Light vote expected Tuesday

By W. W. EDGAR

PLYMOUTH — Tuesday is "C" Day in Plymouth.

It is the day when the voters will go to the polls and decide whether the city of Plymouth and Plymouth Township will merge into one municipality or continue on their separate ways.

It is a day, as Helen Richardson, township clerk, points out, that could have an effect on the lives of everyone for years to come.

Yet, despite the importance of the election, citizen apathy seemingly has reached a new low and a small turnout is expected to cast ballots.

The polls in both the city and township will open at 7 a.m. and remain open until 8 p.m. to accommodate the voters.

"We have 9,304 registered voters in the township," Mrs. Richardson said, "and while I would like to see a large turnout, I don't expect more than about 50 per cent."

"Such a turnout is a real disappointment as consolidation is too big an issue for a few people to decide. Don't forget, consolidation would mean an entirely new form of government."

Interest in the city apparently is at a low ebb, too.

"You can always judge the interest in elections," City Clerk Paul Brumfield stated, "by the number of requests we receive for absentee ballots. And up to now we have just six. That tells you something."

In many quarters this seeming apathy has taken an odd effect.

"It is telling us something," Mrs. Richardson stated, "but I just don't know what."

The same feeling exists in high places in the city.

Though consolidation has been talked about for years, this is the first time the people ever have had a chance to vote on the issue.

In prior years they have voted on annexation and in the '50s township voters living east of McClumpha Rd. have approved incorporation as the city of Plymouth Heights, with former supervisor, John McEwen as mayor.

Several times since then a new Plymouth Heights charter was written only to be turned down by the voters. It always was charged that the township was using this method to block any type of affiliation with the city.

The matter of consolidation has been discussed for years, but is reaching a climax now only because the state boundary commission was petitioned to order a vote.

A study was then done by a team of researchers from Michigan State University on the impact of consolidation.

This present consolidation movement began in 1970 through the efforts of Dr. Gary Hall, a township resident, who led the drive to petition the state.

It was charged that the township sponsored an archaic form of government as it had no power - not even to provide sidewalks.

Others claimed in the debates - and former supervisor McEwen was one of them - that the township government was a throw-back to the days when the early settlers held town meetings on the Commons and was closer to the people than the democratic process of today.

It has been claimed that consolidation would cost more - especially to the township residents.

This charge was denied by the researchers who said that even though the taxes would be higher in the township, the raise would be offset by the extra services, such as adequate police protection and garbage collection, that would be provided.

Following the same reasoning, the local government taxes might be lowered in the city should consolidation be approved, although the residents will have to pay slightly more state and federal income taxes.

Through the years the residents of both the township and the city have combined their efforts in most everything except government. They've teamed up on charity drives, schools, all manner of celebrations and have worked hand-in-hand in many civic events for the betterment of the community. When it came to government they have steadfastly remained apart.

Now the people whose lives will be affected have been given a voice in the matter.

Many of them are newcomers who haven't been calloused to the old way of doing things separately and some think they could hold the balance when the polls open on Tuesday - "C" Day in Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

THE BURNHAM FAMILY DIED Feb. 9 when a fire swept their home at 44139 Arlington, in Canton's Windsor Park subdivision. The tragedy, which claimed the lives of James and Sara Burnham and their two boys, raised doubts about the effectiveness of Canton firefighters and resulted in a newly-released report on their performance. (Staff photo by Bob Woodring)

Investigators say Canton fire dept. needs more staff

By HANK MEIJER

CANTON — According to a report just released on the February house fire in Windsor Park which killed James and Sara Burnham and their two children, more firemen should have been able to respond to the alarm, but the family was already dead when Canton firefighters arrived.

The inquiry, conducted by Canton Township residents Dale Orth, Henry Goudy, and Eldon L. Johnson, sought to determine whether township firemen had reacted as effectively as possible to prevent the tragedy.

The trio was asked to "investigate into any irregularities in the manner in which the fire department performed, and recommend any changes to the Canton Township Board of Trustees."

The Burnham family died early in the morning, Feb. 9, when their home at 44139 Arlington was nearly destroyed by fire.

According to the investigators, neighbors of the Burnhams heard popping noises coming from the Burnham house at about 1:05 a.m. The little explosions turned out to be the victims' windows shattering from the intense heat.

The fire department received the first of several calls at 1:10 a.m.

Four firemen, all full time, were on duty when the alarm sounded. Three drove to the scene immediately, while one man stayed behind to call the sheriff's department and the rest of the Canton firemen, both full time and volunteer.

The first three firefighters arrived with a rescue truck and a pumper. The pumper carried ladders and two airpicks for supplying oxygen inside the burning dwelling.

Hoses were hooked up immediately and trained on the house.

"Bystanders apparently interfered with the firemen," the inquiry notes, "in that a ladder was taken by civilians to the rear of the house. Although citizen involvement was honestly undertaken, it would seem that this involvement was a hindrance to proper firefighting procedure."

"Additional fire personnel may have eliminated some citizen involvement and concern," the investigators concluded.

The Burnham family was trapped upstairs. All were probably asleep when the blaze broke out. Fire reports blamed a burning candle as the cause of the fire.

The report shows a ladder was set up at the rear of the house, but an overhang blocked attempts by one fireman to get in through an upstairs rear window with an airpick. He managed to push into the family room, but was forced back out.

When another attempt was made to enter with the ladder, the oxygen tanks were running short and fireman had to retreat to the truck to change tanks.

Meanwhile, another fireman went in through the front door of the house, with the second airpick and found the children. He handed one of the youngsters out through an upstairs rear window and carried the other out the front door.

Firemen tried to revive the two boys, one four years old, the other 23 months, with resuscitation equipment in the rescue squad truck.

"All four occupants of the house had succumbed prior to arrival of fire department personnel," said the investigators.

They concluded that "the firemen responded within the standard time period," after neighbors called.

"Sufficient equipment was at the scene," the committee said, but it noted that, "the department now takes three airpicks to the scene," rather than the required two on hand at the Burnham fire.

The investigators determined that at the time of the blaze the airpicks were filled to 1,500 and 1,900 pounds respectively, rather than their 2,000-pound capacity.

The report indicates assistance was available from neighboring fire departments, but wasn't necessary.

Most of the full time firemen on the force were volunteers until 1971, when the fire department took on full time personnel. Most of their training has been on the job, the report notes.

"Some type of priority on-duty training should be continued," the investigators suggested. They also recommended that outside training experts be brought in to provide periodic medical and physical testing and "to assure that firemen meet minimal requirements prior to employment and prior to promotion."

The investigators advised that six full time firemen should be on duty at all times, rather than the four who heard the Arlington Street alarm.

In assessing the department's performance, the committee reviewed reports of the state fire marshal, Wayne County Sheriff's Department, and the Canton Township Fire Department.

They also studied the size, equipment and budget of the township fire department in comparison with communities with a similar populations.

All full time Canton fireman on duty at the time of the tragedy were interviewed, as well as residents in the immediate vicinity of the fire.

SC 'burns the mortgage' in dramatic milestone marking 12-year growth

By TIM RICHARD

Schoolcraft College today has buildings worth $16.4 million and 8,200 students on a site which 12 years ago was just a cornfield.

Its first trustees and most of its early administrators have retired now, and their heads are greyer.

"But just as dramatic a change is the one brought by inflation. And the friends of the community college had a chance to ponder those changes Wednesday as they paid off the last installment on the college's first bond issue and ceremonially burned the mortgage.

"THAT BOND issue was for $2,435,000, and it paid for the land, improvements, Forum Building, Administration Building and the library," said President Emeritus Eric Bradner. "Today it wouldn't build this one (Administration) — maybe half."

Former board Chairman Harold Fischer and Vice President Kenneth Lindner recalled a trip to Chicago with Trustee Paul Mutnick to sign 2,435 bonds in denominations of $1,000 each. Today municipal bonds are sold in denominations of at least $5,000.

Even more shocking was the change in the money market. Lindner recalled the low bidder for the bonds offered a rate 3.19 per cent and the high bidder 3.31 per cent.

Bob Barbour vice president of National Bank of Detroit, paying agent for the bond issue, said that to a corporate investor in the 52 per cent tax bracket, the 1963 Schoolcraft issue was worth more than six per cent (local government bond issues are free from federal income taxes).

In contrast, today's prime rate for the strongest corporate borrowers is 10.75 per cent. The maximum a local government can pay, under state law, is six per cent, so almost any unit will find it hard to sell a bond issue today, he said.

IN ANOTHER way, however, inflation and growth helped Schoolcraft College. A growing tax base enabled the college to pay off the last of that first bond issue this year instead of in 1982, Lindner pointed out.

Total interest cost was expected to be $708,000 but was actually only $567,000, he smiled, puffing on his pipe.

Dr. Bradner, for whom the library was named, recalled that Schoolcraft was the first community college in the state formed from a group of K-12 school districts (Clarenceville, Garden City, Livonia, Plymouth and later Northville).

At the time, however, the lawyers were unsure such a college district was legal, and bonds had to be sold without the state's full faith and credit to back them up.

Trustee Leroy Bennett recalled that "the real concern was not whether the buildings would go up. It was whether the students would show up."

Dr. Bradner said: "We thought we'd see 2,000 students, maybe go to 3,000, possibly 4,000. We never expected to see 8,000."

THE BOND issue was approved by voters in mid-1962 and the bonds sold in January of 1963, but Dr. Bradner confessed, "The board didn't wait for the bonds. It had plans going even before the vote. We'd tentatively hired an architect."

The board paid a bit over $1,700 an acre for 160 acres of cattle run, wild asparagus fields and cornfields at the southeast corner of Seven Mile and Haggerty Roads, Dr. Bradner recalled. His successor, President C. Nelson Grote, offered the tidbit that the asking price on some nearby land today is $10,000 an acre.

Early board meetings were held in an old school that had a working wasps' nest, but last week's bond-burning ceremony was conducted in the air-conditioned board room with a superb white cake whipped up by the college's popular and famed culinary arts department.

"We've come a long way," said former Chairman Fischer, and former trustee Mutnick added: "I'm flabbergasted it was done so quickly."

JOHN LaRUE, Schoolcraft board chairman, ignites the last of the college's first bond issue after board Treasurer Nancié Blatt handed a check to Bob Barbour, vice president of National Bank of Detroit.

Livonia GM picks Chaffin superintendent

Edward W. Chaffin has been appointed general superintendent of master mechanics at Chevrolet's Livonia plant, replacing Melvin R. Troyer of Plymouth who is retiring after 35 years service with Chevrolet.

Chaffin, 39, a native of Sandusky, began his Chevrolet career while a General Motors Institute student in 1952. He attended Cleveland State University, University of Michigan and GMU.

Troyer of E. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth, joined Chevrolet in June 1939. He served in several supervisory positions before being named general superintendent - master mechanics in December 1966.

Chaffin was a production foreman in 1955 in the Chevrolet plant in Parma, Ohio, and was promoted to general foreman of production in 1968. Seven months later he was named to a similar position in the machine repair department.

