Summer winds up for local scholars

EMPTY LOCKERS are a sure sign that school is out. All this will change this week as the schools fill up with students and the lockers with who knows what all.

The mood of fall will settle upon the Plymouth Community School District this Thursday, as tiny kindergartners don their first school outfits and high school students shout greetings throughout the halls of the Centennial Educational Park.

Thursday marks the beginning of another year of pencils and books for all district students except those enrolled at Miller Elementary School, where the controversial 45-15 program began July 14.

ALTHOUGH SOME students undoubtedly regard the opening of another school year with distaste, all those soaking up the summer rays at Plymouth's Kellogg Park last week were excited about the prospect.

"Vacation's getting kind of boring," confessed Chris Crowther, a 10th grader at Plymouth Salem High, as he tossed a brightly-colored Frisbee through the air. "I'm kind of looking forward to going back, 'cause I got some good classes this year."

Mike Richards, a 10th grader at Plymouth Canton High, caught the Frisbee at the other end of the park and nodded his head in agreement.

"I've had a good time this summer, but I'm ready to get back and see all the girls."

Mary Ann McCloskey and Patti Fulton, who will begin attending CEP classes as freshmen this year, wheeled their bicycles through Kellogg Park and stopped for a rest.

"I'm excited to go back, because I'm starting a new school," said Mary Ann, who admitted some squeamish feelings about starting the high school routine. Her friend, Patti, added, "I'm getting excited now that it's getting closer, but I was scared about it at first."

SCHOOL DISTRICT officials predict 13,100 students—about 400 more than last year—will pack the district's schools this year. About 600 teachers will head the learning process, scheduled to begin this week.

On Thursday, incoming ninth graders at the CEP will attend a freshman orientation program from 7:30 to 10:25 a.m. Classes for ninth through 12th graders will begin at 10:30 a.m. and run on a 10-minute-per-modular schedule until the end of the day.

Elementary students will report to their schools for a full day of classes at 8:45 a.m. on Thursday. Middle school students will report to their homerooms at 7:55 a.m. Regular bus schedules will begin.

At Miller Elementary School, classes will proceed as usual this week. Most of the 700 pupils enrolled in Miller's 45-15 program began classes July 14, Aug. 4 or Aug. 25. The remainder will begin classes Sept. 15, when students enrolled on the program's track A schedule take their first three-week break.

The school year for all but Miller students is scheduled from Thursday to June 11, when next year's summer vacation will begin. District officials have scheduled Nov. 17 as a parental conference day; Nov. 27 and 28 as Thanksgiving vacation; Dec. 20 to Jan. 5 as Christmas vacation; March 8 as a teacher inservice day; and April 16-25 as Easter vacation.

ON THE SPORTS scene, Plymouth Salem will open its varsity football season Sept. 12 at Bloomfield Hills and play its first home game Sept. 19, beginning at 8 p.m., against Redford Union. The junior varsity squad will open Sept. 18 at Redford Union and play at home against Trenton on Sept. 25.

The Plymouth Canton football team will open with a home game against Livonia Bentley at 8 p.m., Friday, Sept. 12. The next Chief's game will be against Annapolis in an away contest on Sept. 19. The junior varsity will open with two away games against Walled Lake Central Sept. 18 and Garden City East Sept. 25. A home contest against Farmington Harrison will be held Oct. 2.

The Plymouth Salem cross-country squad will start its season with an away contest Sept. 11 against Redford Union, run against Northville Sept. 16 and have its first home competition on Sept. 18 against Trenton.

The Plymouth Canton cross-country team also will open with three away matches—Thurston on Sept. 11, Waterford Mott Sept. 18 and the Schoolcraft Invitational Sept. 20. The team will appear before the home crowd on Sept. 23 against Clarenceville.

The Plymouth Salem golf squad will open Sept. 8 with an away contest at Brighton and be home Sept. 9 for a 3 p.m. pairing with Dearborn Edsel Ford.

Plymouth Canton golfers will open against Walled Lake Western Sept. 8 at Walled Lake and be home Sept. 11 against Farmington Harrison and Sept. 12 against Redford Union—both at 3 p.m.

THE PLYMOUTH Canton girls basketball team will open with a home game Sept. 16 against Ann Arbor Huron at 6:30 p.m. and play at Livonia Bentley Sept. 18 at 4 p.m.

Plymouth Salem girl cagers will open at home Sept. 18 at 6:30 p.m. against Garden City East and travel to Walled Lake Western Sept. 23 for a 6:15 p.m. game.

READY TO ROLL as the opening day of school approaches, is this fleet of Plymouth School District buses parked in the board of education lot on Mill Street. Workers have been busy getting the buses in shape for the long school season which begins Thursday. (Staff photo by Maurie Walker)

Trial ordered for driver in car deaths

A Livonia driver charged with manslaughter in the Aug. 23 traffic deaths of two Canton Township girls was ordered Thursday to stand trial in Wayne County Circuit Court.

District Judge James McCann of Livonia ordered James Deamud, 20, of 8832 Linville, to stand trial. McCann held a preliminary hearing and listened to three witnesses.

Killed in the crash at the Wayne Road-Ann Arbor Trail intersection were Cynthia Conrad, 16, of 6946 Harvard, and Victoria Hunter, 16, of 6956 Harvard Lane.

Deamud is scheduled to be arraigned in circuit court on Sept. 24, said Patrolman Jesse Bartlett.

Glen McLean, 21, of Livonia, driver of the car in which the two victims were passengers, testified the Deamud car ran a red light at a high rate of speed. Other witnesses were Mark Primak and Thomas Smith, who said the same thing.

Sheldon gets new surface

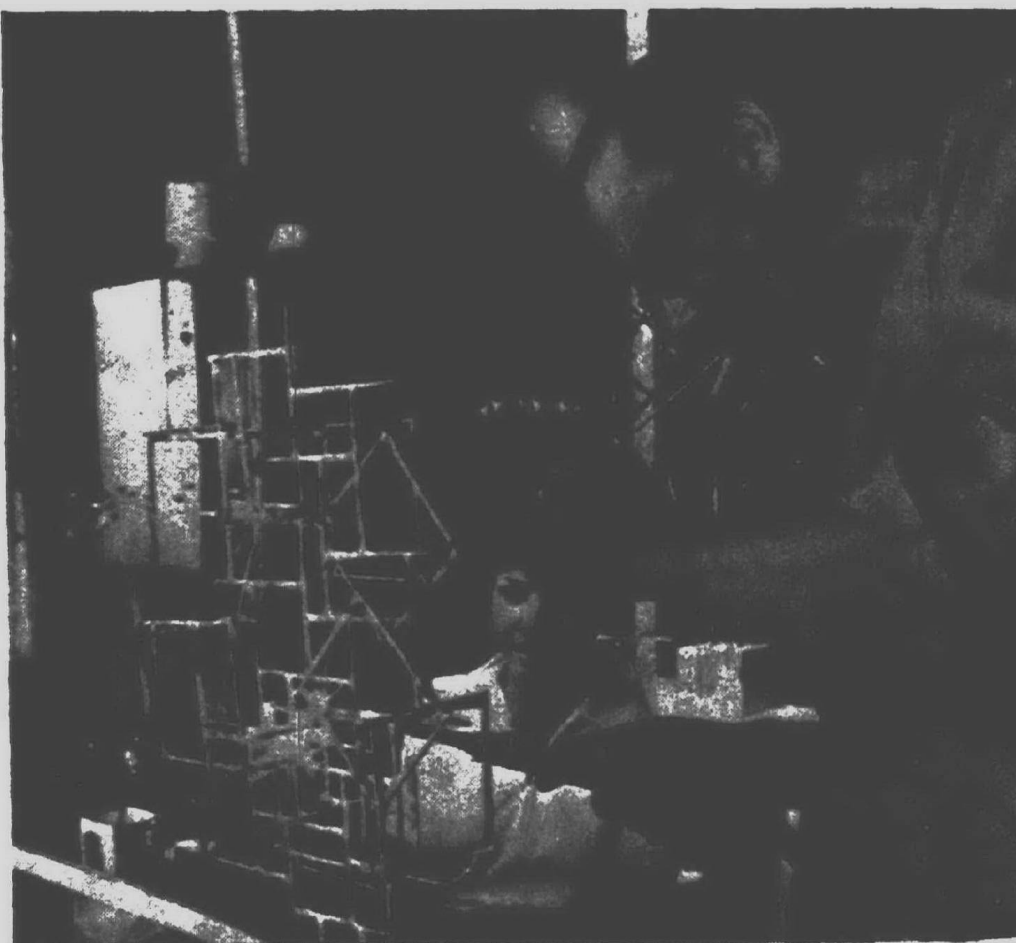

Motorists traveling on Sheldon between Ann Arbor Trail and Ann Arbor Road will no longer have to cope with the chattering teeth and bumpy ride, caused by the cavernous chuckholes in the pavement.

