Lawsuit targets Vista deal's pricing

By M.B. Dillon-Ward and Gary M. Cates

With the Vista II bribery trial completed, the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department faces a lawsuit seeking multi-million-dollar damages stemming from alleged price-fixing.

Several western Wayne County communities, including Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton Township, likely will ask to become plaintiffs in the federal district court proceedings.

The suit was filed by Oakland County Drain Commissioner George Kuhn following the Vista I trial. U.S. District Court Judge John Feikens placed Kuhn's suit on hold while the Vista II trial proceeded.

The Vista trials involved charges against seven co-defendants stemming from wrong-doings in the awarding of sludge hauling contracts for the Detroit sewage treatment plant.

Included in those who either were found guilty or pleaded guilty to bribe conspiracy were Vista owner Darralyn Bowers and Water and Sewerage Director Charles Beckham.

Kuhn's suit charges that the price for sludge-hauling in the Vista contract was inflated and resulted in higher sewage rates for the suburban users of the system. Kuhn has invited all the user communities to join in the lawsuit.

"WE'RE ASKING the Wayne County Commissioners to vote and direct the county executive to enter into a lawsuit for us," said Canton Supervisor James Poole.

"Of course that will turn out to be funsville. How many of them (county commissioners) are from Detroit? I don't think they'd be for it," Poole said. Many western Wayne County communities contract for sewage treatment with the county, rather than Detroit, because the county owns the sewerage interceptor line going to the Detroit plant.

The county contracts with Detroit for the treatment of the sewage from the interceptor and, in turn, sells the service to the communities.

Unlike Poole, Kuhn believes the Wayne County Board of Commissioners will petition County Executive William Lucas to enter into the suit.

Based on "inside information" he has received, Kuhn told the Observer Friday that there is a majority of commissioners who will vote in favor of the lawsuit.

Fund sets 'giving' goal

By Gary M. Cates

The Plymouth Community Fund United Way kicked off its 1984 fund drive Thursday night with a "kick off dinner"

Fund drive chairman James Garber, a judge at the 35th District Court, announced this year's fund raising goal of $365,000.

"That's some real money," Garber told the audience, "I'm sure nobody in the room is willing to write a check for that amount right now. But as a group, that's totally obtainable."

Some 120 people attended the dinner, including community fund officers and local leaders. Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen and Plymouth Mayor David Pugh read proclamations naming October as community fund month in their municipalities.

'I suppose we could forget about doing it on our own and go with the rest of Detroit and still raise the same amount of money.'

- James Garber drive chairman

Co. presented Garber with a $4,500 check on behalf of the Sheldon Road Plant in Plymouth Township.

GARBER SPOKE about the need for a community fund.

Plymouth is the rectangle missing on the United Way maps showing the Detroit areas served by the same fundraising organization, he said. Garber said people have asked him why Plymouth doesn't combine with the rest of the Detroit area.

"I suppose we could forget about doing it on our own and go with the rest of Detroit and still raise the same amount of money. But we've been doing it the hard way for 41 years for the same reason we don't forget about the Fall Festival, the band, the orchestra, and the balloon festival," he said.

By collecting United Way funds on its own, Garber said the Plymouth area transforms "residents into citizens, houses into homes, and governmental units into communities.

"We are building on the foundation of the past. What remains to be seen is if that rectangle isn't there," he said.

LAST YEAR'S fund drive goal was $330,000 and $333,000 was collected,

Among the items to be discussed and acted upon at the Plymouth Township Board meeting Tuesday is a proposed modification of the township's existing ordinance regarding convassing, soliciting and peddling.

A state law passed this year requires that all persons who solicit door-to-door or conduct street sales must have a sales tax number.

The existing Plymouth Township ordinance on the subject does not require that solicitors or peddlers first obtain a

The Plymouth Police Department has narrowed its search for a new computer system to one bidder — in fact, the only bidder interested in installing such a system for the city.

The Plymouth City Commission is considering the proposal, submitted by Monroe Systems Inc., a division of Litton Industries. The system proposal would include computer hardware, software, disk drives, monitors and printers.

The police department sent out several requests for bids, meeting city specifications. The only one received, from Monroe Systems, called for a lease/purchase agreement.

Under the plan, which has been recommended to the commission by Plymouth City Manager Henry Graper, the city would have the option of cancelling the lease if funds are not available. Funds have not yet been appropriated in the general fund for a commuter.

Funds have not yet been appropriated in the general fund for a computer.

At the end of the proposed three-year lease period, the city would own the equipment, with an option to cancel at the end of the first year.

The Monroe System would cost about $20,000, including hardware, software and installation. Hardware includes an Intel processor, 128K random access memory, floppy disc drives, matrix printers and two monitors.

The lease-purchase agreement would allow the city to make monthly payments of $627 for the equipment and an additional $148 for a maintenance contract. The total payment would come to $775.

Interest charged on the hardware amounts to 4 percent; on the maintenance contract, 2.75 percent.

Monroe also offers a five-year lease agreement, with monthly payments of $373 for hardware and $153 for maintenance, for a total of $527 a month; or a three-year lease agreement with payments of $530 and $148, for a $678 total

The lease agreements are lower in cost than the lease-purchase agreement, but cannot be cancelled at any-time. Also, unlike the lease-purchase agreement, the city wouldn't own the equipment at the end of the lease.

MIKE RICHARDSON, administrative assistant in the Plymouth Police Department, has been studying the feasibility of installing a computer sys-

Richardson said that a computer would be a definite asset to the department, but would require additional manpower to put existing files of police records into the computer.

"We are looking into several alternatives, including hiring clerical help through a temporary employment agency, utilizing existing clerical staff or hiring co-op students through Schoolcraft College or the Detroit College of Business," Carol Stone, city purchasing agent, recently informed the commission. She said she would report

PROTECTION FOR CALLUSES

QUESTIONS: I have a very painful callus on my foot. How can I protect it from infection?

ANSWER: To protect a callus from infection, you can place a thin piece of moleskin over the affected area, taking care to separate it from your skin by using gauze or absorbent cotton. Usually the moleskin is removed each day and replaced with a fresh dressing. Be sure to hold the skin of the sole of your foot taut first, then slowly pull the moleskin back toward your heel. Don't do it quickly or you may rip the flesh and cause bleeding. It is usually advis able to remove the moleskin dressing at night when you go to bed, as well as when you take a bath or shower. In some cases, however, your podiatrist may recommend that the dressing be kept on at all times and not removed until he has had an opportunity to examine the callus again. In the interest of better foot health from the office of: DR. JAMES SCHELBERG 39439 JOY ROAD CANTON, MICHIGAN 48187

With five years of experience, the 30-year-old manager of a fast-food restaurant has turned to more offbeat, experimental compositions.

He used a fisheye lens on his Canon A-1. A fisheye lens is an extreme wide-angle lens that is not corrected for spherical distortion.

The lens features extreme depth of field and such a wide angle of view that the photographer has to take care that his own feet are not in the picture. Rostamloo used this trait to his advantage by using his own feet as part of the composition.
"I thought it might get somebody's

His entry drew many comments from the judges, both positive and negative, but all agreed the photo was the strangest slide judged during the history of the contest. The judges admired his attempt to present a completely different view of the event.

"The state has been upset, because a lot of people do not pay sales tax," said Esther Hulsing, township clerk.

Plymouth Township requires a license to solicit or peddle. But the proposed change would insert the sales tax number requirement, following the guidelines of the Michigan Townships Association.

Hulsing has requested that Township Attorney Brian James study the's existing ordinance, to bring it into line with the state law, the MTA guidelines and an ordinance now in effect in Canton Township.

The Canton soliciting-peddling-canvassing ordinance requires a license and identification card.

Hollis pointed out that the number of delinquent residential accounts and dollar amounts has increased in the last four years.

In 1980, there were 136 delinquent accounts; in 1981, 116; in 1982, 71; and Past due dollar amounts have increased over the same period. They totalled $16,000 in 1980; $14,000 in 1981; $12,000 in 1982; and $38,000 in 1983.

So far in 1984, the township has accumulated 166 residential accounts that are in arrears more than $100. The dollar amount is $40,000, or 3 percent of total residential accounts.

The existing township policy permits a customer to pay the current bill and 10 percent of his arrears amount.

According to Graper, the city has been considering placing its records in a computer "for years." He said the city also has considered joining the Livonia mainframe. If the city shared the Livonia system, it would have to buy time on Livonia's mainframe, to be connected to Plymouth by phone lines.

Graper told the commission that Plymouth is about 21/2 years behind schedule in placing police records on computer.

In addition to eliminating the need for storage space to contain existing paperwork, a computer would permit dispatchers to pull out records more

THE SYSTEM would make it possible for dispatchers or clerks to provide officers in the field with prior arrest records or outstanding warrant information. This would allow the officer to run a check on a person or vehicle deemed suspicious.

A computer also would provide the department with analytical capability, so that it could determine what parts of the city or township are subject to specific crimes and at what times these crimes occur. The information would allow the department to allocate manpower accordingly.

