

Plymouth to have 1st primary in 12 years

ROBERT SINCOCK
can't run

PLYMOUTH—With a field of 10 hopefuls filing for this fall's city commission race, the city will have its first primary in 12 years.

Four seats will be up for grabs with voters selecting the top eight in the primary on Aug. 5. Those eight will seek election to one of three four-year terms and one two-year term, on Nov. 4.

TERMS OF current commission members which are expiring include Mayor Beverly McAninch and Commissioners John Cummings, Harold Guenther, and Robert Sincock.

Sincock is restricted by the city charter from seeking a third consecutive term, and Guenther has decided not to seek re-election, leaving incumbents McAninch and Cummings to compete against the eight other contenders.

Guenther said he was not seeking re-election because he wants to spend more time on personal matters.

"There's a whole bunch of personal things that I've got to get done that I've been too busy to do," Guenther mentioned his involvement in two businesses and his work with the Plymouth Canton Development Commission, and other charitable work with retarded and crippled children as some of the things he'd like to spend more time on.

"I've got to get my house lined up and spend a little less time on extracurricular activities. I also think that age begets age and it's about time we got some younger fellows on the commission.

"Younger people are more willing to take chances, and I think there are too many people who are afraid and too conservative to help the city."

Guenther will be ending his 13th year on the commission since he was first appointed to the commission in August 1954. His most recent term came as he filled the last two years of a four-year term vacated with the resignation of Ernest Henry in December 1973.

PRIMARY candidates include the following:

Leonard Butnick, 685 Herald
Mary Childs, 1439 Ross
John C. Cummings, 1300 Dewey
Scott Dodge, 382 Blunk
Lesley Howes, 279 Blunk
Kenneth A. Kisabeth, 1008 Roosevelt
Beverly McAninch, 539 S. Sheridan
Alfred A. "Tex" Thoman Jr., 345 Joppa Place
David A. Tugh, 964 Roosevelt

'911' emergency phone plan approved by city

PLYMOUTH—The entire Plymouth area could be served by the "911" emergency telephone system within 15 months if Plymouth and Canton townships agree to participate.

The Plymouth City Commission voted 4-1 Monday night to initiate the emergency system and invite neighboring communities to join.

Commissioner Robert Sincock was the dissenting vote because he felt the townships should be contacted first before the city committed itself, and because he had concerns about additional manpower requirements and the willingness of the other municipalities to share that expense.

Other commissioners felt the system was beneficial to residents and the city should implement the program even if others didn't join. Commissioners John Moehle and Norbert Battermann were absent.

UNDER THE system, residents faced with an emergency dial the numerals nine-one-one and are immediately connected with a central dispatcher in the Plymouth Police Department.

The dispatcher records the information; a police car, fire truck or ambulance is sent to the place of emergency. Before the vehicle is sent out, however, an automatic call-back feature returns the call to make sure it is an actual emergency and not a crank call.

A number of cities have already implemented the 911 program, and Michigan Bell hopes it will become nationwide within a few years. A big advantage of the system is that it is easier for residents to remember the numbers 911, which then can be dialed in an instant. Often it is hard to remember the numbers for the fire department and police department.

In fact, at Monday's commission meeting members of the audience were asked to recite the police department phone number. Almost all of the few present recited the weekend number, which isn't the number used on weekdays.

AS ESTABLISHED by Michigan Bell, explains Mayor Beverly McAninch, when a number of municipalities share the same phone exchange one community must agree to initiate the program before it can get off the ground.

The phone company asked the City of Plymouth to take the initiative and has agreed to approach Plymouth, Canton and Northville townships and the City of Westland. The city will also contact each unit to ask cooperation in the project.

Westland is already considering implementing 911 and has budgeted some $1,400 for that purpose. The City of Wayne has started 911 which now serves the "Parkway" exchange which covers part of Canton Township.

The present cost to the city involves hooking up some lines into the police central desk dispatch and installing the call-back feature. If other communities join, other dispatchers would have to be employed with their salaries shared by the 911 participants.

The quicker service possible because the 911 has its separate circuit and is not affected by calls on the regular Plymouth phone exchanges.

After Sincock suggested waiting until the townships agreed, Mayor McAninch responded that the only way 911 can be set up is for one community to initiate the system and then approach others to join.

It will take 15 months after Monday's approval to install the system, added City Manager Fred Yockey. That will allow ample time for discussions with Plymouth, Canton and Northville townships.

Members of the audience expressed concern about problems Detroit has had with 911. Yockey responded: "This is Plymouth, not Detroit."

Joe Bida made the motion to implement the system, was supported by Harold Guenther, and was joined in the vote by Mrs. McAninch and John Cummings.

Cummings earlier vocalized some of the same concerns of Sincock, but joined with the majority when the votes were taken.

Wind damage

HEAVY WINDS on Tuesday snapped an Edison line at the rear of Plymouth's Central Parking lot on Harvey Street. Late afternoon traffic was rerouted for more than an hour until Edison crews were able to trim the downed wires. No injuries were reported, and the incident caused no power outages. (Staff photo)

Hit man ordered to pay jail keep

The Bloomfield Township gunman who shot down Plymouth insurance man Chuck Finlan and left him paralyzed may soon be paying his room and board at Jackson State Prison.

A court order by Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Harry J. Dingeman Jr. could take away a sizeable chunk of a $50,000 inheritance of Donald Crenshaw, who was convicted of assault charges in 1972 as a result of the attempt on Finlan's life.

Finlan has been paralyzed from the waist down since the shooting in a downtown Plymouth parking lot in broad daylight on May 31, 1972.

CRENSHAW'S ATTORNEY, Peter Barbara, said he was drafting an appeal of Dingeman's ruling, charging that the 1934 state law which prompted the room and board bill was "unconstitutional."

The court ruling places the cost of Crenshaw's keep at $12.33 per day, or $4,500 for each year in prison.

According to Crenshaw's court-appointed guardian, Ralph Goldsmith, the room and board fees could be made retroactive from Crenshaw's date of sentencing in November 1972. The convicted assailant is serving a term of six to 10 years on the charge, but would be eligible for parole within the next two years.

Barbara said this is only the first time he has heard of the 1934 law being used, but according to Goldsmith the state has used the law on several occasions during the past 40 years.

He noted a recent case in which Circuit Judge Thomas Foley signed an order for a man to pay $4,000 of a $6,000 inheritance just before his release from prison.

Foley said the case came before him within the last year.

Goldsmith added the law had been used in a case against Holt Photographic studios during the 1940s or '50s in which the owner of the studio was forced to pay $7,000 to $8,000 of a $50,000 inheritance when it was learned he was paying money for the keep of his dog and his garden while in prison.

NOTING THE "change in thinking" about court decisions in recent years, Barbara said he was "confident that the court will see the ruling as a violation of Crenshaw's constitutional rights."

Barbara said he expected the case to go before the court of appeals during the October session of the court. Until then the money will not be paid if a stay order is granted by the court, pending the October hearing on the matter.

A GAPING HOLE was ripped out of a trailer by vandals at Plymouth Township's Recreation Site housing equipment for the Plymouth Community Junior Baseball League. League secretary-treasurer Jeanne Goodrich estimates the total damage at close to $500. (Staff photo)

Vandals hit little league storage trailer

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP—Armed with a pair of tin snips and wearing some rather large boots, vandals broke into a storage trailer of the Plymouth Community Junior Baseball League over the weekend taking more than $200 in equipment, candy and baseball cards.

According to the league's secretary-treasurer, Jeanne Goodrich, the intruders took several boxes of candy, two boxes of baseball cards, an umpire's face mask and chest protector, and five dozen baseballs.

Mrs. Goodrich speculated that the vandals made their entry sometime Sunday evening after a heavy rain. Large muddy footprints were left on the front of two chest protectors left lying on the floor when the vandals left.

PCJBL vice president Art Mulligan said damage to the trailer hit close to the $300 mark. He said part of the damage would be covered by insurance, but the remainder of the loss would have to come from league funds.

Graduation is Friday

PLYMOUTH—Some 754 seniors will be graduating tomorrow (Friday) from Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton high schools in combined ceremonies on the Centennial Educational Park.

Graduation ceremonies will begin at 8 p.m.—a special time for Plymouth Canton, which is graduating its first class of seniors—280 in all.

School officials recommend that residents coming from the east take McClumpha Road to Joy, turn left on Joy and proceed to the student parking lot at Salem High. Parents and guests can then walk to the stadium. This will avoid traffic congestion, said Bill Brown, principal of Salem.

In case of rain, the ceremonies will be moved inside to the Salem High gymnasium. The two class presidents will give brief talks to their classmates.

Geake eyes medical services bills

By MARTHA MAHAN

LANSING—Four bills intended to improve emergency medical services (EMS) in Michigan will get quick legislative action in the opinion of Rep. Robert Geake (R-Northville).

The problems he foresees are financial and in the ability of local governments to pool resources and to establish a regional or county structure for EMS operations.

Geake, whose 35th District includes most of Livonia, is a member of a joint senate-house committee engaged in revising and updating all Michigan laws pertaining to health.

The four EMS bills are due for introduction in the legislature June 24, he said.

THE FIRST proposal, known as the Ambulance Operations Act, would license ambulances for emergency services, including medical equipment within the vehicle, as well as for mechanical condition.

"The purpose is to upgrade the ambulances," Geake said. "Those now in service would stay in service with current equipment, but any new ambulances would have to be up to national standards as set by the U. S. Department of Transportation."

THE SECOND bill, called the Emergency Medical Services Personnel Act, would upgrade personnel from ambulance attendants to emergency ambulance technicians.

REP. ROBERT GEAKE

The ambulance attendant is required now to have 56 hours of training, Geake explained, whereas 81 hours are required for an emergency ambulance technician. Courses are taught under the direction of the State Department of Public Health.

The bill would require all ambulances to carry two emergency medical technicians by 1980. Present law requires only one attendant and one driver.

A THIRD proposal would require a team of hospital officials to rate each hospital in the state on its capacity to give emergency services.

Geake called this bill "highly controversial" and said it is opposed by "a number of hospitals, especially in Detroit."

"The hospitals want voluntarily to rate their own emergency rooms and to certify to the state how prepared they are," he said.

The fourth proposal, known as the Emergency Medical Services Systems Act, is found objectionable by some suburbs, Geake said.

The bill would establish statewide planning for EMS within eight regions and would standardize and coordinate services throughout the state.

Opponents want regions to be more independent, the Republican legislator said.

Although Geake sees a regional or county structure as the "only logical way" to operate an efficient EMS, he also has some questions.

"The Detroit region would include everything west of Ann Arbor, and I question whether that would not be too large an area to accomplish the purpose," he said.

PRESENT EMERGENCY medical services and contracted ambulance services are unable to answer the need, Geake said.

"They are handicapped by more and more restrictions on training and equipment, he said. "Personnel are poorly paid."

"Some ambulances don't have proper brakes and tires, let alone interior equipment needs."

Nor are ambulance operators wholly to blame, he said. "There are studies which show that up to 50 per cent of patients being transported never pay. Operators are hopeful that a state operation would guarantee their being paid."

"We know about the 911 delays in Detroit and the inability of some smaller communities to contract for ambulance services."

"One thing of which we should be certain is that all persons, regardless of where they live, in a rural area or a particular suburb, should be assured of uniformly good services."

County OK's 5 legal programs

WAYNE COUNTY—While denying continuation of one law enforcement grant program costing $13,500, the Board of Commissioners approved general fund financing through the fiscal year for five others, totalling $534,300.

The only grant to be vetoed by the board in a 13-9 vote was a request from the Prosecuting Attorney for continued funding of an office administrator.

Voting in favor of the program was Mary Dumas (R-Livonia). Commissioners Tom Taylor (D-Westland), Richard Manning (D-Redford Township) and Royce Smith (D-Belle Isle) voted against the measure. Commissioner John Barr (D-Dearborn Heights) was absent.

THE BOARD passed by a 14-8 vote continuation of the Prosecutor's Consumer Protection Unit at a cost of $193,415.

The commissioners went against the Board of Auditors' recommendation responsibility to provide such services other than to prosecute criminal fraud cases." The consumer unit handles both criminal and non-criminal cases.

In a 14-8 vote, Mrs. Dumas rescinded her original pass and voted yes as did Richard Manning. Smith and Taylor voted no.

THE RECORDER'S Court Probation Services Program will be funded through the fiscal year at a cost of $155,913 following a 17-4 vote by the commissioners.

The goals of the program include offering treatment and supervision of drug dependent defendants; reduction of the probation department's caseload of addicts and narcotic users, and treatment and rehabilitation of convicted drug abuse probationers.

Voting yes on the measure were Manning, Taylor, and Mrs. Dumas who rescinded her no vote. Smith voted against the funding.

BY A 21-1 vote, the commissioners approved $132,000 funding of the Metro Narcotic Squad Program of the Wayne County Sheriff.

Included in the program is the training of police in Wayne County in drug enforcement, drug prevention education in schools and arrest of suspects for the illegal sale and possession of narcotics.

Commissioners Dumas, Smith, Taylor and Manning voted yes.

THE COUNTY will continue the Detroit Wayne County Criminal Justice System Coordinating Council program for 90 days. It also will appropriate $12,000 as required in matching funds to Law Enforcement Administration Agency (LEAA) and HEW funds.

Because the LEAA appropriation bill is currently before Congress with final action doubtful by June 30, the county agreed to the extension.

The vote was 20-2. Manning, Taylor, Smith and Mrs. Dumas voted with the majority.

By a 21-2 vote, the county approved $41,000 funding for the Metropolitan Helicopter Program from the Wayne County Sheriff's Department. Commissioners Taylor, Smith, Manning and Dumas voted yes. Mrs. Dumas originally passed on the motion.

Pursell named rep to national meeting

State Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth), whose district includes Redford Township, Plymouth and Livonia, has been selected as the Legislature's representative to the National Conference of State Legislatures.

According to Pursell, the conference will supply up-to-date information on technical, educational and political topics designed to improve legislative operations.

Pursell helped instigate a computer data system for the State Department of Education which makes information readily available for fiscal review.

Model United Nations assembly is held

CANTON— Amid the hustle and bustle of its annual meeting and occasional assassination attempts, the General Assembly of the United Nations Thursday took several actions to avert a worldwide famine and expanded the U.N.'s Security Council.

Packed with students swathed in Arab headdresses, Indian saris and formal British suits, the Plymouth Salem High School gym cast off its athletic appearance for the Centennial Educational Park's Model U.N. Day.

Seated at long, curving tables with identifying name tags before them, the 120 students representing more than 70 nations presented and voted upon resolutions as their representative countries would have done.

"The experience is really very educational and inter-disciplinary," said Jerry Morris, who acts as the Park's area coordinator for social studies and foreign languages and teaches an international relations course. "The students learn politics of nations, and they learn how to deal with each other. In terms of writing resolutions and speech, the experience is very good."

The Model U.N. Day, sponsored by the Plymouth schools for about 15 years now, marks a final educational experience for the Park's three international relations classes.

OPEN TO ALL students at Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton high schools, the United Nations event is run by international relations students, who select the topics of debate and elect U.N. co-presidents.

Students, Morris said, were encouraged to write or research the countries they were representing in order to vote on issues as actual U.N. representatives.

Resolutions and opinions concerning the worldwide food problem and amendments to the U.N. charter were tossed about the floor at this year's annual meeting, chaired by co-presidents Bill Silaghi and Bill Marks.

Tidbits of horseplay and "tension politics" occasionally interrupted the otherwise serious meeting and brought down the co-presidents' gavels. The Arab delegation twice interrupted the packed meeting in attempts to kidnap the United States representative and assassinate the delegate from Japan.