In 1969, he became general foreman of tool and die and was appointed assistant superintendent of inspection in 1971.

Chaffin was transferred in May 1972 to Chevrolet - Livonia as superintendent - die room. He was named assistant superintendent - master mechanics in October 1973, and was serving in that capacity when he received his present assignment. He is presently living in Northville.

Livonian about to take reins as youngest MEA president

By BOB ERICKSON

Keith Geiger of Livonia, current president of the Livonia Education Association, will assume the office of president of the Michigan Education Association July 1. At 33, Geiger will be the youngest president in the MEA's history.

Geiger, who currently teaches math at Stevenson High School, recently the MEA's annual Representative Assembly held last week in Detroit. He was among 550 delegates to the assembly session.

The Representative Assembly (MEARA) is the legislative body of the MEA, and meets to elect officers, establish a budget and set policies for the 83,000 member organization. At that meeting, Geiger said, the MEARA:

- Spent considerable time on possible new structuring of the MEA to trim the size of the board of directors, hoping to cut costs;
- Initiated a public relations program that will include extensive television advertising;
- Heard Gov. William G. Milliken speak on the issue of teachers strikes;
- Passed a resolution on the desegregation of schools; and,
- Examined the issue of teacher accountability.

Work on the restructuring of the organization wasn't completed, Geiger said, because all proposals made at the meeting were defeated by the delegates. However, he said he believes some restructuring is necessary.

He noted many members feel the 35 member board of directors is too costly (MEA dues rose $13 in this year alone). For reasons of representation, Geiger said, the size of the body is desirable to many, but like boards of education, the MEA is discovering that when 80 to 85 per cent of costs are in salaries, "you're going to have to cut bodies to cut costs."

The need for the public relations program which the MEARA passed at its meeting may also soon become apparent.

Geiger noted, in response to a question about the likelihood of extensive teacher strikes in the fall, that "it seems fair to say that if boards of education commit themselves to the types of raises they have in the past few years, we are going to have drastic problems in this state."

"The boards must honestly look at the cost of living," he continued. "Teachers have to go to the grocery store like everyone else."

The governor's speech about teacher strikes, Geiger said, showed he is most interested in doing anything he can to avoid such strikes. "So are most teachers. But the MEA is not going to allow changes in Public Act 379 which mandate binding arbitration or which consistently fix the blame for strikes on teachers. What is done must be done to make both sides sit down and honestly bargain."

At the three-day meeting the MEARA also passed a resolution supporting the desegregation of schools and a policy of honest open housing. But, Geiger said, the resolution didn't include the busing of children out of neighborhood districts.

In 1970-71, the MEARA had defeated a resolution supporting cross-district busing. The following year, the body also defeated a resolution opposing cross-district busing.

The reason for those seemingly contradictory actions, and the reason for the failure this year of the MEARA to include in its resolution any reference to busing, Geiger said, is that "right now the MEA does not have a position for or against the issue. That allows the organization to involve itself in the Roth case strictly to deal with the questions of teacher rights."

Appeals Court upholds Bennett's conviction

By MAURIE WALKER

PLYMOUTH — An appeal will be filed within a month to the Michigan Supreme Court for a new trial for David L. Bennett, convicted of the May 9, 1972 murder of the wife of Michael Berry, Wayne County Road Commission chairman.

Daniel Burrell, attorney for Bennett, told the Plymouth Observer and Eccentric he will file the application following a denial by the State Court of Appeals on April 30.

Burrell had requested a new trial from Circuit Judge George E. Bowles. This was denied by the judge in January, 1973. The attorney then appealed to the State Court of Appeals.

The plea for the new trial was based on remarks made about items not in evidence and the method of impaling the jury.

Bennett was sentenced to life in Jackson prison in November, 1972. The youth, then 17, was arrested May 9, 1972 a few hours after the body of Vivian Berry was found stabbed to death in the garage of her Plymouth Township home.

In denying a new trial, Bowles said the only new basis in the supplemental motion for a new trial was impaling of the jury.

"Counsel's argument is that the removal of the jurors, or more specifically, their separation, was not in accordance with the statutes or rules and thus the defendant was denied equal protection and due process under federal and state constitutions."

In explaining the method of choosing the Bennett jury, Bowles said, "Defense counsel concurred in the procedure and at no time made an appropriate motion challenging the procedure favorably commented upon."

The State Court of Appeals in upholding Bowles ruling, said the defense charge that exhibits by the prosecution were objected to as evidence until such time as proper tracing has been made, were shown to have been connected with the crime and with (the) defendant.

"We hold that error was not committed when the trial court admitted the exhibits at issue." The defense had argued that a number of items, including boots, a T-shirt, a gold shirt, belt and trousers, which had been taken from Bennett while he was at the State Police crime laboratory, were not properly traced to the defendant and should have been excluded."

The State Court of Appeals said the trial court and counsel had a side bar discussion off the record, and the trial court, pursuant to the prosecutor's motion, received the exhibits at issue.

"No objection by defense counsel was made at that time, but a motion to suppress was made at the conclusion of the people's case," the Court of Appeals said.

In concluding its nine-page opinion, the court said:

"We have carefully considered other issues raised by (the) defendant including the method of selecting the jury, defendant's arrest without a warrant, denial of defendant's motion for a separate trial on the issue of insanity, the propriety of jury instructions on insanity and related matter."

"As to each, we have found no deviation from sound and accepted trial procedure or established case law."

PLYMOUTH — The Plymouth Jaycees will hold their annual Rouge River spring cleanup in Edward Hines Park on May 18.

McNamara leads effort to enrich revenue sharing

Livonia Mayor Edward H. McNamara has been named co-chairman of a Michigan Municipal League committee formed to coordinate efforts to obtain enrichment of state revenue sharing for cities.

McNamara, who is also chairman of the legislative committee for the league, will chair the committee along with Oak Park Mayor David Shepherd. Shepherd is a leader in SEMCOG and is chairman of the finance and taxation committee of the MML.

The league has set a very high priority on enrichment of state revenue sharing by the addition this year of more than $27 million in new money for distribution to local governmental units. If accomplished, McNamara says, this would be the first increase since 1971.

The committee includes representatives from the league's 10 regions in the state and will work to coordinate the legislative action needed to enact the enrichment proposal, which is part of the fiscal program of the Michigan Municipal League.

The enrichment proposal of the league was embodied in legislation introduced in the Legislature in April by the majority leaders of both houses — Rep. Bobby Crim and Sen. Milton Zaagman.

Their bills to share $27 million in state tax revenues would ease the financial crunch for cities and villages and reduce the need for further local property tax increases, says East Detroit Mayor Walter Bezz and president of the league.

Part of the increased local allocation would come $14.5 million revenue from the state tax on intangible property which now goes into the general fund.

The other source, which would be earmarked for local units, would come from the state-assessed property tax on railroad, telephone and telegraph companies and would amount to $13 million.

The $27 million would be shared under a formula established by the Legislature in 1971 which is based on need as determined by the relative local tax effort or local tax burden of each city, village or township.

Doc Salan has gone fishing

By W.W. EDGAR

PLYMOUTH — There's a familiar face missing in the downtown precincts these days.

"Doc" Salan has gone fishing. After serving the people in the Plymouth community for almost a quarter of a century Dr. L.J. Salan, the popular ophthalmologist, has decided to put his working tools away and spend the rest of his days with Mrs. Salan in Decar — just a short way from the lake on the Lelanau peninsula.

"I'm just going to take things easy," he said, "and there is no place that I'd rather be than up in that country where the fishing is good."

There is only one thing that worried him as he departed. That was whether he would be able to come back for the state high school basketball tournament next spring.

"I haven't missed a tournament since I came to Plymouth in 1952. But it is a long way to drive if I want to come back for the finals," he said.

"Doc" came by his interest in sport naturally. Born just outside of Pittsburgh, he had the distinction of winning varsity letters in baseball, basketball and football the first year he reported to the high school squads.

Following his high school days he concentrated on his education and received his pre-medical education in Pittsburgh. Later he graduated from Georgetown University Medical School in 1931 and served his internship on Pittsburgh's south side.

