Communities meet to map transit plans

Residents of the Plymouth-Canton area may soon find bus service at their doorsteps that will carry them throughout western Wayne County.

The newly-formed Far Western Wayne County District Transportation Council, composed so far of representatives from the City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Canton Township, Van Buren Township, Romulus, Belleville and Sumbler Township, has proposed a bus route that will encircle the western portion of the county.

THE PROPOSED route was revealed by Wayne County Commissioner Brian Arrowsmith, who represents much of western Wayne County including the City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton Township. It will begin on Main St. in the City of Plymouth, continue down Plymouth Road to Wayne Road and stop at Westland Shopping Center.

Other stops on the proposed route include Wayne County General Hospital, downtown Wayne, Detroit Metropolitan Airport, New Boston, Sumpter Township, Van Buren Township and Belleville.

Buses will complete the circle via Belleville Road, Canton Center and Sheldon to Main St.

Arrowsmith said some representatives on the council, including those from the City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Romulus and Belleville, met Wednesday for the first time to discuss the proposed route. No action was taken at that meeting.

"Basically it's in its initial stages," Arrowsmith said. "Members at the meeting thought the route was the best way to go, but it could be change completely."

TOWNSHIP boards and city councils and commissions represented on the council will approve the final proposal, before it is submitted to the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA). Arrowsmith said. SEMTA officials said they would study the final proposal and possibly assign six buses to the route.

Arrowsmith hopes the council will submit the proposal to SEMTA during March at the latest and hopes buses will start rolling this summer.

"It wouldn't take long if you can get everyone to agree," he said. "But when you're working with this many communities, it's hard to even get everyone together."

Operating funds for such transportation packages are available from SEMTA, Arrowsmith said, but many communities are fighting for those funds.

The council could work out a plan under which governing boards of communities through which theroute passes contribute funds to cover operating expenses, Arrowsmith said. Businesses along the route could also contribute some funds.

"So far, six or 10 businesses along the route have agreed to pay $1 or $2 a month," he said. "That adds up. I think at some point there will be a massive drive to try to get some participation."

ARROWSMITH, WHO spearheaded the formation of the council, said such bus routes are desperately needed in western Wayne County for lack of public transportation systems.

Arrowsmith approached governing bodies of communities in western Wayne County with his plan. Many have already assigned representatives to the transportation council from their township boards or city councils and from citizen representatives.

Representing Plymouth Township on the council are Treasurer Joe West and resident Soren Pedersen. City Commissioner Joseph Bida and resident Joseph Krause represent the City of Plymouth, while Canton Township trustee Jim Poole represents his community. Arrowsmith said a Canton Township resident has not yet been assigned to the council.

Sales tax change may delay shoppers

PLYMOUTH—Is time more valuable than money? That is the question many area shoppers may be asking themselves at the beginning of next year.

On Jan. 1 proposition C will go into effect, and the result may be that local shoppers will have to wait in line longer and separate their taxable and non-taxable items when they shop.

Proposition C will eliminate the four per cent tax on food when it is implemented in January, and it will reduce the tax on drugs by two per cent, cutting it in half.

But grocery stores sell more than food, and items such as shaving cream or paper goods will still be subject to a full four per cent sales tax.

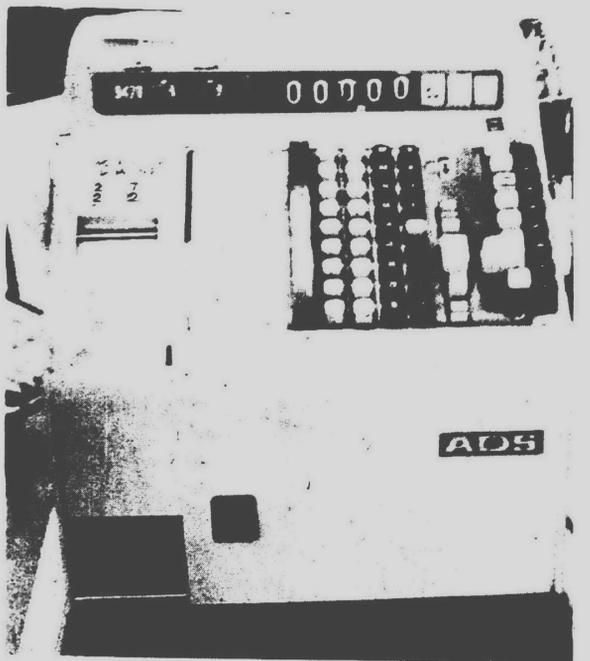

That's where the problem may begin. Taxable and non-taxable items will have to be separated, either mechanically or personally.

SOME GROCERIES and drug stores have registers that can do this. The register operator merely presses a non-taxable key and this causes the taxable items and the non-taxables to be sub-totaled separately.

Local merchants expressed their views on the change of tax procedure and most were confident. Harold Hans of Meijer's Thrifty Acres in Canton explained that his store had electronic cash registers that could separate items. "The new registers will segregate and total, but it takes a little longer because you have two sub-totals that have to be added together."

The Meijer's in Canton is equipped with new registers, and Hans is not so optimistic about stores with old mechanical registers that cannot separate taxable and non-taxable products. "I anticipate that customers will have to wait longer at those stores than our new one in Canton. We aren't going to replace the old registers at the older stores because it would be too costly."

The new registers are only slightly

ON JANUARY 1 the sales tax on food and drugs will change, but not everything in your local grocery and drug store will be affected. Many stores currently have cash registers that can separate the taxable from non-taxable items, but for some stores it will mean longer waits while items are separated by hand.

more expensive than the old mechanical kind, but their anticipated lifespan is somewhat shorter. Hans says Meijer's will replace old registers as they wear out, but until they do, consumers may have to wait a little longer.

IRV LEVINSON, senior vice president of marketing for Wrigley's, is also optimistic that the change in the food tax won't burden the shopper. "Most of our stores have selective itemization registers, but the older equipment will be somewhat of a problem."

He says that at stores with older cash registers totalling will take longer and "we will ask the customer to help. We don't look at it as a serious problem but it will depend on how cooperative the customer is."

Even owners of non-chain grocery stores are hopeful. Milton Orr, owner of Bill's Market in Plymouth, also has a register that can separate products, and he says, "It won't create too much trouble; the customer won't have to wait much longer."

PHARMACY OWNERS are not particularly worried about the wait customers may have because shoppers don't normally buy as many items at one time in a drug store as they will at a grocery. For drug stores the problem is different.

Larry Borusch, manager of Sav-On Drugs in Plymouth says, "Things shouldn't be too bad because we already have lots of other items that are non-taxable. Besides, we don't add taxes to the drugs, we just absorb the tax when the state bills us."

John Wiltse, owner of Wiltse Community Pharmacy agrees. "We haven't added taxes to prescriptions in the past. It's part of the price of the item already."

Both men, however, are concerned that the consumer will not be aware of this and will expect prices to drop. "We are worried that the consumer won't know the exact provisions of the law and will expect items that are supposed to be taxed to change," says Wiltse. He hopes the state will make an effort to inform the consumer as to what the law affects.

Similarly grocery store owners and managers are worried that shoppers won't understand what is taxable and what isn't. Both Meijer's and Wrigley's intend to post lists of taxable items, no consumers won't be surprised at the cash register.

Coffee with parents helps answer questions

PLYMOUTH—The main purpose is to establish a community link," explained principal Kent A. Buikema as he relaxed in his office at Plymouth Canton High School. "But it's not nearly as successful as I'd like to be."

Buikema referred to a principal's coffee hour and newly-established evening sessions, when parents of students enrolled in the Centennial Educational Park can discuss concerns and voice questions about high school programs.

Evening sessions are scheduled for parents who wish to regularly meet with the administration of the Centennial Educational Park, but who find it difficult to attend the coffee hours, scheduled for 9:30 a.m. on the first and third Wednesdays of each month at Plymouth Canton.

Buikema said one evening session has already been held, and another is scheduled for Monday, Jan. 13, at 8 p.m. in the Plymouth Canton cafeteria. Parents and administrative personnel will discuss English and business education programs, he said.

SOME GROUPS of parents had requested the evening sessions in order to discuss school programs on a regular basis, Buikema said.

Although a coffee hour was scheduled during the period in which Buikema was speaking, no parents were in sight. Usually attending the coffee hours, Buikema said, are two to 12 mothers and no fathers.

"I would have made myself available at this time, if parents had showed up," Buikema said. "I think it's important. I think parents being here and seeing the program in action is good. We're proud of what we're doing."

"But we know we're dealing with a lot of people, and we can't please everyone. I think it's helpful when we have eight or 10 or 12 parents show up, and parents can answer other parents' questions."

Buikema said coffee hours were established three years ago to help parents understand the Centennial Educational Park's modular scheduling, under which about a third of students' time is left unscheduled. Students can study or work at special projects during their unscheduled time.

"That's the major thrust of the program, and that's where parents get upset," he said. "The great majority of the kids are using their time, and they're using it effectively. Our program can be a bit mind-boggling to some people though."

PARENTS OF students enrolled at Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton high schools attend the coffee hours, Buikema said, as well as parents of middle school students who will attend the high schools the following year.

Buikema and Bill Brown, principal of Plymouth Salem High School, run the coffee hours.

"We encourage parents to come and talk about their concerns," Buikema explained.

"They'll come in with picky and very important stuff. But some parents say, 'I don't want my kid to see me at the school.'"

In those cases, the administration will discuss problems and concerns in the home, he said.

Fire station is on schedule

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP—Architects are bending over original blueprints of the new township fire station, planned for a site on Wilcox next to the Lakepointe Branch of Detroit Bank and Trust, despite fears that work would be temporarily halted.

Township Supervisor J.D. McLaren said a meeting Wednesday between township and bank officials eliminated fears that the proposed fire station violates a clause in the bank's deed, requiring adjacent buildings to form no obstructions to the bank's visibility.

That deed could have forced architectural firm Cummins & Barnard of Ann Arbor to alter the fire station's design and position on the site.

The architectural schedule will now continue as originally planned, said McLaren, and construction bids will open sometime next year.

Leaders guarded on future

Layoffs not severe in area auto plants

By FRED DeLANO

In Christmas week, it has to be sheer coincidence that one of the more optimistic local leaders within the layoff-plagued UAW is named Santa.

"As far as we can see, employment conditions are good for 1975," said Santa Caruso, president since 1970 of UAW Local 1313 representing hourly employes of the Burroughs Corp., which has a major plant in Plymouth. But is an irony of the times that Burroughs is related only by geography to the Detroit-based automotive industry which is leading the nation's economic plunge.

Even at that, Caruso's guarded optimism is echoed in some other sectors of the area's manufacturing community, and so far auto plants in the Livonia, Plymouth, Redford Township, Westland, Garden City sector of western Wayne County have not felt the full brunt of the nationwide employment letdown.

Layoffs here are being counted, when they occur, in the hundreds of employes, not thousands. Even General Motors' announcement last Wednesday that nearly 8,000 more employes will be idled appears to have little direct affect here.

AT FISHER BODY'S Livonia plant a management spokesman said GM's latest cutback "means little to us so far and will have minimal effect."

Statements from UAW officers reflect a mixed reaction as to how generally slipping economic conditions are hitting the membership in their locals, ranging from a bright outlook at Livonia's Cadillac plant to one of bleakness at Chevrolet Spring and Bumper.

The assumption that anything automotive has had automatic and sizable layoffs doesn't hold true, as an Observer & Eccentric survey shows. However, where there is current optimism, it often is tempered with an admission that "we don't know what will happen after the first of the year."

