Schools eye switch in lunch program

Students today want 'fast-food' service

By Marie Chestney
staff writer

On paper, it's a half-inch-thick summary called "Food Management Proposals."

The stack of information was put together by an eight-member food service evaluation committee and presented Monday to the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education for a May 14 vote.

The board on that date will decide whether to stick with the school system's present food supplier, Dearborn-based Interstate United, or take the "bold initiative" of giving the 1984-85 contract to Service Systems Corp., a Livonia-based subsidiary of Del Monte Corp.

But, boiled down to its simplest form, the board vote on May 14 will be over hamburgers.

Will Plymouth-Canton students next fall continue to chomp into old-fashioned, pre-cooked, oven-baked hamburgers typical of many school food operations?

Or, come next fall, will the district's students be digging into hamburgers much like they buy at McDonald's or Wendy's — sizzling, hot off the grill and surrounded by French fries?

THE EIGHT-MEMBER committee opted for the sizzling burgers and French fries.

"The coming school year is a time for bold initiatives in our food service program," the committee concluded after three months of studying proposals from Interstate and six other food service companies.

Committee member Carl Taylor, principal of Pioneer Middle School, told the board Monday: "We want to sell wholesome food, but we have to remember we are living in a McDonald's world."

Committee chairwoman Gretchen Sayre, representing the Parent Advisory Committee, said: "It's time we treat students like young adults. We have had a low-key operation. It's time we got a class act."

Committee member Sandra Gaggi, a cafeteria supervisor at Plymouth-Canton High School, added: "In high school, kids rebel against nutrition education. You can work on it eight hours a day and not convert students."

Among the reasons for leaning to Service Systems is its promise to lower student lunch prices next year and guarantee a payment to the district of $39,000.

But, summarized Richard Egli, administrative assistant for community affairs: "The number one reason for the recommendation to shift to Service Systems is the difference in philosophies in feeding young people today."

THE COMMITTEE'S recommendation to switch over to a new, fast-food-type service in September wasn't unanimous.

Parent Advisory Committee member Mary Papay agreed improvements were needed in the district's present food service. But she urged the changes not be made at the expense of Interstate, a company which had served the district well for three years.

"Even if we make such changes as adding new grills, we are better off sticking with a company we know," Papay said.

The committee, in its summary, agreed with Papay that Interstate had accomplished what the district had hired it to do — introduce changes gradually and operate in a low-keyed manner.

But the summary also concluded that times had changed since the Interstate contract had been signed. A low-key style, at one time needed to smooth ruffled feelings during the phase-in period of a service once provided by the school district, now was no longer a top priority.

"Interstate's style is precisely what is needed, given employee unrest, citizen unrest and an unsatisfactory lunch program such as existed here until recently," reads the summary.

But when the unrest ends, the summary asks, shouldn't the service be changed to meet new conditions?

"It is a conclusion of the committee that 1984-85 is the time to switch," the summary reads. "The question of timing, however, can only be decided by the Board of Education."

If the board does decide that a switch to Service Systems "would be detrimental to the overall good of the district," the committee recommended that the contract for the coming year then stay with Interstate.

"Both Interstate and Service Systems have satisfied customers," the summary reads. "Either one would be satisfactory."

WHEN SOLICITING proposals in January, the committee named 10 food service goals it wanted to achieve in the coming school year.

Among these were increased school lunch sales, lowered prices, beefed up nutrition education and an enticing atmosphere in all school lunch rooms.

Sen. Engler will address Chamber

Republican State Sen. John M. Engler will be the guest speaker at the next Caucus luncheon of the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce.

Engler represents the 35th district which includes Isabelle, Clare, Gratiot, Mecosta, Midland and Osceola counties. Engler also is Senate majority leader for 1983-84.

The May luncheon will begin at 11:30 with cocktails and luncheon at noon in the Hillside Inn on Monday, May 14. The charge is $6.50 per person. For reservations call the Chamber at 453-1540.

Born in Mount Pleasant, Engler is a graduate of Michigan State University with a degree in agricultural economics. He also has a law degree from Cooley Law School.

He entered politics at age 22, defeating a 14-year veteran of the State House, Rep. Russell Strange. This 1970 victory made him the youngest person ever elected to the Michigan House. In the 1972 election, he defeated another incumbent, Dick Allen.

Engler remained in the House until 1978 when he defeated a 12-year veteran of the Senate, John F. Tropp. He currently serves as a member of the Senate Administration, Rules and Elections committee.

Engler served as a member of the Michigan Commission on Criminal Justice in 1981 was named Legislator of the Year by the Police Officers Association of Michigan. He recently was picked one of the Five Outstanding Young Men of Michigan by the Michigan Jaycees.

Fraser says job security always goal for union

By Emory Daniels

The quest for job security is the single thread which runs through the history of organized labor in America.

That theme kept surfacing in the talk given Monday night by Douglas Fraser, retired president of the United Auto Workers (UAW), at the annual Civic Dinner of the Plymouth Salvation Army.

Although many people equate high wages and rich fringes with the UAW, Fraser said demands for money always have been secondary to the desire for job security.

Many people ask why auto workers' wages are so high and fringes so rich, he noted. "It's because over the years we have negotiated with a productive and wealthy industry — far richer than any other industry in America."

The speaker cited the time General Motors President Edward Cole claimed that from 1957-77 GM's productivity equaled or exceeded all wage increases given the UAW for those 20 years. During those two decades, Fraser said, auto workers wages increased by $2.90 an hour — "at a time of little inflation, maybe 2 cents a year."

"Then we got into the inflation spiral which distorted that relationship" between wage increases and productivity gains.

FRASER, WHO NOW is living in Northville and lecturing on labor-management relations at University of Michigan, stressed that the UAW has never resisted new technology and automation.

"We welcomed technology, which is why productivity outpaced wage increases. We knew that the way to get a larger slice of the pie was to increase the size of the pie. We always were able to face up to the realities of the times."

"Our very first contract with Chrysler was a very meager one — 14 pages compared to today's contracts of 650 pages-plus. The workers search in that first contract was not higher wages — we were paid pretty good even before the union — but we were searching for dignity and job security."

"Before the union workers were placed in an authoritarian atmosphere and were at the complete control of the boss. Layoffs were made without any regard for merit or length of service. In the first contract we got a grievance procedure and we got seniority."

The history of collective bargaining reflects external events, said Fraser, noting that first major fringe benefit gained by the union was a pension plan and the next major benefit was supplemental unemployment pay to give security to workers and their families. "We always had in mind the security of the people we represented. Then came 1982, a different year. For the first time in our history we left the bargaining table with less than what we

'Walter Reuther made the first profit sharing demand in 1958. He argued we should divide the pie after it's baked and we know how large it is, instead of trying to divide it up before it's even in the oven. But Harlow Curtis, GM president, refused, claiming it would bring about the end of the capitalistic system.'

— Douglas Fraser
retired president, UAW

had when we went to the table. We agreed to concessions, and we did so to get job security for the workers and their families."

TURNING FROM THE past to the present, Fraser commented that today auto companies are recognizing that employees are intelligent and innovative and, given the opportunity, are capable of contributing ideas to the company.

"One result is that supervisors are not bosses anymore but must be leaders. Workers gain job satisfaction and a meaningful voice in determining their job futures, and management gets increased productivity and improved quality of product."

The idea of having union representatives on corporate boards is now being met with union resistance but will be accepted in the future, he said. "It gives workers a voice in their own destiny. Unions will come around to wanting representation at the level where decisions are made. When corporations made decisions which are irreversible and have an impact on workers' lives, unions need to be there."

Change will come in the future, but the democratization of the work place will remain, Fraser predicted. "Democracy is something that once people experience it and practice it, they won't give it up. The companies don't want to go back to the old authoritarian order of the plant floor either because it's a return to poorer quality and lower productivity."

THERE WILL BE conflict in the future, said Fraser, over how to divide the economic pie. "But if we handle it intelligently we can minimize the conflict by going to profit sharing."

The problem with bargaining, he said, is that negotiations always are based on past experience because no one can be certain what the future holds.

"Walter Reuther made the first profit sharing demand in 1958. He argued we should divide the pie after it's baked and we know how large it is, instead of trying to divide it up before it's even in the oven. But Harlow Curtis, GM president, refused, claiming it would bring about the end of the capitalistic system."

The UAW repeated the demand at every negotiations after 1958, and the companies refused each time, added Fraser. The union never pressed the issue, he stressed, "because our membership never understood the concept or supported the idea, and you should never take your membership on strike if they don't support and understand what you are fighting for."

Escapee sought in armed robbery

An armed man who threatened the life of a child Saturday at the Plymouth Hilton Inn and stole a pick-up truck from the hotel's parking lot might have been an escapee from the Detroit House of Correction (DeHoCo) in Northville Township.

Detroit Police found the truck, missing its tires and battery, Sunday morning in the city's Sixth Precinct near McGraw. The recovery spot is not far from the Third Precinct address of a 34-year-old trustee who escaped shortly before 9 p.m. Saturday from DeHoCo, 48000 Five Mile.

The man, convicted in 36th District Court of larceny under $100, had started serving a 30-day jail sentence as a trustee on April 27.

The description of the DeHoCo escapee matched closely that of a man who at 8:55 p.m. tried to steal two cars from the north parking lot at the Plymouth Hilton, 14707 Northville Road.

Police said the man approached two separate families, each time apparently brandishing a gun and demanding the keys to their car.

A Rochester man told police he was opening the door to his pick-up truck, parked in the lot, when he was approached by a man who demanded he lay his keys on the seat or he would "blow your head off."

Seeing a gun, the man told police he left the keys on the seat and went back to the hotel. The 1982 GMC truck was recovered the next day in Detroit.

A Southfield man told a similar story to police. The man said he was walking with his family to his car around 9 p.m. when he was confronted by a man who threatened to kill his daughter if he didn't hand over his car keys. When he spotted a gun, he said he turned over the keys and returned to the hotel. Police later found the keys in the passenger-side door of the car, still parked in the lot.

THE ROCHESTER man described the gunman as black, about 5 feet, 8 inches tall, with an Afro hairstyle, slim build and wearing dark clothing. He was described by the Southfield man as black, 40, about 5 feet, 7 inches tall, slightly built, gaunt and "grubbily" dressed.

Plymouth Police Lt. Henry Berghoff called the incident "bizarre."

"We think it's the same man as the escapee, but he used 'overkill' if all he wanted was transportation to Detroit," Berghoff suggested the battery and tires might have been stolen after the truck was abandoned in Detroit.

DeHoCo director Emmett Baylor confirmed a trustee was reported missing about 9 p.m. Saturday. He described the trustee as black, 34, about 150 pounds and slightly built. Baylor questioned how an escaping inmate could have gotten a gun so quickly.

He said he also couldn't understand why someone would want to escape when he only had a possible 25 days to serve as a trustee (five days off for good behavior).

"It doesn't make sense," Baylor said. "He was not considered dangerous at all. If the trustee committed the armed robbery, he has only compounded his situation. He would have been out in 25 days. Now he has an escape charge to face."

Steppingstone takes 1st place

Steppingstone's entry for the Olympics of the Mind has taken first place in state competition for the Moby Dick category, division II.

The school on Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth will be the only team in that category and division from Michigan to qualify for the world competition to be held May 30-June 1 in Akron, Ohio.

Team members are Nick Purzer, Emiko Morse, David Gondoly, Mia McGinty, Russ Beck II, James Pigtail and Fred Rosenthal.

Coach Duff Schad guided the team to victory in his first year of teaching the secondary level classroom at Steppingstone, a school for gifted students in grades one to eight.

The state finals for the Olympics of the Mind were held last weekend at Michigan State University, East Lansing. Some 165 schools earned the right to compete, but only 13 teams advanced to the World Tournament level.

There were five different problems with each problem divided into three age groups. Steppingstone competed in the writing, in story and stage forms, of the additional "final" chapter to "Moby Dick."

The team will be on its way to the world finals which will include a computer competition, pep rally, creative hat contest, student entertainment and category competitions.

The team used the Crows Nest of the Mayflower Hotel as a background for its slide presentation.

Winds whip drivers, roofs and Edison

By Margaret Neubacher and Marie Chestney
staff writers

Near-hurricane-force winds blasted through the Plymouth-Canton area Monday playing havoc with traffic,

Fire broke out on Terry Street in Plymouth Township when damaged wires ignited the electrical pole and started a grass fire in Monday's storm.

Airport weather officials, who clocked the high winds at 50 mph, explained that the gusts were the result of a very low pressure center moving across the area.

Police and firefighters were busy throughout the day with a variety of wind-related calls.

At 9:15 a.m., an empty semi-truck was blown over in the southbound lanes of I-275 near I-96. A Livonia towing company righted the truck while state police held off traffic. The driver, Leroy Wade of Detroit, was unharmed.

At 9:30 a.m. Canton firefighters were called to a utility pole fire at Ford Road and Haggerty. The fire started when a Detroit Edison transformer blew up. As a result, approximately 450 Canton residents were without electricity for five hours.

During the morning, the entire roof was blown off a commercial building at Joy Road and Haggerty for the second time. According to Canton Fire Chief Mel Paulun, last year at this same time the roof was lost in an ice storm. Three cars parked near the building were damaged. One of the cars had been damaged before by the roof.

Late in the afternoon, Canton traffic had to be rerouted around downed utility poles at Michigan and Sheldon, and at Denton Road between Cherry Hill and Proctor. Detroit Edison crews got the poles back up in about two hours.

In Plymouth, 10 power lines were downed during the day. Police and firefighters watched them until Edison crews could make repairs.

In Plymouth Township, a grass fire burned out of control near DeHoCo. Northville's fire department helped put out the fire.

The east part of the Plymouth Township lost electricity when another power transformer burned out at Ann Arbor Road and I-275.

Canton's Township Hall suffered several broken windows, when aluminum paneling on the west side of the building blew off, breaking the windows.

Peter Georges of Edison's Wayne County Division, reported that 1300 people in the county were without power Monday and Tuesday. Most customers had electricity restored by 6 or 7 p.m. Tuesday.

Monday's wind storm sheared shingles off roofs on Terry Street in Plymouth Township; made for like fisherman scale fish. Housetops like this one many a homeowner's headache.

County hospital closing in 30 days unlikely

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Suburban commissioners doubt County Executive William Lucas can close Wayne County General Hospital June 1 as he ordered Tuesday. And a major concern is what other hospital could provide a trauma center in case of a plane crash at Metropolitan Airport.

"It will be very difficult, if not impossible, to close it in 30 days," said Commissioner Richard E. Manning, D-Redford. "There are labor contracts, doctors' contracts and patients who can't be moved. I can't see it in less than 90 days."

"His action was probably a bit precipitous," said Commissioner Milton Mack, D-Wayne, whose district includes Canton Township. "There ought to have been a little more planning. There ought to have been a little more involvement with the commission."

"I think we will work out something to find money in the budget to keep it open," said Commissioner Mary E. Dumas, R-Livonia, whose district includes Plymouth. "His action was precipitous. It's impossible to close it in that length of time, with critical and long-term patients there."

"It's not going to close," vowed Commissioner Kay Beard, D-Inkster, whose district includes Westland where the hospital is located and Garden City. "That would be like closing a major industry — a thousand jobs."

CITING ANNUAL deficits of $17 million the last two years, Lucas announced Tuesday he is certifying a deficit for the current year and issuing an executive order closing the hospital.

"We have 30 days to act," said Mack, citing the county charter. "If we don't find an alternative, his proposed reduction goes into effect automatically."

Lucas' order assumes the commission will act in two weeks and that layoff notices to employees will go out two weeks before the actual closing. But if the commission takes its full 30 days, that alone could push the closing back two weeks.

In a news conference, Lucas said there are 46 hospital and medical facilities in Wayne County which also can offer care. "Wayne County General has been improperly designated a poor people's hospital. Only 6 percent of the county's indigents actually go there," he said.

"We are losing $14 million a year. We are required by law to have a balanced budget. We're going to have to take money from other accounts (to balance it)."

"This requires concurrence of the Board of Commissioners. If the board rejects it, it will be necessary for the board to find money to operate it."

ASKED ABOUT the hospital's status as a trauma center and what would replace it, Lucas replied, "I am not able to answer that question."

Beard jumped on that point. "He couldn't answer," she said. "The closest place (to Metro Airport) is St. Joseph's in Ann Arbor. That's not too close."

"It's the only trauma center in western Wayne County," said Dumas. "The only others in the county are Detroit Receiving and Henry Ford hospitals. Not having a trauma center will increase our insurance costs."

Mack, who frequently has backed Lucas on questions of executive authority, nevertheless saw two reasons for keeping open the county hospital — its trauma care facilities and the fact that "it does serve a lot of people."

Mack called Lucas' decision "a brave move. A politically courageous move. But I'm not sure it was politically wise."

Manning and Dumas doubted the deficits are as large as Lucas said. Au Beard accused the executive of "doing nothing in his 16 months in office" achieve efficiencies. "He deliberately let it go down because he wants it close," she said.

LUCAS SAID the deficit for the fiscal year which began Dec. 1 will be $9.2 million by June 1.

To cover it, he is proposing reductions of $4.5 million in fringe benefits, use of $2.2 million from debt settlement with the state and $1 million in reductions from other agencies. He gave the other departments 30 days to submit plans to his financial officer identifying specific fringe benefit reductions.

His major proposed budget cuts include: Recorder's Court, $500,000; information processing, $250,000; library, $200,000; health — general, $120,000; assessment and equalization, $120,000; drain commissioner, $95,000; and "unallocated appropriations," $975,000.

Lower cholesterol program at Sinai

Learn how to lower your cholesterol level at a half-day program Saturday in Sinai Hospital's Zuckerman Auditorium, 6767 W. Outer Drive, Detroit.

Speakers will tell how to lower the fat in your diet and prevent cardiovascular disease. The program runs from 9:15 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The $4 fee covers the program and "healthful" refreshments. Register in advance by calling Sinai's cardiovascular fitness and rehabilitation office at 493-6333.

Speakers and topics will be:
• Dr. Melvyn Rubenfire, Sinai's chairman of medicine and chief of cardiovascular diseases — a review of coronary heart disease.

• Dr. David Wrisley, director of Sinai's atherosclerosis clinic and medical director of the cardiac rehab program — findings definitely linking cholesterol and heart disease.

• Barry Franklin, program director of the cardiovascular fitness and rehab program and Observer & Eccentric Newspapers columnist — update on how exercise helps prevent cardiovascular disease.

• Joseph Piscatella, who had bypass surgery at age 32, adopted a low cholesterol diet and is author of "Don't Eat Your Heart Out." His book will be available at a discount.

● COMPLETES COURSE

Airman First Class Deborah Bratby has graduated from the U.S. Air Force liquid fuel systems maintenance course at Chanute Air Force Base, Ill.

Bratby was taught inspection and maintenance of liquid fuel storage and dispensing systems, plus basic hydraulics and electricity. She also earned credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Bratby is scheduled to serve with the 86th Civil Engineering Squadron at Ramstein Air Base, West Germany. A 1977 graduate of Wayne Memorial High School, she is the sister of Teri Johnson of Canton Township.

● COMPLETES TRAINING

Airman Mark Zadorozny has been assigned to Chanute Air Force Base, Ill., after completing Air Force basic training.

During his six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, Zadorozny studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

He also earned credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force. He will now receive specialized instruction in the aircraft maintenance field.

Zadorozny is the son of Alexander Zadorozny of Chadwick, Canton, and Patricia Zadorozny of Detroit.

● JOINS EXERCISE

Air Force Sgt. Mark Braidwood has participated in Team Spirit '84, the largest joint field training exercise to be held in the free world this year. A joint exercise involves more than one service from more than one country.

Team Spirit '84, the eighth annual exercise of its kind, involves the deployment, reception and employment of U.S. and Republic of Korea forces responding to possible contingencies in the Korean theatre.

Staged in South Korea, the purpose of Team Spirit is to exercise, evaluate and improve procedures and techniques to be employed during a defense of South Korea. It is designed to increase combat readiness of all participants, with emphasis on joint and combined operations.

Braidwood is a munitions maintenance supervisor with the 513rd Air Division at Kadena Air Base, Okinawa, Japan.

Braidwood, a 1978 graduate of Clarenceville High School, is the son of Janice Carbray, Brandt Road, and Duane Braidwood of Plymouth.

● COMPLETES TRAINING

Airman David Glasel has been assigned to Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas, after completing Air Force basic training.

During his six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, Glasel studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations. He also earned credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

Glasel will now receive specialized instruction in the aircraft maintenance field.

LASER BEAM FOOT SURGERY

Podiatry is among the newest medical field to incorporate the use of lasers as surgical instruments. Dr. David R. Basch, DPM, was among the first podiatrists in the state of Michigan to incorporate Laser Beam Foot Surgery in an OFFICE BASED SETTING.