"IT WAS A VERY alarming experience," confided U.S. representative Phillip Schulte of the kidnap attempt. "I feared mostly for my calculator."

But, all in all, the day-long meeting marked a genuine attempt to "solve" the world's problems and imitate the U.N.'s parliamentary procedure.

"I find it very interesting," said senior Schulte of the Model U.N. Day and his seat as the U.S. representative. "I also find it necessary. There's so much interrelationship between nations that we have to learn to cooperate better."

Schulte represented Brazil at last year's Model U.N. Day, but this year got first pick of countries to represent as a member of the Park's international relations courses.

"The first ones to go this year were the Arab countries," he said. "But I was looking forward to representing the United States since last year. I'm familiar with American politics. I read every newspaper I can get a hold of."

Senior Robert DeLano gave loud vocal representation to Upper Volta, a small country in Africa. DeLano has chosen to represent Upper Volta for three years in a row.

"I STUCK WITH IT, because I did a lot of research on it," DeLano explained. "It's a dinky little country that no one's ever heard of. You can have lots of fun with it."

Other students enjoyed representing the more powerful countries.

"As a member of the Soviet bloc, you have a strong voice," said senior Ted Burton. In just about every issue, I have something to say. This situation reflects the real world, and it's really fun playing roles."

Other students noted the wealth of information they absorbed in preparation for the day's event.

"I never realized Bolivia was such an underdeveloped country and a third-world nation," said senior Donna McCort, the Bolivian representative.

The day marked an entirely new experience for senior Ed Arango, a foreign exchange student from Columbia who represented his native country.

"It's interesting, because we don't have these things in Columbia," Arango said. "We don't have the choice to do these kinds of things."

WILLIAM SILAGHI, the elected co-president of the Centennial Educational Park's annual United Nations meeting, calls for a vote on a resolution, dealing with a worldwide food crisis.

Retiring teachers are honored

PLYMOUTH—The Plymouth Education Association paid tribute to nine retiring members of the Plymouth School District staff June 13, at the annual retirement dinner held in Ann Arbor.

Honored for their service to the district were seven teachers and two custodians with a combined total of 178 years of service to the Plymouth Community Schools.

Leading the list in length of service was Dorothy Mackenzie, a third grade teacher at Farrand School, who has taught in the district for 43 years. A graduate of Plymouth High, Mrs. Mackenzie came to Plymouth after teaching for three years in Dearborn.

OTHER TEACHERS honored include:

Frances Overton, who is retiring from her teaching post at East Middle School after 29.5 years.

Marion Breed, a first grade teacher at Starkweather who has taught in the district for 19 years.

Margaret Bishop, a third grade teacher at Allen, leaving after 19 years.

Marie Geddes, a Latin and English teacher at Plymouth Salem High, who has taught in the district for 16 years.

Phyllis Irish, an English and social studies teacher at West Middle School for the past 12 years.

Frances Forsythe, a librarian at Pioneer Middle School who has worked in the district for seven years.

RETIRING custodians honored by the PEA include:

Forest Olson, a refrigeration and boiler operator at Plymouth Canton High who has worked in the district for the last 18 years.

Lorraine Goodman, who has worked for the last 14 years as a custodian at West Middle School.

Postal box rates hiked

PLYMOUTH—Post office box rates will increase by 22 to 48 per cent and customers picking up their own mail will have to pay for the privilege, beginning July 6.

According to Plymouth Postmaster John A. Mulligan, the nationwide changes in both services have been instituted to meet increased operating costs for the Postal Service.

The new rates for postal boxes also require that a box holder rent for a minimum of six months, instead of the current three-month minimum.

Based on the present cost of a six-month rental box rates will increase by 22 to 48 per cent.

Talent wanted

PLYMOUTH—The committee planning the 1975 Fall Festival, scheduled for Sept. 4-7 in downtown Plymouth, are seeking area talent to complete the festival's entertainment activities. Interested persons should contact Mrs. Robert (Daisy) Proctor, 13740 Ridgewood, Plymouth.

Area woman earns key

PLYMOUTH—Linda Gail DeMeritt of Plymouth has been elected to the Epsilon chapter of Phi Beta Kappa at Michigan State University.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H.L. DeMeritt of 1440 Woodland Place, she is an MSU senior majoring in German. A member of Phi Kappa Phi honor society, she has been offered a teaching assistantship in German at the University of Illinois for next year.

Renters of "Box size one" (265 cubic inches) are now paying $2.70 for three months, or $5.40 for six months. The new six-month rate will be $8.

"Box size two" (265-500 cubic inches) customers will now pay a minimum $10 for six months compared to the present minimum rate of $3.60 for three months.

Customers of "Box size three" (500-1,000 cubic inches) will be charged $12.50 for six months, and were charged $5.40 for three months in the past.

The largest, "box size four" (more than 1,000 cubic inches) will be paying $17.50 for six months, compared to the present $7.20 for three months.

Mulligan said the Postal Service has also begun a $1 charge for every key made for the post office box. The service had been free in the past for the initial key.

Postal service customers who receive large volumes of mail will also be hit with an added charge if they elect to pick up their own mail each day. Mulligan said the fee for pickup at the post office by a company will be $35 for a six month period.

The postmaster noted the customers could elect to receive mail delivery for free by a carrier on the regular carrier run. He added that hours for customers to pick up their own mail would be changed, allowing pickup after 8:30 a.m.

Mulligan said the new hours will help insure that letter carriers have completed their sorting prior to pickup by customers.

With the recent addition of 200 post office boxes, Mulligan said the Plymouth Post Office has approximately 550 boxes. Close to 100 are not in use and are available for rental in the three smallest sizes.

New parking rates might raise $20,000

PLYMOUTH—If as many motorists continue to park in Plymouth as anticipated, the city might be able to generate from the new parking charges a surplus of $20,000.

Whatever surplus is derived, says City Manager Fred Yockey, it will be used to repair Central and East Central parking lots and to beautify parking lots.

At some point, Yockey hopes the surplus built up might allow the city to construct more parking areas.

THE SURPLUS of $20,000, if realized, would be a reversal of the current parking budget deficit of $30,000.

Besides attempting to eliminate the deficit, the new rates are also structured to encourage use of lots not filled now—such as East Central lot.

Another philosophy behind the rate overhaul, adds Yockey, is that those who use parking facilities should bear the brunt of expenses, not taxpayers.

At its last meeting, commissioners approved changing the rates charged motorists to park and Monday night approved a detailed schedule spelling out rates at each city parking lot and for meters along city streets.

ALL METERS within the city will now charge five cents per half-hour except for those in the East Central lot which will Monthly parking permits will be raised from $6 per month to $7.50 per month at East Central. At Central and South Central lots, the monthly permit is raised from $7.50 to $15.

There will remain a few meters in front of the Plymouth Post Office at a penny for six minutes. All other meters will be five cents per 30 minutes except for East Central.

Commissioner Harold Guenther asked that the administration continue maintaining separate accounting ledgers for each parking area to keep a strict review of how the rate changes will affect parking habits in the city.

Skyjacker arrested

The man who skyjacked the helicopter piloted by a Westlad man from Mettetal Airport, Plymouth, in the Jackson State Prison escape has been arrested at a travelling carnival in Garden City, Kan.

Morris E. Colosky, 21, has been identified by FBI agents as the person who hijacked the helicopter and ordered the pilot to fly it to Jackson. Arrested at the same time was an alleged accomplice, Mrs. Gertrude Woodbury, 43. Both are from Webberville, a small town between Brighton and Lansing.

The two arrests June 17 mean all seven persons involved in the escape of Dale Remling have been caught, reports the FBI.

Law officials report Mrs. Woodbury allegedly recruited the seven persons, including one of her sons, and may have been the driver of one of the four get-away cars involved in the escape.

Both had been hired by Midwest Shows about a week ago. Colosky, using an alias, was earning $125 a week operating a roller coaster.

Students boost bicycle safety

PLYMOUTH — Students of the Plymouth Community School District and police officers have joined forces to promote bicycle safety among elementary pupils.

The students perform a skit on bike safety in the elementary schools and then pass out a Michigan State University pamphlet on bike safety and a quiz.

The students fill out the quiz and a tear-out sheet to be returned to their schools. By participating, the elementary pupils have a chance to win some 42 prizes — with the first two top prizes being a boy's bike and a girl's bike. The prizes are being provided by the Metropolitan Club, an organization of firemen and policemen from this area.

Although the date the winners will be announced hasn't been definitely set yet, Community Relations Teacher Bob Thams thinks it will be on June 21.

Community Service students working on the skit are Deug Vaughn, Ruth Maas, Rick Greenleaf, Linda Hinkel, Chuck Wilson and Tom Hannula.

Officers involved include Community Service Officer Joe Kahanec of Plymouth Police Department, and Community Service Trooper Mike Garrison of the Plymouth State Police Post.

All third, fourth and fifth graders in the Plymouth district some 3,500 pupils, are eligible to win one of the prizes.

Thams is in the social studies department of Plymouth Canton High.

Grant seen as first step toward state court funding

WAYNE COUNTY — A $1.3 million grant from the Michigan Legislature has been described as "the first step toward state financing of the courts in Wayne County" by Roscoe L. Bobo, chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

The grant will help finance the $3.5 million annual budget of Common Pleas Court — one of five courts financed in whole or part by the county. Court operations will cost county taxpayers $33 million this year.

Legislature rejected a move by some outstate legislators to reduce the grant to $650,000.

"Approval of the full amount shows a strong commitment on the part of the Legislature — a commitment to the residents of Michigan's largest county and to the concept of a single court system with equal justice for all."

He expressed gratitude to legislators from Wayne County for their work on behalf of the grant, singling out Rep. Richard A. Young (D-Dearborn Heights) and Rep. William A. Ryan (D-Detroit). Bobo also praised the Common Pleas bench, County Board of Auditors, and members of the County Board of Commissioners who worked to secure the grant.

Other courts funded by the county include Wayne Circuit, Detroit Recorder's, Probate, and Juvenile Court which is a division of Probate Court.

"This grant was approved as an interim measure," says Bobo, "pending full state assumption of the costs of the courts in line with the 1963 Constitution which established the concept of a single statewide court system."

"District courts in the suburbs receive partially state financing and the majority in the Legislature agreed it is only fair that some state funding for Common Pleas be provided because Common Pleas functions much like a district court for the City of Detroit."

Managers' raises delayed by county

By MARILYN FITCHETT

WAYNE COUNTY—The Board of Commissioners has sent back to its Labor Board a salary adjustment proposal for the Wayne County Supervisory Employees Association.

In a bizarre vote June 16 in which the item was defeated for tabling and passage twice each, commissioners weighed the question of a possible strike of county personnel against being able to pay for the package.

Pushing for passage of the proposal was Commissioner Richard Manning (D-Redford Township), whose district includes Redford Township and part of Livonia.

"It's not enough to table this item and it's not enough to vote this issue down," Manning said.

"Tabling the question is just passing the agony on to the county which expects to have supervisory personnel giving orders to other county employees."

"We are bound to the bargaining process which we carried on with this union."

"On July 1 these people will not have a contract and they may or may not continue to work."

TOM TAYLOR (D-Westland) pressed to have the issue brought back to the board in September when it will consider the 4½ per cent pay raise for elected officials, their deputies and non-union personnel.

"I want to see what our total package is going to be in September," Taylor said. "You can't expect the union to go back into negotiations when they know the labor board is going to try to reduce their offer."

The final vote to accept the pay increases was defeated 10-9 with two abstentions. Manning voted yes on the measure, Taylor, Mary Dumas (R-Livonia) and Royce Smith (D-Belleville) voted no. John Barr (D-Dearborn Heights), whose district includes part of Westland, was absent.

HAD THE measure passed, the Supervisory Association would have included two proposed agreements providing "negotiated salary adjustments for certain classifications."

Estimated cost for these adjustments is $118,600 for July 1, 1974 to June 30, 1975, and $49,000 for July 1, 1975 to Nov. 30.

The second agreement extends the association's existing contract for one year beginning July 1 through June 30, 1976, and provides for a general salary adjustment of 4½ per cent effective July 1, 1975. Cost of the 4½ per cent adjustment is $77,000.

Officials' postponed pay raises

WAYNE COUNTY—All elected county officials except county commissioners, their deputies and 511 non-union employees will forego a 4½ per cent pay raise—at least for the time being.

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners Monday tabled the item until September, when they indicated they hope to have a better idea of the county's fiscal picture.

Cost of the package is estimated at $227,365.

Leading the delaying proposal was chairman Roscoe Bobo, who said the county's deficit has ballooned from $4 million in November to $8 million presently.

"We've reached a crisis situation," Bobo said. "We must protect ourselves from having to lay off county employees and protect the services of the citizens."

Commissioner Tom Taylor (D-Westland), whose district also includes Garden City, said he "welcomes Bobo to the small group of commissioners who have been sounding the warning all along."

"My only regret is that this has to come two pages into the agenda too late," Taylor said, referring to the number of commissioners including vice chairman John Barr (D-Dearborn Heights) who were not present for the vote. Barr's district includes part of Westland.

COMMISSIONER Mary Dumas (R-Livonia) predicted county would soon find itself in the same position as Detroit which recently laid off 700 employees.

"The function of county government is not only as an employer but to provide a service to its residents," Mrs. Dumas said.

"We should be seriously considering that we can't compete with Detroit which is second only to Chicago in relation to its employee pay rate."

"We're not in the same league with Detroit or Chicago. If we continue to pay our employees the way, they do then we're going to be bankrupt."

is investigating is kept secret by law but, according to the judge, covers the broad topic of criminal activity in the county.

Information can be communicated by letter to the Wayne County Citizens Grand Jury, POB 30, Detroit 48231.

Court asks citizens to help grand jury

WAYNE COUNTY—Circuit Court Judge John D. O'Hair, in charge of the county's recently approved second grand jury, has requested all area residents to assist the grand jury by reporting to it any crimes or suspected crimes.

Brodhead balks on Nedzi vote

WASHINGTON—Congressional delegations from Wayne and Oakland counties were among the staunch supporters of Rep. Lucien Nedzi (D-Detroit) whose chairmanship of the Select Committee on Intelligence was challenged Monday.

Only Rep. William Brodhead (D-Detroit), whose 17th District includes Redford Township, Farmington and Southfield, cast a vote with the minority (290-64 with 44 voting "present") to oust the 14-year veteran.

Congressmen voting to maintain Nedzi as chairman of the factionalized committee included: William Blanchard (D-Troy); William Ford (D-Taylor), whose district includes Westland, Garden City, Canton Township and part of Livonia; James O'Hara (D-Utica), whose district includes Rochester and part of Avon Township.

Republicans voting with the majority included: William Broomfield of Bloomfield Township, whose district includes western Oakland County; and Marvin Esch of Ann Arbor, whose district includes Plymouth and most of Livonia.

The challenge came from a group of dissidents on Nedzi's committee investigating the CIA. Nedzi, they argued, was in a compromised position because he had been privy to CIA secrets while chairman of an intelligence oversight subcommittee and generally supports its operations.

Brodhead has been identified as one of a "young Turk" group of new congressmen seeking to reform many House practices.

Yet to be decided is whether Nedzi's committee can effectively operate or whether the CIA investigation will fall only to the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence Operations.

49 area persons tops in realty sales

More than 100 of United Northwestern Realty Association's (UNRA) 3,400 members passed the $1 million sales mark in 1974.

Of those, 49 are from western Wayne County.

Only one person topped the $4 million mark. Paul L. Wagner of Chamberlain Real Estate in Farmington.

Five members, all from Livonia, exceeded the $3 million line: John B. Bickson, Donald R. Wolfe and Harry L. Wolfe, all of Harry S. Wolfe Co., and James W. Wilbands Jr. and William Willis Jr., both of Mayfair Realty.

