School strike likely to enter its 3rd week

By M.B. Dillon Ward staff writer

Though the pessimistic pall shrouding hopes for an end to the strike in the Plymouth-Canton school district lifted somewhat with the bargaining session yesterday, negotiations remain stalemated.

Teachers and support personnel in the Plymouth-Canton district have been on strike since Sept. 30, idling Wayne County's fourth largest school district and its nearly 16,000 students.

Bargainers for the district reported, "no big breakthrough" after an afternoon mediation session that lasted several hours at the Michigan Employment Relations Commission (MERC) offices in downtown Detroit.

Union representatives were less positive, telling callers from their downtown Plymouth crisis center "no progress" had been made.

Negotiators for teachers and the district scheduled another bargaining session for 8 p.m. Sunday. The location was not disclosed.

BARGAINERS FOR transportation workers and secretaries were slated to return to the table with district negotiator this morning.

Food services negotiators met with their district counterparts Tuesday but restraining order prohibiting Plymneither side reported any progress.

According to Dick Egli, community relations director for the district, "nothing new was placed on the table" in yesterday's session. The district has offered a 3 percent raise in 1983-84 and 5 percent the following year to all employee groups. Union negotiators have said they will accept a one-year rather than a two-year pact, but that the district's 3 percent offer for the current year is insufficient.

The school board canceled its meeting last Monday to attend the Michigan Association of School Administrators/Michigan Association of School Boards (MASA/MASAB) conference in Detroit's Renaissance Center.

The board met Tuesday afternoon, however, and took two actions.

Both strengthened its existing strategies.

The first, based on the board's "awareness of the negotiation positions and their financial consequences," reaffirmed the direction and support of the board negotiating team, Egli said.

The second directed district chief negotiator Thomas Schwarze, an attorney, "to take all legal steps necessary to assure future compliance with the open meetings act and all other laws governing fact finding by MERC."

(Schwarze was granted a temporary restraining order prohibiting Plymouth-Canton teachers, the district and MERC from engaging in fact finding through Oct. 26 by Ingham County Circuit Judge Robert Bell. MERC, Schwarze charged, illegally had appointed a fact-finder in a closed rather than open meeting.

Michigan Education Association attorney Harvey Wax was scheduled to appear before Judge Bell today in an attempt to have the order set aside.)

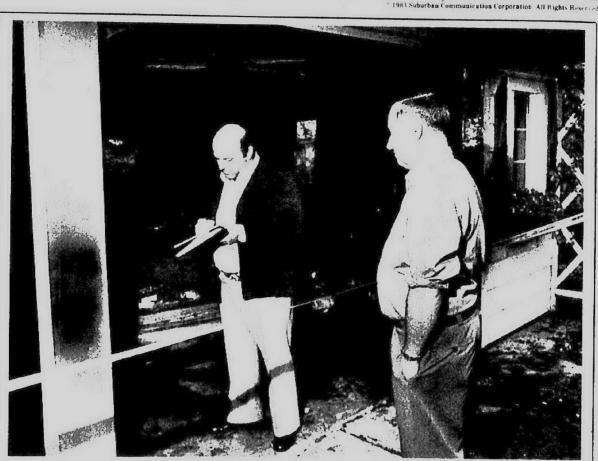

THE MOTION was made, Egli said, because petititons for fact finding recently were submitted by the five support personnel unions, following a similar action by the teachers union.

Under fact finding, a third party (MERC mediator) offers a non-binding solution after appraising the positions of both sides.

Tom Cotner, chief negotiator for the teachers, predicted yesterday's gloomy outcome

"It's a step backwards. (The board) wants to meet with the mediator at MERC," he said Tuesday. "If Schwarze has no more money to deal with, the mediator can't do anything. He just goes back and tells each side what the other can do," added Cotner, who had breakfast with Schwarze Saturday.

"In my opinion the board is trying to make itself look better by saying, "We went to MERC.""

Reward offered

A rash of fires early Wednesday morning resulted in eight car and two garage fires on E. Union and Holbrook streets. William McKenna (right) watches as an unidentified insurance adjuster assesses the damage to his garage. McKenna's 1983 Ford Thunderbird was destroyed in the early morning blaze. Plymouth Fire Chief Roy Hall estimated damage at more than $40,000. He said arson was the cause of the fires, the first of which was set at about 4:30 a.m. Anyone with information about the fires is asked to call the fire department, 453-1234, Ext. 41. A reward of $2,000 is being offered for information leading to the arrest of the arsonist(s).

· Public strike forum cancelled amid location snafu

A forum slated for tonight and intended to inform the public about the 13-day-old strike in the Plymouth-Canton school district has been cancelled due to a snafu that has left organizers "dumbfounded."

The forum will not be rescheduled.

Conceived by the League of Women Voters (LWV) of Northville, Plymouth, Canton and Novi, representatives from the Board of Education and employees' unions were to have fielded questions beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the Little Theatre of Plymouth Canton High School.

LWV president Billie Whiteley said arrangements were made Friday with Dr. Michael Homes, assistant superintendent for instruction, and Richard Egli, district community relations director, during a strike-related meeting of concerned parents at Plymouth

When Deanna Huff, LWV vice president in charge of programming and a part-time Spanish teacher for the district, went to Canton High School Monday morning to confirm availability of the Little Theatre, she was told the facility could not be used.

"At that time, we started getting concerned," said Whiteley. "But even then they weren't saying (board members) wouldn't meet. We thought the problem involved just the Little Theatre." Monday afternoon, Whiteley went to the board office seeking Dr. Homes' signature on a letter to board members confirming their intention to "send representatives to the open public forum sponsored by LWV on Thursday, Oct. 13, as verbally agreed Friday, Oct.7, at Plymouth Township Park by Dr. Michael Homes and Richard Egli." Homes refused to sign it, Whiteley

"In our conversation (Friday), he said the board would be willing to cooperate in a public forum and provide representatives. And it was our interpretation that the Little Theatre would be available," added Whiteley, who ex-

"When I went over there (to Dr. Homes' office Monday) he told me he never said any of those things. He told me not to use his name in connection with this.

"I'm still in a state of shock. I'm dumbfounded. This was a real surprise."

Dr. Homes was unavailable for comment, but authorized Egli to speak in his behalf.

"I think it was a series of misunderstandings, quite frankly," Egli said. "With the strike on, it's very difficult. Plymouth Symphony performances and other events scheduled for the Little Theatre have had to be cancelled.

"In talking about (the forum on Friday,) some assumptions were made that were not agreed to. But maybe by not being stopped at that point, agreement was assumed and it shouldn't have been. Dr. Homes specifically said they'd have to check up on the facility being available.

"The whole thing got out of proportion. We're certainly not opposed to the League having this, but we were concerned about the League using his name (Dr. Homes') and mine to commit to something that wasn't so.

"When Deanna talked to me, I thought she already had gotten approval (from board members to host the forum.)"

Tom Cotner, chief negotiator for Plymouth-Canton teachers, was present when the forum was discussed Friday.

Flabbergasted at its cancellation, he said, "they're (board members) awfully brazen. Not only do they treat unions like that, they're treating the whole community that way. They have no respect either for the people in their employ or for the community."

Egli said the board's concern "is maintaining a focus on the issues, and trying to get them settled, so that children and teachers can return to the classroom."

The League's intent was to "inform the general public and provide a general service," Whiteley said.

Although Omnicom has offered its cable-TV studios for a League forum, the idea won't be pursued, Whitele said.

"It doesn't sound like the administration is interested at all. They now want to keep a low profile."

Township opts for technology in library expansion

By Gary M. Cates staff writer

Plymouth Township may participate in an expansion of the Dunning-Hough Library due to an agreement to consider technological improvements at the facility.

Last week the township was asked to share in the building costs of the addition, as well as the future operational expenses of the city's library. Although Plymouth received approval on a $200,000 federal grant for the expansion earlier this month, supervisor Maurice Breen indicated the township wasn't interested unless the city considered upgrading equipment.

Under current plans, the addition would cost $600,000. The city and township would split a $400,000 share, with the grant covering the remaining $200,000.

AT A MEETING last Friday, city manager Henry Graper agreed to pursue new technology, if the township would consider participating in the project, Breen said.

"I indicated I would recommend to this board that we go ahead with the project, if it was something beyond the bricks and mortar concept," Breen said at Tuesday night's board meeting.

Breen's support of the project indicated a shift from earlier comments. Last week he told the Observer the project appeared to be put together quickly, without consideration for long-range planning.

Apparently, Graper and Breen reached a compromise at Friday's meeting and desire to continue talks.

Breen's request to further negotiate with the city on the matter was approved in a 6-0 vote Tuesday night. Trustee Smith Horton was absent.

Breen plans to discuss equipment, financing and a shared service contract for the library

While supporting the concept, clerk Esther Hulsing said it "seems like a good chance to bring the library into the 20th Century."

THE ORIGINAL plans for the 7,000-square-foot addition were made without consideration of technological advances, according to Stanley Tkacz, a local architect.

If automation equipment was added to the facility, the addition could be downsized to 5,000 square feet, Tkacz said. The city is seeking approval to change the addition plans to allow for the new equipment, since the $200,000 grant was awarded for the 7,000-square-foot addition, he said.

Tuesday night's board action wasn't final approval to participate in the project. But it did indicate a favorable stance toward it.

Once Breen and Graper hammer out a plan, it will be placed before the board for the final OK.

The city and township must now race the clock to complete the plan, unless an extension on the grant is approved by the State of Michigan — which administers the monies.

City tries to buy time

Extension sought on library grant

The city of Plymouth has asked the state of Michigan for a 60-day extension of a Nov. 15 deadline to accept a $200,000 library grant because it wants more time to make plans.

If the extension is granted, said City Manager Henry Graper, the city will have more time to obtain a working agreement with the township on sharing the debt payments.

If the extension is not granted, said Graper, the project still can be completed but the original tight time schedule will have to be followed.

That information was reported by Graper Monday night in a special meeting in a study session setting between the City Commission and Plymouth Library Board.

If the city can buy more time, said Graper, then it's likely the City Commission won't have to make its next decision on expanding the library until the first meeting in November.

Monday night a discussion was held on the library facilities report prepared by local architect Stanley Tkacz.

AMONG THE FINDINGS in the library study are:

 Of the present usage of the library, about 42 percent is by Plymouth Township residents, 22 percent by Canton, 7 percent by other municipalities and 29 percent by city residents.

 Of the total books checked out in a year, some 64 percent are used by adults. • The library has about 46,000 volumes but by national standards should have a stock of about 64,000 volumes.

The city has received preliminary approval of its application for a federal jobs grant, administered by the state, which will pay for one-third of the construction cost.

Graper estimates that the city and township will have annual debt payments of about $27,500 over a 15-year neriod

Graper expressed confidence Monday night that the township board will agree to participate in the expansion and debt payments once it hears the full presentation on the proposal.

Tkacz and Graper both expressed a belief that the township is interested in the community having a modern library to meet future needs.

The city manager said that the need to expand the library has been studied and considered for three years. The grant money has not been available since 1975 and it may be another 10 years before it's available again, he added

The administration likely will be coming up with a recommendation within 15 days on the size of the proposed addition, said Graper.

THE SIZE OF the project will depend to a great degree, said Tkacz, on

Questions asked superintendent

To the editor

(An open letter to Dr. John M. Hoben, superintendent, Plymouth-Canton Community Schools).

I would like to address a few questions to you. I do not expect answers to each question — I would like to have your response come in the form of an immediate resolve of this strike situation.

In other words, I plead with your sense of decency and good conduct to place your priorities with the students, the school employees and with the tax-payers of this community. I urge you to forget all this legal "mumble-jumble" and get to the issue at hand — the people of this community and ending this strike.

1. Why did the school board announce at its meeting on Monday, Oct. 3, that the members would attend the fact finding session the following day and then reverse this decision with lawsuits?

2. Is the school board concerned that fact finding will show that the employees are correct about the district's great financial surplus?

3. Why were the teachers more adequately paid in the 1979-80 school year when Plymouth-Canton was rated fourth in pay scale in Wayne County and is now rated 18th? (This is based on the maximum salary for teachers with a master's degree. The teachers in Plymouth-Canton do not reach maximum salary until they reach 12 years seniority, whereas, teachers in Livonia attain maximum wages with ten years seniority. Other districts' maximum salary exceeds Plymouth-Canton by the following approximate amounts: Livonia - $3,300; Wayne-Westland -$2,000; Farmington - $1,500.)

4. Do you feel that Thomas Schwarze, a Detroit attorney, is truly concerned about our community or is he more concerned about receiving his approximate $2,000/month salary (according to the Canton Observer on Thursday, Oct. 6) from our taxpayers?

5. Why have some administrators in this district been asked to take their vacations this week (beginning Oct. 10)?

6. Why did School Board President Glenn Schroeder leave for a European vacation two days into the strike, not to return until the end of the month?

My husband is a teacher and two of our four children attend school in this district. I urge you to negotiate and be concerned with the people in our community. We are praying for a quick and fair solution to end this strike. We want our children educated, and we do not want our money being spent on the school board's enormous legal fees.

Disappointed in tactics used

To the editor:

I am truly disappointed in the attitudes and behavior of the professional staffs in our community education system. As a parent, taxpayer, and human services professional, I had higher expectations of these people.

The tactics and legal maneuvering employed by the opposing parties of the strike issues is a disgusting example for our children, who are the real losers in this battle. It breaks my heart to hear my 5-year-old son, who just began his school career, ask me why the teachers don't want to teach him. What a great start to school, after all the time I've spent building up the experience, trying to create an attitude of excitement and respect for our institutions of learning.

As parents, we spend years instilling in our children values, ethics, and respect for what we do as adults. We get raging mad at kids who vandalize school property, labeling them delinquents — searching for pathology in their personalities. Isn't this a bit of a double standard? I just got off the phone to the administration building where striking employees have filled the parking lot with tacks. I can hardly believe this. Then, of course, the administrators cannot attend the scheduled meeting for negotiations. Isn't the objective to work together and get the issues settled?

Why do those who choose not to break the law (and striking is an obvious infraction of our statutes) get threatened when they go to their jobs? Threatening one's property is not my idea of adult-like behavior. I would give my kid a lot of grief for acting in this manner. I am ashamed that our children bear witness to this form of behavior. How can we expect responsible citizens to emerge from our children in this sort of atmosphere?

Both sides, in my mind, are negligent in negotiations. I can't believe teachers expect the board to consider increases of approximately 20 percent when the vast majority of Plymouth Canton taxpayers are still being laid off, having their salaries and benefits cut, or taking freezes. What the board has offered now will still put them into heavy debt again in one year. Isn't the goal of economic recovery still current? Yet I heard back in May complaints from these groups that the board was ignoring them, and that negotiations were stalled even then?

The repercussions of ill-toned communications and behaviors is, at the least, tainting a fine educational system. Public schools need to maintain a good image in our community, if we are to expect the support of the public to continue. We lose more kids to private schools each year — let's not refuse them education or give them more reasons to leave.

Our most important resource in our community is our children. Aren't they worthy of our setting a good example as mature, responsible adults? If we desire that they grow in to fine adults, then we must insure their futures with a dedication and committment to a full cooperation in settling these issues quickly and cleanly. So please quit this ineffective bickering and delaying tactics, and get our children back to the classrooms, so they may continue their learning and growning.

Schools attract by paying well

To the editor

When I attended Plymouth schools for 12 years, my parents knew what they were paying for. They didn't go to college and wanted me to succeed there. They both worked at full-time jobs to keep me in Plymouth schools. At college I earned above-average grades and was able to waive freshman composition and biology. My parents knew that Plymouth taxes provided good teachers and quality preparation for college. I am glad to have had this advantage. However, today I wonder if Plymouth-Canton parents know what their taxes are buying.

In the past, Plymouth has not attracted good teachers by paying a bargain salary. A school, like any other institution, attracts and keeps talented employees by paying them a good salary. The recovery of Detroit's auto industry is built on good employee/employer cooperation and salary incentives

The University of Michigan employs nationally renowned researchers and teachers because of its prestige and competitive salary. The Carnegie Foundation report on education has found that teachers' salaries have declined 12.2 percent between 1972 and 1982 and that this is related to the lack of talented graduates going into educations.

