Police, schools aid sexual abuse victims

By Marie Chestney staff writer

On Feb. 16, a Northville doctor picked up his office telephone and called the Plymouth police. With that call, the doctor joined a growing number of people - school teachers, neighbors, relatives, nurses - who spot evidence of a crime so hidden that victims themselves are often unwilling or unable to talk about.

What the doctor saw in his office was a 7-year-old Plymouth Township girl who had been sexually abused, apparently by her mother's boyfriend. Suspecting sexual abuse, the mother had brought her daughter to the doctor for an examination.

After the exam, the doctor talked at length to the girl. And the youngster, he later told police, described sex acts far beyond the knowledge of a 7-year-old. The doctor told police he believed the girl had been abused repeatedly.

When he made that call to police, the doctor simply was doing what he is required by law to do — to report all gunshot wounds and suspected sexual abuse cases to the police.

But, to the scores of professionals who deal with the victims and familial ramifications of the crime, sexual abuse is no simple matter.

FIRST there are the victims, mostly female, who range in age from fivemonth old infants to 16-plus teen-agers.

The very young are at the mercy of the perpetrator. Those old enough to sense the crime end up feeling ashamed, scared, guilty, responsible and angry that they aren't getting the protection they are entitled to from one or both parents: When asked, and due to the whole range of conflicting emotions involved, the victim might even denv the crime ever happened.

Then there is the person who reports are made not by the victim, but by someone — a school nurse, teacher, neighbor or relative - who spots clues given off by a youngster and goes out on a long limb to report it. Many are reluctant to go out on that limb unless given anonymity.

'This is the first report I can remember in a long while that came through a doctor," said Plymouth police Lt. Henry Berghoff.

Many complaints are made through the victim's school system.

THEN THERE are the agencies police, schools, courts, Wayne County Protective Services - which investigate the complaint.

Investigators have to walk a very thin line, mindful that youngsters sometimes make up stories and that parents might retaliate against a child who reveals the family's darkest se-

In Wayne County, all sexual abuse complaints - even those reported to police - get investigated by protective services, a division of the state's Department of Social Services. In 1983, according to records, the division investigated 229 sexual abuse complaints out of the total 12,000 abuse complaints it got from throughout the county.

"If protective services think the child is in a dangerous situation, the child can be taken out of the home," Berghoff said. "But, in this case, they said no. The child is living at home and still in school."

And then there is the family of the victim involved. The 7-year-old's mother 'fully cooperated' in the investigation, Berghoff said. Police have a suspect in the case, he said, but no warrants yet have been issued. "It's still under investigation, but we feel we have a strong case," he said.

The suspect could be charged with first-degree criminal sexual conduct, a felony punishable by up to life in pris-

But some parents resist the state's intrusion into their private lives. Some refuse to believe the accusation. Some blame the child involved, instead of the parent. Some wreck havoc on the child who, to them, squealed. And sometimes the victim, not the perpetrator, is removed from the home

"IF A MOTHER, who's in love with a boyfriend, has a daughter who is not a product of that relationship and that girl is abused, then the child can become secondary," said Plymouth Township police chief Carl Berry.

A surge in sexual abuse complaints took place after the recent television showing of "All About Amelia," said Karen Hill, supervisor for intake and referral at the county's protective services. The program showed how the sexual abuse of a daughter by a father affected one family.

"But the complaints weren't necessarily from victims, but from people who knew or suspected the abuse," Hill

Dr. Edward Page, executive director of special programs and student services for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, said more sexual abuse complaints come into the system now than in years gone by.

But he attributed the increase not to more incidents of the crime but to an increased population and to a greater public awareness of the problem now than before. Page's department handles abuse complaints which surface in

ONE SCHOOL nurse, who asked not to be identified because it would destroy the confidentiality which now exists between her and her students, summed up the extent of sexual abuse as follows:

"There's a lot more of it than you would ever surmise.'

Most professionals agree: It's not easy for a youngster to tell someone he or she is being sexually abused. Most they say, don't tell anyone.

And, in many instances, the abuse has been going on for a long period of time. For most, in the words of the school nurse, it has become an "awful burden.'

"We wish it was a one-time occurrence, but our research tells us 'no'," said David Breeden, branch director of Plymouth Family Services, an agency funded by the Plymouth Community

Officials predict 'rosy' days ahead

By W.W. Edgar staff writer

What will Plymouth Township look like 10 years from now?

Sitting at his desk in Plymouth Township Hall, Supervisor Maurice Breen predicted that the population would continue to increase at the rate of about 3 percent a year and would reach more than 30,000 inhabitants by

"We are in a fine positon to grow," he said. "We have the land, and there is ample room for both business and industry. So far as industry is concerned we have the industrial park at Five Mile and Sheldon Road, another few places on Ann Arbor Road, some on Plymouth Road and room for industry on Sheldon Road.

"In fact the industrial picture has begun to change now with construction going up on the Five Mile-Sheldon area.

"Aside from that, we are getting more office buildings and commercial enterprises. So everything looks fine as you try to figure what the township will be like in 10 years."

Asked about the population figure of 3 percent a year, he explained that the 3 percent is the present pace and there no reason why it can't continue. "Then," he added, "we have plenty of residential property available, and there is an interesting touch to that. 'With the present price being asked for residental lots, it is safe to say that our growth will attract more of the higher-wage group. No one will build a low-cost home on high-priced property. So, from all appearances, the township has a rosy future."

ACROSS THE hall in the township treasurer's office, Joe West, who has lived here most of his life, saw an even brighter future.

Without hesitation he predicted that the population would reach 40,000 from its present 24,000 in the next decade.

He based his belief on the observation that more and more people are moving away from the big cities and Plymouth is an ideal place to land.

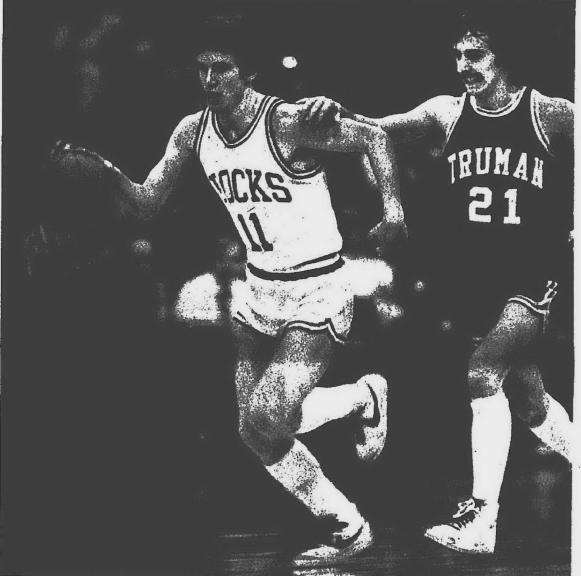

We have plenty of space for residential areas, with the finest of nature's beutiful open spaces. And when they are taken we should have fine residential areas."

The change from the present township to what is forecast in the next decade is nothing new to West.

