Schools save on construction bids

CANTON—Two elementary school sites in Plymouth Community School District may soon bristle with the activity of construction work, while a third lies vacant and quiet. The Plymouth school board Monday awarded a contract to low bidder Felker Construction Co. for $4.6 million to construct the three elementary schools.

The company has agreed to wait 60 days while the fate of the site in Canton's Windsor Park Subdivision is decided. The company has submitted a bid of $23,500 more than the $4.6 million to construct an access road to the site, a requirement for the Wayne County Planning Commission's site plan approval.

Larry Morris, a representative of the architectural firm which designed the three buildings, said work may begin on two of the schools, located in Canton Township near Haggerty, within two weeks.

But work on the Windsor Park school site cannot begin until school officials sign a lease agreement with the owner of the property through which the access road must cross.

If an agreement cannot be reached, the school may have to be moved to an alternate site.

"I think the owner has indicated he will give us a lease," said School Supt. John M. Hoben. "I don't anticipate any problems. However, there could be. No one will know until the final contract is signed. We've been trying to negotiate this for quite awhile."

If an agreement is reached, the construction company can build the Windsor Park access road and bridge Tonquish Creek in any way desired, according to Hoben. The restoration of the creek to its original condition is the only requirement of the Wayne County Drain Commissioner's office.

The school board's contract with Felker Construction Co. is $180,000 lower than the board's estimates in February. Hoben said the district will use the money to beef up the school's equipment allocation.

"We estimated high in February," Hoben said. "We're just about on par with the portion of the bond issue ($5.8 million) allocated for the elementary schools."

School officials may add another $14,450 to the costs of the schools' construction, if they rule in favor of a cushion-backed vinyl floor in the gymnasiums.

It's lights out in Old Village

The city of Plymouth appeared hardest hit in two heavy thunderstorms that hit southeastern Michigan yesterday (Wednesday).

Most affected by the storm was the eastern section of the city which was left without power for several hours when lightning struck a transformer at Main street near Mill.

Power was out from approximately 9 p.m. until Detroit Edison work crews made repairs sometime after midnight.

The afternoon storm hit the area at 4:05 p.m. Winds, gusting to 30 mph, knocked down several power lines and brought down trees, knocking down the power. A house near Maple and Harding was damaged when a tree fell on the roof, and the porch and front portion of a house near Liberty and Mill was also damaged by a broken limb.

The gusty winds blew a section off the roof of Bathing Beach swimming, 100 S. Mill, tearing out the wooden wires in its path and blocking rush hour traffic along Mill Street.

The power outage in the evening storm also left some lights out at Ann Arbor Trail and the end of Main and Mill.

Plymouth Township reported no major damage, but the storm did cause a few houses of water damage in "back yards." Captain [Name] said there were no reports of damage and no storm related run-arounds all evening.

City postpones parking fee hike

By DARLENE STINSON

PLYMOUTH—A shopping spree in downtown Plymouth may cost an extra nickel, dime or quarter in the weeks to come.

The Plymouth City Commission Tuesday tabled a proposed parking meter rate increase until its June 2 meeting to give local businessmen a chance to respond to the proposal.

Members of the city's administration Tuesday submitted a parking report and recommended doubling all meter rates, except for meters located in the east central lot behind city hall.

Under the recommendation, permit and stamp fees in the city's central lot, located behind downtown stores between Main and Harvey, would also double. Half-hour rates at most meters would jump to five cents, while hourly rates would jump to a dime.

The increased rates would offset the city's annual $30,000 deficit in the parking budget and create a slight surplus.

The recommendation is one of three alternatives outlined in the report to eliminate the deficit. Other alternatives propose increased rates in all parking lots and the metering of the entire central lot.

"The east central lot doesn't have the high usage of the other lots," said City Manager Fred Yockey in explaining the rates there, we hope for more usage of that area. People who park all day could park cheaper there."

But, if some businessmen have their way, the rates will not increase at all.

"I don't see how raising the rates will bring any more customers into downtown," said one businessman who attended Tuesday's meeting. "You're not leading to a solution of the problem."

"The problem is the people who are already irritated at five cents an hour. Without these customers we don't have a downtown. Without a downtown, we don't have a Plymouth."

City Commissioner Norbert Battermann noted a letter from a Plymouth Chamber of Commerce committee, opposed to meter rate hikes. The letter, he said, does not recommend an alternative solution to the city's $30,000 parking deficit.

"The $30,000 is now coming out of the general fund to support parking," he said. "This is what we're trying to resolve. Should the general public support this?"

Commissioner John Cummings added, "Right now I don't think we have much choice. This isn't a solution, but we have to start somewhere."

Commissioner Joseph Bida voiced opposition to the proposed rate increase.

"I would vote no for any increase," he said. "I've heard so much static from the people. Meters are not the answer."

Added Commissioner Harold Guenther, "I don't think raising the rates is the answer either. But it would be a misuse of public funds to continue picking up a parking deficit."

Even with the proposed rate increases, Plymouth's parking rates would still be cheaper than those in most other places, said Commissioner John Moehle, who moved to defer the parking rate question until the commission's June 2 meeting.

"I agree with that motion," said Guenther. "I don't want the accusation that we acted on a report without anyone knowing about it."

The city will place a copy of the parking report in the public library for the scrutiny of local businessmen, Yockey said.

Landmark homes are given tribute

Honoring Plymouth's landmarks has been an ongoing project for the Plymouth branch of the American Association of University Women for the past four years, and to add some meaning to Heritage Day during Michigan Week the group has added two more sites to its list.

The Tyler-Scharmen home at 9101 McClumpha and the Root-Kulick home at 49770 Ann Arbor Road are the two most recent recipients of the honors.

According to this year's landmark chairman Marilyn Karl, the Tyler-Scharmen home was built in the 1880s by Ashley Harlow on the land acquired by his father, Ebenezer, in 1834.

The Harlows were the great-grandparents of Clara Tyler Scharmen who along with her husband, Leon, are the current residents of the house.

The Scharmens have lived in the home since their marriage and the house remains much as it was when it was built. The architecture is known as the "New York style" which features eyebrow windows which were once covered with wrought iron scroll work.

The Root-Kulick home is a graceful Victorian farmhouse.

The land was acquired by Roswell Root in 1825 and remained vacant until his son built the home in 1875.

The house remained in the family until recently when purchased by Allen and Edna Kulick.

Because of some important repairs, the house was restored by the Kulicks who now use it for the "Studios of the Old" a craft school.

Aside from restoring the house, Mrs. Kulick has researched the Root family history and has reacquired many of the original Root possessions as part of the restoration.

Chamber hears legislators level

A recent Livonia Chamber of Commerce breakfast was the forum for lively discussion of issues facing the Legislature.

Outlining upcoming issues were Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth), Rep. John Markes (D-Westland) and Rep. Robert Geake (R-Northville).

Pursell, whose district includes Livonia and Redford Township, projected the state's budget to be $400 million in the red. He said Gov. William Milliken is hinging economic recovery on two issues, both of which Pursell opposes.

THE FIRST is the passage of the business privilege tax which Milliken hopes will raise $100-$200 million. According to Pursell, the act would combine the eight taxes businesses currently pay into a single tax.

"This bill probably doesn't have 10 votes backing it," Pursell said. "On the plus side it would help large companies to expand employment opportunities. But it does a great deal of harm to small businesses, service businesses and agriculture."

The second Milliken proposal is a capital bonding project with new buildings recommended for state universities, hospitals and state police.

"This measure is more popular around Lansing but I'm not sure people are ready to accept this when they're already committed to bonding indebtedness through the schools. And I don't know that I want to put the state into debt for the next 30 years."

PURSELL ALSO took the opportunity to take a rap at his host—the chamber.

Pursell, who served as the Plymouth Chamber's president for three years, said chambers of commerce are "almost totally unrepresented in Lansing."

"The State Chamber is not an effective organization for the business community," he said.

"Labor and education are well represented. But business ought to have representation so the legislature can see both sides of a question."

Speaking of the recently passed bill which would raise unemployment benefits by $30 per week, Pursell said he had not received a single letter from business concerning the issue.

"That bill is going to cost business plenty and it may even drive some firms out of the state. I'm prepared to take the heat from both sides but I need representation from both sides."

MARKES, whose district includes Westland and a section of Livonia, indicated that because of economic conditions, the Legislature "probably isn't going to please very many people."

"But ideas are beginning to bubble to the top and Lansing will become more than just a place you're not happy with."

Markes explained one proposal in which joint committees would conduct public hearings on bills to eliminate the time it takes for bills to go through separate committees.

"You may be seeing the legislative branch of government becoming involved in a check system which would monitor whether the intent of a law is being carried out by the bureau administering the law."

Markes cited the need for legislators to be in tune with legislative proceedings in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

"Very often if you can solve a problem in a certain manner there, then you can solve it the same way here," Markes said.

The proposal raises the problem of increased travel for legislators.

"We hear all the time about junkets, but there are good things which need to be weeded out of travel," he said.

"Government is attracting a different breed. They want to know a great deal more than what can be learned over a dinner plate."

Markes reported that the Legislature is challenging the office of the Secretary of State, which, he says earns $174,000 annually by selling information of title transfers and sales transactions to private business.

"We think that is an infringement of your privacy, but in the case of earning money, we're caught in between. It's a bad year to be a legislator."

GEAKE EXPLAINED three plans outlining changes state aid formulas. His district also includes most of Livonia.

The Governor's plan for school aid is a flat rate of $41.50 in state aid per mill up to 27 mills. A second progressive yield plan calls for $50 of state aid on 10 mills; $40 for 10 to 20 mills and $30 for 20 to 25 mills.

"The progressive yield plan is heavily weighted for low millage districts but it would increase inequities," Geake said. "The bill would give state aid to Bloomfield Hills, Ann Arbor and Grosse Pointe—districts which receive no state aid now."

"Districts like Livonia would be penalized because it supports its millages."

The third plan is a compromise bill adopted by the education committee.

Legion pays its tribute for community service

PLYMOUTH—Public officials of the area joined Saturday with Plymouth's Passage-Gayde Post of the American Legion and its auxiliary in paying special tribute to 11 residents for their dedication to community service.

The occasion was the eighth annual "Recognition Night" banquet staged by the Legion, which capped the post's activities in relation to Armed Forces Day, Michigan Week's Community Pride Day and conclusion of Police Week.

Those to whom plaques were presented, in continuation of a Legion custom started in 1968, included:

Lt. Henry A. Berghoff as the City of Plymouth's policeman of the year, Daniel Fowler as the city's fireman of the year and Robert L. Caloia and Charles E. VanVleck who shared designation as Plymouth Township's fireman of the year;

Ralph G. Lorenz, owner of the Mayflower Hotel and Mayflower Meeting House—and long an active builder of community spirit, was named the area's businessman of the year. The honor as industrialist of the year went to John T. McRae, manager of the Ford Motor Company's Sheldon Road Plant.

RECIPIENTS of general citizens awards were Mrs. Daisy Proctor, prominent over the years in many civic organizations; Dale Yagiela, director of Youth Inc. since 1951 and who in that position has been a key cog in the organization's growth, and Capt. Warren Yoder, now of Midland but formerly head of Salvation Army operations in Plymouth.

Student citizens awards went to two Centennial Educational Park seniors, Terry Szilagyi and Paul Sincok, who were cited for their patriotism, honor and scholastic achievements. Miss Szilagyi was last fall's Plymouth Salem homecoming queen, while Sincok is one of the student executives of the CEP radio station, WSDP-FM.

AMONG THOSE sounding congratulatory messages to the award winners were: 35th District Court Judge Dunbar Davis, the evening's principal speaker; Chamber of Commerce President James McKeon as master of ceremonies; Plymouth Mayor Beverly McAninch, Plymouth Township Supervisor J. D. McClaren, 52nd District State Rep. Roy Smith, Plymouth Police Chief Tim Ford, Plymouth City Commissioner Joe Bida and Plymouth Township Trustee Richard Gornick.

A number of statewide Legion officials also participated.

Among them were: Clifford Fee, chairman of the state law and order committee; Alfred Geisler, chairman of the state American Legion baseball committee; Richard Kinnish, state vice commander; Dorothy Koi, of the state children and youth committee; Norbert Schollett, 17th District Association committeeman; Phyllis Hewer, president of the Passage-Gayde auxiliary and also president of the 17th District Auxiliary Association, and Yvonne Lillibridge, secretary of the same association.

ELEVEN PLYMOUTHITES were honored for outstanding community service by the American Legion's Passage-Gayde Post and its auxiliary at the organization's annual "Recognition Night" banquet. With Post Commander Bob Finley and the Legion's program chairman, Ernest Koi (second from left in back row), are

Special education staff expanded

PLYMOUTH—Special education students in the Plymouth Schools will be getting close to twice the special services next fall with the addition of 20 members to the special education staff.

The Plymouth school board has approved the hiring of 15 classroom personnel, four aides and a secretary to add to the total current staff of 24.

