

Symphony gets grant for Shaker musical

By DARLENE STINSON

The thoughts of Plymouth Symphony Society members are filled with shaking and trembling these days, as work on the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra's bicentennial concert turns to the story line and musical score.

The Michigan Council for the Arts has approved the society's $2,800 matching grant request and given the go-ahead signal for work to begin on the specially commissioned folk ballet.

Centered on the Shakers, an early American religious group which practiced a "shaking" movement in its religious ceremonies, the ballet will fill the free hours and thoughts of two specially commissioned local artists for weeks to come.

Robert W. Jones, a music instructor at Schoolcraft College, will soon prepare a musical score pad for the upcoming event, while Ralph Kelley, a Plymouth resident and English instructor at Schoolcraft, will write the story line.

ALTHOUGH THE folk ballet is scheduled for a March 7 performance, preparation for the concert will begin long before the winter winds are blowing.

Kelley must first write the story line. Then Jones must write the music. Symphony Society members must locate a dance group to perform the Shaker folk dance steps. The dancers must mold the choreography to the music.

"With any piece of creativity, you never know how long it'll take until you're half way through," said Jones of the task before him. "I know how long it better not take—it better be finished by January."

The Shaker theme of the bicentennial concert was the brainchild of Plymouth Symphony Society members.

"We were tossing around ideas for a project that would be bicentennial and depict a certain aspect of our history with music," explained Dr. Ralph Atchley, secretary of the Symphony Society. "They wrote many hymns, and all their dances were original. Music was a very important part of their religious ceremonies."

JONES WILL base music for the concert on Kelley's story line and a collection of original Shaker tunes.

Although most of the Shakers' music was vocal with little instrumentation, the composer will use an almost full symphony orchestra to carry out his work.

"It isn't going to be ultra-modern," said Jones of his upcoming bicentennial creation. "They'll be a bit of dissonance and grumbling and noise, but only if the drama warrants it."

Kelley has already begun writing the story for the folk ballet, expected to last about a half hour, based on the true story of a young couple who fell in love and wished to marry in a Kentucky Shaker community.

A common and run-of-the-mill theme in any other setting, the marriage plans touch off bits of sadness and humor in the Shaker community, where marriage is forbidden and complete celibacy the rule.

The Shakers, who believed their founder, Mother Ann, was the embodiment of Christ in his second coming, believed in the equality and complete segregation of the sexes as well as a communal society.

Kelley, who had studied the Shaker society and religion long before the Symphony Society broached its idea for a bicentennial concert, feels the Shakers provide a fitting theme for a 1976 celebration concert.

"I've had quite an interest in these people for some time," said Kelley. "I believe some of the greatest contributions to the United States have come from the various Protestant sects. Their folk stories should really be captured. So much of our heritage is being lost."

Kelley has published numerous stories and plays, based on the true folk stories of America's religious sects.

ALTHOUGH JONES has never written music around a Shaker theme, he has composed numerous commissioned works for various organizations. His works include "A Mass in Motion," composed for Schoolcraft College, and a special overture for the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra, created to celebrate the orchestra's first concert in Plymouth Salem High School.

Musical compositions, according to Jones, "just grow in your head after awhile."

"If I'm writing a piece for keyboard, I use the piano to make sure the music makes sense," said Jones, who plays piano, organ and harpsichord. "For a symphony, it's more of a detriment to play at the piano. It's better to go off in a corner and just jot things down, as if you were taking notes for something."

Jones hopes to begin work on the Shaker composition, after another work, commissioned by the Episcopal Diocese of Detroit, is complete.

BEAUTIFICATION OF Ann Arbor Road shows progress. Dave Whitmore of the Pilgrim Party Store has extended his own

Merchants begin to beautify Ann Arbor Road corridor

After 2½ years of trudging up and down Ann Arbor Road from Sheldon to Lilley spreading the gospel of beautification, Mary Childs and Alan Gove say things are looking up. Gove is City of Plymouth engineer and Mrs. Childs is chairman of the beautification committee.

COMPLETION of paving the five-lane stretch has given the business corridor a new look and relieved long-time traffic annoyances associated with Ann Arbor Road.

Sidewalks on the north side were provided by the city. But Plymouth Township could not tax its residents for construction of the sidewalk on the south side.

IT WAS THROUGH efforts and expense of merchants along the route that sidewalks were laid on the south side from Sheldon Road to Main Street.

Next step is improving the right-of-way area between the curbing and the sidewalks. Driveways and sod restoration were the responsibility of the highway department. Plans call for a salt strip of red brick between the curbing and grass. Planting of honey locusts is planned to give the corridor added uniformity and identity.

The father and son team of Robert L. and Robert D. Nulty, owners of Colonial Car Wash, will be the first of the 80 merchants in the strip to have the brick and sod installed. They hope to have the project completed this week. They also are landscaping the area around their building.

On the township side of the road, Dave Whitmore has started his own beautification project around Pilgrim Party Store with plantings and shrubbery.

BEAUTIFICATION boosters include Ike Porter, Janet Curlee, Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce; Norman Dietrich, Plymouth Township planner; Doris Richard, Plymouth branch, National Farm and Garden Association; Laura Cummings, Mayflower Garden Club; Judy Sharrar, Lake Pointe Branch, National Farm and Garden; Betty Porter, Bicentennial Committee; and Sharon Andrews, Plymouth City Planning Commission.

The garden clubs are planning special bicentennial plantings for next summer incorporating red, white and blue flowers.

Mrs. Childs said the commission has received offers from Girls Scouts, Boy Scouts and the Salvation Army to lend a hand in the project.

The process has been a slow one, but Ann Arbor Road is evolving from a bumpy, muddy traffic hazard to something that will be a source of pride to both the township and the city.

Board decides Agardy to stay at Canton High

A decision that has been hanging fire before the Plymouth Board of Education for almost a year was reached at Monday night's meeting when the board defeated a motion to allow David Agardy to attend Plymouth Salem High School.

The vote was unanimous with one member absent.

The matter was brought to a conclusion by a motion by Trustee E.J. McClendon: "That in recognition that his parents made a decision on a home selection in the apparent erroneous view that all their children were assured attendance in Plymouth Salem High School that the attendance policy be suspended in the case of David Agardy only and that the request of his parents for his attendance at Plymouth Salem High School be approved."

The motion was seconded by Board Secretary George Lawton.

Although some discussion followed, and Attorney Maurie Breen was allowed to say a few words on behalf of his clients, the Agardys, the motion failed by a 6-0 vote with only one member, Joseph Gray, absent from the Labor Day meeting.

McCLENDON said that "because the request was made over a year ago" the board "should act on it."

Board President Marda Benson allowed Breen to speak after he pointed out that Trustees Gary Minto, Tom Yack, and George Lawton had been absent from last week's meeting when he made his presentation.

Minto said, "Most parents like to have their children in the same school."

"But you cannot guarantee unalterable school boundaries," said Yack.

"The whole matter of school attendance could become absolutely unmanageable" according to McClendon.

Minto asked if there were educational reasons for the request to allow Paul Agardy to attend Plymouth Salem instead of Plymouth Canton.

"Parents have petitioned to allow students to attend other districts when a child could be materially damaged by the discipline or instruction of an other school," said Minto. But because of an "athletic potential" it seemed "discriminatory to say Salem is superior to Canton."

AFTER THE motion failed by an unanimous "no" vote, Breen asked for a transcript of the discussion preceding the vote. Mrs. Benson said he could have one.

Vice president Marcia Borowski read a statement of board reasoning on the issue. After several deletions, it was accepted by the members of the board.

The adopted statement follows: Although we may not have yet developed the ultimate in the ways in which we assign our children to schools, our current policy at the Centennial Education Park is based on the middle school feeder system.

"Due to the fact that ours is a growing district—boundary lines for the middle schools are changed frequently—it is almost impossible to know with certainty which schools a child will be attending throughout his or her educational career in Plymouth."

"We do not see this situation as inherently bad. We strive to maintain equal quality and opportunities at each of our schools."

"The situation of school assignment at the park, in particular, has its rationale, and its effect, that of maximizing opportunities for each child. Educational programs offered at either building are open to each and every child at the Park according to his or her needs and interests."

"Some programs are duplicated at each building so as to allow for more participation by an increased number of students."

"For the philosophy of public high school education is to allow each child a variety of pursuits and activities to explore and experience, and not to restrict such activities to the few, be they talented, motivated or the rich whose parents may have provided them with additional training, equipment, etc."

"Thus we have individual high

Lunch program for elderly starts 2nd year in schools

The resumption of classes in Plymouth Community School District is going to affect the stomachs of senior citizens this year.

Beginning Sept. 15, senior citizens who live within the district may put away their lunch-time cooking utensils and savor the inexpensive, well-balanced meals they enjoyed last spring at Central Middle School, located at Church and Main in downtown Plymouth.

Started as a one-month pilot program at the middle school last May, the SPICE project (School Programs Including Community Elderly) will continue at Central Middle School this year. The program may move to additional locations within the district at a later date.

According to plans of school district officials, the program will begin at Central Middle School on Sept. 15 and run Monday through Friday from noon to 1 p.m. The program is open to all senior citizens in the district.

Cost of the hot Type-A lunch, which includes nutritious food from all four food groups, will not rise from last year's 80-cent level. The same luncheon is served to students and faculty members.

Gus Gorguze, principal of Central Middle School who spearheaded the SPICE program within the Plymouth Community School District, says the program proved successful on last year's trial run.

Students were encouraged to mingle with faculty members last year to improve communication between the two age groups.

"We were very pleased with the program," said Gorguze. "It's a community kind of thing—an opportunity for the young people to appreciate the old and for the older people to see the school in operation. It's an effort to bridge the communications gap, if there is one.

"This kind of thing has to come naturally though," Gorguze said. "We didn't get a rush of young people toward the senior citizens, but we did get a few aggressive ones. We would eventually like a few of the young people sitting with the senior citizens and a few of the senior citizens sitting with the students."

An average of 10 senior citizens last year attended the lunch program each day, Gorguze said.

The program was implemented at Central Middle School last year, after Gorguze learned of similar programs in other school districts and organized a committee of school administrators, senior citizens, parents, teachers and cafeteria managers to determine the need of such a program in Plymouth.

Cadillac dealer slates move

Don Massey Cadillac, Inc., may soon move from its Plymouth location to a Canton Township site.

The Canton Board of Trustees recently approved site plans for the dealership's proposed building at the southwest corner of Lilley and Ford.

Jack Clayton, manager of Don Massey Cadillac, said the new $1 million facility will replace the dealership's current facility at 684 Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth, which, he says, is antiquated and too small. Construction work on the new building will begin shortly.

