Teacher strike enters court today; school opening delay enters 3rd week

By W. EDWARD WENDOVER

PLYMOUTH — The battle between Plymouth Schools and their striking teachers has been scheduled to begin in the courtroom today (Monday).

Officials from the schools and the Plymouth Education Association (PEA, teachers' union) and their lawyers discuss the strike before Wayne County Circuit Judge Harry J. Dingeman Jr. at 2 p.m.

That court hearing was set after the Plymouth School Board last week filed for an injunction against the teachers' strike that is now entering its third week. The board also is seeking $1 million in damages from the PEA.

MARGARET "DOLLY" CARTER, PEA president, was asked last week whether the PEA would obey an injunction. "We'll cross that bridge when we come to it. I won't say (defiance) hasn't been mentioned."

The strike was sent to the courts "reluctantly" by the school board, said Board President E. J. McClendon, because ongoing negotiations have failed to produce an agreement.

NEGOTIATING TEAMS for the schools and the PEA met with a state fact finder Saturday to discuss the situation. The fact finder was assigned at the request of the board by the Michigan Employment Relations Commission (MERC). His opinion is not binding.

It was learned that a mediator also assigned to the Plymouth strike by MERC recently suggested a proposal that was rejected by both the board and the PEA. Both sides have declined to corroborate this report, however.

It was learned the mediator suggested a two-year contract settlement between the district and its teachers. The proposal called for a 6 1/2 per cent salary increase for first and second year teachers and 8 1/2 per cent raises for all other teachers during the contract's first year.

In the second year, under the mediator's proposal, teachers would get a two per cent raise plus two thirds of the cost of living (if that is under 12 per cent) or a one per cent raise plus two thirds of the cost of living (if more than 12 per cent).

That proposal by the mediator was not binding because arbitrators assigned by MERC only serve to facilitate negotiations.

The board has proposed that binding arbitration on a last offer basis be instituted, but the PEA has rejected that.

IT WAS LEARNED also that a one-year contract proposed by the school negotiators last week was rejected by the PEA.

Mrs. Carter said that offer "was less than what teachers were offered (in a two-year package's first year) on Aug. 29."

Unofficially, it is known that on the first year of a two-year contract, the school board is currently willing to grant about a seven per cent increase plus increments while the PEA is seeking 8.3 per cent raises.

IN ANOTHER DEVELOPMENT in the strike, PEA general membership voted overwhelmingly (about 80 per cent) to support "coordinated bargaining."

Mrs. Carter says this means that if striking teachers in any of the MEA local unions which have approved "coordinated bargaining" are fired, all members of those local unions would show their support by striking.

Mrs. Carter said this could mean that if Plymouth teachers settled on a contract and went back to work, they might walk out again later if teachers in Wayne - Westland (or other districts) were fired for striking.

DAVID KEEFE, the fact finder assigned to the Plymouth strike by MERC, will compile the information he received over the weekend into a report and give recommendations.

His suggestions are not binding but are released publicly.

Norm Kee, chief negotiator for the schools, said one of the major points the schools wanted to make clear to the fact finder is the difference between the schools' and the teachers union's methods of computing cost of living increases.

Canton Township master plan public hearing set for Tuesday

By MARIE MCGEE

CANTON—The first of what could turn out to be as a series of public hearings on Canton's land use plan will be held tomorrow (Tuesday) night.

The meeting at 8 p.m. will be held in the UAW Local 735 union hall at 48055 Michigan Avenue, west of Canton Center Road. The hall is the same one that was used for the public hearing several months ago on the Mocerri Project.

At this first session, Township Planner Michael Manore will present the map and an explanation of the text of the land use plan that will guide the growth of the township in the next decade.

RESIDENTS will then be given a chance to ask questions or state their opinions on the map drawn by Manore after extensive help from a citizens advisory council which met for several months studying land use patterns.

To expedite the meeting and to avoid a duplication of questions, Manore said the audience will be given cards on which to jot down questions after he finishes his presentation.

"Everyone will get an opportunity to speak," commented Manore, who was speaking in behalf of planning commission chairman Joseph Kinnick, who has been out of town but is expected home in time for the meeting.

He said a previously announced two-minute limit for comments was dropped by the planning commission last week because of the importance of the subject.

A limited number of zoning maps will also be available for the audience the night of the meeting although the planner felt the map had had wide circulation through its appearance in area newspapers.

"How far we progress Tuesday night will determine how many more meetings will be held," Manore said. The planner said he envisions "several more, at least" because of the vast amount of material to be covered.

"We'll hold as many as necessary," he said. At last week's board of trustees' meeting, several residents expressed the fear that "people won't know what's in the plan" because of the limited copies of the text that have been available.

EACH MEMBER of the advisory committee was given a copy of the plan and was asked to share it with other residents.

Several copies of the document have been on file in township offices for several months for use by the general public, explained Township Clerk John Flodin. Copies for the general public were not feasible because of the cost involved in having the document printed, he added.

Flodin said he doubted many people would bother to read the document now, even if the township did go to the great expense of having it printed.

The text covering several hundred pages reportedly takes about four hours to read — not counting the time it takes to tie the written material to the map.

Planning commissioners turned down a suggestion from Robert Greenstein, a candidate for the supervisor's post, that in lieu of printed copies, the document be read in its entirety to the audience at the first public hearing.

City's history revived with antique car plant

By W.W. EDGAR

PLYMOUTH—For the past several years David Geddes, a young looking Plymouth Township mechanic, has been spending most of his time refurbishing classic vintage cars.

Now he's working on another project and when it is completed in another month he will have brought a bit of the 1900-1920 atmosphere back to Main Street.

He has taken over the old body shop of what once was the Allison Chevrolet Agency and is converting it into a show room and workshop for cars of the long ago.

"We're not only going to refurbish these vintage cars, but hope to make this a market for them. We're going to buy and sell these old models, redo a lot of them and, generally, have a vintage car market," he explained as he kept his eye on the carpenters work on what will be an unusual front office.

"Don't misunderstand me," he continued. "I don't want to buy junk and I don't want to sell it, either. This new shop will be for the refurbishing of the vintage cars—and there are a good many in Plymouth."

WHEN GEDDES' plans materialize, the corner of Main and Amelia streets will be a throwback to the turn of the century—to the days before Henry Ford or Louis Chevrolet had their first cars on the market.

"I'm going to try to bring back the atmosphere of the period around 1900," he said, "and I only wish I could bring back some of the old brick and plank roads with it."

"This building has a great history and I am happy to try to preserve it."

Present plans call for an antique type show room in the front of the building, complete with an old-fashioned roll top desk that is steeped in antiquity.

Shunning air conditioning, the show-room will be equipped with the old type blade fan suspended from the ceiling and everything possible is being done to make it home-like for the real old timers who happen to drop by and look at the vintage cars.

Outside, there will be the old time gas lamps and the entrance will be like a page out of the past.

"IT WILL just be another chapter in the rich history of the building," Geddes pointed out, "and I am planning a tablet on the outside that will detail this history through two fires, a machine shop and an auto agency. This plaque will be of historical value to a lot of people."

Geddes is looking forward with a great deal of pleasure to the opening of the new undertaking. His confidence is built on the fact that the Plymouth community is rich in antique cars. It has been estimated that there are more than 30 of these prize motor cars in the area.

Margaret Dunning long has been an antique car buff and has several prize models in her collection. Howard Dunlap has at least six Lincolns and Packards and the others are spread through the community.

At the moment Geddes has a half dozen cars on which he is working. Among them are a Rolls-Royce, a Mercedes-Benz, a Bentley, a Jaguar, a '31 Chevrolet, and ancient Packard, and a Jaguar Roadster.

Geddes smilingly admits that he has been "playing with cars" since childhood. And he always liked the "old" ones.

He recalls that his first car was a 1935 Ford. Then he went to a 1931

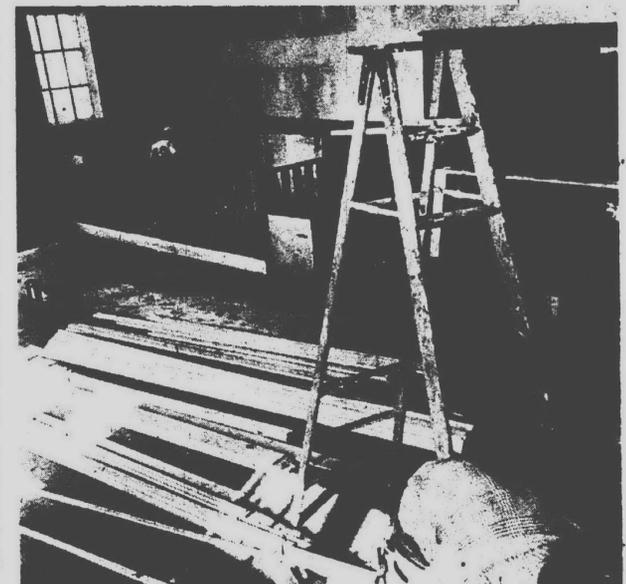

Chevrolet and then to a 1929 Plymouth. He points with a bit of pride that while other folks are on the hunt for the latest models he is on a program of looking for the older ones.

He's even gone for the old style identity of his business. Instead of being the "Antique Motor Car Company," it is going to be the "Antique Motor Car Ltd."

"That's the way they do it in England," he said, "and it is just another touch of antiquity in the entire project."

Fall rose show at Livonia Mall

Those who enjoy the art of growing roses should plan to attend the Detroit Rose Society's annual fall rose show

Dumas asks crackdown on abortion mills

Wayne County Commissioner Mary Dumas (R-Livonia) urges city and county agencies to use all their powers to crack down on abortion mills operating in the metropolitan area.

A member of the City-County Rape Task Force, Mrs. Dumas submitted for consideration by the county board of commissioners a resolution calling for action by city, county and state agencies.

She will ask for emergency adoption of her resolution at a formal meeting of commissioners Tuesday, Sept. 17. Similar action was called for last week by Detroit Councilman Mrs. Erna Henderson.

Mrs. Dumas and other task force members Sept. 12 adopted a resolution which, in her words, urges government to "accept its responsibility concerning the deplorable condition of abortion mills in the metropolitan area."

The task force resolution also calls on the Legislature to adopt legislation to properly regulate and license all facilities, including free-standing clinics, where abortions are performed.

My resolution urges the City of Detroit and Wayne County to take whatever action they can to ensure their departments of health enforce existing regulations, and that the two governmental units also adopt whatever additional regulations are necessary.

My resolution also asks the prosecuting attorney to take action against any and all abortion facilities which have violated present regulations."

Mrs. Dumas and the rape task force acted in the wake of reports that, as a result of a lack of sufficient regulation, the Detroit area has emerged as the abortion capital of the mid-west in the past two years.

Governor Milliken declared a health emergency Sept. 12 and ordered immediate issuance of emergency regulations for abortion clinics.

Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 21, 22, at the Livonia Mall, Seven Mile at Middle Belt.

The only fall rose show in the state will feature 170 classes of roses, including the newest of hybrid teas to the oldest garden roses grown at the turn of the century. Tiny miniatures, and a large arrangement section will also be featured.

EVERY AMATEUR rose grower in the area is invited to enter as well as view the show.

Entries will be accepted from 8-11 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 21, at the registration desk on Sears Wall. There is no charge.

There are sections in both specimen bloom and arrangement classes for experienced and novice gardeners, and a special class for non-members. Detroit Rose Society members will offer help to anyone wishing to enter their prize blooms.

Joseph Nufer, the show's general chairman, states that fanciers will have an excellent chance at the show to view named varieties at their peak of perfection.

He suggests all visitors take along a pencil and paper to note their favorites to be reminded which roses to order in the future for their home garden.

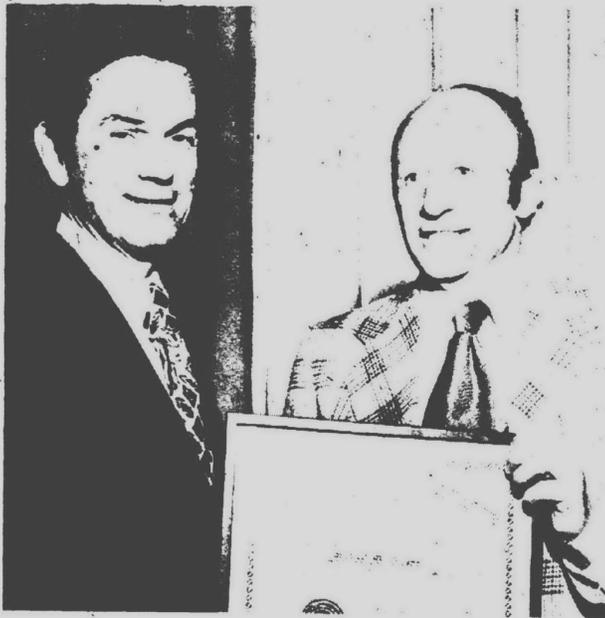

THERE IS NO admission or entry fees, and qualified Detroit Rose Society members will have an information booth to answer any questions pertaining to roses.

The show will be open during the Mall's regular business hours.

Blood volunteer week coming up

To help maintain its many programs and services, Red Cross needs some 800 men and women to become volunteers. To this end, the week of Sept. 22-28 has been set aside as Red Cross Volunteer Recruitment Week.

The biggest need for volunteers in the northwest area is the Red Cross Blood Program. Individuals are being sought to volunteer in the northwest regional office blood donor station in Livonia as well as on bloodmobile units, and to make open heart surgery telephone calls.

League taps McNamara

LIVONIA MAYOR Edward McNamara (right) and Michael Glusac, executive director of Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG), share a happy moment after both were honored last week by the Michigan Municipal League (MML). McNamara was elected president for next year. Glusac received an honorary lifetime membership in MML for his longtime MML involvement and performance in local government. Livonia is a member-community of SEMCOG. McNamara was elected MML president at the annual convention in Cobo Hall.

SEMCOG leader receives an honor

Michael M. Glusac, executive director of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG), has been honored by being named recipient of an honorary lifetime membership in the Michigan Municipal League (MML).

The league presented the honor during its recent annual convention held in Cobo Hall.

Glusac was president of the MML in 1969-70 and served on its board of trustees from 1968-71 plus being a member of the past presidents council since 1970.

According to the league, the honor, which is rarely presented, was conferred on Glusac for his "conspicuous service to the Michigan Municipal League and to municipal government in Michigan."

The MML is an association of Michigan cities and villages organized in 1889 for the improvement of municipal government through cooperative action.

Before his appointment as SEMCOG executive director in February this year, Glusac worked as corporation counsel for the City of Detroit, instructor at Wayne State University School of Business Administration, and was engaged in private law practice.

THOMAS MEEKER of Livonia has been promoted to assistant vice president in National Bank of Detroit's Metro South Regional Banking Center, headquartered in Wayne. An NBD employe for 17 years, he is a commercial loan officer serving loaning needs of business communities in Belleville and Romulus. Meeker has a BBA and MBA from the University of Toledo, and is a graduate of the Stonier School of Banking, Rutgers University. He is a member of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce and former member of Belleville Rotary and Kiwanis clubs. He has also served on the board of directors and was treasurer of Belleville Community Hospital.

Is 'One Northville' hearing prelude to Oct. 22?

By HANK MELJER

NORTHVILLE—In a public hearing held last week at Northville High School, the Michigan Boundary Commission set the stage for a decision which could affect the future of the Plymouth community—annexation of Northville Township by the City of Northville.