ROBERT LITTLE, president of UAW Local 182 at the Ford Transmission Plant in Livonia, didn't react negatively to the corporation's Thursday announcement of a total plant shutdown for the week of Jan. 6 as outsiders might have expected.

Not only had he been forewarned, but on Friday he said he anticipates the plant to be down the week of Jan. 20 also — a step management has not yet mentioned.

"If production has to be cut, I'd rather see a total brief shutdown than piecemeal layoffs," said Little. "That approach is much better for the membership in this plant, and nationwide too."

Revealing that the plant's production projection calls for reducing the output from a December average of 4,800 transmissions a day to 2,400 in January, Little said half the 4,600 UAW workers in the plant would have to be laid off if the plant were to stay open the entire month.

The union prefers that all work half the month to only half the people working all month.

Serving to muddle the transmission plant picture, however, was even later word from Ford public relations that a new change in plans will call for a work force of 3,000 the week of Jan. 6. This would mean a temporary layoff for 1,600, but there seemed uncertainty if this definitely will hold.

"We have been very fortunate until now," Little had said earlier last week. "I'm not gloomy, at least not yet, and the membership is not as apprehensive as I thought they would be."

Ten days ago, 140 workers in this plant were given permanent layoffs, and Little said 103 more are expected Jan. 3 after the holiday furlough that

Scouts to pay $5 camping fee

Boy scout and girl scout units, civic groups and other organizational groups using the Huron-Clinton Metroparks for tent camping will be charged a permit fee of $5 per group starting Jan. 1.

James J. Pompo, deputy director, said similar charges were in effect May through September this year. Camping is offered only to properly sponsored and supervised youth groups. The metroparks do not offer family camping.

The fee is payable upon application for a Metropark Group Camp Permit and must be paid before camping takes place. Payment is addressed to the metropark whose facilities are to be used.

Information on group tent camping is available through the Metropark office: Stony Creek, 430 Main Park Road, Washington; Kensington, 2200 Buno Road, Millard; Hudson Mills, 8891 N. Territorial Road, Dexter and Lower Huron, 17045 Savage Road, Belleville.

all auto workers enjoy as a provision in the contracts between the UAW and management.

Little pegged the layoff total, including the upcoming 103, as about 400 people who are considered permanent employes. "We were hurting last year because of the small car boom; now it's the general decline that's hitting us," he added.

DAVS BROWN, plant chairman of UAW Local 945 which covers hourly workers at Ford's Sheldon Road Plant in Plymouth, said, "It's not too optimistic a picture; in fact, it looks pretty bleak."

"In the last month we've had 143 placed on permanent layoff, but it was our only major layoff this year," said Brown. "For one week we've just had 500 on temporary layoff because the afternoon shift was discontinued for that week only. But they're scheduled to come back Jan. 2."

Hourly UAW employment in the Plymouth facility, which is Ford's only plant for the manufacture of heaters and air conditioners, peaked at about 1,600 in September, said Brown, and now is at 1,300.

ADAM SALLY, recording secretary of UAW Local 262 — Chevrolet Spring and Bumper — said, "The economic picture here is not favorable."

He put the number of workers laid off since Dec. 6 at "300 or better" from a total of 3,200, emphasizing: "Overtime is down to zero for production workers; just a year ago it was fantastic."

"Overall, it's bleak," he said.

FISHER BODY, where about 2,500 are employed on three shifts, has built its employe rolls back up to about 75 per cent of where they stood before layoffs last winter, said a management representative, "but no one knows what it will be after the first of the year."

Irene Manlov, acting plant chairman for UAW Local 174, avoided any pessimism by saying, "We always try to look for the bright side."

She said any recent minor layoffs have been departmentally oriented "because of material shortages, not production cutbacks." It was pointed out, too, that this is a trim fabricating plant as opposed to some body production centers in the Fisher Body system.

Then there's the other side of the coin.

CHUCK LIND, financial secretary of UAW Local 22 which includes the Cadillac plant in Livonia, says with frankness, "To us, as we stand right now, it's as good as it's ever been."

He points to the fact that Cadillac sales are up 18 per cent for this model year, in sharp contrast to the declines suffered by other makers, and expresses pride in the fact that the plant has had no permanent layoffs.

"Maybe 60 or 70 temporary employes without seniority have been laid off, and we'll be down for a model changeover in February, but that's nothing vital."

Even more to the plus side, as Lind puts it, is the fact that production workers — and there are from 350 to 400 in the Livonia plant — have been working nine hours a day Monday through Friday and eight hours on Saturdays, a 53-hour week including overtime.

Lind admits to "assuming that as of the first of the year we'll go on a 40-hour week," but he sees nothing catastrophic to Local 22's fate in that if, in fact, it does occur.

TONY ORTIZ, president of UAW Local 163, which includes hourly workers in GM's Detroit Diesel-Allison Division in Redford Township, says that plant has suffered no layoffs at all.

"We've been fortunate," says Ortiz, "for as a matter of fact things have been quite good. We're up close to 6,000 now at Detroit Diesel and even have been hiring some people who have been laid off at other plants."

Realistically, however, Ortiz then adds: "I'm not pessimistic, but as the economy is now, we've got to be affected somehow. I hope not."

CHARLEY BALOGH, editor of the internal publication of the UAW's largest unit, Local 600, gives two versions as a result of 600's multiple interests.

The local itself numbers at least 30,000 members and is centered at Ford's Rouge plant in Dearborn. However, membership also includes workers at several other scattered facilities, including Ford's Parts Distribution Center in Livonia. "There have been no layoffs to speak of in parts — the Brownstown plant even worked Saturday," said Balogh, "but the overall picture in 600 is not good. Layoffs have been coming so fast we can't keep the statistics up to date."

CARUSO, THE BURROUGHS local president who has nearly 2,500 workers under his wing at the Plymouth plant, admits, "I should be joyful. Our people have steady checks coming in and we're better off than many of those in 'the Big 3.'"

But despite Burroughs' comeback after a severe employment dip in 1970 when employes with as much as 22 years seniority were laid off, Caruso is alarmed at the economic impact being felt within the UAW as a whole.

"We don't foresee any layoffs in '75 at Burroughs," he says. If they come, he feels the local's own participation in building up a supplemental unemployment benefit fund will help tide workers over their bad times.

FROM ONE OTHER source within the area comes another report of a mixed outlook. This spokesman is Ned Storton of Plymouth, managing director of the Detroit Tooling Association which includes 170 tool and die manufacturers in the metropolitan area.

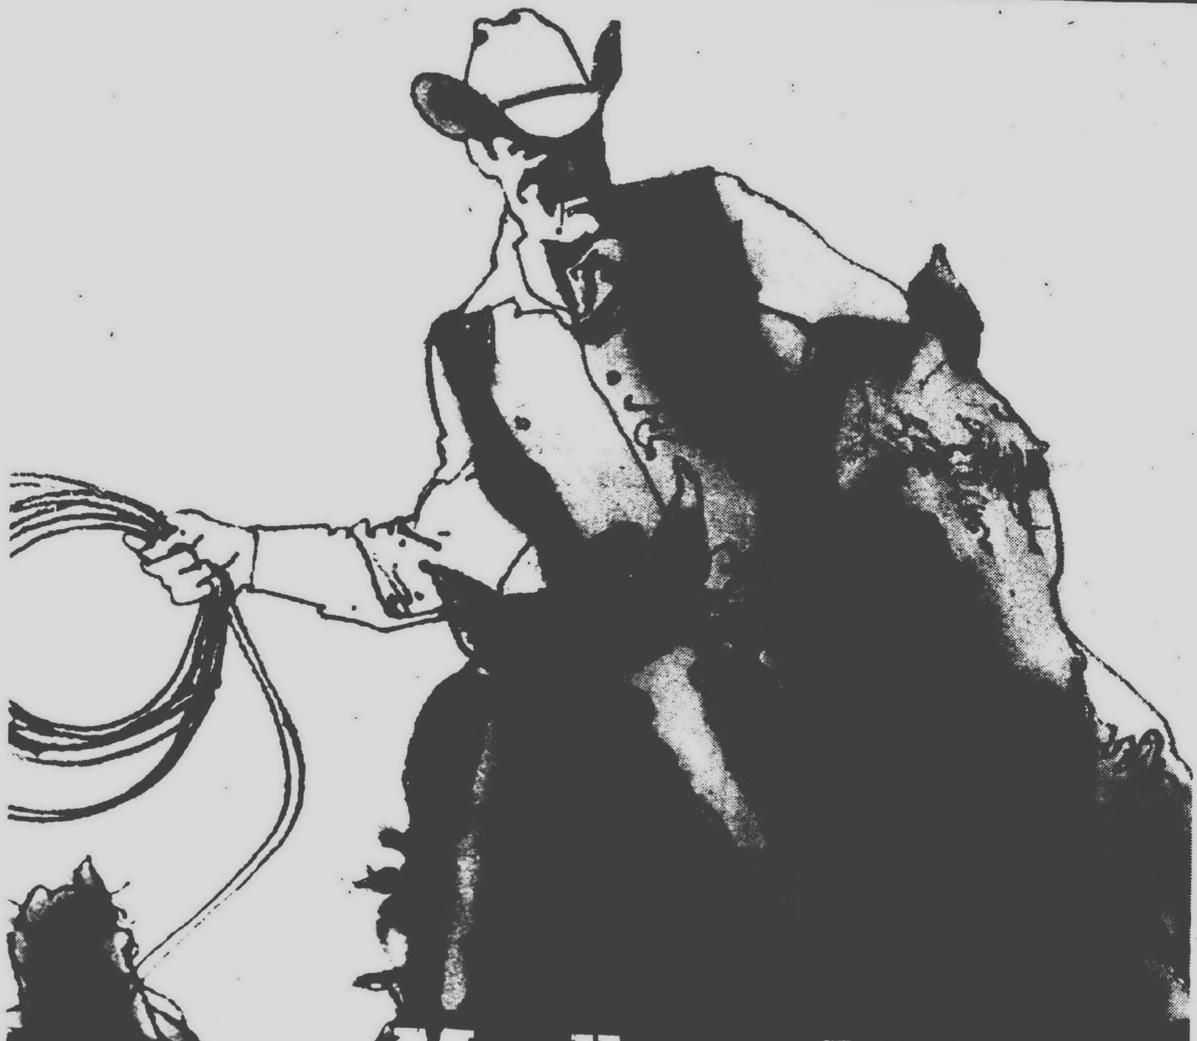

"It's a mixed bag," says Storton of employment conditions. "Some segments are not doing well, but in the main our major shrinkage came three years ago."

"In 1948 we had 14,000 UAW tool and die makers in southeastern Michigan. Now it's down to 3,000, but we've stabilized. We used to have an estimated 150 union shops, and now it's only a third of that, but the industry is competitive again."

"Sheet metal die plants are doing poorly but those making special machine tools have a year and a half to two-year backlog. They are keeping production up and are enjoying good business, but much of it is in foreign orders."

"The mid-range multiple shops, those that service government programs such as aircraft precision tools and benefit from defense spending, and any plant which blends the building of short-run orders all are doing quite well."

"But anyone who counts solely on an automotive customer for his bread and butter is hurting."

Students turn their interests into credit

By DARLENE STINSON

PLYMOUTH—One high school student bats a volleyball in an elementary school gym, while another shovels feed to barnyard animals. A third serves snacks to nursery school toddlers, as a fourth scrubs a fire truck clean.

The students are four of 300 enrolled each year in the Centennial Educational Park's community services program. The students work at police and fire stations, elementary and middle schools, nursing homes and hospitals—all for high school credit on a non-pay basis.

