'45 -15' year round school program has flexibility, Northville families say

By CORINNE ABATT

NORTHVILLE — Mrs. Robert Mandell of Northville puts her feelings about the year round school program in one word, "fabulous."

Daughter, Kim, 8, a third grader at Amerman school, has been in the program for two years. A son, Mark, will start kindergarten on the same track (schedule) as his sister, this summer.

The Mandells were one of the first families from the school to volunteer for the program. Mrs. Mandell estimates that about two thirds of the total school is now going year round.

The remaining students attend under a traditional schedule.

Kim goes to school nine weeks and is home for three. Her mother says at the end of the nine weeks, the youngster is ready for a vacation and after three at home or vacationing with the family, she is eager to go back.

"This is just, it seems to me, what all kids need," says Mrs. Mandell a former teacher. "And we like it because we can take our vacations any time of the year."

Attending school during the summer has never presented any problem to the youngsters Mrs. Mandell says. Hours are changed so that school starts at 8 a.m. and children are back home around 2 p.m.

"The children still have time to go swimming and play outside and the school has worked a summer program right into the classroom schedule and the class goes swimming at the high school several times a week."

The Northville recreation department has scheduled activities to dovetail with the year round school program and during her five week summer vacation Kim will be participating in a powder puff softball league.

The Mandells live in Northville Commons subdivision and there are many neighbors on the same program.

Mrs. Mandell says, "Those who didn't join in the program and have their children home for 12 weeks during the summer are very sorry."

Rather than interrupting family life, Mrs. Mandell feels the program enriches it. Dr. Mandell plans his vacations so that he and the family can be together for a vacation three or four times a year rather than just once in the summer. They hope to go skiing next winter and to the ocean for several weeks this summer.

Mrs. Mandell says, "It just seems such a natural thing and it seems to make more sense."

Off season vacations have their advantages. None of the families who are on the program has had trouble getting resort or hotel reservations.

"Now, many of them go to Disneyland in October and there's no trouble getting reservations," Mrs. Mandell remarks.

She says that there have been no complaints from either the parents or the children involved. She admits that the biggest change would be in getting the high schools on a year round schedule.

"The junior highs are not fighting it," she says.

As an ex - teacher, Mrs. Mandell feels the schedule coincides with the average child's attention span. As a taxpayer, she likes the idea of the buildings being used all year long and the fact that more children can be accommodated under the plan. But, most importantly, as a mother, she likes the idea of the family being able to look forward to time together throughout the year.

EDITOR'S NOTE: To explore the reaction of families involved in year round school programs such as Plymouth will start this summer at Miller Elementary School, two Plymouth Observer & Eccentric staff writers, Corinne Abatt and Bob Erickson, interviewed two Northville families. The Robert Mandell family's children have stayed with the Northville '45 - 15' program while the David Mynatt family's children have withdrawn from it.

By BOB ERICKSON

NORTHVILLE — Last year, the two children of Mr. and Mrs. David Mynatt attended Amerman Elementary School in Northville. It wasn't their neighborhood school, but the Mynatts liked the idea of "year - round school" with which Amerman was experimenting.

This year, first grader John and fourth grader Debbie are back in their neighborhood school, Main Street Elementary. Amerman just didn't work out.

The Mynatts have nothing against the year - round school concept — they like it. In fact, this fall the Main Street School will be converting to the year - round system which alternates nine weeks of school with three weeks of vacation, and the Mynatt children will be going there. The kids and their parents are both pleased about that.

What the Mynatts did like about Amerman was the calendar — the "45 - 15" system (45 school days and 15 of vacation). That's why they first decided to send their children there.

"We were among the first to enroll," said Mrs. Mynatt. "One of the big things we liked about it (the year - round school) was that we wouldn't be locked into a summer vacation schedule."

David Mynatt concurred. "I work for Ford Motor Company, and they like you to take your vacation other than in the summertime."

Most people, Mrs. Mynatt said, "who really know about the year - round school concept" do like it, especially if their husbands can take off work at various times during the year.

The Mynatt children went to the Amerman School for one year. "The kids thought that it would be really neat to ride a bus and take their lunch and all," Mrs. Mynatt recalls. "The calendar and the whole concept of year - round school were fine, so we went ahead."

But then things began to break down. The Mynatt children found that the "really neat" bus ride and lunch routine soon became something less than fun, and, most importantly, the Mynatts discovered that they did not like the Amerman school.

"Our children live in a very structured home," said David Mynatt. "Amerman is run on the open classroom system rather than the traditional educational concept employed at the Main Street school."

That was the stumbling block. The Mynatts discovered that their daughter, Debbie, who was then in the third grade, did not like the "freer" atmosphere of the open classroom, and the Mynatts found that some of the teachers did not adapt well to that system either.

"Some teachers just can't handle it," David Mynatt said. "One might be a very fine traditional teacher, but just no good in the open classroom situation. Then too," he says, "our daughter is a reader — she reads voraciously — and can't concentrate in that kind of atmosphere."

For Debbie, at least, that is apparently true. "I didn't like it very much," she said. "All the other kids were doing all kinds of things and the teachers didn't force them to study — I don't think we learned very much."

The younger Mynatt child, John, was a kindergartener the year the children went to Amerman, and he apparently had less trouble relating to the open classroom system than did his older sister.

"His personality," John's father said, "adopts more readily to that kind of situation." And, of course, kindergarten is usually more "open" than the other grades anyway.

The Mynatts believe that their children will enjoy the year - round school when they go back to it at their own neighborhood school this year. They believe that the problems they experienced at Amerman had little to do with the year - round school concept.

They also believe that other families who have dropped out of the year - round schools have done so for similar reasons, or at least for other reasons than the new calendar.

"Once you understand how it works," Mrs. Mynatt said, "you can see it's a good idea."

College to thank its citizen advisers

Schoolcraft College will hold a recognition dinner May 21 to honor persons who serve on its citizen advisory committees for instruction.

The evening's speaker will be Dr. Daniel Kruger of Michigan State University. Nationally known, he is a professor of industrial relations and associate director of MSU's school of labor and industrial relations.

THE DINNER will salute those who serve voluntarily as advisors to the college for its applied sciences or career programs.

This includes those just appointed to the reactivated committee for labor studies, and a special invitation to the placement advisory committee. A reception is set for 6:30 p.m. with dinner at 7 in the Waterman Campus Center.

Kruger will present "Business, Industry and Education," a discussion of their unique interrelatedness. Author of numerous professional articles, he has served as consultant to the U.S. Department of Labor and as a special advisor to Gov. Milliken for manpower programs.

DEAN TED DIEBEL, who heads Schoolcraft's applied sciences division, says the dinner marks the first time the college will have formally expressed its thanks through a social activity to those who give their time and expertise to help the college establish and maintain relevant curricula.

"Programs such as ours could hardly be designed to effectively serve the needs of students without the support of these generous volunteers," he says.

"They bring necessary insight regarding employment opportunities, education and training requirements, and a variety of other technical considerations which otherwise may be overlooked by the academic community."

Diebel said there would be a brief time during the evening for necessary business. Questionnaires required by the state will be completed by committee members and, because they will be seated together, they could set times for future meetings and possibly build agendas.

Schoolcraft trustees, administrators and faculty members will serve as hosts at the various tables.

Students compete in auto contest

Students from Redford Union High School, Garden City East, Livonia Bentley and Livonia Churchill high schools will be among the top auto mechanics students from 78 Michigan schools competing in the annual Plymouth trouble shooting contest, May 22, at Oakland Mall in Troy.

The students will be competing in one of 100 regional contests being held in 50 states under the sponsorship of Plymouth dealers and participating schools.

REGIONAL contest winners receive all - expense trips to the national trouble shooting finals at Dallas June 16, 17, and 18.

In addition to the trip, prizes and awards in the national finals are worth more than $90,000 in college scholarships and other prizes.

At the national finals each member of each first - place team wins a $2,500 scholarship. A total of $37,000 worth of scholarships is offered.

Trouble shooters, sometimes called "road scholars," have to hit the books before they can hit the road to Dallas and the national finals. They have to be outstanding in their classes to qualify for a regional contest, and they must be top students and auto mechanics to win in the regional meet.

TEAMS CONSIST of two students, who are assigned to a new car in which a series of malfunctions have been deliberately placed.

Malfunctions in all cars are identical, and all are related to the electrical, starting, ignition, fuel systems and body hardware of the cars.

Teams race the clock and each other to find and fix the "bugs" and restore their car to normal running order.

To win, however, a team must receive high marks in a written examination which is part of the contest and which contributes to the final score.

The program is sponsored by the schools and Plymouth dealers in the area as a means of encouraging students to complete their education.

College official hopes Legislature will fund culinary arts expansion

By TIM RICHARD

Schoolcraft College officials are watching the Michigan Legislature closely these days to see if they'll get some state help for the culinary arts program expansion.

The college has $565,000 unspent from a bond issue, but expansion of the Waterman Campus Center will cost nearly $833,000 for construction and equipment.

The popular and even famed culinary arts program, says President C. Nelson Grote, has "strong support in both houses" because of its vocational nature.

The board of trustees was confident enough last week to give a tentative go - ahead to the architect, the firm of Ralls - Hamill - Becker - Carne.

If state help comes, the board plans to take bids Oct. 2 and occupy the facility by Aug. 20, 1975. Plans call for expansion northward of the Waterman center.

ARCHITECT Fred Carne's plans show an instructional laboratory, refrigerated storage rooms, dry storage rooms, locker room, faculty offices, conference rooms, receiving dock, boiler, chiller and fan rooms.

Robert Breithaupt, who heads the program, figures Schoolcraft will be able to double its culinary arts enrollment. At present, 25 new students a year are accepted in the two - year program, and there's a two year waiting list. New facilities will allow 50 students a year to be accepted and soon reduce the waiting period to a single year.

The existing kitchen area will continue to be used for food service. The expansion will have 7,500 square feet of floor space.

Dr. Grote saw one possible complication - a natural gas shortage. Consumers' Power Co. has interpreted a state Public Service Commission order inhibiting expansion of gas service to mean the company must serve existing facilities at existing usage rates.

The college feels Schoolcraft, an existing facility, should be allowed to expand its usage. The PSC is being asked to rewrite and clarify its order, Grote said.

JOBS ARE plentiful, Breithaupt reported to the board.

He quoted the American Hotel and Motel Association as saying the nation needs 100,000 new employees annually in the "hospitality industry" just to replace persons who die or retire. Expansion of the industry will mean even more jobs.

Breithaupt said at the end of last semester there were 150 to 200 jobs in the area still unfilled. "We don't even post part - time jobs or those that pay $3.50 or $3.75 an hour. They must be full - time and pay at least $4 an hour."

No other college in this section of the state has a program similar to Schoolcraft's, Breithaupt said. Most hospitality industry curriculums are management oriented, he added.

Women Realtors will hear talk on economic trends

Featured speaker for the May 23 luncheon of the Western Wayne County Women's Council will be Dr. Martha Segar, vice president and economist of Detroit Bank & Trust, who will focus her talk on "Economic Trend."