Laser Applications
Among the foot problems that can be effectively treated with Lasers are:

INGROWN TOENAILS
Laser vaporizes nail growth centers preventing recurrences

WARTS & GROWTHS
The Laser beam vaporizes the growth instead of cutting thus giving relief and helping to prevent recurrences

FUNGUS NAILS
Destroys fungus while sterilizing tissue

With Laser surgery danger of infection and scarring is minimized and healing time is reduced. For further information As To How Laser Surgery Can Help You.

Three on SC faculty to get sabbatical leaves

(P.ORA)

Three Schoolcraft College faculty members will receive sabbatical leaves during the 1984-5 academic year to pursue research and further education.

Trustees last week gave 4-0 approval for the leaves after President Richard McDowell reported that a faculty committee had indeed followed proper procedures in making its recommendations.

The leaves were awarded to:

• Ronald Rogowski, counselor since 1970 — a total of 19 non-continuous weeks during a year to become more proficient in neuro-linguistic programming (NLP). Rogowski, who began his study of NLP in 1978, will take part in workshops, do extensive reading, write one short paper on instructional uses and present it to the faculty.

• Donald Waldenmayer, electronics instructor since 1974 — part-time teaching and part-time sabbatical for two semesters to continue research on use of the microcomputer for generating improved instructional aids. Waldenmayer will develop the capability for generating five tests for the Electronics 111 course.

• Michael Malinowski, English instructor since 1966 — the fall semester. He will investigate use of computers in English instruction. Malinowski will seek out current literature, investigate other schools' use of computers, review software packages for English instruction, join a local computer club and attend conferences. On returning, Malinowski will report to the faculty on software packages, books and periodicals.

The board of trustees held up approval of the leaves last month after another faculty member complained that his application was merely "recommended" rather than "highly recommended."

McDowell said the procedure followed terms of the faculty union contract. Asked by a trustee why other recommendations were less than "highly recommended," the president said, "I don't want to discuss in public any negative recommendations. It's not my style."

He said that besides sabbatical leaves, the college offers faculty many opportunities to upgrade teaching skills through extensive release time and exchange opportunities with other institutions.

McDOWELL SAID Schoolcraft has received three grants totaling nearly $45,000 in the last month:

• $25,900 from the Wayne County Department of Social Services for culinary arts training. It will be used to give 288 hours of entry-level training for 15 students.

• $14,350 from the state vocational-technical education economic development job training fund. It will be used to train for up to 100 additional employees at Ford Motor Co.'s Sheldon Road plant in Plymouth Township.

• $4,420 from the Michigan Department of Mental Health for a pilot training course in basic certification for group home paraprofessionals.

THE SCHOOLCRAFT College Foundation this year has 287 members of which 170 are new members, McDowell reported. SCF is a non-profit corporation which raises endowment funds and accepts private donations for use by the college.

Expanding the foundation has been a priority in McDowell's 2½-year-old administration. He views it as a "friend raiser" as well as a fund raiser for Schoolcraft.

He said the goal is to gain 300 members and that $34,000 has been raised toward this year's $40,000 goal.

TRUSTEES CONGRATULATED four faculty members who will retire this year:

• Peter Attalai, instructor in German and Spanish who taught since Schoolcraft opened its doors in 1964. Attalai was an officer in the Hungarian

Army in World War II and was a skilled tradesman in Austria, Argentina and the U.S. before becoming a teacher.

• Matt J. Haukkala, business instructor since 1966. Haukkala taught 11 years in Livonia high schools and spent five years with the U.S. Army and Michigan National Guard.

• Ralph E. Miller, geography instructor since 1966. He also taught nine years at the high school level, spent seven years in private business and served four years in the U.S. Navy.

• Margaret E. Tallaferrro, instructor-coordinator in medical laboratory technology since 1974. She worked 20 years in hospitals and medical centers and was credited as "the person most responsible for the growth and development of the medical laboratory technology program" at Schoolcraft.

THE COLLEGE accepted donations of:

• A Dot Matrix printer and software worth $17,960 from Russell Kane of West Bloomfield. It will be used by the accounting office.

• $500 from an anonymous donor to honor two graduating nursing students.

• $450 from another anonymous donor to support the "pinning" activity for the associate degree nursing and licensed practical nursing programs.

• $100 from Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.'s Livonia office to be used by the physical education department.

TRUSTEES awarded two contracts:

• $10,404 for purchase of four display terminals and a tabletop printer from Burroughs Corp. The computer equipment will place the college's Garden City Center "on-line" for registration. Students at the Garden City Center will no longer have to travel to the main campus in Livonia to register for classes.

• $15,735 to Forum Cement Contractors, Inc., of Livonia, for sidewalk repairs at 27 areas on campus. Forum was the lowest of five bidders.

SPECIAL MEETINGS of the board were set for 7 and 8 p.m. Wednesday, May 16, for two public hearings on the 1984-5 budget.

Youths offered jobs by county

Summer jobs will be available to 2,000 economically disadvantaged youth in suburban Wayne County.

The program is for those between 16 and 21. The Wayne County program is for those who live in the county outside of Detroit or the 13 downriver communities in the Downriver Community Conference, which have their own programs.

In this area, those eligible include residents of Garden City, Livonia, Plymouth, Westland, Canton Township and Redford Township.

"We had exceptional success with this program last year," said Wayne County Executive William Lucas.

The Wayne County Private Industry Council will administer the program beginning June 18 through the intermediate and local school districts. It is financed by federal Job Partnership Training Act funds.

The jobs are entry-level positions in a variety of occupational areas located in public and private non-profit agencies throughout the Wayne County area. Participants will receive wages for 20 to 40 hours weekly work in the eight-week program.

Students interested in participating should contact their local high school SYETP manager. Out of school youth may call Gail Holben at 467-1456 for further information.

Lions to sell white canes

The Lions Club of Plymouth will hold its annual White Cane Drive Friday and Saturday in the shopping centers and on street corners in the city of Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

Some 60 club members will be soliciting donations, the 36th year the Plymouth Lions have participated in this cause to support sight conservation, aid to the blind and community service projects.

The proceeds from the White Cane drive benefit projects such as: Leader Dog for the Blind; white canes and braille watches for the blind; Michigan Eye Bank Research Center Building Fund; glasses, eye examinations, hearing aids and examinations for any needy child in the Plymouth community (more than $1,000 spent annually for children's eyeglasses); Penickton Center for Blind and Deaf Children; Welcome Home Apartments for the Blind; Plymouth Gathering Building Fund; Salvation Army Building Fund; Plymouth YMCA van for transporting residents; construction of picnic tables and bridges for Plymouth Centennial Park; trash receptacles in downtown Plymouth; providing playground equipment and other improvements at Burroughs Park (now named Lions Park); and large print books at the library and senior citizens apartments.

This year, as in past years, the Lions Club is collecting used eyeglasses and hearing aids which may be dropped off with any Lions Club member. Louis Morton is chairman of this year's drive.

It can happen to any youth

To the editor:

The April 26 Plymouth Observer front page had a wonderful article on MADD and its new program for keeping the graduation night drunk driving problem under control.

Many people and businesses are involved and are donating their time and products to help prevent the usual carnage that happens on that night.

Then the article comes to Audrey Etienne, a Plymouth Canton teacher and staff adviser to the student council. She was nothing but negative on this program. According to the article: 1. She threw her copy of the letter away without reading it. 2. She wonders if the kids will want to go to the free lunch and program put on by MADD at this time of year.

A new program to help save young people from their youthful indiscretions certainly deserves some positive thoughts from a person in her position.

Maybe Audrey thinks that it can't happen to her, or one of her loved ones, but it can.

MAKING MICHIGAN'S FUTURE

"We are talking about 150,000 megawatts, which is 150 typical nuclear plants or 250 to 300 coal-fired plants, which must be constructed just to replace plants which need to be phased out. In addition, if we have just a three percent increase in load growth, we'll need another 18,000 megawatts per year—something in the range of 200,000 to 300,000 megawatts by the year 2000. This nation's utilities are not building anything approaching that now."

Donald P. Hodel
U.S. Secretary of Energy

THE FUTURE IS WHAT OUR SOCIETY MAKES IT.

American technology is poised for a new leap forward. Michigan industry, shocked by recession and foreign competition, is committed to modernization. Michigan's people will not accept less than full opportunity for themselves and their children.

That means economic growth in Michigan. And economic growth demands an increased supply of electric energy.

What is the outlook for that supply?

NATIONWIDE:

The U.S. will need almost twice our current electric generating capacity by the end of this century. That's an addition of almost 400,000 megawatts of electric generation, but utilities nationwide currently have less than 200,000 megawatts of new capacity under construction or planned. Small wonder, then, that virtually every forecaster, including the Department of Energy, anticipates serious U.S. electric shortages between now and the turn of the century.

THE MIDWEST:

Present forecasts for our region anticipate a 30 percent growth in electric demand over the next ten years, but only a 16 percent growth in generating capacity. That assumes the completion of all plants now under construction, including both Midland units. Without those plants, we will face the same bleak prospect of shortages as other areas of the nation. With the plants, however, our region can enjoy a reliable supply of electric power based on the lowest-cost generating fuels available: coal and the atom.

MICHIGAN:

During 1983, our state's economy began to rebound. That, of course, is good news. But, to put it bluntly, our present electric system cannot accommodate continued growth. Without the added generation now under construction, even the modest annual demand growth we foresee will completely outstrip our generating capacity before 1990. That will not only raise the spectre of brownouts and blackouts; it will effectively prohibit economic growth.

It doesn't have to be that way, however. Consumers Power Company has planned for the future, has invested in the future, is building for the future—not only to meet the minimum needs of Michigan's industry and people, but also to accommodate the determination of Michigan's industry and people to grow and prosper. That is our Company's tradition, our commitment... our business.

We need your support.

(Look for another message on this subject in the near future).

A look into the city's near future

WHAT WILL THE city of Plymouth be like 10 years from now?

With the city fast becoming a medical center now that the Ford Hospital and St. Joseph Hospital of Ann Arbor are establishing medical clinics, the Central Parking Lot is being altered into a double deck affair, and the stock brokers finding the area with enough promise to open offices, the question often is asked at the gathering places at lunch.

And it is surprising what some of the ideas are being discussed over soup and sandwich, though none of the speakers want their names mentioned for fear of being classed as dreamers.

What would one think, for instance, if a giant steel bridge was erected over the Main Street-Ann Arbor Trail intersection? And how would you like to see a tower erected in the center with a big clock — a relative of Big Ben in London, England, chiming the hour each day?

Sounds like something beyond reach, yet it is known that several folks who traveled to London, on the way to the recent visitors' trip to Plymouth, England, have recorded the chimes and have agreed to make them available if the tower is built some time in the next decade.

THE LUNCHEON guest who offered this enchanting change was serious in his thinking, saying that every city should have some kind of marker to identify it and the Tower Clock would do it.

In fact he was a bit perturbed last year when the city of Northville revamped its main street and had a tower clock installed.

"This was our idea," he moaned, "but it is a small display compared with what I would like to see."

Another speaker placed his coffee cup back on the table and opined that some the stroller

W.W.
Edgar

time during the next ten years the Plymouth area should have its own bus system.

"As it is now," he said, "unless you have a car or enjoy walking to town, shopping could be a drudgery. I would like to see, and I figure there is some thinking along that line, that a bus system should be established that would cater to the folks in the city and township, then spread out to Canton Township and the city of Northville. This area is crying for transportation and, somehow, I feel that it will be featured in the next decade."

"What we need if we want to grow," another diner said, "is to make high-rise apartments possible. We can't expect the population to grow and help provide more tax revenues, if we don't give them places to live. Why should Plymouth Township and Canton prosper with increased population while we remain virtually stagnant with an idea that high-rises are not the best thing for the city?"

Another spoke up and reminded the group that the much-discussed loop road hasn't been cast aside. The idea was only tabled but could be revived and we could have a vastly enlarged shopping section. It could run from Union Street to Wing, and from Harvey to Deer Street. "It would be a big help in drawing more folks to become residents and make the inner city the magnet that would draw countless number of shoppers each week."

These are just some of the things that could happen in the next ten years and improve Plymouth as the major center of activity in the suburbs.

High court glares at all-male clubs

THE UNITED STATES Supreme Court heard arguments two weeks ago in a case that may have important implications for local clubs.

The specific issue addressed by the court in Roberts vs. U.S. Jaycees concerns two Minnesota Jaycee chapters which lost their charters because they admitted women. The Minnesota Jaycees appealed up to the Supreme Court.

Many community organizations refuse to admit women as members. In addition to the Jaycees, there are Kiwanis, Rotary, Exchange, Optimists and Lions. Also, many groups which raise money to support school sports programs — called names like Booster or Dad's Club — often exclude women.

Take the case of Garden City businesswoman Sue Discher. She runs her own business, was the first chairwoman of the city's Downtown Development Authority and is on the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce.

Yet, when she applied for membership in the local Lions, Kiwanis and Rotary clubs, she was told "no." They said international bylaws prohibit women.

TIMES HAVE changed dramatically since most service clubs and sports support groups were started.

Today the majority of adult women work outside the home. Many schools have more female than male sports participants. But club rules have not changed.

Sure, service clubs perform important jobs in the community — building a baseball diamond at a local park or raising money to buy computers for the local school district. But for many members, professional contacts made through the clubs are good business. Club friendships open doors for additional sales and can even help land the next job.

It's ironic that while service clubs discriminate against approximately half of the local business people, they desperately need new members.

Regarding Ms. Discher, Garden City Kiwanis Club President Daryl DiLabbio said, "If I had the opportunity to let her in the club, I'd let her in in a minute. She'd be an asset to the club. She'd be more active than some of my own members."

CLUBS LIKE Kiwanis may have the "opportunity" for women members soon.

According to the New York Times account, the Jaycees' arguments for remaining exclusively male were not well received by Supreme Court justices.

The Jaycees were required to show that only by remaining exclusively male could they take on activities protected by the First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution.

The Jaycees' attorney was peppered by such questions as: "What interests of young men would be frustrated by having women as members?" (Justice Byron White) and "Can you name me one position the Jaycees have taken that applies only to men?" (Justice Thurgood Marshall). The decision is due in early summer.

Even conservative Justice William Rehnquist said that while the Constitution may protect all-male membership of "an organization of male chauvinists who got together and said 'we're tired of affirmative action and we want a square deal,' you haven't shown that the Jaycees are anything like that."

It would be impressive if local clubs would reassess their position on all-male membership instead of waiting for a Supreme Court decision.

International bylaws can be changed. If that is not practical, disaffiliation with the international should be considered. The international needs local clubs more than the local needs international sanction.

All-male clubs are outdated and probably illegal. It's time for change.

Flight to Frisco

Mondale forces are flying high

MICHIGAN Democrats completed the process Saturday of picking the 155-member delegation to the Democratic national convention in San Francisco in July.

The state contingent will be dominated by labor-types pledged to nominate Walter Mondale as the Democratic presidential candidate. Mondale, who won 49 percent of the votes in the presidential caucus balloting in Michigan, should have more than 90 delegates committed to his candidacy, while Colorado Sen. Gary Hart will have perhaps 50.

The Hart backers are mostly younger and newer to Democratic politics. The Mondale backers have the edge in experience and organization.

THE MONDALE slate includes Livonia attorney Alan Hemkamp, at 32 a long-time party stalwart in local politics. But the Mondale slate also includes most of the heavies of the AFL-UAW-MEA labor alignment that dominates Michigan politics.

Among them: Sam Fishman of Southfield, the former UAW politics honcho who has taken over as state chief of the AFL-CIO; Buddy Battle of Detroit, recently retired as a UAW regional director; his downriver counterpart, Bard Young, also retired as a regional UAW director; Frank Garrison, UAW CAP leader; and current UAW bigwigs Ray Majerus, Marc Stepp and Steve Yokich.

OF COURSE, the odds are that political muscle won't be needed at the convention. Unless Hart does surprisingly well in the next few primaries, Mondale's forces will go into the convention the same way that almost all the Democratic presidential candidates have gone into their conventions, with the delegation under control and the nomination all but locked up.

And there appears to be less and less chance of Hart gaining ground as he goes off on a tangent of attacking Mondale for the possible faults of the Carter administration, a course that promises only to lose Hart the sympathy and votes of Democratic voters.

The pundits who said early that Mondale's organization and backing made him unbeatable were almost right.

The mixed bag of voters — Democrats, Republicans and independents — who once were willing to choose Hart because of his newness and his "new generation of leadership" platform — have apparently decided that he wasn't as new as he first appeared, just another long-time politico who changed his name and, on occasion, his age to suit his need to succeed and to be liked.

AS BORING as Mondale appeared, especially before Hart, Hart couldn't capitalize on an easily bored public's need for diversion. Under scrutiny, Hart, with his sing-song voice, ho-hum, no-issue political stances, changing political style, and carping about the tenuous Mondale-Carter connection, really doesn't seem to have the kind of stuff necessary to have us envisioning another soap-bubble Camelot.

Mondale even gained by the Hart surge. Whereas Fritz had only the grand old fellow Ron Reagan to play against previously, and consequently looked like a bigger, rounder version of a stumbling, mumbling Jimmy Carter, the juxtaposition of Hart turned Mondale's image into that of a political fighter who shed his uneasy demeanor to jump on Hart's case.

AND, AS PREDICTED, union backing and organization have pushed Mondale to the forefront of the Democratic nomination race. That Mondale is clearly in the lead once again was underscored at the Michigan caucus Saturday. The Mondale and Hart factions decided early that they would agree on unity slates of delegates.

The Democrats know it would be foolish to wear themselves out in internecine fighting, and the Hart strategists may be wisely counting ahead.

If Hart somehow springs back, all the better. If Mondale captures the nomination, he will need a running mate, and, if a Mondale ticket somehow misses the golden ring, the Democratic party may well need a new standard bearer for the race in 1988.

How Hart is perceived the rest of this year will help determine whether he could be the party's heir apparent.

How to use traffic statistics

LET'S HAVE fun with numbers.

True or false: Half the married people are women, but women are involved in 100 percent of the divorces.

Perfectly true, of course. But if you are a woman, your hackles probably rose a little, and you read it as a put-down of women. That's because there was a little trick involved.

Let's try this one: There are four drivers in the hamlet of Communityville, and last year all four were involved in collisions. The 18-year-old driver collided with a 28-year-old driver, and the 38-year-old driver collided with the 48-year-old driver.

True or false: One-fourth of the drivers are 18-year-olds, but 18-year-olds are involved in half the accidents.

PERFECTLY TRUE, again. And again there are the same little tricks.

It takes two cars to make a two-car collision, but the question concentrates on only one of the drivers. And if you drop that statement in casual conversation, many listeners will jump to the conclusion that "involved" is the same as "to blame."

Despite the neutral wording, they will understand you to say that women are to blame for the divorces, and 18-year-olds are to blame for the collisions.

Let's try another fun game: In Communityville last night, a drunk driver was stopped at a red light when his car was rear-ended by a sober driver. Therefore, alcohol was involved in 100 percent of the accidents last night.

BY NOW YOU are getting pretty alert and beginning to catch the tricks. The casual listener will hear only the second sentence in that game and will leap to the conclusion that alcohol was to blame in 100 percent of the accidents.

In the last example, alcohol was clearly involved, but it clearly was not to blame inasmuch as the first driver, although drunk, performed properly, and the second driver caused the collision.

Now suppose the investigating Communityville police officer gives the second driver a ticket for failure to stop and causing an accident. While investigating, he smells alcohol on the first driver's breath. The second driver is only two doors from home, and so he walks home when his damaged car is towed away.

Making out his report, the police officer checks a little box near the name of the first driver which says "had been drinking."

A Michigan State Police computer gets the report and records a little blip at the "had been drinking" box. In the statistical scorecard for the year, that accident will be recorded as one where "alcohol was involved."

ON WITH OUR little numbers game: The Community County Sheriff's Department announces it will patrol intensively certain roads where many drunk driving arrests have been recorded, and patrols will be deployed at the hours when most arrests have been made in the past.

The following year, the Community County Sheriff's Department announces arrests for drunk driving have doubled. We all are supposed to jump to the conclusion that drunk driving is on the increase.

The evidence supports no such conclusion, of course.

House hikes budget for science foundation

Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes following the Easter-Passover recess.

HOUSE

Science: By a vote of 252 for and 99 against, the House passed and sent to the Senate a bill (HR 4974) authorizing $1.56 billion for the National Science Foundation in fiscal 1985. The figure is 17 percent higher than 1984 outlays and tops the administration budget request by nearly four percent.

The NSF is the chief federal agency for funding basic research in science and engineering, annually providing thousands of grants to universities, colleges and academic researchers nationwide. In part, its 1985 budget gives renewed emphasis to behavioral and social sciences, and, with an eye to Japan, provides special funding to preserve America's global lead in computer technology.

Supporter Doug Walgren, D-Pa., said "this is an area where we truly cannot afford to be stingy."

