Plymouth Schools face $600,000 deficit

By EMORY DANIELS

The Plymouth Board of Education is now working on ways to trim $500,000 in expenses from its $17.3 milhion operating budget for fiscal year 1975-76.

. The difficulty of the task became apparent Monday night when six trustees gathered with administrators in the basement of the Plymouth Community Credit Union for a work study session on the budget.

The administration has been asked to recommend cuts which wouldn't affect staff or educational programs. It responded Monday night with 19 suggestions the board can consider asmeans of knocking $600,000-3.5 per cent of the total budget-off expendi-

THE DISCUSSION centered on educational philosophy, long-range direction of Plymouth Community School District and short-range obstacles; on the effects of the cuts proposed, and on alternate action for this year and next.

The problem became more acute with the mandate that 3.5 per cent be trimmed from the budget without reducing certified staff or programs. In actuality, the approach is to effectuate the 3.5 per cent cut by applying it to areas which encompass only about 30 per cent of the budget. Thus one-third of the budget is really being cut by eight or nine per cent.

With that restraint, the recommendations didn't entirely avoid the possibility of layoffs. Among the suggestions is to reduce custodial staff by 13 positions which, if implemented, would result in 10 custodians being laid off from October through December. This may not be implemented, however, because some trustees expressed strong opposition Monday to this step.

ADDITIONAL COSTS in the current budget over the 1974-75 budget total about $2.5 million. New revenue, including state aid and an increased tax base in the district, amounts to some $2 million.

Besides this shortage, another problem is new programs added by the board last June and earlier before it was learned the district would lose some state aid.

Under the new state aid formula, Plymouth will receive funding based on $144 per child compared to $197 per the doors of the additional schools. child last year. This reduction means a loss in additional state aid of about Supt. Mike Hoben cautioned the board that the district is already three months into its 1975-76 fiscal year and a decision on cuts cannot be delayed much longer.

Hoben asked that decisions on cuts be finalized in about eight days so the administration can come up with the final balanced budget by Nov. 1.

The latest headcount, Hoben said, shows the district has gained some 500 students since last June and will probably end up with an enrollment of

This represents an additional cost of $126,000 for the 500 students plus another $110,000 for more teachers so the higher enrollment won't disrupt current teacher-pupil ratios, he added.

GEORGE LAWTON, board secretary, expressed grave concern that the administration was offering a $17.3 million budget without any provision for a contingency fund.

"That's absolutely ridiculous. Unforeseen expenses during the year will at least be one per cent, which will leave us with a $130,000 deficit toward the end of the year. We need at least a $200,000 contingency fund or we'll have an even larger deficit next year."

Lawton also warned it would be unwise to balance this year's budget by shifting expenses into the next fiscal

Lawton also questioned the wisdom of applying the cuts to only 30 per cent of the budget. "Ultimately, we must consider cuts in certified personnel. I understand and appreciate the educational issues involved, but the district must ultimately look at this because we are already impairing future budgets."

Hoben responded that an alternative was additional operating millage. "We already need $225,000 more next year, or one-half a mill, just to open and teaching staff.

The need for an additional mill is a reality we must face."

ROBERT SMITH, principal of West Middle School, suggested the district might do better to consider reducing the school day by 60 minutes to five hours per day. This would allow significant reduction in teaching staff. "You could also cram more kids into each classroom, but you will lose as much as taking one hour off the school day." Hoben answered that residents would feel they were being cheated out of a full day's education, whether it's true or not.

Board President Marda Benson said she would like to see the "specials"such as art and music instructorsbeing used as classroom teachers as well as consultants. "The curriculum would be better served, particularly at the elementary and middle school levels, and staff could be reduced. But we can't do it this year."

THE BUDGET problem is compounded because its educational programs are better and the district spends much more per child than the state average.

State aid formulas are derived primarily from the state average expenditure per child. Becausé Plymouth's expenditure is higher, additional state aid received for each new student isn't enough to cover the added cost for that student.

The result is a "net loss" for each new student because the growth in local tax base hasn't been sufficient to make up the difference.

With a higher enrollment anticipated next year, and no expectations for significantly higher state funding, there will be an even heavier reliance on local revenue. The future will require a faster growth in tax base, additional operational millage, or the possibility of reductions in programs

How schools might cut budget to kill deficit

Faced with a current deficit in the that employes on the lower end of the preliminary operating budget, the administration of the Plymouth School District has proposed a number of cuts to come up with $600,000 to balance the 1975-76 budget.

Besides the recommendations, the administration made a couple suggestions which weren't recommended, but which could be considered by school board members.

AMONG THE MAJOR expense reductions recommended are:

Replacement of equipment, $84,000; special education, $94,000; central office, $37,500; capital outlay, $100,000; buses, $88,000; library aids and supplies, $19,300; custodian reduction,

Suggestions to eliminate 13 custodial positions, and lay off 10 custodians from October through December, was met with a lot of board resistence.

The proposal was to eliminate two custodian positions at Plymouth Salem High, one at Plymouth Canton High, one at each of the middle schools, and an average of 1/2 per building at the elementary level.

When the new schools open the first of the year, almost all those who might be laid off would be returned to work. If the district didn't layoff now and just shifted staff to the new schools in January, the savings would be about $40,000.

There are now five vacancies on the custodial staff which haven't been filled with work being done by substitute workers. By December, it is expected two custodians will retire, and three will resign or take leaves of ab-tion in maintenance staff. Board members Marcia Borowski and Marda Benson expressed concern pay scale would be without salaries for three months and be asked to face an "iffy" situation of maybe being called in for substitute work and maybe being called back in January.

Board President Benson expressed concern that the layoffs could result in buildings being less clean and attractive, which would be harmful to the educational environment of students, and might hamper learning.

She said she felt a cut in custodial staff would hurt attempts to expand use of school buildings in the evenings by residents and community groups.

The mood of the board during Monday night's study session indicated that a hard look would be taken at this recommendation before the board would go along with it.

THE SPECIAL EDUCATION recommendation is to fill fewer additional positions than planned on last June when it was unknown a deficit would

At that time, the district planned to add 28 positions in the special education department. The proposal now is to add only 20 positions.

The special education budget also includes $24,000 in tuition payments the district makes to Livonia School District for special education children attending programs in Livonia.

The administration is investigating to determine if Livonia is counting these Plymouth students in its student headcount. If Livonia is counting the students, says Supt. John M. Hoben, then it might not be legal for Plymouth to pay tuition which would then have to be paid by the Livonia School District.

THIS SUMMER the district ordered 11 new school buses and four vans. The four vans have been delivered,

Umney trial goes to jury

The first degree murder trial of Robert Umney is expected to conclude today (Thursday) with closing statements by Prosecutor Robert Whitney and Defense Attorney Robert B. Delaney.

Yesterday the jury and Judge Horace Gilmore heard the testimony of the defendant, his father, Rex Umney and Dr. Irving Edgar, a psychiatrist.

Umney recounted the events leading up to the Jan. 28 shooting of Terry Buchman. He said he, Barry and Leslie Provow had talked to Gwyn Kirley at Joel Hall's house and then had gone to Terry Buchman's house. Lloyd Cash joined them at Buchman's and called Kirley from there, arranging a meeting at his apartment later that evening.

UMNEY SPOKE in a low voice and his counsel asked him to speak up several times. He said they went to Cash's apartment in two cars after stopping to buy three 12-packs of beer on the way.

