Students are smaller

By the second week in December there may be a few remarks in the halls of Plymouth Canton High School about the students getting smaller or going to school in Lilliputian land.

There will be some truth in the jokes, for starting Monday, Dec. 9 Mrs. Mary Beth Koss' child care classes will be operating a nursery school for three, and four year olds.

A well-appointed room complete with toys, bathroom tacilities and an area for snack preparation is already available. All that is needed are the little folks. Mrs. Koss' 18 child care students have been preparing in class for the on-the-job training since the beginning of the school year.

County commissioners back solution for medical malpractice

A proposal to solve the malpractice insurance crisis faced by doctors and other professionals in Michigan has received support from the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

The commissioners by resolution recently joined the United Auto Workers (UAW) union in its backing of the campaign by the 600-member Physicians Crisis Committee

THE RESOLUTION was co-sponsored by commissioners Edward K. Michalski (D-Detroit) and George Z. Hart (D-Dearborn), chairman and vice-chairman respectively of a subcommittee studying the malpractice insurance problem.

The county medical examiner and his staff, the jail physician, doctors and anesthetists at Wayne County General Hospitals, plus county attorneys are among those having trouble getting malpractice insurance

Malpractice insurance rates for doctors and other professionals have skyrocketed in recent years as malpractice lawsuits have mounted.

THE MICHALSKI-HART resolution endorses a three-point program urged by the Physicians Crisis Committee and notes the UAW has also endorsed the program. The physicians group is

Board pays tribute to retiring members

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP-Fresh faces adorned the board of trustees' table at its meeting Tuesday night, as the board paid tribute to former officials and welcomed the new.

The board welcomed to its table Treasurer Joe West and Trustee Richard Gornick, who were elected to the posts in the November election.

The board accepted West's resignation from the Township Board of Review and Civil Service Commission, and Gornick's resignation from the Township Planning Commission.

Because of their new roles as township officials, the two can no longer serve on the commissions in their former capacities.

Michigan will receive nearly $6 million in federal funds from the Land and Water Program this year to help finance state and local outdoor recreation improvements during the current fiscal year.

Since the funds must be matched dollar for dollar with state or local money, actual spending will amount to $12 million in Michigan.

The State Department of Natural Resources (DNR) will allocate the funds, making at least half available to local governments for upgrading and expanding recreational facilities.

Under Michigan's program, the DNR's Land and Water Conservation Fund Review Committee works with local governments in determining which projects will be approved for funding.

Guidelines for local participation in the program can be obtained by writing the DNR's Grants-in-Aid section. Lansing, Mich. 48926.

Liberal arts students need business-related courses

More liberal arts graduates would be hired by large Ame:ican business and industrial companies if the students would take some business-related courses while in college, a University of Michigan study indicates.

Forty-two major companies responded to a U-M questionnaire, and 35 of them said liberal arts graduates would be more in demand with such preparation.

While the study's findings indicate more business courses are necessary for liberal arts grads in the job market, the study directors, William R. Audas and Daniel J. Weintraub, say their study is not intended as a recombe turned into business-preparation programs.

"The university purports to equip people to live good and effective lives. and work is certainly an important part of life. We think the university and its academic departments should encourage the study of the liberal arts. We should help our students get a broadly-based education, but we should also encourage them to keep an eye on the future.

"Career planning and placement services are available to help the students, but in many cases we don't reach them soon enough to help them

When the days get shorter, wild animals are tipped off that cold weather is coming, and do something about it.

Most animals go on a crash feeding program. They build up thick layers of fat under the skin and around vital body organs. This helps preserve body heat and stores food energy.

Some animals store food away. Squirrels bury nuts, but often forget where they've stored their treasures. and so they unwittingly become tree planters.

The white-tailed deer replaces his reddish summer coat with a grey coat that is not only harder to see but has another advantage: The grey hairs are hollow. The air trapped inside is that animals reduce their activity these hollow hairs makes a barrier of insulation that helps shed water and retain body heat.

Wildlife copes with Michigan winters

THE SOURCE of these gems of winter wisdom is Glenn Dudderar, a wildlife management specialist at Michigan State University.

His very title - wildlife management specialist - reminds you that man's impact on the environment is so great that we have to manage even the wildlife portion nowadays.

If animals and birds are to survive, he says, they need three things: Food, shelter and water. Another consideration is the severity of the weather.

While the deer grows hollow fur. other animals grow a downy covering of underfur. This keeps them warm while the long "guard" hairs that grow all year shed water, says Dudde-

Waterfowl also grow a downy underlayer and continue to swim around in near-freezing water.

during the most severe winter weather. Few animals really hibernate.

"Most of the so-called hibernating animals will sleep through the worst storms and extremely cold weather. then begin foraging for food again when milder days arrive. It's not uncommon to see squirrels, skunks and chipmunks rummaging around on winter, resulting in less competition sunny days in January and February." Dudderar says.

For some animal species, survival is assured by the fact that many die off during winter. Grouse and rabbit populations, for example, may be reduced as much as 66 per cent during for food, shelter and water.

With that in mind, hunting doesn't seem so cruel. Hunters merely help do the job Mother Nature would anyway. The beflowered lady in white can be just as nasty as she appears in those margarine commercials.

Area schools keep pace on enrollment

Area colleges and universities in recording increasing student enrollments have kept pace with the overall enrollment picture in the state.

Michigan colleges and universities had their biggest enrollment increase in five years this fall, according to the State Board of Education.

In figures comparing 1973 and 1974 enrollments. Schoolcraft Community College showed a 622 student increase; Wayne County Community College, 772 and Henry Ford Community College, 570.

Madonna College recorded a 354 student gain for the same period; Eastern Michigan University, 186; and, University of Michigan-Dearborn,

THE STATE BOARD said 458,488 students are attending Michigan's 89 public and independent colleges and universities, a 7.7 per cent increase over last year. It was the largest year-to-year per centage increase since 1969.

ACCOUNTANTS' REPORT

We have examined the financial statements of the several funds of Schoolcraft Community Col lege District (Schoolcraft College) for the year ended June 30, 1974. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances

In our opinion, the accompanying Balance Sheets, changes in Fund Balances and Oper-ating Revenue and Expenditures, present fairly the linancial position of the several funds of Schoolcraft College at June 30, 1974, and the re-suits of operations and changes in fund accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year

Canton growth 'good' for Williams family

By CORINNE ABATT

There is still a look of a rural community along Canton Center Road going south from Ann Arbor Road toward Ford. There are old farmhouses, a couple of picturesque barns and a good deal of open land, some of it already staked for development.

At the corner of Canton Center and Maben, there's a sign Arnoldt Williams Music, Inc. The house where Mrs. Williams was born is on the corner and to the west the building which houses the family business. The couple bought the home from Mrs. Williams's father and the 10 acres around it. They raised their children there. These people have respect for tradition which is a part of their lives.

Yet, the growth of the community which promises to continue at its present unprecedented rate, doesn't trouble them. In fact, it is in part responsible for the growth and success of the family business.

Mrs. Williams says, "The changes are good for business. Yes, I enjoy the rural atmosphere and we were lucky to have the beauty of it for all these years. I still love it now and I wouldn't want to be anywhere else."

She listens as her husband talks about his work with great enthusiasm and comments, "You can't avoid change, so why not adapt to it."

