Township millage rate, assessments lower for '83

By Gary M. Catee staff writer

Homeowners in Plymouth Township should receive a slight break in their 1983 property tax bill thanks to lower assessments and a lower township mil-

Last week the township board adopted a 4.73 miliage rate for 1983, down almost one-tenth of a mill from last year's rate of 4.82.

The lower millage rate will result in an approximate $5 savings for the average township property tax payer, exclusive of any reduction in assessment.

(Actual savings on the total property tax bill may be higher or lower depend-ing on the miliage rates adopted by other units of government levying taxes on township homeowners.)

Included in the township's 4.73 levy is a 1.44 debt levy. The remainder is comprised of operating, police and fire

THE TOTAL LEVY is expected to net some $1.54 million for the township, based on a total state equalized value (SEV) of $347 million. Last year the township was valued at $352 mil-

The majority of the $15-million reduction in valuation was the result of a reassessment of the township's residential properties, according to Supervisor Maurice Breen.

The reassessment resulted in lower assessed values for many homeowners - which will provide further savings on the property tax bill.

During the reassessment, 12-month sales studies were used, opposed to 30month studies, to aid in determining market values - resulting in assess-recent slump in the real estate market.

IN OTHER TOWNSHIP financial business, Breen has recommended a $2.9 million budget for 1964 to the township board. The board is expected to take action on the budget late next

On the expenditure side of the pro-posed budget, the major changes in-clude a $219,000 increase in general administration over last year's budget.

That increase was brought about by an increase in fringe benefits to town-

Another change in expenditures is a $114,000 decrease in the cost of law enforcement, brought about by a fixed price on the city/township contract for police services, he said.

Total expenditures in Breen's recommendations are up $192,000 from last year's figures. On the revenue side, the projections show a $175,000 increase in total revenues over 1982.

The largest increase is in the general administration revenues, up $363,000. This is due to anticipated increase in

There are anticipated decreases in the law enforcement and solid waste disposal reveneues; $87,000 and $70,000, respectively.

The decrease in solid waste disposal revenues is due to high projections for 1982, Breen said.

With one year past for the garbage disposal program, Breen said they were able to use closer projections for the revenues

Unlike last year's budget, which allowed for a $17,000 surplus by year's end, Breen's proposed 1984 budget matches revenues with expenditures.

Teacher selected as replacement for CEP area coordinator's post

The Plymouth-Canton School Board Monday named Ethylene Hazelwood as area coordinator for the Centennial Educational Park replacing Pat Patton, the newly-appointed principal of Lowell Middle School.

Hazelwood, an 18-year veteran of the school district, most recently taught secretarial science and served as office occupation co-op coordinator.

As high school area coordinator, Patton was responsible for the counseling. media services, and skills for living programs. She also handled the evaluation and disciplining of teachers in those areas. Whether Hazelwood will assume all her duties is undecided.

School Board President Glean Schroeder said the district is "extremely fortunate to be able to fill these positions from within its ranks.

We believe (Hazelwood will) work well with teachers and administrators, and we know she has proven ability to work with students." Norman Kee, assistant superintendent for employee relations, said Hazelwood was among nine in-house candidates considered for the job. All were fine candidates, which speaks well for the district, said Dick Egli, community relations director for

"There was agreement that any of the other eight probably could have done the job. But this person has done a lot of volunteering, is very dependable and can be counted on.

"She's willing to jump in and do things, and really was the person who had the most good things said about her," Egli

Hazelwood, who served on the mainstreaming and curriculum planning committees, bolds a master of science degree from Eastern Michigan Univer-

Les described ber as a "very quiet, yet efficient person who can be depended on in any circumstance."

IN UNRELATED business, the school board approved a 8 percent raise for district crossing and security guards for the 1983-84 school year, and a 6 percent hike for 1984-85. The guards, who took a wage freeze last year, earn roughly between minimum wage and $7 hourly, depending on length of service, and have no union representation.

Similarly, about 20 non-affiliated district employees were given like 3 and 6 percent salary increases. Affected are a wide range of district staffers ranging from executive secretaries to supervisors of accounting and maintenance and community relations department members.

"I know it is the board's feeling that these are loyal employees who've been awaiting this for some time," said Kee.

There's really no reason to hold off on these salary increases when a fair and equitable proposal has been of-fered that is within the district's ability to pay."

There been no threat of a work stop-page by the involved employees. They comprise "a whole group of people who've been extremely loyal and patient." he added.

All of Monday night's actions were unanimously approved the full board.

Board member Dr. E.J. McClendon said that while the district could wait for other bargaining units to settle, taking action now without being pushed demonstrates the administration's commitment to non-union employees.

(Plymouth-Canton teachers, who have yet to reach agreement with the district on a wage re-opener clause, were awaiting the scheduling of a second mediation session as of late Tuesday. They formally have asked for a factfinder to intervene.

Other district employee groups have set a Friday, Sept. 30, deadline for a negotiated settlement on new contracts or wage re-openers.)

Recently the federal government, overruling its own Products Safety Commission, once again made it legal to sell the foam as insulation for

According to Susan Carlson, a former Troy resident who is president of the organization that asked the township for the funds, the problem is not with the U.S. government's decision to allow the stuff to be installed, but how to aid those who wish to have it re-

"Urea-formaldehyde, at least as a home insulation, is a dead product," said Carlson, founder of Citizens Engaged in the Removal of Toxic Substances (CERTS). "I mean, after all the attention, who's going to buy it?"

What she is seeking is government help in determining how many homes have the product and in which homes formaldehyde gas has reached toxic levels. She also wants government aid in having it removed. Removal can

CARLSON began CERTS in January and claims a membership of more than 1,000, of which 350 are Wayne County residents. She first came into contact with urea-formaldehyde foam 24 years ago when she, her husband and four children moved into their new Troy home they had purchased under a land contract from another family. The house had the foam when they moved in.

"All the children had tremendous medical problems - nausea, hives, upper respiratory infections, cysts," explained Carlson. Jeffrey, now 16, suffered what doctors say may be permanent bronchial tube damage. Jennifer, now 15, suffers from athema. An ugly cyst on Joey's head cleared up only after the family left the house.

They'd never had any problems before we moved into the house," said Carlson about the children. "Joey (now 11) grew the cyst. He had it for seven months and it was gone less than a month after we moved."

The Carlsons, unable to sell their house because of a flood of bad publicity regarding the foam, let it revert back to its original owner. "We lost our entire investment - about $20,000." Carlson said.

Karen Mueller of Plymouth Township estimates she and her husband spent $15,000 to have urea foam removed from their house and new insulation put in.

"My eyes stung dreadfully and I was aving headaches," Mueller said. The insulation, which had been installed in their new house in the winter of 1979, was removed last September. "What decided it, when my husband said. 'Let's do it (have the foam removed)' was when the cat developed a tumor and we had to have her killed. We later found her favorite spot was where the insulation was the worst."

HER HOUSE was tested by the Michigan Department of Health in 1981 and showed a concentration of formaldehyde gas of .79 parts per million. The

and other road hazards. The signs, courtesy of a Farmington Hills company that would like to market them nationwide, are highly visible, portable, lightweight, durable and, possibly most important of all, impervious to the high winds generated by semi-trucks as they fly

"So far, they're working out beautifully," said Sgt. Leo Morris of the Northville Post, which has been using the signs for several weeks. There is one sign in each of the 28 patrol cars. The signs are 51 inches wide and can be set up as high as 63 inches. They are highly reflective and come with interchangeable messages such as "Caution," "Police Emergency Keep Out," "Merge" and "Accident Ahead." The folded sign is 21 inches long and occupies a space of less than half a cubic foot.

"THEY'RE REALLY nice," said Morris. "The big thing is they're easy to put up - 30 seconds. And a truck goes by at 65, you'd think the high winds would knock it over but they don't."

"It's getting people's attention. Whether it's the sign or just that it's something new, it's hard to say yet," added Morris. "Remember when road constuction companies started using those orange warning signs? Everybody noticed them for a while, but now, people don't even seem to see them. They just fly right by. Whether that will happen with these signs, I don't know."

Morris said the signs normally cost $200 apiece. They are made by Marketing Displays Inc. and are marketed under the names "Traffic-Master" and "WindMaster."

An 'amaizing' trip for weekend football

By W.W. Edgar staff writer

There was one happy man on the University of Michigan chartered plane when it returned from the Pacific Northwest where the Wolverines had lost by a single point to the University of Washigton Huskies Saturday.

He was William (Pod) McAllister, owner of the grocery store on North-ville Road, who was realizing his life-time ambition of traveling with the Michigan team on a football weekend.

From the days of his youth when he was one of the Boy Scouts who served as ushers in the Michigan Stadium, he had yearned to be a football player, And every week the keen desire became greater.

"Each week as I climbed up and down the tiers of steps I looked with envy on those players down there wearing the maise and blue," he said.

NATURE didn't endow him with the build, speed or muscle required of a footbell player. So he had to limit his competition to besketbell and tennis.

But the been desire for football never left him. And when he was convinced that he'd never wear the maize and bise on the white-striped playing field, he developed the ambition to enjoy the thrill that would come with travelling with the team on a good road trip.

That thrill came Friday when he was welcomed abroad, the Wolverines chartered plane for the trip to Seattle.

Through the good graces of Al Wistard, the former Michigan All-American, he was granted permission to make the trip. not as a goost but as a paid passenger.

"AFTER all these years I really was travelling with the Michigan tests," he said as his eyes sparkled."

McAllister had studied at the university on a one-year plan with the Navy program after two years at Eastern Michigan University. But his real attachment to Michigan came when his daughter enrolled there in the music school in 1969.

"That was the year Bo Schembechler reported at Michigan as the head coach, I always liked his program and I got a new thrill in watching him build the Wolverines into Rose Bowl winners."

"And," with a bit of pride he said, "I have the bear a bown stand a bown stan

"Even the lift boy said, 'welcome to the U.S.," said Carsten Kuehntopp of Germany.

They tell you to have a nice day when you shop. It's something. In Sweden, we never say that," said Maria Tamayo of Stockholm.

"The American people are helpful and smile always," said Mika Heinimo of Vantaa, Finland.

The teen-agers, three of 800 new arrivals in the States for a one-year stay, vere getting to know each other during a Youth for Understanding, (YU) orlesi-tation at the Newburgh Methodist Church in Westland recently.

Originated in Ann Arbor as an exchange program for German and American youth, YU has become a worldwide organization, offering young people and host families the opportunity to get to know each other and learn something of foreign countries and cul-

The Swedish, German, Finnish, Swiss, Japanese, Danish and Mexican students are new in more than one way.

Travel-weary but excited, many were overwhelmed to clear airport customs and be greeted by shouting swarms of flag-waving, sign-bearing families and friends.

"We compare it to bringing a new baby home for the first time," said Westland's Lynne Larmee, a YU area representative and confessed flag-

"We know they're tired and it's a lot to handle, but we can't help it."

THOUGH EXCITING, the first meeting also was suspenseful and a bit tense for students, most of whom arrived during August.

"I was so afraid about the first minute with my host family. I did not know what shall we do when we see each other," said Carsten, a tall blond from West Berlin staying with Jim and Carol Verkennis of Westland.

"Everyone was there waiting, the es-calators all full of people and the crowd with signs. I felt embarrassed.

Peter Ohle of West Germany, residing with Plymouth's Diane and James Hines, was taken aback at what he considers light academic loads at Centennial Educational Park.

"Here we study so few subjects. In Germany you don't have choice and you don't have the same lessons at the same time each day?," said Ohle, who at home would be taking physics, biology, Latin, French and mathematics as well as the courses he's now enrolled Hanover, Germany's Gaby Schilling, who's found an American home with the Hustons in Livonia, "cried so hard" after her first days of school because "it is so hard to make friends.

"I know I have to be patient, but I just can't," she said.
"Slowly it is getting better."

Surprising to several students are American's lack of familiarity with foreign cultures and inability to speak a second or third language.

"Most Americans won't leave their country," said Peter.

'They should go out and see what's happening in the world and not be so isolated."

OF THE 28 YU students placed in Wayne County, only three have studied English for one year or less. On an average, the exchange students have taken English classes for six and a half years. The majority speaks four languages, and one speaks six.

"And our teachers say we speak bad English," said Maria.

"In Europe, everybody knows several languages. Not so much because they have to learn languages, but because they want to," said another student.

Such cultural differences and the difficulties they can cause were addressed during the three-day YU orientation for families and students, said Canton's Henriette McDonald, YU area representative and American mom" to Axel Skielka. (Axel, from Bremen, Germany, often reminds the McDonalds that Bremen is the home of Beck's Beer, says McDonald.)

Built into the orientation schedule was free time to enable students to catch up on school work. Some curled up with volumes of American history or literature, while others played soccer in the gym.

Neither activity appealed to Carsten. "I just want to talk," he said.

"It's great to be an exchange student.

I feel something is going on with me. I don't know what it is, but it is great.

Tailor keeps eyes on his native home

By W.W. Edgar staff writer

Every day as he goes about work in his little tailor shop with the traditional tape measure around his neck, Fawze Howani, the Lebanese tailor now in business in Plymouth, becomes more confident that the trouble in the Middle East soon will be settled.

"We have airplanes today for the first time," he said with a glow of confidence "and it may soon be that the Lebanese Army will help to set-

He doesn't believe his native country's army will chase Israel out of Beirut but says, "with the Palestinians without guns, and we have airplanes, there will be no reason for Israel to stay."

Asked if he thought the recent resignation of Prime Minister Begin would have any effect he quickly answered "no." Then he added, "The Israelites are all the same. So the change of one man won't make any difference."

THE TAILOR, who worked five years for clothier Wendell Lent, is busy arranginng a move to the Forest Mall where he will have a larger shop and be next door to the Chic Botique.

He talked of the conditions that caused him to leave his native land and come to America.

"Me and my family landed here on June 17, 1975 because things at home things were in such bad shape. There was shooting all over the place and we always were in danger. So I closed my little tailor shop and brought my family here where I felt we would be safe."

Shortly after landing on American aboves, Howani went to work for the Cousens firm in Detroit and soon became the manager. It was there that he heard of the Lent store in Plymouth. He applied for a position, was accepted, and started work in

"I had my own shop in Lebanon," he said, "and was doing nicely. I have a degree in designing from Mi-lan, Italy, and that helped. Then the war came and with its trouble and I decided to leave for America."

He still thinks the trouble in the Middle East will be settled but it is going to take time. "What they need back home is to come together as one and have the Lebanese army be the guaradian of the area. He said there is no need for each little country to have an army and fight each other.

"We should be like United States where we have one big army — not every state have its own.

'It must be a democratic country and I think the people are beginning to see that: And the change can't come too soon."

He comes from a family of 19 children and has Il brothers and seven sisters. He feels were very for-tunate. "We didn't lose anybody in any of the fighting, thank God, and now all we have to hope for is a reorgainsation of little states with one big army in Lebanon.

"Then there will be peace in the Middle East."

