Kiwanians to beautify old Central school park

PLYMOUTH — The triangular parcel of ground in front of the old high school on Main Street is about to become another jewel in downtown Plymouth.

The City of Plymouth has accepted the offer of the Plymouth Kiwanis Club to give the area a complete face lifting and make of it a real beauty spot.

The offer was made by the Kiwanians some time ago, but its acceptance was delayed until the final design could be studied.

THE DESIGN, fashioned by Carroll L. (Ike) Porter, retired director of parks and recreation for the Wayne County Road Commission, will spotlight several species of trees, along with new walks and floral beds.

Featured in the new design will be the famed rock with the nine bronze stars placed there years ago in honor of the nine soldiers from Plymouth who gave their lives in World War I.

This stone has lay hidden under the bushes for several years and the Kiwanians now plan to bring it out into the open again and make it one of the historical markers in the downtown area.

THIS TRIANGULAR plot has an unusual history. There was a time when Church Street ran right in front of the school entrance, and its path was strewn with trees—all in a line.

Following World War I, as a tribute to the nine who gave their lives, a bronze star was placed on each of the trees. It was most fitting at the time.

As the years passed the trees died until today there are only two remaining. It was when the trees passed on that the bronze stars were placed on the bit of rock as a memorial.

Meanwhile, wars came and passed, and downtown Plymouth devoted its attention to the Plymouth Rock in Kellogg Park and the small stone was just about forgotten.

Now, thanks to the Kiwanians, it will be brought into the open again and take its place in the new jewel across the street from the Historical Museum.

The face lifting of the park is another in the series of moves sponsored by the Kiwanians to beautify downtown Plymouth. It was this group that manually laid the brick walks in Kellogg Park when it was beautified several years ago.

Township puts police millage on Nov. ballot

By HANK MELJER

PLYMOUTH—The Plymouth Township Board of Trustees voted at a special meeting last week to place on the Nov. 5 ballot a three mill levy to start a 15-man township police force.

The unanimous action came four days after Plymouth, Canton and five other Wayne County townships filed suit to stop the Wayne County Sheriff's Department from cutting off township road patrols as of Aug. 31.

The board directed Township Attorney Don Morgan to draft the wording for the proposal in time for final approval at its Sept. 10 meeting. At that time the board is expected to decide how long the millage should be levied.

According to Township Clerk Helen I. Richardson, an advisory vote on the question of township police which was taken earlier this year showed only slightly more than half of the voters were satisfied with the existing sheriff and Michigan State Police protection.

"It was close," she said. "By the vote it behooves us to put the police issue on the ballot. This is just a preliminary proposal."

THE THREE-MILL LEVY, which would cost residents $3 for each $1,000 of assessed property value, would provide an estimated $480,000 in its first year.

Township officials have estimated the 15-man department would cost $400,000 the first year, with slightly reduced costs thereafter.

A report released in April by the Plymouth Township Police Study Committee headed by Col. Fredrick Davids, former director of the Michigan State Police, recommended that the township establish a force of its own regardless of the outcome of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners' threat to cut off the Sheriff's road patrol.

The board of commissioners is expected to decide Aug. 29 whether to vote an additional $88,000 to maintain road patrols through the end of the fiscal year, Nov. 30. Otherwise, service will end Aug. 31.

MRS. RICHARDSON said the trustees' decision to place the millage request on the November ballot doesn't mean the township is giving up on the lawsuit to force continued sheriff's protection.

"We'll fight the lawsuit all the way to the end, right along with the other townships. The sheriff must stay in unincorporated areas."

The township's committee suggested that reduction of road patrols by the county would put local police protection below "acceptable levels" and make local residents entirely dependent on state police service.

The study committee's report offered three alternatives that would sustain or improve the current level of police protection. Besides doing nothing in face of a loss of sheriff's service, which was dismissed as simply too hazardous, the township had the choice of contracting protection from the sheriff's department, contracting with the City of Plymouth or starting a force of its own.

THE FIRST alternative, a contract with the Wayne County Sheriff, would replace the county-financed road patrol with protection costing the township an estimated $200,000 per patrol car with no increase in services.

The second alternative would be to contract with the City of Plymouth. The projected cost of such an arrangement has been set at what Mrs. Richardson considers a prohibitively-expensive $513,560 annually.

The last alternative, and the one which the committee judged wisest, called for a township police department "capable of providing basic police services, relying on the Michigan State Police and county road patrol service as a back-up."

"We need it as far as enforcement of township ordinances," Mrs. Richardson said. She noted that even though the county may decide to maintain its road patrols past the Aug. 31 cut-off date, they cannot help officials of the rapidly-growing township deal with enforcement of their own 43 ordinances.

She said the township's population—now close to 20,000—has doubled in the last decade.

Canton Township, which defeated a similar public safety levy Aug. 6, also will have a three-mill request on the Nov. 5 ballot.

Plymouth Township currently levies a total of 3.25 mills, of which one mill is allocated for operations, 0.5 mills for fire protection and 1.75 for debt retirement.

Canton Planners won't gamble on bypass 'consideration'

By MARIE MCGEE

CANTON—Canton planning commissioners have decided against what they viewed as a "horse-trading" deal that would have allowed a neighborhood shopping center at the southwest corner of Joy and Sheldon Rds. in exchange for possible early consideration by the county for the construction of the Sheldon-Canton Center bypass.

Approval of the zoning change could have been an indication to the Wayne County Road Commission of "significant community commitment" to get the badly needed bypass under way.

That was the opinion of the developer, Brookville Associates, of Plymouth, during a public hearing last week.

Crux of the issue involves rezoning of 20 acres, presently zoned to allow 13 acres of multiples and seven acres of restricted office development. The acreage is part of Forest Trails PUD (planned unit development) that encircles Gallimore Elementary School.

The subdivision construction of 216 single-family homes, approved several months ago, is expected to begin immediately. The developer appeared before the planning commission several weeks ago, however, to request that the front half of the PUD, fronting Joy, be changed to C-2 (general business) to allow a neighborhood shopping center.

BENEFITS FROM the zoning change include a promise from the developer to build a pedestrian overpass on Sheldon Road for Gallimore students as well as the widening and paving of Joy and Sheldon and the purchase and removal of two homes.

The school district also would stand to gain approximately $80,000 in revenues, the developer maintained.

The commercial development also would allow them to buy the last small parcel of land at the southerly portion of the development that is needed for county right-of-way in the construction of the bypass, the developer said.

According to Gil Pearson, spokesman for Brookville Associates, all these factors could help trigger construction of the bypass because it would give William LaGosh, road commission chairman, a "talking point" when the commission establishes road priorities.

In acknowledging the benefits the township could receive, Commissioner Bart Berg characterized the deal as "horse-trading"—and most of his colleagues agreed.

But he concluded by saying, "I just don't trust the road commission" and "it's not worth the gamble," referring to LaGosh's reportedly verbal promise to give the bypass serious consideration if the community made some type of commitment.

ATTEMPTS TO GET LaGosh, a Plymouth Twp. resident, to put it in writing, failed, Pearson reported.

The project ran into stiff opposition in other quarters during the hour-long public hearing.

Residents, including those living across Joy Road in Plymouth Township, voiced strong objection both verbally and by letter to the shopping center that Pearson said would have a supermarket, several small clothing shops and banking facilities.

He said the rezoning change was prompted by a study that shows the corner to be one of the "most popular" in the area.

"We've already got enough stores and neighborhood centers," several of the persons in the audience stated.

Still more opposition came from a Plymouth High school teacher who said she was "vehemently opposed to a shopping center so close to the high school complex."

"We already have enough attendance problems as it is," she said.

Pearson disagreed, however, claiming that a neighborhood center doesn't have the attractions of a larger shopping center.

It also was brought out in the discussion that Canton's proposed master zoning map does not call for commercial zoning in that area.

ALSO, AT THE TIME of Brookville's rezoning request, Planning Consultant Michael Manore recommended that it be denied because there already is "sufficient commercial zoning in the area."

A resolution concurring with Manore's recommendation was sponsored by Commissioner Robert Simmons and passed unanimously. However, Pearson was advised that the decision could be appealed before the township board. He indicated that the firm probably would do so.

The ironical part of the issue, noted Planning Commission Chairman Joe Kinnick, is that the commission of late has been severely criticized for al-

Fans get chance to share Kaline's countdown thrills

Can Al Kaline pass the threshold of all-time baseball greatness by getting enough hits in the remaining games on the Detroit Tigers' schedule to reach the 3,000 mark?

That's the question baseball fans are asking as the Tiger superstar nears the end of his illustrious career with a chance to become the 12th major leaguer to get 3,000 or more during his years as a player.

But will he get them? The countdown has started and the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers are sponsoring a contest for readers to see who comes closest to the date of the big hit.

Remember how folks had a countdown on Hank Aaron and when he would better Babe Ruth's home run mark? Well, this is the same with only difference being that reader will have a chance to follow Kaline as he bids for a niche in the record book.

Details of the contest are published in all editions today elsewhere in the newspaper. Look for the full page ad telling of the rules and how you can win four tickets to a Tiger home game. Just fill in the entry blank and mark it in as directed in the rules.

Except in 2nd District

Traditional Dem blocs win delegate seats

By TIM RICHARD

GRAND RAPIDS — Organized labor, women and blacks seem well represented in the 70-member delegation Michigan will send to the Democratic national charter convention Dec. 6-8 in Kansas City, Mo.

With the notable exception of the 2nd Congressional District, suburban delegates to last weekend's Democratic State Convention here sought to balance their two or three national charter delegates between power blocs that provide most of the party's money and worker strength.

expected to battle over the method of allocating delegates to the quadrennial national convention which nominates presidential candidates.

SPECIFICALLY, McGovernite liberals want strict quota rules. Recently they walked out angrily from a steering committee meeting when laborites and party regulars won adoption of a softer rule. In 1972, McGovernites successfully challenged some delegations having too few women.

Michigan Democrats' selection of charter delegates on Saturday, was overshadowed for public attention by Sunday's business. Picking gubernatorial candidate Sander Levin's 11 running mates for state offices, the supreme court, and educational boards.

THE 2ND CONGRESSIONAL District's delegation to Kansas City will be entirely female.

Nancie Blatt, 36, a Schoolcraft College trustee from Livonia; Jean King, 50, an attorney and women's liberationist from Ann Arbor; and Anne Poirer, 39, who works in the secretary of state's office in Monroe, were elected without opposition to represent the three major county blocs in the 2nd.

Ethel Howard, 40, a Ford assembly worker from Ypsilanti, will provide a black and labor voice as an alternate.

The 2nd's caucus was unusual in dividing its seats, geographically. In other districts, delegates were selected to represent the minorities which make up traditional Democratic Coalitions — labor the young liberal, women, blacks, other ethnic groups; and sometimes the Wallacites.

A COUPLE OF shuffles occurred before the 15th District picked its national delegates.

