Pedersen, Dean withdraw; it's now McLaren vs. Breen

By W. EDWARD WENDOVER

Plymouth Township Board Chairman J. D. McLaren and Board Member Dean Pedersen have withdrawn from the race for township clerk. McLaren, who had been the favorite to win the election, said he was withdrawing because he was not interested in the position. Pedersen, who had been the second favorite, said he was withdrawing because he was not interested in the position.

The withdrawal of McLaren and Pedersen leaves J. D. McLaren as the only candidate for township clerk. McLaren is a 40-year-old attorney who has been in the township for 10 years.

The township clerk is responsible for the township's financial affairs. McLaren has been in the township for 10 years and has been a member of the township board for 10 years.

McLaren's withdrawal from the race for township clerk was a surprise to many people. McLaren is a well-known attorney in the township and has been a member of the township board for 10 years.

It was reported that McLaren was withdrawing because he was not interested in the position. McLaren is a 40-year-old attorney who has been in the township for 10 years.

McLaren, Dean and Pedersen have withdrawn from the race for township clerk. McLaren is a 40-year-old attorney who has been in the township for 10 years.

Three had stayed in the race. Pedersen said they might have split the vote enough to assure Breen's victory.

In withdrawing both Pedersen and Dean threw their support to McLaren.

I gave my full support to J. D. McLaren, Pedersen said in his letter of withdrawal. In order to maintain a conservative but progressive form of township government.

Pedersen added that by withdrawing he hoped the vote is decided and not split among those people who as a mass wish to preserve the integrity of the community.

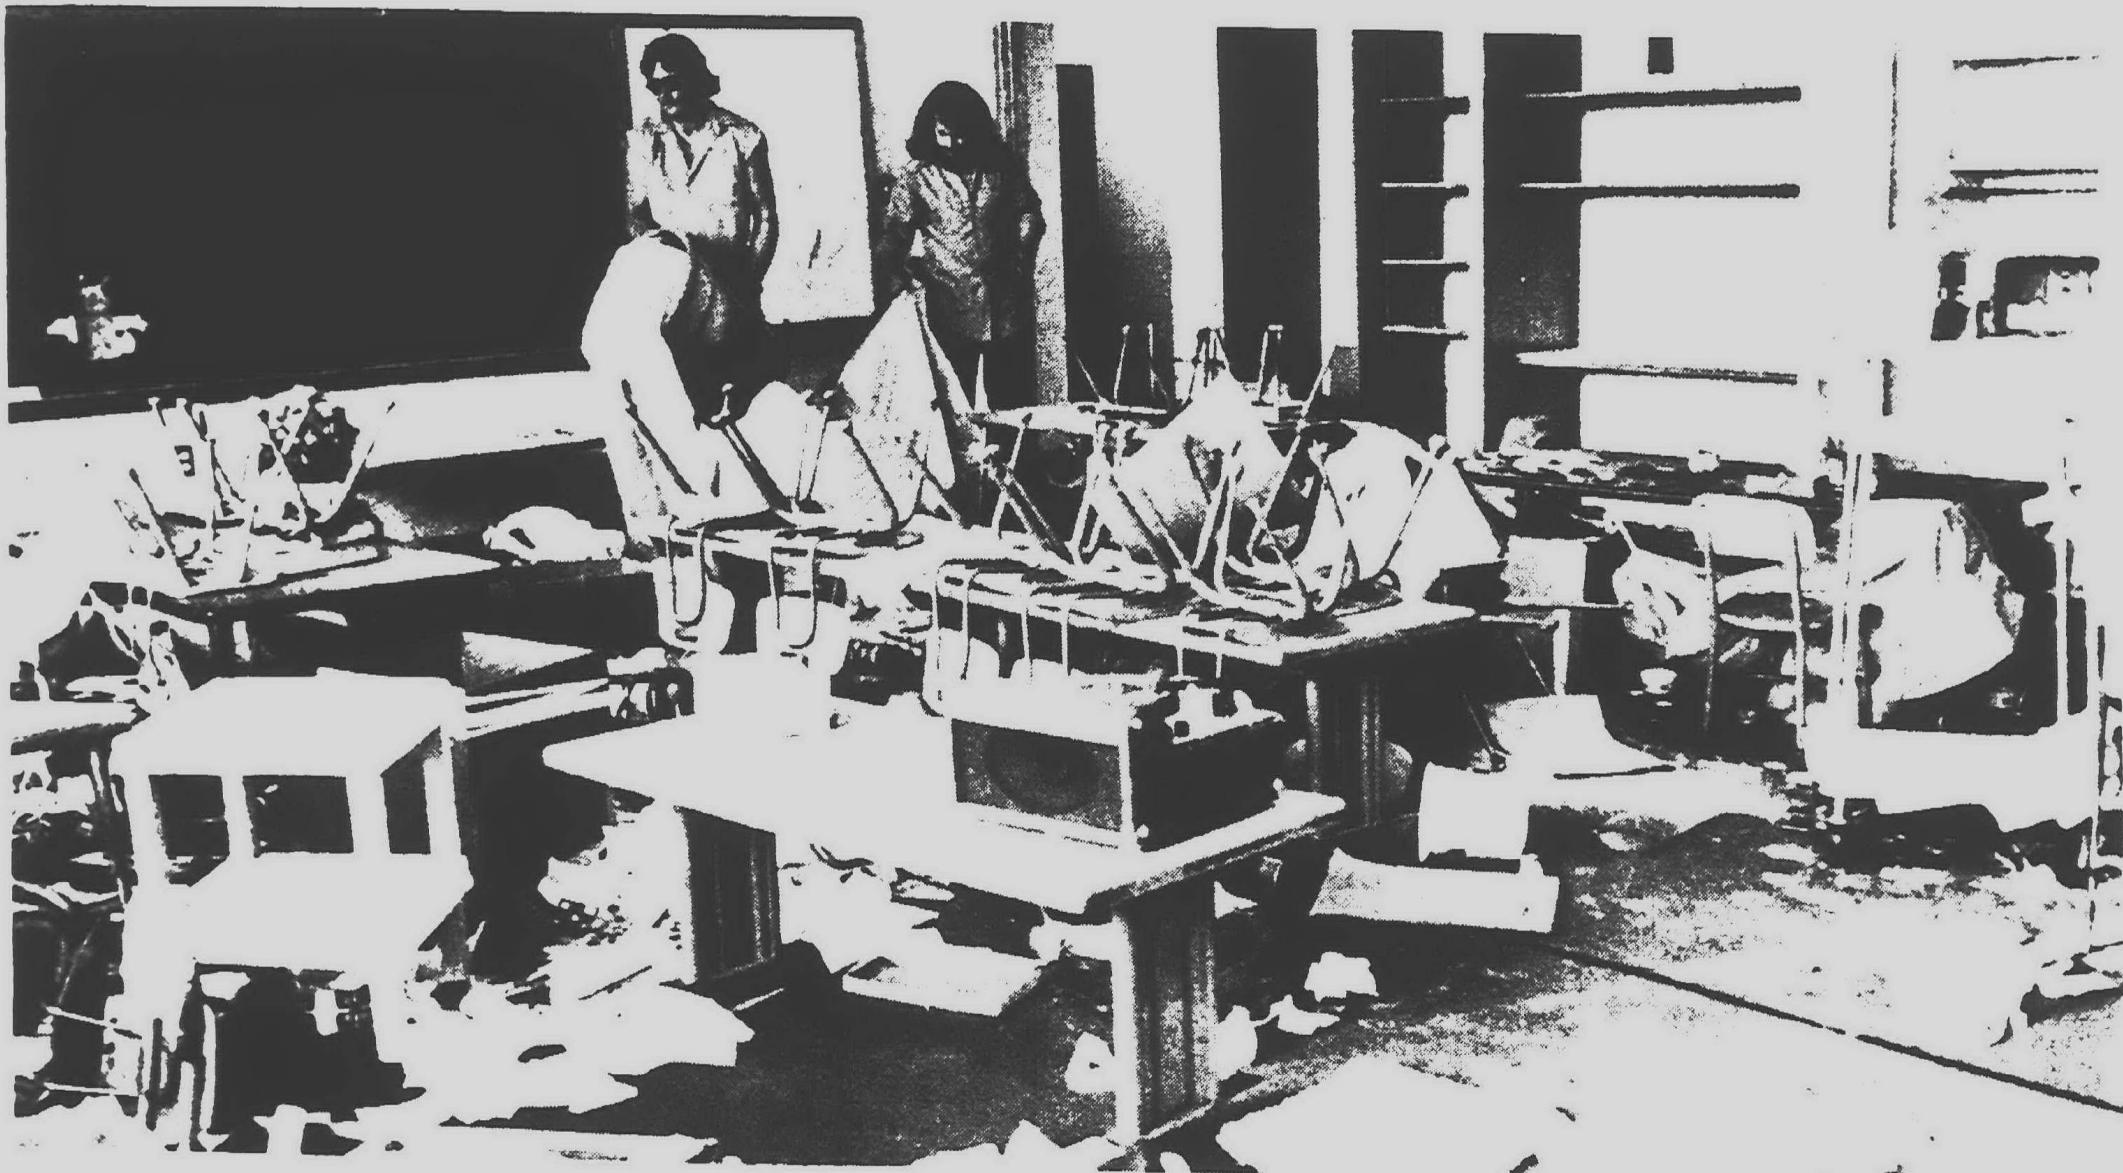

He said the Plymouth Observer & Eccentric "I feel I could do the job, but it is better to throw support to McLaren."

Dean said: "I've withdrawn in favor of J. D. McLaren."

The main purpose of my running was to try to make sure that J. D. McLaren didn't run that we didn't have real estate connected officials any more than necessary.

Breen is an attorney and is also connected with a Plymouth Township real estate company.

No other local candidates in either Plymouth or Canton townships have withdrawn from the August and November ballots.

Legal services --

What do they cost governments?

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a three-part series on what legal representation for local governments costs, how it's charged back and what role it plays — or should play — in the city of Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton townships and the Plymouth Community School District.

By HANK METTER

Legal expenses are in the news here in government circles, and some pay more for their lawyers' advice than others.

While Plymouth Township paid Attorney Dean Morgan $4,222.75 last year for his services, the township paid the fees of Sempliner, Thomas and Guth $9,048 and Plymouth paid City Attorney Charles Lowe $8,467.

Costs vary widely from town to town, but the charges tend to reflect the size of the town and the complexity of the legal problems.

Legal services cost the Plymouth Community School District about $12,000 last year.

Plymouth Township pays Morgan a monthly retainer of $80 and a standard fee of $40 per hour. He also charges for additional expenses, such as copying and long-distance calls.

Morgan has requested his retainer and hourly fee be increased in the coming year to $75 per month and $50 per hour.

The legal firm of Sempliner, Thomas and Guth represents both Canton Township and the Plymouth Community School District. Their fee is a flat rate of $40 per hour for both governmental units.

City Attorney Charles Lowe is on the municipal payroll and receives an annual retainer. The city, like other governmental clients, pays its lawyer additional charges for special activities, such as an occasional appearance in an out-of-town court.

Legal services costs

LEGAL COSTS have varied widely in the last three years, but appear to be generally increasing for local governmental units. School district figures show the district's total legal expenses, including fees for bonding attorneys and other special services.

	1971-72	1972-73	1973-74
City of Plymouth	$7,500	$7,913	$8,467.00
Plymouth Twp	$10,970.87	$16,717.99	$14,222.75
Canton Twp	$8,330.25	$4,167.50	$9,008.00
Plymouth Schools	$9,048	$18,016	$12,500.00

Legal costs are on the rise. "We have a consumer-oriented society and governments are the recipients of attack," said John Thomas, who is a partner in Sempliner, Thomas and Guth and handles most of the "pick and shovel" day-to-day legal problems of the school system.

Anything that's legal or quasi-legal is going to end up in the law office," he said. "Ten years ago that wouldn't have happened. We have much more demand for help than we used to have. There is practically no end to the kinds of things that come up."

Ten years ago government wasn't always in the role of an arbitrator, said Morgan. This is a product of urbanization. In an urbanizing society people look to their government for answers.

The city of Plymouth is already largely developed. "It's very unenviable to see your name on a summons," said Plymouth Mayor Beverly McAninch. "People are more likely than they used to be to sue the city."

I see a lot more of us consulting the city attorney than we did in the past.

Lowe agrees. "I don't think there's any question but that's the trend." Canton Township is only partially developed, but its current housing boom will be felt in the legal needs of its government.

As the number of people increases, the number of problems where we need an attorney will increase in proportion," said Township Clerk John Flodin.

Plymouth Township's legal services cost $10,970 in 1971-72, $16,717.99 in 1972-73, and $14,222.75 this year, an increase of roughly more than $3,000 in two years.

Plymouth paid City Attorney Lowe $7,500 two years ago, $7,913 last year and $8,467 this year. His salary increases were initiated by action of the city commission and largely reflect cost-of-living adjustments.

Canton Township's fees to Sempliner, Thomas and Guth totaled $8,330.25 in 1971-72, $4,167.50 in 1972-73, and $9,008 last year.

While the major portion of the Plymouth schools' legal costs are for services from Sempliner and Thomas, part of its budget often pays for such special legal help as bonding and labor arbitration.

In 1971-72 the district paid lawyers $9,048. In 1972-73 the figure ballooned to $18,016 with a long arbitration process handled by labor lawyers. Sempliner and Guth's share of the total was $6,460.

The district's 1973-74 legal costs will be about $12,500, exceeding by $2,500 the estimate school officials used in preparing their budget.

Next year School Business Administrator Ray Hoedel anticipates legal expenses of about $14,000, an increase of 40 per cent against the budgeted figure of last year.

The variety of efforts and results local governmental units get for all these fees and retainers varies as much as the costs themselves.

Lowe is the only local government lawyer who regularly attends meetings—in his case the Plymouth City Commission.

He is required by the city charter to be present. Thomas and Morgan, whose fees are based on the amount of time they spend on township business, attend meetings only when government officials request it.

If they ever tell us to be there, we'll be there," Thomas said of his firm's policy on attending meetings. "We don't feel the amount of expense would justify our being present."

"If you've got a board that's got any sense at all, they field questions themselves," said William Sempliner, Thomas' partner. "If they have some they can't field the attorney has to crack the books for an answer. It's just a waste of money to have an attorney sitting there."

Truesdell vandalized

TRUESDELL ELEMENTARY SCHOOL was damaged extensively by vandals last Wednesday night. Work crews are still cleaning paint from carpeting walls and fixtures and rearranging furniture, picking up books and papers which were strewn about. Jim Symonds, supervisor for maintenance and custodial operations for the schools, said the vandalism will cost between $1,200 and $1,500 to clean up and repair. The Wayne County Sheriff's office is investigating the damage but no one had been arrested by Friday afternoon. The three-room kindergarten school on Haggerty Road in Canton Township was to be painted and renovated beginning this week but such projects have now been put off to first repair the vandals' damage. Although most files were ransacked and many instructional supplies were ruined, apparently nothing was taken.

"They didn't go in there to take money, they just did it to raise hell," Symonds said. School had let out for summer vacation four days earlier. Cleaning up the damage are Phil Maly, Walt Kaiser, Barb Blacklock and Barb Moran, who discovered the vandalism. (Staff photos by Bob Woodring)

Chorus seeks piano

PLYMOUTH — Do you happen to have a grand piano just sitting around not being used?

Even if it isn't so grand (but is in "workable, tuneable" shape) the Plymouth Community Chorus needs it badly.

Bill Grimmer, director of the chorus, has asked for donation of a piano and says the chorus isn't fussy about the kind it is as long as it's in reasonably good condition.

Anyone wishing to donate a piano to the group may do so by contacting the Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department which sponsors the group. Grimmer says the group will move the piano.

Equivalency test now available

Schoolcraft College is administering the General Educational Development Test (GED) twice monthly at its instructional center in Garden City.

The GED test is for persons who have not completed high school and wish to obtain the equivalency diploma. They must be 18 years old and their high school class must have graduated.

The test consists of five separate exams. Individuals work at their own speed usually completing three parts the first day and the last two parts the second day.

Summer test dates are July 9-10, July 23-24, August 6-7 and August 19-20. There is a $5 charge for the test. Applicants may register in person by completing a registration form and paying the fee. The center is at 29205 Florence at Middle Belt, Garden City.

Plans are to offer GED preparation classes two nights per week at the center in the fall. The classes help persons prepare for the test. The tests may be taken until they are passed, but waiting periods between exams may be shortened by taking the preparation class.

ONCE AN examinee successfully passes the GED test, the State Department of Education issues a high school equivalency certificate. This certificate is recognized by industry, corporations and institutions of higher learning.

During the 1973 calendar year, 10 per cent of all high school diplomas awarded nationally were through GED testing. A total of 440,216 examinations were administered at 2,232 testing centers in 50 states, the District of Columbia, five outlying areas and five Canadian provinces.

