Schools fret over reduced state aid

By EMORY DANIELS

Plymouth Community School District stands to lose about $130,000 with the stroke of a pen.

That's the amount the district expects to lose in state aid until school opens, but present estimates are about $130,000.

The bill has passed the House and Senate, with differences ironed out in conference, and is expected to be signed anytime now by the governor.

JOHN M. HOBEN, superintendent, says he won't know for sure how much will be lost in state aid until school opens, but present estimates are about $130,000.

This won't result in any drastic program reductions, or teacher layoffs, he stressed. "I feel comfortable that we are fiscally sound and will be able to present the school board a balanced budget with very little curtailment, if any, in programs."

Before more accurate figures are obtained, the administration must first get more final information concerning: the actual student headcount (officially taken the fourth Friday after school opens); the local state equalized tax base; the local tax rate to be levied; the actual loss from state aid; and the tax rate allocated to the district by the Wayne County Tax Allocation Board.

The exact state aid loss cannot be determined at this point because, among other factors, the governor has authority to eliminate any single category within the educational budget statewide.

Because the governor is constitutionally mandated to balance the budget, he can "redline" (eliminate entirely, but not reduce the figure) any single item in the state education budget.

Because the Legislature didn't present a balanced education budget to the governor for approval, Milliken must trim some $705,000 before signing the state aid bill.

THE FEATURE in the state aid formula which affects Plymouth most is a provision calling for a reduction off the top of sixth-tenths of one per cent of the total state aid and local tax base.

This factor, alone, will reduce general state aid to Plymouth by about $95,000.

The Legislature, in its attempt to cut $14 million from the education budget, also changed aid formulas for transportation, special education, and some other categorical areas. The transportation cut means a loss of about $25,000 in the operating budget for Plymouth.

Based on an expected total loss of $130,000, Plymouth Community School District hopes to spend about $1,190 per student. The final budget will be near the $14 million mark.

ONE CONCERN of the district is final student enrollment.

The state aid formula was based, explained Hoben, on the assumption that enrollment statewide would decline by 1.3 per cent.

Plymouth won't suffer an enrollment decline but will probably gain fewer new students than anticipated earlier. The district had projected a gain of 800 students, but now expects to gain 500 new students.

This will mean a drop in state aid, which is keyed on enrollment and local tax effort, from what had been forecast locally when an 800-student increase was projected. Right now, Hoben hopes the study body will climb to 13,100 by the time school opens in September.

"It's really important right now that new residents moving into Plymouth-Canton register at their local school building as soon as possible. Parents of new kindergarteners should also sign up quickly," Hoben stresses. "Once our headcount is more firm, we can proceed toward finalizing the budget."

Another unknown, which worries administrators and board members, is what will happen to utility costs this winter. Last year, the district budgeted for utilities at cost plus seven per cent for an unexpected increase. Utility expenses jumped by 23 per cent.