Wayne County Road Commission crews have begun work on a $50,000 resurfacing project that will lay a smooth layer of asphalt over the nearly one-mile stretch of Sheldon.

Louis Sugo, director of public information for the road commission, says the work should be completed in one or two weeks. In the meantime, motorists will have to put up with construction crews and slowed-down traffic.

The project will temporarily provide a smooth surface for Sheldon traffic. Another project, proposed to begin in 1977, will widen Sheldon to five lanes of concrete from Ann Arbor Trail to Joy.

"The road commission recognized the fact that Sheldon is in bad shape," said Sugo. "The work now under way is not the final answer, but at least it's something."

Tips from the chief

Lightning safety rules are offered

With the recent heavy thunderstorms hitting the area, Plymouth Township Fire Chief James Gignac has issued some lightning safety rules as endorsed by the Wayne County Office of Civil Defense.

"Lightning kills an average of 150 Americans per year and injures about 250," the chief said.

"Persons struck by lightning receive a severe electrical shock and may be burned, but they carry no electrical charge and can be handled safely," Gignac added.

Safety rules for electrical storms include staying indoors as much as possible.

"STAY AWAY from open doors or windows, fireplaces, radiators, metal pipes, sinks and plug-in electrical appliances.

"Don't use plug-in electrical equipment such as hair driers, electric toothbrushes, or electric razors during an electrical storm. And don't use bathtubs or showers when lightning threatens," the chief warns.

Persons outdoors when a storm hits should seek shelter from the lightning in buildings when possible. If no buildings are available, the best protection is a cave, ravine, ditch or under head-high clumps of trees in open forest glades, the Civil Defense bulletin states.

"Persons using a tractor, especially if pulling metal equipment, should stop work when a storm approaches," Gignac said.

Additional safety factors listed include:

Don't work on fences, telephone or power lines, pipelines, or structural steel fabrication.

GET OUT OF the water and off small boats. Don't handle flammable materials in open containers during electrical storms. Don't take laundry off the clothesline. Don't use the telephone during a storm as lightning may strike telephone lines outside the house.

The chief said a person "killed" by lightning can often be revived by prompt mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, cardiac massage and prolonged artificial respiration.

"In a group struck by lightning, the apparently 'dead' should be treated first; those who show vital signs will probably recover spontaneously, although burns and other injuries may require treatment.

"Recovery from lightning strikes is usually complete except for possible impairment or loss of sight or hearing."

The chief noted that should you feel the electrical charge, if your hair stands on end or your skin tingles, lightning may be about to strike you.

"DROP TO the ground immediately," he said.

Gignac listed some facts about lightning as released by the Office of Civil Defense.

"Lightning occurs when positive and negative charges become great enough to cause current to flow between the two charges. Potential can be as much as 100 million volts.

"The thermal effect of lightning is caused by the high current peaks (which may reach 200,000 amperes or more) and is responsible for starting numerous fires."

GOVERNOR'S MANSION was built in 1839 in Greek revival-style by James Wright Gordon, an early Michigan lieutenant governor and governor, who speculated that Marshall would be the state capital. It is now the property of Mary Marshall Chapter, DAR.

HONOLULU HOUSE, built in 1860 by a former U.S. consul to the Sandwich (now Hawaiian) Islands, is certainly the most unusual building in Marshall. It's the headquarters of the Marshall Historical Society and also contains a museum of 19th century furniture and artifacts. It was the first of nine Marshall structures to be listed in the National Register and is also on the Historic American Buildings Survey.

5 'firsts' star on Marshall tour

HAINES HOUSE, among the most admired small Greek revival homes in Marshall, was built between 1838-40. Later additions have only partially hidden its characteristics. Present owners, Mr. and Mrs. Brad Haines, have done it justice with their decorating efforts.

An assortment of five "first-time" houses will highlight historic Marshall's 12th annual Historic Home Tour, Sept. 6-7. The event is sponsored by the Marshall (Michigan) Historical Society, with the cooperation of 30 civic, social, fraternal and religious organizations.

Queen Anne, Greek revival, Italianate, Victorian gothic and board-and-batten are some of the architectural styles featured. The tour will include seven private homes and the city's three quasi-public buildings: the "almost" Governor's Mansion (1839), Honolulu House (1860) and Capitol Hill School (1860).

The three quasi-public buildings all are being refurbished as part of the city's bicentennial celebration. Efforts are most visible at Capitol Hill School where a wall has been rebuilt, brick surface ground and tuck-pointed, and trim painted. The $6,000 effort was made possible by proceeds from earlier tours.

HOMES NEVER before opened to the public include: Haines house, an 1838-40 Greek revival; Benedict House, an 1840 Greek revival; Themins house, an 1870 Italianate; Sahli house, an 1877 board-and-batten; and Selee house, an 1897 Queen Anne.

The other two private homes, which have both been on tour before, are Barger house, an 1868 Victorian gothic, and Trupiano house, a mid-1830s modified Greek revival.

The 10 buildings represent a top-notch cross-section of mid-19th century architecture, when Marshall was at its high point. All are beautifully maintained and decorated.

Bogar Theater, which has just completed a renovation as part of the city's downtown restoration program should be eye-catching. Brackets and other accessories have been added to the exterior to complement the city commercial Italianate architecture.

AMBIENCE AND atmosphere of the last century will be recreated with church luncheons, bake sales, 14-dealer antique sale, arts and crafts fair, band concert, ice cream social, Civil War-type encampment, barbershop quartets and numerous other events.

A feature of this year's tour will be a grand bicentennial parade at noon each day. Highlight of the Sunday parade will be the recreation of the 5th Michigan Regiment Band from Howell. This unusual project includes an 85-piece band, historic color guard, folk dancers, banjo band and fife-and-drum band.

VISITORS WILL be able to enjoy the unstructured tour along Marshall's tree-shaded streets at their leisure between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 6, and 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 7. Marshall is .65 miles west of Ann Arbor on I-94.

Large free parking areas have been set aside. Free shuttle buses will make continuous trips from the parking areas, passing near all 10 buildings.

Two books on Marshall, underwritten by earlier tour proceeds, will be on sale, as will a Honolulu House commemorative plate. The plate is the first of a bicentennial series.

Home tour profits have also been used to purchase 12 Michigan state historic markers.

Application forms are being sent to all homes in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. The information provided on the application is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility. Applications may be submitted at any time during the year.

In certain cases, foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If a family has foster children living with them and wishes to apply for such lunches and milk for them, it should contact the school.

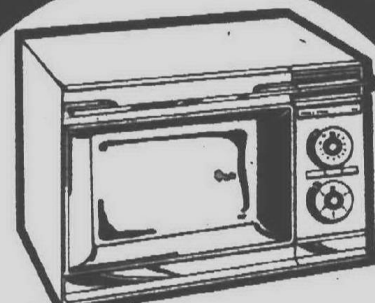

In the operation of child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, color, or national origin.

Under the provisions of the policy the SCHOOL NURSE and PRINCIPAL OF THE SCHOOL THE STUDENT ATTENDS will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the official, he may make a request either orally or in writing to MR. RAYMOND HOEDEL, ASSISTANT SUPERINTENDENT FOR BUSINESS, Hearing Official, for a hearing to appeal the decision. The policy contains an Outline of the hearing procedure. Each school and office of Mr. Hoedel in the Board of Education Offices has a copy of the complete policy which may be reviewed by an interested party.