The average age of all GED examinees is 25.1 years and the average years of formal schooling completed is 9.8. Of the total examined, 42 per cent indicated the test was taken to qualify for post secondary education or training.

SC tax hike action expected Wednesday

A 0.23 mill levy beyond voted millage allocation to finance Schoolcraft College's proposed operating budget for 1974-75 will be aired at a public hearing Wednesday, June 26.

The hearing will begin 7 p.m. in the administration building on campus on Haggerty between Six and Seven Mile Roads. It will be followed by the board of trustees' regular monthly meeting.

THE PROPOSED budget is for some $7.7 million, up almost $700,000

Volunteers recognized

A banquet to be held in the Fort Shelby Hotel on Thursday, June 27, will be Wayne County's salute to its dedicated volunteer corps.

Called the Hands and Hearts—The County Cares awards banquet, the noon affair is a project of the Wayne County Volunteer Programs Coordinator Program established by the county board of commissioners to encourage volunteer services throughout the county.

DURING THE banquet a special committee will select a volunteer of the year, a junior volunteer of the year (age 13 to 17) and a senior volunteer of the year (age 18 plus).

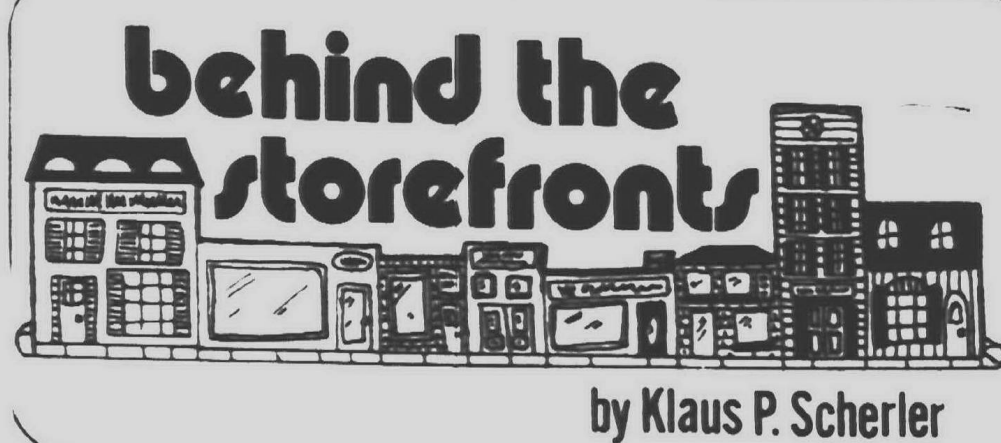

The awards will be based upon services given during 1973 and the winners will receive engraved plaques. All candidates for the awards who must be nominated by their respective agencies will receive certificates of appreciation from the board of commissioners.

Board chairman Robert E. FitzPatrick who will present the awards, said. The sole criterion for judging the nominees will be the significance of individual contribution.

ACCORDING TO program coordinator Anne duCongo. The commissioners have long recognized the contributions of those who show their involvement in the betterment of our community through aid to social agencies working with poverty-stricken individuals and families.

We are all strengthened by their unselfish unpaid devotion to the people of Wayne County and metropolitan Detroit and they deserve this tribute.

The volunteer coordinator program serves all 43 cities and townships in the county including the City of Detroit and county government.

It wasn't as dramatic as winning the Michigan Lottery, but Dave Brandon of Livonia couldn't suppress his enthusiasm when he won a 10-speed bike in a United-Rent-All contest recently.

"You should have seen him," said Norm Schupp, who runs the store on Middle Belt Road. "He jumped on the bike, took a few practice spins around my parking lot, and headed home leaving his car here."

United-Rent-All stores offer a myriad of items to rent, many of which we use infrequently, and would be expensive garage corner decorations if we had to buy them.

In fact, a brochure lists 121 items, such as animal clippers to keep your poodle well groomed and a massage roller to keep you groomed.

With traffic becoming more congested daily, Tony Piccirilli should do a smashing business in his new shop in Plymouth.

Tony has recently opened his Master Collision service at Plymouth Road and Industrial Drive. Although not wishing an increase in accident rates, he is prepared to handle up to 15 cars needing body repairs.

His new shop has ultra-modern spray equipment, a portable frame straightener, and an efficient experienced crew.

Recently promoted is Kenneth G. Highduscheck, who was named as assistant vice president of Capitol Savings and Loan Lathrup Village.

He is now collections manager and mortgage closer at the branch.

He attended Western Michigan University and has a wide variety of working experience ranging from three years as a Detroit Police Cadet to a small business loan supervisor with a bank.

Kenneth, wife Sybille, and two sons have recently taken residence in Lake Orion.

Board must stand firm to PEA's poor timing

It would seem that the Plymouth Education Association (PEA, teachers' union) has all the sense of timing of the Plymouth City Commission — none.

With only one month to go before the start of the pilot year round school program, the PEA backed teachers involved in the program in saying it wouldn't start until a contract was settled.

Why didn't PEA officials say that way back when the schools were first considering the 45 - 15 program? A good question.

The answer is that they'd have had less bargaining power.

Teacher strikes are funny things. At the strike's outset, taxpayers cry. Those teachers are paid enough already. To give them more means higher taxes.

But just let the teacher strike go for three weeks or so while those taxpayers have to put up with their kids for an additional few days and things change.

The parents are willing to give the teachers anything just to get the kids back in school and out of their hair.

No one in the PEA is talking strike. But the same feelings will rise for the parents of children who are supposed to start school July 22 if the unsettled contract delays school opening at Miller Elementary.

Teachers, like of all us, must face higher costs of food and other necessities.

Editorial

ties and thus feel a raise is warranted. It is.

But the PEA has no right to wait until the final hour to give an ultimatum like their one on the year round school.

If it means the school district must delay the start of the 45 - 15 program this year to get a fair settlement with the teachers, it should do so.

The parents and taxpayers of this district will know where to place the blame.

After all, the PEA could have said three months ago that a settled contract was a prerequisite of the 45 - 15 program. Instead it chose then to say there'd be no problems.

It is also no coincidence this move by the PEA came after the approval of the school millage issues. (Four days later to be exact.)

Why did the teachers wait until after the election?

Obviously to get the millage issues passed.

And as soon as they're bussed — bang, the PEA issues an ultimatum. That certainly is no coincidence. If the PEA were really concerned in helping the Plymouth School District — as it claims it is — it should help implement the programs which will improve education in the schools.

That's how it seemed things were going with the 45 - 15 program; the teachers said there'd be no problems.

But once the millage election is over and the time for the start of the program is at hand, the PEA sings a different tune.

The Plymouth School Board has an important decision to make — the PEA forced it into it.

If the tactics of the teachers work, the board will have to sacrifice funds for other programs to get the money.

It will be interesting — as it always is in teacher negotiations — to see the votes of the board members, who when running for election were endorsed by the PEA.

In its hopes to gain a larger settlement, the PEA waited until the last minute to say how it really felt.

That's hardly fair to children, parents and taxpayers.

If it means delaying the year round school program to get a fair teacher settlement, it unfortunately must be done.

Last minute negotiations are where the shop is given away. The PEA knows that and the school board should remember it.

It seems the PEA has been taking lessons in bad timing from the Plymouth City Commission.

Berdan, Shearer among early Plymouth notables

PLYMOUTH — Theo Lyon was not the only early Plymouthite to establish a reputation in his chosen field. An inventor and a state senator are among nineteenth century notables from Plymouth.

Hiram Berdan—Inventor
Among the first children born in Plymouth was Hiram Berdan, inventor, top rifle marksman and major general in the Civil War.

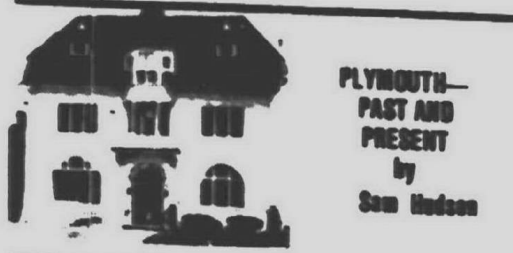

The date of Berdan's birth, and how he happened to be born here, are not clear. Hiram's achievements and the Berdan family are mentioned in a Wayne County Historical article by Fred Carlisle in 1890. "The Cyclopaedia of American Biographies" (Boston, 1897) says Hiram was born here in 1823. The place is probably right, but the date can't be because Plymouth was not settled until 1825.

Hiram's parents must have banded him back east shortly after he was born. His father was an extensive landowner and stock raiser near Rochester, N.Y., and Hiram's boyhood seems to have been spent there.

Hiram Berdan and his parents may not have stayed in Plymouth long, but other Berdons did. From 1833 to 1835, a Berdan was collector of township taxes. In 1860 a Berdan owned one of the two livery stables in town. In 1866 a Berdan was one of the constables. And in the 1880s a Berdan was associated with the Hotel Plymouth, which stood at the corner of Main and Ann Arbor Street (now Trail).

Hiram Berdan attended Hobart College in Geneva, N.Y., where he excelled in mathematics and dabbled in ingenious machinery. While in his 20s, Berdan roughed out an idea which led to the invention of the reaping machine. During the same period, he invented a mechanical bakery, put into operation in five cities, but opposed by the bakers' unions.

A mechanical engineer in New York City when the Civil War started, Berdan proceeded to invent the Berdan rifle, which was used by the U.S. Government, and a cap to the metal cartridge which was used throughout the world.

Berdan had been the top rifle shot in the U.S. for 15 years prior to the Civil War. When the hostilities started, he conceived the idea of forming special regiments of outstanding marksmen to serve in the Union army. In 1861, he organized the 1st U.S. Sharpshooters and was commissioned the regiment's colonel. Berdan's regiment, the most famous of the Civil War sharpshooting units, served with distinction in the campaigns of the Army of the Potomac. Among its units, Companies C, I and K were from Michigan.

Berdan asked that his men be furnished the Sharps breech-loading rifles. His superiors insisted that he be issued muzzle-loading Springfield. President Lincoln personally intervened in the dispute, influenced by a spectacular exhibition of marksmanship by Berdan, and Sharps rifles were issued.

Berdan, elevated to major — general, retired from the service in 1864. He went to Russia to oversee the production of his sharpshooting rifles for use by the Russian army. In 1868, he returned to the U.S. to sue the government for infringing on his patent in making its Springfield rifle. In 1892 he was awarded a $100,000 judgment.

Berdan also invented a torpedo, a torpedo boat, a long distance range finder, and a "twin-screw armored, semi-submarine gunboat." He died in 1893. There is no record that he ever returned to the place of his birth.

Jonathan Shearer — State Senator

In 1836, 11 years after the community was founded, 40-year-old Jonathan Shearer moved his family to Plymouth from Coleraine, Mass. The year after he arrived here Shearer was elected township supervisor, a position he also held in 1847 and 1848.

"A seventh son," and of Revolutionary War stock, Shearer was a successful farmer who took prizes at county and state fairs. He was one of the organizers of the Michigan Agricultural Society and one of the founders of the State Pioneer Society, of which he was the president in 1876.

From 1838 to 1841, Shearer was chairman of the Wayne County Commission. In 1841, he was elected to the state senate, serving three sessions. As a state senator, Shearer showed continuing interest in Michigan's school system. He was among those who secured the establishment of the State Normal School (now Eastern Michigan University) at Ypsilanti.

In 1851, Shearer was a delegate from Wayne County to the State Constitutional Convention of 1867. The revised state constitution, written at that convention, was rejected at the polls largely because the people opposed three of its sections: higher salaries for state officials, municipal aid for railroads, and authorization for Negro suffrage. The latter did not come into existence in Michigan until 1870.

Shearer died in September, 1881. A photo, taken prior to 1871, shows a group of Plymouth citizens at "Shearer's Cut" (see page 25 of Pictures of Plymouth, Past and Present). They were assembled for a tree-planting ceremony prior to the establishment of a road bed for Plymouth's first railroad line. I assume the picture was taken in the vicinity of Sheldon Road and the present C & O railroad tracks. This may have been part of Senator Jonathan Shearer's property in the township of Plymouth.

By MARGARET MILLER

"Giraffes are so curious, they come in quite close. When they bat those eyelashes, you just want to pet them."

"And the wart hogs are so ugly—a mother and a brood of homely duplicates really cracked me up."

"Then there was a bull impala with his harem. He was going bananas trying to protect all his cows. Absolutely gorgeous."

THE TRAVEL REPORT comes from Fran Austin of Livonia, who has found her perfect vacation in the safari of East Africa.

Ms. Austin, who works as secretary to the owner of Centaur Farm Stables, West Bloomfield, has made the trip twice, the second time this spring.

"I just had to get back to my lions and my elephants and my cheetahs and giraffes and all of them," she said.

"The wonderful animals, and the interesting people from all over the world, makes it a vacation without any equal."

FRAN AUSTIN discovered Africa through a friend even more smitten by the country than she is—the friend went there to stay.

"We used to vacation together in Hawaii," Ms. Austin said, "and then she and her husband started off on a world tour. I told her when she found the perfect place to let me know."

A wire "This is it" came from East Africa a few months later, and Ms. Austin arranged to join her friend on safari.

By the time they had completed their first tour of the luxurious lodges that house safari parties, her friend had decided to stay, and she's now headmistress of a school for the retarded and arranges tours on the side. Ms. Austin visited her on the second visit, which helped some with the expenses of a quite-costly trip. Air fare, she said, was $1,061 this spring, up over $200 from two years ago. But the all-inclusive cost of seven days in the safari lodges is $200, comparable to similar accommodations here.

THE EXPENSE was well worth it to revisit the animals, Ms. Austin vows, and adds:

"I want to go again just as soon as I can afford it."

When you safari in Africa, she said, you stay in several lodges and usually there are a couple of tent camps on the jungle tour.

"The lodges are really beautiful and the meals are mammoth and excellent," she reported.

"They call you in the morning at 6 a.m. and tea is ready then. You want to get out by about 7:15 for the early animal runs."

Travel is by Volkswagen bus, which easily holds seven people and their luggage. Usually the party goes on to the next lodge or camp in the late afternoon.

"And you're usually ready for bed by 9," Ms. Austin said. "You're exhausted."

Extreme safety precautions are taken by those leading the safaris, she added.

"No one goes anywhere on foot," she said, "and even at the lodges you have a guard with you if you have to step outside the enclosures."

ANIMALS SHE HAS SIGHTED include hippopotamuses, baboons, hyenas, and wild hunting dogs as well as lions, elephants, giraffes and wart hogs.

"And ostriches are all over the place and there are dozens of beautiful birds," Ms. Austin said. "They are so brightly colored, I kept wanting to take them home with me and show the brown sparrows here and ask why they don't look like that."

Beautiful flowers also bloomed in the area, she said, "but no one could tell me what they were."

MS. AUSTIN'S main souvenirs of the African trips are books, photographs and her own snapshots of her beloved animals.

"I feel I learned a great deal of ecology that began with the safaris and has continued with reading," she said. "For example, in the area I visited all the animals eat at a different level, from the wart hogs burrowing in the mud to the giraffes nibbling the tree tops."

"And the predator animals kill the sick and the weak individuals of the animals that are their prey, so that improves the rest of the herd."

IT BOTHERS Ms. Austin that more people in this country aren't more interested in the animal kingdom. "There is so much to learn from the animals and about their preservation," she said.

She also found it exciting to talk to other visitors in the area—a wide cross-section of Africans, Asians, Europeans and British with not a great many other Americans.

"They all seemed so well-read," she said, "and everyone I met was interested in learning more about America. They have some misconceptions about our country."

FRAN AUSTIN would love to be able to spend three months or so in East Africa, but has reservations about making a move there as her friend did.

"I have to admit I don't think I could adjust to the inconveniences for very long," she said. "I wouldn't want to be far from a hairdresser, for instance."

But though she wouldn't want to live there, she's sure she'll be back for another visit.

Friendship and faith that span the long years

BY MARGARET MILLER

The story of Mrs. Rose Lahnala and Mrs. Bertha Igrison is one of friendship and service and acceptance and faith—and reunion after long years. Its fruition can be seen this week in activities of the Vacation Bible School in Nankin Mills Baptist Church, 32430 Ann Arbor Trail, Westland.

But for the beginning of the story, you go back about 30 years to the Dearborn neighborhood that surrounded a little Baptist church.

Mrs. Lahnala, now a Garden City wife and mother, then was Rose Kachaturoff, a little girl who had battled tuberculosis of the hip most of her short life and had to wear a body cast.

Mrs. Igrison, then Bertha Lati, was a young woman training for home mission work and helping in the community church.

SHE WORKED WELL with all the kids in the neighborhood, but developed a special fondness for the little girl who had to be carried to church because she couldn't walk.

"She was like a second mother to me," Rose recalled. "It was early in World War II, and my mother went to work in a factory. It was Bertha who taught me so many things, and taught the other children to accept a handicapped person."

"After my cast was removed, we'd go on hikes sometimes, and she showed the children how to make a sling and carry me part way."

