Board calls time on band

Stalls on fund-raising day off

By MARILYN FITCHETT

PLYMOUTH—With the ball firmly in its grasp, the Plymouth school board elected to punt Monday night on the issue of allowing Centennial Park band members a free day in which they could raise funds for their upcoming trip to the Orange Bowl.

Rather than make a ruling, the board suggested that the Plymouth business and industrial group which is seeking the free day, talk the issue over with the high school principals for an alternate plan and asked the administration to check into the feasibility of granting the day off if the alternate plan fails.

The request was made by Dennis Golbesky, controller of the Howmet Corporation, who contended the band needed commitment funds to offset the cost to band parents.

There are a number of established businesses in the community who are not familiar with the band because they are not here on the weekend." Golbesky said.

"We feel that we are corporate citizens who should take notice of such a tine band and we feel confident that we can alleviate part of the needed had not drawn up any formal plans as to how the band might raise funds but sought permission from the board

"We have considered a general march with businesses pledging so much per mile or, in the case of my firm. Howmet Corp., we might consider a donation after seeing a sample of what the band can perform," he said. "What we want to do is present the band to a segment of the business population that doesn't know about it.

"This is not a solicitation but would include a performance by the band." Objecting to the free day was Deputy Supt. Dr. Earl Hogan who indicated the North Central Association which grants accreditation frowns upon such free days.

"I would much rather see you go to the principals and work on a plan which did not entail a free day because of the difficulties a day off would bring." Hogan said.

THE BOARD also sent back to the administration a request from a parent to have his son attend Plymouth alem High School rather than Plymouth Canton where he is scheduled to enroll next year.

According to J. G. Agardy, his son. who is in the eighth grade this year. will not join his two brothers who presently attend Plymouth Salem High School despite the fact that he had as- Thomas Yack and established an intersurances that his recently purchased home was in the Salem district.

"My son attended the summer basketball camp at Salem and he has his heart set on attending there. As of right now we'd have two sons going to Salem and one to Canton.

"I want all three to go to Salem and if I have to go ahead and seek legal aid I will go ahead with it." he said.
Board President E.J. McClendon indicated that school boundaries in Plymouth change with population shifts and contended that placing one player into a different school might eopardize the athletic standing of the entire team.

The board then ordered the administration to issue a report on the boundary policy of the district before issuing a ruling in the Agardy case.

IN OTHER action the board agreed pay a one-third share of $490 for the installation of a traffic light at Hartsough and Sheldon contingent upon the city and township each paying its one-third share.

In a related issue, the board, acted on the recommendation of Trustee governmental relations committee. "I think there is a specific need for such a committee." Trustee Carl Berry said. "I for one would like to know why the township is reluctant to pay for crossing guards and think this body could play down some of the innuendoes about local governments. "And I'd like to know where the new Canton government is going." he

THE BOARD also adopted a reduced lunch program allowing children to purchase a 45 cent lunch for 20 cents.

Previously the school had a free lunch program but did not offer reduced price lunches. Formerly a family of six with an income of $7.310 or less was eligible for the free lunch. Now a family whose income exceeds $7.310 but is less than $10,240 is eligible for the 20 cent funch.

An in-service program for learning specialists which would provide credit learning to certification in the area of learning disabilities was approved by the board at a cost of $5.700.

According to Dr. James Leary, assistant superintendent for curriculum. the program will include 20 three-hour sessions under the direction of a psychologist and a psychiatrist from the

The project has been more than three years in the making, from acquisition and zoning to design and three stages of construction.

A contest with a $1,000 shopping spree grand prize will highlight opening week. Hours are 8 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Sunday.

"The success or failure of this year's drive is dependent on the contributions of the business, professional and educational members of the community.

"Victory House!"

It was not only the candidates who came in for Ms. Skrel's applause, but the volunteers-Republican and independent-who got out the vote.

"That's the name of the gamewhoever got out the vote, won," not concealing her pleasure at the victory. Ms. Skrel attributed the Republican's "get-out-the-vote" coup to the district's two phone centers—the main one to cover Livonia, and Northville '

It was a marvel of organization. Ms. Skrel recalls.

"There was complete unity and organization—no personality or faction clashes—we were all working together. And we had good candidates, excellent candidates, who made it easy to get volunteers.

Volunteers didn't just walk in the door-they were culled from local political lists, at parties and even from a beauty shop.

THE PHONES were staffed with four shifts daily, canvassing registered voters with listed phone numbers to identify those who favored the governor and Esch.

Those who opposed the ticket leaders were eliminated from the list. Those who were undecided were the

The undecided voters were sent a complete slate packet of literature with special attention given to areas of each voter's concern. Those who were interested in taxes, got the tax package and so on.

Those who identified themselves as needing absentee ballots were sent applications with a signed cover letter from Milliken and Esch. There were about 2,000 of those, and probably 2,000 votes for the Republicans.

On election day a massive get-outthe vote drive sent the center into full tilt with some volunteers reluctant to relinquish their phones because others might take them.

PLYMOUTH-There are more moms attending Plymouth schools these days and none of them is enrolled in adult education classes.

Actually it's their children who are enrolled in PLUS, Pupils Learning Useful Skills, but the program is centered around having mothers attend classes to learn how the help their children at home.

"I think the reason why a project like Head Start didn't succeed is that there was no follow-up at home," Mary Fritz, project director, said.

"In PLUS. junior is allowed to do his thing while mom is in the classroom next door, working on projects to take home with her to work with him during the coming week.

"And not only do mothers work on projects for their children, they also get a chance to talk over things like child management problems with other mothers," she said.

"The focal point of the curriculum is that the child not only learns at school but at home, too."

PLUS, a jointly funded project by the federal government and Plymouth.draws four-year-olds from the target schools of Isbister in Canton and Central and Starkweather in Plymouth.

Housed in Farrand School, the program is patterned after similar ventures in Redford Township and Wayne-Westland, but the specifics of the program were written by the principals of the feeder schools.

Sixty-five youngsters attend Farrand one day a week and an additional 60 attend once a month but still go to one class a week set up in a neighborhood home.

According to teacher Doris Balconi, teachers offer eight to 10 activities for the mothers to work with their children between sessions.

"MAny of the activities have practical applications." Mrs. Balconi said. For instance, we might suggest raking leave to develop motor skills or have a child set the table. urging them count out knives and forks.

"While giving a child a bath, the mother might ask the child if she can wash his left arm and then his right arm to encourage the learning of direction."

While Mrs. Balconi was working with the youngsters, teacher Roxanne Sparkman was instructing the mothers how to make a color domino

"First the child will learn colors and then they will go onto shapes, numerals and letters," Mrs. Sparkman said. "And all the while the child is also learning manipulative skills."

While to the casual observer the Farrand classes resemble virtually any other pre-school classroom, the activities are sublety geared to develop a number of skills.

A child using Play-dough, for example, is also learning about color. forms and textures in addition to the coordination he is developing while forming the clay.

Visual motor skills develop visual memory and spatial relationships as well as eye-hand coordination, form constancy and figure completion and identification.

plan and building for Fire Station No.

2 was accepted by the board. The new structure will be erected at Wilcox Road, just south of the present station on Schoolcraft.

The move was necessary because the expressway will take up the area of the present station. Because of this the state "will replace the present functional utility.

"That means the state will pay for the land and build the station," said Mrs. Richardson. "But if we want to build a larger place we have to pay the difference.

A major part of the evening was spent debating to no avail the advantages of various kinds of billing equipment to be used by the water and sewer department.

Aftrr hearing presentations by two electronic equipment companies, the trustees voted to reject all bids and take another look at the whole question of what would best suit the needs of the township in the way of billing equipment

THE TRUSTEES voted against sharing the cost of the traffic signal at Brookside-Hartsough and Sheldon Road with the city of Plymouth and the Plymouth Community Schools. A member of the audience reminded the board that these funds should not come from township funds but from the safety millage voted by the electorate last June. By voting it down, the board concurred with her thinking, believing that neither the city or the schools should pay for the light either. Two trustees attended their last meeting on Tuesday night.

Mrs. Holmes, after 20 years of service, will be replaced by Joseph West. Gene Overholt, after 10 years on the board, will be replaced by Richard

Schoolcraft studies residency rule

To meet the one-man-one-vote mandate in representation, the trustees at Schoolcraft College are studying a modified residency requirement for the make-up of the board in the fu-

The residency requirement was offered as a compromise at a recent study session when members were discussing several plans to meet the court ruling.

THE FIRST of three plans considered was to have all trustees elected at large. The second was on the basis of proportionate regions, or districts, based on a population potential.

When the members split between the two, the compromise was offered. Under this plan the petitions on behalf of any candidate would be limited to residents of the local school district in which he lived, but he would be voted on by voters in the total Schoolcraft College district.

It was stated this modified residency concept had a better chance of being approved than the other two because it more closely met the oneman-one-vote requirement.

This is the plan now in vogue, but it often has been pointed out that with an even number of trustees, there could come a time when the board would be evenly divided and no business could be transacted.

TO OFFSET this possibility the Schoolcraft board adopted a resolution on April 25, 1973, in which it basically would go back to the present statute, but add a fourth seat at-large. This would provide the desired odd number of trustees.

This action was an attempt to reconcile differences and was based on the idea that the position of the courts has changed somewhat in interpretation of the one-man-one-vote principle.

No decision has been reached since that resolution was adopted. However, it was pointed out at Wednesday's study session that the residency requirement has been attempted at Delta College near Midland.

Delta serves three counties and has a nine-member board by statute. Originally, trustees were elected by county as terms expired or vacancies oc-

Wayne County pay hike provides dispute

AND THE REAL PROPERTY OF THE P

By EMORY DANIELS

The pay raise voted for elected Wayne County officials has raised a question whether one particular salary hike is intended to discourage establishment of a county executive. Another issue is whether elimination of per diem pay for county commissioners will discourage them from attending committee meetings.

Six days before election, the 27member county board of commissioners voted 18-4, with two abstentions. to raise the pay of all elected officials and their deputies effective Jan. 1.

AMONG THE ADJUSTMENTS was an increase in the board chairman's pay from $14,900, including per diem. to a flat $17.500. The vice-chairman's pay was hiked from $12,900, including per diem, to a flat $15,000.

The commissioners increased their -annual salary from $10,000 to $14,000 and eliminated the $30 per diem payments for attending board committees. The per diem allowance made commissioners eligible for up to $2,880 annually for a possible total annual paycheck of $12.880.

Commissioners are prohibited by law from raising their pay in midterm. They set the $10,000 salary in 1969 as a compromise between those who argued the post should be fulltime and those who argued it was part-time.

The $30 payments for an annual maximum of 96 committee meetings were added in 1973.