More specifically, Plymouth-Canton teachers' salaries are ranked 11th out of 36 area schools — 18th if teachers accept the current board offer. Where are the Plymouth-Canton tax dollars going if not to continue providing the traditionally high quality instructors that I had when I attended school here?

Plymouth-Canton parents pay plenty of taxes. As a teacher and former resident, I know this. My mother-in-law in Lake Pointe is also quick to remind me.

However, I also know that my colleagues and I (at the secondary level) often have 170-200 students per day and are given individual budgets of 60 cents to a $1 per child for new materials for the entire year! Again, if we have so few dollars to buy materials ($17 per class in my case) and if Plymouth's most experienced teachers now make less than teachers in Farmington, Northville, Wayne-Westland, Livonia and Garden City, where are the tax dollars going? What are the priorities?

Teachers and materials most directly affect children's educational progress. Plymouth graduates still do well. Some still "place out" of the freshman writing requirement at college. Last year, a Plymouth graduate won the freshman writing prize at Yale Univer-

As a writing and foreign language instructor, I wonder how many students we reach with quality instruction when we have increasingly large classes, teacher layoffs, and perenially unsettled contracts.

Ernest Boyer, president of last month's Carnegie Foundation report on education, is quoted in the Oct. 10th Time magazine, "School is in a very real sense a mirror of its community. Time and time again, we saw that community support or community conditions were shaping the school. So, in a very real sense, the report card on the school is a report card on the nation."

I am concerned about the "report card" on the Plymouth-Canton school situation. I don't believe that Plymouth residents and board members have given up supporting quality education in this town. I am proud to teach in this district because parents are concerned about their children's progress.

I would hope they are equally concerned about what their tax dollars are buying and why.

Response given Telford's view

To the editor:

I am writing in response to John Telford's recent letter to your newspaper. I am a parent, taxpayer, and employee of this school district. Several of Tel-ford's statements warrant a response.

First, I was at the meeting where two excerpts of Telford's reply to an earlier letter were read aloud. The teacher in question never mentioned Telford's name, but now we know.

Second, class size was not equated to fewer administrators, though perhaps if there were fewer administrators, some more money would be available.

THIS DISTRICT has chosen to create larger classes by laying off teachers, giving millage back to the voters and allowing no raises to be budgeted though $2.4 million will be the fund equity.

I was under the impression school districts had to only balance their budget. I understand saving for a rainy day, but Plymouth-Canton seems to be preparing for the flood with an expensive ark.

Third, I'm glad Telford likes students and managed with a 200-student class load. But this has nothing to do with us and our student load.

The ratio at CEP is 22.4 students per staff person officially; this figure includes librarians, pupil personnel staff, counselors, and teachers (Ernest L. Boyer in the Carnegle Foundation's report, High School, indicates that the national average is about 16 students per teacher).

This means that some people have more students in their classes than others. Librarians, counselors, and pupil personnel staff should not be included in the determination of this ratio because they do not see that number of students five or six hours five days a week.

FOURTH, TELFORD says that he tries "to make their teaching experience as positive and productive as possible and to solicit as much teacher input as I can in planning and decision making."

This is a grand idea, the reality of which is something less grand. I have taught in this district 12 years and in all that time, every time someone (administration, central or otherwise) has asked me for advice, they always have done what they originally intended to without that advice.

Once ISP (instructional skills) was decided upon, a meeting with the Faculty Senates of CEP was held. We strongly voiced our concerns and opposition to the administration of this program and asked for data regarding the need for this program.

The only data that exists was not for

The only data that exists was not for this school district and didn't speak to the needs of this district's teachers. But we got the program anyway.

IT SEEMS obvious to me that central administration is now reaping what they have sown. People are tired of being treated poorly; people are tired of being lied to; people deserve better. Telford speaks of joining hands to seek "hard solutions that will best serve our children;" the only hand I've been offered has one of those electric shock buzzers in it.

Why do the administration and board want to hurt the group of people who work directly with the students? Perhaps because they view us as unworthy, undeserving workers who can make do with what is given by them. In Oliver Twist by Charles Dickens, Oliver, the poor orphan boy, says, "Please, sir, I want more," and so do we.

If central administration talked to their employees, and listened and acted upon employee concerns, strikes would not happen. But as the old saying goes, first you have to get their attention.

Good faith is proper aim

To the editor:

At 8:01 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 6, a courageous striker of the Plymouth-Canton schools placed a flyer on my door that attempts to gain community support by asking three questions:

Question One: "Why did the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education sneak to Ingham County to obtain a restraining order cancelling a state-ordered fact-finding hearing?" I will address this question last.

Question Two asks: "Why the Plymouth of the Plymouth

Question Two asks: "Why the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education can't settle salary demands with school employees" and goes on the state "the board now has 1.6 million extra dollars and furthermore the board projects an excess of $2.4 million at the end of the 1983-84 school year."

Before I make any other comments, let me point out to the authors of this flyer (The Plymouth-Canton Employees Coalition) that the board has no "extra" dollars. If in fact there are surplus funds, they belong to the taxpayers of the school district. This wonderful coalition fails to mention what their total economic demands are and what the future impact would be to the very people (the taxpayers) whose support they are asking for with this flyer.

The coalition is attempting to make the board look like greedy elves that are denying them the means to buy a loaf of bread. Yet, in a year or two, when there are no surplus dollars (if any exist) and the taxpayer is asked to approve a new millage, guess what side the same coalition will be working for? You guessed it, the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education. You see, when they want a raise, they ask for the taxpayer to pressure the board. Then when the board needs the money, this same coalition group helps pressure the taxpayer.

The coalition's third question asked

The coalition's third question asked why the school board doesn't want to end the crisis in the schools." First of all, the crisis in the schools is of the Coalition's making, not the board's; so the question really should be "Why did the Plymouth-Canton School District employees create this crisis in our" schools?"

They end the flyer with: "All it takes is a little good faith bargaining." "Good" faith" as defined in Webster's Third" New International Dictionary, 1971. Edition, is as follows: "A state of mind indicating honesty and lawfulness of purpose; belief in one's legal title or right; belief that one's conduct is not unconscionable or that known circumstances do not require further investigation; absence of fraud, deceit, collusion, or gross negligence."

Good faith for the students? Good faith for the taxpayers? Or good faith for the school district employees!

I agree with the coalition and ask the

I agree with the coalition and ask the school board to bargain in good faith, which I believe they have already started by seeking a restraining order (is this called "sneaking off?"). But now I have some questions of my own to ask the coalition:

You want parity with industry.

When industry strikes they pay a price. . .what do you pay?

2. What does it cost you to hold hos-

2. What does it cost you to hold hostage the education and summer vacation of the children of this community?

3. Is this strike legal under the laws of the State of Michigan? Don't you have a legal obligation not to strike? Should you be rewarded for breaking the law and for breaking a binding contract?

4. How many of you had your education disrupted by a strike?

5. Why didn't you tell us in your flyer how much of our so called "extra dollars" will your economic package absorb?

6. Lastly, would the mathematician of the coalition calculate and inform the taxpayers of this community what amount of new millage will be required to finance your latest demands. Good faith? I don't think you know the meaning of the word. Try "Web-ster."

Leadership may be the problem

To the editor:

As a concerned taxpayer I have sought information from the four groups involved in the strike of Plymouth teachers and support personnel, and these are my observations:

Parents and taxpayers greatest complaints are high taxes which were/are used to build an unworkable educational park and elementary schools with open classrooms, and to introduce modular scheduling which was ineffective. They also are upset by the increase in class sizes, and the strike which has closed all schools.

School employee complaints center on feelings of having their dignity violated by "unsupportive, inflexible administrators who do not treat them as members of the educational team." They also express dissatisfaction with lack of salary increase, with increase in class size, and with failure of the board to negotiate.

Board members concerns were highly individualistic and inconsistent. Mainly they seemed to fear loss of control over the schools, being overwhelmed by the Michigan Education Association, and asking for increased millage. Frequently, they quoted central office administrators and Tom Schwarze, the board's negotiator, as sources of information.

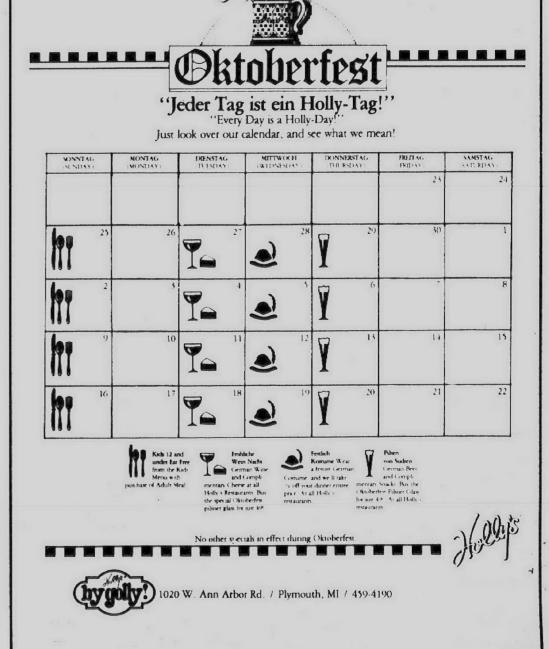

After several attempts to procure information from the central office, I gave up because no one answered the phone.

I observed the apparent decline of the Plymouth educational system for more than 20 years and it is my opinion that John M. Hoben, Ray Hoedel and Norman Kee have been constant factors in school strikes. School board employees retire, resign or remain; board members serve their terms and move on; but these three men remain as "leaders" of our school system. One cannot help but wonder if they aren't responsible for some of our disaster!

If all of the administrators, school board, and school employees are committed to education then I suggest that they stop making expensive, disruptive mistakes; that they truthfully present the facts; that they immediately negotiate their disagreements; and that they promptly allow our children to return to their classrooms.

Board waves time limit on tax relief filing

A redeveloped office complex on Ann Arbor Road may receive property tax relief next month, thanks to misinformation from Township Hall and a readily approaching end to Act 255.

The township board had held off granting an abatement certificate for the PMC Building at Ann Arbor Road and General Drive due to the time constraints listed in Act 255 - the property tax relief act which expires on Dec. 31.

Speaking on behalf of building owner Eugene LeBlanc, attorney Gerald Conley said board fears that a precedent may be set by waiving the time limits for filing weren't practical since the act expires at the end of this year.

. Reportedly, LeBlanc missed the filing deadline for the tax relief by some 30 days - since the application is due 45 days after construction starts.

The board earlier approved the establishment of a redevelopment district for LeBlanc's property — the first step in receiving the tax relief.

At the same time, the board approved a district and certificate for Le-Blanc's adjacent property, where he plans to build another two-story office complex.

Conley said LeBlanc was told by someone at township hall that he would have one year to file the tax relief application

That information was correct, according to supervisor Maurice Breen, since the property was zoned industrial at the time of LeBlanc's in-

Since then, the property has been rezoned to commercial — which changes the filing deadline for tax abatement

LeBlanc has based his rental fees on the assumption he would receive tax relief, Conley said.

"There has been confusion certainly

Breen said.

He suggested that another public hearing be held for the certificate on Nov. 1. The board could approve the tax relief at that time, since it agreed to waive the time limits at Tuesday's

The lone dissenter to waiving the time limits was clerk Esther Husling, who said LeBlanc received a copy of the law in time to file an application.

School office door shot out

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Ed. ucation was left to clean up glass from a door that was apparently shot out early Tuesday morning.

The 7-foot by 3-foot door at the front of the board's office, 454 S. Harvey, was completely shattered by a sling shot or pellet gun, according to Plymouth police.

Police believe the door, valued at some $150, was shot out between 2 and 5:20 a.m. by a projectile which hit about two or three feet above center.

Police list the incident as possibly being related to the ongoing employee

Baseball's 1st bonus baby now awaits a bigger thrill

By W.W. Edgar staff writer

Dick Wakefield, the former Tiger outfielder who earned a place in baseball history when he accepted $52,000 for signing a contract in 1939 and became the game's first "bonus baby," is awaiting what he calls the greatest thrill of his career.

He is being inducted into the Athletic Hall of Fame at the University of Michigan on October 21 and will be a special guest at a banquet in Crisler

Now a salesman for Leo Calhoun, the former Ford dealer who is head of his own oil firm, Wakefield takes great pride in telling of his experiences in the major leagues as a rookie fresh out of college and is proud of the fact that he is only the second U. of M. baseball player to be honored in the Hall. The other is George Sisler, the legendary first baseman of the St. Cardinals a half century ago.

While he likes to recll that he started as a catcher in baseball he stresses the fact that being the first bonus "baby" was far from the thrill it was supposed to be.

"IN THOSE days," he says, " the minimum salary was $6,000, so you can imagine how I was received back there in 1939 fresh out of the Univer-"It was a tough spot to be in. The other fellows were sort of jealous and I was the butt of all criticism every time anything went wrong, even though they were not my fault." At the time was signed by the Tigers the team was in dire need of batting strength and other teams were taking the so-called cream of the crop. Wakefield was going great at the University and Walter O. Briggs, then the Tigers owner, sent word down to the baseball office that he wanted Wakefield no matter what it cost.

"Wish" Eagen, then the Tiger scout who was con-sidered one of the best in the country, had followed Wakefield throughout the Big Ten and knew his value. So, it wasn't difficult to have Briggs agree to the $52,000. It was thought outlandish at the time and

Wakefield agrees that he came along a little too

Born in Chicago 62 years ago Wakefield attended high school there and on graduation his coach advised him to go to Michigan where the coach, Ray Fisher, was one of the best.

WHEN HE reported, Coach Fisher told him he had catching strength and sent him to the outfield where he really made his mark. That was in 1941.

THe Tigers sent him to Winston-Salem that year and the following year he was with the Tiger farm team in Beaumont, Texas. He was right at home in pro baseball and that year he became the most valuable player in the Texas league.

He came back to the Tigers in 1943, along with such budding Tiger stars as Hoot Evers and Virgil Trucks.

The time came when his $52,000 bonus became a drag on him. It was evidenced one afternoon in Tiger Stadium when he dropped a fly ball after a hard chase and it cost Hal Newhouser the game.

When Hal walked into the dressing room he tossed his glove against the wall and shouted, "That's your $52,000 bonus baby for you."

Wakefield recalls that afternoon and confides that such scenes became common. Then the time came when he couldn't get along with Tiger Manager Red Rolfe and he was traded to the New York Yankees. That started him on a tour of trades and finally when he was sold to the Chicago White Sox for $100,000 and a player, he wanted part of the purchase price. He didn't get it and that still irks Wakefield to this day.

Before that deal was completed, the Yankees claimed him and thus began a tour of the minors and the end of a career.

But Wakefield, who had the biggest hands of any of the ball players, enjoyed the game while it lasted and on his retirement he even entered politics and was defeated in a bid for the sheriff's job.

Now he's headed for University of Michigan Athletic Hall of Fame and that will make up for any bad moments he had as the $52,000 bonus baby

Gym vs. data lab vs. a tax vote

Unless Schoolcraft College trustees seek construction money from voters, they could witness an internal battle for room space, and the grand prize may be 20,000 square feet in the auxiliary gymnasium.

"It is the desire of the administration to have a new physical structure" for the growing data processing program, Conway Jeffress, vice president for in-struction, told the board of trustees

But to athletic director Marvin Gans, student leaders Barbara Sergison and Christine Karabatakis and 922 petition signers, the issue was to save the auxiliary gym. Our students, our programs, our outreach would be severely impaired if certain facilities were used for other than their purpose," said Gans, in the front row center as 90 persons packed the "pit" lounge in the Waterman Center for a 21/2 hour special board meet-

It was the largest audience any board meeting had drawn since the '60s, trustees said. The audience warmly applauded Gans and other pro-gym speakers.

"I WAS somewhat surprised at the focus - the computer lab and the gym," said President Richard McDowell. "Believe me, we've gone way beyond that."