Canton Supervisor Robert Greenstein said dealership officials have agreed to abide by the township's recently enacted sign ordinance and pave the bottom of a storm ditch at the rear of their property.

Paving of the ditch, which abuts residential property, will eliminate erosion and maintenance problems, Greenstein said.

Correction

David Agardy did not work out with the Plymouth Salem High basketball team this summer as reported in the Aug. 28 edition of the Observer & Eccentric.

Agardy was one of many area youngsters who was involved in a summer basketball program with the instructor being Fred Thomann, head basketball coach at Plymouth Salem.

Thomann said his varsity players were on one team and junior varsity members on another team and that David didn't play with either of these teams. "His summer involvement was strictly recreational," says Thomann. "I in no way included him in my plans for this coming year, knowing that the enrollment boundaries had changed."

David had two older brothers — Tom, a seven-foot center for Allen Park who helped lead that team into the state quarter-finals; and Eric, a 6-8 center who was instrumental in leading the Plymouth Salem Rocks into the state semi-finals last year. Neither Tom nor Eric were all-stars, although both earned athletic scholarships.

The errors are regretted.

Queen can't visit here

Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth of England is coming to America next summer to help celebrate the bi-centennial, but her schedule will not permit a visit to Plymouth.

Asked to extend an invitation to her, J.T. Hyslop, the British Consulate General who visits Plymouth each July 4, stated that the Queen's visit was being limited to four days and that there would be no time available to attend the Plymouth celebration.

According to the British Consul, the Queen will visit one day each in Washington, D.C., Philadelphia, New York and Boston.

Her visit, according to the present schedule, will be made after July 4 1976.

Grand piano for Canton Little Theater

The Canton Little Theater in Plymouth Centennial Education Park will have a grand piano this fall following board of educational Monday night.

Betty Weideman of the Canton music department is responsible for finding the Baldwin grand for a price well below the $7,500 that had been budgeted as part of the 1974 bond issue project.

The two-year-old instrument has been completely reconditioned and carries the same guarantee as a new one. A cover and a platform roller are included in the purchase price of $5,959.

Gridiron followers of the two schools should pay particular note to the unique feature on Friday, Oct. 3, when a doubleheader will be played at the Centennial Educational Park Stadium.

The schedule shows that there will be at least one home varsity game on seven of the nine weekends involved. There are two weekends when both the Rocks and Chiefs will be on the road and the local stadium will be dark.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 12 - Livonia Bentley at Canton, 8 p.m.; Salem at Bloomfield Hills Andover, 8 p.m.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 19 - Redford Union at Salem, 8 p.m.; Canton at Dearborn Heights Annapolis, 3:30 p.m. of the Suburban Eight and won the Michigan High School Athletic Association's unofficial State Class A title in 1974. League games will be against Redford Union, Trenton, Dearborn Edsel Ford, Livonia Bentley, Dearborn, Allen Park and Belleville. The two non-league opponents again will be Bloomfield Hills Andover and Farmington Harrison, both of whom are defending titlists in their respective leagues.

Canton's Chiefs, who have Jim Munio as head coach, are in only their third season of competition. They tied for second in the Western Six a year ago, a loop that also includes Farmington Harrison, Walled Lake Western, Northville, Livonia Churchill and Waterford Mott.

Outside the league, the '75 Chiefs will take on Livonia Bentley, Dearborn Heights Annapolis, Garden City East and Dearborn.

WITH THE SPORTS season ready to begin, the cheerleading squads and marching band is also all prepped and pepped. A lot of athletic activities have been planned for the fall season, so clip and save this fall schedule and join the excitement. (Staff photos)

Board adopts goals for Plymouth schools

The management-by-objectives system being initiated in the Plymouth Community School District took another step forward Monday night when the board of education approved goals for the district.

The board adopted the 24 goals and ranked them by importance.

The first goal has already been obtained, that being to pilot the Plymouth Evaluation and Planning System for Improving Instruction (PEPSII).

THE SECOND goal titled "self-worth" states each person needs to develop a positive self-image within his own heritage and within his larger context with the total society.

Other goals are:

•Equality of educational opportunity—Education must be structured to provide equality of educational opportunity for all to assure there is no institutionalized oppression of any group, such as racism, where it exists.

The district must assure all programs give full recognition and proper weight to the contributions of all groups and create a school climate to accommodate the diverse values in society.

•Citizenship and social responsibility—Develop mature and responsible citizens; encourage critical, constructive thinking and responsible involvement with consideration for the rights of all; create an atmosphere of social justice to enable students to acquire a positive attitude about human differences and similarities; and to provide various learning experiences involving students from different racial, religious, economic and ethnic groups.

•Creative, constructive and critical thinking—Foster skills of creative, constructive and critical thinking to enable the individual to deal with situations new to his experience in an independent, self-fulfilling manner.

•Social skills and understanding—Provide for each individual an understanding of the value systems, cultures, customs and histories of his own heritage and that of others. Each student must learn to value human differences, act responsibly upon current social issues, participate in society and government while seeking to improve them, and seek a society "where every person has equal access to the lawful goals he seeks regardless of his background or group membership."

•Basic skills—Assure acquisition of basic communication, computation and inquiry skills.

These skills fall into four broad categories: abilities to comprehend ideas through reading and listening; to communicate ideas through writing and speaking; to handle mathematical operations and concepts; and the ability to apply rational intellectual processes to identification, consideration and solution of problems.

•Physical and mental well-being—Promote acquisition of good health and safety habits.

•Preparation for family life—Provide atmosphere in which each individual will grow in his understanding of needs and responsibilities inherent in family life.

•Pre-school education—Recognize importance of pre-school experiences to the total development of children and work with parents and other agencies to provide meaningful programs.

Parental participation was the eleventh stated goal with the district wanting to find ways to involve parents in the educational development of their children. Other goals are:

•Community participation—Develop means to use community resources and making these resources available to community.

•Occupational skills—Develop individual's marketable skills so a student is assisted in reaching career goals by adequate preparation in school.

•Sciences, arts and humanities—Provide continually to each individual opportunity and encouragement to gain knowledge and experience in the areas of the natural sciences, social sciences, humanities, creative and the fine arts to enrich his personal values and approach to living.

•Allocation of financial resources—Ensure availability and quality of publicly financed education be maintained at acceptable levels.

"The inability of local communities to muster sufficient resources to meet their needs must not be allowed to deprive individuals of quality education," the goals state.

•Education of the exceptional person—Provide for the special educational needs of exceptional persons—those who are considered academically talented and those who are physically, mentally or emotionally handicapped.

•Environmental quality—Develop within each individual the knowledge and respect needed to maintain, protect and improve the physical environment.

•Economic understanding—Provide that every student will gain an understanding of his role as a producer and consumer of goods and services and of the principles involved in the production of goods and services.

•Continuing Education—Promote an eagerness for learning to encourage each individual to take advantage of educational opportunities available beyond formal schooling.

•Rights and responsibilities of students—Recognize and protect the individual and legal rights of students as people and as citizens.

With these rights, students must accept responsibilities and disciplines essential to society. Also recognized is the corresponding rights of parents, teachers and other participants in the educational process.

•Career preparation—Provide each individual the chance to select and prepare for a career of his choice consistent to the optimum degree with his capabilities, aptitudes, desires, and needs of society.

•Morality—Assure the development of youth as citizens who have self-respect, respect for others, and respect for the law.

•Preparation for a changing society—Prepare the student to become responsive to the needs created and opportunities afforded by an ever-changing social, economic and political environment.

•Education of the non-English speaking person—Recognize the need for special measures in schools serving students whose native tongue is one other than English. These students should be encouraged to develop their skills in their native language while acquiring proficiency in English.

Bloc grants are OK'd for area

Federal Community Development Act (CDA) grants have been approved for the City of Plymouth, Canton and Plymouth townships.

Each municipality will receive $32,950, a figure arrived at by Wayne County based on population.

The city plans to use its federal funds to undertake a code enforcement program.

Plymouth Township plans to develop two playgrounds, complete recreation and development plan for a township golf course and recreation site.

Canton Township plans to use its funds to develop a park and to rehabilitate a building for senior citizen and recreation use.

THE FUNDS, destined for public works projects to spur employment were received through the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners applied for a grant of $637,000 on behalf and at the request of 17 municipalities in Wayne County, including Plymouth, Canton and Plymouth townships.

Besides the $637,000, another $78,500 will be retained in a central fund for housing needs. Any of the 17 localities and the county may apply to this fund to finance rehabilitation of vacant housing units or for planning of senior citizen housing, explains Roscoe L.

Bobo, chairman of the county board of commissioners.

THE CENTRAL FUND will be controlled by the Wayne County Community Development Advisory Council which consists of five elected county officials and 10 elected local officials.

Canton Supervisor Robert Greenstein is chairman of the advisory council.

In announcing the grant, Bobo described the successful bid for funds as "a strong first-year start" which "will set the stage for more appropriate HUD funding in future years."

"I consider this grant significant because it is another demonstration of how Wayne County functions as a coordinator for the communities within county boundaries."

Communities with populations of more than 50,000 were eligible to apply directly to HUD for grants. Smaller municipalities, such as these 17, had the option to apply through county government.

Each of the 17 community's plans for use of funds were screened by the advisory council. Other members of the advisory council included Plymouth Township Supervisor J.D. McLaren, Plymouth Mayor Beverly McAninch, and County Commissioner Royce E. Smith (D-Belleville) who represents Plymouth and Canton.

Other communities among the 17 applying through Wayne County include Allen Park, Brownstown Township, Ecorse, Flat Rock, Grosse Ile, Grosse Pointe, Sumpter Township, Gibraltar, Grosse Pointe Park, Northville City and Township, Melvindale, Southgate and Van Buren Township.

The CDA of 1974 was an umbrella bill which placed a number of former community development and revenue-sharing type grants into one grant program and under the direction of one federal department.

This is the first year CDA funding has been appropriated.

Umney trial begins today

The first degree murder trial of Robert Umney for the Jan. 28 shooting death of Terry Buchman in Canton Township will get under way today (Thursday) before Wayne Circuit Court Judge Horace Gilmore in Detroit.

Opening statements will be made by Prosecutor Richard Whitney and Robert B. Delaney of Plymouth, attorney for the defendant.

Jury selection was completed on Tuesday, but Judge Gilmore served on a judicial tenure commission on Wednesday, postponing proceedings until today.

Two other members of the trio charged in the slaying were Barry Provow and his wife, Leslie. Provow was granted a separate non-jury trial before Judge Thomas J. Rounell. Rounell will place his decision on Provow in a sealed envelope on Friday, Sept. 5. It will be filed with the county clerk and released after a decision is reached in Umney's trial.

Mrs. Provow pleaded guilty to manslaughter. Judge Rounell accepted her plea and she awaits sentencing Sept. 17.