Richardson said such an information retrieval system would make it far easier for the city to handle the more than 3,000 formal reports taken annually. Much of the paperwork is generated by police reports emanating from Plym-"We're hoping to have the total support of the suburban communities, all the customers served by the system, when we go back into court in mid- or late September," he said.

Kuhn's suit seeks damages under the Sherman Antitrust Act and the federal Racketeer Influenced Corrupt Organizations (RICO) Act, which allows for triple payment of damages.

If the suburbs win, the city of Detroit could face paying damages between $30 million and $60 million, according to Kuhn.

Such a loss, combined with a $42 million water rate loss currently being appealed, would send a message to Detroit. Kuhn said.

"Maybe, by virtue of these pressures, they'll see the wisdom that they can not own or run this thing. We are proving the point of mismanagement, corruption and the whole bit," he said.

Federal money intended for three other transportation projects may end up being used to help pay the rising costs of the downtown People

Among other things, the project is faced with cost overruns and the discovery that a portion of the train's completed support beams are defective. Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) hopes to use federal money for three other projects — new buses, the Woodward Avenue light rail from Detroit to Royal Oak, and new train cars for the now-defunct Pontiac to Detroit commuter train - for the People Mover.

'The People Mover is our top priority," said board chairman Dewitt Henry during Tuesday's meeting of the SEMTA board of governors.

We want to prove to people here and the nation that we can build a major public transportation project."

THE 2.9 MILE elevated rail system with up to 13 stations at key downtown Detroit spots was started in April. The first beam was installed July 9 at the new Millender Center, an apartment-hotel-office complex being built around the construction.

All beams are expected to be in place by winter, with the system expected to open in March 1986.

To help cover an expected $26.2 million cost overrun on the $108.5 million federally funded project, SEMTA board members voted Tuesday to reprogram $16,236,000 worth of capi-

The amount includes $3,594,351 in federal funds given to SEMTA for the commuter rail which ran from Pontiac to Detroit. The train was discontinued last fall during SEMTA cutbacks.

The transportation authority also hopes to get another $12,641,549 for the People Mover in federal money expected to be awarded for two other priorities - buses and the Woodward Avenue light rail from downtown Detroit to Royal Oak.

SEMTA will also ask for $10 million in new funds on the basis of the project's "extraordinary costs."

Henry expects the federal money to be "reprogrammed". without any problem. "The federal government has been lenient. It does this this all the time," he told reporters.

SEMTA BOARD MEMBERS seemed relatively unconcerned about the discovery that a third of the guideway beams which will support the People Mover have flaws. Construction was interrupted for a week because 38 of the completed beams have problems - and 10 of those are "extensive problems."

At least three beams are to be completely recast because the steel "rebar" (re-enforcing steel) inside them shifted during casting. The steel is not evenly or adequately covered by concrete and could rust if moisture or salt gets inside.

Of 173 People Mover beams, 91 have been finished.

Henry blamed the problem on "short cuts" taken because the project was behind schedule. "Too much concrete was going in at once and the rebar shifted," he explained.

Grand Old Party? No way!

DALLAS - The national convention sessions were at night, but the days were long for Ronna Romney.

The new Republican National Committee member from Michigan spent considerable time "approaching people," she said.

"Approaching people" means raising money. There are a lot of $1,000 and $500 per head breakfasts, brunches and luncheons in this sun-baked center of banking and insurance.

"I'm also Reagan-Bush finance chairman, John Gnau (Oakland County businessman) is my co-chair," said the 40-year-old Bloomfield Hills mother and author. "They are separate jobs, but they run concurrently.

"I HAVE two quotas $200,000 for the national campaign and about $300,000 for the state.

"I've raised my national quota, and I have three weeks more to go.

Also making the rounds raising funds was Jack Lousma, winner of the Republican primary for U.S. Senate on Aug 7. The party has targeted Sen. Carl Levin, a first-term Democrat, for retirement. Lousma is being paraded before audiences in an effort to give him as much exposure and chances to raise contributions as possible.

Missing no opportunity, chairman Abraham, answered the roll call vote for president by announcing that "Michigan, the state which this fall will replace the nationa's most liberal senator with Jack Lousma, casts. .

Romney approached political action committees and even big contributors from other states. "People in one state can give to a candidate in another state. Maybe there's no major contest in their own state," Romney said.

Headlee for Governor campaign of 1982, the daughter-in-law of former Gov. George Romney confesses to being new at the game.

"We're learning a lot of things on our own," she said. "We did that in the Headlee campaign. We didn't know what we were supposed to do or not

Headlee had run ballot-issue campaigns but never a campaign for office hen he sought the GOP nomination for governor two years ago. In a tight three-way contest, Headlee nosed out former Lt. Gov. James Brickley and Oakland County Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson, both of whom had experience in state races.

Headlee gave much of the credit to Ronna Romney, and it helped catapault her into the post of national committeewoman from Michigan.

Although she won the post at the January state convention, Romney didn't take office until last week.

"I tend to be very enthusiastic," she said. "I'll be campaigning for a lot of candidates this fall."

LIKE MANY of the new breed of conservative Republicans, she chafes at the label "Grand Old Party" and the media image of Republicans as elderly.

State Chairman Abraham is 32, and National Committeeman Peter Secchia of Grand Rapids is 45. The delegation is laced with people in their 20s.

Top Republican spots in Michigan were filled with many new faces after moderate William G. Milliken retired as governor and many of his supporters were eased out with him.

The age difference is so great, in fact, that Romney insists "we skipped a generation." John Guzik. 22-year-old alterate atlarge delegate from Livonia, was

WILL I ALWAYS BE CRIPPLED?

Often patients reply with such a comment when I tell them that the ache, fatigue, and joint swelling they are suffering indicates arthritis.

Because it has been so long since the individual has felt well, he or she believes that they will be burdened forever with their present pain and limitations,

First, arthritis, besides having flares, has its remis sions. The individual can look forward to feeling well as part of the natural swings of an arthritic condition. Second, treatment exists which is effective, in most instances, in controlling the pain and loss of joint function. A combination of heat, rest, medications, and joint injections usually can restore the individual to a tolerable, even pleasant daily-life.

Third, the individual's state-of-mind plays an important role in determining what that person can accomplish despite having an arthritic condition. If one is convinced that he or she cannot succeed, then such will be the case. However if the person makes plans and takes on responsibilities while accepting the limits their arthritis necessitates, then achievement and personal satisfaction will continue

Presbyterians remodelled the church in 1876

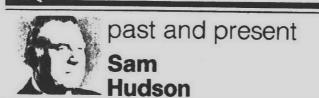

Members volunteered to do a variety of odd jobs around the church in the early days. In August, 1874, for example, when J. Mills Gelston was the minister, a trustee and two elders built a wooden sidewalk in front of the Plymouth Presbyterian Church. It was still in use 10 years later when Gelston returned to Plymouthhe trustee who helped build the walk was R.G. Hall. The elders were Almon Stevens and Ira M. Hough. Hough, who had arrived in Plymouth in 1826 with his wife Adelaide, was a native of Vermont. In 1827, he was chosen to be captain of a military company formed at the organizational meeting of Plymouth Township that year. The Houghs were the grand-parents of Edward C. Hough who became president of the Daisy Manufacturing Company.

By 1875, a noticeable crack and bulge had developed in the south wall of the brick church. This was said to planks laid under the foundation when the structure was built in 1848. If true, it refutes the generally held belief that things were always built better in the

A building committee, composed of George A. Starkweather, C. W. Hicks and Amos Stevens was appointed to get repairs made. In April, 1876, they got an estimate from a Detroit builder. He agreed to relay the foundation; install a new roof, cornice and stained glass windows; put in a new furnace; fresco the walls; remove the gallery and "alter the church generally outside and in." All this for $2,500. His bid was ac-

WHEN THE congregation was asked to subscribe toward the cost of the work, the name of E.J. Penniman again topped the list. He donated $300. Starkweather gave $180. Mrs. M. Davis contributed $150. Contributions of $100 each came from Ira M. Hough, Almon

Stevens, Amos Stevens, W. Spicer, J. Cramer, Abraham Fisher, Thomas McClumpha, A. B. Coleman, and C.H. Bennett

Two pulpit chairs were made for the church by Elder Amos Stevens for $30 each. Fifty book racks for all of the pews were donated by Charles Roe. Miss Lizzie Spicer donated a pulpit Bible. Born in Plymouth in 1836, Miss Spicer married J. Albert Safford. She died in Plymouth in 1918 at age 82. Her descendents say the family has always been Methodists and that, "Maybe she just wanted to do something for the Presbyterian Church." Another possibility is that she was a Presbyterian before she married. It is not known whether the Bible she donated is the same one that survived the fire of 1936. Although that Bible still is in the church's possession, it does not bear a publishing date.