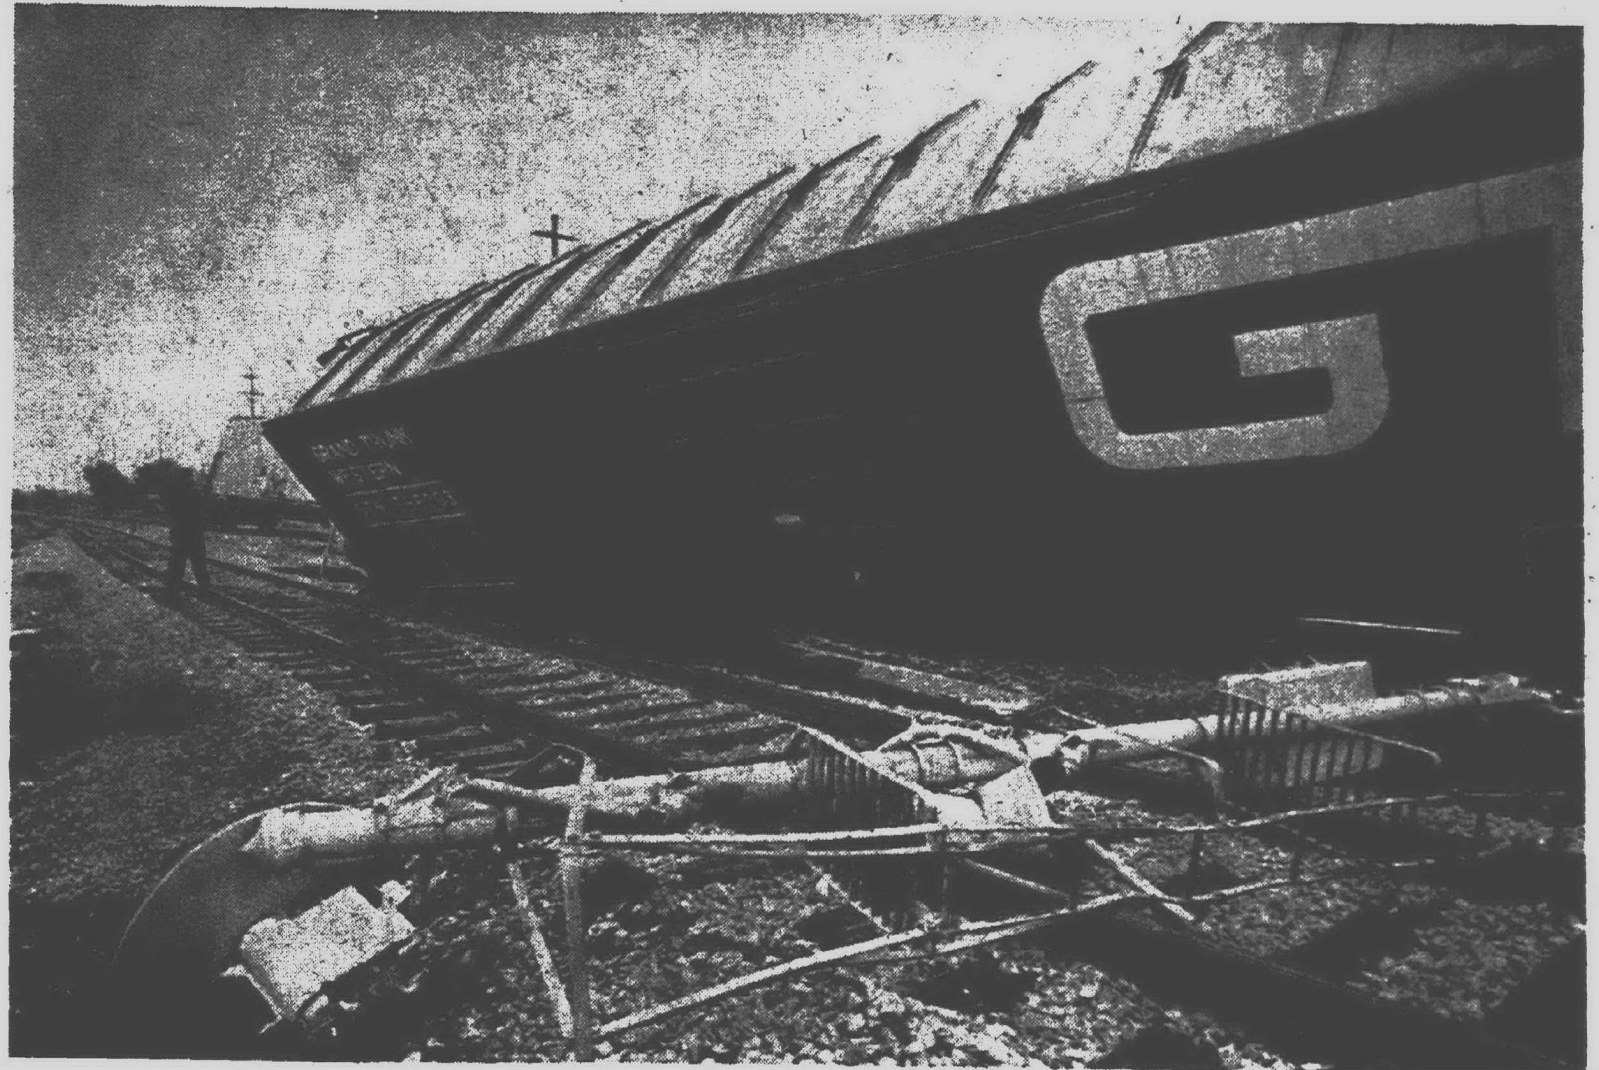

"I don't know if the same kind of jump in utilities will occur this winter," says Hoben, "but I'm counting on an increase of more than seven per cent. In all my years in education, I have never seen utilities jump by 23 per cent in one year."

Still another expense factor will be cost of salaries as the district enters the second year on its contract with teachers. With salaries consisting of about 85 per cent of the total budget, the improvements for wages and fringes of all employees are expected to add $1 million to operating expenses.

"But right now, I'd like to know what our final headcount will be. This is important because for each 100 students we fall short of the 500-increase projected, we lose an additional $100,000 in state aid."

"It is true that our expenses go down if we have fewer students to educate, but the two don't balance. There isn't cause for great concern because we have been staffing based on the actual, ongoing headcount and not on our projected count."