Birthday wish reaches the skies

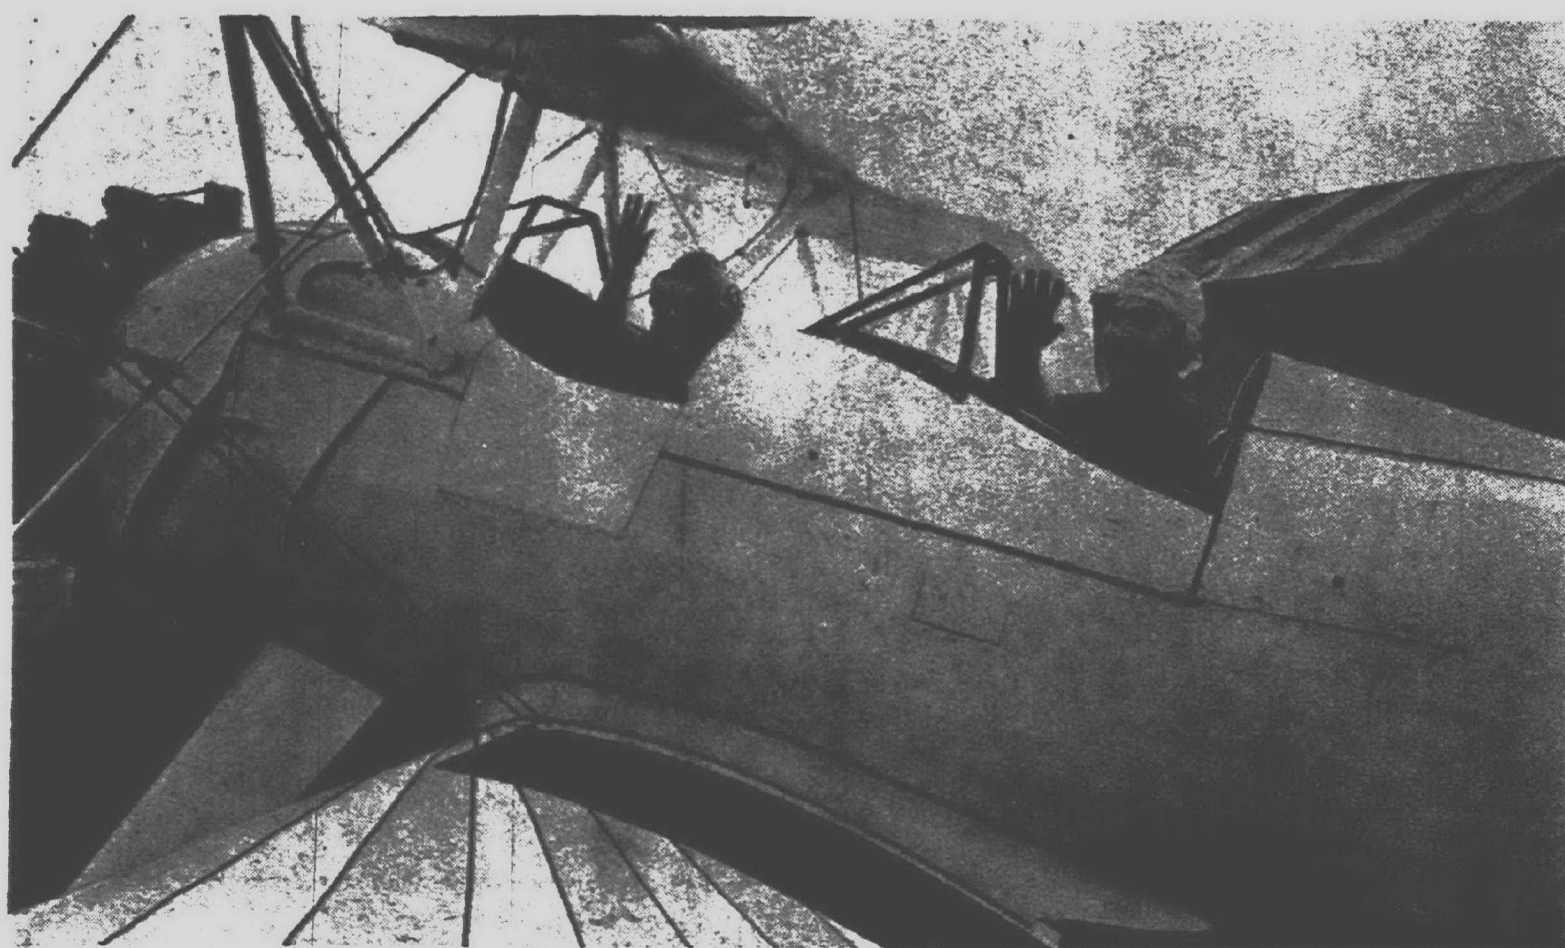

JOHN MILLER adjusts Kathy Benson's helmet and goggles before her ride arranged as a present for the 13-year-old daughter of Anita Benson, a secretary at the Plymouth Board of Education Office. Miller, a salesman for Lou LaRiche Chevrolet, offers with each car sold an open-cockpit airplane ride. The renovated Waco, one of about 50 left in the U.S., is owned by Ron Frantz of Northville. (Staff photos by Bob Woodring).

AS KATHY and Ron Frantz prepare for takeoff, John Miller removes the "birthday card." The 1942 Waco, owned by General Motors pilot Frantz, is stored at Mettetal Airport. Frantz brought the plane home in pieces and renovated it himself. It is a cloth structure held together with wire, wqod and some metal.

LOST IN THE forward cockpit, Kathy waves goodbye with Waldo Pepper joining in on the farewell.

AFTER A COUPLE of brief minutes alone in the cockpit, Kathy ponders her experience, perhaps with a bit of impatience or perhaps just thinking a short prayer or about to release a desperate whisper for help.

BUT FINALLY the ancient bird takes wing and Kathy is in for a thrill. After the ride, she commented: "I'd like to do that again."

Hoffa's disappearance was kept secret from his mother in Livonia

By MARTHA MAHAN

The mother of former Teamster president James R. Hoffa died without knowing that her famous son was missing, but her daughter believes the 55-year-old woman sensed that something was wrong.

"We decided to keep it from her," said Mrs. Nancy Hawker, Hoffa's sister. "But I think she was suspicious last week."

"She said to me: 'I don't think I'll ever see your brother Jim again,'" Mrs. Viola Hoffa died Aug. 28 at Plymouth General Hospital in Detroit. She was taken there from Middle Belt Nursing Centre in Livonia where she had been a patient for two-and-half years.

MRS. HAWKER said the family managed to keep the news of her son's disappearance secret by taking away the elderly woman's hearing aid and telling her that her television set was broken.

"The patient in the other bed was near death, so there was no conversation," Mrs. Hawker said. Her mother was bedfast and could not get to a telephone.

"We told her Jim was out of town on a business trip, and she was used to that and didn't think it was out of the way for him to fail to visit," the daughter, who lives in Utica, went on.

"I took her a real good picture of Jim that was in one of the newspapers and told her he had sent it," Mrs. Hawker said. "She kept it in the drawer of her bedside table and whenever any of the nurses or aides or anyone else came in, she would show it to them."

During one period, the elderly Mrs. Hoffa refused to eat, her daughter said. "I told her that Jim said he wanted her to eat to keep her strength up."

MRS. HAWKER disputed the reported statement of Murray Chodak, law partner of her nephew, James P. Hoffa, that her mother "died of a broken heart."

She died of the complications of old age," Mrs. Hawker said.

The hospital would say only that

Mrs. Hoffa died a natural death.

Mrs. Hawker said her mother was convinced she was near death and frequently said she would "never get out of the hospital."

Her death came just 30 days after her son's July 30 disappearance after leaving his Lake Orion home for a meeting at a Bloomfield Township restaurant.

Hoffa's wife, Josephine, was hospitalized earlier this month.

She had collapsed at the family home and her son said she was "exhausted physically and emotionally from the strain and stress." She was released six days later and is now back home.

Emig elected

Walter Emig of The Hearthside in Livonia has been elected to the board of directors of the National Home Furnishings Association.

Emig, president of The Hearthside, Livonia, will be directly involved with formulation of policies and programs geared to the needs of the 10,000 home furnishings retailers who are members of the association. He has served on numerous NHFA committees and is active in community affairs.

Extension service to get new building

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners, using previously allocated funds, has given the green light to continue design work on a new cooperative extension service headquarters that will save the county at least $22,000 per year in leasing costs.

The board Aug. 21 agreed with Donald D. Juchartz, county extension director, that a new administration building was badly needed and authorized design work to continue.

"We presently have eight office locations in the county," Juchartz said following board approval. "We plan to consolidate four of these locations into this new building (behind the county library in Wayne) and save the lease costs we now are paying."

"As a further benefit, the building will serve as a meeting place for the more than 200,000 residents who attend meetings and programs sponsored by the service each year."

A $250,000 commitment in state funds was allocated to two recreational projects, with the county contributing $62,500 in carry-over funds.

"No new money will be involved in either project," Lesinski pointed out. He further noted that state funding for all the projects has been committed for several years as Wayne County's share of the state recreation bond program approved by the voters.

A total of $200,000 ($160,000 state, $40,000 county) was appropriated to further develop plans for the Eliza Howell Nature Interpretative Center, near Telegraph and Fenkell in Detroit.

According to E.E. Mika, county parks and recreation superintendent, plans for the Nature Center have been sent to the State Department of Natural Resources for final approval.