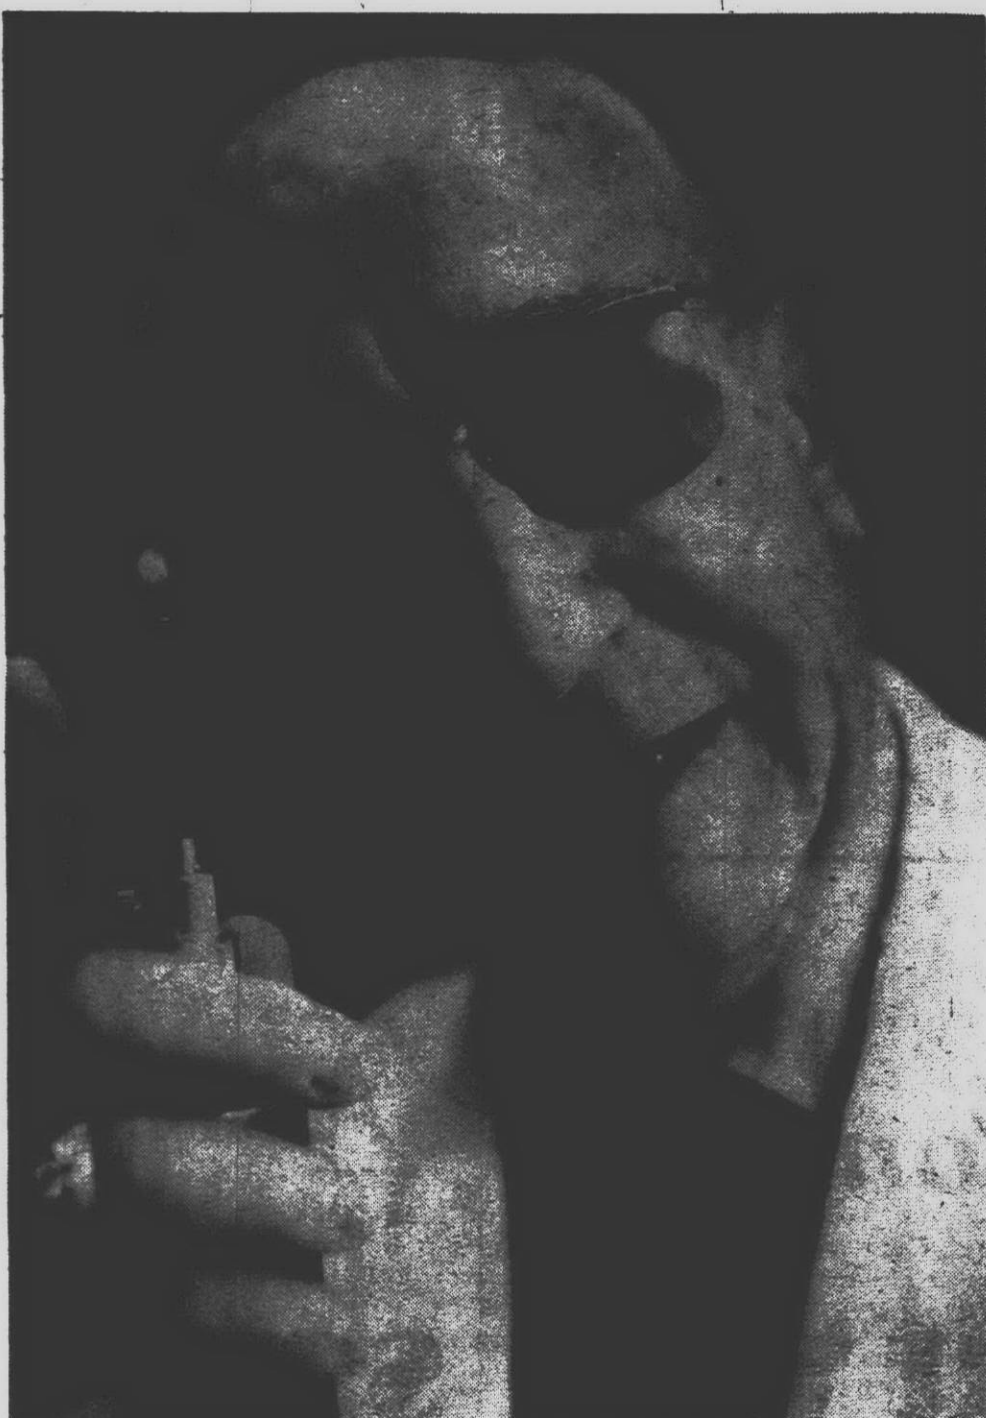

Following the internship he returned to Washington, D.C. where he married Marie Cecelia Rowan.

For the next 10 years he practiced as an industrial surgeon, then spent four years in general practice there before moving to Montana.

After six years there he decided to specialize in eye surgery and took a residency in ophthalmology at Wayne County General Hospital for two years before moving to Plymouth, where he has practiced ever since.

"Doc" was the first team physician at Plymouth High School and served for five years. He also was active through the years as a member of the Rotary Club of Plymouth.

His family consists of two boys and two girls. Ruth teaches school in California and Joan is a nurse in Santa Monica, Calif. John is a prosecuting attorney in Ann Arbor and Andrew is a scouting official in Vernon, Texas.

City meeting set for May 21

PLYMOUTH — The Plymouth City Commission will discuss a request for money by Youth Inc. at its rescheduled meeting on Tuesday, May 21.

The normal Monday - night meeting was moved to Tuesday that week because of Michigan Week activities. But the city commission had overlooked that when it scheduled the Youth Inc. decision for May 20 at its last meeting.

Although the Plymouth Observer & Eccentric discovered this oversight late Wednesday, it was too late to change the date in the story in Thursday's edition.

May 21 — a Tuesday — is the date the city commission will decide on donating money to Youth Inc. at the commission meeting starting at 7:30 p.m. in city hall.

We're knocking our head against consolidation wall

I feel like an expectant mother hen even though I fear the results of tomorrow's consolidation election will be disappointing.

It's all up to the voters now. We've done what was needed to give City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township voters all the information they need to make an intelligent decision — and I think we've done it as objectively as possible.

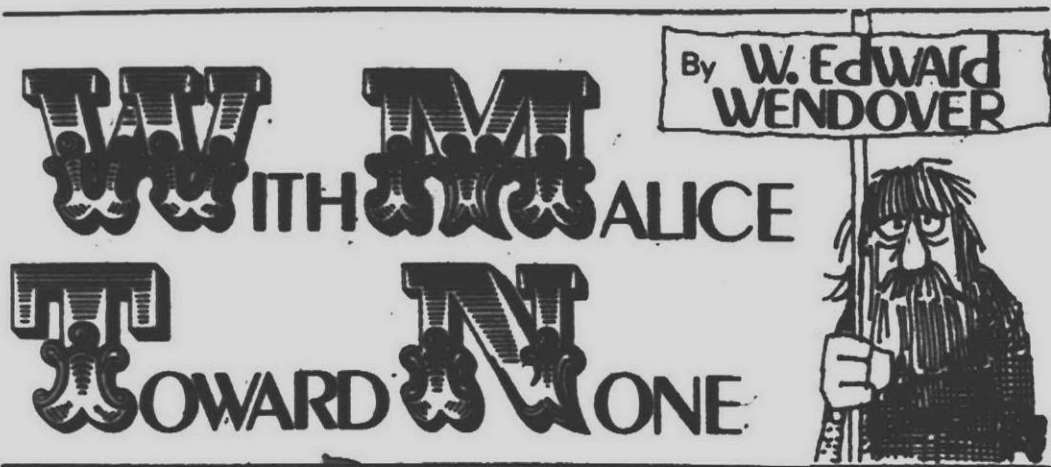

Possibly, you're tired of reading about consolidation.

The issues are complicated, and it has taken our staff an unusual amount of work to air all the information and viewpoints the voters need to know. At times we have let other events wait in order to get everything in before Tuesday.

And although most readers know that we've been generally in favor of unifying the two communities formally — we believe here they have always been informally tied through many community programs, organizations and schools — we've tried to give the opposing viewpoint an equal crack.

I think we've been successful. We know that this issue can be an emotional one — after all, it could involve restructuring our entire local government setup — and we've tried to take that into account in giving a fair presentation.

However, we feel a responsibility to take a stand. We've covered almost every angle of the consolidation issue and we feel we know it well.

But we haven't gone overboard.

We have resisted every temptation to personally debate the consolidation issue with all its opponents at a locked-door session starting at 6:55 a.m. tomorrow running non-stop through 8:05 p.m. (Opponents voting by absentee ballot would not be included.)

We realize we're knocking our heads against a wall advocating that consolidation be passed, but we've felt the issue is important enough to warrant an all-out effort reportorially and editorially.

Apparently those behind the drive have not felt similarly inclined. If anything, this campaign can be described as ultra low key.

It almost seems that the proponents resolved that defeat was inevitable so they didn't give it their all.

Subsequently, the opponents to consolidation haven't had to work very hard to counter a strong consolidation drive.

Maybe proponents' futility and the resulting opponents' security are leading us to such a low turnout at the polls on a very important question.

Both Plymouth Township Clerk Helen Richardson and City Clerk Paul Brumfield are expecting low turnouts Tuesday. They'll probably be right.

But in spite of that, we feel we've given it our all.

And next time — everyone knows that even a defeat tomorrow won't end the unification drive in the community — we'll do the same.

Our coverage has been fair enough to keep good relations with those involved, and we expect to offer our pages for their viewpoints again and again. It's the only fair way to handle the thing.

It's in the hands of the voters now. May the better case win and if it doesn't there's always next time.

The Stroller On melons

Now that spring is here, frost is popping out of the ground, trees are budding and newcomers, especially the younger group, are turning their thoughts to gardening to ease the cost of living. The Stroller would like to pass along a few tips.

If you want to have some real fun and enjoyment, take your mind off such things as carrots, peas, string beans, lettuce, onions and tomatoes and try your hand at raising watermelon.

Maybe you are one of those eager souls who can't believe watermelons can be grown in this northern clime. Don't fool yourself. They can be raised right here and dandy ones at that.

You see, there was a time when The Stroller and the lady of our house were newcomers and we envisioned a great garden too.

We were doing quite nicely with bumper crops of yellow string beans, carrots and onions. And, we had some fine heads of lettuce and a great bed of cucumbers.

Then one evening on a visit to a friend not too distant (in fact it was only several blocks to city dwellers) The Stroller saw an unusual looking bed aside the vegetable garden.

"What have you got in there?" The Stroller asked.

"Watermelon" came the reply.

The Stroller was skeptical until the owner reached down and picked up a prize specimen.

"Take it with you," the gardener said, and The Stroller walked off with the unbelievable melon. And it was a tasty bit, too.

Some of the joy was taken out of it the next week, however, when the old gardener reminded The Stroller that he hadn't paid for the melon and asked for 65 cents.

The Stroller paid and all the way home he muttered: "I'll get even. I'll save the seeds and raise my own melons."

All through the next winter—he nursed the seeds and watched over them with pleasant visions of the tasty feast he was going to have the next summer. Watermelons out of his own yard.

But this joy was not to be. Tenderly he planted the seeds and soon the plants popped out of the ground. But the melons never matured. The biggest was only the size of a small cucumber.

He mentioned his disappointment to his old farmer friend, Ray Grimm, a fellow member of the city council.

Ray just laughed. Then he promised his help and advice the next summer. When the time came to plant he called The Stroller aside during a recess of the council meeting.

"Here's what you do," he said. First draw a circle about three feet in diameter on the ground. Then cultivate the soil until it is almost like sand. After you do that, take a piece of drain tile about eight inches long and insert it in the ground with the open end up.

OK consolidation in eastern township

EDITOR:

Consolidation is a topic of conversation that is currently being discussed by many citizens of Plymouth and Plymouth Township as we prepare to vote on this very vital issue next Tuesday.

It is indeed unfortunate that we cannot have the expression of all the citizens of our community on election day and the issue will be decided by a small percentage of our registered voters if the turnout holds true to form.

In general, this type of election will bring out the negative vote and particularly some members of homeowner associations who are openly against consolidation because of the increase in taxes.

They have, over the past several weeks, tried to influence the balance of the township residents and particularly those voters whose homes are in the $25,000 - $40,000 range who would have the bargain of the century if the consolidation vote passes. After all, isn't the average priced home being subsidized by the owners of the $60,000 - $80,000 houses lying in the western portion of the township?

It is for this reason that I urge the residents of the east half of the township to support consolidation and help

"After you do that, fill the tile with chicken manure and plant your seeds about an inch and half away from the tile and about four inches apart. And when you water the plants always pour the water into the manure and let it seep through the tile to the seeds."

He was real serious. But the Stroller was still skeptical, and followed instructions to the letter.

Guess what happened?

That summer The Stroller had watermelons that weighed as much as 30 pounds.

So, you newcomers, if you want to have some fun and enjoyment try raising watermelon.

preserve the things that set Plymouth apart from our neighboring communities.

Just remember, the total tax increase for a $35,000 home will be about $110 per year and after deducting the $36 that most township residents now pay for refuse pickup, the net cost will be approximately $75. In addition, taxes are deductible from state and federal income taxes which would reduce this figure to $60 for the average taxpayer.

For this $60 all residents will be provided with a full-time police department, streets plowed in the winter and swept in the summer, refuse pickup, leaf pickup and better fire protection, but most of all, a new spirit of cooperation to keep Plymouth an oasis in western Wayne County.

A WACKY JOURNEY around the world is the theme of the 1974 Redford Suburban League Theater Guild production, titled "Mrs. Fletcher's Airline and Caster Oil Co." and scheduled the evenings of May 10 to 12 in Redford Union High School. At the far left are Ron Burkhart and Roberta Ramsey, cast as Wrong

Revue to benefit retarded

'Mrs. Fletcher's Airline' ready to fly

The annual zaniness offered by the Redford Suburban League for the benefit of retarded children goes off on an old-time flight this year.