But if the administration were seriously hinting at going to the voters for a construction bond issue, two of the seven college trustees weren't buying

Said Paul Y. Kadish, veteran of 10 years on the board, "Only one (alternative) will I immediately turn down - a millage campaign. . I'm not willing to go the people and ask for millage on a bond issue," said Kadish, who chaired three of the four unsuccessful money issue campaigns during the '70s.

"No way do I see us going for a millage," said vice chairperson Rosina Raymond, citing Michigan's 13 percent unemployment rate. "I personally lean to something on campus," said the 12year board veteran.

But trustee Harry Greenleaf said, "I wouldn't reject construction out of hand. We're living with less millage (property tax rate) than six years ago.

And at another point, Greenleaf said, "Computer literacy is a key ingredient of future general education. No space on the campus is inviolate. None what-

Kadish agreed with that point. Looking directly at athletic director Gans, Kadish said, "What I hear from you, Marv, is 'Look at all alternatives except the auxiliary gym.' Well, I'm going to look at all the alternatives."

WHAT STARTED the debate was a long-range planning study, begun in 1980 under then-president C. Nelson Grote.

According to Jeffress, it soon focused on retraining for the aging faculty (average age 49, few earning advanced degrees in the last decade), updating the curriculum and curing the shortage of

"Data processing is our most highly rated (by students) curriculum," said Jeffress. "It is an extremely important area because it will support so many other curricula in the future," as well as for faculty upgrading. His written text noted a 30 percent decline in credit hours generated by the physical edu-cation department since the physical education building was opened in 1971.

"Data processing and word processing are two programs where we are currently rejecting half of all of the persons who wish to enroll in these courses because we do not have space for our equipment."

(That led trustee Kadish to remark:

"The only thing we haven't done is ask those who have been turned away which petition do they want to sign?")

Jeffress said the planning committee recommends a data lab with 100 stations and six classrooms. That means a total space need of 10,000 square feet.

THIRTEEN alternatives were examined, Jeffress said.

Two involved the auxiliary gym - a one-floor conversion (9,800 square feet, $280,000) or a two-floor conversion (19,600 square feet, $790,000), according to Kenneth Lindner, vice president for business.

Other alternatives are converting the lower Waterman Center (10,100 square feet, $440,000); using a dock area in the service building (8,140 square feet, $407,000 and potential fire marshal

Other alternatives are to buy portable buildings, rent space off campus and build a $600,000 addition onto the applied sciences building.

School strike is a disgrace

To the editor:

I feel very strongly that the strike by teachers and support personnel is a community disgrace. I'm sure my opinions would be hotly contested by the strikers but I believe the overwhelming majority of silent parents feel the teachers' actions are very unprofessional. Here are a few of my observations after reading the strike articles and comments from the Oct. 3 Observ-

1. When union leaders use "intolerable arrogance" to explain the district negotiator missing a hearing with only a two-hour notice, I wonder who's calling the kettle black.

2. What kind of twisted logic can interpret the Friday non-attendance of my children as a sign of strong support? I do NOT support the teacher strike. I kept my kids home because the TEACHERS were absent.

3. I feel the board of education offer is reasonable under the present conditions. Many people (me included) would welcome such an offer.

4. Why do vacation days seem so important (two of five items) in the support units (what are these?) of the union offer? I would think there already are plenty of holidays, break days, snow days and summer days off.

Thank you for this forum to get a few things off my chest, whether or not published. I look forward to seeing other readers' opinions.

Faculty should get a contract

I would like to go on record as a citizen and taxpayer who is supportive and sympathetic to the plight of the Plymouth-Canton teachers.

I am aware that it is illegal for public workers to strike; however, I feel that the administration and the school board have taken unfair advantage of this situation.

Our teachers want to work. They have proven this by coming back to work this year without an agreement.

The administration, on the other hand, says that they have bargained in good faith, and yet failed to show up for the fact-finding meeting that was to be held on Sept. 28.

Our teachers here are fine, hardworking professionals. My children have attended Plymouth-Canton Schools for seven years and I have been truly impressed with the teachers.

The teachers agreed to a pay freeze last year. I feel that they deserve not only a contract with a raise, but a 'thank you" for a job well done.

YMCA thanks run helpers

With the help of hundreds of volunteers, the Plymouth Y's fourth annual Fall Run was a huge success. Five hundred runners participated in the onemile, five and ten kilometer runs.

The routes went through some of the most scenic residential areas in Plymouth and Plymouth Township. Kellogg Park was aglow with two huge heliumfilled balloons, a band, and hundreds of onlookers. Plymouth's double-decker bus led the one-mile run, and two Ford convertibles were the pace cars for the other two races.

After the runners crossed the finish line, refreshments of lemondade, fried chicken, apples, and oranges were served, followed by the award presen-

All workers reap harvest

I was very upset Monday at about 8

a.m. when I was picketing as a teacher, along with other service people, at the board office.

A caravan of about eight cars driven by board secretaries entered the building by the back door carrying boxes of donuts to wile away the day getting paid with citizens' tax money

This is a democracy and we all do have freedom of choice; however, I deplore the weakness shown by them trying to sneak in via the back door to avoid facing up to their fellow secre-taries who believe having a contract is very important.

These secretaries, who lack the courage of their convictions, will be there with outstretched hands when settlements are made to reap the harvest.

Starkweather teacher proved his frame of mind because the time required to correct 150 vocabulary tests was minimal. I may have been bored, and I never got to find out whether my writing was improved be-cause I never did any, but no one ever said school was supposed to be fun. An-other way to beat the class size prob-lem was the "trivia quiz." "What was the name of the river Huckleberry Finn and Jim went down in The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn?" This was designed to test our knowledge of what we read. Crossword puzzles and book report forms (name the author, title and give and brief summary of the plot) also were ways my high school teacher had of coping with class sizes. There also was the oral book report.

I don't think things have changed much. Teachers still have high class sizes. They will be unlikely to assign essays and take hours to comment on them in useful ways or assign revisions if students have problems. In my opinion, the committee to set standards should do so with this information in

With the class loads we have, it is absurd to set standards for writing that assume students will be writing es to learn how to find a point, select information from literature, history and experience, and organize it in an interesting way. Nobody is going to teach to such standards if it involves correcting hundreds of papers. (The National Council of Teachers of English still recommends class sizes of 20 and total class loads of no more than 100.)

When our district asks us to set standards for teaching writing skills in large classes, they must realize this means the watering down of standards. I'm afraid our committee's task, "through recent economic necessity," will be to establish how many days a week will be devoted to vocabulary tests and how many to trivia quizzes.

We could discuss the difference beaut tween a good workbook exercise and a bad one. Perhaps we could devise the definitive book report form so there is consistency throughout the system. I hope this does not happen, but if our committee is to establish standards that really improve writing in the district, our board must improve class sizes as they are directly related to the quality of instruction.

Standards hurt by class size

To the editor:

After working nearly 20 years in the Plymouth-Canton school system, I was pleased to read in the Oct. 6 issue of The Observer that John Telford, director of secondary instruction, was not happy about the "160 student-teacher loads at the ÇEP and the 190 studentmiddle school teacher loads we have been obliged, through recent economic necessity, to accept in order to pre-serve programs." His own experience in teaching has indeed taught him how 'challenging" it can be when loads are that high. And he speaks truly when he talks about steps administrators have taken to deal with the problem. A new section of Advanced Composition was opened, and my two sections of 38 and 39 did drop to only 29.

Telford also has shown his concern for improving education by establishing a committee of teachers from all grade levels to establish district-wide standards for writing. I volunteered for this committee and look forward to working with fellow teachers to establish standards the district can be proud

Since Telford has taught under the less than favorable circuinstances weteachers complain about, he also ought to remember the ways in which teachers dealt with the challenge of class size. When I was a senior in high school, I was given weekly vocabulary tests. I was assured they were "good for me;" they built character, disciplined the mind and improved writing. Since my teacher had five classes of roughly 30 students each, these exercises also im-

It's ironic, but there's a major retail chain that has shifted its promotional efforts to junk mail. Yet when the chain wanted to fight a piece of legislation in Congress which it considered harmful, what did it do? It sent news releases to the newspapers.

When people want to emphasize a point to their state legislators or congressmen, they often clip a newspaper story or editorial. But you'll never see a TV or radio tape in the legislator's or congressman's mailbag.

WE ALL KNOW the jargon term "mass media," but how many mass media are there?

There are publications for environmentalists and manufacturers, bird watchers and hunters, feminists and traditionalists, labor and management,

Democrats and Republicans, rock fans and classical afficionados, those with fortunes and those with pennies, those who consume and those who produce.

But what medium even tries to be a common ground for all points of view and all the interests that make our nation so vital and interesting? What medium even attempts to explain one group to the others? You are reading it.

Well, we've patted ourselves on the back pretty lustily and have vowed to do even better work in the future. But we also pause to thank you the reader for helping us to be good.

You invite us into your home, you read us, you praise us when we do well, you bawl us out when you think we've missed something, you give us tips, you write us the kinds of letters no broadcaster, billboard merchant, bumper sticker printer or junk mail distributor ever gets:

In short, you have kept us going for 200 or more years. All of us should be thankful for that.

New standards are needed for police chases

For the third time in less than six months, a young person has been killed in a car accident involving a police car in pursuit of another car.

In the latest case, Troy police officer William McCabe, saw a car speeding on Rochester Road about 2:20 a.m. Sunday. He gave chase and accelerated to 90 mph. At the intersection of Long Lake Road, a car driven by Darlene DiFonzo, 23, was turning left from Rochester Road onto Long Lake Road. McCabe's police car, going nearly 90 mph, according to police, struck DiFonzo's car.

DiFonzo's passenger, Jolene Satora, 21, of Sterling Heights, was on the side of the car which took the impact. She was declared dead at Troy Beaumont Hospital soon after. The driver suffered head injuries but was in fair condition yesterday.

IT IS likely that DiFonzo either did not see the patrol car or was not aware that it was moving so fast. McCabe had not turned on his patrol car's flashing lights or siren.

It is unfortunate that the accident involved a Troy police officer because Troy is one department which has taken steps to try to ensure that officers follow certain guidelines in conducting police

The accident, however, points out, once again, the great danger that police chases, or hot-pursuit chases, pose to the public.

It was only April 29 that two Oakland County residents — one 20, the other 19 — were killed when a car driven by a Oakland County sheriff's deputy smashed into their automobile on Wide Track Drive in downtown Pontiac.

The Oakland County Prosecutor's office has been pressing to try the sheriff's deputy involved for manslaughter. Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson said the decision to charge the deputy was influenced partially by a desire to warn other police officers of the dangers of driving too recklessly in hot-pursuit

Troy police chief Lawrence Carey pointed out that the chase, technically, was not a case of hot pursuit, in that McCabe was only driving 90 miles an hour to close in on a speeding driver who was unaware that a police officer was after him.

WHETHER it is called a chase, or not, highspeed driving by police officers has proven to be dangerous to innocent motorists who happen to be in the area when a chase begins. There have been instances of police cars hitting the cars of innocent motorists, and, more often, cases of drivers being chased crashing into the cars of other drivers.

Police want to respond by chasing those fleeing because they think that if one driver gets away that will encourage others to do the same. Police also think that willingess to flee indicates evidence of guilt, or an attempt to cover up something more serious than unpaid traffic violations or a suspended driver's license.

Yet there are few instances in which the quarry is worth the danger involved in the pursuit.

The police certainly want to stop someone who is driving recklessly, to prevent someone from getting hurt. But there must be a better method to zero in on errant drivers. Certainly, the capture of the person speeding down Rochester Road was not worth the life of a 21-year-old woman.

It is time for police departments to review their policies regarding police chases to ensure that another innocent victim will not pay the loss of life.

Old Diz psyched 'em in wildest series of all

THE NATION'S sports pages are filled these days with all sorts of stories and anecdotes of the World Series, but in no place has it been mentioned that this is the 49th anniversary of the wildest of all World Series - and it was played in Detroit on what was then called Navin Field.

In 1934 Mickey Cochrane sent the Tigers against the St. Louis Cardinals, and to all intents and purposes it was decided the day before play began.

At the time, the Cardinals had the Dean brothers — Dizzy and Daffy — and Dizzy actually beat the Tigers before he ever threw one pitch.

He used a bit of psychology the moment he arrived at the field, and the Tigers never were the same. It was the close of the Tiger final practice when the word came that "the Cardinals are here."

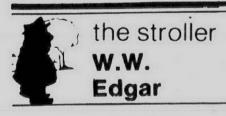

With that there was a roar from the right field entrance, and leading the pack was a giant of a fellow with a white cowboy hat.

IT WAS DIZZY Dean showing the way.

He leaped over the rail, walked up to home plate and took a bat. "Throw me one," he called. And when the pitch came in, he slammed it into the left

With that he shouted, "You guys will be easy."
The Tigers were stunned. Next day Charlie Gehringer, the stone wall on defense at second base, made two errors in the first inning.

Before the series ended, it became the wildest on record, It was the series in which Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, the white-haired baseball commissioner, ordered Ducky Medwick, a Cardinal outfielder, out of the game to prevent him from being hit by the baskets of fruit that were being tossed from the bleachers.

Ducky became the villian in the game because he raced to third base with spikes flying, and it appeared he was making an attempt to spike Marvin Owen, the Tiger third baseman.

One of the wildest scenes in the history of World Series play, it became one reason why Manager Frankie Frisch and his Cardinals were labeled "the Gas House Gang. WHILE THE Tigers tried to fight back with such pitchers as Tommy Bridges and Schoolboy Rowe, they failed to show the spirit they had displayed during the regular season. And at every opportunity, Dizzy was upsetting them.

In the seventh and final contest, Dizzy pitched a masterful game while his mates ran up a 13-0 score, and the Cardinals walked off with the title.

Even before that finale, Dizzy had the baseball world in a dither. The day before he sneakingly relieved a runner at first base (Frisch didn't see it). Dizzy tried to steal second and was hit on the head by the catcher's throw. He was rushed to the hospital, and the baseball world was agog. Finally, word came from the hospital that he had escaped injury.

THE MORNING paper hit the street with a blazing headline that said: "Dizzy's Head Shows Nothing."

"Old Diz," as he liked to be called, claimed it was the worst insult he ever received. It was even worse than the insult on the final day when, with Diz pitching and holding a 13-0 lead, Frisch sent his entire pitching staff to the bullpen to warm up, and the Cardinals didn't have another game scheduled until the next spring.

No, there never will be another World Series like that one 49 years ago.

Teachers get a bum rap!

IT'S FASHIONABLE to be against teachers. Once they were glamorized as belonging to one of the noblest professions. Parents were proud to raise children to become doctors, clergymen or teachers. But no more. This week parents in the Plymouth-Canton school district picketed against striking teachers. These parents blame teachers for a strike that has been going on since Sept. 30.

It's easy to fault teachers. Let's admit it, we think of teachers as persons who work from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. with three months off every summer. We're a little jealous about that.

As teachers become more strident in their unions, they lose more public support. It's "unprofessional" for them to wear ragged clothes and carry a sign saying, "No contract, no work."

Recent studies critical of our educational system such as "A Nation at Risk" — confirm what we all know. Teachers aren't doing their jobs.

I MUST ADMIT that I was among those most critical of teachers. I was particularly irked by a bumper sticker popular about a year ago, "If you can read this, thank a teacher." How arrogant of teachers to think that everyone

Since September my wife has been teaching full time. I have new respect for their profession.

Work days begin closer to 5:30 a.m. than 8:30 a.m. Preparing for as many as six or seven different classes in a day takes time. Also, teachers must be in the classroom 30 minutes to an hour before the first student arrives.

Students may leave at 3 p.m., but that's not the end of the work day. Discipline problems must be handled after school. That's also the time for inservice training, meetings with other teachers or the principal. Evenings are often taken up by meet-ings of the PTO, sessions with school board mem-

A TEACHER faces many problems, including relatively low pay and lack of security. But perhaps the toughest is the apathy of parents.

Most teachers I have met in the past few weeks are dedicated and caring professionals.

