Party down: Old elevator soon to retire

By W.W. Edgar staff writer

One of the oldest historic pieces in Plymouth's downtown business district is soon to be retired with what amounts to a holiday. The historic piece is an old rope-controlled freight elevator found in the basement of the John Smith Clothing Store on Main Street.

The idea of a celebration was born in the fertile mind of Fred Hill, the eminent Ohio State alumnus. The business owner wants to part with the old bit but not until it is paid a last tribute with all city officials taking part.

"I THINK the old elevator is the oldest in the entire area," he said. "First, it is the last that is controlled by pulling ropes. There are no electrical connections or power, so one has to pull himself to the top. And, for a real lifetime of service, it should not be allowed to pass on without some kind of real

Trying to put an exact age on the freight elevator is difficult to do. That's because the city's records only date back to 1900, said city assessor Ken Way. The party date will depend on when work is completed on an adjoining pedestrian walkway along one side of the building. The walkway connects Main Street with the Central Parking Lot.

"WHEN THEY have the passageway completed to accommodate folks from the upper deck of the central parking lot, and a returning feature to Main Street, there are a lot of wires on our building the tallest in the central business district on Main Street - that will have to be moved inside. That will bring about a complete renovation of the John Smith Store and the parting with the elevator."

The alterations in the walkway from the parking lot will mark the great changes to what or has been a historic spot in downtow . . . , mouth.

When the walkway was opened, it opened the way for a public comfort station at the Central Lot. The walkway was used to the extent that a new comfort station was needed. It was built, but lasted only a short time because the upkeep was considered too great. There hasn't been a public comfort station since then.

So, some more history is in the making and it will reach its first peak when Hill declares the final salute to the old rope-controlled freight elevator now resting in the basement of the John Smith Clothing Store.

Winkleman's opening eyed by early fall

By Marie Chestney staff writer

The "for lease" sign is gone and that's a good clue that some definite plans are afoot for a new tenant in the long-vacant store at 306 S. Main, in the Park Center.

All signs point to Winkleman's as that new tenant for the site, previously occupied by Plymouth Furniture.

James McKeon Sr., landlord for the center, said a verbal agreement has been reached with Winkleman's. A lease is awaiting the clothier's signature and the company plans to have its new store open sometime before the start of the fall shopping season.

Anthony Vinci, president of Winkleman's, was on vacation last week and unavailable for comment. He previously had declined comment on whether a Winkleman's store was coming to Plymouth until a lease had been signed.

"I think they're waiting for the new parking deck to be completed,"

McKeon said. "We presented Winkleman's with a lease and now we need something in writing. I don't think they want to open up before the fall season. We're not showing it (the vacant store) anymore because we verbally have a commitment."

THE SITE for the proposed Winkleman's store has been vacant since last July when Plymouth Furniture went bankrupt. Since then, two new tenants - Armbruster Bootery and The Mole Hole - have moved into space formerly occupied by the furniture store. A third store, the Fabric Shoppe, now at 819 Penniman, plans to move into the center sometime in early May.

While searching for a tenant to fill the remaining 4,000 square feet, McKeon said he turned down numerous food-type operations which were anxious to occupy the prime downtown

Bartenders learn how to spot drunks

This is the final story in a recent series on drunk driving.

By Marie Chestney staff writer

At a neighborhood bar, three buddies drinking their way through pitchers of beer are joined by a loud, already slightly drunk, fourth person.

The fourth, clutching a mug of beer, warns one of the men at the table to "leave my girl friend alone." Tense words fly back and forth. Then the fourth man, threatened and outnumbered, gets up from the table, walks to the bar and demands another beer from the bartender.

'No more," says the bartender, who had listened in on the near-fight.

"Just one more and I won't give you any more troubles," promises the man. The bartender casts a skeptical glance at him and the table with the three other men. "Well, if you give me your word . .

And the bartender pours the man another beer

Any writer can give this story a tragic, but plausible, ending. The fourth man, now angry and numbed by alcohol, leaves the bar, gets in his car and crashes into someone or something on the way home. The man goes back to the table, shoves one of the men around and starts a barroom brawl.

Or, as really happened, according to Michigan court records, the three buddies follow the fourth into the bathroom and beat him into unconscious-

THE MICHIGAN Licensed Beverage Association (MLBA), a group composed of 2,800 taverns, restaurants and stores across the state that sell alcoholic beverages, contend that none of above three endings should have taken place. And MLBA pins much of the blame for such drunken incidents on those who serve and sell alcoholic drinks them-

"Bartenders are the first line of defense in preventing drunken incidents,' MLBA spokesman Jeff Becker told a group of some 70 local bar owners and workers at an eight-hour seminar held Tuesday at the Plymouth Hilton.

The seminar, one of three held on consecutive days in Detroit, Plymouth and Woodhaven, was put on by MLBA to show bar and restaurant workers how to spot and control customers who have had too much to drink.

The program, called Techniques of Alcohol Management, is part of a coordinated effort by MLBA, police and overnment agencies to educate alcohol servers about what they can do to prevent alcohol abuse and keep drunk drivers off the road. The seminars have been put on extensively in northern Michigan in the last year, but were the first held in southeastern Michigan. They are also the first held across the

Funding for the seminars comes from a $50,000 federal grant from the Office of Highway Safety Planning and $120,000 contributed by MLBA. Semi-nar co-sponsors include the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police, Michigan Sheriffs' Association, state police and Office of Substance Abuse Ser-

Local participants included Lewis Wintergarden Bar, Livonia, Jonathan B. Pub, MerriBowl Lanes, Livonia, Sentry Drugs, K of C Hall in Plymouth, Roma's of Livonia, 7-Eleven stores, Loyal Order of Moose, Redford, and Woodland Lanes, Livonia.

Participants easily spotted errors made by the bartender in the above incident. He forgot he is a host, not just a bartender, and thereby controls the mood of the evening. He didn't "size up" the four according to body weight, deciding how much alcohol each could safely consume in an hour. He didn't take into account how much each had drunk before getting to the bar. He didn't diffuse the volatile emotions of a "boyfriend, girlfriend" quarrel.

He didn't "rate" the four "green," "yellow," or "red," cutting off drinks when one reached the "red" stage." He didn't offer coffee or food to counteract the cleaned and may use a friendlier at the alcohol and set up a friendlier at-mosphere. At no time did he say, "This bar is no place for a fight." The renowned band will appear at 2:30 p.m. Monday, May 29, in Kellogg

The appearance here is sponsored by the VFW Post and Auxiliary of Plym-

THE BAND WILL present an extensive program of band music, drill, dance and song which will range from American clogging to Sousa marches.

The band includes 80 members in the touring company, including the mili-tary band under the direction of Lt. Col. Mary Jones, the Ceremonial Guard, the Naval Dancers and the Anchor Watch Singers. Jones is a former Navy WAVE and music educator in Howell, Mich., public schools.

The unit is commanded by Col. David L. Jaehnig, the former director of the official state of Michigan Bicentennial Band and college administrator.

