Democrats sweep all spots

Greenstein slate wins big in Canton

By MARIE MCGEE

CANTON—In its usual election pattern, the Democratic tide swept through Canton Township Tuesday, leaving in its wake the stunning defeat of a three-mill proposal to upgrade the community's firefighting facilities.

The Democratic sweep puts attorney Robert Greenstein at the helm of the township government for the next two years. Elected with him were members of his political slate: Carl Parsell as treasurer, Robert Myers, who won a four-year trustee appointment; and Jerry Cheske, who won a two-year term on the board.

Also victorious, but not part of the Greenstein slate were John Flodin, incumbent township clerk who was unopposed, and Trustee Brian Schwall.

A Plymouth School District teacher, Schwall emerged as the top vote-getter with an unofficial total of 3,008. Actually, this was Schwall's first attempt for public office, having been named to the Canton board two years ago to complete the unexpired term of Trustee Ray Deeds who moved from the township.

Myers, a relative newcomer to township politics who campaigned as a consumer advocate candidate, was also among the top vote-getters with a total of 2,824.

Greenstein out-poll his Republican opponent, James Poole, by a vote of 2,636 to 2,086. But Poole will remain on the board of trustees, having two years of a four-year term as trustee left to serve.

Second highest vote-getter, Parsell outdistanced Wolfe, a favorite because of his background in county government. Results of that race gave Parsell 2,861 to Wolfe's 1,870.

In a post-election statement Wednesday morning, Greenstein commented on the fact that he and his slate carried seven of Canton's eight precincts proves that "we weren't regionally elected—or elected by a particular interest group."

"It shows we were elected by all the township and one of the first things I want to do is to bring all the township together as a unit," he added.

But while Greenstein's victory was somewhat anticipated, the defeat of the fire millage was totally unexpected.

Losing by a scant 25 votes in the primary election last August, the proposal was placed on the November ballot and was regarded by township observers as a "sure thing."

But the proposal lost by an even greater margin than it did in the spring: 276 votes. The vote was 2,173, "Yes" to 2,449 "No." Early figures also revealed that only one precinct (3) carried the proposal that would have allowed township officials to levy up to three mills over the next 10 years for fire or police protection.

"I can't explain it," commented Flodin after the election. "I would guess that it was not an opposition 'no'—but rather a 'no' of need—not wanting to add onto financial problems that many families are facing because of current economic conditions."

Flodin also "guessed" that the township could probably come up with some other means of financing the badly-needed second fire station in the Warren-Haggerty area, but said the "real problem comes in finding the money to staff the building" and to pay for on-going operations.

Flodin had his share of operational problems in Tuesday's election that saw a record turnout of 60 per cent—or 5,089—of Canton's 8,805 registered voters.

Three new voting machines in precinct 7 located in Canton High School broke down several times throughout the day, resulting in long lines of irate voters, many of whom had to wait past the 8 p.m. deadline to vote.

As a result, the final election tally was held up past midnight.

A "false" fire drill set off by students also added to the clerk's troubles with the high school precinct. Other than that, things went smoothly, Flodin said.

In many ways—including the machine breakdown—Tuesday's election was a carbon copy of the race four years ago when township voters went heavily for GOP Gov. William Milliken and then switched to the Democratic candidates for the other offices.

Incumbent candidates U.S. Rep. William Ford and State Sen. William Faust scored whopping victories over their GOP opponents.

Ford topped his Republican opponent, Jack Underwood, 3,193 to 1,319, while Faust bettered Republican James Walasky 1,116 to 1,399.

Township voters gave their approval to three of the statewide propositions on the ballot, giving the nod to A, B and C, and defeating D.

Plymouth Twp. races go to Republicans

By RICHARD GOLD

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP—People contend that this township is a Republican bastion and Tuesday's unofficial results verify that fact.

There were three contested races in the township, two for trustee and one for township treasurer and Republicans were runaway victors in all.

In the race for treasurer, vacated by the retirement of Mrs. Elizabeth Holmes, Republican Joseph West defeated Democrat Janet Pierangelino 3,296 to 1,837. His 64 per cent victory margin was the widest of all races.

West, with 40 years of accounting experience, is a real estate salesman who will put his real estate license in escrow "to enable him to devote full time to the office and problems of the township."

Commenting on his victory, he said, "Having lived and worked in the Plymouth community my entire life, I have always been very interested in serving my community to the best of my ability."

The other contests were for two trustee positions. Republicans Frank Millington and Richard Gornick ran one and two, well ahead of Democrats Thomas Sullivan and Orville Tungate.

Millington polled 2,938. Gornick received 2,865 votes. Sullivan netted 2,310 and Tungate picked up 1,828.

Millington, at 73, is the senior member of the township board while Gornick is a newcomer. "I have always looked after the best interests of the entire township and I will continue to do so," commented Millington after his victory was assured.

Gornick has served as a member of the township planning commission and president of several homeowner groups opposing consolidation of the township and city of Plymouth.

The offices of supervisor and clerk were uncontested and Republican incumbents will continue to serve there. Mrs. Helen Richardson, the township clerk, was the top vote-getter among board members with 3,999 by Donald King and Democrat Ronald Fournier.

Figures on the election were compiled very quickly by members of the League of Women Voters, although they remain unofficial until the local canvassing board verifies them. No figures for minor party candidates were available.

According to Township clerk Helen Richardson, voter turnout was depressed somewhat by "Republican weather." In 1970, the last non-presidential election year, 75 per cent of votes, outpolling Supervisor J.D. McLaren by five votes.

In the race for constable, two Republicans outdistanced one Democrat. Gordon Campbell ran first, followed the registered voters cast ballots in Plymouth Township. Mrs. Richardson estimates that this year 60 per cent of the currently registered 9,971 voters turned out at the polls.

Something new for Canton Twp.

Beginning next Monday, a new newspaper will be serving Canton Township — The Canton Observer & Eccentric.

"We are recognizing that Canton is the fastest growing area in southeastern Michigan and that it's developing its own identity," said Philip H. Power, board chairman of Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

"It will be devoted to the interests of Canton Township and its roles in both the Plymouth School District and the Wayne-Westland School District."

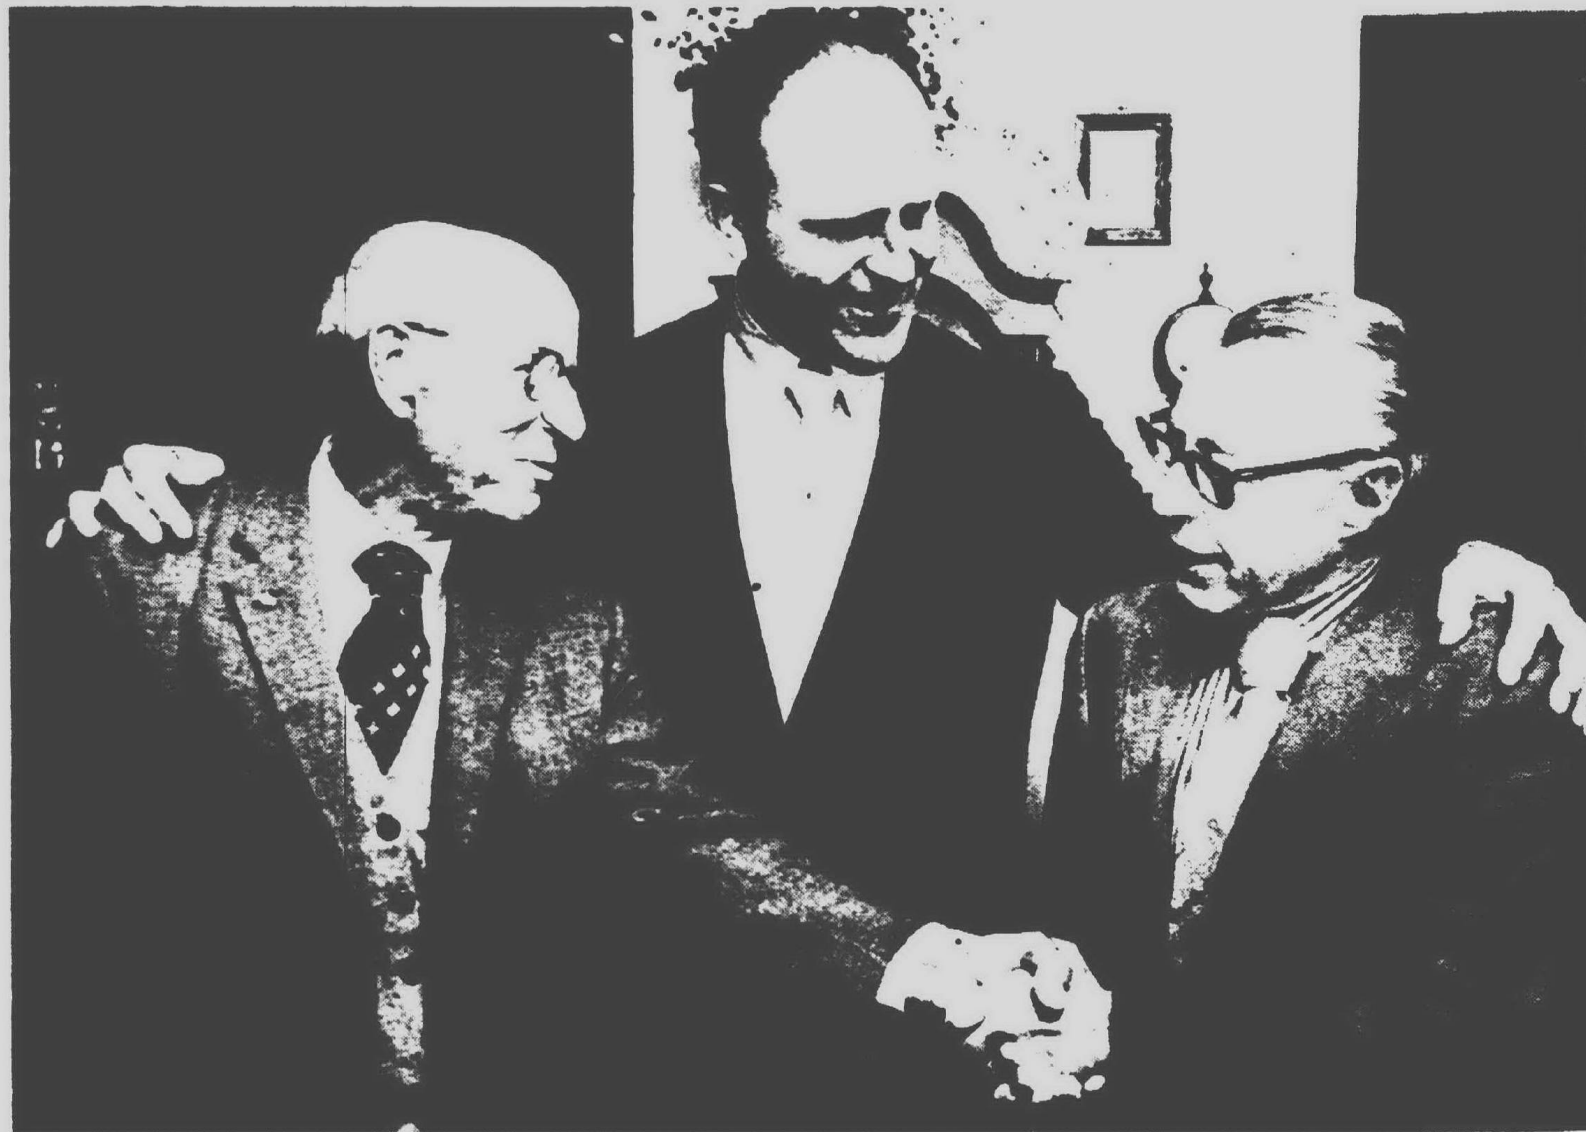

"At the same time, Canton readers will get many of the same features that characterize the other 11 Observer & Eccentric Newspapers — sports coverage, Suburban Life features, editorials, home and garden pages, the Spotlight feature, classified ads and the rest," Power said.

Editing both the Plymouth and Canton editions will be Michael Arnholt, who recently joined the staff as Plymouth editor. Bylines that will be familiar to Canton readers will be Marie McGee, who has been on the staff of these papers for five years; Richard Gold, a University of Michigan graduate and new reporter; and the popular W.W. (The Stroller) Edgar with his unsurpassed grasp of local lore.

Circulation will be expanded southward to subdivisions in the Wayne-Westland School District. The new combined circulation of the Plymouth and Canton editions will be more than 13,500, up about 2,000 from the present Plymouth edition serving both communities, according to Marketing Director Art Shafer.

Rocks may repeat feat of '52

By FRED DELANO

The stage is set for one of the state's choicest high school football attractions of the autumn Saturday afternoon—and the first such plum involving Plymouth within memory.

It will match Plymouth-Salem's unbeaten, untied Suburban Eight champions against Farmington Harrison's similarly unbeaten and untied champions of the Western Six.

The battle is booked for 2 p.m. Saturday at Harrison, located on 12 Mile Road a short distance west of Middlebelt, and although it is not considered officially as a playoff between the two leagues the fate of the schedule makes it exactly that.

Moreover, the contest has gained statewide stature because with both clubs possessing 8-0 records they are among the last few unblemished Class A teams in Michigan, and both are ranked in the top 10 in most polls.

In this week's Associated Press poll, Plymouth Salem is ranked No. 7 among the Class A teams in Michigan and Farmington Harrison No. 8. United Press International has Harrison listed No. 5 and Salem No. 6.

AN ADDED GOAL for Plymouth's Rocks under Coach Tom Moshimer is to match the only 9-0-0 mark ever recorded by a Plymouth eleven—one which was posted in 1952 during Charley Ketterer's coaching era.

Those Rocks of 22 seasons ago, captained by Ron Nyhus, swept through their nine opponents with these scores: 35-0 over Northville, 13-0 over Redford Union, 16-0 over Allen Park, 20-7 over Belleville, 7-6 over Bentley, 20-7 over Trenton, 20-13 over Wayne, 47-7 over Southfield and 39-6 over Garden City. They outscored the opposition, 217 to 45.

Ketterer, now in the insurance business in the Petoskey-Harbor Springs area, still is a frequent Plymouth visitor.

He had been a high school star at Detroit Northwestern and lettered both in baseball and basketball at the University of Michigan. Too light for varsity football, he quarterbacked the U-M's 150-pound jayvee team under Coach George Allen, now head coach of the Washington Redskins.

Ketterer coached at Northville and River Rouge before being hired in Plymouth.

ATHLETIC DIRECTORS John Sandmann of Plymouth and Jack Cotton at Farmington have scheduled Salem against Harrison in a non-league finale each year since 1971. Harrison's Hawks also were Western Six champs that fall and beat the Rocks, 28-13. Since then, however, it has been Plymouth on top—35-6 in 1972 and 20-12 last year.

In rolling to their first league title since 1963, the Rocks have benefited from extremely good balance in their ground game and an efficient although infrequently used aerial arm.

Fullback Scott Agnew, although slowed in mid-season by a leg injury, is the leading rusher with 448 yards in 75 carries. Halfback Doug Tripp has added 425, quarterback Tom Dillon 376 and halfbacks Joe Hibler and Charlie Johnston 348 and 300 respectively. Every one of them is averaging better than 4½ yards per carry.

Dillon, who is a quiz on his quarterback pitchouts from the wishbone option, has thrown only 23 passes in eight games but 12 completions give him a creditable 52 per cent average. His throws have gone for 165 yards

Republicans, incumbents rack up victories

By TIM RICHARD

Michigan Democrats will dine on Republican turkeys this Thanksgiving, but not on Republican moderates. In the face of a Democratic landslide, Republicans in western Wayne County not only held their 1972 victory margins but, in some cases increased them.

U.S. Rep. Marvin Esch (R-Ann Arbor) lost both Monroe and Washtenaw counties, but his victory margin in western Wayne wiped out Democrat John Reuther's margins there, and Esch won his fifth term in the Capitol.

Not a single incumbent was defeated in congressional, legislative and county board posts in Tuesday's balloting.

The victories of both Esch and State Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth) catapulted them into statewide prominence in GOP circles. Esch is publicly coy but has been known to be interested in a 1976 U.S. Senate race, when Democrat Philip Hart retires.

Pursell has an excellent chance at a leadership position in the State Senate with the defeat of GOP Senate leader Milton Zaagman of Grand Rapids. And in 1978 Pursell would have to be considered a contender for a state ticket nomination.

On the Democratic side, U.S. Rep. William D. Ford (D-Taylor) accumulated a crushing 79 per cent of the vote in the 15th District to mark him as a '76 Senate contender if he so chooses.

Here is a rundown of suburban voting in Tuesday's general election:

GOVERNOR

Although Democratic challenger Sander Levin concentrated hard on Livonia and the western suburbs, Republican Gov. William Milliken increased his 1970 margin in several spots.

Milliken increased his percentage of the vote by more than seven per cent in Garden City; by more than six per cent in Plymouth, Livonia and Canton Township; by more than five per cent in Plymouth Township and by lesser amounts in Redford and Westland.

Levin was the top vote-getter in only two of those cities: Westland and Garden City, where he had only one and two per cent margins.

Precise figures were unavailable in Livonia, where City Clerk Addison Bacon closed up shop and shipped all totals to the county.

2ND DISTRICT CONGRESS

Esch defeated Reuther 72,057 to 62,222 in a district that was redistricted in 1972 for a possible Democratic takeover.

Esch carried western Wayne 27,667 to 17,305 to pile up more than a 10,000 vote lead that Democratic newcomer Reuther couldn't overcome. Esch's victory statement needed the United Auto Workers union, which heavily backed the nephew of the late Walter Reuther.

Eastern Washtenaw County backed Reuther 31,451 to 30,731, for a plurality of 720, and Monroe County backed Reuther 14,066 to 13,659, a margin of 407.

15TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

William D. Ford coasted more easily to victory in this, his sixth run for Congress, than ever before.

The former Taylor justice of the peace, Constitutional Convention delegate and state senator gathered 79 per cent of the vote as he defeated Jack Underwood 85,497 to 22,573 in southwestern Wayne County suburbs.

Garden City and Westland combined backed Ford 20,602 to 5,417.

Two years ago Ford piled up 65.8 per cent of the vote as he defeated Ernest Fackler.

17TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

A Democrat will continue to represent this area, including northwest Detroit, Redford Township, Farmington and Southfield despite the retirement of veteran Rep. Martha Griffiths.

In fact, State Rep. William Brodhead (D-Detroit) won by an even bigger percentage, 70.3, than Mrs. Griffiths' 66.4 per cent in 1972.

In the Oakland County portion, Brodhead led Republican Kenneth Gallagher 26,703 to 17,171. In the Wayne portion, Brodhead's margin was 67,614 to 22,686.

13TH SENATE DISTRICT

Unchallenged in the primary, Democratic Sen. William Faust (D-Westland) coasted to a third term, turning back Republican newcomer James Walaskay, 34,077 to 10,578.

In Garden City and Westland, Faust received 18,686 votes to Walaskay's 5,349.

A former Nankin Township (now Westland) supervisor, Faust got 76.1 per cent of the vote in 1970 and so had little room to nudge upwards his margin this year. He received 76.3 per cent.

14TH SENATE DISTRICT

Pursell piled up 3-1 margins in his home territory of Plymouth city and township and coasted everywhere else to win a second four-year term in the upper house.

He got 62.3 per cent of the vote as he defeated Democratic newcomer Michael O'Shea 42,893 to 25,245.

Pursell even carried Redford Township, an area that is considered normally heavily Democratic. He had concentrated on Redford in his legislative work since that area was added to the district two years ago.

Pursell developed a technique as a legislator of keeping in close contact with local officeholders, whatever their party. He taught the technique to several other politicians in the area who used it to good advantage in their races.

Pursell's Senate district includes Redford, Livonia, Plymouth and Northville.

Seeking a second term, Democratic State Rep. William Keith extended his victory margin percentage-wise, although the total district vote dropped markedly.

Keith got 12,385 votes or 82.4 per cent to 2,637 for Republican Lavaughn Wethington. The district covers Garden City and Inkster.

Two years ago, Keith collected 69 per cent of the vote. Tuesday's turnout was 15,022 compared to nearly 23,000 two years ago.

34TH HOUSE DISTRICT

State Rep. John Bennett (D-Redford) was unopposed, gathering 19,138 votes, about 2,400 less than in 1972 when he faced a Republican.

Redford's three-way battle for township supervisor was won by Democratic nominee Patrick McDonald, who outdistanced Republican Michael Hopp and incumbent Supervisor Bill J. Robbins, whom McDonald ousted in the primary. Robbins' write-in effort gained only 11 per cent of the votes.

35TH HOUSE DISTRICT

If State Rep. Robert Geake (R-Northville) was in trouble, it didn't develop on election day.

Geake won a second term, turning back Democrat R. William Joyner 13,538 to 9,699 in a district that includes two-thirds of Livonia and all of the Northville community.

Joyner, making his second bid for the Legislature in as many districts, did little better than Geake's opposition of two years ago. Geake got 59.8 per cent of the vote in 1972 and 58.2 per cent this year.

36TH HOUSE DISTRICT

It was a squeaker two years ago in the middle of the busing controversy but no contest Tuesday.

State Rep. John Markes (D-Westland) won a second term, defeating Republican Ralph Miller, the man who battled him to a near-standstill in 1972.

Markes got 13,860 to Miller's 6,336 for a better than 2-1 margin. Markes had edged Miller by 237 votes in their previous encounter.

37TH HOUSE DISTRICT

Democrat Thomas Brown of Westland won a third term in the Legislature, outdistancing Republican newcomer Brian Kidston of Plymouth 13,175 to 5,309.

Brown's split of the vote was 71.2 per cent compared to 58.9 per cent last time out. Kidston led slightly in the Plymouth Township portion, but Brown overwhelmed him in Westland, where he had once been mayor.

52ND HOUSE DISTRICT

Republican Roy Smith continued his party's control of this largely rural district that crosses the Washtenaw County line into Plymouth.

Smith gained readmission to the Capitol by defeating Democrat Merian Fredericks 13,913 to 9,701.

Smith won the City of Plymouth 1,859 to 1,081 and carried the township by 2,190 to 1,175.

Smith replaces Republican Ray Smit, who declined to seek re-election.

WAYNE COUNTY BOARD

Three incumbents and one former member were elected to the Wayne County Board of Commissioners from area districts.

Democrat Richard Manning won a third term, defeating Republican Joseph Schmidt 17,089 to 9,038 in a district that includes all of Redford Township, a corner of northwest Detroit and five square miles of Livonia.

Republican Mary Dumas won an all-woman contest, defeating first commissioner from the Livonia-Northville district to seek a second term.

Tom Taylor (D-Westland) won a second term—and perhaps a shot at the chairmanship—as he defeated Republican Mary Cesnick 13,692 to 5,995.

Royce Smith (D-Belleville) had no Republican opposition and gathered 15,419 votes to 980 for the American Independent Party candidate, Forrest Chapman. Smith had served on the board when it was the unrestricted board of supervisors.

