TEACHER, MRS. BARBARA Rafferty reads to a child at the Salvation Army nursery school.

New cooperative nursery opened by Salvation Army

By ANITA CRONE

PLYMOUTH—Salvation Army officers perform a variety of duties in their position. But Plymouth corps commanding officer, Lieutenant Dallas Raby, perhaps has one of the most unusual duties of any army officer.

Raby, along with his wife and Mrs. Frederick Rafferty and Mrs. Leslie Frederick comprise the board of directors of a cooperative nursery school.

Raby inherited the post when he took over as commanding officer in Plymouth nearly four months ago.

THE NURSERY school, day-care center itself originated through the department of social services and originally met in Our Lady of Good Hope church.

But since its inception, the school has grown and the Salvation Army donated the facilities where the school now meets.

Although the nursery school makes use of the indoor facilities at the Salvation Army, 290 Fairground Street, the current plans call for the children to play outside regularly.

In addition, regular excursions to a nearby park are a feature of the cooperative-nursery, as well as a number of field trips.

The first field trip of the year is scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 22, with the children going to Upland Farms.

The only requirements for attending the nursery school are that the children be toilet trained, and that there be enough volunteers so that there is always a one-to-five adult child ratio.

ALL THE materials used are donated either by parents of students attending, neighbors, or the Plymouth Salvation Army corps.

Although the school last year had a permanent director, this year the directors will experiment with a floating directorship.

"The main problem will be in maintaining the continuity throughout the year," Mrs. Rafferty says.

Current plans also call for each volunteer director to plan activities for a month.

The volunteer director will be assisted by mothers who are asked to help once a month by staying for the Tuesday or Thursday morning sessions.

In addition, not more than once a month mothers will be asked to supply nutritious snacks.

THE SCHOOL is in short supply of some basic equipment, and because there is no charge other than time, the directors are relying on outside help to provide some items.

"Right now, we have little in the line of girls toys," Mrs. Frederick says.

"If anyone has a stove, dolls, a doll buggy or a doll bed in good repair, the nursery school would appreciate the donation."

Dunkin' Donut shop robbed in daring daylight holdup

PLYMOUTH —The Wayne County sheriff's department has launched an areawide search for the robber who committed a daring daylight holdup here.

Late Thursday afternoon he entered the Dunkin' Donut Shop, 1043 Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth Township.

and, with a gun plainly showing from his belt, ordered the juvenile waitress to open the cash drawer and give him the contents.

In fright she did just that and the cash amounted to approximately $125 — all that was in the register.

The sheriff's men have described the robber as a white male about 35 years old, who went about the theft in a casual manner.

According to the waitress, whose name is being withheld because she is a juvenile, the man entered the shop and visited the rest room.

As this often happens, she paid no attention to the visitor until he walked over to the counter, flashed a note, while displaying the gun, and asked for the money — all of it.

Once the money was given to him, the robber ordered the waitress into the back room. When she was safely out of the way, he departed as casually as he had entered.

The sheriff began an immediate search on a county wide basis. Early Friday afternoon there were no suspects.

City ready to start new service at curb

PLYMOUTH — Here's some good news for the home owners in the city of Plymouth.

Effective Nov. 4 the public works department will provide a new service in conjunction with the monthly clean up week. In the future the residents will not have to bundle their brush if it is larger than one and one half inches in diameter. However, if the limbs run larger than five inches they can not be put out for pick-up.

This added service has been brought about by the purchase of a wood chipper that actually "eats" the limbs.

All brush for the pick up must be placed at the curb on the same day as your regular pickup of major refuse during the first full week of each month. All butt ends are to be placed in the same direction.

All limbs less than one and one half inches in diameter and all shrubs must be tied and bundled no longer than three feet, according to Ken Vogras, chief of the DPW.

Symphony League plans to greet new members

PLYMOUTH—The Plymouth Symphony League will hold its fall coffee for past, present, new and prospective members Wednesday, Oct. 23 from 10 a.m. to noon in the parlor of First United Methodist Church, 45201 North Territorial.

Officers and members of the league will be on hand to greet new members and explain the league's purpose and activities. Coffee and cookies will be served.

Persons unable to attend who would like further information on the league may contact Mrs. Charles Lang, 47555 Powell Road or Mrs. Al Heindryckx, 46000 Ann Arbor Trail.

County advises city to boost assessments

PLYMOUTH—City officials were given a shock last week and the reverberations of it may not reach the taxpayers until next February when the rates and formulas for 1975 are announced.

The shock came with word from Clarence Hicks, of the Wayne County Bureau of Taxation, that the assessment of residential property was too low and that it should be raised by approximately $4 million.

With the word also came notice that the city had one of two ways in which the assessment could be boosted to keep the SEV factor of 1.0 that has been the rating for the past two years.

"I knew we had been touch and go since the reappraisal of two years ago," said Kenneth Way, the city assessor, when the word reached him. Now that it is happening, the city can either reassess the residential property to bring it up to the 50 per cent of real cash value the law calls for, or leave it up to the county and have the Bureau of Taxation establish an SEV that will raise the assessment to the level that is being demanded.

When confronted with this choice, it was hinted that the matter would be left up to the county and that the city would sit back to see what happens.

Discussing the entire affair, Way pointed to the fact that the present assessment of real property in the city totals $66,429,180. And to raise the $4 million asked by the county would mean a raise of about seven per cent and an SEV factor of 1.07.

On the other hand, he pointed out that if there is a raise in industrial and commercial assessment, this may make up the so called deficit and the SEV factor would remain at 1.0 and there would be no raise in taxes.

In making his analysis of the problem, Hicks stated that the SEV factor may go as high as 1.10 for the next year and based this on the fact that Plymouth has been deficient in residential assessments for the past several years.

He offered the following figures to compare with the 50 per cent true cash value asked by the state:

"In 1972 the average was 47.18," he said, "and in 1973 it dropped to 43.13 and last year it was 42.41 or an average of 44.24 for the last three years."

"To bring this up to the state level," he continued, "it would mean that the city must add about 10 per cent to the present assessed valuation and that would result in the 1.10 SEV factor."

He explained that the boost being asked could be made in either of two ways by the city. The assessor (Ken Way) could perform what is called neighborhood assessing, and judge each district on its own. Or the city could impose a blanket raise in valuation to all residential property.

The blanket proposal is being frowned upon around City Hall although no definite action has been taken. The thought of making a blanket raise for all property is being discounted too, on the theory that it is residential property that is down and that business and industry should not be burdened to make up the difference.

The decision must be made by December.

While the City of Plymouth was pondering the next move, Plymouth Township Supervisor J. D. McLaren, let it be known that the county assessors were working in the township, but, as yet, he had no idea of what they may decide.

"With prices on the present market rising," he said, "it wouldn't be too surprising if we were asked to boost some of the assessments."

Classified ad calls are made easier

Classified want ads in the Observer & Eccentric have been so popular that we've had a problem — jammed switchboards. But now we've solved it with "A-C-D."

The letters stand for automatic call distributor — new high-speed equipment to serve classified customers better when they call 522-0900.

ACD automatically routes customer calls to one of 19 advisors who handle calls for the 11 Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. If all 19 ad takers are busy, the ACD will hold customer calls and release them in the order received to the first available advisor. It can handle up to 28 calls simultaneously, according to Classified Manager Art Langer.

It should prevent a lot of "busy" signals.

Fund group due to hear reports

PLYMOUTH—The first indication of the success of this year's Community Fund drive will come Monday when the committee will be given its first report.

Donald S. Fleming, the general chairman, has called the session at noon at Hillside Inn and the various division chairmen will make their reports on progress.

Having fun

ONE OF THE POPULAR PLACES in the community now is the Cultural Center where the young skaters gather to enjoy the fun and get set for the winter's fun in the various skating classes. This

Schoolcraft College board OKs venture with WSU

The Schoolcraft Board of Trustees voted unanimously Wednesday to approve in principle the preliminary proposal for educational use of the Wayne County Child Development Center (WCCDC) facilities through a consortium composed of Schoolcraft and Wayne State University.

The joint proposal is only one of eight before the Wayne County Board of Commissioners. Proposals have been submitted by Canton-Northville-Plymouth Family YMCA; Jefferson-Chalmers Citizens District Council and Project Redirection of Detroit; Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service; Wayne County Department of Public Health; Wayne County Sheriff's Department; City of Northville; and Northville Public Schools.

"I THINK we should proceed with the idea full speed," said Trustee Arch Vallier. "This would give us a chance to expand our vocational program fast—and we need it."

Vallier added if Schoolcraft doesn't join WSU some other educational institution would "jump at the chance."

"This is an excellent opportunity to expand our facilities, without the expensive bonds needed for capital outlay of new buildings."

Schoolcraft President Dr. Nelson Grote said the plan would also enable other groups to use the facilities.

Grote said the center could also supply the laboratory space necessary for an area vocational skills center that would be operated in cooperation with the local public school district.

THE WCCDC is located on Sheldon Road just south of Five Mile. Facilities include a junior-senior high school, a day school, and 19 two-story buildings, most of which could be readily adapted for classrooms.

There are several special buildings that could be used for career education programs, as noted in the preliminary plan. These include the high school, lower levels of the storehouse, plumbing, electrical, dining and kitchen, laundry, and farm buildings. Also the fire hall, auto shop and hospital.

The proposal notes that Schoolcraft and WSU cannot adequately meet their educational obligations in north-west Wayne County unless additional instructional facilities are made available.

