Parking downtown in the city-- is the policy fairly enforced?

Polls open tomorrow

Light voter turnouts are expected for the primary elections to be held Tuesday in the City of Plymouth, and Plymouth and Canton Townships.

Interest in the local races in both townships is expected to generate a heavier turnout than in the city, the clerks say, although all say they're preparing for light voting.

Both Plymouth Township Clerk Helen Richardson and Canton Township Clerk John Flodin are estimating they'll get about a 35 per cent turnout.

City Clerk Paul Brumfield is anticipating a 15-20 per cent turnout at the polls since there are no local races as in the township.

Voting precincts will be open Tuesday from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Fall Fest features costumes, produce

PLYMOUTH—Vintage costumes and fresh produce will add a colorful note to the activities at Plymouth's 1974 Fall Festival, which runs from Sept. 5-8.

A slice of old Americana will be provided by the costume competition. Authenticity is demanded in this AAUW-sponsored contest which will highlight the 1850-1890 time period. The costumes must be authentic or a good reproduction and complete in detail except for footwear. Categories will include: family-two or more persons may include; children-persons up to age 14; and adult-persons age 14 and over.

FIRST, SECOND and third prizes will be awarded. The contest will be held on Sunday, Sept. 8. Judging will be from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. behind the bandstand in Kellogg Park. Winners will be announced at 3 p.m.

The products of Michigan's farms and gardens will be featured in the produce exhibition and competition sponsored by the Rotary Club.

Farmers, commercial retailers, and residents of all ages are eligible to enter the competition.

THIS YEAR the first four categories will be judged separately. All entries must be Michigan grown. The categories are:

- (1.) A wheelbarrow of mixed garden vegetables attractively displayed.
 - (2.) Five bushels of pumpkins and/or squash arranged in a pile, using any variety of mixtures.
 - (3.) A bushel basket of husked sweet corn.
 - (4.) A small pyramid of home grown muskmelons.
- OTHER CATEGORIES will be:
- (1.) Soy beans-the plant with the most pods.
 - (2.) Indian corn-an eight eared bundle of husked corn.
 - (3.) Tall corn-the tallest stalk of any kind of corn, measured from the ground to the tip.

- (4.) Largest pumpkin or squash.
- (5.) Old-fashioned bouquet of fresh garden flowers.
- (6.) Tallest sunflower with largest blossom.

Ribbons for first, second, third place and honorable mention will be awarded in each category. Entries must be placed under the exhibit's tent in Kellogg Park by 1 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 8. Ribbons will be awarded to winning entries around 3 p.m.

PLYMOUTH—Last year, the Plymouth City Commission approved a liquor license for a proposed restaurant in the vacant Consumer Discount Building on Forest.

According to the city's parking ordinance, owner R. Terry Cuson didn't have enough space to handle the cars of his anticipated customers. Before final approval was granted, Cuson agreed to make up for his lack of parking by purchasing additional spaces from the city.

He was 30 spaces short. For $1,000 apiece he bought 30 "parking credits" which entitled his customers to use city-owned parking lots.

The question is whether or not these spaces will be there when Cuson's customers try to park.

"Thirty spaces don't exist," said Commissioner Harold Guenther. "A cross-checking of downtown business needs with the ordinance would show the spaces are not downtown, they're not here when you want to park."

The 30 spaces which the city sold were not specifically designated, nor were they placed in any particular municipal lot.

The closest city-owned parking is behind the Mayflower Hotel in the Wiedman Lot. It's already the busiest one in town. "There isn't anything to sell," said Mayflower Owner Ralph Lorenz. "We're already critically jammed. It's like selling air."

City Manager Fred L. Yockey emphasizes the city didn't just trade non-existent parking for the new merchant's money.

"They (Cuson) didn't buy space," he said. "They purchased credits in other available parking facilities downtown. They bought anywhere they could find a space."

According to several downtown merchants, the situation with Cuson's proposed restaurant reflects the confusion of merchants and city officials alike over just what, if any, parking policy now exists in the central business district.

"The only policy we have is to administer the ordinance," Guenther said. "We let go begging the question of our basic interest—the only thing we have for the city's economic welfare is local business."

Whether or not downtown Plymouth has enough parking, city-owned lots are a losing proposition.

This year the city budget anticipates a parking fund deficit of more than $25,000, with next year's losses expected to exceed $26,000. To keep the lots operating the city has to make up the deficit out of its general fund. Improvements in downtown parking, whether they be parking structures or new lots or reduced fees, probably cannot be financed by municipal bonds until the existing facilities are nearly self-supporting, say merchants.

Right now drivers who come downtown have their choice of three large municipal lots, a smaller one and blocks of meter-lined streets.

Among these lots are the 28-car Penniman Lot, which is located near the U.S. Post Office off Penniman; the Wiedman Lot, which has space for 100

Medical, business education classes expanded by Madonna

Madonna College in Livonia has added new courses for adults in the areas of business administration, teacher education and emergency medical training.

The business and teacher education offerings have been expanded and an emergency medical technician program initiated.

Registration will be held tonight (Monday) from 7-9 p.m. and Tuesday, Aug. 6, from 9-11 a.m. and 1-5 p.m. Classes begin Sept. 3.

MADONNA HAS the first four-year program in the state to train emergency medical technicians. The program is also offered by Schoolcraft College in Livonia, but the community college offers a two-year program.

The program will begin in September with two introductory courses. EMT I will encompass techniques and responsibilities of emergency medical care, including symptoms and procedures, and will meet Saturday mornings.

Students taking basic anatomy and physiology may attend class Mondays or Tuesdays, mornings or evenings. The program leads to a one-year certificate, a two-year associate degree, or the four-year bachelor of science degree.

HAVING RECENTLY been approved by the State Department of Education to certify teachers in learning disabilities and in vocational education-trade and industry, Madonna will introduce education courses for certification this fall.

Teachers or students seeking learning disabilities certification endorsement will be interested in an introductory course exploring problems in perception and motor skills. It will meet Thursday evenings, 7-10. An advanced course, diagnostic and prescriptive techniques in learning disabilities, is offered by arrangement.

To help meet state legislative requirements that all schools institute career education in grades K-12 by 1975, Madonna will offer introduction to career education on Thursdays from 4:30-6:30 p.m.

For persons skilled in trade and health occupations who wish to become certified to teach in vocational programs, foundations of vocational education will be taught Tuesday evenings.

MADONNA'S business administration department has scheduled introductory accounting, including preparation of working papers and financial statements, for Thursday evenings. Introduction to business will be offered Saturday mornings.

Madonna continues to be strong in its liberal arts, nursing and allied health professions, and criminal justice. Enrollment grew to an all-time high of 1,086 last year, due in part to flexible scheduling and personal attention in planning programs for students. More than half the students on campus are more than 25 years old.

cars behind the Mayflower; the East-Central lot behind the library and the Penn Theater, which holds 130 cars; and the Central Lot, a 240-car facility in the block bounded by Main, Penniman, Harvey and Ann Arbor Trail.

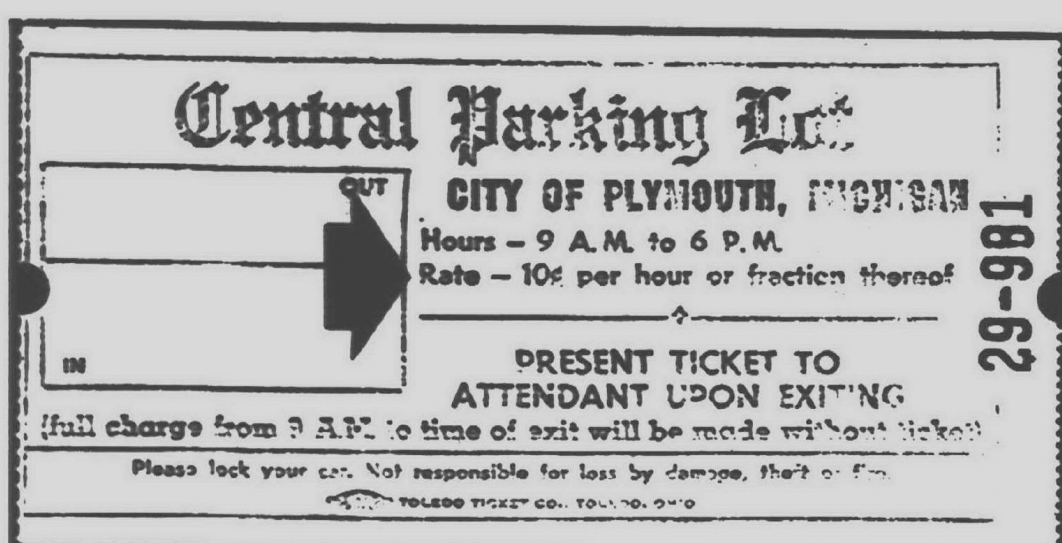

The Wiedman and Penniman lots are entirely metered. Most of the East-Central Lot spaces have parking meters, but there are also several spaces marked "permit parking only," which are leased to citizens for $7.50 per month each. Twenty-three downtown merchants and their employees currently hold permits, including Lorenz, who parks in the Wiedman Lot.

In contrast, Central Lot parking is controlled by an attendant at the Harvey Street gate who collects five cents for each hour parked.

The Wiedman and Penniman lots are owned by the Municipal Building Authority, which as of last year owed $235,000 for their purchase and construction.

The city bought the Wiedman Lot in 1967 in cooperation with several downtown merchants. Robert Delaney, Herman Halperin, Ralph Lorenz, Charles Finlan, Robert Beyer and Herman Bakhaus contributed a total of $96,000 toward its purchase.

That sum, on which they are still making payments, was intended to purchase parking credits on the lot in the event that any of the six should develop nearby properties and require parking space in the lot in order to meet occupancy requirements of the city's parking ordinance.

In effect they paid $860 apiece seven years ago for spaces which were sold last year for $1,000. As a practical matter, however, Lorenz is the only one of the six to put the lot to considerable use. It is often crowded to overflowing and is the same space for which Cuson's customers in the Consumer Discount Building will be vying.

According to Attorney Delaney, even though the $1,000 spaces may not exist, they are a bargain. "That figure is excessively low," he said. "The $1,000 wouldn't equal the contributions of others and parking there is already inadequate."

"There was no communication, no discussion, no notice given beforehand to any of the affected businesses," Delaney said of the city commission's decision to sell the $1,000 parking credits to Cuson.

Delaney and others have noted that parking spaces in downtown Plymouth are actually valued at about $3,000.

"The $1,000 is no longer realistic," said Yockey. "We should be talking closer to $3,000," Lorenz agrees. "Fifteen years ago the price was right," he said. "Now it needs re-evaluating. It is no longer a fair price."

"I'll buy as many spaces as they'll sell me for $1,000," said Fred Hill, owner of John Smith Men's and Boy's Wear and one of the merchants whose stores adjoin the Central Lot.

The case at the Central Lot is altogether different from the situation at Wiedman. The lot is seldom filled to capacity.

"There's plenty of parking for about 90 per cent of the time," said Fred Beitner, owner of Beitner's Jewelry. "We're providing enough now, but you have to consider that that's (the Central Lot) a pretty static lot. The big bind will be when another business comes."

Within the next few weeks the city commission is expected to approve an increase in parking fees at the Central Lot from five to 10 cents per hour, according to DPW Director Ken Vogras. The 10-cent tickets are already being used, even though the old rate is still in effect.

In the past the city tried offering free parking to shoppers with merchants picking up the tab, then installed meters, but neither alternative was successful. The Plymouth DPW has about 50 "permit parking only" signs in storage from yet another short-lived experiment.

The increased fee could make up much of the parking operation's $25,000 annual losses. "It's a pretty heavy expense to have an attendant on the lot," Yockey said.

According to some of the merchants, attendant parking is preferable to meters because it creates less pressure on customers, but meters are much cheaper to operate. "Labor costs eat up an awful chunk of revenue, it's an ineffective approach," said James McKeon, who along with Fred Hill is a member of a newly-created Plymouth Chamber of Commerce parking committee.

McKeon and others see the 10-cent ticket as a stop-gap measure which doesn't really alter the need for improved parking downtown. "It's not looking at the total program," he said.

"I'd rather have meters, myself," said DPW Director Vogras the attendant-parking arrangement. "We're constantly having problems with equipment. It's a constant hassle."

But most merchants and city officials agree that parking downtown, whether on the Central Lot or the Wiedman, is more than a simple matter of meters vs. attendants vs. merchant-paid parking. At stake is the growth and prosperity of downtown itself.

"If there're 50 businessmen, there're 50 experts," said Guenther. "Parking is like money, it's everything and it's anything."

Youth Inc. donations rolling in PLYMOUTH—Donations totalling $3,366 have been received by Youth Inc. since the city's decision to cut that agency's annual funding in half.

Included in those gifts to the agency were: $1,000 from an anonymous source; $100 each from the Plymouth Insurance Agency and the Plymouth Elks Club; $400 from the Plymouth Education Association (teacher's union); $59 from other individuals' contributions; $1,726 from the contest held July 4th; $97 from sale of buttons; $104 from the bake sale; $153 from the newspaper drive; and $750 from guests at a party held by Dr. Gary Hall.

The youth agency, located at 271 S. Main St., is still seeking more donations to overcome its past deficit and needs for this year, says Director Dale Yagiola.

S'craft's DeHoCo courses funded

Schoolcraft College has received continued funding for two educational programs it conducts at the Detroit House of Correction (DeHoCo) under the Manpower Development Training Act (MDT).

Approval of $45,000 for building maintenance and auto mechanics programs was announced by Roland A. Anderson, Schoolcraft's director of business and commerce. The grants bring to nearly $500,000 the amount acquired by Anderson for special projects at DeHoCo over the past three years.

Designed to train male inmates at DeHoCo in building maintenance and auto service mechanics, these two projects have been approved for the fourth consecutive time.