"The nature center," Mika said, "will provide a highly urbanized area with the opportunity for nature education."

The remaining money, $112,500 (90,000 state, $22,500 county), will be used to develop the Middle Rouge Parkway Bikeway Project as biking continues to grow in popularity.

Rocks face tough road to defend league title

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third in a series of feature articles previewing local high school football teams for the 1975 season.)

By BILL COLLINS

When the Plymouth Salem Rocks return to the gridiron this fall they'll be defending a Suburban Eight football title and an undefeated season.

The major flaw the varsity crew will have to overcome is inexperience if they hope to attain the measure of success preceding Rock teams have enjoyed.

"We have two starters returning on defense and one on offense. The two players I'm talking about are Charlie Johnson and Rick Gladstone," commented head Coach Tom Moshimer.

Moshimer begins his eighth year as head football coach and speaks highly of Johnson and Gladstone. "I feel that Charlie Johnson is an excellent all-around athlete and is definitely all-state material and a college prospect," he said. "Rick Gladstone is one of the best interior linemen around and a good candidate for post season honors."

The defensive strategy hasn't changed much at Salem, they'll still utilize the 5-2 defense. Moshimer pointed out the strengths and weaknesses of his defense.

"WE'LL BE TOUGH on the interior line, Gladstone and Dave Champion are at tackles while Charlie Johnson plays noseguard. Players who might see action at the ends are Dave Kolb, John Horton, Charlie Poteau, or Russ Bruner," said Moshimer.

Plymouth defensive vulnerability is in the backfield. "Inexperience hurts us most at linebacker and in the secondary. However, these players are steadily improving."

Linebacker hopefuls are Joe Scott and Tim Lilley. John Daritoni and Kevin Grahman man the corners and at safety Dick Bradburn, Chris Ritchie, and Ken Blevens will play deep.

Moshimer assumes an unbiased attitude toward his players. "As I'm giving you these names now, I have no way of telling who will be starting at what position and when. My players work very hard, and only time will tell who earns starting positions."

Tradition still stands on offense as it does on defense. Moshimer makes no secret of his plans to use the option play as the best method of moving the ball. "Offensively, if we cannot run the option play, we're finished. We've got to make it work."

Running the option will be junior quarterback Steve Maisner. According to Moshimer, Maisner is learning how to handle the play well after seeing sparse action as a sophomore.

The offensive interior will be tough to crack with Rick Gladstone, Chuck Poteau and Reid Albert at guards, and Tackles Dave Champion, Dave Kolb, and Dave Nitzgorski. Russ Bruner and John Horton are the ends, but they will be used mostly for blocking.

BESIDES MAISNER in the backfield there are halfbacks Charlie Johnson, Larry Rightler and Tim Lilley. Joe Scott and Howard Ich will run at Fullback.

As far as the Suburban Eight League goes Moshimer bluntly states "They are all tough, but the team that will provide the most formidable opposition will be Trenton."

In the last two years the Salems have won 16 of 18 games. With 2 starters returning this fall the Rocks have their work cut out for them. Moshimer and assistants Gary Balconi, Wayne Sparkman, and Ron Krueger are willing to make this another winning football season.

When Moshimer states that "we expect to be a contender in the Suburban Eight," and judging on his success you have to believe that whoever is playing, Plymouth Salem may field another winner.

Aggies to vie for loop honors

(Editor's note: This is the fourth in a series of feature articles previewing the 1975 high school football season.)

There is sign hanging in the weight room where prospective candidates for the 1975 St. Agatha football team works out.

Mt. Carmel—25, St. Agatha—15 it reads.

It was that 10-point margin that gave the Aggies their only league loss last season and cost them a chance at the Catholic League Second Division title.

This year it figures to come down to the same two teams challenging for westside honors.

"We feel that the winner of that game will take the championship," said St. Agatha coach Harvey Heitman.

Heitman has good reason to be optimistic about going into that final game of the regular season with an unblemished league record.

He has 22 lettermen, including 14 starters, back from last year's team which finished 4-1 in league play and 5-3 overall.

Back will be quarterback Brian Higgins, a three-letter man who took over the reins during the second game last year. Only a junior, the 5-9, 170-pound Higgins will team with another veteran, fullback Dave Mully, to give the Aggies an experienced backfield.

Mully, a senior, goes 4.7 over 40 yards and, according to Heitman, "loves to hit people."

One back that will be missed at St. Agatha is all-state halfback Mark Duquette, who gained 1,470 yards in eight games last season.

But an experienced line, which includes three starters from last season, should open some holes.

INCLUDED IN that line are senior center Ken Christiansen and senior guards Dan Kovarik and Charlie Memes.

Five players are expected to go two ways and that number could increase as the season progresses.

The Aggies start their season with a trio of topflight non-league opponents which may make the loop schedule seem easy in comparison.

Detroit Country Day School, Willow Run and Michigan Lutheran Seminary, the first two of which are traditional grid powers, will initiate the season for St. Agatha.

The game against Michigan Lutheran Seminary will be played at St. Joseph on Sept. 26 and the team will stay overnight in that city.

But what things really boil down to is the league season and the Saturday night Nov. 1 encounter with Mt. Carmel in particular.

"Don't worry. We won't overlook anybody," said Heitman.

But as long as the signs in the locker room stay up, St. Agatha will have something to look forward to.

State perch fishing now at peak period

The Automobile Club of Michigan has proclaimed the return of the "good old days" in Great Lakes perch fishing because of recent checks imposed on commercial harvesting of the fish and the increased planting of salmon—a predator that feeds on alewives.

The yellowbelly explosion may not be publicized as well as salmon and steelhead runs, but the average angler should outdo his salmon-hunting cousins in numbers of fish caught, and in angling hours and dollars spent landing the perch as the news spreads, according to Joseph Radke, Auto Club touring manager.

Radke attributes the perch resurgence to the banning of gill nets off Michigan shores and ever-increased planting of the alewife-hungry salmon in Lakes Huron and Michigan. For almost 10 years, the perch was in a losing battle for food with the small, inedible garbage fish.

The accompanying map pinpoints 46 of the best sites where even the novice angler, with a little luck, can catch dinner for a few dollars and a few hours time.

"Lakes St. Clair and Erie also hold good perch populations again, although fish run smaller than the slabriders frequently found elsewhere in the Great Lakes," Radke said.

As Lower Peninsula perch schools grow, public piers and boat livery are expected to host thousands of persons using everything from hand lines to expensive fishing gear to land the eight-to-14-inch fish bounty.

In the last two years for example, experienced anglers on Lake Huron's Tawas Bay have been hauling in bucketsful of jumbo perch, a few approaching the state record of three pounds, 12 ounces.

Even the party boat industry, once cut to a few craft, is enjoying a rebirth. At least six boats from five docks are operating in Saginaw and Tawas Bay.

"These boats carry 24 to 33 persons each, offering inexpensive, family-style fun for persons preferring boat to dock fishing," Radke said.

Most knowledgeable veteran guides and livery operators see perch fishing getting much better through the end of September. Because of this conviction, they have been vigorously marketing their services throughout southeast Michigan and northern Ohio.

Using perch rigs, a pair of number 6 or 8 hooks placed 12 to 18 inches apart with the lower hook above a sinker at line's end, has resulted in the very common catch of "doubleheaders" fishing vernacular for two fish caught at the same time on the same line. Minnows hooked through the head are the most popular bait.

Radke said that most of the good catches reported to the livery stations used by the Auto Club to monitor Great Lakes fishing come from less than 50 feet of water. Schools are moving to the shallows in the early morning, toward deep spots at midday, then back to the shallows in early evening.

Radke suggested that persons interested in a Lake Huron party boat trip should contact: Joe's Fishing Trips, Point Au Gres; Brown's Landing, Alabaster; Holiday Fishing Trips, East Tawas; Chuck's Party Boat, Caseville; or Don's Resort, Caseville.

There is no size or creel limit on the number of fish you may bring ashore (except in the case of the Les Cheneaux Islands-area where a 50-fish daily limit is imposed) but all Great Lakes fishermen must have a valid state fishing license in their possession.

Fall Festival should be delicious

German krumkake, Greek cheese and spinach pies, Japanese yaki-tori, Italian pizelle, French rosettes, baklava, and Eldress Clymena Miner's Shaker cookies are not exactly everyday fare in the average household.

All will be available Sept. 4 to 7 at the Plymouth Fall Festival when 50 nonprofit organizations participate in an annual get-together as American as Helen Eckles' apple pie.