Chairman Vincent Petipren of Westland had intended to nominate Ed Plawecki, union leader from Dearborn Heights, as one of the three delegates. But Plawecki withdrew, and the caucus nod went to David Brickley, 34, a Wallcrite and United Transportation Union official from New Boston. Wallace conservatives had earlier complained of a lack of voice in the proceeding.

Petipren's other two nominations were approved. Mayor Richard Marshall, 27, of Taylor was picked to represent municipalities. Grace Hampton, 49, of Inkster was tapped to represent blacks and women. She is recording secretary of the State Democratic Party.

Mrs. Hampton had 85 votes, Marshall 81 and Brickley 80 in the balloting. Defeated was Westland Councilman Justine Barns.

Mrs. Barns was nominated for alternate but withdrew. That post went to former district chairman John Canfield, mayor of Dearborn Heights now ailing with cancer. Petipren's original nominee had been Harry Koss, a Garden City branch manager for the secretary of state.

THERE WAS only one contest for national delegate in the 17th Congressional District.

In the Oakland County portion, Allen Sipher, 47, owner of a telephone answering service in Farmington, defeated county commissioner Lawrence Pernick of Southfield, 23.42 to 15.48. Sipher is a Lindsay liberal.

Elected without opposition from Wayne County were Bard Young, 58, United Auto Workers regional director, and MaryLove Clavon 53, a black member of the Welfare Rights Organization. Both are from northwest Detroit.

Elected alternate was Helen Shackett, 43, Redford Township housewife and secretary of the Democratic Club.

THE 18TH DISTRICT caucus split its delegates among county lines.

Eastern Oakland County, the largest portion, has two representatives — Jean Fredericks, 17-year veteran of party work in Royal Oak, and Sam Fishman, 50, Oak Park resident who heads the UAW's political arm. Mrs. Fredericks outdistanced her opposition, and Fishman's election was unanimous.

In Macomb, the seat went to Marie Malatke, 36, of Warren. Picked as alternate was Carl Malinga, 27, Warren attorney and McGovernite liberal.

The 12th District delegate was Elizabeth Howe, 38, of Rochester who is chairman of the Oakland County Democratic Party and a professional political worker. Nick Ciaramitaro, 22, from Roseville, was the other delegate. He is on the staff of Congressman James O'Hara.

Elected alternate was Rosemary Langolf, 45, from Port Huron. She is associated with the International Association of Machinists union.

THE MAJOR ISSUE in the 19th Congressional District was whether to elect delegates at random or divide the two seats from this small Democratic district on the basis of sex. Sex won "by a substantial majority," said chairman Eugene Kuthy.

Male delegate will be Billie S. Farnum, Waterford Township accountant, former congressman and state auditor general. He was unopposed.

Leona Edwards, a black from Pontiac, defeated Gail Nolin, 30, a Sylvan Lake teacher, for the female post. Mrs. Nolin then won overwhelmingly for the alternate seat.

NEWS WAS received at the convention of the recount progress in the 17th Congressional District between winner William Brodhead and Patrick McDonald.

Brodhead, a state representative from northwest Detroit, had been given a 256 vote victory by the county canvas over McDonald, a Detroit school board member. The state canvassing board is expected to rubber-stamp that action today (Monday).

Meanwhile, each has retained expert legal counsel for the continuing recount battle. Brodhead's attorney is Tom Downs who did legal work in the 1950 recount for Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

McDonald's attorney is Stanley Beattie who handled the legal work for Republican Harry Kelly in the 1950 recount. Downs is a prominent Democrat and labor lawyer and considered among Democrats as the leading recount lawyer in the state. Beattie is considered the leading Republican recount attorney in Michigan.

IT WAS ALSO learned that before making his choice for lieutenant governor, Levin had received word Aug. 16 from Livonia Mayor Edward McNamara that he would be unavailable as a candidate.

In a letter congratulating Levin on his primary victory, McNamara wrote his position as mayor was demanding and he intended to serve his entire term ending Dec. 31, 1975.

"I, therefore, would not be a candidate for lieutenant governor," the mayor wrote Levin. Afterwards Paul Brown of Petosky was announced as Levin's choice for running mate.

McNamara was the Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor in 1970 when Levin lost to William Milliken for governor by some 44,000 votes.

The convention went into an unexpected uproar Saturday night when an attempt was made to elect a labor slate for the 12 at-large delegates to Kansas City.

The slate was dominated by labor persons, men and traditional party leaders. Many Democrats felt persons should be nominated, loosely from the floor, and the slate caused some ruckus with a long caucus being called. It was expected, however, that the labor slate would be elected.

Mrs. Beebe wins nomination; GOP falls in with governor

By STEVE BARNABY

DETROIT—Wayne County delegates to the Republican State Convention fell in line with the wishes of Gov. William Milliken this weekend by supporting his recommended running mate and the $1.1 million transportation plan.

Lorraine Beebe, former state senator whose district included Redford Township, captured the nomination for secretary of state by a unanimous vote of the convention.

In her acceptance speech, she vowed to support the entire ticket. Although she won the nomination by an uncontested vote, she wasn't a favorite choice of Milliken.

"I pledge the best efforts in the days before us. This will be an administration to serve all the people. Nominating a woman shows we are a party of action."

THE ONLY opposition appearing on the floor was from conservative Richard Durant who vied for attorney general against black candidate Myron Wahls.

In a caucus with 2nd District delegates Wahls was asked by delegate Pat Duncan of Livonia if he considered himself electable because of rumors about his "radical" activities when he was younger.

Wahls was once a member of a black separatist group, the Labor Youth League.

The 2nd District supported Wahls with 75 votes and cast 18 for Durant. Two abstained. The 15th delegates supported Wahls with 48 votes while 13 went to Durant.

The 17th District rounded out Wayne County support for Wahls by casting 94 votes in his favor. Durant received 16 votes and four abstained.

THE TRANSPORTATION plan calling for statewide development carried the convention by a 1,115 to 514 vote margin.

John Strauss, 2nd District delegate, took the floor to express the delegation's overwhelming feeling. "We need help to keep automobiles off the streets. This bill will increase industrial growth and expansion in Michigan," said Strauss.

The proposal, he said, will help fight unemployment by providing transportation to jobs now unavailable. The 2nd District carried the transportation issue 78-5. The 15th District supported the question 57-4 with three abstentions while the 17th District supported it 87-40.

GOV. MILLIKEN had recommended that the convention reject the land use proposal recommended by the committee on permanent organization and order of business.

His objection was based on what he said was the absence of local control in the proposal.

George Tobias of the 17th District concurred. "I know that Gov. Milliken is in favor of land use planning but as written, the proposal will take away all local control."

Tobias made a motion amending the land use issue to exclude planning. Although the amendment was defeated, the land use issue was also defeated in line with Milliken's wishes.

The 15th District voted unanimously against the land use plan.

Consolidation is old story around Plymouth

Plymouth Township residents have continually resisted attempts to merge township and city governments. The latest drive to consolidate was rejected by township voters 2,706 to 763 on May 7, 1974.

The consolidation controversy is not peculiar to Plymouth. During the campaign which preceded the May 7 referendum, Jim Hyde, executive secretary of the Michigan Boundary Commission, declared that "inertia, rivalry and the fear of urbanization have helped to defeat every consolidation proposal in the state for the past 65 years."

A look at what has happened to Plymouth Township during the past 147 years may give the reader insight into other reasons why the township resists change. The resistance to merger or annexation may be attributable, for example, to a reaction against further dismemberment of a governmental area which is now less than one-fourth of its original size.

In 1827, when the first township meeting was held in a barn on North Territorial Road, Plymouth Township occupied an area of approximately 72 square miles.

The first partition came on March 7, 1834, when what was then called South Plymouth struck off on its own, becoming Canton Township. Plymouth Township then became one-half of its original size.

VILLAGE INCORPORATED IN 1867
The power of the township was further reduced in the Spring of 1867. On March 5 of that year, the Michigan Legislature passed a special act providing for the incorporation of that part of the township called Plymouth Corners. The new village of Plymouth had an area barely more than 2 miles square—a factor which was to assume increasing importance as time passed.

The first village election was held at Thomas Whipple's hotel. The Adams House, on Main Street facing Plymouth Green. After the 129 votes were counted, Bethuel Noyes became the first president.

The township lost more than control over terrain when the village set up its own government. Many of those who now became village officials had been active in township affairs. Michael Conner, for example, had been clerk of the township in 1862.

He now became the first recorder of the village. Mr. Conner, who established his hardware store in Plymouth in 1857, on the corner of Main and Pennington where Harvi's now stands, was prominent in civic affairs for many years. He was president of the village in 1868-9, 1884, 1889, and 1890.

NORTHVILLE SECEDES IN 1898
On a Saturday morning in the spring of 1898, 100 residents of Plymouth Township met in the Opera House, at the corner of Dunlap and Center Streets in Northville. They were there to decide whether Northville, which had been part of Plymouth Township since its inception, should set up its own township.

Among the 100 who attended, only 12 were from the southern part of the township. Had a dozen more attended from Plymouth the outcome might have been different.

Among those who spoke for partition was one Plymouth resident, George C. Peterhans. Speaking against partition was George Starkweather, president of the village of Plymouth. The first white child born in what is now Plymouth Township, Starkweather had been a member of the state legislature, township justice of peace, and supervisor of the township. Supporting him in his argument to the northern dissidents was township treasurer Whitbeck.

Those who favored partition declared that doing business with Plymouth Township officials was time-consuming and expensive because of the distance involved.

Distance between Northville and Plymouth, they said, explained why only 12 Plymouth residents were in attendance, compared to seven times that number from Northville.

Not mentioned at the meeting, but possibly on the minds of Northville residents, was the recurring complaint about bridges. Township officials, it was said, saw to it that bridges over streams near Plymouth were kept in repair, while those near Northville were neglected.

In spite of the vigorous efforts of Starkweather and Whitbeck, and although many of the Northville residents voted for staying with the township, the vote went 40 to 30 for separation. Plymouth Township was now down to one-fourth of its original size. MERGER OR ANNEXATION PROPOSALS

Relations between the township and the city over the years have varied from semi-cooperative, at best, to strained during periodic confrontations brought on by city attempts to break out of its two square mile confine. The temperaments of officials on both sides, and the status of annexation or merger propositions at any given period, have influenced the relationship at various times.

In May 1955, when a proposition to annex the entire township to the city was soundly defeated by township voters, the city did manage to annex about 85 acres of the Cassidy property in the township. Located at the corner of North Territorial and Sheldon Roads, part of the property became the site of the Western Electric plant.