Opponent Judd Gregg, R-N.H., said the spending hike over 1984 levels "is a tremendous increase for any agency in these times of fiscal stringency."

Members voting yes favored a 17 percent budget hike for the National Science Foundation.

Voting yes: Dennis Hertel, D-Detroit, William Ford, D-Taylor and Sander Levin, D-Southfield.

Voting no: William Broomfield.

roll call report

Not voting: Carl Pursell.

Across the board: The House rejected, 170 for and 183 against, an amendment to impose a 3.8 percent across-the-board cut in the bill authorizing $1.56 billion for the National Science Foundation in fiscal 1985 (above).

Sponsor Robert Walker, R-Pa., ridiculed the agency for supporting research into "the social ecology of the free-ranging coyotes" and "the social consequences of the adoption and use of citizen band radios in the U.S."

Opponent Don Fuqua, D-Fla., recalled that NSF-funded research into "viruses in monkey cells" helped to develop the polio vaccine.

Members voting yes wanted to cut National Science Foundation spending by 3.8 percent in fiscal 1985.

Voting yes: Bloomfield.

Voting no: Broomfield, Hertel, Ford and Levin.

Not voting: Pursell.

SENATE

Reject Cut: By a vote of 27 for and 68 against, the Senate rejected an amendment to cut federal spending by ten percent in all areas except defense, Social Security and Medicare. It was offered to HR 2163, a package of tax hikes and spending cuts aimed at slashing $143.7 billion from the $600 billion in addition deficits projected between fiscal 1985-87. The bill awaited fiscal passage.

The Congressional Budget Office said the across-the-board cut proposed by the amendment would save taxpayers about $200 billion over three years.

Sponsor Jesse Helms, R-N.C., said senators would adopt the amendment "if we are sincere in our political speeches" about controlling deficit spending.

Opponent Pete Domenici, R-N.M., complained that Helms "does not address defense with the same kind of reduction that he addresses the other parts of the budget."

Senators voting no were opposed to this plan for cutting federal spending by about $200 billion over three years.

Carl Levin, D, and Donald Riegle, D, both voted no.

Opponent Judd Gregg, R-N.H., said the spending hike over 1984 levels is a tremendous increase for any agency in these times of fiscal stringency.'

U.S. science illiteracy is frightening

"For the last 30 years, the leaders of academic science and engineering have treated the problem of technological illiteracy with what amounts to benign neglect."

So stated Professor Even Pugh of Pennsylvania State University in a recent issue of Technology Review.

Secondary schools, colleges and universities are unable to bring to bear the discoveries of science and technology on their students.

A major reason is the lack of qualified teachers in the public schools. Of 17,000 school districts in this country, more than half have inadequate teaching staff to cover math, science and technology courses.

CRITICS OF American education love to point out the differences between our system and that of other countries, particularly in Western Europe or more recently, Japan.

I too believe this is a useful technique to bring home the fact dramatically about the poor state of American public education when compared with other countries. It is more than interesting that the Soviet Union has 123,000 physics teachers, and the United States has 10,000.

This startling fact becomes even more frightening when we consider the importance of the basic concepts in physics and how they apply to the high-tech fields of electronics, optics, lasers, robotics, energy, space technology and other emerging fields.

THOSE CLOSEST to the problem — secondary school science teachers — have pointed to one solution. In 1982, the national association representing this group claimed that the biggest gap in high school science education was not in physics, biology, or even computer science, but in the relationship of science and technology to society.

Science, technology and society (STS) courses and programs of study exist in a number of colleges and universities. These programs, though limited when considering the entire student population in higher education, take a variety of forms.

Some are taught as single courses, others are interdisciplinary in structure, pooling staff and resources from several departments. A few colleges have departments dedicated to the study of science, technology and society. Students at two colleges, Vassar and Connecticut Wesleyan can even major in STS.

THE CONTENT of these various courses may be somewhat different, but in all cases it is the study of the relationship between technology and some aspect of society.

It may be the consequences of genetic engineering, or the effect of computer automation on jobs. It may be the issue of ethics and nuclear war and nuclear power.

What ever the issue, it is crucial that the faculty be truly interdisciplinary. Such staffs must include engineers and historians, philosophers and biochemists, political scientists and physicists — all working together.

A new commitment must be made by all educators and public policy makers. Without this vision, and accompanying focus, the country is destined to continue in a state of semi-technological illiteracy.

"We must recast our notion of literacy, replacing old definitions with a new one that supports the development of the United States into an increasingly knowledge-based, high-technology society," observed Richard Hersh, dean of the graduate school at the University of Oregon.

Ronald Watcke is dean of liberal arts at Wayne County Community College.

Introducing a startling new idea from Lansing. It's called help.

Michigan business used to characterize state government with the three "R's": red tape, red ink, and every now and then some red faces. That's a powerful stereotype to overcome. Nevertheless, it was a stereotype.

The fact is that things have changed in Lansing. Because now we're listening to your needs and acting in direct response. Michigan business, the answer is yes.

That sounds good. But what does it mean?

It means we heard you when you asked for relief from the burden of Worker's Compensation Insurance. Since 1981 rates have declined by 30%. A $300 million savings. In fact, we've opened up the whole insurance system to make it more competitive, so some businesses can save even more money by shopping around.

It means we listened when you complained about too much red tape in state government. This year the departments of Commerce, Labor, and Natural Resources will eliminate 19% of all their forms that affect the business community.

It means, too, that we've changed the single business tax. Now small companies that make little or no money or lose money will have their tax liability reduced by 90%. That's an additional $18.5 million in tax relief for small business.

Eventually we think those old three "R's" will be replaced by three new ones: receptive, responsive, and resourceful.

That's the kind of state government Michigan deserves. And with your help, that's the kind we're becoming.

For more information on how we've changed, write:

SC hunts for space after low-growth decade

By Tim Richard
staff writer

In 1970 Schoolcraft College expected that its 1980 enrollment would be 10,000 fulltime equivalent (FTE) students. It expected to have nearly one million square feet of buildings.

Rather than build a series of campuses, as Oakland and Wayne community colleges were doing, Schoolcraft planned to unify its offerings on its single campus on Haggerty Road in northwest Livonia.

During the '70s, it anticipated putting up 10 structures: expanded administration offices, a new library, new business offices, a fine arts center and auditorium, a vocational-health building, a science building, two liberal arts buildings, an addition to the vocational building and a culinary arts addition to the student center.

AS OF 1984 only the voc-tech addition and the culinary arts addition were added (see map).

Voters in the '70s put on the brakes for all new operating money, building money and bond issues.

The community college's enrollment is about 5,200 FTE students. Campus space amounts to 460,000 square feet, about half of the anticipated need.

And a new generation of administrators and trustees is studying a mixed bag of four ways to find more space.

"Our buildings have 99 percent utilization at night and 73 percent utilization during the days. Most four-year colleges have 60-65 percent utilization during the days, and they consider that high," said W. Kenneth Lindner, vice president for business.

Lindner is the only top administrator left who was around in 1970. He chaired the administration building committee.

But his new colleagues — President Richard McDowell and academic vice president Conway Jeffress — still see the campus as unfinished, though their assessment of space needs is far more modest than the 1970 projection.

"SPECIALIZED space" is needed, McDowell told the board of trustees last week. In the high-technology age, a computer lab is seen as the largest single need.

McDowell put the need at 100,000 square feet rather than the 500,000-plus square feet projected in 1970.

Conway Jeffress, academic vice president and chairman of the school building committee, told school trustees the college is only 'two years away from a serious crunch.'

ON PAPER, there are four ways to deal with space, Jeffress said:

• Reduce college space needs — phase out low enrollment programs, cap enrollments in growing areas such as data processing and electronics, cap overall growth, send overflows to other colleges and/or reduce the scope of operations.

Chief disadvantage: Schoolcraft wouldn't be doing its job to revitalize the economy by capping growth.

• Reallocate existing space — try to schedule more in the under-used 3:30-6 p.m. time slot, use existing off-campus space.

Chief disadvantage: Schoolcraft will have to vacate its Garden City Center when its lease with the local school district runs out in two years.

• Increase square footage — build, buy free-standing structures and place them on campus, buy or lease off-campus space, create additional space within existing structures by adding floors or filling in cul-de-sacs.

• Delay action — hope for attrition to reduce space needs, schedule current facilities for 24-hour usage.

TRUSTEES were willing to consider every option but delay.

"Community services courses bring in lots of people," said trustee Sharon Sarris, who suggested senior citizens' centers and empty stores for space. "There's no reason they couldn't be located anywhere."

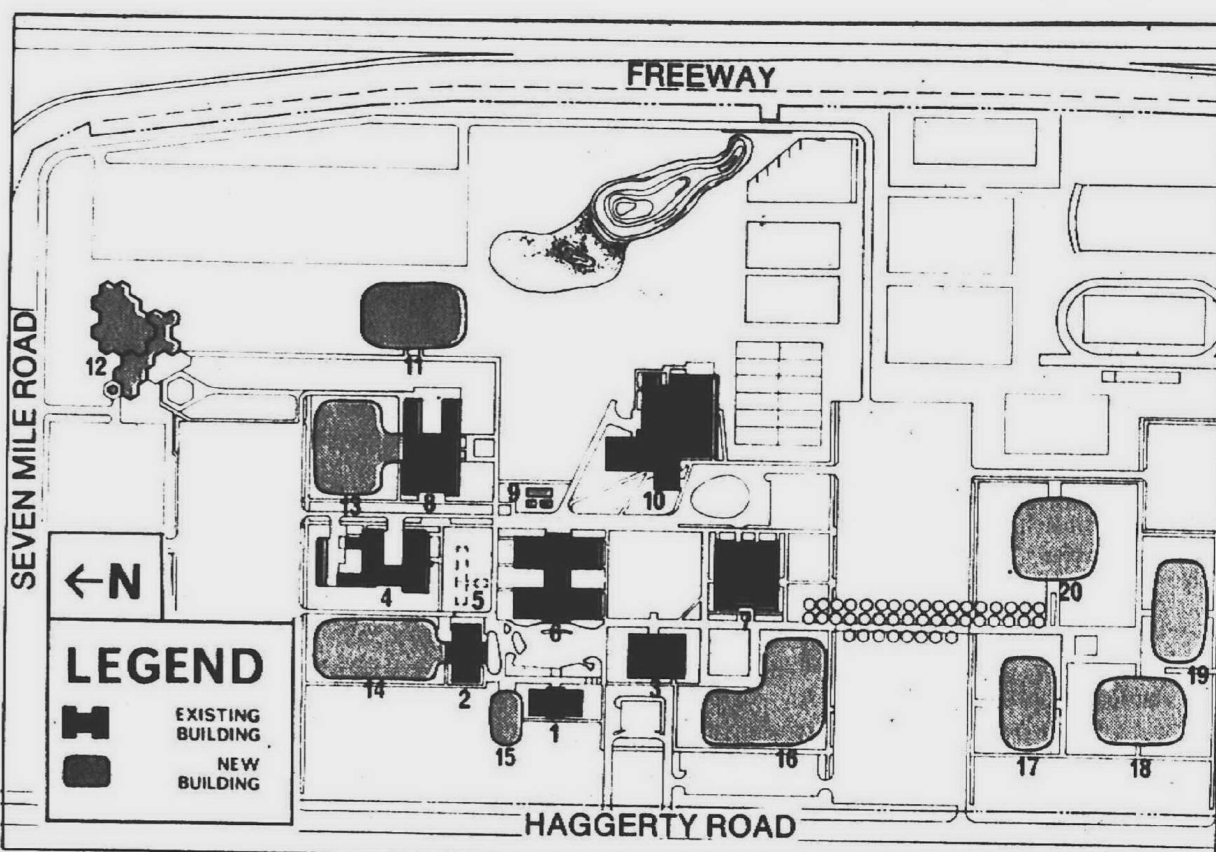

Jeffress said community services and continuing education courses drew 2,000 people when he arrived in 1982, are currently drawing 3,500 and are expected to draw 4,000 next fall.

"We do need more space right here on campus," said Raymond. "I don't feel we should pull back."

Trustee Harry Greenleaf saw three "external factors" influencing any board decision: the loss in Garden City, the report of the state Committee on Higher Education and what happens to the trouble-laden Wayne County Community College, which has a little-used new building near I-275 in Belleville.

"We should always examine low-enrollment courses," Greenleaf added. "We shouldn't change our mission. We should be a cultural force."

On the need for more space Greenleaf called himself an "agnostic."

In 1970, campus planners envisioned that Schoolcraft College's land plan would look like this by 1980. Existing buildings are black. Buildings planned for construction are shaded. Only No. 13 (vocational technical addition) and No. 14 (culinary addition to Waterman Campus Center) were built since the map was drawn, however. The buildings which were pre-1970 are 1) administration, 2) student center, 3) library, 4) central services, 5) temporary building, 6) forum-science building, 7) liberal arts, 8) vocational tech, 9) greenhouses, and 10) physical education. The planned buildings which didn't get constructed are 11) voc. tech.-health, 12) art center, 13) administration, 14) learning resources, 15) science, 16) liberal arts, 17) liberal arts, and 20) business.

— neither a believer nor an active believer.

Board chairman Michael Burley, a Canton Township resident, said, "We're one mile from one border of our district (he pointed north). We're approximately 10 miles from the other," he said, pointing south.

"If we can get as many facilities as close to the people as possible, we're better off in marketing our product, which is education."

2 management courses at SC

Two American Management Associations courses will be offered by Community Services this spring at Schoolcraft College.

Taught in clear, non-technical language, Computer Basics for Management will be 7-9:30 p.m. Tuesdays for six weeks starting May 8.

It will give participants a comprehensive understanding of the uses and workings of the computer.

One Saturday three-hour "hands-on" session at Computer Horizons Training Center is included.

What Managers Do is a skills-building course 7-9:30 p.m. Thursdays starting May 10 for six weeks. Concentrating on the functions that most often determine success in management, the program shows step-by-step how to improve performance in each key area.

Fee is $150 each for each course. For registration information, call Community Services, 591-6400, ext. 409.

"Don't worry... Mommy's coming home, soon..."

"It's true that your mother is very sick. But this is the right place for her to be."

"Doctors from all over send sick people to Harper Hospital because it's part of this famous Medical Center."

"The doctors here are university teachers and scientists. They are finding better ways to treat cancer, every day."

"Your mother's here because she wants to go on living and loving. Don't worry. Mommy's coming home."

Our story reminds us that sooner or later, every family has to deal with the complex reality of cancer. We think it's important and reassuring for patients and their families to know that one of the nation's most important cancer centers is right here in Harper Hospital at the Medical Center. The Cancer Program at Harper is part of our country's organized cancer-fighting effort—a national network of twenty Comprehensive Cancer Centers that also includes the Sloan-Kettering Institute in New York, and the M.D. Anderson Tumor Institute in Houston. If the diagnosis is cancer, the doctor will probably recommend Harper Hospital. There is no better place to be. And your chances have never been better. Remember, early detection is important, so watch for the warning signs and see your physician at regular intervals.

NOW I KNOW how it feels to be a 95-year-old with mononucleosis. And since I've been back to work and talked to others, I was not the only one who had that flu bug. Just wish they had an impressive name for it. One of the symptoms could be confused with a long period of sheer laziness.

For those of you who still want to spend 20 hours of every 24 in bed, it does go away — in time.

LOCAL RESIDENTS have been receiving all kinds of awards and honors.

Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village are giving certificates of recognition to Ann Moore, Shirley McCarthy, Bill McCarthy, and Marilyn Norgrove, all of Plymouth, for their hours of volunteer work. They are being wine and dined tonight at the special volunteer awards dinner in Lovett Hall Ballroom in the Village.

MICHAEL BURNS of Plymouth was named a member of the St. Mary Hospital Board of Trustees. The father of three children, he is a vice president of the National Bank of Detroit. A graduate of Ohio State University, he earned a law degree from the Detroit College of Law.

Michael is a member of the Plymouth Community Arts Council, Camp Fire Girls Council, and served as an advisor for Junior Achievement. He belongs to the Midwest Stock Transfer Association, the Detroit Athletic Club, Fairway Farms Swim and Racquet Club of Livonia and the Farmington Racquet Club.

PAT BROWNE, a freshman at St. Norbert College in De Pere, Wis., played the role of Josh in the college's spring theater production "The Rimmers of Eldritch."

Pat's parents are Richard and Nancy Browne of Beechcrest, Plymouth.

WINNERS IN the "People-You Know" portrait show have been announced by artist Marion Sober, who painted the portraits. More than 100 people voted for their favorite portrait at the show in the offices of Prescott, Ball and Turben, Main Street at Penniman.

George Hudson's portrait was the favorite. He won an original design door basket created by Grace Kabel (who also was one of the local notables painted by Marion.)

Ernie Hughes of Prescott, Ball and Turben drew Judy Wilkin's name, making her the winner of the $25 prize.

CONGRATULATIONS to the Plymouth-Canton Civitan Club for earning the Honor Club of Distinction Award for 1982-83, one of Civitan's highest honors. The feat was accomplished the year the club had its first woman president, Joann Doyle.

Joann is now on record as a President of Distinction, a much-deserved title.

Civitan is the one local service club that welcomes both men and women into its membership. In fact, the club has four new members and three of them are women. The new Civitans are Sharon Zentz, Bill Palmer, Amy Wellen and Nancy Thomas.

THE FORD CHORUS is presenting "Songs for All Seasons" at 8 p.m. today, Friday and Saturday at the Ford World Headquarters in Dearborn. Tickets will not be sold at the door but can be picked up Friday between 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. at the FERA desk at the World Headquarters Building, or from chorus members. Admission is $4 with a special price of $2.50 for senior citizens and children under 12.

Patricia Weaver of Northville is director of the chorus. Dean Stevens is chorus president and Doreen Vole is a member of the Chorus Board of Directors. Both are Plymouth residents. Bill Edgar of Plymouth Township is still a chorus member although he has been retired from Ford Motor Co. for a few years. Milton Jordan of Plymouth is another local chorus member along with Kathy Forgas and James Forgas of Canton Township.

Marge Cole and Louise McPhee, sisters from Livonia, do the choreography for the group.

The musical production will feature soloists, duets and an ensemble with the chorus in a variety of seasonal songs like "Let It Snow," "Easter Parade," "Singin' in the Rain," "June is Busting Out All Over" and a "Football Medley."

Fun and frolic highlight pops

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra will conclude its 1983-84 season Sunday evening with a pops concert in the grand ballroom of the Plymouth Hilton Inn.

Maestro Johan van der Merwe promises the program will live up to its title, "Fun and Frolic with the Plymouth Symphony." The audience at the cabaret-style concert will be entertained by four unusual guest performers as well as usually staid orchestra members displaying unusual talents. And guest conductor will be none other than advertising executive Ernie Jones, who has conducted many concert bands including the Plymouth Community Band.

Percy Danforth, who has played rhythm bones all over the United States, Canada and England, will be one of the guest performers at the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra's pop concert. The concert will be Sunday evening at the Plymouth Hilton.

Carl Grapentine, radio and concert personality, will sing with the orchestra, solo and ensemble, and perform Mozart's Fourth Horn Concerto — in his own way — with the orchestra.

PERCY DANFORTH

is one of the most unusual guest artists ever to perform with the symphony. He plays rhythm bones.

He first learned about rhythm bones in the summer of 1908. He used to watch black players soft shoe and dance while playing the bones under the old gas lights on the street corners of Washington, D.C. The former mechanical engineer now is retired and able to spend full time with his rhythm bones.

Danforth has performed in nearly every area of the country during the past 10 years. In the summer of 1980, he played in England and Canada. His major concerts have been in Royal Festival Hall, London, England and Guild Halls in Bath and Cambridge, England.

He also has performed in Alice Tully Hall of Lincoln Center, New York. Danforth said rhythm bones usually are carved from a variety of woods and only occasionally from animal bones.

SOPRANO PENNY Kindraka will impersonate one of the most controversial sopranos of the past, in an act all her own. She will sing three of the most popular coloratura opera arias in the literature.

Lisa Ray Turner will present the comical Bertha's aria from Rossini's "The Barber of Seville."

Turner is a resident of Canton Township. She recently completed a masters degree in music at the University of Michigan School of Music and will be giving several recitals in western states during the summer.

Her operatic experience includes leading roles in "Così fan Tutte," "La Vie Parisienne," "Riders to the Sea," "Signor Deluso," "Naughty Marietta," "HMS Pinafore" and "Gianni Schicchi."

Lisa Ray Turner will sing the comical Bertha's aria from the opera "Barber of Seville" at Sunday's pop concert.

She also has done musical comedy with roles in "Little Mary Sunshine," "The Fantastiks" and "The Music Man."

VAN DER MERWE will make his own special educational contribution to the program with "A History of the Plymouth Symphony."

