Teachers OK extension to contract

By Marie Chestney staff writer

Teachers in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools overcame their surprise Thursday and voted overwhelmingly to accept a one-year extension of their present contract.

Under the extension, accepted by a 563-6 vote, the district's 735 teachers will get a 5 percent wage boost during the 1985-86 school year. Except for salary, the extension keeps intact all contract provisions until Aug. 31, 1986, including the school calendar and vacation schedule.

Thursday's vote came after a previously scheduled vote had to be postponed because not enough teachers showed up to constitute a quorum. The happening?' This was not a contract Plymouth-Canton Education Associa- year. tion (PCEA) needed 372 teachers in attendance at Tuesday's meeting but only 350 teachers showed up to vote.

Tom Cotner, PCEA chief negotiator, attributed Tuesday's postponement to teachers' "surprise" in voting on a contract in the spring.

"THIS IS something that never happened before in Plymouth," Cotner

"Teachers are not used to voting on labor agreements in the spring. We never start this early. This came as a surprise to the union. Norm Kee (assistant superintendent for employee relations) asked me: 'Do you believe this is

"We tried to set up a vote too quick after the tentative agreement was reached. The teachers didn't really believe they would be voting. We made a small error in not getting the word out

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education is expected to give a formal vote of approval to the extension now that teachers have accepted it.

Superintendent John M. Hoben said the board also is opening negotiations with the district's other five unions.

Cotner said the talks were launched by both Hoben and the board, not the

The quick, quiet negotiations and agreement contrast sharply with talks which took place last October between the board, teachers and districtwide support personnel. Wage negotiations for six school unions broke down Sept. 30, leading to a divisive 13-day strike in Wayne County's fourth largest school

Cotner said the quick agreement on the one-year extension was the school board's attempt to build morale among teachers in the district. "Both sides ached a bit from the strike last fall," Cotner said. "Nobody was interested in seeing that kind of thing happen again. I learned a lot, the board learned a lot during the strike. The board seems to have a much better attitude about the importance of employees in the district, about the importance of building morale."

Cotner said the 5-percent wage increase was "right in line" with increases being given in nearby school dis-

"From our standpoint, we realize we are not living in 1974 anymore," Cotner said. "Inflation isn't 12 percent any-

The strike settlement reached in October gave teachers a 3-percent wage hike in 1983-84 and a 6-percent wage hike in 1984-85. Teachers at the top of the wage scale also received an additional 1-percent increase the second se-mester of the 1984-85 year. BESIDES the desire to build teachers' morale, Cotner speculated that upcoming labor negotiations in the auto industry might have fueled the dis-trict's desire to cement a contract for

"The way it appears, the auto workers will be getting a pretty healthy raise," he said. "Maybe the board is concerned about us wanting to match

"But we realize the district is not in the greatest shape financially. If we seek what auto workers seek, we would have the same old confrontation."

In years past in the eastern section of the country, the large industrial plants formed a soccer league for their teams. Many of the stars from England and Scotland were induced to come over here and the soceer league attracted as much attention then as hockey and basketball do now.

The revival of the game began several years ago when soccer became popular among the youth in recreational leagues and then was added to the school programs.

Plymouth Parks and Recreation now has about 70 teams in the leagues at present with interest still growing.

'Flamboyant' Poole, Stroller meet on TV

By M.B. Dillon Ward staff writer

Overheard in Omnicom cable-TV's studios Tuesday afternoon:

"One of us is crazy," decided 86year-old Observer scribe W.W. Edgar, seated on a TV set waiting — and waiting — for his interviewer, Canton Supervisor James Poole.

"Hey, I put up with it every Monday," said director C.J. Johnston. (Poole is a regular on Canton Update, a bi-weekly show highlighting township happenings.)

"But he's flamboyant. You don't have to worry about running credits at the end — you just leave the mikes on. Usually he's saying, 'Hey, I'm not fin-

"It's good this isn't regular TV," someone commented.

"They wouldn't let him (Poole) near the studio if it was," replied an intern. "He'd be two minutes late and they'd start without him."

Enter Poole, fresh from a Flint tourism convention, bedecked in his everpresent Stetson, shades, navy sport coat and white pants.

Miniature microphones were pinned upon the gentlemen, splashed with bright lights and framed by a bamboo screen and blue backdrop.

"Stand by!" came the alert from the control room.

As the lights dimmed, the camera rolled.

"Hi ladies and gentlemen, boys and girls. Welcome to 'Canton Update.' We have a very, very special guest today, Mr. Eddie Edgar from the Observer, a fellow who's been in the newspaper business since 1920," announced Poole, relishing the role reversal that saw him asking the questions for a change.

"Just this year Eddie attended his 61st consecutive Tiger opener. Is that right Eddie?"

"I came here as a rookie in 1920 and was told to go to the opening day ballgame to get notes. I haven't missed one since," said Edgar, former Detroit Free Press sports editor and an Observer staffer since the early 1960s.

Poole interjected a brief announcement, reminding viewers that Canton's Invitational Soccer Tournament arrives Memorial Day Weekend. That brought back to Edgar's mind the year 1924, when "soccer was so great a sport the papers had to hire special writers with broad English accents. You couldn't get near Northwestern Field or Belle Isle. Our Monday papers were full of soccer," said the man readers recognize as "The Stroller."

"They think they're introducing a new sport — they're reviving an old one," he added.

Poole pumped the veteran sports scribe about athletes he knew and historic moments he witnessed. There was the time "Eddie," as the Free Press sports writers renamed him, rode with Gar Wood when the long-reigning champion boat racer set a world's record on the Detroit River.

