Home break-ins drop; burglars nabbed

By Marie Chestney staff writer

On Sunday, a woman on Hartsough in Plymouth discovered a wallet containing $120 was missing from her bed-

The Friday before, a Harding Street man reported $4,250 worth of equipment stolen from his home and garage.

And on June 11, four youths, all 18, were nabbed stealing $14 worth of pop and beer from a Gold Arbor garage.

The crime in each of the above three incidents is breaking and entering, a

But the happy news from Plymouth police is that, over the past year, there's been a 74-percent drop in residential break-ins in the city and town-

From May 1982 until May 1983, 108 home break-ins were reported. In 1983-84, that figure dropped to 62. In the same two-year span, there was little change in the number of commercial break-ins - 28 and 30 respectively.

Plymouth Police Chief Ralph White of burglars caught but not yet sentenced and to a new precious-metals law which requires dealers to report the sale of precious stones and jewelry.

"THE MAJORITY of home break-ins are done by people who live in the vicinity and know the community,' White said.

"We've caught many of the troublemakers and they are awaiting sentencing. They are a small group of people who know they are known.

The new law also has made it more attributed the drop to the high number difficult to sell stolen items to jewelers. "They can't sell the stuff to legitimate dealers and fencing operations are watched," White said.

The thief, who on June 8 broke into a Charnwood home and stole a sterlingsilver dinner set valued at $4,000, will have a tough time trying to sell the set under the new law.

So will the thief who on June 6 broke into two Ann Arbor Trail apartments and stole some $4,725 worth of jewelry from both apartments.

A THIRD REASON for the drop, White said, might be an increased awareness on the part of both homeowners and neighbors on how to detect and prevent break-ins.

'Maybe it's simply people being careful," White said.

Tips from neighbors do help police. In the Harding break-in, a 16-year-old resident told police he saw a blue pickup drive by the burgled house several times around the time of the break-in. One of the items stolen was a lawnmower. The youth told police he saw a lawnmower in the bed of the truck and gave police a description of the vehicle. In the Gold Arbor beer-and-pop caper, someone tipped police to a "suspicious vehicle" parked on the street. Two males and two females were arrested as they tried to escape from a garage with bottles of pop, beer and fruit juice.

The penalty for breaking and enter-ing depends on whether the building is occupied or unoccupied. Breaking into an unoccupied building, such as a garage, can get the thief 10 years in prison. The maximum penalty for breaking into an occupied building is 15 years. Entering a building without breaking into it carries a five-year penalty.

Hart trial defense to begin

By Margaret Neubacher staff writer

Attorney Thomas Quarterman will argue the case for the defense before Washtenaw Circuit Judge Ross Campbell this afternoon in the murder trial of Ricardo Hart.

Hart is charged with first-degree murder and armed robbery in the fatal shooting of Nancy Faber, a Plymouth-Canton school teacher.

Hart, 21, is the accused accomplice of Machelle Pearson, 17, who was found guilty of similar charges June 8.

Assistant Washtenaw County Prosecutor Brian Mackie took four days to present the prosecution's case. Closing arguments likely will be heard late today or tomorrow.

Opening arguments in the case were heard June 14. Attorneys began selecting a jury for the trial June 4.

According to the Washtenaw County Prosecutor's office, approximately 80 potential jurors were screened before the 14-person jury was seated. Disqualified jurors included those who had read or heard about the related Pearson trial.

tion asked that Don Faber, Nancy's husband and chief editorial writer for the Ann Arbor News, be excused from the trial. Faber is vacationing in the Soviet Union.

Judge Campbell denied the request, and Faber's testimony was heard over the phone in the judge's chambers. A court stenographer and both attorneys were present during the call.

As long as it wore a pair of Pampers, the pet was allowed to stay in the house — that is until it ate a pair of Mr. Bunyea's shoes. Joining the isbister throng were Howard the Sheep, and Tiny Tim, "The Tiniest Sheep" - also occupants of the Bunyea barn.

New deadline upsets election

A Michigan Supreme Court decision declaring the 1983 state legislative districts unconstitutional has thrown candidates and elections officials into a quandary.

"There's no way we can hold the Aug. 7 primary election under the court order," said Wayne County Clerk James Killeen.

The court set a new deadline of Tuesday, July 10, for candidates to file nominating petitions for state House of Representatives seats.

Candidates for U.S. Congress and Wayne County Commission are unaffected. State Senate elections aren't scheduled until 1986.

RULING UNANIMOUSLY, the high court Tuesday gave the Legislature a chance to reapportion itself - if it acted almost immediately.

Otherwise, the "Apol plan" used in the 1982 election would go back into ef-

But key legislators doubted the Legislature is in any mood to repass the 1983 districting plan.

"Politically, that's not possible," said Senate Minority Leader William Faust, D-Westland, whose district includes Canton. He noted that since the legislative plan was adopted in December, Republicans have taken control of the nate due to the recall of two Demo-

State Rep. Gerry Law, R-Plymouth who also represents part of Canton, agreed with Faust's anticipation.

"The Republicans don't want to re-pass anything. They didn't want it to begin with. They want the Apol plan," Faust said. He said the Apol plan would give Republicans a good chance to win 20-24 Senate seats, although House Republicans wouldn't necessarily be helped much.

For the Plymouth-Canton community, the result is that the districts will revert back to what they were in 1982 when Rep. Law was elected in the 36th District and Rep. Edward Mahalak was elected in the 37th.

Under a House bill, Law's district was changed in Canton so that everything east of I-275 south to Michigan Avenue switched to the 37th. Now, by the Supreme Court's ruling, it reverts back to the 35th.

Likewise, the House Bill carved territory in Plymouth Township east of I-275 and all of Lake Pointe subdivison and placed it in a district formerly represented by Rep. Jack Kirksey of Livonia. Now that area reverts to the 36th, meaning the Plymouth area will have a single representative in the

Under the House bill, the 36th District went into the city of Novi and part of Novi Township so Law would end up representing all or part of seven municipalities in two counties. Now he will represent all or part of five municipalities in one county.

Pink probably pacifies - police

By Marie Chestney staff writer

Drunks, robbers and other assorted ne'er do wells are in for a soothing surprise once they enter the jail cells at the Plymouth Police Department.

They might be mean as you know what, but that's when the soothing surprise begins to weave its magic. The color pink is supposed to turn roaring tigers into pussycats and pink is now the color of the department's two jail cells and its one drunk tank. The walls of the three rooms lost their tan look last week and were repainted to look like a baby girl's nursery.

"I've read a lot of studies in police journals where pink is supposed to be a passifying color," said Plymouth Police Chief Ralph White. "It's been shown over a period of time that when agencies painted their cells pink, the number of incidents of rowdyism in the cells went down. The walls were due to get painted anyway and it didn't hurt to White pointed to the new Wayne County Jail, where the walls also were painted pink. Does it work?

"Well, we had two guys in here last night, and they slept right through the

Township seeks to destroy dog

Plymouth Township has agreed to file a complaint in 35th District Court asking that a dog suspected of killing lambs be destroyed.

The Westland law firm of Bokos and Plakas is now drawing up the com-plaint, asking that the dog's owner, Jean Cole, show why a large black dog owned by her should not be killed. A hearing must be held in district court before the dog can be destroyed.

The complaint stems from charges reaching back to 1979 that a dog owned by Cole killed lambs owned by Ruth and Fred Hebel, 49000 N. Territorial. The Hebels, who live on a 200-acre farm, have estimated they have lost 26 lambs, worth about $2,350, since 1979. The lambs apparently have been killed

The Plymouth Township Board of Trustees voted recently to act upon the recommendation of the law firm and file the complaint.

The owner should show cause why the dog shouldn't be destroyed," said trustee Lee Fidge. "I heard that the owner moved and they have carried the problem into another subdivision. I thought this was only neighbors bicker-ing until I saw something that fright-

LAST SPRING, Fidge said she saw a dog dragging a medium-sized sheep from Hebel's property and put it in the front yard of the Cole home. Fidge lives across the street from Cole, a

"I watched for three days because I wanted to see what Mrs. Cole was going to do," Fidge said. "I watched the dog eat at the carcass for three days. Then I walked up to the spot and saw there was just the hindquarters left."

The law firm also advised the township that the Wayne County Board of Commissioners does not have to reimburse the owner of livestock for damages caused by dogs.
"As the complaint of Mr. Hebel alleges dates as far back as September 1979, it is not practicable or possible to assess or determine damages at present," wrote attorney C. Brian James. The Hebels have hired attorney Charles Simkins to file a civil lawsuit against Cole to get reimbursement for the dead lambs.

The last complaint lodged against the dog was on March 21. At that time, Ruth Hebel told police she and her hus-band saw the Cole's dog "biting and killing" two sheep on their farm.

Last year, Plymouth police were authorized to shoot any dog found preying on the Hebel's sheep.

In the past, Cole has denied her dog was responsible for the killings, saying that numerous dogs roam the N. Territorial neighborhood.

Hebel, a Livonia school teacher, has owned the farm for 10 years and raises sheep for food and for pets. He also has chickens and some cattle.

August election in doubt

HERE IS the background:

After the 1980 census, the state Supreme Court declared the state Apportionment Commission unconstitutional. The court appointed former state elections director Bernard Apol to draft a new Apol did, drawing up a plan that tended to follow community and county lines but which left population variances between districts of as much as 20 percent. The Supreme Court adopted Apol's plan for the 1982 election but told the legislature it could reapportion itself.

The legislature did so, passing House Bill 4481 by narrow votes in December. Districts are more nearly equal in size, but many now cross community and county lines - which Republicans call "gerrymandering.

BUT OAKLAND Circuit Judge George LaPlata declared the legislative plan unconstituional earlier this month on technical grounds. He found the legislature had gutted HB 4481, substituting new language but keeping the old title.

The Supreme Court agreed, pointing to a sentence in the Michigan Constitution which says, "No bill shall be altered or amended on its passage through either house so as to change its original purpose as determined by its total content and not alone by its title."

The court's order — not yet accompanied by a written opinion — put the Apol plan back into effect and set a new filing deadline of July 10. The previous deadline was June 2.

Sen. Faust commented, "All the Supreme Court justices should be given milk and cookies and sent to bed. They're sick. The practice has been going on a long time. The same thing (gutting another bill) happened on their last pay raise.

ble to hold the primary, scheduled for Aug. 7, until as much as a month later.