Included in the $2 million and over sellers were George A. Breck Jr. of Earl Keim of Plymouth; Ben A. Denny of Earl Keim of Westland; Jay E. Hughes of Mayfair Realty, Livonia; and Nada Ilich of Century 21-Hartford West, Inc., Livonia.

There were 40 UNRA members in western Wayne County besting the $1 million sales figure including:

Livonia: Robert J. Aylsworth and Edward Trembath Jr., both of Cardinal West Inc.; Charles R. Cassie Jr. and Frank D'Angelo, both of Century 21-Hartford West Inc.; Larry L. Thurston, Century 21-Hartford North Inc.; Vincent N. Lee, Vincent N. Lee Real Estate Sales; William N. McClay, Marvin O. Moser and Robert Risher, Mayfair Realty; Anne M. Bartlett and Trudy Spindler, Real Estate One; Robert Fillion, Richard Perry and David Presnell, Red Carpet Realty; Bernard L. Marquis and Cora J. Marshall, Thompson-Brown Co.

Also: Thomas N. O'Connell of Ultra Realty Service Corp.; and Richard L. Boyd, Donald Jackson, Sherry K. Joyner, Stanley F. Keerl, Elwood C. Manns Jr., Charles E. Mills, Kenneth William Ray Jr., Jack Reault, Richard G. Shepherd, Edward J. Silva, W.J. Whyatt and Joseph H. Zeigler, all of Harry S. Wolfe Co.

Garden City: Joan C. Anderson, Boardwalk Real Estate Co.; Shirley M. Lawhead, Century 21-Hartford 418 Inc.; and Harold L. Schmidtke, Integrity Real Estate.

Plymouth: Robert W. Bake and Janice Foster, both of Robert Bake Realtors; Samuel L. Dibble III, Dibble Realty; James A. Courtney, Century 21-Hartford West Inc.; Marion Probeck of Earl Keim of Plymouth and Darlen D. Shemanski, Real Estate One.

Westland: Walter Tabaka, Camelot Realty, and Adeline Blair, Earl Keim of Westland.

Bus routes are altered

Two extensions to existing bus routes in this area have been instituted by the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA).

The current Inkster-Middle Belt (M-9) route has been extended to include a bus route south on Middle Belt to Michigan Avenue and then west to Wayne County General Hospital at Merriman and Michigan Avenue.

This link will provide easier access to the hospital and join the bus service running through Livonia with residents in Garden City and Westland.

Another extension is on Seven Mile east of Middle Belt to Grand River to provide improved availability to Detroit's central business district to travel downtown for shopping and business purposes.

Fares are 40 cents for the first six miles, five cents for each additional two miles, and 50 cents for the total fare from Michigan Avenue and Inkster Road to the Livonia Mall. Senior citizens may travel for half-fare Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., after 6 p.m. and before 6 a.m., and all day Saturday, Sunday and holidays.

The current route begins at Wayne County Hospital, south on Henry Carlyle to Inkster Road, north on Inkster Road to Ann Arbor Trail, west on Ann Arbor Trail to Middle Belt, north on Middle Belt to the Livonia Mall, and east on Seven Mile to Grand River.

These services are supported by SEMTA with funds received through the Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation from the state gasoline tax increase of a half cent per gallon for public transportation.

School enrollment in county to drop by 15,000 students

WAYNE COUNTY — The jobs of about 600 teachers in Wayne County are threatened by an expected enrollment decline of more than 45,000 students in the county.

Based on actual enrollments in September of last year, the superintendents of the 36 local school districts in the county have estimated expected enrollment will decline by about three per cent for 1975-76.

Total enrollment next year is expected to be 514,000 in the county compared to 529,000 this year.

LIVONIA SCHOOL District has already given layoff notices to 421 teachers, informing them they may not have a job when school opens next fall.

Livonia, second largest district in Wayne County, is expected to lose 1,953 students next year with the 34,333 enrollment this year dropping to 32,380.

The largest percentage loss in enrollment is anticipated for Garden City, Crestwood and Allen Park districts whose student bodies will decline by about eight per cent.

Garden City's student count of 11,335 this year is expected to drop to 10,606. Garden City already has closed one elementary building and made it available to Schoolcraft College for a satellite campus. The district is negotiating with Schoolcraft for use of another building as a campus center.

Redford Union, which has given layoff notices to 21 instructors, expects to lose 452 students from this year's enrollment of 7,802. South Redford expects to lose 362 students from its 1974-75 student count of 5,630.

Wayne-Westland School District, which serves the cities of Wayne and Westland plus part of Canton Township, foresees a student loss of 353 from this year's enrollment of 23,153. The district is the third largest in Wayne County.

PLYMOUTH COMMUNITY School District is one of five districts in the county which will experience an increase in enrollment next year.

Plymouth's student body is expected to increase by five per cent, from 12,656 to 13,300. The district serves the City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township and part of Canton Township which is one of the fastest growing areas in terms of single family residential units in southeastern Michigan.

The other districts forecasting gains in enrollment are Woodhaven, 12 per cent, Huron, 8.6 per cent, Romulus, 2.8 per cent, and Grosse Pointe, 4 per cent. Romulus has 6,660 students and the other three have less than 4,000 students.

THE LARGEST number will be lost in Detroit School District where enrollment is expected to drop from 261,000 to 253,000, a three per cent decline.

"The drop in enrollment, which follows a pattern of several years, reflects a lower birth rate recorded during recent years," says Dr. William Simmons, superintendent of the Wayne County Intermediate District.

A number of districts, besides Livonia and Redford Union, have already notified significant numbers of teachers they may not be re-hired next fall.

For the summer of your life...

There's nothing quite like L'Arbre Croche in all the world.

At the easternmost tip of magnificent Little Traverse Bay, equidistant between Harbor Springs and Petoskey, lies L'ARBRE CROCHE, your perfect answer for summer vacation 1975.

In development for the past five years, many who visit L'Arbre Croche consider the property without equal in Michigan and the Midwest. In fact, most agree... nothing quite like it in all the world!

New distributorship

OPENING THE NEW Amana facility in Livonia recently were: (from left) Richard Sistick of Troy, operations manager; Jack Plating of Farmington, general manager; George Tolbert, company treasurer and Alex Meyer, company executive vice-president, both of Amana, Iowa; and Joe Gagnon of Livonia, manager of customer service. The new branch, with a 15,000 square-foot warehouse, will supply dealers in southern Michigan and is a prototype of others to be opened across the nation in the near future. The distributorship was assumed by Plating in 1970 when he conducted business from two motel rooms in Redford Township.

JAMES G. HUNT of Livonia has been appointed a vice-president of Acme-Wiley Corp., one of the nation's largest sign companies. Hunt, who lives at 34948 Grove Drive, is responsible for the company's technical operations including manufacturing, installation and maintenance. The company built and installed the pylon sign at Wonderland Shopping Center.

Youth fitness finals July 31

The metropolitan Detroit area youth fitness meet will begin at 9 a.m. Thursday, July 31, at Metro Beach Metropark.

More than 2,000 boys and girls are expected to compete in these final events from more than 50 recreation centers throughout southeastern Michigan.

Among officials planning the event is Charles W. Pickering, Jr., assistant director, Westland Recreation Department.

Maxine Hammond attends conference

M Maxine Hammond, 7050 Salem, Plymouth, recently attended a special three-day conference for Amana Refrigeration, Inc. retailers at the company's Amana, Iowa, general offices.

Mrs. Hammond is employed by J.L. Hudson Co. at Westland.

Saving energy is a family affair

It takes a lot of energy to keep you in hot water.

Most of us don't realize that next to space heating, water heating is the biggest user of energy in the home. That means every time you shower, bathe, or do the wash or dishes, you're not just using up water, you're using up lots of energy, too. So keep the showers short, wash only full loads in your washer and dishwasher, always use cold water when it will do the job as well as hot. If you hear a drip... drip... drip... check your hot water faucets. When you save hot water, you save energy—and money.

Today, everyone is aware of the need to conserve energy. To help we are offering a free booklet, "It Makes Sense to Save Energy." Stop in and pick up your copy. At Consumers Power, we are working diligently to keep up with your energy needs. But there's none to waste. USE ENERGY WISELY.

Famine action asked by Esch

U.S. Rep. Marvin Esch (R-Arbor) has introduced legislation which he sees as helping reduce the worldwide food shortage. Esch, whose 2nd District includes Livonia and Plymouth, would provide funds to U.S. land grant colleges so they could build similar type universities in food deficit countries. "Our land-grant colleges have had a tremendous impact on the education of our nation's farmers and on agricultural research and expansion," Esch said. "This expertise is greatly needed in numerous nations around the world." "Funds spent on educating farmers of food deficit nations will have a much greater impact than funds spent on exporting our own food supplies."

Lay aside summer's work for Midsummer festival

My favorite Shakespearean play has never been "Hamlet," "Macbeth" nor even "Romeo and Juliet." I much prefer the merry comedy of "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

The enchantments, the love spells, the magical mixups caused by frolicking fairies are all reminiscent of the folk tales from many lands about the mysterious things that can happen on Midsummer Night.

Today there is some confusion as to whether June 21 or June 24 should rightfully be called Midsummer Day. June 21 is the longest day of the year, the summer solstice. This was the day on which pagan people laid aside their hard summer work for a while for the fun and frolic of the Midsummer festival.

FROM JUNE 21 on, the hours of sunlight diminish. So on the third day after the solstice, great fires were lighted and rituals held to "strengthen the sun," much like the bale fires burned on February 2 to call the sun back for spring.

The vigor and extent of the crops were believed to be governed by the height of the flames. People would join hands and jump over the flames. Leaping of this kind was a common folk custom intended to stimulate the crops by example. The higher they jumped, the higher they believed the crops would grow.

When the early Christian church was attempting to convert pagans, June 24 was proclaimed the eve of the birth of St. John the Baptist. Thus, pagans could become Christians and still celebrate this date by lighting fires. Only now the fires were lighted to honor St. John and were called Johnmas fires.

In ancient times, witches, along with other pagan groups, celebrated the Midsummer festival. However, it is considered a "minor" or "lesser" sabbat among modern witches, and there is disagreement from coven to coven, even among the most traditional, as to which night (June 21 or 24) should be celebrated, because both were once part of the pagan Midsummer festival which lasted several days. As a result, many no longer observe it at all, since it is not one of the "major" or "greater" sabbats.

ALTHOUGH MOST dictionaries list June 24 as Midsummer, and that is the day the coven to which I belong recognizes (but seldom celebrates), June 21 was the day we observed when I was a child.

On that night each person would break a hen's egg, and one's future would be read from the splattered egg much the same way as people read tea leaves. It was also customary for young girls to sleep with yarrow under their pillow in order to dream of their future mates.

Fernseed gathered on Midsummer Day, and properly used, was said to make men invisible. Shakespeare referred to this custom in "Henry IV" Part I: "We have the receipt of fern seed. We walk invisible."

My grandmother always allowed us to stay up late on June 21 to watch the fairies dance at midnight. Wrapped in blankets, because June nights in northern Michigan can be cold, we would sit quietly beneath the trees watching the open field across the way.

The older folks had told us so many tales about fairies and elves dancing beneath the moon at midnight that I could almost imagine I really saw them, although my brother always said they were just lightening bugs in the tall wet grass.

Maybe you'd like to watch for them yourself on this Midsummer's Night. But don't be too disappointed if you don't see them; those fairies may be using the fernseed.

Tuition-incentive established for student involvement

A tuition-incentive program to encourage student participation in college activities has been approved, with immediate effect, by the board of trustees of Wayne County Community College (WCCC).

Under the program, 25 scholarships will be provided to student participating in four student activities — editors of the student newspaper; members of the student publication board; student government and student activities chairpersons; college standing committee members; and student review council representatives.

To be eligible, students must be enrolled full-time (12 credit hours) except upon recommendation of the vice-president for student services.

The scholarships cover 50 per cent of the full tuition for two consecutive semesters and will be automatically awarded to students the semester following their participation in the above categories.

Total annual cost of the program is expected to be about $5,000 which will be absorbed into the current cost of instruction.

The board also approved appointment of James T. Sleet to the position of associate director of personnel. An employee of the college since 1969, he served as director of college services before this late appointment.

The board also approved appointment of Ms. Ruth Goldman as interim assistant dean for interdisciplinary studies, which includes Black and women's studies, open studies, and workers' education. She will serve until a permanent appointment is made.

Russian residing in Livonia swaps fish stories

By DAN McCOSE

"When you are in this field, this is a great place to work. In manufacturing engineering, they come from all over the world to see how we do things. This is the center."

Jerry Lineberger, regional manager for Ingersoll Rand, is part of the Farmington-based group preparing a section of a truck engine assembly plant for shipment to the Soviet Union.

Born in South Carolina, with a drawl undiminished by 10 years in Detroit, he finds it natural to put an arm around Ed Yugan and talk about his uncle's peanut farm.

Yugan trades off a story about fishing on the Kama River in the Soviet Union. What brought the unlikely pair together is an 800-foot long piece of machinery only recently put into operation in the Farmington Industrial Park at Grand River and 10 Mile Rd.

THE MACHINE is one of five sections of an assembly line which will eventually turn out 50 heavy truck diesels an hour along the banks of the Kama River, 500 miles east of Moscow.

When completely assembled, the line will include 60 automatic and semi-automatic stations which will eventually take in machined parts at one end and produce finished diesels at the other.

The complete operation is being designed and built in the Farmington plant. Ingersoll-Rand will build all the components, including foundations, overhead steel work, and specialized hand tools.

The line will be disassembled for shipping and packed in specialized crates built to resemble small houses. The components may have to stand outside for as long as two years while the remainder of the huge truck plant is completed, according to company officials.

The components are part of a large shipment from several American suppliers going to a new industrial town in the Soviet Union. A complete new city is going up near the site of the 36-square mile industrial complex.

When completed, it is expected to be the largest complex of its type in the world.

Building the assembly line tooling has been a design and construction project for the last two years in the Farmington plant, according to Rand officials.

Negotiations were held in Paris two years ago. As of this time only a single representative has even visited the plant site.

When the line is shipped, a service crew from the United States will spend up to a year getting it in operation.

One off-the-record comment indicated it is not considered a push assignment. "We never had anybody ask to go back," was one comment.

Main problem seems to be the isolation, combined with the restrictions placed on foreign visitors.

Yugan related a story about 15 technicians who spend an afternoon fishing without a guide on the Kama River, consuming an untold amount of vodka and catching a single perch.

"They went up to a restaurant and had them fry it, then they each had one-fifteenth for supper," along with more vodka.

Mrs. Akert gets Upjohn position

KALAMAZOO—Faith C. Akert, formerly of Livonia, has been appointed to the accounting and finance professional training and development staff at Upjohn.

Mrs. Akert, who was a bookkeeper at Smith Memorial Nursing Home, will study company accounting and finance policies, practices and procedures.

Yugan is currently living in Livonia with his wife. Two sons remain in the Soviet Union and he said he is anxious to get back. He will move into Naberezhniye Chelni, on the banks of the Kama.

OVERSEAS SHIPMENTS are now accounting for approximately 30 per cent of the company's output, according to Paul Pyper, regional sales manager.

"We are looking mainly overseas for new markets," he said, anticipating more international shipments from their Farmington branch.

A varied line of machine tools is being designed and built in the building, recently doubled in size.

They include automated fastening tools suitable for a variety of assembly operations.

In the future are possible plans for additional sections of the Kama plant. The company is also negotiating with General Motors with an eye to the new assembly plant for diesel engines in Romulus.

Should serve everyone

SEMTA board OK as is

Two unfortunate developments in recent weeks are casting the shadows of small town politics over the advancing dream of a regional rapid transit system for southeast Michigan.