And also adds a very new production idea.

The 1974 Guild review — taking its place in a long line of productions that began in 1954 — is titled "Mrs. Fletcher's Airline and Caster Oil Co."

It depicts the utter confusion of the haphazard crew of an airline that flies out of Bell Creek Park in Redford Township in a 1928 Ford Trimotor plane and gets hopelessly lost on a journey around the world.

And when the curtain goes up in Redford Union High School on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, May 10 to 12, the audiences will see at work a new idea that could change the structure of amateur theatrical groups throughout the area.

Instead of the between-act oltos — those little bits of acting in front of a closed curtain that give stage crews a chance to change scenery backstage — there will be special movie sequence fill-ins.

Paul Scupholm, who headed the script committee for this year's production and is serving as co-director, worked out the idea, securing the services of radio personality Mike Whorf and Terry Kelley, a top editor of documentary films.

"I felt people were tired of seeing the oltos to set the scene for each act," he said. "Those actors out there in front of the curtain looked too cold and awkward."

"So I suggested we put them on film, and follow them up with a slapstick live olio done about half-way back on the stage instead of out on the apron."

"Thus, instead of using part of the show as filler, we have all the action done behind the curtain and thus more continuity."

The Theater Guild revues are staged each year by amateurs, members of the Redford Suburban League and husbands and others in the community who may be interested. About 75 are involved this year.

So the filmed sections, Scupholm said, gives an evenness to the production.

Some of the problems presented and techniques used would hardly be found in a really professional offering, he added, but that was all part of the fun and interest.

"We started out by trying to secure film footage of a Ford Trimotor to use in our segments," Scupholm reported.

"We were amazed to find that the Ford Motor Co. did not have any film of the old planes — it seems they gave all their movie archives to the Smithsonian Institute."

What finally was used was three minutes of film that American Airlines had used in an old commercial several years ago.

"Our next problem," the co-director went on, "was to get our ridiculous crew filmed in such a manner that the new film would look like old film."

"To do that, we shot our sequences in stark black and white, with a black background and black and white costumes. Then we ran the camera at low speed to give a slightly jerky effect when the film is projected at high speed."

Whorf, who produces Kaleidoscope on Station WJR, is doing the narration for the segments, and Kelley, 1970 winner of a gold medal award in the New York Blue Ribbon Film Festival, was brought in to edit the sequences.

"He found it was difficult to produce a bad, corny and technically inadequate film to meet the guild's needs," Scupholm said.

"He thus over-exposed the film and shot the sequences against stark black or white backgrounds, running the camera at two-thirds of the speed of the projector so that his final product would look 45 years old."

Kelley said he had expected to use 800 feet of film to procure the necessary 300 feet to be used, but found the guild actors so competent he needed to shoot only 400 feet.

He told Scupholm he "admired how quickly they went before the camera and went through their short segments, even though they had received scripts only a few minutes before."

Curtain time for the three performances will be 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 7:30 p.m. Sunday. Redford Union High is located at 17711 Kinloch, Redford Township.

Tickets, priced at $3 for adults and $1.50 for students, are available by calling Mrs. Fran Bedard, 24540 Lyndon, Redford Township, or at the door.

Proceeds are used by the Redford Suburban League to support a variety of projects that benefit handicapped and retarded children in the area.

Nancy Dickerson, Bil Keane headline Northville town hall

Television news correspondent Nancy Dickerson will lead off the Northville Town Hall 1974-75 lecture series on Oct. 10 and cartoonist Bil Keane of "Family Circle" fame will wind it up April 10.

In between will be visits by William Albright of the University of Michigan school of music, scheduled Nov. 14, and Joe Callaway, actor and lecturer on Broadway, on March 13.

The town hall lectures will be held this year in the auditorium of Madonna College, 36600 Schoolcraft, at Levon. All are held on Thursdays at 11 a.m.

Celebrity luncheons for each of the visitors will be held in the Holiday Inn of Farmington, 38123 West 10 Mile.

Season tickets for the four lectures are $12 and should be ordered from Mrs. Donald DiComo, ticket chairman, Northville Town Hall Series, P.O. Box 93, Northville, 48167. Only season tickets are being sold.

The luncheons are $5 and reservations are handled by Mrs. Richard Booms at the same address. They may be pre-paid at $20 for the season or reserved for each lecture by the Friday preceding the program.

Baby-sitting is available during the lectures and luncheons. Those interested may call Mrs. John R. Stuart, 522 Fairbrook, Northville.

Nancy Dickerson, often called the First Lady of television news, has worked with both the CBS and NBC networks and currently has a program, "Inside Washington," a news insert for local television news show.

Mrs. Dickerson worked as an associate producer for the CBS show "Face the Nation" and later was a producer for the network's news and special shows.

She moved to NBC in 1963 and was the only woman with that network to have a daily network show.

Bil Keane, who explains he used to spell his first name Bill "but my father caught me drawing on the walls and knocked the L out of me," is expected to include in his talk samples of the cartoon artistry that has made his work the top panel in the country.

Keane grew up in Philadelphia copying the work of favorite cartoonists and during his service in World War II did a cartoon series for the Pacific Stars and Stripes.

He was staff cartoonist for the Philadelphia Bulletin for 15 years before creating "The Family Circus" in 1960.

Keane now lives in Arizona with his wife, Thel, who he said "is the model for 'Mommy' and edits all the material before it is sent out and is the most kissable editor I've ever met."

Albright, assistant producer of composition in the Michigan music school, specializes in work for the piano and also is associate director of the school's electronic music studio.

He has given concerts of new music for piano and organ throughout the United States, Canada and Europe and also is widely known as an interpreter of classic ragtime and early jazz styles.

As a composer, he has produced works for almost every medium, several of which involve electronic, visual and theatrical elements.

Callaway is at once drama critic, actor and director of stage, screen, television and radio drama.

He has appeared in such roles as Macbeth and Tennessee Williams heroes both in this country and in Europe. A graduate of the University of Southern California, he was featured actor in Shakespearean works with the famed Globe Theater, and has worked with such top theatrical personalities as Ethel Merman, MacDonald Carey, Arthur Kennedy, Dennis King, Martha Scott, Ernie Kovacs, Judith Evelyn and Margaret Webster.

He also has founded and directed companies in several areas including Michigan.

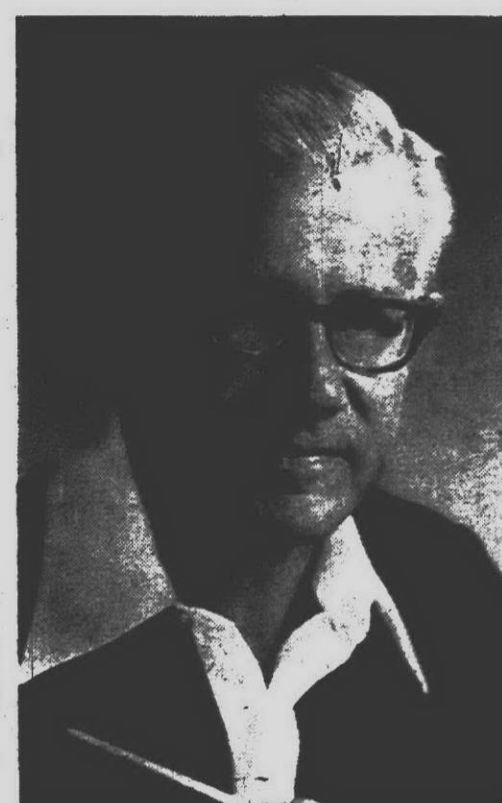

Callaway sees all Broadway plays each season as well as many revivals of theatrical classics around the country, and also covers London offerings each year.

MRS. WILLIAM LINDHOUT (right) of Livonia has been elected to serve a three-year term on the board of directors of Women for the United Foundation. With her is Mrs. Joseph A. Vieson of Birmingham, re-elected to her second term as president of the organization that undertakes such activities as Torch Drive, recruiting, the Heart of Gold awards luncheon and the Healthorama free health testing events.

Girl Scouts aid Camp Linden

Girl Scouts from Plymouth, Livonia and Westland recently spent a part of their spring vacation erecting tents at Camp Linden, the resident and troop camp of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council.

The girls assisted the camp manager, Bill Schief, in preparing the camp for the 7,500 girls who will visit it this summer. In three days the girls erected 24 four-girl tents and assembled beds.

The girls are all senior scouts who have formed a committee to promote the use of the camp and protect its facilities. Committee chairman Barbara Guzik of Westland has already visited 10 troops to interest their members in the camp and to make them aware of the need for keeping it beautiful and pleasant.

Senior scouts from Plymouth who are members of the committee and worked at the camp are Mary Pasek, Margaret Sperlock and Janet Churchman.

Westland members are Coleen Rehahn and her cousin, Debbie Rehahn. Livonia members are Pat and Phyllis Broderick, Belinda and Rozanne Colar. Barbara Dupuis and Karen Foersfer.

Shaw program set by OCC

"An Evening with Henry Higgins" will be presented Wednesday, May 8, at 7:30 p.m. on Oakland Community College's Orchard Ridge campus in Farmington.

Sponsored by the Citizen's Advisory Committee of the Library Technical Assistance of the college, the event will consist of readings by faculty and students from George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion."

Director of the performance is Dr. Vincent Wall, author of "Bernard Shaw, Pygmalion to Many Players." A long-time student of Shaw's plays, Dr. Wall is a playwright and professor of English at Wayne State University.

A 50 cent donation will be requested with the exception of students with ID cards who will be admitted free.

Communes represent American tradition

Today's communes, inhabited chiefly by young people in unisex jeans and often moving seasonally between rural and urban settings, are part of an American tradition that dates back perhaps to the voyage of the Mayflower.

But, despite the historical pattern of protest and revolt that communes represent, individual communes are not apt to last long; any more than did many of the earlier ones like Brook Farm.

Communes were put into perspective by Dr. Bruce E. Curtis, associate professor of American thought and language at Michigan State University. He has taught the history of American utopianism, and next year will teach a three-term, cross-cultural view of utopian trends.

"Utopianism," he said, "usually is an outgrowth of disillusion. But it moves beyond criticism of existing society and fashions a blueprint of a better way of life."

"Watergate can lead to merely negative criticism or to a constructive revival, depending on individual responses among 200 million Americans. Utopianism, however, is like the common cold. There's no preventive shot against it, and people always catch it again."

Curtis said estimates run from 2,000 to 3,000 communes now in existence, and that many of them were not meant to last.

Communes happen for various reasons, he explained.

Those who choose them -- mostly young, middle-class whites, Curtis said -- do so because they reject what they find in the larger society, often but not always without being clear on what specific alternatives they want.

The new communities are economically and politically weak and subject to possible harassment by neighbors or institutions with more power.