The Northville annexation hearing was a forerunner of the one set for Plymouth Oct. 22 on the City of Plymouth's proposed annexation of part of Plymouth Township.

Northville voters rejected by a narrow margin an annexation vote held last year.

Earlier this year the Plymouth City Commission filed two petitions with the boundary commission requesting annexation of two portions of the township and a petition seeking annexation of all of the township. They were filed on the morning of the consolidation election in which Plymouth Township voters soundly defeated consolidation of the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township into one new city.

THE NORTHVILLE hearing drew about 100 residents last week. Speakers included city and township officials and a township booster who vowed to sue the commission if it approved annexation there.

Boundary Commission Chairman D. R. Calhoun said that residents have 30 days after the hearing date to submit information to the commission concerning the annexation. After that the board holds a final meeting to make its determination.

If the commission rules in favor of annexation, residents of the affected areas, the township and the city, have 30 additional days to get the signatures of at least 25 per cent of their qualified voters if they wish to put the annexation to a vote.

Because of the timetable involved, an annexation vote would likely be held sometime early next year. If no petitions or appeals are filed, the annexation could take effect within three months after the commission decision.

UNIVERSITY OF Michigan Institute of Public Policy Studies researcher Pat Larkey presented a study at the hearing which he said indicated that unification would mean a tax savings for city and township residents alike.

He projected a unified tax rate of 5.1 mills for all homeowners. Current city residents would clearly benefit, with their property tax rate dropping from the present 10.2 mills to 5.1. The current township tax rate is one mill.

Although local taxes would increase for township residents, Larkey contended that they too would save money, because charges in their state and federal tax liabilities would reduce taxes for all but those earning more than $30,000 per year.

The report said that if the township were to duplicate city services on its own, its taxes would have to be raised to at least 7.7 mills, significantly more than the 5.1 mill projected levy.

"The trends in both the city and the township in terms of population growth and residential, commercial and industrial development indicate that the Northville area is becoming increasingly urban in nature," Larkey said. "and that urban levels of service will be required for the entire area."

"It would be difficult for the township to provide the range and level of services without incorporation."

While the township could incorporate on its own, the study said, "this would be more expensive to individual residents of the township area than unification with the city for comparable levels of service."

"The geographical location, relative isolation from other communities, lack of a township center, rapid residential growth in the township and city-township cooperative functions argue for consolidation."

"The impact of one unit of government with common municipal services and planning capabilities will strengthen and benefit the entire community both in the present and in the future," he concluded.

Northville Township booster Mark Lysinger questioned the Boundary Commission's authority to rule in annexation matters and threatened to sue the commission if it orders annexation of the township.

"If you decide to ignore our request and issue a ruling in favor of annexation of Northville Township," Lysinger told the five-man panel, "we will be forced to protect our constitutional rights by seeking injunctive action in the courts through a stay of proceedings."

"At the present time there are approximately 20 cases pending in Ingham County Circuit Court testing the constitutionality of the act under which the commission operates and questioning the commission's practices and procedures."

"Several rulings to date have indicated serious doubt about your authority to rule in annexation questions."

Northville Township Resident Jane Watts noted that the southeast section of the township where she lives is part of the Plymouth School District.

With unification, she said, residents of her area would still not become part of the Northville school system. Their school, college and county taxes would not change, they would retain Plymouth addresses and the Tanger Elementary School would remain in the Plymouth School District, although it would be located in the new city.

AS SPOKESMAN for the Plymouth-Northville League of Women Voters, Mrs. Watts called for unification as a means to ensure that growth in the area will be orderly and the services demanded by that growth adequate.

Northville Township Supervisor Lawrence Wright said that he had heard no evidence to dissuade him from supporting annexation. It is obvious that duplication of governments is a waste of tax dollars, he said, and it is evident that the township can no longer provide the services demanded by this growing area.

Northville Township Treasurer Joseph Straub said that while he would personally prefer to live in a township, anti-annexation forces are seeking to compete rather than cooperate with the city. He expressed doubt that a three-mill public safety millage would be adequate to meet the needs of the township.

Township Planning Commissioner Bernard Baldwin also urged the boundary commission to approve the annexation vote.

"There is no continuity of management in township government," he said.

Northville School Supt. Ray Spear, a city resident, presented the commission with letters from all seven members of the board of education supporting annexation. He said that unifying the city and township into a single city would improve communication and unity of effort within the school system.

Township resident Rodney Prim called for consolidation rather than annexation, preferring unification of the two local governments into one new city with a new charter.

Publicists' seminar set

The second annual Observer and Eccentric Newspapers publicity and press relations seminar will get under way Wednesday night when the first of three sessions is presented in the Observer plant, 36251 Schoolcraft in Livonia.

As in the past, the program will start at 8 p.m. with a meeting of all the registrants in the cafeteria where Wayne County Editor Tim Richard will welcome guests and introduce members of the editorial staff participating in the first meeting.

All told, this year's seminar will be spread over three evenings: on Sept. 18, Wednesday, Sept. 25 and Thursday, Oct. 3.

Arrangements have been made to take care of as many as 90 at each of the sessions and present indications point to at least that many being on hand Wednesday.

The seminar will be conducted on the same basis as a year ago with the registrants divided into three smaller groups. Each group will attend three classes in various rooms in the building, in such a way that all will have an opportunity to travel the entire length of the building.

For the opening night, stress is being placed on groups from Livonia, Garden City and Westland.

It doesn't mean that representatives from clubs and organizations in any of the other cities in the Observer and Eccentric circulation area are barred, but rather those attending will meet the editors from those three cities.

The cities of Plymouth and Redford will share the spotlight at the Wednesday, Sept. 25 meeting when editors of those papers and other members of the staff will be present to participate in the discussion groups and also to meet and welcome guests at the end of the evening.

The Oct. 3 program is open to any and all who did not attend the other two. As usual, efforts will be made to hold the attendance to 90, but if more show up, they will be added to the three class groups.

Margaret Miller, Suburban Life and Religion editor for the Observer and Eccentric Newspapers in Wayne County, will have charge of one of the discussion groups. She will be assisted by Jan Williams and Susan Rosiek.

Fred DeLano, managing editor in charge of the news operation in Wayne County, will chair a second group and the third will be under the direction of Richard and Photographer Robert Woodring.

Among the groups represented at Wednesday's program are: Livonia Town Club, PTO Smith School, Wayne Co-Op Nursery School, Livonia Family Y Women's Club, St. Matthew's United Methodist Church, Latter-day Saints Church, Ford Junior High, Friends of the Tudor Singers, Livonia Chamber of Commerce.

Michigan Bell, Churchill High School, Westland Historical Commission, Bentley Band Boosters, Senior Class of Bentley High School, Bentley Concert Choir, AAUW, Livonia Senior Citizens, Girl Scouts, DAV, Welcome Wagon, Livonia Fire Department and the City of Garden City.

That's just a sample of the groups attending. If you think your club or association should be represented and learn what the seminar is all about, fill out the registration blank found elsewhere on this page and mail it at once.

Township puts off L&D issue again

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP—For the second time this year, the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees has granted L & D Service a 60-day extension to remove additional fill from its site near the corner of Ridge and Ann Arbor Roads as the board directed in June.

L & D owners Dennis Richardson and Lewis Hoffman told the board that the possibility that they might actually need more fill to win site plan approval for a new station kept them from hauling fill away as they had previously agreed to do.

Neighbors of the station charged that the fill, which they contend is an eyesore and poses drainage problems, hasn't been removed because it would reveal quantities of broken concrete and rubbish—the dumping of which is prohibited by township ordinance.

"These people seem to be hedging all the time. They have illegal fill underneath that dirt and they're afraid to expose it," said Chester Budzynski, who lives on Ridge Road adjacent to the L & D property. "The board should make them stick to what was agreed upon in June."

"The board struck an agreement with L & D and I think that agreement should be maintained," said Tiv Balogh, who lives nearby.

When Richardson and Hoffman asked who they should contact for details about grading requirements for building sites in the township, the board at length recommended the township engineer.

"No one knows who sets the grade," said Trustee Frank Millington. "We're looking to improve the site. The planner should tell us what he would recommend. Everybody's looking for a good-looking corner."

"Everybody on the board has seen what dirt has been removed," Richardson said. "I think we've put up a big expense to try to get along."

An opinion from Township Attorney Don Morgan expressed doubts about charge that L & D had violated any township ordinances and concluded that the township should take no action to enforce its order to remove more fill.

Township officials repeated their view that L & D had not lived up to its June agreement with the board. "In 60 days I have a feeling that the board is going to be pretty upset if nothing is done," Millington said.

Newcomer Club holds road rally

CANTON—The Canton Township Newcomers Club will kick off its 1974-75 social events program Oct. 5 with a road-rally treasure hunt. The club, which anticipates a membership of more than 300 persons this year, sets its objective as the bringing together of community newcomers so they may get involved in community activities and interests. More than 40 interest groups take part in the newcomers club program, including bowling, bridge, candle-making, pinocle, reading, poker, canasta, dining out and theater groups. A social events program is also part of the club's activities, and this year's events include the Oct. 5 road-rally treasure hunt, a presentation and lecture by a hypnotist, a Christmas floral arrangement show, a Christmas cookie exchange and handwriting analysis. Membership in the club is open to new residents of Canton Township who have lived in the community for two years or less with membership in the club limited to four years. Meetings are held the first Wednesday of each month. Information concerning membership may be obtained from Mrs. Kenneth Bladzick, 7556 Hillsboro.

CANTON—Controversy over a buffer between an apartment complex and adjacent subdivision has caused tempers to flare and rumors to fly as angry homeowners stormed the township board meeting this week to protest the developer's request for site plan approval.

Caught in the crossfire, trustees have postponed for at least six weeks any decision on the type of buffer request that would separate the proposed Windsor Park Square apartment complex and the adjacent single-family home subdivision of Windsor Park in the Warren-Morton Taylor Roads area.

The intent of the six-week "cooling off" period is to give residents time to determine what type of fence or greenbelt they would like and where it should be located. It will also give homeowners time they say they need to seek legal counsel to determine if any fraud is involved in promises they said were made to them by sales persons at the time they purchased their homes.

Subdivision residents, through their spokeswoman, Mrs. Jane Brown, charged they were told by sales persons that a posh condominium project in the $40-50,000 price range was to be constructed on the site.

"It was either that or homes comparable in price and quality to ours," Mrs. Brown said. She contended the Windsor Park Square apartments are "in no way the quality of our homes."

SHE OFFERED the township board written statements from several subdivision residents detailing the promises allegedly made to them at the time the homes were purchased.

"They'll tell you why they moved here and why these (wooded lots) were supposedly 'choice lots,'" she said.

She said the homeowners were promised a "60-foot greenbelt of trees."

A heavily wooded area now serves as a natural buffer between the two projects. Developer Sanford Ward told the township board he would comply with any type of buffer the residents wanted in an effort to keep on amicable terms with the residents.

He said he preferred the trees, but had agreed to put in a four-foot cement wall at the request of township planner Michael Manore.

He said the concrete buffer would mean uprooting trees, something he said he has been trying to avoid in platting the site. He said he favored a chain link fence if the residents didn't want the natural buffer.

WARD WAS admittedly upset at the charges and rumors he said have surfaced in the past week about the project that has been before the planning commission for considerable time. The land is part of a planned unit development (PUD) approved in March of 1969.

Ward said on his own he has lowered the density of the project to take advantage of the wooded areas that cover one-third of the site.

One of the first developers to take the PUD concept, Ward said he felt the apartments would be the "most luxurious" being built in Canton with 1,000 square feet of floor space. "That's more than the floor space in some of the smaller homes being built in Canton."

Subdivision residents were asked by trustees to meet and iron out the differences with Ward, hopefully before the project becomes an agenda item in six weeks.

Technically, trustees noted, Ward is not bound to put up any type of fence because the PUD zoning was granted before buffers became mandatory in PUD agreements.

City waits on crossing guards pay

PLYMOUTH—The Plymouth City Commission has notified the Board of Education that it will only pay its share of the cost of providing crossing guards on district corners "contingent upon the board's receipt of billed amounts from the other governmental units involved," notably Plymouth Township.

The city was billed $5,180.92 for its share in the cost of guards during the past year. Last year the city and Canton Township said for the crossing protection, but Plymouth Township did not.

THE PLYMOUTH EDUCATION ASSOCIATION, IN THE INTEREST OF BETTER PUBLIC UNDERSTANDING OF THE CURRENT SITUATION, WISHES TO ANSWER THE QUESTIONS MOST FREQUENTLY ASKED BY THE PUBLIC.

QUESTION: Why are Plymouth teachers withholding services?

The Plymouth teachers are without a contract. Negotiations have taken place since April 1st, 1974, without adequate movement toward a reasonable settlement which would attempt to absorb the cost of living. Teachers have fallen behind on the cost of living increase by more than 10% in the past two years and find themselves in a position of attempting to secure an equitable settlement, eventually including a cost of living formula that will not allow this same decline.

QUESTION: Why haven't Plymouth teachers gone back to work without a contract and continued to negotiate?

Past experience has shown that the most equitable settlement for teachers has not been obtained through this method.

QUESTION: Why hasn't The Plymouth Education Association accepted the Board of Education's offer of Binding Arbitration?

- The PEA is refusing binding arbitration for these reasons:
1. The idea of "best last table position" with an "either/or" directive precludes any compromise by an arbiter that might be in order.
 2. The idea of having "3rd parties" decide local problems leads to:
 - (a) The community losing control over its own negotiations and settlement.
 - (b) A continuance to depend on arbiters, which would encourage unrealistic table positions.
 3. The Board has refused compromise Binding Arbitration on the table positions of both parties.

QUESTION: Can you clarify Mediation and Fact-Finding?

Mediation is the intervention of an impartial, state appointed negotiations expert who joins the two teams at the table, examines their positions, and makes recommendations that may lead to settlement, though there is nothing binding in the mediation process. (The two teams met with a mediator for several hours last Wednesday, with little or no progress.)

Fact-Finding is much more complicated. It involves the detailed preparation and illustration of each team's justification for their table positions. These complete reports are submitted to the state appointed fact-finder, who studies both reports and then makes recommendations for settlement. His decisions, like those of the mediator, are not binding.

QUESTION: What has the Board of Education offered to the Plymouth teachers?

The Board's table position has been:
1974-75 An average of 7.5% salary increase and an additional 30 minute planning period for elementary teachers that must come from the use of the library, placing an extra burden on librarians.

1975-76 6% salary increase OR 2/3 cost of living (We must decide on one or the other now) and 1/2 dental insurance coverage (a poor plan with a probable deductible clause).

The Board has not offered 7.5% plus cost of living. The Teachers are not asking for 12.25% plus cost of living.

Until recently, the Board has insisted on a two year contract. However, within this past week, the Board has offered a one year contract table offer which contained less economically than the 1st year offer turned down on Aug. 29th by the teachers.

QUESTION: What are the teachers asking for?

A 12.25% wage increase is the PEA's current table position for bargaining. The settlement will hopefully be achieved at a figure between 12.25% and the Board's current 7.5% average table position. We are not asking for 12.25% plus cost of living. WE ARE WILLING TO COMPROMISE ON THE TABLE POSITION INDICATED ABOVE.

Belleville has settled its first year for 9% and its second year for 2.5% plus 2/3 cost of living; Livonia will realize approximately 10% from their cost of living adjustment; Riverview has settled for 9% the first year and 3% plus 2/3 cost of living for the second year. Teachers feel that these are examples of fair settlements.

QUESTION: Why does the Plymouth Education Association feel that the Board of Education can afford a better settlement than the present offer?