Pursell leads city vote

PLYMOUTH—Close to 60 per cent of the city's voters made it to the polls on Tuesday with 3,434 of 5,834 registered voters casting their ballots.

Voters split their tickets freely giving State Se. Carl D. Pursell 2,446 votes as the top Republican vote getter while at the same time giving 1,972 votes to Democrat Richard Austin for Secretary of State, the top Democratic vote-getter in the city.

Republicans were the big winners, however, among the Plymouth electorate as U.S. Rep. Marvin Esch took a 2-1 margin over his Democratic opponent, John S. Reuther 2206-1007; Pursell commanded a 3-1 margin over Democrat Michael O'Shea 2446-778; and Roy Smith polled close to a 2-1 margin over his Democratic opponent, Merian Frederick, 1859-1081 in the 52nd State Representative District race.

Governor Milliken received 2,441 votes from Plymouth residents while Democrat Sander Levin polled a small 885.

Ticket switching was also prevalent in the attorney general's race, as Republican Myron Wahls was topped by Attorney General Frank Kelley by more than 500 votes, 1,844 to 1,329.

Voter turnout may have been hampered by the continuing rain throughout the day as 59.8 per cent of the registered voters cast their ballots. In 1970, 68.9 per cent turned out and in 1972, a presidential election year, 73.6 per cent of the registered voters in the city cast ballots.

Governor Milliken did much better this time around with the Plymouth electorate than he did four years ago. In 1970, he polled 66.6 per cent of the gubernatorial vote, while Tuesday's totals place the Milliken margin in Plymouth at the 73.3 per cent mark.

Plymouth went against the bulk of the state's voters on three of the four statewide proposals.

On Proposal A which would limit the amount of gas tax money that can be used for mass transit, the totals in the city were 1,288 yes and 1,634 no.

On the related Proposal D which would have allowed the state to bond for mass transit, Plymouth gave a slight nod of approval with 1,699 yes and 1,404 no.

Plymouth also went against the state vote on Proposal C, which will remove the sales tax on food and limit the sales tax on drugs to two per cent. The city totals were 1,644 no and 1,547 yes.

The only issue in which the city's voters agreed with the rest of the electorate of the state was Proposal B—granting a bonus of from $450 to $600 to Vietnam era veterans. The vote was a commanding 2,240 yes to 942 no.

Minor party candidates in the city took less than two per cent in a variety of races. Top vote-getters in all races among the minor party candidates were members of the Human Rights Party.

The party's standard bearer, Zolton Ferency, a former Democratic candidate for governor in 1966, polled only 40 Plymouth votes. Other HRP candidates who outpolled Ferency in Plymouth included Karen Lee Baize in a bid for the State Board of Education with 43 votes; M. Therese De Camp at 49 and Bradley K. Sullivan at 46 in the MSU Board of Trustees race, and M. Elizabeth Bunn with 43 votes in the Board of Governors race for Wayne State University.

American Independent Party candidates who polled at least one per cent of the city vote included Keith Pratt with 35 in the 52nd District State Representative race, John W. Purcell Sr. polling 46 votes in the MSU Board of Trustees race, and E. Forrest Chapman with 68 in the 27th District County Commissioner race.

Voters reject police millage

PLYMOUTH—In this year of spiraling inflation, residents of Plymouth Township have made it clear they don't want more government spending—at least at the township level. The millage question, a three mill proposal to fund a township police department, was soundly defeated by a 900 vote margin.

The proposal was offered to the voters primarily because Wayne County may terminate sheriff's road patrols in all townships. It is not definite the county will drop police protection in Plymouth Township, but if it does, it will leave the area with only state trooper patrols.

Of the 5,319 votes cast on the proposition, 3,107 were against the proposed force, while 2,212 were in favor. The margin of defeat was 58.4 per cent.

The millage, if fully implemented, would have raised approximately $535,000 for the support of a 15-man police force. Cost of the force was estimated at $400,000 with salaries the major portion. Salaries and pension costs would have been about $280,000.

The department would have consisted of a lieutenant, four sergeants, one detective sergeant and nine patrolmen.

Equipment for the department, which would have included five squad cars, a radio transmitter, and miscellaneous items, was approximated at $80,000.

The issue was placed on the ballot despite last year's advisory ballot in which 52 per cent of the voters expressed satisfaction with current police protection. Said Township Clerk Helen Richardson, "basically we put the issue on the ballot to see if the people were willing to support additional police protection."

Had the millage been passed it would not have been collected until December of 1975, because of the time involved in organizing the department.

According to supervisor J.D. McLaren, the department would have concentrated on enforcement of local ordinances while leaving such areas as youth bureaus and detective work to the larger county and state agencies. It would, however, have been a "full service department" stated McLaren.

Charter commission elected

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP—For close to 20 years now, voters in the township east of McClumpha Road have been electing charter commissioners for the "proposed" city of Plymouth Heights.

And Tuesday's election was no different. Voters chose nine commissioners from a list of 12 to write a charter which will most likely fail when put to the voters within the next two years.

In the mid-50s, township residents voted approval of setting up the charter commission and elected its first charter commission. Since that time, because of a provision in the State's Home Rule Act, voters have not had to vote on the original question of city status for Plymouth Heights.

Section 17 of the Home Rule Act provides that if a charter is presented to the voters and fails, a new charter commission can be petitioned for by 300 voters within 10 days of the charter's defeat.

Elected to serve on Plymouth Heights' newest charter commission were: Robert Richardson, Charles Childs, Anne Hoffman, Robert Kenyon, Soren Pedersen, Robert Brooks, James Gignac, Joseph Krochmalny, and James Kratzner.

The losers in the race were Andrew Pruner, Clayton Foor, and Peter Rogissart.

The charter commission will have two years to produce a charter and present it to the voters. During that period the proposed charter can be placed on the ballot as many as three times.

PCF supports Salvation Army

PLYMOUTH—Every other day of the year, on the average, the Plymouth Salvation Army helps someone in trouble.

It could be a family left homeless from a severe fire; a father of four who has just lost his job, or a widow who can't make ends meet this month because of her child's illness.

"Sometimes it's simply a matter of little things, all going wrong at the same time," explains Dallas Raby, who recently succeeded Warren Yoder as head of the Plymouth SAC, a Community Fund agency.

"Our help is usually in the form of food or occasionally some clothing or furniture. Even a tank full of gas might enable someone to find or maintain a job until he begins drawing a paycheck."

The SAC headquarters at 290 Fairground St. offers activities and services for Plymouth residents of all ages. For example, it becomes a drop-in center for pre-schoolers from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. every Tuesday and Thursday. "This gives the youngsters a chance to meet and adjust to other children and group activities before they begin regular school, and gives mothers some free time for shopping, dental appointments or other errands," says Raby. "The mothers provide snacks and help out when needed, but the service is free of charge."

Teenagers meet each Monday evening at the center for educational and recreational programs, and to plan trips and service projects. Grade-schoolers come to the building after school on Tuesdays for games, handicrafts and a supper which they help prepare and serve. An adult club each Wednesday evening offers programs that are spiritual, educational, service oriented, or just plain fun. The adults also visit shut-ins and institutional patients during the year.

The elderly residents of Tonquish Creek Manor are treated to bi-monthly shopping trips aboard the Salvation Army mini-bus. "The trips may include visits to the local bank, grocery stores and shopping centers," Raby relates. "And at least once a year, the group is taken to the County Health Center for flu shots and chest x-rays."

"The mini-bus is also available at any local disaster, a fire for example. We are prepared to serve either snacks such as doughnuts and coffee, or entire meals in the case of an extended emergency. Local firemen and police appreciate the chance to come aboard the mini-bus to warm themselves," he added, "since the majority of crises seem to happen during the winter."

Across Wayne County, across Michigan, and in every other state in the country, people rely upon the Salvation Army for many kinds of aid. Its specialized county-wide services include an Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center, Missing Persons Bureau, Children's Home, Hospital for Unwed Mothers, Emergency Lodge, Senior Citizens Residence, hotel for young business women, Sheltered Workshop for Men, Prison and Veterans Hospital visitation and several Salvation Army used furniture stores.

Although not located in Plymouth, all of these services and facilities are available to local residents through referral by Raby's office.

Help to support the Salvation Army and other community service projects of the Plymouth Community Fund comes from the generosity and selflessness of Plymouth area residents.

If you have not already been contacted to support the Community Fund you can use the pledge form provided below.

Week remains in drive

PLYMOUTH—A week remains for representatives of the Plymouth Community Fund to collect close to $100,000 to meet their goal.

This year, the many volunteers working on the Community Fund Drive, are eyeing a goal of $220,000 to maintain the nine separate service agencies that serve the Plymouth Community.

Pledges and cash totaling close to $122,000 were reported on Monday to put the fund at 55 per cent of the goal.

By next Thursday, when the Community Fund's board of directors and division chairmen meet at the Western Electric Co. for a noon victory luncheon, general chairman Don Fleming is hopeful that the goal will be reached.

"We've had many people working very hard and it's the kind of effort we need to put us over the top," Fleming noted on Monday. "But we can't become complacent, we need every dollar we can get to continue these vital services to the community."

Fleming said he was hopeful that industry would, as in past years, provide their share of the goal, despite an uncertain economic climate.

"We're optimistic that people will rise to the challenge and meet this goal, to aid the many unfortunate people who will benefit."

In addition to support to scouting, YMCA and other recreation programs within the Plymouth Community, the Community Fund provides the sole funds for a Family Services program, Senior Citizens Club, Visiting Nurses Association and the Plymouth Red Cross. Funds from the Community Fund are also given to the Michigan Cancer Foundation to aid in cancer research.

FOR THE SECOND TIME a telescope at Centennial Educational Park has been stolen. Teacher Steve Rea points out where the thief cut the sheet metal roof to take the scope and its mount, valued at $900. (Staff photo)

Telescope taken from school park

CANTON—Star gazers at the Centennial Educational Park will have to use the naked eye to chart the heavens, because somebody walked off with the students' only telescope.

Cutting a hole in the park's observatory roof, an unknown thief made off with the $300 scope and its $600 motorized mount sometime between Oct. 25 and 27.

This isn't the first time the park's telescope has been pilfered, according to Steve Rea, a science teacher at Plymouth-Canton High. The heist took place about 1½ years ago. Rea noted that the first one was replaced by the school, but doubts if this second loss will be replaced in the near future.

The telescope was housed in a cinder block observatory, about one-half mile from the school buildings on school district property. Rea reported to state police that although locks for the sliding roof were supposed to be locked, when the theft was discovered, the locks were open and the sheet metal roof had been cut open.

The teacher speculated that the thief may have had access to keys, and attempted to make it look like entry was gained through the hole in the roof.

The telescope and its mount were not insured, according to Rea, because insurance rates on items like this run close to replacement cost.

The scope is approximately five feet long and one foot in diameter. Rea is hopeful that the scope and mount will be returned because it was used frequently by many students and "it's important to them."

Schools' bond rating up

By RICHARD GOLD

PLYMOUTH—The Plymouth School District now has an AA bond rating, and according to Business Manager Raymond Hoedel it is going to save local taxpayers about $600,000.

The change in "the credit rating" became effective Oct. 25, just five days before the sale of $9.97 million in bonds earmarked for construction of three new elementary schools and an addition to Canton High.

The 25-year bonds were sold at a net interest rate of 7.01 per cent to a 20 member syndicate from Chicago on Oct. 30.

"If it weren't for the change in the rating, we probably would have had to sell at 7.4 per cent net interest, and the difference to the taxpayers over the life of the bonds would have been about $600,000," asserts Hoedel.

HOEDEL CAME UP with the idea of trying to get the school district more "bonding power" after talking to financial expert Raymond Stauder, who was hired by the school board to consult on the sale of the bonds.

After the bond issue was passed in June, Hoedel made some serious inquiries into the rating system. He discovered that the B-AA rating the school system had previously been given, had been upgraded to an A-1 unofficially because all school bonds are insured by the state as a matter of law. (An A-1 rating is one step below AA.)

"We prepared a portfolio, and went to see Moody's Investor Service, which is the official rating firm," explained Hoedel.

He and Stauder gathered the pertinent facts and presented them to Moody. Hoedel brought figures on the district's expanding tax base, and cited the construction of Meijer's Thrifty Acres, Kresge's warehouse and a K-mart store as evidence.

HE ALSO pointed to the construction of the I-275 freeway, which will run parallel to Haggerty. It will provide a link to the major commerce channels in the state, specifically I-96, I-94, and I-75. It is expected by Hoedel that I-275 will draw additional businesses to the area in the future, and further enhance the tax base.

Hoedel showed Moody's a demographic survey of the area that indicated school enrollment would continue to rise, especially at the elementary level. He brought with him as evidence aerial photographs he had borrowed from Jim McCartney, executive director of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce.

"We gave them a comprehensive picture of the tax situation for residents in the school district, as well as an audited report on the district's debt situation and the school budget," commented Hoedel.

Hoedel's preparation was rewarded as the school district received the AA rating. According to Hoedel, that's as good as any school district in the country.

Plymouth man heads division

Robert A. Jacobson of Plymouth is the recently appointed manager of the Detroit district of Servomation Corp., North Central Division.

He is in charge of the company's new five-acre Romulus operating center which includes a commissary, warehouse, maintenance department and offices. The center replaces a facility in Ypsilanti.

Servomation, one of the nation's largest food and refreshment service organizations, provides both vended and manual food services in 41 states and Canada.

Before heading the Detroit district, Jacobson had served as general manager of Servomation's Moline district in Illinois. Earlier he had been an operations manager in the Northern Illinois area.

RONALD S. LIJEWSKI of Huff Street, Livonia, has been promoted to vice president at Harlan Electric Company, Southfield. He will be one of four divisional managers responsible for construction projects and other customer services. A 12-year resident of Livonia, he has been with Harlan for 14 years, serving successively as draftsman, estimator, contract manager and acting divisional manager.

Compensation booklet offered

A new guide to workmen's compensation benefits has just been published by the Michigan Department of Labor.

The "Guide to Workmen's Compensation Benefits," written in easy to understand question and answer form, is available free of charge by writing to the Bureau of Workmen's Compensation, 300 E. Michigan Ave., Lansing, Mich. 48926.

According to Ernest C. Fackler, director of the bureau, the pamphlet represents several months of work by more than 30 leaders in Michigan industry and labor.

"AMONG THOSE who worked on this brochure, the first in 10 years, were members of the United Auto Workers, several insurance companies, the Michigan Self-Insurers Association, Workmen's Compensation Lawyers Council and the Workmen's Compensation section of the State Bar," Fackler said.

Michigan's program covers 3.9 million workers and paid out $257 million in benefits last year, Fackler reported.

HERMAN G. DUERR of Livonia, art director of FRIENDS magazine, recently spoke on "The Editor and Art Director Partnership" at a luncheon ending the 35th annual conference and short-course in yearbook production sponsored by Columbia University in New York City. He has been art director of FRIENDS since 1967. The magazine is sent by dealers to Chevrolet customers.

U-M staffers keep busy

Among the faculty and staff of the University of Michigan-Dearborn, who are involved in projects in addition to their campus responsibilities are William Agresti of Westland and Virginia Lewis of Livonia.

Agresti, assistant professor of industrial and systems engineering recently presented a paper on "Nonserial Dynamic Programming" at the 45th joint national meeting of the Operations Research Society of America and the Institute of Management Sciences in Boston.

Virginia Lewis, administrative associate, College of Arts, Sciences, and Letters, will attend the national conference on "Field Experience Education: Strategies and Tactics," in Atlanta, Ga. this month.

THE RECORD

The most successful era in Plymouth high school's modern football history ran from 1952 through 1963, as the following won-lost record of the teams since 1948 shows. During those 12 years the Rocks of PHS won or tied for the Suburban Six title seven times.

Undisputed championships were won in 1952, 1954, 1961 and 1963. The Rocks of 1953, 1957 and 1959 tied for the crown.

Besides Plymouth, the league then included Livonia Bentley, Redford Union, Belleville, Allen Park and Trenton. In 1971, Dearborn High School and Dearborn Edsel Ford were added to give the loop its current status as the Suburban Eight.

The continuity of the Rocks — through membership in the Sub —, nickname, and identity of coaches — remained with Plymouth-Salem High School when district growth brought the opening of a second high school, Plymouth-Canton, in the early '70s. The Canton Chiefs are in the Western Six Conference with Northville, Farmington-Harrison, Livonia Churchill, Waterford Mott and Walled Lake West-ern.

(I) Incomplete — one game yet to play.

eight opponents, 149 to 48, allowing seven touchdowns—four in the air and only three on the ground. Harrison's figures are even more impressive, the Hawks having rolled up 207 points against only 36 for the opposition.

Salem's march to state ranking has included these victims: Bloomfield Hills Andover, 21-20; Trenton, 19-0; Edsel Ford, 15-7; Livonia Bentley, 16-0; Dearborn, 17-6; Allen Park, 34-0; Belleville, 13-8, and Redford Union, 14-7.

Harrison has whipped Farmington, 21-7; Birmingham Groves, 28-6; Northville, 9-6 in overtime; Waterford Mott, 35-3; Walled Lake Western, 28-0; Livonia Churchill, 37-0; Plymouth Canton, 28-0, and North Farmington, 21-14.

Coach John Harrington's Hawks are blessed with exceptionally good speed and a quick striking offense led by quarterback Sam Pink, halfback Dave Thorne and a sure-handed receiver in Craig Valassis.

Following the Rocks to cheer them on will be a student pep band and what is expected to be one of the largest delegations of fans that has accompanied a Plymouth team on the road in years.

MEANWHILE, Canton's Chiefs—who tied with Northville and Churchill for second in the Western Six—will be at home Friday night in the final local game of the season.

The 8 p.m. non-league foe for the 3-5 Chiefs will be 5-3 Dearborn which tied for third in the Suburban Eight. This game also will mark the final halftime appearance for the Centennial Park Marching Band which will appear in the Orange Bowl Parade at Miami on New Year's Eve.

Greenstein slate wins in Canton

The vote on Proposal A, limiting the amount of gas tax money that can be spent for mass transit, showed that Canton gave 2,435 yes votes to 2,357 no.

On Proposal B, granting a bonus of from $450 to $600 to Vietnam era veterans, the vote in the township was 3,139 yes to 1,610 no.

Removing the sales tax on food and drugs was the issue on Proposal C and voters cast 2,664 yes votes to 2,146 no.

Proposal D, which would have allowed the state to finance a $1.1 billion bond issue for mass transit, was defeated in Canton by a margin of 2,175 yes votes to 2,400 no votes.

Street paving considered in city

PLYMOUTH—Seven streets, four of which are carryovers from the 1971 paving program, are being considered for future improvement by the city commission.

However, more streets are likely to be added to the list following a report he will make in two weeks. City Manager Fred Yockey told the city commission this week.

Streets under consideration are: Herald from Maple to Linden; Roe from Union to the C&O Railroad; Hamilton from Ann Arbor Trail to the south; Maple from Hamilton to Virginia; Virginia from Maple to Fair; Burroughs from Harding to Fairground; and Coolidge from Hart-

All are slated for paving and curbing and appurtenances.

From the list, Herald, Maple, Virginia and Burroughs were part of the original accelerated paving program adopted on Feb. 24, 1971.

Roe, Hamilton and Coolidge were included because of their "inadequate structural conditions," commented Alan Gove, city engineer.

Besides additions to the list, Yockey's report also will include an estimate of costs and a determination of what part will be financed through special assessment and the city's share of the program.

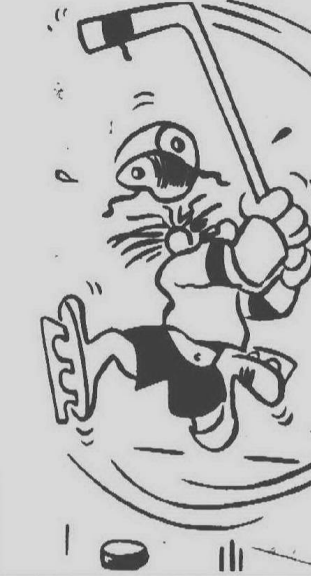

Receive scholarships

PLYMOUTH—James D. Warren Jr. and David J. Sibbold, students at the University of Michigan Graduate School of Business Administration, have both received general university scholarships to assist in the continuation of their graduate studies.

Warren holds two degrees from U-M. One is in industrial and operations engineering and one in music. He is a graduate of Plymouth High School and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Warren of 48084 Colony Farms Circle.

Sibbold is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nat Sibbold, 1445 Wavewood, Milford. He is also a graduate of Plymouth High School. He received his degree at U-M in industrial engineering.

Mrs. Richardson commented that the confidentiality will only agree under these terms and that the taxes amount to approximately $8,000. Discussion followed regarding the various terms in the purchase agreement. Mrs. Richardson stated that Mr. Hoyt from the Manufacturers Life Insurance Company informed her that by going to a group plan with all Townships who wish to join, a dividend of up to 47 1/2% may be realized. Mr. Ash asked if this was a group plan not available to cities, but only to Townships. Mr. McLaren replied in the affirmative, stating that if the loss ratio of the present membership does not change, a return premium would be in the neighborhood of 47 1/2%. The motion carried unanimously.

RESOLUTIONS-Elizabeth Holmes, Treasurer-Re: Requesting Wayne County Drain Office to release the balance of funds in the Plymouth Township Drains No. 1 and 2. Mrs. Richardson moved approval of the Resolution and supported by Mr. Ash. The Resolution carried unanimously.

WHY PAY TO SUFFER? by DOC KEETH

It's costing you money... that dry, parched, stuffy feeling you get in your nose, eyes and throat during the indoor heating season.

Why are you actually paying for this discomfort? Well, it's because you are burning more fuel than you need to burn for comfort. You see, when the air is dry it draws moisture from living tissues (that's you!) This process makes you cool, so therefore it takes extra heat to make you comfortable... up to 20% more fuel than if the air were not so dry. And you pay through the nose in more ways than one.

The answer is controlled humidity during the heating season. With proper humidity, you'll feel just as warm at 72° as you do at 78° or thereabouts with low humidity. Your throat, nose and eyes will feel much better, too. So will your pocketbook.

Don't forget the health aspect of proper humidity, too. Dried out membranes are a target for germs. Skin and hair are healthier, look better, when not parched. And how about furniture, musical instruments and book bindings?... all can be damaged severely by overly dry indoor air. Lennox engineers and scientists offer us relief from the cost and discomfort of low indoor humidity during the heating season. That relief is in the form of effective, yet low cost humidifiers which add moisture to the heated air as it leaves your furnace. We will be happy to tell you, and show you, more.

3 local JA centers still accepting applicants

Junior Achievement companies at the Plymouth, Wayne and Redford centers are still accepting new applicants of high school age.

The newly established businesses are JA companies. High school students in the JA program meet one evening per week from 7-9 p.m. at a JA center near their homes and run their own small corporations. Almost 300 new businesses opened throughout southeastern Michigan during October.

JA offers high school students a venture into the business world and first-hand experience in running a company. JA members sell stock and then make and sell their own company products while learning the principles of salesmanship, leadership and business. The program runs through April.

JA is a non-profit organization supported by more than 500 Michigan businesses.

