, state, county and local officials to assess the task force.

FitzPatrick told the governor a review is necessary because of an overlap of jurisdictional and political boundaries and the allocation of finans cial reponsibility for each.

In the letter FitzPatrick referred to statements by OCJP Driector Don P. LeDuc in a newspaper interview. Le-Duc was quoted as saying:

"Three years ago I would have said the idea of organized crime task forces was great. Now I am inclined to say it just has not been a good investment for the money."

FitzPatrick said LeDuc's statement "echoes the position of the fiscal advisor of our board and a number of the members of our board."

Substance abuse council asks for aid

The Substance Abuse Services Advisory Council of Wayne County is seeking volunteers to serve on working task forces.

The advisory council was recently established under provision of state law to aid in the development of a comprehensive plan for providing substance abuse (drugs including alcohol) services to Wayne County.

Its purpose is also to make recommendations to state and local officials on designation of a local coordinating agency to administer state and federal funds allocated for substance abuse programs.

The advisory council has created task forces in the following areas: criminal justice process: pharmacies, laboratories and hospitals; youth services and juveniles; licensing; education and training; finance; technical assistance; research, data systems and evaluation; treatment modalities; supportive services; after care; and administration and coordi-

Shepherd is urging regional clout against water pollution

By TIM RICHARD

To the marr on the street. "208" is just another obscure paragraph in another complicated act of Congress.

To SEMCOG: the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments. "208" means a chance to back up its six-county plans with real regulatory powers and be of greater service to member local governments.

to decide whether SEMCOG and 13 grants. other regional agencies in Michigan get that 208 designation.

The number refers to the paragraph of the 1972 federal water pollution control amendments that would give areawide agencies certain regulatory powers. David Shepherd. Oak Park mayor and a SEMCOG vice chairman, is in Washington this week serving on an Environmental Protection Agency advisory committee to set up guidelines for areawide

Shepherd told Observer & Eccentric Newspapers he is confident Milliken will give SEMCOG powers under Paragraph 208 by mid-year

Michael Glusac. SEMCOG executive director. last week outlined what 208 designation could mean to water pollution controls. "The content of a 208 plan," he said, "must include...the establishment of a regulatory program · Provide area wide control or treatment of all point and non-point sources of pollution.

· Regulate the location. modification and construction of any facilities which may result in any dis-

· Assume that any industrial or commercial wastes discharged into any publicly owned treatment works meet applicable. pre-treatment. requirements.

Last year, the state Water Resources Commission staff opposed SEMCOG's bid to be a 208 agency. Glusac said, but later information has shown such state agencies as the It's all up to Gov. William Milliken WRC to be ineligible for 208 planning

Why should SEMCOG be a 208 agency? Shepherd gave two answers:

"First, it's the only agency involved in comprehensive planning. We're doing housing planning, open space planning, and water and sewer planning." If SEMCOG didn't get the area designation, its plans might be in conflict with the agency that is designated.

"Second, this would make local units more involved in water quality management. SEMCOG would get an unanswered questions.

additional way to be a better tool of local governments." said Shepherd.

There could, however, be a monetary problem. Glusac and Shepherd pointed out. The federal government will fund 100 per cent of the program the first two years but only 75 per cent thereafter. Thus, a 25 per cent , commitment thereafter is strongly implied.

How much this would be and how SEMCOG might get the money were

Smit criticizes voting reform.

State Rep. Raymond Smit (R - Ann Arbor), whose district includes Plymouth and Plymouth Township. has criticized the majority of the members of the House Policy Committee for reporting out what he called "an extremely watered - down version" of campaign reform legisla-

Smit said the committee substitute to the senate reform bill (SB 1016) "represents a step backward in bringing about strong, meaningful campaign reform and is totally unaccep-

The committee substitute exempts contributions of less than $25 from reporting while a present state law requires the reporting of all monetary contributions regardless of size. Smit said.

Smit also noted that there is no provision in the bill for the reporting of contributions in the form of donated automobiles or office space which, would permit thousands of dollars in donated goods and services to escape public reporting.

"At a time when the public is demanding full and complete disclosure. the majority party in the House seems determined to enact legislation which would make it possible for candidates to release even less information than they are required to release under present law." Smit said.

Esch fighting additional defense funds

Congressman Marvin Esch (R - Ann Arbor) is joining others in opposing a U.S. Defense Dept. request for an additional $474 million year which ends

Last year. Congress voted a $1.1 billion spending ceiling on military aid to South Vietnam. Since then, however, the Pentagon has asked for $474 million more for military aid to South Vietnam - which is the exact amount by which Congress had previously reduced the pentagon's request.

Esch, whose 2nd District includes Livonia and Plymouth, is joining a number of Congressmen sponsoring an amendment to delete the $474 million supplemental request. A similar amendment is being sponsored in the Senate by senators Edward Kennedy and Barry Goldwater.

"It has been more than a year since the last American combat soldiers were withdrawn from South Vietnam." comments Esch. "But the U.S. continues to spend an enormous amount for military aid to the South Vietnamese and now the pentagon is asking us to spend even more.

"I believe the congressional intent to live within the $1.1 billion ceiling must be respected. When Congress establishes a spending level for an agency, including the Dept. of Defense, we expect that agency to stay within its budget.

Unemployment pay extension asked by Esch

Thursday, April 4, 1974

Congressman Marvin Esch has proposed legislation to extend unemployment insurance benefits for an additional 13 weeks in an effort to relieve Michigan's unemployment problem. "The unemployment rate, which reached over 10 per cent in Michigan last month, is totally unacceptable," says Esch (R - Ann Arbor) whose 2nd District includes Livonia and Plymouth. "Unless Congress immediately assumes its responsibility. thousands of Michigan workers will be left without any compensation."

Combined with the 26 weeks of unemployment benefits provided under the Michigan program and the 13 weeks under the state - federal emergency program, the 13 week extension proposed for federal funding by Esch would allocate a total of 52 weeks of compensation for the jobless.

"Already, because of the job shortage, thousands aren't eligible for benefits and have exhausted the benefits under the regular program." Esch adds. He estimates at least 300,000 unemployed Michigan workers could be eligible for benefits under the Special Unemployment Compensation Act of 1974.

An extension of unemployment benefits was proposed by Congress in the Emergency Energy Act, but that bill was vetoed by President Nixon. In February, the administration then proposed legislation similar to the Esch bill but congressional action wasn't taken.

Under the Esch bill, the 13 week extension would be funded in designated labor areas where the rate of uninsured unemployment equals or exceeds 4.5 per cent. Esch says there are six designated labor market areas in Michigan and at least 65 in the U.S. FitzPatrick asks

GLORIA STEINEM Ms. Steinem backing woman against Esch

Gloria Steinem, editor of "Ms." magazine, will speak in Ann Arbor April 8 at a benefit for Marjorie Lansing, the only woman candidate thus far announced for the 2nd Congressional District seat currently held by Marvin Esch (R - Ann Arbor).

At the benefit, presented by "Students for Lansing." Ms. Steinem will be duscussing the impact of women on 1974 political races. Her appearance will be part of the kickoff event for Mrs. Lansing's congressional campaign.

Tickets for the benefit, which begins at 8 p.m. in the Power Performing Arts Center, are $2.50 and may be obtained from Mrs. Lansing's campaign headquarters at 1825 Geddes Ave. 'in

Auto sales slump: Permanent or 3-year cycle?

One out of every seven jobs in America is somehow connected with the car, truck and highway industrial complex.

In the suburbs, it must be more like one out of two, whether it's the top executives in Bloomfield Hills and Birmingham or the middle management in Farmington and Livonia or the guys who work on the line in Garden City and Westland. When the auto industry gets a slight cold, we all suffer pneumonia.

These days the industry has more than a slight cold; even the national manazines have pictures of Henry Ford II on the cover and long. thumb-sucking articles inside about just how bad it is in Detroit.

LOCAL EXAMPLES flesh out the national picture:

•A guy who has a car leasing business in the area bought, late last year. 15 Mark IIIs to catch the spring leasing season. Last I heard, he had 14 of them sitting on his lot, and every time his banker drives by he bows slightly from the waist. • For the past two or three years, many workingmen in the area were pulling down great money working 10 or 20 hours overtime on the line. Now there's no more overtime, and the big fear is that the supplemental unemployment benefit fund may run out this summer, with so many men laid off. And there are payments still to be made on the second snowmobile

• It costs auto dealers an average of $50 per month financing charges to keep a new car on the . Observation

by PHILIP II. POWER

lot, and most dealers can't get enough of the small cars that people want to buy to keep their cash flow up. Your local dealer, as a result, is very friendly these days.

Before we all start getting panicky, it might be worth while to reflect that Detroit and the automobile industry have been on something very like a three-year business cycle for some time.

We all remember how bad things were around here in late 1969 and 1970. And 1966-67 were no bedda roses, either.

It seems that the auto industry enjoys tremendous sales success for two to three year periods; then either the buyers get satiated for a time with the new models, or the national economy cools off and everybody defers buying a car for a year or so.

THE REAL QUESTION is whether our current troubles are just another turn of the three-year business cycle or the reflection of something much more basic.

It's easy to support the latter view.

Gasoline is both expensive and scarce just now; in the foreseeable future, it's likely to be merely much more expensive. It looks as though the public is going to chuck the big cars on which companies like General Motors made such big profit margins in favor of smaller, more economical models, which have kept American Motors alive but not wildly profitable. Mass transit is going to get a lot of emphasis for the next 20 years, and this will in itself reduce demand for cars.

Indeed, it may be that the marketing magic that sustained the auto industry for 40 years that people could be sold cars on the notion that the kind of car they bought was an expression of their total personality - may be fading.

To market an automobile these days may be the equivalent of marketing an appliance such as a washing machine or vacuum cleaner; what matters is not the status a certain model casts on its owner, but rather whether the machine does the job economically without breaking down.

POWERFUL AS the end-of-the-industry argument is, I can't buy it.

The pattern of American society - at least for the next 20 years or so - has already been set. It will be largely suburban, with widely spread single-family housing units. Accordingly, it will be dependent for transportation on individual vehicles, i.e. cars of some sort. Mass transit will help people go back and forth from the suburbs to the center cities, but mass transit does not at present offer a solution for getting people about once they are through with the ride.

Gas no doubt will be more expensive. But that doesn't mean people won't use any gas; they'll buy cars that use less. The auto industry is working on models that average 20 miles per gallon for the big cars and 30 miles per gallon for the

Indeed, one of the interesting elements of our present crisis is that people are buying cars in great numbers, but cars of a specific type: small with good gas mileage. The industry's present problem is that its marketing assumption - that status and image were the most important elements in a buyer's mind - was proven incorrect very, very quickly once the gas shortage oc-

This does not mean that the automobile industry will never regain its health. I have too much respect for the depth of management and collective brain power of the industry to think

Rather, I suspect that after the initial shock is over, the industry will discover a more sensible marketing technique than status transference. and that all owners of cars chewing up less than 10 miles per gallon will be willing customers of the new, 'low-mileage models.

In fact, 1975 ought to be one heck of a year, for the auto industry and the suburbs which depend so highly on it.

We'll survive streaking

Poor way to pay for streets

Now it's spring again, and as usual there's always something new and interesting to keep folks in a dither.

Area police departments always dread the thought of the start of spring since it brings with it all of the things that seem to break out with the exodus of snow and the coming of warm weather.

They hate the thought of spring for with it come the usual appearances of rapists, child molestors and worse of all those individuals who expose themselves to youngsters. Police authorities know that from now until perhaps the end of May they'll be swamped with numerous calls of the above nature. It has been going on for years and undoubtedly will continue for many more. There are the usual number of arrests, the usual number of persons ordered under psychiatric care and the usual number ordered to jail . then spring ends and this type of crime gradually fades into nothing.

So it is with a great deal of interest and quite a bit of smirking that we look at the epidemic of "streaking" that seems to have cropped out all over the place with the advent of spring. There have been incidents in Plymouth, Farmington, Livonia, Southfield, Garden City and Westland at practically every large gathering in the ded that particular event.

done."

The question is asked, "Just what do the streakers think they are accomplishing?" The answer is nothing but getting some public exposure as they expose themselves publicly.

It is long overdue for municipalities to rethink how to finance road improvements. The only reason which seems to remain for special assessments is "that's the way it has always been through special assessment is that the person who "benefits" from the improvement pays the fare.

That is, the homeowner who lives on the street which has been selected to be paved will have the benefit of driving on a new, smooth pavement and Special assessment taxation, however, is regressive, inequitable and fallacious. Furthermore, it is economically inefficient because it draws in-could draw income (taxes) from many by financing road improvements through the general fund.

The reason for financing paving projects

R. T. Thompson writes

However, most folks we have talked to about the "streaking" put it in the same class as other events that cropped out in the spring over the past decade or two.

Remember when it was a popular spring pastime to swallow live goldfish? And do you remember the attention it received after the first two or three incidents?

Remember when it was one of those spring things to see how many young men could be jammed into a 'phone booth? What did it accomplish? Actually nothing.

Do you recall the days on the college campuses in the spring when gangs of men students supposedly raided the girls' dormitories for panties and bras? If the truth be told, the raids didn't bother the girls at all; they even helped by passing panties and bras out of the windows while screaming loudly.

Then only a few years back, girls everywhere - in college, high school or on jobs -- started wearing hot pants and mini-skirts almost before the last snows had disappeared.

We have lived through all of these spring fantasies and we'll live through "streaking" ... after all, what leads the "streakers" to believe they have anything more to show than the disgusted folks who watch their antics?

Emory Daniels Writes

ber of reasons, but an easy one to understand is the practice of "assessing" (taxing) on a per foot basis — that is, to charge X dollars for each linear foot which runs parallel to the roadway to be paved. The per foot assessment completely overlooks the total size of the lot. Homeowner A, for instance, with a 60 by 100 foot lot might be assessed $1,200 ($20 per foot).

