Board returns administrators' contract

Unionized administrators still are without a contract in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

Monday night the school board decided not to ratify a tentative agreement reached between its negotiators and the Plymouth Congress of Administrators (PCA) and instructed its bargaining team to go back to the table.

However, the board voted to give administrators a 3-percent increase in salary for 1983-84 with retroactive payments being made before the end of the year.

Trustees did not have any objections to the terms for the first two years of the proposed three-year pact, but balked at agreeing to the third-year

Norman Kee, assistant superintendent for personnel, noted that the PCA is the only remaining employee group working without a contract. He added that the union also was the only one which did not strike this fall.

The PCA is bargaining agent for administrators such as principals, assistant principals, area coordinators and other managers but does not represent central office administrators.

THE TENTATIVE agreement included the following economic pack-

A 3-percent wage increase for '83-84 and a 6-percent hike for '84-85 with administrators at the top of the scale receiving an additional 1 percent for the final six months of 1985 (the same economic offer given teachers and other

In addition, the proposed agreement provided that the board would agree to think about improving fringe benefits for 1984-85 and, for 1985-86, would improve the administrators' salaries relative to other districts.

The last provision created resistance from the school board.

During negotiations the PCA had provided the school board with a printout of the salary schedules of 12 nearby school districts. The list included some of the higher-paid districts such as Livonia and Wayne-Westland and some of the lower-paid districts such as Walled Lake and Redford Union, Supt. Dr. John M. Hoben said. Plymouth-Canton administrators ranked 12th on

The PCA bargaining team wanted the school board to use that list of 12 districts in 1985-86 to improve the standing of Plymouth-Canton administrators. "I interpret that to mean that moving up to the 11th position would be an improvement," said Hoben. "The PCA wants to see some kind of improvement in '85-86 but are not saying how far it has to move."

Trustee Flossie Tonda said she felt it would be simpler just to provide for a wage reopener in the third-year of the absolute guarantee. We ought to try to ty to pay," Schroeder added.

"Basically that's what is being asked except that the PCA is setting some parameters - its relative position with the 12 districts," said Hoben.

It makes me nervous because it's a precondition we are not willing to make with any other employee group," Trustee Tom Yack said. He added that it would be appropriate to look into the number of weeks administrators work compared to other districts, but said hewas apprehensive about the third-year

Trustee Roland Thomas said he shared the same apprehension.

Trustee E.J. McClendon agreed and said that he would go along with the third-year language if it were changed to read that the board would consider salary increases with the goal of improving the administrators' relative position. "But I can't go along with any do better but to make a flat commitment that we will do it makes me feel very unsure.'

A TRUSTEE was going to offer an amendment with language acceptable to the board, but Kee reminded the board it could not amend a tentative

Any change will have to go back to the bargaining table for negotiations, said Kee, who added that the PCA was the only union willing to agree to a three-year contract and the third-year language was a good faith effort to reach agreement.

Glenn Schroeder, board president, said that in talks with the teachers' union the board refused to consider pay scales in contiguous districts.

"We should not promise to any employee that we will base salary on what others pay because we have a responsibility to make offers based on our abili-

"It's unrealistic to assume that we are not influenced by other settlements in our industry," answered McClendon, although he agreed that districts should only negotiate contracts they can afford to pay for.

Kee suggested the board might want to ratify the first two years of the ten-tative agreement and inform the PCA the board is unwilling to agree to the third year unless language changes are

The motion to pay the 3 percent for '83-84 retroactively was approved 7-0. In doing so, Schroeder stressed that the 3 percent was the maximum increase which would be paid for 1983-84.

Trustee David Artley commented: "I publicly applaud them for crossing the picket lines to work during the strike. But they are one of many employee groups, and we should treat all equally

Large commercial telephone consumers, such as local governments, will be among the hardest hit by the telephone bill increases predicted as a result of the Jan. 1 AT&T breakup.

As part of an out-of-court settlement with the federal government, AT&T agreed to relinquish its monopoly of the local call market. New regional telephone companies will be responsible for local calls. The local divisions of Michigan Bell will become part of Ameritech Jan. 1.

Of the four governmental units in this area, the city of Plymouth and Canton Township apparently will have the largest increase in telephone costs.

"We anticipate an increase in our shone bills, but we haven't met with the sales representative yet," said Plymouth City Manger Henry Graper. "I have heard figures of a 20-percent increase."

The current telephone bill for Plymouth City Hall is $15,000-$20,000 a year. A 20-percent increase would cost the city $3,000-$5,000 a year.

"If we do get a substantial increase, we will have to start restricting some phones, as far as what they are used for," Graper said.

Plymouth has the capability to restrict its telephones because city hall has a computerized system, he said.

The city leases its telephone equipment. However, the administration will be looking into buying its own telephones. "In our business, we can't afford to be without phones. If one breaks, we need someone in to fix it right away," Graper said.

LIKEWISE, CANTON Township stands to pay more for telephone service if the cost of telephone service goes up 20 percent.

"With the three years of guaranteed rates, we can sit back and see what changes take place and then look at what route would be the best for the district," he said.

Plymouth Township won't be directly affected by the AT&T breakup. Supervisor Maurice Breen said.

Like the schools, the township has a contract for its telephones. Breen said. The only change in costs could come in the form of a rate increase approved by the public service commission later in 1984, or if an access charge is added bills. Breen said.

The township pays $24,000 a year for telephone service.

Arrests follow armed threats

By Gary M. Cates staff writer

Last weekend was a real hair raiser for Plymouth police as officers were confronted twice by armed men.

"For two people, within two days, to pick up guns and point them at officers and still be breathing is very rare. They are very lucky to be alive," said Lt. Robert Commire.

A 54-year-old Plymouth man was arrested Friday night after allegedly aiming a loaded handgun at two officers in an apartment complex.

Alonzo E. Mayes, 12308 Risman, stood mute Saturday in 35th District Court to charges of possession of a firearm while intoxicated and failure to register a handgun. District Judge Dunbar Davis entered a not guilty plea for Mayes and released him on $400 cash

A Dec. 19 pretrial date is set on the charges - both high misdemeanors which carry maximum sentences of one year in prison upon conviction.

The incident allegedly occurred as officers Bob Scoggins and Tom Zedan responded to a burglary in progress call at Mayes' apartment complex.

As the officers approached a secondfloor apartment, Scoggins said he saw a man with a handgun sitting on the floor in the laundry room.

The handgun was cocked and aimed at Scoggins, according to police re-

While taking evasive action, Scoggins said the man followed his movements with the gun. Scoggins, once safely out of the way, watched as the man aimed toward officer Zedan. "Moving to the blind side of the suspect, I observed the cocked gun protruding slightly through the door," Scoggins wrote in his report. "With one strike I knocked the gun out of the suspect's hand.'

With the gun on the floor, the officers arrested the man. They said they learned later that he was the one who asked a neighbor to call police about the burglary in progress.

According to police, the incident occurred about 2:45 a.m. Sunday as officers Jerry Vorva and Scoggins responded to a disturbance call at Fowlkes' mother's house, 843 Starkweather.

As the officers approached the residence, a man came out yelling obscenities, Commire said.

The man continued into the yard as officers called to him by name, he said. At that point, Commire said, the man bent over and picked up a long-barrel gun and threatened to kill them.

'As the officers took cover behind a parked car a woman from inside the residence yelled, 'It's not loaded, don't shoot him," he said

The man dropped the gun when ordered to do so by the officers and was arrested. The officers found that the gun wasn't loaded.

"I think under most circumstances he would have been shot," Commire said. "Once you let the guy pick up the gun, he's capable of shooting you. You don't know at that point if it is loaded

This was the third time this year that Plymouth officers were confronted and threatened by armed subjects, Commire added.

YMCA considers township parcel

The Plymouth Family YMCA's earch for a site to construct a building has led to Plymouth Township.

The YMCA selection committee approached the Township Board Tuesday regarding township property between Ann Arbor Trail, Powel amd Beck The triangular piece of property,

"The property showed some real promise because of its location and proximity to the township park," said Albert Calille, spokesman for the site

ing that parcel, and the YMCA is interested in using that parcel," he said.

Although the board briefly discussed the property, further discussion was postponed. In a 6-0 vote, the board refered the matter to the township planner for further investigation. Trustee Smith Horton, also a member of the YMCA board of directors, abstained from voting.

THE Y'S selection committee has approached several land owners in the past year, including Canton Township. The group is interested in obtaining a site to construct a full-service Y building to serve the Plymouth and Canton communities. The committee's efforts to obtain property on Morton Taylor in Canton dead ended when neighborhood residents objected to construction of the facility. An attempt to locate the building on an industrial site in Canton also failed. Ideally, the Y plans to construct a 35,000 square-foot facility. "We have had demographic studies done which show it is feasible to construct a building," Calille said. "The studies showed a high interest in a YMCA building for this area." Based on those studies, Calille said architects put together preliminary drawings for the Y building.

TOWNSHIP officials said the property in question might not be the best site for the Y. Earlier discussions of us ing the property for a clubhouse or additional parking for the golf course were curtailed due to building limitations on the site. Also, the officials questioned whether the township could donate the property to the Y, since it was purchased with taxpayers' money.

"I don't want to turn off the board by saying we're looking for a donation. We're prepared to purchase the property, however we wouldn't turn down a donation," Calille said.

The board asked the township planner to review the Y's building plans to see if the proposed construction would be feasible on the site. A report on the proposal is expected in Feb-

For auto suppliers: teaching, capital, help

By Tim Richard staff writer

Auto suppliers - the hundreds of small firms which make parts for the Big Four auto manufacturers - are in deep trouble and want state help.

"We'll do anything we can do, either by getting out of the way or helping," said Gov. James J. Blanchard this week as he unveiled a long list of efforts the state will make.

A report entitled "Auto Supplier Target Industry Development Program" said suppliers should be a priority industry once the Michigan Strategic Fund is in operation. Auto suppliers will be high on the list to receive help from federal-state job retraining funds.

And they will be helped by an array of educational resources - the fledgling Industrial Technology Institute in Ann Arbor, state universities and particularly community colleges.

Blanchard praised the work of a task force, headed by General Motors Chairman Roger B. Smith of Bloomfield Hills, for its 33 pages of recommenda-

ALAN WEBBER, a Harvard University business school professor hired to review the new report, said in an interview that the auto industry provides a "case study" in how other nations "are doing a better job of integrating business, government and labor's efforts.'

Indeed, a theme pervading the report and news conference was cooperation between those three economic sectors.

"The level of competition in the industry has increased dramatically, said Webber. Auto suppliers see their numbers shrinking, with remaining firms "being asked to take greater responsibility for innovation and new product development, as well as for improving product quality and produc-

Webber said his six weeks of interviews with suppliers showed they believe "the cost of doing business in Michigan is too high and must be reduced," particularly unemployment and workers compensation costs.

"MANY SUPPLIERS said they needed information and training about new technologies, new production techniques . . . and new approaches to managing people to help them become more productive," Webber said.

"Most suppliers said they would welcome financial aid to help defray the costs of learning new methods," as well as help in developing new markets, he reported.

Of the 2,500 suppliers of parts, components and materials, 80 percent are small - fewer than 100 employees, he

While suppliers gave educational and governmental efforts high marks, they found most underfunded and understaffed, he said.

A KEY organization in helping auto suppliers will be the Industrial Technology Institute (ITI) in Ann Arbor, and Blanchard promised it support.

Jerome Smith, director of ITI for the past four months, said it is "positioned between academia and industrial experimentation. We are hastening the process of putting research results into implementation."

"We are a private, nonprofit, re-search and development organization in the area of industrial automation,' said Smith, a former professor of fluid mechanics at Princeton University and holder of three degrees in aeronautical engineering.

We have 30 employees now and expect to grow to 250 in three years," he said. Funding has come from the state and the Dow and Kellogg foundations. What will ITI do? Smith gave three

• Give direct consulting services to auto suppliers "where we can learn as well as perform a service."

· Put on workshops on factory communications, including use of digitally controlled devices for information

· Indirectly serve as a technology developer by attracting bright, new people to the state. "Many may choose to start their own small firms here," he

MUCH OF Blanchard's program for auto suppliers was a restatement of already announced plans, such as attacking the costs of unemployment compensation, workers compensation, health care and bureaucracy.

But even before Blanchard's news conference began, UAW President Owen Bieber issued a statement saying "the UAW would not favor steps to improve our state's so-called 'business climate' at the expense of necessary legislative protection for workers, or by shifting tax burdens unfairly to nonbusiness taxpayers."

That failed to dismay Blanchard, a Democrat elected in 1982 with strong UAW support. Handed a newsman's copy of the UAW's remarks, the governor shrugged, "This is a broad statement that probably anyone could agree with. Owen Bieber has been a very helpful member of this task force."

Bieber said he supported "the process of tripartite reindustrialization." He said it was not surprising that in a report reflecting the views of business, labor and government, "specific recommendations do not totally satisfy the

RALPH GERSON, director of the state Commerce Department, outlined the task force's recommendations.

· Auto suppliers will be an "investment target for the proposed Michigan

Strategic Fund so that new, innovative financial assistance will be available to qualified suppliers." (A bill setting up the fund is tied up in a legislative conference committee.)

 A pilot project to provide targeted, coordinated job training service for auto suppliers who are expanded to serve a new assembly plant, such as

GM's new Lake Orion plant. Blanchard will seek removal of workers comp and unemployment insurance from the base to which the single business tax is applied - "as soon as the state's fiscal condition permits."

He will "support the Michigan Community College Association effort todevelop a statewide program to provide, with private sector participation, training and education in areas of production management, especially statistical process control and just-in-time

School income rises but so do expenses

At the end of November, Plymouth-Canton Community Schools had about $244,000 in revenue more than had been expected.

Administrators weren't smiling, though, as expenses were $1.2 million over budget estimates.

The result is that the fund balance will shrink from $2.4 million to $1.4

These were the highlights of a financial status report given Monday night to the school board by Ray Hoedel, assistant superintendent for business.

Hoedel said one of the major increasin revenue was an unexpected $33,000 increase in adult education in-

However, there was a loss of income because 118 students who were enrolled before the strike but did not return to school after it, Hoedel added. He said the loss resulted in a state aid reduction of about $27,000.

The main reason for the $1.2-million increase in costs, Hoedel said, was the 3-percent pay raise negotiated for employees for 1983-84. The raise affected the budget by increasing expenses by about $875,710.

Compared to June's budget, the district by November had lost about $48,000 in expected state aid.

From June to November, the budget expenditures increased from $40 million to $41.3 million.

Holiday recess:

Experts list ways to keep kids busy over Christmas

By Dan Vecchioni staff writer

When the bells ring ending the school day this Friday, most area students will tromp home for a two-week Christmas vacation.

For parents concerned with how their children should spend that time, two area educators have offered some advice: Parents and children should share time together.

"The best gift if you want your child to be happy and self-confident is presence (rather than presents)," said Connie Kenty, director of the Livonia Head Start program. "You should share time with your child."

"We're looking at the interaction between parents and children or between lots of children," said Susan Ryan, the elementary adviser to the school system's gifted student program. "But children also need alone time, time to daydream and read."

Kenty offered the following tips to parents of children between the ages of.

· Make playdough with the children. Playdough can be made at home by: boiling two cups of water, a half cup of salt and a little food coloring; while still hot, adding two tablespoons of salad oil, two tablespoons of alum and two cups of flour; and, when cool, kneading the mixture.

The homemade playdough, if stored after use in a plastic bag, will keep for two to three weeks. Kenty called playdough an "aggression toy" that allows children to channel their aggressive-

"YOU'LL HAVE TO LEARN TO LIVE

WITH IT!"

Have you ever heard that statement from a doctor? "We've tried everything we can, Mrs. Jones. You'il just have to Join the crowd who lives everyday with your allment." But, has everything really been tried? Maybe everything medically speaking has been tried, but have alternative approaches been tried? Everyday millions of Americans are turning to chiropractic as a last resort approach. "You're my last hope" they tell us as they enter our office. Too many people believe their doctor infallible—If he can't help me, nobody can. They believe their body has condemed them to a lifetime of future misery and they have to try to grin and bear it.