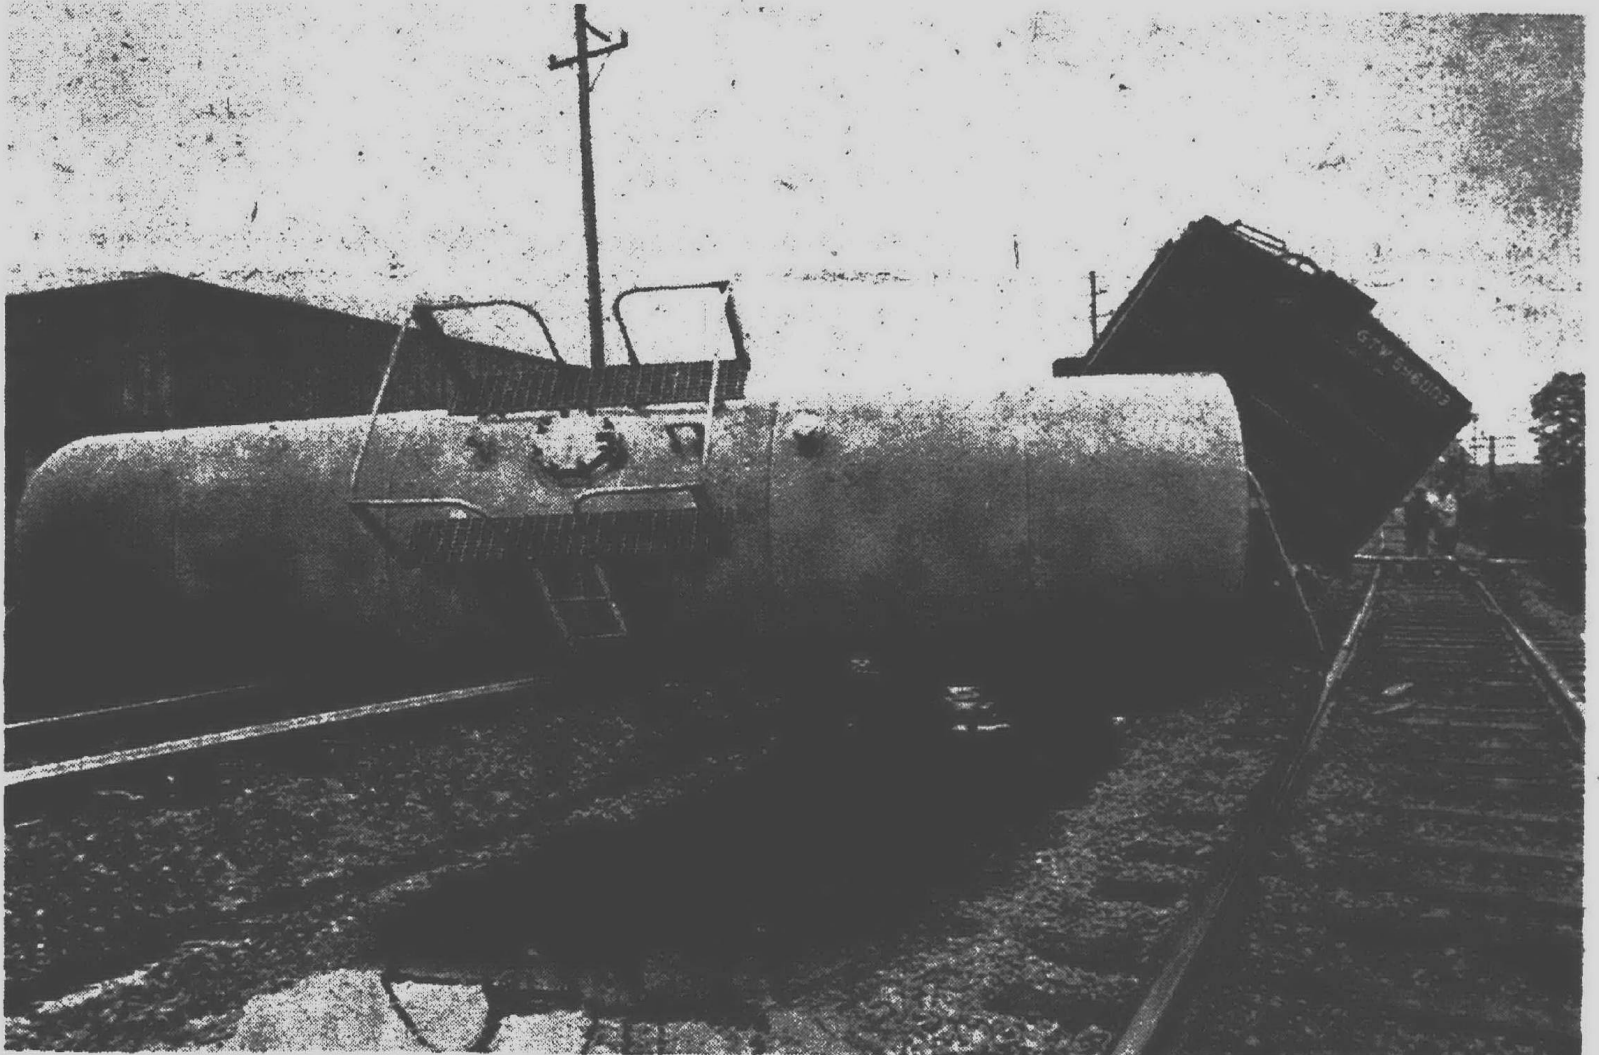

"What I am concerned about," Hoben concluded, "is the process and future of funding from state aid. If this will be all, it won't be too bad. But last year, by executive order, the district lost $104,000 in state aid in the middle of the year. I certainly hope there won't be any mid-year cuts this year."

C&O train derails

C&O RAILROAD officials are investigating the cause of this derailment which occurred Friday morning just east of the Sheldon Road crossing. There were no injuries but both east and westbound rail traffic was tied up most of the day. The 80-car train was heading for Detroit. Railroad officials refused to estimate damage caused to rail cars and freight, or comment on the cause, although there were reports that a broken rail on the track may have caused the wreck. Among the freight lost were gallons of corn syrup which spilled onto the ground (see photo below) to create a thick pond. (Staff photos by Bob Woodring).

Traffic jam relief may arrive by 1977

Residents of the Plymouth-Canton community may avoid traffic jams at the corner of Canton Center and Joy by 1977 and zip from Sheldon to Canton Center Road on a proposed short-cut route.

Only 1.9 acres of land remains to be dedicated to Wayne County to construct the proposed Sheldon-Canton Center cutoff, according to Canton Supervisor Robert Greenstein.

THE WAYNE COUNTY Board of Commissioners, Greenstein said, has promised to start construction of the cutoff within one year after dedication of the land.

Proposed as a way to diminish traffic problems near the Centennial Educational Park and the corner of Joy and Canton Center, the road would link Canton Center and Sheldon on a northeasterly route.

The cutoff would probably begin at Canton Center north of Warren and reach Sheldon south of Gallimore Elementary School.

According to Greenstein, three out of four land owners along the proposed cutoff route have already promised dedication of their land parcels.

LATEST to give tentative agreement to the right-of-way dedication are landowners Nelson Dembs and David Sakwa, who want to build multiple family dwellings on their 40-acre parcel, the supervisor said.

If Dembs and Sakwa dedicate the land, Greenstein said the township will drop a proposal to rezone the land back to single-family residential. A previous township board had rezoned the land from single family to multiple, when Dembs and Sakwa promised dedication of the right-of-way, a yet unfulfilled promise, Greenstein said.

In other proposed agreements with the township, developer Dominic Mocerri has promised dedication of a sliver of his land for the right-of-way in addition to a donation by developers of the Brookville Planned Unit Development.

Township officials believe the remaining 1.9-acre parcel needed for the cutoff route was recently sold to developers and hope the land can be obtained.

Jerry Ottenhoff of Plymouth, who competes in football at Plymouth Salem High has returned from a five-day conference of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes in Mount Pleasant.

The program of "inspiration and perspiration" is one of 28 FCA national conferences held this summer for 20,000 high school, college and pro athletes, coaches and family members.

Pam Leith of Plymouth played two parts in "Les Patineurs" (The Skaters), a one-act ballet presented by Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp in the Howmet Playhouse Aug. 14-16. She was one of the Girls in Pink on the first night and played the female member of The Couple on Friday and Saturday nights.

This Sunday, Aug. 24, Gerald H. Inch will be at Fort Knox, Ky., for a four-day Student Leadership Week sponsored by the Second ROTC Region. He is the son of Mrs. Geraldine Inch and is a senior at Plymouth Salem High.

The stay at Fort Knox will include a tour of post facilities in today's Army. Inch was selected by the professor of military science at Eastern Michigan University.

Word has been received that two other Plymouth residents are among the group of 103 outstanding scholars admitted to Michigan State University's Honors College during the summer term.

An earlier Chips off the Rock column reported the selection of Jill Hochlowski. Joining her in this select group are Julie Luttermoser and Connie Stadel. Ms. Luttermoser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Luttermoser of 481 Sunset, is a sophomore majoring in arts and letters. Ms. Stadel, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Stadel of Simpson Street, is a sophomore majoring in education. All are 1974 graduates of Plymouth Salem High.

The Honors College allows students to plan an academic program according to their own interests and educational goals. It is open to students with high academic averages who have demonstrated a serious commitment to scholarly study. Academically, they are among the top five per cent of the student body.

Frank P. Reynolds, son of Paul and Audrey Reynolds of Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth, has been awarded a U.S.

Navy Professional Medical Scholarship.

Under this program, he will pursue medical studies at the University of Michigan Medical School. A June 1975 graduate of Kalamazoo College, he was sworn into duty in the Navy as an ensign on inactive duty on July 25.

Jane Stuart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Stuart of Plymouth, did quite well in statewide horse competition on Aug. 19 at the 1975 State 4-H Horse Show at Michigan State University.

Jane, a senior at Plymouth Canton High and president of the Hoof Beats horse division of Plymouth Towne and Country 4-H, entered the hunter seat division which had some 30 entries. She placed second, third, and earned two honorable mentions in four classes of this division.

There were a total of 435 horses in the state competition. There are some 525 registered 4-H horses in Wayne County and so the county had a quota of 15 horses to send to the statewide competition. Jane was the only one from the Plymouth-Canton area to enter the event at MSU.

A four-year scholarship has been awarded by Whitman & Barnes to Catherine Sobota, daughter of Joseph and Julia Sobota of 40600 Plymouth Road, Plymouth. She plans to enter pre-med at the University of Michigan this fall.