ROBERT THAMS, who teaches social studies and international relations in the Centennial Educational Park, calls the program, offered by the high schools' social studies departments, "credit recognition for service."

"The purpose of the program is to give kids an opportunity to get involved in the community," Thams explained, "and that's a real need. We (the high schools) operated for decades in the center of a small town. Now we're located out here in a remote area, and there's a need to reach back into the community."

The program is offered to second-semester freshmen through seniors, Thams said. Students spend five or more hours each week outside the classroom and receive one-half credit per semester for the program, offered on a semester basis. Students work at their community service stations after school, on weekends or during unscheduled time during school.

Students enroll in the program with parental permission and the advice of counselors, Thams explained.

"There are no specific requirements," he said, "but everybody doesn't work out. We watch it pretty closely. If a student finds it's not his thing, we put him somewhere else."

Thams said students enroll in the program for credit and for the community volunteer experience. Others, like those who work at the Plymouth Township and Canton Township fire stations and the Plymouth Police Department, enroll in the program to look at a prospective employment field.

"HERE THE KIDS are pursuing an interest rather than just a service," Thams said. "Here the kids are interested in public safety. A couple of kids in police work have indicated very definitely that they plan to get into police administration."

Thams calls the program, now in its fifth year, a success.

"There are now people you can point to in specific areas, who were in the program and are now continuing in the area professionally. That's valid. You know the program has to be influential."

Plymouth Canton senior Mark Heskett, who works at the Plymouth Township Fire Department, cites an interest in firefighting. "I've always been interested in fire fighting," Heskett said. "I thought the program would be a good opportunity to explore the occupation."

Plymouth Canton senior Greg Westfall also works at the Plymouth Township Fire Hall.

"My father had been a volunteer, and I kind of felt I'd like to be one too," said Westfall.

Student duties at the fire departments include answering phones and cleaning equipment. The students do not help fight fires.

SGT CARL BERRY of the Plymouth Police Department and a member of the Plymouth school board said close to half the students placed in his department are interested in law enforcement occupations.

"Some of the kids that come in are primarily interested in law enforcement," he said. "Some aren't interested in going into police work, but they want to know about it."

Students are not assigned specific duties at the police station, Berry said. Instead, they are taught aspects of police work like how to take fingerprints. A term paper about law enforcement is required each semester.

Plymouth Canton senior Tom Kinal works at Fiegel Elementary School as a teacher aide in gym classes. He watches children on the playground and plays games with pupils during class. Kinal cites interest in a teaching occupation.

"I don't know of any other program

"where I could work with these kids," he said.

Thams said about 80 of the students currently enrolled in the program work as teacher aides in the district's elementary and middle schools. Some help correct papers, others create bulletin board displays, and some help tutor the lower grade level pupils.

Lead teacher Sue Visser supervises 10 community services students in the Kiddie Kampus nursery school, housed in Plymouth Canton High School. The high school students serve snacks, bundle toddlers in coats and boots and help the 4-year-olds with craft projects.

"SOME OF THE high school students are absolutely fantastic and pitch right in," Mrs. Visser said. "We're delighted with the community service assistants. It would be difficult to run the program without them."

Other students help care for the animals and prepare for elementary school tours at the Rotary School Farm on Joy Road.

"I do have some students who are very efficient," said farm manager

Danny Sandman. "Some of the students show interest in veterinary medicine. They really enjoy the animals."

Some students perform general office duties at the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce and some of the district's schools, Thams said.

"I always thought there was room for kids too young for co-op to go out into the community with secretarial skills," he said. "These girls are too young to compete for a job, and some are two years away from co-op."

Nora Horn, a secretary at Fiegel Elementary School, praised the work of Plymouth Canton senior Julie Doran, who works in the school office.

"SOMETIMES when we're really swamped, Julie's just like a breath of fresh air," Mrs. Horn said. "We're very happy to have her. She'll do just about anything we ask her to."

Other students work with mentally retarded patients at the Plymouth Center for Human Development. Thams said, and two girls work as candy strippers at St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor. Others work as volunteer counselors and phone workers at Plymouth Youth, Inc. and Our House, two youth-oriented social agencies in the City of Plymouth.

"You just multiply the number of hours these students put in, and it's a pretty big contribution in terms of man hours," Thams said. "The fire station will operate without these kids, but you have kids involved, and that's what's vital."

"The real debt in this program goes to the supervisors at each of these stations," he said. "For every kid, somebody is spending a lot of time."

DALE J. DEVELIN

Develin retires from court work

By MAURIE WALKER

After 26 years as a Wayne County assistant prosecutor, 15 of those years working in the courts of Livonia, Redford and Plymouth, Dale J. Develin has retired.

A resident of Farmington Hills, Develin, during his long career, handled cases—5,000 pretrial examinations—in all of the Wayne County courts, with the exception of Detroit.

"I worked in Livonia for the prosecutor's office when there was just a justice of the peace court," Develin said.

"It later became a municipal court and then a district court."

A 194 GRADUATE of the University of Detroit Law School, Develin worked for a public accounting firm, spent three years with a law firm and then practiced law on his own before joining the prosecutors' office in 1948.

Proof of his popularity among judges, lawyers and police officers was displayed recently when a retirement party was held with some 300 persons attending.

A native of Michigan, Develin grew up in Bay City where he attended high school prior to coming to Detroit and enrolling in law school at U of D. His wife, Katherine, and he have four children, three boys and a girl, none of whom have followed in their father's legal footsteps.

ALTHOUGH he has handled many interesting cases, one stands out in his mind.

"There was this one case in Redford many years ago involving a young person.

"I met him in the hall of the court house and he told me I would regret this prosecution," Develin said. "I didn't pay much attention to his threat until I heard the sound of sirens outside the court house.

"When I went outside I found the fire department in the parking lot and discovered they had gathered around my car."

Develin said the entire inside of his car had been burned out. Police said someone had thrown a book of lighted matches on the front seat.

D'I had to drive the car home sitting on the springs," he said. "Sgt. Dale Johnson of the Redford Police Department, had just completed arson school and investigated the case."

HIS RETIREMENT plans include some traveling.

"I may continue in law on a limited basis, it depends on what comes along," Develin said.

New group names officers

The newly organized Michigan Ports Association has named Max M. McCray, director of the Port of Monroe, chairman of the organization.

McCray says local port and harbor authorities need help from the state if they are to develop in pace with Michigan's efforts at total transportation.

Representatives of commercial ports from all Michigan shoreline areas met in Lansing recently to appoint officers and organize the state's first association for the development and promotion of lake ports.

Other officers are John W. Claire, Ludington city attorney, vice-chairman; and Joseph V. Cook, manager of the Port Authority Section in the Bureau of Transportation Planning, Department of State Highways and Transportation, secretary.

Ford, Griffiths nix Rockefeller

U.S. Rep. Marvin Esch (R-Ann Arbor) was the only area congressman to support the confirmation of Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller Thursday.

U.S. Reps. William Ford (D-Taylor) and Martha Griffiths (D-Detroit) opposed the former New York Governor's appointment along with 126 others in the House.

Rockefeller was sworn into office Thursday evening after the House voted 287-128 and the Senate, 90-7. Both Senators Philip Hart and Robert Griffin backed the nomination.

IN OTHER congressional action this week, Esch, whose district includes Livonia and Plymouth, and Ford, whose district includes Westland, Garden City and Canton Township, both backed the $5.5 billion job bill, which they had co-sponsored. Griffiths, whose district includes Redford Township, was absent from the vote.

The House approved the measure, which will provide 330,000 public service jobs nationally and $80 million for Michigan jobs, by a 224-136 vote. The Senate approved the bill on a voice vote.

All three area congressmen initially opposed the so-called Holt amendment which would have barred any of $4.4 billion in education funds from being used for preliminary activities before the government can order school busing to achieve integration.

ON DEC. 16 Esch and Ford voted along with the majority (including the Holt amendment's sponsor, Rep. Majorie S. Holt (R-Md.)) to agree with the Senate nullifying the affect of the amendment by adding "except as may be necessary to enforce non-discriminatory civil rights provisions of federal law."

Griffiths voted along with the minority and the Senate version was passed 224-136.

Commenting on the Holt amendment Friday in Washington, Esch said: "There were no hearings on the Holt amendment and thus no opportunity for in-depth analysis of its implications. For the Congress to approve such a far-reaching provision in an informational vacuum would have been highly irresponsible. Also, the members realized the amendment went far beyond the idea of stopping busing. It would have been completely detrimental to any civil rights actions."

THE PROFESSIONAL SKILL of our staff members is exceeded only by their understanding and compassion for those they serve.

Schoolcraft officials named to police boards

Two Schoolcraft College administrators have been appointed to boards on the Southeast Michigan Police Reserve Training Council (SMPRTC), according to Capt. Albert Steward of the Redford Township Police Reserve, SMPRTC executive director.

E. Frederick Petersen, Schoolcraft's manager of business services, will serve on the seven-member SMPRTC board of directors, which is responsible for administering the council's training program.

Clay M. Fechter, the college's director of public and human services, has been named to the SMPRTC advisory board. Composed of area police chiefs and other police professionals, the 10-member board advises the directors on training programs.

Created to provide basic training for police reserve and auxiliary officers, the council graduated 250 officers from 31 different police departments in 1974. Officers spend 100 class hours over a period of 30 weeks completing the police reserve training seminar.

Beginning Feb. 6, the council will conduct the seminar at Schoolcraft in cooperation with the college's community services program. Seminar subjects will be similar to those given regular officers attending area police academies. Many of the same instructors will lead the seminar sessions.

Upon satisfactory completion of a minimum number of hours attendance and after successfully passing a written examination, graduates will be awarded both a SMPRTC and Schoolcraft College certificate.

State house clears up business before holiday

Approved unanimously was a substitute version of a senate bill establishing a state solid waste authority which would recover and recycle metals, glass, paper and other materials for energy production.

The Department of Natural Resources would be given the responsibility of developing a solid waste plan within three years, with the continuing advice of a new 11-member state resources recovery commission.

Any waste project approved by the department could not duplicate or displace facilities already in existence or under construction. The facilities could be built or operated in conjunction with municipalities, the object being encouragement of regional waste facilities.

The department would also provide guidelines for disposal of non-recyclable materials.

ALSO APPROVED was a compromise version of a bill reducing the residency period for divorce filings from one year to 180 days. The compromise dropped a house amendment that would have reduced the residency requirement to 90 days.

Passed and sent to the senate were two bills which reduce the terms of jury service in circuit, probate and district courts in Macomb and Oakland counties and circuit, probate, common pleas and recorder's court in Wayne County.

In all but recorder's court, the term of jury service would be cut to three weeks. Presently it can run to as much as three months. Jury terms in recorder's court would be reduced from the present four weeks to two weeks.

The bills are limited to the three most populous counties because of their unusually heavy caseloads. A three-month jury term, much of it consumed in active jury duty, can be a hardship and many persons are unwilling or unable to serve.

The shorter terms hopefully will mean that more persons would be willing to serve and fewer would attempt to avoid jury duty. The result would be a jury that is a better cross-section of the community.

THE HOUSE easily passed two senate bills which remove statutory prohibitions against a merger of Blue Cross and Blue Shield, the state's two largest health care insurers.

SC financial study to determine tax need

By DENNY COFFMAN

The Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees has initiated a comprehensive financial study to be used as a basis for determining whether to ask district voters for additional millage levies in upcoming elections.

The study, to be undertaken by the college's administration, will consider such characteristics of the college district as age and employment status of students, average income, present millage levy, planned construction and educational level.

The study will detail the types of services offered at the college, staffing patterns and sources of college finances.