Meanwhile he kept using his tape measure around his shoulders as one customer after another kept him

Dan Moonan, who owns All-Pointes Construction Company of Detroit, said he has removed foam insulation from about 50 homes in the last couple of years. "It's cat urine and embalming fluid and that's what it smells like. It stinks," Moonan said, "The stuff was real big in "78-79-80, during the energy crisis. But it's bad stuff. ... Not only that, but a lot of them (ures-foam installers) did such a sloppy job. And not just small companies. I'm talking big companies, successful companies.

"You should see the house we're working on, now. It was installed all wrong. They installed it in the air space between the bricks and the sheathing, instead of the wall cavity itself, which is where is was supposed to go." The result? Each brick on the house had to be removed, at a cost of $10,000.

Currently, removal of the foam and any health problems relating to it are usually the financial burden of the

Stop smoking clinic slated

A stop smoking clinic has been scheduled for the week of Sept. 25 in the Metropolitan S.D.A. Church at 15585 Haggerty Road in Plymouth.

The clinics are sponsored by Dr. Ar-thur Weaver, associate professor of surgery, and his associate John Swan-son, health adsocation specialist.

Sponsored by Better Living Seminars as a community service, the five-day clinic aims to help improve the health of the participants and to contribute to the national physical fitness program.

Weaver's clinics have been attended by more than 56,606 people. The plan features such topics as the psychological and physical aspects of the habit, how craving can be lessened, how to heep from gaining weight, organization of a group buddy system, and other techniques designed to break the habit within the five-day period.

To register for the clinic, call 459-2028 or 459-6894. A donation will be ac-cepted to cover materials and han-

FAIRLANE . LAKESIDE . TWELVE OAKS . BRIARWOOD . OAKLAND EASTLAND . RENAISSANCE CENTER . MT. CLEMENS . WARREN,

Acuarie was humming softly to the beautiful baby in her arms as she walked toward the little, log church in the wild wood.

She was remembering the old "Song to the Turtle" — the muhabeegeh of chasgied - that her Chippewa grandmother had often sung to her. Although she was living among the protective, hospitable Potowatomi, Acuarie sometimes longed for the voices of her childhood. They always would be dear to

Mrs. Tongah, Acuarie's Potowatomi mother-in-law, had found shelter with her cousin (Elizabeth Pokagon) since her husband, Tongah or Telonga, as he was often called, had been killed in a savage brawl near the ancient mound at Grand Rapids.

Tongah was a successor to old Chief Tonquish who had been shot to death by irate settlers. This took place on Ton-quish Plan near Ptymouth, Mich., in 1819. The boy baby in Acuarie's arms was little Toga — early grandson of Chief Tonquish, also known to his contemporaries as Toga.

Holding little Toga close to her heart and leading title Toga close to her heart and leading the Syear-old Elisabeth, her other child, and Mrs. Tongah, the little group joined the throng streaming into the church at Chichipe Outipe Sipe.

What is a Tonogaish grandson doing bere in the arms of a Chippewa mother, being carried into a Catholic chapel to bear a priest from Rennes, France, address them in broken English and pidgin Potowatomi about the latest garbled government edict? How did they wander so far from their comfortable old home on Tonquish Plain? What strange fate has brought them to this

YOU MAY REMEMBER that when we last walked with the Tonquish (Obrver, Aug. 1) Chief Pokagon, head chief of the tribe, and his wife, Elizabeth, Mrs. Tongah and Acuarie and the children, together with the old Shaman of the Tonquish, were camped in the woods on the shore of Lake Mishigum near the shabby, little village of Sheco-

Chief Pokagon was making daily pil-grimages to Fort Dearborn to try to negotiate a fair settlement for the Po-towatomi-Chippewa-Ottawa interests be represented. But secretly the wise he represented. But secretly the was old chief knew he was doomed before he had begun. He was, however, very determined to salvage something from the wreckage. Now it is September 1833 and there isn't much time left.

Pokagon was bour in 1775 of a Chippews father and an Ottowa mother. His wife, Elizabeth, was a Potowatomi. Early in life Pokagon had been adopted by the great chief Topinabe. Like the late lamented Chief Topquish, who also was of mixed blood, Pokagon always knew where his best interests lay. Although a good man, he also was basically a politician who had forged to the front in the control and direction of the

On this day, Sept. 26, 1833, he was standing in the crowded, overheated main room at Fort Dearborn, face to face with a wily Indian-fighter and a stubborn, dangerous adversary, Col. Zachary Taylor. Fresh from a triumph over Black Hawk, Taylor was in no mood for compromise.

"Now Pokagon," the sharp voice of the colonel pierced the air like a ra-sor's edge, "You must remember the tide. It does not move backward at the bidding of any Indian,

"The tide, Pokagon, favors the white men. And you know that. And you know that I know that. And you know that I cannot change it. Neither can you command the wind? Can you move the sun? Neither can you move this horde of white settlers who would own this land. They will take it from you and neither you nor I can stop them.

"If you are smart; and I think you are, you will head for a safe port. Trim your sails, man. I make you no promise I cannot deliver. And I promise you a large, beautiful land across the Missippi in Kansas. Take your people to Kansas. The tide has turned, Pokagon. You can NOT stay here. If you do not accept what I would give you now, you will lose it all. Do you understand? LOSE IT ALL!," he repeated emphatically, pounding on the table.

"I understand this," Pokagon announced in excellent English without a trace of dialect, class feet, precise, confident. "And I understand perfectly what you are about to do, but I think you have forgotten something. And it is something very important to yourself and to your people. You must consider it or the tide will turn against you, too."

"And what the hell is that?" was Taylor's impatient response. Perhaps he was addressing the chief, but probably he was startled by a near riot which suddenly had crupted in the back of the room.

A HALF DOZEN militia men with bayonets bared quickly appeared on the scene and escorted the rioters from

The instigator was tipsy, old Chief Shavehead who was to spend some time in Fort Dearborn's brig. Shavehead, you may recall, had named him-self chief tollgate keeper on the river near his homebase in Porter Township. Cass County. He had a lucrative "busi-ness" holding up passing settlers, charging an outrageous toll for permission to ford "my river."

The room quieted down and Chief Pokagon and Col. Taylor were about to resume their discussion when suddeply another interruption was created.

A breathless messenger rushed in with a letter for Taylor. After a hasty glance, he explained:

"Bad news, Pokagon, I must leave for Washington at once. I leave you in good hands. Listen to my advice. Go to Kansas. My commissioners will spell it out for you. Listen to them."

Before the day was over Pokagon had signed the treaty but as he took up the goose quill pen to make his mark the tears began to fall on his old bucks-kin jacket. He bravely faced the Che-moissmon officers who had come to watch the proceeding and, speaking a-rectly to the government agents, he said in a strong, clear voice, "I would rather die than do this. But it is better to endure a wrong than to comm

"Love thy neighbor," the black robes had taught him well. This was a good man who every night of his life said, "Nossiman nonshiring, kithing klaik anosowin. This is our Father, Who art. in Heaven." His whole life attests that he truly believed in the Christian faith.

WITH A STROKE of the pen Pokagon had forfeited more than six million acres in acrthern Illinois, southern Michigan and parts of Wisconsin and northern Ohio.

It was the end of dominance for the Three fires" in the Middle West. Although he could write English well. Pokagon refused to make more than a half-hearted mark with the goose quilled pen, but it was enough to open the floodgates of the white settlers.

The treaty of Oct. 27 ceded the reserv vation at Pocagon's village of the Tonquish band. Pocagon was given $2,000 in cash and his wife, Elizabeth, was given two whole sections. Mrs. Tongah, who had control of Tongah's land, was given an additional half-section. So these people salvaged a little out of the

In this Byzantine world of broken promises and bartered land, it is not suprising to discover that only one of these so-called "Reservations" was in Indian lands five years later.

Wayne County General

Lucas still seeks hospital operators

staff writer.

Medical service to the poor doesn't have to suffer if Wayne County finds someone else to run its general hospital in Westland, County Executive William

"Only 6 percent of the county's indi-gents use it, but it's still looked at as a hospital for indigent care," Lucas told the Canton Rotary Club Monday.

There will always remain the commitment that the poor and indigent will be taken care of."

"WE ARE in negotiation with state and private agencies to see if they are interested in operating the hospital," said the county's first executive. He revealed he also had talked to a private hospital operating company in Memphis about the hospital'sp roblem — an operating deficit approaching $15 million a year.

"But we have no intention of closing Wayne County General Hospital," said Lucas, pointing out that WCGH performs the functions of trauma treatment center and teaching hospital as well as general hospital care.

"Its costs tend to be higher for those reasons. Those costs should be shared by the state."

Lucas defended his veto of a County Commission ordinance which would have given the legislative branch effective appointment power over a board running the hospital. The ordinance was sponsored by Commissioner Kay Beard, D-Inkster, who pictured the is-sue as one of being for or against keeping the building open.
Lucas called the ordinance "an attempt by the commission to put us back in a feudal system." He warmly praised Commissioner Milton Mack, D-Wayne, whose district includes Canton, for opposing the ordinance and helping prevent the commission from overriding his veto.

ton on the 1981 Charter Commission, 5901 Conner, Detroit.

asked Lucas about having a private op-erator take over WCGH as had hap-pened with the Cook County (III.) hospi-

"Cook tried to divest itself of the hospital," Lucas replied. "Unfortunately, the people they contracted with did such a poor job (of serving indigents) that they (county government) had to take it back."

But Lucas said there are "several successful companies" which operate hospitals and could possibly take over

Lucas said WCGH runs $12-15 million deficits (on a budget of $55 million) because "it is sorely overstaffed — with 350 too many employees; salaries are 62 percent higher than comparable hospitals; its occupancy rate is 45 percent when you need 75 percent occupancy to break even; and the work rules are operates." rules are operous."

He said his administration had unilaterally imposed a new contract that changes many hospital work rules regarding which classification of employees can do which jobe.

WCGH costs run $650 a day, while most metropolitan area hospitals' costs run $250 to $200, he added.

ASKING FOR popular support for his nine-month-old administration, Lucas criticized some commission personalities for holding up confirmation of his appointments "because they don't like the color of my eyes."

He praised Donald H. Bishop, mayor of Dearborn Heights, whom he nominated to be assistant CEO for public services, a job involving coordination of work by the Road Commission, the Drain Commission and the executive's own Department of Public Works.

A County Commission committee has recommended rejection of Bishop's appointment. That recommendation is due to be taken up by the Commission at 7 p.m. Thursday when commissioners meet in the eastern campus of BART BERG, who represented Can- Wayne County Community College,

Closed seed money meetings could feed corruption

T'S OUR tax money, Gov. Blanchard, and we want to know how it's being handled.

A keystone in the governor's economic re-covery program is his Michigan Strategic Fund. It would make and underwrite loans, investments and grants with a view to diversifying Michigan's economy and bolstering infant firms with a potential for growth.

That's what it says in the large type of Blanc-hard's press release.

In the small type of Senate Bill 386, however, we find that the strategic fund's governing board would be exempt from the Open Meetings Act.

And its records would be exempt from the Freedom of Information Act (sec. 5 (8)).

THERE'S MUCH opportunity for mischief if such fund is operated in secrecy. The strategic fund would start with $54 million. The Plymouth Observer anticipates all kinds of would-be millionaires and all kinds of inventors lining up to get a share of that finite pile of green-

Some will get money. Others won't.

How will the governing board decide? What criteria will it use to loan and spend our tax dollars?

Will persons who have contributed to certain political campaigns be more likely to get a loan? Will ethnic origin or membership in the right fraternal lodge be a factor?

Where in the state will this seed money go? Will certain legislative districts - perhaps those of lawmakers facing recall for supporting the income tax increase — be more likely to see an infusion of

We're not supposed to know. The strategic fund board's meetings and records are to be exempt from the normal Open Meetings and Freedom of Information laws.

THE GOVERNING board of the Michigan Strategic Fund will be political — no question about it.

All nine members will be appointees of the governor. The fund's president and vice president "shall serve without a fixed term at the pleasure of the governor" (sec. 5 (4)).

Among those directors will be the governor's Commerce Department director and the state treasurer. Two other members could be governmental officials. The non-governmental members also could turn out to be political supporters of the

That's all right. The man who won the gubernatorial election is entitled to have his choices in those jobs, assuming they are honest and competent.

But as political appointees, they also should be prepared to operate under the public's eye.

All local governments must hold public hearings. on their budgets. They must make copies of the budget available to the public. They must discuss their budgets in open meetings, hear input in open meetings, make amendments in open meetings, vote in open meetings and make their records public documents.

Not Gov. Blanchard's strategic fund board, as proposed.

The Plymouth Observer urges our community's legislators - Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, and State Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, to be wary of SB 386, whatever its merits may be in promoting economic recovery. They should amend the bill to require the board to do public business in public.

It's our tax money they're investing.

High tech': no panacea, but no bogeyman either

THE NEW industrial revolution of the 1980s is far different from the 18th and 19th century industrial revolutions.

Our history books told tales of workmen - and they were "workmen," not "workers" — destroying machinery because it would displace them. It would be nearly impossible to do the same thing today, industrial security being what it is.

Upton Sinclair in "The Jungle" described the deadening impact of machinery on craftsmanship:

"Where Jurgis worked there was a machine which cut and stamped a certain piece of steel about two square inches in size; the pieces came tumbling out upon a tray, and all that human hands had to do was to pile them in regular rows, and change the tray at intervals. This was done by a single boy. . . Thirty thousand of these pieces he handled every day, nine or 10 millions every year how many in a lifetime it rested with the gods to

THESE TALES came to mind as Michigan state government under William Milliken committed itself to high technology at the opening of the 1980s. And so when Ronald R. Watcke of Troy proposed a series of articles putting high technology in perspective, I was intrigued.

Unlike many prospective columnists who call or write, Watcke had nothing to sell - no dental or law practice to push, no political ax to grind. His academic background is in history and education. He was dean of vocational education at Wayne County Community College because of his administrative background, not engineering; he is currently dean of liberal arts at WCCC.

His columns are far from sensational. Truth rarely is. But if you have been following them since Aug. 18, you will have picked up a realistic grasp of what high technology is all about.

It's no bogeyman. It's no panacea for our economic and industrial problems.

THERE ARE high technology industries, such as electric equipment, instruments and transportation equipment. There are "low tech" industries such as steel and textiles which use high tech processes such as computers and automated factory systems so he pointed out in his first article.

In contrast to the situation described by Upton Sinclair, Watcke points out that "many workers will experience an upgrading of occupational skills and a healthy dose of retraining to keep abreast of the rapid technological changes.

High tech employment opportunities are increasing by leaps and bounds - somewhere between 30 and 90 percent by 1990. But you have to consider that these are the leaps and bounds of an infant. High tech's proportion of the total job market increase will be only 8 percent or less by 1990. That was from Watcke's Aug. 25 quiz.

THE NOTION that metropolitan Detroit can become a high tech leader is more than rhetoric. "I believe Detroit has the clear-cut advantage (over Chicago) based on its international reputation as the leading tool manufacturing and metal machine center," Watcke said. Already, 100 to 125 high tech firms are located in a ridge from Troy to Farmington Hills to Ann Arbor.