Terry Buchman and his friend, Chebyl Voss accompanied them. He said they sat around drinking beer and waiting for Kirley's arrival et 9 p.m. When Kirley didn't show up, he said Tash, Buchman, Provow and he went tooking for him, leaving "Cheryl and eslie talking to Cassandra Field." Umney testified that they found Kir-Ley and Cash talked to him, arranging 2 a 10:30 meeting at his apartment. He said Cash received a call from Kirly later, saying he was coming but he was bringing his Uncle Benny with him. He admitted they all were afraid of Uncle Benny and procured guns and ammunition to protect themelves.

He said everyone was getting mad. When asked if any threats were made he said, "All threats were made toward Kirley." He told of hearing a car door slam and picking up the guns, thinking it was Kirley.

The frustrations of a shrinking budget are beginning to be felt by the music department of Plymouth Community School District.

Just recently the administration was forced to deny a request for transportation to take the marching band to Western Michigan University for a solo performance during half-time.

Jim Griffin, director of bands at the Centennial Educational Park, had accepted the invitation when extended last spring before the district realized it would face serious budget problems

Another impact is the music department's request to add a half-time instructor to allow Michael Endres the time to instruct for the string programs in the middle schools.

About a year ago, the school board was prepared to add at least one fulltime person to the CEP music staff when consideration was being given to splitting the marching band. But with a new board after the June elec-

GRIFFIN said the band is scheduled to appear for halftime ceremonies at WMU on Saturday, Sept. 27. The only money in the budget for band trips, explained Ray Hoedell, assistant superintendent for business, is for an appearance in Ann Arbor for University of Michigan Band Day.

Griffin said he checked with commercial bus lines, and only Greyhound could line up five buses for Sept. 27. The band needs five buses for musicians and one for equipment, he added.

If six buses from the school district were used for the WMU trip to Kalamazoo, it would cost about $1,100. Using commercial buses, the cost would be about $1,550 and would result in each marching band member going being assessed some $8 apiece.

During the discussion Monday night in the budget study session, it became apparent that part of the problem was that the music department hadn't budgeted for trips, including transportation to enter regional and state festival competition.

"I didn't know we had a budget," said Griffin, "because in the past our only trip was to University of Michigan for Band Day."

DR. E. J. McCLENDON, trustee, said a year ago the board was planning to add 11/2 persons to the music faculty and he didn't see why the board shouldn't add a half-time per-

Thomas Yack, board secretary, said he wasn't on the board a year ago. "But I am here now, faced with having to cut $600,000 from the budget. We have to set priorities and my own opinion is that this half-time person will soon become a fulltime position."

Griffin commented: "We have 350 kids in the bands at the CEP now. Doesn't that justify additional staffing?" Yack answered: "We are also faced with the danger of cramming too many kids into one classroom. Again, it's a matter of priority, and when the district is having to undergo tion, backing for the fulltime person cuts, I cannot see adding people."

ENDRES REPORTED that the string program was in serious trouble in the middle schools and would collapse in a couple years if help isn't forthcoming soon.

The quality of the program has increased steadily, he said, but the numbers of students involved haven't increased. About 100 students in the entire district are signed up for strings, he added, and this is declining "because the teachers instructing strings aren't in their area of strength. Their strength is in bands, not strings." Griffin said a half-time instructor would free Endres from some of his duties and allow him to schedule time to instruct strings in the middle "The easiest thing to do would be to add a person," said Yack, suggesting other alternatives be studied such as dropping the music history and theory course or another class.

"This community needs and deserves a total music program which requires a strong string program. Bands alone aren't enough," stressed Griffin.

Marda Benson, board president, said she was concerned with the middle school string program and would be in favor of adding the halftime instructor, but said she was unsure where the money could be found.

George Lawton, board secretary, left a message with Ms. Benson before leaving the meeting that he wouldn't be in favor of adding the half-time person until at least seeing the audit of last year's budget.

Joseph Gray, trustee, joined with Lawton and Yack in opposition to the half-time person. He asked the music department to explore other alternatives, such as using a student teacher for the cadet band to free Endres of that assignment.

Marcia Borowski, board vice-president, said she also must see the audit. "But I'm not sure this problem can await solution until the final audit is in. I agree help is needed for strings and wish I could see the money someplace in the budget, but I just can't see where it will come from."

With trustee Gary Mirto absent, an informal poll of the board indicated either four "no" votes and two "yes" or three "no," two "yes," one on the fence, and one absent.

"I would like to say we can find the money somehow," concluded Ms. Borowski. "but there are a lot of cuts that have been recommended to the board that I cannot go along with Our job will be tough enough if we cut in other areas, and right now I just cannot see where there's more money for the music department."

Pre-schoolers mastering violin

Some of the most appreciative audiences of string instruments can be found Monday and Wednesday afternoons in a portable classroom at West Middle School.

Expressions on the listeners' faces are rapt, even fatuous-and with good reason. The young violinists are charming to watch, their music is delightful, and the audience is composed of members of the Suzuki Parents Association.

The musicians range in age from three to six and their instruments range from one-32nd to 14 the size of a regular violin.

The association has formed a violin exchange because the little violins are

"WHEN WE WERE looking for a violin for Kris," said Marilynn Stathakis, "there was one in Wayne County and one in Washtenaw. They are very difficult to find."

The three classes meet for 20 minute sessions two days a week.

Beginners start out with margarine boxes-the ordinary one-pound variety. These are stuffed, to keep their shape, and the children learn to hold them on their shoulders. Their first bows are drinking straws which they hold gently so they don't squash or bend them.

Later a wooden ruler is attached to the box with yellow markings to show placement of the fingers.

Once the loving, gentle handling of the instrument is assured, a real instrument is used. Children have their own violins and parents say they love to play them at home.

Ms. Borowski said she was opposed to not filling the position of assistant superintendent for instruction and was concerned about the reductions proposed for capital outlay and equipment replacement.

Another recommendation was to eliminate the position of placement director in the area of vocational education for a savings of $11,900.

Other cuts recommended included: athletics, $1,000; travel for administrators, $4,500; printing, $5,000; central office secretarial reductions, $8,000; junior athletics, $2,000. The district has already decided against paying this year's dues of $5,000 to the Plymouth Canton Development Commission.

Although it was not recommended, d was advised that $36.00 could be cut if a decision was made not to begin the varsity hockey, girls gymnastic and golf teams and intramural programs this year.

Some 75 boys have already signed up for the hockey teams and about 50 girls for gymnastics. Tentative commitments have been made to coaches, but no binding agreements have been made and the board has the option to delay implementation of these programs for another year.

Hoben said the district is negotiating with Michigan Bell to install the Telex phone system at the central administration, high schools and middle schools for an eventual savings of $150,000 over 10 years.sgAlthou would take two to three years to implement.

IN HIS OPENING STATEMENT for the defense, Delaney said he would show that Lloyd Cash did not tell the truth in his testimony, and that Cash misled the police. He said that if Cash had fully explained the use of acid that night, the medical examiner would have examined the with Sink iow $ 10 095 Colleges, universities and local schools have won a resounding victory in Congress recently with the override of a presidential veto of the $8 billion education appropriations bill. All area legislators supported the override.

Approximately $\frac{5}{2}$ billion is allocated for higher education and elementary/secondary education. Other provisions are programs for the handicapped, libraries, vocational education, adult education, emergency school aid and impact aid.

Bi-partisan support was evident last week as the House voted 273-41 and the Senate, 88-12 in favor of the override. The bill which funds educational programs for the 1975-76 year, allows for advanced planning in school fund-for advanced planning in school funding, explains a legislative source.

President Ford vetoed the bill because it was $1.5 billion over his original request, resulting, he said, in a fistally irresponsible package.

Perception of the budget was cited by an aide as causing the split between Congress and the President. The amount of the deficit is debatable, as well as revenue expectations.