PERHAPS the most significant part of the study is an analysis of college finances from tuition, state aid, Federal aid, local taxation and other sources.

The study will be used by the administration to formulate a "Five Year Plan" as a guide to future construction and staffing requirements, and millage levies.

A basic outline of the study, which will be completed by the end of January, was presented to the trustees at a study session Dec. 18.

"THE STUDY should provide us with a revenue picture on Jan. 8," said C. Nelson Grote, Schoolcraft College president.

Schoolcraft College currently has a tax rate of 1.985 mills. 1.77 goes for operating expenses and .225 goes toward debt retirement.

Local property taxes account for 30 per cent of the budget, tuition, 30 per cent and state appropriations, 40 per cent.

At THE board's regular meeting directly following the study session, the prospects for asking voters for additional millage were considered.

An "election survey" conducted by the board to determine whether local districts will be asking their voters for additional millage showed only that the local districts were still more or less undecided at this time.

Plymouth and Livonia are undecided, while Garden City and Northville indicate that they will not seek additional millage.

"We can either piggy-back on these local elections," said Grote, "or hold a special election of our own."

Grote's staff said that a special election would cost $30,000.

"CAN WE squeak through on two mills?" asked Trustee Rosina Raymond.

"By the end of January, we should have a better idea of the amount of state support we will receive," said Grote, "inferring that state aid would be a factor in determining any millage levy."

"We might have to swallow our pride," said Trustee Arch Vallier. "The timing is wrong, with the present economic situation and we have no time to develop and present a program to the people."

"There is no chance, and it is naive to think we can have a millage election in the spring," concluded Vallier.

TRUSTEE Leroy Bennett concurred with Vallier, and Trustee Nancy Blatt urged that the board wait before making a decision on the election.

Vallier urged that voters be presented with only one millage proposal, rather than presenting the college's along with those of local school districts.

The board decided to wait until the financial study is complete before considering millage.

Because a "lead time" of 75 days is required for a millage election, the board must come to a decision within the next two months, in order to present the matter to voters in the June election.

Man or woman — test is same

The Wayne County Sheriff's department has combined two previous job classifications, patrolman and policewoman, into a single class of police officer. Applicants, regardless of sex, will take the same qualifying examination and receive the same starting salary of $10,716 with increases up to $14,236 over a four-year period.

Salaries have been the same, but the change of classification was made to better assure equal employment opportunities for women and to eliminate separate induction examinations that in the past have segregated applicants by sex, Civil Service Commissioners' said.

Consolidation of the two classes followed a complaint filed with the state department of Civil Rights (DCR) and a subsequent agreement among the Civil Service Commission, the Sheriff's Department and the DCR with approval of the County Labor Relations Board.

The change was implemented by resolution of the Civil Service Commission.

Ma Bell predicts record

Michigan Bell's local manager, Haze Wilson, predicts Michigan residents will make a record 12 million long-distance phone calls this Christmas.

Christmas is the busiest holiday of the year for the telephone company and this year's calling volume is expected to increase about 10 1/2 per cent.

Some 2,600 Michigan Bell operators will be at work on Christmas day helping customers with their calls. About 100,000 long-distance calls are expected to be handled by operators, with the remainder dialed directly by customers.

Across the country, the telephone industry opens up normally unused circuits and rearranges circuits usually used for heavy business day calling to make the maximum number of transmission paths available for Christmas calls.

Despite this re-routing of calls, customers are likely to encounter busy circuits during the heaviest calling periods.

Wilson has a few tips on how telephone customers can save money and help speed their calls:

- For the lowest possible rates, dial direct.
- You can avoid the Christmas call rush by phoning relatives or friends earlier in the week.
- If you don't have the telephone number you need in a distant city, call directory assistance before the holiday rush and write it down.
- On Christmas day, calls before 8 a.m. and 1-5 p.m. in the time zone of the people you are calling have a better chance of going right through without encountering busy circuits.

Students tackle mini courses

By MATT GERSON

REDFORD—For 10 days in January, the 1,700 students of Bishop Borgess High School in Redford Township will suspend their classes-as-usual and enter into the world of hobbies and favorite subjects they've always wanted to explore.

The program of mini-courses, was first tried last January, reports Miss Dolores Kaezmarczyk, director of guidance. She says several parochial schools around the area had been experimenting with it previously. The idea is to involve students in activities and allow them to meet people that relate to interest areas not usually addressed in traditional school curriculum.

In October of 1973 students were given questionnaires to fill out indicating classes they would like to see offered during the first program, from a wide list of possible choices that instructors had shown interest in teaching.

A LONG LIST of classes was drawn up from the survey results and teachers then made up course descriptions, time schedules and fee lists.

The result of the first mini-course program was "90-95 per cent successful," reports Miss Kaezmarczyk. The most popular activities were sports such as skating, bowling, paddleball and judo. Following close behind were a series of field trips of varying lengths to places such as the Laurentian Mountains near Montreal for skiers, the Cadillac plant in Detroit; "metro" tours to Eastern Michigan University, the Ford Motor Co. River Rouge plant and the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Tours of official city buildings in Detroit and the arts and crafts courses offered were very popular with students.

Thirty-eight class hours were organized during the 10-day period of the first program. Students were allowed to take any combination of classes.

Miss Kaezmarczyk notes that less than 50 of the students in the high school, grades nine through 12, chose not to participate in the program.

THIS YEAR'S program will include 40 to 50 more classes bringing the total near 100. Among the additions in the field trip areas will be treks to Mexico for a week, overnights to the Chicago Science Museum and the Toronto Science Center, and trips to Disneyworld and New York City.

Teachers who offer a particular class are responsible for raising fees for speakers, trip fees, or class materials, as well as other arrangements for the courses, Miss Kaezmarczyk explains.

Viewing the success of last year's program, the guidance director says she is pleased with the relative lack of problems. Although there were some problems with speakers not showing up and buses arriving late for trips, these were in "only two to five per cent of the classes."

THE MAJOR success she found, as a result of feedback from students, teachers, and parents, is "the value of a new relationship of teachers and students based on informality" achieved during the classes.

She says student interest in the program ran high enough so that a number of them volunteered to organize and teach their own courses in a variety of areas this year.

These included cake decorating, dried flower arranging, and a course on the scientific basis of fact and reality in "Star Trek" episodes, taught by a student who "has seen nearly every program since its beginning," Miss Kaezmarczyk says.

She notes one reason the program was possible is that there aren't provisions in teacher contracts in parochial schools preventing them from putting in the extra hours involved in planning and organizing these mini-courses.

She also was pleased at the number of outside observers who came to watch the program last year. These included representatives from other parochial schools, television and newspaper reporters.

The counselor says she is confident there will be even greater success for the next program in January

For continuing eligibility, a beneficiary must be actively seeking work, and must be registered with the Michigan Employment Security Commission. No beneficiary who shall refuse any reasonable bona fide offer of employment shall receive any benefits after such refusal.

1.251. Rules and Procedures. Rules and procedures including any necessary forms may be established by the Unemployment Compensation Board to administer the Unemployment Compensation System. The City Attorney or his designee may bring suit in the name of the City of Plymouth to recover any monies paid upon a fraudulent or untrue application or claim.

1.252. Determinations. The Secretary or his designee shall promptly make a determination after an application for benefits is filed whether the claimant is a covered individual eligible and qualified to draw benefits based upon the available information. The issuance of each benefit check shall be considered a determination that the claimant receiving the check was a covered individual eligible and qualified for benefits. Where a claimant refuses work or fails to apply for work or in any other way is or becomes disqualified or ineligible for benefits, the Secretary or his designee shall promptly make a written determination of such disqualification or ineligibility and shall send the claimant notice thereof.

1.253. Redeterminations. Upon the written request of any claimant within 15 days following any determination or decision respecting qualification, eligibility or rate of benefits, the Secretary or his designee shall promptly review the prior determination and, if necessary, may order a hearing thereon. Upon review with or without hearing, the Secretary or his designee shall issue a redetermination affirming, modifying or reversing the prior determination and stating the reasons therefor. Such redetermination shall be final unless an appeal is filed as provided in Section 1.254. (below).

1.254. Appeals. It shall be the duty of the Personnel Service Appeal Board to review redeterminations and decisions of the Secretary pertaining to this Unemployment Compensation System provided that a claim of appeal is filed within 15 days of such decision or redetermination. The time to file a claim of appeal shall not begin until an employee has been notified in writing of his right to appeal.

1.255. Appeal Board Powers and Duties. The appeal board may on its own motion affirm, modify, set aside or reverse any decision or order on the basis of the evidence previously submitted in such case, or direct the taking of additional evidence, or may permit any of the parties to such decision or order to initiate further appeals before it. The appeal board shall promptly notify parties of its findings and decisions and its reasons therefor but may omit the giving of any reasons if the previous order, decision or determination is affirmed without any alteration or modification.

1.256. Procedure, Reports, Record of Proceedings on Appeal, Transcripts of Testimony. The manner in which appeals to the appeal board shall be presented, the reports thereon required from the interested party or parties, and the procedure governing such appeals shall be in accordance with rules prescribed by the appeal board. A full and complete record shall be kept of all proceedings in connection with an appeal. Clerical service as is needed shall be provided by the Secretary to the appeal board.

1.257. Extension of Time. Whenever the last day of the period to apply for redetermination or to appeal any decision, determination or redetermination, falls on a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday, such period shall run until the end of the next day which is not a Saturday, Sunday or holiday.

1.258. Finances. Financing shall be accomplished through the Unemployment Compensation System Fund, herewith established to account for related revenue and expenditures, including payment of unemployment benefits. The City Manager shall recommend to the City Commission annual appropriations to be made for this activity, provided that no appropriations will be required after a fund balance of $10,000 has been accumulated in the Unemployment Compensation System Fund.

1.259. False Statements. No person shall, with intent to deceive, make any false or untrue statements or reports. In lieu of criminal action based on any false or untrue statements or reports, the Secretary may recommend disciplinary or other action to the City Manager.

1.260. Catchline Headings. The catchline headings of the sections of this ordinance shall in no way be considered to be a part of the respective sections or of this ordinance but are inserted herein for purposes of convenience.

1.261. Severability. Each section, and every part of each section, is hereby declared to be independent sections and parts of sections, and holding of any section or part of section to be void and ineffective for any cause, shall not be deemed to affect any other section or part of section.

Section 2. This ordinance shall be declared an emergency ordinance and become operative and effective on the 31st day of December, 1974.

WPA performed many useful tasks

City Manager L. P. Cookingham's annual report for 1932-33 expressed a sentiment at odds with the belief held in some quarters that those on welfare preferred handouts to work. The work-wage plan in Plymouth, he wrote, "met with the approval of the recipients as, in most cases, the men wanted work and not direct relief."

The work done by these men, he adds, "was of considerable benefit to the Department of Public Works and to the cemetery."

During 1932-33, the number of men employed on the work-wage plan of relief ranged from 20 to 80, depending on the month. In the 1934-35 fiscal year the figures ranged from 40 to 83. Those who were not employable received direct relief.

THE PROJECTS undertaken during the work-wage plan, and under the WPA program which succeeded it in 1935, included lowering driveways originally built above the lot line at Riverside Cemetery, building a cobblestone wall in Central Park near the high school, cleaning and widening Tonquish Creek.

Relief labor was used to remove the old Detroit United Railway trolley line rails on Main Street. Welfare workers also moved a 15-ton boulder from the Northville Road grade separation to Kellogg Park. The boulder, sometimes called "Plymouth Rock," was placed on a concrete base, and panels were carved in it to receive bronze tablets on two sides. The VFW and the Ex-servicemen's Club of Plymouth placed the tablets and dedicated the stone on Memorial Day in 1935. Later the stone was moved from the middle of the park to its present location, in the small segment of the park in front of Jack Wilcox's house.

