

Record-bound festival foiled by wet weather

By Gary M. Cates staff writer

Hopes for a record-breaking Plymouth Fall Festival were dampened Sunday when rain brought the festivities to an abrupt halt.

Despite Sunday's washout, an estimated 75,000 to 80,000 people visited the downtown area during the four-day festival which started last Thursday.

"It went excellent except for the rain. Other than that it's the smoothest festival I've ever seen," said Carl Glass, festival director.

"It probably would have been the best ever if it didn't rain. I'm sure we would have broke records on Sunday." Glass said. "The attendance Thursday, Friday, and Saturday was up for all three days."

pletely rained out, according to City

Manager Henry Graper. Although past festivals have seen short spells of rain, a main meal hasn't been cut short until this year, he said. The Rotary chicken barbecue had to be cut short due to the weather.

"DESPITE ALL the rain we still were able to sell 6,000 dinners," said Ron Schram, barbecue chairman. The club hoped to sell 12,000 dinners.

"We had to make a decision not to go because of the lead time needed for preparing the dinners," he said. "The uncooked chickens were sent back and we had to pay a penalty charge on them.

"Considering all the circumstances it went quite well. It's the first time in 28 years that we were completely rained out - I think we have a pretty good record," Schram said.

ELSEWHERE, groups operating sales and booths should have done pretty good, according to Graper.

"I heard that the stores around town were just very, very busy," Graper said.

"The restaurants tend to do a little better during a festival without food,

Police say Graper, Vogras violated drinking ordinance

By Gary M. Cates staff writer

Plymouth police are seeking a warrant against City Manager Henry Graper and Department of Public Works Director Ken Vogras for allegedly drinking beer on public proper-ty during the Fall Festival.

Officer Thomas Zedan charges that he saw Graper and Vogras drinking beer Saturday night at the Plymouth Gathering on Penniman Ave. He is requesting that the two be prosecuted for breaking a city ordinance prohibiting alcoholic consumption in public places. Graper denies the allegations but said the complaint and request for a warrant will be forwarded to the city attorney's office for a decision. "I was there with about 50 other Ro-

have part of the case of pop in my van," Graper said. "I think the complaint is just an extension of labor relations problems. Nobody confronted me that night.

"I don't know what they are trying to do by targeting myself and Mr. Vogras. All they are doing by their actions is leading to a potential lawsuit," he said. A warrant for Vogras, stemming from an earlier incident, has been approved by City Attorney Charles Lowe. The warrant charges that Vogras was disorderly during a confrontation with police last month at a Lindsay Street residence.

Assistant City Attorney Ron Lowe said that warrant has been returned to the police department which must carry out the arrest.

IN THE most recent incident. Zedan said police have been directed to write tickets in the downtown area to curb rowdiness and alcohol-related prob-

"To my dismay, I was confronted with the observation of the city manager, Henry Graper, and DPW director Kenneth Vogras consuming alcoholic beverages (beer) under the Plymouth Gathering in front of thousands of citizens," Zedan wrote in his report.

'In all good consciousness, I could no longer enforce these violations to the general public unless the same is enforced upon those city officials, who are making examples for others to follow," he wrote.

"I am requesting full prosecution for the violation."

In the past, persons violating the city's alcohol ordinance have been ticketed on the spot. This time the report was filed rather than issuing tickets.

Acting Police Chief Ralph White said he couldn't comment on the report, other than saying "it has been sent to office the city attorne

Trustees approve study, hire police consultant

Breen appoints 6 residents to evaluation committee for a police consultant to work with a volunteer committee in evaluating police service provided through the $460,000-a-year contract with the city of Plymouth.

Plymouth Township trustees gave formal approval Tuesday to Supervisor Maurice Breen's plan for a comprehensive study of police services.

The study comes at the same time some speculate the township will seek alternate ways to provide police service - possibly including the start of its own department.

Plans for such a study were disclosed earlier by Breen, and followed by an

The study, already underway, calls announcement that the city of Plymouth would conduct a similar study of its own department. The city reportedly is in the process of finding a consultant to perform the study.

> THE TOWNSHIP board approved hiring consultant Robert Parsons as well as giving the nod to Breen's appointment of six residents to the volunteer evaluation committee.

Parsons, currently the coordinator of Ferris State University's criminal justice program, was at Tuesday night's meeting to give a brief overview of his qualifications.

Besides holding a doctorate from Michigan State University, Parsons has worked as a police officer, an MSU public safety officer and as a training consultant statewide. He also currently serves as a consultant to the Michigan Law Enforcement Training Council.

Parsons said he views his role in the $8,000 study as a technical consultant rather than project consultant. A project consultant, he said, would play a minor role in such a study, while a technical consultant would be "more participative."

He plans to help the committee collect data, analyze it and then assist in developing a final report.

Breen said the methodology for the study was recommended by Parsons.

"I didn't think it was right to hire an expert and then tell him what methodology to use," Breen said.

Architect rates the local buildings his hand helped come to fruition

By W.W. Edgar staff writer

After seeing his, work helping to change the face of the Plymouth community Erick Carne, the well-known architect who has been receiving many compliments on his design of the triangular shopping center north Main Street, sat in his office and tried to rate his work according to his own liking.

"I have had a hand in many of the places around here," he said, "and if I were to officially rate them I would place the new court house on Plymouth Road at the top and the new square in the second position.

"I always have been proud of the courthouse even though there have been folks who chide me for having the building built sideways. But, after all, it is a nice building and I think that is the best I ever have done."

THEN HE TURNED to the new triangular project that is nearing the fin-ish stage and confided that he had worked hard and long on that one before he got the design he liked.

"I wanted the project to reflect the spirit of Plymouth and for that reason I studied buildings in Plymouth, Mass., and even the buildings in Plymouth, England. And I think now that when finished it will reflect the spirit we wanted."

The project includes 17 units of 1,000 square feet each, and are built in such a way that a tenant can lease as many of them as he wants.

The project is owned by Jay Ross of Hazel Park. Among the sections he has already leased is one to Domino Pizza, the one owned by the owner of the Detroit Tigers. This is expected to be one of the best places in the group.

While talking of the designs and the criticsim received for having the court house built sideways, Carne smiled and said, "It must have been a good move because the Ford Clinic in the heart of the city also was built sideways and looks good."

In discussing his work and the demand for places that will have unusual appearances, Carne said that it takes a lot of study and a good imagination.

He admitted that he spent hours in solitude trying to come up with the design for the triangular operation that will be one of the real pictures in Plymouth.

"I am hoping that it will portray the spirit of Plymouth because that was in the back of my mind from the moment I started working on it."

It will be ready for occupancy in November.

TWO OTHER changes about to be made that will help change the face of Plymouth are the erection of a huge apartment complex on Blanche Street in Old Village and the renovation of the building on Forest Avenue that was known as the Four Seasons food mall until it closed.

The same Ross of Hazel Park who owns the new triangular place, has taken over the old Four Seasons and is planning to make a regular series of department stores or sign up a single major tenant.

But, according to Carne, the changes that will be made will depend on the type of business to be conducted by the new tenant(s).

And the apartment building on Blanche will have units including two bedrooms and two baths and, at the moment will be designed as a two-story structure

"So, the face of the city is always changing," Carne said, "and from the jobs I have been asked to give consideration, the changes will go on for a long time to come."

supervisor said. "I'm willing myself to live with whatever comes out. It's not a predetermined type of thing.

"The intent is to be intensive and to get it done - not to drag this thing out." he said.

RESIDENTS appointed to serve on the evaluation committee were:

· Carol Beckmann, who is active in the Woodbrook Homeowners Association. Beckmann was active in township affairs at the time the police service contract went to the city of Plymouth three years ago.

· William Brown, who is a retired sergeant from the Michigan State Police. Brown served as a volunteer on a similar committee several years ago when the Wayne County Sheriff's Department was policing the township.

· Marcia Buhl, who is active in the community and is community relations director for Michigan Bell.

• Dennis Campbell, who is a life-long township resident and keeps active in the community through his ownership of a cable television channel.

· Abe Munfakh, who is the presidnet of the Trailwood Homeowners Association and will become a member of the township board in November.

· Marvin Snider, who lives in the township and is employed as the Milan police chief Additional input to the committee will be provided by Township Police Chief Carl Berry and administrative aide Kerry Piercy.

The study and final recommendations are expected to be given to the township board sometime in November.

Breen said the study was needed to evaluate the contract and to help the township board make decisions on police services.

Adult learning center opens

It was the bygone year of 1927 that Plymouth's new school was named in honor of early settler and prominent citizen, George A. Starkweather

A dealer of dry goods, hats, caps, shoes, slippers, millinery, carpets, wallpaper, crockery, and groceries, George A. Starkweather & Co. represented those "who are in enterprise the youngest, in good intentions the oldest, and in everything, the best."

Memories of George have been evoked through the ensuing 57 years, as Starkweather School has served generations of elementary school students.

2009.08

This fall, Starkweather embarks on still another enterprise.

Monday, Sept. 17, marks the grand opening of "the Starkweather Adult Education Center." The conversion, difficult for some to accept, was made in light of declining K-12 enrollment and in an attempt to match the needs and resources of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

Daytime classes in the fields of computer programming, word processing, and medical and dental assisting as well as "most of the basic courses" are being offered. Persons wishing to earn high school diplomas in a GED program also will be accommodated and child care training will be provided.

"We are now able to meet the needs of more community members," said David Dursum, assistant director of community education until just recently when he left to take a position in another district. "Too many adults were unable to attend our evening program. Now that we have Starkweather, we can offer classes during the day.

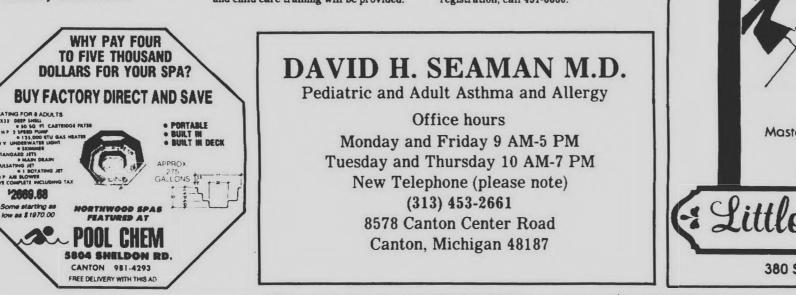

High school completion classes begin today (Thursday). Others get under way within the next two weeks.

Some classes are being offered free of charge

Newfoundland: Island's simplicity is its main attraction

TWILLINGATE, Newfoundland From Smith's Lookout you can see the rocky headlands around Twillingate exactly as a French fisherman would have seen them if he had climbed this hill in 1650

The French fishing ships came here every summer then, hauling in cod from the fertile fishing grounds, drying the cod on deck, anchoring in the deep harbor below.