Homeowner B with a 50 by 200 foot lot would be assessed $1,000. Thus, Homeowner B has 60 per cent more land but is taxed $200 less. For general fund purposes though, Homeowner B would be taxed more assuming toe buildings on both lots

Finally, let's look at the fallacy that those who benefit should pay. A road improvement (by definition) will raise the value of the property - generating more revenue for the general fund. But the city, which benefits with more revenue, isn't a party to the special assessment. And finally, the guy who owns a vacant lot and drives on the street only once a year to mow weeds will pay as much as the homeowner who uses the street are of equal value.

DON'T LOOK SO GLUM, THERE'LL BE OTHER 'TEEN QUEEN' CONTESTS!"

Way back when

If spring is here, can teacher contract negotiations be far behind?

The questions of class size, vacations, tenure, wages and the like will shortly make their way onto the front pages of newspapers, and the public will sit back not really knowing what is going on. The issues seem the same every year, but they're really not when you compare contracts

I ran across a copy of a contract that teachers agreed to in 1923, just a little over 40 years

THE SALARY was less than $100 a month, but here are the points a school marm agreed to 1. Not to get married. (The contract was null and void immediately if the teacher married.) 2. Not to keep company with men. 3. Be home between the hours of 8 p.m. and 6 a.m. unless at a school function. Not to loiter downtown in ice cream shops. 5. Not to leave town at any time without permission of the chairman of the board. 6. Not to smoke cigarettes. (The contract was null and void immediately if the teacher were found smoking.) 7. Not to drink beer, wine or whiskey. (The contract was null and void immediately if the teacher were found drinking.) 8. Not to get in a carriage or automobile with any man, except her father or brother.

9. Not to dress in bright colors.

10. Not to dye her hair.

11. Wear at least two petticoats.

12. Not to wear dresses more than two inches

13. Keep the schoolroom neat and clean. (a) Sweep the floor at least once daily. (b) Scrub the floor at least once weekly with hot water and soap. (c) Clean the blackboards at least once daily. (d) Start the fire at 7 a.m. so the room will be warm by 8 a.m.

After reading the list one wonders if the present-day school marm could survive without violating most of the items on the list frequently.
Will the 1974 contracts seem as ridiculous 40 years from now?

Tim Richard writes

A throwback to old, old, old, old days

Hark! ye nostalgia fans, and get ready for the longest trip of all — not just to the roaring '20s or the gay '90s or even the Civil War. The subdivision groups in Livonia and the Jaycees in neighboring communities are about to take us all the way back to 13th century Britain, ancient Greece and Egypt.

The ritual is variously labeled a "teen queen" contest or a "junior miss" pageant, events that come swirling down to us today little touched from they way they were conducted in antiquity.

There is, to be sure, some controversy about these contests. Sylvia D. Vukmirovich of the Schoolcraft National Organization of Women chapter and Human Rights partisan Jeaneane Havstad have fired erudite salvos at the fetes, and their dissents seem to boil down to two basic

(1) The contests are "sexist" because they exclude males; (2) the contests emphasize no modern, practical virtues such as who can bake the best cake, bicycle a kilometer the fastest or solve an algebra problem; rather, the criteria are "poise, personality and appearance" - a glorified

They seem to fear our sophisticated suburban institutions are turning into tools of the "meat pa-

There's another way of looking at it, and so we nostalgia buffs turn to Lord Raglan (1885 - 1964), the English author and anthropologist, and his illuminating volume, "The Hero: A Study in Tradition, Myth and Drama." His descriptions of ancient pagan festivals are amazingly like the teen queen pageants of suburbia.

It seems the agricultural civilizations along the Nile and Euphrates annually selected a ritual monarch whose duty was to assure good floods. fertility of women and animals, success in war and other useful social goals. Each spring the monarch was (hrrumph!) replaced.

The rural English, Scots and French up to medieval times picked a May king and queen for their festivals. Says Lord Raglan: "We should expect a pagan festival to be associated with a pagan deity, and we should not be disappointed. We have in Robin Hood a deity particularly associated with spring and vegetation. He was the King of May, and Maid Marian was the Queen of Children, he adds later, rarely appear in pagan rituals except for a single child at birth or about the age of puberty.

In Babylon and early Italy, images of a fertility god were paraded around the village in a cart. "The image of the god Frey seems to have taken an annual tour round Sweden, conferring fertility wherever it went. It was accompanied by a priestess called 'Frey's wife.' "

And what do we find in today's teen queen contest? We find girls in the seventh, eighth and ninth grades (ages 12 - 15, approximately) competing for a royal title; the final contest will be conducted in May, and the winner will appear in the Memorial Day parade. The chief difference is that the ritual slaughter a year later has, happily, been eliminated.

And so, after 57 centuries of Judaism, 20 of Christianity and two of republican democracy, we find our suburbs still ritually selecting the prettiest and purest to be the queen of May in a ceremony that is simultaneously pagan and aristocrat-

Now THAT is what I call true nostalgia. I fully support such activities. Look for me along the parade route - I'll be selling oak charms at the Druid booth.

Area athletics loses a friend

The Observer Eccentric

BY TOM DONOGHUE Sports Editor

"I want to make it right for the

This was Athletic Director Walt Cosens' No. 1 quote at Livonia's Franklin High - a sincere statement that will never again be echoed in the halls around Patriot territory.

The "Year of the Patriot" received its most shocking blow.

The 49 - year - old Cosens died of a heart attack Tuesday afternoon in his "second home" - the Franklin High gym, while playing a game of paddle-ball. It was 2:45 p.m. Tuesday in the Franklin gym and Cosens was out challenging the coaching staff to a round or two of paddle - ball

"I was in the coach's office helping tape up some of the kids on the track team," said Franklin football coach George Lovich. "Walt came in and it was out to the floor for a paddle - ball game. The winner of our match was to play the wrestling coach Torn Tucker. Walt beat me and I went back in the office and returned to the floor about 3 p.m.

"Just as I walked back into the gym. Walt fell to the floor.

"A group of us rushed to him. His left arm shuddered and I immediately started mouth - to - mouth resusitation. It didn't look good."

The emergency squad arrived some six minutes later. The Franklin gym, which then contained the baseball and track teams was in shock.

By 3:20. the Franklin atheltic director was en route to St. Mary Hospital but it was too late as it was reported later that Walt Cosens had died almost immedialely of a massive heart

Franklin High lost more than an athletic director.

"He was like a father to us." said Lovich."He always said that all he ever wanted to do was to make it right for the kids and he really meant

"Walt created an atmosphere. There just can't be two guys like Walt was born on June 20, 1924 and graduated from Harbor Springs High School in '42 - a football and baseball player. Cosens then went on to Central Michigan University where he played basketball and football three years and graduated with a bachlors degree in June 1950.

ball with Walt at Central Michigan.

"Walt could relate to anything or anybody. At college, he was the first one on the field and the last one off. He lived for athletics and for what they stand for."

The break between high school and college saw Walt serve as a hospital corpsman from '42 to '46. After earning his BA in June of '50 from Central. Walt eventually got his masters from University of Michigan in 1959.

Cosens' first teaching assignment was at Garden City High School in 1950 as physical education instructor. He was head football coach there for six years and assistant baseball and basketball coach for two years along with being athletic director for four years before leaving in September of

It was then on to Riley Junior High and to Bentley High in '60.

The year 1962 saw Walt make the move to first year school Franklin. Walt was then destined to be head track coach for four years, assistant football coach for eight years and athletic director since the fall of '68.

"We have lost a man we loved," said Franklin girls' coach Diane Corbit."He was more than just an athletic director to the staff. He was a friend to all. I guess it is sort of ironic that in his second home - the gym."

Franklin basketball coach Bob Visser immediately canceled his awards banquet set for the same night.

"I just don't think we will be able hold a banquet now," said Visser. "Things just won't be the same and the things I was going to say about the team and Walt, well, I don't really feel I could host a banquet now.

"It was a real shock, no one will ever fill his space. "Walt had been the happiest guy this year - "The Year of the Patriot. He was the man behind everything. He was throwing pizza parties for the kids after the games - he was like a father to the entire school."

Patriot baseball coach Ron Hellier made the comment that Cosens gave it nothing but a 100 per cent all the "Walt and I played opposite offen-

"Walt was the man behind the scenes in every tournament we held.

"It was Walt who came out and helped me build a baseball diamond from nothing. And even before games, he would be out there lining the diamond and, hey, you never saw Walt without a smile.

"The kids have really taken this thing bad. Heck, the cheerleaders used to make him a pie before every basketball game. The kids knew how he put out for them and they aimed to treat him right.

"My baseball team captains have asked now if they can dedicate the season to Mr. Cosens, wearing black armbands and all.

"It is really hard to believe. Here I am joking with Walt at lunch and he is kidding me about selling box seats behind my bench so that he could razz me about my decisions, and now he is

"Things will never be the same around Franklin High." said Arma Vigna, assistant football coach."Walt was the reason our coaching staff felt like a closly knit family."

Franklin High Principal Dale Coller said,"I really have to believe that most of the coaches called Walt 'Dad' dy', if not in words, I know they felt Walt is survived by his wife Helen, an elementary school teacher in Plymouth; his son Walter Jr., a seventh grader at Frost Junior High; his daughter Cindy, a senior at Livonia Bentley High; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Cosens; two brothers. Dewey Jr. and Norman, and a sister, Beverly Kosequat.

The body will lie in state tonight (Thursday) at the Harris Funeral Home, 15451 Five Mile Rd., in Livonia, until 9 p.m. There will be memorial services in the Franklin High gym tomorrow (Friday) from 8:45 a.m. to 9:45 a.m. Then will come the journey back to his home town, Harbor Springs, where he will be buried Saturday.

THIS SMILE OF FRANKLIN'S WALT COSENS will not be seen around Patriot territory any more. The Franklin athletic director died Tuesday afternoon in the school gym of a heart attack.(Staff

"Hey, Bentley is in mid-season form," commented Churchill Coach Fred Price after the meet. They are already a step ahead of last year."

Bentley's clocking of 1:32.0 in the 880 relay fell just a few notches shy of the best time in the entire area last year. Southfield Lathrup was No. 1 on that chart with a tim5 of 1:31.6 and Bentley sported a top time of 1:32.2.

ALWAYS THERE TO CHEER HIS ATHLETES ON was Franklin's Walt Cosens -a "father" to almost everyone around Patriot

It was the foursome of Bill Brown (:24.0), Dan Tabaczynski(:23.6), Darrel Ditzhazy(:22.1) and Brian Murphy(:22.1) that came up with the 1:32.0 while Churchill was disqualified for dropping the baton at the second

Bentley's times of 1:57.7 in the 880 run and :51.9 in the 440 also showed that the Bulldogs could be a club to contend with this weekend in the Spartan Relays held at Michigan State University

It wasn't an all Bulldog show as the Churchill Chargers, who held a 57 - 47 lead heading into the final three events, broke three school records.

Junior Bill Reardon came up with a shot put toss of 51 feet to better the school and his own mark of 48 - feet -1 set last season.

Bob Mendoza snapped a school mark of :15.3 in the high hurdles with a Churchill time of :15.1 and the third Charger record wound up being only good enough for a second place.

Mendoza clocked in at :22.7 in the 220 yard dash to break the school mark of :22.9 but Bentley's Brian Murphy hit the tape before Mendoza

"You know, the night before the meet I figured the score to be 63 - 60 but us on top," added Price."We should have won that 440 relay. But when you lose all three relays, it is tough to win anything."

Other individual winners for Bentley were Bill Brown in the long jump, Steve Spreitzer in the 880 run, Chuck Kovach in the mile , Spreitzer again in the 400 and Murphy in both the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Results:

A letter says it all--

At the completion of Franklin High's highly successful basketball campaign, the entire Patriot coaching staff got together to draft up a letter to be published in the Observer & Eccentric concerning the No. 1 man behind the "Year of the Patriot."

This letter was never formally completed but now, two days after the death of the one it was to praise, the rough draft has taken on a different meaning.

The letter was to have been signed by the Franklin coaching staff, teachers, students, officials, administrators and friends and then presented to Athletic Director Walter Lee Cosens. The letter will never be signed now in ink but just in the heart. The following is the rough draft that was addressed to Sports Editor Tom Donoghue: "As is usually the case, some people who are very responsible for the good things that happen in our school are most often not given credit or recognition for their hard work. "They always seem to work in the background and are very content and happy when the participants are getting some value out of their endeavors. We are speaking of the athletic directors at high school level. "We are sure that most of the schools feel the same way about their athletic directors (and we know of many excellent ones), but this letter is about one special one. A couple of newspapers have referred to this year as the 'Year of the Patriot.' The one person most responsible for this is our athletic director, Walter Cosens. "You would have to work with this pillar of a man to see that he is truly concerned about the student. Everyone from the coaching staff, cheerleaders, players, teachers, custodians. officals, Booster Club members down to fans appreciate this "His efficiency is only surpassed by his own physical work.

"The day of a football game he will be there early. hining the field. Before the basketball tournament, he was putting up the extra bleachers and with the help of the baseball coach, he built a varsity diamond so that his kids could have a 'home'

"He literally put in the girls' volleyball court this past winter and treated all groups fairly and his integrity was above ques-

"It would take many pages for us to explain all that this man has done for us at Franklin. The administration, faculty, and students truly admire and respect him. He exemplifies the word 'Patriot'. He is our AD of the Year."

Walt Cosens never got the opportunity to see this letter but he did see everything he stood for become a reality at Franklin High in the 'Year of the Patriot.'

Glenn sparkles in relays

Westland John Glenn came up with the top area showing in the 20th running of the Huron Relays at Eastern Coach Barry Basel's Rockets took a second in the pole vault, fifth in the shot put and a sixth in the mile to score 14 points, good enough for 12th place in the 90 school meet.

Pontiac Central won with 43 points followed by Ann Arbor Pioneer with Farmington High picked up eight points on the legs of senior All-Stater clocking of 4:24.7. Mike McGuire. The Falcon runner clocked in at 9:18.6 in the two mile run for a meet record.

Other area schools that placed were Bishop Borgess, Redford Union, Thurston and Garden City West.

