Consolidated city would need 9.7 mills levy to provide city-level services

By W. EDWARD WENDOVER

PLYMOUTH — Providing governmental services at current city levels throughout a consolidated Plymouth and Plymouth Township would take a maximum 9.7 millage rate.

That was the conclusion of the report released Thursday by the Michigan State University Institute for Community Development. The report was co-sponsored by Plymouth and Plymouth Township through an Ad Hoc Consolidation Committee.

In detailing the costs of governmental services under consolidation, the 66-page report said:

• The 9.7 millage rate would mean a reduction of 5.0 mills from the current city rate.

• It would also mean an increase of 6.4 mills from the current township millage level.

• The 9.7 mill rate would be an increase of 2.5 mills if the township were currently offering services (police protection, refuse collection, more fire protection) on the city's levels.

Kenneth VerBurg, Donald Peppard and Edmond Alchin, the MSU researchers who prepared the report, said the main objective was to analyze the effect consolidation would have on the two communities if it were to happen now.

Their report does not consider all of the changes in the newly proposed city budget (which asks for a 1.75 mills hike) or in the recently-adopted new township budget.

Duane L. Gibson, director of the MSU institute, said, "The issue of making major revisions in a local governing system is one that citizens face infrequently; therefore, they find it difficult to know what questions need to be asked, let alone where to find answers."

"We are hopeful that this report will pose some of the important questions as well as provide answers."

The report separates the costs of local governments by comparing the current costs separately, the combined current costs and the estimated costs of those services under a consolidated government.

Services provided by the two local communities were broken down into: general government administration; fire services; emergency medical services; police services; water and sewer services; refuse services; building, engineering and planning services; streets; public works; recreation; and miscellaneous functions.

The study, in evaluating fire-protection services, used two estimates for the township. One is based on current levels while the other estimates the costs which will be incurred by operating, equipping and staffing the proposed third fire station.

To compare the costs of providing police protection for the township, which currently has no police department, the MSU researchers used the city's latest proposal to provide police protection for the township and two tentative proposals now being studied by a township citizens' study group.

Although that township study group, headed by Col. Fred Davids, has not yet released its findings or recommendations, the MSU report says the study group may propose:

• A 17-officer township police department costing $304,000 annually not including cost for a base station, lock-up facilities.

• A 12-member township police department costing $250,000 annually not including facilities and relying "rather extensively on supplemental services from the Michigan State Police for both communications and road patrol."

The MSU researchers questioned the cost estimates being used by the citizen study committee for the two PLYMOUTH — As a public service, today's Plymouth Observer & Eccentric contains the major portions of the Plymouth - Plymouth Township consolidation study.

The report, prepared by the Michigan State University Institute for Community Development, is printed exactly as prepared in unjustified (uneven right - hand margins) typed columns.

For space reasons, some less important portions of the 66 - page report do not appear here. Complete copies of the report may be read at either Plymouth City Hall or Plymouth Township Hall.

The city and the township co - sponsored this report through an Ad Hoc Consolidation Committee.

Voters in those two communities will vote Tuesday, May 7 on whether or not to consolidate.

Prior to that election, the MSU researchers will discuss their report with community leaders set up by the Ad Hoc Committee.

If consolidation passes in both Plymouth and Plymouth Township on May 7, a second election would be held July 2 to elect nine charter commissioners who would be charged with writing a new charter for the new consolidated community.

Their charter would have to be approved by voters in both communities before consolidation could officially take place.

The deadline for voter registration for the May 7 consolidation election and Plymouth Township clerks' offices will be open until 8 p.m. to accommodate voter registration.

Higher costs under consolidation are shown for legal fees.

The MSU report, in trying to estimate the general government costs under consolidation, said, "It is, of course, conjecture on our part to assume any particular type of governing arrangement should the two units consolidate."

"This is a matter for the charter commission and ultimately the voters of the two units to decide. For purposes of comparison however, we will assume that the type of government chosen will be similar to that in the city (i.e. city manager)."

TO CONSOLIDATE/OR NOT...?

Miller is probable pilot for voluntary '45-15'

By JAN WILLIAMS

PLYMOUTH — If the Plymouth Board of Education approves the "45-15" plan for year around school at the elementary level, it will be instituted at Miller Elementary School on a voluntary basis beginning July 22.

The board hopes to make a decision at Wednesday's board meeting in the Plymouth-Canton High School commons.

According to Supt. John M. Hoben, there are three prerequisites to making the final decision. He said before the board can make a decision it must first know: (1) how the Plymouth Education Assn. (PEA) feels about the "45-15" plan and whether they can work out a calendar by July 22; (2) the results of a survey conducted in the Gallimore attendance area to see if parents desire their children to be enrolled in the Miller program, and (3) pre-registration of the Miller attendance area on April 9 and 10, to find out how many want their children in the "45-15" program.

Hoben said the children of Miller attendance area residents who didn't want their children in the "45-15" program would be bused to other schools with space available.

He said hopefully Gallimore would provide enough students willing to participate in Miller's program to make an even exchange between the two schools.

"Hopefully, we'll have enough students at Gallimore interested in the program who will transfer to Miller in order to make enough room at Gallimore to accommodate the students at Miller who don't want to participate."

Hoben said Gallimore was chosen because of its close proximity to Miller.

Shirley Spaniel, principal of Miller Elementary School, said the PEA was very supportive of the "45-15" concept.

"Their major concern centered around the details that have to be worked out, such as the salary negotiations for next year."

Mrs. Spaniel said if salaries aren't worked out by July 22, the designated date for the beginning of "45-15" salaries could be made retroactive to July 22.

"It was important to teachers that they get the same amount of in-service days and vacation days as the teachers on the traditional school year."

Of the 20 classroom teachers and six special teachers at Miller, only two classroom teachers requested to be transferred to a school with the traditional school system, Mrs. Spaniel said.

She added that a tentative school year calendar has been worked out for the "45-15" plan at Miller.

Hoben said the administration supports the "45-15" plan, "but if the surveys show a negative attitude, we'll have to take another look at it."

He stressed that only Miller will be involved in the pilot program next year and the reason for pressing for a decision at this time is to ensure enough time to prepare for the program by July.

GUEST CONDUCTOR MICHAEL DICUIRCI rehearses members of Centennial Educational Park's symphony band in preparation for the combined concert of three bands and the percussion ensemble Wednesday night at Plymouth-Salem High School.

Guest conductors lead PHS bands in concert

PLYMOUTH — Central Middle School band director Michael DiCuirci and Senior Mark Stephens will be guest conductors at the Plymouth Centennial Park bands' pre-Easter concert Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Salem Auditorium.

The concert will feature the Plymouth Percussion Ensemble, the 94-member symphony band, 92-member concert band, and 18-piece stage band.

The stage band will perform first and will feature a trumpet solo by Bill Lucas from a repertoire of Doc Severinsen's songs.

The percussion ensemble, conducted by Plymouth High School graduate Gary Hill, will play music ranging from Bach to rock. The percussionists will feature the background music from the Academy Award-winning movie, "The Sting."

Members of the ensemble include: Heidi Foster, Jim Schlotz, Dave Messacar, Ron Grogg, Diane Harder, Bill Sweeney, and Kirk Campbell.

Hill is a teaching fellow for percussion instruments in the University of Michigan's music school and percussion section leader of the Michigan marching and symphony bands.

The concert band will perform "The Freelance March" by Sousa and Bilik's "Rhapsody on Russian Folk Songs."

Guest conductor DiCuirci will lead the symphony band in performance of Giannini's fourth movement, from "Symphony for Band, No. 3."

Stephens, a senior member of the symphony band and drum major of the marching band, will conduct the "Crown Imperial March" by William Walton. He was recently a semi-finalist in statewide solo competition.

The symphony band will also perform excerpts from Verdi's "Manzoni Requiem" and "Ceremony of Flourishes" by Alfred Reed.

Moceri vote is Tuesday

CANTON — The "Moceri Project" showdown is at hand.

Despite the illness of two of its members, the Canton Township Board of Trustees has set Tuesday night's meeting for its vote on proposed rezoning to allow the controversial regional shopping center known as the "Moceri Project."

The entire project includes a Westland-type commercial center and a planned unit development (PUD) of single-family and multiple dwelling units. The project is proposed for the southeast corner of Joy and Sheldon roads.

Tuesday, the board will be voting on the commercial rezoning for the project. That rezoning has been recommended by both the Canton Township and the Wayne County Planning commissions.

The PUD section of the proposal was approved by the township planning commission last Tuesday and now goes to the county for its recommendations.

The township board must make the final decision on any rezoning and has put off this decision twice because Trustee Bob Griffin and Supervisor Phil Dingeldey have been ill.

Griffin's illness has been considered serious and he is not expected to make Tuesday's meeting. At one point he was thought to hold the tie breaking vote on the project.

Dingeldey is expected to attend Tuesday.

Two weeks ago, when the Moceri vote was tabled a second time, Township Clerk John Flodin said, "Regardless of who is or isn't there (Tuesday, April 9), we've agreed to put it on the agenda. The people are entitled to a decision. I hope everyone can be there."

Several homeowner groups in the township have opposed the project and one of them, the Windsor Park Homeowners Assn., has pledged to launch a petition drive seeking a referendum on the controversial project should the board approve it.

Tuesday's township board meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in the fire hall at Canton Center and Cherry Hill roads.

SC considers added tax levy

By HANK MEIJER

Residents of the Schoolcraft College district may face a .23 mill levy beyond current voted limits if the school's Board of Trustees authorizes a millage to raise funds for debt retirement.

Acting at a special meeting April 3, the board voted unanimously to levy the full 1.77 mill all-purpose millage voted in past years, and to consider levying the additional millage to raise an estimated $380,000 to use for debt retirement.

Schoolcraft's current 1.77 mill levy against the district's 1973 state equalized valuation of $1.56 billion provides the school with nearly $2.8 million in revenue. Of this sum, almost $2.2 million goes for operating expenses, with the remainder allocated to retire debts. The district's state equalized valuation has grown from $500,000 when Schoolcraft was founded to more than $1.5 billion today.

The board is considering using a larger share of the voted revenue for operating expenses, plus paying for $250,000 in planned maintenance needs. Debt retirement funds would then have to come from another source.

Trustees have agreed to hold the line on tuition increases, maintaining the same $11 per credit hour district-resident rate that has been in effect since July, 1972. Tuition fees of $22 per credit hour for non-residents and $33 for out-of-state students will remain unchanged.

Michigan's 1963 constitution permits community colleges, as "charter authorities," to levy millages expressly for debt service without asking voter approval.

Current estimates place Schoolcraft's income for all purposes for the coming year at $7.5 million, considerably less than projected needs.

The decision to levy the debt service millage will likely be made this summer, after a review of 1974-75 budget needs and a public hearing scheduled for June 28.

Schoolcraft's existing debts are estimated at $9 million, with more than $2.4 million of that total to be retired in May.

According to school officials, the .23 levy would add about $4.60 to the tax bill of a district resident with a $40,000 home, valued at $20,000 for tax purposes. The added millage would mean district residents would pay a total of 2 mills.

Trustees intend the additional millage to allow the college to avoid operating with a deficit balance. "Without added resources it would be nearly impossible to build a budget that would permit the continued expansion of programs and services to our community," said Schoolcraft President C. Nelson Grote.

'Crime tax' hearing draws only 2

As a result of the small citizen turnout at the public meeting Thursday in Livonia, the general government committee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners will hold no more public hearings concerning the proposed one-mill tax for police services.

Samuel Turner, committee chairman, said that his committee will decide at its next meeting, April 10, whether to support or reject the measure.

If supported it then will be considered by the board before May 4, the date on which the issue would be placed on the ballot.

Only two citizens were on hand in the 16th District Court building in Livonia to express their views on the suggested tax. "There has to be a limit on what we are asked to pay," said Nick Iatrow, a Democratic precinct delegate who opposed the measure.

George Kettunen, currently a member of the Wayne County Citizens Grand Jury, voiced support of the measure, particularly because funds raised would be used for the Wayne County Organized Crime Task Force.

In the informal exchange of opinions between the committee and Iatrow, Richard Manning of Redford, committee member, explained federal money that had been used to support the task force has run out. "Unless we strip other projects we will not have enough money for it," he said.

Iatrow favored such cuts saying, "We don't always have to be first in everything." Iatrow also feared that if a precedent was established on this one-mill levy that soon the county would be coming to the voters for more money for firefighters, garbage collection, etc.

Basing his remarks on experience as a grand juror, Kettunen said that to deplete the task force would be a grave mistake. "A great deal of material brought to the grand jury was supplied by this group. If we had had to rely solely on the county prosecutor's office we would have done half of what we did."

Manning remarked the county soon will be faced with the prospect of supporting the program of legal help for the indigent which is soon to lose its $1 million yearly support from the federal government.

"We have many financial decisions to make about our hospital, about indigents, etc. These are important decisions that should be made by people coming to these hearings," he declared.

Retired employees to meet April 10

Western Wayne County Chapter 1163, National Assn. of Retired Federal Employees (NARFE) will meet Wednesday, April 10, at 1:30 p.m. in the Plymouth Community Federal Credit Union Building, 500 S. Harvey, corner of Maple Street in Plymouth.

All retired federal employees are invited and refreshments will be served.

NARFE is a 186,000 member, non-profit, incorporated organization of retired federal civil service employees. It has 1,000 chapters located in various cities throughout the United States.

For more than 50 years the organization has championed the cause of retired federal employees. Eligible retirees living in the area are invited to join. Those interested should contact Robert Gordon, 29832 Barkley, Livonia.