The board, for the first time, extended its own members' eligibility for cost-of-living payments already received by county employes and other elected officials. Such payments are made if the federal cost-of-living index rises.

Voting against the salary increases were Mary Durnas (R-Livonia), Erving Steiner Jr. (R-Grosse Pointe Farms), Paul Silver (D-Detroit), a lame-duck commissioner, and Jarrett Simmons (D-Detroit). The abstention votes were cast by Edward K. Michalski and Samuel A. Turner, both Detroit Democrats.

MRS. DUMAS argued against a large raise for the board chairman on the grounds that having a highly paid chairman would weaken the case for establishing an elected county execu-

The board several times this year declined to put the county executive proposal on the ballot - voting against an August primary vote and then against a November general bal-

The initial recommendation was to raise the county board chairman's pay to $20,000 plus cost-of-living. This, however, was pared by the full board

RICHARD MANNING, (D-Redford) doesn't agree with suggestions that higher pay for the board chairman is an attempt to create a county executive or to circumvent creation of the

"In 1970 and 1972 I argued the chairman should be compensated more so we would get his fulltime services to see that board policies are implemented. Our policies, by the time they filter down, often aren't implemented as the board wishes.

"If the board is to be effective, the board chairman should be paid enough to spend the time following up on board decisions to make sure they are implemented.

"A county board chairman doesn't have the same powers an elected county executive would. There's no com-

"In 1970," Manning continued, "I suggested each commissioner take a $1,000 pay cut and pay $26,000 to hire a county executive but that failed."

Commissioner Thomas Taylor (D-Westland), whose 20th District also includes Garden City. also disagreed that the chairman's pay hike would discourage the impetus towards a county executive.

"I'm a strong advocate of a county executive and don't think the pay adjustment will remove the impetus to create an executive position. The original recommended $20,000 and the adopted $17.500 is a long way from the $30-$35.000 salary a county executive would earn."

The board chairman puts in a lot of extra hours as county spokesman to the state legislature and key spokesman for the county to the public. Taylor added, and should receive compensation for that additional workload. "It is not right to pay $16,000 to a man we expect to be spokesman for the county."

MANNING AND TAYLOR agreed elimination of the per diem allowance will not discourage commissioners from attending committee meetings.

The ones who attended meetings in the past will, and the ones who didn't won't." responded Taylor. "It won't make much difference.

Some commissioners attended few committee meetings even with per diem. Others attended meetings even when the number was in excess of what they would get payments for."

Taylor said his human resources committee often held 12 meetings a month. Under per diem payments, with the state contributing the balcommissioners would get paid for eight meetings per month. "Yet, we always had a quorum on my com-mittee for the four meetings which weren't covered by per diem payments.'

Manning said the per diem policy tended to be abused. At one time the county had 29 standing committees. explained Manning, but then reorganized to four standing committees with six members each. Each committee meets on specified days of the week so the public can attend and provide input to commissioners.

There has developed a practice recently of some commissioners setting up subcommittees - even a one-man subcommittee - which were meeting on odd days without a chance for input from the public. We soon reached the stage of having 35-40 special subcommittees.

Manning added that most commissioners will do their committee work with the flat salary arrangement because most are dedicated enough to do their homework.

MRS. DUMAS ALSO fought the increase because "we asked every other elected official to justify with facts and statistics why we should give them an increase. I don't see how we can justify the raise given to members of this board."

She said the board should have established an independent salary commission to recommend pay figures and added that elected officials, as a matter of principle, shouldn't come under cost of living officials.

Manning pointed out that the blue ribbon committee approach was used six years ago and was a "fiasco" because the blue ribbon members recommend salaries "which were much too

Manning said he voted yes on the final proposal because it was a compromise package. He did vote against several variations of pay raises. including the general government committee recommendation to raise circuit judges salaries to $45,000. "This is more than state supreme justices and the governor earn." Manning commented. The final action was to increase judges pay by $370 to $15,000 giving them a total salary of $41,500

AMONG OTHER officials, the county clerk and sheriff were increased $2,515 to $32,000, and the prosecuting attorney was hiked by $2,324 to a new salary of $40,000.

Raises of $1,244 were voted for the three-member board of auditors and the drain commissioner, register of deeds and treasurer, putting their salaries at $28,000. Deputies to the elected officials received similar raises.

The pay hikes, the first in six years, will remain in force until at least 1974 which is the next opportunity the law provides for another pay increase. The cost-of-living allowance may take pressure off for raises for commissioners, although the allowance didn't deter hikes to other elected officers this year who were receiving cost-ofliving adjustments.

County board passes budget

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners has approved by a 22-2 vote a $304.251.380 budget for next year, $993,385 over the amount recommended by auditors.

Voting against the budget were Commissioners Mary Dumas (R--Livonia) and Paul Silver (D-Detroit), who charged the budget was not fiscally sound.

County departments had requested $12.6 million more than the auditors had recommended.

UNDER THE budget, county departments must collectively save $6 million by not filling vacant jobs until they have achieved their portion of the saving.

Departments must apply to a special commissioners' committee for permission to fill vacant jobs. Included in the budget is a $50 million lump sum for Wayne County General Hospital, designed to improve the hospital's operations. The new lump sum budgeting approach gives the hospital adminis-

The exact amount of profit will be discosed at the December meeting of the league, "as a present to all our members who worked so hard." said Mrs. Dorothy Slapik, president.

Mrs. Jenine Duprey, ways and means chairman who was in charge of the event, did say the party that filled Raleigh House in Southfield to overflowing raised more funds than any other single event in league history.

"I CAN'T TELL YOU how pleased I am with this response to our special children," said Mrs. Irene Soucek, first RSL president who stepped to the microphone for a few moments before the fashion show began.

She learns of her heritage on radio program

When Oresta Karalash of Livonia began broadcasting a Ukrainian program over radio station WMZK-FM. she really didn't know much about the music of her ancestors.

She learned fast, though: with a daily hour to fill. She also has met a lot of interesting folks who dropped by to chat on guest appearances. And she's found herself embroiled in a dispute involving two factions of the Ukrainian community in the metropolitan area.

THAT INCIDENT took place Oct. 27 when two artists from the Soviet Ukraine. Dmitro Hnatiuk and Yevhenia Miroshnichenko, appeared in a concert in Windsor.

Mrs. Karalash, mother of three sons and well known now in the ethnic group, decided to attend the concert although it was being picketed by persons protesting the continued imprisonment of Valentyn Moroz. Ukrainian writer and historian.

For her trouble, she reported later on her broadcast, she ran into "the hurling of obscenities" and damage to her car.

Explaining her position on the broadcast, Mrs. Karalash said she felt deep regret that "what should have been a pleasant interlude in the lives of the Ukrainians of the Detroit-Windsor area became a politically-inspired holocaust.

And, considering the whole incident off the air, she said she felt her own rights to appreciate an artistic performance had been violated.

"I believe in the cause of the protesters but not their methods."

THE PICKET-LINE problems were more exciting than most of the information that finds its way onto the program Oresta Karalash creates.

But there have been some other notable incidents described recently too. Like meeting Gov. William Milliken at a press conference shortly before the election and asking him if he would be willing to write a letter to Leonid Brezhnev expressing concern over "the atrocities and the lack of human rights in the Ukraine today."

His answer was a definite yes, she told her listeners.

SHE ALSO WAS ABLE to perform a service for her ethnic group by serving as a judge for the recent embroidery ball in Southfield sponsored by the Ukrainian Women's League.

In connection with the ball, mothers and daughters in the Ukrainian community do their best embroidery work on gowns and a panel of judges picks the best one.

"I've really never done much embroidery," Mrs. Karalash said. "I'm pretty inept. But they wanted me to juge the aesthetic effects."

THIS LIVONIAN grew up in Toronto and came to the Detroit area after her marriage to Donald Karalash, now employed with the Ford Motor Co.

They lived first in Detroit and then Dearborn Heights and moved to Livonia nearly eight years ago. They also had three sons. Dan, now 16, Mark. 15, and Paul. 12.

When Paul started school his mother decided to go to college, and wound up in a media program at the University of Detroit.

From there it was a short step three years ago to the Ukrainian segment of a group of ethnic programs Booth Broadcasting was putting on the air.

6 area hospitals giving free tests for diabetes

Six area hospitals will be conducting free diabetes tests during National Diabetes Detection Week, Nov.

Coordinated by the Michigan Diabetes Association (MDA), the free blood test gives persons who may wonder if they are among the growing number of diabetics the answers they are seek-

The six hospitals in western Wayne County, all offering tests Nov. 18 to 22, are: Metropolitan Hospital West. 28303 Joy. Westland: Annapolis Hospital Laboratory. 33155 Annapolis. Wayne; Garden City Osteopathic Hospital. 6245 Inkster Road; Redford Community Hospital. 25210 Grand River near Beech Daley; St. Mary Hospital. 36475 Five Mile at Levan, Livonia; and Wayne County General Hospital. Merriman and Michigan Avenue, Westland.

WAYNE COUNTY General Hospital will provide free tests from 9 to 11:30 a.m. as will St. Mary Hospital.

Redford Community Hospital will offer tests from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., Annapolis from 9 to 11 a.m., Garden City Osteopathic from 1 to 3 p.m., and Metropolitan West from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. About two per cent of Michigan's population has been diagnosed as diabetic. but the MDA has estimated as many as 500,000 state residents could have or could develop diabetes within their lifetime.

While diabetes is generally believed to be hereditary in nature, it has been known to "skip" entire generations and, more recently, has been diagnosed in persons with no apparent family history of diabetes.

Besides the hereditary factors, other high risk persons are those over 40 and overweight.

FOLLOWING THE test, persons who appear to have symptoms of diabetes and their personal physician will be contacted by the MDA.

For the free blood test to be most accurate, MDA has suggested prescribed meals which should be eaten before testing.

The suggested BREAKFAST is: fruit (banana, canned fruit or large glass of fruit juice); one cup cereal (cooked or flakes); one-half cup milk; two teaspoons sugar; two pieces toast or bread; one tablespoon jelly or jam; coffee or tea (cream and sugar

The suggested LUNCHES are: hamburger and bun. French fries or potato chips, dessert, large glass of pop (not diet); or, vegetable or cream soup, five crackers, meat or cheese sandwich (with two bread slices), dessert, one cup milk.

WHILE FOLLOWING the exact diets listed isn't necessary, foods of the same types and quantities should be eaten.

Following the meal, DO NOT drink anything (other than water), eat additional foods, smoke, chew gum, take cough drops or eat candy until the blood sample has been taken. The meal should be eaten within a 15-minute period and finished two hours before testing. Try to arrive at the test center within 90 minutes of completing the meal.