The Plymouth Center is located at 585 W. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth; the Wayne Center, at 3139 Wayne Road, Wayne, and the Redford Center, at 26905 Grand River near Inkster Road. More information about JA is available by calling the centers.

Declining prices make calculators useful

By MARILYN FITCHETT

Will the pocket electronic calculator follow the route of the transistor radio which skyrocketed in popularity and then dipped to obscurity?

That's the belief of at least one local dealer as falling prices are making the handy and efficient machines accessible to more of the general public.

"I don't think you could find one person who didn't buy at least one transistor radio when they were selling for $2 or $3," said a calculator salesman at a Plymouth office supply store.

"And you'd have a hard time finding anyone who still has one around the house. I think it will be the same with pocket calculators."

THE SALESMAN whose store deals in calculators ranging in price from $59.95 to $400 contends that while his volume of sales remains the same, housewives and students rather than businessmen are his best customers.

"Housewives are buying them for general household work and I'm finding late high school and college students also a part of the market," he added that while high production and stiff competition is causing prices to drop, it has also caused ordering difficulties.

"We used to order 24 to 36 at a time. Now we order two at a time," he said. "After all, if last year calculators were selling for $189 and this year the same models are selling for $79, it seems to me that someone's going to get ripped off along the way."

A salesman at Mecca Office Supply in Redford predicted the price of the simple, four-function calculator will go down to $9.95 by Christmas.

A LOT MORE PEOPLE are buying them now for their own use, where I used to sell them mostly to engineers and businessmen," the Redford salesman said.

"The only drawback is that some of these people don't understand what these machines are capable of and unless they understand the calculator's function, they're not going to be coming up with correct answers."

A Hudson's saleswoman echoed his complaints.

"A lot of people come in and are buying calculators for others and they just don't know what that person needs," she said. "You really have to pump them for information."

CALCULATORS have two drawbacks, she added.

"The cheaper calculators do not have a tape on them and people can't check to see if they've punched the right numbers," she said. "Those with tapes start at $259 here."

"The other disadvantage is that there aren't any firms in Michigan which fix them so if they need repair you have to mail them back to out-state manufacturers," she said.

"If the prices go much lower the quality of the calculator is bound to fall," a Sears salesman added with concern.

EVEN THOUGH dealers say they have been selling more calculators to housewives they have not begun to surface noticeably at area supermarkets.

In a mini-poll of 11 Chatham and Farmer Jack supermarkets in the area only one manager could recall seeing shoppers with calculators.

"I've only seen a very small number using them," a Chatham manager said. "Most of the time they want to see if they have enough money before they get to the check-out."

But he also recalled a problem with shoppers using them.

"We had one shopper who demanded that we run our tape over because our total didn't figure with hers," he said. "We did and our cashier was right. The shopper apparently didn't punch something right."

POCKET CALCULATORS are also beginning to surface around small business offices although larger firms have been using them for at least two years.

"I use mine just for adding," said a Plymouth used car salesman. "I used to use a pencil and a paper but this is much faster and it looks more professional."

Detroit Edison, on the other hand, offers its engineers the use of calculators which produce a tape to program a computer.

MOST ELEMENTARY educators felt that the prices of calculators were still too high for parents to buy them for their children. But those polled indicated they would not object to students using them in certain situations.

"I haven't heard of any student using one yet," said William Stafford, principal of Hayes School in Westland.

"I guess I would have mixed emotions about them. We let kids use other types of learning devices so I don't see why they wouldn't be able to use calculators."

It seems to me that if they understand the process that must be worked to solve a problem then it would be all right for calculators to be used.

JAMES COOK, assistant principal of Bryant Junior High School in Livonia, also reported that he had not heard of students using calculators.

"To my knowledge we haven't a policy against them," Cook said. "In fact we're even trying to get one for a student who has a severe learning disability. He just can't work math."

"But for the average student I think it would depend on the child. I don't think I'd want my fourth grader to use it as a crutch but I don't see why a college student should have to work out complicated problems in long-hand."

"Where the problem would arise would be in the area of the four basic arithmetic functions. I think these are skills that people still need to learn," he said.

MARY BUDA, a math teacher at Livonia's Churchill High School said that the presence of calculators in a classroom depends on the class being taught.

"In classes we're teaching addition, they are not allowed," Miss Buda said, but in my two trigonometry classes I allow them just to calculate the arithmetic part of the problems."

Of Miss Buda's 15 students who own calculators only two have models which perform trigonometric functions. She does not allow the students to use that function.

"I certainly do not encourage my students to buy them because of the cost," she said. "And I don't think that those who do own calculators have an advantage because on the tests they've had there haven't been problems with calculations."

While dealers feel that the sheer convenience and accuracy of calculators are their best selling point, the New York marketing research agency of Frost and Sullivan predicts there will be a new reason for buying a calculator—metric conversion.

Camp Fire Girls get the pioneer spirit

BY MARGARET MILLER

There are some 150 Camp Fire Girls in these parts who now have a better idea of what it was like to be a woman of the new world a couple of centuries ago.

They caught a bit of the "spirit of '76" during the Pioneer Day activities of the Wa-no-su district in Hines Park.

On a beautiful October Saturday, the girls in Adventure, Discovery and Horizon Club Camp Fire programs (fourth grade through high school), gathered in long dresses and old-fashioned bonnets to become pioneers for a few hours.

The occasion was a send-off for the district's bi-centennial program, which will offer a number of special events over the next two years for Camp Fire Girls in Livonia, Plymouth, Garden City, Westland and Redford Township.

FOREMOST ON THE DAY'S schedule was cooking an early American meal—"from scratch," pointed out Mrs. Dee Czach of Garden City, chairman for the day, "because they didn't have any convenience foods back then."

The menu included beef stew and biscuits with churned butter and homemade jelly.

"It took about two hours," Mrs. Czach said.

The girls had made the jelly during their meetings the week before, but the rest was done there at the park.

"We had three fires going for the big pots of stew and the biscuits, and everybody had a job to do for the meal."

WHEN THE GIRLS finished their cooking tasks, they joined Mrs. Beverly Buchanan, district chairman and leader of a Livonia Horizon Club of high school girls, for instruction in making corn-husk dolls.

"What we made were not the beautiful creations the women in garden clubs are making these days," Mrs. Buchanan said. "We did the kind of dolls the little girls of pioneer days used to play with."

"You take a couple of dampened leaves, fold them in half and tie off sections for the head and at the waist. Some of the girls used corn silk for hair, and we had calico for scarves and aprons."

THE PIONEER DAYS participants also worked on some centerpieces made from natural materials they found in the park.

And after lunch there was square dancing for everyone—another chance for the girls to recall the way people lived when the country was new.

Two Camp Fire groups, the Ta-wa-ten-ya bunch from Garden City and the Twasi unit from Westland, brought along the old-fashioned quilts they are making for the handwork project the Camp Fire Girls sponsor later in the school year.

They showed how to make the two varieties of quilts—one a puffy coverlet made on a frame and the other a flat patchwork creation.

"THIS IS JUST the beginning of our bicentennial celebration," Mrs. Czach said when the day came to an end. "The girls had such a good time, even learning to manage the long skirts when they are used to jeans. Everyone was asking when we'd do it again."

Mrs. Buchanan said there definitely will be a simplified version of the day for Blue Birds, the girls in first to third grades, in the spring.

And for all the district, the pioneer spirit is going to stay in the Camp Fire program.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Colwell celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary at a party in the American Legion Hall in Wayne.

They are the parents of Mrs. Eleanor Dobis of Garden City, Irvin Colwell of Westland and Richard Colwell of Belleville.

six years of experimentation, developed a wax impregnation process similar to Egyptian mummification for the preservation of plants.

Working with such natural objects as moss-covered rocks and wood, ferns and tiny flowers, Abrams made his compositions. None are alike except for the fact that each contains a butterfly, a mushroom and a falling leaf.

All specimens used are put through the wax impregnation process with the exception of the butterflies, wood bits and rocks. When completed, each original waxen sculpture is placed under a hand-blown crystal dome or brass-and-glass box.

On exhibit along with his visit will be Abrams' "The First Snow," his collectors edition of 1974. These works are signed, dated and registered with the Library of Congress. They range in price from $1,000 to $5,000.

An additional display of his natural art sculpture will be on display in Crowley's gift department at retail prices from $60 to $275.

Girl Scouts learn of bulbs, bunnies

Next spring 100 tulips and daffodils will bloom on the grounds of the Plymouth Community School farm on Joy Road in Canton Township, thanks to the recent planting efforts of a group of Girl Scouts.

Twelve members of Junior Troop 230 from Bird School cluster seized shovels and dug holes for the bulbs which had been purchased by the Plymouth Rotary Club.

The bulbs were planted in flower beds in front of the house on the farm property. Their work in beautifying the area will not be over with the end of this project.

Next spring they will return to plant petunias, marigolds and other flowers.

The project was carried out under the direction of Roberta Lamburg, co-leader of the troop. Mrs. Ruth McMahon is leader.

"Some of the girls had never planted bulbs before," said Mrs. McMahon. "They all enjoyed rolling in the hay in the barn and petting the bunnies. They all went home with hay in their hair."

Lunch with Dear Abby to benefit academy

A "Luncheon with Dear Abby" has been scheduled for Thursday, Nov. 14, at the Raleigh House in Southfield for the 16th annual benefit program for the development fund of the Academy of the Sacred Heart in Bloomfield Hills.

The luncheon, open to the public, will replace "Hemlines and Horsepower" which benefited the school's development fund in former years. Mrs. James Tomlinson is general chairman of this event.

has written three best-sellers. "Dear Abby" and "Dear Teen-Ager" have been translated into Japanese, Dutch, Danish, German and Italian. Her latest is "Dear Abby on Marriage."

ACADEMY OF the Sacred Heart is an independent Catholic school for girls at 1250 Kensington Road, Bloomfield Hills, operated by the Society of the Sacred Heart. It accepts children of all faiths and economic backgrounds and offers financial aid to needy gifted children.

The Development Fund enables the school to continue the financial aid program. It also provides athletic and recreational facilities and allows the school to develop special educational programs with emphasis on world studies.

'Freedom to die' urged by chaplain

By DARLENE STINSON

"I believe we should be free and allow others to be free to die their own death."

These words are from W. Noel Brown, staff chaplain for the University of Michigan Medical Center, and he's talking about a "myth" that no one wants to die unless he is mentally ill.

"This fallacy, I believe, is true, if we don't allow ourselves to contemplate our mortality," Brown told the audience of nurses, nuns, ministers and lay persons in St. Mary Hospital in Livonia. "Our unwillingness to contemplate our mortality prevents us from preparing for our death and our life."

"Death has often been regarded as the enemy," Brown said. "On the other hand, death can be appropriate."

As caregivers to the terminally ill, we have to be aware of the fallacies concerning death and dying and of our own needs. Unwittingly, we might be the enemy to those among us who are terminally ill. Our lack lies in knowing how to take care of ourselves.

BROWN WAS SPEAKER at a special program sponsored by Schoolcraft College Community Services, Newman House, St. Mary Hospital, the Livonia Ministerial Association and the Livonia branch of the American Association of University Women. He asked those in the audience to reflect on their own values and the myths concerning death.

"In working with the terminally ill, we should not be guided by the uneasiness of the patient or the physician or the family, but the uneasiness of ourselves," Brown said.

"I believe we need to identify our needs in the face of death," he added. "We need to be able to separate what is in us and make sure we're not meeting the needs of other people on the basis of what we'd want."

The terminally ill person may be too polite to tell us (clergymen) to get lost," he said. "That (prayer) may not be what they need."

BROWN CITED four other myths which, he said, each person should examine, regarding death.

First, there is the feeling that death should not be discussed with terminally ill persons, because deep depression might result. That is usually not the case, Brown said.

The second myth, he said, holds that everyone nearing death is universally fearful. Brown cited study results that showed persons in the 20 to 30-year age bracket were the most fearful of death, while retired persons were the least fearful.

"I think it would be more accurate to say fear is experienced by people who contemplate their own death, when they are not in the process of dying," Brown said.

"I would not deny that fear is present in all of us, but the significance of death varies with our religion, background and upbringing."

BROWN ALSO CITED the myth that family members are the best guide to what dying persons should be told. Family members are often too subjective in their views of what is best for the dying person, he said.

The fourth fallacy, according to Brown, is the belief that doctors best know how to care for terminally ill patients because of their frequent contact with death. Doctors, often fail to deal with the patient's emotions, he maintains.

BROWN ASKED each member of the audience to pick an age at which he wants to die.

"I think anyone over 30 has already decided that," he said. "Your decision may be in terms that Uncle James had a heart attack in his early 50s, or it may be that you don't know what you'll do after retirement."

"I see doctors battling to save patients who have decided it's time to die. It's clear to me there's some sort of decision to die."

Each person should imagine the setting and circumstances of his own death, Brown said, in order to differentiate his own feelings from the feelings and wants of persons who are actually dying.

"It's a way, I think, that you can explore within yourself," Brown said. "I think you'll find your needs are somewhat different from those of your friends."

A native of Balclutha, New Zealand, the speaker holds degrees from the University of Otago, Knox Theological College in New Zealand and Dubuque Theological Seminary in Iowa. He is ordained as a Presbyterian minister and accredited as a clinically-trained clergyman by the Council for Clinical Training, Inc.

Brown has served as the staff chaplain for the U-M Medical Center since 1972. He formerly served as chaplain in hospitals in New Zealand, Minnesota and Virginia, and as minister in a parish in Minnesota. He has written several works about death and dying and is currently teaching a course on grief, death and dying at Washtenaw Community College.

Hill: C of C made major strides in '74

By R.T. THOMPSON

With the largest crowd in several years in attendance, the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce named James McKeon president at the 53rd annual meeting and banquet in the Hawthorne Valley Country Club.

McKeon was introduced as the president-elect by retiring president Fred Hill who also listed the new officers for 1974 and the five elected to the board of directors.

Joining McKeon are: Julie Thoman, vice president; Norman Dietrich, vice secretary; Margaret Wilson, secretary; and Timothy Yoe, treasurer. The new directors are: Edwin Elliott, Burroughs Corp.; Leo Calhoun, Ford Motor agency; Leonard Evans, Ford Motor Co.; Scott Dodge, member of the law firm of Draugelis, Ashton and Scully; and Frank Hutton, of Federal Pipe.

Hill also paid tribute to the five retiring directors who included: former Chamber President William Decker; former Chamber President John Thomas; James Jabara, Harold Head, and Curt Copeland.

Following introduction of the officers and directors, Buford Finley, commander of American Legion Passage-Gayde Post of Plymouth, and Service Officer Ernest Koi presented awards to Julie Thoman as business woman of the year and to Harold Guenther as industrialist of the year.

Special recognition was given to the late Arnold Johansen and to Elizabeth "Pinky" Holmes for outstanding contributions to the community over the years. Mrs. Holmes is retiring from her post as township treasurer as soon as the newly elected township officials are sworn in.

McKeon, a real estate broker, is a former mayor and city commissioner and a longtime resident of Plymouth.

"It is the people in a community that make a community," said McKeon. "We are tooled up for the coming year thanks to the outstanding leadership, innovative leadership and manner in which Fred Hill guided us during the past year."

"There is still a big job ahead but I'm sure we'll be able to make the advances expected of the Chamber during 1974."

Hill told of the progress and accomplishments of the Chamber during the past year, explaining many could not be attributed to the Chamber itself but to the community.

"During the past year the membership was increased by 10 per cent," he recounted. "We came up with a new community map, raised $6,000 in the Joe Crissey walkathon, had a booth at the Fall Festival for the first time, arranged Chamber of Commerce luncheons, worked toward approval of the loop road, were active in a retail committee advertising campaign and took a stand and expressed opinions on the school millage, Mocer development and the loop road."

Hill had a break in his talk when he mentioned the Joe Crissey benefit and later told friends that all at once all he could see was the critically ill youngster.

"I was so close to the walkathon and to the Crissey family, that it choked me for a moment," Hill said. "But then I regained my composure and was all right for the remainder of my final report."

He told of the many developments in the community during the year, including: The Side Street, work on Ann Arbor Trail and Road, Adams House, Stereo-Rama shop, the proposed new restaurant on Forest, The Fish Barrel, Master Collision, Kresge Warehouse, new Package Corporation plant, the Crow's Nest, Kinney Shoes, the Old Village improvements, the Golden Spike, Pizza Hut, Jerry Bikes and downtown improvements at the Secretary of State and Bill Morrison offices.

"Believe me this isn't a sleepy little town any more," he said. "This is a town between Detroit and Ann Arbor on the move... a town that many others are looking at with envy in their eyes."

"Perhaps it is enough to say when looking back on the entire year that we made some progress but maybe most importantly, we leave the Chamber many times stronger than when we went in."

"We offer you now a strong, viable organization that will assist and represent you in a professional and consistent manner."

Attorney Ed Draugelis was the master of ceremonies and handled the introduction of guests and of James McCartney, new executive director of the Plymouth Chamber, who was attending his first annual meeting and banquet.

The speechless program was highlighted by a return appearance of the Garter Snappers Plus Five in a unique stage show.

Rice Memorial 20 years old

BY MARGARET MILLER

Rice Memorial United Methodist, a church that draws members from several communities and has gathered its equipment from far-flung corners of the world, marks its 20th anniversary this weekend.

A variety of activities are planned in the sanctuary and halls of the church at Beech-Daly and Eight Mile, Redford Township, by the 250-member congregation and its pastor of eight months, the Rev. Donna Lindberg. A communion service Thursday, Nov. 7 at 7:30 p.m. will begin the anniversary commemoration, and on Friday, Nov. 8, a family and youth fun night is planned at 8 p.m.

The anniversary banquet will be held in the church hall Saturday, Nov. 9, at 6:30 p.m. The meal will be catered and the cost is $3.50.

To complete the celebration, the congregation has invited the Rev. James Cochran, United Methodist district superintendent, to speak at morning worship Sunday, Nov. 10 at 11 a.m. A coffee hour will follow that service.

RICE MEMORIAL had its beginnings Nov. 7, 1954, when a group of 37 persons, temporarily using the name of Beech-Eight Mile Road Church, met in the Burgess school in Detroit.

The Rev. E. Julius Davis was the minister, and he was assisted by Mary Belle Steward, deaconess.

Thirty-four charter members, received in late 1954 and early 1955, decided to name the new church for the Rev. Merton S. Rice, minister of Metropolitan Methodist Church in Detroit from 1912 until his death in 1943. The word Memorial was added to the church name after the Rev. Charles Dobberty became minister of the new congregation in June 1955.

Late that year the Rev. L.C. Lee became pastor of the church, while continuing to work for the Redford Union school district, and in 1957 the congregation purchased its first land, at Beech and Pembroke.

That property was sold and the present location selected in 1958, but the young congregation was to have two more meeting places before being able to worship in its own home. These were the Stuckey School and then the newly-constructed Northwest Branch YWCA both in Redford Township.

THE YEAR 1958 also marked the arrival of Rice's first full time minister, the Rev. Floyd H. Sullivan, a former missionary.

He received work in the summer of 1960 that two wooden buildings that had been used by the Henry Ford Trade School were available, and by October of that year the church had purchased and moved them and held ground-breaking ceremonies for the first permanent home.

Members donated work, including blueprints, surveying, footings, plastering, plumbing and carpentry, and Rev. Sullivan set about gathering materials.

Stained glass windows came from one Detroit church being remodeled, and an altar came from another. Chandeliers were brought from a downtown theater.

Stones from many places where Rev. Sullivan had served as missionary went into the foundation and a fireplace in the fellowship room, and his friends in Borneo shipped him a huge cross of ironwood to place on the front of the old school buildings. Later a third building was brought to the site.

THE CHURCH PLANT, completed at a cost of $30,000, was dedicated in March 1961, and six years later the congregation, now numbering 150, burned the mortgage and launched a campaign to build a new sanctuary.

That building, bearing on its front wall the inscription "A House of Prayer for All Peoples," was completed early in 1970 at a cost of $140,000. It was dedicated on Palm Sunday of that year.

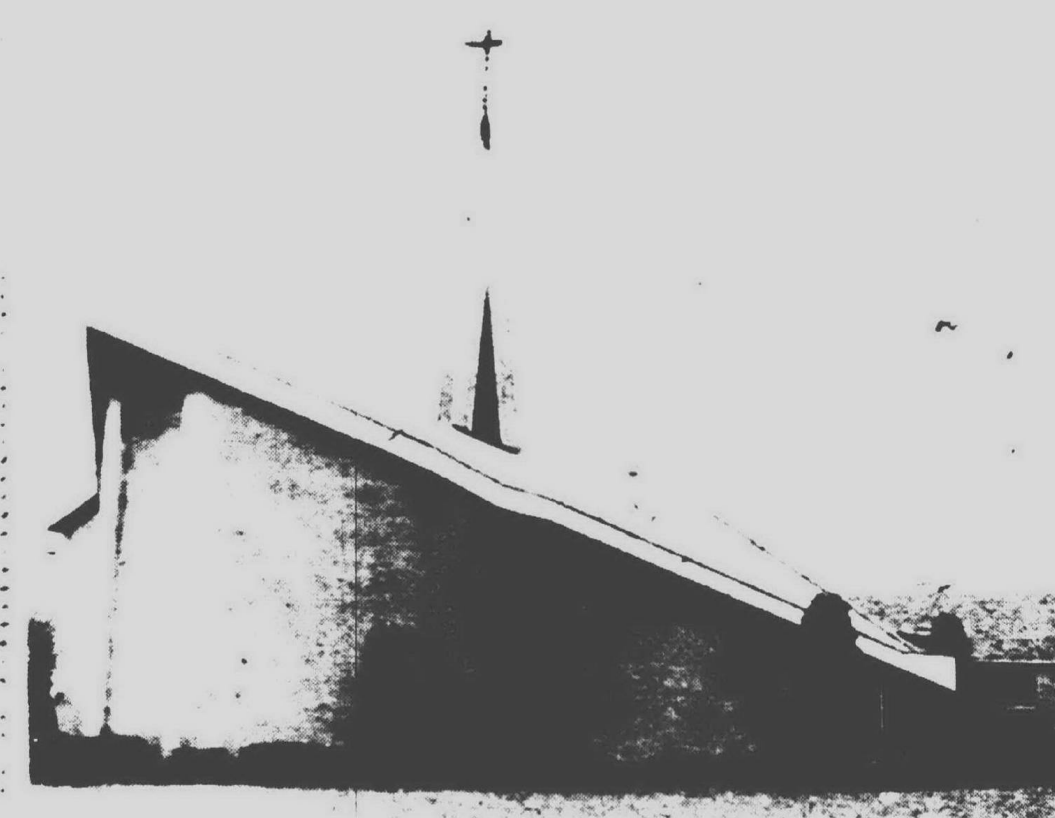

A spire, financed through special contributions and built to honor Rev. Sullivan, was erected a few days before the dedication.

Serving the congregation after Rev. Sullivan became minister emeritus have been the Rev. Phillip C. Greer, the Rev. Paul C. Frederick and the Rev. James Barnes.

Rev. Lindberg, one of the first women ordained by the Detroit Conference of the United Methodist Church, was called to Rice Memorial in March of this year.