The members want time, of varying duration, to sort themselves out and "get their heads together." The commune may be a way-station in the shift between a secular life-style and a religion-dominated one.

Curtis believes that most communes today are founded on rejection of the growing urbanization and industrialization of the country. He sees them as sharing the kind of zeal which marked the Shakers, the Fourieites, The Brook Farm and Oneida people in the 19th century. However, the current movement is larger and less clearly defined than the early ones.

"Counter-cultural" criticism and experimentation, Curtis said, are useful to the whole nation, since they provide a fresh perspective on society. Today's society is more and more impersonal and alienating, and young people favor a turnaround which will make individuals count more and institutions less.

Girl Scouts dedicate camp structure

The final major building to be constructed at Camp Linden, the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council's resident and troop camp, will be dedicated Saturday, May 4 at noon.

The 4,000 square-foot building will be named Allen House in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Wyeth Allen, long-time Girl Scout volunteers. Mrs. Allen is coming from Milwaukee to participate with her family and friends in the ceremonies.

The opening of Allen House brings to four the number of troop houses at the camp. Like Allen House, the others are named for prominent Girl Scout volunteers.

Esther's House is named in honor of Esther Hulsing of Plymouth, a former president of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council who is now on the board of directors of the national Girl Scout organization.

Additional houses were named for Ruth Howe and Edith Steere of Ann Arbor.

Other buildings at this camp in Livingston County include Cook's Cabin constructed by the Plymouth Kiwanis Club.

Symposium set on cancer

To discuss methods of improving the management and care of ovarian cancer patients, the seventh annual cancer symposium of the Wayne State University School of Medicine will take place May 10 and 11 on the campus.

It is co-sponsored by the Michigan Cancer Foundation and the American Cancer Society - Michigan Division.

Chairman of the symposium is Dr. Melvin L. Reed, fellow of the American College of Physicians and associate professor of oncology at WSU.

Jewish women to hear officer

Mrs. Harold Leaf, national vice president of the Women's League for Conservative Judaism, will speak May 7 and May 8 to members of the Michigan branch of the organization at Adat Shalom Synagogue, Farmington Hills.

Mrs. Leaf has been national youth chairman, convention chairman of exhibits, member of the social action committee, convention hospitality chairman and is currently national chairman of cooperation and community service.

Cloverdale Dairy's Founder Backus 'going back to farm'

By W.W.EDGAR

The young man who left the farm some years ago to make a success of himself in the business world has decided to go back to the farm "to have a little fun."

Herman Backus, one of the patriarchs of downtown Plymouth who built the Cloverdale Dairy into one of the leading activities of its kind in western Wayne County, has sold the business to two veteran employees — Jim Tomlinson and Tony Gonzales — who will carry on the tradition of Cloverdale and cherry rum ice cream.

Leaning back in the upstairs office from which he built the business to the point where it boasts two stores, four franchises and 90 commercial customers, Herman made it plain that he wasn't retiring.

"I am going to stick with my black angus cattle," he said, "and then take time out to travel and really enjoy life without being tied down."

At the moment he has a herd of 60 head on the farm on North Territorial Road near Curtis Road that will keep him as busy as he cares to be.

His passing from the business scene marks the end of the colorful group that had a hand in developing the downtown section.

Sitting there, letting the memories come down through the years he recalled such men as Paul Wiedman, one of the first Ford dealers; Ernie Allison, whose Chevrolet agency was on one end of Main Street; Matt Powell, the beverage distributor and Ralph Lorenz, owner of the Mayflower Hotel who was the youngest of the group.

Now 63 years old, Herman confided that he started work on his father's farm in South Lyon and made the move to the city in 1930. His first location was the present site of the Round Table Club and it was here that he added ice cream to the milk business.

"Back in 1933 I used to go house - to - house selling milk and our dairy products," he said, "and did that until we sold the routes to Twin Pines Dairy in 1947."

In those days, he said, his present site was a large tomato patch where the townfolk engaged in the tomato pulp activity that was in vogue at the time.

Finally Herman took it over and erected his present plant that still has a capacity of producing 1,000 gallons of ice cream daily and 2,500 half gallon cartons of milk.

"I was one of the youngest businessmen in Plymouth," he smiled, "as I was only 16 years old when I was selling house - to - house. And I certainly have seen a lot of changes around here."

Which was the biggest? "There's no question about that," he answered, "it was the shifting and covering of Tonquish Creek. It used to run along side my building here and was infested with rats. Even sewage went by and it had a terrible odor."

"When the creek was moved and covered more in the center of the downtown section it benefited and made possible the downtown area as it is known today."

Peering out the window and noting the traffic he commented, "Things sure are different today. But I have enjoyed being part of it all these years. But now I'm going back to the cattle."

Along with establishing a business in the downtown section Herman played a lead role in civic affairs, too. He was one of the promoters and contributors who made the parking lot possible next to the Mayflower Hotel.

Going back to his cattle reminded Herman that he once raised prize winning animals at the various county fairs but he quickly added he wasn't going to re - enter that field. "No," he said, "I'm going back to the farm to have a little fun."

TO ALL GAS CUSTOMERS OF CONSUMERS POWER COMPANY

NOTICE OF PARTIAL REHEARING AND ADDITIONAL PROCEEDINGS REGARDING ASSIGNMENT OF COSTS OF GAS SERVICE AMONG VARIOUS CLASSES OF SERVICE, RATE DESIGN AND COST OF GAS ADJUSTMENT CLAUSE

On January 18, 1974, the Michigan Public Service Commission issued a final order in the matter of the application of Consumers Power Company for authority to increase its rates for the sale of gas (Case No. U-4331) which granted rate relief to Applicant. On March 27, 1974 following applications for rehearing, the Commission on its own motion issued an order granting a partial rehearing of the final order and requiring additional proceedings in Case No. U-4331.

By the terms of the Commission's order of March 27, 1974, the scope of the rehearing in Case No. U-4331 is limited to consideration of the following issues:

1. The most equitable distribution of Consumers Power Company's gas costs among its various classes of service in view of the costs of incremental gas supplies, including all costs of gas produced at the Marysville gas reforming plant, the benefits derived therefrom, the limited availability of this resource, the availability of and price of alternative fuels and the feasibility of conversion thereto.
 2. A determination as to the manner in which Consumers Power Company's cost of gas adjustment clause should operate to pass through changes in the calculated cost of gas to the various classes of its customers as a result of any changes in the design of its rates.
- COPIES OF THE ORDER DATED MARCH 27, 1974 ARE AVAILABLE FROM THE COMMISSION SECRETARY UPON REQUEST.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT:

A. A rehearing conference will be held at 9:30 a.m. on Friday, May 17, 1974, in the offices of the Commission, Law Building, Lansing, Michigan 48913, for the following purposes:

1. Specifying a schedule for the partial rehearing and additional proceedings in Case No. U-4331 so that the record may be closed no later than September 1, 1974.
2. Determining the parties to the proceeding, the nature of their appearance, and the positions they are taking in the proceedings.
3. Obtaining admissions as to, and stipulations of, the facts not remaining in dispute, the authenticity of documents, and matters of public record.
4. Determining the number and identity of witnesses.
5. Establishing procedures for the partial rehearing and additional proceedings.
6. Expediting any other matters that may aid in the orderly conduct and disposition of the partial rehearing and additional proceedings.

B. Any person interested in the partial rehearing and additional proceedings but not desiring to formally intervene, may attend and participate by making a position statement pursuant to the provisions of Rule 16 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure. Persons seeking to formally intervene as a party to these proceedings shall do so by filing with the Commission on or before May 17, 1974 an original and eleven (11) copies of the petition to intervene, together with proof of service upon Consumers Power Company and other parties of record in this proceeding. A service list is available from the Commission Secretary. Persons who have previously participated in Case No. U-4331 either under Rule 11 or Rule 16 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure will be continued in their prior status without the necessity of further filing of appearances.

C. Consumers Power Company shall file by June 3, 1974 its direct testimony and exhibits as directed by the order of March 27, 1974, and shall provide copies to all parties of record. The Staff and other parties shall file by June 21, 1974 their testimony and exhibits and shall provide copies to all parties of record.

D. Any and all parties may propose and support with competent evidence just and reasonable alternatives regarding rate design, or other evidence within the limited scope of these proceedings.

E. Public hearings shall be held in accordance with the schedule to be determined at the rehearing conference, by the presiding hearings examiner, until the matters which are the subject of these proceedings have been fully heard.

THE COMPANY'S GAS RATE STRUCTURE SHALL BE FULLY EXAMINED. FOLLOWING THE CLOSING OF THE RECORD, THE MICHIGAN PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION MAY ADJUST UPWARDS OR DOWNWARDS THE PRICE OF GAS CHARGED TO THE VARIOUS RATE CLASSES OF CONSUMERS POWER COMPANY'S CUSTOMERS FOR GAS SERVICE AND MAY, ADJUST THE COMPANY'S COST OF GAS ADJUSTMENT CLAUSE AS NECESSARY TO RECOGNIZE ANY CHANGES IN THE COST OF GAS TO VARIOUS RATE CLASSES.

Jurisdiction of the Commission in this matter is pursuant to 1909 PA 300, as amended, MCLA 462.2 et seq; Section 4 of 1919 PA 419, as amended, MCLA 460.54 et seq; Sections 4 and 6 of 1939 PA 3, as amended, MCLA 460.4, 460.6; 1969 PA 306, as amended; MCLA 24.201 et seq; and the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, 1954 Administrative Code, Supplement No. 54, R 460.11 et seq.

Students honor Ecology Week

PLYMOUTH — Students at Plymouth - Canton High School will be thinking about ecology this week and ecology week.

The highlight will be a tree planting on Friday. Six moraine locust shade trees discounted by Folker's Nursery in Canton Township will be selected and planted by the high school students.

Whittaker & Gooding Company will donate gravel, and students will spread it into a mall to encircle the shade tree area.

Supt. John M. Hoben and Plymouth-Canton High School Principal Kent Buikema will participate in the tree planting ceremony.

Sparks set Canton fire

CANTON — Sparks from a welder are listed as the cause of the fire which destroyed a unit in the Stoney-brooke apartment complex on Joy Road in Canton Township April 26.

A fire department spokesman said damage was estimated at $140,000.

No injuries were reported. The complex was still under construction and unoccupied.

On Tuesday and Friday, students will again take to the soil, first to plant 500 pine seedlings along the back of the school designed not only to beautify the area, but to act as wind breakers as well, and next, to plant a large flower bed of annuals at the north side of the high school.

Planters made by a Canton student, John Moore, in Patrick Gorman's plastic's class will be filled with hanging plants and hung from the rafters along the school's corridors.

During Ecology Week, students will learn about home gardening and transplanting trees and shrubs in mini-courses taught by Community Service Teacher Bob Thams and Community Service Student Teacher John Abernathy.

Jerry Draheim, from Wayne County Extension Service, will speak to students on planting trees and flowers on Wednesday.