"I can remember when we sold farm equipment from our store on Main Street in the city of Plymouth. We sold tractors when the land that is now the city of Livonia was being cultivated. And that doesn't seem too long ago. We, here in the township, now are in the same position.

"We are going to grow. There is no question about that. We have the area, the industrial sites, room for the commercial outlets and all that is neded."

One of the features enjoyed by the township is that it surrounds the city of Plymouth and has large parcels of commercial, industrial and residential

The Plymouth Salem Rocks advanced in state basketball tourney action Thursday night at Eastern Michigan University with a 50-41 victory over Taylor Truman. Taylor couldn't hold the Rocks back, as evidenced in this photo showing Jeff Arnold of Salem driving by Todd Johnson.

Saturday night, however, the Prospectors of Detroit Southwestern went prospecting for Rocks as Salem met the Detroit powerhouse team in district finals. For a report on the outcome, see Page 1C of today's Sports Section.

Mixing alcohol, cars leads to 'disbelief, grief'

Second in a series of articles on worked in the Spartan Stores wareproblems caused by drunk drivers.

Janet Glover can hardly believe almost a year has passed since her happy, secure life was shattered by a lethal mixture of alcohol and gasoline.

Last May 27, Glover's husband Doug fell asleep at the wheel of his car after consuming several beers. He was killed after plowing head-on into a semi-truck on Lilley near Ann Arbor Road.

The truck driver was not injured, and for that I'm grateful," Janet Glover said.

Pretty, petite Glover sits in her sun-ny, plant-filled Plymouth home and recalls a year of disbelief, grief and uncertainty following Doug's death. The walls are adorned with photographs of smiling family members.

Although she finds it painful to dredge up unpleasant memories, Janet bulleves 'talking about Doug's crash will make other people aware, so they may avoid a similar tragedy.

"It's a worthwhile cause," said

Janet, formerly of Garden City and Canton. "It can happen to anybody. Don't drink and drive — it's that sim-

AT THE time of the crash, Doug and Jamet were both 26 years old. Doug house on Haggerty Road, and studied data processing at Schoolcraft College.

Janet recently had quit her job at the Plymouth Hilton Hotel and was planning to stay home and be a full-time mom to daughters Angie, now 11, and Jill, 4. A Memorial Day camping trip was on the family's agenda.

Ironically, Doug's boss at Spartan was Tom Tharp - husband of Madonna Tharp. Madonna Tharp, 34, of Canton, had been killed by a drunken driver five months prior to Doug Glover's fatal crash.

As Janet recalls, Doug spent his last day working and attending classes. He stopped by to watch his fellow employees play softball at Massey Field.He drank several beers and later went out for a drink with a friend who was soon Doug continued drinking later, alone at a bar prior to the accident, according to reports.

The incident has shaken family and friends. Janet is suing the bar which served alcoholic beverages to Doug just before he crashed his car.

"Servers in bars have to be more observant about who they are serving" (and should not serve a person who is intoxicated), she said.

ALTHOUGH THERE are fewer bad days, Janet often feels overwhelmed by feelings of loneliness and anxiety about her children. Both Janet and Angie have been undergoing therapy to help them cope. Janet, who admits to being "overly protective" of her two daughters, has found solace by reading passages in the Bible. She worries about her friends who drive after drinking.

Most of all, Janet Glover urges people to be a good friend by insisting that a drinker be driven home or go to sleep until the effect of the alcohol has worn

"When you drink you think you're invincible," she added. "That's why other people have to be stronger."
While Janet Glover is still finding her way back, Lee and Sue Landes of Livonia have channeled their anger and frustration into fighting for laws and stringent enforcement to get drunk drivers off the road. Their 26-year-old son George was killed by a 20-year-old drunken driver who ran a red light at Ford Road and Telegraph Oct. 4, 1981.

Several months earlier, Lee Landes had taken early retirement from his job in research and engineering at Ford Motor Co. The couple planned to travel and do volunteer work.

When George was killed, and his fiancee Renee injured, the Landes were angry and upset. Against the advice of legal counsel, Sue Landes insisted on attending all court proceedings against their son's killer, who eventually was ordered to spend six months in Detroit House of Corrections.

"This was the last contact I would have with my son's last moments," said Sue Landes, a former teacher. "I felt I had to be there.'

THE LANDES' put aside their previous retirement plans and plunged into forming a local chapter of Mothers Against Drunk Drivers (MADD), an organization started by Candy Lightner of California, whose daughter was killed by a drunk driver.

After two years, MADD has managed to garner public support and awareness of the deaths, injuries, property loss and grieving caused by drinkon several state and national task of helping to get drunk drivers off the forces on the drunk-driving problems.

MADD monitors court cases and argues for tough enforcement, stiff sentences for offenders and counseling and treatment for problem drinkers.

"You have to go on living," Sue Landes said. "You don't forget, but you have to come out and participate. I think that is the most therapeutic thing

The past two years have been hectic, but Lee Landes finds it deeply satisfying work.

'The people who have been saved will never know who they are," Landes said. "It helps because it means (George's death) was not in vain . . . so it can help other people."

Plymouth-Canton's Irish do Detroit St. Patrick's Day

Plymouth's Maureen O'Sullivan Hayes reigned during Irish Week as the United Irish Society's Maid of Erin.

Lads and lasses from all over County Wayne flocked to Detroit's St. Patrick's Day parade, Irish clubs and pubs in celebration of Irish Week — and among them was a healthy contingent of the Plymouth-Canton area's Irish community.

Maureen O'Sullivan Hayes of Plymouth reigned as the United Irish Societies' 1984 Maid of Erin. On her court were former Plymouth resident Deidre Holland, (now of Farmington Hills) first runner-up, and Colleen O'Connor, a student at Plymouth Salem High School and second runner-up. The three attended the parade; a special reception hosted by Gov. James Blanchard, and numerous private parties as well as interview sessions at television and radio stations.

Canton's Tim O'Hare, a two-time world step dance champion, was spotted with his students in the St. Patrick's Day Parade; among the Irish entertainers in Knights of Columbus Halls, and in Frankenmuth's weeklong Irish Festival. O'Hare, a 23-year-old senior at Eastern Michigan University, teaches 75 students at studios in Plymouth and in Toledo.

As in years past, Holy Trinity Catholic Church in Corktown couldn't hold all the Irish on hand for the noon Mass St. Patrick's Day. Dubbed "Sharin' of the Green," the liturgy raises thousands of dollars for Detroit's indigent — many of whom seek food and shelter at Holy Trinity. Two Plymouth residents have been named to Michigan State University's Golden Key National Honor Society, a group which recognizes academic excellence.

They are: Beth Hoerner, a Plymouth Salem graduate and daughter of Richard and Jane Hoerner of Beacon Hill; and Susan Thompson, a South Lyon graduate and daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Thompson of N. Territorial Road.

Membership is by invitation only and extracurricular participation is not required. The 600-member society selects juniors and seniors who have earned a 3.5 grade point average in at least three terms of study at MSU.