He had included in the program Rossini's "Cat Duet" and some highly entertaining compositions by Peter Schickele and P.D.Q. Bach. There will be a concerto for three kazoes and orchestra as well as compositions by Mozart, Haydn, Schubert, Scott Joplin, Bob Jones and others. Members of the orchestra will display their diversity: Louise Roth, double bass and voice; Louis Stout, french horn and other antics; Jean Braun, viola and kazoo virtuoso; and Bill Somers, trumpet and tenor vocalist.

MEMBERS of the Staccato group of the Plymouth Symphony League have planned pleasantries to add to the "Fun and Frolic."

Sharon Pooler and Joan Claeys are chairing the event.

Festivities will begin at 6:30 p.m. with a hospitality hour with a cash bar. The fruit, cheeses, crackers, nuts and chips are included in the price of the tickets which is $8 for adults and $6 for students and senior citizens. Reservations may be made by calling 981-4978 or 455-2296.

Prizes will include chrysanthemum plants, bottles of wine, gourmet fruit baskets and a weekend at the Hilton.

The lovely silk violets that serve as centerpieces on the tables can be purchased, at the end of the evening, for $7 — just in time for Mother's Day.

Proceeds from the pop concert will go to the support of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra.

Alpha Chi Omega elects directors

Three local women, Catherine Siarto and Marsha Livermore of Plymouth and Anne Molyneux of Canton Township have been elected to two-year terms on the board of directors of the Detroit Area Alpha Chi Omega Alumnae Chapter. Siarto will serve as secretary and Molyneux as Lyre editor.

Livermore, who is completing a term as state district alumnae chair, will be co-rush chairwoman.

Pat Phillips of Plymouth, who chairs the Westside Group, and Livermore attended the Alpha Chi Omega province-district convention at Michigan State University in East Lansing. The theme of the meeting was "Pride Makes the Difference." Delegates attended workshops led by Livermore and province president, Jan Bancroft of Grand Ledge.

Representatives of collegiate chapters at the University of Michigan, Michigan State University, Albion College, Central Michigan University, Western Michigan University and Northwest Institute reported on their activities for the past year.

THE STATE'S 15 alumnae chapters were represented at the convention.

Members of the Boarshead Resident Theatre Company performed at the state day luncheon in the MSU Student Center. The production explored the lives of early settlers in Michigan.

Darlene Krato of Grosse Pointe was elected president; Betty Frolund of Grosse Pointe, treasurer; Deborah Dubay of Mt. Clemens, newsletter editor; and Carolyn Bourland of Utica, co-rush chair. Colleen Ford of Northville will complete her two-year term as collegiate alumnae chair.

Carol Tock and Maryhelen Feighner of Grosse Pointe, Alpha Chi Omega delegates to the Detroit Panhellenic Council, will be installed as president and vice president of the council. Installation ceremony will be May 9 at the Panhellenic annual meeting and spring luncheon at the Country Club of Detroit.

Alpha Chi Omega is a national social sorority. Its philanthropic endeavors include the National Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, MacDowell Colony for the Arts, Easter Seal Society, and the Alpha Chi Omega Foundation.

Host families needed for French teen-agers

Michigan families are needed to share four weeks of their summer with a French teen-ager. These families will have the opportunity to learn firsthand about France today, while showing their visitor how to live American-style.

Evelyn and Julian Prince, coordinators for Nacel Cultural Exchanges, are seeking host families for 125 French teens who will be coming to Michigan in July. A non-profit organization, Nacel is the largest exchange organization between France and the United States. More than 450 Michigan families have hosted French students the past four summers. One hundred twenty American teens have participated in the corresponding Homestay Program in France.

"YOU DON'T have to speak French to host. You can take your guest with you on trips or you can stay at home," said Evelyn Prince.

She said that families with a working mother or teen-ager also can host. But they should arrange for other family members, friends, or neighbors to spend time with the visiting teen. "Our application procedures are uncomplicated and we encourage all interested families to contact us."

Families interested in hosting a French student July 5 through Aug. 1 should telephone 628-6641, or write the Princes at 3452 Buckingham Trail, West Bloomfield 48093.

The students, ages 14-18, pay their own transportation and come with spending money. The host family is asked to provide their guest with room and board and to welcome this new friend as a son or daughter, brother or

Check your datebook for a big weekend

A big star goes to each and every one of the 75 people who donated blood this past Saturday. They also have the thanks of the Children's Leukemia Fund, the Red Cross, and the friends and family of Mary Dingeldey, in whose honor we held the drive each year.

How can we say thank you in any other way? There are those who thank you silently every day for the many lives you'll save by your donations. And the Dingeldey friends and family say thank you with their very active participation in so many community activities which improve and enrich Canton.

So thanks to the 75 nice people who came in on Saturday, five of whom were unable to donate for one reason or another. I counted them in, as does the Red Cross, for you did your best and that's all anyone can ever ask. We didn't beat our record of 220 pints. But 70 pints will mean precious life for many.

I know many of you just forgot, but your hearts were in the right place. However, next time please try and get your body there, too, OK?

SOMETHING you might watch for this coming week is County Executive William Lucas on cable television.

I don't know how many of you have caught him before, but he comes to our studio every few months or so and answers questions we have compiled for him. Lucas has said he would be willing to do a panel show with our citizens, if I would like to set one up. So if you're interested in serving on the panel, please let me know.

If you have a question for the county executive, just call or send it to me. You can catch the answers on Omnicon Channel 15, at 3:30 p.m. Monday, May 7, and at 8 p.m. Wednesday, May 9. He has never refused to answer a question on or off camera. And if he needs more information before answering, he always is very prompt in responding. So if you have any good "Stump the Exec" questions, I'd appreciate them.

NOW FOR A couple of personal notes: to my "Baby Lamb," my youngest, Tammi Anne Preblich, who promised me she wouldn't turn 4 and did. Then promised she wouldn't turn 5, and did. Now she's trying to convince me she isn't really going to be taller than me. Last year this girl, who was never going to turn 4 years old, turned 11 and was 5-2. This year, the same girl is turning 12. And want to guess how tall? Ha, you can't trust kids! Happy birthday, Baby.

Also, very warm congratulations to Rusty Johnson, my son's best friend and a family favorite. By the time you read this, Rusty will have graduated from Eastern Michigan University with a degree in Computer Systems, or so my son Brian thinks. All I know is he takes fantastically beautiful pictures of the scenery around here. He seems to have an eye for beautiful things that don't seem to be there.

Rusty, as they say in the yearbooks, "You're a great guy." "Stay Cool" or "It was great having you in study hall." We are real proud of you, Rusty, and proud to know you. The best of luck in everything you do! Now, can you help us get Brian through?

IF AT ALL possible, please get out to the Friends of the Canton Library's used book sale that opens Friday and runs through Sunday. It's for our library and our children, and it's so handy, right in the New Towne Plaza.

While you're there, you might take a walk into the new Palmer's Hobby and Crafts.

NOW LET'S TALK about taxes — as in saving taxes.

Remember last year when we had the walk for recreation? Well, they are doing it again this year. Beginning at 10 a.m. Saturday at the New Towne Plaza, once again we will try to earn some money for our recreation department, thus saving our tax dollars.

I like that idea! So if you have some time to spare for your health and your wallet and you'd like to take a stroll around the neighborhood on a beautiful spring day, just meander on over to the Plaza and sign up at 10 a.m. Give the recreation department a call 391-1000 to register and get the rules and stuff. You'll have a ball!

Don't forget to stroll on over to the used book sale, support the library and save tax dollars, too.

If that "get out and do it" stuff isn't for you, would I let you sit home all day? NEVER!

How about spending a little bit ($5) of that tax money you're saving? Come on over to the Roman Forum where you'll be greeted by the First Lady of our township Greta Poole, chit-chat with just everybody, then be seated in the beautiful dining room. Sit back as Kathy Freece and I guide you through a lovely parade of yesterday and today — Sesquicentennial Fashions by Cantonites and 1984 fashions by Winkelman's. All this and a salad luncheon too!

If you live in Plymouth and you're reading this, please join us. We have some really cute things planned, and door prizes too. Why not?

THERE IS A lot to remember this weekend, so I'll give you this little section to cut out to help you make it through.

Friday . . . 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., Used Book Sale at New Towne Plaza (Kmart). Saturday . . . DuMouchelles at Historical Museum, for only $3 per item, appraisals of your precious "what-ers" between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Luncheon and Fashion Show at Roman Forum, the oldest and the newest in fashions. Tickets only $5 at Roman Forum, Winkelman's, Wayne Bank or any committee member.

Walk for recreation, 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. New Towne Plaza.

Book Sale still running at New Towne Plaza.

Sunday . . . Book Sale, FINAL DAY $1.50 for a shopping bag of books!

Take a family walk through Miller Woods, 1-4 p.m. Nature trail behind Miller school on Hanford.

Canton Newcomers — Couples Bowling Party, 3:30 p.m., a chance to meet new people, $12 per couple including bowling and pizza dinner, 451-0073.

4-H Club public auction at 1 p.m. 10426 N. Territorial of household goods, farm machinery, furniture, tools, toys, motorcycles and tack.

NOW THERE'S something for everyone. And if that doesn't keep you busy, get involved in some community projects. The festival still needs help, the Sesquicentennial committee always welcomes help, you can start your own committee. There's a lot yet to be done in Canton. Name it, call me and I'll let people know what you have in mind. Maybe somebody will want to join the committee.

Have the best spring ever. I am having a ball. My husband is still off work. Remember his broken shoulder? It's still not back to normal, so he is still home (and sore). It's the first spring he has had the time to help with spring cleaning . . . and he "can't do anything." I don't believe this is happening! Well anyhow, he makes a terrific supervisor.

sister. Students are matched to families according to shared interests and summer activities.

JULIAN PRINCE said, "Our Nacel

students and families really seem to enjoy themselves. Many participate in our programs again and again.

"In addition to the educational advantages, the nicest benefit of the program is the close friendships that develop. Many families arrange further contacts with their guests either by visiting them or inviting them back for a second stay."

A family looking forward to hosting another boy this summer wrote, "Words cannot express the enjoyment we had from Dominique being a part of the family. We never thought parting would be so hard. It was like saying goodbye to a son. Nevertheless, it was an experience we wouldn't have missed and will do it again."

Sheridan-Munroe

Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Sheridan of Lee Ann Lane, Canton Township, announce the engagement of their daughter, Donna Marie, to Michael Gee Munroe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Munroe of Alpena. Elks honor youth during their week

Plymouth Mayor David Pugh and the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, Plymouth Lodge No. 1780, are teaming up to honor "the nation's greatest resource" this week.

Pugh has proclaimed the week of May 1 as "Youth Week," and is urging "all departments of government, civic, fraternal and patriotic groups and our citizens generally, to participate wholeheartedly in its observance."

The Elks observe Youth Week to honor "America's Junior Citizens" for their accomplishments and contributions to the community.

Youth need guidance, inspiration and encouragement to develop qualities essential for future leadership and to prepare them for "the responsibilities and opportunities of citizenship," Pugh said.

At the Plymouth Lodge, 41700 Ann Arbor Road, a week-long observance is in progress.

DIVORCE OVERVIEW

Carolyn A. Archbold, attorney from the city of Wayne, will present an overview of the divorce process 7-9 p.m. Tuesday, May 8, in Room F530 of the Forum Building at Schoolcraft College, sponsored by the Women's Resource Center. For women who are separated, divorced, in the process of or contemplating divorce, the group provides a forum to identify problems and needs and share feelings and information. Meetings take place the second and fourth Tuesday of each month. Attendance is free and no registration is required.

PLUS IS TEN

A dessert reception in honor of PLUS's 10th anniversary party will be 12:30-1:30 p.m. Friday, May 11 in the annex gym of Central Middle School, Church at Main. The reception will precede a parent program scheduled for 1:30 p.m. with Peg Tracey, consultant, presenting "Color Me Beautiful." All are invited.

COMMUNITY CHORUS'S SPRING CONCERT

The Plymouth Community Chorus will perform its 10th annual spring concert, "All Our Best," at 7 p.m. Saturday, May 19, and Sunday, May 20, at Plymouth Salem High School on Joy just west of Canton Center Road. Tickets at $4 for adults and $2 for students and senior citizens are available at Sideways, 525 Forest Avenue in Plymouth or Book Break, 44720 Ford (Kmart Plaza) in Canton. This year's After-Glo will be open to the public for the first time, in the Mayflower Meeting House immediately after the concert. Tickets are $3.50. After-Glo features hors d'oeuvres and a cash bar.

SWEET ADELINES

Midwest Harmony Chapter/Sweet Adelines Inc. sings at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday evenings in the community room of Kirk of Our Savior, Westland, Cherry Hill between Wayne and Newburgh roads. Women who like to sing four-part harmony are invited to attend. For information, call Barbara Williams, 721-3861.

CANTON NEWCOMERS MORNING PLAY GROUP

Watch your youngster cavort with other children while you relax with other moms over a hot cup of coffee. Play group meets 10 a.m. to noon once a month in members' homes. For information, call Cathy, 459-0897.

ZESTERS

Zesters, a club for Canton residents 55 and older, meets at 1 p.m. Thursdays in the Canton Recreation Center, 44237 Michigan, at Sheldon. Membership fees are $1 to join and $1 per month. The Zesters have monthly potlucks, Bingo, movies and trips. The club is looking for pinocchio players. Lunch is served at 11:30 a.m., and reservations can be made 24 hours in advance. For more information about the club, call the Canton Senior Citizen office, 397-1000, Ext. 378.

FIELD BOY SCOUTS

Boy Scout Troop 855 meets 7-8:30 p.m. Wednesdays in Field Elementary School, 1000 S. Haggerty. The new troop has room to grow and is looking for boys interested in learning or improving their outdoor skills.

CIVITAN CLUB

The club meets at 8:30 p.m. the third Thursday of each month for a dinner meeting at Hillside Inn. Men and women are invited to learn about Civitans and their service projects for the community. A wrestling tournament, band boosters and Special Olympics to aid mentally retarded people are just a few. Call 453-2206 for more information.

MOTOR CITY SPEAKEASY TOASTMASTERS

Motor City Speakeasy club meets at 7 p.m. the second and fourth Monday of each month in the Mayflower Hotel, Plymouth. Members learn to speak effectively, build self-confidence and become a better listener. For more information, call Jim Rollinger, 422-7385.

ORAL MAJORITY TOASTMASTERS

The Oral Majority Toastmasters Club of Plymouth invites visitors to see how the club enables members to speak up and move ahead, whatever their occupations. The club meets at 5:30 p.m. each Tuesday at Denny's restaurant, Ann Arbor Road at I-375. For information, call Phyllis K. Sullivan, 455-1635.

CANTON JAYCETTES INVITE MEMBERS

The Canton Jaycettes need women ages 18-35 to assist in conducting community service programs. For information about meeting dates, call Lona Olson, 981-4444, or Vickie Bush, 451-0522.

PANCAKE BREAKFAST

The Mayflower-Lt. Gamble Ladies Auxiliary, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will again serve pancake breakfasts the first Sunday of each month 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the post home, 1426 S. Mill, Plymouth. The menu includes pancakes, sausage, eggs, french toast, milk, orange juice and coffee. Cost of breakfast is $2 for adults and $1 for children 5 and under. Everyone is welcome.

ISBISTER BOY SCOUTS

Boy Scout Troop 1540 meets 6:30-8 p.m. Mondays in Isbister School, 8300 North Canton Center Road. The small troop has room for more boys who enjoy outdoor activities. For more information, call Ken Hauser, 459-3457.

"REBUILDING THE WALLS"

Jessie Schneidewind of Dearborn and Helen Tomlin of Wayne will be part of the cast in the pageant tracing the YW history during the past 125 years.

Ruth Ross (left) of Inkster, Corinne Vincent of Northville and Clementine Payton of Inkster hold up placards showing the communities served by the YWCA of Western Wayne County since 1924 when local programming began.

ART EMANUELE/staff photographer

Pageant captures YW history

YWCA's all over the country are kicking up their heels with music, dance, pageantry and good food for a special reason.

It's birthday time — 125 years of service.

Joining in the fun is the YW of Western Wayne County with a celebration that will begin at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Y facility at 26279 Michigan Avenue, one mile west of Telegraph. Local programming began in 1924.

Friends, members, former Girl Reserves and Y-Teens, leaders of the past and present from local communities or other states are urged to join for an evening of reminiscing as well as a look ahead to what the future holds.

Festivities will begin with a wine and hors d'oeuvres reception from 7:30-8:30 p.m. with the music of the Art Wyse orchestra providing the musical background.

HIGHLIGHT OF the evening will be a pageant tracing the history of the YW from the 1800s up to the present time. The pageant will climax with the cutting of a four-tier birthday cake. Dancing from 9:30-11:30 p.m. will round out the evening.

Co-chairwomen of the arrangements were Clementine Payton and Violet Forbush. The pageant was written by board member the Rev. Mary Willoughby and directed by Mary Ruth Ross. Wilma Manery will be the narrator.

Tickets are $7 and are available at the Y. For further information, call 561-4110.

For more information, call the church office at 422-6038.

● CHRIST OUR SAVIOR
Dr. David Schmiel, president of Concordia College, Ann Arbor, will be guest preacher as Christ Our Savior Church, Livonia, dedicates its new addition at 3 p.m. Sunday, May 6. The Lutheran Choralaires will provide music. Following the service there will be a tour of the 12,000-square-foot addition, which includes classroom space for all educational programs, multipurpose room, kitchen, administrative office space and storage.

● NEWBURG METHODIST
The Rev. Bob Morley will present his religious program of contemporary music, comedy and humor to Newburg United Methodist Church on Sunday, May 6. He will perform at the 9:15 and 11 a.m. services and in a concert for singles at 7 p.m. Morley divides his time between the singles ministry at First United Methodist Church, San Diego, and traveling with his special troubadour ministry.

● WARD PRESBYTERIAN
"Jonah's Tale of a Whale," the story of Jonah set to music, will be presented by the combined children's choirs of Ward Presbyterian Church at 7 p.m. Sunday, May 6. One hundred and fifty children will participate in the program. The church is located at 17000 Farmington Road, Livonia.

● WOMEN FOR JESUS
Women for Jesus will have their west-side meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday, May 7, at Roma's of Garden City, on Cherry Hill between Venoy and Merriman. For more information, call Clara at 722-4224 or Mary at 722-9198.

● CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
Jean Louis of South Africa will speak on "Freedom from Fear: A Divine Command" at 8 p.m. Tuesday, May 8, at the Fourth Church of Christ, Scientist, 24400 W. Seven Mile, Detroit. Admission is free.

● CHRISTUS VICTOR
Christus Victor Lutheran Church will sponsor a crime prevention program for parents at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 9. Lt. Chris Horn, crime prevention officer of the Redford Police Department, will teach parents how to safeguard their children against strangers. The church is located at 25535 Ford, between Beech Daly and Gully, Dearborn Heights.

● FIRST CONGREGATIONAL
"Hunger and Public Policy," a new film produced by Bread for the World, will be shown from 8 to 9:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 16, in the First Congregational church of Wayne, on Wayne Road at Michigan Avenue. For more information, call Dick Lieberknecht at 422-0415.

Bread for the World, a Christian citizens' movement, will have a new members' meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday, May 15, at the church. For more information, call Rick at 261-2585.

Church growth is recognized

The Meadowbrook Christian Church, formerly Livonia Christian Church, will be recognized as one of the significantly growing Christian churches (Disciples of Christ) by the National Evangelism Workshop in Louisville, Ky. on May 7 in special opening session of the workshop.

The honor will be presented to Rev. Austin C. Denney by Dr. Kenneth Teegarden, general minister and president of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ). The performance was measured over the past five years.

The church moved to Novi from Livonia in 1983. Barbara Schnarr, Livonia, is chairman of the board with Jim Eddy of Livonia as vice chairman. Others from Livonia are Sharon Eddy, secretary; Howard Groce, treasurer; and Dick Zimmerman, financial secretary.

Manz organ concert Monday

World-renowned organist Dr. Paul Manz will be the featured artist at a hymn festival to be held at 8 p.m. Monday, May 7 at Faith Lutheran Church, 30000 Five Mile Road, Livonia.

The festival is sponsored by Christ Seminary-Seminex, a Lutheran seminary with administrative headquarters in Chicago. The festival is one of series of similar events being sponsored by the seminary throughout the country during the year. They are designed to acquaint people with the great hymns of the church and inspire them through the hymn improvisations of Dr. Manz and through the spoken word. Manz, former cantor of Mount Olive Church, is Christ Seminary-Seminex professor and artist-in-residence at the Lutheran School of Theology at Chicago as well as cantor of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of St. Luke, Chicago.

HE COMPLETED his undergraduate degree at Northwestern University. He was awarded a Fulbright grant to study organ, improvisation, and composition at the Royal Flemish Conservatory of Music in Antwerp, Belgium where he studied with Flor Peeters. He earned the first prize "with highest distinction" and also the recipient of numerous awards and honorary degrees.

Manz's musical compositions are internationally known. His choral music is widely used by college and church choirs. His nine volumes of choral improvisations for the organ have gained great popularity among church musicians and recitalists.