Edgar needed a fresh angle, as papers printing earlier would be first to report the event. "I got Gar off in a corner and said, 'Gar, as a favor, would you give me five minutes after your ride, and tell me how it felt?"

Doing him one better, Gar offered to take the then-redhead along.

"THEY PUT a women's powder puff on one ear, and another on the other, had me lift my leg into a coverall and I had a driver's suit on," recalled Edgar. "The funny part is I'm deathly afraid of water and I can't swim.

"Gar looked at me and said, 'Don't be scared. And if we hit a log, don't attempt to catch an engine. They're too heavy."

Edgar's whiplashing ride saw Wood's "Miss America" clock 124.85 mph, a new high, The passenger's written reenactment made the Free Press' front page.

Poole turned the topic to boxing.

Edgar, who hobnobbed with the likes of Joe Louis, Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey, recalled the time heavy-weight champ Joe Louis fought light heavyweight Billy Conn in Yankee Stadium. The Free Press had sent Edgar to cover a University of Detroit football game shortly before the fight. But Edgar had time to watch Conn train a bit, and called Louis.

"I checked Billy out," I told him, "He'll jab you and run away."

"Joe said, 'He can run, but he can't hide.' That became a popular expression all over the country," Edgar said.

Before Edgar could tell the tale of a Belgian woodchopper turned boxer, Poole hyped the Canton Country Festival Parade, on tap for June 10, and mentioned he'd like to see a tourist bureau established in Canton, "The Marine Band will be here, giv-

"The Marine Band will be here, giving concerts at New Towne Plaza," said the supervisor, his leg plopped over the arm of a chair. "Boys and girls, tell your mom and dad and gramma and grampa they should see it."

Like a broadcasting pro, Poole promoted his upcoming "Canton Update," slated to feature another chat with Edgar.

"We're going to talk about Linsdale University, the fictitious university Eddie graduated from. What were your school colors, Eddie?"

"Black and blue," chuckled Edgar.

THIRTY MINUTES later, the camera crew was gone, the mikes removed, the screen and plants hauled away. But the conversation showed no signs of stopping.

"Did you know Gene Tunney? My grandfather used to talk about him," said an Omnicom staffer. "Very well," answered Edgar, who vividly remembered the Shelby, Mont., fight Poole was inquiring about.

"It was a little bit of a town," recalled Poole.

"It's still nothing. They've got coal, sheep and a bank," said Edgar. Both men recalled they had to break the bank to pay Jack Dempsey after the fighter made meat of an opponent there.

Poole and Edgar sauntered out of the studio, with Poole remarking, "You're one of the few guys I can sit and listen to, Mr. Edgar."

A few more stories were exchanged before Edgar could be heard saying, "Joe (Louis) was righthand crazy. There was a lot of that stuff . . ."

And a bit later, "No, I won't sign a contract with you," he was telling the supervisor.

Poole: "We'll have to see how much they'll offer us."

Adults graduate

School Thursday night to receive their high school diploma.

Like each of the 54, Tracy had earned enough high school credits through the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools' adult education program to get his cherished certifi-

"I always regretted I had to leave school," Tracy said. "It was always in the back of my mind I wanted to be a high school graduate. In my field, I was supposed to have a high school diploma. I was able to pass my electrician and construction trades' tests by studying nights. But I always said I would go back one day to get that diploma."

THE NUMBER of adults getting certificates in the program this year was nearly double those awarded last year.

David Dursum, assistant director of community education, said his department made a special effort this year to find and keep residents who were just a few credits shy of their Eighteen of the graduates were men; 36 were women. Canton Township resident Wilma Castro, 50, started toward her diploma eight years ago.

While Tracy only had to take five classes to earn his diploma, Castro had to go through the entire four years.

"I totally enjoyed every minute and would love to continue," Castro said. "I had to leave school early because my dad left home. My mom had to go to work, and I had to help with the younger children. I enjoy studying and learning and might do some more studying in the geriatric field."

Another woman to graduate was Plymouth Township resident Mary Hamblin. Hamblin's son graduated from the program last year. All eight of her children have graduated from the Plymouth-Canton schools, including a daughter who will graduate from Plymouth Canton High in June.

Said Hamblin: "I thought it was time for me to go back and get mine"

Harry Robinson, Plymouth's colorful auctioneer

From the turn of the century until than fast sports cars. the late 1940s, one of the best-known He was only 20 wh men in southeastern Michigan was Plymouth resident Harry C. Robinson.

Known locally as a businessman and president of the village, Robinson had a statewide reputation as a colorful figure who presided at hundreds of auctions throughout the Lower Peninsula.

Robinson died here in 1948 at the age of 85. I never met him, but have been told by those who did that he was a jovial, out-going man, always in good spirits. "He loved Plymouth," one of them said, "and he was good for Plymouth."

HARRY ROBINSON was born in 1863 in Lansing where his father was superintendent of the Michigan Reform School.

Soon after Harry was born the family moved to Plymouth. Young Robinson started in business here in 1883 in an era when Kellogg Park was ringed with horse-troughs and pedestrians had to watch out for fast phaetons rather

He was only 20 when he bought, from Ashley Perrin, the livery stable on Penniman Avenue, opposite today's post office. Renting horses was only part of his new business.

At that time one of the most exciting places in the village, especially at train time, was the railroad depot. Robinson provided the community with its only means of public transportation to and from the depot. Harry Robinson's horse-drawn "bus" became as well known in the area as the names of some of the crack Pere Marquette trains that served Plymouth before the auto and the airplane achieved domi-

Robinson married in 1886, three years after he bought the livery. His wife, Lusina, was well-known in the community, appearing with Kate Penniman Allen and other young women in skits and musicals to benefit local charities. Several pictures of Harry also are in the book. Among others are photos taken in 1890 and 1909, also on page 21. They show him as a drummer with the Plymouth Band.