Oakland County Executive Daniel T. Murphy, in honest criticism of Gov. Milliken's transit proposals, came up with an alternative that was little better than Milliken's unfortunate deal with Detroit.

Murphy proposed the governing board of the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) be composed of two persons appointed by Detroit, one each by Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties and two by the governor.

Leave aside the fact that Murphy's proposal violates the constitutional "one man, one vote" principle. What it does is to make the SEMTA board answerable mostly to provincial politicians.

MURPHY'S PLAN is no better than the bad deal Milliken made with Detroit Mayor Coleman Young: Five members appointed by Young, five by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) and three by the governor, with the governor's three subject to veto by six of the 10 Young-SEMCOG members.

The reason both Murphy and Milliken are wrong is that a public transportation system is supposed to serve the entire southeastern Michigan region—seven counties. SEMTA's governing board must think regionally. It can't think regionally if any of its members must answer to provincial politicians.

The political fact of life is that over-all public transportation planning is the sole responsibility of SEMCOG. Not Dan Murphy. Certainly not the perpetually politicking Coleman Young. Not Wayne County, or Oakland County, or Macomb County.

SEMCOG must do the planning, and SEMCOG ought to be appointing at least the majority of SEMTA's board.

By the way, that is precisely what is happening today: SEMTA's nine board members include six appointed by SEM-

Tim Richard writes

COG and three by the governor. That board can be expected to work closely with SEMCOG planners—and it is. This harmonious and fruitful relationship could only be hamstrung by letting Mayor Young and the county boards get into the act.

THE SECOND UNFORTUNATE development was a lavishly publicized acceptance by Mayor Young of some new buses that will be operated by Detroit's Department of Transportation.

The reason Young was so wild for the publicity is that he's trying to build a case for his having power to appoint five SEMTA board members. Young's argument has been that Detroit owns 90 per cent of the buses in the region, so Detroit should have a disproportionate share of SEMTA's political power.

The truth of the matter is that Detroit didn't pay for those buses. Neither did Bill Milliken, Dan Murphy, nor the Wayne, Oakland nor Macomb boards of commissioners. The truth is that the friendly federal government paid for them. That's us—Detroiters, suburbanites, out-staters and the other 49 states.

Because Detroit didn't pay for the buses, Young has little cause for demanding political power over SEMTA to "protect Detroit's investment" because Detroit isn't making any investment.

The public transportation system is supposed to serve all of southeast Michigan—seven counties. SEMTA's governing board must think regionally. That board does think regionally precisely because the seven-county Council of Governments makes all public transportation plans and controls two-thirds of the board's appointments.

SEMTA's governing board is doing all right. It doesn't need to be rhesed up by either Bill Milliken and Coleman Young or Dan Murphy.

CETA funds misused

In spite of calls for federal programs without strings, local governments have a way of destroying what begins with good intentions.

A classic example is the way some local governments have allocated funds from the Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) which Congress passed to combat unemployment.

Suburban municipal governments, school districts and county governments receive CETA funds specifically to hire persons currently unemployed and train them in new job skills. In theory, persons are put to work, the unemployment rate shrinks, the state pays out less in unemployment compensation, and more money begins circulating in an economy which badly needs new spending.

THAT'S THE THEORY, at least in Washington, DC, where the act was passed and money appropriated to local governments. But back home, local governments caught up in the recession are faced with fixed incomes and rising costs.

As a result, some local units have reduced their regular permanent work force and have hired CETA employees to perform the same labor.

In Redford Township, vacancies have occurred in the regular work force through retirement or death. The township has left the positions unfilled and has brought in CETA employees to perform the work. In Westland, two permanent employees were laid off and then recalled by using the CETA funds to pay their salaries.

At Wayne County General Hospital in Westland, there were initial fears that permanent employees would be laid off and their labor performed by CETA laborers. That, apparently, will not be the case, but the fear is still held by some employees with 20 to 25 years seniority.

Emory Daniels writes...

THE UNEMPLOYMENT rate remains the same when local governments lay off regular employees and replace them with CETA workers.

If the CETA replacement was working less than 10 years before becoming unemployed, then funds paid from state coffers for unemployment compensation increase because the regular employees with longer tenure who are laid off earned more and will collect more.

In cases where two CETA persons are used to "replace the labor" of one permanent worker, there will be a loss in discretionary income being spent on the marketplace. A CETA employee's income is likely to be limited to basic purchases most of which he made while collecting unemployment. He certainly lacks extra income for a new car, furniture, or down payment on a house.

WHAT WE GET is a trade-off in unemployment with the rate remaining the same, the possibility of an increase in unemployment compensation paid by the state and a decrease in discretionary dollars entering the economy.

This may help local budgets, but does little to help the economy as Congress expected the CETA program would. I suggest we need to attach another string — that federal funds cannot be used by local governments to perform labor already performed by someone else.

Certainly, federal dollars shouldn't be used to take jobs away from the employed under the guise of giving jobs to the unemployed.

We get what we don't need

"There is good news from Washington today. The Congress is deadlocked and can't act." — Will Rogers.

Ten, maybe three, years ago, such an old saw would have been greeted with grumps and even snarls from many people, when the bulk of the nation viewed government action as the surest and best way of solving our problems.

But today it's all different, perhaps not provable by hard data but as obvious though as palpable as a heavy fog stealing over the landscape, leaving everything quite the same yet somehow utterly different. Quite simply, we don't trust government much anymore.

In part, it's because at all levels, government has become too darn expensive for what it returns to us. In part, it's because government has become too heavy-handed (the seat-belt interlocks on the cars) to be useful, or too thick-headed (the effect of the Interstate Commerce Commission in keeping freight rates high) to be depended on.

And in part, it is because government seems increasingly to be intervening in a heavy-handed manner into the lives of ordinary citizens in order to accomplish, at great cost in taxes, things that we don't want done to us.

A few years ago, we could regard our government as an extension of us; now we regard it, in most of its forms, as "them."

THE LITANY of examples is as long as any conversation in a bar.

The State of Michigan is currently figuring out how to spend millions it doesn't have, to buy school buses which very few people want, in order to accomplish the supposed purpose of integrating the schools in Detroit but with the near-certain result of further segregating education in the metropolitan region. It is doing so because the government, under the aegis of the federal courts, is telling it to do so.

In the last decade the federal government has spent God-only-knows how many billions of dollars to stabilize the economy and help out the poor, but then that same government will not tell the catastrophe-ridden automobile industry what the emission standard will be for the next five years or what the rules of the gas mileage game are, with the net result that unemployment in our region is higher than at any point since the Great Depression.

Our government is supposed to stop malefactors of great pollution from mucking up our lakes and streams and woods. Yet the Reserve Mining Co., by federal court order, is permitted seemingly indefinitely to keep dumping 67,000 tons of taconite tailings daily into Lake Superior. We are paying for this permission with our taxes, and then we shall pay even more in taxes to clean up the mess that Reserve Mining has made in our greatest remaining unpolluted body of fresh water.

And so on, and so on, and so on, etc.

THE ONLY PLACE where government seems to be doing a reasonably good job is on the small, local level, where people can get at it—or better yet, where it keeps its cotton-pickin' hands off what ordinary people are trying to do together.

Most millage renewals in these suburbs passed last week, and even a few increases were approved. This, I suspect, is not because the voters are enamored of paying more taxes but rather because they have a feeling that they have some say for what's going on in their local school systems with their tax money and can beef in an effective manner if they're sore.

Beyond government, even local and accessible, private citizens and businessmen are going about their lives in improving their communities.

Birmingham recently sprouted flowers throughout the downtown, not because some government unit wanted, but because some local businessmen got together and did it.

The Farmington Founders Festival later in July, Livonia's birthday celebration "Spree 25", and the Plymouth Fall Festival are other examples of worthwhile activities which people work at, and hard, because they think they're worthwhile—not because some government unit wants it.

My guess is that this kind of local, non-governmental, non-coerced, small-scale activity is where people are today. What it means for the future is two-fold: (1) A lot of the government nonsense will be got rid of; (2) A lot of politicians had better sit up and take notice...or else.

The U.S. Postal Serveless

Eccentricities

by HANK HOGAN

a mockery of the terms to have temporary rates for two years and still not be near to having any permanent rates.

At the end of last month an administrative-law judge named Seymour Wenner, as part of the rate commission procedure, made new recommendations. He proposed that the first class rates be decreased, air mail rates be increased and, the second class rate, which covers newspapers, be increased 473% for local newspapers and over 300% for magazines, and that the parcel post be increased by 67.5%.

THE SECOND AND third class mailings of newspapers, magazines and circulars help keep the post office in business because their volume pays the basic salaries of postal employees. The average American household, according to the best market research available, sends only 3.2 first class letters in a typical week.

If Wenner's rulings were to be adopted by the postal rate commission, which I am sure they will not be, people will either be spending a lot more for newspaper and magazine subscriptions or the post office is going to lose an awful lot of business when commercial mailers turn to alternative delivery systems.

LOCAL NEWSPAPERS at least, are fortunate because they can convert to a carrier system and deliver at one ninth of the postal rate.

It was everyone's fond hope that an independent postal corporation would be able to deliver the mail more efficiently and at less cost. The facts of the matter are that neither has occurred.

Several years ago the United States Postal Service was created as a separate public corporation with the announced purpose of taking the mail out of politics and building a self sufficient, more efficient postal system in the United States.

We, who are in the business of substantial mailings, applauded the move because it looked as though mail would be moved quicker at a substantially lower cost to the taxpayer.

I feel like a Monday morning quarterback, but in retrospect I now question the move.

Since the United States Postal Service has come into being, postal rates have increased substantially and mail service has been reduced substantially.

THE PROBLEM is not a local one. Letters mailed locally are handled with dispatch. Newspapers are delivered on a local basis with the same dedication and efficiency.

However, once you want to send something out of town the ground rules are changed.

In the old days you could mail letters well into the evening and still expect them to be delivered in the next town the next day. Today it is very difficult to find a place where a letter will be picked up after six o'clock in the evening, and it takes a minimum of two days for that letter to be delivered to the next town.

AN EXAMPLE OF the new systems is that a letter mailed in Birmingham, going to Troy or Bloomfield Hills, which are in the city limits of Birmingham, must now travel to Royal Oak to be sorted and then sent back to those communities—and we are paying more for this service. Maybe this increased travel is one of the reasons it is more expensive.

Under the new law creating the United States Postal Service, postal rates were set by a Postal Rate Commission. The new service made a proposal in 1973 to the Postal Rate Commission and that proposal still has not been acted upon.

UNDER THE POSTAL Service Law the new service was allowed to charge temporary rates until the postal rate commission acted. It makes

'Disturbed' boy disturbs man

Editor:

During a past 10-day period I witnessed a young lad of about 10 years of age on three separate occasions. He was behaving strangely. The events occurred in Livonia.

He appeared to be a quite happy and intelligent boy. He was by himself at each chance encounter in a fast food establishment where he ordered and ate by himself.

However, he showed signs of intensive, nervous hyperactivity and spoke very, very loudly to himself about what he was doing. He behaved in this fashion despite the very close presence of other people, all strangers, who had come very loudly.

These chance meetings occurred during school hours, and I became concerned the child might not be receiving appropriate attention for what I considered to be extreme autism, an instance of an exceptional child. He appeared to be quite intelligent.

His raggedy appearance and completely independent existence away from others of his own age deepened my concern.

I called the State Office of Social Services at 11130 a.m. and everyone was out to lunch.

I called the Child Development Office in Plymouth and was told it was shut down.

I called the Plymouth State Home and was referred to Wayne Intermediate Schools and a Beatrice Gill.

Gill was in conference and her secretary was told I would call back. I did not disclose my identity. I called back and spoke with the secretary again. I disclosed my phone number but refused to say who it was. I was told that Gill would not return the call. I suggested that Gill was having a problem herself.

Whom does one get in touch with to make sure that Gill and her secretary get their egos straightened out so that the young boy, if he is unattended, might receive proper care? My personal identity is irrelevant to the proper investigation of this situation.

If he had given more information in his letter, such as the boy's name, we certainly would have investigated by sending the information to Mr. Montambeau, Director of Special Services for Livonia Public Schools. Mr. Boswell could also have called the police.

Stop ERA head 'paranoid'

Editor:

I am writing in regard to the letter (May 29) by Elaine Donnelly, the Michigan chairman of Stop ERA. A few impressions given by her letter need to be cleared up.

Not every Equal Rights Amendment advocate is a "militant women's liber." Nor do we have castration complexes regarding men and hate complexes regarding housewives, as some ERA opponents would have you believe.

Women have been discriminated against, and that discrimination is continuing. To quote the U.S. Department of Labor statistics from June 1974:

"The average woman worker earns less than three-fifths of what a man does, even when both work full time year round." Also: "Fully employed woman high school graduates have less income on the average than fully employed men who have not completed elementary school."

Ms. Donnelly says ERA advocates indulge in "illogical talk" and "illogical double-think." It seems more illogical to me to threaten people with talk of women being drafted. The chance of women soldiers being drafted if the need ever arises for more soldiers, other than the volunteer army, is slim.

Also, I resent being given the impression that homosexuals will run rampant. If she is so paranoid about homosexuals, let her form a Stop Homosexuals committee.

Finally, Ms. Donnelly gave the impression that women will be left high and dry financially when a divorce occurs. If a woman's situation deserves alimony, then so be it—but why should a husband still pay alimony to a wife who has remarried to a financially sound man? In conclusion, I'm proud to be a woman, as I'm sure Ms. Donnelly is. That gives me all the more reason to fight for my rights.

'Computers really turn students on'

By MARILYN FITCHETT

In the past, mastery of the three Rs was enough to guarantee success in the business world.

But today, when some contend there isn't a segment of the American population untouched by computers, Livonia educators are concerned with computer literacy.

As a result, the school district offers high school students four computer classes. Each high school is equipped with three terminals and an unlimited amount of computer time.

LIVONIA'S COMPUTER program was recently the topic of a Michigan State University seminar where Livonia math coordinator Dr. Charles Zoet and computer specialist Larry Smith explained the program.

"We feel that everyone should have some experience with computers," Smith said.

"What we begin teaching is a kind of computer literacy—what computers are, what they are capable of doing and what their limitations are.

"You always see the cartoons showing what the computers did to people. But, the first mistake was made by a person. The computer did exactly what it was told to do."

ANOTHER MYTH that computer classes dispel is that only a genius can operate a computer.

Smith has recently been introducing some computer lessons to fourth, fifth and sixth graders.

"If you ask a child what a computer can do, the child will tell you it can answer any question," Smith said. "So I tell them to go ahead and ask the computer anything. When they do the computer usually responds with question marks and the children then switch their beliefs and think the computer is dumb.

"We then show the children that the computer can only answer questions that it is programmed to answer."

According to Zoet, learning to use a computer is a practical skill.

"We know there are people who work in math who are going to do a lot of problem solving by computer," Zoet said. "There are interesting and special methods of problem solving that can be done only by a computer. Students ought to have enough exposure to computers to know what they can do."

ZOET MAINTAINS that computers serve as a strong motivational learning tool.

"The students operate them all the time. You seldom see students fighting to get into the library. But the computer really turns them on."

In addition to school hours, computer time is available at Franklin High School from 6 to 10 p.m. week nights. Smith knows of students who rent their own terminals for home use and another student who has built a terminal from a kit for $300.

He estimates that the district could use six terminals at each high school and two at each junior high, but the district cannot afford the cost.

IF THERE IS a drawback in the use of computers, Zoet feels it is that some students are turned off by the computer's demand for preciseness.

"Students often have to debug their programs," he said. "We've been brought up in math to believe that if you do things right, you're going to get a right answer.