Jaehnig is assisted by: Lt. Col. Roslynn Jaehnig, who also is in charge of the Naval Dancers; Master Sergeant Larry Hogan, who commands the Ceremonial Guard; and Capt. Nancy Steinacker, who is in control of the Anchor Watch Singers.

The program in 1984 includes Sousa marches such as very early "Revival," or "Hootenanny."

The dancers visit the old days with Austrian polkas such as Strauss'
"Tritsch-Tratsch Polka" or turn to 1859 and Offenbach's "Gaite Parisien for the Can-Can."

Other dances may include a 50th-anniversary presentation of "42nd Street," a lingering look at the 1920s with the "Charleston," or a ritual fire dance from the Hawaiian Islands called the "Pale" called the "Pele."

The Ceremonial Guard, which was acclaimed at Fort Laramie National Park last year, and fired the gun parts in Wellington's Victory by Beethoven for the Detroit Concert Band at Meadowbrook this past fall, offer the Historical Flag Pageant.

The pageant, with the band playing the "Blue and the Gray" in the back-ground, tells the history of the American flag over the years. The guard also fires the gun parts to the "1812 Overture" and "U.S. Field Artillery March," and performs such ceremonial drill as the occasion requires.

THE ANCHOR WATCH Singers per-form such favorites as "Battle Hymn of the Republic," "Let There Be Peace," the "Salute to the Services," "42nd Street" and "I Love a Sousa March."

Other numbers often performed are "When the Saints Go Marching In," "St. Louis Blues March," "Tiger Rag," "On the Mall," "Prestissimo," the New World Symphony excerpts and "God Bless America."

Last year the band made more than 100 appearances, and has performed more than 600 times since its beginning in 1977. Last year it performed at the U.S. Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, was named the outstanding band at Cheyenne Frontier Days, and had the largest crowd at Fort Laramie since the Wagon Train went through in 1976. At Fort Laramie some 5,000 people showed up to hear the band.

The entire unit is made up of volunteers who donate their time so that music might be brought to as many people as possible each year. The band is composed entirely of veterans and families, university and high-school students. It has no current military connections except through the Marine Corps League, the VFW and the American Legion.

ist Marine Band consists of some 80 civilian volunteers.

The Naval Dancers will be performing in Plymouth for Memorial Day weekend.

the University of Michigan, is seeking the Democratic nomination for U.S. Congress in the 2nd District which includes parts of Livonia and Plym-

"Reaganomics has created a disaster waiting to happen," said Grimes. "By running for Congress I believe I can help define the issues and policies needed to avert this disaster as well as sustain economic recovery and rekindle growth."

Grimes announced his candidacy aand discussed the issues with Democrats at the 2nd-district caucus earlier this month in Adrian. Grimes said that a chief job requirement for the Democratic nominee must be the ability to beat Carl Pursell, the Republican incumbent in November.

Grimes has been employed at the U-M Institute of Labor and Industrial Relations since 1978 where he has performed extensive research on labor market conditions at the national, state and local levels.

He received a bachelor's degree in economics from Kalamazoo College and a master's from the U-M. He is a doctoral candidate in economics at the U-M.

As a former auto worker turned economist, Grimes said he has a good understanding of the problems of the district from the perspective of all of the voters. He expects the focus of his campaign to be on economic issues, specifically the problems caused by

"The first and most important economic problem which must be addressed is the huge uncontrolled federal budget deficit," aid Grimes. "It was completely irresponsible of Carl Pursell to support both reckless increases in defense spending and the Reagan tax cuts for the rich. The resulting structural deficit is a catastrophe waiting to happen. "It has caused very high interest rates, which have discouraged investment and threatens many businesses with bankruptcy during the next recession. And the next recession will be even worse than the last one if the Reagan-Pursell policies are not changed," he said.

Grimes criticized the Reagan Administration for curtailing spending in education — an area "crucial to the long-term economic health of our nation.

"Support for public education has been cut in real dollars by more than 20 percent and the availability of student loans for higher education has become more and more restricted. These cuts, if not reversed would mean disaster for our country five 10 and 20 years from now."

Grimes called for a national industrial policy that will allow workers and communities to make a successful transition into the new economic

He noted that as the economy shifts into a new age of high technology the process is potentially very painful for some industries.

"Under current policies, or lack of policies, more workers will be displaced without the hope of retraining, and more communities will be devastated by plant closings."

THE SESSIONS told of the effects of alcohol on the body, the stages of intoxication and how to recogize them, how to rate customers' potential and level of drunkenness and how to prevent and handle potentially dangerous situation

The seminars also told tavers and ployees their legal rights and legal responsibilities toward their customers. The sessions stressed that it is against Michigan law to serve someone alcohol who is already visibly intoxicated and that bar owners can be held liable for any damage such a person causes.

'When you're a shopowner selling clothes, you are selling something that doesn't hurt," Becker said. "But bartenders are selling a controlled substance that has the potential to kill."

CARPAL TUNNEL SYNDROME All pains in the hand are not due to arthritis, Carpal Tunnel Syndrome is a case in point.

One of the main nerves of the hand travels down the middle of the forearm towards the palm in a groove, called the Carpal (wrist) Tunnel. When pressure occurs around this tunnel, the nerve is likely to be compressed.

Such nerve irritation results in a feeling of pain or numbness in the paim side of the hand, particularly in the thumb, second and third fingers.

Arthritis is one of a number of conditions that cause compression on the Carpal Tunnel. The reason is that arthritis can involve not only joints, but surrounding tendons as well. If tendon involvement has occured in the forearm, the swollen muscles may press upon the groove that s the nerve and so bring on the Carp Tunnel Syndrome.

In most instances when you come in with hand pain, your doctor can identify whether Carpal Tunnel Syndrome is the likely cause of if the problem is due to an arthritis. Making a diagnosis is important, as the treatment for each cause is quite specific.

Plymouth parties attract 'the vilest kind'

past and present

Presbyterian minister Alexander McJunkin was not too impressed with Plymouth and its residents when he served the church here in 1835. A letter written by McJunkin is quoted in Har-old Fredsell's book, "John Monteith and Detroit Presbyterianism.'

"We have now some praying men in Plymouth Village," McJunkin wrote.
"When I came to it last February there was but one man, a Methodist, who was even a professor of religion. For three months after my arrival there was a ball regularly once a week and of the vilest kind. The 'enemy of all righteousness' had taken possession.

"Some souls have been won to Christ - two of them are commencing their studies for the Christian ministry. If we ever find 'lion-like men' we may expect them among converts in such a place like this. To stand it against the array of earth and hell in a rising village of 300 inhabitants where every man and woman knows you and everyone sneers requires from the outset the zeal of martyrs and the heroism of Paul."