THE WORKS Progress Administration (WPA) program established by the federal government in 1935 was designed to give jobs to laborers, skilled craftsmen, and white-collar workers, including artists and writers. During the 1938-39 period, eight of the 10 people on the staff of the Plymouth recreation program were employed by the WPA.

The WPA program was condemned and praised. Some said WPA labor was inefficient and lazy, and that WPA projects cost the taxpayer more than they were worth. Others lauded the human benefits of the program. When WPA activities were cut back, in the early 1940s, they were apparently missed by local officials responsible for providing a variety of municipal services on a limited budget. In his 1941 report, City Manager C. H. Elliott commented wistfully on the reduction of the WPA program, and added that "it is doubtful whether or not curbs and gutters will be completed."

THE BANKING crisis which occurred early in 1933 was another item of concern for city commissioners amidst the depths of the depression. "During the bank difficulties in March, 1933," Cookingham reported, "the city had on deposit approximately $36,000 in the local banks and because of the fact that proper protection had been provided every dollar of this amount was made available to the city."

Tax delinquencies piled up during the depression years. In 1927, before the depression struck, Plymouth tax collections were 95 per cent of the total owed. By 1933 they had dropped to 71 per cent. "It will be seen that the past four years have been the most trying in the history of the City of Plymouth," wrote Cookingham.

During the depression, the State of Michigan acquired 322 parcels of Plymouth property which reverted to the state because of non-payment of taxes. In 1940, when the state offered these parcels to the highest bidder, many lots were redeemed by former owners, but the city of Plymouth acquired several lots for street extensions, parks and playgrounds.

RECOVERY WAS a slow process. By 1935, however, Cookingham noted an upward trend in economic conditions in the city. There was, he reported, an increase in the number of water subscribers, in registered voters, and in building permits issued. There was a reduction in tax delinquencies and in the welfare case load. The city manager added a note of optimism. "This city," he wrote, "will be one of the first in the area to meet with complete recovery."

At the close of the 1936-37 year, C. H. Elliott, who took over from Cookingham, was able to report that no employable person was on the city's welfare roll. By 1942, the depression, while never forgotten, was a thing of the past. Plymouth was now faced, however, with a challenge of another sort. On the morning of Sunday, Dec. 7, 1941, the Japanese naval and air forces made a sneak attack on the U. S. fleet at the Pearl Harbor naval base in Hawaii and America was involved in World War II.

In his letter to the city commissioners on Sept. 2, 1942, Elliott observed that "the greatest change that has occurred in the municipality in the past year has been a change from civilian activities to municipality war activities. Much emphasis was placed upon local defense."

As Frank Ward O'Malley said, life is just one damned thing after another.

Top-prize brisket low cost, delicious

By ETHEL SIMMONS

When Howard Camden of West Bloomfield read about a beef contest in a cattleman's magazine, he thought to himself, "That's for me."

The contest called for cooking a low-cut cut of beef—either a fore-shank, brisket or chuck—Camden has been using his own brisket recipe with delicious results for 15 years.

Last year Camden was one of 10 national finalists in the Detroit Edition King of the Patio contest for his chicken with cherry sauce. So participating in a cook-off was nothing new to him.

Repeating his success story, Camden was one of 15 finalists in the beef contest and went to the nationals.

THIS TIME, he cooked his way to first prize in the National Beef Cook-Off, sponsored by the American National CowBelles, Inc.

The CowBelles is the auxiliary of the 15,000-member American National Cattlemen's Association.

Camden's only tense moment in the contest, he recalls, was at the end of the four-hour cooking time limit. His roast "wasn't quite done." The problem was Denver's altitude at 5,400 feet.

But three other contestants had the same trouble. And even though Camden's roast "needed another half hour," it was still judged best in the land.

"MY MOTHER used to make brisket of beef," Camden says. "It was one of her favorite cuts. Her seasoning tastes are less than mine, although mine are subtle. I complement the taste of the meat with a vegetable taste."

He explains that he has cut down on garlic and bay leaf. "They're strong, and I found they were dominating the flavor of the meat."

Camden says brisket is "basically a Jewish cut of meat. It comes from the front of the cow. Unless you ask for them specifically, the average butcher cuts them up into stew meat, cube steak or hamburger."

At the cook-off, he served his brisket with tomatoes cut zig-zag, on three sides, along with parsley, vegetables at one end, and all on a wooden tray.

IN PREPARING the roast, he stresses, "If you don't like green pepper or garlic you don't have to put them in. You can use asparagus and squash if you want to substitute different vegetables. This dish has great flexibility."

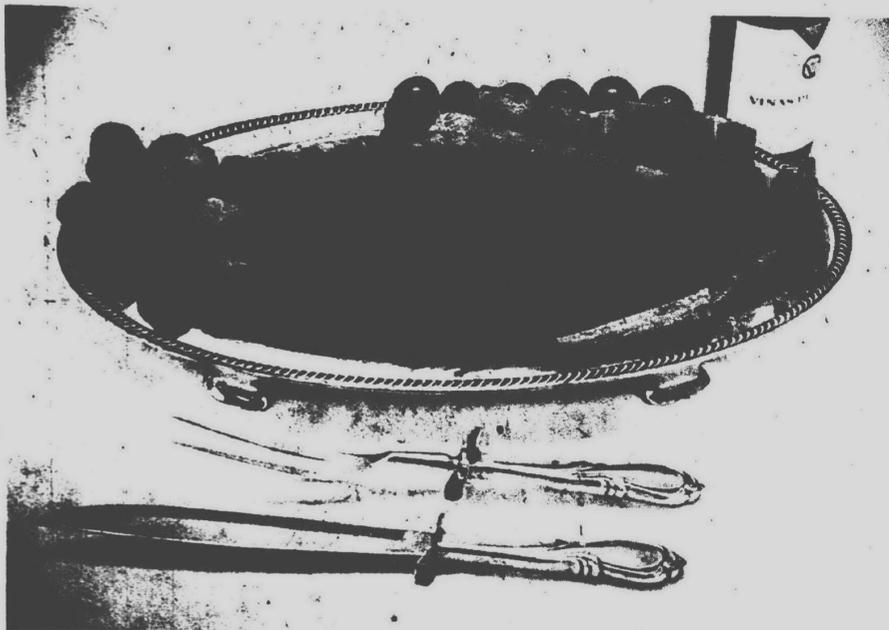

An insurance agent in Farmington Hills, Camden is president of Advanced Underwriters Insurance Agency. He has a degree in agriculture and also "has a cow and calf operation."

With his $500 prize money from the CowBelles, Camden bought gifts for his parents, his wife and children (two boys, 7 and 4).

"With the money left I bought cowboy boots for myself," he adds.

At home, Camden's wife generally makes the family's brisket.

"My wife makes it as good, if not better, but she's got to give me credit for teaching her."

Howard Camden's prize-winning Roast Style Brisket of Beef

Roast Style Brisket of Beef

1-5 to 6 lb. beef brisket
3 lb. cooking oil
2 cups chopped onion
4 stalks celery including leaves chopped up

1/2 tsp. fresh milled pepper salt
2 tb. fresh dill leaves or 1 tsp. dried dill leaves
2 bay leaves, split length wise
2 cups favorite red wine or grape juice or water
2 tb. vinegar

Brown meat in roasting pan or Dutch oven on both sides. Cook up onions, celery and green peppers so that they are well wilted.

Fat side up, sprinkle the meat with the paprika, garlic, beef bouillon, dill and place the bay leaves around the meat.

Then take half the fried mixture and place on bottom of roast and the other half on top. Put in a Dutch oven or roasting pan, add wine and vinegar. Put in a 325-degree oven and cook for three hours. Add more liquid if necessary.

When the roast has been cooking for three hours and appears almost done, add the carrots, parsnips and potatoes around the meat in the liquid and cook for approximately 30 minutes.

Taste the roast and adjust the salt and seasoning. Wait 15 minutes before slicing. Slice the meat across the grain, garnish with parsley, tomatoes and serve with the vegetables.

"If you don't like green pepper or garlic you don't have to put them in... This dish has great flexibility!"

--Howard Camden

2 rounded tsp. beef bouillon, crumbled type or 2 cubes crumbled
1 green pepper cut into strips
2 cloves of garlic or 1/2 tsp. garlic powder
1 tsp. paprika

2 1-lb. cans of small whole potatoes or 2 lbs. fresh medium potatoes quartered
4 carrots cut lengthwise
2 parsnips cut in half
1/2 bunch parsley

Paris student days, onion soup at dawn

Ernest Hemingway wrote fondly of his years spent in the Latin Quarter, an area in Paris where life is lived truly for the sake of happiness, however depressing and hard pressed the changing times would prove to be.

The interesting luncheons at Chez Stein were, said Hemingway, "unforgettable." Fresh Salmon Poche en Belevieu with green mayonnaise was a specialty of Alice B. Toklas that would often be a part of the table spread for their celebrated friends of the arts.

Chances are, if you were in this city of sculptured sandstone in the mid-1920s when gleaming ebony gates adorned the classical french windows all in a row as far as you could see and a rainbow of canopies and umbrellas shadowed the rays of a rare December's day of sunshine, you could have very easily found Fitzgerald, Maugham and Hemingway in a sidewalk cafe on St. Germain de Pre seriously sipping the stimulating eau de vie while the people bloomed about their city centered with fountains and monuments, that was Paris.

IT HAD BEEN drizzling for a fortnight on a wintery eve near Christmas, when all the tourists had gone home and Paris belonged to the Parisians, that some of my American friends, who were studying at the Sorbonne, gave a party for their collection of midnight amours.

Their talk was delicious, their wit divine. I remembered seeing a few of them at the student locals while quenching my thirst with a panache (one-half beer and one-half uncola soda).

Cheap wine from Spain was served and it was well consumed, especially since it was free. I had met several Americans throughout my mission that wanted the big tour of the intimidating French dutchess (Paris) and, of course, at that time I thought of myself as being tres French and used words that I had just learned that day how to pronounce.

IT DID, HOWEVER, impress my countrymen Breakfast, lunch, dinner and cabaret were included in the tour and it didn't cost me a franc. They were welcome times to a poor hungry student who would never have been able to afford dining in the great restaurants where the master chefs cook only for the rich, like in any flourishing city.

When good friends gather, drink and exchange newly formed philosophies, the night moves quickly into dawn.

With the metro closing at 2 p.m. it meant that all of us stayed up until dawn when the metro would start its timely run once again. Then—on to Les Halles we went.

WHEN PARIS pales into a slumber around 1 a.m. the marketplace becomes alive with wine, women and wondrous fruits, vegetables, meats and the echoing chant of French farmers bellowing through the great halls, soon to be leveled, probably for a high rise.

The most famous restaurant of all was packed (the foot of the pig) where onion soup gratinee Les Halles was born, so we settled for peasant best. At least time our international table of friends consisted of steaming moules mariner, croque monsieur and beer.

The reigning monarch soon followed with its bountiful amber crock filled to the brim with a broth of onion beef and chicken simmered for hours until it became hearty and masculine, then laced with a good dry sherry to open the bouquet into a harmonious marriage of aromatic goodness. And a crown of Swiss gruyere and fresh parmesan crusted to a soft golden hue.

YOU CAN'T GO back to the days when hearts were full of pain for the memories of yesterday. You can't go back to the days of good times and expect to relieve them as the present.

You can't go back to the lonesome nights at the "self-service" where food was just a means of survival. You can't go back to the memory of your first foreign affair and the sleepless nights of loneliness.