The Business and Professional Women's German dinner, the Lions Club fish fry, the Kiwanians' all-day pancake and sausage feast, the Jaycees' beef rib dinner and the Rotarians' chicken barbecue are the major eating events.

But a stroll down Main Street from Ann Arbor Trail to Fralick, past the festival booths, will reveal a tempting variety of ethnic and county-fair foods.

AND THE STATISTICS involved in planning for the booth sales are staggering.

Consider: 2,000 pounds of pork tenderloin for shishkebobs, 80 pounds of feta cheese for spinach and cheese pies, 500 pounds of prime beef for yaki-tori and 160 pounds of sugar for fudge. Apples on sale were sprayed at a vital time so they would ripen for the festival which is earlier this year because Labor Day falls on Sept. 1.

A few steps away, on the other side of Kellogg Park, is the Grange Hall on Union Street. There Plymouth's most experienced cooks prepare meals reminiscent of an old-time visit to grandma on the farm.

FOR MANY, the festival is not complete until they have consumed their annual quota of Grange cookies.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Tritten will mix the batter for the sugar, oatmeal, chocolate chip and molasses cookies. The recipes are known only to members of the 101-year-old organization.

"We're not making as many this year," said Mrs. Tritten, "because we don't have the help. We'll probably just bake 200 dozen." She recalled one year when they baked 1,900 dozen for the fall festival and an air show at Mettetal Airport.

Mrs. Tritten weighs and measures the ingredients. Her husband does the mixing and prepares the dough for storage. The actual baking is done by Mr. and Mrs. Eric Nilson.

The apple and pumpkin pies are made by Mrs. Claude Eckles. She and her husband used to bake between 275 and 300 pies for the festival. This year her niece, Florence Bordine, is helping.

Helen Eckles told us how she makes her apple pies but she says the recipe varies according to the apples. She prefers Northern Spies, but because they are winter apples she will use MacIntosh.

THE FUDGE BOOTH has been a favorite for 12 years. Xi Epsilon Delta sorority members sell about 800 pounds of home-made fudge during the four-day fest.

"We have run out on a Saturday and gone home to make more for Sunday," said Beverly Weher.

She is rejoicing over the lower sugar prices this year.

"Last year we paid over $2 for a five-pound bag. This year I've paid $1.35. But, chocolate has gone away up," she said.

They use 160 pounds of sugar to make the chocolate fudge, some with nuts and some plain. Each of the 10 members makes eight batches.

Proceeds from fudge sales are used for donations to the cancer fund and Channel 56, and baskets for the needy at Thanksgiving and Christmas. They have adopted a patient at the Arnold

Home in Livonia and started a library for alcoholic Indians in northern Michigan.

THE PLYMOUTH CIVITAN Club specializes in yaki-tori. Dave Henry will not divulge the secret of his recipe for the marinade.

The club has ordered 300 pounds of prime beef with 200 pounds in reserve.

"We put three pieces of meat and two pieces of sweet onion on Japanese bamboo sticks," said Henry. "They are dipped in the sauce three or four times during the cooking to get the proper glaze and flavor."

Wives and children of Civitan members help man the booth for the four days. Proceeds from the sale of yaki-tori and photograph buttons aid the club's pet project, the special olympics for the handicapped.

GERMAN KRUMKAKE, Italian pizelle, French rosettes and fried pies are featured by the Michigan Christian Youth Camp Boosters.

Most of the boosters are members of the Plymouth Church of Christ. Bill Econom is vice president of the club, which supports the Michigan Christian Camp in Lapeer. Mrs. Gil Camp, who with her husband shares the presidency of the group, gave us the recipe for krumkake which will be baked in the booth and filled with whipped cream and blueberries.

THE SHAKER COOKIES are not for sale. They will be given as a bonus with items sold by the Plymouth Symphony Society.

Plans for a special bicentennial program at the orchestra's March concert inspired the Shaker theme for the symphony booth. Bonnets, herbs, teas, tin plates, and note paper with original Shaker artwork will be available.

Dr. Ralph Atchley, secretary of the society and instigator of the cookie caper, warned, "You have to watch them carefully, and not let them brown. Unless the temperature of your oven is very reliable, they may burn."

The society also will sell kazooks. Although the wholesale price has gone up, kazood will retail at the old price of 25 cents—but no free Shaker cookies will be given with them.

THE NATIVITY of the Virgin Mary Greek Orthodox Church will have a booth for the first time.

Church members of all ages have pitched in to prepare 2,000 pounds of pork tenderloin for shishkebobs. At $2 a pound, this is quite an investment.

The meat is tenderized with lemon juice and seasoned with salt, pepper and a little garlic. They will have Coney islands, coffee and soft drinks.

The American Hellenic Education Progressive Association (AHEPA), a fraternal organization with chapters all over the world, will have more delicious Greek food in its booth.

Festival goers will be able to snack on cheese pie, spinach pie, Greek bread and coffee at the AHEPA stall.

Frances Kontos of the Little Angels shop in Old Village says their philanthropies include cancer research, orphanages, shelter homes and heart surgery for impoverished youngsters. Proceeds from the booth will go to aid these projects.

THE 30 FAMILIES in the Plymouth Drop-in Center, a community nursery in the Salvation Army building, have dubbed their booth the Main Street Country Store. Home-made cookies, cupcakes, preserves and breads will be on sale. They will have hand-made comforters and afghans to be sold at silent auction. Bushels of apples were sprayed to have them at their best during the Plymouth festival. The oatmeal almond cookies, delicious made with either the oatmeal or granola, are a special recipe recommended for arthritics. You don't have to be an arthritic to enjoy them.

LOUISE AND JESSE Tritten team up to prepare the batter for 200 dozen Plymouth Grange cookies. The recipes are a secret.

THE TANTALIZING aroma of shishkebobs, sizzling over a charcoal fire, will lure festival goers to the booth of the Nativity of the Virgin Mary Greek Orthodox Church.

BRIDGE

When a defender leads a suit of which both declarer and dummy are void, the declarer gets a ruff and sluff; he can discard a loser from one hand and ruff in the other. Sometimes this is the only way declarer can make his contract.

West led the King of spades. Occasionally, the "sluff and ruff" is a superior play. The hand in the diagram was played last weekend at the Michigan Bridge Association tournament in Dearborn.

Floyd Sayed of Southfield, one of the best bridge players in the midwest, was dealt only one jack and managed to take two tricks. Four clubs is unbeatable, but North and South arrived at a shaky four heart contract. West cashed two spades and led a club. Declarer played the ace of hearts, and led another heart to West's king. West led another club. Floyd trumped and led another spade. If South trumped in his hand, he could pick up the heart jack with the queen. Cash three diamond

We're almost three down and only one to go in this matter of teaching the younger generation to manipulate the family car.

What I mean to say is that Daughter No. 3 has finished her driver education course and now is busy practicing for the license test.

So I often have a chauffeur, and I hadn't expected it to be that way this time around.

I HAVE FOUND myself in the two earlier journeys to a license greatly lacking in tolerance for an offspring behind the wheel. I'm sure I didn't do much for the older girls' confidence, convinced as I was that they would hit every car and miss every stop sign.

So this time I had it figured out that Daughter No. 2 would be No. 1 instructor for No. 3. She'd been through the driver education, we reasoned, and knew the methods better, and anyway she had stronger nerves.

But we both were a little surprised to find her somewhat reluctant to put her sister at the controls of her car. She decided being a driving teacher wasn't as easy as it looked.

SO THERE I WAS again doing a big share of the passenger bit, and maybe my nerves are getting hardened. At any rate, I don't find it quite so terrifying this time.

In fact, we hit upon a method that made it quite enjoyable.

We spent several weekend hours traveling around to a number of garage sales.

She got a remarkable amount of driving practice, turning into driveways, avoiding ditches, turning around, watching street signs.

And we came home with several records, a candle and holder, and a bunch of beads for restringing.

Before long we may even come home with a driver's license.

U-M grads married

in Trenton

Gerald Bernard Feldkamp, son of Dr. and Mrs. Lee Feldkamp of Linden Street, Plymouth, claimed Linda Sue Meyer as his bride in a recent ceremony in the First United Methodist Church of Trenton.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Meyer of Trenton. The double-ring ceremony was officiated by the Rev. Dean W. Parker.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white organza dress with venice lace trim and a veil that fell from a flower-covered headpiece. She carried a cascade of gardenias, stephanotis and ivy.

Nancy McClatchey of Anni Arbor wore a yellow knit gown and carried white daisies, yellow miniature roses and pumpkin-colored statice for her role as maid of honor.

The bridesmaids, also wearing yellow and carrying daisies in lime, yellow and pumpkin shades, were Sally and Marcia Meyer and Jeannette Feldkamp, sisters of the bride.