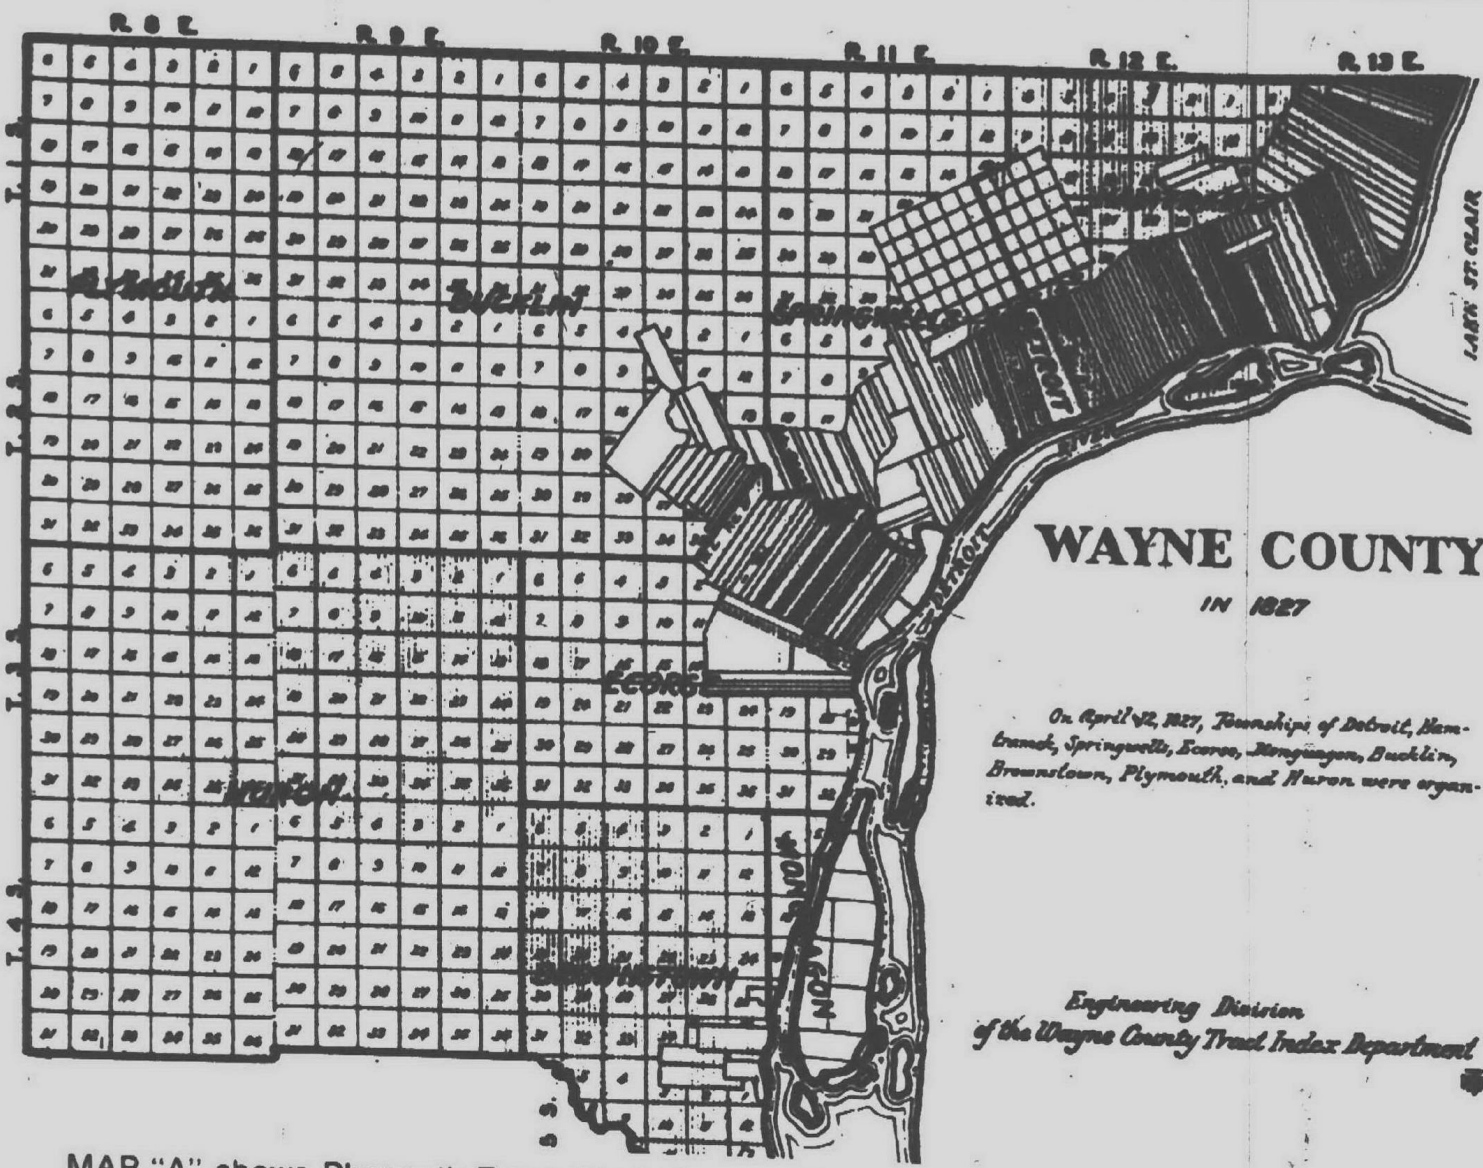

During the same year, the city, which had nearly reached the maximum development of its land area, began proceedings to annex the Burroughs Corporation property on Plymouth at Haggerty. This action was vigorously opposed by Burroughs and the township. Burroughs had two employees establish residence on the property for the purpose of defeating the proposition if it reached the ballot stage. The city challenged the move, but the prosecuting attorney ruled in favor of the employee registration and against the annexation petition. The city then decided not to contest the matter in court.

On Sept. 19, 1955, township residents filed the first of a series of petitions seeking to incorporate a major part of Plymouth Township as the "City of Charleston." Petitions filed in subsequent years have called the proposed new city "Plymouth Heights."

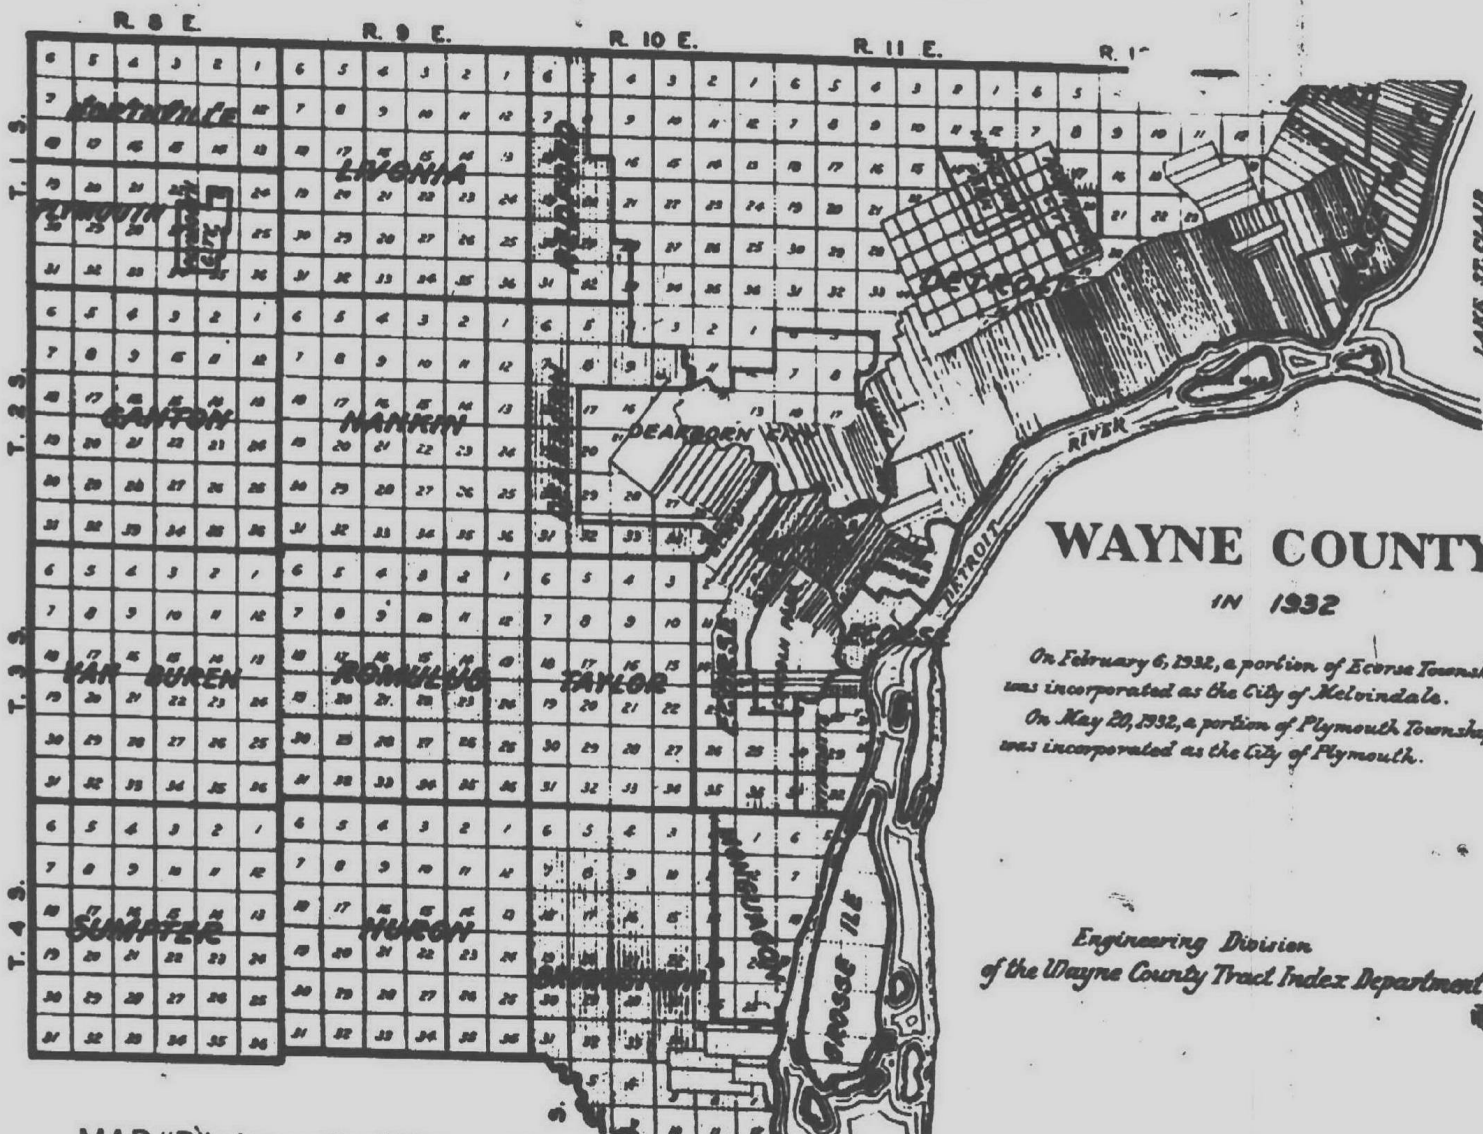

At each election, township voters have rejected the proposal, leading some observers to conclude that a device to block further annexation of township terrain by the city.