THE PROPOSAL listed the advantages of the Schoolcraft-WSU consortium. They include:

Permit students who take courses in baccalaureate and advanced academic programs within their local area, near employment and residence;

Enable student who take courses through the consortium to obtain laboratory and clinical experience available to WSU students;

Provide a financial boost to student-two years at Schoolcraft plus two years at WSU without excessive travel;

Improve articulation through more cohesive counseling and interdepartmental planning facilitating smoother, and more continuous student progression;

Accelerate "2 plus 2" degree program development in critical areas such as law enforcement, nursing, automotive technology and medical technology;

Development of a comprehensive lifelong learning center utilizing resources from both institutions and providing increased opportunities for residents to select courses suitable for their personal growth and development and job upgrading;

Enable cooperative external degree program development through coordinated and centralized criteria and procedures;

Stimulate experimentation with new learning methodologies and instruction related service programs; and,

Permit the cross utilization of available faculty resources.

GROTE SAID if the plan is accepted by the county board of commissioners, a board of directors with equal representation from both institutions would be responsible for the center's management.

The WCCDC is expected to be vacated by the end of October.

Also increases in hospital-surgical coverage, and life insurance are included.

In the second year, faculty at the maximum salary step will receive a 6.8 per cent salary increase while others will receive a 3.5 per cent raise, plus their increments. A dental insurance plan will become effective July 1, 1976.

Ford almost started empire in Plymouth

(Part One of Henry Ford and Plymouth)

Plymouth might have been the original home of the legendary Henry Ford's vast automotive empire. As in the case of Maud Muller and her Judge, however, the attraction between the young engineer and the people of Plymouth, to whom he applied for financing at the turn of the century, did not result in marriage.

Ford's first visit to Plymouth was in the 1890s. He came at the request of Lafayette Dean, who operated a sawmill here. Karl Starkweather told me he heard from Otto Beyer that "Dean, not being much of a mechanic himself, hired a well-known young mechanic over Dearborn way to come here and set up the machinery for him."

This he did—the machinery was set up and then the fellow stayed on for three days, while Dean was being broken in and instructed on the mill's care and operation. The name of the Dearborn mechanic was Henry Ford.

Plymouth next caught Ford's attention in 1903, when he was in need of money to start production of the latest in a series of early "horseless carriages" he built. The companies he formed in 1899 and 1901 had gone under. He was just forming the one which was to be the ultimate in industrial success—the Ford Motor Company.

IN 1903, Ford offered Charlie Bennett, president of the Daisy Manufacturing Company, of Plymouth, one half of his new company in return for a $50,000 investment. The other half of the $100,000 stock issue was to be owned by coal dealer Alexander Malcolmson, Ford's original partner, who had invested $12,000, and Ford himself, who contributed his patents and services.

Mr. Ford's introduction to Bennett came about by coincidence. The diminutive, peppery head of Daisy Manufacturing, which had been called the Plymouth Iron Windmill Company until 1895, was on his way to Detroit to buy an Olds. He looked forward to being the first man in Plymouth to own an automobile. A stop at his tailor on the way changed all that.

Mr. Bennett told his tailor he was about to buy an automobile. A cousin of Malcolmson, in an adjacent fitting room, heard the conversation and suggested that Bennett see Ford's new car before he made a decision. It was equipped with a horizontal engine, the man said, which gave it a much softer ride than other cars on the market. Bennett indicated interest. Malcolmson's cousin phoned Henry Ford, who soon drove up with his automobile. It had hard rubber tires and a tiller steering device. Ford let Bennett drive the car. Charlie liked it and wanted to buy one, but this was only a prototype. Ford and Malcolmson were not yet in production; they lacked the money to bring the car to the manufacturing stage.

THE NEXT DAY, Ford drove to Plymouth and made his $50,000 proposal to Bennett. Bennett said he didn't have enough money, but Daisy did. He spoke to Ed Hough, his associate at Daisy, who recommended that two engineers be sent to inspect Ford's car. They did and reported that it was the best they had seen.

Daisy's lawyers advised caution. They told Bennett and Hough the officers could not commit the company (which was incorporated to make windmills and air rifles) without shareholder consent. Bennett did get a few of the minority shareholders to agree, but not enough. Negotiations with Ford came to an end—and so did Plymouth's opportunity to become the birthplace of the Ford Motor Company.

Ford went on to capitalize the company at $100,000, of which only $28,000 in stock was ever subscribed, and to enter the history books as the outstanding representative of the revolutionary change which came about as a result of mass production. Bennett put $5,000 of his own money into the Ford Motor Company and received its first stock certificate.

Charlie Bennett, who liked to play red dog and to watch the Detroit Tigers, who twice went around the world selling air rifles, and who was president of Daisy for almost four decades, died in Plymouth on Sept. 17, 1956, at age 94. He still attended meetings of the Plymouth Rotary Club when I joined the club in 1953. Until a few weeks of his death, he put in daily appearance at the Daisy offices on Union Street.

Charlie Bennett also maintained that he had no regrets about the premature sale of his Ford stock.

Part two will discuss Henry Ford's village industries, including those he established in and near Plymouth.

Metric system gains as school begins

Metrics will be going to school in the U.S. this fall to a greater extent than ever before in the nation's 190-year history, reports the National Education Association (NEA).

Among the signs of more metrics ahead is the first significant policy commitment by the federal government, contained in the education bill signed by President Ford Aug. 21. The bill authorizes $40 million over the next four years to back up the policy with action.

METRIC PROPONENTS, including NEA, are enthused that the federal government, in the bill, has given its first formal commitment to a switch to metrics.

Noting the use of the metric system in the U.S. is "inevitable" and will "become the dominant system of weights and measures," the bill states:

"It is the policy of the U.S. to encourage educational agencies and institutions to prepare students to use the metric system of measurement with ease and facility as a part of the regular education program."

The secretary of commerce is authorized to expand $10 million a year for the next four fiscal years in implementing this policy.

DESPITE THIS first step at the federal level, the metric trend isn't of such proportions yet that feet, miles, gallons and pounds will be shelved this year.

The major conversion is expected to take several years, and some limited use of the present English system will be made indefinitely.

The coming year may not even bring the official exit of the U.S. from the ranks of Yemen; Barbados, Jamaica and a few other small nations that still remain outside the International Metric System fold.

But there is a pronounced and accelerating movement which this time, the NEA reports, promises not to be turned back. After more than a century of little progress, the nation at last is doing more than inching ahead by centimeters towards metric conversion.

Many schools already are embarking on or expanding metric instruction on a broad scale. In several states, teachers have been attending metric workshops — hoping to keep a few meters ahead of their students.

In San Mateo, Calif., this summer representatives of 30 states participated in a consortium to explore possible paths ahead in metric education, especially in respect to revised textbooks. They plan to meet again soon.

A year ago in Los Angeles, some 1,200 attended a "Going Metric" meeting sponsored by the California Teachers Association.

GOVERNMENTAL activity at the state level has become brisk.

A recent survey by the Metric Information Office (MIO) of the National Bureau of Standards indicates that 19 states have undertaken some kind of action in metric education through their state department of education or legislature.

Some 43 states reported other formal, state-level activity, such as workshops, formation of metric committees, and development of metric visual and printed materials. Only Arkansas reported no formal statewide activity.

THE GIANT strides of business and industry in switching to metric in recent years has helped spur educational activity across the nation, a spokesman for MIO points out.

At the federal level, Congress has dabbled in metrics from time-to-time over a long period. In 1866, for instance, it made use of metric weights and measures legal but not mandatory. More than 100 ill-fated bills on metric conversion have been proposed during the ensuing 108 years.

Meanwhile, bills now before Congress that would move the nation officially to metrics are temporarily halted because of opposition from labor such as the carpenters, plumbing and pipe fitting, machinists and aerospace unions.

But metric-watchers are confident a federal law will emerge, launching the nation on a long (up to 10-year) road to full-fledged conversion.

TO ASSIST teachers in the change-over, the instructional and professional development program of the NEA is publishing specific suggestions for teachers in respect to metric education.

Advantages of the system are noted, a basic one being that metric measurements are easier to learn

may follow in making the conversion, the first point emphasizing that metric instruction should start early when the child is first introduced to the concept of measuring an object.

LINEAR MEASURE should be taught first because it is the easiest to understand and apply, the paper suggests. Metric units only should be used, without the old units "tagging along."

PRESIDENT GERALD FORD addresses Michigan Republicans in Cobo Hall Thursday night in a fund raising dinner for Gov. Milliken. Referendum to be piloted Common Cause (CC) in the state's 2nd Congressional district will conduct pilot referendum drive for signatures to put CC election reforms on the 1975 or 1976 ballot.

The 2nd district, which includes Livonia, Plymouth, Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Northville and Monroe, was selected because the state's largest concentration of members live in that area.

While the final wording of the reform legislation has not been approved it is expected to include restrictions on campaign funding, the size of gifts, reporting and conflicts of interest; lobbying disclosure and the formation of a strong, independent reform enforcement agency.

While most Michigan referendums seek to amend the state constitution, the CC effort will be aimed at the passage of new laws.

The organization of the petition drive will be divided into six fields, according to Grace Rueter, chairman of the district campaign. The areas include petition coordinating, legislative endorsement, membership, speakers' bureau, fund raising and media and publicity. In addition, a series of statewide public information meetings are now being planned.

After the 2nd district is organized, its petition techniques will be demonstrated to others in the state.