On Sept. 22, he uncovered a quote from General Motors Chairman Roger B. Smith: "Every time the cost of labor goes up $1 an hour, 1,000 more robots become economical." American factories have 7,000 robots today. By 1990 there will be 35,000 ro-

One gets the clear impression high tech is neither as frightening nor as much a boon as it's cracked up to be. If you're looking for a picture of either hell or heaven, try another news medium.

A baseball scribe's life: monotony

"YOU ARE just the fellow I was hoping to see. I'd like to ask a big favor of you." This was the greeting from Dennis, a tailor friend of long standing and the type of friend for whom you would gladly do a favor.

"I have become a real baseball fan," he said in way of explanation, "and with you being an old-time baseball writer, I'd like to join you in the press box. I'd like to see how you fellows work — right there in the midst of all the excitement."

The Stroller just smiled. There are many baseball fans who have asked the same question through the

They would find it far from exciting if ever they were allowed to pay the visit to that glass-enclosed perch high on the roof of the old ballpark.

THE STROLLER HATED to tell his friend Dennis that such a visit was not possible. He explained that the press box was controlled by the Baseball Writers Association of America, and only members were allowed space during the activity.

Dennis seemed a bit disappointed — just like all the rest. But this was due to the misconception of the work writers do once the umpire shouts, "Play ball!"

Contrary to many beliefs, there is little excitement in the press box. The writers are too busy keeping their own score and watching every move that may be important.

This may be important.

This may come as a real surprise, but the base-ball writer leads a rather monotonous life.

Re is perched up in the box while the game is going on and sees the same faces every day for the greater part of the year. There is little chance to make contacts that are so important to any writer.

ON THE ROAD, contrary to many beliefs, the trips are monotonous for the most part. There is a reason: After watching the players on the field, one doesn't want to be with them during the evenings in a city anywhere from the Atlantic to the Pacific. So in New York, for instance, you roam almost as a

It is even worse now that so many games are played at night. When the Tigers are at home, the game usually ends shortly after 11 p.m. This is just a short time before the last edition of the morning paper goes to press. A writer has little chance to tell more than the straight facts - and in a hurry.

There is another side to this business of baseball writing. The most ardent readers are the players. They read every word, eager to learn just what you have written about them.

When Mickey Cochrane was the Tiger manager, he had one of his coaches read the papers, then cut out the items from the columns and paste them on the locker door of the player who was written

MANY TIMES, if you are critical of a player, he becomes irritated - often mad. So you have lost him for a while.

On the other hand, if you mention a player often, you are accused of favoritism.

You just can't win.

No, Dennis, you have the wrong conception of the press box. Like many of us through the years, the "job" has lost its thrill. It isn't all peaches and

Going back to the east side: a strange land

MOTHER HAD business on the Detroit's east side, where we used to live. I volunteered to take her. I thought it might be interesting to tour the old neighborhood, see the old house. I hadn't been by that way in many years.

We drove down the freeway and talked about some of the people who lived in the neighborhood, where they all had gone. No one lives there anymore, mother said. She knew a couple who lived on the next street over from her old house. "They stay in the house all the time and keep the doors locked, even in the summer," she said. "Their house has been broken into three times."

I got off at Chalmers and made a left at Harper - the old main street of my community. I remembered it as a once-thriving shopping area with peo-ple walking up and down the street, going into stores, the paper boy hawking the latest edition on the corner. Mom walked my sister and me with her as she made stops at the baker, the butcher, the

THERE'S THE old dime store where my crime career was cut short. I stole a skate key on a dare and was pinched by the store manager. Brought home by the cops, as sad and rueful a 10-year-old as you can imagine. Never again, I vowed. The store is now boarded up.

There's where old John's confectionary used to be. Every Saturday a neighbor boy and I went up to buy a chocolate malted and listen to old John dispense grandfatherly advice. The store sells burglar alarms now. No more butchers, bakers, dime stores, clothing stores, confectionaries in this neighborhood. That was a different age.

Now there are party stores, bars, beauty shops, magic shops, adult books stores, stores that self betting books. Half the buildings are boarded up. A couple have signs that say "Open," but there is nothing inside.

Turn right, down a few blocks and there's my old; street — the neighborhood. Went to elementary school a few blocks down, high school a mile away. All of my early friends lived within a few blocks. We were at each others' houses daily The houses are the same; I recognize each and every one. Except, for the most part, they're beat up or run down and no one I know lives there anymore.

There's Georgie's house — boarded up. "They couldn't sell it," mother said. There's Dayeks' house — boarded up. Couldn't sell, mother said.

MANY OF the houses look ravaged. A door missing here, a window there. There are yards where the grass is two months long and the bushes overgrown and, yet, there are also many neat trim, recently painted houses and welf-tended lawns that people maintain despite the deterioration around them.

Ah. There's the old house, Funny, everything looks smaller. Was the lawn that tiny, the porch that small? The garage is sagging, but not too bad. New door on the house. Looks triple strength. "There's the dope house," mother said pointing to a house across the street.

Mother moved from the neighborhood six years ago. She was mugged at the grocery store on a Sunday morning after church and decided she wanted to move. "I'm glad I don't live here anymore," mother said. "Me too," I said.

I don't know what I expected, but I thought it would be more nostalgic, that I might yearn for the past, that maybe I would see someone I know walking down Harper and I could honk and wave, stop the car, jabber about old times.

Maybe this is the way it always is with American cities which grow old. I don't know. I only feel that I am no longer a part of it. I was a visitor to a place I once felt a fortness for, but now it seems like an alien land. Mother moved from the neighborhood six years

The growth of robot use has been dramatic. Industry spent $60 million on robots in 1974, $90 million in '80 and an estimated $130 million in '81. Experts predict the expenditure will soar to $2 billion-a-year by 1990.

Approximately 7,000 robots are being used in U.S. factories and an estimated 35,000 will be in use by 1990.General Motors now has some 500 robots but expects to have more than 14,000 by 1990. This would be more than twice the number of robots in U.S. factories this year.

WHY ROBOTS? GM Chairman Roger B. Smith recently said, "Every time the cost of labor goes up $1 an hour, 1,000 more robots become economical." John Teresko, writing in Industry Week, says: "Robots are magnificent workers. They never tire, never strike nor sak for raises, and they always do things he same way."

The matter of reduced labor costs is important. Robots are costly. A simple robot may cost $15,000; a highly sophisticated unit may cost 10 times that amount. The useful life span of an average robot may be eight years, working two shifts.

Despite this high cost, robots are cheaper than human labor for some jobs. A study conducted by Carnegie-Mellon University shows that a $40,000 Unimate robot cost $4.50 an hour to operate in 1981 compared to more than $15 an hour for human labor.

There have been wild reports of robots taking away anywhere from 100,000 to 1 million jobs by 1990. Many pro-robot supporters have argued there will be no noticeable worker displacement and additional new jobs will be created.

THE TRUTH probably lies somewhere in between. For one things, robots can only be used for certain jobs. It is estimated that robots can perform less than 10 percent and probably less than 5 percent of industry jobs by 1990.

But there is little doubt some workers will be dis-aced with auto workers initially the most affected. The Society of Manufacturing Engineers estimates that by 1985 robots will be performing 20 percent of the jobs involved in the final assembly of automo-

The evidence is also overwhelming that robotics will raise productivity and material rewards to em-ployers and employees alike. New forms of employ-ment can be created to offset any jobs directly lost to

RETRAINING programs can protect employees affected by job loss. Working conditions and job safety will improve as robots take over dangerous and undesirable forms of work. Jobs eliminated initially include heavy lifting, heat treating, blast furnace work, spot welding, spray painting and jobs reqiring the handling of poisonous chemicals and radioactive

During his last year in office, then Gov. William G. Milliken saw robots as the key to Michigan's future. "Michigan," he said, "has in abundance what the robotics industry needs: markets, skilled labor, academic excellence, high technology expertise and a supportive governmental environment."

Michigan industry is the largest user of robots within the U.S. and has 22 robot manufacturing firms, more than any other state.

How American industry and labor take up the challenge of robots will determine if U.S. manufacturers can successfully compete in the new world

Class size is out of hand

To the editor:

I think it's important in this season of school employee salary increase de-bates and school budget discussions to say something about class size.

My English class sizes at Canton High School have in some cases doubled in the last 11 years. Of course the bigger my classes the more work I take home and the fewer students I get to interact with on a one-to-one basis. In writing classes this is especially bad; evidence shows that writing students fall in achievement when the writing teacher has more than 100 students per day (National Council of Teachers of English). I now have 160 students per

The way class size is treated in this district reminds me of the Emperor's New Clothes: the people in charge think they have something nice going on when really they have little idea of the real consequences of their actions. Certainly the one thing they do know is that there is a lot of money in class size manipulation. If you give each teacher at C.E.P., for example, one more student per day you can eliminate one teacher (saving upwards of $30,000 in some cases). If you give each teacher at C.E.P. just one more student per hour you can eliminate up to five teachers! So the people who get paid a lot of money to "save" money have found this an irresistible source. Of course teachers and students are the least powerful members of the institution so little is done to prevent this from happening.

Actually increasing class size has been like a blank check to the board and administration. They think they've saved money with impunity but actually they've contributed, in my opinion, to the decline of excellence in education; then they join the cry of "teacher mediocrity" as though they've played no role in producing some of the legitimate criticisms of education. Interestingly, in 11 years I've never seen a curriculum administrator in my room (except for my immediate supervisors) to investigate the consequences of increased class size, and we have three highly paid ones in the central adminis-

So the board continues to reduce the school millage, funded in part by increasing class size, and continues to budget no increases for its employees, and doesn't realize that they're standing in their underwear.

Comments on hospital bid

We never have written a letter to the editor before; in fact it is against our natures to confront anything or anybody. But we recently have been made aware of a situtation in our community that bears some honest to goodness soul searching before the proposed idea becomes a reality.

In the negotiating stage right now is a plan by our city manager, Henry Graper, and our City Commission to make available for the building of a hospital the property on the corner of Harvey Street and Ann Arbor Trail. Located on this property at the present time is a veterinary hospital and a Gas and Go service station.

If this plan comes to fruition, the owner of the veterinary hospital and the Boron Oil Co. (owner of Gas and Go) would be paid well for the sale of their property, but something vital and important has been ignored in this situ-

Within the context of the Gas and Go station, there are some valuable human elements involved. The manager of the station, Butch Alberts, runs Alberts' Automotive, a contributing business and worthwhile service within our community. To our knowledge, Alberts has never been contacted by the city or by Boron Oil Co. about this contemplated sale of property. No consideration has been given to the value of his business and his service to our city.

There has been so little concern for him that he had to find out from a newspaper article that his place of business was about to be sold out from underneath him. What a thoughtless and uncaring way to tell a man that his source of family support is about to end. This decision affects other men who work for Alberts also. There would suddenly be at least two other heads of families who also would lose their sources of income.

It is wonderful to be continually upgrading our community, and the City Commission and Graper have succeeded in most instances to maintain and support a quality of community life in the highest degree. But in this instance some low blows have been swung that have put much stress on the persons at Gas and Go. There exists for them terrible uncertainty pertaining to their lives at this time, and this has been caused by the total lack of concern for them as valued individuals and as val-

We must question even the wisdom of placing a hospital facility on this corner. With one facility already located on Canton Center Road in Canton Township, and another being constructed on Main Street in Plymouth, is there even a need for this unit? What about parking? Will the proposed parking deck offer quick and free access to the hospital, and will the structure enhance the beauty of the businesses already located in the area?

It is our hope and prayer that much more thought will be given to this issue

Club plans Oktoberfest party

Folks who can't get to Manich, Ger-many or to Kitchener, Ontario for Ok-toberfest can get the full flavor of the event at the Plymouth Cultural Center. The German American Club of Plymouth will have its Oktoberfest Saturday, Oct. 8, with beer and wine imported from Germany for the occasion.

All nationalities are invited to join the festivities which begin at 8 p.m. and continue until 1 a.m. Club members don their dirndyl dresses or their lederhosen, costumes native to Bavaria where the festival originated in the early 1800s.

for the marriage of the Crows Prince of Bavaria (later King Ladwig I) to Princes Theresa of Saxonia-Hildburghausen. The wedding united more than 100 small territories with the old Bavarian lands into one kingdom. A national holiday was declared, and heads of the governments were invited to Munich for the event. Horse races arranged for the wedding were replaced over the years with costume parades, and the festival was moved to the last week in September, although the Oktoberfest name was carried on.

MILLIONS of people from all over the world attend the festival in Munich.

The Munich breweries set up beer tents, where food and drink are served and entertainment is continuous. The bigger the brewery, the bigger the tent, and some seat 10,000. Some seat only 1,000. Only Munich breweries particpate, but visitors are hard pressed to visit all of them in one day.

At the Plymouth version, German food is available, prepared by club members. And there will be large hot pretzels with tartars served at the end of the evening.

The tartars are open-faced sandwiches, with ground steak, seasoned with herbs, on rounds of German 525 Farmer Street, Plymouth.

A German band, the Melodias, will provide music for singing and dancing. Entertainment will be by Toledo Schuhplatter, winner of many trophies in dance contests. Joe Gates is "vor platter" or leader of the dancers.

ALL THE CLUB members join in preparing for the Oktoberfest party.

Kristen visits an old friend and the Capitol

Belated congratulations to our friends and neighbors in Plymouth on their fun-filled fall festival. Helping you to plan and host the fest brings pride to both our communities. You people sure know how to throw a party! Thanks from your soon-to-be 150-year-old neighbor to the south. See you at Canton's Sesquicentennial celebra-tion. You're all invited.

A YOUNG Cantonite took her first airplane trip this summer and had quite an exciting time. Kristen Karpinski, who attends Miller Elementary School, flew to visit former Cantonite Julie Grace, who moved to Richmond, Va., with her family. Because Richmond is so close to your nation's capitol, Kristen was treated to a whirlwind tour of Washington, D.C.

Kristen enjoyed such sights as the Smithsonian Institute, starting with the Space Museum, where she was able to walk inside a mock-up of a spaceship. Inside were displays and explanations of equipment the astronauts use during space flights, from bath to bed. Kristen, 10, would love to one day fly into space. . . but . . . she says they will have to improve the bath facilities first!

With the Graces, Kristen also visited the Museum of Natural History, where fossils, dinosaurs, elephants, seals and all mammals are displayed. The fossils were her favorite. One in particular was the length of a whale, yet shaped like a squiggly snake. It's still an identi-Kristen did see the White House but was disappointed not to see President or Mrs. Reagan drinking tea on the porch.

The rest of her two-week visit was spent swimming, either in the pool or at the beach, shopping (for the bare necessities), trading stickers and talking. Kristen says she'd love to fly to Richmond again, although she wasn't real crazy about "the takeoff because it was so steep and tilted so much when he turned." She said the flight lasted only about an hour, and if her parents were with her it wouldn't be so

DON'T FORGET the Walk for Recreation at K mart Plaza from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday. Remember Sunday is your last chance

Walk on Saturday and sit all day Sunday watching the race!

Byar-LaChance

A Nov. 11 wedding is planned by Leslie Byar of Canton and Paul La-Chance of Livonia. She is the daughter of Pat and Bob Byar of Medina, Ohio, and he is the son of Jean and Fred La-Chance of Parkhurst Street, Livonia.