The public is invited to attend. An offering will be taken during the service to support the seminary in its work.

Strength isn't always in numbers

Some say it was hardly worth the effort. There were six churches participating and only about 100 people came. Should we continue?

We continue to gather together as churches, not because it is popular to do so but because it is right. We must witness to the unity of our faith.

It is unusual for people to do things today because they are right rather than because they are successful. Everywhere we are led to believe that the number attending something is the most important criteria. People want to identify with events that are successful. No longer do we ask, is it right? We ask instead, is it popular?

HOWEVER, within the heritage of the Jewish and Christian faiths is the tradition of the remnant, the few who have kept their belief alive in spite of the trends. For them, the increase of numbers may in fact suggest that people are abandoning the truth.

What is right and true? For Christians, it can be said that it is right and true to the faith to cooperate rather moral perspectives

than compete with one another. It is right and true to say that Christians are called to accept one another and stop short of judging others for their differences.

The test question is, do we tell the truth in love? There is a creative tension then between holding to a religious truth and doing so in love of the other. A current emphasis upon the numerical growth of churches sometimes implies that we may do anything to promote such growth. An emphasis upon social status will drive some people away. They want a religion which will restrict its focus to the individual. The implication is that if you want to be successful, stick to individual piety.

PROPHETIC religion says that the truth must be proclaimed and practiced whether it leads to success or to apparent failure. This is a difficult stance to take when we see such a desire today for a winning team.

If we speak the truth in love, we hold to what we believe, yet we communicate with people in a considerate way. Persons who believe strongly can also be people of reconciliation. What I object to are the two extremes: those who bear the truth of their faith so that they can be successful, and those who are so dogmatic that they do not consider other human beings worthy of dialogue. The middle path, speaking the truth in love, is a more difficult way. Although it reflects the great commandment, to love God, neighbor and self, it seldom shows up in the statistics as a successful strategy for religious institutions.

WE NEED to rethink the whole issue of what makes a religious effort successful. Clarence Jordan tells the story of how after coming to a southern Baptist church as the pastor, he preached racial integration. The members began to leave his church. Several people raised an objection saying that soon there would not be any members left. Jordan said he would preach the church down to a handful if necessary and then begin from there.

This is an unusual story because he was able to accomplish this feat by telling the truth in love.

It is an unusual story because I believe it is rare among our current religious institutions. We worry too much about how to get more to come, and more to give. We need to worry more about proclaiming and practicing the truth in love.

In summertime, the cruising is easy

MOST OF US think of going cruising in the winter, when the cold weather grips Michigan and sun-sea-sand are the primary words of balmy seas.

You might be surprised to know how much is going on at sea during the summer.

The luxury liners from the Caribbean are already on their way to Europe, and those that serve the Mexican coast in the winter months are scrubbing their decks for summer tours of the Inside Passage and Alaska.

There is a lot of adventure available for your travel dollar out there, too, from a six-week cruise through the Northwest Passage to a summer trip on one of our domestic lines.

THE S.S. Norway, the biggest cruise ship afloat, leaves the Caribbean this year for a series of summer and fall cruises in Europe. It's a bit like going home, because the Norway was born in 1961 as the S.S. France. Norwegian Caribbean Lines put her into Caribbean service in 1980.

She is 1,035 feet long and displaces 70,202 tons, compared to her nearest size-rival, the Queen Elizabeth II, which is 963 feet long and displaces 67,107 tons. Both are expensive ships to fuel and float.

The Norway will sail across the Atlantic from Philadelphia to Southampton July 18-26 and return across the Atlantic from Southampton to Miami Sept. 24 to Oct. 5, with several cruises in between.

A 14-day voyage out of Amsterdam July 26 through Aug. 11 will take passengers into the Norwegian fjords and to the land of the midnight sun around North Cape.

Several one-week cruises will follow, to the fjords, or to the great cities of northern Europe. They can be taken as individual tours or as a three-week Grand Tour.

THE M.S. VITAFJORD is already in Europe and will stay there, cruising the Mediterranean, the Baltic, Russia, North Cape Iceland and Spitzbergen until Nov. 4.

This year, it introduces a two-week British Isles tour and a one-week sailing between Genoa and Venice. Both the Vitafjord and her sister ship, the M.S. Sagafjord — which cruises through the Panama Canal, up the Inside Passage and to the Orient, had expensive face lifts this year.

SITMAR CRUISES has a new ship, the Fairsky, carries her first passengers this spring to the Mexican Riviera. The 38,000-ton ship will be based in Los Angeles most of the year, sailing seven-, 10- and 11-day cruises to Mexico.

During the summer, she will sail to Alaska. On eight 14-day cruises, she will take the Inside Pass to Alaska from June 2 through Sept. 8.

I haven't see the Fairsky, but Sitmar promotes it as a ship with uncommonly large standard cabins. If any of you go aboard her before I do, let me know whether that's true. The June 16 and Aug. 11 cruises will go north as far as the Columbia Glacier, the largest glacier in Alaska.

The ships I have discussed so far are big ships. They attract passengers because of their luxury and size, as well as the many facilities and events that size permits. There is another kind of cruise experience, however, in which small groups of people find their adventure in a common interest.

THE SEA Goddess I makes her maiden voyage on the Mediterranean this year, with advance publicity highlighting her small size and luxury. She goes into smaller ports with names like Puerto Banus, St. Maxime, Porto Vecchio, Taormina, Kusadisa and Sorente. Air France is selling several air/sea/land packages on that one.

Salen Lindblad Cruising has 20 adventure cruise expeditions aboard the Explorer and Polaris between now and September. They offer unusual trips to foreign destinations, two of which are "firsts" in the cruise industry.

The Explorer will sail from Africa to Newfoundland on a 16-day cruise starting Aug. 7, and from Newfoundland through the Northwest Passage to Japan on a 43-day adventure Aug. 19.

There is a lot of adventure available for your travel dollar out there, from a six-week cruise through the Northwest Passage to a short summer trip.

Rhine Line during the fall grape harvest along the Moselle and Rhine rivers in Germany.

The seven-day cruises begin in Rotterdam Sept. 21 and Oct. 14. You can also sail the Rhine all summer, as thousands of satisfied travelers have done before you.

Of course, people do still go to the Caribbean, even when it is warm at home, so check the schedules of cruise lines out of Florida if you prefer the southern sun to what we have here at home.

And if you would like to see a little of your own country from the deck of a cruise ship, ask your travel agent about American Cruise Lines or Clipper Cruise Line, both of which sail small ships along the east coast of the United States. The Mississippi Queen paddles up the Mississippi just as if Mark Twain was aboard.

Auto-theme wonderland will open in Flint

Six Flags AutoWorld, a new concept in theme parks, will debut in Flint July 4.

The $70-million complex will have 300,000 square feet of attractions and be the largest indoor entertainment complex in the world.

Its interconnected complex of three buildings includes a 70-foot-high, geodesic-type, football-field-sized dome which will house two lavishly landscaped historic Flint streets.

The dome will serve as an entrance to the buildings of the complex.

The AutoWorld theme is the auto world. Flint, the site of several auto plants, played a historic role in the development of the auto industry.

Attractions include "total involvement" rides with animated characters, special effects shows, million-dollar computerized educational exhibits, theme restaurants and distinctive shops.

The restaurants will offer meals from a leisurely sit-down dinner to fast-service sandwiches at booths.

Visitors will be able to participate in many exhibits, to experience automotive technology.

Emphasis on visitor participation carries over into many rides.

The "Great Race" is a four-minute ride which involves using a dazzling array of special video effects including 3-D slides and films, special sets and unusual sound and lighting.

The rider is buckled into a racing machine so that he or she can almost feel the exhilaration of bearing down the straightaway of the Indy 500, climbing Pike's Peak in Colorado, crashing through a demolition derby, screeching through the road course in the Grand Prix at Monaco, and making hair-pin turns as the crowd cheers.

UNDER THE AutoWorld dome, visitors will find reproductions of historic Flint buildings, a flowing river complete with working water wheel, old trade shops and restaurants.

Life-size creations will show the evolution of Flint from a fur-trading and lumbering center to a carriage-making town and finally to an auto manufacturing city.

Replicas include the cabin of Jacob Smith, the area's first fur trader.

The "Auto Show" section of the exhibit includes 21 carefully-selected vintage cars highlighted by special effects, theatrical lighting and animation.

One of the most spectacular exhibits is the giant three-story working model of an automobile engine. It will be housed in the Rotunda, a building designed to showcase scientific and technical advancements in the auto industry.

VISITORS will ride on a moving musical sidewalk past animated and specially lighted recreations of various stages of auto assembly lines. The exhibit scenes range from an early crude workshop to a vision of a highly-automated car factory.

The complex will include the IMAX Cinema, which will show film on a screen six stories high and 75 feet wide. The film "Speed" will show the history of man's fascination with fast motion.

Admission charge to the AutoWorld will be $8.95. Admission will include all exhibits and rides. The sponsors believe the average tour through the exhibit will take four to five hours to fully enjoy.

Workmen prepare one of the attractions inside the new year-around $70-million Six Flags AutoWorld to open in Flint in July.

William Andrews stands next to one of the clocks in the Time Museum.

If you've time

You moved your clocks ahead last weekend, and chances are you forgot at least one timepiece in the process, probably the clock on your stove. Put yourself in the place of William Andrews, curator of the Time Museum in Rockford, Illinois; he had to change the 2,000 clocks in the museum's collection.

If you are driving west this summer, the Time Museum is 50 minutes drive from Chicago's O'Hare Airport, at the intersection of I-55 and Business Route 20. It's open 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. weekends; closed Mondays.

Admission is $2.50 for adults, $1.50 for senior citizens and students, 50 cents for children. It is located in the Clock Tower Inn and Resort, so if time turns you on, you can eat or sleep while you're exploring it.

Big tent rises in Dearborn

No, Chautauqua isn't a new Mexican dish. It's an almost forgotten American tradition, which will be revived around the state this year for the 10th anniversary of the Michigan Council for the Humanities.

"Everyone knows about vaudeville, but very few people know about Chautauqua and the impact it had on America," said Merri Jo Bales, director of the 10th anniversary celebration. "It's exciting to have people talking about it again."

A HALF-CENTURY ago, traveling Chautauquas made it possible for small-town residents to see famous people, discuss hot issues and enjoy entertainment from other parts of the world.

Gathered under a big tent in the park, families heard such notables as politician William Jennings Bryan, suffragette Jeannette Rankin and lawyer Clarence Darrow talk about their careers and ideas. If those colorful characters didn't intrigue, there was exotic entertainment by Russian dancers or Swiss yodelers.

At the turn of the century, there were as many as 300 independent Chautauquas scattered across the country. By the mid-1930s, they were a thing of the past.

Today there are just a few permanent ones, including the original started in 1874 in Chautauqua, N.Y.

"It amazed me how few people today even know what they were," said Bales, explaining that in the 1920s one out of three Americans attended the summer events.

"Chautauqua was a very pervasive kind of phenomenon and particularly common in the Midwest. But it faded so fast."

NEXT WEEK Edison Institute will recreate a grand tent Chautauqua of 1912 on its Village Green in Greenfield Village, Dearborn.

Florist Bartel dies

Services for William Bartel, 85, of Livonia were held Wednesday in St. Peter Evangelical Lutheran Church in Plymouth with burial at Riverside Cemetery.

Bartel moved to Livonia from Detroit in 1916 when his father bought 55 acres of farmland near Plymouth Road and Newburgh. In 1931, he and his younger brother, George, built a greenhouse on some of that land and started what is now a 54-year-old flower business, Bartel's Flowers.

Mr. Bartel died April 30 in Plymouth.

Mr. Bartel's son, Robert, and his niece's husband, Ronald Lamerand, have run the business for the last 12 years.

Flowers were Mr. Bartel's life. In an interview with the Observer in July 1981, he talked about how he has worked with flowers most of his life, first selling daisies for 10 cents a bunch with his sister at the Eastern Market while still in grade school, then dropping out after the eighth grade to help in his father's homemade greenhouse in East Detroit.

Mr. Bartel's love for flowers didn't end with his business-turned hobby. He had an expansive private garden in front of his house on Plymouth Road, in addition to growing shade varieties of flowers and vegetables in his backyard. "If the gardens get away from me, I don't want to live here anymore," he said in that interview.

Survivors include: sons, William and Robert, both of Livonia; stepson, John Guettler of Ann Arbor; brother, George of Livonia; seven grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

THIS YEAR OUR MEMBERS ARE FINDING BUSINESS BETTER.

They're the Detroit area businesses who support the Better Business Bureau. And they've learned just how much that coveted BBB plaque means to their continuing success.

BBB membership, and the priceless goodwill gained by displaying the BBB plaque, leads to increased public confidence in your business. It means joining other businesses who believe that self-regulation is the only way to prevent governmental regulation. And it means a host of services for both you and your customers. Including the issuing of consumer reports. Complaint handling and arbitration. Advertising review. Charitable solicitation review service. And consumer education.

You can learn why BBB membership makes more sense than ever by giving us a call. What you hear may prompt you to join the others who've found business can indeed be better this year. Celebrate Better Business Bureau Week, May 1-10, 1984. Our 67th year of making the marketplace a better place.

Detroit and Eastern Michigan CLEP 98240631

The May 8-13 event featuring historic characters like Theodore Roosevelt and Jane Addams will kick off the statewide celebration sponsored by the Michigan Council for the Humanities for its 10th anniversary.

So far, the granting agency has funded a dozen state projects built around the Chautauqua theme. Oakland University will present "America in Transition: the Chautauqua Precedent" June 2 on the Rochester area campus. Actually OU's third annual Chautauqua festival, it will combine lectures, exhibits, music and games.

There will be a follow up session June 9 with discussions of the social issues raised during the Saturday event.

ALSO PLANNED in the state are:

• "Black Thought During the Chautauqua Era," a lecture series sponsored by the Afro-American Museum of Detroit during May and June

• "Main Street as Mainstream: Cultural Values and Attitudes During the Chautauqua Era and Their Implications for Minorities and Women," a three day symposium in September at Adrian College, Adrian.

• Chautauqua Tonight! a lecture and music series sponsored by Ferris State College, Big Rapids.

A Chautauqua packet is available by request through the organization's Center for Humanities Services, Nisbet Building, Suite 30, 1407 S. Harrison, East Lansing, MI 48824.

Local units ask lobby law break

Local government officials are seeking to exempt government employees from having to register as lobbyists and list their expenses when they contact state legislators.

"There's no shame in being a lobbyist. It's that you have to keep track of all your expenditures," said Winthrop Rowe, a staff assistant to House Majority Floor Leader Joe Forbes, D-Oak Park.

Those "expenditures" mean more than wine and dining lawmakers. The salary of an official applying for a state grant or a police chief seeking tougher traffic penalties also count as lobbying expenditures.

THE EXECUTIVE committee of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments last week adopted a resolution asking that local government employees be exempted from the 1978 Michigan Lobbying Law.

Rowe, speaking to the SEMCOG group in the Livonia Holiday Inn West, said, "The act makes lobbyists out of virtually everyone who contacts legislators or the executive branch to influence legislation."

And that is the only reason most calls to Lansing are made, Rowe added.

The lobbying law kicks in whenever $250 of anyone's salary is spent on influencing legislation, Rowe said.

"Any city submitting a grant application would eat up $250 in expenditures," said SEMCOG Chairperson Donald E. Shelton, mayor of Saline.

SHELTON SAID Secretary of State Richard Austin's office was asked to send a speaker to the SEMCOG meeting to explain how it will begin enforcement of the act.

"But since no money had been appropriated to implement the act, they have no money to send someone down here to enforce it," Shelton said.

"It isn't clear who's going to arrest you for that, or how they're going to know you violated the law," Rowe added.

SEMCOG's executive committee and general assembly are composed entirely of elected officials, who are exempt from the lobbying law when acting in conjunction with their elective office.

But employees of counties, cities, villages, townships, school districts and colleges do come under the act.

The SEMCOG resolution complained that registering under the law and listing expenditures would "result in costly inefficiencies and undue interference with the conduct of local government."

Flight tutorial at Schoolcraft

Aviation instrument simulator tutorial, a one-to-one method which doesn't rely on weather, is being offered by Schoolcraft College.

Instruction is scheduled in two-hour blocks. It will build from achieving straight and level flight, climbings and descents into more complex flight maneuvers and airport instrument approaches.

Registration information is available from the college community services office at 591-6400, Ext. 409. Fee for two hours is $72; for 10 hours, $320.

Air penalties could halt recovery — SEMCOG

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Southeastern Michigan's hesitant economic recovery could grind to a halt - soon - unless the state adopts a specific vehicle inspection and maintenance program (I&M) to clean up its air.

That frightening message will be carried to the Michigan Legislature today by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments in a rare presentation to all 110 lawmakers.

"This is an economic development issue," said SEMCOG Chairperson Donald E. Shelton, mayor of Saline.

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has begun imposing sanctions in Albuquerque and Nashville, which adopted I&M programs, but for one reason or another didn't enforce them."

SEMCOG LEADERS will quote threats by both EPA Administrator William Ruckelshaus ("I have no choice...there will be sanctions imposed.") and Region V EPA official David Kee.

Highway projects and factories in the suburbs - where most of the region's economic redevelopment is occurring - could be hardest hit by EPA sanctions. SEMCOG Executive Director John Amberger cited these projects as being possibly threatened by federal sanctions.

• GMF Robotics' Oakland County site for manufacturing, research and development, and headquarters facilities.

• The vacant Ford Flat Rock plant, which is being eyed for the first U.S. Mazda car assembly plant. Sun belt states are also competing for the Mazda facility.

• The I-496 freeway which, after two decades of delays, is being completed across southern Oakland County.

• Existing factories, which could be denied permits to add second and third shifts as economic recovery continues.

"In 1980, nine major industrial facilities required such (emissions) permits, including Chrysler-Jefferson Assembly Plant, Fisher Body-Pontiac, VW-Sterling Heights, and GM Truck and Coach-Pontiac," Amberger said.

"Under sanctions, none of these permits would have been issued. Operation of plants would have been indefinitely halted."

THE FEDERAL government gets its power under the 1970 Clean Air Act and its 1977 amendments.

"All they can do to enforce it is withhold the things they control," said Donn Shelton, SEMCOG's information officer (no kin of the chairperson).

What the federal government controls, Shelton said, are 1) highway funds, 2) possibly sewer funds and 3) permits for emission of certain air pollutants.

SEMCOG officials will tell lawmakers that while the sanctions would apply only to Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties, competing states are likely to give the entire state of Michigan a black eye with industrialists looking for plant sites.

Amberger said, "It says to all of the country, 'Southeastern Michigan has air quality problems with the EPA. It's not a good place to build plants.'"

THE LEGISLATURE in 1980 passed Public Act 83, requiring an I&M program to be enforced through vehicle registration.

What remains, Donn Shelton said, is for Gov. James J. Blanchard and the Legislature to set up an actual I&M program: what the inspection system will look for, who will perform the inspections (service stations or the state), and what budget will be approved.

SEMCOG's executive committee, meeting last week in the Livonia Holiday Inn West, said in a unanimous resolution that local government shouldn't be responsible for, and burdened with, the I&M program.

But SEMCOG Chairperson Shelton reported the Department of State proposes to change the procedure so that I&M would be enforced by local governments through a sticker system.

Under it, vehicle owners in the tri-county area would be issued license tabs of a different color from the other 80 counties. The different tab color would indicate to local police that the vehicle is subject to I&M.

These vehicles would be required to display a corresponding sticker, perhaps on the rear window, indicating they had met I&M requirements. Vehicles without the corresponding window sticker could be subject to a ticket. Fines paid by the owners would go to local government coffers.

Listening to a courting woodcock

By Timothy Nowicki
special writer

Whenever I get a chance, I try to explore natural areas and things around me. In fact, Saturday my wife and I invited some friends over for dinner and asked them if they would be interested in birdwatching afterwards.

I was almost going to tell them we would be going "snipe hunting" but, instead, decided to tell them we would be searching for a courting woodcock.

Many people know the woodcock as a chunky, brown, upland game bird with a long narrow bill. It is found in wooded areas most of the time but is actually related to shorebirds like sandpipers, plovers and snipes.

They spend the winter months in such southern states as Louisiana. Then in the spring, like many other birds, they return north to nest and raise young.

AFTER A delicious lasagna dinner, we drove to the field areas west of Westland Shopping Center along Warren Road. Here, in these fields, for the past five years I have watched woodcock perform their ceremonial courtship display.

I was almost certain the bird would be there again this spring, but I wanted to be sure before I brought my class there to see it.

At sunset, or a little after, almost like clockwork, a male entered the sandy, open area surrounded by cottonwood and box elder trees. We knew when he entered because he started his "BEEENT" call while on the ground.

Darkness and field vegetation prevented us from seeing the bird, but we could hear his calls gradually increase to about once every 10-20 seconds, or so.