But for many of these people help can be given if they try chiropractic. I never underestimate the healing intelligence of the body. You see, the body has an inborn wish to be well. When you cut your finger the body sends white blood cells to the site to prevent infection. It forms a cot over the area and immediately begins to repair the damaged area, planting new cells to heal the tissue. The same thing happens with broken bones or any injury. The same thing can happen with every organ, or tissue, or joint of the body if we supply the body with what it needs to repair itself.

Universal intelligence starts to heal when releasing normal nerve and blood supply to the areas involved. It may be supplying the body with nutritional elements that one may be deficient in or rehabilitative measures.

Chiropractors are not limited to man-made chemicals

Chiropractors are not limited to man-made chemicals which usually only treat symptoms. We work with the body's ability to heal itself. I'm not trying to tell you that everyone can regain 100% normal health. I am trying to tell you that you may be able to be helped; you only need to give your body a chance.

No doctor should condemn a patient to misery just because his limited knowledge does not understand any other approach. Health is your God-given birthright. The Bible says, "I wish above all things that thou mayest prosper and be of good health." Winston Churchill in his immortal five word speech said "Never, Never, Never give up." This philosophy should always apply to your health. If your doctor has told you to learn to live with it, it may be time to change doctors. Why not try chiropractic today!

Attorneys for anti-nuclear demonstrators say Oakland County Prosecu-tor L. Brooks Patterson is "vindictive" in his approach and "attempting to destroy the peace movement."

"He's attempting to punish people for their beliefs. It ain't gonna work," said attorney William Goodman at a news conference Tuesday in his Detroit law office.

The heart of his complaint is the conspiracy charges Patterson is leveling against 51 persons who tried to shut down Williams International Corp. of Walled Lake. Williams is a defense subcontractor which makes engines for low-flying cruise missiles.

GOODMAN SAMP Patterson is leveling "conspiracy charges for people willing to be convicted of misdemeanors of trespass.

Attorney Julie Hurwitz explained the difference:

"If one is charged with a misdemeanor, there is a maximum $500 fine and/or 30 days in jail. But if one is charged with conspiracy, there is a $1,000 fine and up to a year in jail."

She said a judge could string out conspiracy sentences so that a person convicted on three counts might spend up to three years in jail.

We will challenge the constitutionality of the conspiracy charges," she said.

Another difference is that "people not blockading can be charged with conspiracy," said Steve Freedkin, spokesman for Friends of the Covenant, another protest group.

Goodman called it "extremely rare that conspiracy to commit a misdemeanor is charged." Hurwitz added, "It's usually done only in labor disputes. It's extremely rare."

PROSECUTOR Patterson, contacted in his office, replied:

"As I understand civil disobedience, a person realizes he's violating the law. He is prepared to take the consequenc-

"They (demonstrators) have made their point. They have focused attention on Williams International.

"But now they want to renege on the second part of their punishment (the conspiracy charges). Either they are phonies or they should stand up and take their punishment. They are lacking credibility."

Patterson said "it's not their option" to decide which charges they want to be tried on. "They do what they have to do as a matter of conscience, and I do what I have to do as a matter of law."

The protests occurred the week of Nov. 28 to Dec. 1. Altogether, 53 people were arrested by Oakland County sheriff's deputies. A blind woman was released uncharged, and charges against a second person were dropped.

GOODMAN CITED four examples of what he called Patterson's "vindictiveness:

· Obtaining a search warrant to enter a Catholic church in Pontiac, headquarters of the demonstrators, to seize books, films and pamphlets - "things protected by the First Amendment."

• Using undercover officers from the State Police and sheriff's department. He called their participation at a prayer meeting "particularly offen-sive."

• Leveling conspiracy charges. He particularly cited conspiracy charges against English pacifist Jean Hutchinson, who took no part in the demonstration but spoke and showed a film to the group. Hutchinson urged more activity at the Dec. 1 demonstration and discussed how to make police work harder, the attorneys said.

 Jailing defendants in different places so that they were unable to meet

• Sending a representative of the prosecutor's office to aid an attorney for Williams International, which has filed separate civil charges against demonstrators for violating a circuit court injunction against blockading the

"The ordinary prosecutor wouldn't help a private attorney in a civil case," said Goodman. "There is a line between government and private parties.

THE 51 DEFENDANTS are involved in 10 different court cases in Oakland

Circuit Court and two district courts. Thirty-three are charged with two counts: trespass and conspiracy to Eleven are charged with seven counts: obstructing a place of employment, conspiracy to obstruct, disturbing the peace, conspiracy to disturb the peace, trespass, conspiracy to trespass and failing to comply with the order of a police officer directing traffic.

Five are charged with five counts: obstructing the entrance, conspiracy to obstruct the entrance, disturbing the peace, conspiracy to disturb the peace and littering.

A story told about sharing

I would like to share an "experience in sharing" with my fellow Plymouthites in the hopes it may motivate and inspire them to find the deep-level joy, as I have, at this special time of the year -

Briefly, I am a widow, age 79, live alone at the same address 44 years, and have seen the "toddlers on my street in '39" grow up, marry, and have children who now have kids of their own — Talk about memories. That's not the reason for this missive,

My sole purpose is to let others know of a "certain giving joy" that I've found to be so rewarding at "snow time" and to urge them to "Try it." I know they will find joy, too.

I have a huge tree in my front yard and every year the squirrels, blue jays, sparrows, cardinals (even this year, a couple of smallish racoons) come visit me daily, seven days a week. Other years I have been able to buy suet and day-old bread plus table scraps (not much, to be sure, as I subside on a very limited income - namely, Social Security check, period!).

That's still not the story. I shopped at Farmer Jack's the other day and was tempted and bought two packages of peanuts - large amount - and probably very stale (apologies to my squirrel friends). The price of each large package was 69 cents. What a real thrill I find every a.m. to see the "Bird Scout" (who waits for my appearance, then flies off for his cousins to come "feast with Schultzie"). Well, now, a big squirrel is stationed there at the foot of the tree, patiently (or impatiently?) waiting to see me, in my bathrobe usually, with a warm coat and cap atop it, come out the door, head for the foot of the tree, and "Boom-Bang" — off goes the Bird. "Swish, Swish" - off goes the big ole fat squirrel for his relatives to join in cracking the nuts. What a gang comes.

Oh, if only more people, especially the "elderly" and the "aloners" could grasp the joy of giving that I obtain each and every day. I withdraw into my house, my dog and I sit, quietly enjoying our toast and coffee and watch the busy scene just outside my window

I do wish this letter to be a sort of "Christmas Spirit of Giving" message to let others know what happiness and joy can be found in serving God's hungry birds, squirrels and racoons. I don't smoke, nor drink, nor gamble - so I religiously set aside, all spring, summer and fall, pennies and nickels and occassionally a dime or two in special containers so when snow time arrives, I have the money to squander (?) on God's creatures. Then, snug as a bug, inside my wee home, I watch them - sometimes a fight o'er the biggest piece of bread or suet, sometimes I dare to think, as they gaze towards the window, they are thanking me. All I can say, to those who are weary of TV shows, radio, etc., try feeding, then observing the feast. I warn you all, please don't miss a day, though, because they de-pend on you when you once start a schedule. They

May I wish everyone a Happy Holiday Seasor and God Bless real good.

To the editor:

A special thanks to the Plymouth Observer for announcing the annual leaf-raking program for senior citizens in Plymouth, coordinated by the Plymouth Community Council on Aging. We were swamped with calls and hope to continue this service next year.

This project could never have gotten off the ground without the assistance and aid of the local Girl and Boy Scout Troops. The senior citizens and the Council on Aging would like to thank Troop 411, Troop 210, Troop 1534, Troop 643, Troop 608, and

"GUILTY AS CHARGED!" by Doc Keeth

It's true! We admit it! The new LENNOX Pulse Furnace uses two plastic vents and nobody else does. Well folks, lend me your ear and I will explain why...

Only the LENNOX Pulse Furnaces have both an exhaust vent and a combustion air intake vent which makes possible a 20 year warranty on the entire heat exchanger. All new condensing type furnaces recover latent heat of combustion, thus producing condensate (water). This is true with all furnaces rated at 83% AFU efficiency or better. LENNOX Pulse Furnaces are tops with 91 to 96% efficiency.

Anytime condensate is produced in heat exchangers or vent systems, acids are formed by chemical changes that take place during combustion and involve elements present in fuel and the combustion air. All condensing furnaces, except the LENNOX Pulse, use indoor air for combustion and draw in chlorine laced air from a variety of household activities.

Chlorine comes from municipal water de-gasses during bathing & showers. Chlorine can also come from household bleach, pool chemicals, diaper pails, freon based aerosol products, solvents, etc. Recent laboratory tests have shown that small amounts of chlorine in combustion air can cause a ten-fold increase in condensate acidity.

Sorry to get so technical but now you can see why we install a separate sealed combustion air intake from outdoors to the LENNOX Pulse Furnace, instead of using house air for combustion. There are other good reasons, such as less infiltration (drafts of cold outside air) and better humidity control, which we will cover in a future column.

Stop in anytime. Bev, Mel or Don, will show you a LENNOX Pulse Furnace in operation and answer any questions you may have. Or, give Bev a call for a free in home estimate that could cut your fuel consumption by 40% or more!

Restoring the Lady

Students and teachers at Gallimore Elementary School raised more than $300 in November through a popcorn sale, Book Fair, and individual donations to send to the Statue of Liberty and Ellis Island Centennial Commission. During the fund-raising period, the students also did research on Ellis Island and its famous occupant. Becky Grey, a fourth grader, said: "The steps go 'round and 'round and you can't turn around to go down when you're climbing up." Third grader Amy Lee said: "It was built in France because of freedom and they sent it to the United States in pieces. Then they put it back together. It is green because the air turned the copper green." Another third grader, Shane Tackitt,learned that because the statue wasn't completed in time for the Centennial in Philadelphia in 1876, France sent only the arm and torch to be displayed at the fair. Jason Nickerson, a fourth grader, learned that immigrants often lived in sod houses and that the Chinese were given jobs building railroads. The pupils received "Don't Let the Flame Go Out" stick-on pins from Farmer Jack and also learned a song based on the poem by Emma Lazarus, found inside the base of the statue. Shown above demonstrating the reach of the Lady of Liberty are second graders Tim Washenko and Kristi Darkowski.

Top court to rule on group homes

taff writer

The placement of group homes for the mentally retarded — an issue that one state official said affects everyone n the state — will be argued for the first time in April before the Michigan oreme Court.

Until now, the court has turned down every attempt by Michigan communities to have the state's highest court fule on the placement of mentally re-tarded and mentally ill adults in foster are homes. Communities have no control over the placement of group homes, so long as the homes meet state requirements

On Dec. 6, the court broke that tradition. It agreed to hear appeals filed by empts to block group homes in their munities. Sometime in April, three appeals filed by Livonia and one appeal filed by Southfield will be argued tother before the court.

IF THE TWO cities lose, said Livocity attorney Harry Tatigian, "It put the entire issue to bed once and

"This is a matter of interest to every person in the state," Quigley said.

"What alternatives do these people have if the cities win? What are the financial consequences to the state?"

COMMUNITIES across Michigan have filed lawsuits against group homes since the state started licensing them in the late 1970s. But the cities have had little success in the courts.

Both Tatigian and Quigley believe the state has the edge in winning these

"Remember, our batting average except for the one time an administrative judge agreed with us - has been zero," Tatigian said. "That was the first time we ever won anything.

'ANY TIME YOU are an appellate where you have had three lower court judges rule against you and two Michigan Court of Appeals panels rule against you, it's uphill. But if granted a leave to appeal, you have to think in terms of 'having a chance.'

"The court usually affirms the decision of the court of appeals. The odds are 2 to 1 against us, but we are still

The state is not worried about losing. Quigley said. "Lower court decisions have found in favor of our department. There is no reason to believe the higher court will see it any differently.'

IF THE CITIES should win, the court's ruling would settle only those issues raised in the four lawsuits, said

"Any issue not raised in the lawsuit may be raised."

> Thanks given the donators

Our community service center would like to warmly thank this community for its generous gifts of food, clothing, and miscellaneous items which our church pathfinder group (Plymouth Wildcats) collected from area homes.

Last Thanksgiving, more than 20 families were helped with food baskets for their holiday tables and helpful neighbors and relatives still are referring people to us. Many clothing donations also have gone to the girls at Our Lady of Providence home for the mentally handicapped in Plymouth.

Although we do not always realize it. there are many in the Plymouth-Canton community who have inadequate amounts of clothing and food to get them through the winter. We have out-fitted many children and adults with warm winter clothing from donations from our community.

We have been blessed ourselves, having a part in allieviating the needs of those this holiday season, and inspired to think our community had such an interest in mankind because of their generous donations.

Our center works year around. We also want to thank the Canton Kroger store for all the food it has donated throughout the year for these families.

If there are any other families out there who are in great need that come to your attention, or if you still have food and clothing to donate, won't you give us a call at 981-1557 or 722-3759?

A Belle Tire rolls into town

Although Belle Tire has opened a new distributorship in Plymouth the company certainly is not new to the metropolitan Detroit area.

The business has been operating in the metro area for more then 60 years. In 1922, when the automobile was in its infancy, Sam Waze opened a tire shop to serve the needs of a budding industry. He named the store after his

Belle Tire grew with the develop-ment of the "Tin Lizzie" to the present-day highly technical automobiles.

In celebrating its 61st anniversary,
Belle Tire has opened its seventh retail operation at 433 W. Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth.

The 10-bay facility is designed to give complete car care service, including brakes, shock absorbers, tune-ups, front end suspensions, parts, alignment, and, of course, tires.

The bay is fully equipped with machinery and tools to service any passenger vehicle, van, truck, or recreational vehicle, says John Babinski, vice president of the wholesale division of Belle Tire. All sales and service personnel are fully trained and the me-chanics are certified by the state.

Some 70 percent of the Plymouth store's 12-person staff has been hired from the Plymouth area, he adds.

Sam and Belle Waze still enjoy popping into one of the stores to observe the staff at work. Their son, Herb Waze, now is the motivating force guiding the seven-store operation along with Don Barnes, his partner.

In the 1960s, with its exodus of families to the suburbs away from the Detroit store, expansion was begun. Herb Waze brought in Barnes, a former tire executive, to stimulate the expansion. Barnes' experience in dealer business was the right chemistry to launch Belle Tire's satellite stores, says Babinski.

Besides the seven retail outlets, Belle Tire also has a wholesale division and a truck center.

Belle Tire deals with major brand tires, such as Michelin, Kelly-Spring-field, Goodyear, B.F. Goodrich, and UniRoyal. The Plymouth store will be open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. on weekdays, until 8 p.m. on Monday and Thursday, and from 8-3 on Saturdays.

Woodside treats mentally ill after work

By Margaret Neubacher staff writer

By day John holds a job. At night he's home with his family. And for six intensive hours in between, he's a patient at Woodside, a psychiatric hospital in "The evening partial hospitalization is a transitional program between inpatient and outpatient programs," said Dr. Howard P. Friedman, the newly appointed medical director of Wood-

Woodside is one of a few psychiatric hositals which sponsors an evening partial hospitalization program (EPHP). The hospital also operates Michigan's first inpatient alcohol/prescription drug recovery program, designed exclusively for women.

FRIEDMAN, a Bloomfield Township resident, succeeds Dr. Richard Kalman, who died in August. A University of Michigan Medical School graduate, he joined the Woodside staff in 1974. He has been the associate medical director

EPHP's premise is that some psychiatric' patients need more intensive treatment than outpatients generally receive, but they neither want nor require hospitalization.

"The program has the essence of our inpatient therapy treatment. Patients attend group psychotherapy, seminars, occupational therapy, relaxation training as well as individual therapy sessions," Friedman said.

What makes EPHP unique, Woodside officials say, is that patients are free during the day to work and they go home at night. Typically, eight to 12 patients are enrolled in the "treatment team." Woodside's capacity is 36 in this program.

"Many people can't come conviently during the day, and at the same time they profit from maintaining links with their families and community," Fried-man said. "But this kind of program is for a higher functioning kind of pa-

EVENING PARTIAL hospitalization patients attend therapy at Woodside weekdays from 4-10 p.m.