She had been named salutatorian of her graduating class, was selected to "Who's Who of the Graduating Seniors of 1975," received the Phi Beta Kappa award, a certificate of merit from the Society of Women Engineers—Detroit chapter, the University of Michigan award, and the State of Michigan Competitive Scholarship Award.

SHANNON McCORMICK of Riverside Drive, Plymouth, listens as instructor Dr. David Nevalainen gives advice on preparing a blood sample during the medical technology exploration of the summer youth program at Michigan Technological University. Some 1,000 students age 12-18 have spent four weeks of study on the Houghton campus. Shannon will be a senior at Plymouth Canton High this fall.

Rainburst floods Plymouth streets

A SUDDEN RAINBURST hit the Plymouth-Canton area Thursday with darkened skies creating fears of a serious storm. But, when it was all over, the only discomfort suffered was for motorists having to traverse flooded roads with some cars stalling out. There were reports of a power outage in Canton, but Plymouth, and Plymouth and Canton townships report there were no flooded basements or serious flooding problems. One of the heavily-flooded roadways was Ann Arbor Road near the railroad tracks east of Mill Street. (Staff photos).

Provow trial may end today

Defendant Barry Provow, 27, is expected to take the stand today (Monday) before Circuit Court Judge Thomas J. Roumell in Detroit.

Provow is charged with first degree murder in the Jan. 28 shooting of Terry Buchman, 22, in Canton Township.

As the trial enters its eighth day, it is expected that a medical witness will be called to give evidence to support the defense plea of temporary insanity.

Usually, in such cases, the prosecution calls its own medical witness to give testimony relative to the condition of the defendant at the time of the alleged act.

OBSERVERS expect the case to be concluded Monday afternoon or Tuesday.

After conference with counsel last Wednesday, Judge Roumell announced the case would be adjourned until Monday morning because of his involvement in other legal matters.

Mrs. Maimie Provow, mother of the defendant, was on the stand late Wednesday afternoon. She described her son's illnesses and problems since birth.

She said he had joined the U.S. Marine Corps at age 16 and been hospitalized because of frequent illnesses. He received a 30 per cent medical disability discharge.

THE DEFENDANT'S sister, Phyllis Nadvornik of Westland, followed her mother to the stand and described various behavioral problems Provow had as a youth.

Provow's attorney had been granted a separate, non-jury trial for his client. Also charged with first degree murder in the Buchman shooting are Provow's wife, Leslie, 18, and Robert Umney, 23, both local residents. Their trial by jury before Roumell is expected to begin later this week.

Contrary to an earlier report in this newspaper, the rifle allegedly used in the shooting has not been produced as evidence.

Mayor explains budget process

Plymouth Mayor Beverly McAninch recently was a panel member in a session on "Policy Leaders Workshop for Newly Elected Officials" held in Ann Arbor by the Michigan Municipal League.

Working with Sylvester Murray, Ann Arbor city administrator, Mayor McAninch responded to questions from recently elected municipal officials on their role in the city's budgeting process.

The workshop was one of a series of such programs conducted by the Michigan Municipal League. The training was designed to help local legislators explore ways to make city councils operate more effectively for residents of their communities.

Included in the program were discussions on how council members can more effectively identify and give the public what it wants, take a leadership role in municipal policy formulation, operate as a team player on the city council, utilize modern municipal budgeting techniques and streamline council operations.

Participants from communities throughout the state participated in the one-day conference.

3 Scouts go west

Three Plymouth Senior Scouts enjoyed archaeology, back-packing and horseback riding recently while attending the Wyoming Trek conference at the Girl Scout National Center West.

Joyce Hurtik, Doreen Rorabacher and Debbie Burger met with 400 other Scouts from throughout the U.S. The 13,000-acre site near Ten Sleep, Wyo., is one of four national centers owned and operated by the Girl Scouts of America.

Consultants were there to tell the girls about Indian lore, plant and animal life, geology, star gazing and mythology. Swapping mementos of each girl's council and making crafts of tie dying, making rope and sand canles and learning about edible meals from natural plants was part of the program for the week at the center.

Before the girls returned to Plymouth, they visited Colorado, Yellowstone and Tetons National Parks and went down the "White Water" of the Snake River in a rubber raft. Advisor and driver for the group was Mrs. Louis Hurtik of Plymouth.

LORENZ PETERSEN of Plymouth has been named manager of The Atrium and Bobbies' Pup restaurants in the Bingham Farms Office Building on Telegraph north of 12 Mile. The restaurants offer a choice of continental cuisine in a garden setting at The Atrium and a more casual atmosphere with nightly entertainment at Bobbies'. A native of Germany, Petersen was general manager of Macchus Red Fox in West Bloomfield and before that was manager of the Mayflower Hotel in Plymouth. He also was executive maitre de hotel at the Mont Gabriel Lodge in Quebec.

Townships will get more state funds

The Legislature has approved this year's state revenue sharing bill (HB4641) with an adjusted formula which will result in increased funds for almost all local units of government.

Canton Township will receive $271,447 and Plymouth Township $173,182, according to Rep. Thomas H. Brown (D-Westland) whose 37th District includes Canton.

"The bill will provide much needed financial relief for local units of government who are badly in need of help," said Brown, once mayor of Westland and supervisor of Nankin Township.

"In the past, the state has required local governments to perform many functions and has also placed several restrictions on, and made many regulations for, the services which these units must perform. It is only fair that the state bear some of the financial burden for the programs and regulations which it has mandated.

"Perhaps the most important feature in this year's bill," Brown continued, "is that a mechanism has been built into the system for determining rapid growth. The 'special census' provision will be of great benefit to fast growing communities such as Canton Township."

Canton has already completed a local mid-decade census to take advantage of this provision in the revenue-sharing bill.

Overall, the bill will increase state payments to local units by about $33 million.

"The most significant aspect of the act is that the distribution of funds over the years has been changed from a straight per capita formula," Brown concludes, "to one that recognizes the differences among local governments in the need, or demand, for public services and in their ability to finance these services."

WC executive may go on ballot

By MATHA MAHAN

Wayne County voters may be given a chance next year to decide whether they want an executive form of government, with the board of commissioners acting as a legislative branch. Two area commissioners, Mary E. Dumas (R-Livonia) and Richard E. Manning (D-Redford), have co-sponsored a resolution asking the State Legislature to amend existing law to allow a referendum in August 1976.

The resolution asks the Legislature to permit choices on the ballot proposition. State law now permits only one question.

Suggested alternatives include making the office of the chief executive either an elective or appointive post. If voters chose to make the job appointive, the county board would make the selection.

Mrs. Dumas said she assumed voters also would be given the choice of retaining the status quo—a commission without a chief executive.