THIS FUNDING has allowed Schoolcraft to train 160 men to date in these ongoing programs since they began in 1971. The college expects to accommodate another 60 men under the new grant.

Beginning on June 24 the projects are funded for an additional six months and will enable Schoolcraft to offer two sessions of both programs each lasting 13 weeks. The men work an eight hour day as they train in their programs.

Each program has a full-time instructor, and both are coordinated by a director who is responsible for basic education and job placement. Basic education, which is 25 per cent of each inmate's training, consists of reading, writing, mathematics, and employee relations.

THE COLLEGE also administers two other programs for women at DeHoCo.

One is the child care worker program where women inmates are trained while working with children at the Plymouth Center for Human Development. The college recently graduated 23 women from this program.

A second is the intensive clerical worker training which has been funded for the past three years by the disadvantaged and handicapped program. Schoolcraft has touched the lives of approximately 150 women inmates through its instruction in this area.

All training facilities are housed completely within DeHoCo, according to Anderson. Upon completion of their programs at DeHoCo, trainees are placed in jobs throughout the area.

"Placement of our trainees in the building maintenance and auto service mechanics programs has been approximately 60 per cent," Anderson added.

to tap energy
is approved

The House has approved the Geothermal Energy Research, Development and Demonstration Act of 1974, the second in a series of bills supported by U.S. Rep. Marvin L. Esch (R-Ann Arbor) aimed at developing new and environmentally sound sources of energy.

The legislation, overwhelmingly approved by a recorded vote July 10, established a three-pronged program for utilizing the energy trapped below the earth's crust by virtue of its extreme pressures and ensuing heat reservoir.

NOTING THAT THE energy crisis has spurred the search for new energy sources within the U.S., Esch said during debate on the Geothermal bill that the legislation is "geared towards perfecting its efficient extraction and commercial utilization."

The congressman, whose 2nd District includes Livonia and Plymouth, was a chief sponsor of a bill already signed into law to harness solar energy for heating and cooling. Esch noted the Geothermal bill would put great emphasis on environmental impact.

While no adverse effects are expected, Esch said appropriate design changes could neutralize any problems and "this is in contrast to most existing energy sources where environmental factors were only an afterthought and hence ensuing problems have been rectified with great inconvenience and expense."

THE LEGISLATION, which was approved earlier this year by the House Science and Astronautics Committee of which Esch is a member, will help in discovery of new geothermal resource areas and development of demonstration projects to produce electrical power.

Esch said the legislation, of which he was a co-sponsor, would offer an "innovative approach to our current energy crisis. Geothermal energy isn't subject to capricious stoppages. The realization of geothermal energy will signify a return to the old-fashioned tradition of native American ingenuity."

Under the bill, the federal phase of the program will terminate when geothermal energy's commercial viability has been successfully demonstrated. The target date for this goal is five years.

Hamilton profit is on the rise

Continued upward trend in income is being experienced by Hamilton International Corporation (HIC) and its principal subsidiary, Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Company of America.

Richard H. Headlee, president of HIC, reports that for the six months ended June 30, net income totaled $1.67 million or 21 cents on seven million plus outstanding shares. This is an increase of 27 per cent over income of $1.3 million or 18 cents per share for the corresponding period last year.

REVENUES FOR the six months amounted to $18.6 million, or an increase of $3 million from the $15.5 million reported for the same period in 1973.

Of the $3 million increase, investment income accounted for $978,000, group life $302,000, and group accident and health, $1.5 million.

For the three-month, second quarter ended June 30, 1974, the company's net income was $1 million or 13 cents per share on revenues of $10.2 million. Results for the same period last year were $8 million in revenues and net income of $715,100 or nine cents per share.

HEADLEE, also chief executive officer of HIC, says these results mark the sixth consecutive quarter in which net income exceeded the quarterly performance in the prior period.

During the six months, the corporation paid a total of $67,600 on its four per cent convertible preferred stock for years 1973 and 1974.

Alexander Hamilton Life has more than 100,000 policyholders with more than $1.2 billion of life insurance in force. Insurance as of June 30, 1974, was $1.23 billion compared with $1.16 billion in force on the same date last year.

Phi Beta Kappa

LIVONIA—James Hanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald E. Hanson of 9618 Cavell, has been inducted into Kalamazoo College's chapter of Phi Beta Kappa.

Hanson is in his junior year.

Phi Beta Kappa, a national honor society founded in 1776, is the oldest such organization in the United States. Eligibility for membership is determined on the basis of high academic distinction.

"Dr. Ed Pierce...seems to understand issues and people slightly better than any of the other candidates. He is knowledgeable in foreign policy and his record of opposition to the American involvement in Vietnam is a long one. He would provide some excellent insights to the Congressional debate on national health insurance."

"Edward C. Pierce is a physician whose medical practice is largely for the poor; he is highly articulate and has served as an Ann Arbor City Councilman. The choice for voters is a tough one but we endorse Edward C. Pierce."

WE SUPPORT
DR. ED PIERCE

"We support Ed Pierce for Congress because he is best qualified to represent us in these troubled political times. Of the five candidates seeking the Democratic Congressional nomination he is the only one to have held an elective office. His work in founding the Summit Street Medical Center to provide care for the less affluent shows a dedication to the people of this area that is not matched by the other candidates."

Dr. Pierce's personal sacrifice in time and income for the sake of the clinic indicates a person whose integrity we can believe. We will vote for Ed Pierce on August 6, and urge our fellow citizens to do likewise."

"Dr. Ed Pierce is the founder of the Summit Medical Center, a former City Councilman, and unsuccessful candidate for Mayor. He is a humanitarian, an idealist and a person of integrity, all qualities which stand out against the squalid goings-on in Washington."

"When it comes to hard choices, we'd vote for Ed Pierce. We welcome his candidacy this year, as we have respected his views in other campaigns. He spoke out early against the Vietnam War, a good indication of a man who is willing to help form public opinion instead of merely being part of it."

Why schools reassessed new math

By CORINNE ABATT

Ever since the concept of modern math hit the national scene about 15 years ago, it has met with mixed reactions.

Students who used an abacus or talked about Base 10 at the dinner table encountered bewilderment from parents who learned their math by rote drills — flash cards, plenty of homework of the nitty gritty type and practice in class until they had it down number perfect.

If parents and business people who later hired the products of modern math had some concerns about whether they could indeed add, subtract, multiply and divide, they were not alone.

Garden City followed the national trend to modern math after a careful study by a committee of administrators, teachers and resource people. They decided on the approach which is called the Greater Cleveland modern math, named after the Ohio city which pioneered it.

The Greater Cleveland approach had the stamp of approval of the highly respected Science Research Association (SRA).

Beatty says he was concerned that if, in the midst of the abstract theory of modern math, the students were also acquiring the necessary basic computational skills.

ABOUT 12 YEARS ago the Garden City district introduced the senior math testing program. Before graduation requirements are complete, each senior must pass a sixth grade level proficiency test of basic computational skills. Those seniors who fail a pre-test are given instructional materials to work with until they can pass the test.

Beatty's feeling is that the basic skills should be taught first and those youngsters who can handle the theory should be encouraged to do so.

He says, "Our present SRA material is not sufficient in drill and practice."

For a number of years, the district has been testing at all elementary levels to check math proficiency and has been encouraging the use of reinforcement materials for the basic skills.

In addition to the reinforcement, the district has taken several other major steps.

To correct what has been felt to be incorrect procedures Beatty says, "We started tooling up for a pilot program in Garden City."

THERE ARE TWO KINDS of pilot programs. Five math test book publishers were identified. Together they were willing to donate some $6,000 worth of materials and books to the district to try on a pilot basis.

Students were pre-tested before the programs were started and will be tested again at the end of the year. These will give an indication of the effectiveness of the various materials. Teacher effectiveness is, of course, the unknown quantity.

Before this, the district had become aware of the Shaw-Hiehle math program in Flint, a course of adjunctive math materials, course and put it into use in the Flint schools.

It has since been published by Houghton Mifflin.

Beatty and a group of teachers and administrators have visited Flint several times to see the program in action.

Beatty says of the Shaw-Hiehle program, "The minute I saw it, as an ex-math teacher, I was extremely interested."

He says that when Brice Shaw, math coordinator for the Flint district, found Flint students dropping behind the national norms at the rate of a quarter of a grade each year, he began testing and designing back-up materials to reinforce math skills.

Strangely enough, this same thing was taking place in Garden City, Beatty says. "Shaw was doing the same thing we were, but he started sooner."

Garden City instituted the Shaw-Hiehle programs in the Title I classes last year for both elementary and junior high students.

Title I is a federally funded program of supplemental service for students who are one standard deviation or more below the norm in reading and math. The local program hasn't any financial limitations, it is for all children who need help in reading and math. It is now in Douglas, Harrison and Henry Ruff elementary schools and Hymen A. Vogel Junior High.

In the first two months that Shaw-Hiehle was used, some of the youngsters gained a year and a half in proficiency and Beatty says, "all improved significantly."

Livonian crushed by door

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP—A Livonia man died in Wayne County General Hospital Wednesday after reportedly being crushed by an 1,800 pound steel door which fell on him while working in the Evans Products plant, 13101 Eckles Rd., Plymouth Township.

Robert Eugene Hutton, 51, of 33989 Richland, died shortly after arriving at the hospital. He had been rushed there by the Plymouth Township fire department which responded to the accident call at 11:17 a.m.

Chief James Gignac, of the township fire department, said when the ambulance crew arrived at the plant, they found Hutton on the floor with the steel door on top of him.

Hutton suffered a heart attack on the way to the hospital but was revived by firemen. He died in the hospital about 15 minutes after arrival, the chief said.

Funeral services were held Saturday with burial at Oakland Hills Cemetery.

He is survived by his wife, Lucile, a daughter, Mrs. David Lee, and son, Jerry.

Also surviving are his mother, Mrs. Violet Hutton, a brother, five sisters, and two grandchildren.

PLYMOUTH COMMUNITY SCHOOL DISTRICT Plymouth, Michigan

BOARD OF EDUCATION MINUTES

A special meeting of the Board of Education of the Plymouth Community School District, Wayne and Washtenaw Counties, Michigan, was held on Monday evening, July 15, 1974, in the Conference Room of the Board of Education Building, 454 S. Harvey Street, Plymouth, Michigan. The meeting was called to order at 7:45 p.m. by the President following an executive session of the Board.

Present: Members Benson, Berry, Borowski, Lawton, McClendon, Mirto and Yack.

Absent: None

Administrators present: Sup't. Hoben, Deputy Sup't. Hogan, Assistant Sup't.-Business Hoedel, Administrative Assistant-Personnel Kee, Principals Brown, Bulkema, Smith and Spaniel and Coordinator Bearup.

Others present: Representatives of the P.E.A., Transportation Employees Association, the Safety Committee and Plymouth Newspapers; K. Otto, S. Pedersen and several citizens, parents and students.

Additions to the agenda were called.

The revision of the High School Attendance Policy was reviewed by Principal Brown who described significant changes in the policy as passed by the Board in August 1973 and approved on November 12, 1973. He indicated the new policy was an attempt to work out the best possible way to keep parents involved in keeping children in school, and not kicking them out of school, but that Item No. 7 of the policy would provide for suspension of a student either in-school or out-of-school. He pointed out that the new revisions were made as a result of working with the teaching staff and administration. Coordinator Bearup explained the difficulty arising by the amount of paper work required of teachers under the policy passed last August and that the new revision was an attempt to eliminate the "cycle cut slip" by reporting directly to the parents rather than using that slip. He also pointed out that the number of absences allowed before notification was changed from four to five per semester. All teachers were given a chance to provide input back to the Committee about any changes they would like to see in the policy but only 10 did respond.

Board members raised many questions regarding the proposed policy. President McClendon reviewed the history of the policy over the past year and that teachers feel this item is a point of negotiation on working conditions. He reviewed the various points, comments and opposition raised by different Board members as follows:

- Define options.
- Specific notification dates.
- Involvement of student government in policy.
- Objection to the 50% absence clause.
- Automatic failure or nonattendance more definitive.
- Define what is policy and what is procedure.
- Terminology more clear.
- Incentives for attendance — absence not always student's fault (motivation).
- Intent toward individualization.
- Emphasis on in-school rather than out-of-school suspension.
- Recognition of different styles of learning to be included in preamble.
- Spell out restrictions of number of absences when credit could not be given.
- Expulsion not mentioned as such, only inferred.
- Teacher participation.
- Case of injury upon the 5th absence, when parents have not been notified of other four absences.

President McClendon also suggested that the policy be adopted for the beginning of the 1974-75 school year, with the staff taking into account the comments made and bringing back to the Board with recommended changes as soon as possible. Member Benson raised the question of the staff committee which had drafted this policy and which would have to be reconvened.

It was moved by Member Berry and seconded by Member Mirto that the old policy as adopted stand as is until this new policy is updated and brought back to the Board for approval.

Member Lawton pointed out that the points raised for consideration were not those which would be of direct interest to teachers so that the policy could be brought back to the Board by the second meeting in July.

A substitute motion as follows was offered by Member Borowski and seconded by Member Benson: That this Board adopt the attendance policy as proposed by administration with these exceptions — (1) Omit the second sentence of paragraph No. 3 on page 1, and (2) Omit that part of Item No. 7, beginning "Such things as" ... and ending "to attend remaining classes," but retaining the last sentence of the item with the entire subsequent policy to come before this Board upon rewriting.

It was moved by Member Yack and seconded by Member Lawton to amend the substitute motion to add to Paragraph No. 5, Item No. 1, the option to parents to be notified of an absence upon the first unexcused absence from class.

Ayes: None.

Nays: Members Benson, Berry, Borowski, Lawton, McClendon, Mirto and Yack.

The motion was defeated.

Vote on substitute motion:

Ayes: Members Benson, Berry, Borowski, Lawton and Yack.