Your new filing deadline is July 10. Then there are seven days for challenges and three days for counter-challenges. That means it's July 20 before we know who the candidates are.

"The election is Aug. 7, but the law says absentee voter ballots must be available 21 days before that. It's seriously questionable whether they or the other ballots can be printed by that deadline.

The county clerk saw several other upsetting effects from the high court's ruling:

 Voting precincts, which can't cross legislative boundary lines, would be thrown out of kilter. Candidates for precinct delegate would have to refile, (Law believes, however, voting precincts would remain unchanged in Plymouth-Canton).

• If the primary is delayed, the schedule for district and state conventions also would be thrown out of kilter. State Republicans are scheduled to meet Aug. 25-26 and Democrats Sept. 7-8 to nominate candidates for state educational posts and the state Supreme Court.

'We would probably need a month's delay in the primary," Killeen said. "And if there are any re-counts in the primary, we jeopardize the November election.

In the filings earlier this month, no one filed as a Republican to challenge Law. The only Democrat to file was a Novi resident who now is ineligible to run against Law as a result of the high court ruling.

Trumpeter to play

Plymouth's street-dance series continues Friday with the Ron Jackson

The group features a wide variety of music, from old standards all the way up to the most current music.

"Dancing in the Streets" is held each Friday throughout the summer in downtown Plymouth near The Gathering on the Penniman Avenue side of Kellogg Park. Music starts at 7:30 p.m. and runs until 10 p.m.

The dances are made possible by a donation from Dick Scott Buick and with the support of the Detroit Federation of Musicians and the Music Performance Trust Fund. Dennis Harlan, president of Entertainment Consultants of America Inc. in Plymouth, donated his services to the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce in recommending and coordinating all musical groups.

Ron Jackson is considered a first-rate trumpeter. He has played with such groups as Mark Pitts Dixieland Band, Levi Mann and Lyman Woodard's organization. About two years ago, he formed his own group.

Fly flag on the 4th

The Plymouth Beautification Commission has set a goal of having every homeowner and business owner fly the American flag on July 4th.

Residents planning on being away for the holiday could ask their neighbor to put up the flag, indicating that someone is home

As a service to city residents, the committee has arranged for the sale at $25 of a 3 by 5-foot, 100 percent heavy cotton bunting American flag, with embroidered stars and sewn stripes. The price also includes a %-inch by 6-foot, two-piece aluminum pole with a bracket and an eagle on

The flags may be purchased from 10 a.m. to noon at the Farmers Market at The Gathering on the Penniman Avenue-side of Kellogg Park on Saturdays June 23, 30. The flags also may be purchased during the week from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Plymouth City Hall, 201 S. Main.

Pay with check or money order, made payable to "City of Plymouth" for the full amount of the order.

Business establishments may display their flags at the curb. A special pole and bracket is required for on-the-street installation and may be obtained for $40. The Plymouth Jaycees put these flags up each holiday.

Urns of spring flowers are one of the reasons why Janice and Oliver Foster, 1396 W. Ann Arbor Trail, won a Plymouth Pride '84 beautification award from the city. Ten other local families also won the award, given for homes which show the glory of spring.

Spring glory brings awards

staff writer

In the springtime, Don and Pat Whitesell get letters from strangers.

The strangers, mostly drivers on their way to or from work, pass by the Whitesells' home at 1251 West Ann Arbor Road and have an overwhelming urge to slow down and dally.

Splashed across the front of their home and circling to the rear is a gold-en band of yellow. The yellow is a sea of daffodils and tulips. Awash in the golden sea are blooms of crimson. It's the crimson of spring-fresh tulips.

"We get anonymous letters from drivers telling us the flowers 'make me feel so cheerful when I go to work in the spring, "said Pat Whitesell.
THE WHITESELLS and 10 other

Plymouth families were honored Monday with a Plymouth Pride Spring '84 Award. The awards were given by both the Plymouth Beautification Committee and the Plymouth City Commission in recognition of special efforts made by homeowners to make their homes strikingly lovely in the springtime.

Commissioner and committee mem-ber Mary Childs presented Plymouth Pride certificates signed by Mayor David Pugh to the 11 families. Claiming their certificates were Ernie Archer, 335 Roe; John and Sarah Bell, 555 Lindsay; James and Kathy Cooper, 1338 Penniman; Gene and Barbara Cousineau, 455 Leicester; Oliver and Janice Foster, 1396 W. Ann Arbor Trail; RobJohn and Delite McAllister, 1376 Will-liam; David and Sharon Rucinski, 1393 Maple; Avia Waldecker, 391 Joy; the. Whitesells; and Robert Zeigler, 217, RICHARD and MaryLou Alwood, 300 S. Harvey, were presented with a spectral award for their unique holiday. Iawn displays. The Alwoods have been known to hang Santa's red underwes out on the clothesline at Christmas sprout shamrocks on St. Paddy's Day and dot their lawn with gravestones on Halloween.

"When you go by their house, you just have to smile," said Childs as she awarded the Alwoods their special award from the city.

Childs called the certificates "nice's keepsakes" for those who "take a little extra pride" in maintaining their homes and property.

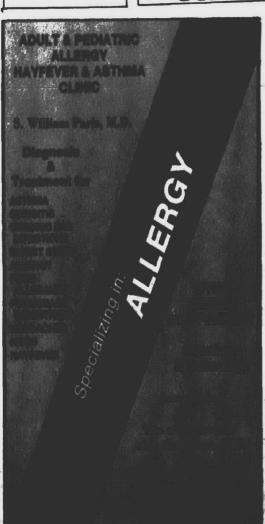

The beautification committee sifts' through 2,390 single family homes, 676 multiple dwellings, 576 commercial businesses, 37 industries and three utilities to come up with its twice-a-year winners. Awards are given both in the spring and summer for plants and flo" wers in season at that time.

CHILDS SAID the Spring of '84 was "terrible" for home gardeners. "Spring never really came. There were terrible rain and windstorms."

In spite of the miserable weather, the Rucinskis managed to nuture to life beds of tulips and daffodils and a panorama of flowering shrubs and trees.

'Larger reality' is false god of press

IN AN ERA where journalistic integrity is under increasing scrutiny, it is disheartening to read of various scriveners who confess to making up and altering details in their stories to provide more dramatic

The latest is Alastair Reid, long-time staff writer for the New Yorker magazine, who tells of changing some details in his stories to make them more harmonious with the total effect he hoped to

The writer said he did this in the interest of seeking a "larger reality."

FOR EXAMPLE, Reid wrote in one piece about a group of Spaniards in a 'small flyblown bar by the harbor, a favorite haunt of mine for some years because of its bouyant clientele.

He now acknowledges that the bar and its occupants were imaginary. But he said he had talked to many Spaniards and knew what they would say in a bar. "I was reporting on the mood of the country. This was not invalidated by the fact that the bar is or isn't there.'

He also said that "I would have 30 or 40 conversations with people. If one followed them exactly, it would be terribly boring for the reader.

Reid's confessions have sparked protests by other writers, magazines and newspapers with most saying they do not condone alterering present reality to any degree even for the reward of a "larger reality," whatever that may be.

THE TRUTH is that tampering with facts in any kind of story which purports to be a truthful account is dangerous busi-

While knowledgeable readers of the New Yorker might forgive Reid's minor alterations or fabrications, which undoubtedly made his stories somewhat more colorful or slightly more interesting, the setting of such precedents is what leads to unforgivable and lamentable distortions, the kind which cause the public to look upon journalists as barely toler-

Journalism has long held to the tenet that truth is paramount and not something to be dallied with, even at the risk of boring the reader.

Nevertheless, there is occasionally the temptation to insert into a story a statement which was never spoken, a colorful background fact that is unverifiable, a minor fabrication just for the sake of keeping the reader on the hook.

- I AM OFTEN reminded of two famous lines in Americana
- Willie "The Bank Robber" Sutton, who reportedly was asked why he robbed banks and replied, "Because that's where
- · "Shoeless Joe" Jackson, who, after being barred from baseball for throwing the 1919 World Series, was approached by a kid who shuffled up with a tear in his eye and said, "Say it ain't so, Joe."

Sutton maintained that he never said the line, that it was fabricated by a reporter who interviewed him in his jail cell. Witnesses to the Jackson event said there was no such kid; he was a figment of the writer's imagination.

NO DOUBT the inventions helped create myths which harmed no one and even made the participants in the story seem more human and less stereotyped.

But out of such thinking comes such things as the infamous Janet Cooke story, which won a Pulitzer Prize for reporting - returned by the Washington Post - for what turned out to be a fictional account of a boy dope addict.

Perhaps Cooke would maintain that her piece about the boy sought a larger reality and was only a composite of how young drug addicts talk about their addiction.

Pleasant vacation the back yard

FOR YEARS on end, each time summer rolled around, the big question was bound to arise: Where will we spend our vaca-

For awhile, it was fun to tour Upper Michigan, and one year we went as far as Copper Harbor. Other years we spent our time at some of the lakes in the Lower Peninsula. Our favorite was Higgins Lake and the Hotel Burdell, now out of exis-

Then came a time when The Stroller's work took him to summer conventions. That was fortunate because each year the convention was held in a different place. In fact, one year it took us to Honolulu, and what a time we had!

During these annual meetings, we were in almost every state in the Union, but the best was yet to come.

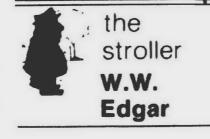

BACK IN 1970, we were invited to head a group from Plymouth, Mich., which was joing to Plymouth, England, to help the folks over there celebrate the 350th anniversary of the sailing of the Mayflower. From there, a side trip to the European continent was appealing and enjoyed.

In later years, we found the ideal spot on the banks of the St. Clair River at Marine City — the lady's home town.

We were headed there again this year when something unforeseen happened, and the journey to the blue waters of the river had to be canceled.

It meant we had to stay at home. Lo and behold, the open green space in the midst of the small wooded area has proven to be ideal.

Veneza ago. The Stroller's mother savine him that if he were going to be a savi puller to should be a good one.

There is an added interest now. It is getting acquainted with the animal and bird life. More and more each day, he wishes the birds and the squirrels and rabbits could talk. Better yet, he wishes he could understand their motives.