Immediately after township voters defeated the 1974 merger attempt, the city commission filed three new petitions in Lansing. The commission now proposes to annex: (1) the Hillside Inn property on Plymouth Road, (2) the Burroughs parking lot across from Hillside Inn, or (3) the township in its entirety.

All of this may be helpful to the new resident who encounters knowing smiles, strange looks, or pained expressions when he innocently asks: "Why don't the township and the city get together?"

MAP "A" shows Plymouth Township before Canton Township went off on its own in 1834. Then, Plymouth Township was four times its present size.

MAP "B" shows the Village of Plymouth as it was incorporated on March 5, 1867. Northville was split off in the spring of 1898. Plymouth became a city in 1932. The township is now less than one-fourth its original size.

Township housing plan turned down

By BOB ERICKSON

PLYMOUTH—The rejection of a proposed senior citizens housing project on Ann Arbor Road by the Michigan State Housing Development Authority would appear to be backhanded approval for a similar project planned for a site on Ann Arbor Trail.

The housing authority emphatically rejected the plans submitted by Multi-Rise Associates of Southfield, and noted in the letter of rejection that the site "does not compare favorably with another proposed housing for the elderly location in this market area which is already under consideration by the authority."

The Multi-Rise project site, the letter said, was unacceptable because of distance from "full service shopping" and because of the projected traffic volume after the widening of Ann Arbor Road is completed.

The mention of the rival project in the rejection of Multi-Rise's proposed "Plymouth Towers" would seem to indicate, says Multi-Rise executive director Bud Cline, that the authority may give the green light to the application of the Pilgrim Towers Non-Profit Housing Corp., the would-be developers of the 200-acre site on Ann Arbor Trail near the C&O tracks.

Cline is not happy with the decision of the housing authority to deny state funding to his company's plan, but the decision is final and even a change of site probably would not be approved in view of the authority's favorable view of the Pilgrim Towers site. "They're not likely to fund another in the same area," Cline said.

He said that he did not understand the decision or the reasons put forward in the letter of rejection. Cline pointed out that a Kmart and a Wrigley's store in the area provided plenty of shopping facilities with the exception of a drug store and that his company had even offered to put a pharmacist in one of the planned units to cover that lack. Further, he said, he did not believe that the traffic situation would be a major problem.

Canton fair due to open Friday night

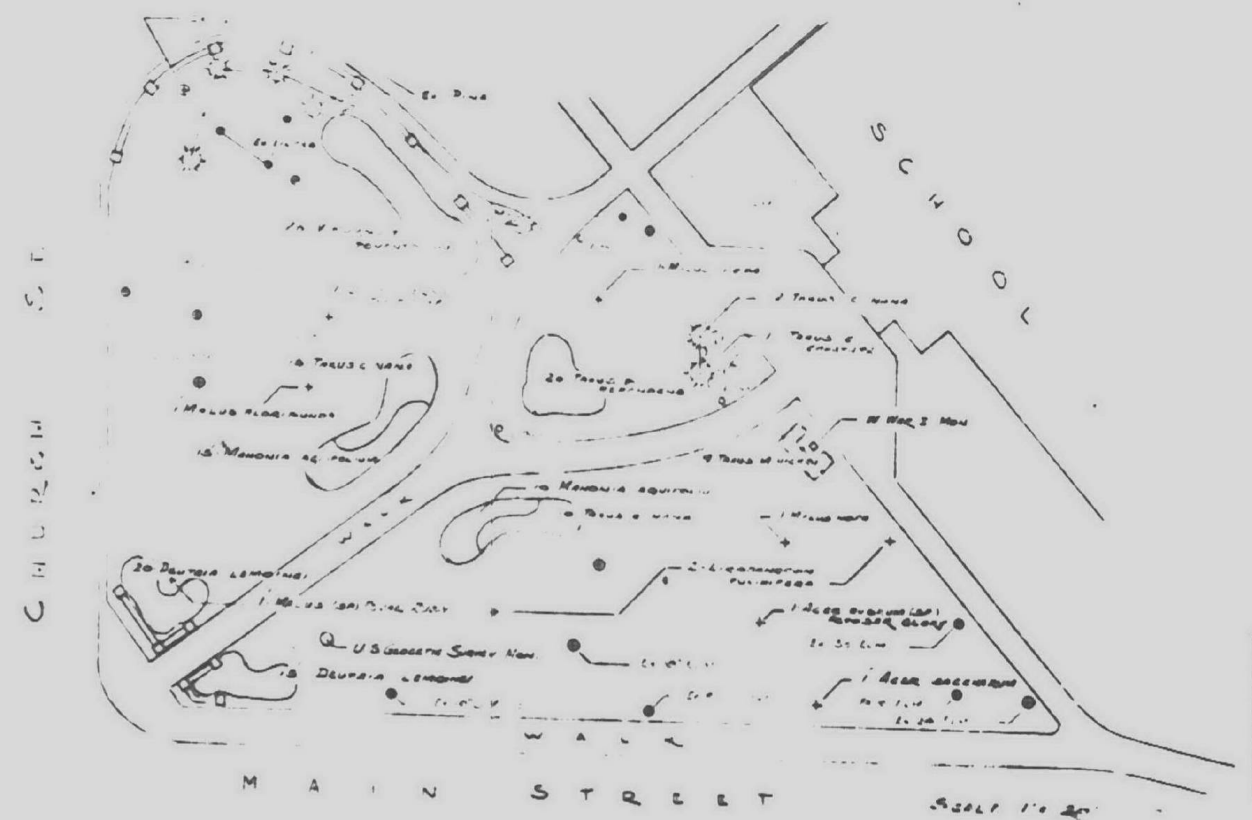

The Canton Township first annual fair complete with amusement rides, games and refreshments will begin this Friday and run through Labor Day.

On Friday the fair opens at 7:30 p.m. and runs until 11 p.m. But Saturday "officially" opens the fair with a parade at noon down Sheldon Road from Warren Road to Joy Road.

From 3 to 7 p.m. Saturday a free rock concert starring Iron Mask and Free Spirit will be featured. At 5 p.m. a contest will be held with a bicycle going to the winner. Helicopter rides will be available all day.

At noon Sunday there will be a championship water ball fight at Gallimore School featuring Canton's fire department. At 2 p.m. a pie baking contest is scheduled and at 3 p.m. there will be a contemporary music concert.

On noon Monday there will be a horseshoe contest and at 2 p.m. a tug of war. The fair will close Monday night with an aerial fireworks display at 9:45 p.m.

How to protect pupils' safety

With the opening of school fast approaching, the district-wide safety committee would like to impress upon the community that student safety is everyone's responsibility.

Forty-one per cent of the Plymouth Community School District is in Wayne County. From 1970 through 1973 our area accounted for 22.5 to 24 per cent of all accidents reported by the Wayne County sheriff's office. These are shocking figures and the community should try to decrease them immediately.

The following suggestions might help reduce these percentages.

- 1) Do not drive your child to school unless absolutely necessary. Too many cars cause traffic congestion in front of the school, and in the drive-ways, thus endangering other students.
- 2) Remind your children that good conduct is safe conduct whether walking to school or riding the school bus.
- 3) Parents, know the route that your child takes to and from school.

Fall festival offers $300 prize, good food

PLYMOUTH—A $300 contest and a corn beef dinner are among the events planned for Plymouth's Fall Festival by supporters of Youth Inc.

Contests featuring $100 cash prizes on Friday, Sept. 6 and Saturday, Sept. 7 and a $300 prize on Sunday, Sept. 8, will be held each afternoon in Kellogg Park. The $1 tickets will be on sale in Youth Inc.'s Kellogg Park booth and at the center on S. Main Street.

Throughout the four day festival, visitors are invited to visit the youth center's outdoor cafe, which will feature Gay 90s decor and entertainment. Corned beef on rye, hot dogs, cole slaw lemonade, homemade cake and coffee will be served.

Inside the center, a Red Cross bloodmobile will be in operation Saturday, Sept. 7 from 1:30 to 7:30 p.m. and Sunday, Sept. 8 from noon to 6 p.m. Three nurses will be on hand to care for donors.

All proceeds from the activities, which will be run by local youths, parents and Youth Inc. supporters, will go for the benefit of Youth Inc.

Auxiliary starts drive for caps

PLYMOUTH—The Plymouth Jaycee Auxiliary is sponsoring a collection drive for 7-Up bottle caps and proof of purchase seals.

For every four bottle caps returned, the 7-Up company will donate 25 cents to the Muscular Dystrophy Association. The association will then use the money to expand its research and patient service program.

The bottle cap drive will run through Sept. 29.

Sen. Faust Pursell, Christie have filed campaign expense reports

Sen. Faust spends $154

State Sen. William Faust (D-Westland) spent $154 and raised $300 up until the Aug. 6 primary election in which he had no opposition.

Expense reports filed with the Wayne County clerk showed Faust used no personal money and that all the effort was through the Friends of Faust Committee.

(James D. Walaskay, of Canton Township, unopposed in the Republican primary, failed to file any reports as of one week after the Aug. 16 deadline.)

Faust's committee listed three contributions: $200 from the Michigan Doctors Political Action Committee, $110 from Dentistry Investing in Action on Legislation and $50 from Council 23 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO.

Faust's district includes Garden City, Westland and Canton Township.

State Sen. Carl Pursell, (R-Plymouth) built up a $7,711 war chest up to the Aug. 6 primary in his bid for a second term in the 14th State Senate District.

In the Democratic Senate primary, unsuccessful Redford Township Trustee Don O. Christie spent $595, apparently all from his own pocket because no receipts were listed on his reports filed with the Wayne County clerk.

Michael O'Shea, the 22-year-old winner of the primary, failed to file either his personal accounting or committee reports as of one week after the Aug. 16 deadline.

Pursell spent $1,169 of his funds as of the primary, in which he was unopposed on the Republican ticket. Much of that was for literature that has yet to be distributed and for the expenses of his fund-raising parties.

Pursell's district covers Redford Township, Livonia, Plymouth and Northville with a tiny corner of Westland.

THE SENATOR'S personal expenses and contributions were zero, and the entire effort was made through five committees.

"Livonia for Pursell" had no expenses and an income of $745.

"Plymouth for Pursell" had expenses of $268 and income of $815.

"Pursell '74 State Senate" raised $3,281 and spent only $901.

"Redford for Pursell" brought in $2,370 with no expenses.

"Northville for Pursell" had no expenses and income of $200.

"The 14th District for Pursell" had no expenses and income of $300.

The committees with geographical names are basically bookkeeping transactions, and contributions from persons residing there don't necessarily go to the appropriate committee. For example, a Republican legislators fund-raising dinner in Lansing brought Pursell a $2,000 share, which his treasurers split across four of the five committees.

OTHER CONTRIBUTORS of $100 or more included:

"Pursell Campaign Committee" $469; Council 23 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO, $161; Construction Industry Management political action committee $100.

Pie-eating champ wanted

Perhaps the only contest where neatness and aptness of thought aren't prerequisites for winning will be held at Wonderland Center, Saturday, Aug. 31, at 11 a.m.