Nays: Member Mirto.

Abstain: Member McClendon.

The motion was carried.

It was moved by Member Lawton and seconded by Member Yack that Paragraph No. 5, Item No. 1 be referred to administration to study the possible means of implementing this recommendation and bring back to the Board no later than the October meeting.

Ayes: Members Benson, Berry, Borowski, Lawton, McClendon, Mirto and Yack.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

Sup't. Hoben reviewed the matter of the implementation of the 45-15 plan at Miller School on July 22, 1974, and indicated that Wednesday noon, July 17, would be the last possible time to come to a decision regarding this.

It was moved by Member Borowski and seconded by Member Mirto that (1) if the Board has not reached a negotiated settlement with the Plymouth Education Association by Wednesday noon, July 17, 1974, that we go to one of our proposed options to moving to East Middle School to house a small elementary school for added Miller School pupils; or, (2) if there is no negotiated settlement, to open Miller School on July 22, 1974, and submit to arbitration with the P.E.A. based on the last offered positions for a two-year contract, with all tentative agreements holding, and binding arbitration on unresolved economic issues.

Discussion on the motion followed. Member Lawton hoped that the community and public would know that this Board has spent an immense number of hours trying to negotiate a settlement, that there are a limited number of options open and that this Board would like to be able to enter into a situation to open Miller School on time. Member Mirto expressed the opinion that any opinion resulting from arbitration would rule in favor of the Board. President McClendon read a petition received from the Miller School 45-15 Steering Committee and signed by 12 persons which requested that the plan be instituted on July 22 as planned. Mrs. Suzanne Barrie spoke to the issue as a representative of that committee. Board members resolved several questions with administration regarding space limitations, busing of pupils, etc. Member Benson reviewed the amount of time which has been spent setting up the 45-15 plan and indicated that the Board understood previously that the teachers would participate. The question was called.

Ayes: Members Benson, Berry, Borowski, Lawton, McClendon, Mirto and Yack.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

It was moved by Member Benson and seconded by Member Berry to call a five-minute recess.

Ayes: Members Benson, Berry, Borowski, Lawton, McClendon, Mirto and Yack.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

The meeting was recessed. Members Benson and Mirto were excused upon call to order.

It was moved by Member Lawton and seconded by Member Berry that the Board By-Laws as submitted by administration be referred to the Board President and the Superintendent for review and for their recommendations and if Board members have input on those By-Laws, such comments should be forwarded to the President or the Superintendent.

Ayes: Members Berry, Borowski, Lawton, McClendon and Yack.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

President McClendon hoped that all Board members would go through the By-Laws and point out any changes they would desire.

Member Mirto returned to the meeting.

It was moved by Member Yack and seconded by Member Lawton, that in view of the presentations made by architectural firms during a day-long session, that the firm of Tarapata, MacMahon and Paulsen Associates be appointed to plan for three elementary schools as projected in the District and that administration be directed to negotiate a satisfactory fee with that firm for such services.

Ayes: Members Berry, Borowski, Lawton, McClendon, Mirto and Yack.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

Member Benson returned to the meeting. Superintendent Hoben reviewed the new State Aid bill which has presently been passed in the State Legislature, indicating several areas of change which would affect this school district. He answered questions from members of the Board and indicated that the amounts budgeted in the bill would not be cut by about $15,000,000 by the Governor in order to balance the budget.

It was moved by Member Berry and seconded by Member Borowski to adjourn this special meeting.

Ayes: Members Benson, Berry, Borowski, Lawton, McClendon, Mirto and Yack.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

The meeting was adjourned at 10 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
MARCIA BOROWSKI, Secretary
Board of Education

Stearns to direct health department

Dr. Perry Stearns has been named director of the Wayne County Health Department by the county board of health.

Stearns, who will start the new job in early August, comes to Wayne County from Prince Georges County, Md., where he was public health chief.

Announcement of the appointment was made by County Commissioner Brian G. Arrowsmith (R-Canton), chairman of the health board. His commission district includes Plymouth, Canton and part of Westland.

STEARNS, 50, will be the first permanent director of the department since Dr. George C. Pickett resigned in January 1971, to take a job out of state.

S. John (Sam) Stock, then chief of the environmental health division, has been acting director since but was ineligible for permanent appointment because a state statute requires a medical doctor. Stock will be deputy director under Stearns.

"Appointment of Dr. Stearns is the culmination of a careful national search, and we are fortunate to have found a public health administrator of his high caliber," says Arrowsmith.

DR. PERRY STEARNS

"Stearns is considered a top authority in prevention of epidemics (epidemiology) and environmental health, which is one of our key concerns.

"We on the board of health were also impressed by the fact that in Prince Georges County, part of the Washington, D.C. region, Stearns has been dealing with many of the same public health problems we face here in Wayne County — from big cities to suburbs."

LIKE SUBURBAN Wayne County, the population of Prince Georges County has doubled in the last 10 years.

Stearns became head of the health department there in 1971, directing some 530 employees with a budget of about $8 million.

The county health department has about 330 employees and a budget of almost $10 million, including the federally-assisted air pollution control division and PRESCAD services for low-income mothers and children.

Stearns will earn $43,890 in his new position.

A Milwaukee native, he is a graduate of Harvard University and the Boston University School of Medicine. He also holds a master of public health degree from Columbia University.

Before that, he was assistant commissioner for community services, responsible for coordinating departments, including the City of Baltimore.

Stearns served in the U.S. Navy during WWII and as an Army physician during the Korean war.

Other members of the health board, besides Arrowsmith, are county commissioners James DeSana (D-Wyandotte) and Conrad L. Mallett (D-Detroit) plus Dr. Max Gardner of Grosse Pointe and Mrs. Geraldine O'Loon of Detroit.

How to avoid rush to banks

The National Bank of Detroit has mailed a statement enclosure to 300,000 depositors advising them of the best times to get their banking done in a hurry.

The enclosure, listing high-traffic, heavy-volume days and hours to avoid for fast and convenient banking, is being passed on to customers "to help them avoid standing in line."

Days and hours that should be avoided are:

"Pay days: They come twice a month, usually on the 15th and 30th, and always signal a rush.

"Fridays: Ready cash for week-end leisure activities and shopping trips means crowds of checking customers.

"Social Security Days: Senior citizens get their checks around the third of each month and head promptly for the bank. When the date falls on Friday or Monday, the traffic is extraordinarily heavy.

"Holiday Eves: Teller lines are longer just before a holiday, when most customers need extra spending money. Or just after a holiday when they've used up their cash.

"Noon Hours: People on full time jobs understandably use lunch hour time for banking; if your own schedule permits, choose another time."

Near Closing: The nearer it is to closing time, the greater the congestion. When you skip the last-minute rush, service is faster.

Esch supports 2 bills to help errant youth

Rep. Marvin Esch (R-Ann Arbor) has given his support to two bills in the U.S. House education and labor committee which he says could have a "profound impact" on solving problems of juvenile delinquency and runaway youth.

The committee, of which Esch is a member, recently voted 28-1 to combine the two pieces of legislation Esch introduced into one bill.

The two pieces of legislation cosponsored earlier this session by Esch are the Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Act and the Runaway Youth Act. Esch represents the 2nd District which includes Livonia and Plymouth.

Title I provides a program administered by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) to encourage state agencies to coordinate their efforts in prevention of juvenile delinquency. In so doing, Congress is recognizing that juvenile delinquency is a problem which requires federal attention, explains Esch.

Congress is also recognizing that problems of runaway youth and juvenile delinquency are nearly synonymous. A recent study at the University of Michigan revealed that more than 90 per cent of the estimated 150,000 children who ran away from home last year committed one or more delinquent acts.

In Title II of the legislation the Secretary of HEW is authorized to provide $50,000 for counseling and sheltering runaway children.

A third feature of the legislation is establishment of an Institute for continuing studies of juvenile justice to obtain information needed to better understand the problems of youth.

"Hopefully, this legislation will encourage a great awareness and involvement by state and local officials and parents in solving and preventing the problems of juvenile delinquency and the closely related problems of runaway youth," says Esch.

Lorraine Beebe seeks GOP nomination

Mrs. Lorraine Beebe, the first woman since suffrage to seek a statewide elective administrative post, said recently her campaign for the Republican nomination for Secretary of State is gaining momentum.

With little more than a month to go before the state convention Aug. 23-24 in Detroit, the former state senator from Dearborn has received the endorsement of Republicans in the 10th Congressional District and in Wayne County's 16th Congressional District.

The 10th District, the second largest in the state, contains all or parts of 23 counties. The 16th includes part of Detroit, Southgate, Allen Park, Dearborn, Ecorse, Lincoln Park, Melvindale, River Rouge, Riverview, Trenton, Wyandotte and Grosse Ile Township.

Mrs. Beebe said her experiences as a state senator from 1967-71 and since as executive director of the Michigan Consumers Council, prompted her to seek the secretary of state office.

She resigned from the council earlier this month after two years of service.

She considered resigning last October when she uncovered flaws in the council's enabling legislation that led to questions about the constitutionality of its operation.

"Even though our enabling legislation (PA 277 of 1966) was drafted by the attorney general's office," Mrs. Beebe said, "it was actually disabling. It simply did not provide opportunities for the kind of service the nine million consumers of Michigan need to have."

"In many ways the problem I faced stemmed from the failure of certain government leaders to understand the people's needs and to provide remedies for them. While the problem for the council remains unsolved, similar problems persist in other areas of state government as well.

"FOR EXAMPLE, all through the winter months, people came to me to express their concern over policies within the secretary of state's office. When I reviewed them, I saw that, here again, government leaders simply weren't responding. Once again people's needs weren't being met."

"I decided then," she continued, "that it was time for a different voice in state government. Having held both elective and appointed positions in government, I know how frustrated people feel when their needs are ignored."

WE BOUGHT THIS AD TO SUPPORT ED PIERCE

We the undersigned are people of Livonia, Plymouth, and Northville who believe that it is the responsibility of each citizen to do something personally to help insure the return of honest government to our country. We think that sending Dr. Ed Pierce to Congress will be a big step in that direction. So we each contributed a couple of dollars to buy this ad. Dr. Pierce is a man who for years has been a leader in the Democratic party and in a long list of important causes in this very district. He is a family doctor who gave up his lucrative private medical practice to open a clinic to treat low-income people. He will make an honest, dedicated Congressman. We believe that his integrity is desperately needed in Washington and this ad is our part in helping send him there.

Harris proposes citizens council

Wayne County Commissioner Edgar L. Harris (D-Taylor) has proposed a citizens advisory council and a corps of "business ambassadors" be established to promote industrial development in the county.

"Statistics published by the U. S. Department of Commerce indicate industrial growth in Wayne County dipped in the late 1960s and still hasn't regained its previous pace," said Harris. He added:

"I think we can do a lot more than we are doing at the county level to support local and private industrial development efforts. Everybody's well-being depends on business and industry. That's where 65 per cent of the working people of Wayne County draw their paychecks."

"The county is in a unique position to assist in this vital effort because the county provides a mechanism for communication and cooperation between 43 cities and townships, plus business and other segments of the community in a 622 square mile area."

UNDER HIS proposal, the commissioners would establish the 15-member Wayne County Advisory Council for Business and Community Development.

Council members would include "high-level representatives of business, labor, citizens' organizations, appropriate governmental agencies, education, community services and chambers of commerce," Harris said.

The council would be asked to determine the feasibility of a corps of business ambassadors. These would be citizens, who in the course of their business travels "would convey information about the advantages of Wayne County as a location for business and all-around living," the resolution states.

"There is a lot of undeveloped industrial land in western Wayne County, and a lot of land calling for redevelopment in more built up areas such as Detroit and the downriver suburbs. Everybody benefits when employment and the tax base are expanded through increased business activity."

THE DEVELOPMENT office and county planning commission would provide staff for the advisory council under Harris's plan.

Harris said statistics from "County Business Patterns," an annual statistical publication of the U. S. Department of Commerce, indicated the need for a greater effort to promote business growth.

Reported employment reached a high of 956,334 in 1969, to 903,510 in 1972, the latest years for which figures are available.

Total number of businesses reporting in the commerce department survey declined from 44,416 to 35,858 between 1962 and 1972. However, most of the loss was among businesses with only one to three employees.

MRS. ROSEMARY ANGELLOTTI (left) listens intently as Mrs. Lois Blackwell, director of the Judevine Center for Autistic Children in St. Louis, Mo., explains the method now in operation in the John Tenny Developmental Center, Detroit, by the Wayne County Intermediate School District. It is the only center in the midwest and one of three in the U.S.

Special education tax would promote new autistic program

The one mill tax to finance special education programs throughout Wayne County on Tuesday's ballot has a dual significance, according to officials of the Wayne County Intermediate District.

The tax will provide funds to start new programs needed by the state mandatory special education act, explains Intermediate Supt. Dr. William Simmons, but it will also help sustain programs already in existence.

ONE SUCH example is Michigan's first public school program aimed at educating autistic children — those with the most puzzling of childhood impairments.

The program has been opened by the county intermediate district and has already won praise from the women who developed a successful method of treating autistic behavior, says Simmons.

An autistic child is unloving and unlovable, one who cannot relate to anyone, not even his own family. He won't talk and won't listen. He may be aggressive or withdrawn. Sometimes his mannerisms are bizarre or he has repeated tantrums and can be both destructive and self-destructive, tearing out his hair or banging his head against a wall.

Until a few years ago this child was called mentally-retarded and pushed from one agency to another in the faint hope someone could help. Then autistic behavior was identified and a program developed that has proven successful in bringing these children closer to normality.

THE PROGRAM requires skill and patience, says Simmons, and most of all a deep dedication on part of both teachers and parents.

It starts with the child and teacher on a one-to-one basis with his favorite food as a reward for performing simple tasks. These first sessions are very short but the parents are present to watch. The parents continue the lessons at home, giving the child virtually 24-hour, seven days a week instruction.