"But it doesn't work with programs if you so much as leave out a comma. Computer classes teach a person to think critically."

ALTHOUGH the computer classes are taught as part of the math and business departments, computer use is beginning to drift into other subject areas.

Zoet noted that on a limited basis, social studies classes were using the computers to simulate such social data as management of community facilities.

Although Smith stressed that he is not an advocate of replacing geometry with computers, some believe that since geometry tries to teach a deduc-

Smith boosts a 1975 census

Wayne County Commissioner Royce E. Smith has reissued a plea for public support of proposed legislation authorizing a 1975 census.

The bill would put many suburbs west of Detroit in line for substantial increases in state aid due to population growth since the 1970 federal census, Smith maintained.

His 27th district includes Plymouth, Canton Township, and part of Westland.

"Because local communities receive state funds on a population basis, this legislation would almost guarantee major increases for cities and townships in western Wayne County," Smith said.

"All of western Wayne County has gained substantially in population."

Canton Township, he estimated, has probably two and a half times the population it had in 1970. He also figured the rest of western Wayne County may have doubled its population.

tive, logical process of problem solving, a computer class might eventually replace geometry just as Latin has vanished from the schools as a language base.

LEARNING to use a computer has another practical advantage—as a career opportunity.

Several members of a computer math course at Stevenson High mentioned computer programming as a possible college major.

"I liked math, so I took the computer classes as just another math class. It gives you the chance to think," Pam Sutton said.

"My dad used to work with them, and he told me a lot about them. I'm thinking of going into that field when I go to college."

The team includes many athletes who were standouts in more than one event and many who challenged in last month's state championship.

An example of one such athlete is Livonia Churchill's Bill Reardon who was voted track and field athlete of the year by area coaches.

Reardon was virtually unbeatable in the shot put early in the year, taking such events as the tri-state Mansfield Relays and the state's biggest pre-season event, the Spartan Relays.

Reardon had a peak toss of 56 feet six inches, won the regional and finished third in the state in Class A competition.

High jumper Darrell Korzym was the team point leader for Thurston and the Panthers' MVP. Korzym hit a high of 6-4 in the high jump for a school record. Twice in dual meet competition Korzym won four events and twice the versatile senior won three events.

Long jump first team selection Paul Lokar was Livonia Stevenson's most versatile trackman. Lokar finished seventh in the state in his event and had a season high of 21 feet, 11 and one-half inches.

Rick Powers combined with Reardon to give Churchill the most feared field event duo in the area. Along with second team selection Paul Schultz, Powers made the vault a Charger plus at every meet. Powers had a season best of 14 feet, six and one-half inches in his event.

When it came to pure speed, there was no one in the area who could top Franklin's Dan Quinn. Quinn, who took first team honors in the 100 yard dash, also competed on Franklin's area best 440 and 880 yard relay teams.

Rich Hammill of Livonia Bentley was the only junior to make the first team. Hammill ran an area best of 22.4 in the event and showed his consistency by going the distance in under 22.6 a full six times this year.

Tom Jakubowski of Westland John Glenn was the last word in the hurdle events this year.

The fleet senior was clocked in 14.2 in the 120 yard high hurdles, a full half second better than anyone else in the area.

The first team low hurdler was Redford Union's Joe Austin. Austin came on late in the year to drive his best time in the event down to 20 seconds for the predominantly senior RU squad.

When it came to distance running, no team in the area could hold a candle to Garden City East.

Doug Sweazey was easily the area's best miler, with a season's best time of 4:16.6 which he recorded in the state championship meet for a fifth place at the classic distance.

Sweazey's Panther teammate, Art

Kitze, took first place honors in the two mile event. Along with Sweazey, he was the only two miler in the area to break the nine minute, 30 second barrier at the distance.

Versatile Mark DeMeritt was the runner-up for track and field athlete of the year while competing for Plymouth Salem.

DeMeritt's best race was at 440 yards where he recorded an area best of 49 seconds at the state meet, but he could also fly at 220 yards with a 22.4 clocking.

Stevenson's Ken Brown was the standout half-miler in the area and a repeat performer from last year's team. Brown smashed the two-minute barrier in the event seven of the 10 times in which he competed at the distance this season, won the regional and finished third at the state finals with a time of 1:53.5.

Livonia Franklin took honors in two of three relay events with five runners, Dan Quinn, Dave Smith, Jim Casey, Phil Yuhasz and Greg McGuire alternating to post season's bests of 43.7 in the 440 relay and 1:29.7 in the 880 yard relay.

The area mile relay champion was Redford Union with Jim Lalonde, Ron Pawlak, Doug Milne and Mike Hasty combining for a best of 3:24.3.

Mile favorite

STONEWALK, upset winner of the Massachusetts Handicap last weekend, is the early favorite in the 27th annual running of the Michigan Mile and One-Eighth to be held Saturday at Livonia's Detroit Race Course. Here with racing secretary Tom Dorsey, Stonewalk will be ridden by nationally famous jockey Ron Turcotte. See story page 2B.

LIVONIA FRANKLIN'S 880 yard relay team of Dan Quinn, Dave Smith, Jim Casey and Phil Yuhasz (from left) had area's best time of

1:29.7 in the event. (Staff photos by Art Emanuel)

THE REDFORD UNION mile relay team of Jim Lalonde, Ron Pawlak, Doug Milne and Mike Hasty (from left) ran the distance in the area's best clocking of 3:24.3.

Classic Mile set Saturday at DRC

Despite the arrival of Stonewalk and Navajo on the grounds early this week, between 10 and 12 thoroughbreds are expected to answer the bugle call for the 27th annual $100,000 Michigan Mile and One Eighth at Detroit Race Course Saturday.

Stonewalk, who will be ridden by famed Secretariat jockey Ron Turcotte, reported to DRC Tuesday still steaming from his impressive upset victory in the $100,000 Massachusetts

Handicap at Boston Sunday. Navajo, a handsome gray who will be high-weighted at 121 pounds in the Mile, arrived Monday showing a 1975 record of seven victories and $115,290 in nine starts.

"They haven't scared off many others," DRC racing secretary Tom Dorsey confirmed. "Even Golden Don, who has raced only once this year, is shipping in for his third straight Mile."

Winner of the 1973 Michigan classic but a disappointing sixth place finisher last year, Golden Don will try what many other horses have attempted and failed. No horse has ever won Michigan's richest horse race twice. The big son of T.V. Lark started for the first and only time this year on June 13 at Belmont Park and won the $20,000 event handily at a mile and one sixteenth.

THE IMPORTANT DRAW for post positions will be held at DRC Thursday morning during the annual Michigan Mile Brunch, and horsemen will be carefully watching the race placement of such other expected starters as Zografos, Crimson Falcon, Hey Rube, Mr. Lucky Phoenix, Rastafarian, Ace Commander and Pro-vante.

The 7-year-old Zografos, bred in Argentina and owned by the illustrious Hasty House Farm, has won his last three in a row including the $57,530

National Jockey Club Handicap at Sportsman's Park in Chicago. In a nostalgic twist, Zografos is trained by the veteran Harry Trotsek who saddled Sir Sprite back in 1949 and sent him out to win the very first Michigan Mile.

Speaking of nostalgia, there is also a fair share surrounding another top Mile challenger, Crimson Falcon. The big Crimson King Farm entry is a 5-year-old son of DRC's almost legendary Crimson Satan, who not only won the 1963 Mile but in the process established a track record which still stands, 1:40.3 over a mile and a sixteenth.

Crimson Satan was unanimously named "DRC's Silver Anniversary Horse" two years ago and Crimson Falcon is now in his second year of trying to emulate his famous father in Detroit. Last June he finished fourth in the Mile and this year he has tuned up even more impressively by winning his only two starts at DRC, the $15,000 Armed Forces Day Handicap on May 17 and the $15,000 Michigan Mile Trial last Saturday.

Another popular Detroit-area thoroughbred is waiting for not only his first stab at the classic but also the chance to become the first Michigan-bred horse ever to win the DRC headliner. He is Ace Commander, winner on June 7 of his second straight Frontier Handicap at the Livonia mile track and the valuable 6-year-old property of Mrs. Margaret David of South Lyon.

ACE COMMANDER HAS ALREADY won nearly $45,000 this year under the riding skill of Hawaiian jockey Larry Kunitake, and his spectacular come-from-behind victory in the recent $51,600 Frontier guaranteed him a start in the Mile with trainer Pat Milligan.

Rodriguez' bat, arm lead Thurston Berry victory

Thursday, June 19, 1975

THE OBSERVER & ECCENTRIC

58

Randy Rodriguez pitched a one-hit shutout and slammed a triple to right-center field to drive in the game's only run Saturday as Thurston Berry Red in Livonia Berry League National Division action.

Rodriguez struck out eight and walked only one to record the victory. Berry Red's only hit came on Mark Galass' shot up the middle in the fifth inning.

Jon Jameson pitched almost as well in a losing cause for Red. Jameson gave up only two hits - Rodriguez' triple and Dennis Kuschel's basehit in the fifth.

Rodriguez got his hit after Dan Hunter had walked in the first for the game's only scoring.

In the Red seventh, Dennis Slater was safe on an error and advanced on brother Dale Slater's sacrifice.

Matt Foster then hit a shot down the leftfield line, but Mark Purkiss snared the ball on the run with his back to the plate for the second out.

Galass then popped to first to end the game.

MICHIGAN NATIONAL — CROWE
Michigan National Bank exploded for 10 runs in the second inning Saturday to win the first of its two games that day, 14-4 over Crowe Associates.

John Kolis went the distance for MNB to raise his record to 1-0. The one-out second inning rally featured a two RBI single by Pat Ruvolo and run scoring singles by John Kolis, Tim Murphy and Rob Rose. Two errors, two walks a hit batsman and Dave Pelly's sacrifice fly also aided the rally.

Crowe got five hits from five different players including Tom Schultz's RBI single in the fifth.

Jeff Bond, Ruvolo and Rose all had two hits to lead the MNB attack. Craig Nalepka worked one and one-third inning and took the loss for Crowe Associates.

MICHIGAN NATIONAL — APPLIANCE
Pat Ruvolo struck out six and walked three to lead Michigan National Bank to its second win Saturday, a 9-3 pasting of Berry Appliance.

MNB started things off in the first with a run on Ron Colone's single and Gary Beyrand's double and added three in the third on two walks and RBI singles by Rob Rose, Dave Pelly and Colone.

MNB added a run in the fourth and exploded for four in the fifth when John Kolis powered a triple to center with the bases loaded and scored on an error.

Berry got on the board in the sixth on two walks and an error and added two runs in the seventh on Steve Tresik's bases loaded walk and Tim Hollandsworth's sacrifice fly.

Mike Flood took the loss for Appliance.

YANKEES — PANTHERS

The Yankees defeated the Panthers in American Division Berry League play last week, 7-6 in eight innings.

Mike Griesse scampers across the plate in the eighth inning with the winning run, scoring on a passed ball by loser Craig Barrowcliff. Griesse had singled and advanced on an error and a passed ball.

Brent Ericson went the distance for the Yankees, striking out 12 and walking one. John Kolis opened the game for the Yankees with a home run and Tom DePriest and Steve Thomas both went three-for-four.

Barrowcliff paced the Panther attack with a triple and a home run.

YANKEES — CHOO CHOO

The Yankees also defeated Choo Choo Car Wash of Northville Saturday, 8-2 as Mike Griesse stopped the opposition on five hits.

Tom Pacion homered in the first inning to get a pair of RBIs.

PANTHERS — DMIC

Craig Barrowcliff evened his record at 1-1 Saturday night as the Redford Panthers clobbered DMIC 7-2.

The Panthers took the lead in the fourth inning when they rallied for four runs to go ahead 4-2 at that point.

After a DMIC error started that inning, Mark Ward singled and Barrowcliff, who went two-for-three for the day, singled home one run. Bob Miller's basehit drove home two more and the final choice.

The win evened the Panthers' record at 1-1.

Berry Appliance tops Crowe, 4-3

Berry Appliance started its National Division Berry League season off right last week, topping Crowe Associates of Livonia, 4-3.

Crowe took the early lead in the game when Russ Hodges walked in the first, advanced to third on a pair of wild pitches and scored on Mike Neville's single.

Appliance got the run back in the second when Joe Ruscinski walked, stole second and came home on a Crowe error off the bat of Steve Schultz.

Crowe came up with two runs in the third when Neville led off with a triple to left. Al Bolz followed with a double to left and Glenn Steves drove Mike Gaisley from the mound with an RBI single. Ron Jess came on to retire the side. Jess, in fact, retired the first nine Crowe batters he faced to pick up the victory.

Appliance took the lead for good in the fourth when Greg Wood was safe on an error to start the inning. Jess singled and Joe Ruscinski's sacrifice advanced the runners.

Tom Jones then walked to load the bases and Schultz and Gary Stafford followed with singles to score three.

LHA sets pre-registration

Pre-registration for all boys who did not compete in the Livonia Hockey Association last year, but wish to do so this year, is now taking place at the Livonia Parks and Recreation Department on Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays between 8:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

The office, located on West Seven Mile, is taking registrations for all divisions with a pre-registration deadline of Aug. 15.

In addition, the LHA is currently seeking sponsors for teams in all divisions for the 1975-76 season. Sponsorship is $500 for two years.

The LHA has announced the formation of a new Junior C travel team to operate next season. All house-league games are to be played next season at Ford Arena.

Both experienced and new coaches are also being sought for the 1975-76 season. All inquiries about any information concerning the LHA should be made by calling the Department of Parks and Recreation between the hours of 10 a.m. and noon on Mondays or Wednesdays.

Second ace

Aston Root of 30905 Bobridge in Livonia scored his second lifetime hole-in-one earlier this month at Brooklane Golf Course at Six Mile and Sheldon.

Root, who has been golfing for 15 years, aced the 106 yard 10th hole with a six iron.

In The Pocket

By W.W. EDGAR

Don't be a bit surprised if the entire concept of league bowling is changed within the next decade.

For years on end the ancient game was built around five-man teams with each member bowling three games and lineage was based on 15 lines per team.

Now, along comes Frank Baker, secretary emeritus of the American Bowling Congress, with a novel idea of team play. Under his plan which was tried out in the recent spectaculars staged on the ABC lanes in Ohio, the bowlers change with each frame.

As an example, the lead-off man bowls the first frame, the No. 2 man bowls the second, etc. This means that each bowler rolls only two frames each game.

It sure is novel. Will it ever be adopted?

There is no telling. With the great demand for league lanes in prime time it could be the next move.

Don't forget that the all-star once laughed at the idea of "one game knockout" tournaments. Yet, the pro tour on television proved a success because of the drama of one game struggles.

It isn't so many years ago that five-man team competition was the basis for the game's national popularity. Now such things as national five-man team match game championships are almost forgotten. So, don't laugh off Frank Baker's latest idea.

It could happen.

NOW THAT THE RECORDS are in for the 1974-75 league season it is interesting to note the highest games rolled in the nation's sanctioned leagues. The American Bowling Congress has just released the following performances:

FIVE MAN TEAM SERIES
Special Edition, San Antonio, Texas-3606

FIVE MAN TEAM GAME
Widman Harley Davidson, St. Louis, Mo. 1318
(Firebird Lounge of Pontiac landed fourth with 1275)

TWO MAN TEAM-SERIES
Mike Shaban-Pete Prestgard, Fresno, Calif. 1525
(Rick La Rue and Lanny Sharon, of Saginaw placed second with 1496)

INDIVIDUALS
Ken Romer, Atwater, Calif. 855.
(There were 25 series above 825 with no Michigan bowler listed)

WHEN CHARLIE STAGGS turned in a 227 game in a 590 series last week in the mixed league at Westland Bowl, many figured it was just a lucky night for him.