After thorough study, we know that the millage passed last June by this community generates adequate revenue to provide an equitable teacher salary settlement without borrowing and without going into the general fund equity. It will be necessary, however, for the School Board to reallocate some areas of the budget in order to increase those monies needed for teachers' salaries. This can be done without cutting any school programs.

QUESTION: Explain why the 45-15 program was scrapped?

Before July 22, the PEA's position was, in the interest of starting a new program, to settle the contract for the first year and submit the second year to Binding Arbitration. The School Board, at that time, would only talk about a two year settlement.

Because anticipated new student enrollment was not realized, it appears to the PEA that the Administration used that contract impasse to scrap an expensive program they no longer felt was warranted, and let the teachers be the scapegoats.

Prior to July 22, a PEA bargaining team member indicated at a school board meeting that we anticipated no problems in contract language to cover working conditions for the 45-15 teachers. As bargaining continued, however, problems over this area did surface, because they affected the total contract settlement. In some instances, initial administrative promises were withdrawn to a point that mutual trust broke down between the Miller teachers and the Administration.

QUESTION: Can you explain teacher increments?

Teachers are hired into a school system at a specific starting salary, providing a definite purchasing power. Increments, like levels, or steps provided in industry, civil service, etc. were instituted by Boards of Education to delay teachers from reaching their maximum salaries for a number of years. (In most systems, the number of years is 10. In Plymouth, we have a 12 year experience scale.) As one gains in experience and education, he/she climbs this increment ladder. Without an increment program a teacher would never improve in living standard from the first year to the very last year of his teaching career. Any cost of living factor in a contract is designed to keep one in pace with the present economy and has no bearing on the increment.

Who would accept any career position with no hope of increasing your standard of living as you gain in experience and education?

QUESTION: Where eventually will a settlement take place?

Contract settlements are not arrived at in a public meeting, or through "letters to the editor" in the newspapers, or because of impassioned editorial pleas. Hard bargaining at the negotiations table is what will bring a settlement.

Teachers resoundingly refused to accept the Board's offer on August 29th. Since that time, the Board has made no formal, at the table, effort to increase their salary offer. Obviously, the contract settlement will not occur until the Board is willing to make a new formal, table offer in the direction of their formal positions.

State board calms SC's fears about a county district

By SUE ROSIEK

The State Board of Public Community and Junior Colleges has assured the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees it has no plans to implement the unification of community colleges in Wayne County into a single district.

The boards met Wednesday, in Schoolcraft's Waterman Center, at request of Schoolcraft trustees, who weren't invited to previous meetings last spring between the state board and Henry Ford, Wayne County and Highland Park community colleges.

The state board added that any requests for integrated planning and coordination of programs among colleges at the county level should not be considered a threat to the autonomy of Schoolcraft.

"We're here to clear up any possible misunderstanding on actions taken last spring," said Dr. John A. McLean Jr., chairman of the state board. "I think it was just that—a misunderstanding."

THE SITUATION began last spring when the Dearborn Board of Education approached the state board with a request to establish HFCC as an independent community college district.

The state board at that time, explained McLean, was also studying the WCCC building expansion plans and arranged a meeting with HFCC, WCCC, and decided to include Highland Park because it was in the center of Wayne County.

Schoolcraft was not asked to attend but, as McLean stressed, was not deliberately excluded for any reason.

At the March meeting the groups discussed the availability of community college services to the residents of Wayne County and focused on program planning and facility articulation. Also discussed was what affect this would have on the WCCC campus plans.

The college is planning facilities in northwest Detroit and Wayne-Inkster-Westland areas.

Other topics included elimination of the tuition differential among community colleges in Wayne County, freedom of choice and equality of access among the colleges, and educational coordination to meet students needs.

"THE MEETING was a matter of two institutions that had proposals before the board," explained McLean. "Prior to taking any final action we decided to get the two boards and HFCC, because of location, together."

"It may have been a misunderstanding but there is a real concern here," said Schoolcraft Trustee Leo Bennett. "We have students from Wayne, Oakland and Washtenaw counties. Our service area includes more than just Wayne County. Any planning should take in more than just Wayne."

Trustee Arch Vallier seconded Bennett's feeling. "I don't see how you can plan without planning regionally. From a political and practical standpoint we must cooperate, but I wouldn't be willing to coordinate programs unless it's on a regional level."

Dr. Alfred Meyer, vice chairman of the state board, explained that ultimately the board hopes to plan on a statewide basis. "First we must start with smaller components at either the county or regional levels."

SCHOOLCRAFT'S Trustees pledged their support in cooperation and coordinated planning on a regional basis but members expressed their concerns about eliminating the out-district tuition differential.

McLean said it would be "efficient and beneficial" to get rid of the tuition differential among community colleges in the area.

"Beneficial yes, but not practical dollar and cents wise," said Bennett. "We have a moral obligation to our taxpayers when we commit their money to a building program."

"And, why should we tax the people in the Schoolcraft district and then allow people outside the district to attend at the same cost?"

The Schoolcraft district includes the K-12 school districts of Livonia, Northville, Plymouth, Garden City and Clarenceville.

District residents pay 1.77 voted mills in property taxes for operation, and 0.225 assessed mills for the current calendar year for maintenance.

Residents in the WCCC area which includes all of Wayne County except the Dearborn, Highland Park and Schoolcraft districts, have rejected millage proposals. As a result the Legislature mandated 0.4 mills for residents not presently in a community college district in Wayne County.

MEYER OF DETROIT said eliminating the tuition differential would give every citizen equal access.

"Although it's been discussed," said Meyer, "the state board has not promulgated any position on the tuition problem."

Vallier said there are some real political problems that should be examined. "I'm all for the free-flow so that students go anywhere but we can't ask our taxpayers to put up the money and then pay the same rate."

Concerning the problems that arose from the first meeting Vallier agreed it was merely a lack of communication.

"Somehow we never got the right word. We understood the state board wanted us to plan with only HFCC and WCCC."

Although the state board approved the Dearborn board's referendum request last spring the proposal was defeated by residents nearly 3-1.

McLean said statistics presented at the initial meeting indicated about 70 per cent of HFCC students live outside the district. Less than 30 per cent of students at Schoolcraft live outside the district.

Schoolcraft President C. Nelson Grote said Schoolcraft's membership in SEMLOCC (Southeastern Michigan League of Community Colleges) represents a "successful venture in regional planning."

"The league, which includes nine colleges and some 75,000 students has already established a regional employment listing service and placement bureau."

SEMLOCC members include community colleges in Genesee, Monroe, Macomb, St. Clair, Washtenaw, and Wayne counties.

"I think we've already made some dents in regional planning," said Grote.

SC food service union approves pact

The Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees voted unanimously Wednesday to ratify a two-year contract with the food service employees union (Local 547 AFL-CIO) that provides a 7.5 per cent wage increase the first year and a one per cent hike the second year.

Under terms of the agreement the college will pay the employee's five per cent retirement payments.

A cost-of-living provision stipulates wage negotiations may be opened the second year and bargained on the difference between six per cent and prices based on the Detroit Consumer Price Index.

The contract also establishes an employee "catastrophe sick bank," which provides 200 additional sick hours for workers. An employee may use the bank only after he has depleted his accumulated sick days.

Each employee will contribute five hours to replenish the bank if hours total less than 135.

In other changes, the contract revised the grievance procedure by inserting an additional appeal process. Employees gained three extra holidays in exchange for three personal days.

Under the new agreement part-time employees that work less than 30 hours per week will not be eligible for insurance coverage.

The contract affects about 15 Schoolcraft employees. Union members ratified the contract Sept. 10.

In other action the board awarded a $500,000 tax anticipation note to the National Bank of Detroit. The bank submitted the lowest interest rate of 6.17 per cent.

Loan bid error delays approval

The awarding of a bid on Schoolcraft College's $500,000 tax anticipation note has been delayed due to an error in advertising in the Michigan Investor.

The college had received identical bids of 6.40 per cent from National Bank of Detroit and Detroit Bank and Trust. However, there was an error in the maturity date for Detroit Bank and Trust and the college will re-advertise for bids. Had the error been Detroit Bank and Trust's, the bid would automatically have gone to National Bank of Detroit.

E.F. Petersen, manager of business services at Schoolcraft, announced the college will accept bids until 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 11.

A MESSAGE

IN THE PUBLIC INTEREST:

The following telegrams recently exchanged between Stanford C. Stoddard, Chairman of Michigan National Bank of Detroit; and Gerald R. Ford, President of the United States, are of such importance to the present inflation, that we feel they should be published:

SEPT. 6, 1974, 4:34 P.M.

TO: PRESIDENT GERALD R. FORD
THE WHITE HOUSE OFFICE
1600 PENNSYLVANIA AVE. N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20500

WE WANT TO INDICATE OUR SUPPORT OF YOUR ADMINISTRATION'S PROGRAM TO REDUCE THE RATE OF INFLATION IN OUR DOMESTIC ECONOMY. WE FIRMLY BELIEVE THAT HIGH INTEREST RATES ARE TRULY COUNTER-PRODUCTIVE AND THAT THEY IN FACT ADD FUEL TO THE INFLATIONARY FIRES THAT ARE BURNING TODAY. ACCORDINGLY, MICHIGAN NATIONAL BANK OF DETROIT INTENDS TO DO SOMETHING ABOUT IT NOW.

OUR BANKING INSTITUTION, WITH ASSETS IN EXCESS OF $1 BILLION AND 33 OFFICES IN THE SOUTHEASTERN MICHIGAN AREA IS TYPICAL OF MANY CONSUMER TYPE BANKS IN THE UNITED STATES. OUR LOAN PORTFOLIO IS LARGELY CHARACTERIZED BY LOWER FIXED-RATE LOANS THAT HAVE BEEN ADVANCED TO ENABLE PEOPLE TO PURCHASE CONSUMER GOODS, PURCHASE HOMES AND FINANCE THEIR BUSINESSES. WE CANNOT PASS ON INCREASES IN THE PRIME RATE TO THESE CONSUMER BORROWERS. OUR INTEREST COSTS, NEVERTHELESS, HAVE RISEN DRAMATICALLY AS A RESULT OF THE DRYING UP OF THE CONSUMER SAVINGS MARKET AND THE ADVENT OF SAVINGS DEPOSIT MARKET THAT IS CHARACTERIZED BY 12 PER-CENT CERTIFICATES OF DEPOSIT.

THE CURRENT 12 PER-CENT PRIME RATE OFFERS LITTLE OR NO MARGIN OVER CURRENT COST OF FUNDS. AS A RESULT, OUR PRE-TAX OPERATING EARNINGS HAVE DECLINED APPROXIMATELY 25 PER-CENT DURING THE FIRST EIGHT MONTHS THIS YEAR. NEVERTHELESS, WE FEEL A DOWNWARD ADJUSTMENT IN THE PRIME WOULD BE BENEFICIAL TO OUR ECONOMY, ALTHOUGH IT CERTAINLY WILL NOT IMPROVE OUR EARNINGS, UNLESS THERE IS A CORRESPONDING DECREASE IN CERTIFICATE OF DEPOSIT RATES. IT IS OUR HOPE THAT THE STATE OF MICHIGAN, WITH ITS MUNICIPALITIES, SCHOOL DISTRICTS AND LOCAL UNITS OF GOVERNMENT WILL CONSIDER ACCEPTING A LOWER RATE ON THEIR CERTIFICATES OF DEPOSIT FROM OUR INSTITUTION, RECOGNIZING THE FACT THAT WE UNILATERALLY LOWERED OUR PRIME LENDING RATE.

OUR PRIME RATE EFFECTIVE MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, WILL BE SET AT 11 PER-CENT IN THE HOPES THAT FURTHER REDUCTIONS CAN BE MADE. IF THE COST OF CERTIFICATES OF DEPOSITS ALSO DECLINE.

WE HOPE THAT THIS ACTION WILL INDICATE TO OUR COMPATRIOTS IN THE BANKING INDUSTRY ACROSS THE NATION OUR SINCERE DESIRE TO STRENGTHEN OUR ECONOMY AND REDUCE THE CURRENT RATE OF INFLATION.

Penny drive picks up

Bringing Abe back to the people

The nationwide search for more than 30 billion pennies will bring the director of the U.S. Mint to Detroit today (Sept. 16) to persuade school children and parents to get pennies back into circulation.

While here, she will put into operation one of the automatic coin-counting machines Detroit Bank & Trust is installing in 13 of its branch offices to make it easy for the public to "Bring Mr. Lincoln back among the people."

MRS. MARY T. BROOKS

sent a saving of $150 million for taxpayers.

MRS. BROOKS, the third woman to fill the post as director of the U.S.

Mint, was appointed in 1969 to be the 28th director and reappointed last August.

She is responsible for the manufacture and distribution of an adequate supply of coinage to meet the daily needs of the growing economy.

Other responsibilities include: safeguarding of the government's holdings of monetary metals; refining of gold and silver; coinage for foreign governments; manufacture of medals for the armed services; and manufacture and sale to the public of medals of historic interest and special coin sets of numismatic interest.

She had served as assistant chairman of the Republican National Committee between 1965-69. She was elected as the only woman to the Idaho State Senate in 1964 and was re-elected in 1966 and 1968.

She is the daughter of former U.S. Senator John Thomas of Idaho. Mrs. Brooks worked in the family banking chain before it was sold, and also managed a large sheep and cattle ranch.

Mrs. Brooks was married in 1945 to U.S. Sen. C. Wayland Brooks of Illinois who later served as a member of the Republican National Committee. During 1971-71, she served as a member of the President's Commission on School Finance, Coins and Medal Advisory Panel, and American Revolution Bicentennial Commission.

Will drug abuse affect reproduction?

Q Will drug abuse affect reproductive processes?

A. An article from "National Clearinghouse for Drug Abuse Information" answers this extremely important question.

The clearinghouse, operated by the National Institute of Mental Health on behalf of the Special Action Office for Drug Abuse Prevention and the federal agencies engaged in drug abuse education programs, is the focal point for federal information on drug abuse. The clearinghouse distributes publications and refers specialized and technical inquiries to federal, state, local and private information resources. It says:

"The effect of the drugs of abuse on reproductive processes is a largely unresolved research problem at the present time, due to the complex variables involved in the basic and clinical research in this area.

"Laboratory controls on highly selected animals can be strictly maintained as to dosage level, frequency of dosage and environmental factors. The human abuse of these drugs, however, is uncontrolled and often involves factors such as contaminated drug samples, varying dosage levels as varying frequencies and multiple drug use.

Pre-existing genetic damage due to severe illness, medically prescribed drugs, or other medical reasons must also be accounted for in these studies because this is another factor which can lead to inconsistent research results.

"A final serious concern in studying the reproductive effects of these drugs is the fact different animal species may have different pharmacologic reactions — a drug could cause genetic damage in laboratory rats or other animals but not in man. Therefore, research conclusions based on animal studies must also be checked in humans before broad extrapolations or conclusions can be made.

"Drugs subject to abuse or non-medical use range from the therapeutically-useful depressants, stimulants and narcotics, like morphine, to the largely abuse-related drugs, such as LSD, cannabis and heroin. Because they are different pharmacologically and chemically, they can affect different parts of the reproductive process and cannot be categorized into one group.

"Also, therapeutic drugs are prescribed by the physician in safe dosage levels, while the abuse of these drugs is usually in amounts far exceeding the safety zone.