The ceremony will take place in St. Kenneth Catholic Church.

The bride-elect is a 1977 graduate of Farmington High School and is employed at Meadowbrook Country Club. Her flance, a 1977 Churchill High School graduate, works at Northville Charlie's.

Be wary of changing the U.S. Constitution

moral perspectives

Few Americans are aware of a national effort that began in 1975 to change the Constitution of the United States. All amendments to the Constitution so far - The Bill of Rights, The Abolition of Slavery, The Federal Income Tax — have been proposed by a two-thirds vote in each House of Congress and then ratifled by three-fourths of the State Legislatures. This process has allowed careful drafting and full discussion of these fundamental chagnes in our way of life.

No longer content to amend the Constitution by this well-tested method, a highly organized political action group of ultra-conservatives is now seeking to amend the Constitution by a Constitutional Convention.

This option is defined by Article V of the Constitution which provides that Congress "on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the States shall call for a convention for propos-ing amendments."

THE CURRENT proposal calls for a Constitution Convention which will draft an amendment requiring a federal balanced budget.

Two-thirds of the several states in this day and age add up to 34. As of today, the legislatures of 32 states have to call a Constitution Convention for the creation of a balanced budget amendment. A resolution to this effect, Senate Joint Resolution "E", is under consideration by the Senate of the State of Michigan. This resolution should be opposed for these reasons:

1. It is unclear whether a Constitutional Conventional could be restricted to one issue, and it is most likely, that it will not be. For example, repeal of basic labor laws, elimination of the income tax, separation of church and state, prayer in the public schools, or other Constitutional issues can be altered, revised, or eliminated at a Constitutional Convention.

WITH MANY well-organized, wellfinanced single-issue groups pursuing their causes, it is hard to imagine how a Constitutional Convention called to frame a balanced budget amendment could avoid debating other proposed amendments as well.

A runaway Convention seems likely. It is the Constitution of the United Stace and the Bill of Rights that have preserved freedom for all Americans since the founding of this great nation. We should vigorously oppose any cir-cumstance that could jeopardize the enduring strength of America's Consti-

2. The Constitution embodies funda-mental law and basic principles and should not be made the instrument of specific social or economic policies. Such policies should be effected properly and throughfully through Con-gress or the executive branch. Consider the impact of an amendment on the balance budget on the Constitution it-

First, by demanding a balanced budget, the states would impose a fiscal straight jacket upon the Congress that would prevent the legislative branch from using its taxing and spending powers to address national needs in time of economic crisis.

SECOND, such an amendment would grant sweeping new powers to the judi-cial branch of government. If, for ex-ample, Congress dosen't achieve a balanced budget, could a court determine how to achieve that end or could the members of Congress be sued or jailed for contempt if they failed to comply? These are questions with-out answers because no one has any certain response to these possibilities.

3. This is a time when our nation is in need of recovering from an era of divisiveness, uncertainty and unrest. It would be a serious mistake to take the uncharted course of Article V, a calling of a Constitutional Conventional which would lead to a power struggle between the Convention and the other branches of government.

The potential confrontation between Congress and the Convention, between Congress and the Supreme Court, and between the Supreme Court and the states could become a national night-

Getting children to pitch in with household cleaning

Dar Observer Readers:

Please continue to keep in touch with me by phone (455-8892) or in writing at 41711 Joy Road, Canton,

FOR YEARS YOU HAVE BEEN CLEANING HOUSE; WOULDN'T IT BE NICE IF YOU COULD FINALLY GET SOME COOPERATION? Dear Letter Writer:

lease belp me put into words what I are trying to get across to my almost grown child about accepting the responsibilities of helping out at home, both physically and financially. Now that my son has graduated from high action, and is working part time and just started attending a community college on a part-time basis, he's too busy to help.

Stacerely, E.A.

Sometimes when I am driving home from work, I visualize the kitchen sink empty, the beds made, the grass cut, ard the family room neat and tidy. I are mentally planning dinner and deciding chores I must do to make certain that my family has clean clothes, good food, fresh sheets on their beds and a nice, pleasant atmosphere to bring their friends into. I'm organizing my duties so that our house can remain a warm "home." When you and your brothers and sisters were youngsters, even though I didn't realize it at the time, it was easier for me. I simply told you what to do, where to go, who to go with, etc., and most of the time you did what you were told. We had a household that was run in a quasi-systematic, orderly fashion. You went to bed at a certain time, and things were pre-

Now it seems as though I am renning a boarding house with busband and kids coming in and out at all hours. People are eating and sleeping on different schedules, and it is difficult to even know who is going to be where and when. I'm proud of you, son, and want you to know that you have always given me pleasure and brought sun into my days. I am writing this letter to you as I really need your understanding and cooperation.

Your mom's running out of steam and stamina. I'm starting to feel resentful that I have no time to myself. I hate the feeling. I fantasize things like being able to walk into the house, putting on something comfortable, opening the refrigerator, finding something to eat and plopping into an easy chair and relaxing — the kind of fantasies that are realities for other people. Fortunately for me, I know they are fanta-sies; however, with a little help from you, maybe some dreams may come true for me.

I know that you can't completely un-derstand how I feel, and I really don't expect you to. I just want you to care how I feel. I have a pretty good plan which I would like to talk with you about. When you have a chance, let me know and maybe we could have a little powwow. In the meantime, have a great day today, and I'll see you at dinner. If I remember correctly, you are not working tonight. By the way, could you save me a trip and bring home a half gallon of milk? Love, Mom.

WHEN AN ISSUE IS SO IMPORTANT TO YOU - YOU WRITE A SECOND

the letter writer

by Ginny Eades

Dear Observer Readers:

In my last column we dealt with a woman's problem in responding to the Catholic Church when her husband had asked for an annulment. This is Chapter Two in the ongoing communication between Ms. W and the Diocese of Grand Rapids. Sincerely, The Letter Writer.

On Aug. 27, I received this second letter from the church in Grand Ra-

"Dear Ms. W: Greetings in the Lord! I am very sorry that our letter offended you so deeply. When the church is requested by someone to look into the situation of a former marriage, we attempt to respond to that request as best we can. It is not a task that we enjoy, and declarations of nullity are not automatic. If they were, we would not have contacted you to give you an opportunity to present your views on the matter. I am sure you would agree that that would indeed be a grave injus-

It is a peculiarity of our church law that we presume that any marriage contracted by anyone before any church or civil authority is valid until proven otherwise. It would be insulting and ludicrous for the Catholic Church to claim that only marriages witnessed in the Catholic Church were real marriages. Consequently, the church stands by the validity of your marriage with Mr. W.

unless the contrary can be proven. I am not sure that I can agree with your assessment that the Catholic Church has a "complete lack of understanding of the meaning of Christianity." Certainly none of us has a monopoly on the Holy Spirit. Just as certainly, we are all sinners who daily struggle with our individual and communal inadequacies. You have every right to contest Mr. W's claim of the nullity of your marriage, and every right to appeal any decision that might be rendered. The tone of your letter, howwith your assessment that the Cathdered. The tone of your letter, however, leads us to presume that you wish to hear nothing further from us. If that presumption is incorrect, please let us know in writing within two weeks.

May God bless you and yours in every way.

Sincerely in the Lord, Father M." Letter Writer:

You know how I feel, now what do Sincerely, Ms. W.

With regard to you letter to me of Aug. 27, I accept your apology but fail to comprehend why you continue to "offend" me.

It is unfortunate that you still do not understand that the church does not have a right to ". . . look into the situation of a former marriage." It is, however, comforting to know that "It is not a task we enjoy. . ." and ". . . declarations of nullity are not automatic."

The "... grave injustice . . ." you allude to is without merit as there must be jurisdiction before a matter is considered and a verdict is rendered. The church has no juris-diction, either legal or moral, other than its own dogmatic judgmental presumptions.

You are quite correct that the church law has pecularities which are clearly demonstrated in your statement". . . the church stands by the validity of your marriage unless the contrary can be proven."
Again, you do not understand, do you? You do not have the power to judge and dole out punishment and/ or dispensation.

It is indeed sad that you take the position, i.e. "I am not sure that I can agree with your assessment that the Catholic Church has a complete lack of understanding of the meaning of Christianity." I would think that you would be entirely sure and most firmly disagree with my assessment.

If we are, in fact, ". . all sinners who daily struggle with our individual ual and communal inadequacies," does not the word all apply to you? If this is true, you are a sinner attempting to levy against another,

With regard to the last paragraph.... of your letter, I am aware of my indringing and, in the event that I did in not make the exercise of such rights. clear to you in my letter of Aug. 32. ... again, please accept this letter as a cur formal protest and request of denial of annulment of my 13-year marmor riage. Although it is incongruous of.

riage. Although it is incongruous of, me to deny a charge to a tribungl.....
"withough jurisdiction," my intelligence indicates to me that I must continually reiterate my position.

In conclusion, you are quite incorrect in assuming that I". wish to hear nothing further. "In fact, I with the communication, conversation of transaction that you personally, the church, the church's Marriage Tribunal, my former husband, or any me bunal, my former husband, or any or other unforeseen individual or instinction tution may enter into regarding my:

Where the flying fishermen play

The waiter poured the coffee and we both sat there watching the hot, black liquid fill the cup. Finally, Joyce looked up at me. "For a guy celebrating a nice pay raise, you sure don't seem to be overflowing with joy."

I laughed and shook my head. "Hey, I'm happy about the raise. Lord knows we can use the extra dough."

After fifteen years of marriage, I knew Joyce was not someone to be put off when she sensed something wrong. "So why the trapped look in your eye? Is it the work?"

"Well, it's all right. I feel secure. And I sure studied for it." She just kept looking at me, waiting. So I finally spit it out. "However, I don't get a great deal of satisfaction from it. I guess I really don't enjoy it. And yet, the more I make, the longer I do it, the harder it will be to ever get out."

She nodded, not surprised at all. "Then why not do something you enjoy?"

She nodded, not surprised at all. "Then why not do something you enjoy?"

I shrugged and looked out the window. A small plane was benking into what looked like a final airport approach. I kept watching him as I spoke. "Looking back.—I guess I should have joined an atrine when I got out of the Air Force. There's nothing I like better than flying.—except, well, maybe fishing.

"So start a charter line for fishermen. You know, those rich ones, who can afford to seek out remote fishing spots. You could do that."

The idea appealed to me a lot. "Yeah, what a dream. But you need some hard cash to get that going."

She grabbed my hand. "Listen, we've both been buying United States Savings Bonds on the Payrull Savings."

Plan since we started working. How much do we have?"

I had the feeling she knew.

I had forgotten our cache of Bonds, but they'd been growing for a long time. "I'm not sure ... but a lot,"

"We've got enough to start. Enough for a down payment. I always thought I married an adventurous man.

ment. I always thought I married an adventurous man.

Now prove it."

Well, that was two years ago. Now I'm doing what I want to do. Just flew a bunch of businessmen up near the Canadian border for some of the best fishing in the country. And Joyce is happy running the business end. Instead of being a secretary, she's hiring one.

But, you know, we both still buy Bonds on a regular schedule, cause we know that's the easy way to save for those dreams. Every time I take off, I think: Bonds helped get this airline off the ground."

SOCIAL SPENDING - By a vote of 124 for and 283 against, the House rejected an ameliancent to keep an administration-backed spending lid on 10 social welfare programs.

This authorized an additional $1.6 billion in fiscal 1964 for programs such as educa-tion sid for poor children and nutrition aid to infants and pregnant mothers who are poor:

Reversing themselves on this vote were many members who supported the ceilings when they were set in 1981 as part of the Gramm-Latta budget resolution, the key-stone of the president's budget-cutting program?

The outlays were approved as part of a vocational rehabilitation bill (HR 3520) later passed and sent to the Senate.

Rep. Henry Hyde, R-III., who voted for the simendment, called it "clever politically" for the Democratic leadership to add the social spending to the popular vocation-

Rep. Pat Williams, D-Mont., said voting for the extra education outlay would be "responding to the power of the American peole, who are insisting that more, not less, mobey be spent on education."

Members voting no favor the additional $1.6 billion in social spending.

Voting yes: William Broomfield, R-Bir-

Voting no: Carl Persell, R-Plymouth; Deanis Hertel, D-Detroit; William Ford, D-Taylor; and Sander Levin, D-Southfield.

LITERACY - By a vote of 128 for and 275 against, the House rejected language requiring that high schools deny graduation to the functionally illiterate as a condition of teceiving special U.S. aid for the poor.

The vote came during debate on HR 3520

It was supported by lawmakers unhappy with the additional $350 million in educaion outlays for the disadvantaged. Sponsor John Erlenborn, R-Ill., said "we fuld get some results for the federal und that have been and will be expended

"for education." Opponent Carl Perkins, D-Ky., said the li-racy requirement amounted to "heavy-artist federal control" over state and local ducation.

AID — The House refused, 154 for and 255 against, to kill a provision extending Trade Adjustment Assistance to a new category of the jobless.

Presently, TAA unemployment and re-training benefits go to workers in industries such as steel and auto who lose their jobs such as steel and auto who lose their jobs directly as a result of foreign competition.

With this vote, the House approved TAA eligibility also for former employees of companies that supply goods and services to firms directly affected by imports.

The vote occurred during debate on a bill (HR 3319) extending the TAA program for two years at a cost estimated by the Congressional Budget Office at $350 million. Benefits authorized by this vote would cost at least $44 million annually. The bill awaited final action.

President Reagan has sought deep cuts in TAA, long a favorite of organized labor and its allies in Congress.

Rep. Barber Conable, R-N.Y., who voted yes, said the provision "would create a new entitlement program" Rep. James Oberstar, D-Minn., said extending TAA to workers in supplier companice was a matter of "equity," adding "this is not an entitlement program."

Members voting no wanted to extend Trade Adjustment Assistance to a new category of the unemployed.

Voting no: Purseil, Hertel, Ferd, Levis and Broomfield.

MILITARY — The Senate passed, 83 for and eight against, and sent to the House the conference report on a bill (8 675) authorizing a $187.5 billion military budget for fis-

KREFELD, WEST GERMANY - It was startling to walk past the Seidenweberhaus, Krefeld's handsome civic center, and see what seemed to be an American flag with a sailing ship on 'a red, white and blue poster.

There was another poster in Grotenburg Park, along St. Aton Strasse and another in Linn Castle. Words on the placards said "300 Jahre Deutsche in Amerika - Krefeld 1983;" "300 years of Germans in America - Krefedl 1983." It was a reminder to the 50,000 Krefelders, and any visiting Americans, that they share a milestone.

Krefeld is a bustling city on the Rhine River near the heart of Germa-'ny's industrial north. The home of Bayer Aspirin, and the best ties on your rack, it boasts of tree-arched boulevards and sophisticated restaurants where the beer is dark but the mood is festive.

Talk of immigration to America is all past tense, but Krefelders have been remembering. With their famed German precision, they placed an unusual flat marker in the pavement of the city's center, you must stand in the middle, turning slowly, to read the in-

TRANSLATED roughly, "Thirteen German families in the year 1683 went from Krefeld to Pennsylvania in North America, the first group of German immigrants, and founded Germantown near Philadelphia."