Glenn was headed by the second place showing of Wes Teeple who vaulted 13-feet-9. Wayne Clemens cap-

Steve Strauch's Borgess crew tied for 23rd place with nine points. The two mile relay foursome of Junior John Moxlow and seniors Steve Legel, Mark Oller and Ken Yates clocked in at 8:20, good enough for fourth place.

Junior shot-putter Steve Jaremski took sixth with a toss of 50-feet-8 and tured a fifth place for Glenn with a Junior Sandy Caruana came up with put of 51-feet-8 inches and Dave Kirst an impressive showing in the 60 yard ran sixth in the final mile heat with a dash with :06.7.

Bentley Bulldogs are the ones to give Dearborn a Sub 8 run

By TOM DONOGHUE

"Dearborn has to be the team to beat, Bentley could give it a shot but the rest of us will be scrambling," commented Redford Union baseball Coach Bob Atkins on the fast approaching Suburban Eight baseball

RU, which finished second best in the Sub Eight Last year and No. 1 in the area the past two seasons, will be of a different lot this year.

"We graduated a complete team." said Atkins whose club finished 9-4 in the league and 23-9 overall in '73.

Over in Bulldog Country, Marty Klozik's Bentley team is hoping to bounce back from a 4-8 loop showing and 6-10 overall record.

Klozik has back two honorable mention league players in Bob Basilewski and Dave Waldock. His squad could be the only one in the Sub Eight that could keep Dearborn from making the 1974 season into a walkaway.

"Dearborn has to be the favored club," added Sparkman. "They lost only one starter by graduation and had one heck of a summer program going for them."

Dearborn lost only the services of a catcher but Atkins from RU sees no one going undefeated in the league.

"Since I have been in this league no team has gone unbeaten," he said ."A 10-4 will almost always get you a will take it all."

His RU club ran off a 9-4 mark last year but it wasn't enough to overtake a club they beat twice in Edsel Ford which won it with an 11-2 showing.

The RU Panthers have reeled off a 45-15 mark the last two years and in Atkin's 12 seasons behind the main whistle, RU has copped six league ti-

But this season could be a long one for the Panthers as they have returning just one starter in No. 2 pitcher Tom Miller.

"Seven kids off last year's squad are now playing college or pro ball," said Atkins."This has to be the most we have out at one time."

From past RU clubs, Atkins has Bill Fahey, a catcher with the the Texas Rangers and Dale Bjerke now with the Boston Red Soxs organization.

Atkins' '73 crop has pitcher Tom Nippa hurling for Mott Community College; infielders Mark Yourchock and Steve Friedman in uniform at the University of Detroit; Ron Campbell playing ball at Ferris; Mike Kalil and Gary Fulks at Dearborn Henry Ford and catcher Glenn Richmond already in the Minnesota Twins baseball orga-

Third base slot features a battle between juniors Greg Wood and Bob Miller. Senior Ted Musto, whom Atkins worked with in the summer programs, will be the No. 1 catcher. The outfield is a current toss up between senior Bill Campbell, junior Bob Bushart and senior Bob Iqual.

Joing Miller and Hiller on the RU mound should be sophomore righthander Ted Ackerman.

Pitching should be the one plus along with coaching for RU while inpiece of the title, and an 11-3 mark experience will be the main negative

Bentley, which should be a contender, in the loop, sports three returning starters in Wasilewski, Waldock and righthander Dan Vezina.

Vezina, at 5-foot-10 and 160 pounds will be the key to the Bulldog pitching. Waldock, one of the top hitters in the area last season, is still a question mark as he is coming off a knee operation from an injury received in the football campaign.

The Bulldog infield will feature speed at first base in Tom Schultz, with hockey player Glen Stevens at second base. Shortstop is a battle for Klozik with Ernie Storm and Bob. Cross in contention. Cross has been tabbed team leader by Klozik and it appears that junior Storm will switch to the outfield.

"Defensively we will be a good ball club," said Klozik. "We have some energetic hitters and will even have batgirls this year."

Plymouth Salem's '74 baseball story is fast developing into a real challenge for Sparkman's Rocks who finished fourth in the league last year. A total of seven seniors and 11 juniors make up his roster which should develop into one of the contenders come the '75 season. "This will be my youngest team ever," he said. "Attitude is our one plus factor. The kids are eager to

"We don't have a lot of raw baseball talent, but we may fool some people in our yearning to learn."

Two starters back in Sparkman's lineup are first and third baseman Jeff Waller and Junior hurler - outfielder Tom Willette.

Has Just One Starter Back

Other returning lettermen, of which Sparkman has already cut three, Don Bidwel at shortstop and Mark Stephens behind the plate fit the bill, Senior John Chiatallas is another returning question mark.

Darry Hamlin, Dan Moore, Doug Tripp and Darrel Rowe are in the battle for the outfield slots.

The infield berths show Senior John Major, Juniort Kurt Brannock and Junior Brian Murphy in contention with Junior Tom Davison out for first

"Anyone who is out for shortstop or second base is also out for third base as well on this club," added Sparkman. "I have everyone playing about two or three positions."

Junior Vern Nagel will be back-up catcher for Stephens and the Rock pitching staff will be rounded out by righthanders Bill Denhouter and Doug Ward and lefthander Chuck Thomas. Jeff Thompson is a real question mark now in Sparkman's pitching "Attitude will have to be our key," added the Salem coach. "We are just going to have to prove ourselves. We didn't last year as we hit a .212 over-

All signs point to Dearborn holding the Suburban Eight driver's seat with Bentley the club picked to give the Pioneers a real test.

The rest looks like a scramble between Belleville, Trenton, Redford Union, Plymouth Salem, Edsel Ford and Allen Park.

Things are picking up on the Michigan, racing front with the trotters having their first million dollar night at Hazel Park Saturday and the DRC showing a substantial gain in attendance and handle on Monday when it reverted to the old familiar 3:30 p.m. post time.

Saturday was one of those unusual days and nights when both the runners and the trotters passed the million dollar mark ... the runners had $1.010,000 in the afternoon and the standardbreds came back with $1,036,000 in the evening.

There'll be plenty of million dollar Saturdays at Hazel Park during the remainder of its 82 - night meeting. A bit of simple arithmetic provides some of the answer and good racing and excellent horses provides the re-

If one would add the Saturday night handle of the recent Northville Downs meeting to the same Saturday at Windsor, the total would be over a million. This happened Saturday after Saturday and now all of the action in the evening is at one place. Hazel

We aren't saying that the same thing would happen if the only game in operation was at Northville Downs but we do infer that it will happen at Hazel Park and Wolverine Raceway when they have the nights to them-

Just about the same time the Detroit Racing Association decided it would abandon the early post time experiment, it received a bit of a slap on the kisser when it was learned champion jockey Larry Snyder would not return to the Detroit area this

Snyder, who has been campaigning at Oaklawn Park in Hot Springs. Ark.. let it be known he planned to campaign in Chicago this summer. Larry dominated the jockey races at Hazel Park and the DRC last year. shattering all records for victories at the latter plant.

However, the loss of a star jockey isn't going to make or break a meeting. As has been proven in the past there always is a youngster coming up who catches the fancy of the bettors.

Remember the days when L. C. Cook, Tommy Barrow, Ken Church and the likes were the favorites? None is around anymore and we haven't noticed any fans moaning and groaning at the bar. The same thing will happen with Snyder, the darling of 1973 will be forgotten in 1974 and there won't be any sudden rise in the suicide rate

From Pompano Park in Florida come stories that Ted Taylor, lotig a favorite of area harness racing enthusiasts, is rewriting the record books. Ted recently passed the 69 victory mark to shatter the existing standard and still has three weeks remaining of the meeting.

Western Suburban Open-Softball loop announces card

The eight clubs have been selected and time is drawing near for the opening weekend of the Western Suburban softball league.

Play is slated to kick off on Sunday. April 28, with the loop schedule of 112 games slated for the Thompson Memorial Pield on Six Mile Road, near Beck in Northville.

The eight teams are Canton Merchants. Jock Shop of Ypsilanti. Big 3 Collision. Hart Precision. Berry's. Kerns and Wolverine, Plymouth Street and Len's Dry Wall.

The combination of Taylor and Owner Earl Forsyth, of Birmingham, stole the show a week ago. Taylor drove Worthy Dean. a five - year - old son of Florican, to a season trotting

Then he came back with Bret's Triumph, a three - year - old Bret Hanover colt. to guide it to its first victory of the year in 2:02.4 with a :59.4 clocking in the second half.

Dick Wilson, general manager and vice president of the Wolverine Raceway operations, was recently re-elected treasurer of the Harness Tracks of America at its annual meeting in Mexico City. -

Don MacFarlane, president of Hazel Park Raceway, was renamed chairman of the board.

The trotters and pacers will return to Jackson Raceway at the Jackson Fairgrounds next Friday for a 63 night meeting ... and believe it or not President and General Manager Leon A. Slavin will be on hand.

Slavin, who has been recuperating in Florida from an ailment picked up during the winter meeting at Northville Downs and generally from fatigue, told Controller and Local Manager Bob Mathias that he would be present a few days before the start of the meeting. Knowing Leon we predict he'll arrive on schedule.

For Slavin, Jackson's spring season marks the beginning of a second quarter century in the business. He celebrated his silver anniversary last

Salem's cage squad honored at banquet

By FRED DELANO

PLYMOUTH - Bruce Johnson, Eric Agardy. Dan Moore and Jeff Ziel were recipients of special awards at a banquet Monday honoring Plymouth Salem High School's championship basketball team.

Coach Fred Thomann of the Suburban Eight and district titlists announced that by a vote of the players Team Captain Johnson had been selected as the squad's most valuable player, while Agardy and Moore were judged to have shown the greatest improvement from the beginning to the end of the season.

"The most serious governmental problem in the United States today isn't race relations, crime, pollution. or transportation." Michigan Lt. Governor James Brickley told students at the University of Michigan-Dearborn recently. "but an institutional crisis in government." Brickley, serving as guest lecturer in an undergraduate course in urban affairs, cited a "lack of accountability" as the cause for much of the present chaos in government, especially on the metropolitan level.

"The crisis in government is worst on the local level, where most vital daily services are supposed to be performed. At the moment there is no one public officials we can hold responsible for such problems as crime, pollution and transportation."

Contributing to the confusion, Brickley added, is considerable duplication and overlapping of public services, resulting in an actual lessening of service. "The worst kind of tyranny is the tyranny of paralysis, and we're very close to this."

adding "another layer of government"-a federated, or regional lawyer incorpòrating several cities in Assailing the demise of accountability as "the factor that has done more to corrupt politics in this country than any other." Brickley accused local officials of winning elections by "posturing, not performing.

"The judge who runs on a campaign to 'take the handcuffs off the police' doesn't run the police department." he noted wryly. "We have so confused the population with diffusion of power and fragmentation of governmental responsibility that they turn to higher levels which don't actually have local power for solutions." Thus, a citizen who is upset by trash collection in his town may, in his frustration at not being able to determine "who's in charge." blame the governor.

The tendency to pick leaders "by chance, by name, by what they stand for instead of what they do." has resulted. Brickley asserted. in "an unprecedented amount of cynicism in this country. Inefficiency is what's really interfering with our rights.

According to Brickley, the type of regional solution which has been successfully tried so far, in such areas as Miami's Dade County, offers the only viable solution for effective and efficient local government. City government has become unworkable because city boundaries have become "geographically irrelevant.

"The average urban dweller lives in one community, works in another, and travels through three or four others daily. "We are regional citizens emotionally, psychologically, and physically" because we rely on the

A new regional governmental structure, in Brickley's view, would be built around the population, focusing more governmental power in a local area. In some areas, such a regional structure might be constructed along ! county lines, as in Dade County. where the county actually bounds the population, although Detroit's overlapping county lines would make such a system unwieldy-here.

Only three pins separated the top three bowlers in the Westland Classic with Rich Capaldi setting the pace at 668. Right behind him came Maurie Quinland with a 666 and Don Mc Leod landed third with 663.

Despite these high scores they were outdone in the Junior House League were Rich Clack closed with a 268 for 712 and Frank Mugger had games of 258 and 248 in 708.

This high scoring carried over into the Ladies Classic where Sandy Marsh used a 243 middle game for a 657 and Judy Zych contibuted a 616 in the Eager Beavers League.

After a few weeks Al Messecar gained his stride in the Garden Classic shere he started with games of 244 and 253 for a 691. Others in order came George Hollenback with 667, Harvey Wilson Jr with 662 and Gordon Cantwell with 648.

Green is one of the least common colors in the flower kingdom. Yet it is one of the most popular colors with flower gardeners.

Green flowers are uncommon because most blooms must contrast with the green foliage in order to catch the attention of insects for the purpose of pollination. For this reason blue is also an uncommon color because blue is the color of the sky.

Black flowers are almost non - existent, although some scabiosa ad pansies are almost black. Yellow, white. and red are the most common flower colors.

Gardeners like green flowers mostly for their decorative effect indoors.

The most famous green flowers are Bells of Ireland (growing long, slender flower spikes surrounded by cup shaped flower clusters) and Envy zinnias (a lime green dahlia - flowered zinnia). Both are extremely easy to Bells of Ireland are best direct sown into the ground after all danger of frost in an open sunny position, and Envy zinnia likes the same. Both will mature in mid - summer to help create stunning flower arrangements.

BELLS OF IRELAND, with their green cup -like flowers are a favorite for indoor arrangements.

Hours on Sunday April 7, are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Orchids are gathered from all corners of the world as members of various societies exhibit specialties and commercial growers show newly found or rediscovered flowers recently imported by their nurseries. For the very small blooms, magnifying glasses will be provided. The show is open to the public and free. Orchids will be given away as prizes and material on how to grow orchids and plants will be on sale

Container gardening explained

The third lecture of the "How Does Your Garden Grow" series is on "Container Gardening for Color, Food and Fun," by Gerald Draheim, Michigan State University Extension Horticultural Agent for Wayne County.

It will be Monday. April 8, from 12 noon to 1 p.m., in the second floor auditorium of the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., One Woodward Ave., Detroit. These free lectures are sponsored jointly by the Michigan Horticultural Sociéty, the MSU Cooperative Extension Service and Michigan Consolidated Gas.

and we'll pass them alona.