"This bibliography which attempts the significant research on the reproductive effects of the drugs of abuse

Esch supports end to DST

U.S. Rep. Marvin L. Esch (R-Ann Arbor) was among those congressmen recently voting to eliminate Daylight Savings Time (DST) during November, December, January and February.

Esch, whose 2nd District includes Livonia and Plymouth, explains: "I voted for this legislation, in my belief that the original two-year law calling for DST, which I also voted for, was a mistake."

Despite the prediction of many scientists and professional observers that DST would yield energy savings by reduced consumption, Esch continued, there is little evidence any significant amount of energy was conserved during the past winter.

"In fact, the law may have had harmful effects, particularly with regard to the safety of school children."

The secretary of transportation recently submitted a report required by the original law on the effects of the DST bill. While it was difficult to separate out the effects of daylight savings, Esch said, the report clearly showed a small benefit in energy savings: only 0.75 per cent in January and February and one per cent in March and April.

"However, when gas supplies became somewhat more plentiful in the spring, a year-round Daylight Savings Time may have increased travel and gas consumption.

"As legislators we've the responsibility to judge the adequacy and effect of laws we pass, and to repeal them if they prove ineffective.

"I believe as far as DST is concerned we made a mistake, and I'm glad a large majority of the House realized this and voted for the four-month repeal."

must be viewed in relation to the myriad of factors listed above. The inconclusiveness or inconsistency of some of these studies suggests that more research with better methodology needs to be done."

MRS. BROOKS says: "Although somewhat diminished, the problem of sufficient pennies to conduct everyday business is still with us."

During the past 15 years, she explains, the Mint has produced more than 62 billion pennies. None of these, she comments, are of any numismatic (coin collecting) value nor will they attain any.

"If just one billion pennies were returned to circulation, it would save the taxpayers $10 million. If 15 billion pennies could be lured out of hiding, at current production figures, we wouldn't have to make pennies for almost two years and this would repre-

SEMTA postpones bus route to Flat Rock

Following a disappointing response to 2,100 announcement and survey forms mailed to Michigan Casting Center employees, SEMTA, the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) will postpone express bus service between Detroit and Flat Rock.

Of the 2,100 announcement survey forms mailed to Michigan Casting employees, only 216 forms were returned and exactly one monthly pass has been sold.

Besides the mailed announcements, large poster with detailed route maps and pickup points were displayed throughout the Michigan Casting plant, and an additional 5,000 printed fliers were sent to Local 600 committeemen for distribution to employees at the plant. The casting center is a division of the Ford Motor Co.

In announcing postponement of the service, SEMTA Marketing Director John J. Saunders says: "We appreciate the cooperation extended to us by Ford Motor management and UAW Local 600 staff. Everyone has applied sincere effort against what seems to be a difficult task, and it is with extreme regret and reluctance that we are forced to postpone the start of this service until a greater degree of interest is found.

"Buses and drivers are available for the service, all that is needed now is a sufficient number of passengers with interest to make the service a reality."

Sunset Scouts raising funds

The Sunset District of the Detroit Area Council Boy Scouts of America will hold its first "Night at the Races" Sept. 21 at Wolverine Raceway in Livonia, beginning at 6 p.m.

The district includes Boy Scout groups in western Wayne County. The $20 donation includes a short cocktail period from 6:15 to 6:45 p.m., then a smor'asbord dinner until 7:45 p.m., and reserved seats for the races.

The event will help area Boy Scouts bolster their depleted finances and to continue with community projects already started. Price of the ticket is tax deductible.

Penniman, Sherwood, Utley were early area notables

PLYMOUTH—Plymouth luminaries during the last half of the 19th century included a U.S. congressman, the first banking commissioner in the State of Michigan, and an editor who became librarian of the City of Detroit.

Ebenezer Jenckes Penniman, the only Plymouth resident ever elected to the U.S. Congress, was among those who founded the Republican Party "under the oaks" at Jackson.

Penniman, whose career as land developer, merchant, banker and politician included a term in the 32nd Congress in 1851-53, came to Plymouth in 1840 when he was 36. Born in Lansingburgh, N.Y., in 1804, he had been a printer's apprentice in New York City and a dry goods merchant in Orwell, Vt.

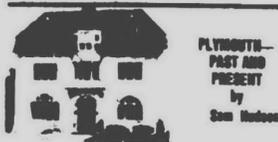

Not long after his arrival in Plymouth, Penniman bought from John Kellogg a tract of land on Sutton Street. The property ran north to where the railroad line now lies, and west to Sheldon. Penniman subdivided some of the property and built a fine home on the remainder on the north side of Penniman, where the Catholic Church is now located.

Penniman was supervisor of Plymouth Township in 1842-4 and 1850. A Whig and a Free-Soiler, he was a member of the assembly which met in Jackson in 1854 to oppose the opening of the west to slavery. More than 1,500 attended, too many for a hall, so the speakers' stand was erected under a grove of oak trees.

The convention passed resolutions to fight the extension of slavery and to adopt the name "Republican" for the new party. The Jackson assembly was the first convention of the Republican party on a state-wide basis.

When the First National Bank of Plymouth was organized in November 1871, Penniman, then party was named president. The late Charles H. Bennett, who grew up to be president of the Daisy Manufacturing Company, recalled that when he was a boy, "on Christmas mornings, E. J. Penniman, Plymouth's richest resident, used to sit in the bank, then located in the rear of the Goldstein's Department Store. He would give a silver quarter to every boy and girl who came in and wished him a Merry Christmas."

Penniman's daughter, Kate, who married Will Allen, also of a wealthy family, named the Penniman-Allen Theatre in honor of her father and her husband. E. J. Penniman died April 12, 1890, and was buried in Riverside Cemetery. Twenty years later, on petition of Mrs. S. M. Reed and others, Sutton Street, on which his property fronted, was renamed Penniman Avenue.

T. C. SHERWOOD, local bank president in the 1880s, was the first commissioner of banking in the State of Michigan. Sherwood, born in Geneva, N.Y., in 1839, arrived in Plymouth in 1854. He was a school teacher and a farmer before joining the Michigan Central born in 1863, at Kalamazoo, as a cashier. The following year he went to work for the First National Bank of Battle Creek. In 1872, he became cashier of the newly-organized First National Bank of Plymouth, where Penniman was president.

Sherwood moved to Grand Rapids in 1880 to become cashier of the Grand Rapids National Bank. He returned to Plymouth in 1884 as president of the Plymouth National Bank which opened for business in February of that year. He resigned in 1889 when Governor Cyrus Luce appointed him to the newly-created position of State Commissioner of Banking. He served in that capacity until 1896.

Sherwood was the first president of the Plymouth Fair Association, organized as a stock company in 1885. The fair, held every September until about 1904, was located on a 22-acre tract in the southeast part of the village where Fairground and Fair streets are now situated.

The fairground's main entrance was on Ann Arbor Trail, with a secondary entrance for race horses and farm stock on Bowery Street, later renamed Maple. The Fair attracted visitors from a wide area, including Detroit.

School children by the wagonload came on special days from Canton, Livonia, Superior and other townships. They rode the horse-powered merry-go-round, listened to the band, saw the exhibits in Floral Hall, and were thrilled by the huge Ferris Wheel. They munched farm-fresh food, purchased at eating places operated by local church groups, while their elders watched the horses go through their paces on the well-groomed half mile track.

Sherwood was school inspector in Plymouth 1886-87. He was a prominent member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and was its Sunday School superintendent for more than 25 years. A dignified man, Sherwood wore a high silk hat daily at a time when no one else in town did so.

HENRY M. UTLEY, born in Plymouth in 1836 of pioneer parents, became an editor, author, and librarian of the City of Detroit.

Of Welsh descent, Utley was the son of Hiram and Jane Sands Utley. The father, one of the early arrivals in Plymouth, was a drummer boy in the War of 1812.

Henry graduated from the University of Michigan in 1861 and earned the master of arts degree in 1870. He married Kate Lilly Burr in Pontiac in 1864. They had three daughters.

Utley was a reporter and commercial editor for the Detroit Free Press 1861-66. He was city editor of the Detroit Post and its successor, the Post-Tribune, 1866-81. From 1881 to 1885, he was secretary of the Detroit Board of Education.

In 1885, Utley became Detroit City Librarian, a position he held until 1912. When he took the job, the library had no catalog or systematic arrangement. Introducing modern methods, he increased the circulation of books from 15,000 in 1885 to more than 10 million in 1900.

Utley was the author of an article, "Wildcat Banking in Michigan," and, with Byron McCutcheon, of "The History of Michigan as a Province, Territory and State" (1906). He died in Detroit in 1917.

Conscious of his pioneer heritage, Utley closed his memoir of Plymouth, written in 1876, with a tribute to those who settled Plymouth 11 years before he was born here. "The pioneers are passing away in Wayne County," he wrote. "They were a sturdy, sterling race of men and women, who built wisely the foundations of prosperous and virtuous communities. They served their day and generation faithfully, and are entitled to honor, and the dead to grateful remembrance, for we enjoy the fruits of their early labors."

'The Plymouth school board should alter negotiation stand'

EDITOR:
The present confrontation between the school board and the PEA could be resolved if the board and their negotiation team realized that the cost of living has skyrocketed since the last contract between the two.

All of us have been caught in a bind economically and it must stop somewhere. However, it is not the responsibility of the board of education nor the teachers of Plymouth to fight this inflationary spiral alone.

We are being told by the board of education and the administration that funds are not available for an equitable settlement with the teachers of Plymouth. We question this. In 1969 we were given this same information by the then school board. At that time this information turned out to be an out and out lie. This very well could be the basis for the mistrust that exists between the teachers and the board.

It is my belief that there could be an equitable settlement made by the PEA and afforded by the board that would send students and teachers back to the classroom tomorrow. There has been no appreciable movement on the part of the board's team

Look where the fair was

EDITOR:
Sometime ago a shopping center was turned down at Joy and Sheldon roads by Canton Township. Yet when Canton had their fair where did they put it so they would get more customers—you guessed it, Joy and Sheldon roads.

READERS' FORUM

to resolve this issue since negotiations began in April.

What the teachers are really asking is a fair living wage commensurate with their needs. The cost of living has gone up 12.5 per cent since August of 1973. If the teachers were to accept even the first year proposal of the board (1974-75) they would be behind 4.5 per cent of the cost of living increase of the past year.

With the second year that is attached to this proposal the teachers would lose at least another six per cent from the projected cost of living increase for 1975-76. The board is not offering a one year contract that would leave the teachers behind the cost of living by four per cent for 1974-75, but they are mandating, as a condition of the first year, we gamble on an additional cost of living for 1975-76. This adamancy for a two year contract is really the crux of the withholding of services by teachers in which Plymouth now finds itself.

I don't believe anyone in this school district is more interested in continuing the education of your children than the excellent staff of teachers that you have at your disposal. I think, if all the facts were known about the funds which you have voted and the school board has on hand, that you would not condone the games that are being played in the present school crisis. It is imperative for the good of the children, community, administration, and teachers that the issue at hand be settled as soon as possible.

All of us know that eventually school will open, the required days will be taught by the teachers and attended by the students, and in reality nothing will be lost to this community. No one would like more to see your children in school and teachers doing the job they're trained to do than the PEA.

I appeal to the board to reconsider your position as to the two year contract. Let's settle for '74-75 and get on with the job at hand.

Thank you for coverage

EDITOR:

Thank you very much from all the members of the Michigan Association of Children with Learning Disabilities (MACLD) for giving our article such a great exposure. We're hoping that the special gym program for the learning disabled child will be successful and eventually expanded.

The response so far has been great and due mainly to families spotting the article in your paper. I never even hoped for front page, but we were all thrilled to see the article there. Thank you again!

How much change in 20 years?

TAVI FULKERSON (left) and Patsy Turrini discuss the new film about women's roles "Two Women Twenty Years."

BY MARGARET MILLER
Is it really very different from what it used to be, this business of being a woman?
Have liberation and changing life styles really meant new problems and solutions for the feminine half of today's society?
These questions were asked by the University of Michigan Center for Continuing Education of Women, and a Birmingham student has helped with a special film that seeks answers.
Tavi Fulkerson, daughter of George and Ruth Fulkerson of Middlebury Lane in Birmingham, plays a leading role in "Two Women—Twenty Years," a half-hour documentary the center has produced to mark its 10th anniversary.

THE FILM, to be shown on national television and also made available for group and club programs, will be premiered at an open anniversary luncheon in the Anderson Room of the Michigan Union in Ann Arbor Thursday, Sept. 19 at 12:30 p.m.
Produced by the U-M Television Center with the assistance of the CEW center, it features Patsy Newell Turrini, who graduated from U-M 20 years ago, Mary Bromage, faculty member then and now, and Miss Fulkerson, a senior in radio and television in the speech department.
By including three age levels, with women whose college years have been in widely-separated times, the film can offer a commentary what change the educated woman has seen in her role over the past two decades.

AND WHAT IT SEEMS to say... said Linda Robinson Walker, CEW representative who worked with producer Victoria Schutze in putting the documentary together. "Is that women really haven't changed a lot in 20 years."
"They have a lot of the same problems, but they are much more open in their approach to solving them. Now they can talk about them more."
Making the movie, the staff started with a clip from the 1954 film recording of a summer series titled "Woman in a World of Man."
The old clip shows a panel of faculty members, mostly male but chaired by Mary Bromage, interviewing Patsy Newell, who was a senior in social work.

"WE WOMEN GRADUATING NOW wonder," Patsy was saying, "whether we'll be able to carry on a career along with marriage."
And the panel was advising her to "raise the question realistically" and to consider that "with two new careers, there is danger that the wife's may outstrip the husband's," and to think whether work outside the home will detract from "women's more important work of child-raising."
The film makers this summer succeeded in locating Patsy Newell Turrini, now married, mother of two sons and busy with two part-time jobs in her social work field in Merrick, Long Island.

Mrs. Turrini, now a sharp 40 instead of a pretty 20, returned to the Ann Arbor campus to view the old film, talk about how she and her ideas had changed, and to meet and compare notes with Tavi Fulkerson, chosen as an articulate representative of today's college woman.
EVERYONE INVOLVED in the August film-making agreed it was an experience that would long be remembered.
"Patsy and I hit it off right away," said Tavi, "and we talked non-stop for the three days we were filming."
"It was really an emotional experience, and it gave me a good feeling about the future to meet people like Patsy and Mary."
"When you are 20 you tend to put aside thoughts about what is ahead, but talking to them made me think 40 is an exciting age too and so is 60."

the future, because I want to be successful but I'm struggling with the idea of being successful in relationship to someone."
"Fulfillment is so important to me," she added.
And in the matter of marriage, Patsy pointed out that for her generation "not marrying was like dying, and motherhood was considered the lifeline—I hope women today are thinking that out more carefully."
"There's more openness in relationships now—you don't think so much of the future," said Tavi, but she agreed that "I'll probably marry sometime."
They agreed that women look more realistically at motherhood now, but when Tavi suggested she'd expect to share child care with her partner Patsy said "that sounds lovely but that's the complicated issue."

Report from Schoolcraft fair

Women moving up faster in industry, manager says

BY SHERRY KAHAN

"There has been quite a lot of progress at General Motors toward moving women up and slotting them into what were previously regarded as male jobs," said Helen Musial to more than 75 women who crowded into a classroom at Schoolcraft College to hear her.
"Miss Musial, who started more than 30 years ago at General Motors Corp. as a clerk, was speaking during the Women's Opportunity Fair planned by the Women's Continuum at the college.
"Women in business have not achieved much success because men underestimated them," continued Miss Musial, speaking in her capacity as manager of women's career planning at GM.
"Women also underestimated themselves. It has been hard for women to shed their own attitudes about women. Often a woman will refuse to do business with another woman."
THE EMPLOYMENT PICTURE for women is changing rapidly, she said, adding that "despite efforts to remove bias, there is still a subtle kind of bias at work against upgrading to women employees."