Their sails would have made white patches against the mountains folded in mist against the western horizon, and among the icebergs that made their own skyline against the Atlantic Ocean. the icebergs sometimes stranded then as now against the beach near the lighthouse at Long Point.

When the French discovered this tiny offshore island at the northeast entrance to Notre Dame Bay, they named it Toulinquet after an island off the Breton coast of France.

THE BRETON sailors dried their cod aboard ship and never actually settled the land here. When they sailed away for other shores in 1690, frightened by the Indians and annoyed by the encroachment of British fishermen, the British moved in from the east coast of Newfoundland. Since the Moores and the Smiths and the Youngs couldn't speak French, Toulinquet very quickly became "Twillingate."

There are villages tucked into the crook of every rocky peninsula now, and the square wooden clapboard houses of Twillingate make white, yellow and blue patches around the harbor below Smith's Lookout, but all of that happened after the English came in 1700

If you talk to Harold Pardy over in Little Harbour, or to any of the Dalley family in nearby Durrell, you will know that things have changed a lot in those 300 years, but some things don't change.

This is still the same deep harbor that attracted the big English trading ships in the 1800s, to haul dried cod to Portugal and Spain, and to establish Twillingate as a major trading post in North America.

THE GOOD fishing grounds are still there nearby, good enough to provide a living for men who fish in dories and trap boats and trawlers, selling their fish to the fish packing plant. Fishing is not a very profitable business in Newfoundland anymore, but a cooperative effort is being made with public and private money to keep it alive.

They ate dried fish here all winter in the old days, and the fishermen still dry fish too small for the fish plant. The dried fish go to "Africa and other places," according to Dean Dalley, a 14-year-old who is already an experienced fisherman.

He sails out with his older brother from the day when the ice goes out of the bay in spring until the day it comes back in the fall. As he tells it, the trap boats man their own marked-out patch of sea "from July month to August month" and the rest of the time they use hand nets

YOU DON'T hear much about Durrell in the tourist literature but if you have a camera and you're looking for local color, you will find the most photogenic sights in Durrell, literally around the corner of a bay from Twillingate.

There are wooden houses perched on treeless rocky slopes, fishing boats unloading at the docks in South Jenkins Cove, all the pictures you expected to take at Twillingate but couldn't because of the electric and telephone wires that seem to wrap Newfoundland towns like a spider's web.

The Island of Newfoundland offers an abundance of fishing opportunities, both commercial and recreational. Above: boys fish from the rocks at Flatrock where Pope John blessed the commercial fishing fleet Tuesday. At right: native "Newfies" prepare their catch.

The first thing any visitor to Twillingate does is to drive out to the historic red and white lighthouse at Long Point, the one that looks so picturesque in the post cards.

If you're lucky, you will still be able to photograph the icebergs of Long Point in late July, but the lighthouse itself now has huge towers on either side of it and a rats nest of wires to go with them.

There is a marvelous sunset at Long Point, and it is a good place to watch the fishing boats head back into the harbor although you can see them just as well from the Anchor Inn, a roadside motel where most visitors stay and eat in Twillingate.

HERE, AS in many parts of rural Newfoundland, you have very little choice in either accommodation or eating places. The government literature is your best friend province-wide. The Accommodations Guide lists the Anchor Inn here; there is also a place called Ocean View and a private home that takes guests.

Hospitality houses are a popular way to travel in Newfoundland. This one wasn't on the government list but it looked nice enough from the outside.

You can buy takeout food from two or three places in town, sit down at the China Restaurant or the Anchor Inn.

That combination is very typical of towns we visited: a motel or hotel with a restaurant, a Chinese restaurant that served both Chinese and Canadian food

Any of them will serve excellent fish and chips, as well as other fish in season, as well as the usual assortment of meat dishes and sandwiches.

IF YOU are looking for entertainment or tourist attractions in a town like this, there isn't much: a couple of bars with pool tables or a movie house at night, a visit to the Twillingate Museum or the old church during the day.

If that is not what you want, you should visit the villages during the day and stay someplace like the contemporary Holiday Inn in Clarenville, three hours drive south along the Trans Canada Highway.

For those of us who like fresh lobster in season, photographing fishermen at work or just poking around little villages beside the sea, Twillingate is entertainment enough. We can climb the hill to Smith's Lookout and watch the sun go down, just as the French fishermen did 300 years ago.

Tips for traversing Newfoundland

Fishermen have always felt at home ce the day in foundland ever

NEWFOUNDLAND is the kind of formation, so we followed friendly directions to the ferry at Woody Point, inside the Park, and to Parsons Hospitality Home in Rocky Harbour.

1497 when explorer John Cabot dropped a wooden bucket over the side of his sailing ship and hauled it up full of fish.

The Portuguese, French and English were here, fighting over the world's richest fishing grounds and hauling the silver treasure out of the sea.

Another kind of fisherman was on the island this week, when Pope John Paul II visited Newfoundland during his tour of Canada. Yesterday the "shoes of the fisherman" stood on a cliff high above the village of Flatrock and blessed the fishing dories, trap boats and trawlers that jammed the bay below

POPE JOHN spent only a few hours here in the tenth province of Canada, but what he saw were the two most important things that any traveler will see in Newfoundland: the 400-year-old city of St. John's, Britain's first overseas colony, which claims the status of oldest city in North America, and one of the fishing villages that are tucked into 10,900 miles of scalloped and serrated coastline.

If you think it is exciting, as I do, to visit picturesque villages in a fold of sea, and you don't mind staying in hospitality houses or timing your driving day for the few good hotels to be found in the "outports," you would probably enjoy driving across the island and into towns like Twillingate and Heart's Content.

If not, you should stay in a modern hotel in St. John's and visit the fishing villages on day trips, like the one Pope John took to Flatrock, an hour's drive from the city.

We flew into Stephenville on the southeast coast of Newfoundland, explored Cornerbrook, the Bay of Islands and Grosse Morne National Park, drove 500 miles across the island with stops in tiny fishing villages and ended up in the beautiful harbor city of St. John's.

UNFORTUNATELY, we didn't have time to visit either the scenic northern peninsula or the mainland area of Labrador, which is part of the province.

Western Newfoundland has the most scenic landscape in the island. It is 138 miles from mileage-marker number one on the Trans Canada Highway at Port au Basques, where the Canadian National car ferry comes in from Nova Scotia, to Cornerbrook, second city of the island and home of the Glynmill Inn

The Glynmill is one of those grand

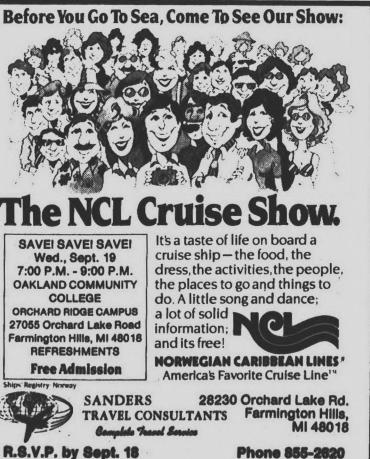

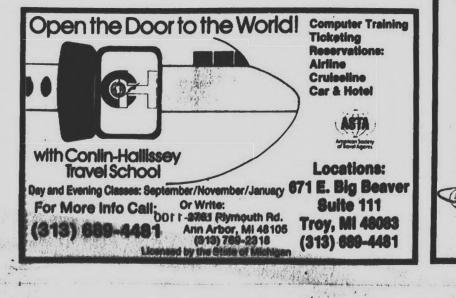

Cornerbrook is a pulp and paper town. For the tourist it's the jumping off place for a glorious drive down the coast to the Bay of Islands or to the mountains of Grosse Morne National Park.

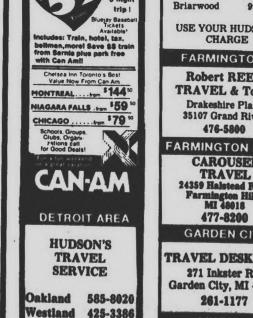

Parsons is one of a dozen private homes listed in the government accommodations guide. We were lucky. Mrs. Parsons was just taking her famous Bakeapple Tarts out of the oven. Bakeapple is a berry found only in Newfoundland. It should be tried along with all the other Newfie specialties like cod's tongues, cod brewis and split pea soup.

Auto strike may well hurt 'Buy American'

AS AUTO CONTRACT negotiations move into the final day before a union deadline, some experts are predicting the UAW will strike against General Motors.

In four of the last six negotiations, there have been strikes. The union and GM are still far apart on many issues.

Indications are that a short strike less than 60 days - may not be disastrous to the GM, UAW members or the area economy. But perhaps what the UAW and General Motors should be worrying about is the long-range effect of a strike on public confidence in the American auto industry

THE UAW, in particular, is walking a tightrope in terms of its image.

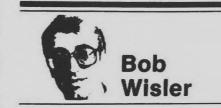

The general public is becoming more and more non-union. Union members generally are less zealous about the union movement. Auto workers are paid in excess of $10 an hour, excluding benefits. Even though they have made wage concessions in the last few years, their wage rate and fringe benefits make them among the highest-paid manufacturing employees in the country.

They are engaged in producing products that sell for more than $10,000. The workers are, in fact, producing a product that people in similar occupations believe they cannot afford

At the same time, the union is pursuing by a variety of means some kind of protectionism, up to and including federal regulations that will limit imports.

IT ALMOST seems at times that the UAW wants the government to guarantee its members will continue to earn higher wages than those in similar occupations. The UAW has a problem explaining its position and TV commercials imploring loyalty to American automobile products don't do the job.

A strike that in any way tends to make the UAW look greedy well could upset that portion of the buying public that continues to "buy American" out of a sense of patriotism.

Even after all the "buy American" slogans and campaigns of the last few years, 30 percent of the new cars sold are foreign products. The percentage could be higher if it were not for the Japanese car makers' voluntarily limiting imports to 1.9 million each year.

THE AUTO company management has not made its task any easier by parcelling out sizeable bonuses to its executives during the summer. The executives should know that such an action, before the onset of contract negotiations, surely would produce the kind of mood that it has produced in auto workers. A typical auto worker says, "The company is making record profits, and the executives got their share. We want our share."

There is a question, however, of whether the management of the auto companies even cares about how such raises appear to UAW workers or to the general public.

There is an aloofness to auto industry executives that suggests they believe, as former GM Chairman Charlie Wilson once stated, "What's good for General Motors is good for the country.'

An inept round of contract talks that leads to a strike neither side seems determined to avoid will damage further the sense of loyalty many feel toward the American auto industry.

A summer vacation

Good news about newspapers

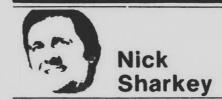

WE ALL want to believe we are brave, clean and reverent - the ideals of a good Boy Scout.