Our readers have sent us many good tips on making newspaper logs place.

"Better than tightly rolled newspapers for burning as 'logs', are paper balls. Soak the newspaper in water, roll into a tight ball; keep adding wet paper until the ball is very large. Then let it dry thoroughly in the sun. It will burn as long as any log," says a reader.

Another writes "No need to use a broomstick or curtain rod for rolling newspaper logs. Instead of unfolding the sheets altogether, take two full pages, leaving them half folded. This makes a log about 15 inches long. Spray the sheet, using a spray detergent bottle, with the following solution: 1/4 water, 34 kerosene, plus one tablespoon of liquid detergent. Roll the paper as tightly as possible. At the end of the roll, start another two sheets. Spray these two with the same solution and continue to roll. Repeat this process until you have a four or five inch diameter roll.

"Tie ends with thin wire for completed roll. These logs do not have to be dried out. They can be used right away. However, a fire must be started with wood hot enough to start the paper logs. Once the logs start burning they form a very hot bed which aids the burning of additional wooden logs. Two or three paper logs will burn more than eight hours."

David E. Lofgreen an environmentalist says that ordinary newspapers converted into logs burn as cleanly and pound for pound give the same heat as wood. With just a half hour of labor any one can provide himself with three or four hours of comfortable fireplace fire. Here's his method: Divide the day's paper into sections and fold them into 12 page size (about 12x15 inches and 12 inch thick or less.) Soak them in tub of water and detergent overnight. While they are still wet, roll the sections individually on a one-inch rod and squeeze out the excess water while smoothing the surface edges.

"Slide the rolls off the rod and stand them on end to dry, tipping the rolls slightly to allow air to circulate the logs. The "logs" should be about 12 inches long and two to four inches in diameter. They are ready to use when completely dry.

A wheelbarrow or laundry tub is good for soaking the papers. Detergent in the water soaks the paper faster and cuts down the process to a few hours. The purpose of the rod is to make a hole in the center which in turns helps the fires burn clean. Each log lasts about a half-hour.

The average weekday newspaper will make two or three logs, and the Sunday edition will make up to seven logs. Not only are newspaper logs about the same as wood as an energy source, but what other fuel is delivered to your doorstep each day?

In case you're wondering more about detergent. A tablespoon of it in water not only helps soaking, but will minimize the fly ash when the log is burned.

COLORING YOUR LOGS: Newspaper logs can be treated so they will burn with different colors, as you do pine cones. Copper sulfate gives off green flames: calcium 'chloride, orange: Copper chloride, blue: lithium

Accountability given backing

Development of teacher accountability standards at the local level by professional educators was one goal stressed in a statement adopted recently by the nine statewide member groups of the Michigan Forum of Educational Organizations.

The organizations, representing citizens, teachers, school boards, and administrators, agreed that the state should not dictate accountability stan-

The groups urged that local districts be required to establish programs which would provide for instructional planning, staff development, and progress evaluation according to their own desires and capacities.

They argued also that the accountability process should be flexible and should make clear the responsibilities that belong not only to teachers, but to board members. administrators. legislators, students, and parents as Monthly statistics compiled by Lawyers Title Insurance Corp. shows First Federal financed 6.993 mortgages during 1973 totaling $169.2 million in the "under $75,000" category.

Most loans in this category are for financing new and existing homes and for home improvements. Mortgages in the "above $75.000" category are mostly for commercial real estate developments.

"Helping families purchase homes has been a principal objective of First Federal for many years," says Hans Genrke Jr., chairman of the board for the institution whose branch offices include one in Livonia at Merriman and Plymouth roads, in Plymouth at 790 Penniman near Main St., and in Westland at Wayne and Warren

"Again being the leading lender for home mortgagrs in Michigan, as well as being the leader in the tri - county area, indicates our commitment to persons who are building their futures in this community. First Federal expects a good supply of money for mortgage loans in 1974 because we anticipate a continuing strong inflow of savings deposits.

Standings in 1973 mortgage volume in the "under $75,000" category are: (in order of ranking) First Federal Savings, loans to 6.993 families totalling $169.2 million: National Bank of Detroit, 5,792 family loans for $154.8 million: Standard Federal Savings. 4.929 family loans for $133.3 million: Detroit Bank & Trust. 3.798 family loans totaling $98.2 million; and. Manufacturers National Bank. 2.489 family loans totaling $70.2 million.

Combined mortgage loans under $75,000 by all leading institutions large and active enough to be included in Lawyers Title listings in the tri county area during 1973 totaled $1.5 billion. In Wayne County, there were 35.320 mortgages totaling $673.8 million in this category. Oakland County had 22.146 mortgages for $563.7 million and Macomb County had 13.077 mortgages for $284.3 million.

First Federal placed first in home mortgages in Wayne County with 3,530 mortgages totaling $8.7 million followed by NBD with 2,204 mortgages for $51.6 million and Standard Federal with 1.621 mortgages for $39

First Federal also led the field in the same category during February. 1974. The ranking shows: First Federal. 320 loans for $8.1 million; NBD. 251 loans for $7.1 million: standard Federal. 209 loans for $6 million: American Savings Assn., 130 loans for $3.6 million: and. Manufacturers National Bank, 115 loans for $3.5 million.

In February, there were 1.689 mortgages processed in Wayne County for a total of $31.4 million in the under $75,000 grouping. Oakland County reported 1.017 mortgages for $26.9 million, Macomb had 588 home mortgages for $13 million, and Washtenaw had 227 for $5.8 million.

Total invested in mortgage loans "over $75,000" in the four counties during February was $148.6 million. For both categories in the four counties, some $225.9 million was invested during February

Coffee Day supported by 11 local firms

Eleven area restaurants are among . the more than 60 Wayne County restaurants which are participating in the second annual Easter Seal Society "Coffee Day for Crippled Children" . on Good Friday, April 12.

The project, sponsored by the Michigan Restaurant Assn., will help raise funds for Easter Seal societies throughout Michigan so more services can be provided to crippled children

All participating restaurants will serve free coffee on Good Friday to anyone wearing the colorful B.A.C. (Brace-A-Child for a Buck-A-Cup) button. The B.A.C. buttons will be sold to patrons by restaurant personnel until Coffee Day. All proceeds will be given to the Easter Seal Society.

Area restaurants participating include: Daly's, 31500 Plymouth Road, Livonia: Sherwood Inn. 36701 Plymouth Road, Livonia; Daly's, 800 Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth; Thunderbird Hilton, 14707 Northville Road, Plymouth: Daly's, 1622 Wayne Road, Westland: Rooster's Crow. 3556 Ford, Westland.

The BAC bottons will be sold to patrons between now and Good Friday with all proceeds given to the Easter Seal Society.

Unemployment jumps higher

*1D

The effects of the energy crisis on the auto industry continued to shock Michigan's work force during February as the state's unemployment rate climbed to 10.6 per cent of the labor force, according to S. Martin Taylor, director of the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC).

The number of jobless during the month rose by 94,100 to 410,900, thus helping make the current February unemployment rate the highest for that month since 1961 when it hit 13.9 per cent. In January the jobless rate had been 8.2 per cent while the figure a year ago was 6.9 per cent.

Taylor said the unemployment increase resulted from the mixed pattern of indefinite and intermittent layoffs in the automotive and related industries. Consequently, state - wide manufacturing employment fell for the second consecutive month. In addition, there were seasonal employment reductions in construction and retail trade.

The Detroit metropolitan area (Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties) employment rate in February was 9.3 per cent of the labor force up from 7.5 per cent in January. The increase meant there were 35,600 more out of work during the month and brought the jobless total to 173,500.

February 1974 unemployment rate is the highest for the metropolitan area since 1961 when it reached 14.4 per cent. However, employment in the Detroit area was more stable than in outstate areas because the major manufacturing layoffs soccurred at outstate facilities.

It was a spontaneous idea which first came up in a monthly meeting of plant committee members. explains Dorothy Winkel of Garden City, personnel director who has worked for O'Hare for the past 19 years.

The committee meets once a month with various departments of the company to discuss problems and ways to make jobs easer for employers. It was at one these meetings the idea of paying special tribute to the boss was first suggested.

Committee members are: Gerry Lucas of Livonia, an 18 - year employe: Larry Ford of Plymouth. a 10 year employe: Ann Zielinski of Livonia, a four - year employe: Lucy Ford of Wayne, an 18 - year employe: and her sister - in - law. Ruby Ford of Detroit, an 18 - year employe.

O'Hare started the business in 1946 and moved four times before settling in Livonia. Since being in there has been three expansions to the building.

"We operate as a family here." he concluded. "We work as a team, have shop picnics and Christmas parties. We have all the fringe benefits as would a union shop - retirement benefits, vacations, and insurance. These things were done on our own, and not because we were forced to by an outside organization.

tomobile mechanic."

The MoTech Automotive Education Center in Livonia has graduated its first three students, almost a year after opening its doors on April 30, 1973.

MoTech is a tuition - supported private school with specialized courses to provide quality education in automotive repair to help alleviate the growing national shortage of auto mechanics.

Last April, 20 students enrolled in the car college program at MoTech sponsored by Chrysler Corp. Receiving certificates of completion on March 22 were Frank Edmunds of Brewster, Mass., Arthur Hoffman of Dearborn, and Thomas Skubic of La Porte, Ind.

Dean T. Brown, manager of Mo-Tech, says the school at 35155 Industrial Dr., is believed to be the only one of its type developed and directly sponsored by an automotive manufacturer.

"We didn't plan to have an elaborate graduation ceremony for the students." explains Brown, "because they are going to be leaving the school on their own schedule as they complete the requirements of train-

Pride in school system seems to be waning

EDITOR:

One of the main considerations our family made before moving to Livonia six years ago was the quality of the school system. Livonia schools had the reputation of caring for the children, and the community was known to be willing to support that

However. I have since watched that concern deteriorate into apathy. Gradually our school system has had to cut its budget until there isn't much left to be proud of. All the special education classes, extracurricular activities and innovating programs have been pared down until they are virtually ineffective.

I realize it is a bad time to be asked for additional millage. But is there really ever a "good time"? The quality of our children's education is our responsibility. No one else is going to do the job for us. We must all begin to recognize that fact and take on the challenge and determination of affording our children the best education possible

I am encouraged by the narrow margin of defeat of the latest millage request, but I would hope that when we are asked again our community will respond en force to let our children know their education is important enough that we are willing to loosen our purse strings.

DONNA ENO Livonia

Let the first vote stand

EDITOR:

I agree with Mrs. R. Brown that you are biased in favor of those supporting increased millage and that school boards should not be permitted more than one millage vote per year.

I took the time to vote and want my decision, as well as that of others who voted, to stand. I question the necessity for increased millage in view of falling enrollments during the past two years and the immediate future. Most families with school children have been taxed out of Livonia School District.

If the school board feels that we need another millage vote, they should first show the need for it. Let them publish the salaries paid administrative personnel as was done by the Detroit school board.

Also what is the range of teacher salaries in comparison to surrounding districts? What is the class size? What happened to the money we voted for new schools which were so desperately needed prior to our approval, and became unnecessary as soon as approval was granted?

When the school board gives us credible answers to these questions, they can then ask for another millage

Tell council: 'Save harn'

EDITOR:

It seems our Livonia City Council is like the wife who tells her husband he doesn't love her. He asks why and she replies: "You never tell me."

It is time for the residents of Livonia to again tell our city council that we want the Wilson Barn site at W. Chicago and Middle Belt acquired and developed as a cultural activity center for the City of Livonia. It has already been named a state historical site and a national historical site the only barn so designated in the United States.

Please urge the citizens of Livonia to take a minute of their time to drop a note to our city council as a whole er to any or all councilmen and let them know we the residents of Litonia want the Wilson Barn developed. ## Pearson attacks myths

Are real estate men on the brink of a recession? Prof. Karl Pearson doesn't think so.

Speaking to a group of realtors in Montgomery. Ala., the director of The University of Michigan's real estate education program exposed what he claimed are seven myths of gloom for the real estate industry.

EARL J. DEMEL. Attorney. 239 W. Ann Arbor Trail STATE OF MICHIGAN, IN THE PROBATE COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF WAYNE, No. 588-733

Estate of CLARA M. DOTY, M.I. Take Notice: On May 9, 1974, at 10 A.M., in the Probate Courtroom. No. 1221 City County Building. Detroit. Michigan. before the Hon. IRA G. KAUFMAN. Judge of Probate, a hearing will be held on the Petition of Earl J. Dernel. Guardian, for the allowance of his Fourth and Final account, and for the allowance of attorney fees.

Aporney for Petitioner: Earl J. Demel (P 1266), 729 W Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth, Mich. 48170. Phone 453-5353 Petitioner: Earl J. Demel, 729 W. Ann Arbor Trail. lymouth. Michigan 48170 rwspaper: Plymouth Observer & Eccentric shlish: April 4. 11, 18, 1974

MYTH NO. 1: Mortgage interest families receiving more than one payrates are so high and mortgage money so tight that home financing is hard to get.

"The reality." Pearson said, "is that the Federal Reserve System has been creating easier money by expanding the money supply. Federal Housing Administration and Veterans Administration interest ceilings have been lowered; increases in savings have found their way into savings and loan associations, the source of most home mortgage loans; and builders are helping home buyers with financ-

MYTH NO. 2: Layoffs, unemployment, and price increases make it difficult for the average American family to purchase a home.

"The truth is that rises in personal income for the average family have outdistanced the rise in prices," Pearson said. "There is now a tremendous increase in the number of American check.

"In the past 12 years the number of employed women has jumped by 50 per cent. There is a sharp rise in pension and social security payments. Retirement age is declining, but with rising retirement incomes the demand for retirement homes is growing."

MYTH NO. 3: The decline forecast in new housing starts for 1974 will cripple the real estate industry.