Mrs. William father, Paul Simons, was a piano tuner who did business from his home in Canton from 1922. In 1945, when he found his young son-inlaw (with skill in mechanics and training in aeronautics) was interested in pianos and piano tuning, he began to teach him the business.

Williams admits it was a strange turn of events for a boy born in Virginia whose family had been horticulturists for many generations, and a former United States Air Force instructor, to get interested in piano tuning, but he did-much to the amazement of his family.

It felt right then and it still does. only now there is much more.

The retail store sells and services pianos, organs, and has moved into the electronic instruments since John, 19, joined the business.

Space has become a problem-the visitor walks carefully from the display rooms to the repair area whese there are half a dozen grand pianos in various stages of repair and from there into the room reserved for electronic instruments. Moog and Arp syn-

Plans for a new building are very close to completion and another family member, Yvonne, in merchandising with Gimbels in New York City, is joining the family business shortly, as her father says to "organize us." Williams plans to have music lessons available when the new store is constructed as well as a larger inventory and increased work space.

"The growth of the community is good for everybody. I find there aren't enough hours in the day-it's very exciting...some people have been fighting the changes, but we have the area and we have the potential for growth, you can't stand in the way.'

For Arnoldt Williams and his family, life in Canton Township has been good, so good, in fact, that his son and daughter plan to stay here and another daughter, Karen, lives a few minutes away in Northville.

The family business is growing and a new building is contemplated. Plans and philosophy indicate it will continue to meet the demands of the commu-

Dancers will remember the old hall.

CANTON — Many of the older buildings in Canton Township are steeped in history and reminders of the days that used to be. But none has a more interesting background than the building at the corner of Cherry Hill and Ridge Road that started as a grocery store, expanded into the most popular dance hall in western Wayne County, and now is an apartment complex.

"Would you believe it," said Joe West, Plymouth Township treasurer whose father bought the store in 1900. 'they once housed 100 horses in the basement during dance night!"

· During one of the few lulls in his position as the new treasurer. West got to reminiscing about the old building, once known as West Hall- and the square dance capital of the area.

"My father bought the place in 1900," he said, "and it was just a country store. Then they decided to hold dances on the second floor, and it soon became one of the most popular halls on Friday and Saturday night."

West smiled as he recalled that the floor was made of what was called cided to move into other fields. hard wood spring lumber.

"People came from all over," he went on, "and the Farmers Union that sponsored the dances had visions of attracting dancers from as far away as Chicago."

As he spoke. West reeled off the names of the old time families who enjoyed the dancing, and it sounded almost like a directory of the Plymouth

There was a twinkle in West's eye as the memory of those days came back and he recalled that they sold ice cream and pop for five cents and hot dogs for a dime.

The old dance hall operated until the '50s, long after the horses and carriages gave way to automobiles. At that time, World War II was ended and the defense work at Willow Run slowed down.

PLYMOUTH COMMUNITY SCHOOL DISTRICT Plymouth, Michigan

PUBLIC ANNOUNCEMENT

Plymouth Community School District today announces its revised lunch policy by adding "OR REDUCED PRICE LUNCH" to its recently adopted policy statement on "Free Lunch and Free Milk" for the 1974-75 school year. The introduction of the reduced price lunch becomes effective December 2, 1974.

Free Lunches, Free Milk or Reduced Price Lunches are for those school children who attend the public schools of the Plymouth Community School District who are unable to pay the full price of lunches and milk served under the National School Lunch Program, School Breakfast, Special Milk Program and U.S.D.A. Donated

Local school officials adopted the following family size and income criteria for determining eligibility in the 1974-75 school year:

TOTAL FAMILY SIZE	A SCALE FOR FREE MEALS AND FREE MILK	SCALE FOR REDUCED-PRICE MEALS
1 2	$ 2,910 3,830	$.2,911- 4,080 3,831- 5,360

Each Additional	e 670	e 040

Children from families whose income is at or below the levels shown are eligible for free lunches and free milk or reduced price lunches. In addition, families not meeting these criteria but with other unusual expenses due to unusually high medical expenses, shelter costs in excess of thirty percent of income, special education expenses due to mental or physical condition of a child, and disaster or casualty losses are urged to apply. In certain cases foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If a family has foster children living with them and wishes to apply for such lunches and milk for them, it should contact the school.

Application forms are available at the principal's office in each school. The information provided on the application is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility. Applications may be submitted at any time during the year.

In the operation of child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, color or national origin.

Under the provisions of the policy, the SCHOOL NURSE and PRINCIPAL OF THE SCHOOL THE STUDENT ATTENDS will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the NURSE and PRINCI-PAL, he may make a request either orally or in writing to MR. RAYMOND HOE-DEL. ASSISTANT SUPERINTENDENT FOR BUSINESS (designated as the Hearing Official), 454 South Harvey Street, Plymouth, Michigan, PHONE 453-0200, for a hearing to appeal the decision. The policy contains an outline of the hearing procedure. Each school and the Office of the Assistant Superintendent for Business has a copy of the complete policy which may be reviewed by an interested party.

Hamilton rifles were Plymouth products

Daisy's BB gun was not the only rifle to make the youth of America aware of Plymouth during the early 2900s. From 1889 to 1942, the Hamilton 22 caliber rifle, invented and manufactured in Plymouth by a man who contributed to the early success of Daisy, was also a favorite in the boy market.

Clarence J. Hamilton, who invented the all-metal farm windmill prior to 3862, and Daisy's all-metal air rifle in 1888, was superintendent of the Daisy plant until 1898. In that year he resigned and sold his interest in the busipess. He and his son, Coello, had inwented an expensive .22 caliber rifle. They began to manufacture it in 1899, although their patent was not official until Nov. 20, 1900.

The firm was first called Hamilton Arms Company, then Hamilton Rifle Company, and finally, in 1901, C.J. Hamilton and Son, a co-partnership. The plant was (and still is) on what is now Hamilton Avenue, only a few blocks from Daisy. The "Plymouth Mail" on April 12, 1901, reported that the new firm was employing "from 30 to 40 hands the year round and has built up an extensive trade."

The father, Clarence, was born in 1849 and came to Michigan from Meadville, Pa. Coello was born in 1872, but was never sure whether his place of birth was Holly or Milford.

The family moved to Plymouth when Coello was two years old.

. As described in their patent, Nov. 7, 1898, the first Hamilton rifle had a bronze sleeve barrel covered with two or more layers of steel tubing. A pivot-action, single shot gun, with a skeleton frame and stock, it was rifled by inserting into the barrel a steel mandrel with a negative profile of the rifling. This method was patented by the Hamiltons, as was the forming of the gun barrel in layers. The outer covering of the barrel was

Hamilton models sold at prices most boys could afford-from $1.50 to $12. They were distributed by large sporting goods houses, and advertised in "American Boy" and "American Boy-Youth's Companion."

Coello succeeded his father as head of the business (possibly in 1902, when a patent was issued solely in the son's name.) The plant stopped making rifles with the advent of World War II. It began making parts for the war effort, including tank bogie wheels. In 1945, when rifle prices allowed by the OPA were not sufficient to cover the firm's increased labor costs. Coello. who was then 70, decided to retire.