What Does the Future Hold for YOU and for ALL MEN?

This question has been asked by generations. Men now almost believe it can't be answered. Even men and women of faith often ask—
• WHY DOESN'T GOD DO SOMETHING?
• DO YOU KNOW why Israel has become a nation?
• DO YOU KNOW that the world is on the threshold of a Golden Age?
• DO YOU KNOW that the Bible is a time-clock—that history is happening right on the Bible's preplanned Schedule?

These and other questions are answered in the FREE book, "The Divine Plan of the Ages." Write for your copy:

Religion in school is topic

The University of Detroit will sponsor a fall conference on the teaching of world religions in secondary schools on Friday, Nov. 8 from 2 to 8 p.m.

Dr. T.K. Venkateswaran, chairman of the U-D religious studies department, said the conference is designed to provide a background for history of religion courses, now permitted by law in public as well private schools.

"All the secondary schools will be in the position of considering the possibility of offering the history of religion as an academic discipline," Dr. Venkateswaran said.

"Most teachers today are not equipped to handle this kind of approach. At this conference we will introduce the whole concept of teaching world religions to many high school teachers."

Participating with Dr. Venkateswaran in the sessions on the campus at 4001 W. McNichols, Detroit, will be President Malcolm Carron, and two members of the U-D faculty, the Rev. John Saliba, associate professor of religious studies and the Rev. Justin Kelly, assistant professor of English.

Professor Paul Will from the University of Michigan and Sister Theresa Kernke of Marion High School in Birmingham also will lead sessions.

Dinner will be served at 6 p.m. and Dr. Venkateswaran will be speaker.

The conference fee is $12. Reservations should be made with Rev. Saliba at the U-D religious studies department.

Cash film to get premiere

"The Gospel Road," a Billy Graham Association feature film starring Johnny Cash and his wife, June Carter Cash, will premiere in two area churches Sunday, Nov. 10.

The movie, a blend of scripture-based narrative and specially written songs, will be screened at 7 p.m. in Ward United Presbyterian Church, 17000 Farmington Road, Livonia.

Showings are scheduled at 5, 7 and 9 p.m. in Good Shepherd Reformed Church, 6500 N. Wayne Road, Westland.

Based in Biblical times, the film tells the story of Jesus' ministry, introducing the disciples of varied personalities and giving a new treatment to the story of the Crucifixion.

Robert Elstrom portrays Christ in the picture, which is distributed by World Wide Pictures.

Rosedale plans new seminars

A historical study of Biblical prophets and a present-day presentation of the aging in society will be offered by Rosedale Gardens United Presbyterian Church of Livonia in its second series of fall seminars, beginning Sunday, Nov. 10.

Robert D. Wallin, instructor of English on the Wayne State University faculty, will speak on "The Prophets of Christ," one of two six-week courses to be offered by the church's Christian education committee from 10 to 11 a.m. each Sunday.

The other course is titled "Responsibility to the Aging," and will be led by George S. Quin, assistant executive director at Presbyterian Village in Redford Township.

There is a charge of $6 for each series. Further information is available by calling the church, located at Hubbard and West Chicago.

It happened --driver went over embankment

Just three weeks ago we wrote an editorial recommending that barriers be placed along Schoolcraft Road where excavation is taking place for the depressed highway.

We pointed out the dangers of cars slipping on the road in case of rain due to heavy deposits of mud from trucks carrying earth from the excavations to use as fill at other places in the area.

We indicated that Schoolcraft could get awfully slippery during the winter months and could be slippery right now if rains started to fall. The reasoning was that earth on the east and west bound lanes could make the going rather rough come showers.

WE ARE NOT going to say we told you so, but once again we recommend the contractors removing the earth and the ones involved in installing the crossovers for the highway should have barriers at every spot where excavating has taken place and left embankments with drops of as much as 35 to 40 feet, almost straight down in many instances.

The thing we were most interested in was safety and in not having some driver get critically injured when his car left the road and rolled down the embankment.

It's still not too late to install the barriers, but in at least one instance, it will be a case of locking the gate after the horse has been stolen.

For Kenneth Kasperek, 21, of Livonia, it will always be too late. We warned earlier that an accident could cause serious injury and perhaps death. In this particular instance, Kasperek is still alive, but there is considerable doubt whether he will ever walk again.

He suffered two crushed vertebrae when his station wagon rolled down the embankment while he was driving home from work after midnight Oct. 30.

From what meager information is available his station wagon ran off the roadway and tumbled into the excavation. There is little to be gained of the fact he was en route to St. Mary Hospital within a matter of minutes.

The damage had been done, and now a former star athlete and a young father faces the prospect of never walking again. He is confined to his bed in St. Mary Hospital where he underwent an emergency operation several days ago.

THAT'S A HORRIBLE outlook for a young man, and it is something that might have been avoided if there had been barriers along the highway. Only barriers would have stopped the car from tumbling into the excavation.

The spot where this accident happened is on the north side of the road where westbound traffic goes. It isn't one of the most dangerous spots along Schoolcraft, but then one can never tell when a spot can become slippery, wet and very dangerous.

On the opposite side of the road, between Middle Belt and Merriman, there is a long stretch where Schoolcraft is almost on the edge of an excavation. If a driver should skid and lose control of his car there, it would be over the embankment and down into the deep ditch.

We feel it's about time contractors begin to realize they have a responsibility to the driving public. It is time they did something about this dangerous situation. We don't mean to wait and wait for something more drastic to happen but right now.

One accident that all but took the life of a young man should prove a point, and that point is to place barriers along the danger points and keep them there until the Schoolcraft freeway is completed.

This shouldn't be a one voice complaint. We urge motorists who drive along Schoolcraft daily to voice their complaints. Who knows? The next one in an accident may not live, and that someone could be you.

How 2 cities acted to preserve heritage

In these days of gloom and doom, it's a real pleasure to be able to devote a column to some things that are going well.

That's just what's happening in the suburbs with respect to preserving the irreplaceable landmarks of our history.

For years, as subdivision developments gobbled up farm land and as villages razed ancient buildings in the rush to cityhood, suburban growth has steadily eliminated most traces of the past.

Only recently, with projects such as the Old Village in Plymouth, have suburban communities come to realize that the buildings and houses of the past could be turned to productive and esthetically pleasing purposes in the present.

Last week saw two news stories that indicate that progress is accelerating.

IN FARMINGTON, the site of some of the finest historical buildings in this part of the state, steps have started to place the city's historic district in the National Registry.

Included are 21 properties right in the center of the city, which constituted the crossroads of three of the most important Indian trails in southeastern Michigan. The Orchard Lake Trail, probably used by Chief Pontiac, followed north along Farmington Road; Shiawassee Road now followed the trail of the same name; and the Grand River Trail follows what is now Freedom Road. According to Paul Schreiber, a distinguished local historian, a maple tree which was a landmark in those days is still standing at the age of around 250 years.

DESIGNATION as a historic district is made possible through the enactment in 1966 of the National Historic Preservation Act, which allows states to designate landmarks and got the federal government involved in preservation at the community level.

The federal government has set aside $436,000 for historic preservation in Michigan, which will be used on a matching basis to help property owners preserve their sites.

In addition, the law provides legal protection for designated sites, so they may not be torn down or defaced by later development.

The Farmington Historical Society and the city fathers have taken real leadership on this project, and deserve a big vote of thanks.

SO, TOO does the City of Livonia, which is in the middle of negotiating to acquire the 150-acre Hill Farm, located on the south side of Eight Mile Road just east of Haggerty.

It's a big, white, classical farmhouse, built in 1841, surrounded by a dairy barn, a hay barn, sheds and other appurtenances of farm life of the 19th century.

The city wants to buy the farm -- and to run it as a farm -- as a monument to the architecture of the past and as a living memory of the city's farming history.

Only two working farms are left in Livonia today, and the city fathers have the idea that a professional manager could make the land productive enough to get the project to a self-sustaining level. Visions of hayrides and cider festivals are dancing in the city fathers' heads, and the adults and children of a now-urbanized city will be able to get a priceless look at their past if the project goes through.

Observation Point

by PHILIP H. POWER

Progress in preserving and revitalizing historical sites aren't unique to Farmington and Livonia, but these two communities deserve special mention for their outstanding progress in recent weeks.

Here's hoping there's more of it throughout the suburbs.

Business conflict got the attention

This is a bad year for a man of business to be in the political arena. "Conflict of interest" problems abound, but only the ones involving businessmen got much political attention.

Nelson Rockefeller's nomination as vice president is stalled precisely because some politicians have qualms about his wealth and how he used it.

James J. Damman, Republican nominee for lieutenant governor in the recent election, got into problems because there was a question whether his real estate holdings benefitted from his actions in handling zoning cases in Troy's city government.

"THE DAMMAN Affair," as it has come to be known, illustrates a genuine problem in suburban government. How do you find qualified persons to serve on boards handling zoning cases who aren't heavily involved in real estate or building?

Damman's involvement in Troy city government is probably one of the mildest cases around. There are many others. One recalls that Harvey Moeke, the one-time Livonia mayor who hated apartments the way a minister hates a bawdy house, is in the real estate and insurance business.

Across the state, persons in the real estate and building businesses are heavily involved in planning commissions, as township supervisors, on zoning appeals boards.

Even when they don't vote on cases involving their own properties, they are still in a position to influence their colleagues' decisions.

For the last few years, "corporation" and "business" and "profit" have become dirty words to some politicians. The late H.L. Mencken once wrote to the effect that "as long as a man is poor, he is considered one of God's chillun; but as soon as he becomes rich, he is believed to be taken over by the Devil."

THERE IS, however, another kind of conflict of interest case getting too little attention, and statewide it involves a lot more money than the $5,000 Jim Damman made in Troy.

It is the matter of teacher union members serving on boards of education.

A WORTHWHILE LESSON FROM LIVONIA...

teacher centers as long as the State Department of Education or State Board of Education links such centers with the implementation of its accountability model.

Now, can anyone seriously suggest that Barbara Roberts would cast a fair, objective vote on such measures?

OR CONSIDER another constitutional duty of the State Board: To "advise the legislature as to the financial requirements" of education.

Teacher unions have a set of values that make the quality of education absolutely identical with the size of the paycheck. You can imagine how Mrs. Roberts would behave on such questions.

The point, however, is not Mrs. Roberts' moral and perhaps legal conflicts of interest. The point is that the same folks who are screaming about Watergate and Jim Damman are dead silent on the Barbara Roberts case. If Mrs. Roberts were in (say) the textbook business, she would have been drawn and quartered by now.

Now, teachers have a lot to offer government. Personally, I think too few teachers are involved in city councils, planning commissions, county boards, many state agencies and congress.

A conflict of interest case far more serious than Damman's was almost ignored in the last campaign -- the grave question of Barbara Roberts, the Democratic nominee for State Board of Education who just happened to be an employee of the Michigan Education Association.

The State Board of Education appoints the superintendent of public instruction, and it just so happens that the MEA is so incensed at the current SPI, Dr. John Porter, over the issue of teacher accountability that it is calling for his resignation if he doesn't back down.

The MEA's representative assembly last month voted to "delay support of the development of

In 6th grade, a little boy is an uncomfortable king

Do you remember the sixth grade? The sixth grade is not a class in school, but an era in one's life.

The sixth grade is when girls are taller than boys and are showing the first signs of womanhood.

The sixth grade is when boys hate girls so much that they spend hours talking to them on the telephone but wouldn't be caught dead talking to them in the school corridors.

It is a time when boy meets girl and, for the first time, finds out that the opposite sex is different and attractive.

PART OF THE ritual of sixth grade is a ballroom dancing class. The reason it stands out is because it combines the sensitivity and absurdity of the age into small, delicate moments.

It is a time when boys and girls are forced to stand face to face with the opposite sex and even touch each other. The touching is a little difficult, since the girls are towering over the little guys.

It is a time when the little girls trade their blue jeans for dresses and white gloves and the boys start combing their hair and washing their faces.

IT IS A TIME of giggling to conceal self consciousness.

It is a time when a little boy drops a frog down the back of a girl's dress to get her attention, rather than telling her that he likes her.

Eccentricities

by HENK HOGAN

The curse of the sixth grade ballroom dancing class is that some people never learn how to dance because of self consciousness. Yet, maybe the dancing class is meant only to serve as a transition in life into future boy-girl relationships.

THE SIXTH GRADE also is a time when the little boy is king. He is discovering that his muscles work and he can become an athlete.

He finds he is a leader of the smaller kids in his school, yet is not quite expected to exercise the responsibilities of leadership.

On the other hand, it is the age where the little boy finds out that the little girl is smarter than he is.

The problem with the sixth grade is that it lasts only a year and all those wonderful new experiences are soon forgotten when the youngster changes schools and has to start at the bottom of the ladder in seventh grade.

Here's frustrating travel game

EDITOR:

Perhaps you could forward my new game idea to Parker Brothers. I've found it very stimulating to try and outwit the highway department twice a day by getting from my home in Livonia to my children's school in Plymouth in spite of the obstacles they dream up almost daily.

The player must have a sense of humor, sense of direction, and determination to get from place to place. By the time the game is ready for distribution, more of Ann Arbor Road will probably be closed for widening because it is an "access" (2) to the new highway, but that should serve to make the game more challenging. Incidentally, Ann Arbor Trail is scheduled for widening in the future and I'm sure if someone could get the highway departments of Livonia, Plymouth and the State of Michigan together, they would probably agree to start now. Who knows? It may stimulate the purchase of helicopters by the average homeowner in order to get anywhere.

My only fear for my "new game" is that someone will come up with one called "COMMON SENSE" and most of the barricades will be rescheduled or removed and at least one east-west artery will be left open.

Are your kids doing damage?

EDITOR:

Parents, where is your wandering boy this evening? Did you buy him a B-B gun? Is he out shooting at windows?

This practice of destruction could be his downfall. What can be gained, causing expense to some who cannot afford vandalism? His moment of satisfaction in destroying can lead to an eternity in Hell. Loss of respect for others and their property is so prevalent today, causing rise in cost of insurance and repairs.

Today children get an allowance. Why should they do any charity work? They get paid without any effort. They know no hardship. Many parents both work to keep up with the Joneses. They don't have time. Money is more evil than you think when you neglect to give supervision and discipline.

Father must cut grass because son does a rotten job. Teach him. Patience and intelligence can expand.

Streets are unsafe, and quickly sitting in your own home is unsafe because someone has an evil desire to shake you up.

The devil is surely working overtime.

the police scout car and asked questions. About 20 minutes later a call was placed to an empty house. She was taken to a gas station to call someone to take her home. While she was in the scout car, her car was towed away, house keys and all.

Today I went to the police station to register a complaint. I'm writing you as I felt it fell on a deaf ear. I am not looking to have anyone reprimanded, only that young adults be given more consideration in the future.

If you or I were involved in an accident, we would be asked where we wanted our car towed. She was not. Also that it be made clear a towing vehicle take only the ignition key. And that some responsible person is notified.

She had in fact hit her head on the side of the door frame. Where did the officer take his training as a doctor? I was told he could not take her home as the insurance did not cover it.

Since when has Livonia become so big that they no longer are concerned about the safety and welfare of its citizens? Irate? Yes, my child or yours can never be replaced at any price. If it means additional insurance coverage for police vehicles, then we should have it.

Some letters came too late

TO OUR READERS:

Several contributions to the Readers' Forum were delayed by the writers in order to arrive at the last possible moment prior to the Thursday edition before the election. Thus, it was physically impossible to get them set in type.

Other letters raised last-minute issues that the candidate being attacked wouldn't have time to answer. We felt it would be unfair to print them so close to election day.

THE EDITORS

Bonus question

EDITOR:

I was pretty disgusted with your editorial on the Vietnam bonus and cannot for the life of me understand the position you are taking. You state the veterans were not employees of the State of Michigan. I have always believed that Michigan was one of the 50 states of this country and as our veterans were sent from Michigan, it seems to me that our state should stand behind them and give them a little help in the form of a bonus to say "Thank you."

We forgive and reward our deserters and cowards who ran off, but you would have us turn our backs on the men who were loyal to our nation.

ROSE L. DEIRLEIN, Livonia
Member of VFW Aux. 5572

EDITOR'S NOTE: In assessing the vehement reaction to our editorial on Proposal B, we were surprised to find that vast numbers of persons didn't understand the difference between the federal government and the state government. The federal government conducts foreign policy and supports the Defense Department, and our position was that bonuses to federal employees are a matter for the federal government to decide. At no time did we say veterans shouldn't be rewarded. Never have we suggested rewarding "deserters and cowards."

Complaint fell on a deaf ear

EDITOR:

Saturday evening (Oct. 26) my daughter was involved in an accident through no fault of her own. At the time of the accident, she requested her parents be contacted right away as she knew we would be leaving the house within the next 10 minutes. She was upset and wanted us to know of the accident as once we left, she knew she would not be able to contact us.

Indian Yule drive gets under way

The drive to aid Michigan Indians during the Christmas season has already been started by the Western Wayne County Conservation Association.

"There's a desperate need for food," said Hank Chruscial, chairman of the group's Indian affairs committee. Local gifts go to a mission school at Harbor Springs and settlements at Cross Village, Petoskey, Manistee, Muskegon and the L'Anse reservation.

Chruscial collects the gifts at his home, 19345 Brentwood, Livonia. Truckloads are driven to the Indians by apprentices of Ironworkers Local 25.

Food should be in cans only. Toys must be new; used toys are not acceptable. Clothing may be new or used and must be clean and mended.

Also acceptable are such household articles as soap, dishes, dental care items and the like.

The Michigan Indian project is conducted throughout the year but is heaviest during the Christmas and Easter seasons. Clubs, civic groups, churches, scout organizations, Y groups, stores, industrial associations and unions from western Wayne County and the Farmington area take part.

Student dissects editorial on drugs

EDITOR:

As a journalism student now attending Churchill High School, I respect the rights involved in an editorial. I have always welcomed the chance to express my opinion on current happenings, and for this reason I respect the rights of your editorial department for the publication of such editorials, specifically "Milford case repeats lessons to youngsters" (by R.T. Thompson, Oct. 24). Similarly, I would like to share some thoughts on that article.

The "unusual" drug you spoke of is, in fact, not so unusual. It is widely used as an impersonator in street drugs. The drug is phencyclidine, which was produced by Parke Davis as "Sernyl," though its production has been discontinued. It is a heavy tranquilizer often used for animals and has hallucinogenic properties.

The students at Milford were taken to the hospital, and for three the case was tough and go, though not for three days. The rest were just "heavily tranquilized" and not very coherent for awhile.

Although I can't say for sure, I doubt the accuracy in your saying that an 18-year-old youth celebrated his birthday by getting drunk and died of alcoholism. Alcoholism is a progressive disease that usually develops over many years. Most likely the case was of an alcohol overdose — a big difference.

Being one of the students who "joined in funeral services for a classmate," I was deeply offended by this paragraph. This student's "acquaintance" with drugs, and his act of suicide, are in actuality unrelated, and even more so to the topic of your paragraph. This student's suicidal feelings were a result of people, who often have a harder "kick" than any tranquilizer.

I fail to see the effect of long hair on being American, or that being American has anything to do with the usage of drugs or the topic of your editorial.

I suggest you re-examine your source of information and the relationship of that information to the topic of your editorial.

Workshop was a big success

EDITOR:

Our Federated Garden Club of Livonia had such an overwhelming response to our public workshop, held Oct. 24, that we had to schedule a second one just from a waiting-for-cancellation list.

We just had to thank you for the great publicity. This was the main factor in our terrific public response. We also would like to thank all who responded to the article and St. Matthew United Methodist Church for allowing us to use their facilities.

The goal of our Garden Club is to share our knowledge with others and help beautify our community further.

Papers win applause

EDITOR:

As I prepare to leave Wayne County government after six years on the board of commissioners, four of them as chairman, I want to thank the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, and the individual reporters for the kind treatment given to me and the board.

Throughout the entire period, I have always appreciated the ability, patience and the accuracy for which your papers and the news staff deserve applause.

Even without the considerable acclaim I have enjoyed, I would be proud of these exceptional newspapers and the people who compose them.

Thank you very much for your support and your interest in Wayne County government.

ROBERT F. FITZPATRICK, Chairman, Wayne County Board of Commissioners

Community needs arts program

To The Editor:

I was sorry to read that Farmington Hills has denied financial support to the Farmington Arts Council.

Any community needs a recognized arts program, one that will encourage artistic endeavor, that takes a broad view so that no area is neglected and none receives undue emphasis. A good arts council, which you are fortunate enough to have, encourages and supports promising painters, architects, sculptors, musicians, writers, dancers, and is concerned with handicrafts and preserving historic landmarks.

An arts council informs and teaches the citizens of a city about the finest that is being done anywhere in these areas.

In Livonia we do not have an arts council so Mayor McNamara found it necessary to create an arts commission. The city council has recently underwritten, to the extent of $2,000, a performance of "The Barber of Seville" which will be presented in March at Churchill High School by the Oakway Symphony Orchestra and the Michigan Opera Theater, upon the recommendation of the Arts Commission.

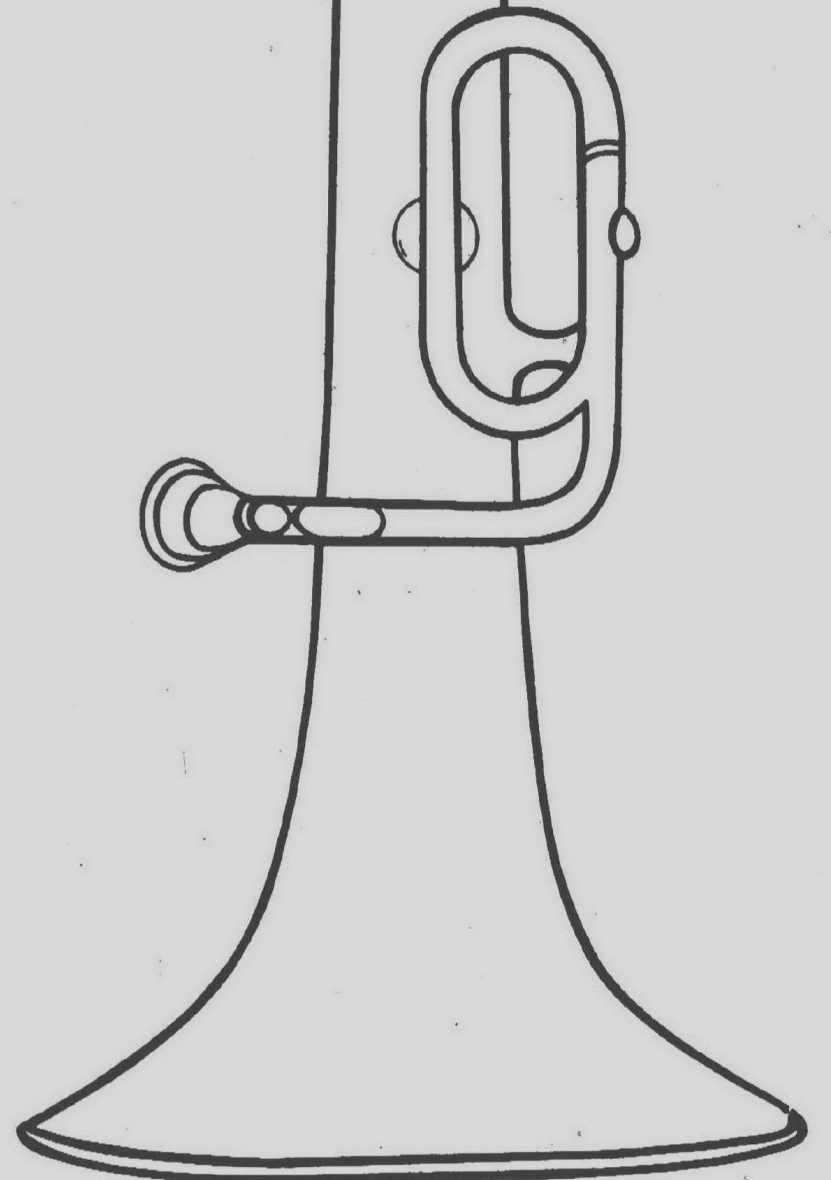

The people who live in Farmington Hills have shown their great interest in music by their participation in the orchestra, or as active, supporting members of the symphony society.