The luncheon of the women's Realtors council will begin at 11:30 a.m. in Valadimir's, 28125 Grand River, Farmington. Price per person for the luncheon is $3 and reservations may be made with the United Northwestern Realty Association, 11677 Beech Daly, Detroit.

Dr. Segar of Detroit has bachelor's, master's and PhD degrees from the University of Michigan. She previously was an adjunct lecturer at the U - M Dearborn Campus, and a financial economist for the capital markets section, board of governors of the Federal Reserve System in Washington, D.C.

She is former treasurer of the Detroit Area Economic Forum and has served on the program and nominating committees of the Economic Club of Detroit.

Appointment announced

Mrs. Myrtle E. Williams has been appointed interim director of the Wayne County Office of Human Relations.

She was named to the temporary position by unanimous vote of the county board of commissioners succeeding former director Mrs. Joyce F. Garrett who resigned to become executive director of the Detroit Bicentennial Commission.

Mrs. Williams has been with the agency since its inception in 1969 and was serving as a human relations analyst investigating complaints of discrimination and supervising clerical personnel.

In the new position she will be compensated at the same salary as director until the job is filled permanently through civil service examination.

She was appointed interim director upon recommendation of the commissioner's general government committee for her "knowledge of all work assignments pertinent to the program" and "to assure that the ongoing programs of the office have proper leadership and direction."

The new interim director has an associate degree from Wayne County Community College and is pursuing a bachelor's degree from the University of Detroit.

Members of the general government committee include Richard E. Manning (D - Redford), vice chairman and Brian G. Arrowsmith (R - Canton Township).

The fear of a fuel shortage to lower holiday trip volume

Although fuel supplies will be abundant over the Memorial Day weekend, Michigan motorists are expected to drive seven per cent fewer miles during the 78 - hour holiday period than last year.

A survey taken the week of May 15 of 300 service stations along Michigan's major tourist routes shows that an average of 59 per cent plan to be open every day of the holiday period. The survey was taken by Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Despite the recent statewide improvement in gas availability, many motorists remain reluctant to drive far from home," says Joseph Ratke, Auto Club touring manager. "However, if gas problems continue to be minimal, we are expecting an increase in tourist travel this summer."

AS EVIDENCE of a tourism upswing, Ratke notes that in April the Auto Club found a 5.6 per cent increase over last April in routing requests by members for lower Michigan destinations.

"Despite this recent bright spot, Auto Club routing requests are down by 33 per cent this year, except for east Canadian destinations which have seen a 23 per cent increase in popularity for the first four months of 1974," he said.

Lower Michigan routings are still 13 per cent less for January - April, 1974, than for the first four months of 1973.

During this Memorial Day weekend, which begins 6 p.m. Friday (May 24) and ends midnight Monday, Michigan motorists are expected to drive 658 million miles on state roads. An estimated 707 million miles were traveled during the 1973 holiday period.

Peak travel times this Memorial weekend will be from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. Friday when most motorists head for destinations, and from 2 p.m. to 10 p.m. Monday, the major return - home time.

"Travelers can minimize traffic delays by beginning trips before these rush periods," he advises. "This advice is especially good this year because the number of open gas stations along tourist routes will drop sharply after 9 p.m. during the holiday period."

GAS AVAILABILITY during daylight hours will be best on Friday and Saturday and worst on Sunday. On Friday and Saturday, 43 per cent of stations along major state routes will be open as compared to 28 per cent on Sunday.

The most station openings after 9 p.m. (17 per cent) will be Friday. On Sunday, the fewest number of stations (11 per cent) will be open after 9 p.m.

The number of open gas stations servicing late - night travelers ranges from a high of eight per cent after midnight Friday to a low of five per cent after midnight Monday.

The survey excluded large urban areas in the state, such as Detroit.

"We expect more stations will be open Memorial Day weekend than is now indicated," Ratke says. "This is because almost one - fifth of the stations contacted were unsure of their holiday opening hours."

OVER THE MEMORIAL weekend, most travelers are expected to confine their trips to within a 250 - mile radius of home.

Motorists will find few traffic bottlenecks because of highway construction. One congestion area might be westbound I - 94 (Ford Freeway) which will be closed at the Lodge interchange in Detroit. Westbound Ford Freeway traffic will be diverted south on US - 10 to the Fisher Freeway and then north on the Jeffries to rejoin I - 94. US - 10 traffic won't be affected.

I - 75 construction work will be suspended from noon Friday to 8 a.m. Tuesday. Other state highway projects will be halted from 5 p.m. Friday to 8 a.m. Tuesday.

MOTORISTS ARE urged to drive with extra caution during the holiday period.

Schoolcraft staffer accepts job with state

Schoolcraft College's director of technology, Richard G. Holmes of Farmington Hills, has resigned from the college to accept a position with the Michigan Department of Education.

In his new post as a consultant for post - secondary education, Holmes will be responsible for technical program, development, curriculum development, and aspects of funding for the state's 29 public community colleges.

Before joining Schoolcraft in 1970, he was an associate professor at the Auburn Hills campus of Oakland Community College.

Holmes and his family plan to move their home to Waverly, a small town just west of Lansing. His wife, Rochelle, has been a secondary teacher who was active with Schoolcraft faculty wives. They have two sons, Randy, 10, and Jerry, 20. Jerry, a Schoolcraft student in culinary arts, will continue to live locally to complete his program.

AAUW honoring 2 historic buildings

PLYMOUTH - Special Heritage Day ceremonies, honoring two historic Plymouth architectural landmarks, will be held Tuesday as part of the Plymouth branch of the American Association of University Women's annual "Michigan Week: Plymouth Landmarks" project.

The two structures chosen for this year's recognition are Superior Township's well-known Geer School, located at 9981 W. Ann Arbor Rd., and the equally familiar Jack Wilcox home at 676 Penniman Ave.

Bronze plaques, which will be permanently affixed to the exterior of each building, will be formally presented to the present owners.

According to AAUW historical committee chairman, Marilyn Carl, the group first became interested in this project two years ago, when AAUW sponsored an architectural tour of the area in conjunction with the Fine Arts Council's Artrain exhibit.

AAUW has continued to designate two historical structures each year as part of Michigan Week activities. "However," Mrs. Carl stated, "the homes selected when the project first began in 1972 - the Shattuck Garlett House at 921 Church St., and the Lyon Moss home at 1279 Ann Arbor Trail - did not receive plaques." For this reason, plaques will also be presented to the owners of these houses as part of this year's ceremonies.

The public is invited to attend any or all of the presentations: 9 a.m. at Geer School; 9:30 a.m. at Wilcox House; 10 a.m. at Lyon Moss House; and 10:30 a.m. at the Shattuck Garlett House.

The plaques are being donated by the following area realtors: Harold Fischer Real Estate, McKeon-Noling Real Estate, and Robert Bake Realtors. The fourth plaque is being donated by AAUW, in the name of its retiring president, Elaine Kirchgatter.

in lieu of the group's traditional past-president's gift.

Both 1974 "Landmark" selections are familiar to most area residents. Throughout its long history, Geer School has borne out the Winston Churchill maxim, "We shape our institutions and they, in turn, shape us." Geer has served as a focal point for quilting bees, community suppers, dances and meetings during its 148-year history and continues to be an activity center for this area of the township.

The present building is the third school on the Geer site, the first being a log cabin built in 1826. A frame school soon replaced the drafty cabin, and that in turn, was replaced in 1880 with the familiar red brick schoolhouse still in use. Originally, about 35 students attended the school, ranging in age from seven to 21. The new building boasted indoor heating and outdoor plumbing. Teachers, who were considered persons of great status, boarded with each family in the school's area some time during the school year. Geer became a graded school in 1903, and established a small library. There were nine grades at this time, with the high school students being sent to Plymouth as tuition-paying pupils.

In the 1930s a basement was dug under the building and a new furnace installed. As enrollment grew the need for more space became critical, and in 1954, seventh and eighth graders were sent to the Plymouth schools. In 1960, a new wing was added to house the primary grades; a fire door was installed in 1962; a telephone in 1963.

In 1965, Geer School District joined the Plymouth school system. An attempt to close the school in 1970 met with stiff opposition from the area residents, with fully 97 per cent against the idea. Deciding to keep the school in operation, the district had the exterior cleaned and resealed, with eaves and downspouts being added at this time.

Today, a number of Geer students proudly point to the school's history and their own families' involvement with it. Vicky Hargrave is a fourth-generation student at Geer: her great grandmother, Alice Billings, her grandmother, and her father all having attended there. Seraphim Leemon, Janet Trowbridge, and Mike and Ric Van Dyke are all second-generation pupils.

The Jack Wilcox House at 676 Penniman Ave. is a familiar landmark at the east edge of Kellogg Park. The house, with its turrets and carved bows, is a fine example of Queen Anne architecture and was built in 1902 by William Markham.

Markham, who also built the King Air Rifle Factory in 1887, hired the best craftsmen and reportedly paid them top wages for that time of $1 per day. Today most of the cut glass chandeliers and columned archways are gone. The Wilcox family bought the house in 1911 and according to Jack Wilcox, the present owner, the original barn for the house is now the Grange Hall. The property originally went back in an "L" shape to Elizabeth Street and deer were raised there. When the Wilcox children including Jack - were growing up, the house still had its stained-glass windows, a conservatory, and a large porch enclosing the house on all four sides.

During World War II, the government asked to lease the house and convert it into apartments for war workers. After the war, Wilcox's father bought back the lease and the house has been used as an apartment building ever since.

The Lyon Moss House, at 1279 Ann Arbor Trail, was designated as an historical landmark by AAUW in 1972. Built by Timothy Lyon in 1829, it may be the oldest house in Plymouth still standing. Many architectural changes have disguised its original "L" shaped Michigan farm house styling. In 1937, Thomas Moss bought the house and shortly thereafter, remodeled it and moved it farther back on its present lot. He lowered ceilings, enlarged rooms, changed the staircase, and removed a lean-to that once housed a bath. Moss salvaged all old beams and building materials for use in the remodeling. The original chimney brick was used for the fireplace.

The house was purchased by John and Jane Moehle in 1959 and they have retained most of the original features, including the dining room's horse hair plaster and the 1938 wallpaper in the living room. When the Moehles added a two-story addition to the back of the house in 1970, they did so only with great attention to preserving the architecture of the original part of the home.

The Shattuck-Garlett House, 921 Church St., is the oldest centennial home in this area. It has also one of the "best-traveled" homes in Plymouth, having been moved at least three times. Originally a harness shop built by Peter Fralick in 1841, the structure stood on Penniman Avenue, approximately across from the post office. Sometime before 1860, the house was moved to 968 Penniman. In 1880, Mrs. Sarah Van Vechlen Shattuck, the great-grandmother of the present owner, Mrs. Garlett, bought the house. The Shattucks had come to Plymouth in 1832 from Massachusetts and settled on a farm, which is now the site of the Burroughs plant, Hillside Inn, and Riverside Cemetery. In 1860, Sarah Shattuck, a widow, moved into town with her daughter.

In 1917, Mrs. Garlett's father inherited the house and in 1923, he moved it to the Church Street location. The Garletts remodeled the house and moved into it in 1935. Many architectural details have been carefully preserved: the window panes are the original hand-blown bubbled glass and Henry Ford once asked to buy the carved front door.