BERTHA, FOR HER part, remembers her young friend as amazingly patient and cheerful despite her handicap.

"There was the time we went to visit a farm and got caught in a snowstorm," the older woman said. "I was so worried, because it was the car she was in that got stuck. But she was the calmest of all of us."

"You taught me God would take care of me—so I've never been afraid," Rose came back.

THE LITTLE GIRL grew up, and Rose Kachaturoff worked for a time as an insurance investigator, though the pain of her continuing handicap forced her to resign after several years.

Eighteen years ago she married Fred Lahnala and bore two children, Frank, now 16, and Lori, 11.

The mission worker went on to other church assignments—Omaha, Denver, Buffalo, Kenosha, Wis., New Jersey, always working in Christian centers.

Eventually her work took her to Anadarko, Okla. where she spent years working among American Indians.

Then, recently she renewed acquaintance with Emanuel Igrison, whom she had known when both were young people at the Second Rumanian Baptist Church in east side Detroit.

He was widowed, and after a courtship by mail they were married in April 1973, and she retired and came to Detroit.

ONLY ONCE in the intervening years had the two women's lives touched.

Rose's crippled leg, shorter than her good one, had worsened with time and two pregnancies. After the birth of her second child she was faced with the choice of life in a wheelchair or amputation of the leg.

She picked the latter, "because I didn't want to be a burden to other people."

And having made the decision, she procured the address of her old friend through a cousin who had kept in touch and wrote to Bertha, telling her of the surgery.

"I wanted to tell her I had had my leg amputated and I felt sure I had done the right thing and I didn't ask anyone but the Lord," she said. "That was what she had taught me."

THE STORY might have ended there if it hadn't been for the Suburban Chorale.

Rose, a busy suburbanite hardly bothered by the little matter of an artificial leg, had been a member of that organization for women singers for several years. It wasn't surprising, Bertha also had taught her to sing.

Last December the chorale put on its Christmas concert in Clarenceville High School, and Bertha and her husband were in the audience.

She noticed the dark-haired woman among the singers and told her husband "she looked like one of my girls." When the chorale members came off the stage she could see Rose's limp and then she was sure.

"WE FOUND EACH OTHER during the reception after the concert," Rose said, "and we talked a lot and cried a lot. Then I invited her to come and hear me sing the next Sunday in my church."

The following Sunday was Mrs. Igrison's first visit to Nankin Mills Baptist, but not her last.

She and her husband accepted the church's invitation to lead its week of Bible school. "And everyone who comes will be richly rewarded with the chance to share their wisdom," Mrs. Lahnala said.

Friendship and courage and service and faith—and the luck of a chance meeting.

Misiak rites held in St. Genevieve

Colleen Murphy and Richard Misiak exchanged marriage vows in a recent ceremony in St. Genevieve Catholic Church in Livonia, with the Rev. Ferdinand Wolber officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. George Murphy of Flamingo Avenue, Livonia, and Mr. and Mrs. Casimir Misiak of Deer Creek Lane, Plymouth.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full-length gown with daisy trim and a white bouffant veil. She carried a bouquet of daisies.

Cheryl Murphy of Redford Township, her sister-in-law, was matron of honor. She wore a pink dotted swiss dress with a white collar and lace trim and carried mixed daisies.

The bridesmaids were Patty Eighmey of Ypsilanti, cousin of the bride, Eva and Sandy Misiak of Plymouth, sisters of the bridegroom, Irene Land of Redford Township and Diane Burke of Livonia.

Michael Dever of Farmington was best man and the ushers were Stephen Fleming of Farmington, Larry Deamud of Livonia, George Murphy Jr. of Redford Township and Doug Murphy of Livonia, brothers of the bride, and Greg Cui of Atlanta, Ga., cousin of the bridegroom.

A reception in the St. Francis K. of C. hall in Farmington followed the ceremony, and the newlyweds' honeymoon trip was to Florida. They will live in Plymouth.

The new Mrs. Misiak is a 1973 graduate of Schoolcraft College and employed by the American Automobile Association as a travel consultant. Her husband, a 1973 graduate of Eastern Michigan University, is employed in the circulation department of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

Lee-Bennett

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Lee of Hathaway Avenue, Livonia, announce the engagement of their daughter, Fathe, to Rick Bennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Bennett of Beck Road, Plymouth. The bride-elect is a 1972 graduate of Franklin High School and employed by General Motors Corp. Her fiancé graduated from Plymouth High School in 1970 and works for General Finance Corp. They plan to be married May 24, 1975.

Kubinski-Nielsen

Mr. and Mrs. Thaddeus Kubinski of Garden City announce the engagement of their daughter, Christine R., to Eric E. Nielsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. E.D. Nielsen of Grand Rapids. The bride-elect is a graduate of Providence Hospital School of Nursing and is employed by Sinai Hospital in Detroit. Her fiancé holds an MBA degree from Michigan State University and works for Chrysler Corp. A late August wedding is planned.

Barnstable-Wildish

Mrs. Alice Barnstable of Garden Avenue, Garden City, announces the engagement of her daughter, Brenda Gail, to Steven S. Wildish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Wildish of Central Avenue, Garden City. The bride-elect is employed in the accounting department of the Art Centre Hospital in Detroit and her fiancé is associated with the architectural firm of Ralls, Hamill, Becker and Carne. No wedding date has been set.

Sewing classes begin June 24

Varied sewing classes will be offered beginning the week of June 24 in the J.L. Hudson Co. store in the Westland Center.

Beginning classes will be offered, and there will be specialized instruction in knits, tailoring, making pants for women and men, making blazers and sport coats, pattern adjustment, sewing for the home, crewel and needlepoint and knitting and crocheting.

Ten classes in sewing, knitting, crocheting and crewel embroidery also are planned. Registration information is available in the store's pattern department.

Deborah Wills weds Louis Speen

Deborah Kay Wills was married recently to Louis Allen Speen II in Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church of Plymouth with the Rev. Francis C. Byrne officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Wills Jr. of Orangelawn Street, Plymouth. The bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. A. Leo Speen of Main Street, Plymouth.

The bride wore a floor length gown of white organza and a long flowing lace appliqued mantilla. She carried a cascade of white sweetheart roses, baby's breath and touches of ivy.

Sandy Heilman, her maid of honor wore a floor-length gown of ivory with pink and aqua flowers and ivory strawhats and carried a bouquet of miniature pink carnations, white roses and baby's breath.

Bridesmaids were Cathy Speen, sister of the groom, Tami Robinson, cousin of the bride, and Ginger O'Senko of Livonia.

Keith Dethloff served as best man and the ushers were Charles E. Wills III, brother of the bride; Bert Speen, brother of the bridegroom, and John Czeryba, friend of the groom.

MRS. LOUIS ALLEN SPEEN II (Deborah Kay Wills)

Donna Preston was flower girl and David Speen was ring bearer. Both the bride and bridegroom attended Plymouth High School. They will make their home in Westland.

Leanne Richeson wed in St. Paul

In a recent double-ring ceremony in St. Paul United Presbyterian Church of Livonia, Leanne Marie Richeson was married to James Edward Prescott.

The Rev. William A. McGaughey officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus A. Richeson of Vargo Street, Livonia, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert V. Prescott Sr. of Saginaw.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white organza gown with an illusion neckline and empire waist. Her floor length mantilla was of chantilly lace and she carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses, aqua tipped carnations, baby's breath and ivy.

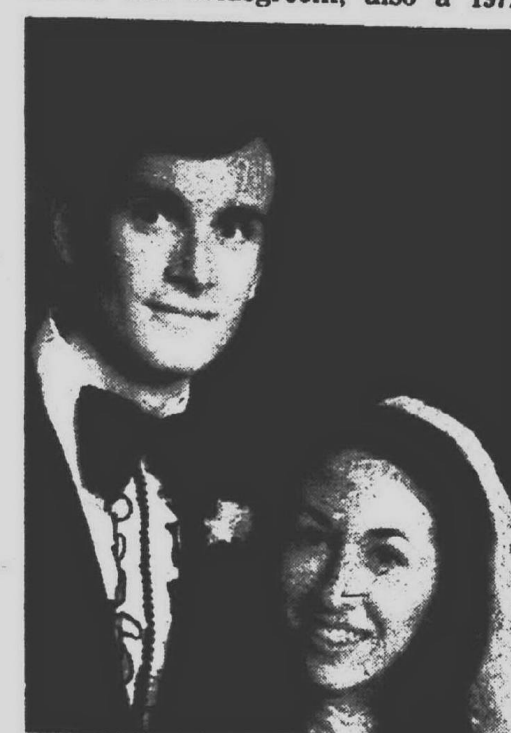

Her matron of honor, Mrs. Susan Lange, wore an aqua dotted swiss gown.

Her attendants wore aqua dotted swiss gowns and carried aqua-tipped carnations, baby's breath and yellow daisy pompons. Mrs. Susan Lange was matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Pamela Dameron, the bride's cousin, Mrs. Brenda Reagan and Mrs. Nina Richeson.

Robert V. Prescott Jr., brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The ushers were David Richeson, brother of the bride, Jeffrey Reagan and Ronald Schmidt.

After a wedding trip to Toronto the couple will settle in Columbus, Ga.

The bride is a 1972 graduate of Central Michigan University and a Spanish translator for Ford Export Corporation. The bridegroom, also a 1972

Franklin Berry's nips Thurston

Paul Hunt's Franklin Berry's summer baseball crew remained unbeaten in the Mack American Blue Division with a 13 inning 4-2 decision over Thurston.

The Franklin team is now 2-0 in the loop while Thurston is winless in two outings.

It was a "big whiff" day for the Thurston bats as three Franklin hurl-ers chalked up 19 strikeouts in the 13 inning affair.

Rich Gaber started on the Franklin mound and went the first 11 innings, gave up six hits and struck out 11. Mickey Fisher then worked part of the 12th inning and winning hurler Jamie Knapp finished up. Knapp gave up one hit, struck out four and picked up the win.

Jeff Trachsel and Bob Koll worked the Thurston mound with Franklin collecting 12 hits as Koll suffered the defeat.

Franklin got off to a 1-0 lead in the second when Gaber singled, Cliff Davidson hit into a fielder's choice and Tom Tresick doubled to score Davidson.

A solo homer by Mike Kuscher in the third for Thurston tied it at one all and that's the way it remained until the top of the 12th.

Franklin pushed across a score when Knapp walked, stole second and third and dashed in on a throwing error by the catcher.

But Thurston bounced right back in its half of the inning to stay alive and did about everything but actually win the contest.