Last week Peter Beidler, a teacher at Lehigh University, was named "Professor of the Year" by the Council for the Advancement and Support of Education.

His advice to parents was: "Go up to a teacher and say, 'Thank you, you really made a difference

By the way, teachers don't take summers off. Most go to graduate school so they can retain their

The amendment sought to remove a proposed requirement that the Interior secretary determine that the public in-

It was offered to a bill (HR 2379) providing a variety of additional safeguards for national parks. The bill was sent to the Senate.

Supporter John Breaux, D-La., said the existing National Environmental Policy Act is adequate to protect national parks against intrusions from nearby federal property.

John Seiberling, D-Ohio, opposed the amendment, saying it would be "in effect, gutting the bill."

Members voting yes wanted to kill the extra layer of protection for national parks.

Satellites: space-age windows on the world

White's science class listening to her commentary on the Russians, Sputnik and the importance of science educa-

Today, more than 20 years later, we are still debating U. S.-Soviet relations and the decline of science education. However, little is heard today about satellites. America's latest love affair in the space program is with the shuttle.

Satellites have become commonplace since dozens have been launched, for a variety of purposes, beginning with Sputnik in 1957.

TIROS (Television Infrared Observation Satellite) is used for weather watching. It records temperature and maps weather development over the entire globe twice each day

Closer to home, SMS (Synchronous Meteorological Satellites) monitors the weather in the United States every half-hour around the clock. This system assists our local weather reporters in getting their forecasts.

Another, GEOS (Geodetic and Earth Observation Satellites), maps the Earth's surface.

LAGEOS (Laser Reflecting Geodetic and Earth Observation Satellite) specifically watches over California's San Andreas Fault, monitoring movement in the Earth's crust over a period of years

SEASAT keeps watch over storms, ice fields and ocean currents as an aid

LANDSAT, by far the most thrilling of all satellites, has opened up whole new fields of Earth studies.

LANDSAT can spot schools of fish in the ocean, detect geological formations that indicate oil and mineral deposits, monitor air and water pollution, and even keep track of migrating animals.

Though not the first to launch a satellite, in 1972 the United States pioneered the technology which

In 1957 I remember sitting in Mrs. brought us the LANDSAT system. LANDSAT is a relatively simple satellite. About one ton in weight, it travels around the earth 570 miles above in a circular orbit every 103 minutes.

The satellite is sun-synchronous, so it sweeps across the earth at the same local time of day, about 9:30 a.m. The satellite passes around the world 14

AS the earth turns beneath the orbiting space craft, the instruments on board take pictures of the successive swaths of ground directly below. Similar to adhesive tape being wound onto a ball, these swaths of coverage gradually envelop the earth with a full layer of tape being added to the ball every 18 days. Each strip is approximatley 115 miles wide.

LANDSAT does not take photographs like a camera. The spacecraft uses an instrument called a Multi-Spectral Scanner. This instrument scans the area that lies directly below the spacecraft as it moves along in its orbit, sensing the brightness of sunlight reflected from the earth.

The scanner senses the reflected sunlight in four different colors, and separate images are converted to voltages and returned to earth as electronic pulses. This data, once received on earth, is corrected for distortion, processed, and stored on film, computer tape, or disks.

By monitoring the intensity of each color, the satellite can distinguish between water, land, concrete, and grass, or healthy and diseased vegeta-

LANDSAT can see the difference in ground cover between any two spots on earth as small as the size of a suburban house lot.

LANDSAT can detect in less than bound traveler years to discover.

THE SYMPHONY League is planning three cocktail parties after the opening concert of the season this Sunday afternoon. League members and their guests may attend all three parties, for they will be in the same neighborhood.

Carol and Howard Patterson,
Donna and Larry Renehan and Sherri and Robert Lewis are hosting the parties in their homes. Judy
Lore is chairing party plans.
Working with her on the committee are Dorothy Shaffer, Elaine Kirchgatter, Carol Patterson, Donna
Renehan, Sherri Lewis, Clara Camp,
Marcia Barker, Pat Phillips and Shirley Wold.

I can just imagine the wonderful assortment of hot and cold canapes, hors d'oeuvres and gourmet whatnots these leaguers have planned for the celebration. Nobody will want to go home.

The parties will mark the end of Plymouth Symphony Week and a the beginning of a season of interesting events. Major league projects are the Christmas Ball in December, the Whale of a Sale and the Young People's Concert, both in March; a culinary cabaret in April; and the annual Pops Concert and a spring flower sale in May.

The regular concert season promises fine entertainment throughout the year. Conductor Johan van der Merwe has programmed an exciting season. Violin virtuoso, George Marsh will be guest artist with the symphony Sunday, Nov. 20; the "Nutcracker Ballet" by Tchaikovsky with the Northern Ballet Theater of Livonia will set the mood for Christmas, Sunday, Dec. 11. There will be two performances to accommodate the crowds.

The first concert of 1984, Feb. 4, will be all orchestral with just three compositions. Winners of the Young Artists concerto Competition will be featured in March. The orchestra will be joined by the Grosse Pointe Christ Church Chorale, April 15, for a performance of Verdi's

"Requiem."
Season tickets are one of the best entertainment bargains in the metropolitan area.

JOHN AND AIDEN
Broderick of Arthur Street and Glen and Mary Haut of Trailwood have become stalwart Kalamazoo

College football fans this season.
Their sons, freshmen at Kalamazoo, are members of the team. Both played for Plymouth Salem High School before they graduated in June. Dave Haut, who was a quarterback for the Rocks, is playing safety for the Hornets. And right across the field from him is Matt Broderick, who plays cornerback.

Coach Edward Baker refers to Dave and Matt as his bookends. The Brodericks believe the term must be the result of having a football coach with a doctorate.

So far, the Hornets are undefeated this season, sporting a 4-0 record.

IT'S TIME to start planning a Halloween costume because all children 8 years old and under in Canton and Plymouth are invited to a party. Lauren Turnbow, owner of the Penn Theater in Plymouth, is planning a great party Saturday, Oct. 29, at the theater. There will be free popcorn and pop, free cartoons, and each child will receive a helium-filled balloon on a string.

Lauren and Chip Falcusan, who are helping in the planning and financing of the "Pumpkin Party," say everyone must be in costume.

The costumes will judged, with awards for all. Children also must pick up a ticket with a nametag in advance. These are available at Dunning Hough Library in Plymouth, the Canton Library, the Rainbow Shop on Ann Arbor Trail at Forest Street, and the Penn Theater.

Actually, they are putting on two parties, the first at noon and the second at 3 p.m. Parents will be able to choose the time in advance so there will not be any disappointed youngsters.

Penniman Avenue will be closed off between Main and Union streets for the party and the Plymouth police are cooperating in the venture by promising to supervise drop-offs, when parents deliver the children and pick them them up.

Should be a wonderful party for the kids.

Pianists featured in symphony opener

It's Plymouth Symphony Week by official proclamations of Canton Township, Plymouth Township and the city of Plymouth.

Johan van der Merwe returns for his fourth season as conductor of the orchestra; the opening concert of the sixconcert season will be at 4 p.m. Sunday in Plymouth Salem High School auditorium.

Cameron Grant and James Winn, duo pianists, will be featured soloists in a performance of Leslie Bassett's Concerto for Two Pianos and Orchestra. Both Grant and Winn are natives of Denver, Colo., where they began performing together at the age of 8. By the time they were 14, they had played with the Denver Symphony.

Their European orchestral debut was in 1977 with the Frankfort Radio Orchestra. In 1980, Grant and Winn took top honors in the Munich International Two Piano Competition. They have appeared in more than 300 concerts in the United States, Canada and Europe.

THE CONCERTO marks the introduction of a new composition into the repertoire of the Plymouth Symphony as well as a new musical experience for many concertgoers.

The concerto was composed in Ann Arbor during 1976. It is cast in three movements — fast, slow, fast — calling for full orchestra, liberal division of strings and ample percussion. The solo pianos, in the foreground throughout, présent music that demonstrates clearly the soloists' musical artistry and technical command.

The concert will open with the Overture to Rossini's opera, "The Thieving Magpie," followed by the Bassett concerto. After intermission, van der Merwe and the orchestra will perform the "Fantastic Symphony" by Hector Berlioz.

Berlioz called his symphony "Episode in the Life of an Artist, Grand Fantastic Symphony in Five Parts." The exalted title stirred the imagination of the listener. Berlioz, at 30, created a work that left audiences stunned at its premiere in 1830. IT MARKED a turning point in musical history.

Berlioz, almost single-handedly, had launched the romantic movement in music with his "Fantastic Symphony." The amazing variety of orchestral colors in this volcanic symphony continues 150 years after its composition to stimulate excitement and wonderment in all thoughtful concertgoers.

Tickets for the concert will be aavailable the box office at Plymouth Salem. Single and season advance ticket sales will be in Plymouth at Beitner Jewelry on Ann Arbor Trail; in Canton at Arnholdt Williams Music on Canton Center Road; in Northville at Four Seasons Flowers on East Main; and in Ann Arbor at Liberty Music on Liberty

Single tickets for regular season concerts are $6 for adults and $3.50 for senior citizens and full-time college students. Students 12th grade and under are admitted free. Free transportation for citizens is provided from Tonquish Creek Manor the afternoon of each concert, and there will be free baby-sitting for pre-schoolers during each concert.

The concert is made possible by a grant from the state of Michigan through the Michigan Council for the Arts, the Ford Motor Co. and the Plymouth Symphony League.

Adelines to present a Broadway show

They'll be singing Broadway music in four-part harmony when the Midwest Harmony chorus, Sweet Adelines presents "Barbershop Bites the Big Apple." Performances are 8 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 22, and 3 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 23, at Our Lady of Mercy High School, 11 Mile and Middlebelt, Farmington Hills.

The chorus has been rehearsing intensely to make their Broadway extravaganza an artistic and financial success. The women barbershoppers believe they have programmed a production that will appeal not only to hardene barbershoppers, but to youth and age as well.

Three champion quartets will join the chorus on stage with their individual sounds and stylings. Headlining the show is "High Society," 1976 international champions. The foursome will come from San Diego, Calif., to per-

Songs of the Big Apple will be featured by all the groups. Songs will include "42nd Street," "New York, New York," "There's a Broken Heart for Every Light on Broadway," "Applause, Applause" and "One," among many others.

Company open house can be revelation to kids

Many of us recently had the opportunity to tour the offices, buildings, and general areas where our family members work, during several open houses offered by the companies. I mention this only to urge anyone who may still have an open house in the offing to be sure to use the opportunity and take your whole family. Not only will it give you a chance to see other departments that normally aren't open to you, but in this very complicated world today we all have noticed that the family has very little time together.

You would be amazed at how many high school students (not to mention grade school) really have no idea what their parents do. That's right! Test it. Ask the next teen-ager you see, be it your own or a friend. They may know where he/she works, but so many really have no idea what their parents actually do. I'm not saying that none of them know, but many don't.

Anyway, it is an excellent way to spend one afternoon of the many we waste. Take the time, take the family, take the opportunity. It's one Sunday, one afternoon, one family, and one chance. Ask the next five children you see, "What does your daddy do?" Remember, not "where does he work?", not, "what happens there?" or "what do they make?" but "What does he do?" It might give them more respect for the hours that their parents are away from the family, and what you go through just to make the money for one pair of "Nikes," or the infamous "Jordache."

IF ANY OF YOU are trying to think of a new or different way to spend time with friends, just keep an eye on this column. I have met some of the most inventive people around, and their ideas never cease to amaze me! If you should have an idea, please share it with me, and, if you don't mind, I'll pass it on. Then all of Canton and surrounding areas will be aglow this Christmas season with parties, parties, everywhere.

THIS WEEK I have a beef roast for you. Actually, beef roast in itself is nothing new. But take a troop of women driving down to Eastern Market to buy a 30-to-40-pound roast and bringing it back to Canton where one husband, Jim Monro to be exact, has prepared a large oil drum to serve as a roaster in the yard. Then add 30 or so people like Sue and Art Lawrence, Bob Carol Shaw, Helen and Mike

Canton chatter

Wesner, Bob and Kathy Spencer and Rick Spencer, along with Jan and Darrell Brawn, Mary and Sherm Moore, Diane and Jim Webster, Sandy and Hank Naasko, Mike and Bobbi Ryan, Gail and Elmer Teed, Pam and Zig Priede, John and Carol Pata, Dick and Terry Cohen, Judy and Dominic Cireno and Mary and Gary Orthner, and you're starting to talk "different."

Shannon Monro, hostess of this gala roast, tells me that each couple brought your basic "dish to pass" and simplifies the meal quite a bit. Add a little something to drink, some plates and such,

and you have a party.

For those of you who are going to run out and try this right away, they tell me it took about 4½ hours to cook the roast. As the evening hours approached they moved into the house and I hear tell they actually got down to some (not too serious) dancing.

So gather up some friends, make a salad, and roast a roast!

I made a beautiful beef roast myself for my son's graduation party. However, I didn't know enough to go to Eastern Market and then there was the matter of my not knowing how to cook

So I took my insecurity to my local butcher on Warren and Lilley, Johns Butcher Block to be exact, and poured my heart out. They took pity on me (luck for my guests) and ordered two of the most beautiful, huge, roasts then told me how to cook it. And, I did. My husband took my finished beauties back to the shop and they sliced them to per-

I must admit - for the stout of heart or talented - the Eastern Market idea offers a lot more originality and adventure. But for the basic chicken who wants someone close by just in case she may need H-E-L-P. Call the corner butcher and ask him to order you the kind of roast you get at the deli! I'll pass on the terrific recipe if you need

But roast aside, all in all, everyone had a wonderful time with the possible exception of two honored guests, whom I forgot to mention. But what party could be complete without them, as down through the ages, the time-worn tradition of home-grown help, the lucky teen-agers who dwell within the hallowed halls of partydom, who get to help (?) with the clean-up.

So here's to Corey and Sara Mon-ro(from Pioneer Middle School), the lucky two who stayed too late at the party. P.S. Your mom says Thanks! UPDATE!

How about the Sesquecentennial Ball? As of right now, they still haven't given it a proper name, however we do have a chairman. Her name is Connie Carman (455-2111) and she assures me that our ball shall have a name real soon. She also assures me that the committee is still in need of anyone interested in joining the committee. They are in particular need of any artists who might have some ideas or talent in decorating.

Now for the particulars. Much is still undetermined, that is why the committee is still open to new members. What has been determined is the date: March 10, the place: the UAW Hall in Michigan Ave., (in Canton).

A few ideas still are floating around, such as probable time, 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.; and a possible period costume contest. If you would like to dress in a period costume, they will have a prize for the best, all prize categories to be announced later. And how about everyone bringing a hors d'oeuvre to pass? This would (hopefully) help keep the cost of the evening down. But as I said, this idea is just that, an idea and not definite. We are hoping to bring in as many Cantonites as possible to join the in the celebration.

Naturally, Connie would love to hear from any and all interested in donating anything from money for general operating costs to prizes. Again, her number 455-2111. And please remember, I'm doing the July picnic and the calls are not rolling in.

Must I call my butcher for H-E-L-P all the time?

Remembering 'Ginny'

Redford Baptist Church member Mrs. Don McGuigan gets in the swing of things during "Project Ginny."

Photos by Larry Caruso

LEANING and making repairs at Redford Pioneer Cemetery went off like clockwork for members of Redford Baptist Church who conducted "Project Ginny" in memory of a devoted church member who died last year from Funds collected at the time of Virginia "Ginny" Crossley's death were used to carry out a series of good works projects in her honor.

The cemetery cleanup was one project. Basic home repairs and other tasks requested by the elderly and the needy in the Redford were other projects.

About 100 volunteers were involved. Later this month, at a mission night service, members will share a fellowship evening, recalling the summer work experience in Burnsville, N.C., where a helping hand was extended to needy residents, and the "Project Ginny" weekend.

'Project Ginny' participants had to wire brush the rusted areas of the Redford Township Pioneer Cemetery fence on Telegraph Road before painting it.