Robert Kaufman of Chicago was best man. Guests were seated by the bridegroom's three brothers, Gregory, Douglas and James Feldkamp.

The reception was in the Sheraton Motor Inn in Woodhaven. The couple, after a honeymoon trip to Montreal, will live in Ann Arbor, where the bridegroom is a doctoral student and employed by the Environmental Research Institute.

He graduated from Plymouth High School in 1969, and he and his wife both are University of Michigan graduates, having earned degrees in nursing and computer engineering. The new Mrs. Feldkamp is employed as a public health nurse by the Wayne County Health Department.

China painters plan workshop

The Northville Spring Chapter of China Painters will meet at 10 a.m. Thursday, Sept. 4, in the Plymouth Community Credit Union on Harvey Street.

Barbara Baluba will conduct a workshop on the second firing of the cameo pin, wipe out. Members are asked to take a sack lunch and stay for a business meeting following the workshop.

Dunlap-Elmendorf vows taken

Amoura Lee Elmendorf and Vern Allen Dunlap were united in marriage recently in the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Herman A. Riggs of Plymouth and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon J. Dunlap, also of Plymouth, are the bridegroom's parents.

The bride sewed her gown of lace over satin and lace headpiece and veil. Both featured pearl and sequin trim and hand-set lace. The bridal bouquet included white gladiolus and yellow sweetheart roses.

Vicki Lynn Beaver, maid of honor, and Kathy Connors and Bee King, bridesmaids, wore blue chiffon dresses and picture hats. Flower girl Melissa Newmann had a white dress.

Assisting the bridegroom were Keith Carmichel, best man; Tom Elmendorf and Jim Dunlap, groomsmen, and John Dunlap, ring bearer.

During the reception in the home of the bride's mother, the couple cut a cake specially made by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Bill Neumann of Alpena. It featured six layer cakes separated by a staircase.

You'll soon be told what's in that lipstick

What will it do to romance to know that lipstick is made mostly of castor oil?

Whatever the effect, beginning March 3, 1976, cosmetic manufacturers must list ingredients on labels, including castor oil. The only exceptions will be trade secrets such as fragrances and flavorings.

"This new cosmetic labeling act will enable consumers to see if the cosmetic contains ingredients they are allergic to," says Diane Place, consumer affairs officer for the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, told a recent meeting of home economists at Michigan State University.

"With the new label information, consumers can make a value comparison between cosmetics," she added "And, if a child should swallow a cosmetic, the doctors will know whether or not to pump the child's stomach."

THE U.S. FOOD and Drug Administration has also defined "hypo-allergenic" cosmetics, according to Ms. Place.

"A cosmetic may be called hypo-allergenic if it is marketed with ingredients known to be the least likely cause of an allergic reaction," she said.

"The manufacturers must prove that the product produces significantly fewer allergic reactions than 10 per cent of the other products on the market. However, the manufacturers have been given two years to prove this;

The map shows a grid of roads. A horizontal road at the top is labeled 'I-596'. A vertical road on the right is labeled 'Middlebrook Rd.' and 'I-490'. A diagonal road runs from the top left to the bottom right. A rectangular box labeled 'Farmington' is located on the diagonal road. Below it, another label 'Grand River' is on the same diagonal road. To the left of the diagonal road, the word 'Spring' is partially visible. Two distance markers are present: '11 mile' between Farmington and a point further down the diagonal road, and '10 mile' between that point and the intersection of the diagonal road and Middlebrook Rd.

SAUERKRAUT served by the Business and Professional Women's Club tastes good to this youngster. The BPW will serve its German dinner from 11 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 5, at Kellogg Park.

"and we should go above the 3,000 mark."

THE WOMEN will start serving the German dishes at noon in the park and continue through the evening meal.

You can have some fun here, too, by trying to figure out how much food is needed.

How much sauerkraut does it take to provide 3,000 meals?

With 3,000 knackwurst, there also will be 3,000 buns.

But how much catsup or horseradish?

Your guess is as good as any—but the BPW girls will have enough so that no one is disappointed.

What makes Festival unique an antique show, old-time movies in the adjoining Penn Theater and activities for the kiddies, along with musical entertainment on the stage.

But the main event—and the real drawing card—is food. Many other communities boast chicken dinners and large fish fries. They also boast ox roasts and the like. But no where in the country is it done on four separate days by separate groups all working for the same goal.

This will be the 20th annual chicken barbecue that started in 1956 as a Sunday afternoon picnic to raise funds for the purchase of playground equipment.

So successful was that first venture that it was continued in the rear of the former high school on Main Street until 1960 when the other organizations joined forces for the Fall Festival as it is known today.

Another unusual feature is the fact that all these dinners are served in the park which is a one city block triangle. During the four days more than 100,000 persons are attracted to the downtown area.

No wonder it stands apart from other community affairs across the entire country.

Plymouth historical film to be shown in Dunning-Hough

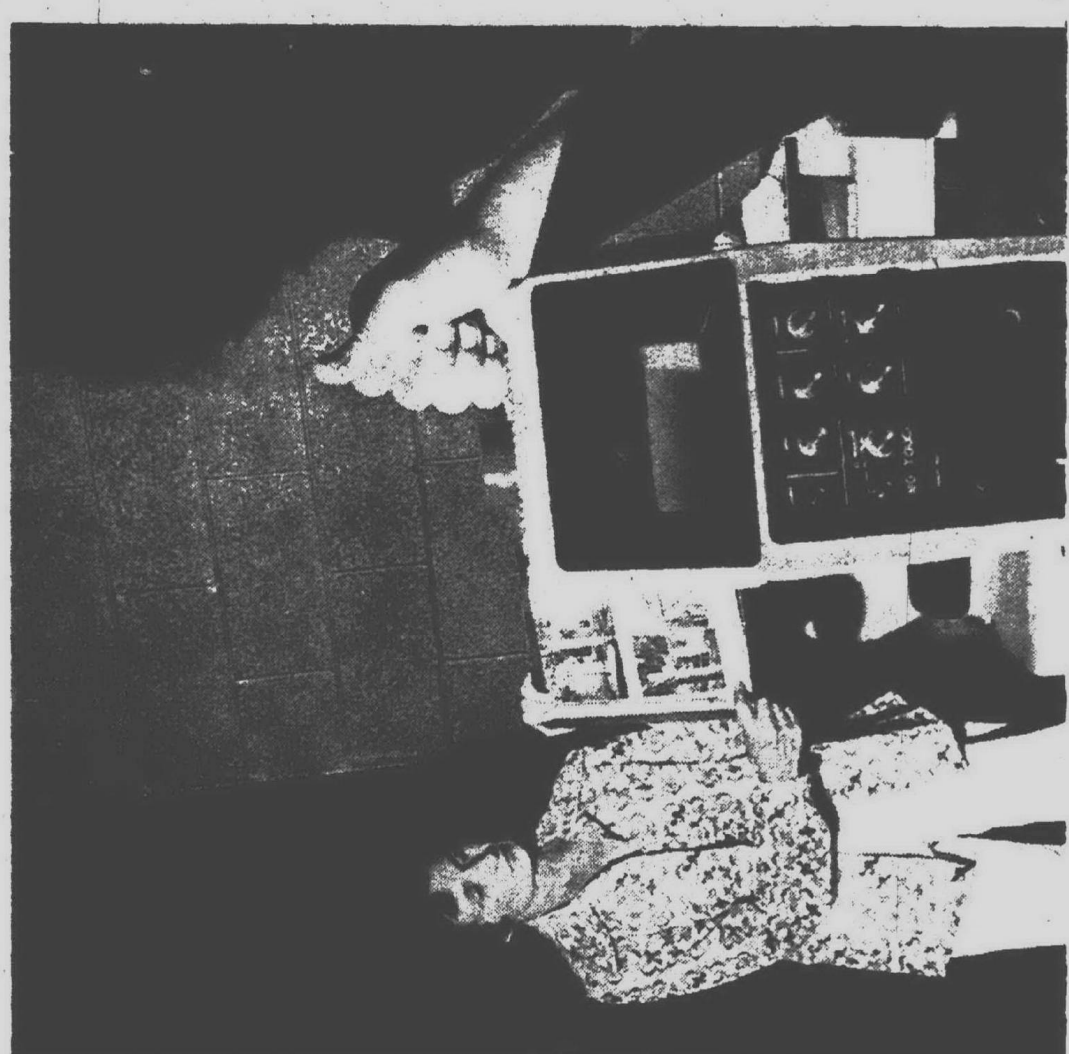

The videotape is a juxtaposition of past and present, old and new, work, play and local government. Scenes from today's Kellogg Park, local governmental meetings and school district classrooms are blended with worn photographs of a community in years gone by.