According to Supt. John M. Hoben, the additional personnel will bring an increased cost of $60,000 for the district with the balance of the salary costs borne by the Wayne County Intermediate School District and state department of education funding.

HOBEN SAID the possibility exists to add another eight persons before the opening of school in the fall if state funding is higher than presently expected.

The addition in staff brings the teacher-pupil ratio more in line with state requirements for funding.

The ratio will now be one special ed teacher for every 350 students, according to Hoben.

The breakdown of the new personnel would be one supervisor, five teacher consultants for the emotionally impaired, six teacher consultants for the learning disabled, four aides, a secretary, and three teachers for contained classrooms for the emotionally impaired.

PERSONNEL that might be added by fall include the addition of two psychologists, four speech correctionists, and two social workers.

Hoben explained the staff for special education will work in five cluster groupings with one cluster for each of four middle schools, and a fifth operating at the Centennial Educational Park.

A citizens committee on the needs of special education recommended the additional staff earlier this year, pointing to the low cost to the district because of significant reimbursement from county and state sources. The committee recommended the school district hire all 28 personnel, but Hoben said current budget projections only allow for 20 to be hired presently.

Included in the discussion on special education was an amendment to the motion by board secretary Marcia Borowski directing building principals to provide plans for programs for gifted children. The amendment was passed.

Township ponders change in fire safety ordinance

By MAURIE WALKER

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP—Smoke detectors, easily installed devices that warn residents of a fire situation, will be a required item in all apartments if a recommendation being drawn up by Fire Chief James Gignac is approved by the township board.

The chief, by action of the board and under its direction, will present such a recommendation in the near future.

Gignac explained that since December of 1971, a township ordinance required all newly built apartments to provide smoke detectors. The new recommendation would cover all apartments built prior to 1971, the chief said.

"ALL APARTMENTS, regardless of size, would be required to provide at least one smoke detector per unit," Gignac said.

"Smoke detectors warn occupants of a fire within the building. If this ordinance is approved, existing apartment buildings will have to install the detectors within a year of the date of approval of the new amendment to the fire prevention code."

Plymouth Township was three years ahead of the State of Michigan in requiring smoke detectors in new buildings.

A new state regulation, adopted by the State Construction Code Commission, required all residential units, constructed after Nov. 6 of last year to have a smoke detector device installed within the structure.

The new state ruling, which is similar to the one the township adopted in 1971, reads in part:

"Each dwelling unit within buildings of use group L-2 (multi-family) and L-3 (one and two-family) shall be provided with a minimum of one approved smoke detector sensing visible or invisible particles of combustion installed in a manner and location approved by the authority jurisdiction."

"When actuated, the detector shall provide an alarm suitable to warn the occupants within the individual dwelling unit."

THE STATE law applies only to dwelling units built after the Nov. 6. The Plymouth Township code, if adopted, would cover all apartment units.

Gignac said the reason for the request for a smoke detector law covering older units is that "we recently had a fatal fire in an apartment building. I strongly feel if a smoke detector had been installed in the individual apartment units, the victim would have been warned early enough and would have survived the fire."

The chief added that any person wanting information as to price of a smoke detector may call the fire department or the township building department at township hall.

"While we don't recommend any particular brand, all are easy to install in any dwelling," Gignac added.

MESC moves to new offices

PLYMOUTH—If anyone is stopping by the Old Michigan Employment Security Commission office on Mill Street and finds it closed, don't think the state government has gone out of business.

Just drive to Joy Road between Haggerty and Lilley Roads and there you will find a brand new building, very much in business.

As of last Monday, the Mill Street office has taken up headquarters in this modern building being leased by the state.

The VFW hall on Mill Street, just across from the old MESC building, is still in service.

Harry Epley, an interviewer at the new location, said the VFW hall is being used as a sub-payoff office.

"Some new claims are being handled there to take care of the heavy load we have here. This helps those seeking unemployment checks to spend less time waiting in line," Epley said.

The new office has 23 persons working to process claims. Five additional employees are stationed in the VFW hall.

One of the advantages of the Joy Road office is enlarged quarters, giving those waiting in the many lines less of a feeling of being cramped, one of the employees said.

The new building is under the supervision of Louis E. Belanger who said claims in the five county area have declined by 8,800 in the past month.

Epley, quoting from records kept in the Joy Road office, said claims there have declined from a high of 5,900 as of March 31 to 5,100 as of April 30.

"In January we were processing about 10,000 claims. Last week the figure climbed from April to 7,300 because of the new law which extended benefits," Epley said.

The move to the new office was rather sudden, Epley said.

"The deal for renting the building was closed on Friday and we moved in over the weekend, opening for business on Monday."

The busy parking lot had not yet been surfaced last week but work was expected to be done on it over last weekend.

The Mill Street office, which was also rented by the state, had been sold, thus making it necessary for the state to find a new location for its area office.

Work to begin on Sheldon Rd.

CANTON—A $160,000 widening program of Sheldon Road at the intersection of Ford and Sheldon in Canton Township is expected to begin by the end of May.

Lew Sugo, director of public information for the Wayne County Road Commission, said about three-tenths of a mile north and south of Sheldon will get new pavement. There will be widening and new curbing installed at the intersection, Sugo said.

Bids were taken last Thursday but no announcement as to which firm received the job were available.

Ford Road will be widened at the intersection to make it uniform with its width in front of shopping centers immediately west.

While Sheldon is a county road,

Ford belong to the state which will pay for the work done at the intersection.

No plans for detouring traffic during construction have been announced, Sugo said. It is expected traffic will be able to use the roads while work is in progress.

Residents in the fast-growing area have complained for some time about the rough paving of Sheldon Road north of Ford.

Sugo said, depending on the weather, the work could be completed within three months.

Traffic on Sheldon Road has increased considerably during the past year and with construction trucks using the road, ruts and chuckholes have increased considerably.

Congratulations class of '75

These young men and women who have just completed a major part of their education justify our confidence in the future. Working as a part of our ever-growing family, these young people have proved to us that the "coming generation" is indeed up-and-coming...people we can depend on, and of whom we are justly proud.

Some of our graduates will be leaving us in the fall to attend college in other cities and states. Many will continue their part-time employment with us during further education at local colleges and universities. And, we expect a number of them to become full-time employees of our organization, as have other graduates before them. Whatever their plans may be, our very best wishes to all of them.

And, as each year one group graduates, we welcome those new employees who follow their footsteps, saving for college or augmenting the family income by filling vital jobs at Meijer Inc.

Gambling arrests are made at DRC

Eight persons from Detroit suburbs lost their gamble with Livonia Police and face court appearances for holding an illegal bookmaking operation on the Detroit Race Course grounds.

A June 12 arraignment is scheduled in Livonia District Court following their release. The eight were charged with conspiracy to violate the state gambling laws.

The defendants are: Laurence Leshman, 41, of 10190 Willowick, Southfield; Lawrence Schwartz, 42, of 23670 Carriage Hill, Southfield; Marvin Cohen, 28, of Southfield; Theodore Bakatselos, 34, of 33704 Yuma, Westland; Arthur Iaconelli, 51, of 5859 Lockland, Dearborn Heights; Michael Teen, 29, of 6611 Kirkwood, Detroit; William Montroy, 28, of 17185 Gaylord, Redford Township; and Patrick McCue, 28, of 15601 Code, Southfield.

The eight were arrested by Livonia policemen and officers from the Thoroughbred Racing Protections Bureau, which oversees race track security. Officers confiscated betting slips and more than $15,400 in cash, they said.

The officers identified Leshman as the leader of the group which had been under surveillance since last month following a tip from an informant.

The group was reported by police to have received bets openly on the DRC grounds from persons willing to bet on credit and avoid long lines at the legal betting windows.

County offers garden plots

WAYNE COUNTY—Senior citizens who want to stretch their pension dollars can garden county-owned land in Westland this summer.

Two senior citizen volunteers—Walter Massey, 68, of Westland, and John Woodcock, 69, of Wayne—devoted several days to staking out the 50-square-foot plots of already-plowed land located south of Michigan Avenue, across from Wayne County General Hospital, between Middle Belt and Merriman.

Now in its second year, the garden program has doubled the number of plots available to 50 and is prepared to add another 50, should there be a demand.

Originally conceived by Wayne County Commissioner Tom F. Taylor (D-Westland), the program now is run by the Wayne County Office on Aging, an agency of the board of commissioners.

Persons interested in participating in the gardening program may contact the Wayne County Office on Aging in Detroit.

Harris is S'craft candidate

Jerome Harris of 16944 Shrewsbury Court, Livonia, has filed as a candidate for the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees.

JEROME HARRIS

Harris, an attorney with offices in Livonia, is one of six candidates seeking two six-year terms on the Schoolcraft board. All six are Livonia residents.

Voters will elect college trustees while voting on school board members in local districts June 9. The college district is composed of the Livonia, Plymouth, Garden City, Clarenceville and Northville school districts.

HARRIS attended Detroit schools, Eastern Michigan University, and received his law degree from Detroit College of Law. He also attended law school in Birmingham, England.

He married and had two children while attending law school, and has practiced law for about 20 years.

Dems sponsor PSC's Ralls at May 31 talk

William Ralls, a member of the Michigan Public Service Commission, will speak on "Solutions for Your Economic Problems" at a May 31 Issues Seminar sponsored by the Wayne 2nd Democratic Party at Schoolcraft College, 18600 Haggerty.

Linda Joy, director of the Michigan Consumer's Council, and Andrew Brodhun, president of the Michigan National Bank, will serve as members of the panel beginning at 1:30 p.m. in the Liberal Arts Building.

Eldon Raymond will serve as panel moderator. The public is welcome to attend the free program, according to Larry VanderMolen, program coordinator.

Special automobile show at Westland

A special off-season auto show will open at Westland Center, Wayne and Warren Roads in Westland, Thursday, May 29, and continue through May 31.

North Brothers Ford of Westland is sponsoring the show in hopes of getting persons interested in its dealership and buying new cars.

Besides a full range of cars and trucks to be on exhibit through Sunday, June 1, the show will include balloon giveaways, mime and magic shows, special guests and prizes.

Frank Palermo of Redford will perform mime theater imitations, Tom Doty of Milford will perform magic, and Detroit Tiger second baseman Gary Sutherland will appear from 6-8 p.m. Saturday, May 31. Prizes include a mini-Mustang, $400 gift certificates, and $50 coupons towards a new car or truck purchase.

Harris served three years in the military during World War II, including two years overseas. He has lived in Livonia for the past 10 years.

Harris is a member of the U.S. Draft Board, the Old Newsboys, Livonia Bar Association and State Bar of Michigan.

HARRIS SAID he decided to run for the Schoolcraft board because he wants to become involved in civic affairs.

"I feel a citizen has an obligation to become involved and this is my choice to perform a civic duty for the community."

Harris added there was not any particular issue that prompted a decision to seek the position. "I can deal with issues as they come up for decision once elected. Why be critical now?"

Besides Harris, other candidates include incumbent Ronald Cowden, Robert Cadotte, Harry Greenleaf, Richard Hayward and Mark McQuesten.

This list was unofficial as of press time. Petitions on nominating petitions still were being checked for validity. Saturday, May 17, was the deadline for candidates to withdraw.

Glacial stream provided water

(Part I)

Those in the community who were incensed when the Detroit Board of Water Commissioners announced its intention of increasing water rates by more than 30 per cent, may find enlightening this review of the city's water system since 1893, the year Plymouth gave up the old oaken bucket.

In 1891, those residents who wanted something more convenient and reliable than individual wells, and who were tired of taking old Dobbin down to Tonquish Creek whenever he was thirsty, began to press for a more adequate water supply. Aside from the drinking requirements of a growing population, there was an urgent need of water mains to provide pressure for fighting fires.

Charles Bennett said his father, L.H. Bennett, part owner of the Plymouth Fanning Mill factory, chaired the citizens' committee which was formed for the purpose of locating a good source of water. The source recommended by the committee was the Northrup Spring located in Northville Township. A flowing spring, it was west of Beck Road, between Six and Seven Mile Roads, about 3 1/2 miles northwest of the present city limits.

THE NORTHRUP SPRING, and wells which the village later dug in the same area, was fed by a glacial stream which ran from northeast to southwest. "A line drawn through Northville to Saline," wrote J.A. Borchardt, professor of civil and sanitary engineering, University of Michigan, who wrote a 1964 report on Plymouth's water supply, "would pass along the bed of this glacial stream. Such a line would also pass the Ann Arbor well field, the Saline Wells and the present municipal wells of Plymouth."

Borchardt said Plymouth was fortunate to be located near a dependable supply of water because most of Wayne County has no acceptable source of potable water except that which comes from the Great Lakes.

"Plymouth is in a much more fortunate location than most of Wayne County in many ways," he wrote. "While not exactly located over the Glacial Moraine, its site is not so far removed that access to the ground waters contained in its gravel pockets is impossible."