THE REV. MCJUNKIN'S remarks

For one, the Methodists had been organized here for six years before he arrived in Plymouth. For another, the Baptists had organized four years be-

And the Presbyterian Church, of which he became pastor, had been formed a full year before his arrival by people who carried letters of transfer from similar congregations in the east. None of these people seem to fit into the category he describes in castigating every person of the village's 300 inhab-

Perhaps, as Dr. Fredsell noted, the Rev. McJunkin's problem was that he "lacked the zeal of the martyrs and the heroism of St. Paul." On the other hand, as Fredsell also observed, "during the 50 years that followed, the Plymouth church had 20 pastors. Perhaps the Rev. McJunkin's colorful strike an odd note for several reasons.

prose concerning the community of Plymouth was very close to the facts."

McJunkin's salary, $200 a year, may have been a factor in his leaving the local church, although the Session minutes hint at another reason. Dr. Fredsell cites an estimate indicating that, in 1826, $400 was needed to support a minister and his family in a western rural community town. McJunkin would have had some difficulty getting along on half that amount.

SESSION RECORDS show that the Rev. Erie Prince continued to serve the church on an infrequent basis until

It was Prince who moderated on Nov. 26, 1836, when the congregation was augmented by a couple straight from the land of John Knox, the Scottish reformer whose strain of Calvinism was brought to America by early Scottish colonists. On that date, John Lindsay and his wife Marian were received as members by letter of recommendation from the Relief Church of Strathaven, Scotland.

Some church lists show that the Rev. W.H. Snyder was pastor in 1836, but he is not mentioned in the minutes of the Session until June 23, 1838. He was pastor on that date but only for a few months. The minutes indicate that he "did not return" by Oct. 27, 1838.

By 1837 the church had 39 members. This is the order in which they had joined. In 1833, James and Elizabeth Purdy, Peter and Elizabeth Smith, Louisa, Fidelia and Lydia Hammond, Deborah Bradner, Samuel and Hanna Stanbrough, Ira and Mary Bronson, Mrs. Hanna Peck, Lewis Purdy, Daniel Smith and Laura Grant.

In 1834, Levi, Anny, Sally and Jan Van Inwagen; Mrs. Bethiah Johnston, Prudence Woodruff, Hanna Barns, Electa Bradner and Nancy Rotnour.

In 1835, David B. Wilcox, Jane Stevens, Polly Cargill, Nancy Fralick, Sarah Holbrook and Mehitabel Stafford. In 1836, Mrs. Susan Eastman, Lydia and Fanny Dean, John and Mrs. Lindsay, Mrs. Joanna Wright. In 1837, Erastus Landon and Betsey Parker.

SOMETIME IN 1838 the Plymouth Church had to choose sides in the controversy that had arisen between what was called "The Old School." who were orthodox Calvinists, and the "New erals.

Prior to 1837, the Old School adherents had attacked the Plan of Union, declaring it unconstitutional. This was the plan which the Presbyterians had entered into with the Congregationalists in 1801 for the purpose of cooperating in home missionary work on the frontier.

In 1837, at the General Assembly, the Old School proponents succeeded in having the Plan of Union cancelled. The debate on the matter prompted Henry Clay to say that the oratory of the Presbyterians at the Assembly was finer that any he had heard in Con-

All of the churches that had been established under the plan with the congregationalists were declared unconstitutional. Severed from the Presbyterian Church of the U.S.A. at this time were four synods including 535 churches and more than 100,000 mem-

Spring goes hand-in-hand with old-time melodies

Whatever happened to the good, oldfashioned songs, the barber shop quartets and the box parties?

These were the popular things back in the days before we had radio and television. Many a fine evening was spent in getting together to sing such oldies as "I'll Take You Home Again" Kathleen," "Down by the Old Mill Stream," "Casey Jones," "Where the River Shannon Flows," and "Good Night Ladies."

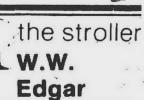

Quartets grew out of those who sang these songs and so did church choirs.

Samehor another on these pecu-ar spring regimes The Stroller finds imself and these old-time meloliar sprin himself lese were special songs occasions and our little ack home made it a specialty to mer the Irish songs on St. Patrick's Day. And somehow as he writes this piece, The Stroller finds himself humming "Mother Machree" and "Galway Bay." It is a habit that has been carried down through the years. But few of today's young folks ever think of gathering for a songfest. But they were fun back in the Dutch country. And many a winter's evening was spent singing, even without music.

And while the quartets, most of whom sang out of tune, were busy they looked forward to the monthly box parties. For those who might wonder about the box party, these events were the crowning points of the winter.

ON THE night of the party, the girls would pack a lunch box and head for the town's best dance hall. At intermission the boys were asked to purchase the boxes and it was the tradition then that you danced the last waltz with your lunch partner and then saw her home. You can imagine some of the frustrations when two lovers were split for that final dance and the stroll home. But it was a lot of fun.

There was no such thing as an automobile in those days and our town was so small that there were no long walks home. The box parties were the highlights of the winter.

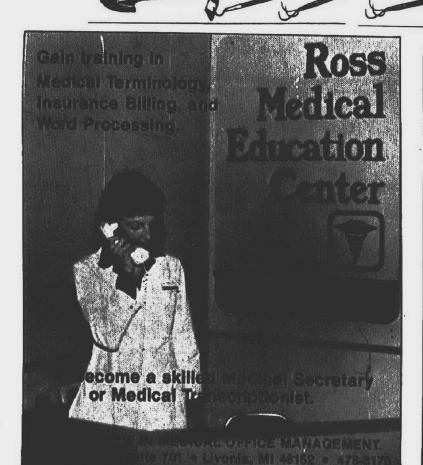

All the while these things were going on, our mothers kept busy with quilting parties. They would meet weekly at a designated place and spend several hours making a quilt. This was a rather tedious job, but the women managed to have a lot of fun, and the quilts came in handy when the cold winter nights came along.

These things now are in the limbo of forgotten things. In their place, the young folks now have autos and most of the courting is done by the boy and girl alone. There are few such things as weekly dances, the old-time waltz and the two-step that brought the young folks together.

In those days they danced close as the Dutch girls would say. Today, they are jumping all over the place.

Perhaps, if we could bring back barber-shop singing, the box parties would come back and we'd really have enjoyable times. Too bad they are now

Arthritis Today Joseph J. Weiss, M.D. Rheumatology 20317 Farmington Road Livonia, Michigan 48152 Phone: 478-7860

Recently I discussed the weather and arthritis. Today's column will extend that discussion to include the influence of the seasons on bone and ioint conditions.

For example, psoriatic arthritis flares in the winter and is mild in the summer, these changes parallel the intensity of ultraviolet light in the atmosphere. Such light is excellent treatment for psoriasis, and however fares the skin, so fares the arthritis. Thus, the longer and warmer the summer, the more ultraviolet light is present, and the better the patient with psorlatic arthritis

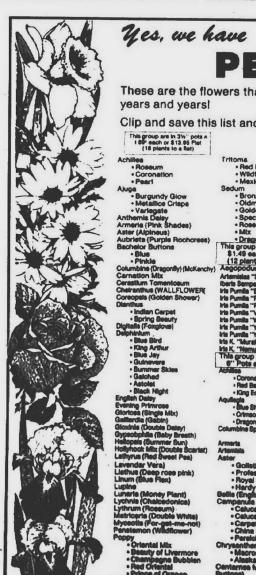

In contrast, for patients with lupus arthritis, winter is the best time of the year, and summer is the worst. Again the reason has to do with exposure to ultraviolet light, which in lupus patients accelerates the production of reactions within the body that are harmful to the individual. Thus a patient, writing of her experience with lupus, titled her book: The Sun Is My Enemy.