It was a good time—and if anyone were lucky enough to have spent a year of their life studying at the Bibliothèque Française, walking aside the Bouquinistes on a tangerine sun-bleached day with golden chestnut leaves floating in a soft autumn air to their fall on the cobblestones below, or just staying up all night in a cabaret sipping the ripened blood of France and having a good time it was truly "A Moveable Feast."

ONION SOUP GRATINEE LES HALLES

For a pot of soup take:
1 1/2 or 2 large onions peeled, cut in quarters then sliced thinly
1/4 lb. butter or margarine
1 No. 305 can of chicken broth or your own
2 tbsp. beef base and all your beef drippings or veal jelly
1/2 lb. sliced gruyere or Swiss cheese (Emmental)
1/2 finely ground fresh parmesan cheese
1 clove
Pressed fresh garlic
1 good "duglass" full dry sherry and red burgundy mixed together.

Large slices of white bread toasted, trimmed to the circumference of the crock. Note: For the cheese to remain on the top the toast must rest tightly just inside the crock.)

METHOD

In a soup kettle or heavy pot melt butter, then add onions, garlic. Saute until onions become slightly translucent; add chicken broth, beef base and drippings, the jelly if available, plus about a quart of water.

Bring to a boil, then simmer about an hour per gallon. At this point check for seasoning salt, pepper, monosodium glutamate. If a more desirable brown is wanted, then caramel color may be added, all it is is burnt sugar but do be careful.

In England the same soup is thickened at this point. To serve, ladle in soup crocks until full, set on the toast and then the gruyere cheese and follow with the fresh parmesan.

Set under the broiler until the cheese fondues to a golden sunset. Pop in an oven to keep hot.

IN THE POCKET

By W.W. EDGAR

Much has been written about the great changes and advances that have been made in bowling equipment during the past quarter of a century.

First, there was the electric eye that detected fouls and took the old foul judge from his lofty quarters on the wall.

Next came the automatic pinsetter that not only reset the pins and returned the ball on an automatic ball return, but it also flashed the location of any pins that were left standing.

Then, to complete the automation, we have the automatic scorekeeper that tallies the performances of the bowlers on each pair of lanes.

Little has been said, though, about the changes in the competition itself, that now has grown to the point where the prize money almost equals that offered in golf and the leading money winner is now in the $100,000 a year class.

THE LATEST EVIDENCE of the vast change came in the mail this week with the arrival of the professional bowlers tour schedule for the winter months.

The tour, that starts in January and extends to 16 cities, will have prizes amounting to $1.3 million, or an average of $80,000 at each stop. Four of the events will have prize lists of $100,000.

This is a far cry from the old days of the 1930s when the prize money in match games for the top titles was never more than the side bets made by the bowlers themselves.

During the heyday of Joe Norris and his famed Stroh team the matches were rolled for $500 a side and the bowlers put up their own money. There were few "angels" who added anything to the prize money such as there are today with television sponsorship.

The change has affected the neighborhood leagues, too, where the bowlers sort of sneer at a first prize purse of less than $1,000—even though most of that sum is provided in their weekly costs.

All of this proves that the mechanical equipment is not the only thing that has changed in the bowling world during the past quarter century.

PERHAPS THERE IS something to the "home lane" atmosphere after all.

Bowling in the Wonderland Classic, George Bashara Jr., son of the Wonderland owner, put together games of 245, 286 and 267 for 778. It was one of the highest series of the year in the clas-

Poet in Livonia

Deborah Richardson, a poet on the Creative Writers Project for the Michigan Council for the Arts (MCA), will serve a one week residency at Ford Junior High School in Livonia.

Mrs. Richardson, winner of the National Quarterly of World Poetry's 1973 subjective poem award, has recently served as poet-in-residence at Whitman and Riley Junior high schools.

Mrs. Richardson served for two years on the literature committee of the MCA. Her works have appeared in Intellectual Digest, The New York Quarterly, Post Lore, Wayne Literary Review, and other magazines.

SC offers psychic

Parapsychologist Russ Burgess, lecturer, humorist and mind reader, will be in Schoolcraft College's Waterman Center Jan. 14 at 8 p.m.

HIGH SCORING marked the past week at Livonia Lanes and, strangely, it came in the mixed leagues.

The top man was Fred Figurski, who turned in a 247 in 679 in the Wayne County mixed league, while Bill Steadman linked games of 221, 180 and 256 for a 657 in the Elks mixed loop.

The high single of the week was a 268 by Roger McGilbray in the junior house league.

One week before his engagement, Burgess promises to mail the program chairman a sealed envelope containing the headline that will appear in the local newspaper on the day of his performance.

Tickets at $2 are available at the college bookstore from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Thursday and until 3 p.m. on Fridays. Tickets will be available at the door, if not sold out in advance. Schoolcraft is at 18600 Haggerty, Livonia.

The Stroller A memorable Christmas Eve

By W. W. EDGAR

Seated in his favorite easy chair the other evening, The Stroller was just about to doze off in a cat nap when he heard the pleasing voice of Perry Como singing the old favorite, "I'll be home for Christmas if only in my dreams."

Suddenly the TV passed from view and with his eyelids closed, The Stroller dreamed again the dream he has enjoyed each year at Christmas time.

Passing again in review, almost as if the calendar had been turned back, was the little white church atop the hill. A light snow was falling. The tamed church bell was ringing. Folks were coming from all directions.

As they passed with their heads cocked to battle the snow, there were countless repetitions of "Merry Christmas" as they battled the elements.

Sure enough, it was Christmas Eve back home in the foothills of the mountains.

to give the recitation for our class.

Many a laugh he has now looking back; after all these years, to recall how he practiced making a bow, hitting his head and turning from side to side to relieve any stiffness in his posture while speaking.

Well over a half-century has passed since those days but the memories still remain green, especially of the night when Santa Claus tell coming down the chimney and lost his beard.

On this particular night the recitations had been completed, the playlet was ended and the moment was at hand for the arrival of the jolly old gent with long white beard.

Finally came the shout, "Ho Ho and we knew Santa had made it."

Then came an awful thud and down through the pre-fabricated chimney came Santa, bag and all.

EVERYONE SAT still with shock. But as Santa tried to regain his footing, one of the youngsters sitting up front leaped to his feet and hollered, "That ain't Santa Claus That's Dan Milson, the coal man!"

Quickly the lights over the pulpit were turned off and in the darkness "Santa" sneaked away and came back in a few moments in his civilian street clothes, leaving the kids even more puzzled.

"Christmas Eve"

It brings back many fond memories, especially when a fellow hears Perry Como singing, "I'll be home for Christmas if only in my dreams"

Sub teacher responds

Editor

I am writing about the statements made at the school board meeting by a resident concerning the atmosphere of noise and confusion at Miller School. There are no walls separating classrooms, but instead book cases and interest centers.

I have been a substitute teacher at Miller School and this has never posed a problem for me or the children. The students are interested and involved in their own class. Even though you can see other classes you rarely notice them. Talking is going on within the classroom, but it is often children sharing what they are learning with each other or one student helping another student.

When students enter the room, they get right to work, but they are each involved in individual pursuits which may look confusing to the casual observer. Learning is taking place at Miller, but the environment is different than the one we are used to.

Staff defends school

Editor

The staff of Miller School, in response to the comments made by Gregory Feierfil at the Plymouth School Board meeting Dec. 9 and published by the Observer & Eccentric Dec. 11, would like to extend a public invitation to him to visit Miller and to talk with us so that he may understand the philosophy and organization that exists. A personal invitation has been extended by Mrs. Spaniel, our principal.

Through an emphasis on creative problem solving and writing, we encourage children to think through concerns and to express them after they have thoroughly investigated the topic. We expect the same of Mr. Feierfil. When did he observe classes at Miller? How long? How many classes?

We are sure that Mr. Feierfil's statements were the result of misinformation and we welcome the opportunity to show Mr. Feierfil why we are proud to work at Miller.

There's less Yule mail this year but still the post offices do a brisk business

"Where the heck is it?" asked Ken Harris, officer in charge of the Plymouth Post Office.

He was referring to the mail that usually floods post office this time of year.

"During the first two weeks of December, we were down 16 per cent in volume compared with last year," he said. "That means we had only about 1,336,000 pieces of all kinds of mail coming in to be delivered in Plymouth. Last year at this time it numbered about 1,581,000."

Both his surprise and his figures were reflected in other post offices in the area.

HOWARD MAJESKI, Livonia superintendent of mail, noted that Livonia is usually behind in delivery of about 500,000 pieces of mail by the middle of December.

"But now it is flowing much more evenly," he said. "Generally we deliver about 2.5 million pieces a week in December. The rest of the year it is about 1.5 million pieces a week."

Bill Stottlemeyer was experiencing a similar situation. He is postmaster at the Wayne Post Office, which is serving Westland until a new postal station is completed on Wayne Road south of the Westland Shopping Center.

"From Dec 1-16, we were down 500,000 pieces compared to last year," he said. "The mail is going through in good order and there is no pile-up here. We are watching it carefully."

JOHN SHIVNEN, postmaster in Garden City, believes that economic conditions lie behind the decrease of mail through his post office.

"Because of unemployment, people are probably buying fewer cards than last year," he observed. "It also costs two cents more to buy a stamp this year than last. I suppose people are also buying and mailing fewer gifts."

He reported that Christmas mail to be delivered in Garden City was down 11.2 per cent.

John Colligan, acting manager of the Redford Heights branch of the Detroit postal system, differed from his postal colleagues. However, his report was based mostly on estimates because postal figures for his station are compiled downtown.

"I think we're running about the same as last year," he stated. "But we're on top of it pretty well. Parcel post seems heavier though."

"We hired no new employees for Christmas. The Detroit post office has not hired extra holiday workers for two years now. Instead we have our regulars work overtime."

THIS SYSTEM was in practice in all the other postal systems investigated.

"We use overtime instead of hiring new help," agreed Bill Stottlemeyer. "We'd rather use our experienced people an extra hour than inexperienced ones for four hours."

The carriers operating from the Redford Heights station, for example, have been working 11 hours a day during the Christmas rush.

In most area post offices, carriers make from 375 to 400 stops a day, after first spending several morning hours in the office assembling their mail by street and house number.

Despite the fact that the river of mail is flowing freely this year, several postmasters still expected the epistolary roof to fall in.

"It still could hit us," worried Plymouth's Ken Harris, a week before Christmas. "It is not normal for this time of year. We're usually behind at this time. Our people are still shaking their heads."

However, it is possible that because area residents were busily knocking off the last of their Christmas cards and wrapping their packages on the weekend of Dec 14 and 15, this last minute rush may be avoided.

POSTMASTERS BELIEVE many residents must have been thus engaged because in each postoffice Monday Dec 16 there was the biggest traffic jam of the season.

They were really lined up, both inside and out," said Harris of the Plymouth Post Office. "We had to set up a fifth window as an express stamp line."

"It was pretty hectic here," echoed Stottlemeyer. "A lot of packages came in."

But despite assurances by postmasters that it has been an easier holiday season, letter carrier Nancy Jones of Westland, who totes mail to Livonia homes, thinks "so far it has been a heavy Christmas."

She usually starts out with a pack filled with about 35 pounds of Christmas communications. "I break my streets into three bundles whether the load is heavy or light," she said.

"I love the work," she added. "I love the outdoors and the people. But the ice and snow are the hardest part of Christmas. We'd all appreciate it if everyone shoveled off porches, steps and sidewalks."

THE MAN DESIGNATED by Livonia Postmaster Don Majkowski as the "neatest one in the building" was tying his letters into neat bundles in the Livonia post office before heading out into the cold.