Jeff Krzywada singled and Dennis

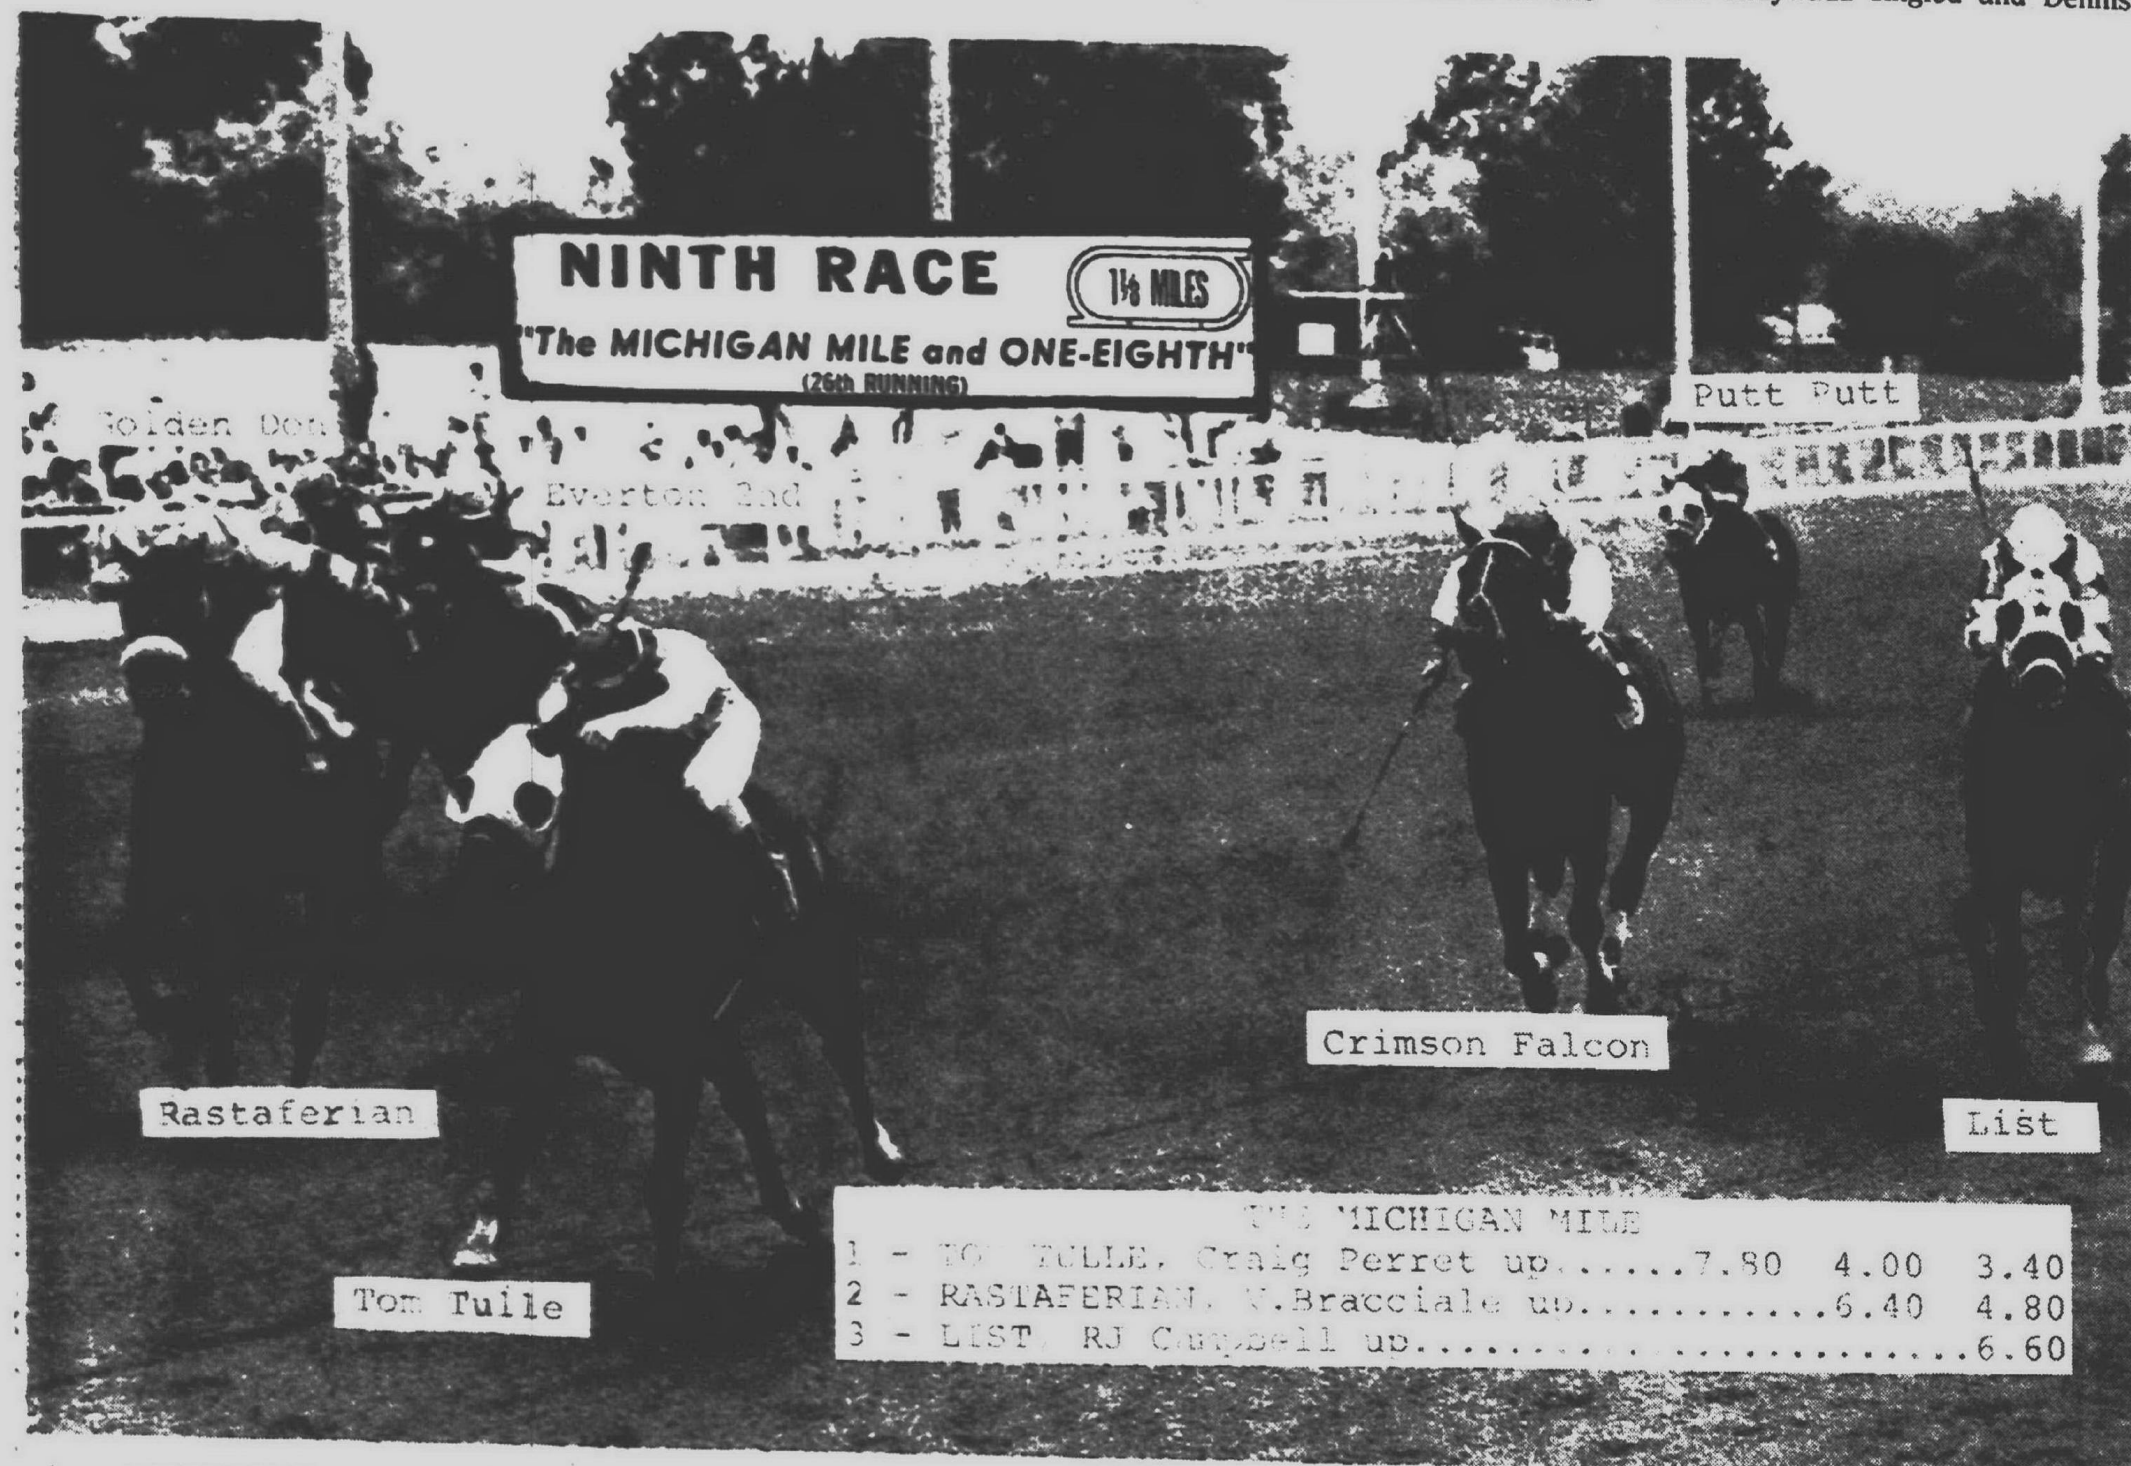

Litwinczuk was hit by a pitch. Kuscher then singled in Krzywada but was tossed out at second attempting to score.

With one out and the winning run at third in Litwinczuk, Coach Hunt came in with Knapp to relieve Fisher and Knapp struck out the next two batters to get out of the jam.

The top of the 13th saw Franklin finally put it away. Ron Vanderlenden doubled and scored on a hit by Joe Pollard who wound up moving to second on a toss to the plate and stealing third and scoring on a bunt single by Dan Longeway.

Thurston threatened in the last of the 13th when Roy tripled with one out but Knapp let him sit right there on a groundout and strikeout.

WINNING THE MICHIGAN MILE AND ONE-EIGHTH at the Detroit Race Course Saturday was W.A. Lofton's Tom Tulle with Craig Perret up. Rastafarian finished second and the winner of the Mile Prep, List, placed third. Tom Tulle clocked in at 1:50 2/5 and the Mile crowd of 16,972 bet $1,697,764. (Staff photo by Tom Donoghue)

Thurston names cage coach

BILL CROTEAU
New Thurston Coach

"I am coming into this thing with the idea of turning the entire program around," commented Bill Croteau who has just been appointed head varsity basketball coach at Thurston High.

"Thurston's basketball history is a thing of the past now," he added. The 41-year-old Croteau is coming off a five-year stint of coaching basketball at Pierce Junior High in Redford Township where his cagers compiled a 66-18 mark.

Now, with the firing of Dan Bennett, Croteau is making the step up. In the two seasons that Bennett directed the Eagles, Thurston managed only 11 wins in 46 games.

Croteau, who was one of the applicants for the varsity job two years ago, is ready to take on this challenge.

"Thurston Principal Jack Harms told me the program needed a change and what I had to offer was needed," said Croteau.

"It is going to take three to five years to build up a respectable program at Thurston," he added. "I will not be stressing winning right off the bat."

"My first challenge is to change attitude and instill some pride into basketball at Thurston. I guess you could say that I will be attempting to get all that 'corny' stuff back and I really have to believe that the kids want it this way."

Bill is married and he and his wife Marilyn have two boys, Bruce, 17, and Paul, 14.

The new coach attended Catholic Central High where he graduated in '51, with football and all-city baseball honors.

It was then on to Wayne State where he lettered as a pitcher his junior and senior years. Bill obtained his BS in physical education in '55 and his masters in '59 in guidance and counseling.

After three years in the Detroit system it was to Fisher Elementary from '58 to '64 and then on to Pierce where he will continue as a physical education instructor.

Croteau runs a recreation program for Redford in the summer and has already set the groundwork for his cage camp which will open July 15. The Nov. 29 opener against Livonia Stevenson can't be far behind.

"Communication all the way down the line will be the key," he finished. "It will have to be a bootstrap kind of thing."

Turf Tips, Quips

By Doc Minard

Harness racing switches from the highly successful Hazel Park meeting to Northville Downs Wednesday where the suburban half-mile plant will open its 31st summer meeting.

And because of the way Racing Commissioner Leo Shirley doled out dates this year, the new Northville meeting will be its shortest in history, extending over 24 nights. It starts on June 24 and continues nightly, with the exception of Sundays, through July 23.

Even though its going to be short summer, the 'Downs will present the feature of the meeting Friday night when the stars of the rich and colorful Canadian-American pacing series swing in for a $12,500 stake.

THE CAN-AM series, which attracted 105 of the finest young pacers in North America, opened at Blue Bonnets Raceway in Montreal on May 5 and will wind up at Batavia Downs, near Buffalo, N.Y., on Aug. 16 with a $40,250 championship.

Realizing he'll have to present the best at all times to keep up interest in such a short meeting, Racing Secretary Harry Peterson plans to schedule an outstanding 10-race card each night.

Of course it isn't going to be that easy since Peterson will have to have the horses to go with the races and oftentimes that doesn't happen. However, with only 24 nights from the end of the Wolverine campaign it is thought many of the better stables will ship to Northville.

That won't make Peterson unhappy but it may cause some dissent from the Michigan Harness Horsemen's Association which has long figured it should furnish most of the horses for the Northville and Jackson meetings and a goodly representation to the meets at the larger tracks.

As matters stand, Peterson has received stall applications from the McMurray brothers, Don and Wally, Joe Adamsky, Tom Harmer, Jim Kennedy who is handling the strong Ed O'Hare stable, Jim and Tom Merriam, Harold Fisher, Don Hall, Jim McGarty and the Niles brothers, Howard and Willard.

POST TIME WILL be 8:30 p.m. nightly and the track will feature the nightly double, a perfecta on the fourth race and trifectas on the seventh and 10th events.

Jackson Raceway closed its longest meeting last Tuesday and it was far from being a financial success even though President and General Manager Leon A. Slavin looked at the final figures with a degree of optimism.

The track wound up with a 12 per cent dip in attendance and a nine per cent drop in betting from last fall's figures. Total wagering for the 63 nights was $9,158,715 for a nightly average of $142,069. The turnstile count was 151,527 for the meeting for an average of 2,406.

Slavin, who has been on the ailing list, took off for Florida Saturday and plans to remain there until shortly before the start of the winter meeting in late October at Northville Downs.

"WE FELT THE meeting this spring was about as good as one could expect considering the weather," Slavin said. "We hope to do much better when we take over at Northville Downs for the winter dates."

Slavin expects to take things easy for the next several months with the expectations of building up his health. He became ill during the closing nights of the winter meeting at Northville Downs and hasn't recovered fully.

Adray survives ITM split loop in Class A Federal

Adray remained a notch off the front-running pace in the Class A Detroit Federal baseball league in a twin-bill split with ITM. Adray has a 6-3 mark behind Detroit Jet Box with a 7-2 mark.

ITM fell to Adray in the opener, 3-0, but came back to score a 2-0 win.

Pete Kreher chalked up the win for Adray with a two-hitter to his credit, walking one and striking out five in recording his first win against one loss.

Adray collected eight hits with Dino Syrios taking the loss.

Adray scored one in the first when Stu Rose walked, Curt Taylor singled and Pat Perino singled in Rose. The third stanza saw Adray up it to 2-0 when Chip Rose was safe on an error, Tom Boutin walked and Frank Corey singled in Chip Rose.

Bentley JV's blank Stevenson, 6-0

Bentley High's junior varsity, Detroit Mutuel, shutout Stevenson (Michigan National Bank) 6-0.

It was victory No. 1 for William Hodges' team against one loss.

Brian Butcher went the route for the triumph and gave up two hits, walked two and struck out 11. Taking the loss for the Stevenson junior team was Bob Burroughs with the Mutuel squad banging out five hits.

Detroit Mutuel came up with two three-run explosions in the third and seventh innings.

The third saw Russ Hodges draw a walk, Kevin Miceli was safe on an error and Hodges was balked home with Miceli moving to second. Mike Robbins singled in Miceli and Butcher singled to score Robbins.

The team from Bentley iced the win in the seventh with three runs on two hits, with two walks and an error opening the door. Mark Hostetter began it with a walk. Hodges drew his second free pass and Miceli was safe on an error to fill the sacks. Robbins singled in two runs and Butcher delivered a hit to push it to 6-0.

Livonia Y offering backyard-pool program

The Livonia Family Y is offering swim instructions in a pool in your neighborhood.

Classes will be conducted by qualified YMCA personnel with emphasis on water safety and swimming skills. Forty-five minute classes will be limited ed to 10 students, and will run three times a week, Tuesdays-Wednesdays and Thursdays for two week periods.

Four sessions are planned for the summer with class levels set at beginner and advance beginner. The sessions are June 24-July 5; July 8-July 19; July 22-August 2; and August 5-16.

Adray survives ITM split loop in Class A Federal

A single by Pete Cravens and double by Craig Sylvester made it 3-0 in the sixth.

The tables turned on Adray in game two as Ken Bruchanski handcuffed it on four hits, walking two and striking out seven.

Keith Carroll and Tony Kaseta worked the mound with starter Carroll taking the loss.

The St. Clair County Kennel Club is hosting an all breed puppy match on Sunday, June 30, at the St. Clair Fairgrounds.

Entries will be taken from 9 a.m. with judging set to kick off at 11 a.m. Entries close at noon for all obedience

A two-bagger by Jim Ford and single by Mike Berg got ITM off to a 1-0 lead in the first. In the top of the ninth off reliever Kaseta, ITM put together a walk, sacrifice and hit by Mike Perino to make it 2-0, and that was the game.

Next Tuesday's (June 25) action has Adray against Macomb CC at Catholic Central at 6 p.m.

Junior golf clinic set for Whispering Willows

The seventh annual junior golf clinic will open at Livonia's Whispering Willows Golf Club on Monday, July 1, and run for four consecutive weeks. In announcing plans for the event, Pro Gary Whitener indicated he and his staff will start the clinic with instructions in fundamentals including proper grip, stance and swing. After three weeks of practice and drills, the staff will sponsor a tournament for all juniors participating and award trophies to the winners.

The course also includes talks and demonstrations on proper golf etiquette. Whitener believes this is just as important for the young players as all of the other instructions.

Fees for the four week clinic are $2 per lesson and parents may sign up for their youngsters in advance. This can be accomplished by calling or stopping by the course. Juniors who do not sign up in advance must report to Whispering Willows 20 minutes before the start of the opening session at 9 a.m. on July 1.

By W.W. EDGAR

Despite the intrusion of several other sports for the summer season, bowling is more than holding its own throughout the entire metropolitan area. And, setting the pace as usual, are the lanes in Observeland.

A survey during the past week revealed that, up to this time, the summer leagues are on a par with the number a year ago. And, now that some of the early vacationers have returned the summer league roster is certain to reach new heights.

"We are doing a little better than last year," is the answer of most proprietors. "and we find the mixed leagues are on the increase."

There was a time, not too long ago, when most proprietors were satisfied with one league each evening. Now, the number has increased to two and three a day in many cases. This has been brought about by the growth in women's leagues that still bowl in the mornings.

One of the most unusual of the summer setups is at Garden Lanes, the house with 16 lanes on each side of the lobby. Now, for the summer, the house is divided in another manner with the women bowling on one side and the men on the other. This is an unusual mixed league.

Mary Mohaci, the Livonia school teacher, who ruled as the Detroit bowling "Queen" several years ago, was returned to the throne room by the Detroit Women's Bowling Association at the annual awards dinner Thursday night.

Using a new point system, combined with a bowler's showing in the city tournament, Mary landed on top and was pronounced the "Queen".

She also was given a court this time, with Ann Setlock, a former queen, and Pat Lisowski as her companions.

In former years the queen's role was reserved for the woman who attained the highest "mean" average in the two top leagues in the area. This system now has been changed to include all sanctioned women bowlers who hold membership in the Association.

Incidentally, Mary bowled like a "queen" last week in the Garden Lanes singles when she posted a strong middle game of 265 in a 685 series. Her closest rival was Ann Setlock with 619.

So great was the interest in the senior citizens tournament of Plaza Bowl two weeks ago when Andy Varipapa was the honored guest that plans are now under way to make it an annual affair.

Of course, Andy can't always be the honored guest, but some nationally famous oldtimer will be on hand.

PERHAPS JACK BLACK should do all of his bowling during the summer months.

Carrying a 174 average during the winter at Westland Bowl, he came through with a 717 series the other night. To break the barrier he put together games of 248, 267 and 202.

In the Westland Mixed League Doug Lackey boasts high series with a 583 and Harry Smith has high game with a 236. On the women's side Millie Ellis has high game with 193 and shares high with Linda Staggs at 507.

The scoring this far at Country Lanes is a bit unusual, too.

For instance, in the men's trip, Chuck Hinman is high with a 258 game and Gary Durocher has the top series with 653.

Tiger Free-Cap Day is July 17

The well-outfitted young Detroit Tiger fan will "complete the cycle" when he visits Tiger Stadium on free-cap day, Sunday, July 7.

He or she will receive, as they enter for the 1:30 p.m. game with the Chicago White Sox, a free baseball cap which is a replica of the Tiger headgear. That will complete the gift day program for '74 with helmets, baseballs and bats handed out previously.

Requirements for free cap day are a cap for every boy or girl 14 or under on a full price ticket.

Levin speaking here Wednesday

CANTON—Sander Levin, Democratic candidate for governor, will speak before the Democratic Club of Canton at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Plymouth Canton High School Cafeteria on Canton Center Road, south of Joy Road.

The meeting, which is open to all residents of the Plymouth-Canton area, also will be devoted to developing an election platform for the Democratic Club's team of candidates in Canton's Aug. 6 primary.

"We hope for a large turnout so that the people of Canton can help us develop a platform which is representative of all township citizens," said Robert Greenstein, Democratic Club president.

Legal service costs

of the attorney's private practice, Plymouth Township's problems take up an average of about 4.5 to 5 hours of Morgan's week.

Partners of Sempliner, Thomas and Guth bill Canton Township for about four hours per week.

Lowe estimated that he spends about 10 to 12 hours per week on Plymouth legal matters, which would break down to an hourly cost to the city for his time of a little less than $20.

Much of the time attorneys spend in the service of governmental units goes for the preparation of written opinions on questions which arise before the commission, township boards or school board.

Plymouth Township Trustee Frank Millington is critical of the time it takes for Township Attorney Morgan to return an opinion to the trustees.

"The general feeling is that Morgan holds things up when he gets them," he said.

"Many times we would like instant opinions," said Mrs. Richardson. "But there's no attorney in the world who can give us those."