Resolution lends hope for leadership on loop

When the smoke cleared after last week's Plymouth City Commission meeting things were pretty much the same as before—commissioners were still divided on the need for the loop road and some important questions remained unanswered.

But Commissioner Norbert Batterman told his colleagues to fish or cut bait and they fished. His achievement is no small one considering that never, in 16 years of debate, had the commission given any indication of how it felt about the infamous loop.

Thanks to Batterman's efforts in pressing a resolution for approval, the commission has come closer than ever to giving the community a degree of leadership in the future of downtown and, by extension, of the city itself.

SOME MERCHANTS who are far more familiar with the loop battle than I contend that the project has become a symbol—a signal to both the merchants themselves and to potential developers that the city is or is not willing to take a hand in efforts to keep downtown "viable."

Unfortunately, perhaps, that is the case. That fact shouldn't force the loop road upon us, but it gives a clue that the commission must act decisively and without delay.

While the city planner and some members of the planning commission are opposed to trying the loop concept with anything less than the full, round-curve system, Commissioner Harold Guenther has repeatedly made a suggestion worthy of note.

He would try the loop as a one-way route, a project that could be started quickly and experimentally by changing a few signs and re-striping the streets. Obviously it would not have the impact of the more elaborate and expensive proposal, but it could be done sooner and at a fraction of the cost. More importantly, the loop road would be here, and merchants and residents alike could decide very quickly if it merited more expense.

MOST COMMISSIONERS agree that before they can make a final decision on the loop more questions must be answered.

They must ask planner Jay Elbridge: What is the actual cost of the project he proposes—$346,000 or $550,000? Both figures have been used.

Precisely how many residents of loop streets will be affected? The charm of Guenther's alternative is that initially no property would have to be acquired.

In addition to answering these questions, the commissioners also seem to agree that they should visit other cities where similar projects have been tried. We agree.

See what has happened, both good and bad, to towns who changed their traffic patterns to influence downtown prosperity.

But while these observations are made, consider also the fate of towns like Plymouth that have not — through traffic patterns or other means—adapted to the challenge of suburban shopping centers competing for the commercial dollar which bears so much of our tax burden.

These studies are necessary before decisions can be made. But the commission should not forget that such explorations are not in themselves acts of leadership, rather preparation for answering tougher questions about the future—questions for which answers are not always available and about which leaders may have to venture well-thought hunches.

The commission is right in seeking a consensus on so significant a decision, but Batterman's resolution was a timely nudge in the right direction.

The Stroller Those political signs

By W. W. EDGAR

Well, the office seekers are at it again.

They've succeeded in cluttering the highways — especially at the intersections — with all manner of signs and mini-billboards, begging for votes. In some cases they are just using their name, which is taken to mean that the voters know who they are and that they are looking for votes again.

In other cases the signs just read "Send an honest man to Lansing," as if to imply that the voters sent a dishonest man up there the last time.

This type of political maneuvering always has been abhorred by The Stroller and there never is a time he comes across these billboards that he doesn't wonder, to himself, if they do any good and if they ever have played an important part in any election. And he has good reason to wonder, too.

Some years ago, when he was serving as a public official in the new, young city of Livonia, he was induced to seek the mayor's chair. For a half dozen years before that he sat on City Council — as a public servant — and the thought of being classed as a politician never entered his mind.

Once the decision was made to seek the mayor's office, things changed. He no longer was a servant offering what knowledge and enthusiasm he had for the betterment of the city.

He had to have a manager, a campaign committee and all sorts of other groups in keeping with the tradition of political campaigns. Things were going along rather smoothly until one evening when one of his energetic aids vouchsafed the idea that a number of large signs had to be prepared and purchased to place in various parts of the community telling the populace that The Stroller was running for office.

It seemed rather silly at the time for, as the candidate, The Stroller felt he was well enough known without the signs carrying his picture.

"NO, NO," CAME THE CRY of the campaign workers. "We've got to have signs and big ones at that."

So, the signs were duly prepared, purchased and distributed. All the while the thought came through that the signs may have looked nice in their unusual colors, but would they cause any one to make a decision on his choice for the mayor's chair when he got behind the curtain in the voting booth.

Assured that this was the wrong way to look at it, and further assured that the signs would help to put him over the top, The Stroller was almost talked into believing it.

Then came election day — and disaster. Long before the polling places opened, many of the beautiful signs that were supposed to do the job had been torn down or defaced.

"Don't worry," he was told early in the morning of the big day, "the folks know you and those signs certainly called their attention to the need for your services."

All through the day, from polling place to polling place, The Stroller was given the same verbal lift. Maybe those signs will do the trick he told his friends during the supper hour. They nodded and smiled, knowing their plan was now being appreciated.

But darkness descended a bit later and when the final vote was counted The Stroller not only had failed to win the nomination, but finished last in a field of four.

All he could say in defeat was that maybe the signs had been printed in the wrong language. They certainly hadn't swayed any voters, or at least not enough. Ever since that day he has been skeptical about these mini-billboards and the part they play in an election. That's why he wonders what good they are every time he passes an intersection that is cluttered. Many times the same candidate has a sign on each of the four corners. He wants to catch you, coming and going

WELL THE STROLLER remembers that for years there never was a political sign used by any candidate in the city of Plymouth. Yet, the choice of officials never was debated. The people had spoken and that was it.

This tradition was broken several years ago when the city was subjected to its first election for the office of district judge. First, one of the candidates was bold enough to have huge signs erected at various "choice" locations. Then the others followed suit.

Why, you would have thought a crime had been committed when the natives saw them. But the election went on and a judge was named. And no sign ever has been erected in his behalf since. This proved a point.

On the other hand, there is the case of Orville Hubbard, the mayor of Dearborn, who has been returned to office year after year for more than a quarter of a century. And in each election campaign he does the unusual. He has a huge sign, carrying his picture, erected in Cadillac Square in downtown Detroit.

"More Dearborn voters see the sign down there," he explained, "than would see it out here. That big sign hasn't failed me yet."

Maybe the sign worked for him. But for years The Stroller has driven the highways reading those famous old Burma Shave signs and he never met a man who turned to Burman Shave because of reading the sign. Neither did he ever meet a man who was lured into chewing Mail Pouch tobacco because he saw the sign on every barn he passed.

If they couldn't be lured with these famous signs, what chance does an officer seeker have in attaining success just because he had a sign in the right place?

Years ago the state outlawed large billboards along the highway. No political race ever would be decided just because the candidates signs were banned, too.

PLYMOUTH—The grounds of Gallimore School on Sheldon Road are prettier by two sunburst locust trees thanks to a gift from the Pilgrim Garden Club of Plymouth.

The group gave the trees to the

Nancy Dickerson talks about Washington's people and politics

By LORRAINE McCLISH

Nancy Dickerson didn't say too much about Nancy Dickerson when the attractive producer for CBS News opened the Northville Town Hall series this week.

She concentrated pretty much on current news. Washington celebrities she's met both on the job and personally, her feelings on a few news issues, and touched on Women's Lib.

"Person-ism is here and tokenism is over," she stated, telling that 45 women, the highest ever known, are running for national offices across the country and the fact that women delegates have doubled in number in the past four years.

But when she switched her subject from what she called "the women thing" to another subject, she said, "...and speaking of male chauvinist pigs reminds me of Kissinger."

She told that the Secretary of State believes the "ultra aphrodisiac is power" and that he is "causing a lot of worries on Capitol Hill about his goings on in the Middle East," that "he is married to his intellectual equal" and that the couple are starting a social life in Washington now that emulates the Kennedys.

PROBABLY THE MOST revealing thing she had to say about anybody was when she talked about former President Nixon and that his mental state of mind had been a subject for rumor and gossip for at least two years. But because the White House staff was ultra sensitive about it and it was such a delicate subject, the press backed off.

One experience she had personally concerned his talking to anti-war demonstrators about football which was not what they were there about.

"I was profoundly concerned over this conversation. It was eerie and that was three years ago," she said.

She summed up her own feelings on the Watergate episode by saying "He (Nixon) has always been regarded by us as the Greta Garbo of the White House but now he's talking. I am told he is still talking about morality and about running again. But I want history to record that he was wrong and that we, the people, brought him down."

As to President Ford's pardon of Nixon she termed it "a cover up of a cover up. This is government of surprise and only adds to the cynicism of the young."

The mood in Congress concerning Ford's anti-inflation package is that it in no sense added up to an answer for an emergency and it is an emergency that the country is facing. "The whole thing is unpopular on the Hill," she said, "because it adds up to another burden on the middle class."

But according to her latest information lines, Ford will sign a bill this week to reform campaign spending practices and that she said was "good news. Congressmen or representatives or senators won't be up for sale now and hopefully it will do away with the syndrome of Watergate."

QUESTIONS TOWN HALL guests put to Mrs. Dickerson at the luncheon in Farmington's Holiday Inn were answered informally, humorously and without hesitation.

On the social life in Washington under Nixon: "It has been said that if Calvin Coolidge were alive he would be known as the playboy of the Potomac."

On social life under Ford: "Too early to tell but we believe he will save the dignity of the White House while getting rid of a lot of pomposity."

On Teddy Kennedy, Jr.: "An amazing child whose father did an unbelievably remarkable job with the child's spirit."

On Julie Eisenhower: she did a marvelous job defending her father on an indefensible position.

On Wilbur Mills: "The Bible Belt born and epitome of righteousness is giving his competition (a divorcee he's facing in the November election) a good running chance at beating him."

On wage and price controls: Don't rule them out. You'll probably hear about these when Ford delivers his State of the Union message on Jan. 20.