These examples represent only a small sample of the ways in which arthritis and our envirogment interact.

Lucas plan could bring help to jobless in country

Wayne County Executive William Lucas and the Private Industry Council he appointed have jointly submitted a plan to the Michigan Department of Labor which could bring $4.6 million in job funds to Wayne County in 1884 and job funds to Wayne County in 1984 and almost $4.2 million in 1985.

The jobs plan is expected to generate 1,700 jobs in the private sector within two years, according to a Lucas state-

The plan's originators said it will hopefully serve 3,100 poor and jobless people, with 55 percent of those placed in unsubsidized jobs.

Unemployed and disadvantaged residents of 27 Wayne County communities will be offered a comprehensive program of classroom training, on-the-job training, limited work experience and employability development services. "We have been able to develop a plan that will concentrate on providing permanent, long-term employment in the private sector," Lucas said.

Lucas said he expects Wayne County's jobs plan to be well received in Lansing since the program was devel-oped under well-defined guidelines.

Federal Job Partnership Training

Act (JPTA) money authorized for Wayne County is $4.6 million between July of 1984 and 1985 and $4.2 million between July 1985 and July 1985.

The amount calculated for Wayne

County's Service Delivery Area (SDA) is based on a federal formula which includes the number of unemployed and economically disadvantaged people in Wayne County's Service Delivery Area includes the geographical county minus Detroit and 13 downriver communities which were granted their own SDA designations by the governor.

Emergency help available

Wayne-Metropolitan Community Services Agency (WMCSA) has received $244,000 from the Federal Emergency Management Administration (FEMA) to provide emergency services to low-income households in the out-Wayne County area.

Funds for the program are available until May 15 or until they are spent.

To be provided are emergency food boxes, emergency shelter, limited rent assistance, limited mortgage assistance, and assistance to food

Program services will be available to low-income people meeting income guidelines. Those seeking help must sign a signature form prior to receiving assistance.

For emergency food, call 721-4470 for a referral to a food provider. For emergency shelter or rent and mortgage assistance, call 843-2550 or 728-7510 for referral to a regional services specialist.

NEXT & CO (TE ) EN THRIFTY ACRESO OF

umptuous cakes and toothsome pies, the glamorous stars of Southern cooking, still draw raves from enchanted diners. Favorites such as pecan pie, bourbon cake, Lady Baltimore cake, spiced sweet potato pie and blackberry cake with caramel icing are served everywhere in the South.

Yet the national trend towards lighter, less filling meal-enders has gained a foothold in the sweet tooth South too. Both types of desserts are served at chic "dessert only" gatherings, which have become popular since women began to spend more time in the office than the kitchen. After dinner at home, people get together for dessert, coffee and relaxed conversation.

Hostesses who specialize in desserts flavored and garnished with citrus fruits have developed a number of lighter desserts refreshed with the taste of oranges or grapefruit. They might offer the traditional orange cake made with buttermilk, dates, pecans and orange juice and, on the same menu, a less caloric but delicious grapefruit sorbet. In fact, the lively appeal of citrus in both rich and light desserts goes far beyond the classic Ambrosia of the South.

Some of the newer desserts favored for dessert parties are airy pies and cakes made with fresh Florida grapefruit. For example, Gingered Grapefruit Souffle Cake teams ladyfingers with pink or white grapefruit juice, and Grapefruit Angel Pie is a true taste of paradise for lovers of featherweight meringue and a zesty custard filling. Calorie-watchers will both relish and appreciate icy Grapefruit Colada Snow.

Grapefruit are spring-sweet and plentiful now They add that all-important vitamin C to your dishes and an interesting, come-alive taste. In fact, thin-skinned Florida grapefruit, juicy as can be, can be found in most markets until May, so you can enjoy these new desserts all season.

The traditional coffee and tea are served along with desserts, though the hostess who enjoys being different will include an herb tea or a flavored coffee. A sweet but potent liqueur often rounds out the dessert menu with the latest calorielowering trick - adding an ice cube for more volume and less liqueur.

Singered Sirab fruit Souffle Care

- 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
- 1 cup sugar, divided 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 4 large eggs, separated 2 1/2 cups grapefruit juice
- 1 teaspoon chopped, candied ginger
- 1/2 teaspoon grated grapefruit peel 1 cup heavy cream, whipped
- 2 packages (3 ounces each) lady fingers, split Whipped cream for garnish (optional)
  Grapefruit peel "knots" for garnish (optional)

In a medium saucepan mix gelatin, 2/3 cup sugar and salt. in medium bowl beat together egg yolks and grapefruit juice. Stir into gelatin in saucepan. Cook over low heat stirring constantly until gelatin dissolves and mixture thickens slightly, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in ginger and grapefruit peel. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. Beat egg whites until soft peaks form; gradually beat in remaining 1/3 cup sugar; beat until stiff peaks form. Fold egg whites into grapefruit mixture. Fold in whipped cream. Turn into a 9-inch springform pan lined with lady fingers. Chill until firm. Remove sides of springform pan. Garnish cake with whipped cream and "knots" of grapefruit peel, if desired. YIELD: 8 to 10 servings.

4 large egg whites, at room temperature

1/8 teaspoon cream of tartar

cup sugar 1/2 teaspoon vanilla

In a small bowl beat egg whites and cream of tartar until soft peaks form. Gradually add sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time, beating until sugar is completely dissolved and meringue is smooth and glossy and stands in stiff peaks (about 20 minutes). Beat in vanilla. Pipe or spoon mixture into a 9-inch greased pie plate. Bake in a 275°F, oven 1 hour; turn oven off and let stand in oven 1 hour longer. Fill with Grapefruit Filling*. Chill several hours or overnight, if possible. YIELD: 8 servings.

"Grapefruit Filling

1/2 cup sugar 1/4 cup cornstarch 1 1/4 cups grapefruit juice

3/4 cup water

egg yolks, lightly beaten tablespoon unsalted butter or margarine

1 cup heavy cream

In medium saucepan mix sugar and cornstarch. Gradually stir in grapefruit juice and water; cook over medium heat until mixture boils and thickens. Stir constantly. Gradually beat hot mixture into beaten egg yolks; stir over low heat until thickened. Stir in butter; cover; chill. Beat heavy cream until soft peaks form; fold into grapefruit mixture. Spoon into meringue shell.

Because last winter's adverse weather severely affected citrus crops in several states, the grapefruit in your markets now are primarily Florida grapefruit which were not in the cold-damaged areas. These grapefruit have been maturing on the trees for almost a year and are being picked undamaged and ready to eat. Strict Florida laws ensure that only top quality, juicy fruit is shipped to your market, usually within seven days of harvesting. Enjoy.