Turner noted that so far support has been negative for this tax proposal expected to raise more than $13 million for the county, of which 80 per cent would be returned to the cities and townships.

"Letters I have received from mayors, councilmen, and supervisors around the county oppose the millage on a county basis," he said. "Many of them would prefer to raise money for police services in their own localities."

Had such a proposal been approved by the voters, Livonia would have received $560,700; Westland, $310,690; Garden City, $139,980; Plymouth, $54,585; Plymouth Township, $99,915; and Redford Township, $313,515.

County plans abuse services on drugs, booze

A broadened attack on narcotics and alcohol abuse is under way in Wayne County with appointment of a 24-member advisory council and creation of 17 task forces to plan substance abuse services.

Persons with experience in the substance abuse field were appointed to the Substance Abuse Services Advisory Council which serves both the county and Detroit.

Council appointments were made by J. Irvin Nichols, administrator of the Michigan Office of Substance Abuse Services, and confirmed by the county board of commissioners.

Members were chosen from some 100 nominees submitted by the board of commissioners, the mayor and Common Council of Detroit, plus local officials and agencies throughout Wayne County.

Elected by its members to co-chair: the council were Benjamin Davis, director of the New Detroit drug abuse project, and Dr. Lowell McCoy, associate professor at the Wayne State University School of Medicine. The county board of commissioners recently consolidated all county narcotics and alcoholism treatment programs into the new Wayne County Department of Substance Abuse Services. These included 10 programs formerly operated by the Detroit-Wayne County Community Mental Health Services Board.

The new department was established to improve services to victims of substance abuse and to pave the way for increased state and federal funding by bringing the county structure into line with new state guidelines.

In accord with state guidelines, the advisory council must develop a comprehensive substance abuse services plan for Wayne County. This will include recommending to the city, county and state, the agency within Wayne County best qualified to coordinate substance abuse services.

As a first step, the advisory council established 17 task forces to develop recommendations for the various facets of the substance abuse services program.

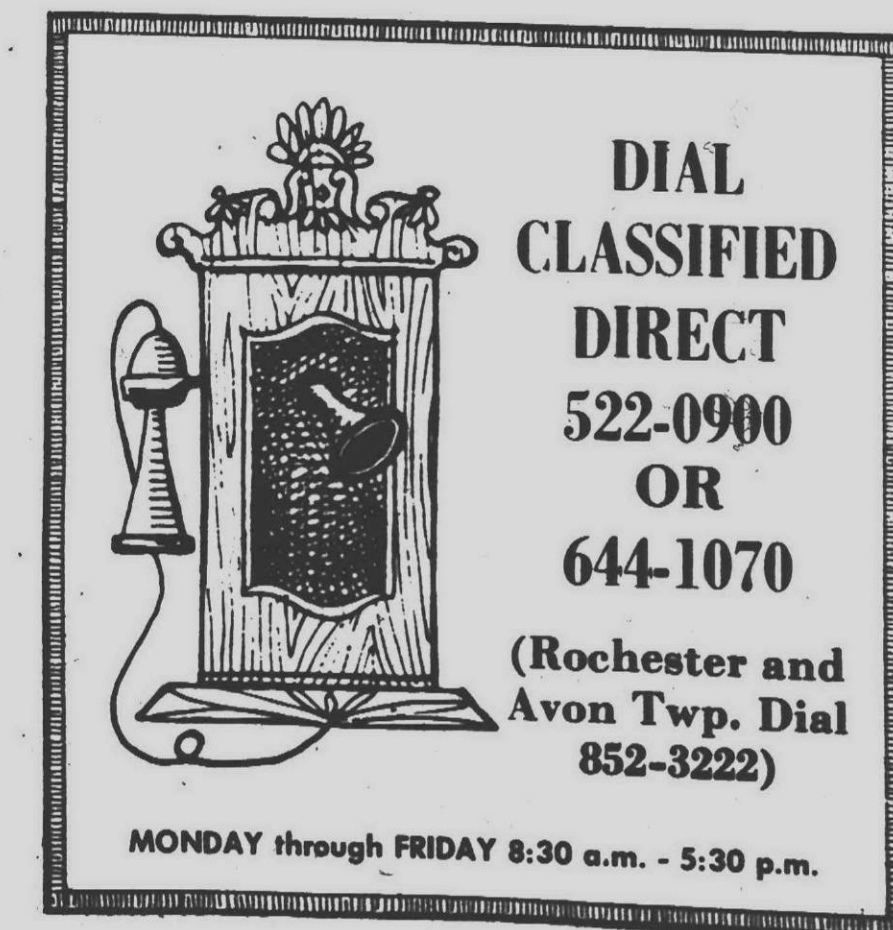

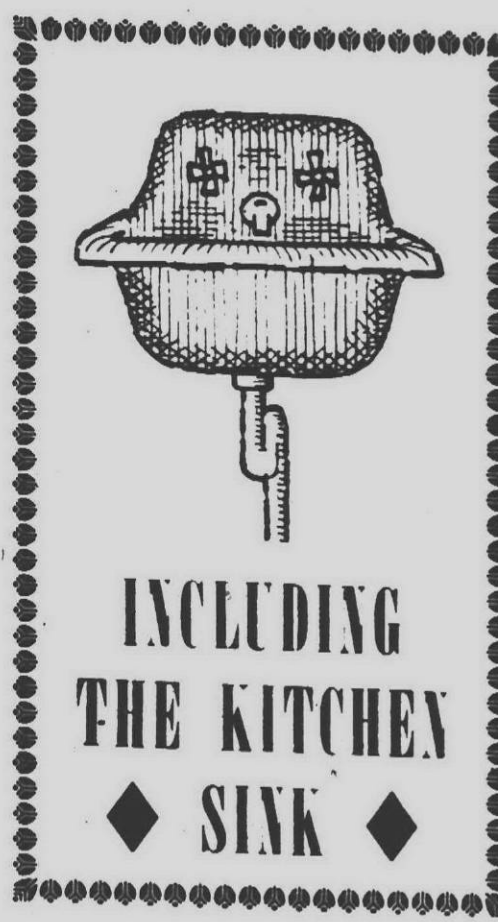

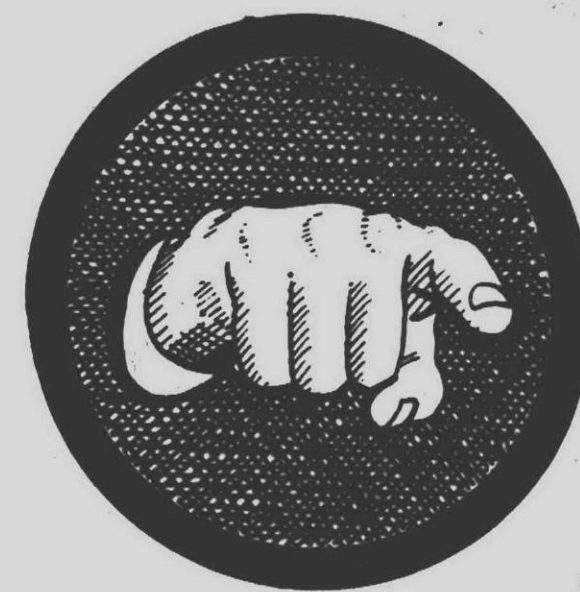

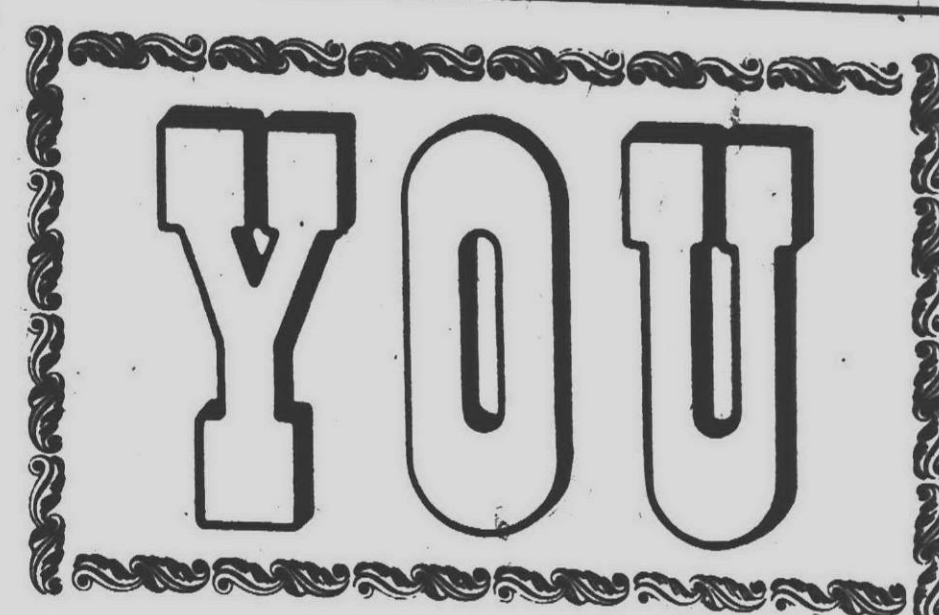

A six-member staff work group was established to work with the task forces. The staff group includes Dr. Edward Leibson, interim director of the county department of substance abuse services.

Council members from outside Detroit include: Allan Breakie of Northville, executive director of Garden City Osteopathic Hospital, and member of the planning council of the Greater Detroit Area Hospital Council; and John Dobreff of Westland, counselor at Head Center, Dearborn.

Also Gil Donahue of Dearborn, attorney who contributes services to the Hearing Aide free legal clinic; Mrs. Alyce Lakuts, youth commissioner for the City of Lincoln Park and social services coordinator for the City of Taylor Drug Team.

Others are: Dr. E.J. McClendon, Ann Arbor, professor and chairman of the health education department, University of Michigan School of Public Health; Don Roach, Livonia, County Health Department pharmacist and board chairman of the Community Commission on Drug Abuse, and Mrs. Merle Solomon, Grosse Ile, secretary of the Downriver Mutual Aid Assn. and former Grosse Ile Township Supervisor.

Council members from Detroit include: Daniel Aldridge, executive director of NARCO; Detroit Recorder's Court Judge Robert L. Evans; Edwin Gunther, pharmacist and chemistry instructor at Wayne County Community College; Millie Jeffery, UAW consumer affairs coordinator and vice president of NARCO; and county commissioner George F. Killeen (D-Detroit), member of the Mayor's Committee on Substance Abuse.

Pilgrim Towers' secrecy raises questions

By W.W. EDGAR

PLYMOUTH — THE 200-unit senior citizens housing project proposed for Ann Arbor Trail between Hamilton Street and the railroad has become enmeshed in red tape and a series of unanswered questions.

Seemingly dormant for the past several months, it was revived again for public discussion when James Houk, president of the Pilgrim Towers Non-Profit Housing Corp. that is promoting the project, appeared before the City Commission to seek financial support.

During his discussion it was learned for the first time, publicly, that the project had been turned down by the Housing and Urban Development Department in Washington.

This development opened the dike for a lot of questions:

When did the federal government turn down the project?

C&O train stops cops, gets ticket

PLYMOUTH — When a C&O freight train blocks a crossing, ignores the signals from a police car, and holds up traffic 12 minutes, it's certain to face a charge.

This is what happened early Wednesday morning at the Starkweather crossing.

Sgt. William Fletcher and Patrolman Tom Drake say that about 1:55 a.m. they were delayed at the crossing until 2:07 a.m. by a freight train westbound that was sitting approximately 100 feet east of the Holbrook crossing.

The train made the gates lower at Starkweather and Mill.

The police signaled the engine with a spot light and beacon ray. The engine returned the signal by using a headlight. It then moved west to Starkweather and stopped, still blocking Starkweather, Mill, Holbrook and York streets.

The officers said they radioed the police station dispatcher, asking him to contact the C&O yard. It was a few minutes later that the train cleared the crossing, the officers charge.

Why?

Why did Houk wait so long to inform the commission in writing of the rejection?

What is the next move?

What chance is there of success?

How did the city get involved?

To what extent?

Who negotiated the loan from the National Bank of Detroit?

For how much and for how long?

If the grant is made, when will the non-profit organization be replaced by a profit making organization which is demanded by law?

If the project fails, how will the city get its money back?

If the property is sold for a profit, who will receive the financial benefit?

If the profit-making corporation takes over, will it be composed of any members of the present non-profit group?

When will the fate of the proposed project be decided?

Does the city have the legal right to spend taxpayer's money to pay interest on a mortgage loan made by another group?

In making his report to the city commission last week, Houk enclosed a letter from the government informing the Pilgrim Towers group that the Department of Housing and Urban Development had suspended subsidized housing programs as of Jan. 5, 1973.

This letter was dated Dec. 3, 1973, but its contents were not made known until Houk reported to the commission in April.

"I never reported to the commission in writing," Houk explained. "Because I thought it was understood the federal government turned us down when I reported in November that we were now making an application to be funded by the State Housing Authority. True, I didn't make a written report but I thought it was understood."

"More than that," he said, "we got the go-ahead to proceed at the state level."

Houk, in his report, informed the commission that, in his judgement the state would look with favor upon the project. If this happens, the grant would be federal money distributed by the state in the new HUD procedure.

The city became involved, financially, in the project when it agreed to pay the interest on the loan negotiated with the National Bank of Detroit in the amount of $147,000 by the Pilgrim Towers group, with the full faith and credit of its members as collateral.

This money was used to purchase the property and the city, thus far, according to City Manager Fred Yockey, has become involved in the amount of $5,388.

"Our Pilgrim Towers group had no money of its own," Houk stated, "and the city entered into the agreement as a means of doing its part for the senior citizens."