He proved it wasn't a matter of luck when he returned this week and even surprised himself with a 236 in 650.

Maybe he's just a summer bowler.

ELIZABETH LISCOMB caused a stir in the ladies classic at Eastland Bowl for a couple of minutes in her attempt to overtake Helen Clark, whose 1093 has led the event since the start.

Elizabeth rolled a 267, the high game of the tournament so far, only to fall 20 pins short and settled for a 1073.

BILL CARTER was the man of the hour at Garden Bowl this week.

He fashioned a 258 in 620 to take top place in the Monday Night League. At this figure he had a 30-pin edge on Greg Kalinowski while Al Hernandez landed third with 584.

Blondin's blast

Gilbert Blondin of Livonia scored his second lifetime hole-in-one earlier this month when he aced the 175 yard sixth hole at The Downriver Riverview Golf Club.

Blondin, a 65-year-old retiree, used a driver to record the second ace of his career. Blondin shot a 47 for the nine holes.

Dynamos advance to league final

The Livonia Dynamos of the Michigan Youth Soccer League defeated Ferndale 7-0 Sunday to advance to the league finals next Sunday.

The team, which is sponsored by Reynolds Aluminum, finished the regular season with a 7-0-1 record.

Next Sunday's league championship game will be played at Cass Lake against Utica Susa.

A succession of police chiefs

(Part II)

Recurring references to vagrants appear in reports of the Plymouth police department written in the 1920s and '30s.

In 1929, some 182 cases of vagrancy were listed. The 1930 report indicated there were "201 applicants for lodging in the village jail." By 1932-33, perhaps the worst of the depression years, 509 "lodgers" were cared for. By 1941-42, when America was at war, the number of lodgers had dropped to 130.

A year or two before the United States became involved in World War II, there was much concern in the nation about possible sabotage and potential "fifth column" activities. In his 1939-40 report, Chief Vaughan Smith warned the residents of Plymouth not to over-react by taking the law into their own hands.

"In the wave of patriotism that is rising in the country there lies the danger of over-zealous groups of individuals engaging in acts which are distinctly un-American in method," he wrote.

"No matter how patriotic in aim, we need no vigilantes in this situation. Your local police department has been trained to investigate all matters relating to espionage, sabotage and fifth column activities and will welcome any information relative to any case."

THE NATION'S World War II effort created a variety of problems for the local police department.

One of them was an increase in crime by juveniles. In his 1942-44 report, Charles J. Thumme, who succeeded Smith as chief in 1941, attributed the upward trend in juvenile delinquency to unrest caused by the war.

A sharp increase in traffic through Plymouth was another problem. Commenting on the congestion caused during certain hours by commuters driving to and from the Willow Run bomber plant, Thumme recommended that traffic to that plant from the north of the City of Plymouth be rerouted on Mill Street to Ann Arbor Road.

During the war years, 65 Plymouth City auxiliary police officers and 25 Plymouth Township auxiliary police officers were trained in police work, including traffic control, police patrol work, crime investigation, first aid, gases and bombs.

In his statistical summary for 1942-43, Thumme noted, 341 government investigations were conducted locally, presumably in connection with the war effort.

In 1929, the police department consisted of a chief, two fulltime uniformed men, three part-time men and six reserve men. The city budget showed salaries and wages for the entire department totalled $8,000.

In 1931-32, when Vaughan Smith took over from George Springer, the department's personnel was reduced and the hours of work increased. In 1935-36, however, Smith found it necessary to add four men to the staff. The trend, following population growth, has been upward since that time. Today there are 20 men plus five civilian desk people on the staff, including the chief, and the total yearly payroll is $384,000.

LEE SACKETT followed Thumme as chief of police in 1944. Sackett figured in the recall controversy covered in another article.

He was succeeded in 1950 by Carl R. Greenlee who served until 1954. Kenneth Fisher, chief from 1954 through 1960, was Director of Public Safety from 1960 to 1965 and had charge of the police, fire and building departments. In 1965, when George Schoenneman, became fire chief, Fisher was named police chief again.

21es03402p Since Fisher resigned in 1967, the police chiefs in the City of Plymouth have been Robert Corrington, Herbert Straley, and the present holder of the office, Timothy C. Ford.

During the time Straley was chief, there was controversy over the propriety of the police department's use of juveniles as agents in reporting on the use of narcotics by students in local schools. Straley's administration also ran into some flack when it tried to clamp down on an underground newspaper.

FORD JOINED the department as chief of police in 1971, several months after Straley resigned to take a position in the East.

Before coming to Plymouth, Ford served six years as director of public safety of the City of Gibraltar, where he was in charge of police and fire departments.

Chief Ford holds a degree in law from Blackstone College, and a BS in police administration from Wayne State University. He is now serving his third term in office as president of the Wayne County Police Chiefs Association. For the past six years, he has taught law enforcement classes at Schoolcraft and Henry Ford community colleges.

Ford emphasizes human relations in police performance. He believes people, not crime, are a policeman's first concern. He says the idea that the policeman is primarily an enforcer is outmoded. The modern police department renders a diversity of services to the community, he points out, including the training of school crossing guards. "Police spend less and less time chasing bad guys," Ford says, "and more time assisting people."

The City of Plymouth's police force today consists of a chief, an assistant chief (Loren Johnson, who has been on the force since 1942, and has been second in command since 1959), two lieutenants, two sergeants, and other officers, making a total of 20 fulltime persons.

Specialists include a chief of detectives, a youth sergeant and a community service officer. The latter, who is specially trained to work with young people, was added to the force in 1971 under a grant from the federal government.

As to the future, Chief Ford believes the impending opening of the Jeffries and the I-275 freeways, just east and north of the city, will make less, rather than more traffic through the community. Because slums aren't being created here, he doesn't believe Plymouth will ever see any upsurge in crime. He does, however, see the need for expansion of police services as the city's commercial area expands.

Meeting set Monday

Help on way for parents wanting to adopt

Two township residents are enrolling Michigan in a national organization designed to help orphans and the parents who long to adopt them.

Alan and Judy Prince, 6745 Foxthorn, are trying to fight Michigan's slow-moving adoption procedure and the red-tape barriers that block the adoption of children across state lines.

THE PRINCES hope their goals can be realized by establishing a Michigan chapter of Aid to the Adoption of Special Kids (AASK), a California-based organization which acts as a liaison between adoption agencies and parents seeking adoptive children.

The couple hopes to organize the new AASK chapter Monday, June 23, when they hold a first AASK meeting in their home at 7:30 p.m.

"Our main thing is to get the Michigan agencies to know we're here, so they can register with us," Mrs. Prince explained. "AASK is trying to fight for a new federal adoption law, and we want to start fund-raising activities to help them."

A nationwide adoption law would speed up the adoption process, Mrs. Prince maintains.

"We want to make it just as easy to go into New York for a child as it is to go into Washtenaw County."

THE PRINCES began waging their battle against the slow-moving adoption process late last winter, months after their home study was completed.

Angered by newspaper accounts of 1,200 state orphans awaiting adoption, Mrs. Prince complained about the state's adoption process in letters to Gov. Milliken and the Michigan Department of Social Services (DSS).

The couple, parents of natural five and seven year-old sons, were interested in children traditionally regarded as hard to place—those up to 10-years-old with mental, physical or emotional handicaps.

The Prince family welcomed a nine-year-old Vietnamese orphan as a new family addition in May but still wonder where the 1,200 state orphans could be.

"If there are 1,200 children available, why can't they match them up with the parents who want them?" asked Mrs. Prince, who wants to add more adoptive children to her family. "It shouldn't take more than a month after a home study is completed to place a child. There seems to be a breakdown somewhere."

Mrs. Prince hopes to list all the orphans in Michigan agencies on an AASK's master list. Couples could then seek adoptive children in numerous counties and states.

Michigan's adoption program is now largely run by individual counties. Vicki Rector, program manager for adoption at DSS, pins part of the fault for the state's slow-moving adoption process on county adoption workers, who fail to examine adoption lists of other places.

City hikes rates for cemetery

PLYMOUTH—Effective immediately, rates to purchase lots and be buried in the city cemetery are higher.

The higher rates for Riverside Cemetery were approved by the city commission Monday night. The change was given immediate effect to avoid the possibility of persons rushing to purchase lots before the new prices became effective.

The cemetery is located east of Hillside Inn on the south side of Plymouth Road.

THE CHANGES approved were recommended by the city's cemetery board, which consists of Commissioner Joe Bida, DPW Director Kenneth Vogras and Linnea Salow.

Vogras explained the new rate structure will now charge residents what the former rates were for non-residents. Fees for non-residents will be increased by 50 per cent.

The rates will probably have to be raised again, said Bida, because paying the costs for perpetual care of graves will become more and more of a problem as the cemetery reaches capacity. He expects the cemetery will be filled in about 25 years.

Presently, Bida explained, about $60 from each lot sold is budgeted for perpetual care of gravesites. But once all lots are sold, there won't be any new revenues to cover this expense.

AS OF APRIL 30, 1975, the cemetery fund had a net operating loss of $9,380.

Most of the revenues are derived from grave openings at burial time and from sales of cemetery lots. Total revenues for 1975 were $44,241.

Canton gives funds to athletic group

CANTON—Township participation in the Plymouth Community Junior Athletic Association is increasing in terms of dollars and activity.

The board of trustees last week approved a 1975 contribution to the association of $4,000, $166 more than the sum donated in 1974.

"We're very appreciative of the funds you gave us last year," a representative of the association told board members. "We've had a huge growth of Canton kids. We're in the process of changing our name to the Plymouth-Canton Junior Athletic Association."

Residents' participation in the association jumped 85 per cent from 1973 to 1974. A total of 998 children from Canton Township last year participated in the association's basketball, football, baseball and hockey programs.

Supervisor Robert Greenstein said the board allocated $4,000 for the Plymouth Community Junior Athletic Association in the township's 1975 budget. The board had to authorize the expenditure of the funds.

The association is open to all children in the City of Plymouth, and Plymouth and Canton townships.

Girls get into picture in student home-building

By MARGARET MILLER

They may have "made every mistake you can", but along the way they've learned a lot about draperies—perhaps for future use in their own homes.

And the girls who have just completed the commercial sewing class at Bentley High School also furnished an important addition to the student-built house at 17982 Floral that is just about ready to go on the market.

So did the young women in a home furnishings class, who had the fun of picking harmonizing paint, paper, tile and linoleum and also the frustration of late deliveries and mismatched rolls of wallpaper.

IT WAS THE FIRST involvement for those two classes in the Livonia School District's home construction program that has completed its second marketable family home.

The home built by last year's class was sold just recently, said Arlie Fairman, coordinator of vocational education, and he's hoping a buyer for this one may show up when the public comes to visit Saturday and Sunday, June 21 and 22, to see what the students have accomplished.

Quite a few of the students involved—both the boys pounding in nails to put finishing touches on exteriors and the girls stitching the last of the draperies—have worked beyond the call of classroom schedules to get the work closer to completion by open house time.

"It was graduation day, and there they were still sewing," said Mrs. Alice Faustman, who teaches the girls to use the big machines.

"I don't think they'll be making many draperies right away. But when they are ready to furnish their homes, they will know how to go about it."

"I think it's even good that they've had problems—they'll be less frustrated by difficulties that come up later."

FOR THE DECORATORS in Patricia Arent's home furnishings class, the experiences and frustrations also ran parallel to those of the new home-builder.

"We picked the colors throughout the house and went on many trips to get prices and coordinate colors and materials," Mrs. Arent said.

This teacher found one of her biggest jobs was to restrain great creativity on the part of her students.

Not that she didn't approve some of their individualistic ideas in the matter of decorating, but she convinced the girls that ideas with more universal appeal might be in order in a home going on the market.

"But we went wild in doing the bathroom," one of the students reported. That attractively-wild room has striped wallpaper and geometrically designed tile, all in the same shades of brown, black and white.

THE HOME BUILDING also has been a learning experience for faculty, Fairman pointed out. The first house, on Adams Street, got a late start because the program was in the formation stages, and then plans to build a second near Franklin High School fell through because the property became unavailable.

There were a number of legal maneuverings before the work on Floral could begin, he said, and when the students finally got started they built the garage first so they could have a storage place that would be locked and a working place out of the weather.

Raising the roof was a chilling proposition, Fairman added—"in the cold weather we had the guys up on the roof pounding in nails."

The district now has sites ready for its next three houses, he said. They will be built on a rezoned piece of property in the subdivision near the Pierson school.

THE HOME-BUILDING program has been an all-district one since its inception, involving all four high schools, Fairman said.

The first year the only feminine participation involved a Churchill High family life class, which made suggestions for wall colors in the six rooms.

"But in such a small house they weren't practical, and there wasn't time to go back to the class and explain why," Fairman said. "This time the girls in the classes involved really planned all the color schemes."

The second home was built from architectural plans drawn up by the drafting class at Franklin.

"They worked from a previously-picked plan," Fairman said, adding that Livonia architect Bill Lindhout had served as a consultant.

OTHER ADVICE in the project came from community business people Charles Allen Jr., real estate; Charla Wattleworth, banking; Ed Orr, building and Pat Duggan, real estate.

"And we should add a thank-you to the Michigan National Bank, which gave us a $30,000 interest-free loan," Fairman said.

The first house sale covered construction costs and "left a little over to start the next project," he added. "That's what we hope to do this time; we're not after any profit."

The problem of rising costs has, predictably, hit this project.

"We found costs doubled in building the second house, although the size went up only from 1,000 to 1,280 square feet," Fairman said.

"It means we may have to do as the builders do—go to a stripped-down, no frills model. In this house we have built-in appliances, extra insulation and accommodation for air-conditioning, but that may turn out to be too costly the next time around."

And in that respect, too, the students may be gaining a lesson useful when they become home-owners and occupiers.

Hold Your Own "Closet Clearance Sale"

Spring cleaning often ends up as transference of items from one crowded storage area to another. This year, clear out that crowded closet in a quick, easy way! Just put a price tag on Dad's old tennis racquet, on the workable TV set, on that old global map...on all the usable but unused items that are taking up the space you need. Then call the Classified Department of the Observer & Eccentric and place a Family Want Ad listing these items. Just $6.00* (for up to 15 words) places your classified ad in all 12 Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. More than 155,500 families in our circulation area will be reading your ad. And, with the fast results Family Want Ads get, you'll be gaining new storage space as quickly as you can clean out your closet! Spring cleaning won't seem quite as unpleasant...once you find the room to work with.

*SAVE $2.00 with DOUBLE ACTION FAMILY WANT ADS

Double Action Want Ads are Family Want Ads placed in two consecutive issues—Monday and Thursday or Thursday and Monday—with no changes in copy and no cancellations. Place a Double Action Want Ad for $6.00 and you save $2.00 off the regular cost of placing an ad in two issues.

Family Y camping programs are varied

Summer camp fun, as it's being served up by the Livonia Family Y, has a big assortment of portions that vary with the age and needs of would-be campers.

Registrations are being accepted now for pre-schoolers would like to attend Kiddie Kamp at the Family Y headquarters at 14255 Stark or for their older brothers and sisters who might enjoy Fun Camp, also at the local Y, or Far Oaks Day Camp, which involves daily trips to Camp Ohiyesa near Holly.

It's possible to register here too for a session at Camp Nissokone, a resident camp near Oscoda.

For all the camping possibilities, space is limited, so parents of prospective campers are urged to call as soon as possible. Family Y staff members Linda Grandstaff, Bob Willard, Nancy Richardson and Delphine LaForge can give additional information.

Weekly sessions for all the camp programs begin June 30 to Aug. 18.

KIDDIE KAMP, for children four and five years of age, is divided into six five-day sessions and designed especially as a preparation for kindergarten.