Mushrooms provide something for everyone

Stuffed, sauteed or raw, we savor the distinct flavor and unique texture of the mushroom. It has become an expected ingredient in numerous dishes including mushroom barley soup, spinach salad, tomato sauce and beef bourguingnonne

What makes mushrooms even more appealing are their nutritive merits. Mushrooms make good "diet food" as they are low in carbohydrates and the little they do contain is in the form of Diabetics may indulge in this vegetable as the mushroom lacks sugars.

Mushrooms provide many minerals, vitamins and a good deal of protein; because of the mushroom's nutrients, it is considered closer to meat than any other vegetable.

Technically, botanists define the mushroom we eat as the "fruiting body" of a type of fungus that grows underground.

There are about 38,000 kinds of mushrooms in the world, of which 2,000 are palatable. Only 1 or 2 percent of them are deadly, out of the 25 percent considered poisonous to varying de-

The most common wild mushroom in the United Staes, the Boletus edulis, tastes a little like raw chestnuts and is

THIS MUSHROOM is known as the cepe in France; the Steinpilz, stone mushroom, or the Herrenpilz, master mushroom, in Germany; the fungo porcino, pig mushroom, because of the animal's fondness for the fungus, in Italy. Scores of mushrooms that are reminiscent of other foods, such as meat, abound. The Japanese matsutake, the American Fistulina hepatica (the beefsteak mushroom), the morel, and the Pleurotus ostreatus, which resembles the oyster, all taste like meat.

The agarte is the most popular mushroom in the United States. It is probably the most widely eaten cultivated mushroom around the world, as it accounts for over 70 percent of mushroom cultivation.

Mushroom cultivation probably began with the Japanese who began raising the shil-take mushroom over 2,000 years ago.

Western mushroom cultivation got under way when Olivier de Serres, agronomists to Louis XIV, began experimenting with the agaric, a mushroom whose taste and flavor cannot compare to wild varieties.

The limestone caves near Downing-

During the 1970s, air conditioning enabled other areas to be completed in such far-flung locations as Florida, Texas, Connecticut, Southern California and Utah. Per capita consumption quadrupled during the last decade and it continues to increase.

FRESH MUSHROOMS are sold in markets in three grades: Button mushrooms are the smallest, cups are medium-sized and open or flat mushrooms. which are the most strongly flavored, are the largest.

In addition to the widely available agaric, dried varieties and imports from other countries are sold in many gourmet or specialty food stores.

Mushrooms should be thoroughly cleaned and trimmed before eating or cooking. They may be eaten raw with lemon juice, olive oil or yogurt dressing, sauteed with onions for a steak topping or omelette filling, or used in a variety of dishes. Following are a few ideas for unusual mushroom dishes. Raw Mushroom Salad from Eliane Ame-Leroy Carley's "Classics from a French Kitchen" (Crown Publishers) appeals to those who enjoy the flavor of the vegetable without much adorn-

New cholesterol booklet lists many foods

Cholesterol deposited in the arteries of its citizens has become a national health problem in the United States and many investigators believe it to be a major cause of heart disease.

As an aid to help people maintain a cholesterol-lowering diet, the Consumer Education Research Center, a national non-profit consumer group, offers a booklet that lists the milligrams of cholesterol in a wide variety of

Cholesterol is a whitish lard-appearing substance that is only found in animal tissue. When cholesterol collects in the arteries they become constricted, leaving less space through which blood can flow. Circulation becomes impaired, often seriously - sometimes fatally. Oxygen and food reach the tissues less rapidly and gradually the tissues are harmed, the degree of damage varying with the severity of the cholesterol build-up and the length of time is has been excessive VISUAL PROBLEMS are said to be complicated by cholesterol narrowing the blood vessels to the eyes. Similarly, it is believed that clogging of the arteries with cholesterol causes leg cramps - particularly at night when inactivity further reduces circulation.

To limit cholesterol intake it is necessary to limit consumption of foods rich in saturated fats, such as meat, butter and whole milk dairy products. The "Cholesterol in Food" booklet, which is pocket-sized and a handy, ready reference whether eating at home or dining out, gives an alphabetical listing of the cholesterol count in a wide range of foods from anchovies (275 milligrams in 11/2 ounces) to yams (no cholesterol); from:bologna (200 milligrams in seven ounces) to Welsh rarebit (100 milligrams in 31/2 ounces).

The cholesterol guide, written by Dr. Sally Johnson Lerager and Carol Franz, points out that the average cholesterol count in a blood sample should be approximately 150 to 230 milligrams and advises that daily intake of cholesterol should not exceed 300 milli-

Let guest decide the wine

Good wines should complement meals. If you choose to serve more than one wine, always serve white before reds (except dessert wines) and younger reds before older ones.

If you are unsure of what wine will go particularly well with hard-tomatch dishes like turkey or pork chops, announce your uncertainty, serve two different wines and let each guest decide what he or she prefers.

key is so lean - 50-percent less fat in many packages - and finely ground that it often winds up rather dry and without much texture.

But that's easily corrected by working in a little margarine. You can also make the turkey taste like whatever you desire.

Spring comes to Miller Woods

Springtime came to Miller Woods last week. One day the floor of the maple-beech climax forest was drab with last fall's leaves. A few warm days later, the annual renaissance was the first to appear. Dutchman's breeches, bloodroot and trout lilles with their mottled leaves carpeted the ground. The May apples popped up, followed in quick succession by banks of trilliums and the first violets.

Miller Woods, one of the most popular natural sites in the Plymouth-Canton community, was ready for the an-nual spring tours arranged by the Mil-ler Woods Committee. The first tour was Saturday. The second will be 1-4 p.m. Sunday, May 6, with committee members Bill and Evelyn Edgar, Herb Conant and Penny Wright acting as

THEY WILL identify the squirrel corn, the wildflowers, herbs, shrubs, trees and fungi. The woods is an example of virgin plant growth left undisturbed for almost 200 years.

It is on Powell Road between Beck and Ridge in Plymouth Township. For more information, call the administration office of the Plymouth Canton Community Schools, 451-6420.

The wood-chip paths, bridges and identifying signs in the woods are in excellent condition this spring, thanks to the efforts of 16-year-old Bruce Turner. His interest in Miller Woods began last spring when his mother, Florence Turner, came home from a meeting of the Tonquish Creek Garden

Evelyn Edgar had attended the meeting and told them about the cli-

"She mentioned that they were look-Ing for someone, or a group, that would be willing to repair the 13 identifica-tion signs, the bridge, plus do a general clean-up of the woods," Turner said. He decided to investigate the woods cleanup as an Eagle Scout project. After discussions with his troop committee and the Miller Woods Committee, they gave their approval.

"THE FIRST PART of the plan was to spread shredded bark over the trails. We loaded the bark into wheelbarrows with pitchforks and spread it with a rake. This was completed in four weekends, he said.

The new signs were built to last. "They were constructed out of Wolmanized lumber, and the bottom half of the post was coated with creosote. Large bolts were attached at the bottom of the posts to help secure them in the concrete. Three coats of yellow paint were used to highlight the letter-ing. The holes were dug three feet deep. Forty-five pounds of concrete was used for each post."