Lockers approved for East

New lockers will be installed within the next six weeks at Middle School East to replace worn out models that have been in use since the school was built.

The Plymouth Board of Education accepted a bid of $8,193 from Steel Equipment Co., the lowest of nine bids received. The lockers will be funded by the 1974 bond issue.

Carl Taylor, principal at East, said 400 will be placed in the boys' locker room. The other 30 will go in the halls.

"I was delighted to hear the board had approved the new lockers," said Taylor. "Now we will have room to store expensive equipment that was left out while other organizations used the building."

"A trampoline costs $2,000 now and mats are $200. You hate to leave equipment like that lying around unprotected."

You can do it.

school identities at the Centennial Education Park to allow more participation in inter-scholastic sports as well as some other activities such as debate, school government, etc.

"For any student to attend Canton, as his feeder school dictates, will afford him every educational opportunity that Plymouth has to offer. Hopefully, it will also allow him to determine for himself just exactly what goals he will pursue—rather than having predetermined roles thrust upon him.

"This board constantly keeps in mind that every child in the Plymouth Community School District must be allowed the opportunity to develop his or her maximum potential in a number of ways. This includes academic as well as physical, social and cultural areas.

"Every attempt is made to meet each child's needs and concerns in so far as is practical, as will be supported financially by the public, and which doesn't discriminate against other children.

"Our attendance boundaries will doubtless change again. But, at the CEP, this board feels that these changes impose no hardship or lack of educational opportunity for the families and their children involved."

SEMTA reduces bus fares for handicapped

The cost of traveling on SEMTA/ DOT buses has been reduced for handicapped persons.

SEMTA, the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority, Aug. 4 initiated a discount fare program for non-peak hour service on all regular bus routes operated by SEMTA and the Detroit Department of Transportation (DOT).

Non-peak hours are 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Monday through Friday; all day Saturday, Sunday and holidays.

DURING NON-PEAK operating hours, the fare for the handicapped will be 20 cents including service on express lines and five cents for all transfers.

In addition to implementing the handicapped fare discounts, free fares for the blind and senior citizens will be retained. Senior citizens must observe the non-peak hour limitations of the handicapped, while the blind may ride free at any time.

An identification card is required only for the reduced fare on SEMTA/ DOT buses. Application forms and instructions for obtaining the special fare identification passes are available by writing SEMTA, P.O. Box 333, Detroit, 48231. Forms can also be obtained by calling SEMTA in Detroit.

THE ELDERLY and handicapped will be further aided with any transportation problems by a state grant which will purchase 51 specially equipped small buses and auxiliary equipment for private non-profit agencies.

The agencies, such as Kiwanis clubs, county associations for the elderly and retarded and community action groups, will serve the mobility-limited persons on a door-to-door basis, and cover operating expenses with their own funds, said John P. Woodford, director of state highways and transportation.

In areas already served by local bus or other transportation services, the private agencies will supplement that service in outlying areas not well covered.

The state grants require that agencies offer general transportation service to the elderly and handicapped without the limitation of one or two destinations. The new program not only assures continued transportation help to those who need it most, but also expands service to the handicapped and elderly in Michigan, said Woodford.

SEMTA now does not provide service to wheelchair residents.

County orders freeze on hiring

In an effort to lessen a threatened $7 million-$10 million budget deficit, the Wayne County Board of Commissioners has ordered new spending restrictions and imposed an immediate moratorium on hiring except at the County General Hospital.

The budget threat exists because the current economic slump has reduced revenues to the county, and because funds previously expected from the state and the City of Detroit now seem unlikely this year, according to the County Board of Auditors and the commissioners' fiscal advisor, Edward E. Bobowski.

The three-member board of auditors has predicted funds previously expected from the City of Detroit and the State would reduce the projected deficit to only $1.2 million, but both Bobowski and auditor vice-chairman Leonard D. Proctor have expressed faint hopes for the money.

In the job moratorium declared Aug. 21, the commissioners ordered a halt on filling any jobs that become vacant except those "deemed absolutely essential and critical to operation of Wayne County government."

Although a requirement for special permission from a "vacant positions committee" has been in effect for the past two years, this action tightened the criteria even further with its "absolutely essential and critical" requirement.

The hospital was exempted because of concern that vacant jobs could affect the quality of health care, and to assure staff requirements necessary to preserve the hospital's accreditation.

The commissioners also transferred $3.5 million from the capital improvement fund to meet operating expenses, with a stipulation that the money is considered a "loan" that will be returned to the fund when the fiscal situation improves.

Flying club limitation extended

The Pilgrim Flying club and the Northwest Homeowners Association of Canton Township have not reached a compromise agreement.

A representative of the homeowners appeared at the Labor Day meeting of the Plymouth Board of Education. He said the flying of model airplanes by the club "took away residents' rights to enjoy backyards and homes."

The flying club was not represented at the meeting and a solution to acquiring a practice site for the club that would meet with the approval of both groups hasn't been found.

Board Vice President Marcia Borowski moved that until a compromise is effected, the ban on flying power-driven craft be extended.

The motion received unanimous approval from the board.

Union pacts cost jobs of members

Where is the labor movement today? The number of people involved in organized labor is increasing, because of newcomers such as state and municipal workers and school teachers. But the number of craft and industrial unionists is decreasing.

Unions serve their purpose at first, but then can become counterproductive.

Union leaders are human beings and hold their posts only if they continue to get more for their members. They create a feeling that management is bad and is out to take advantage of the worker, instead of working to make both the employee and the employer prosper.

OFTEN UNIONS fail to take into account the fact that employers can pay more only if there is more productivity from employees. If productivity isn't increased, eventually the increased labor cost erases the margin of profit and the business is forced to close. But even after the business closes, the union leader holds his job, while his members roam the streets.

A case in point is the desire of the auto workers to negotiate a four-day week for five-days' pay. Their purpose is to get more people working. But it means that auto companies will have to increase prices by 10 to 20 percent or automate more jobs, meaning that fewer people will end up working for higher pay.

MANY UNION leaders don't care if the gains at the bargaining table mean that, in the end, fewer people will be working. The non-worker seldom votes at union elections.

There are still more than 60,000 printers out of work in New York because of the closing of so many newspapers and print shops that couldn't meet labor's demands.

Somehow, labor leaders are like politicians. After they have held office for a while, they no longer listen to the rank and file. They begin to feel that they know all the answers. They get involved in great political causes that, in the long run, could cost members' jobs.

LEONARD WOODCOCK is a great liberal. He's also a great environmentalist. His push for cleaner air has raised the price of cars and decreased demand. Now he's blaming the government.

He is also a great civil rights man, but the affirmative-action programs to give jobs to minorities conflicts with the seniority system of unions when employees must be laid off.

There are other labor leaders who use union positions for personal financial gain.

It's ironic that the Teamsters, whose last two presidents have ended up in jail, and whose most recent president has just built a $250,000 home, have organized the Michigan State Police.

ARTICLES IN THE Wall Street Journal indicate a large number of Teamsters are cheated out of pensions because of internal finagling. Yet the members of the Mafia have no trouble borrowing from Teamster pension funds and don't always get around to paying off the loans.

There are laws on the books that prevent companies from being involved in politics. But there are more laws that encourage unions to be involved. The newest so-called "reform" election law in Michigan is an example. It permits unions to contribute 10 times the amount an ordinary citizen can.

AS LONG AS union leaders are permitted political power, the rank and file unionist is powerless to clean up his union. His leadership is so entrenched that an officer can be serving time in the federal prison for stealing from the union and still hold a very high paying job with the union.

If Labor Day is to have any meaning, isn't it time for the rank and file to flex their muscles and start to tell their leaders the facts of life?

MORE MONEY does not necessarily mean more jobs.

Work rules that are so out of date that employers must resort to automation do not solve unemployment problems.

Only a healthy employer can improve working conditions and pay top dollar.

To solve the problems of America, labor and management must work together. If each seeks only its own selfish ends, both will suffer.

Gardeners -share bounty with needy

By SHERRY KAHAN

CAN ANYONE THINK OF A BETTER IDEA?

"Anyone need any tomatoes or green peppers?" This is an often-asked question now, when suburban gardeners find Mother Nature has given more than they bargained for.

The answer is yes, yes, yes. The elderly, the unemployed and the hungry could use produce you have left over. No question about it, people all around us would welcome the chance to add fresh fruit and vegetables to their diets.

But there is a question of logistics. How can Mr. Smith with his basketful of tomatoes or apples get in touch with Mrs. Jones who is living on a tiny pension, or with the Johnson family which goes to bed hungry every night?

Collection points are needed for local gardeners to take their surplus. These places could also serve as distribution points, with people from the area dropping in to pick up what they need.

They could also be centers where volunteers could pick up produce and carry it to a senior citizen center, an unemployment office or a hunger center.

This is an endeavor that churches, veterans' organizations or any other group with a building at its disposal might undertake. Members might even volunteer to do the driving.

Gardeners who cultivate plots like those administered by Newman House at Schoolcraft College could come together for a combined harvest and distribution day. Garden clubs could do the same.

Of course, there are problems that must be thrashed out. Fruit and certain vegetables like tomatoes would have to be packed in wood or cardboard containers to prevent crushing.

Mrs. Eleanor Josaitis, chairwoman of the Detroit mayor's and common council's task force on hunger and nutrition, also suggested that the more delicate kinds of produce be shipped before it has completely ripened, to prevent spoilage.

Stressing that there are thousands in Detroit who desperately need fresh fruit and vegetables, Mrs. Josaitis offered the names of five Detroit organizations which would be willing to distribute surplus food.

Groups and individuals interested in contributing their surplus to the hungry may contact the Metropolitan Council of Churches, or St. Bonaventure Church, 1740 Mt. Eliot.

St. Peter Claver Community House, 450 Eliot, is also interested in receiving food for the hungry, as is the Salvation Army, 3611 Cass, and Focus Hope, 1300 Oakman.

Mrs. Josaitis may be reached for further information at the Focus Hope office.

Act quickly before the growing season is over. It would be a tragedy if even one head of lettuce or a single apple is thrown away when there are so many so close who need food.

Was politics the issue?

Little guy isn't always right, as farm flap proves

There's a tradition in the newsgathering business of taking the side of the little guy in his battles against the behemoths of giant corporations or big government.

There's another tradition that's even more important: telling the truth. And when the case breaks down to a little farmer versus city hall in one of the half-dozen largest municipalities in Michigan, it just may be that truth is on city hall's side.

Anyway, here's the truth, as close as my colleagues and I can come to it:

BOB CAGLE runs a farm on Seven Mile Road between Farmington and Newburgh and sells pretty good quality stuff. The city is in the process of acquiring and developing the property for a much-needed major park.