In the newspaper business, we believe we are the equivalent of a good Scout fair, honest and objective. We know, however, that sometimes we miss the mark.

But how can we know what readers really think? We get some ideas from telephone calls, letters and our contacts in the community. But most people who approach us have a vested interest and aren't representative of our readers.

So editors look carefully at documented research. Such a study - "Relating to Readers in the '80s"- was recently completed by the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

Here are some conclusions so you can compare your thoughts with other read-more interested in pleasing other editors and not readers. That gap is narrower. Today, 67 percent of the readers disagree with that statement.

• An overwhelming majority, 88 percent, believe their own local newspaper really cares about the community.

 Nine of 10 people have read a newspaper in the past week. Almost two of three (64 percent) believe "There is really no substitute for a newspaper every day.'

S EXPECTED, newspapers came in ation is represented in newspapers.

 Readers believe newspapers sensationalize the news (52 percent), but not nearly as much as television (81 percent). When discussing the newspaper they read most often, 42 percent say it tries to ma-nipulate public opinion.

GOOD NEWSPAPERS are constantly changing. They have to adjust to the new interests of readers.

The newspaper you are holding has changed in the past few years. Some are obvious. About a year ago, we made several changes in our appearance. A color bar now appears on the top of page 1. We are using more color photographs. Section logos have been improved. A new headline typeface is being used.

Other changes - more concise writing and better headlines - are more subtle.

with Mother Nature

LIFE, THEY say, can be filled with surprises.

The Stroller found this out in the most unusual way when he was forced to spend his annual vacation in his own back yard. For years, as summer approached, he spent hours trying to decide where to spend the so-called holidays - and where he thought the most interesting things would happen.

This year, through a set of unusual circumstances that forced him to remain at home, he had no alternative but to spend the time toiling with Mother Nature.

IN OTHER years, he and the lady who runs our little white house with the green shutters have traveled more than halfway around the world.

We have enjoyed a motor ride through the Black Forests of Europe in the rain. We have sat for hours just looking in wonderment at Mt. Rushmore where the four former presidents' faces have been carved in rock. We just couldn't believe what we saw.

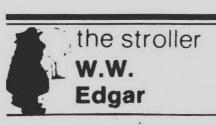

IT WAS the same with the beauty of the Canadian Rockies. We never can forget the sight of the capital buildings in Havana, Cuba. And one of the most unforgettable came one morning on Catalina Island in the Pacific. As we were about to board the sight-seeing bus, the announcer bellowed, "Come see the flowers growing so fast they have men cutting them down so the bus can pass."

It sounded so exaggerated that we could scarcely wait to reach the crest of the hills. But sure enough, there they were — flowers creeping along the road and men cutting them to allow the bus to pass.

ALL THESE things faded this summer when The Stroller joined forces with • Mother Nature to tidy things in his own backyard. And what lessons he learned.

First, the long, hot spell (we went two nonth) with only one rain). The lawn when to do?. The old timers said, are is thirsty. She needs a

So out came the water - and a heavy rain. Sure enough, the lawn is looking green again. What a thrill that was.

Then The Stroller, with as much care as possible, planted a garden and waited for the results. As always, the tomatoes started up from the ground, and it wasn't long until the fruit started showing. Then came a surprise.

As he waited to pick them, the birds beat him to it. They came in on the fly and picked giant holes in the fruit and robbed him of a dainty dish.

THEN CAME the thrill of flowers, arranging borders, and continually pulling weeds to give the flowers the room they needed.

Mother Nature does some wonderful things, but you have to get down on your knees in the garden to appreciate her accomplishments.

With it all came the big surprise when relatives from the St. Clair River district relatives from the St. Chair reliver district paid a visit. Always proud of the sight of the freighters gliding by on the river, they were wide-eyed when they came up the road, through the woods and saw the Stroller's domain.

"AND YOU want to go up North," one of them said, "when you have sights like this — a home in the woods with enough room for Mother Nature to give you a garden and flowers! You don't have to leave home for sights to see and memories of a vacation trip when you have this setting." And so, The Stroller learned that work-ing with Mother Nature can be real fun and provide a vacation with unusual memories.

FIRST, THE positive views.

 Most persons have far more favorable attitudes about their local newspaper than they do for newspapers in general. For example, 84 percent describe the paper they most often read as accurate, but only 47 percent believe newspapers are usually accurate.

• A 1978 study of readers' attitudes found most readers believed editors were for their share of criticism.

• Almost 60 percent believe that newspapers in general are not fair in their news treatment. Nearly four in 10 (39 percent) describe their own newspaper as being biased.

• Young people, working women and members of minority groups do not believe they receive enough attention from the newspapers they read. Readers younger than 35 don't believe their gener-

Relating to Readers in the '80s' sug gests that changes in content are also needed. Readers want more "hard news" - stories about schools, transportation, taxes, waste disposal and zoning regulations. This contrasts to the 1978 study when readers said they wanted more features and how-to-cope series.

If you have any suggestions on how this newspaper can do a better job of "Relat-ing to Readers in the '80s," please contact me.

Feikens' fundamental errors

BACK IN the '50s when he was Republican state chairman, John Feikens was fond of quoting Lincoln and Eisenhower: "As our situation is new, we must think anew and act anew."

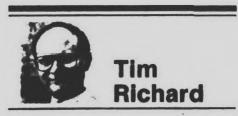

As a federal district judge, however, Feikens forgot that pearl of wisdom and relied on a pair of old, outworn ideas. The results have been bad for our sewage system and his judicial reputation.

The situation developed from the Detroit sewage treatment plant case. The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency charged in 1977 — and everyone agreed — that untreated sewage from the plant was polluting the Detroit River and Lake Erie. Someone would have to do something.

FEIKENS' FIRST fundamental error was to rely on the once-valid principle of municipal home rule in the era of the megalopolis. Incorrectly, he viewed the problem as one to be solved by the city of Detroit, which historically has operated the plant.

The new situation, which Feikens failed to grasp, is that the plant serves dozens of communities that rub cheek-by-jowl against one another, so that you can't tell where one leaves off and the next begins.

Clearly, a broader, regional approach to management of the plant was, and is, in order.

SEVERAL STATE and national studies had addressed the question of regional governance. Feikens had access to the studies - and ignored them.

In a backward step, he made the mayor of Detroit a kind of super-administrator with power to bypass normal city con-tracting procedures. Unable to think anew and act anew, he relied on the outdated principle of city home rule rather than looking to the up-to-date principle of re-gionalism in finding a new way to operate the plant.

The results were suburban distrust and the Vista bribery-fraud case.

In his now-infamous interview with the Detroit Free Press, Feikens referred to the Vista case as "an aberration." It wasn't. It was almost inevitable.

FEIKENS' SECOND fundamental er-ror was his out-of-date condescension to blacks. "We have to give black people the time to learn . . . to run city departments, to run projects like the water and sewer plant," he said in the interview.

Decades ago, that sentiment was fashionable in liberal circles. It is a harmful sentiment in governing a megalopolis with dozens of units of government sharing a common drainage pattern. Blacks read the interview and blew up.

Feikens had the wisdom to disqualify himself from a new phase of the case.

AFTER ONE of my periodic columns on this subject several years ago, a hoary lawyer wrote me a very nasty letter say-ing John Feikens is a wonderful person.

I never have questioned Feikens' char-acter. But to defend his fundamental errors in the sewage treatment plant case by saying he is a wonderful person well, that's a shyster lawyer's argument, as irrelevant as saying he has blue eyes. What is relevant is that our region's water-sewerage system is controlled by a city with only about 30 percent of the customers.

What is further relevant is that Detroit city government didn't pay for that sys-tem. The customers — city and suburban dweller alike — paid for it. We paid for it through our water bills, through our state taxes, through our federal taxes. And we all deserve a proportional voice in running it through a regional water, board.

board.

Our problem is new. We must think anew and act anew.

Heredity biggest factor in athletic prowess?

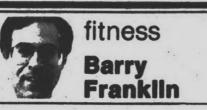

HAVE YOU ever wondered what it takes to become an Olympic caliber athlete?

Good coaching, dedication, and rigorous long-term training are often cited as primary reasons for athletic success; yet, there is increasing evidence that other factors are even more important.

The recent Olympic Games prompted me to re-examine the age-old question, "To what extent does natural endowment or heredity contribute to superb athletic performance?"

CERTAINLY numerous physiologic and psychosocial factors contribute to the Olympic athletes' performance capacity. For example, elite distance runners are able to consume large amounts of oxygen during exercise — an important determinant of success in endurance events. However, research indicates that as much as 80 to 90 percent of this capacity is genetically determined, with the remainder attributed to differences in training.

Other studies suggest that the athlete's success is largely dependent upon the relative proportion of slow or fast twitch muscle fibers that he or she is born with. Slow twitch muscle fibers are better adapted to support sustained body movement over a prolonged duration. Fast twitch fibers are well-suited for physical activities requiring brief powerful bursts of effort. Although everyone has both types of muscle fibers, some people are born with a predominance of one over the ther.

IT IS NOT surprising, therefore, that champion distance runners have an extremely high percentage of slow twitch muscle fibers. On the other hand, world class sprinters possess a high proportion of fast twitch muscle fibers.

Unfortunately, even the most rigorous athletic training programs cannot alter an individuals' relative amount of slow or fast twitch muscle fibers. Thus, persons lacking the appropriate skeletal musculature may never become world class athletes, regardless of how dedicated they are to training. Coaches have long inspected that heredity is more important than plivaleal conditioning in producing an athlete with a superb performance capacity. As a result, young athletes, particularly those in some foreign countries, are often subjected to extensive physiologic testing with the expectation of identifying those who will have the greatest potential for becoming champions.

An internationally known exercise physiologist was recently asked what he felt was the single most important factor that contributes to athletic success. "Pick your parents very carfully," he responded.

"I dropped Blue Cross!"

Georgia Estep switched from Blue Cross to HealthPlus of Michigan for her health care.

Over the past 5 years, thousands of GM employees have dropped their Blue Cross coverage and have joined HealthPlus of Michigan. And now, a lot of GM retirees are switching, too. Why?

Estep join HealthPlus of Michigan?

It's simple. To get better health care ... and save money too.

You pay just $3 for visits to your plan physician.

You don't have to file a claim and then wait to be reimbursed... you pay just $3 and you're done with it. Check-ups cost just $3 and, again, you don't have to file any claim forms. Visits to a specialist (when referred by your plan physician) cost just $3 — there are no claim forms for you to file — no records for you to keep.

Prescriptions are free at hundreds of participating pharmacies, when prescribed by your plan physician. And, still, you file no claim forms.

For hospital stays, you get unlimited days for necessary medical and surgical care.

For skilled nursing home care, you get 730 days free with HealthPlus of Michigan.

For emergency care.

For emergency care, you're covered anywhere in the world.