The Manning-Dumas resolution also would include the primary election of candidates for the executive post. The two top vote-getters would be on the November general election ballot if voters agree to elect the chief executive.

Before the resolution is sent to the Legislature, it must be approved by the general government committee chaired by Manning, the board's ways and means committee, and the full board.

MRS. DUMAS, who introduced a similar resolution in 1974, said the effort to get the question on next year's ballot was initiated now because county commissioners must study the question thoroughly, and the state needs time to change the law.

Among reasons her resolution failed last year, Mrs. Dumas said, were claims that there was insufficient time for study by the county board and the Legislature, and for candidates to file nomination petitions.

"There can be no alibis or excuses this time," she said. "They have a year to study the question and for people who might run to become aware."

THE DECISION to seek a chief executive came to a head, Mrs. Dumas said, because of the "weeks of charges and countercharges by the county auditors and county board as to who was responsible for the ($7 million-$10 million) deficit" which the county faces this year.

"Amidst all the talk on the budget, it was virtually impossible for 27 commissioners, with their varying constituencies and ideas of management, to establish priorities for services, appropriate money and make sure of living within a budget," she went on.

Bargaining both with department heads and employees becomes "confusingly impossible without a strong chief executive who has the complete authority to back up board decisions."

"The chairman of the board has only those limited powers delegated him by the board of commissioners," she explained.

Manning said Wayne County's many and varied responsibilities for crime control, drug abuse, health and environmental programs, mental health and medical institutions, general assistance programs and employee relations have become too complex to be handled by the present form of government.

Members' recipes whet your appetite

By ETHEL SIMMONS

Potluck suppers, that are a part of the Birmingham Village Players social calendar, led then-president Kelly Gustafsson to the idea, why not a members' cookbook?

What evolved was the "B.V.P. and Friends Cookbook," a 189-page spiral-bound collection of recipes first published in 1971.

The popularity of the book resulted in six more printings for a total distribution so far of 3,250 copies. Orders come from all over the United States.

THE COOKBOOKS at $4 are available from Jacobson's in Birmingham and Zhender's in Frankentuth. There is also a coupon in the back of the book to order directly from Mrs. Gustafsson at 4115 Orchard Hill Drive, Bloomfield Hills 48013 (add 25 cents for postage and packing).

Dave Zeese, a member of Players, did the cover design and illustration for divider pages. Some individuals have bought the cookbook especially for the divider pages, which they use in decoupage.

The best-seller has raised more money for Players than originally anticipated. Proceeds have gone beyond the 50th anniversary party and into the capital fund as well.

To prove the merit of the recipes, Mrs. Gustafsson recently served a summer luncheon with courses assembled from the cookbook. Following are recipes on the menu:

CHEESE PENNIES

Mrs. Eula Hudson of Lake County, Fla.

1 stick margarine, softened
1/2 pound grated cheese, room temperature
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 package onion soup mix
1 cup flour

Cream margarine and grated cheese until well blended. Add flour, salt and onion soup mix, mixing thoroughly. Divide in 4 portions. Form into rolls; wrap in foil and freeze. Slice thin onto baking sheet. Bake in 350 degree oven for 8 to 10 minutes. Makes 5 dozen.

CHICKEN SALAD

Mrs. Michael Remondino

2 quarts cooked chicken, boned and in bite-size pieces

Organizational cookbooks are one way for clubs to make money for special projects, for members to have fun contributing recipes, and for good cooks everywhere to enjoy trying out someone else's favorite dishes.

20 ounces water chestnuts
2 pounds green seedless grapes
2 cups diced celery
2 to 3 cups slivered almonds
3 cups mayonnaise
1 tablespoon curry powder
2 tablespoons soy sauce
1 cup lichee nuts or 1 can pineapple chunks
Serves 15 to 20.

MARGIE PETITE CHERRY CHEESE CAKE

Mrs. S. L. LeMessurier

1 cup vanilla wafer crumbs
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
3 to 4 tablespoons melted butter
1 (8-ounce) package cream cheese (softened)
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg

Line 12 muffin cups with paper baking cups.

Combine cookie crumbs and melted butter; mix well. Spoon about 12 tablespoons crumb mixture into bottom of each cup and press. Beat cream cheese until fluffy. Add 1/2 cup sugar, egg, lemon, vanilla and beat until smooth. Spoon evenly into cups. Bake in preheated oven 375 degrees for 15 minutes. Cool thoroughly.

Top with any canned fruit pie filling or combine 1 cup pitted cherries with 1/2 cup sugar, 1 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch. Cook and stir until thickened. Add red food coloring. Cool and spoon over cheese cake. Chill. 12 servings.

ORANGE ICE CREAM PIE

Mrs. John Sala of Pleasant Ridge

1/2 gallon vanilla ice cream (you won't need it all)
Concentrated orange juice, thawed
Pie shell, baked (plain or crumb)
1/2 cup coconut

Into cooled pie shell, put a layer of softened ice cream and pour on 3 tablespoons orange juice concentrate. Repeat 2 more times. Toast coconut in oven, stirring often to brown evenly. Put on top of pie. Freeze 1 hour or more.

This is the best hot weather dessert!

Stay right in your own backyard. Chances are, there are plenty of exciting things to do as a family that aren't that far away. Like visiting a national park. Go fishing. Or camping. Or taking a short trip to the nearest big city or point of interest. And remember. If you're a little short of money for your vacation, see HFC about a Traveloan. You may borrow up to $1500 from Household Finance to pay for your next family vacation. And that'll go a long way. Even if you don't.

Beware of gypsies in bicentennial garb

The gypsy promoters have already hit this area, seeking to make a quick buck from the bicentennial celebration.

Bicentennial planners had anticipated that fly-by-night operators would enter Plymouth, sell their wares or collect funds and leave just as quickly. Telephone reports to this newspaper indicate the gypsies have started to arrive.

ALL RESIDENTS will want to join in celebrating our nation's birthday. But most, if not all, will want to join that observance by supporting bicentennial projects generated by Plymouth community organizations.

The Community Bicentennial Commission—representing the City of Plymouth, Plymouth and Canton townships, and the Plymouth Community School District—is concerned that the public not be overwhelmed with commercial exploitation of this patriotic celebration. We share this concern.

While the commission encourages community projects which celebrate our nation's 200th anniversary, the group carefully screens projects before granting official endorsement. Solicitation of funds is endorsed, on a limited basis only, for those projects which will benefit the entire community.

TO DATE, three projects have asked for approval and been endorsed by the commission:

The Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps has been authorized to seek funding assistance for appearances promoting the bicentennial throughout Michigan.

The American Association of University Women (AAUW) has been endorsed, but requested no authorization to seek funds within the community for its video tape project.