According to Pearson there will be a decline, "but this is only to be expected after the highest new housing start years in all history in 1972 and 1973. 1974 will show an increase in subsidized housing starts. Prospective buyers are more aware than ever of the built - in factor of inflation, and that the longer they wait to buy, the more they will have to pay."

MYTH NO. 4: The energy crisis will have an adverse effect on the real estate industry.

"The energy crisis will be a challenge and a problem but, most of all, an opportunity," Pearson said. "Fuel economy will be the new criterion in home design. Houses are even now being designed to use one - third less electricity. Architects are cutting back on the use of glass because it's a poor insulator. Builders are providing energy savings packages with more insulation and automatic temperature

"A trend is on toward the two - story house, which offers overall fuel savings. Despite the gasoline shortage, vacation home developers are finding ways to get prospects to see their houses, ranging from free gas to chartered buses. Some developers have even bought gas in bulk and resold it to their new home buyers.

MYTH NO. 5: Growing rises in real estate will retard real estate investment in 1974.

"With inflation a nagging problem and the stock market in tatters, real estate will assume front - line investment rank," said Pearson. "Farmland will get its greatest in-

Western Electric sales on increase

Western Electric. manufacturing and supply unit of the Bell System. had 1973 sales of more than $7 billion - an increase of 7.4 per cent over the previous year.

Of the 1973 total, sales to Bell companies accounted for about $6.2 billion, a gain of 11.8 per cent over 1972. Sales to the U.S. government last year were $696 million, a decrease of 22 per cent.

Donald E. Procknow. Western Electric President, reborts the firms' net income rose from 4.3 cents per dollar of total sales to 4.5 cents, and that return on total net investment increased from 9.5 per cent in 1972 to 10 per cent in 1973.

This was achieved, he said, without any increase in prices of manufactured products other than adjustments in wire and cable because of increased copper costs, vestment play, as farm values and farm incomes reach all - time highs. MYTH NO. 6: The zero birth rate will decrease housing demand.

"The birth rate may be down," Pearson said. "but life expectancy is up. Twenty per cent of home buyers are now single persons, as against only five per cent a few years ago. There is a growing market for early retirees and empty nesters looking for less space but more comfort. The, bulk of the housing market is now in the young adult group, immune from the hang - ups of tradition."

MYTH NO. 7: No - growth policies mean no growth in real estate devel-

"Developers will get approvals by showing that their developments will preserve the environment, not destroy it," he concluded. "They must show that they will bring in new tax ratables and contribute their share for the new schools and public improvements required. "Developers will get approvals by working with, not in opposition to, local civic leaders. Where there is no other way, developers may challenge the constitutionality of no growth ordinances, as they successfully did recently in Petaluma, Calif.

READING, CORRECTING AND APPROVAL OF MINUTES. Regular Meeting, March 12, 1974. Mr. Ash moved approval of the minutes as submitted. Supported by Mr. Burke and carried unanimously.

1974-1975 BUDGET APPROVAL - General Fund. Mrs. Richardson moved approval of the 1974-1975 budget of the General Fund of the Township of Plymouth. Supported by Mr. Ash and carried unanimously.

Water and Sewer Department. Mr. Burke moved approval of the Water and Sewer Department 1974-1975 budget. Supported by Mr. Overholt and carried unanimously. OLD BUSINESS. Joe Tate President, Sun Plastic Coating Company. Re: Requesting Township to provide a storm sewer on the northside of Joy Road and from the spur just west of General Drive at least to a point just east of the present Graye property, located at the northeast corner of Lilley and Joy Road. Mrs. Richardson moved that we deny the request for a storm sewer on the north side of Joy Road, at this point in time due to a lack of funds for this type of development. Supported by Mr. Millington and carried unanimously.

Herald Hamill, Brender Hamill. Re: Proposed Storm Sewer Southside of Ann Arbor Road between Plymouth Township Drain No. 1 and Haggerty Road. Mr. Ash moved that we authorize the Township Engineer to develop the necessary plans to be able to let for bids the proposed sewer stub in the area of Bill Knapps' restaurant to obtain a crossing of Ann Arbor Road at that location. Supported by Mr.

Overholt and carried unapimously. NEW BUSINESS - Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Verduce, 15036 Willowbrook Drive. Re: Problems with Sewer System in Lake Pointe Village. Mr. Verduce introduced himself and his wife and explained the various problems they have encountered since 1967. These include drainage at base of walls, ankle deep water in yard, and sewage water backing up in their home on four different occasions. He explained that there are others besides himself having problems. Mr. Hamill displayed a map and explained where the sewer was and the reason the sewer was built the way it was. Mr. Hamill said his deservations were that Mr. Verduce's backyard drain was lower than the house grade. Mr. Hamill said that in 1955 when the concept of the subdivision was conceived there was no thoughts of it being necessary to have sump pumps to take care of the footing drains. He explained that until 1968, he never saw that sewer more than half full. Then in 1968, we had a total of six inches of rain in five days and that was the first time they had any reports of water in basements. Mr. Overholt moved that we have our Engineer report back in two weeks with a progress report on the Lake Pointe problems of sanitary and storm sewer backing up. Supported by Mr. Burke and carried unanimously. Ed Dorrington, Plymouth Lions Club Re: Requesting Board's permission to conduct the Annual White Cane State Campaign on Friday May 3rd and Saturday May 4th, 1974 between the hours of 9:00 A.M. and 9:00 P.M. Mr. Overholt moved approval of the Annual White Cane Sale. Supported by Mrs. Holmes and carried names built up over the years and a play list that is only so large, often less than 40 discs in regular rotation. So new artists have an extremely rough time trying to secure air play from primary stations.

I HAVE OFTEN heard people complain that most everything they hear on the radio sounds alike, AM or FM. This is due to the imitative effect.

If a producer's formula for success is proven several times, there are usually spinoffs emulating this producer's philosophy, technique and perhaps the production company itself.

This leads more and more people to adopt the same techniques in production and style. So commercial music as a whole begins to adapt a singular personality.

* * * MOST RADIO STATIONS in a constant battle for ratings will imitate the success of the most successful station at the time, thus furthering the polarization devel-

Some people may wonder why this is happening, but the answer, really isn't so complex. Music in general is polarizing because the overwhelming majority of listeners apparently want it that way.

Many stations specializing in a particular sound feel that their audience wants to hear the same music redundantly.

THEY GAUGE this by requests and survey samples, so they tighten up their play list to a select few artists.

I think that many loyal listeners to a particular station will stay tuned in even if the band they are hearing is unfamiliar as long as that particular unit is playing the type of sound that radio station has come to represent.

I doubt that the limited play list is a valid idea. Its overall affect

Orchestra seeks players

The Southern Michigan Youth Chamber Orchestra and Chorale, will be taking a concert tour of eight European countries July 11 through August 2. Countries included in the tour are the Netherlands, Germany, Switzerland, Lichtenstein, Austria, Italy, France and Belgium.

The chamber orchestra consists primarily of students from Wayne State University and high school students from the area. The group rehearses weekly at Kimball High School, Royal Oak, under the direction of Carl Picklo, conductor of the 25-piece ensemble. Picklo said there is a need for additional woodwind, brass and stringed bass

The music performed by this group is from all periods, but focuses on the baroque and classical periods. In addition to complete orchestral arrangements, some solo and small ensemble works will be performed, as well as combined orchestra and choir selections.

Interested individuals may contact Carl Picklo at 791-9323.

tains the station in the first place.

IF READERS happen to be the people complaining about the one dimensionality of rock radio, the solution is simply to write and/or call and express that opinion.

This is particularly important if the listener is more than 17 or 18 years old. Most of the feedback that radio stations receive is from listeners high school age or under and they program for this.

One of the finest live albums I've ever heard is "Live Rhymin," Paul Simon's lates LP. He does everything right.

JAPANESE TEDDAN STEAK HOUSE

The live versions of some of his most elaborately produced tracks like the "Boxer" and "Duncan" are performed in concert with a sensitivity and feel that surpasses his studio tracks.

Simon's side men, Urubamba and the Jessy Dixon Singers, were well chosen; they interpret his music beautifully, adding just enough of their own style to regenerate Simon's most familiar songs with even more depth and feeling.

Paul Simon, as always, emerges again as one of the finest talents in music today. In many respects, he is in a class by himself.

Jon Voight brings life to 'Conrack'

By JAN WILLIAMS

It does one's conscience good to watch Jon Voight's portrayal of "Conrack" - a portrayal which adds authenticity to a true story.

The time in the film is March 1969. and a young, white teacher arrives on a remote island off the coast of South

His job is to teach a group of black 'children, most of whom can't read or write, count to 10 or spell their names. They don't know the island they live on is a part of the United States and they think the Civil War was fought between the Germans and the Japanese.

Such ignorance is not unbelievable. and it's well projected by the students - all but one of whom were recruited from the Brunswick. Ga. location where the film was made.

The film is directed by Martin Ritt. and though hardly of the award - winning category of "Sounder" (also a Ritt film) his talent is just as evident Conrack, a name which resulted from the students inability to pronounce the real one correctly, is in reality Pat Conroy. Voight's portrayal is sensitive and moving, but not to extreme. He breaks the black-white barrier, which is very real for a young black child isolated from white society. Despite protests from the school principal (Madge Sinclair) who wants to make the children "tough" because they face a tough world. Conrack makes learning fun for them. He opens their minds to a whole new world - one which they cautiously. but willingly, accept.

After teaching them about the outside world, Conrack decides to give them a real taste of it by taking them to the mainland (Beaufort, S.C.) for

But he meets opposition in the form of the school superintendant (Hume

SC offers final children's film

Showings begin at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. in the Liberal Arts Theater on the campus, 18600 Haggerty Rd., Li-School - aged children will enjoy

"Giants Come in Different Sizes," "Paddle to the Sea," "Animals in Summer" and "Petunia."

For pre - schoolers there will be "Adventures of Willie the Skunk," "Little Toot" and "Mike Mulligan and his Steam Shovel."

Admission is free and parents are served complimentary coffee. This year's film festival was coordinated by Mrs. Mary Toomey, a Schoolcraft College English instructor and was sponsored by the Cultural and Public Affairs Committee.

Cronyn). He orders Conrack not to bring the children into town, but of course Conrack does anyway - an action which results in the loss of his

It's certainly a credit to the film that the character of Conrack remains true to life. He admits his early bigotry and though he really wants to help the children, he also wants to ease his own conscience.

What the film amounts to is that black children have minds and the capacity and eagerness, even if somewhat subdued, to learn. But, unfortunately everyone hasn't come to that realization. As the school principal tells Conrack, "When I was a 'Negro' I knew my place, and being a 'black' now is no different. As long as we do what the man wants, everything goes smooth. I know what color black is.

Conrack is taken away from the children and all they have left is Beethoven's Symphony No. 5 — death knocking at the door.

Westland orchestra to perform

The Westland Civic Symphony Orchestra will perform in its first concert of the new season at 3:30 p.m.. Sunday, April 7, in the Wayne Memorial High School auditorium. Glenwood, east of Wayne Rd.

Director is H. Michael Endres, instrumental music teacher in the Plymouth school district. Musicians in the orchestra are from several subur ban communities.

The concert will represent music from the 18th, 19th and 20th centuries. According to Endres, most of the music will be familiar to the audience because of its more or less popular style. Much of the music is highly nation-alistic in nature and is representative of the country of its composer's nationality or belongs to the category of "program music," i.e., the music tells a story or was Selections will include Bizet's Overture to Dr. Miracle," Haydn's "Symphony No. 94," and Dvorak's "Slavonic Dance No. 8 in G Minor."

Coin club sets next meeting

The Riverside Coin Club of Livonia will meet Sunday, April 7, at 2 p.m. in the Livonia Senior Citizens Building. Five Mile and Farmington Rd.

Bob Williams of the ANA will speak on the grading of coins. Activities will be conducted in the junior and senior groups. Visitors are welcome.

Pianist arouses interest in classical music field

By JAN WILLIAMS

Even for those who consider themselves far removed from the classical music scene, there's often at least a touch of curiosity about the music and its advocates.

Perhaps both fans and detractors of the music have wondered what a classical pianist is really like.

This writer is happy to report that after talking with pianist Donald Morelock of Schoolcraft College, classical musicians are as human as John Denver and almost as easy to under-Morelock will be featured in a piano recital Friday. March 5, at 8 p.m. in Schoolcraft's Waterman Center, 18600 Haggerty, Livonia.

The recital will open with a performance of Haydn's sonata No. 42. the Bach Concerto in the Italien Style. Brahm's Intermezzi. op. 118. No. 1 and 2 and the Rhapsody in B Minor. After intermission, the recital will conclude with two preludes by Debussy and Ravel's Sonatine.

Morelock says he chose the program with the audience in mind.

"I think students, teachers, and the general public will enjoy these selections. They're good pieces, just not the more academic or intellectual Morelock is a native of Oklahoma and began the study of music at age eight. "I came from a musical family so it was natural that I would be involved in music."

He gave his first piano recital at the age of 15, and has given many since Morelock attended the University of Oklahoma where he won the Giard Award for the outstanding senior recital. He earned two bachelor degrees at Oklahoma in piano and organ. Morelock says he chose to attend Oklahoma because of a very fine organ teacher there. Mildred Andrews.

Following graduation from Oklahoma, he attended the University of Michigan Graduate School of Music where he was a member of Pi Kappa Lambda. To be a member, one must be in the top five per cent of the graduate music school. He earned a master's in piano performance at U - M.

Morelock has taught piano at Schoolcraft since 1967 and is a member of the Summer Music School staff. "I had planned to continue my study. but I visited Schoolcraft and decided to stay."

He feels Schoolcraft has quite a bit to offer in the field of music. In comparing it to offerings at larger schools, Morelock says Schoolcraft students get more opportunities to perform and there's a smaller, more interested faculty.

"We offer the basic two-year program that would be found anywhere and our students have been doing very well after they transfer to a university.

Morelock is also very interested in the piano teaching program at Schoolcraft which he helped to set up last fall. The program is open to piano teachers and takes two years to complete on a part - time basis. It is offered during the regular school year.

During the summer of 1973. Morelock studied and performed in a master class in Vienna. Austria. with Paul Badura - Skoda and Joorg Demus.