Hill predicted, if left unchecked, the molesting would continue and only get worse. It's psychological damage, she said, that would follow the child for life. "They have clout in the courts. They have the power to mo-

> If nothing else, said the school nurse, the system as it now works makes the perpetrator aware that someone is watching him. "Sometimes that cuts them off," she said.

Breeden told how unchecked sexual abuse can lead to adult "anniversary reactions." He counseled one family where a daughter was rebelling against her mother's stringent dating rules and where the mother was suffering anxiety attacks over her daughter's dating.

"The mother was terrified of her daughter becoming sexual. She had been abused by her father as a teenager and was having an anniversary reaction when she saw her daughter emerging sexually. She was terrified her husband would become attentive and attracted to her daughter. They were fantasy fears; it was past history getting acted out."

On some level, Breeden said, the other spouse is often aware that sexual abuse of their child is going on. "Everybody knows, but nobody talks about it. Sometimes a spouse blames the victim, saying she enticed her father, chastising her for not saying no."

Hill and Breeden had some final words of advise for youngsters suffering sexual abuse. "Go to somebody you trust and tell that person," Hill urged.

"Tell someone in a position in authority," Breeden said. "You need to take some action, but it takes courage."

Blues say. new program will cut costs

Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan (BCBSM) says its new cost-containment program could help Chrysler Corp. save more than $2 million yearly by reducing unnecessary hospital stays.

"The new program can accurately analyze at a faster rate than ever before the thousands of claims generated by BCBSM members at a major customer like Chrysler," said Robert H. Reveley, BCBSM vice president for health care affairs.

The new program is called ASSURE - A Selective Strategy for Utilization Review Effectiveness. Chrysler and the UAW, on behalf of its hourly employees, are the first to make use of it.

WALTER MAHER, director of employee benefits and health services for Chrysler, said:

"This new program blends two important ingredients. It helps slow down the growth rate of healthcare costs without sacrificing the quality of care."

2 men have managed Plymouth since 1917

(Part 1)

Plymouth adopted the commissionmanager form of government in December 1917, eight months after President Woodrow Wilson signed the Congressional resolution declaring a state of war with Germany.

During the 67 years elapsed since, the community has employed four village and eight city managers. Of these 12, the man who now occupies the position, Henry E. Graper Jr., may well be the most visibly active since Al Glassford in the 1950s and early '60s, and the most enterprising since Perry Cookingham during the days of the Great Depression of the 1930s.

BEFORE CONSIDERING the accomplishments of the city administration since Graper arrived in 1979, take a brief look at his 11 predecessors.

The first, Gilbert Brown of Detroit, became village manager here in the spring of 1918. He served two years, resigning in 1920 when the local population numbered 2,900.

The second, Sidney Strong, a civil engineer from Sault Ste. Marie, became manager here at $1,800 a year. His friends at the Soo were amazed to hear what a high salary he was being paid.

In addition to serving as village manager, Strong was the village clerk. He also had to double as driver of the village's sole fire truck. During his administration, a group of local residents tried to throw out the council-manager form of government but were defeated

Sidney Strong designed the village

(now city) seal, which shows a log cabin and the motto: "The Village of Homes." During his tenure the city built a concrete reservoir, with a capacity of almost two-million gallons (February, 1921). Placed underground, it was east of Sheldon and south of Six Mile, adjacent to what is now the Brooklane golf course. It was financed by a bond issue

William Weltner succeeded Strong in 1927. Beyond the fact that Weltner served the village as manager between Sidney Strong and A.J. Koenig, I know little else about him.

Adolph J. Koenig, an ex-school teacher, was village manager from 1928 to 1931. In 1929, his budget was $108,585. A census in the following year showed a population of 4,484. During Koenig's short tenure, police protection was extended to residential sections during night hours, the unused interurban rails phalt, and a building code was put into

THE FIRST MAN to manage Plymouth after it incorporated as a city (March, 1932), was L.P. "Perry" Cook-

From the taxpayer's viewpoint, the village couldn't have found a better man during the economic malaise of the 1930s. Cookingham was hired to reduce taxes with as little curtailment of services as possible, and he did just that. During the first complete year of the city form of government, he effected a tax saving of $23,700 compared to the last year of village government. He reduced the assessed valuation by 10 percent, reduced the local tax levy percent, and obtained a gas-rate reduction of 15 percent. These reductions were the result of several economies, including cutting personnel, in-creasing hours of work in the police department, eliminating half of the community's street lights and operating the city on a cash basis. The late Herald Hamill told me: "Perry Cookingham would have fired even himself if he could have found anyone else to do the times, and he knew they called for hard measures. He also knew that strong measures would only work for the short haul. By August 1933, he was cautioning the commission that this "policy of strict economy" could not be continued indefinitely without impairing the development of the community.

During the 1934-35 year, Cookingham settled a suit between the city and Plymouth Township. The city had a judgment against the township for $4,425, growing out of a financial dispute that began when Plymouth be-came a city. The township said it would appeal. To avoid additional litigation, the city settled for half the amount.

The city commissioners were behind Perry Cookingham in everything he did. When he applied for the job of city manager at Saginaw, some of them accompanied him to lend their support. He got the job and left Plymouth in

After Saginaw, he went to Kansas City which he managed for 19 years, earning a national reputation. When he resigned there in 1959, at age 63, he was practically hired on the spot by Fort Worth, Texas. By 1963, he was being called "The Dean of American City Managers."

ymouth named after English river

The voice on the other end of the line sounded like a young school boy when be asked, "Would you be kind enough to help me with my studies?"

Assured that the Stroller would help if he could, the voice asked, "Would you be kind enough to tell me how Plymouth got its name?"

The question carried the Stroller back to the day when he came to Plymouth to carry on his journalistic career and one of the first persons he met was the late Carl Starkweather, one of the old time residents.

As we walked along the Main Street side of Kellogg Park he asked, "Do you know how Plymouth got its name?"

IT DIDN'T seem like a tough question when he answered, "The name came from Plymouth, Mass., and they got it from Plymouth, England."
"Fine," Carl said, "but where did

Plymouth, England get the game from That was the puzzler. The Stroller didn't know. "Originally," said Starkweather, who was close to the 80-year-old mark and the stroller Edgar a scholar in local history. "The city of Plymouth, England, is at the mouth of the River Ply. The sediment that gathered at the mouth of the river furnished much of the ground, so they named it Plymouth by joining the two words Ply and Mouth. Here he stopped for a second or two to look around as he usually did and then continued:

"Of course," he said, "Plymouth, England is only about 600-years-old. Before that it was known as Sutton and that was a combination of South Town. And that's the history of that section of southwest England that has furnished us with our name here in Michigan."

There was a connection with the place when it was known as Sutton.

For, here in Michigan, we have Sutton's Bay up in the area above Traverse City, and a likeable place that is, too.

But Starkweather still had more to say later on. When plans were being made for the centennial in 1967, he took the trouble to find out that there were 17 cities in the United States named Plymouth and he personally invited each of them to spend the week in Michigan. None of them came, but we did have a visitor from Plymouth, New

Well, that was the story of Plymouth and the young lad on the other end of the line seemed well pleased that he got the help he wanted. But, really, it was Starkweather's explanation that provided the answer.