Rep. William Ford (D-Taylor) fought for the education bill originally and voted to override the president's veto. Ford, whose district includes Westland, Garden City, Canton Township and part of Livonia, realized that if the bill was defeated, local property taxes would have to be increased, said a Ford aide.

Rep. James Brodhead (D-Detroit), whose district includes Redford Township, Southfield and Farmington, supported both the original and override vote.

Rep. James Blanchard (D-Pleasant Ridge) also supported the original and the override votes.

The two area Republican representatives, Marvin Esch (R-Ann Arbor) and William Broomfield (R-Bloomfield Township), voted in favor of the override. Esch, whose district includes Plymouth and most of Livonia, felt the program was too important to cut back said his side.

Broomfield, whose district includes

Avon, Bloomfield and Bloomfield townships, Beverly Hills, Bingham Farms and Franklin, saw no alternative method to providing schools with the needed funds. He voted for both the original bill and the override, but wanted to eliminate impact aid, which compensates school districts for federal employes who reside in the area.

Opportunism and harassment Unsavory tags haunt Prosecutor Patterson's image

In recent months, Oakland County Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson has become something of a folk hero around these parts.

He has turned this trick partially by circumstances surrounding his election and partially by flair for spotting targets of opportunity.

Patterson's predecessor. Thomas Plunkett, was criticized for being unaggressive in pursuing the duties of his office. In particular, he was attacked for laxity in enforcement of anti-gambling laws. for excessive plea bargaining in drug cases, and for reluctance to prosecute vigorously in badcheck passing cases. Whether such charges were entirely true or not. they obviously were on the minds of the voters when they elected Patterson

Since coming to office, Patterson has gained recognition by his aggressiveness in pursuing areas supposedly neglected by Plunkett, as well as demonstrating a real knack for finding politically attractive issues. His views on welfare cheating are widely shared by others in public office, for example, but he has been more successful than most in dramatizing them in the news media.

BUT NOW the time has come to ask if Patterson's frantic antics in the case of the X-rated film in Ferndale suggest that his aggressiveness in enforcing the law has been overwhelmed by his passion for political benefit.

Patterson has ordered numerous raids on the Studio North Theater to confiscate a supposedly pornographic film-"Naked Came The Stranger"-being shown there. Last week, the Michigan Court of Appeals ruled that the film has not been proven to be obscene and could be shown. Patterson then went through seven judges before he found a sympathetic eighth who would let him raid the theater again, which he did over the weekend. At last. U.S. District Judge John Feikens signed an order restraining Patterson from any more raids until a judicial hearing could be

The question here is not whether this particular film is obscene nor, indeed, whether the public at large is damaged by obscene materials being

The question is why Patterson has chosen to ignore established legal procedures which are already in place for determining whether a film is obscene and for preventing its exhibition if it is.

OBVIOUSLY, the majority of voters are against obscenity and will look kindly at any prosecutor trying to stop it. Equally obviously, neighbors of the theater in question do not like their neighborhood being used for pornographic exhibitions, and

Observation

by PHILIP H. POWER -

will look kindly on anybody trying to prevent it. So the political benefits are evident for an ambitious and aggressive politician like Patterson.

But are the political benefits on balance outweighed by an blatant attempt to exploit the issue by plain and simple harassment of the theater owner, with clear disregard for due process of law? I think not.

I have heard several of Mr. Patterson's speeches, and they are good ones, stressing the idea that that government is best which governs least. But by his opportunistic and over-reactive harassment in this case. Patterson is not only violating his own principles but also those of most sensible people.

If, in fact. Patterson is ambitious for higher office, he would be well-advised to moderate his opportunism before he is forever tagged with that

Hunters show genuine spirit

By TIM RICHARD

The truth about hunters is considerably less spectacular than one would be led to believe by television. Less spectacular but far more inter-

A down-to-earth, prosaic but educational and fun exhibit on hunting and fishing is in store for those who visit the Sept. 27-28 weekend show put on by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs' District I (MUCC), which covers Wayne and much of Oakland counties.

This, the only National Hunting and Fishing Day program in the Detroit metropolitan area, will draw 30 exhibits to Westland Shopping Center, Warren at Wayne roads in Westland.

THE HUNTING PART is of particular interest, considering the big flap caused by CBS News' lopsided theatrical called "The Guns of Autumn." A lot of hunters are upset about that show, though I don't think they should be.

Look at it this way: If a man from Mars doing a documentary on Earth were to visit a leper colony, a syphillis ward and a refugee camp in Bangladesh, what would you say? You'd say it's true as far as it went, but it doesn't tell the story of life on Earth. Same with television: The individual horror stories are more or less true, but it just ain't what hunting's about.

Art Pollakowski, a real estate appraiser and information man for one of the MUCC clubs, says his organization will have a reloading exhibit. "The Department of Natural Resources will be there with an egg hatching exhibit—pheasants and quail," he said. "The kids will be stacked up all day to see that one. It's fascinating.

"There'll be a live wolf, a black powder firearms exhibit (from the North-South Skirmish Association), hunting dogs and a fly casting display, with participation if we can arrange it."

Barbara Welanetz, the PR lady with the center, listed displays of hunting equipment, archery, duck decoys and a duck-calling demonstration, a BB gun booth, information on hunter-farmer relations and the proper use of recreational vehicles as other exhibits.

SOMEWHERE between 100 and 150 men and women will be involved, and the point is this: They are ordinary working folks and family people, and if you're expecting to encounter flinty-eyed sadists, forget it.

Even the "message," what there is of it, will be low-key. Said Pollakowski: "We'll have literature about our clubs. If somebody asks about the club, we'll give 'em a pamphlet."

If you want to hear more horror stories about hunting that television didn't show, ask nearly any decent hunter. He'll tell you about hunting "preserves" where they pinch a pheasant's head or whirl it around to make it groggy so that, when released, the bird will be unable to move until it's flushed and is an easy shot. But he won't go there.

"I was born with all the instincts and the senses of primitive man," wrote Guy deMaupassant, the French short-story author. We all have that primitive instinct to hunt and the dietary need for animal protein.

There are, without question, moral lepers who exhaust deer by chasing them on snowmobiles. If you want to watch moral lepers (and it doesn't hurt us to be reminded of such flaws), watch CBS. But if you want to learn more about hunting as it is, wander out to Westland Center Sept. 27 or 28 and talk to the plain, everyday variety of hunter. They're unspectacular, but they're for real.

Perpetuates party hacks

Campaign reform makes it tough on big and little guys Suppose you are one of the many citizens who is

unhappy with the direction in which government is heading and decide the only way you can possibly effect change is by running for public office yourself.

Suppose, also, that you really don't know a lot about how political parties work because you have never had any experience in getting someone elected to public office.

Since Michigan has just enacted a new campaign-reform law backed by Common Cause, "the peoples' lobby," you might expect that the ordinary citizen has a better chance of getting elect-

The fact is, the new campaign-reform law ; makes it more difficult for an ordinary citizen to get into politics and helps perpetuate those already in office.

YOU SAY YOU don't believe it? The new campaign reform law restricts the amount of money that can be spent formally by a candidate for public office and restricts the amount of a contribution that any individual can make for that campaign.

The concerned citizen can't even use his own money to completely finance his campaign because the law restricts how much money an individual or a relative can contribute to his own cam-

Consequently, the only people who can afford to run for public office are those who are involved in a broad-based organization that can solicit limited amounts of money from a large number of

An incumbent legislator in Michigan can call upon lobbyists and their friends to fill his coffers very quickly. ON TOP OF that, the new law requires full financial disclosure. Now, if you don't have anything, full financial disclosure is not a problem. But a man who has accomplished something in the business world and has demonstrated the ability to get things done is now in a position where he has to bare his

You might say, "Well, that's the price a person must pay to be in politics." But it very possibly might be the price the people will pay in losing affluent and capable candidates.