The MDA is a service of United Way of Michigan and is headquar-tered in southeast Michigan at 6131 W. Outer Drive, Detroit 48235.

Learning disabilities programs revamped

By MARILYN FITCHETT

PLYMOUTH-A revamped learning disabilities program at Tanger School will move the program into two classrooms instead of the original one in which it was housed.

According to Dr. Edwin Page. Plymouth Community Schools director of personnel services, the two classrooms will provide a more homogenous grouping of students according to age and grade.

The redistribution has been made with the minimal disruption," Page said at Monday's board meeting. "We now have Kathleen Teahan teaching five full time learning disabilities children and four part-time in the morning and four in the after-

"Kathryn Quinn will have three full time students in her classroom and four part-time students in the morning and six in the afternoon.

Now each teacher has 13 students and this keeps us within the special education guidelines.

When board secretary Marcia Borowski expressed concern that the smaller schools of the district might not be staffed according to the needs of the school, Page responded:

"I'd be able to staff the schools according to need if you would provide me with the staff." he said. "Any

Supt. John Hoben indicated that he had asked the state and the county to send representatives into the district for evaluation and to offer suggestions on how to improve the program.

He added that while the administration had originally anticipated $100,000 from the recent county special education millage, they had feared the money would be cut to

We now have some assurance from the county that the money we'll be receiving will be in line with our original budget estimate." Hoben

"We should be receiving the formula for distribution shortly. Barbara Leffler. Plymouth-Northville president of the Michigan Association for Children with Learning Disabilities, addressed the board seeking a written report within the next month on the problems, improvements and long range plans for the learning disability program in Plymouth.

"We were happy to see the learning disability program started in September and we're enthusiastic about the

Who hired all those 'immoral' school teachers?

I am realistic enough to expect propaganda from a teachers' union negotiator speaking to the public. But Monday night, listening to the Garden City Board of Education, I discovered I was naive in believing board members don't propagandize to the public but convey the truth as it is perceived Truth, however, was not conveyed to the packed crowd attending the board meeting in O'Leary Auditorium. It was a disgusting display of feeding on emotions to gain support and deliberately misusing statistics Nixon-style in a bumbling attempt to give the appearance of credibility.

The "net gain" for the board, for the sake of this year's contract dispute. was to endanger chances to pass any future millage issue and to lower the community's esteem for the district as an institution.

THE KEY propaganda thrust was that teachers, because they went on strike, are law-breakers and immoral individuals. Nonsense!

To suggest teachers are immoral because they have chosen to defy a court order is a disservice to the 525 professional teachers in the district. And I must join with one parent in asking how the administration—and board—can be so inept as to hire 525 immoral teachers. Surely the personnel records of a few showed taints of sin before they reached tenure.

And I must remind residents that two years ago the community was inundated with "This Family Will Not Be Bused" signs, a declaration that parents and taxpayers would break the law if busing were made law. Is civil disobedience correct only for parents and blacks, but not teachers? Was Martin Luther King immoral? Or Irene McCabe? It is silly and irresponsible to suggest Garden City teachers are immoral for risking jail to protest what they feel is an unjust law, that law which prohibits public employes to strike.

MANY GAMES were played by board members with statistics, with the most glaring being the suggestion that teachers are being offered $19 an hour but, greedy animals that they are, have refused it and gone on strike. For shame!

The $19 per hour was based on a salary level of $19,000 for MA maximum, almost the top of the scale. The board suggested that salary should be divided by the 1,000 "classroom hours" worked by the average teacher in a year for an hourly rate of $19. Based on 180 days, this would mean the teacher works 5.6 hours each day in the class-

It obviously doesn't count lunchtime (none of us get paid for lunchtime. do we?), or the free hour, or the time walking in the hallway between classes. But more importantly, it fails to take into account the time to prepare lessons. grade papers, structure tests, score tests, and other professional duties which aren't performed in the

If you allow for an eight hour day plus one hour preparation time at home, discarding the "classroom hours" garbage, the hourly rate is $11.70 for a person with six years college and high seniority in the district. It should be apparent, however, that most teachers spend more than one hour prep time for five classes and so the more accurate figure is closer to $9 an hour.

I am not arguing whether Garden City teachers should receive $6, $9, $11 or $19 an hour. I am saying the board does the community and teachers a disservice to suggest it is actually offering $19 an hour for labor performed when the board knows for a fact that labor performed far exceeds 1,000 hours a year.

The board, in another presentation, would have the people believe it is willing to give teachers a 30 per cent increase in pay over three years. Ignoring the games in statistics, the fact is that the only proposal on the table by the board's admission is nine per cent over three years. My grievance isn't who to blame for the stalemate, but that a trustee would propagandize.

Almost everything the board reported statistically was in terms of what it was "willing to do" if the union would be more responsive in bargaining. The board wants to be judged by its words, not its actions, and it convinced many in the audience Monday night that they wear white hats and teachers are dirty, grubby unionists out to rape the taxpayer. Stereotypes are handy when painting images, but obscure the truth and should not be used by those elected to be community "leaders."

Monday night the board members stooped to union tactics and forgot they were elected representatives. It was a disgraceful performance and unfortunate because much of what was transmitted was accepted as gospel. .

Bittersweet results for both parties

Now that the election is over, the votes counted, the dust settled, there is enough perspective to plot some general trends in the voting.

Overall, Michigan voters-particularly in the suburbs-continued their remarkable tradition of independent-minded ticket-splitting.

Suburban voters gave heavy edge to Republican Gov. Milliken, and then turned around and gave even bigger margins to Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley and Secretary of State Richard Austin, both Democrats. Then in Oakland County. Livonia and Plymouth, the voters came right back and voted heavily for GOP congressional candidates.

The major criterion in an otherwise confusing pattern seemed to be that voters were willing, even eager, to cross party lines back and forth, voting for incumbents who seemed to be doing a

This explains the Milliken-Kelley-Austin pattern. It explains why Oakland County voters swept U.S. Rep. William Broomfield back into office and elected Republican Dan Murphy county executive in the face of a strong challenge from Gene Kuthy. And it gives thrust to the heavy votes for such Republicans as U.S. Rep. Marvin Observation

by PHILIP II. POWER -

Esch and State Sen. Carl Pursell in Livonia and Plymouth.

FOR REPUBLICANS, the election results were bittersweet, Bill Milliken is still firmly seated in the governor's chair, but when the new Legislature convenes next year he will be surrounded by a surly and hostile majority of Democrats. The State Senate, until now controlled by the GOP. has been invaluable to the governor in acting as a buffer between the Democratic majority in the House and the administrative board. This buffer will be gone in 1975.

Clearly, Gov. Milliken will have to come to some kind of working relationship with legislative Democrats in order to see any progress in state government. This, however, will be tough, as inflation and unemployment may well encourage Democrats to take essentially partisan positions to help their constituencies. In broader terms, Michigan Republicans now need to put out some real effort to find a palatable successor to the governor.

In an interview with this newspaper before the election, Gov. Milliken explicitly refused to rule out running for Sen. Philip Hart's seat in 1976. If he does so, there could be trouble for the state GOP, since Lieut. Gov.-elect James Damman of Troy has been badly damaged—rightly or wrongly—by published allegations of conflict of in-

On the scene to succeed Milliken's unique blend of quiet, decent thoughtfulness could be Sen. Pursell, who represents Plymouth. Livonia and Redford Township, and who is now in a position to take the minority leadership in the State Senate-if he wants it.

FOR MICHIGAN'S Democrats, the aftermath of their sweep is nearly as mixed.

On the one hand, they now have a lock on the State Legislature. On the other, they lost the governorship once again.

The lock on the Legislature will be important; because it means Gov. Milliken has to come to them rather than the more even-handed situation which obtained for the past two years.

But the pressure will be on Democratic legis: lative leaders: The voters expect them to perform with the state's economy in such sad shape, and no state legislature can do very much about a na; tional recession except try to cushion the blow.

On more exalted fronts-the Senate and the governorship-Democrats face problems. If Sen. Hart, as rumored, decides not to run in 1976, a wild scramble for the nomination will be on; if he, does run, an equally intense scramble will take place for the gubernatorial nomination in 1978.

Despite the thoughtful and constructive campaign that Sander Levin waged, Michigan's Democrats have yet to find a man on the white horse. who can replace G. Mennen Williams and John Swainson in firing the public imagination,

That will be tough. In times of trouble, it's hard to make heroes.

Brother Rice, Salem, others are credit to our towns

The annual fall madness, which we refer to as the high school football season, has ended officially for practically all teams in Michigan. The only thing left is to hand out a few accolades for jobs

The communities covered by the Observer & Eccentric circulation came out extremely well during the past season. Brother Rice, of Birmingham, was acclaimed state champion by the metropolitan dailies, and Plymouth Salem went unbeaten and ended with a legitimate claim to the state crown under the Michigan High School Athletic Association ratings.

Unfortunately, state ratings do not become official for another year.

Livonia Franklin also ended the season with a clean record and also was in a position to put in a claim for the title.

Farmington Harrison High lost its final game to Plymouth Salem but won its league crown with an undefeated record.

THUS FOUR SCHOOLS in the area lost only one game. Each won its league title and each ranked high among the state's best for the entire

In fact, the area was marked with several championship teams including Livonia Stevenson, in the Inter-Lakes Conference; Garden City West, co-champion of the Tri-River League; Livonia Franklin, of the Northwest Suburban; Harrison in its loop...just to keep the record straight.

Of course, one can't say enough about the Brother Rice team which won the Catholic League crown and headed the rating in the Detroit News and Free Press all year.

Rice must have caught the attention of the metropolitan sports writers after the first couple of games for it was elevated to the No. 1 position and never dropped down as it went through a nine-game schedule.

MOST CERTAINLY it is going to be a strange year in prep sports since the Michigan High School Athletic Association has indicated it will recognize the winner of its rating system as the mythical state champion this year.

There is a complicated point system involved, but when the final figures were announced, it was Plymouth Salem in front with Livonia Franklin

The sad thing about this is that the ratings of the News and Free Press do mean more this year since each newspaper will award a state championship trophy. In this instance, both have picked Brother Rice.

So tis slim pickings for Plymouth Salem. It will be recognized as the team that led the MHSAA ratings in the test year before the association finally put the football rating system into actual

But for all of the players on the winning teams and their coaches, a tip of the topper for a job well done. We offer the same kind of congratualations to the other teams in the area who didn't fare so well in the win column but never quit trying all year.

And to the fans. A big thank you for another successful football season without any unfortunate incidents. That's the king of spirit that enables the suburbs to play games at night under the lights.
Congratulations to all for a successful season regardless of the record.

Consumers are paying for those consumer laws

Who has consumerism legislation really

America was built on the free enterprise system. Unfortunately, part of free enterprise is the concept of "let the buyer beware."