Although water from the Northrup Spring area was palatable, Professor Borchardt noted that the bedrock below the till in this area (till is a geological term for glacial drift consisting of a mixture of clay, sand, gravel and boulders) contains salt as well as sulphur compounds, and that water collected from gravel close to this rock was usually brackish, hard and unpalatable.

PLYMOUTH—PAST AND PRESENT by Sam Hudson

HE CITED A 1906 U.S. Geological Report which referred to a well in Canton Township, sunk to a depth of 108 feet by Edward Barker in 1901. "Salt water was secured from near the bottom, six to seven quarts yielding a teacup of salt. This water has been used for preserving pork."

The report went on to say that W.A. Wallace, also in Canton Township, had a well 70 feet deep whose water was so salty that cattle would drink it and require no other salt.

The 1906 report also mentioned the Plymouth Rock Mineral Spring referred to in a previous chapter of this history. "Some of these mineralized waters not so highly charged with salt are being put on the market for their medicinal properties and sold in Detroit by the gallon."

One of these sources of supply is on the Rouge flats at Plymouth. It is owned by Dr. M.V.B. Saunders of Detroit and is advertised as the 'Plymouth Rock Mineral Well'. It is reported that 3,000 gallons are sold annually, and that it has been found especially efficacious in cases of rheumatism, kidney and bladder troubles.

ALSO MENTIONED was a well nearby which was owned by H.P. Peters. It had a depth of 80 feet, possibly reaching bedrock. "The water is said to have originally flowed, and has been put on the market as 'hydrocarbon mineral water'. Bubbles of gas, apparently carbon dioxide, are continually rising to the surface."

To get back to 1891, and the efforts of the citizens' committee, on Sept. 23 of that year a special bond issue of $30,000 was approved by popular vote for the purpose of constructing a gravity system from the Northrup Spring.

On March 15, 1892, the bonds were sold at 4 1/2 per cent interest. A contract was let for the construction of a 10-inch vitrified tile crock line from the spring to the village.

During the time the community was discussing the proposed new water system, there were some who dissented. They declared that anyone who thought water would climb over the hills between the Beck Road spring and the village of Plymouth was "plumb crazy."

JUST BEFORE the water was turned on in 1893, one of the skeptics offered to bet $10 that the stream of water from the fire hose could not reach him if he stood on top of Conner's Hardware store. His bet was quickly covered by one of the believers. L.H. Bennett, who as chairman of the committee, had been given the honor of holding the hose when the water was turned on, directed the nozzle upward toward the man silhouetted on the roof. The powerful blast of water almost swept the doubter off his feet.

Unfortunately for Plymouth, however, the water system was completed a few weeks too late to be of use in controlling the disastrous fire of 1893 which levelled the Phoenix block on Main Street, opposite Kellogg Park.

(Part II will discuss improvements made over the years, the underground concrete reservoir built in 1921, and the coming of chlorination in the 1940s).

Stoning of duck prompts reward

The stoning death of a duck on Phoenix Lake May 18 has brought on offer of a $200 reward from the Michigan Humane Society.

The white Pekin duck was the pet of the children of Robert Bessler of Northville Township, who lives on the east end of the lake.

Bessler said he and his children watched several teenagers throwing stones at the duck on the other side of the lake Sunday afternoon. By the time he reached the site, a 10-year-old girl had taken the dead duck from the lake.

"We bought two ducks just before Easter for the kids and they've been pretty much on their own for the past month or so, but they were defenseless against humans."

Bessler said the dead duck belonged to his eight-year-old son, Tom who watched as the duck was stoned to death. "I don't know what I can tell him. The Sheriff's deputy came out and my son wanted him to arrest the kids who did it, but there's no way we could identify who was responsible."

"We've had considerable trouble on the lake for the last two years." According to Bessler, teenagers have shot .22 rifles at ducks and other waterfowl including Canadian Geese and trumpeter swans.

Any art's a challenge to this Plymouth artist

By SUE ROSIEK

Johnnie Crosby has a passion for challenging art. Water color is her favorite and most successful medium, but she doesn't hesitate to experiment with new techniques.

She's dabbled in printing, plastic sculpture and other art forms but admits there just isn't time to explore them all.

Although a latecomer to the art field, Mrs. Crosby has chalked up an impressive list of awards, both locally and nationally.

HER WATER color "Homage to the American Indian" was recently selected to the Water Color USA Exhibit in the Springfield Art Museum, Springfield, Mo. She has received a first and honorable mentions in the Ann Arbor Women Painters shows; a second prize for a 1972 sculpture in Plymouth and other recognition in the Artrain Three Cities Show, J. L. Hudson, and Michigan Water Color Society Travel Shows in 1965 and 1967. Also to her credit are several one-woman shows and a list of exhibitions.

The Northville Township artist first became interested in art while a home economics student at Cornell University.

"I took a drawing course in college, my one and only, and enjoyed it tremendously. The drawing was selected for a class exhibit. Funny thing is I attended my 10-year reunion and spotted my drawing still hanging on the wall."

She married shortly after college and her artistic talents simmered in the background until her family grew up.

"Art takes a great deal of time, not just the execution, but thinking of what you are going to create," says Mrs. Crosby.

She started painting with oils but later moved to water color because of its "freshness and vitality."

"WATER COLOR is so fluid and much more exciting than oil. It's also a most difficult method. But who wants an easy life?" she asks smiling.

She enrolled in an art program at Wayne State University and studied with Mary Jane Bigler and Louise Nobili.

"They were teaching water color at a time when it wasn't very popular. They made it so interesting! Everyone wanted oil then, but now the trend has changed."

Mrs. Crosby and her husband, Eugene, enjoy skiing and traveling. A great deal of travel time is spent examining art. After viewing art coast-to-coast, Mrs. Crosby feels the quality of water color in Michigan far surpasses anything she has seen on the east or west coasts of the United States.

The Crosbys ski trips have a dual purpose, relaxation and inspiration. The Colorado trips have provided Mrs. Crosby with "enough ideas to paint for a lifetime."

A MOUNTAIN scene, an idea from their last holiday, hangs in the dining room. Its cool colors and peaceful mood has won it household appeal.

"My husband says when he looks at it, all his troubles go away."

Mrs. Crosby says she is enthusiastic about the arts concern expressed by the Plymouth Community Arts Council (PCAC).

"It should be applauded for its efforts in trying to expose the entire community to all phases of art. It's filling a gap that has existed for quite a long time."

SHE ALSO compliments area high schools and Schoolcraft College for making art facilities available and easily accessible.

The Crosby home, which overlooks Phoenix Lake, is tastefully decorated in contemporary style, with Mrs. Crosby's works accenting the decor.

"I like my own work. It may sound egotistical, but if I didn't like it I wouldn't do it!"

Besides art, Mrs. Crosby enjoys cooking, and belongs to the Michigan Water Color Society, the Ann Arbor Art Association, the PCAC, and the Ann Arbor Women Painters.

Several of her works will be on display in the Old Village Gallery on Starkweather in Plymouth, which is opening May 16.

White criticizes summer school

WESTLAND — Trustee William White believes the Wayne-Westland School District should intensify its summer school program to aid students having difficulties in learning.

"We are hitting only about 70 per cent of our kids with the traditional means of education. I think between 30 and 40 per cent of the students are not being reached," said White.

SUMMER SCHOOL is the way for the district to work with students who are having difficulties during the regular school year, he says. He objected that the administration was sticking to what he termed traditional modes of education.

"There aren't any tried and true methods of education. We should really pull out the stops in summer school," he said.

White queried administration officials over whether prospective summer school teachers were screened to see if they had specialized skills to teach students having difficulties.

Supt. Timothy Dyer said that intense screening was nearly impossible because the district was unsure until the last week before classes of how many students would be enrolled and how many teachers needed.

"Even though we are in much better shape than we used to be, there is still the problem of uncertain enrollment," said Dyer. "Many teachers don't wait. They go out and get employed elsewhere."

Dyer said it was untrue to believe that such a system attracted only the less qualified teachers.

James Lombard, Continuing Education Center director, said that special programs weren't needed necessarily in summer school.

"JUST BECAUSE a student does poorly during one semester doesn't necessarily mean new methods of teaching are needed," said Lombard. He disagreed with White that from 30-40 per cent of the students weren't being reached by the district's teaching methods.

Although critical of the present summer school set-up, White lauded the district's efforts in implementing special programs.

He pointed to district night school activities and the individualized education methods used in some of the school facilities.

"Our high schools have been successful in the vocational education area. The program offers fantastic options."

White would like to see reading and English programs designed to the students' interests.

Social needs tops for deputies' chief

By MARILYN FITCHETT

Perhaps the antithesis of both the policeman and union negotiator images, Jamil Akhtar has seen his Sheriff's deputies union negotiate anything but a conventional three-year contract.

A modish dresser who majored in political science, minored in English and art, Akhtar sees meeting social needs as more important to his union members than pay raises.

Calling contract negotiating "an exciting game involving novices on both sides," Akhtar got his first taste of unionism by clandestinely attending UAW seminars which preached social benefits as second to money at contract time.

But Akhtar, who spends 95 per cent of his county job time on union business, sees things differently.

"One of the first things I wanted to see implemented was to get the promotion procedure and job security out of civil service," Akhtar said.

"Prior to my election as president in 1971, there were 76 deputies dismissed. Since then, there have been eight, four of which were justified and four of which were turned back as a result of arbitration."

Akhtar sees the role of the union as doing the most for its members both in and out of its contract.

"The sheriff's department will come and go, but the department will always be here. Across the country in metropolitan areas, deputies have been downgraded to court or jail officers. At the very least we should be trying to maintain the status quo here."

One of the few setbacks in the recent arbitration ruling was the refusal of the panel to grant officers a sabbatical leave.

"We'll be fighting for it in the future. After an officer endures the stress and strain of 20 years on the force, he should be allowed the time to reflect on how he'll spend the next five years on the job."

"Right now we're working on a formula whereby an officer can bank compensatory time to the extent that he would be able to take four months off."

Akhtar said he will be seeking other social changes for his members including:

- The establishment of an alcoholic detoxification unit.

- "I think alcoholism should be treated as an illness instead of something that needs to be punished."

- Continuous in-service training.

- "The county should be providing officers with a four week refresher course every five years to allow officers to brush up on court decisions. The county should be trying to make the department as professional as possible."

- Higher educational opportunities.

"Most officers going to night school to get an education have to take a semester or two off from their job so they can take classes in their major which aren't offered at night. They should be paid some sort of subsidy and should have their insurance premiums paid."

"Of our 550 men, 320 are now going to college and 67 have degrees. The men are doing it on their own and I would like to see the county putting forth the same initiative."

- Group legal insurance. "We need some way of bringing attorney fees down for our members in such cases as civil suits, obtaining mortgages and divorces."

CALCULATING CALVIN'S CORNER.

Betcha didn't know. Being something of a numbers nut, your old friend Calculating Calvin took a poll the other day. And it moved my digit back about three spaces when I discovered an awful lot of people don't realize that you can become a Triple-A member and get all the club services (84 in all) without buying Triple-A's well-known Exchange Car Insurance.

TripGuard pays off. Some people overlook it, but you get some terrific personal protection with a Triple-A membership. Every member, for example, automatically gets TripGuard Protection, which pays up to $200 if you're involved in a collision which disables your car more than 100 miles from home. (This is to help reimburse you for extra food, lodging, car rental and commercial transportation expenses brought on by collision.) Last year Triple-A paid TripGuard claims totaling $37,500.

Personal Accident Policy. Every member also gets a personal accident policy which provides coverage in case of accidental death or injury in connection with travel or recreation. (And here's an interesting fact: The policy also provides accidental death benefits of $1,000 for children under 16 living at home.) But an accident could never happen to you or your kids, right? Well, last year Triple-A paid off personal accident claims totaling $481,160. The year before that we paid a total of $663,723. So accidents do happen.

Bail Bond. You'll never need bail bond, right? Well, last year Triple-A advanced $94,268 in bond money on behalf of its members. Mostly for minor speeding violations in neighboring states who won't accept your driver's license as bond, but who will accept your Triple-A membership card. Thanks to bail bond protection, exactly 2,714 members drove off happily (and a little more slowly) into the sunset last year without having to be detained in jail.

So why not check with a Triple-A membership representative? A Triple-A membership card is really going to save you a lot of money and grief. This is Calculating Calvin bidding you a fond adieu, which is a little nicer than a cheese fondue.

Paine Webber's Portfolio Dynamics. Finally, an objective evaluation.

Now for the first time you, the individual investor, can look at an objective evaluation of your portfolio. And see at a glance the exact risk you're taking.

Only Paine Webber makes this service available to the individual investor and we call it Portfolio Dynamics. We feel it's so important, for a limited time we're offering the service without charge.

Used by almost 2,000 individual investors a week.

We began to offer these new risk measurements nationally in January. And already almost 2,000 investors a week are using them to analyze their risks. The reason is that these tested measures are objective. They aren't based on a hunch or guesswork or any one broker's opinion. They're the product of a precise, computerized, scientific model.

The better you measure risk, the better you manage it.