AS MIGHT BE expected of the owner of a livery, Robinson loved hors-

He was among a number of local businessmen who entered their horses in races held here annually from 1886 to 1902 at the Plymouth Fairgrounds. Among the horses competing in the first race on Aug. 22, 1891, were Harry Robinson's "Tornado." Other entries included John McLaren's "Blizzard" and Roswell C. Root's "Sunshine." record does not show which of these meteorologically named Equines came

Robinson's interest in racing led to other employment. For more than 25 years, he started all of the trotting races at the Northville-Wayne County Fair. He also judged the races before the days of the photo-finish. He did the job so well that other fair associations hired him to conduct their racing

But it was as auctioneer that Robinson was best known and most in demand. His facile tongue, quick wit and ings of homes, including those of the

Among the establishments where Robinson auctioned horses was Jacob's, a well-known place in Detorit much frequented by farmers when in need of livestock. One day, Robinson was having trouble getting bids on a horse when Charles Dunning, a friend of Robinson's, whose farm was in Redford

Township, walked in. . "Charley," called out Robinson, "wouldn't you say this fine animal is worth $200?"

Dunning looked the horse over and said, "Yes, I think I would."

Robinson rapped his gavel and shouted, "Sold - to Charley Dunning."

Dunning was taken back, but made out his check. His daughter, Margaret Dunning, who told me of the incident, said her father knew that Robinson would not cheat him. She said he never

> AS AN AUCTIONEER, Robinson would never permit the sale of a Bible or an American flag regardless of what they were said to be worth. He claimed they were priceless. Rather than sell them, he would present them as gifts to a person who bid on some other article.

> At one estate when Robinson was auctioning off some furniture he discovered a fine oak desk that had been owned by Hazen Pingree, the wealthy" Detroit shoe manufacturer who was Governor of Michigan from 1897 to

No one would bid on the desk, so Robinson acquired it and gave it to the city of Plymouth. It is now on display in the City Hall Room of the Plymouth Historical Museum.

(Next week: Robinson's two terms as village president).

Television has killed Small Town Baseball

There is no denying the fact that television has done an almost unbelievable job in bringing baseball and all other sports events into your livingroom — in living color.

You can sit in your easy chair and see every move. Oftimes you get a better view of the action than the folks in the stadium. You can see the actual catch of a fly ball against the outfield walls. And in the replays you get a much better view than if you paid $9 for a box seat at Tiger Stadium.

What's more, you will sit in comfort looking at the action. No one will bother you in passing and no one will spill mustard from their hot dog on your lap just at a moment of close action on the field.

But in enjoying all of these things the present generation doesn't realize that television ruined baseball in smalltown America. There no longer is any rivalry among the towns, and the holiday double-headers that furnished the action are now only memories.

JUST IMAGINE, if you will, the interest there would be if Plymouth, Canton, Livonia, Northville, Farmington and Redford had teams in a district league. The interest would reach untold heights and baseball would be the favorite dish on all holidays.

And along with developing players, sometimes for the major leagues, these rivalries also unearthed some fascinating characters.

This was true down in the Pennsylvania Dutch country where The Stroller took his first steps along the river of printers ink as sports editor of the daily morning newspaper.

In these days the little settlements of the Dutch had their baseball teams and each Sunday evening the managers would come in with the box scores of their games and give you enough information for a piece in the paper.

It was on one of those Sunday evenings that he met "Punch" Christman, manager of the Macungie team. "Punch" was a character and one of the real wreckers of the English lan-

On this Sunday evening as he entered the sports room he explained, "We beat them in everything but runs. We had more errors, more men left on base. more strikes, more passed balls than they did. But they won."

THIS WAS one of the most memorable descriptions of a baseball game The Stroller ever heard and it has lived with him all these years.

As time wore on The Stroller became manager of our home team and was the victim of his own plan for a doubleheader victory on Memorial Day with Northhampton, the town next to us.

In an attempt to insure victory The Stroller raised enough money from the merchants to hire a battery-pitcher and catcher from Lafayette College. He kept him hidden til it was time to take the field.

You can imagine his surprise and chagrin when he entered the ballfield and saw another college battery warming up on the other side of the field. And they were friends of The Stroller.

To make the day even more uncomfortable, this rival battery beat us and

The Stroller was "razzed" for weeks because his pet scheme backfired.

Television doesn't bring you anything like that because the pictures of the major leagues in living color you can see in your livingroom have killed baseball action in Small Town Ameri-

MERSH

Show off a little cookout creativity with a company menu that's deliciously unexpected. Your guests will be delighted with barbecued turkey and all the trimmings in summertime recipes that won't tie you to the kitchen.

Barbecue your turkey in a covered charcoal grill and eliminate the need for a rotisserie. A covered grill also reduces outdoor cooking time because heat is reflected off the lid and onto the food. Select a deep basted turkey so you won't need to hand baste during cooking. A broad breasted turkey between 4 and 14 pounds fits easily under the grill lid

Toward the end of cooking, brush Teriyaki Glaze over the turkey for a rich color. Maple flavored table syrup adds a special flavor twist for a slightly sweet and savory taste of the Orient. There will be enough Teriyaki Glaze left over to serve alongside the moist turkey slices.

While the turkey cooks, relax and enjoy a Crunchy Cheese Ball with your guests. The make-ahead appetizer blends cream and Cheddar cheeses with chives and pimiento. But, instead of nuts, you roll it in a crunchy topping of toasted oats, sesame and wheat germ.