"Several members of our group," Houk continued, "have provided funds from time to time to continue options, and that was done for the good of the city. It was done in the spirit of aiding the community."

Whether the city had the right to enter into an agreement to pay the interest now is questionable since a recent city attorney opinion prohibited its right to contribute to other charity organizations.

"This is one of the things I intend to find out," Yockey said, "on my trip to Lansing to make a study of the entire project. There are several others."

DAISY M. CHAVEY will retire April 20, after more than 30 years with the Plymouth office of Michigan Bell. Mrs. Chavey began her career late in 1943 and is currently assistant manager for operator service in Michigan Bell's Plymouth traffic department.

And I intend to pursue every angle to decide whether the city should become deeper involved."

While the state, supposedly, has looked with favor on the project there is no telling when the money would be made available.

"We were too late to get in on the 1973 funding," Houk confided, "and thus far the 1974 HUD funds have not been appropriated."

"If we are approved, we'll just have to stand in line and wait. There's no telling just when the grant would be made."

When it is made, according to the procedure laid down by law, the non-profit organization would have to give way to a profit making group to assure control and operation of the project.

Houk is hopeful that the city will take over and run the project once it is finalized. However, he said that in the event the city doesn't do this, it will be offered to some other group and it wouldn't be composed of the same men who form the Pilgrim Towers organization.

If the grant is denied, or the city turns it down following Yockey's survey, the property is to be sold and the city will then get its money back.

"And if there is a profit, it has been agreed that it would be given to the city to aid senior citizens in any way possible."

"None of us in our group will get a cent," Houk said.

State hearings explore banning hunting in Canton

By MAURIE WALKER

CANTON — A hearing, conducted by a hunting area control committee, representing the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, on if and where hunting will be allowed in Canton Township, drew 20 persons to the township hall Wednesday.

The committee, composed of Bruce Andrews of the department of natural resources, Sgt. Richard Koch of the Wayne County Sheriff Dept., and John Flodin, clerk of Canton Township, heard pros and cons on the hunting situation. A fourth member of the committee, Lt. Fay Johnson of the Michigan State Police, was absent.

At a first hearing held last Feb. 13, the committee received suggestions from Canton residents from which a tentative set of rules was drawn up.

From these tentative rules and the hearing last week, the committee will draw up restrictions which will be presented to the township board at an undetermined date.

The recommended tentative restrictions read by the committee state, "hunting is prohibited in the eastern portion of the township; hunting with or the discharge of a firearm or bow and arrow is unlawful in that part of Canton Township east of Canton Center Road."

The recommendation also states, "Hunting with or the discharge of a firearm or bow and arrow is unlawful in section 4, town 2 south, range 8 east, bounded on the north by Joy road, on the east by Canton Center Road, on the south by Warren and on the west by Beck Road."

Persons at the second hearing were about evenly divided on their opinions about hunting.

The committee was questioned as to why restrictions should be placed on bow and arrow hunting.

Don Boyer asked the committee, "Why restrict bows and arrows along with fire arms?"

He was told there had been no complaints received by the committee on the use of the bow and arrow. It was further explained that the recommendations on their restrictions were "only tentative."

Sgt. Koch told the gathering there had been only one hunting accident reported in Canton in 1972 and none last year.

"However," he added, "The committee has to take into account that although there were no hunting accidents last year, the potential is there, especially near heavily populated areas."

Feelings expressed by several of those at the hearing were, "We moved out here so that we could hunt on our own property." They also felt, "It's not right to close the entire township to hunting, it's a shame to close hunting anywhere."

Jack Boyd, a conservation officer, said he had received very few complaints about hunting or about trespassing on other persons property.

"I'm surprised to hear they are considering closing Canton to hunting," he told the committee.

Several home owners, including some from the Carriage Hills Home Owners Assn., east of Canton Center Road, said they had received "many complaints of hunters in the area."

They told the committee that houses and cars in the area had been hit by hunters.

Their complaints included trespassing on private property "even when signs are posted."

Sgt. Koch said his department has received "numerous trespassing complaints" but explained the sheriff can't arrest a trespasser; the owner has to sign a complaint and be able to recognize the trespasser.

To the charge by one of those opposed to hunting that, "hunters don't look where they are shooting" came the reply from the "pro hunters" that "People get emotional about hunting. When they see hunters, they get nervous."

Flodin said although he was an avid hunter, "The area is growing and we are going to have to lose some hunting area in the township."

At the conclusion of the hearing, Andrews reminded the group that the recommended rules were tentative.

"The committee will meet again to discuss possible changes. Nothing is final since the hunting rules, if any, must be presented to the township board."

"At our first hearing, we had more complaints about hunting. It appears tonight there are more hunters here. What we would like to do is get both sides together."

Summary

Population. The population of Plymouth city and Plymouth township has grown steadily in the last three decennial census periods. Although the township is continuing to expand its population, the city population is estimated to have declined since 1970. The decline probably results from smaller family size and the conversion of residences for other purposes.

The outlook for population change in the two units to 1990 varies according to which method of projection is used. Estimates for 1980 range from 11,226 to 11,980 for the city and 22,191 to 25,825 for the township. For 1990 estimates for the city are from 10,185 to 13,569 and for the township from 24,344 to 30,449.

The average of the four methods used indicates the combined population of the two units will be about 35,300 by 1980 and 38,000 by 1990.

On the basis of three dwelling units per acre, including public rights of way, the total space need for residential development between now and 1990 ranges from about one square mile to more than 2.5 square miles.

General Government and Administration. The legislative body of each unit consists of seven persons elected at large. Three of the township board members have administrative responsibilities, while the city employs a city manager to give managerial guidance to city operations.

The units are similar in terms of certain general government officers such as the clerk and treasurer, and the fact that both contract for planning services and legal counsel. Policies differ with respect to property assessing services, however. The township contracts for the service from the county while the city treasurer also holds the office of city assessor.

Consolidation would provide an opportunity for improved division of work assignments and utilization of personnel. We estimate general government costs to be $278,000 under consolidation whereas the two units combined now spend about $417,000.

Fire Services. Both the city and the township provide fire protection services. Each uses both full-time and volunteer staff. Each unit has two stations, although one of the city's stations is staffed only by volunteers. The township's equipment, in general, is newer than that of the city. Both units, however, will have to purchase equipment in the next few years, the city to replace existing gear and the township to equip a new station. As a consolidated unit much of the equipment acquisition could be deferred.

Under consolidation, we believe that the current levels of service could be approximated with two staffed stations and one volunteer-staffed station. Eventually a third staffed station will be necessary to protect the growing western portion of the township, whether or not the units consolidate. Thus, our estimates of costs under consolidation consist of two figures: about $436,000 for two staffed and one volunteer-staffed stations, and $560,000 for three staffed stations, and one volunteer station. Operating separately, the combined costs would be about $491,000 with the present stations and $614,000 when the township establishes a third station.

Emergency Medical Services. Both the city and the township provide emergency medical services which consist of first aid treatment and transportation of sick people or accident victims to hospitals. The basic difference between the policies of the two units is that the city assesses a fee for the service while the township charges only non-residents. The revenues that would be gained or lost from the reconciliation of these two policies under consolidation are not very significant in terms of the total. The costs for emergency medical services are included with the discussion of the fire stations, since the fire department personnel provide the service.

Police Services. At the present time the city has its own police department while the township depends almost entirely on the services provided by the county sheriff and the Michigan State Police. However, because the county has indicated that in the near future it will terminate its road patrol service, the township board has asked the city for a proposal to describe terms and conditions under which it would provide the service to the township on a contract basis. The board has also appointed a citizens committee to study the matter, make recommendations, and provide cost estimates for the establishment of a township police department.

The city proposal, if accepted, would provide the township with the same level of service now being provided in the city. The cost to the township would be about $513,000 per year. The citizens committee is considering two alternatives. One would staff a township department at a moderate level while continuing to rely somewhat on state and county police departments. The cost of this proposal would be about $304,000. A second proposal which would cost about $250,000 would provide a "starter" township police department which would depend rather extensively on state and county assistance.

The costs of police services, like most others, depends on the level of service that will be provided. Combining the present city costs with either of the two township proposals results in a combined cost for police services in the area of from $725,000 to $775,000 per year. However, because of differences in cost assumptions, we estimate that the combined costs of the first of the two township proposals with the present city expenditures could exceed the total cost of the city proposal, which was $860,000.

Water and Sewer Services. Both the city and the township provide water and sewer services for their communities. Both purchase water from the Detroit Metropolitan Water System and both purchase sewer disposal services from the Wayne County Road Commission. The rates charged both units are the same.

Policies in the two units differ somewhat in the sense that the city pays for its water and sewer systems almost entirely from the charges for water and sewer services. The township, on the other hand, while charging for water and sewer services, also finances part of the cost from the collection of property taxes.

On the assumption that water and sewer charges should pay the costs of operation and maintenance as well as the costs incurred from the city of Detroit and the road commission, we estimated that the rate could be 36¢ per 1,000 gallons of water used. Assuming that principal and interest costs should be borne by general taxation, we estimated that the millage should be $1.60 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. (The current township levy is $1.41.) Other capital costs and minor extensions of the system should be paid from benefit charges and tap-in fees which both units now assess.

Refuse Services. In the city, refuse services are provided to homeowners and commercial establishments. The service is paid for from a property tax levy of about $1.50 per $1,000 assessed valuation. In the township the service is provided on a private basis, each property owner securing the service on his own from private contractors. The costs range from $2.25 to $4.00 per month. On the basis of an average of $3.00 per month, the tax equivalent is about 2.4 mills for the owner of a $30,000 residence. If the service were provided by the township, we estimate the cost to be 1.4 mills.

Under consolidation, we assume that the present city service would be extended to the entire area. Because of the scattered development in some parts of the township, it is possible that the contract price may increase. We estimate that the contract price of the service under consolidation would be about $280,000 or about $1.20 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

Building, Engineering, and Planning. Both units operate building departments which inspect existing multiple housing units and new construction as well as issue a variety of construction-related permits. The city has an engineering department while the township contracts for the service with a consulting engineering firm. Both units contract with planning consultant firms to assist the planning commission.

Under consolidation we offer the suggestion that these functions could be organized into a department of community development which would integrate and coordinate these related functions. It is not likely, however, that this approach would negate the need for all consulting services either in the engineering or planning fields. The comparative cost estimates for these services now and under consolidation are shown in Table SU-1.

Streets. Cities are charged with the responsibility to maintain their own street systems and receive state aid for this purpose. Township streets, on the other hand, are part of the county road system and the county road commission receives state aid to maintain them.

The city street funds have a strong construction orientation. Projects in the major street fund are financed from state aid and special assessments while local street improvements are paid for from special assessments and general fund contributions. The city's local street improvement program, which began in 1971 and is planned to end in 1976, will result in permanent improvements on all local streets.

In the township, local street improvements are required for all new streets but funds have not been made available for improving existing local streets. Construction on the major street system is done by the county road commission from time to time with greatest emphasis being placed on intersection improvements. A summer 1974 project on M-14 is a state highway department project and does not involve local funds.

Under consolidation, the city street system will consist of all streets in the city and the township except those retained by county and state highway departments. On the basis of the current highway aid formula, we estimate that state aid will be about $432,000 per year. State aid to the major street fund should be sufficient for maintenance and some construction, but on the basis of present city expenses for maintenance of local streets about $50,000 annually will be needed from the general fund.

Under consolidation, the governmental unit will be required to contribute about $500,000 toward the cost of the new M-14 from Napier Road to the I-275 interchange. Contracts for this project are scheduled to be let in late 1975 and 1976. The local contribution would likely be paid from the major street fund.

Departments of Public Works. Both units have departments of public works. The township DPW's principal responsibility is the maintenance and operation of the water and sewer system. The city DPW also has this responsibility and in addition maintains the street system, parking facilities, parks, and the cemetery. Most work done by the city DPW is charged to other funds.

Fire services

Fire protection services, which are usually paid for from the general revenues, are a local responsibility. State and county governments, except in limited areas of the state, are not involved in the provision of this service. Both the city of Plymouth and Plymouth Township provide fire protection services.

A. Present Levels of Fire Service

City Services. The city employs both full-time professional fire fighters as well as on-call civilian personnel, usually referred to as "volunteers." The city's fire department personnel consists of a chief, 3 command officers, 6 firemen, and 20 volunteer firemen.

The city has 2 fire stations: one located at the city hall complex and the other at Spring and Holbrook streets. The central station is manned at all times by 3 full-time personnel, usually one command officer and 2 fire fighters. Station #2 is staffed with on-call volunteer personnel only. (The city's operation of 2 stations is necessitated by the problem of the railroad tracks and trains which cause delays in getting the equipment to the scene of a fire.) The city does not have one person assigned exclusively to inspection services. However, this work is carried out by one of the command officers. (With the daily presence of the chief, the staffing of the central station is maintained at 3 even while one of the persons may be on inspection duties.) For purposes of fire insurance charge rates, the city has a class 7 rating.

In terms of operations during an emergency, staffing at a level of 3 permits 2 full-time persons to respond immediately to an emergency which leaves one person available to respond to a second emergency along with off-duty personnel or volunteers who are called in to assist on standby after each emergency call. In the event of an emergency of considerable duration, the city can call on the resources of other communities for standby duty or assistance under the terms of the mutual assistance

The consolidated city would also require a DPW to perform the several functions it presently handles in the city. The DPW under consolidation would need some additional equipment and manpower, but most of that cost would be charged to funds using the services. The city DPW presently receives from the general fund about $90,000 per year, about two-thirds of which is for specified projects. We anticipate that about $100,000 would be needed for these purposes if the two units consolidated.