Tennessee diary: Chattanooga's Lookout Mountain

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. — Chatta-nooga is a Creek Indian word that means "rock rising to a point." The rock that rises above this green bowl of trees is Lookout Mountain, site of the "Battle Above the Clouds" during the Civil War, site now of Chattanooga's most popular tourist attraction.

There are two points of view about the garish signs that clutter the highway approaches to Lookout Mountain they are either "Americana" in an old medicine-show sense, or they offend people enough to make them avoid the mountain altogether.

That would be a shame, because the 145-foot underground waterfall and the mountainside rock garden are worth every curving mile up the hill.

Lookout Mountain is one of four mountains looking down on this city beside the Tennessee River. The others are Signal, Elder and Raccoon mountains. Decisive battles of the War Between the States were fought here and on nearby Missionary Ridge (so named because the Indians decreed that this was as far into their territory as the missionaries could go).

Lookout Mountain, that rock rising to a point, is the best known mountain because of its distinctive shape and geography. An inclined railway pulls you steeply uphill to the top. Point Park, its edges silhouetted by nineteenth century cannons, gives you a dramatic view of the city. It is hard to imagine up here that a waterfall is cascading 1,120 feet under the ground on which you stand.

RUBY FALLS is named for Ruby Lambert, the wife of the man who discovered it falling in underground darkness in 1928. Leo Lambert was one of the private investors drilling through Lookout Mountain to build an elevator to a deeper, known cave on the 460-foot

When the drill found an unexpected pocket of air on the 260-foot level, Leo went in to explore. Seventeen hours later he came out with excited stories about an unexplored cave and a glorious 145-foot underground waterfall.

Today, you walk two-fifths of a mile from the elevator to Ruby Falls, through a tastefully lighted tunnel. The lights highlight draped rock formations with names like "Crystal Chandelier" and "Totem Pole," plus a few that the guides have named "Bloody Nose Boulder" and "Headache Rock."

The only hokey touch is when you approach the falls. A dramatic burst of music, a moment of total darkness and then the lights go on. A ribbon of water cascades down through a chimney of rock. It's worth the walk.

Admission is $4 for adults, $2 for ROCK CITY. You've seen lots of rocky mountainsides with sweeping landscapes of rock, and trees tucked into shady hollows, but you've probably never seen one with rock-walled pathways and signs saying "Hall of the Mountain King" and "Fat Man's

For most of us, such landscapes are scenic, but it took Frieda Carter to see this sandstone mountainside as a rock garden. Not the tiny rock garden full of wildflowers that you and I have in our backyards, but a 10-acre garden with rock bridges connecting mountain

Flowers and trees are skillfully cultivated on wild slopes, and you can lean across a stone balustrade to a magnificent view of the valley below.

Mrs. Carter saw that view for the first time in 1924 when her husband, Garnet Carter, was developing this mountain slope as a housing development. They kept this particular sweep of rock because you couldn't build a house on it anyway.

Frieda Carter marked a path through the landscape unwinding a ball of string as she walked among the rock formations. Then she planted a variety of plants along the string trail.

GARNET WIDENED the trail with flagstone and built stone bridges to make the view more accessible. He was an enterprising man: When he couldn't build a golf course beside a hotel project nearby, he invented miniature golf and called it Tom Thumb

When Carter went broke during the

ORLANDO

Depression, he opened his wife's garden to the public and called it Rock City. Barn roofs all over the countryside suddenly bloomed with a three-word sign: "SEE ROCK CITY." Carter painted a farmer's barn free in exchange for the advertising space

Nowadays, after you've paid your admission ($5.50 for adults, $2.75 for children 6-12), you can walk the stone pathways through mountain tunnels, across the rock bridges and between narrow clefts of rock to fully enjoy the cool, treed garden that the Carters created for you.

Only when you start to see elves tucked in a niche of rock does the garden begin to get "touristy," but that's the best part for the kids. Carter had a lot of elves from his Tom Thumb Golf Courses, so it is not surprising that many of them found their way here or that Fairyland Caverns should have been added in 1947.

The Caverns are fairy tale exhibits visible from a tunnel that was built for another purpose. Garnet Carter was trying to build a miniature railway there when the roof fell in. The Fairyland ends with a huge Mother Goose Village added in 1964. The 145-foot underground waterfall and the mountainside rock garden are worth every curving mile up the hill.

The tunnel to Ruby Falls inside Lookout Mountain is lined with rock formations. Left: The trip to Lookout Mountain begins with a trip in the incline railway, a ride which is itself an adven-

Tourist attractions around Chattanooga

Chattanooga calls itself the Scenic Center of the South. It is located at the junction of I-75, I-59 and I-24. There are many other things to do in the area other than the attractions on Lookout

The Chattanooga Choo-Choo is a complex of restaurants, shops, model railway museum and hotel in the cen-ter of town. I'm saving my story about that for another day.

Civil War buffs may enjoy a private tourist attraction called Confederama on Lookout Mountain. It is a large model with Union and Confederate troops at battle stations and a narrator who uses lights to show the progress of the

The Chickamauga-Chattanooga National Military Park is the nation's oldes, largest and most-visited military park, found by following a seven-mile marked trail though eight historic

You might also be interested in the Raccoon Mountain Caverns; riding the one-mile skyride to to top of Raccoon Mountain; visiting the Old Mountain Opry on Signal Mountain; riding a raft down the Ocoee River rapids; or visiting one of Chatanooga's museums.

Hunter Museum of Art has a fine contemporary collection, as well as the eighteenth and nineteenth century collection for which it is known. There is an excellent collection of antique glass and antique furniture next door in the Houston Museum. The National Knife Museum is the only museum of its kind in the country.

A Chief switch for the better

E SAT UP HIGH in the bleachers with a couple of his teammates. They all had their game jerseys on. They were pumped already. It was only Thursday.

As he sat and watched Plymouth Canton's girls' basketball team get clobbered by their neighbors, Plymouth Salem, the young man wearing jersey

No. 13 was brimming with enthusiasm - and perhaps a bit of anxiety. Tony Aiken had no way of knowing that what he was witnessing Thursday night foreshadowed what would happen to his Canton football team the following night.

"Man, I hope I have a big game tomorrow night," Aiken was saying Thursday night.

The slightly built, handsome sophomore was in his second week as Canton's first-string quarterback. He replaced senior Jody Spitz after the Chiefs lost their first three games. He would be leading his Chiefs into battle against defending state champs Farmington Harrison in his second start.

IT SHOULD be pointed out that the first three losses were not exclusively the fault of Spitz. Coach Richard Barr, however, felt the offense, especially the passing attack, needed bolstering

If the truth be told, Canton would have won its first two games this year had they been able to pass the football. Barr was painfully aware of that, especially after the Salem loss. Trailing 13-7, Canton moved the ball deep into Rock territory three times late in the game, only to have passes go astray or get picked off.

"We can't throw the ball," a teary-eyed Barr said after the game.

His best passer may well have been split end David Knapp. Canton's most dangerous weapon in the first two games, besides the running of Rod Boyd and Spitz, was the option pass from Knapp.

By week three it became clear that a change would have to be made. In a 14-6 loss to Livonia Churchill, the Chiefs could muster just 90 yards passing and even less on the ground. Canton was six of 17 in the passing department. Ironically, Canton's only score that night was a 7-yard Spitz-to-Knapp pass

THE CHANGE WAS made in week four. Sophomore Tony Aiken would replace Spitz as the Chiefs' quarterback. It was a significant change.

But the change got lost amidst a teachers' strike and doubts whether the game would be played. It was also overshadowed by homecoming festivities.

The change didn't immediately affect the Chiefs' fortunes. The offense again was poor against Northville. The much larger Northville defensive line harried and hasseled young Aiken.

They eventually forced him out of the game in th quarter pleted five of eight of his passes for 43 yards. Canton lost 20-6.

An inauspicious start, to be sure.

Barr, however, was committed to Aiken as his quarterback. Aiken got the call again the following Friday against undefeated Farmington Harrison.

THAT'S WHAT AIKEN was so anxious about Thursday night. He wanted to show people that he could play

The thing that strikes you about the kid is his confidence. As he talked, you sensed that he wasn't nervous at all about playing against perhaps the best defense in the area. He just couldn't wait until Friday night.

Harrison's defense came into Plymouth-Canton Friday night boasting a consecutive scoreless quarter streak of 14. They had yielded just six points all

That was before Tony Aiken had at them.

It seemed like it was 14-0 before Aiken and his offense stepped onto the field. But, with 4:27 left in the first quarter, Aiken hit Boyd on a screen pass good for 17 yards. Two plays later, Aiken ran the option around left end for 15 more. Then he hit Boyd again.

AIKEN HAD come of age.

That drive was stalled by a sack and a fine defense play by Geof Bissell on an Aiken pass.

But Aiken got the ball back with 6:19 left in the first half. He promptly marched 66 yards in nine plays. So much for Harrison's shutout streak.

Their sophomore quarterback looked very sharp," Harrison coach John Herrington said. "He surprised us with his quickness. We didn't expect anybody to be able to run the option on us like they Aiken wanted to play good and he did. He completed nine of 15 passes for 141 yards. The fact the Harrison routed the Chiefs, in this instance, is immaterial. Nobody expected the Chiefs to win.

Aiken gives Canton football a dimension it hasn't had since the graduation of Rusty Mandle - excitement. He has yet to display his most amazing talent - he can throw with both hands. Just imagine the fits he'll give defenses: rolling right and passing with his right hand, then, on the next play, rolling left and throwing southpaw

Give credit to Barr for going with Aiken. Let him take his lumps now when the season, for all intents and purposes, is lost. Canton will have an experienced quarterback next year and the year after. It may not seem like much now, but my guess is two years down the road, we will look back on Barr's mid-season quarterbacking change and say,

"That's what turned this program around." Oh, by the way, if there are any freshman, sopho mores or juniors in Canton High taller than 5-8 and weighing more than 190 pounds, go see coach Barr. He may have a spot for you on the offensive line.

Salem's Lisa Maggio returns a shot against Bentley's Cadia Monforton in the finals of the Lakes Division No. 2 singles flight. Maggio beat Monforton, but lost in the conference championship to Harrison's Joelle Lukasiewicz.

Rocks come close in WLAA tennis meet

By Chris McCosky staff writer

Northville, it appears, will emerge as the conference winner in the Western Lakes Athletic Association league meet, which took place Tuesday at the Centennial Educational Park in Plymouth-Canton.

Northville surprised Farmington Harrison to win the Western Division, while Livonia Bentley, Plymouth Salem and Livonia Stevenson, all tied with 12 points for the Lakes Division lead. Bentley, with the best record in league dual meets, is likely to emerge the winner.

Walled Lake Western and Plymouth Canton tied for third in the Western Division and Livonia Churchill finished in last place.

Walled Lake Central was fourth in the Lakes Division while Farmington brought up the rear.

THE BEST MATCH of the day, as predicted, was between Bentley's Jennifer Reault and Harrison's Kelly Davidson in No. 1 singles.

Reault swept through the Lakes Division, defeating Salem's Anita Toth in the finals 6-1, 6-3. Davidson had it even easier in the Western, defeating Northville's Holly Hubbard, 6-0, 6-1. But, when the two met for the conference championship, it was a typical Davidson-Reault war. Davidson won the first set 6-3. Reault came back to win the second set, 6-3. Davidson prevailed, after nearly two and a half hours of tennis, 6-4 in the third

In No. 2 singles, Harrison's Joelle Lukasiewicz and Salem's Lisa Maggio dualed.

Lukasiewsicz, who won the Western Division championship by defeating Northville's Jackie Nicols, won the conference by taking Maggio, 6-1, 6-1. Maggio won the Lakes championship by taking Bentley's Cadia Monforton, 7-5, 6-1.

IN NO. 3 singles, Bentley's Jennifer Smith faced Harrison's Sharise Berk.

Smith ousted Salem's Cathy Graham, 6-4, 6-2 to win the Lakes, while Berk beat Northville's Vivki Robins, 6-1, 6-4 in the Western.

Berk didn't have much trouble with Smith in the conference finals, winning 6-4, 6-2.

But, Harrison's mastery in singles play ended in No. 4 singles. Northville's Denise Colovas took the Hawks' Jill Birsa to three sets and won 6-2, 1-6, 6-2. In the Lakes Division, Salem's Barb Hanosh defeated Bentley's Lisanne Monforton, 6-4, 6-3. Hanosh and Colovas will squure off in the conference championship Thursday at a neutral court.

THE DOUBLES play belonged almost exclusively to Stevenson.

Northville won the Western Division in No. 1 doubles. They fell in the conference finals to Stevenson's team of Sharon Porter and Kathy Skaisger, 6-

The No. 2 doubles final will be played Thursday. Again it will Northville against Stevenson's Kris Brocklehurst and Karen Porter.

Stevenson's No. 3 doubles team of Kelly Cascaden and Stacey Quartermous beat Walled Lake Western's team, 7-5, 0-6, 6-2.

Harrison, by virtue of its 9-0 record in league dual meets, is likely to be named overall WLAA champions.

Seniors lead Canton wins, Rocks romp

When the chips are down, you should be able to rely on your experienced players and that's exactly what Plymouth Canton did Tuesday night.

Four seniors rose to the occasion to lead Canton to a 52-36 victory over Northville. Lou Ann Hamblin led the charge with 12 points. Tami Budlong scored eight points and pulled down six rebounds. Marie Krashovetz scored nine and Nancy Gray chipped in eight.

The win raises Canton's league mark to 4-5, but, coach Phyllis Cunningham Mulroy isn't totally sat-

"We did a nice job but we are still lacking a spark offensively, and on the whole team, really. No one is taking charge," she said.

Canton took control of the game away from the taller Northville squad early and maintained a eight to 10 point advantage throughout.

"We are developing," Mulroy said. "I saw some very good things tonight. We played very consistent still not at the level I would like - but, we played consistently."

Canton has a break in the schedule on Thursday. It resumes play Tuesday at home.

"I'd like to get some big wins under our belts," Mulroy said. "I'd like for us to do some upsetting."

SALEM 46 FRANKLIN 15: "One team came ready to play, and we didn't. They played four quarters and we played one."

That was the lament of losing Livonia Franklin coach Tim Newman.

His team was ambushed Tuesday by a fired up Salem team. The Rocks (8-3) raced to a 10-0 firstquarter before the Patriots knew what hit them. "We were pretty good tonight," said Salem coach

Fred Thomann. "We made some nice shots early by nice I mean some 12 and 14-footers. (Fran) Whittaker got it started with two quick hoops, then Dawn (Johnson) hit one. Before we knew it, we were up 14-2." The story of this game, though, was defense team defense. Thomann stresses it, and on Tuesday, his team played it. Franklin scored two points in the first quarter, five in the second and four in each of the last two quarters.

"It's the lowest point total we've had in two years," Newman said.

"We applied good pressure on their perimeter people tonight," Thomann said.

Thomann is hesitant, yet, to overly praise his team. He feels they have quite a bit yet to prove.

"We're not there yet. We still haven't played big games back to back. I want to wait and see if we can handle the big game pressure or if we are going to be just a team that beats up on the rinky-dink teams. I want to see if we can play good against the good teams," he said. In two weeks, Salem will have its rematches with Livonia Bentley and Walled Lake Central, two of the three teams that beat beat them. That's when Thomann will be able to judge the true character of

Marathon runner becomes instant celebrity

By Marty Budner staff writer

David Olds moved from Forest Hills (Pa.) to Bloomfield Hills two months ago. And he's already a local celebrity.

Just one week after winning the sixth annual Birmingham Run for the Blind, Olds made instant fame by charging to victory in the sixth annual Free Press International Marathon. The 10k sprint across the challenging Birmingham course was a mere warm-up for the courageous 26.2-mile effort he exhibited over the weekend through the streets of Windsor and Metropolitan Detroit

Olds, a 22-year-old English teacher at Cranbrook High School, finished with a satisfying time of 2:16.10. Despite a stiff headwind that took its toll on all runners throughout most of the course, Olds felt comfortable after the

"Maybe it was because of the slow, easy pace, but I felt good after the finish," said Olds, who had officially entered in only one other marathon - in Philadelphia - before Sunday's grueling test.