Sessions each day run from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, and each week's activities include water fun, gym time, including trampoline, arts and crafts, music, nature lore and a bus trip.

Scheduled for the last day of each session is a parent open house, when mothers and fathers are invited to participate in the program with their children.

Staff members, including a director, mother assistant and high school youth, will involve the youngsters daily in school-preparation activities like decision-making, physical and group activities, listening, interpreting and following directions.

Enrollment is limited each session to 15 to 20 youngsters, so that the staff-to-child ratio can be kept low. The cost is $20 for Y members and $25 for non-members, with a $15 deposit requested at the time of registration.

SPECIAL WEEKLY themes will feature the Fun Camp program, designed for children from six to eight years of age. Each day's session is 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., with the children bringing sack lunches, and the cost is $28 for members and $33 for non-members.

The first session, with an Olympics theme, will begin Friday, June 27 and will run through Thursday, July 3. Trips will be to Kensington park for swimming and to the Detroit science center, a fire station and the Nankin Mills nature center.

The final day will be a mock Olympics contest, complete with ribbons.

PIONEER DAYS will be the theme of the session from July 7 to 14, with a visit to the Ann Arbor Museum of National History one of the main events.

Other sessions will be July 14 to 18, with an Indian Day, July 21 to 25, Christmas in July, July 28 to Aug. 1, including a Carnival Day; Aug. 4 to Aug. 8, Winnie the Pooh Day; Aug. 11 to 19, Birthdays, 1975, and Aug. 18 to 22, summer fair.

Swimming will be part of each day's session, so campers will bring swim suits and towels. Fees will be reduced $5 for the second child in the family and $10 for the third by both Kiddie Kamp and Fun Camp.

FAR OAK Day Camp is for boys and girls eight to 12 years of age. Nine day sessions will run June 30 to July 10, July 14 to 24 and July 28 to Aug. 7, and the fee is $65 for members and $70 for non-members.

At the end of the bus ride to Ohiyesa, which will begin each morning at 9 a.m., campers will find horseback riding, swim instruction, rowing, canoeing, fishing, archery, arts and crafts, nature lore and group games.

Participants will bring sack lunches and milk will be provided. The buses will return from camp by 5 p.m. each day.

After the bus returns to the Family Y, about 5 p.m. each afternoon, there will be a special swim period for the campers.

Overnight camp, the second Wednesday, will be part of each of the sessions.

CAMP NISSOKONE, on Lake Van Etan, also will have three sessions, each running 13 days, from June 30 to July 12, July 14 to 26, and July 28 to Aug. 9.

Its fees, $170 for members and $175 for non-members, include transportation to and from camp, horseback riding, rowing, canoeing, swimming, archery, arts and crafts, nature, sports and games.

Besides the regular camping, the Y offerings include leadership training at Nissokone, a six-week program open to high school students who have completed the 11th grade, and a Canadian canoe trip, a wilderness experience July 14 to 28 for 14-to-17-year-olds.

Junior club picks officers

Carolyn Kleinsmith is the new president of the Western Suburban Junior Woman's Club.

Taking office with her recently were Carole Dunn, first vice president, and Diane Ramsey, second vice president.

Other officers are Joan Shore, recording secretary; Judy Trexler, corresponding secretary, and Sis Kordt, treasurer.

Chairmen serving on the board are Rainy Kirchoff, philanthropy; Joanne Gorman, ways and means; Pat Nixon, publicity; Barb Stanley, program and Mary Ann Heaton, social.

The Western Suburban Club is affiliated with the Michigan Federation of Woman's Clubs.

THE LIVONIA CIVIC market opened for the first time Saturday for an estimated 500 shoppers for produce and flowers. The market will be open from 8 a.m.-3 p.m. every Saturday through October in the Civic Center, on the east side of Farmington Road south of Five Mile. There was a supply of flowers and strawberries, which were popular among shoppers. (Staff photo)

Board Freedom Train bus at Wonderland Center

The American Freedom Train, a 25-car mobile display of this nation's 200-year history, pulls into Detroit in mid-June on its cross-country journey for the United States' bicentennial observance.

Painted in the traditional red, white and blue colors, the train will be in the Penn Central Station, 17th and Vernor in Detroit for 16 days starting June 21. It will leave then for its two other Michigan stops, Grand Rapids on July 11 and Kalamazoo July 14 - before rolling westward across the country.

Pulled by a giant steam engine, itself a refurbished relic of the railroad past, the train is a showcase containing historical documents and artifacts ranging from Revolutionary War muskets and the original Louisiana Purchase Agreement to Martin Luther King's vestment robe and Bible. The display includes rocks brought back from the moon by U.S. astronauts.

Michigan contributions range from a 1904 Oldsmobile to a pair of Joe Louis' boxing gloves.

The train is sponsored by four major corporations—General Motors, Prudential Insurance, Kraft Foods and Pepsi, each of which contributed $1 million to get the project on the track.

Twelve of the 25 cars house displays and exhibits, 10 of them viewable on a moving walkway inside the train, and the two other glass enclosed.

Each visitor will use a transistorized sound unit to provide a running narration coordinated with the exhibit.

Tickets are $2 for adults, $1 for youths 18 and under, and senior citizens 65 and older. Tickets are available at all Hudson's stores, the Fisher Theater and Cobo Hall.

American Freedom Train visitors can use a special Department of Transportation (DOT) park-and-ride service from Wonderland Shopping Center, which will take them to and from Freedom Train site. There is limited parking space near the train site.

DOT flyers will leave Wonderland every hour on the half hour from 9:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Flyers will leave the Freedom Train site every hour on the hour from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Fare is 50 cents each way. Parking at Wonderland is free.

The DOT flyer will board at Wonderland at Gate 6.

Nureyev teacher heads faculty

Valentina Pereyaslavac, renowned teacher of classical ballet, will head the faculty of the sixth summer school for the performing arts, hosted by the Performing Arts Center, University of Detroit-Marygrove College.

Ms. Pereyaslavac has taught many of the world's famous dancers including Rudolph Nureyev, Carla Fracci, Melissa Hayden, Mikhail Baryshnikov and Natalia Makarova.

Other nationally and internationally known dancers and choreographers who will join Ms. Pereyaslavac at Marygrove are Manuel Alum, Mary Hinkson, Fredbjorn Bjornsson, David Howard and Gus Giordano.

The summer program, which runs from June 23 through Aug. 1, includes 31 workshops in dance, a series of acting workshops for high school and college students, and classes in dance costume and marionette construction.

All workshops will be at Marygrove, 8425 W. McNichols at Wyoming. Most workshops may be taken for undergraduate college credit. The summer schedule is divided into three two-week sessions. Classes meet Monday through Friday for 90 minutes each day for two weeks.

Cost of each workshop varies from $25 to $120. For a brochure on complete class listing and instructors, call the Performing Arts box office.

In session one, June 23-July 1, Ms. Pereyaslavac will conduct two workshops in classical ballet—one in advanced and one in intermediate. Mary Hinkson will teach intermediate modern dance and advanced modern dance. Kedzie Penfield, a dance therapist, will conduct a workshop in effort and shape.

Other workshops in session one include advanced ballet: classical variations, by Jacob Lasca, beginning tap taught by Bob Gatzke, beginning modern dance for adults with Stephanie Katz, a choreographer's workshop and an actors workshop in improvisation taught by David Regal.

Headlining session two, July 7-Aug. 18, will be Alum teaching classes in intermediate and advanced modern dance. Bjornsson will teach bournonville variations and two classes in classical ballet: intermediate and advanced.

Other classes open during session two are introduction to dance therapy, partnering, beginning jazz and intermediate-advanced rock jazz, taught by Ms. Katz, Lasca and Gatzke.

In session three, July 21-Aug. 1, Howard will conduct three workshops in intermediate classical ballet, advanced ballet and pointe and variation. Giordano will teach classes in intermediate and advanced jazz technique, and a class in musical comedy.

Other session three classes include Carol Morisseau and JoAnn Cusmano teaching beginning black dance and intermediate-advanced primitive dance, modern dance movement for children and modern dance for teens. Construction principles for building marionette will be explained by puppeteer Raymond Masters, and Regal will conduct acting techniques—introduction to characterization.

French relocate to Kern Block

Cancan dancers, sidewalk cafes and a crepe-flipping contest will transform Detroit's Kern Block into a bazaar as the French Festival of Detroit holds its third annual French Market from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday, June 28 and from noon to 7 p.m. Sunday, June 29.

The downtown site will be the setting for a flea market, a sidewalk cafe, bazaar and food stalls.

Entertainment will include cancan dancers, songs by Livonian Jeannette Lorente, puppet shows, a magician, a celebrity crepe-flipping contest, fashion shows and songs by master of ceremonies George Zeff of Farmington.

Proceeds from the festival will be earmarked to outfit a body of troops which will re-enact the 1701 landing of Cadillac and the founding of Detroit as part of next year's bicentennial celebration.

Mrs. Lorente was born in Montreal. She has done Canadian radio and television and sings regularly for French-oriented clubs.

Zeff was born in France and was Pierre on TV's "Milky's Party Time." He has taught French on videotaped TV programs and has done industrial films, commercials, photographic work, modeling and has sung at local clubs and restaurants.

Other area residents participating in the festival are Yvette De Puma of Livonia, and Denise Michels, Suzanne Hansen, Helene Uribe and Mabel Wright, all of Redford Township.

Mrs. Michels is a vice president of the French festival in charge of costumes. She is also vice president of the French Women's Benevolent Club, one of the festival's sponsoring organizations.

Marianne Manheimer of Farmington Hills is entertainment chair-

Livonia Ballet sets concert

MOT's opening salutes bicentennial

Michigan Opera Theater General Director David DiChiera announces the company's 1975-76 season.

All performances will be in the Music Hall Center for the Performing Arts, 350 Madison, Detroit, and will be sung in English.

Opening the season in October will be MOT's first salute to the bicentennial celebration, a rendition of Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess." Performances dates are Oct. 3, 5, 8, 10 and 11.

The opera's second show, opening Nov. 7, will be Puccini's tender and heartbreaking love story, "La Boheme," newly designed by John Scheffler and directed by Francis Rizzo. Music director for "La Boheme" will be Joseph DeTugenis of New York.

Performance dates will be Nov. 7, 9, 12, 14 and 15.

Donizetti's "Lucia di Lammermoor" will be MOT's third production. Directing will be Christopher Alden, whose credits include productions for the Omaha and Western operas. Performance dates are Jan. 16, 18, 21, 23 and 24.

THE FINAL show of the 1975-76 season will be Rossini's comic masterpiece, "The Barber of Seville." Music director for the "Barber" will be Theo Alcantara, music director and conductor of the Grand Rapids Symphony. Performance dates are Feb. 6, 8, 11, 13 and 14.

Directing the chorus for the season will be Dr. Raynold Alvin, acting chairman of the music department at Oakland University and MOT's chorus master since 1969.

The opera theater will again open with a Friday evening series and will continue its "Sunday at 6:30" series.

Wednesday matinees begin at 1:30 p.m. and include students and adults. A second Friday evening series and a Saturday evening series complete the season. Evening shows begin at 8:30.

Season tickets at $36, $32, $25, $18 and $14 go on sale to the public July 10. Single tickets, if available, will go on sale Sept. 1. For ticket brochures, write Michigan Opera Theater, Music Hall Center, 350 Madison, Detroit, 48226.

"HOW CAN WE LOSE when we're so sincere," question (from top) Garry Crotty, Patricia Oliveri and Scott Maitland who play Snoopy, Lucy and Charlie Brown in the Studio Theater production "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown" at Wayne State University beginning July 2. The cast will wind up its five-performance schedule Aug. 2.

Oakway offers college credit

There are openings in the Oakway Symphony Orchestra for string, woodwind, brass and percussion players. College credit will be given to orchestra members at Madonna, Marygrove, and Mercy colleges. Also Oakland Community College-Orchard Ridge campus and the University of Detroit.

The orchestra rehearses Mondays, September through May at 7:30 p.m. in Harrison High School Auditorium, Twelve Mile Road between Middle Belt and Orchard Lake roads in Farmington.

Persons interested in auditioning should call Francesco DiBlasi, conductor, 16901 Fairfield, Livonia, or Andrew Henderson, 222 West Street, Northville.

The Oakway has scheduled 12 performances for the 1975-76 season including six subscription concerts. Performances are slated in Birmingham, Livonia, Farmington, Southfield and Detroit.

For more information on the college credit program call one of the colleges listed.

Theater offers table service

A new policy will go into effect Thursday, June 19, when the Dinner Theater of Detroit abandons the buffet dinner for table service.

"We will have two entrees and a special each weekend on the menu," says James E. Mathias, Mercy College student center director. "Our waitress will take orders from patrons and serve in courses. We will continue with the full dinner of vegetable, salads, desserts and coffee."

"Personals," performed by the Phil Marcus Esser troupe, is the original musical presented by Mercy College.

Dinner begins at 7 p.m. and showtime is at 8:30 p.m. for reservations call the college, 8200 W. Outer Drive, Detroit.

"CINDERELLA LIBERTY" (R)

"Looks and sounds like a hit." Chuck Thurston, Free Press "a splendidly conceived and deftly executed multimedia effort." Bill Gary, News "I urge you to go see 'Personals'." Shirl Harris, WQRS "Personals" is not just good 'local' theatre. It is superb theatre any time, any place." Jimmy Launce, WJR "Personals" has a four-piece orchestra that very often sounds like a fifty-piece orchestra because the musical arrangements are not only superb, but superbly played." ## History and beauty emerge from scrap metal

Out of one man's compassion and creativity and many people's junkyards and flea markets has grown an exhibit that is causing Livonia Mall shoppers to stop hurrying and contemplate.

The show, on during store hours through Sunday, June 22, is titled "Jewish History in Metal," and its creator is Henry Friedman, who insists "I'm not an artist—I'm a tool and die maker."

But artistry is undeniable in the group of more than a dozen metal sculptures. It joins with an inner peace that springs, perhaps, from Friedman's long-ago years in German concentration camps and his appreciation his good life today.

It's all scrap metal in his works, this Oak Park resident points out. Well, maybe except for the silver spoon he needed for Goliath's armor and appropriated from the family silver drawer. "My wife missed it when she polished silver the next time," he admitted a bit sheepishly.

ALSO NOT EXACTLY scrap were the valuable guns he took apart for a sculpture that is at once a memorial for the dead and a plea for peace. The polished wood stocks of guns form the base; small metal parts of weapons spell out the words "Peace for All Mankind."

Incorporated into the work is a partial list of concentration camps—"there wasn't room to list all of them"—and, outlined in tiny bullets, a Star of David with a cross inside. "Because this is for everyone," Friedman said. "More than Jews have died in the concentration camps."

"My friends at the shop couldn't believe I would destroy two rifles for this purpose. They asked how I could do it. I said it was easy."

There are many Biblical scenes depicted in the art works. You see David and Goliath, and Moses standing beside the burning bush and holding aloft the Ten Commandments written in Hebrew, and Samson about to bring down the temple.

Bringing Jewish and lore history more up to date, there's a scene showing a rabbi and the robot Golem and one titled "Israel I, Interplanetary space Station."

FRIEDMAN'S WORK dates back about 10 years. It started when he was working as a trouble-shooter in Congress Tool & Die in Hamtramck and found his days filled with more time than trouble.

"There was a pile of scrap metal in the corner and I wanted something to do, so I welded some pieces together," he said. The man-like creature he brought home amazed his wife, who suggested he make another. The next day his foreman "started to chew me out, then asked if I'd make him one."

After a few welded figures, presented to the foreman and the president and the vice-president of the firm, Friedman started thinking about more serious works.