The Dunning-Hough Library oral history and the Plymouth Community Arts Council (PCAC) heritage picture projects have been endorsed and authorized to seek funds only from local civic service clubs.

ANY ORGANIZATION in the Plymouth-Canton area planning bicentennial activities is urged to contact the commission so it may become part of the community's coordinated observance effort.

If appropriate, the group can fill out forms for official endorsement. The Bicentennial Commission office is at 859 S. Main and is open from 9 a.m. to noon, Tuesday through Friday.

Residents approached for donations related to bicentennial projects should check the endorsement by calling the commission office at 459-3620.

1976 will be a joyous year. Let's make sure none of us get ripped off because of our enthusiasm to join and support our birthday celebration.

Daniels Den

If you wait long enough, some institution or agency will release a scientific report to back up your life-long fear of something which, without science, seemed silly before.

That happened to me this week when the mail included a release from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission about a study by re-audaciously entitled, "A Systematic Program to Reduce the Incidence and Severity of Bathtub and Shower Area Injuries" — research conducted by Abt Associates, Inc. social research organization.

IT WAS REASSURING that social scientists also recognize the danger of taking showers in bathtubs because this has been a phobia of mine for years.

I steadfastly refuse to take a shower in a bathtub because of a great personal fear of falling and cracking my head open on the porcelain. And there is little comfort that modern bathtubs aren't made of porcelain anymore, but are stainless steel painted white to look like porcelain.

My wife insists that showering in a tub is completely safe, especially with the rubber mats. I have no logical response, just a gut fear. After all, I have never fallen in a tub. Then again, I have never stood up in a tub — choosing instead to carefully crawl over the side and slide up into a sitting position.

IT IS AN unfortunate fear because I love to shower and much prefer this method of bathing.

I was born in a rural area near Saginaw and lived some 15 years in a house without inside plumbing. At first, we took baths in a galvanized tub in the kitchen. It was filled with hot water, heated on the stove, and us kids would bathe first. After us kids went to bed, mom and dad would bathe.

As we began to get older, though, the galvanized tub had to go, so dad built a shower in the basement with a safe wooden frame to stand on.

It wasn't until I was 15 that we moved to this area, into a house which had a bathroom with tub and other restroom apparatus. By this time, my fears were so deep, there was no way I was ever going to stand up in a tub and take a shower.

You could line the entire tub with rubber, or hang a swing from the ceiling with seatbelts attached, but no-how, no way will I shower in a tub.

THAT WAS a behavior I readily admitted was irrational — until opening last week's mail.

This fine report noted, to my satisfaction, that there are 110,000 bathtub and shower-related accidents in the U.S. each year.

The study identified three major hazards associated with tubs and showers: slips and falls, burns, and drownings. I must admit, though, I have never given any thought to drowning or getting burned in the tub. That might be worth reflecting upon.

My social scientists point out that slips and falls are the most frequent type of accident in tubs and showers. I read that with great interest, and skipped over the 70 deaths each year caused by burns and 100 tub drownings annually.

And then the report shot my ego to pieces. It turned its attention to consumer education to protect "children" and said "reliance on parental education" was particularly important. It's me that needs the education, not my kids.

But that's government for you. The safety commission will now proceed to spend thousands of dollars to educate kids about how to safely take a shower in a bathtub when it's me that needs the help.

Clarification on welfare costs

EDITOR:

Your article on Aug. 11, "Rising Welfare Costs Revealed to Rotarians" was a good reporting job by Eddie Edgar. However, there are two paragraphs which need some clarification.

I gave the example of one company, Hayes-Albion Corporation, which had closed five plants in Michigan because they could no longer be competitive on a national basis while their plants were located in our state. That one company recently testified before a Senate committee that their own closings amounted to $23 million of sales annually and more than 300 jobs. However, the statewide picture has enormously larger proportions.

As the State Chamber of Commerce, we are trying to establish a business climate in Michigan which will hold business here and even attract new business into the state. After all, our economy stays afloat on payrolls and sales.

But when business cannot be competitive and moves out, it sets up a boomerang effect. The unemployed who are left behind may eventually have to depend on welfare. But the tax base — business pays 43 per cent of all state and local taxes — is eroding so fast that we can no longer support the present welfare system. Unless, of course, there is a tax increase. And who should pay the additional tax? If legislators decide to tax business even further, they will drive more out of the state; or, should they tax the overtaxed individual wage earner even further?

Our position is that neither of these necessarily have to take place if the legislators will act responsibly. There is at least $100 million of "fat" inside the system which could and should be cut out: legal loopholes, fraud, obsolete programs, lack of quality control.

There are 920,000 welfare recipients and 14,000 social service workers who are lobbying for all kinds of increased expenditures. Unless citizens get up in arms and demand action by their legislators during this fall session, we stand to lose a half a million dollars a day and the prospect that President Ford indicated, "in 25 years we will be a 50-50 society."

PLYMOUTH Community Fall Festival

THURSDAY-SATURDAY
SEPTEMBER 4-5-6-7

September—the time of harvest. The great time of toil is over and the gathering and storing begins. The apples sweeten in the orchards, the golden pumpkins glow in the fields.

September in Plymouth is Community Fall Festival month. This traditional four day harvest celebration arrives with the first week of the month and follows weeks of work by the community's outstanding service clubs and civic organizations.

The Plymouth Business & Professional Women's Club always have a mouthwatering meal waiting for those who enjoy German fare and "German Night" will once again kick off the festival. In fact, festival food seems to have adopted the names of the clubs that serve it. Neighbors will invite neighbors to "come with us for Lions fish, Kiwanis pancakes, Jaycee beef, or Rotary chicken."

There is something for everyone during these four fun filled days — an antique show, an art show, and a pet show. There'll be authentic "old fashioned" costumes, and authentic "old fashioned" automobiles.

We can hardly wait. We know it means the end of summer, but we can't imagine a more pleasant ending — or beginning of a new season.

Once again your hometown newspaper will publish an informative "Plymouth Community Fall Festival" section with details of festival events, maps on where to find things, times of when things begin, and messages from Plymouth business people. Look for this colorful and very special section Tuesday, September 2. And we'll look for you at the festival.

Redford Adray's Atkins to pilot Detroit club

Bob Atkins, head coach of the Redford Adray team which won the Livonia Adray League title and went on to finish third in the nation, said he will not be with the team next year.

Atkins, who has coached the team since its formation 11 years ago and never failed to win the league title, said he will take over the reins of the Adray Appliance team in the Detroit Adray League.

Atkins has publicly stated in the past that he was dissatisfied with the way the Livonia Adray League has been run. But he would not comment on how the organizational set-up of the league affected his decision to leave.