The Birmingham run showed me that I was in shape to run a full marathon," he said. "It told me I was capable of going out there, putting the hammer down and running hard. That Birmingham run gave me the last-minute confidence I needed."

OLDS FELT even better on Monday when he went back to school. In fact, he even managed a light workout in between plaudits from the school's students and faculty

Olds, one of 4,150 runners who started the marathon, was taking his newfound celebrity status in stride.

"I don't really live for this kind of attention, but I'm not complaining about it either," he said. "I've never really seen myself on TV before. I got a people in sports

call from a radio station at 6:20 (a.m. on Monday) and I don't even know what I said to them.

"I put in a regular day on Monday Everybody in the school congratulated me as if I was an old friend. It's a good way to meet people. The people in my class were really excited.

"I walked into the student commons room and everyone got up and clapped. The headmaster got up and presented me with a Cranbrook shirt.

"At home (in Forest Hills, about seven miles east of Pittsburgh), they know who I am," he said. "And, I guess they're starting to recognize me here

Olds started running eight years ago and has never quit.

A youthful-looking individual with dark hair, Olds began his self-confessed passion with running in high school. He continued the sport at Princeton, from where he was graduated this past June.

"RUNNING HAS become pretty important to me," said Olds, an assistant track and cross country coach at Cranbrook. "I run with the kids each day and I put in some running whenever I can find some free time.

"I like the racing aspect of running, but it's also just the aspect of doing it. A long, easy run for me is equivalent to a long, easy walk for most people. It's a great way to see things and it's a great way to chat if you're with someone.

"I run between 100-140 miles per week year around, and there's no way I'd do that if I didn't like it," he said.

By winning the Free Press marathon, Olds receives an all-expense paid trip to Beantown next spring for the prestigious Boston Marathon. Olds says he'll run in that race, but he's more concerned with the Olympic Trials which will be held in late May in "Making the Olympic trials is a real goal for me, but we're talking about an awfully fast time - something around 2:09. One of my main reasons for running is to make the Olympics - if not this year, then in '88.

"The kids (at Cranbrook) we're all asking if I was going to be in the Olympics," he said. "I don't think they realize that only three out of some 200 runners will make the (U.S.) team.'

BILL RODGERS, considered one of America's premier marathon runners, was a spectator at Sunday's Free Press event. Olds said some day he'd like his name to be mentioned in the same marathon breath as Rodgers.

"I keep improving and that's what keeps me going," said Olds. "That's how I can justify running as much as I do. Running deserves a big place for me right now.

"I've always looked up towards peo-ple like Bill (Rodgers)," he said. "I'm enthusaistic and I would like to be considered at his level at some point in my

It took him only two months to be recognized around here. Give Olds another couple years and he could be a household name across the country.

6th place not good enough for Dennis Kurtis

By Brad Emons staff writer

Livonia's Dennis Kurtis achieved his best finish ever in Sunday's Detroit Free Press Marathon, but he failed to meet his personal goals.

The 1972 Churchill High School graduate was sixth overall with a time of 2:24:31. Dave Olds, a teacher at Cranbrook in Bloomfield Hills, finished first with a time of 2:16.10.

"My time wasn't good enough to make the Olympic trials and I didn't win," Kurtis said.

To make next year's trials, marathoners must run 2:19:0 or less.

Kurtis has been close this year, running a 2:20 in Duluth, Minn., a 2:21 in Boston and a 2:24 in the British-American Marathon in London, England (which he won)

"I ran in the Montreal Marathon two weeks ago and halfway through I got very sick," Kurtis said. "I had to coast on in and I ran a 2:30. thought I was recovering very well, but I guess I wasn't recovered.

"Everything was going well through 16 miles, but at 21 miles I slowed down. My legs just seemed to give out and I had no energy."

KURTIS, a warm weather runner.

plans to give it another shot next month in a marathon in Tampa, Fla.

Within the next two weeks, Kurtis and his wife could be relocating to San Francisco. Kurtis is in the stage of taking a job with Ford Aerospace. "I hate to move because I've been in Michigan all my life," he said. "It will affect me as far as running.

"It will make me a better runner. The winters are not as cold and I'll be able to train year-round."

Former Schoolcraft College runner George Hudock of Westland was 22nd overall with a time of 2:29:57. He is a member of the Racquets Un-

"Going in I was not feeling well. I had caught a cold, but the day of the race I felt better.

"COMING OUT of the tunnel my right calf tightened. I was shooting for 2:26 and then I readjusted my goal at seven or eight miles. I guess my time wasn't too bad.'

Hudock's Racquets Unlimited teammate, Tobin Jones, also of Westland, finished 97th in 2:42.57.

Jones ran a 31:07 the day before to finish third in the Border Cities 6.2mile run in Windsor.

Hudock, a 1977 Franklin High School graduate, and Jones plan to run Nov. 27 in a Philadelphia, Pa. marathon.

PLYMOUTH CHRISTIAN 37 OAKLAND CHRIS-TIAN 36: Debbie Van Hoose sank two free throws with 1:09 left in the game to give Plymouth its fifth win of the season against four losses.

Van Hoose was hero in more than one sense. Not only did she lead all scorers with 15 points and sink the winning free throws, but her aggressive play underneath the basket forced Oakland into foul

Another key to the win was a defensive switch made by coach Jeff Cook late in the game. With just under four minutes left, Cook switched from a zone to man-to-man defense. The switch confused Oakland and kept them from scoring in the final minute of the game.

Colleen Carroll scored 11 for Plymouth. Oakland was led by Lisa Gendich's 12 points.

Plymouth Christian's next action is Friday at Southfield Christian.

Are sports worth the price at Schoolcraft?

ET'S PUT A pricetag on sports.
That's what this Schoolcraft College controversy is all about, after all.

And importance. Are local sports programs, and others such as adult community education and community services, at Schoolcraft College important enough to cough up extra

I think yes, but I realize it's a question with as many answers as an hourglass has grains of sand. If only you have time to listen to them.

Whatever the reasons for or against, don't be surprised if what is happening at Schoolcraft doesn't somehow make it to a vote of the people. Not right away, perhaps. But the fertilizer has been spread, and the crop it helps yield may turn up on a ballot.

IN REVIEW of what has happened at our local community college, it seems the college administration is searching for a place to put business offices and a computer center.

One place they are examining closely is the auxiliary gym. It isn't the only option, as school trustees were quick to point out to a crowd of 150 Tuesday night during a study session in Waterman Center

But as Dr. Conway Jeffress, vice president in charge of instruction, said, the more the problem is examined, the more attractive the auxiliary gym becomes as a possible location

THE REASON is lack of space. Jeffress said "half the people that want to get into word processing can't" because the school lacks an area big enough to accommodate the computer

Space has been an ongoing problem at Schoolcraft over the past few years, and not just for a computer center. The school's enrollment is near its peak, more than 9,000, which only adds to the problem.

Four times in the last dozen years, voters have turned down Schoolcraft requests for money to be earmarked for new construction.

NOW, LIKE A NAME from the past that dodges your searching memory, the unfolding scenerio seems reminiscent. Somewhere, somehow, all this is familiar.

And you know you'll recall why, sooner or later.

What's happening at Schoolcraft is what often happens when school districts are faced with loss of revenue.

The first thing to go is sports. Why? Because it's visible. People turn down tax increases, so district officials cancel high school sports. It doesn't really save much money, but officials can hide behind the "extracurricular" label tagged onto sports when they cut it. Like, "Anything extra must go.

THE PLOY at Schoolcraft fits that modus operandi. There's no loss of revenue at stake here. But with enrollment rising and classroom space shrinking, what better way to jolt the public than to threaten to curtail sports programs?

Why the auxiliary gym? Three reasons, Jeffress said: · First, the space needed for the new center is about 10,000 square feet. The gym is more than 19,000 square feet in size and could possibly be divided into two floors.

· Second, if an area must be converted, it should be handled with the least amount of disruption to the existing program. The auxiliary gym is not used that much for classes

Third, it must be cost-efficient.

The administrators are studying whether converting the auxiliary gym would be cost-efficient. They are comparing converting the gym with renting empty public schools or converting other buildings on campus

BE ASSURED cost is the issue here. Jeffress admitted money for new construction would solve many problems, including the current uproar involving conversion of the auxiliary

"We have many needs here," he said. "There are many programs that need new, adequate facilities. Performing arts, a women's resourse center, a day care center - there are many needs we just have no space for."

Add a computer center to the list. 'We have to look at the resources we have now before we can consider asking the public for construction funds," Jeffress said. "We would be doing them an injustice if we didn't."

AND THAT MAKES the athletic department the sacrificial lamb. Consider what would happen if no more money becomes available and the auxiliary gym is converted.

Those local residents who enjoy certain activities at Schoolcraft, such as the Sunday Health Club or community service programs, would discover the space for such activities curtailed. Large events, like volleyball tournaments, gymnastics meets and wrestling invitationals, would be Practices for athletic teams would be hindered. It could cause the cancellation of certain sports.

Jeffress does not agree that sports events would be significantly hindered. Any problems incurred would be no worse than other departments are being asked to shoulder.

'They'll have to pull in their belt and share the responsibilities" due to the lack of space, Jeffress said.

BUT IT JUST doesn't make sense, in the overall picture, to de-emphasize the sports programs. Dr. Marv Gans, the school's athletic director, has reached out to the community and become a top-notch PR man for the school.

He's brought Russian basketball teams and Dutch wrestlers to Livonia. Schoolcraft hosts an AAU All-Star basketball game with the best graduating high school seniors in the state competing. Soccer tournaments, like the Wolverine, attract the nation's top teams.

Would National Sports Festival officials still consider Schoolcraft as the site of the volleyball, soccer, field hockey and archery competitions if facilities were not available? Detroit is vying for the 1985, 1986 or 1987 games, and NSF officials have already visited ... Schoolcraft to determine its feasibility.

MONEY ISN'T the question here. Publicity is. If "Discover Michigan" promotors did as good a job as Gans does, our state would be overrun with

There's no doubt Schoolcraft athletic facilities attract people to the campus (example: the more than 1,800 who turned out for the Livonia Ladywood-Farmington Mercy girls high school basketball game 10 days ago). Cutting back could only hurt enrollment.

Which leaves us to ponder another type of "publicity." Idle thought or real possibility? Can the auxiliary gym be genuinely considered for something other than athletics?

I think not. I certainly hope not.

After the Plymouth-Canton Steeler junior league football teams won two of three from the Northville-Novi Colts Oct. 1, they came back last Sunday to take three from the Westland Comets.

The triple triumph was the first all season for the Steelers.

The freshman team won 14-6 as Chad Johnson was the hero. He scored both Steeler touchdowns on runs of 20 and 5 yards and scored both extra Johnson also recovered a fourth-quarter Comet fumble which set up his winning TD.

The junior varsity Steelers remained undefeated (5-0) by blanking the Comets, 7-0. The Steelers scored on their first offensive possession, taking the opening kickoff and driving 80 yards. Ed Bardelli scored the TD on a 16-yard run. Quarterback Kevin Stackpoole hit Scott Swartzwelter with a pass for the extra point.

This is a pivotal week of prep football for some area teams. That goes for the expert prognosticators as well. Some of the key match-ups could determine the state playoff picture.

The headline game is Walled Central at Farmington Harrison with both teams unbeaten. The Western Lakes foes are in opposite divisions, but this game should go along way in deciding the overall conference champion. That by no means counts unbeaten Plymouth Salem out. The Rocks will get their tests during the next three Another big game pits Boys Bowl foes Redford Catholic Central (3-2) and Birmingham Brother Rice (5-0). And yet another is Westland John Glenn (4-1) vs. North Farmington (3-2) for the Northwest Suburban League crown. Last week, Emons went 10-2 to raise his season-long record to 42-20. McCosky, meanwhile, went 9-3 and is now 39-23.

Here are this week's picks.

LIVONIA BENTLEY at PLYM-OUTH SALEM (7:30 p.m. Friday). The Bulldogs surprised Northville last week, while Salem blasted Farmington. The unbeaten Rocks should be leery if it goes down to the wire because Bentley kicker Chad Darke may come to the rescue Salem had its first "easy" game of the year last week, but coach Tom Moshimer said afterwards, "There are no easy ones in this league.

This certainly won't be easy, either. Picks - Salem gains two votes.

CLARENCEVILLE at HAM-TRAMCK (7:30 p.m. Friday). The Trojans got their offense moving last week against Lutheran West, but without quarterback Matt Pyle, who was injured after he led Clarenceville to its clobbered by second place Lutheran West. Picks - McCosky goes with Hamtramck, while Emons likes C'ville.

NORTHVILLE at LIVONIA CHURCHILL (7:30 p.m. Friday). Hopefully both teams have recovered from their shocking upsets last week.

Remember, Churchill won its only game of the season last year at the expense of Northville. Both have big lines. Picks - It's unanimous - North-

LIVONIA FRANKLIN at RED-FORD UNION (7:30 p.m. Friday). RU is coming off it first win, while Franklin was pushed out of the NSL race last week by North Farmington.

RU has tight end Ken Atwood back, while Franklin's Jekyll and Hyde defense could be a key. Picks - The coin please. McCosky takes Franklin, while Emons goes with an RU homecoming PLYMOUTH CANTON at WALLED LAKE WESTERN (7:30 p.m. Friday at Walled Lake Central). This is a battle of cellar dwellers.

Canton was annihilated by No. 1 ranked Farmington Harrison 55-7 last week, but the Chiefs did manage to break Harrison's consecutive scoreless quarter streak at 15.

Western, meanwhile, took care of Churchill. Picks - Emons goes with the hot team - Western. McCosky sticks with the Chiefs.

BISHOP BORGESS VS. HARPER WOODS BISHOP GALLAGHER (7:30 p.m. Friday at GC Junior High). The Spartans continue to roll and should make it No. 6 against Gallagher, the weakest team in the Catholic League's strong Central Division.

The only thing stopping Borgess this week is looking ahead to Rice and Warren DeLaSaile. Picks - Both like Borgess in a walk.

LIVONIA STEVENSON at FARM-Hamtramck, meanwhile, was INGTON (2 p.m. Saturday). Stevenson ran into a powerhouse last week in its 30-0 loss to Walled Lake Central.

Farmington, meanwhile, was taking

GARDEN CITY at REDFORD THURSTON (1 p.m. Saturday). The Cougars' backfield is hurting.

Thurston has played well at home during its last two games, beating Western and almost defeating Franklin. Picks - Both like GC, but not by WESTLAND JOHN GLENN at NORTH FARMINGTON (2 p.m. Saturday). The once wide-open NSL race boils down to this match-up.

North will have to play much better than they did against Franklin last week. They escaped with a 14-6 victory. Ken Goss, North's power back, has been getting stronger with every week.

Goss needs to have a big day to offset the potent Glenn backfield of Tony Boles and Craig Thornton. Picks — Emons stands by Glenn, while McCosky likes the Raiders.

WALLED LAKE CENTRAL at FARMINGTON HARRISON (2 p.m. Saturday). Both teams are fine-tuned for this one.

Harrison has been championship tested, while Central is new to something like this . . . probably the game of the week and maybe the season. Get your seat early. Picks -McCosky says Harrison makes it 29 in a row, while Emons goes with an upset and takes Walled Lake. CATHOLIC CENTRAL vs. BIR-MINGHAM BROTHER RICE (1 p.m. Sunday at EMU's Rynearson Stadium). How long can Rice keep making the big

The team with more imagination should win, but both teams like to slug it out in the trenches. CC doesn't like backing down a bit. Smell an upset? Picks - McCosky and Emons like CC barely

ST. AGATHA vs. OUR LADY OF THE LAKES (2:30 p.m. Saturday at Waterford Kettering). The young Aggies got a break last week in their schedule, beating St. Florian for their second win.

Lakes is leading C Bracket of the Catholic League's C-D Division with a 3-0 record and is unbeaten overall. Picks - Lakes takes the cake.