Every morning they are on hand, coming almost to the edge of the beds as if to say, "Good morning." Once in a while, a large pheasant struts his stuff in full view. The wonder of it is that they must be able to tell time as they make their appearance about the same hour each day.

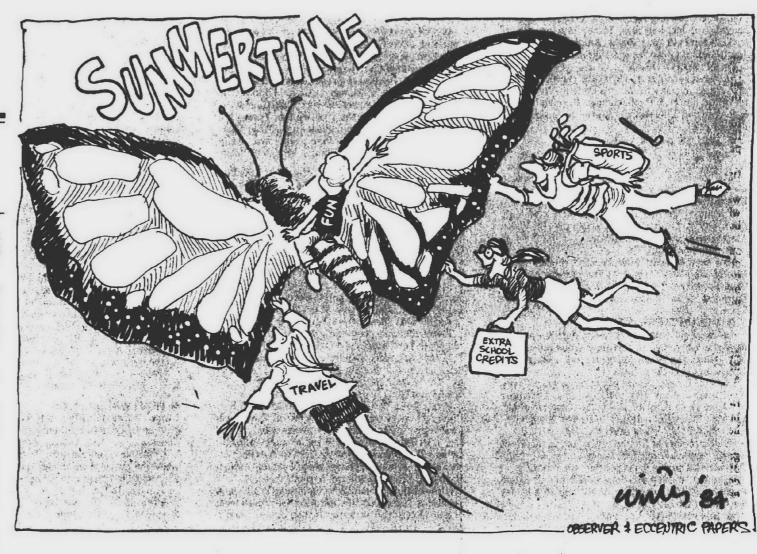

Once in a while, too, we get an unusual caller - an opossum from down in the Bell Creek area. But the real fun comes at dusk. At this hour, the birds come for a drink at the fountain and play a sort of game. It could be their version of softball.

SO AT LONG last, The Stroller has found an ideal spot for a vacation where time can be spent to purpose even better than strolling along a beach or sitting in a chair atriver's edge.

The fun of it, at this point, is the fact that The Stroller does not know the names of the flowers. He just visits the nursery or the road stands, picks out the colors he wants, and hustles home to plant them, hoping they will grow as he had designed them in the garden.

All told, the vacation days have taken on a new place in The Stroller's life. He has found a great vacation spot — right in his own back yard.

Talk about "Acres of Diamonds." This is it.

Grand Prix good for region

Automobile engines will roar in downtown Detroit during the third annual Grand Prix this weekend. On Sunday an international television audience of approximately 80 million in 46 nations will view the car race on the streets of downtown Detroit.

With good weather, we hope to break all attendance records," said Larry Crane of Detroit Renaissance. Detroit Renaissance sponsors the Grand Prix. Last year 71,000 spectators paid to watch the race from inside course barricades. Another estimated 130,000 viewed the race from downtown highrise buildings.

Detroit is one stop in an international 16-race Formula One circuit. It began in Brazil on March 25 and will conclude in Spain on Oct. 21. The only other U.S. stop

It is fitting that the motor capital of the world has become the site of one of the world's most important races.

YOU MAY WONDER what this means to you. Perhaps you live comfortably in a tree-lined suburban neighborhood and never venture into Detroit.

But many of your neighbors are coming to the Grand Prix.

'We don't know where all the spectators

are from," Crane said. "But I'm sure the majority are from Detroit's suburbs."

Also, much money is brought into this area from the Grand Prix. It attracts tourists from throughout the United States and Canada. Many are housed, fed and entertained in the suburbs. Organizers estimate $12 million will be pumped into the local economy during the Grand Prix.

Most important is that what is good or bad - for Detroit is good or bad for the suburbs. If you don't believe that, look at the suburbs immediately north and west of Detroit. Problems of urban blight are slowly creeping into these areas. Running away to the suburbs offers no long-term solutions.

And the Grand Prix is good for Detroit. It gives the city a chance to showcase itself not only for 200,000 spectators but also for an international television audience. It demonstrates Detroit is on the reI vividly recall watching ABC's national telecast during the first Grand Prix two years ago. Beautiful pictures graced the screen of the riverfront area and the Renaissance Center. You can't buy that kind of publicity.

ORGANIZERS ARE OPTIMISTIC that the Grand Prix will continue as an annual event. But that will depend on ticket sales. Detroit Renaissance will give no details but admits it lost many thousands of dollars during the first two Grand Prix races.

Early ticket sales are up this year, and corporations have rented all of the hospitality suites. But ticket sales must be good for the preliminary races on Saturday and the finals on Sunday.

The ticket price schedule is complex varying from a three-day grandstand seat for $75 to a Free Day on Friday when there is no charge for practice sessions. For more information, call 259-PRIX.

Those attending should not take the freeways directly into downtown Detroit. Streets will be clogged with preparations for the race. Parking is available on the perimeter of downtown Detroit and will require only a few blocks' walk.

Make sure you're there when the engines start up this weekend.

Signs of our congressmen

FIFTEEN years ago I used to suggest at newspaper conventions that we shouldn't report on candidates' families their spouses and number of kids. We should stick, I argued, to politically relevant facts such as kinds of college degrees, work experience and philosophy. My brethren and sistren in the journalism business were unanimous in their scorn. "What right do you have," said one, "to delete facts about families that the public might find important?"

Well, my siblings in this business have come full circle. Today we not only drop most family references, but we have cut out courtesy titles for women that indicate marital status. Tasteless as it looks, we even refer to octogenarian dowagers as "Smith" or "Brown."

MY LATEST radical suggestion is also frowned upon by my colleagues although the facts indicate it is sound.

It is to report the zodiac birth signs of political candidates.

Once I was a scoffer about this zodiac Once was a scotter about this social stuff. Then some colleagues and I studied the birth signs of 200 members of the U.S. House o Representatives and their liberal-conservative ratings from Americans for Constitutional Action ACA is an autitax, antispensing americanization group which gives serus to liming liberals and 100s to true-blue conservatives.

Richard

Lo and behold, there was a correlation: • Fire and air signs tended to be liberal. Reading from left to center, these are Leo, Gemini, Sagittarius, Aquarius, Aries

• Earth and water signs tended to be conservative. From right to center, they are Taurus, Virgo, Scorpio, Cancer, Capricorn and Pisces.

Now, these were taken as groups. Individuals under any one sign could range from 5 to 95, but within each group there was a cluster. Leos clustered around the 33 mark, Taureans around 59.

DON RIEGLE, Michigan's senior U.S. senator, started his political life as a Republican, where he was unhappy, and switched to the Democrats, among whom he is still a maverick. Well, Aquarians are left of center and unpredictable.

Rep. (Ca) Purvell, 12-Plymoull, Jurely of Cal lend with the Heigan force, but his Sagittarian liberalism shows uprin his ACA marks, which are in the 30s.

Rep. Bill Broomfield, R-Birmingham, is a Taurean. His ACA marks have been in the middle 70s, fairly conservative.

As 18th District congressman, Democrat James Blanchard, now governor, ranked 8 to 15 on the ACA index, pretty liberal. You would expect that from a Leo. By the way, Leos are noted for being blustery, showing authority, showing gen-erosity and having gifts for leadership, according to the zodiac literature.

U.S. Sen. Carl Levin is a Cancerian, la sign you would expect to be thrifty, con-servative, tight-fisted. Democrat Levin is that indeed with the defense budget. Otherwise he ranks as a relative liberal. As I said, the correlations aren't perfect.

But Bill Ford, the 15th District Democratic congressman from Taylor — there's a Leo for you. ACA ranks him 5 to

The ratings are incomplete on such junior members of Congress as Sander Levin, D-Southfield, a Virgo, and Dennis Hertel, D-Harper Woods, a Saggitarian.

My system has one defender, Gundella the Witch says the mere fact that scientists don't know how or why something works doesn't mean it doesn't work. A Gemini, Gundella can be very intuitive about these things.

It's tough in the middle of the missile dispute

WHEN THEY gather outside the Williams International plant, vigilers pray for both sides. They utter words on behalf of the people who make cruise-missile parts and in support of those willing to go to jail rather than allow that business to go on as usual.

How about a prayer for the folks who have to see both sides?

Between the peace activists and the people whose paychecks depend on defense buildup are sheriff's deputies, judges and journalists who are struggling hard to be fair to both.

STANDING IN THE middle on such an emotionally charged issue isn't easy. It's simpler to dismiss committed members of either side as "crazies." And a lot of people do just

BEHIND THE SCENES at Williams:

 An Oakland sheriff's deputy kids a peace activist outside a courtroom about how heavy he was to carry. "Next time I'm gonna go for a little old lady," he said with a smile.

• Concerned about a senior-citizen protester, who is deliberately starving, a jailer brainstorms with the inmate's friends about how to get him to eat.

 The mother of a peace activist waves goodbye as a bus takes him to Oakland County Jail. Wiping her tears, she hugs a journalist covering the protest. "I thought it would get easier in time. But it's still hard," she says.

· Sitting in church, a reporter hears that a minister is in jail for protesting at Williams. "We need to pray for him, his wife and child," the pastor says.

But you don't live long enough to be a law officer, judge or journalist without forming some opinions. And it's impossible to work with people for a year and not have some ideas about their causes.

"All judges have personal opinions," said Circuit Judge James Thorburn, upholding Boyle's right to judge the peace activists as well as to believe in controlling nuclear arms.

"A mere personal opinion, however, is not sufficient for disqualification. Were such the law, no case could ever proceed to trial be-cause there would be no court available,"

SEEING BOTH sides of the Williams confrontations is especially tough because of the issue involved. How can you not take a stand on something as important as nuclear war-

Most of those involved in the cases freely admit to concerns about nuclear escalation. The dispute comes over how that concern is shown — in the voting booth, by peaceful demonstration or through civil disobedience.

Despite talk about respecting each other's views, neither the Williams company nor Covenant for Peace members are about to compromise their beliefs. And that makes it even more important for impartial folks to stand

ment and production to increase over last year's by with suggestions.

"Don't you ever get the feeling you're po-larizing this thing instead of shedding light on it?" Boyle asked a defendant.

'You tell me we're engaged in a disastrous nuclear arms race, but all you've shown are feelings," the judge continued. "I tend to agree with you — I think we are — but how are we going to communicate that?"