To facilitate this instruction of parents, the intermediate district has converted a portion of its John Tenny Center, 13220 Greenfield, into a developmental learning center.

A feature of this center is small teaching areas equipped with one-way mirrors where parents can be unobserved while watching the teacher instruct their child.

When the child shows progress socially, he is taught in company with another child, then a third until there are six children learning together. Instruction can then turn to more academic subjects with the eventual goal being to move the child to a special education class or to a regular classroom.

THE METHOD chosen by the intermediate district is known as the Judevine method.

It was developed at Washington University in St. Louis by Mrs. Lois Blackwell, whose maiden name was Judevine. She is now director of the Judevine Center for Autistic Children.

James Greiner, assistant superintendent for special education in the intermediate district, examined all programs available for autistic children and chose the Judevine method to implement. Greiner sent three of his teachers to St. Louis to be trained by Mrs. Blackwell.

At Greiner's invitation, Mrs. Blackwell recently visited the developmental learning center here and said she was "tremendously impressed."

She said: "I hope people here realize how lucky they are to have a staff with the willingness and eagerness to be responsive to these children. In many places which have a mandatory education law, as in Michigan, people perform only to the letter of the law, and not the spirit."

Michigan's mandatory special education law, which went into effect last fall, for the first time in the state define autistic behavior as a separate classification. It was written into the law at the insistence of parents of autistic children.

Mrs. Rosemary Angellotti, president of the Wayne County chapter of the National Society for Autistic Children, comments: "It's a dream come true. For 11 years we have been putting our son in any school that would take him. Most of them were private and they sent him back to us when they found they couldn't help." She says the Judevine method "has helped my son already. He is beginning to talk for the first time and, best of all, I know what to do day-by-day to assist him."

The organization has identified about 100 autistic children and estimates there may be another 300 in Wayne County alone.

WCCC opens Music Under Stars Rosary center features 'big band'

Officials of Wayne County Community College (WCCC) and special guests representing various levels of government and the community will conduct a "door-opening" ceremony, Friday, Aug. 9, at 2 p.m. in the college's new center, 8551 Greenfield, Detroit.

Guests include William A. Ryan, speaker of the State House of Representatives; and, Maryann Mahaffey, member of the Detroit City Council. Extending greetings on behalf of the college will be WCCC President Reginald Wilson.

The facility, formerly Rosary High School, is located on a 22-acre site near Joy Road on the far west side of Detroit. It was recently acquired by the college under terms of a lease-purchase agreement, and represents the first transaction of its kind as a major component of the WCCC five-year master plan.

Classes will begin on Sept. 5 for students from Redford, Detroit, and Dearborn Heights.

The ceremony Aug. 9 will consist of remarks by several spokespersons and guided tours through the building and grounds. A refreshment hour will be held at the end of the ceremony. The public is invited to participate.

The opening of the facility has caused concern among administrators of nearby Henry Ford Community College. Henry Ford officials see the facility as an encroachment into its enrollment area and a possible violation of an earlier gentlemen's agreement between HFCC and WCCC officials.

Other plans of WCCC have also caused concern for administrators of Schoolcraft College in Livonia. An upshot of these regional-type concerns of overlapping enrollment boundaries has been a meeting scheduled Sept. 11 between the Schoolcraft Board of Trustees and the State Board of Public Junior and Community Colleges.

Schoolcraft officials, however, haven't expressed any concerns publicly about opening of the new WCCC facility on Joy Road.

Common Cause qualifies release

Common Cause in Michigan, 15th Congressional District, has issued a statement that it didn't mean, in any way, to imply that Rep. William D. Ford (D-Taylor) didn't comply with the 1971 Federal Election Campaign Law in failing to report campaign expenses as requested by Common Cause.

"In fact, to our knowledge, he has complied with the law," points out Walker J. Morrow, 15th Congressional District volunteer legislative contact.

On July 29, Common Cause reported Ford hadn't voluntarily made available to local media a single report of his campaign contributions and expenditures and that he declined to file a campaign expense report requested by Common Cause — the national citizens lobby headed by John Gardner.

The 15th District includes Westland, Garden City and Canton Township.

This week's "Music Under the Stars" presentation will feature a concert by the Legionaires, a 17-piece "big band" from Livonia and Westland.

The concert will be Thursday, Aug. 8, at 8 p.m. on the lawn behind Livonia City Hall, Five Mile and Farmington Roads. Seating is limited and patrons are requested to bring their own chairs or blankets.

The band has arranged a varied program which will include ballads, Latin American tunes, Dixieland and Basie-style upbeat tempo offerings.

Instrumental soloists and orchestra sections will be featured. Also appearing will be the orchestra's longtime female vocalist, Nola Scannell.

The Legionaires were formed in 1958 as part of a 60-piece concert band representing the Edward C. Headman Post of the American Legion in Wyandotte. The large concert group disbanded in 1969, with six members of the original group remaining.

Occupations of some members include music supervisor, teacher, dentist, surgeon, Naval architect, accountant, photographer, building contractor and psychologist.

Group members from Livonia are Jim Weidner, Chuck Alexander, Mike Rumbell, Jeff Greene, Benny Moon and Frank Delewsky.

Other members are: John Anderson, Westland; Norm Gladstone, Southfield; Al Meeker, Redford Township; Bob Bowden, Troy; Bill Robertson, Birmingham; Frank Tinker and Les Adams, Dearborn; Len Thompson, Grosse Ile; Jim Mehl, Lincoln Park; Bob and Nola Scannell, Detroit; and Ed Pierson, Brighton.

Oakway conductor to teach class at Madonna College

Francesco Di Blasi, conductor of the Oakway Symphony, has been engaged by Madonna College in Livonia to teach a course in conducting and performance techniques during the fall term beginning Sept. 3.

The course, open to musically advanced high school and college students, will carry two semester hours of credit. Registration should be completed before Sept. 3.

THE COURSE will consist of one lecture per week (Thursdays from 3-4 p.m.) plus 15-20 rehearsal-performance experiences.

Ten of these experiences will be with the Ladywood High School orchestra in Livonia on Mondays or Thursdays at 10 a.m., with the remaining ones divided between the Madonna Chorale, community groups, and concert programs.

Tuition has been set at $35 per credit hour for college students, and $10 per credit hour for high school students. All students pay a course fee of $10.

DI BLASI'S 25 years conducting experience includes four years as assistant conductor of the Buffalo Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra and three years as conductor of the orchestra for the Ballet Busse de Monte Carlo.

He was guest conductor at times for the Philadelphia Orchestra, the Scandinavian Symphony, and the Julliard Opera, among many others.

He studied conducting with Pierre Monteux, under whom he had his debut at age 19, conducting the New York Little Symphony, and more recently under Sixten Ehrling, then conductor of the Detroit Symphony, at Meadowbrook in 1965.

His playing experience includes the Metropolitan Opera, Detroit Symphony, and American Symphony Orchestra under Leonard Stokowski.

The Madonna music department also has scheduled music theory, chorale, and private instruction in piano, voice, and trumpet for the fall term.

A vote for D. Duck is a vote for cynicism

Not long ago we received a letter here that went something like this:

"After watching the recent July 4th parade in Plymouth, I have one suggestion to make. Why don't they make all the politicians walk behind the mounted units?"

"That way, they'd have all the horses' — together."

Unfortunately, I have to quote the letter from memory (and can't recall the sender's name), because we enjoyed the missive so much we passed it around the office and it got lost.

If that letter's author will come forth, we will be happy to bestow upon him the Honor of Cynicism Body Politick (to which our staff members all belong this close to the elections).

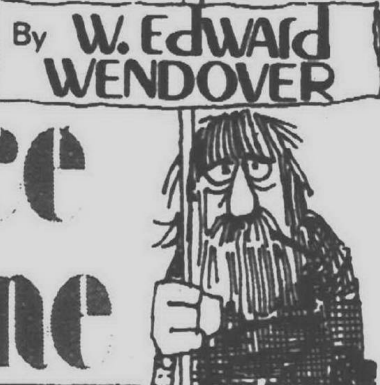

As most of you have noticed, we here approach politics with a 10-foot pole. We always think we've seen it all, but every election something new and outrageous is bound to bend our cynicism to even further extremes.

Initially, like most voters, we are inclined to side with that famous little old lady who said, "I don't vote; it only encourages them."

However, as the elections draw nigh, we realize that the weight of the decisions at the polls leaves no room for that attitude and we approach the elections seriously.

Of course that's not what the candidates think — particularly after our

With Malice Toward None

endorsements come out. (We are often accused of making such selections by using — depending on who you talk to — a Ouija board, a dart board, good common sense, total disregard for Things Rational, or some secret formula based on the number of letters in a candidate's name.)

While I admit it is difficult to squeeze a name like "Kezamowski" or "MacMammary" into a one column headline, I assure you that the number of letters in a candidate's name has nothing to do with endorsements. (Remember, it was the press that made Eisenhower into Ike.)

There are those who say we have no business endorsing candidates. "What gives you the right?" they say.

This attitude is very common among the supporters of candidates who did not garner our blessing. (I cite an example of one candidate who was not endorsed and complained that our support of her opponent was unfair. In a subsequent election, we endorsed her and she was very pleased.)

And so it goes. When you go to the polls tomorrow — and you really should you know — just see how many of those standing in line with you complain about picking between the lesser of two evils.

Maybe it's just the reflection of these times where public office holders are all suspect — Watergate's effect is trickling down even to local races.

But nonetheless, whether we consider the candidates to be all less qualified than we'd like, some are more qualified than others and it is important that the distinction be made at the polling places.

So VOTE TOMORROW and if you insist on showing some cynicism, write in Donald Duck for constable.

The Stroller Mourning after

By W. W. EDGAR

This is the week The Stroller would like to have a heart to heart chat with the candidates for public office — and caution them on how to accept defeat — if that should be their lot.

In many cases, the morning after election when the votes are counted, the air is filled with all sorts of bitterness being aimed at the voters for the turn of events.

Defeat isn't easy to take at any time. It is more difficult to swallow when it comes with the knowledge that you have been turned down by your townspeople and maybe your neighbors.

That's what makes the "morning after" so unbearable unless you are prepared for it.

Well, you might ask, "How do you prepare for defeat?"

Every time this question is asked The Stroller goes back to his sports writing days and recalls how Gene Tunney, the fighting Marine, trained for his now historical battle with Jack Dempsey, who was thought by most of the experts to be unbeatable.

When Tunney reported to his training camp in the New England mountains he brought with him a large mirror. It was about six feet high and, peering at it, one could get a good view of his entire body.

AND THAT'S JUST what Tunney wanted every day of his training.

Following each training session with his sparring partners Gene would return to his quarters and, still in his ring togs, do some shadow boxing before the mirror.

Asked how he benefitted by this activity, Gene only smiled and answered: "I want to see what position I am in when I miss."

After each punch he would stand still and see what part of his body was vulnerable to punches. After noting any openings, and knowing Dempsey was a powerful biter, Gene would change his stance. He wanted to eliminate any openings.

He wanted to see what would happen if he missed.

It's history now that he not only closed all the openings, but beat Dempsey and became the heavyweight champion of the world.

So, it might be well for all the candidates to start asking themselves: "What will I do if I lose?"

And when The Stroller calls attention to that important question he has to take a page out of his own career and recall the morning when he met with a stunning defeat at the polls.

After serving for six years on the first city council in Livonia, he decided to bid for the mayor's chair... and not without considerable urging by those who thought he had done a good job as a councilman.

With this urging he entered into a four-way battle in the hope he could become the head man in city government of the new city government.

All through the campaign he was given plenty of vocal support and had bright hopes of winning.

THEN CAME ELECTION day. At the breakfast table the little lady who runs our house, asked, "What will you do if you lose?"

Up to then there had been no thought of losing. But the question was worth considering.

"Well," The Stroller answered. "First we are going to have an election party. It isn't to be a victory party tonight or a 'wake'. This will be a party to thank our workers and supporters."

"And if I lose, I'll take the time I would have given to government and become active in some charitable organization."

As late as the afternoon of election day The Stroller was told he was a cinch to be nominated. He was told to go home and rest for a big celebration. Alas, it didn't happen that way.

When the votes were counted, The Stroller not only failed of nomination, but finished a dismal last.

It could have been a heart-breaker, if he hadn't been prepared.

But the next morning he offered his services to the March of Dimes, became the national bowling chairman, and helped to raise almost a million dollars in the next four years.

It was much more satisfaction than any time would have been sitting in the mayor's chair.

So, you candidates, be ready for the morning after election.

The world won't end if you lose.

Area librarians list favorite summer reading

BY SHERRY KAHAN

While some people are able to breeze through sultry summer days with the help of air conditioning, others have to resort to other methods.

A fascinating book is one way many are able to escape the heat.

Area librarians are among those who adopt this method. Despite the fact that they are up to their eyeballs every day in book reviews in order to stay abreast of the latest books, they nonetheless, often take a busman's holiday in their spare time.

In the evening they tote home some of the more promising examples of their wares.

FOR HER SUMMER reading Mrs. Cecilia Zalewski of the Redford Township Library picked two books that proved to be especially interesting. One was "All the President's Men" by Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein.

"It reads like a novel," said Mrs. Zalewski of the book which has won awards for its investigative reporting of the Watergate affair. "It is certainly interesting to read about the ways newspapermen get their stories."

A light novel Mrs. Zalewski also found entertaining is "Half-sisters" by Cynthia Seton.

"This is the story of two step-sisters who are very different but whose personalities complement each other," she said. "It follows them through their lives in a well-written fashion."

But if her faucets are leaking and her house needs painting, a librarian is likely to take home a book without a plot and with less emphasis on style.

MRS. MARILYNN MCBETH, head librarian at the Garden City Library, recently took home for her busy vacation a recently published book called "The Reader's Digest Complete Do-It-Yourself Manual."