Wonderland's seventh children's pie-eating contest is open to the first 150 children between the ages of seven-13 to register.

They will compete by age groups with 15 children in each heat. One winner is to be selected from each competition.

Winners will receive "Wonderland 1974 Pie-Eating Champ" trophies.

Criterion for judging is simply who consumes the most blueberry pie within the three-minute limit. Contestants aren't permitted to use their hands. Shirt and dress saving bibs will be provided.

The contest will be held in the center of Wonderland's Mall beginning at 11 a.m.

Ford collects $22,180; has surplus for fall

While Jack Underwood of Westland was spending only $13 winning the Republican primary, U.S. Rep. William D. Ford (D-Taylor) was building up a war chest of $22,180 in the 15th Congressional District. The district includes Garden City, Westland, Canton Township and two precincts in Livonia.

Underwood, 37, raised only $25 for the Aug. 6 primary and spent about half, according to expense reports filed with the Wayne County clerk's office. The reports, required by law, cover campaign efforts up to the primary.

Underwood, a Burroughs Corp. senior instructor, defeated Edgar Nietsen, 36, a teacher from Romulus who spent $23, apparently all from his own pocket because his reports listed no other income.

Electrical Workers $250; Richard J. Schmidt, Washington attorney, $150; Railway Labor Executives Assn. $200; Life Underwriters political action committee $200; Truck Operators Non-Partisan Committee $500; Action Committee for Rural Electrification $500; Carol G. Trent Sr., of Flat Rock, $100.

Dinner ticket sales $9,920; picnic subscriptions $2,825; "unitemized" $2,085.

Most union contributions came from special political funds rather than the general treasury. Ford's report indicated.

Pursell's racetrack party receipts are confusing because they appear in three different committee reports. The total appears to be $3,710. Here are some of the major contributors to that Aug. 1 party:

"LUPAC" (no other identification), 702 Michigan National Towers, Lansing, $150; AFL-CIO, $90; UAW, $80; Wayne County public employees, $30; Floyd Kehrl, Northville, $100; John DeCarlo, Bloomfield Hills, $120; Gary Hawks, Ypsilanti, $330; Joseph L. Hudson, Plymouth businessman, $180; Richard Augenstein, Ann Arbor, $120; and Frank J. Mocerri, Northville, $120.

FORD FILED NO personal expense accounts, but his supporters filed four committee reports.

Combined, they showed total receipts of $22,180 and expenditures of $12,569, leaving a cash balance for the Nov. 5 campaign of $9,611.

Ford's testimonial dinner raised $9,920 through the sale of dinner tickets with expenses of $5,764, including $990 for catered food.

The Ford campaign fund had no expenses but got contributions totaling $1,250.

Ford's birthday picnic committee spent $5,049 and raised only $3,825 through subscriptions. The $2,500 deficit was made up by a fund transfer from the re-election committee.

The re-election committee raised $7,185 and spent only $1,756 but helped cover costs of the above-mentioned birthday picnic to the tune of $2,500.

HERE IS the list of contributors of $100 or more to all four committees:

NEBA (the initials are unexplained) political action fund $1,000; Seafarers union $500; Engineers union $250; Carpenters union $750; Postal Workers union $250; Michigan Doctors political action committee $900; Transportation Political Education League $500.

American Federation of Musicians $250; International Brotherhood of

TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH BOARD OF TRUSTEES - SPECIAL MEETING
AUGUST 20, 1974

The Special meeting was called to order at 7:32 P.M. by Supervisor McLaren. All members were present with the exception of Russell Ash who was on vacation. Resolution from Board of Trustees authorizing the Township Engineer to establish the grades on Ann Arbor Rd.

Mr. Brender submitted their engineering proposal to the Board members which included the preparation of drawings of Ann Arbor Road, suitable to obtain permits and outline work to be done in order to take bids for the construction of the sidewalk. This would include plan, profile and where needed cross-section information for the sidewalk for a lump sum fee of $9,000.00. He further advised the Board that in order to establish the elevations of the pavement for the new street returns to be paved as part of the State Highway Department's Ann Arbor Road Improvements, considerations must be given to a future sidewalk and pavement grade of the side streets and in order to establish these elevations, field information has to be gathered to the extent of the outline incorporating elevations of the existing roadway and right-of-way lines and this would involve approximately 8,000 lineal feet of streets for future sidewalk and/or paving grades, and they will do this for a lump sum fee of $8,900.00. The Specifications and a Bid Proposal form would be prepared to receive bids and this could be prepared for an estimated amount of $850.00 for a total package cost to the Township of $19,350.00.

Helen Richardson moved that this item be tabled to the September 10, 1974 regular meeting and authorize the Supervisor to contact the Engineers for the State of Michigan, the firm who received the Contract from the State, other agencies and Mr. Grossman of the Wayne County Road Commission in regard to the urgency and costs involved.

Supported by Gene Overholt and carried unanimously.

Selection of an Architectural firm for Fire Station No. 2

Helen Richardson moved that the firm of Cummins and Barnard, Inc. be retained as the Architectural firm for the replacement of Fire Station No. 2. Supported by Gene Overholt and carried unanimously.

Proposition for millage on the November 5, 1974 ballot for Police Protection in Plymouth Township.

Col. Fred Davids was present to answer any questions the Board members might have in regard to the study made by the committee.

The consensus of most members was that a minimum start up police department would be a mistake and the cost of establishing a 15 man post on a rental basis as presented by Col. Davids would be more reasonable for a community of our size.

Elizabeth Holmes moved that the Board approve a three (3) mill levy for Police Protection to be placed on the November 5, 1974 ballot. Supported by Gene Overholt and carried unanimously.

Gene Overholt moved to adjourn the meeting, supported by Gerald Burke. Supervisor McLaren adjourned the meeting at 9:33 P.M.

Approved,
J. D. McLAREN, Supervisor

Respectfully submitted,
HELEN I. RICHARDSON, Clerk

SC bargaining is continuing

LIVONIA—A two-year contract between Schoolcraft College and its faculty, which expired Aug. 18, has by mutual agreement, been extended to midnight Tuesday (Aug. 28).

While contents of a proposed new contract were not revealed, it is understood every issue has been settled with the exception of economics.

The Schoolcraft Board of Trustees met last Wednesday night in a special executive session, but no formal action was taken and no public announcement made following the three-hour meeting.

Richard Arlen, faculty negotiator, when asked if the Aug. 28 deadline might be extended, said "we may not make that decision until that date."

He said neither side has taken any "hard, fast position" during the negotiations.

Meetings between the two bargaining teams are continuing.

You're A Winner When AL Hits 3000

That is, if you've guessed correctly the date Al will bat that soon-to-be famous number 3000 hit. When he does, he will be the only player now playing in the American League to do it. Only 11 players in the history of baseball can claim membership in this select group of hitters, and everyone's waiting for Al to make it number 12.

The date he gets number 3000 safe base hit will be the basis for a contest among the readers of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

The winner of the contest will be the person who most accurately predicts the date Al steps across the 3000 hit club threshold. Most people think the time will come before the end of Al's 22nd season.

When do you think Al will do it? Simply pick the date of the game and send it in to the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. If you're our winner, you'll live through a "Night to Remember"--you will meet with Al Kaline and have your picture taken with him before a game; you will personally receive an autographed baseball from Al; and, finally, you will be the recipient of four box-seat tickets to a Detroit Tiger Baseball Game. This night will be yours courtesy of the Detroit Baseball Club and the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

So, if you want to be a winner when Al hits #3000, check out the contest rules which follow, fill out your coupon completely, and mail your guesses to the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

And keep counting those hits!

RULES

1. All entries must be on original or hand drawn replica.
2. Coupons will be accepted until hit #2990 has been made.
3. The winner will be the person (any age) who selects the calendar date on which Al gets number 3000 hit. As a number of ties are anticipated, the following information must be included on your entry coupon to break any ties: the inning of the game in which hit #3000 occurs, and an estimate of the official paid attendance of the game in which the hit occurs. The inning date will be the first tie breaker, and the final separator will be the closest guess as to the official paid attendance of the game in which the hit occurs. The same rules apply whether #3000 hit is on the road or at home.
4. Entries become the exclusive property of the Suburban Communications Corporation and none will be returned. Winner will be notified and date of the "Night to Remember" will be set according to Al Kaline's availability.
5. The winner will receive four box-seat tickets to a Tiger baseball game, a meeting and photographic session with Al Kaline before the game, and an autographed baseball from Al.

Fire fighters raise $2,180 in fund drive

PLYMOUTH—The Plymouth Township firefighters raised $2,180 in their recent campaign to raise funds to aid the fight against muscular dystrophy. Chairman Larry Groth said the firefighters "want to thank the entire Plymouth community for their outstanding support." Money collected will be used for research against the disease and for patient equipment, such as wheelchairs and walkers. Groth will appear on the Jerry Lewis Labor Day telethon at which time he will present the check from the firefighters.

Call is sounded for ninth graders

PLYMOUTH—Ninth graders entering high school at Plymouth Centennial Educational Park are asked to report to their school at noon Tuesday for an orientation session. Plymouth-Salem ninth graders are asked to report to the Salem auditorium, Room 1801. Plymouth-Canton ninth graders are asked to report to the Canton auditorium, Room C146. Parents also are welcome to attend these sessions. Following the meetings, ninth graders will be able to pick up their schedules and tour the building. Students unable to attend may pick up their schedules at their school on Wednesday between 8:30 and 11:30 a.m. or on the first day of school.

Learning disabilities program set for year

PLYMOUTH—The Michigan Association for Children with Learning Disabilities has released its program schedule for the 1974-75 year. The programs are from 7:30 to 10 p.m. on the third Wednesday of each month, September through May, at Pioneer Middle School, 46081 Ann Arbor Road. The first program is scheduled for Sept. 18 and is titled "How to Recognize a Learning Disability." It will be presented by Nora Martin, associate professor of special education, Eastern Michigan University. The Oct. 16 program is titled "Toys and Games that Teach" and will be presented by Lou Stewart, an educational consultant and teacher from Royal Oak. The third program is scheduled for Nov. 20 and is titled "Limits on Learning" and subtitled "Emotional Problems of Children." James Sonnega, a child psychiatrist from Plymouth, will present it.

"Walk In Another Pair of Shoes," a film, will be featured at the March 19 program. Discussion will be led by Sandra McClennen, assistant professor of special education at Eastern Michigan.

Dr. Cruickshank, director of the Institute for Mental Retardation and Related Disabilities in Ann Arbor, will present the April 16 program entitled "Stance and Direction for the Future."

The final program on May 21 is titled "Nature of the Visual, Perceptual Deficit in Children with Learning Disabilities," by Dr. Rennick, chief of psychology and neuropsychology at the Lafayette Clinic in Detroit.