WHAT MAKES IT easier to see both sides is the commitment of the participants.

Intense feelings on the part of the protesters are matched by those of plant workers who want to fulfill their commitments. Opposing a prosecutor who intends to help the workers are 20 defense attorneys volunteering time in the interest of freedom of speech and due process under the law...

Sincerity isn't even an issue. Each side fully acknowledges that the other is doing what it believes in. Which means there are no clearcut winners and losers.

That's a real dilemma for most people, who get to take sides.

But it's a blessing for the folks in the middle - who have to see both.

Handouffed peace activists arrested at the site of Williams International, which makes equipment for cruise missies, talk with a sheriff's deputy. The protestors are awaiting bus transporation to the Oakland County Jail.

Sincerity isn't even an issue. Each side fully acknowledges that the other is doing what it believes in.

MICHAEL Bologna went to Nepal to teach school. Now, he's building one.

Mike, the son of Jean and Jack Bologna of Plymouth, is a Peace Corps volunteer. He lives in the remote village of Chapakot, situated in a valley in the foothills of the Himalayas.

Katmandu is the nearest city. Chapakot is accessible only by footpaths. A recent visit to a friend entailed a five-hour walk, then a three-hour bus ride. He accepted an invitation to the wedding of a friend's daughter. He missed the beginning of the ceremony after a six-hour walk at a fast clip.

Rice is the staple food and the main crop. Breakfast is rice and tea. Dinner is rice, tea and spinach.

Once in awhile, someone kills a goat and gives him a small share Lentils are available and coarse flour is made from millet. He prepares his own meals and is experimental in his cooking something to write home about

HE WROTE HOME about his cake. A farmer was cooking down some sugarcane so he had molasses to add to his millet flour and other ingredients. He was quite proud of the results.

Mike is the only one in the community who makes leavened bread. He wrote of watching a farmer prepare bread by spreading out a bed of coals, putting a banana leaf on them, then spreading a paste of millet flour and water on the leaf. He put another banana leaf on the paste and spread more coals on top.

The majority of the people are Brahmans, the highest Hindu caste, which makes plowing even their small patch of land beneath them. After a prolonged absence from classes, one of the lower-caste students explained that he had to plow all the Brahmans' rice fields.

THE FIRST through eighth grade school at Chapakot is severely overcrowded with classes as large as 150 students taught by just one "Without the direction of the district education office, the people decided to build their own school. They took up a collection and started to work on the building. Those that can't afford money are donating their labor," Mike said.

But they needed additional funds to buy lumber, doors, shutters, benches, tables and chairs, cement, locks and paint for blackboards.

Mike sought assistance from the Peace Corps Partnership Program, which links interested individuals and organizations in the United States with communities in developing nations that need their help.

Through the Partnership Program, the Global Writers Club at Corcoran High School, Syracuse, N.Y., became partners with the people of Chapakot. The students pledged $830 - half the cost of materials needed to finish the new school.

"WITH COMMUNITY initiative and help from the Partnership program, we can make Chapakot a place where education is within the reach of all people," Mike

In return, Corcoran High School will receive frequent progress reports on the project, the opportunity for cross-cultural exchange with students and a lasting friendship with the community.

During its 20-year history, the Peace Corps Partnership Program has provided more than $3 million for self-help projects in 90 developing nations around the globe. People or organizations interested in becoming a partner can write to the program, 806 Connecticut Ave. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20526.

THE DAYS ARE very warm now in Chapakot. Classes begin at 6:30 a.m. and end at 10:30 a.m. to escape the heat. The people will be baking their own bricks for the new school. Things like paint and locks and cement will have to be carried into Chapakot over the footpaths. Innovations are impractical unless they call for materials on hand. The first time Mike had to prepare tests for his students, he discovered the hand-printed papers were to be diplicated with carbon

Arts Council wraps up prolific season

By Elinor Graham staff writer

It was the end of the season and a time of "viewing with pride" for members of the Plymouth Community Arts Council and retiring president Janet Campbell. And if residents of the community gave it any thought, it would be time for them to consider, "What did we ever do without them?"

These are the people who brought you:

• The Fall Festival Artists and Craftsmen Show, which attracts thousands of visitors, giving local and area artists an opportunity to market their creations.

Craft classes for adults and children.

 The art rental gallery, a source of original works of art and reproductions for homes and business places. · Regular displays of local artists' works at Plymouth Symphony Orchestra concerts. · Lectures and tours.

• On alternate years, the Follies, a musical revue that involves the whole community in a wonderful show business madness.

How to submit news items to newspaper

News of clubs, service organizations, engagements, weddings and wedding anniversaries are printed without cost in the Suburban Life Section of the Plymouth Observer and Canton Observer newspapers.

News items may be dropped off or mailed to the office at 489 S. Main St., Plymouth 48170. Special forms are available for club news, engagements, weddings and 50th wedding anniversary announcements

Black and white pictures are preferred as they reproduce more clearly than color photos. A self-addressed, stamped envelope assures return of the pictures, or, they can be picked up at the office a week after they have been published. Mail should be addressed to the attention of Elinor Graham, Suburban Life editor.

Activities of more major scope than regular club meetings may warrant more extensive coverage and a photograph. Call the newspaper, 459-2700. well in advance of the event to permit scheduling a photograph.

Breaking news stories (and we appreciate telephone calls on these these) like fires, accidents, etc., receive onthe-spot coverage.

Other events, planned for in advance, should be announced a week or so before the actual date.

Every dog has his day at Country Festival

A goat may be unusual and so is a python, but a hamster? Of course, it did have a strange-looking coat.

I couldn't believe the pet show. So many cute and/or beautiful pets, I'll never understand how the judges could possibly decide. How do you choose between a fluffy white dog named "Marshmallow" and a long-haired collie? The former had been begging on her hind legs since registration started at 9:30 a.m., then, after 11 a.m., when she got in front of the judges, she just sat there looking at her owner. The collie came dressed in an obviously borrowed nightgown and a leftover New Year's Eve "Pink" tiara! I mean this was one tough contest.

All pets got their chance and a great that didn't get awards were a little disappointed, after all I had three of the most uniquely wonderful dogs in the world entered myself. Not one of them won, but you know what, fellow losers? When I got them home they were still wonderful. They just didn't have a category to cover my dogs.

IF YOU WERE there, you should remember mine.

We were up front and one of them talked all the way through. That was Muffett, owned by my daughter Tammi. And then Pitolisa, owned by daughter Cathy, wouldn't come out from between my feet when I was standing, or off my lap when I was sitting.

What a bunch of scaredy cats, I mean scaredy dogs.

Even pretty Benji, owned by son Alan, who would defend anybody being attacked by anybody, kept climbing up into my lap. Actually, he is a terrier mix but we had him cut like a schnauzer this year because of the heat. He's a white dog and he looks beautiful, a little strange for a schnauzer, but beautiful for a terrier mix.

One of the wonderful things about the Canton Country Festival pet show is it doesn't matter what kind of pet you have, or what or how many breeds he is. They are all welcome at the pet show. How wonderful to see your not quite purebred, but terrific friend, get his well-deserved moment in the sun and then have him back safely in your

One note of thanks to Vic Gustafson, the wonderful master of ceremonies who brought the whole event alive with his quick sense of humor and lively commentary. Thanks so much; you were great.

SPEAKING OF great, how about Jim Kosteva, our township planner, who was MC for the watermelon-eating contest.

And a victous contest it was as Jim noted competitors from far and wide for this heavy but delicious competition. Jim. as always, kept the whole thing exciting with his wit, encouraging words and superb exaggerations of the contestants' abilities, qualifications and aspirations.

Jim really knows how to liven up a crowd, even the type of crowd that comes out for the watermelon-eating

Naturally, the Cow Chip Queen, Carol Ann Lebnick, was on hand to award medals to the winners in each age category. I lost this one too! I fought a tough fight, or bit a tough bite, but alas, the better-trained athlete won

THEN IT WAS off to the biggle the tug-of-war. Now this is by nature a competitive event. The defending champions, the Canton Parks and Recreation Department, with their coach Bob Dates, supervisor of the Canton Parks and Recreation Department, were ready. These boys were primed, young, strong, well trained.

The threat of losing their jobs was, as always, a great incentive.

The Canton Chamber of Commerce was felt to be the real threat here. These men, who support our community throughout the year, never dreamed that anybody could defeat the finely tuned line-up they had assembled. The administrator of Oakwood Hospital, David Ippel, was in this line-up for medical emergencies. Frank McMurray of State Farm Insurance was anchor man to handle any extended emergency and insure victory, so to speak. Then there was the secret weapon they referred to only as "Mad Dog." I didn't ask any questions of Mad Dog, I knew why he was there.

THE COMPETITION was set, and promised to be tough.

But who, out of the night (or afternoon) and willing to fight, came challenge this happy little group? T Canton Chamber of Commerce Chie That's right! The ladies wanted in.

Being a community of fair play (and partly because some of the gals were related to some of the guys), they were greeted with smiles and cheers.

Well, you already must know what happened. The women took the championship.

They pulled and tugged and dug in and stayed there. The men agreed they were tired, but, they said, the ladies were just plain good. They hung in there and deserved the trophy. It was no give-away, they won it. And if you could have seen the leg of the first man on the rope, the one who entered the water, you'd know, he entered that water unwillingly and fought it valiantly.

My hearty congratulations to all.

NOW, ABOUT the Cow Chip Fling. What can I say? The "Fling" is flung. It was flung here, and there, and even into the crowd.

But when all the flinging was done, and the dust, or whatever, settled, Mike Gouin, Canton Parks and Recreation Director and defending champion, once again, had flung his the furthest or farthest or whatever!

This is a tough competition to write about, not only a strange subject matter, but another one that I lost. Lost? Who am I kidding? I wasn't close to Mike's winning toss of more than 100 feet with my tad over 41 feet.

At least I saved the family honor and didn't hit the crowd.

WELL, LET'S see. I have wonderful dogs, I'm not a fast watermelon eater, and I'm not the best Cow Chip Flinger in town. I guess it was a pretty good weekend after all.

I sure hope you didn't miss it all. I hope you caught a ride or two, a game of Bingo, or bought a beautiful craft, fence during the rotes.