As he answered the young lad's question. The Stroller got to thinking that he never heard another place with the name of his hometown of Catasauqua,

We were taught in school that Catasauqua is the Indian name for clear water and we had a lot of it. There was the Lehigh River and the canal that carried coal from the mines to the Delaware River. And across the Leigh River was Hokendaugua, which means running water.

The study of the small towns in America and how they got their names is most interesting and a good way to spend leisure time. The Stroller is indebted to the young voice over the phone who asked, "How did Plymouth

JOINT INFLAMMATION

Joint inflammation begins when an irritant either enters or develops in the joint. The body reacts to this unwanted occupant with a series of counter-measures that are similar to what happens when a sliver lodges under your skin.

The pain you feel is the result of nerve endings in the joint being bathed ny noxious substances that are generated in the inflammtory process. Additional pain occurs because the joint capsule is distended by extra fluid entering the irritated area. Your doctor can diagnose your problem as inflammation because the involved joints are red, hot, swollen, tender and have lost their usual capabilities to move.

Drugs that are labeled "anti-inflammatory" fit into a group of pharmaceutical products designed to stop the cascade of events that lead to joint pain and impairment. Aspirin is the best known and most widely used of these drugs. In fact one of the drug industy's most significant advanced in anti-inflammatory therapy is its development of methods to give large amounts of aspirin in a safe and simple

When we work together, we'll help make each year of your IRA a good one, right from the first.

Winter's cold days and even frostier nights offer the perfect occasion to invite family and good friends to your home for an old-fashioned, heartwarming dinner party.

Now is your chance to prepare several hearty dishes, all guaranteed to stir your guests' fondest childhood memories of great family dinners at their grandmother's home.

The key to a successful old-fashioned dinner party is simple: serve dishes you can prepare in advance, leaving you free to enjoy your guests before dinner and make them feel very much at home.

Here's a simple, yet elegant menu that will allow you that important predinner time to catch-up on what's new in your guests' lives.

The Cornish Hens and Pilaf recipes given here are ideal: a very simple glaze — just DeKuyper Hazelnut Liqueur — is applied to the hens which are basted with pan juices during their short cooking time.

Cornish hens are excellent for company. They are portion perfect, elegant to look at and they take no more than 45 minutes to reach the table, making them especially desirable for mid-week affairs.

Just serve a tossed green salad with the hens and pilaf (a savory mixture of currants, herbs, celery, onions and rice).

Dessert can be luxurious, particularly when it can be prepared ahead of time like this superb Hazelnut Eggnog Cheesecake and Cafe Noisette. The Cheesecake is baked in a spring-form pan so the result will be as great to look at as it is delicious to eat. The Cafe Noisette is a sinful blend of DeKuyper Hazelnut Liqueur, DeKuyper Rare Brandy and heavy cream, and will be savored far more than plain coffee.

Other winter entertaining tips:

Lise a relling car in serving. The pottom shelf can be used for dirty custes while ine comoles desser and mensis,

* Have a single, prepared drink on the cart when guests arrive. This limits bartending duties and allows you to prepare something really special for them.

instead of tall tapers, use a mass of low votive candles on a lacquer tray for a centerpiece. Different and dramatic.

GLAZED CORNISH HENS WITH PILAF

4 Cornish hens, about I pound each

I large onion, cut in pieces

2/3 cup DeKuyper hazelnut liqueur, divided os chicken broth, divided 1 tablespoon cornstarch

Wash hens inside and out; pat dry. Sprinkle outside and cavity with salt and pepper. Stuff cavity of each hen with onion and garlic. Arrange hens in a shallow roasting pan; brush with 2 tablespoons hazelnut liqueur. Add 1/2 cup broth to roasting pan. Bake in a $350\,^{\circ}$ F. oven $45\,^{\circ}$ minutes, or until tender. Baste often with 1/3 cup liqueur and pan drippings. Add 1/2 cup more broth if necessary. Remove hens to serving platter and keep warm. Add remaining 1 cup broth to roasting pan; bring to a boil scraping up brown bits in pan. Combine remaining liqueur (you should have about 1/4 cup) and cornstarch. Stir into mixture in roasting pan; bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Serve with Cornish hens and Pilaf* YIELD: 4 servings.

*PILAF

2 tablespoons butter or margarine 1 cup chopped onion (1 large) 1 cup chopped celery (2 ribs) 1 cup uncooked rice

1/3 cup small dried cui. its 1 small bay leaf 2 1/2 cups chicken broth or stock 2 tablespoon chopped parsley

In large skillet melt butter; saute onion and celery until crisp-tender. Add rice; cook, stirring constantly, until golden brown. Add currants, bay leaf and broth; mix well. Cover tightly. Simmer 20 minutes, until rice is done. Stir in parsley. Spoon onto serving platter. Arrange hens over rice.

HAZELNUT EGGNOG CHEESECAKE

1 1/2 cups packaged graham cracker crumbs 4 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted 2/3 cup plus 2 tablespoons sugar (8 ounce) packages plus 1 (3 ounce) package cream cheese, softened cup heavy cream, divided

3 large eggs 2 egg yolks 1/4 cup DeKuyper hazelnut liqueur

Grated nutmeg
Chopped hazelnuts for garnish (optional)

Butter a 9-inch springform pan. In a small bowl combine crumbs, butter and 2 tablespoons sugar; mix well. Pat mixture over bottom and two inches up sides of prepared pan. Chill. In the large bowl of an electric mixer beat cream cheese until smooth. Gradually add 1/2 cup heavy cream, beating constantly. Beat in remaining 2/3 cup sugar. Add eggs and egg yolks one at a time, blending well after each addition (do not overbeat). Stir in liqueur. Pour batter into prepared pan. Sprinkle with nutmeg. Bake in a 350°F. oven 45 to 50 minutes until top cake is dry. Cool at room temperature 1 hour. Loosen sides of pan with a spatula and remove. Chill several hours before serving. Whip remaining 1/2 cup cream. Garnish cake with whipped cream and hazelnuts, if desired. YIELD: 10 to 12 servings.