The system works like VISA " or Mastercard "; the doctor or hospital can call our 24-hour number on the back of your card to verify your coverage is current.

And with HealthPlus of Michigan, you're covered...

for lab work, home care, treatment of glaucoma, wheel chairs, and more. And remember . . . you don't have to file any claim forms.

How can HealthPlus of Michigan offer all this?

Because we're an HMO. HealthPlus of Michigan saves money by working to keep you healthy, and by coordinating your health care through your own personal plan physician.

Is HealthPlus of Michigan right for you? Don't you think you should at least check into it?

How can you join?

It's easy! Just sign up at your GM personnel office between Sept. 1-15. Your HealthPlus of Michigan coverage will become effective on October 1. Until then you'll continue to receive your full Medicare and Blue Cross coverage.

For more information about HealthPlus of Michigan, ask your doctor, or call 353-7350, or come see us.

CONGRATULATIONS to the members of the Plymouth Symphony League responsible for the winning Plymouth Fall Festival window.

Pat McCombs chaired the committee. Working with her were Peggy Blaisdell, Muriel Curtis, Pam Dietrich, Arlene Lee, Judy Lore and Barb Olsen.

They searched, borrowed and collaborated to put together the Sunday afternoon on Plymouth Green scene in Armbruster's window that won the blue ribbon.

TWO LOCAL folk artists will participate in the Frankenmuth Country Folk Art and Show. Susan Vogel will show her room dividers, fireplace screens and floor cloths and Laura Abernathy will display lace net darning with samplers, pictures and ornaments.

The Christmas in the Country Show will be 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 29 at E.F. Rittmueller Middle School, 965 E. Genesee, Frankenmuth. Admission is $2.50.

CHRIS LORE, a senior at Plymouth Salem High School, has been nominated for the All-American Band by James Griffith, band director at the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park. McDonald's restaurants created the band program in 1967 to honor outstanding high school musicians.

Chris, who plays trombone, is the son of John and Judy Lore of Plymouth. He will learn next month if he is one of the 105 musicians selected from the 5,000 nominees for the 1984 McDonald's All-American Band.

LISA BRYL graduated in 1982 from Plymouth Salem High School, where she performed in most of the all-school musicals. She's now a junior, majoring in business communication, at Western Michigan University. And it seems she hasn't lost her love of theater and the arts.

At the antique mart

The Plymouth Symphony League's antique mart opened Thursday evening with a preview reception at Plymouth Cultural Center. Judy Lore (left) and Linda Anderson chaired the event. Guests socialized and visited the 20 dealer booths as they sipped white wine and ate the pates, cheese balls and crackers prepared by league members. Esther Sperlock of Country Manor, Bloomfield Hills, displayed her antiques in her booth. Attendance was on a par with last year's record. The dealers said they enjoyed the show, and many said it was their best. Co-chairs Carol Davis and Elaine Kirchgatter said the dealers loved the food provided by the league, ham one day, taco salad another, and chicken salad on Sunday.

He graduated from Plymouth Salem High School in 1983 and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Perrett of Priscilla Lane, Plymouth.

Yule greetings help charities

They arrive each December, as expected as the cold weather and snow, but much more welcomed. Greeting card season is almost upon us again.

As in the past, the Observer & Eccentric will publish plctures of greeting cards being sold by non-profit organizations during the Christmas season.

Non-profit organizations are invited to submit three copies of their cards to the Observer & Eccentric by Thursday, Oct. 11. The newspaper reserves the right to choose one sample for publication if more than one style of card is submitted.

Every effort will be made to publish all cards received by Oct. 11 on Thursday, Oct. 25. On that day, extra space will be devoted to the charity cards as a public service effort on behalf of the organizations and for residents who wish to purchase the cards. Cards received later will be published throughout the holiday season as space permits.

INFORMATION pertaining to orderthe Suburban Life section of the newspapers. As in the past, organizations are requested to include such information as the cost per box, cost for larger quantities, cost for imprinting the cards with the senders' names and deadline for ordering imprinting. Please include such information as the location at which prospective buyers can purchase the cards or a phone number which they can call. If there is a deadline for ordering the cards, please include that date. Additional information such as the number of cards per box is appreciated.

In addition to the published listing, display books of charity cards will be available for public viewing in the Observer & Eccentric offices at 1225 Bowers, Birmingham and 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia beginning Monday, Oct. 29.

PHS class of '39 celebrates

Forty-two members of the Plymouth High School Class of 1939 celebrated their 45-year reunion Saturday night at the Plymouth Elks lodge. Including spouses and friends, 85 attended the party. When it was all over, they had memories and mementos of the occasion, and plans were in the making for their 50-year reunion.

Prizes were awarded to those who had come from farthest away. Among the special awards was one given by Ida Nairn, who chaired the reunion planning committee. The so-called Eager Beaver award, an engraved pewter plate, went to Phyllis

Murphy Underwood, who was the first to return her reunion questionnaire. The school colors, blue and white, prevailed on the cover of the class book, the decorated class cake and the centerpieces. June Bakewell Hudson cake and the centerpieces. June Bakewen Hudson provided the flowers for the blue and white contain-ers painted by Bettie Knowles McPhail. They plan to save the flower holders for their 50th reunion. Among the souvenirs of the event were blue and white coffee mugs donated by classmate Bud Gould. The planning committee named him an honorary member of their group for his contribution.

Loren (Bud) Gould and June Bakewell Hudson, both of Plymouth, enjoy their class reunion.

Marian Kleinschmidt Dast of Pigeon and Jennie Bassett Wellman of Florida catch up on the news.

Ruth and Keith Jolliffe came from Leeland for the reunion.

Garage sale profits to leukemia research

If you're a garage sale buff, you can do something nice for yourself and for a leukemia patient.

The second annual garage sale benefitting the Children's Leukemia Association - Western Wayne Chapter is slated for 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. today and tomorrow at 45955 Maben Road north of Ford Road and west of Canton Center Road.

For sale will be children's clothes, underwear, sweaters, jeans, uniforms, furniture, antiques, small appliances and even some pewter and silver.

All items wre donated by Canton residents and readied by Mary Dingeldey, Frank and Joan Chakrabarty and other chapter members.

Proceeds will go toward leukemia research.

The winner of a sale contest will become the owner of a Cabbage Patch doll, according to Dingeldey, who conceived the idea of a garage sale.

Dingeldey expects "much better re-sults than last time.

"Last year we were rained out, and we only cleared $100. But $100 can go long way. We might have kept someone in blood for quite a while," said Dingeldey

Persons making tax-deductible donations will be given receipts upon re-quest. For more information, call 495-0509

'Pill Does All the Work' According to the manufacturer, "the pill itself does all the work while you quickly lose weight with NO starvation "diet menus" to follow, NO calorie counting, NO exercise, and NO hunger pangs." It is 100% safe. You simply take the pill with a glass of water before each meal and the amazing combination of powerful ingredients are so effective they take over and you start losing weight immediately.

This "super" grapefruit pill is a dramatically improved version of the world famous grapefruit diet. It is far more effective than the original and eliminates "the mess, fuss, and high cost of eating half a fresh grapefruit at every meal."

Pill Has ALL Daily Vitamins

The powerful and unique combination of ingredients are what make this a "super-pill". It contains highly potent grapefruit concentrate and a diuretic to help eliminate bloat and puffiness. No need to take any vitamins to maintain your good health and energy. The pill is fortified with ALL (100%) of the U.S. Government daily vitamin requirements.

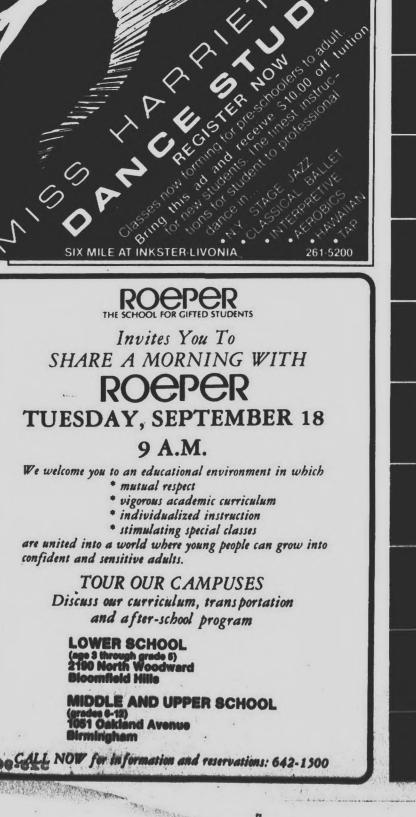

Contains Japanese 'Glucomannan'

Each pill also contains an amazingly effective amount of "glucomannan", the remarkable natural dietary fiber discovery from Japan (used successfully for over 1500 years) that expands in your stomach and gives you a full and satisfied feeling all day long.

The super-pill is already sweeping the country with glowing re-ports of easy and fast weight loss from formerly overweight people in all walks of life who are now slim, trim, and attractive again.

Now Available to Public

You can order your supply of these highly successful "super" grapefruit pills (now available directly from the manufacturer by mail order only) by sending $12 for a 14day supply (or $20 for a a 14-day supply (or $20 for a 30-day supply, or $35 for a 60-day supply) cash, check, or money order to: Citrus Industries, 9903 Santa Monica Bl., Dept. Plans balloon for Bible series Search program

Plans for an ecumenical Bible stud-ies course ballooned for members of Sword of the Holy Spirit Lutheran Church in Livonia last weekend. Several hundred balloons were set in flight by Sunday School members inviting the recipients to join the program that focuses on small group discussion while studying in depth the 18 books of the Old and New Testaments.

The eight-week program is called Search. Men are particularly encouraged to join the program that will be offered on Thursdays at 10 a.m. and again at 7:30 p.m., starting Oct. 2.

THE BALLOONS kicked off the enrollment drive which will continue this Sunday a sweet touch that combines the preaching talents of pastor Walter Dickinson and the enthusiasm of some of the youngsters in the congregation. The plan for Sunday calls for Dickin-son's sermon to focus on the youngsters, who in turn will pass out coupor to members of the congregation. The coupons will be for Peter-Paul candy bars, redeemable at the Search registration table.

The significance is that the first unit in the Search Bible studies will be on Acts - the story of Peter and Paul.

The series is open to the public. For information and registration, call 476-3818. Sword of the Spirit is located at 34563 Seven Mile Road, Livonia.

Church support hitched to circuit riders'

EMBERS OF RICE Memorial United Methodist Church in Redford Township will re-enact part of their history this month as they become "circuit riders" in their own neighborhoods.

Under a Circuit Ride Stewardship Plan, church members will go from home to home to learn what other members plan to give to the church's program and budget for the coming year. "This will be a genuinely exciting event," the Rev. John Ferris, the church's pastor, said. "It ties in nicely with our denomination's celebration this year of the bicentennial of Methodism in America.