In the last several years consumer advocates like Ralph Nader have brought attention to the fact that the buyer on occasion is not too swift, and hence may be taken advantage of.

While it is not universally true, there were enough examples to get politicians moving, and new laws were passed that supposedly would protect the consumer.

The problem was that the laws were enacted in a hurry and destroyed some of the aspect of the marketplace. They replaced such activities as competition with governmental regulation.

IT IS NOTHING new to say that government action is not always quick and that governmental agencies are more subject to special interest pressure than the traditional marketplace where supply and demand rule.

In many cases the consumer is now getting exactly what he wants but is paying a much higher price for it, because industry has incurred new

Examples of this are found every day in super markets, where packaging is more precise, but the cost is passed on to the consumer.

Sense And Nonsense

Maybe this is the wrong time of year to mention it to anyone but deer hunters, but did you ever notice how campgrounds are indicated on

State parks and state campgrounds are designated by a little red Christmas tree, but there's a big blank space at federal installations.

the Michigan state highway map?

-by HANK HOGAY-

ON THE OTHER hand because of consumerism legislation, the customer in many cases is getting more than he wants and more than he is willing to pay for, and hence is not buying. The result is a downturn in the sales of many businesses.

The automobile business is a good example because it is so close to home.

There is no secret that people are not buying cars like they used to. The fact that they cost a lot more than they used to hasn't helped.

A good portion of the increased costs is a result of federal regulations brought on by consumerism legislation.

THE ORDINARY driver, even though he knows it will save lives, doesn't like to strap himself into a shoulder harness every time he starts Because of federal regulation, he has had to pay, up until its repeal last month, more than $100 to have an interlock system installed; and an additional $10 or $15 to get someone to disconnect

It's an old adage in legislative bodies that the law that doesn't get passed seldom hurts any;

Laws passed under the pressure of the heat of the day normally have to be altered in the future because no one had time to measure the full long term effect of the action.

Many consumerism laws are not bearing up too well when viewed by their total impact on

Teachers' life, pay not so bad

EDITOR:

I am truly amazed at the seeming lack of intelligence by Garden City educators. When discussing the current education situation with teachers in our city, their response is usually two-fold: The board is not negotiating in good faith and you don't understand the issues."

I reply. "I think I do." They reply: "How can you when we don't understand them ourselves?'

That, to me, illustrates their naivete - their willingness to blindly follow leaders who won't even inform them - and yet vote approval for things they are not fully aware of. How can they possibly vote in good faith?

I took a half-day vacation to visit the administration building to ask pertinent questions that have been on my mind. They gave good and reasonable answers.

I think, too, that teachers have a pretty good life - one, incidentally. which they chose to pursue. They have pay that is comparable to industry. They have close to three months of vacation days a year most of the summer included.

Many supplement their incomes during that time and still have a healthy four- or five-week vacation.

They have relatively short work days. (I discount the time they claim to work at home because people in industry and business work just as many hours extra - if not more and much of it without extra pay.)

Teachers claim they have difficulties with children. They do. and I sympathize, but try being a foreman or supervisor in today's industrial militant climate, or just try being a coworker on one of today's assembly

Teachers in Garden City claim years of little consideration. I will concede that the pay scale is perhaps lower than some others — but not as many as they claim. If all those other areas have offered such fantastic things, what has kept Garden City's teachers from reaping all this abundance of flowing cash? I would have expected a mass exodus long before

The truth is that Garden City has been comparable for years, but as other areas grew with more industry and wealthier populations, they have pulled ahead and can afford to do so. James T. Falk.

I would like to join with R.T. Thompson in his request for barriers around excavation sites on Schoolcraft Road. Contractors who are involved in the construction of the expressway should put aside the future convenience of the superhighway and concentrate for the time being on the present safety of drivers who must travel Schoolcraft during the long construction process.

During winter months when driving is at its most dangerous, drivers need all the help they can get against the hazardous consequences of skidding on a slippery road.

I also take a more personal interest in this situation. My boyfriend narrowly escaped serious injury when his car slid on the wet, muddy curves at the intersection of Schoolcraft and Beech

I ask the contractors of the Schoolcraft expressway to install effective barriers around all excavation sites. I'm not against progress. but I do not believe that progress should stand in the way of safe driving.

Mobile park story paid off

EDITOR:

We of Royal Holiday Mobile Home Park appreciated your articles in the Plymouth Observer & Eccentric concerning our park problems. It was the publicity in the news media that helped us win the first tenants' rights in a mobile park in Michigan.

We also won a one-year lease with a set of rules that are compatible to all residents toward a better life in mobile park living.

Newsletters can be proper

I was pleased to note Tim Richard's editorial efforts (Monday, Oct. 28) to differentiate between a tax-paid, mass mailing by an elected official that clearly serves the legitimate and important function of providing information and background on legislative matters to the constituent and the abuse of the free-mailing privilege for obvious campaign purposes in a preelection period.

I can't reply to his reference to the "daily papers" but I do take exception to his statement that "...Common Cause makes a big odor about lawmakers and their newsletters."

Our long-standing complaint is with the tax-paid mailing of materials that can only be characterized as campaign literature. If all candidates for a particular office were afforded the privilege of one free voter mailing in which their views on important campaign issues were discussed, such an expenditure might be justified.

Common Cause believes an elected official has an obligation to inform his or her constituents of important legislative matters. The official thus encourages the expression of informed citizen response. Legislator newsletters, properly used, are an excellent means of carrying out that obliga-

Working man stood in line

EDITOR:

On election day, there were a lot of people who were very inconsiderate of their neighbors' right to vote.

Many voters have to go to the polls after work, generally on their way home. It seems that a lot of neighbors have sat at home all day and about 4 p.m. they get the idea that they should vote.

They go to the polls about the time the homebound worker arrives. He finds a long line; he's in no condition to stand up for another hour or so; he says. "The hell with it." and goes home. This happened to me. It probably has happened to many others. Somebody's thinking about time to vote needs considerable thought.

Please, no name as my neighbors know my feelings.

Coaches defy teachers' union

School strike perils Garden City sports

By TOM DONOGHUE Sports Editor

"I am not going to let my kids down. I am going to coach anyway!"

So said Garden City West High var-sity basketball coach Chris Babler after the Garden City Educational Association slammed the door on his practicee sessions in preparation for the Nov. 26 opener with Wayne Memo-

"Here these kids have worked all summer and fall and we have now gone through four weeks of official practice and now we are supposed to just quit two weeks before the season opens. No way!" asserted Babler.

The teachers are at it again in Garden City and both East and West Highs are but a portion of the students locked out of the classrooms.

Garden City was on strike the first four weeks of the current school year. But the athletic programs were allowed to continue. unlike the situation touched off the second time around.

Chief Negotiator for the Garden City Education Association, John Melchor, had his comments on the mat-

"The Association's stand at the moment is withholding all services and that includes athletics.

AMERICAN CORPORATION OF THE PROPERTY OF THE PR

"We are the ones that are risking everything," added Melchor.

"I know our stand now might not seem consistent with the one we took in the fall with football but this time we gave an advance warning and everyone has known the score.

"We (the Association) demonstrated good faith in September along with concern but we now have our backs to the wall and we are going to show that we mean business this

"It is an unfortunate and sad situasters as 'pawns' in this power struggle but there is more at stake than just a basketball season.

"About 97 per cent of our teachers are supporting this stand." And on the matter of the current strike starting the Monday after football season ended, Melchor said,"The date just worked out this way and there was no pressure given on finishing the football season.

"If we had decided to strike the week of the East-West football game, there would have been no game. In fact, the more I think of it, it would have been advantageous to strike then and show the board and public just how serious we are.

"We have no desire to take this thing out on the kids but we are also taking the risks on our careers. We are committed to a cause and are going to stick to our guns no matter what.'

Now comes the challenge for two varsity basketball coaches to get their respective clubs ready for the upcoming season, not to say anything of all the other winter sports.

Billy Joe Young and his East Panthers are slated to open the 1974-75 season at home against Cherry Hill on Nov. 29. and like Babler's West

Tigers, are locked out of the school gym and are being instructed not to continue practice. Over at West. Babler has made his

"I am going to coach my kids no matter what happens." he stated."We are going to make the best of this situation and I am going to stick with my kids. I have separated myself from teaching and coaching."

"All of these teachers who are sounding off now about athletics have never once and would never stand up for as coaches and now they are telling us to slam the door on our kids. "It's just not going to happen."

Birmingham Brother Rice, which Harrison," commented Moshhas been rated No. 1 in the state by some papers could do no better than a tie for third place in the same region with Salem and Franklin.

Rice could only come up with an average of 109.334 points per game in a tie with Detroit Redford.

Salem's final victory of the campaign over previously unbeaten Farmington Harrison. 28-7. again had to reveal the strength of that region as Harrison still wound up fifth behind Rice and Redford with an average of 97.778 points.

"We did nothing different against imer."There was no special adjust-

"Before the game I told the kids that this is it, this is what they wanted and it all came to be.

When asked just how he thought his Rocks would stack up against Brother Rice which won the Catholic playoffs, Moshimer said." Rice is big and powerful and will three and four yard you to death.

"I know we could move the ball against them and I don't think they could overpower us." At Franklin, it appears Lovich's final win over Bentley in overtime, 17-14, could be his last as a coach.

The now athletic director at Franklin may have to limit his duties because of the time consumption of his

What a display his Patriots put on this '74 campaign in successfully defending the Northwest crown.

In fact, Franklin totaled 1,064 points in the state's paper playoffs-just 28 away from state champion Salem.

That figure could have been closer if Thurston had beaten Redford Union in the final and if Fordson beats Edsel Ford. The difference would have been sliced to just four points. "We couldn't be happier and prouder of our year," said Lovich. "But the one thing that really irks me, our kids and their parents is the rankings around Michigan. We haven't had a bad record the last seven years, standing at 49-9-1. "In those 59 games, we have 23 shutouts and 17 games where our opponents haven't score more than one touchdown.

"Plus we have never been shut

Franklin saw its No. 8 ranking in the state last year vanish when it lost to Bentley in the finale. That upset didn't occur this season and Lovich's Patriots are ranked and in fact, No. 2 in the state behind Salem.

"The ratings by the Free Press and one just haven't been fair." said Lovlevel and everyone knows what they have to do. There is no favorite playing in this thing.

When I ask the downtown papers. why-about our ratings, it was comment really with no reason." added .. the Franklin coach."I am sure that if North Farmington had gone 9-0 this year instead of us, they would have ... been rated higher.

"As for this year yes sir, we are No. 2 in the state.

"State rankings" up to now have never been objective. Brother Rice, can moan and groan all they want but it's right there in front of them in black and white.