Park named as tribute to Griffin

SC to expand sports facilities

Look for new tennis courts this fall and expanded outdoor sports facilities next year at Schoolcraft College.

The board of trustees has given a tentative go-ahead to the Lansing landscape architects firm of Grables, Mills & Young, Inc. for drawings of the 23 acres south and east of the present Physical Education Building.

Estimated cost is $251,000. Funds will come from a bond issue floated several years ago. Beside a dozen tennis courts (eight of them lighted for night play), there will be space for soccer, archery, field hockey, boys and girls physical training, track and field, and golf chipping.

Pine trees will form a windbreak.

Other work involves grading, fencing and sidewalks.

BOARD MEMBERS confessed that physical isn't its highest priority, especially with a culinary arts expansion project on the drawing board.

But President C. Nelson Grote noted that the physical priority was set by the 1968 board as a term of the bond issue.

"This isn't my highest priority," said trustee Paul Kadish, "but we can't shift the money to culinary arts. This is where we are, folks; let's go ahead."

Trustee Ron Cowden was more enthusiastic. "A community college encompasses many things. Four hundred kids are willing to sign up for tennis which is more than in culinary arts. Tennis space is rare now. This is more than a frill—the public will get a lot of use out of it."

TRUSTEE Leroy Bennett said the only alternative use of the money was to pay off the bond issue early. But if the college later decided to build the physical facilities, a new bond issue would require a higher interest rate, and the cost of construction will have gone up.

Board Chairman John LaRue noted that once previously the college had persuaded the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission, watchdog agency over local government borrowing, to allow a rearrangement of priorities, but he was reluctant to ask for another change.

The board has scheduled May 29 for formal approval of the project, bid openings for July 2, beginning of construction for July 22, completion of the tennis courts surface for Sept. 20, and completion of the rest of the project by Dec. 1.

Township likens annexation to Pearl Harbor

By W. EDWARD WENDOVER

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP — Likening the city's recent filing of petitions to annex Plymouth Township, to Pearl Harbor and an "act of war", Plymouth Township officials have decried the move.

Plymouth Township Supervisor J. D. McLaren said, "I haven't seen anything like this since Pearl Harbor. They're leading you to the peace table while on the other hand they're declaring war," he said referring to the city's filing of the annexation petitions half an hour after the polls opened May 7 for the consolidation election.

"How long does the knife have to be?" McLaren asked.

Helen Richardson, Plymouth Township clerk, said her reactions to the move were "unprintable."

In a letter to the Plymouth Observer & Eccentric, Elizabeth Holmes, Plymouth township treasurer, said, "Even though your paper openly supported the recent consolidation issue, you must have been as appalled as I at the unbelievably callous action of the city commission (approving the annexation petitions) the night BEFORE the election in which they said in effect:

"We are not here to represent your expression at the polls, but to express our own opinions that you do not know what you want, that only we know what you want."

Mrs. Holmes also criticized State Boundary Commissioner Irving Rozian, also a Plymouth Township resident.

"The filing of annexation petitions amounts to an outright act of war. Its effect will be felt and remembered in the minds of many for years to come. It has destroyed the efforts of cooperation much of which was established contrary to news articles given the media," Millington said.

Township Trustees Russell Ash and Gene Overholt suggested that perhaps the township should try to annex part of the city and township Planning Commissioner Soren T. Pedersen said that if the city really wanted the township so badly it could abandon its charter and become part of the township.

McLaren said he wondered what the members of the Ad Hoc Consolidation Committee thought about the city's annexation drive. The ad hoc committee, funded by both the city and the township coordinated the consolidation study and public hearings held before the May 7 vote.

Ed Sawusch, chairman of the committee, said of the city's action, "It's going to jeopardize all the work that's been done."

"I thought we were making progress."

LESLIE C. CAVELL of Plymouth has been appointed superintendent of the maintenance department at Fisher Body Livonia plant. Cavell's career with General Motors began in 1939 at the Chevrolet Flint plant as an electrician apprentice. Since then, he has had various other assignments until transferred to Livonia from Willow Run in 1973 as assistant superintendent of the maintenance department.

Sense And Nonsense

You'll all be happy to know that 1974 and 1975 will take place as planned.

At the special meeting of the Plymouth City Commission on April 29, the first agenda item approved by our omnipotent leaders was "Public Hearing on Proposed 1974-75."

The meeting notice deleted the word "budget."

In its release on its school student immunization program, the Wayne County Department of Health gave the Plymouth School District a new school named "Treadwell."

It also omitted Truesdell School. Obviously they got the names a little mixed up.

And these are the folks who are giving our children shots?

Oakway sets cabaret concert

The Oakway Symphony Orchestra will present a cabaret concert on Friday, May 31, at 8 p.m. in the Shawnee Hotel, Nine Mile and Southfield Roads, Southfield.

The concert will feature Bob Taylor, the "singing plumber;" Rosemary Jackson, soprano; and Ernest A. Jones, guest conductor.

Following the concert, Bill Swayze's Orchestra will play for dancing until 1 a.m. A buffet supper will be served.

Tickets, at $12.50 per person, may be obtained from the Oakway Symphony, Box 171, Farmington, 48024.

If you wish to take a table for eight, two bottles of Pierre Perignon champagne will be delivered to your table prior to the concert with compliments of the orchestra.

"Fat Bob, the Singing Plumber from Ann Arbor," has appeared on such shows as J.P. McCarthy's "Music Hall," Club, "The Morning Show," "Oopsy the Clown" and "Bill Kennedy."

Born in Leamington, Ontario, "Fat Bob" (actually Bob Taylor) moved to the United States in 1941, attended high school in East Lansing and went to Michigan State University a year prior to joining the U.S. Air Force.

While in the service, he began singing and landed a special services assignment as a result. After the Air Force, Bob began a stint of nightclub appearances and sang with the famed D'Oyle Carte Opera Company for a time.

But singing jobs were hard to come by so Bob joined his father-in-law's plumbing firm and began to earn his master's plumbing license.

However, singing was in his blood, so he later decided to try formally studying music and after some courses in drama and music at Eastern Michigan University, he began regular voice training with the distinguished University of Michigan voice coach, Millard Cates.

In less than a year, Bob had won the Metropolitan Opera regional auditions and was offered a scholarship in New York. Though tempting, Bob turned the scholarship down, because with a family he was unable to make ends meet on the Met's small stipend.

Along with his many TV and radio appearances, Bob has sung the National Anthem more times than any other celebrity in Detroit, appearing before the CBS cameras for two nationally televised Red Wing Hockey games from Olympia Stadium, and also the opening games for the Detroit Tigers and the Pistons.

Guest conductor Ernest A. Jones is chairman of D'Arcy - MacManus & Masius, Inc., a world-wide advertising-marketing organization.

Jones earned a BA degree in economics from the University of Michigan, and has continued active in the affairs of the university where he served as business manager of the Michigan Daily and manager of the Michigan Band. He also played first trumpet in the band and in dance groups.

His continued interest in music has brought him recognition as a conductor. He has conducted University of Michigan Bands in the University Stadium at Ann Arbor, over national networks, the University Symphony Band in Carnegie Hall, and in the Royal College of Music, London.

Jones frequently conducts the Detroit Concert Band and other symphonic band groups, in a broad repertoire from symphonies to Broadway musicals such as "The Music Man."

He has long been a member of the Players Club, Detroit, and has appeared in a range of theatricals from skits to dramas. He has also appeared in radio and television interviews across the country.

Rosemary Jackson, a lyric soprano with a strong, flexible voice, has a distinguished list of musical triumphs. For the professional Lyric Opera Theater of Kansas City, she has sung leading and principal roles in "Carmen," "La Serva Padrona," "Don Pasquale," "La Boheme," "The Merry Wives of Windsor," "The Marriage of Figaro" and "Elixir of Love."

Miss Jackson is a graduate of William Jewell College with masters work at the University of Missouri. She was a Metropolitan Opera auditions finalist in New York City in 1962, and the next year in New York was an American Opera auditions finalist.

She has appeared in summer stock productions at the Kansas City Starlight Theater in principal roles in "Pajama Game," "Paint Your Wagon," "Plain and Fancy," "Bittersweet," "Annie Get Your Gun," and others.

Miss Jackson has also been guest soloist for Plymouth and Saginaw Symphonies, the Tulsa and Kansas City Philharmonic Orchestra, the Max Davey Singers, and has presented numerous concerts through the Midwest. She is a member of the voice faculty at Schoolcraft College.

They're fighting trashers

SCOUTS in Bird Elementary School's Brownie, Junior and Cadet troops visited Miller Woods last Wednesday to clean up the rubbish dumped by thoughtless people. (Staff photo)

A lot of people talk about the environment, but few do anything about it.

Two groups of exceptions are the gals in Brownie Troops 298, 520 and 525, Juniors Troops 210, 230 and 528 and Cadet Troop 626 (all based at Bird Elementary School) and the residents along Koppernick in Canton Township.

The scouts spent last Wednesday afternoon cleaning up trash in the Miller Woods on Powell Road in western Plymouth Township. After the clean-up, they went on guided tours through the stately forest.

Midnight dumpers have been soiling the Koppernick area in Canton lately and the neighbors there, quite understandably, are a little upset at having to pick other folks' garbage off their property.

It seems that each spring when many people are cleaning house, dumping rubbish and garbage along township roads becomes commonplace.

It takes very little effort or money to take a trunkload of trash to an appropriate dumping spot. There's no excuse for the thoughtless actions of midnight dumpers.

If we all had a little respect for the other guys, it wouldn't be necessary for the Bird School Girl Scouts or the Koppernick residents to be picking up after other people.

Too bad everyone doesn't have the consideration shown by the scouts combined with the justifiable ire of those near Koppernick whose yards are used as trash dumps.

Western Wayne YWCA launching consumer hot line

BY MARGARET MILLER

The couch you bought has a ripped seam and the store doesn't seem to want to do anything about it.

Or the plumber came to fix your sink and it stopped up again a week later.

Or perhaps the roofing job you ordered and paid for is short of satisfactory.

For any of these problems, a new service being offered by the YWCA of Western Wayne County might be just the help you need.

THE YWCA CONSUMER hot line is beginning its operation Tuesday, May 21.

On Tuesdays and Wednesdays, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., specially trained volunteers will staff the service from a room in the new Western Wayne YW building at 26279 Michigan in Dearborn.

Nineteen women, including residents of Livonia, Garden City, Westland and Redford Township, are working on the project under the direction of Aileen Grey of the YW staff. Co-chairmen are Jo Courter of Westland and Virginia Shaw of Garden City.

THE VOLUNTEERS will man a telephone line, 561-4112, during the hours the service is operating, and they are inviting calls from those in the area who feel they have a complaint against a store, dealer or serviceman.

They will follow up each call, referring some to other agencies and giving advice on others.

Each volunteer will put in four hours once a week, and each will follow up the problems she takes while answering the telephone line.

"WE WANT EVERYONE to understand that we can accept calls only during the specified hours," Miss Grey said, "and we are not going to attempt to answer anything that deals with medical or legal matters."