Mrs. Richardson admits that swifter advice would be desirable. "We put deadlines on most of our opinions," she said. "We get them within two weeks or a month. In most normal circumstances he (Morgan) meets the deadline, though probably with pressure from me. Up until this last time he was on the deadline."

"In the last three to six months he p.m. to be followed by the intermediate class at 9 p.m.

Karate will be offered to the six through 60 group Thursdays at 8:30 p.m. for 14 weeks starting Thursday for $16. Guitar instruction will be offered to those in second grade to adults Thursday afternoons for six weeks starting July 11 at $16. Registration for guitar will be held Thursday, from noon to 1 p.m. at the Cultural Center.

The city of Plymouth will sponsor a golf tournament open to all residents with a Plymouth mailing address. The divisions involved will be men's, women's, and senior's. Registration will begin July 15 and forms will be available at the recreation office at that time.

A further dividend for adults will be the free babysitting service offered at the Vest Pocket Park at Harvey and Ann Arbor Trail, for the convenience of downtown shoppers. Children from the ages of three to eight may be left with the park personnel for a maximum of two hours Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Charles Skene, a supervisor of parks and recreation summer programs, said that in choosing the young adults to man Plymouth's parks, he looks for recreation experience, good education and overall personality.

"They have to know how to get along with kids," he explained.

He also likes to hire those with particular skills in art, music, sports etc. and then tries to place them so the activities offered at each park are varied.

This year the arts and crafts director will be Craig Kidon. Those assigned to Starkweather Park are Bill Miller and Sharon Thurston, and those at Hamilton will be Jim Szilagyi and Barb Fortney.

Mark Payette and Marcia Elsner will be at Southland and Constance Flynn will be at Elm Street Park. At Auburn Park Mary Schroeder and Jim Martin will be working. Karen Grimmer and Pam Comstock will be stationed at Vest Pocket.

Levin, who is a former state senator from the 15th District in Berkeley, is making his second attempt at the governor's office, having lost by only 44,000 votes to Gov. Milliken in 1970.

The former Senate minority leader in 1969-70 also has served as state Democratic chairman. He was on the Oakland County Board of Supervisors for three terms. He is a practicing attorney.

A registrar will be at the meeting to register Canton residents to vote in the August primary. Residents have until July 8 to register for the township primary.

(Morgan) was getting a little slower with his opinions and we talked with him about the delays. He's a busy man. It seems reasonable that we could get an opinion in two weeks, but he may be tied up in court for two weeks."

According to Lowe, opinions can often be given in minutes, but sometimes it may take as much as six or eight hours to research a single point.

"If we're in a hurry it (an opinion) may come back in a day," said Mayor McAninch.

Unlike some Plymouth Township officials, City Manager Fred Yockey welcomes verbal opinions. "Many are not written," he said. "A verbal opinion is just as valid as any other—if it's right."

"We can call on the phone and get a letter in a day or two," said Flodin. "I've known it to take two weeks on some and on others they (Sempliner, Thomas, Guth) will give an opinion over the phone, it depends on the magnitude of the problem."

Both Canton and the school administration refer questions to Sempliner, Thomas and Guth. "If I need an opinion tomorrow morning I'll have it," said School Superintendent John M. Hoben. "It (the time) seems to me to be reasonable."

"My procedure would be in general to express opinions as much as possible in writing," said Morgan. "The trustees (of Plymouth and Northville townships) deserve something in their file for future reference. If I'm wrong I'm the one who should be held accountable."

Urge 52 weeks compensation

In an effort to relieve the impact of unemployment, U.S. Rep. Marvin L. Esch (R - Ann Arbor) has asked the house ways and means committee for quick approval of a bill which would extend unemployment benefits to a total of 52 weeks.

The bill would add 13 weeks to the present program. Combined with the 26 weeks of unemployment benefits provided under the Michigan program (and the 13 weeks of benefits under the state - federal emergency program), the proposed extension by Esch whose district includes Livonia and Plymouth, would provide a total of 52 weeks of compensation for the jobless in Michigan.

"In Michigan, unemployment has reached 10.2 per cent and literally thousands have either exhausted their insurance benefits or are ineligible," Esch said. He said it will require a longer period for the unemployed to find jobs during high unemployment periods.

Esch, a member of the house education and labor committee, said it has been estimated that between $600 million and $1 billion would be available for benefits under the legislation which would help target help at "areas where there is the greatest need and the chances of finding employment are the lowest."

Loans are available for needy students

Madonna College and Schoolcraft College have received federal funds to provide grants and loans to students in financial need.

Under the Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants Program Schoolcraft College received $22,727 and Madonna College received $12,864. Grants of $200 to $1,500 are awarded to eligible students for each academic year of undergraduate study.

UNDER provisions of the program each grant, which begins July 1 must be supplemented by other assistance programs.

These include state or privately financed grant aid, compensation from employment under the College Work Study Program, Basic Educational Opportunity Grants, or institutionally provided loans.

The U.S. Office of Education approved the allocation of $6,941 to Madonna College and $84,332 to Schoolcraft College under the National Direct Student Loan Program.

FEDERAL funds will provide 90 per cent of the new capital contributions and the remaining 10 per cent will be provided by a matching institutional contribution.

"I believe it is vitally important that Congress continue to support and expand these programs to relieve the increasingly heavy burden on students and their families," said Congressman Marvin L. Esch (R-Ann Arbor).

The congressman noted, "it is a clear indication of the magnitude of post secondary education opportunities in the 2nd District that more than 16 per cent of the students in the state who will receive loans under the National District Student Loan Program are attending participating institutions in my congressional district."

Egnor attacks administration

The Nixon administration is trying to defeat legislation to force coal mining companies to restore stripped land, U.S. congressional candidate Ronald W. Egnor charged at a branch meeting of the National Association of Letter Carriers in Ann Arbor.

"Interior Secretary Rogers Morton is misleading the public with his claim that the Udall-Ruppe bill will 'damage the nation's energy position,'" Egnor, a candidate for the Democratic nomination in the 2nd Congressional District, said.

"The bill is designed to meet our environmental responsibilities without substantially affecting coal production."

"A serious effort was made to incorporate administration suggestions in the bipartisan bill. I find it hard to understand the motivation behind Mr. Morton's allegations. It appears the administration and the coal lobby have the same interests at heart."

The bill would impose the first federal controls on surface coal mining, including requiring nearly full restoration of stripped land to its original condition."

"I have seen the devastation caused by unregulated strip mining in West Virginia, it has turned huge areas into a hideous wasteland."

A 20-year resident of the 2nd Congressional District, Egnor was born in West Virginia and occasionally returns to visit relatives.

Arms aid plot seen

Congress must recognize its responsibility to the American taxpayer and stop paying for other nations' wars, Democratic Congressional hopeful Ron Egnor said at a campaign reception in Superior Township, Washtenaw County.

"Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's recent diplomatic triumphs are being exploited to persuade Congress to approve another $4.2 billion in foreign aid," Egnor charged.

"Our legislators have been told the money is essential to efforts to maintain peace in the Middle East and Indochina. They should be highly skeptical of that assertion," Egnor continued. "But they should not allow their skepticism to drive them to undo the funding of worthwhile international programs."

Excessive demands by the Nixon administration for foreign aid are already beginning to backfire, to the detriment of constructive, peaceful programs, Egnor warned.

"When India and Pakistan went to war in 1971, both sides were using arms supplied by the United States," Egnor pointed out. "Israelis and Arabs alike were receiving American military aid before the November war. And the Nixon administration has given the Thieu regime billions of dollars in arms shipments to 'keep the peace' in Vietnam since we pulled out."

"This is clearly a misuse of the American taxpayers' money," Egnor added.

Recently, however, Congress also refused to contribute funds to the International Development Association, which offers support to agriculture and transportation in impoverished areas such as drought-stricken Africa. The association, Egnor said, may collapse as a result.

"Why does our government spend so much on ways to kill people," Egnor asked, "and so little on ways to keep them alive?"

Marketing man joins company

Albert G. Ballert, Jr. of Livonia has joined Associated Spring Corporation of Plymouth as automotive marketing specialist.

The local plant is part of the automotive region of the company's custom metal parts business group. Reporting to John Barr, territory sales manager, Ballert is responsible for marketing research, surveys and studies in the potential of sales in the automotive market.

Ballert holds a bachelor's degree in business administration from Eastern Michigan University. Before joining ASC, he had been with the Ford Motor Company working in areas of manufacturing, engineering and sales at various locations.

Associated Spring Corporation is the world's leading producer of precision mechanical springs and critical custom metal parts. The company is also a major distributor of repair, replacement and maintenance parts, accessories, fasteners and assembly components to the automotive and recreational vehicle service markets, airlines, manufacturing, mining, construction and marine industries.

The automotive region manufacturing plants are in Plymouth, Ann Arbor and Dayton, Ohio.

Inflation cause of utility hikes says Lansing

Marj Lansing, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the 2nd district, called the current controversy over the Michigan Bell Telephone rate increase a symptom of the Administration's inept controls on inflation.

Speaking at a meeting of the Communications Workers of America Local 4011, she said "it is unlikely that workers would benefit at all from the proposed increase. The rate hike is designed to entice investors and is likely to benefit only bond holders and company owners."

"If inflation had been controlled wisely and the tight money supply eased, there would be little to justify the Michigan Bell request," she continued.

Mrs. Lansing also praised the recent decision forcing all Bell Companies to pay a total of $30 million in back salary and wage increases to women, Mexican Americans and Blacks who received less money than other employees for the same work.

"We have laws that will help ensure fair employment practices, but the administration has been reluctant to take meaningful steps to enforce such programs as affirmative action."

"We need concerned representatives in Washington to be watchdogs over equal opportunity laws."

Lansing endorsed

Former Ann Arbor Mayor Samuel J. Eldersveld has endorsed Marjorie Lansing for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the 2nd district calling her "the most likely Democrat to defeat Marvin Esch."

"I have studied her positions on some of the key issues that confront us and must say she makes a great deal of sense to me," Eldersveld said her ideas on impeachment, inflation, health, education and campaign reform are sound, well-informed and above all humane. "She is a woman of great integrity and responsiveness to human need."

National's weekend rate of only $8.50 a day, 14¢ a mile left Don Rickles speechless.

National Car Rental dared Don Rickles to try to criticize their weekend deal. But how could he criticize National's low rate of $8.50 a day and 14¢ a mile. (You pay for gas.) And that's for a car like a Chevy Monte Carlo. You can pick it up any time after Thursday 6PM. Return it by Monday 6PM to the renting city. All National asks is that you use the car a minimum of two days.

National's low weekend rate. It's so good all Don could say was, "These people are trying to go broke!"

RELOCATING DOESN'T HAVE TO BE DISLOCATING.

We belong to RELO, a national real estate organization whose job it is to relocate you physically without relocating you mentally.

And this we can do. Through our association with RELO, we can help relocate you to at least 6,500 different communities throughout the country.

All you have to do is contact any one of our offices, and we'll take it from there.

But remember one thing. If we can relocate you from coast to coast with a minimum of woe, imagine what we can do anywhere around Detroit and its environs.

Q. What makes Esther Williams better than other aluminum pools?
A. Most aluminum pools are rolled and stamped. Esther Williams pools are made of extruded aluminum and that's even stronger than steel. It has a 15 year guarantee ON THE OUTSIDE—even on the paint. If you want a pool that you can just set up and then forget about—this has got to be the one. No painting—no sanding—no touchups—no headaches. You should expect more than 15 years of uninterrupted swimming fun.

Extra-Loan is the difference between a swimming pool and a hole in the ground.

Up to now, when you borrowed money for a swimming pool, all you got for your money was a big hole in the yard.

Because, until now, home improvement loans were limited to the construction costs of the improvement itself.

Yet we both know there's more to a swimming pool than the pool itself.

That's why we developed Extra-Loan—a single loan that gives you the money for your pool plus decking, landscaping, fencing, furniture and other extras you need to get full enjoyment out of your good investment.

And getting everything all at once is a particularly good investment this year, when you're probably planning to spend a lot more time right in your own backyard.

You can get an Extra-Loan with monthly payments to suit your budget at any of the more than 100 offices of National Bank of Detroit.

The bank that's making banking better for you. With the big new improvement in home improvement loans.

Making banking better for you.

Festivals start soon

There is no escaping the fact that theatre and music buffs in the Michigan area have some tough choices to make in planning their summer festival visits with no need to go to Europe.

Anyone who says there's nothing to do around here in the summer, hasn't tried very hard to find something.

In the immediate area there is Meadow Brook Music Festival, replete with the sounds of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, jazz greats and some middle of the road pop musicians on schedule.

The season opens June 27 on the festival grounds in Rochester at Adams and University Drive. Tickets are available through the Festival Office, P.O. Box 705, Oakland University, Rochester, Mich. 48063, or by calling 377-2010.

Down the pike is Music Hall Center for the Performing Arts first full summer season presentations—"South Pacific," (celebrating its 25th anniversary); "Hair," "Sugar" and "Anything Goes."

"South Pacific" which is celebrating its 25th year will be presented July 16-21 and will star Jerome Hines, Dorothy Collins and Sylvia Sims. "Hair" is on the books for July 23-July 28 and will star many of the original cast members.

"Laugh-in's" Allen Seuss will star in the Aug. 6-11 production of "Sugar." Ann Miller will star in Cole Porter's "Anything Goes" Aug. 13-18.

Subscribers to the summer season may get a 25 percent savings over single ticket buyers. Information on the season which begins July 16 at 350 Madison Ave., Detroit, may be obtained by calling 963-7680.

Also downtown will be the fifth Hilberry Summer Theatre Festival, opening July 2. The offerings will be George M. Cohan's "The Tavern," Agatha Christie's melodramatic mystery "The Mousetrap," and "Dream on Monkey Mountain" a poetic fantasy by Derek Walcott.

In the Hilberry Studio Theatre will be presented "Little Mary Sunshine" and "The Signifying Monkey." Tickets for both are available through the Wayne State University Theatre Box Office, Detroit 48202.

Another close-to-home and specially designed for the family theatre season will be presented by the Metropolitan Beach Summer Theatre in St. Clair Shores. June 30 "Forty Carats" will be presented and July 19 "Blackout" will be played.

The third play will be Aug. 9 and will be "The Other Cinderella." All will be presented by the St. Clair Shores Players at 8 p.m. at the open air dance pavilion stage at Metropolitan Beach.

The presentations are free of charge, but vehicles must bear the Metropark entry sticker. Further information may be obtained by calling the park at 463-4581.

Still near the shores of Lake St. Clair is the Macomb Theatre at the Barn's sixth season which will show "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" June 25-30 and July 3-7.

The Pulitzer Prize winning "The Subject Was Roses" will play July 18-21 and 23-28 at the Macomb County Community College Barn Theatre, 16500 Hall Road.

"Cabaret" will be staged Aug. 9-11, 13-18 and 20-25. Closing the season will be "Godspell" September 20-22, 24-29 and Oct. 1-6.

Ticket information may be obtained by calling 468-4822.

Crossing to the west one will find the Michigan Repertory Season at the Power Center for the Performing Arts in Ann Arbor.

For its fifth consecutive season the company will open with "The Taming of the Shrew" and "Picnic" July 16-27. "The Boyfriend" will run Aug. 5-10. For further information call 764-0450.

To the north of the Detroit area is the Star Theatre of Flint. This year's season includes eight productions including "No, No, Nanette," "Finishing Touches" and "Tunnel of Love."

Others to be performed are Paul Lynde in "Mother's Engaged," Florence Henderson in "Annie Get Your Gun," and Desi Arnez, Jr. in "Sunday in New York."

Shirley Jones and Jack Cassidy will give performances of their Las Vegas night club act the week of Aug. 6 and Dom Delaive will appear beginning Aug. 13 in "Luv."

Tickets are available through the Star Theatre of Flint, Whiting Auditorium, Flint, Mich. 48502. In the northern part of Lower Michigan in Traverse City is the Cherry County Playhouse. Nine productions will be done there this season—its 20th.

"Winning is Better" will open the season July 2-7. "Faisley Con-vertible" will be performed July 9-14 and Forrest Tucker will star in "Rock A Bye Daddy" July 16-21.

"Wake Up Darling" fills the bill July 23-28 and "Sound of Murder" is on for July 30 to Aug. 4. "Relatively Speaking" will be the show from Aug. 6 to Aug. 11 and Leonard Nimoy will star in "6 Rms Riv Vu" Aug. 13-18.

Lucy's friend Vivian Vance comes on the scene in "Everybody Loves Opal" Aug. 20 through 25 and the final production Aug. 27 through Sept. 1 will be announced later in the season. Tickets are available by writing to Box 661, Traverse City, Mich. 49664.

Soon Meadow Brook's seats will be filled

Also in the Traverse City area is the famous Interlochen Center for the Arts and The National Music Camp. Concerts are given by the various performing organizations at the camp—bands, orchestras, drama groups and dancers, throughout the summer from June 25 to Aug. 18.