Endorsed by the Plymouth Community Bicentennial Commission and funded by $500 in grants from the AAUW's Plymouth branch, Michigan division and National Educational Foundation, the videotape was created by the media committee of the AAUW Plymouth branch and students and teachers from the Centennial Educational Park (CEP).

The media committee of the AAUW's Plymouth branch conceived the videotape idea about one year ago, after studying the potential of cable television in the Plymouth-Canton area.

Cable TV, Mrs. Fisher notes, could serve as an educational, communicative tool for a wide array of community projects.

community affairs, including local governmental meetings, concerts and sports events.

"WE WERE TALKING about how we'd prepare people to use cable television," Mrs. Fisher explained. "Someone said, 'Why don't you make your own tape?' The whole idea was to show things that would lend themselves to programming for cable."

"We knew we had a hodgepodge of things to show. We had to have a theme, so we jumped on the bicentennial. We figured the Fall Festival would be the legitimate time for the public to see it."

Mrs. Fisher and other members of the AAUW's media committee hope the videotape will spur other area residents to make their own films or productions.

"This is an amateur production," Mrs. Fisher said. "People sometimes think you have to have a couple thousand dollars to do things. Out of this, I would hope people would attempt to do things, knowing it's not going to be professional, and utilize things we have in the community."

"I do foresee using videotapes to show community happenings. I really think there's tremendous use for it in the community. We learned so much about the community and the area and its delightful people in making the tape."

The videotape was produced, Mrs. Fisher noted, with equipment at the CEP.

AAUW MEMBERS who worked on the videotape include Mrs. Fisher, Sharon Flower, Laura Kolb, Pat O'Reilly, Sally Price and Carolyn Riley. CEP students Brian Oapla, Tony Dal Lago, Randy Knapp and Ken Zonca worked on the project as well as CEP staff members Mark Even, Jeff Cardinal and Wisam Kazaleh, director of the Plymouth Salem High School television department.

Community resident Jay Cunningham, a one-time radio and television announcer, was selected from 19 contestants to serve as the tape's narrator.

Photographs used in the videotape are compliments of the Plymouth Observer & Eccentric and Sam Hudson, author of "Plymouth Past and Present." Slides are compliments of Earl Merriman.

Sauerkraut will be uniformly prepared

The old order changeth.

For years the members of the Plymouth Business and Professional Women's Club prepared kettle after kettle of sauerkraut for the annual German Dinner that has become the traditional opener of the Fall Festival.

Each member prided herself in her preparation of the German dish and there scarcely were two kettles of the delicacy with the same flavor.

THOSE DAYS are ended now. All the sauerkraut will have the same flavor and all of the knackwurst will be prepared the same way. "We decided this year to contract for the preparation of the sauerkraut," Sandra Davis, president of the BPW stated.

"It will be done by the German American Club and we can be assured that it will be done properly."

According to the BPW president, plans are being made to serve at least 3,000 dinners.

"We have been gaining about 200

Rain, rain stay away

Don't be alarmed if you see men walking around downtown with their fingers crossed during Labor Day week.

They'll be members of the Rotary Club hoping the Weatherman will be kind and send the sun for the Sunday of the chicken barbecue.

Just the thought of rain had the Rotarians scared for years. They never had experienced a bad day and each year the barbecue was more successful.

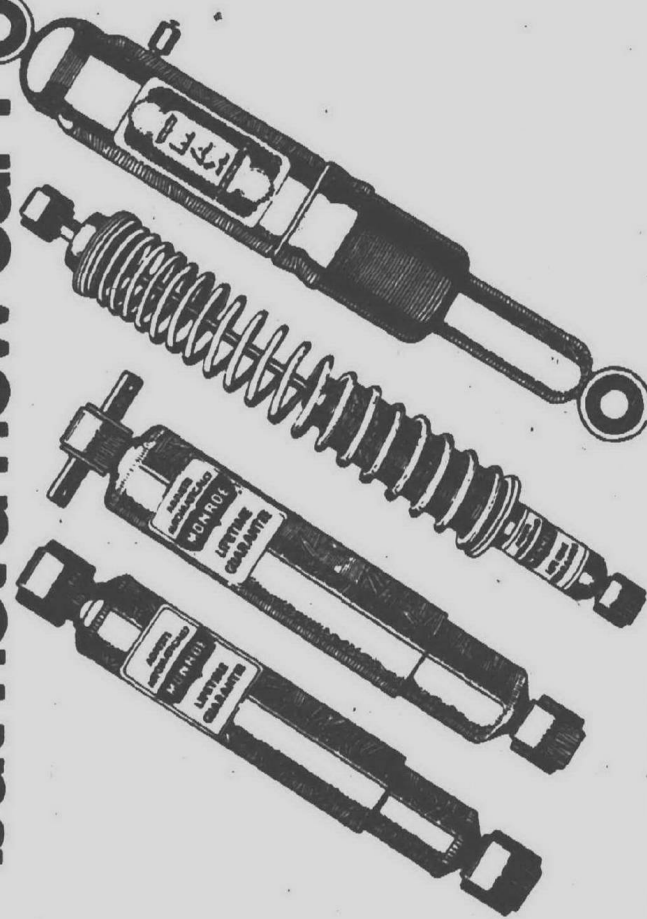

What will we do if it rains became a chant throughout the club.

Several years ago they found out. For the first time it rained. Not too much. But enough to prevent most people from eating their meal in the park.

What do you suppose happened? They sold 13,000 dinners. Folks drove up in their cars and picked up their dinners and went home to eat them.

So rain doesn't hold the fear it once did—but no one likes to prepare the chicken in the rain. And folks much prefer to eat the chicken in the park. That's why the Rotarians will keep their fingers crossed.

Need a better ride, but not a new car?

Put Monroe between you and the road.

How Festival got its start

One afternoon in 1956 a group of Rotarians was discussing what the club could do to help purchase much needed playground equipment and thus make a contribution to the general welfare of the city.

Finally, after discussing several ideas, Harold Hamill, whose fertile mind had conceived several worthwhile projects in the area, suggested conducting a chicken barbecue on a Sunday afternoon to which the general public would be invited.

THE IDEA seemed logical — even though it would mean a lot of hard work. So the group decided to try it. None of them had had experience in barbecuing chicken. That didn't stop them. They were courageous enough to make an attempt.

The first event was held on the site of the park on Hamilton Street. It attracted several hundred people — enough to build up confidence for the future.

Inspired by that success the Rotarians moved the event to the area in the rear of the Central High School the following year, with even greater success.

NOW, firmly established as a fundraiser, the Rotarians moved again. This time it was to Kellogg Park. Meanwhile, other groups in the city joined in the affair and organized what is now the Fall Festival.

In the group are the Kiwanis, Lions, Jaycees, the Plymouth Grange, the Business and Professional Women's Club — each with its own activity. The festival was established in 1956 and the event stretched over four days.

Traditionally, it is ushered in by the BPW with a knockwurst and sauerkraut dinner in the Park on Thursday following Labor Day. This is followed by the fish dinner sponsored by the Lions Club in the park on Friday. The Jaycees follow with a rib dinner on Saturday evening while the Kiwanians have an all-day pancake feast in the Masonic Temple.

All of this is prelude to the Rotary chicken barbecue on Sunday that has grown to such an extent — now is rated the biggest feast of its kind in the country.

And with each dinner, from the knockwurst to the chicken, a contribution is being made to charity.

And it all started close to 20 years ago with a chicken dinner to raise funds for playground equipment.

Hustling chefs prepare pancakes

How many pancake meals do the Kiwanis serve on the Saturday of the Fall Festival?

You'd be surprised to learn that the answer is "2,500 with seconds."

That means that with at least two pancakes to a meal, there are 5,000 pancakes. Counting the seconds—and at least half of the clients enjoy them—means that the hustling chefs with the high hats prepare at least 7,500 pancakes during the day.

NOW COUNT two sausages to a meal and you have 5,000 sausages with another 2,500 in "seconds" and you have quite a bundle of the delicacies.

"We could do a lot more," one of the veteran chefs said recently, "but we only have three burners—and the traffic gets heavy.

"Our trouble is that we are suffering from growing pains—and no place to go."

FOR SOME time the Kiwanians have been considering the outdoors along side the Masonic Temple. Additional burners could be arranged and the present 2,500 limit surpassed. Each time the subject is mentioned it is countered with "What will we do if it rains?"