"Two hundred years ago, at the so-called Christmas Conference in Baltimore, 60 Methodist preachers came together to decide a form of church government, choose general superintendents and re-commit themselves to 'reform the continent and spread scriptural holiness over these lands.'

"Just as the early-day Methodist preachers on horseback rode from outpost to outpost on a fron-tier circuit to spread the Gospel, our people will 'ride' from place to place to share the good news and strengthen the church."

STARTING TWO WEEKS from this Sunday, church members will take turns relaying a stewardship saddlebag from home to home on a neigh-borhood circuit of 10 families each, Ferris said.

A family will fill in an "estimate of giving card," seals it in an envelope and inserts it in the saddle-bag, which then will be hand carried to another family.

With this program there is no solicitation of pledges and no "hard sell" to obtain financial support for the church, Ferris said.

"Each family simply decides in the privacy of their home the amount of their estimated giving during the next year, without any over-the-shoulder supervision of a church official," he said.

The secret of the success of the original circuit riders, in addition to their personal commitment, lay in their connectional teamwork, Ferris said.

Opposing views can teach us something

With the political season full upon us, one could well have the sense of having been here before. Many of the faces are the same. Reagan, Mondale and any number of locals. The issues carry a ring of the familiar. Arms, abortion, deficits, environment and whatever else sells well with the audience at hand. The accusations thrown from one candidate to the other have also be-come quite predictable.

Even the voters betray a hint of sameness to past electoral contests. They range from the newly enthusias-tic to the experienced and bored, from the deeply concerned to the religiously apathetic. It is the conglomeration of these voters who will pull the levers in November. And part of this conglom-eration is us.

In one sense, the time between now and November is crucial for the candi-dates. What happens in these few weeks will determine their employ-ment and their positions for the next number of years, he it two or four. But these same weeks are even more cru-cial to the rest of us, the folks who will live with the results for more than a measured term. These are the weeks in which we have the real choice.

OUR CHOICE IS between learning and pretending that we already know. It is between single-issue myopia and the health of a nation. It is between cynicism and hope. Perhaps our most important choice is one we share with the politicians. It is a choice between playing God and living as responsible vomen and men.

It has been said that the definition of a good book is one which affirms my way of thinking. As much as we all need affirmation, it is the opposing view that stands the chance of teaching us something — if nothing more than a more intelligent understanding as to why we are opposed.

In this regard, we might do ourselves a favor to listen to the other side of those issues on which we have perhaps long since made up our minds. We may be affirmed in a view we already hold or we may be influenced to rethink our stance. In either case, we become a more credible human being.

The single-issue voter is both the boon and the nerrosule of political candi-dates. Many z would be public services has become a runner-up on the basis of one issue. Others have salled into office on nothing more than a single timely issue. Unfortunately, singles sue often gow hand is hind rowness of visios.

It is this kind of myoute the issues of the farmer and of the rancher are also the issues of those who broll hamburgers and bake pointoes. It is the kind of narrowness that ignores the connection between arms and but-ter and which diminishes the health of a nation.

I GASPED, choking on my coffee and unable to finish. "What's the matter?" she asked, "did you swallow your tongue?"

I couldn't answer, the vision was so terrifying. Finally I leapt up and blurted:

"That man has a newspaper!"

The strange look in my wife's eyes helped restore my scattered senses somewhat. She signalled me to sit down, asking coolly, "Are you on drugs or what?'

"A newspaper - he has a newspaper," I said, wanting her to understand.

"So?" she answered, still doubting my sanity. "But newspapers have sports sections, and sports sections will have this story."

I showed her the Tiger ticket story. "Dear, everyone is going to find out anyway," she said, trying reach me with reason. "There's nothing you can do about it."

AT THAT point I figured there was no use confiding to her my plan to stop at every newspaper box I could find and remove all the sports sections. No, her logic was unassailable. People would find out.

The question now was, how could I guarantee myself first-rate tickets?

Sure, it was spelled out there in the story, how to send in the money, to whom and where. But they'd be swamped with requests. They even said in the story there were no guarantees.

ball teams, went into a contest assuming they had little or no chance of winning. That was the case last year when Salem and Canton squared off on the gridiron. Canton, by all rights, should have won the game. The Chiefs lost 13-7, despite having three golden scoring chances late in the game. All three chances were thwarted by pass interceptions.

The wrestling and basketball teams last year proved that Canton teams could be successful, and indeed, could beat Salem.

"These guys believe in themselves," Barr said of his '84 Chiefs. They proved it last week, coming from behind twice to beat Livonia Bentley.

DEEP DOWN, Barr knows his team can beat the Rocks

"We want to win. We want to come out on top for a change," he said. "And we know this lose because I'm looking to beat them. But, if you look on paper, man for man, it really doesn't look that good for us," he said.

Salem's main problem is depth. With only 32 bodies on the field - 31 now that fullback Gary Kafila is out for the season with a knee injury - the Rocks are super thin. North Farmington took advantage of that last week, simply overpowering the exhausted Rocks in the final quarter.

the final quarter. The Rocks, though, are not without weap-ons. Just ask North Farmington. Craig Morton proved to be a one-man wrecking crew last week, scoring three breathtaking touchdowns of 64, 80 and 90 yards — the 90-yarder on a punt return, the other two on throws from strong-arm quarterback Steve Sobditch.

"We are going to have to throw the football and get outside," said Moshimer. "We are not a strong inside team at this point. "THE KEY to our success is that they can't game is stopped, so too could be the Chief of-fense — although quarterback David Knapp has a strong arm and two capable receivers in Flower and Tony Aiken.

Canton's big weapon could be sophomore Mike Johnson who rambled for 61 yards last Salem has not opened a season with two straight losses since Moshimer went with the wishbone offense, and only one time prior to the wishbone. His team has a legitimate shot at being 0-2 this year.

"It's kind of nice being the underdog for a change," Moshimer said.

Said Barr: "There's no way you're going to get me to say that we are the favorites. No way. Salem has to be the favorite."

Whatever, Friday night's rumble in the park could be a make-or-break encounter for both teams.

"We can't be the favorite," he said. "Come on. We've never beaten them (Salem) before. They were in the game last week (against North Farmington). A break here and there and they would've won. Salem has the tradition. We're still just little ol' Canton."

Salem coach Tom Moshimer disagrees: "They certainly have enough talent to beat us. They have two quarterbacks that could start for anyone. They have a real outstanding fullback and we know what Rod Boyd (halfback) and Matt Flower (wide receiver) can do. Their whole backfield is tough, and deep."

YES, SIR, the Canton-Salem confrontation Friday night at the Centennial Educational Park has the potential to be the most exciting and emotional ever between the two rivals.

"Little Ol' Canton," as Barr calls it, has grown up considerably since last fall. It began with the wrestling and boys basketball teams

I needed an angle. By hook or crook I was going to the World Series

Quick mental calculations - the number of seats in Tiger Stadium divided by the population of Michigan and parts of Windsor and Ohio - and I figured crook was the better strategy

STRANGE HOW any ethics I might have possessed abandoned me. No crime was too great if it would insure a seat in the stadium: thievery, forgery, extortion, bribery, and some minor violations like lying and cheating. First things first, I analyzed in plotting my attack.

· Send in your money and see what happens. · Hit on everybody that you know that might have an "in" and see if they can get tickets.

· Abduct Alan Trammell and hold him hostage. "Each ticket request limited to four for one game" forget that. If I sent in just one request. I'd get no closer to a game than my living room.

Well, I'm sure my wife would like tickets, I lied to myself. So would my brother - if he were in town. And my sister in California might want to fly in for the game.

I FORGED signitures right-handed, left-handed, then bribed a neighborhood kid to sign another. Get in as many requests as you can afford, I figured. Extras can always be peddled.

But how do I pay for it? What about money? Well, rent could be a little late. And if I didn't eat for a couple of weeks, I could afford the 30 bucks for box seats.

"Can I get some money orders - about six of them?" I asked the teller in the Farmington branch of my bank.

'What are the amounts?" she queried "Five for $63, one for $43," I answered quietly.

"Oh, Tiger tickets, eh?" she said much too loudly. "Been making out a lot of money orders for those amounts, I'll bet," I asked, trying to sound innocent "Dozens," she replied.

FIFTEEN MINUTES later I was dropping my requests in the mailbox - at the post office.

I wanted to take nothing for chance. Was there any way I could delay the requests already mailed in? Just for a day or so, until I was certain my request was in first?

No, I thought. Shooting out mail truck tires, or inciting a postal strike, could delay my own requests.

Nope, I reluctantly decided, there was nothing left to do but sit tight and sweat it out. Wait along with the millions of other baseball craxies from Birmingham and Southfield and Troy and Rochester and Redford and Plymouth and Canton

The heck with that. Plan B: Where does Trammell live, anyway?

There's been a great deal of confusion in the Plymouth-Canton community about the status of ninth-grade athletics in the community school district.

Here are the facts as set out by athletic director John Sandmann:

· A ninth-grade football program has been reinstated at both Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem high schools for the 1984 season.

· Because the ninth graders attend middle school, Sandmann had to get permission from the Michigan High School Athletic Association to allow the freshmen to play at the high school. This permission is generally granted to applying high schools on a year-to-year basis. The Plymouth-Canton schools were granted such permission again this year.

Vern Norris, the head of the MHSAA, suggested that Sandmann draw up a proposal and submit it to the MHSAA that would allow the middle school freshmen to play on a high school level permanent-

"HE WANTED me to write up a proposal that would change the MHSAA handbook and permanently allow schools to do that, instead of having to reapply every year," Sandmann said.

That proposal, endorsed by Plymouth-Canton Su-perintendent Dr. John Hoben, is before the MHSAA's Representative Council.

"I'm optimistic about the state ruling and about our ninth-grade situation," Sandmann said.

Sandmann said he was also optimistic about getting the freshmen programs reinstated in other sports.

"As for the other sports, well, we don't know yet. "As for the other sports, well, we don't know yet. Maybe if the millage goes through we will be able to get back our other programs that we lost three or four years ago. I'm not just talking about ninth grade, maybe we'll be able to get the seventh- and eighth-grade programs back as well," he said. "That would be welcome news to Canton and Se-

That would be welcome news to Canton and Salem coaches. Last year, the coaches met with the school board and voiced their displeasure with the district's shrinking athletic budget and with what they termed a lack of commitment to the total athletic program. The loss of the middle school and men programs was a major complaint. Several coaches resigned because of the situation. The bottom line? Ninth-grade football is back for this year and it appears likely that ninth-grade ath-letes will be able to continue competing on a high school level.