Special presentations will be given also this summer and will include June 26 the Eastern Brass Ensemble; July 17 the First Chamber Dance Company of New York; July 20 Van Cliburn will play a benefit concert for the camp along with the World Youth Symphony Orchestra.

July 23, Woody Herman and his orchestra; July 30, the Detroit Symphony Orchestra; Aug. 6 Count Basie and his orchestra and Aug. 13 the United States Air Forces Band.

Tickets are available through the box office, National Music Camp, Interlochen, Mich. 48643. Three festivals cover the Ontario theatrical and musical scene more than abundantly. The Shaw Festival at Niagara-on-the-Lake offers plays at its two theatres, the Court House and the Festival.

Musical concerts featuring Camarata, a six-member performing ensemble, will be given at both locations on nine occasions. This summer's plays at the Festival Theatre will be "The Devil's Disciple," "Charley's Aunt" and "Too True to be Good." They will be done in repertory through August.

At the Court House Theatre Henrik Ibsen's "Romeo and Juliet" will be given along with Bernard Shaw's "The Admirable Bashville."

For ticket information write Shaw Festival, Box 774, Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ontario, L0S 1J0.

The 22nd season at Stratford Festival will feature productions of Moliere's "The Imaginary Invalid"; Shakespeare's "Love's Labour's Lost," "Pericles," and "King John" at the Festival Theatre.

At the Avon Theatre at Stratford "La Vie Parisienne" (Life in Paris) by Offenbach will be presented June 26 through Sept. 1. Third Stage productions at Stratford will offer Charles Wilson's "The Summoning of Everyman" a contemporary opera opening July 10 and alternating with Menotti's "The Medium."

"Walsh" a play by a contemporary Western Canadian playwright will be presented July 24 through Aug. 10 and Aug. 14 through Sept. 1.

Music at Stratford will feature concerts Saturdays and Sundays beginning June 29 with the Festival Singers. Music at Midland will again be presented at Rothman's Art Gallery July 2, 25, Aug. 1, 8, 22 and 29.

Leisure use crucial

Is leisure time a boon or a boondoggle?

"It depends on whether you know how to use it or not. It should be a reconstructive time, a time to rebuild and get new perspectives," said Philip R. Owen, a school psychologist.

Those involved in mental health maintenance agree many people really don't know what to do with themselves when they find themselves with time to spare.

"So many people just don't know how to play," said Dr. Robert Kamm, a Birmingham psychiatrist.

"We have a couple of Siamese cats who know how to play. They can entertain themselves very well by just running up and down or sitting next to someone purring," he continued.

"Adults could learn a lot from kids, if they'd just pay attention to how to amuse themselves," said Owen.

"We say that one criterion for maturity is knowing how to entertain yourself or someone else, or entertain a new idea.

"Sometimes we use hypnosis to get a person to really relax. Sometimes we use meditation—thinking about one thing as a mode of relaxation," said Dr. Kamm.

"The way one uses leisure time is very important. It is so important that it is one of the first questions we ever ask of a patient who comes to see us. A patient's outlook for therapy is much better if we can get them to use their spare time better.

"We try to get a person down to the level of appreciating just breathing, for instance. When I was a student psychiatrist I had the opportunity to work with Gestalt philosophy teacher Fritz Perls in California.

"From him I learned a greater appreciation of the now, what's around us, inside us and how to deal with today better," Dr. Kamm said.

"On Fridays the whole world seems to be moving out to enjoy its leisure time. I wish we had more of it," said Dr. Julia Ann Goodman of Southfield.

"I think it shows progress that we are learning how to relax from the highly scheduled lives we lead. Therefore we shouldn't have highly structured vacations—they aren't necessarily relaxing at all. "Perhaps travel tours are on the way out because they are too structured," she said.

"The simpler pleasures are coming back, I think. Just going to hills and streams is once again becoming a pleasure," she said.

"I never like to criticize parents because they have a tremendous responsibility in rearing children, but I have child patients who say to me, 'I don't know how I'm going to get through the week,'" she said.

What they are saying is that there is a schedule for tennis, swimming and other lessons, but no time for doing nothing, she explained.

"The worst thing parents can do is too highly structure a child's vacation time. They realize they need the time to play," said Owen.

What is play? All those questioned said it is an unanswerable question since we are all different.

"To some, play is work. To others it is pursuing hobbies and being creative," said Owen.

"Generally I think passive use of leisure time is not using it well. Watching television or sports doesn't require as much of a person as being actively involved in some activity—even if it's only sitting doing nothing," said Dr. Kamm.

Getting away from it all, the vacation, "Should be a time to be yourself with no pretenses, a nudging, if you will," said Dr. Kamm.

"Vacationing could be changing your way of life for awhile, doing something you don't always do everyday. Many people maintain their sanity this way," said Owen.

"Most important is that a person learn to appreciate the meaning or purpose in his or her own life. It's possible to do this in a leisure time situation," Dr. Kamm suggested.

"Serenity and inner peace are something one should be able to feel, especially in leisure time."

The wild California coast may be attainable now that the energy crisis is letting up

Travel outlook good

Now that the energy crisis seems to have lessened, the vacation travel outlook for the upcoming summer months is very good. Barring some unforeseen move on the international oil scene, recreation forecasters predict business-as-usual for the rest of this year.

Increased fuel supplies have already generated an upturn in state-wide and national travel that is expected to better previous record tourist totals in some areas.

"The Irish Hills area and Ann Arbor have a 20 percent increase in business over last year," Robert Cartwright, a spokesman for the Southeastern Michigan Travel and Tourist Association, said.

"February and March were way below normal. Greenfield Village attendance was down about 18 percent at one point—it's now on par with last year," Cartwright said.

"Business has turned the corner and is on the way up," Sid Baker, president of Southeast Michigan Transportation Authority SEMTA, said.

"If we can continue to get the necessary gasoline and if it doesn't rain, we're very optimistic," he said.

Optimism seems to be the prevailing mood among everyone involved in tourism.

"The statewide outlook is very encouraging," Richard Allen, state travel director and head of the Michigan Tourist Council, said.

"The upper peninsula was hit hard during the height of the energy shortage because of its distance from Detroit. The economic picture is much improved," Allen added.

The energy shortage necessitated a shift of philosophy by the Michigan Tourist Council. The crunch prompted a campaign stressing "stay-close" tourism in the state. Other states had similar intrastate vacationing promotions. In preceding years, the council actively sought out-of-state vacationers. An increase of such promotion is returning, Allen said. Motorists should have no problems this summer filling their tanks.

"More and more service stations are staying open longer every week," Jerry Cheski of the AAA travel service said.

"Ninety-five per cent of the gas stations are open Monday through Saturday from dawn to dusk," he added.

The airlines coped with federal allocation fuel cutbacks by reducing the number of flights—thereby flying more people on fewer planes.

"Just as many people were flying, only it was a little more crowded," Robert Ranchford, a spokesman for Eastern Airlines, said.

"The commercial lines are beginning to add additional flights now that fuel is more plentiful," Ranchford added.

The international travel situation also looks good, Jay Beau Seigneur, a representative of Pan American airlines, said.

Increase fuel costs abroad are running extremely high for international airlines, but no change in passenger service is expected, Seigneur added.

Several travel agencies experienced a fluctuation in typical traveler habits during the squeeze. "It slowed down overseas travel and increased domestic air travel," Walter Centomini, manager of Birmingham-Oakland Travel, said.

"People were hesitant; they were holding still to see what would happen," Dorothy Leszczynski of American Express Travel Service, Birmingham, said. "But the situation has definitely changed," she said.

It appears the only crises this summer's traveller has to contend with are familiar ones—lost luggage, flat tires and no-vacancy signs.

OK, ride, ride, ride but practice first

You decide to save gas this summer and spend evenings and weekends on a bike. So you hop on and ride. And ride and ride and ride. At first you don't hurt. Then there's pain and lots of it.

Riding a bicycle, like any sport, requires preparation. Once in shape you can ride endlessly and in comfort. But you have to start slowly.

The first week on your bike should be a get acquainted period. "You should begin by riding a few minutes each day or a few minutes each time you ride," said a spokesman for the Michigan Bicycling Federation. "Then you progressively make each time on the bike a little bit longer."

Once accustomed to bicycle posture, gears and riding in general, begin to increase, not distance, but speed.

According to the spokesman, a rider can travel comfortably at 16 miles an hour. And he can do so without exerting any more effort than that required to walk at a normal pace.

"It's a fact that with a good, lightweight bicycle, geared and adjusted properly, you can go about four times as fast and four times as far with the same effort it takes to walk," said the spokesman.

Getting to that speed requires some discipline by the rider. Speed is built up by riding the bicycle in normal gear and pedaling it at 70 or 80 revolutions per minute. Distance isn't important, pedaling consistency is.

"If you start to slow down get off the bike and walk briskly for a hundred yards or so until you feel recovered," he said. "Then get back on and ride at 15 or 16 miles an hour again."

While building up speed and stamina, you should also examine your method of pedaling. If you're like most people, you're probably pedaling improperly and wasting energy.

According to the spokesman, riders have a tendency to exert pressure on both pedals. Consequently one, leg works against the other.

"Try to keep that back foot ahead of the pedal by lifting the foot," he said. "Even if you let your foot rest on that back pedal you're working against yourself."

Body preparation somewhat depends on how far you plan to go.

Fifty mile bike trips should be easy by the end of the first month. And when September rolls around you will be to, without pain.

Racing is taxing

Comfort is also determined by what you put on and in your body. Eating incorrectly or wearing improper clothing can cause problems.

When you're hot don't drink cold liquids. "It takes a lot of blood to warm up the cold you put in your body and you need that blood to warm up your muscles," said the spokesman. "And you should eat lightly and often."

The largest complaint from novice riders is a sore backside. "There's a lot of perspiration there and if it's not kept real clean it will generate bacteria."

Gloves are also important. Finally, in the name of safety make sure the equipment on your bike is proper and that it's on your bike and not on your back.

"Don't ever use a knapsack for anything other than very, very short trips," advised the spokesman. "It doesn't take any weight off the bike and it puts a lot of Guaranteed Weather!

WITH A SUN*FUN POOL ENCLOSURE

For Over Your Existing or New Pool

For years people have been saying, "Wouldn't it be wonderful to swim all year, not just when the sun shines and it's in the 80s?"

But since no one had found a way to guarantee 365 warm, sunny days a year, the only solution was to put the pool inside a building. However, swimming indoors just wasn't the same as swimming in the free, open, out-of-doors.

Even if the building had sliding doors (which could be opened only in warm weather), the conventional roof building materials kept out that one ingredient that "makes" swimming -- SUNSHINE. Now there's a structure that lets you swim out of doors in the summer, and "just like" out of doors in the winter. It's the Sun/Fun Pool Enclosure. The Sun/Fun features materials that let natural daylight in the pool area, a "convertible" roof permitting instantaneous opening and closing of the enclosure, and construction which is aesthetically pleasing. No wonder the Sun/Fun has been called "the greatest thing in swimming since pools!"

We think you'll agree that -- until someone comes up with a way to guarantee 365 warm, sunny days a year -- the Sun/Fun Pool Enclosure is THE way to assure yourself of year-round swimming enjoyment!

Remember, a Sun/Fun Pool Enclosure ADDS beauty to your Pool, VALUE to your home and YEAR-ROUND SWIMMING for you and your family.

Choo choo's callin'

Instead of keeping eyes glued to the road ahead, enjoy the view, meet all kinds of people, and wine and dine on your way to a vacation this summer.

It's simple—try a train. The energy crisis may have done Americans a favor by convincing them to ride the trains again.

With gasoline a factor, business is booming at Amtrak, so it's wise to plan and reserve ahead for a train trip.

With Amtrak, there's really only one direction to go and that's west. All trains that leave Detroit end up in Chicago. All connections can be made there.

Trains leave daily for San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle and points in between. There are connections to Houston-Fort Worth, New Orleans or St. Louis.

You can even connect for Florida or New York City, if you don't mind going all the way to Chicago only to come back east again.

Amtrak is talking about reinstating service to New York and Washington D.C. from Detroit, but so far no concrete plans have developed.

Going west with Amtrak is the best bet, since the scenery is the most spectacular. The San Francisco train, the Zephyr, leaves Chicago daily at 3:45 p.m., arriving in San Francisco two days later. The fare is $232.25 round trip from Detroit, which compares favorably with airfare.

Amtrak is also offering a new air-rail vacation package for a western trip, with rates starting at $400. For information on any Amtrak train service, call 965-7070. Keep trying.

How good is the service on Amtrak? Anywhere from terrific to terrible, depending on the train and luck. Obtain evaluations from the Michigan Association of Railroad Passengers, Box 6901, Grosse Pointe.

Even better rail service originates from Windsor. Apparently, Canadians have recently relied more on trains than Americans, and the service shows.

Fortunately for Detroit area residents, Windsor's train facilities are just across the river.

Trains leave daily for the up and coming city of Vancouver, B.C. at the bargain round trip fare of $204.

After three and a half days of gorgeous scenery, you arrive in Vancouver, on Canada's far west coast.

Someday Americans may travel by turbo train

Montreal is a mere 10 hours away, via Toronto, with the fare $51 round trip. Trains leave three times a day from Windsor for Toronto and Montreal. Quebec is another three hours down the tracks from Montreal.

As in the U.S., it is best to plan and reserve early for the Canadian trains. Canadian National's Detroit information number is 962-9470.

Other new train services are quickly springing up, such as the Auto Train service from Louisville, Ky. to Florida.

Auto Train may be the most amazing concept in rail travel yet. It's seven hours driving time to Louisville, where you can park your car on the train, and travel in a comfortable coach to Florida—if you spend much time in the coach, that is.

The Auto Train comes complete with live entertainment, movies, bingo games, children's entertainment, and what is billed as a gourmet dining experience.

The fare is $225 one way for a car with two people, and $25 for each extra person of any size. Meals and everything are included.

Auto Train has been a smash hit on the east coast. Louisville service will start June 24 and run every three days. For information, call Auto Train toll free, 1-800-424-8520.

said sand dunes or cliffs there are good but hand gliding sites get better north of Holland. Probably the best place for handgliding is Fort-Elberta area where the National Soaring and Hand Gliding Festival will be held June 29 through July 6.

If you don't like flying through the air try falling — with the Parahawks, a parachute jumping club in Plymouth.

At the Salem Airport on Six Mile Road, four miles north of Northville, the club jumps every weekend. Watch or pay $40 to get three hours of ground lessons and one jump.

If you prefer to stay on the ground there are spectator sports which usually go unpublicized.

From May until October the Detroit Polo Club sponsors polo games every Sunday afternoon on its grounds located three miles west of Milford.

Game time is 2 p.m., according to Merle Jenkins, the club's founder.

Game participants are amateurs who come from all over the country. Jenkins said the club is trying to get a team from Freeport to play at the games this summer.

Admission is $2 for adults. Children are admitted free. Jenkins said spectators are allowed to bring picnics.

From June 1 to Aug. 1 there are amateur lacrosse games at the Southfield Civic Center, Garden City Civic Center and the Jack Adams Sports Arena in Detroit. Games are played two or three times a week. Professional games are scheduled at Windsor's Warlock arena.

For non-sports there are off-the-beat festivals throughout the state.

For example, Colon will sponsor its annual "Magic Get-Together" from Aug. 14-17 when magicians, from all over the world will gather to give demonstrations and magic shows. Colon is known for having the largest magician supply company in the world.

If you don't like magic, try the Paul Bunyon Festival from Aug. 15-18 in Oscoda. The festival recalls the early lumber jack days and sponsors tall tale and log rolling contests.

For boating fans there is a long boat regatta Aug. 18 on the AuSable River near Grayling. If that doesn't suit try the canoe marathon on the AuSable set for Aug. 26 and 27.

Contestants will be paddling their canoes on a 240-mile trek from Grayling to Oscoda. Without stopping, the trip takes about 16 hours.

For ice cream lovers Eaton Rapids is again sponsoring its Ice Cream Festival from Aug. 1-3.

Almost every week during the summer Michigan cities sponsor a variety of festivals and sporting events.

Go fly a kite for some good exercise

No ol' routine here

Tired of that ol' summer routine? Well, there's plenty of chances this summer to break the monotony if you'll only take the time to look.

Throughout Michigan there are festivals and sporting activities which don't really fit in to the regular grind.

Sporting enthusiasts may want to take advantage of sports other than baseball, swimming and water skiing.

Persons looking for a different kind of thrill may want to buy a ride in a hot air balloon with one of two hot air balloonists in the area.

In Avon Township the Balloon Platoon will be chasing the hot air balloon every Friday, Saturday and Sunday evening when weather permits during the summer.

The group meets at the Trans Com balloon factory at 2545 Leach Rd., Avon Township at 6:15 p.m. the day of the flight.

Balloon Platoon members can hitch a free ride on the balloon by being the first person to reach the balloon when it lands. Non-members must pay $75 for a ride. For information on Balloon Platoon activities phone 852-0666.