Whether or not the memorial is on the exact point of departure may be questioned, but not the fact that those early Mennonites looking for religious freedom were the first in a major human tide.

In 300 years more than six million German nationals, "auswanderers," have crossed the Atlantic, bringing names like Stuben, Zender, Strauss, Astor and Eisenhower to our history and telephone books. A recent estimate shows that one out of every seven U.S. residents has German in his or her background; in Michigan the percentage is even higher.

Fleeing from political or religious oppression — or plain hard times — they came from the regions of south and central Germany to Rhine cities like Krefeld that had access to the sea. They also came to Hamburg, Brémen, Bremerhaven, Kiel, Wilhelmshaven and other North Sea ports.

Up to the mid-19th century it was mainly craftsmen and small farmers who left Germany. Entire village communities in Bavaria or Wurttemberg, to the south, sold their goods and chattels and set out for America, via these northern ports, taking pastor and schoolmaster with them.

THIS TOGETHERNESS did not always sit well on our side of the ocean. The German proclivity to stick together, establish their own schools and perpetuate their own language (the first German-language newspaper in America was founded by the early comers in Philadelphia) was seen as a threat to a young English-speaking nation by even such wise heads as Ben Franklin.

However, for every sectarian who stuck to his catechism, there were many others who cast aside all the traces in one generation and used their energies to shape a new kind of society.

Now their descendents are back in Germany as American visitors, poking into the ancestral records and through the museums of Germany to become better acquainted with their ancestors. It's not always easy. Names change.

Many have been Anglicized. Records are lost. Family memories are inaccurate. If you can't find your ancestors, however, at least you can see how they worked and lived before they left

The Deutches Schiffahtsmuseum in the city of Bremerhaven has cutaway models of immigration ships among its enormous collection, the largest in Europe, of vessels past and present.

THE MAGNIFICENT town hall of Bremen, its old market square and flower vendors blooming beneath the sculpture of the "Brementown Musicians," looks very much as it did centu-

Beautiful, splendid Hamburg has canals in the manner of Amsterdam or Venice, the same as it did in bygone days. People ride boats to the office, watch ships enter and leave their port as they have for centuries. This is the home of German National Archives and they have some suggestions for geneology searchers.

The Schleswig-Holsteinisches Freilfchmuseum in Kiel has reconstructions of centuries-old dwellings and offers fascinating glimpse of what was left behind.

At top is an example of architecture in Hamburg. Above is a street facing the National Archives in Hamburg.

Below is the gateway to Linn Castle, Krefeld. At right is one of the ships in the ship museum in Bremerhaven. On such vessels immigrants travied to the new land.

Payne's plans true to target

ALK IS CHEAP. In boxing, it's priceless meaning it's totally worthless So it was with a certain degree of doub! that I listened to Livonia super heavyweight Craig Payne a month ago as he laid plans that would take him to an Olympic gold

"I'm not going to lose another amateur fight," be said. He had just lost a controversial decision to Tyrell Biggs in the U.S. trials for the Pan Am

"I'm going to win the North American title pext month. That'll earn me a a shot at the World championships in October. After I win that, I'll beat Biggs in the ABF tournament. The only thing left then will be the Olympic games."

HOLD ON a minute, I wanted to say to Craig. After all, he wasn't exactly on a hot streak. Besides losing to Biggs, he had been ruled a knockout victim of Al Evans at the National Festival. He had also lost a few international fights.

That would make anyone doubt such plans. I did. Fighters often spout dreams of grandeur. Most often they go unfulfilled.

Craig Payne seemed different. I wanted to believe him. But facts are facts, and the recent past did not favor Payne's plans.

"I'm going to be like a dog," he said. "These guys won't even recognize me, I'll be so mean."

No more Mr. Nice Guy, eh? Well, saying it is one thing, doing it is another. We'll just wait and see SEPT. 15, 1983 — a date Payne will never forget. It was on that day he took a giant leap forward in his boxing career.

But more than that, he proved something unlike most of the Muhammed Ali mimmicks that populate the sport's ranks these days, Payne did not ust spout empty promises.

He did just what he said he would. What he did was successfully complete the first step of his plan — he won the North American title and earned a berth in the World Tournate

And he did it by soundly beating Teofile Stevenson, the boxing legend. The Cuban fighter has won the last three Olympic gold medals. He hadn't lost to a U.S. boxer in a dozen years. Until last Thursday.

"I WAS CONFIDENT the whole time," Payne said of the Stevenson fight Monday. After defeating Stevenson, he KO'd Roberto Galan of Guatemala in the second round of Saturday's finals.

"I stuck to my game plan and went right after (Stevenson). I didn't respect him, his right hand or anything. I made him fight my fight.' This was a different Craig Payne speaking. It wasn't the same Craig Payne who had been plagued by Biggs-itis, an ailment that made the Livonian obsessed with whipping Biggs, the nation's No. 1r ited super heavyweight.

This wasn't the same Craig Payne who, when inally getting his shot at Biggs, let it slip from his

"I was a dog," Payne said Monday. "I let the dog in me come out."

Just like he said he would.

IF THERE IS a turning point in Craig's career, it did not come against Stevenson. It came against Understand, Biggs has received all the hoopla and attention. All the television execs and promoters backed his career.

That tore at Payne. Hey, he said, if Biggs was the best, let him prove it in the ring. Prior to last month, the only time the two had met ended in a controversial decision in Biggs' favor. To Payne, favor was a word that fit Biggs well as in favoritism. Boxing's manipulators did whatever could be done to keep the two from meeting, Payne felt. Fixing a tourney draw.

Favoritism among the judges. Et cetera, et cetera.
The Pan Am trials should have given Payne a chance to prove himself. After all the waiting, he would get his shot at Biggs.

That's when the Biggs psyche out knocked Payne

"IF I'D HAD the desire to win at the Pan Am trials like I had against Stevenson, Biggs would be in retirement right now," Craig said.

The problem was he didn't. Boxing big shots had Biggs slotted in for the Pan Am team berth. A press conference was scheduled. All before Payne and Biggs had stepped into the ring.

That, more than anything, ended Payne's chances for victory. If they want Biggs on the Pan Am team, let 'em take him, Payne figured. I don't want to go.

Those were his thoughts as he entered the ring.

After a close first round, Payne knocked Biggs down twice in the second. One was ruled a slip. He had Biggs beaten. But his concentration waned, and

Biggs finished strong, winning the third round.

Biggs finished strong, winning the third round.

Payne lost the decision — indeed, he even lost the second round, although he claims Biggs was nearly finished and never threw a punch.

"I was so set on Biggs, I forgot what I should have been doing," Payne said Monday, which was just try to win fights, not worry about his rival.

IRONICALLY, FATE and Payne's talent intervened. Biggs, who was knocked out by Stavenson a year ago, lost in his first best of the Pan Am games to Cuban Jorge Gozzales.

Recla and teammate Dorene Dudek, both seniors, gained first and ninth overall to lead Churchill. Other Churchill finishers included Jill Caimotto and Amy Masternak, 26th and 27, respectively. And freshman Kristen Schultz was 31st.

FOR THE SALEM boys, who placed fifth overall, Scott Steiner earned a berth on the All-Invitational team placing sixth with a time of 18:47. Eric Pedersen and Phil Madis placed in a virtual tie for 31st with a times of 17:31.

For Canton, who placed 10th, Mark Cratty was 16th with a time 17:16. Tim Collins was the Chiefs next finisher, 35th, with a time of 17:51.

Salem's girls, who placed third, got a 10th place finish from Trish Donnelly. She also earned a berth on the All-Invitational team. Shelly Simons and Amy Mayazaki placed 16th and 17th respectively.

Ida Williams was the first Chief runner to cross the line. She placed 43rd.

Rocks roll, Chiefs fall

A seven-point surge at the close of the third quarter powered Plymouth Salem past Livonia Stevenson Tuesday night, 40-36.

Salem trailed the Spartans 20-17 at the half. With less than two minutes left in the third quarter, the Rocks scored seven unanswered points to pull ahead, 29-26. They never trailed after that.

Pam McBride led all scorers with 17 points. Fran Whittaker added 12.

"Salem played the kind of game we expected them to play," said Stevenson coach Wayne Henry. "I think we proved that we are capable of playing with quality teams. We are just going to have to make less mistakes."

The Rocks, on the other hand, proved they could overcome a height disadvantage. The Spartans were by far the taller team, but Salem hustled and scrapped and got their share of rebounds.

The win ups Salem's record to 4-1.

REDFORD UNION 41 PLYMOUTH CANTON 32

It wasn't enough to lose the game. Phyllis Cunningham Mulroy's hard-luck crew lost yet another player to an injury.

This time it was Diana Knickerbocker, who had been leading the Chiefs in scoring. Knickerbocker, after scoring four points in the first three minutes of the game, sustained ligament damage to her knee. She will be out for at least two to three weeks, Mulroy guessed. "Murphy's law is in effect," she said.

Knickerbocker joins Lou Ann Hamblin on the injured list, though Hamblin is expected back next week. Canton has also been without the services of Tami Budlong for much of the season.

Despite the injury, Canton hung close to RU until the fourth quarter. Trailing 33-29 going into the fourth, Redford outscored Canton 8-3 to ice the win.

"We didn't execute at all. We made at least 25 turnovers. We played a pretty good game for about a half to three quarters, but in the fourth we did nothing. We deserved to lose," Muiroy said.

Lisa Russell led the Chiefs with 10 points and Marie Krashovetz added six.

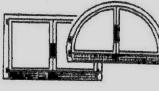

"By the end of the season we may have our full team together. The kids will get to experience for the first time what it's like to play with a full team," Mulroy said. Kellie Szabo and Kelley Kennedy each scored 12 points for Redford. Canton's record is now 2-3. Redford is 2-2.

Payne outslugs Cuban champ

In a stunning upset, Livonia's Craig Payne did what no other U.S. boxer had done in the last 13 years.

Indeed, what Payne accomplished was something few boxers ever managed - he defeated the top-rated super heavyweight fighter in the world, three-time Olympic gold medalist Teofilo Stevenson of Cuba, in the North American Boxing Championships last Thursday in Houston. On Saturday Payne, 22, made his victory complete by stopping Guatemala's Roberto Galan in the second round to capture the North American title and earn a berth in the World Tournament

Oct. 17-22 in Rome. 'ayne's win over Stevenson was by a 3-2 split decision, although both Payne and coach Paul Soucy of the Livonia Boxing Club felt the Cuban champ never won a round. The fight will be telecast on ABC-TV Saturday.

ACCORDING TO SOUCY, Payne showed no respect for Stevenson, ignoring the Cuban's famed right hand punching power and instead taking the fight to him. Payne confused Stevenson, Soucy said, by moving laterally and making himself a difficult target

Payne was in serious trouble just once, when Stevenson landed a pair of rights to Payne's head in the second round, sending him to the ropes. In the third, Stevenson hit Payne with a solid right to the body. Both times the Livonia fighter was able to shake off the

"I was too pumped up," Payne said. "There were 3,000 fans cheering, 'USA,

At WLAA Relays

Salem takes 2nd, Chiefs 4th

Both Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton performed well in the Western Lakes Conference Girls' Swim Relays last Saturday at the Salem pool. (See page 4C for complete individual and team standings.)

Livonia Stevenson won the relays. Salem finished in a second-place tie with Northville and Canton placed

"Stevenson is tough, very tough," said Salem coach Chuck Olson. "It went pretty much like I thought it would. I was pleased. I thought the best we could do was second. Northville had to catch us from behind. It was a good

Ironically, it was Canton that forced the tie between Salem and Northville.

swimming

In the final event, the 200-yard freestyle relay, Canton ousted Salem for fifth place by two-tenths of a second, while Northville placed third.

SALEM SWIMMERS captured two first places. The 400-free team of Shellie Mullen, Cindy Elliott, Laura Shaffer, and Kristal Taylor won with a time of 4:11.83, and the 200-butterfly team of Cheryl Shelansky, Kim Vesnaugh, Stephanie Dionssopoulos, and Shannon Murphy won with a time of 2:18.12.

Canton had two two firsts also. For the second straight year, the diving team of Shawn Neville and Cindy Sherwood won, and the 200-breaststroke team of Kim Elliott, Sue Schendel, Joann Brenan, and Ginny Johnson won with a time of 2:22,3.

"I thought we made a very good showing," said Canton coach Hooker Wellman. "We only lost second place by six points and we forced the tie there. And we had some people missing so we could have even done better.

"A lot of people have us pegged as a fourth-place team, and that's just not a

Canton won its dual meet last Thursday, dunking Beliville, 102-71, while Salem lost to Ypsilanti, 94-78.

Canton won every event except the 400-freestyle relay. Ginny Johnson, Margaret Gilligan, and Lynn Massey were double-event winners for the Chiefa Cindy Sherwood, Kim Elliott, Kelly Kirk and the 200-medley relay team of Michelle Stackpoole, Elliott, Johnson and Massey were also victori-

• CAPT. PEDERSON

Jill Pedersen, a graduate of Plymouth Canton High School, has been named co-captain of the Lake Superior State College girls volleyball team. Pederson, a senior, is one of five returning starters on the Lakers squad. Pederson plays an important role on the team, according to coach Deb McPherson. "We will go with a doublesetter situation with both Debbie Raby (Fenton) and Jill Pederson in the lineup and then bring in Deb Soule (Garden City) when Pedersen reaches the front," she said. "That way we will maintain our big front row and keep a lot of power at the net."

The Lakers were 19-23 last year.

• STEELERS WIN

After all three Plymouth-Canton Steelers' football teams registered shutouts against the Westland North Stars in the first week of Junior League Football, (the freshman team played to a 0-0 tie, the junior varsity and varsity won), the teams came out smoking again this week, ousting the Bellville

The freshman Steelers again played to a 0-0 tie, though a Chad Johnson touchdown was nullified by a penalty.

The JVs won 19-6 thanks to two TDs by Ed Bardelli on runs of 2 and 1 yards. Mike Bolser added a 5-yard TD run and quarterback Kevin Stackpoole connected with Scott Swartzwelter for the Steelers' lone extra point.

In two games this season the JV defense has held its opponents to a minus 22 yards in offense.

The varsity Steelers had no problem, winning 36-14. Tyrone Reeves scored three times on runs of 24 and 58 yards and on a 22-yard pass from Chris Johnston. Johnson also scored a TD on a 58yard run. Tim Heamen fell on a blocked punt in the end zone for yet another score. Lee Krueger added two extra point kicks and Andy Gee another.

• LIONS GO 1-1-1

For the second week in a row, the Plymouth-Canton Lions Junior League football teams won one, lost one and tied one. Last week it was against the Ann Arbor Rams, this week, the Ypsilanti Braves.

The freshmen, who lost last week, tied Ypsi, 12-12. Eric Reeves scored both touchdowns for the Lions.

The JVs lost 19-13 to go 1-1-0 on the year. Joe Roney and Brad Wright scored TDs for the Lions and Brian Pampore caught a Greg Mortin pass for an extra point.

For the first time in six years, a Lions varsity team defeated an Ypsi team. The score was 25-13 and the win improved the Lions' record to 1-0-1.