Also we won't try to get into insurance matters, because insurance agents are available for those. Of course, if something we begin to research gets into these fields, we'll try to make a referral."

THE CONSUMER hot line had its beginnings when the Public Affairs Committee of the Western Wayne YWCA put on a public program on consumer problems about a year ago.

Consumer complaint Call 561-4112

What came out of that gathering was the idea that the consumer often doesn't have any idea where to go with a complaint and he feels he's being ignored by businesses.

"Our first plan was to set up a referral service," Miss Grey said. "But we talked to Lorraine Beebe, head of the Michigan Consumer Council, and she suggested we set ourselves up in the position of liaison between individual consumer and the business or agency."

THE PROGRAM began in earnest about two months ago, as soon as the Western Wayne YW moved from its Dearborn headquarters to the new building on Michigan.

Letters were sent out and about 40 women indicated an interest.

When it came to showing up for training, the corps boiled down to 19

KATHLEEN HOLLOWELL of Livonia is ready for the first call as the Western Wayne YWCA

The Ann Arbor Consumer Action Center sent an instructor, and a representative of the Wayne County Prosecutor's office came by to talk on what that office was doing and how the YW volunteers could work with it.

THE VOLUNTEERS ALSO turned collectors, stashing a pile of pamphlets, books, lists of agencies that might prove useful.

They made contact with such firms as General Motors, Ford and Sears, to find out how consumer complaints are handled and who should be contacted in case calls involved those firms.

The hot line volunteers will be prepared to work with the prosecuting attorney, the consumer council, Legal Aid or the state attorney general's office if their investigations of phoned-in problems indicate fraud is present.

WOMEN INVOLVED in the program come from Dearborn, Dearborn Heights, Inkster and Allen Park as well as the local communities.

Area residents, in addition to Mrs. Courter and Mrs. Shaw, are Kathleen Hollowell of Livonia, Geraldine Thomas of Redford Township, Ileen Kantner, Barbara Melnick, Landis Gibson and Fay Gilbert of Westland and Christina Peters, Lou Anne Hayes and Roberta Sédstrom of Garden City.

The rights outlook -- still a long way to go

By LORRAINE MCCLISH

No matter how many laws are written and passed for the protection of women they will do nobody any good if they are not enforced.

Nor will work laws benefit anyone if there is no work to be had.

The sentiments are those of Rita Scott, education director of the Civil Rights Commission in Detroit, who addressed delegates of the League of Women Voters from all over the state who met in Farmington's Mercy Center this week for their annual state council.

Her topic was "Women's Rights" which ended up with the general feeling of "Baby, you've still got a long way to go."

In speaking of her high school, college, and out into the work world days, she said, "We pleaded for the good will of men to avail, but it didn't then and it doesn't now."

A woman's best bet for protection on all or any front these days, according to Ms. Scott, is to arm herself with all the facts, which ironically are not all that easy to come by. Then, if you have what you feel is a legitimate complaint, protest and prosecute.

In her words, "The government has only recently determined just exactly what discrimination is." "The government acts as though they want us all equally oppressed." And "Most (protection) laws are poorly publicized."

Michigan's Dept. of Attorney General in cooperation with the Dept. of Civil Rights has tried to correct this situation with a pamphlet, just published, called "Know Your Rights as a Woman" which is available by contacting the Michigan Civil Rights Commission, at 1000 Cadillac Square Bldg., Detroit.

It covers the subjects of family rights, including marriage and divorce; employment rights having to do with labor laws, work conditions and benefits, equal pay and contracts; education rights; contract and property rights; public accommodations and voting.

The pamphlet lists public agencies that will answer specific questions on family law, where to go with questions pertaining to employment, and how to file sex discrimination charges.

She believes Michigan is one of the few states that have bothered to publish anything of this kind and overall spoke well of the protection laws the state has.

Enforcement of these laws is another thing. She listed a string of amendments, title numbers, executive orders and labor laws that were on the books, but no provisions for enforcement agencies.

The Nixon administration is talking about allocating a sum for this in its 1975 budget which would make the Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), the Office of Economic Opportunity and the Labor Dept. of the Civil Rights the enforcement agencies.

"Only if this is so, and it is passed, there might be the kind of resources needed to pull it off," she said.

Another bottleneck women in the work would face today is that the unemployment figure is now approaching 18 percent, and "I can't see opportunity of any kind coming with this economic climate," Ms. Scott said.

In an expanding economy the whole concept of equal opportunity is feasible, "but the pie is dwindling. When you get down to zero expansion you have zero opportunity to change anything. When you have frozen tenure, and tenure professors who have been laid off you can not occupy positions that don't exist."

Before Ms. Scott accepted her present position with the Dept. of Civil Rights, she served with the Detroit Housing Commission and supervised the Education Div. of the Detroit Commission on Community Relations. So it was no surprise that she had not much good to say about the anti-ERA (Equal Rights Amendment) lobbyists who were demonstrating in Lansing last week.

She wound up her talk at the banquet mid-way into the council two-day session by asking the audience to look into "this whole picture of discrimination clean across the country. You cannot imagine the degree of freedom known in one place and the degree of oppression there is in another."

The event was hosted by the West Bloomfield-Farmington Branch of the LMV, whose president is Ann Beurele.

It was conducted by Maryalice Casey, president of the Michigan League, and a member of the local branch.

Her fiancé, a 1970 graduate of Franklin High School, is employed as a draftsman by Massey - Ferguson. They plan to marry June 14.

Success should lead to more success — for communities as well as for individuals — in the opinion of Michigan's First Lady.

Mrs. Helen Milliken, keynote speaker for the Farmington Community Involvement Conference last week, told the gathering "success with a winner should mean the community goes on to more winners."

As an example of what she meant, she named the popular Farmington Founders' Festival.

"The keynote there was early support, and that led to building each year," she said.

"But too often communities think of these big events as separate, not connected with the rest of the year."

"I've done a lot of work with Artrain, and in bringing it into communities I've tried to get across to the local leaders the idea that if the community is not a better place for having had this beautiful exhibit, then we have failed."

MRS. MILLIKEN SAID people in all communities have "hopes and aspirations about what they hold important for their home."

"There are four things we know about all communities," she went on. "All have many strengths, and all have needs and desires, whether these are stated formally or simply expressed in an informal way."

"All communities also have many resources, both physical and human, and all have an inherent desire to work toward improvement."

THIS KIND OF GROWTH, Mrs. Milliken added, has to be a do-it-yourself project.

MRS. HELEN MILLIKEN, keynote speaker for the Farmington Community Involvement conference. (Evert photo)

"Whatever a community does, it must do for itself," she stated, "outsiders cannot do those things that make a difference."

"I have seen what started out to be an innovative program turn out to be a community educational experience because it started with those who cared about their home."

IN LOOKING at community development, Mrs. Milliken said, "we need to look at successful projects with newly-sensitized vision, and the heart of the matter is in education."

"It is important to have a good financial base, but when you get beyond that there remains something which has to do with the quality of life as it is lived in that community."

"Our young people are showing us the way, telling us that the air we breathe and the water we drink are more important than gadgets and that our human relationships are more important than profits."

And because improved communication leads the way to improving activity, she suggested that "conferences such as this one have to make a difference."

"It is possible for people to bring about changes," she added. "The community will change as the result of what is happening today."

Taking note of Farmington's 150th birthday celebration this year, the speaker noted that "after so many years, the Farmington community obviously is not ready to retire on its birthday."

ANOTHER CONFERENCE SPEAKER was Bruce Robinson, whose Farmington firm makes profiles of many communities in the country from the standpoint of income, image, growth potential and other standards.

He said community leaders should be aware of how potential residents, both businesses and individuals, view the area.

"Communities," Robinson declared, "are viewed by the way they take care of their young, their sick and their aged."

Wayne Zebras dump Salem Rocks twice

BY TOM DONOGHUE
Sports Editor

We just aren't getting the hits at the right time," said Wayne Sparkman as he shook his head in disgust after dropping a twin bill to Wayne Memorial.

And what a double loss it was for Plymouth Salem.

The first contest was a state tourney clash and Wayne took it hands down, 6-2. Game No.2 was a Les Anders battle and again Wayne held the upper hand, 4-2.

Things have slowly been going downhill for the Rocks who at one time were 4-1 in the Suburban Eight and 6-6 overall. Then came an 11 -inning one run loss to Redford Union; a one run defeat at the hands of Livonia Bentley and another one-run setback against front-running Dearborn.

That made it three loop one-run defeats in a row and the stage was set for a twin setback at the hands of Wayne, a team that had topped Sparkman's crew earlier in the season, 5-2.

"We are not this bad a team," commented Sparkman. "I guess when things start going bad - everything goes against you. Heck, in that last loss to Wayne, they got all four runs in the last of the sixth and they didn't hit one ball hard. They were all banjo hits."

Salem is now 6-11 overall and 4-4 in the Sub Eight but Sparkman is considering his Rocks a factor in the league.

"We are going to be a definite factor in the race," he finished. "We aren't out of this thing yet."

The opening contest with Wayne which counted in the state tourney saw Salem send Bill DenHouter on the mound. Wayne touched him for all six runs on 10 hits. He walked three and struck out 12.

It was DenHouter's third loss in three decisions.

Steve Rees went the distance for the Wayne Zebras and gave up just three hits, two by Don Bidwell who doubled and tripled. The only other hit for Salem was a double by Jeff Waller. Rees walked four and struck out six.

Salem got off to a 1-0 lead in the second inning when Dan Moore walked, was sacrificed to second by Chuck Thomas and scored when Brian Wolcott was safe on an error at third.

Back-to-back doubles in the third by Bidwell and Waller made it 2-0 Salem.

DenHouter at this time had been coasting along with seven strikeouts and the 2-0 lead before Wayne exploded for five runs in the fourth. Glenn Ambrose got it going with a four-bagger. Ray Fox followed with a single and Brian Hopton doubled. After a strikeout, Clark Johnson doubled home two, Dave Radley singled in Johnson, Rees bunted his way on and Kevin Kaufman singled to make it 5-2.

Wayne added a tally in the fifth on singles by Hopton, Al Slammer and an error.

The second game had a Les Anders tourney bid at stake and this time Wayne jumped to a 4-0 lead and held on to tip Salem again.

A double by Kaufman and pop fly, double by Pat Sheridan scored one run for Wayne in the first. Fox and Hopton followed with infield hits. Slammer sacrificed in Sheridan and Fox scored on an infield out to make it 3-0 after one.

A triple by Ambrose and hit by Slammer pushed it to 4-0 in the third.

Salem's attack came in the last of the sixth and all after two were out. Waller singled and Darrell Rowe was sent in as a pinch-runner. Tom Davidson singled to right and Moore singled in one run. Doug Tripp singled to score Davidson and a wild pitch advanced the runners to second and third with two outs - the tying run at second.

But John Major lined to right and the rally was halted short.

Salem got two runners on again in the seventh but once again left them stranded and in one quick twin-bill, the Rocks found themselves eliminated from both the state and Anders tourney.

John Chiatialis suffered the loss for Salem, giving up four runs on eight hits, walking one and striking out five. Ambrose picked up the win and handled the Rocks with only six hits, walking three and striking out five.