But other than music, Morelock says he also enjoys traveling. He says he doesn't have a favorite piece of music or favorite composer.

"I enjoy them all."

DONALD MORELOCK, pianist, will be featured in a solo recital Friday, April 5, at 8 p.m. in Schoolcraft College's Waterman Center, 18600 Haggerty, Livonia. Tickets are available at the campus bookstore or at the door.

Symphony set for April 21

"I view the whole season as one. big concert and touch on all styles of music. This is the big summing up.

That's how Conductor Wayne Dunlap is programming the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra's final concert of the regular season on Sunday. April 21 at 4 p.m. in Plymouth's Salem High School auditorium. Joy Road west of Canton Center Road.

The season has featured the Kenneth Jewell Chorale and the Severo Ballet Company, along with assorted soloists. "This time." said Dunlap, "we'll feature the orchestra."

There will be one soloist -- violinist Millard Taylor, who will join the orchestra for Prokofiev's second violin concerto. Taylor, who has had an outstanding career as a concertmaster and principal violin instructor at the Eastman School of Music. has been heard several times in Plymouth performing the works of Beethoven. Brahms and Berg.

The giant of the April 21 program will be Robert Schumann's symphony No. 2 in C major.

"There's been a lot of talk over the years that Schumann was poor at orchestration." Dunlap said. "and many arrangers have revised his works. I don't touch em. I think Schumann was the epitome of early Romantic-

Rehearsing the Plymouth Symphony. Dunlap tells the violins to open the first movement with no vibrato. It gives a majestic, very dignified sound, he explains. "I picked that up from Pierre Monteaux." Dunlap added later. He studied a year with Monteaux, the internationally famous French interpreter of the classics.

The program will open with Maurice Ravel's "Le Tombeau de Couperin," which features the strong woodwind section of the orchestra.

The program is internationally balanced, too: Ravel was French, Prokofiev Russian. Schumann German.

Tickets at $2 for adults are available in advance at Heide's Flowers and the Record and Tape Center in downtown Plymouth or at the door the afternoon of the concert.

Students are admitted free. Elementary school students must be accompanied by a parent. Qualified girl scouts will provide free babysitting

WAYNE DUNLAP, conductor of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra, says the orchestra's final concert will be a summing up of the past season. The concert is scheduled for April 21, at 4 p.m. in Plymouth's Salem High School, Joy Rd. west of Canton Center

AMICI QUARTET members (from left) John Dexter II, Evelina Chad, Cordula Rosow and Fred Raimi will perform April 7, at 2:30 p.m. in

The chart below shows what your monthly income will be for deposits from $5,000 to $50,000 or more. If you withdraw your money at any time prior to maturity a substantial interest penalty will be charged. In accordance with federal regulations, the interest on the withdrawn funds will be recalculated from the date the certificate was originally opened, or renewed, on the amount withdrawn down to the then current regular passbook interest rate, and in addition, there will be a loss of 90 days' interest on the funds withdrawn. The amount left on deposit, provided it is $5,000 or more, will continue to earn the higher 7% or 6.75% return.

As you can see, Check-A-Month pays a handsome return. And what could be more convenient than having your interest sent right to you through the mail every month!

Direct Depositing of Social Security Checks Direct monthly deposits to a savings account at Standard Federal Savings can eliminate the possibility of having Social Security checks lost, mislaid, or stolen. Plus-your deposited check will start earning 5.25% daily interest immediately.

Additionally, you eliminate the need for cashing and depositing these checks yourself. (You can also arrange to have other U.S. Government, stock dividend, and pension checks deposited automatically to yours account, if you so desire.)

The forms to be filled out in order to have your checks deposited in a savings account are available at all Standard Federal offices. Another example of Standard Federal Savings trying to make life a little easier for you. "People helping people"—that's Standard Federal Savings.

Standard Federal Savings pays 51/2% per year, daily interest on regular, insured passbook savings accounts. Nobody pays more. And that's day-in, day-out interest paid from date of deposit to date of withdrawal. Paid and compounded quarterly, it actually yields a full 5.35% annually!

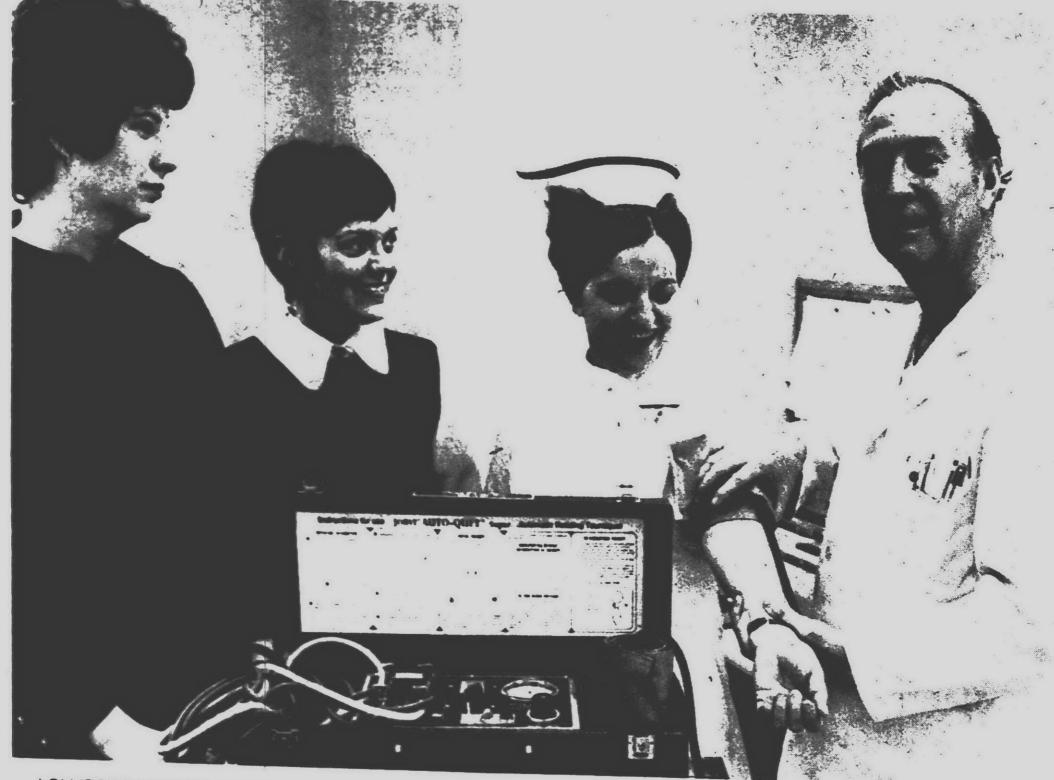

Your savings will grow even faster in one of Standard Federal Savings certificate savings accounts. To qualify for a 6½% one-year certificate savings account, you simply keep $1,000 or more on deposit for 12 months. Interest is paid and compounded quarterly to yield 6.66% annually.

Similarly, you can earn a greater rate of return on your savings with this Standard Federal Savings Certificate Savings Account. To qualify, you keep $5,000 or more on deposit for 30 months. With interest paid and compounded quarterly, the yield is 6.92% annually. Or, interest can be paid monthly with a Check-A-Month Certificate Account.

To qualify for the high 7% Certificate Savings Account, you must deposit $5,000 or more in this account for 48 months. Interest is paid and compounded quarterly to earn 7.19% annually. You can also receive your interest monthly as described above.

*You can withdraw your money at any time. However, in accordance with federal regulations on all certificate accounts, a substantial interest penalty is required for early withdrawal. The withdrawn funds will lose 90 days' interest, and in addition, the interest on the withdrawn funds will be recalculated from the original term of the certificate at the then-current regular passbook interest rate:

m.m.memos

Young people, so I've heard, are progressive, open to change, eager for new ideas, open - minded in their approach to life.

Whereas we of middle years are conservative, set in our ways, in love with the status quo, opposed to anything original. Don't you believe a word of it.

My experience in our clan has been that new procedures must be slipped past the young. Very carefully. When they're not looking.
A change in any special day ritual? Forget it.
A new recipe? "What's THAT you're cooking?"

Some addition to a standard recipe? "I liked it better the way you used to make it."

A different furniture arrangement? "It looked better the way it was." And this year, the man of our house and I decided on a major step. We ordered aluminum paneling for the trim portions of our old house to eliminate painting, especially the kind that has to be done from high ladders. That kind of trim doesn't come in the charcoal grey and red we had had for several years, so we settled for white and black and thought it looked very sharp.

Our daughters were less impressed. Their comments? "You CHANGED it!"

"It looks NEW!"

"Our house is supposed to have a RED door!"

If you want anything changed, we've decided, look for somebody with a cane. Certainly not the traditionalist young.

Some changes are asked in rape law

present Michigan law, a woman who is raped and files a complaint may wind up being made to appear more guilty than the man who raped her.

-That's the reason the Michigan Women's Task Force on rape is launching a concerted effort to change the law

Action plans were outlined in a workshop on "The Politics of Rape." conducted in Ann Arbor by the task force and the Ann Arbor Rape Crisis Center, a special facility to assist victims of rape.

Wayne County Commissioner Mary Dumas, a Livonia resident, said after attending the workshop she would give active support to State Senate Bill 1207 and House Bill 5802, both incorporating significant changes in the definition of rape. its prosecution and

Mrs. Dumas said she will make available petitions urging that the bills be reported out of committee quickly.

"I also will work for funding of a program to establish a crisis center in Wayne County and to include in the training now given police officers some special information to use in rape cases."

The commissioner said present practices "tend to treat the woman raped as though she were at fault."

Statistics indicate, she added, "that there were approximately 1.200 rapes reported in Detroit in 1973, an increase of 300 or 30 per cent over 1972, and yet the FBI indicated that only one out of every 10 rapes is reported.

"And only two per cent of all rape defendants are convicted. Unfortunately, under present statutes and present methods of police procedures and prosecution, the victim of rape is more frequently made to appear guilty rather than the rap-the police who first answer a rape call. Frequently, in the process of police questioning and medical examination, the woman is subject to humiliation and indignity.

In the courts, the victim's sexual reputation is questioned, but that of the defendant cannot be questioned or discredited.

Finally, there is little or no emotional support for the victim of rape throughout this traumatic experience.

The task force, in outlining ways in which it contends state law should be changed, was careful to state that new legislation should "maintain all present protections for the accused. supporting the presumption of innocent until proven guilty beyond a reasonable doubt."

"A new statute should not affect the right to remain silent, to have a lawyer, to have a speedy trial, to choose judgment by a judge or jury who shall determine the truth of all testimony, and other constitutional guarantees." the report added.

But it did insist there are a number of things a new law should do.

One of these, the report stated, is recognition of rape as "overwhelmingly a crime of violence, not sexual passion.

The task force held that the "sex crime" definition implies that men rape out of "sudden impulse provoked by the sight of an attractive woman." but that FBI evidence shows that "rape is motivated, like other violent acts, by hostility and rage.

In addition, said the task force, there should be defined degrees of sexual assault according to the severity and type of coercion and violence."

It would simplify the law, the report said, by defining punishments according to the severity of force and threat and and including other sexual as- tant. saults in the same law and the absurdity of a possible sentence of anywhere from one day to life." the report said.

"No specialized training is given to hysteria surrounding the idea of rape willing to report rape."

It added that the change also would remove the close attention to the amount of resistance put up by the victim and "the assumption that any person worthy of the protection of the law would defend her virtue by undergoing a significant degree of other physical harm before submitting to the more subtle harm of a sexual at-

The task force also said a new law should remove present high ex pectations for "proof" of rape and should remove the need for corroborative evidence sometimes required by police or in court.

It recommended new definitions by referring to "victim," "person" and "actor" rather than male and female.

"A new law also should curb personal harassment of the victim by questions designed to prove that the victim's past consentual sexual behavior supports the defense of the offender in court." the report added. "Such harrassment is known to discourage all victims from prosecuting crimes of sexual assault: and the resulting low conviction rate allows sexual offenders a high degree of certainty of getting away with a crime."

Finally, the task force said, the law should "prohibit police and other law enforcement personnel from demeaning or threatening a victim of sexual assault, from failing to immediately assist the victim to get medical aid; from excluding any companion of the victim during questioning and from failing to enforce the law.

Mrs. Dumas said she considered the counseling and support of a rape victim during the entire time of examination and prosecution most impor-

How about a 'League of Person Voters?'

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

This cortifies that

BY W. EDWARD WENDOVER

My first motion as a new member of the Plymouth - Northville branch of the League of Women Voters (LWV) was going to be to change the sexist name of our organization.

But then I found out I'm only an ASSOCIATE member and can't vote or enter resolutions.

Does being an ASSOCIATE member (without voting privileges) mean I have to use the "men's entrance" for LWV meetings?

You too can become an associate member of the local branch - if, you're a male - by sending in your name on the same application blank women use to become real, full fledged members.

Oh yes, include $10, the same price women pay to become real. full fledged members.

If you're a male, you get a nice letter from Jane Watts, president of the Plymouth - Northville branch, saying her organization takes pleasure in welcoming you as a new member.

"As an ASSOCIATE." she writes (the caps are mine), "you may take part in all League activities except you may not vote on league business or be a board member. "We earnestly hope you will enjoy your year and benefit from the program. You, the individual member, play a vital part in the continued growth of our organi-

"Our goal is to make membership in the league a worthwhile and active experience." Ms. Watts concludes.

She doesn't say how one's experience in the league can be "ac--tive" when one can't vote.

Even though they make you a voteless member jûst because you're a male, they still send lots of neat stuff in your membership packet (which my wife didn't get when she joined.)

The packet includes a national LWV pamphlet. "Facts:" a state LWV pamphlet, "Citizen's Handbook;" and from the local branch a membership pamphlet entitled "Affecting Legislation must be there to help the LWV members be effective in getting the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) passed.

Designed to prohibit sexual discrimination through an amendment to the U.S. Constitution, the ERA is the LWV's pet project. Each month the LWV newsletter reports on its prog-

Perhaps you think it inconsistant that the LWV supports the ERA but allows men only second - class ASSO-CIATE membership.