"There is no playing the favorite role from now on.

"Now I am not saying that this new. system is the answer but it's the best to date," finished Lovich.

Yes, the best to date has Plymouth Salem on top in the state and Livonia Franklin second.

Besides teams realizing they are going to have to win all their games now, you are going to see schools start juggling their schedules to play the tougher teams.

Also' this new playoff system is going to force the parochial schools to start playing Class A teams outside: their league. This idea is going to open a whole new ball game as the majority of the public schools don't want to play the parochial teams because of their recruiting tactics.

Maybe, just maybe...this new play. off gimmick could straighten out a

Wolverines fear Purdue jinx

'Old Ghost' to haunt Michigan

By W.W. EDGAR

There's a time honored saying in Western Conference football circles that goes. " If you must win a game. don't play Purdue"!

Over the years the Boilermakers. who invade Michigan Stadium Saturday afternoon, have created more upsets and ruined more seasons for opponents than any other team in the Big Ten.

Season after season, as soon as the leaves began to fall, you could always hear the cry coming from the University of Chicago where the immortal Arnos Alonzo Stagg was head coach.

Stagg fears Purdue In fact, it was often stated that the news media of that day kept those words in a standing headline.

This fear of Purdue now has struck the Michigan campus and in view of Michigan State's upset of Ohio State and the rather mediocre showing of the Wolverines in their last few games, is looked upon as cause of the

It matters little that Purdue has won few games this year. What does matter is the fact that the Boilermakers pointed for Notre Dame and wrecked its chances for retaining the national championship in the first weeks of the season.

You can be sure they will point for Michigan. So there is certain to be a struggle on Saturday.

Here is the picture now that Ohio State has been beaten:

The Buckeyes have only Iowa to meet before the game with Michigan and should win easily after that bitter loss at Michigan State. That would send them into the Michigan game with only one defeat. On the other hand. Michigan must beat Purdue, the "spoiler", to go into the game against Ohio, undefeated. If this happens, Michigan could win a share of the Big Ten even with a defeat at Columbus. But going into the game with a loss against Purdue would have the traditional rivals tied at 8-1 and the Big Ten title and Rose Bowl at stake. In view of Michigan's performances on the road, this could be a dangerous position. So, it readily can be seen that Michigan MUST beat Purdue.

verines and the Buckeyes would go into that game undefeated and be playing for No. 1 ranking and possibly the national championship.

That all changed when the Spartans downed Ohio and put the pressure on the Wolverines to beat Purdue and be satisfied with what could be a share of the Big Ten title.

In The Pocket

The grand old game of toppling tenpins has come a long way since the early days in America when it was outlawed because of the gambling element and later when it was considered just a side attraction in the natien's saloons.

Today it has moved from the alleys and side streets to the main thoroughfares with glittering lights and has a hold on people of all ages from four years to 90. More than that, it is now considered the best therapy for senior citizens and the best relaxation to remove tension among professional

And, strange as it may seem, the game now is one of the favorites among blind persons.

Years ago a chap named Harry Hunter of Detroit. started the promotion of blind bowling - and advanced the cause as far as national tournaments

HOW COULD THE blind bowl - if they couldn't see the pins?

They needed help to be sure. This was provided by the installation of an iron railing along the side of the approach. The bowler would slide his or her hand along the railing to a certain point and then release the ball. If he was to shoot at a spare he was taken to the approach, placed in position. and then told which pins were stand-

Another method was the use of a rug on the approach. The blind bowler was placed on the rug, then told to take his four steps to reach the end of 'the rug and then let the ball go.

While either method seemed difficult the blind bowlers enjoyed the game and the scores were almost unbelievable.

AS A TENSION remover the best example was furnished some years ago by Dr. O.L. Brooker, the well-known Livonia physician.

He always carried a bowling ball with him in his car. And any night that he had a tough time of it in the hospital, he would stop at any bowling establishment enroute home and bowl a few games — even if he had to bowl by himself

Dr. E.R. Reinsh, of Southfield, is another medical man who uses bowling to relax. A left hander, he rolls a wicked ball and makes it a point to put in several hours of practice every Wednesday afternoon at Westland Bowl. For years he bowled and captained a team and seldom missed a night of league competition.

AS THERAPY for senior citizens and residents of the nursing homes throughout the area, there is no finer example than the Middlebelt Nursing Home located between Schoolcraft and Five Mile Road.

Here the residents have their own league. Special lanes have been built about the height of a dining table. Guard rails have been installed to prevent the balls from rolling off the in wheel chairs, sit at the end of the lane and push the ball toward the pins instead of rolling it. And they attract quite a gallery on league nights.

At the end of the season they have their banquet (no bowling season is officially ended without the traditional banquet). It is a big night and no trophy awarded anywhere is more appreciated than those these elderly residents clutch in the arms. What fun they have!

The latest move is to the blind children to help brighten what otherwise would be a dark life for them. Mrs. Marsha Lear, of Garden City, now has a group ranging in age from 7 to 12 years, taking their turn at the pins.

No one would have believed such things would be possible years ago when the game was an adjunct to a saloon and outlawed in New York state because of gambling. The old game has come a long way.

BONNIE BARNES, who bowls in the ladies classic at Garden Lanes each week, is cutting quite a swath in all-star leagues in the area. Several weeks ago, as a member of the Pine Tree Bowl team, she fired a 702 series. She was the first woman to break the 700 barrier this season. Since then she has been scoring well and only this past week rolled a 638 in the Ladies Major League to help keep her team high up in the race. Included in her big series was a Don Mc Cloud will have good reason never to forget this past week in the Wonderland Classic.

Taking his regular turn as a member of the Harron team he opened with a 236, followed with a 258 and closed with 286 for a 780 series - one of the best he ever has bowled.

Meanwhile the Viscount team rolled a 3226 to pace the league that now is being recognized as one of the highest scoring leagues in the entire metropolitan Detroit area.

Two new members were admitted into the 700 club during the past week. One of them. Andy De Camillo, bowling in the senior house league in Bel-Aire Lanes, was well on his way toward a perfect game with nine strikes in a row. Then he left up a stubborn No. 7 pin and had to settle for a 279 to go with games of 210 and 219 for a 708

The other was the veteran Hal Jolley who linked games of 221, 2243 and 236 for an even 700 in the Classic in Farmington's newest establishment--Drakeshire Lanes--had its first perfect game last Friday night when Quentin Eathorne, a 160 average bowler, opened with the 300 and dropped back to 178 and 155 for a 633.

At the same time Randy Hackerson toppled the 7-10 split-the first in the new house.

High scoring continued in Bel-Aire as Greg Hatter fashioned a 689 and Bill Cooper a 658 in the Classic' along with a 674 by Tom Mc Cullough, a 682 by Ken Cummins and a 691 by Jerry Lidgey.

All told, there were 35 series in double centuyy figures in the Classic. The team series also reached a new peak, with Kliffel Tires posting a 3207 and Eve's Flowers 3127.

Behind Jolley at Westland Bowl came Bernie Peters and Leo Scantamburlo who deadlocked at 661, Bernie had the high game of the night with a

The ladies also did well in Woodland where Nancy Chaffey had a 219 single game, while Rita Wright had a 502 series and Shon McAuliffe a 508.

WITH THE re-election of Gov. Milliken, one wonders if there will be a change in the racing commissioner. Rumors were rampant in Lansing last week that such a change was to be. but we won't believe it until Millike makes the announcement.

There isn't much question but that he will be heralded as the three year old of 1974 and perhaps horse of the year. Dream of Glory, the unheralded three year old trotter who wasn't staked in any of the major events but whipped all of the top contenders consistently, appears in line for the three year old trotting award. ### One paneled wall: room comes alive

For most people, the term redecorating brings to mind expensive and extensive modifications, a great deal of trouble and inconven-

While this may be the case with many renovations, it needn't be so in many situations. In many instances, the addition of one wall of paneling can change the entire appearance of a room.

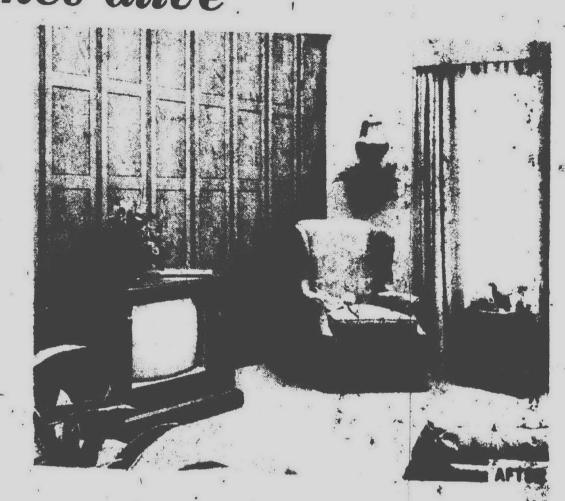

In the room at left, for example, the decorating goal was to achieve the most dramatic change at the least possible cost.

Replacement of floor or window coverings was ruled out, so was replacement of furniture. A single wall, in this case two sheets of 4 by 8 prefinished hardboard paneling, was decided upon. The paneling is Masonite Briarcliff, a rich simulation of oak panel inserts highlighted by detailed panel strips.

The elegant, formal appearance of the wall. paneling, it was felt, would give the room added depth and dimension.

Plant of the week

There are many species of caladium. Caladium bicolor is a native of Trinidad, Brazil and Guiana. Its firm leaves, shaped like an arrowhead, are green with red veins and scattered white spots.

Caladiums grow profusely during the spring and summer and are dormant during the winter. Some varieties have red. pink or variegated leaves.

For ideal growth of all calladiums.

CALADIUM BICOLOR

Michigan State University horticulturists suggest:

SOIL should be rich in humus, peat moss, sphagnum moss or shredded fir bark. If drainage is a problem add broken brick, charcoal, granite chips, perlite or coarse sand to the soil mix-

WATER-Keep the soil evenly moist but not constantly wet. Allow it to become slightly dry between waterings. During the winter, when it is not actively growing, it may need less TEMPERATURES should range from 60 to 65 degrees F at night and O degrees F during the day. The caladium will withstand low temperatures found in most homes this winter with thermostats turned down. During the summer, place the plants outdoors for a period of time to get fresh air.

LIGHT-Indirect or diffused sunlight will provide the light needed for healthy growth. Keep out of direct sunlight, preferably near an east window.

PROPAGATION is by division of tubers in the spring.

How to make your own sauerkrauf

the contraction of the second second

Many gardeners raised their own cabbage, but not many are aware they can make a chocolate sauerkraut cake that's out of this world.