In addition, there are several people who won't run for public office, feeling that disclosure of their financial resources will make them targets for robbery and kidnapping. If you don't think this is a real concern, why has Jack Nicklaus decided not to play golf in Thailand? He has frankly stated that, because he has been successful in the golf world, he could be the target of a kidnapping or assassination attempt by people who are trying to attain a political end.

WE ALL BELIEVE that good government will be achieved only when good candidates are elected. Most of us also believe that candidates elected by special interest groups will serve those special interests and not the people in general. Limiting contributions and providing full financial disclosure seems to achieve these ends. The problem is that in order for the reformers to get the bill past a cynical professional legislative body, something had to be put in that aided those already entrenched in office.

Under the guise of flowing banners and marching bands and the liberal use of the word "reform," Michigan has passed a piece of legislation that promotes perpetuation of party hacks in political office.

Area men hold sway on resource body

There's a decidedly suburban flavor to the newly launched State Resource Recovery Commission.

It was created by State Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth), and two of its 11 members are from this area.

Chairman of the commission is Raymond L. Baker, who represented the Farmington are in the Michigan House from 1960-1974.

John Layman of Livonia was appointed by Gov. Milliken to a four-year term expiring July 1979. Layman, who is president of Lyon Development Corp. of Westland, was also nominated to the commission chairmanship but declined in favor of Baker.

AT THE COMMISSION'S first meeting Sept. 10, Baker was installed as chairman for the first four months of operation. He had served in the House Conservation Committee during his tenure and earned the Michigan Conservationist Legislator of the Year award in 1968. His term on the commission extends to July 1977.

Fred Kellow, chief of the Department of Natural Resources's (DNR) Solid Waste Management Division, is the newly elected executive secretary of the commission. He and an initial staff of 14 will handle the day-to-day operations of the program and administer its 1975-76 budget of $150,000.

THE NEW commission was organized within the DNR following passage of Pursell's Resources Recovery Act. Its intent is to coordinate all state solid waste programs and, through the cooperation of government and private industry, redirect all efforts toward recovery and reuse of raw materials instead of disposal.

Pursell envisions the end result of the commitment as a statewide network of collection and recovery centers serving surrounding communities. These centers would convert solid waste into fuels, electricity and other productive materials. Pursell hopes to have work under way on major resource centers in two to

"In addition to the obvious environmental benefits," Pursell remarked, "I'm convinced that efforts directed by the commission will produce a thriving new industry and new jobs in Michigan. The initial impact will the the infusion of at least $100 to $200 million in resource recovery investment in our state, and that's just a start on what I consider an enormous economic potential."

STARS: Signs of life, not the devil's own work

Dear Gundella,

I heard you on a WDRQ talk show recently, and I tried to call in but the phones were all busy. I want to know what is the meaning of the pentagram in witchcraft. Is it a sign of the devil? E.S.

Westland The pentagram is a five-pointed star. In witchcraft it stands for life and is symbolic of the human body. The top point represents the head, and the other four points represent the out-stretched arms and legs.

Death is represented by folding the arms over the chest, symbolic of the skull and cross-bones. Since witches believe in life after death, some of our chants are recited as we change position from arms crossed over the chest, representative of death, to the star of life position with arms out-

Plymouth native captures 0 & E golf tourney

By TOM SCHRAM Sports Editor

Plymouth's Dave Wall took control of the 1975 Observer & Eccentric Golf Tournament on the ninth hole of the second round and never let up as he coasted to a two-stroke victory over Livonia's Bud Stevens in the annual event at Whispering Willows Golf Course in Livonia last weekend. Wall recorded rounds of 76-71 for a total of 147 and the two-stroke mar-

"The first day it was really windy and cold, and nobody really shot that well," Wall said later.

Indeed, the best round of that day was a 74 recorded by Tom Ahern, who finished with an 80 for 154 and third place.

"It was comparable to the Brittish Open," said host pro Gary Whitener of the miserable weather which greeted a record turnout of 165 linksmen in the tournament. Temperatures were in the low 40s and winds were gusting to 25 miles per hour as the first golfers teed off.

Sunday brought fair weather and, in the end, an exciting, although not quite dramatic, finish to the tournament.

Wall grabbed the one-stroke lead from Stevens, who was runner-up last year also, on the ninth hole and then sank a long putt for par on the 14th while Steves was bogeying the hole.

Wall bogied the last hole, but Stevens' long chip from just off the green, which would have forced a playoff, was just off the mark and he, too, ended up taking a bogie.

"I was real glad to be playing with Bud. He's a real competitor, and it helped my concentration to be playing wish someone like him. I'm just glad he didn't get any hotter than he did," said Wall.

It was the first O&E tournament for the 28-year-old Wall, who said that he plans to defend his title next year. Here are complete tournament re-

Late Churchill rally nips Thurston, 20-12

By JIM BRADLEY

"It's unbelieveable. I've never seen that happen before in my years as a head coach.

This was the spirited response of veteran Livonia Churchill football Coach Ken Kaestner after his Chargers scored three touchdowns in the last five minutes Friday to defeat Thurston, 20-12.

"I certainly didn't think we'd come through like that after trailing 12-0 after three periods. But we're super proud of our kids and the way they never gave up.'

In contrast, the head coach of Thurston. Don Riehl, can only feel heartache after holding a strong Churchill team in check for the entire time up until the fatal "five minutes."

Thurston's Eagles took control of the game immediately after an aborted touchdown thrust by Kaestner's Chargers. Driving 77 yards on a concerted march. Churchill apparently scored when back Matt Foster took quarterback Mike Streicher's screen pass and circled end for 15 yards to pay dirt.

However, a clipping penalty nullified the score, and a play later Thurston started a drive that carried 80 yards. It was capped by All-Area halfback Gary Abundis' one-yard TD plunge. A trick play for the two-point conversion failed and the Eagles led 6-0 with 2:50 left in the first quarter.

Trailing 6-0 early in the fourth period. Churchill's signal-caller Streicher looped an 8-vard pass into the end zone to Foster, but the official ruled the burly back fell out of bounds making the grab. "It was a good call by the official who was in good position to see it." Kaestner said later.

That stirred the Eagles, who promptly connected on quarterback Roy Piligian's 62-yard completion that moved the pigskin to the visitors' 17. Abundis, who rambled 69 yards in 20 carries, gained four yards before Piligian found Dennis Graff with a 13yard toss in paydirt and a 12-0 lead. When the kick failed with six minutes left in the game, it didn't seem to matter much

But the lethargic Chargers, who "had just been standing around." according to Kaestner, began to play

Quarterback Streicher. Foster and halfback Scott Shepard spearheaded the amazing comeback. Streicher zipped a 30-yard completion to Jim Wright, and a personal foul penalty moved the ball inside the 20. Two plays later. Streicher. who completed 10 of 18 passes for 141 yards and one touchdown, connected on a 17-yard scoring bomb to Wright, who grabbed five aerials for 74 yards and one TD. The score came with 4:57 left in the game and Foster's extra point attempt was blocked.

Thurston fumbled on its first play and alert Jeff Agan, Charger linebacker, pilfered the pigskin on the Eagle 16. A running play gained two yards, then Foster took a screen pass around left end to the one yard line. On the next play. Foster plunged over and kicked the go-ahead point as Churchill led 13-12, scoring two touchdowns in one minute.