John Gelmisi pumped in three goals, two in the first half, as Livonia Stevenson powered past Birmingham Groves, 5-1, in a state pre-regional contest Monday at Stevenson.

In another pre-regional contest Monday, Livonia Bentley grabbed a 2-1 lead at the half and made it stand up to beat Dearborn at Dearborn.

Gelmisi's first half scores helped Stevenson take a 4-1 halftime advantage. Rob Costanza and Eric Pence also tallied for the Spartans, with each earning an assist during the game. Doug Solomon got Groves' only goal. Gelmisi's second-half score gave him 22 goals for the season.

the momentum for victory. The Pioneers scored in the first four minutes of the contest, but the Bulldogs' Dennis Patchett knotted it on a penalty kick 19 minutes into the game.

Jim Raderdack got the game winner five minutes before halftime on a 35yard direct free kick.

Bentley advances to play the winner of the Redford Catholic Central-Redford Bishop Borgess contest, which will be played at 4 p.m. Tuesday at Bell Creek Park. The CC-Borgess winner will play at Bentley at 4 p.m. Oct. 21.

CHURCHILL 1, FRANKLIN 0: Dave Gluth punched in a short-range shot from out of a scramble in front of the Livonia Franklin net to lift Livonia Churchill to victory at home Tuesday.

It was a defensive game, with the Chargers' Sam Matovski splendid in goal and fullbacks Mike Duckworth, John Spaccarotella and Mike Nordelli

GARDEN CITY 3, OAK PARK 0: Paul Pummill pounded in his 23rd and 24th goals of the season and added an assist as Garden City won for the 11th time in 12 games this season Tuesday

Jeff Felts notched the Cougars second goal of the game. Brian Deal, Ron Kasperek and Bill Hyde added assists. Jeff Guido and Brian Hall combined for the shutout in the nets.

SALEM 3, HARRISON 1: Randy

Johnson and Matt Crook each scored one goal and assisted on another in Plymouth Salem's win at Farmington Harrison Tuesday.

The Rocks fired 33 shots at the Harrison net. Kevin Sultana got the third Salem score, while goalie Joe Knoerl was called on to make just three saves. On Monday, Salem bombed Livonia Franklin 10-0 behind Johnson's four goals and three by Crook at Salem.

Sultana, Evan Nash and Mark Flowers accounted for the other Rock scores. John Geddes, Jeff Neschich and John Kolb had two assists apiece, while Knoerl and Curt Clarke split the goalkeeping duties.

Last Saturday, the Rocks weren't as fortunate, dropping a 3-1 decision to undefeated Toledo St. John's at Salem. The Titans' Pat Mannion scored the game's only goal of the first half, but Crook tied it 21 minutes into the second half. It didn't stay that way long, however, as Doug Mitchell put St. John's back on top with a 15-yard poke off a crossing pass five minutes later.

Mike Mason added an insurance score for St. John's (13-0-1). Shots were even in the game at 13-all.

CC outshot the Thunderbirds, 30-8, with goalie Bob Sinnaeve earning his first shutout of the season. Rama's goal spree ran his scoring total to 25 for the season, with 11 assists.

No letdown as Borgess bombs Irish, 28-0

Bishop Borgess football coach Gary Cook was concerned about his next opponent after his team upset backyard rival Catholic Central the week before. But his worst fears were erased Saturday as the Spartans rolled to their fifth straight victory, a 28-0 Central Division triumph over Harper Woods Notre Dame at Garden City Junior High School (Old West).

It was Borgess' eighth straight win and third shutout of the season.

"We played pretty well," said Cook. "I was worried about a letdown, but the kids came out and played well."

Borgess got on the scoreboard in the first quarter on a 13-yard touchdown run by fullback Tim Walton. That was followed by TD runs of 73 yards by Fred Owens, and 56 yards by Chuck Gregory, giving the Spartans a 18-0 halftime lead.

In the third quarter, Gregory fired a 61-yard TD pass to Fred Portillo. That was followed by a 21-yard field goal by Joe Burns in the final quarter.

Owens, a junior tailback, finished with 123 yards in 15 carries. He has 666 yards on the season for a 9,0 rushing average and six TDs. Cook was pleased by the balanced offensive attack as Walton added 74 and Gregory 54 yards on the ground. Gregory also hit five of six passes for 128 yards as Borgess racked up 411 total vards.

Defensively, the Spartans held Notre Dame to 197 total yards.

Walton led the way with 11 tackles and Leroy Woods added six tackles, including two sacks. Borgess had five sacks on the day.

Cornerback Gorde Pacheco also had an excellent day, limiting ND's out-standing receiver Brian Graham to two

John Schesperkin and Robertson led the defense, which held Florian to 137

1-1 in C Bracket play and 2-3 overall. The Aggies travel Sunday to face C Bracket leader Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes, unbeaten in five starts.

"They beat Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard 14-8 and we lost to Richard 14-6," Goddard said. "We think we're capable of beating them, but we can't make mistakes. We should have beaten Richard. We inside the 10 three times and didn't score.

"We're starting seven sophomores and we're getting a little better each week."

Goddard said that Lakes runner Bob Schuster "is a great back" and coach Mike Boyd "is one of the best in the Catholic League.

"They're not big and not that quick," said Goddard of his next opponent. "But they just don't beat themselves. That's why they're rated No. 5 in Class

Is buying mortgage life insurance your wisest move?

If you are like most homeowners, you probably have yielded to market pressures and have bought mortgage insurance. This article may help you re-examine your decision.

Mortgage life insurance is simply decreasing term insurance, the most inexpensive type there is. With decreasing term, the face-value — or benefit that would be paid at death diminishes over the years but premium payments stay the same.

This decreasing face-value feature is appropriate because the balance owed on the loan steadily drops.

THE PREMIUMS are, as a rule, added to the monthly mortgage payments. Medical examinations usually are not required. Policies that cover both spouses are sold.

These are some of the advantages of mortgage life insurance. However, there are several disadvantages as well, as detailed below:

· Your family might have no control over the proceeds. Under the typical policy, the money would go directly to the mortgage lender for retiring the Paying off the mortgage might not be in your survivors' best interest. It could be advantageous to invest any finances and you on the loan - especially if the interest rate is low.

A loan that is assumable could increase the property's value and make it easier to sell. Also, paying the balance would wipe out the federal income tax deduction for interest.

• The insurance would not pay for taxes, upkeep and other costs of maintaining the home.

IF YOU WANT additional insurance, you could probably get a better deal by buying decreasing term directly from an insurance company of your choice. The cost could be lower, and you would choose the terms and be able to choose who you want to be the beneficiary.

Most mortgage life sold through lenders is group insurance. A group policy may be cheaper than some individual policies, but people who are low risks because of good health or living habits are lumped together with every-

With an individual policy, by contrast, you may get a substantial discount if you are a non-smoker and are

So the moral is clear: On balance, you are much better off acquiring life insurance as part of an overall plan, rather than buying mortgage life insurance merely to take care of your mortgage loan.

Put differently, you should look at your entire financial requirements and figure total life insurance needs. That is by far a much better alternative than merely to take care of your mortgage

Road board using fly ash as pavement base

A demonstration project for using in-dustrial smokestack fly ash for a road pavement base is being conducted by the Oakland County Road Commission.

Although it was used successfully in West Virginia, this is the first test where fly ash base will be used on a major road pounded by heavy trucks, subjected to freeze-thaw cycle ground conditions and to pavement de-icing with rock salt in winter.

We ought to be thinking of good ways to use fly ash rather than filling landfills with it," said Dan Oberst, testing engineer with the Oakland County Road Commission.

"We expect to be able to prove fly ash to be equal to coarse asphalt black base, and thus be justified to use it as an equal in the future," he said.

"THIS COULD provide savings for society in the future, in direct cost of pavement base and in avoiding utitilty rate increases," said John L. Grubba, Road Commission managing director. Being located in the Detroit metro-

THIS HIKER'S first candidate for a fall color tour is to start at Bishop Lake in the Brighton State Recreation Area, just a few miles west-southwest of the I-96/US-23 interchange in Livingston County.

Two trails start at the picnic grounds on Bishop Lake Road - the two mile Kahchin Trail and the five mile Penosha Trail.

"Nothing unusual," says Bill Simon, park manager of the 5,000-acre Brighton Recreation Area — and that is just the point. It's vintage Michigan: gravel based hills formed by the glaciers, old ponds that have become meadows, pines and other conifers, all the basic hardwoods, deer, small ground animals and birds.

At several places there are signs pointing to a "scenic point." Take the severa extra steps to see them. They open out on broad vistas of greens, yel-

Star describes play as message of love

staff writer

CTOR JOHN AMOS, starring in "'Master Harold' . . . and the boys" at the Birmingham Theatre, described the play's message as he sees its:

"It's about love between three individuals when the relationship is jeopardized without outside pressures," he said, during an interview backstage in his dressing room Tuesday morning.

The show opened in Birmingham at a benefit performance hosted by the Oakland County ACLU and civil rights leaders. Its run will continue through Nov. 6

Wearing a plaid shirt and jeans and a casual hat, Amos strode to the dressing room window on arrival, opening it to the sounds of construction work going on in what formerly was a parking lot behind the theater.

The fresh air outweighed the minor noise disturbance.

THE POWERFULLY built actor, who was at one time a professional football player, has also been a social worker, a stand-up comedian and TV comedy writer before becoming an actor. His many performances include the memorable role of Kunte Kinte in the TV mini-series "Roots."

Amos said "'Master Harold,'" the play by Athol Fugard, is "beautifully written. These are the best words I've ever had to say. I'd read and heard about his work. But it's different whey you're acting. You try to give it a little

He is pleased with the ensemble acting he shares with Paul Butler as Willie and Brian Backer as Hally. Amos is Sam, who works with Willie in the South African tearoom run by the teenage schoolboy's mother.

"We're fortunate to have Suzanne Shepherd as director," he said. "She knows the play so well. Shepherd has directed the South African company production of "'Master Harold." and Athol are very good friends," he

Amos talked freely about his working relationship with his co-stars. "It's a real relationship between three actors," he explained. "Paul Butler has a son in Yale Law School. I have a 13year-old boy and a 17-year-old girl. We can see him (young Brian Backer) as parents, being older actors."

HE RECALLED an earlier performance of the play before an audience of some 35 casting directors. "Brian was so terrified. He thought he was going to the electric chair! He showed his sensi-

Amos had done some run-throughs of the play in a rehearsal hall but found it especially challenging to fill in for James Earl Jones, who has been starring in the Toronto company of "'Master Harold."

"'Master Harold' . . . and the boys" is a powerful drama, flawlessly acted by an outstanding cast at the Birming-

South African playwright Athol Fugard hones his messages to sharp barbs, not to prick at conscience but to drive them home like stakes aimed at a vampire's heart.

Set in a dreary South African tearoom in 1950, "Master Harold" examines the fragile relationship between a troubled white adolescent (Brian Backthe two blacks Aware of Hally's pain, he becomes his friend, confidante and substitute father figure. He is well aware of the uniqueness of their relationship and its er) and the two black men (John Amos and Paul Butler) employed at his

After a disturbing phone call from his mother, Hally's mood starts to vacillate. His high-spirited clowning with Sam and Willie is interrupted by compulsive urges to assert his dominance and superiority. Hally reminds his black friends to "act your age" and quarrelsomely orders them back to their work.

A second phone call confirms that Hally's drunken, crippled father has re-turned home from the hospital. Hally unleashes his pent-p anger and frustrais the more worldly and assertive of tion at Sam, transfering to the black man his love-hate relationship with his

> In his anguish, Hally slides naturally into the racial slurs that have been culturally engrained. It is a shattering moment for both Sam and Hally, for each has lost something irretrievable.

AMOS IMBUES Sam with great warmth, wisdom and emotional clarity. Like the ballroom dancing contests that attract Sam and Willie, Sam sees his relationship with Hally as a brief dream of "a world without collision." Amos' relaxed, low-key approach in the beginning works wonderfully to enhance the impact of his explosive confrontations with Hally later on.

Backer's Hally is riveting and mercurial, ebullient with good nature one minute, vicious and racist the next. Once the delicate links with Sam are severed, Backer's body English says he is a little boy who knows he has done something dreadful and cannot deal with the consequences.

He sits like a crumpled rag doll, face etched with pain, wringing his hands. :

As Willie, Butler's expressive face-conveys his fondness for Hally and his hurt and grief at the ugly turn events have taken. Willie is a simple man, resigned to his poverty and the inequities of his society. Butler must spend a good at deal of the play on his knees scrubbing the floor, but that submissive position never diminishes his dignity.

Among the many musical events our area is blessed with is a series offered at the Jewish Community Center in West Bloomfield. Last Sunday marked the opening of the 44th season of the series, featuring the Center Symphony Orchestra and talented local solists.

The person behind this series is Julius Chajes, whose outstanding qualifications include composing, conducting and playing the piano. This event featured the last two categories, but his ability as a composer, judging by previous exposure to some of his compositions is substantial and impressive budget and relies heavily on individual contribution. While a low budget inevi-tably poses some problems, Chajes and the musicians don't let these problems bog them down. The quality and stan-dard of most events is uncompromis-

WHAT'S IT WORTH? A ratings guide to the movies

Paul Newman can play just about anything, from a con man to a lawyer, to Buffalo Bill, but he leaves something to be desired as private eye Lou Harper in "The Drowning Pool," from the novel by Ross McDonald. Private eyes have rough edges, but Newman lost his unhewn image some time after "Cool Hand Luke." And you can't make a sow's ear out of a silk purse, try as Newman might. Even so, mystery buffs ought to get a charge out of this otherwise engaging film. Joanne Woodward co-stars.

Cecil B. DeMille's "Greatest Show" is far from being the greatest movie on earth, but it's fun to revel in C.B.'s garish concepts of (over)acting, scene setting and direction. This is a gaudy picture made laughable at times by the melodramatic performances DeMille wrangles out of Charleton Heston, James Stewart, Cornel Wilde, Betty that the sophistication of a city is determined in part by the number and quality of the wine bars it can support. Meccas of consumption like New York. San Francisco and Chicago boast several each. Classy.

New wine bar puts Clarkston on map

Detroit, however, claims none. The London Chop House asserted a few years ago that it was about to set one up but never did. Wine bars are not easy to find. Check Las Vegas, Philadelphia, Boston, New Orleans, Atlanta; you'll find a few.

Check our own Clarkston, however and — since early June — there you'll find one. A most legitimate one at that.

The Cookery is on Main Street in the stylistic shopping center that most recently housed Foxy's. It is the creation of Ned Barker, recently of Holiday Inns and the University of Michigan.

"I GOT OUT of the chain restaurant business because they didn't do enough with wine," he said. "I love wine as much as I love food." His restaurant menu reflects that.

The new fall menu (there are to be four each year, changing with the seasons) has just been issued and it contains 24 California table wines. In addition, there are two sparklers and four "house" wines, plus a few beers (including Chelsea's own Real Ale and Stout). There also is a full bar.

The 24 table wines are all kept under nitrogen in a gismo that forces the tasteless gas into the opened bottle under pressure, assuring safe storage once it is open. This machine, which is what makes a real wine bar, is made in Pittsburgh by Wineco. Wholly functional in design, it gets the job done.

Current wine choices include William Hill and Guenoc cabernet; Alexander Valley and Firestone pinot noir and Devlin zinfandel, along with chardonnay by Wheeler, St. Andrews, Cakebread and Chateau St. Jean; riesing by Edmeades, Gundlach-Bundschu and Zaca Mesa. There are three sauvignon blancs, a chenin and a gewurztraminer

Barker draws on a variety of distrib-utors to create his list, not being con-tent to let a single distributor fully "set him up," an all-too common occurrence in the restaurant trade.

He seeks out foods from a variety of sources as well, always looking for the unusual as well as for quality. A special honey for his duckling ("browns it beautifully"), dried morels and buffalo sausage (in mushroom caps, wrapped in bacon) all come from Petoskey, and he offers, at 95 cents a glass, pure water from Tahquamenon Falls.