"I don't want to get involved in that. Don't put words in my mouth," Atkins said when questioned on the subject.

The major difference in the leagues is the number of "outsiders" each team is allowed to pick up for its squad.

Teams within the Livonia Adray League are limited to three "outsiders," players who live outside the normal geographic boundaries of the league.

Teams in the Detroit Adray League are subject to no restrictions. Thus, most observers agree, teams from the Detroit Adray League are able to recruit more effectively and have a better chance for national honors.

While Redford Adray has traveled to the national championships 11 times under Atkins' tutelage and never brought back a national championship. A runner-up spot has been the best the team has ever won.

Detroit teams, on the other hand, have had outstanding success in the annual tournament held at Johnstown, Pa. Detroit Adray Photo took home the crown last year, while Detroit Little Caesar's won the title last week.

"I said after I won my 600th game earlier this week that I didn't know if I had the patience to continue coaching here," Atkins said.

Still, Atkins repeated that the statement was not an indictment of the league. Rather, he said, he was "looking for a new challenge."

"I've been successful here, and now it's time to move on. Every once in a while you need something new. I'm just looking forward to building a good team next year," Atkins said.

Meanwhile, Atkins praised his team that was eliminated from the tournament by the champion Little Caesars team as "the toughest group of kids I've ever coached."

"They came back from all sorts of adversity," said Atkins. His team lost seven of its first 10 games this year.

"But they never gave up. A lot of times, it would have been very easy to throw in the towel. I just can't say enough about them," he said.

UM is 'ready to go'

By W.W.EDGAR

"We're coming ready to play."

With these terse words Bo Schembechler, who is beginning his eighth season as head football coach at the University of Michigan, laid down the gauntlet to all rivals, especially those in the Big Ten.

"We're short of experience on offense," he said in his annual meeting with the press to report on the team. "But most of our defensive unit will be back. These fellows I am sure can hold off the opposition until we catch up."

With this introduction he also had a few surprises, among them that he

First ace

It took 28 years, but Westland's Claire Richardson carded an ace recently at Idyl Wyld Golf Course.

Richardson scored the hole-in-one on the Number four 127-yard par three hole, using an eight iron.

Richardson, who was golfing with the Westlawn Masonic Golf League, had an 88 for the round.

may start a freshman, Rick Leach of Flint Southwestern, at quarterback. He expects the Big Ten to be better balanced than ever with six teams in the race for the title.

He looks for Wisconsin, Michigan State, Purdue and Illinois to battle the Wolverines and Ohio State for the honor of going to the Rose Bowl.

And he drew smiles when he added, "I wonder how some of those fellows will feel on New Year's Day when they have to sit around idle like we did for the past two years."

Until Bo mentioned the possibility of starting a freshman at quarterback, the position vacated by Dennis Franklin, it had almost been taken for granted that Mark Elzinga from Bay City, who showed well toward the close of last season, would get the call.

"Elzinga is a fine passer," Bo explained, "and I hope he improves in hitting his receivers. But you can bet that I am going to take a very, very close look at Leach."

The remainder of the offensive backfield, as things stand now, will be Gordon Bell and Bob Lytle sharing the tailback post, with Jim Smith, the former end, at wingback and Russell Davis, a husky freshman from Woodbridge, Va., at fullback.

Another lad who Bo claims will bear watching is Dave Harding, a sophomore end from Northville. He is rated a good pass catcher and is almost certain to be in the starting lineup in the opener against Wisconsin in Madison on Sept. 13.

Among the others from the Observer & Eccentric area are Kirk Lewis, senior guard from Garden City West, Bob Holloway of Bloomfield Hills Andover, and Bob Patek, a wolf man from Farmington.

"This is the youngest team I ever have had at Michigan," Bo concluded, "but it's one of the quickest. We have a fine bunch of backs and a lot of talent all around."

"There still is a lot of work to be done, but I have a feeling that we're going to do the job again. I just feel it in my bones."

N'ville takes junior tourney

Northville junior golfers won the annual Michigan Junior Golf Tournament at Brae Burn Golf Course Friday, easily outdistancing runner-up Dearborn, 408-419.

Livonia and Plymouth tied for fourth in the five-man tournament posting scores of 440. The junior classification is restricted to golfers 17 years of age and younger.

A disappointing field of only six teams competed but Brae Burn professional John Jawor expressed optimism that next year the tournament would draw better.

"We need better co-operation from the individual cities," he said.

Tom Wolf paced the Livonia team with a round of 81 while John Beems' 80 was low for Plymouth. Northville medalist Jim Dales led the field with a 76.

SMALL FOUNTAIN and rockery are surrounded by evergreens and spreading rock garden perennials.

LAUGHING BUDDHA and miniature evergreens give garden a Far Eastern flavor.

There's a big surprise at the top of the stairs

Mabel and Eugene Tyler of 500 Ford Street in Plymouth have a home with a view. Their living room looks out on a charming garden.

There are evergreens, a statuary, driftwood, a fountain, a birdbath and rocks. Splashes of color come from petunias and impatiens. Willows and other large trees along the banks of Tonquish Creek provide a textured green backdrop for the scene.

The Tylers live in a second-floor condominium, and the 20 by 40-foot garden is on the roof of a four-car garage.

Tyler keeps the evergreens trimmed to miniature size. They are much larger than bonsai, but have the windswept oriental appearance.

VARIETIES of juniper include blue rug, yellow tip, Andorra and Procumbens. There are pines and spruce trees, crocks of hen and chickens, and pots of strawberries and hot peppers.

The perimeter on two sides of the garden is edged with long flower boxes containing petunias, impatiens and trailing perennials.

Mrs. Tyler says, "I look after the flowers; he does the rest."

Tyler has used garden bark and lava rock as ground cover.

They step out the front door onto a wooden deck which stretches the length of the garden and extends beyond and around the side of the building. There is plenty of room for tables, chairs and outdoor cooking. It is a lovely spot to entertain and Mabel Tyler said they had a luau last summer in their roof-top garden.

The Tylers have lived there eight years and they say the potted plants winter well. Before the frost comes, they collect the plants in one area and cover them with black plastic.

Tyler says his next project is to build a small shed at the end of the deck for winter storage of deck furniture and his gardenening tools.

FIRST THINGS come first for Gene Tyler. His garden is his immediate concern when he comes home from work.

MRS. TYLER says the crocks of hens and chickens and strawberries are covered to protect them from winter frost.

MICHIGAN STATE POLICE Trooper Dorothy Brown has been assigned to the Plymouth post on Mill Street. (Staff photo by Maurie Walker)

At Plymouth post

Trooper Brown, first of her kind

By MAURIE WALKER

"It's going to take a while to be completely accepted, but I feel it is just a matter of time."