WJBK television, known colloquially as TV 2, needed a tear-jerking feature story for its canned news format one Sunday night and sent young Ron Sanders out to see Cagle and family.

Now, TV news comes and goes so quickly that you can't always be quite certain of the exact words you heard, but the impression most of us who saw it got was that Livonia—its city government and its consuming residents—were doing a dirty deed to farmer Bob by bumping him off his land.

It made good entertainment, and the pictures of the vegetables were as lovely as the real thing (I happened to be there when they were filming it). But many important facts were left out of Ron Sanders' account for TV 2.

HERE'S WHAT was missing:

•The City of Livonia wasn't arbitrarily forcing a poor dirt farmer out of business. Cagle, it should be mentioned, is a renter. The owner was quite happy to sell. Mayor Ed McNamara reports—and there's no reason to doubt him—that a residential developer was offering $8,000 an acre with an option based on rezoning the land to a higher density residential development. The city's purchase actually saved the land for greenery and recreation. Besides, you can't play softball in a cornfield.

•Most of us in western Wayne County are living and working on former farm fields; a few are lucky enough to live on former farm woodlots. Why should any responsible broadcaster do a sob story on one particular farmer?

•While farmer Bob got to throw some choice verbal brickbats at the city, TV 2 never bothered to get the city's side of the story. Perhaps the excuse was that it was Sunday, and city hall was closed. Anyhow, McNamara was sore as hell about it, and no one can blame him.

•Farmer Bob wasn't exactly starving to death. His acorn squash was priced 24 per cent higher and his sweet corn 28 per cent higher than a produce market 1½ miles away. All that publicity was good for his business.

•At this point, the plot thickens and the color becomes a little dirty. A few days after the TV 2 half-story, there appeared right next to farmer Bob's stand a billboard advocating the election of a former mayor in place of McNamara. Which was the chicken and which the egg? Was candidate X at the bottom of it, or did farmer Bob turn to candidate X because he thought X would save his farm?

The thing has gotten so political that there's no point trying to get to the bottom of it. It is sufficient to say that Ed McNamara got a dirty deal from that Sunday night sob story. City Hall wasn't in the wrong.

Rain saved holiday weekend

(Editor's note—Observer & Eccentric photographer Bob Woodring and his wife Jan were saved from a wet weekend in the wilds. Here's his tale...)

We didn't know it at the time, but my wife and I had a successful Labor Day weekend.

Despite the rain and the fact we didn't go camping as planned, it was pretty good. We just didn't know until it was over.

We aren't softies when it comes to roughing it in the woods. We camp under canvas, in tornadoes or alerts, and in cold April.

We use propane to cook and Jan occasionally does like to have shower facilities when we're "roughing it."

But roughing it took on a different meaning when the normally tranquil White River became swollen and angry last weekend.

The White can be a sportsman's paradise. It is a good canoeing river, winding its way through Newago, Oceana and Muskegon counties in western Michigan. The marshes, ponds and feeder creeks adjoining it make for excellent hunting and fishing.

One fine fishing pond is Minnie Lake. The state map refers to it as a lake but that's an exaggeration. The natives call it a pond.

Minnie is a sleepy miss in the Manistee National Forest between White Cloud and Hesperia. I hunt white-tails there each November.

Without rain, Labor Day would have found my wife and I camping at Minnie Pond. But it rained...and rained...

Unfortunately, the downpour put a strain on the White River and created uneasiness for villagers in Hesperia. If you heard the news, you'd know that several hundred residents fled their homes when the Hesperia dam threatened to burst. The heavy rains, a crack in the subwall and an angry river caused sleepless nights for the village.

The dam didn't go but the situation was aggravated when the small dam holding back upstream Minnie did burst.

Jan and I would have been keeping house along those banks and the two of us would have been very wet. We would be without camping gear. My wife would never camp again. Our new station wagon would have been destroyed.

But it also dawned on me, I wouldn't have been around to tell you this tale...

Who's playing the name game?

Editor:

Who's Milligan? In your Aug. 25 issue of your newspaper I read about the city council candidates. It strikes me rather odd that council candidates are all blast with first names—with the exception of Milligan. He (or she) is always referred to by last name only. Is this intentional on this candidate's part? Perhaps so that he (or she) may benefit from the fine record of another Milligan?

I refer to Edward G. Milligan, who was an excellent councilman in our city a few years ago.

If this is the candidate's intent, it reeks of dishonesty and it is the duty

Editor:

My car stalled at Plymouth and Wayne roads at 4:30 when the traffic was terrible. I am a senior and a widow.

I got out of my car and went over to the Mobil station. I asked the owner if I could use the phone to call AAA.

He said "wait and see if I can start it." Two men went out and got it started and brought it into the station. I asked him what the bill was. He said "nothing. I was glad to help you" I was really nervous.

When I got home, I thought what a wonderful person. A few days later I went there for gas and one of my tires was low. As soon as I drove in the young boy came out and checked all of the tires also the battery, oil and cleaned the windshield. I never got such wonderful service.

I phoned all my friends so now they all go there, too. So if you are in the neighborhood and need gas, go to the Mobil station at Wayne and Plymouth. You will be glad you did.

Civic goals: success, failure

PLYMOUTH PAST AND PRESENT
by
Sam Hudson

With all its admitted advantages, no one has ever claimed that a democratic form of government is the fastest at getting things done. Any system which accepts a pluralistic view of values could never function perfectly without a perfect citizenry, highly educated and unswayed by thoughtless emotion or resigned apathy.

Plymouth has been much like other democratic communities of the same size in solving its civic problems. In some instances, the time gap between recognition of the need and resolution of the problem has been relatively short; in others, longer than it should have been; in a few cases, no solutions have yet been found. In the long run, however, it appears that our civic track record has been surprisingly good.

ONE WAY to assess the achievements of a community is to look at the goals it sets for itself and relate them to what it accomplishes.

What, for example, did residents of Plymouth believe the needs of the community were during the 30-year period from 1932 (when Plymouth became a city) and 1962, and what was done to meet them? A study of the annual reports issued by the city administration during that period sheds light on the matter.

Disregarding comparatively minor items, such as "complete the signing of streets," and "the need for a street-sweeping machine," these were considered to be the major needs of the City of Plymouth during the three decades referred to. They are given roughly in the order in which they were first mentioned:

- A municipal dump, and the institution of municipal garbage collection.
- Cleaning up Tonquish Creek.
- Construction of a grade separation at the C&O railroad tracks on Main Street.
- A community building and auditorium.
- A local hospital.
- A new library building.
- An industrial park on Plymouth Road at Haggerty.
- Clearance of a blighted area on South Mill Street.
- A new city reservoir.
- A new city hall.
- Housing for the aged.

MANY OF THESE showed up in the city's reports year after year.

Tonquish Creek apparently needed attention for well over a decade. The use of cesspools and, in some cases, private sewers emptying directly into the creek, contributed to the problem.

The need for a community building and for a new building for the library were felt long before either was consummated. Need for a grade separation at the railroad tracks was expressed in the city's report as early as 1938.

In spite of these instances of what, to some readers, may appear to be official foot-dragging, the overall record of the City of Plymouth in meeting and solving civic problems has been good.

Much has been accomplished despite the obstacles of inflation and public resistance to tax increases, hurdles which any municipal administration must be prepared to face.

A MUNICIPAL dump was obtained in the 1936-37 fiscal year. The city began garbage collection on July 1, 1937. In 1955-56, a sanitary land fill system for the disposal of garbage and refuse was instituted.

Much of Tonquish Creek in the downtown area was piped and covered in 1938-39. One hears no complaints that the stream is a public nuisance today.

The Plymouth Cultural Center, with its meeting rooms and an ice-skating arena, was opened in 1971. A large, well-equipped auditorium was added to the community as part of Plymouth Salem High School in 1970.

Efforts to establish a Plymouth Hospital ceased when St. Mary Hospital, which opened on Five Mile Road in Li-von in December 1959, was felt to meet the local needs.

The library, housed in a former residence on Main Street through the generosity of Bessie Dunning and her daughter, Margaret, acquired its present colonial brick quarters on the same site in 1958, assisted by funds from the Hough-Kimble Foundation.

THE CITY'S industrial park, just east of Riverside Cemetery on Plymouth Road, was completed by installation of water, sewers and paving in 1963. It was developed to bolster the city's tax base and to put into use property that officials felt the cemetery wouldn't need.

Twenty-one substandard houses on 17 acres on S. Mill Street, between Ann Arbor Trail and Amelia Street, were torn down in 1963 under a federal urban renewal grant. The property was zoned for industrial use.

The need for a city reservoir evaporated in 1971 when voters by referendum decided that Plymouth should abandon its own water system and buy water from the Detroit Water Board.

The old village hall, which had stood since 1880 on Main Street opposite Church Street, was razed in 1964. It made way for the new city hall, now located roughly on the same site.

THE NEED FOR housing for the aged was met, in part at least, by establishment of Tonquish Creek Manor, the locally-managed federal housing unit, at the end of Sheridan Street. It was dedicated in May 1970.

2 days of events mark International Women's Year

By MARGARET MILLER

Women in their many life roles will be the subject of an International Women's Year Festival on the Schoolcraft College Campus Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 17 and 18.

The two-day schedule of events, from exhibits of home arts to a talk by Patricia Burnett, international feminist organizer and feature speaker, is described as "a celebration of ourselves."

"This event is designed to celebrate women, whatever their role in life," said Jean Christensen, head of women's programs and services and coordinator of the festival.

Working with her in scheduling its many events is Lois Wade of Garden City, a member of the SC Women's Advisory Committee and the college's representative at the International Women's Year Tribune in Mexico City earlier this year.

THE FESTIVAL co-sponsored by the Women's Programs division at Schoolcraft and Wayne State University's College of Lifelong Learning, will fill the upper and lower levels of the Waterman Campus Center both days.

Its scope will include a variety of workshops developed by members of the advisory committee on subjects of interest to women, entertainment by women, exhibits of women's projects and movies of special interest to women.

Just one event will push a male viewpoint, and in that panel discussion, Dr. Ned Papania, Detroit psychologist, and his panel of young men will be talking about women.

The topic for their discussion, scheduled at 3 p.m. Thursday on the center's upper level, is "Does Ms. Mean Misery?"

"We expect this event to be of particular interest to Schoolcraft's younger students," said Mrs. Christensen, "because the participants will be airing some of their reactions to the changing roles of women."

PATRICIA BURNETT, the featured speaker, will offer her slide presentation Wednesday at 8 p.m. on the upper level.

Ms. Burnett, a Detroit resident, is a national board member of the National Organization for Women (NOW), a member of the Michigan Women's Commission, and a well-known portrait painter.