Battle of unbeatens is Saturday

It's Salem-Harrison in state showdown

By TOM DONOGHUE
Sports Editor

The stage is set and the pressure is mounting in one of the state's most crucial gridiron clashes of '74.

Two league champions will put their perfect records-an unbeaten season on the line and one club has the state championship if it wins this contest.

It will be an 8-0 Plymouth Salem team, champions of the Suburban Eight invading Farmington Harrison, another 8-0 club and victors of the Western Six loop.

The site of this key battle is Harrison High in Farmington Saturday, Nov. 9, kickoff slated for 2 p.m.

Tom Moshimer's Plymouth crew holds an edge over John Herrington's Harrison Hawks in various state polls.

The Detroit Free Press has Salem the No. 10 team in the state this week and Harrison not ranked.

The Detroit News has Plymouth Salem fifth in the state and Harrison No. 6. Plymouth is the No. 7 team in the Associated Press rating with Harrison eighth.

The one poll where Harrison is ahead of Plymouth is United Press International where Harrison is fifth and Plymouth sixth.

There is also a matter of a state championship at stake in this battle.

In this first year of a "paper play-off" by the Michigan High School Athletic Association in preparation for the first state playoffs next year, Plymouth Salem, which is on top of Livonia Franklin, Brother Rice and Har-risson in its region can secure more points than any other club by a victory Saturday.

"Plymouth Salem would have every right to claim the state title by finishing higher than any other club in the state in the point ratings," commented the MHSAA Associate Director Vern Norris.

In this test run of the "paper play-offs," a team is awarded 80 points a week per victory along with eight bonus points for every opponent that has gone on to win after playing that team.

Plymouth's surge to the top as credited to its wins over Trenton and Bloomfield Hills Andover which have not lost except to Plymouth.

Salem has piled up 912 points in the eight weeks, 640 of those in winning and 272 points in bonus points.

This game coming up against another unbeaten is a 144 point ball game. A victory by Plymouth wraps up the state championship according to MHSAA ratings.

But Herrington and his team from Farmington, hot off a win over North Farmington, would like nothing better than to deny Plymouth that honor.

This is year No. 5 for Harrison where Herrington's clubs have piled up a 25-18-1 record, their best showing prior to this year was 5-4 in '71.

And the Western Six championship was the second.

"Senior leadership has been our key," commented Herrington who's squad consists of 14 seniors, 12 juniors and 19 sophomores.

"Stopping Plymouth's option is going to be our key to victory. We haven't faced a team that has used the option and it is really going to be a test for us.

"We are a running team," he added. "We only pass when our ground game gets jammed up.

"We are a power offense with Dave Thorn, Bob Miller and quarterback Sam Pink the key to its success."

At 6-foot-1 and 190 pounds Pink has run for 334 yards and scored 13 touchdowns and hit on 33 of 73 passes. Harrison's No. 1 back Thorn has rushed for 569 yards in 92 carries for a 6.2 yard per carry mark and has scored three touchdowns.

This contest could very well turn into a defensive struggle as Harrison's defense has given up just 36 points this season, just one touchdown on the ground.

Plymouth on the other hand has allowed just 48 points with 20 of those coming in the season opener against Andover.

Harrison's defense is paced by nose-guard Steve Moragac at 5-foot-10 and 166 pounds and Pink at the linebacker slot-a bonafide All-State candidate.

Over at Plymouth Salem, Moshimer comments that "this is the best group of kids I have ever coached."

Salem's feather in its cap has to be probably the No. 1 option quarterback in the state in Tim Dillon.

Dillon and his operating out of the triple option is sure to give the Harrison defense fits while Salem's defense has been up against power offense.

"Harrison's offense is similar to Bentley and Belleville," commented Moshimer.

Salem's backfield around Dillon is the Rock strong point. At fullback is Scott Agnew with Doug Tripp, Joe Hibler and Charlie Johnson the heart of the Salem squad.

Plymouth is not a "rah-rah" team and Moshimer admitted that this point alone bothered him at the outset of the campaign. But as he watched the season progress, he saw his Rocks do the job from Friday to Friday.

Now comes a Saturday contest, and the area's biggest grid clash ever.

HARRISON'S JOHN HERRINGTON
"A sloppy field will help us."

A perfect grid path will end for one!

PLYMOUTH'S TOM MOSHIMER
Has state title within grasp.

Borgess rips Pontiac for 6th win, 26-0

The Spartans of Bishop Borgess closed their 74 football chapter the way it opened.

Fred Mushinski's crew roared to an impressive 20-0 win over U-D High in the season opener and thundered to a 26-0 victory over Pontiac Catholic in the finale with four wins and two losses sandwiched between.

It was just a total of 10 points that stood between Borgess and an undefeated season.

The two setbacks in a 6-2 season came at the hands of Garden City East, 20-14, and to Divine Child, 14-10, in the Catholic Double A loop deciding clash.

Mushinski's squad has now rang up a 17 win and seven loss record the last three years. This span reveals Borgess just 68 points away from three straight unbeaten years.

Borgess was 6-2 in '72 and outscored its opponents, 139 to 93. The '73 season saw Borgess reel off a 5-3 mark and outscore its foes, 208 to 147. It was a 6-2 year in '74, the Spartans taking it 195 to 86 in the scoring column.

The finale with Pontiac Catholic pitted Borgess against the A East second place club and the Spartans showed just what they were made of in a year Mushinski felt he could take it all.

After 20 minutes of scoreless football, Borgess recorded a two-point safety and two touchdowns in the last four minutes of the first half to lead, 18-0, and the rest was all clockwork to victory.

Borgess finished with 18 first downs while its defense held Pontiac to four. The Spartans rushed for 252 yards with All-Catholic back Jim Kozlowski picking up 175 of those yards.

Meanwhile Pontiac Catholic was held to 15 yards net on the ground.

The aerial game saw junior quarterback Marty Boisture hit for seven of 10 for 128 yards and Pontiac's Joe Donoghue four of 12 for 35 yards with three intercepted.

Borgess took the opening kickoff and in 13 plays marched to the Pontiac 19. There Mushinski called for a fake field goal and Greg Heimbuch had Jim Pearce open in the end zone but missed his target and the Spartans first drive went for naught.

Pontiac ran seven plays and punted and Borgess took over on its 16. Fifteen plays later, Kozlowski fumbled on the Pontiac 40 and John Holdsworth recovered.

Four plays later, a snap from center in a punt situation, carried into the end zone, Pontiac kicker Joe Newby fell on it and Rich Turner of Borgess on top of him for two points.

With 4:20 left in the first half it was Borgess, 2-0.

Pontiac free-kicked from its 20 and Borgess started from its 43. On the first play, junior Kozlowski romped the 57 yards for his 15th touchdown of the year.

This time a fake kick saw Heimbuch connect with Pearce and the Borgess lead was up to 10-0. 3:26 left in the half.

Pontiac gave the ball right back to Borgess on its first play from scrimmage, Chris Priebe intercepting a pass on the Pontiac 47.

Boisture wasted no time, hitting John Moxlow for a scoring toss on the first play and then Heimbuch on the two point attempt to make it 18-0 at the half.

Borgess finished off its assault on its first drive in the third quarter with Steve Jaremski breaking loose for a 27 yard score to cap a three play 47 yard march.

Boisture ran the two point conversion and with 7:58 remaining in the third quarter, Borgess' final contest was all but over.

Kozlowski's 175 yards gave him a total of 1523 for the season in 197 carries for a 7.7 yards per carry mark. The Borgess signal caller 6-foot-1 and 185 pound junior Boisture wound up 29 for 54 in the passing department for a season accomplishment of 384 yards and five touchdowns.

RU gals set for Salem cage clash

The stage is set for the Suburban Eight girls basketball championship bout.

It will be two 6-1 clubs going at in for the title in Redford Union and Plymouth Salem in the Salem gym tonight (Thursday) at 6:30 p.m.

RU warmed up for the title clash by routing Northville, 52-7, and crushing Belleville, 58-20. Overall the Panthers sport an 11-1 mark.

The Northville rout saw RU jump to an 18-0 first quarter lead, and push it to 30-6 at the half, and 44-7 after three quarters. Cindy Rossi and Linda Kosovac paced the gals with 14 points each.

It was Kosovac's 16 points and Amy Gierak's 14 that led RU against Belleville. The Panthers danced off to a 16-4 first quarter lead and upped it to 31-6 at the half and 49-12 at the end of three quarters.

After the Salem showdown, RU hosts powerful Livonia Stevenson in a non-leaguer on Tuesday, Nov. 12, tip-off set for 6 p.m.

Donoghue Predicts

Rocks can smell perfect season

A quick glance around at this weekend's football games, and the prospects as area prep gridirers wrap up their '74 campaigns: Probable winners are in capitals. The record last week was won nine and lost two (Clarenceville lost to Lutheran East and the Rockets of John Glenn surprised Berkley)-Season mark is won 73 and lost 19 for a 79 plus percentage mark. That 79 per cent showing has to be some kind of climb from what this sports editor sported at this same time last year in 88 won and 44 lost for 67 per cent.

FRIDAY (Nov. 8)

STEVENSON (7-1) at Churchill (4-4), 3:15 p.m.: After going the last two years with a 14-3 mark, Ken Kaestner's Chargers are going to close out a below .500 team. Stevenson won't handle Churchill as handily as Franklin did but the Spartan defense will do the job against Churchill which has scored in only four of eight games this year. This one shouldn't be any different. Stevenson by 12.

FRANKLIN 78-0) at Bentley (5-3), 7:30 p.m.: There is no way Patriot coach George Lovich is going to let a "mistake" happen again in ruining a perfect season. The 8-1 Franklin crew of last year hasn't forgotten that 14-9 upset in '73 but they don't have a Bob Wasilewski to contend with this time around. Dan Quinn and his running assault will make amends for that loss. Bentley's defense will only be able to last soooooo long. Franklin by 10.

GARDEN CITY EAST (5-3) at Garden City West (6-2), 7:30 p.m.: This contest will give an indication of the strength of two loops in the Northwest versus the Tri-River. West won a share of the Tri-River. East got bumped off by three teams in the Northwest but is still one of spirited clubs in area. West had to peak last week in topping Southgate. East is just too explosive a club for West to handle. Go Northwest. East by two touchdowns.

JOHN GLENN (4-3) at Wayne Memorial (3-5), 8 p.m.: Lloyd Carr wants this one too bad. The Rockets will close out a winner on the legs of Fred Shoemaker and passing of Terry Johnson. Turnovers will keep this one close but Glenn by eight.

DEARBORN (5-3) at Plymouth Canton (3-5), 8 p.m.: Label this finale strictly no contest as the Canton Chiefs have simply let '74 slip away from them. A team that had everyone back just didn't materialize and is sure to get a taste of Suburban Eight action. Dearborn did it to them last year in 55-14 style and it shouldn't be much different this time around. Dearborn by four touchdowns.

Thurston (2-6) at REDFORD UNION (0-8), 8 p.m.: Call this one a mild upset if you like but there is no way Bob Atkins is going to have his Panther crew finish winless for '74. If RU can hang onto the ball, this could turn out to be one heck of a Redford Township battle. RU by a shakey six.

SATURDAY (Nov. 9)

PLYMOUTH SALEM (8-0) at Farmington Harrison (8-0), 2 p.m.: Lookout! This is the clash of the year - the Western Six champion against the surprise powerhouse of the Suburban Eight. Both clubs have potential shots at the state title but the Rocks of Salem will give the Hawks of Harrison a taste of Sub Eight football. This should be one of the hardest hitting games in this area and turnovers will tell the story. Harrison has not been up against the kind of a defense like Salem and Tim Dillon's quarterbacking. Salem by seven.

7-1 Spartans ready for Churchill

Stevenson tops Thurston, 21-7

Jack Reardon's Spartans just keep rolling along. The Inter-Lakes champions from Stevenson High barreled over Thurston, 21-7, for their seventh victory against one loss — that solo setback a five pointer at the hands of state-ranked Franklin, 14-9.

"The kids are just playing good hard-nose football," commented Reardon. "We knew Thurston was a lot better club than its record indicated.

Wolverines might need jersey tactic

By W.W. EDGAR

Years ago Fritz Crisler, then the athletic director at the University of Michigan, conceived an unusual move to prevent the opposition from tackling Tom Harmon, his foremost runner, from behind and retarding the Wolverines offensive drives.

He had him wear the cheapest kind of jersey—the kind that would rip at the slightest provocation. And it became a common sight to see '98" running across the chalk lines with his jersey in shreds. But the move proved successful.

Now, with the Wolverines causing some anxious moments for their most loyal followers, Coach "Bo" Schembechler might take the jersey situation in hand this week when the Wolverines meet Illinois in Champaign. It is homecoming day for the Illini.

Thus far, the Wolverines have been less than a juggernaut on the road and for those who play hunches the answer may be in the fact that they wear white jerseys in the camp of the enemy.

This is in contrast to the deep tradition of the maize and blue of Michigan. For years the Michigan men have been steeped in the glory of their alma mater, "The Yellow and Blue" and somehow the athletes have used it as a rallying cry when in trouble. The white jersey is not a rallying force.

With this in mind, it might be well if Schembechler returns to the traditional blue jersey next Saturday in the hope of avoiding an upset against the Illini.

Following the close call against Indiana last Saturday, when the Wolverines scored in the final minute to win, 21 to 7, Coach Schembechler explained, "Don't forget. We are playing before hostile crowds on the road."

Well, he won't find a friendly crowd at Champaign. With many of the old Illini grads on hand for homecoming, they'll be recalling some of the upsets of the past and some might even go away back to the stadium dedication game in 1924 when Red Grange scored four touchdowns in 11 minutes to race his way to fame and a lop sided victory over the Wolverines.

Along with the psychological enemy the Wolverines also will be looking ahead to the Ohio State game and that, too, could be dangerous—especially if quarterback Dennis Franklin is not in top condition. Last Saturday against Indiana The Wolverine offense sputtered and groaned until Franklin came off the bench to take charge. His timing was evident immediately as he directed two scoring drives that turned the tide and kept Michigan on the list of the unbeaten.

They'll need Franklin in top shape Saturday — and maybe a return to blue jerseys would help.

Ski Heil

By

BILL CAMERON

Do you have any questions regarding the sport of skiing?

Where to go, where to stay, what kind of skis, what kind of boots, which bindings, what clubs to join, where can I compete, how much will it cost, etc., etc., etc.

Over the course of the season I could probably give you some general guidelines on all of the above, but you can get all of your questions answered this weekend at the international ski and winter sport show at Cobo Hall. This event brings experts from all over the country to answer the myriad questions that you, the general public have.

If you think about it, you are responsible for those "experts" being in business. Without you the ski areas would be empty, so would the motels and hotels. Ski equipment would gather dust on the shelves. Sure, the economy is in tough shape and I think you're going to be a little choosier about when and where you ski this year. But skiers are a special breed.

Those of you that aren't skiers know what I mean. You mention snow to a friend and you watch his eyes light up. He, or she, is envisioning themselves on a cold, sunny day, standing on the top of a mountain, eagerly searching the fantastic, white expanse before them, plotting their route down, the mountain in that perfectly controlled, non-stop run.

That's what skiing is all about—the ability to attack a mountain and come up a winner. Man against nature. For some it's strictly survival, for others it's the acceptance of a challenge that is seldom found in our work-day world.

You have to experience it to know what I mean. It's nature's way of making you "high." The therapeutic value of skiing is evident at every ski area. Look at the faces, no worries, just smiles and happiness.

Even the guy that didn't make it, the one with the cast on his leg, has that happy, content look about him. Strangely enough, he probably thinks it was all worth it.

So stop at the ski show. Take the fitness test offered by the YMCA. If you don't score well, you better start doing some special exercises. If you can't discipline yourself to do exercises by yourself, check your local YMCA or recreation depart to see if they have a program for you. One of the better pre-ski conditioning classes is offered by the Livonia Family YMCA.

Jeff Sadowsky, physical director, is a tougher taskmaster than his predecessor. He'll give you a workout twice a week that you will remember and appreciate along about February. See you at the show.

"But we also knew they were a one-half football team."

After a scoreless first half, Reardon had to be wondering just which way the Eagles were going to go.

REARDON MADE a move after that half and replaced his starting quarterback Bruce Nichols, who was zero for 10 in the passing department the first half, with Jim Dolmatsch.

That was the change Stevenson needed for victory.

Stevenson which ran 27 offensive plays the first half, got as far as the Thurston two when Paul Lokar missed on a field goal.

Thurston had crossed midfield stripes just once.

The opening kickoff drive of the second half saw Reardon's move to Dolmatsch pay off. Dolmatsch connected with Dave Galindo for a 41 yarder and then hit Joe Centers on a 23 yarder and Stevenson was on the board. Paul Lokar converted and it was 7-0 Stevenson.

A THURSTON turnover set up the next score as Galindo scooped up an Eagle fumble and pranced 70 yards to paydirt. Paul Lokar converted and it was 14-0 Stevenson, just four minutes elapsed in the third quarter.

Thurston bounced back in the early moments of the fourth. Gary Abundis capped a 50 yard drive with a three yard burst for six and Tom Szpond converted to slice it to 14-7.

But that was the closest Reardon's crew was going to let Thurston get as the Spartans marched right back downfield with a 55 yard drive, sophomore fullback Chuck Demarco scoring on a six yard spurt.

Paul Lokar's 35 yard dash set up that score and his conversion upped the margin to 21-7.

AFTER MISSING three games with an injury, Paul Lokar wound up rushing for 94 yards in 14 carries and Demarco picked up 48 yards in 11 carries.

Thurston won the first down game, 14-10, but the Spartans took the ground game, 194 yards to 167. Now comes Churchill in the 74 finale for Stevenson this Friday afternoon at Churchill, 3:15 p.m.

"This will be a good game for us," added Reardon. "They beat us in the first meeting in '72, 13-6, and we beat them last year, 9-7."

Turf Tips, Quips

By Doc Minard

The question has been asked more than once in the past few days about whether Hazel Park will continue Sunday racing until the end of its meeting in early December.

It becomes more and more apparent that Sunday racing goes over big when there aren't other events to attract the attention of folks away from the horses. Then the attendance drops, the wagering falls and the track management finds itself in a position of wondering whether it can afford to continue on the Sabbath with only average wagering and the big expense involved in paying the mutual help double time and time and three-quarters if the wagering falls below the $1.2 million mark. Betting has fallen well under the $1.2 million figure in each of the last three Sundays but management is still paying the mutual workers time and three-quarters. A decision as to whether they can afford to continue go on Sundays is expected in the near future.

And you can bet your last dollar if Hazel Park decides to stop Sunday programs, the smiles from the Windsor Raceway management will reach all the way to Northville Downs. Windsor has been going on Sunday nights rather than tangle with Hazel Park runners in the afternoon but they'll be back on Sunday afternoons if the competition is gone.

FROM HAZEL PARK comes word that Racing Secretary Bud Sears is cutting purses for the remainder of the meeting. Hazel Park has reached the 90-day point of its 120-day season and that's when the big stables take off and the wee lads come in from every point imaginable.

And as they check in they'll be bringing in horses that race at Beulah Park near Columbus, O., Waterford Park in West Virginia and numerous other small operations around the land.

There'll be more Michigan horses on the grounds than ever before. What it means is the caliber of racing will drop during the final 30 days but it will still be good racing with horses of the same class.

Sears saw most of the major stables check out of the plant in the past 10 days, going to Florida, Kentucky and to the new track opening in Louisiana, some 200 miles from the Fairgrounds in New Orleans.

SEARS IS WELL aware of the fact that he'll have second class horses for the remainder of the year, something he knew would happen and for which he was prepared.

"We'll bring the purses down to the level of the horses," he said. "Doing this will even off the class of horses available and make for good racing."

There won't be any Kentucky Derby eligibles in the fields but every races should be a good one."

Meanwhile from Hazel Park one hears that plans to glass enclose the Roaring 20s will be announced within a few days. Harold Duris, general manager of Hazel Park, along with President D.D. MacFarlane have been checking the popular betting ring with top officials of Hazel Park runners and all have apparently agreed that such an improvement would be of a benefit to both operations.

Inasmuch as the clubhouse was erected by the harness racing association, it appears the final decision will rest with MacFarlane and Duris. Our information is that both believe the improvement is a must before next year.

FROM THE DETROIT Racing Association comes news that some changes will be made in the operation when the winter meeting opens in February.

Since Vice President and General Manager Dick Wilson has taken off for Florida and won't be back until January, the details won't be known until then.

There may be some changes in department heads but Wilson refused to deny or confirm rumors that have been floating around since the end of the Wolverine meeting.

Overlooked in the closing of Wolverine Raceway and the opening of Jackson-Northville was the claim made by Livonia Industrialist Ed O'Hare just a night or two before the final night at the big mileplant.

Ed, who has made several claims during the year, put up $27,000 for Show Time and that has to be just about the largest claim ever in Michigan for a pacer or trotter. He plans to start his new acquisition a couple of times at Jackson-Northville and then will ship all of his stable to Pompano Park for the winter.

Incidentally Ed has changed trainers. Jay Austin is handling his stable now with Corky Hammell doing the driving. Since the latter doesn't go south, we wonder who Ed will have do the driving in Florida.

Merritt Dokey got off to an excellent start in his first week at Roosevelt Raceway, collecting $28,000 in purses with the stable he moved from Wolverine to the big city.

In The Pocket

By W.W. EDGAR

Now that the first two months of the bowling season have been completed you'd never guess who is at the top of the averages in the all-star classics in the suburban areas.

The leader is a fellow named Dick Preston who has been knocking over pins for quite a few winters- and summers. He has moved into pace making role in the Wonderland Classic- one of the highest scoring loops, -with a 220 average.

Over the past eight weeks he has been the most consistent bowler of the lot. While he doesn't often win high scoring honors for any one night he is always up with the leaders and over the stretch has outdistanced them in averages.