"As a widow with two sons, I found this book very handy," she said. "It gave me useful advice on painting, changing washers and putting down tile. I even used it to put in a patio."

In order to rest occasionally from her labor Mrs. McBeth began working on a sweater for one of her sons. Close beside her was "Knitting, Stitching and Pattern" by Diana Biggs.

"I also plan to use this book to make myself a wool winter hat," she said.

Extremely interested in archeology, Mrs. McBeth also dipped into a book called "Mysterious Britain" by Janet and Colin Bord, which effectively carried her away from the urban sprawl to strange, faraway prehistoric sites such as Stonehenge, where they had never heard of the Dewey decimal system.

THOSE LIVING ALONG the ocean might be a little reluctant to take on a book about a killer shark for escapist reading. But it seemed a safe subject for a land-locked reader like Betty Farhat, for seven years a librarian at Carl Sandburg Library in Livonia.

"Jaws" by Peter Benchley was her choice for exciting summer literature. "It is very suspenseful," she said, "and the best writing in it is about sharks."

"I Heard The Owl Call My Name" by Margaret Craven is another book she recommends. "It is about a young Episcopal priest who, unknown to himself, has a short time to live," she said.

"He learns about the basics of life from the Indians of British Columbia."

For those interested in probing the personal life of Thomas Jefferson, Mrs. Farhat suggests the much-discussed "Thomas Jefferson—An Intimate History" by Fawn Brodie.

"It is about the hidden side of Jefferson's life, his love and family affairs," she said.

YET EVEN DURING attempts to escape, the real world continues to intrude. But luckily the Sandburg library has an antidote. It is an optimistic book by Harry Browne called "You Can Profit From a Monetary Crisis."

"It tells you how to find financial security for yourself in the midst of chaos such as we are going through now," said Mrs. Farhat.

Angeline Russo, head librarian at Livonia's Alfred Noble Library, is currently very excited about Peter Tompkins' book, "The Secret World of Plants."

"The book gives information on the latest research involving plants and soil," said Miss Russo who has been interested in organic gardening for more than 30 years. "It also tells about traditional activities of the past such as dowsing rods used to find water."

The book offers ways to replenish the soil organically even after chemicals have been used, she explained, adding that it also informed her that "plants not only react to what you are doing to them, but what you intend to do to them."

"I have a great interest in the unusual and unknown," said Miss Russo, "and I like a book that expands my horizons."

LIKE EVERYONE ELSE librarians have to endure the frustrating wait for a book that is on the most wanted list. However, recently Mrs. Beth Simescu, for three years head librarian at the Dunning-Hough Public Library in Plymouth, was lucky.

She was able to join thousands of other Americans in following the private life of a group of sensitive rabbits. "Watership Down" by Richard Adams is a fantasy, she explained, but it is not a light fantasy.

"There is a lot of meaning to it," she said. "It is the kind of book that can be read at different levels. You can just read it for the plot or for its deeper content."

She added: "I liked it myself but I don't know if everyone else would. We have a list about a mile long of people waiting to get the book."

For those who may prefer to wait until this cotton tale is published as a paperback, Mrs. Simescu recommends a book that was on the best seller list a few years back.

"Winds of War" by Herman Wouk is her suggestion.

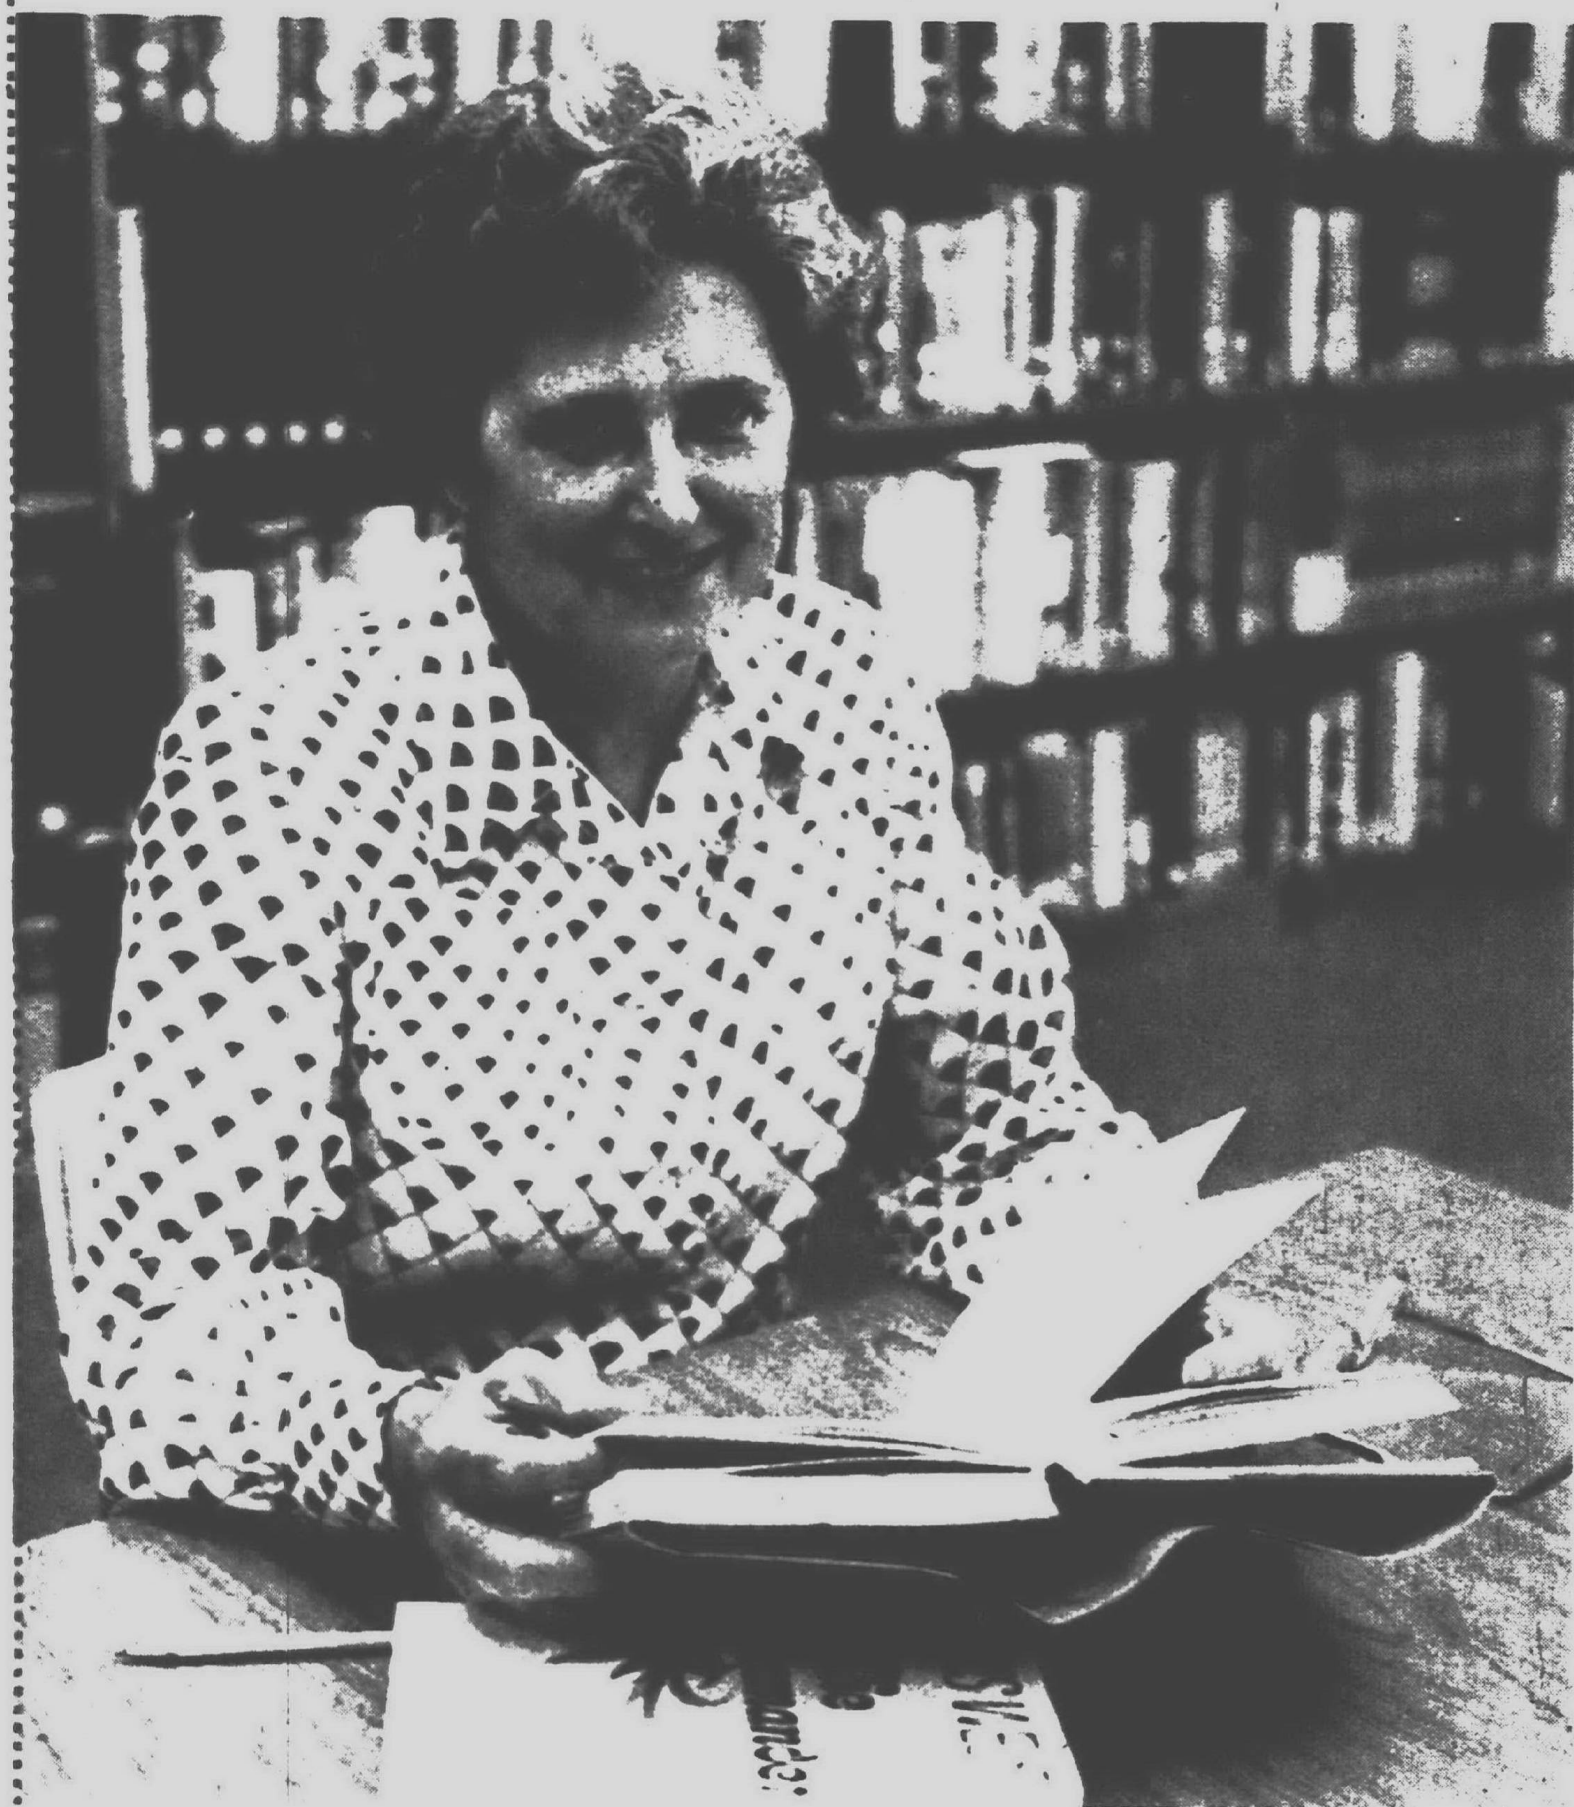

"I haven't read one since that I enjoyed as much," she said. "It had a plot that you could really get involved with and it was well written."

The plot concerned an American and a German during World War II, telling the story of their separate backgrounds and adventures, she said.

MARGARET DUGGAN, adult librarian at the Garden City Library, had several further recommendations for literature that is light or escapist.

"The Tower" by Richard Stern, about a building in New York City about to be blown up, is one of them. "Sadie Shapiro's Knitting Book" by Robert Smith is pleasant light fiction, she said, and "Follow the Shadow" by Joanne Marshall is an interesting gothic novel.

Naturally the books presented here hardly touch on all the libraries of the area have to offer. But perhaps they reveal a little about the librarians.

Is help 'unliberated' for liberated women?

Today's "liberated" woman often depends upon another group of women — the domestic or private household employees who free her of the need to stay home to clean the house, do the laundry, cook and care for the children.

And, says Doris B. McLaughlin, assistant research scientist in the Institute of Labor and Industrial Relations of the University of Michigan and Wayne State University, those private household employees are among the lowest paid and least protected workers in the labor force.

"More often than not," she adds, "professional women deny their household employees benefits that they themselves expect — indeed take for granted — in their own work."

Dr. McLaughlin points out that even those household workers who now receive as much or more than the new statutory minimum wage ($2 an hour) still have a very low annual income.

She reports that in 1972, before the increase in minimum wage was instituted, approximately 50 per cent of all private household workers who reported their earnings — virtually all of them women — earned less than $1.40 an hour, and about 82 per cent of them had an annual income of under $2,000.