She has traveled extensively in Europe and the Far East to help organize a World Feminist Conference projected for 1977, and she was one of Michigan's representatives to the International Women's Year gathering in Mexico City.

In her presentation, she is expected to outline what the growing international women's movement has meant to women in various parts of the world.

WORKSHOPS, planned and led by members of the SC Women's Advisory Committee, will deal with a wide variety of subjects.

"Women and the law," coordinated by County Commissioner Mary Dumas and scheduled from 10 a.m. to 12 noon Thursday, will involve Wayne County Probate Judge Gladys Barsamian, Olga Madar of the Coalition of Labor Union Women, Jan BenDor of the Wayne County prosecutor's office and Beverly Taylor, detective on the Wayne County sheriff patrol.

Exploring "The Role of Women in Politics" will be a panel including Delora Yori, a member of the Garden City school board, Laura Toy, political science student, and a representative of the League of Women Voters. Laura Callow is coordinator and the time is 2 p.m. Wednesday.

Donna Johnson will talk on how tax law changes affect women in a "Women and Taxes" workshop headed by Jean Budd at 10 a.m. Wednesday, and Denise Radtke and Charlotte Adams will head a panel considering "Non-Traditional Careers," for two hours beginning at 2 p.m. Wednesday.

Other workshop topics include "I was a 30-year-old Freshman," headed by Lois Wade, "Homemaking, a Valuable Career," with Peggy Meyer; "Women and Finance," with Dorothy Knecht; "Spirit and Mind," with Sister Margaret Basso.

Gale Buchanan, Schoolcraft's audiovisual librarian, will conduct a multimedia presentation featuring some of her own art and literary work.

ENTERTAINERS for the festival also will be strictly feminine.

Jazz singer Ursula Walker, a frequent visitor to the Schoolcraft campus, will give a two-hour performance beginning at 12 noon Wednesday on the upper level, and a jazz band led by Linda Small and known as "Small Change" will hold forth from

One priest looks to 'more positive, joyous' view of sex

By ROBERT KIPPER

A group of Catholic theologians, headed by the dean of theology at St. Cyril and Methodius Seminary in Orchard Lake, is preparing a study on the church's outlook on human sexuality—a task its chairman insists is long overdue.

However sensational the final report becomes, it won't very likely condone marriage for priests, approve the pill, bless homosexuals or encourage premarital sex. Such sweeping reforms in church teaching won't likely come from this study or any other source within the church for some time, if ever.

The report will, however, touch on all these subjects, contrasting traditional Catholic viewpoints on these frequently taboo subjects with a more modern understanding of them.

"We want to create a more positive, joyous, wholesome outlook toward human sexuality," said Rev. Anthony Kosnik, of St. Cyril, who has spent the past two years with four other committee members examining the church's attitude toward sex and sexuality through the ages.

"I'M CERTAINLY not a conservative, nor am I a flaming radical," he said. "I see value in both sides and believe they can be mediated."

Having said that, Kosnik admitted that he and his colleagues on the committee are in a "no win" situation. Whatever they say about human sexuality and needed reforms in church thinking, traditionalists will say they went too far and liberals will say they didn't go far enough.

"Only fools dare to enter into this area and write on it," Kosnik said with a smile. "We can't win."

According to Kosnik, there have apparently been few fools throughout the ages of the Catholic Church since the area of human sexuality has been one where theologians have feared to tread.

Asked if the church has neglected addressing the subject, Kosnik said quickly, "Oh, very much so."

THE CONCEPTION of right and wrong in most things sexual has been largely misunderstood, misrepresented or unspoken in church history, he said. Often the interpretation of this priest or that bishop is taken for Gospel on the subject. Sometimes people are not aware of changes in church teaching, and often it is priests who are unaware themselves or prefer to remain in the dark ages of church thinking and foster this.

"Priests should be better informed," Kosnik said. "There is a lot of ignorance about some of the positive changes that have taken place in the church."

Kosnik pointed to the recent finding of Vatican II, changing classic church thinking that the primary reason for sexual intercourse is procreation. Kosnik said the new approach is more "holistic," seeing procreation as only one of the benefits.

Of course, the church may still have a long way to go, Kosnik added. He pointed to the modern finding of the high instance of frigidity among married couples, and said that the teachings of Christianity, which have instilled so much sex-related guilt through the years, must share much of the blame.

"WE HAVE to see sexuality as a very positive thing," he said. "A lot of the past approaches have to be rethought and reformulated."

Kosnik's committee has examined human sexuality from Biblical and early cultural understanding of it all the way to the studies of Kinsey and Masters and Johnson.

The final report, which won't be ready for another six months to a year, will provide more than an updated checklist of dos and don'ts. It won't call for a new era of church-blessed sexual freedom.

Many essential values will remain, Kosnik said, but more attention will be given to the circumstance and context of sexual expression.

In the past, he explained, it was held that masturbation was wrong. Period. Now, however, we know the difference between an exploring adolescent or a married man whose wife is unable to have intercourse from (say) one who masturbates in place of creating meaningful relationships with others, he said.

One instance is wrong and the others perhaps not, Kosnik said.

"WE WANT to reduce the false guilt," he said. "There is a certain sense of guilt, however, that should be maintained."

Regardless of possible changes of attitudes to come, certain constants about wholesome sexual expression will remain, he said.

"Every expression of human sexuality should be honest, faithful, other-enriching, socially responsible and joyous. It should not be frustrating, exploitative, dishonest, unfaithful, promiscuous or socially irresponsible."

WHEN COMPLETED, the report will be given to the Catholic Theological Society of America, which will then decide when or if it will be published.

Kosnik conceded that the final report, rather than offering quick solutions, may raise more questions than it answers. Perhaps, by scholarly examination of such topics as homosexuality, celibacy, premarital sex or birth control, the study may do little more than illustrate how complex these topics are, he said.

That, however, may be enough, he said, because classic church teaching has often held the opposite view: that these matters were simple cases of right or wrong.

"I am opposed to criticizing and ridiculing the past," he said. "But every generation has the task of rethinking the Gospel and applying it to its own day and age."

New pastor, major activities come to GR Baptist

Grand River Baptist Church, 34500 Six Mile, Livonia, will start its fall season off with a new pastor and new programs.

Dr. Wilbert Donald Gough is the new pastor, coming to the church from Clarksburg Baptist Church in Clarksburg, W. Va.

Fall programs include a laymen's retreat Sept. 5-7 at Lake Louise in northern Michigan and a Barbecue Round-Up on church grounds Saturday, Sept. 6 at 5 p.m.

Before taking up his duties at Grand River Baptist Church, Dr. Gough spent a busy summer leading a tour to the Baptist World Congress in Stockholm, Sweden.

He is a graduate of Eastern Baptist Seminary and Temple University School of Theology in Philadelphia, earning his doctorate at Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary in the same city. He was ordained in 1950.

A trustee of Alderson-Broadus College in Philippi, W. Va., Dr. Gough is a contributor to a number of evangelical publications including Pulpit Digest, Ministers Manual, Decision, Christian Digest and the Gospel Broadcaster.

GRAND RIVER BAPTIST is the second Michigan church of which Dr. Gough has been pastor. He served from 1953-1965 in the First Baptist Church in Mt. Clemens.

"We're happy to be back in the area," said Dr. Gough. "We're looking forward to ministering God's love to people in this fine community and working with other ministers and civic leaders to help make a better Livonia and a better world."

Dr. Gough will speak at services Sunday, Sept. 7, at 10:45 a.m., his topic being "In The Beginning—God."

Dr. Gough and his wife, Florence, have two children, Wilbert Donald Gough Jr. of Paoli, Pa., and Mrs. Diane Fowler of Durham, N.C.

THE NEW OCCUPANTS of the parsonage plan to attend the Barbecue Round-Up to meet church members.

Softball and volleyball games and horseshoes will be on the agenda, with a concert planned for the evening. The Carillons, a female singing group, will participate along with the New Life Celebration, a male group.

The dinner menu includes beef at $1.25 for a whole order and 75 cents for a half order.

Baked beans, potato salad and cole slaw will also be served, with each family asked to bring one of these dishes for 10 persons or more plus a cold drink.

Better planning urged for Hines Drive bike days

Mary E. Dumas, Wayne County Commissioner from Livonia, says she "heartily supports" continuation of bike days along Edward Hines Drive, but wants better coordination in the future.

Mrs. Dumas noted that the board of commissioners has been asked to appropriate $2,400 to provide traffic control and security for two scheduled Bike-a-thons.

But better coordination on the part of the sponsoring groups could have avoided the expenditure of the funds, she said.

"BIKE-A-THONS are scheduled for Sept. 6 and Oct. 4," she said. "It turns out that many Sheriff's deputies will be taking a promotional exam on one of those days, so the $2,400 expenditure is needed to pay overtime to deputies who can be available to keep motorists off the parkway and to patrol the 15-mile bike-a-thon route," she explained.

"If the sponsors had checked in advance, they could have been assisted in picking a different day and the taxpayers would have been saved some money."

Expenditure of the overtime pay was recommended by the board's Public Safety & Judiciary Committee.

But the committee also recommended that "the Wayne County Road Commission and Wayne County Sheriff discuss the security needs and other ramifications of scheduling events in the county parks and make a report to the board of commissioners prior to scheduling such events in the future."

The road commission operates the county park system under authority delegated to it by the County Board of Commissioners.

"I THINK the bike days are a tremendous idea and I heartily support the causes for which they are being held," Mrs. Dumas stated. "But I would like to see the recommendation by the public safety and judiciary committee honored by the Sheriff and the road commission."

"I would like to see future requests for bike days come before the board of commissioners itself, in order to coordinate the efforts of the Sheriff's department with those of the parks division which is funded out of the general county budget. This would prevent any unnecessary expenditure of taxpayers' funds due to conflicting plans."

The $2,400 overtime outlay was approved tentatively by the commissioners, meeting as the Ways and Means Committee, Aug. 14 and was due for final approval at a board meeting on Aug. 21.

Geer parents ask board to retain 2nd teacher

The decision of whether Geer Elementary school will have one or two teachers has been handed back to School Supt. John M. Hoben.

After listening Monday night to John VanDyke, spokesman for Geer parents, the Plymouth Board of Education decided it was an administrative problem.

The board had asked the parent group to come up with a poll of students which would justify the hiring of an extra teacher.

Administration figures showed 32 students in the attendance area. With seven first graders reassigned to Farland School, this left 25 second through fifth graders at Geer. Teacher Rita McClumpha would have the services of a teacher's aid for three hours.

VanDyke said their survey had shown 42 students wishing to attend Geer with two more moving into the area in October whose parents had voiced a desire to have their children attend Geer.

Seven of the students would be entering kindergarten. Another would be from the Bird School area.