Dick has had an unusual career in the all-star leagues. Always dependable with any team on which he bowled, he has made many fine contributions to the sport.

He also has provided one of the oddest of the oddities. It came at Westland Bowl one night several years ago when he registered 11 strikes in a row and seemed headed for a perfect game.

He stepped to the approach, casually, and let go. But no one could have guessed what was to happen. He left up the Big Four- the 4-6-7-10- and he did it right in front of the counter where everyone could see it.

Usually, when a fellow misses on the final ball he leaves up only one pin- most often the No. 10. But Dick was different. He had the worst leave ever recorded on the final ball.

Dick's closest rival in the average race thus far is another popular all-star, Bob Garrett, who is hitting the pins at a 215 pace in the Westland Classic where he has a nine pin bludge on Bob Chamberlain.

The third member of the top trio is Aron Lipshy, who is carrying a 210 in the Business Men's League at Bel-Aire Lanes in Farmington.

Close behind is Greg Hatter who has the distinction of being among the leaders in two leagues. Greg is leading the Bel-Classic with 201 and boasts a 203 in the Businessmen's League.

BILL WALKER, one of the busiest bowlers in the area, set something of a record last week when he bowled a pair of 700 series, each one in a different house.

His best effort came in the Bel-Aire Classic where he linked games of 225, 255 and 265 for a 745. The other big count came at Westland Bowl where he opened with a 278 in the Classic then added games of 204 and 224 for a 706.

It's been quite a while since any local bowler ever broke the 700 barrier twice in a single week.

With his big count Bill set the pace at Bel-Aire as his closest rival was Jerry Bingham with a 668. Others in the double century figures were Al Reins with 655, D.C. Nunnery with 651 and Al Vanderweide with 640.

At Westland, Bill had to trail Rick Capaldi, one of the owners, who posted a 715 on games of 248, 221 and 246. Dick Beattie landed third with 666.

GREG HATTER is establishing quite a name for himself at Bel-Aire. For the second week in a row he has topped the senior house league with a 664. He was far ahead of his rivals, Gil Schornhorst with a 626 and Bob Martz with 625.

The race in the businessmen's league was one of the closest of the season as John Lennon fired a 633 to beat Larry Way by only three pins with Rusty Reed in third place with a 622.

In the Bel-Aire women's league it was Jackie Dix in the lead role with 545 and Lu Eiseman with 518.

ONE OF THE unusual performances of the week was turned in by Rich Hughes at Merri-Bowl.

He paced the junior house league with 681 that included a closing game of 242 and then did the same in the senior house league with a 245 finish in a 706 series. At this figure he nosed out Larry Plom who had a 697 with a middle game of 285.

DOUBLE CENTURY figures were the order of the day at Farmington Lanes.

Ray Smith started it off with a 268 in 667 to top the Teen Classic, with Marsha Terry in the runner-up spot with 580. Then came Barb Whaling with a 604 in the Thursday Classic, followed by Marge Holcomb with 638 in the Friday Classic, and John Meile in the Farmington Meadows league with a 612.

Others in the big figures included Jan Vanderwell with a 245 in 629 and Barb Whaling with a 603 in the Friday Classic.

Sharing honors for the week was Gloria Wagner, a 136 average bowler, who fashioned a 182 triplicate.

SCORING PICKED up at Garden Lanes where George Oestreich showed the way in the Tuesday Nite league with a 667 that included a 247 finish. He outscored George Hite who had a 638, while high honors went to John Dowhan with a 267.

In the Friday ladies league Marge Wuerth was high with a 585 and Monica Rusnell, a 160 average bowler, fashioned a 267 in 547.

Meanwhile, in the St. Linus league Bob Godby was top man with a 253 in 622.

IN THE FORD SHELTON loop at Plaza Bowl top honors went to Bill Marsh with a 257 in 682 and Harold Peete followed with a 622. At Plymouth Bowl Mary Lou Wessman won high single with a 234 and Adele Gray had a 224.

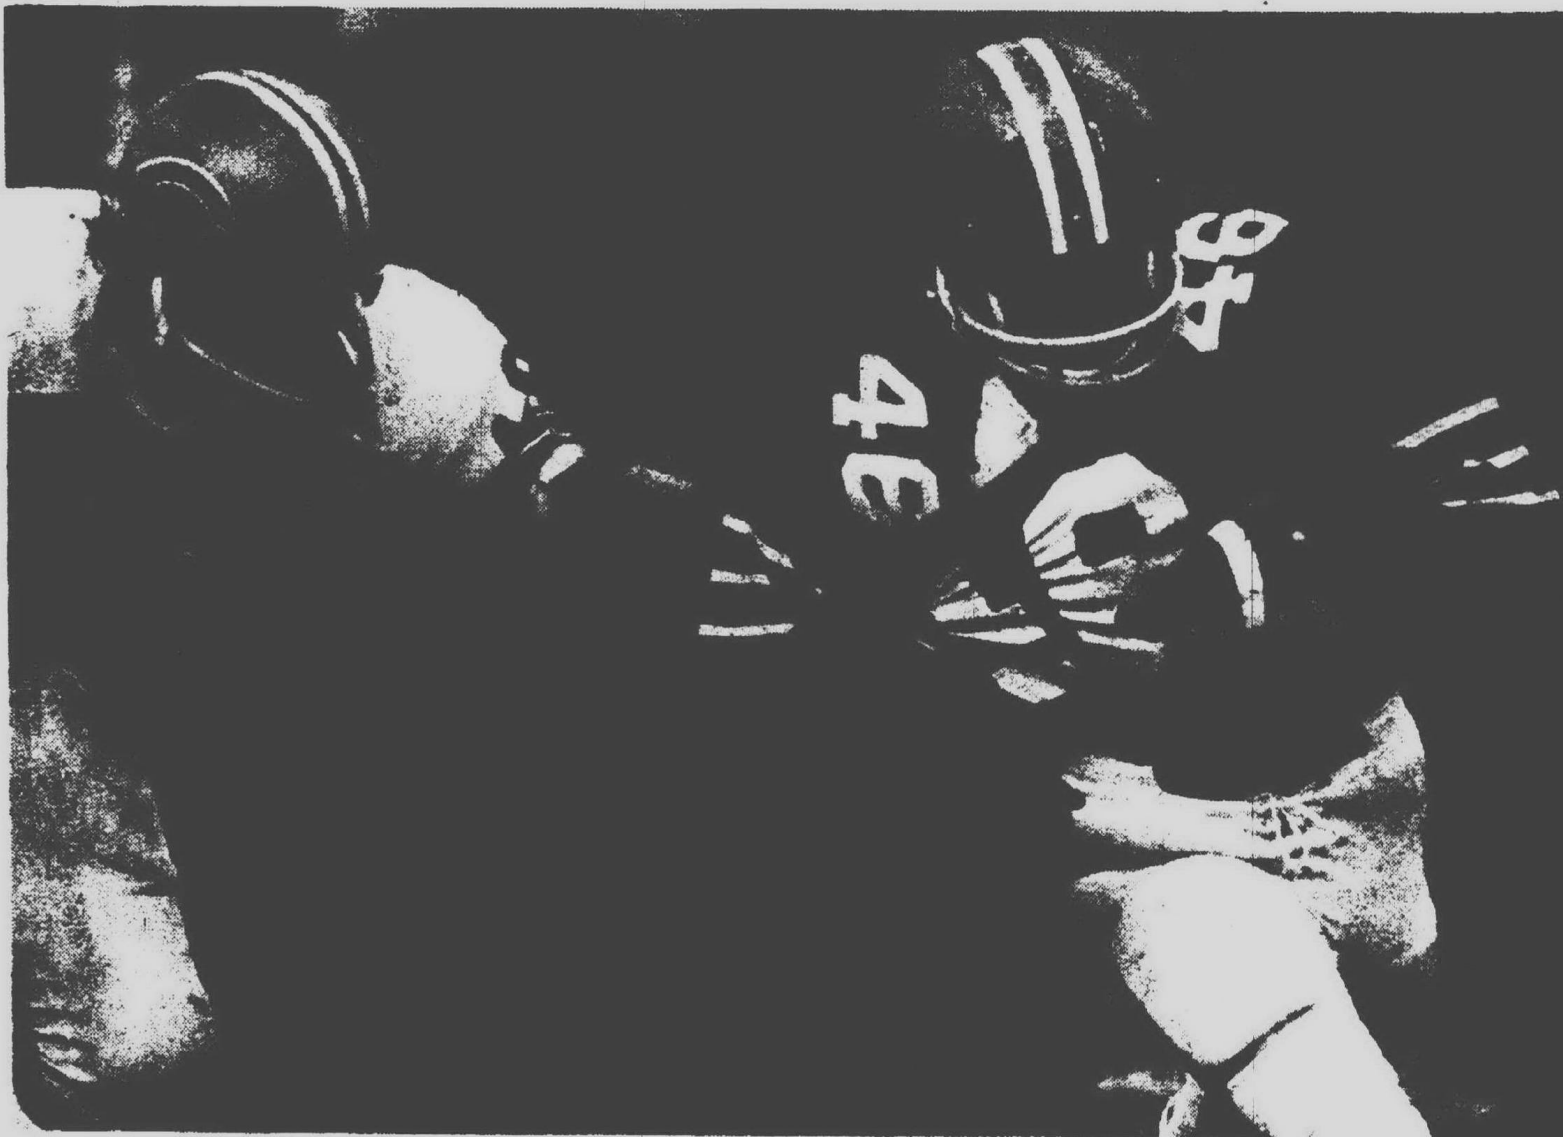

CONVERTING SPLITS still is the chief pastime at Mayflower Lanes and this week there were four more. Eugenia Holmes topped the 3-7-10;

Jean Keech did the same with the 6-7-10, while Tom Traud converted the 4-7-9 and Dennis Byrtus topped the 6-7-10.

On the competitive side Irene Olander was high for the ladies with 573 and Millie Smith took runner-up honors with 535.

The bowlers in the Loon Lake league at Country Lanes had to bow to Larry Krist who came through with a 265 and Paula Versine, a 127 average bowler at Country Lanes, fashioned a 205.

MADELYN DONAHUE made good use of her 44 pin spot to win top honors in the ladies classic at Livonia Lanes. She posted 474 series and with the spot of 132 pins paced the field with 606. This series included a winning game of 186-44-230. In the other games Betty Moeller captured the first with 156-41-197 and Lorraine Ivan-sik took the second with 210-37-247.

Franklin '74 dream is a Bulldog bite

By TOM DONOGHUE
Sports Editor

George Lovich and his Patriot grid-ers have been here before. For the second consecutive year, Franklin High is knocking on the door of an unbeaten football season.

For the second straight year it will be the Bulldogs of Bentley behind that door.

Lovich's Patriots humbled Churchill, 35-0, for their eighth win of '74 and now travel to rival Bentley, Friday night.

It was Bentley that was faced with this same situation last year, but on the Franklin gridiron, and led by Bob Wasilewski, ruined Lovich's and Franklin's perfect dream, 14-9.

Yes, Franklin has been here before, but the Northwest Suburban loop champions, unlike last year, have achieved state ranking in the '74 campaign. . . have shutout Tri-River champ Garden City West, 23-0; John Glenn, 16-0; Garden City East, 14-0; Thurston, 20-0, and now Churchill, 35-0, and have outscored their opponents, 192 points to 38.

This game will be Lovich's last as head coach on the Franklin gridiron as his new status as athletic director will remove him from coaching status next year.

Franklin will be going up against a stubborn Bulldog team that is sporting a 5-3 mark but remember it was a 3-5 team that stunned the Patriots last year.

"Franklin is just a great football team," commented Churchill coach Ken Kaestner after the 35-0 lashing his Chargers swallowed to stand at 4-4 heading into the finale with Stevenson.

"Franklin simply turned us inside out. I really believe that Lovich is the top football coach in the state."

Franklin's last perfect 9-0 season was back in '64 under the direction of Bob Bentley in the "Bernie Carbo days."

Lovich, whose Patriot crew has won 17 of its last 18 games, now sports a combined 48-9-1 mark.

Franklin holds a slim 5-4 edge in the series with Bentley with five of the nine games being decided by one point.

"We were here once before," commented Lovich as he prepared for his final week as head coach for the Patriots. "Our offense is what has carried us. We have been controlling the ball."

"We had the ball for over 31 minutes against Churchill. We had the momentum and with Churchill fumbling four times and us recovering all four, everything went our way."

"Our quarterback Paul Downs has really come into his own. He has become a steady force in our offense."

"Balance is our key this year," he added and with seven juniors starting on defense and six on offense, football at Franklin has to look bright for '75.

Franklin's all-state candidate Dan Quinn at 5-foot-8 and 165 pounds will be wrapping up his three year career Friday and the Patriot senior has already broken every school rushing mark.

Quinn is a shoo-in to break into the 1,000 yard mark this season as he has piled up 965 yards in 164 carries in the eight wins for a 5.9 yards per carry mark.

The old record was Greg Battistone's 629 yard mark set in '72.

Quinn has also scored 11 touchdowns, made good 18 of 22 conversions and kicked three of five field goals.

The Franklin onslaught over Churchill saw the Patriots collect 15 first downs, rush for 199 yards and pass for 193. Downs hit on 11 of 17 for 188 yards and Jo Jo Scarpace one of six for five yards.

Churchill's offense netted four first downs, only 18 yards on the ground and 29 in the air on four of 19 passes.

Franklin's second possession netted the game's first tally. The Patriots took over after a punt on their 28 with 6:48 remaining in the first quarter.

Downs hit Jim Casey on a key third down play to the 47 and then connected with Rick Varterasian down to the Churchill 33. Quinn broke loose on a draw play to the 13 and after a five

Quinn converted and it was 7-0, 3:02 left in the first quarter.

Franklin got the ball back with 40 seconds left in the quarter on its own 36. Quinn spurred to the 47 on the first play from scrimmage, to the Churchill 47 on play two and Jim Casey dashed to the 38 to set up a Downs to Sam Williams 38 yard scoring toss.

Quinn split the upright and it was 14-0, just 1:39 gone in the second quarter.

The remainder of the quarter saw Franklin's Jim Casey intercept a Churchill pass, Churchill's Mike Welch pick off a Downs' pass and Casey intercepting another pass on the final play of the half.

Franklin's second drive of the third quarter struck paydirt after Churchill's Matt Foster fumbled on his own three. Quinn pushed it in and converted to make it 21-0.

The following kickoff saw Quinn miss the football and the ball squirted loose to the Churchill 40 where Charger Andy Fabian booted it and Franklin recovered.

Franklin's final assault at the Churchill goal line came when Terry Allen intercepted a Mike Streicher pass and Downs connected with Sames for another TD. Quinn converted and it was 35-0.

Now comes that "perfect dream" again for Lovich and his Patriots, kickoff set for 7:30 p.m. at the Bentley gridiron tomorrow (Friday).

St. Agatha gridders close out as winners

St. Agatha has closed out a winner on the gridiron.

After a drought of five years without a winning season, first year coach Harvey Heitman has turned things around.

A season ending victory over St. Alphonsus couldn't have been more fitting.

It was St. Agatha's first victory over St. Alphonsus in any major varsity sport in five years, and the Aggies did it in 14-6 fashion.

"This has been a pretty good year for us," commented Heitman whose gridders finished at 5-3, second only to Mt. Carmel in the Second Division West loop.

"This last win had to be somewhat of a revenge game for our kids. St. Alphonsus all but took the gridiron out from under them last year in jumping off to a 57-0 lead at the half."

"The kids had this on their mind and this is the first time I have ever seen kids arguing to see who was going to block."

"Our kids just wanted to hit. We put out their entire backfield on injuries."

St. Agatha which was 4-4 in '73 and 3-4 in '72 under Mike Bennane enjoyed its last winning season under Dave Brazil in the '69 campaign.

"This Redford Township area and neighborhood is conducive to be a winner."

"You know we have only about 400 kids at St. Agatha while in contrast Bishop Borgess has about 1700. But I believe that we can compete with Borgess."

"This year had to be a step in the right direction for us."

St. Agatha wound up outscoring its opponents, 210 to 120, its three losses coming against Lutheran West, 34-12; Royal Oak St. Mary, 15-0; and Mt. Carmel, 25-15.

The first half against St. Alphonsus was a scoreless and frustrating 24 minutes for Heitman and his Aggies.

The opening St. Agatha drive stalled on the St. Alphonsus four with two 15 yard penalties doing the Aggies in. In the second quarter, St. Agatha moved down to the two only to fumble.

Meanwhile St. Alphonsus never crossed the Aggie 40.

The third quarter opened with an exchange of punts and St. Alphonsus broke the ice with Bill English returning a punt to the Aggie 16. Four plays later, English carried it in for six. A two-point conversion missed and the Aggies were down, 6-0.

St. Agatha woke up in its following drive that covered 70 yards in 16 plays. Mark Duquette scored from six yards out. George Fick's conversion missed and it was a tie-game.

A fumble recovered by Dave Mully set up the next Aggie score at the end of the third quarter. St. Agatha set up on the St. Alphonsus 17 and Mully made it all successful with a one yard burst to paydirt.

Sophomore quarterback Brian Higgins made good a two-point conversion on a keeper play and it was 14-6 heading into the final 12 minutes and the Aggie defense did the rest.

St. Agatha wound up with 14 first downs and 310 yards on the ground. St. Alphonsus collected six first downs and 105 yards on the ground.

Duquette headed up the Aggie ground attack with 142 yards in 15 carries and Fick followed up with 87 yards in nine carries.

The senior Duquette wound up with 1403 yards rushing and 15 touchdowns for '74 and All-Second Division West along with Fick, Jerry King, Al Rice, Paul Welisnak and Mully.

Stevenson gal cagers bounce Franklin for 10th win, 68-23

Liz Embree's Stevenson girls basketball team is gearing up for the upcoming state tourney later this month.

Her Spartans, which made it as far as the semifinals last year, knocked down Waterford, Churchill and Franklin to stand at 10-0.

The Spartans got off to a slow start against Waterford and trailed after one quarter, 6-4. But things turned around in quarter No. 2 with Stevenson jumping to a 28-6 halftime margin and 41-13 after three periods.

Sharon Solack headed Stevenson with 14 points, Lqri Hyman was next with 11. Jan Wilkinson and Jeri Isenhardt followed with eight points each in the 57-17 win.

It was Stevenson, 60-36, over rival Churchill, for victory No. 9. Churchill managed to stay with Stevenson for three quarters before falling out of the picture in the final eight minutes. Stevenson led after one quarter, 12-9, and at the half, 30-21. The margin was 46-32 heading into the last eight minutes before the Spartans pulled away with a 14-4 stanza.

Miss Hyman led Stevenson with 22 points with Solack and Isenhardt adding 12 each.

The Franklin mismatch saw Stevenson jump off to a 20-4 first quarter score, increase it to 41-10 at the half and 50-19 at the end of three quarters enroute to a 68-23 triumph.

Hyman pumped in 17 points to give her a three game total of 50 points and was followed up by Isenhardt, Solack and Liz Youngberg with eight points each against Franklin.

Stevenson travels to Walled Lake Central tonight (Thursday) for a 6:16 clash, is at Redford Union on Tuesday, Nov. 12, for a 6 p.m. battle and hosts Milford on Nov. 14, with tip-off set for 6:30 p.m.

Milliken writes Ford

Recession help is requested

Governor William G. Milliken has asked President Ford and other federal officials to take a series of actions aimed at easing the impact of automobile company layoffs in Michigan. "Recent announcements — and rumors about others which may or may not come — have caused considerable apprehensiveness among workers and their families," said the governor.

"Michigan hasn't yet been as heavily hit by layoffs as some other states, but now is the time to head off any possible detrimental impact here."

THE GOVERNOR on Oct. 30 announced he is urging that: Public service employment be expanded and jobless pay benefits extended now to protect those out of work or those who may be laid off;

The Michigan delegation in congress spearhead a drive to provide a cost-of-living escalator on income tax deductions to put more money in the hands of those families who are working;

Consideration be given to possible ways to stimulate car sales through such means as tax deductions for federally-mandated safety and environmental equipment, or federal assistance in easing the impact of interest rates on car loans; and,

The flow of some $215 million in federal wastewater treatment funds be expedited for the current fiscal year as a means not only of accelerating environmental protection but also stimulating more jobs.

"FAMILIES IN Michigan and elsewhere are caught in a whipsaw between increasing prices and decline in jobs," Milliken said.

"They can't wait for inflation to abate. Families don't deserve the uncertainty of not knowing how long they will be working and not knowing if they are going to be laid off without adequate protection.

"Now is the time for action to spur our recovery from the national economic doldrums. Restoration of confidence in the economy, and assurance that families will be protected against loss of income, depend on immediate action."

IN A LETTER to President Ford, Milliken reiterated the importance of unemployment benefits for up to a full year through a special federal program aimed at maintaining the purchasing power of individuals who are, through no fault of their own, unemployed.

"Loss of family income, no matter how long the duration of the layoff, puts people in a financial bind that has a ripple effect throughout the economy," Milliken said.

"Unemployment assistance must not only be sufficient in terms of benefit amounts, it must last long enough to protect against family income loss.

"We also need an expanded program of public service jobs for those who, for one reason or another, simply don't qualify for extended unemployment benefits.

"I would again call for a full program, which would cost about $4 billion nationwide, to create a minimum of 800,000 jobs as recommended by Sen. Jacob Javits (R-New York) and Dr. Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve.

"It is essential these jobs be made available on the basis of local conditions when unemployment in a state is above 6.5 per cent for three consecutive months, regardless of national conditions."

TO PROTECT the incomes of those who are working, the governor called for congressional action to benefit lower and middle income groups.

"For those in lower brackets, particularly those with incomes below $10,000 who take the standard deduction instead of itemizing on their income tax, a cost of living escalator is needed.

"Last year, such an escalator would have increased the value of each $750 personal exemption by 8 per cent.

"That's money in the pockets of families. It's money that would be spent, and thereby improve the economy. We're not in a situation where inflation is caused by excess consumer demand, but by price increases. We need to help people maintain their accustomed standard of living."

He noted families who are worried about having to dip into savings for food or other necessities "are likely to forego such major expenditures as a new car, even if they need one."

Up until a few months ago, there was an artificial demand "bubble" from people trying to beat expected higher prices, Milliken noted. Now, people need more dollars in order just to keep up with price increases.

Coupled with his proposed tax exemption for the first $750 of interest income, the cost of living escalator on personal exemptions would stabilize family finances, Milliken pointed out.

"The third area for priority action is in the stimulation of new car sales.

"If cars don't sell, people are laid off. This is a national problem, but it has special significance for Michigan. I'm convinced part of the sales problems the auto companies have announced recently can be overcome through minimal assistance with auto purchase financing.

"The principle of loan guarantees and interest subsidies to stimulate private sector buying in the housing industry is well-established.

"I am asking the congress and president to explore the possibilities of extending the principle of federal actions aimed at lowering interest rates on money borrowed to buy cars, or providing interest assistance to lower the effective rate paid by the borrower, to the new car field.

"I would expect that any government cost attached to such a program would be more than made up by taxes paid by a healthy auto industry.