These measures aren't designed to sell stock. In fact, they may tell you that your present portfolio pretty well balances your objectives and risks. They also tell you what to look for in the stocks you might decide to buy or sell. The result is, you measure risk better so you can manage it better.

For a free risk analysis of your holdings, please call us. Or send the coupon below.

Portfolio Dynamics is a part of our new Alpha Account. The Alpha Account is available for a service fee. For most subscribers, a substantial part of this fee is tax-deductible. But to introduce you to the Alpha Account, Paine Webber is offering (for a limited time) a Portfolio Dynamics risk analysis of your portfolio, without charge or obligation.

Michigan doesn't need a 2nd state government

Mayer Coleman A. Young isn't the only Detroit politician who is interested in controlling money and jobs, preferably at the expense of the suburbs, the state or the friendly federal government.

Now comes the Hon. Carl Levin, president of the Detroit Council, to plead the case for $9 million in state funds to rectify "financial discrimination" against the city by the State of Michigan.

As we run through Levin's analysis, keep in mind two principles: (1) We in the suburbs will help pay for that $9 million; (2) We in the suburbs will have nothing to say about how it's administered because we can't vote in Detroit elections.

Ready? Let's reason together:

POLICE CRIME LAB. Levin notes the state police department operates seven crime labs, which provide service to every police agency in the state. Detroit runs its own lab at a cost of $1.7 million. Levin thinks the state should reimburse Detroit.

Query: Who told Detroit to start its own crime lab? Why shouldn't Detroit use state crime labs instead of its own? Why should the state pay for a crime lab over which it has no control?

The obvious answers are that Levin and Detroit politicians don't want to lose control over those jobs.

POLICE HARBORMASTER. Levin says the state pays counties two-thirds of their costs for providing harbormaster services. Detroit pays most of the harbormaster cost ($600,000) in Wayne County but gets no reimbursement. Levin's solution: The state should give Detroit $600,000.

Alternate solution: Let Detroit get out of the harbormaster business, let the county do it, and let the state give the county that $600,000.

Tim Richard writes

FREEWAY PATROLS. The state police patrol interstate freeways everywhere but in Detroit, where the local police cover them. Levin's solution: Have the state pay Detroit $600,000 for patrolling freeways.

More logical solution: Have the state police patrol freeways everywhere, and let Detroit go back to patrolling its own streets and parking lots.

TAX EXEMPTIONS. Levin says the Legislature exempts Blue Cross-Blue Shield from local property taxes. The Blues' major real estate holdings are in Detroit, and Detroit loses $640,000 a year revenue. Levin wants the state to cough it up.

While Levin is at it, he should get Detroit to reimburse Royal Oak for the lost taxes on the Detroit Zoo, Plymouth Township for the lost taxes on the Detroit House of Correction and Northville Township for the lost taxes up to 1972 on the Maybury facility. What's sauce for the goose.

NOT ALL of Levin's ideas are bad. He notes, for example, that Detroit school kids pay to ride on city buses while suburban, outstate city and rural kids ride on yellow buses that are paid for in part by the state.

By and large, however, Levin is seeking our money to perpetuate Detroit's ill-considered decisions to provide state-type services. Levin's true motivation is to get the rest of us to pay for the jobs Detroit politicians control.

What Detroit needs to do is to reconsider its priorities—to quit providing state services and asking for state money. We need only one state government in Michigan.

Walks OK, but--

Try working for mankind

It's wonderful to help a good cause by walking 20 miles. But what a waste of energy!

Concern about sources of energy is on the front burner these days, so why not plug into the stamina and community spirit of the good-hearted people who are willing to walk or bike for their fellow man?

But instead of walking, why couldn't they clean up the Rouge or paint the apartments of senior citizens.

Pieces of broken glass lurk in every park, and many alleys are choked with trash. Why not Unchoke for Mankind or Sweep to Swat diabetes.

VOLUNTEERS COULD continue to find sponsors for their activities, but they would be paid by the hour or minute instead of by the mile.

It would be a chance for such service groups as Rotary, Jaycees or Soroptimists to spruce up their communities and at the same time contribute financially to a good cause.

It might work like this. Rotary could pick a vacant lot or an ugly building that is crying for improvement. They could submit the project to the March of Dimes or another group that would otherwise sponsor a march.

They would tell the organization that they, Rotary, would financially sponsor so many man hours of work. Maybe they could also supervise as well. March of Dimes could then accept or reject the scheme.

Volunteers would do what they have done in the past — volunteer to the March of Dimes and then go to neighbors and friends to find sponsors. They would be assigned to any one of the many projects set up in their area.

THE VARIETY of work might even increase the number of volunteer repeaters, who otherwise might think that one-20 mile march a lifetime is enough.

Certainly the joyous group aspect of the marches should be continued because this, too, can bring people back another year.

No doubt about it, though, this plan would take even more organizing energy than is already applied to the marches.

But after all, the March of Dimes came up with the planning skill and genius to polish off polio, so we have come to expect the impossible from them.

Other organizations also have their shares of skill and genius to tackle this kind of fund raising.

It would clearly be an indication of super dedication if these groups that have worked so hard to free our world from disease could give that extra push toward making it better in hundreds of other ways as well.

Walking for mankind is splendid. But it implies there is nothing better to do.

Growth industries
stop growing;
time to move

"Of the four great growth industries of the past quarter century—computers, education, automobiles and war—three of them face uncertain or downright discouraging prospects. Only the computer industry appears to have reasonably good prospects for future growth."

This chilling assessment of our economic growth potential comes from Dr. Charles C. Killingsworth, distinguished professor of labor and industrial relations at Michigan State University.

Killingsworth blames the current high unemployment rate not so much on economic policies as on major structural changes in the economy. For example, the number of low-skilled, poorly-educated workers hasn't declined much, but the demand for them has dropped.

The MSU economist isn't predicting another 1930s style depression. But he is saying that the labor market will face the problem of moving millions of workers from declining industries into areas of growing opportunity.

In the face of that advice, one wonders if the State of Michigan is doing the right thing by considering a major increase of unemployment benefits. If people are going to have to move to get jobs, we might better consider an old-fashioned 18th century bounty.

Pay a person a chunk of money to move to an area where he can get a new job rather than pay him to stay put and hope that in some distant year the auto industry will again sell 10 million units.

Editor:

I found Tim Richard's editorial opinion on the bitterness of graduation parties to be a damn fine piece of journalism, i.e., it was timely, rational and offered a reasonable solution to a familiar pattern.

As a Farmington Hills police officer with close to six years experience in the field, I can say that policemen hate to be called in to break up a graduation party that neighbors feel threatened by or to be sent in by superiors to bust up a graduation party.

In either case, the patrolmen I know and work with try to show as much restraint as possible and keep arrests (if any) to a minimum. All of us patrolmen on the "Hills" and other suburban police departments were high school graduates in the not so long ago and know that graduation parties are still a big thing in a young adult's life.

Also, when a policeman arrives at a party, he is probably just as apprehensive about the response of the partygoers as they are of his arrival, due to the fact that the policeman or policemen are usually outnumbered 10 to 1 and because force is the last thing we want to use to satisfy the nearby society or, indeed, to protect it.

His offered solution to parents—to rent a private hall—goes a long way toward solving this yearly social problem.

A fine paper
gets better

Editor:

My increasing admiration of the Observer & Eccentric newspaper has required me to write. Since the joining of the two papers, it has grown in excellence and scope as well as size.

Your feature articles are especially worthy of note. Well-written, and broad in interest, they are bringing local news to an enthusiastic readership. I especially enjoyed the account of the kitchens in the Redford Union schools.

My family and I also find the editorials reasonable, well-thought-out statements. Tim Richard's piece (May 8) in his "Graduation parties have bitter taste" is certainly a good example.

Philip H. Power (Observation Point, May 8) with his tongue-in-cheek treatment of the lobbying problem in Lansing ("Let doorkeeper do it") is another. Both writers gave us a great deal to think about, not only in terms of the stated problems, but as to what actions and attitudes we, the public, will want to consider.

Thank you for a fine effort.

Ban smoking
at meetings

Editor:

I have written to Wayne County Commissioner Mary Dumas urging her support for Commissioner George Z. Hart's request for a ban on smoking during commission meetings.

I'd bet my bottom dollar that having to "wade through smoke to see who is talking or even to read papers in front of him" is the most significant factor in board attendance and premature departure.

The "right to breathe fresh air" supersedes the expectation of a voice and a vote for the taxpayer.

Hart also urged in a companion resolution that the Wayne County Board of Health begin a coordinated inter-agency effort to educate the public on the adverse effects of tobacco smoking on the health of all who are forced to breathe tobacco smoke. The Observer & Eccentric papers should join in such an effort to educate the public.

Révelations in dreams has biblical significance

From earliest times, man has held very great regard for dreams, observed them, wondered about them, and attempted to interpret them.

In the days of the Israelites many sought consultation on their dreams from those outside their own religion and were warned against this. But, we are also told in both the Old and New Testaments time and time again how God revealed himself to man through dreams.

The Old Testament tells us how he revealed himself to Abimelech and to Jacob, and almost everyone has heard the stories of how Joseph and Daniel interpreted dreams. In the New Testament even Joseph the carpenter, husband of Mary, received messages from God in this manner.

Some people will tell you they never dream. Those who have researched dreams scientifically tell us everyone dreams, but not everyone remembers his dreams. Studies show we all experience several dreams nightly, but recall only those we are having when we wake up.

There are those who believe that certain foods or fragrances can make you dream more. Actually, these things only serve to disturb your sleep, causing you to wake more often during the night, therefore recalling more dreams.

WE ALL experience at least three different kinds of dreams, some of which need no interpretation.

One kind of dream which we all have, is the physical dream. Physical dreams are caused by something that is happening either inside our bodies or in our immediate environment. Heat, noise, thirst, hunger and the like all cause physical dreams.

Did you ever dream that you were thirsty and got up to get a drink of water, and later awakened to discover that you really thirsty and had only dreamed that you had gotten a drink?

This was a physical dream your mind manufactured to keep you asleep a little longer and not let your thirst wake you.

One night I dreamed I was walking along carrying a whole basket of cats, all of which were yowling loudly. Before long I awoke to discover my cat Sally standing by my bed yowling for me to get up and let her out. I had managed to ignore her for a little while because of my dream.

Physical dreams are the protector of our sleep. They need no interpretation, for their only purpose is to help us ignore what is going on around us and sleep a little longer.

ANOTHER KIND of dream we all experience sooner or later is the clairvoyant dream, the dream that comes true, perhaps a few days later, perhaps not for several years. But it does eventually happen in real life exactly the way we dreamed it.

Have you ever seen something, done something or been in a certain place and felt, all at once, that this was not the first time you had lived through this particular happening, but had seen or done all this before? This is called the "deja-vu" experience. One explanation for deja-vu is that possibly you dreamed this but do not recall the dream until the experience really takes place.

The third kind of dream, the kind most common to all of us, is the symbolic dream. This is when you dream one thing and it means another.

THERE ARE countless dream dictionaries or dream encyclopedias on the market where you can look up your dream to find out what it means. I would like to suggest that if you buy one of these, be sure to buy another one. If you don't like what you read in one book, you can look it up in the other one and find a different interpretation.

There is a very good reason for this: Each author tells what those symbols mean to him, and symbols do not always have the same meaning to all people.

Suppose there is a man who owns a house. It is a very nice house, but he is tired of taking care of it, tired of shoveling snow in the winter and cutting grass in the summer. He wants to sell this house and move into an apartment.

Down the block in an apartment complex, there lives another man trying to save money to make a down payment on a house where he can putter around the yard.

Now, suppose that both these men dream a dream about a house. Would that symbol mean the same to both of them? Of course not.

The meaning of dream symbols is determined by associations you have had in your past, and by what is happening in your life at this time.

There is, however, an excellent way to study your dreams and learn to interpret them for yourself. That is by keeping a dream diary.

Next Week: How to keep and use a dream diary.

Canton catches East in Anders finale, 4-2

By TOM SCERAM
Sports Editor

Plymouth Canton scored three runs in a pressure sixth inning rally Monday night to defeat Garden City East 4-2 and capture the 11th annual Les Anders high school baseball tournament.

Canton, ranked first in the state in Class A going into the game, survived an 18 team field to become the first Plymouth team ever to win the tournament which is sponsored by the Livonia Rotary Club.

Although the Chiefs had their tight moments making it to the finals, winning preliminary games by such scores as 6-5 over Redford Union and 4-3 over Livonia Franklin, none matched the tenseness of the Monday final.

Garden City East, sporting a 14-3 record going in and rated second in the Observer and Eccentric area, gave Canton all it wanted before a large crowd on a perfect night for baseball.

Tod Kleinbrook was virtually untouchable for the Panthers as he held Canton to two hits with intermittent help from Greg Emery.

But Kleinbrook's lack of control turned out to be his fatal flaw as the Chiefs took advantage of every East miscue in the decisive sixth inning.