This is the feeling expressed by Michigan State Police Trooper Dorothy Brown who just over a month ago completed her training and was assigned to the post in Plymouth.

The 24-year-old Bay City woman, is the first of a new breed in the ranks of the Michigan State Police.

There have been women in the ranks before this, but Miss Brown is one of the first to be recruited with the understanding she would be assigned to a patrol car.

Lt. William Tomczyk, post commander, said this is a new move on the part of the state police.

"Up to now, women have been assigned mainly to desk work. This is no longer so. Any woman who qualifies and completes the 17-week course can be assigned to road work," the lieutenant said.

MISS BROWN has been with the state police since 1973. She worked as a radio operator out of the Flint post after graduating from Michigan State University with a degree in criminal justice.

Last March she entered the MSP academy in Lansing where she began an intensive course along with some 80 other recruits, only two of them women.

"Having worked for the state police, I knew in advance what I was in for when I entered the academy," she smiled. "There was absolutely no favoritism shown me because I'm a female."

She said the course was a tough one. By graduation time, the class had dwindled to 44 men and the two women.

"The defensive tactics course gives the recruits a real training. I had to meet all the requirements the men did including the swimming and boxing."

Miss Brown said she boxed with the men and was able to give a good account of herself.

We had to run an 11 mile course as part of the training and fortunately I was able to make it," she laughed.

Asked how she was accepted at the academy, she replied:

"THE GUYS played some practical jokes on us, some, I know, didn't think girls could complete the course. This in itself was a challenge."

Miss Brown decided she wanted to make a career of law enforcement while in college.

"I guess I come from a career family," she said. I have five sisters and one brother, all in various careers. Two of my sisters are registered nurses, one is a radiologist."

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross W. Brown of Bay City, had no qualms about her becoming a police officer, she said.

"They have let us choose our own careers and they knew this is what I wanted to do."

The state police now have other women on the road, but they were not hired originally for that type job. They had held other positions before being assigned to patrol work.

Miss Brown enjoys her work, taking the kidding from her fellow officers good-naturedly. She works the various shifts, riding the patrol car around the Plymouth and Canton township areas.

"I HAVEN'T run into any dangerous situations as yet, but I'm sure I can handle myself."

She takes her turn driving the patrol car and functions in the same way her male counterparts do.

As she said, it may take a while for women troopers to be acknowledged. Some of the men are taking a "wait and see" attitude, some are a bit skeptical that a woman can perform under fire as a man does.

"I know I have to prove myself as do other female officers," she said.

next World Team Olympiad to be held in Monte Carlo in May, 1976. Expert bridge players and analysts prepared the summary of bidding and play on 36 deals.

They commented that the South player who bid one more for luck would be below average. Gloria Guay, of Bloomfield Hills, bid two more for luck and when the defense slipped, landed her vulnerable game.

West cashed the high diamonds and continued the suit. That was the first mistake; East ruffed the diamond and South overruffed. That was the second mistake and all Gloria needed.

She led a spade to the ace and finessed the jack of hearts. When the 10 fell, she was quite sure the king was still guarded.

Gloria played another spade to the king, when West discarded, repeated the heart finesse, and drew the outstanding trump.

Correction

A story about piano teachers in last Monday's issues of the Plymouth and Canton Observer & Eccentric said the Rev. Dale Miller was director of music at the University of Hawaii before he entered the ministry.

The mistake was an error on the part of the writer. Mr. Miller was director of music at Mid-Pacific Institute in Honolulu, Hawaii.

She has studied seven years with karate, judo and aikido experts. Classes will be held at the YWCA building in Inkster on Wednesday evenings or Thursday mornings. They will begin Wednesday, Sept. 24, from 8-9:30 p.m., or Thursday, Sept. 25, from 9:30 a.m.-11 a.m.

Self-defense will also be taught under Y sponsorship in the Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church, Chicago and Hubbard in Livonia, starting

NEED A GOOD HOUSEKEEPER? If you have a furnished room, apartment, finished basement, a separate entrance and are willing to supply room, board and salary, let's try to work out an arrangement for me to cook, clean, garden and the lot for you. I am a former Painted and Hostess from Indo China who was wiped out in the recent Government shift (though born in Detroit) and am temporarily stranded and strapped in the tri-county area, waiting the settlement of compensation claim by the Government. I am in this uncomfortable position for a minimum of 6 months and maximum of one year. Part of the bargain includes 2 school age children, ages 6 and 7. They are well behaved and I will make all possible effort to confine them to kitchen, quarters, and yard so they won't be under your feet. Prefer a working couple or single person, and even willing to compromise a little on the domestic labor scene, this is a good chance to enjoy tasty cooking, service, and even some fun. Available after Sept. 1st. Ask for Jack. 682-0987

Changing the contents

Pontiac's Grand Prix underwent several changes for the 1976 model year. The lower-priced Grand Prix has a bench-type front seat with fold-down center arm rest and a 350 cubic inch V-8. The Grand Prix 'SJ' has bucket seats, console and 400 inch V-8. Although the emphasis is still on luxury, Pontiac has made changes to improve fuel economy, including reduced V-8 idle speeds, lower axle ratios and the availability of smaller engines.

The old timers kept rolling in Antique cars from 29 states converged on Pontiac for a weekend rally to honor the 50th anniversary of the Pontiac automobile.

Participants were members of the Pontiac-Oakland Club International (POCI). An international group, the POCI had one member fly in from Germany for the weekend.

Highlight of the rally was the show and judging Saturday morning in the parking lot at Pontiac Motor Division headquarters. A "flea market," where members could buy and sell hard-to-find car parts, was held simultaneously with the show.

SEVERAL MEMBERS drove from California and Florida, and one Cincinnati owner made the trip in a 1932 Pontiac with original tires.

Most of the cars were Pontiacs, from a 1926 to restored cars from the '50s. Two Oaklands—last made in 1932—reached the rally.

The rally began Friday afternoon with a tour, for POCI members only, of Pontiac's home plant manufacturing facilities in Pontiac. A show featuring two historic Pontiac Movies was held Friday evening at the Sheraton Motor Inn in Pontiac, headquarters for the meet.

SATURDAY'S PROGRAM included the car display, judging and flea market, with a special game program in the afternoon testing the driving skill of owners of old cars. The club's annual awards banquet Saturday evening in the Pontiac Motor Administration Building featured Stephen P. Malone, Pontiac's chief engineer.

On Sunday, members paraded to Meadow Brook Hall at Oakland University. Persons interested in joining POCI should contact John H. Harwood at 647-2577.