The Rotary Club has special boxes for the barbecued chicken, but it is rather difficult to prepare pancakes in the rain.

As a result they will remain indoors and be satisfied with serving the 2,500 pancake dishes.

How Fall Festival 'profits' are spent

Aside from helping to beautify the downtown area and Kellogg Park, the proceeds of the annual Fall Festival have done good for many other sectors.

Two years ago, when the area was crying for help for kidney patients, the Rotary Club donated two kidney dialysis machines to St. Mary Hospital in Livonia.

This was the start of an entire kidney unit in the hospital with the result that kidney patients from a wide area can be given relief.

When the Historical Commission was in need of something outstanding for the new museum, the Rotary Club again came through. This time it was a mural of the scene in 1924 depicting the intersection of Main Street and Pennington Avenue. It shows the old car tracks and there is not an automobile in sight. This is certain to be an eye catcher when the museum opens to the public.

The museum also profited by the generosity of the Kiwanis Club.

At the end of the old-time Main Street, that is the focal point of the upstairs in the museum, you'll find an old-time grocery store complete with coffee grinder, pickle barrel, etc.

This is the contribution of the Kiwanians and it is considered an outstanding replica of the grocery stores as we knew them at the turn of the century.

Help for the blind through the Lions and the scholarships awarded to local students by the BPW are all part of the festival fund distribution.

Festival benefits entire community

There is much more to the annual Fall Festival than enjoying a good meal in the park.

No other event in the city spreads its wings of charity so far afield. It seems everybody gains and the city, itself, is a place of serene beauty because the folks enjoyed their meal in the park and came back for more, year after year.

FOR EXAMPLE, Kellogg Park itself came into its present state of beauty because of the festival.

It was started by the Garden Club. Through the efforts of Mrs. Myrilla Shrader and Mrs. Arnold Johanson, the gas lights were placed in the park. Next came the controversial moving of a monument and the sodding of the entire area.

Following this the Rotary Club sponsored the fountain in the center and the Kiwanis members not only sponsored the brick walks, but personally laid them. The brick is unusual in that it became a community project and with each contribution of $100 the contributor (individual or family) had a special brick laid.

Each special brick paid the cost of 1,000 regular bricks, and the walk added luster to the entire triangle.

The Business and Professional Women have used the proceeds of their German dinner to provide two scholarships each year, plus sending a girl to Girls State. The BPW also contributes to Youth, Inc.

FOLLOWING tradition, the Lions Club works with the blind and the Jaycees have a hand in several activities, including the sponsoring of the annual July Fourth parade and lending a hand wherever needed.

Only recently the Kiwanis Club took on another assignment to help beautify the city. It has beautified the triangular park in front of the old high school on Main Street.

A complete new sprinkling system was installed and the entire landscaping was revamped. It is now another beauty spot downtown that can be traced to the benefits from the Fall Festival.

So, when you're eating your chicken, ribs, pancakes or knackwurst, you are contributing to the welfare of the entire city and its residents.

A Traditionally Fine Place to Dine—Since 1934

John Smith
OF PLYMOUTH

CLEAN UP is always a big job after each of the organizations hold a dinner. There's lots of trash to be moved, but come Monday, all areas of the Fall Festival will be clean.

Mr. Clean has an army

When the dusk settles on the Kellogg Park area, and the last of the Rotary barbecue chicken dinners has been served, one of the strangest sights of the year takes place.

It is clean-up force, composed of Rotarians and their friends, starting to put the site back in shape again. And would you believe it—if you drove past the place at noon on Monday you never would know that anything like the barbecue happened only hours before.

The Rotarians have a combination committee, designated as Park Service and Clean up. The group consists of 25 men who go to work in the evening and stay on the job until dark.

The second group comes on duty Monday morning for the final clean-up and stays until every last bit of refuse is removed.

This is an amazing job for the simple reason that most of the clean-up army are business men and local civic and industrial leaders. Many of them wouldn't think of lifting a broom at home. But at barbecue time they gladly perform the clean-up "miracle."

Here is the REAL in real estate. . .

They come and go, these man-made structures which provide shelter for people.

Down through the ages, houses are lived in, added to, re-sided and re-roofed, damaged by fire, swept away by floods, and then rebuilt for new generations.

Tall buildings house offices and stores, shops and storage space . . . they've been changed, remodeled, painted, resurfaced, and torn down for parking lots or apartment complexes.

Barns have sheltered goats and cows and horses; combines, tractors and plows. They've faded in the sun and sagged under the weight of winter snows . . . and made way for subdivisions, golf courses, and new schools.

On the surface, these changes take place as a matter of course . . . giving way to change, progress, to neglect and to the elements. And then the cycle repeats itself over and over.

But one thing does not change.

The Land.

That piece of God's earth that is the very literal base of any structure does not change. It can be dug in and seeded and planted and paved over, but it is still there. It can't be eliminated, but more important, it cannot be replaced. It cannot be manufactured or reproduced. It is there and it is going to stay. This is the Real in real estate . . . this is the priceless, irreplaceable heart and soul of life itself. And each year it becomes more and more and more valuable by the mere fact that it cannot be replaced.

The Real part of real estate is today's best investment.

For all your real estate needs, whether you need a small cottage or a secluded lake, a four or five bedroom home within walking distance to schools, a condominium or a custom built home . . . acreage, groves, or investment property, we have the product, the financing and the expertise to meet your every need.

Harvest time theme for antique mart

The Plymouth Symphony League's 13th annual antique mart will be Sept. 5, 6 and 7 during Plymouth Fall Festival.

Booth space has been allotted to 22 distinguished dealers from Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Indiana according to Linda Leavitt, chairman of the show. Included will be dealers specializing in old jewelry, primitive and period furniture, clocks and dolls.

A "harvest time" theme has been chosen for this year's show and cornucopias and pumpkins will adorn the entrance at the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer Street, site of the mart. Plenty of free parking space and refreshments are available at the center.

Admission is $1 and the hours are from noon to 9 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and noon until 7 p.m. on Sunday. Proceeds from the mart go to support the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra.

Symphony League members in costumes reminiscent of the Shaker period will circulate among the booths and act as hostesses.

Jan Quick is in charge of decorations and Betty Laird and Betty Zimmerman are dealer chairmen. Helen Merrill and her committee will set up the booths and Dorothy Kean is handling the publicity. Ann Krankel and Joyce Kelly are hostesses.

Buying Or Selling A Home Is A People Business

The average real estate transaction involves over 30 people. Home sellers and buyers meet only a handful of those who work to assist them in their sale. TO YOU, the MOST IMPORTANT PERSON is the one who coordinates the activities of the others. That's the REALTOR-ASSOCIATE's job! He determines how smoothly and effectively the sale progresses from the initial marketing to the successful closing.

Chamberlain has earned a vital reason. The quality of the service performed is reflected in the fact that 27 of our REALTOR-ASSOCIATES have been named "Top Realtors" by the National Association of REALTORS. This is the highest honor in the industry and the assurance that, at Chamberlain, our REALTOR-ASSOCIATES are professionals in every sense of the word. We are proud to present the staff of our Plymouth/Northville Office. They are all professionals and they are ready to put the "Chamberlain Way" to work on your real estate needs.

The sides of chickens are quite important

If you are seated at the family dinner table and pick up the drumstick of the chicken being served on Sunday, chances are you wouldn't know if it came from the right or the left side of the chicken.

You'd just eat it and enjoy it. But if you were working one of the large grills at the Rotary Club's chicken barbecue that furnishes the climax to the Fall Festival, you would know the difference—and be very careful about it.

You see, over the years, the men who handle the barbecue and are responsible for preparing the chickens, found that getting the two sides mixed can be troublesome.

They learned that the sides must be folded properly into each other on the grill. If by chance you get a left side mixed with the right it will create a hump. When the grill is turned, the chicken halves will fall out into the fire.

To protect against such losses, the chickens are ordered in a special manner. All right sides are to be placed on one side of the truck and left sides on the other. A special premium must be paid for this service. But it saves many embarrassing moments.

THIS IS NOT the only unusual feature of the chicken preparation.

By experience, the Rotarians have learned that if the sides or pits are kept at a length of 75 feet, it will take 28 turns over the coals from the truck to the serving line to properly prepare them. This has been determined on the basis of having the charcoal fire at a height of 18 inches.

As usual there will be two fires (pits) and they'll be kept going from morning until about 6:30 p.m. to care for the demand that again is expected to reach last year's record of 16,000 dinners.

Yes sir, the chicken barbecue is not a haphazard system. In fact those who man the pits engage in a dry run the week before the festival in the hope that there'll be no embarrassments on the big day.