Accompanying the turkey is a tasty potato dish. Garden vegetables and olives add zip and color to creamy Zesty

Potato Salad. Or, serve hot, tasty Potato Casserole and impress your guests with your grill skills. It cooks alongside the turkey! To show off a shortcut, make either dish from a pre sliced potatoes and sauce mix which eliminates the time-consuming tasks of peeling and slicing potatoes.

Top your menu with Summer Fruit Compote, a cool, colorful showcase dessert. Maple flavored table syrup mixed with white wine or ginger ale makes a light, refreshing marinade to complement the fresh fruit flavors.

Show a little imagination with your summertime patio party. Barbecuing isn't just for hamburgers anymore.

TURKEY IN A COVERED KETTLE-TYPE GRILL

To Prepare Covered Kettle-Type Grill: Open all dampers and leave open during cooking. Place a foil drip pan on the bottom grill. Place 25 to 30 briquettes on two sides of drip pan, lengthwise only. Light briquettes and burn approximately 30 minutes or until white in color. Do not cover grill when coals are ready, place top grill inside kettle with handles over coals.

To Prepare Turkey: Thaw Butterball Turkey according to directions in folder. Free legs and tail from tucked position. Remove neck, giblets, and gravy packet, if included. Rinse turkey and drain. Draw skin over neck and hold in place by twisting wing tips behind the back. Do not stuff. (Stuffing can be baked in a disposable foil pan on the grill beside the turkey during the last hour of cooking.) Retuck legs and tail. Brush with oil. Insert roast meat thermometer into the center of the thickest part of the thigh, not touching the bone.

To Barbecue Turkey: Place turkey on top grill directly above drip pan. Cover kettle. To maintain heat, add 6 to 8 briquettes to each side every hour of cooking. Add charcoal through openings by grill handles. Check for doneness after 1-1/4 hours for a 10-pound turkey: the internal temperature of the thigh should be 180° to 185°.

TERIYAKI GLAZE FOR TURKEY

- 2/3 cup maple flavored table syrup tablespoons soy sauce
- tablespoons sherry (optional) 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard

1/4 teaspoon garlic 1/4 teaspoon ginger

In small saucepan, combine all ingredients. Simmer about 10 minutes or. until slightly thickened. About 15 minutes before turkey is finished cooking, begin basting with glaze. Makes about 3/4 cup.

CRUNCHY CHEESE BALL

Cheese Ball:

Two 8-oz. pkg. cream cheese,

- softened 2 cups (8 oz.) shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
- I tablespoon finely chopped
- pimiento I tablespoon finely chopped
- chives 1 tablespoon Worcestershire

Crunchy Coating:

- 1/2 cup quick or old fashioned
- oats, uncooked 2 tublespoons butter or
- margarine, melted
- tablespoon sesame seed
- 1 tablespoon unprocessed bran or wheat germ .
- 1/8 teaspoon garlic salt

For cheese ball: In medium bowl, combine cheeses, mixing until well blended. Add remaining ingredients; mix well. Chill about 2 hours; shape into ball.

For crunchy coating: Heat oven or toaster oven to 350°F. In small bowl, combine all ingredients; mix well. Spread nfixture into shallow baking pan or toaster oven tray. Bake 12 to 15 minutes or until golden brown. Cool. About 1 hour before serving, roll cheese ball in oats mixture, coating well. Chill until ready to serve. Serve with assorted raw vegetables or crackers, if desired. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

ZESTY POTATO SALAD

- 1 package (5.25 ounces)

- cup water
- 1/3 cup mayonnaise or salad
- 1 cup thinly sliced celery 1/2 cup sliced pimiento-stuffed
- 1/2 cup sliced radishes
- 1/4 cup chopped onton 2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped

Heat potatoes and 3 cups water to boiling in 21/2-quart saucepan; reduce heat. Cover and simmer until tender, 10 to 15 minutes; drain. Rinse under running cold water; drain. Mix 1 cup water and the Sauce Mix in saucepan. Heat to boiling over medium heat, stirring constantly: stir in mayonnaise. Mix mayonnaise mixture, potatoes and remaining ingredients. Cover and refrigerate until chilled, at least 3 hours. Serve on salad greens if desired. 8 or 9 servings.

POTATO CASSEROLE ON THE GRILL

- 1 package (4.75 ounces) Julienne potatoes
- 3 cups water
- l cup dairy sour cream I cup milk
- 1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese 1/4 cup finely chopped onion
- 1/4 cup finely chopped green pepper 1/2 cup shredded Cheddar cheese

Heat potatoes and water to boiling in 2 1/2-quart saucepan; reduce heat. Cover and simmer until tender, 10 to 15 minutes; drain.

Grease a 1 1/2-quart oven-proof glass baking dish. Mix sour cream and Sauce Mix in medium bowl until smooth. Gradually stir in milk until blended. Stir in 1 cup cheese, the onion, green pepper and potatoes. Spread in casserole, (At this point, casserole can be covered and refrigerated up to 24 hours.) Cook on Weber grill (next to turkey and directly over hot charcoal) 30 minutes. Stir; sprinkle with 1/2 cup cheese. Cook until hot and bubbly, 20 to 30 minutes longer (do not cover casserole). 6 servings.

Baked Potato Casserole: Bake in 350° oven 50 to 60 minutes.

SUMMER FRUIT COMPOTE

- cups honeydew melon balls (about I large melon)
- 4 cups pineapple chunks (about 1 large pineapple)
 2 pt. strawberries, cut into halves 2/3 cup maple flavored table syrup 2/3 cup white table wine or ginger ale

Fresh Michigan foods perfect for the gourmet

Week. It is a good time for those who enjoy cooking to reflect on all the good things grown in our state. They are good enough to export but even better served here since they carry the adjective "fresh

That quality of freshness is especially important if you are a gourmet. A gourmet can be defined as "one who cares about fine food." And the selection of fine foods from Michigan's agricultural bounty makes being an athome gourmet easy and interesting.