Recreation. The city's present recreation program is rather comprehensive in scope. The principal facility in this program is the cultural center which is available to all residents of the Plymouth school district.

During the last year the township—which does not sponsor a recreation program—and the city have considered forming a recreation authority. At the present time, however, this proposal is stalled. The township has recently purchased a recreation area and has an option on a golf course in the township. Both these facilities will contribute to public recreational opportunities in the future.

Under consolidation, we estimate that a minimum of $211,000 will be necessary to sustain in the new city the services presently offered in Plymouth city.

Miscellaneous Funds and Functions. A number of other functions and funds in both units totaling about $558,000 will be affected by consolidation. In some of these, such as judicial costs, we anticipate the increased revenues will exceed increased costs. In others, such as street lighting and sidewalks, increased costs will be a function of the extent to which services are expanded. For purposes of estimating costs under consolidation, we included only the combined costs of the two units.

agreement operative among Wayne County governmental units.

For the most part, the city's major pieces of fire fighting equipment are due or will be due for replacement within the next several years. The major equipment of the department is shown in Table F-1

Township Services. In many respects, the township fire department is similar to that of the city. The township department operates with both full-time and volunteer personnel. The full-time personnel numbers 13: a chief, 3 sergeants, and 9 fire fighters. The volunteers number approximately 15.

The township also has 2 fire stations at the present time. One is located at the township hall complex in the southeast portion of the township and the other at 41235 Schoolcraft Road in the northeast portion of the township. Both stations are manned around the clock by 2 full-time personnel. The township territory has 3 fire ratings, class 8, 9, and 10.

The township operates in a manner similar to that of the city, calling upon off-duty personnel and volunteers to provide standby or fire fighting assistance duty. The township is also one of the communities which provides and receives mutual assistance. Like the city, the township also accomplishes inspection duties without having one person assigned exclusively to the job. Because of the township code on new construction as it relates to requirements for sprinkler and smoke detection systems, a substantial amount of inspection work is required and is accomplished through the cooperation of the township building department and the fire department.

The township has made some recent improvements in fire fighting equipment and as a result has more modern equipment than the city. The major items were purchased with borrowed funds payable over a period of 3 years. Its equipment roster is shown in Table F-2.

Revenues for local government come from five principal sources: (1) property taxes, (2) state shared revenues, (3) charges and fees for services and permits, (4) federal revenue sharing, and (5) miscellaneous sources including courts, interest, sales, etc. These funds can be classified in two major categories, general purpose and restricted. The term "restricted" refers to limitations placed on the purposes for which the funds may be used: restrictions placed by state or federal governments, by the voters as in voted millage, or by donors of gifts.

A. Present Revenues

City. City general purpose revenues for 1973-74 were budgeted as follows:

Property Taxes	$1,160,390
State Shared	267,425
Permits & Licenses	17,900
Other	91,800
Total	$1,537,515

Other revenues coming to the city are not included above because they are restricted funds. Restricted funds include water and sewer charges, state gas and weight taxes, and federally shared revenues. Federal revenue sharing funds amounting to about $90,000 per year for the city, require separate accounting with respect to their use and in this sense are restricted. In another sense they are not restricted because they can be used for a variety of municipal functions. One grant of $15,000 also was received under the provisions of the Emergency Employment Act.

The city's levied millage in 1973-74 totaled $14.70 per $1,000 SEV. It was allocated as follows: $10.576 for general operations, $1.499 for refuse disposal, $4.97 for street bonds, $1.745 for cultural center debt, $0.065 for sewer bonds, and $.318 for the parking fund.

Township. A portion of the tax revenues of the township are from special voted taxes. However, for purposes of this discussion they are shown as a single figure. The township revenues budgeted for 1973-74 were as follows:

Property Taxes	$373,100
State Shared	275,000
Permits & Licenses	96,740
Other	78,750
Total	$823,590

The property tax of $3.28 per $1,000 SEV in 1973-74 was allocated as follows: $1.03 for general operations, $.50 for fire service, and $1.75 for water, sewer, and storm sewer. Federal revenue sharing amounts to about $90,000 per year in the township.

B. Revenues Under Consolidation

TABLE R-1 NON-TAX REVENUES UNDER CONSOLIDATION

Permits & Licenses	$114,640
Other	170,550
State Shared Revenues	623,000
Federal Revenue Sharing	180,000
Total	$1,088,190

We arrive at these revenue estimates by: (1) adding together current revenues from permits and licenses, (2) adding current revenues from other local sources which include interest on investments and charges for services, (3) calculating state shared revenues based on projected shared revenues to both units for fiscal 1973-74, and (4) combining the federally shared revenues received by both units.

The reason for counting federally shared revenues in the estimates for a consolidated city is that these funds can be devoted to priority uses determined by the consolidated city. The city presently budgets $35,000 of these monies for its planning consultant, but there are other uses to which they could be put.

On the basis of these estimated revenues from other sources and the general fund expenditure figures, we estimate that the two units would have to levy a tax of $7.60 per $1,000 of SEV (1973); $8.11 per $1,000 SEV would be needed if the higher fire protection cost figure is used. These millage rates would raise enough revenue to cover all general fund expenditures except that of the outstanding water and sewer debt. A millage rate of $1.60 for this purpose would raise the overall tax to $9.20 (or $9.71 per $1,000 SEV for the higher fire protection).

The present city tax millage rate of $14.70 per $1,000 SEV would be reduced by an amount ranging from $4.99 to $5.54 per $1,000 SEV. The township rate would be increased by an amount ranging from $5.92 to $6.43.

However, these figures overstate the net increase for the township because they include expenditures for services not now provided in the township or which will need to be provided in the near future. In order to make a fair comparison of present township levies and the estimated taxes under consolidation, we must include $1.40 per $1,000 SEV for refuse disposal service and from $1.54 to $1.84 for police services. In addition, the cost of a third fire station should be included in the high estimate. Thus, the lowest comparable township rate would be $6.22 (a difference of $2.98 under consolidation) while the highest would be $7.17 (a difference of $2.54 under consolidation).

B. Current Costs for Fire Services

City. On the basis of present conditions, our judgement is that the costs for fire protection in the city will remain relatively constant over the next few years and will be affected only by increases in compensation rates paid to the personnel and the replacement of some equipment, primarily the aerial ladder and a pumper. We do not anticipate that the city will staff its #2 station with full-time personnel. The present city contract with the fire fighters provides for an increase of 8 percent for the 1974-75 fiscal year. Rates for subsequent years, of course, can only be a matter of conjecture.

In terms of equipment requirements, the city should replace or supplement both its aerial ladder truck and its 1954 pumper. Just when this equipment will be replaced and whether it will be replaced with new or used equipment is also a matter of speculation. A pumper, at today's prices, costs approximately $75,000 equipped; an aerial ladder costs around $100,000. The general run of priorities at a given time, the availability of used equipment, and its price versus the cost of new equipment will determine the action in this respect.

The most recent cost figures for fire department operations are as follows.

Township. In contrast to the city, the township fire department will expand substantially during the next decade. The costs of its operations, as a result of expansion and building of new stations, the replacement and addition of equipment, and increases in compensation rates, will increase in absolute terms and probably in relation to the tax base or on a per capita basis. Until this point, however, the fire department has not had severe competition for available funds from other services, but as other demands emerge it is possible that fire department needs will not be met as readily as they have been in the past.

As indicated in Table F-4, the township board has budgeted nearly $291,000 for fire protection services, including payments on some of the equipment purchased recently. These items were financed locally over several years and by the end of 1973-74 will be paid in full. As the township moves to establish a third fire station, which we would anticipate being staffed by 2 persons around the clock, township costs will rise. On the basis of costs as originally budgeted for 1973-74, the staffing and operation of additional stations will increase township costs by $106,000 each, exclusive of capital costs, costs of volunteers, fire chief's services, and other incidental costs.

Police services

Police services in cities, as a general rule, are provided by the city government and paid for from the general funds of the city. In townships, the source of police services varies with the extent of urbanization. In lightly urbanized townships police services are provided by the Michigan State Police (MSP) and county sheriffs departments. In more heavily populated townships, townships may staff their own departments or purchase additional patrol services from county departments.

A. Present Levels of Police Services

City. The city has its own police department, a department consisting of 22 full-time positions and 2 part-time ones. In addition to the chief of police, there are 17 other peace officers, one community service officer, and 3 full-time and 2 part-time dispatchers. The city staff is sized in accordance with the International Association of Chiefs of Police which recommends 1.8 positions for each 1,000 population in a governmental unit.

The city department operates with 5 patrol vehicles. The coverage provided varies from day to day, but typically provides heavier coverage during the late afternoon to early morning period. The department provides around-the-clock coverage in the city. Police activity reports for the city department in 1973 are indicated below.

Township. At the present time the township government does not itself provide police services except for a budgeted amount of $10,270 in 1973-74 for constable services, dog control, and enforcement of liquor control laws. Instead, the township relies on the county sheriff's department and the Michigan State Police. (A sub-post of the MSP is located on Lilley Road near the township hall.)

In recent months, the township board has been considering what action it should take regarding police services. This action, at least in part, was precipitated by an announcement by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners that it will no longer fund the county sheriff's road patrol after 1974. An advisory vote of the township residents regarding police services was about equally divided regarding levels of satisfaction with current police service in the township. The vote was somewhat inconclusive because of a low voter turnout.

That the need for police services exists and that the need will likely become greater is evidenced by the following police action reports of the county sheriff and MSP in Plymouth Township for 1973.

On the basis of the foregoing, township police services would be reduced by about 60 percent if the county patrol service is terminated. (To the extent that some of the police actions included above were related to the Hines Parkway in the township, a 60 percent reduction is an overstatement of the result because the county sheriff will continue to police the county parkway.) In any event, three options now appear: (1) take no action to close the gap, (2) ask for additional state police coverage, (3) provide a township department or purchased services at some level of service.

The township board, in pursuit of a resolution of the impending problem, has received a proposal to contract for police services with the city of Plymouth and at this writing is also awaiting a report from a citizens committee. These matters will be considered in the following sections.

B. Costs of Police Services—Operating Separately

City. The city of Plymouth for 1973-74 budgeted a total of $475,825 for its police department. This is the equivalent of $6.13 per $1,000 SEV. The actual costs in 1972-73 totaled $399,526. Per capita costs for 1973-74 and 1972-73 were $41.74 and $35.05, respectively.

Regarding the next few years we anticipate that costs of providing police services will remain relatively constant, being affected primarily by changes in rates of compensation. Since the city is already staffed at level generally consistent with that recommended by the International Association of Chiefs of Police, we would not expect any significant expansion to take place.

Township. As indicated earlier, township costs in 1973-74 for police services were minimal, amounting to only $10,270. We would anticipate that police service costs in the township will rise dramatically during the next few years, if the county road patrol is terminated. Police service costs, of course, will depend on the level of service the community wants and is willing to pay for. The proposals for providing police services—that of the city and that of the citizens committee—provide a range of service and costs and indicate in general what the township government may look forward to.

City Proposal. The city has proposed to provide police services in the township at the same level of service currently being provided in the city. If the city's proposal is accepted as offered, the city's police force would be enlarged to 39 officers, a clerk-typist, and 3 full-time and 2 part-time dispatchers.

For purposes of police services, the combined city-township territory would be divided into 3 patrol zones, each having its own patrol unit and supported by an interzone backup unit between the hours of 5:00 p.m. to 3:00 a.m. Traffic enforcement units would be operational between the hours 10:00 a.m. and midnight. Also provided would be an investigative unit, a community service officer, a youth services officer and a controlled substances service. Staffing at this level is equal to 72 percent of IACP recommendations. The first year costs of this proposal for both units would approximate $860,000 ($359 per $1,000 SEV) and $28.67 per capita. This includes personnel costs, equipment, and some capital costs.

The city proposal suggested that the cost be shared according to the population ratio between the two units, with the city bearing $347,000 and the township $513,000. If shared on an equalized valuation ratio, the city and township costs would be $275,200 and $584,800 respectively.

At the top of the range, then, in terms of township costs for a rather full range of police service, township costs would be about $513,000.

Citizens Committee Proposal. The Citizens Committee, studying alternatives for township police services, was in the final stages of its deliberations at this writing but had not decided upon its final recommendations. However, we did discuss with the chairman two of the approaches being considered.

One approach considers the possibility of having the township provide a rather significant portion of its own police services by creating a township department consisting of 17 officers (a chief, a detective, 2 sergeants, 1 youth officer, and 12 patrolmen) a clerk-typist, and 2 communications officers which, together with necessary equipment and supplies, is estimated to cost $304,000. The tentative proposal did not include costs of a base station and lockup facilities. It is considered to be one way of providing start-up service.

A second alternative considered by the committee, although only at the discussion stage at this writing, would staff an initial township police department with about 12 persons. This plan would cost approximately $250,000 not including facilities and would depend rather extensively on supplemental services from the MSP for both communications service and road patrol. This approach is premised somewhat on the present operation of 4 patrol cars and 12 officers operating out of the MSP sub-post and on the plan of the MSP to construct a new post (replacing the present one in Detroit at 7 Mile and Grand River) in Northville. The new post is scheduled to open in 1975 and will be staffed with approximately 60 persons. Presumably, the sub-post will be closed at that time. On the low side of the estimates, then, township police costs will approximate $250,000 in the first year of its operations.

A few observations regarding the citizens committee are in order. First, it is not our intent to evaluate or be critical of any of the 3 approaches aside from the question of consolidation. Quite obviously circumstances that apply if the township decides the police services question by itself are different from those applicable if consolidation is approved.