Hamilton sold his tools to John Hoban, his plant superintendent during the war years. Until his death, Hoban manufactured the "Hoban

PLYMOUTH-PAST AND PRESENT

Rifle" in the plant in Salem Township, which now houses Great Lakes

Since 1945, the plant the Hamiltons built in 1899, and enlarged over the years, has been owned by local businessman Frank Arlen. It now houses a firm which produces parts for

I interviewed Coello Hamilton at his home in April 1967, 13 days before his 95th birthday, and seven months be-. ther. In 1926, Coello had the structure his schooldays in Pllymouth in the fore his death. He was a small, spry man, with impaired hearing, but mentally alert and responsive. I asked t him to what he attributed his longevity. He replied that he never worried about it. Asked about his unusual name, Coello, he said he understood that it was quite common in Brazil.

I showed Mr. Hamilton an article by rifle examiner Stanton O. Berg, to whom I am indebted for some of my information about the Hamilton rifles. It appeared in the July 1965 issue of the "American Rifleman." Coello read the article slowly and carefully. "The facts in it are not bad," he said.

Hamilton lived at 311 Hamilton Averemodelled by Tom Moss, a local architect at the time.

Mr. Hamilton, obviously proud of the fine woodwork in the living room. said it was made of beech, "as hard as hickory." I remarked on the deep red Wilton carpet. It was 41 years old but looked new. Hamilton said it was recommended by Moss.

Two large blue and white plates and many photos stood on the fireplace mantel. A picture of George Washington hung on the wall. Mr. Hamilton walked over to a cabinet and produced a book which he showed to me. It was McGuffey's "Fourth Electic Read-7 er," published in 1879 by Van Antwerp 1880s. The schoolhouse he attended was an old frame building (probably the Seminary building which E.J. Penniman donated to the school district) located where Central Middle School now stands.

"The professor was C.A. Frisbee," Coello said. "He was a great disciplinarian and good for us kids. One . day a kid who had raised hob ran out of the school. He had a good start, but Frisbee chased him all the way home. He caught him under the bed and took him clear back to school.'

Coello Hamilton, co-founder of C.J. Hamilton and Son, died in Plymouth. Oct. 28, 1967, at the age of 95. He was butied in Riverside Cemetery.

As the state changed so has Eastern

Eastern has always been co-educational, and enrollment for many years has found men and women evenly balanced. This was not always so. In 1914, for instance, women out-numbered men seven to one; this led to the founding of a "Men's Union.

ENROLLMENT during this century has reflected the national condition.

World War I brought a sharp decline and the years of the Depression stunted what might have been normal growth. World War II, with its pervasive draft, caused enrollment to tumble from 1,746 in 1941 to 675 in Eastern was designated a university in 1959, and the decade that followed was one of explosive growth. Enrollment doubled in the first five years (from 5,105 in 1960 to 10,226 in 1965) and almost doubled again in the next five (up to 19,965 in 1970)

More veterans, community college transfer students and out-of-state and foreign students have contributed to the influx of students.

STUDENTS' RIGHTS have been broadened beyond the wildest dreams of those who attended Eastern only 50 years ago or even later.

They now have a considerable say in how the university is run. Hundreds, previously required to live in dormitories, now live in off-campus

In 1922, a women student, dismissed for smoking cigarettes in her Ypsilanti roominghouse, took her case to court and lost.

Today, alcoholic beverages are permitted in residence halls, and some even have arrangements for co-educational living in alternate rooms.

In the 125 years since its founding in 1849, what is now Eastern Michigan University has awarded 54,094 baccalaureate and graduate degrees and 52,225 teaching certificates. Who were these thousand of young men and

As late as 1892, Principal John M. B. Sill wrote in his annual report that "our (Michigan Normal School) pupils are largely the sons and daughters of farmers." Furthermore, they came to Ypsilanti for the sole purpose of studying to become teachers.

THE FACE of Michigan changed, however, and so did the background of Eastern's students. Most of them now come from the highly industrialized urban and suburban southeastern part of the state.

Foods inexpensive to prepare for traditional Arabic feast

· By SUE ROSIEK

Experiencing food from other countries is interesting, exciting and, of course, a taste sensation. An ambitious and curious cook might consider an international fling with the exotic and tempting recipes of the Near East. In particular, an Arabic food

Mrs. Suad Ghannam of Livonia prepares the traditional ethnic fare at least once a week. She assures even novice cooks of success in preparing the Near East delicacies, starting with a variety of canapes. sour soups. hearty entrees and lucious honeydrenched desserts.

Lamb and mutton are favorite meats for most Arabic main dishes. Eggplant, summer squash, tomato. okra and green pepper are popular vegetables.

Aromatic flavors of olive oil, saffron, garlic, mint, wild marjoram and rosemary are constantly used. Cinnamon and Syrian mix (allspice) are also used to season Arabic dishes.

DESSERTS CONSIST of dates. figs. rose petals and honey-drenched pastries filled with 'ground nuts.

The traditional round, flat Arabic bread is eaten with every course except dessert.

Tea is served in large quantities. Steaming cups of thick, sweet Turkish coffee usually accompany dessert.

One of Mrs. Ghannam's typical weekend menus might include tangy Tabooli a spicy salad of burghoul (cracked wheat) tomatoes, green onions, parsley, cucumbers, chopped mint, and a dressing made of olive oil and lemon juice.

THE MAIN course features grape leaves and summer squash, both stuffed with a mixture of rice and lamb, and freshly baked homemade SUGGESTION; Peel lemon, dice and add to tabooli in addition to lemon juice.

KUSA MAHSHI (Stuffed Squash) 15 squash (5" x 11/2")

Stuffing: 1 cup rice, uncooked and rinsed in cold water

1 tbsp. rendered butter ... 11/2 lbs. lamb shoulder, coarsely ground, salt, pepper, cinnamon and alispice to taste. Combine all ingredients and mix together loosely.

Brush lightly the outside of each squash and cut off tops. Core squash leaving a thin shell. Rinse briefly in salt water, and stuff them 34 of the

Put a layer of lamb neck or breast bones and arrange the layers in different directions to allow the juice to come between the squash so it will cook properly. Cook about one hour or until rice and squash are tender.

Cover squash with one large can of whole tomatoes, chopped.

STUFFED GRAPE LEAVES 1 qt. grapeleaves (if packed in salt water, rinse and drain. If using fresh grape leaves wash throughly and cover with hot water until they are limp. Drain and set aside).

1 pkg. lamb breast Lemon juice to taste

Use recipe for Mahshi for stuffing. To stuff the leaves: Put 1 tsp. stuffing in the center of each leaf, on the side showing the vines (rough side). Fold the wide side up over stuffing, fold each side to the middle and roll tightly to make a cylinder 3 inches long and 14 inch thick. To cook grape leaves:

Put à layer of lamb breast cut up in the bottom of a heavy 4-5 qt. saucepan. Arrange rolls close together in layers. Be sure the open end of the roll is down. Sprinkle 1/4 tsp. salt and · 1/4 lemon juice over the top and cover with water. Bring to a boil, cover, and simmer 45 minutes or more until stuffing is tender.

Serve with lamb chops, stuffed kibbi or leg of lamb.

NOTE: Tomatoes may be substituted on grapeleaves instead of

KNAFEH 2 lbs. of knafeh dough

2 lbs. of sweet cheese 1 lb. of sweet butter

Syrup (see Attar recipe) Mix dough with butter over very low fire, making sure it doesn't stick together. Grease a tray evenly using sweet butter. Divide the dough in the tray and flatten it with hands. Spread the cheese on it and cover with the remaining half of the dough.

Bake in a 350 degrees preheated oven until the surface dough becomes light brown.