Talk about a featival — we saw he it all this week. I hope for all currante that the committee gets the well-deserved help they need and we don't lot all this wonderful family tun.

Not forgetting the hundreds of participants in lootine, special events of whatever, I did my standing oyation the terrific dedicated and exhaustee committee.

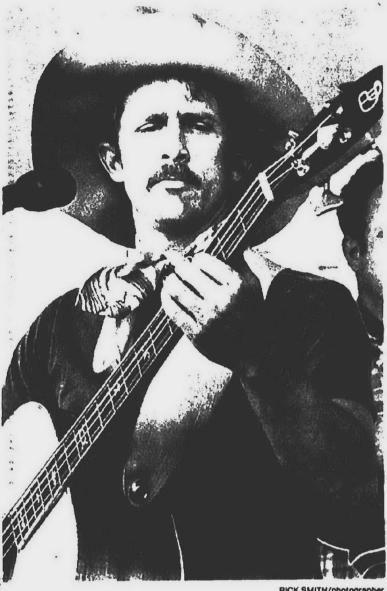

James Gillig, Deborah O'Connor, Tony Campagna, Judith Jamroz, Re-becca Havenstein-Couglin, David An-drews, Kay Baldrica, Larry Bower-man, Jim Davidson, Denise Hings, Tim Kasunic, George Manska, John Schwartz and Richard Thomas, we can't say thank you too many times. It was great, guys. Don't forget if you were in a contest, or just missed something, watch Omnicom Cablevision next week. They caught just about everything with an exhausted crew of their own. This paper will give you times of showing, so watch the column "Neighbors on Cable" in this paper, then catch your "Neighbors on Cable" next week.

Stone free

She opts for shock wave treatment

By Diane Gale staff writer

Bonnie Williams has had painful experiences with kidney stones, but a new medical procedure has made her future look brighter.

Williams, a Garden City resident, took part in a method called extracorporeal shock wave lithotripsy. The treatment is still under Federal Drug Administration (FDA) scrutiny.

"There's no comparison between sur-gery and this method," Williams said. "I'd do it again in a minute."

WILLIAMS, who had surgery two times before, opted for the new method last month. She chose to go to Methodist Hospital in Indianpolis, which is one of the few hospitals in the country that has a Dornier Lithotripter - the clinical device used in the procedure.

Williams marvels over the short. four-day hospital stay necessary for the litotripsy method. This is less than half the time she spent hospitalized when she had stones surgically re-

The most significant difference was that there was virtually no recovery time after the shock waves as compared to about six weeks recuperating following surgery, she said.

"There's no question it's the wave of the future," according to Dr. Marc Arnkoff, Williams' doctor at Garden City Osteopathic Hospital.

"Surgery in kidney stones has to be passe in the future," Arnkoff said.

"There's not one drawback from this."

The procedure replaces surgery with a method that involves shock waves focused on the kidney stone. The waves pulverize the stone, which has to be passed through the body.

"Everything is non-invasive, because there's no incisions or probing instruments," Arnkoff said.

The shock waves are generated un-derwater by a "spark plug" electrode, according to a brochure from Methodist Hospital. Since the tissue is resilient, there is no damage from the passing pressure wave.

With a catheter secured in her urinary bladder, and after a local anesthetic she was positioned in a water bath so her entire body below the neck was immersed. The entire procedure lasted about one hour.

"It's (moving kidney stones) about the most painful to go through," he said. "When the stone is hit with the shock waves, it breaks apart, but the patient still has to pass the stone and that's excruciating."

Stone particles typically begin to pass during treatment, and may continue intermittently for several weeks.

Three months from the operation, Williams will need to have a follow-up evaluation, which is required by FDAapproved guidelines.
"I couldn't believe it, the surgery is

Change is opportunity to do better

AS DEMOCRATIC party primaries draw to a close, we can make asse ments. Candidates who sounded like bitter enemies are drawing together. The news is all about what is happening to candidates but what is happening to us is more important.

These months have highlighted a commendable character trait in Americans. We are flexible and adaptable. We switch passions readily and loyal-ties rapidly. The American character was formed by an expanding frontier so we have resilience and strength in the midst of change.

Our history makes us a people who sense most everything is temporary.

Candidates come and go as we get excited first here and then there.

The most certain fact of life is change. We are lively people as we welcome shifting priorities. An air of freshness pervades our gatherings. Most of our experiences are truly new which merits giving ourselves credit. Many societies have a quite different tone as people cringe in the face of change. It is pitiable to become immobilized by new winds tilowing. The trick is to view them as breezes of fresh hope instead of threatening storms.

While being proud of skill in changing, we need to lift our eyes to more distant borisons. Giving full credit to memory comes in looking back with a traditionalism which preserves valuable customs. Looking forward gives the pulling power of hope as we widen THERE IS VALUE in our fickleness

Pilots avoid kids at airport

To the editor:

After reading the front page article, "Near Accidents Reported at Mettetal" by Jean Adamczak, I have to ask: Would she have given it the same sensationalism if Chris McGurrin had reported the boys standing in the middle of the intersection at Joy and Lilley Roads?

Having spent 33 years as a private pilot and a few more as a driver, I can tell you that your chances of getting hit would be much greater in the middle of a busy intersection. You can bet that in a daylight situation, the pilot was watching those boys before he passed over Joy Road.

He is not like the locomotive engineer who can only apply the brakes, blow the horn and pray that the train will stop in time. It is perfectly normal for a pilot to decide to pull up and go around again even to the point of touchdown.

If I were the pilot in the situation described by McGurrin, I would have mut-tered about "those darned kids on the runway" and circled around for another pass. Harold Long,

700 runners in Rock Run II

To the editor:

The Plymouth Salem High boys' and girls' track and cross country teams are very grateful to the many generous spon-very grateful to the many generous sponsors and individuals whose time and contributions made it possible for almost 700 runners to enjoy Rocks' Run II.

Bud Light was our major sponsor. The Anheiser Busch Corp., through the efforts of Mike Reynolds, made it possible for us to have so many fine trophies, awards and good looking shirts.

We appreciated the support or our local.

We appreciated the support or our local newspapers who did a great job informing the community about our special run.

Other businesses which donated juices, fruit, cups and snack foods were: Great Scott at Sheldon Road; Spartan Stores; Stan's Market in Livonia; Kraft Foods; and Famous Recipe Chicken. The pace cars were loaned by Lou LaRiche Chevrolet and Bob Jeannotte Pontiac. Governmental units which cooperated were the Wayne County Road Commission, Sheriff's Department, city of Plymouth, the DPW, parks and recreation of Plymouth. The PACT organization was tremendous in that their volunteers kept us fully informed, at all times, via its radio communications system. PACT also provided us with all the locations for our course directors in order that all runners would constantly be safe and observed.

We were fortunate to have the U.S. Army Reserve Medical team availble.

Friday evening the Box Bar provided us with additional fund-raising activity which also helped us achieve our goal.

Lauren Turnbull made available the Penn Theater so we could tabulate race results in the best conditions.

There were many wonderful volunteers in a wide variety of positions who unselfishly donated their most valuable resource time. In particular, we would like to recognize Carol and Mike Donnally, Barb and Ken Steiner, Judy and Frank Brosnan, Laura and Cecil White, Joyce and Larry Arnold, Steve Nyquist, and Leigh Langkable.

Any race is the product of its directors. The track and cross country teams especially would like to thank Rhonda and Tom Williams, Chris and Tom Truesdale whose hundreds of hours, patience, and leadership made Rocks' Run II another success.

Lastly, thank you to the almost 700 runners who participated and made our efforts worthwhile.

Ontario's national park is a naturalist's escape

WAS RAMBLING around southern Ontario with a group of Canadian travel writers last week. Most of them were from other parts of Canada and had never seen the area around Windsor before. As often happens, I rediscovered a lot of things right there in our "back yard."

The group was the Canadian chapter of the Society of American Travel Writers. They spent a week driving around that section of the southwestern area that many of us know so well: To-ronto and London, Windsor and Sarnia with a lot of stops in between.

We joined them for only 24 hours, overnighting at Wheels Inn in Chatham, driving through the farm country of Essex County, exploring Point Pelee National Park, and having lunch in Leamington.

I've done it all before, but when we started adding up the years it was too long ago to count.

There is a soft green and blue look to Ontario in spring, pale blue and white skies over furred green fields surrounded by young crops and the water towers of small towns.

IT'S TOO early for the juice of fresh peaches to run down your chin or for buttered corn to drip into your tennis shoes, but it's a great time of year to visit Point Pelee.

· We approached it through the old red brick village of Learnington, which wore a sign over the street saying "Leamington Welcomes Birders" and then followed Lake Erie, with its lighthouses and small wooden summer cottages to the park.

The road runs past the park gate through a tunnel of trees between Lake Erie and the marsh, a world of wildflowers, cyclists, picnic tables and a sign that reads "Turtles Crossing." A carpet of purple Waterleaf ran away

Point Pelee National Park is one of the 29 national parks in Canada, but it is the only one formed on the basis of its natural history. Its the most southerly point of Canada, on the same latitude as northern California, so it's the only place in Canada where many of the plants and animals native to a southern climate are found.

AT LEAST two-thirds of the six square mile area of the park, smallest national park in Canada, are cattail marshes. The marsh was even larger once but it was drained in the nineteenth century to make room for the onion fields that still bloom outside the Early settlers named this little peninsula Pt. Pelee, French for Bald Point, because it looked so barren when approached from the lake. A film in the park museum shows the homesteads that once stood here and how tourism started early, when bathing suits came down to your knees and you had to crank cars.

Naturalists recognized the distinctive birds and southern plants by the turn-of-the-century, and by 1918 it was a park, although the tourists still came in hordes until the 1960s when the environment won out over the tourists.

Of course you can still bathe and fish and picnic there, but the park is really preserved for the hundreds of plants, birds and animals that give this park its reputation in Canada

There are a lot of exciting moments in the park but the moment when the voices rise is on the wooden observation tower that looms above the marsh.

FROM HERE you can see the boardwalk stepping across the water lilles of the marsh, the canoes winding through the cattails and the T-shirts and sunhats appearing unexpectedly on bridges far away across a sea of marsh

The most popular time to visit Point Pelee National Park is in early spring, with birdwatchers photographing the birds on their northern migration, and in September when the Monarch butterflies cover the trees like blossoms.