Many would-be gourmet cooks are deterred by so-called "gourmet recipes." But gourmet recipes can use regular ingredients and few seasonings. All gourmet meals are prepared, microwave oven until the cheese is bubbly.

Continue with broiled Michigan Whitefish or Plum Glazed Chicken. The gourmet in your house knows that whitefish is cooked just until the flesh is opaque and flakes easily with a fork. A Plum Glaze enhances the chicken's flavor and aroma and gives a marvelous glistening appearance. Plum Glaze is also a wonderful addition to roast traveled to London, Ontario. The girls spent the day with their hosts, members of the 44th Girl Guide Company of London.

They had an early start Saturday morning, meeting at 7:30 a.m. They traveled in cars, over the Ambassador Bridge to the VIA Rail Canada station in Windsor. Their train departed at 9:30 and each Scout was given an activity folder with games and projects for the joyed the 'hands on' policy of the distwo-hour train ride. They also received name tags and their WAGGS (World Association Girl Scouts) patches.

Rob Reiner makes funhy things happen in "Spinal Tap," rocumentary about a heavy-metal rock group.

the movies

Dan Greenberg

Rock stars spoofed in engaging satire

Written in part and directed by a very funny man (Rob Reiner), starring a very funny man (Rob Reiner), "This Is Spinal Tap" is a very funny movie.

Reiner's satiric scalpel lays bare all the pretensions of the heavy-metal, rock music scene without getting nasty. A warm regard for the subject's foibles eliminates the unpleasant bitterness so often characteristic of satire.

Reiner portrays filmmaker Marty Di Bergi, who is directing a documentary on the rock group Spinal Tap.

The film does have some objectionable language and, of course, the lyrics are sexually explicit. As with most rock music, however, hearing the lyrics is not top priority. In the case of one tune, "The Softer the Cushion, the Better the Pushin," a clearer rendition would have helped caricature the style and content of popular rock

Reiner opens "Spinal Tap" with remarks setting the documentary style and the satiric tone. Reiner makes clear his humor and good intentions with deft facial contortions and a quizzical grimace that ensure us we need not take the rock music world's pompous sense of importance too seriously. It is all just good fun.

SPINAL TAP IS a mythical rock group on the downside of its career. Certainly the subject of this rocumentary is nowhere near as important as the film pretends and as the band believes. Spinal Tap's part in the vast American cultural changes of the '60s was limited, as is Spinal Tap's current career.

The group's latest album ("Smell the Glove") is in trouble with the recording company, which feels that the jacket design is obscene and sexist. It is funny that neither the group nor its manager, Ian Faith (Tony Hendra) recognizes this.

Reiser's comments are intercut throughout the film as he traces the development of the group, its rise to the heights and its current difficulties. He utilizes cinema-verite documentary techniques so widely overused in rock-music documentaries: Rapid cutting, panning and focusing on camera, interviews, live concert and behind-the-scenes footage, old videotapes and films of early TV appearances, and even snapshots of the group's lead performers, David St. Hubbins (Christopher Guest) and Nigel (Michael McKean) taken when those two met as 9-year-olds in 1955. The material presented is so close to many seriously intended rock documentaries that the satire works well.

THE ARRAY OF contemporary documentary techniques includes flashing subtitles to introduce characters and the pretense that the group, though in danger of dissolving, is presently on tour.

That tour is complicated by the arrival of lead-singer David's girl, Janine (June Chadwick), whose lovely, self-possessed assertiveness first drives off manager Ian and ultimately Nigel, the No.

Performances are all first-rate, combining British-rock-group arrogance with stupidity and a characteristic insouciant air that emphasizes their exaggerated adolescence.

The movie is very funny even if you don't recognize Nigel's tongue-flicking as a Gene Simmons (Kiss) characteristic or that David St. Hubbins in name and manner is a play on David Lee Roth of Van Halen. We've all seen enough of the rock music scene to recognize unwarranted pretensions.

Of course, to youth these days, rock musicians convey an appropriate sense of importance, because they are very important. Whether youthful exuberance or the music itself is the main factor, I am not quite sure. As a middle-aged parent, I do find it difficult to fathom why young people take their music so seriously and so intensely.

Certainly, if they didn't, there would be no point to this very clever, humorous and entertaining satire of the rock music scene and the pretentious documentaries that salute rock musicians.

Good-bad news: lots of road repairs in '84

For years, drivers have grumbled about area roads.

Well, a lot of the potholes are getting fixed. And folks are still griping.

"We've already started getting complaints," said State Transportation Director James P. Pitz, announcing the state's biggest highway-improvement program in 10 years. About $370 million will be spent this year to improve Michigan roads.

• More than $30 million in projects on I-94 in Wayne County, including resurfacing of the Edsel Ford Freeway through Detroit.

• $8.3 million in improvements on "It's good news to hear about our Gratiot Avenue in Wayne and Macomb

Most projects are expected to be done by the end of 1984, except for the Rochester bridge, which will take two years. Traffic will be maintained throughout the bridge reconstruction.

ABOUT $240 MILLION more road work will be contracted outstate. Most will go to resurface and recycle I-94, I-96 and other main routes.

Pitz said gasoline taxes passed by Congress and the state in 1982 "refinanced our program.

Of the $130 million to be spent on tricounty roads, $115 million will be paid for by federal funds.

SANCTIONS threatened by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency

(EPA) concern transportation officials. EPA plans to impose sanctions unless the state moves ahead on a program to enforce motor vehicle emissions controls in the tri-county area.