"Often at the beginning, they come five days a week, but never less than three days a week," Friedman said.

"The program is not for someone with a little stress or who wants to stop smoking," said Wayne Isbell, director of community relations. "We treat psychiatric problems - depression, anxiety disorders, schizophrenia."

The patient-staff ratio is a low 3-1 The low cost of partial hospitalization is the chief reason it is considered the wave of the future, Isbell said.

"Partial hospitalization is half the cost of inpatient treatment, which at Woodside is $195 a day,"Isbell said. "Generally, health insurance companies, such as Blue Cross Blue Shield, will pay half of inpatient costs. This often means there's no cost to the pa-

The program has been well-received by employers, HMO's and insurance companies who are looking for for ways to cut inpatient cost, says Isbell

WOODSIDE began an exclusive alcohol/prescription drug recovery program for women in October. Seven are currently enrolled. Capacity is 18. "It's a big gamble on the part of the hospital," Friedman said. "Traditionally, women don't come forward till the later stages of illness."

Fighting that reticence will be an uphill battle, Friedman believes. Women who work are afraid they'll lose their jobs if they have to leave for treatment. Often women are the last ones hired and the first ones fired. They feel they have to be protective of their jobs, Friedman said. For the homemaker, there is a lot of stigma attached to being an alcoholic or drug abuser.

The Woodside program for women follows the recommendation of the Women's Substance Abuse Service. The state-coordinated service undertook a five-year study to determine the needs of alcohol and substance-dependent

Their findings: Middle-class women and working women were underserved by exsisting programs.

THE STUDY also suggested a different approach to treating women was needed, Friedman said.

"In men alcoholics, there is a pride problem, and confrontation is an important part of the treatment," he said. In women, the problem is guilt. They may worry about being a good wife or mother. In treating them, we build self-

The Woodside program begins with a prescreening interview, usually done by telephone by Friedman or the associate director.

Union advised to Withdraw motion

ET HIM who is without blame cast the first stone.

That's pretty good advice for the leadership of the Plymouth-Canton Education Association (PCEA).

For whatever reason, the teachers union executive board adopted an official resolution which bars from holding office for the life of the current contract some 55 faculty members who chose to report to work during the teachers' strike this fall.

Beyond the resolution, the union leadership listed the names of all 55 on the back of an official memo and posted it on all school bulletin boards districtwide.

Predictably, that action has led to harassment of those individuals. The union may not sanction that harassment but certainly needs to share responsibility because it chose to post names.

BY CHOICE, the Observer did not take an editorial position on whether the strike by school employees was wise or justifiable. But we do believe the "censure" of the 55 faculty members by the PCEA executive board was foolish, unmerited and unjustifiable.

Individuals who follow their consciences certainly do not deserve a slap on the wrist (or face) from their union.

Given there was a valid contract between the school board and PCEA, the strike this fall bordered on being a "wildcat" action.

Organized labor usually will reprimand union leadership involved in a wildcat action, but seldom will it take action against union members who choose not to honor a wildcat strike and instead report for work.

IF WE ARE to cast stones, maybe we should take careful aim at the union negotiating team which agreed to a no-strike clause and then deliberately violated that agreement.

If we are to cast stones, maybe we should take aim at those teachers who yelled profanities at, rocked the cars of, and let air out of the tires of employees who chose to work. Do we value actions of conscience less than acts of vandalism?

If we are to cast stones, maybe we should include as targets those teachers who behaved so childishly and unprofessionally in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High School — hissing, booing, and yelling insulting catcalls at administrators and school board members. Here we have at least 100 targets who behaved in such a disgusting manner that they lowered the reputation of their union and brought discredit to their cause.

If we are to cast stones, should we spare "adult" teachers who dragged students into taking sides or becoming involved in a labor dispute between adults?

There is no tyranny as great as an unchecked majority. We must guard jealously the rights of minorities in our society, especially against the group in power.

THE OBSERVER is not taking sides on bargaining table differences between the school board and the unions. But we do question the wisdom of official union action against teachers who chose to report for work during a strike which was called although the contract had not expired and a no-strike clause still was in force.

Is the union executive board so free of blame, and of such clear conscience, that it feels free to point a finger of blame at 55 who chose to honor the contract?

The PCEA had serious problems of its own arise during the strike — problems which deserve the attention of the executive board. Before censuring 55 who acted out of conscience, maybe the union first should investigate those who committed acts of vandalism and behaved in a highly uncivil manner during the strike.

Legislators, don't panic

A TAX REVOLT started in suburban Detroit is having national ramifications. In the past weeks, two suburban state senators have been recalled in protest over a 38 percent hike in the state income tax rate. They were Sen. Phil Mastin, whose district included Avon Township and Rochester, and Sen. Dave Serotkin of Macomb County.

Apparently, the next object of a recall effort will be Sen. Patrick McCollough, whose district includes Garden City. A committee pushing for McCollough's recall claims it almost has the required signatures to force a recall election.

Mastin and Serotkin are the first state legislators recalled in Michigan history.

NATIONAL MAGAZINES, newspapers and television programs have discussed the suburban Detroit recalls.

Typical among these is the Wall Street Journal, the influential national business daily newspaper.

Last week Martin Feldstein, chairman of President Reagan's Council of Economic Advisers, suggested that taxes be raised to reduce the federal budget deficit. This position is strongly opposed by President Reagan, who has promised no new taxes.

The Wall Street Journal, in an editorial, rushed to the president's defense, citing reaction to the Michigan income tax hike "where the voters have just cashiered two state senators who supported Governor Blanchard's sharp increase in state taxes."

The implication of the editorial was clear: Don't raise federal taxes to reduce the national debt because of what has happened in Michigan.

A LITTLE CLOSER to home, the recall campaigns are beginning to paralyze the state Legislature. Last week legislators agreed to delay action on a mandatory seat belt law. Proponents argued that the law would save up to 300 lives a year. But it was strongly opposed by some lobbying groups.

"It (delay of the bill) is mainly due to the recalls and their fallout . . . Some legislators have identified this as a recallable issue," said Secretary of State Richard Austin, a leading campaigner for the bill.

The state Senate voted last week to override Gov. James J. Blanchard's veto of a bill that would ban state medicaid money for abortions for the peop.

money for abortions for the poor.

It now goes to the House where action could occur this week. Although it will require two-thirds approval in the House to override the veto, some observers believe 74 votes could be collected. Once again, it's because of the recall campaigns. House members fear a strong "Right to Life" contingent in their districts will start recall campaigns against them.

THREATS OF A RECALL cannot bring government to a halt. A legislator's views of the federal debt, seat belts and abortion must not be determined by a small group of disgruntled persons in the home district.

It was good to see Gov. Blanchard not rush to accelerate the planned reduction of the state income tax last week, despite urgings of some state senators. The income tax rate will be reduced to 6.1 percent on Jan. 1 (from the present 6.35 percent). It may drop to the pre-Blanchard rate of 4.6 percent in 1985 if unemployment drops to 9 percent.

In the meantime, Michigan legislators should not panic. This state is only beginning to get back on a sound financial base. Many important issues still need to be resolved. They should be decided on the basis of the merits of the issues, not out of fear of a potential recall.

A relatively small number of voters in the Detroit suburbs who have recalled their state senators should not chart the course for our government.

A shocking visit to the old home town

IF YOU haven't been back to the old home town for quite a spell and plan to return for a holiday visit, be prepared for a shock.

You will find many things have changed. The places that were your favorites when you were a lad growing up have passed from the scene — even the old swimming hole.

The Stroller knows because he tried it some years ago, and he was disappointed almost beyond belief.

It all started when the Black Diamond Express, once the pride of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, didn't stop at the old home town anymore. He had to ride into the city four miles away and hire an automobile to go the rest of the way.

WHEN HE arrived at what long ago had been called the "Iron Borough," he found that even the old railroad station, once the pride of the town, had become only a memory. Only the brick walls were left, and the passenger service was long gane.

As he looked around, he found the iron furnace, which once was a special sight fur visitors as it poured the molten slag into what was called pig iron, was lying in rusty bits. Another pride of the valley was gone — and the old center tip that drew hundreds of sightseers when the slag was poured each evening now was growing

Mind you, this was all before he got to be main street.

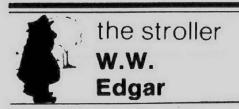

AS HE crossed the bridge that connectthe two parts of the community, he coked down and gulped. The old canal had

This had been a favorite sight in the old thys, for it was the waterway where dules pulled the old canal boats which cought coal from the anthracite fields to be Delaware River and then onto the cean freighters.

It always was a treat to go to the head our town, get on one of these boats and ide a mile to the lower end. And at times, were allowed to steer the boat, heeding the owner's call to "push the tiller the way be bow goes."

But this wasn't the biggest disappoint-

THE OLD swimming hole was gone, too, and nothing was left in its place but the remains of an old lumberyard. And so it went.

The little newspaper office, where The Stroller got his start in journalism, had been replaced by a larger office building and moved to another end of our little town. The Stroller just stood at the old spot, and tears came to his eyes as he recalled the morning he was invited to sit at a typewriter and report a news item of the day.

The old blacksmith shop, just off Front

The old blacksmith shop, just off Front Street, was missing. So was the carriage shop. The site of the old merry-go-round was now the home of a large garage.

AT THE TOP of the Pine Street Hill, where we young folks used to gather, the little white church was still standing. But somehow it didn't look the same because the steeple had been painted a different color.

It was shocking to stand there and look down the hill where we spent the winter nights sledding.

For several days, The Stroller walked about town looking and looking for the places that once were favorites when he was a young lad.

Finally, the trip back home ended, and the only things he found that hadn't changed were the Soldiers Monument in the cemetery, where lightning had struck and erased his grandfather's name, and his mother's Pennsylvania Dutch cooking.

But sitting at her table again made the trip worth while.

Lansing ducks wrong issues

REPUBLICAN and Democratic leaders are now urging the state Legislature to go home. The Legislature obviously is incapable of doing anything this year, they say.

Go home, wait for your $2,000 pay raise to take effect in January and come back fortified to deal with life's vexing prob-

Gov. James J. Blanchard is trying to get the Legislature to shut down until January lest lawmakers in his own party do something rash, like pass a bill that would cut the unforgettable increase in personal income tax they engineered in Spring.

Two of those involved in efforts to come up with a tax relief formula are Sen. William Faust, D-Westland, and Sen. Patrick McCollough, D-Dearborn. Both figure to be likely targets if recall fever continues unabated.

THE GOVERNMENT is caught in a period of "confusion, emotionalism, disappointment, fear, retribution and downright panic from moment to moment," Blanchard is quoted as telling a group of newspaper publishers.

For these reasons, we are told, lawmakers are unable to deal with the tough problem of deciding whether we should be ordered to wear seat belts while driving. And the Legislature, for the first time in 12 years, may override a gubernatorial veto of an effort to ban use of state tax money for medicaid abortions.

The threat of recall by pro-life forces will intimidate legislators into voting to override Blanchard's most recent veto, we are told.

Legislative insecurity may be stronger than I think. I can't imagine anyone getting excited enough about seat belts to spend his afternoons hanging around some shopping center asking people to sign petitions to recall a guy who favors stopping people from being killed in car accidents.

And as emotional as abortion is, and as organized as pro-life forces are, I doubt a recall campaign would succeed in removing a legislator who did not vote for an override.

THE ONLY issues that arouse voters enough to get an effective recall campaign working in state politics are "forced" school busing and higher taxes.

Busing died out as an issue long ago.

Busing died out as an issue long ago. People will stand for all kinds of mismanagement of tax money without blinking an eye. Wayne County government has been mismanaging money for decades, newspapers have regularly provided evidence of it, and yet no resident or civic group even whispers "recall."

No, the only thing that will excite residents who are busy trying to juggle a myriad of personal problems is that which they view as a confiscatory intrusion into their wallets.

Legislators should stop worrying about recall on other issues, if indeed they even are, and move on with the knowledge that the damage has been done, the tax increase was passed in April, the sleeping giant known as the public has been aroused and enraged.

The only way to mollify the giant is to convince it that government is acting to do something about cutting spending and abating its taste for tax dollars.

During the past year, the Legislature has done little to convince the public that it will take on the spending problem. Quite the reverse: The social services budget, which has been eating bigger and bigger pieces of state pie, continues to expand with no real evidence that the Legislature, or governor, can do anything about it.

It will be difficult for Blanchard and fellow Democrats to enhance their poor images. It has been difficult since April. But becoming involved in a host of projects and programs unrelated to cutting state spending will only prolong the agony. "In 1978 there were about 5,000 desk-top computers in the United States. In 1982, there were 5 million. By 1990, it is estimated there will be 80 million."

So stated Michael Crichton. Yes, Michael Crichton, the best-selling novelist who wrote "The Andromeda Strain," "The Terminal Man" and "The Great Train Robbery."

Crichton recently published a layman's guide to computers. His book, "Electronic Life," subtitled "How to Think About Computers" (Alfred A Knopf), is the latest in a flood of new books on computers to hit the market.

His message is fairly simple: Don't be afraid of them. They're only machines. They're here to make your life easier and what's more, they can be a lot of fun.

The hard-cover version costs $12.95. but it might make a nice last-minute Christmas gift for a friend itching to know what's it all about.

ANOTHER HOT-SELLING book that has been around for a year is "The Personal Computer Book" by Peter A. McWilliams (Random House, 1982). A good introduction to personal computers, this book includes a very helpful brand name buying guide: For $9.95 it is one of the best buys in your local bookstore.

Two other paperbacks published by Random House I also found useful. The first is "Computerwise" by Henry Horenstein and Eliot Tarlin, and the second is "The Random House Book of Computer Literacy" by Ellen Richman. Both were pubished this year, and each costs $9.95.

Basically they describe in simple terms how to understand, buy and use personal computers. As with all the books reviewed, both have excellent glossaries to help the novice overcome

A number of specific publications address the need to become familiar and comfortable with computer buzzwords. Barron's Educational Services Inc. publishes the "Encyclopedia of Computer Terms" by Douglas Downing. This book sells for $6.95 and includes 400 essential terms."

Not to be outdone, the editors of Consumer's Guide wrote "The Illustrated Computer Dictionary," which defines 1,000 universal terms. Published by Bantam Books in 1983, this is an excellent reference book for only $3.95.

Random House, which has several computer-related books on the shelf, also published "The Random Hose Dictionary of New Information Technology." Don't let the title mislead you. It is another book of terms and definitions. This paperback was also published this year and sells for $7.95.

TWO MORE books the novice may find useful are published by lesserknown houses.

"Computers for Everybody" by Willis and Merl Miller takes sort of a populist approach and explains the world of computers in very down-to-earth non-threatening terms. (Published by Dilithium Press, 1983, $7.95).

The second book "A Practical Guide to Small Computers" by Robert M. Rinder, was published in 1983 by Monarch Press and sells for $11.95. Similar to the other, this book would be especially useful for beginners. An inexpensive ($2.95) and helpful

However, Daniel and Susan Cohen have written a book specifically geared to children. "The Kids Guide to Home Computers" (Pocket Books, 1983) costs only $1.95 and is well worth it. It is only 118 pages, so you might even be able to stuff one in a stocking on the

The last book to be reviewed is very timely. "The Hacker's Dictionary" is for the computer whiz kid or the curious spouse at home punching away on a personal computer. Subtitled "A Guide to the World of Computer Wizards," this book will not teach the user to play "War Games," nor how to change grades on a school transcript.

FOR YOUNGER readers, some of lished by Harper & Row in 1983, this fun books mentioned may be appropriate.

YOU WILL NOT find any of these books on the New York Times best seller list. However, all local book stores carry most, if not all of these Notice all the books reviewed were published in the last two years. I have found it is important to read the most recently published books since the computer field is changing so rapidly. Most books published before 1980 are nearly useless.

If you are seriously considering the purchase of a personal computer, I would recommend that you first read as much as possible before parting with any of your money.

CHRISTMAS Carol singalong will be at 7:30 p.m. tonight in Kellogg Park in downtown Plymouth. The Plymouth Community Chorus will lead the song fest, so you know everyone will sound just great.

The chorus will be performing in the Livonia Mall at 8 p.m. Friday.

RUTH TELTIER had high score at last Thursday's party bridge games in the Plymouth Cultural Center. Bill Fysh came in second.