'Junior Miss' hurdler hopes for state repeat

Stevenson's Sharon Solack seeks world mark

By HANK MEIJER

When you set a state record as a sophomore and your classmates give you a personalized cheer, what do you do for an encore?

How about a world record?

Stevenson hurdler Sharon Solack is giving it some thought. Last year she raced to first place in the state meet in the 80 - yard low hurdles with a time of 11.1 seconds. So far this spring she is unbeaten.

"They don't even come close," said teammate Lori Hyman.

The world mark in the 80 - yard lows for women is :10.3, a scant :00.8 second faster.

CAN SHARON threaten the world record? "I hope so," she said. "That's my goal: it's pretty fast, though." Her teammates think she'll break it.

Sharon was originally a sprinter and still runs on the Spartan 440 relay team. It wasn't until she took her turn on the low sticks, however, that it occurred to her that she might be one of the top female athletes around.

"Last year nobody was interested in what I did," she said. "When I came home after the state meet my mother asked, 'how'd you do?' I said, 'I won.'"

Her mother tries to make every meet now, and more and more spectators are coming out to watch the blonde Stevenson star and her teammates compete.

She still has plenty of time to worry about the world record. That can wait until senior year. Right now she wants to improve on her state meet performance of last year.

"I'm hoping I can break :11.0," she said.

She's looking forward to state competition on a rubberized track. The Stevenson asphalt doesn't have the bounce of a rubber surface and that buoyancy helps lift the runner, at least psychologically, over the hurdle.

COLD WEATHER has been one factor in keeping the times slower this year. Sharon's best thus far is :11.2. But more significant for her is the lack of competition in the area.

"When I'm under pressure I do best," she said. She likes to have opponents breathing down her neck.

"She hasn't had any kind of competition this year," said her coach, Liz Embry. "She's always leading the pack."

Sharon agrees. "When I ask other team coaches 'do you have any good hurdlers?' and she says 'don't worry about it, I don't and I get a slower time."

Another obstacle that hampers hurdlers is the wind. "It pushes you, you have to use more force," Sharon said.

When Sharon went to the state meet for the first time last year, Miss Embry was skeptical of her chances and cautioned her to settle for second in her trial heats so that she would have a shot at the finals without being exhausted from qualifying.

Sharon had never encountered big-time competition before. She breezed to victory in the first heat, then in the second. It just came out that way. Then she shocked even her coach in the finals by sweeping to a third straight win.

"SHE'S A SUPERSTAR, everybody thinks she's great," Lori said.

Sharon also plays basketball, so she doesn't have to worry much about pre-season training. But her coach won't allow her to mix the sports. No hurdlers in basketball season and no dribbling when it's time for track.

The risk of injury is too great.

"I've sprained my ankle about 100 times," Sharon said.

Although she hopes to attend Michigan State University, it looks as though a track scholarship will be hard to find. So far the only school she's heard from is Jackson Community College.

Word is getting around around about Sharon, though. "Until I announced she was a state champion hardly anybody at school even knew about it," said her coach.

MISS EMBRY RECALLS one meet when she was standing by the starting line and a student approached her saying, "I just wanted to come out and watch Solack today."

Sharon and her opponents were lining up, waiting for the gun. One girl from the other team overheard the trackside remark and turned to Sharon with a shudder. "Are you Solack?" she asked.

"It's no problem trying to coach her," Miss Embry said. "I just say 'this is what you should do' and she does twice as much."

Does she really have a shot at the world mark?

"She's the kind of gutsy kid who just might go out there and do it," Miss Embry concluded.

Clarenceville tumbles, 4-3

Trailing by two runs in the last of the seventh and having runners on second and third with none out, Clarenceville failed to bring home both runs and fell to Bloomfield Andover in Wayne-Oakland loop baseball play, 4-3.

It was Clarenceville's third setback in the loop in five outings and dropped the Trojans below .500 overall with a 5-6 mark.

Tim McCammon suffered the seven hit defeat, walking four and striking out two. Jeff Pierce chalked up the triumph, giving up 10 hits, walking one and striking out five.

Andover snapped off to a 1-0 lead in the second when an error by the shortstop, a sacrifice by Steve Henderson and single by his brother Terry made it 1-0.

Clarenceville got that back in the top of the fourth. After two were out, McCammon singled and Bill VanDyke doubled him home. The Trojans upped it to 2-1 in the top of the sixth on a walk to Brian Kinnunen, an error and single by VanDyke.

Three runs on three hits in the last of the sixth spelled defeat for Clarenceville. Stan Thomas walked and Pierce doubled with two down, Steve Henderson singled to score two, his brother Terry drew a walk and Hal Straite singled in Steve Henderson to make it 4-2.

The top of the seventh showed signs of the Trojans getting back in the contest. Rick Beyer was safe on an error and Brian Luka singled. The two pulled off a double steal to place the potential tying run on second with none out.

But Pierce retired Tony Phillips on strikes, got Mark McCammon to ground out with Beyer scoring and Kinnunen struck out to end it all.

Turf Tips, Quips

By Doc Minard

It didn't involve as much time in getting the Sunday racing bill approved as those close to the racing picture thought. The bill was approved by the House early last week and then went to the Senate for approval since a few changes had been made in the Senate version.

There were some folks who thought the Senate might take the matter under advisement before voting. Such wasn't the case... the Senate decided the changes were so minor it wasn't necessary for a lengthy discussion and the bill was approved by almost a 2-1 margin.

So now the thoroughbred racing tracks have the much desired Sunday racing and it will be worth watching to see how quickly they start making moves in that direction once the bill is signed by Governor Milliken.

It doesn't take effect until signed or until he allows it to sit and become law without his signature. In either case it will probably be the better part of a month before Michigan fans get their first taste of thoroughbred racing on the Sabbath.

And it isn't absolutely certain that it will happen that quickly. The Detroit Racing Association and Hazel Park Racing Association have to reach an agreement with the mutual clerks union on a pay scale for Sundays.

True enough the DRC has a contract that extends for another year but there isn't anything in the pact about working on the Sabbath.

Should the demands be too high from the union, then there is a strong possibility the tracks will not go to Sunday racing this year. Both managements figure if the cost is too high, then it would be unprofitable to stage Sunday programs and better to wait for another year.

'Tis true enough that Sunday racing has been a big boon to tracks in the states that allow it but it also is true that there has been hassle with the unions in each instance. It has always been worked out and in most instances hasn't interfered with the regular racing programs if the track and union couldn't reach an immediate settlement.

That's what makes it so interesting in the case of Michigan where the two running tracks are located on opposite sides of the largest metropolitan area. Sunday racing is brand new, isn't covered in contracts, doesn't affect contracts in force and has to be negotiated separately.

Everyone in the racing industry knows the running tracks will have to have one dark day to make up for the additional day of racing. The question of which day is still unanswered but probably will be at a meeting of top management of the tracks Tuesday afternoon at the Detroit Race Course.

If we were to select a day, it probably would be Monday.

You ask why Monday? Well we figure the mutual help would welcome a rest on the first day of the week after struggling through a big Saturday and a big Sunday. It would be nice to have Monday off and not have to report until Tuesday afternoon.

For those mutual clerks who work at both the runners and the trotters, what better day to have a break than on Monday when they would be free to rest from late Sunday afternoon until early Monday evening.

Management might have a different idea, pointing out that Mondays are always good days. We wonder if the situation would be the same after a Saturday - Sunday combination and doubt it.

A lot of answers will come out of the Tuesday meeting and it is believed the DRC and Hazel Park managements will begin negotiations with the union late in the week.

Time is of the essence now for the DRC which has less than half of its meeting remaining and wants to get into Sunday racing as quickly as possible to see what effect it will have on the sagging attendance and wagering.

Hazel Park management is just as anxious to see what happens at the DRC so it will have some idea of what to plan on for its meeting starting in late July.

And again the question arises as to the effect of Sunday racing on harness programs. As of now there isn't anything in the bill in regards to the pacers and trotters. However, a dark night at the runners will give harness racing a night without competition. That should help.

Greenstein, Parsell top Canton Dem Club

CANTON — The Democratic Club of Canton has nominated a five-member slate of candidates for the Aug. 6 primary election in Canton Township.

Nominated for the slate are: Bob Greenstein for the post of supervisor, Carl Parsell for treasurer and Bob Myers, Jerry Cheske and Joe DeLauro for the three trustee posts up for election.

‘Canton group of homeowners losing its grip’

By BOB ERICKSON

CANTON — The Canton Federation of Homeowners, which once represented more than 2,000 homeowners, appears to be losing its grip.

According to Robert Greenstein, president of the federation since its beginnings a year and a half ago, the group has been "losing its militancy," and unless the slate of candidates which the founding organization endorses sweeps the upcoming Canton Township election "the militancy will be gone and the federation will be dead."

Greenstein believes that at its outset the federation had power enough to force the board to listen to the homeowners, but that the disbanding of the largest member group of the federation caused a weakening of the organization and a decline in militancy of the other member groups.

Originally, the federation consisted of three homeowner groups: the Northwest Canton Homeowners Association with perhaps 500 members, the Windsor Park Homeowners Association with between 800 and 900 members and the Holiday Park Homeowners Association which had, Greenstein says, perhaps 1,000 members. At the time of the federation's formation, those were the only homeowners groups in the area.

Then, the Holliday Park group, which Greenstein says had always been the most inactive of the three, began to weaken, and that disbanded three months ago, reducing the membership of the federation by more than half.

Now Greenstein is concerned that the federation may go the same route if he and the rest of the members of the ne Canton Democratic Club election slate are not voted into office in August.

"There are six openings on the board," Greenstein said, "and with the exception of John Flodin (township clerk) all absolutely must be replaced for the good of the township."

The reason that the federation was created in the first place, Greenstein says, was that the board would not listen to the homeowners groups individually.

The five candidates — who were announced during a public meeting of the Democratic Club Thursday night in the Plymouth-Canton High School cafeteria — will run as a team in the upcoming election.

In naming its candidates, the Democratic Club issued the following statement:

"We have nominated not only what we believe is a group of citizens which represents the majority of residents in the township, but one that can bring effective government to Canton, as well.

"Since Canton is one of the fastest growing communities in the state, it is essential that our community expand in an orderly and well-planned manner. Too much of this area has grown in a haphazard way, and it is time to end such unsystematic and illogical planning.

"A major division has developed between many members of the community and township officials, especially those persons sitting on the planning commission who have virtually ignored the community's newer residents.

"It is unfortunate that the township has been divided into two segments — the newer residents who mainly live in subdivisions and mobile homes and the community's long-time residents. Now is time to end this division and to govern this township on the basis of how it affects all of its citizenry.

"Our nominations represent a cross-section of the community. Bob Greenstein and Joe DeLauro are long-time residents while Jerry Cheske and Carl Parsell are from the township's new developments. Bob Myers lives in the sizable mobile home population.

"Most important, each of the nominees has a vital interest in the future of Canton and each has the qualifications for public office.

"Although we have not submitted a nomination for clerk, the Democratic Club will support John Flodin should he decide to run for re-election to that position."

Flodin said he has not yet decided his political plans but he considered the club's semi-endorsement, "I guess, a compliment."