Doug Prater scored three touchdowns and Rick Genrick added the other. Joel Riggs converted a point af-

CANTON KICKERS WIN

The Canton Soccer Club won its first game of the season Sunday blanking the Detroit College of Business, 2-0.

Goalie Howard Monk registered the shutout for Canton. Rick Wilkinson and Barry Detherage scored for Canton. Canton is 1-0-1 in the men's Great Lakes Soccer League.

Georgia netters are high on Nan Hughes

Nancy Hughes, a Farmington Hills native and a former star at Schoolcraft College, is an integral part of the University of Georgia womens volleyball team this season.

Hughes transferred to the Lady Dogs along with Schoolcraft teammate Karen Kelley after leading the Ocelots to a second-place finish in the Junior College National Championships last

"As a setter. Nancy brings stability to our offensive attack," said Georgia head coach Sid Feldman, whose team compiled a 41-12 record last season. "Learning to set a quick offense will be important to have in her arsenal. I can already see her helping to continue the winning tradition here at Georgia,"

The Lady Dogs are 2-1 so far this season, winning impressively against traditional powerhouses Notre Dame and Michigan State.

The next Gary Mexicotte?
Redford Catholic Central junior Andy Rama is making a bid as he pumped in four goals Saturday to lead the unbeaten Shamrocks past Birmingham Brother Rice, 6-2.

Through five games, Rama has scored 15 goals and added eight assists. If you don't remember, Mexicotte scored 46 goals in 22 games, leading Livonia Stevenson to the state Class A title a year ago.

Tim Cotter and Steve DeMattos

rounded out the CC scoring.

Kenny Israel scored both goals for Rice, which dipped to 3-3 overall.

The game marked the return of head coach Bill Thrasher, who watched CC for the first time after recuperating from open heart surgery.

CC goalie Bob Sinnaeve, who played 55 minutes, and backup Pat Stocker combined to stop 10 Rice shots. They were helped by the defensive play John Hartness and Bob Tartaglia.

The game was somewhat physical as four yellow cards were given, three to

The Bulldogs upped their season mark to 4-0-1 with a win Tuesday at Canton.

Both goels came in the first half— Tony Pulice from Dennis Patchett at 14 minutes followed by Patchett from Brian Schonfeld at 24:00.

Bentley also received a strong game from midfielder Pete Lomas and goalie Jeff Wilkinson (nine saves).

The loss drops Canton to 3-2.

Lakes Division Ist week features important match-ups

By Brad Emone and Chris McCosky

staff writers

HURSTON OVER Walled Lake Western — who'd a thunk it? That was just a sample of the frustration suffered by your expert (?) prognosticators last

The week was not a total washout, however. Emons was 8-6 last week, upping his season mark to 16-11. McCosky, suffering costly losses thanks to North Farmington, Clarenceville, John Glenn and Thurston, went 7-7. The rookie just missed nudging the .500 mark. He's 13-14.

WALLED LAKE CENTRAL at LIVONIA BENTLEY (7:30 p.m. Friday). Who can figure out Bentley from week to week?

Unbeaten Walled Lake, meanwhile, is no longer a pretender anymore in the Lakes Division of the WLAA. Quarterback Tom Menard threw for 161 yards and two touchdowns in last week's 24-

13 win over North Farmington.

But beware, Bentley beat Central last year on a Chad Darke field goal with 10 seconds left. Picks — McCosky likes Central by a TD, while Emons disagrees, Bentley by three again.

CLARENCEVILLE at LUTHERAN EAST (7:30 p.m. Friday). The Trojans were impressive in beating Lutheran North as junior Rob McCamant made 18 tackles from his "Tiger Back" spot. Lutheran East is coming off a 21-6 defeat to Metro Conference favorite Detroit Country Day. Picks — McCosky likes East by three, while Emons takes Clarenceville by six.

PLYMOUTH CANTON at LIVONIA CHURCHILL (7:30 p.m. Friday). Both teams are 0-2, but find new life as the WLAA schedule begins.

Canton moved the ball well against

Salem, but couldn't put it in the end zone. Churchill, meanwhile, moved the ball too late in a 21-7 loss to Anh Arbor Huron. The coin please. Picks --McCosky sticks by Canton in a threepointer. Emons likes Churchill because of the home field in OT.

LIVONIA STEVENSON at PLYM-OUTH SALEM (7:30 p.m. Friday). An early season Lakes Division showdown as both teams are unbeaten.

The two lines are small, but quick. It's wishbone versus pro-style.

Stavenson can pass with quarterback Dan Gilmartin, while Salem likes the pitch and run. The key for Salem could be quarterback Mark Tindall. The coin lease. Picks - McCosky likes the Rocks by six. Emons goes with Steven-NORTHVILLE (7:30 p.m. Friday), Another WLAA showdown featuring un-beaten teams.

Northville clobbered Thurston in its opener (47-0) and followed up with a come-from-behind 14-10 win over Westland John Glenn.

Harrison, the state's top-ranked Class A team, needs to shore up its passing game and can't underestimate Northville, which is playing at home. Picks — McCosky and Emons like Har-rison by 14 and nine, respectively.

FARMINGTON VS. WALLED LAKE WESTERN (7:30 p.m. Friday at Walled Lake Central). Western still may be in sbock after losing to Taurston, while Farmington played well in a 21-0 loss to Harrison.

The Falcons are 1-1 and have a stinby defense, but the offense is still lacking Picks - McCosky and Emons agree. Farmington by two and eight, respectively.

BISHOP BORGESS at MADISON HEIGHTS BISHOP FOLEY (2:30 p.m. Saturday). The Spartans are now 2-0, boasting a high-powered running at-

Foley is coming off a 10-7 overtime win against Center Line St. Clement.
Borgess continues to look like a con-tender. Picks — McCosky and Emons like Borgess by 10 and 12, respectively.

CATHOLIC CENTRAL VS. DEAR-BORN DIVINE CHILD (7:34 p.m. Sat. erday at Clarenceville). The Shamrocks rebounded in high style, beating Ypsi-lanti, 7-0, dropping Eric Ball's rushing total from 298 to 36 in one week.

Divine Child is 1-1. The Falcons opened with a tough 3-0 loss to Harper woods Bishop Gallagher, but drilled Ecorse last week, 35-0, as Sean LaFountaine scored 2 TDs and rushed for 121 yards.

Tom Bridenstine, filling in for David Lewis, gained 114 in the CC win. Should be another hard hitting, defensive struggle. Picks -- McCosky likes CC by three and Emons agrees, but by 12.

REDFORD ST. AGATHA VS. ALLEN PARK CABRINI (2:30 Sunday at Allen Park). Class B Cabrini (2-0) has one of the state's top passers in Terry An-

"He (Andrysiak) is super and they're an excellent team," said Agatha coach John Goddard. "If we play like we did last week (a 7-6 loss to Redford St. Mary's,) we couldn't beat the 'Little Sisters of the Poor." Picks - Emons and McCosky like Cabrini by 12 and eight points, respectively.

Men's All-stars sound warning for new season

There is no question about it now. The all time records in the Detroit area are in danger and the bowling season is only a month old.

The first warning came in the men's all-star classic when the Stroh team posted a 3532 series at Astro Lanes. Then, the women came to the fore when Cheryl Daniels, bowling with women all stars, came through with a 781 at Luxury Lanes. This is only six pins shy of the record posted last season by Penny Behn. Cheryl also holds fourth place on the all time list with a 773 bowled in the 1981-82 sea-

THE HIGH SCORING predicted before the season opened is showing up with each succeeding week. For example, not a week goes by that several more sharpshooters are admitted to the 700 club. It used to be a great achievement when a bowler fashioned a 700. It is becoming a bit common place

Two more members were admitted this week when Chuck O'Rourke fired a 741 in the men's league at Merri-Bowl and Tim Nippa came through with a 704 at Woodland lanes.

O'Rouke had a middle game of 279 and Nippa was helped by an opening 257.

GARDEN LANES. Bruno De Nambro missed the coveted 700 club by just three pins while firing in the Parents without Partners league. He had a 268, but couldn't get the last three pins.

Among the other high counts Marvin Stone had a 636 in the Reed Commission loop and Mora Via turned in a 555 to pace the women's league.

MERRI-BOWL. While Chuch O'Rouke fired his 741 there were others who did well. Steve Mitchell topped the Saturday night loop with 691 and Brad Lloyd had a 365 single while Randy Smith turned in a 88b with a 278 game in the men's doubles.

WOODLAND LANES. Judy Honbert showed the ay in the Early Birds loop with a 243 in 514 and saron Bertinkos had a 240 for high single.

respired Artis Bowl Teen Wejnowkai was high man the all ster loop with a 63% and Dave Barohardt all the Bisming Men with a 64%. The best hearing of the week came in the youth the grant Dave Burge showed the way with 836 Teem Self-Region had high Bingle with 236.

U.S.-backed mortgages offer safety, high interest

Many people don't realize that some good, safe mortgages backed by feder-ally related agencies currently yield 1 percent or more above good, safe bonds, such as 10-year U.S. Treasuries. Three agencies continually buy up mortgages on homes and apartments to keep funds flowing back to lenders for use for new loans

GOVERNMENT NATIONAL Mortgage Association (Ginnie Mae). Ginnie Mae is a part of HUD, and it provides money for financing residential hous-ing progams where established homefinancing facilities are inadequate.

GNMA's credit is backed by the full faith and credit of the U.S. government, and it is authorized to borrow from the Treasury to insure timely payments of principal and interest on securities guaranteed by it.

Three types of GNMA securities are available, all of whose interest payments are fully taxable at the federal, state and local levels.

• GNMA Mortgage-backed Securities are backed by a pool of FHA or VA-insured mortgages that have been issued by other government organiza-tions and guaranteed by GNMA.

• GNMA Participation Certificates

are issued primarily against the assem-bled loan assets of several government agencies whose mortgage management and liquidation functions were taken over by GNMA in 1968.

 The third type of GNMA issue, of-ficially called GNMA Modified Pass-Through Securities, has several unusual features. The securities are created when a mortgage banker assembles a pool of at least $2 million worth of FHA or VA-guaranteed mortgages of the same coupon and maturity and de-posits them at a custodian bank.

GNMA then issues securities against these mortgages, with interest and principal payments made monthly to the investor regardless of whether it has been collected on time from the mortgagee (i.e on a modified passthrough basis).

FEDERAL NATIONAL Mortgage Association (Fannie Mae). The Fannie Mae raises money to buy residential mortgages from savings and loan insti-tutions, banks and insurance compa-nies, in order to provide additional li-quidity to the mortgage market in peri-ods of tight credit when pormal capital flows to this sector diminish.

The FNMA issues several types of securities of varing forms and maturities, all of which are subject to federal, state, and local income taxes. Another type of security issued by FNMA includes their mortgage-backed bonds, which are secured by mortgages and by the GNMA and thus have the backing of the U.S. government.

FEDERAL HOME Loan Mortgage
Corp. (Freddie Mac) Freddie Mac raises money for buying residential mortgages from federally insured savings institutions, such as savings and loan associations, when they need more money to finance new housing in periods of tight money. The mortgage-backed securities. Not all mutual funds dealing with these securities deal with all of them. You may find more information

Here are the ways by which you can buy the mortgages discussed above.

• Direct participation. You can buy certificates backed by GNMA mortgages from large brokers. Minimum purchase is $25,000, with additional increments of $5,000. Large banks offer participations that include securities based on Ginnie Mae, Fannie Mae, and Freddie Mac mortgages.

• Unit Trusts. These are pools of large numbers of certificates set up by brokers who then sell units to investors. Once the trust is set up, there is no turnover or replacement of certifi-12-25 years and are guaranteed by the on mutual funds by writing to them directly.

businesses about solicitation

The Better Business Bureau/Detroit The Better Business Bureau/Detroit and Eastern Michigan cautioned businesses to watch their mail for advertising solicitations from Republic Funding Corp. of Grayalske, Ill.

In the alert, the bureau disclosed that numerous reports from area basinal.

nesses in metro Detroit suburbs indicate receipt of advertising solicitations from Republic Funding Corp. alleging that the company is involved in an advertising program with the area high schools. The accompanying letter alleges that Republic Funding Corp. and the area high schools are working together on an advertising program to be used for the schools' athletic departments.

A BBB investigation of the solicitations which have come to the Bureau's attention revealed that none of the high schools mentioned has any relationship with Republic Funding Corp., nor has any knowledge of any fundrating or advertising program being conducted with the company. Area schools from Mt. Clemens to Southfield have been mentioned in these letters, which may be violating U.S. postal laws.

The solicitation letter is requesting the company purchase a business-card-size ad for $50 and includes a billing statement, carrying the name of the company and the name of the local high school or schools.

The BBB suggests that any company who has received such a mailing forward it directly to the Bureau. The BBB is asking that the U.S. Postal Inspection Service review the matter. spection Service review.the matter.

Restaurants find homes in historic buildings

staff writer

HAT MAKES A RESTAU-RANT special may be the food, but often it's more than that alone. Restaurants in old or unusual buildings, or offbeat settings, add an interesting touch to the dining experience.

Thursday, September 22, 1983 O&E

Everything from mills (cider and grain, to name a couple), factories (air rifle, fish and frog spear), family homes and doctor's office have been imaginatively turned into restaurants in areas from Rochester to Plymouth.

Plymouth, in fact, is a leader with some half-dozen restaurants that are in quarters converted from old establish-

The Paint Creek Restaurant recently opened at the Paint Creek Mill. 4480 Orion Road in Goodison near Rochester. Its picturesque setting includes an old water wheel outside the restaurant and a working cider mill with an apple

"THIS IS a historic site," owner Jery Mancour said. "It had its origin in 1835 and has always been a mill of one type or another, including sawmill or grist-

The first building on the site burned in 1885, the second was torn down in 1957. Mancour bought the property, including a millrace and dam, from the original owner six years ago.

The cider mill is open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily year-round and now is selling its 1983 crop of cider. The restaurant is open only for dinner, from 5-10 p.m. Tuesdays-Saturdays and 3-10 p.m.

The Paint Creek Restaurant's homey decor was designed by Mancour's wife, Lucy, who works at the cider mill. Bright blue napkins accent the pine ta-

"There just isn't a bad seat in the whole restaurant," Mancour said. People request the River Room, where they can see the water wheel on one side and Paint Creek on the other.

THE OTHER dining room, equally pleasing, contains what Mancour calls "his toys." These include an old 10horsepower steam boiler painted blue and red "just to add some show business." He also has a generator set, which he demonstrated.

Old wood flooring was salvaged from a schoolhouse, and air grates - also from the schoolhouse floor - have become dividers at the entrance. Tin chandeliers throughout the restaurant were handmade in Connecticut.

"For a long time my wife and I have loved visiting country inns," Mancour said, explaining his approach to the restaurant. "We serve American-style foods from Michigan. We're trying to use everything from the area."