East went into that inning with a 2-1 lead. Mike Verduce started things for Canton when he slammed a shot into centerfield off Kleinbrook's glove. He advanced to second on a passed ball and Dave Pink walked. Bill Pariseau was inserted as a pinch runner and both he and Verduce advanced on another passed ball.

Paul Major looked at a third strike for the first Canton out of the inning but when Kleinbrook's first two pitches to Bill Parson were off the mark, Garden City East coach Billy Joe TOD KLEINBROOK lost control for Garden City East.

Young brought in Emery from his rightfield position to pitch.

Canton coach Fred Crissey called for a safety squeeze and Emery came off the mound on the bunt but could not make a play, loading the bases.

Kleinbrook came on again for East but still could not find the mark. With a 2-0 count on Kieth Randazzo, Young again switched Emery and Kleinbrook. Randazzo looked at two straight wide pitches from Emery and the game was tied.

Emery quickly got ahead of Scott Dunagan, the next Chief batter, with an 0-2 count but Crissey took a gamble on Dunagan's ability to get the ball on the ground and called for a suicide squeeze.

Emery moved off the mound to field the ball and threw to Panther catcher Britt Ponte. But Ponte was not on the base for the force and missed the sliding Pariseau with the tag and Canton was ahead to stay.

"I thought that they would throw a low pitch to Dunagan with a two strike count and he is one of the best bunters on our team, so I think the squeeze was a good gamble," said Crissey after the game.

Chris Martucci, the next Canton batsman, flied to deep centerfield, scoring Parson with an insurance run and Brian Stemberger struck out to end the inning.

Parson, who had come on in relief of Martucci in the fifth and pitched superbly, then retired East in the seventh to record the victory.

East broke a scoreless tie with two runs in the fourth. Wally Kroll started the inning with an infield single and he advanced when Jeff Edgar was safe on an error.

Joe Becszko moved both runners along with a sacrifice bunt and moments later Kroll scored on a close play when Ponte laid down a squeeze bunt.

Emery then slammed a Martucci pitch deep into left-centerfield for a triple scoring Edgar.

Canton got a run back in the fourth when tournament Most Valuable Player Tom Close opened the inning with a double down the leftfield line.

Steve Dugan ran for Close and he moved up when Pink was safe on an error.

Two walks then forced in the run.

"I think that this game is indicative of the kind of baseball that is played in this area," said Crissey after the game.

"There were a pair of fine ball clubs on the field tonight and we were just fortunate enough to win the game," he said.

Young echoed Crissey's sentiments. "They are a good team and we are a good team. Tonight they won, it's that simple," he said.

THE MOMENT OF TRUTH in the 11th annual Les Anders High School baseball tournament came when Ed Pariseau of Plymouth Canton slid under the sweeping tag of Garden City

East catcher Britt Ponte in a sixth inning play which put the Chiefs on top to stay, 3-2. (Photos by Fred Hopkins)

Near perfect Chargers capture tennis regional Livonia Churchill capped a near perfect tennis season Saturday when it won its state tournament regional meet at Plymouth Canton, edging Northville 11-10.

Mark Cheadle remained unbeaten and proved himself the area's top net-standout, defeating Canton's Steve Pruter 7-5, 6-3 for the singles championship.

Cheadle, a senior, won all 12 dual meet matches and survived five rounds of elimination Saturday to take the regional title.

Both he and Pruter, along with the two doubles team finalists, will advance to the state tennis tournament to be held a week from Friday and Saturday at Kalamazoo College.

For Churchill coach John Jason, the triumph was a work of vengeance.

Only last week runnerup Northville spoiled his team's perfect dual meet record and gave the Chargers an 11-1 season mark.

"That's still as well as any Churchill team has ever done," said Jason. The Chargers got no help in the regional from their doubles teams as two of the three teams were knocked out in the first round and the other fell in the second.

But sophomore Dan Clark made it to the quarterfinal round in the singles event and junior Fred Bayoff made it to the semifinal round. Both Clark and Bayoff were defeated by Pruter.

In the final event, Cheadle was in command all the way.

"Mark's a well rounded player. He uses his head and changes strategies well," Jason said.

Jason said Pruter was a good match for Cheadle, however. "Pruter is one of the strongest players around," said Jason.

In doubles action, Northville's Jamie Boshoven and Dan Gougeon needed three sets to defeat the Livonia Stevenson pair of Jeff Johnson and Kip Nickels 6-2, 4-6, 6-4.

Schoolcraft sets first tourney on new courts

Schoolcraft College will host the first Schoolcraft College Open Tennis Tournament June 12-15, college officials have announced.

The tournament, which will be held on the college's 12 new courts, will be for men and women, singles and doubles, mixed doubles and a junior (15 and under) division.

"With the opening of these new courts, eight of which are lighted, this tournament may well turn into an annual affair," said David Heinzmann, director of college relations at the school located on Haggerty Road between Six and Seven Mile.

Play on the new all-weather, color coordinated courts will begin at 6 p.m. Thursday, June 12.

Players will be expected to provide their own tennis balls. Trophies will be provided for winners and runners up in each division, and entries at $3 per person will be accepted through June 10.

For further information contact Schoolcraft College.

WINNING SMILES tell the story for the Plymouth Canton team as it receives the 1975 Observer and Eccentric trophy as winner of the 11th annual Les Anders tournament from Schoolcraft College trustee Ron Cowden.

WHILE COLD STARES adorn their faces, members of a shocked Garden City East team receive the Sportsmanship trophy from Li-

RU goes on tear as Sub 8 race climaxes

Redford Union High School, still fighting for Suburban Eight baseball honors, snapped back from a mid-season slide and took three games last week.

RU is currently 7-4 in the jumbled Sub 8 race, one game back of Plymouth Salem with three games remaining.

On Thursday the Panthers nipped Livonia Franklin 2-1 in a non-league affair.

Howard Copeland picked up the victory for RU throwing just three pitches in relief of Craig Barrowcliff who worked six and two-thirds innings and held the Patriots to just four hits.

Barrowcliff got in trouble in the seventh, however, and loaded the bases with two outs and the score tied 1-1. After Barrowcliff's first pitch to Joe Pollard was off the mark, RU coach Bob Atkins went to Copeland who got Pollard in three pitches to end the threat.

In the bottom of that inning, Doug Lowney walked, moved to second on a passed ball, and scored on a Patriot error to give the Panthers their margin of victory.

Franklin had scored first in the third when Dan Pederson and JoJo Scarpace hit back-to-back singles and Barrowcliff walked two to force in the run.

RU countered with one in the fourth on Steve Schultz's RBI single to center field which drove in Rich Campbell.

Batteries: Franklin — Beer, WHITE and Pollard. Redford Union — Barrowcliff, COPELAND and Campbell.
FRANKLIN 001 000 0 — 1-2
REDFORD UNION 000 100 1 — 2-5-2

RU swung into league action Friday and blanked Allen Park 2-0 as Dan Bushart upped his record to 4-0, holding Allen Park to four hits.

The Panthers took the lead in the second when Tom Jones singled, was sacrificed to second by Ted Ackerman and came home on Schultz's base hit to center.

RU scored its other run in the fifth when George Willard singled driving home Gary Stafford. Stafford had singled and stolen his 11th base in 12 attempts this season to get into scoring position.

Bushart got into trouble only once during the game when RU put men on first and third in the fourth.

Batteries: Redford Union — BUSHART and Campbell. Allen Park — FOURNIER and Peterle.
REDFORD UNION 010 010 0 — 2-7-2
ALLEN PARK 000 000 0 — 0-4-0

Copeland picked up his second win of the week Saturday as Redford Union took a non-league game from Northville 7-2.

Copeland went the distance, holding the Mustangs to three hits, striking out 11 and walking three.

RU scored in the bottom of the first on George Willard's RBI single.

Northville took the lead with a pair in the second but the Panthers took the lead for good when they tallied three in the fourth.

Schultz started the inning with a double to right-center field. Copeland was then safe on an error and both he and Schultz raced home on Stafford's ensuing double. Ackerman wound things up with an RBI single scoring Stafford.

RU added two in the fifth when Bruce Stadler hit an RBI triple and came home on a throwing error by the Northville catcher.

The Panthers wrapped things up in the sixth when Bushart singled, stole second and came home on Stadler's base hit.

Redford Union is now 12-6 overall. "We'll have to win all three remaining games in order to win at least a share of the Suburban Eight title," said Atkins.

Batteries: Northville — Boland, MITCHELL and White. Redford Union — COPELAND and Campbell.

REDFORD UNION — BENTLEY

Redford Union exploded for three runs in the sixth inning Tuesday to defeat Livonia Bentley 4-1 and keep its hopes alive for a Suburban Eight baseball championship.

RU is currently 8-4 in the Sub 8 and trails Plymouth Salem by one game with two remaining.

Ted Ackerman started and got the decision for the Panthers, raising his record to 5-2.

George Willard started things for Redford in the fourth when he singled up the middle to score Greg Wood.

Then came the decisive sixth inning. Howard Copeland singled and Rich Campbell walked. Willard, who went three-for-three on the day, then hit his second RBI single.

Doug Lowney subsequently provided the Panthers with their big hit of the day when he tripled to left, scoring two.

Bentley scored its run in the seventh when Dan Dinsmore singled to left scoring Russ Hodges.

Batteries: Bentley — MURPHY, Napleka and Hodges. Redford Union — ACKERMAN, Copeland, Bushart and Campbell.

FRANKLIN — ST. MARY

Livonia Franklin split a non-league doubleheader with Redford St. Mary Saturday, winning the first game 4-3 in extra innings and dropping the second 4-2.

Darell Gunter's opposite field base hit with Tim Hollandsworth aboard gave the Patriots the deciding run in the first game.

Franklin had rallied from a two-run deficit for three runs in the fourth.

Steve Tresik singled to start that inning and Jerry Pollard, Hollandsworth and Mark Saia all followed with singles to score two runs. The third scored when St. Mary pitcher Mike Hool balked.

Chuck White took the win for the Pats, raising his record to 3-2.

Batteries: St. Mary — COUSINO and Hool. Franklin — WHITE and Pollard.
ST. MARY 000 201 0 — 3-4-4
FRANKLIN 000 300 01 — 4-9-1

Franklin took an early lead in the second game when Hollandsworth singled down the left field line in the first inning to score Calvin Beer, but St. Mary came back for a run in the fourth, two in the fifth and one in the sixth for a three run lead. Tresik's sacrifice fly scoring Pollard who had doubled and moved to third on a passed ball in the seventh was too little and too late.

A lot of people are looking into ways to beat inflation these days.

And that's one of the reasons many people are looking into a new home these days.

Given the economic trend of recent years, almost any sound, well-located home is likely to increase in market value over the years.

As such, a home can often prove to be a sound hedge against inflation.

Many homes that sold for $25,000 ten years ago, for example, are selling for $40,000 to $50,000 today.

Tax break.

In addition to a possibly appreciating investment, you also get a tax break when you own a home.

Under present law, both your property taxes and mortgage interest payments are tax deductible.

And that's in addition to the new tax credit of up to $2,000 which may be available to you under the Tax Reduction Act of 1975.

Lower interest rates.

Interest rates on home mortgages have been declining recently.

Couple that with the advantage of buying in a buyer's market and you can see why more and more people are looking at new homes today.

Mortgage money is available.

We have more of it to loan right now, in fact, than any bank in town.

We also offer you the convenience of being able to apply for a mortgage loan at any NBD office, and close at an NBD office in your neighborhood in as little as two weeks after approval. Which are two more reasons more people come to us for their mortgage loan than any other bank in town.

If you're considering a new home, why not visit your nearby office of National Bank of Detroit.

We'll be happy to tell you how much your mortgage will cost, what your monthly payments are likely to be, and answer any other questions you might have.

Which is another reason we make more mortgage loans than any other bank in town.

Making banking better for you.

Family plan for DRC?

Expected action by the Michigan Racing Commission was not forthcoming in time for Detroit Race Course to take advantage of its three day Memorial Day racing program, but DRC officials hope that by the following weekend they will be able to welcome children under 12 accompanied by an adult.

Plans for quick construction of a playground and picnic area on a grassy site north of the DRC grandstand have been held in abeyance until the commission finally gives the green light.

For weeks the Livonia thoroughbred race meeting has been seeking permission to admit younger children properly supervised to its Saturday and Sunday racing cards. Track officials feel the program will result in more family attendance to its weekend afternoon race slates.

There is a precedence for such a "youth movement" in Michigan racing. When Hazel Park introduced Sunday racing for the first time last year, children with parents were permitted to attend. Hazel Park credited part of its early Sunday successes to such a family plan.

DRC vice president Dick Wilson, long equipped with blueprints for an extensive playground area, said Wednesday that he has been expecting a letter from the commission "for several days."

"We have assured the commission that we will have the grounds ready and waiting for the children," Wilson said. "It will be a safe, fun area and they also will have a nice view of the races. It also will be convenient for the parents. All we need is the permission."