Possible sanctions include curtailing factory expansion and stopping highway contruction.

No projects already contracted for would be affected. Pitz said 75 percent

"But we would argue that I-696 would relieve congestion and improve air quality," he said.

NO MAJOR new construction is planned by the state except for outstate routes which have "illogical termini" and need to be continued.

On U.S. 31 near Berrien Springs and U.S. 131 at Reed City, construction 'just stopped," said Pitz.

Most of the attention will go to existing roads which need to be fixed up. Having spent 10 years falling behind in transportation programs, I think it will take us at least 10 years to catch up," said Pitz.

M-DOT intends to work on one major freeway each year, with the John C.

Lodge to be tackled probably in 1984.

"It's a major priority of ours and something we think must get started next year," said Pits, who already has a committee working on plans for redoing the heavily traveled road.

"It's a major rehabilitation project and probably the biggest challenge for this department."

PITZ SAID he intends to put together a 10-year plan for the M-DOT's future. It would determine which road projects are needed and how to finance them.

Among those under consideration would be M-275 in western Oakland County and the extension of M-59 through Utica.

Anxiety: a modern tiger

By Dennis Sugrue special writer

Have you ever been attacked by a tiger? Even if you say no, your body might disa-

All of us have experienced episodes of nervousness or anxiety. Sometimes this anxiety is clearly related to the circumstances in which we find ourselves such as speaking before a large audience. Other times, the anxious feeling seems to come from out of nowhere.

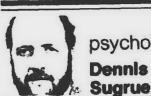

Anxiety may come and go quickly, as if it were an attack; or anxiety may linger for days, weeks or months, as if it were an unwanted house guest who has no intention

For some people, anxiety or nervousness is so intense and occurs so frequently that it becomes a major impairment to daily living.

ALTHOUGH SYMPTOMS of anxiety are often frightening and disruptive, they are the result of a normal physical process. They have helped to insure the survivial of man since the beginning of time.

When animals or human beings encounter a threat, there is an instinct either to run away or to fight viciously. An automatic "emergency system" takes over and coordinates the functioning of the body to maximize vigilance, strength and endur-

Imagine one of our early ancestors suddenly being cornered by a tiger. To survive, our ancestor will have to do a quick disappearing act or fight for his life.

psychology Dennis

A chain of body reactions automatically occurs. Muscles tense, preparing for a possible struggle. Blood vessels near the surface of the skin constrict, preventing profuse bleeding in the event of superficial injury.

Because oxygen is an important ingredient for fueling the body, breathing speeds up to help meet the suddenly increased demand. Likewise, the heart beats faster to quickly move the oxygen-rich blood to vital organs throughout the body.

DURING THIS state of crisis, non-essential body processes such as digestion are temporarily placed on the back burner. Digesting this morning's breakfast suddenly becomes irrelevant if one does not live to see tonight's dinner.

Blood is therefore partially diverted away from the abdominal region to more crucial areas of the body such as the heart, lungs and muscles in the arms and legs.

We rarely run across tigers in our modern world, but our bodies do not make the distinction between a tiger and any other threatening situation. If our minds identify something as being a threat, the emergency system is activated.

LET'S IMAGINE a 20th century man who, rather than being cornered by a tiger, is cornered by his boss after being late for

Our hero's muscles tense up even though physical fight or flight is unlikely. Rather, trembling or a tension headache may be the more likely result.

Constricting blood vessels cause the sensation of shivering. Rapid breathing may lead to light-headedness, chest pain and feelings of numbness in different parts of the body. The racing heart beat may suddenly raise conscious fears about the "Big One" being on the near horizon.

Suspension of digestion and the diversion of blood from the abdomen results in the stomach feeling as if it is tied in knots or is being invaded by a swarm of butterflies. Because the body is on a state of alert, sleep that night will be difficult.

JUST AS our ancestors had to learn how to cope with tigers, it is important for each of us in modern times to learn how to cope effectively with anxiety.

A first step toward learning to cope with anxiety is understanding the cause of the physical symptoms. Things in life tend to be much less frightening when we understand them.

Future columns will be devoted to exploring further techniques for recognizing and dealing with our ever present, modern day tiger - anxiety.

Young squirrel learns lessons from his mother

By Timothy Nowicki special writer

Young animals are most often associated with summer. We think of birds nesting and raising young and of caterpillars metamorphosing into butterflies during warm weather.

Last weekend, however, I had an opportunity to see a young great horned owl and a young fox squirrel. The owl was still in the nest, but during the previous week its nestmate had departed.

The adults had begun nesting in February, had completed their duties as parents and were forcing the young to live on their own.

THE YOUNG squirrel was exploring our backyard with his mother. He was the same color as the adult but much smaller.

I could also identify it as a youngster by the way he jumped along the ground. There was see hesitation in his movements in contrast to the smooth, confident coordination of the adult.

I noticed the squirrel's inexperience in another way, too. When he climbed a tree to follow his mother, he was very deliberate and cautious. It was comical to compare the swift grace of the adult - with perfect coordination between front and back feet - to the youngster.

The young squirrel would reach forward and grab hold with its front feet. Then a noticeable instant later, the back legs seemed to bounce upward more than necessary before they grabbed hold of the tree, thus allowing the front feet to reach forward again.

It was like a human child raising his feet high as he walks, in order to make sure he doesn't stumble on the ground.

ALTHOUGH THE squirrel is only 21/2 months old, his basic abilities to climb are evident. He just needs practice to perfect his skill.

The same will be true of his ability to open acorns or walnuts to get the rich meat inside. Young squirrels can open the hard coverings, but only after practice and experimentation can they open them with minimal effort.