LATEST WINNER in the Plymouth Salem High School Athletic Boosters 50-50 draw was J.J. Funk of Dearborn.

JUST IN TIME for Christmas, the Plymouth Symphony League received the second edition of its new cook books. The first printing was sold out soon after it was off the press.

The cook books are on sale at the Gold and Silver Goody Shop in Heidi Square, Mill Street, Old Village; Beitner's Jewelry on Ann Arbor Trail; Wayside on Ann Arbor Trail; Sideways on Forest Avenue; Wine and Cheese Barn, Forest Avenue; Bed N Stead, Forest Place Mall; and Minerva's, Forest Avenue.

It's a great cook book. They are selling them for $6.50 (no tax).

THE PLYMOUTH Hilton will be hosting the state competition for the Outstanding Young American contest. High school students interested in representing Michigan for the 1984-84 school year should write for information and an application to: Outstanding Young Americans, PO Box 2838, Pensacola, Fla. 32513. Students should have at least a B grade point average and be active in school, community and/or church affairs. A stamped, self-addressed envelope should be enclosed with written requests

The state competition will be the weekend of May 4-6.

THE CANTON

Beautification Committee sale of luminaries has been going very well, according to committee chairman Gerry Brown. He said they will continue the sale this weekend at Canton Krogers and Canton Kmart. Hours will be 12:30-8:30 p.m. Friday at Kroger and the same hours on Saturday at Kmart. Orders may be placed by calling 459-6769 or 459-6949.

Sunday is the day designated to Make Canton Glow. The beautification committee asks residents to light their luminaries from 7-10 p.m. The time was selected to allow neighbors to take a leisurely drive or walk and observe the attractive displays.

Gerry says they have an ample supply of luminaries and suggests that neighbors get together to make an impressive Christmas display.

FRANK BROSNAN, a freshman at Marietta College in Ohio, has pledged Lamba Chi Alpha fraternity. A 1983 graduate of Plymouth Salem High School, Frank's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brosnan of Elm Street, Plymouth.

GIRL SCOUTS in the Isbister School cluster put on a square dance recently. The six troops in the cluster, which includes four Brownie troops, discovered they couldn't reserve the gym at Isbister for the dance for the appointed evening. So, they went to their troop sponsor, the Ladies Auxiliary to Lt. Gamble, Mayflower Veterans of Wars. The auxiliary said they could use the Post Hall.

The dance was a big success with 200 in attendance, 120 of them Girl Scouts. The father-daughter event always is a popular one and the scouts and their leaders want to pass on a special thank you to the auxiliary for saving the day.

Suzuki pianists entertain at Tonquish Creek Manor

A Christmas potluck at Tonquish Creek Manor, a Plymouth senior citizen complex, usually turns out to be a Christmas feast. There's just no way that everyone can sample everything. The ladies have spent years cooking for their families, and they haven't lost their knack for cooking up a storm.

Last Friday's dinner was no exception.

And when the plates were cleared away, there was the entertainment. Very young Suzuki piano students showed their skills on the keyboard. The little boys and girls received hearty applause for their performances.

Youngest party-goer was Ashley Roberts — just 2 weeks old — who was proudly displayed by her grandmother, Sharon Thomas, housing director.

Vera Hill, a manor resident, had to find a place for her carrot stick as she applauded the performance.

The audience gave the young performers their full attention.

It takes a lot to dampen Canton yuletime spirit

It appears that you're all still out

Christmas shopping. I guess there are a lot of procrastinators out there, for nary a call did I receive all week from any of you. So I'll tell you what I saw and a couple of things coming up and hope against hope that I hear from some of you soon.

Were you there? Did you go to the Canton Christmas Tree Lighting?

Well I did. Do you remember the Christmas Spirit? Well Canton, you have it! Oh I know many of you see it all around you, many of you have had it given to you, and many more of you give it to others every day. But in Canton it means something special. In Canton, we don't give it up.

You missed a good one if you missed the last one. There they were: the young for Santa was coming, the teens for who else would carry on our tradition and the parents. The kind of parents that take their kids to the library, tell them that Christmas is the birthday of baby Jesus, the ones that go to P.T.O. meetings, even when it's not open house.

THEN THERE were the not-soyoung, but, oh, how hearty! Those that find Christmas in the preparations, the gatherings, the sharing, the remembering, they were there. The township offi-cials, James Poole our supervisor (and grandson), John Flodin our clerk, and Maria Sterlini our treasurer. Sprinkled in the crowd were the trustees, not there for the notoriety but because it was time to gather with friends and neighbors and adversaries, to celebrate a beautiful time together.

Not to be overlooked, trudging with their all too cumbersome equipment, were the loyal media. The local papers had photographers taking pictures and reporters jotting down names on a frozen piece of paper, while our cable company workers jumped up and down to keep warm while trying to keep some of the equipment dry. They, too, continued to smile.

I must admit, a much more elaborate program had been planned, and perhaps a song or two was skipped. It wasn't the rain so much; and certainly the wind was tolerable, and there was plenty of spirit, I guess it was when the hail started. Yes, I'd have to say it was when the hail started that people began getting a little edgy. Not nasty, but

But did that stop them? No! That didn't stop them. It may have slowed them down a bit, or maybe I should say sped them up a bit, but it didn't stop

Canton chatter

ON THEY went - in the rain and the wind and the snow and the sleet and the hail. It was like a whole crowd of mailmen, determined that Santa will

And come to town he did, led not by his magic reindeer, but by a beautiful prancing horse. You would have sworn that horse knew who he was pulling. And did anyone get hurt? No again! Each parent hung on to the hand of his little one, and Santa arrived without a hitch. Santa was helped by a close friend, all dressed up in her cute little Christmas suit.

And to keep us warm in spirit the Canton Senior Citizens Kitchen Band under the able leadership of Doris Begg, kept the music alive. Doris and her crew stayed at their post all through the rain and hail and every-

Simple beauty came from every direction. From our police department came the voice of Chris Stopa as she sang "It's Beginning to Look a Lot Like Christmas," and a beautiful old song "As I Wander." Then she was joined by another member of the Canton Police Department, Pat Milovich, as they harmonized "Winter Wonderland." What a couple of great troupers. I don't know how they did it, I couldn't see the words on my music sheet because of the rain.

As you may have noticed in pictures last week, the entire driveway of the Township Hall was aglow with the new 'Make Canton Glow" luminaries being sold by our new Canton Beautification Committee.

The candles are an old Spanish idea, brought back and going strong. Each candle set costs 25 cents and you get everything you need except the match to light it.

The plan is to light up Canton Dec. 18 from 7-10 p.m. Everyone is asked to light them at the same time, and they hope that everyone will buy at least one. I must admit having them all along the driveways would be beautiful. Or how about along the curbs? Or just one on every porch? Oh, it was pretty! They will be available at K marts and Krogers over the weekends. Or you can call 459-6769 for informa-

I CAN only say that we had everything at our tree lighting. It wasn't all outdoors, either. Eventually, we realized that we were all getting too wet and wrapped up the more formal part of the ceremony. We moved inside for cookies, punch and coffee. Santa listened to every secret wish, and handed out candy canes (to good boys and girls only), while the Kitchen Band played and sang on in a drier climate.

Meanwhile, you could chat with friends or your elected officials, just like they were real people, which they are, and easy to chat with, every one.

There are a few people who never get credit for the wonderful things they do. Although I'll never know them all, when I find them I'll pass it on. Now I want to pay tribute to three.

Two fellows, who are always there grinning from ear to ear because I think they enjoy it as much as the kids, are Mike Gouin, superintendent, and Bob Dates, supervisor, of the Canton Parks and Recreation. These guys do all the ground work for special gatherings like this but never get introduced to the crowd. But they were there in the rain, keeping things going and seeing Santa made it on time.

The third is Tina Pratto, Poole's secretary, who has worked tirelessly every year she's been here for our Christmas. Thanks for everything you unsung heroes. You care, and you share.

Don't forget the Children's Christmas Party this Saturday, Dec. 17, ages 3-7 9:30-10:30, ages 8-12 10:45-11:45 with movies, games, cartoons, refreshments, and Santa! All are free, but you must make reservations by calling 397-1000 (Recreation Dept.)

Well, sing on folks. Go ahead and shop! I'll wait, because deep down inside I know you're all just gathering up terrific stories about your Canton Christmas — stories you'll call and tell me. Right?

Oh I hope so. Merry Christmas!

Homework is key to Christmas toy buying

By Marie McGee staff writer

As a self-proclaimed "doctor of funology," David DeMala isn't haven't as much fun as expected.

Not when you have to tell folks that two of the most popular toys on children's wish lists aren't available. One of those is the much publicized

"Cabbage Patch" dolls - ironically a familiar item at craft shows before their mass production by a leading toy-

Unavailability of the second hottest toy, "Care Bears," is what is taking the fun out of DeMala's job as a consumer specialist for Kenner Toys. But he does take consolation in the fact that two other "most wanted" toys, "Stars Wars" and "Strawberry Shortcake" dolls - both made by Kenner - are in good supply. So is the fifth, "Masters of the Universe" by Mattel.

DEMALA WAS IN the area promoting the Kenner line and dispensing advice to parents in the mad scramble of Christmas gift-shopping.
For one thing, DeMala feels parents

"spend way too much money" on gifts

By doing a little homework, they could get a better toy value, he said.

"It's important to watch kids play and get an understanding of what they enjoy," DeMala said.

The toy industry is very emotional everyone wants to make sure the kids have a big smile on their face when presents are opened, DeMala said. "A blend of knowing what your child enjoys playing with; what's on the market; and what they would like can guarantee that the smile will be on their face for a long time," he said. DeMala had some tips for parents:

· Don't sell fun short. The fun experience a child has with his/her toys is important for proper mental, social and physical growth and development. Every toy is educational, but first it must be fun or the child will never play

"FOR INSTANCE, one of the best toys you can give a child is a flashlight. Or a ball. Or a lock with a key. You'd be surprised what fun a child's imagination can come up with.'

and are disappointed with the results. Watch newspaper ads, check catalogs and, by all means, don't hesitate to use the phone. A lot of time, effort and aggravation and money can be saved by calling ahead.

• Check age range. Toy manufac-tuers spend a great deal of time and money researching the age range listed on each and every toy. Don't purchase for your 3-year-old a toy aimed at the 5-8-year level. Chances are the child will not have a fun experience.

• Be aware of warranties. Most manufacturers are proud of their products and will back them with a full warranty. This is extremely important in the electronic toy and game field. It is also a good tool to use when comparison shopping.

• If a problem arises, contact the manufacturer. Today's toy manufacturer's are concerned about what happens to their products once they leave the factory. Don't hesitate to contact them with problems or questions. For a standard inquiry, a letter is the best vehicle. However, for a quick, immediate answer, the telephone should be used.

"AND THERE'S SOMETHING to remember," he added. "No amount of advertising can make a bad toy good."

Kenner, he noted, experienced an expensive goof recently with its Boy

Scout Live toy, a collection of small action figures wherein the child could do all the things scouts do via the figures. "It was an absolute bomb," DeMala said, despite all the market testing and reearch techniques usually used in the release of a new product.

"Ultimately, what we learned when we went back and talked to the kids was we had asked them the wrong questions. We asked them if they liked it and the answer was yes. But we failed to find out was if they wanted

The answer to that was no, DeMala said. "They didn't 'want it,' they said, because they could be scouts them-to children, he added. It has a lot to do with magic qualities - a kind of charisma that is transferred, he said.

las An

That charisma, he noted, has transformed Kenner's "Care Bears" into the 'alligator of the teddy bear line."

Dr. Susan B. Anthony woman alcoholic her topic

By M.B. Dillon Ward and E.T. Clavett staff writers

Dr. Susan B. Anthony, author, theologian and recovered alcoholic, says by all rights she should be dead.

While in the throes of alcoholism 36 years ago, the great-niece of women's advocate Susan B. Anthony was "fast approaching death, barely existing in Manhattan. I was almost raped and robbed several times. I was in a major car accident and almost killed," she said during a recent lecture at Madonna College in Livonia.

A glimpse of death prompted Anthony to seek treatment. She's been sober and helping other alcoholics — ever

"So when people ask, 'How's life been treating you?' I answer, 'These last 36 years have been gravy,'" said

Anthony visited metropolitan Detroit recently to dedicate Woodside Women's Recovery Program in Pontiac, an alcoholic rehabilitation center. While in town, the former teacher, reporter and

She began by polling the audience on what they considered the foremost characteristic of the woman alcoholic, and got the answer she was looking for.

"Low self-image is the main trait of the woman alcoholic. It sets her apart from male alcoholics and non-alcoholic women," said Anthony, recently honored by the U.S. Senate and the National Council on Alcoholism.

Women, Anthony says, account for half of the nation's 10-15-million drinking alcoholics. Many women are "polyaddicted," dependent on various drugs including alcohol.

'They receive twice as many prescriptions for mood-altering drugs each year as do men," she said.

THE STIGMA attached to the woman alcoholic represents another obstacle to accepting treatment, added Anthony, who's helped form many alcoholic treatment programs for wom-

"While abusing alcohol is considered amusing in a male, it's considered morally reprehensible in women. Some of these women are abused and battered, yet stick with their partner because of shame and guilt," Anthony

"They don't consider alcoholism a disease. Stigmatism compounds the problem by reinforcing negative emotions and the drinking.

Nine of 10 women alcoholics are deserted by their husbands, Anthony and the husband is the alcoholic family member, the opposite occurs. Nine of 10 women married to alcoholic men stay with their spouses.

'He doesn't want to pay what treatment costs or for the smashed cars or foot the bills. Usually he's at a higher economic level," Anthony said.

"Women on the average still earn only 60 cents for each dollar earned by "THE POOREST of the poor are women." which serves only to worsen the problem, she added.

"The U.S. Catholic bishops in their 1983 conference deplored the 'feminization of poverty caused by the Reagan administration cutbacks.' Women really are at the bottom of the ladder.

"Very few programs are left, after the Reagan cuts, that take in indigent women or the poor. Impoverished welfare women are paying the biggest price," she said. "Economically, they're even worse off because when they commit themselves to rehabilitation centers for treatment, they lose their welfare benefits."

Most programs have no child care facilities, which means the alcoholic woman has no one to care for her children during the 33 days needed for detoxification and rehabilitation. (Woodside will be providing child care, Anthony added.)

A related, growing problem involves drinking adolescents, who now number three million in the U.S.

"At least one million teen-age girls get pregnant each year - two-thirds of whose pregnancies begin when they're smashed or stoned.

'Marketeering" acts as another obstacle, she said.

"Little work is being done in prevention — which could be the focus of a major, overall effort — because many of us benefit from a population of al-

"THERE'S A conscious, unholy alliance between business, industry and special interests," Anthony said.

"Ninety-nine percent of tranquilizer ads focus on women. For 4,000 years women have been considered the dependent sex. Women and youth are targeted for increased consumption of alcohol by the hard liquor industry. How many billboards have you seen picturing sleek blondes drinking gin and vod-

The more people are induced to drink the more likely they are to become alcoholics."

ANTHONY ADVISES alcoholic women to attend "non-threatening" workshops and group presentations on alcoholism for information and assist-

Alcoholics Anonymous also comes' highly recommended by Anthony.

What the United States lacks, however, are national policies that focus on the use and abuse of drugs and early intervention, she adds. Anthony points

How to buy name-brand quality jewelry at the best price possible.

A 61-year-old firm with a new selling concept now gives you savings from 20 to 50% every day.

This new selling concept puts you as close as possible to the source of diamonds, gemstones, and other fine jewelry. And that saves you money.

Most importantly, it can only happen at American Diamond Brokers.

American Diamond Brokers is the retail extension of diamond offices located in New York, Tel Aviv, Antwerp and Hong Kong.

Those offices are diamond brokers for many of the well-known retail chain outlets and catalog showrooms.

Our own retail selling concept, however, is vastly different from theirs. We locate our retail outlets in areas and shopping malls that also house other direct-selling off-price retailers.

Because of our lower overhead—and because of our unique relationship with our broker offices—we can sell you top-quality jewelry at lower-than-expected prices. Prices you won't find anywhere else.