"I would expect that, despite the fact the price of autos has gone up tremendously, the psychological effect of assistance with the cost of borrowed money would stimulate sales and thereby keep people working.

"I also hope consideration will be given to the possibility of tax deductions on the cost of federally-mandated safety and environmental equipment.

"The automobile industry is nationally oriented.

"It calls Michigan home but it is deeply involved in the economy of every state, every city, every community in the nation."

MILLIKEN ALSO asked the president and Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Director Russell Train to expedite flow of some $215 million in federal wastewater treatment funds.

At stake are 64 projects and an estimated 3,700 jobs.

Milliken told the president that "expedited funding of these projects will not only generate a substantial number of new jobs, it will tell these communities that their efforts to clean up the environment will soon be under way."

Not only will the projects generate 3,700 jobs, there will be a "ripple" effect throughout the economy, producing 1.5 jobs for each construction job created, for a total of more than 9,000 new jobs in Michigan.

Policemen warn of false ad campaign

LIVONIA—The Livonia Police Officers Association issued a warning to local businessmen about a deceptive advertising campaign by someone misusing the group's name.

President Carl Varner said the campaign is in the form of an advertising book solicitation which has no connection with the POA.

Varner said the union's only fundraising event held recently was the annual policemen's ball earlier this month.

The association belongs only to the Police Officers Association of Michigan but no other police organizations, Varner said.

He said complaints about the misleading ad campaign may be registered with the police department. There is a state law prohibiting the raising of money under false pretenses and the POA is willing to prosecute, Varner said.

VINYL FLOOR has the features of genuine brick and a nonporous surface that makes cleaning a snap.

The Better Floors Council recommends methods for stripping and waxing vinyl asbestos floors.

Stripping floors is necessary to prevent excess wax buildup, which darkens tile. If these accumulated coats become too thick, they trap dirt and grime. Stripping once or twice a year is usually enough to prevent this.

Just mop the floor before applying the wax remover or stripping solution. Spread the solution with a clean mop and let it stand for three or five minutes to take effect. Remove the dirty solution with a clean mop. Then rinse the floor thoroughly, being careful not to flood it. Let dry 20 to 30 minutes before repolishing.

This method applies only to the self-polishing and water emulsion waxes.

If you prefer the newer water-resistant (resin or polymer) finishes, you should strip after three or four coats have accumulated. Why? Because these water-resistant finishes build up an impermeable film that is so strong it can curl and lift corners or edges of the tile.

The council recommends a stripping solution of one cup ammonia to one bucket (10 quarts) of water containing a mild soap or tile-manufacturer-approved cleaner.

Follow the procedure outlined above.

Polish can be poured directly on a smooth-surface tile, a small amount at a time. But if your vinyl asbestos tile floor has an embossed surface, pour the polish in a shallow pan; then dip a damp, clean sponge mop into the polish and press out excess before applying it to the tile.

Always spread polish as thinly as possible, using long, straight strokes.

Termites are nearly always stymied by ordinary good home construction, notes the Western Wood Products Association.

Wood framing over an open basement or accessible crawl space is generally out of reach of the insidious fiber chawers.

Termites must maintain access to ground moisture, so sometimes will build a mud tunnel up across a concrete foundation. This can be seen easily and broken away.

Pressure-treated all wood foundations, now slowly gaining favor across the nation, stop the insects cold.

By LARRESTINE TRIMM
Michigan Department of Agriculture

Michigan harvest days for fresh vegetables are nearing an end, according to marketing officials of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, but you have a few weeks left to enjoy them.

Whether you cook vegetables fresh, can or freeze them for later use, nutritionists say they offer vitamins and minerals essential for a well-balanced diet.

Prepare a winning combination of flavors, colors and textures with Michigan vegetables. Mrs. Lenore Swank, a resident of Cassopolis, did and brought home $3,000 in the national 1974 chicken cookoff recently.

Using mushrooms, carrots, onions, wine and poultry, she prepared an economical recipe for Wine-glazed Chicken and Vegetables and placed third among 51 contestants.

To prepare Mrs. Swank's recipe at home for your enjoyment, sprinkle a broiler-fryer chicken, quartered, with a teaspoon of flavor enhancer, ½ teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Heat ¼ cup vegetable oil in skillet over medium heat. Add chicken, brown lightly, then remove.

Mix together two tablespoons flour, a teaspoon sugar, ¼ teaspoon each of dry rosemary and thyme, stir into pan drippings to make a smooth paste. Add two tablespoons lemon juice, liquid from a 6-ounce can of mushrooms and ½ cup of chicken broth; cook, stirring until it boils. Add ½ cup of burgundy wine, 12 small onions, peeled, one pound of small carrots, the mushrooms and chicken. Reduce heat, cover and simmer 30 minutes.

Remove cover, continue cooking over higher heat until most liquid is evaporated and chicken and vegetables are coated with thick, rich glaze. Garnish with parsley. Serves four.

Recipe given for compost

Use autumn leaves in a compost pile this fall and give yourself a richer garden next summer, suggests the Department of Natural Resources. Following this environmental tip, you'll prevent both air and water pollution produced by leaf burning while you create a rich and inexpensive soil conditioner. One compost recipe includes five parts of fibrous materials (leaves, grass, plants) to one part nitrogenous matter (animal manure). Since leaves contain a high amount of acid, some suggest adding powdered limestone to "sweeten" the compost. Other key ingredients, oxygen and bacteria, are free and available for the composting process. Best results come from piling the materials in layers at least two feet deep, then periodically turning them with a pitchfork or shovel. Shredding the leaves and plant materials with a rotary lawn mower will provide the most surface for bacteria action. A black plastic cover over the pile will speed the composting process. Compost can be cultivated in a pile, a pit, or bin made from fencing or cement blocks. Compost experts say the layers of ingredients should not total a pile deeper than four feet.

Part-timers dominate college scene

Area colleges today are enrolling more young adults, housewives, veterans, and senior citizens than ever before.

These conclusions are drawn from interviews with the president of Madonna College, public information directors of Henry Ford and Schoolcraft community colleges, and the University of Michigan-Dearborn.

THE INCREASES have been most dramatic during the last two to three years at all four schools. Vocational, career-oriented programs show probably the biggest jump of all.

The recent experience of Schoolcraft College provides a good example. From 1971 to 1973, the average number of credit hours taken per student has dropped from 9.25 to 8.5. At the same time, the percentage of full-time students has dropped from 43 to 34 per cent. Also during the same period, the percentage of part-time students has risen from 57 to 66 per cent.

Of these part-time student increases, the percentage of transfer, or one to two year pre-degree students, has decreased from 55.6 to 45.5 per cent. But the percentage of students in career-vocational programs has increased from 44.5 to 54.6 per cent during the same time.

Programs such as nursing, medical technology, and computer science, for example, as well as traditional career majors like business administration, are cited by the schools as having gained much popularity during the last few years.

OFFICIALS from the four schools view the scheduling of night classes for vocational-career courses as helping to make these programs more popular to part-time students.

With only one exception among the four (Henry Ford), night classes are more popular now than day classes. Madonna College, for example, now operates at capacity after 5 p.m. in its week-day classes.

The four school officials say that inflation is largely responsible for making it more attractive for students to live at home and take classes part-time while holding jobs, than to pay for a university education away from home.

AT SCHOOLCRAFT College, Public Information Director David Heinzman cites the popularity of a somewhat unusual vocational education program. He mentions a culinary arts course that has people who finish it "finding chef jobs all around the area."

School officials note there are more housewives taking a small number of liberal arts courses just for pleasure, than ever before.

The four schools report that they are operating at full capacity in classroom space. Typical was the situation at Madonna College, where all its 1,000 classrooms are filled up at night.

"We will have to be quite ingenious to find space in the future," Madonna President Sister Mary Danatha comments. She says that if necessary Madonna will convert student lounges into classroom space for next year's courses.

ALL FOUR schools report a large increase in the number of persons going back to college for "job-upgrading" programs.

At Henry Ford College, Information Director Thomas Kirkland relates veterans are especially heavily involved in these types of classes. Courses are put together with the help of area industry such as the Ford Motor Company. The companies pay tuition in many cases, for employees to keep up to date with the latest techniques in their jobs.

Kirkland says 1,500 veterans now attend Henry Ford. This is a 14 per cent increase over last year, he explains. Sister Danatha says Madonna has increased from no veterans in 1972, to 425 in 1974.

COURSES TAKEN by the growing number of senior citizens at the colleges are mainly in social sciences and languages. Schoolcraft, however, has some special ones, such as learning to cope with the deaths of loved ones.

The increase in the enrollment of women can be dramatically seen by statistics at University of Michigan-Dearborn. Information Director Judy Phair points to a 79 per cent increase in the number of women from fall 1973 to fall 1974.

She notes the increase has come in part in traditionally male-dominated areas like engineering, business administration and management. The urban education program and continuing certification program for teachers have received much of the increase.

The clear shift in student preference toward job-oriented programs, is explained by Kirkland. He observes that "a lot of people are not as anxious to get a degree."

"Instead of going straight from high school to a university, they work one or two years after high school, then decide what they really want to do."

All officials agreed inflation has a lot to do with this attitude. Another big factor, Kirkland says, is recognition by young adults that industry today wants trained employees.

Schoolcraft enrollment rises 400 per cent in 9 years

Schoolcraft College statistics for the past nine years show an overall increase in enrollment of more than 400 per cent.

If community service, or general adult education programs are included, the increase would be from 2,018 in 1964 to 8,157 in 1974.

The average number of credit hours taken per student reached a peak of 10.3 in 1966.

Thereafter, it declined steadily to the 1974 low of 8.5 hours per student. The percentage of fulltime students has decreased from 57 per cent in 1964, to 34 per cent in 1974. Part time students have shown a marked increase in numbers, from 43 per cent in 1964 to 66 per cent in 1974.

THE PERCENTAGE of transfer or pre-degree students has dropped from a 1966 high of 67.4 per cent, to the 1974 low of 45.4 per cent.

Vocational career-oriented programs have at the same time jumped from a 1966 low of 32.6 per cent, to the 1974 high of 54.6 per cent.

The enrollment picture at Madonna College during the past three years shows the totals rising from 816 students in 1972, to 1,394 in 1974. The breakdown of these figures shows an increase from 400 fulltime students in 1972 to 894 in 1974. During the same period, part time student numbers have gone from 416 in 1972 to 505 in 1974.

The 1,394 total for 1974 includes 835 adults (25 and over), or 60 per cent of the total, and 559 younger adults (17-24), or 40 per cent of its totals. Veterans total 435, or 30 per cent of the 1974 total. Minorities number 211, or 15 per cent of the 1974 Madonna total.

HENRY FORD'S enrollment has risen steadily in 10 years, from 8,648 in 1964 to 14,162 in 1974.

The 1974 totals show almost four times the number of part time students as fulltime. The figures are 11,015 part time students, and 3,147 fulltime.

The 1974 totals for the University of Michigan-Dearborn show a total of 4,298 students. This represents a 46 per cent increase over 1973. Of these students, 62.5 per cent are men and 37.5 per cent women. The increase of women students is 79 per cent higher than 1973 figures. The number of students now not enrolled in degree programs is three times the 1973 totals.

By departments, 1974 totals show School of Management up 20 per cent from 1973, the School of Engineering up 22 per cent, the School of Urban Education up 29 per cent, and the College of Arts and Sciences up 34 per cent.

Westland will extend hours for shopping

Beginning Nov. 10, Sunday shopping hours at Westland Center will be from 11 a.m. until 7 p.m. through the Christmas season for the convenience of holiday shoppers.

According to Joseph Spino, manager of the center, the Sunday hours have been extended one hour longer than last year because of the six fewer days, this year, between Thanksgiving and Christmas. Also a more intensive last-minute shopping rush is anticipated.

Weekday shopping hours have already been extended to 9:30 p.m. and will continue through Dec. 23.

'Swing your partners' (in a wheelchair)

By SHERRY KAHAN

Excited and happy, they sit in their wheelchairs in the Easter Seal Society Center in Inkster and wait for the music to begin.

Suddenly the sound of a fiddle breaks through and with the call, "Grab your partners," the square dance is on.

The Virginia Reel is the specialty of the house on this occasion. To the tune of "Git Down" played on a record, the handicapped dancers of varying ages begin the traditional "allemand left, bow to your partner and promenade round the hall."

They swing their partners by holding on to the arms of the other person's chair. True, they sometimes bump into each other or the wheels of the two chairs lock.

"But they keep on pushing around," said Mrs. Eileen Cook, activities director at the center. "It doesn't bother them. They just start again."

THEIR WILLINGNESS to start again will be exhibited Friday, Nov. 15 at 7:30 p.m. when a wheelchair square dance will be held in the center under the sponsorship of two of the center's clubs.

While the participants do not as yet wear country costumes for their evening of dancing, "they probably will soon," thought Mrs. Cook.

"Recently members of this club went to Lansing for an Easter Seals Society Halloween party and one of them, Joe Romantino, won first prize for his General Patton costume."

While not all the activities at this center at 2545 Hyde Park Drive, near Middle Belt and Michigan, are as dramatic as this one, there is still plenty going on to interest the many handicapped who drop in.

YET SOMETIMES Mrs. Cook fears that "nobody knows we are here."

"We have craft and social groups for different ages that meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays," she said. "I think the attendance at them attests to their usefulness. They are completely filled."

"Yet we feel there are many people in places like Livonia, Plymouth, Garden City or other towns around the county who do not know about our programs."

"We want to start a young adult group during after-school hours. Many handicapped young people lose all social contacts after they leave high school. They are confined to the house and often don't see anybody."

"We would leave it up to them as to whether they wanted to be a social or a crafts group. Perhaps they would like to build it around a potluck dinner. It could be flexible."

Mrs. Cook said the center owns only a seven-passenger bus so the possibility of bringing people to the center is somewhat limited. At first, at least, relatives or friends would have to furnish transportation.

"We need more buses," said Mrs. Cook. "We want to make a list of people who would like to use a bus so that perhaps the members of our board would become interested in acquiring another one."

THREE CLUBS for the handicapped are in operation in the center. One is for teenagers, one for adults and the third for senior citizens.

The Teen Club, for those between 13 and 19, has a potluck supper at 5:30 p.m. on the second Friday of each month. At present it has about 20 members.

The Friendship Club, a social group for adult handicapped, meets in the evening on the third Friday of each month. Its membership hovers around 25.

The Friendly Circle draws about 35 senior citizens in the daytime on the first Wednesday of the month. It has a luncheon social with the members bringing their own sandwiches and receiving dessert and coffee from the center.

ONCE A MONTH Ken McGrann of Garden City is driven by his wife, Ethel, to this club for the elderly handicapped.

"He likes it very much," said Mrs. McGrann. "He has been disabled for the past 15 years and his right arm is paralyzed. He's been going to the center four years. Right now he is working on a rug on a loom there. He really enjoys being with people and having something to do."

"It occupies his time and they teach him things he can do at home. They go on outings to such places as the Ford plant and this gives them a chance to see things they wouldn't see by themselves."

"We serve the physically handicapped," said Mrs. Cook, who noted that just a partial list of the disabilities and diseases of those enjoying the center would include cerebral palsy, epilepsy, stroke, trauma, post-polio, muscular dystrophy, multiple sclerosis and aphasia.

IN ADDITION to these programs, the center performs services for the handicapped free of charge.

"We have an information and referral service," explained Mrs. Cook. "If we can't meet the needs of an individual, we will help find and use the appropriate resources."

The center also has an equipment loan closet offering braces, wheelchairs, commodes, walkers, crutches and other orthopedic equipment.

"We supply occupational therapy sessions each week to handicapped teenagers and adults," said Mrs. Cook, adding that a few of the crafts offered include basketry, weaving, macrame, plaster casting, wood-working, knitting, copper tooling, batik and ceramic tile.

"WE ALSO run a six-week summer camp here for handicapped children, ages three to 12, and a two-week session for disabled teenagers," she said. "We also accept applications from youngsters for a two-week residential camp maintained by the Easter Seal Society."

"The only requirement is a doctor's prescription stating that the person requires such services."

The Wayne County Easter Seal Society is funded by direct voluntary contributions from the general public derived from several types of fundraising campaigns and gifts of various civic groups.

It receives no county, state or federal assistance, nor does it get funds from the United Foundation.

Accessibility is a must Handicapped helped by law

By DENNY COFFMAN

A small step for mankind is a giant leap for a handicapped person.

Getting out of a car, over a curb, through a checkout aisle, into a restroom, or making a phone call—routine activities for the able-bodied—become as difficult as the conquest of Mt. Everest for a physically handicapped person.

But for the quarter of a million handicapped persons in the tri-county area, hope is on the way.

A NEW STATE construction code, effective Nov. 6 requires new and renovated buildings to provide more easily accessible facilities.

Not only does the code lay down explicit construction requirements, but Public Act 190 provides for enforcement of the code.

For the many handicapped who have difficulty getting into, around and out of malls, theaters and stores in western Wayne County, the new code will not improve the situation immediately, though.

It will still be difficult for area handicapped, such as Sandra Kimbel, of Marquette Street, Garden City, to get around. Mrs. Kimbel's trips to local shopping centers are trying, to say the least.

She has been physically handicapped all of her 19 years with muscular deterioration and cannot manage without the aid of her mother, Mrs. Martha Bennett.

"It's hard to get Sandra interested in civic affairs," Mrs. Bennett points, "because of those awful steps leading to city hall on Middle Belt (north of Ford)."

Curbs at shopping centers are a real problem, too, especially at older shopping centers. It's almost impossible for a handicapped person to get over them alone because the person would have to flip back over them," say Mrs. Bennett.

ACTUALLY, facilities for persons in wheelchairs are so bad that very few venture out to a mall alone.

They need someone to hold open doors of cars, malls, and restrooms.

Westland Center, Wayne and Warren Roads, is a happy exception. The mall's entrance door is electrically operated and there are inclined curbs for wheelchairs. Still, there are problems.

The congestion inside the stores is difficult to get through, and the checkout aisles are too narrow to allow passage of a person in a wheelchair," says Mrs. Bennett.

"I must wheel my daughter around the checkout lanes and then go back to pay for our purchases. Most of the stores at Westland are on one level, but there are some basement shops, and the only way to get to them is to take the service elevator.

OTHER DIFFICULTIES encountered by the handicapped are caused by the height of pay telephones and restaurant tables, both are generally too high for persons in wheelchairs.

Restrooms are nearly always inaccessible because they are too narrow to accommodate wheelchairs.

Mrs. Doris Weeks, of Florence Street, Garden City, paralyzed from the waist down due to a spinal injury, has similar problems.

She complains that stores of more than one level will not allow her to use freight elevators and, says doctors' and dentists' offices generally have no inclined curbs.

Theaters, however, do not present too many obstacles, provided there are inclined curbs. "I generally park my chair at the rear of the theater and remain in it."

Remodeling has actually caused certain stores to become more difficult to shop, she says.

"I had to stop going to a store on Palmer because it made the aisles less than two feet wide and I couldn't get my wheelchair through.

Under the new construction code, this type of renovation will be prohibited.

BUT MORE accessible shopping centers are already being built.

Meijer's Thrifty Acres, Ford and Canton Center Roads in Canton Township, is an excellent example of what can be done to make life easier for the handicapped.

All of the store's departments are on a single level, spanning more than five acres.

Parking spaces are extra wide, to permit the full opening of car doors and wheelchairs.

According to Bill Hibreth, store manager: "We've made just about every provision for the handicapped in our Meijer's store."

The store, scheduled to open Nov. 19, has special restroom facilities, wide checkout lanes to accommodate wheelchairs, and inclined curbs.

Meijer's even provides two motorized chairs for the handicapped.

Meijer's example undoubtedly will be followed by other retailers, now that the construction code has some teeth in it.

But until then, the handicapped will have to pay their money—and take their chances.

County violates air standards

Violations in Wayne County of carbon monoxide and ozone primary standards for clean air have prompted review of control strategies for the metropolitan Detroit area.

On a statewide basis, however, Michigan air will meet primary federal health protection standards for sulfur dioxide and nearly meet primary suspended particulate standards by July 1975 if trends noted in 1973 continue.

That information came in a 1973 air quality standards report made recently to state air control commissioners by the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Air Pollution Control Division.

THE FEDERAL Clean Air Act requires by mid 1975 that each state outline its program for attaining primary standards and secondary standards within a "reasonable time," usually two to three years. The standards regulate six major pollutants.

Primary standards are set at levels judged essential for public health protection. Secondary standards are designed to protect against air pollution damage to vegetation, buildings, homes, automobiles, other public and private property and to guard against effects such as vision impairment by contaminated air.

From 1966 to the end of 1973, the DNR placed in operation an expanded statewide network of more than 250 pollutant analyzers. The network monitors sulfur dioxide, suspended particulates, carbon monoxide, photochemical oxidants, nitrogen dioxide and hydrocarbons.

LAST YEAR five counties including Wayne showed concentrations of sulfur dioxide above primary standards. Sulfur dioxide can impair breathing, irritate eyes, throat and lungs, and corrode many common metals. Based on abatement programs, however, the air quality report predicted that primary standards should be met by July 1975.

Wayne and Alpena counties will not meet primary standards for suspended particulates by next July, but seven other counties violating the standards last year are expected to comply.

Suspended particulates, including dust, smoke, fumes, fly ash and a variety of mists and sprays, are considered hazardous to health and property.

Other new control possibilities are under discussion for carbon monoxide and photochemical oxidants.

IN WAYNE COUNTY primary carbon monoxide standards were exceeded a few times, although at levels minor compared to Saginaw. Carbon monoxide, most often emitted from internal combustion engines, deprives the heart and brain of oxygen.

The principal photochemical oxidant is ozone, which was found in violation of primary standards 15 times in downtown Detroit, the only measuring site in 1973.

Photochemical oxidants are formed in the atmosphere from the interaction of sunlight, nitrogen oxides and hydrocarbons, and originate mainly from fossil fuel combustion. Oxidants can irritate human respiratory systems, are toxic to vegetation and can weaken rubber and fabrics.

No violations of nitrogen dioxide standards were observed in Michigan in 1973, and hydrocarbons are not directly measured in Michigan due to inadequate analyzing equipment.

The Reuther Mall

NORMAN O. STOCKMEYER (left) of Westland, senior member of the Wayne State University Board of Governors, joins in groundbreaking ceremonies for the Walter P. Reuther Mall on Kirby Avenue between Cass and Old Second Avenue on the WSU campus. The $200,000 mall will run adjacent to the nearly-completed Walter P. Reuther Library for Labor and Urban Affairs. The mall is being financed by a $100,000 gift from the UAW with Detroit furnishing the balance with proceeds collected in connection with the city's 250th birthday fund-raising in 1951. Completion date is set for June 1975.

Steiner directs bicentennial for the county

Wayne County Commissioner Ervin R. Steiner Jr. has been named chairman of the county's participation in the 1976 bicentennial national celebration.

After being named, Steiner immediately urged all cities and townships to use the county bicentennial committee to coordinate joint planning of events and programs.

Steiner said he will invite all 43 municipalities in Wayne County to designate representatives to serve on a countywide committee along with county officials and staff.