He said it took about three weeks to put the signs into the ground.

The Plexiglas that covered the large-Miller Woods sign had been riddled by bullets. Turner replaced it with a product called Lexan. He said, "The Lexan is one-half-inch thick and will not crack or break even if hit by a .22 caliber

He tore out the old bridge and constructed a new one, then defined the trail with limbs of dead trees.

Bruce Turner earned his Eagle Scout rank, and Miller Woods has a new cared-for look this spring.

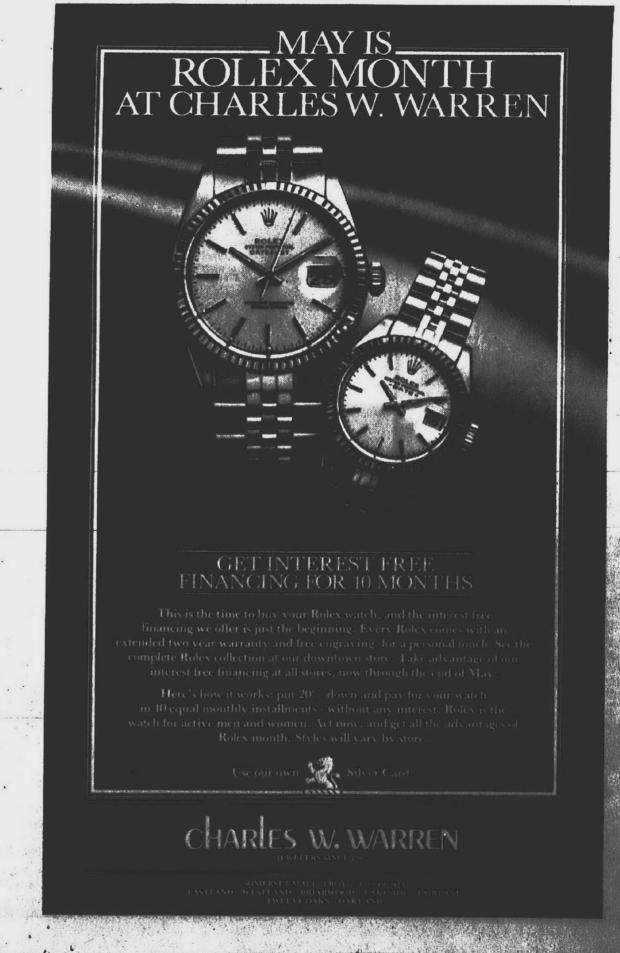

Bruce Turner's Eagle Scout project was to improve Miller

'PMS and You'seminar Wednesday

A seminar, "PMS and You" will be at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at Faith Moravian Community Church, 436001 Warren Road, west of Canton Township. The event is sponsored by the YWCA of Western Wayne County to alert women to the symptons of PMS, or Premen-

Guest speakers will be psychologist Susan Roeloffs and Dr. Edward Lichten, who will discuss the psychological and medicals aspects of PMS, focusing on how to recognize it and what to do to control it.

Cost of the seminar, which is open to both men and women, is $2.50 per person or $3 per couple. For more information, contact Janice Barber at 728-3886 between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m.

BARBER, 28, OF Westland has suffered from PMS. A story in Thursday's edition told how symptoms that began when she was 13 were never diagnosed as those manifested by premenstrualsyndrome sufferers. Instead, she was treated for manic depression.

According to Lichten, a Southfield gynecologist who operates a premenstrual treatment center, PMS is hormonal in origin. In severely affected sufferers, the estrogen levels are higher and the progesterone levels lower premenstrually than in asymptomatic

In addition to the YW seminar, Lichten will hold two free seminars. One is set for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday,

May 9 at the Southfield Library. The other will be 7:30 p.m. Thursday, May 10 at the West Bloomfield library. For more information on these seminars, call 569-3020.

Art auction to benefit handicapped children and the Plymouth-Canton Civitans will pay for the summer program for Northwest Wayne County's handicapped children. The auction will be 7-9:30 p.m. Saturday at Frame Works, 833 Penniman Ave., Plymouth.

Al Larson of Frame Works said responses from many of Michigan's best-known artists have been enthusiastic. They have donated limited-edition prints, some valued at several hundred dollars, to the auction. Local artists also have donated original watercolors, limited-edition prints and other mixed-media pieces to be auctioned. Collector plates, gift certificates, merchandise and posters also will be offered for sale. They will be sold by a professional auctioneer or by silent auction.

WILDLIFE artists have been generous in their contributions.

Catherine McClung has donated three prints, "Woodland Pause," Waxwings" and "Summer Hummer." Wildlife artist David Mohrhardt gave three limited-edition prints, including his "Magnolia Warblers."

Harry Antis of Ann Arbor, James Campbell, John Felsing Jr., Nick Van Frankenhuyzen, Larry Hay-den and Jim Foote have contributed. Katie Fox has donated a batik. Bill Rose, marine artist, gave a print of "Becalmed."

Johnnie Crosby, Jessie Hudson and Dee Schulte, all Plymouth artists, will have works in the auction. Livonia will be represented by artists Elizabeth Hull, Ann Dase and Audrey Paul, all members of Visual Arts Association of Livonia (VAAL). Handicapped children from the area attend Webster School in Livonia.

ALL THE PRINTS and originals will be framed, ready for hanging, by the staff at Frame Works.

The auction is open to the public and refreshments will be served. The works in the sale may be seen in Frame Works during the week before the

Robert Duvall stars as Joe Hillerman in "The Stone Boy," about an American family in turmoil.

Here's the lineup of current films

With Easter just past and summer vacations quick to follow, new movies aplenty are opening to complement the old favorites still doing well at the box office.

Topping that list, of course, are the popular teen movies such as "Footloose," "Police Academy," "Where the Boys Are" and "Up the Creek." All but "Footloose" are R-rated.

That PG epic proves the efficacy of musical tie-ins in promoting films. "Footloose" is the story of a worldly Chicago boy who moves to a small Midwestern town where dancing is prohibited. Ultimately the dancing gets done.

mately the dancing gets done.

"Where the Boys Are" stars Lisa Hartman, Russell Todd, Lorna Luft, Wendy Schaal and Lynn-Holley Johnson romping in Fort Lauderdale during spring break. "Up the Creek" is another silly college romp with a bunch of unknowns competing in a whitewater raft race. "Police Academy" is a humorous affair with the doors of a police academy opened to all applicants.

THE DISNEY STYLE continues its popularity with "Splash," the PG comedy about a wholesale vegetable merchant (Tom Hanks) in love with a mermaid (Daryl Hannah), while a rare G film, "Pete's Dragon," starring Helen Reddy, Mickey Rooney, Red Buttons, Shelley Winters and, of course, Pete the animated Dragon, was rereleased for the Easter season.