Less than one-third of those so employed work full-time, according to Dr. McLaughlin. Many work for a different employer every day, have no paid sick time of holidays, are unemployed when their employer leaves town for any reason, and, although legally entitled to them, often are eliminated from social security benefits.

The end result, Dr. McLaughlin suggests, is that the movement of one group of women up the economic ladder entails the economic exploitation of another group of women.

"Career women... espouse the principle of women's liberation because they covet a better society and working conditions for themselves," she adds. "They generally have no real interest in providing such opportunities for the women who work in their homes."

"This finding raises an interesting question: why are those career women so callous? Do they think that their household worker would take advantage of them? For example, do they believe that if they granted sick pay their employees would use illness as a pretext to stay away from work? On its face that would seem to be an incorrect presumption: the Ann Arbor employers who do grant sick leave have no such complaint."

"That is not to say that it would never prove true. After all, where sick pay is taken for granted one can readily find the occasional cheater. But there is no reason to suppose that such a practice would be more widespread among household workers than among the nation's labor force generally."

"Are the employers studied simply stingy? One would hope not. Do their husbands keep them on a limited allowance from which they are expected to pay their household help? Rather unlikely."

"Probably — although this is at best an educated guess — their own freedom is such a new development that they have not yet become accustomed to thinking of themselves as employers — a role that until quite recently was thought to be almost exclusively reserved for males.

"Until they do, they may not even realize that in treating their household help in such a cavalier manner, they are depriving other women of the same benefits that they are fighting so hard to obtain for themselves."

Dr. McLaughlin's findings are based on figures compiled by the U. S. Department of Labor and other studies as well as a questionnaire survey she undertook of women working in the homes of professional women in the Ann Arbor area.

Even in that academically-oriented community, she says, "the demand for liberty and equality does not encompass the entire sorority."

Jane Moehle is named to state education post

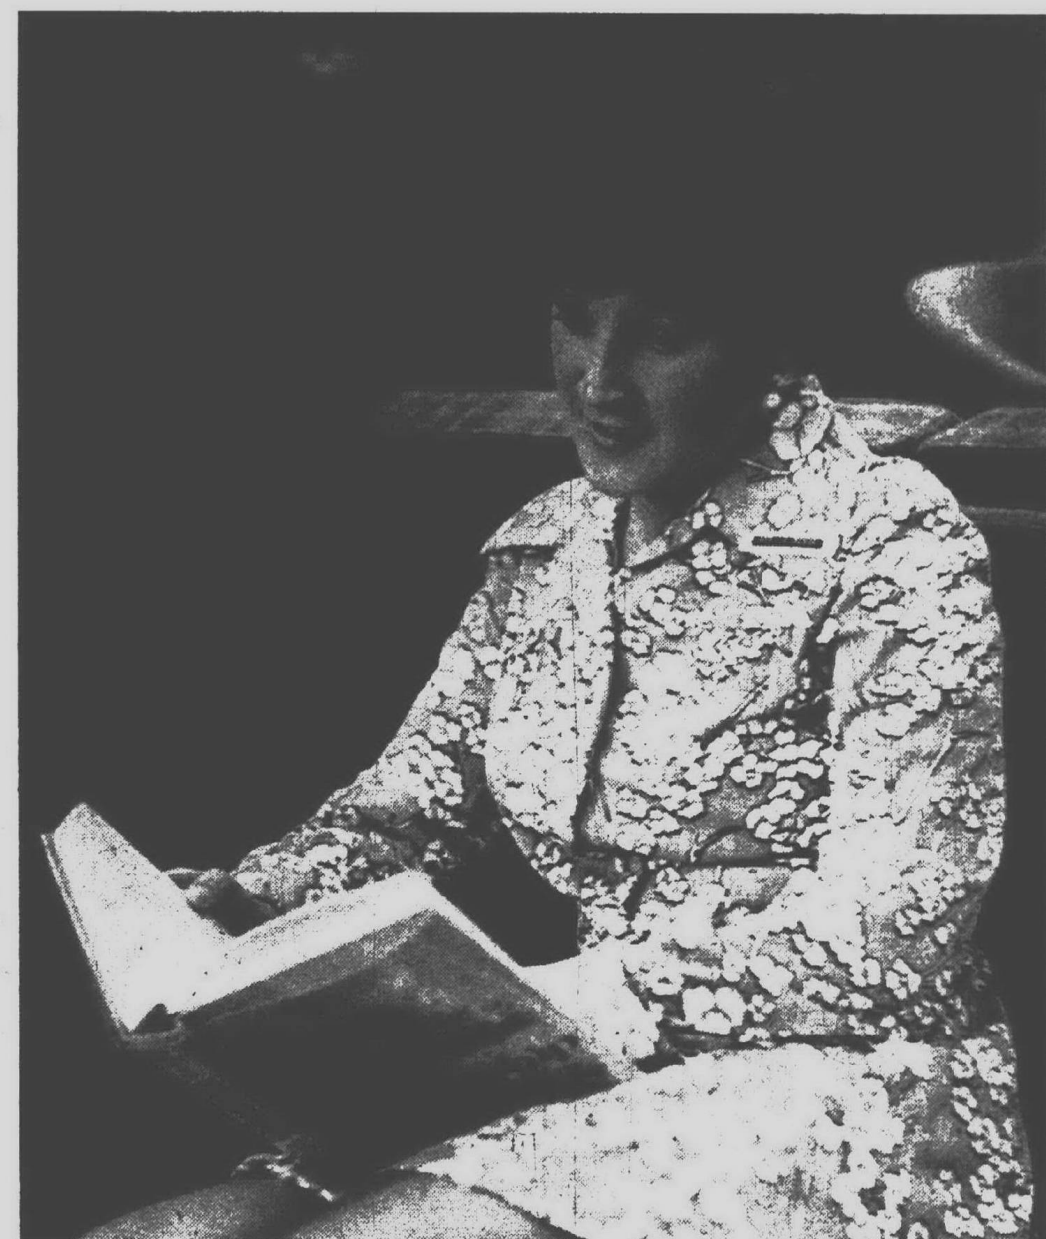

Dr. Jane K. Moehle, Plymouth resident and former chairman of the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees, is the new coordinator of community college affairs for Michigan.

Her appointment was announced last week by the State Board of Education in Lansing.

In her new post, Dr. Moehle works closely with the State Board for Community and Junior Colleges, an advisory board, and with the 29 two-year colleges in the state.

"In a couple of weeks on the job," Dr. Moehle said, "I've found the eight-member board a most interesting group—very knowledgeable and very committed."

DR. MOEHLE SERVED 11 years on the Schoolcraft board and headed it for three years. She also is a past president of Mortar Board, a national honor society for college women. A graduate of the University of Cincinnati, she held administrative and teaching positions at Kent State University and the Jewish Hospital School of Nursing in Cincinnati.

She also served as associate dean of women at the University of Illinois for five years until her marriage to John Moehle.

AFTER MOVING TO PLYMOUTH, she served on the original citizen's committee that mapped plans for Schoolcraft.

While serving on its board, she earned a doctorate in college administration from Wayne State University.

Her husband is director of facility development and planning for Booth Newspapers, Inc., Ann Arbor. The Moehles have a son, Bill, and a daughter, Mary Elizabeth.

In her new post, Dr. Moehle succeeds Dr. David H. Bland, who resigned recently to accept a position as an educational consultant in another state.

Camp Fire Girls caught in candy cost increase

Crunch isn't only the name of the candy where the Camp Fire Girls money-raising project is concerned. It also refers to a price problem that threatens to pose difficulties in the annual sale of goodies.

For quite a few years now, the Detroit Area Council Camp Fire Girls have been raising a third of the yearly total needed to run the council-through candy sales.

The price has been $1 a box, and this year the profit was $95,000. But rising prices will force the cost up to $1.25, and there's concern that this may mean considerably less profit.

Bowers Candies of New Jersey recently told the council that the peanut crunch and chocolate covered mints would go up a quarter next year.

The sale committee projects a drop in the number of units which the girls and their families will be able to sell due to the price hike. They also anticipate problems for Blue Birds (the youngest age group) in making correct change.

Only a year ago, committee members recall, it was a "candy buyer's market." Companies actively competed for the Detroit area Council's 1974 candy sale contract.

By June of this year, it was no longer a buyer's market. Now, it's the candy companies who are calling the shots. Candy ingredients such as sugar, chocolate and nuts have multiplied in price over the past 12 months and Detroit Camp Fire finds itself faced with a minimum price increase of 33 1/2 per cent.

The candy manufacturers are also saying they can't afford the usual number of candy deliveries. As many as 350 drop-offs have proceeded a Camp Fire candy sale, requiring moving vans working three full days and driving hundreds of expensive miles to get to individual leader homes.

In the "good old days" the council office says, the candy company included delivery and pickup, samples, printing costs, local service of sales persons during the sale, and a royalty to National Camp Fire publicity aides. Now, corners are being cut wherever possible and deliveries, for one, must be drastically reduced.

Mary Roggenkamp, assistant to the Detroit Public Library business manager, serves as the volunteer chairperson of the sale committee. This will be her third time around with the sale and she says, "Last year we thought we had a good, low price all sewed up for both 1974 and '75. But Bowers lost thousands of dollars on the Detroit sale due to inflation and we couldn't hold them to the two-year price agreed upon in 1973. It was back to the drawing board!"

The 1975 candy sale is slated to run Jan. 24-Feb. 15. The council serves 8,000 members in the tri-county area.

Nicholas Bozen wed in Lansing

Nicholas L. Bozen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas A. Bozen of Knolson Avenue, Livonia, claimed Bonnie L. Jenkins as his bride in a recent ceremony in the Miller Road Bible Church of Lansing.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buford C. Jenkins of Shelbyville, Ky. The Rev. James C. Dotson officiated and the bride was given in marriage by her father.

She wore a white quiana gown with bands of venise lace. Matching lace fashioned the cap that held her veil, and her flowers were a nosegay of white miniature carnations, stephanotis and yellow roses.

Mrs. Peter Ramon of Lansing was matron of honor and the bridesmaid was Cindy Jenkins of Shelbyville, the bride's sister. They wore yellow quiana dresses and white hats will yellow ribbon trim. Their bouquets were assorted summer flowers.

The bridegroom's brother-in-law, T. Ryan Bonner IV, was best man, and the ushers were David Hickey of Ann Arbor, Jeffrey Jenkins of Shelbyville, brother of the bride, and Douglas Felzke of Holt, her brother-in-law.

After a reception in the church's fireside room, the couple left for Bermuda.

They will live in Lansing. The new Mrs. Bozen is employed by the Robert Jacobs Agency and her husband, a 1972 graduate of the University of Michigan law school, is a staff counsel for the Michigan legislature.

CFG camp has vacancies

There are more than 100 vacancies for the final session, Aug. 12 to 21, at the Detroit area Camp Fire Girls camp near Holly.

Connie Coutellier, director of Camp Wathana, said the camp is only half full for that session and needs 168 more reservations for August to meet its 1974 budget.

With the reduction of revenues from candy sales, she added, the 380-acre camp has become partly self-supporting. It has programs at four age levels with places for girls ranging from six years of age through high school. Special back-packing and canoeing trips will be featured during the final session.

Campers may register by calling Mrs. Pat Jensen at the council office, 51 West Warren, Detroit. Membership in the Camp Fire Girls program is not required.

Tennis classes set at YWCA

Tennis classes for children and adults during August have been scheduled by the YWCA of Western Wayne County, 28279 Michigan, Inkster.

Limited to six enrollees, each course includes five one-hour lessons at $12 plus the cost of a one year YW membership. This is $3.50 for adults and $1 for students.

Classes are scheduled to meet twice a week for 2 1/2 weeks at times ranging from 2:30 to 7:30 p.m.

Classes begin Aug. 5. Registration can be made at the YW.

Sex education lacking for retarded, expert says

Mentally retarded adults have been let down, a University of Michigan Social worker asserts, in one of the areas in which they most need help—the area of sex education.

Anxious, conflicting messages come through, says Martha U. Dickerson, a staff member of the U-M Institute for the Study of Mental Retardation and Related Disabilities.

She said parents, social workers and the community tell the retardate: "Don't have sexual contact—but here, take these birth control pills," and he winds up confused "if he gets any message at all."

"SEXUALITY OF THE MENTALLY retarded is a subject steeped in ignorance, mystery and prejudice," Mrs. Dickerson stated.

"We teach the retarded to groom themselves, to use the bus, to hold a job. We encourage them to experience interpersonal relationships yet we deny the existence of the corresponding sexual feelings and behaviors that should be developed and fostered."

She said "sexual expression is a basic means of establishing one's identity and flirtatiousness is an indication of normalcy," and that society should build on these feelings rather than getting "uptight" about them.

THE PROBLEM IS COMING to the fore now, Mrs. Dickerson said, because, while the retarded person used to be institutionalized at puberty because that was when "the community worried that he or she might become sexually involved with someone," the growing trend now is to move them from institutions to community group homes.

"But the community now expects them to have no sexual feelings whatever."

"Parents and social workers dream of independence, self-support and model behavior from the retarded, because such accomplishments relieve them of economic and psychic responsibilities."

"Tacitly implied is this independence will be achieved by passive, non-sexual individuals."

MRS. DICKERSON SAID she thought social should help retardates reach full potential "up to and including the sexual expression which is an integral part of personality."

She feels there should not be insistence on sterilization because we do not know "how many of the population are retarded due to cultural deprivation, not genetic reasons.

"I think the retarded should know there are many options, from birth control to parenthood."

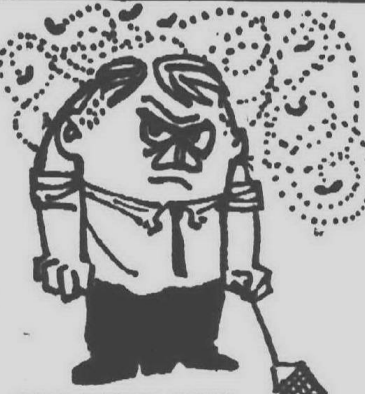

"Many retarded individuals can be very conscientious, loving parents. Institutions have long used older patients to fill the mother role for the younger ones."