I felt proud when I saw this young fox squirrel in my yard because I had known him, so to speak, when he was just a twitch in his parents' eyes.

Often while eating lunch in January, I would watch his parents run up and down our trees in a spiral path like a barber's pole. They went up and down at full speed, separated by only a tail length.

Then in late February I watched the parents begin building a stick-leaf nest in the crotch of our red maple tree. This was the youngster's world until I saw him exploring our back yard with his mother the other day.

Mark Kinsel, Canton's second baseman, scored one of 31 runs in Wednesday's nine-inning thriller against Livonia Churchill.

Chief rallies fall 1 run shy

staff writer

So, what happens when the area's No. 1 and No. 3 baseball teams go at it in a Western Lakes Western Division showdown?

Sometimes it goes like this:

The game goes nine innings, the lead changes sides a couple times and the score is tied twice. Between the two teams, 31 runs are scored on 39 hits and 30 runners are left stranded on the bases. There are 20 walks and eight errors committed.

It was that kind of ballgame at Plymouth Canton Wednesday. The definitive statistic was this — No. 3ranked Livonia Churchill 16, No. 1ranked Canton 15.

It was one of the wildest affairs played around these parts in quite

"GEEZ, I couldn't even tell you what month we're in, let alone what happened out here today," said a jubi-lant Charger coach Herb Osterland. "This was a real exciting game, but a little too hard on my stomach."

Canton coach Fred Crissey had warned his team not to let Churchill "get out of the gates early." He didn't ly momentum, but that's exactly what happened. Buoyed by Scott Hille's long tworun home run to dead center, the Chargers broke on top 5-0 after one inning. After three it was 9-2 and the Chargers seemed poised to rout the Chiefs. Not on this crazy day.

The Chiefs, who are making dramatic comebacks seem routine, scored four runs in the fourth and four in the sixth to take a 10-9 lead.

Buckey Blake, who had relieved Chief starter Scott Ford in the fourth and had held the Chargers scoreless, surrendered a walk and a single to start the seventh. Crissey then called on ace Mark Bennett who had thrown seven innings in a game the day before.

A one-out error opened the gates to a six-run seventh for Churchill. Canton came to bat in the last of the seventh down 15-10.

CHURCHILL RELIEVER John Stoitsiadis walked a couple Chiefs, then John Fraser came on in relief. He hit the first batter and walked three more. When the seventh ended, the Chiefs had tied the game with five runs on just one hit.

Andy Oliver came on to pitch for the Chargers and Mike Clark for Can-ton. Things actually settled down for while.

But, in the ninth, Craig McBrien and Jim Acitelli walked to get things going. Clark got the next two hitters, baseball

but Drew Baird delivered a clutch double to score McBrien.

Canton again mounted a rally in its half of the ninth. Sean Goulet singled but was forced at second. Jeff Wittner then singled and there were two on and one out. Oliver, just a sophomore, got the next two hitters, Tim Collins and Jeff Olson, to pop out and the Chargers charged onto the field to celebrate.

"Hey, when you play in any sport you want to be able to compete with the very good teams. To be a competitor in the Western Lakes you know you have be able to beat Fred Crissey's Plymouth Canton Chiefs. Last year we came in and lost in 10 or 12 innings. The kids were beginning to believe they would lose to them every time. A big bubble burst today. These kids now know they can play with, and beat, the best," Osterland said.

THERE WERE plenty of heroes in want the fired-up Chargers to get ear- this one - especially hitting heroes as Churchill banged out 24 hits.

• Jim Acitelli, the diminutive lead-off hitter, went 5-for-6 with two

• Rob Foust went 4-for-6 with three RBI.

· Baird went 4-for-7 with two doubles and the game-winning RBI. • Hille went 3-for-6 plus his home

• John Oltman also went 3-for-6. Oliver, last but not least, was the only pitcher of the four used that didn't seemed ruffled by Canton's big swingers.

"He was calmer than anyone, and he's just a sophomore," Osterland

The Chiefs had there share of stars,

 Jim Dillon had a big day offen-sively and defensively. He went 4-for-6 with four RBI. On defense he made two fine running catches and threw a runner out at second base trying to stretch a single.

Collins had two hits and drove home the tying run in the seventh. Blake, who had been having control troubles this season, showed signs of getting back to last year's form.

The win puts the Chargers in the Western Division driver's seat. With three league games remaining, Churchfill is 9-1, 12-3 overall. Canton, with five league games left, is 6-3 in the conference, 18-4 overall.

The second game scheduled Wednesday was postponed. It will be rescheduled after May 25.

Who can beat Harrison?

Rocks, Chiefs try for upset in league meet

By Chris McCosky staff writer

Livonia Stevenson tennis coach George Croll figured this would be the year his team got, as he put it, "kicked around.

Stevenson had an easy time winning the Western Lakes Activities Association tennis title a year ago and wound up 12th best in the state. But, seven of his 10 regular players off last year's club graduated. Croll was ready to be eaten alive.

It hasn't happened that way. The Spartans won't have the best dual-meet mark coming into Wednesday's WLAA meet at Plymouth's CEP complex -Farmington Harrison is 8-0 having given Stevenson its only loss, 5-2, last week - but they may have the best shot at winning the league title, or at least a share of it.

"We have to hope that Plymouth Canton and Northville win some matches over in the other division," Croll said. "Then we will have to win in the championship flight."

IN THE WLAA, the dual-meet season and the league meet count 50-50 toward the overall league championship. Harrison is the league dual-meet champion. All the Hawks have to do to clinch at least a share of the overall title is finish second Wednesday. If they take first, the title is the Hawks'

Working against the Hawks is the way the league meet is structured. The first flight of matches are intra-divisional — that is, the Western Division teams play against each other as do the Lakes Division teams. Then, the survivors from each division square off in the championship flight.