The renovations were completed in January, 1877. The rededication service was preached by the Reverend J.A. Baldwin, who may have returned to Plymouth for that purpose. Church records show that he left the church the preceding year. A dedication prayer also was given by the Reverend James Church with distinction for 23 years.

The Reverend Edwin G. Bryant was minister of the Plymouth Presbyterian Church from 1878 to 1880. A native of South Bend, Indiana, Bryant graduated from Princeton Theological Seminary in 1860. He left Plymouth to go to the Brighton Church where he was minister until 1884. He was pastor in East Jordan, Michigan, when he died in

WHILE BRYANT was minister here, in 1879, the congregation voted to elect Elders on a rotating basis, two to be elected for one year, two for two years, two for three years. One of those elected for a three-year term was Arthur D. Stevens who eventually became a life member of the Session

Asa Joy was elected Clerk of the Session in March, 1879. Joy was Treasurer of Plymouth Township in 1869 and 1878, and a Village Trustee in 1870.

By 1880, the cost of the 1876 alterations had been paid up and the church

Church member Jonathan Shearer died at his home in Plymouth at age 85 in 1881. Shearer, who served in the Michigan Senate for three terms, was among those who secured the establishment of what became Eastern Michigan University. He was on the organizers of the Michigan Agricultural Society and one of the founders of the State Pioneer Society, of which he was president in 1876-77. He was among the contributors toward the cost of the brick church in 1848.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Plymouth Presbyterian Church was first mentioned in the minutes of the Session for January 9, 1882. On that date, the ladies "were granted the privilege"to put up the screens to the most exposed windows." The Society had been organized four years earlier in October, 1878. The first successes came in 1907-08 and '09 with Hughie Jennings, the legendary pilot, guiding the team from his favorite position in the third base coaching box.

Then there was a wait of 25 years until 1934 when Mickey Cochrane, the former catcher of the Philadelphia Athletics was at the helm for two

The next success came in 1940 with Del Baker, Cochrane's understudy as the pilot. In 1945 the Tigers were back again with Steven O'Neil as the manager and in 1968 Mayo Smith, who took one of the game's biggest gambles, was the head man in uniform.

Now, if their luck holds out, the

And if that happens the Tigers will have the most unusual manager they have had since the league was formed.

After a long wait of 25 years, Mickey Cochrane, who had been a catcher for the Philadelphia Athletics, took the reins and led the team to the pennant, where they lost to Dizzy Dean and the St. Louis Cardinals in a great climax.

A great fighter — the best the Tigers ever had — Mickey came back the next year, and not only won the pennant, but the world series against the Chicago Cubs. It was his dramatic run in the closing innings that brought the victory when "Goose" Goslin had the famous "blooper hit" over second base.

Later on Mickey was injured when hit by a pitched ball in Yankee Stadium and his assistant, Del Baker, took over in 1940. In this dramatic series Baker. who was not a great fighter but a strategist, had the famous Buck Newsome pitch the opener in Cincinnati. Then Buck's father died and he came back to win the third game with a day's rest, but lost in his attempt to gain his third victory of the series in the finale. In 1945 Steve O'Neil, a former catcher and a keen strategist from the Pennsylvania coal mines, was the pilot. He won the pennant, and came right back to win the World Series from the Chicago Cubs. Steve was more or less a bench manager but he won the series.

Then came one of the biggest gamble in baseball. Mayo Smith, a gambler with talent, was the manager in 1968 and gained everlasting fame when he shifted Mickey Stanley from center field to shortstop on the eve of the series — just to give Al Kaline a chance to play before retirement.

Since then there has been a famine until this year, when Sparky Anderson got his team away to a record breaking 35-5 lead. He is a different kind of leader. He is the father type. There is no shaking of fists or wild yells. But his handling of the players has proven that his success with the Cincinnati team some years ago when he won four pennants was no fluke.

He will be the most unusual manager the Tigers even have taken into the playoffs - if they win their division

Is it time to cut political conventions to 2

By Tim Richard staff writer

DALLAS - They're in a minority, but there are two Republicans who say their four-day national convention is twice as long as necessary. And they think it's a costly burden on the middle class.

"It's 80 percent a media event," said delegate Michael Legg of Livonia, "and when you get to the point where the media aren't covering it any more. .

"Joking about fat cats aside, most of us are middle-class Americans. It was expensive for me," the 32-year-old lawyer said.

'It could be done on a Friday-Saturday," said atlarge delegate Richard Headlee of Farmington Hills. "I'm not worried about the rich or poor. The middle class has a hard time," said the president of Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Co.

LIKE ALL conventions for decades, the 33rd quadrennial Republican Nationial Convention ran from Monday morning through Thursday night in the convention center while searing, 100-degree heat kept people off the streets of Dallas.

Monday morning there were welcoming speeches from the mayor of Dallas, a Dallas businessman, a Texas congressman, a former governor of Texas and others, followed by speeches from such constituent groups as ethnics, blacks, women and youth.

Monday night were the keynote speeches. Tuesday morning was devoted to committee reports and display of U.S. Senate candidates in five pivotal states. Tuesday night was for the platform and former President Gerald Ford.

Wednesday night was given over to leadership speeches and the nomination of the national ticket candidates. Thursday night was used for their acceptance speeches TV now covers only a fraction of it, with executives saying they can't afford to turn over "our" time for political propaganda.

"IT COULD be condensed to a couple of days," said Legg, in a separate interview.

"Traditionally, there was more meaningful bartering," he said, referring to the pre-1950s conventions when a candidate rarely came to town with a majority. States supported "favorite son" candidates and traded off their votes for cabinet appointments.

Later television gave gavel-to-gavel coverage, but today's delegates are aware that only two cable net-

SAUSAGE INSPIRES SUMMER ENTERTAINING WITH AN INTERNATIONAL FLAIR

Hot and Cold • Super Sauces • Savory Salads

Enjoy an international food fair in your own backyard this summer: French style Sausage Potato Salad; Spanish Onions and Peppers with Pepperoni; Italian Antipasto; Garlic Sauce a la Grec, and savory sausage on the grill with the aromatics of laurel, fennel, oregano and other herbs.

Don't think this extravaganza is complicated or lots of work. It isn't. And what a welcome change from the standard hot dogs, hamburger and the humdrum of old fashioned barbecue. This new approach to cooking and serving summer fare, whether indoors or out, brings new life to any party. Or, it's just plain fun whether for family, friends, guests or anyone and everyone – including the liberated cook.

Let's start with the grill where your choice of natural casing sausage gently sizzles. Just sprinkle crumbled laurel or bay leaf, fennel, oregano or any other favorite aromatic herb over the glowing coals. The flavor penetrates the natural casing of your favorite sausage and sparks an exotic new taste in the succulent meat.

That's chiefly why we say use natural casing sausage - because within their natural curve nestles the best meats available. Some sausage makers identify their products with the symbol: "Made in Natural Casings". But in most cases when the sausages are not identified, look for the natural curve, trust your eye or ask your butcher. There are more than 200 different natural casing sausages in the United States alone. So you have no trouble finding the taste and texture you like best. And the natural casing allows the meat to breathe and to exchange the flavor of other foods, spices and herbs.

Just above the grill, note the dish of garlic sauce. This is Garlic Sauce a la Grec. The cloves have been wrapped in foil, placed on the grill or baked in an oven, then the cooked pulp squeezed out from the skin - to make a superb dipping sauce for grilled sausages, to flavor butters for garlic bread, mixed as you choose in a dozen different ways. You'll notice that Garlic a la Grec lacks that customary bitter taste of any

The antipasto plate at upper right is a breeze. Just take a pound of natural casing Genoa salami, sliced and arrange it as shown. Presto! You have an authentic Italian antipasto appetizer or summer meal.

Now the Spanish style Onion and Peppers with Pepperoni, at the lower right, provides another adventure in good food. You just grill the onions and peppers until the skins blacken, then peel, seed and slice. You'll admit that this trick imparts a flavor neverbefore encountered - something to enhance the delicious slivers of sliced pepperoni in the finished salad.

Finally, coming around clockwise, you find the French style Potato Salad, brought to new heights of flavor by the tender slices of smoked,

Any one or all of these recipes will introduce international flavor to your summer entertaining.

GARLIC SAUCE A LA GREC FOR GRILLED NATURAL CASING SAUSAGE

- 8 garlic cloves, cooked (grilled or
- baked) 2 cups cooked potatoes, sliced or mashed
- 1 cup olive oil
- 1/4 cup vinegar
- 1/4 cup water
- 1/2 teaspoon salt 1/4 teaspon white pepper

Process garlic and potatoes until smooth. Slowly add, oil, vinegar and water in thirds. Blend thoroughly after each addition. Season with salt and pepper. If oil separates, stir briskly before

Use as Dipping Sauce for grilled sausages or mix with butter for garlic bread or to season salad dressings

SPANISH STYLE ONIONS AND PEPPERS WITH NATURAL CASING PEPPERONI

3 medium sized onions, grilled

- medium sized sweet red peppers,
- 1 medium sized green pepper,
- grilled 1/4 cup dry sherry vinegar
- 3/4 cup olive oil
- Salt, pepper to taste

 1 lb. Natural Casing Pepperoni, thinly sliced

Grill onions and peppers until skins are blackened on all sides. Peel, seed and slice. Combine vinegar, oil, salt and pepper. Pour over vegetables, let marinate for 30 minutes. Toss with sliced pepperoni before servina.