Piligian, who completed five of six passes for 112 yards and one touchdown for Thurston, was called on when Churchill stopped three plays. Coach Riehl, having about three minutes left in the game, shunned the punt, and when Piligian's pass fell incomplete. Churchill took over on the Eagle 16. Three plays later Shepard sprinted around left end for another Charger score.

Foster added the extra point and the game went to Churchill, who had 126 yards rushing and 141 passing for 267 yard total. Thurston garnered 88 running and 112 through the air for an even 200 yards.

Scott Shepard was Churchill's leading rusher with 69 yards in 13 tries while teammate Foster ran for 33 and caught four passes for 51 more yards.

Churchill hosts a good John Glenn team at 4 p.m. Friday while Thurston visits Royal Oak Kimball for a 7:30 p.m. Friday test.

Defensive Aggies top DCDS

Defense dominated offense in most season openers on the gridiron over the weekend, and St. Agatha's defensive unit glittered in posting a 14-0 shutout over Detroit Country Day.

Head coach Harvey Heitman's Aggies stopped no less than four Country Day drives inside Agatha's 10yard line by the bone-jarring tackling of defensive tackle Jerry Halberta and cornerback Jim Petriches and their comrades-in-arms.

In addition, the Aggie secondary picked off six passes to stop every Country Day offensive effort.

"I was very pleased with the defense." said Heitman after the satisfying non-conference season opener. "Jim Petriches and Jerry Halberta both played a whale of a game and were just tremendous."

Halberta, who stands 5-11 and weighs 205, plugged holes all night long and cornerback Petriches made many of the tackles for the Aggies.

Free safety Marty Fox intercepted two passes. One each was intercepted by Petriches. Dave Mulley, Girard Trujillo and Charley Nemes, a linebacker who the coaches said was tre-conversion attempt failed. But the Aggies began another drive about midfield and quarterback Brian Higgins capped the drive with a oneyard sneak. Mulley ran the two-point conversion and the scoring ended for the evening as neither team could light the scoreboard in the second touchdown, and halfback Girard Trujillo gained 56 yards in 11 tries. Quarterback Higgins threw only twice but connected on one, a 22-yard throw to end Paul Churches. Agatha finished with 225 total yards.

"It was the usual-type opening game mistakes that we made," coach Heitman remarked, "but we'll work on the offense and try to polish it a little for our game Saturday night against Willow Run."

Ypsilanti Willow Run comes to Redford to play the Aggies at the Hilbert Junior High School field at 7:30 p.m.

Heitman, who believes his team compared favorably offensively and defensively with number one-rated Plymouth Salem last year, is convinced he's got another good squad this season.

"We moved the ball well (202 yards Mulley paced the Aggie runners rushing), and I think we'll do all right this year," Heitman said.

course, is the Catholic League Second Division championship.

Blocking the Aggies' way is a tough Mt. Carmel team which edged them out of the playoffs last year.

That showdown is slated for Saturday night, Nov. 1 and it's a good bet that the playoff berth will be riding on the outcome.

Coach Harvey Heitman was ecstatic after last week's victory over DCDS but knows enough not to look too far ahead.

Still, he havsthe talent of many of the Class A schools in this area in his hands, and if last week's game was any indication, it will be Mt. Carmel looking on from the sidelines at this year's championship second division

Here's a rundown on this week's high school grid action in the area. All games are slated for 8 p.m. unless otherwise noted.

FRIDAY SEPT. 19 Canton at Annapolis, 3:30 p.m.

The Chiefs looked bad in their opening loss to Bentley but they should be a .500 club, and this week's game against a weak Annapolis squad will get them right at that mark. Annapolis lost its opener to Battle Creek Pennfield 32-6 and will have a tough time doing much better against Can-

John Glenn at Churchill, 4 p.m.

John Glenn surprised Garden City West last week, and Fred Shoemaker showed himself to be one of the quickest backs in the area. But Churchill is coming off a great come-from-behind victory over Thurston and the momenturn may be enough to squeak by the Rockets on home turf. Redford Union at Salem

RU did not win a game in the Suburban Eight last year and will not win one Friday night. Salem showed itself to be better than expected in losing to a tough Andover team. This time, the Rocks get back to their winning ways. Bishop Borgess at Garden City East

East is coming off a close win and Borgess a close loss. The game rates as a near toss-up, but the bet here is that the Catholics come out on top. Clarenceville at Northville Clarenceville beat itself last week. The Mustangs will see to it that they don't have to do that this time. Northville should romp. Thurston at Royal Oak Kimball 7:30 p.m.

The Eagles played a fine three quarters and seven minutes of football last week before Churchill came back to score three times in the final five minutes. If they are to achieve their potential as one of the area's top grid teams, the Eagles will have an opportunity against a Kimball team that whipped Madison Heights Lamphere 32-6 last week. Chances are Thurston will again fall victim.

SATURDAY, SEPT. 20 Stevenson at Franklin, 2 p.m.

The Patriots are the best team in the area. Doubters are invited to stop in Saturday afternoon and watch Stevenson even its record at 1-1. Garden City West at Southgate, 2 p.m.

By JIM BRADLEY

Dearborn Divine Child continued its jinx over Bishop Borgess Saturday night before a packed home stadium crowd, 7-0, scoring after an intercepted pass and stopping two deep Spartan drives in the first half.

"I don't know whether it's becoming a hex or what," a disappointed Fred Mushinski said after the Falcons had defeated his Spartans for the third consecutive year by a close Divine Child won 12-7 in 1973 and 14-10 last year.

Now comes this latest setback in a game which many observers thought Borgess clearly outplayed its foes.

In fact, Borgess ran 35 offensive plays in the first half to Divine Child's 15 and the Falcons never got closer than the Spartans' 30-yard line the entire game.

The break that gave the host team its only score came on the sixth play of the first quarter. Sophomore quarterback Steve Michuta's pass was picked off by Falcon Jim Kempinski on Borgess' 46-yard line and returned to the 30. A face-mask penalty on the play moved it down to the 15.

Three running plays moved it to the seven yard line where it was fourthand-two for a first down. Divine Child quarterback Dean Faletti faded to pass but when his receivers were covered, he tucked the ball under his arm and raced through an open lane in the right side of the line for a seven-yard TD scamper.

That score came with 8:01 left in the first period and Divine Child never penetrated the Borgess' 30-yard stripe after that. But, as it turned out, that was all the Falcons needed.

However, the fighting Spartans did everything but score on two long firsthalf marches. They took the kick-off after the Falcons scored and drove to the Divine Child three yard line where it was first and goal-to-go.

But here is where inexperience was costly as three consecutive handoffs were mishandled by Borgess and on fourth down, the visitors were stopped on the one-yard line.

Borgess, which held Divine Child to only 86 yards rushing and 82 passing in the game, pinned the Dearborn team back and took the punt at Divine Child's 40.

Outfielder Lonnie Parker, a singles hitter who sets things up for the big men, is batting .600, and speed merchant Matt Partridge, also an outfielder, is hitting .595 and leads the club in doubles with 31 and in triples

But the game is not entirely an offensive show. Pitcher Rick Pinto, who has an 84-18 record, has started a total of 47 double plays from the mound this season.

Snyders in world tourney

mark of .701 in 112 games. Even more impressive are his power figures: 139 home runs and 328 runs-batted-in. Outfielder Larry Elkins, who has played in all 114 games, has a .628 batting mark with 127-homers and 304 RBIs.

Elkins was named most valuable player in the Eastern World tournament.

Third man in the power parade is catcher Jim Mitchell. He has 121 homers and 281 RBIs in 106 games, to go along with a batting mark of .582.

With its recent victory (Labor Day weekend) in the Eastern World Championship tournament sponsored by the United States Slowpitch Softball Association (USSSA). Snyder's Softball Club of Redford enhanced its reputation as the nation's toughest tournament team.