The Democratic Club meeting also was marked by division in its own ranks.

Betty Hamann of the Windsor Park Homeowners Association said, "It seems this group is going to play on people's worst instincts instead of on their best instincts."

Nixon criticized on lunch policy

Ronald W. Egnor, a candidate for the Democratic nomination in the 2nd Congressional District, recently criticized a Nixon administration plan that "plays politics" with children's school lunches, and could "significantly raise their cost to individual pupils."

At a meeting of the Democratic Party in Pittsfield Township, which borders Ann Arbor, Egnor commented: "This is just one more case where the administration has put politics and bureaucracy ahead of the needs of the people."

AT ISSUE is an administration drive to substitute cash for government foods now received by school districts — a plan opposed by the committee on nutrition and human needs of the U.S. Senate. The 2nd District includes Livonia, Plymouth, parts of Washtenaw County and all of Monroe County.

"Cash payments are wholly inadequate because an individual school district cannot hope to match the enormous volume discounts available to the federal government," explains Egnor, a Ypsilanti attorney.

"Hardest hit will be those that can least afford it — the medium size school districts.

"The Nixon plan runs directly counter to the aims of the hot lunch program, whose motivating spirit is to insure growing children a nutritious meal at mid-day. The number of youngsters participating in the hot lunch programs falls off in direct proportion to hikes in meal prices."

THE ADMINISTRATION move is prompted by a desire to transfer the food and nutrition service from the department of agriculture, Egnor said, to the department of health, education and welfare — a drive which could be facilitated by elimination of actual food transfers — and that move was, in turn, initiated by baser political motives.

"To shift the food and nutrition service to HEW would be to jeopardize its present existence because of a basic political reality: given the power of rural interests in Congress, agriculture bills generally pass unscathed, but everybody slices away at HEW appropriations.

"The Nixon administration has on numerous occasions demonstrated its hostility to programs which benefit people, not business," Egnor, concluded, "and this is just one more example."

"You seem to be pushing people toward polarization," she said to Greenstein. "Methinks thou dost protest too much."

Canton Township Trustee Brian Schwall said he had "repeatedly" turned down offers by the club to be on its slate because "running as a slate perpetuates what these gentlemen say they are trying to fight."

"You're perpetuating alliances and I cannot, in good conscience, support every member on the slate," Schwall said.

Greenstein replied that "the question of the slate bothered us for a while" but it was decided by the club to "have a team effort with a majority number of votes to get done what is needed in the township."

Greenstein is a former township justice of the peace who served as the first president of the Northwest Canton Homeowners Association. He is president of the Federation of Canton Homeowners and chairman of the Democratic Club. He lives at 47500 Hanford Road.

Parsell, who is president of the Windsor Park Civic Association, helped lead the fight which led to the defeat of the proposed Mocer Shopping Center development. He also was instrumental in calling for the recently completed investigation of the fire in Windsor Park which claimed four lives. He is the executive director of the Police Officers Association of Michigan and resides at 42808 Arlington.

Myers is president of the Michigan Mobile Homeowners Association, a consumer-oriented group. A member of the Governor's ADHOC Committee on the Construction Code Commission, he is also an officer in the Consumer Alliance of Michigan and is an advisor for the Consumer Federation of America. The General Motors employee lives at 51074 Mott Road.

Cheske, a charter member and former secretary of the Windsor Park Civic Association, helped initiate the fight against the Mocer project when it was first proposed more than a year ago. The contributing editor for Automobile Club of Michigan's Motor News magazine, he has done publicity for a number of civic organizations and projects in Canton. He resides at 43971 Arlington.

DeLauro, of 7560 Birkclan, is a sculptor and professor of arts at the University of Windsor. He founded the school's Fine Arts Department.

New Democratic Club challenges incumbents

By W. EDWARD WENDOVER

CANTON — The key to the future of Canton Township's politics lies with the incumbents now on the township board.

It lies with them because that's where the challengers — the newly formed Canton Democratic Club — put it Thursday night.

The Democratic Club announced its slate Thursday, picking: Bob Greenstein (for supervisor), Carl Parsell (for treasurer) and Bob Myers, Jerry Cheske and Joe DeLauro (for the three trustee seats up) for its endorsements.

The very obvious hole left on the slate was the township clerk spot — now occupied by John Flodin.

Greenstein had some good words to say about Flodin and added that the club would back him if he ran again for clerk.

That's how the newly - formed club really gave the key to the political future to the incumbents.

Flodin has been eyeing the supervisor post but will not decide for sure until Supervisor Phil Dingeldey announces his plans.

If Dingeldey's health should make him decide not to seek re - election, then Flodin might well go for the top spot.

What Greenstein would do then, no one knows, although he said Thursday he would rather not run for the supervisor spot.

But changing its slate would do anything but help the club which is trying to build a power base out of the dwindling militant homeowner association support.

The Mocer Project is — at least for the moment — out of the picture and public interest in the Canton political scene has dwindled. There were some 30 persons at Thursday's Democratic Club gathering, including six from the press — not exactly on a par with the 600 - plus turnout for the Mocer Project public hearing.

But, Greenstein says, they're running as a slate in order to gain strength.

At this early date it's impossible to weigh the strength they'll have — the key here again lies with the incumbents.

Sitting in the audience Thursday night were Flodin and Trustee Brian Schwall, who says he has refused to tie in with the Democratic Club because he wants to remain independent.

He was one of those at the meeting who spoke in criticism of the club and it is no surprise that when the slate was announced there was no vacancy left for a trustee spot.

Apparently the club's attitude with Schwall was "get on board or walk the plank."

Schwall made the decision Flodin must now make.

But there are other incumbents: Grant Campbell, treasurer; he's made no public announcement. Korte is expected to seek re - election — something which might not be easy for him considering the overwhelming change in Canton's electorate since the last election.

It's that overwhelming change — the new subdivision residents — which the Democratic Club hopes will be its ticket to victory.

But there is division among those new residents, just as there is within the club itself. Whether the announced slate can stay together and weather the rifts remains to be seen.

But first the Democratic Club — and the voters — are watching carefully to see how the incumbents — particularly Dingeldey, Flodin and Schwall — will run now that they have the ball with a an announced line of opposition trying to block the goal posts.

AN EARLY SETTLER OF NOTE

PLYMOUTH—Plymouth had yet to observe its third birthday in 1828 when a 16-year-old named Theodatus Timothy Lyon moved into the community.

Bill Ford stands on House record

In announcing his candidacy for Congress in the 15th District, U.S. Rep. William D. Ford (D-Taylor) is asking voters to look at his legislative record before making a choice.

Ford, whose district includes Westland, Garden City and Canton Township, points to 15 major bills he has introduced this year in addition to important positions held on congressional committees.

Ford was first elected to the House in 1964 after serving two years in the Michigan Senate and earlier as a delegate to the Michigan Constitutional Convention of 1961-62.

Now completing his 10th year in Congress, Ford has moved up the seniority ladder to become chairman of a labor subcommittee and a ranking member of subcommittees on education, postal service and manpower, and civil service.

He is also an executive board member of the Democratic Study Group—an organization of progressive Democrats which plays an active role in researching, drafting and passing legislation.

Ford has served since 1971 as one of two congressional advisors for United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO).

Ford attended Henry Ford Trade School, Wayne State University and Nebraska State Teachers College before earning a law degree under the original GI Bill of Rights at University of Denver.

He returned to Taylor in 1951 to practice and began his political career when elected Michigan's youngest justice of the peace in 1955 at age 27. He later served as city attorney for Taylor and Melvindale.

Among the bills introduced by Ford this year has been legislation to:

• Authorize the Small Business Administration to grant low-interest loans to small businesses affected by the energy crisis;

His name is unknown in Plymouth today.

That was not the case in the late 1800s when Theo Lyon's pomological experiments put the village on the map. His work on a farm in Plymouth soon made Lyon one of the 19th century's most eminent self-taught authorities in the science and practice of fruit growing.

Lyon, the son of Timothy and Mary Davis Lyon, came here when his father, an apprentice architect and millwright, moved the family to Plymouth from Lima, N.Y. They sailed from Buffalo to Detroit on the schooner "United States." They trudged from Detroit to Plymouth by way of the Bucklin and Nankin woods.

The father, a descendant of Richard Lyon who settled in Fairfield, Conn., in 1649, set up store in a log building at what was soon to be called "Plymouth Corners." Later he established a saw and grist mill in Plymouth.

Young Theo returned to Lima in 1834. He attended school for a summer and taught until 1836. He then returned to Plymouth to engage in milling, farming and fruit growing. He married Marilla, daughter of William S. Gregory of Plymouth, in 1838.

In 1842, Lyon was keeper of the Wayne County Poor House which had 80 inhabitants, mostly from Detroit. From 1861 to 1865 he was a board member of the poor farm for Wayne County.

About 1844, Lyon taught school in Plymouth and established a tree nursery on his father-in-law's farm. He had watched a neighbor in Lima inserting buds into branches. On his return to Plymouth he sharpened a knife and began grafting trees in the old orchard on the Gregory farm.

Lyon collected specimens of all known varieties of apple, pear and other fruit trees from surrounding orchards. He wrote articles published in the "Michigan Farmer" and other regional publications. The accuracy of his work interested Charles Downing, then revising "The Fruits and Fruit Trees of America," originally published by his brother, Andrew Jackson Downing, in 1845.

The articles Lyon wrote, and the letters he exchanged with Downing and other authorities, earned him a reputation as "the most critical and accurate of American pomologists."

Lyon drew additional attention to Plymouth, and to the orchards of Michigan, when he exhibited 120 varieties of apples at expositions in Philadelphia: Washington, D.C.; and New York City. His display, called "one of the most valuable lessons in American pomology," was awarded gold, silver and bronze medals by the American Institute.

In 1874, Lyon moved to South Haven so his ailing wife could live on the shore of Lake Michigan. In 1876 the Michigan Pomological Society, later named the Michigan Horticultural Society, elected him president. His "History of Michigan Horticulture" appeared in the "Seventeenth Annual Report of the State Horticultural Society" in 1887.

From 1880 to 1897, Lyon was chairman of a committee set up by the American Pomological Society to revise the existing catalog of fruits. In that capacity, as an agent of the division of pomology of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, he initiated and developed the card catalogue of fruits which later became the basic fruit variety reference list of the department.

In 1896, the State Horticultural College conferred on him the honorary degree of Master of Horticulture for his influence on the horticultural life of Michigan.

In addition to his work in horticulture, Lyon was a pioneer in railroad construction. In the 1860s, he planned, worked out the details, and became president of two railroad lines which eventually became a portion of the Pere-Marquette Railway System (now part of the Chesapeake and Ohio).

Theo Lyon's interest in mechanics and his desire to learn continued as long as he lived. When he was past 80 he learned to operate a typewriter, a device not well known at the time.

Lyon apparently had the ability to apply theory to practice. He possessed vision, a thirst for knowledge, and an aptitude for painstaking detail, combined with a strong constitution which enabled him to work untiringly on projects which interested him.

He died at age 87 in 1900, respected in his field "for his efforts at clarifying pomological nomenclature and for his insistence upon the accurate description and honest appraisal of varieties of fruit."