Pour cold syrup on knafeh and

ATTAR (syrup)

2 cups sugar 1 cup water

1 tbsp. lemon juice Boil all ingredients until the solution becomes heavy and syrupy. BASIC DOUGH BREAD

6 cups flour, sifted

1 tbsp. salt 2 tbsp. oil

2 envelopes dried yeast 21/8 cups lukewarm water

Soften and dissolve yeast in warm water. Gradually mix flour and oil, kneading as you add the yeast and water mixture. Knead only until a smooth dough results. In case the dough is too wet, add just a little flour. Let rise in a warm place for about 11/4 hours. Punch down gently. Form into balls about the size of an orange and allow to rise about 30 minutes. Roll out with a little flour. Let settle for about 15 minutes and bake.

QAHWAY (Turkish coffee)

2 cups boiling water

5 tsp. sugar

5 tsp. turkish coffee

3 cardemom pads

Bring water to a boil. Add sugar. then add the coffee, stirring until mixture comes to a boil and is frothy; add cardemom.

Remove pot from fire. Repeat this procedure three times. Coffee will rise fast to the top of the pot. As the froth forms, spoon a little into each cup. This froth will settle at the top when coffee is poured. Serve six de-

Would it do any good to have a clean-up program, with the forever increasing pollution rate here in our neighborhood? Life spans are shortened to half. We are not allowed to mature gracefully into tantalizing, tasty

I MAVE, however, become accustorned to a new edible that comes from France but originally from western Asia. It has a very mild oniongartie scent. Tres agreable!

When I'm not feeling up to par a hot toddy of this new edible, shallots, fresh lime juice, earthy mushrooms, and sweet unsalted butter, mixed in my 10th century Paul Lamiere sterling tureen; makes me feel wonderful again; and I want to go on maturing to the end of my purpose.

Gourmets will recognize, by the helliant blue color of my skin, that I took very good care of myself. If you want to be best you need:

TROUT DEFINITION: Any of the smaller fresh water species from the Salmonidae family comprising three genera: Salmo Christivomer, 'Salmo Trutta and Salmo Gairdneri.

The most widely found trout is the Savelinus Fontinalis (brook trout). It lives only in cold running fresh water streams.

HOT TODDY TROUT BROOKSIDE 4 brook or rainbow trout

1 pound of fresh mushrooms

1 shallot chopped finely

1/4 pound sweet butter (soft if possible) Some flour and fine breadcrumbs mixed 1/2 cup of white wine from the bottle (served with the trout) 1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley

In a black skillet or saute pan, add about 1 tablespoon of vegetable oil per trout and heat. (More oil may be used depending on the size of pan used.)

Season trout with a mixture of salt and white pepper on both sides. If the fish is fresh, do not wash the sliminess off; it is part of the physical makeup and also very tasty. When you are ready to cook the fish, after it has been seasoned, dust it in the flour mixture and set it flesh down in the hot oil. It should turn golden brown within a few minutes; turn with a pancake spatula and cook the This recipe is for trout that has

Some happy notes despite the economy

The economic news may be grim for some these days, but there are still a lot of fine things happening around Plymouth.

Here's wishing Deane Baker all the luck he needs on completing the Thunderbird Inn project. The supper club was always one of the best spots for many miles around, and it was a blow to the area when it closed a couple of months ago.

Completion of the projected 200-room motel will put this area even more prominently on the business and social map.

Baker has a fine business reputation. He appears to have the kind of money and acumen to make the bankrupt project go again.

Our eastern neighbor, Livonia, landed a state Jaycees convention last year. Maybe Baker and the Thunderbird complex can bring the same kind of activity to the Plymouth community.

CHECK THE FIRST annual Christmas arts and crafts show in the Plymouth Cultural Center, not only for gifts for others but for something unusual for yourself that no one else would think to get Forty exhibitors will display their works Dec. 7-9 in a show sponsored by the city's department of parks and recreation.

CONGRATULATIONS to the Plymouth Arts Council for its recent receipt of nearly $3,000 in grants for a variety of projects. This town has always been culturally minded, and here is some state-level numerical recognition of that fact.

MUSICALLY, Plymouth will be a swinging spot

Tuesday at 8 p.m. the Plymouth Youth Symphony, conducted by Mike Endres, will present its opening concert of the season in Plymouth Salem

Next Sunday at 4 p.m., the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Wayne Dunlab, will be joined by the Kenneth Jewell Chorale to present the Christmas oratorio by Hector Berlioz, "The Childhood of Christ."

That's just like Dunlap - coming up with an unusual and challenging offering for the season. Some orchestras and choral groups do "Messiah" year after year after interminable year, and of course "Nutcracker" is always a common offer-

It's this kind of challenging programming that. puts the Plymouth Symphony a cut above the ordinary community orchestra.

Seats are unreserved, so you should get there early to get good ones. Latecomers may have to sit in that funny center section of the balcony, where you can hear just fine but you can't see the front part of the stage.

The Stroller An adage upheld

There's a quaint old saying that more they stay the same."

The Stroller couldn't help recalling it the other evening while seated in his leisure chair at home listening to a statement made on TV by Ed Cole, immediate past president of General Motors Corp., in his informative discussion with Ralph Nader, the auto industry's most severe critic.

Asked if GM was planning anything to relieve the monotony and boredom along the mass production assembly lines, the former GM boss said, "We are experimenting with the concept of group' assembly." He explained that the assembly workers would be set up in teams — and each team would build a car, instead of the long lines that have been in practice for years.

AN EXPERIMENT!

Mere mention of the word caused The Stroller to smile, for the concept of "group assembly" was used long before Ed Cole ever became the boss man at General Motors.

Years ago, long before The Stroller began travelling down the journalistic trail, he was a member of a group that assembled the now farnous Mack "Bulldog" trucks back in his home

It was shortly after World War I when jobs were scarce, and even though he was a machinist by trade. the offer to work with one of these groups was welcome.

goes, "The more things change, the days. It was our job to assemble the away if it wasn't complete. truck from the ground up. In other words, an empty frame was given to us and when we finished with it, the truck was driven off the floor. Matter of fact, this is how The Stroller learned to drive.

The important thing about this systern was the fact that the truck could not be driven away until it was passed by the discerning inspectors and woe be unto the team that had more than an occassional truck

Contrary to the effects of today's assembly line that breeds boredom, our groups inspired rivalry. It was like playing a game each day.

THERE WAS A constant race to see which group could assemble a truck that could pass inspection in the quickest time. And there was a scoreboard, similar to those in the ball parks today, to keep tabs on the races.

In expressing some doubt over the group system, Mr. Cole stated that absenteeism would wreck the plan. Well, we had absenteeism in those days, too, but there always was a "handy" man around to fill the gapand no truck frame ever stood idle.

The feature of the group plan was that each truck had to stand inspection before it ever left the floor. There was no such thing as letting a

There were six on a team in those frame slip by. It couldn't be driven

So. Mr. Cole need have no doubt about the "group" assembly. If it worked years ago, it should work

One thing is certain. If the group system were adopted there would be no more recalling of cars by the thousands to correct some fault- and oftimes a fault that could lead to a fatality on the road.

It was the same in the machine shops when The Stroller spent his days and nights in front of a motor lathe, turning out mechanical parts.