Mental Illness: Myth or Reality? Ten years ago Thomas Szasz began his systematic criticism and analysis of psychiatry. His argument was fundamentally that the things we label as mental illness are in fact not illnesses at all (although very real and disturbing). He thereby called into question the whole mental health industry, especially the practice of involuntary mental hospitalization, which is based on medical premises. The publication of Asylums by Erving Goffman and One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest by Ken Kesey cally attacked psychiatric hospitalization. The writings of R.D. Laing and his associates in England also supplemented the picture. In more recent years a group identifying itself as Radical Psychiatry has argued that mental illness is a product of racial, sexist, economic and political oppression. Topics to be treated in these lecture-discussion sessions will include: • Is mental illness a myth? An introduction to Szasz's argument. R.D. Laing's position. • What is "Mental Health?" The rise of psychiatry, and the mental health" professions as opinion-makers. The Therapeutic State. • Crime and "mental illness." The social movement to redefine crime as mental illness. Case in point: the Patuxent Institution. • Involuntary Mental Hospitalization: Crime or Helpfulness? • Abuse of Drugs and Alcohol as Illness or Problem in Living. • The "Anti-Psychiatry" movement. The radical therapists. • Mental Illness and Law The course will be most useful to those who have a basic familiarity with the "psychological help" scene. Some academic background in psychology or related social science would also be appropriate. 10 sessions. $33. Reduced fees apply.	behavior modification: a weekend introduction "A New You Coming?" This weekend workshop will stress how the psychological principles of behavior modification can be applied to daily life—how individuals can take greater control of their actions to achieve their personal goals and enhance their familiar environments. editorial opinion

How about suitable signs at boundary line?

If you looked real close at the bronze plaque on the corner of the Mayflower Hotel you would learn that the first house in Plymouth was built on that site in 1825.

You would have a much more difficult time if you went in search of the present day city limits—the line that separates the city and the township.

You would find there are only two markers in the entire area that designate where you are and both are in the township. One is sighted as you drive along Hines Drive and the other as you go up the hill from the Hillside Inn on Plymouth Road. And neither does justice to the job that it is expected to accomplish.

WHY THE POWERS that be—the township trustees and the city commissioners—haven't corrected this oversight is a mystery and it never ceases to cause confusion to persons looking for former neighbors and friends on a weekend visit.

Few people realize the City of Plymouth covers only two square miles. As a result they seldom know if they are in the city or the township. To make matters even more complex one could step out of the city into the township and back again while walking only a block. He'd never know it.

More puzzling is the fact that only part of Wilcox Lake is within the city limits. That's one of the reasons no concerted attempt ever has been made to clean up that body of water and make it fit for boating and other forms of recreation.

Instead, the township officials are concentrating on a parcel of land on Ann Arbor Trail on the west side as a recreation area.

The lack of visible boundary lines also is puzzling when folks notice the lack of industry in the city. Actually, the city has only a few acres available for industry and they are on Plymouth Road, while the township has many wide open spaces as far north as Five-Mile and Sheldon Roads. Many persons are of the opinion that this is city-owned property and wonder why it is not being developed.

ALL THIS WOULD change if both sides got together and decided on suitable markers signifying one's entrance into either the township or the city.

What could be more pleasing than to see a sign, ornamental of course, saying "You are now entering the colonial city of Plymouth"? It would add a bit of prestige to the city and end a lot of confusion for the people.

Some years ago it was suggested the intersection of Plymouth Road and Mill Street be transformed into a circle, with the old stone marker designating the end of the old plank road in the center, to mark the entrance into the city. The boundary line actually is only a short way down the hill. The idea was scoffed at—and the old stone now is standing forlorn on the edge of the parking lot at a hamburger stand.

The same thing was true at the western entrance where plans were discussed for a suitable marker at the point where Ann Arbor Trail and Ann Arbor Road meet. Again nothing was done.

Now, with the population growth and the number of new residents, the time has come to let them know when they are in the city or in the township.

If ever suitable signs were needed they are needed now.

The Stroller

Nostalgic hypnotism

By W. W. EDGAR

Seated comfortably in his easy chair in the living room watching the evening news on the tube, The Stroller was pulled up short when the scene suddenly shifted to the little town of Colon, Mich.

There, in living color, the TV camera focused on the annual convention of magicians, sleight-of-hand artists and the like when, without warning, a hypnotist came into view.

Dressed in the formal full dress tails and white gloves he had a woman suspended in the air about five feet from the floor and was swinging a hoop back and forth to prove that she was not being supported in any way except by his power.

It was quite a sight and a nostalgic one at that, for it had been years since The Stroller, then a young lad back home, had seen a hypnotist perform this feat. And it is still puzzling to him as to what keeps the woman suspended.

DOWN IN OUR LITTLE town we were visited annually by the troupe of magicians. We never missed a chance to get up close and try to see where the magician placed the white pigeons that always played vital roles in the sleight-of-hand performance.

It was the hypnotist, though, who created the most interest and for a very good reason.

Each evening—and these were one night stands—he would talk seriously to the doubters in the audience and tell them he would prove his hypnotic power by doing his act in any store window on our main street.

He always saw to it that there several "doubters" in the group and when they made their voices heard he would leave the theater and move to the hardware store that boasted the biggest show window in town.

Then, for all the world to see, he would place the woman in a trance and by the waving of his hand raise her body about five feet while we natives stood aghast at the sight.

IT WAS THE SAME each year, with the exception that the hypnotist usually had a new partner, one more beautiful than the other as the seasons came and went.

As The Stroller sat there the other evening watching the performance at Colon on the tube, he remembered the night when "our gang" tried to foil the hypnotist.

We were at the age when such things were looked upon with skepticism and yearned for the chance to prove that there was real trickery in such performances. And we didn't hesitate to shout "fake" at the good man doing the trick as his way of making a living.

So, one night we hit upon a scheme when the hypnotist announced that he would keep the woman suspended for 12 hours in that store window.

We agreed that we would keep watch all through the night by working in relays. It was our belief that, at some point in the wee hours, the woman would be taken out of the trance and given a rest.

We were a determined group that went to the regular performance in the theater and goaded the hypnotists into proving their power in the window of the hardware store.

AS USUAL a large gathering of the townspeople crowded the sidewalk to watch the act and then departed in amazement. We departed, too, so as not to give away our plans.

Each hour during the night—and sometimes on the half hour—one of our group made it a point to sneak along the store fronts and take a quick look to see if the woman was still there.

Came sun-up and she still was there. With each minute it became more puzzling. Was she really hypnotized? Could she go through the night without heeding a call from nature?

Then one morning came the break. We had worked in relays and had failed again to get the results we had hoped for. The owner of the store pulled the curtain and explained that he had to rearrange the window display, but that he wouldn't disturb the suspended woman.

SURE ENOUGH, when he finished and the curtain was pulled aside, there was the woman just as we had seen her. The hypnotist was standing by, smiling, until the appointed hour of 10:30 a.m. when he released the spell and the woman returned to normalcy while the small gathering cheered.

But our gang left with mixed feelings. Was the act on the up and up, or did the store owner draw the curtain to give her a rest?

We grew into manhood and still did not have the answer.

No wonder The Stroller sat up in his easy chair the other night when he saw the trick done again on the picture tube.

It brought back some fond memories.

What was that thing called courtship?

By CORINNE ABATT

All you have to do is look around to realize that today's young people are growing up in a world like no other.

Information on sex, once a closet topic, is openly available. So are contraceptives, and abortions...and a variety of life styles.

In contrast to the romantic naivete that surrounded relationships between the sexes in years past, today's candid approach sometimes shocks parents of the old school.

Margaret Meade, author-anthropologist, remarks in a recent nationally published article that a young woman in the first bloom of romantic love is hard to find.

NO LONGER do we refer to the 'new morality'—it isn't new anymore.

Most young people look mystified at the mention of the word 'courtship'. "What does that mean?" one woman in her early 20s asked the other day.

Start explaining, this is when a young man with serious, honorable intentions starts calling on and inviting a young woman out, and the looks of disbelief spread.

The traditions of the courtship ritual—flowers and other gifts, going to meet family and parents, cards and letters, formal dates and dress-up clothes—to many young folks are something from Medieval times.

"It is a curious thing," says a high school teacher from Livonia, "but attitudes of the kids toward each other seemed to have changed drastically in the last few years."

Only a few years ago, he says, there were always couples walking through the halls hand in hand and kissing was a common sight.

"Now," he says, "they may walk down the halls side-by-side, but there's not much touching."

SCHOOLCRAFT COLLEGE counselor Sylvia Vulkmirovich, agrees there are changes in attitudes. One is that students don't feel compelled to always relate as male and female. "They're more apt to be friends. They're freer about their roles and I think that's good."

As a health careers counselor, Mrs. Vulkmirovich deals almost exclusively with female students.

"I see a lot more of them leaning toward postponing marriage and family—more than even two or three years ago."

This pleases her because she sees the women as more concerned about developing their potential than getting married as an alternative to a career.

As to how they meet and get acquainted, which may seem like a silly concern in a free, open society, there still seem to be problems.

One male student came to the counseling offices earlier this year for help on how to meet girls.

THE OUTWARD DISPLAYS of affection are still in evidence on campus. "They're still holding hands and they're still necking at the back door," the counselor says.

The 18 to 21-year-olds are hanging out in bars a lot—that's the way they're getting together. But, I suspect the 21s and older, are as conventional as we were."

Because of her feeling that the young people don't know as much as they profess, Mrs. Vulkmirovich is offering a non-credit course in human sexuality. She believes that in spite of the wealth of material available, the young people are not picking it up.

She says that in spite of the pill and contraceptives available, unmarried students are still getting pregnant and still facing the traumatic decisions the situation presents.

She wonders if it could be that "good girls don't take precautions," which are indicative of pre-meditated promiscuity.

DAVID ANDERSON, social worker at the Methodist Children's Home and one of those who conducted courses in family life and human sexuality at the Northwest Y, has some thoughts about young people and contraceptives.

Under the sponsorship of The Third Ear, Anderson has been involved setting up the courses at the Y which drew adolescents, young adults and parents.

The series was well received and Anderson hopes another series can be offered again this fall.

He feels young women on the pill are assuming responsibility for their actions by not bringing unwanted children into the world.

Pointing out that the barriers to sexual activity which once upon a time set standards of behavior are not as clear to this generation, he figures that their use of the pill indicates they are aware of the "reality of sex."

His concern is that these young people are not equipped to cope with the emotional impact of the act.

"It opens a person psychologically for the kind of intimacy they are not able to handle. Pills don't prepare you for that."

He comments that in spite of liberation talk, it's still the woman who usually takes the responsibility for preventing conception.

PARENTAL REACTIONS to the actions of their children in a more open society may vary. But Anderson says in talking about sexual activity and young people, parents may make a remark something like, "Damn it, I couldn't do that. I would have liked to do that, but I couldn't."

Evelyn Shuput, who has been teaching family living courses at Franklin

High School, Livonia, agrees young people need more opportunities to air their views on love, parenthood and marriage.

She says the class usually attracts "mostly girls, our problem is not enough boys."

She adds, "It is good when the guys are there to react. I feel this kind of thing is really needed. The group is so diverse and the students are exposed to other ways of thinking besides their own close knit group."