On Pat and Tricia's total lack of comment leading up to Nixon's resignation: I think they were as surprised as we were.

On Common Cause: It had a lot to do with the campaign spending reform bill that should be signed this week and it had a lot to do with ending the war in Vietnam.

On Ford and Rockefeller: "It will be a tough ticket to beat."

Spaghetti table decor is selected for fall show

Table decorations consisting of bouquets made of spaghetti and noodles will decorate the tables at the "Fall Festival of Fashion" dinner and style show sponsored by the Livonia Welcome Wagon Newcomers Club Wednesday, Oct. 23 in Roma Hall, 2777 Schoolcraft, Livonia.

Scheduled to start at 6:30 p.m., the show will feature fashions by Kulla's Boutique of Fashions of Northville Mall modeled by members of the club.

The pasta-type centerpieces were made by members of the club in one of the many classes sponsored by the organization as a means of offering social contacts to newcomers to the community.

Pieces of spaghetti were partially cooked and then strung on wires. Placed in containers they resemble ferns, flowers or plants.

The idea was introduced by Mrs. Marilyn Clayton of the decoration committee, who got the idea from a magazine picture. Once the women started on the project they discovered there were shapes of noodles and macaroni they never dreamed existed.

They also found their families eating a great deal of left over pasta products.

Tickets for the show may be purchased from members of the club or from Mrs. Pat Suman, 36870 Gardner, before Oct. 18.

Proceeds from the event will go to a local group chosen later by a vote of the members. In the past, contributions have been made to the Livonia Public Library, St. Mary Hospital's pediatric ward, the Children Leukemia Foundation, the League of the Handicapped and Livonia FISH.

The Welcome Wagon Newcomers club holds regular monthly meetings plus a number of social events for husbands and wives. It also sponsors a variety of interest groups such as bridge, pinocle, tennis, bowling, crafts, needlework and gourmet cooking.

The club meets the second Tuesday of each month at 8 p.m. in St. Andrew Episcopal Church, Six Mile and Hubbard.

Livonia lass swaps desk for Bunny hutch

By TOM DONOGHUE

It was first a dare. And it quickly became a challenge. Now it is a reality, a fancy that most of the "fairer sex" have visioned once or twice in the prime of their blossoming.

Twenty-one-year-old Beth McRae took on a challenge to get away from the monotony of a desk job and is now a Bunny in the new Detroit Playboy Club.

The 1971 graduate of Livonia Bentley High School took the dare from her boyfriend and accepted the challenge.

MISS MCRAE was one of more than 900 girls that applied for a bunny position at the revamped club, and admittedly much to her surprise, one of the 42 that was chosen to wear the infamous costume, tail and all.

"My boyfriend, George, read in the newspapers that the Detroit club was reopening and taking applications," said Bunny Beth. "He sort of joked with me about applying."

"I guess he didn't realize at the time that I took his joke seriously."

"I applied without anyone knowing, and that included my parents. A week after the interviews, I came home and my mother was wondering why I had a letter, addressed to me from Playboy Inc.

"I WAS SO EXCITED when I opened it up and found out that I had been selected, I started jumping up and down and finally had to tell my mother."

"She really didn't go for the idea at first."

"I mean, here I have been a secretary the past three years and now all of a sudden, without warning, her daughter is a Bunny."

"I also called my boyfriend right away and I think he sounded as though he was happy for me, but I wasn't sure. The family got around to liking the idea, and my brother Rob really thinks it's super to have a sister who is a Bunny."

"The interviews took place in early September and work officially began on Sept. 23," added the Livonia lass. "The first week we studied the bar aspect of the club, all the different drinks and the glasses for each."

"Then we were taught the Bunny stance and dip and the way to walk, carry a tray and greet customers."

"IT WAS REALLY strenuous work and I found myself practicing at home in front of a mirror, along with studying the manuals."

The second week saw Beth introduced to the "food section" of the club along with being fitted with the Bunny outfit.

"I really love this type of job," explained Miss McRae. "It isn't routine. I can smile at people, be smiled back at and enjoy my work and not have to labor over a typewriter."

"Before, when my boyfriend used to read Playboy and I would catch myself glancing over his shoulders, I can honestly say that I didn't appreciate the image it was attempting to project."

"It made me feel somewhat inferior but now I can honestly say that the problem was that I really didn't understand Playboy."

"To me, Playboy is class and to be part of it is really super. I like what I am doing and like working with people. Sure this is a glamorous job, and that's what makes it that much more exciting."

Yes, this 5-foot-3 Livonia lass can now be seen adding that extra sparkle to the Detroit Playboy Club — challenge met and conquered.

Township firm inks the nation's newsprint

By HANK MEIJER

REDFORD—Nearly half of the newspapers Americans read are printed with ink produced by Redford's Flint Ink Co., an international corporation with headquarters on Glendale Avenue.

Flint Ink came to Redford Township in 1965 when the Flint brothers moved the company here from its old plant in Detroit.

"A lot of people try to put us into the chemical business," said David Shotwell, Flint Ink's vice-president in charge of marketing. "We're really compounders of printing ink. We take anything that's available and make it into ink suitable for the printing process."

The 175,000 Redford facility houses the firm's headquarters, purchasing and research and development divisions. Complete management, sales and service operations are located in 20 cities across the country.

RESEARCH HERE has led to the development of many of the 10,000 active formulas for printing ink which Flint uses.

Products range from 12 oz. tubes of black ink for small printing machines to 5,000 gallon bulk shipments made to some of the nation's leading newspapers and printing houses in the Flint's fleet of 50 tank trucks.

The firm is the fourth largest manufacturer of printing ink in the country, but the only one with its own oil refinery. Ink is petroleum-based and like many other industries is dependent on oil supplies. "We buy foreign and domestic crude oil and sell off the by-products Shotwell said. "We go right down to the sludge."

The Redford plant produces ink for Michigan and northern Ohio.

The firm was founded in 1922 by Howard Flint. His son, Edgar, is president, while another son, Robert, is vice-president and treasurer.

Grandson Howard Jr. is vice-president and runs the company's Chicago office, while his brother, David, is national sales manager, working out of the Redford office.

THE COMPANY, like the industry, divides its products between inks for printing and those for packaging. Flint Ink's standard "palette" of colors includes 587 shades, but the possibilities for making new hues are infinite.

"We could formulate out as many colors as you could write varieties of music," said technical director J. Bertram Bates of Plymouth, who heads Flint Ink's staff of 30 researchers.

INTERNATIONALLY, the company employs nearly 600 persons, though only about 153 are on the Redford payroll.

Among its most familiar customers are such prominent newspapers as the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, the San Diego Union, the St. Petersburg Times, the Tucson Daily-Star, the Portland Oregonian and the Observer and Eccentric Newspapers.

Production processes are closely-guarded secrets in some phases of the ink business, so parts of the plant are off-limits to photographers.

"We think we do a few things that others don't do," Shotwell said.

Because inks must be kept free from impurities, the building is spotless and dust-free. "This is one of the cleanest plants you'll ever go in," said David Flint.

The labs boast large windows which admit a maximum of sunlight for color testing. Research and development is a never-ending process. Bates and his colleagues are trying to improve every conceivable characteristic of ink.

"Petroleum is the starting point," he said. "Then we build much more sophisticated molecules from that."

One quality they're trying to change is the viscosity, or resistance to smudging.

Bates would like to reach the point where common black newsprint ink no longer leaves a smudge on your fingers when you put down the paper.

"We're working on that to try to improve it," he said. "That's one of our quests."

Women reap work benefits

Thanks to smaller families, more career opportunities for women and more child care facilities, more women are receiving social security benefits.

Recent statistics reveal about 40 per cent of married women now work in jobs covered by social security compared to 30 per cent in 1960.

According to Stefan Gasparovic, manager of the Detroit-Northwest Social Security office, monthly social security benefits can be paid to a wife on her work record even if her husband keeps working.

DON SOPER (left) of Plymouth and Webb Bratton of Ypsilanti work at a small milling machine in Flint Ink's research and development laboratories. The pair are among 30 Flint researchers whose experimentation leads to the development of a higher quality and wider variety of printing ink. The company has more than 10,000 active formulas from which it can produce ink.

Unbeaten Plymouth Salem dumps Dearborn, 17-6

By FRED DeLANO

Plymouth Salem began tightening the noose around its first Suburban Eight football title with an impressive 17-6 victory over Dearborn High School, but it didn't come easy.

"They hit harder than any other team we've played," said Salem Coach Tom Moshimer after his Rocks had posted their fifth straight triumph and the 13th in their last 150 games.

It's true that the Pioneers carried the fight to the Rocks right from the start, but in the end Plymouth's superior team speed, brilliant execution of pitch-outs on the wishbone option, and stubborn defense were too much for Dearborn to match.

"Except for one lapse, our kids played one heck of a game," added Moshimer whose Rocks now pace the Sub 8 at 4-0 and are 5-0 overall to gain rating among the state's top powers.

When Moshimer spoke of a so-called "lapse," he was referring to Dearborn's only sustained march of the game, one which saw the Pioneers move 66 yards on 11 plays in the first period for their only touchdown.

PLYMOUTH HAD driven for a score from the opening kickoff with ridiculous ease. Joe Hibler and Tim getting major chunks of yardage on the ground before Dillon's touchdown pass on fourth down to Mike Telekey from the Dearborn 30.

The drive took only eight plays and consumed less than three minutes. Doug Tripp's conversion making it 7-0.