THERE WAS NO such thing as an assembly line there either. When you were given a job, it was yours to complete from the raw bar or casting to the finished product. And it had to stand inspection before it left the

There was no such thing as one fellow drilling the holes, another planing the sides, and another cutting threads. One fellow did it all and it became a matter of pride.

There is no individual pride in the assembling of an automobile today. Too many hands play a part in it.

That's why GM is planning to "experiment" with the "group" system. in the hope that boredom on the assembly lines will be replaced with

You see, the more things change, the more they are the same.

Plymouth homes get early Christmas air

BY MARGARET MILLER

Christmas can't be far away-in fact, some busy clubwomen in Plymouth will tell you that Christmas is "Coming Up the Walk."

That is the name chosen by the Plymouth branch of the Michigan division Women's National Farm and Garden Association for its Yule tour of six area homes Thursday, Dec. 12 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m.

Themes for the holiday decorations range from toys to animals, and in the homes Christmas tinsel mixes with both antique and contemporary fur-

MRS. RICHARD MALLOW, branch president and chairman of the tour, said the homes had been chosen to give a varied view of holiday decorations within a short travel distance.

"All our members have helped prepare the special effects," she added, "and all will be helping serve as hostesses for visitors."

And to add to the festive atmosphere, said Mrs. Cyril Grybas, house chairman, "We'll have baking going on all day in the houses-it smells so

Tickets may be obtained from club members or purchased at the Stitch 'n Tyme or Muriel's Doll

House shops in the Forest Place Mall in Plymouth. Mrs. Robert Schultz, 653 Leicester, and Mrs. Robert Bake, 12075 Amherst Court, are ticket chairmen. Garden club members are asking that small children not be brought on this tour.

ONE OF THE FEATURES of the walk will be a tour of the Safari Room in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Selle. "The Peaceable Kingdom" is the title of that stop.

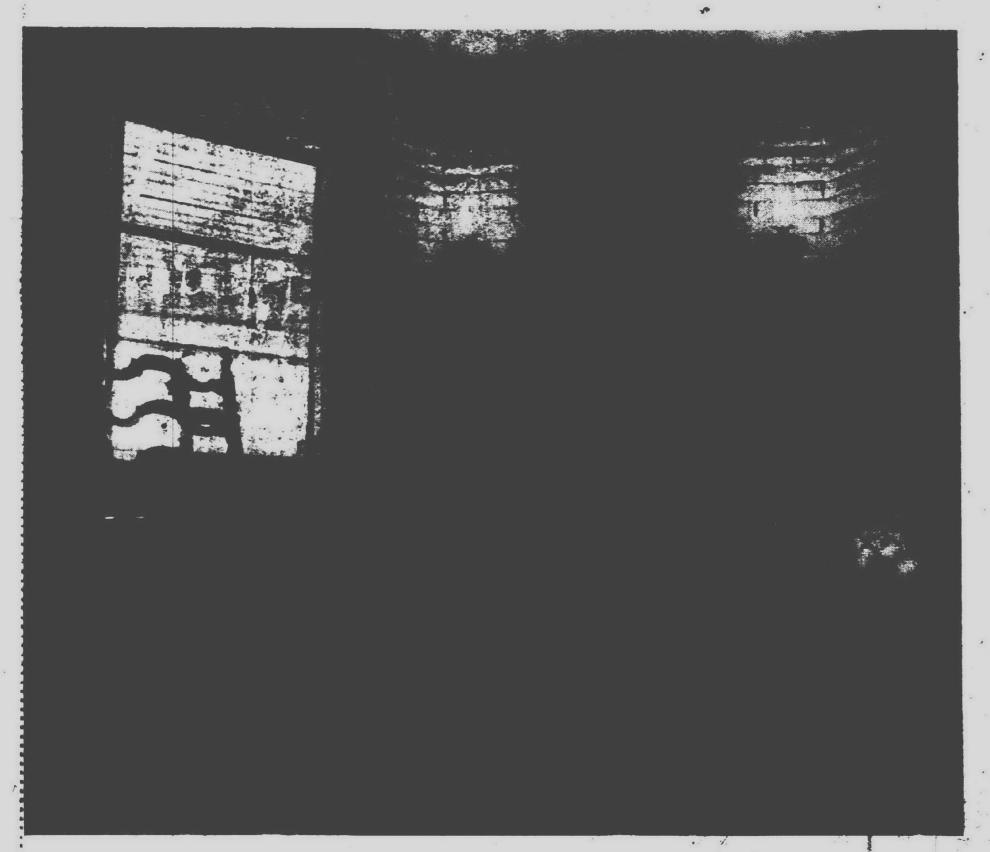

Also included will be the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Bradburn, where the decorations have a children's theme, and the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hulsing, where angels of every description carry out the Christmas theme. "The Night Before Christmas" and "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing" are the themes for these two homes.

A holiday emphasis on beautiful antiques will be shown in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Bake. The theme there is "Christmas Bells."

THE HOME of Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Chance, decorated in Williamsburg style with fresh fruit and greens, will use the theme "Deck the Halls." In the final home on the tour, the theme is "Oh. Tannenbaum." There, visitors will find contemporary furnishings and tree decorations of dried

Rosina Raymond winner of Soroptimist award

BY SHERRY KAHAN

"I was very honored," said Rosina Raymond, winner of the Women Helping Women award presented by the Soroptomist International of Livonia. "I just couldn't believe it. Basically I'm a very humble person."

Mrs. Raymond was honored for her community service. particularly her work in advancing the status of

At the award dinner, Mrs. Jessie Sanderson, first vice-president, noted the reasons Mrs. Raymond had been selected for the distinction.

As a Schoolcraft College trustee she had urged the funding and continuation of the women's continuum, which offers special programs for

SHE INSISTED that sexist termihiology be removed from college contracts, brochures and catalogs. She supported the increase of opportunities for women in faculty positions and for women students: She worked actively to elect qualified women to public office.

Since 1970 Mrs. Raymond has supported the Equal Rights Amendment. As president of the Livonia Business and Professional Women's Club, she participated in a "fly in" to Washington to lobby for the passage of this amendment.

She has urged the appointment of women to civic and municipal posts.

"I FEEL women have made a great deal of progress," said Mrs. Raymond in an interview. "But there are many things to do. Some of us who are active still get flak from people who have difficulty recognizing that women are first and foremost persons and are equal to all other persons." She added: "Women should have the option of going into any area of work that their intelligence, ability, training and aptitude takes them."

MRS. RAYMOND said she has no quarrel with women who prefer to stay home. "That's great," she said. "But those who want to expand their horizons and go to work should be treated equally. I would not trade my role of being a wife, homemaker, mother, grandmother solely to be a career person. I'm glad I've been able to combine them."

Mrs. Raymond took her first step toward public lie in 1953 when she ran for a position on the Livonia Board of Education, but lost. She still remembers she lost by 187 votes.

"I have the philosophy that you never lose, you just don't always win. When I ran for the board, I did some learning along the way. I met people with whom I built relationships and friendships."

THEN SHE RAN for Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees and lost by about 200 votes. That was in 1964. Seven years later she ran for the sixyear term and won two-to-one.

"That's what I mean when I say you don't really lose if you hang in there," she said. Mrs. Raymond gives credit for her training in leadership to her early work in the 4-H Club when she lived in a rural Wisconsin community. As a 16-year-old leader of the organization she was the youngest in the state. It gave her her first experience working with women, having been raised in a family with four brothers.

