An outboard motor on the tracks was thought to be the cause of a train derailment that brought about a state of emergency in Canton Township and the evacuation of 496 families in Stonybrook apartment complex on Joy

Seven cars of a southbound 70-car freight train jumped the tracks southeast of the intersection of Joy and Haggerty roads.

A derailed car ruptured a pipeline, spewing an estimated 42,000 gallons of gasoline along the tracks. The northwest wind carried the highly flammable fumes in the direction of the apartments. Canton Fire Chief Mel Paulun decided to evacuate the residents as a precautionary measure.

The pipeline belongs to the Buckeye Pipeline Co. and carries gasoline, crude oil or kerosene from Ohio to Bay City, Flint and Saginaw.

BY EARLY AFTERNOON the area was cleared.

Canton firefighters were at the scene of the derailment. A Plymouth Township fire truck and four firefighters were in position west of the apartment buildings as Canton Township employes checked every unit to make sure the evacuation was com-

Flexing his muscles and displaying African dance steps is Ishangi Razak, lead dancer of the Ishangi Family.

The youngest member of the Ishangi Family rattles a villagemade musical instrument, made from a squash and hard beads.

Students at Starkweather Elementary School sat on the edge of their seats last week as members of the Ishangi Family performed.

African dances carry symbolic meaning, students at Starkweather and West Middle schools learned last week. This dance, performed by the Ishangi Family, conveys an important message to residents of African villages: "If your head is weak, then you are a weak man."

Students learn about African culture, dance

Story: Darlene Stinson Photos: Maurie Walker

Students at Starkweather and West Middle schools embarked on a journey to Africa last week, but the sights they saw were not of the "Tar- tors. zan" variety.

Perched at the edge of their chairs in their school multi-purpose rooms, the pupils clapped and squirmed to the throbbing beats of African drums and village-made instruments and viewed the pulsating muscles of black-skinned dancers.

Women, swathed in blue-printed cloth, swayed to African melodies and transported bundles of clothing to imaginary streams, where they taught children the tasks of wash day.

THE ISHANGI FAMILY, a six-person West African dance group, last week stopped in Plymouth for the performances, offered through the Plymouth Community Arts Council, the Michigan Council for the Arts and the Detroit Youtheatre Show on the Road, an agency of the Detroit Institute of Arts.

The group, composed of Ishangi Razak and his wife, two sisters and two children, has performed the African music and dance steps on tours of the Caribbean, the United States, Africa and Europe.

The performances, designed to offer an insight into African culture and dispel myths about the diversified continent, have won worldwide acclaim, including a special award in the New York World's Fair.

"We do not play the 'talking' drum the way they do in the Tarzan movies," Razak told the students, who eagerly absorbed every word.

"Tarzan is a phoney. There never has been a Tarzan in Africa. Can you imagine a white man running around Africa with a miniskirt on? With a monkey as a personal secretary?

"And the Africans-you know the ooga-booga people! We don't know where they found those people. No one could understand them-the way they talk on television. Running around with a Kentucky Fried Chicken bone stuck in their noses!

"We do live in villages, though, and we do have our dances," Razak told the pupils. "But the man who created Tarzan-Edgar Rice Burroughs-was an American who never was in Africa!"

AFRICANS, THE GROUP leader said, have three languages— the spoken word, the dance step and the "talking" drum. Every dance step is symbolic and conveys a message to its viewers.

"This is what we call another person's culture," he said. "We hope if you understand another person's culture, all the fighting will stop so we can have peace."

A highlight of the performance, in the eyes of spellbound pupils, came with the finale of the day—the Dance of the High Ancestors. A 12-foot man, masked in African garb atop legs of lengthy stilts, leaped across the room to the sounds of throbbing drums and performed ceremonial dance steps.

"They were good," said Doug Bancroft, a third grader at Starkweather Elementary. "I liked the little girl and the great big monster. I didn't

"I thought it was neat," said third grader Bobby Gizowski. "I don't know how they did it!"

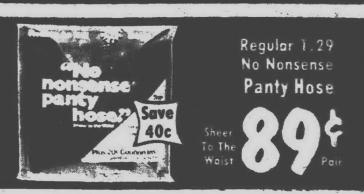

The Ishangi Family has performed on numerous American television networks. Razak, who teaches at several colleges on the East Coast, founded the Institute of African Sciences in New York, where students study yoga, African culture, tailoring, dance, music and languages.

The Ishangi Family, a dance troupe from West Africa, rattled and beat their native instruments for students at Starkweather Elementary and West Middle schools last week.

Delegates to the MASB supported a resolution urging state school boards to prohibit teacher union dues "checkoffs" that they claim would be used "for subsequent implementation of an automatic deduction of teacher strike fund assessments."

What the MASB was saying, in effect, was it would not make it convenient for teachers to raise funds that could eventually be used to finance teacher strikes.

At the same time, the MASB approved a trust fund to be used by boards to fight teacher strikes.

The MASB "Legal Trust Fund and Consortium" would help local districts "in pursuing important litigation matters which have statewide signifi-

STRIKES, SUCH AS those which occurred last year in Garden City and Crestwood, undoubtedly would have "statewide significance," but in order for a district to draw on the fund, it would have to contribute to it. . .

The Michigan Education Association, the teachers union, recently began a drive to obtain $75 from each of its members to provide funds to aid former Crestwood School District teachers who were fired by the Crest-

The MASB set up a task force to study revisions in Public Act 379 (Public Employes Relations Act). The law forbids public employes, such as teachers, from striking. The task force is to help the MASB find "new, alternatives to resolving public school employe labor disputes."

.Two other matters received the attention of delegates, according to Leonard VanHoven, MASA president.

VAN HOVEN said the MASA was overwhelmingly in favor of maintaining the present system of local control of schools. The "local control concept" would keep the responsibility for financing schools and handling labor disputes in the hands of local

While explaining the law, Pursell said that the task of building and preserving a community requires a vigorous downtown, a city commission with leadership, policy makers not afraid to delegate power because it would oave checks and balances, and final authority over major decisions made by a development authority. Pursell praised DeMaso as an independent senator, always supportitive of economic development concepts, and urban oriented.

Pursell stressed features requiring participation by the public-such as required hearings to present devel opment plans or before the business community can levy a tax upon itself or before the commission approves a bond sale, or before the tax mer plan is used.

The issuance of revenue doesn't require voter approval, Pursell said in response to a question, but general obligation bonds issued by the city must be approved by voters. Either type of bond must be approved by the Michigan Finance Commission for economic soundness, he added.

Development authority needs careful examination

The idea of forming a downtown development authority to revitalize the central business district in Plymouth may be an exciting notion, but deserves very careful scrutiny before any commitments are made.

That close look is already being taken by the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce, the city fathers, and the merchants downtown.

Another meeting is planned between these groups and state legislators to reach a better understanding of Public Act 197. That legislation was sponsored by Sen. Harry A. DeMaso (R-Battle Creek) to allow a city to establish a downtown development authority to prevent further deterioration of downtowns, to implement development plans in the business area, and to encourage preservation of historic sites.

ONE FEATURE of the legislation allows the authority, after submitting reports to the city commission, to levy a tax up to two mils on property owners within the defined boundaries of the business district to be revitalized. The first thing to stress is that the two mills won't be levied at-large, but only against businessmen within the redevelopment area. But that doesn't guarantee other taxpayers won't be making a "contribution." The tax rate would basically be used to pay for operational costs of the authority—for things like a fulltime executive director, consultant services, and professional studies.

Any major construction—such as a parking structure, or renovation-will require the sale of bonds. The legislation provides construction funds can be raised by the sale of general obligation bonds or revenue bonds.

If the new tax base generated by redevelopment isn't sufficient to pay off the indebtedness of a general obligation bond, then the city would be obligated to dip into its operational funds to make loan payments. This may not be likely, but should be considered.

It is more likely that revenue bonds would be sold, with the revenue from the new developments—such as parking fees or rental income being earmarked to pay off the debt. The odds are lower the city would have to kick in taxpayers' funds if this alternative were taken.

But, even then, it must be pointed out that the Plymouth Cultural Center was financed with revenue bonds and at this point in time revenue from the center hasn't been sufficient to repay the loan. This year, for instance, the funds taken from the operating budget to make loan payments is equivalent to close to 11/2 mils.

THERE ARE other financing alternatives which could be taken to avoid the possibility of the city's operating funds from being used.

But the community should be aware that it is quite possible that any new tax revenue generated by downtown redevelopment might be encumbered for 15-20 years to pay off bonds, be they revenue or general obligation issues.

This encumberment is logical, and proper. But everyone should be aware that a major redevelopment project downtown may not result in any immediate major tax relief for residential property

It is proper for those who invest money for downtown improvements, by paying a tax not levied on the city-at-large, to lay a claim on that new tax base to repay loans needed for the revitaliza-

It is also proper for city revenues to be spent in the business district. But city fathers, merchants and residents must carefully weigh how much money from operating funds should be funnelled towards business redevelopment.

THE BEST CASE in point is whether city funds should be used to build a parking structure, if one is needed, when the city has already invested monies in three parking lots in the downtown

In some cities, the municipality will build parking lots, but assess all merchants in the area an annual charge to pay for construction and maintenance. The cost for such parking is borne entirely by the business community.

If it is determined there is sufficient parking now, and there is some evidence to indicate that, then a parking structure would benefit customers from other cities because the City of Plymouth won't experience the kind of population growth to produce that many more shoppers.

If the parking structure is needed to handle non-residents, then the expense should be borne by merchants who will profit from these addition-

Financing of a parking structure would probably best be handled with a downtown development authority. And so the idea does need further exploration and cautious examination.

Many other projects could evolve and it might prove to be the best thing that's ever happened to the central business district. But let's approach the idea a step at a time with both eyes open. There's much to be gained. Let's make sure there's little to lose.

Justice has been obtained, but loose ends are disturbing

"What alarms me," said one city father, "is the availability of hard drugs, stolen guns and ammunition, with evidently no questions asked."

The conversation concerned the January shooting of Terry Buchman in Canton and the outcome of the trials of the three young adults accused of his murder.

In many instances, when the shooting is discussed, parents have a sympathy for the parents of the dead youth and a nagging empathy for the parents of the accused. The whole thing struck too close to home.

Teachers recall the participants as elementary and high school students. Schoolmates, who have been away at college, say, "I can't believe it. I had classes with him.'

Recreation is area challenge

The concept of a recreation authority for the area served by the Plymouth Community School District brings to mind exciting possibilities.

Weeks of groundwork and study came to naught in 1973 when the city of Plymouth representative was the lone dissenter in the projected plan.

THE AUTHORITY now reports to its parent organization, the Intergovernmental Committee, with the charge that: "The past problems encountered in a joint recreation exploration would be set aside and a new positive approach would be the focus."

The task is in the hands of Gerald Burke, Plymouth Township; Brian Schwall, Canton Township; Kay Williams, Superior Township; Joe Bida, City of Plymouth; Thomas Yak, Plymouth Community School District; and Richard Gornick, Intergovernmental Committee representative. For Schwall and Burke, who worked on the initial attempt for an integrated plan, it is difficult to forget all that went before. The facts, figures, and surveys gleaned from past experience should play a vital part in planning a joint, long-range approach to recreation.

AN ASSESSMENT of what each community has to throw into the kitty shows each group needs

Township-surrounded, the City of Plymouth has playgrounds and tot lots. It has provided its residents and the surrounding community with a Cultural Center which attracts skaters, bridge players, painters craft students and many others from a wide area.

The city spawned the school system which serves the entire community. In earlier days it took care of students from the east, until the new City of Livonia was able to take over its own.

School buildings scattered over the entire area with their tennis courts and playing fields are used for everything from crochet classes to touch football games by all the people.

Canton and Plymouth Townships have not neglected their own.

Plymouth Township has a golf course and an area set aside for recreation with lighted baseball diamonds.

Canton has a recreation hall and land for recreation use.

THE KEY WORD here is "land." The townships have acreage available for bike trails, cross-country skiing, nature trails, outdoor pools and skating rinks.

The city and the schools complement the townships in recreation facilities. It would be in the best interests of all to reach a meeting of the minds before it is too late. ELINOR GRAHAM

I'm finally beginning to understand why grandpa insisted on eating so many prunes.

Prunes were eaten for a laxative, of course, but grandpa had a rigid schedule of eating prunes every single day. When it came to bowel movements. there was no such thing as irregularity in grandpa's life.

My training was that bowel movements were dictated by nature, that once each day was not necessary, and that irregularity was a word exploited for commercial reasons.

THE UNDERSTANDING about grandpa and his prunes came recently while doing reading in psychology about transactional analysis and gestalt therapy-particularly in the TA

The TA boys claim, like Shakespeare, that life is a drama with each of us "acting out" behavior that was predetermined. The drama we act out has a script which was implanted in our heads by parents or authority figures when we were children. Once the script is planted in our subconscious, we live out that script whether it has relevance or is supported by truth. Having read little thus far, I don't know that much about TA but suspect that's what happened to grandpa. As a young boy, his mother must have told him more than once that "You must have a bowel movement once a day." Persons used to believe, and some still do, that a daily clearance of the digestive tract was necessary to stay healthy.

Not knowing any different, grandpa assumed if you didn't go once a day you'd get sick-or already were sick. So to make sure he wouldn't get sick, or wasn't already sick, he'd have prunes for dessert after lunch.

that comes to mind is how much time grandpa wasted each day trying to be regular. It wasn't just the prunes, you see. He would sit in the outhouse for hours at least for quite a few minutes, in the belief that he wasn't getting sick. Grandpa never believed the time was wasted because he seldom got sick, so the prunes and regular bowel movements justified the script he was acting out.

Maybe the time couldn't have been put to better use, anyhow. In those days, the pace of life was much slower and it wasn't necessary to jam" every minute of the day with activity. Grandpa may have been a bit weird about prunes but he wasn't neurotic.

I have chosen to follow the logical path, supported by health findings, and never eat prunes or worry about irregularity. So I don't do much sitting making sure I don't get sick. Grandpa may have been wrong about prunes but he had something going

Spartans stay perfect, blank Farmington

By TOM BAER

Livonia Stevenson needed some big breaks to beat Farmington High, 10-0, Friday in the Inter Lakes League opener for both teams. And Farmington seemed more than willing to oblige the Spartans.

Stevenson got the only break it needed on the first series of downs. Farmington quarterback Dave Cleland threw an interception into the arms of John Lokar. Stevenson had the ball at midfield.

Spartan QB Jim Dalmetsch then tossed to flanker Bill Rowley, the play gaining 30 yards and setting up the only touchdown of the game-a 10yard pass play from Dalmetsch to Lokar. Rowley kicked the extra point.

Farmington's defense got tough after that. For example, defensive end Marty Popp sacked quarterback Dalmetsch four times in the game, including one for a 15-yard loss which spoiled a Spartan drive.

But coach Jack Reardon's Stevenson club didn't need another touchdown. The Spartans were doing quite well with ball control, making their lead stand up. Farmington had the ball for just 10 plays in the second

Stevenson's offense also started to move after halftime. In the first half, Farmington held the winners to just 37 yards on the ground. After intermission, the Spartans rolled up 112

"IT WAS A well-played barne on both sides," Reardon said. "We moved the ball a lot better in the second half, and I was glad to see that. We needed that after having minus four yards against Livonia Franklin."

Lokar, an explosive runner, amassed 102 yards in 20 carries. Spartan fullback Chuck Demarco followed with 42 yards in 19 tries. Farmington's leading ground gainer was halfback Bert Herzog with 34 yards in

Farmington's offense produced 83 yards on the ground and 20 more through the air on five of eight pass completions.

Edsel Ford dumps Bentley

By Tom Schram Sports Editor

"If" and "should have" are words expressing sentiments found more often at the racetrack than at high school football games.

But after Livonia Bentley's 22-7 loss to Dearborn Edsel Ford, they were exacly what was going through the mind of Bulldog coach Glen Goode.

"I wish I had that play to call over again." said the Bentley coach after his team had suffered its first defeat in three outings.

The play in question came early in the third quarter.

Chargers edge Northville, 7-6

By BILL COLLINS

Inter-league play began for Western Six members over the weekend and Livonia Churchill opened its league season with a crucial 7-6 win over Northville Mustangs.

Northville, rated as the team to beat in the conference by Churchill Coach Ken Kaestner, carried the play between the 20 yardlines in the first

The Mustangs gained 91 yards net offense to the Chargers' 31. However, Northville lost all that they gained by losing 3 fumbles to Churchill.

The third turnover set up Churchill's only scoring play. After the Mustangs picked up their seventh first down of the half, the drive died when they fumbled and Churchill recovered on its own 47 yardline.

The Charger offense moved the ball down to the Mustang 22, where it was faced with a fourth down and 10 situa-

Both teams went scoreless in the third quarter with the Churchill defense restricting Northville's running

Although these Western Six contenders were playing a close, physical game, neither was consistently successful at converting on fumbles and interceptions.

After two minutes were gone in the fourth quarter, Northville and Churchill began consistently giving the ball to each other.

Northville cornerback Bruce McGlory intercepted a Charger pass and gave the Mustangs good field position with his return to the Churchill

Two plays later Northville fumbled for the fifth time in the game and Churchill recovers. The Chargers hung onto the ball for three plays and punted to Northville.

One minute later Scott Shephard picked off a Northville pass deep in its own territory. Two plays later the Chargers committed their third turnover as they fumbled with Northville recovering on the Charger 30.

Churchill didn't have to wait long for Northville to return the favor when it recovered the seventh Mustang miscue on its own 22.

After Churchill moved the ball five yards in two plays the comedy of errors continued with Churchill fumbling and Northville recovering on the Churchill 29.

Quarterback Erci Lampella led the Mustangs down to the seven yard line with 32 seconds left. Lampella climaxed the drive with a dive over the goal line with 19 seconds left.

Northville attempted the two-point conversion and came away empty when Mike Streicher made the tackle on Lampella four yards short of Northville's first Western Six victory.

Coach Ken Kaestner was ecstatic after the game "This game meant alot to us and we were up for it. The team played a super ballgame and you have to admire Northville for going after those two points."

East outlasts Andover in mud

By JIM BRADLEY

Bloomfield Andover invaded Garden City East Friday night and the two teams slugged it out-on a muddy battleground before the host Panthers scored with five minutes remaining to edge the Barons, 7-0, for Andover's second loss in three starts.

Andover had two deep penetrations into East territory, reaching the Panther 21 yardline on its first drive and then down to the East three yardline as time expired in the first half.

Andover head coach Frank Buford thought his team's failure to score just before the half was cruciak "We have no alibis, we just got beat," he said candidly. "However, I think our failuure to score just befoe the half when we reached Garden City East's three-yard line was a turning point in Andover marched from its own 40yard line to the East 21 the first series of downs before bogging down. Then the two defensive stalwarts battled between the 30-yard lines over the muddy field which had been rned to a sea of slime by the recent rain.

Jim Breaugh, the Barons' junior quarterback who completed nine of 14 passes for 71 yards, connected with flanker Quentin Burghill for an 18yard gain and a first down on East's three-yard line. However, the opportunity disappeared under a vicious East pass rush which buried Breaugh for an 11-yard loss as time ran out.

East, which couldn't penetrate Andover's 30 yardline the first three quarters, finally got things rolling with 10 minutes left in the game.

Starting on their own 47-yard line, the Panthers moved 53 yards in 10 plays for the deciding touchdown. Senior Wally Krol, playing his first year as a quarterback, showed poise in the drive. He handed off to fullback Keith Sieczkowski five times in the march for 13 yards, carried twice for another 10 as well as hitting on two key pass completions.

Overcoming a 15-yard penalty, Krol hit flanker Brian Dominick for a first down on the Baron 25-yard line. Sieczkowski bulled to the 18 and then lost two. Here, Krol faded back and fired to rightend Greg Emery who made the catch on the two yardline with a defender all over him and then fell into the endzone for the deciding points. Bob Taraskavage added the extra point with five minutes left.

Andover couldn't generate much vardage in the final drive and East ran out the clock for its third consecutive shutout in as many games.

Head coach Gary Humphrey ag was ecstatic over his defensive team's tenacious play.

"What can you say about a team that's just recorded its third shutout in a row?" Humphrey observed after the game. "All the boys played tremendous on defense, and defensive halfback Paul Chute was especially good as he led our unit with seven solo tackles and six assists."

Humphrey is still concerned about his offense. "We've only scored 13 points in three games, but we've managed to win two of the three and the other was a scoreless tie," he said.

Sieczkowski carried 26 times for 97 yards to lead East, while Krol ran 11 times for 66 yards and hit four of nine aerials for 82 yards and the crucial touchdown. East coaches singled out the blocking of Bob Hudson, playing

Rockets on target, Thurston falls 22-12

By TONY MARDIROSIAN

The John Glenn Rockets, led by a tenacious defense and senior tailback Fred Shoemaker, stopped a tough Thurston team 22-12 Friday night, in the Northwest Suburban League opener for both teams.

The Glenn defense, despite being victimized by two long passes, allowed Thurston only 140 yards total offense, and a mere 15 on the ground.

Shoemaker was the workhorse for the Rockets, as he ran for over 100 vards for the third straight game. Although both the defense and Shoemaker were outstanding, both coaches agree the difference in the game was a fake punt play by Glenn that resulted in a 39-yard touchdown for the Rockets. On the play everyone was fooled, with the possible exception of Jeff Couturior, who took off around left end and went untouched into the end zone.

Thurston opened the scoring when quarterback Roy Piligian found Dennis Kuschel behind the Glenn defense for a 68 yard touchdown pass. The kick failed and the Eagles led 6-0 midway through the first quarter.

GLENN CAME right back and mounted a 58-yard, 11-play drive, that was capped by a 19-yard touchdown pass from Todd DeLuca to slotback Rick Bonk. DeLuca's extra point attempt was no good.

Neither team could move the ball on its next series. On Thurston's next set of downs, they went to the pass and were foiled by the Glenn defense. They punted on fourth down and John Stafford wormed his way 70 yards down the field to give the Rockets excellent field position on the Thurston

With the aid of a pass interference call on the Eagles, Glenn needed only two plays to get in for the score. This time it was Shoemaker going over from 18 yards out. DeLuca's kick was good, and the Rockets led 13-6, with 6:51 left in the half.

Thurston again could not move the ball, and Mark Coulston returned the punt for a touchdown; only to have it called back because of a clipping pena Thurston touchdown. Thurston coach Don Riehl felt Abundis was the outstanding player for his team, Friday night.

In the second half, both defenses stiffened, and neither team could move the ball effectively.

Glenn did mount one drive. At the beginning of the fourth quarter, they moved from their own 36 to the Eagles' 15, where they had to settle for a 32 yard field goal attempt from DeLucá. His kick was wide and Thurston took over on the 20.

The Rockets concluded the scoring, when Thurston's center snapped the screen pass and raced 48 yards ds for ball over the punter's head, and out of the end zone for a safety.

> Glenn rolled up 250 yards on the ground, and coach Lloyd Carr praised his offensive line, saying, "they played a hell of a game, even though they were outweighed by an average of 30 pounds."

Glenn is now 3-0 and takes on North Farmington this Saturday at North. Carr feels this will be a big game for his team, and hopes the momentum of a 3-0 record will help. Thurston's record now stands a 0-3 and they play Garden City East at home, this Saturday, at 3:00 p.m.

Unyielding defense carries Tigers past Riverside

Garden City West's rugged defensive crew deserves most of the credit for Friday night's 20-0 Tri-River League conquest of Dearborn Heights Riverside.

Coach Charley Elmquist's offense was supposed to be the experienced part of his ballclub, but the defense has carried the team the last two games against Southgate and Riv-

Against Riverside's Rebels, the defensive unit was outstanding, holding the visitors to only 37 yards rushing in 28 carries. It recovered three fumbles, which it jarred loose from Rebel carriers, intercepted one pass which noseman Jeff Peltz returned for a 30yard touchdown, and made a goal line stand to preserve the shutout with two minutes left.

The two fumble recoveries, one at the Riverside 36 and the other at the Rebel 18-yard line led to West's other Mark Chidester played a tremendous game at linebacker, recovering two fumbles and making tackles all over the field.

Chidester grabbed the fumble at the Rebel 36 and Tiger quarterback Tom Poole directed a 10-play drive, climax-ing it with a 10-yard scoring pass to halfback Bill Underwood.John Stupyra added the point and West led, 7-0, at the half.

Chidester recovered a Riverside fumble on the Rebel 25 but that Tiger drive was halted when Barney Judge picked off Poole's pass. However, the defense was hitting with such intensity, that Riverside coughed up the ball on the next play at the 18-yard line and defensive halfback Dale Stupyra, who played outstanding defense as well as punting long all night, recovered the ball.

Underwood, who finished with 50 yards gained in 15 carries, rushed four straight times to move the pigskin to the four. Tom Poole followed fullback Greg Shinsky and the right side of his offensive line through a hole for the four-yard touchdown.

John Stupyra added the point and West led, 14-0, with 2:22 left in the third period. 'Riverside's defensive wall was superb the entire game, holding West's running attack to 86 net yards and Poole's aerial game to 3 of 7 for 25 yards. Halfback Terry Bradley gained 47 yards in 11 first half carries but didn't carry any in the second half.

West's offense was stopped by a determined Riverside team which held the Tigers to 86 net running yards in 30 carries and a total offense of 111 net yards for the game.

Defensive coaches Chuck Howton and Bill Parker saw their fired-up crew hold Riverside to 37 yards on the ground and 48 through the air for a net of 85 yards. Each team had six first downs in the battle of the trenches.

Other defensive stars for West were Rick Smitt, Matt Dunnigan and Greg Shinsky, who also ran back the opening kickoff 50 yards.

West, now 2-0 in trying to win the Tri-River League title outright after a three-way tie last year, hosts Inkster Cherry Hill at 7:30 p.m. Friday night.

If a good beginning presages a great ending, as the old saying goes, there is no telling what sort of records the male bowlers in the metropolitan Detroit area will record before the season closes.

It used to be when a fellow rolled a 600 series it was considered an outstanding achievement. Now, if he doesn't hit double century figures he's disappointed.

And in this wild scoring there have series above 600 and 115 games of 200 been some dramatic finishes. One of the most dramatic came last week in the Wonderland Classic where Al Girolamo closed with a 279 for a 748 series and beat veteran Dick Preston by a single pin.

Girolamo had games of 240, 229 and counts of 214, 265 and 268 for 747.

Walk to the wines and fondues for symphony

The Plymouth Symphony League is planning an unusual diversion for an autumn Sunday afternoon.

Jan Gerish and Mary Elizabeth Smith are heading the league's first wine walk. Guests will be limited to 350 persons for the Oct. 19

Four homes will be involved, and each will offer wines of a different country. American, French, German and Portuguese wines will be sampled, accompanied by delicious fondues.

Mr. and Mrs. Ned Stirton, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Waterhouse, Mr. and Mrs. Currie Weed, and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Orthner are opening their homes for the event. All are in the Plymouth area and addresses are listed on the tickets.

A flag of the country represented will be displayed in front of each home on the tour.

The tickets are $4.50 per person and are on sale at Bed 'N Stead, 6 Forest Place Mall, and from Mrs. George Smith.

The Symphony League supports the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra financially and is prime morale booster of the orchestra. They serve refreshments to the musicians at break time during each Monday night rehearsal.

This season they will serve coffee to guests and orchestra members at each symphony concert during intermission.

ed sale of the 350 tickets. Walkers will be given a designated starting point so everyone will not arrive at one house at one time. The walk begins at 3 and ends at 5:30

The annual Dearborn Symphony Orchestra's wine walk has become a major social event in that city. The league is hoping its first venture will warrant a repeat performance next year.

Bicentennial astronauts come from Plymouth

AUDREY CUNNINGHAM takes a pan of astronaut cookles out of her oven.

By ELINOR GRAHAM

Audrey Cunningham of North Territorial Road is test marketing a new product. With a family of four grown and away from home, she's in the cookie business—cookie cutter business, that is.

Mrs. Cunningham has a design patent on an astronaut cookie cutter. The baked cookie requires only one dab of frosting for the face and there it is—unmistakably, an astronaut ready for a moon walk.

The new venture is the result of an idea she had been tossing around for three years.

"Our family was never the gingerbread man type," she said. "We just didn't care for gingerbread,"

She had a favorite rolled cookie recipe she'd used for 25 years. What could be a more suitable shape for the white sugar cookie than a white-suited astronaut. And with everyone's sense of history more keenly attuned by the nation's bicentennial observance, the time was right for a commemorative cookie cutter.

EARLY THIS YEAR, in February, she began working on the design. With some coaching from her husband, Chester, and neighbor, Paul Emrich, the first cutters were ready by the and of May

They are manufactured of tinwashed steel by a Pensylvania com-

Embossing the cutter with a metal stamp bearing. "1776.....1976 THE MOON 7-20-90 PAT. PEND." proved to be a major problem. A mighty whack with a hammer made no impression on the steel.

Emrich, with his tool and die knowledge, designed an apparatus that made the embossing possible without a great expenditure of strength.

Folding boxes for the bicentennial issue are red and blue on a white background. On the underside of the box is Audrey's rolled cookie recipe. On the front, an astronaut gazes at the planet Earth. Manufacture of the bicentennial issue is limited to 1,976 cutters.

"I DECIDED TO SEND all my friends Christmas presents in July," said Mrs. Cunningham. The cutters were mailed out and she received responses from all over the country.

To learn about the ways of marketing she attended a Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE) seminar in Detroit. Sponsored by the Small Business Association, SCORE lecturers give private counseling after the seminar.

The cutters were placed in shops in Ann Arbor, the Panhandler in Plymouth, Et Cetera Shop in Northville, Kitchen Glamor in Redford Township, Trifles and Treasures in West Bloomfield, and the museum gift shop in Greenfield Village.

She received a letter from a lady in New York who had one of her cutters. A niece had picked one up in Ann Arbor. As a member of a cookie club and collector, she asked for all the background data on the astronaut cut-

"I feel I am not retail, I am a wholesaler," said Mrs. Cunningham. "After the bicentennial issue I would like to put it in the right hands to facilitate distribution."

As she used a paint brush to frost some small round cookles, she advised, "If you just dab the blue and white frosting, it looks fine when it