"Christmas is not one of my happiest times," said Richard Hembrough of Redford Township, who admits he is always glad when it is over.

"This year has been exceptionally bad because of the weather," he added. "With snow you just don't make much headway, and I can't use the cart I usually carry the mail in."

"I like working outdoors, although I prefer working in spring or fall. I once worked in a factory for six months and it just about killed me. I like being alone—it's very satisfying."

The one advantage he conceded to the Christmas season was that there are fewer dogs wandering about.

"I have been bitten 11 times, but never had to take a rabies shot," noted Hembrough. "None of them were serious bites, but they caused a lot of aggravation."

"I don't seem to get many colds in this weather. I've learned to adjust what I wear to the weather and I get flu shots."

CAROLYN DILLON of Livonia spends part of every day at the counter dealing with customers using the Livonia Post Office.

"They are usually very nice until the last week and a half before Christmas," she says. "They know you're rushed and they are patient."

"But closer to Christmas we get those who are rushed themselves. They get irritable and take it out on us. Sometimes they tell us things I wouldn't even want to tell you."

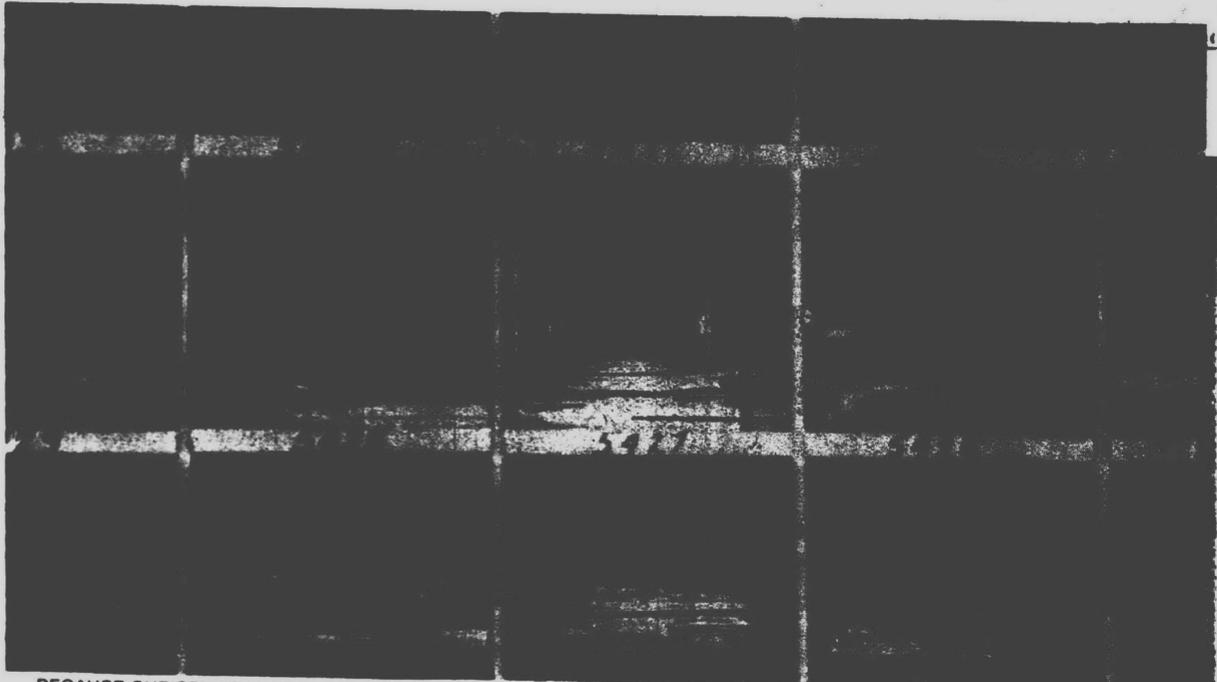

"A few of them swear at me. They get angry because they have to look up zip code numbers themselves in the book we have here. Sometimes they have opened a package sent to them and then decide to return it to sender. They want us to pay the postage and get angry when we tell them we can't."

"They also get angry if we tell them their package is too badly wrapped to be insured."

BECAUSE MOST PEOPLE are more thoughtful in their dealings with postal carriers, many want to know if they should tip their carrier with gifts or money.

Don Majkowski has an answer to that question.

"In the post office manual, it states that gratuities are not to be solicited," he said. "But if people, out of the kindness of their hearts, want to give something, it's up to them. They can hand it to the carrier or put it in the box with his or her name on it."

He had another suggestion, though.

"A good way to gift your carrier would be to remove snow from the sidewalks, he said. "Where walks en out mail that has been addressed incorrectly."

"At Christmas about 10 per cent of the mail goes to the dead letter office in Chicago because it has no address and is undeliverable," he said.

"People put on the wrong number or sometimes no number at all he continued. "Sometimes they write down aren't shoveled and are dangerous, carriers are told not to deliver. But it also wastes time and energy to have to go around a slippery area."

CHRISTMAS LOGISTICS of mail delivery are the same as those of the rest of the year.

Mail coming into the Livonia office is dispatched to Detroit in trucks every three hours, superintendent Majeski said. Machines there process it at the rate of 30,000 to 40,000 pieces per hour.

"They also sort it by machine and send it to sectional centers or to the airport," he said. "People who bundle their Christmas cards and other mail with all the stamps in the same position on the same side save us about 15 cents a minute, because clerks don't have to spend time facing the stamps one way."

LOUIS HOEGY of Westland spends about two hours of his working day at the Livonia facility trying to straighten out mail that has been addressed incorrectly.

"But sometimes we have to ask as many as five carriers if they know if the person addressed lives on one of their streets. At Christmas time this just adds to our problems."

THIS CHRISTMAS many women will continue to confound residents, who do not know whether to call them "Mail ladies," "female mailmen" or what.

The post office departments handle this situation deftly by referring to all those who deliver mail as carriers. In Garden City there are 10 women carriers this season. In Livonia they make up 40 per cent of those braving snow and sleet.

At the Redford Heights station, two of 28 carriers are women. At the Wayne office there are 27 women carriers out of 108. Plymouth has 19 "mail ladies."

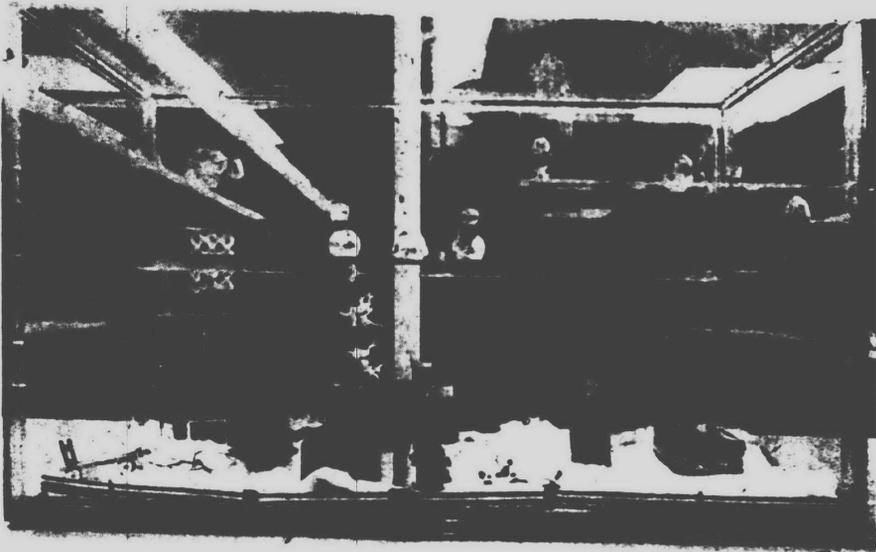

BUT CARRIER ROSE ERDELYI of Plymouth still finds plenty of Christmas cards to fill her sack and her mail car.

AND LOUIS HOEGY of Livonia still has to spend a couple of hours a day fixing up mail carelessly addressed.

Ecumenical Reflections

You plan a birthday celebration

BY JAMES W. SCHAEFER
Pilgrim United Church of Christ, Livonia

With snow in overabundance and some tired muscles, I got out my Christmas recordings. How happy and joyous are our Christmas songs; they may not be expressing much of the meaning of Christmas, but they sure are fun.

One of them begins by saying "Christmas was meant for children." For children?

What does Christmas mean to you? I don't mean think: I am asking for the purpose and value of this celebration. Before you read what I have to suggest, think about your own understanding.

THE CHRIST-MASS is just that—a celebration of Jesus being the Christ. It represents what the nativity of our Lord means to us.

First, that God came to humanity to express His desire and wish for His creation. Second, that God was able to speak to us through the life of a man, Jesus of Nazareth, and in this way expressed the human way to live. Third, that the man Jesus was born a human being, a baby.

So, we look back and say that we are celebrating the coming of a Christ-child.

NOW—HOW SHOULD we celebrate this birthday? Dream about that for a minute. If nothing had been done until right now, what would you propose as a proper observance of Jesus' birthday?

Would you propose sending greeting cards that say "Happy holidays and good wishes for the new year?" Would you propose that everyone buy gifts for everyone else on Jesus' birthday? Would you suggest that every business and office have a big booze party?

How about making up a myth about a fictional character who lives at the North Pole and flies through the skies delivering goodies to all GOOD children? Would you propose such a thing if you could plan for the celebration of Jesus' birthday?

Just what is appropriate to celebrate the birth of the man who became our Christ—the Messiah?

I WASN'T QUITE FAIR in quoting the song earlier because it begins, "Christmas was meant for children, children like you and me."

Now it suggests a kind of attitude toward Christmas. It suggests the delight and wonder that we associate with children—smiling faces and sparkling eyes that come with discovery and happiness. This implies a simplicity and trust and acceptance which might be appropriate for the celebrating the birthday of Jesus.

But there is more to the song. It goes on to list mistletoe, holly, stockings at the chimney, joy, Santa, bells, snow, a star in the east, tree, infant, manger, heaven. That's a mixed bag.

I GUESS IT IS the contradictions that bother me most. First, the whole business of getting instead of giving. Christmas means that God gave, and what he gave was love with no strings attached.

My second bother is the unreality of many celebrations—forgetting problems, overlooking injustice, setting aside difficulties for the sake of a grand party. Christmas has the meaning of God coming directly into human life. Not a denial of life, but a coming into common, everyday life, like you and mine. Not an escape from life but an affirming of life.

THESE REMARKS are not meant to condemn commercialism. I firmly believe in personal freedom—do what you desire to do—but I think we need to remember the responsibility and obligations that go with decisions.

Do what you want, but be aware of what you are doing. The thoughtful and joyous celebration of Christmas within our faith is one thing; the open houses, parties, exchanges, minimizing of Christ so as not to offend Jews and non-believers—these things are something else again.

WE ARE IN the season of Advent, which is a time to prepare spiritually and mentally for the celebration of Christmas.

Christmas means that God made a new start with his world. He came to us in human form to bring new life to his people.

Not fringe benefits like lights and tinsel and candy and all those things. Rather, the solemn and heartwarming example of how life can be lived.

AFTER A LOOSE BALL is Garden City West's Jay Gooch (50) against Taylor Kennedy in Tri-River basketball action. West went after and topped Kennedy in overtime, 62-60. (Staff photo by Tom Donoghue)

Nips Taylor, 62-60

West wins 5th in overtime

Only a miracle finish led by Dave Niles kept Garden City West from dropping its second Tri-River League game Friday night and falling two games behind the league leaders, Cherry Hill and Melvindale.