MRS. JANET WHITE, secretary in the Westland City Clerk's office and mother of three, likes a good deal of what she sees in young people today.

She says of her daughter, 19, who was happily married and had a child before graduating from high school, "She knows more, handles more responsibilities and does better than I would have at 25."

She believes today's young people are better educated on matters of sex than previous generations "and that's good."

"Some parents stick their heads in the ground in the belief that ignorance is bliss. That may have been true once, but not anymore."

SHE SAYS that while today's young people are generally more casual and don't take things as seriously as her generation did, there's an exception.

Instead of watching the events of the Nixon resignation on television, and following the news closely as her 16-year-old son and his friends did, Mrs. White says, "I would have been more interested in what was going on outside, if it had happened when I was the same age."

Courtship has gone the way of the hoop skirt and bustle, candor and openness are 'in' but in the face of all these changes, young people may still need a chance to discuss and form values for a rapidly changing society.

Livonia, Northville town halls list programs

The approach of fall is as good a reminder as any to write on the calendar the dates nationally known speakers will be coming to the area to speak at the Town Hall lectures planned by organizations in Livonia and Northville.

The Livonia Town Hall lectures will be off with a laugh when Erma Bombeck, who writes a nationally syndicated column replete with humor about family life, speaks Oct. 16 in the Terrace Theater.

She will be followed by radio newsman Charles Osgood on Nov. 10 and actress Betty Jo Hawkins on Jan. 15. The final speaker will be James Beard, who will discuss the art of gourmet cooking, March 19.

Lecture times are at 10:30 a.m. The Terrace Theater is located at 30400 Plymouth Road.

RESERVATIONS for a season ticket may be made by contacting Mrs. Richard Dollar, 32284 Allen, Livonia. A regular ticket for all four lectures costs $12. A sponsor ticket is $20 and a patron ticket costs $35.

Proceeds of the lectures will be used by the American Field Service which arranges for visits to foreign countries by local students and brings foreign students to this country where they live with local families.

Chapters of the organization exist in high schools of the area.

A celebrity luncheon at the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth will be held following each lecture with admission reserved for lecture ticket holders. The cost is $4 and further information will be on the back of the ticket.

NANCY DICKERSON, one of the nation's top news correspondents and television personalities, will open the Northville Town Hall series on Oct. 10 at 11 a.m. in the Madonna College Auditorium, at Schoolcraft and Levan, Livonia.

William Albright, a composer and teacher at the University of Michigan, who is also an interpreter of classic ragtime and early jazz styles in music, will speak Nov. 14.

On March 13, Joe Callaway, critic, lecturer, actor and director who reviews Broadway plays for television and radio, will present a program.

The cartoonist who draws the Family Circus for the comics, Bil Keane, will end the series with a lecture on April 10.

All lectures will take place at Madonna College, a new location for the series, at 11 a.m.

Season tickets at $12 for the four events may be secured by sending a check to Mrs. Donald DiCorno, Northville Town Hall, Box 93, Northville.

An opportunity to meet the speaker at a luncheon following the lecture is made available to all ticket holders. The luncheon will be held at the Holiday Inn in Farmington.

Its cost will be $5 per person and the fee of four luncheons may be added to the reservation check when mailed to Mrs. Richard Booms, luncheon chairman, at the same address.

The series is sponsored by Our Lady's League of the Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church, Northville, which last season donated the proceeds to 17 different organizations in the area.

Arrangements for babysitters for the Northville Town Hall may be made by calling Mrs. John Stuart, 522 Fairbrook, Northville.

Dieting advice is bonus in new psychology text

If you are one of the estimated 20 to 50 million Americans who are overweight, and one of the 98 per cent who have failed at dieting, University of Michigan psychologist James V. McConnell may be able to help you. He says it's not just what you eat but why you eat that determines weight loss and gain. Your eating habits are significantly influenced by the behavior of your family and friends. For example, the pitcher of beer you split to be "sociable"; the second helpings you took to please a doting parent or spouse.

Class reunion

Reservations must be made by Aug. 29 for the Nov. 29 reunion of the class of 1964 of Wayne Memorial High School. It will be held at the Dearborn Inn.

"JUST AS YOU retrain your stomach to expect less food and your psyche to anticipate a thin figure, you must retrain your friends to reward you for dieting, instead of eating," Prof. McConnell explains.

"The real challenge lies in learning how your early childhood experiences and current associates keep you eating enough to stay fat."

McConnell is the author of "Understanding Human Behavior," a new introductory psychology textbook published by Holt, Reinhart and Winston, Inc. Its chapters encompass the biological bases of behavior; sensation and perception; learning and memory; maturation and development; personality; motivation; and social psychology.

"Of all the various drives that influence behavior," he writes, "we probably know the most about hunger. You eat because your blood sugar level has fallen; your stomach is contracting; and neural activity has increased in the 'feeding center' of your brain."

YOU OVEREAT, however, for psychological or social reasons. These must be strong, since "fat people are more likely to suffer heart attacks, high blood pressure and strokes. They have more difficulty finding attractive clothes, comfortable cars, and desirable jobs. Studies show that fat high school students receive lower grades, fewer school offices and honors and, of course, fewer dates," McConnell notes.

"It is as unfair as our society's discrimination against slanted eyes and dark skin color. Because, in a strange way, you are not entirely responsible for how much you weigh," McConnell says. "The psychological factors influencing fatness or thinness are just as important as the genetic or physiological ones."

"MOST PSYCHOLOGISTS agree," he notes, "that the tendency toward obesity often begins in childhood. Overweight parents may overfeed their children, subconsciously, to make them more like themselves. Since children tend to lose weight when they are sick, the parents may encourage weight gain as a sign of good health.

"If parents reward good behavior with an extra dessert, the child will soon decide that overeating wins further approval. Food then becomes a symbol of acceptance and love."

McConnell says a study by U-M behaviorist Richard B. Stuart showed that husbands can exercise a profound influence over what their wives eat. From tape recorded dinner conversations, Stuart found that husbands were four times as likely to offer food to their dieting wives than vice versa, and 12 times more likely to criticize their eating behavior than to praise it.

The data from 55 interviews suggests, he notes, that the husbands wanted to keep their wives fat in order to maintain their superiority, justify their loss of sexual interest in their wives, or keep their wives faithful.

"Social class can also influence eating behavior," McConnell continues. "So-called 'upper class' persons in the United States tend to be thinner, healthier and live longer than those of the 'lower class.'"

Westland girl vies for title

Donna Jean Newsom, 17, of Westland will compete against beauty pageant winners throughout Michigan for the title of Miss Michigan State Fair Queen.

Miss Newsom won the title of Miss Westland Spring Festival of 1974. Preliminaries for the contest will be Tuesday, Aug. 27, and the finals will be Wednesday, Aug. 28. Both events will be at 8 p.m. in the Community Arts Auditorium.

'Stingers' buzz to state softball crown

Redford girls out to defend national title

BY TOM DONOGHUE
Sports Editor

From the ballfields of Redford Township comes the clamor. "When you mess with the Stingers, you're bound to be stung."

And sting the Redford Stingers have done to their opponents this 1974 women's softball season.

The Real Estate One sponsored Redford team, which consists of girls between the ages of 17-23, has piled up a 51-9 record.

It was this same club that walked off with national honors last summer in the American Softball Association playoffs in Louisville, Ky.

And that trip to Louisville is again in order this '74 campaign to defend that title.

The masterminds behind this "fairer sex" talent is the husband and wife team of Nelli and Ron Grimwade. Ron being a coach and Nelli the manager.

The '74 story shows the Stingers league champions in the Redford Township loop for the fifth consecutive season. The Stingers in fact have lost only one game during this span which has seen 65 wins pile up in winning five championships.

In the Detroit Parks and Recreation Major A loop, the Stingers are currently in first place with a 6-1 mark and have played numerous exhibition contests before Major Metro play at Claude Allison Park in Redford Township.

The Stingers tuned up for their conquest of another national crown by capturing a second state title in the five year regime.

The Stingers won that title in '71, after finishing runner-up in their first year of play in '70. The '72 season saw the Redford team fall out of the districts but bounce back in '73 to finish fourth in the state but wind up taking the nationals.

The '74 state Michigan Recreation Parks Association tourney was held at Municipal Park in Dearborn Heights and the Stingers topped Beaumont Hospital, a team it had knocked off earlier in the tourney, 8-6, by a score of 2-1 in the state finale.

It was a scoreless battle after six innings with Beaumont's Marsha Lackowski and Redford's Marilyn Turner locked in a pitchers' battle.

Beaumont had banged out solo singles in the first, third, fourth and fifth innings. Redford had threatened in the first when Sue Pulju and Cindy Grimwade singled but Pulju was tossed out at third to put a halt to that rally. Amy Gierak's single in the fifth was Redford's only other hit heading into the seventh.

The top of the seventh saw Miss Grimwade open with a single. First baseman Sherry Cran delivered a shot up the alley in left center that carried all the way to the fence. Grimwade and Cran both scored to break the deadlock and it stood at 2-0 heading the last of the inning.

After two singles and two groundouts, Beaumont was on the scoreboard and had the tying run on first. A single to right appeared to tighten things but Redford outfielder Nancy Gurton tossed to Mararet Spindler at third who relayed back to shortstop Sue Riedel - the tag was made and the Redford Stingers had another state championship.

Now comes another journey to Louisville, Ky. where the Stingers join 40 other clubs in a two-game knockout tourney. The games are slated to open Aug. 30.

"People are finally beginning to take the idea of women's softball and our team seriously," commented the Manager Nelli Grimwade. "Even the umpires who never really took us serious are realizing that we are dead serious about this game."

Of the 16 girls on the Stingers' roster, only two are married. One is engaged and there exists 13 of the single variety.

The married are 23 year-old Denise Pacteles from Crestwood High and 21 year-old Judy (Butsky) Huntsman, graduate of Thurston High.

The solo Stinger engaged is the pitcher Marilyn Turner, a 21 year-old Central Michigan University student and Thurston High grad.

The youngest member of the squad is 17 year-old Amy Gierak who will be a senior at Redford Union High. A St. Agatha High grad in Denise Skwarczynski is the lone 19 year-old. Miss Skwarczynski is now attending Wayne State University.

Kathey Archer and Vicki Jung are the 20-year-olds. Miss Jung went to Bishop Borgess High and Miss Archer attended Redford Union.

Twenty-one is the magic number on the five-year-old squad with seven carrying the workload of the team. Five of those are graduates of Redford Union in Cindy Grimwade, Gail Snyder, Sue Pulju, Sherry Cran and Sue Riedel.

Margaret Spindler and Julie Swartout are the two 22-year-olds. Swartout attending Central Michigan University and Spindler the University of Detroit.

When asked which one of the "singles" have had in appearance the greatest number of "hopefuls" at the games, the entire Stinger club picked Miss Sherry Cran who has been sighted as having a different boy friend at each and every game.

"You know, I really believe that the closeness of this club has made us a winner," said Manager Grimwade. "Most of these girls have known each other since fifth grade."