There is further precedence for such a program in Michigan's neighboring states. For years Ohio, Kentucky and Illinois have welcomed younger children, accompanied by adults, to their thoroughbred and harness racing activities.

Thus far, Sunday racing at DRC has been much less than impressive as far as attendance is concerned. DRC officials think that the true long range potential of Sabbath racing in Michigan cannot accurately be determined until the youth program is installed.

Meanwhile, DRC's racing secretary, Tom Dorsey, has been putting together the strongest race cards thus far this season for the three day holiday period. DRC will add Monday, Memorial Day, to its racing fare this week, then shut down on Tuesday.

West starts tournament drive

By JIM BRADLEY

Garden City West sophomore Tom Poole fired 'aspirin tablets' at Dearborn Heights Crestwood Tuesday as the slender junior hummed a two-hitter and a 7-0 victory in the pre-district opener of the state class A baseball tournament.

Working his fastball and curve to near-perfection, he permitted only four Chargers on base and one was cut down by catcher Jim Zoccoli's throw on a steal attempt.

West, meanwhile, collected two of its eight hits off Charger hurler Paul Chambers in the third frame to take a 2-0 lead, added a single run in the fifth and clinched it with a four-run burst in the bottom of the sixth.

The victory sends Bob Dropp's Tigers against the Pioneers of Dearborn High Saturday at the latter's field in another pre-district game.

Centerfielder Dave Noonan was the only Tiger with two hits as seven West players batted out eight hits.

Noonan coaxed Chambers for a walk with two out and the fleet-footed flycatcher stole second. Rick Cwiek, who raised his batting average to .321 in the game, slashed a single to center to score Noonan. Terry Bradley then walked and Matt Shinsky ripped one through the box to score Cwiek.

Poole, taking a cue from his mates, singled into left to score Cwiek in the fifth. West removed all doubt in the sixth by scoring four times. Jeff Summers legged out an infield hit and took second on a wild throw. Zoccoli was hit by a pitch and when he stole second, Summers scored on the throw down. Noonan singled and Cwiek walked to load the bases.

Bradley drove one into deep left-center field to the base of the tennis court fence, some 375 feet, for a double scoring Zoccoli and Noonan.

Cwiek then scored on Shinsky's bounce to short.

Poole's record now reads 4-3 after the win, in which he fanned 11, permitted only two singles, walked two and retired the last 12 men to face him.

The Tigers are tied for third place in the Tri-River League race with Southgate with 8-6 records, behind champion Melvindale's sparkling 13-1 mark and Taylor Kennedy's 11-3. West's overall mark is 10-9.

Batteries - Crestwood: CHAMBERS and Nichols; West - POOLE and Zoccoli.

Aggies thump Mt. Carmel,

Senior righthander Ron Jess went the distance, striking out 10, to lead St. Agatha to a 5-3 Catholic League baseball victory over Wyandotte Mt. Carmel Friday.

Dave Mully cracked a first inning home run with teammate Cris Gongol aboard to give the Aggies a quick lead.

The junior third baseman drove in another run in the third with a single to left which again scored Gongol.

Pat Ruvalo got into the act in the fourth when he walked, promptly stole second and third and scored on a Mt. Carmel error.

Mt. Carmel rallied for three in the fifth but the Aggies added an insurance run in the sixth when Jim Stevens, Ruvalo and Gary Beyrand all singled.

St. Agatha is now 4-6 in league and 6-8 overall.

A major portion of the biggest bowling battle of the year will be staged in suburban lanes starting Thursday, when the league winners meet in the preliminary round of the Champion of Champions Tournament.

At least one third of the 5,000 entrants will make their bids for the generous prize money at Livonia Lanes, Farmington Lanes and the Mayflower Lanes.

This marks the first time that so generous a portion of the event sponsored by the Bowling Proprietors Association ever has been held in this area.

The preliminaries will run until mid-June.

TAKING A PAGE from the pro bowlers' format, Paul Hori, manager of Livonia Lanes, staged a lone game knockout for the junior bowlers with some interesting results.

Pete Rener won the senior boys title by beating Scott Hori, 208 to 157. Tom Vonastek paced the junior boys with a 149-106 victory over Austin Ryan and Todd Hewitt won the squirt division by beating Brad Muller 125 to 119. In the girls' divisions Tam Hewitt defeated Dawn Muller 164 to 145 and Karyn Parker defeated Lisa Hori, 112-81.

The Motown team, one of the strongest in the state rolled the highest single game, its 1233 that was registered early in the season in the all-star leagues.

And Barbara Waling gained a share of national recognition with the perfect game she rolled in the mixed league at Farmington Lanes several months ago.

WITH THE CLOSE of the regular league season, here are the highest scores rolled by the men in the metropolitan area:

HIGH SERIES—3519 rolled by the Stroh team in the Michigan Open at Schaefer Lanes.

HIGH SINGLE 1276 by the Firebird Lounge team in the Bonanza Classic.

HIGH INDIVIDUAL SERIES 809 posted by Tony Loiacono in Bonanza Classic.

ALL-STAR PERFECT GAMES Dennis Moller and Dave Diomed, both in the Bonanza Classic.

THERE WERE 38 perfect games posted during the year. This is an increase of 15 over a year ago. There also were 21 games of 299 which is an increase of three over the previous season.

THE HIGHEST series rolled by a four man team was the work of the Regal Eagles, bowling in the Ford Steel League at Thunderbowl Lanes when they came through with a 2512 series. The members of the team are Jerry Olshansky, Roger Bartkowiak, John Novoselich and Robert Baranski.

How much liquid plant food?

Many home gardeners like to use liquid plant food on their flowers, vegetables and shrubs, using what is called a "hose-end" sprayer.

One of the soluble plant foods applied in this manner is Rapid-gro which has a formula 23-19-17. There are others on the market which are also safe, fast, efficient and easy to apply.

A reader who uses the 23-19-17 formula writes: "We usually apply it at

The Green Thumb

By GEORGE ABRAHAM

the rate of one teaspoon per quart of water for foliage feeding, but since the sprayers dilute the solution 24 to 1, or 60 to 1, depending on their setting, should we start with a more concentrated solution to make up for this dilution?"

Answer: Since this involves some arithmetic (and I'm the world's worst mathematician) I'll try to answer this in everyday, backyard language. First, take one teaspoon of the soluble plant food, and mix it with two teaspoons of water. Or, you can use ANY one measure of the fertilizer and add it to two similar measures of water, and mix them together.

In other words, it doesn't make any difference which measures you use, teaspoons, tablespoons, pints, quarts, etc. as long as they are the same for each.

Now that you have the base solution mixed together, set the nozzle 60:1 and this will give you a mix of about 180 to 1 (based on the fact that a teaspoon of 23-19-17 per quart of water, gives you a 200 to 1 mix).

We're assuming that a teaspoon of the plant food weighs one-sixth of an ounce.

Sounds complicated, doesn't it? What would help a lot is if the manufacturers of the sprayers worked out a table for the various plant foods found on the market. We hope that readers who use the hose-end sprayers will write and tell us how you calculate the dilution rate.

FANCY LEAVED crotons are flashy plants. They make an ideal decoration in the living room since they take little care, will thrive on low light, and only regular amounts of watering.

Unfortunately, crotons are in the news a lot these days because of a German discovery that the plants contain a substance which can function as "tumor promoters." People are worried about getting sick because of an active principle (phorbol esters).

Don't worry about getting cancer from handling the plants or having them around. If you ate the plant or smoked the leaves, it would be a different story.

The Cancer Institute tells us that "the magnitude of exposure of people to carcinogens derived from tobacco is vastly greater than the exposure that may result from occasional contacts with ornamental plants."

So don't worry about getting cancer by having crotons around the house. GREEN THUMB CLINIC: "We have lots of pine needles and wonder if they can be used as a mulch in the garden?"

Answer: Yes, they are fine. Put them around fruit trees, shrubs, evergreens and in the flower and vegetable garden.

Liability insurance is popular

During a television newscast in the midst of the tornado season, a young mother, holding her baby, stared at the bare foundations of what had been her newly-built home.

She said that she and her husband had moved into their new house and made their first monthly mortgage payment a few days before the tornado struck. Tearfully she added that they carried no insurance.

By now the young homeowner has certainly discovered she was mistaken. She had forgotten that proof of adequate insurance was required by the mortgage company. Consequently, she did have the financial protection she so desperately needed.

THE INSURANCE Information Institute says there are almost 3.2 million households in Illinois made up of 1.7 million families who own their homes and nearly 1.5 million who rent the apartment or house they live in. This is over 70 billion dollars of value subject to loss!

Many of these owners and tenants buy extensive insurance coverage, but they may not remember just how much financial protection they have provided for themselves—either through the basic fire and extended coverage or the broader homeowners or tenant homeowners package policies.

Since its introduction in the early 1960s the package concept for property and liability insurance protection has climbed steadily in popularity. Today the combination coverage is selected by about 60 per cent of all household insurance buyers, either in the homeowners policy or tenant homeowners form.

IF YOU HAVE one of these policies, do you know what you bought? The tenant's policy contains virtually the same extensive coverage as the most popular type of dwelling homeowners package except that insurance for the actual building structure is omitted.

The most common version of the homeowners policy covers the dwelling and other structures on the lot, such as garage or toolshed, plus the personal property contents—furniture, equipment and clothes. This personal property protection applies whether a loss occurs in the home or away from the premises.

The policy also covers additional living expenses incurred while a home is being repaired following a loss and the family has to stay temporarily in a motel.

A wide range of property protection is included in the homeowners broad form coverage. The package includes coverage for damage suffered from the basic perils of fire, lightning, windstorm, hail, explosion, riot or civil commotion, aircraft, vehicles, smoke, vandalism and malicious mischief, theft and window breakage.

The Stroller

A Memorial Day treat

Each year, as Memorial Day approaches, The Stroller can't help feeling sorry for the present generation. It has missed the thrill of walking hand in hand with a veteran of the Grand Army of the Republic back in the days when the holiday was celebrated on May 30. And it was revered like no other before the politicians started moving it around to provide a long weekend for the working man.

These old soldiers who had fought the great fight to preserve the Union during the four bitter years of strife, from 1861 through 1865, were held in higher esteem than those of the wars that followed.

Why? Nobody knows. But there was something about these fellows who proudly wore their uniforms of blue and the time-honored fedora hat that stood them apart. And it always was a treat to be with them, especially on Memorial Day—their biggest day of the year.

The Stroller was doubly fortunate in that his grandfather, affectionately known back home in those days as the "Old Colonel," was not only a veteran, but he also was commander of the Grand Army Post. Because of that high honor, he enjoyed the privilege of being the grand marshal of the annual parade and rode the white horse at the head of the procession as it moved up Front Street in our little town enroute to the cemetery. No king ever rode with greater bearing than the "Old Colonel."

AS THE STROLLER closes his eyes, the sight of the GAR veterans moving up the main street is seen again, just as plain as if the lads were marching right now.

For days they had drilled. And under the direction of the "Old Colonel" they rehearsed many hours. You see, the old gent was a stickler for perfection and no one liked to strut his stuff more than he did. But he always wanted the others to look good, too.

These Memorial Day parades were quite the thing shortly after the turn of the century when the old lads in the GAR only had to share the day with the veterans of the Spanish-American War. They were the big event of the year—with more pomp and ceremony than we have today.

The GAR had arranged for the building of a small chapel in the cemetery back home and the graves of those who had made the supreme sacrifice were in an adjoining plot. To the GAR this was hallowed ground.

En route to the cemetery, the procession had to move over the Pine Street Bridge and the "Old Colonel" was at his best when he halted the march. With great fanfare he would lead the throwing of flowers in the Lehigh River as a tribute to those who had given their lives at sea.

IT WAS AT THE cemetery, though, that the "Old Colonel" reached the peak. Strong of voice, and exacting in protocol, he ran the ceremony with all the éclat of the most capable movie director. It really was his show.

The only part allotted to someone other than a veteran, was the reciting of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. This was given by the student in the high school who had won the right to stand before the gathering and let go with "Four score and seven years ago..." in eliminations held throughout the school district.

Being chosen to recite the famed speech was considered quite an honor and the "Old Colonel" made the most of extending praise. But he was at his best in leading his comrades in the ceremonies at the graves. John Barrymore couldn't have done a better acting job.

The "Old Colonel" never wavered until the year of the big thunderstorm. Just at the peak of the ceremony, there was a roar of rolling thunder and a flash of lightning with a loud crack—a tell-tale sign that it had struck close by.

Sure enough, it struck the GAR monument right in front of the chapel and at the very spot where the "Old Colonel's" name had been chiseled in the stone. When he saw that, tears filled his eyes. He thought he was being punished. He vowed he'd never be back. He never did return. He was called to his reward before another year passed. But The Stroller is going back this year—if only in his dreams. He'd like to walk with the GAR again.

Peck combines beauty and substance in 'Dove'

By MARILYN FITCHETT

Now that George Pierrot's television series has been canceled, it looks as if we're going to have to depend on Gregory Peck to show us some of the most enchanting places on earth.