FRENCH STYLE POTATO SALAD WITH NATURAL CASING SMOKED SAUSAGE

- pounds small red potatoes
- tablespoons white wine vinegar tablespoons olive oil
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper 1-1/2 lbs. Natural Casing Smoked Grilled Sausage, sliced into 1/2-inch slices
- cup sliced green onions, including
 - tops
 2 tablespoons capers Lettuce leaves

Cook potatoes in water until done, approximately 20-30 minutes. Drain; cool. Slice potatoes, toss gently with vinegar, oil salt and pepper. Add sausage to potatoes. Sprinkle with green onions and capers. Serve on lettuce leaves.

ITALIAN STYLE ANTIPASTO

- 1 cup sliced raw fennel, white only (substitute celery if no fennel is available)
- 6 green onlons
 1/2 cup sliced red onlons
 6 black olives
- 6 green olives
- artichoke hearts, halved
- 1/2 cup pimiento strips
- 1/2 cup sliced radishes
 1 tablespoon lemon juice
 2 tablespoons olive oil
 1 pound Natural Casing Genoa Salami, sliced

Line a small platter with lettuce leaves. Arrange cut vegetables and Genoa salami evenly on platter. Sprinkle with lemon juice and olive oil.

More recipes for hot days — or save for cold ones

One of the most important steps in putting on an out-door barbecue is firing up the grill. Whether you're cooking for two on a hibachi, or grilling for a crowd on a giant covered cooker, the process is similar. The charcoal needs to be just right. The trick is to hold your hand over the coals at the height the steaks or chicken will be cooking. If you can count "one thousand one, one thousand two, one thousand three" without lifting your hand, the coals are medium-hot and ready-to-go.

Add sparkle to the menu with innovative rice side dishes which complement the simplest of grilled entrees. IT'S BETTER THAN BAKED POTATO

- 5 slices bacon, diced 1 cup rice
- 1 clove garlic, minced 2-16 cups water
- 1 tsp salt 1/2 cup thinly sliced green onions with tops OR chopped chives
- % tsp white pepper Dairy sour cream Shredded Cheddar cheese

Cook bacon in medium saucepan until crisp. Remove and set aside. Pour off all but about 1 tablespoon drippings. Add rice and garlic. Cook over low heat until rice is lightly browned, 5 to 7 minutes. Add water and salt. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat. Cover tightly and simmer 20 minutes. Remove from heat. Let stand covered until all water is absorbed, about 5 minutes. Stir in chives, pepper and reserved bacon. Top with sour cream and cheese. Makes 6 servings.

BUTTERY TEXAS PECAN RICE

- 2-16 cups water 1 cup rice
- 1 tsp salt
- 3 thep butter 2 tsp lemon juice
- 14 tsp pepper
- % cup coarsely chopped pecans 2 to 3 green onions with tops, thinly sliced

Bring water to a boil in medium saucepan. Stir in rice and salt. Cover tightly and simmer 20 minutes. Stir in butter, lemon juice and pepper. Let stand covered until all liquid is absorbed, about 5 minutes. Add pecans and onions; mix well. Makes 6 servings.

Beet and Tuna Salad is satisfying enough to serve as a lunch or light supper entree. At serving time, the tuna mixture is mounded atop a bed of lettuce encircled with beets, creating a delicious and eye-appealing dish.

For an unusual salad that's perfect for a buffet, Molded Beet Salad is a tasty answer. To serve 12, double the

TUNA AND BEET SALAD (6 servings) 2 6-1/2-ounce cans white tuna, chilled, well-drained and flaked

1 cup celery, chopped % cup mayonnaise 1/2 cup green onlons, minced I thsp fresh lemon juice 15 tsp dry dill weed, crushed

15 tsp salt Freshly ground pepper to taste Lettuce leaves 2 16 oz. jars sliced beets, well drained and chilled

2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped

In a small bowl, combine tuna and celery. In a separate bowl, blend mayonnaise, green onions, lemon juice, garlic, dill, salt and pepper until smooth. Combine dressing with tuna mixture. Cover individual salad plates or a serving platter with lettuce. Arrange beets around outer edges of lettuce. Spoon on tuna salad; garnish with eggs.

MOLDED BEET SALAD (6 servings) 1 16 oz. jar diced beets, juice reserved 1 3-oz. package lemon-flavored gelatin

% teaspoon salt 1-14 thep mustard seed 4 cup cider vinegar 1 cup finely chopped celery 1 thup grated onion

Drain beets; add enough water to beet juice to make 1 cup. Heat juice to boiling, add gelatin, sugar, salt and mustard seed; remove from heat, stir until gelatin is dissolved. Add vinegar; mix well and cool. Refrigerate until syrupy; add celery, beets and onion. Pour into 31/2-cup mold. Refrigerate until firm. Unmold and serve with German-Style Lamb Kabobs feature an interesting mixture of tart sauerkraut juice, tangy lemon juice, golden honey, and flavorful garlic and onion blended to a smooth consistency and poured over kabobs made with tender cubes of fresh lamb, crunchy green pepper, delicate mushrooms, crisp onion, and sweet cherry tomatoes. Let the kabobs marinate for several hours to soak up the full flavor of the marinade and then grill over white-hot coals to a juicy perfection.

> GERMAN-STYLE LAMB KABOBS (4-6 servings)

1 can (9-% ounces) sauerkraut juice 2 thsp lemon juice

4 cup honey l onion, sliced 1 clove garlic

1/4 tsp celery seed 1-1/2 pounds leg or shoulder of lamb, cut into 1-1/2 inch

Green pepper sliced Mushrooms Onion wedges Cherry tomatoes

Combine sauerkraut juice, lemon, honey, onion, garlic, celery seed and pepper in blender and blend until smooth., Place lamb in glass casserole and pour marinade over meat. Refrigerate, covered, up to 24 hours, basting and turning occasionally. Alternate lamb with green pepper slices, mushrooms and onion wedges on skewers. Grill kabobs 4 to 6 inches over charcoal or source of heat for 12 to 15 minutes or to desired doneness Brush kabobs with marinade, turning during cooking. Add cherry tomatoes to end of kabobs just before serving.

One of the most delicious selections for barbecuing is pork blade steaks. Usually less expensive than beef steaks, spareribs or chops, the pork steaks are an excellent buy for stretching your food dollar.

Both of the recipes presented here are marinated to add flavor and ensure a very tender product. Laced with wine and a host of herbs, the marinade for Barbecued Blade Steaks Dijon is used as a basting sauce while grilling. Savory Grilled Pork Steaks are marinated with a combination of tomato sauce, soy sauce, brown sugar,

BARBECUED BLADE STEAKS DLION 4 pork shoulder blade steaks, cut 1/2 inch thick (about 3

1/3 (8 ounce) jar Dijon-stye mustard (1/3 cup)

1/2 cup cooking oil 1/2 cup dry red or white wine 1 clove garlic, minced 1 tsp dried rosemary, crushed 1 tsp dried basil, crushed

's tsp dried oregano, crushed ¼ tsp pepper

Arrange blade steaks in a 13-by-9-by-2-inch baking pan. Combine mustard, oil, wine, garlic, rosemary, basil, oregano, and pepper in a small bowl. Pour mustard mixture over steaks; turn steaks several times to coat. Cover steaks and refrigerate 8 hours or overnight in refrigerator. Drain, reserving marinade.

Place steaks on grill about 6 inches above medium coals. Cook 15 to 26 minutes on each side or until done. Spread reserved marinade over steaks a few minutes before end of cooking time. Makes 4 servings.

SAVORY GRILLED PORK STEAKS

3 pork blade steaks, cut 1/2 to 1/4 inch thick 1 thep brown sugar 1 to 2 tsp curry powder

¼ cup soy sauce 1 (8 ounce) can tomato sauce 1 small onion, chopped

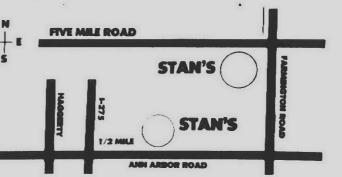

Combine brown sugar and curry powder in a small saucepan; mix well. Gradually add soy sauce, tomato sauce and onion, stirring to combine. Bring to a boil, reduce heat and cook slowly 5 minutes. Cool. A different barbecue for this holiday's party

There isn't a man, woman or child who doesn't love a cookout. It's the last holiday of the summer, the picnic table is set in the brightest colors and, best of all, the grill is hot!

Perhaps you will choose a traditional fare - hamburgers, corn on the cob and watermelon - or maybe you'll improvise a bit.