Miss Musial explained that GM is doing something about this, breaking the log jam at lower levels and moving women up.
"A training program has been set up to recognize women, train them for more responsible jobs and move them up," she said. "Now women are being looked at as people with capabilities and skills."
Because the topic of her speech was "Employment Prospects for the Mature Woman in Industry," Miss Musial explained she was aware some mature women looking for a job are insecure and have no job confidence.
"They haven't worked for years and don't know what they can offer an employer," she said. "They are probably underestimating themselves."
FOR THESE WOMEN Miss Musial had specific advice.
"Come to grips with yourself. Sit down and do a personal inventory on your strengths, weaknesses, experiences and aptitudes."
"This is something you should give a lot of thought to. Put it down in writing. Then set down your objectives. Too often women don't have objectives."
Be honest with yourself, she advised suggesting that "when you get to know yourself better you will be surprised to learn how many good qualities you have."

She recommended that women look at their experiences in life. What kind of work had they done, volunteer and otherwise? Have they worked with "deas, with people? Have they supervised people? Have they worked mechanically?"
"It is amazing how many women have a mechanical bent that was snuffed out in them as they were growing up."
MISS MUSIAL SAID this personal self-inventory will be a tremendous help. "You'll be delightfully surprised about what you can offer an employer."
"In the business world, time is precious. They will ask you what you would like to do and you will not have to be vague or defensive about it if you know your interests, strengths and capabilities in advance."
Miss Musial stamped her approval on such events as the Women's Opportunity Fair and the new Women's Resource Center at Schoolcraft which provides women with information and counseling about possible careers.

"Women have never had so many opportunities to talk with counselors about their problems and thoughts. They are in a better position to guide you. I suggest you take advantage of this advice before you approach an employer."
CONCERNING SPECIFIC employment possibilities she stated first that "many a man succeeds because of his secretary."
"A secretarial job is often a stepping stone to greater responsibility," said Miss Musial, who moved into a secretarial position soon after getting a job at GM.
While requirements differ in the various GM departments, the general rule is for a secretary to be able to type 50-60 words per minute and to take 100 words per minute in shorthand, she noted.
Applicants are given a three-minute typing test and five letters are dictated. The applicant is judged on the setup of the letter, its grammar, neatness and spelling.
Miss Musial also declared that there may be opportunity also in clerical work. "There is a lot of progress moving people up from clerical positions."
"In data processing the advancement has been fantastic. There are some very highly paid women in this area."
Women are also moving into jobs in accounting that had heretofore been reserved for men, she stated.

IN THE FILM, after Patsy had expressed shock at "the way those men talked down to me" in the old clip, she and Tavi had some conversations about studies and careers and marriage.
In each, there were new looks at problems that didn't change much.

"I felt as a student I was not free to learn," said Patsy, pointing out that women were steered into certain fields during her campus days. "It's somewhat the opposite now," said Tavi. "We're picking the fields that used to be blocked." "Then maybe it's the same bag, still limiting freedom," suggested the older woman.

While Patsy had wondered if she could combine career and marriage, Tavi described herself as "scared of TICKETS FOR THE LUNCHEON where the film will be shown are $4 and available from the U-M Center for Continuing Education of Women, 328-330 Thompson, Ann Arbor.

The center, one of the first established in this country to help women complete interrupted educations, began its work in a small room in the Michigan League in 1964.

In its decade of expansion, the center has counseled some 6,000 women and offers an on-going program of discussion groups, lectures, conferences and evening credit classes.

The documentary film is scheduled for national television screening late in the fall and then will be available for loan at cost to organizations, individuals and groups.

Those interested in such a loan may get details by calling the CEW center.

AAUW will discuss values

Professor Mary Van Gilder of Oakland Community College will speak on "Perception of Beauty and Ugliness" at a meeting of the American Association of University Women Livonia Branch at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 17 in St. Paul United Presbyterian Church on Five Mile, west of Inkster.

Professor Van Gilder will discuss how perceptions of beauty and ugliness influence one's personal world, relationships with others and values.

Bubble, bubble, workshop trouble

Gundella the Witch won't be conducting a witchcraft workshop in the Wayne-Westland school district's adult education program this fall.

But the crystal ball is a bit cloudy as to exactly how it came to disappear from the schedule.

A weekend workshop, the kind that the famed local psychic has conducted in 37 previous programs, was listed tentatively after a couple of requests had been received, said a spokesman for the continuing education program.

IT SHOULDN'T have been dubbed witchcraft, explained Gundella's daughter, Madilynne. "It's supposed to be listed as a workshop in psychic sciences, and it includes things like ESP, pre-cognition, automatic writing, talk about what is a ghost."

But witchcraft was the listing, and when a couple of area pastors heard about it you might say "all hell broke loose."
They took their complaints to another newspaper in this area.

In its printed story, one clergyman, Pastor Earl Anderson of Newburg Baptist Church, stated he considered the course "dangerous to the individual" because "when you explain to people how to do these things, they're going to try it, giving demons an opportunity to control them."

THE NEWSPAPER further reported the class had been dropped. The school district spokesman said he hadn't previously given out such information, but agreed the workshop was no longer scheduled. Only three people had signed up, he explained, and that's not enough to break even.

Gundella, perhaps surprisingly from a psychic viewpoint, didn't know about the turn of events.
"She was out of town and we thought the advertising wasn't going out until about now," her daughter said.
Which takes care of witches in Wayne-Westland for the moment.

AAUW schedules meeting

PLYMOUTH—"Come to where the action is . . . AAUW" is the theme of the Thursday, Sept. 19 meeting of the American Association of University Women (AAUW), Plymouth - Northville Branch, in Middle School West in Plymouth.

MACLD garage sale is Saturday

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP—The Plymouth-Northville Chapter of the Michigan Association for Children with Learning Disabilities (MACLD) has planned a garage sale for Saturday at Pioneer Middle School, Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth.

Businesses and individuals are asked to contribute items that may be put up for sale at the event. All items donated are tax deductible and acknowledgement of a contribution will be made on a sign at the sale, if so desired.

The money raised will be used by the association to help children with learning problems. For information on donating items for use at the sale contact Suzanne Barrie, 44739 Twyckingham, Canton.

This week is Nationwide Learning Disabilities Week and 350 chapters of the association will be holding similar garage sales throughout the country.

Old Village having ball

PLYMOUTH—Meadowbrook Country Club will be the scene Saturday night, Sept. 28, of the "Village Ball" dinner dance sponsored by Plymouth's Old Village Association.

Dinner is scheduled for 8 p.m., followed by dancing to the "big band sound" of Frank Sidney and his orchestra until 1 a.m. Tickets are $15 per person and proceeds will be used for the beautification of Plymouth under direction of Committee Chairman Pat Hann.

A cash bar will open for a cocktail hour at 7 p.m. reservations for the party may be made through the House of Glamour Salon, Clothes Tree, Old Village Flower Shop or Blunk's Inc.

Strike delays homecomings

PLYMOUTH—The Plymouth Centennial Educational Park homecoming has been rescheduled due to the delay in the start of school for the 1974-75 year resulting from the teachers' strike.

The new schedule has the homecoming parade planned for Thursday, Oct. 24, in downtown Plymouth for both Plymouth-Canton and Plymouth-Salem students.

On Oct. 25, Plymouth-Salem will play Belleville in a homecoming game that will feature a parade of floats and the crowning of a homecoming queen. Plymouth-Canton will challenge Farmington Harrison on Oct. 26 in its homecoming game.

A homecoming dance has been tentatively scheduled for 9:45 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 26. The Dad's night for Plymouth-Salem school has been moved to Friday, Oct. 11.

Township sets same tax levy

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP—The Plymouth Township Board of Trustees voted to maintain the same tax rate levied in the township last year.

The 3.25 mill property tax on the township's state equalized valuation (SEV) of $177,204,830 will yield tax revenue of $575,915.68.

p.m. the program will feature skits, talks and presentations by each of the AAUW discussion topic leaders and interest group chairwomen.

This meeting will provide an opportunity to become acquainted with AAUW. Membership is open to all women who hold a bachelor's or higher degree from a regionally accredited college or university, or from an approved foreign institution.

AAUW is concerned with working to improve education at all levels (providing about 160 fellowships for women annually), increasing public awareness of lifestyles and options available to women, mobilizing volunteer woman power for community service, enhancing the intellectual and cultural life of the individual in our broad areas: education, international relations, cultural interests and the community.

College graduates interested in AAUW may contact Mrs. Fred Harnert, of 40739 Firwood, membership chairwoman for the Plymouth branch. She will talk with prospective members and to answer inquiries about the association.

City P&R offering 20 activities

PLYMOUTH—The Plymouth Department of Parks and Recreation is offering more than 20 different leisure activities for interested residents.

The activities include classes in ice skating, belly dancing, ballet, jazz dancing, Hawaiian dancing, tap technique, guitar, judo, karate, dog obedience, pottery, crocheting and knitting, art, cheerleading, hockey and skiing.

Other activities include the community chorus, Pathfinders' Club, junior bowling, women's volleyball, men's basketball, bridge, ski club, table tennis, painting, a University of Michigan football game, Retirees-Senior Citizen Club and senior citizen trips.

Most of the activities will take place at the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer Street. Registration for most of the classes will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. Sept. 26 at the center, during regular office hours and by mail.

Further information concerning registration times, class times, fees and programs may be obtained from the center or the recreation department. Persons interested in forming clubs in interests not yet represented may leave their name and address with the center.

Westland civic orchestra is expanding

The Westland civic orchestra's director will start rehearsals Wednesday night for a hoped-for expansion in musical and community activities.

The rehearsals, open to all area musicians, will be held from 7:30-9:30 p.m. in John Glenn High School's band room, Marquette just west of Wayne Road, in Westland.

The director, H. Michael Endres, disclosed his hopes for the 1974-75 orchestra season last week after signing his one-year contract for his second year with the group.

One addition to the upcoming season is small ensembles to attract the more advanced musician who wants to spend more time in music over the weekly orchestra rehearsals.

The ensembles, Endres said, would also help publicize the orchestra since they would be more mobile and "easier to move around" to play for small groups than the full orchestra.

Endres, 33, orchestra director at Plymouth-Salem High School, said the ensembles would be a good public relations tool for the orchestra.

Other goals for the season are closer cooperation with local high school music teachers; expanded community support and establishment of a citizens' orchestra committee.

The closer cooperation with local music teachers would avoid the schools and civic orchestra duplicating selections and give high school students in the orchestra a wider variety of music and a more enriching experience, Endres said.

The citizens' committee could possibly plan social activities involving the orchestra, a move proved popular in other communities.

Those activities give the musicians a chance to meet the community and find their musical needs and desires.

Receptions following a concert have proven popular with orchestra members, Endres said.

The director said that Westland, with an estimated 100,000 population, should support an orchestra with money and larger attendance at concerts.

He noted that several other community orchestras have more public support although they are in much smaller communities.

Although Westland's orchestra concerts' attendance can be improved, Endres noted that there are an estimated 20 suburban orchestras in metropolitan Detroit and "several are quite good and we can grow in time."

Endres said he is hoping for a 55-member orchestra this fall with members capable of playing portions of standard orchestra repertoire.

One move he tested at his first concert last May and will probably repeat this season is short, verbal comments about the selections on the program.

"I received comments from people who liked that as a listening aid," Endres said. "Those people liked the musical tips in addition to the printed program notes.

"I hope to continue this practice," which he termed a form of music education for the concert-goers.

La Leche will start series

La Leche League of Plymouth-Northville will start a new series of classes stressing the benefits of breastfeeding to mothers and their babies Thursday, Sept. 19 at 8 p.m. in Newburg United Methodist Church, 36500 Ann Arbor Trail, Livonia.

Meetings are led by trained, qualified league leaders and telephone counseling is available to mothers at any time.

La Leche League is a non-profit organization organized to provide information about childbirth and breastfeeding. Those interested in more information may contact Mrs. Thomas Nunez, 195 Garling, Plymouth.

Plymouth LWV meets

The Plymouth-Northville League of Women Voters will hold a membership kick-off meeting Thursday, Sept. 19 at 8 p.m. in Epiphany Lutheran Church, 41390 Five Mile, Plymouth.

All aspects of the organization's activities will be explained through the use of visual aids prepared by committees of the local league.

Members will discuss briefly the committee work on environmental quality, human resources and land use, with particular attention to local studies and how the group can take action on important issues.

The league's observer program, responsible for checking on all local governmental meetings in the cities and townships represented, also will be reported.

Members of the voters service committee will explain how the LWV aids at election time by preparing impartial guides of candidates and sponsoring candidates' nights.

Women wanting more information about the league for the first meeting may call Mrs. Judson Spencer, 47212 Stonecrest, Plymouth.

Killian-Stark

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Killian of Leon Avenue, Livonia, announce the engagement of their daughter, Kerry, to James Stark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stark of Brooklyn, Mich. A graduate of Churchill High School, the bride-to-be is employed by Central Michigan University. Her fiancé, a senior at CMU, is majoring in business administration. A Dec. 14 wedding is planned.

NOW to hear of rape bill

The Livonia-Schoolcraft chapter of the National Organization for Women (NOW) will hold its first meeting of the fall season Tuesday, Sept. 17 at 8 p.m. in the Newman House on the Schoolcraft College campus.

Mary Dumas, Wayne County commissioner, will speak on the new bill in the Michigan Legislature dealing with rape and the projected Wayne County rape crisis centers.

Prospective members and guests are welcome.

Wallet-Wach

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph N. Wallet of Seminole Avenue, Redford Township, announce the engagement of their daughter, Gale Marie, to Daniel Wach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wach of Dearborn. The bride-elect attended Michigan State University and is a student of criminal justice at Mercy College of Detroit. Her fiancé attended Eastern Michigan University and MSU and is employed in the security department of the Ford Motor Co. The wedding will be in November.

Truesdell school moms clean up grounds

By JAN WILLIAMS

CANTON—The brooms and paint brushes have been flying lately at Truesdell Elementary School in Canton Township.

Following complaints from members of the Mothers Club led by club president Clara Nomecos, there has been a "cleanup" of everything from the boys restroom to the school principal.

Complaints registered last May by the mothers included incomplete fencing around a drain ditch in front of the school, inadequate parking areas, a mound of dirt on the school yard, garbage that hadn't been picked up, a muddy play area, odor from the boys restroom, dirty carpet in classrooms due to an inoperative vacuum cleaner, small room capacity, drab colored classrooms and bathrooms and 20-year-old used furniture.

ACCORDING to Jim Symonds, director of maintenance and custodial operations for the Plymouth School District, all of the major complaints have been taken care of.

Following a report to the school board in May concerning the complaints, I met with Mrs. Nomecos and other club members and discussed every point they raised," Symonds said. "Once we discussed the problems, they seemed to be satisfied with the answers."

A fence has now been completed around the drainage ditch, following several delays by the contracting company.

Symonds said the gravel parking area at Truesdell had been doubled in size, adding that it will need more attention once it is subjected to more traffic.

The mound of dirt, which was a present to the school district from the company which dug the drain ditch and which the mothers said occupies land once used as a play area for the school children, is still there.