A PLYMOUTH HIGH SCHOOL FLASHBACK

In September of 1970, Plymouth Salem football coach Tom Moshimer moved a journeyman tailback Greg LaMirand, a 6'1" senior, into the staring guarterback position. Against rival Northville High in the opening game of the 1970 season, LaMirand, making his first start at Varsity QB threw 3 TD passes to glue-fingered 6'4" senior Charley Wolfe. That performance plus the durable running of Capt. Ed Scott, Don Chopp and Carl Huter enabled Plymouth to blitz Northville 36-8 and capture the Silver Beil emblematic of football supremacy in the rivalry between the two teams. It also marked the last time ever the Silver Bell was up for grabs.

Division II powers at OU

By C.J. Risak staff writer

Promoting soccer by hosting a tournament seemed like a great idea to Oakland University athletic director Paul Hartman. But OU soccer coach Gary Parsons wanted to take that idea one step further.

"Our athletic director was anxious to have a tournament at Oakland so we could promote the sport," said Parsons. "And there is no national invitational tournament in (NCAA) Division II."

At least there wasn't. This weekend the Pioneers will host three of the topranked Division II powers in the country in what promises to be a superb showcase for soccer at this level.

THE TOURNAMENT kicks off at noon Saturday, with Florida Interna-tional meeting Lock Haven (Penn.) State. At 3 p.m., OU will tackle California State-Los Angeles.

The losers meet in a consolation contest Sunday at noon, with the winners playing for the championship at approximately 3 p.m. Parsons modeled OU's Invitational after a similar tournament Indiana University hosts for Division I powers. Invitations went to schools figured to be among the best in their respective regions. No more than one team was selected from each region.

Florida International was eliminated in the final round of the South Region last season by Tampa Univerity. Two years ago, International edged OU 3-2 in the Division II semifinals and went on to capture the Division II title.

LOCK HAVEN STATE made it to the Mideast Region finals a year ago, where it was sidelined by OU 1-0. Cal State-LA went unbeaten in California Athletic Association play, compiling a 12-0-2 record last season, but failed to earn an invitation to the Division II tournament.

"I think Cal State-LA is a strong team," said Parsons of his first-round opponent. Cal State (LA) is ranked 16th nationally, Lock Haven is sixth and Florida International fifth.

'We all lost some to graduation," said Parsons. "But I don't think Cal State was hit as hard '

DEFENSE IS the key for Cal State-LA. The team allowed just eight goals in 22 games last season behind All-Conference goalkeeper David Jacques, now a junior. Jacques had eight shutouts and a 0.40 goals-against average.

Douglas Mancia, a junior, is a standout at midfield and is the squad's top returning scorer (four goals, seven assists). Cal State-LA was 15-4-3 a year ago and currently boasts a 1-2 mark, with a 2-0 win over University of San Diego and losses to Division I schools Portland (3-1) and Washington (2-1).

This past summer, Cal State-LA played the U.S. Olympic team evenly before bowing 2-1.

FLORIDA INTERNATIONAL has eight returnees and includes nine foreign-born players on its roster. While Cal State-LA's strength may be its defense, International boasts a veteran offensive squad.

Mark Barnett, a Jamaican living in Miami, is one freshman who may crack the starting lineup. Barnett was Player of the Year in Florida last year, scoring 50 goals.

Lock Haven was a former Mideast

Region rival of (N), but has been switched to the East this year in a region reshuffling. The team is currently 0-1 for the season, losing to Oneonta (NY) College 2-0 last week

AND OU? The Pioneers, a team that reached the final four in the Division II playoffs the past two seasons, opened their season Saturday with a 3-1 victory over University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee. Several key performers from last year's squad are gone, including three All-Region selections (forward Morris Lupenec, midfielder Nick O'Shea and back Munadel Numan).

talent, can the Pioneers be ready for such a severe test this early in the season?

"That's a question I won't be able to answer until Sunday," said Parsons. "I think all four teams will be very strong, but we've all lost some to graduation. We're not playing our best soccer. We're new, we have a lot of good players, but we've got a ways to go yet.'

This weekend's tournament should provide a good indication of how far the Pioneers do have to go. The winner could very well sit atop the national rankings until the Division II tournament gets started at season's end.

Salem routs RU, Pats edge Chiefs

Good defense creates offensive opportunities.

That's a lesson Fred Thomann has been teaching Plymouth Salem basketball players for years. It showed again Tuesday, as the Rocks stoned Redford Union with a 20-5 second quarter and rolled to a 68-32 victory at Salem.

"The key to the game," said Thomann, "was that we finally got our defense cooking. We pushed the ball on the break and got a bunch of tran-sition hoops. That helped."

Four players reached double figures in scoring for Salem, with six scoring eight or more. Freshman Dena Head and Kristen Hostynski each notched 13 points, with Fran Whittaker and Suzie Balconi adding 10 apiece. Mary Beth Weast and Reggie Rojeski had eight each.

Julie Marchand topped all scorers with 15. She added 14 rebounds for the Panthers. Marie Becker contributed nine points. RU's efforts were crippled, however, when both players picked up their third personal fouls in the second quarter.

The Rocks led by just three (11-8) after one quarter but changed that around quickly in the second. "We didn't press," Thomann said, "we used our quickness and defensive rotation to force turnovers."

Salem maintained its defensive intensity in the second half, outscoring RU 19-6 in the third quarter and 18-13 in the fourth.

The victory was the Rocks' second in three games. RU fell to 0-2.

FRANKLIN 36, CANTON 34: The season-opener was not a happy one for the Plymouth Canton Chiefs, who lost the lead and the game in the final 90 seconds to Livonia Franklin Tuesday at Franklin.

Phillips and Carolyn Smith finished with 12 points each. Lectka scored eight, including four-for-four from the free throw line.

Diane Knickerbocker pumped in 12 points for Canton, which trailed by five (20-15) at the half. Laura Darby added seven.

Free throws spelled the difference: Franklin hit 12 of 15 to six of 14 for the Chiefs. The Patriots are now 2-0.

It really doesn't matter how much talent you have, or how much you outplay your opponent; if you can't put the ball in the net, you are going to have a contest against North Farmington, yet tough time winning soccer matches. Such was the case at Plymouth Canton has played four games this year. The Raiders are 1-3. In all three losses, to Livonia Stevenson, Plymouth Salem and to Canton, the opposition has had trouble scoring against the Raiders. Instead of being unable to finish scoring chances, couldn't it be that the Raiders might just have a good defensive team?

"OUR DEFENSE played another real strong game," said Raider coach Cathy Cole. "Jeff Keller (midfielder) played his heart out."

So did defensmen Joe Juliano and Monty Najar. Goalie Dennis McCarthy kicked away 16 shots, 12 in the first half.

But, offensively, it was another mat-

"We seem to have a hard time anticipating the transition from defense to offense," Cole said.

Canton outshot North 12-3 in the first half. The second half was more evenly played, the Chiefs outshooting North 6-rell Kraus got free in front of the Chiefs' net some 10 yards out and blistered a shot. Gavigan leaped, snagged the ball in his hands, and held on as the force of the shot knocked him flat on his back.

With eight minutes left in the match, Tim Mueller took a nice pass from Whiteley, faked a Raider defender out of his socks at midfield, and broke in alone on McCarthy — making it 2-0. Defensively for Canton, Pat McGow played a strong game. The win leaves Canton at 2-0.

SALEM 5, HARRISON 0: Farmington Harrison, coming off a big 8-0 win against Novi Monday, ran into charged-up Plymouth Salem team Tuesday.

Mark Flower scored twice for the Rocks, Kevin Sultana and Dave Dameron each had a goal and two assists. Mike Tanner added the fifth goal. It was the second straight shutout for the Rocks' goalie tandem of Dan Stahl and Joe Knoerl. The Rocks are now 2-0.

Unicycle club lights up Plymouth festival

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Among the many sights to be seen at the Plymouth Fall Festival was a demonstration by the Redford Township Unicycling Club.

staff writer

Anyone interested in doing a little unicycling?

If you are, there's a unicycling club in Redford Township that would love to have you join. Billed as one of the top unicycling acts in the country — in fact, the world — the Redford Township Unicycling Club (RTUC) does a little bit of everything. The 25-member team performs in parades, at social events and at conventions. They even do some racing.

THE CLUB will take its act to the Wonderland Mall Sept. 15, where it will stage a mini-meet. RTUC's 25 members will compete against riders from other clubs (from four states) in competitions that will include individual and couples tricks acts, and racing events.

"We look at it as a sport, but it can also be considered a performance," RTUC founder and director Dave Brichford said. "I especially like the racing because it keeps you in good shape physically.

"We really enjoy performing in front of people. Wherever we go, we're well

Universal life is popular — with good reason

By Sid Mittra and Mari Kulikowski special writers

Part III

In the insurance industry, the major development has been the introduction and incredible growth of the Universal Life (UL) policy.

Although sold under a bewildering variety of names (including The An-swer, The Solution, and Ultimate Life), all the policies operate on the following basic pattern: Your premiums, reduced by the company's fees, go into a fund from which the company draws money to pay for term insurance on your life. The remainder - the cash value reserve - earns interest at or near market rates.

What is universal life (UL)?

UL is a variation of whole life but with striking differences. First, the savings yields are substantially higher than those earned under whole life, and are likely to remain so. Second, the company will notify you periodically what interest it will be paying.

In addition, UL is highly flexible. Generally, you can raise or lower the face amount, or death benefit, as circumstances change, with no need for rewriting the policy.

YOU CAN vary the premium pay-ments. If you can't make a payment, you can use money from the accumulated savings - the cash value - to cover it.

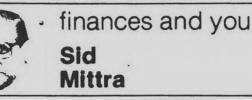

As is true with regular whole life, you can borrow against the cash value, usually at below-market interest rates. You can cash in the insurance policy at any time and collect all or most of the savings.

Part of each UL premium payment is used to pay for the insurance. The rest is invested in low-risk financial instruments after the company deducts enough money to pay for sales commissions, administrative costs and profits.

YOU CAN, within limits, designate the proportions you want the company to maintain between insurance and savings.

Policyholders receive annual reports showing the amount of insurance protection, the cash value, costs of the insurance, company fees, the amounts credited to savings from premium payments, and the rates of return from savings.

Tax Advantages of UL

UL enjoys the same federal incometax advantages as regular whole life. The death benefit is normally exempt from income taxes. In addition, the money returned upon policy surrender is taxable only if that money plus dividends not used for buying additional insurance exceed the total premiums paid.

The tax status is determined by the Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act of 1982 (TEFRA).

UL and Your Dollar

The accompanying table illustrates the nature of UL. The figures are for a $100,000 UL policy for a 35-year-old male nonsmoker. The premium is $2,000 a year.

the company only guarantees to pay a small interest rate (e.g. 41/2 percent) for accumulating cash values (Section A), it pays closer what it earns on in-vestments (Section B) (e.g. 11 percent). The results are phenomenal. If accumulated at 11 percent, in 30 years the policyholder would have a death benefit of $412,374 as compared to only $120,828 if the cash value accumulated at the guaranteed rate of 41/2 percent.