In Troy Carl Thomas at Grand

Prix airport will take person on a balloon ride for $50. Call the airport to make arrangements for the ride. Balloon rides are given during early morning hours and at dusk.

If ballooning doesn't catch your interest try gliding. The Vultures, an Oxford gliding club, offers thrill seekers a chance to quietly take to the skies.

When the snow isn't on the ground the Vultures take to the air. The group meets on weekends at a field on M-24 and Metamora Road in Oxford.

Non-members can buy a day membership in order to get a ride in the club's two-seater glider. Riders also pay for time spent in the air.

For information about the club contact John Kuhn of Madison Heights or call the club's trailer at the field, weekends at 628-9097.

The growing sport of hand gliding is gaining interest in Michigan, too. For about $550 one can buy a large kite, according to Bob Newcomb, owner of Sky Sails in Royal Oak.

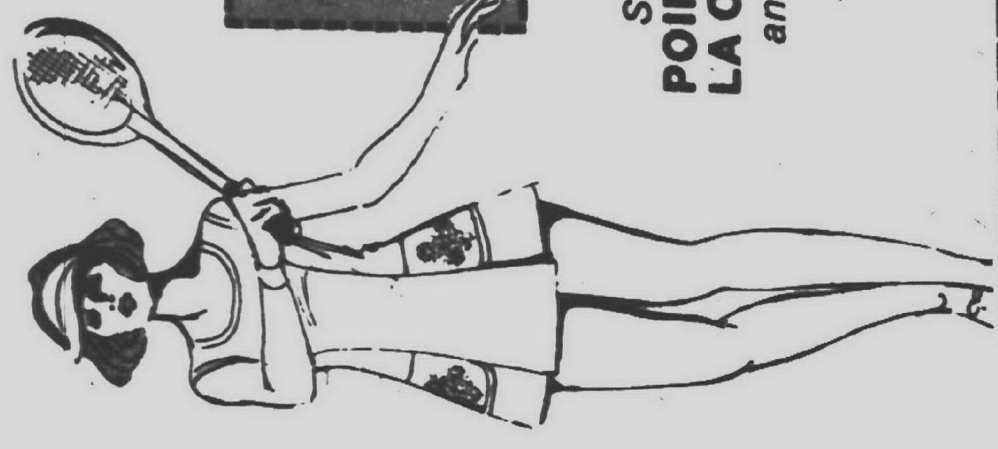

Newcomb suggests the best place for hand gliding in Michigan is on the west coast of the state. He

Summertime reading can be fun

Old Maine beckons

Maine, one of the last remaining rugged areas in the United States, may seem miles from nowhere but it's a short 18-hour drive from Michigan.

Filled with some magnificent state parks, tourists are fast becoming believers that Maine license plates accurately describe it as the "Vacationland" of the East.

One highlight in the state is Baxter State Park, which is the site for the famous Mt. Katahdin, the highest point in Maine.

Its peak is 5,273 feet above sea level, and it is said that those on top of the mountain are the first to see the sun rise in the United States.

The park is surrounded by woodlands, basically used by lumber companies. There are few towns in the area, but the park is easily accessible via state highway I-95.

Because the area is sparsely populated, moose, deer and bear, as well as other wild animals, can be found wandering free in the park area.

For those more adventurous, there is the Allagash Wilderness Waterway, a short drive northwest of Baxter's Park.

Access to the wilderness waterway is through private roads. The northern area of Maine is famous for its fishing. The landlocked salmon is a special favorite. Landscape in the state park consists of several mountains, huge boulders, hills and rushing mountain streams, pure enough to drink, without purification.

The Appalachian Trail, which winds through mountain ranges well into the South, begins in the Baxter Park area.

The rugged coastline has a number of the country's oldest and most charming small towns. State route 1 winds up the coast from Kittery in the south to Eastport which borders on New Brunswick, Canada.

Along the way are Kennebunkport with its Trolley Museum (a funny thing to find in Maine which has depended practically its entire life on the sea).

At Bath, some of the country's largest shipbuilding facilities can be spied. The town nestles in between the water and rolling hills. Farther up the coast are Rockport and Camden, with their artist colonies and many art outlets.

Bar Harbor is Maine's answer to Rhode Island's Newport and New York's Happongs with summer homes of famous people and yachts galore in a gorgeous setting.

Bauxite, tourists mix in Jamaica

JAMAICA — "Rock-stone deh a riber bottom no know sey sun hot." The native Jamaican dialect projects a poetic warmth and is effectively seasoned with centuries old sayings, generally offering a moral commentary.

Consider the word-for-word translation of the quote above: "A stone at the bottom of a cool river doesn't know that the sun is hot."

A current moralism in Jamaica appears on billboards, businesses, taxicabs and wherever a decal fits. The slogan reads: "Tourism is my business, too."

Tourism is Jamaica's number two industry. The government is trying to keep it that way. Bauxite is the country's number one industry.

A representative from Jamaica's Board of Tourism explains that tourism is a national priority but the country does not wish its economy dominated by the industry.

About three years ago, a nationwide education effort was started. The program was designed to show the importance of tourists to the national economy. All residents and businessmen were invited — and expected — to participate.

The program appears to be working. Tourists can expect courteous, effective service and human concern.

Accommodations run from simple to plush. Compared to other Caribbean resorts, Jamaica offers greater breadth of life styles and a larger number of hotels, villas and other accommodations. Vegetation is lush and scenery inspiring.

Jamaica contrasts with the rock and sand of Aruba. But, from another view, Aruba attracts those who enjoy gambling. Jamaica has outlawed casinos.

Kingston, the capital, is a metropolis with intense commerce and industry coupled with poverty and lush suburbs.

For those who enjoy fine dining, Jamaica is a delight. The Tera Nova in Kingston must rank as exquisite. The Swiss Chalet, also in Kingston, stands in the same class and offers both continental and Jamaican fare.

Mention of Kingston without citing the outstanding Jamaican National Dance Theater would be remiss.

A trip by motor car overland from Kingston to Ocho Rios offers the opportunity to explore breathtaking scenery.

Travel afar by book

If the Joneses will be sunning on the Riviera this summer, and the only rays you'll feel are in the backyard.

If the Smiths will be supping at Horcher's in Madrid while enjoying a tangy sangria, and all you'll be tasting are hamburgers at McDonald's after quaffing a "Bud" at the beach.

If the Greens plan to cruise down the Rhine in luxurious splendor, while the only ride you'll get is on a lawn mower—don't fret.

Head for the nearest library, stuff a slighthag with books, and settle back for a summer of getting away from it all.

Ernest Hemingway can be the pilot to all parts of the world. "The Sun Also Rises," a picture of disillusioned American expatriots after World War I, is set in Spain and France.

The novel's central image of man's heroism lies in the bullfight—and Hemingway can transport the reader into all the excitement and frenzy of this blood sport.

However, if you don't want to read a novel, but the age and personalities of Hemingway's era are of interest, "Papa Hemingway" a personal memoir by his friend, A.

E. Hotchner, captures the period with vigor and flair.

"The Green Hills of Africa," another Hemingway work is a brutal journey into big-game country. This is the moving and true account of a hunting expedition to the heart of Africa, written in the form of a novel.

For those of fainter heart, who might find hunting barbaric, "My Friends The Wild Chimpanzees" (National Geographic Society) recounts, through words and magnificent color photographs, the experience of a young Englishwoman, Jane Goodall, who embarked on a daring scientific adventure: to live with and study these uncanny creatures in the wild, on the shores of Lake Tanganyika in East Africa.

Israel, is a land of fascination and contrasts and its most prominent writer, Amos Oz, has captured its spirit and soul in the novel "My Michael" and "Elsewhere Perhaps."

The wars that flash across our newspapers are peripheral to Oz's stories. "My Michael," set in Jerusalem, reveals the daily life of urban Israelis, their fantasies, conflicts and aspirations, while

RE-INTRODUCING THE CADET

Riding Mowers

Any way you cut it.
Tough as all outdoors.

All riding mowers look good on the showroom floor. Including ours. But outdoors the real winners show their stuff. Ours are winners. Automotive-type frame. Rugged fiberglass body. One-pedal convenience. Tight-turning maneuverability. Safety approved mower. The list goes on and on. And because they're built to take it they keep going on, too, long after the grass stops growing. To remove snow. To feed, weed, seed, and roll. Even grading and landscaping.

Your Choice:
5 h.p. recoil, 7 h.p. recoil or electric, or 9 h.p. all electric. All 3 units are built to take the worst any year can throw at them. They're that tough.

"Elsewhere Perhaps" presents a kibbutz community from the viewpoint of an insider.

"In The Reign of Peace," by an American, Hugh Nissenson, also examines Israel. Its eight short stories are dramatic and exciting adventures drawn from Nissenson's own experiences while he lived on a border kibbutz in 1965 and in 1967.

For those who long for fields and streams, and dream of the scent of fresh strawberries, "Country Manners" by Vance Bourjaily (Dial) is a retrospective collection of nonfiction articles published in major magazines.

Among other topics, Bourjaily rambles through the backwoods, revelling in the joy of nature in all its variety.

"The Foxfire Book" (Anchor) teaches "Hog dressing, log cabin building, mountain crafts and foods, planting by the signs, snake lore, hunting tales, faith healing, moonshining, and other affairs of plain living." So if you want to let the mountains come to you in the form of strawberry jam, beefsteak tomatoes, or bathtub gin, this is the book for it.

The Sierra Club, a prime mover for conservation in California, has created an incredible series of inexpensive paperbacks combining magnificent color of photographs of the Big Sur, the Sierra Nevada, parklands and coasts, with the words of Henry David Thoreau, Robinson Jeffers, Loren Eiseley, Joseph Wood Krutch, Theodore Roethke and John Muir.

The books rejoice in the radiance of all of nature, drawing the viewer into the astonishing beauty of an untamed world.

Sports buffs might prepare for the next football season by reading the shockingly brutal expose of the athletic exploitation, "Meat on the Hoof" (Dell) written by former University of Texas Longhorn star Gary Shaw.

You won't have to wait for the weekend or Monday night to hear the crunch of broken limbs, to submerge yourself in this "legalized mayhem"—and there are no commercials!

Combine your interest in sports with "good" literature in Bernard Malamud's "The Natural" (Dell) which brilliantly tells, through the image of baseball, the story of a young man in hot pursuit of the great American dream.

Robert Coover's comic novel, "The Universal Baseball Association, Inc. J. Henry Waugh, Prop." also utilizes the almost perfect balance between offense and defense to explore the texture of American Life.

Yuiska cites that at age 19, 63 percent of American males are fit enough to run two miles in 16 minutes or less. At the age of 29, 23 percent can accomplish this. At 35, less than two percent can. In the 35 to 48 age group, 28 percent of the deaths which occur are due to heart attacks or vascular problems.

"We need more leisure time activities that induce an endurance training effect, better known as the aerobics effect," said Yuiska. "This is conditioning to increase the body's ability to transport oxygen from the lungs through the body to the heart vessels. Thus the heart develops into a stronger, healthier muscle and the lungs in-

ACCORDING TO the Physical Fitness and Sports survey, 60 million adults say they exercise. Almost half of those say they do for reasons related to health, one-fourth to lose weight and the rest just because they enjoy it.

Other findings were that 44 million persons walk for exercise and more than half do so daily, or almost every day.

Live longer life with more exercise

Swimming, cycling, cross-country skiing, rope jumping and handball — they are all fun activities. But few participants are likely to think they might live longer because of such exercise.

According to a study sponsored by the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports, four out of five American adults report their physician had never told them to exercise.

An exercise proponent, Edward J. Yuiska of Body Dynamics International at Somerset Inn, Troy, says the nation is the fattest and least fit, which results in increased deaths due to heart attacks.

He quotes statistics that prior to 1900, medical research showed only a trace of heart attacks in adults in the United States. In 1972, there were more than 700,000; in 1973, more than a million.

"Heart disease is not inevitable," he says. It is preventable. You read about young people having heart attacks, even professional athletes. Something must be wrong with our life style. After high school and college we fall apart."

HE RECOMMENDS development of a program for youth to carry on as they grow older. A sur-evie Singer's "Gimpel the Fool" are sexy, compelling, full-bodied adventures set in Poland. Charged with a unique humor and wit, they speak of a world gone by, never to return.

Shirley Jackson's collection, "The Lottery," presents atmospheric works of haunting evil and complex, terrified people. While the movie, "The Exorcist," is drawing millions of viewers, "The Lottery," a far greater drama, must not be overlooked.

Some of the greatest science-fiction stories are found in "I Sing the Body Electric." Ray Bradbury's magic lies in transforming the familiar into something otherworldly.

Wherever he travels in the time continuum, he is strange and chilling. Robert A. Heinlein's classic underground science-fiction "Stranger in a Strange Land" came to new prominence as a favorite of the Manson clan.

Instead of transporting the reader to new worlds, Heinlein tells the story of Valentine Michael Smith, born and educated on Mars, who arrives on our planet with superhuman abilities, and attempts to set up a strange and fascinating discipline on Earth.

With book in hand, time and space may be transcended with ease.

Kentucky's historic

If the only things that remind you of Kentucky are the Derby and fried chicken, you've never been lucky enough to be there. Ever heard of Sinking Spring? It's the name of the farm where Abraham Lincoln was born, near Hodgenville.

Also near the awesome marble monument, which is built over the farmhouse where Lincoln was born, is Boundary Oak. This gigantic oak tree was growing there the day Lincoln was born.

While not a native son, Stephen Foster is easily associated with the state of Kentucky by his famous "My Old Kentucky Home," the state song.

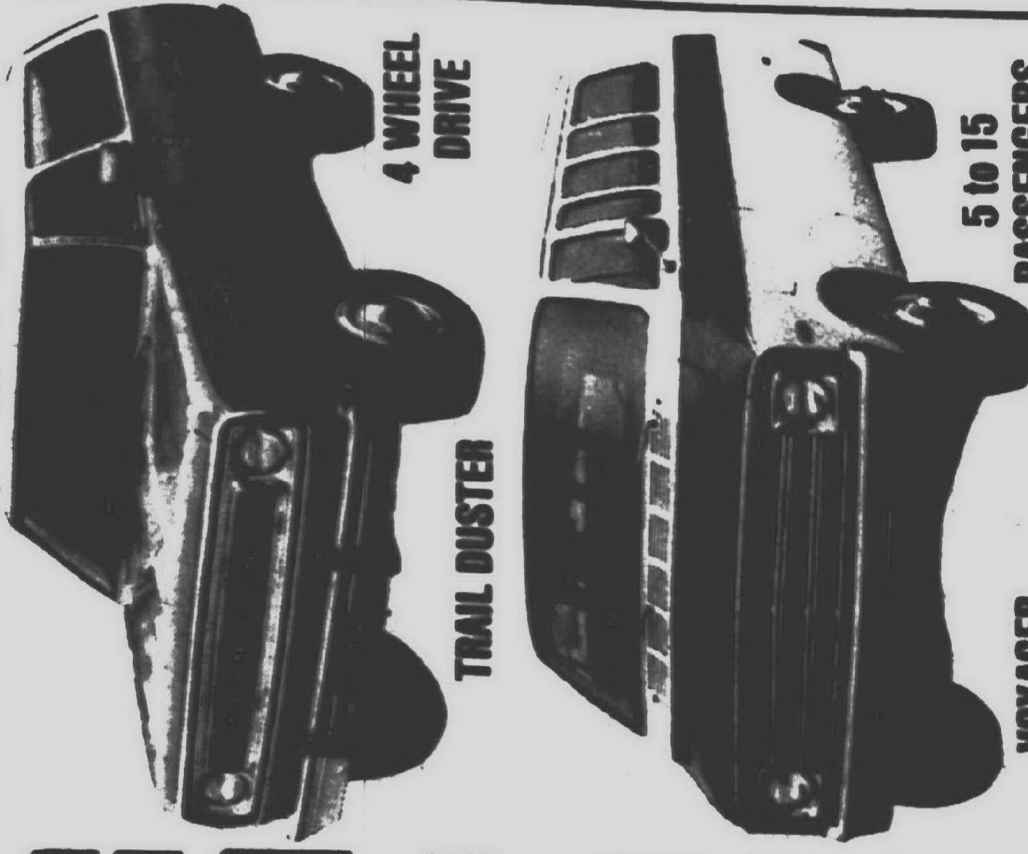

At Bardtown each summer audiences can see the "Stephen Foster Story" in the town's amphitheatre, which is located not far from Federal Hill, the mansion which inspired the state song.

In 1852 Foster visited his cousins there and wrote the song. Bardstown also has the third Catholic cathedral built in America.

Steeped in military history the state abounds with monuments to battles and heroes. Among them is a monument to Jefferson Davis which is a replica of the Washington Monument in Washington, D.C.