A PROFESSIONAL in the field of planning public events, Steiner said: "The county will provide a valuable coordinating mechanism which will enable all communities to coordinate their efforts for the maximum benefit of the entire citizenry."

"Many kinds of observances would benefit from a joint local-county approach. Countywide coordination will avoid scheduling conflicts so all citizens will have an opportunity to attend all major events."

"There is such a wealth of cultural resources in Wayne County that scheduling conflicts could disappoint many residents if there is no central coordination."

"WE HAVE to mention just a few, plans being made by the Detroit and other bicentennial committees, and institutions such as Greenfield Village and the Detroit Historical Museum."

"The bicentennial offers a golden opportunity for all of us to gain new insights into the rich history and attributes of government and community life in metropolitan Wayne County."

"We hope to make this the biggest civic event in history," concluded Steiner (R-Grosse Pointe Farms). "We will invite all communities to join in one big parade, for example."

Steiner is serving his second two-year term on the county board. He is president of Steiner Promotions, Inc., a firm specializing in public relations, advertising, promotion, and convention planning and counseling.

Journalists win awards

One editorial and three photographic awards were earned by the Observer & Eccentric in the 1974 editorial competition sponsored by Suburban Newspapers of America.

Barbara Underwood was one of three winners of certificates of excellence in the suburban journalist of the year category in the nationwide contest.

TOM DONOGHUE, Tracy Baker and Lona Askins earned recognition for their photographic entries.

Ms. Askins, until recently with the Rochester Observer & Eccentric, was named second runner-up in photojournalism spot news.

Donoghue, with the Observer & Eccentric in Wayne County, was third runner-up in the photojournalism feature category.

Baker, now graphics editor for Oakland County editions, received a certificate of excellence in the feature category of photojournalism.

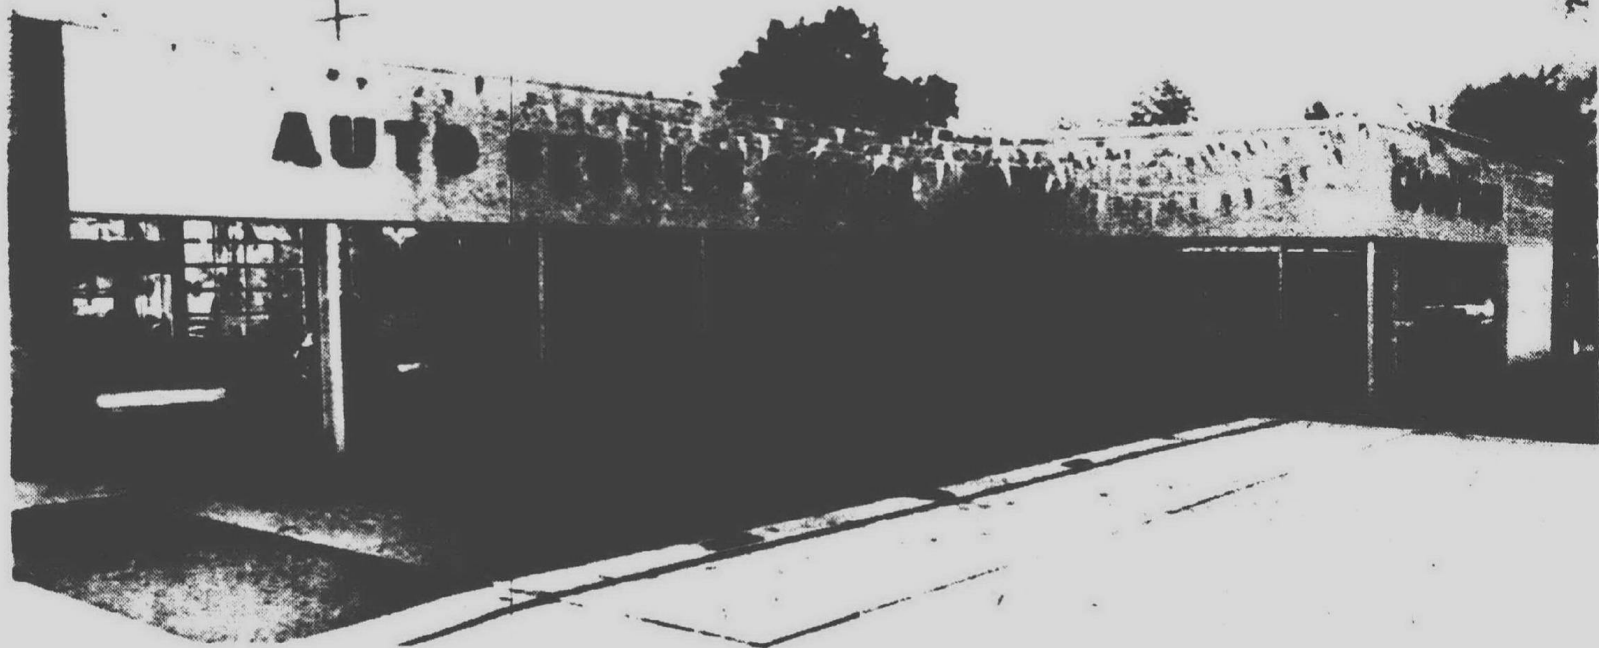

MRS. UNDERWOOD is the education writer for the Birmingham-Bloomfield edition of the Observer & Eccentric.

Her entry required material from a 12-month period indicative of comprehensive coverage of a given area of reporting. She has covered the Bloomfield Hills School District since 1968 and the Birmingham School District and private schools in the area since 1973.

A Birmingham resident, she began working for the former Eccentric Newspapers in 1966. The award is her third since then. The others were for feature writing in 1969 and 1971.

Westland Center to have holiday bazaar Nov. 8-10

The Westland Center will host its first annual pre-Christmas Bazaar Nov. 8-10.

Forty local service organizations, including church groups, women's clubs, school organizations, art associations and service clubs, will set up booths Friday through Sunday in the East and West Courts of Westland Center during regular shopping hours. Groups plan to sell baked goods, handmade items, Christmas cards and calendars. They will also pass out information about their activities. A few groups will demonstrate some of their pastimes, such as karate demonstrations by YMCA members.

In a joint effort to raise money for a Burn Institute, the Westland Jaycees and the Westland Fire Department will bring in an antique fire engine and offer prizes to bazaar participants.

Barbara Welanetz, center promotion manager, said the bazaar was organized in response to the many requests received for such activity on the mall throughout the year.

Symphony offers clarinetist

JOHN MOHLER

"I'd rather have him than any clarinet player I've ever heard," said Plymouth Symphony Conductor Wayne Dunlap.

He was speaking of John Mohler, who will be soloist with the Plymouth Symphony in its next concert, Sunday, Nov. 17 at 4 p.m. in Plymouth Salem High School, Joy west of Canton Center Road.

They will be heard in Weber's first clarinet concerto. Also on the program will be Milhaud's "La Creation du Monde" (Creation of the World) and Sibelius' first symphony.

DUNLAP SAID it's Mohler's "sense of phrasing" that makes him such an outstanding artist. That phrasing will be put to a test in the 1811 work for B-flat clarinet by Carl Maria von Weber.

"It's lyrical—more lyrical than his second concerto, which is a virtuoso piece," said Mohler during a rehearsal break this week. "It's pretty much standard early 19th century in structure except that the cadenza is earlier in the first movement than usual. The second movement is highly melodic. It uses practically the full tonal range of the clarinet," Mohler said.

Few works for solo clarinet and orchestra were written during the Romantic period of the 19th century. Mohler explained:

"The Mozart clarinet concerto is the first one (in classical music) and is still the peak. Weber wrote two clarinet concertos—altogether, three major solo pieces with orchestra.

"MANY COMPOSERS wrote clarinet parts in chamber music, but there are no clarinet solos with orchestras until you get to the 20th century. Debussy wrote a rhapsody and Aaron Copland a concerto."

Weber straddles the gap between the formal classical period (Mozart, Haydn) and the Romantic era (Beethoven, Chopin). Mohler had no explanation as to why the Romantics ignored the clarinet as a solo instrument with orchestra.

While the violin was made more brilliant in sound with a tighter bow and a higher, more angular bridge, and the piano was evolved from the delicate harpsichord, no such major change has come to the clarinet. "It didn't change an awful lot from the time these concertos were written," said Mohler.

KNOWN FOR BOTH orchestra and band work, Mohler is currently on the faculty of the University of Michigan and is a member of the University Woodwind Quintet. He was U-M's first recipient of the doctor of musical arts degree in wind instruments.

He studied at the Curtis Institute of Music with Ralph McLane, Philadelphia Orchestra clarinetist, and in 1950 became a member of the U.S. Marine Band and Orchestra, touring widely and appearing many times as soloist.

Mohler taught at Drake University and was guest recitalist and clinician at the 1969 National Clarinet Clinic in Denver. He has also been on the faculties of Brevard Music Center and the Cumberland Forest Music Camp, and he has performed with the Philadelphia Orchestra.

Admission to the Nov. 17 concert is $3 for adults and free to K-12 students. Baby-sitting by girl scouts will be provided.

Senior citizens receive reduced admissions and free bus rides from the Tonquish Creek Manor residence in Plymouth.

Merchants predict holiday sales will hold steady

By W.W. EDGAR

Any thought that the lateness of Thanksgiving Day this year will put a dent in the Christmas shopping is purely a myth according to the retail trade associations and the top merchants in the area.

It had been predicted the lateness of the holiday, which took six shopping days out of the schedule in other years, would cause a drop from 10 to 20 per cent in gross sales.

"This is purely a myth," says Bob Marquardt, chairman of the retail merchants division of the Detroit Board of Commerce.

"In our recent survey," he said, "retail sales are six per cent above last year at this time. And we expect a rise to seven per cent by year's end. The lateness of Thanksgiving Day will have no effect on it."

"Of course, the disciples of doom and gloom might think otherwise, but our survey doesn't show any signs of a drop of any kind let alone 10 to 20 per cent."

TWO OF THE largest retail centers in the area—Livonia Mall and Wonderland—are certain that there will be no drop "unless there is a change in the economy and many more people are laid off."

"There always is a lull of about 10 days after the arrival of Santa Claus," the representative of the Merchants Association at the Livonia Mall stated.

"Now with the lateness of the holiday—where we lose a week of shopping—it will just balance the usual lull. So, the merchants here are not looking forward to a decrease in volume."

The reaction was much the same at Wonderland where an unusual move is being made to offset the lateness of the holiday.

"We are hosting Santa Claus one week earlier," the spokesman for the retailers said. "We are having the old gent arrive on Saturday, Nov. 16. Enthusiasm always is high when he starts his visit and we hope to take care of the change in this manner."

"After all, the folks are going to do so much Christmas shopping. And now, with the shorter time available there will be steadier flow of customers."

ASKED IF any consideration had been given to the possibility that there might be more home made Christmas gifts this year, because of the inflated prices, the spokesman calmly answered, "They will have to purchase the material for the gifts so there shouldn't be much difference."

At Westland Shopping Center, the forecast was the same as that given in the Downtown Detroit area where an increase is sighted instead of a decrease.

Ray Leach, director of the Livonia Chamber of Commerce, speaking for a majority of the merchants, pointed out there will be an early arrival of Santa Claus and that many of the merchants already have Christmas decoration on display.

Many customers are starting their shopping now, well ahead of the traditional day," he said, "and that is a sign there will be no drop because of the lateness of the holiday."

IT WAS the same with Fred Hill, president of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce.

"We're just going to have the usual amount of shopping crowded into fewer days," he said, "so I don't see a drop."

"We're not bringing Santa in any earlier. We will stick with the old traditions in Plymouth and I am looking for a real boom in shopping between Thanksgiving Day and Christmas."

Much of the reason for the merchants' optimism is analated sounded by the Detroit Board of Commerce six weeks ago when it sent a letter to all retailers calling attention to the loss of the six shopping days and urged them to act accordingly.

They did and made a myth out of the prediction that sales volume would drop because of the lateness of Thanksgiving Day.

An eye on giving

THE UNITED FOUNDATION "Big Eye" award is presented annually to the automotive dealer group within the Detroit Auto Dealers Association (DADA) which provides the highest level of giving to the Torch Drive Campaign. American Motors Corporation dealers won the award last year. The "Big Eye"—a headlight from an antique car—was conceived in 1966. In 1973, DADA members and employees contributed $217,000 to the Torch Drive.

If you save money these days, you'll do well. You'll also be doing some good.

The interest First Federal Savings of Detroit is now paying on savings deposits is the highest the law allows us to pay. It's also the highest we've ever paid. Which is an excellent reason for saving now.

But there's another reason. By saving now, you'll be doing your part to make things better for the whole country. Because you'll be helping to fight inflation.

So, if you agree that now is an excellent time to save, let's talk about where you should save.

We think it should be with us. First Federal Savings of Detroit.

What's more, effective November 27, 1974, First Federal savings accounts are insured to $40,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation.

Our size also means we can provide you with a variety of savings services. Like having your Social Security, pension or dividend checks deposited directly to your savings account. Or like our Check-A-Month plan. Or our Prestige Card. Or our Night Owl Window service.

Take a moment to find out about the savings plans and services we offer. Then decide on the one that's best for you. (We'll be happy to help you pick the one that suits you best.)

Because there may never be a better time to save than right now.

SEMTA signs first contract with UAW

The first labor contract for maintenance personnel of the SEMTA Metropolitan, Lake Shore and Great Lakes divisions has been ratified by the board of the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority.

The agreement with UAW Local 417, a three-year pact, gives salary parity to members of the three divisions plus a 45 cent increase for this year besides the salary equalization. The contract provides for a 25 cent increase the second year and 35 cents the third year.

The agreement also gives members pension benefits through the Municipal Employees Retirement System. Under this plan, employees contribute about six per cent of their wages with SEMTA contributing about nine per cent. This gives SEMTA maintenance workers the same retirement program as SEMTA bus drivers.

Other improvements include sick leave, vacation liberalization, prescription drug program, life insurance, and an improved cost-of-living allowance. About 80 employees are covered by the contract.

Cameron leaves Livonia Y post

LIVONIA-William Cameron, executive director of the Livonia Family YMCA for the past seven years, six in the new building, Thursday tendered his written resignation to Gerald Wood, president of the Metropolitan Y.

The action, effective at once, was termed by Cameron as "agreeable to himself and to the Metropolitan Y officials."

"There comes a time when you feel you should move on," he said. "I felt I had reached that stage at the Livonia Family Y and decided the time was ripe to get out of Y work."

Cameron already has accepted a position with a Southfield travel agency as salesman in charge of group travel and commercial accounts.

"The separation was amiable," he said. "My bosses downtown were agreeable and so were my bosses at the Livonia Y. We part the best of friends."

Cameron has been in YMCA work for 20 years, starting in Carney Point, N.J. as a physical education director after graduation from the then Springfield Y College in Springfield, Mass.

After a year, he moved to Southbridge, Mass. where he was physical education director and in charge of day camp activities for three years before coming to Highland Park at the Northern Y for nine years as physical ed director.

City bills can be paid at new bank

PLYMOUTH—Plymouth residents have another place at which they can pay their tax and water bills.

The city commission this week established the city's newest bank, First National Bank of Plymouth, as a collection point for tax and water bills at no cost to the city. A similar public service is offered by the National Bank of Detroit, it was noted.

The Stroller

Hail the electric ice box

By W. W. EDGAR

Now that the election is history and the public officials have been named, the air again will be filled with the dangers of inflation and the need to conserve energy. And you'll no doubt hear all kinds of solutions and be asked many unusual questions.

For instance, just the other evening The Stroller was approached and asked this dandy:

"How important are our home appliances and which could we least do without?"

The fellow who asked the question was an elder statesman well versed in the ways of the world who always is on the hunt for a good debate.

He looked The Stroller right in the eye when he asked the question and seemed quite surprised when he was told that of all modern equipment the electric ice box was by far the most important.

Why?

Well, for one thing—and probably the most important—in these days of high prices—food can be preserved from day to day and this makes possible a meal of "left-overs" that would scarcely be possible without refrigeration.

THE QUESTION brought back many memories of the days before the electric cooler when the old wooden refrigerators had big storage spaces at the top where chunks of ice were placed and pans were put underneath the box to catch the dripping. Oftentimes these overflowed and there was the added task of mopping up the kitchen floor.

The only ice available for cooling drinks was that shaved off the block of ice with a steel-toothed cup that now is listed among the forgotten things.

And in those days if the iceman didn't arrive on time or missed a day, there was havoc in the household.

How the iceman obtained the ice also was interesting. It came from the frozen lakes in the area. Crews of men gathered on the coldest days of winter and sawed big chunks of ice that then were taken to a storehouse and placed atop each other with sawdust the only means of keeping them separated. They were taken out as needed during the year and various size blocks were delivered to the homes.

It was a back-breaking task that the electric ice box has now eliminated and to those old timers it would seem incredible that ice now can be made right in your own kitchen.

One of those who would question The Stroller's choice of the electric refrigerator is the lady who runs our home.

OFTIMES SHE has been heard to say, "I don't know what I would do without my electric washer and dryer. I now can wash as often as I wish and don't have to gamble on the weather when it comes to drying. No more hanging the clothes out on the line. I can dry them right inside and they still have the fresh smell."

Perhaps she's right for many are the times The Stroller used to watch his mother, on the coldest days in winter, standing out at the clothes line, her mouth filled with clothes pins, as she fought the elements to have her wash dried.

And many are the times he remembers her standing over a hot stove that was fueled with wood logs or big chunks of coal preparing a meal for the youngsters or baking pies for delivery around the neighborhood. On these days he often wished there was an easier way—but she sort of thrived on it.

What fun she would have today with the electric and gas ranges. And no doubt she'd laugh at the very thought of having an electric dishwasher right in the kitchen.

These are all just fine and make modern living much more simple than in the old days.

But which of them could you least do without?

Like the fellow on the TV screen asks, "What do you think?"

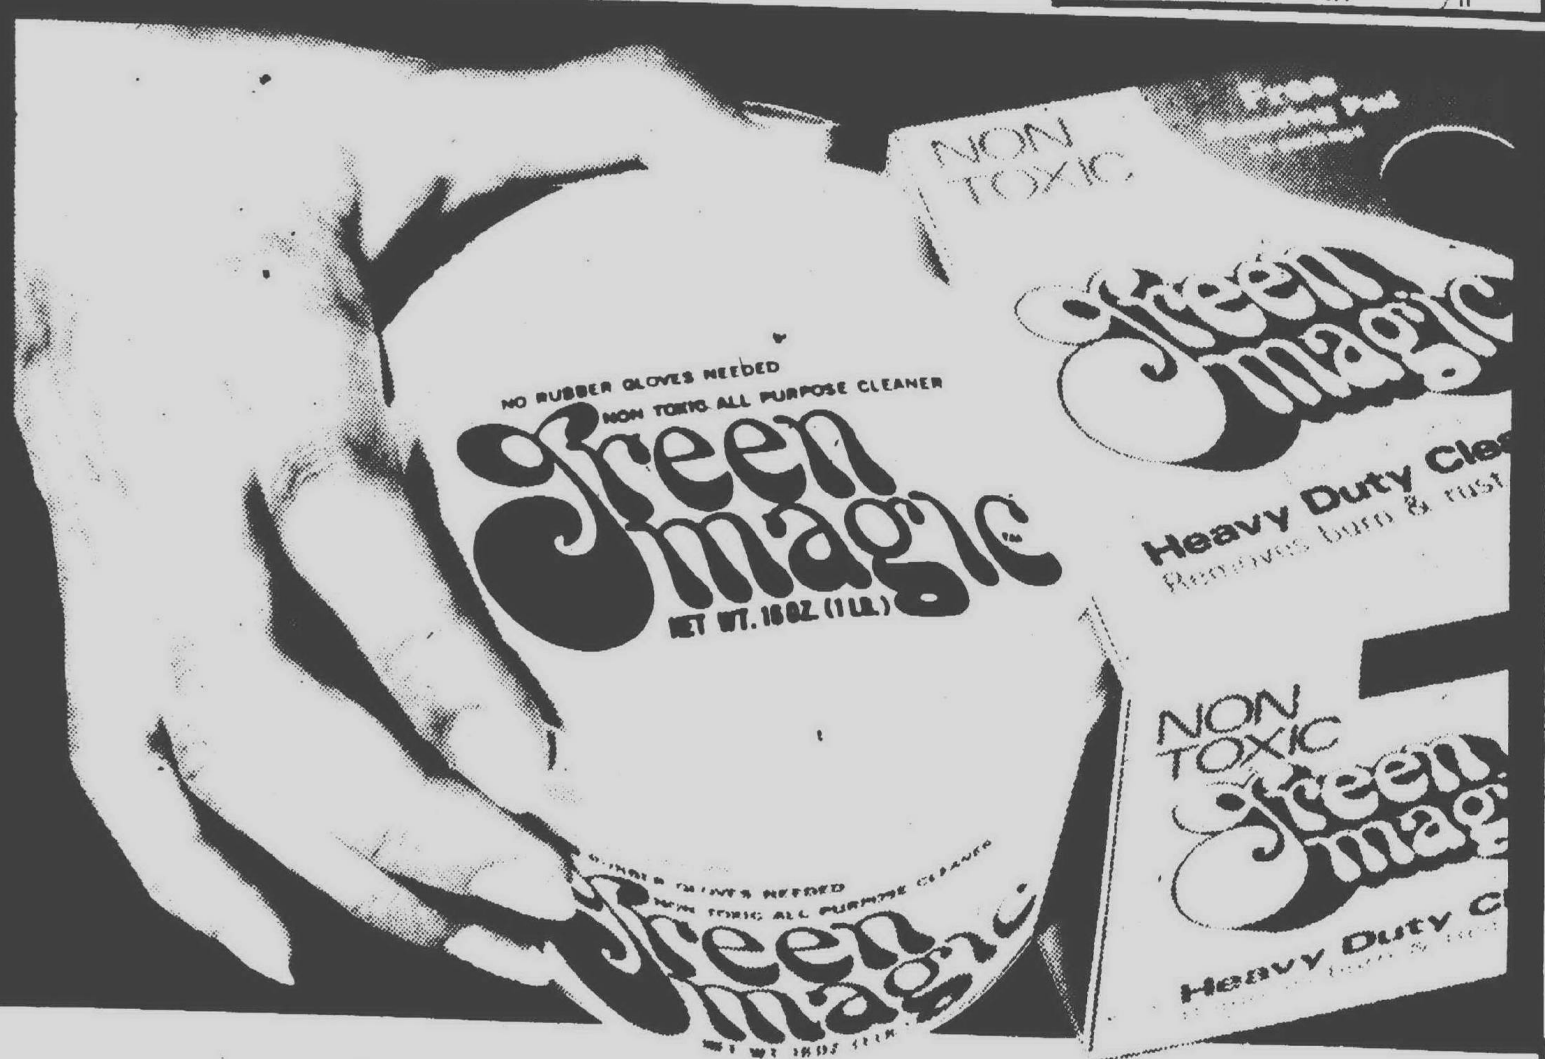

We'd be glad to hear from you.