In many instances, the secret of a successful barbecue is ultimately how delicious the sauce is. Maybe you would like a change from the usual varieties of tomato, onion and garlic-based sauces. A luscious fruit-based sauce will give a true taste of summer to

A quick easy way to prepare these distinctive sauces is to use fruit pre-

Here are a few hints for basting and marinating meats with fruit sauces:

• Begin basting your meat only after it is one-third done. Fruit sauces may burn if left over high heat for too

· Covering the grill with heavyduty aluminum foil, punched with holes, will minimize the loss of sauce and prevent burning.

· Searing the meat before placing it on the foil will give the meat a nice smoky taste.

 Sauces can be prepared in advance and kept in the refrigerator for a Barbecuing is not strictly for meat.

Apples wrapped in foil and grilled on charcoal make a delicious dessert.

Select apples from an early fall crop, fill them with a spoonful of fruity preserves and a dash of liqueur. The flavor possibilities become endless with different combinations of preserves and liqueurs of your choice. RIBS WITH PLUM SAUCE

3 tbsp. Lite Soya Sauce 1 cup dry red wine ¼ cup red wine vinegar 4 cup corn oil 1 tsp. Dijon mustard 4 cup plum preserves

2 cloves of garlic, finely chopped 1 onion finely chopped 1/2 tsp. of thyme

8 lbs. of lean pork spareribs

In pan over heat, combine soya sauce, wine, vinegar, oil, mustard, preserves, garlic, onion, and thyme. Stir until bubbling then let cool.

Put spareribs in large pan, pour marinade over them and let marinate 4 hours in refrigerator, turning the ribs occasionally.

Remove ribs from marinade which you will keep. Place on grill, 4 to 6 basting frequently with marinade, for about 1 hour or until ribs are no longer pink near bone.

GOLDEN CHICKEN

% cup of ketchup % cup apricot preserves 12 thsp. cider vinegar 1 tsp. Worchestershire sauce 1 tbsp. mustard (Dijon style)

3 to 4 lbs. chicken, cut into serving

In small saucepan, combine all ingredients except chicken. Cook over medium heat until it comes to a boil while stirring.

Place chicken in large pan and pour marinade over it. Let stand at room temperature for two hours while turning the chicken occasionally.

When grill is hot, lay chicken pieces, skin side up. If you wish, you can use th foil method recommended above. Broil

Turn chicken and baste with marinade. Cook for another 15 minutes, turn and baste again. Turn and baste every 5 minutes until chicken is done. Serves 4.

Note: It would be equally delicious to use this sauce with game hens or duck.

Boneless sirloin tastes good, too

pilot light

It doesn't happen very often, but when boneless sirloin is on sale and the same price as round steak, I snap up

That's no great surprise, I guess, but I take advantage of the sirloin windfall for cooking reasons, too. That spells t-

I substitute the boneless sirloin in a variety of fried steak dishes because not only doesn't it have to cook as long, the meat still ends up more tender. I also slice the sirloin into thin strips for Chinese beef dishes.

You can pound the sirloin thin and coat it, such as in chicken-fried steak, or fry it as is with an instant sauce, thanks to canned soups.

Bargain boneless sirloin soothes the savage food budget.

COUNTRY-FRIED SIRLOIN 1 lb. boneless sirloin, halved Salt and black pepper 2 thep. cooking oil 1 can (10 ½ oz.) French onion soup

Season steaks to taste on both sides, brown in hot oil in skillet drain grease, pour on soup, reduce heat to low, cover and cook 35 minutes. Serves 2.

MUSHROOMED CHICKEN-FRIED SIRLOIN

11/2 lbs. boneless sirloin steak, 1/2-inch thick 2 eggs 34 cup milk

's cup all-purpose flour ¾ cup cracker meal 's cup cooking oil

1 can (10% oz.) Campbell's Golden Mushroom soup Salt and white pepper

Cut sirloin in 6 pieces, trim excess fat and pound thin. Beat eggs with 2 tablespoon milk in soup bowl. Place flour in second soup bowl and cracker meal in another. Dredge meat in flour, thoroughly dip both sides in egg-milk mixture and dredge in cracker meal. Thoroughly brown three pieces steak in 4 cup hot oil in skillet, turning once, and set aside. Heat remaining oil, thoroughly brown three pieces steak in 1/4 cup hot oil in skillet, turning once, and set aside. Heat remaining oil, thoroughly brown rest of meat, return browned pieces, cover and cook on low heat 30 minutes. Remove meat and keep warm. Drain grease from skillet, add soup, stir in rest of milk, season with salt and pepper to taste, bring to boil, stirring, reduce heat to medium low and simmer couple minutes. Return meat to skillet and heat through or pour on sauce when serving. Serves 3-6.

Surgical techniques offer aid to the impotent

By Richard Lech staff writer

MPOTENCY affects 10 million American men, according to recent statistics

Monday, August 27, 1984 O&E

The condition's cause may be physical or psychological, or a combination of both.

Whatever the cause, impotency, which is the inability to have or maintain an erection during sexual intercourse, can have a devastating effect on marriage and self-esteem and make fathering children an impossi-

"For many years we didn't have anything to offer these people who are impotent," Westland urologist Dr. Mahmood Hai said.

"Even doctors just hushed away when a person said he was impotent. A doctor would tell his patient, 'John, you're 55 years old, you've had a good life, what more do you want?"

But a relatively new surgical technique has given medical science a potent way of curing physical impoten-

The implantation of penile prostheses has allowed men who were impotent for physical reasons to have erections and thereby enjoy normal sex lives and father children, he said. Penile implants are now being used by 30,000 men nationwide, according to Newsweek magazine.

Hai, the vice chief of surgery at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne, has performed 200 such operations since 1975, first at Harper-Grace Hospital in Detroit and then, since 1978, at Annapolis. He is one of three surgeons performing the surgery at Annapolis.

THREE BASIC types of prostheses are available, he said. Rigid and semi-rigid prostheses are silicon rub-ber cylinders implanted in the penis. These prostheses work well, Hai said, but have the drawback that they permanently protrude, although the semi-rigid device can be bent so it does not protrude as much.

Hai said the most recently developed prosthesis, the "Cadillac of prostheses," is the inflatable prosthesis. This device allows the man to inflate and deflate his erection at will.

"It's (the inflatable) is the closest to a natural erection, and it's well concealed so nobody can see it," Hai said. "The man doesn't even know he has one (a prosthesis). That's the beauty of it."

The prosthesis consists of three components - a pair of silicon cylinders, a reservoir and a pump valve

All of the equipment is surgically placed within the body - the cylinders within the shaft of the penis, the reservoir (a ball-shaped object filled with fluid) behind the muscles in the abdominal wall, and the pump valve in the scrotal sack.

When the man wants an erection he pushes the pump valve through the thin scrotal skin. The valve sends fluid from the reservoir into the cylinders and causes the penis to become stiff. That mimics the action of a natural erection, in which blood flows into the penis. The normal cycle of erection and ejaculation follows.

When the man wants to end the erection he presses the valve assembly again, the fluid returns to the reservoir, and the cylinders collapse like deflated balloons.

HAI SAID he restricts the operation almost exclusively to men suffering physical impotence.
The causes of impotence once were considered to be primarily psychological, Hai said. But in recent years researchers have found that between 50 and 60 percent of impotency can be traced to physical problems. Impotence can be caused by diabetes, sustained high blood pressure, alcoholism, atherosclerosis, kidney disease, hormonal imbalances, accidents and the side effects of some types of surgery and medication.

Because the man can control the duration of the erection, the prostheses also has helped men who were afflicted with premature ejacu-

Overall, the surgery has gotten high marks by the men who have undergone it and their sexual partners, who have just as much a stake in the outcome as the men do, Hai said.

"Some objective studies have been done to find out partner satisfaction," Hai said. "They found 90-92 percent satisfaction on the part of both partners. That's an extremely high percentage considering these people were completely impotent and deprived of intercourse.

Before operating on a man. Hai subjects him to a number of tests to determine whether his impotency is physical or psychological.

In one test, the man wears a snap gauge around his penis while he sleeps at night. A man who is not physically impotent will have noctural erections three to five times per night, lasting anywhere from several minutes to a half an hour

Hai also takes blood tests to determine hormonal levels and check for diabetes, performs studies on the penis's blood circulation, and evaluates the man psychologically through written tests and discussions

THE SURGERY itself is done under general anesthesia and has a complication rate of less than 1 percent, Hai said. Patients are able to make use of the prosthesis four to six weeks after the operation.

Hai said he performs both the semirigid and inflatable prosthesis surgery. Some men prefer the semi-rigid prosthesis because its simpler for them to operate, with no hydraulics, and involves less surgery.

The costs, covered by health insurance if the impotence has a physical cause, range from $3,000 for the semi-rigid implant to $6-10,000 for the inflatable prosthesis, Hai said. To help couples in which the man has undergone the surgery or is con-templating undergoing the surgery, Annapolis has formed an educational and support group called ROMP (Recovery of Male Potency). The group is patterned after a similar group at Hutzel Hospital.