"MANY ARE VERY AWARE of their own limitations and consider these limitations when making decisions."

I've worked with large groups of retarded adults for many years, and every one of them has wanted to do a better job of being a person than he was already.

"As parents and professionals we must enable this growth, not restrict it. Suppression of sexual development and expression may lead to behavior that is psychologically injurious to the client and perhaps even dangerous to society."

Deer Creek changes made

CANTON—Two cement abutments weighing two tons apiece will help ease traffic problems created by an open gate linking Deer Creek Apartment complex and neighboring Holiday Park subdivision.

The barriers were installed by the township after homeowners complained about the traffic situation created by Deer Creek drivers who were using Holly Drive for ingress and egress while the apartment entrance was closed for State Highway Department construction on the Joy Road overpass.

In related action, the township board will also seek road easements from Joy to Koppernick roads in an effort to open up Hannan Road to further alleviate the subdivision's traffic problems.

Canton vote records err

CANTON—Due to discrepancies between two sets of voter registration records in Canton Township Hall, the Plymouth Observer & Eccentric story erred Thursday in reporting James Poole, Republican candidate for township supervisor, voted in only one of the three township elections since he registered.

Poole said he actually voted in all three.

Errors may also exist in the reported voting records of some of the other candidates, said Township Clerk John Flodin.

WALT GOODWIN, a math teacher in Plymouth schools for the past 32 years, is retiring to do "nothing" for a change. Goodwin, known to his many students for frequent witticisms like "tend to your own knitting" and "sit up, shut up and listen," is moving to his family farm near Port Huron. Of his teaching, Goodwin said, "The satisfaction has been in seeing the kids grow up. I really enjoyed myself."

Representative of Michigan Bell Telephone Company, Mr. Charles Claphan, explained the Company's request for an easement on school property located at the Centennial Educational Park at the south side of Joy Road, west of present school buildings, to be used for installation of cables and erection of 8x12 foot heavy-gauge aluminum structure to be used as a repeater hut, for which payment will be made of $1,000 for said easement and that the Company would install a chain-link fence or anything else the School District wanted -- other fencing, shrubs, etc. -- around the easement and maintain the said right-of-way. The Company would also restore the property to a satisfactory condition if the easement is not needed at a future date. Mr. Hoedel read an agreement which had been proposed by the school attorney. Questions were posed by Board members.

It was moved by Member Lawton and seconded by Member Berry that the Plymouth Community School District grant to Michigan Bell Telephone Company an easement over a parcel of school land located on the south side of Joy Road in the NW 1/4 of Section 4 of Canton Township (Centennial Educational Park property) abiding by all items stipulated in the easement document and agreement to be executed herewith, and also stipulating that landscaping of the easement site be worked out agreeably between Michigan Bell and administration; and further to authorize the President and Secretary of the Board of Education to sign the easement document and the agreement.

Sup't. Hoben reviewed the present status of negotiations with the City of Plymouth regarding cost for ice time for institution of a hockey program in the high schools and reviewed the history of recreation programs in the schools and the City. Board members felt that it was not able to justify beginning a hockey program until it could also see a way clear to hire additional teachers as required throughout the District.

It was moved by Member Lawton and seconded by Member Mirto that because of the situation the Board finds itself in at the present time and because it is too late to institute a hockey program for the current school year, but because of approval previously given to such a program the matter be tabled at the present time and be brought back to the Board at a later date for further discussion and plans for a future year.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

Changes in the procedure involve regulations for Non-School Sponsored Trips. Board members suggested some revisions for administrative consideration.

It was moved by Member Mirto and seconded by Member Benson to receive the Safety Committee Annual Report.

Ayes: Members Benson, Berry, Borowski, Lawton, McClendon, Mirto and Yack.

Mrs. Tonda, Chairwoman, gave credit to Mrs. P. Sullivan, Secretary, for the writing of the report itself. Board President McClendon expressed the entire Board's gratefulness for the Committee's commitment and insight.

It was moved by Member Mirto and seconded by Member Berry that this meeting be adjourned.

Ayes: Members Benson, Berry, Borowski, Lawton, McClendon, Mirto and Yack.

Adray All-Stars bow to Detroit, 7-3

After jumping off to a 2-0 lead after two innings, the Livonia Adray All-Stars fell victim to two costly errors and two three run explosions by Detroit in both the third and fourth innings and wound up on the short end of a 7-3 score in the classic played at Tiger Stadium.

"The Detroit team (coached by Pat Sheridan who directed the Livonia squad two years ago) took a little different attitude towards this one," commented Redford Adray Coach Bob Atkins who directed the Livonia team. "Be took 23 kids down and played 23. Detroit wanted this one bad."

"Hey, the purpose of this game is to let the kids go down and have a ball game in Tiger Stadium," added Atkins who up to this season had never lost an all-star contest at Tiger Stadium. "This is one thing these kids will never forget."

Atkins started his ace hurler in Kevin Bara with Jack Booth of Southfield, Jerry Herbst of Garden City, John Knox of Redford and Livonia's Jerry Cyril and Farmington's Andy Hoholek finishing.

Booth was tagged with the loss with Adray Photo's Bob Owchinko getting credit for the victory. The Livonia team collected eight hits, Marty Raymond getting two and Detroit totaled nine hits.

Livonia got off to a 1-0 lead in the first inning. After Jeff Waterstone popped out, John Roy singled and Tom McWilliams singled him around to third. Redford's Steve Friedman lofted a deep fly to left to score Roy.

Gar Franz, Livonia Franklin's all-state first baseman two years back, got Livonia off to a bang in the second inning with a homerun shot that landed 10 rows up in the upper deck in rightfield. But that proved to be the last thing for the Livonia fans to cheer about.

With Booth on the mound in the top of the third inning, Detroit's Chris D'Hondt drew a walk and Ted Dasen was hit by a pitch. Al Weston was safe on an error to load the bases and Jerry Keller of Photo ripped a double to make it a 3-2 contest.

With Garden City's Herbst on the mound in the fourth, Detroit went to work again. Mike Fricke and Pat Srock drew walks and Emil Drzayich was safe on an error. Fricke was picked off third but Herbst walked to again load the sacks.

Steve Harris of Little Caesars unloaded a two-run single and Weston was safe on an error to open the door to a 6-2 score.

A double by Dasen and single by Harris pushed it to 7-2 in the sixth. Redford came back to score one in the last of the seventh when Herbst, Mark Yourchok and Art Mach all singled. Yourchok was nailed at third on Mach's single to cut that rally short.

Pummel Thurston, 13-0

Franklin Berry bats explode

Paul Hunt's Franklin Berry club, who let a Mack championship and playoff berth slip away, moved into the finals of the Livonia Recreational playoffs.

Franklin crushed Thurston, 13-0, in one semifinal contest while Clarenceville Fischetti upended Bentley Crowe, 1-0.

It was Franklin's 13th win of the summer against four losses and two ties and the third win over Thurston. The first victory came in a 4-2 13-inning affair and the second in 4-3 fashion.

Hunt's crew made no mistake about it this time as they banged out 14 hits and jumped on three walks and six Thurston errors to the tune of 13-0.

In his first pitching start of the summer, Mickey Fisher, handcuffed the Thurston bats. Only two Eagles reached base with Dan Purkis banging out a double in the third and Rick Ofley collecting a single in the seventh.

Meanwhile the Franklin bats totaled 14 hits off Rob Roy, Ofley and D'Ascenzo.

The bottom of the first inning saw

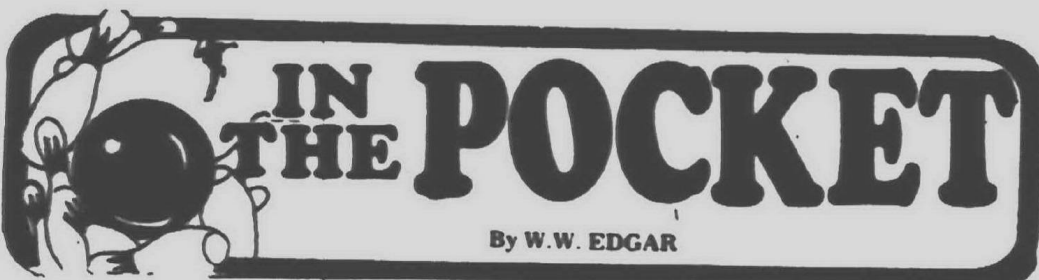

Franklin strike for three runs on only two hits. Ken Fry walked and after a sacrifice by Tom Tresick, Tim Livesay lashed out the first of his three doubles for one run. After a ground out by Ron VanderLinden, Joe Pollard singled and Dan Longeway was safe on an error.

Franklin upped it to 6-0 in the second. With one out, Jamie Knapp singled and was cut down at second attempting to steal. Fisher was safe on an error and Fry singled with an error moving the runners around to second and third where they both scored on a hit by Tresick. Livesay followed with another two-bagger to score Tresick.

The fourth saw Berry up it to 9-0. Fisher doubled and after Fry went down swinging an error moved Fisher to third, Tresick sacrificed in one tally. Livesay doubled and VanderLinden and Pollard followed with hits.

Franklin's assault finished up in the sixth. With two outs, VanderLinden was safe on an error, Pollard singled, Longeway singled, Dave Watkins walked and Knapp doubled to wrap things up.

During this lull in the summer bowling season while the lanes are being re-surfaced for what looks like the biggest and best season in years is a good time to answer the mail and settle a number of questions.

One of the first puzzlers came from a friend in Livonia who asked the identity of first Detroit bowlers to make the national headlines.

This took a bit of research, but the answer was found in the archives of the American Bowling Congress.

You possibly never have heard of him, but a fellow named Fred Smith, then the manager of the J.L. Hudson downtown store, was the first left-hand bowler to win the ABC single title and he did it with a 712 series at Buffalo in 1921. He had games of 224, 276 and 202.

This was one of the first 700 series ever bowled in the ABC and brought him national acclaim. He was a member of the famous Detroit Journal team of 40 years ago.

Another great old timer who brought acclaim to Detroit was Bill Miller, who became the first bowler ever to win two ABC titles in the same tournament. He won the singles and the all-events in 1914.

To gain the titles he rolled 565 in the team event, followed with 657 in the doubles and then finished with a 675 in the singles. To get the 675, which was a big count in those days, especially under pressure, he put together games of 248, 204 and 223. Miller and Smith sure were giants in those days.

Another questioner wanted to know if it was true that Detroit once had an 88-lane establishment. If it did, where was it located and who owned it.

Roscoe and Cy Huston had the Recreation Building at the corner of Lafayette and Shelby in downtown Detroit and it housed 88 lanes. There were four floors with 22 lanes on each floor.

The building was razed several years ago to make way for a parking lot. It was in the Recreation Building where Jim Shillady, the manager, opened the first entire floor of lanes for exclusive use of the women bowlers. That was away back in 1916.

Detroit at one time also boasted the largest tenpin establishment without a pillar or post.

This was the Palace Recreation that was located at Gratiot and Bellevue and boasted 24 lanes in a row with no obstructions.

It was owned by the Allen Brothers—Harold and Ray—and people came from all sections of the country to see it.

Which is the largest establishment in the metropolitan area at this time?

This honor goes to George Prybyla, head man at Thunder Bowl in Allen Park, who added a 20-lane segment last year and now boasts 94 lanes. Next in line is Satellite Bowl, managed by Mel Groszko, in Dearborn Heights. This establishment boasts 84 lanes-42 back to back.

For a long time Detroit also boasted the smallest establishment in the country. It was in Allen's cafe, one block from Tiger Stadium and Bert Allen, another of the brothers, always boasted, "We have two alleys without a pillar or post."

This famed establishment is gone now, and there is no record of the smallest establishment in the country. But the Allen's Cafe layout, in its day, caused as much comment as any of the larger establishments.

Area trackmen sign letters for CMU

The Observer's '74 Trackman of the Year, Churchill's Bob Mendoza and Bentley High's Steve Spreitzer are two of five champions recruited by Central Michigan University track coach Don Sazima in an effort to bolster the Chippewas field events and hurdle lineup.

Recently signing letters of intent to attend CMU were pole vaulter Steve Wren from Haslett, long jumper Steve Brown of Beaverton, plus hurdlers Bob Mendoza of Churchill and Hubert McKenzie of Flint along with Bentley's Steve Spreitzer.

Wren is a two-time state Class C champion, Brown a 22-5 long jumper, and McKenzie a hurdler.

Livonia's Spreitzer from Bentley High, was plagued by injuries this spring but took second in the 880 yard run and the Class A regional.

Mendoza placed high in the state meet and earned "Trackman of the Year" honors from the Observer newspaper group. The hurdler-sprinter paced Churchill High School to the Western Six title and second place in the Class A regional.

Mendoza took a third in the state Class A 120 yard high hurdles with a :14.5 effort. He was fifth in the 180 yard low hurdles in :19.7, but ran a personal best of :19.2 earlier for the second best time in the state. He also won the conference 220 title in :22.55.

Plymouth girls ready to swim

Plymouth Canton girls swim Coach Ann Massey and Plymouth Salem Coach Saith Ranson announced the two schools will hold combined workouts starting Aug. 12 in the Salem pool.

Swim workouts for girls from the nine through 12th grade will go Monday through Friday from 9-11 a.m. Canton's varsity season opens Sept. 24 against Redford Union.

Livonia gal ready for national softball finals

Fifteen year-old Brenda Tipton of Livonia is ready to make the trip south for the National Junior girls softball tourney to be held in Satellite Beach, Fla.

The sophomore-to-be at Livonia Stevenson High is a member of the William Beaumont Hospital team which is unbeaten in two years.