"In 4-H we had to work to win-we were in competition. But we also learned that if we lost we had to be a

"This kind of experience gives you determination when you set your sights on something you want. You just try to keep working toward it."

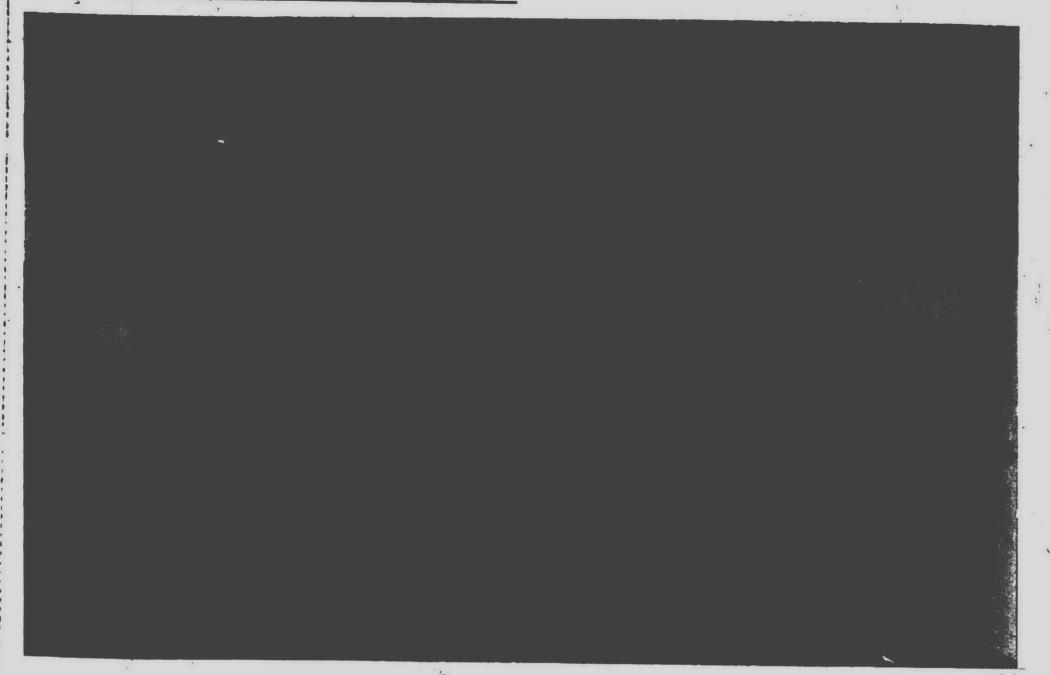

MRS. RAYMOND is by no means the only member of her family who is goal-oriented. Her husband, Jerry, has been a Livonia city councilman for nine years. Her son, Elden, ran for political office. "But he didn't wih," said Mrs. Raymond with the unspoken implication that he didn't lose either. He is now on Livonia's Zoning Board of Ap-

Clara Scharmen's memories go beyond this generation. Some member of her famify, the Tylers, has lived in the house for the past 85 years. She was born in the music room, married in the living room and her parents died in the house. Her father farmed 88 acres, about average in size at the

MRS. SCHARMEN has pity for those who movd to Plymouth Township recently thinking they were moving to the country.

You just can't hold country. If you want country, you have to buy acreage. You should find out ahead of time what's happening in the commu-

Her husband nods in agreement. "There's got to be change. When this land was farmed and they started to develop this piece, the taxes went up 600 per cent in one year. There's no alternative, but to develop.

"I don't know what else you can do," Mrs. Scharmen says, "It's ridiculous for people to come out here thinking they're moving to the country and then try to fight the development. They're unrealistic. We all hate to see it come, we love our open territory, what can we do?'

In principle, Scharmen agrees with the thinking of Canton Township Supervisor Robert Greenstein who would like to preserve some of the open farming land.

"It would be nice to have some farms," Scharmen says, "if it could be worked out so the farmer didn't have to take a loss. It wouldn't be fair either if the farmland was on the tax rolls at $500 an acre and the land around at $5,000.

Scharmen would like to see a plan worked out at the state level where farmland would have low taxes as long as it is being worked, but taxes equitable to the developed land around it would be paid when the farmer sells the land.

Mrs. Scharmen comments. "Some of the land here is very good for farming and some of the finest farmers in the area are over in Canton Town-

They also know they can't stop progress. But to get the last drop of enjoyment from a life they love, they whistle for the old hound dog, put on warm coats and walk the farmland where the roots began.

Arts council receives grants

PLYMOUTH-Expanded arts programs are in the offing for Plymouth area residents with the news that the Plymouth Community Arts Council (PCAC) has received nearly $3,000 in grants from the Michigan Council for the Arts (MCA).

According to PCAC executive director Marg Moon, the $2,775 in grants will be used to both expand art programs in the schools and provide additional art programs to the commu-

A major grant of $1,150 will be used . to develop an art rental program, in which Plymouth residents can rent art reproductions by the old masters and modern artists, and three-dimensional originals by Michigan artists.

"The project is still in the planning stages and won't begin until February," says Mrs. Moon.

THE DUNNING-HOUGH Library will handle the operation, and checking out art will be "as easy as checking out books," adds Mrs. Moon. Wednesday is slated as art rental day with residents able to enjoy art in their homes for a low rental fee. "The rental project should be selfsustaining. We hope to maintain and eventually increase it with money obtained from rental charges." A second grant of $825 will be used to replace supplies and add new materials to the visual arts program in the schools, explains Mrs. Moon.

"Funds will be utilized in three areas: a Picture Lady program in the elementary grades; art galleries in the middle schools, and library art displays at the high school level."

The Picture Lady project, is in its sixth year and offers elementary age youngsters the opportunity to see the art they are learning about.

"The program is operated on a volunteer basis," explains Mrs. Moon.

"A PCAC representative visits five classrooms once a month and explains the art. Children get a chance to ask questions and examine the prints. The pictures are left in the classrooms and rotated throughout the school until every class has seen each reproduction."

THE GALLERY program for middle school students stresses threedimensional art. It is in its sixth year of operation. Art galleries are set upin the libraries at each of Plymouth's four middle schools and art objects are rotated on a monthly basis.

"The high school art exhibits have been in operation on and off for about. two years," explains Mrs. Moon. The arts council uses displays offered by: MCA and makes them available in high school libraries.'

An $800 grant was awarded for theperforming arts program which provides a variety of music, dance and: theater productions in the schools.

"The PCAC acts primarily as abooking agency," says Mrs. Moon. "In the past performances have included groups from the Art Institute, community theater, and student productions from colleges and universities in the area."

"The project is in its fifth year and we've made a special effort to canvass the Plymouth area in search of local talent we can present to the stu-

BESIDES THE actual performances, the project encourages working with students in a workshop atmosphere, which includes a question and answer period.

The grants will be matched with PCAC funds, says Mrs. Moon, with. the exception of the performing arts: program which helps pay for itself. Students are asked to make a donation for the productions they see.

Free Pap tests set in Romulus

A free Pap test clinic open to all women will be held on Thursday and Friday. Dec. 5 and 6 in Romulus Wesleyan Church, 37300 Goddard, Ro-

Clinic hours will be 4-9 p.m. on Dec 5 and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Dec. 6. The clinic is sponsored by the Michigan Cancer Foundation and the Helping Hand Thrift Shop in Romulus with the cooperation of other community organizations and churches.