CAFE NOISETTE

2 cups strong hot coffee 1/2 cup DeKuyper hazelnut liqueur 1 ounce DeKuyper Rare Brandy

1/4 cup heavy cream, whipped Chocolate curls

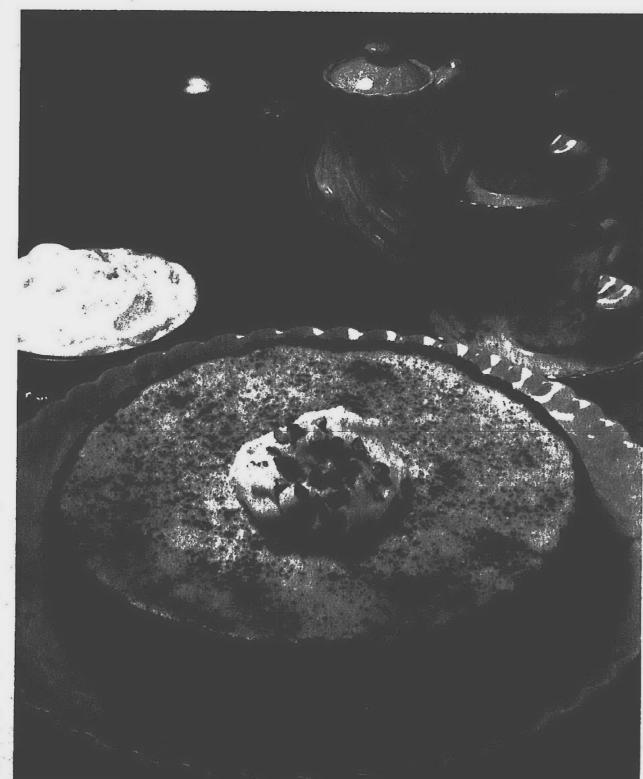

In small saucepan combine coffee, hazelnut liqueur and brandy. Heat. Pour coffee mixture into mugs. Top with whipped cream. Sprinkle with chocolate curls, if desired YIELD: 2 servings.

NUTCRACKER (not illustrated)

1 1/2 ounces DeKuyper hazelnut liqueur 1 1/2 ounces DeKuyper Coconut Amaretto

1 1/2 ounces heavy cream

Combine all ingredients in cocktail shaker; add cracked ice. Shake. Strain into stemmed glass. YIELD: 1 serving.

Spring's coming and so is chili cook-off season

In the spring a young cook's fancy turns to thoughts of cook-offs. For that matter, older cooks fancy, cook-offs,

This old cook was highly honored by the Michigan Beef Industry Commis-sion when Executive Vice President Patricia W. se sauerkraut in these mini meatballs

This recipe combines some surprising ingredients with the stan-dard ground beef and seasoning. For instance, there's sauerkraut, that tasty and economical food that often makes its appearance as a side dish at dinner. Smart cooks know that sauerkraut is not only delicious, but is also a good source of fiber and Vitamin C, important items in all our diets.

Try this meat ball recipe. It's likely to send friends begging for your "secret of success."

MINI MEAT BALLS 2 cups (16 oz. jar, can or polybag)

1 lb ground beef

2 eggs 2 tbsp flour

% cup mashed potatoes 2 thsp chopped parsley 1 cup bread crumbs Vegetable oil Hot mustard sauce

Drain and chop the sauerkraut. Mix well with ground beef, diced onion, eggs, flour, mashed potatoes and parsley. Shape into small balls and roll in bread crumbs. Heat oil in skillet and brown meat balls on all sides. Serve in a chafing dish with mustard sauce for dipping. Makes 20-24 mini meat halls.

This soup is thick, creamy

Soups have long been an outstanding part of the world's cuisines. To a cook, soups can be one of the most versatile components in meal planning. Because of the wide range of ingredients, soups can add their own special flair to any occasion.

Many good cooks like to add the richness of evaporated milk to their creamy soups because it's twice as rich as bottle milk.

If you haven't used evaporated milk in cooking, you may not know that it's actually fresh cow's milk that has been concentrated by the evaporation of half the water.

One-half cup of evaporated milk is equal in nu-trients and milk solids to cone cup of Vitamin Denriched milk. Since evaporated milk is concentrated, it may be substituted in recipes calling for light or heavy cream, with fewer calories. When diluted with an equal amount of water, it can replace milk in any recipe.

Single parents find support in numbers

Group activities fill needs of adults, kids

staff writer

Individuals going through a divorce sometimes feel as though they are on a sinking ship.

But some single parents have found a "lifeboat" to carry them over the shock wayes that follow their marriage's demise, a group called Parents Without Partners (PWP). In PWP, they find that talking to someone who's in the same boat can help.

"I reached a point where I couldn't get any more support from my family, friends and neighbors because they didn't understand what I was going through," said Chris Germain of Garden City, a member of the Livonia-Redford PWP Chapter No. 130.

"When you're raising a family, you can't stop and say, 'Leave me alone for awhile while I get my act together."

For Germain and others like her, PWP has provided that chance to sort out their lives with people who understand because they're going through the same painful process. Through the group's social, support and educational activities, single parents can learn to cope, members said.

"Getting out and meeting people and realizing you're not alone, I think, is one of the main functions of Parents Without Partners," said Wendell Welper of Livonia, another member of the Livonia-Redford chapter.

WP INC. IS an international nonprefit organization open to persons who are single parents, whether through divorce, separation or death.

Parents who never have been mar-ried also may join. Founded in 1956, the national organization has nearly a quarter of a million members nation-

The group's stated goal is to look after the welfare of single parents and their children, so the children "have the same prospects for normal adulthood as children who mature with their two parents together."

In this area, single parents interested in PWP may make contact with the Plymouth-Canton chapter of Parents Without Partners. The group will be having its next regular meeting at 8:30 p.m. Friday in Local 900 UAW Hall on Michigan Ave. just east of I-275 in Canton Township. After the meeting, there will be dancing until 1 a.m. All single parents are welcome. For information, phone 455-7587.

Two other chapters in the area are the Wayne-Westland No. 340 and Garden City-Dearborn Heights No. 1236.

Wayne-Westland meets at Westworld, Merriman north of Warren Road, Westland, on the first and third Tuesdays of the month. Call 453-3392 for information.

Garden City-Dearborn Heights meets at Roma's of Garden City, 32550 Cherry Hill, on the second and fourth Thursdays of the month. The phone number is 277-8229.

The Livonia-Redford chapter has 650 members from Livonia, Redford, Farmington, Southfield, Westland, Wayne, Garden City and Dearborn Heights. Divorced men and women make up most of the membership, newly elected chapter president Sharon Jones of Detroit said.

The chapter offers a wide range of activities for parents with their kids as well as for parents alone and kids

The list of activities includes speakers of interest to single parents, athletic activities such as bowling or softball, family dances, picnics, family educational trips to such places as Cranbrook or the Detroit Institute of Arts, and twice-a-week discussion groups in which single parents meet just to discuss their problems.

"They're very concerned people, and they care about other members of the chapter," Germain said of chapter members. "They don't mind listening. It's not a chore. They're here to help

Welper urges prospective members to "shop around" before settling on a

"Each chapter is unique. Each almost has a personality of its own," Welper said.

Some chapters have generally an older membership, some a younger membership. Some are oriented toward sports. Livonia-Redford members said their chapter has quite a few outdoor activities, such as canoe and PWP members find themselves doing things they never would have done with their families on their own and even doing more things than they did when married.

"Sometimes the various activities make you comfortable because you can go places you'd never go on your own," Germain said. "My children and I would have never gone camping by ourselves or even gone to downtown Detroit for an event.

"One of the things the children enjoy so much is many of their friends in two-parent families don't seem to have the abundance of activities we have,"

Jones said. "There is much more than we had as family when I was married."

THE FAMILY activities allow children from single-family homes to see role models of both sexes.