But unlike Pierrot, Peck, in his debut as a producer, brings us a sure-hit story to go along with those breath-taking scenes in "The Dove." Peck picks a winner in a script detailing the adventures of a 16-year-old who takes five years to sail around the world alone in a 23-foot sloop. Just as the real Robin Graham traveled 30,000 miles, the crew of "The Dove" made the same voyage twice with Peck employing eight sloops identical to Graham's Dove.

TRAVEL BUFFS will be able to take in South Africa, Australia, the Panama Canal, the Galapagos Islands, Hawaii, the Mexican Coast, Mozambique, Mauritius, Fiji and Bernia.

Peck not only presents the geography but the sociology and zoology as well. Native customs are woven into the film and wildlife, which usually is not captured outside the pages of National Geographic, is shown.

Of course, beautiful scenes do not make a movie. Peck, in his selection of Joseph Bottoms as Robin, proves he knows a good actor when he sees one. The weight of the movie depends on Bottoms, and he follows through with style.

Unfortunately, Peck appears to be so engrossed in finding a suitable male lead that he settled for second best with Deborah Raffin, who plays Patti, the woman who eventually becomes Robin's wife.

BOTTOMS becomes Robin on the screen as he endures a loneliness he does not want, a storm he just barely survives and the restructuring of an ambition to conquer the sea on his terms instead of on his father's.

Raffin, in contrast to Robin's solid character appears shallow, and the audience has to ask itself what Robin sees in Patti. As the story develops, Raffin matures and abandons her globe-trotting ways, discovering that living for Robin results in a more meaningful life.

Hard core realists will want to shy away from "The Dove" as it is a romantic film. It has a happy ending to end all happy endings, and everyone leaving the theater probably longs for the kind of relationship Robin and Patti seem to have.

ONE OF THE picture's minor flaws is that we don't really see Robin develop as a character. He is 16 at the start of the picture and 21 at the end. The development of five of the most formative years in a person's life is missing.

The movie carries a PG (parental guidance) rating, making the movie fine family fare without dwelling in the silliness of some of the Disneyesque films.

Piano recital at SC

Schoolcraft College has scheduled its third annual honors recital for piano students, Sunday, June 1 at 3 p.m.

Auditions for the recital will be in Room 301 of the Forum Building today (Thursday) between 2 and 7 p.m. Ten students will be selected from the audition to perform in the recital, and the two best performers will receive cash awards.

Students and teachers who live in the school district, which includes the Garden City, Livonia, Plymouth, Northville, and Clarenceville school districts, or who are members of the Livonia Piano Teachers Forum are eligible to participate. There is a $3 registration fee.

The honors recital is designed to give local piano students an opportunity for public performance as well as to hear other students perform, says

Donald Morelock, music instructor and coordinator of the recital program. Each student who auditions will receive a judge's critique sheet.

For more information regarding recital rules call the student activities office at Schoolcraft, 18600 Haggerty Road in Livonia.

Area choruses to perform

The Catholic Central Glee Club, under the direction of Donald Zielinski, will sing "Vive L'Amour," "This Train," and "Don't Say Nothin' at All."

Girls from the Clarenceville honors choir and glee club have combined a special chorus for this offering. Under the direction of Carol L. Hornung, they will present a variety including "Twentiana - A Montage of Songs from the 1920s."

The choirs will join in choral selections from "Cabaret."

Admission is $1, will proceeds begin donated to WTVS - Channel 56. Tickets may be obtained from any chorus member of at the door.

Dunlap announces PSO's 1975-76 schedule

Musical Director Wayne Dunlap outlined a series of challenges for the Plymouth Symphony Society's annual meeting as the orchestra embarked on its 30th year.

"The best orchestras are not necessarily the ones which have the best players. They're the ones with the best organizations," Dunlap told society members.

Dunlap noted the increase of new orchestras in communities surrounding Plymouth, saying they provided "a challenge" on one hand and a strengthening of the overall public interest in good music on the other.

The conductor, who is beginning his 25th year with the Plymouth Symphony, called for continuation of efforts to build audiences. "We play better when we have a good audience," he said.

Next season's concert dates tentatively are in mid-October, Nov. 16, Dec. 7, Jan. 22, March 7 and April 18 with the traditional "pops" concert May 8, he announced.

Highlight, if a state grant is obtained, will be a musical program on the Shaker sect, locally written and produced. Dunlap added that an American composer would be represented on every program in the bicentennial year.

Re-elected to the society's board of directors were Jane Moehle, current society president, and James J. McGittigan, both of whom had previously filled out vacancies.

New board members are Dorothy Bushong, Gilbert Camp, Yvon Litalien and Brian Zelek. Representing the Plymouth Symphony League on the society's board will be Fran Lang, new league president.

Leaving the board were Norman Ruehr, vice president; Dr. Charles Wells Jr., secretary; Melissa Roe, senior citizen representative; Dr. Richard Kirchgatter, former board president and Jan Gerish, outgoing league president.

At 30 years of age, the Plymouth Symphony is among the oldest in the state, ranking with Detroit, Kalamazoo, Saginaw and Grand Rapids, Dunlap said.

'The Other Side of the Mountain'

Skier achieves against cruel odds

BY SHERRY KAHAN

The heroine of "The Other Side of the Mountain" is brought down from her mountain on a stretcher.

In a moment she is changed from a much praised, confident skier close to earning a place on the U.S. Olympic ski team to a flat-on-her-back helpless baby.

So now what, Jill? A retreat from life like a spoiled minor celebrity who didn't get her way? Or back to the drawing board?

In this true story of Jill Kinmont, the bedridden girl decides to fight back. Doing this, she has the help of an unconventional friend, nicely played by Beau Bridges.

She also still has the athlete's determination to practice.

THIS IS A trait often overlooked in our national adulation for men and women who use their bodies with success on courts and fields. We ignore the endless hours, day after day, spent perfecting layups, backhands or the ability to pass.

The qualities of tenacity and willingness to practice that made Jill a skilled skier are there to be called upon when she must try a thousand times to move her lifeless fingers to pick up a potato chip.

Somehow in a good-humored, positive fashion, the film shows a few glimpses of the fight that Jill and the handicapped people like her must make to get into our world. It also challenges the common assumption that because much of the body is dead, the head is also dead.

IT OFFERS a gentle reminder that when meeting someone tooling along in his wheelchair, instead of whispering behind his back or shooting sympathetic glances to him, go right up and shake his hand.

Starring Marilyn Hassett, "The Other Side of the Mountain" is a soap opera kind of tearjerker. It is not a deep movie. In its way, it is a simple success story, for we are not usually confronted by those who don't make it back.

A good portion is filled with marvelous mountain scenery and topnotch competitive skiing. But it is a story of courage and tells us things we ought to know.

Realtors form partnership

Art Anderson and George Gooding are partners in a new real estate venture in Livonia.

The two are equal partners of the First Federal Realty office opened recently at the Village Fashion Mall at Seven Mile and Merriman in Livonia.

Both have worked for other real estate firms in Livonia and have been active in the profession for a number of years. A previous announcement reported Gooding was office manager and failed to mention both were partners in the new venture. The error is regretted.

SUICIDAL DISPAIR seeks a reassuring voice, and volunteer Virgie Rose of Garden City is at the other end of the telephone line.
(Staff photos by Art Emanuel)

Crisis centers work to prevent suicides

BY SHERRY KAHAN

The calls come mostly at night. "I feel like killing myself," murmurs an unknown voice to the counselor manning the telephone in one of the area's crisis centers.

Rarely is the voice of the potential suicide loud and dramatic. Rather it is low and subdued—the voice of despair.

Trained in suicide prevention, the counselor quickly draws on his expertise and experience to see his caller past this dangerous period of stress.

"We try to work with the person and help him through the immediate crisis," says Eugene Michels, who has handled many suicide calls as director of the Redford Township Information and Counseling Center on Drugs.

"Mostly they are calls for help. They want to get through their depression. However, a few have already taken pills and now regret it. In that case we ask them where they live and send out a rescue squad."

MICHELIS IS ONE of a growing band of social workers and psychologists who immerse themselves in the work of five crisis centers in this area.

And during Suicide Prevent Week, May 18 to 24, they and the volunteers who help them are doing exactly what they do all year long—giving new perspectives to people whose lives are at low ebb.

The centers in operation in this area, besides the Redford facility, are the Garden City Substance Dependence Treatment Center, Our House in Plymouth and the Livonia and Wayne-Westland Aide crisis centers, run jointly by the Community Commission on Drug Abuse.

WITH VOICES of reason and sympathy, trained and volunteer workers try to whittle down the number of suicides. During 1973 that number was 4,565 in Wayne County.

Our House in Plymouth had 70 out of its 1,702 calls last year from persons with suicidal feelings. Redford has from five to 10 such calls a month, and Garden City has a couple.

A spokesman for the Livonia and Westland centers, which share a crisis phone, found the number difficult to estimate. About 25 per cent, he said, involve those in a depression, and in a small percentage there is suicidal talk.

"We involve ourselves in what they are thinking and feeling," Michels said, "to learn the cause of the depression. Just doing that is therapeutic—they begin to feel someone cares."

ON CALL on the Redford crisis line are paid staff members, all of whom are social workers or psychologists. Volunteers back them up.

Terry Fields, project director of the Garden City Substance Dependence Center, reports that his staff follows a procedure similar to that followed in Redford Township.

"Our counselors try first to find out what is going on with the suicidal person and provide some kind of support," he says. "We try to help them gain perspective on what is going on at that moment.

"Telephone counseling is difficult because you are trying to establish a level of trust with someone whom you can't see and who cannot see you."

As far as he knows, no one making a suicide call to the center actually carried out his plan.

"But we don't know for sure," he notes. "There is no way for us to follow them up unless they want us to."

KATHY Crossley, now supervisor of Livonia Aide Crisis Center, took her first suicide call when she was a volunteer. Her feeling of nervousness was greatly lessened by the fact that an experienced counselor was at her side to aid her if necessary.

The Livonia-Westland crisis telephone line is answered by paid counselors and 50 active volunteers, all of whom have at least 50 hours of training.

Ms. Crossley says that on the phone she "lets them know I care, that I am there and will talk as long as needed."

"The response is usually good. Often the person is feeling so alone that contact with another person is just what he needs."

She feels that anyone in the world is a possible suicide if subjected to the wrong amount of problems and frustrations.

OUR HOUSE'S Fred Prezioso understands that one side of the caller wants to kill himself and the other part wants to live.

"We appeal to the part which wants to live," he says.

As counseling supervisor, Rev. Prezioso, pastor of Epiphany Lutheran Church, has taken his share of suicide calls.

The good times, he says, are when a possible suicide assures him at the end of the conversation. "Things are looking better now," adding "I'll be coming in to see someone for counseling on a regular basis."

All the centers make an effort to draw in their callers for further help from counselors, whether the problem is drugs, suicide or general psychological adjustment.

THOSE WHO answer the crisis line give only their first names. In Our House, a volunteer named Ruth explains that in a crisis "we don't tell them what they ought to do."

"We explore what choices they have. At first they feel there is no way out of their difficulties. We try to explain they have the power to control their own lives, that if they try to tackle a small problem they might then have the confidence to tackle a large one."

Ruth feels really good following the successful handling of a suicide call.

"If they tell you at the end they will not hurt themselves, and you feel they mean it, well, you've got to feel really great that they have made a decision and maybe you've helped in some way."

He's 445 pounds less and enjoying life more

By SUE ROSIEK

Three years ago Bill Leverton of Port Huron walked out of the doctor's office with an unusual prescription. The order was brief but explicit: "Join Weight Watchers to lose some of your 640-pound frame."

"That was the turning point in my life. I am a new man," Leverton told a Weight Watchers group recently in Livonia Mall.

In less than three years, Leverton "staying 100 per cent legal," shed 445 pounds and presently weighs 195 pounds. He has maintained his goal weight for the last four months.

"I owe it all to Weight Watchers and the good Lord. I don't have an ounce of will power," he added, holding up a picture of himself before the big loss.

LEVERTON, a construction inspector for the Michigan Highway Department, was presented with an ultimatum in 1972. Shape up or look for another job.

"That scared me. I had a son to support and a house to keep up, so I decided to give the Weight Watchers program a try."

"I got to the first meeting early and weighed in. The great white monster (scales) didn't lie. I was fat. The lady who weighed me started reading me the rules and telling me that I'd have to eat three meals a day. I said I never ate breakfast in my life and I wasn't going to start now. She won, and I thank that lovely lady today."

Leverton's dedication made him Weight Watchers all time worldwide loser, and he helps others win the battle with fat by lecturing to groups in the metropolitan area.

"I hope other people will gain hope by seeing what shape I was in, and what I accomplished," says Leverton.

HE DESCRIBES his life before Weight Watchers as wasted.

"I went to work each morning and the boss would have to find a job that I could handle. Most of the time it was something I could do from a car."