ALL BREADS are baked on the premises, and there are tortes, cheesecake, a whiskey pudding and a huge individual, freshly baked apple pie for ssert. Early, limited sampling of the kitchen's efforts are all positive and encouraging. Prices for dinners are $8.50 to $13.50, most reasonable.

"We wanted to do something special to get people to drive out here," hence the wine bar and the unusual focus on regional foods from Michigan, Barker

And he has company now in the quest to make Main Street, Clarkston, U.S.A., fine dining area. Just south of the Cookery is an even newer place, McGillacutty's. Owner Jim Kaminski has hewn his basement dining area out of a true Michigan basement. Future plans call for additional small seating areas on the first and second floors and now include patio dining in season.

The Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford production of "Star Spangled Girl" continues at 8 p.m. Friday-Saturday and Oct. 21-22 at the playhouse at 15138 Beech Daly Road, just south of Five Mile Road, in Redford. To reserve tickts at $5 call 522-8057.

By Debi Bareamian special writer

You'll be frustrated by the Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford's production of Neil Simon's comedy "The Star-Spangled Girl." Some fine elements undermined by basic flaws in original analysis have made this potentially good production a near miss.

"Star-Spangled Girl" is not the best of Simon's high comedies. It's not so much one of his poignant commentaries on the modern-day dilemma as it is an old-fashioned love story. For community theater, however, it should prove an evening of pleasant entertainment. The play presents a crazy love triangle complicated by a conflict between the political leanings of the intended romantic duo.

In any case, it should be noted that dialogue is Simon's main vehicle in revealing character and, in Simon's better comedies, revealing his world view. The humor in the dialogue is dependent on his one-liners being delivered with zest and energy.

Dialogue is, therefore, the one element of any Simon play that should be Director Lois Tobin neglects to stress the importance of line delivery, timing and climax. The quality of the entire production suffers as a result.

THIS ONE oversight in the direction given the performers is unfortunate. There is one strength that does help to compensate for this weakness. Tobin is absolutely precise in character analysis. Her performers present a consist-ent understanding of their characters' purpose and intent.

John R. Hall is very good as the pro-tagonist, Andy Hobart. He is serious and purposeful. Hall is a solid straight man for the antics of his crazy roommate and business partner, Norman.

Dan Zelazny, in the role of Norman, can be quite entertaining. He can be a believably eccentric and funny genius. I should mention that it does take some time for Zelazny's zany character to evolve. There are also moments when Zelazny doesn't appear to be complete-ly comfortable with his character's Judie Rosati portrays Sophie Rauschmeyer, the love interest of the two roommates. The energy level of the entire production increases with her first entrance. She is wonderful. Rosati's enthusiasm is contagious. You'll be thoroughly entertained by her performance.

Rosati does have an idiosyncrasy that is disconcerting. She has a tendency to let her eyes stray. She does not look directly at the person to whom she delivers her line. In a small theater,

review

like that of the Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford, it is a particularly distracting habit.

ONE ALSO HAS to question the decision that Rosati wear wigs during per-formances. In "The Star-Spangled Girl," it is essential that Sophie Rauschmeyer be blonde. Rosati is not. In that intimate house, one can never lose sight of those wigs. It's asking too much of an audience to believe those wigs are natural hair.

Fred Button can be congratulated for his set design. The set is functional and effective. More might have been done to imply the radical political views of its inhabitants. It does, however, lend itself to the action of the play.

One nice touch is that theme music can be heard before the opening, during the intermission and during scene changes. The music is love ballads or patriotic in nature. Some of the selections are rather dour and do not always augment the upbeat nature of the com-edy. Its use at the end of the play is great. It adds to an original and creative finish.

As always at The Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford, auxiliaries are competant and responsible. One can sense the enthusiasm and support these people provide.

If you're looking for the fast-paced, lively humor a Neil Simon play can offer, you're bound to be disappointed. If you want to see a play produced and presented in a near-professional manner with moments of fine acting, you may be impressed.

Turning over a new leaf with wreaths

Kay Moilanen, who teaches how to make wreaths, centerpieces and other arrangements in her home, adds more ribbon to another beautiful wreath (above). And with a final snip (right), she completes another wreath that can hang almost anywhere, almost anytime of the year. This one features ribbons, flowers and Spanish moss.

By Mary Klemic

Those who think wreaths are for Christmastime, and then only on doors and over fireplaces, may be surprised by a visit to Kay Moilanen's home. Wreaths are in evidence at Moilanen's Livonia home year 'round, not only on the door and over the fireplace, but just about anywhere you could imagine as well. They're not just green and red, but every color of the spec-

"You can use any color combinations, for Christmas or all year," Moilanen said. "Your imagination can really play an important part of it."

FROM HER home, Moilanen teaches classes on how to make wreaths, centerpieces and other arrangements. She also prepares arrangements for custom orders, weddings and bazaars. Moilanen calls her business "Country ments aren't going to look like mine," she said. "But I tell them, 'This isn't a production line.

"You cannot make a mistake with these. Everything can be moved or adjusted slightly," Moilanen continued. "About 19 out of 20 people who were worried about taking the class end up happy with what they make."

The popularity of wreaths around the home was rejuvenated with the American Bicentennial, according to Moilanen. She said wreaths were often displayed in homes in colonial times.

A VISITOR to the Moilanen home at any season is greeted with a colorful wreath at the front door.

"I keep a wreath on the front door all year," Moilanen said. "Silk flowers last a long time. So do plastic flowers. The sun doesn't bother them, and if they get wet, that doesn't bother them.'

One wreath, with red and plaid ribbons circling a ring of baby's breath, hangs in Moilanen's red kitchen. At holiday time, she adds an angel ornament in the center of the wreath to give it a Christmasy air.

This cheery wreath, fashioned from baby's breath and red and plaid ribbon, goes well with the red walls and country touches in Kay Moilanen's kitchen. At Christmastime she adds an angel ornament to the wreath.

Wreaths made of grapevine are popular, according to Moilanen. These wreaths can be dressed up with pine cones, plastic ornaments or flowers.

MOILANEN LIKES to give a "country touch" to some wreaths by adding ribbons or such ornaments as cookie cutters. She has made a "kitchen wreath," one that bears little wooden utensils, raspberries and strawberries.

Wreaths can complement any type of furniture, Moilanen believes. She suggested that the color of the drapes and walls of a room be considered when deciding on the color of a wreath for that Moilanen removes dust from her indoor wreaths by brushing them with a soft paint brush or shaking them. She keeps some wreaths out of direct sunlight so their ribbons and flowers won't

Besides grapevines, Moilanen makes the bases for her wreaths out of wire, straw and Styrofoam. Her largest wreaths measure between 21/2 and 3 "It depends on the overall look," she said. "If the base is going to be covered, I might use Styrofoam or wire."

Moilanen obtains her supplies from local wholesalers. She provides all the materials for her classes. Each session features one item and runs between two and three hours. Students pay a fee for each class, ranging from $9 to $30.

"People know that they can come here and make an entire arrangement at one session," Moilanen said.

Moilanen became interested in making wreaths and other arrangments some eight years ago, when she took a class in dried flower arrangements.

"There was a six-month waiting list for one class," she recalled. "I attempted to teach my neighbors what I had learned. I started making my own ideas up and it grew from that.

NOW MOILANEN keeps busy with her classes, held both in the morning and evening, and filling custom orders. "It's all through word of mouth," she said. "I don't ever advertise." Moilanen holds an open house in the fall and spring, at which she displays and sells samples of her work throughout her home "The idea is to show them in the setting you would make them for," she

Things that go bump in airbrush classes

This is another in a series of lessons on art and drawing by special columnist David Messing. He has taught for eight years art store, Art Store and More, 18774 Middle-belt, Livonia. Messing ecourages questions and comments from readers. You may write him at his store or c/o Observer Newspapers, 23352 Farmington Road, Farmington MI

By David P. Messing special writer

OOPS! is an exclamation you would never want to hear during surgery. Although oops! is one of the exclamations I often hear in my airbrush classes.

You may know by now that there are a multitude of opportunities to goof with an airbrush. At the top of the long list of goofs most common to man (better make that persons) is the "catch your foot in hose" complaint.

This is the most common reason for breaking an airbrush. The six- to 10foot hose is usually looped on the floor or over your knee and in the throes of creative expression it is easy to forget about the airbrush.

So you move or nudge or twist or bump however it happens, it is always unexpected and unwanted, but your airbrush somehow gets knocked to the

The first time I knocked my airbrush to the floor, it seemed like it fell in slow motion. Before it hit the floor I thought of how could I afford to fix it when I spent all my money buying it? What was I going to do to finish my painting? How could I tell my wife I broke my airbrush?

Fortunately it was OK and I did the only thing there is to do to make sure that it didn't happen again. I bought an airbrush hanger which cost about 75

Actually a hanger is only a prevention. I am sure many readers have managed to nudge their airbrush right out of the hanger. I would like to dedicate that last sentence to Heidi, who after making payments on her airbrush, finally purchased her VL Paasche, walked back to my class, hooked up her brush and straightaway dropped and broke it.

NEXT ON the list is the "too much paint in too little space" syndrome or the "centipede city" painter. With a single-action airbrush, it is important to stay the right distance away from the paper or board.

For example, if you are too close, too much paint will collect on the board Artifacts and the air will blow little rivers of companied by a nervous scribble-patpaint out of the excess. This also hap-terned stroke. Remember, depress the pens if you do not move across the area fast enough. The result is a line with many little rivers of paint branching out on either side looking much like a centipede. This is an even greater problem with those owning a dual-action airbrush. For this reason, I have noticed at the outset, those owning a single action seem to have an easier time doing the lessons than those with a dual action. Here is the cure for "centipede city." Place your second digit on the button rather than your finger tip. It takes a much greater effort to pull your finger back, which seems to give you more "play" with the button. The finger tip is too flexible and gives you too much pull on demand.

I guarantee it will feel awkward at first but I also guarantee it will help. Third in the list of goofs would have to be the "staccato scribble stroke."

This mistake I often hear before I can see. In the class with everyone making long continous sprays sometimes I will hear a rapid pss . pss . . . pss . . . this is often ac-

Of course there are too many goofs to list, but some noteworthy mistakes are "chief spray in the face," "splatter on the pants," "dirty tip blues" and 'clean it later complainer.

I FEEL that ink is the best medium to use with an airbrush while you are learning. It is thin and gives you no trouble becoming atomized. It is rich in coverage, which is important so you can see what pattern you are spraying.

Ink cleans easily out of the airbrush and usually a quick rinse with water will do. Most inks are transparent, but with airbrush, transparency is of little use. Because of the nature of the spray, even opaque colors take on a form of transparency.

Higgens recently came out with a line of opaque pigmented inks which are my favorite for teaching. Dyes are too expensive to learn with. I remember one father and son to whom I recommended dyes.

The father returned the next day, somewhat heated, and said his son emptied this bottle in about 20 seconds of spraying. It is, of course, true in many areas of life, the less you know the more you waste.

So in the beginning it is more sensible to waste three ounces of ink at $1.55 than to waste one ounce at $1.40.

to turn to gouche and/or dyes. With gouche you will encounter the "dirty tip blues" if you fail to thoroughly clean your airbrush after every session.

But I am a realistic person and I know that if your painting turns out great, you snap it off the easel and go show your critics, leaving a loaded airbrush behind.

Likewise, if your painting goes into the circular file or in the bottom of the bird cage, you walk away head drooped, again leaving a loaded airbrush behind. Days later you return to find your color cop is now welded into the airbrush, and Dick the Bruiser couldn't pull the button back.

Good thing airbrushes are hardy and with a sufficient cleaning can be restored to usefulness. Learn to take your airbrush apart and nine times out of ten you will find your own problems and save costly repair bills.

The "Quest for Unity" show at the Detroit Institute of Arts is likely to be the one you'll wish you'd gone to see.

Unlike the Matisse or Art Treasures of the Kremlin, it doesn't reach out and pull you into the museum by the sheer strength of the subject matter.

It's softer, gentler and decidedly more subtle in its approach. And it could be the title, "The Quest for Unity: American Art between the World's Fairs 1876-1893" is a bit wordy and not graphic enough. Maybe
"March from Victoriana," "World, Here We Come" or "Growin' Up and Movin' Out" would have snagged them, but I doubt it. It's a difficult show to name because it has so many concurrent themes running through it.

It's not just one artist or one collection it's how American artists and tastemakers turned the corner just before the turn of the century and why.

The country was changing rapidly. It had just come through one of the most corrupt periods of national leadership (U.S. Grant) which was to be followed by relatively lackluster administrations through the end of BUSINESS and industry were expanding at unbelievable speed championed by leaders such as Cornelius Vanderbilt, John D. Rockefeller, Andrew Carnegie, J.P. Morgan and Andrew W. Mellon.

The aesthetic tastes, so strongly influenced by the Victorian style at the beginning of the "Quest for Unity" period (1876) shifted by the end of that period (1893). As fascinating as anything in the show are the harbingers of what was to come. The signs and signals are all there if one cares to second guess the Victorians.

Whistler's "Nocturne in Black and Gold: The Falling Rocket" as well as the sketch for "Nocturne in Blue and Gold: Valparaiso Bay" certainly opened the door of the semi-abstract approach to nature.

The lovely celedon tea set from the Chel-sea Ceramic Art Works with its strong geometrics and hammered motif surface seems more architectural than anything else. Seen for the first time during the 1876 Phildelphia exhibition, it must have shocked viewers who were accustomed to vining flower and leaf designs, heavy with curves and ornate decoration.

PAINTER Elihu Vedder in his oil, "The Soul in Bondage," was already making the strong, linear statements that were later to be associated with Art Nouveau.

Still, viewers who don't want to play intellectual clue games, who just go for the pure aesthetic enjoyment will find much to occupy their eyes and minds.

While there are no weak places in the show and the paintings alone are worth the price of admission, the inclusion of some wonderful moasics, exquisite fireplace screens and stained-glass windows by the great Louis Comfort Tiffany is, indeed, exciting. They're so beautiful, so oppulent, it's no wonder the art of stained glass is once again popular. And the fact that they are from the Havemeyer House of Ann Arbor makes them even more relevant to Michigan viewers.

Makes one wonder what other architectual treasures are to be found close at hand.

The "Quest for Unity" continues through October. There's an outstanding catalog ($29.95) with the show. So far it's had good attendance from groups, but there's haven't been any long waiting lines. There should be plenty of opportunity for leisurely browsing unless business suddenly gets brisk.

Airbrush bumps

I ONCE had a student say "I want to learn to airbrush but I don't want to cut stencils" I told him if he still had his receipt, he could probably get a full refund for his airbrush. You see, very little airbrushing is done free hand.

You need to use stencils - no matter how fine a line you can achieve with your airbrush. Paintings without the use of templates, stencils or friskets are too soft and make you rub your eyes in an effort to focus properly on the art work.

The name frisket probably has a great meaning in some other language but to me it sounds like something I could have with coffee and a little peanut butter. But frisket is a thin masking paper for blocking out areas from over spray.

For example: let's say I snapped a picture of grandpa and that turned out to be the first time he ever really had both eyes opened at the same time. But in the background was a crooked lampshade, someone's T-shirt on the chair and the dog ran by as the shutter was snapped.

No problem: Simply put frisket over grandpa, carefully cut along his outline, then peel off any excess. Now spray out the chaotic background and airbrush in studio lighting.

It took a to build The Village.

Opening of some Grand Condominiums. Three years of planning and research. One year on the drawing board. Architects, land planners, interior designers and the Herman Frankel Organization changed and molded, added innovations, chose and discarded until perfection was satisfied.

Now you can see perfection.

Six marvelous condominiums for a perfect lifestyle. Architecture reflects the charm and detailing of another era. Touches of fieldstone, textured roofs and elegant trims are a welcome relief to the starkness so often seen. And Inside ... Great Rooms for multi-purpose living, exciting kitchens with European styled formica cabinets, butler's pantry, spacious baths, romantic balconies. Countless details to delight and excite. The Village is a small gem set in a pocket of privacy with the added security and services afforded by the Pebble Creek gatehouse. It is the last and most enchanting part of this established community.

It's perfect.