"THE DIRT NEVER seemed to have been a major problem with any of the mothers we talked to," Symonds said. "It isn't in an area where the children play and it will gradually be distributed over school yards throughout the district for landscaping."

Symonds noted that using this dirt for landscaping will save the district thousands of dollars and until it is used it will stay where it is.

As for the delay in garbage pickup at the school, Symonds said trucks are sent to pick it up when the matron at school calls and says the garbage cans are full.

In reference to the muddy play area, Symonds said it wouldn't be blacktopped as the mothers had originally requested.

"We explained it wouldn't be prudent to spend that much of the taxpayers money on something that may only be used for a couple more years. I think the mothers understand that."

Symonds was referring to the plan that Truesdell will be replaced by a new elementary school to be built nearby within the next two years.

COMPLAINTS ABOUT the odor of urine from the boys restroom was handled immediately. Screens were placed on its windows so they could be opened to bring in fresh air without bringing in insects.

Following the purchase of a new vacuum cleaner, carpeting in the classrooms was thoroughly cleaned.

The small room capacity was a problem Symonds admitted to be beyond his control.

"The classrooms are standard size and there isn't much we can do about increasing the floor space."

Symonds noted the problem will be met with the building of the new elementary school which will allow for an increase in attendance.

Although the school was just repainted last year, it was repainted again at the request of the mothers who chose the color for the walls—grapefruit. All of the wood finishings were revarnished, floors were scrubbed and carpeting was repaired.

"DUE TO VANDALISM at the school in July, most of this work had to be redone, so we really put in a double effort here."

Symonds said the concern of the mothers and articles published in the Observer & Eccentric on conditions at the school, had helped tremendously in getting the problems cleared up.

"We probably would've put up the fence and done some painting anyway, but some things probably wouldn't have been done if our attention hadn't been brought to them."

Symonds also said the district had spent more money on a per pupil basis at Truesdell this summer than at any other school in the district.

To go along with the new look at Truesdell this fall will be a new principal, Larry Miller. He replaces Donald Rank who retired at the end of the last school term after serving the school district for 29 years.

Miller, who was employed last year by the district as principal at Central Middle School, will now serve as principal of both Truesdell and Greer Elementary Schools.

REFERRING TO Miller as "super conscious," both Symonds and assistant superintendent Ray Hoedel said. "We feel confident that if anything needs attention at Truesdell, it will be brought to our attention by Miller. He's that type."

Symonds, feeling satisfied with the present condition of the school, said he was looking forward to a year without any recurrence of last year's problems.

Mrs. Nomecos of the Mothers Club said she hasn't been able to see the interior of the school following the cleanup, because of the strike.

"From what I can see," Mrs. Nomecos said, "I feel satisfied with what they've accomplished."

Mrs. Nomecos said the school looked clean and the school's efforts to get a fence up, which was her major concern, "shows they do care."

"And now that the school is repaired," she continued, "where are the teachers?"

The Stroller

From pilgrims to fairs

By W. W. EDGAR

Driving along the highways and noting the many fruit and vegetable stands along the way, a fellow can't help but wonder what the Pilgrim forefathers would think if they could come back and see what they started.

The history books tell us that after that first hard winter in 1620 when many failed to survive, they dug in the next spring to fight for survival. They tilled the soil and planted the seeds for what they hoped would be a harvest of sufficient quantity to keep them going toward their goal in the new world.

Well, you know what happened. The crops were bountiful and that fall, when the harvest was in, they put the fruit and vegetables on display in a spirit of thankfulness that eventually showed the way to the Thanksgiving Day we now celebrate.

BUT IT WAS this display of fruit and vegetables that laid the groundwork. Little did they realize, at the time, that they had taken the first step in making the new land the most productive in the world. They had little thought that what they were doing would some day lead to the great plains of the west and the mammoth wheat fields that provide food to keep millions of people from starving in many sections of the globe.

Yet, that's what happened. And from those early days many other things developed because of the fruit and vegetable display. First, there soon became a rivalry among the Pilgrims to see who could raise the biggest and the best crop. And these community competitions, so we are told, were the forerunners of what we know today as county fairs.

FROM THE COUNTY fairs we moved on to state fairs, but to The Stroller there is nothing during harvest time that can beat the county fair. State fairs, such as the Michigan State Fair that closed on Labor Day, are grand affairs, but, one has to believe that they have become too big and in their growing they've lost the warm hospitality and friendly touch of the county fair.

For instance, you can walk the length and breadth of the midway at the Michigan State fair and you'll be lucky if you meet more than a half dozen people you know in the milling throngs. In fact, you'll be lucky if you meet even that many.

It is different at the county fairs where you not only meet many people you know, but also know the women who made the jelly or the pies that are entered in contests.

Chances are that you know many men who have their fruit and vegetables on display. At meal time, you'll eat with friends from the church at a special stand that has become a tradition.

Fair time back home in the Pennsylvania Dutch country was always a great time. For months the Dutch women worked and slaved over their stoves to prepare entries for contests.

The men labored hard and long over their gardens, dreaming of the day when they would be called up front to accept a blue ribbon at the fair. There seemed, in their eyes, to be no greater honor.

FOND ARE the memories of these days when we'd gather at the judges' stand to cheer for Jennie Smith, our neighbor, who had a knack of making jelly. While she won more often than not, it always was a sad day when she had to accept only a red or a white ribbon.

Then there were "eating stands"—the tents under which the throngs came to enjoy a good sauerkraut dinner. Somehow, the sauerkraut and the pork seemed to taste better out there in the tents than at home.

It was at one of these stands that The Stroller got his first job. It was waiting tables at Fritz Kessler's sauerkraut stand—the most popular in the grove.

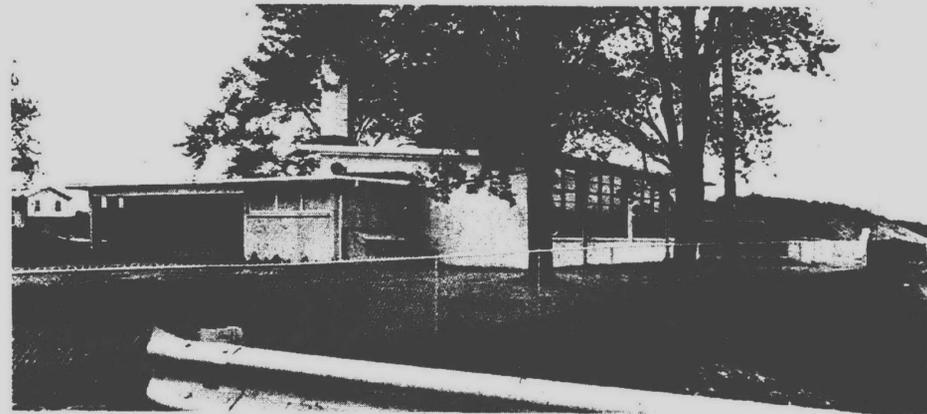

JUST A lad in his early teens, The Stroller worked from early morning until dusk, racing back and forth with the tasty meals—for the grand sum of $1.50 per day. And he was glad to get it, for it not only helped to keep the wolf away from our door, but it was a lot of fun serving the neighbors and listening to their tales of the great time they were having at the fair.

The Midways also were fun with their freak shows, the magicians and the "hoochie-koochie" shows where the men used to try to sneak in, unknown to their families, just to see the "girls."

Yes, the county fairs always have been lots of fun. We still have a few of them around here. There's a fair at Belleville, another at Fowlerville, and the Northville Fair always was a "bell-ringer" until it was replaced with trotting horses and a commercial race track.

These fairs—and the roadside stands from which they grew are all part of rural America.

They got their start back in the Pilgrim days and let's hope they'll always be with us.

Plymouth Canton fumbles away opener, 14-0

Plymouth Canton grid Coach Jim Muneio would just as soon forget game No. 1 in the '74 campaign.

The Canton Chiefs, who were 2-7 last season, fumbled three times in the opener with Grosse Ile with two of those paving the way for six-pointers and a 14-0 Canton loss.

It was this same Grosse Ile squad that battered the Chiefs in the opener last year, 25-0.

"It was just a disappointing night all around," commented Muneio whose Chiefs go against Dearborn Heights Annapolis this Saturday (Sept. 21) at home. "It was a real let-down."

"A COUPLE of breakdowns in the first half cost us two touchdowns. We got it together in the second half and did about everything but cross the goal line."

Grosse Ile took the opening kickoff and marched down field only to have Canton's defense come up with the key play and halt the Red Devils.

But Canton's first offensive drive was cut short when a Brian Stember-ger to Kim Hammonds handoff squirted loose and Grosse Ile pounced on it on the Canton 13.

Five plays later, Paul Cowley, who wound up with all of Grosse Ile's points, carried the ball in from three yards out. Cowley converted and it stood at 7-0 after one quarter.

ANOTHER COSTLY turnover hit

Canton, this time with seven minutes remaining in the first half.

On his own 15, Hammonds was jarred on a trap play, the ball popped loose and the Red Devils were set for another turnover score.

After chalking up a firstdown, Cowley went in from one yard out, made good the point-after and it was 14-0 at the half and at the final buzzer, Canton's deepest drive came early in the fourth stanza when, after grinding out 55 yards, Jim Tiller was stopped on the Grosse Ile one yard line on a fourth down play.

Grosse Ile took over and Canton, which collected only eight firstdowns, was blanked for the second straight season in its opener.

Blocked punts tell story

BY TOM DONOGHUE
Sports Editor

Something had to give. Thurston did the giving and Churchill the taking.

Both the Chargers of Livonia Churchill and the Eagles of Thurston High had dropped their final three games of the '73 football campaign.

Something had to give and it was Thurston High's kicking game with two blocked punts opening the door to Churchill scores and leading the way to a 20-8 Charger opening victory.

John Curran did the blocking of the punts for Churchill and head Charger mentor Ken Kaestner had to have the inside snickers at the close of this one.

"This one really tickled me," commented Kaestner.

"Thurston outweighed us by some 45 pounds per man on the line and the kids just put it to them.

"Sure I was surprised at the outcome but this group doesn't want to do anything but win."

BILL REARDON, Matt Foster and Scott Shepard on a punt return accounted for the Churchill scores along with a two-point safety which Thurston also picked up against Charger offense.

Thurston's lone six-pointer was scored off the Charger offense when Gary Abundis picked off a stray Churchill pass and dashed into the end zone.

Both clubs picked up 10 first downs. The real difference came in the rushing game where Churchill pounded out 151 yards while its defense held Thurston to just 65 yards.

Of Churchill's 151 yards on the ground, Reardon and Foster accounted for 118. Reardon carried the ball 17 times for 69 while Foster picked up 49 yards in five tries.

The passing game saw Churchill hit on two of seven for 32 yards and Thurston, three of 11 for 30 yards.

"Our kicking game simply let us down," commented Thurston Coach Don Riehl. "Two blocked punts and one punt return accounted for the three giveaway touchdowns."

"Here we work on our kicking game every day and it winds up beating us in game one. We are a young team and we came up with our share of first-game mistakes.

"We had the ball on Churchill's six with a first down and couldn't put it in. If we can't accomplish this, we don't deserve to win."

CHURCHILL TOOK the opening kickoff, got as far as its 35 and punted. Thurston did a notch better as it moved into Charger territory only to be stopped on the Churchill 36.

On the first play from scrimmage, Charger QB Mike Streicher fumbled and Thurston's Greg Harakas recovered on the 33. It was giveaway time as Thurston's first offensive play this time around featured a fumble by Thurston QB Jerry Janssens.

Curran recovered for the Chargers but the tide quickly changed again. On a third down and five play, Streicher's aim was off and Abundis intercepted and dashed in for six points, 5:20 remaining in the first quarter.

Churchill then started a drive that lasted until the end of the quarter with Matt Foster picking up two first downs and Fred Groth one with Thurston's defense stopping the Chargers on the Eagle 16.

After Churchill's Mike Welch had dropped Thurston's QB for a loss, the stage was set for blocked punt No. 1, with Curran doing his thing on Janssens' punt and Kurt Pitcher recovering for the Chargers on the Thurston four.

On the first play from scrimmage, Reardon went the four yards off right tackle. John Miller blocked the point after attempt and it was 6-6, 10:23 left in the first half.

THURSTON'S offense showed sign of coming back to life with Janssens getting the Eagles down to the Churchill 27 before Andy Fabian picked off a pass to give the Chargers control on the Thurston 42.

Churchill ran out of steam at midfield, Thurston took over at its 20 after a punt but again ran into a punting situation from deep inside its zone.

Curran partially deflected this one and Churchill was in command on the Thurston 26.

After Groth and Reardon moved the ball deep, Foster plunged in from four

U-M films to be shown

Full-color films of the University of Michigan's 1974 football games will be shown every Thursday this fall beginning Sept. 19.

Open to the public free of charge, the films will be shown at noon in the Fair Lane Center on the campus of the University of Michigan - Dearborn.

The films are provided by the University's Alumni Association and are co-sponsored by the University of Michigan Alumni Club of Dearborn and the University of Michigan - Dearborn Alumni Society.

An optional light luncheon at a small charge will be served by the U-M-D Food Service.

"One victory doesn't make a season," said Coach Jack Reardon after his Livonia Stevenson Spartans crushed Redford Union in the home opener, 27-0.

"But I will have to say this team has a lot of enthusiasm, probably more than that of a year ago. On that basis, then I believe we should have a much better record."

It was the opening test for both teams and it appeared as if Stevenson was a bit better prepared. At least Reardon had a hard-charging, hard-hitting outfit that never eased up a bit. RU on the other hand wasn't quite as crisp in its execution of plays as one expects from a Bobby Atkins coached club.

Just to add a bit of glory to the victory, Reardon saw two of the four touchdowns scored by sophomores yards out. The point after was blocked and it was 12-6.

Thurston's offense then ran into a stone wall Churchill defense and also found out it too can put numbers on the board.

The Eagles failed to move the ball on their first set of downs in the third. A punt got them out of their zone but Shepard hauled it in and scampered right back for another six Charger points. A two-point pass play missed and with 10:05 left in the second half, it was Churchill 18-6.

Thurston showed signs of coming to life after being stalled deep in Charger territory. Its defense scored two points trapping Churchill QB Streicher in the end zone.

CHURCHILL got those two points back in the early moments of the fourth. After a Charger field goal wound up short on the Thurston one, Churchill's defense smothered Janssens for a two-point safety and it was 20-8, seven minutes remaining, and the opening day deed was done.

For Churchill it was the stepping stone it needed before taking on the likes of John Glenn this Friday and Waterford Mott on Sept. 27.

For Thurston, it was a discouraging blow in the awakening of the Northwest "sleeper" role.

The Eagles go up against Royal Oak Kimball this Saturday afternoon at home before jumping into loop battle with Garden City East on Sept. 27.

Stevenson whips RU, 27-0 and unveiled an excellent defensive back in Ron Colone who twice intercepted passes for long gains. One went 38 yards for a touchdown and the second for 71 yards before he was nailed on the three yard line.

SENIOR QUARTERBACK Bruce Nichols started the Spartans on the road to a victory when he fired a 25 yard pass into the arms of End Dave Galindo, another senior, in the end zone for six points. Paul Lokar's placement made it 7-0.

Then it was sophomore Ron Colone's turn to give the home rooters something to cheer. The defensive halfback grabbed a Mike Watson pass on the RU 38 and darted down the sidelines for the first touchdown of his varsity career. Lokar missed the placement but Stevenson had a 13-0 edge.

Before the end of the half, the Spartans drove down to the Panther seven where Nichols circled end and went into the end zone for the third six points. Lokar split the uprights this time and the Spartans walked off the field with a 20-0 margin.