Chris Bellanger, bus driver for that area, said she could handle the transportation of the additional students, including the half-day kindergartners, within the two-hour time limit allotted for the trip. She said it would not add driving time.

Hoben said his concern was the seven kindergartners who would be on half days.

He said a decision would be made and presented to the school board at its Sept. 8 meeting.

In the meantime, the 25 students will report to Geer for classes Thursday morning as planned.

"The whole thing has a domino effect," said Hoben. He was referring to the fact that a realignment at this time could lower class sizes in other schools and the district would have to add another teacher to the staff.

Schools add 14 to staff

Among the actions taken by the Plymouth Board of Education Monday night to prepare for the opening of school today (Thursday) was approval of contracts for 14 new instructors.

The board approved the new hires, plus one resignation, during its meeting the evening of Labor Day.

The resignation accepted was one tendered by Kathleen Cepela—an English and social studies teacher at Central Middle School—who is moving to Wyoming, Mich.

Among the new hires are: Andrew Dale, BA from Taylor University, to instruct fourth grade at Gallimore School; Doris Balconi, BA from Wittenberg University, third grade at Fiegel; Lynn Sandmann, BA from University of Michigan, physical education at Smith School;

Ann Houran, BS from EMU, art, music, physical education, humanities and library at East Elementary; Duncan Lewis, BA from EMU, elementary at Central Elementary; Patricia McDonald, MA from EMU and BA from Boston University, second and third grades at East Elementary; Charles Portelli, BA from EMU, third and fourth grades at East Elementary; Leonard Roszak, BS from EMU, upper elementary at Central Elementary; Sylvia Smith, BA from Anderson College, vocal music 1/2-time at Pioneer Middle; Lois Stuart, BA from Marygrove College, kindergarten at Gallimore; Janet Williams, BS from EMU, home economics and food service, 1/2-time at Plymouth Salem High; Richard C. Wilson, BS from EMU, health education at West Middle School; and, Arlene Witte, BA from U-M, lower elementary at Gallimore.

Manor beauty shop funding needs boost

The Tonquish Creek Manor beauty shop needs a helping hand, according to Daisy Proctor.

Mrs. Proctor will assume the responsibilities of director of senior citizens' activities at the manor Sept. 12. She has been there for a week while former director Pam Ford prepares to turn over the reins.

Plans to convert a laundry room into a beauty shop have been under way for some time. With plumbing already installed, cost of the project was estimated at $4,500.

Residents of the manor set about raising the money. A series of bake sales, a shoppers' show party and Tuesday afternoon card parties were held. Donations were received from the Colonial Kiwanis Club and the Business and Professional Women's Club.

Their fund now stands at $2,000—$2,500 short of the goal.

Residents of the manor are busy preparing handwork for a Nov. 6 bazaar. No matter how successful the bazaar, the proceeds will not make up the needed $2,500.

Mrs. Proctor asks that any organization or individual wishing to assist in the project mail a check to: Daisy Proctor, Tonquish Creek Manor, 1160 Sheridan Ave., Plymouth, 48170, designating that it is for the beauty shop project.

Trackmen have coach

Concern that Plymouth Canton High School lacked a track coach was raised at Monday's school board meeting.

Leroy Bennett told members of the board that while Salem cross country runners had been practicing since mid-August, it seemed the Canton coach had resigned and not been replaced.

E. Brian Schwall, English instructor and track coach at Canton for the past two years, clarified the situation. Schwall said he had filed an "expression of intent" to resign.

He had given one copy to John Sandmann, athletic director and another to Kent Buikema, principal of Plymouth Canton High School in May.

He said he knew the deadline for such resignations was May 1 so he left the letter unsigned "to give them an out" in case they didn't come up with a replacement.

The post was not filled and Schwall will continue as coach.

Cross country hopefuls began running this week.

Entertainment bonus

St. Dunstan offers family films at low prices

By MARGARET MILLER

An entertainment bonus—movies for children, teens and adults and families—is being offered residents of this area by St. Dunstan Catholic Church, 1515 Belton, Garden City, beginning with a big film weekend Sept. 6 and 7. Projectionist Mike Ward, working on the program under sponsorship of his church and its Parent Teacher Guild, will show the Disney feature "Bedknobs & Broomsticks" with the help of his own bonus from the movies—his fiancée, Kathy Graziotti.

They're advertising their second season of church-sponsored films with posters that said "We're getting married, but the show must go on."

But, while making wedding plans for the big day next April, they are also lining up a season of film dates that include three weekends of films for children, two family films that will be shown three nights each, and three teen and adult films, also scheduled for three showings.

WARD, WHO SERVED in U.S. Army Special Services and was a projectionist for shows for GIs in Vietnam, decided to try the project in his home community. In the process of asking help with the children's shows he met Kathy last January and proposed before the second season could begin.

But that's getting ahead of the St. Dunstan film scenario.

"I'd had plenty of experience with putting on entertainment shows," he said, "and when I got home, I got to thinking about how kids had so few places to go and how expensive it was getting to be when they wanted to see a movie."

A conversation with a neighbor, Glenn Loewe, led to his locating a film distributor, and the church council and pastor, the Rev. Leonard A. Makulski, gave enthusiastic support.

Ward put on his first show, a full-length Disney feature and assorted short subjects, on Nov. 2 and 3 in the parish hall behind the church. A total of 281 children came.

More weekends of entertainment for children followed: Ward scheduled shows Saturdays at 11:30 a.m. and Sundays at 2 p.m.

"Absent-minded Professor," "The Computer Wore Tennis Shoes" and "Snowball Express" were a few of the movies the kids enjoyed, complete with popcorn a couple of times, from the La Parisienne theater.

THE CHARGE from the beginning has been 50 cents a child. Adults who bring the kids watch the shows free.

"I figure if someone brings several kids and stays with them, that's several kids I don't have to watch," he said.

Ward also has made price adjustments a few times, especially in the cases of families with several children. "I don't want any kid to be left out if others in his neighborhood are coming," he explained.

The shows for children all have more than paid expenses, Ward said, but it hasn't worked out quite as well for the teen and adult show he decided to institute during the year.

"I FIGURED young people don't have the kind of money many theaters charge for entertainment," he said, so we decided to try some shows for them."

These are run Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights "at approximately 7:30—it depends a bit on whether there's a wedding or some other function going on in the church hall," Ward said.

But, although the showbills have included such recent hits as "American Graffiti," "Funny Girl" and "For Pete's Sake," it's been rather rough going to cover the costs of the somewhat expensive rentals.

"We would like it known that these shows are for people all over the area, not just this parish," Ward said. He added that there's no great aim to make a profit on the films.

"We just want to clear expenses, and whatever there is extra will be used toward getting better films," he explained.

Prices are $1 for all seats during the evening films.

THE PROGRAM of children's entertainment for the coming year begins this weekend when, in addition to "Bedknobs & Broomsticks," there will be a Disney featurette, "The Three Little Pigs," and a Disney cartoon carnival. As during other children's shows, there will be reasonably-priced refreshments and free coffee for adults.

Coming attractions for children are "Darby O'Gill and the Little People," Oct. 4 and 5, and "Shaggy Dog," Nov. 1 and 2.

Teen and adult night films planned are "The Way We Were," Oct. 17, 18 and 19, "The Sting," Nov. 21, 22 and 23, and "Airport '75," March 19, 20 and 21.

NEW THIS YEAR will be two family nights, when adults will pay 75 cents and children 50 cents for G-rated films. Ward plans to show "Airport" Sept. 19, 20 and 21, and that show will also include an early Halloween surprise feature.

Family nights Jan. 16, 17 and 18 will feature two John Wayne films, "Rio Lobo" and "Big Jake."

One feature tentatively planned has been scratched.

Ward had thought for a time of getting "Funny Lady" for a family night at the end of April.

But he and Kathy are getting married instead. "We're sure," Ward said, "people can wait until next year for 'Funny Lady.'"

Obedience trials at fairgrounds

Owners of obedience trained dogs may participate in the metropolitan Detroit area's two largest obedience trials leading to American Kennel Club titles Sept. 27 and 28.

The Southern Michigan Obedience Training Club's trial will be Saturday and Sportsmen's Dog Training Club's trial is Sunday, both at the Michigan State Fairgrounds, Eight Mile and Woodward in Detroit.

High scoring handler each day will receive $100 plus many other awards. The second high handler will be awarded $75, third high $50, and fourth high $25. There are several other awards in all classes and breeds, totaling 772 separate awards.

Both clubs offer classes in novice A and B, open A and B, utility A and B, and graduate novice for dogs at every training level.

Entries must be submitted by Sept. 10 to Moss-Bow Dog Show Organization, 32361 Edward Ave., Madison Heights, 48071.

CWC meets in Plymouth

Christian Woman's Club will host a fashion show and luncheon from noon to 2 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 11, in the Mayflower Meeting House, Main Street and Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth.

Tickets at $4 per person are available by contacting Mrs. Wade Waterman, 21357 Woodhill Drive, Northville. Mrs. Norbert Przybylowski, 8296 Gary, Westland, or Mrs. Joseph Crow, 14481 Ellen Drive, Livonia. The deadline for reservations is Sept. 8.

A nursery service will be available in United Assembly of God Church, 42021 Ann Arbor Trail.

Fashions will be presented by Claire Kelley of Northville. A musical program will be performed by Shirley Wood, and Mrs. Marie Woodhams will speak about "The Many Hats of a Farmer's Wife."

MYS sets auditions

The first audition for membership in the Michigan Youth Symphony will be Saturday, Sept. 6 at 1 p.m. in the University of Michigan School of Music, Ann Arbor.

The symphony, sponsored by U-M's music school and extension service, is composed of high school musicians from throughout the state. Application forms may be obtained from Dr. Robert Petters, conductor, School of Music, U-M, Ann Arbor, 48105.

The orchestra will meet for rehearsals on Saturdays, from 1 to 3:30 p.m. in the rehearsal hall of Earl V. Moore Building (school of music on the U-M north campus).

Orchestra members can audition for scholarships to eight-week National Music Camp sessions. High school seniors also may audition for scholarship assistance, as entering students to the U-M school of music. All orchestra members may apply for assistance to attend all-state session at Interlochen.

Fiesta on Detroit's riverfront

Festival lovers can "head south" to Detroit Sept. 5, 6 and 7 for the Mexican Ethnic Festival on Detroit's riverfront, a part of the bicentennial's summer festival series and the Detroit Mexican-American community's celebration of Mexican Independence Week.

Theme of the three-day event is "reconciliation." During Friday's opening ceremonies at 6:30 p.m., six white doves will be set free to represent the six summers that Detroit's Mexican-American community has presented a festival. A nine-member Mariachi band will perform and festival queen Linda Garza, 20, will be introduced. Pinatas, clay pots covered with colorful fringed paper and suspended on rope, will be filled with candies and prizes. They will be broken each day for children attending the festival. Breaking pinatas is a popular Mexican custom observed at birthdays and during the Christmas season.