Mass clean-up campaigns will occur throughout the week, to be followed by doughnut treats for all participants.

Periodically, two music groups, Dave Massacra's Contemporaries, and the Wild Ash with Ron Branscum, lead; Randy Williams, guitar; Kevin Crutcher, bass; and Rich Williams, drums, will play in the commons area to attract students to the area for a musical reminder of the week's events.

Rep. Ford will seek another term in 15th

U. S. Rep. William D. Ford (D - Taylor) has made it known that he will, as expected, seek re-election as congressman for the 15th District.

Ford has been elected five times in the 15th District, which includes Westland, Garden City and Canton Township, and is now in his 10th year in Congress.

His intentions to seek re-election were made known in a letter mailed to supporters this week. That letter, and comments made last Friday at a press dinner, indicate Ford intends to use the clout seniority carries in Congress to his advantage in the upcoming campaign.

"I am now beginning my 10th year in Congress and I have accumulated enough seniority to begin moving into positions of leadership," he told supporters. "I am now chairman of a labor subcommittee and a ranking member of the general education subcommittee."

"As a member of the post office and civil service committee, I am now the ranking member of the manpower and civil service subcommittee and sit also on the postal service subcommittee."

"On these committees, I have been able to work successfully for anti-busing legislation, for increased education funding, for pension reform and for minimum wage increases, and other needed legislation."

At a meeting with press representatives from western Wayne County last Friday, Ford's main message was that Michigan's delegation has a lot of clout in Washington because it has members with seniority.

"If incumbents are defeated, and a crop of freshmen join Bob Traxler and Robert VanderVeen, then Michigan will lose important committee positions in Congress," he said.

Ford did not suggest the election of Traxler and VanderVeen will hurt Michigan but did make it clear that a wholesale crop of newcomers could hurt the state.

"Although we have made progress, there are still many problems remaining to be solved — inflation, unemployment, the energy crisis and many others," Ford told supporters. "I look forward to the privilege of continuing to represent you in Washington and to continue working for the goals we all seek."

Consolidation gains Rozian's support

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP — State Boundary Commission Member Irving Rozian, who is also a Plymouth Township resident, has endorsed consolidation of Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

"As a member of the state boundary commission I have been hesitant to take a public stand on the Plymouth - Plymouth Township consolidation," Rozian said in a letter to the Plymouth Observer & Eccentric.

"If the consolidation issue should fail Tuesday or at subsequent elections on charter adoption, then other petitions for annexation, incorporation or consolidation affecting the Plymouth area may come before the commission."

"In the past when the commission has examined a petition on merits and approved it as beneficial to the overall community, individual commissioners have spoken publicly in support of their conclusions," Rozian said.

"However, the Plymouth consolidation matter was processed under the law in effect at the time of its filing. The commission had a duty only to rule on legal sufficiency and put the matter to a vote. No examination on merits was made by the commission."

"Nevertheless, I feel that I have a duty as both an informed citizen of Plymouth Township and as a member of the boundary commission to speak my mind. The boundary commission was created by the Legislature not merely to serve as a dispassionate court but also to foster orderly and efficient government for the urbanizing areas of the state."

"I believe that a statement of my personal views on the current consolidation question will not prevent me from being objective about later proposals which may come before the commission," Rozian said.

"I favor the consolidation. This is probably the best and most timely opportunity we will have to recognize that Plymouth and Plymouth Township are one community," the boundary commissioner emphasized.

Fantasy that's fantastic needed in books for tots

As far as Joan Blos is concerned, it would be better for the wolf to eat Red Riding Hood's grandmother than to playfully lock her in the closet and join her later for tea.

"Fantasy should be really fantastic so that the young child can easily distinguish it from reality," Ms. Blos, a lecturer in The University of Michigan School of Education, explains.

An author, former editor, and teacher of children's literature in the U-M school, Ms. Blos believes that children's books, like grownups' books, must have "something to say." In preschool books, her special area of interest, the clarity of the message is crucial.

"The friendly, hat-tipping wolf in some contemporary versions of this folk tale may be more confusing to the four to six-year old than the original, more villainous animal. In softening his character, you confuse the situation and undo the warning: 'don't talk to strangers,'" Ms. Blos says.

Despite this rather firm stand, she recognizes that "parents should be sensitive to the preschooler's tendency to confuse fantasy and reality."

"If a child expresses uneasiness about witches or wolves, or refuses to hear certain stories, parents should pay attention and take time to explain the distinction between 'real' and 'pretend,'" she added.

Fantasy and reality have been the subject of considerable debate in the field of children's literature.

Ms. Blos suspects that both the library scientists who praise fantasy stories and the educators who insist on realism are neglecting the age variable.

Without taking sides, she believes that most traditional fantasies (fairy tales) are more appropriate for the child who is eight or older. "The younger child hasn't been in this world long enough to want a vacation," she adds.

On the subject of books in the child's first years, Ms. Blos notes that the pleasure and information a child gains from his earliest read-to-me experience contribute to his language development, and may well shape life-long attitudes towards books and toward reading.

A child can discover the pleasures of books as an infant, even though initially he may only teethe on the cover, Ms. Blos says.

"At that time the parents' response is of great importance and a harsh reprimand is an error," she adds. "So what if a page or two is ripped?" "What matters is that the child learns that a book is 'yes, yes,' and not 'no, no.'"

"Books are an excellent first birthday present, because the child is reaching a peak of readiness to attach spoken words to the things around him. He is probably interested in books with large, bright pictures and simple stories or categories.

"The two-year-old likes the sound of words. Often he is not as concerned with content as that the words be pleasant to listen to; and probably that's why the nursery rhymes have stayed so popular."

School Principal slams door on entire track team

GC East season ends in forfeits

BY TOM DONOGHUE
Sports Editor

Garden City East's 1974 track campaign has come to a shameful halt. An alleged break-in and theft of football jerseys and footballs at the Garden City High School by the entire East track squad has ended the track season on a sour note.

East Principal Gerald C. Gould served as main spokesman for the incident which has made the Panther track squad forfeit dual meets with Franklin, Oak Park and John Glenn, relays in the Observerland meet and Belleville Relays, and the Northwest Suburban meet and regionals.

"As close as we can pin this ordeal down, the stealing has been a two to three week thing following the Easter break," commented Gould.

The theft took place in the East field house where all equipment is locked in separate cages.

"A total of 42 football jerseys and three game footballs were stolen," added the East principal who emphasized that all signs point to this being a planned theft and "not a whimsical thing."

Four persons have admitted stealing the equipment but Gould said that it didn't end there.

"Possibly four of the 30-man track team didn't know of this theft taking place," added Gould. "The kids finally admitted that they all knew of it and I guess the old saying of not wanting to squeal on your buddy was evident here."

"We had been aware of gear missing from the cage but we couldn't pin the theft down."

"Then last week, football Coach Gary Humphrey saw one of next year's brand new football jerseys on a student walking down the hallway during school. Humphrey approached the girl wearing it and the investigation was on.

"Apparently the kids stole the equipment and handed it out like peanuts."

"Our next step was to call a meeting with the track team and I really have to believe that the team didn't understand what they had actually done."

"I just don't know; most teams are proud but proud teams don't steal."

"After talking to the team and leaving the team to discuss the matter with Coach Mike Riley, it was admitted that the entire team knew of the theft and they wanted to know what action I would be taking before names were given."

"I quickly informed the track team that this was no bargaining session."

"The team decided to stay together as a team and go down together as a team so I had no alternative but to close down the track season."

"Coach Riley agreed with the philosophy but not with the decision of the entire team having to pay the price."

"I couldn't pin down every individual for a specific thing so instead of nailing a few to the wall and letting some get away with the crime, I had to handle it this way."

"I also knew the student body would buy it this way. I couldn't zing four for something the rest could have been part of."

Gould added that 16 jerseys have been returned to date.

Coach Riley, who had no comment when this incident finally broke into the open, eventually commented on the issue that has completely shaken him.

"Be knew of thefts in the field house but not once did it occur to me that my boys were in on it."

"I can't express how much this whole thing hurts me. Needless to say, it is quite disheartening."

"But I must say that my opinion is quite different on the way the administration handled it. I agree with the philosophy but not the decision and the way it is being carried out."

"I expect more feedback."

"East has had a bad track program the past decade and I cleaned out last year and things were really starting to pick up this season. Sure, we were winless in seven dual meets but not once did one kid even think of quitting the team."

"Now I don't know what to expect. The entire program will be set back and naturally kids will hesitate coming out for the team."

"I have done a lot of soul-searching since this has taken place."

"But I just can't agree with our administration's way of handling the situation. In reality the kids who committed a crime are not being punished and those that didn't are."

Coach Riley is not the only one upset with the administration's way of handling the affair.

"I disagree with Principal Gould's decision," stated East Athletic Director Len Bartlo. "I feel that this judgment of character was too swift a decision to be made in a matter of hours considering the involvement of 30 athletes."

"Sure I feel bad about this. What if this is the wrong decision? I don't agree to blanketing things."

Thus ends Garden City East's track season with 30 boys paying the price - a price that may not be fully comprehended for some time.

Thurston sweeps East; heads Northwest at 5-1

The team that was supposed to have been tough as nails in the '74 area prep baseball campaign is starting to make its moves.

Emil Majeski's Thurston Eagle crew nipped Westland John Glenn and slammed the door twice on Garden City East to jump into the No. 1 slot in the Northwest Suburban loop.

Thurston is all alone at the top with a 5-1 league showing while the Panthers of East and defending champion Franklin sport identical 3-3 records and Glenn is second best at 4-2. Oak Park is in fifth place at 2-4 and North Farmington in the cellar at 1-5.

The three straight loop victories also upped the Eagle overall mark to 9-5.

Chris Queen got the call for Thurston in the Glenn contest and the Eagle hurler came up with a three-hitter, walking two, striking out seven with both runs unearned. It was Queen's third win against two losses.

Steve Kaufman and Jeff Hodgkins shared the mound chores for the Glenn Rockets with Kaufman taking the loss and Thurston collecting five hits total.

Glenn opened the scoring with two runs in the last of the third when Kaufman was safe on an error. Tim Decker was safe on an error and Queen wild pitched them to second and third where they both scored on a hit by John Sampson.

With time running out on the Eagles, they made their move with two outs in the sixth. Jeff Trachsel walked, Mike Donoghue singled and Dennis Litwinczuk singled in Trachsel. Mitch Drozdowski lashed out another hit to score Donoghue and it was a tied contest at two-all.

An unearned score in the top of the seventh decided it all as Queen was safe on a two-base error, moved to third on a single by Ken McLean and scampered in on a sacrifice fly off the bat of John Roy.

The stage was set for a doubleheader with the Panthers of East with both clubs having identical 3-1 records.

Thurston took the opener, 3-2, behind the three-hit pitching of Ray

Ivey and blanked the Panthers in the second, 3-0, with Rick Bylin picking up the win and Ivey recording a save.