Chairperson is Mrs. Florence Klein. also head of the Romulus branch of the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

The Pap test is a reliable test for cervical cancer, one of the most prevalent cancers afflicting women. It is curable if detected early enough. It is a painless test which takes about five minutes to administer. Cervical cells are collected and microscopically examined for abnormalities in color, size and shape.

Results of the test will be sent to each woman's personal physician. Physicians recommend that every woman have a Pap test at least once a year. In some cases it should be administered two or three times a year.

Irregular bleeding or unusual vaginal discharge are among the first visible signs of cervical cancer. Such signs do not always indicate the presence of cervical cancer, but they should be reported immediately to a

The Pap test indicates signs of cervical cancer long before these visible signs are apparent. Early detection can prevent needless deaths.

Sour debut for Eagle coach

Stevenson tops Thurston 55-42

By TOM DONOGHUE Sports Editor

In what has evolved into a season opening ritual, the Spartans of Stevenson High bounced the Thurston Eagles on the hardwood court, 55-42.

The last three years have seen these two clubs battle it out in first game jitters with Stevenson winning by scores of 71-43, 76-75 in overtime, and 67-66 last season.

This time it was Stevenson again. It was first year varsity coach Bill Croteau who took the brunt of defeat for his Thurston cagers.

"We didn't execute as well as I thought we would," commented Croteau. "I'll take the blame for this loss. I really thought we were ready but we weren't. I think it was there, but it just didn't happen.

One of many scattered posters throughout the Stevenson gym read, "Gobble 'em up Spartans" and that's just about what George VanWagoner's

It was 13-10 Stevenson after one quarter, 30-20 at the half, 45-31 after

"I HATE to lose and in seven years three quarters and easy sailing the remaining eight minutes.

The shooting game told the story as Stevenson hit on 23 of 60 for 38 per cent and Thurston 15 of 49 for 31 per cent. It was Stevenson's Jim Gilland who stole the show with nine field goals and seven of eight at the free throw line for a total of 25 points.

George Herman was No. 2 man in the Spartan attack with 10 points. He hauled in 19 rebounds.

A FREE THROW by Gilland opened the scoring but Thurston jumped in front, 4-1 on buckets by Jim Fazzini and Cory Rodriguez. Stevenson's first bucket came 3:48 into the '74 season on a 15 footer by Dave Haberman. Gilland then sank two free throws. Rob Rose and Gilland con-

Salem rattles WL Central; now comes Franklin revenge

A small measure of revenge for the hosts Oak Park. defeat suffered in last season's battle for the regional basketball title will be Plymouth Salem's goal when the Rocks invade Livonia Franklin Tuesday night, having already notched a 59-41 win over Walled Lake Central in their opener.

Although it's only game No. 2 on a long, rugged road for both clubs, it's also the last tuneup for each before beginning defense of their respective league championships-Salem in the Suburban Eight and Franklin in the with frequent turnovers. Northwest Suburban.

Last winter both also went on to win their state district tournament. but when they met head-on in the regional finale it was Franklin that came out on top by 10 points on its own court-only to bow to the eventual Class A champion, Birmingham Brother Rice, in the state quarter-finals.

Both will begin league play Friday.

Hopes are high in Coach Fred Thomann's Salem camp not only of repeating as Sub 8 and district champs this winter, but also of adding the regional crown to qualify for a shot at the state crown after going 21-3 last

Against Walled Lake, although the Rocks' brand of basketball was hardly of state championship caliber, it was more than adequate to dispose of the Vikings in a ragged game, punctuated

Salem simply had too much height for the Vikings and used it to advantage by grabbing 43 rebounds to Walled Lake's 27.

Eric Agardy, 6-10 senior center, dumped in five buckets in the first period as he went on to take game scoring honors with 21 points, plus leading in rebounds with 14. Major help on the boards came from 6-8 forward Jim El-Salem at Trenton while Franklin linghausen who grabbed 13 rebounds Moore and to go with his 12 points on offense.

The two of them scored all of Plymouth's 15 points in the opening period as the Rocks went out to a 15-6

The Vikings came alive in the second stanza, cutting Salem's margin to two points at 17-15 behind the shooting of Blair Hysni, Micky Yeager and Brian Ducharme, but that was as close as they ever could get.

Dan Moore, Tim Dillon, Bill Den-Houter, Agardy and Ellinghausen picked up the tempo to give the Rocks a 27-19 edge at the half, and a 10-point spurt early in the third quarter shot Salem in front by 18 at 41-23.

Two hooks by Agardy, a pair of tipins by Ellinghausen and a driving layup by John Maloney accounted for

The Vikings narrowed the count to 46-37 midway in the fourth period, but rapid fire scoring by Brian Wolcott, ed Plymouth out to a safe 56-39 edge.

The Rocks shot only 34 per cent from the floor, popping in 22 of 64 attempts, but the visiting Vikings were even less effective, making 14 of 47 shots for 30 per cent. Hysni was their top scorer with 14 points, Paul Fink adding 10, while Moore was Salem's third man in double figures with 11.

THURSTON'S BILL CROTEAU Disappointing coaching debut

RU cagers topple Southfield, 64-60

PLYMOUTH SALEM'S

ERIC AGARDY

If Redford Union basketball coach Carl Andrews sports any superstitions at all—his 1974-75 campaign already has brought one to mind.

Entering his fourth season, Andrews has put together an overall 42-21 mark around Panther territory and that season opening clash with the Blue Jays of Southfield High has been the key.

In his first year at RU, Andrews dumped Southfield, 70-64, and his cagers went on to a 17-4 season. It was another victory over Southfield the following 1972-73 campaign, 84-58. and another 17-4 season.

Last season saw the RU Panthers fall to Southfield, 85-53, and 'stumble to an 8-13 season.

The RU cagers picked up just right where its gridders left off in victory fashion over Southfield, 64-60, and the Blue Jay omen is sure to get a real

RU TRAVELS to Livonia Stevenson tomorrow (Tuesday) before opening Suburban Eight play on Friday (Dec. 6), home against Belleville. Stevenson dumped RU last year in game No. 2, 52-47, and the Livonia crew will be coming off a triumph over Thurston,

It wasn't an easy win for RU as it had to overcome 53 turnovers. RU led after one quarter, 15-14, and 29-24 at the half. Southfield won the third quarter. 17-16, to slice it to 45-41 with eight minutes remaining and that margin held for the RU win.

Gary Kochish's six points and five by Tom Sweeney got RU off to that first quarter lead which saw a bucket by Sweeney give the Panthers a onepoint lead after eight minutes.

Free throws by Sweeney and Jack Helzer pushed RU to the front at the close of the first half. Southfield made it interesting at the finish, slicing it to 62-60 in the last minute only to have Greg Wood pop in two from the charity line to assure the win.

RU wound up 24 of 43 from the floor for a 56 shooting per cent with Sweeney collecting 17 points and

The Panthers also took the rebound contest, 44-25, Sweeney hauling in 12, Helzer eight, and Kochish seven.

SOUTHFIELD......14 24 16 19-64 Redford St. Mary batters Borgess

"We are just beating ourselves with simple mistakes," said Bishop Borgess cage coach Mike Gutz after witnessing his Spartans tumble for the second time in as many outings.

After falling to U-D High in the opener, 57-30, Borgess as least made it a contest this time around but wound up on the short end of a 48-40 score against Redford St. Mary.