That isn't its fault, the local LWV says. It's the national LWV which prohibits men from joining as full fledged members. (I saw an article recently which said some chapter out east had eight male members in spite of the national ruling.)

However, the national LWV convention is to be held soon and the organization will be asked to change its sexual discriminatory practice.

The local chapter. I am told, has voted to have its delegate to the national convention. Ms. Watts. vote in favor of eliminating the male - membership ban.

(Wish I could have voted for that and for the chapter's backing of the

Perhaps, the local thinks, I should be happy to be an ASSOCIATE member, shouldn't write tongue - in cheek stories about it and I should take this all very seriously and become an "active" member.

Maybe I'll do all that once I can find the "men's entrance" to wherever the next meeting is being held.

that will escalate the arms race. A similar rhetoric of detachment is evident in discussions about the urban crisis, the race problem, or law and order.

Who can measure the horror that has been perpetrated by turning the concrete into the abstract? It was the diabolical scheme of Hitler to transform millions of real people into an abstraction called the Jew. But the six million died one by one, each death an incalculable tragedy, each death the loss of a potential artist, writer, poet, saint, a uniquely endowed spirit. The popularity of the "Diary of Ann Frank" is an indication that we cannot even think of the Holocaust as an abstraction, but must instead focus on the anguish of a 12-year-old girl.

STATISTICIANS, sociologists, and scientists cannot tell us much about the individual, for they deal in those abstractions that define whole populations. The heart can not respond to an abstraction. If our society is to execute justice, exercise compassion, and be morally sensitive and responsive, it must bridge the gap between the world of detached abstractionism and the inner universe of an individual's experience.

Wanted: Ethnic recipes for Westland

Have an old family recipe for spaghetti, kielbasa and sauerkraut, chop suey, or some other ethnic delight?

If you do, there is a group of women in Westland looking for you. They are planning ethnic dinners for the fourth annual Spring festival to take place in Westland's Jaycee Park over the Memorial Day weekend.

If the recipe is the kind that is used to feed a hundred or so hungry relatives during family reunions, so much the better.

Dinner chairman Eleanor Rushton pointed out that more than 2,000 people are epected for dinners each

"What we are looking for are recipes that are relatively inexpensive to prepare, simple to fix, and easy to serve," she said.

If the thought of multiplying each item in your recipe by 2,000 makes you nervous, don't worry.

"Once we select a recipe we can use a computer to arrive at the proper amount of ingredients," said Mrs. Saundra Weed, food services chair-

Those preparing the food would be happy to have the person whose recipe is selected come out to the festival grounds, said Mrs. Rushton. "so our workers can prepare the meal under her direction.

About 30 people are needed to prepare the meals each night. So far the Republican and Democratic organizations of Westland are standing by to work one night each. The Chamber of Commerce will be responsible for preparing the pancake breakfast, Sunday, May 26, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. The Westland Spring Festival is a non - profit event to allow the people of the community to have a big time at little cost. In addition to the food aiready mentioned, it also sells about 4,000 hot dogs per hour. It also has an ice cream social.

Geneva sets Palm Sunday for official organization

Geneva United Presbyterian Church, established in the Canton Township area a year and a half ago. will be officially organized as a Presbyterian congregation on Palm Sun-

A special service of worship and organization will be held at 3 p.m. in the Pioneer Middle School, where the Geneva congregation has been meeting since December. 1972.

The church had its beginnings when the Presbytery of Detroit called the Rev. Jeffrey S. Goldsmith to become organizing pastor in September. 1972.

Worship began in December in the Pioneer School, located on Ann Arbor Road west of Sheldon.

tion for the first worship service.

Since then membership has grown to 100 adult members.

Nine members were named to a steering committee to work out details of organization. They are Dale Baer, Virginia Benoit, Dick Braun, Dick Habermas. Alan Hering. Sue Knapp, Bill McNamara, Dave Sayles and Gil Sklenar.

This group developed basic guidelines for the congregation, including bylaws and mission design.

Services at Geneva. Rev. Goldsmith said, involve contemporary worship with use of media and discussions as part of the sermons. Contemporary hymns also are used.

There is a church school for chiljoin in worship services.

The church also is involved in community affairs. More than 25 families have "adopted" children from the Plymouth Center for Human Devel-

Geneva sponsors a monthly collection of bottles, cans and newspapers for recycling and has met with representatives of United Community Services of Metropolitan Detroit to help facilitate the use of these services by residents of Canton Township.

In June of 1973 the congregation purchased for future use a seven acre site located on Sheldon north of Ford Road, in a strategic section of the newly - developing community.

A building study task force is evaldren third grade and younger. All old- uating plans and will make recomer children either participate in a mendations in the near future. The Nine families were in the congrega- youth group called the Pioneers or earliest possible building date would be late in 1975. Rev. Goldsmith said.

Speechwriting Jesuit now speaks for Nixon

The Rev. John McLaughlin, SJ who is President Nixon's $25,000-a-year Jesuit assistant -- is no longer a speechwriter, according to the White House press office.

"He is involved in international humanitarian projects, such as the Southeast Asian refugees." explained Press Secretary Ron Zeigler's staff assistant, Tom DeCair.

This column has tried repeatedly to obtain an interview with Father McLaughlin, but his secretary has disclosed that he has been either on extended lecture tours in such distant places as California, or else has been encumbered with a heavy schedule of TV. radio and local lecturing.

DeCair was asked, therefore, if it is not true that while McLaughlin is no longer a Nixon speechwriter, he is quite definitely a Nixon speechmaker.

Replied DeCair: "Yes, like many others in government. Dr. McLaughlin is a spokesman for this administration."

This is to wallow in understatement. For the likes of Father McLaughlin have not been seen since the oratorical heyday of ex-Vice President Spiro Agnew.

For example, there is McLaughlin's having engaged his Jesuit seminary classmate, Father Robert Drinan, SJ. in what might be described as "The Jesuit Battle of Pennsylvania Ave-

Eather Drinan (D-Mass) is the first Catholic priest ever elected to Congress (although by no means the first clergy-congressmen - for there have been 95 Protestants). On Jan. 20 of this year, Congressman Drinan described the Nixon administration as "the most corrupt administration in the history of the Republic."

President Nixon had no need to respond to this charge, not when his Jesuit assistant promptly counter-attacked - by comparing Drinan to the Sanhedrin.

McLaughlin went on to charge Drinan with rape (of justice) for not having disqualified himself from the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment inquiries, considering a Drinan impeachment bill.

Drinan had already brushed off a less erotic GOP suggestion to this effect, by replying cooly that no congressman who introduces a consumer protection bill is expected to disqualify himself from the voting.

But the usually doughty and intrepid Massachusetts congressman amazingly, and promptly, backed away from McLaughlin's comparison of Drinan to the Sanhedrin (which put Jesus Christ on trial). For he replied with an uncharacteristically limp rejoinder. "My intuition tells me to decline all comment."

This left the distinct impression that President Nixon has quite cleverly discovered that the way to neutralize one pesky Jesuit is to use another.

Meanwhile McLaughlin, as Nixon speechmaker, has announced around the nation:

• "I think Nixon will be viewed his-" torically, and in his own time, as a. great moral leader."

· The churches have their own histories of irregularities, disorders and

· "My feeling is that senior officials in the White House are no better, no worse, no more sinful, or less-, sinful, no more sullied or unsullied ! morally, ethically, or spiritually than people in all other occupations -- including the clergy."

This column has by no means been reluctant to expose ecclesiastical venality. But we know of no denominational headquarters (or even psuedo - denominations) who have currently amassed so many criminal indictments charging the bugging of rivals and the burglarizing of psychiatrists.

On the other hand, there is the apparently apocryphal remark which has been attributed to the late Al Capone, as he was boarding the boat for Alcatraz: "Well, nobody's perfect."

Grayling residents set New Life walk through this area

A group of church people from and water from the Jordan River. He will stay in churches for the nights Grayling. Mich., are asking local Christians to "walk a second mile" with them in a New Life walk beginning Monday. April 8.

On that day the visitors will leave Metropolitan Airport and begin a march along Merriman to Orchard Cake Road and north to M - 21.

Their walk will end five days later. They hope to cover 50 miles a day and get to Michelson Memorial United Methodist Church in time for Good Friday services April 12.

The Rev. Paul C. Frederick, pastor of the Michelson church, wrote letters to several churches in this area.

"We want to invite you, your congregation and community to join us in

St. Paul names youth as elder

John Velis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Velis of Livonia and a Bentley High School sophomore, is the first person under 30 to serve as an elder of St. Paul Presbyterian Church

He also is the church's first elder to be elected after a floor nomination. He took his seat on the congregation's board of ruling elders following a recent congregation meeting. Velis is active in the St. Paul youth group and a member of the Youth Council.

What lions have to do with men's clothes can only be explained by the 1966 English movie "Born Free" and countless other desert and safari films from "The African Queen" starring Humphrey Bogart to "Trader Horn" with memorables like Duncan Renaldo, Edwina Booth and Harry

Those ubiquitous suits the gentlemen wore have maintained their place in the men's fashion world and with just as many pockets as the original safari suits way-backwhen.

But they've taken a turn for the city, in some cases with switches from the classic khaki to gabardines, plaids, textured fabrics and some short Eisenhower-length jackets.

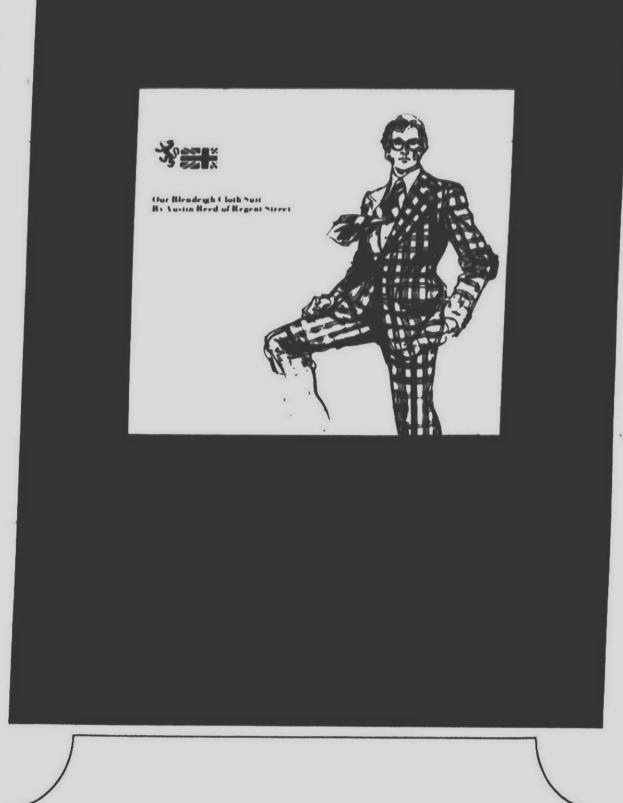

And the name's been changed they're now called "walking suits," reflecting perhaps the energy cri-

These suits should be worn with as much casualness-freedom-as one can muster. Open necked shirts whose collars are meant to overlap the jacket's collar, are a must. Turtleneck sweaters look especially good with the shorter cropped jackets.

"Mr. Deeds Goes to Town"

Clark Gable with no undershirt and Claudette Colbert

Dapper Fred Astaire and 'Gay Divorcee' Ginger Rogers

The problems men face fashionwise this season are about the same as those Gary Cooper faced as Mr. Deeds in 1936.

Like Deeds, men suddenly have a wealth of resources, in his case money, in men's cases fashion choices.

Historically the men of the movies had little choice as to what to wear on and off the set. But none the less their influence on fashion was important.

Clark Gable undid the undershirt industry in 1934 when he took off his dress shirt and wasn't wearing an undershirt in one

There are stories that after the film opened the undershirt industry called Hollywood moviemakers daily asking them what they could do about the wrong that had been dealt them.

It wasn't until Marlon Brando came on the scene in the 50s that the industry was happy. In "Streetcar Named Desire", "On the Waterfront" and "The Wild One" Brando re-established undershirts in America.

Brando also helped to establish, along with actors like James Dean, the wearing of blue jeans by other than cowboys.

There is no dispute about the influences "The Great Gatsby" has already had on men's fashion

In the movie, all the men dress impeccably and manage to stay cool even in the most unbelievable settings-like Long Island in August.

Pink linen suits and elegant white ones, too appear as stylish as anything seen recently in the flicks.

When those clothes were in fashion for real people like Rudolph Valentino, John Barrymore, Warner Baxter and John Gilbert were keeping them in fashion.

Later Douglas Fairbanks, dashing Errol Flynn, Leslie Howard and Tyrone Power helped fashion trends of their own.

Power was partial to ascots, and so was Howard. Laurel and Hardy wore bowlers and Eddie Cantor almost always wore a bow tie. If they weren't trend-setters themselves, at least they reflected the fashion of the times.

Once considered the arbitor of good taste in Hollywood, something of a misnomer, was elegant Adolphe Menjou. He was always impeccable and slightly imperti-

Ever elegant Adolphe Menjou

Clark Gable, John Payne and Gregory Peck all wore wide-lapelled plaid suits for their own flashy look.

But Fred Astaire was hailed as one of the fashion leaders because he, not nearly as handsome a man as Gable or Joel McCrea (another plaid suit devotee), seemed to be able to pull off some of the handsomest fashion looks because he had "manly grace."

"THE GREATEST SHOW ON

Ever since films hit the silver screen, audiences have tried to emulate the look of their favorite star.

Betty Boop and her spunky spit curls sent hairstyles into a spin and set the hair scene for the flapper era.

In 1941 Ginger Rogers as "Kitty Foyle" donned a dark workdress with white colar and cuffs and revolutionized the wardrobe of the American working girl as well as coined the term white collar worker."

The glory and glamour of bigger than life beauty intrigues and captivates. And the influence of the moving picture stars on fashion was really the influence of moving picture stars on women—women who in 1916 rushed out to buy a tank suit after seeing Annette Kellerman in "Daughter of the Gods."