The male continued to call while on the ground a short time. Then, when the calling stopped, we watched the back-light horizon to the west in hopes of seeing the bird fly up.

ON HIS VERY first flight, he passed right in front of us, only about 10 feet over our heads - close enough so we could see his 3-inch long bill.

The clear sky allowed us to watch the bird gain altitude until he was a speck, barely visible in the sky, directly over the area he was calling from on the ground. Chorus frogs and spring peeper frogs calling from nearby ponds almost drowned the high pitched twittering sound produced by the male in flight.

His outer wing feathers are more narrow than the females, which is what causes the twittering sound as the air passes over them while flying.

After a flight of about a minute the male woodcock began to come back to earth. We could barely see his descent, but we could tell he was coming down by the "kissing" sound he produced until shortly before his landing.

HE RETURNED to the same general area where we first heard him calling. This is the area to which he wants to attract a female for mating.

The same sequence of events and combination of sounds will be repeated until the darkness of night.

Timothy Nowicki teaches nature study and leads field trips for local nature groups. The Livonia resident has two degrees in biology.

Playoff expansion: What's the holdup?

THE FUTURE OF the high school football playoffs hangs in the balance as the Michigan High School Athletic Association's Representative Council convenes Sunday.

Before this council is a proposal to expand the football playoffs from the current 32-team format to an 128-team format.

It's about time.

The current playoff format in the state of Michigan is blatantly unfair. Every year since its inception in 1975, the current format has left many deserving football teams out of contention for a state championship.

The Michigan High School Football Coaches Association has been complaining about the 32-team format since... well, since 1975. Finally, nine years later, the MHSAA is taking the time and effort to listen to these complaints.

MORE IMPORTANTLY, Vern Norris, the MHSAA's executive director, and his crew appear ready and willing to make changes in the current format.

But, the MHSAA is a slow-moving policy maker. It took them nine years to see the obvious inequities of the current format. Let's hope it doesn't take another nine years for them to implement changes.

Already there is evidence of foot-dragging on the part of the MHSAA.

The coaches association took on the challenge of improving their playoff system in 1981. They appointed Ithaca High School coach Jim Ahern to head a research team to study the situation and produce an alternative playoff plan which the association could propose to the MHSAA.

After two years of collecting data from across the nation, Ahern presented his alternative plan: expand the playoffs to include 128 teams (32 in each class) and expand the playoffs from three to five games.

The plan, which was entitled the "Ahern Plan", also detailed how the teams would be selected and how the additional playoff dates would be scheduled.

Those elements, expressed in far more detail, were put before the MHSAA's Playoff Committee on Jan. 30. The playoff committee, according to MHSAA Assistant Director Lonnie Lowery, accepted only one part of the Ahern Plan.

"WE RECOMMENDED to the Representative Council that they expand the playoffs to 128 teams," Lowery, a member of the playoff committee, said. "We did not make a recommendation on how the 128 teams would be selected or on when the additional playoff games would be played."

So on Sunday (May 6), the Representative Council will be discussing only one issue — whether or not to expand the playoffs to 128 teams.

Lowery said that the council could do one of four things: approve the proposal, reject the proposal, postpone a decision to allow further study or ask for input from the high schools.

If the proposal is approved, then the council will decide how to select the 128 teams and when to play the additional playoff games.

The fact that the MHSAA is even considering an expanded playoff format is a major breakthrough — something for which the MHSAA should be applauded. However, it seems like a waste of time to tackle the issue piece by piece — especially since two years of research has already been logged by the coaches association.

THE AHERN PLAN is basically a solid playoff format, with one weakness. It is this weakness that may have forced the playoff committee to accept only one aspect of it.

To schedule the two additional playoff games, the Ahern Plan called for teams to play three games in eight days. The first playoff date would be scheduled the Tuesday or Wednesday after the final regular season game. The second playoff game the following Saturday.

The concern, obviously, is whether the athletes can withstand that type of physical strain and if four days are sufficient time to prepare to play in a game of that magnitude.

It is a risky proposition, to be sure.

Here is an alternative that works:

Instead of the three-game-in-eight-days concept, teams could play an eight-game schedule and leave the ninth week in the schedule open. The first round of the playoffs would be played in the ninth week.

For example, if this suggestion was in effect for the 1984 season, the regular season would start Aug. 31 and end Oct. 19 or Oct. 20. Then the five-week playoff schedule would begin the following week and the season would not be expanded.

TEAMS NOT making the playoffs would be able to schedule a non-league game to fill the open date. Teams would know as early as the fourth or fifth week of the season if they were in contention for the playoffs and athletic directors would have plenty of time to schedule an opponent for that ninth date.

Perhaps this talk is premature. It seems natural to discuss expanding the playoffs in one package. But, the MHSAA prefers to break it into three steps.

So be it.

The first thing that must be done is for the Representative Council to approve the expansion of the playoff format to 128 teams this Sunday.

Once done, we can only hope that the MHSAA will not completely toss away the two years of work put in by the coaches association, nor completely give up on the Ahern Plan.

It is not too much to ask for the state of Michigan to have an equitable high school football playoff format ready to go by 1986. The framework is already in place. The ball is now in the hands of the bureaucratic court of the MHSAA.

Hopefully, they won't fumble.

Rocks tie, Chiefs fall

Where have all goal-scorers gone?

Plymouth Salem soccer coach Ken Johnson has to be wondering about that as his club suddenly finds itself in a scoring slump.

The Rocks could muster just five goals in four games in the Schoolcraft tournament last weekend.

On Monday, in a wind-swept match against lowly Farmington, the Rocks again were held scoreless. Fortunately for them, the Falcons couldn't score either and the game ended in a 0-0 tie.

"The wind played a big part in it," said Johnson, but he didn't disguise his concern over the drought.

"We're getting the chances to score, we're just missing the net. We get breakaways, wide-open shots and can't get them in," he said.

Sophomore Julie Tortora, the team's leading scorer last year and this year, hasn't scored a goal in five games.

"She works real hard. She's all over the field. But, she has been kicking them over the net or missing wide. Then she starts aiming the ball and hits it right to the (goal)keeper. She's just in a little slump. I'm confident she'll break out of it," Johnson said.

Salem has also been hampered by Easter vacations. Five front-line players have been out of action for nearly two weeks.

Plymouth Canton 3, Plymouth Salem 0.

The match, to most observers at the Schoolcraft Community College Girls Soccer Invitational last weekend, didn't mean a whole lot.

Technically, it meant that Canton, with a 3-1 tourney record, would finish in fifth place. Salem, 2-2, had to settle for sixth.

Most of the attention was focused on the championship match. Livonia Churchill, ranked No. 2 in Observerland, ousted Troy Athens 1-0 on a goal by Dorene Dudek off a penalty kick with two minutes left.

But to the soccer-crazed Plymouth-Canton community, the Canton-Salem match was of the utmost significance.

Salem, previously ranked No. 4 in Observerland (now No. 5), has been the area's lone non-Livonian soccer power in recent years. Canton, previously unranked in Observerland (now No. 4), has been struggling for respect and recognition.

WITH ITS 3-0 win Saturday — despite the fact that Salem was without five of its first-line players, despite the fact that Salem had just finished a marathon four-overtime match with Northville and was given only a 30-minute rest — Canton gained some of that respect.

"Hey, we're a pretty good club, too," said Canton coach Mike Morgan.

Salem dominated the first 15 minutes of the match, but couldn't dent the twine behind goalkeeper Pat Phillips. The Rocks had trouble scoring goals the entire tournament.

"I guess we left our shooting boots at home," said Salem coach Ken Johnson. "We missed a couple breakaways, just missing the net."

Canton's Lisa Russell broke the scoring drought in the first half. Ironically, her goal was scored on Canton's very first shot on goal.

Kendra Whitely and Jenny Thomas added second-half goals to ice the Chiefs' win. Russell, Whitely and Lori Engel had the assists.

The Chiefs began the tourney with an impressive 2-1 win against Saginaw Eisenhower. Russell and Whitely scored the Canton goals and Phillips, despite a broken toe, played brilliantly in the nets.

THE CHIEFS were bumped into the consolation bracket, losing a tough 1-0, double-overtime match to Troy. Troy, who finished third in the 16-team tourney, won the match on a shootout.

Russell got two more goals, as did Beth Frigge, leading the Chiefs past Livonia Ladywood, 5-1. Whitely added the other goal for the Chiefs and notched three assists.

Salem began the tourney with a 3-0 win against Dearborn Fordson. Salem's goals were scored by Cheryl Truskowski, Tracey Greenhalge and Kris Johnson.

Freshman goalie Carrie Crowther got the shutout, replacing starter Sarah Wallman who was vacationing.

The Rocks lost to a talented Fraser team 3-1 to drop into the consolation bracket. Again, the Rocks failed on several outstanding scoring opportunities. Johnson got the lone goal for the Rocks — her fifth in five games.

Salem's next challenge was Northville, and the teams played to a 0-0 stalemate through regulation and four overtime periods. Salem finally earned a 1-0 win in the shootout. Greenhalge, playing goal, made two key saves during the shootout.

Ex-Park players survive Ozarks

By C.J. Riesk
staff writer

Every baseball fanatic knows it: If you want to further a playing career, head west or south — anywhere warm. Just leave Michigan and its ungodly weather behind.

Certainly that was part of the reason Plymouth Canton graduates Fred Rumberger and Mike Battaglia and Plymouth Salem alumnus Todd Riedel chose to take their talents to the School of the Ozarks, located at Pt. Lookout, Missouri.

What an opportunity — longer schedules, more games and a chance to really hone their abilities, not in the unnatural baseball setting of a gymnasium, but outside in a warm, sunny climate.

Those expectations didn't last long, though. Not after rainstorms only Noah could have anticipated drenched Pt. Lookout and doused the Bobcat schedule.

EAGLES CRASH

It was the first match for the brand new American Eagles soccer team, but the debut was spoiled Sunday by the Dearborn Heights Stars, 6-0.

The Eagles, a team comprised of 18- and 19-year-olds from the Plymouth-Canton community, play in the Great Lakes Mens Soccer League.

Despite the loss, goalie Tim Butzow played well, according to coach Charlie Vella. Forward Dave Varana had several good scoring chances for the Eagles.

MANAGERS NEEDED

Managers are needed for the Plymouth-Canton Junior Baseball League in both the boys baseball and girls softball leagues.

There is a special need for managers in the Boys A League (ages 10-12) and the Boys Prep League (age 13).

Anyone wishing to manage, coach or umpire should contact Rich Madsen, 420-0223.

KOUFAX BASEBALL

Any boy 13 or 14 years old wanting to try out for a Sandy Koufax League baseball team should call Bernie Jackson, 455-5698, or Ron Martinez, 728-0053.

This team will play in the Plymouth-Canton area, although it will be independent of either Salem or Canton high schools.

STEELER SIGNUP

Registration for the Plymouth-Canton Steelers Junior Football Association will take place from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. on two Saturdays: May 12 and May 19. The sessions will take place in the lobby of Canton High School's Phase III facility.

Boys and girls aged 9-13 are eligible to register as players or cheerleaders. For more information, call 459-0299 or 459-6347.

SLO-PITCH TOURNEY

Ed's Sports and Budweiser's second Slo-Pitch Softball Tournament is set for the weekend of June 1 in Canton Township.

The fee for the double-elimination tourney is $110. There will be three separate tournaments: men's open, mens B and C, and women's open. There will a 16-team maximum in each tourney.

For more information, call Pete Dood, 397-3260.

CANTON 5-MILER

The Canton Parks and Recreation Department's sixth annual Canton Country Festival 5-Mile Run is set for 9 a.m. Saturday, June 16.

The cost is $5 for advanced registration, $6 after June 14.

Canton Sesquicentennial gifts will be given to the first 300 participants. Plaques and medals will be awarded to the top three finishers in each age group. All participants will be eligible for the grand prize — a weekend trip to Toronto.

For more information, call 397-1000, Ext. 212.

CLINIC FOR WOMENS CAGE COACHES

The Schoolcraft Community College womens basketball coaches' clinic will take place Friday and Saturday, May 4 and 5, at Schoolcraft (Haggerty Road between Six and Seven Mile roads).

Area stars lift Ozark ball club

Twenty-six Ozark games have been washed out this season. Twenty cannot be made up. Add those back into the schedule and there's no telling how good a season freshmen Battaglia and Riedel and sophomore Rumberger would be enjoying.

"SO MANY GAMES rained out," said Ozark coach Bob Smith. "It's been killing us."

The cancellations have hurt the younger players the most, Smith felt, by hampering their development. Nonetheless, the local trio are well ensconced in the Bobcat lineup.

Battaglia, a lefthanded pitcher, is enjoying the best season of the three. Through Friday he had a 3-2 record (Ozarks is 18-7 overall), which Smith called deceiving because Battaglia's senior teammate Brad Thomas are saved from Bobcat's toughest foes. Battaglia has a 3.89 earned average.

"He is so confident on the mound," said Smith. "He's in complete control. Some pro scouts were down here to look at some of our older players and they didn't expect to see a freshman with the poise he has."

What Battaglia needs to develop is a better off-speed pitch. "He tries to throw everything too hard," said Smith, "and he needs to sharpen his control. He's walked a few more than he'd like to (25 walks in 37 innings)."

FOR RIEDEL and Rumberger, the weather has proved more bothersome. Both have shown flashes of brilliance, but neither has glowing offensive statistics.

Riedel, a second baseman, has been strong on defense. He's made just four errors this season. And, even though he had just 10 hits in 52 plate appearances going into last weekend's games (a .192 average), Riedel's timing has been excellent.

Last week, for example, he delivered his second game-winning hit of the season in dramatic fashion. With Ozarks trailing Southwest Baptist 8-7 in the bottom of the seventh and the bases loaded, Riedel slashed a base hit through the middle to drive in the tying and winning runs.

"I got the bat on the ball and just tried to hit it hard somewhere," said Riedel. As for his sparkling defensive play, Riedel isn't surprised. "I always felt my defense was better than my offense. We've been working on it a lot, so I feel really comfortable out there."

Riedel has eight runs batted in and has struck out only five times. "I'm making contact, but I'm hitting the ball right at people," he said.

Smith isn't bothered by Riedel's low average. "He earns his way defensively," the Bobcat coach said. "He provides all the intangibles, and he's made some outstanding defensive plays."

ONE OF RIEDEL'S problems at the plate — hitting the ball right at people — is at least part of what has bothered Rumberger. As a freshman, Rumberger batted .290 with two doubles, two triples, two homers and 22 RBI, including four game-winners.

But this season the first baseman has slumped to .195, with 14 hits in 72 trips, four doubles and eight RBI.

Chiefs fall to Churchill

Johnson, however, has been getting strong performances from his freshmen. Against Farmington, defenders Chris Kessler, Nikki Stojeba, Michelle Cogan — all freshmen, along with sweeper Colleen O'Connor, helped goalie Tracey Greenhalge get a shutout.

Salem had the better scoring chances against the Falcons, outshooting them 34-12. But, the nets stayed empty.

Salem's record is 5-2-1 overall on the season, 3-0-1 in the league.

PLYMOUTH CANTON scored first against No. 3-ranked Livonia Churchill Tuesday, and looked to have the Chargers on the ropes.

"They scored real early and had the wind at their backs," said Churchill coach Ed Dudek. "I said 'oh boy. I thought we were in for one of those games.'"

Indeed, the Chiefs were sky high after Lisa Russell's quick tally. Russell has been playing outstanding soccer for the Chiefs. In their 5-1, fifth-place performance at Schoolcraft, Russell scored four goals and added four assists.

But, Churchill's Jennifer Flowers quickly took the wind out of Canton's sails. She took a perfect pass from Jennifer Hugley and broke in alone and beat goalie Pat Phillips.

"Canton seemed to get down after that," Dudek said.

Churchill entered the Chiefs 11-5.

Rock women 3rd at Tigers...

Plymouth Salem, led by strong performances in the distance events, took an impressive third-place finish Saturday in the Tiger Girls Track Relays at Belleville High School.

Highland Park ran away from the 11-team field with 70 points. Walled Lake Western (58) took second. Salem (46), Livonia Franklin (40) and Northville (30) rounded out the top five. Plymouth Canton placed sixth with 28 points.

Salem took first place in the 4-mile relay. Chris Traponi, Heidi Dupret, Amy Miyazaki and Trish Donnelly combined to run the distance in 24:57.6.

It was the Rocks' lone first.

The same foursome combined on a 11:12.25 good for second place in the 2-mile relay.

THE ROCKS also got a second place from their discus team. Karen Marciak, Mary Beth Weast and Laura Clifford combined on a distance of 248-9.

Mary Zorney, Weast, Nancy Smith and Dawn Johnson ran the 880-yard relay in 1:52.49, good for a third place for the Rocks.

Amy Johnson and Kristen Hostinski took third place in the high jump relay, going 9-0 on their combined leaps.

Canton's top finisher was its second-place shuttle hurdle team — Pat Brennan, Debbie Redfern, Cheri Remer and Michele Adams. The team posted a 1:15.8.

The Chiefs' 4-mile team took third. Jan Alvarado, Jodi Bernd, Tory Barger and Marie Jarosz posted a 25:25.1.

Also taking a third was Canton's distance medley team. Alvarado, Carolyn Nagy, Barger and Jarosz went 1:42.4. Brennan, Adams and Remer combined on a 40-4 effort in the long jump, which earned the Chiefs fourth-place points.

Canton coach Bob Richardson summed up the feelings of most of the participants.

"We were pleased, considering. A lot of schools were in the same boat — it was the middle of the (Easter) vacation and we were trying to make do with the people who stayed. We had 20 people missing," he said.

Rock boys finish distant 2nd

Bolstered by a strong showing in the field events, the Plymouth Salem boys track team took a second place at the Tiger Relays at Belleville High School Saturday.

Host team Belleville ran away from the 11-team field, taking first with 102 points. Salem was second with 55 points. Romulus (55), Inkster Cherry Hill (39) and Highland Park (36) rounded out the top five.

Plymouth Canton, with five points, placed 10th.

The Rocks' lone first was in the shot put relay. Scott Jurek, Marc Cygan and Marc Tindall combined to toss 116-1.

SALEM ALSO earned four seconds: The discus team — Dan Hasley, Bill Justice and Paul Smallwood — com-bin on a 321-0; the long jump team — Bryan Waldron, Mike White and Troy Grover — leaped 55-1 combined; the pole vault team — Mike Harwood, Rich Piwko and Ron Piwko — earned a 20-6; and the distance medley team — Dean Jarski, Scott Smith, Bill Morley and Scott Steiner — ran a 11:41.2.

Salem also took fourth place in the high jump relay (White, Waldron and Hasley in 11-4) and the low hurdle relay (White, Dan Jones, Hasley and Sean O'Hare in 1:16.1).

"We were real pleased with the performance. We knew we had to do well in the field events because the Cherry Hills, the Romuluses and the Bellevilles can really run. We wanted to finish in the top four and we succeeded. I think this will really be a confidence builder for us," said Salem coach Gary Balconi.

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

A shivering Plymouth Canton coach Fred Crissey (chatting with Jeff Wittner) isn't worried about his team's upcoming heavy schedule.

Rocks win rout, Canton takes pair

Who said the Plymouth Salem baseball team couldn't hit? Certainly not the Farmington Falcons.

With hurricane-force winds at their backs, the Rocks knocked out three home runs en route to a 22-2 pasting of the Falcons Monday.

Senior first baseman Chris Mowers knocked in five runs with a pair of two-run homers and Jim Lynch added a long three-run blast to pace the Rocks.

Second baseman Chris Belhart went 3-for-3 with a triple and five RBIs.

The game was stopped after six innings because of the mercy rule. Brian Tiller, making his first start for Salem, got the win.

The win keeps Salem unbeaten, 3-0, in Western Lakes play. The Rocks, ranked No. 3 in Observerland, are 7-1 overall. Farmington remains winless (0-3).

PLYMOUTH CANTON'S main concern at the moment is getting some games in. The Chiefs bolted to 3-0 lead against Livonia Churchill Monday before the game had to be called because of the horrendous weather conditions.

The Chiefs have only played four games this season and will face a crammed schedule down the stretch. For example, Canton is scheduled to play seven games next week.

For most teams, that type of heavy schedule spells doom for the pitching staff. Not so for the Chiefs, according to coach Fred Crissey.

baseball

"I'm not overly concerned about it, to be frank with you," said the successful coach. "What happens is, we're going to be facing a lot of double-headers. In that situation, depth tells — especially pitching depth. And we've got four pitchers that can go."

Crissey is also deep in other areas. He has a 20-man roster, all of whom has seen action this season.

The Chiefs did get in a non-league twin bill with Wayne Memorial last Friday. The Chiefs took both, 9-6 and 8-2.