Dearborn bounced back with its own ground gaining fireworks, senior fullback John Shader and halfback Dave Johnson slashing repeatedly through the Rock line for big yardage.

Finally, from the Plymouth five, Don Klopoc went over on a quarterback sneak for the only touchdown scored on the ground against the Rocks this season.

Bob Knoop's attempted conversion was blocked, leaving Plymouth with a 7-6 margin, and from then on Dearborn had only one other good scoring shot all evening as the Rock defense came to life to choke off the Pioneers both on the ground and in the air.

Ball-hogging Plymouth runners put on two more good marches in the first half, but were stopped short except for a 27-yard field goal by Tripp which left it 10-6 at intermission.

A fumble gave Dearborn a golden chance midway in the third quarter when the Pioneers got possession on the Rock 20. It was here that the Plymouth defense rose to the heights, holding for downs at the 11.

PLYMOUTH FINALLY put the game out of reach when Charlie Johnston sped 18 yards for a touchdown on a pitchout from Dillon at 6:41 of the final period. Tripp's kick again was perfect for a 17-6 count.

Interceptions of Dearborn aeries by Dan Ross, Dillon and Scott Agnew, and a fumble recovery by Johnston, were vital plays for the Rocks who are fast becoming ball control specialists.

Hibler's 82 yards from scrimmage and Tripp's 69 paced a ground attack that saw Plymouth amass 285 yards to Dearborn's 96 — 66 of which came on that one early scoring march. Plymouth hit on two of five passes for 35 yards and Dearborn on four of 16 for 36.

Trailing Plymouth in the Suburban Eight are Trenton, 3-1, (and already beaten by the Rocks, 19-0); Allen Park, Livonia Bentley, Edsel Ford and Dearborn all at 2-2, Belleville, 1-3, and Redford Union, 0-4.

Plymouth sorely needs a victory Friday at Allen Park to stay ahead of the pack, and then it will be back home for a homecoming clash against Belleville Oct. 25.

If the scent of a championship is still in the air, it could be the biggest homecoming Plymouth has known in a generation.

Quinn does it again

Franklin buries East, 14-0

By TOM DONOGHUE
Sports Editor

Garden City East grid Coach Gary Humphrey got a first-hand account of witnessing one of the top running backs in the state in action.

Humphrey had to be impressed but was not at all happy with the outcome.

The 5-foot-8, 155 pound fullback Dan Quinn ran circles around his Panther defense with the end result a Livonia Franklin victory, 14-0.

Quinn scored both Franklin touchdowns, one coming with just 32 seconds left in the first half and the other in the opening march of the second half with just three minutes elapsed.

The Franklin speedster rushed for 177 of Franklin's 258 yards and upped his five-game outout to 666 yards.

FOR FRANKLIN this was the big one before the Northwest loop showdown on Oct. 26 with North Farmington.

George Lovich's Patriots are now 5-0, have given up just 16 points and recorded three shutouts while its offense has piled up 114 points.

For East and Humphrey it was another step backward after an outstanding start. The Panthers blanked Riverside in the opener, crushed a favored Bishop Borgess club and got by Thurston before falling to North and now Franklin and out of the league picture.

"We got some of the breaks in this one," commented Lovich whose Patriots host Thurston this Saturday (Oct. 19) in preparation for the Oct. 26 battle with North which should decide it all.

"Our offense kept us in the game and Armand Vigna and Jerry Cullin,

Observer & Eccentric SPORTS

Monday, October 14, 1974

14A*(P.R.W.G-10A)

our offensive coaches really had this one down.

"We did just what we said we could do against East all week.

"East scared me at the beginning. They picked up 64 yards in the first quarter but we shut them out from then on. They only ran 27 offensive plays the last three quarters."

HUMPHREY'S PANTHERS took the opening kickoff and looked like the East team that handled Borgess. Starting from its own 25, Steve Bentley picked up a first down on the 38. On a third and nine play, Britt Ponte passed to Joe Becszelko for a first down on the Franklin 45.

Bentley then dashed to the 25 and Lou Willoughby pushed it to the 10. Bentley got it down to the seven, Willoughby to the six and Ponte was then dropped on a handoff mix-up to bring up a fourth and seven play.

The No. 11 and final play of the drive saw Willoughby spurt to the left. It appeared he had enough room to sneak in for six but Andy Dallas came up with perhaps the play of the game when he hit Willoughby at the one-yard line and fell just six inches short of the goal line.

FRANKLIN eventually punted it out but the Patriots had that spark now.

East came right back at the Patriot defense.

The Panthers took over on the Franklin 35. Ponte passed to Wally Krol for a first down on the 24 but the East quarterback fell off target and Franklin's Jerry Pollard intercepted a pass intended for Becszelko.

Franklin took over on the 20 and on the first play of the second quarter, Jo Jo Scarpace was in a punting situation and fumbled the snap. East had the ball on the Franklin 25.

But once again the Patriot defense came to arms.

On the first play from scrimmage, Andy Dallas stepped in front of a Ponte to Krol pass and it was Franklin's ball on its 17.

MAKING SHAMBLES of the GC EAST defense was Franklin High back Dan Quinn who accounted for 177 of the Patriot's 258 yards on the ground to give No. 46 a total of 666 yards in Franklin's now 5-0 season. (Staff photo by Tom Donoghue)

West tips Crestwood in 4th loop win, 21-12

You have to start believing in the Garden City West Tigers.

After dropping his head coaching debut to Franklin High, 23-0, Charley Elmquist has got something going in Tiger territory.

West has reeled off four consecutive wins in the Tri-River loop and finds itself sharing the drivers seat with also unbeaten Southgate.

"We have been forcing people to play catch-up football all along," commented Elmquist after his Tigers stomped on a then 3-1 Crestwood club, 21-12.

"We took it to Crestwood and we were able to sustain our drives. We are getting better on offense with every game."

WEST NOW HAS Melvindale. Schafer and Southgate remaining on the Tri-River schedule.

"We will have our work cut out for us this Friday against Melvindale," commented Elmquist. "I look for them to really challenge us."

"It will be their homecoming and if they lose, they realize they will be out of the Tri-River race with two losses.

"Melvindale probably has the toughest crew of players in the league and we will have to come up with our best showing of '74 to stay up with Southgate."

WEST'S MASTERY of ball-control proved too much for Crestwood. The Tigers pounded out 15 first downs and rushed for 323 yards total while the West defense held Crestwood to nine first downs and 67 yards on the ground.

Bill Underwood, who scored the first two Tiger touchdowns, paced the ground game with 187 yards in 24 carries with Bill Zenko next with 85 yards in 15 carries.

Crestwood's only plus factor came in the passing attack where it hit on nine of 19 for 176 yards while West was one of seven.

After going on defense to open the contest, West took control and proceeded to march 53 yards in a seven-minute drive with Underwood scoring from three yards out. Mark Sutherland's conversion missed but West was on top to stay, 6-0.

West upped it to 14 with three minutes remaining. Underwood plunged in for six to finish off a 57 yard march. Quarterback Scot Hare connected with Jay Gooch for two points and Elmquist knew he had Crestwood right where he wanted them.

But the Tiger defense broke down on one play and a 51 yard TD pass sliced it to 14-6 with half a contest remaining.

THE OPENING drive of the second half had to take away any doubts as the Tigers marched 76 yards in an eight-minute, 20-play march with Zenko scoring from two yards out and Sutherland converting to up it to 21-6.

Crestwood did come back with another scoring toss late in the final quarter, this one a 50 yarder to Mike Szemba, to cut the margin to nine but that was the closest it got.

Now comes Melvindale, then a West homecoming against Schafer before the loop finale with Southgate — the 48 minutes that could tell it all in the Tri-River.

Bentley Bulldogs hand RU gridders 5th setback, 21-6

The "Year of the Bulldog" may be over, but somebody forgot to tell Livonia Bentley.

And the same people couldn't prove that the Bulldogs weren't in contention for Suburban Eight honors by the Redford Union Panthers.

The Bulldogs picked up 199 yards on the ground as they romped over the Panthers, 21-6 Friday.

ALTHOUGH THE Panthers drew first blood, they had to be content with just six points, as Bentley showed RU what the game of football was all about.

Craig Barrowcliff hit his end, Craig Wood on a 39 yard touchdown pass with 6:51 remaining in the first quarter.

But the RU offense stalled right there, as the Panthers were unable to score again in the game despite numerous opportunities.

Bentley senior halfback Bruce Boudnek's one yard scoring run capped an 11 play drive that began on his own 40.

Boudnek picked up 33 yards on the scoring drive, before crossing the goal line.

Bulldog quarterback Bill Deacon added impetus to the drive, passing to Dale Allemang for an aerial first down, and keeping the ball to pick up a first down on the ground.

Mike Weston converted, and the Panthers saw their first quarter lead fly into history.

OPPORTUNITY knocked for the Bulldogs with 8:40 left in the half as they recovered an RU fumble on the Redford 34 yard line.

Alternating two passing and two running plays, the result was six more points for Bentley, as Deacon hit Jim Edwards with a 26 yard pass, and then handed the ball off to Boudnek for a second touchdown.

Tim Oakley converted and it was 14-6 in favor of Bentley.

The Panthers were not about to roll over and play dead for the Bulldogs, however, as Barrowcliff hit Brian O'Keefe with a first down pass, and let sprinting tailback Mark Cigna pick up a second first down on the ground.