COACH REARDON decided to give his second stringers a chance in the second half with the result that most of the play was between the 30-yard stripes.

Then, just when most folks in the rather slim crowd figured the Spartans had done all of their scoring, Colone grabbed another RU aerial with 5:26 on the clock and raced all the way to the three before he was halted by Ron Miller.

Two plays netted a scant yard and then Sophomore Quarterback Jim Dolmetsch wiggled through an opening in the right side of the line to pay dirt. Lokar added his third extra point of the afternoon to make it 27-0.

WITH THE SPARTAN second stringers in the game, RU worked the ball deep into the Stevenson territory principally on a 30 yard pass from Quarterback Watson to End Craig Hill.

But that hope ended with 28 seconds to play when Stevenson's Chuck Demarco intercepted an RU aerial on the Spartan 14. That was all for the day with the final whistle sounding seconds later.

Stevenson faces a bigger test next Friday afternoon when it entertains Livonia Franklin in a battle of cross-town rivals. A year ago it was all Franklin - but somehow Stevenson looks like a different and tougher outfit this time around.

18,701 jam Wolverine, most to buy hot dogs

The traditional Good Ol' Times night at Wolverine Raceway did exactly what management expected . . . it attracted the largest crowd of the season for thoroughbreds or standardbreds with 18,701 pouring through the turnstiles.

That wasn't quite a record for Michigan since Wolverine did have more than 19,000 in the stands three years ago. But judging from the way things have been going this year, it was a tremendous turnout.

And would you like to believe that most of the crowd came to the track to wager a bob or two on the pacers and trotters. If so, then you are a hundred per cent wrong, there were about 10,000 kids in the audience and they came out for another reason . . . to take advantage of the chance to eat as many hot dogs as they could at a dime each.

Those were the prices many years ago and Wolverine turned the calendar back for this one evening to make it night of eating for the kids and a night of fun and entertainment for the parents.

The gates opened at 6 p.m. and by that time there were enough hungry youngsters around to form long lines in front of all the concession stands. Those lines never became shorter during the entire evening.

There were 10 races on the program but for the kids who raced all over the place, there was only one contest, get in line and buy hot dogs at the rate of six a tinme for a dime each.

Before the end of the evening, they had swallowed 20,494 hot dogs, 14,000 soda pop, 3,772 bags of popcorn and 4,800 cups of ice cream. Oh yes, for the parents there was a bargain on beer and they consumed 19,460 glasses before the final race was over.

"WHO WANTS hot dogs with all that good popcorn around?" was the way this tiny miss put it.

NO QUESTION about what this little lass wanted and was enjoying to the last bite.

GRANDPA HAS the program but it's grandson who seems to be studying it the most to offer a few hints.

"BOY THOSE HORSES look as big as elephants when you look at them through these."

THERE WAS A Dixieland Jazz band there to greet all as they walked into the gate and the music was loud and clear.

Bentley's 'Captain Jack' stuns Lamphere, 7-6

Trick play shadows stumbling offense

BY TOM DONOGHUE
Sports Editor

One trick play and the Bulldogs of Bentley High are in the gridiron win column.

Bentley head mentor, who has made it known that this is the "Year of the Bulldog," pulled into his bag of tricks and came out with his infamous "Captain Jack" play to overcome a 6-0 first half deficit and take a 7-6 lead that held good to the final gun.

It was Bentley 7, Lamphere 6, but the waning seconds weren't without anxious moments as Lamphere marched down field and, aided by a 15 yard holding call, moved to the Bentley three with seven seconds remaining.

But a field goal attempt that would have been a 20-yarder sailed off to the left. The Bulldogs had survived Lamphere's last shot to overcome the "Captain Jack" play that saw Bruce Boudnek scamper 50 yards to paydirt with the entire Lamphere defense not closer than 20 yards.

THIS MARKED the fourth straight season the Bulldogs have knocked off Lamphere and will be the final time as league commitments have forced Bentley off their schedule starting next year.

"You know, Lamphere is sort of an unknown around here," said Coach Glen Goode after the opening win. "We even have trouble getting our kids up for Lamphere. And it didn't take long for ours to realize that this isn't a slouch team."

"Lamphere came to play ball. Our offense wasn't up to par at all. We picked up only nine firstdowns and collected 160 yards on the ground. I guess overall we weren't very impressive but the first game nightmares are a thing of the past now and we can concentrate on the Suburban Eight and Edsel Ford."

LAST YEAR Bentley opened in 19-4 victory style over Lamphere but then dropped back-to-back loop matches to Belleville, 7-0, and Plymouth Salem, 18-15.

Now the Bulldogs travel to powerful Edsel Ford this Friday afternoon and the Tractors are hot off their opening win over Wyoming, 35-0.

The "Captain Jack" victory over Lamphere was the sixth time in Goode's career at Bentley where he has pulled off the trick play but the first time it worked for a score.

"I felt we needed the play to put some spark into our offense and here it works out to eventually win the game for us," added the Bentley coach.

AFTER A SCORELESS first quarter, the two clubs exchanged punts and Lamphere wound up taking over on its 18 after a 50 yard punt by Bulldog Tom Schultz.

Jerry Monette picked up a first down to the 37. Chris Ryding chalked up another to the Bentley 48 and Ted Sell made it three to the Bulldog 37.

On a fourth down and one play, Joe Henderson crashed into the Bulldog line for three yards and a Lamphere first down. Lamphere quarterback Bob Eggert then hit Greg Frezell for 14 yards. On a third down and 12 play, Eggert again combined with Frezell for six points with just five seconds remaining in the first half.

The attempt for two points after saw Bentley's Mike Robbins pick off a stray Eggert pass and it stood 6-0 with half the contest remaining.

Things started going Bentley's way before the whistle even blew for the second half as Lamphere was penalized 15 yards for lateness from the locker room to start the third quarter.

BENTLEY'S DEFENSE kept Lamphere in check that first set of downs and a punt gave the Bulldogs possession on their 48.

The "Captain Jack" play was then set into action with Boudnek running a 31-sweep into the sidelines for two yards.

Second-string quarterback Glen Stevens then lined up over the ball with the rest of the team on the opposite side of the field. Stevens picked up the ball, tossed to Boudnek and the 5-foot-11, 170-pound senior had nine blockers and danced 50 yards for six points.

It took a few minutes to quiet down the Lamphere coach and with order restored, 5-foot-8, 165 pound junior Tim Oakley split the uprights on the point-after and Bentley had a 7-6 lead with 9:53 remaining in the third quarter.

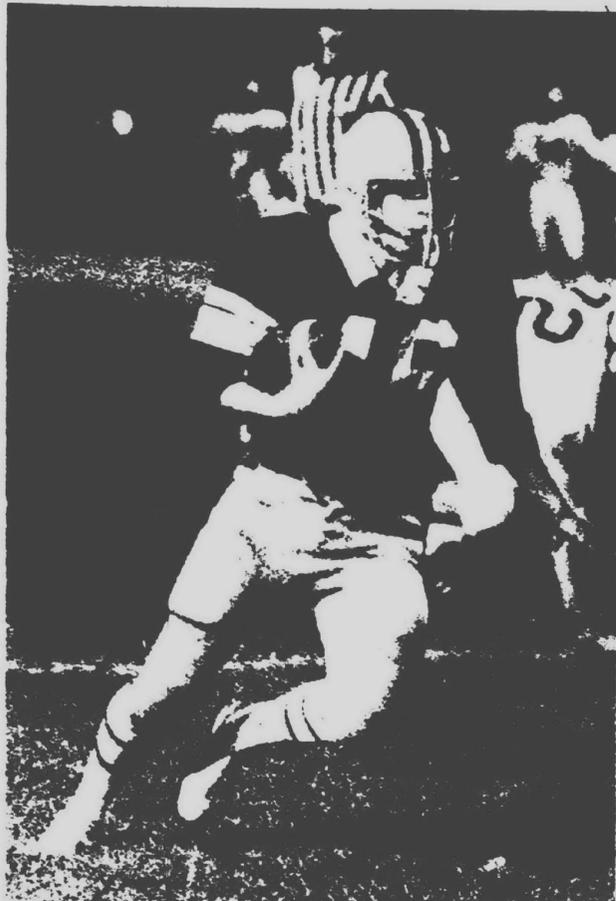

After two punt exchanges, Bentley started a march with QB Bill Deacon hitting Dale Allemany for 22 yards and Boudnek pushed it down to the Lamphere 12 for a first down.

On a fourth and eight play, Oakley faked a field goal and ran it down to the four where Lamphere took over with 45 seconds remaining in the third quarter.

AFTER SIX plays and two first downs, Bentley regained control after a punt and used up five minutes on a drive that started on its 12 and finished with Schultz punting from his 18, 49 yards to the Lamphere 33.

With 4:02 showing on the clock, Lamphere took over and started a drive that didn't give up until just two seconds showed on the clock.

Three first downs and a 15-yard holding call pushed the ball down to the three with seven seconds remaining. Jeff Hobbs missed what would have been a 20-yarder and the Bulldogs and "Captain Jack" had pulled one out.

CUTTING LOOSE AROUND END on a faked field goal attempt is Bentley's Tim Oakley who was stopped on the four yard line but wound up kicking the point after on the Captain Jack play to give the Bulldogs a 7-6 win over Lamphere. (Staff photo by Tom Donoghue)

Lutheran West bounces St. Agatha gridders, 34-12

Harvey Heitman's debut as St. Agatha head football coach wasn't quite what the ex-Oakland Community College coach had ordered.

In fact, it was perhaps the complete opposite of what was on Heitman's menu.

Lutheran West broke open a 12-all first quarter deadlock with solo scores in each of the three remaining periods to walk off with a season opening, 34-12 triumph.

"FIVE FUMBLES just did us in," commented Heitman who already tabbed this contest the toughest his Aggies will have in the '74 season.

Lutheran West scored on the opening drive on a 65-yard march but the Aggies bounced right back. Mark Duquette capped a 70-yard, nine play drive with a 40-yard spurt around right end. The two-point attempt missed and it stood at six-all.

A 60-yard punt return got Lutheran East back on the board and again the two-point play failed.

St. Agatha started another drive, this time from its 35, and in five plays, Duquette again carried it over, this time from 12 yards out and it stood tied at 12-12.

The two-point play missed and after one quarter it was a 12-all contest.

A 20-YARD pass play with five minutes remaining in the second quarter gave Lutheran West an 18-12 halftime margin. The third quarter saw Lutheran West make good a 20-yard end sweep and push in two points on the point-after to up it to 26-12 heading into the final 12 minutes.

After St. Agatha missed on a fourth down and one situation on its own 25, Lutheran West marched in on the following play and added two on the PAT to finish it off at 34-12.

Heitman has to be hoping for better things come this Saturday's clash against Immaculate Conception at the Aggies' home field, Hilbert Junior High in Redford Township, game time set for 7:30 p.m.

Farmington tops RU, Franklin

Farmington captured a third, fourth, sixth, 10th and 12th place to defeat Redford Union and Livonia Franklin in a cross country triangular meet.

Farmington's finish showed 38 points with RU second on 40 and Franklin a distant third with 52.

Franklin's John Fritz copped individual honors with a 16:49 first and was followed by RU's Doug Milne in 16:56. Farmington took third and fourth with Al VanMeter running the three miles in 17:06 and Craig Bloomer in 17:10.

RU's Mark Hasty ran fifth in 17:15 and Farmington's Steve Glatfelter sixth in 17:16. John Shannan and Andy Kritzman followed in seventh and eighth places for RU. Shannan clocking in 17:22 and Kritzman in 17:32.

Franklin's Chuck Ronan finished ninth in 17:40 and Farmington wrapped things up with Lou Otto taking 10th in 17:44 and Paul Eagan a 12th in 18:00.

Area netters sparkle in Stoepel open doubles

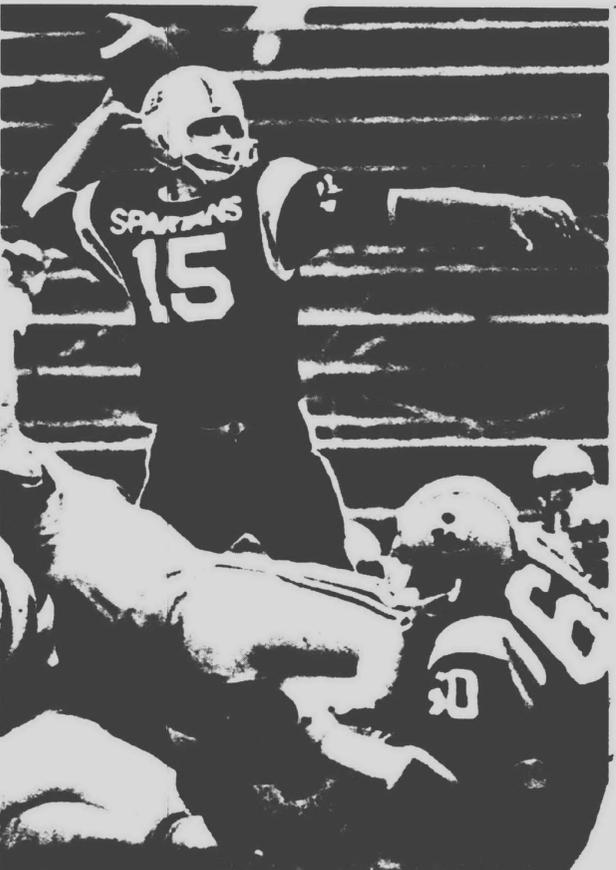

Area netmen copped top honors in the Stoepel open tennis doubles with a Redford Township brother team taking No. 1 billing.

Thurston grads Bob and Randy Barr defeated Redford's Tom Harriet and Livonia's Hugh Leavell to win the men's doubles.

The women's championship was captured by Rosemary Prueter of Plymouth and Flint's Mary Weabock. The twosome defeated Redford's Diane Selke and Kathy Milczarski of Detroit.

Bobby Barr came back to play a hand in the mixed doubles as he teamed with Barbara Trapnell to defeat Rosemary Prueter and John Sisson.

Blocked PAT gives Plymouth Salem 21-20 win

HIGH STEPPING IT PAST the Andover defense is Plymouth Salem's Tim Dillon (24) in the Rock's 21-20 opening victory. (Staff photo by Bob Woodring)

Despite a 14-point halftime lead, it took a blocked conversion attempt in the final period to give Plymouth Salem a 21-20 football victory over Bloomfield Hills Andover in the season's opener — but the triumph may have cost the Rocks the services of their top running back for the season.

Doug Ward, 167-pound senior, who paced Plymouth's ground attack with 95 yards from scrimmage on 12 carries, suffered a broken right arm as he plunged inside Andover's 10-yard stripe in the final minute of play. Also the team's top punter and a standout on defense, Ward's gridiron days may be at an end.

IT WAS THE FOURTH year in a row that Plymouth had topped Andover, but the Barons came back from a sluggish first half to knot things at 14-all in the third quarter and had a chance to tie it up again after seeing the Rocks move out in front, 21-14.

Quarterback Jim Breaugh's third touchdown pass of the night, a seven yarder to Jerry Meter, brought the visiting Barons to 21-20 at 7:37 of the final period — and that's when Plymouth's onrushing line proved the difference as Terry Henderson's try for the extra point was batted down after he had successfully kicked two others.

Not only was sustained ball control the key factor in all three Plymouth touchdowns, it again proved the ace in the hole for the Rocks as they kept possession from then on and were at Andover's eight yard line at the final gun.