Scott Ford, with relief help from Buckey Blake, got his second victory of the season in game one. Jeff Wittner provided a good deal of the offense, ripping a double and a triple knocking home five runs. Sean Goulet had two hits including a two-run homer. Mark Bennett chipped in a pair of singles and sophomore Mark Stevens drove home a run with a double.

In game two, it was Bennett picking up his second victory. He relieved Blake in the third and pitched five scoreless innings. He allowed two hits and fanned four.

Jeff Olson had a pair of hits and three RBIs. Danny Martin had two hits and two RBIs. Jim Dillon knocked in three runs with a clutch double in the fifth.

The Chiefs, ranked No. 2 in Observerland, are now 4-0.

Salem Lady 9 on fire

"I think I've got a good-hitting ballclub, but it's really hard to hit when nobody can throw the ball across the plate."

So laments Plymouth Salem softball coach Rob Willette.

His team has won its first three games this season. None have been close. In hurricane-force winds Monday, the Rocks blew away Farmington 19-3 in a five-inning mercy-rule shortened contest.

Salem was the recipient of 17 walks from Farmington pitchers and seven errors from Farmington fielders.

"We play Livonia Bentley Friday. I'm hoping they'll give us a good game," Willette said.

Sue Carlson pitched all five innings against Farmington to pick up her third win. She walked six, struck out six and allowed six hits — a devilish performance.

Cindy Runge and Leslie Culver paced the Rocks' attack with two hits apiece. Culver rapped a triple.

Salem scored eight runs in the third inning without the benefit of a hit. Eight walks and three errors led to the uprising.

Salem is ranked No. 3 in Observerland.

400 set to roll in Super Bowl

More than 400 are expected to compete in the most unusual tournament of the season at Super Bowl in Canton on Saturday.

It is the annual Special Olympics when the handicapped bowlers of all ages will be there to try their hand at toppling the pins. They'll be on wheel chairs, blind, or handicapped without the use of an arm or a leg. The bowling is scheduled all day across the entire house. The public is invited to attend the help pay tribute to these competitors. The opening ceremonies are set for 8 p.m. in the morning.

WONDERLAND The classic recently has closed its best season and when the final pin fell, Bob Pniowski was top man on the average list with 214. This is two points higher than the leader of a year ago. During the season, there were 100 series above 700 rolled and three perfect games were posted. The entire league averaged 199.3.

MERRI-BOWL Two young bowlers took the spotlight during the week. Dennis Beam, 14, fired a 632 series with a closed game of 225. John McGrath, 17, had a 245 middle game in 681. In the men's trip loop, Scott Haeger was high with a 278 in 674. In the ladies doubles Ann Toke showed the way with 676.

WOODLAND Although he closed with a 259 game, Mark Earles missed breaking the 700 barrier by three pins. At that, his 697 was high for the week. In other good showings Anne Knox had a 264 in the kings and queens loop and Nora Lessman had a 257 for high game in the Merry Maids loop.

WESTLAND BOWL Jim Nowakowski had the lone 700 series of the week when he rolled a 266 in 757 in the Monday men's league. His closest rival was Larry Byrd with a 691.

BEL-AIRE For one of the few times this season there were no 700 series during the past week. Ron Aman came close with 698 and was followed by Dave Dann with 695 and Tom Highley has a 693.

Garden Lanes Ron Larken paced the St. Linus loop with a 641 and Frank Chrzanowski was next in line with 619.

COUNTRY LANES Ann Bogenschutz showed the way to the classy lassies with a 618 and her only rival was Audrey Sirola with a 569.

Relays showcase area stars

By Brad Emmons
staff writer

OBSERVERLAND RELAYS Meet Director John MacKenzie is going to feel a little funny Saturday.

The 14th running of the boys event will be held at Livonia Churchill's all-weather/metric track instead of Redford Union's Kraft Field cinder surface.

"I may feel like a guest instead of a host," said MacKenzie, who teaches in the Redford Union School District. "I had mixed emotions about moving because I thought it was my baby."

"I still get nostalgic about the Redford Union track. The kids didn't mind, but what Fred Price (the Churchill coach) said is right. A meet of this kind at this time of the year has to be held on an all-weather track and I'm still glad to be a part of it."

FIFTEEN AREA schools will compete for the title, won last year by Churchill.

The field includes Redford Bishop Borgess, expected to win its first-ever title; host Churchill, Redford Union, Redford Catholic Central, Livonia Bentley, Livonia Franklin, Livonia Stevenson, Plymouth Salem, Plymouth Canton, Farmington, Farmington Harrison, North Farmington, Garden City, Southfield-Lathrup and Northville. Redford Thurston, also invited, decided recently to drop out because of a lack of team depth.

"I've been following what's been going on and it sounds like it's Bishop Borgess' year," MacKenzie said. "I haven't seen Borgess, but it's still a meet that requires depth."

Since the meet has been changed over to meters, all records will be new. That means such long-time standards as the 880-yard and mile relays will only be up for debate — if the times are converted.

"THOSE RECORDS will always be around," MacKenzie said. "Farmington went 3:27 the first year in the mile relay and RU has had the 880 mark for some nine years. That pole vault (relay) record will be tough to get."

"I look to see some of the records go in the ensuing years."

It will be interesting to see what individuals rise to the top this weekend. Some area schools did not compete in any meets last week because of the Easter holiday break. The layoff could

Borgess is loaded with great sprinters, led by junior Fred Owens and senior Chuck Gregory.

Churchill's Dave Mize and Garden City's Jeff Felts have turned in impressive early season performances. Mize threw the discus 165 feet, 11 inches, while Felts cleared has cleared 8-3 in the high jump. Other runners to watch are Stevenson's Ken Dubois, who has gone 4:23.66 in the 1,600 run, and GC's Dave Homann, who went 9:38.0 in the two mile.

FARMINGTON'S Greg Coplai, meanwhile, is a talented hurdler, while Mark Tindall anchors a formidable Plymouth Salem sprint relay corps.

The top distance relay events should be a battle between CC and Churchill with Borgess, Farmington and Churchill battling in the field events.

Adrian-bound

Paul Fletcher, Plymouth Canton's talented 215-pound lineman, will be playing football for Adrian College next fall. Fletcher, who broke his forearm early last year and missed most of his senior season, said he expects to see limited action as a freshman. "The coach (Ron Labadie) was real honest with me. He told me not to expect much in my freshman year, but that if I worked hard, I'd see time in my sophomore year," said the personable Fletcher. Adrian College has a winning football tradition and Fletcher said he is anxious to become a part of it. He'll be studying political science and law at the private Division III school.

Lady Chiefs win 2nd straight

Who cares. What matters is that the 1984 Canton team, thanks to its 74-54 victory against Walled Lake Central Tuesday, is indeed 2-0.

"I'm extremely happy," said Canton coach Bob Richardson. "We had 22 kids gone on vacation and some came back and ran their best times. That tells me they were working during their vacation."

Kim Bennett was the big winner for Canton. She won the 100-meter dash (13.2) and the 200-meter dash (28.1). She also anchored the winning 800-meter relay teaming with Cheri Remer, Lori Schauder and Carolyn Nagy on a 1:56.6.

The Chiefs won three of the four relays. In the 1,600-meter relay, Jan Alvarado, Marie Jarosz, Remer and Nagy combined on a 4:45.7.

IN THE 3,200-meter relay, Tory Barger, Jodi Bernd, Alvarado and Jarosz won in 11:32.1.

Other winners for the Chiefs were: Pat Brennan in the long jump (15%), Michele Adams in the 100-meter hurdles (17.8) and Nagy in the 400-meter run (1:06.5).

"A lot of our younger kids, our freshmen, picked up several seconds and thirds. They really picked us up," Richardson said.

It was the first time Canton and Central had met in a dual meet.

"It's nice to leave that kind of lasting impression," he said.

Don't miss out on a ton of running fun

It's spring, so it must be race time.

A number of road running races are traditionally held at this time of the season throughout the Detroit Metropolitan area. Following is a brief listing:

• A 10k run through Southfield begins 10:30 a.m. Saturday starting at the Lawrence Institute of Technology. The race will be run in conjunction with the school's scheduled Open House ceremonies. For more information, call 356-0200.

• The sixth annual Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan (BCBSM) Fitness Runs and Walk will be held Saturday, May 12, in Detroit. There will be four events, starting with a three-mile walk at 9 a.m.

There will be runs of three and six miles at 9:30 a.m. and a 12 mile endurance run starting at 9:40 a.m. Monday, May 7, is the entry deadline.

All events begin at the Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan building on Lafayette and Beaubien. Certificates will be given to all finishers in each event.

For more information, call 225-8421.

• Mother's Day, Sunday, May 13, is the time of the second annual Outer Drive 10,000-meter race and one-mile fun run.

Sinai Hospital of Detroit and Mount Carmel Mercy Hospital are sponsoring the runs as a grand finale to Hospital Week. Proceeds will go to the Northwest Ministerial Alliance hunger program.

running

The fun run begins 8:15 a.m. and the 10,000-meter race starts at 8:45. The start and finish lines for both races will be at Sinai Hospital, 8787 West Outer Drive, Detroit.

There is a $7 fee for the 10,000-meter race and a $6 fee for the fun run. All entrants will receive T-shirts.

For more information, call 493-5500.

• The fifth annual Tri-Athon '84 will be held Sunday at two locations throughout the metropolitan area. One will be at the General Motors Technical Center (Mound and 12 Mile roads) in Warren and the other at the Ford Motor Research & Engineering Center (Oakwood Boulevard) in Dearborn.

Participants may jog, run or bike for diabetes research. There are prizes for the top fund-raisers, including a round-trip ticket to London for two persons.

There is a $10 entry fee.

For more information, call the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation of Southfield, 569-6171.

You can learn how your credit rating stands

Almost a million times a day somebody peeks at someone else's credit record. Yours is probably scrutinized each time you apply for a loan or a credit card or want to buy a big-ticket item on the installment plan.

In most instances, your credit rating will be accurate. However, if a mistake sneaks into your record, you may not know about it until you get turned down for credit.

Until a dozen years ago, consumers often could only guess why credit applications were rejected. Now, however, federal law requires credit granters to give you the reasons behind a rejection.

If a credit report helped tip the scales against you, you have to be told the name of the bureau that provided the information so you have an opportunity to find out whether outdated or erroneous data killed the deal. If you are turned down for credit, take the time to find out what the credit bureau is saying about you.

Call the local bureau to arrange for an appointment to go over your file or to learn how to authorize the bureau to discuss it over the phone or to mail the records to you.

The credit report would show you what your credit transactions have been during the past seven years.

WHAT YOU should not see is any negative information more than seven finances and you

years old, unless you have been declared bankrupt. Federal law requires that most unfavorable reports be purged after seven years so that past financial problems won't haunt someone for life.

Creditors are generally more interested in the last couple of years or so, anyway. Considering the huge volume of information flowing into credit-bureau files, there are sure to be mistakes.

If you find any information in your credit record that is wrong, demand that the credit bureau investigate the report. If it cannot verify the accuracy of the item, the information must be dropped from your file.

WHEN UNFAVORABLE information is accurate, you may be able to minimize its damage by attaching to the report a short statement telling your side of the story. If you missed several payments during a period in which you were unemployed or ill, for example, an explanation of the extenuating circumstances might give you a better chance with the next credit grantor who calls up your report.

Assuming your report is changed after your review, either because negative information is dropped or an explanation is attached, you can have the credit bureau send the revised report to credit granters who got the unmodified version during the previous six months.

THERE ARE other instances when it may be prudent to check your record. If you have had a dispute with a creditor, you may want to check what the creditor is saying about you to the credit bureau.

Under federal law, a creditor cannot report you as overdue on paying your bills while you are involved in a billing dispute. However, to get that protection you have to follow set procedures, which include sending a notice to the creditor.

Another time a review may be in order is if you have been charged with a crime or named a defendant in a civil suit and the charges have been dropped or the suit settled in your favor.

Cyclical stocks can grow

My broker suggested I buy shares in International Paper, and when I told my favorite uncle, he hit the ceiling.

He said he had bought the stock 10 years ago, and it just recently has sold close to what he paid for it. My broker had quite a story, and it sounded good to me.

My uncle says the whole paper industry is very cyclical, and that there are better places to put your money.

It's easy to see that your uncle's experience was not a profitable one, but things change.

While it is true that the paper industry is cyclical, and its profitability goes up and down, there are some companies where management has made changes that make the prospects of these companies different from what they have been.

Since your uncle bought International Paper, that company has made a lot of changes, and I would think it would be a more profitable company in the future.

YOU COULD say that 10 years ago, the company was not in the best of shape and needed a lot of work done on it. Most of that work has now been done.

It has disposed of a number of less profitable operations and has put a great deal of money into today's investor

Thomas E. O'Hara

of the National Association of Investment Clubs making its plants more efficient. It has been the goal of the company's management to be the most efficient paper maker in the world.

Its plants are generally now of that class.

The company has come through the recession, and though earnings dropped off, they are now recovering sharply. The recent quarters have produced earnings well ahead of those a year ago.

THE TURNAROUND in efficiency that International Paper has made is fairly well known by investors, and the price of the stock has been strong, but I would guess, as business continues on a high level, that the company's earnings will hit a new high, and so will its price.

Another company in the paper business that you might want to look at is Fort Howard Paper. It is a much smaller company but has had a record of growing bigger every year for a long time.

It is a good illustration of a company that belies your uncle's belief that the paper industry is not a good place to invest.

THE STOCK recently was selling about five times what its high was 10 years ago. It may not do that well in the next 10 years, but it is a very well managed company.

Motoring in Motown more expensive than '82

Go south, young driver. But not too far.

That's the advice in Hertz Corp.'s study of 1983 new car ownership and operating costs in 20 key U.S. cities.

It's cheaper to run an auto in Atlanta (or Washington, Dallas, Cincinnati and Cleveland, for that matter) than in Detroit. Motown motoring expenses rose last year, while outlays dropped in most other places.

On the other hand, avoid the Northeast, West and Far South. Outlays for compact cars are higher. Los Angeles was tops at 56.86 cents a mile, San Francisco next at 54.61 cents, New York third at 54.5 cents, Miami fourth at 50.03 cents.

Detroit costs averaged 43.44 cents last year, but Atlanta ranked 20th at 41.59 cents. Both Dallas and Washington, D.C., were just a fraction higher.

EXPENSES IN 17 of the 20 major cities surveyed by Hertz dropped an average of two-thirds of a cent a mile last year under 1982, the first decrease since 1971 price controls.

If you want the lowest costs in the country, you'll have to drive around. Buy your new car in Detroit, of course. A typical compact averaged just $8,225 there, putting its depreciation at 13.49 cents a mile.

Insurance, licenses and fees were least in Houston, 8.98 cents. Washington, D.C., had lowest interest charges, 6.95 cents. Atlanta had the cheapest maintenance and repairs, at 3.02 cents, and the least-expensive fuel and other service station charges, at 8.07 cents.

Total: 40.51 cents, for a compact driven 10,000 miles a year for five years.

"LOWER INTEREST rates have made buying a new car, as well as running it, less expensive in almost all parts of the country — a fact we believe is contributing to the upturn in new car sales manufacturers recently have enjoyed," said Frank A. Olson, Hertz chairman and chief executive officer.

But the largest savings come in not buying a new car at all, the company's data shows. Driving your old one 10 years saves about one-third over annual trading. And used cars — which two out of three motorists order — are 10 percent to 50 percent cheaper, depending on their age and mileage when purchased.

In the prior decade, passenger car purchase prices rose 185 percent, ownership and operating charges climbed 170 percent, while overall living costs advanced 122 percent.

Averages in the 20 cities for models other than compacts were: sub-compacts, 37.23 cents a mile; mid-size, 48.87 cents; intermediates, 52.28 cents; and standard-size models, 59.58 cents.

WE SUPPORT BETTER HOUSING.

We know how tough it is to jump on the home improvement bandwagon with traditional loans. Especially if you don't like applying over and over, then waiting for approval.

That's why we think you'll like The Home Improvement Loan Account from your First of America bank. Because you apply just once, then use it as often as you like up to your credit limit, just like a charge.

What's more, you don't have to stop with fixed improvements like remodeling and room additions. You can also enjoy on-the-spot financing for items like appliances and furnishings.

Better yet, you'll pay interest only on the balance you owe with no prepayment penalty, at an interest rate lower than both VISA and MasterCard. So you can save even more in finance charges when you pay above your monthly minimum.

So drop into your First of America bank or call us toll-free, 1-800-222-1983. We'll give you an application and list of participating stores.

The Home Improvement Loan Account. When we work together, we think it's a better way to pay for a better home.

Players triumph with English farce

Performances of the Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford production of "Loot" by Joe Orton continue at 8 p.m. Friday-Saturday, May 4-5, and Thursday-Saturday, May 10-12, at the Theatre Guild Playhouse, 15138 Beech Daly Road, south of Five Mile Road in Redford. For ticket information call 522-8057.

It's English farce time again at the Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford. The players do a splendid job with a dramatic form that is not as easy to perform as it appears — especially when the centerpiece of the evening's fun is a corpse.

It takes a special talent to exploit macabre humor, and director Jim Posante has the deft touch to make "Loot" very entertaining.

The title suggests someone fighting over the estate of the deceased Mrs. McLeavy. As the show opens, she is laid out in her coffin... with the comforting music of a funeral parlor organ gently heard in the background.

But it turns out that the story is not that simple. It's more like a Marx Brothers movie. Her money is only a minor plot point.

IN FACT, the plot has more twists and turns than a river delta. And the somber mood is broken as family and assorted characters enter the room and proceed to treat poor Mrs. McLeavy like a rag doll.

Along the way she is tossed from coffin to closet (on her head), into bed, undressed, wrapped like a mummy, passed off as a tailor's dummy and separated from her glass eye.

Why this zany mayhem? Blame it on her son, Hal, and his accomplice, Dennis. They've robbed a bank and are looking for a place to hide the money. And what better place than a coffin, sans the body.

Don Swindell plays Hal with an engaging, elfish style and whimsical smile, which is most effective as a thief who has a compulsion to always tell the truth and visit brothels.

Steven Lavender is very believable as the more sinister, Dennis. And why not. He is an undertaker's assistant and knows all about caskets and moving bodies about.

CATHIE SHARON is Nurse Fay, a beautiful woman with a past. Seven husbands in 10 years died or disappeared under strange circumstances. She is excellent in the pivotal role of a schemer, who wants to make Mr. McLeavy husband 11.

Bob Closson is outstanding as the beleaguered Mr. McLeavy, who seems to represent society. Not only has he lost his wife, but the whole world is turning upside down before his very eyes, as the author, Joe Orton, takes pot shots at the church, police, money and family.

Bob Welbel

The audience showed its appreciation of Closson's talent with applause on several exit lines.

Jim Finucan looks and plays Inspector Truscott of Scotland Yard to the hilt. A careful ear can detect garbled lines occasionally, but it hardly detracts from his character. His partner, Meadows, is played by Tom Loomis.

They could pass for bookends in their bowler hats and trenchcoats.

Generally, the English accents are well done, as are most technical aspects of the show. The set even has 13 walls, which just might be a record, even for a farce. For those who enjoy unusual offbeat comedy, there are laughs unlimited.

Spunky Imogene Coca heads fine cast

Imogene Coca plays an Agatha Christie-style detective in the mystery musical "Something's Afoot" at the Birmingham Theatre.

Performances of the musical "Something's Afoot" continue through Sunday, May 27, at the Birmingham Theatre, 211 S. Woodward. For ticket information call 644-3533.

By Barbara Michals
special writer

"Something's Afoot," the musical murder mystery spoof at the Birmingham Theatre, is occasionally clever and often outrageously silly. The talented cast makes the most of this light and fluffy bit of theatrical whimsy.

Agatha Christie fans will immediately recognize the classic setting: an old assortment of guests and servants assembled for a weekend at an English country estate in the 1930s. They are cut off from civilization by a raging storm, their host fails to appear, and one by one they are polished off by a fiendishly clever murderer.

Headlining the show is veteran comedienne Imogene Coca as Miss Tweed, the elderly and eccentric amateur detective so beloved in British murder mysteries. Coca's indefatigable spunk is best exemplified in the number "Carry On" as she encourages the other frightened females to show their mettle. Grabbing a spear from the heavily armed walls of Rancour's Retreat, she becomes a majorette.

Coca also bubbles through the title song and leads "Suspicious," in which everyone points an accusing finger at everyone else, and "I Owe It All," which unabashedly acknowledges the plot's indebtedness to Christie and some of her famous cohorts.

KIM CROSBY as Hope, the ingenue, and Brian Quinn as Geoffrey, the juvenile lead, make an engaging pair. Their song-and-dance duet "I Don't Know Why I Trust You (But I Do)" is an amusing parody of the Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers routines. Both move gracefully, and Crosby's vocal skills are impressive.

As the "grande dame" Lady Grace Manley-Prowe, Lucille Patton brings laughs as she pretentiously slaughters French or vamps her way through "The Man With the Ginger Moustache."