Early and late cabbage can be used, as can the red or green types. Remove the outer leaves, and the core (use the grated core for soups, stews or salads). Shred the solid heads into thin slices. Pack it promptly in a clean jar or crock, using alternate layers of cabbage and salt.

Use one pound of salt to 40 pounds of cabbage or ½ lb of salt for 20 pounds of cabbage. You can make layers about ½ inch think with sprinklings of salt over each one. If any salt remains, sprinkle it on the top. Try to portion out the cabbage so you do not run out of salt for the top layers. In any case, do not add extra salt as the brine will be too salty.

THE CABBAGE should be covered with a clean, round board that just fits inside the crock. It's a good idea to put a piece of cheesecloth over the cabbage before adding the board to keep pieces of cabbage from floating up with the brine. Weight the board down with a clean, washed rock. Do not use a pitch pine board as it will cause off flavor.

After fermentation is complete, skim off any scum that forms. If the for Using Sauerkraut." kraut is to be kept in a cool place, probably no seal is needed. If in a warm place, the kraut can be sealed by pouring melted paraffin over the

Some people prefer sea salt, but regular table salt can be used. You can add a few caraway seed, or dill or celery, to give the kraut an interesting flavor.

The Pilgrim's had scant sugar with which to sweeten the tart wild berries they gathered during the early years when taming the wilderness was the first goal to be achieved in the new land. And their gardens were planted, of necessity, not for pleasure but for ingredients urgently needed for medicine, flavorings, dyes for handwoven cloth, and even insect repellents.

But even as we imagine the long hours the Pilgrim mother spent in creating a home for her family, we can imagine the pleasant fragrances and bright-colored flowers her garden pro-

MANY PLANTS that the early colonists brought from the old world in seed or root form have become favorite flowers today according to the Society of American Florists.

For example, the clove "gillyflower" used for many medicinal purposes by colonial dames is today's carnation. And although the carnation that florists carry today has developed into a handsome, many-petaled flower, it still retains the spicy fragrance that perfumed the colonial homemaker's garden.

Another flower that links us with the Pilgrims is the "everlasting." a flower that colonial ladies picked. hung to dry in a dark corner and used in the home to protect precious handwoven clothing and blankets from 1918 there was a terrible dip in in the economy as the defense plants turned to their former use and most every man in our old home town was out or worl--with no jobs to be had.

It was then that we turned to the old fire hall. It was a haven for those who wanted to get away from the boredom of sitting around the house. moaning about conditions.

Our home town couldn't afford paid firemen. It had to depend on volunteers. For that reason reason there were no complaints about the daily gatherings. As a matter of fact, our daily sessions were welcomed as they provided that much more fire pro-

Symphony plays second show Sunday, Nov.17

Now in its 29th season, the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra has performed more than 1.000 works. And yet, for the second concert of this season, conductor Wayne Dunlap has selected three works never before offered a local audience.

They are "Creation of the World" by Milhaud, the first clarinet concerto of Weber and the first symphony of Sibelius, and each is in a totally different style.

The concert is Sunday, Nov. 17 at 4 p.m in Plymouth Salem High School. Joy west of Canton Center Road.

OF "CREATION." Dunlap says. "Darius Milhaud heard an American Negro jazz band in the early 1920s and vowed he would write in that style. When he came to the United States, he went to Harlem and heard more. Back in France, he wrote an African version of the Creation orches-

The tone poem is scored for a group of instruments hardly larger than a combo, but especially strong on percussion. Featured is a saxophone solo.

Milhaud died earlier this year. Carl Marion von Weber's clarinet concerto, with John Mohler as solosit, dates to 1811 and bridges the classical and Romantic styles.

JEAN SIBELIUS, the 20th century Finn, wrote what Dunlap calls "a fairly contemporary masterpiece in the .repertory." It was composed in 1899.

Unlike classical composeres who state a theme and embelish it. says Dunalp. "Sibelius never states the theme. He just develops it until you hear the theme at the end."

Admission for the Nov. 17 concert is $3 for adults with K-12 students admitted free. Senior citizens' tickets prices are reduced.

Baby-sitting by qualified girl scouts is provided. Free bus rides for senior citizens are provided from the Tonquish Manor residence in Plymouth.

EMU presents Seals and Crofts

Seals and Crofts will perform at Eastern Michigan University's Bowen Fieldhouse, Friday, Nov. 22 at 8 p.m.

Tickets are $6.50 (reserved) and $5.60 and $4.50 (general admission) and are available at McKenny Union. The concert is sponsored by the office of student life.

Seals and Crofts unusual harmonies weave around one another, forming a montage of jazz, blues, rock, country. and classical. Their albums include "Summer Breeze." "Diamond Girl." and "Unborn Child."

'Odessa' wins at intrigue

By SUE ROSIEK

The "Odessa File," starring Jon Voight and Maximilian Schell, is a great example of suspense and intrigue in current times and definitely worth viewing.

It's the story of Peter Miller (Voight), a young, enterprising German journalist, who infiltrates a secret organization of former Nazi SS men in order to track Captain Eduart Roschmanh (Schell), commandant of the Riga concentration camp.

Roschmann is now a businessman whose company is secretly making bubonic-plague missiles which he intends to sell to Nasser to destroy Is-

MILLER, becomes involved when a friend of his in the police department offers him the diary of an old Jewish man, whose wife was killed in Roschmann's concentration camp.

The diary provides an in-depth description of concentration camp atrocities and recounts the deeds of Roschmann, who was reported to have ordered the execution of some 80,000

The story takes place in Germany in 1963, some 20 years after Rosch-mann reportedly disappeared. The elderly Jew spots Roschmann coming out of a local opera house and alerts the police. His reports are overlooked and, feeling disgusted and helpless, he kills himself.

Miller picks up the search and allows himself to be beaten and pushed onto the tracks of an oncoming train. All for the "story." and possibly to avenge the atrocities committed?

VOIGHT delivers an excellent performance as the writer, who stumbles onto the biggest story of his life. His characterization lets the audience believe his journalistic motives are the driving force behind his investigation.

The movie is based on the best-selling novel by Frederick Forsyth, who used factual SS and West German records. The film is exciting and a great combination of fact and fiction transformed into a thriller.

Forsyth's research indicated Roschmann was at the Riga camp from 1941-44, and that he later fled to South America and reportedly had returned to Germany in the '60s.

Dauch, Kearney reassigned by GM in manager shifts

After serving under six plant man- ing at the Flint Assembly plant. He Spring and Bumper division and then devoting 10 years in Cleveland and Bay City, Bernard J. Kearney has returned to assume the duties of plant manager of the Livonia operation.

The announcement was made late last week when Richard Dauch. Spring and Bumper chief for the past year and a half, was appointed assistant zone manager of sales in Chevrolet's Detroit zone effective Nov. 1.

DAUCH, 32, joins the division's sales organization after 10 years serving in various Chevrolet manufacturing assignments.

Kearney joined Chevrolet in Toledo immediately following his graduation from St. John's High School. He received his bachelor's degree in industrial engineering from General Motor Institute and took post graduate courses at the University of Toledo.

Following service in World War II. he was employed at the Chevrolet plant in Cleveland, Chevrolet central office and the Livonia plant. In 1968 he was named manager of the Cleveland Pressed Metal Plant and then became plant manager in Bay City in March 1972.

Dauch, a resident of Bloomfield Hills, began his career with Chevrolet in 1964 as a college graduate, in train-agers for the Livonia Chevrolet was promoted to foreman in 1965, general foreman in 1967, superintendent for truck production in 1968, superintendent of inspection in 1971 and general superintendent in July 1971. He was named plant manager at Livonia in 1973. KEARNEY WAS first assigned to the Spring and Bumper plant in 1957 and served under plant managers Charles McKinney, R.B. Dow, A.W. Whitmer, Leo Seidl, Bert Anderson and Thomas Carroll before being transferred to Ohio in 1964. "The years have brought many five Chevrolet plants.

major changes to the Livonia plant." he said Thursday in his first day on the new job. "All for the better I might say. But it's just like returning home to come back here where I served for so many years under so many plant managers.

Kearney and his wife. Irma, are parents of two sons, Bernie and Bill, both of whom are in General Motors pro-

Madonna beginners learn TV production

By DARLENE STINSON

Dolly in camera two and cue the tal-That's what's heard every Wednesday night in Room 240 of Madonna College, where students enrolled in a beginning television production course scurry to the commands of a director to produce their own television prod-

The four-credit course, taught by Charles D. Derry, stage manager for WXYZ television. is aimed at students who knew nothing about television production before the first day of class. but whose line of work demands some knowledge of television production techniques.

A make-your-own-movie craze. which hit industry and educational institutions a few years back, stimulated the purchase of thousands of dollars worth of television production equipment. Derry explained. But, for lack of the technical knowledge needed to use it, the equipment has only created films of dust.

TO WIPE clean the dust and roll out the cameras are the purposes of the course, in which students are taught the technical know-how needed to produce "industrial" movies, those used by schools and industries for instructional purposes.

"You have a lot of schools and industrial places that bought television equipment." Derry explained. They'd like someone to use it, but a lot of it just sits there, because no one knows how. "To reach the maximum number of people when a guest speaker comes in, for example, they want to record it. Just doing that is sometimes a formidable task for some people. They're stuck with the equipment, and we want to show them how to put it to practical use.

"I would say the students are mainly taking the course for information. "Their bosses have said. Make me a movie, and they don't know

EACH STUDENT in the class is responsible for the production of one five-minute movie. Derry said.

That student must write the script and create the graphics. while others man the cameras, lights and audio equipment. Students take their turns in the director's chair.

"On his shoulders rests the entire production." Derry said of the director. "He's the person who must do all the necesary word-work.

"He doesn't touch a thing, but, by his words, he's making the production. You sit in the director's chair and you say big deal-until you try

The director instructs the cameramen how to take each shot and tells the technical director which camera picture he wants televised. Derry explained. He instructs the audioman and the talent.

The producer must present his ideas to the director, so the movie turns out as he wants it. Derry said.

DERRY URGES the students to give an entertainment twist to the instructional films they create.