As dominant as the Rocks were on the ground—with fullback Scott Agnew getting all three touchdowns on short plunges in climaxing a team effort that netted 243 yards overland to Andover's 126—the Barons were equally potent through the air.

PLYMOUTH MARCHED 83 yards in 11 plays the first time it got the ball. The drive was highlighted by a 27-yard sprint by Tim Dillon and a 12 yarder by Ward, Agnew going over from the three. The first of Doug Tripp's three conversions made it 7-0.

The Rocks pushed it to 14-0 in the second period on a three-play drive that covered 64 yards. Dillon started it with a 15 yarder and then Ward rambled 43 yards to Andover's six-yard line. Agnew went in standing up on the next play.

The Barons failed to penetrate inside Plymouth's 20 in the first half, the one threat which did reach the 21 being cut off when Mike Telekesy picked off a Breaugh pass for the night's only interception.

It was a perfectly placed punt by Andover's Meter which went out of bounds on Plymouth's five that got the Barons back in the ball game after intermission.

The Rocks were forced to kick out of trouble and with first down at the Plymouth 33 Breaugh found Rick Flessland loose in the end zone for his first aerial tally at 6:26 of the third period. No sooner had Henderson's conversion made it 14-7 than the Barons came right back to score the same way the next time they got possession.

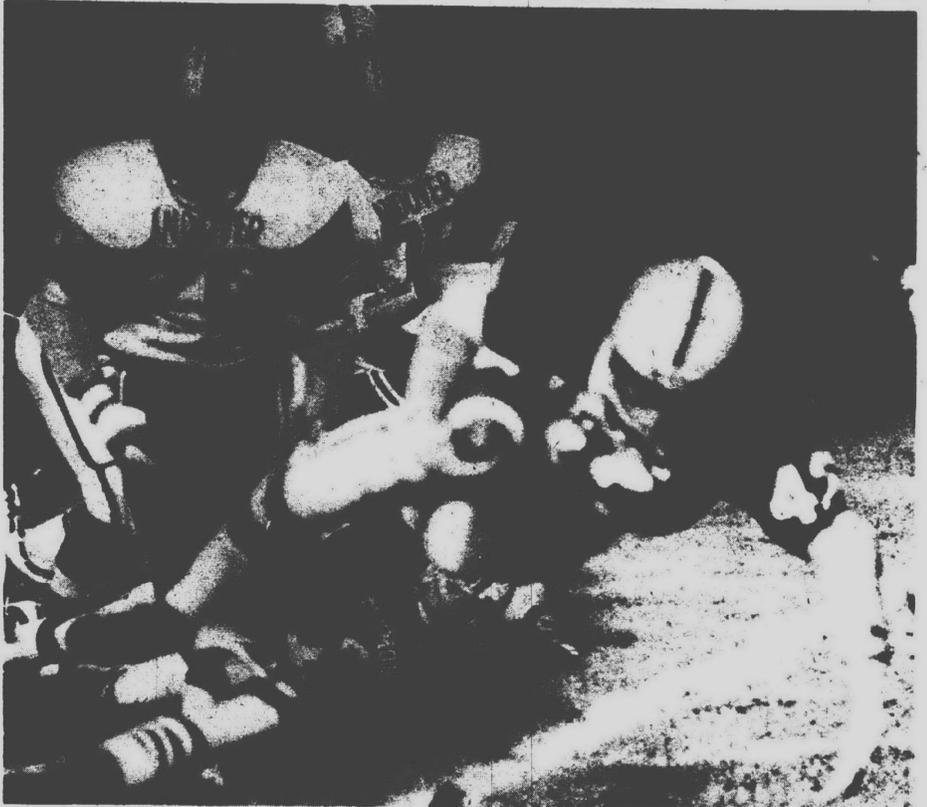

THIS TIME it was a 50-yard pitch on third down from Breaugh to Flessland that paid off and in less than three minutes it had gone from 14-0 to 14-all.

The following series was marked by several penalties against both clubs but saw Plymouth score after starting on its own 35. Agnew got the tally on the fourth down from a yard out after an interference penalty had given the Rocks a first down at the four.

With this 21-14 edge Plymouth still needed that final block of the extra point after the third Baron touchdown to notch its victory.

With Breaugh hitting on six of 10 passes, Andover had a margin of 124 yards to 26 in the air and Bob Holway set the pace for the Barons on the ground with 68 yards on 14 carries.

SCORING PLYMOUTH SALEM'S first touchdown of the 1974 campaign is "this blur of a Rock", Scott Agnew, who tallied for all three

Turf Tips, Quips

By Doc Minard

In just two weeks Racing Commissioner Leo Shirley will have to announce the dates for thoroughbred racing for 1975 and then two weeks later he'll have to make known his allotment of nights for harness racing in the Detroit area and at Jackson.

The Legislature took care of that last spring when it changed the racing act and made it mandatory for the commissioner to announce the running dates by Oct. 1 and the harness racing allotment by Oct. 15. In previous years the tracks had to wait until Dec. 1 and Dec. 15.

It isn't going to be an easy task for Commissioner Leo Shirley who once again faces the problem of deciding whether to give the summer harness racing dates back-to-back to Hazel Park and Wolverine Raceway or figure out some way to give the two big tracks most of the lucrative summer programs and Northville Downs the rest.

IT'S GOING TO be interesting to see what the commissioner comes up with this time. The thoroughbred dates are almost set automatically and should find the Detroit Race Course opening the season in late February and continuing for 120 days. Hazel Park will pick up in mid-July and operate for 120 days into the early part of December.

That much is almost assured since the managements agreed on dates some time ago and it's just a question of whether the commissioner will accept them as requested or make a chance of a day or two.

The harness dates are something else.

In the first place, Jackson-at-Northville has opened the new year by operating during the month of January at Northville Downs. Then the 'Downs took over and had a relatively short winter meeting.

This year, Executive Director John Carlo has asked for 34 nights from Jan. 1 through Feb. 8 and since it is his track then one would surmise he would get the opening dates.

IN THE PAST, Leon Slavin, president and general manager of Jackson Raceway, consented to operate during the month of January for the simple reason that nobody else wanted the dates.

The situation is a bit different this year. Slavin is critically ill in St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor recovering from an open heart operation. It will be months before he is able to take charge, as he has for the past 26 years, and there is some question as to whether he will ever be able to get back to his old pace.

From Jackson comes reports that Slavin already has made arrangements to turn the operation of the track over to his daughter assisted by resident manager Robert Mathias. This duo would have charge of operations at Northville Downs when Jackson has dates there and also at the Jackson Fairgrounds.

Northville Downs also requested 54 nights starting May 12 and ending July 12 and Carlo says he has petitions bearing the names of more than 500 ready to protest to the commissioner if Northville doesn't get the summer dates.

WOLVERINE and Hazel Park reportedly requested 82 night meetings starting in late spring and carrying through late October with a four-day break to change the tracks from the thoroughbred to standardbred at the DRC and from the standardbred to the thoroughbred at Hazel Park.

In addition to the dates above, Jackson requested a 51-night meeting beginning Aug. 21 and ending Oct. 18 at Jackson and 61 nights starting Oct. 20 and carrying through the end of the year at Northville Downs.

Our information is that these are the dates requested by the individual tracks. Now we'll wait and see how the commissioner can put them together. It's a sure thing that everyone isn't going to be happy and he faces a real battle from Northville Downs if he goes ahead, as expected, and decrees back-to-back meetings at Wolverine and Hazel Park.

One thing is certain, he won't have much time to talk to the track managements as in the past. He has just two weeks to determine the thoroughbred dates which should be easy and a month to decide what to do with the pacers and trotters... and that's going to be troublesome.

NOW HARNESS RACING fans can turn their attention to the Little Brown Jug classic for three-year-old pacers this week in Delaware, O.

With the exception of Boyden Hanover, the winter book favorite who has had his ups and downs this year, those who attended the Grand Circuit races two weeks back at Wolverine Raceway saw most of the top contenders.

Ocelots bounce U-M Dearborn

Schoolcraft College handed University of Michigan-Dearborn a 3-1 defeat in soccer.

The Ocelots got off to a 1-0 lead early on a goal by Tom Teeters and upped it to 2-0 in the second half on a score by Jorhe Palma. U-M Dearborn came back with a score by Greg Pochmara with Palma's second tally giving the Ocelots a padded margin.

You're A Winner When AL Hits 3000

That is, if you've guessed correctly the date Al Kaline will bat #3000 hit. Simply pick the date you think Al will do it, and send it in, on this coupon, to the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. If you're right, you'll win a "Night to Remember," including an opportunity to meet Al Kaline in person before a game; you'll have your picture taken with him and receive an autographed baseball from Al; and, finally, you'll be the recipient of four box-seat tickets to a Tiger baseball game. If you want to win, check out the contest rules which follow, fill out your coupon completely, and mail your guesses to the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

RULES

- All entries must be on original or hand drawn replica. Only one entry per person accepted.
- Coupons will be accepted until hit #2990 has been made.
- The winner will be the person (any age) who selects the calendar date on which Al gets #3000 hit. As a number of ties are anticipated, the following information must be included on your entry coupon to break any ties: The inning of the game in which hit #3000 occurs, and an estimate of the official paid attendance of the game in which the hit occurs. The inning date will be the first tie breaker, and the final separator will be the closest guess as to the official paid attendance of the game in which the hit occurs. The tie breaker information will not be used in picking a winner unless necessary, i.e., if two or more coupons are entered with the same date for Al's hit. The same rules apply whether hit #3000 occurs on the road or at home.
- Entries become the exclusive property of the Suburban Communications Corporation and none will be returned. Winner will be notified and date of the "Night to Remember" will be set according to Al Kaline's availability.
- The winner will receive four box-seat tickets to a Tiger baseball game, a meeting and photographic session with Al Kaline before the game, and an autographed baseball from Al.

"He's a cinch." That's the opinion of Pete Rose, hard hitting Cincinnati outfielder, as he fills out an entry blank for the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers' Al Kaline 3,000 hit contest. A photographer from the Western Hills affiliate of the Observer & Eccentric snapped the picture in the Reds' dressing room.

'Livonia Hockey Day' at Olympia set Oct. 6

The Detroit Junior Wings and the Livonia Hockey Association are joining efforts to bring 'Livonia Hockey Day' to Olympia on Sunday, Oct. 6.

Festivities will begin at 9 a.m. when 10 teams from the Livonia Association begin play. Then at 1:30 p.m., the Detroit Junior Wings will host Guelph Biltmores in Southern Ontario Hockey loop action.

"Livonia Hockey Day" at Olympia is a fund raising benefit to help the Livonia Association provide ice time and the best equipment for the boys' program.

The Livonia youth hockey games and the Junior Wings game are available on the same ticket with 50 per cent of all proceeds going to the Livonia Association. Tickets can be purchased from any Livonia hockey player or staff member or at the Ford Ice Rink in Livonia.

Westland Studio Lounge wins softball tourney

The girls of the Westland Studio Lounge team captured top honors in the slo-pitch softball tourney put on by the Westland Athletic Officials Association.

Studio Lounge won it all by defeating Melton Motors in the finale, 7-4.

The Westland crew opened with a 14-2 victory over Godfather Lounge out of Detroit and then bounced Plymouth Daleys, 5-1, and blanked Dapco of Dexter, 8-0.

In the semifinals, Studio Lounge sent the State Class B softball champions Melton Motors of Southgate into the losers bracket, 12-3. Melton came back to top Plymouth Daleys, 7-3, and get another shot at Studio Lounge.

But the Westland team made it five straight.

Westland's catcher Theresa Gibson was selected the tourney's most valuable player.

In The Pocket

By W.W. EDGAR

If the scoring during the first two weeks of the season is a basis on which to judge, the record books for the metropolitan Detroit area will have to be re-written.

Already there has been an 800 series posted. It was the work of Tom Watkins in the Wonderland Classic when he put together games of 268, 264 and 268 a week ago.

Now comes the Viking Industries team, captained by George Stephan, that came through with a 3305 series in the annual classic this week. This is the highest series rolled in the area and ranks well with the best in the league over the past several seasons.

Individually, Denny Feloni took top honors when he had games of 278, 238 and 229 for a 745. This was one of the four 700 series in the high scoring wave. Next in line came the veteran Dick Preston with 720. He was followed by Phil Horowitz with 714 and Ken Maramor added a 710.

JIM MORRALL will long remember this week in his bowling career and he has a very good reason.

Bowling in the Bel-Aire Classic he came within one pin of rolling a perfect game and having his name on the honor roll.

After posting 11 strikes in a row the tension got him and by his own admission he was almost too nervous to bowl. As a result he left up the No. 1 pin, of all things, and had to settle for a 299.

This big game came after he had rolled 194 and 224 and gave him a 717, the night's highest series. This was forgotten in the nervous spell he suffered while missing the head pin on the final ball.

Other high scores in the classic included a 673 by Jack Brown, and a 657 by Bill Schormhorst.

In the Senior House League, Bill Engstrom topped the field with a 290 count.

THE FIRST of the big tournaments for the new season will open in two weeks at Fred Wolf's Eastland Bowl. This is of major interest in Observerland because it is the Marriage-Go-Bowl in which husbands and wives bowl as a team. The event opens Oct. 5 and runs for six weeks.

LAVOLA BROWN is getting away to a flying start in her bid to regain the women's high average crown. Last Monday she paced the Bowlerettes, and then, on Wednesday, came through with a 631 in the Ladies Major League at Pine Tree Bowl to boost her average to double century figures and give her a big lead on the field.

BOWLING IN THE Vinco League at Garden Lanes this week Don Ladd set the pace with a 640 and Harry Toparin followed with a 612. It was a great start of both.

BOB HART finally got into the swing of things as the newest member of the Stroh team when he contributed a 669 to lead the Brewers in their drive to first place Thursday night in the Michigan Open.

Each member of the team bettered 600 and wound up with a 3144 series.

In the other major classic -- the Bonanza Open -- Tom Vallone linked games of 248, 215 and 269 for a 732 as the Orchard Lanes team took over the pace-making role.

Shirey's Trailers, captained by Marge Kropacek, got away to good start as Plymouth's first team in the Bowlerettes, one of the country's strongest women's Leagues, Monday night.

With games of 824, 888 and 886, the team rolled a 2598 series to sweep three games from Ode's TV that rolled a mere 2440.

Meanwhile, Lavola Brown, of the contending Motown team, set the individual pace with a 598 and Helen Kuster took high single with a 237.

The men's senior house league at Woodland Lanes produced some of the area's best scoring in its inaugural

GET DOUBLE EXPOSURE WITH DOUBLE ACTION FAMILY WANT ADS AND SAVE $2.00!!

A double exposure can ruin a photograph . . . but double exposure in The Observer & Eccentric Classified section can develop into a double quick response and a savings of $2.00.

Double Action Want Ads are family want ads placed in two consecutive issues — Monday and Thursday or Thursday and Monday — with no changes in copy and no cancellations. When you place a Double Action Family Want Ad you save $2.00 off the regular cost of placing an ad in two issues.

The Observer & Eccentric Classified Want Ad section focuses on more than 155,500 families in Oakland and Wayne Counties. This includes households in Birmingham, Bloomfield, West Bloomfield, Canton Twp., Farmington, Farmington Hills, Garden City, Livonia, Plymouth, Redford Twp., Rochester, Avon Twp., Southfield, Troy, and Westland.

Put yourself in the happy picture of satisfied classified advertisers with a Double Action Family Want Ad.