The USSSA Eastern win was Snyder's 19th major tournament title in the last three years. Included in this impressive bag of trophies are the Milwaukee Invitational, the Pittsburgh Invitational, the Armco Steel tournament in Middletown, Ohio (three straight years), the Major Metro Travel League Tournament of Champions both years it has been held). Southgate's Jim Becker Memorial Tournament, and the Motor City Invitational (two of the last three years).

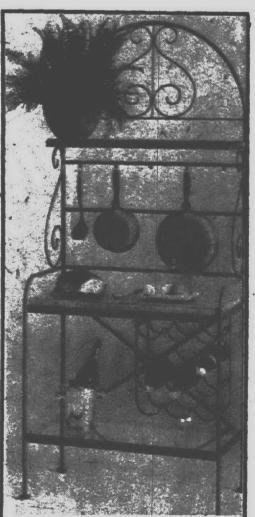

Ironically. Snyder's has never won its own league championship. "We just seem to peak for the tournaments," manager Jim Snyder explain-

Snyder now is hoping that his team will reach another peak in time for the USSSA World Series. an eightteam event that will be held September 26-28 in Rochester, N.Y. To win the World title, Snyder's will have to unseat another Major Metro League member, Uniroyal, which won the championship last year under the sponsorship of Dino's.

Having two teams from the Major Metro in the nationwide eight-team field is ample illustration of the power of the Detroit area loop.

Snyder's won the Eastern World title in seven straight games, banging out 43 home runs and averaging 22 runs a game. Snyder's has an overall record of 92-23 this season, including 34-15 in MMTL league play. It was knocked out of the league playoffs by an unheralded PUSH team which had been defeated by Snyder's eight straight times in regular-season play.

Third baseman Doug Gerdes heads the Snyder offense with a batting

If there was any doubt about women's impact on the bowling game it would be removed at the service counters of the various establishments.

The evidence would come with the multi-colored bowling balls on sale.

Until the women took a keen interest in the game, all bowling balls were black, just as the first automobiles were black. It often was said that Henry Ford used to tell the prospective customers "You can have any color you want so long as it is black."

Today the bowling balls are all colors of the rainbow and some of them look like crystal that you can see through as they roll down the

The women brought about this change just as they did in the uniforms and jackets now being worn. And their colorful clothes gave the proprietors the courage to "dress up" their establishments.

So you can readily see that women have made a great impact on the game.. And, possibly, they are not yet finished.

CARLOS BLADES learned just how fickle Lady Luck can be when he was denied entry into bowling's most coveted club last week at Merri-Bowl

He was well on his way to a perfect game with 11 strikes in a row and had thoughts of the coveted perfect game

Then it happened. He crossed over to the Brooklyn side on his 12 ball and left up the No. 7 pin. He had to be content with a 299, the first bowled in the area this season, but his disappointment was partially appeased when he won high game honors for

He had opened with a 171, followed with the 299 and closed with 217 for

In other fine performances at Merri-Bowl Marge Holcomb, bowling in the ladies doubles, had games of 186, 195 and 257 for 638. In the morning league Nan Flint fashioned a 225 and Joan Hooper had 233 in 571 while Judy Sachs came through with a 231.

MADELINE DONUHUE was the most pleased bowler of the day in the ladies classic at Livonia Lanes when she won high series with a count of ,520-102-622 that included a high single of 208-34-242. In the other games Doris McCorkindale had a 167-49-216 and Gerry Zande won her set with a 156-

RON SHARPLES was man of the hour in the senior house league at Westland for the second week in a row. This time he posted games of 224, 236 and 219 for a 679 to lead the pack. Behind him came Don McLeod with 648 and Walt Stoddard with 552. In the mini morning league, Pam Martin showed the way with a 212 in

WHEN IT COMES to converting splits. Judy Newland is doing quite well at Plaza Bowl. This week she knocked over the 6-7-10 for a double century series. Last week she converted the 4-7-10.

THE GOOD TIMERS league at Plymouth lived up to its name when Helen Pointer posted a 171 in 402. Jerry Dyke had a 205 and Louis Cordas came through with a 529.

MARY MOHACSI was up to her old tricks in the ladies classic at Garden Lanes. She paced the entire loop with a 614 series and earned a 34 pin margin over Gloria Howell, her closest rival, while May Laackey landed third

PAUL HORIE, manager of Livonia Lanes, lost no time making his presence felt in the suburban travelling league bowling at Garden Lanes where he posted a 647 to set the pace. His closest competitor was Jerry Bingham with 634.

In the Moose League, Bill Montgomery Sr. was the head man with a 628. Al Smith was right behind with 613. and Bob Blackmur landed third with 599. Meanwhile, in the women's league Mazie Kowalski lead the parade with a 563, only three pins ahead of Norma Johnson

CAROL YURKES' BONANZZA TEAM moved in front in the all star ladies scoring race Monday night with a 1042 game in a 2905 series. Both were high marks for the season.

Symanski makes East defense go

By JIM BRADLEY .

RON SYMANSKI, Observer & Eccentric grid star of the week.

Garden City East's dogged defensive unit dug in on its own 11-yard line protecting a precarious 6-0 lead with three minutes left in its opener Friday night against Riverside.

A touchdown and extra point would give the visiting Rebels a 7-6 victory. And they were just 11 short yards

As the Panther home fans held their collective breath. East's stout defense. led by middleguard Ron Symanski, stopped Riverside for no gain, then threw them for three consecutive losses of five, two and eight yards.

Most of the defensive heroics were performed by Symanski, a 5-9, 170 pound senior who made 10 solo tackles during the game and assisted on 11 other stops.

For his outstanding performance on the field. Ron Symanski of Garden City East has been named the football prep star of the week.

"Ron worked very hard during the winter with weights and can bench-

Although football is the only sport Symanski plays at East, he also likes to keep in shape by playing handball and tennis.

on that last Riverside drive," Ron related afterward, "but we talked it up and worked together to stop them. Each down we picked ourselves up mentally as the coaches have taught us to do in practice."

Ron has four brothers and one sister, and his older brother Steve swam for East in 1970.

Coach Humphrey added: "You know. Ron doesn't especially look like an athlete, but he was the whole show out there on defense. He's real strong, quick off the ball and has a nose to go where the play is coming."

Ron started as a linebacker in the 10th grade on the JV football team and has been a two-year starter at middleguard at the varsity level.

"As we looked at the films, our coaching staff noticed that even when Ron didn't make the tackle or assist, "I started to get tired as we dug in he forced the runner into another East tackler," added Humphrey, now in his 10th year as Garden City East football skipper.

When informed that strong Bishop Borgess was coming to town Friday night. Ron shrugged and said: "They're good, but we'll work extra hard and I think we'll give 'em a good

And knowing the fella "loves to hit" makes you believe he's already looking forward to the clash.

Wolverine horse

Down through 26 years records have not been kept on the particular subject, but veteran railbirds around Wolverine Raceway say that Michigan-bred Barney Fahrner's seventh straight victory last Friday almost definitely constitutes a track record.

The easy gaited three-year-old son of Adios Cleo romped home two lengths in front of Deuterium in a $4,200 pace, still another time when he won as he pleased. Barney Fahrner's victory margins have never been less than a length and a half since he started the skein on July 28.

"I don't remember any horse here winning more than four or five in a row." testifies Dick Wilson, the track general manager who started up through the ranks at Wolverine some 25 years ago. "Fact is, I wonder how many tracks in the country have ever had a horse win that many on the

"The Rothe's do not believe in racing their horses as two-year-olds." says Barney Fahrner's trainer and driver Norman Cohen. "And you'd have to say that Barney's performances this year make that practice look awfully intelligent."