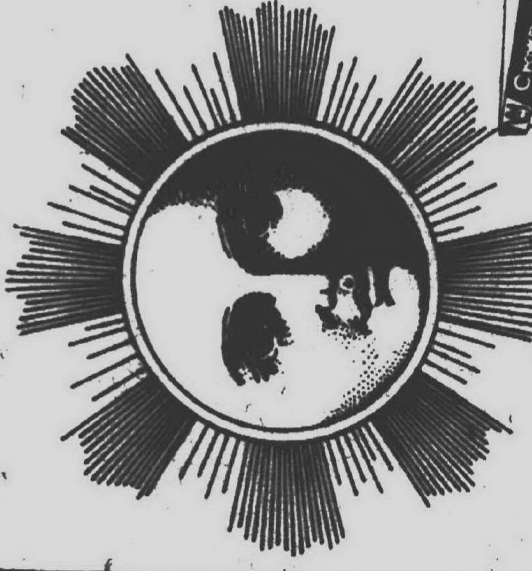

A stalagmite in a Kentucky cave. It stands on the spot of the farm where Davis was born in 1808. If horses are your favorite animal, you'll be in the right place in Kentucky. Although Florida is giving Kentucky a run for its money

Our campers lucky

Michigan residents are fortunate this energy conscious summer. A wide variety of camping choices are available within range of a tankful or two of gasoline.

For those who want to stay in the seven counties surrounding Oakland county a very helpful map is available through the Southeastern Michigan Tourist Association. Called Destination Southeast Michigan, one side of the map gives places of interest to visit within the Detroit metropolitan area.

Within the eight counties around the city the map lists private and state parks, golf courses, shopping and browsing areas and a list of entertainment attractions.

Places not to miss are the Michigan State Botanical Gardens near Tipton with camping at nearby Walter J. Hayes State Park and the Pinckney State Recreation Area.

Call the SMTA office at 961-2780 for a copy of the map.

If mixing urban and rural pleasures is your idea of a great vacation try one of the campsites around Benton Harbor. Plenty of sand and water plus a two hour drive takes you to the heart of Chicago.

Farther north is Crystal Lake with plenty of good fishing and 68 acres of forest to roam in. It is only seven miles to Lake Michigan with its miles and miles of white sand.

Hemingway country means Pe-toskey. His first short story "Up in Michigan" describes Hortons Bay. Much of Hemingway's youth was spent at Lake Charlevoix and it is the setting for many of his Michigan tales.

Bells Bay-Jordan River State Forest, Young and Petoskey State Parks as well as numerous private campgrounds are available.

For the adventurous, the boat, Emerald Isle, will take you to Beaver Island and the state forest campground. Camp in the only place in Michigan ruled by a king. Board the boat at Charlevoix, reservations are necessary for the car. However, the three hour ride is worth the trip, even without the car.

It is only a short hop to Mackinac country. Private and state campgrounds are on both sides of the bridge. And the fudge shops are waiting for the kids on Mackinac Island.

The Keweenaw Peninsula and Precipine Mountains are worth a trip to the upper peninsula.

Walking through narrow passageways is common on this special tour. In one instance, cave tourers must crawl on their stomachs for a quarter mile.

However, the other tours are much more civilized. Some last about four hours, with stops allowed for rest rooms and snacking. Stalagmite and stalagmite formations, as well as gypsum and onyx are beautifully illuminated in the underground caverns.

Cave passages, although some 260 feet underground, are well lit, but the journey because of some hills and valleys, may be strenuous for some.

The caves were formed through the limestone that covers much of the ground area through the state. Limestone was formed through the deposits of silt and sediment of a lake that moved in over Kentucky several times in ancient history.

The Green River, that travels through the state, eventually cut through the soft limestone rock. As the river went deeper underground in some areas, it left open cave passages at the higher levels. A layer of harder shell material was also eventually deposited over the top of the cave areas, acting as a cover over the river base.

Because the cave remains a constant 54 degrees the whole year round, tours are given even in winter months.

ARNOLD BURTNEY

where breeding and raising horses is concerned, there's no place like Lexington for the stereotyped horsefarm with miles of white fencing and bluegrass — it really has a blue tinge.

Keeneland Race Track is one of the most beautiful in the world. Even the parking lots have grass and trees.

It is easy to see why horseracing is the sports of queens after a visit to Keeneland. Naturally speaking Kentucky offers everything from high mountains to deep caves. Daniel Boone loved "them thar hills."

The Mammoth Cave National Park is an attractive diversion for those who have not been inside a cave.

Located near the center of the state, the park has approximately 150 miles of underground passageway.

Tours of the cave area are conducted daily. Some trips are available only on the weekend or special occasions.

The tours, depending on which you choose, can last from two to six hours and are priced from between $2 and $4.

One tour, the Wild Cave Tour, is limited to 15 persons, each equipped with hard hats, head lanterns, knee pads and the scruffiest clothes possible.

Nature Center's a half hour away

Just a half hour's drive from the hustle and bustle of suburbia is a quiet haven for wildlife and an environmental education for its visitors.

The 140-acre Drayton Plains Nature Center includes ponds, marshlands, nature trails and a live animal and nature museum.

The center which serves southeastern Michigan offers year round programs for scores of persons from ranging from pre-schoolers to senior citizens.

One major aspect is the live animal museum, the only one of its kind in the Lower Peninsula, which provides care for injured or orphaned wildlife until they are able to take care of themselves. They are then released in a habitat in which they can survive.

Steve Vandenberg is the energetic director of the center. Along with his associate Michael Van Gordon, a naturalist, he guided 2,900 school children through the center since May 1.

Outside the large, two-story white frame building which once served as headquarters for the Drayton Plains Fish Hatchery, all is peaceful as ducks scoot about the property and a gently warm breeze carries the sounds of the birds.

Inside phones ring continuously as callers ask how to care for abandoned baby birds and receive a feeding recipe.

Between phone calls, a volunteer hand feeds tiny rabbits and opposums which are huddled in cardboard boxes.

Throughout the small, live animal museum where animals recuperate in cages there are signs which stress that the center "is not a zoo. The animals seen here are either orphaned young or older animals that are injured. As soon as an animal is fit enough to take care of itself, it is released back into the wild."

On the second floor where there is a lecture room for center visitors stuffed animals are displayed as they would be seen in natural habitats.

Programs offered through the year include fishing derbies, art exhibits, classes in natural handicrafts, talks on wildflowers, pond life, forests, animals and general nature study.

Visitors may hike the self-guided trail or they can arrange a guided group tour.

Already reserving time in October for school groups, Vandenberg tells teachers that students visiting should be ready to explore a pond from the inside out.

Youngsters and teachers are expected to doff their shoes and wade through a pond to see how a muskrat really builds his house, stores his food and cuts channels through the pond.

"We call this the climatic approach," Vandenberg said. "It involves kids in feeling their surroundings. It involves the use of the whole body with the de-emphasization of the eyes."

Trails include one for handicapped persons.

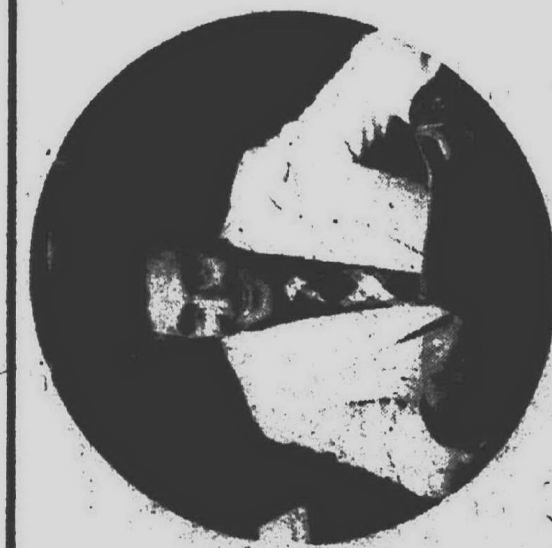

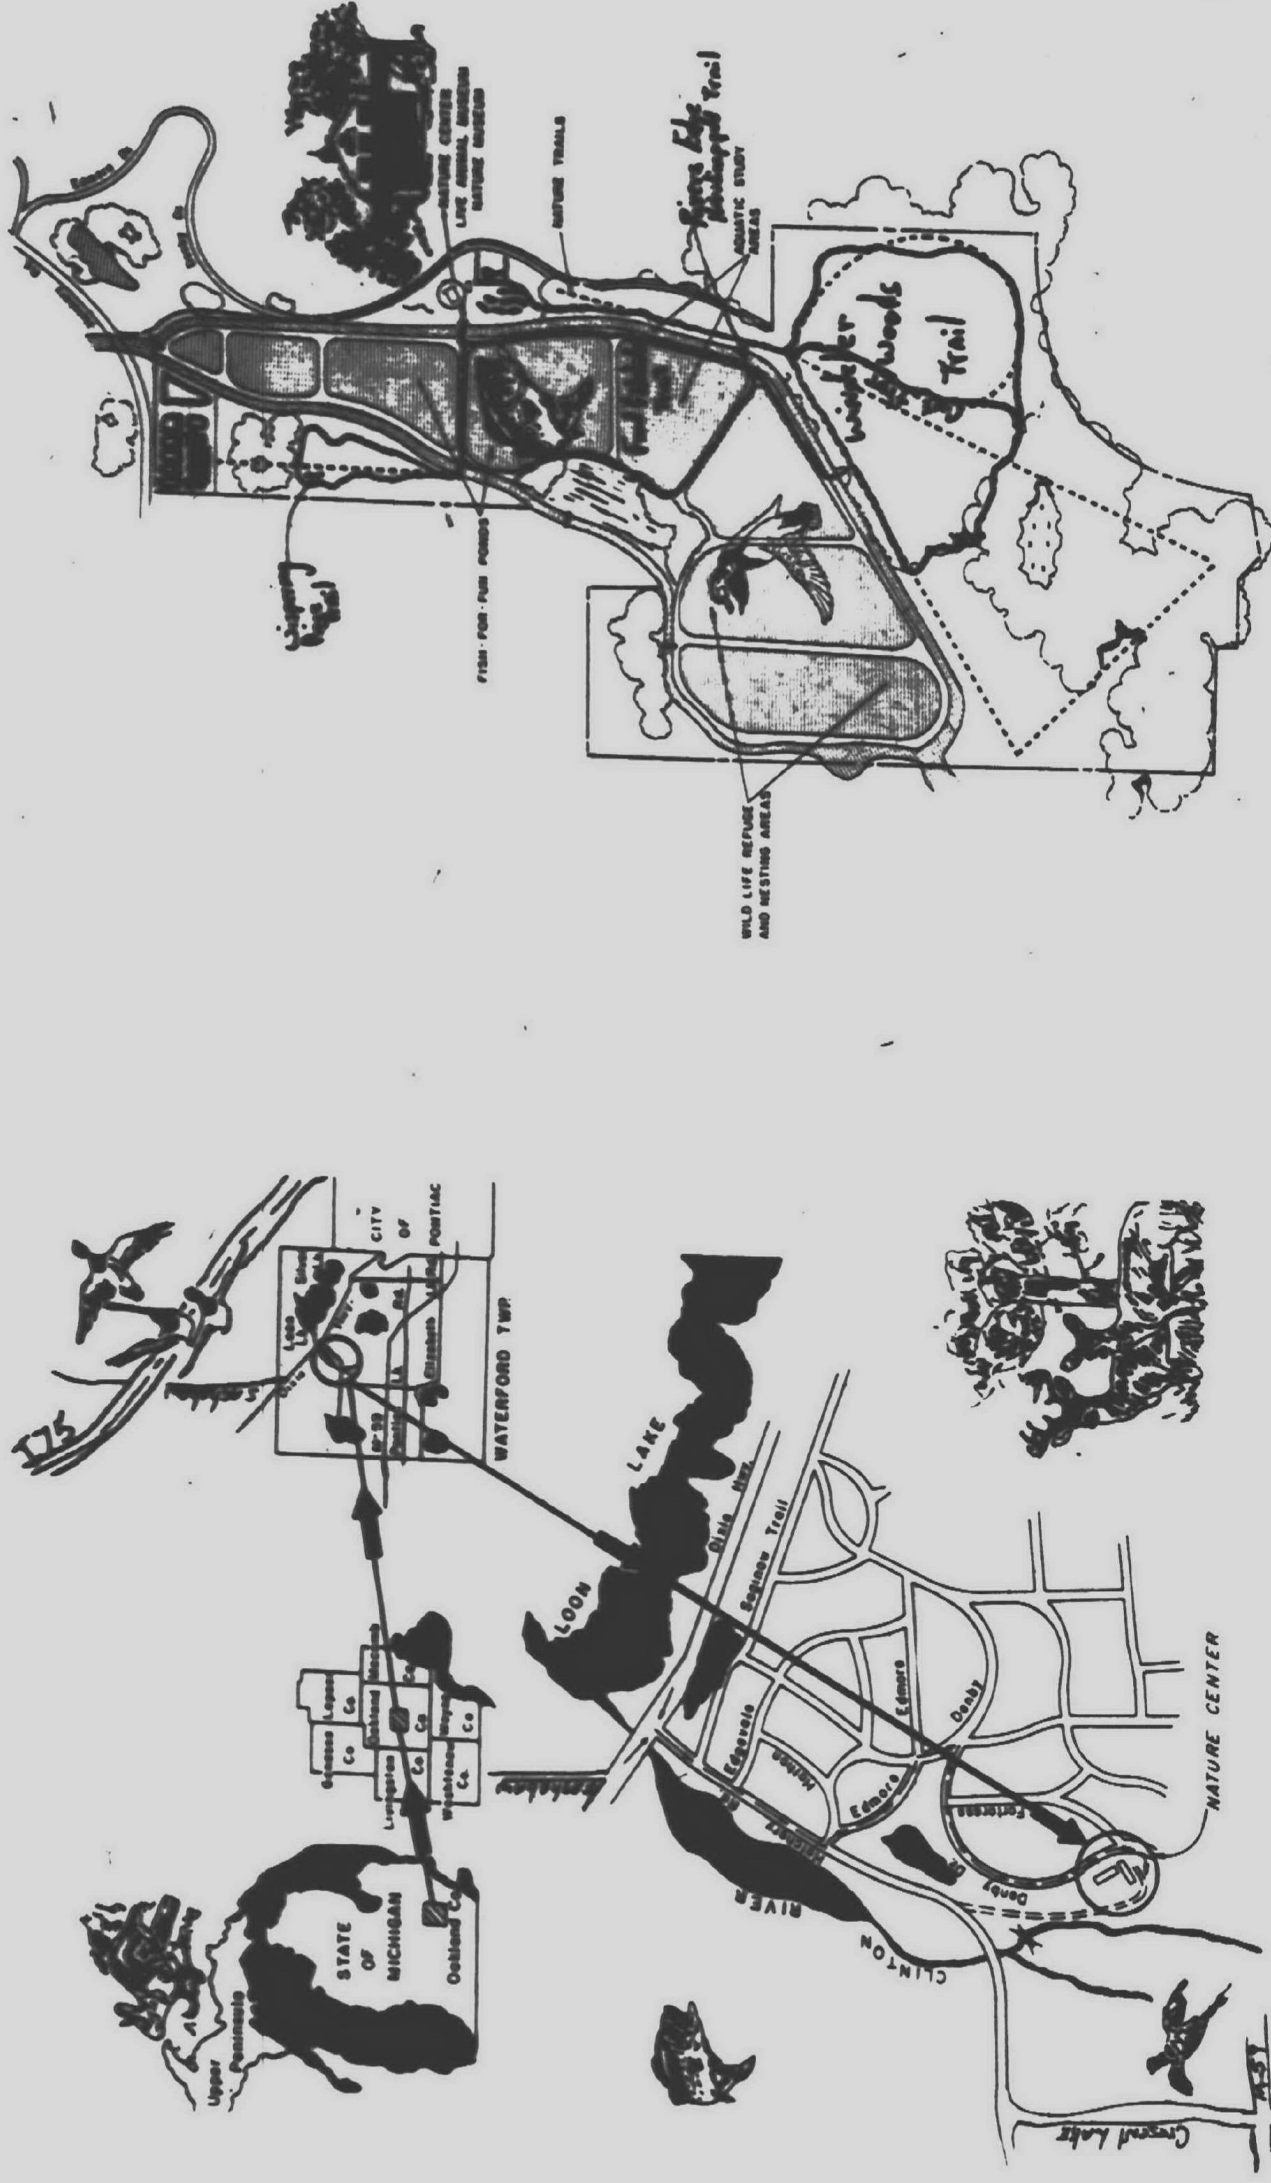

Hikers can observe the grassy hilltop prairies, glacial lakes abundant with wildlife, tall hardwood forests which surround cattail marshes and pine plantations.

Development of the center has been through private financing, annual contributions, memberships and small admission fees.

Vandenberg and Van Gordon are presently the only two persons on the center's payroll. The remainder of the work is handled by volunteers.

The unique center is located just east of Hatchery Road in Waterford Township. It is open to the public from 1 to 5 p.m. daily except Monday.