The simple fact is, our price to you will almost always be 20 to 50% lower than the prices you'd expect to find for comparable merchandise from traditional outlets and showrooms.

That pricing policy holds true for jewelry priced anywhere from $50.to upwards of $50,000. And it holds true for name-brand merchandise such as Rolex, Colibri, Speidel, Anson, Maruman, Baume-Mercier, Croton, Cross, Piaget, Sheaffer, Bulova, Seiko and Cartier.

All our diamonds are selected by certified gemologists, and protected by an exclusive guarantee. We also offer you the finest quality and largest selection of jewelry, and personal attention from a trained staff.

American Diamond Brokers honors all major credit cards, and has a convenient layaway plan for your Christmas shopping.

Visit our nearest outlet today. We'll show you specific price examples of how our new selling concept works.

At American Diamond Brokers, you'll always get more jewelry per dollar.

Christeens produce show for cable TV

staff writer

Youth director Ron Priggee was looking for a new way to get young people involved in another dimension of church activities at Lutheran Church of the Risen Christ in Plymouth when he came up with the idea of a TV show done entirely from their point of view.

At the outset, he wasn't sure if the idea would catch on. After a year, he's sure it: has. The interest of the young people is as keen as ever. Now he'd like to expand his idea by having other teen-agers join in the operation that calls for producing a half-hour show every other week. The young members of his production company feel the same way. They would welcome new members into their fledgling production company.

Besides the camaraderie, they say it has proven be great hands-on experience for anyone interested in the field of mass communications and the use of video equipment.

THE NAME OF the group is Christeens Video Productions and the weekly show is "Youth View." To date, the handful of Plymouth-Canton area teens have produced 75 cable television shows using a community access programming made available to them by Omnicom cable company which serves recently went to Holland where they the Plymouth-Canton area. The shows have a variety format with skits, music and interviews.

"Our goal is to show what Christians are doing and to show we have a good time being Christian together," said Priggee, a marketing research consult-

The teen organization is the only group to have a regular spot on the public access channel, he says with

THAT'S DUE directly to the enthusiasm of the teens who give up a lot of their personal time to film the special events that occur away from the Omni-

In this regard, Priggee had high praise for Omnicom.

"We are lucky to have a cable company that allows this. Most companies," he said, "let you do public access in or out of their studios, but not both."

Because of Christeens' format of filming events of local interest in area churches, about 80 percent of their shows are produced on actual location where they are taking place.

An example of that came when they

OTHER SHOWS involved off-stage interviews in Ford Auditorium with gospel recording stars Amy Grant and Sandi Patti.

Their most recent celebrity interview was with missionary Bernard Johnson, often referred to as the Billy Graham of Brazil. Johnson was a guest preacher at the United Assembly Church of God in Plymouth Township recently as part of a U.S. speaking tour.

Two special Christmas programs are planned. One is a half-hour segment featuring events at Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church, Canton Calvary Assembly of God, First United Methodist of Northville, Huron Hills Baptist Church in Ann Arbor and the Agape Christian Center in Plymouth.

On Dec. 20, they plan to have a live show in which they hope to involve the community by asking people to call in and comment on a topic that will be announced.

They're hoping for a good response, but even more, they're hoping they'll get some new members who will be part of their show - even if it's only to call and alert Christeens about special events in their respective churches. Advance notice is needed, Priggee pointed out, because the show is taped three or four weeks in advance.

Christeens can be reached by calling Priggee at 455-3999 or by writing to P. O. Box 91, Plymouth 48170.

Troubles caused soul-searching

I have just returned from three weeks in Haiti with a construction team of persons from the Detroit area. Along with a crew of Haitians, we built a cement block building on top of a mountain. It will be used as a pastor's residence and guest house.

Each day our work team had to climb two miles up the side of the mountain to reach the building site. There are no roads in this part of Haiti.

On the way down from this mountain ne afternoon, a member of our work eam fell on the steep trail and broke oth bones in her leg. A Haitian went to ind someone with a donkey so that the erson could be brought down from the nountain to a nearby highway

That night as we were making arangements for the person with the roken leg to be taken into a city for nedical care, all of the money that two of our team members had brought with hem as well as some of their clothing

After sorting out our feelings we came to the conclusion that we must forgive the thief. Yet this was not to be the end of the issue. A Haitian who had accompanied us during this time raised a deeper ques-

WHEN A Haitian pastor in Port-au-Prince met with us a few days later he expressed his sympathy for these three people who had experienced a broken bone or the loss of their money. Then he raised yet another question.

'How much is enough?" he asked How much are we prepared to give to people in need and to God? How far are we prepared to go?

This question has stayed with us.

Evil forces within our world are prepared to press their goals to the point of death. What about those who speak and act for God and all that is good and healing for our fellow people?

This is a root question of any religious faith. How much will we risk for what we believe? This alone would make religious people into fanatics. In addition, what will we risk to bring healing, reconciliation, hope and justice to this world?

How much is enough? This is a question with which we must be prepared to struggle in a world which moves ever closer to the precipice. This is an issue which eleven church folk who went to Haiti from America have upon their

IPSEP children have Christmas at Farrand

Babies, toddlers and preschoolers in the Infant Preschool Special Education Program celebrated Christmas at a family party Wednesday evening. The party in the gymnasium of Farrand El-ementary School was planned by the children's parents.

Each child received a stuffed Christmas stocking. They sang holiday songs and had their picture taken with Santa Claus. Local merchants donated prizes and items for the party.

There are 62 children involved in the IPSEP program provided by the Plymouth Canton Community Schools. It serves youngsters from birth to age 6 who have some type of disability. Orig-

Jaycee Women light candles

Canton Jaycee Women will join Jaycee Women chapters across the country Christmas Eve in lighting candles of remembrance. The candles will honor the American servicemen who died in Lebanon and give a ray of hope for peace in the year to come.

The Canton Jaycee Women are en-couraging all residents of the community to join with them on Christmas Eve in the silent demonstration of remembrance. They are asking people to place lighted candles in their windows on that night to unite in a silent prayer for peace while remembering those who died in Lebanon.

The Jaycee Women are a young women's leadership training organization, trying to make the world a better place in which to live. The Canton chapter has 20 members, each of whom will have the candle of peace glowing in her window on Christmas Eve.

Lana Olson is president of the chap-ter. Serving with her are Vicki Bush, vice president; Cindy Wright, secre-tary; Kathy Boch, treasurer and Nicole Beattie, director.

"We sincerely hope the community will join us in this symbolic effort of remembrance and hope for a brighter tomorrow," said Boch. She also ex-plained that the term Jaycee Women has replaced the former Jayceettes, as the groups were referred to at the national level. At the local level, the chapters were either Jaycee Auxiliary or Jaycettes.

Girls' game: good with bad

Thoughts idling wild down I-94 east, coming home from Kazoo.

EYES are heavy and my head hurts from too little sleep and the six emotion-filled girls' basketball games I had covered in the last 29 hours. The thought of this three-hour drive is killing me. It's amazing how homesick one can get spending a weekend in Kalamazoo.

A car full of young, happy girls speeds by. They hold a poster up to the window that proclaims, "Ladywood No. 1". I honk my horn and shake my fist in the air triumphantly. The girls in the car

They were happy because their team just won the state championship. I was happy for them. It must be a great feeling. I was also happy because they were facing the same arduous three-hour journey that I was - for some reason, I took comfort in that. I guess it was like having someone in the car with me.

GIRLS BASKETBALL has sure come a long way in a short period of time. The talent I had seen in the last two days was phenomenal. And you know what? Most of the top players were underclassmen. When Farmington Hills Our Lady of Mercy, last year's Class A state champs, took on Flint Northwestern in the semifinals Friday night, there was just one senior on the court — Mercy's Sarah

Mercy started three juniors and a sophomore. Off the bench came two more juniors. Northwestern, which eventually became this season's state champs, started three juniors and two sophomores. Off the bench came freshman Stephanie Tipton, and all she did was hit five straight shots to help her team defeat the Marlins, Class B champ, Ledywood, started three juniors and two sophomores. River Rouge, which Ladywood defeated in the championship, started four juniors and a sophomore.

Who are these underclassmen? See if you don't ecognize these names: Annette Ruggiero, Mary Rosowski, Terri Ford and Amy DeMattia, Mercy; Emily Wagner, Char Govan, Ladywood; Franthea Price, River Rouge; Tonya Edwards, Northwestern. These are some of the best players in the state, and they will all be back next year.

YES, THE the talent level in girls basketball has improved at a rapid rate. Unfortunately, some other areas are a step behind - at least.

The most noticeable area is the officiating. The quality of officiating in high school girls basketball is light years behind the quality of the players.

It's to the point where a girl makes a legal move and gets called for a violation because the referee has never seen a girl make that kind of a move. Since he's never seen it, it must be wrong.

Case in point: Several times this season I've seen traveling unjustly called on Mercy's Marv Rosowski. She possesses a very strong, and quick, first step to the basket - it's a move that, until recently, was never seen in the girls' game. Players are being penalized for having extraordinary talents.

I ALSO think too many refs read the newspapers. They know which teams are the pregame "favorite." They know who the underdogs are. They know who the top scorers are. Sometimes, and I really believe this, these preconceived attitudes affect their judgment on the court.

Harper Woods Regina feels an ill-advised threeseconds call late in the game cost them the state championship last Saturday against Northwestern They might be right. A shot was taken and missed. Regina's Jolynn Schneider pulled down the offensive rebound, took one dribble toward the baseline, and the ref called three seconds. Regina trailed by a point at the time.

Three seconds, in girls basketball, should be the least-called violation. Unless the girl just camps out in the lane, the call shouldn't be made. The girls' game, unlike boys hoops, is not primarily an inside game. It's more of a perimeter game. There are very few occasions to call three seconds.

Sign on the freeway reads Marshall exit one mile. Come on, baby, another hour and a half. Don't fall asleep. Wish I could find a decent radio station.

I THINK the Michigan High School Athletic ssociation should seed teams for the state ourney. That would avoid a situation like we had his year. Three of the four state championships ere, for all intents and purposes, decided in the emifinals. In Class A, No. 1 ranked Mercy lost to Vo. 2 ranked Northwestern. In Class B, No. 2 anked Ladywood beat No. 1 ranked Manistee. In Class D, No. 1 ranked Leland lost to DeTour. If that's not argument for seeding, I don't know hat is. The tournament should be seeded from the districts right up through to the finals.

"Welcome to Jackson." Man, one more hourt You know what else I think the MHSAA should

They should have all the boys basketball teams include byes for the weekend of the girls state can't remember if I thanked WMU's sports mation director John Beatty for all his help.

day night. The senior guard scored 11 points and made some key assists.

You've read about how small the Plymouth Canton boys' basketball team is. You've heard the coach talk about how small his team is. Still, the first time you see them you say,

"Man, are those guys small." On the other side of the court are these huge monsters in orange from Northville. Its starting front court goes 6-6, 220 pounds; 6-4, 200 pounds; and 6-1, 170 pounds. One of the guards is 6-2. The sixth man is 6-6, 220 pounds. "Man, are these guys huge."

Northville enters the game undefeated and considered the team to beat in the Western Lakes Athletic Association Western Division. Canton enters 1-1. A blow out, right?

THE CHIEFS frustrated the hulking Mustangs with a hustling man-toman defense and showed tremendous savvy in handing Northville its first loss of the young season Tuesday night 57-52.

The victory continues the Chiefs' homecourt hex over the Mustangs. A Northville basketball team has never won a game in the Canton gym.

The victory also should earn the Chiefs some much-deserved respect in the Western Division, if not throughout the entire league.

"I think it was more of a case of us taking them out of their game," said Canton coach Dave Van Wagoner when asked if the victory may have been a result of Northville's own ineffectiveness

"We played a nice man-to-man de-fense and fronted their big people inside real well. When the ball did go inside, the guards and forwards came down and helped out. We forced them to take the outside shot and that's about all you can hope to do against those big men."

CANTON ALSO displayed a good deal of poise in staving off several Northville surges, including one spurt where Canton was outscored 22-2.

"We have a lot of smart, intelligent players who know how to win when it's winning time," Van Wagoner said.

its first four possessions, Canton raced ahead 10-2. Surprisingly, six of Canton's points came off offensive rebounds, twice by senior Mike Jenn-

"I though Jennings may have been a key for us. He played a very intelligent game and really went after the rebounds," Van Wagoner said.

Jennings scored 15 points for the Chiefs and was the teams' leading re-

Northville owned Canton in the final minutes of the first quarter and for half of the second. It was then that Northville went on the 22-2 outburst and led 24-12 with just over four min-

CANTON GOT its act together after a Van Wagoner timeout, and went on a surge of their own. The Chiefs outscored the Mustangs 14-2 in the final 3:35 seconds of the half. Northville led 26-25 at the half.

Van Wagoner believes his team has the finest guard tandem in the WLAA this year. Canton's senior guards Mark Bennett and Gary Thomas demonstrated why Van Wagoner is so high them Tuesday night.

It was Bennett and Thomas who rallied the Chiefs back into the game at the end of the second quarter. Bennett scored eight of his 11 points during that stretch. Thomas hit four straight free throws during the stretch.

Canton grabbed the lead in hurry at the outset of the second half. Senior center Elijah Rogers took a beautiful feed from Bennett and hit a short jumper. Then after Northville answered that hoop, Rogers grabbed an offensive rebound and put Canton ahead 29-28.

The third quarter ended with the Chiefs clinging to a one-point lead, 39-

NORTHVILLE TOOK the lead in its first possession of the fourth quarter. Canton misfired on its next two possessions, but Northville was whistled twice for offensive fouls, preventing them from taking control of the game.

Four days.

No, this isn't an announcement for an appliance store sale. Although Schoolcraft College men's basketball coach Rocky Watkins figures to cash in about four days from now.

That's when he'll pick up a quartet of players cheap. All four become eligible to join the team Dec. 19. And the Ocelots could use the help.

It was evident in Schoolcraft's one-sided 101-68 triumph over Madonna College Saturday at Eastern Michigan. But it was even more apparent in a 109-84 humbling at the hands of Glen Oaks Community College last Wednesday (Dec. 7).

Turnovers and poor defense have been our problem," Watkins said of his 5-5 Ocelots. "We've been working on it every day in practice. We're making poor decisions on the floor. "I told them I was taking the asylum back from the inmates. We're going to play it closer to the

WHAT WATKINS wants is more controlled play on the court, and he hopes that the addition of 6foot-3 forward Eric Stokes, 6-3 guard James Orr, 6-6 center-forward Larry Martin and 5-8 guard Rich Shavers will provide that. All four were sidelined because of academic problems.

Watkins figures Stokes, a transfer from Utah Tech; Orr, a transfer from Wayne State; and Martin, who switched from Henry Ford CC, are all potential starters.

Those four, combined with the return of guard Tom Van Wagoner, who had been out with a leg injury, could get Schoolcraft on track in time for the start of the Eastern Conference.

"Orr, Martin and Stokes are outstanding defensive players," Watkins said. "And that kind of play is infectious.

One player Watkins would like it to "infect" its high-scoring guard Carlos Briggs. The sophomore, sensation poured in 45 points, grabbed 12 rebounds, dished out six assists and made six steals against outmanned Madonna. But he also committed nine

"CARLOS CAN play good defense when he wants to," Watkins said. "But he can't seem to put his mind to it for 40 minutes."

Pat Martin added 21 points and 13 rebounds to the Ocelot cause against Madonna. Van Wagoner had 10 points and four assists.

Watkins called the loss to Glen Oaks "the worst since I've been here as coach. It was a total break-down." Briggs finished that game with 34 points, with Vince Merriweather netting 13, Pat Martin 12 and Eric Sink eight to go with 13 rebounds.

A PLYMOUTH HIGH SCHOOL FLASHBACK

The first week Of May, 1975 saw the Plymouth Salem Rocks record 2 key baseball wins. The first, a 7-6 nonleague victory over Ypsilanti featured a fine hitting and pitching performance by John DenHouter. Chuck Thomas picked up the save. Charile Johnson, Dave Pierce, Brian Wolcott and Tim Dillon all delivered key run-scoring base hits. Against Belleville later in the week, Tom Willette pitched the first 5 innings allowing just one hit while striking out 12 in a 10-0 Salem bombardment. Hitting heroes included Dan Moore, Doug Tripp and Howard Inch. The Rocks took a 5-2 league mark into a Tuesday showdown with Redford Union.