The lavish and epic "Greystoke: The Legend of Tarzan" with Christopher Lambert and Sir Ralph Richardson continues. Also dealing with the primitive, but not nearly as well, is the grunt and groan "Iceman" starring Timothy Hutton as the anthropologist who discovers a frozen but not dead Neanderthal man.

Holding at local theaters are "Romancing the Stone," a pleasant PG mystery-adventure with Michael Douglas and Kathleen Turner, and "Swing Shift," also PG, starring Goldie Hawn and Kurt Russell in a romance about World War II defense plants.

Oscar-winning films, of course, still bring in the fans. "Terms of Endearment" with Shirley MacLaine, Debra Winger and Jack Nicholson continues to please audiences with its melodramatic depiction of mother-daughter relationships. "The Dresser" and "The Big Chill" are showing, as well.

Since April had a Friday the 13th, the fright films are out in force including "Friday the 13th, The Final Chapter — Part I;" Stephen King's latest, "Children of the Corn," and "Of Unknown Origin." All are R-rated and feature numerous unknowns, plenty of gore and their share of frightful images.

STEPHEN KING'S "Firestarter" opens May 11. Based on his best-selling novel about a small girl's ability to set fire to anything that frightens her, it stars David Keith, Drew Barrymore, George C. Scott and Martin Sheen. Naturally it's an R.

Several recent openings provide more attractive film entertainment. "La Balance," winner of three top French Academy Awards (Cesars), is an exciting detective thriller, filled with violence and an unusual love story. "The Stone Boy" features Robert Duvall, Frederic Forrest, Glenn Close and Wilford Brimley in a compassionate story of an American family torn by a tragic accident.

Soon to open, if they haven't already made it to your neighborhood, are a spate of teen-oriented films. "Sixteen Candles" with Molly Ringwald is a PG film about a young girl who experiences an unforgettable 16th birthday. Considering the amount of television advertising for this film, it probably will provide the producers with an unforgettable trip to the bank.

Goldie Hawn is Kay Waleh, wife of a Navy man, who becomes a worker on the assembly line in "Swing

Sierras are fun for wine hunters

For those of you planning a summer vacation in California and who hope to do a bit of winery hunting while there, some words of caution: Avoid Napa Valley. If the tourists don't get you there, the motorcycles will. And Sonoma fills up, although less so.

Other areas also get their fill of tourists. Summer is not prime visiting time if meeting winemakers and drinking chardonnay are to your tastes.

But there is one area that the wine tours have not yet discovered. Add to its relative isolation a lot of exciting California history and some beautiful geography. The tourists there tend to be more interested in mines and old towns and avoid the wineries, making this a fine place to be.

The Gold Country, or Mother Lode, extends from Placerville in the north to Columbia in the south. Placerville is about 30 miles due east of Sacramento, the Columbia about 50 miles east of Stockton. Both are in the Sierra foothills, and this area, of course, is the heart of the '49er gold rush.

THE BEST base of operations for the three or four days needed to comfortably visit the wineries of the foothills is Jackson, a modest town about an hour below Placerville, in the heart of Amador County.

One full day is needed to explore the wineries in El Dorado County near Placerville. All require or suggest advance phone calls, but hospitality is assured from these pioneer wine people.

Around Placerville, Boeger and Madrona are not be missed, the first for its zinfandel, the latter for anything it makes. Boeger is a winery that has perhaps seen better days. Madrona is an excellent new venture of great promise.

To the south is the winery with the most beautiful view, Sierra Vista. Sipping chardonnay, zinfandel or cabernet and looking the 30 some miles east to a view of snow-covered Sierra peaks (except August) is most memorable.

The last leg of the drive up to the winery will test most rental cars. Time permitting, nearby Granite Springs also is worth a stop. Fine wines, lovely setting, good hospitality.

THE LARGEST winery in the area, Montevina, has recently opened an attractive tasting room that is not to be missed. This winery has been through some hard times recently but seems to be righting itself.

Also attractive for the quality of their wines are Kenworthy (cabernet), Karley (chardonnay and zinfandel), Amador Foothill (zinfandel and chenin blanc) and Greenstone (several varietals).

To those who want to see a bit of old California wine history, D'Agostini, makers of generic wines for decades in an old, old facility, also is in the area. This is the way it was in California before the middle 1960s.

South of Jackson there are really only one or two wineries to visit, though four are in the area. But it is worth a day's trip when combined with the marvelous old gold tours — most notably Murphys and Columbia. Stevenot winery, located outside Murphys, is a new and fast-growing operation, with excellent wines made in a fine setting. An appointment is advised. With a bit of luck, Chispa Cellars in Murphys also can be visited to drink a mammoth zinfandel, but Stevenot is the sure place to visit in the area.

Watson

The two wineries in Columbia are best forgotten. Concentrate on the scenery and history.

Accommodations in the foothills are no problem. In addition to a Best Western and a Holiday Lodge in Jackson, there are many pleasant bed-andbreakfast places in the area. For addresses, check the Sally Taylor and Friends map book and write for the free brochure, "Winetasting in the Sierra Foothills" (P.O. Box 425, Somerset, Calif. 95684).

DINNING IS a bit of a problem, though the two listings above offer some help. I have very much enjoyed the Balcony in Jackson.

surface and site have been changed to Churchill High School in Livonia on an all-weather, metric track

For the past 13 years, the meet was held on a cinder track at Redford Union's Howard Kraft Field. It was probably the last big high school meet of its kind in the state.

Last year, the event was run under abnormal conditions. A steady downpour turned a deteriorating track into a gigantic mud oval with water hazards at each turn. Shortly after, RU athletic director Bob Atkins made the meet available to other area schools and Churchill jumped at the opportunity.

"In all fairness to RU, they ran an excellent meet," said Churchill boys track coach Fred Price, whose team captured the title last year and has won or tied for the championship six times.

But to run a meet of this caliber," he continued, "an all-weather track is the way to go. Even though the races were good, the times were not as fast as you would have on an all-weather

Pin wizard on roll to pros

staff writer

IM DETHERAGE of Plymouth knows what it's going to take to make it on the pro bowling tour: singleis of purpose to go with his outstanding skills.

He's prepared, for a while at least, to forgo the comforts of a girlfriend or wife; he has no time to learn a trade; college doesn't interest him. Unlike many youths, he's known for seven years exactly what he wants to do — bowl with the stars on the Professional Bowlers Association (PBA)

TO THAT end, Detherage, 20 and a graduate of Salem High School, lives at home, bowls in six leagues a week, practices up to two hours day, pays to have himself videotaped when he's in a slump and plays all the tournaments he can on weekends. The results: a 207 average in his leagues and enough success cashing checks in local tourneys to support himself and his dreams

Of girls, he says: "They don't work out too well. Bowling takes a lot of my time. The free time I have, they want to do something and I like to be by myself."

Of not learning a trade, of not really having anything to fall back on if life on the PBA tour doesn't materialize, or if it materializes and doesn't work out: "Yeah, I kind of worry about it. I'd get a job, I guess."

But,"I don't want to work," he adds with a laugh. "You know how that goes. I make more money in tournaments now than I would by working, though."