MOVED UP RATHER steadily in classification at Wolverine, Barney Fahrner has in recent weeks beaten such other good horses as Tim Patchen, Winning Andy, Plume, Baroness Bretna and Ranger Andy. His bestever 2:00 mile Friday indicates that he is more than ready for a hike into even stronger competition, and that will certainly come.

"We go this Saturday night in a still tougher field of pacers," Cohen reports. "If we come through that one I'd have to guess the $10,000 Invitational Paces are our next chal-

The former Detroit construction man who broke into harness racing several years ago under the veteran Tom Wilburn thinks Barney Fahrner is capable of "at least 1:59.2 or 1:59.3" right now. He reported that throughout his victory streak "Barney has never had an easy trip" despite his sizable winning margins.

'The colt isn't much to look at and he's just medium sized," adds the 40year-old Cohen. "But he's brim full of natural speed and would rather be racing on the track than eating in the

Thus far in winning eight of 10 races, Barney Fahrner has banked nearly $12,000 for the Rothes. And that, as they say down on the farm. could be just chicken feed compared to what his long range potential seems to be on the race track.

Following up Barney Fahrner's 2:00 mile last week was Erlanas Valley's 1:59.1 on Saturday as the veteran seven-year-old gelding edged Easy Irv in the $10,000 Invitational Pace. Those two speed performances jumped Wolverine's 2-minute mile record to 46 in 53 racing nights, a figure never before approached in Detroit racing history.

Involved in those "magic" miles. as the Wolverine track record plunged to 1:56-flat, were 36 different horses and 22 different drivers, also a standard which is historic in Motor City racing.

on record streak

Bred right down on the farm of Nicholas and Mildred Rothe of Howell. Mich., the three-year-old Barney Fahrner is a product of the Michigan sire Adios Cleo and the Rothe's fruitful mare Roya G. He was almost completely unheralded when he moved over to Wolverine from Hazel Park in mid-July. mainly because he had never been raced as a two-year-old.

Hearing set on mental health care

Placement and care of mentally ill, retarded and aged persons will be discussed at a public hearing from 10 a.m. to . p.m., Thursday, Oct. 9, in the 13th floor auditorium in the City-County Building, Detroit.

One in a series of statewide hearings, it will be conducted by a joint legislative committee studying community placement in Michigan. State Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth) is a committee member.

State Rep. Philip Mastin (D-Hazel Park), committee chairman, said past studies have "consistently indicated gross inadequacies in the community placement system as it is now oper-

He said the inadequacies include inconsistent laws, policies, funding and support services as well as lack of standards, including discriminatory zoning policies and the absence of reasonable principles for rate setting.

Other inadequacies reported were a lack of coordination between agencies and overlapping leadership in state agencies.

"Community placement was originally intended by the legislature to be a humane and sensible alternative to institutionalization, and it is our committee's intention to make certain the legislative intent is realized." Mastin

Westland couple find satisfying work in Nigeria

BY SHERRY KAHAN

Mike and Gloria Naruta of Westland were full of confidence more than a year ago when they spoke of their dream of going to Liberia, Africa, in order to translate the Bible into the local language. They were sure they would find financial help to get there.

Their confidence was justified. Today the idealistic young couple is hard at work in a village called Jawodi, in the bush country of Liberia.

Every day Naruta, who had worked as a computer programmer for the City of Westland, patiently helps villagers learn to read.

His wife, a former substitute teacher in Westland, works with him.

"We are also busy translating folk stories, Bible stories and other transitional reading material for use in class," wrote Mrs. Naruta to her friend, Kathleen Swarthout of Garden

She added that a rough draft of the Book of Mark has already been prepared by a fellow translator for use when the students' reading skills are adequate.

*PEOPLE ARE very anxious to learn," she said, adding that she and her husband are also students. They study the local language with the help of the village leader and two converted local men named Joseph and child is loved very much."

However, their time is by no means entirely spent in studying and teach-dry whole milk completed the meal. 'By that time, the kerosene lamps were on in order that we could see in the mud-walled house. There is a certain peaceful feeling (and yet a bit eerie) when sitting in the dim light with the villagers joining in the room for companionship.

"THE VILLAGERS made us feel welcome by bringing a good will gift of food. When company comes everyone is greeted with the Liberian handshake with a snap of the index finger against the palm of the hand.

"Mike was given the name, Tamba, meaning second-born son. Sia, meaning first-born daughter, was my name and also Anna's.'

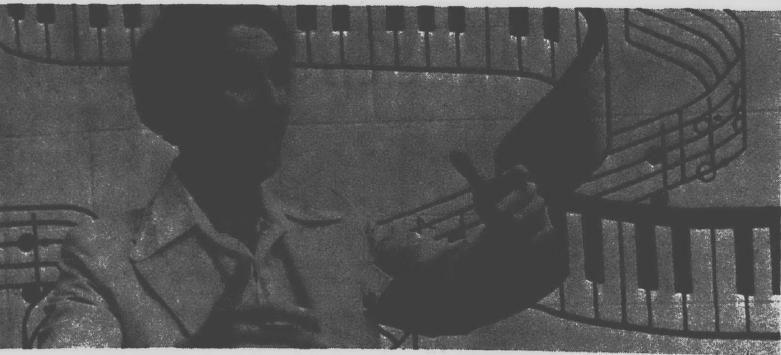

Anna is the couple's eighth-monthold daughter.

Mrs. Naruta explained that children are much loved in the culture and are carried around by fond sibling when not carried on the mother's back.

"Children are held by fathers when they have time," she wrote. "The chief in the area has nine wives and some chiefs have more. Still each

DR. JERRY SMITH, choral director at Bentley High School and Ward United Presybterian

How to direct a church choir is topic of course

By MARGARET MILLER

Church music and how to put it across effectively is the subject of a 10-week course to be taught by Dr. Jerry Smith on his home grounds of Bentley High School under sponsorship of John Wesley College of Farmington Hills.

The course, designed mainly for church choir leaders, also drew some leaders and members of community singing groups when it was offered for the first time last spring.

The new term sessions will begin Monday, Sept 22, in the music wing of Bentley, with classtime running from 7 to 10 p.m.

Students may audit or take it for one hour's credit, which involves strictly the class work, or they may do extra work for two or three hours of credit.

DR. SMITH said the course this year would include several new features based on the evaluation given by students in the first class.

"They made it clear they wanted more work in the actual conducting and handling of a choir," he said. "My emphasis also is on musicianship, and they accept that as an important part of the work.

"But this year there will be less work on the selection of music." Dr. Smith is qualified from all counts to lead the credit class.

Besides 16 years at Bentley, where he has developed the tradition of award-winning choral groups and has led young people all kinds of music, he has for two years been director of the choir at Ward United Presbyterian Church of Livonia.

Earlier he was choir director at Trinity Baptist Church.

"The Ward choir," he said, "is the kind a director dreams about. We have 100 members, and 100 more on a waiting list anxious to join."

THE DIRECTOR said last year's studies drew both directors of musical cers of such groups and felt they would like to know something about directing situations.

"There were also a couple of pastors' wives and some organists who sometimes are called upon to take over," he added. "The course seems to interest, too, some young people who are going into music leadership and want to know how I function."

Dr. Smith said his own philosophy of choral music in church and elsewhere is that it must display fine musicianship. "You have to give a stellar performance when you are competing with the entertainment television offers, or people don't come to listen," he added.

The director earned his doctorate in music at the University of Michigan in 1972.