Young Chef Jeffrey Harrell, a graduate of the Culinary Institute of America, said Michigan products include local butchers' meat and fresh whitefish from the Great Lakes or Canada, Michigan lake perch and brook or rainbow trout. Michigan fruits and vegetables are used and now, in apple season, there are lots of apple desserts on the menu. Among these are Apple Brown Betty, Pomme Surprise and Apple

At one time, it was a bean factory. The original wooden bean sorters are still there among many nostalgic pieces that enhance the rustic decor. Chutes in the ceiling were used to pour wheat. The mill also has been a fish and frog spear factory and a place where coal and lumber was sold.

A scale to weigh sacks of grain stands inside the entrance. There's an old pot-bellied stove and the cash register sits on an antique sideboard. Located next to the tracks of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, the building shakes when trains go by.

The Grain Mill Crossing, open seven days a week, will soon have separate luncheon and weekend dinner menus for its inexpensive meals. A separate menu also is available for breakfast

Orchestra invited to Jordan

By Avigdor Zaremp apecial writer

After the seemingly long summer re-cess, musical events are about to re-sume here in full force. This means, among other things, that music critics; who might have become rusty during this period of idleness, have to sharpen their peocils again.

The first major event of this season was a special concert presented by the Renaissance City Chamber Orchestra. The turnout was high, with most seats on all floors filled. Tickets were free. The one thing that wasn't cheap was the performance.

The event that prompted this special concert was the scheduled trip of this group to Jordan, on Sept. 15. This was made possible by official invitation of the Jordanian government, which is underwriting the expenses. This is indeed remarkable, because this Mid-Eastern Arab country isn't traditionally viewed as a classical music center. The fact that Misha Rachlevsky, the organizer of the series, happens to be Jewish, didn't stand in the way of the invitation, which shows that occasionally music can triumph over politics.

THE PROGRAM consisted of three works, two of which are familiar. These were Mozart's "Eine Kleine Nachtmusik," which opened the program, and Vivaldi's "The Four Seasons," which was the concluding work, comprising the second half of the pro-

In between was the Sonata No. 2 for Strings by Rossini, which is one of his infrequently performed chamber com-

review

The Mozart composition, in spite of its popularity, sounded sincere and not trivial. There was a full-bodied sound, with overall good coordination. While there were some minor problems in the last, fast-paced movement, they were overcome in the final portion and the result was most pleasing.

The Rossini work, one of his earliest, doesn't feature the crescendo style of his well-known overtures. It is somewhat reminiscent of Haydn's style. While it may not be his most profound piece, the performance was truly cap-

Vivaldi's "Four Seasons" is performed so frequently that not everybody relishes the prospect of listening to it again. Last season I heard the sequence twice at Orchestra Hall and one of those was with the Renaissance Chamber Orchestra.

RACHLEVSKY, who played the solo violin part in this performance, is an outspoken proponent of Vivaldi. And he is evidently determined to make this composition even more popular than it already is. To a great extent, he has

The phrases were well shaped and precise. There was great attention to detail, with a finely articulated dialogue between the solo instrument and the orchestra, keeping the suspense

A very refined echo effect was produced, making the passages full of meaningful content, rather than dull and repetitive.

At the appropriate moments, the or-chestra made room for the sound of the harpsichord, played by Catherine Gordon. This is in contrast to some past performances, when the sound of the harpsichord was virtually inaudible.

Rachlevsky was shining with his ex-pressive skill and impressive technique through most of the demanding four concerti, with the exception of the final movement of the summer concerto, in which he ran into problems with the higher notes.

Wild Wings Gallery Artwork in a 'natural' setting

staff writer

A visitor to the Wild Wings Gallery in Plymouth easily could imagine being in the great outdoors.

Step inside and you are surrounded by ducks and other wildlife fowls, hunting dogs and fish. Many times it takes a second or third glance to realize that the "wildlife" inside the gallery on west Ann Arbor Trail is a sculpture, painting or other type of artwork instead of a live specimen.

The quality of its artwork and its "natural" setting have added to the gallery's success and popularity, according to Wild Wings representatives.

"This is all nature," said Patricia Mosher, gallery director. "It's beautiful to be around. A lot of people come in just to browse all the time. It's a peaceful, relaxing atmosphere. You don't have to be a hunter to appreciate it."

MOSHER GESTURES in a room filled with limited edition and original wildlife art, from stamps to stained glass. Items at the gallery range in price from $4.50 to $200.

Some of the painting prints feature a remarque, a small pencil or watercolor sketch added by the artist at the bottom of the print. Each remarque is applied individually, so no two are exact-

"It's personal and adds to the print," Mosher explained.

State and federal duck stamp prints are also available at the gallery. Artists from around the country compete every year to design the new stamp prints, which are required for hunting

AN UPSTAIRS "originals room" features comfortable chairs along with the displayed works.

"People have come 100 miles just to sit in the gallery," said Kal Jabara, Wild Wings owner. "They happen to like wildlife art."

In addition, the gallery offers related gift items, including lamps, jewelry, ties and hand-carved tie tacs, popcorn poppers, books, brochures and information about nature programs. There is even a telephone, encased in a duck sculpture, that "quacks" instead of

"Everybody isn't a collector," Mosher said. "We're not just selling pictures, we're promoting the wildlife, just letting people know what's out

Wild Wings displays the works of some well-known artists, including Larry Hayden. But many of those whose art is exhibited and sold there are art students and teachers from around the area. Artists contact the gallery about exhibiting their works, as did one artist from California who had heard of the Plymouth gallery.

"There are a lot of creative people around," Mosher said.

The artwork must meet certain standards before the gallery will carry

WILD WINGS hosts some three or four showings around the year, according to Mosher. Its last exhibit drew an estimated 1,000 to 1,200 persons.

The next event by the Plymouth gallery is a group artist show scheduled for 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 15, at the Mayflower Meeting House, one block away. Among those to be featured at the show are Heiner Hertling, who designed the winning 1984 Michigan trout stamp, and Cathy McClung, who placed second in this year's Michigan duck stamp design competition.

Watercolor artist Nita Engle will be at Wild Wings on Sunday, Nov. 6, to show original paintings and limited edition prints. Engle will be the featured watercolor artist in "American Artist"

The Plymouth gallery, one of 18 Wild Wings galleries around the country, was started by Jabara in 1980 after he retired from a manufacturing business. His son and daughter run another Wild

Jabara said. "I've had a lot of fun with it (the gallery)."

"Michigan has so much wildlife, so people are very aware of nature and the wildlife," Mosher said. "We get all ages, from the little child who will point and say, 'duck' or 'dog,' to the adult who will appreciate the work."

Kal Jabara, owner of the Wild Wings Gallery, shows some of the artwork on display there. The gallery has drawn visitors from 100 miles away.

There's more to felt tips than meets the eye

This is another in a series of lessons on art and drawing by special columnist David Messing. He has taught for eight years and operates an art store, Art Store and More, 8774 Middlebelt, Livonia. Messing ecourages questions and comments from readers. You may write him at his store or c/o Observer Newspapers, 23352 Farmington Road, Farmington MI 48024.

By David P. Messing special writer

Last week I mentioned that we would cover more uses and techniques with felt tip pens. There are markers for all ages and all man-

You say the smell of markers makes you sick? How about a set of markers that makes you hungry

Mr. Sketch makes an assortment of watercolor markers that is scented in food aromas. Black is licorice, brown is cinnamon, blue is blueberry, orange smells like tangerines and, of course, red is cherry.

The colors and the smells go on and on. Watercolor markers are best suited for children but adults enjoy sniffing these markers as

I can tell because when they approach the counter to make a purchase, there are tattle-tale multicolored dots on their nose and upper lip. But aside from being low in calories, they are mostly just for fun.

Speaking of fun, have Trix by Marvy? This set of markers still amazes me.

About six colors come in the set and two clear color changers. You can, for example, stroke on a paper the blue; then when you cross over the blue with the color changer, it will turn a bright yellow. Every color changes to a new bright color.

These sets are under $3 and come in "wide" and "fine" tip assortments. After studying how they work, I am convinced that they are NOW MARVY also makes a watercolor marker that does have some commerical and artistic merits. These markers are fine tipped and range in color assortments from 6 to 60 One of my customers at the Art Store put me onto their best application. Chris uses them for stipple renderings. Stipple, or pointalism, is merely lots and lots of dots.

Chris does all his renderings on strathmore and Aquarious paper, which is a smooth, non-buckling watercolor paper. They must be utiful becau se ne stays ousy doing only commissioned drawings.

Be careful, even though both watercolor and permanent markers tend to fade (or are fugitive), watercolors seem to fade the fastest, especially in direct sunlight.

My whole life I wanted a white marker. I thought that would be neat if markers came in opaque, meaning "non-transparent."

Well . . . they put a man on the moon, in-flated cars till they cost as much as a house and made a marker that issues oil base paint. The paint marker nibs are not felt - as a matter of fact I don't know what they are. But I know they work.

Paint markers are available in about 24 colors. They mark on anything and they are truely opaque. Most people are familiar with the gold and silver which ranges from a wide nib to a fine nib (.05), which is about the same line as a ball point pen.

Imagine the trouble I could of gotten into with an oil base permanent opaque marker when I was just a kid.

It used to be that necessity was the mother of invention. But now money breeds invention at a higher rate than necessity. So it is with the marker market. I was once given, at a buyers show, a ceramic tip, fine point marker with a retail cost of $17.95. That might impress someone if you left the price tag on. My point is that every 10 days there is a new marker on the market. But as far as art work goes, it is not the marker that is in the hand but the hand that holds the marker.

One of my favorite lessons involves a felt tip pen on colored mat board. First do your drawing on white paper. Once you have per-fected your drawing, transfer it to a piece of mat board, preferably a dark or rich colored

Use a graphite stick to coat the back of your original. When you center your original drawing on the mat board, it is necessary to tape it to the mat board. But before you tape the original, be sure to make the tape less tacky or it will tear the soft paper which is on mat

To do this simply peel off several pieces of the tape and place them on your pants or shirt. When you peel the tape off, it will be covered with lint, which reduces the tack of your tape. Now you have a corrected and perfected drawing transferred to a piece of colored mat board

From TV news to fine arts photography

By Bob Downes staff writer

While many thousands of television viewers are familiar with Jerry Stanecki's work as the "Newshawk" for WXYZ-TV Channel 7, few know of his skill as a fine arts photographer.

Stanecki, an investigative reporter for six years with WXYZ, left the station in March in order to pursue other interests, one of which is photography. Over the past year he's concentrated his efforts on capturing the rural south and the essence of wildflowers on film.

The result is a one-man show which is a first for both Stanecki and Gallery Birmingham, which is on the second floor of the Merrillwood Building, 251 E. Merrill, Birmingham. The show which opens with a 5-9 p.m. reception Friday will continue through Oct. 15. Stanecki will be on hand at the reception to answer questions about his work.

Stanecki,41, has spent 20 years as a radio and television reporter, but his roots as a photographer go back even further. He started taking pictures at the age of 10 with a box Brownie camera.

Although he became increasingly intrigued by photography through the years, his career as a reporter kept him too busy to pursue the art form as much as he wanted

"It was a hobby that was a frustration for me," he said. "I'd get involved with it and then have to stop what I was doing because of my

BEFORE coming to Detroit, Stanecki spent five years as an investigative reporter in Oklahoma, where he uncovered stories involving political corruption. He arrived in Detroit as a reporter for WXYZ radio, where he reported on the Teamsters and organized crime. From there he was recruited by Channel 7 as the "Newshawk."

His work at Channel 7 was rewarding in terms of the people he helped, but the pressures of the job eventually turned him to other

"I declined to accept a real generous offer from Channel 7 because I wasn't ready to work three more years at that intense pace," he said. "I figured after 20 some years in the business, it was time to give Jerry Stanecki a chance to breathe."

He said it took him a good three months just to wind down from the pressures of the job. Since that time, he's discovered a passion for photography and capturing the beauty of the countryside in impressionistic photographs which rely on strong elements of both color and composition.

Stanecki's exhibition of 40-50 prints is made up of floral photographs as well as images of the rural south. While helping a friend build a sawmill in Alabana this year, he found numerous opportunities to photograph both sub-

His equipment includes a Pentax ME 35mm camera with a 80-200mm zoom lense and Ektachrome 400 film. The majority of his photographs are taken with the lens set at 200mm, a technique which isolates the subject, creating a three-dimensional layered look which imbues them with mysterious shadings of col-

HE SAID he tries to bring out the beauty of flowers and other natural forms by looking at them from a different perspective than is readily apparent.

"A couple of years ago I found myself concentrating on what was around me that people weren't seeing."

A purist, much of Stanecki's work involves watching and waiting with a careful eye. For one picture, "Friends," he waited 2½ hours for two painted lady butterflies to land on a flower top in a Georgia field.

Stanecki said he frames all of his work right in the viewfinder and doesn't allow for enlarging or cropping a photograph. He feels that his mix of rustic and floral photographs appeal to most tastes and contribute a serene touch to rooms in which they are placed.

Print sizes in the exhibition range from 5by-7 to 20-by-24 inches. They are limited to editions of 45 each, with 5 artists' proofs and have been printed by Glen Bouget of Midwest Photo Lab in Redford.

INK IN your pencil lines, then lightly erase any pencil lines with a kneaded eraser. Carefully add the base colors with felt tip pen. I say carefully because the paper on mat board is soft and the felt tip permanent ink bleeds readily.

Usually if you stay about one-six-teenth of an inch from your ink outline, the color will bleed to the line. Remember this ink is transparent and will allow the color of the mat board to show through.

For example, if your mat board is a plum color and you add a light color marker thinking you will lighten the area, you will be disappointed to see an even darker plum color result. So whenever you wish to darken a mat board color use markers.

When you wish to lighten the color, use colored pencils. Remember too, highlight and shade every base color with colored pencils.

Another pleasing application is to draw on a canvas board. Then ink in your line with pen and ink. Don't worry if the weave of canvas disturbs your lines. Erase the pencil lines and flood in your base colors with markers.

The gesso coated canvas board does not allow the ink of the marker to sink into the canvas, so spray your picture with fixative and watch as the colors flow and run together. The pen and ink lines will remain untouched.

If you do not wish to have this fluid look, simply spray a few light coats of fixative or varnish. Even though the inks are permanent on the canvas, it is good to fix or varnish the finished work to help it to be fade-resistant.

Certain tracing papers have a very hard surface and marker colors never really soak in. The colors are merely laid on top of the paper.
This affords the ability to correct or remove a color. If, for example, you colored in a very dark color and wish to remove it, you simply go over the area with a very light colored marker.

If you are using albaniene tracing paper by K & E, you can completely remove any color by simply rubbing over the area with a lighter color marker. Here, especially, if you want a wash look, simply spray a good amount of workable fixative and control the flow of colors by tipping the paper in the direction you would like it to flow.

Then you can add more color and spray as often as you like. Also do not forget to use colored pencils as needed.

I AM WRITING this article on Friday so by Monday there will probably be a new line of felt tip pens on the market somewhere. It is important that you know about them and I will try to keep you informed, but it is not important that you own the latest and newest materials.

Many times new items are much like another product already on the market. For example, there is the Fine Point System. I like them and I use them all

They range in nib size from .06 to .03. The fine tip of the .03 is mounted on a long steel sleeve and it looks more like a hyperdermic needle than a pen. Very impressive, however, despite the

First United Methodist Church of Birmingham will hold a second antique show and sale Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 29, with a 7-10 p.m. preview Tuesday.