"I got up in the morning just as tired as I went to bed. I didn't go out socially. All I did was eat...continuously."

An ordinary dinner for Leverton consisted of two dinner plates of baked potatoes and meat. "The vegetables and other items were just side dishes."

"After dinner I would sit in front of the television and snack on chips, pretzels, candy, peanuts, pop and anything else you can think of. Then I would ask my son to fix some sandwiches to get the taste of the candy out of my mouth."

Leverton says he's grateful to his boss for the demand.

"I have no animosity whatsoever toward that man. He did me a great favor. This is the first time I've been normal since I was in the seventh grade."

LEVERTON, at six-foot-three weighed 640 pounds and had a 74-inch waist and a 22-inch neck, and wore the largest trousers and shirts in the world. He had to order his clothes from a "big-man's" shop in Chicago. He currently enjoys being able to select clothes off the rack.

Leverton's battle wasn't easy. "I had five weight gains in almost three years. The first was about ¼ pound."

"I never did look ahead to my final goal. I always set short goals of about 25 pounds, and worried about staying legal one meal at a time. The scales took care of themselves," says a smiling Leverton.

WEIGHT WATCHERS wasn't the first time Leverton had tried dieting. "I started dieting at 18. At that time they (doctors) gave you thyroid pills. If they didn't kill you, they helped you."

Other diets included, water, grapefruit, various pill diets and the oil-bath in which, "you drink a cup of vegetable oil before every meal and the food just slides out."

"You name it, I tried it, with the exception of the drinking man's diet, because I'm an alcoholic, although I haven't had a drink in 28 years."

Leverton adds that being fat also put a great burden on other people, in particular his son.

"I'd have to call him every morning to put on my shoes and socks and pull my car out of the garage. He also did all the shopping, cooking and cleaning."

LEVERTON now shares those duties with Marion, his wife of two weeks.

Is he happy? "You bet I am," says Leverton, "but the fight's not over yet. I have to maintain my weight."

The 38-year-old Leverton still goes to meetings in the Port Huron area, but has scheduled sessions with other groups. His next lecture will be Thursday, May 29 at 7:30 p.m. in the Henry Ford Centennial Library at Michigan and Southfield roads in Dearborn.

Leverton's weapon against food is a poster of himself at 640 pounds, which covers the wall next to this television set. "Every time I see food on the tube I just look at the poster. I never eat between meals now."

"What made you eat so much in the first place?" asked a fellow Weight Watcher.

"I don't know," replied Leverton. "If I did I'd put Jean Nidetch and Weight Watchers out of business."

Anyone needing diet encouragement can write Leverton at 1343 Water Street, Port Huron, Mich. 48060. "I feel a responsibility to helping others lose," he said.

JANET GOOD of Farmington Hills, Weight Watchers lecturer at Livonia Mall, helps Bill

Leverton hold the trousers he wore at 640 pounds.

Talk on clocks YFU needs homes for foreign visitors

Thomas Eurich of Dearborn will discuss clock collecting at a potluck lunch sponsored by the Grand River Baptists Seniors Friday, May 23, at noon.

The event will take place in the fellowship hall of the church at 34500 Six Mile, Livonia.

Mrs. James O'Day of Plymouth needs about 60 homes.

Not for herself, of course, but for the young people who will start arriving in this area in August to spend a year in the United States under auspices of Youth for Understanding.

Some 2,300 teenagers from Europe, South America and the Far East are scheduled to come to this country for the coming school year, Mrs. O'Day said.

As official representative in this area for the program dedicated to fostering international understanding, she is responsible for finding homes for about 60 of them.

"We are looking for host families who wish to share their lives with a new 'son' or 'daughter' from another country," she said.

"Our students develop an awareness of life in the United States through participation in the daily activities of their host family and high school. At the same time they share their own culture and national heritage."

Youth for Understanding is a non-profit educational organization which receives an annual grant from the U.S. State Department and works in cooperation with the department.

Begun in 1951, it is dedicated to fostering greater international understanding by making it possible for young people to have an overseas family living experience.

In its 24 years, it has exchanged more than 50,000 U.S. and foreign students, and its operations have involved 48 countries.

Students in the YFU program become a member of their new family and have the same responsibilities and privileges as other children in the home.

Host families provide the necessities, such as food and housing, and students are responsible for their personal expenses.

Families interested in providing a home to a new student from Germany, Scandinavia, the Netherlands, Japan or one of 14 other countries sending YFU students this summer should get in touch with Mrs. O'Day. Her address is 1325 Park Place, Plymouth.

NOW unit pickets at Sears

Several members of the Northwest Wayne County chapter of the National Organization for Women (NOW) staged a picketing demonstration for an hour Monday, May 19, in front of the Livonia Mall Sears-Roebuck store.

The women carried signs with such slogans as "Sears—Equality NOW" and said they were protesting alleged discrimination in employment practices by the Sears management.

A local spokesman for NOW said the picketing as well as a boycott of Sears products was part of a coordinated NOW effort to "end discrimination at Sears."

"Based on figures from December of 1974, only 20.6 per cent of Sears' salesworkers selling big-ticket items with high commissions are women," said the spokesman.

"Furthermore, only four of Sears' 840 store managers are women. Sears is currently under investigation by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) for its practices against its women employees."

No incidents were reported during the picketing.

We've begun to make the wedding scene. Easing in, actually, not with a bride but a bridesmaid.

Even so, the circumstances were not without trauma. Mainly the problem was that the bride, just graduating from the university, and our bridesmaid, finishing her junior year, had no time to get together to discuss the dress that I was sure I was going to wind up sewing.

Despite considerable prodding on my part, it wasn't until less than two weeks before the wedding that there arrived at our house a brown paper bag containing four kinds of material, two patterns and a set of instructions with such messages as "all gathers behind the side seams" and "shorten bodice back, no waistband."

PANIC SET IN and I telephoned the bride. She understood and explained how to combine the two patterns. She even said she'd bring over the bridesmaid dress she had sewed for her sister so I'd have a model.

It really wasn't terribly difficult to sew, she assured me. She had made one for the maid of honor in two days. It didn't look very easy to me, and there was the little problem that this newspaper seemed to expect me to keep on filling news columns. No understanding at all that there was a wedding coming.

Besides, our bridesmaid was still on campus and not exactly available for fittings.

I ALWAYS WORRY when I cut into new material. This time I did it strictly as an act of faith, and somehow the faith was justified and things worked out.

The bodice and skirt (complete with train) and filmy sleeves were put together when we got our bridesmaid home for an evening. Unbelievably, the fit was quite good.

I WANT TO REPORT it was a beautiful wedding. The bride was absolutely lovely, and the bridesmaid looked great too.

Also assure anyone interested I'm in no hurry to be escorted down the aisle as mother of the bride. For now, it's quite enough to be mother of the bridesmaid.

—Margaret Miller

You have a right to get credit

Whether you are a young person employed full-time, a retiree, a working woman or a person with a low income, you have a right to credit.

With the right goes the responsibility to use credit wisely and make payments on time.

"Your Right to Credit," a publication which can be obtained free from the U.S. Office of Consumer Affairs, Pueblo, Colo., discusses these rights and responsibilities.

The booklet explains the new Equal Credit Opportunity Act, which bans sex discrimination in the granting of credit. It points out that not every woman can expect to get credit.

However, women applying for credit must be judged by the same standards used for men, that is, a steady income, prompt payment of bills, a regular savings record and cautious use of credit.

If you are ever refused credit, find out if it's because you have a poor credit rating. Whenever you apply for credit, a report on your credit standing is prepared, usually by a credit reporting company.

Under the Fair Credit Reporting Act, you have the right to learn the name and address of the company that put together the report on you.

Contact that company. They must tell you what information went into that report. If the report is accurate and you have a poor credit rating, talk with the manager of the credit reporting company.

Her bread has Biblical flavor

BY SHERRY KAHAN

What growing orchids, collecting first editions or carving totem poles is to some persons, studying the Essenes is to Mrs. Velma DePriest of Plymouth.

Her absorption in this religious order, which existed in the Holy Land in the period before the birth of Christ, has produced a tasty side effect. Mrs. DePriest bakes what she calls Biblical bread.

Once a week she pulls from her oven loaves of hot bread, the ingredients of which were all mentioned in the Old Testament and used by the Essenes.

The sect came to the attention of most of the world following the discovery of the famous Dead Sea Scrolls in a cave near the Dead Sea.

THESE ANCIENT leather and papyrus manuscripts contained Hebrew, Aramaic and Greek texts of the Old Testament which had been copied by the Essenes.

"The word 'Essene' means copy," said Mrs. DePriest, who had begun to read up on the group before the discovery of the scrolls put it on the map. "They spent a great deal of time copying religious documents."

"The sect broke away from the traditional Hebrew religion. They had different ideas. They were a gentle, good people, who were very religious."

"When I first heard about the finding of the scrolls in 1947, I hoped and guessed that the Essenes were the ones who wrote them. They would be just the type to do that. They were like priests."

"I love that type of person. They left a lot for us by copying and then hiding their manuscript when their monastery was destroyed by Titus. They could have burned or destroyed their work just as our officials are doing at our embassies these days."

THE BIBLICAL bread entered the scene because various foods were occasionally mentioned in the Old Testament and the scrolls.

"Ancient people used such things as wheat, barley, beans, lentils, millet, salt and rye in their bread," she said. "They also used something called figs, which really throws me. I can't find out what it is. I think it's a triangular grain, and I don't believe they used a lot of it."

"They did not have yeast, so they used millet and barley, which will make bread rise somewhat."

Mrs. DePriest favors barley flour in her breadmaking. An old hand at the work, she now pours in her ingredients, estimating rather than measuring.

The result is a chewy, filling, tasty treat of a kind rarely enjoyed with the mass-produced, air filled bread of today.

"It's very healthful bread. I'm sure it is more healthful than store bread."

THE ESSENE found around them a number of herbs to liven up their cooking.

"They used cinnamon, mint, dill, saffron, rosemary. Their mustard grew as high as a tree in those days. But they didn't have pepper. You had to be rich to buy it. I imagine their food was quite delicious."

Plymouth's 65-year-old Bible student is also impressed about how much persons in ancient times knew about medicine.

"In the Bible they suggest wine for the ailing heart," noted Mrs. DePriest. "In those days they must have had good wine — similar to muscadines — it was like a tonic."

The Bible has a cure for every illness if you just start looking, claimed Mrs. DePriest.

"I started looking through it with this in mind. I found they recommended wheat for the heart, and I said to myself, of course—why didn't I think of that. Vitamin E is in wheat germ, and they're giving vitamin E for the heart. It gets the blood going through. "I'll bet a nickel that's where they got the idea. If you search through the Bible, you find it all fits together like a jig saw puzzle."

WHILE MRS. DEPRIEST is constantly experimenting with the ingredients of her Biblical bread, she did become scientific long enough recently to write down a basic recipe. But she suggests changing it according to your taste.

Most of the foods she uses are purchased from the Soybean Celler in Ann Arbor. To help those making their first try at bread making, she decided to include yeast, a non-Biblical product, in the recipe.

BIBLICAL BREAD

1½ cups millet
1 cup wheat hearts
2 cups barley
1 cup soy flour
1 cup lentil flour
1 T salt
¼ cup honey.
1 T sorghum
¼ cup olive oil or butter
2 cups water
1 T yeast
Mix and place in three oiled loaf pans. Bake at 350 degrees for 55 minutes.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodcox will be sent to Korea.

Cancer center open more

The oral cancer diagnostic center, operated by the Michigan Cancer Foundation at 110 E. Warren, Detroit, now is open three afternoons a week instead of two.

The foundation announced that after four months of operation in the Meyer L. Prentiss Cancer Center that the diagnostic services will be offered Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons. The hours are 1:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Most of those using the service during its early months have been referred there by dentists and oral surgeons, but community members also are encouraged to avail themselves of the opportunity.

Examinations are free, but require an appointment. To make one, call the Prentiss Cancer Center, 110 E. Warren, Detroit.

Holy year tour planned

Sister Mary Fisher and Sister Mary Bridget, instructors at Madonna College are organizing a Holy Year tour of Europe under the auspices of the Archdiocese of Detroit and the Foreign Study League.

"We will spend six days in Rome, three in Venice and two days each in Paris and Florence," said Sr. Bridget. "High spot of the tour will be a visit to the Vatican and an audience with the Pope."

Those signing up for the non-denominational trip will fly to Rome Aug. 2. The fee of $704 includes round-trip jet flight from Detroit, intercontinental travel, lodging, field trips, transfers, taxes, gratuities and breakfasts.

For further information contact Sr. Mary or Sr. Bridget at Madonna College.

Foster parents workshop set

A workshop for foster parents will be held May 30-31 in the McGregor Memorial Conference Center on the campus of Wayne State University, Detroit.

It will be sponsored by the division of community services of the university's College of Lifelong Learning and will begin at 9 a.m. both days.

A registration of $10 will cover parking and a buffet lunch for both days. Those interested should register by Wednesday, May 21.