The course cost is $40 for those taking it for no credit. Those enrolled in John Wesley College on an exploratory basis will pay $25 per credit hour, and regular John Wesley stugroups and those who served as offi- dents pay $50 per credit hour.

Some of the questions Lane will pose, and attempt to provide answers to include: why did most of the eve-witnesses believe that the shots came from the front when the alleged assassin, Oswald, was positioned behind the motorcade? Why is the material, concerning the death of the President sealed in the archives until 2039? How is it possible that in the three-year period which followed the murder of President Kennedy, 18 material witnesses have died?

Lane is now heading the Citizens Committee of Inquiry and the Electoral Process based in Washinton to investigate the alleged role of the CIA and the FBI in covering up the facts about the assassination. He also is serving as liaison with congressional committees concerned with the possiblity of illegal FBA and CIA actions.

The program is sponsored by Schoolcraft's Cultural and Public Affairs Series. Tickets are $2.50 and may be purchased in advance in the college bookstore. They will be sold at the door if available.

New director of the choir, Marilyn Jones notes the choir is open to both students and the public. Rehearsals are held Tuesdays from 7:30 to 10 p.m. in Room 310 of the Forum Building, 18600 Haggerty.

The group's first meeting is Sept.

Ms. Jones says the choir will present two major concerts in the 1975-76 season featuring choral works by Bach, Schubert and Stravinsky.

-- Singing experience is helpful, Ms. Jones adds, but the prime requirements are a love of singing and faithful attendance. Members of the choir from previous years are urged to continue their participation.

Ms. Jones replaces Bradley Bloom, choir conductor and instructor of music theory at Schoolcraft, who is on sabbatical leave. She holds bachelor's and master's degrees from Wayne State University and currently is studing for her doctorate at the University of Michigan. Ms. Jones has taught in Brighton and Detroit school districts, Wayne State University and Schoolcraft.

The director and her husband, Dave, along with Schoolcraft music instructor Robert W. Jones and his wife Anne, a part-time music instructor at Schoolcraft, form the Jones Consort.

-- Ms. Jones recently served as director of Discovery Youth Chorale and the Cass Tech Madrigal Singers, and took European and Australian tours in - 1972 and 1974 respectively.

Registrations for the symphonic choir course will be accepted in the registrar's office between noon and 8 p.m. on Sept. 23. Individuals also may segister at the first class meeting

By JOE PIERCE Special writer

The Plymouth Salem varsity girls' tennis team has quickly compiled a 3-Record with victories over Northville, Ann Arbor and Livonia Frank-

The team, which placed second in the Sub-8 and in state regional play last year, shows promise of repeating last year's performance.

Ten returning team members, inchuding the league singles champ, Ceci Warrick, and league doubles champ, Laura Hastings, and seven new members, comprise the 1975 Rock team.

In its match against Northville, it didn't look like their first match as they trounced the Mustangs seven matches to none. Warrick, Karen Cook, Becky Crespo and Ann Sukowski were all victorious in singles play. Doubles teams of Hastings-Suzanne Hartnett and Cheryl Korclick-Nancy Grotz were both winners.

Plymouth Lions blast Brighton

The Plymouth JV Lions got their season off to an impressive start Sunday by whipping the Brighton Broncos 24-0 in the opener of Vince Lombardi

Quarterback Billy Hanis led off the scoring with a 66-yard first period gallop on a keeper around left end. In the second period, Jeff Hubert, who was also a standout on defense, scored on a 38-yard power sweep to make it 12-0 at the half.

Head coach Lew Fillenworth called for the quarterback keeper again in the third period and it worked with Tom Wennerburg driving 10 yards to put the Lions ahead 18-0.

With the Broncos driving for a score deep in Lion territory, and less than a minute on the clock, defensive back Brett Haarala intercepted a Bronco aerial in the endzone and returned it 103 yards for the Lions' final

Mickey Maisner led the Lions defense at linebacker and compiled more than 50 yards as a running back on offense. Mike Wittman, Dave Slavin and Mike Clayton repeatedly threw Bronco backs for losses as the "Jaws" defensive unit held Brighton

The Lions meet the Allen Park Bulldogs at Central field in Plymouth this Sunday, Sept. 21.

Y Indians set pow-wow to begin year's activities

A lot of Indians—and a few chiefs too— will gather Sunday, Sept. 21 at the Livonia Family Y. 14255 Stark, for the pow-wow that gets the assorted programs for parents and children going for another year.

At the 2 p.m. gathering, Family Y leaders will explain the organization of Indian Guides, for fathers and sons, Indian Princess', for fathers and daughters, and Indian Maidens, for mothers and daughters, all major parts of the organization's five years of age. The programs all were designed to provide opportunities for both mothers and fathers and their young children to enjoy shared activities.

Across the nation, in the three programs, parents and youngsters get together for Indian lore study, crafts, nature lore, games, singing, stories, outings and campouts, and service projects.

THE THREE organizations at the family Y add their special touches to these programs, parents who attend the Sunday meeting will learn.

For one thing, each of the organizations has a once-a-month swim night, when the Family Y pool is reserved for members only, or for their

The Indian Guides get the first Friday of each month from 8 to 9 p.m.; Indian Maidens get the second Friday; and Indian Princess' the third Friday.

All three have weekly meetings, too, and all will make trips this year to such events as the Ringling Brothers-Barnum & Baily Circus, and the Ice Capades.

Overnight campouts, both at the Y and at nearby Y camps, craft workshops, Christmas carolling and skating parties also are on the agenda.

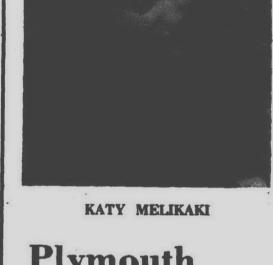

THE THREE PROGRAMS have mottoes that help explain their reason for being. These are "Pals Forever" for the Guides, "Friends Always" for the Princess' and "Helpmates Forever" for the Maidens.

In the Livonia Y, they have been organized since 1973.

The cost is $30 per year per family for nonmembers of the YMCA, and all families in the area are invited to join in the Sept. 21 organizational session.

THE Y INDIAN programs at the Livonia Family Y mean both fun regalia and enjoyable activities to the parents and sons and daughters who participate. At the right, some Indian Princesses learn about canoeing and canoe safety in a special session in the Y pool. Plymouth women seek to help friend in Greece

A group of Plymouth women seeks community help in saving the life of a Greek woman they have come to know through years of correspondence with her daughter.

The woman is Mrs. Polychronia Melikaki, and she has stomach cancer. Physicians in her home city of Thessaloniki believe surgery will save her if it can be performed soon. But for that to happen her daughter, Ekatrina (Katy) needs $400.

She turned to her friends in the St. John Episcopal Church League in Plymouth because they have given her financial support and encouragement for 14 years, ever since she wrote them a thank-you letter after they sent a CARE package.

"We really feel we know her well although we have never met," said Mrs. Ethel Marks of New Salem, the league member who has done the corresponding with Katy.

"When we first heard of her, she and her mother were living in unbelieveable circumstances, in a tiny place with a dirt floor. "She was interested in getting tutoring in English so she could continue her schooling, and we were glad to be able to pay for that.

"Later we were so proud that she was accepted for the university, and we kept in touch and sent some money to her while she studied. "Now she is teaching in Thessaloniki, but she makes only $160 a month and cannot pay the extra for her mother's operation." The women are staging a benefit, using an afghan made by one of their number and on display in the window of Wilson's Drug Store on Main Street. They also will be glad to accept con-tributions toward their effort. Those who would like to help may call Mrs. Howard Beck on Anthonys Court of the office of St. JohnsChurch on S don Road. Downtown