Fantastic clutch shooting by Niles and his teammates in the closing seconds of regulation time and an overtime period pulled out a frantic 62-60 Tiger victory over Taylor Kennedy.

West jumped to a 13-9 first quarter lead and was expected to win easily. But Taylor Kennedy, using a choking zone defense aided by forward Brian McMahan's 14 first half points, overcame the Tigers and led 29-25 at intermission.

Kennedy increased its lead to 43-37 at the third quarter mark despite Niles' four baskets. Nine West free throws in 11 attempts in the final quarter helped the Tigers stay within range, trailing only 56-54.

With two seconds left on the clock, Niles' one-handed jumper swished into the net to knot the count at 56-all as the West gym erupted in bedlam.

In the three-minute overtime, Kennedy's Mike Lauerman sank two free throws, but center Mike Susko tied it for West. Then Terry Bradley's jumper gave the Tigers a 60-58 lead before Tom Schuck tied it 60-60 for the Eagles with a pair of free throws with 24 seconds left.

West stalled for the final shot, and Niles drove to the right corner and fired from the same spot. The ball cleanly clipped through the netting with only four seconds left, and West had its miracle finish. Kennedy had led 56-53 with just 12 seconds left, Niles had 22 points and Susko 15 for West.

Glenn tips Oak Park, 55-46

Gordie Davis was dead right. The John Glenn basketball coach said his boys would have a real battle on their hands when they travelled to Oak Park. And the Rockets had to go into overtime to finally shake the dogged Redskins. 55-46.

"Oak Park is always tough on its home court. I don't know why, but they always give us the battle of our lives when we go there." Davis said after extracting his third Northwest

Suburban League win in as many starts.

Glenn held Oak Park to only 12 points in the second half after trailing 30-27 at intermission. But the Rockets could put only 15 markers on the board to end deadlocked, 42-42 at the end of regulation time.

Then Glenn's high-powered offense came to life and buried the host squad under a 13-4 count in the three-minute overtime period.

Leading Glenn's first place team was John Jesson with 19 points on eight buckets and three free throws. Teammate Terry Johnson matched Jesson's field goal production and added two charity tosses while Harry Polovino sank four from the floor and a like number from the line for 12 points.

The victory ran Glenn's record to 6-1 over all and primes the Westland cagers for their impending class Friday night with Belleville in the Christmas holiday tournament at Wayne High School.

The Rockets meet the Tigers at 6:30 p.m. and host Wayne Memorial tangles with unbeaten Cherry Hill in the nightcap of the doubleheader. The winners and losers pair off Saturday night for the championship.

Clarenceville cagers suffer 6th loss, 58-56

Bob Wolf's Clarenceville Trojans have been close to tasting victory on the hardwood courts but have lacked that final push.

For the second straight contest, Clarenceville fell by two points. It was Clarkston, 58-56, and three days prior, Riverside, 67-65.

"Clarkston's 1-2-2 full court press did us in," said Wolf, whose now 0-6 Trojans face St. Agatha on Dec. 28 at Clarenceville.

After leading, 16-13, at the end of one quarter, Clarenceville hit only one of 13 from the floor the second quarter to fall behind at the half, 28-24, and behind the Trojans stayed.

A 25 footer by Rick Beyer with five seconds remaining missed its target and a tied contest.

East Panthers bounce Franklin, 66-56

Billy Joe Young's Panthers of Garden City East know when to win a ballgame.

They have a 3-3 overall season record, yet all three wins have come at the expense of Northwest Suburban League opponents to permit the Panthers to sit atop the standings with John Glenn with 3-3 marks.

"With the exception of very poor free throw shooting, I thought our team played an excellent game tonight," Young said Friday night shortly after East had defeated Livonia Franklin, 66-56, Friday night.

Forward Jim Riley fired in 22 points for game honors and was joined in double figures by Greg Emery with 20 and guard Jim Peter with 10.

For Franklin, which lost its second in the league and fifth in six starts Rich Gibson led with 15, and Tim Newman added 13.

East jumped ahead 21-14 in the first quarter with its highest one-period scoring production of the year and led 35-31 at the half. The Panthers edged their visitors 12-10 and 19-15 in the final two stanzas.

"We needed it for our confidence's sake," Young added. "We haven't been playing as well as we should, and this should give us confidence as we tackle Garden City West and John Glenn immediately after Christmas holidays. We'll have to really be ready for those two good clubs."

Thurston Eagles top North, 50-46

"We got the troops back together," commented head basketball coach Bill Croteau after his Thurston Eagles dumped the Raiders of North Farmington in a Northwest loop battle, 50-46.

The fourth point win in which Thurston jumped to a 10-4 first quarter lead, snapped a three-game losing streak and gave the Eagles a 2-4 mark heading into the holiday tourney at Churchhill.

Thurston's lead was sliced to 22-19 at the half, and the margin remained at three at the end of three quarters, 34-31. But with 1 1/2 minutes remaining, the Eagles broke it open and led 50-39.

Croteau then emptied his bench, and North moved to within four points at the final buzzer.

Thurston wound up 18 of 47 from the St. Florian rips St. Agatha, 78-47

Once again the Aggie cagers of St. Agatha have fallen down the beaten path before the Lancers of St. Florian.

And that path hasn't changed much in the past three seasons with the plot always one of a St. Florian massacre.

"This is the best we have seen," was the opening comment by first year coach Jim George after his Aggies were humbled by St. Florian, 78-47. "I can't see anyone in the Second Division West coming even close to beating them."

It was St. Florian, 25-7, after one quarter, 47-22 at the half, and 67-30 after three quarters.

St. Florian, paced by 6-foot-8 Kevin Williams and his 30 point output, wound up 35 of 64 from the floor for a 55 shooting per cent and St. Agatha put together a 19 for 52 attack for 36 per cent.

In the 1972-73 basketball campaign, the Aggies dropped two to St. Florian by 46 and 24 points. Last year came another two defeats, by 28 and 26 points.

The now 1-5 Aggies finish off 1974 at Clarenceville on Friday, Dec. 27, in a non-league clash.

Floundering Canton Chiefs fall to Harrison, 56-48

An experienced Plymouth Canton basketball squad again slipped and stumbled into the loss column.

"I just don't know what to say after this one," commented head Coach Casey Cavell, whose Chiefs fell to Farmington Harrison, 56-48, for their fourth defeat in seven outings.

"Harrison simply out-hustled us, and we were about as inconsistent as we could possibly be," added Cavell.

The Farmington team got off to a 14-8 first quarter lead and was never behind, leading 25-20 at the half and 43-36 after three quarters.

Harrison, which was headed by Bob Mason's 20 points, shot 23 of 46 from the field for 50 per cent and Canton 21 of 52 for 40 per cent.

"We have more talent than we are showing," said the Canton coach. "I hope it decides to come out soon."

The first quarter told it all for the Stevenson Spartans.

After opening the 1974-75 cage campaign with three wins and then dropping the next two to Fordson and Pontiac Northern, George VanWagoner's Spartan crew exploded to a first quarter, 22-4 lead over Walled Lake Central and coasted in with a 67-54 Inter-Lakes victory.

Walled Lake cut it to 35-23 at the half. Stevenson upped it to 51-35 after three quarters and the remaining eight minutes were simply a formality.

Unbeaten Churchill rips Franklin pucksters, 7-3

"This has to be our year," commented Churchill hockey coach Adam Mitchell after his Chargers ripped apart the Patriots of Franklin High, 7-3.

It was Churchill's fifth win in five outings and its third in the Suburban loop.

The Charger unit, which has 10 seniors, is headed by No. 11 Kevin Kardos who scored two goals against Franklin to give him 16 goals as well as 14 assists in the five Churchill clashes.

For the league defending champion

Patriots, it was setback No. 3 overall in five contests.

Turf Tips, Quips

By Doc Minard

'Tis that time of the year to be jolly and full of peace and good will towards all men.

That's the way we feel as we sit down and try to say "Merry Christmas" to the many who have helped us with this column during the past year. We have always made it a point to thank each personally but then there comes a time when you feel readers should know where the information comes from.

We must offer our thanks to Racing Commissioner Leo Shirley, Deputy Commissioner Richard Morris and their staff for the final cooperation we receive. We don't always agree with the commissioner but then he's the boss of a commission that is always in a position of receiving criticism regardless of which way a decision goes.

Now we are all at peace with the world and eagerly waiting to see what the new year will bring.

THEN THERE ARE Dick Wilson, vice president and general manager of the Detroit Racing Association and Wolverine Raceway; John Carlo, executive director of Northville Downs; and Ms. Nanette Slavin Rakieten, president and general manager of the Jackson Raceway operations.

Never once during the entire year have we been refused information when asked. They are three of the most cooperative folks in racing.

Inasmuch as most of our doings involve those tracks in this section of the area, we do not have the same relationship with Hazel Park runners and trotters that we do with the tracks mentioned above.

But Art Hagen, of the Hazel Park trots, has been very cooperative and the same can be said of Phil Rodgers, of the Hazel Park runners. Ask either and you get answers.

Then we hope Santa finds the stockings of Earl Flora, Kenn Christopher and Sandy Walker at Wolverine and DRC, Dick Frederick of Northville Downs, Neil Hunter, Bob Mathias, Phil Mauger and Tom Smith of Jackson and that always delightful person Margaret Zayti of Northville Downs.

sends out news releases nightly via teletypewriter to all parts of the state; Fran Smith and Bill Kofender at Windsor Raceway.

Then add: Bill Connors and Ron Giehls, racing secretary and assistant at the Wolverine and Hazel Park harness meetings; Tom Dorsey, the affable assistant general manager at the Detroit Race Course; Marj Bennett, editor of the MHHA monthly magazine.

Al Coffman, the Al Speed of the Free Press; Bob Pierce, George Meyer and Ernie Long, who handle the TTS service at the running tracks; Chuck Sweeney of the Racing Form; Eddie Metro, who has charge of the PA systems at Wolverine and the DRC; Ann Pellegrini and Mary Bellisario, the chart girls at the trots; state harness racing stewards Clay Hulett and Frank Meharg; John Broderick, Bruce Stewart, Clair Cook, Frank Utter and Ed Casey, who handle the judges' stand at Wolverine and Northville Downs.

A Merry Christmas to all and an even merrier Christmas to all of those we have forgotten...not intentionally but oftentimes a name slips by here and there.

Ready for 20th

Michigan State Baseball Coach Danny Litwhiler has been a collegiate mentor for 19 seasons (nine at Florida State and ten at MSU) with his teams compiling a 460-222-6 record for a winning percentage of .673.

AND A MERRY CHRISTMAS to Stu Oldford, Jack Richards, Ron Upton, wherever he may be; Wally and Don McMurray, Sid Bertin, Jack Riggs, who does such a fine job of announcing at all tracks but Jackson; Don Hall, Harold Fisher, Leon and Chris Boring, the Lanehan trio of Mal, Al and Paul; Bill Lanman, who

Merry Christmas

OUR CHRISTMAS PRAYER...

ON THIS DAY Mend a quarrel. Search out a forgotten friend. Dismiss suspicion, and replace it with trust. Write a love letter. Share some treasure. Give a soft answer. Encourage youth. Manifest your loyalty in a word or deed. Keep a promise. Find the time. Forego a grudge. Forgive an enemy. Listen. Apologize, if you were wrong. Try to understand. Flout envy. Examine your demands on others. Think first of someone else. Appreciate, be kind, be gentle. Laugh a little more. Deserve confidence. Take up arms against malice. Decry complacency. Express your gratitude. Worship your God. Gladden the heart of a child. Take pleasure in the beauty and wonder of the earth. Speak your love. Speak it again. Speak it again. Speak it still once again.