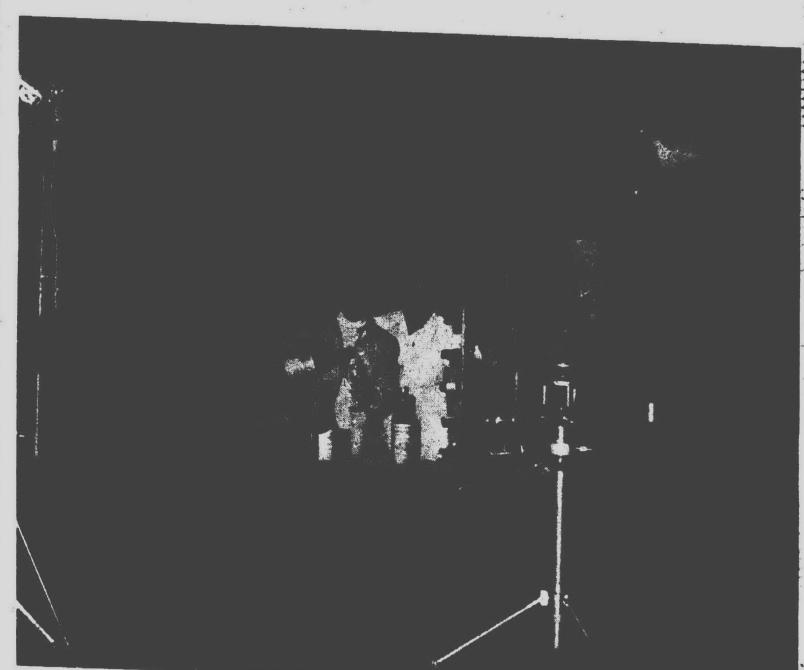

"It's one thing to run the equipment." he said, "and another to make a program, and another to make a program someone wants to watch." Derry has taught the three-year-old program for two years. His wife, Pat, teaches music and makes educational films in Madonna's television studio for student teachers.

"I love it," Derry said of his work. "It's fantastic. I like teaching. I like television. I like photography, and I have a very wonderful wife who understands it and likes it too.

"I feel people in the industry should teach this type of course. When I was in school, by the time I learned what was going on, the material was already two or three years old."

Television production courses are not usually offered at colleges the size of Madonna, Derry said.

Hypermarket:

General store of the future

"Hypermarket is a trade term. There are hypermarkets in Europe and one or two in Canada. but there's no standard definition for them, just as there's no definition for a discount

Speaking was Chuck Westra, an executive of Meijer Inc., the Grand Rapids-based firm that will open metropolitan Detroit's first hypermarket next Tuesday morning at Ford and Canton Center roads in Canton Town-

He sat in the snack bar area of the Thrifty Acres store as some of the 600 new employes stocked more than 100,000 items of goods and mastered the 59 new cash registers.

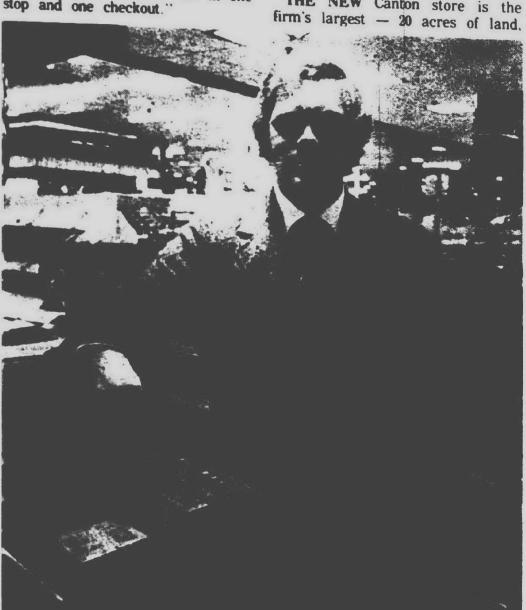

IN A WAY, a hypermarket is a lot like the old-fashioned general store. Westra admitted, but on a more stupendous scale.

What we've done is apply supermarket principles - self-service, adjacent parking, central checkout - to general merchandise. You go to a large store where it's all available clothes for the kids, shotgun shells. food, household needs - all in one stop and one checkout.

Another hypermarket feature is high stacking of merchandise in bins and original cartons. Says senior vice president Earl Holton: "This puts more goods out front and less in the back rooms. Reduced handling costs mean that lower prices are passed onto the customer.

Well-known in outstate Michigan. Meijer is a new name to the Detroit area. The 25 Meijer Thrifty Acres stores and supermarkets in 13 cities are known for being price-com-

Company officials decline to say what it's all worth. An informed ballpark figure on the land is $400,000 to $500,000. Township officials figure the construction cost at nearly $3.7 million. The equipment and the 100,000 items in the inventory would have to be added to that.

In time, a "Meijerblend" self-service gasoline station will be added. The Canton store is the first of several Meijer Inc. is planning for the metropolitan Detroit area. Next. says John Stephenson, the firm's real estate specialist, will be a Royal Oak store. The firm already owns the corner of Eight Mile and Haggerty roads in Northville Township.

STEPHENSON said the firm consulted planning and land use figures from the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments and the Wayne and Oakland county planning commissions before building.

Stephenson got acquainted with the public officials in Canton, the fastest growing area in the seven-county region, and by driving around came to realize that Ford Road was the major east-west thoroughfare, not only track not only of what its competitors through Canton but through Westland and Garden City.

Paul Fried owned the site and had a gas station on the corner. He had his own idea about a shopping center, Stephenson recalls, until Meijer stepped into the picture.

Stephenson noted the Meijer store will have Canton's first barber shop. Coincidentally, the firm's founder, Hendrik Meijer, was operating a barber shop in Greenville in 1934 when he decided to open a grocery store.

FRED MELJER, son of founder Hendrik and president today, instills a people-conscious philosophy in his executives and employes.

Earlier Meijer Thrifty Acres had balconies with small shops. Besides.

sales tax reduction that takes effect Jan. 1. said Meijer, "I really had an emotional attachment to balconies."

But he found that handicapped persons were unable to get to balconies. so Meijer put the new store all on one floor. Ramps make it easier for persons in wheelchairs to move around. Drinking fountains and telephones have been lowered. Restrooms have extra wide doors and special facilities for wheelchairs.

Motorized as well as manually-operated wheelchairs are available for customers at the courtesy desk. Special parking spaces for the handicapped are reserved near the entrance.

When you meet the president, you call'him "Fred." Says Westra. whose own nametag describes the director of advertising as "Chuck W.": "There's not a 'Mr.' on any of our signs or calling cards.

Chuck quotes Fred: "If I were to lose all the buildings and inventory or all my people. I've no doubt I would come back faster if I could keep the people.

While Meijer Inc. is a family-held company. Fred stresses that it's an equal opportunity employer, and hap-pily so. "None of us picked our parents. You can get any job you're qualifiable for." He says "qualifiable." not just "qualified."

WESTRA SAID the firm keeps are charging but of what they are paying their employes. A survey showed Meijer personnel among the best paid in the business.

THE GROCERY section has both national and private brands. which have to meet the specifications of the best national brands.

"The Yellow Pages is the best prescription for curing profit problems!"

"That's my bank"

"We've used the Yellow Pages since we opened our pharmacy in East Detroit, and we keep using it. We like to keep our name before a constantly changing public," claims Joseph A. Sokal, Hennessy Pharmacy, 20803 Brock, East Detroit. "One year we used a coded telephone number in our ad and received approximately 100 calls per week on that line alone. Almost our entire advertising budget goes for the Yellow Pages."

"The Yellow Pages is a great friend to have—especially when a businessman is just getting started," says Michael Richardson, Dependable Battery Co., 13550 Dix Toledo Road, Southgate. "Two years ago we opened our battery shop and placed an ad in the Yellow Pages hoping to draw retail business to supplement our wholesale accounts. You can imagine our surprise when we got a large wholesale account that had located us through the Yellow Pages! Wholesale or retail, our Yellow Pages ad more than pays for itself."

"When I bought Warren Rustproofing, one of the first things I did was increase the Yellow Pages advertising. We are now in five different directories. We don't advertise in any other medium because we don't need to. Approximately 75% of our new business comes from the Yellow Pages. Our faith in the Yel'ow Pages has been rewarded. Although this year and the one before were supposed to be slow in retail sales, we've done fine."

Jim Malget, Warren Rustproofing, 25600 Van Dyke, Center Line.

"A little less than two years ago, I decided to open my own driver training school," explains Peggy Ostro, ABC Driving School, 542 West 8 Mile Road, Ferndale. "As quickly as I could, I took out a large ad in the Yellow Pages. Why? Because it's the best source of business I know. At least 90% of my business, and perhaps more during my first year, could be traced directly to my Yellow Pages ad. The Yellow Pages is the most efficient advertising medium I know."

Travel the Yellow Pages road to sales success. Call your Yellow Pages representative!

Have you called the Observer & Eccentric to place a classified ad, and gotten a "busy" signal? If you have, we're sorry. We don't like to keep our customers waiting. But it, happens sometimes, because we do business with more than 155,500 families. That's why we installed a special Bell Telephone System. It's called the Automatic Call Distributor, and it's designed to promote smoother and faster handling of calls to the classified advertising department.

It means that when you contact us to place a classified ad, your call will automatically be directed to one of the 19 friendly advisors who handle classified ads for the 11 Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. The "A-C-D" system will put you in direct touch with an ad-taker who is available, allowing you to do business quickly and efficiently.

So -- be ready for prompt service, because our new telephone unit can handle up to 28 simultaneous calls. And, if you should happen to be caller number 29, the ACD will hold your call for a moment, and then give it to the first available ad-taker. The classified advertising numbers -- 522-0900 in Wayne County and 644-1070 in Oakland County -- will remain the same.

We like ACD, because it means that our classified service to you will be improved. When you have pets to sell or homes to rent, our ad-takers will now be able to reach you faster, and offer you the greatest possible courtesy and efficiency. With our new, high-speed equipment, we'll be able to meet the needs of special situations ... your needs ... when you're calling us. And that's what quality service is all about.

ACD. Helping us to help you.

The Wayne County Association of Chiefs of Police, of which Plymouth's Chief Ford is president. forumlated the contract between local communities and the Institute which each of the police chiefs presented to their governing bodies.

Upon approval by various local governments, cities and townships became eligible to use the training center, not only for basic but advance po-

Another two rooms portray crime scenes where officers are taught to gather evidence and look for suspects. Closed circuit television, with a complete studio, occupies a portion of the building as does a well-equipped gym where officers are taught self-defense by judo experts.

"It has cost approximately $600,000 to renovate the building so far and we are not finished yet."

Classes are held daily. The teachers are officers with particular knowledge in various aspects of law enforce-"These officers are borrowed from the various police departments through the county. They are paid by the institute through their own department, thus they don't lose any of their regular benefits."

"Without this building and the support of the police chiefs and their communities, ther would be no Criminal Justice Institute."

"Besides turning out recruits, we will have given refresher courses to about 2,100 officers this year.

Many birds once common in area

John Tibbits, one of the earliest settlers in Plymouth, wrote that birds common in the area, in the early days of the community, included the eagle. hawk, owl. crane, partridge. duck, wild goose, raven, turkey, turkey-buzzard, and a variety of smaller birds.