Interestingly, the death benefit is the amount you specify in your application or the cash value plus $25,000, whichever is greater.

In a whole life policy you would receive only the face amount.

Before You Buy UL

There is little doubt that UL is attractive. However, that doesn't mean that it's what you should buy. In any event, ask at least the following questions before you buy UL:

| | Whole li | le | Univers | al life |
|------|---|------------------|-----------------------------------|--------------------------|
| Year | Whole Life guaranteed cash value at 4½ % | death benefit | Universal cash value at 11% | Life death benefit |
| 1 | $1,717 | $100,000 | $1,930 | $100,000 |
| 5 | 9,487 | 100,000 | 12,226 | 100,000 |

Traditional music, step dancing and songs dating to the "dawn of history" will be highlighted[®] at a fall festival featuring 20 of Ireland's leading folk artists at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Sept. 21 at Detroit's Orchestra Hall.

'Music in the Glen," headlined by all-Ireland champion musicians, dancers and story tellers, is being sponsored by Comhaltas Ceoltoiri Eireann (pronounced COLT-us Kel-TOR-i AIRin), or the Music Association of Ireland. Tickets - $10 for adults and $8 for students and seniors - are available at the Orchestra Hall box office (833-3700), Musical Oasis in Birmingham, Irish Imports in Dearborn, Village Records and Tapes in Grosse Pointe and Britain and Australia. Comhaltas' Detroit branch claims members of Irish, Italian, German and Polish descent from throughout Wayne and Oakland counties.

RANGING FROM 16 to 70 years old, Comhaltas' non-paid Irish artists sacrifice vacations to perform 17 concerts in three weeks in New York, Chicago, Toronto, San Francisco, St. Louis and Los Angeles. Seventeen U.S. cities are on the waiting list.

Proceeds will benefit Comhaltas' Dublin headquarters, a converted school providing entertainment, a music library, instrument workshop, recording studio and advisory service for musicians and music lovers

DETROIT'S Comhaltas chapter is wooing the likes of Uilleann (elbow) piper Seamus Meehan, all-world step dancer Ruth Garrett, banjo player Mary O'Connell, Irish harpist Janet Harbison and Gaelic singer Eileen Curtin for a 13th consecutive concert because of "our love for the culture," says Livonia's Daniel O'Kennedy, chairman of Comhaltas' Detroit day night on Ch. 9. Originally 175 minutes. TV time slot: last program on schedule.

You're not a Federico Fellini fan. you say. Well, that's understandable. The Italian cineaste has fashioned his share of highly pretentious, overly wrought films, especially in the last 15 years. "La Dolce Vita" is one of his earlier works, though, and a shining example of the innovative and daring movie making for which Fellini's most remembered. Marcello Mastroiani stars as a troubled press agent who finds life along Rome's glamorous Via Veneto both decadent and intoxicating. As Mastroiani searches for his own identity while fluctuating between real and imagined worlds, the lifestyles of Italy's "beautiful people" are ingeni-ously, and sometimes humorously, exposed. Anita Ekberg, Anouk Aimee and Lex Barker co-star. Ratina: $3.40.

"The Last Dinosaur" (1977), 1:15 Saunday night on Ch. 7. Originally 100 minutes. TV time slot: 130 minutes.

Those of us who fancy the occasional movie about prehistoric monsters don't ask for much, nor do we expect much. Just a battle or two and some standard trick photography usually does the trick. If that's your criteria, too, you won't be disappointed by "The Last Di-nosaur." It's Japanese-made but far better than all those "Godzilla" imita-tions. Richard Boone, Joan Van Ark and Tyrannosaurus Rex co-star. Rating: $2.75.

"Don't Look New" (1974), 8 p.m. Tuesday on Ch. 50. Originally 110 minutes. TV time slot: 120 minutes.

Nicholas Roeg, who directed "Don't Look Now," used to be a cinematographer. To his credit are such singularly distinctive-looking films as "Far From the Madding Crowd" and "Fahrenheit 451." "Don't Look Now" has a unique look, too, and one that builds upon the haunting atmosphere and architecture of Venice. The film is beautifully photographed and chillingly tense. Donald Sutherland and Julie Christie star in the story that revolves around a couple's psychic encounters. Unfortunately, it's sure to be trimmed for TV. Rating: $3.50.

"Call Northside 777" (1948), 1 Tuesday night on Ch. 50. Originally 111 and mont on Cr. 50. Originally 111 minutes. TV time slot: 128 minutes. "Call Northside 777," about a report-er who proves a convicted man inno-cent, has several things to recommend it report the photomorphic of Ion it. Foremost is the photography of Joe MacDonald, whose credits in vivid black and white include "My Darling Clementine," "Yellow Sky" and "Mi-rage." "Call Northside 777" is filmed in documentary style, adding to the ur-gency of its plot, which is based on a true story. The picture also features first-rate performances from James Stewart, Richard Conti, Lee J. Cobb and E.G. Marshall; Henry Hathaway Rating: $3.40.

Livonia's Daniel O'Kennedy for years has worked to revive local involvement in Irish arts and sports. O'Kennedy, who hails from County Clare, was instrumental in establishing the Music Association of Ireland's Detroit branch - an organization he serves as chairman.

"Too many people connect Irish mu-sic to 'McNamara's Band,' " he adds. IF ANYONE still subscribes to the theory advanced in 1831 by a certain Irish critic, they're not saying so. This unidentified fellow attributed Ireland's "great number of early marriages and consequent rapid increase of popula-tion" to the singing of Irish love songs. The practice seldom failed "to reward the swain with the heart and hand of his beloved," he wrote. For the less disdainful, the Orchestra

Hall event will lure listeners to a faraway state - not unlike that enjoyed in an entertainment-filled evening by an Irishman nestled next to a turf fire in his cabin

COMHALTAS OFFERS "some of the most beautiful music and dancing of rural Ireland," says O'Kennedy, instrumental in establishing Comhaltas in Detroit. Among the selections are nuggets of Irish culture made famous by 16th-century artists, he adds.

And not all were wrought by lovesick hearts

"They're songs about emigration, hunger and hardship, the sea, farming, and fishing," say McKinney and Gavin, who hails from Meelick, County Clare.

"The set dancing goes back to house parties," adds the latter, who remembers the sound of hobnailed boots tap-ping to the tunes of local lilters and fiddlers in his parents' flag-floored kitch-

"THERE WAS a lot of house dancing when people came home from the U.S. and Canada (and after the corn was threshed at pre-combine harvests)."

During such musical merrymaking in Ireland's thatch-roofed cottages. somebody was likely to say, "Round the house Kate, and mind the dresser."

After a dance, the kneading warmth of a ballad could soothe heartbroken mothers and ease the everpresent threat of an emigrant's parting.

Granted, there'll be no thatched roof atop Orchestra Hall to enthrall concert-goers. But "Comhaltas gives you the real feeling of Irish culture - it's like going to Ireland," says Anne Gavin, Mick's wife and longtime Comhaltas supporter.

Festival shows quality crafts

By Mary Klemic staff writer

A blade of grass. A piece of wood. A bit of paper.

Simple materials, right? But put them in the talented hands of some local craftsmen, and they can become anything from a basket to a three-dimensional picture.

That was the message at the 13th annual Fall Festival Artists and Craftsmen Show, held in Plymouth Saturday and Sunday. A selection committee reviewed the work of more than 300 artisans, judging on originality and workmanship, to select 95 for the show. The event is a major fund-raiser for the Plymouth Community Arts Council.

BEAUTIFUL YET practical bask-etry by Grace Kabel and Theresa Ohno, both of Plymouth, were among the crafts seen at the display. Ohno's baskets took on different shapes, colors and even scents. One round, bowl-like basket was decorated with pheasant feathers. Another creation resembled a cocoon, while yet another reminded a viewer of a bird's nest. Some had lids, others had handles.

"I just make up those things," Ohno said of her patterns.

The materials the craftswoman uses include rattan, ash, vines, cattail leaves and weeping willows. A green and black, lidded basket made of sweet grass carried a light fragrance all its own Ohno colors her works with natural dyes, such as those obtained from blackberries, cranberries and the husks of black walnuts.

"THE (BASKETS made with) natural materials people buy right away," Ohno said. She added with a smile that her daughter's friends sometimes would tease her about her mother's collecting material.

"They would say, 'I saw your mother in the ditch," Ohno said.

One type of ash is pounded with a bat until it becomes like paper, Ohno said. It is then cut into different sizes. Ohno's baskets aren't as delicate as they may appear. "A basket is supposed to be a useful thing," she said. "They were started because people needed a container. They're fun to make. I like a strong basket. You can sit on it."

ANOTHER PLYMOUTH resident, Elizabeth Kohnescher, displayed a variety of handmade lampshades. Made from lampshade paper, they carried stencil, piercing (holes) or cut-out designs and could fit tin lamps, hurricane lamps or any other type of light.

Kohnescher took a class in the craft because she found she couldn't afford the lampshades, she said. Now she can make the shade to fit the lamp, or vice versa. Her husband has electrified jugs and Mason jars to create unusual lamps. Kohnescher fills the Mason jars with layers of various seeds.

"We have one with popcorn at home, and every once in a while we take some out and use it," she said, smiling.

Birds and other wildlife were the subjects of dimensional paper sculpture by Elizabeth Cascaden.

The works, including an owl on a branch and a fawn sleeping in the grass, look as though they would feel like feathers or fur to the touch. Cascaden, who calls her work paper tole, explains that a "layer upon layer" process gives them that effect.

THE LIVONIA resident starts with several of the same prints. She cuts out one print with a very sharp pair of embroidery scissors. The craftsperson then cuts the print into small sections, like a puzzle, feathering the edges with fine, rapid cuts. She glues down the sections, and repeats the process with the rest.of the prints, placing them layer on laver.

Cascaden usually uses six to eight prints for one work. Many of these are framed to have a three-dimensional, shadow box effect. One owl, encased in a glass jar to stand on a table instead of hang on a wall, was made from 15 prints.

"I include a lot of natural things," Cascaden said, pointing to different pieces to illustrate. "That's part of a real birch tree. Those are paper leaves, but real acorns.

"I enjoy doing it," she continued.

ently," said Toth, who worked as a truck driver for 30 years. "I can stay out in the garage for hours (making them). I can make one and study it for a little while, maybe cut the door a different way," he said.

"My wife does the mirrors and stained glass, so we work together." One of Toth's cabinets featured a small washboard as the door. Toth said the work could be used as a decorative item in the laundry room or as a spice shelf in the kitchen.