"They will be able to learn a lot of things from each other in the group, learn to accept things," Hai said.
"They see other people in the same situation doing fine, and that's a great encouragement to them.'

The group's leader will be Canton resident Nancy Barr, a community services registered nurse at Annapolis. Barr said speakers will discuss available treatments, what to expect from the operation, and the emotional implications of the surgery.

"There is insecurity on part of partner," Barr said. "What is life going to be like now? Is the husband going to want sex every day? Is he going to want other women now? It's such a total readjustment it's like two people meeting for the first time.

"The man probably is going to want to have sex every day, and he's going to have to deal with rejection, when in past had to worry about his ability to

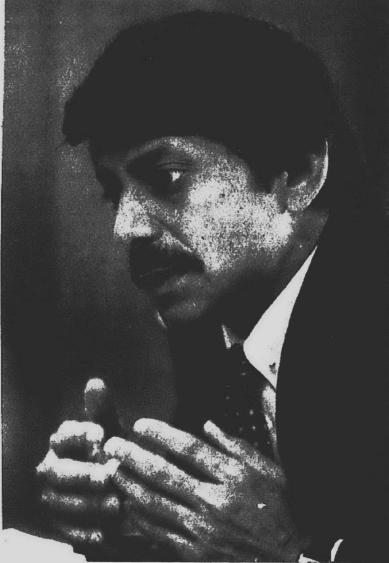

Barr said her being a woman should not make men more uncomfortable about discussing their problems in the group.

"I think as long as a woman maintains a professional attitude, the man doesn't have any problem talking about his problems.

Because of the subject's sensitive nature, group members will be required to sign confidentiality forms stating that they won't reveal the names of anyone in the group. The first ROMP meeting, with Hai the speaker, will be at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 20, in the hospital's conference room No. 2.

The group will continue to meet the third Thursday of every month. For more information, call the hospital at

SCOLIOSIS CLINIC THOUT CHARGE

1. The foundation of the spine is called the sacrum. Fastened to the sacrum are the hip bones. These form the pelvis or pelvic girdle. (Fig. 1)

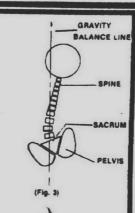

2. Vertebrae are then stacked on top of one another from the pelvis up to the skull. Together they form the spine.

The body is always under the influence of gravity, constantly pulling down on the spine.

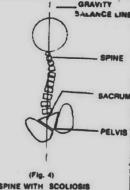

One of the major jobs of the spine is to balance the torso, head and arms, keeping them in a straight upright balanced position.

What happens in most cases of scollosis is that the sacrum and/or pelvis are forced out of the level position. (Fig. 2)

WHAT HAPPENS NEXT IS MOST IMPORTANT! 6. In order for the body to maintain an upright position, the spine must shift' to counterbalance the change of the sacrum and/or pelvis. (Fig. 3)

Broncos drop quick ax on Ron Egloff

By Chris McCosky staff writer

Ron Egloff knew there were no guarantees when he walked onto the Denver Broncos training camp, a free-agent tight end from the University of Wisconsin, eight years ago.

And, despite seven solid years in the National Football League, Egloff knew there were no guarantees as he prepared for the 1984 football season.

Ron Egloff was cut last week by the Denver Broncos. He has yet to be picked up by another team. He is facing an end to his career — an end as sudden and unexpected as was his emergence as an NFL player back in 1977.

"I was surprised it happened this year," said Egloff in a phone conversation from his Denver home. "He (Bronco coach Dan Reeves) is trying to start a youth movement. I figured maybe one or two more years and I'd have to watch out. But turns out it happened this year."

THERE IS no hint of manic depression in his voice — friends of the 1973 Plymouth Salem grad know that isn't his style. Nor is there a hint of bitterness in Egloff's voice.

"Hey, I knew this wasn't a secure occupation when I got into it," he said. "Pretty soon, it's your turn. You have to go. I thought it was going to happen a couple of more years down the road, that's all."

The official explanation from Bronco management was that Egloff's ace, coupled with the emergence of youngsters Clarence Kea and Dan Sumners, people in sports led to Egloff's release. James Wright and John Sawyer, two veterans, were also retained by the Broncos.

"I think the feeling was that they (Denver) have enough young potential, and Egloff's age was a factor, that made Ron expendable," said Denver assistant public relations man Barry Hawkins. "There was some surprise around here that he was cut so early. But once everyone sits back and looks at the four tight ends who were kept, it's pretty obvious Ron was the oddman out.

"Ron doesn't have the greatest speed you've ever seen. I think the past three years there's been talk of replacing him, but every year he's mananged to escape. Until now."

Egloff, primarily a back-up tight end, caught 64 passes for 747 yards with three touchdowns for Denver Hebecame a starter when Reeves implemented a two tight-end offense two years ago.

THERE'S PERHAPS another factor involved in Egloff's axing. Money.

"I have no idea if my contract had anything to with it," said Egloff. "All I know is that they kept a guy who was making $30,000. So it may have."

Egloff signed a three-year contract before last season, reportedly in the six-digit range. However, the contract was contingent upon Egloff making the team. He will not draw a Bronco salary in 1984.

"Right now is a rotten time to try and catch on with another team," he said. "Most teams still have 11 guys they've got to cut. So, I'll wait. Something will probably come two or three weeks into the season. If I don't get any offers from the NFL, I'll explore the USFL. If nothing works out there, I'll hang 'em up.

"I still think I can play," he said.

Salem's hopes rest with youth; Chiefs sing 'It's a family affair'

By Chris McCosky staff writer

T SEEMS that at the head of every successful Plymouth Salem girls basketball team there's been one player, one leader, that was able to dig deep and get the job done when the game was on the line.

Patty Wiedman may have been the first "gamer," as such players are called. Then came Eileen Moore. Then Jacque Merrifield.

Last year, the Rocks were doublyblessed. They had Pam McBride and Dawn Johnson leading the way.

At first look, the 1984 Rocks seem to be without such a player. Yet, the potential is there that could produce two, three, maybe four such players.

"We're going to be OK," said head coach Fred Thomann, who is back for his second campaign with the girls team. "We'll be better later on in the season. We've got some young players and the quicker they get acclimated, the better we're going to be."

DENA HEAD is one of the young players Thomann will be fitting into the program. The 5-10 forward may the first Rock freshman to start since Mer-

Other youngsters set to crack the line-up include sophomore Kristin Hostynski and junior Leslie Plichta.

"All three are outstanding athletes," Thomann said. "They all jump well and run well." Guiding the young players are a solid quartet of seniors. Fran Whittaker, the third leading scorer and rebounder off last year's team, Mary Beth Weast, a defensive specialst a year ago, point guard Reggie Rojeski, and Kendra Hostynski. The first three will tri-captain the team.

There are two newcomers to the basketball squad this year — two juniors who have made their marks in another sport at Salem. Suzie Balconi and Julie Tortora, two soccer stars, will be battling for playing time at the guard spot.

Salem built its team around three players last year and had a successful 21-5 record, winning district and regional titles along the way. This year, Thomann can draw upon the resourses of eight or nine players.

THE ROCKS biggest loss may not have been McBride or Johnson. Missing from the Rock bench this year will be assistant coach Bob Blohm. Blohm, who won more than 100 games in five years as Salem's head coach, decided not to return this year. Blohm, along with Thomann and most other Salem coaches, have been disgruntled by the policies of the Plymouth-Canton Community School District administration— specifically, the lack of priority placed on athletic programs.

But, with added depth, and the added size, Salem should again be a force in the Western Lakes Activities Association. PLYMOUTH CANTON in

The Chiefs seem to be one big happy family this year. In more ways than one.

Last year, the team was beset with some dissension — some players not willing to work hard, some not willing to fit into the "team" concept. This year, it's a different story.

"This is a hard-working group," said coach Phyllis Mulroy. "This group far surpasses last year's group in desire and in hard work."

And, arguably, in all-around talent. But, the real family angle is this: Mulroy is pregnant and should give birth right before the district tournament begins. Her husband, John Mulroy, a former assistant basketball coach at the University of Detroit, will take over the team. In fact, he's been working with the team all summer.

THE CHIEFS are returning six players off last year's team — seniors Kathy Ross, Lisa Russell and Cheri Remer, and juniors Beth Frigge, Diana Knickerbocker and Laura Parby

Knickerbocker and Laura Darby.

Knickerbocker was the teams' leading scorer last year until she injured her knee. Mulroy hopes Knickerbocker will be 100 percent this year. If so, she could be one of the dominant players in the area.

Junior Lori Schauder could see some playing time in the front court and Mulroy is hoping 6-0 sophomore Penny Piggott will be able to contribute.

"Right now, she's very raw," Mulroy said. "She needs to develop strength. But, each day she keeps getting better and better."

and better."