Second, it seems to us that the committee is seeking to arrange a program that provides a way for the township to get started in providing police services. Therefore, it talks only about first year costs. It does not develop a 3- or 4-year plan for police services and hence does not speak to future costs. Yet, on the basis of 1.8 positions for each 1,000 population its most generous proposal would staff at only 57 percent of the recommended level.

Third, on the basis of some costs being experienced in the city, it is likely that some of the costs are underestimated. The city, for example, in 1973-74 has budgeted more than $100,000 for non-salary personnel costs such as for hospital insurance, longevity, retirement, holiday pay, etc. The tentative budget of the citizens committee would allocate only $10,000 for fringe benefits and insurance. Now it is possible perhaps that in the first year of operation, expenses for such purposes would not approach the city level. However, given the collective bargaining process and the use of area standards for such cost items, it is unlikely that the township department would be long spared such cost experiences.

Fourth, the citizens committee proposal assumes a rather substantial portion of the police services to be met by the MSP, in part because of the location of the new post in Northville. This assumption has some validity since the proximity of facilities will likely result in services that would not be received if the post were located much farther away. Yet, valid questions can be raised regarding the level of service that would be provided by the state police in terms of the mission of the state police. Their response time and coverage will vary with the priorities of the moment. Clearly the state police will expend substantial effort on patrolling the expressways running through the township and elsewhere and are likely to assume less responsibility for local roads in the township. Moreover, it would seem that as the township creates its own department, calls for service will increase over current levels, and, as a result, the projected first year township staff, even when combined with MSP assistance, will rapidly prove to be inadequate. It is for this reason that the city, in its proposal, did not offer service to the township on a "start-up" basis because if it offered any service at all, demand for service would quickly exceed what it had agreed to provide.

In conclusion, the range of costs in the township based on proposals being considered, at least for start-up costs, will range on the low side from $250,000 to $300,000 for the first year depending on the level and type of service provided and to a high of over $500,000 should the township agree to contract with the city for services. Under the city proposal, only minor facilities costs would be involved while facilities costs would be in addition to adoption of one of the citizens committee approaches.

C. Effect of Consolidation on Police Services

If the two units consolidate as a single city, quite obviously the combined unit would have a single police department serving the entire combined area. The department would have to be expanded to accommodate the new service demands. We anticipate that expansion would follow the outline contained in the city's proposal to the township. The headquarters for the police department probably would be located at city hall where the city's present station is located. (If the MSP plans to abandon the sub-post facility when the Northville station is completed, however, it may be useful for the consolidated city to consider the purchase of that facility for a police headquarters.)

Perhaps one of the most significant effects of consolidation on police services over the longer pull would be the eventual withdrawal of services by MSP. As a general rule, the MSP does not include city territory in its primary service jurisdiction, at least for traffic patrol and the more ordinary types of police activity. The state police service, of course, is geared to provide backup assistance in major disasters or particularly difficult situations in which local forces are not sufficient. State police would also provide assistance on matters such as organized crime and drug networks, as well as in terms of laboratory, records, and crime analysis service. As a general rule, however, upon incorporation the MSP leaves police work to local agencies. The MSP, on the other hand, could be expected to provide some of the more routine assistance until the consolidated city police force is staffed and equipped to deal satisfactorily with its problems.

The county sheriff's patrol would likely assume a similar posture even if the road patrol in the county were to be continued. Under consolidation, however, it is reasonable to assume that the county sheriff department will continue to provide police service in the Hines Parkway since it is a county facility.

D. Costs of Police Services Under Consolidation

Costs of police services in a consolidated city-township will vary with the level of service provided. Should consolidation take place we would anticipate that the proposal outlined by the city would constitute the format of the department at least in the early years of consolidation. At today's prices the cost then would approximate $860,000—$28.67 on a per capita basis and $3.59 per $1,000 equalized valuation. The matter of how costs would be divided—a matter to be considered when the units are separate—of course would be moot.

In comparing the costs of two separate police departments in the two units with the police service costs under consolidation, there are a number of subtle but important points that need to be considered.

The first is that the present city is not large enough to support efficiently the overhead and specializations represented on the city police force. Yet, in order to have what may be considered "a full service" department, the number of personnel is not excessive. Implicit in the city's proposal to the township, then is the more efficient utilization of the overhead and specialty personnel expenditures.

Second, because personnel would be used more efficiently, the city probably would not experience a reduction of services. In terms of the IACP measure, however, city manpower would be reduced from its present 1.7 sworn officers per 1,000 population to an overall staffing of 1.3, considering the population of the city and the township.

Third, none of the three proposals being considered in the township would provide the same number of personnel per 1,000 population as is now being provided in the city. To achieve that level, a total of 33 sworn officers would be required at a cost of $600,000 or more annually. We do not believe that level of service is necessary or desirable in all parts of the township.

C. Effect of Consolidation

Under consolidation, the two fire departments would be consolidated into a single department. Given the substantial similarity in the format of the two units now, we would anticipate that the services under consolidation would continue much as they are now. That is, volunteer personnel would continue to be an integral part of the program. Staffing at current minimal levels would be similar under consolidation although there would be some opportunity for redeployment of personnel to hold current service levels constant without additional personnel.

At the present time, there are at least 7 firemen on duty in the 2 governmental units at all times in 3 locations. It seems probable, under a consolidated government, that 2 stations could protect the eastern portion of the township although as a result fire insurance ratings in the city possibly would decline to class 8. The southeastern area of the combined city-township territory would constitute the primary service area of the present township station. The northeastern quadrant of the combined territory would constitute the primary service area of the township's #2 station. (The township is presently planning the relocation of its #2 station because it is located in the path of the new expressway. This affords an unusual opportunity for proper placement considering a broader primary service area should the two units consolidate.)

In the next few years, it is likely that a station to serve the western part of the township will be needed. Until then, and perhaps until grade separation of the railroad tracks on Main Street is constructed, it would be possible to locate a fire station in the central area of the city (not necessarily at the present city hall location) for use as standby to be manned by a volunteer staff much as the city's #2 station is now.

As indicated, we assume the one station will be staffed by volunteers while the other two are staffed by full-time personnel, 3 at each of the 2 stations. Staffing each of these 2 stations with 3 persons at all times would provide an immediate response capability to emergencies without the need to await standby assistance or the need to leave a station unattended or only partially manned temporarily as may occasionally happen now in the township. This is particularly important since we would envision an EMS vehicle at each staffed station. Alternatively, it would be possible to staff all three stations with two persons each, a pattern used in the township now. With the demand for emergency medical services, however, our inclination would be to staff 2 stations with 3 men each. In either case, of course, 6 fire fighting personnel would be on duty at all times as opposed to 7 in both communities now.

Over the longer term, the township, remaining separate, will probably require 4 fire stations, and possibly 5. A third station is currently being considered near the intersection of Ann Arbor Trail and Ann Arbor Road in the western part of the township. With 4 township stations, the fire insurance ratings would probably improve to a class 7. Under consolidation, 4 stations in the combined area could place most of the territory to a class 7 rating. (The reader should note that fire classification ratings are based on a number of factors including travel distance, availability of water, staffing, training of personnel, quality of equipment, type of area to be served, etc. Therefore, it is not possible to state absolutely how an area will be rated by considering only fire station location.)

In terms of the utilization of present fire fighting personnel, we would anticipate that most would be retained by a consolidated government; expansion to 3 stations in the present township area will absorb any resultant surplus positions. (Staffing 2 stations with 3 people or 3 stations with 2 people would require 18 firemen as opposed to the present 21.) In this connection, it should be noted that the present township department is governed by a civil service board with powers over testing, recruitment, appointment, and dismissals. Whether civil service would be continued is a matter to be determined in the charter.

D. Costs of Fire Protection Under Consolidated Government

In order to determine the costs of fire protection under consolidation it will be necessary to make some assumptions regarding decisions that will be made. We assume the following:

1) The consolidated city will provide 3 stations initially, 2 staffed with 3 persons (total of 12 @ $14,000 ea.) around the clock, one manned only by volunteers. In a few years, a third station will be staffed by 2 persons (total of 18 @ $14,000 ea.) around the clock.

2) Volunteer firemen will continue to be an integral part of the fire fighting force (total $20,000). Off-duty personnel and volunteers will be the present 5 pumpers will suffice until the oldest city pumper is replaced. The city's aerial eventually will need to be replaced under either circumstance but if used other than as a primary response vehicle its utility can be extended substantially. Similar conditions apply to the EMS vehicle of the city.

The township squad vehicle should be replaced if there is no consolidation, but under consolidation the city pickup truck could probably be used as a second squad vehicle. In either situation, the present township sedan will need replacement either as a chief's or an inspection vehicle. The 1,000 GPM pumper presently in use in the township will need eventual replacement under either type of organization.

Another problem that would need to be faced in the event of consolidation is the difference in the compensation rates of the 2 units. The city rates, in general, are higher than those in the township. New contracts would probably have to be negotiated and we doubt that such a contract would provide for a reduction of compensation to present city employees. On the other hand, one need not necessarily conclude that city rates will constitute the "floor" for the new contract. Consolidation would present an unusual situation for the bargainers and it would be possible that some of the city personnel would have their salaries "red-circled" for a time until salaries of others caught up.

One other matter should be mentioned. It deals with the fact that the hose connections of the two departments are not entirely compatible, thus necessitating the use of adjusting couplings. Use of such couplings could continue for a time, of course, because the problem is handled successfully now when one unit offers the other assistance. Eventually, however, standardization of the equipment would be preferable and would necessitate the rethreading of some of the gear.

In terms of fire fighting equipment requirements, we foresee the following possible allocation as a consolidated department and with each continuing separately.

The implications of Table P-5 are as follows. Both units operating separately will need new pumpers in the near future. The city needs to replace its oldest pumper while the township will need to equip a new station. Under consolidation called in to serve as standby or to give assistance at fires and will be paid on an hourly basis as they are now.

3) The current rates of compensation being paid to the city will be paid in the consolidated city. Command personnel salaries are increased above present city levels to compensate for increased responsibility. Ranked personnel will consist of 1 chief ($22,000), 3 lieutenants ($16,000 ea.), and 3 sergeants ($15,000 ea.)

4) Inspections will continue to be conducted as they are now.

5) The ambulances will be located at the 2 full-time attended stations and eventually the third ambulance will be located in the new fire station.

6) Communication services would be handled by on-duty personnel.

7) Other charges, such as equipment maintenance, utilities, insurance, will cost $20,000 annually for 2 staffed stations and $25,000 per year for 3 staffed stations. Expenditures for supplies will amount to $12,000 for 2 stations and $15,000 for 3 stations.

8) Land and construction costs of a new station are not included. Capital costs of replacing major equipment items are omitted because we judge the present equipment adequate for the short term under a consolidated system. Recurring capital costs, such as hoses, office equipment, etc., will cost about $2,500 per station per year.

9) No charges for fire hydrant use would be levied as is presently the case in the township. (The township charge in 1973-74 was $4,500.)

Tables P-6 and P-7 summarize and contrast costs of fire protection services in both units operating separately and on a consolidated basis.

Consolidation study for city-Township

Refuse services

A. Present Services

Refuse and disposal services in the city and the township are handled through private haulers. In the city, however, a single hauler contracts with the city; in the township haulers are hired by individuals to provide the service.

City. Periodically, the city government receives sealed bids on solid waste pickup and disposal services. The city pays for the service through a levy of taxes. Service in the city consists of curbside pickup at each residence once each week. Commercial establishments receive pickup service twice a week, while non-profit organizations such as churches, schools, and government buildings have three pickups per week. Industrial establishments are not served under the city contract.

In addition to the general pickup service, the contractor agrees to provide pickup service once per month for bulky items left at the curb and provides a special pickup service during the annual "clean-up week" in the city.

Township. Solid waste pickup in the township is handled primarily by five or six private haulers who work in the township area. The level of service and the charges are worked out between the users and the haulers.

Neither the city nor the township is involved in the operation of a sanitary landfill site. Disposal of the materials collected is a matter for the haulers to determine and the landfill site on Napier Road is presently being used by most of the area haulers.

B. Costs of Services

The city, under the terms of the present contract, is charged $1.85 per month for each residential stop (for single and 2-family residences). This charge will be $2.00 beginning in 1975. For commercial and multiple-family stops the charge is $10.90 per month, a rate that will be increased to $11.00 per month beginning with 1975. There is no additional charge for the bulky items and clean-up week services.

Included in the annual city tax bill is 1.499 mills ($115,570 in 1973-74) for this service. The amount each property owner pays, then, is based on the equalized valuation of the property.

In the township, rates for refuse pickup and disposal varies from $2.25 to $4.00 per week for residences. Rates to commercial establishments are based on volume and frequency of service. Township government is not involved in the service in any way.

C. Effects of Consolidation

As in other functions where the city and township policies and practices differ significantly, we must assume that a significant change in one policy or the other will be made by the charter of the council of the consolidated city. There seem to be two choices; i.e., permit property owners to contract with haulers over the entire area as they now do in the township, or have the city council contract with one or more haulers for the service. A third possible approach, i.e., city pickup service with city employees, does not seem to be a probability, even though the larger area would make such an approach somewhat more feasible than it now is in the city.

In our judgement, it seems likely that the consolidated city would probably seek to carry out the present city policy of contracting for the service. Such a policy has two positive features about it in terms of the municipal interests. First, it helps reduce the amount of roadside dumping which in the end must be picked up at public expense. Second, provision of the service on a general basis tends to reduce the complaints and, therefore, enforcement actions against those who accumulate refuse on their property. Thus, overall municipal costs tend to be reduced. It is probable, in our view, that the present city rate could be extended to most areas of the present township. However, it might be necessary to pay a slightly higher fee for pickup service in some of the outlying areas where development is scattered. The scattered developments, of course, require greater travel and time between stops, making service in such areas more costly to the hauler.

D. Costs Under Consolidation

In our judgement, the tax rate under consolidation for city-provided pickup service would be less than is now being paid in the city. On the basis of our calculations, the costs for pickup and disposal services in the consolidated city, at current rates, would be about $280,000 or about 1.2 mills on the combined SEV. Tax equivalents in the township, of course, vary according to one's SEV and the charge for pickup and disposal services, but the owner of a $30,000 ($15,000 SEV) residence paying $3.00 per month to a private hauler would have a tax equivalent of 2.4 mills.

Police services

ship at the present time. It may be that the city proposal too suggests a staff larger than necessary for the area on a consolidated basis.

Finally, while the costs to the township of the city proposal seems a substantial figure for first year costs, it should be recognized that the combined costs of the two communities operating separately will be from $725,000 to $775,000 for police services during the first year of township police department operations, accepting the cost estimates of the citizens committee. If our judgement, that the committee has underestimated personnel costs by $90,000 (on the most costly committee proposal) is correct the combined costs could be $865,000.

Emily Smith of Westland can really belt a ballad before a night club audience — but she's just as happy singing for her grandchildren or the little ones in the condominium where she makes her home.

She can do a 45-minute routine that keeps them rolling in any club — but she also enjoys cleaning it up for a senior citizens' group.

She skipped a chance to go big time in show biz because she felt being home with her family was infinitely more important, but she has through the years kept going a part-time career that gives a lot of satisfaction and just plain fun.

And now that she's in her 70s and her husband, Percy, is retired, she still is having a ball in the entertainment business.

This good-natured singer and comedienne is billed as "Babe Smith, the grand lady of show biz" by Al's Variety Shows, the agency that books her now.

"My husband always has called me Babe," she explained, and that's the name I've used for a long time.

She's been likened to Sophie Tucker and Kate Smith, but she says "I resent that just a little bit."

"I've met Sophie Tucker," she adds, "but I never tried to copy her style. And when I sing 'God Bless America' — the senior citizen groups always want me to do that — I tell them I want them to know I don't think I'm Kate Smith, even though my middle name is Katherine."

Show business has been part of Emily Smith's life about as far back as she can remember.

Born in Dayton, Ohio, she was taught to sing by her father and used to join him when he played the piano in a theater. It was at that time she remembers meeting the famed band leader Paul Whiteman.

"After my father died, the relatives who raised me didn't like the idea of my singing in public, so they sent me to teachers' college in Westchester, Pa.," she recalled.

But young Emily didn't care much for college and when she was 18 decided to "go off on my own and find my mother" — she and my dad had been divorced.

The search brought her to Michigan, where her mother had moved after remarrying, and it was in the Detroit area that she married Percy Smith, an auto worker, and pursued her singing career.

"I used to work with Danny Thomas," Mrs. Smith said. "Of course, that was when he was Amos Jacob. I worked with his wife, too, on the Happy Hour over the radio station WMBC. She was as good as he, but she stepped out of the picture after he went to Hollywood and became a star."

It was about that time that Mrs. Smith was offered a spot in Spike Jones' band.

"But that would have meant going on the road, and by then I had children and they meant much more to me," she said.

She played in a variety of clubs in the Midwest and Canada. She also did stands on the cruise ship that plied the Great Lakes between Detroit and Buffalo.

"Detroit was a beautiful town for show business then," Mrs. Smith said. "I had one steady job for three years and have played in many other places in the area." During World War II she sang in Percy Jones Hospital in Battle Creek.

Losing her girlish figure bothered this entertainer not at all.

"When I got heavier I started doing a comedy routine with satire about fat women. Things like 'Half of me, why not take half of me?' and 'I can do a streak, but it will be one of the damndest hangovers you ever saw.'"

"I keep my material up to date. Right now jokes about Nixon are catching on."

And Mrs. Smith said she feels flattered that wherever she entertains she's always asked to make a return appearance.

At this point in her life, Mrs. Smith makes an occasional club appearance but she's more likely to do benefit shows for the various fund-raising groups.

A recent appearance before the Westland senior citizens was to fill in for her young granddaughter, Wendy Pate of Westland.

"She's quite a little dancer and entertainer — a real ham," said an obviously proud grandmother, "but her partner couldn't make it that day so I said I'd be glad to go."

Mrs. Smith also enjoys the activities of Holiday Park condominium where she lives and calls herself "Emily Scoop" when she furnishes items for its newspaper. She particularly likes having the children of the young families there seek her out for sessions of reading and singing.

"It surprises me how few children today can sing nursery rhymes," she said. "We used to spend a lot of time reading to our children and singing to them and playing with them."

She's also delighted to have her daughters, Mrs. Patricia Mlinar of Sterling Heights, Mrs. Barbara Pate of Westland and Mrs. Kathleen Drake of Royal Oak, tell her they like to go out with her "because that's when they have the most fun."

The Smiths' son, Oscar, lives in Wheeling, W. Va., and is an acoustical engineer.

"I have quite a family and, I'm proud of them," this singing grandmother said. "That's why I didn't run much on the road."

"My kids had a lot of love, and that's why now they have respect for us."

MRS. EMILY SMITH has been entertaining 'and loving it' all her life. (Staff photos by Leonard Poger)

Madonna class goes ecumenical for seder

MRS. LILLIAN KAUFMAN and Judge Ira Kaufman prepared a Jewish seder meal for the religious studies class at Madonna College

The ecumenical spirit of Pope John may well have been hovering over the student dining hall at Madonna College recently when this Catholic college held a Jewish seder.

Ancient words such as pesach, cho-metz, moror, and charoses were spoken as the traditional Hebrew festival of Passover was conducted by Judge and Mrs. Ira Kaufman.

Judge Kaufman is a presiding judge of the Wayne County Probate Court, and his wife is the first non-Catholic to become a member of the board of trustees of Madonna College.

"I feel something like this will impress my students far more than all their book study," said Sister Irene Doman, instructor of the religious studies class on scripture who arranged the event.

"I have been teaching the Old Testament and I want my student to understand how much of the ancient Jewish traditions enter into modern Jewish practices," she added.

She pointed out that the Christian Easter observances feature many references to the exodus of the Jews from their bondage in Egypt. In addition, the seder is important to Christians because while attending one, Jesus Christ ate His Last Supper.

The college provided the food and the other necessities of dining, but the Kaufmans, nonetheless, came to the seder bearing gifts, chiefly the gift of their knowledge of the ceremony. They also brought with them a special dish with six scooped-out areas in which to place foods symbolic of the flight from Egypt.

On this dish are placed bitter herbs (moror), namely horseradish, to symbolize the bitterness felt by the enslaved Israelites. A reddish mixture of apples, walnuts, and cinnamon is also there to recall the mortar made by the Israelites for their Egyptian taskmasters.

"I want my students to understand how much of the ancient Jewish traditions enter into modern Jewish practices."

An egg, standing for life and better days to come, is present, along with a shank bone or chicken bone to represent the spirit of sacrifice. Herbs indicate that it is spring time, and celery with salt reminds the Jews of the crossing of the Red Sea.

The Kaufmans also carried with them a special Passover cloth made in Israel with special pockets to hold three pieces of matzos, the bread substitute without leavening the Israelites had to bake while fleeing the Egyptians. Tradition says that sometimes it was baked on boards of people's backs in the hot desert sun.

"I had several meetings with the cook at the college," said Mrs. Kaufman. "I gave him the name of all the ingredients and showed him how to make everything."

Originally Sister Irene planned the ceremony solely for the police officers, firemen, radio technicians, nurses etc., who are members of her evening class. They were invited to bring their spouses.

In time, interest in the event burgeoned on campus and by the night of the seder the number of those attending was up from 40 to about 85 persons.

By the light of the seder candles, Judge and Mrs. Kaufman led the participants through the various prayers and psalms of what is a happy festival. Mimeographed sheets prepared by the college from the Kaufmans' "Haggadah," the book describing the seder, helped those unfamiliar with the event to read and give responses.

In the center of the head table was a specially chosen cup or goblet called Elijah's cup, which is filled with wine.

Traditionally, in Jewish homes there is a moment in the ceremony when the youngest person at the seder goes to the front door and opens it to let in the spirit of Elijah. Judge Kaufman explained this custom.

The ceremony in honor of the escape of the Jews from Egypt is generally held early in the evening with a meal following.

"I think an event like this makes for better understanding among religious groups," said Mrs. Kaufman, a former teacher who has enjoyed her years on the Madonna board.

"There are very dedicated teachers here," she added. "I have given lectures in some of the classes. I am happy to give them something of our religion. At other times I have enjoyed listening to them."

Consolidation's effect

between consolidation and the combined costs of providing city-level services to both the township and the city, the MSU report showed:

- General government under consolidation costing $278,000 annually compared to $417,010 as a combined total of the two governments.

- Police protection at equal levels in the township and city plus the discrepancy in the MSU researchers' estimates and the township citizens' study group figures) under consolidation would cost $860,000 compared to the combined but separate costs totaling $869,000.

- Fire protection under consolidation costing between $436,000 and $560,000 or between $491,000 and $614,000 combined.

Refuse collection for the consolidated community would cost $280,000.

Concluding the report, the section on revenues estimates the millage would be between 9.10 and 9.7 under consolidation to support city services. (Currently the city millage is 14.70 and the township's is 3.28)

In discussing their report after its release, the three MSU researchers said the short time in which they had to prepare the report curtailed its depth but did not force them to delete any important issues.

"It's (the report) complete, but maybe not as thorough as we'd have liked," VerBurg said.

The researchers praised the local governmental officials for their cooperation with the study.

Wayne Bank denied deeper lot for exits

CANTON - Because of possible encroachment on homes in an adjacent subdivision, Canton Township planning commissioners denied the rezoning request of a Wayne banking firm that would have allowed deeper commercial lots along Ford Road.

The decision followed a public hearing on April 6. Affected by the proposed change were McIntyre Subdivision residents who live in one of the oldest residential areas in the township.

Officials of the Wayne Bank had requested a change in the zoning of two lots directly behind their building site from R - 1C (single family) to C - 1 (local commercial) to allow better ingress and egress to the new bank now under construction.

Canton Planning Consultant Michale Manore recommended that the request be denied because of the residential character characteristics of the neighborhood to the south of the bank site.

Only commissioner to vote against the rezoning denial was Bart Berg, declaring "Ford Road is hazardous enough as it is." He said he felt the township should begin to develop a plan for better ingress and egress other than directly onto the busy highway.

In other commission action, a site plan for a Big Boy restaurant on the north side of Ford Road, east of Canton Center Road, was approved. Commissioners also approved the site plan for Huntington West Apartments, part of a planned unit development, in the Lilley - Cherry Hill roads sector.

The motion was carried.
Mrs. M. Borowski requested that more microphones or facilities for those in the audience to hear remarks of Board members and administrators be provided.
Mr. James Davis, a resident of Evergreen Street, City of Plymouth, rose to remind the Board and Plymouth citizens that the 4 mills which had been requested on the last millage election for Safety Improvements within the District might have prevented the accidents which occurred as a result of Daylight Savings Time. He represented a group of parents from Bird School who request a crosswalk or overpass on Sheldon Road although they recognize the many needs within the District. He asked support of the Board in this matter. President McClendon referred to the correspondence which had been received from Mr. Davis and the Bird School PTA and reported that copies had been distributed to all Board members.
Mrs. Julie Lundstad, City of Plymouth, rose and asked if a decision had been made by the Board regarding the June millage election and what could be done by citizens to help out, and particularly when the decision would be made. She was assured that a decision would be announced by April 1, and the Board committed to whatever actions will be made at that time.

Ayes: Members Benson, Lawton, McClendon, Penar and Turner.
Nays: None.
The motion was carried.
A proposal was made by the Business Division to advertise in local newspapers and in the Detroit News to receive bids for the Harrison Site (16 acres approximately, East side of Haggerty Road between Ann Arbor Road and Joy Road). Member Lawton raised the question of rezoning the property before letting out bids again, or that bids should be subject to rezoning. Mr. Hoedel expressed the opinion that bids should not be subject to rezoning but that a developer should be responsible for that. Member Penar suggested that the Plymouth Township Planning Commission be contacted to determine how they would have the property zoned and then rezoned or let the developers apply for rezoning. Member Benson felt that the Board owes it to the School District to get the best possible price for the best possible zoning. Member Turner concurred that this plan should be pursued legally and through an opinion from the Planning Commission.
It was moved by Member Lawton and seconded by Member Benson to refer this proposal back to administration for an opinion as to the legal method by which this property could be sold to maximize the return to the School District.
Ayes: Members Benson, Lawton, McClendon, Penar and Turner.
Nays: None.
The motion was carried.
It was moved by Member Penar and seconded by Member Turner to approve a maternity leave of absence for Marilyn Nielsen, 1st Grade teacher at Fiegel School, effective April 26, 1974.

The motion was carried.
It was moved by Member Lawton and seconded by Member Turner to approve new contracts for the balance of the 1973-74 school year for:
Carol Guregian Math, Science, English Pioneer School
Gloria Smith Elementary Miller School
Ayes: Members Benson, Lawton, McClendon, Penar and Turner.
Nays: None.
The motion was carried.
Proposals for posting the positions of Assistant Superintendent of Instruction, Administrative Assistant for Community Services and Administrative Assistant for Research, Program Planning and Federal Projects were presented by administration. Member Turner raised the question of timing of this proposal near the end of the budget year, the total expense budget for 1974-75 should be set, the ability to fund jobs should be established before posting and he felt that a time-phase basis for posting would be more suitable. Member Penar also felt that the matter should be deferred to the time after the budget is set for next year. Member Lawton felt that the Board should not wait too long for a decision since it is hard to get qualified candidates. Since this proposal is primarily for posting authorization, the final decision to hire would still rest with the Board. Both Members Penar and Turner felt this might result in an on-the-spot decision and that no commitments should be made on hiring till budget review and the Board should not be beleaguered with hurried decisions. Member Benson indicated she would be against any posting until administration is better utilized, not only at the Central Office but also throughout the District.
It was moved by Member Lawton and seconded by Member Turner to authorize the posting of the Assistant Superintendent of Instruction, Administrative Assistant for Community Services and Administrative Assistant for Research, Program Planning and Federal Projects, with the clear understanding that final employment of any or all of these positions will be budgetary provisions and subject to further review by the Board.
Ayes: Members Lawton, McClendon, Penar and Turner (President recorded "aye" vote).

TO THE GAS CUSTOMERS OF CONSUMERS POWER COMPANY

NOTICE OF HEARING GAS ALLOCATION PROCEDURE

Case No. U-3990

On January 15, 1974, Consumers Power Company filed with the Michigan Public Service Commission a Supplement to Application in Case No. U-3990, which requested that the Commission amend paragraph "C" of its Order dated November 26, 1971 in Case No. U-3990. Consumers Power Company states in its Supplement to Application that there exists in the State of Michigan, and elsewhere throughout the United States, a severe gas supply shortage, which shortage has made it necessary that suppliers of natural gas, including Applicant's pipeline suppliers, substantially curtail the deliveries of natural gas to their customers. Consumers Power Company also states, in its Supplement to Application, that, in response to this shortage of natural gas, the Commission granted Applicant authority to implement a gas allocation procedure. One of the stated purposes of the currently-effective gas allocation procedure was to alleviate the hardship then being experienced by certain commercial and industrial customers. This hardship existed because prior to the effective date of such gas allocation procedure, gas usage of commercial and industrial customers was restricted to "base year allocations." Thus, weather-related increases in gas consumption and increases in gas consumption arising from increased usage of existing manufacturing or processing equipment was precluded. Accordingly, Applicant proposed, in its authority to create the presently-effective gas allocation procedure, to ameliorate this situation by making sufficient gas available, independent of the proposed gas allocation procedure, to permit commercial and industrial customers then being served (other than those being supplied gas from steam generating equipment, electric generating equipment, or kilns rated at more than 50,000 cubic feet of gas per hour) to "fully utilize their existing equipment" presently utilizing gas as a primary fuel. In response to Applicant's proposal, the Commission authorized Applicant, in paragraph "C" of its Order dated November 26, 1971, in Case No. U-3990, to:

"...make available to its present customers (other than those now being supplied gas for steam generating equipment, electric generating equipment, and kilns rated at more than 50,000 cubic feet of gas per hour) sufficient gas to fully utilize existing equipment which is presently utilizing gas as a primary fuel..."

In recent months, Applicant has been confronted with the claim on several occasions that under the quoted language from paragraph "C" of the November 26, 1971 Order, existing customers may utilize existing equipment to heat new buildings or building additions. The Applicant, uniformly, has denied this claim as being inconsistent with the intent of the gas allocation procedure in general and the intent of paragraph "C" of the November 26, 1971 Order in particular. Accordingly, Applicant proposes that the Commission amend its Order dated November 26, 1971, in Case No. U-3990, so as to make clear that the use by Applicant's existing customers of existing equipment to heat new buildings or building additions is precluded, unless such use is restricted to an annual allocation of gas consistent with the customer's previous gas usage.

As set forth in the proposed paragraph "C," Consumers Power Company proposes that ordering paragraph "C" read as follows:

"C. Consumers Power Company is hereby authorized, independent of the gas allocation procedure herein approved, to make available to its present customers sufficient gas to fully utilize (1) existing manufacturing and commercial or industrial processing equipment which is presently using natural gas as a primary fuel, except that Consumers Power Company shall restrict customers who are now being supplied gas for steam generating equipment, electric generating equipment, and kilns rated at more than 50,000 cubic feet of gas per hour, to the annual Mcf capacity reservation contained in their present gas service contracts or, if there is no annual capacity reservation in their contracts, to the base year allocation or the commitment made by Consumers Power Company in accordance with the gas sales restrictions authorized by this Commission in Case No. U-3778, and (2) existing space heating equipment, provided there is no expansion or addition in the area to be heated. If an existing customer makes additions to the area being served by existing space heating equipment through additions to the existing building or new buildings, such customer shall be limited to an annual allocation of gas consistent with the customer's previous gas usage."

The Supplement to Application in Case No. U-3990, together with the Commission's initial order therein, is available for public inspection at the offices of the Michigan Public Service Commission, Law Building, Lansing, Michigan 48913, and at each local office of Consumers Power Company.

The Commission has scheduled hearings on the Supplement to Application, and it has ordered that Notice be given that:

A. A public hearing will be held at 9:30 AM on April 19, 1974 in the offices of the Commission in the Law Building, Lansing, Michigan 48913, for purposes of determining whether, or in what form, ordering paragraph "C" of the Commission's Order in Case No. U-3990 should be amended.

B. Any parties seeking to intervene in these proceedings, in accordance with Rule 11 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, shall file with the Commission at least five (5) days prior to April 19, 1974, an original and six (6) conformed copies of the Petition to Intervene, together with Proof of Service, upon Consumers Power Company.

C. THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO ORDERING PARAGRAPH "C" OF THE COMMISSION'S ORDER IN CASE NO. U-3990 DESCRIBED IN THIS NOTICE IS IN THE FORM REQUESTED BY CONSUMERS POWER COMPANY. THE MICHIGAN PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION MAY EITHER AUTHORIZE ITS ADOPTION IN THE FORM REQUESTED, DENY ITS ADOPTION, OR MAY ORDER THE ADOPTION OF A NEW ORDERING PARAGRAPH "C" IN A FORM DIFFERENT FROM THAT DESCRIBED HEREIN.

Jurisdiction of the Commission in this Order is pursuant to Act 300, Public Acts of 1909, as amended (MCLA 462.2); Act 419, Public Acts of 1919, as amended (MCLA 460.51); Act 3, Public Acts of 1939, as amended (MCLA 460.1); Act 9, Public Acts of 1929, as amended (MCLA 483.101); Act 306, Public Acts of 1969, as amended (MCLA 24.201); and the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, 1954 Administrative Code, Supplement No. 54 R 480.11.

Aquaducks are a splash in water survival class

BY TOM DONOGHUE
Sports Editor

A bright new idea is mushrooming at the Livonia Family Y and the person doing the sprinkling of water is Aquatic Director Shirley Ritter.

There had been rumors about a new pre-school water survival course being offered at the Livonia Y. A journey over to the athletic complex on Stark Road was in order.

This was my first meeting with "water" Director Shirley Ritter and I had to smile upon entering her office - behind her desk was a life-size picture of Mark Spitz.

I also noticed on her desk a title block that read: "Shirley B. Ritter - Director of Peons." She quickly informed me that this is what the staff labeled her.

Now came the subject of rumor. She quickly went into an explanation of the pre-school water survival class.

"We call this group our Aquaducks," said Shirley. "We are really excited about this program which includes an age grouping from age three to six."

Currently the Y is offering two of these Aquaduck courses along with two diaper courses, five momma-tot courses, and 15 kinder courses ranging from a one to three level.

To go along with these instructional classes are the funtime and splash time classes.

"I would say about 560 kids age six and below are in our pool once a week," added Shirley.

Shirley opened this Aquaduck class in January and is currently in class two.

"We take about six to eight in this survival class," she added. "It lasts eight weeks, 30 minutes a day and one day a week. It boils down to a basic class in water safety geared to pre-schoolers."

"This course isn't something you take just once."

"You know these three to six year-olds are really something. We start them off with endurance, treading water and drown proofing."

"We have a lot of short question and answer periods - sort of a problem solving method."

"These kids are really amazing. The first question we ask is what they would do if a friend of theirs fell into the water. Most reply that they would jump in and attempt to save him."

"We quickly dissolve this idea and teach them to grab onto something and attempt to pull the person to safety. We go through actual drills where the kids 'save' one another."

"One item in teaching swim saving that is never stressed enough is the life jacket. Sure, almost every family that goes boating has them aboard but how many times do they actually teach the kids how to use them?"

While talking with the aquatic director I watched a class that was learning just that - how to use the life preservers. It was really something to observe four - five and six - year-olds struggling with life jackets and even having to jump into the water and put them on while bobbing up and down.

Gee, I wonder how many times everyone else around has gone through the ritual of using a life jacket?

The next step in the survival class is sinking or hitting the water with clothes on - which would be the case in most accidents.

"Our idea is to expose kids to situations," commented Shirley. "We have a boat that the kids are placed in. It is tipped over and we thus have a staged situation where they can make use of clothing to save their life as well as a friend's."

Helping Shirley in this instructional adventure are Lyn Ruttenberg and Marianne DeGennaro.

"You know, I really hope these kids never have to put to use what they learn here."

"I guess our job is in giving the kids an opportunity just to think. A lot of people don't give pre-schoolers much credit, but you would be amazed at how fast they can pick things up."

"That old cliché of little children should be seen and not heard is a thing of the past."

"The kids are becoming questionable on almost everything and no matter what age - we should stop and listen to what they have to say."

"Granted, sometimes we have to pry it out of them but in our probable life and death situations - the reaction of the kids makes this entire program worth while."

Watching these three to six - year-olds learn the basics of water survival was an enlightening adventure. It might not harm any of us to stop by the Livonia Y on Wednesdays at 1 p.m. or on Thursdays at 9 a.m.

You might just learn something, and if you see someone who looks like a swim director wearing a very satisfied smile - go up and say hello to Shirley Ritter.

Dash-Bus available for Tiger opener

A SEMTA Dash park and ride service will be made available to Detroit Tiger baseball fans on opening day, April 9, Helmet Day.

Buses will depart from the Livonia Ford ice arena at noon on these days. Buses will also depart from the Garden City Municipal Building, 6000 Middle Belt, on the those days at 11:45 a.m. The charge from both sites will be $1.75 round trip.

Spartan cindermen dash past stunned Bentley

The Stevenson thinclads are tuning up for another run at the Inter-Lakes track championship.

The Spartans ripped Edsel Ford in their opener, 78-45; and then upended city rival Bentley, 67-56.

Stevenson won all three relays against Edsel Ford but lost all three in the Bentley matchup but still managed to dump the Bulldogs who just two days prior had toppled Churchill, 63-60.

Darrel Ditzhazy won the shot put with a toss of 47-feet-11 for Bentley against Stevenson but the Spartans came back to take the rest of the field events.

Paul Lulek took the long jump with a leap of 20-feet 6¾. Bruce Temby the pole vault with a height of 12-feet-6 and Paul Lokar the high jump at 5-feet-10.

Bentley then swept the three relays but Stevenson picked up its necessary ground in winning four of seven individual events.

Tom Baker captured the high hurdles, Steve White the mile, Paul Pongor the low hurdles and C. Stanger the two mile.

BENTLEY'S STEVE SPREITZER
Observer's Trackman of the Week

Bentley's Steve Spreitzer picked trackman of the week

By HANK MEIJER

Last year the fastest time for the 880 in the Suburban Eight was 1:57.7. After Steve Spreitzer's first race this year the fastest time is 1:57.7.

"There was no one around me," the Bentley senior said. "I don't know what made me go."

Steve is off to a fast start, but he's careful not to be distracted by a flashy first outing. "What really counts is what happens at the end of the year," he said.

As a junior, Steve ran a fast 440, but never broke the two minute barrier in the half. Last year he had to make what he describes as "the biggest decision of my life."

He loved football, and thought he had a good chance of starting for the Bulldogs. But he had an idea that going out for cross-country might reward him more handsomely in the long run. He was right.

"I'm basically not a distance man," he said. "Cross-country was hard, but it was really a great experience. It gave me guts; it's the hardest sport in the world."

In 1973 Steve finished fourth in the Suburban Eight 880 finals. "I hooked a string on the other guy's pants and he just pulled me," Steve said. This season he has earnest hopes of running the two lap race under 1:55.

The 880 record at Bentley is 1:57. It won't last long.

When Steve practices after school on Bentley's pocked-asphalt track he likes to match strides with the sprinters, doing the short, quick dash stuff. He also enjoys the long, loping workouts of the distance runners.

But he seldom gets to enjoy these diversions. "It's hard to work out when you're a half-miler," he said. "You're caught in the middle."

The workout Bentley coach Ron Fedraw prescribes for Steve usually consists of a stiff regimen of 440 and 660 interval work. Steve estimates that he puts in about six miles of interval training daily.

Despite warnings from his coach that he might get stale, Steve is seldom content to rest at home after a hard day's workout. "I sneak out at night," he said. "I hope it's beginning to pay off."

He often runs three to five miles on these moonlight jaunts through the neighborhood around his parents' house at 31612 Perth.

The orange-loving senior spends several hours a week volunteering his company to patients at the Plymouth Center for Human Development. "If patients out there could compete in sports they'd be superhuman," he said. "People don't know how lucky we are."

Steve admits that he's hoping to get some scholarship offers for college. "That's one of the main things that motivates me." He is thinking about studying psychology or physical therapy, or maybe even law. "I can do a great job when it comes to something I feel is important," he said.

Steve credits his coach with making him feel like his races are important. "He doesn't just care about you as a runner, he cares about you as a person."

According to Steve, his father always pushes him to do his best. "He's my biggest fan, he's always out there rooting for me."

Steve expects to go under .50 in the 440, but that may have to wait a while because it's hard to run the half and come back and sprint for a quarter mile in top form. He also anchors Bentley's mile relay squad and hopes to join his teammates in the relay at the state meet.

Though last year's top-rated conference half-milers have graduated, "there's always someone coming up," Steve said.

Sometimes, when he thinks about the state meet, Steve goes out to Cass Benton Park and runs up and down the steeply-graded hills. "It reminds me again of cross-country because it's so painful."

Bentley faces stiff competition for the league title. "We have an outside chance," Steve said. "If everything goes right we can win it."

Right now he's just beginning to match up the guts he learned in cross-country, the extra strength that comes with sneaking out for an evening's roadwork, and the disciplined power that comes from consistent interval training.

"When you put all those things together," he said, "something nice could happen."

'Best-Ball' bowling tourney set for summer months

By W.W. EDGAR

Clara Mayburn, one of the grand senior citizens of Redford Township, picked an unusual place to celebrate her 80th birthday last Tuesday.

It so happened that it was her bowling night in the Grace Lutheran League and she wouldn't allow anything like a birthday stop her. After all, she had missed only two bowling nights in the league since 1959.

So she took her regular place in the lineup at Redford Lanes much to the delight of her many friends — bowlers and non — bowlers who had come to pay tribute at a birthday party.

Not many women her age would wander out on her birthday, but Clara was enjoying it as much as anyone at the lanes. And one of those getting the biggest thrill from it all was her husband who prefers to coach her rather than bowl himself. And he coached her to equal her 119 average.

Following the league session Clara was guest of honor at her birthday party and vowed that she was having "the time of my life."

Although bowling is the second oldest sport known to man there are still some avenues of competition that haven't been explored.

One of these is a new tournament being sponsored in the Ark Lanes chain which has a branch at Telegraph and Northwestern Highway.

This is a tournament modeled after best ball competition in golf. Under this formula each member of the doubles team bowls a complete frame. Then the better of the two is taken for the official score for the frame.

The tournament is planned for the summer months.

This is a big week for the bowlers in the area as it is Hall of Fame week when the doors to the coveted shrine will be opened to admit four new inductees.

Prominent among the new members will be Charles (Buck) Walby owner of the Thunderbird Lanes in Troy.

Walby is being honored for his many years of hard work in promoting the game. One of his chief promotions is the "Beat the Champ" series that has been on TV for the past 20 years. It is now the oldest bowling show on the tube.

Those to be honored, along with Walby, will be Mary Beck, former member of the Detroit Common Council; Bill Bunetta, a member of the famed E&B and Pfeiffer teams when they won three ABC titles, and Fred Bujack, another member of the same teams who will be honored posthumously.

The induction ceremonies are scheduled at the Detroit Historical Museum at 5:30 p.m. next Saturday, April 13. The banquet to climax the day is set for the new Shiuwassee Hotel in Southfield in the evening.

It will be a long time before Mel Kampman forgets his big night in the Loon League at Country Lanes in Farmington.

Carrying a 183 average he opened his series with a 210 and followed with a 200. But that was just a start. Hav-

GC West rally tips Glenn, 4-2

Garden City West jumped on a double error in the top of the seventh inning to score four times and upend Westland John Glenn in its baseball opener, 4-2.

The Rockets who finished 14-14 overall last season, did all of their scoring in the last of the third.

Jeff Hodgkins led off the inning with a base on balls. Steve Kaufman singled and the two moved up on a passed ball. A single by Craig Linton scored both Hodgkins and Kaufman and that two run margin stood until the top of the seventh.

With reliever Kaufman on the Glenn mound, West went to work after being held to just two hits in four innings by Rocket starter Hodgkins.

Terry Dobbs opened with a base on balls and Dwayne Wozniak was safe on an infield error. Dobbs moving to second. Jeff Folding bounced a grounder back to Kaufman who tossed to third.

Glenn third baseman Jim Kholman took the throw from Kaufman but failed to tag third and then threw wild to first. The end results being Dobbs scored. Wozniak moved around to third and Folding trotted down to second and it was a 2-1 ball game.

Paul Tatro then delivered a two-bagger scoring Wozniak and Folding and West had a 3-2 margin. West hurler Jerry Herbst followed with a run scoring single and the tables had turned on Glenn.

Herbst went the distance for West in picking up the win. The senior righthander allowed seven hits, walked four and struck out three.

Hodgkins, who started for Glenn, worked the first four innings, allowed two hits, walked one and struck out four. Kaufman suffered the loss, giving up all four runs on only two hits, walked two and struck out four.

Observing SPORTS with TOM DONOGHUE

Saying good-bye to Franklin's Mr. Patriot

Yes, we have lost a dear friend.

Walter Lee Cosens is gone from the halls and gym of Franklin High.

The Franklin High athletic director, at the age of 49, was struck down, the victim of a massive heart attack.

There really isn't a way to put the two days that he lay in state into words — the heart is not noted for coming up with the right letter combinations.

As I watched the hundreds and hundreds of people come and go from the funeral home, I saw my thoughts on almost every face.

I don't think I, like most people around, ever fully realized this giant of a man. There were coaches, athletes, cheerleaders, students, parents and faculty there to pay their final respects, not just from Franklin High School, but from almost every school in the area.

The sad part of this story is that it usually takes a tragic episode to bring to light something that is always there, something that has just been taken for granted.

Mr. Cosens was buried in his hometown of Harbor Springs on Saturday but Franklin High didn't want to see Mrs. Helen Cosens and her two children leave before memorial services were held at the school.

The brave threesome attended the eulogy at Franklin Friday morning.

As I entered the gym that morning I could see on almost every face an individual loss — a loss they really didn't want to accept.

I stood in the back of the gym with the coaching staff — "Walt Cosens's Patriot Family." Tears ran down the cheeks of these coaches — men who had warranted the many titles of coaches of the years under Cosens. But these men were far from ashamed of crying.

Franklin High Principal Dale Collier began the eulogy with, "It is a sad thing we do today, bidding farewell to Walt Cosens. Strangely enough, I am sure he wouldn't want us to be sad, he was a happy man."

"Mr. Cosens was Franklin High.

"Your sorrows and joys were always his. He could hardly wait to congratulate a coach after victory. His was not an eight to four job. His was a life.

"We are all richer to have our lives touched by this giant of a man. He was truly 'Mr. Patriot' in every sense of the word."

Following the Franklin principal to the podium was Hoppi Smith, an English teacher at Franklin and a friend of Walt Cosens the past 22 years.

"You know, if anyone was not a friend of Walt, it was not the fault of Walt," said the Franklin teacher.

"Walt had that something extra to share with kids. In all the years I knew him, I never heard him complain. He wasn't a prune but a fighter who never griped.

"With a laugh or joke, he could take the sting out of any bad moment. Walt proved a Shakespeare quote wrong. It was the good that he did or worth that he exhibited."

Hoppi finished, "Thank you, Walt," and the entire gym, which contained nearly every Franklin student plus numerous friends, took on a trying swallow.

Representing the students was Terry Borg who quickly stated that "it would take 50 years to say all the good about Mr. Cosens."

"You know, I really believe that Mr. Cosens enjoyed our Bulldog caper of last year more than anyone. He was a student in spirit at Franklin High.

"I have learned from Mr. Cosens how to live life.

"This was Mr. Cosens' year but what a sad farewell.

"Even though we will never see the 'big man' with his constant smile, we will never forget him."

One of the more touching moments came in the short eulogy by Franklin cheerleader Kim Scarpace who opened with "Our Mr. Cosens."

"He was a special part of all of us," said Miss Scarpace. "Mr. Cosens was the 'master key' of all our great paint raids for making signs before the big games.

"Everything he did, he did it for the kids."

Churchill High teacher and baseball Coach Roger Frayer, who learned it all under Walt Cosens spoke for the alumni and referred to his former coach as "our coach" — a man who never had to give a speech to get it all out of his players.

"Walt was the type of coach you could get that extra strength from during a game," said Frayer.

Franklin High senior Randy Epley talked for the athletes.

"A day was never complete without a walk to Mr. Cosens' office," said Epley. "He was the biggest fan this school has ever had.

"The feelings towards Mr. Cosens just can't come out in words."

Franklin football Coach George Lovich had perhaps the toughest assignment in speaking for the coaching staff.

"There was no second place for this man. He not only attended almost every athletic event, but once the game was past, he was a fan, not ashamed to cheer and not too proud to boo the officials on a call or two.

"You know in sports, coaches tell you that if you work hard enough you can make the first team. Well, Walt Cosens is on that first team — he has been called by his 'boss'."

During the hour long eulogy, the Franklin students, seated in the same seats they had been in to cheer their basketball team a few weeks prior, were all alone in a crowd.

Each student seemed to be sitting alone, gathering his or her respective thoughts on the man he or she would no longer see around Patriot territory.

It was the same gym where the Patriot cheers shook the rafters in cheering the basketball team on to the state quarter finals. The scoreboard bore the team names of Franklin and Waterford Kettering which had played for the regional championship.

And it was this same gym that Walt Cosens called his "second home" and the same gym where he had died during a game of paddle ball.

Goodby, Walt Cosens.

MESC announces benefit extension

Extended unemployment benefit payments were made available to those workers in the state who meet the qualifications as of March 24, with actual payments beginning April 1.

The U.S. Secretary of Labor has notified the Michigan Employment Security Commission that unemployment in Michigan has reached the level required for Michigan to pay extended unemployment benefits.

The level required is reached when there is a four per cent insured unemployment rate in a 13 consecutive week period, and the jobless rate increased by at least 20 per cent over the average unemployment rate in a comparable period in the two previous years.

"Not everyone is entitled to receive extended benefits," explained S. Martin Taylor, director of the MESC. "To be entitled to extended unemployment benefits the claimant must have a benefits year ending on or after March 30, 1974; he must exhaust his regular benefits; and must be eligible in all respects for each claimed week. The amount a claimant may draw in extended unemployment benefits depends on the amount of his regular benefits."

A claimant entitled to extended benefits may receive not more than 50 per cent of his regular benefits. If he was entitled to receive 26 weeks of regular benefits, he may receive 13 weeks of extended benefits.

"Although claimants are expected to file during the week beginning March 24 to establish extended benefit entitlement, they will be given a one-week period of grace within which to do so."

The effective date of all extended benefit claims filed on or before April 5, will be March 24, provided the individual is otherwise eligible. Claimants should come into their branch office on their regular reporting day to file claims or find out if they are eligible, Taylor said.

"It is anticipated that at the start of the program 35,000 unemployed will be eligible to apply for the benefits. The total benefits for the first 13 weeks of the program are estimated at about $10 million. The cost of the program will be shared jointly by the federal government and the state."

"Michigan's share will be paid from state unemployment compensation funds. Individual employer rating accounts will not be charged for any part of the program," Taylor said.

Circus coming

Clarenceville Junior High will present its annual Trojan Circus on Wednesday, April 10, at 7 p.m. in the junior high gymnasium. Tickets are 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students.

WILLIAM C. CRAIG of Northville has been appointed general superintendent of production at Chevrolet's Livonia plant. Craig, 35, received a bachelor's in business administration from Detroit Institute of Technology and joined the Chevrolet Livonia plant in 1960 as a timekeeper. He has since served as senior clerk in the production operation, foreman, general foreman - production, and superintendent - manufacturing.

C'ville bands get ratings

Clarenceville's high school symphony and concert bands received two Division I ratings in recent district music festivals. The junior high band also received a Division I rating.

The symphony band played in Ann Arbor before judges: William Root, Ferris State College; Donald Lupp, Henry Ford Community College; Joseph Parker, Royal Oak School District, and David Eldredge, Vassar School District.

Playing in Milan, the concert band was judged by Bernie Kuschel, Benton Harbor schools; Nicholas Cannici, Ferndale High School; Robert Craig, West Junior High; and Robert Whitacre, Adrian College.

The junior high band competed in Riverview before judges David Merkel, Arthur McCombie, Beech High School, Flint; Robert Whitacre, Adrian College, and Mark DeLeonard, Wayne State University.

Chief executive idea supported

Wayne County Commissioner Mary Dumas (R - Livonia) has endorsed the idea of a county executive and is asking that a proposal be placed on the Aug. 6 primary ballot calling for an elected county executive.

The concept of an elected Wayne County Executive would permit voters the chance to decide which candidate would best serve the county, she says.

Mrs. Dumas is asking the county commissioners to place on the Aug. 6 primary ballot the question: "Shall the people of Wayne County elect a chief executive?" She also asks that the county clerk be authorized to place on the ballot names of those persons filing for the partisan nominations for that office.

"Wayne County government as presently constituted is unwieldy and often ineffective," she explains. "Not only is the power of governance torn between elected officials and an elected 27-member board of commissioners, it is dissipated through numerous autonomous and semi-autonomous appointed boards and commissions, not the least of which is the powerful road commission."

"It is imperative that Wayne County proceed to establish the office of chief executive to handle the daily operations of the county and to see that policies established by the board of commissioners are carried out and the funds we appropriate are efficiently spent for the benefit of county residents," Mrs. Dumas continues.

While the new county executive act doesn't solve all the problems of Wayne County government, she adds, it is a step in the right direction.

"Opponents express fear the power of an elected county executive will negate the powers of commissioners. It is true the act fails to adequately define and protect the legislative powers of the board, and the State Legislature should address itself immediately to this weakness.

"Progress is always accompanied by some risks, but action by the board of commissioners to place the question on the ballot and the endorsement at the polls by county voters can only constitute progress."