Ivey chalked up his fourth victory against one loss in the opener, walking and striking out four. Marty Hackman suffered the defeat, giving up the three runs on 10 hits, walking two and striking out three.

Thurston bounced off to a 2-0 first inning lead. McLean was safe at first on a lead-off single, moved to second on a passed ball and Roy was safe on an error and Mike Donoghue walked to load the bases. Ivey then singled in McLean and Curt Beadle singled in Roy.

The Panthers came right back in their half of the inning when Krol walked, stole second, Hackman walked, the two moved up on a passed ball and scored on a single by Britt Ponte.

The deciding tally came in the sixth. Ivey took charge, doubled, and Majeski replaced him with pinch-runner Dennis Kuschell who scored on a hit by Mitch Drozdowski.

The Eagles jumped to a 2-0 lead in the fourth inning on the second contest. Roy was safe on an error, Ivey walked, Donoghue was safe on an error and Beadle singled to make it 2-0 Thurston.

Run No. 3 came in the top of the fifth when Gary D'Ascenzo was safe on fielder's choice, stole second and third and scored on a balk.

Bylin started on the Thurston mound and lasted the first four innings in a shortened five inning contest.

The Eagle pitcher gave up no runs, four hits and walked one.

Ivey was brought in in the fifth to quell an East fire. After Ken Willoughby walked and Ken Calderon singled, Majeski made the move and Ivey got Krol to pop out, struck out Beszko, walked Klinebrook but got Hackman to pop out to second to end the rally and the game.

Taking the hard loss for East was Schmidtke who gave up just one hit, that an infield single to Beadle in the fourth.

Plymouth Salem's Croci twins sparkle in area girls' track

By HANK MEIJER

"Oh no, not another Croci!" one area girls' track coach said recently as Plymouth-Salem sprinter Jackie Croci broke the tape at the finish line.

Opponents and judges may think they're seeing double when a pretty brunette starts and finishes the same relay race, but it's no mistake. Barb and Jackie Croci are twins.

Their combined talents have earned them shared honors as trackmen of the week.

Barb runs the 100 and 220. Jackie's specialty is the 440. They pool their talents to dominate relay action in area girls' track. So far this season, Jackie has clocked a 1:01.5 440 anchor leg and a 1:03.2 quarter in open competition.

This dynamic duo, both of whom compete in volleyball and basketball as well as track, started running last year when Plymouth-Salem fielded a girls' team for the first time.

They started with cast-off sweat-suits from the Plymouth-Canton boys' squad. This year they got all new meet attire.

"We suddenly realized, 'this is serious, we've got to work,'" Jackie said. The girls' teams are improving despite problems that hamper female athletes everywhere.

They can't get shoes to fit. "The smallest size of the boys' spikes is too big," Barb said. But they have no choice. "They don't make girls' shoes as good."

One irritation for both girls last year was the finish line tape. Both usually won their races, and they soon discovered that the tape officials held across the track struck them chest-high.

"You had to put your arms up," Barb said. They've grown since last season and find that "the string doesn't hurt that much now."

Girls' track still doesn't attract much of a crowd at Plymouth-Salem, but interest is growing, particularly among their male counterparts, with whom they sometimes work out.

"When you practice with somebody, you want to watch them and - see it pay off," said one twin.

Last year the girls had a female coach. Their new mentor is male. Both argue that having a man for a coach makes their efforts seem more worthwhile. He pushes them harder.

"A man coach doesn't give you any pity," Barb said. "He doesn't have as much sympathy for all your complaints."

They hope their example will encourage other girls to try sports. They're working to overcome the notion that women shouldn't be competitive.

"Are girls afraid of winning?" Barb asked.

"It doesn't mean you're anti-female," Jackie added. "Girls are afraid they'll get muscles all over." The Croci sisters are proof that such stereotypes are far from the truth.

"I was surprised, a lot of the girls were pretty," one boy told Barb after watching the girls practice.

"Guys seem really interested in our sports," she said. "They give us something to run for."

Both girls date members of the boys' team. "I think it's really cool when you have a guy who's in sports," Barb said.

Both are juniors. They haven't decided if they want to run in college, but they don't care for the inequities in collegiate scholarships.

"We give as much time as the boys do," Barb said. "But we have to work while they get scholarships."

The coach of the boys' team at Canton wanted Jackie to join the male squad. "Why should I go on the guys' team and get creamed?" she asked.

"Some guys call you 'jock,'" Jackie said. "They think you'll do anything to wear shorts. Girls like competing just as much as boys."

The trouble with girls' sports, they agree, is that "you have to be terrific to get noticed. 'It's important that our girls' team improves so that we'll be recognized,'" Barb said.

When they first won their letters, the girls thought they might be able to join the Plymouth-Salem Varsity Club.

"They threatened to burn their varsity jackets," Barb said. After encountering a hard core of resistance, the girls gave up the idea and decided to start a varsity club of their own.

They don't mind. "Guys should have one thing they can do on their own," Barb said. "Girls run everything else."

Canton soph tops Churchill, 1-0

The Canton Chiefs are making no mistake about it.

The sophomore and junior filled Plymouth team is on the warpath in its first season of varsity competition on the baseball diamond.

Its latest scalp job came at the hands of previously unbeaten Livonia Churchill which was sporting a 6-0 record taking the field against Fred Crissey's Chiefs.

And it was sophomore Bill Parson who did in the Chargers.

The 6-foot-3 170 pound right-hander handcuffed Churchill and it wasn't until the last of the seventh with one out that Churchill collected its first and only hit of the Western Six contest.

It was Canton, 1-0, as the two teams now find themselves in an identical 4-1 tie for league leadership. Parson, who now stands 3-2 in Canton's 8-3 overall season, walked none, hit one batsman and struck out nine.

Taking the loss, for a now 6-1 Charger crew, was Kevin Nelson who gave up just four hits with Canton putting together two of those in the top of the seventh for the game's solo tally.

Nelson walked two and struck out six.

Canton's deciding score in the seventh came about when Mike Verduce singled between short and third and moved to second on a sacrifice by Tom Close.

Nelson then got Brian Stemberger to pop out for out No. 2 but Dave Pink delivered his second hit of the game with a single to right scoring Verduce.

After striking out the first batter he faced in the last of the seventh, Parson gave up a single to left by Al Leirstein. Then with two strikes on B.J. Lejoie, Parson hit the Charger batsman to put runners on first and second with only one out.

Parson then bore down and got Jay Nelson to fly to center and retired his counterpart Kevin Nelson on strikes for out No. 3.

"You know, the first thing we had to do this season was to establish credibility," commented Coach Crissey whose Chiefs now sport an 8-3 record. "This group of kids had been trounced in every sport this year."

"Now they believe they can compete with anyone and this has to be our key."

"We set our sights as being a factor in the Western Six race and we didn't want to snakebite ourselves," added Crissey. "The kids are believing in themselves and it is really a great feeling to know that they all will be back next year."

"Hey, this league race is really going to be something," said the Canton coach. "It has been tabbed the best balance ever."

After Churchill and Canton with 4-1 marks, defending champion Bateford Mott is standing 3-2 and Northville which has lost three one-run games sits at 2-3.

Another feather in Canton's hat is that the Chiefs drew a bye in the state tourney Class B state pre-districts and open with Brighton, a team they have already beaten, 5-0, on May 25 at Brighton.

Sophomore girls sparkle in Bentley track loss

Two Bulldog sophomores in Sharon Dreyer and Pam Beernink went to work on the Bentley cinder track but it wasn't enough as Ferndale handed the girls a 58-33 setback.

Miss Dreyer set a track record in the 100 yard dash with a :12.3 clocking and Miss Beernink clocked in with another for girls with a 2:36.8 in the half mile.

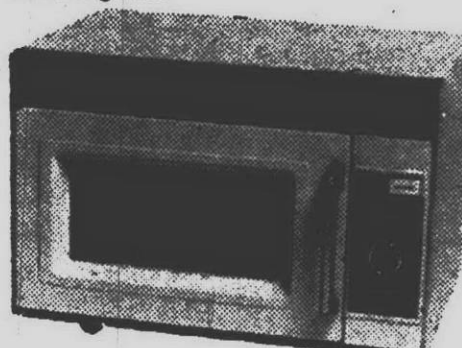

But overall Bentley could manage only one other win and that in the shot put as Ferndale copped eight firsts, five seconds and three thirds.

Turf Tips, Quips

By Doc Minard

It wasn't so many years back that Joe Marsh Jr., of Findlay, O., was grabbing most of the driving honors at Wolverine Raceway and Hazel

Park Raceway. Then he shifted his scene of activities to Chicago where he has pacers and trotters in competition throughout the year. Perhaps the biggest reason for the shift was because the purses were better for better horses and that's what Marsh's owners wanted.

Since then Joe has become the top ranked reinsman in the Windy City. He isn't always the No. 1 driver but he's always right up with the leaders.

Thus it came as no surprise when Joe, who led pilots in Chicago during the winter months, was selected as the United States representative in the world driving championships in Europe. He had the same honor a year ago.

The story is a bit different this time. Marsh won two of the final races on the closing day of the competition and captured the championship.

Joe finished with 153 points to 131 for Kevin Brook of Australia.

This marks the second straight year the competition has been held in Europe. There is a strong possibility that it will be returned to the United States and Canada in another season. In previous years both Wolverine and Hazel Park sponsored legs of the big event.

From the DRC comes word that bettors shouldn't shun the program. Selections made by Mutual Manager Bert McCann and his trusty computer.

In 191 races, the machine coughed up 64 winners for an average of 33.5 per cent. Matter of fact of the 191 first choice picks, the machine has had a first, second or third exactly 122 times for an average of 63.9 per cent.

As Publicity Director Earl Flora points out, that isn't bad for something you don't have to feed, clothe, bed down or wash its socks.

The big name drivers have arrived at Hazel Park and an already sparling meeting is expected to gain even more brightness.

Checking in from Florida were Ted Taylor, Jim Kennedy, Don Hall, Frank O'Mara and Harold Fisher while Bobby Williams shipped in from California with his large, powerful stable.

All of which means the followers of the trotters and pacers will see top reinsmen in every sulky from now on. The competition should be the best of the entire year.

On the sidelines temporarily is George Davis who received bruises and contusions in an accident a week ago. George, who handles a few horses for Ron Upton, Livonia school superintendent, thought he'd be back in action in a day or so but didn't realize how long it takes to get over the effects of a mishap during a race.

Ted Taylor, moved to Hazel Park with a total of 79 winners for the year and ranks tied for ninth in the national standings. Ted ended the Pompano Park meeting with more than 100 wins but some of them came last year.

Who do you think is leading the pack again? Herve Filion, the busy French-Canadian, with a total of 212.

Filion has 930 starts for the year for his 212 firsts. In second is Shelley Goudreau, the Chatham, Ontario, driver who is at Hazel Park with 104.

Other drivers listed among the top 20 include: Taylor, with 79 for 305 starts; Greg Wright, another Canadian at Hazel Park, with 54 for 358; and Mike Novick with 43 for 252.