With their second state title in five years secured, the Stingers are off to defend a national title.

Westland Barracudas place in Huron meet

The Westland Barracudas, an area swim club in its first season, came up with ribbons in the annual novice swim meet sponsored by the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority.

The 10-and-under girls were led by Kim Finney who placed third in the 40-yard breaststroke, fifth in the 40-yard freestyle, and shared a second with Kelly Graham, Laura Hayes and Lisa Hayes in the 160-yard freestyle.

The boys 10-and-under relay team of Joe Bacer, Dave Ford, Doug Ford and Michel Wetli captured a sixth in the 160-yard freestyle.

In the girls 15-17 group, Connie Combs placed second in the 160-yard individual medley, fourth in the 80-yard backstroke and fourth in the 80-yard breaststroke. Kathy McGuire wound up third in the 80-yard backstroke and fifth in the 80-yard breaststroke with teammate Virginia Lee taking a sixth to wrap up the Westland points.

By W.W. EDGAR

This is a big week for the all-star bowlers throughout the area.

Without much fanfare, they will be opening their seasons and begin the annual chase trying to catch the Stroh team in the men's ranks and Anita Cataline's Jac-Ro team on the women's battlegrounds.

As has been the custom for years the season officially gets under way Monday night (tonight) with the John Gavie Sweepstakes at Thunderbowl in Allen Park.

This event was started years ago as a simple warmup for the league season. Over the years it has grown and now is a full-fledged tournament with competition at its height—despite the fact it is opening of the long campaign.

The real battle starts Tuesday night when the All-Star Classic, once looked upon as the strongest league in the country, opens at Satellite Bowl in Dearborn Heights.

Following this opening the stars turn to the Michigan Open at Shafer Lanes then the Bonanza Open, a new event, at Orchard Lanes in Pontiac later in the week.

The women won't start their competition until Wednesday, Sept. 11, when the Major League opens at Pine Tree Bowl. The Bowlerettes follow on Monday, Sept. 16 at Motor Lanes, where they have held forth for years.

Much of the early attention will be focused on Stroh's due to the appearance of Bob Hart, ABC all-events champion, in the lineup.

Last season Stroh opened with a 3437 series at Shafer Lanes on the very first night and the count held up all year. What's more, it earned a high place on the national honor roll.

The big question now being asked is: Can they repeat with a record making score?

The Michigan Major Association stole a march on all its rivals over the past weekend when it opened the fall season at the Firebird Lanes in Pontiac.

At the same time the Majors announced their leading money winners thus far in the calendar year. Mike Totsky, of Strohs, tops the list with $1,230 for the six events thus far. Next in line comes Fred Vitali with $1,035 and he is followed by Leo Scantamburlo with $875, Harry Campbell with $855 and Fred Mc Clain with $640.

Talk about tough luck—Ann Setlock takes the prize.

After the former bowling queen decided to cut down on all star bowling to one league a week, she had the misfortune to break a toe and now may be sidelined for the opening of the season.

There'll be a new strong women's league in the suburban area this year. It will bowl at Garden Lanes on Friday nights and will be composed of several teams from the now defunct proprietors traveling league and another loop at Garden Lanes.

Here's the latest from the inflation front—the newest model Brunswick bowling ball is priced at $50.

Oakland College announces college-wide athletic program

Oakland Community College Athletic Director, Prentice "Pin" Ryan announced that intercollegiate ice hockey is being reactivated along with a college wide athletic concept being adopted at Oakland.

One of the midwest's strongest small college hockey powers for five years, and champions of the Midwest Collegiate Hockey Association in '72 and '73, OCC dropped ice hockey during the 1973-74 campaign due to lack of funds.

But the recent decision to switch from campus teams to a college wide configuration has restored the hockey program.

OCC is still screening applicants for the coaching position for the upcoming 25-game schedule with the Bloomfield Arena the home ice. The Raiders will compete against Henry Ford, Macomb, St. Clair; Bowling Green; Lambton, Canada; Oberlin; University of Michigan Dearborn; Hillsdale and other midwest hockey teams.

Intended to serve the college's four campuses in Auburn Hills, Orchard Ride, Highland Lakes and the Southeast Centers, the following additional college wide sports and coaches have been announced:

Cross country will be directed by Lynn Reed who has led the cross country and basketball teams at Highland Parks since the college's inaugural year in '66. Basketball will be coached by Sid Fox and swimming by Dick Osgood. Dave Wenzel will head up the varsity baseball program and Ryan the golf team with Merle Smith on top of the tennis program.

Two other varsity sports in bowling and women's volleyball have been established with coaches to be named soon.

Stevenson grad leads 'the pack' at Wolverine

'It's really a fun job' -Lee McIlmurray

By TOM DONOGHUE
Sports Editor

Lee McIlmurray has an unusual duty at the Wolverine Raceway. The 20-year-old, 5-foot-2 and 109-pound blond, leads approximately 10,000 pounds of competitive weight and spirit to the battleground 10 times a night, six days a week.

Miss McIlmurray is the outrider or more formally put, the parade marshal, for Wolverine Raceway at the Detroit Race Course.

The 1972 Livonia Stevenson grad is in year No. 2 of leading the harness horses onto the mile track and she is far from being alone in her family in the horse business.

Lee, whose formal name is Lella Ann, is the daughter of one of the area's top driver and trainers in Wally McIlmurray and her uncle is another owner-driver-trainer in Don McIlmurray.

And if that isn't enough to keep the turnstiles turning for the McIlmurray clan, Lee has another uncle Elwood McIlmurray who is the starter at Northville Downs.

Miss McIlmurray also sports three brothers that are all into the business. Adam is a starter at Foxborough Downs in New England, Wally Jr. is a trainer and driver-to-be for his father and Arthur is a groom for the stable.

"I have been brought up in the horse world and when I turned the age of 18, I applied for the position of outrider at Wolverine," commented Miss McIlmurray.

"My function is to lead the horses onto the track for each race and then stay on the track and help out any of the drivers if an accident happens or if a horse gets loose."

"There are times when I have to lead some of the wild horses to the gate. Last year at Wolverine there were only about 10 accidents and this season there has been just one.

Lee's attachment to the horse world began at the age of five when she became the owner of a pony, Chico. Then came a racing horse in Corn-mache and Lee now has two horses she uses in her position at the track.

"Wal Thor" and "Blue" are the two horses Lee has in her parade marsh-ship but her work around the track doesn't end in that.

Lee jogs horses in the early morn-ing hours for her father, Wally, and even has aspirations of becoming a driver.

"I really enjoy driving a horse but the rest of the male family is not really pushing me into it. In fact, they are steering me the other way," said Miss McIlmurray.

"You know, I have even got a cer-tain amount of fan mail while work-ing at the track. I have received cards and letters from people saying that they would like to meet the ou-trider and how much they are in love with me.

"Being the parade marshal is a fun job and this sort of thing doesn't really bother me."

Asked whether it becomes monoto-nous to lead the horses onto the track 10 times a night, six days a week dur-ing an 82 day meet, Lee explained, "Not really. I really enjoy being around horses and the people that make up the horse world. I enjoy watching the horses race and the vari-ous techniques of the drivers.

"I find myself talking to myself and my horse and even singing sometimes out on the track."

Come 11 minutes to postime. Miss McIlmurray is aboard either "Wal Thor" - or "Blue" and out leading 10,000 pounds onto the track at Wolve-rine - 10,000 pounds that have the watchful eye of the petite blond for 4,920 races during the current meet-ing.

Football tie-breaker rule set for '74 prep season

The Michigan High School Athletic Association has announced the foot-ball tie-breaker rule will again be used on an optional basis for high school varsity football teams in the 1974 campaign.

Teams other than varsity clubs are to terminate all games at the con-clusion of the fourth quarter.

Football tie-breaker agreement cards are being sent to high schools. Before kick-off time, the host school is to present the properly signed card to the referee for his signature if the rule is to be in effect for that game.

The card may be destroyed if the score is not tied at the end of the fourth quarter. If overtime periods are played, the card is to be com-pleted and mailed by the host school to the M.H.S.A.A. for statistical pur-poses.

There were a total of 64 overtime games reported during the '73 season. Forty-nine played to a one overtime finish, 11 wound up in two overtime periods, two in three overtimes, one in four overtimes and one went as far as six overtimes before a victor was de-cided.

Bentley High is site for grid rules meeting

Livonia Bentley High School is one of 18 sites announced for the foot-ball rules meetings to be held for coaches, officials, and interested townspeople.

Pertinent State Association matters, 1974 football rule changes and points of emphasis in football rules will be the subjects discussed at the Wednes-day, Sept. 4 meeting at Bentley High.

The preliminary special rules ses-sion will begin at 7:30 p.m.

ABOARD 22 YEAR-OLD WAL-THOR and ready to lead the harness drivers and horses onto the track is Stevenson High grad Lee McIlmurray. (Staff photo by Tom Donoghue)

WE KNOW WHAT A PAPA GOLDFISH IS WORTH.

What happens when somebody says, "We put in that little pond by the apple tree 6 years ago. And the papa goldfish is 8 inches long now!" That ought to be worth something. We think it is. And so we take the pond and the afternoon sun and spring blossoms into consideration. If they're worth something to the owners, they'll be worth something to the people we'll find to live in their home. And everyone will be pleased.

GARAGE SALE

Here's a handy sign for your garage sale!

And here are some helpful hints for holding a successful sale:

- When you're rounding up those usable but no-longer-used items for your sale, be sure to check all the storage areas in your home—the basement, garage, attic, closets, seldom used cupboards.
- Saleable items include outgrown bicycles, lawn and patio furniture, small appliances, dishes, kitchen utensils, toys, golf clubs and other sports equipment, lawn mowers, decorator items, books, records, musical instruments—your "extras" may be "extra-special" to someone else!
- Visit a few garage sales before you hold your own. You'll get great ideas, and maybe pick up a treasure or two.
- Once you've picked the date for your sale, call The Observer & Eccentric Classified Department and place your Garage Sale Want Ad. (O&E Want Ads reach more than 155,500 households every Monday and Thursday!) And remember, Double Action Family Want Ads—same ad, two consecutive issues—save you $2.00 off the regular Want Ad rates.
- When you're clearing out your garage, you'll probably discover that some of the items in there will have to stay there—even though you won't be selling them. Try to cover these "not-for-sales" or push them out of the way.
- Use tables to display as many of the sale items as possible. Items on the floor of the garage, especially small items, may be overlooked by prospective buyers.
- Make sure there is enough walking space through the garage, and that sale items are easy to reach.

8. PUT A PRICE TAG ON EVERYTHING! Prospective buyers will appreciate it, and you'll find it makes things easier for you.

9. Before your sale begins, be sure you have change and some sort of cash box on hand. Set up a "check-out" table just outside the garage.

10. Be ready for a rush at opening time—garage sale shoppers like to come early, and with your ad in The Observer & Eccentric, you'll have plenty of shoppers!

(And don't forget to use the sign above. Just paste it on heavy cardboard and post it by your house. It will help people locate your sale.)