What an improvement from last season!

With the addition of the Farmington schools, the 1983 All-Observer Girls Swim Team lists some of Michigan's best.

But you should start once again with some familiar faces — the Livonia Stevenson contingent — led by 100-yard breaststroke Class A champion Mary Schoenle. She helped the Spartans to the Western Lakes Conference title and a fourth-place finish in the state.

Next comes North Farmington, ninth in Class A, and its young cast of talented swimmers. North won the Northwest Suburban League crown.

And Catholic League champion Farmington Hills Our Lady of Mercy, another newcomer, adds more twinkle to an already star-studded team.

Here is this year's All-Area Girls Swim Team.

FIRST TEAM

Jennifer Rowe, North Farmington, 200 freestyle: The hard-working freshman went to the state meet and placed sixth in the 500 freestyle, 12th in the 200 and was a member of the Raiders' fourth-place 400 freestyle relay squad.

She also established school, pool and league records this year.

"Jennifer is a very hard worker - willing to go more," said coach Jordan Hatch. "She's a competi-

Sherrie Sudek, Livonia Stevenson, 200 IM: The sophomore's best finish in the state meet was fourth in the individual medley (2:12.54). Her best time in this event was 2:11.53 (state preliminaries). She also helped Stevenson to fourth place in the 200 medley relay at the same meet. During the season, Sudek set a varsity record in the 200 freestyle (1:57.4) and a Stevenson pool record in the 100 backstroke (where she was undefeated). A two-event conference champ, Sudek was called "very talented, a good student and very spirited" by her coach, Lois McDonald. Mary Manderfield, North Farmington, 50 freestyle: A senior, Manderfield was a team captain and leader. Her win in the 50 freestyle enabled North to beat West Bloomfield for the first time ever in a dual Making her fourth straight state meet appearance, Manderfield finished 12th in Class A with a season-best time of 25.28. "Mary would swim any event that might need to be filled to help her team," coach Hatch said. "The team comes first to her." Katie MacIntosh, Farmington, diving: The junior standout finished 15th in the state and second in the Class A regional The Western Lakes Conference champ won 10 of 11 dual meets and set a Farmington varsity and pool record with a 236.4 point total for six dives. Sheila Taormina, Livonia Stevenson, 100 butterfly: Only a freshman, Taormina finished fifth in the butterfly at state with a time of 59.46. Her best time in this event was 59.12. A member of Stevenson's fourth-place medley relay team at state, Taormina was "very talented with all strokes," according to her coach "She has lots of spirit and is liked by the whole team," McDonald said. "She knows how to practice to succeed."

Taormina also won two events at the Western Lakes Conference meet.

Ann Schlaepfer, Livonia Bentley, 100 freestyle: The sophomore was 13th at state in the 100 freestyle where she holds the school record.

Schoenle leads talent-laden club

At the Western Lakes meet, Schlaepfer finished second in the 100 freestyle (55.80), fourth in the 50 freestyle (26.03) and helped Bentley to second place in a school record-setting 400 freestyle relay performance (3:48.5).

"Ann's a very competitive swimmer who enjoys the challenge of competing against the best swimmers from other teams," said Bentley coach Keith Wright.

Sue Herzog, Farmington Mercy, 500 freestyle: Herzog's best finish in Class A was in the 500 freestyle where she placed fifth in 5:09.31.

She also helped the Marlins to 12th place in the 400 freestyle relay and 14th in the 200 medley re-

Herzog also grabbed eighth at the state meet in the 200 freestyle (1:58.36).

Kathy Sullivan, Livonia Stevenson, 100 backstroke: 13th at state in the backstroke, the sophomore excelled in a variety of events this season for the Spartans.

She was second in the backstroke and fourth in the 200 IM at the league meet.

Sullivan was also a member of the Spartans' fourth-place 200 medley relay team at the state Class A finals.

"She's fun to have on the team because she likes to race, have fun and succeed," McDonald said.

Mary Schoenle, Livonia Stevenson, 100 breaststroke: The junior holds four school records, including the 100 breaststroke in 1:06.46 (where she won the state title) and the 200 IM (2:08.52) where she was second in the state.

Between the breaststroke and IM, Schoenle lost only one meet all year. She won two individual events at the league meet as well.

"She's fun to coach because she can mentally make changes as well as physically," McDonald said. "She's a good student and participates in other sports."

Schoenle and Sudek will co-captain the Spartans again next season.

AT-LARGE

Kim Dorsey, Garden City: Dorsey is on the All-Observer squad for the third consecutive year.

She was Northwest Suburban League champ in the 200 freestyle and 100 butterfly, and was a state qualifier in the 200 and 500 freestyles. As a senior, Dorsey appeared in the listings in five different individual events. Jill Andries, Farmington Mercy: Andries was instrumental in the Marlins' Catholic League title She won the 200 IM in 2:20.7 and the 100 breaststroke in 1:11.6. Her best finish at state was 11th in the breaststroke (1:11.29).

Ginnie Johnson, Plymouth Canton: The Chiefs' top swimmer this season, Johnson qualified for two finals at the state Class A meet.

She was 14th in the 200 IM (2:16.91) and 12th in the 100 butterfly (1:00.35). An injury at the state meet prevented Johnson from swimming the finals of the butterfly. The Canton junior was second in the butterfly and third in the 200 IM at the Western Lakes meet. She also had an outstanding time of 1:08.0 in the 100 backstroke.

Gayle Gorgas, Livonia Churchill: The Chargers' mainstay was impressive at the state meet despite swimming in the shadow of Schoenle, gaining two places in the final 12.

She was fifth in the 100 breaststroke at the state meet with a season-best clocking of 1:08.83. In the 200 IM, Gorgas was 10th with a season-best time of Carey, a junior, had an outstanding season. She was fifth in the 200 IM at state with a time of 2:13.12. This was accomplished after missing all of last season with a shoulder injury.

"It was a great pleasure to see Colleen return this year," said her coach. "She is a very spirited swimmer and is always trying to keep the team up

Cramer, just a freshman, posted five different state qualifying times this year. She holds North records in the 50 and 100 freestyles.

"She is going to go along way before she's done in four years," Hatch said.

HE CONSENSUS among Western Lakes Athletic Association swim coaches is that Plymouth Salem is a good bet to repeat as league champions.

But coach Chuck Olson would just as soon not discuss that at this stage of the

"I think we have some decent swimmers returning," Olson said. "But we are a long ways from being the team we were last year."

He pointed out that several teams, namely Livonia Stevenson, Farmington, and Livonia Churchill, have shown substantial improvement.

"It will definitely be a challenge," he said.

Graduation sapped some strength from the Rocks. Gone are Ashley Long who was the 13th best breaststroke swimmer in the state last year. He was also the catalyst of Salem's 12thranked medley relay team. Gone too are Mark Roehrig, Tim Harwood, Tom Shaw, and league champion diver Todd

"WE HAVE an awful lot of spots to fill," Olson said. "But we've got kids that saw what it took to win last year. They know what they have to do. The question is, can they get it done in

Those in charge of getting it done include

· Erik Kleinsmith: Senior, co-captain. He will be the Rocks' premier freestyler. He qualified for the state meet last year in the 200-yard free, swimming a 1:48.9. He was second in the league last year in the 500-free, in

• Scott Anderson: Another senior, co-captain, Anderson was a member of Salem's freestyle relay team that finished 12th in the state last year. He will swim freestyle and butterfly for the Rocks this year.

• Bob Bowling: Senior, co-captain. He was a member of the state-ranked medley relay team of last year. He was third in the league last year in the 50free, and fourth in the 100-free.

• David Workman: This senior breaststroke specialist may be the key to Rocks' success. He has the unenviable task of replacing Long. "David has a big job to do for us," Olson said. "He has got to come through in the breast if our medley relay is going to do anything this year." Workman is a talented swimmer, finishing fifth in the league

There are 37 swimmers on the Rock roster. Depth should not be a problem for Olson.

"We have a lot of spots to fill," he said, "but fortunately, we have a lot of bodies to try and fill them with."

Olson has been coaching the boys program at Salem for seven years. Last year was his first league championship. If the experts are correct, he'll win his second title in a row this

Listen to what Plymouth Canton coach Hooker Wellman says of Salem's chances this year: "They are going to run away with it. They could win the league by 200-some points. They have so much talent and so much depth."

Olson isn't so sure. "We're defending champs. I'm not going to downplay that. We never won a league championship before last year and we used that as a definite goal. And the kids swam just great. We won the LUCE AND McBratnie are both excellent breaststrokers, finishing third and fourth in the league last season. Both could qualify for the state meet this year. McBratnie will also see duty as a distance freestyler.

Two other seniors should aid the Chiefs' cause this year. Matt Krawzak is a potential state qualifier in the butterfly. "He's the biggest kid on the" team. He could be an outstanding swimmer if he applies himself and works hard," Wellman said.

The other senior, Jeff Zarrow, should help out in the freestyle events.

Juniors John Ahrens (distance freestyler) and Jim Casler (all strokes) will score a lot of points for Canton this

The strength of the Chiefs could be the divers. Sophomore Matt Flower and freshman Chris Jeannotte have outstanding potential, according to Wellman. They are also receiving excellent coaching from former Salem diver Joe Rudelic.

The team's depth will be provided by five freshman: Jim Walker, Frank Wisniewski, Dean Roberts, Steve Schwinn, Dan Lockwood and Jeannotte.

"We're very young, but the future of the program has some real possibilities," said Wellman.

we had three people out with the flu." There was some good news for Canton. Scott Tasker, who had been wrestling on the junior varsity most of the

Schoolcraft to welcome 4 new additions at break

staff writer

Four days. No, this isn't an announcement for an appliance store sale. Although School-craft College men's basketball coach Rocky Watkins figures to cash in about four days from now.

That's when he'll pick up a quartet of players cheap. All four become eligible to join the team Dec. 19. And the Ocelots could use the help. It was evident in Schoolcraft's one-sided 101-68 triumph over Madonna College Saturday at Eastern Michigan. But it was even more apparent in a 109-84 humbling at the hands of Glen Oaks Community College last Wednesday (Dec. 7).

"Turnovers and poor defense have been our problem," Watkins said of his 5-5 Ocelots. "We've been working on it every day in practice. We're making poor decisions on the floor.

"I told them I was taking the asylum back from the inmates. We're going to play it closer to the vest."

basketball

WHAT WATKINS wants is more controlled play on the court, and he hopes that the addition of 6-foot-3 forward Eric Stokes, 6-3 guard James Orr, 6-6 center-forward Larry Martin and 5-8 guard Rich Shavers will provide that. All four were sidelined because of academic problems.

Watkins figures Stokes, a transfer from Utah Tech; Orr, a transfer from Wayne State; and Martin, who switched from Henry Ford CC, are all potential starters.

Those four, combined with the return of guard Tom Van Wagoner, who had been out with a leg injury, could get Schoolcraft on track in time for the start of the Eastern Conference.

Orr, Martin and Stokes are outstanding defensive players," Watkins said. "And that kind of play is infecOne player Watkins would like it to "infect" its high scoring guard Carlos Briggs. The sophomore sensation poured in 45 points, grabbed 12 rebounds, dished out six assists and made six steals against outmanned Madonna. But he also committed nine turnovers.

"CARLOS CAN play good defense when he wants to," Watkins said. "But he can't seem to put his mind to it for,

Pat Martin added 21 points and 13 ebounds to the Ocelot cause against Madonna. Van Wagoner had 10 points

Watkins called the loss to Glen Oaks "the worst since I've been here as coach. It was a total breakdown."
Briggs finished that game with 34 points, with Vince Merriweather netting 13, Pat Martin 12 and Eric Sink eight to go with 13 rebounds.

Schoolcraft travels to Lansing Community College Friday.

Secretary answers bowling critics

By W.W. Edgar staff writer

Unlike most young people who go to college to shape a career or go to a shop to learn a trade, Bill Lemerand, owner of the Williams Engine Service at Mill Street and the railroad in Plymouth, took an unusual route.

He just watched his father who was a landscape architect at a chemical firm in Rocwood, and his grandfather who spent his time working on all sorts of engines, especially those connected with groundskeeping and Model T Fords.

He was only 16 years old when he began to work on his own.

"It was an old Sears lawnmower and it needed work badly. But I worked at it and finally got it back into condition. And I was proud that I was able to do such a job so early in my career."

From that start he advanced to where he now owns his own business and has branched out to handle all sorts of engines.

in the pocket by W.W. Edgar

You will find all sorts of engines in the shop he has renovated in the past few months. They range from the ordinary mower to the large riding mowers used on golf courses. And when there are no lawnmowers to work on, Lemerand finds time to work on what he calls a racing machine.

WHILE MOST of his life - he is now 41 years old - has been wrapped up in motors, he still has time for a hobby as a drag racer.

"This is a great sport," he said, "and it is fun going around the state and even into Canada to compete in the big

As he talked, Lemerand pointed to a large shelf filled with trophies of all shapes and sizes. "I didn't do badly. I won my share of trophies."

He belongs to a drag racing association and has raced in the major events in Grand Rapids. He especially likes the races in Canada where most of the competition is held on weekends at a track near Rondeau Park.

He competes in what is called the 250 open class with a machine powered by a Kohler engine capable of going 72 miles per hour.

When the drum heater shop at Mill and the railroad closed several months ago, Lemerand quickly seized the opportunity to come to Plymouth. He renovated the old building and now it is a haven for drag racing enthusiasts and serves as a "hospital" for all sorts of engines in need of repair.

And the successful career all came about because he watched his father and grandfather in their shops in Rockwood, and started with the repair of a Sears mower when he was only 16

M-14 Livonia. Alright!

How's this for a parting shot: Liz Bonello, Mercy's scorekeeper who is as sweet a person as you can know, was crying her pretty brown eyes out after her team's loss Friday night. The loss wasn't the only reason for her tears.

Northwestern the entire game. The woman was loud and obnoxious throughout. After the game, the Northwestern woman shook Liz by the shoulders shouting, "I told you we'd win. I told you."

Liz, totally frustrated, slapped the woman. (Who wouldn't have?) It wasn't really a violent slap. It was more of a "get-away-from-me" slap. Still, Liz was very upset. She shouldn't have been. The woman deserved it.

Fouls, according to Northville coach Tim Lutes, were a major factor in his team's demise.

"There were so many offensive fouls called, (we were) just looking to avoid the fouls. We play a bump, push and grind type of game and we weren't able to do that tonight. I'm not saying the calls were bad. It was just a really tightly called game."

Canton went to the foul line 19 times and made 13. Northville went to the line six times and made two.

With 6:07 left in the game, Rogers took a pass from Jim Schlinker off the fastbreak and sank a layup to put the Chiefs up to stay 41-40.

Baskets by Thomas and Bennett incresed the Chiefs' lead to five 49-44. Then it was a case of making the free throws down the stretch, which the Chiefs did. Thomas made two, Jennings made three and Kevin Hawkins

THOMAS LED the Chiefs with 18 points. He hit five of 14 shots from the floor and eight of eight from the line. Jennings had 15 and Bennett, after missing his first three shots from the floor, canned six his next nine for 11 points.

Scott Gala and Steve Schrader led Northville with 12 points each. Bob Pegrum added 10.

Northville made 12 turnovers (Canton made nine) and could manage just a 33-26 edge in rebounds despite its overwhelming size advantage.

Canton is now 2-1 this season, 2-0 in league play. Northville is 3-1, 1-1 in

Churchill gets new grid coach

There was no need for suspense.
All along everybody knew Herb Osterland was joing to succeed Ken Kaestner as football coach at Avonia Churchill.

Osterland finally got the word last week.

"Herb has paid his dues," said Churchill Athletic Director Larry Joiner. "He's been an assistant for 10 years. He was the leading candidate all the way.

"And it's so much easier to deal with somebody inside. He works here in physical education and that's a real plus." Kaestner, the affable and successful coach of the Chargers for 16 seasons, recommended Osterland for the job.

"He coached junior high football and has a good background," Joiner said. "He's well qualified."