The richest standardbred in the world, Une de Mai of France ($1,900,000) will be bred to the fastest and richest trotting stallion in the world, Nevele Pride (1:54.4) mile time trial and ($873,238) this spring in Kentucky. The 1975 foal-to-be will have the richest dollar inheritance in the history of harness racing.

Ken Dove of Livonia Churchill and Northville's Kevin Kelly, a pair of high school individual medley and freestyle swimmers, have signed National Letters of Intent to attend Western Michigan University.

Dove achieved All - American mention after twice winning All - League and All - Area acclaim.

His best performance is a :49.1 clocking in the 100 yard freestyle, which is just three - tenths of a second off the WMU Bronco varsity record.

Kelly won the Michigan Class B 200 freestyle crown.

'Super Sewer' one step closer

By HANK MELJER

The Detroit Metropolitan Water Board came one step closer recently to getting federal money to determine if the 64-mile "Super Sewer" proposed for western Wayne and Oakland Counties is the best approach to sewage treatment in the Huron River Valley.

The executive committee of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) voted to back the water board in its bid for a federal step - one grant for the study of all wastewater treatment alternatives.

The proposed "Super Sewer", an interceptor line serving parts of Wayne, Oakland, and Washtenaw Counties, will likely run through eastern sections of Plymouth and Canton townships, just east of the Plymouth city limits.

The sewer under study would slice through nine western Wayne and Oakland townships and would replace local treatment plants, particularly those in Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, and Ypsilanti Township, with a central treatment facility to be built at the mouth of the Huron River on Lake Erie.

The SEMCOG group recommended that the Environmental Protection Agency award the grant to the water board rather than the Wayne County Road Commission, which also sought to make the study.

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners will now review the SEMCOG choice and send its selection on to the Michigan Water Resources Commission for approval, then to the EPA.

The federal government is expected to follow local recommendations in awarding the grant.

The study is the first step in a three-part process aimed at building the massive new treatment project.

If the water board study recommends the "Super Sewer" solution and the EPA approves it, an engineering firm would be chosen to draw up detailed plans based on the final proposal. After that construction could begin.

A completion date of 1990 has been set for the project.

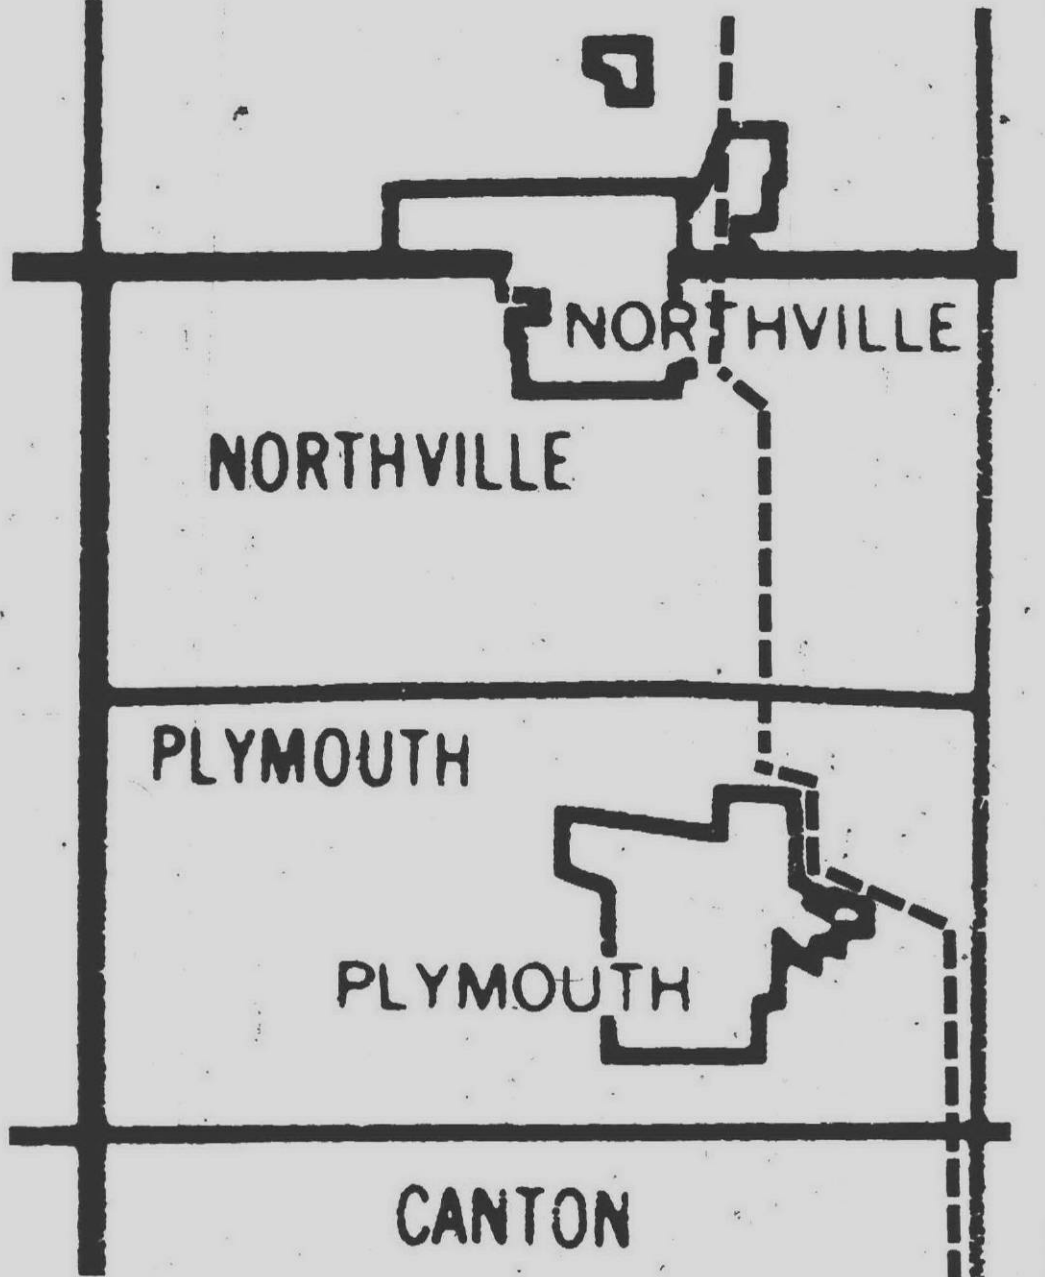

The "Super Sewer" has sparked controversy among environmentalists over whether it will do a better job cleaning up the Huron River by eliminating sewage flow from communities on its banks or do greater harm by disrupting water levels and pumping an estimated 121 million gallons of waste daily into Lake Erie.

In its original application, which overlapped that of the road commission, the water board had not planned to include Canton, Van Buren, and Sumpter townships in its study, but in order to win SEMCOG approval water officials agree to consider plans for the entire Wayne - Oakland section of the "Super Sewer".

Their study should be completed this fall, with public hearings to be held sometime later.

A similar step - one grant from the EPA will finance a study of the Ann Arbor - Ypsilanti area to determine whether the "Super Sewer" should replace treatment facilities in those cities. The Washtenaw County Department of Public Works has applied for that grant and its study will be combined with the water department's before a final decision is made.

THE ROUTE of the "Super Sewer" may slice through eastern Plymouth and Canton townships, just east of the Plymouth city limits, according to a tentative plan that the Detroit Metropolitan Water Board is expected to study this summer. If the water board recommends the project, public hearings could be held as early as this fall. The controversial 64-mile long alternative to wastewater treatment in the Huron River Valley is planned for completion in 1990.

In The Pocket

By W.W. EDGAR

When Ray Williams, the tall, slender sharpshooter of the Coon Bros. team became the first bowler in the 71 - year history of the American Bowling Congress to roll a perfect game in the regular team event, last week, he joined a long list of Detroiters who have left their mark on the big event.

From inception of the ABC in 1903, Detroiters have played a prominent role in this grand - daddy of all bowling competitions.

First, it was Fred Smith, then the manager of the J.L. Hudson Store, who started the Detroit tradition. He was the first southpaw ever to win the singles title. He did it in 1907. Next came Tom Haley, who contributed the first 700 series. And after him came such fellows as Lee Jouglaard who still holds the singles record of 775; Ed Lubanski, holder of the all - events record of 2116; the late George Young and Bob Strampe, who in turn topped the 10 - year averages; and the Stroh and E&B teams that have captured the team events.

Ray's perfect game came as a complete surprise - even to him. He had opened with games of 225 and 223 and seemed headed for a high 600 series. Then, suddenly, he found the way to the pocket and the strikes started piling up.

"I didn't start to think about a perfect game," He said, "until about the sixth frame. Even then I didn't think I'd make it. But I did and it is the greatest thrill of my life."

The perfect game gave him a 748 count and helped him to register 2050 in the all - events. It also helped the team post a 3158 that was good for second place.

All told, Ray made it a very memorable week not only for himself but his teammates, too. And more important, his name will be listed in the ABC records as the first ever to roll a perfect game in the regular team event.

Happiness Is proved a perfect name for the new champions in the Detroit Women's Bowling Association tournament.

Sharon Immel entered that name for her team from Denby Recreation, then lived up to the happiness when the combination rolled 2387 - 696 - 3083 to take the coveted title. as the tournament closed at Thundebird Lanes in Troy.

The actual pinfall crown went to Doris Maltby and her Loch Trophies team that rolled 2572 to beat Angel Altese's team from Continental Lanes by three pins.

The bonus pin system (50 pins for each game won) helped Mike Totsky to win his third title in the Michigan Major Association series last week at Lodge Lanes.

He was trailing his nearest rival, Fred Vitali, by 81 pins when they met in the final. Then Totsky won, 276 - 235 and the bonus pins put him over the top.

The new Plaza Lanes in Plymouth Township will host its second state tournament of the season when the seniors gather there on Friday, May 24, to settle their championships.

Earlier in the year the Elks Lodge held its annual tournament at the site.

The unusual happened at Wonderland Lanes as the Classic ended its season with a double tie. Bill Walker and Ron Sharples matched figures in the top average slot and the Sharon Insurance team deadlocked with Westland Bowl for the league title.

Mike Totsky, the veteran Stroh star, had to put on a great finish to beat out his teammate, Fred Vitali, to win the monthly tournament of the Michigan Major Association at Lodge Lanes. Trailing by 81 pins Mike started his final game with eight in a row before leaving up the No. 10 pin to finish with a 276 and victory.

West, Glenn, Churchill win tennis matches

Garden City West, Westland John Glenn and Livonia Churchill scored varsity tennis victories while Franklin and Garden City East fell into the loss column.

West tipped Taylor Kennedy in Tri-River action, 5-2, Glenn topped Franklin in Northwest competition, 6-1½ and North Farmington handled East in another Northwest bout, 5½-2½.

Western Six play saw the Chargers of Churchill bounce the Hawks of Harrison, 4½ - 3. Results:
