Supersewer plans washed down the drain

Plans to build the $298-million Sppersewer system could be all over except for the burial.

Last week 10 of the 14 Supersewer communities voted to sak the Wayne County Department of Public Works to amend its grant application to provide for a scaled down version of Supersewer, which excludes the northwest-

The vote to request the split system came during Thursday's meeting of the Huron Valley Wastewater Control System (Supersewer) Rate Review Com-

Included in the four communities which voted no, or abstained from voting, were Plymouth and Canton town-ships. The split system drew the support of the southern tier of western Wayne County — communities which are included in the scaled-down Supersewer plan.

SUPERSEWER'S DEMISE began recently when the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) voiced objections to the size of the system and the possible effects it could have on Detroit's treatment plant.

The northern suburbs are tied into the Detroit sewage system and Detroit officials argue that the current contracts to treat the sewage are exclu-

Law plans to talk with DNR officials about financing sewer lines to Detroit.

"I HAVE BEEN verbally assured that the DNR has applied for, and received a grant for, up to $500,000 to evaluate and design parallel intercep-tors (sewage lines) to Detroit," said Plymouth Township Supervisor Mau-

He said he believes the DNR has completely changed its tune in regards to Supersewer. Both Plymouth and Canton townships have DNR letters on file which support Supersewer and threaten to cut off development in the communities if they don't participate in the project.

"NOW THEY'RE telling me that it is $10 million cheaper to go to Detroit. I didn't have to spend $500,000 to find out what the DNR just told me," Poole

Redford Township officials have pledged their moral support and intend to pay a share to support the legal costs of a lawsuit filed by several Wayne County townships to determine who

According to a 1951 state law, Wayne County assumed jurisdiction of all township roads and the obligation to properly maintain them, said Jud Hemming, an attorney representing Canton Township in the lawsuit.

"The county has a clear statutory obligation to properly maintain all town-ship roads and we're asking the judge for a declaration that proper (road) maintenance is the duty of the Wayne County Road Commission (WCRC)," said Hemming. And we want a determination from the court on whether proper road commission maintenance of unpayed township roads includes the funding and application of a dust retardant program for those roads.

"WE'RE ALSO asking that the county bealth department refrain from issuing Canton any further charges of air pollution violation, caused by dust ris-ing from unpaved roads, while the road maintenance issue is being litigated."

Environmental Protection Act, Remming said. The citations state that Canton officials falled to properly control dust contaminants from rising into the atmosphere, causing a health and envi-ronmental hazard, he said.

The health department responded after receiving complaints from homeowners living on the unpaved roads, said Lawrence Hinkle, a health department attorney. The citations were issued by the health department through the air pollution control division, he pasic argument is that the health department can't be enjoined with a court injunction from enforcing and prosecuting the law," Hinkle said. The township officials will argue that the pollution violation is not their fault because they don't have a legal obliga-tion to maintain the roads. They could be right. We'll find out on the 12th (of August) when all parties are scheduled for a bearing before Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Sharon Finch."

Other Wayne County townships that have entered the suit include Plymouth, Van Baren, Sumpter and Browns-

Redford officials have expressed an intention to join the suit and are negotiating the township's share of legal costs, according to Redford Supervisor James Kelly.

Chief's birthday bash

Pow-wow planned for

By W.W. Edgar staff writer

Chief Tonquish, the old Potawatomi warrior who once roamed and fought his battles in the Plymouth area, will be honored next year in a most unusual

Plans are underway for the city to recognize his birthday with an old-fash-ioned three-day Indian pow-wow and corn festival during the first week of

The Chief has been honored in years past by having the creek which flows through the business section of down-town Plymouth named after him. The senior citizen bome on the creek also bears his name, as well as the building the Mayflower Hotel on Main Street. (Although the meeting house is not readily recognized as a Tonquish honor, the large stone at the peak of the roof carries the wording "Tonquish Temple

THE THREE-DAY celebration now being planned calls for all the features of a gathering of the various Indian tribes in the state and Ontario. Because the event will mark the opening of the sweet corn season, there will be a sweet corn festival. Sweet corn is recognized as a food which the Indians gave to the early settlers, and is one of the Indians' main diets.

Similar pow-wows have attracted as bears his name, as well as the building many as 10,000 people in various cities that houses Meeting House across from throughout the state, and a like number could be expected to attend the proposed Plymouth gathering. If you have never been to an Indian pow-wow, you may not know these Indian gatherings are a kind of family reunion. They have have existed in Michigan for years, and Plymouth now is ready to joth in the

The Plymouth pow-wow will include booths where some of the native American foods will be cooked and sold. And, while in Plymouth, the native Americans can see where Chief Tonquish roamed until he was killed in a battle

The pow-wow should be a colorful gathering, inasmuch as most of the Indians from the various tribes are expected to attend in full Indian regalia, tomahawks, head dress, and what not, to serve as the main attraction.

PLANS INCLUDE all sorts of Indian dances, plenty of Indian craft dis-plays and, like some pow-wows, there also will be a roast pig festival to close the session.

During the Plymouth pow-wow, there will be activities in Keilogg Park, the Cultural Center and downtown

The native Americans also will have their own booths to dispose of many Inworks, including small animal fors.

Over the years pow-wows have become popular and the Indian dances and war chants leave lasting memo-Mayor Eldon Martin, when told of the plans, responded that it was time the city recognized the old Indian Chief whose name has been bandled about for "It will be another great attraction for Plymouth, and, the fact that it is planned for the first week in August, also will mark the opening of the sweet corn season that has been overlooked through the years. It is time that was celebrated," he said. Likewise, Dr. E.J. McClendon, a member of the Plymouth-Canton School Board and native American, has voiced his pleasure in learning of the plans and has promised that he will have representatives from several tribes in attendance for the festivities.

It will be interesting for the Indiana who attend the pow-wow to learn that the creek named after Chief Tonquish now runs through a concrete cuivert under the business section. The Indian dances will be held right over the creek, the first time any such feature has marked a pow-wow.

Rabies warning: It's happening here

By Maria Checkey staff writer

A 5-year-old girl who died in March after being bitten by a bet kas knocked down the plan of complacency in Michi-gan over the seemingly dorment, but creaded disease called rables. The girl died in Hilladale County, the first person in Michigan to die of rables in Mi meers.

But you don't have to go to Hilladale County in southern Mickigan to find a case of rables. Rables has surfaced re-cently in Plymouth, Dearborn Heights castly in Plymouth, Dearborn Heights and Livingston County.

Rabies is a potential threat wherever skunks, raccooss and bets dwell. One of these three animals, which fall into a high-risk rabies category, can tangle with an unvaccinated dog or cat, turning the family pet into a carrier of the deadly disease.

On these can tend to with a mild only disease.

Or they can tangle with a wild animal such as a squirrel, guinea pig or rabbit in the low-risk category and the animal could get the disease and pass it

Or one of the three high-risk wild animals can attack a human, as happened in Hillsdale County. When the girl showed symptoms of the disease, she was doomed to die, as the vaccine has to be administered before symptoms

ONCE THE symptoms start, it's 100 percent fatal," said Dr. Donald Lawrenchuk, assistant medical director of the Wayne County Department of

In his job, Lawrenchuk is used to dealing everyday with diseases and is not apt to use the words "serious public." 'Greater than half of the dogs in Wayne County are not adequately vaccinated."

> -Dr. Donald Lawrenchuk, Wayne County Department of Health

health concern" lightly. But those are the words he used to describe the threat of rables as it now exists in "Greater than half of the dogs in Wayne County are not adequately vac-cinated," Lawrenchuk said. "Only 19 percent of cats in the county are vacci-nated. For the unvaccinated, the potse-tial is there for rables if the pot has an encounter with a rabld wild animal.

"It is impossible to estimate how many rabid animals are out there, but the statistics are strong they are out there. And, in the summertime, kids are more apt to have contact with these animals."

Even in overbuilt Livonia subdivicute and samy raccooms can be heard foraging through garbage cans in the middle of the night. But in northern Ohio, and soon to be in southern Michigan, those raccoons are no longer considered cute. They are considered deadly.

"Raccoons carrying rabies have been migrating northward from the south," Lawrenchuk sald, "They are now in the northern part of Ohio and there is a marked increase in the number of rabid raccoons near the Michigan-Ohio border. Ohio counted 61 rabid animals in 1961; in 1963, there was 86."

CLOSER TO BOME, a Plymouth cat two weeks ago killed a bat, dragged it home and left it on the decretop. In-steed of just tossing the bet out, the homeowners were smart enough to have the bet examined. The bet was re-bid and the cat was killed.

"The cet became a risk and had to be killed. He had not been vaccinated," Lawrenchek said.

Animals suspected to be rabid are sent to either the Michigan Department of Health or to Michigan State University, where their brains are examined, sity, where their brains are examined, Lawrenchuk said.

A Dearborn Heights girl recently had to undergo shots after being bitten by a rabid dog. A rabid dog also was recently picked up in Livingston County.

"We're even finding rables in cowsand that means they were bitten by something," Lawrenchuk said.

BEFORE A dog license is issued in Livonia, the owner has to turn over a certificate showing the pet had received at least a one-year vaccina-tion shot. Shots also are available that last two and three years. Cats require neither licenses nor vaccinations.

"Pet owners might not renew their licenses, or don't get a license in the first place," Lawrenchuk said. "Or peo-ple don't keep good records, showing when the pet was last immunised. Ott-les don't have the manpower to enforce the dog law. And people become too complecent."

In addition to keeping up with their ewn pet's shets, Lawrenchek arged residents to keep watch on the neighbors pets, making sure they are licensed. He also arged animal lovers to stay away from exotic pets.

"klookeys are a high risk for rabies," he said. "But they don't have vaccines which are species-specific to those animals. You can use a dog rables vaccines on a monkey bite, but there is no guarantee it will take."

IF A SITE does happen and the bit-ten person is unsure if the animal has been vaccinated, vaccine shots should be started immediately.

An old vaccine, not used much today was painful and accompanied by side effects. A newer vaccine, Lawrenchuk said, is given five times within 28 days, is shot directly into muscle tissue and

The Wayne County Department of Health carries the vaccine, which can be given by the family's own doctor.

"The longer they wait, the less likely the vaccine will help," Lawrenchuk

All animal bites, no matter how seemingly harmless, should be report-ed immediately to the city's animal

Plymouth owes part of its attraction to Lorenz

During the 1970s, Ralph Lorenz con-tinued to add to his complex of proper-ties near the Hotel Mayflower in down-

In 1974, he built a 16-room motel addition called the Mayflower Motor Inn. It stands directly behind the Mayflower

In 1976, the office building which houses the Manley-Bennett-MacDonald stock brokerage firm was completed. During the same year, Lorenz put up the big structure occupied by the First of America bank. In all of these he made use of the colonial style of architecture he has advocated since he began promoting the idea in the 1940s.

MEANTIME, ALL SIX of the Lorenz children had a hand in the family business at one time or another.

As this is written, Staton, Sheila, Rick and Kirk have long since flown the coop. Today, only two of the Lorenz boys, the youngest, are working at the Scott, who graduated from the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, with a manager of the Mayflower. Randy, the youngest in the family, who graduated as an accounting major from the University of Arizona, manages the Round Table Club, a 2,000-member private club which occupies the spot in the hotel where the beer and wine bar stood in the apply 1050s. in the early 1950s.

Scott and Randy have inherited their father's flair for sales promotion. Ran-dy is involved with wine-tasting par-ties, fashion shows and other events designed to attract business to the Round Table Club. Scott has promoted several community-wide events including the Hot Air Balloon Festival which he spearheaded in Plymouth a few years ago. Another of his ideas was the Ice Sculptor Festival which attracted more than than 65,000 people to Kellogg Park in February of this year. The latest addition to the hotel, the

by Ralph and Mabel, the Mayflower II addition is owned by Scott and Randy, subject to the payment of tax-free EDC bonds and a mortgage held by Down-river Federal Savings.

When the Mayflower II opened, its 51 rooms almost doubled the capacity of the hotel, which now has a total of 108 rooms. The main part of the hotel, built in 1927, has recently been reworked to include modern fixtures and furniture and triple-paned windows to keep out

DURING ITS 56-year existence, the Mayflower Hotel has been the host of many celebrities. Most Michigan governors of the past 30 years have stayed at the Mayflower.

Stars of stage, screen and television who have lodged at the hotel include Bob Cummings, Gary Merrill, Bette Davis, Patrice Munsel, Rickie Nelson, Polly Bergen, David Frost and Vincent start the formal part of the program, McLain wouldn't stop playing until he was noticeably restrained.

Sports figures include Mickey Cochrane, Hank Greenberg, Schoolboy Rowe and Denny McLain McLain was engaged for a time to play the organ at the Mayflower's Pub. I remember a Chamber of Commerce dinner at which McLain played prior to the speeches.

The Mayflower has been a communi-The Mayriower has been a community as well as a personal success for Ralph Lorenz and his family. But it has not always been easy sledding. Not everyone has seen eye to eye with Lorenz. There have been those on past city commissions who felt that Ralph, as well as other downtown businessmen, lean more toward what is good for lean more toward what is good for business than what is good for the community. And there were the years when those who wanted Plymouth to remain "dry" resented Ralph's part in the ef-fort to make liquor by the glass legal in

On the whole, however, most in the area gives the Lorenz's credit for their confidence in investing in downtown Plymouth rather than heading for the open spaces. And, as Bill Sliger has justly written: "Fortunately for the community, the Lorenz family has exceedingly good taste. When they build or remodel, Plymouth always looks better than it did previously; and the city ends up collecting more taxes."

The community has periodically taken notice of the contributions Lorenz has made to the area. In 1977, 300 people gathered at the Meeting House to tender Ralph a suprise testimonial din-ner. He was presented with gifts from friends, some of whom travelled from as far away as Spain, England, California, Florida and New York.

During the testimonial, the City of Plymouth presented the Lorenzs with a maple tree and had it planted in front of the office building near the Meeting House. A bronz plaque near the tree honors Ralph and Mabel for their contributions to the Plymouth community.

In 1980, Ralph Lorenz was among the initial inductees in the Plymouth Hall of Fame. And in 1981 he was among business people honored by President Ronald Reagan at a White House Rose Garden ceremony. Ralph was there because he had been selected as the 1981 Senior Entrepreneur Advocate of the Year by the Federal Small Business Administration

Sunday afternoon dinner and chat with Grampy

MANY CUSTOMS have been left along the wayside in the increasing pace of modern living. Among them is the family Sunday dinner.

Not too long ago, it was the custom to gather at the home of the grandparents and enjoy a dinner and later a visit as the older folks told of their

These living room chats with all the children gathered around "Grampy" were his method of telling us what a hard time he had had as a youngster. He used it as a warning that not all would be peaches and ice cream for us as we faced the world's challenges. These family dinners were high points of living in the days before the automobile, radio, television and such things as tennis and golf for those athletically inclined.

ON THESE occasions, our family always gathered with the grandparents on The Stroller's father's side. They were immigrants from Northern Ireland and, for a time, seemed confused living with the Pennsylvania Dutch. But they set a style of their own and made possible many fine memories.

Grandmother Edgar was a rather short woman, but she made up for that by some of the things she Edgar did to draw attention in the neighborhood. She raised chickens in the rear yard of their home.

She had methods in her madness because she always had a chicken dinner on Sundays. She never had to purchase one from the market or the farmer who visited our town every week.

She was an expert, too, in her chicken raising. For instance, when the hens went into an egg-laying slump, she would put out a china egg in the basket. More often than not, the living hen would match it and get out of her slump.

ONE OF HER practices caused a lot of eyebrow lifting in our little town. She was asked one day what she did to keep the hens laying, and she countered, "Ofttimes when I have trouble with the hens, I change the rooster."

She had another trait. She never had more than one chicken for the family dinner. How she made it do for so many mouths, The Stroller never knew and still wonders.

But he does recall that we children didn't sit at the table with the older folks. We had to take the "leavin's." So we'd stand at the dining room door and plead, "Don't eat it all - save some for us." .

BUT WHETHER we had our fill of dinner or not, we enjoyed sitting on the floor in front of Grampy Edgar as he regaled us with stories.

He was not a tradesman but earned his living stacking "pig iron" on the wharf alongside the furnace. It was hard work, and he had an odd habit.

Each day when work was finished, he'd walk up to the town's saloon and have a whiskey and a beer (price: 15 cents) and then walk the remainder of the

And he enjoyed nothing more than sitting with the grandchildren on a Sunday afternoon when the women cleared away the dinner tables and washed

Yes, the Sunday family dinner was a high note in living in those days. Nothing ever knit families any closer than those dinners. They should be revived, even if we couldn't raise chickens in our back yards.

Menus For Easy Summer Living

It's summer and a time for relaxed barbecue dinners. shared with friends in the pleasant surround ings of your patio or garden. Summer is also the natural time for an easy, informal approach to menu planning. It's a time for meals that are satisfying, yet light. And, whenever possible, it's a time to feature dishes that can be readied in advance.

Alaska seafoods and crisp, naturally-sweet Golden Delicious, apples meet in two especially appealing summertime menus, that are sure to delight guests and make entertaining a joy for the cook.

As a wonderful introduction to summer meals, tempt your guests with succulent Alaska Snow crab in the shell. The crab is simply thawed, then the clusters broken into sections, scored for easier eating and arranged on a bed of ice. Accompany the crab clusters with zesty Red Hot Dipping Sauce and be sure to include lots of napkins and small forks for removing the meat. Another time, serve Snow Crab Avocado Dip with crisp crackers or assorted raw vegetables.

grill as barbecuing enhances the rich, yet delicate, flavor of this treasured seafood. The salmon steaks featured here are marinated first in a tangy mustard sauce, then grilled just until the colorful flesh flakes when tested with a fork. For a larger group, a whole salwedges are the perfect garnish for this salad because they resist darkening better than other apple varieties. Another time, feature tender-skinned Golden Delicious apples in a fashionable pasta salad. Or en-

the movies Louise Snider

'Vacation' travels humorless road

Louise Snider is on vacation. Guest critic is Dan Greenberg, film instructor at the Orchard Ridge Campus of Oakland Community College in Farmington Hills. By Dan Greenberg

The history of the motion picture is so broad and diverse that one hesitates to nominate any one film as "the worst."

"National Lampoon's Vacation" struggles for that distinction. But in that regard, as in all others, it fails. Its only real success is in boring and offending audiences. As the film opens, the Family Griswold (a predictable father, mother, son and daughter comfortably installed in a new station wagon) begins a determined Chicago-LA trek to visit the Walley World Amusement Park.

Neither retarded relatives, dead aunts, malicious auto mechanics nor a closed amusement park interfere with their fun-fun-

Audiences for this film are not going to be so fortunate. Poor acting, weak directing, offensive material and a marginal, episodic structure severely limit viewing pleasure. The film has all the appeal of an evening spent viewing the Lockhorn's home movies.

A FILM with Christine Brinkley can't be all bad.

Wanna bet? Besides the Grand Canyon photographed to look like an inexpensive, poorly painted backdrop, Brinkley is the only visual attrac-

She appears and reappears in a red Corvette as Mr. Griswold's fantasy. When the fantasy materializes and approaches him in the motel bar, the cinematography miraculously manages to flatten her features in an unflattering way. However, in the moment which follows, Brinkley emerges from the pool, lovely and dripping as seductively as any Venus. But one image cannot redeem a 100-minute film.

"Vacation's" deficiencies are major. The writers failed to understand the difference between satire and ridicule; the director and his actors believe that "pace" means slow.

"Vacation's" satiric possibilities are quickly lost. Instead of exaggerating human foibles slightly to make us laugh and understand a bit about what it means to be human, as satire usually does, "Vacation" exaggerates excessively and ridicules everyone and everything. Nothing has a redeeming human quality.

Everyone is either foolish, mean, contemptuous, bitter, hateful, or all of the above. That's no fun, and that's not funny. Life's not like that and certainly comedy isn't funny when everyone's a fool.

COMIC IMPACT depends on fast-paced introduction of the un-expected. "Vacation" is so slow that every gag, every pratfall, every event, every line takes so long that the audience figures it out and forgets it before it happens. Even the ever-popular crashyour-car-through-a-barricade gag wasn't funny because it took so long to reach the barrier after Foolish Father passed the "Road

Chevy Chase as Father Griswold utilized only two facial expressions: "Boy, am I great!" and "Oops! I just stepped in the dog poo." Beverly D'Angelo, as Mother Griswold, has obviously trained at the Simper and Sigh School of Acting.

Imogene Coca's excellent comedic talents are not utilized in her role as flaky Aunt Edna. First the director stuffs her in the back seat of the station wagon and then on the luggage rack after she dies. The two Griswold children Audrey (Dana Barron) and Rusty (Anthony Michael Hall) exhibit some acting talent, particularly when Rusty has to cope with Father Griswold's paternal pomposi-

Readers may consider these disgruntled comments merely complaints of an old man for whom such films are not designed. But the large number of young people in the audience for whom such films are so loosely crafted weren't laughing either.

Christie Brinkley is a fantasy for Father Griswold, but her beauty alone lan't enough to make film attractive.

HENRY AND DORIS Rows will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary with an open house 2 to 6 p.m. Saturday. They invite all their friends to drop in at their home, 1985 Al Smith, Canton Township. Henry Charles Rowe and Poris Ione Martin were married Jan. 2, 1984, so their actual anniversary is a few months away. They chose to mark their day in the summer season with no competition from major holidays such as Christmas and New Year's Day.

Their home is part of the Henry Barber Rowe farm where they have lived almost all their married lives. The present Henry's grandfather, Henry B. and his wife, Emma Otis Rowe, celebrated their 62nd wedding anniversary out there. Otis O. Rowe and Gladys Harris Rowe, Henry C.'s parents, celebrated their 50th anniversary in 1954 at the same address

Henry and Doris have three children, Lee M. Rowe of Wayne, Jean Linna of Mesick, and Judy Keller of California; They have eight grandchildren. Heary worked for Ford Motor Co. until his retirement, and Doris taught at Edison and Cady schools in the Wayne-Westland district.

Happy anniversary to the Rowes and may the sun shine on your celebration.

THIS IS 4-H Club Fair week at the Belleville Fairgrounds. There will be plenty of events and activities throughout the week. The auction will begin shortly after 6 p.m. Thursday when the hand-raised stock goes on sale.

Rabbits, geese, ducks, chickens, goats, steers, sheep and pigs will be seld to the highest bidder. The 4-H club members paid for the young animals and poultry, bought their feed and cared for them for months. The money realized at the auction reimburses them for their outlay of Stan's Market was the top buyer in last year's auction. The Mayflower Hotel, the Penniman Deli and Parkway Clinic were other local bidders at the auction.

MR. AND MRS. MILT Houghtaling entertained recently at their Harding Street home in Plymouth. Their daughter, Lorene Suferman of Palos Park, Ill., and her flance, Owen Hulse III of Orland Park, Ill., were guests of honor at engagement. Owen's proposal of marriage at the All Star baseball game in Chicago was witnessed by thousands of fans. Just before the game started, a plane, trailing the words "Lorene will you marry me" circled the stadium. The answer was "yes" and they plan a spring wedding.

Milt Houghtaling put his calligraphy skills to work, lettering a baseball with the actual engagement date as a keepsake for the couple.

'Spitten Kittens' meet after 40 years

"You stand and look at them a minute or two, the hair is a little thinner, and they've put on some weight. They're in civilian-ciothes, and you haven't seen them for 40 years, but you recognize them."

Roy Baude is back home in Plymouth after attending a reunion of his World War II Fifth Fighter Squadron. He and his wife, Margaret, went to Minot, N.D. Air Force Base where the Fifth, now called the Fifth Pursuit Interceptor Squadron, is based. Joe Myers of Ramsey, Ill. was instrumental in arranging the reunion. Lt. Col. Richard L. Maki, base commander, hosted a variety of events in honor of the veterans.

The "Spitten Kitten" is the insignia of the quadron in honor of the British Spitfires the Fifth first flew as part of the Royal Air Force in 1941. Twelve different aircraft have worn the Spitten Kitten colors, the latest being the VETERANS from 29 states attended the reunion. Many of them, like Roy Baude, started their training on Spitfires. Later, in North Africa and Italy, they flew P-51s.

As they toured the base, they inspected a B-52, a missile launching site and a timed demonstration of a rocket missile loading of an F-106. The flyover of F-106s, in their honor, included one P-51, and there was one in the hangar for their inspection.

As crew chief, Baude had kept P-51s flying across North Africa and throughout the Italian campaign.

The United States was not at war when Baude was drafted in May 1941. He reported for duty in Detroit and went to Camp Grant, Ill. for a short time. He was stationed at Selfridge Field June 3-18, then spent two months at Grayling on maneuvers. They were back at Selfridge Aug. 18. The Fifth Squadron had been activated at Selfridge in January 1941.

Baude said that he was at his parents' home Sunday, Dec. 7 when they heard of the bombing of Pearl Harbor. Until that time, dress restrictions were fairly lax.

"We used to wear civilian clothes off base and I went home frequently," he said.

WITH THE United States at war, the squadron did a lot of traveling in the next few

They went to Floyd Bennett Field Dec. 16 and were back at Selfridge Jan. 14. From then on it was Florence, S.C., Myrtle Beach, Williamston, N.C., Grenier Field, N.H., and the Monterey, a passenger ship that had been converted to a troop ship. They sailed in convoy, arriving in Glasgow, Scotland, Aug. 18. They left Glasgow the same day, arriving in Belfast Ireland, the next day.

Baude recorded his travels in a journal. After a few weeks at Egglington, Ireland, they went to Gozhill, England for further training.

"Where is Goxhill I have no idea," said Baude as he read his chronological journal of his comings and goings in 1942. After Goxhill, the men were on their way to Africa by way of Liverpool and Glasgow. They arrived in Oran, Algeria Nov. 11, where "we sat in the harbor for a couple of days before heading for the aerodrome."

They shifted positions during the the next few months, sometimes traveling by truck and sometimes hitching a ride in a DC-3 transport. Many of the places named in the journal do not appear on modern maps. And some, such as Orieansville, now called El Asnam, have new names.

THE SQUADRON headed for the British Air Force March 23 for training on Spitfires, which they flew for six months. Rommell and the British were carrying on a see-saw war in North Africa and the Fifth was involved in escorting bombers and straffing.

Later, they supported the landings in Sicily and Italy. Allied troops landed on the Italian mainland Sept. 3 after the conquest of Sicily. Italy surrendered Sept. 8 but the Germans took Rome two days later and the fighting continued. The Allied troops entered Rome June 4, 1944, two days before D-Day and the Normandy invasion.

The Spitten Kitten squadron had been operating out of Borgo and Ghisonacci on the Island of Corsica.

Roy Baude's picture appeared in the December 1944 issue of Stars and Stripes. The P-51s and their crews were lined up on an Italian airfield, letters on their tails spelling out the word VICTORY. With the same story, there was a picture of his father, working at the Packard plant in Detroit, where the en-gines for the P-31s were manufactured.

According to his log, Baude left Rimini, Italy April 28, 1945. "That's the farthest north I was in Italy," he said.

"We went down to Naples and were on our way home with a stop at Trinidad. I came home June 12, 1945."

He said the reunion was such a success that they want to meet every year - hopefully at Selfridge, where the squadron was formed more than 42 years ago.

But the appropriations committee won't consider putting any new projects underground because of budget constraints. Only renovations to existing subways will be considered.

Significantly, the people mover will require no local match construction money. It will be entirely federally funded as a demonstration grant. That proviso got Pursell some flak from a member of the Texas delegation, who asked: "Why does Detroit get this without local match?"

THERE'S STIFF competition for funds from the federal government, which provides 80 percent of the capital money for public transit.

"A lot of western and southern cities are getting interested in mass transit — would you believe that?" Pursell said.

"The federal deficit is staggering," said Pursell, adding that he and other Republican leaders intend to approach President Reagan on the topic.

Gettin' ready

Here's a golfer's guideline to prepare for O&E outing

By C.J. Risak staff writer

OLF IS NOT, and never will be, an easy game to master.

That's the first lesson I learned upon volunteering for this assignment, which briefly is to get my game together enough to play in the Observer & Eccentric's Men's Golf Tournament Oct. 1-2.

Aiding me in this venture (maybe it would be better to call it an AD-venture) is Gary Whitener, the golf pro for both Livonia's courses, Idyl Wyld and Whispering Willows. Both the men's and women's tournaments will be played at Whispering Willows. The women's tourney is slated for Aug. 24.

Mind you, winning the tournament is not my objective. Finishing is. Carding a respectable score in third flight would be an attractive bonus.

Since I am a novice to the golfing game, one might ask why I am writing this three-part series. The answer is simple.

THE INTENTION is to help golfers properly prepare, both physically and mentally, for the upcoming O&E tournaments. Who better to coach you on what you need to do to play well than Whitener, the pro at the course the tournament will be played on?

And by instructing a relative beginner, no part of the game will be overlooked. Driving, iron play, putting, trouble shots — all this and a lot more will be scrutinized.

With me, Whitener's task is an arduous one: as I told him, "I'm like clay in your hands. Mold me into a Jack Nickland"

But the tipe Gary passes on to me, I'll relate during this series. By the finish of the men's tournament in October, we'll all be able to take into account how much our tournament game has improved.

NOW TO TASK. "Gotta start somewhere," as Whitener put it, so our first lesson concerned basics: proper grip and swing. But, beyond that, it also dealt with how to prepare for tourney play off the golf course.

Which is more important than many assume. "The better the player, the more time he'll spend on the driving range," Whitener said.

The reason even the best players hit the range often, according to Whitener, is "as good as you hit one shot, the next one is never automatic.

"In golf, timing is everything. It's the name of the game."

Developing consistency is a must to any golfer preparing for a tournament. And consistency comes from practicing the golf swing until it's natural.

As Whitener told me, "Remember: You don't hit golf balls. You make golf swings."

WITH THAT, he mentioned a halfdozen things to remember when stepping up to the ball:

 Grip — The paim of the bottom hand and the back of the upper hand should face the target.

Placing of feet — "Pros still do this, only they do it so fast you don't notice," Whitener said. What they do is step up to the ball with feet together, then step five or six inches forward with the front foot and five or six inches backward with the back foot. That ensures the ball is centered in the middle of your body.

 Extension — A cardinal rule of golf — the club should be an extension of your arm.

Rhythm and balance — This is all-important in developing consistency. An easy way to remember how far to stand from the ball is that you should be able to stand up straight and touch the ball with your club. Your weight

Rodriguez dazzles MNB

Adray retains playoff title, 4-0

By Tom Henderson staff writer

Dave Rodriguez struck out 11 and allowed just two hits Friday night at Henry Ford Field as he pitched Livonia Adray to a 4-0 win over Manufacturer's National Bank in the finals of the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League.

With the win, powerful Adray, the No. 1 team in the league during the regular season and defending playoff champions, advances to regional play at Ford Field. Adray plays Dayton Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.; in the other regional game, at 4 p.m. Wednesday, Pittsburgh tangles with Cleveland.

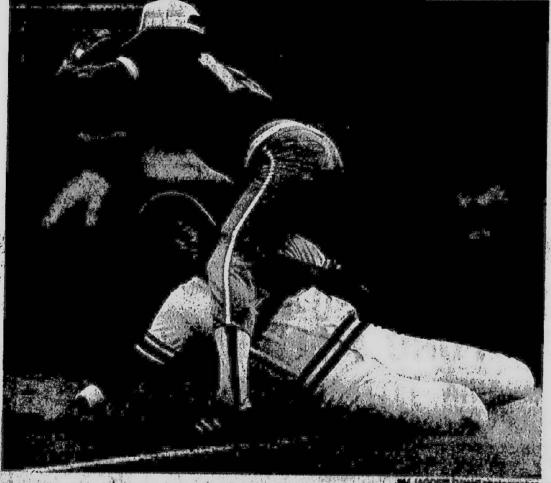

Rodriguez was sensational. He struck out at least two batters in four separate innings, and, but for the fifth inning, would have had a no-hitter.

baseball

Manufacturer's opened the top of the fifth with singles by Clint Scollard and John Bolen, but Rodriguez went to the whip, striking out three men in succession to end the threat.

From then on, he allowed but one base runner, and he was erased on a double play in the seventh.

St. John was the hitting hero for Adray, going 3-for-3 with a sacrifice, double and one RBI.

Tim Bunker started for the Bank on the mound and went 7% innings. Three of the runs he gave up were unearned.

Ironically, it was Bunker who scored the winning run for the Bank in the first game of the evening, a thrilling 12-11 comeback triumph over Wendy's of Ann Arbor.

Wendy's scored eight runs in the first inning, thanks largely to five walks, and led by an 11-3 score in the sixth. But Manufacturer's refused to quit, storming back with four runs in the sixth, four more in the seventh to tie it and one in the eighth, when Scollard's ground-rule double drove in Bunker with the go-ahead run.

Scollard, the designated hitter, was 4-for-5 in the opening game, played to see who would play undefeated Adray in the finals of the double-elimination playoff. Had the Bank won both games Friday night, the championship game would have been played Saturday.

been played Saturday.

In the nightcap, the gutty pitching of Bunker and the sensational arm of his catcher, Dale Vaquera, kept things close. Four times Adray tried to steal on Vaquera and four times he nailed his man at second.

IN EARLIER playoff action Wednesday, Adray advanced to the finals with a 7-3 win over Wendy's that featured a big, four-run seventh inning.

During the uprising, Adray got three consecutive extra-base hits — a double by first baseman Rodriguez, a triple by Kuxia and a home run by third baseman Don Dombey.

third baseman Don Dombey.

But what came before the uprising might have had as much to do with Wendy's loss as the uprising itself.

Wendy's was batting in the top of the first, with one out and the bases loaded. Wendy's tried the suicide squeeze, but the lead runner was forced at the plate. One umpire called time, though another of Wendy's runners was trapped off second base. Adray threw the ball down to second anyway, the runner was tagged and the other umpire ruled it an out.

After much arguing by Wendy's manager, and a 30-minute delay, the umpires ruled that play should not have been halted and the double play was allowed to stand.

was allowed to stand.

In the other game, Manufacturer's eliminated Redford-Westland Adray with a 12-3 pounding.

Scollard was the big gun, with a solo home run in the third and a two-run homer in the eighth. Rounde Peterson added a pair of hits, one run scored and one RBI for winning pitcher John Emported and pitcher John E

Roth and pro tour: Putt up or shut up

By Tom Henderson staff writer

If Jeff Roth, the assistant golf pro at Wabeek Country Club, has seemed a little nervous recently, it's understandable. After all, this is the week that may make or break his hopes of joining the PGA tour and what can go with it—playing every week with the big boys, like Jack Nicklaus and Tom Watson; Augusta, Ga., in the spring, England in the early summer, Pebble Beach and Florida winters; $50,000 paydays; endorsements.

It sounds like a dream now — IS a dream — but Roth is closer than he's ever been to making it a reality. This week, local boy (Plymouth Salem, class of '75) tries to make good, when he plays in his first tour event, the Buick Open at Warwick Hills in Flint.

Roth, who grew up playing the Farmington Country Club course, where his parents were members, has been hot lately. Three weeks ago, he set the course record at Wabeek with a 64 ("the only thing I did wrong was three-putt for a par on the first hole"), and a week ago Friday he was one of just four from a field of 40 to qualify for the Open during sectional qualifying at Bay Valley in Saginaw ("I played great, I was four under the last 10 holes").

But the 64 and his play during qualifying won't mean a thing if he blows up at Warwick Hills. If you want to join the tour (he does) and you're not rich (he isn't), then you've got to find a sponsor. Shooting 64s during a round with friends doesn't impress sponsors, neither does shooting tough in sectional qualifying. What they want to see is how you do against the tigers on tour, against guys with nerves strong enough to conquer 12-foot putts when the dough's on the line, who drive the ball like computers programmed without the words slice and hook.

"I'm trying to keep low key, to keep busy," said Roth, between lessons at Wabeek last week. "I don't want to change the routine. (But) I'm getting real pumped up."

ROTH, 25, HASN'T always been so pumped up about his game. It took a good woman, but in this case not one who stood behind him, but one who stood in front, demanding his best from him. Roth met Patti Jaaski, a former student at Bloomfield Hills Andover, when he was playing a mini-tour in Florida two winters ago. She was a young, pretty tennis pro in Fort Lauderdale; he was a young, handsome golf should shift from back foot to front as you swing through the ball.

e Hitting through the ball — You must keep your head down and eye on the ball, but you also must hit through the ball. One way of developing this ability, Whitener said, is to imagine the ball is five inches thick. That will help you drive through the ball and shift your weight forward properly.

• Work - This is something the club should do, not you. Trying to "kill" the ball will just result in slices or hooks. An easy, controlled swing is all that's needed.

MUCH OF THIS can be perfected and practiced on the driving range, Whitener said. "When you do go to the range, start with a seven or eight iron, not your driver," he advised. "The swing is basically the same for all your clube, so start out swinging easy. You should finish with your woods."

Woods and irons aren't the only clubs that can be practiced off the golf course, however. Practice putting greens are available at all courses.

"The key in practicing putting is to develop touch," Whitener said. "You have to have a feel for it. And, if you can get that feel, hopefully it will carry over to your other clubs.

The short game is 40-50 percent of your score. You've probably heard the old gorilla story; he drives the ball a mile onto the green, steps up to it and then putts it another mile."

That is what makes developing touch

MS outbreak puzzles health officials

By Marie Chastney staff writer

Pat Collin recently added five plus three plus seven and came up with a medical mystery.

It's a mystery that alarme and baffles her. It's a mystery she's reluctant to talk about because the residents of three subdivision streets in southwest Livonia — Orangelawn, Pinetree and Hambleton, between Wayne and Yale - might panic.

And it's a mystery now in the hands of the Wayne County and Michigan departments of bealth as well as the research laboratories of the New York-based National Mutiple Sciences Soci-

All three groups have launched an investigation into whether an abnormally high number of multiple sciences (MS) victims have lived on the three streets.

Collin's mystery began when both her adult daughters were diagnosed as having MS, a disease which wears away the coatings around nerve endings and which can lead to partial or total paralysis.

Now a Plymouth resident, she told friends from her old neighborhood, the Country Homes Subdivision, of her daughters' diagnores. That's when Collins heard about the five - the five other families from the same subdivision who had a family member with Digging further, Collin found the three and the seven — three families from the same three streets who suspected a family member had MS and seven families from the same area in which some family member had a disease similar to MS.

TO COLLIN, the coincidences were astounding. She felt there had to be some common linkage among the fami-lies to cause 15 possible MS cases on three short streets. And she set out to

Collin mapped out the streets and identified the houses with a possible his victim. She collected medical data on the families' backgrounds. She select data on the families of the the area, the building the house. What was the land used for before the homes were built, she wanted to know. What kind of wire and insolation was used?

She contacted state and local departments of health and the Michigan Chapter of the National MS Society, sating all to investigate whether the illnesses were, indeed, MS and if there were common linkages among the 15 families.

This is not an epidemic," she said. "A lot (of people who grew up on the cautiously.

"I didn't want to panic any of those people," Collin said. "Few of the original homeowners are now there. MS was afflicting mostly children of the original owners. I didn't want to go into any of those people's homes and scare

TO PATRICIA McDonald, executive director of the Oak Park-based National Multiple Scierosis Society, the high number of MS victims in one area was

"There's a high rate of MS victims who grow up in the same neighborhood who get it," McDonald said. "It's not umusual. One main theory is there's a virus going around and a large number contact it in the early years of their life, the first five to 10 years maybe.

Then it lays dormant until adulthood, when something triggers it. With that theory, it would stand to reason several cases could pop up in the same area because people are going to the

But Collin's detective work, McDonald said, will be investigated by the medical adviser in the society's New York office.

"This is obviously a research-oriented case," she said. "Our research has determined MS is not hereditary. So we have to ask, if it is not, then what are LIEE HEALTH department officials interviewed, McDonald cantioned against assuming that one common link tied all 18 possible MS cases together.

"This is not an epidemic," she said.
"A lot (of people who grew up on the street) did not contact this. There are 11,000 cases of MS in Michigan and blocks."

She also emphasized that MS case only be disqueed by a doctor. Of the 18 possible MS cases, five have been definitely confirmed so MS, Collin said. Three are suspected to be MS and the rest are very "iffy."

Dr. Ken Wilcox, head of the research lab at the Michigan Department of Health, is now investigating the 15 families which have been linked to MS to determine the exact number of families around the very linked to MS.

lies actually having the discus

Terry Balley, spokesman for the de-partment, said a background check has been made on the families and the data is now being analyzed.

TWO DOCTORS from the Wayne County Department of Health are also leading an investigation leto whether there have been an unassatily high sember of cases on the three streats. The doctors are Jane Polkowski, medical director, and Donald Lawrenchuk, assistant medical director.

"We're weeks away from concluding the investigation," Lawrenchuk said.
"A high number of MS cases is to be expected in a morthern climate. Bet it's not as easy disease to verify. There is not a blood test which tells. It's frustrating because it takes a long time to show up."

A quick check of local neurologists, Lawrenchuk gald, did not show an unusual number of MS cases coining for those three streets or being report Department doctors, he said, are a talking to the families to see how cases were diagnosed.

The county, he said, will be working closely with the state to compare deta.

Lawrenchuk said families cometimes become acutely semilive to bearing about other MS victims once a case has been diagnosed in their own family.

"You start hearing about many cases, cases you might not have asked about before or paid attention to before," he said.

DRIFTING TEETH

After you've had a tooth extracted, you may think your other teeth will stay right where they are, but that's not likely to happen. As soon as a gap is created in your mouth, the other teeth are prone to drifting, especially the teeth closest to the gap. This can cause some serious dental problems, including eventual loss of

When you have a missing tooth, there is a natural tendency for the teeth on either side of the gap to drift toward each other. This may happen so slowly and imperceptively that you don't realize it's happening at first. With the drifting, open contact areas are created where food will collect, causing tooth decay. This can also cause gum infection and bone loss prob-

The drifting also throws your other teeth out of alignment, resulting in malocclusion or improper bite. This will decrease your chewing efficiency and put abnormal strain on your remaining teeth. Sometimes this results in jaw joint pain. If you have a missing tooth, you should ask your dentist what he would recommend to replace it. A public service to promote better dental

Caryaler-Plymouth and the American Automobile Association will co-sponsor a "trouble shooting contest," a nationwide interscholastic auto mechanic stedent competition for high school year after a four-year absence.

The contest returns for the 1983-54

'The Trouble Shooting Contest is a major incentive for talested high school students to become auto service technicians, a field where there is both opportunity and a real need," said A.C. (Bud) Liebler, general marketing manager for Chrysler-Plymouth. "This makes the Trouble Shoot a public-eervice program in every sense of the word."

THE 1963-54 competitions will involve 200,000 students in more than 2,500 high schools in all 50 states, 4,000 instructors, Plymouth dealers and AAA-affiliated clubs. Testing support will be provided by Western Michigan University.

The program tests students on state-of-the-art auto service. Testing in-cludes a comprehensive exam on all systems in the auto.

State and national championships in-clude hands on repair competition be-tween high school teams working on a fleet of identical cars with deliberately induced mechanical cars with deliberately induced mechanical programs.

The event will include local and state competition in the spring and a three-day national championship in mid-

Prizes totaling $125,000 will include scholarships for as many as 10 top teams, expense-paid trips for students and instructors, trophies, tool sets, and

"AAA IS delighted to join with Plymouth in sponsoring the Trouble Shoot," said George Glek, AAA's managing director of automotive engineering and road services.

"AAA already inspects and approves top-quality auto repair shops throughout the nation. The Plymouth-AAA Trouble Shooting Contest is another step in our efforts to improve the quality of auto repairs and upgrade the tack-nical competence of auto mechanics,"

The program began in 1949 in Los Angeles when area Plymouth dealers discovered that, well-trained auto mechanics were in short supply. School officials, at the time trying to escourage students to enter the auto mechanics field, cooperated in the development of the program.

From a local event involving 17 schools and 50 students, the Trouble Shoot became national in scope. National championships have been held since 1963, each year in a different major city.

At the conclusion of the contests, Trouble Shooters are contacted in an effort to find them jobs as apprentice mechanics in dealerships near their homes. In past years, about two-thirds of the participants accepted jobs in the automobile business.

U-D sets night school registration

The University of Detroit's Re-naissance Campus will conduct fall registration for evening business and administration classes from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Thursday and Friday, Sept. 1-2.

Classes begin Sept. 6 on the campus at 851 E. Jefferson, across from the Renaissance Center in down-the Renaissance Center in Gown-town Detroit.

Students not previously admitted abould contact the admissions office at $27-1501. Course schedules are available from the same number.

U-D's evening program is designed for working persons who want to complete a college degree or take courses to improve professional skills. More than 30 evening courses are avilable in accounting, administration, economics, finance, marketing and personnel adminis-

Targeting drunk drivers leads to drop in death toll

Traffic fatalities in Oakland County were the lowest in more than 16 years during the first half of 1983, the Traffic Improvement Association reported.

"We're convinced most of this reduction is due to the countywide drunk driving program," said TIA managing director Bruce Madsen. "Compared to last year, our alcoholrelated fatalities are down 32 per-

The number of persons killed in traffic fell 20 percent from the same period last year — to 49 persons vs. 61 in the first half of 1982.

"OF THESE fatalities, 23, or 47 percent, were alcohol-related. Last year 34, or 56 percent, were alcohol-related," said Madsen.

Oakland's 20 percent reduction in traffic deaths compares favorably

n august sale to a statewide reduction of a cost in the first healf of 1963.

"Cakinad County's reduction is all the more remarkable when one con-siders that, for the pest three years, traffic fatalities here have been much lower than at any time in the last two decades.

"For example, in 1969 Oskland County recorded 160 traffic fatalities for the first six months of the year," said bladsen.

OTHER FACTORS contribution other factors contributing to the decline in traffic deaths, according to TIA, included improvements in vehicle safety engineering, emergency medical services, street and highway safety engineering and increased use of seat belts.

Throughout Michigan, 570 traffic deaths were reported for the first half of the year compared to 596 for the same period last year.