He's speaking of Canton and Northville, who may chip away just enough at the Hawks in the first flight to enable Stevenson to pull an upset. Livonia Churchill, another team not to be taken for granted, may also have a voice in who makes it to the final flight.

BUT THE Spartans won't have it too easy in the Lakes. Plymouth Salem, a team that has overcome much adversity this season, could surprise the Spartans and many others.

Harrison's super freshman Ken Davidson will have his hands full with Northville's Arvind Sreedharen and Canton's Mike Minton in No. 1 singles. Whoever survives that preliminary flight battle should win the conference championship.

Stevenson's Jack Tatigian has only one defeat in the No. 2 singles spot. He will be the favorite. Harrison's Mark Rakoczy is 11-2, but hasn't beat Tatigian. Salem's Ron Rabillas may also be a Dawisha and Bruce Kudanian are a factor in No. 2.

Harrison appears to have a lock on the No. 3 and 4 singles spots. Steve Thomas is undefeated at No. 3 (11-0) and Brad Hack is 10-2, losing twice while playing in the No. 3 slot. He hasn't lost at No. 4.

The Hawks and the Spartans have the best doubles teams. Harrison's No. 1 team of Jeff Levin and Jim Turner is 11-2. Stevenson's No. 2 team of Saman perfect 15-0 this year. In fact, all their matches have been decided in two sets.

Livonia Bentley has a very strong No. 1 doubles team in Rich Schulte and Dave Sherman. They have been beaten only once this year, by Stevenson's Jeff Koncsol and David Richardson.

No. 3 doubles is totally up for grabe but, the winner of that event could well decide the conference champion.

Plymouth's CEP courts are on Canton Center Road just south of Joy Road.

Canton's Hinz sets sights on 3-man Olympic marathon team

Canton marathoner David Hinz qualified for the United States Olympic marathon trials more than a year ago. He'll finally get his chance to prove he belongs on the three-man U.S.marathon team.

Hinz earned his chance to make the team at last year's Boston Marathon. He ran the 26.2 mile course in 2:12.06, almost seven minutes below the 2:19.4 trial qualifying time.

He will be one of more than 150 American men to compete for the three spots on May 26 on the trial course in Buffalo, New York.

THE TRIALS will be conducted on the Skylon Marathon course which begins in Buffalo, crosse over the Peace Bridge into Canada and finishes in Niagara Falls, Ont.

The course is the same one used for the men's 1980 U.S. Olympic trials, where 56 men broke the 2:20.00 barrier. It's a record that has yet to be beat-

The top three finishers will represent the U.S. in the Los Angeles Olympic Games. Three alternates will also be determined.

The race will feature some of the nation's top runners, including Alberto Salazar, Greg Meyer, Tony Sandoval and Bill Rodgers.

Dumont, Arnold to carry torch

Jeff Arnold and Steve Dumont will carry the torch for their respective Plymouth schools today.

Arnold, a senior at Plymouth Salem, and Dumont, from Plymouth Canton, have been selected to carry the Olympic torch one kilometer when it swings through Detroit today en route to the Los Angeles and the Olympic Games.

Arnold will carry the torch between noon and 2 p.m., starting at Rosa Parks and West Grand. Dument will take his turn at about 2 p.m., starting on the corner of 4th.

The pair were chosen by their schools as repre-3 W. A.

On Wednesday, the Rocks ripped Farmington 17-2. On Friday, Berberet shut down the hard-hitting Churchill Chargers, 10-3.

Canton's American Eagles soccer club took a 9-0 beating from Soccer Unlimited-Dearborn Monday in Great Lakes Mens Soccer action, but coach Charlie Vella isn't too concerned.

"We have high school level soccer players competing against semi-professionals," he said. "It's our first season. We're learning by our mistakes. We're not looking for a winning season - just to improve.

Humphries is back on hi

By Rich Swenson staff writer

ESTERN MICHIGAN base ball standout Joe Humphries has been a jack of all trades for the Broncos this season, but it looks like coach Fred Decker has finally found a permanent spot for this versatile athlete - pitch-

The Plymouth Salem graduate has played just about every position imagi-nable, including the outfield, third and first base and designated hitter, but when Western's pitching corps fell apart this season, Decker called on Humphries with hopes that he would pick up the slack.

"His future is in pitching," Decker said. "We were struggling at the mound, and he's come in and done a good job.

"His arm is his best tool and he's a very good competitor. Our plans for him next year are to pitch and DH. We think he has a pro arm."

THE LANKY 6-foot-2 Humphries, who was an all-stater his senior year at Salem with a 10-2 record (and hatted .444), has made the transition with en-

THOUGH MOST college teams don't permit pitchers to bat, the Broncos can't afford to keep Humphries bat out of the lineup. He's that good.

Recruited heavily by the University of Michigan, Humphries decided on Western for two reasons. He wanted to play every day and he wanted to bat on the days he pitched.

"I thought I would have a chance to play more and sooner if I went to Western," he said.

He doesn't regret his decision. The Broncos cleanup hitter, Humphries got off to a slow start, but in recent weeks has gone on a tear. In his last 20 at bats, Humphries has nine hits (.450), scored five runs and driven in six to raise his average 70 points to .264.

In 43 games this season, he has 29 hits, 24 runs, 20 RBI and 33 walks.

"HE STARTED POORLY, but he's been hitting the ball much better as the season has progressed," Decker said.

Slow starts are nothing new to Humphries. As a freshman last year, he came on late in the year to raise his average 80 points to .237 with two