"I decided to do a memorial for my parents," he said. German Jews, Bernard and Amalia Friedman had perished in the gas chamber of the Belzec concentration camp in Poland.

Their son had spent four years in various camps during World War II, but escaped the chamber because he could be used in an airplane factory. He came to this country as a displaced person in 1947.

"I ACCUSE" is the title of the memorial. It shows a figure holding a model of a camp and a grave. A judge is condemning the world for the atrocities committed against the Jews, he said.

That Friedman loves working with the cast-off bearings, pistons, nails, cylinders and countless other metal parts that go into his works is obvious from his descriptions.

For his Rabbi and Golem, for instance, he explained that the story didn't describe the weapon used by the superhuman robot to frighten the enemies of the Jews, "so I gave him a thunderbolt with a Jewish star."

And Creation, he decided, needed a figure to go with the circling spheres, made out of rings of brass he sawed from a huge pipe.

THE RABBI and the Golem

"In the Jewish and in the Christian faith, it is not permitted to make the image of God," Friedman said, "so I substituted an angel."

"Two nuns were here, and they liked what I had done when I explained it. I was glad about that, because this is to promote peace, not hate."

Friedman never had shown his work until his daughter insisted he enter the State Fair art exhibit two years ago. Even when he was told he'd won best of show, he couldn't believe it until he received the official letter.

"I'm a tool and die maker, not an artist," he repeated.

HE HOPES SOMEDAY to go to Israel and present some of his works there, "because they are for everyone."

Meanwhile, he gets deep satisfaction out of watching visitors to shows like his current, informal one in the Mall.

Even when the emotion his work invokes isn't all joy.

"I watched two women here crying," he said. "I did not want to go up to them, but I'm sure of the problem. They had been there. They were inmates."

And to a woman who bemoaned the evil that could have produced concentrations camps and war, he had these words:

"Let's hope that we can create somehow a better world for our children—even though we may not see it."

MOSES holds his staff and the Ten Commandments.

Hockenberrys have 50th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Hockenberry, formerly of Plymouth, who now live in Rogers, Ark., recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at a party in Plymouth.

Among the 200 friends and members of the family who attended were the couple's four children, Mrs. Sally Barber and John Hockenberry of Tulsa, Okla., and Mrs. Ruth Dougherty and Mrs. Doris Daniel of Plymouth.

Mr. Hockenberry's brother and sister were also present for the event. They are Paul Hockenberry of Rogers and Mrs. Lewis Foster of Plymouth.

Mrs. Hockenberry's brother, Herbert Rorabacker of Plymouth, also attended with his wife. They were attendants at the Hockenberry wedding in 1925 in the Baptist Church in Salem.

Another brother, Carl Rorabacker, lives in Wayne. The couple has 18 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

16 Girl Scouts get first class awards

Sixteen Girl Scouts of the Plymouth-Northville area will receive first class recognition tonight in a ceremony in Cooke Junior High School in Northville.

The event is being planned by members of the Cadette Council with Mrs. Ann Nickloff of Plymouth as consultant.

First class patches will be awarded by Esther Hulsing of Plymouth, a member of the antional board of the Girl Scouts.

First class is the highest award in Cadette Girl Scouting. A girl may achieve it in two ways. She can earn a minimum of six Cadette badges and four challenges or successfully meet any seven of 12 challenges.

Earning the badges indicates she has grown in understanding, knowledge and skill in arts, citizenship, health and safety, home, international friendship and the out-of-doors.

To earn a challenge, the girls form groups according to a common interest such as the out-of-doors. They then work on some aspect of this subject such as weather, birds or gardening.

Plymouth Girl Scouts receiving first class are Cheryl Fee of Troop 367, and Kathy Sutton, Anita Nickoloff and Sharon Bosche of Troop 363.

Also receiving badges will be Andrea Widian, Beth Martinek, Jill Lipford, Melissa Slade, Linda Bentley, Sue Clinton, Julie Englehart, Sue Sharp and Karen Schnoes of Troop 626.

Rev. Franklin Williams goes west

The Rev. G. Franklin Williams, minister of evangelism at Ward United Presbyterian Church of Livonia, will leave next week for a pastorate in the state of Washington.

Rev. Williams, who came to Ward as assistant pastor in 1969, will preach his farewell message at the 9:30 and 11 a.m. worship services Sunday, June 22.

His topic will be "Almighty God: Lord of History." During the second service, the church's youth class will be received into membership.

Church members will give a reception for Rev. Williams, his wife, Barbara, and their children, Catherine and Christopher, following the 7 p.m. vesper service.

The family will leave for Clallam Bay, Wash., next week, and Rev. Williams will begin his pastorate at the Clallam Bay Presbyterian Church July 13.

In the course of the summer he will share his pulpit one Sunday with a familiar visitor. Dr. Bartlett L. Hess, Ward senior pastor, will preach there while vacationing in Washington.

Rev. Williams is a native of Charlotte, N.C. and graduated from the University of Virginia and Gordon-Conwell Theological Seminary.

Ordained by the Presbytery of Boston in 1964, he served churches in Hamilton, Ont., and Lexington, Va., before coming to Livonia.

During his six years at Ward, he has taught classes in the church's Wednesday night School of Christian Education.

VBS participants

JOHN MATHEG (left), Darrell Smith and Kim Thomas are just three of the 500 children who will join in a musical closing the vacation Bible school at Ward United Presbyterian Church, Six Mile and Farmington Road, Livonia, on Wednesday, June 25 at 7:30 p.m. Dr. Jerry Smith will direct the production, titled "Hey, God, Listen." Carolyn Papierski will assist him. Refreshments will be served following the performance and the public is invited. Ward's VBS, under the direction of Donna Strong, began June 16. (Staff photo by Bob Woodring)

CHURCH BULETIN

NEWBURG UNITED METHODIST CHURCH, 36500 Ann Arbor Trail, Livonia, will welcome the Rev. Paul Eddyshaw and his family with an all-church reception on the church lawn Friday, June 20, at 7:30 p.m.

The family lives in Sussex County, England, and the Rev. Eddyshaw will begin on June 22 a six-week exchange ministry under auspices of the World Council on Methodism.

During his stay here, the Rev. William A. Ritter, Newburg senior pastor, will serve two churches in Sussex County. The Friday reception will begin with dessert and coffee, and the congregation and visitors will then move inside for group singing and to pictures of the Eddyshaws' home and church.

FAITH LUTHERAN CHURCH, 30000 Five Mile, Livonia, has begun its summer Wednesday nights of informal family discussion and worship.

The meetings, to continue to July 16, begin with a potluck supper at 6:30 p.m. and continue with worship at 7:30 and educational experiences at 8.

BETHEL BAPTIST TEMPLE, 29475 Six Mile, Livonia, will hold its first vacation Bible school Monday through Friday, June 23 to 27, from 10 a.m. to noon daily.

Bible study and stories, games, arts and crafts will be included in the program. Free transportation is available by calling the church.

PLYMOUTH CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE, 41550 E. Ann Arbor Trail, plans Kids Week, a vacation Bible school, for children from kindergarten through sixth grade Monday through Friday, June 23 to 27, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Mrs. Karen Jackman, special leader of the program, will present ventriloquism, object lessons, chalk talks, flannelgraph and magic.

WARD UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, 17000 Farmington Road, Livonia, will welcome Moishe Rosen, leader of Jews for Jesus, as speaker for its 7 p.m. vesper service Sunday, June 22.

Rosen was minister from 1956 to 1970 to the two largest Hebrew Christian congregations in the country, the Beth Sar Shalom fellowship in Hollywood and New York City. In recent years, he has devoted himself to the Jews for Jesus movement, which he says grew out of the Jesus movement in Haight Ashbury in San Francisco.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF PLYMOUTH, 701 Church, has named Mrs. Dorothy F. Crawford as its organist, succeeding Robert W. Jones.

Mrs. Crawford, who moved to Plymouth with her husband last November, served as director of music in the First Church of Christ, Congregational, in Bedford, Mass. Educated at the University of Illinois and the New England Conservatory of Music, she has been active in the American Guild of Organists for 20 years and belongs to its Ann Arbor chapter.

She will work with Fred Nelson, director of music for the local church for 28 years.

ST. MATTHEW UNITED METHODIST CHURCH, 30900 Six Mile, Livonia, will be the setting for an ice cream social to be sponsored by its Friendship Group Tuesday, June 24, from 6 to 8 p.m. The event will be on the church lawn if the weather is good, or inside in the event of rain.

GOOD SHEPHERD REFORMED CHURCH, 6500 Wayne Road, Westland, will hold an ice cream social from 6 to 9:30 p.m. Friday, June 20.

Bible school runs all summer in Church of Risen Christ

By MARGARET MILLER

Vacation Bible school goes on all summer for kids at the Lutheran Church of the Risen Christ, 46250 Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth.

Furthermore, the church's pastor, the Rev. Kenneth E. Zielke, and leaders of its Christian education program are inviting youngsters in the surrounding community as well as church family members to share in the every-Wednesday activities.

a light snack, supervised recreation and a program of music.

"We have been conducting our summer Bible school this way for two years," said Homer Kehler, Christian Education chairman.

"Up to now it's been geared basically to our own children. This summer we want to reach out to the larger Plymouth area."

To extend a special invitation, members of the church's evangelism committee, seventh and eighth graders and some adult supervisors, will conduct a community walk June 22, going to homes in the area and handing out Bible school registration forms.

Those not visited but who are interested in the school are invited to call the church to register.

The theme for the program is "And God Says, I Promise." Lesson material for all the grades is now in the hands of teachers, who are planning activities that can last a summer.

Mrs. Evelyn Byson, who in a previous Bible school stint led the production of a puppet show, said she was hoping her sixth grade pre-teen class would be able to put together a slide show for the rest of the school.

The all-summer activity, said Pastor Zielke, "has worked well because it gives the children something to keep them busy longer than just one very busy week."

It's better for the mothers who teach, too," he added. "Most of them have family responsibilities that really suffer with a week of concentrated activity."

New Destiny singers visit

Sessions for children aged four through eighth grade begin Wednesday, July 2, and will go on until Aug. 27.

Each week, from 10 a.m. to 12 noon, there will be Bible study, handicrafts,

The New Destiny singers, a group of 40 young musicians who specialize in Gospel songs, will present a concert service in the Detroit First Church of the Nazarene, 18751 Fenkell, on Sunday, June 22 at 6:30 p.m.

The program, with a theme of "Life in the Son," will include a puppetry segment as well as varied music.

Rev. Stout joins Plymouth UMC as senior pastor

The Rev. Samuel F. Stout, newly-appointed senior minister for the First United Methodist Church of Plymouth, will preach his first sermon there Sunday, June 22.

He succeeds the Rev. Paul Cargo in the post, and will work with the Rev. Dale M. Miller, who will continue as associate minister. Rev. Miller was elected to elder's orders and received as a full member of the Detroit conference of the UMC during its recent session in Adrian.

Rev. Stout, who was born in Pennsylvania and grew up in Royal Oak, has had six previous pastoral assignments, including the posts of senior minister in Embury Methodist Church in Birmingham, First United Methodist Church of Utica and First United Methodist Church of Marquette.

He saw service with the 29th Infantry Division of the Army in Europe during World War II and holds degrees from Nyack College in New York, Taylor University at Upland, Ind., Oberlin Graduate School of Theology and Wayne State University. He also has studied at Yale University, the University of Michigan and Cranbrook Institute.

Rev. Stout serves on the Detroit Conference Board of the Ministry, the board of directors for conference retirement homes and is a member of Rotary International.

His wife, Margaret, is a graduate of Birmingham High School and earned a degree in Christian education at Nyack College. She served as an assistant in Christian education.

They have a son, John, 16, and a daughter, Barbara, 14, both of whom will attend Plymouth Salem High School.

As a family, the Stouts recently lived for a summer in England, where Rev. Stout was pastor of Gerrards Cross Methodist Church near London.

Rev. Miller is a native of Plainfield, Ind., and has a degree in music from Illinois Wesleyan University and a master's of divinity from Garrett Theological Seminary at Evanston, Ind.

He and his wife, Susan, have a year-old son.

GRAND OPENING SPECIALS!

Sunday, June 22, at noon, marks the official (and very "grand") Opening of our luxurious new addition, "The Colonnade". Our doors will sweep open for browsing on a new display of furniture elegance . . . a wide assemblage of the finest traditional furniture and accessories in Michigan. To add excitement to this occasion, we have sale priced many of our new collections . . . and, some of your old favorites, too! This veritable feast for the discriminating shopper will be on display, not only in the "Colonnade" but throughout our acre-and-a-half of distinctive furniture galleries. (We're showing just a few of our Grand Opening Specials here.) Our staff of fully experienced salespeople and interior designers is dedicated to the ideals of quality, courtesy and service. Come in, browse, and get acquainted with our furniture . . . our excellent values . . . and our friendly personnel.

The special look of John Widdicomb furniture comes from a tradition of fine cabinetry that dates back to 1858. The John Widdicomb collection values thoroughness and attention to detail, style and quality. Each piece of this Italian Bedroom is something to be cherished and valued for a lifetime. The finish is a combination of three painted colors, hand decorated in the gesso manner. 76" long Triple Dresser, 52" x 34" Mirror, king-size headboard and frame, 56" hi Armoire, and two Bedside Tables, Grand Opening Special $2900 complete.

All-occasion Game Table and four Chairs has so very many uses. 44" dia. Table (opens to 62" with one aproned leaf) is 27" Party Table height. Wood-grained top is stain-resistant. The carved pedestal base gives extra room for cane-back Upholstered Chairs on casters. Deeply cushioned Arm Chairs give hours of pleasurable seating comfort. Table and four Arm Chairs, Grand Opening Special $599.

Grand Opening

You Are Cordially Invited to Our Grand Opening of "The Colonnade" . . .
Sunday, June 22 . . . Noon to 6 P.M.

Let us introduce you to our newest addition, "The Colonnade" . . . another long-time dream come true! "The Colonnade" increases our display space to over 58,000 sq. ft. of tastefully appointed traditional furniture groupings and gallery settings . . . accented with exciting wall decor, lamps, pictures & accessories. You will especially note and enjoy the way we are showing some of the traditional furniture favorites in completely new surroundings. We are presenting stunning traditional furniture & accessory collections . . . never before seen at Wiggs . . . in "The Colonnade."

Do come and browse through our complete store today from noon to 6 P.M. In honor of this gala opening, we have freshened and enlarged ALL of the furniture galleries. We just know you will be inspired and delighted. Our entire staff will be on hand to greet you. (Be sure to look for our Grand Opening Specials!)

WOODVIEW

A PERFECT APARTMENT IN A PERFECT NATURAL SETTING...

Surrounded almost entirely by natural forest area, WOODVIEW is just 100 yards from the entrance to famous Holiday Park. Secluded and quiet are the two best words to describe WOODVIEW. When you desire the services of one of Michigan's prestige shopping areas, it's just a 10 minute walk to Hudson's Westland or the new Kroger Center. You'll choose to live in Westland, because of Edward Hines Park, many nearby golf courses, the schools, public and private, places of worship and the expressways. Like living in town, but bathed in the beauty of natural inside and out. The rooms are extra large. Here are some of the many wonderful features in wonderful WOODVIEW:

■ Fully Carpeted ■ Air Conditioned ■ Refrigerator/Freezer ■ Self-Cleaning Range & Oven ■ Automatic Dishwasher ■ Carports ■ Private Balconies and patios with landscaped terraces ■ Double sliding glass doors ■ Magnificent WOODVIEW CLUB, one of the largest and most complete with private swimming pool, locker rooms, saunas and meeting rooms ■ Nature trails and Hiking Paths ■ No-doubt about it, wonderful WOODVIEW in Westland is a natural place for you... and your family!