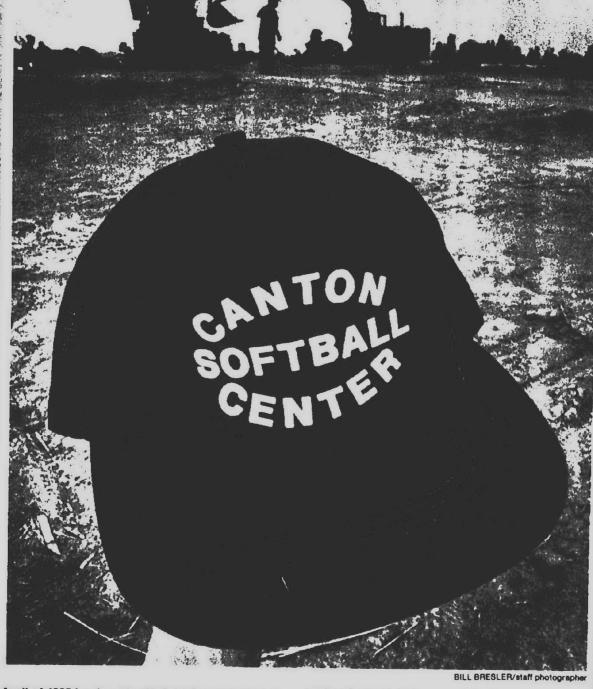

Sophomores Vicki Ferko and Tory
Barger will help out in the background

Barger will help out in the backcourt.

"To win, we will have to play like a big team," Mulroy said. "We are going to have to adapt to our lack of size. We are going to have to fundamentally be able to stop other team's big people. We've worked hard on rebound position and blocking out. If we can do that, we can be a contender."

The Chiefs will open the season Tuesday, Sept. 11 at Livonia Franklin. Salem kicks off its season Wednesday, Sept. 5 in the four-team Great Lakes Tournament played at U-M Dearborn. The Rocks join Ladywood, Inkster and St. Martin dePorres in the pre-season affair.

April of 1985 is when the 12-field Canton Softball Center is expected to open for business. Officials of the facility expect to have nearly 300 teams signed by then.

12-field softball complex to open in Canton in '85

By Chris McCosky staff writer

Right now, it's just a large mass of land and dust.

But, by April of 1985 it will become, developers hope, the softball capital of southeastern Michigan.

Parks and Recreation officials from all over Michigan, Canton Township officials, and a handful of media members gathered on this mass of land last Wednesday to witness the groundbreaking of the Canton Softball Center.

The center, which will feature 12 softball diamonds, is located on Michigan Avenue, just west of Belleville and Canton Center roads.

Bernard Goodstein, who along with developer and owner Aaron Jade, began this project more than three years ago.

THE PAIR have big plans for the facility. Among them, world-class softball tournaments, professional tournaments as well as fast-pitch leagues, modified leagues, slo-pitch leagues and little league baseball.

The 12 fields will be lighted with a computerized lighting system designed to eliminate dead spots. The infields will consist of brown Fuller's lime to provide a firm, stone-free surface. Underneath will be a special drainage tile system. The outfields will feature an automatic irrigation system. Each diamond will sport 300-foot deep, seven-feet high fences.

Technical stuff, but the bottom line is this: The 12-field Canton Softball Center will be a top-notch facility.

The first pitch will be thrown in April of 1985. Eight diamonds will be completed at that time. By July of 1985, all 12 diamonds will be completed. Goodstein estimates as many as 850 teams can be competing by that time.

The finished product will also include a clubhouse, pro shop, concession stands, batting cages and day-time child care facilities.

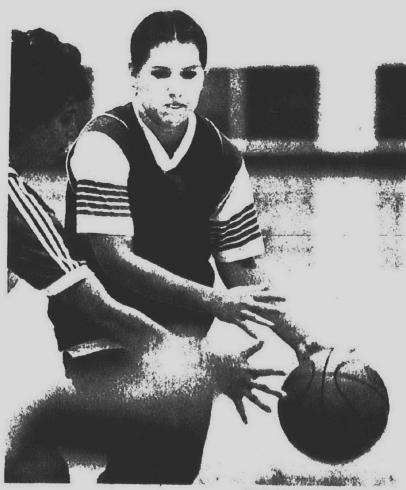

THE PROJECT'S initial concern was money. Goodstein and Jade say they have come up with sufficient financial backing to begin and to complete the project.

The life span of the Canton Softball Center is dependent upon it's number of users. Team fees for the center's 14-game seasons are $275. There will be no residency requirements.
The second concern was conflicts between the center and existing softball facilities in Canton. Canton Township's superintendent of parks and recreation, and a member of the Softball Hall of Fame, Mike Gouin, was on hand Wednesday to settle the conflict.

"We can't possibly provide, within the community, the amount of facilities that are needed. This facility here will only enrich life in this community and throughout the area," he said. "Welcome to Canton. The softball capital of southeastern Michigan." Has kind of a nice ring to it.

Reggie Rojeski, above, will most likely be Salem's point guard this season. She, along with Fran Whittaker and Mary Beth Wesst, are

O'Shea finds a place with pros

staff writer

Adjustment is a part of life. It's just that for Nick O'Shea, there's been a lot of adjusting in a short time.

Only last fall, O'Shea was roaming the midfield for Oakland University's soccer team, helping the Pioneers to the NCAA Division II semifinals. Since then, the Livonia native has:

- opened a soccer store;
- joined a pro soccer team; · moved to Oklahoma;
- successfully switched playing positions; and

· become a celebrity in a city he's lived in for just five months

That's fast work. And O'Shea is enjoying every bit of his new lifestyle. 'We're doing great," he said in a telephone interview hours before his team, the Oklahoma City Stampeders, were to meet Houston in a playoff battle.

BOTH THE STAMPEDERS and O'Shea have benefitted from the association. The Stampeders signed O'Shea as a midfielder after a trial and a tryout in April. A rookie, he sat through most of the first two games before getting in against Houston at left fullback.

"We have a real good midfield," O'Shea explained, "but our left fullback wasn't playing real well. I went with the team to Houston as a sub, but got in in the second half when they pulled him."

O'Shea's been at fullback ever since. Indeed, although O'Shea said it hasn't been an easy transition (he's never played fullback before), he's touted around the United Soccer League (USL) as a candidate for Rookie of the Year honors.

"It's tough," he admitted. "It depends on the type of person I have to mark. I can come out of one game feeling I played really well, then come out of the next feeling just the

'At this level, if you let up at all, the ball will be in the net. You really have to stay on your toes.'

IF A PLAYER can be measured by his team's success, then O'Shea is a star. He helped an OU team twice make it to the NCAA Division II semifinals. And Oklahoma City enjoyed a 15-9 season (127 points), best in the USL. Fort Lauderdale was second (122 points)

The Stampeders lost their first

playoff contest to Houston 3-1 in overtime Wednesday. Both of Houston's overtime goals came on penalty kicks. That put Oklahoma City in a hole in the best-of-three series, with home games scheduled for last Friday and Sunday.

"On the professional level, there are so many good players," O'Shea said. "One game you can dominate them, then they can come back and dominate you.

O'Shea still needs work at his new position - he has scored once and collected five assists - even though he hopes "to play midfield once I adjust to the level of play.

"The ball comes to the fullback first, so it isn't like I don't get to handle it. But I still like midfield

"From being a midfielder, I'm used to creating more chances. If anything is lacking in my play, it's my defense. But I'm good with the ball."

ASIDE FROM the adjustments to the pros and a new position, O'Shea has also handled the move to Oklahoma well. He called the city "nice" despite temperatures in the 100s, which he had "to get used to."

The people of Oklahoma City have had no trouble adjusting to O'Shea.

The O'Shea flip - a throw-in stunt in which O'Shea does a complete flip as he inbounds the ball - has captured a good deal of attention. "They show it on TV here all the time," he

And O'Shea has always promoted his sport through youth clinics and programs. He has so endeared himself to the Stampeder fans that they voted him Most Popular Player.

AFTER THE USL playoffs end Sunday, O'Shea will start shopping for an indoor soccer team. While both the North American Soccer League and the USL have had problems attracting fans (the Stampeders averaged 3,000 per game), indoor soccer has been turning a profit.

O'Shea also has his store to run the Soccer Store and More, located on Farmington Road in Livonia. His brothers, Dan and Brian, are helping out for now, but both will be returning to college this fall.

CC to take nothing for granted

A 5-4 season could be considered a decent year for most high school football teams - except at Redford Catho-

The Shamrocks went into 1983 as the state's top-ranked team but finished the year with four defeats, due largely to numerous injuries and a murderous

CC had six starters out with injuries, including All-State nose guard Mark Messner, when Traverse City beat them in the season opener at the Pontiac Silverdome. Losses followed to Redford Bishop Borgess, Birmingham Brother Rice and Warren DeLaSalle (those teams had a combined record of

"They rated us No. 1 early, but I think that hurt our character a little bit and we ignored the basics," said CC's Tom Mach, who enters his ninth season as coach. "This season we're young, so it's kind of hard to diagnose. They practice hard and they're a very coachable team. They're dedicated and they'll come to play. They listen to instructions and they all want to learn."