OSTERLAND is a graduate of Marine City High School and Eastern Michigan University. He lettered in football at EMU in 1962.

He spent nine years coaching at Holmes Junior High in Livonia and moved over to Kaestner's staff in 1974, where he served as JV coach.

During the past five seasons he's been Churchill's offensive coordinator.

"The thing about Ken is that he's a great person and a great human being," Osterland said. "He meant a lot to me and he's a good friend.

"He let me share my personality. He still wants to be part of the program and he told me that he'll be our No. 1 fan and help in any way he can."

Osterland said that Darrell Copley will be retained as coach of the offensive and defensive lines.

The new coach, however, is seeking a new defen-

Those underclassmen were all instrumential in helping Churchill win its final three games of the season and finish with a 4-5 overall record.

"The last three games left a good taste in their mouths," said the new coach. "More numbers will be available because they saw the success after beating teams like Harrison and Stevenson. It all depends on the attitude between now and the start of next season.

"But I feel happy — we'll come out to play I'm sure. I feel good about what's happening to us."

IN ADDITION to his new football duties, Oster-land plans to continue as the school's head baseball

"I'm going to coach baseball this spring and then see after that," he said. "You can do both. John Herrington does it at Harrison and so does Chuck Apap at Walled Lake Western. I'll wait and see un-

Know your worth when drawing up a wil

Many people naively assume that a will drawn several years ago is still valid and can do the job. In almost all such cases, such a will is at best inadequate and at worst useless.

Don't overrate P/E ratio

I bought stock in a company called Van Dorn in 1975, and my cost was $6 a share. When I bought the stock, the company earned 94 cents a share, so I paid just about six times earnings for it. I have been taught to look for stocks that sell at about that price earnings

Recently the stock has been above $25 a share. I had just about decided to sell the stock because the price earn-ings ratio is now nearly 20. I know when a stock sells at that high a price earnings ratio, it's in danger of an adjustment. Also, I have quadrupled my money and would have a very nice

However, I just received a recom-mendation from my broker on this stock, in which he suggests it could go quite a bit higher. I have always found that it pays to buy stock with a low PE and sell it when it gets high. Do you see where I may be making a mistake in

Your general thinking seems good to me, but there is more to a price earnings ratio than just the number. First, it is necessary to relate price earnings ratio to the general state of the stock

We have just come through an 8- or 9-year period when price earnings have been at a cyclical low. Over long periods of time, we move from periods of earnings, to periods of excessive confidence when they sell at 20-21 times. We seem to be in a period now when we are making a probably long-term move from the lower end of that range to the higher range. This means the price earnings ratios that stocks sold at their highs in the last four or five years are likely to be exceeded in the future.

PRICE EARNINGS ratios are also affected by the nature of the particular company. Van Dorn:has some aspects of its business that are severely influenced by the business cycle.

In the very bad period we have just come through, it had some volume declines and a substantial reduction in profits. So at this time, you have the price up and earnings down. The result of that is the company is selling at a very high price earnings ratio.

When you come out of a recession, the market begins to boost the price of al Oak 48068.

good quality stocks quite a while before their business is actually producing increased profits. This gives a high price earnings ratio, but the expectation is that the company's earnings will be coming up rapidly, and this will drop the PE.

TV shows give new talent a chance

Lisa LiGreci practices at home, accompanied by husband Joe, who plays in a band called Smokin' that she occasionally sings

A CONTRACTOR OF THE PARTY OF TH

EMEMBER, DREAMS really do come true right here on the 'Saturday Night Music Machine' " says Curtis Gadson on WDIV-TV's prime-time talent show-

The dream that could come true and not only could but does propel most talented people is the big one: Getting discovered. That's the bait that draws hundreds of talented area people to audition for the "Saturday Night Music Machine" as well as several other local and national talent-competition televi-

And there probably isn't an enter-tainer alive who hasn't at one time or another in his or her career hoped for the big break.

That dream never seems to change. The venues and the shows and opportunities do. Once there were TV shows like "The Auntie Dee Show" and Ted Mack's "Amateur Hour." Now there's "Star Search," "Saturday Night Music Machine" and "Stars of Tomorrow."

BUT GETTING ON one of these shows isn't a breeze. That's what Rebecca Wheeler found out when she and her trio (Tap, Ltd.) went for an audi-

"Mary (Frankfurth), Barb (Hamel) and I went down to the studio four or five times for auditions in front of audiences," said Wheeler, a pianist and singer who lives in West Bloomfield. "Finally, out of about 400 auditions, they chose about 12 acts for the first four shows. We were one of the groups

Singing in an Andrews Sisters style, Wheeler and her two partners appeared on the Dec. 10 "Saturday Night Music Machine." They didn't win (three acts compete against each other) but Wheeler said it was a great time.

'I hope it leads to a good band offer or possibly some work in some studios.'

> - Lisa LiGreci Canton singer

"It was a lot of fun, and we got some exposure in Detroit," she said. "It's a lot of hours but it's worth it."

Wheeler and Frankfurth already have a fulltime career as performers in a show that runs regularly at the Holly Hotel. For other area talents, though, the need to get exposure and be discovered is more critical.

TAKE DOMINIK Certo, for instance. Certo is a singer who lived with his parents in Livonia - until recently. He was selected to sing as one of the three contestants on the very first "Saturday Night Music Machine." However, he didn't wait around to see if the increased exposure would lead to anything good for his fledgling music ca-

"He taped the show and then moved to California," reports his mother.

Certo was impatient to get on with his career and figured Los Angeles was the place to be. "I'm not counting on anything happening," he told his parents as he left for the West Coast.

Strange things do happen in the entertainment business. An Atlantic Records representative saw Certo sing on the Sept. 7 show and has contacted his parents, indicating interest in his ca-

After 13-year-old Lisa Evans appeared on one "Stars of Tomorrow" show, she was invited back and apppeared on the program for 12 weeks. She admits it was exposure, despite the hard work and long hours. It helped her settle some questions about her life, however.

"She learned the difficulties of dancing on a regular show," said her mother, Mrs. Melvin Evans of Westland. "The hours of rehearsal were very long, and she had to be at those rehearsals and still do her homework. She either had to accept that this was the way it was going to be as a dancer or she would have had to give it up."

The turning point was in the direction of a dance career. Lisa is now at Interlochen on a dance scholarship and will study in New York next summer with the David Howard ballet compa-

Mark Barnowski knows a lot about the long, hard climb toward success in the music businesss. Just 25, Mark along with his six brothers and sisters who form the musicl group Relation, have been at it since 1976.

OVER THE YEARS there has been an album, a single that got national airplay, and engagements at nightclubs in Lake Tahoe and Reno. But Relation is still waiting for the big record hit and the elusive Big Break.

The group may have gotten it last week when Mark sang on the nationally syndicated TV show "Star Search" seen locally Saturday nights on WKBD-TV, Channel 50). Singing a song written by him and his brothers Steve and Wally, the Bloomfield Township resident represented his whole family when he made his solo vocal debut.

Though he didn't win in his category, Barnowski wasn't discouraged. "The Tomorrow" proved a turning point for one young girl.

After 12-year-old Lies Evans pose the group enough to get national attention from a major record label."

So she jumped at the chance to appear on "Saturday Night Music Ma-chine." "When they called me," she said, "I went down for an audition the

Her performance has been taped for a future show, but LiGreci hopes that more comes of it than just exposure. "I know no producer is going to see the show and just call me up," said the Canton singer. "But I hope it leads to a good band offer or possibly some work in some studios."

Birmingham's Russell Park is hoping that his three-minute song on the same show will lead to work in area lounges. He hasn't worked in the local night spots enough to tire of them yet.

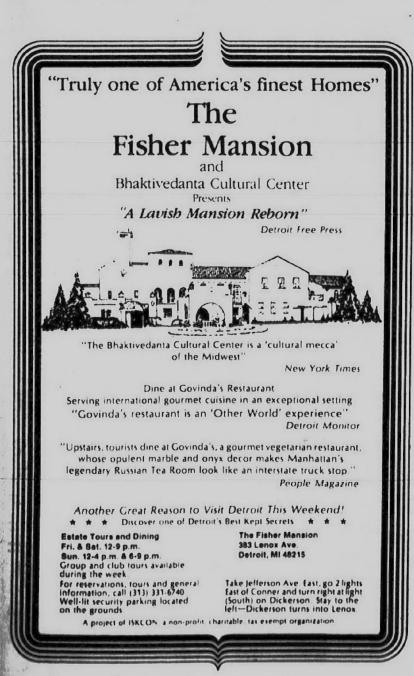

"I play a lot of weddings but I haven't been out in a club in a while," said Park, 22. He is hoping that will change when the "Saturday Night Music Machine" show he taped airs in January

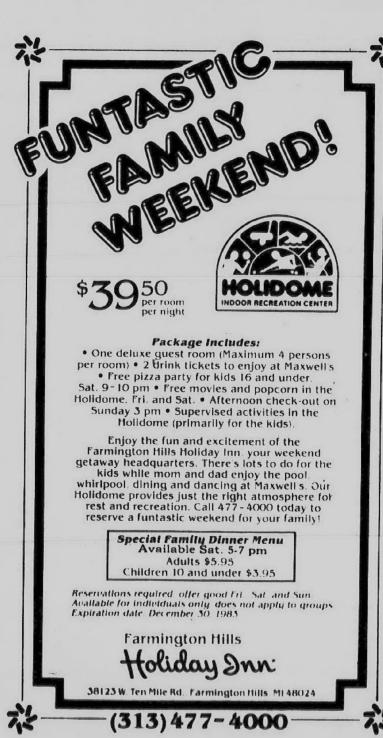

"It was the biggest thing I've ever done," he said, "and it was exciting for me to just be on the show. What I wanted most out of the show was exposure, and I think I'll get that."

Pianist emerges as major talent

special writer

While enthusiasm for classical music among the general population could never match the fervent, religious worship of Rock idols, the supply of gifted young artists seems to be plentiful these days.

Thus, the competition for a place at the top, with universal acclaim and recognition, is a fierce and unrelenting contest, indeed

One talent in our midst who deserves attention and recognition is Polish-born pianist Leszek Bartkiewicz. After having studied at the most prestigious in-stitutions in his native Poland, he came to this country in 1981 and is currently studying for his doctorate at the University of Michigan.

His latest performance was given at the Birmingham Temple. He was joined by another gifted young artist — Borivoj Martinic-Jercic. This 23-yearold violinist, born in Yugoslavia, came to this country in 1978 and is studying

A THIRD talent in this event was William Shapiro, M.D., who combines successfully his substantial musical talent as a pianist with his medical caI have heard Bartkiewicz on a couple previous occasions. While great poten-tial was evident on those occasions, my enthusiasm for his performance was less than total.

In view of this latest performance, my evaluation has to be substantially revised. Bartkiewicz is definitely emerging as a talent to be reckoned with.

The program consisted of works by Liszt, Beethoven, Chopin, Kreisler, Brahms and Prokofiev. On an overall basis, the performance in the Beethoven and Prokofiev works was the most impressive.

The program opened with Liszt's Transcendental Etude in F minor, which is an extremely technically demanding piece. Bartkiewicz has conquered most of the technical difficulties, but there were still some rough The following Sonata No. 7 in C minor for Piano and Violin by Beethoven was one of the highlights of the evening. The roaring plano passages were well integrated with the bright, colorful violin sound. Each of the four movements aptly conveyed its unique mood.

Hungarian Dance No. 1 by Brahms. He displayed good technique and virtuosity in the Kreisler piece, but ran into some difficulties in the Brahms.

Beethoven was also represented with his short seven piano Bagatelles. While this is not the pinnacle of Beethoven's music, Bartkiewicz's performance gave these pieces meaning and sub-ment. Violinist Jercic also participated in two shorter compositions - the

Tambourin Chenois by Kreisler and the

He was temporarily agitated after having hit a wrong note at the end of one of these Bagatelles, but he regained his composure to pull off a fine performance.

THE POLONAISE in A Flat Major by Chopin is one of the compser's most popular pieces, as well as one of the most difficult. For the most part, Bartkiewicz presented a momentous and brilliant performance of this work, Among the flaws were the parallehin ascending scales. But he handled well;

the difficult, rapid left hand octaves. The program was capped with a two-piano arrangement of Prokofiev's Coine certo in D. Flat Major for Piano and Orchestra. The second piano was: played by Shapiro, who displayed a remarkable ability in this role, which was: his only one on the program.

The sparkling and spirited performance for both pianists did justice to this youthful composition. The cascading piano passages with the sprightly, dashes were most refreshing. The substitution for the second piano for the orchestra didn't seem to detract substantially from the charm of this work Bartkiewicz was the dominant performer in this program and we should be hearing more of him in the future. The ability of his colleagues shouldn't be underestimated. They deserve more exposure, whereupon their potential can be more accurately appraised.

This week we had the opportunity to see Maestro Sixten Ehrling at a level of greatness that we haven't seen for the last couple of years.

On Thursday evening, he was a spry, slender, agile conductor, who showed complete control of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and provided us with an excellent musical program.

The first piece, Howard Hanson's Symphony No. 2, written in 1930, was nicknamed "Romantic.

In comparision to some of the music which was written in the 1930s, this is extremely tonal.

It has extremely rich orchestral properties which enhance the depth of polyphonic music. Classical harmony is used throughout.

To quote the composer, "The symphony represents escape from the rather bitter type of modern musical realism which occupies so large a place in contemporary thought. Much contemporary music seems to be showing a tendency to become entirely

The intermingling and the discourses among the different types of instruments was superb. It is my opinion that this piece of music should be presented to the audience on a more frequent basis.

The second and major piece of music performed was Wagner's Act I of "Die Walkure." This, of course, was done within the limitations of the orchestra and singer without the addition of scenery and explicit acting.

Even so, the part of Sieglinde, performed by soprano Siv Wennberg, was done with the action in

This was evident in the make-up, the facial expressions, the actions, as well as the singing itself. Wennberg was a very convincing Sieglinde, her voice indicating delicacy of expression as well as delicacy of spirit.

Small bites of big apple

THIS IS what it was like in the books we all read, about growing up in New York City sitting on the wide stone steps of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, eating a big soft pressit with mustard and watching Fifth Avenue go

There are two Yum Yum Bot Dogs selling pretzels and hot dogs under a brellas and an endless stream of y going by to the expensive apartment built and the museums that stretch along this side of Central Park.

I was in one of those taxis m what I saw from there was a New York Chy-postcard: school kids, tourists, lecals and lev-ers sitting all over the steps of the Macagain-tan Museum. Huge red, blue and yellow exhibit banners, and the pillared museum, make a backdrop behind the step-sitters, with lung white fountains, like wet white trees, on either

I SAW the Manet Exhibit, but at any time you can see the new Douglas Dillon Galleries for Chinese Paintings, the Egyptian collection (including the authentic Temple of Dendur). (including the authentic Temple of Dendur), the Michael C. Rockefeller Wing dedicated to primitive art, or the new American wing.

These are only the relatively new collections, the ones you haven't seen if you have not visited the museum in recent years. There are also, of course, the collections on which the Met has built its reputation since it was founded in 1870. It occupies 1.4 million square feet and extends along Fifth Avenue from 80th to 84th streets so don't expect to see it in a day.

There is something about the Met that encourages people to sit and stare, on the wooden bench that encircles a garden in the lobby, in front of the Temple of Dendur in the newly opened Egyptian exhibit, on benches in front of

FIER THE MET, relax over afternoon a, a cup of cappucino or a glass of wine in the timate little tearoom at the American Stan-Hotel, the best known hotel in the area, awning entrance facing across to the 81st reet entrance of the muse

You will find local people on the empire outhes and on the skirted early American hairs, informal handfuls of flowers on the tiny tables and a treasure of paintings on the tea room wall. The room is very busy at lunchtime, as is the cosy but elegant Saratoga dining room and the outdoor terrace of the hotel.