"Experience is going to be our key. We just don't have it and we have to get our jitters out or it could be a long season," added the Borgess head Long seasons are what Borgess has necome accustomed to on the roundball court. Under Torn Denewith Borgess was 5-11 in the 1971-72 campaign and under Jim Brisky the Spartans compiled a 15-26 mark the past two seasons.

GUTZ HAS his work cut out with Garden City East on tap this Tuesday (Dec. 3) before hosting Royal Oak Shrine on Friday.

Redford St. Mary jumped off to an 8-2 first quarter lead and held a 9-6 margin at the end of one quarter and 24-16 lead at the half. Borgess moved into a press in the third quarter and sliced the difference to two points, took the quarter, 13-10, and trailed 34-29 heading into the last eight minutes.

But Borgess' inexperience was apparent as the Redford St. Mary club won the stanza, 14-11. Tom Clark was the lone Spartan to hit the double figure mark with 14 points while Wilbur Boyd paced the St. Mary attack with 21 points.

Wayne bounces Franklin Patriots, 64-52

Do not be alarmed, Franklin Patriot basketball fans.

An opening season loss to the Zebras of Wayne Memorial doesn't mean it could be a long season. In fact, it could be just what Coach Bob 'Visser ordered.

Franklin fell to Wayne in last year's opener, 71-65, and went forth to put together a 22-4 season and advance as

INTRODUCING ELTIGRÉ Z

Look out! Here comes the "Z". It's got all the goods that made El Tigre the dominant stock racer in '74. Plus some Sno-Pro innovations, sure to wipe 'em off the track. Like an all new aluminum skid frame. Built with racing in mind. So you can use your weight more effectively. Sit back on the track for take-offs--or up front to bite into turns. And there's all kinds of horses up front. With a super lightweight racing chassis underneath. Listen, if you think El Tigre was tough last year. Wait 'til you see the "Z"

The high esteem in which bowlers from the Detroit area have been held through the years is evidenced by the ballots now being sent to the nation's bowling writers to vote for membership in the American Bowling Congress Hall of Fame. Of the 14 candidates on the ballot, six have been members of teams in the All-Star 'Classic.

This group includes Billy Golembiewski, Tom Hennessy, Lee Jouglard, Tony Lindemann, Harry Smith and George Howard. They have seen service with either the Stroh team or the famed E & B combination when the late Lou Sielaff was the captain.

Among the others on the ballot is the late Billy Welu, of the famed St. Louis Falstaff team, who died a year ago. Billy was well known to Detroiters for his ability on the lanes and later as the "color" man on the pro bowlers TV show.

THE WRITERS, HAVE been asked to mark their ballots as soon as possible and it will be interesting to see if any of the Detroit group will make;

Of the six, Jouglard is one who should be honored with Hall of Fame membership. For years he bowled with Stroh and is the present holder of the ABC tournament singles record with a fabulous 775. In fact, he has held the record for the past quarter of Lindemann also is deserving of the honor as he captained the Stroh team for years — and set the pace in many of its major matches.

Billy G., Smith and Howard also had their day on Detroit lanes. One of the most colorful was Howard, who never weighed more than 100 pounds. He is still bowling in his native Kala-

Hennessy did some fine bowling in his native Kalamazoo.

Hennessy did some fine bowling in Detroit, but reached his peak when he left to join the star studded teams in St. Louis.

So, if you are interested, here are the four we voted for -- Jouglard, Lindemann, Howard and Welu. No one was allowed to select more than four, But don't hold it against me if the choices fail to make the coveted hall.

BOWLING HAS provided many quaint stories, but here's one that ranks with the best.

Through an oversight, Mrs. Alice Villerot, of Plymouth left her bowling ball and bag in the family car the other night. Fearful that it might get cold, her husband carried the ball and bag into the house and unzipped it.

The next night, when Mrs. Villerot reached Livonia Lanes, she reached for the bag, not knowing it was unzipped. The ball rolled out, fell on her foot, and rolled under about 10 cars in the parking lot.

Undaunted, Mrs. Villerot hastened to retrieve it. She finally got it, went to the approaches and proceeded to roll games of 145, 148 and 182, to win the jackpot and the Thanksgiving turkey. Not bad for a 138 average bowl-

MARGE KROPACEK, one of Plymouth's most dedicated bowlers, now is convinced that pressures plays a large part in the success of any

While she bowls in four leagues each week, she decided it would be a treat to organize a team and enter the Bowlerettes, one of the strongest leagues in the nation.

Under the sponsorship of Shirey's Trailer Sales, the team went well for the first two months of the season. It was right up with the leaders.

"We're down in eighth place now," Marge said this week "and I am certain it is the pressure the girls feel now that they realize they're bowling with the best.

DEE BRIGGS had a big day Tuesday in the Livonia Ladies Classic. She rolled 190-35 to tie Ellie Wilkins for the first game and went on to win the series with 537-105-642. Ellie had a 205-20-225 in the first game. In the other singles, Dot Fulton won the second with 218-33-251 and Lois Merriman won the third with 213-22-235.

REDFORD-The Detroit Red Wing Old Timers will challenge Redford Township's B&S Stars Tuesday in an old timers charity game sponsored by the Redford Jaycees.

Former Red Wing stars Jack Stewart, Bill Gadsby and Ted Lindsay, all members of the Hall of Fame, will play in the hockey game in Redford Ice Arena, 12400 Beech Daly behind the water building.

Doors to the arena will open at 7:30 p.m. and the game will begin at 8:30 p.m. Tickets, at $2 each, will be sold. at the door.

Jaycees are hoping to pack the arena to its 2,000 person capacity to raise about $3,000; for its Christmas shopping tour for needy children in Redford. Funds will also be donated to the National Institute for Burns Awareness Center in Ann Arbor.

Township Supervisor Patrick McDonald will drop the puck for the traditional opening face-off.

CHILDPROOF CONTAINERS are used by Meijer Pharmacists for prescriptions. Our containers are in full compliance with U.S. Drug Administration regulations, specifically the Poison Prevention Act of 1970, which states that are prescriptions should be packaged in special child-resistant containers.

EVEN THOUGH the container is child locked container where children cannot find

"BUT I CAN'T GET IT OPEN" Those offlicted with arthritis in the hands may find these packages hard to open. The federal government has ruled that a customer can request leasily opened packages. Customers who would prefer the conventional packages are asked to sign the back of the prescription, making a recard of the

AT MEUSE, we're interested in helping you keep a safe home, free from accidental poisoning. Follow this list for a safer home.

1. ALL MEDICATIONS should be stored out of reach. Some families use a locked tackle or record box for this purpose.

2. GET RID of old medications. Flushing them down the drain is considered one of the safest methods.

3. CLEANING AGENTS such as Iye and detergents, turpentine, gasoline, kerosene, and insecticides must be kept away from children. 4. CHECK LABELS carefully before administering the prescribed dosage and make sure it is administered by a competent person.

5. NEVER store poison in a food or beverage container.

U.P.C.

HAVE YOU NOTICED the vertical bars with varying widths on packages of gum, on cereal boxes and many other items? They come in a rectangular pattern with numbers under some of the bars.

A PRODUCT THUMBPRINT, the coded bars identify the brand and size of that particular item. Manufacturers have begun to assign code numbers on a variety of gracery products.

17'S UNIVERSAL and it's a coding of gracery products. The system is called U.P.C. or Universal Product Code.