Jinny Wagley, a dealer herself, assembled the roster of dealers.

She said, "Our purpose is to get people who do not show in this area along with a few, good, old standbys."

Among those who will be new to area antique shoppers is Charlotte Franklin of Lake Forest, Ill., who specializes in folk art, quilts and silhouettes. Roberta Holcomb of Birmingham and Betty Clark of Shelby also will Wagley will have a variety of benches in her booth - bucket benches, water benches, wagon benches and an unusual corner, threelegged bench.

Proceeds from the event, said Betty Clark, chairwoman, will aid two United Methodist retirement homes. Chelsea and Boulevard Temple, and the United Methodist Women's Educational Loan fund.

CLARK SAID that linking past and present in both the show and the organizations it helps provides many satisfactions. She mentioned that in the retirement home in Chelsea, 17 miles west of Ann Arbor, there is a Heritage Room where residents may display antiques and historical items from their personal collections.

Since Wagley's uncle, an avid collector, is on the Chelsea waiting list, as third generation in his family to live at Chelsea, he is looking forward to working in the Heritage Room and with the collections there this architecturally, we stripped everything to plaster planes simple and clean." That's particularly noticeable in the foyer, where pure plaster wall has been used at the stairway instead of a more usual wood banister. Dark-stained wood floors - more formal, less casual than the lighter tone, said the designers. And the dark wood gives the Oriental rug a stronger identity

Over the black granite fireplace there's a colorful, dramatic work by the great Spanish artist, Joan

A huge antique ceramic vessel from Greece, originally used to store olive oil, is on one side of the fireplace. This, like a number of other pieces in the home from different cultures and times, subtly establishes a continental atmosphere that is both warm and provocative.

The couches in the living room are upoholstered in natural soft mohair and the lounge chairs in a matching shade of Italian leather.

DOMINATING both the living room and the adjoining dining room (reflected in the mirrored wall) is a work by contemporary American painter, Paul Jenkins.

But a choice Picasso on the side wall of the dining room isn't compromised. It is a fine work, but softer in tone and more realistic in style.

The glass-topped dining table and the wall buffet are both custom pieces. The latter of polished steel is wall mounted with the drawer on the angle. The top is rosetta Verona

The dark chairs and the edge of dark wood floor around the neutral rug add warmth and contrast.

Particularly pleasing to the visitor is the way the designers have maintained continuity and flow from room to room and still given each a strong individual

The den, for instance, obviously is an integral part of this home, but the drama created in the small, intimate atmosphere is unforgettable. Walls and floor are a rich, dark brown.

The furniture is upholstered in matching brown leather. The two

View from the balcony provides an interesting study of the planning, textures, patterns and contrasts that antique, oil portraits are elegantly framed. The rug is a leopard skin pattern and fur look is repeated in the toss pillows.

A LARGE painting by Philip Pearlstein was bought by the residents, specifically for the master bedroom. It has a lot of soft green, the expected Pearlstein flesh tones and warm neutrals.

The Mettlers did the entire room in a single shade of rich, warm gray. Even the mirrored closed wall is smoke gray. The panels of the wall behind the bed and night tables are covered in the same polished gray wool that is used for the bedspread and covers the head and foot boards.

A loveseat is channel quilted in the same fabric. The custom night tables are polished steel topped with black marble.

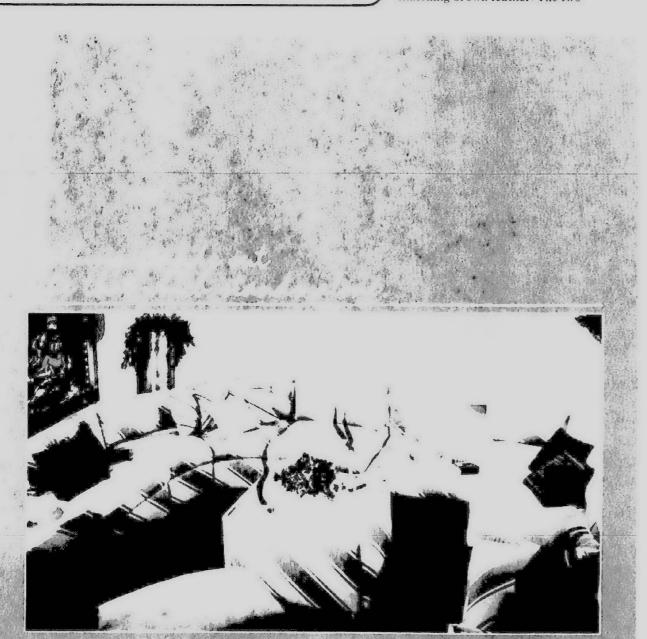

"Oneness was very important to us in this room," Jane Mettler said. Because of the window wall with adjustable louvre blinds, there is continual soft, diffused light.

The family room reflects the love of books, music and art which is so important in the lives of the residents. And it again shows the Mettlers' fondness for the neutral palette, coupled with sparks of color and drama

They designed the slatted iron coffee table which relates to the gray and white upholstery on the sectional, the two Gordon Newton works over the fireplace and the pattern in the enlarged photograph by Paul Chandler. A 1983 graduate of Andover High School, Chandler won an award for innovative color processing. The soft red which he achieved in the developing process is repeated in the apples in a bowl on the coffee table, and the gleaming finish of the small baby grand piano in the alcove.

Two contemporary black leather chairs add plenty of seating for family gatherings and parties.

The house has sparkle combined with clean lines and pleasant contrasts. It is an interesting. cosmopolitan condo, in a private, picturesque development by Robertson Brothers, only minutes from the life of the busy metropolitan area.

Walling Stands out. stand behind. paramess stand be lame stands alone.

Large painting by Philip Pearelstein dominates the bedroom, (above) which was done entirely in a rich gray to highlight the painting. The wool used for the loveseat, bed spread, head and foot boards is repeated in the paneled wall sections. The family room (below) illustrates the neutral palette which Joel Mettler and Jane Levy Mettler like to work with. But it is accented with red, in the toned, enlarged photograph of a section of fence by Paul Chandler, the small wood table and the apples in the bowl. The cat on the wool tweed couch is actually a pillow.

Decorative art of the '20s enjoys a revival

Interior doors are strongly reminiscent of the an era when bobbed hair was risque and a view of a lady's ankle and calf was deliciously daring.

HE ART of etching designs in glass, so popular in the '20s and '30s, is finding its renaissance in the '80s as more designers see the potential of using glass as a design element.

Tim and Chris Gillingham of Farmington are riding the crest of the renewed interest in etched glass with their business, T. Gill, Inc., which operates out of a barn studio on Haggerty Road in Novi.

The couple have specialized in glass creations for the past 3½ years and are marketing their work for commercial, retail and custom home applications.

"Designers are really starting to apply etched glass," Tim Gillingham said. "They're letting their imaginations run wild."

He said that doorlights and door inserts are especially popular items at present. Homeowners are using art nouveau, art deco, contemporary, floral, and other etching styles to brighten entryways and announce lifestyles.

ETCHED GLASS is created through the use of a sandblaster with a finely trained nozzle. A light touch of the sandblaster can be used to frost glass, with more intensive treatment needed for etching designs. The sandblaster can also be used to take the silvering off mirrors to allow for pinstriping.

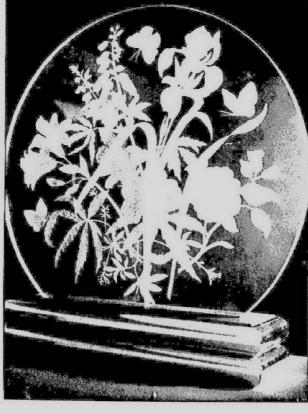

Chris Gillingham was a hair stylist when she developed an interest in the art form.

"I was doing it part time on the side and then gradually built business up until we decided to do it totally," she said. "I was always interested in art, and I wanted to get more involved."

She does the actual etching with a staff of four employees, while her husband handles marketing and installation. Because of the danger of inhaling glass dust, she wears a special helmet and respirator whenever she wields the sandblaster.

SHE ALSO HANDLES the art direction for the studio. Typically, a client will come in and look over

Glass to display on a table has a nature theme of flowers and butterflies.

Staff photos by Randy Borst the Gillingham's reference book. She offers advice on design decisions and guides the staff of artisans in their work on whatever is selected.

"Sometimes I do all original work," she said. "That's my favorite thing to do, when they (the clients) don't get ideas out of a book."

She said she studied the art of glass etching on her own, researching techniques and learning through trial and error. At present she's experimenting with glass carving, using diamond-tip cutters.

Besides working with windows and doors, the Gillinghams have done designs on furnishings such as headboards, room dividers, table tops and decorative accent pieces. They've also built an extensive trade in designer mirrors.

THEIR BIGGEST project to date has been for the $3½-million, 20,000-square-foot Lanotte restaurant of Boynton Beach, Fla. They created a three-dimensional marine life scene which winds its way through the restaurant. Seven tons of glass were used for the project, which took 3½ months to complete.

There are various grades of quality in glass with variations in price to match. The cost of a glass etching is determined by the thickness of the glass, the intricacy of the design, and the depth of the etching. A doorlight panel 20 inches wide and 80 inches tall can start at $250, with prices running up to $900.

ESIGN WALLPRINTING is sort of like wallpaper in a paint can. But instead of dealing with reams of sticky wet wallpaper, the wallprinting process involves using a specially-designed paint roller which can produce as many as 200 different prints and patterns in any desired color combination.

Incentives to going the wallprinting route are that it's less expensive than wallpapering and the finished surface can be washed or repainted.

"This is very new in the area so a lot of people don't know what it is," Sylvia Pochik said. "But the few that have tried it in the homes we've done have been very do-it-yourselfer. Wallprinters use paint applicators which have three compartments for various colors and a design roller of molded rubber at the top. The designs are laid out in metric measure and experience is required to keep the lines of paint even, straight and drip-free.

The Pochik's own home is filled with examples of how wallprinting can be used. Colors and patterns are mixed and matched on various walls and just a touch of the process has been used to accent certain areas.

"I just love the look and would never have wallpaper now that I've seen and done this," she said.

When I'm redecorating and don't want a design anymore, I just

ESTIMATING the cost of the average roll of wallpaper at $15 per roll, she said that the wallprinting process can be 40-50 percent less expensive, even though the labor has to be hired.

Besides its standard use for walls, the wallprinting process can be used for a number of unlikely applications, such as giving basement cinder blocks a wallpapered appearance. Other possibilities include pool walls, garage doors, glass doors, mirrors and shears.

"What this really is, is a handheld offset printer," said Jerry Pochik.

He said he first learned of design wallprinting while on a business trip to California. With his career as a management consultant flagging due to the economy, he decided to try launching his own wallprinting business. The skill appealed to him because it was new and innovative and allowed the satisfaction of working with his hands after a career spent working with his head.

HE SAID he also believed there was a big future in the wallprinting

"Eventually, this is going to do to wallpaper what dry wall did to plaster," he said.

The Pochik's obtained a wallprinting franchise through Birmingham Ltd., which is owned by John K. Lutz. They spent three weeks learning how to use the applicators and then how to market the service.

They launched their enterprise last September and business has been growing steadilly ever since. The future looks especially bright in commercial applications such as restaurants and convalescent homes, which appreciate the washable aspect of the technique.

For further information on the wallprinting process, call the Pochik's at 661-5513 or Birmingham Ltd., 683-5055.

Make yours passive solar

TIKE COUNTLESS generations before them, today's homeowners are relearning an old lesson: Mother Nature knows what she's doing. This lesson is the age-old use of passive solar energy as a source of free heat. In winter, says the National Woodwork Manufacturers Association, large areas of southfacing glass - usually doubleglazed - permit rays of the lowlying sun to penetrate the glass,

The floors and walls of the house store it, and radiation, conduction and convection distribute the heat naturally through the house.

where its heat is trapped.

In summer, when the sun is high in the sky, roof overhangs or interior shutters can be used to prevent overheating.

Landscaping is yet another method of controlling the amount of sun entering your house. Deciduous, or leaf-bearing trees. should be planted on the south side of the house. In summer, the leaves will serve as a natural screen: In winter the leafless trees will not impede solar heat gain. Shrubbery or a trellis covered with a deciduous vine also can provide summer shade.

On the north side of the house, coniferous or evergreens will shield the house from winter winds. Additional information is in the 16-page booklet, "Passive Solar: Using Windows and Patio Doors to Cut Fuel Bills." It is available for 50 cents from NWMA, c/o SR&A, HENEVER I have bought a new home the first things I redo are the kitchen, the bathroom and my bedroom. The rest can wait for a while. I concentrate on the areas that I love to live in."

This is part of the living philosophy of Cathy Hardwick, best known for her fashion collections that feature strong modern lines such as wide shoulders and asymmetric closings.

Six years ago she began designing a collection of home fashions for J.C. Penney, which started out as a collection for the bedroom with patterned sheets, then coordinating towels.

"I like to surround myself with beautiful things. When I was younger it was enough to just wear beautiful clothes. As I've matured nment that environment as a reward to all the energy they spend outside the home," Hardwick sald.

What she chooses to wear and the personality of her home are very different. Her clothes are modern - her home, featured in the September issue of Architectural Digest, is purely traditional.

"It's very English looking with glazed walls and lots of prints. In my bedroom I use lots of pillows and mix prints for a very feminine

Today her designs for the home go beyond sheets and towels and now encompass bath items, wallpaper, lamps, curtains, candles and a home fragrance in a spray and potpourri form.

This new concept of a home fragrance took more than two years to develop and is "the finishing touch to making a room livable," she said.

PASTELS are her favorite colors for home designing.

She explained, "Pastel to medium colors work so well with colors people already have in their homes. I love to see mixing different patterns of sheets and pillow cases just like in putting together sportswear. After all, sleeping on the same color sheets all the time is boring - mixing a few patterns enhances your feel about your bedroom."

But whether it's designing for the

She added, "If you are surrounded by beauty — even if it's beautiful colors — your thoughts are prettier, and I believe you become a better person."

ARBARA AND Stanley Zydeck's Plymouth Township country colonial home was adapted from a plan in Early American Life magazine.

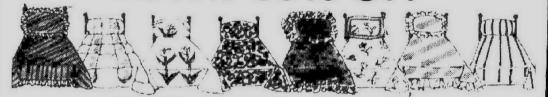

The spacious living room with its oversize bay window and seat has the first of three fireplaces. Stenciled border on the walls was done by the Itinerant Stencilers of Plymouth.

Barbara used one color scheme throughout the house, navy and rust with beige carpet. The country kitchen has a second fireplace, and the third is in the master bedroom.

Barbara's fascination with country furnishings led to her starting (with a friend) The Salt Box, a shop specializing in furniture and accessories that reflect the warmth of rural living

The stenciled border just under the molding in the country colonial home of Barbara and Stanley Zydeck, was one of the favored decorative art forms of early America. The hearth in the country kitchen, above left, is a gathering place, just as its counterparts were centuries back.