The American Stanhope is a small luxury hotel that recently underwent a $9 million renovation. It claims to house the country's largest collection of nineteenth century American art and antiques. There is a lot of art and money on the east side of uptown Manhattan, but there are also a lot of fresh young faces here in the hotel and along this stretch of Fifth Ave-

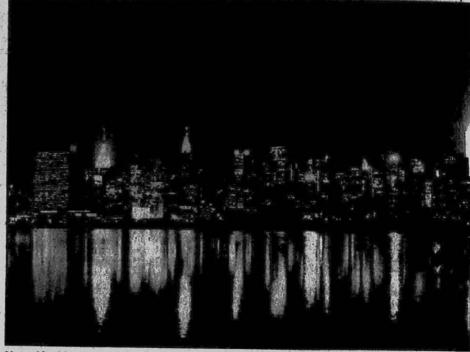

Guests enter the hotel through a small intimate lobby, from which doors open to the various dining areas and bar. The bedrooms are spacious and beautifully furnished with an-

Rates range from $125 to $165 single, $145 to $185 double, and from $185 to $620 for suites of various kinds and sizes. The Weekender is $105 per couple per night for two nights, Friday and Saturday arrival, and includes breakfasts, tips and admission to all the museums along Museum Mile.

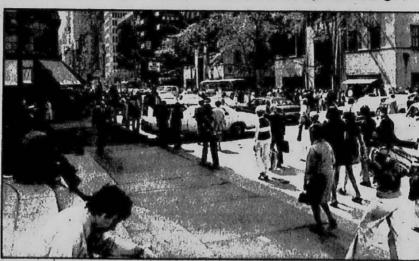

The Metropolitan Museum of Modern Art is a people place: Yum Yum Hot Dog stands selling pretzels and hot dogs under striped umbrellas, kids swarming about, people sitting outside the muse-

New York's magnificent skyline at night along the East River. The glowing spires are of the Empire State Building (left) and Chrysler Building.

The well-known Fifth Avenue where shoppers, business people and friends stroll along. Saks Fifth Avenue is at left.

JFK Express is an adventure all by itself

The JFK Express. It sounded like a marvelous idea. Take a fast train from Manhatten to John F. Kennedy Airport for $5. Save at least $20 over the taxi fare to JFK. Save yourself the hassle of New York City traffic, especially at rush hour. It is a great idea, if you don't have any more luggage than you can easily carry in one hand. I had a suitcase almost too heavy to lift, an airline bag, my camera bag and a purse.

The cabble told me what he thought about the JFK Express on our way to 57th St. and Sixth Avenue. The train would take me only to the Jamaica area, I would have to go the rest of the way by bus, there would be nobody to help me with my luggage and I would probably get mugged.

I DIDN'T respond because reliable New Yorkers had told me that the train is different from the graffiti-colored, crime-inclined subways. They said the train was clean and had plenty of security guards

"Besides," the cabbie added petulantly, "nobody takes taxis for long runs anymore. They use us as a shuttle!" That was the real reason for his opposition of course. It made me feel guilty enough to say "keep the change" but not to divert me.

I had a little portable luggage cart with wheels.
That would be enough wouldn't it? Every public facility has ramps for wheelchairs don't they? The answer is "no" and "no."

It was raining lightly. The handle broke off my luggage cart as I was trying to tug the wheels up the curb on 57th Street. I kicked and cursed my luggage to the nearest dime store. I growled and yelled for 20 minutes before I could buy another; they were chained in, as if they were leather coats or made of

THE FIRST one I chose was broken. I had to growl and yell all over again to get one that worked.

There was no ramp down to the subway. Two flights of stairs to the ticket booth and two more to the train, with my almost-too-heavy-to-lift suitcase falling off the cart every twenty feet down each

Little portable luggage carts aren't made for this much luggage

Fortunately, New Yorkers are much friendlier than they are given credit for. Three times I was rescued by strong young people who helped me stairway-by-stairway to the train.

My pundits were right. The cars were clean. There was no graffiti. Security guards were very visible. And the doors were locked so that nobody could get off and on, as the cursing young man discovered — he was only planning to go a few blocks.

I got off, all right, securely strapped. The bus was right there, waiting for us all to board; no extra charge, it was all part of the J.F.K. Express ticket.

My luggage was securely strapped to my cart, but I had to unstrap it to carry it aboard the bus, and I learned five minutes after we took off that I was on the wrong bus. My fault. The driver asked me where I was going and I was so dazed by then that I said "to EVERYBODY was going to the airport. When I came to my senses and walked forward to say "El Al" I learned that there are two buses, each of which circles half of the airport. I circled it, and then I got off, boarded another bus and circled it again.

The only thing I did right that day was to leave myself plenty of time to get from downtown to my noon is rush hour in New York, so I would have done that even if I had used a taxi.

The JFK Express. It is still a great idea. The trains run approximately every half hour from 5 a.m. to midnight with stops at eight stations: Along the Avestreets, 42nd Street, 34th Street and West Fourth Street.

The train runs from JFK to the city roughly every half hour from 5:30 a.m. to midnight. Look for the bus stop in front of your terminal that says "Bus/ Train to New York City".

Either way, you pay the usual 75 cents to get to the subway and an additional $4.25 aboard the train. For further information, call (212) 878-7439 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Anyone who has been connected with the college, no matter how briefly, may submit manuscripts for publication, Lindenberg said. Poetry, short stories, parts of novels, articles, plays will be considered. Artists may send photo-graphs — either 35mm slides or 3-by-10 inch black-and-white prints, draw-ings and prints ings and prints.

All work is due the first week in February and may be sent to Creative Arts Journal, Schoolcraft College, 18600 Haggerty, Livonia 48152.

Great Christmas ideas of the past

By Mary Klemic staff writer

A visit to Greenfield Village in Dearborn this month offers more than history lessons.

Structures at the Henry Ford Museum and the village contain a wealth of decorating ideas for Christmas present from Christmases past. They show that Victorian style flourishes and lush decors may never be outdated.

Do-it-yourselfers who want to have an oldfashioned Christmas may make their own period tree ornaments and greeting cards from the 19th century. Demonstrations on how to make the ornaments are taking place in the museum this month.

CHRISTMAS AS a holiday developed during the 19th century. Americans borrowed customs from Europe and combined them with new ideas, Greenfield Village guides say

At that time, how Christmas was celebrated depended on one's religious beliefs. The Amish and Mennonites in Michigan, for example, didn't celebrate the holiday as much as the English, Germans and others of other religions did.

In the late 19th and early 20th centuries, people turned to such publications as the Ladies Home Journal, Farm and Home and Successful Housekeeper for holiday decorating tips. Both rural and urban homes abounded with the lavish, romantic touches that characterized the Victorian style of Tabletop trees were popular at first, covered with natural and homemade ornaments. As seen in Henry Ford's 1870s home, American flags were added to the branches in honor of the country's centennial. Candles were placed on the branches, but almost never lit because they were much too hazardous. If the tree candles were lit at all, it was only for a brief time on Christmas Eve or Christmas Day. A bucket of water was kept right by the tree, ready to douse it if necessary.

GREEN BRANCHES were placed behind every picture on the wall, guide Jackie Masi pointed out. "The more, the better," she said.

Livonia resident Jim Brodick, a guide in the Wright brothers' home, said that store-bought ornaments became popular at the turn of the century. Full-size trees, like the one in the brothers' home, provided room for more ornaments

Visitors to the Wrights' home in Greenfield Village see that it is filled with laurel and poinsettia plants. Wreaths hang on the stairway banister.

Greenery surrounds a mantelpiece and frames the sides of the fireplace.

The Wright home illustrates that tables can be decorated as well as the rooms. Napkins are folded to form a pocket, crown, tiara or water lily. Holly, pine or ornaments could be placed in the napkins, guides said. Or napkin rings were used, each one slightly different from another to mark the place

Corners of a tablecloth at the home are gathered up and a ribbon pinned in place. Two red ribbon runners, with Christmas shapes cut out and sewn onto them, are laid on the tablecloth.

A VISIT TO the Heinz home shows that traditional holiday treats included peanut brittle and molasses taffy. Spiced nuts usually were set out for company at this time. Pretzels were popular seasonal treats, as each resembled hands folded in prayer, according to guides in the home.

If you would like to plan your holiday meal according to that of 100 or so years ago, a visit to the Eagle Tavern, a stage stop and inn of the 1850s, could be in order. The food may have been the same as today - turkey, cranberries and pumpkin pie but the preparation was somewhat different. The turkey was cooked in a tin reflector by the fireplace, while the pie was baked in a pot covered with hot coals.

Homemade ornaments of this era, seen throughout Greenfield Village, include popcorn strings and paper chains. Walnuts are wrapped in foil, coated or painted and hung from the tree. Cone ornaments are filled with nuts and homemade can-

A demonstration at the museum shows how to make a cone ornament, using a paper cone, foil, a doily and ribbon.

FIRST, THE cone is wrapped with the foil. Slits and a small hole are cut in the center of the doily so it could slip onto the cone, and it is glued in place. Two holes, one opposite the other, are punched near the top of the cone and a ribbon is tied through them to form a handle. Holiday stickers could be added to the sides of the cone.

Visitors to the Henry Ford Museum this month can hear about other holiday traditions "first hand" - almost. Character portrayals of the Victorian era St. Nick, cartoonist Thomas Nast, "The Night Before Christmas" author Clement Moore and Sarah Rorer, food editor of the Ladies Home Journal during the 1890s, will be on hand. Brodick is scheduled to portray Nast in some appearances.

By David P. Messing special writer

Without a doubt, pet portraits are the most common commission. Cars and boats run a close second to pets and animals.

Today, I would like to talk about people and their pets and how best to portray them.

First of all, it is known that Americans love their animals, and I am the most crazy animal lover around. In fact, my wife accuses me of opening the door in the summer to let the flys back out so I don't have to kill them!

That might be true, but it's nobody's business. I feel that God has blessed me greatly with family, friends and a career in art. But, withheld from me still is my secret dream to work at a zoo!

I WANT TO hose down giant turtles and feed loaves of bread to the rhinos. I would be flattered if a lion just wiggled his nose a little at my familiar scent. I want someday to have an elephant curl her trunk around my arm, feel the leathery hand of a monkey and watch as that silent giant the giraffe takes a treat from my own

Until that day, I will continue to imagine and draw from animal photographs.

I am so crazy for animals that once passion over came caution. One day, we were inside the lion exhibit at the Detroit Zoo, and most of the lions were pacing back and forth in their

But one giant male lay serenely with his tail hanging right out of the cage. Well, there were no attendents and nobody else around except my wife and three sons. So I said, "Honey, I gotta touch that tail." I silently stepped over the guard rail and tiptoed up to the cage I gently stroked this unbelievably thick and beautiful tail. He twitched not an ear but lay there in peace.

With my hand completely around his tail, I turned to my wife and whispered "I think he likes it." As I looked back at him, I gently squeezed his tail, just to feel the muscle in it. Instantly, his 400 pounds leaped from the floor of the cage, his three-foot head turned and roared directly in my face.

EVEN THOUGH there were bars on the cage, there is something about feeling a lion's breath in your face that has a way of petrifying even an animal lover. I swear the heat of his breath steamed back an inch of my hair line, and I pulled my left arm back so quick that it is today shorter than the right. This kind of love for animals allows me to study them and draw them accurately. If you have an ability to draw and at least an appreciation for animals, then you, too, may find plenty of commissions in the area of pet por-

The best way to handle this type of commission is to first agree on a price. Since a veterinarian gets about $40 just to wave a flea collar over a dog, I think that it's a pretty good price to start with

This $40 should be a minimum because your picture will be hanging around long after the pet is gone. Next, secure a down payment sufficient enough to cover your time

LET'S SAY YOU agree on a fee of $100 for a pet portrait. Now when your customer returns home, he or she finds a heating bill for $110 and an insurance premium due in two weeks.

If you, the artist, did not secure a down payment and your customer's money becomes limited, you may have an unwanted entry into your portfolio. And believe me, there is nother ing more useless to you than a portrait of someone's pet. Always secure photographs to build your basic portrait. If for some reason these photographs do not offer enough details or trueness of color, make an appointment to do finishing details with the pet and owner present.

Photographs are very helpful to work from especially at the beginning of the work. (I once did a portrait of a Yorkshire terrier With pad and pencil I bounced from chair to chair chasing this little dust mop. Finally, in the poorest light possible, this little snot came to rest under a coffee table.)

So after you have established most of the rendering, get a response from the customer. Usually they are happy. But occasionally their favorite characteristic is too small or doesn't show in the photograph.

So it may require they bring in their pet for the finishing details. Do not even begin until you have good photographs.

Often a customer will say, "I like this posi-tion of the body in this photo, the head in this photo and this photo shows the color of his eves better.

The more photographs you have, the less likely you will need to draw from the actual pet. People who have never attempted to draw do not realize that you cannot draw accurately without seeing at least a good photograph.

ONCE A MAN asked me to draw a picture of his parakeet. When I asked for a photograph, he said "He's just a regular parakeet, draw whatever you think a parakeet looks like and that's him.'

. I drew a green and yellow parakeet. When I proudly unveiled my drawing he said. "Uh oh . . . Hercules isn't green, he's blue.

"What media do I use?" is the most frequent question when my students receive commissions for pet portraits. I tell them if the customer doesn't care or doesn't specify, the use of pencil (graphite) is easy and can be photographic in its realism.

I always spray pencil drawings with dulling spray to cut down the metallic shine produced in heavy black areas. Pen and ink is also a favorite people pleaser.

If you like, you can always wash water color or felt-tip pen over pen and ink to liven up the drawings. Of course, water color and oils or acrylic colors are great for color paintings.

IF, HOWEVER, YOU are thinking, "Hey I'm just a 'draw-on-the-kitchen-table-when-everyonegoes-to-bed artist' I can't oil paint! But I still get asked to do a picture now and then.

Here is what you should do. Find, borrow or buy a set of pastels. A set of 46 colors of pastels costs as little as $8. Pastels are the all-time favorite media for pet portraits.

The quality of pastels varies according to the pureness of pigment and richness of color. The least expensive variety has a dusty chalk base, and the most expensive (90 cents to $1.60 per stick) is pure pigment suspended in a glue base. Both the cheap and the expensive brand can produce beautiful results.

It is best to begin your drawing with a vine charcoal stick. Vines are merely charred pieces of wood, and the line they produce is easily erased with a kneaded eraser

After the basic structure is established, start blocking in the main colors in pastels. Save all the details for last or they will surely be lost in the process of rendering.

Lightly spray your finished piece with fixatif and don't forget to sign close to the drawing.

PASTEL ON WHITE paper is nice, but on colored paper, it takes on a whole new dimension. Pick out a color that complements the pet's colors.

A middle color is best so that dark pastel colors will show and whites or light pastel colors also will

When doing a pet portrait, I highly recommend you use colored pastel paper. Strathmore has a nice line of colored text papers that are 80 cents per

Also, Morilla has a canson paper that offers beautiful colors at 85 cents a sheet. Your customers would like white paper, they would be thrilled with colored paper but if you want to "knock them out of the ball park" do their pet's portrait on velour.

Velour is a fuzzy paper that grabs onto the pas-tels, producing rich colors and soft photographic realism unattainable in most media except air brush. Velour also comes in a variety of colors. Quality sheets of velour cost around $3. When viewing a well-done pastel on velour, people ask questions ranging from "How was this done?" to "Is this a photo or airbrush?" I just don't think you can miss on velour.

ASK YOUR REALTOR

Q. I'm planning on listing my home, is it necessary to have a sign? Mr. F. - Wayne.

A. In our opinion a sign is an invaluable asset in the sale of a home. Many buyers like to investigate a neighbor-hood in which they are interested. When a buyer calls because he has seen a sign, he has already "Bought" the exterior of the home and is satisfied with the neigh-borhood. More sales actually result from calls on a sign because the buyer is already half sold.

Also, a sign tells your neighbors that you are selling your home. Neighbors tend to help pass the word to triends and relatives who may be in the market for a home. The results in sales.

Have your Realtor put "By Appointment Only" on the sign so as to eliminate your being bothered by people at your door.

Thinking of selling your home? Market yours with Gail Hodge & Tony Garrisi and deal with "Michigan's Largest Real Estate Company," We offer Equity Advances, Trades and Nationwide Relocation as just a lew or our many services. Readers may address their Real Estate questions to Gall or Tony by writing c/o Real Estate One, 35015 Ford Road, Westland, MI 48185. All questions will be answered.