Featured entertainment will include Mexican folk dancing, singing and strolling Mariachi bands.

Mexican foods such as tacos, tamales, enchiladas, burritos, carmitas, pastrys and Spanish rice will be available as well as tequila, margaritas and Mexican beer. A new dish—botanas—consisting of refried pinto beans, sausage, cheese, onions, olives, avocados, jalapeno peppers mixed into a dip and served with tortilla chips will be introduced.

Cultural booths will be dedicated to International Women's Year and will exhibit items used by Mexican women in the preparation of food and craft making.

Curios on sale will include imported purses, paintings, furniture, pinatas and clothing.

Festival hours are 6:30 to 11 p.m. Friday and noon to 11 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. The free festival is six blocks west of Cobo Hall.

Concert band recruits new members

The Garden City Adult Concert Band will open rehearsals for the 1975-76 season Tuesday, Sept. 9 in Radcliff Junior High School, 1751 Radcliff, south of Ford and east of Wayne roads. The group's first practice session begins at 7 p.m. Rehearsals thereafter will be from 8 to 10 p.m. in Radcliff.

Area musicians are invited to join the group. Although there is room for most instruments, the band is particularly interested in flutes, clarinets, percussion, tenor saxophones, horns and oboes.

Membership is not limited to Garden City residents. Band members come from Livonia, Westland, Plymouth, Wayne, Inkster, Farmington, Southfield, Northville and many other communities. Presently, the band consists of 60 musicians who have played in high school or college ensembles and found the adult concert band a good reason for pulling their instruments out of moth balls.

The band will play six concerts this season, the first tentatively scheduled in early November, followed by a Christmas concert in December in Westland Shopping Center.

According to Peg Hunt, band president, there is hesitation on the part of musicians who have been away from playing for awhile, but that's why the band was organized—to give music enthusiasts a chance to become active again.

"We want to continue to improve and I think we are one of the better community bands in the area, but more important, we want to offer this activity for adult enjoyment. Our rehearsals are fun and newcomers are welcome," says Mrs. Hunt.

"We're not pros and no one seems to worry about being better or worse than the next person. Experience in the band ranges from high school and college music experience to those with concert or big band backgrounds."

Those interested in joining the Garden City Adult Concert Band should contact Dan Kalifut, 180 Gilman, Garden City, or come to rehearsal prepared to play on Sept. 9.

Which are your days? SC speaker might know

Most everyone has felt "this is just not my day" on days when everything seems to go wrong. You oversleep, drop things, get a flat, run out of gas, the washer conks out and so on.

George Thommen, a demonstrator-lecturer being presented at Schoolcraft College Sept. 18, may have some answers for you.

Thommen is author of the best seller "Is This Your Day?" He has made an in-depth research of biorhythm and now has a CYCLGRAF charting kit with instructions for individuals to determine good days and bad days in advance. His biorhythm theory is being studied by the U.S. Air Force and large industries.

In Japan, where Thommen's first book on the subject was published, police traffic divisions are now teaching biorhythm charting as part of its defensive driving courses.

Thommen will bring materials so persons in the audience may complete their own biorhythm charts. The lecture-demonstration will be at 8 p.m. in Waterman Campus Center. Admission is $1.50. Tickets available at the college and at the door. Schoolcraft is at 18600 Haggerty Road, Livonia.

Madonna offers theater on TV

Students at Madonna College in Livonia can earn college credit this fall while enjoying classic theater on WTVS-Channel 56.

"Classic Theater-Humanities in Drama" will be offered for English credit on Thursdays beginning Sept. 25. The four-credit course consists of a 13-week television series, eight discussion seminars with a coordinating instructor and a final examination.

The series, originally aired in England, features skilled actors of such companies as The Old Vic. Each play will be preceded by a preview discussion by a leading U.S. scholar.

Plays to be aired include "Macbeth," "She Stoops to Conquer," "The Three Sisters," "Mrs. Warren's Profession" and "The Playboy of the Western World."

Students must be registered at Madonna in order to receive credit. For registration information contact the admissions office at the college, 36600 Schoolcraft.

Nero shares spotlight

Bonefish tops $40,000 'Matron' field

The super trotting horse Bonefish, winner of the Hambletonian in four gruelling heats over national television last Saturday, and the pacing sensation Nero will provide a climactic 1-2 punch for Grand Circuit harness racing at Wolverine Raceway in Livonia Thursday and Friday nights.

Bonefish, already purchased for $1 million by Castleton Farm in Kentucky for future stallion duties, will head a field of North America's top trotters in the $40,000 Matron Stake on Friday. The handsome son of world record holder Nevele Pride will be driven again by Stanley Dancer, the only man who has ever sat in a race sulky behind him.

"How do I rate Bonefish with Nevele Pride, Super Bowl and Su Mac Lad?" Dancer repeated a question asked by a reporter earlier this week. "Well, I drove them all and just let me say I've never sat behind a greater trotter than Bonefish."

Driver Joe O'Brien, who will bring Nero to the starting gate Thursday night at Wolverine in the $50,000 Matron Stake for 3-year-old pacers, says virtually the same thing about his 1975 Little Brown Jug favorite.

"HE WON 13 OF 14 last year as a

2-year-old and won a dozen or so this year before he was upset in that one race," O'Brien summarizes. "He can give you miles at 1:56 and a piece if he has to: the only time I've ever gone much faster, was behind Steady Star."

O'Brien referred to the historic time trial at Lexington, Ky., in 1971 when he covered a mile in a near incredible 1:52 flat with the pacing Steady Star.

Lining up Thursday night against Nero, as the wonder horse tunes up for the prestigious Little Brown Jug in mid-September, will be the one colt who was able to whip him last year, Castleton Farm's Alert Bret. That defeat of Nero came in October in the International Stallion Stake at Lexington, and Castleton driver Glen Garnsey had to push Alert Bret to a record 1:55.4 mile to get the job done.

Other Jug-bound pacers who'll take a Wolverine swing at Nero Thursday include George Sholty's Truxon Hanover, Bill Haughton's Brets Champ, Dick Farrington's All Time Bret, Buddy Gilmore's Senor Duane, Bill Popfinger's Shirley's Beau and an O'Brien-trained speedster named Bo Bo Arrow.

Nero's challengers received somewhat disheartening news on Tuesday when his trainer Jim Crane advised Wolverine officials that an aggravating corn on one of his front feet has been removed and is not healed. The ailment was disturbing enough to the great Meadow Skipper colt that he has been held off the race track for the past three weeks.

"We're flying him in from Canada to Wolverine today," Crane said Tuesday. "He's completely recovered, 100 per cent sound and rearin' to go."

DANCER REPORTED on Monday that Bonefish likewise is at his peak and showing no fatigue at all from his marathon performance in the Hambletonian. Track officials visiting his stall on Tuesday readily confirmed Dancer's report as the big colt nipped playfully at his handlers, greeted all observers with ears on high and ate heartily of the hay which was shipped in specially for him.

"He's a powerful animal," Stanley pointed out. "And one of the biggest horses I have ever handled. In that fourth heat of the Hambletonian when Yankee Bambino was giving us so much heat I looked down and saw that our sulky wheels were exactly even with his. I knew then we had won because Bonefish is at least a foot longer than most other horses."

A new track trotting record could very easily come at the end of the Bonefish mile at Wolverine on Friday.

Grandpa Jim set the present one of 1:59.2 back in 1971 and with other trotters such as Surefire Hanover, Noble Rogue, Fashion Blaze and Glasgow ready to push Bonefish over the swift Wolverine mile track current records might not be worth a dime a dozen.

THE SUPER TROTTER, BONEFISH, accompanied by his groom, Chet Dentler, takes an alert look at Wolverine Raceway's fast mile track shortly after his arrival at the Livonia oval. Bonefish won the classic Hambletonian last Saturday and will race in the $40,000 Matron Stake for 3-year-old trotters Friday night.

GC West trains sights on Tri-River grid title

Make no mistake about it, Garden City West looks like the 'team to beat' in the Tri-River League this year.

Coach Charley Elmquist's Tigers tied for the Tri-River championship last year with a 6-1 record, finished 6-3 overall, and have 12 starters returning. In addition, they have 26 lettermen back and most of them saw action in Elmquist's 'play as many as possible' philosophy.

In his first season as head coach last year, Elmquist used 21 starters on his offensive and defensive units and hopes to do the same this year.

"Playing that many boys builds an enthusiasm and team spirit that you can't imagine," says Elmquist, who spent four years as assistant coach at West before being named head man last fall. "I definitely feel this could be a big year for us, but it hinges on so many things," he points out. "We have the players with the ability, but they have got to really want to win and play hard and keep that 'closeness' we had as a team last year."

The Tigers are blessed with a rugged defense, a versatile offense and hope to add the passing game which was missing most of last year.

POWERING WEST'S offense are five returning linemen, including tackles Matt Shinsky (5-9, 152 pounds) and Tom Burton (5-11, 175), and guards Jeff Rutter (5-10, 204) and Steve Pniowski (5-10, 175). Senior Pat McGahan (6-1, 175), a talented receiver, and 6-1, 185 pound Wayne Hard, a good blocker, will be the ends. Fighting for the center position are regular linebacker Mark Chidester (5-11, 180), Ken Jean (5-11, 175), a second-string tackle and junior Keith Gramke, who did a good job on the JV last year.

Carrying the ball for the Tigers in the backfield will be a pair of fast, powerful runners in Bill Underwood and Terry Bradley. Both halfbacks gained more than 600 yards last year. Underwood gaining his amount in five games before an ankle injury sidelined him the last four games.

Bradley (5-10, 170) was moved from slotback to tailback to replace Underwood (5-7, 180) the last four games and rolled up 534 yards and scored six touchdowns in that span which earned him all-league and second team all-area honors.

"I don't know of a team in the state that wouldn't like to have Bill and Terry in their backfield," Elmquist said. And the head coach is also very high on junior Greg Shinsky. "He's just a super guy to have playing fullback to block, carry the ball or go out for passes."

FIELD GENERAL for the Tiger machine will be quarterback Tom Poole, who possesses a strong left arm as well as adding the sprint out option to the West attack. The slender senior (6-4, 165) was backup last year on the varsity after guiding the JV squad to a 6-3 record and once threw four touchdown passes in one half. He could complement Shinsky (6-1, 185), Bradley and Underwood very well in the backfield.

No team scored more than twice against West's defense except Garden City East.

"I think our defense will be the key to our success this year," Elmquist says. "Then if our offense can grind out the yardage, we'll control the ball."