But the yardage didn't show up on the scoreboard, and a holding call against the Panthers forced RU to give up the football on a fourth and 20 situation.

Even given another chance when Bentley fumbled away possession of the football, the Panthers just couldn't seem to get their offense moving.

Bentley extended its eight point half-time lead by another touchdown in the third quarter.

The Bulldogs moved from their own 24 yard line into Panther territory behind the running of Rob Coleman, Oakley and Boudnek, and the passing of Deacon.

Deacon scored the final touchdown on a one yard run. Oakley's conversion attempt was good, and the score was Bentley 21, RU 6 until the final gun.

BARROWCLIFF was eight for 21 in the air for a total of 124 yards, while Deacon was four for 10 to total 33 yards.

The Bulldogs almost doubled the Panther first downs, picking up 19 to their Suburban Eight rival's 10.

The real difference, however, was on the ground, as Bentley scrambled for 199 yards, while RU gained 110 yards.

Coach Glen Goode's gridders will entertain Dearborn Oct. 18 at Bentley's homecoming game, while RU will host Trenton for a homecoming contest.

The Bulldog game is set for 7:30, while the Panthers will play at 8 p.m.

Stevenson Spartans maul WL Central, 31-0

By ANITA CRONE

Lest there be any doubt, the Stevenson Spartans are for real.

After dropping the second game of the season to current league leader Franklin, Coach John-Reardon's Spartans have proved themselves a threat in Inter Lakes competition.

The Spartans notched their second shutout and fourth victory in five outings, by smashing a sluggish Walled Lake Central visiting team 31-0.

IN AN ALMOST perfect ballgame, the Spartans showed one weakness—a conversion attempt just won't work if the snap from center flies over the kicker's head.

But starting quarterback Bruce Nichols, and his backup play caller, sophomore Jim Dolmetsch proved that when the Spartans touch a football, it usually means six points on the scoreboard.

Only five times did the Spartans fail to score when they held possession of the leather.

And twice they took the ball away from the hapless visitors, once on a fumble and once on an interception.

Stevenson lost no time getting on the scoreboard, as it began its first series of downs with 10:10 remaining in the first quarter.

Using only four plays, the Spartans moved the ball from mid-field to the end zone, as Chuck Demarco picked up six yards rushing, and John Lokar scrambled for an additional six yards.

Nichols then hit his end, Mike Gallagher with an aerial from the Walled Lake 39 yard line, and Gallagher scampered into the end zone.

Lokar converted and the score was 7-0 Stevenson.

A WALLED LAKE fumble gave Stevenson the field position and the football for their second score.

Lokar picked up 26 yards in the first play of the second quarter, as he scrambled to the Walled Lake two yard line.

Tom Cox carried the ball in for the score, and it was Stevenson by 13.

Lokar had his hands full, and was all over the field as he intercepted Walled Lake QB Tim Riend's pass on the Stevenson 25 yard line.

Two plays later, Nichols passed 60 yards to his end, Dave Galindo and Galindo ran 30 unmolested yards for the third Stevenson touchdown.

With 59 seconds remaining in the half, the Spartans proved they are not a team to be taken for granted, and work well under pressure.

Nichols carried the ball from the Walled Lake 34 to the 16. First and 10 with 52 seconds remaining.

Then it was Lokar's turn as he ran 11 yards, using up eight seconds of playing time. Again it was first and 10—this time with the clock showing 44 seconds.

Nichols again kept the ball, picking up three yards, while Lokar carried the ball for two yards and another Spartan touchdown.

THEN REARDON unleashed his surprises.

Sophomore quarterback Dolmetsch took over the play calling, and gave hints of what was to come with 10 minutes remaining in the game.

Relying on the second ace up Reardon's sleeve, Dolmetsch handed the ball off to reserve end Bill Parks, playing in his first Spartan varsity game.

Parks picked up 36 yards in his debut, including a 19 yard run.

But it was senior end Joe Centers who carried the ball into the end zone for Stevenson's final score of the game. The end was standing solo as he reached up to catch Dolmetsch's 10 yard pass.

Walled Lake was able to manage only six first downs, as they were completely dominated by the red-hot Spartans.

Reardon's crew picked up nine first downs in between touchdowns.

The Spartans face Milford next week on the road, and face Farmington Oct. 26.

By W.W. EDGAR

Why do bowlers score better in one house than in another?

This question has plagued the bowling game since its inception and it has risen again as the sharpshooters now are settling into the long fall and winter schedule.

For years, it had been charged, that the lanes were "doctored" to produce high scores. This was done, they claimed, to attract bowlers who like to see high scores behind their names.

On other occasions it was often claimed that the lanes were "fixed" to favor the home team when the national team match game championships were in vogue.

Since this type of competition has faded, little was heard until this season when a new type of finish was used to condition the lanes. Immediately, a howl went up that this new finish cut scores. So great was the howl that one of the Classics—at Garden Lanes—disbanded rather than battle the new finish.

It is an old story. Years ago when the late Irv Gies ran the Garden Lanes on Woodward Avenue, the place was known for its high scores.

TO ALL CLAIMS that he had been "doctoring" the lanes, he just smiled. When really pressed for a reason he pointed to the skylight and explained that the sun's rays kept the lanes and pins dry. The bowlers accepted this.

Then Irv built a new establishment—The Olympic Recreation—and moved his base of operation.

The high scores followed, and there was no skylight in the Olympic.

So, he finally admitted that he didn't polish the lanes all the way to the head pin, so a fellow's ball "had a chance to work."

That ended the debate for a time. Then, the women started to score well at Wurm's on Detroit's east side, and it started all over again.

The late Chuck Woods, then the manager at Wurm's, quieted the debate by explaining that he kept the pins in the room with the heating plant and they always were warm and "live."

One of the reasons the question has risen again is the high scoring being done at Bel-Aire Lanes in Farmington. It is one of the highest scoring houses in the area.

"I wish I knew what is causing it," Bob Winkel, the owner, remarked.

"I've looked into it and the only thing I know is that there was a special vapor area built into the foundation and that gives us a more even temperature and none of the humidity or dampness comes through."

That should solve the question for a time. But if the high scoring continues at Wonderland Lanes in Livonia and Schafer Lanes in Dearborn, you can be sure the owners will be the butt of many questions to explain the cause.

THE ENYIRE bowling fraternity was saddened last week with the death of Ed Shikany, longtime president of the Detroit All-Star Classic.

For years he sponsored the Edmund Olds team and was one of the most respected of all team captains.

CAN YOU IMAGINE a fellow sort of moaning when he said, "We only had one 700 series in our classic this week!"

That's how George Bashara at Wonderland reported the scoring of the Classic. The 700 was a big 720—rolled by Bob Boss when he linked games of 247, 258 and 215.

The team scoring was high, however, as Boss' 720 helped his Thirsty Duck team to post a 3219 and Joe Charron's Insurance squad bettered that with a 3249.

THIS IS THE WEEK the junior bowlers swing into the heaviest schedule of the year. They'll be bowling in the Youth Bowling Association leagues on Saturday mornings.

The various Parks and Recreation programs will keep them busy after school on weekdays and many of the establishments now are switching to Teen Classics on Saturday afternoons.

RU girls dribble by Wyandotte

Redford Union upped its girls basketball mark to 5-1 in a 42-29 victory over Wyandotte Roosevelt.

RU led after one quarter, 10-2, increased it to 26-9 at the half and 38-17 heading into the final eight minutes.

Amy Gierak paced the RU scoring attack with 15 points with Linda Kosovac second with 12 points.

Bentley gals win, 41-39

A bucket by Sheri Mull with two seconds remaining gave the Bentley girls a Suburban Eight basketball win over Belleville, 41-39.

Belleville led after one quarter, 12-4, but the Bulldogs bounced back to slice it at the half, 23-16. The gap narrowed to 31-28 at the end of three quarters with Bentley taking the final eight minutes, 13-7, for the victory.

Chris Iakovidis and Cindy Siterlet paced the Bentley scorers with 16 and 14 points respectively.

Now comes Harrison showdown

Churchill charge smothers Canton, 14-7

By TOM DONOGHUE
Sports Editor

The poise and fitness of a past champion prevailed.

Ken Kaestner's Livonia Churchill Chargers overcame seven turnovers in the first half and a 7-0 deficit yet handily put away Plymouth Canton, 14-7, in a Western Six grid clash.

It was victory No. 3 in three starts in the loop for Churchill while Canton slipped to a 2-1 league mark and 2-3 overall showing.

THE CANTON CHIEFS just couldn't capitalize on Churchill's fumbling first half but did muster enough of an attack to lead at the half, 7-0.

But when it came down to plain and simple nose-to-nose football the second half, it was no contest as Churchill stuck it to the Chiefs.

And the Canton cheering section, which throughout the first half chanted cries of "We're No. 1. We're No. 1," must have forgotten there are two halves in the game of football.

"We felt real good about this one," commented Kaestner whose now 4-1 overall crew takes on 5-0 Farmington Harrison this Saturday. "Canton had us wired that first half, they really hit us hard."

After recovering a fumble on the Churchill 29, Mike Ogden scored early in the second to give Canton the lead at the half.

"I just told the kids not to panic," added Kaestner whose Chargers turned the ball over seven times in that 24 minutes to make its homecoming crowd have second thoughts as to the outcome. "I told the kids to maintain their cool and I knew we could score on Canton."

CHURCHILL did just that, maintained its cool and the stage is now set for the loop showdown with Harrison.