Plymouth has not had so many persons of note that it can afford to forget the man who helped to give the community a widespread reputation, a century ago, for advances in a science which continues to benefit the entire nation.

The next column will discuss other settlers of note.

BY 1840, when this map was made, Plymouth had been settled by the white man. Plymouth Corners was at the junction of Main and Ann Arbor Trail. Plymouthville was near the existing C&O railroad station. Waterford, settled in 1827, was a station for the "underground railroad" during the Civil War. Located at the junction of Northville and Six Mile roads, Waterford no longer exists.

PLYMOUTH COMMUNITY SCHOOL DISTRICT Plymouth, Michigan BOARD OF EDUCATION MINUTES

The regular meeting of the Board of Education of the Plymouth Community School District, Wayne and Washtenaw Counties, Michigan, was held on Tuesday evening, April 23, 1974, in the cafeteria of West Middle School, 44401 W. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth, Michigan.

The meeting was called to order by President McClendon at 8:10 p.m. following an informational agenda meeting.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

It was moved by Member Lawton and seconded by Member Gray to concur in the recommendation of administration on the conduct and operation of the summer school program for the summer of 1974 on the same basis as in the past.

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, Lawton, McClendon, Mirto, Penar and Turner.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

The proposal for safety millage to be included in the election issues was presented by the administration to include:

Safety devices (incl. overpasses, signs and lights)	$66,000
Two-way radio system for new buses and existing buses	48,000
Sidewalks on school property	7,200
Training of crossing guards-four-year program	8,000
Miscellaneous equipment	8,000
	$137,200

It was moved by Member Turner and seconded by Member Benson that the amount to be requested for safety millage be established at 4 mills at the election on June 10, 1974, on the assumption that immediate detailed plans can be made for same with and without the three proposed new elementary schools.

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, Lawton, McClendon, Mirto, Penar and Turner.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

Mrs. Tonda, Safety Committee, reviewed the specific locations which would be affected by the safety millage proposal and Sup't. Hoben described future school development areas. Assistant Sup't. Hoedel indicated that any safety millage revenue would be deposited in a fund set aside specifically for that purpose, i.e., a "Safety Fund."

Mr. Hoedel reviewed bids opened on March 1, 1974 for delivery trucks for warehouse service and maintenance department. He indicated that a purchase price would come out of the 1974-75 budget and that warehouse operations would be effective by July 1, and bids would be out for all supply items by that time. Member Turner felt that it was poor practice to accept any bids when only one had been received.

It was moved by Member Lawton and seconded by Member Mirto that in keeping with bid policies of the School District, the bid price of $5,319.48 for purchase of F-400 Stake Truck be accepted from Leo Calhoun Ford, Inc.; and that the bid price of $4,662 for purchase of P-10 Step Van Truck be accepted from Lou LaRiche Chevrolet.

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, Lawton, McClendon, Mirto, Penar and Turner.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

The matter of lease contracts for rental of vacant school acres for farming purposes and an analysis of vacant school sites and the acreage now leased for farming were discussed by Assistant Sup't. for Business and by the Board Attorney. The matter of public liability on such land connected with specific operation by a lessee was discussed, as well as whether utility access would be available under provisions of a proposed lease. It was felt that in the future the matter should come before the Board at an earlier date so decisions could be made and leases negotiated before the growing season began.

It was moved by Member Lawton and seconded by Member Gray that this Board approve school district vacant land to be used for farming purposes and that the standardized lease contract approved by this Board be used for each prospective tenant to be renewed annually and approved annually by this Board; further, to authorize the Assistant Sup't. for Business to negotiate with each prospective tenant a fee to be paid by the tenant per acre; and finally, that the President and Secretary of the Board be authorized to sign such individual leases.

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, Lawton, McClendon, Penar and Turner.

Nays: Member Mirto.

The motion was carried.

Sup't. Hoben reported on the results of a meeting to discuss alternatives and to refine the request of the Republic Development Corporation as proposed at the meeting of April 10, 1974, representatives being Member Lawton, Sup't. Hoben and Assistant Sup't. Hoedel who met with the Corporation representatives. The Board attorney reported that he foresaw no problem if the Board were to accept the offer of the Corporation to deed 9.519 acres of land adjacent to the Saltz Road School Site to the District. Mr. Goodman and Mr. E. Pantow answered questions posed by members. They reported that no homeowners' association in the Fellows Creek Subdivision would be necessary if the School District took over the site. Mr. Hoedel indicated that the Corporation would designate the site as a "potential" school site in its advertising for the subdivision. Member Mirto indicated that he could not support any motion to accept the offer of the Republic Development Corporation because the site could not be developed as a parks and recreation area by the District as indicated in the Canton Resolution of March 12, 1974. The nearest school in this area was cited as being either Miller School or the Truesdell site where another school might be built. It was also indicated that there was no obligation to the District to do anything to prepare the area as a recreational or playground site until the entire 9.519 plus 6.666 acres would be developed as a school. If the Board were to sell the Saltz Road site, there would be no limitations placed on its sale but only on the 9.519 acres to be deeded by Republic Development Corporation to the District, which acres would be turned over to Canton Township.

It was moved by Member Turner and seconded by Member Lawton that the Plymouth Community School District of Wayne and Washtenaw Counties, Michigan, accept a grant for 9.519 acre park from the Republic Development Corporation, which park is known as Fellows Creek Park and is located in Canton Township adjacent to the School District's Saltz Road property; contingent on there being no requirement on the School District to develop this property until such time as a school is built on the site; and subject to the conditions of the Canton Township Board resolution regarding this proposal dated March 12, 1974. (Roll call vote)

Ayes: Members Gray, Lawton, McClendon and Turner.

Nays: Members Benson, Mirto and Penar.

The motion was carried.

It was moved by Member Penar and seconded by Member Mirto to accept the following resignations as proposed by administration:

Kathryn Bock	4th grade	Allen School
Joanne Southwell	Leave	Smith School
Catherine Wind	Leave	Fiegel School

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, Lawton, McClendon, Mirto, Penar and Turner.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

Mary Hammond	3rd grade	Bird School
Sue Hayford	2nd grade	Gallimore School
Vivaleene Rush	Leave 73-74	Smith School

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, Lawton, McClendon, Mirto, Penar and Turner.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

It was moved by Member Penar and seconded by Member Turner to approve a new contract for the position approved for Miller School 2nd and 3rd grade for Marilyn Terrell.

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, Lawton, McClendon, Mirto, Penar and Turner.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

It was moved by Member Gray and seconded by Member Turner to rescind the previous resolution (passed March 26, 1974) which accepted the resignation at that time of Mrs. Marguerite Ross, teacher at Starkweather School.

Ayes: Members Gray, Lawton, McClendon, Penar and Turner.

Nays: Members Benson and Mirto.

The motion was carried.

The status of administrative postings for the positions known as Assistant Superintendent of Instruction, Administrative Assistant for Research and Administrative Assistant for Community Relations was discussed by Mr. Kee who reviewed current numbers of applicants and the proposed committees for screening applicants.

It was moved by Member Lawton and seconded by Member Turner that this Board confirm the screening committee as proposed by administration for the position of Assistant Superintendent of Instruction and to proceed with the screening and interviewing process.

Ayes: Members Gray, Lawton, McClendon, Mirto, Penar and Turner.

Nays: Member Benson.

The motion was carried.

It was moved by Member Lawton and seconded by Member Turner that this Board confirm the screening committee as proposed by administration for the positions of Administrative Assistant for Research and for Administrative Assistant for Community Relations but that a decision to proceed with interviewing process be held to a later date.

Ayes: Members Gray, Lawton, McClendon, Mirto, Penar and Turner.

Nays: Member Benson.

The motion was carried.

Member Turner reaffirmed the concerns of the Board regarding eventual approval of additional administrative positions being contingent on the 1974-75 budget and whether it was feasible to add three people to a staff at one time whose training would consume a great amount of time expended by other administrators. Member Benson expressed the opinion that the cost of such additions would not only add salary but also offices, secretaries, etc. Sup't. Hoben stated that the Central Administration staff had gone from a high of 13 people to its present 8.

Member Penar requested that administration prepare its rationale for the Board as to which position would be considered most critical of those proposed.

The matter of a petition drive for a county-wide special education millage to appear on the ballot as proposed by the Wayne County Special Education Parent Advisory Committee was reviewed. The Committee asked that the Board request the issue be placed on the first possible ballot by the Wayne County Intermediate School District.

Ayes: Member Turner.

Nays: Members Benson, Gray, Lawton, McClendon, Mirto and Penar.

The motion was defeated.

It was moved by Member Lawton and seconded by Member Mirto that the matter of a fixed location for School Board meetings be referred to the President and administration to determine logic of a permanent meeting place and to set schedule as soon as feasible.

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, Lawton, McClendon, Mirto, Penar and Turner.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

A letter dated April 20, 1974, was read by President McClendon from Vice President and Trustee Frederick M. Penar who submitted his resignation from this Board of Education, effective April 30, 1974, so that a new member could be elected at the June election.

It was moved by Member Turner and seconded by Member Gray to accept the resignation of Vice President and Trustee Penar from the Board of Education with regret.

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, Lawton, McClendon, Penar and Turner.

Nays: Member Mirto.

The motion was carried.

Member Lawton expressed personal regrets at the resignation of Member Penar, citing the many hours of work he has put into Board work beyond meetings, which have contributed to objective and constructive decisions. It was the hope of the Board that the community as a whole be aware of the regret and sorrow of the Board at this resignation. Member Mirto said his "no" vote indicated his degree of regret at the resignation.

It was moved by Member Lawton and seconded by Member Gray that this meeting be adjourned.

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, Lawton, McClendon, Mirto, Penar and Turner.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

The meeting was adjourned at 10:15 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,

Board of Education

Girls have yet to break male hold on chess club

By JAN WILLIAMS

Although the girls have invaded track at the Plymouth high schools, they've yet to break the male stronghold in the chess club.

The Centennial Park Chess Club, which includes students from Plymouth - Salem and Plymouth - Canton High Schools, was organized at the beginning of the 1973-74 school year. The club currently has 12 members, all male.

Organizers of the club, James Kaiser, an electronics teacher at Canton, and Dwight Anderson, a Canton English teacher, say membership is open to girls.

"We had one girl at the beginning of the year, but she dropped out," Kaiser says. "Maybe if we could get a couple of them in at one time, they'd stick with it."

Both Kaiser and Anderson say the girls' lack of interest in the club is because "most of the time, boys beat girls in chess."

But they plan to undertake a big membership drive next year and hope to attract some girls.

Meanwhile, they are making the best of it with their 12 male members and have scheduled their first Centennial Park Chess Tournament for Saturday, May 25, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Canton Commons.

So far the schools that will be participating in the tournament include Canton and Salem, Ypsilanti, Farmington Harrison, Waterford Mott, Cherry Hill, Wayne Memorial and Livonia's Churchill and Stevenson.

Schools will be allowed to enter in teams of four. A trophy will be presented to the first place team, small trophies will be presented to members of the first place team and to the top scoring individual player. Ribbons will be presented to second and third place teams.