Anchoring the defensive wall will be Senior Steve Wilmoth, an end who stands 6-2 and weighs only 155, but is very hard to block. The other end will be Tom Parks (6-1, 175), the tackles are Ken Schwaegerle (6-2, 185) and John McFadden (6-2, 180) and nose-man is 5-7, 165 pound Jeff Peltz, who is also second string halfback and once scored four touchdowns in a JV game.

In the Tigers' 5-2 defense, brothers Matt and Greg Shinsky will alternate as left linebacker while Mark Chidester will back up the right side.

Versatile Senior John Stupyr (5-10, 180), who can play just about any position, returns to his right cornerback spot. His pass interception in the Tri-River title game with Southgate iced the game for West.

Bob Samples, probably the smallest player on the team at 5-9, 145, was a regular split end last year and the all-around athlete will return to defensive left halfback where he played two years ago on the JV team. Dale Stupyr, a 6-foot, 165 pound junior, will join his brother, John, in the defensive backfield. The fourth secondary position, called Tiger man on West's team, is currently held by Mark Downey, a 5-8, 155 pound junior.

"We play a containment type defense," Elmquist says. "trying to stop the big play. The big play hurt us last year and we're working hard in stopping it this year."

"We open against John Glenn at home and it's going to be a very tough game. They have a fine coaching staff and that game will go a long way in showing what kind of season we'll have."

Sectional win keeps Snyder chances alive

Tournament-wise Snyder's of Redford Township has done it again, winning its fifth slo-pitch softball tournament title of the year and 19th in three seasons.

This time Snyder's captured the divisional eastern championship of the U.S. Slo-Pitch Softball Association with a 29-16 win over Mazzola's of Rochester, N.Y. in the finals of the 54-team eliminations on Long Island over Labor Day weekend.

That victory kept Snyder's hopes alive for winning the world series slow-pitch crown which will be decided when the eight regional champions meet in the playoffs at Rochester Sept. 26-28.

In the sectionals last weekend, Doug Gerdes, Larry Elkins, John Hinds, Jim Mitchell and Rick Pinto of Snyder's were named to the all-tournament team, with leftfielder Elkins being voted the event's most valuable player.

BOLSTERING GARDEN CITY WEST'S hopes for the Tri-River grid crown are these four returning starters from last year's offensive line in a 6-3 season. Charging cam-

After watching the nation's top pros and listening to their comments on the game over the weekend, the area's average league bowlers have every right to be confused.

Some of the statements coming out of Hartfield Lanes in nearby Berkley seemed outlandish—especially from fellows who are making a good living out of the pro tour.

For instance, Carman Salvino, the tall Chicagoan who is enjoying one of his best years, startled the local stars when he claimed his present upsurge is due to advice given him by a scientist and that he pays little attention to conditions other than the amount of friction produced when his ball rolls down the lanes.

The other unusual remark came from Don Johnson who stated before competition started that he didn't know whether the Hartfield Lanes would suit his ball.

"I roll a spinning ball," he said, "and maybe these lanes are not suited, for it."

They must have been alright. Don bowled a perfect game on them.

But these statements were enough to confuse the average bowler who knows nothing of the science of friction or the maneuvering of a spinning ball.

Ann Setlock, one of the area's top women bowlers, summed it up with the remark, "These fellows are all out for publicity and they'll say most anything." After all, the pros carry their own man with them to condition the lanes so they have no kick coming.

THE YEAR BOOK being distributed by the Greater Detroit Bowling Association and the Detroit Woman's Association, contains the averages of more than 252,000 bowlers and again not a single league bowler has been missed.

Aside from the averages, the book contains some other interesting information.

By W.W. EDGAR

For instance, of the 149,717 men listed: 141,215 bowl right handed and carry a mean average of 155.84. The 8,502 southpaws average 154.30.

On the women's side, of the 117,000 listed 111,079 are right handers and carry a mean average of 127.13. The mean average of all the women is 127.04.

All-Sports crown is won by Salem

(Ed. Note: The following article is an excerpt from a column by Bill Frank, sports editor of the Battle Creek Enquirer & News, who is the unofficial statistician among state sports writers of state championship high school results.)

There's a break in the action for state Class A All-Sports honors in the prep ranks.

Plymouth Salem is the 1974-75 All-Sports champion, based on the final state standings in nine popular sports.

By winning, Salem broke a nine-year grip that Seven-A and South Central Conference schools had on the state honors.

As you know, we began to figure Class A All-Sports champions 10 years ago on a point basis. We award 10 points to a state champion, followed by 9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 for the remaining top 10 in each sport.

In the first nine years of the compilations, Seven-A member schools won seven state titles and SCC members took the other two. Ann Arbor Pioneer of the 7-A captured five of the championships.

Plymouth Salem's breakthrough this school year is a real surprise. Most fans know little or nothing about the school that is located about 30 miles east of Ann Arbor. No daily paper covers Salem's athletic activities.

Nevertheless, Salem amassed 23.5 points in state competition to wind up the big All-Sports winner. The school won the Class A baseball title for 10 points, tied for third in basketball and finished fifth in football (final AP poll) for six points.

WE ARE PROUD of our athletic program and our teams," said John Sandmann, athletic director at Salem for 27 years. "We're also happy to learn that we are the state All-Sports champion."

Sandmann explained that Plymouth has two Class A high schools, Salem and Canton. He said Canton is the newer school, graduating its first senior class this year. When Canton came into existence, the name of the older Plymouth High School was changed to Plymouth Salem.

Salem is a member of the Suburban Eight League that includes Trenton, Dearborn, Belleville, Edsel Ford, Redford Union, Livonia Bentley and Allen Park. Incidentally, Dearborn finished ninth in the All-Sports race on 12.5 points.

Salem nosed out Birmingham Brother Rice for All-Sports honors. Brother Rice, a fourth place finisher a year ago, moved up to the runner-up spot on 22.5 points.

Seven-A schools landed three members in the top 10, headed by Jackson Central which finished in a tie for fourth place with Flint Northwestern. Ypsilanti wound up eighth and Ann Arbor Pioneer finished 10th.

O&E tourney record may fall

Although now in its seventh full season as an 18-hole golf mecca, the Whispering Willows course in Livonia never has been subjected to such a massive attack by top-flight golfers as is in store during the 1975 Observer & Eccentric tournament.

The annual 36-hole men's tourney is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 13 and 14, while the women's 18-hole event is booked for Thursday, Sept. 18. Medal play will govern throughout.

Whispering Willows Pro Gary Whitener forecast this week that the overall quality of the record field will pose a real threat to the O&E Tournament record of 67-73-140 set by Livonia's Bud Stevens in 1972.

"Not only are entries running well ahead of last year, but the out-of-town response has been tremendous," said Whitener. "This includes many golfers from points such as Bloomfield Hills and the Rochester area as well as Farmington and Southfield. "Stevens will be on hand trying for his third O&E title, but typical of the class of competition will be Johnny Johnson, who won this year's club championship at Bay Pointe and last weekend teamed to win the Plum Hollow Invitational."

Whitener emphasized that the deadline for filing entry blanks for the men's tourney is Wednesday, Sept. 10. Women's entries will close Tuesday, Sept. 16. In case rain wipes out any round of either event, makeup dates have been arranged.

"The course will play to a par of 71 at about 6,450 yards and is a very good test of golf," said Whitener. "It is in excellent condition after the recent rains and has a great variety of challenges that make a golfer use every club in the bag.

"The toughest back-to-back holes probably are the 11th and 12th, both par four. The 11th is 400 yards through the woods and over a creek, while the 435-yard 12th has a slight dogleg where it takes two good shots to get home.

"Anyone who gets through those two in par has the back nine about whipped."

Not only is Stevens' 36-hole score of 140 the tournament record, but that 67 which he shot in the 1972 event stands as the best competitive mark ever recorded at Whispering Willows—taking precedence over a non-tournament 65

Atkins says RU is 'unknown quantity'

With 22 underclassmen on a 36-man squad, only three returning starters and nobody on the team tipping the scales at the 200-pound mark, the temptation exists for Redford Union football coach Bob Atkins to write this year off as one for "rebuilding."

"I hate that word. I really do," said the Panther coach, however.

"I'd like to say that we're going to go out and blow people off the field, but I can't. We're an unknown quantity at this point. I won't really be able to evaluate the team until we scrimmage," said Atkins.

If you take standard criteria such as size and experience into an early evaluation, however, it would appear that it will be a long season at the Redford Township school.

The stalwarts of the team this year will be the three returning starters.

Senior Dave Starin started at defensive end last year and will play there and at offensive guard this season. Starin is 6-2 and weighs in at 185.

Steve Zink, junior co-captain, started every game last year at both center and linebacker. The 6-2, 190-pound Zink may be switched from center to a guard spot this year, but in any case will be asked to make a vital contribution.

Handling the quarterbacking duties will be junior Mike Watson. Last season, Watson saw action at split end and safety. At 5-8, 145, Watson is small but he has the arm and quickness to handle the show.

The entire team, in fact, will have to be quick if it is to be competitive.

"We'd better be quick this year. We'll just have to finesse people and execute," said Atkins, who is entering his 18th year in a coaching capacity at RU.

Newcomer Paul Shileikas, who will play both guard and linebacker, will be expected to help out the veterans.

"He looks like a tough football player," Atkins said of the 6-0, 185 Shileikas. Junior Randy Wahlstrom is another fresh face from whom big things are expected.

While Atkins hopes to be competitive in every game, his goal for the year is a reachable one.

"We just want to have a winning season," he said.

He sees Trenton as the top team in the Suburban Eight, but looks for any number of team to challenge.

"Trenton has to be the number one team though. They have a lot of quality people back."

For his own team's chances, Atkins has a simple approach.

"We don't have the big strong kid. We're just going to have to fight like hell," he said.

Daley's wins state Class D crown

The women's fast-pitch softball team playing under the banner of Daley's Restaurant in Livonia won its State Class D title last weekend at Cadillac and provided the tournament's most valuable player in pitcher Mary Jimenez.

To take the title, Daley's had to fight off the challenge of a Baldwin, Mich., club twice in the final three games of the two-game knockout event. A 1-0 Daley win was followed by a 7-5 victory for Baldwin between the two finalists in the eight-team field, but Daley's prevailed in the wrap-up, 12-5.

SCCA releases Tope Memorial

Oakland University will be the disbursing agency for money collected by the Warren Tope Memorial Fund, it was decided last week by the Sports Car Club of America (SCCA) and the executors of Tope's estate.

The memorial fund was established by Donald R. Tope following his son's death July 5 in an accident at the Pontiac Wide Track II race. The SCCA, although not involved in the race, was asked to be the holder of the money until details of its use were established.