BECAUSE of injuries, CC was forced to play a lot of sophomores and juniors last season. That may have been a blessing in disguise for 1984.

CC, which lost three running backs in the early part of 1983 due to injuries, found a replacement in 6-foot-1, 200pound Tom Bridenstine, who ended up leading the team in rushing.

Bridenstine now moves over to fullback to make room for 1-9, 170-pound sophomore Tim Lafferty at tailback.

'He's not big," said Mach of Lafferty, "but he has good cutting ability and

"They (Bridenstine and Lafferty) are not great, but they're more versatile backs. We don't have anybody like Aaron Robepts (now at Michigan State) who was a breakway threat, but they run and block well."

Last year's back-up quarterback, senior Todd Thomas (6-3, 200), is ready to direct the Shamrocks' ball control attack.

But Mach said his QB has the ability to throw, the main target being 6-4, 205-pound wide receiver Ron Wandzel. The other pass-catching threat is senior Dan Logan.

"He (Wandzel) is one of the better receivers I've seen," said the CC coach.

MACH BELIEVES "the consistency of the run opens up the pass." That means CC will rely on its linemen to get the job done.

The returnees include center Ed Turek (6-0, 190), a co-captain along with Bridenstine; Kelly Kroll (6-2, 235). tackle; and Nick Varajon (6-2, 230), junior guard.

CC's big line, however, may be overshadowed by kicker Tom Rice, who will handle extra points, field goals and kick-offs.

"Tom did a nice job for us last year and he has the experience of kicking under pressure situations," said the CC

The defensive line is powerful with the likes of Eric Hetke (6-5, 235), Mark Lopez (6-2, 235), junior Mickey Redding (6-1, 225) and Jeff Schwartz

The linebacking corps has Turek stepping in to play along with Kevin Tulley, who saw action as a sophomore. The secondary, meanwhile, is led by Wandzel and Logan.

"We'll be young," Mach said, "but we do have some with varsity experience. We had four or five sophomores up last

"Linebacking is a concern because we have only one back. We have a couple of people, though, that look good in the secondary."

THE CC coach hopes to challenge for the tough Central Division crown by "going back to the basics."

"We won't be fancy," Mach promised. "We've thrown more than most of our league opponents, but we're not recognized as a passing

Life turns topsy-turvy for Theodore Pierce (Gene Wilder) when he becomes infatuated with a gorgeous woman he encounters by chance in "The Woman in Red."

the movies

Dan Greenberg

Wilder's newest should be funnier

"The Woman in Red" is a pleasant summer comedy but not as good as it could or should have been considering the writing-directing-acting talents of Gene Wilder and his excellent supporting cast.

Theodore Pierce (Wilder) is a successful San Francisco public information officer. He's happily married to Didi (Judith Ivey); the proud father of two children, Missy (Kyra Stempel) and Becky (Robin Ignico), and a highly regarded friend in a tennis, drinking foursome with Buddy (Charles Grodin), Joe (Joseph Bologna) and Michael (Michael Hud-

Only cloud on the horizon of Teddy's life is his daughter's punk boyfriend, Shelly, nicely deadpanned by Michael Zorek.

But middle-aged lust rears its ugly head as Teddy be-comes obsessed with sexual fantasies after a chance encounter with the gorgeous model, Charlotte, played by Kelly LeBrock, in her own right a noted model. Once encountered, Charlotte's beauty and sexual attraction overwhelm Teddy's good sense and a series of humorous episodes follow.

"THE WOMAN in Red" has definite overtones of "10," but that's all right. Certainly Wilder's curly hair and wide-eyed, innocent, round face are the source of considerable humor because we know in our hearts that neither Wilder nor anyone else but a newborn babe could be so innocent.

But "The Woman in Red" has too many stories under way for one film, particularly when their potentials are never fully realized and never completely integrated with one an-

In addition to Wilder's obsessive rush to the lovely Charlotte's bed, there are his three friends and the complications of their personal lives intertwined with Teddy's wife, Didi; his children; and a frustrated, single co-worker, Ms. Milner (Gilda Radner), who erroneously believes that she is the object of Wilder's sexual chase. That belief stands off by itself too far from the main plot to realize its comic potential.

The question of sexual obsession is intertwined in all these stories. Certainly that's good material for a comedy of human foibles.

Teddy's friends all have unusual sex lives. It is rather strange that Teddy has waited so long to get on the bandwagon. Joe is a philandering husband whose wife is constantly leaving him and constantly returning as he pledges fidelity, soon to be transgressed; Michael is an adulterer of particular tastes; and Buddy has his own, unorthodox sexuality with which to deal.

CERTAINLY ALL these stories and characters should provide ample material for a rich, comic film. To some extent they do, for "The Woman in Red" has a number of laugh-provoking sequences. Unfortunately, they are just that: humorous episodes not well integrated with the main Radner is a very funny lady and has just the right, pinched-face comedy to pull off the frustrated and jilted co-worker routine, but her lines are limited to the obvious, as are her comic routines - key-scratching his car, bending his aerial (nice Freudian overtones there) and spilling ink on his desk - all too broad and lacking the subtlety characteristic of her style.

Similarly, the intersections of the lives of Teddy's three friends seem forced and those stories never really impact on Teddy and his obsession with any great force. Not that those episodes weren't funny and, in one case, very touching, but they didn't relate to one another as well as they should have and that detracts from "The Woman in Red."

Milner (dilda Radner), who works with Teddy, mistakenty thinks she is the object of his affections.

Sweeter wines win most medals

The sweeter, dessert-type wines have dominated the eighth annual Michigan State Fair competition at the fairgrounds in Detroit. The competition precedes the offical, public opening of the fair by several days.

Nine Gold Medals were awarded (compared to two in 1982 and 12 in 1983), most of them in the late-harvest style that seems, increasingly, to be compatible with the viticultural conditions of our state.

"Best of Show" honors this year went to Chateau Grand Traverse for its 1982 Late Harvest Johannisberg Riesling. This is the same winery that has had such a history of ownership its future remains cloudy even today, yet it wins this year as it has before.

Perhaps the most impressive winery winner, however, was Fenn Valley which captured three of the nine Golds. Its winners were the 1983 Vidal Blanc Reserve, 1983 Dry Vidal Blanc and 1982 Seyval.

ONLY OTHER multiple Gold winner was venerable Tabor Hill, with a 1983 Vidal Riesling, and the second most successful wine of the event, its Seyval Dry Berry Special Harvest.

Other Gold Medal winners were

Frontenac, the Paw Paw property that has not before, I believe, hit the big time with its Ceresia, a rather pale but interesting rose-type, the new Olsen Family Cellars with its 1983 Vidal Blanc - Select Sweet Harvest - and Good Harbor Vineyards with a Cherry

Each of the 90-plus wines entered received one of four judgments from the esteemed panel of judges. In addi-tion to the nine Gold Medals, 27 Silver medals and 25 Bronze Medals were Greatest collector of medals was St.

Julien which gathered 13, while Tabor
Hill and Good Harbor each earned nine.

Three wineries made their debuts this year, each in its initial year of winemaking. Seven Lakes Winery of Holly (soon to be reviewed in this column) earned a pair of Silvers for its De Chaunac Rose and its Apple Wine. Olsen Family Cellars earned its Gold in addition to three Bronzes for its '83 Seyval Blanc Demi-Sec, its late-harvest Seyval and its Seyval Blanc Sec.

FINAL NEW entry was wholly unfamiliar to me, the name being Peterson and the location being the Kalamazoo area and, reportedly, makers chiefly of wine

wines. Peterson earned no medals this year. But to have two of three new entrants win medals on maiden entries is no small accomplish-

Two former participants were not in attendance. Bronte has gone under after 50 years of production. Larry Mawby did not enter any of his fine wines from Leelanau County for reasons uni-dentified. I presume he will return next

For those of you unfamiliar with how these judgings work, a word.

In this case some 18 judges assembled at 9 a.m., ready to begin their arduous day. Broken into three groups of six, each tasted about a third of the complement for the day.

The wines, organized by categories (i.e., dry white hybrids, generic reds, boco noirs, etc.), are randomly assigned to each group. The six members are asked to attain consensus on each wine asked to attain consensus on each wine, awarding it a Gold, Silver, Bronze or no medal. Agreement is usually fairly easy to obtain, but I recall some initial polls that produced votes of two Golds, one Silver, one Bronze and two no awards.

When things like this occur, one is taxed sorely in one's belief in the universality of the judges' palates. All wines are judged blind, of course. That is, each is served in a carafe with a four-digit code its only identifier.

All wines awarded Gold Medals then participate in a mass taste-off, each panel member being asked to evaluate and rank each of the wines. The most favored of these receives Best of Show.

By the end, usually about 4 p.m., most judges race to the nearest Woodward Avenue bar for a very cold beer.