Mark Basile is appropriately oily as Nigel Rancour, Lord Rancour's dissolute nephew and hopeful heir.

Ginger Prince is perfect as the saucy maid Lettie, replete with little squeals and Cockney touches as well as rampant sex appeal. Along with the steely caretaker Flint (Joe Barrett), she belts out "Problematical Solution" as the two plot their escape from the deadly Rancour's Retreat.

David Sablin's Col. Gillweather seems the epitome of the sensible old Army man, and David Goulet is adequate as Dr. Grayburn, the family doctor. Martin Walsh is nicely haughty as Clive the butler, proving the old adage about the bigger they are, the harder they fall when he takes a spectacular tumble.

WHILE THE audience is asked not to reveal the requisite surprise ending, it is safe to say that the butler did not do it, as he has an early demise.

Director and choreographer Charles Abbott keeps everything running smoothly. Gary Decker's set design is handsome, and the various props used as murder devices go off without a hitch.

Actor narrates musical psalm

Performances of the First Theatre Guild of Birmingham production of the comedy "Belles on Their Toes" continue at 8 p.m. Friday-Saturday, May 4-5, and a senior-citizens matinee (free to seniors) at 2 p.m. Saturday, May 5, at Knox Auditorium of the First Presbyterian Church, 1669 W. Maple, Birmingham. For ticket information, call 689-4117.

Buddy Rich to play

Drummer Buddy Rich, veteran of 58 years of show business, will combine with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra in performances at 8:30 p.m. Friday and 3:30 p.m. Sunday at Ford Auditorium in Detroit.

These are the final concerts in the 1983-84 Merrill Lynch Weekender Pops Series. Appearing with Rich will be his band, featuring tenor sax player Steve Marcus and alto sax player Andy Fusco. Pops-concert conductor Richard Hayman will lead the orchestra.

Tickets at $18, $15 and $12 are on sale at the Ford Auditorium Box Office and CTC outlets, including Hudson's. Charge-card customers may order by telephone at 567-1400.

Buddy Rich made his first stage appearance at age 14 in his parents' vaudeville act. From Broadway plays and the vaudeville circuit, he moved to a jazz career, starting out in 1938 at the Hickory House in New York City.

French thriller due

"The Judge and the Assassin," a 1976 French film with English subtitles, will be featured by the Detroit Film Theatre at 7 and 9:30 p.m. Friday in the Detroit Institute of Arts theater.

The theater is entered through the John R Street marquee doors, on the east side of the museum complex, which is at 5200 Woodward.

Tickets at $2.25, $1.75 for seniors, may be purchased at the art institute ticket office during regular business hours, or at the door. For more information, phone 832-2730.

Directed by Bertrand Tavernier, "The Judge and the Assassin" examines the relationship between a disturbed, vicious killer and an intelligent, self-righteous provincial judge. The film features the director's favorite actor, Philippe Noiret, with Isabelle Huppert.

Actors Alliance performances have power

Bethany Carpenter (left) is Mrs. Venable. Emily Schreiber is her companion, Miss Foxhill, in "Suddenly Last Summer" at the Actors Alliance Theatre.

Performances of the Farmington Players production of the musical "The Pajama Game" continue Thursday-Sunday, May 3-6, 10-13 and Thursday-Saturday, May 17-19, at the Farmington Players Barn Theatre, 32332 W. 12 Mile Road, Farmington Hills. For ticket information call 535-8822.

By Barbara Michele
special writer

Despite its tongue-in-cheek assertions of carrying weighty messages about capitalism and labor relations, "The Pajama Game" is a good, old-fashioned, fun musical. The current production by the Farmington Players is a spirited rendering of this longtime favorite.

In a small Midwestern town in the 1950s, the new superintendent at the Sleep Tite Pajama Factory falls in love with a member of the union grievance committee. When the workers eventually go on strike over a 7 1/2-cent hourly pay hike, the lovers are divided by their loyalties.

Jim Austin is likeable as Sid, the superintendent whose strong sense of fair play leads him to investigate the company's profits. He ends the strike by exposing the factory president's financial double dealings.

Though Austin falters on his first song, "A New Town Is a Blue Town," he warms on numbers like the rousing "There Once Was a Man" and the haunting ballad "Hey There."

JULIE AUSTIN is well-cast as Babe, the spunky union member who won't back down on her principles, even for the man she loves. Her pleasant singing voice works well in the lively numbers, "I'm Not at All in Love" and "Seven and One-Half Cents," plus the duet

"There Once Was a Man" and the reprise of "Hey There."

Lou Emmert is masterfully funny as Hines, the company's efficiency expert. A former professional knife-thrower, Hines is a force to be reckoned with whenever his flirtatious girlfriend arouses his jealousy. Emmert's expressive face seems in perpetual motion, and his eyes convey so much they almost deserve separate billing.

Emmert's tremendous talent turns "I'll Never Be Jealous Again" into a comic gem, as Hines tries to wrestle with his rampant emotions. In "Think of the Time I Save," he merrily pokes fun at his own penchant for efficiency and such time-savers as sleeping with his clothes on and shaving in bed.

As Mabel, the object of Hines' affections, Lori Tupper is delightfully saucy, belting out "Steam Heat" or enticing Sid to "Bernando's Hideaway." Her comedic timing nicely complements Emmert's.

Jack Grulke is appealing as the ir-repressible womanizer Prez, the union president who generally forgets that he is a married man.

"Looking for Mr. Goodbar" (1977), 11:30 p.m. Saturday on Ch. 2. Originally 135 minutes. TV time slot: 135 minutes.

Had "In Cold Blood" director Richard Brooks treated "Looking for Mr. Goodbar" with the same casual frenzy and emotional detachment of his earlier work, "Goodbar" might be as chilling and provocative as its predecessor. Instead, it's manipulative and trite. Diane Keaton, Tuesday Weld and Richard Gere co-star; from the novel by Judith Rossner.

Rating: $1.05.

"Chinatown" (1974), 1 p.m. Sunday on Ch. 50. Originally 131 minutes. TV time slot: 180 minutes.

Robert Towne's "Chinatown" leads off a week of fine films with superb screenplays. His words, perhaps more than Roman Polanski's direction, are responsible for capturing the essence of gritty, 1930s realism that sets this detective story far above its genre compeers. Of course credit, too, the splendid performances of co-stars Jack Nicholson, Faye Dunaway, John Huston and Polanski himself. "Chinatown" is an ensemble film, but its success stems from the writing. An Oscar went to Towne and nominations to Polanski, Nicholson, Dunaway and the picture.

Rating: $3.60.

"Anatomy of a Murder" (1959), in two parts at 1 p.m. Monday and Tuesday on Ch. 50. Originally 160 minutes. TV time slot: 240 minutes.

Journeyman screenwriter Wendell Mayes wrote "Anatomy of a Murder," a riveting courtroom drama set in Michigan's Upper Peninsula. The subject matter — daring a generation ago — is no longer intriguing, but a fine cast makes the most of a well-crafted script and always sparks our interest. James Stewart, Lee Remick, Ben Gazzara, George C. Scott and Murray Hamilton co-star; Otto Preminger directs.

Rating: $2.95.

"Lawrence of Arabia" (1963), 12:30 Monday night on Ch. 7. Originally 221 minutes. TV time slot: 255 minutes.

Robert Bolt's screenplay for "Lawrence of Arabia" accommodates the spectacle of director David Lean's production while painting an intimate portrait of a fatally flawed man. It, too, is the springboard for stellar performances by co-stars Peter O'Toole, Omar Sharif, Alec Guinness, Anthony Quinn, Arthur Kennedy, Claude Rains, Jack Hawkins, Anthony Quayle and Jose Ferrer, along with cinematographer Fred Young and composer Maurice Jarre. Oscars went to Bolt, Lean, Young and the picture, and nominations to O'Toole and Sharif.

Rating: $3.70.

"Assault on a Queen" (1966), 1 Tuesday night on Ch. 50. Originally 106 minutes. TV time slot: 124 minutes.

Rod Serling wrote the screenplay for "Assault on a Queen," a surprisingly mesmerizing film despite lackluster performances by Frank Sinatra, Virna Lisi, Tony Franciosa, Richard Conte and Alf Kjellin. But Serling makes you believe that a handful of gangsters could hold up the luxury liner Queen Elizabeth, and that's not bad.

Rating: $2.85.

Films accent 'Age of Chivalry'

To complement its "Age of Chivalry" exhibit, the Detroit Institute of Arts Afternoon Film Theatre is presenting a series entitled "The Age of Chivalry," through Sunday, July 15.

Showtime is at 1 p.m. Tuesdays-Sundays and 7 p.m. Wednesdays in the art institute's recital hall. Daytime tickets are $1 at the door. Evening ticket prices are $2.25, $1.75 for seniors.

The series, which changes weekly and runs six days for each new film, continues with "Senso," May 1-6; "Don Quixote," May 8-13; "Virgin Spring," May 15-20; "Chimes at Midnight," May 22-27; "Andrei Rublev," May 29 to June 3; "Michael Kohlhaas," June 5-10; "The Charge of the Light Brigade," June 12-17; "Lancelot of the Lake," June 26 to July 1; "The Duelists," July 3, 5-8, and "Perceval," July 10-15.

The acoustics and projection systems of the museum's recital hall have been updated to improve presentation quality.

MALE SELF-HELP GROUP

Recovery of Male Potency is an educational self-help group to provide information and support for men who are candidates for, or already have, penile implants. The group is being coordinated by nurse Cindy Meredith of Plymouth, patient education instructor, and meets at 7:30 p.m. the first Wednesday of each month at the Grace Hospital branch at 18700 Meyers, Detroit. The group believes many men are experiencing physical impotency but do not know where to turn for help. The sessions are free and open to all candidates, men with implants and their partners.

TOASTMASTERS INTERNATIONAL

Want to learn to speak more effectively, build self-confidence and become a better listener? The Motor City Speakeasy Toastmaster Club gives you the opportunity to do so. The club meets the second and fourth Monday of each month at 7 p.m. in the Mayflower Hotel, Plymouth. For information, call Jim Rollinger at 422-7355.

MEDITERRANEAN CRUISE

Madonna College is sponsoring a tour of Egypt, Israel, Greece, Rome and Turkey, highlighted by a seven-day Mediterranean cruise aboard the Greek ship "City of Myconos." The tour group

Stalking the wildflower

By Mary Klemic
staff writer

All is not quiet as the little band of hunters makes its way through the woods. The branches gesture mysteriously as the wind sighs overhead. Leaves crackle underfoot.

One of two guides for the group, Orin Gelderloos, stops suddenly. He squats down and points to a small clearing nearby.

"There's one," he says.

There's one, indeed. A trout lily, also known as dogtooth or adder's tooth, like a tiny closed yellow umbrella surrounded by green grass and leaves.

"It's usually open, based on weather conditions," said Gelderloos, director of the University of Michigan-Dearborn's Environmental Study Area. "The high winds today had a drying effect and closed it now. Also, there's no insects flying around to pollinate it."

THE TROUT lily is just one of the various wildflowers on display at the Environmental Study Area, where staffers conducted a wildflower walk last weekend. The study area, located on Fairlane Drive on campus, is open to the public from sunrise to sunset.

Study areas or nature centers around the county have begun, or are planning, walks or tours. The Environmental Study Area will conduct a short bird tour 1-4 p.m. Sunday, and bird tours beginning at 9 a.m. Saturdays, May 12 and 19. It will hold a pond tour at 9 a.m. Saturday, June 2, and an edible plant tour Saturday, June 30. For information, call 593-5555.

Schoolcraft College's biology department is conducting three wildflower walks on the nature trails of Livonia's Bicentennial Park, Seven Mile at Wayne roads. They are scheduled 1-3 p.m. Sunday and Saturday, May 12, and Sunday, May 20. One of the college's faculty will arrange tours for groups of 25 or more. For information, call Roger Sutherland at 591-6400, ext. 508.

Wildflowers may take as long as seven years to flower and only bloom for two weeks, Gelderloos said. He explained that the flowers bloom in the spring, before the trees become too full with leaves that block sunlight from getting to the tiny plants.

MANY PERSONS are raising wildflowers in their own yards these days, according to Gelderloos. The plants and/or seeds can be found at many area nurseries.

"I think we're seeing the beginning of a more naturalistic landscaping system," Gelderloos said.

A recent tour with Gelderloos and Michael Hayes, supervisor of the Environmental Study Area, revealed a variety of stalks on the wild side.

There was a redbud tree, with clusters of red buds along its trunk and branches, common in the Smoky Mountains. There was a spring beauty, a little flower that typically has five petals with lines on them. The lines serve as "nectar guides" for insects and lead them into the flower.

HAYES POINTED out a blood root, a plant that looks as though it is bleeding when its root is torn. The plant has a delicate white flower that glistens in the sun.

The white or red trillium is seen as an emblem for Ontario parks. It also can be seen in the Dearborn study area. Then there's the cut-leaved toothwort, with its leaves that almost look like teeth. The plant, a member of the mustard family, has four petals that form a cross.

"All mustards have four petals," Gelderloos said.

A cluster of jack-in-the-pulpits caught one's eye. The green plants, which resemble pulpits with overhead canopies, draw insects inside with odors.

"It's not like you normally see in a flower," Gelderloos said. "It's a very unusual flower."

THE VIRGINIA cowslip, or mertensia, features a bell-shaped flower. An insect would have to have a long snout, like that of a hummingbird, to be able to reach inside the flower to pollinate it. Hayes and Gelderloos suggested this is a new type of flower, one with the petals attached together instead of laying separate and flat.

The rest is yet to come. For example, the reddish orange columbine blooms from April to July, Hayes said. The petals of the columbine form a little crown. May apples also are expected soon. This plant, which grows about a foot tall, features an apple-like fruit in the crotch of its two leaves. The fruit is used for jellies, according to Hayes.

Not all flowering is colorful, Gelderloos and Hayes said. As an example, they point to the green but flowering box elder tree.

"We tell people to look in their neighborhood for all the flowering going on," Gelderloos said.

Flowers in Michigan often bloom sooner than other areas because of the lakes in the state, according to Gelderloos. He said various degrees of flowering could be seen in upper Oakland and Washtenaw counties. The Environmental Study Area is developing a mailing list that includes times for various wildflower displays.

Persons shouldn't pick the wildflowers they see, Gelderloos and Hayes emphasized.

"It's not appropriate to take from the woods," Gelderloos said.

The beauty of wildflowers will bloom throughout the spring and summer at the University of Michigan's Dearborn campus and other nature centers. These centers hold walks and demonstrations explaining the variety of flowers and other wildlife in the woods.

This is another in a series of lessons on art and drawing by special columnist David Messing.

He has taught for eight years and operates an art store, Art Store and More, 18774 Middlebelt, Livonia. Messing encourages questions and comments from readers. You may write him at his store or c/o Observer Newspapers, 23352 Farmington Road, Farmington MI 48024.

By David Messing
special writer

I am a city boy, but I do love animals. The problem with being a city boy is that I have an unrealistic view of some of the basic laws of nature.

Case in point: people eat animals. How gross! When I eat pork sausage, I don't think of grinding up pink little piggies, I think about a plastic tray full of sausage links with see-thru plastic wrapping. When I eat a hamburger, I don't think about a big eyed cow, I think of a frozen disc about five inches in diameter with waxed paper on each side. And baby beef liver? Well I can't even write about that. And so it is in a mass beef liver production world we rarely see the basic elements of the products we buy.

Paper is one item that people and artists rarely consider. For most people paper is just something to write or type on. But to an artist, paper is the basic foundation of their expression.

And the love between the artist and his specific choice of paper is no doubt superstition. Like the fisherman who must wear his fishing hat and use his favorite lure, we artists insist on using the paper with which we have had the best luck. I, for example do all my watercolors on Strathmore No. 400 watercolor blocks. I wouldn't even think of using any other paper.

HOW SAD it is when an artist or student of art happens to pull off some fantastic sketch or drawing and it is on an inferior grade of paper. But what makes good paper, good, and why is it expensive? What is vellum and parchment, rag and acid free paper?

Parchment originated in Pergamon a city in Asia Minor. As a matter of fact, parchment is derived from the word Pergamena. Vellum originally was made from the skin of an infant calf or as it is called in Latin: vitulus. These skins were soaked in lime liquor solution, dehaired and stretched to a remarkable thickness. The terms vegetable parchment, parchment paper, document parchment, vellum drawing and antique vellum, are among the modern terms for the paper we now use which resembles the physical properties of the authentic animal skins.

Before I mention rag and acid free, I would like to define the terms "permanence" and "durability." Permanence is the degree to which a paper resists impurities in the air and within itself. Durability is the degree to which a paper retains its original qualities under usage. It is the necessity for durability and permanence that forced the early papyrus paper makers to seek alternate materials. Today the necessity for permanence and durability is just as important. But thanks to modern technology we artists can even loosely sketch on high quality, long lasting and durable papers.

MOST DRAWING papers contain rag. Only those papers containing 70 percent or higher can declare themselves as "high rag." Textile fibers (cotton linters, linen, and old rags) are almost permanently resistant to aging. Anything done on "rag paper" will keep for posterity. Now high rag papers are the most durable which means they will hold up to erasing and the vigorous efforts of the artist. Permanence however is not a result of the rag content alone, it is also a result of PH or acid free specification. Acid free refers to any paper which has a PH of 6.5 or higher. Anything with a PH of 5.5 or lower is considered not permanent and will yellow and age within a matter of years. So the rag content builds in strength and durability and PH ensures the permanence and long life of the paper.

I guarantee that you will shock the art store sales help if you walk in and say "Hello, I intend to do some sketching and would like to see what you carry in art papers with a PH of 6.5 or above and at least a high rag if not 100 percent rag."

Most pads say little or nothing and require a long distance phone call to learn of their quality. You usually can tell by the price of the paper. The high rag, acid free paper is always going to cost more than poorer quality papers. Most paper companies claim their basic line of papers have a rag content and are PH balance and are therefore safe for most of your sketching and art work.

Paper companies also have a high quality line which, when you feel your need, is worth considering. Strathmore has a No. 500 line which is, as usual, excellent. Morilla Co. also recently came out with a high rag, neutral PH line called Portfolio.

So just like me at the meat market you don't need to know the whole history of what you are buying just look at the label and buy what you think looks best.

Hours are 10:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday.

The wide angle lens which Monte Nagler used for this photo was purchased used many years ago. It has been performing faithfully ever since.

Each year, millions of new cameras, lenses, and photo accessories are sold. An almost equal number of used items are either exchanged, sold privately, buried in a drawer or discarded.

Much of this old equipment is obsolete or damaged beyond repair. But, some of it can be found hardly used and in excellent condition. Substantial savings can be made by buying used photo equipment as long as you can distinguish between bargains and junk.

The best sources for locating used camera gear are photo stores, classified ads, and local photo flea markets. With simpler items such as tripods, flash units, and darkroom accessories (trays, measuring cups, tongs, etc.), very little can go wrong so buying them is a pretty safe bet.

But with cameras and lenses, you need to be more cautious and check them out closely. Here's how to do it.

First, carefully inspect the exterior of that used camera you're interested in. A lot can be learned from its general condition.

Some wear and tear is normal such as worn corners and marks from neck-strap fittings. Just be sure the wear isn't excessive.

BEWARE of small dents, noticeable scratches, or any distortion of the camera body. These indicate a dropped or abused camera and serious damage could be concealed inside.

Look through the viewfinder to ensure that focusing devices, readouts and so on are all clearly visible.

The grain pattern you see on the viewfinder should be sharp from corner to corner with any blurring indicating a misalignment.

Be sure to check the battery compartment for any damage from old, corroded batteries.

Wind the advance lever and snap the shutter at all speeds. It should operate smoothly down the scale. Open the camera back and check for cleanliness.

Then set the shutter at "B" and watch through the opened camera back as the shutter closes. There should be no sluggishness.

At different ASA settings, check the meter out by using a spare or friend's camera as a reference. Readings should be within one-half stop.

Determine if flash synchronization is OK by mounting a strobe to the camera and setting the shutter at the proper speed.

OPEN the camera back and look at the shutter with the camera aimed at a plain white surface. As you push the release, you should see the whole film gate illuminated by the light of the flash. If you don't, the synchronization is off.

Finally, focus at infinity and look through the viewfinder. Distant objects should be clearly in focus. If not, the lens mount, mirror, or focusing screen may be out of alignment.

Good used lenses can be terrific bargains. You may be able to pick up a top quality used lens at the same price (or lower) as a new, but inferior model. Even at the same price, you're better off with the used lens.

Check the lens for proper functioning of the aperture blades by setting it at each F-stop and pressing the stop down lever.

The blades should work smoothly and always display the same opening size for a given F-stop.

The lens should focus easily and the glass should be free from scratches.

Buying from distant sellers when you can't check out the equipment can be risky indeed. Better to buy locally where you can insure that your new piece of used equipment will serve you well.