"They see adults reacting in a more normal way, as opposed to the tension that might have existed before," Jones

PWP gives fathers something to do with their children when they have custody for the weekend. And, since PWP subsidizes some activities' costs sometimes picking up anywhere from one-half to all of the ticket costs, for instance - divorced parents who might find themselves in a financial hind can afford to take their children

The chapter's teen club allows children from single-parent homes to meet kids their age with whom they have something in common.

"You've joined PWP shortly after you've gone through a negative experience," Jones said. "You're using it as a resource tool. Maybe you're very skeptical about jumping into a permanent relationship."

ANYONE INTERESTED in joining the Livonia-Redford PWP chapter may attend the next general meeting, Wednesday, March 28. The general meeting usually features a speaker, followed by a social hour. The group meets the second and fourth Wednesday of every month at Bonnie Brook Country Club, Telegraph south of Eight Mile, Detroit.

People who do not wish to join at once may get a 21-day courtesy card that allows them to attend chapter ac-

Membership dues are $20 per year. For more information, call the chapter at 937-8147. Or call the PWP national hotline at 1-800-638-8078

Learn to rely on self, says PWP president

Connie Mallett, married twice, knows well one of the worst parts of being single. She felt the pain of it when her teen-age would have to say the worst part of being single is having nobody to share intimately life's experiences with," said Mala Novi resident and the international president of Parents. Without Partners Inc. I lost my son and I was a friendly enemy to the man who had shared in the elation of his birth. We did reach out during the funeral, but it was a momentary feeling. I had to go through the grief alone.

*Children play a complex part in your life and when the child is taken, you need to work the grief out with the person you shared the birth with. But my husband had remarried and it was difficult for me to

So difficult, in fact, that Mallett began to feel singled out as a special recipient of life's disasters — two divorces and now a son's death. But from all her grief and soul searching came a woman who learned how to cope and survive on her own.

"I felt singled out, but now I know that they were all just incidents in living life births, divorces, deaths are all profound events," she said. "Some people may go through them all. Eventually, we'll all wind up alone. It is unusual for two married people to die together. Divorce helps us to learn a lot what that life is going to be like. The earlier we learn how to handle it, the better.

"You can't lose enthusiasm and you can't wallow. When you get knocked on the floor, you look under the rug and find things there to build on. When you get thrown curves, you make them into opportunities."

CLIMBING UP the Parents Without Partners ladder locally and then becoming international president (she recently was re-elected to the position) have been opportunities tailor made for Mallett's resourceful, independent spirit. She now spends some 35-40 weekends each year talking to single parents all across the country. And she knows what's bugging them, what's keeping them from enjoying their single-

All of her words of wisdom - and, as a ready talker, she has many - for successful singlehood can be boiled down into two key phrases. Learn to rely on your own resources. Be your own best friend.

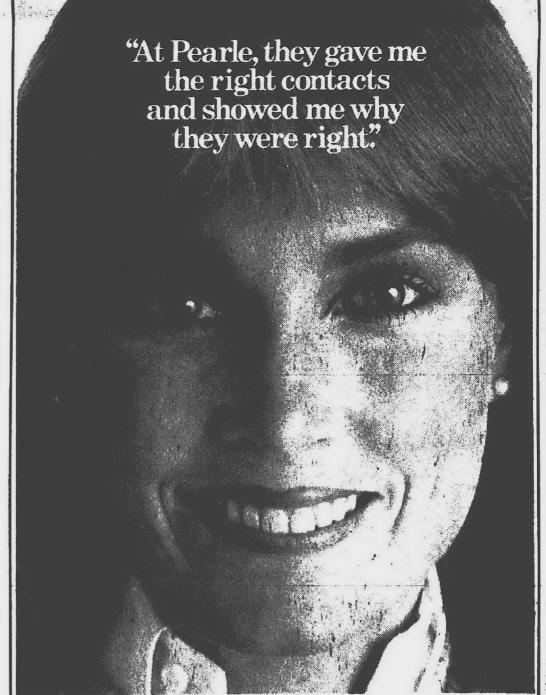

Some adults, Mallett said, readily adapt to being single and living alone. Others look upon singleness as simply a way station on the road to marriage.

She put many men and too few women in the first group. Her theory is that most men learn at an early age to be self-reliant, to rely on themselves. Boys grow up being told they are bright, capable and strong and, in the process, become confident.

Rocks wilt under Prospector press

By Chris McCosky staff writer

Those who came to EMU's Bowen Fieldhouse Saturday night expecting a slaughter went away very suprised, if not disappointed.

No, Plymouth Salem did not upset Detroit Southwestern in the state Class A regional basketball championship. But the Rocks gave the mighty Prospectors all they wanted for the better part of 20 minutes.

Southwestern and the Rocks were tied at 31, two minutes into the third quarter. That's when the Prospector pressure, which was applied throughout the contest, finally got to the Southwestern reeled off 10 unanswered points in a two-minute span and went on to beat the Rocks, 67-

Southwestern led by as many as 24 points in the final quarter. Salem scored the last 13 points of the game, seven by Mike White, to make the final score respectable - as it deserved to

"I thought for 16-17 minutes we were right there," said Salem coach Fred Thomann. "But they made that little run in the first couple minutes of the second half and really put us in a bind." Southwestern (24-1) gave the Rocks trouble all night with a menacing fullcourt press. The press forced 29 Rock turnovers, 16 in the second half. Those second-half turnovers resulted in 19 Prospector points.

"I think it was just a matter of us wearing them down," said Southwestern coach Perry Watson. "We play more people than they do and the fatigue factor set in. Once that happens, you start making turnovers and missing shots "

There were no visible signs of Rock fatigue in the first half. Led by seniors Rick Berberet and Erich Hartnett, the Rocks played what may have been their best half of the season

They trailed by two after a quarter, but LeSean Haygood threw down a monster dunk and converted the threepoint play to put the Rocks ahead, 16-

After Berberet hit Hartnett with a dazzling behind-the-back pass. Salem led by three and the crowd of some 1,750 people was buzzing.

Southwestern rallied to take a 31-27 lead by the half, but the Rocks were very much in the ballgame.

'What we didn't want," Thomann said, "was to have people saying 'What are they doing here.' We wanted to have an opportunity to win the game, and if we couldn't do that, we wanted to keep playing and testing them. And I think we did that tonight."

Salem shot a torrid 61 percent from the floor in the first half, then cooled to a frosty 38 percent in the second half.

The crowning blow was dealt the Rocks with 45 seconds left in the third quarter. Hartnett, who had scored 11 points, fouled out. Without Hartnett, the Rocks had great difficulty getting the ball up court.

Another negative statistic: Southwestern outrebounded the Rocks

Berberet, after a sub-par game last Thursday, played one of his best. He scored 12 points, grabbed six rebounds and dished out four assists.

Scott Jurek and Mike White added nine apiece. Haygood scored seven points and grabbed six rebounds.

Clarence Jones scored 26 points and grabbed 11 rebounds for the Prospectors. Chauncey Scott, Johnny Slater and Johnny Johnson each tallied 10 points for Southwestern.