I plan to come back to the area when the wonderful southern Ontario fruits and vegetables are in season, a great time to have a corn roast and a feed of fresh peaches. At that time I would like to follow that sign that says "Ferry to Sandusky" and take my first trip to Pelee Island.

Meantime, I follow my Canadian friends to the Leamington Dock Restaurant, a rambling wood building restored at the end of a dock, where we will watch Lake Erie rumble and roll as we eat lunch and sip wine from the nearby Colio winery.

THAT'S ANOTHER thing I'm going to do this summer, take a winery tour. I'm also going to revisit Colosantis greenhouse, watch the Canada goose migration into Jack Miner's Bird Sanctuary in Kingsville, and other wondrous things on a warm day in southern Onder to Windsor, lately, you may have noticed a new hotel on the skyline. The 22-story Windsor Hilton opened on Riverside Drive in January. From the dining room and adjacent upstairs bar, an environment of blonde wood and black lacquer chairs, you look across a sheen of night water to the lighted skyline of Detroit.

Nearby locations like that are like old friends. Sometimes you don't see them for a long time and you forget how much fun they are.

The dining room specializes in Canadian food. it is one of the finest dining rooms in the area now, with both food and service first-class. If you consider the exchange on the American dollar, prices are reasonable.

That exchange also makes the weekend getaway a good buy: $69 per person Canadian for two nights accommodations (Friday or Saturday arrival), and no charge for up to two children who share the room. Regular rates are $69 a night single

Adding international flair to the fling was New Zealand's Alex Van Dermaat, who threw a respectable 85 feet 8 inch-

Businesses can help shave energy costs

By Penny Wright special writer

Russ Webster owns a deli in downtown Plymouth. Webster's dependence on cooking and refrigeration equipment makes him vulnerable to rising gas and electricity costs.

Despite his efforts to modernize and tighten air leaks, his utility bills continue to run $500 to $650 per month.

Said Webster, "Whether business is good or bad, the utility bills are always there.

Webster is seeking ways to reduce that burden. He is not alone

Around the state, other commercial and industrial energy users are asking for help in shaving utility costs.

Many building operators lack a clear understanding of how energy is used in their facility or what cost-effective options are available to improve usage. Each year power companies like Consumers Power and Detroit Edison receive hundreds of requests for some type of energy audit service.

HELP IS on the way.

The impetus began in 1978. Amid mounting concern over the availability of Middle East oil supplies, Congress passed the National Energy Act.

This act consisted of five separate laws. One initiated the RCS (Residential Conservation Service) and the CACS (Commercial and Apartment Conservation Services) energy audits.

Michigan began the RCS program in 1981, and it has been one of the most successful programs in the nation. More than 500,000 home energy audits have been conducted.

And now the commercial program is beginning to move. After final federal rules were issued last December, all states were directed to file plans of implementation of those rules. Each state was also required to designate one agency to oversee the program. The Michigan Public Service Commission (MPSC) is the lead agency in Michigan.

AWAITING APPROVAL by the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) is an audit program called the Michigan Business Energy Efficiency Program

When approved, the program will make available energy audit services for commercial buildings used for profit or non-profit business including schools, churches, and state and local government facilities.

The program also covers apartment, and industrial buildings. In all cases, the audits will be expected to bring lower costs, improved profitability and competitiveness to the businesses in-

2. Michigan is one of the few states with an unsubsidized program.

According to Hanneman, the federal rules applied only to small commercial customers. "We thought the distinction was artificial. We wanted to help out all businesses in Michigan."

The Michigan plan has two phases.

The first phase includes customers defined by the federal guidelines. Phase II customers include larger energy users and those using energy for industrial manufacturing.

ALSO UNIQUE to the Michigan plan is the fact that costs for the audits will be paid by the businesses receiving the

"The trend will be to get away from subsidized services," said Hanneman. The move toward a self-supporting program was the result of a 1982 pilot program of commercial auditing conducted in the state. Commercial and industrial customers expressed a willingness to pay for services rendered.

While actual costs for the audit services have yet to be set, those involved with the program say the price must be attractive, yet cover the costs of the auditor, and computer software analy-

Marsden Murphy, a Detroit Edison Co. administrator, ventured a guess that audits conducted in Phase I could cost in the range of $200 to $300. "Since significant energy and dollar savings are potentially available," said Murphy, "the fee charged should not discourage participation."

WHAT WILL a customer receive for those dollars? Program officials envision that audit to be a walk-through type with some analysis. An audit would entail:

• On site data gathering.

· Analysis of energy used by various systems and components of the building.

 Energy management advice. · Presentation of a written energy audit report.

Murphy said Detroit Edison expects to accomplish about 1,500 commercial energy audits a year once the program is under way. Program organizers are hopeful Phase I audits will start this PHASE II audits are expected to begin a year later. "Customers will be contacted through their billings and other advertising channels once the program is available," Murphy said.

He said that while actual energy savings are hard to predict, he was certain that the audits would help businesses run more efficiently and more profita-

"The results of the commercial audits should also stimulate increased ac-tivity for consultants, contractors and others to design, sell and install new and replacement components and systems," he said.

Eccentric hopes to avenge last year's loss in 2nd O&E all-star soccer classic Friday

By Jim Hughes staff writer

OU CAN CALL this Classic II, and draw an analogy with the plight of box office drawing card Rocky Bal-

Friday evening the girls All-Area soccer team from the Observer Newspapers will host the Eccentric's All-Area squad in a 6:30 matchup at Livonia Stevenson High School, and the team from the east side wants nothing more than to make up for last year's lopsided game.

In the inaugural Observer & Eccentric Girls High School Soccer Classic last year, the Observer team posted a 7-1 victory over the Eccentric unit. Eccentric coach Terry Dilworth says things may be different this time

"It should be — unlike last year — more of a defensive battle," the young and eager Marian coach said. "Both All-Area teams have included more defensive players, and better ones.

"I think the players are better than last year. A lot are the same, but they've definitely improved. The east side is not going to get blown out like they did last year."

THE ECCENTRIC team has a bit of the Rocky characteristics from the first of the three movies — the underdog just looking for a shot at the title. The Observerland unit, on the other hand, is the champion and the favor-

"I think we have an extremely talented team," said Livonia Stevenson coach Norene Divens, who, along with Mercy coach Gene Fogel, will direct the Apollo Creed-type Observer squad. "I think we're stronger than last year, because last year a lot of the first-team players were missing.

"All of them play together in the off-season, and they know each other. Twelve of the players are part of the FLIP Rowdies who are playing for the Midwest Regional (girls under 19) championship this weekend."

Divens, like Dilworth, expects a closer contest than last year's game.
"We're looking forward to a tough match," Divens noted.

"We may be a little more controlled this year," said Dilworth.
"We're not going to be as desperate as it seemed they were last year. The east side should be able to move the ball around and use all of the field. It should be a controlled game, but with a fast tempo."

The game features some of the most-talented players in the state. Eight of the teams represented finished in the top 10 of the final Michigan High School Soccer Coaches Association poll.

THE OBSERVER team includes Mary Kay Hussey (Stevenson), Annette Ruggiero (Mercy), Lisa Rigstad (Bentley), Lisa Russell (Canton), Jennifer Huegli (Churchill), Dorene Duck (Churchill), Kim Paterson (Bentley), Cheryl Galindo (Stevenson), Sue Bartram (Farmington), Sheri Wolfe (Bentley), Margie Wangbichler (Canton), Doreen Beagle (Stevenson), Betsy Eads (Mercy), Lisa Broccardo (Stevenson), Beth Frigge (Canton) and Jennifer Flowers (Churchill).

The Eccentric players include Lori Nicley (Athens), Debbie Wojtaszek (Marian), Lisa Leonard (Lahser), Karen Bednark (West Bloomfield), Shannon Bessette (Marian), Stephanie Scott (Seaholm), Liz Suttie (Troy), Carol Grenn (Troy), Katy Andreae (Seaholm), Joanne Blake (Troy), Sue Lormin (Athens), Julie Bessell (Athens), Katie Perle (Country Day), Cindy Wass (Athens), Joanna Marquardt (Troy) and Shelagh Brett (Athens).

The following is a summary of some of the Observer players:

 Hussey, a junior all-stater, scored 40 goals and added 28 assists this year to bring her career total to 82 goals and 50 assists. Hussey, the MVP in last year's all-star game, had 11 game-winning goals this past season.

 Rigstad, a senior forward, scored 24 goals and had 10 assists.
 She is a second-team all-stater.

 Russell, a junior forward, had 21 goals and eight assists, and was an all-state honorable mention.

 Huegli, a sophomore forward, scored 12 goals and had eight assists.

Lisa Russell's talented touch around the net helped Plymouth Canton close out its girls' soccer season in winning fashion with a 4-0 blanking of Farmington Harrison Friday, May 27, 1983 at Canton.

Russell netted all four goals for the Chiefs, bringing her season total to 12. Lori Engel assisted on two of Russell's tallies and Kim Reeves assisted on another.

Pat Phillips stopped six Harrison shots to record her third shutout. Canton fired 16 shots at the Harrison goal. The victory gave the Chiefs a 5-7-2 final season record.

Roush-Ribbs a perfect race combination

staff writer

Willie T. Ribbs was confident - certain - that his year had finally ar-

This was it: after finishing second to DeAtley racing teammate David Hobbs in last year's SCCA Trans-Am driving championship, Ribbs was sure he could leap to the top.

After all, he won more races (five) and more pole positions (four) than anyone on the circuit.

"I proved I was the fastest driver," said the 28-year-old Californian.

But it wasn't enough. Ribbs' season with DeAtley ended before it got started. After posting the second-fastest qualifying time at Road Atlanta, the Trans-Am series opener May 4, Ribbs got into an altercation with pole-sitter Bob Lobenberg, who Ribbs claimed "tried to run me off the road" during pre-race warmups.

Ribbs was further angered by what he called a lack "of backing (from the team) I thought I should have." Before Ribbs knew it, team owner Neil DeAtley said he was accepting his resigna-Ribbs' balloon burst, his hopes for the season disintegrating - almost.