Miss Tipton was picked by the same team last year as a "ringer" in the nationals and the Beaumont club finished second out of 15.

This 74 summer campaign has seen the petite, blond softball player full time on the Beaumont club and hit at a torrid .633 for the Livonia Cardinals, who under the auspices of All-Area catcher Bob Hope wound up 14-0 in the Livonia circuit.

Miss Tipton has been playing slo-pitch softball for seven years in Livonia and has won all-star medals in every tourney she has been in.

The upcoming tournament in Florida will be held Aug. 8-9-10-11 and Beaumont is attempting to raise money to help finance the trip. Anyone interested in donating can contact Bud Hucul at William Beaumont Hospital.

The Beaumont squad will host the world ladies tournament on Aug. 30-31 and Sept. 1-2 to be held at Memorial Park in Royal Oak with 60 teams expected to play.

Racquetime - 14 courts strong to open in Livonia this fall

The nation's largest racquetball facility will open next fall in Livonia at 36600 Plymouth Rd., just east of Ann Arbor Trail.

Racquetime, an $800,000 facility, is the first center in the area designed especially for racquetball.

Another first for Racquetime is its teaching pro and manager, Kathy Williams of Hazel Park. At 27, she is one of the top-ranking racquetball and paddleball players in North America and the first woman ever named a club pro.

There will be no membership fees at the club and anyone can reserve one of the 14 regulation size courts.

The center will be open from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. daily. Court rentals are $8 per hour in prime time, the first hour in the morning and from 4 p.m. to closing. Rental is $6 per hour all other times.

Racquets can be rented for $1 and balls cost $1.25. Players can play in any outfit that is comfortable.

In addition to the 14 courts, Racquetime will have an observation lounge, locker rooms, saunas, a pro shop and related facilities. Court rental includes use of a locker, shower and sauna.

Racquetball, the latest participation sport to catch the public's fancy, is played on an enclosed handball size court, using a racquet that looks like a small tennis racket. The rules are much the same as handball but the ball used is more like a tennis ball without the fuzz.

The sport's growing popularity is attributed to the competitive exercise it offers without the demands of skill and conditioning required for tennis or handball.

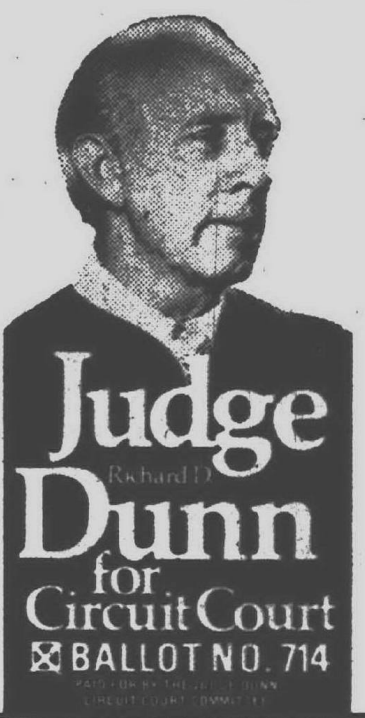

At Racquetime, Miss Williams will give both individual and group lessons. Private sessions will cost $6 per hour plus court fee. Groups renting a block of courts will get a group lesson as part of their court fee.

"I'm looking forward to getting a lot more people in the Detroit area interested in racquetball," says Miss Williams. "With a minimum of instruction, anyone can play well enough to have fun while getting some exercise. And who knows, we may find some real talent that can be developed for serious competition."

Principals backing Racquetime envision the club as the major racquetball center for the midwest. Possible future plans include bringing in the professional tour and having national and regional championships held there.

Turf Tips, Quips

By Doc Minard

Seems like Wolverine Raceway only started its season a week ago but already it is making plans for the first of its rich stakes program. The traditional Motor City Pace, which annually brings many of the nation's better pacers to the area, is coming up next Friday.

According to Racing Secretary Bill Connors it should be just about the best thus far since there is a distinct possibility the field may have to be divided with a total of as many as 30 starters.

That means the pot could be one of the richest since the ancient stake was revived by Wolverine President Frederick Van Lennep some 25 years ago.

RIGHT NOW it appears as if the purse could go as high as $35,000. That depends on whether it does attract the 30 entries Connors is expecting. Originally there were 102 nominations and believe it or not, most of the owners paid the sustaining fee which means there are still close to 100 eligibles.

That's why Connors is expecting calls from most every track in operation during the next couple of days from owners who want to be among the entries.

A check of the eligibles a day or so ago shows that Michigan has a flock of pacers that may be in the lineup come next Friday.

Such names as Mullett Street, who had the fastest 1974 mile at Wolverine until last Saturday; Tiger Jet, The Mad Greek, Jed McClure, Apropos, the speedster from the Chris Boring barn; Gunsmith and Tarus.

THEN THERE ARE: the sensational Rin Tim Tim handled by Jim Dennis who gained fame last year with Sir Dalrae; K.D. Owens Harry Fitz; Ariel Frost, Egyptian, Butler, Thomas Butler and Sarah Duke from the Arnold Cattle Co.; J.R. Henry from the J. Russell Miller stable of Dutton, Ontario and In The Rough from the Gerry Bookmyer string.

Joe O'Brien has a pair of quick ones in Meadow Mickey and R.D.'s Beauty. Others are: Solar Storm, who won the Can-Am stake at Northville Downs; Rewarding Way from the powerful John Simpson stable; Castleton Farm's Model Knight; Gulliver, Tiff N Time and Smashing Don from the Graham Stock Farm; and a pair from Dick Buxton's outfit including Racing Ace and Racing Miracle.

Clearview Stable is expected to send Scarpia for a share of the rich pot while Ed O'Hare, of Southfield, has a triple barrel entry of O'Harvey, Baron Jansson and Saint Clair Eggar.

THE NAMES GO into the entry box Tuesday morning when Connors will get the bad news. If the field does hit 30, then there is a possibility of splitting into three divisions with the winners of each coming back for the championship finale.

If divided into two heats, then the championship will be determined on the basis of the fastest heat and the pot will be split into two equal parts.

From Hazel Park one hears glowing tales of the riding ability of 27-year-old Jeff Anderson who hails from Iron Mountain, Mich. and rode his first full season as an apprentice at the track back in 1967.

The records show Anderson is the second leading apprentice riding successfully in New York.

The 1973 Racing Manual lists Jeff right up among the nation's leaders with a 19 per cent winning average. He is certain to be a strong contender for the Hazel Park jockey title once he starts getting as many mounts daily as he expects... eight or nine.

"I CAME HERE to win some races. I like to ride eight or nine races a day," says Anderson. "I haven't got an obsession with winning a leading rider title. I just want to win races."

Ted Taylor checked into Wolverine Raceway a few days ago and already has made his presence known. Ted could have one of the strongest public stables on the grounds. Just give him a week to get his stock adjusted and then watch out, fans will know he's here.

Mathematics indicate Montreal's Herve Filion still has an excellent chance for breaking his own record of 605 winning drives in harness racing competition in a single year.

In 1972 he averaged slightly over 50 victories per month. With 369 wins to date, the USTA tabulations show he is averaging 52.7 trips to the winner's circle each month so far this year.

Shelley Goudreau, of Windsor who currently is campaigning at Wolverine, is a distant second with 176 firsts. Greg Wright, also at Wolverine, ranks seventh with 128 and Ted Taylor is among the top 20 with 101.

Tennis & Crumpets tournament set

The Dearborn area amateur mixed-doubles tennis tournament will be held Sept. 7, 8, 14 and 22 at local Dearborn and Grosse Ile courts.

The tournament, which is sponsored by Tennis and Crumpets, Inc., helps to raise funds for the Detroit Children's Hospital. To date the organization has given more than $120,000 to the hospital.

Any amateur 18 years or older is eligible to play in any of the three categories: advanced, intermediate or beginner. Entry fee is $6 per person.

This is not a sudden elimination tournament. Each couple will play a specific number of games against four or five other couples who have been assigned to the same courts because of their comparable ability.

Courts in Dearborn where play will take place are: Dearborn YMCA, Henry Ford Community College, Ford Woods Tennis Facility and The Fairlane Club.

Courts on Grosse Ile will be available for tournament play for the convenience of downriver island residents and their friends. The winners at these courts also will compete in the Dearborn area finals.

Courts winners from the first day of play will return Sept. 8 to determine the finalists in each division. Dearborn area finals will be held at 9:30 a.m., Sept. 14 at the Dearborn Indoor Racquet Club.

An exciting new event to culminate the Tennis and Crumpets Tournament will be held Sept. 22 at the Court House Tennis and Racquet Club, an indoor facility at 15 Mile and Farmington Roads.

Winners from the Grosse Pointe, Oakland County and Dearborn area tournaments will vie for the championship of their respective categories. A traveling trophy will be awarded to each winning couple.

Two tournament dinner-dances will be held concurrently at the Dearborn Country Club and the Grosse Ile Country Club at 7:30 p.m. on Sept. 14. Cost per person is $16.

For further information concerning the tournament contact Mrs. Bruce Simpson, 7 Shady Hollow Drive, Dearborn; Mrs. Charles Kaiser, 21540 Thorofare, Grosse Ile; and Mrs. Sherman Collins, 320 Riverlane, Dearborn.

WE WANT TO SELL CARS. YOU WANT TO SAVE MONEY. IT'S THAT SIMPLE.

Right now, many Chevrolet dealers are offering year-end savings on in-stock Impalas, Chevelles, Novas and Vegas.

Impala is America's lowest priced popular full-size car.

(Based on manufacturers' suggested retail prices.)

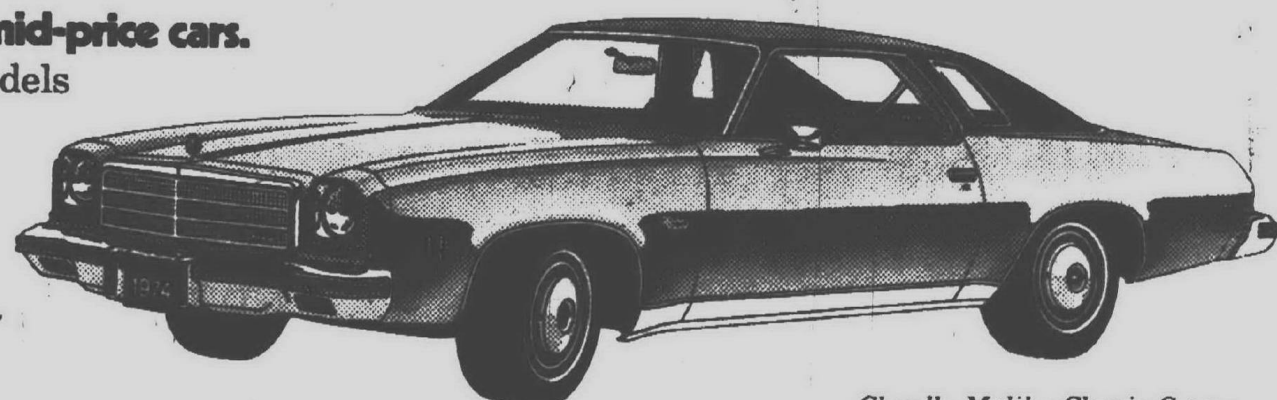

Impala. America's best-selling full-size car. It has the room, ride and comfort you want in a family-size car. And Impala's traditionally high resale value has helped it earn its nickname—The Great American Value.

Impala Sport Sedan

Chevelle is a whole family of mid-size, mid-price cars.

Chevelle. Nine mid-size, mid-price models to choose from. All agile enough for easy handling and parking, yet large enough for six adults.

Chevelle Malibu Classic Coupe

Nova is Chevy's sensible, economical compact.

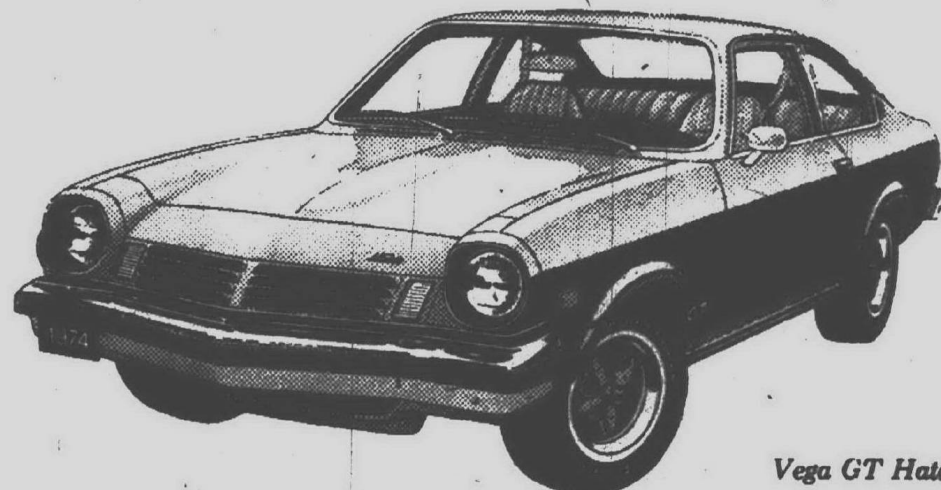

Check out our economical compact. Nova is the sensible car we've been improving and refining for 13 years now.

Nova Custom Coupe

Vega is America's best-selling little car.

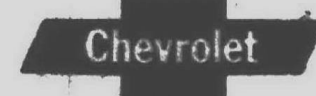

Vega is small, sporty and fun to drive. Combine that with Vega's four-cylinder economy and you have a good idea why Vega is now America's best-selling small car.

Vega GT Hatchback

See your Chevy dealer right now for year-end savings on his in-stock selection of 1974 Chevrolet cars and trucks. Chevrolet wants to sell cars, you want to save money. That's why Chevrolet's Year-End Savings Plan makes sense for America.