The final analysis: Southwestern had too much speed and too many bodies for the Rocks to contend with. But when it was all said and done, the Rocks earned the praise of those who saw them play.

"Fred (Thomann) is one of the best coaches in the state," said Watson. "His kids came ready to play. They really got it up in that first half.'

The Prospectors will take on Kalamazoo Central in the state quarterfinals. Salem's season comes to a close.

Arnold, Hartnett save Rocks

By Chris McCosky staff writer

Maybe it was the unfamiliar confines of Eastern Michigan University's Bowen Fieldhouse. Maybe it was the pressure of a state Class A regional basketball tournament.

Maybe it was because the winner knew it would have to play powerful Detroit Southwestern two days later.

Whatever, it seemed that neither Plymouth Salem nor Taylor Truman wanted to win the contest played Thursday night before a crowd of about 1,000 fans, most of whom were cheering for Truman.

Both teams played sluggish and sloppy. Both teams shot poorly.

Thanks to the play of seniors Erich Hartnett and Jeff Arnold, the Rocks were able to edge the Cougars 50-41 and advance into the regional championship game against Southwestern.

"I THOUGHT we were real sluggish tonight," said Salem coach Fred Thomann. "We did not deal with their pressure well at all. It took us a long, long time to get into our offensive flow. Even when we did beat their pressure. there wasn't much flow. It was a struggle to score for both teams.' The Rocks (20-3) trailed by one after a quarter, then went stone cold in the second quarter. They hit just three of 12 shots from the floor and committed four turnovers. At one stretch the Rocks went eight possessions, nearly six full minutes, without scoring a point. Miraculously enough, they trailed by just a point with 28 seconds left in the half.

Truman, however, scored four points in those final 28 seconds to take a 25-20 lead into the lockerroom. It may have been the worst quarter of basketball the Rocks had played and Thomann was not pleased

HE 1984 All-Area swim team may be the most talented contingent Observerland has ever produced. The team even has a state champion. Led by North Farmington junior Brian Goins, who was crowned state champion in the 100-yard butterfly, the area boasts an unusually strong group of swimmers this year, proving once again that it can compete with the best in the state.

After coming within .15 of a second of breaking the state record in the butterfly in his winning effort (51.43), Goins showed his versatility by taking a respectable ninth in the 100-backstroke (55.44).

He also anchored North Farmington's successful 400-freestyle relay team, which finished eighth in the state. "Brian is a very hard worker," North Farmington coach Pat Duthie said. "He is an outstanding competitor with a burning desire to meet his goals." Area coaches met recently to select this year's most talented swimmers. Swimmers are restricted to one event (with the exception of relays). The coaches also chose five swimmers in an atlarge category, honoring top performers for their versatility.

FIRST TEAM

Erik Kleinsmith, Plymouth Salem, 200 freestyle: The hard-working senior captained Salem to its second-straight Western Lakes Activities Conference championship, winning three events at the

He set a team record in the 100 free this season and finished 10th in the state at that distance. Kleinsmith and his teammates also set a school record in the 400-freestyle relay, placing a respectable 12th in the state. "Erik has come on to be one of the most talented swimmers in the history of Plymouth Salem swim-"ming," coach Chuck Olson said.

Alec Campbell, Farmington, 200 IM: The multi-talented senior finished his career at Farmington holding seven school, five pool and three league re-

"Alec is a very hard worker and a fantastic team leader," Farmington coach Greg Phill said. "I honestly believe Alec made my other swimmers fast-

Kurt Hein, Livonia Stevenson, 50 freestyle: The senior was 11th in the state in the 50 freestyle with a clocking of 22.4.

He bettered that mark in the Western Lakes league meet, winning with a time of 22.1 to set a league and school record.

He was also a member of the league's best 200medley relay team, breaking the record with a time of 1:40.21. Hein established a new school record in the 100 butterfly this season, posting a 52.9.

"I will miss Kurt a lot," Stevenson coach Doug Buckler said. "He has been one of the nicest guys I've ever coached. He's the guy you could always depend on "

Vic Valente, Livonia Churchill, diving: The junior standout finished 33rd at the state championships and fifth in the Class A regional.

The Western Lakes champ won 11 of 12 dual meets this season, setting a league record with 381.55 points on 11 dives in the league meet.

Valente also established a new varsity record at Churchill, accumulating 252.50 points in six dives.

Brian Goins, North Farmington, 100 butterfly: Added to his achievements at the state championships, Goins broke school records this season in both the 100 butterfly and 100 backstroke. He was the NSL's first-place finisher in both events.

Goins also won the 100 butterfly in the Oakland County Championships earlier this season, setting a new meet record with a time of 52.63.

He combined with his teammates in establishing a new school record in the 200 IM. The team also captured first place in the league meet.

Scott Sargent, Livonia Bentley, 100 freestyle: Sargent placed 11th at state in the 100 freestyle with a time of 48.78. The senior co-captain just missed school records this season in the 100 freestyle and 100 butterfly

He finished second in the Western Lakes in the 100 freestyle (49.02) and fifth in the 50 freestyle

"He's a hard worker - highly motivated and a great leader," Bentley coach Dave Giandelletti said. "He only started swimming as a freshman. He's very aggressive and won't let anything get in Mike Tumey, North Farmington, 500 freestyle: Only a freshman, Tumey shattered the NSL league record in the 500 freestyle, capturing first place with a time of 4:52.1.

He was also victorious in the 200 freestyle, posting a time of 1:48.7, qualifying him for the state championships in both events.

"Mike is very talented," North Farmington coach Pat Duthie said. "He is an excellent racer and com-

Kevin Everhart, Livonia Stevenson, 100 backstroke: Everhart was last year's All-Area selection in the backstroke.

The junior has been even more impressive this season, setting league and school records in the 100 backstoke (57.5) and anchoring the 200-medley relay (1:40.21).

"Kevin has been our captain the last two years." coach Buckler said. "He's a great swimmer and a fine young man. He's a fine student also. I'm looking forward to coaching him next year."

Eric Hutchison, Livonia Churchill, 100 breaststroke: The junior placed first at the Western Lakes championships in the 100 breaststroke and placed 12th at state.

He was also a member of the Charger's recordsetting medley-relay team.

During the season, Hutchison recorded a varsity record in the 100 breaststroke (1:01.92) and a Churchill pool record in the same event (1:02.9).

"Eric is a very hard worker who enjoys swimming," Churchill coach Manse Tian said. "He has the desire to achieve his goals."

AT-LARGE

Scott Anderson, Plymouth Salem: Team captain Anderson was instrumental in leading Salem to the Western Lakes Conference title this season.

He qualified for state in the 100freestyle (49.88) and was a member of the qualifying 400-freestylerelay team in both 1983 and 1984.

The relay team placed 12th in the state in 1983. "Scott made every effort necessary to win the conference championship and led Salem to its area ranking as the number one team," coach Olson said.

in the Westerd Lakes championships.

"Bob has proven on the state level that he's one of the finest sprinters in the area," coach Olson

Fred Courville, Farmington: The senior captain holds two school and two pool records.