At the present, the club is concentrating on membership, organization and support from the schools and the community.

The Plymouth Optimists recently donated 12 chess sets to the club. Club members plan to make their own boards, which Kaiser says will be about a 50 per cent saving.

Kaiser and Anderson agree that one problem they're hoping to overcome is the club's conflict with varsity sports.

"We hope to be able to offer chess as an activity next year on the same basis as sports. Hopefully, we can get more students interested in it that way."

The club started out with three members and Kaiser says most high school chess clubs have an average of four or five members.

Area high schools which have chess clubs include Churchill, Stevenson and Franklin in Livonia, Farmington Harrison, Cherry Hill, Waterford Mott, Wayne Memorial and Ypsilanti.

"We hope through this tournament to bring together the heads of area chess clubs to start a league," Kaiser says.

In the Centennial Park Chess Club, each member is ranked according to his skill. The man at the bottom can challenge a player one or two places ahead of him, enabling him to work his way up the ladder. Any player can challenge any other player one or two places ahead.

"Half of our players have been in first place at one time or another," Kaiser says. "One boy who was once in first place is now in 11th place. This system always keeps you moving and trying to improve your game."

Club members are mostly freshmen and sophomores with some juniors and one senior. Officers are: Pat Harrington, president; Chris Rollins, vice president; Don Fulkerson, secretary; and Eric Priebe, treasurer.

The club has played in meets with other schools just for fun. So far they have beat Farmington and Stevenson and lost to Churchill and Ypsilanti.

Kaiser, who started playing chess at 14 years of age, is very interested in the game. He says he took an interest in the club because there was no one else to do it and because he thinks it's a very worthwhile activity.

Anderson, who says he first got interested in chess during the Fischer-Spassky tournament, offered to help Kaiser with the club and is very interested in developing his own talent as well as helping the students.

JAMES H. KARPICKE of Plymouth has been appointed to the position of administrator of administrative and operational affairs for Weight Watchers of Eastern Michigan Inc. and Weight Watchers of Central Michigan Inc. in Southfield.

The Stroller

First train ride

Seated at the luncheon table with a group of railroad officials the other day, Dwight Havens, the knowledgeable president of the Detroit Board of Commerce, looked about him with a twinkle in eye, then said:

"I'll bet none of you can remember your first train ride."

There was silence for a moment or two, then he added, "Well, I'll never forget mine."

The listeners were all ears and none of them possibly surmised that Dwight was a farm boy, raised in Iowa.

So, it was quite a surprise when he related that, as a real young lad back on the farm, he helped with the chores and when time came to take the cattle to market his dad asked him to go along.

"I rode the cattle car all the way to Chicago," he recalled, "and it was the real thrill of my young life. I never had dreamed of anything like it -- bumps and all."

State ranks seventh in resident veterans

Michigan with a total veteran population of 1,180,000, is seventh in the nation in number of veterans from all wars. Nationally there are 29,170,000 according to Frank Kilcullen, acting director of the VA regional office in Detroit.

"Veteran Population," a report issued semiannually by the agency's controller office in Washington, is the source for the statistics.

California ranked first with 3,244,000 and New York second followed by Pennsylvania, Illinois, Texas and Ohio.

A breakdown of Michigan veterans for different wars shows: World War II veterans number 551,000; Vietnam accounts for 263,000; Korea, 196,000; World War I, 41,000 and an additional 129,000 served in peacetime between Jan. 31, 1955 and August 5, 1954.

As of April 15 of this year, there were 44 Spanish-American War veterans in Michigan who are on the compensation and pension rolls of the VA in Washington.

Nationally there were 1,600 Spanish-American War veterans at the time of the report. As of April 15 there were 1,503 with an average age of 94.1 years.

The average age of all veterans is 45.3 years with the largest number, 4.77 million clustered in the 50-54 year age group.

Veterans 45 to 49 comprise the next largest group, 4.45 million. There are 3.58 million veterans aged 25 to 29 years in the third largest group with the average age of Vietnam veterans being 28.6 years.

Ford Record scores high

The League of Conservation Voters has given Rep. William D. Ford (D-Taylor) a score of 95 per cent for his voting record on conservation issues for 1973.

The rating was the highest in the Michigan delegation and one of the highest in Congress.

The league, a national non-partisan organization, monitors Congressional votes on a broad range of issues such as energy, land use, nuclear safety, environmental education, transportation and population control.

In making its selection the League didn't count unanimous votes or bills that won or lost by wide margins. Ford represents the 15th district which includes Garden City, Westland and Canton Township.

The 19 votes chosen for 1973 were selected, according to the league, to give citizens "a more representative picture of where Congressmen stand on a broad range of issues."

Ford's voting record on conservation legislation has consistently ranged above 90 per cent. His cumulative voting record on conservation issues is the highest in the Michigan delegation.

had. But it was the train ride, more than the fun at the picnic, that has lived through the decades.

The next year, though, was the thriller. During the winter months the picnic officials changed sites and decided on a longer train ride to a picnic grounds in New Jersey named "Bellwood Park."

Not only was this a longer train ride, about 25 miles, but along the way we had to travel through a tunnel. It was an experience none of us had had before. You should have heard the wailing and yelling when everything went dark as we headed through the tunnel.

But it was a thrill. And the picnic remained at Bellwood for years just because of the tunnel. It was part of the education of the younger generation of picnickers.

Back home we had the honor of having three railroads in our little town -- the Lehigh Valley, the New Jersey Central and the Catsaugua & Fogelsville railroad.

Chances are you never heard of the "C & F" as we called it, but it was a famous line for one simple reason. It was the train that took us on our berry picking trips.

In those days the countryside still was filled with such delicacies as wild strawberries, wild raspberries (both red and black) and blueberries.

At the height of the season the youngsters, of whom The Stroller was one, gathered each day to go "berry pickin'."

What made these trips memorable is the fact that the train containing several passenger coaches, didn't have a special destination. It just followed the berry pickers and when we had filled our baskets and buckets it brought us back home.

There never was a train like it -- a train for exclusive use of the berry pickers.

What memories Dwight Havens brought back when he said, "I'll bet none of you fellows can recall your first train ride!"

NORMAN O. STOCKMEYER, Secretary

Board of Education

In The Pocket

By W.W. EDGAR

It long has been a tradition along the bowling front that secretaries are too busy keeping their records and caring for the wants of others to gain much in the way of stardom in the knack of knocking over the maples.

There is an exception to every rule, however, and Tom McKay, genial secretary of the Greater Detroit Bowling Association, has proven that this season.

When the final reports are made for the season, it is likely that Tom will have the best record of any secretary in the country insofar as fame and fortune are concerned.

Just consider this: Tom is a member of the Goebel team that dominated the recent ABC tournament in Indianapolis and came home with approximately $7,000 in prize money. That made the trip to the Hoosier country well worth while.

Along the way Tom also organized a team to go in quest of a portion of the prize money in the rich Peterson Classic in Chicago. And all his team did was post a 3085 series on those "oiled highways" they call bowling lanes over there, to take the lead in the team event.

This could be worth another $5,000 in prize money, if the count holds up for the next few weeks until the curtain comes down.

Whatever happened to the fellow who said "secretaries are too busy to make any sort of showing in topping the tenpins?"

More than $11,000 in two tournaments! That's what Tom McKay's team did and a record such as this could stand for a long time.

Two fellows who once bowled in the Detroit All-Star Classics and who are well known throughout Observerland — Don Carter and Harry Smith — are among the eight bowlers named to the Professional Bowlers Hall of Fame as charter members.

Don bowled with the Stroh team for a time. So did Smith, who also was with the late Louie Sialoff's Pfeiffer team and doubled as counter man at Jim Tropea's Mt. Elliott Recreation.

The other charter members include Dick Weber and Ray Bluth of St. Louis; the late Bill Welu, of Houston; Carmen Salvino, of Chicago; Frank Esposito, of Paramus, N.J., and Chuck Pezzano, of Clifton, N.J.

Both Welu and Bluth have been well known to Detroit bowling followers as Billy was a commentator of the pro bowlers' TV series and Bluth bowled in Detroit many times as a member of the famed Budweiser team, of St. Louis.

Gossip already is making the rounds along the approaches that there will be many changes in the lineups of the all-star teams before another season rolls around.

One change already has been announced. Kathy Springs, the young lady who battled Ann Setlock to the final night for the right to be named the Bowling Queen, has accepted an invitation to bowl with Anita Cantaline's Jac-Ro team in the Bowlerettes and the Ladies Major next season. She will bowl as the sixth member of the team that won the Bowlerettes title in a three-way roll-off this season.

Speaking of queens, the present holder of the honor, Ann Setlock, is seriously considering giving up the chase for the honor a third time by cutting down her league appearances next season. She now is planning to bowl in only one league — the Ladies Major at Pine Tree Bowl — and that will eliminate her from the race for the role of queen. Under the rules in past years a bowler had to bowl in at least two leagues and the honor went to the girl with the highest "mean" average.

While he didn't win a title in the senior division of the Detroit men's city tournament that closed a week ago at Thunderbowl Lanes in Allen Park, Herman Jaress did set a mark that could last for a time.

He is 91 years old and he was honored at the annual Council of Delegates meeting last Sunday at Thunderbowl.

Another old timer who made a good showing was Ray Becker who signed in as 94 years old. He bowled a 257, the highest single game of the event, and a 625 that was the high series of the tournament.

The Senior Division title went to the Steinhart Five of Parkside Recreation with a handicap count of 2,894. All teams with counts of 2,907 or better, will figure in the prize list.

One of the best summer leagues this year again will be the Ladies Tuesday night classic at Garden Lanes in Garden City. This is a doubles league and most of the women who bowl in the all-star leagues in the regular season take their turns on the approaches — just to keep in condition for the long winter grind.

The Stroh team that won the Michigan Open Classic at Shafer Lanes had to take a back seat in the roll-offs for the All-Star Classic title. The Brewers could do no better than fourth place as the Tropicana team went on to win the crown.

Andy Varipapa, one of the all-time greats, will be at the Plaza Bowl in Plymouth, to help the senior citizens with their tournament on May 31 and June 1 and he promises to take a turn on the lanes despite his 81 years.

Tigers-Reds benefit game set for June 13

More than 50,000 tickets for a very special game at Tiger Stadium are in the hands of young baseball players and their coaches in the Detroit area.

They hope to sell every one of them for the Tigers' benefit exhibition game with the Cincinnati Reds, Thursday, June 13. That's because all of the money from the tickets will help support amateur baseball.

Billy Bruton, the former Tiger outfielder who is general chairman of the event, has instructed his committee to push ticket sales harder than ever this year "so we can raise more money than they did at Cincinnati."

He referred to last week's exhibition at Cincinnati when the Tigers edged the Reds, 7-6, in a similar exhibition which produced nearly $100,000 for amateur baseball in that area.

Tickets for the Tiger Stadium event will be sold at face value — $4.25, $3.25, $2.00 and $1.00 — with all proceeds retained by the amateur organization making the sales. The Tigers and Reds will pay their own games expenses.

Since the ticket purchases are donations to amateur baseball, there will be no refunds in case the game is rained out.