ENTER TEAM ROUSH, the Livoniabased firm that had been entrusted with rebuilding Ford's Trans-Am racing team. Ford hadn't won a title on the circuit in a decade, due greatly to budget cutbacks.

Jack Roush, who manages Roush Protofab, and Ford engineer Bob Riley were given the task of putting Ford back in the Trans-Am racing business four years ago. Their labors are beginning to pay dividends this season.

And it may very well be Ribbs that reaps that harvest.

"It was all timing, really," said Roush spokesman Walt Stannard. "We had been watching Willie for a long time, and we were interested in him. But he was tied up with DeAtley."

When that relationship ended, Roush moved fast and signed Ribbs to drive a second Roush car. The car has just been completed — Wednesday, to be exact — and Ribbs will race it for the first time in Saturday's Trans-Am race at the Detroit Grand Prix.

The Trans-Am season is a 15-race series in Canada and the U.S., featuring stock-like, mass-produced, high-performance autos that can reach speeds of 180 mph. Saturday's will be the first Trans-Am race over the Detroit Grand Prix course and only the second street course in the series.

WHICH SUITS Ribbs just fine. He's missed four weeks of the season, but no one will be any better prepared for a street course since they have yet to race on one (the other street race is Sept. 2 at Trois-Rivieres, Quebec).

And although Ribbs is unfamiliar with the car he'll be driving, he is supremely confident in both himself and his machine.

"The Mercury Capri is the most technologically advanced car in Trans-Am," he said bluntly. "Ford hasn't been a winner in Trans-Am in 10 years.

That isn't just talk. Team Roush driver Greg Pickett leads the driver's championship point race and won Portland (Ore.) Raceway event last Saturday by 46 seconds.

GM cars - like the DeAtley Camaro Ribbs drove last season - have dominated in the past few years. Ribbs sees that era ending.

"They've put together the right combination," he said of Team Roush, which is sponsored by Ford Motocraft. "It's the right personnel, the right

IT'S THAT combination that Ribbs figures gives him a shot at the driver's title, despite missing four races. "I've done the impossible before," he said. "Maybe I can do it again." Winning Saturday's race, however, will be a tall order, which both Ribbs and Stannard acknowledged. A new. virtually untested car and a driver who hasn't raced in a month are major ob-

However, Ribbs thinks the Capri "should do better on the street (course) It's very nimble, very quick."

Ribbs' ride is guaranteed for just one race, but Stannard was confident that Ribbs would remain a member of the team "if the sponsorship can be found. "The problem is that budgets are locked in at the beginning of the year," Stannard explained. "Hopefully, if ev-erything works out, Willie will be able to race with us the rest of the year." There's one thing Ribbs would like more than just racing for Team Roush and that's winning.

Runner-up last year in the regional to Tammell Crow of St. Louis, the Rowdies appear ready for a regional championship run.

They demolished four opponents last weekend en route to the Midland Invitational crown.

Annette Ruggiero scored four goals and Sue Ferguson and Kim Paterson notched three each as the Rowdies buried the Saginaw Township Pioneers in the championship, 15-0.

The Rowdies also posted wins over host Midland (13-0), the Northville Sting (10-0) and the Flint Strikers (16-0) as Doreen Beagle was the goaltender.

"RIGHT NOW things seem to be blending," said Dave Lussier, the team's coach. "These kids have played together for five years and when the high school season is over, they look forward to renewing their friendships and playing together.

If anybody is going to challenge the Plymouth-Canton Elks in the Redford Adray Connie Mack baseball league, they'd better step forward in a hurry.

Canton, better known as Canton Catholic because of the five Catholic Central players on the roster, is now 6-0 after devastating its closest rival, Redford Union Don Foss, 17-0 Tuesday. RU had come into the contest 4-0.

"We were good with the bats. What else can you say?" said Canton coach Dave Racer. "The kids' eyes lit up when they found out (Brian) Porter was pitching. They responded well to the challenge.

CANTON KNOCKED Porter out in the second. A single and two walks loaded the bases with no outs. RU coach Glenn Murdoch brought on Bill Jeff Wittner greeted him with a long grand slam homer and Canton was off to a mercy killing of RU. It was 9-0 after two, 15-0 after three,

"Those were the first runs Porter had given up all year," Murdoch said. "I promise you we'll give them a better game next time."

K, YOU'RE the coach of this year's Observerland All-Area softball squad. Here's some things you may want to know about your team:

Your two pitchers have a combined win-loss record of 32-8. In 280 innings of work they have struck out 253 batters. Their combined ERA is just over 1.00.

Your catcher is hitting .464, has a cannon arm and is a solid team leader. Your infield has a combined batting average of .407 and a fielding average over.900. You're outfield is hitting .397 and knocking in an average of 23 runs per player.

KOOS didn't have an overabundance of talent on his Rocket softball team this season. He had a very young club. The team struggled at first, losing five of its first nine ballgames. Koos kept his team together. They didn't panic.

Suddenly, they reeled off nine straight wins. The Rockets made a strong run in the state tourney. The Rockets swept through the Dearborn district tournament before bowing to Bishop Borgess in the re-

The Rockets' 19-8 season is a tribute to the pride of the young team and the patience of Observerland's 1984 Coach of the Year, Vic Koos. Here's the 1984 All-Area softball team:

PITCHERS

Lisa Bokovoy, Livonia Stevenson: The toughest thing to remember about Bokovoy is that she's only a junior. She is a most dominant player, as her statistics will attest

The first team all-state choice was 19-2. Her ERA was 0.53. She struck out 161 batters in 131 innings and walked just 19. She hurled two nohitters, five one-hitters and five two-hitters.

Her rising fastball has been clocked at 70 mph. And, she's also tough at the plate. She hit .518 this season with six home runs and 37 RBI.

Nancy Rzepka, Bishop Borgess: Her stats aren't quite as impressive as Bokovoy's, nor is her fastball, but this senior is as fierce a competitor as you'd want on your club.

She was 13-6 with the Spartans, with a 1.90 ERA. She posted 92 strikeouts.

Rzepka, a three-sport standout and honor student, was named Borgess Woman Athlete of the Year - the most prestigious award given to a Borgess athlete.

INFIELDERS

Linda Lee Loeffler, Livonia Stevenson: This personable senior is everything a coach could want in a catcher. She hits (.464), she fields well (.958 fielding percentage), she throws well (nailing four of the seven runners who dared to steal), and she is a general on the field.

A tribute to the type of competitor Loeffler is, she improved her batting average 130 points since her junior year and her field average 129 points.

Sue Sheeran, Redford Union: This senior was a major offensive weapon for the Panthers, hitting .362 with 21 runs scored, and 14 RBI. She was also a solid fielding first baseman with a .993 fielding percentage. She made only one error all season, handling 145 chances. Sheeran's ability to get on base made the Panther offense go. Her on base average is close to .500.

Amy Austin, North Farmington: There have been few high school athletes with more raw ability than this senior. She excelled in three sports for the Raiders as well as in the classroom.

The shortstop hit .492 this past season, had three doubles, four triples and two home runs. She knocked in 28 runs, scored 31 more, and stole 13 bases. At shortstop, she made just nine errors in 90 chances (.900).

Her career batting average at North was .405. She struck out just six times in 195 at bats. Austin holds every career offensive record at North Farm-

"She's the best female athlete ever at North Farmington," said her coach Dennis Mikel. He's not Patty Cox, Bishop Borgess: This petite senior gives new meaning to the word shortstop - she's a tiny young woman (short) who stops everything.

She is quite a player. She had a .953 fielding percentage making 125 putouts. She also contributed offensively, hitting .322 with 38 walks, an important stat for a leadoff hitter.

"Patty was the finest all-around player on our team," said coach Jerry Abraham. Cox started every game for Borgess the past two seasons.

Missy Lundy, Westland John Glenn: This junior third baseman is the Mike Schmidt of this all-star team. This is our power hitter.

Lundy hit .395 for Vic Koos' team, with nine doubles, two triples, three home runs, and 28 RBI. Twice in two years she has collected two home runs and six RBI in one game.

"Missy was fearless at third base. She fielded the bunt perfectly and had a Big 10 arm," Koos said. OUTFIELD

Lonnie Payne, Livonia Bentley: The last of three talented juniors on this squad, Payne is a punishing hitter. She hit .472. She is also a fleet-footed outfielder with a .941 percentage.

"Lonnie is a team leader," said Bentley coach Bob Dean. "She is the type of player that is always willing to help out the other players whenever she

Liz Gargaro, Livonia Stevenson: Another power hitter. This senior ripped five doubles, two triples and four homers for the Spartans while hitting at a .385 clip. She is also a sure-handed outfielder making just two errors all season, both throwing errors. Gargaro knocked in 29 runs and scored 20. She was a second team all-state selection. Jill Walser, Redford Thurston: The best way to describe Walser is, she covers center field like a blanket. You will not be productive hitting the ball to center field when this attractive senior is out

"She comes to play every game," said coach Ron Lectka.

Walser, who is a professional model, batted .333 with four triples and 20 RBI for the Eagles. ALL-AREA SECOND TEAM

It's something Emil Majeski and his team will cherish forever.

Thurston High School did what seemed impossible two months ago, capturing the state Class B baseball championship with a thrilling 2-1 victory over previously No. 1-ranked Wyoming Park, a team which finished with a 32-3 record.

It was pure elation for the Thurston coach, his team and their loyal backers Saturday at Eastern Michigan University's Briggs Field.

The school celebrated its first-ever state title.

"This is an amazing ballclub," said Majeski, the 19-year veteran of the coaching ranks. "They've been battlers all year and they've kept their composure. Thurston had numerous opportunities to crack under pressure, but senior pitcher David Kress saved his best outing for last.

THE HARD-THROWING righthander pitched a masterful game, allowing just five hits while striking out

After giving up three straight hits and a run in the second inning, Kress yielded only one hit the rest of the

"I feel I had my best stuff today," said Kress, who was plagued by elbow trouble earlier in the year. "But we played good defense and that's name of the game."

The Eagles played flawlessly all afternoon, a far cry from Friday's 7-6 semifinal win over Grand Rapids Christian. In that game, Thurston made six errors. "Everybody had the jitters Friday," said center fielder Tim DeMarco. "Before we came here (to EMU), coach Majeski told us to keep a level head and not get down on the um-

Besides Kress, who finished the season with a 7-5 record, there were many other heroes Saturday.