He placed in the top six in two events in the Western Lakes finals, and was a member of the winning 400-freestyle relay, which established a new league record.

His best times in the 50 and 100 freestyle's were 22.5 and 50.25, respectively.

"He's a very nice and coachable young man," coach Phill said. "He's a good team leader."

John Kovach, Redford Catholic Central: The talented freshman was a double winner in the Catholic League conference meet.

He qualified for three events at state, including the 100 (49.2) and 200 freestyles (1:49.8), and the 100 butterfly (55.3).

Kovach also had an impressive 4:59.7 clocking this season in the 500freestyle. "He's the greatest freshman swimmer I've ever had," CC coach De Loris Yager said.

Brian Pawlowicz, Westland John Glenn: Pawlowicz posted second-place finishes in both the 200 (1:49.1) and 500 freestyles (4:52.22) at the NSL league meet this year.

The senior holds the school record in the 100 but-

RELAYS

Kevin Everhart, Kurt Hein, Steve Taormina, Dennis Ward, Livonia Stevenson, 200 medley: This speedy group is made up of two All-Area selections in Everhard and Hein and two solid performers in Taormina and Ward.

Taormina, who is just a freshman, took a fourth in the IM and a fifth in the breaststroke at the Western Lakes finals.

"Steve is going to be a great swimmer," Buckler said. "He's a lot of fun to train, and I'm looking forward to training him in the next three years."

Ward, a sophomore, placed seventh in the 50 freestyle at the league meet and sixth in the 100 freestyle.

"This is his first year swimming, and he has great potential," Buckler said. "He works hard and is a team swimmer. We're looking for hig things from him next year.'

Mike Buatti, Craig Burland, Rob Lynch, Brian Goins, North Farmington, 400 freestyle: This talented foursome, comprised of two sophomores, a junior and a senior, placed eighth in the state with a clocking of 3:18.11.

They also combined to break the school record, which had held fast for 11 years.

Rocks struggle but top Truman

"I was very angry," he said. "I was angry that we gave up that basket at the end of the half. We talked about that a little bit."

Thomann, apparently talked about a number of things at halftime because it was a much more intense Rock contingent that took the court in the third quarter.

ARNOLD WAS the catalyst. He drained two jumpers at the start of the quarter to pull Salem within a point. He scored seven of the Rocks' 14 third quarter points. Salem led 34-

Erich Hartnett (No.20) saved the day for the Rocks Thursday.

The final eight minutes belonged to Hartnett. With Highland Park Community College coach Glen Donahue and Schoolcraft coach Rocky Watkins watching with interest, the shifty 6foot-2 guard poured in 10 points to help ice the win for Salem. "He can play," said Vernon Carr, one of the stars on the Highland Park team. "Coach always asks my opinion of the people he scouts. If I don't like 'em, I won't go talk to 'em. I like Hartnett, he can play."

Said Watkins: "We'd love to have"

Hartnett."

Hartnett finished with a game-high 17 points and played outstanding defense on Truman's top scorer Derrick Glenn, holding him to just 10 points. Hartnett grabbed seven rebounds, tied with Scott Jurek for the team leadership, and made two steals.

ARNOLD scored 15 points and made three big fourth-quarter steals to thwart Truman's comeback bid.

Truman, which finished the season with a 12-8 record, got 10 points from

As bad as it was, shooting just 34 percent and getting outrebounded by a smaller team, Thomann will take the win. It's a hump his teams have had trouble getting over. They have been ousted the past two seasons in regional openers.

Two years ago, Salem was ousted by Southwestern and Antoine Joubert in the regional opener. They have earned another shot.

"We wanted to be here. The players wanted to play in this type of game and we wanted to coach in it. We've got to the right spot," Thomann said.

Rachel Ward is a rich girl and Jeff Bridges is a football player, who are lovers in the adventure film, "Against All Odds."

'Against All Odds' just hasn't a chance

This seems to be the season for remakes, with virtually every other film a new edition of an earlier model.

"Scarface," "Unfaithfully Yours," "To Be or Not To Be" and "The Man Who Loved Women" quickly come to mind.

"Against All Odds" is a remake of the 1947 "Out of the Past" starring Kirk Douglas, Robert Mitchum and Jane Greer, who has a supporting role in the current release. I don't remember that film, but it couldn't have been any worse than the present offering. but it couldn't have been any worse than the present offering.

Somehow the current production has beaten the odds by turning a good gangster story with splashy California settings, beautiful Mexican location photography and a good cast into a boring, repetitious film that never fulfills the promise of its ingredients. Missing was a sensible script clearly directed.

Jessie Wyler (Rachel Ward) is a rich but neurotic woman who can't decide whether she wants to love crooked bookie-nightclub owner Jake Wise (James Wood) or football star Terry Brogan (Jeff MOTHER WYLER (Jane Greer) is a wealthy real-estate developer and football-club owner. She doesn't like either of her daughter's lovers and has attorney Ben Caxton (Richard Widmark) - who is really "Mr. Big" - take care of these and other things, like "fixing" city council and environmentalist objections to her new real-estate development.

Both principal, as well as supporting, roles are effective. Included is Alex Karras who always does well, particularly in football roles, although one might wish he hadn't shown up so quickly to interrupt the film's hottest love sequence.

Certainly any film with Rachel Ward is going to look terrific.

She indicates considerable acting potential but so far has been restricted to pretty parts, such as Domino in "Sharkey's Machine"

Also on the looks level, there are attractive Mexican sequences filmed in the ancient Mayan and Toltec ruins, never before used for theatrical motion pictures.

If the Mexican Government had scrutinized the script more closely it might not have granted permission to film on those sacred ruins. "Against All Odds" certainly is not a respectful monument to Mayan Civilization.

The very weak script and flabby direction drag this production down. Character motivation is unclear and the action rambles in what should be a tightly paced mystery-thriller that meanders around for two pretty but boring hours.

"TANK," ON THE other hand, is not a remake of anything because no one in his right, or wrong, mind would dream up such a stupid movie twice.

Perhaps this was a left-over "Rockford Files" script that the network had the good sense to scratch. The film does exhibit television characteristics: Intense action followed by relaxed interludes, conveniently structured for commercial inserts.

TV Emmy-award-winning Director Marvin Chomsky ("Inside the Third Reich." "Holocaust," "Victory at Entebbe," "Attica" and several episodes of the original "Roots") may know his televison, but TV's interruptive pattern doesn't work well for two hours on the big screen.

The hashed-up story includes a sadistic small-town Sheriff Buelton (G.D. Spradlin), who turns Dukes-of-Hazard silly near the end, and Sergeant-Major Zack Carey (James Garner). They destroy the jail and rescue his son Billy (C. Thomas Howell) from the prison farm using a restored Sherman tank while wife LaDonna (Shirley Jones) raises media and political support.

There are serious moments of sheriff-sadism intermixed with images of the "new" Army, an impossible motorcycle jump, a images of the "new" Army, an impossible motorcycle jump, a weak attempt at father-son relationships shadowed by the guilt of an elder son's death, biker heros, marching bands and so much nonsense you wouldn't believe.