Women who followed Garbo's lead and bobbed their hair.

If the look was new and exciting and worn by a beautiful actress it would be sure to start a rage.

Joan Crawford ignored the advice of designers and chose to accentuate, rather than camoflauge, her large shoulders. She ordered shoulder pads for all her suits and so did thousands of other women.

Once the movies were out, designers picked up the trends and focused on them. When Jean Harlow lowered her neckline, designers "plunged" into an era of low-cut gowns. When Greta Garbo wore a tricornered hat, a la Empress Eugenie, in one of her movies, the hat industry began mass reproductions, which eventually led to the hat's demise.

Not all movie costumes became street clothes. In all her beauty Marlene Dietrich did not start a craze when in the '20s she appeared on film in a tailored pant suit. Pants weren't worn in force until the 1960s.

Surprisingly, off the screen stars were not always the glamorous people they played. John Fairchild wrote the following in his book "The Fashion Savages."

"The great stars are not fashionable in the sense that they make a point of being well dressed. They dress instead for their personalities. Stars forget fashion and still set trends," he said.

There are exceptions. Audrey Hepburn and Lauren Bacall were among the clothes horses that Hollywood snatched up or created.

Bacall got her start as a model for Vogue magazine. And Hepburn was known more for her clothes than the roles she played, wearing Givenchy and Cecil Beaton crea-masses seem to crave. When Carole Lombard wore slinky dinner pajamas, she cast an image that men loved and women copied.

Frommila Contini writes in "Fashion: From Ancient Egypt to Present Day:" "Even girls in the lower income groups, although they might wear factory dungarees during the day, assumed some kind of "glamour" dress, based on the simplified version of that worn by a favorite film star, for going to the dance hall at night."

Schiaperelli, she adds, was one of the most influential dress designers from the '30s to the '60s. dressing the greats such as Garbo. Claudette Colbert, Bette Davis and the ever-sexy Jean Harlow.

Other Hollywood designers made equally important fashion notes, among them Gilbert Adrian and Howard Greer. More recently Piero Tosi awed audiences with his costuming of "The Damned." "Death in Venice" and his Academy Award-nominated work for "Ludwig" in 1973.

And on the tongue of any filmfashion buff is the name of Edith Head, whose designs have always caused stirs.

The effects of film on fashion continue. In spite of the demise of Hollywood's star system, images are still seen on the silver screen and women still clamor for those images.

Dr. Zivago with it's fur trimmed midi coats, side-closure shirts and high boots started a whole series of cold weather crazes.

The current nostalgia rage can be traced to "Bonnie and Clyde" where Faye Dunaway dropped her hemline and wore a hat.

"Lady Sings the Blues" started a flowering craze, putting blossoms in the hair, on the shoulders or at the waist.

The soon to open "Great Gatsby" will surely send women in search of more feminine, wistful styles. And "Mame" is bound to start a revival in the era of film spans.

Today, the absence of large production movies makes the influence of film on fashion more subtle. Certainly crazes will evolve from the Julie Cristies, the Mia Farrows or the Barbra Streisands.

But the crazes will not belong to one person. Rather a variety of stars project a variety of images . . . and the female moviegoer must make her own choice.

In 1939 "Andy Hardy Gets Spring Fever" was one of the comedy hits of the year—in it he wore lots more sweaters.

That's what fashionable men will be doing in the spring of 1974,

Sweaters have come out of fall and winter wardrobes to transcend the seasons and give flare to casual spring apparel.

Sleeveless pullovers are a great addition to a casual sportcoat and jazzy shirt. Cable knit sweaters give the classic look to any outfit.

Double sweater sets add dimension to a man's wardrobe. Shawl collars are an interesting change from classic V-necks and crew necks.

In the 1974 version of "The Great Gatsby," sweaters play an important role in the leisurely life of Long Island summer people. Their styles-'30s nostalgia, are the spring look for men.

Vest dressing is important for warm months

Mae West in "My Little Chickadee"

"You Were Never Lovelier"

If buxom Mae West and Jayne Mansfield could look glamorous, why can't anyone of a special size.

Marie Dressler, no lithe nymph, starred in a movie made in 1929 called "The Divine Lady." Hollywood never lies, right?

The special-size woman has special and not insurmountable problems in dressing fashionably. Fortunately designers are remembering this is a nation of people who are fed well and grow tall accordingly.

Using a little discretion can make a big difference in dressing well. Try not to accentuate hips with dresses with peplums, but flounces at the bottom of the skirt will carry the eye in that direction.

Fortunately color isn't even a consideration anymore as anyone can wear anything in this colorful fashion world.

Pleats are good fashion news, especially for special-sized women, and especially stitched down from waist to hip types. Knife pleats will not be flattering.

Skirt designs are on the side of the special sizers, with gored and flared skirts leading the fashion

Wear the pajama pant suits if they are cut well to your body shape, otherwise the look will not be achieved.

Give the slip and camisole top dresses the slip. Even curvaceous, skinny models have trouble making them look right because their bones show.

"Curly Top"

Famous for her long, sweet curls was little Shirley Temple, especially in her 1935 talky called "Curly Top."

If you think along those closecropped and wavy lines, you are thinking correctly for your new spring hairstyle.

Hair can be either abundant or sparse, but it must look natural. Gone are the stiff hair-sprayed jobs of the '50s and '60s. Nature is here to stay.

The more feminine one's hair, the better. Let your face shine through with no bangs. The best looks are those which move the hair away from the face.

Straight hair can use a little wave or curl this season.

The Inset is "In"!

And Hammonton does it with unerring taste. The checked suit has an inset panel of exploded Argyle for handsome contrast --set off by double cobbler stitching. Trousers match the checked jacket. ## "The Man in the White Suit"

Without the secret formula that Alec Guiness discovered in his 1952 movie "The Man in the White Suit," it's doubtful any of those stunning white suits, or more accurately, the men in them, will be able to do more than just stand up at cocktail parties wearing them.

Gorgeous though they may be, without that special "never-soil" formula, white suit wearers will have to be a wary lot to stay gorgeous.

That means no spaghetti for lunch and no lobster for dinner (although at today's prices lobster might be an appropriately extrava-

How Robert Redford stayed as dashing as he did in his white suit all through "The Great Gatsby" is some mystery.

When his real love Daisy tells him he "always looks so cool" she's talking to a man who has either just put that suit on and had it pressed on him, or one who's been in the florist's refrigerated case for two hours before going on the set.

There are more rules to this game, though.

Be sure to take a towel with you if you plan to sit in public restaurants, or ride on public transportation. You'll want to wipe the seat first before you sit down. (Don't trust a car pool carseat, either—take the towel).

Don't accept candy from strangers; it may have a liquid center—that goes for cough drops, too.

Pass up the soup course, it could be dangerous. Try only to frequent air-conditioned places while wearing that blazing beauty of a white suit—you don't want to look like Sidney Greenstreet, do you? (Paddle fans simply don't do the trick.)

Even though you may need the influence, don't rub elbows with anyone while you're wearing your dazzler.

Having mastered the rules, be sure to wear a pale ice cream colored shirt (silk preferred) and a smashing silk tie and don't forget the lace-up white bucks—Pat Boone would approve.

"The Last Detail"

Jack Nicholson may win an Oscar for his performance in "The Last Detail" and so may fashion designers for the "details" they are incorporating in this season's fashions.

Designers must be having a good time adding little touches to clothes for m'lady for spring and summer.

Tiny straps and some that crisscross steal the show on evening clothes. Little bows and rhinestone touches add sparkle. Back yokes are blouson and tucks and pleats are playing a part in the fashion role, too.

Appliques have rejoined the forces in fashion in the form of flowers and other fancies.

"It's a Mad, Mad, Mad World"

Its started again. Now I'm supposed to throw out my Cardin blazers and wear blue jeans, not just for casual wear but even out to dinner.

The jeans must not be new either but faded and worn like the cowboys wear. Basically, the look is repugnant to the genteel, contemporary, conservative eye.

On the other hand, I thought of the money to be saved now that inexpensive clothes are "in."

I journeyed to Northland to partake of the new fashion. The jeans suit was a surprising $65, but that wasn't all.

Alterations were $15. Also, to be really au courant, the jeans have to be studded. For $40, the studding is done.

As the new suit still looked like it "just missed," my wife suggested some embroidery on the hack (done for a mere $32).

Adding a new turtleneck ($17) and some boots ($32) brought my "just slumming" outfit up to $201!

How did we men get into this fad-fashion mess? It started in the mid-50s.

Long-haired entertainers, they started it. Along with their long hair came their way-out clothing and, as America was then on a "youth" kick, young adults and soon old adults all over the country adopted the hair, the side-burns and the colorful clothes.

Three dark suits and a blue blazer (each of which could be worn six to nine years with minor repairs) were no longer a complete wardrobe for an upcoming suburban businessman.

We got ourselves into colored shirts, wider ties and belts, flared pants and a variety of patterned suits and jackets in suedes and

One year the single-breasted suit was the rage, the next, a double-breasted was in style. Doublebreasted jackets came in two-button, then four, six, eight and 10.

It got to be that the number of buttons you had on your blazer indicated how new it was.

And who of us can forget that ghastly Edwardian look or the illfated Nehru? What about the velvets, the ruffles and the patent platform shoes?

One minute we're supposed to dress like Sonny, the next like Cher.

There is another problem that is an outgrowth of this new vicious fad-fashion cycle for men. Think of all the old cliches we used to use on our wives that now apply to us:

"What! Another new hat!" "Do you really wear all those clothes?"

The window plaid blazer over wheat trousers

"What are all these bills for?" "Do you have to follow those stupid designers like a bunch of

Alas, we cannot use these lines

I think this is probably the real disaster wrought by the constantly changing men's fashion scene. How can you complain about your wife's spending when your bills are running neck-and-neck with hers?

The ultimate put-down has arrived-the "jeans look."

I spent $201 to make me look like I don't have a dime. Lest I think I'm safely in style for the immediate future, I have read that the movie, "The Great Gatsby," is soon being released.

Just everyone supposedly will wear this new in look by summer-lace oxfords, knickers, narrow ties, white vested-suits.

I wonder how much a slightly used pair of jeans will bring at the resale shop.

Anyone who's ever had the job of wardrobing a junior high personage knows there's no one more fashion-minded.

Not that the junior high crowd follows any fashion edicts from any book. They know by listening to some "in" voice what's good for

There's no point in foisting a fashion you think would look good on their trim young frames. If it doesn't meet their standards, it hangs in the closet - or more likely winds up in the corner of the closet floor.

And junior highs are not fashion sheep. They insist on individuality, a fact well known by any mother *who has tried to effect a hand-medown of a perfectly useful outfit.

"It's not my style," she's likely to hear. And just what is her style. Well, she probably can't say exactly, but she knows it.

So try to define junior high fashion by talking to a couple of representatives of that age group

"Anything that you like and looks good," is the answer.

Probe a little further and you find out that most people like blue jeans a lot and they nearly always look good.

What kind of jeans? This year they don't all have to ride low on the hops. Some do, but some of the kinds like them coming waist high

This year they are embroidered, painted and faded. The sequined and studded look seems to be on the wane. They definitely must be belled, and they should be cuffed (unless the wearer has a sudden growth spurt and decided long jeans are better than cuffed jeans.)

With the jeans go a wide variety of tops and accessories. Close fitted tops with lots of elastic at the waist are much in this year, but lots of teens still love their smocks.

In shoes, you'll see lots of chunky ones with platform soles, but that doesn't mean the beloved tennies are being forgotten.

Tooled purses seem to get the biggest vote from the junior highs. and plenty of thin metal bracelets provide the favorite jewelry.

How about dresses. When they wear them, they keep them short - or full length.

"The Tall Blond Man With One Black Shoe"

Rounded toes and the broque tassles in patent for

Fashion forecasts advise that being with only one shoe, and a black one at that, is really not the vogue unless you're absent-minded or in an extreme hurry.

"The Tall Blond Man with One Black Shoe" is a current French comedy which is unlike the current serious fashion trends in men's shoes.

Deadly serious are the retakes of the two-toned wing-tip in dark brown, navy and black with white.

Brogues, with their little tassles or large flaps so they resemble golf shoes, look appropriate with many of this spring's styles.

White shoes, unless they are lace-ups to go with those elegant white linen or silk suits, are definitely not something to consider along with shiny shoes that aren't ox-blood or black.

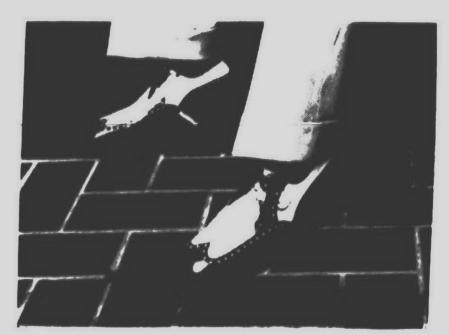

Natural tanned colors abound in men's shoes. Textures are also natural in suedes.

Most important is the almost imminent death of the platform shoe for men. If you've been uncomfortable for a couple of seasons slip into a good old loafer with the Gucci trim and walk to your heart's content-in style.

"The Man in the Gray Flannel Suit"

Since 1956 when Gregory Peck starred in "The Man in the Gray Flannel Suit" the advertising business has changed a lot.

No longer are ad people dressing as backgrounds for their materials—they are fashion leaders.

Suits have gone down two paths. They are either decidedly casual or handsomely formal. All of them have natural shoulders and clean, slim cuts. Many waists are belted or gathered.

Fabrics like gabardine and linen are making comebacks. Polyester seersucker and silk shantung are also new looks.

Colors are pale, from cool white to pink, khaki, cream and beige, or they are deep-toned pin stripes.

Patterns are the big issue. Suits are available in stripes, checks, texture prints and plaids-window-pane, Glen, tartan and others.

The more formal suits can be worn with sleek vests and a plaid shirt is now ok with a business

Casual suits should be worn with long collared shirts left open and overlapping the suit jacket's collar-for the brave, it's the Italian movie star look.