The Chargers struck paydirt the first time they got their hands on the ball the second half with Bill Reardon carrying it in from two yards out to finish off a 55 yard march.

With just 3:39 elapsed in the final quarter, Charger QB Mike Streicher tossed a screen pass to Matt Foster who dashed untouched, 49 yards for the winning score.

Churchill collected 15 first downs to Canton's 11. The Chargers rushed for 100 yards and Streicher hit on 10 of 17 passes for 148 yards.

The Charger defense kept Canton's air game shut off with Tom Close just six of 18 for 53 yards. The Chiefs did pound out 112 yards on the ground, most of that coming in the first quarter.

Churchill received the opening kickoff and promptly fumbled the ball away on the first play from scrimmage. Streicher jarred loose of the ball and Dave Edwards recovering on the Charger 40.

AFTER AN EXCHANGE of punts, Canton took over on its 30 and all but smothered the Churchill defense.

Scott Dunagan picked up a first down on the 38. Close passed to Rick Thom to the 44 and Jim Tiller dashed to the Charger 38.

Kim Hammonds found a hole and broke loose for what appeared to be an early six but a holding call brought the ball back to the Charger 26.

Canton kept on plugging away and Close passed to Ray Mandle to the 14. The two squads then exchanged off-side calls and Canton's green side showed through with a personal foul pushing them back to the 29.

The Charger defense held but its offense quickly gave the ball back with Ray Mandle hauling in his first of three interceptions the first half.

But it was giveaway time as the second play saw Canton fumble and Dan Skupski pounced on it for Churchill on his own 35.

Churchill gave it right back with Randy Urban falling on a loose ball for Canton and the Chiefs again had another chance, this time starting on the Charger 29.

OGDEN WENT into his routine and pushed the ball down to the 14. Hammonds carried it to the two and Ogden finished it off with a one yard burst. Risti Mihailovich converted and with 10:01 remaining in the half, it was Canton 7-0.

Churchill came back with a drive but stalled out on the Canton 41 and the Chiefs gave the ball back on a fumble on their 34.

Streicher then had a pass picked off by Mike Verduce and Canton moved to the 26 before having to punt. Both sides exchanged the ball twice then before the half.

Churchill's Keith Yeager set up the first score of the second half when he picked off a Close pass and the Chargers took over on their 45.

A passing interference call took it to the 27. Streicher picked up a first down on the 17 and then connected with Jim Packard for a first down on the three. Two plays later, Reardon barreled in and Foster converted to tie it at seven-all, 5:23 left in the third quarter.

This tally took the spark out of Canton's attack and the Charger defense, which had given up just six points in its last two games, took charge.

CHURCHILL STOPPED Canton on its 34. A 15 yarder gave the Chargers a first down on the 35 after a loss and Foster moved to the 40. Streicher again fell off aim and Canton's Scott Dunagan intercepted on his 11.

Churchill held and after a punt, the Chargers took over on their own 44. After a loss of five yards, Streicher hit Foster on a screen pass and that was the game.

"That screen pass was the play that did it," explained Kaestner. "It just happened that Canton had an eight man blitz on - it was a perfect marriage with our screen pass. Scotty Levitan threw a block and the rest was cake walk for Foster."

Foster made good the kick and it was 14-7, 8:21 left on the clock.

Canton failed on its next series and the Charger offense took over on its 47. With 6:32 remaining they took control for five minutes with a Foster 28 yard field goal missing its mark.

Churchill stopped Canton cold in the final minute and it is now on to Farmington Harrison which blitzed Walled Lake Western last week, 27-0.

"WE ARE GOING to have to sell the farm for this one," joked the Churchill coach. "We are going to have to play a mistake-free game and just hope they (Harrison) make a few."

"I'll tell you, if Harrison loses at all this season, it will be because they choked. They have it all at every position. We could do everything right and still wind up losing, 14-7."

"Our line is going to wind up mesmerized against Harrison. Our final four games are going to be against clubs that now sport a combined 18-2 mark. It is going to be tough for us from here on out."

This week Churchill takes on a 5-0 Harrison club. Then comes Northville that is 4-1, Franklin at 5-0 and Stevenson at 4-1.

"All we can do is hope for the best from here on out," finished Kaestner. Canton will host Waterford Mott Friday night.

John Glenn Rockets destroy Oak Park, 33-6

The Redskins of Oak Park were just what Lloyd Carr ordered and needed at this stage into the campaign.

The John Glenn gridiron coach knew his 74 slate was going to be a tough road, playing both Fordson and Livonia Churchill in non-leaguers before taking on the likes of North Farmington and Franklin in the first two weeks of the Northwest loop.

And that slate got even tougher when his opener with Fordson was canceled due to the teacher's strike.

Carr's program had to be set back but you wouldn't have known it by the way his Rockets handled Churchill, 19-0, in Glenn's opener.

BUT THEN CAME two weeks when Carr's Rockets played their hearts out but wound up on the short end of the scoreboard in both 48-minute clashes.

It was North Farmington, 10-6, over Glenn and then Franklin, 16-0 over the Rockets. And in both games, Glenn had its chances and was in the battle until the final seconds.

The order was up for a 48-minute clash that could instill that confidence back into the Rocket attack and winless Oak Park rolled along just in time.

Oak Park had been barreled over by Franklin, 42-7, and Thurston, 40-8, now it was Glenn's chance.

AFTER A SIX-ALL first quarter deadlock, Glenn slipped ahead at the half, 12-6, and pushed it to 26-6 after three quarters and added a tally in the fourth to make it a 33-6 conquest.

Glenn's defense held Oak Park to just one firstdown, that coming in the first quarter, the first time the Redskins had possession.

The Rockets, on the other hand, piled up 16 firstdowns and rushed for 263 yards. Oak Park picked up 67 yards on the ground and was 0-8 passing. Glenn quarterback Terry Johnson was two for three for 35 yards.

Bob Eisiminger paced the Glenn ground game with 101 yards in 19 carries with Fred Shoemaker chalking up 67 yards in 12 carries.

"We had a letdown to overcome after that last loss to Franklin," commented Carr whose now 2-2 Rockets play host to Garden City East in the Glenn homecoming bout Friday (Oct. 18), at 8 p.m.

"The first half against Oak Park was probably our worst football of the season. We finally took it to them in the second half."

GLENN TALLIED the first time it got its hands on the ball in the opening quarter with Bob Eisiminger scoring from three yards out to wind up a 56 yard march. A two-point conversion failed.

Oak Park made short work of tying things up with a 63 yard burst making it a six-all contest after 12 minutes.

The stumbling Rockets managed to take a 12-6 margin into the locker room at the half when they jumped on a short Oak Park punt to take control at midfield.

It was Eisiminger again who did the honors, this time scoring from, four yards out and the conversion missed again.

Rocket quarterback, Terry Johnson, finally got his crew moving in the third quarter with a 25 yard scoring toss to Mark Czajka capping a 60 yard march.

Todd DeLuca converted to up it to 19-6.

Shoemaker made good the next Glenn drive which started at midfield with a four-yard burst to paydirt and

St. Agatha used simple football logic to score victory No. 3 into the 1974 campaign.

All the Aggies had to do was jump on the opponent's mistakes and the game was theirs for the asking.

And did the Aggies ever ask and take.

And all five Aggies scores came after Ypsi turnovers, three via fumble

DeLuca converted to push it to 26-6.

Glenn then had a play called back because of a clip when Mark Coulston dashed 70 yards on a punt return for Glenn at the end of the third quarter.

The Rockets did get that one back to finish off their attack in the final stanza with Terry Bixler spurting 40 yards for six and DeLuca splitting the uprights recovery and two by-pass interceptions.

It was just one of those games where all St. Agatha had to do was sit back and wait for its opponent to make the mistake.

The Willow Run club, which is winless in five outings, fumbled in the opening quarter with Pat Ruvlo pouncing on it for the Aggies.

A 45 yard march was capped by Mark Duquette's 10 yard burst and George Fick converted to make it 7-0 after one stanza.

Vince Dow upped it to 13-0 at the half when he fell on a Willow Run fumble in the end zone.

Ruvlo set up the third Aggies score early in the third quarter with another pass interception on the Ypsi 27. Dave Mulley made short work of the rest with a 23 yard burst to paydirt and Fick converted to up it to 27-0.

AGAIN IT WAS Ruvlo who was "johnny on the spot" in the fourth with his third pass interception paving the way for St. Agatha's final tally.

Fick plunged into the end zone after the turnover and then converted to round out the attack which saw St. Agatha collect 14 first downs and rush for 205 yards.

Duquette paced the ground game with 100 yards in 14 carries.

Aggie QB Brian Higgins was off in his passing game with no completions in five attempts.

Now comes St. Florian this Saturday (Oct. 19) and it will be homecoming for the Aggies at the Hilbert Junior High field in Redford Township, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Aggie offense goes wild... crumbles Willow Run, 34-0

GETTING HIS MAN is Churchill's Kurt Pitcher in Western Six loop action with Plymouth Canton quarterback Tom Close about to get dragged down from behind. Canton fell to Churchill, 14-7.

Bentley gals crush Ladywood netters

Bentley High's girls tennis squad upped its season mark to 5-2 with a 7-0 blanking of Ladywood, making amens for a 6-1 loss at the hands of Trenton.

A victory over Dearborn earlier in the week, 6-1, did show Bentley at 3-0 in the Suburban Eight loop before the 6-1 lashing against Trenton.