SEVEN YEARS AGO, it would have seemed almost impossible that Detherage would have pro potential. In his first summer league, he bowled 99 - not once, but as an average.

A couple of buddies from school talked him into joining a league, and although he didn't score well, he was

He's been hooked since, and his average has slowly climbed. It is an indication of his dedication that Detherage can reel off his progression of averages through the years without a second's thought or hesitation. Fol-lowing the 99, he went to 119, to 140, to 166, then, in a big breakthrough, to 184, and then to 193.

"I WANTED to be a pro ever since I started," explained Detherage, tak-

AND SCORE HE DOES. He has four 300s to his credit and a 799 series a year ago at Flesta Lanes in Westland. "I needed a nine on the last ball and I got an eight," says Detherage painfully. "I'd rather have an 800 than a 300. That's what I'm shooting for." His latest 300 came recently in singles in the ongoing Dick Raw Tournament in Bridgeport. But the real story there was in doubles, where Detherage and his partner, Ron Aman, 24, the manager of Canton Trophy Sales, each racked up a 738 for a 1476 total. The tournament runs through July 1. If their score holds up - and Detherage expects it might - they will win

THIS PAST weekend, there was a nine-pin, no-tap tourney in Toledo (nine pins on the first ball counts as a strike); upcoming is a 20-game marathon tournament, also in Brideport. "I like to hit a lot of tournaments to stay sharp and for the experience," says Detherage. Not to mention the money. He finished first in a one-day tourney at Super Bowl in Canton three years ago and won $500. The first big test for Detherage, to see if he can compete with the big boys of the PBA tour, comes this summer in a series of regional PBA tours.

The regional tournaments involve putting up $100 for the entry fee, then paying for transportation, hotel bills and meals. The money's not much in fact, only the top 15 or so on the national tour make a good living from their sport — but cash four checks from the regional events and you're eligible for the nationals.

QUALIFYING FOR the nationals is hardly a guarantee of financial success. That merely means you can en-ter what are "rabbit" tournaments. At each tour spot, 100 or more as-

Rock bats run hot, cold in split with Panthers

"Yeah, but we lost," Knapp replied with an air of disgust. So it went last Wednesday. The took the second, 3-2. Knapp, a sophomore, learned a lesson every young pitcher must learn — walks will kill you, especially when you walk batters at the bottom of the order.

KNAPP ALLOWED just one hit in his 4%-inning stint and he struck out five. But his four walks led to all three Panther runs.

With Salem ahead 2-0, thanks to a two-run, two-out double by Darryl Brees in the top of the third, RU took advantage of Knapp's wildness.

Walks to Dennis Gerathy and Dave Doran, the seventh and ninth hitters in the RU lineup, set the table for a clutch two-out two-run single by shortstop Scott Butler.

"You've got to give a lot of credit to Scott Butler," said RU coach Stu Rose. "He turned three double plays, handled all his chances and had the key hit. He'll be starting. All he has to do is do what he did today and I'll be happy."

Butler was playing in place of Dennis Bushart, who was vacationing in Florida.

The Panthers scored the winning run in the fifth without the benefit of a hit. Bob Macek, the No. 8 hitter, walked with one out and stole second. He went

The first-ever women's varsity soccer team at Schoolcraft College is already en route to as successful a season as many teams could hope for.

That's because the Lady Ocelots are guaranteed a spot in the NJCAA championships Nov. 1-3. The reason is that Schoolcraft has the ONLY junior college varsity women's soccer program in its three-state region (Michigan, Ohio and Indiana).

Although it might look like an easy road, coach Ed Dudek, who guided the squad to a 3-3-1 record last fall in its inaugural season as a club-level team, has upgraded the schedule to 14 games, including a number of four-year schools and the defending NJCAA national champion.

"We're playing a much tougher schedule," said Dudek, who coaches the Livonia Churchill girls' team in the spring. "We're the only community college in Michigan, Ohio and Indiana with women's soccer, so we'll be playing some four-year varsities.

We're being treated like any of the (Schoolcraft) varsity sports.'

AMONG SCHOOLCRAFT'S scheduled opponents are a Sept. 12 season and home opener against Michigan State (the Lady Ocelots will play at MSU later on); an October 6 date at defending NJCAA champion Monroe CC in Rochester, N.Y.; an Oct. 7 game at Finger Lakes CC in Canadaigua, N.Y.; a trip to the Ohio State University Tournament Oct. 20-21 in Columbus; and the NJCAA tournament.

The upgrading of the program and schedule, combined with an earlier start, should attract some top local players to Schoolcraft, Dudek said.

"We're looking for all kinds of players, but we definitely have more interest. Last year we got started late, and it was hard getting a schedule together. I didn't know if I'd even have a full team.

"This year we definitely have a schedule set up."

DUDEK IS WORKING to get "some top players from the area." Among those he thinks will commit to play in the fall are Dawn and Heather Brda from Livonia Franklin and Martina Millen from Northville.

"I think we'll have the makings of a pretty decent team," he said.

Anyone interested in trying out for the Schoolcraft women's team should contact Dudek at 591-6400, Ext. 480. Practice begins in mid-August.

SUMMER VB CAMPS

Schoolcfaft College will sponsor four summer volleyball camps, each consisting of four half-day sessions, beginning Tuesday, June 19.

The camps are open to boys and girls, 14 to adult, with a special beginners group for 10-13-year-olds. Camp dates are June 19-22, with morning (8-11:30 a.m.) and afternoon (12:30-4 p.m.) sessions, and June 23-26, with afternoon (1-4:30 p.m.) and evening (5:30-9 p.m.) sessions.

Features include development of skills, offensive and defensive court position, competition on the last day, swimming and a T-shirt. The camps will be conducted by Schoolcraft volleyball coach Joe Jandasek.

Cost is $55 per session, with a $25

CAGE CAMP

The eighth-annual Girls' Fundamental Basketball Camp is set to go, starting Monday, July 16 through Friday, July 20 at Schoolcraft College.

The camp will run from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m daily. Features include emphasis on learning and improving fundamentals, individualized instruction, contests and a free basketball and camp Tshirt. The camp will be conducted by Schoolcraft women's basketball coach Ed Kavanaugh.

Cost is $58 per person. For registra-tion forms or further information, call the Schoolcraft athletic department at

How About A Career "With EVERYTHING"?

BECOME A HARDEE'S ASSISTANT MANAGER

We've been satisfying America's "fast food" appetite for over 20 years and now we offer YOU a chance to join the productive, growing Hardee's family. If you're just out of college, or perhaps have had some previous "fast food" or retail management experience, we'd like to discuss the benefits only Hardee's can offer you.

In addition to our outstanding orientation program, which will prepare you to assume supervisory duties within 2 months...Hardee's offers a benefits package that's hard to beat! As an Assistant Manager you'll receive a competitive salary based on your background and experience, paid life and medical insurance, paid sick days, paid holidays and 2 weeks' vacation plus paid tuition for college

You'll find the people friendly and the atmosphere conducive to career development. How fast you advance is based solely on your own initiative and goals.