Even in 1874, when Tibbits wrote, the turkey-buzzard was becoming scarce in the area. "The turkey-buzzard, so common in those early days. "Tibbits wrote, "is seldom or never seen now. This bird resembles the wild turkey more nearly than any other bird, though by no means so large. It is not a bird of prey, but, like the raven, lives on carrion.

"It is a powerful bird on the wing. and soars to great heights. sailing seemingly for hours without movement of the wings. The quills are very valuable for writing purposes, and the possession of one was considered a treasure, inasmuch as with careful usage one would last through a school term of three of four months."

Keith K. Kreag, general curator of the Detroit Zoo, told me recently that the turkey-buzzard, one of the best soaring species in the United States. . is no longer found in Wayne County. It does occasionally pass over the area, however; and in recent years Mr. Kreag saw a turkey-buzzard nest near Howell, in one of the bird's favorite nesting places, a hole in a log on the ground. Although called a buzzard in America, the turkey-buzzard is actually a vulture. It resembles the turkey because, like the turkey, it has a red head and neck which are bare of feathers.

IN ADDITION to destroying predators harmful to livestock, the early settlers killed turkeys, deer and other wildlife for food-but, unfortunately. gave little thought to conservation. In Michigan, in the 19th century, there was practically no limit on how much wildlife a sportsman might take. Hunters came here from Maine to Texas to slaughter birds by the millions.

An 1859 Michigan law, intended to conserve game by establishing closed seasons, was rarely enforced. The appointment of a State Fish and Game Warden in 1887 did little to help. Local pressure kept officials from enforcing laws which might have prevented the extermination of birds such as the wild turkey, which became extinct in Michigan in 1890, and the passenger pigeon, which became extinct in 1900.

The usual mode of hunting turkeys in the Plymouth area in the early days was described by Tibbits:

"Two or three persons would proceed cautiously through the woods till they came upon a flock, then suddenly fire at random amongst them, the object being to scatter them in all direc-. tions. When thus scattered they will invariably return to the same spot to get together again, the old ones coming first to call their young together.

"THE HUNTERS, hid in some secluded place, with their 'turkey calls' ready for use, would wait patiently for the return of the old birds. These turkey-calls consist of the hollow bone of the turkey's wing, and, in the mouth of an experienced hunter can be made to exactly imitate the piping sound of the mother bird when calling her brood together.

"Soon the maternal notes of the old bird are heard, and the hunters respond with their 'calls," luring them on to certain destruction. After the old birds are killed, the young ones fall an easy prey to the unerring aim of the skillful marksman.

"The flesh of the wild turkey," Tibbits continues, "is esteemed a great

a new post in Canton Township. All overseas veterans are invited to attend a meeting this Saturday at 1 p.m. in the home of George Kurluk, 39753 Edmonton Dr., off Joy between Hix and Haggerty roads.

Anyone interested in becoming a chartered member should bring their discharge papers or DD214 form to the meeting.

luxury, and one of the most delicious may find Tibbits' account of the Plymouth area when the settlers armeals I think I ever ate was made from steak cut from the breast of a young turkey, fried in butter, and partaken after a hard day's hunt in which a companion and myself killed seven large fine birds."

Aside from the turkey-buzzard and the wild turkey, other birds mentioned by Tibbits which are no longer found in this area include the raven, the crane and the partridge. Keith Kreag tells me there are still some partridges in Oakland County, that an eagle is occasionally seen in the area. and that geese are coming back. Redtailed, sparrow, and broad-winged hawks are still seen in Wayne County and owls are still with us.

KREAG SAYS two birds that fell victim to DDT are now making a comeback. The blue bird is being seen again in Oakland County and in the Ann Arbor area. The robin is also on the way back. Kreag says angle worms, which robins love to eat, absorb and store DDT. As few as 15 DDT-laden angle worms spell sure death for the red-breast.

On the brighter side, Kreag reports that there are now many species of birds in the area which did not live here when the pioneers arrived. Among these are the cardinal, the tufted titmouse, the Carolina wren, the mocking bird and the cowbird. These birds moved in after the settlers cleared the land and created an environment in which these species could find food.

The crow, one of those who arrived after the land was cleared, was not, like its relative, the raven, a forest bird. Once plentiful here, the crow was almost eradicated by a practice started in the south of dynamiting huge roosts where up to 100,000 of the birds nested. Kreag tells me that all crows do not fly south, however, and this may have prevented extinction of the species.

IN THIS DAY of emphasis on conservation, Tibbits' report strikes us as callous to the extravagance with which the pioneers squandered the area's bird and animal resources. Generations conditioned by the work of humane societies, and by the growing sense of the interdependence which exists between all living creatures,

New audiology program begun

By SUE ROSIEK

PLYMOUTH-The Plymouth Center for Human Development has launched a drive to collect unused hearing aids to help residents who can't afford the expensive but beneficial device.

"We have about 12 residents who wear hearing aids and about 12 more who could use an aid if it was available," says Miss Penny Gorsuch, clinical audiologist at the center.

"The patients who don't have an aid and need one also are either too old to be covered by funds from Division of Services of Crippled Children or don't qualify for Medicaid."

The Plymouth center houses 950 mentally retarded residents. Miss Gorsuch estimates that 5 to 10 percent of those also have some type of hearing impairment.

A HEARING AID won't completely solve a patient's hearing problem. explains Miss Gorsuch, but does help open opportunities for a mentally retarded person.

Because of the high cost of new hearing aids, however, the center can't afford to purchase an aid for every resident who could use one.

A new aid costs between $250 and $350 depending on size. frequency. and conveniences offered, says Miss Gor-

"There are many people who buy new aid models and put the old ones away. Most of these could be used by another person after a thorough cleaning, testing and refitting for an ear

An ear mold costs about $15 says Miss Gorsuch and the center has agreed to absorb this cost.

PERSONS WHO have unused hearing aids they would like to donate should contact wither Miss Gorsuch or Peter Schweitzer. director of community relations, at the Plymouth cen-

For Miss Gorsuch, obtaining the aids is just the first step of a new audiology project she has started. Also included is an in-service training program for Plymouth center attendents and testing programs for residents and out-patients.

"I want the attendents to have some idea of what a patient with a severe hearing loss can hear with an

MISS GORSUCH started conducting hearing evaluations on residents when she joined the Plymouth center staff about four months ago

She was recently awarded an MS in audiology and speech pathology from the University of Michigan.

"I found three aids not being used and am currently using them to diagnose hearing problems and determining what type of equipment each resident could use

"Hearing evaluations involve testing each patient with an audiometeran electronic device which emits a range of tones and frequencies. A complete diagnosis indicates what a person can hear and the extent of any hearing damage.

Miss Gorsuch feels the hearing aid project can be a tremendous help in residents' training and hopes hearing will no longer be neglected.

"Audiology—the science of hearing— isn't even in the dictionary." she adds. "That's hard to imagine when you consider the emphasis placed on communication in the world

Miss Gorsuch says she plans to expand the project to include outpatients if enough hearing aids are do-

Down it comes

A PART OF Livonia's history became a pile of bricks and rubble on Newburg at Ann Arbor Road this week when a wrecking company demolished the 52year-old Newburg School. The Livonia school board, which owned the building and 2.15 acres, said it has no plans now to either erect a new building or sell the land.(Staff photos by Leonard Poger)

Bus garage will have to wait

By MARILYN FITCHETT

PLYMOUTH—What Assistant Supt for Business Ray Hoedel calls a "stop gap program" may have to solve the district's bus housing and maintenance problem for at least the next few years.

Fire figures going up

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP-The township fire department responded to 95 alarms last month, 41 more than for October last year.

Fire Chief James Gignac said that for the first 10 months of this year. his department responded to 724 alarms compared with 587 in the same period of 1973.

False alarms last month totaled four while in the same month last year, there was one false alarm. For the first 10 months of this year, the department received 19 false alarms compared with 10 in the first 10 months of last year.

The department's rescue squad responded to 59 calls last month while in October last year, 37 calls were re-

For the 10 month period, the rescue unit answered 392 alarms compared to 343 in the 1973 period. Gignac said.

In a report to the school board Monday night. Hoedel stated the main priority of the Bus Service Garage Committee as a central facifity for the district's 60 vehicles.

Of the plans drawn by the committee last month. Hoedel favors a program which would cover the next three to five years.

"We would be acquiring a self-contained double classroom for office space and add two or three bays to the present maintainence garage." Hoedel said. "The cost would be borne by the building and site fund."

A new facility at a site still to be de-termined would then have to be built. Hoedel estimated that the double portables would cost the district $20,000-$30,000 with the bay addition close to the $100,000 mark. According to Supt. John Hoben, the district is paying out "premium prices" for repairs because the district does not have a bus hoist

"We're jobbing out repairs our own mechanics could be making if we had a hoist." he said.

Trustee Thomas Yack, who is a committee member, termed the situation "intolerable."

"I don't really like the stop gap program but it's the best we've been able to come up with."

Two of the proposals cited by the committee would require bonding, and a vote of the people. Hoedel said.

One plan would be to build a new facility from scratch at the Centennial

The second included acquiring a small industrial shop now for sale along with 4.3 acres of land at a price of $270,000 to $300,000 which does not include the cost of blacktopping and installation of equipment.

Contest winners

PLYMOUTH —The Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department's third annual Halloween costume and pumpkin carving contest was a great success. Held at the Plymouth Community Cultural Center on Halloween eve, the contest drew 128 contestantsin two different categories.

In the costume contest, 5-year-old Holly Brown of 42610 Hammill won first prize out of 73 other children. Second place winner was 6-year-old Scott Magaldi of 6610 Carriage Hills. Third joice of the judges was 10-year-old Tricia Thomas of 7999 Kaiser.

A total of 54 children took part in the pumpkin carving contest with 8year-old Susan Martinez of 44752 Oregon Trail taking top honors. Finishing second was 8-year-old Linda Sarafian of 616 McKinley. Finishing third was 10-year-old Brian Hastings of 44800 Oregon Trail.

DR. JAMES R. GURAL, a Plymouth resident and chairman of the campus counseling center at the Orchard Ridge Campus of Oakland Community College, was recently named to the education committee of the International Association of Counseling Services. The committee of educators from around Michigan will meet to study innovative approaches to counseling. Dr. and Mrs. Gural and their three children live at 15000 Lakewood.

RELOCATING...DOESN'T HAVE TO BE DISLOCATING

We belong to RELO, a national real estate organization whose job it is to relocate you physically without relocating you mentally. And this we can do. Through our association with RELO, we can help relocate you to at least 6,500 different communities throughout the country. All you have to do is contact any one of our offices, and we'll take it from there.

But remember one thing. If we can relocate you from coast to coast with a minimum of woe, imagine what we can do anywhere around Detroit and its environs.