Janet Scruggs was the solo victor for Bentley in the Trenton match, 6-3, 7-6, 2, and was also champ in No. 3 singles in the Dearborn and Ladywood contests. Results:

Bounce Milford, 23-16

Clarenceville wins 1st

It had to happen and the Trojans couldn't have picked a better time if they had to, without the help of another club on the gridiron.

After four fruitless showings, Ralph Weddle's Clarenceville Trojans dumped Milford, 23-16, in Wayne-Oakland loop play.

IT WAS HOMECOMING at Clarenceville but that didn't stop the officials from keeping Milford within striking distance as they handed the Trojans a total of 122 yards in penalties to keep things close.

For Milford it was slip No. 3 into the league loss column.

Clarenceville came up with 17 first downs and rushed for 138 yards with Tony Phillips pacing the Trojan pack with 82 yards before getting the gate in a game-ejection call.

Trojan quarterback George Scholes connected on 15 of 22 passes for 153 yards.

Meanwhile Milford was held to 12 first downs but rushed for 162 yards with the difference in the aerial attack. Clarenceville held Milford to just four pass completions in 15 attempts.

CLARENCEVILLE jumped off to a 7-0 first quarter lead, stood ahead at the half, 15-8, and 23-16 after three quarters. Then came Phillip's ejection and Weddle found his crew without its No. 1 back and the defense held on.

The Trojans, who had been outscored 84-35 in the first four losses, struck paydirt on the opening kickoff drive, the first play from scrimmage.

Scholes lofted a 61 yard touch down pass to Mitch Lentovich. Phillips converted and with just 28 seconds elapsed, Clarenceville had itself a lead, 7-0.

Milford bounced back in the second to take the lead. After recovering a fumble at midfield, the Trojan defense stopped Milford at its five but the offense gave the ball right back on another fumble on the five.

Two plays later, Don VanGorden carried it in to make it 7-6 and Lentovich blocked the point-after but Clarenceville was called for offside. Milford got to take the conversion over and this time made good a two-point run by VanGorden to take an 8-7 lead.

The next Clarenceville march saw the Trojans hang onto the ball and drive 61 yards in nine plays with Scholes hitting Phillips on a 11 yard screen pass play. The conversion was also a Scholes to Phillips pass. At the half, Clarenceville enjoyed a 15-8 margin.

EIGHT MINUTES into the third quarter, Clarenceville struck again. Phillips broke loose on a 58 yard dash, and Scholes found Steve Rindling on a two-point conversion to up it to 23-8.

Just 1½ minutes later, Milford made good use of a 30 yard penalty call when Phillips was ejected for fighting and a 58 yard drive saw Jeff Hunter dash in for six.

Hunter also made the extra point and the lead was sliced to seven.

The Trojans felt the loss of their 5-foot-11, 194 pound senior Phillips but held on in the final 12 minutes for victory No. 1.

Canton girls fall to WL Western

"This had to be our best effort ever," commented Plymouth Canton girls tennis coach Cynthia Burstein whose squad went 0-6 last year in its rookie stint and just did lose its '74 opener to Walled Lake Western, 3-2.

"These girls have come a long way," added the Canton coach. "We will be improving this season and hopefully will win a few matches."

Lisa Williams and Jan Haarer were singles victors for the Chiefs. Results:

1st SINGLES-Ana Monde (WL) defeated Chris Boyd (PC), 6-0, 6-2.
2nd SINGLES-Lisa Williams (PC) defeated Debbie Trumbull (WL), 6-4, 2-6, 6-4, 5-2.
3rd SINGLES-Jan Haarer (PC) defeated Kathy Harrington (WL), 6-0, 6-0.
1st DOUBLES-Joe Ulich & Peggy Payne (WL) defeated Barb Palmer & Jan Boyce (PC), 5-7, 6-1, 6-3.
2nd DOUBLES-Barb Goldsmith & Sue Michaels (WL) defeated Dawa Bianchi & Karen Reid, 6-2, 6-4.

Stevenson gals bounce GC East

Livonia Stevenson again found a victim in Garden City East.

Liz Embree's Stevenson girl cagers, who crushed East in the opening week of the season, 62-32, upped their overall mark to 3-0 by nipping that same East team, 50-47.

Stevenson was without the services of its No. 1 player in Lori Hyman who had pumped in 33 points in the first game but still managed to lead the entire 32 minutes.

Garden City fell behind after one quarter, 20-6, and trailed at the half, 34-21. It was narrowed to 44-36 after three quarters and sliced to just three at the final buzzer.

Jerri Isanhart was leading scorer for Stevenson with 21 points followed by Sharon Solack who scored 12 to up her three-game total to 50 points.

Laurie Holmes, at 5-foot-8, added eight points and broke the school rebound mark with 21 grabs. Heading East in the scoring department was Fisher with 18 and Kussik with 14.

Sports Editor has 'perfect' grid day

It was one of those days of football that every sports soothsayer dreams of.

Observer & Eccentric Sports Editor Tom Donoghue was nine for nine in area prep grid selections Friday night, pushing his season prediction accuracy to 41 and 13.

Westland John Glenn was picked to win by at least four touchdowns and the Rockets dumped Oak Park by four, 33-6. Stevenson was picked to upend Walled Lake Central by nine and the Spartans did it in a bigger way, 31-0.

The Churchill - Plymouth Canton clash saw Donoghue select Churchill by 10 and the Chargers did it by seven, 14-7. Garden City West handled Crestwood, 21-12. They were picked to do it by seven.

St. Agatha crushed Willow Run Ypsilanti, 34-0, an easier rout than Donoghue's spread of 13 and Bentley was picked to top Redford Union by 12 and the Bulldogs did it by 15, 21-6.

Clarenceville won its first in 23-16 style over Milford. They were selected to do it by three. The Franklin - Garden City East match was to go Franklin way by two touchdowns and that's just the way it ended, 14-0.

Plymouth Salem was given a 16 point spread over Dearborn. The Rocks made it a closer, but still did it, 17-6.

Nine for nine, lookout Swami!

Bentley girls dunk Salem Rocks, 107-64

Bentley High opened Suburban Eight girls swim action with eight firsts in a 107-64 victory over Plymouth Salem.

Vicki Brown shattered two Bentley records with a 2:25.1 in the 200 yard individual medley and a 1:05.1 clocking in the 100 butterfly.

The Bulldogs also qualified for the state meet in seven events with Miss Brown qualifying in the 50 freestyle, 100 butterfly and 200 medley; Lisa Bowman in the 50 free and the 100 backstroke and Karen Sibert in the 100 breaststroke along with both relays.

Thurston golfers stun Franklin

The Eagles of Thurston High crushed Franklin in Northwest loop golf action on the par 36 Warren Valley course.

It was Franklin's third defeat in the league and dropped Bob Visser's crew into a tie for second with Thurston, both sporting 4-3 marks.

Oak Park is on top with a 6-1 showing.

Thurston was paced by Dave Hunter with a par 36 with Kevin Cook next in the Eagle assault with a 39. Don Kain carded a 41, Paul Kelton and Ron Pearson had 43s to round out the winning side.

Dave Winkler was low man for Franklin with a 40. John Lyons was next with a 41, Dave Kreuscher sported a 44, John Nienhaus a 45, and Jeff Heinz a 46.

Stevenson 3-milers win 2 loop meets

Paul Holmberg's Stevenson cross country crew came up with two Inter-Lake Conference wins in 27-30 fashion over Walled Lake Central and 23dew over Milford Lakeland.

Ken Brown set the Spartan pace in both meets, clocking in at 16:09 in both three-mile runs.

Bob Opsommer, who has established himself as Stevenson's No. 2 man, placed fourth in the Walled Lake meet in 17:08 and third against Milford in 17:18.

Stevenson's attack against Walled Lake was rounded out by Brent Bassett in sixth in 17:58. Richard Hughes in seventh in 18:17 and Greg Johnson ninth in 19:05.

Against Milford, Stevenson fared better with Hughes taking fourth in 17:26, Bassett finishing fifth in 17:32 and Paul Pongor 10th in 18:55.

Finding a No. 5 man has been Holmberg's problem.

"A rash of injuries and illness has caused a turnover in this slot every week," commented the Stevenson coach. "At one point, we had more runners sidelined than those actually running."

"I just hope we are back to 100 percent by the Inter-Lakes meet on Oct. 17."

Helping us to help you. ACD

Have you called the Observer & Eccentric to place a classified ad, and gotten a "busy" signal? If you have, we're sorry. We don't like to keep our customers waiting. But it happens sometimes, because we do business with more than 155,500 families. That's why we installed a special Bell Telephone System. It's called the Automatic Call Distributor, and it's designed to promote smoother and faster handling of calls to the classified advertising department.

It means that when you contact us to place a classified ad, your call will automatically be directed to one of the 19 friendly advisors who handle classified ads for the 11 Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. The "A-C-D" system will put you in direct touch with an ad-taker who is available, allowing you to do business quickly and efficiently.

So -- be ready for prompt service, because our new telephone unit can handle up to 28 simultaneous calls. And, if you should happen to be caller number 29, the ACD will hold your call for a moment, and then give it to the first available ad-taker. The classified advertising numbers -- 522-0900 in Wayne County and 644-1070 in Oakland County -- will remain the same.

We like ACD, because it means that our classified service to you will be improved. When you have pets to sell or homes to rent, our ad-takers will now be able to reach you faster, and offer you the greatest possible courtesy and efficiency. With our new, high-speed equipment, we'll be able to meet the needs of special situations ... your needs ... when you're calling us. And that's what quality service is all about. ACD...