One of Friday's stars, Greg Somerville, made a great throw from left field in the second inning to keep Marty Richards at third.

IN THE THIRD, DeMarco made a sliding catch to rob Steve Jenkinson base hit. Meanwhile, shortstop Dave Dziobak and second baseman Mike Maurin grabbed everything that came their way.

But it was John Blicharz's clutch two-run double in the first inning, scoring Kress and DeMarco, which provided the final margin of victory.

"I've been around a long time, but I'm most happy for the team," said Majeski. "The difference is that these guys pick each other up. It was a great team effort."

Wyoming Park right-hander Jim Hazlett, who suffered his first loss, pitched well in his own right. He gave up just four hits and walked three.

"I thought maybe both teams would score more runs," Majeski said, "but Kress was the man of the hour.

"He was the one who was pressured to go to Fiorida (over Easter vacation), but I have a rule that you have to stay if you want to play. He stayed with us and look - we won the championship."

IN FRIDAY'S semifinal at Ypsilanti High School, Somerville and Blicharz made the clutch plays to give Thurston a one-run triumph over Grand Rapids Christian, a team which bowed out at 19-10.

Somerville, a 5-foot-5, 138-pound stick of dynamite, pitched and hit the Eagles to victory.

He helped his own cause with an RBI single in the third to give Thurston a 1-1 tie. All told, the Eagles exploded for five runs in that inning. The key play came when Grand Rapids catcher Todd DeKok overthrew first base, trying to nail DeMarco, who had struck out. The overthrow brought two Thurston runners home. Kress also contributed to the surge with an RBI single.

Trailing 5-1, Christian got a run back in the fourth on a Thurston error. Grand Rapids knotted the count at 5-all with three more runs in the fifth as the Eagles made another costly infield mistake.

But in the sixth, Somerville put Thurston ahead to stay when he dou-

Blicharz, playing first base, robbed lead-off man Jim Vos of a hit with a Dave Bergman-like stop.

"That first baseman made a beck of a play," said Christian coach Dick VanderKamp, whose team made five errors. "If he doesn't make that play it's a two-base hit."

With one out, losing pitcher Jim Klunder then rapped his second straight single to keep things alive for Christian.

Brother Dan Klunder then drilled a shot to Dziobak, whose throw from short was scooped out of the dirt by Blicharz for the second out.

Jim Timmer then brought Klunder home with a single and went to third when the throw from the outfield sailed into the box seats, placing the tying run (Timmer) on third base.

Despite his team's sixth error, Somerville stayed cool on the mound and was rewarded. He got DeKok out on a slow tapper near the mound to end the game.

GREG'S a gutsy pitcher," said the Thurston coach. "Most pitchers would have given up. And look who gets the hit to win the game."

Somerville finished the year with an 8-0 record. He and his teammates won seven straight tournament games to finish with a 17-9-1 overall

Looking for tax shelter?

Most tax-shelter deals are intricately structured, with as many variations as there are sections of the tax code. Nevertheless, most operate mainly on the basis of several general tax-saving principles, the benefits of which flow through to individual investors. These are as follows:

The first is the ability to defer payment of taxes, primarily by generating tax losses through deductions for depreciation.

Second, shelters often offer outright tax reductions by taking advantage of tax credits on certain investments, such as energy-saving equipment. Investors can invest the money saved in taxes elsewhere; as a result, they can come out ahead even if the shelter eventually shows a loss.

THIRD, IF the shelter earns income, chances are the income would qualify as a long-term capital gain. now taxed at a maximum effective rate of 20 percent. Most of these benefits are part and parcel of the popular partnerships available today.

Picking the right tax shelters is tricky, and you will be well-advised to let a professional select the shelter that makes good economic sense and falls in the appropriate risk category. However, regardless of who makes the selection, you might benefit from observing the following guidelines:

· Partnerships are not liquid and investors should be able to part with their money for five, 10 or more years. A few large brokerage firms keep a buy-sell list to help investors who want out to find buyers. Some firms buy public partnerships units but only if they are four years old and then for only the original investment or perhaps a little more, which could mean 70 percent of eventual net

· Don't invest without a financial cushion. A minimum net worth of $75,000 and $50,000 annual income are highly recommended.

· Read and understand the prospectus, which could be more than 100 pages. Ask the seller to explain what you don't understand or get advice from an independent accountant. Study the fees, commissions and free rides to general partners, which could total 25, 30 or 35 percent of the initial investment.

· Beware of excessive prices paid for buildings. Some partnerships pay prices that are far higher than their market prices.

· Learn the record of the general partners. Did previous projections of profits and tax benefits work out? The prospectus should tell. If you are so inclined, read Brennan Reports before buying a shelter. You may obtain the report by writing to Brennan Reports, Suite 245, P.O. Box 882, Valley Forge, PA 19482. For more detailed information, you may wish to read "Tax Shelters - The Basics," Harper & Row, $13.95.

By David Messingspecial writer

Like a poet lost in verse or a composer lost in music, so is the artist caught up in visual expression. The poet is busy in the selection of words while the composer seeks for the proper combination of sounds. The artist likewise selects the lines, shapes, colors and tex-tures that must be abstracted from the scene or subject. Just like the poet and composer express themselves in words or music so does the artist express himself or herself visually.

Expression is that quality that sets certain artworks above those that are merely technically skillful. Perhaps more in the area of wildlife art there are those works that are extremely skillful, yet lacking in the expressive quality that says something or evokes a response from the viewers. I believe that in the careful recording of every feather or hair the expressive quality is often lost in the multitude of lines. This expressive quality is more easily retained if first the artist gestures in the main shape and force of the subject. Then blocks in the basic colors. Then stepping back to re-evaluate, begins placing in only those details that support the feelings he or she wishes to express. Boy! I'm making this sound

LET ME put it this way. Last year I noticed an article about a baby cheetah learning the basic cheetah attack rules from its mother. There in the article was a photo of a baby cheetah trying to bring down a little impala. What interested me in this photo was the aggressive look in the eye of the baby cheetah and the relative calm look in the eye of the impala. So first I gestured in the main shapes and colors. Then I supported only these areas around the faces with photographic details. I was interested in the stiltlike legs of the impala so I made them long and boney for an effect, but still they were void of detail. Everything else is very abstract with realism only in the areas in which I was most interested. I felt no need to prove that I could endure the time and effort to paint in every hair, twig and spec of dust surrounding.

So in wildlife art I feel it is very important to work from photos. As I mentioned in an earlier article, I have a greater fear of being inaccurate than of using a photo for reference. So unless you have a pet rhino, cheetah or zebra you will be forced to use photos and make necessary abstractions for your expression.

With many animals being shades of brown I soon became unhappy with the browns available in water colors. One tip to liven up browns in this medium is to add a drop or two of Dr. Martins dye. These radiant dyes create a depth or glowing quality to even a dark brown, yellow ocher, sienna brown and even a bright color such as persimmon. When painting brightly colored animals such as exotic birds, it is often necessary to play down the colors for believ-ability. If you do, however, decide to go for it and try to copy the brightness of a color don't rule out florescent colors as your strongest highlight. Now before you gag, I want to say the florescent colors must be mixed in to brighten colors and are rarely used in the pure state. But when carefully done can resemble the iridescent brightness of colorful feathers.

IN PAINTING scenery it is critical to vary color as it recedes into the painting. This is the number one error in many paintings. If, for example, a blue spruce pine tree is a certain color in the foreground it certainly should be a different color if there is a blue spruce a mile into the background. Speaking of blue spruce, this is an exceptional greenish blue. Most all greens in nature, however, are yellowish green as in sap or hookers green. When these greens are shaded they tend towards brown and not deep turquoise as is often done. Gray up clouds and save the whites for highlights. People often paint puffy white clouds that jump out of the picture. During the bright daylight hours clouds are mostly shades of gray and rimmed with white. In the sunrise and sunset hours clouds reflect many warm colors from orange to pink. But above all keep clouds soft and subtle.

Now for some quick tips on diverse subjects in animal rendering, always reduce catchlights (white highlights) to one on each eye. Often in out door photos there are several catch lights which when painted create a glassy, vague-ness to the animals eyes. Also for a special touch consider a small highlight on the rim of the eyelid.

When rendering an animal or subject in the grass remember to carry the grass or weeds up in front of the subject. So as a last step take a deep breath and stroke some grass or weeds right over your subject.

The wildlife art magazine I was going to profile was such a big hif at the art store that someone sold the list copy out of my brief case. So next wenk I will try it again.

I was again late writing this article and said to my wife, I don't have tiling the said to my wife. to draw a cartoon. Adam overh and said "Hey, Dad I'll draw ya one. So here is a picture from a 5-year-old point of view, about wildlife. He tol me it's a "duck in water."

Dearborn festival attracts area artists

Eight local artists and craftspeople are among the nearly 60 who will be participating in Dear-born's fifth annual Homecoming Art Fair, Aug. 3-5.

Located at Ford Field, on Brady north of Michigan Avenue, the art fair opens at 2 p.m. Friday, noon Saturday and 10 a.m. Sunday. It closes at 8:30 p.m. each day

Those exhibiting are: Wallace Bilyeau of Livonia, watercolor; Amanda Bilyeau of Livonia, rag dolls; Mary Ann Crandall of Redford, silk/dried flowers and soft sculpture; Ralph Davis of Westland, watercolor; Dorothy Denner of Canton, stained glass; Judy Roland of Plymouth, pottery; Thomas Le-Gault of Plymouth, acrylic painting; and Frank Yanke of Farmington Hills, jewelry.

Yanke's work was awarded the distinguished "Juror's Choice" for 1984.

TO ENSURE quality, Dearborn's art fair is juried. Selecting the fair participants this year were Nancy Fish Hawkins, of the Michigan Watercolor Society; Robert Cadez, art department director at Henry Ford Community College; and noted weaver Kathleen Crombie.

Almost 200,000 people are expected to turn out for the Dearborn Homecoming, which features a "Fantasy Weekend" theme, fireworks on two nights, an Italian festival and bocce tournament, a Polish festival, continuous free stage entertainment, reunion picnics for alumni of all Dearborn high schools, two performances of the U.S. Air Force Band of Flight and a nondenominational religious service.