"TEDDIES MAKE life more bearable," proclaimed Susan Barnes of Livonia. She and Plymouth resident Joyce "Bearington" Harrington displayed a variety of friendly handmade bears.

Barnes' bears (all "pre-hugged," she says) are made from dough or are stuffed. They can be ornaments, jewelry or on boxes to hold "bearaphernalia." Harrington's machine washable works feature bear-like prints on their

An air compressor and silica sand are used by Mary Courson of Livonia to etch delicate designs into glass, for window hangings and boxes. Courson, a busy mother, never took a class in the subject. She works from a kitchen counter.

There's such a wide variety. You're not doing the same thing time after time."

AMONG THE wood workers at the show were Donna Feldvebel of Canton, Richard Hanson and Patricia Smith of Livonia, and Donald Hay and John Toth of Plymouth.

Toth took up carpentry after he retired in 1977. He began by making shelves, and now mostly designs and builds cabinets with mirror or stained glass accents.

Making a mold for casting reminds me of shaving my standard poodle. Be-fore I start, I promise myself that I'll be quick, I promise my wife that I will be neat, and I promise my dog that I will be gentle.

"Just trust me," I say. Of the three romises, the third one is the only one I keep. That is because an angry 65 pound dog is not a pleasant sight. Of course an angry wife isn't the best thing either.

Well, anyway, I carefully start imming Tiffany's muzzle and head, stopping often to pick up the fallen fun and stuff it into a garbage bag. The more involved with shaving I am, the less I become concerned with the mess. Inside of an hours grooming there this tall stilt-like dog standing on a mountain of black fur. Next to her stands a bearded man whose smile glows brightly against a one inch layer of black fur covering him from head to toe. Close by is his wife pushing a vacuum cleaner carrying divorce papers under her arm.

Well, after six years of apologies to Sandy and Tiffany, clogged vacuum cleaners and poodle fur in my beard, I found Andree, who is terrific at dog grooming. Now Sandy is happy, Tiffany looks great, my marriage is saved, and I can devote my time to an even great-er mess, which is making molds for sculpturing.

Well, by now you should have com-pleted your sculpture, you've been working on. Seriously sculpture tends to be slow going when you first start out. It takes about three places before you get the hang of it.

and the market a state to the FIRST FINISH your clay original, then here is how you make your mold. A plaster mold (molding plaster No. 1) is rigid and will not bend around the features when you pull the sections apart. So you must look at the sculptures and imagine how many separate pieces will be required for your mold. Each piece only comes off in one direc-tion. If a mold piece wraps around a feature, like the nose, then in separa-tion it will pull the nose off the original. Figuring where to divide the mold always was very hard for me in college, until one day at home I figrued I would simply stand and look straight at one side of the sculpture and run a pencil down the profile of the piece. As long as I could see the pencil point I knew it would be a good line for division. Sim-ple head studies usually require only a three piece mold. You can expect some damage to the original in deep set areas as in the nostrils or ear holes.

After you have gouged on the surface the separation lines, you must insert shims. Shims are thin metal squares that keep the plaster sections from adhering to each other. A good resource for shims is your local print shop. Many print shops, even the popu-lar "quickie" type print shops, have "used" metal "plates" which they throw out. Just ask them to save you a few. Two or three plates will do, when cut into small 3 inch or 4 inch squares they will be a lifetime supply. Dent or fold one shim on each side of the mold. This will help lock the mold when you put it back together for casting.

Now mix molding plaster to a heavy cream consistency. Cup your hand backwards and scoop out the plaster. Now you, sort of, slap it onto the clay piece starting at the bottom. Fill the plaster in each section of the mold about three inches thick. When the plaster is hard (about 30 minutes) sepa-rate the molds with a chisel or pull out the shims with pliers. If you have ac-cess to a kiln use terra cotta clay for casting, if not use plaster for casting, Terra cotta is a common ceramic clay and what you do is simply plach off chunks and press them hard into each chunks and press them hard into each of the pieces of your mold. After you build up a thickness of about a half of an inch in each piece, put the mold back together and reach funded and blend the clay sections together. Leave the mold stand for about four bours then mount of the mole intervent then separate the mold pieces any finish work before it is fired.

Callahan show opens at Institute

"Eleanor and Barbara: Photographs by Harry Callahan" opens at the Detroit Institute of Arts on Tuesday, Sept. 18, and continues through Sunday, Nov. 25.

The 120 black-and-white photographs, concentrating on Callahan's wife, Eleanor, and his daughter, Barbara, will be shown in the museum's Albert and Peggy de Salle Gallery of Photography.

The exhibition was organized by the Center for Creative Photography, Tucson, Ariz., where Callahan's archive material (photographs, correspondence, memorabilia, etc.) is housed.

Detroit-born (1912) Callahan and Eleanor Knapp met on a blind date here and were married in 1936. Two years later, Callahan picked up his first large-format camera and seemingly has never stopped photographing.

Chronologically, locations in which the exhibition photographs were made range from Detroit, circa 1941, through Port Huron, Chicago, Aix-en-Provence, Wisconsin, Indiana, and Providence, and holidays. RI, circa 1965.

THEIR DAUGHTER, Barbara, was born in 1950. Earlier, Eleanor alone, then both his wife and child, became constant subjects in his formal highcontrast work and in photographs of close-up intimacy that make abstraction personal.

"In his artistry, Callahan is able to make what is personal to him abstract for us, so we can, in turn make it per-sonal," wrote West Coast critic John Marlowe.

"To Harry Callahan, photography is an adventure, a means of discovering and relating to the world around him. The results are eloquent, personal perceptions," said Ellen Sharp, the museum's curator of Graphic Arts.

"Eleanor and Barbara: Photographs by Harry Callahan" is open to the public without charge during regular museum hours, 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday. Closed Mondays

Free "Masterwork of the Week" talks on Callahan's work will be presented in the gallery by Peter Glendenning of the department of art, Michigan State University, at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 26, and Friday, Sept. 28.

In the early 1930s, Callahan studied engineering at Michigan State University and worked for Chrysler Motor Parts Division.

Virtually self-taught in photography, he was a member of the Miniature Camera Club of Detroit which, in the 1940s, changed its name to the Photographic Guild of Detroit.

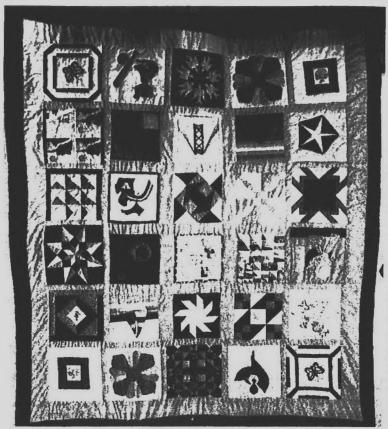

THE GROUP included other young photographers like Todd Webb and Arthur Siegel, who, like Callahan, later achieved national reputations. Through the club several major figures were brought to Detroit - among them, An-sel Adams, who influenced Callahan to give up commercial work for fine art photography.

Callahan's experience processing film in the photo labs of General Motors (1944-45) may account for his technical mastery of the medium.

Callahan was appointed an instruc-tor of photography in 1946 at Chicago's Institute of Design (which became part of the Illinois Institute of Technology in 1950). In 1949 he was appointed head of the department at Illinois, a position he held for 10 years.

In 1956 he was the only phtographer to receive a Graham Foundation Award for Advanced Studies in Fine Arts and spent a year photographing in Europe, with Aix-en-Provence, France, as his base. In 1961 he became Associate Professor of Photography at the Rhode Island School of Design.

There Callahan was instrumental in developing an undergraduate major and a master's degree program in photography. He retired from the faculty in 1977 and continues to reside in Providence, RI.

Horticulture used for therapy

In 1951, a new profession was spreading its wings at Clinton Valley Center, Pontiac. Over the years, the department of occupational therapy has sponsored the training of more than 150 persons.

Throughout the years, educational institutions, as well as hospitals, have developed the profession of horticultural therapy.

Gradually, the training in this profession spread to Canada and England. In August, your columnist and founder of the profession journeyed to Washington to attend the National Conference of Horticultural Therapy.

The meetings were held at the National 4-H Headquarters in Chevy Chase, Md. The campus (former private school of Chevy Chase) is comprised of buildings with beautiful Colonial architecture on wooded grounds. It was an ideal setting.

Those in attendance were from every conceivable type of health center. It was gratifying to see the Hospice organization represented.

A BETTER concept of the beauty of our environment strengthens all who develop this appreciation. It is a tonic in times of stress.

Naturally, being near the National Arboretum, brought a temptation to study the country garden which has the agricultural professions all abuzz.

The total concept has been developed to be used especially for limited grounds and the have-not countries. This exotic garden was developed by using special soil mixes in bags and round containers filled with a special mix which can be piled one on top of the other with a support to provide a pillar, an arch, fences, etc.

The round containers have squares about 4 inches by 8 inches which can be opened and planted.

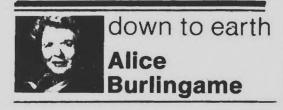

The vegetables, as well as the planted flowers, were beautiful. The concept in any size or pattern would be exotic for an apartment balcony, patio splendor, or for vegetable growth.

This new concept of growing ornamental plants and food crops may go a long way in areas of congestion, display gardens and food-deprived countries.

I noticed that the watering in some individual containers was done by taking the bottom off a pop bottle, putting it upside down and inserting it in the mix.

This might sound rather fussy for us in a country of unlimited means. But for living quarters of limited space, it would provide a green garden for vegetables and flowers green vegetables, as well as patients who could plant these gardens and benefit from the accomplishments of personal gardening.

THOSE WHO live in the desert would welcome

Needless to say, none of us could resist being in Washington, D.C. and seeing the town lighted up at night to form an exotic, beautiful picture. A visit to Washington, D.C. is a tonic for all of us.

Plans for the 58th Original Old World Market, Oct. 18-21, at the International Institute of Metropolitan Detroit are well under way.

Many booth spaces have been reserved, but booths still are available on the upper level for ethnic and fine arts merchandise.

Interested groups should contact Lynne Foley-Boggs at the institute, 871-8600, for a booth space application.

This year, there will be cash prizes for the best decorated food booth and nationality booth.

Volunteers always are needed for hosting, helping the nationality booth people, assisting with institute booths and preparing the building for the crowds. Anyone interested in volunteering should contact the institute.

Also, valuable items are needed for The Institute Used Treasures shop at the Old World Market. Contact the institute if you have treasures to donate.

That autumn nip in the air can't be denied. Timely lawn and garden tasks listed by Michigan State University Extension specialists have a decidedly fall flavor

• After frost has killed the tops, dig and storm corms, bulbs and tubers of tuberous begonias, cannas, gladioli. dahlias and caladiums. Let them dry for a few days before storing in dry sand, peat or vermiculite. A cool (45-50° F), dry storage place is best.

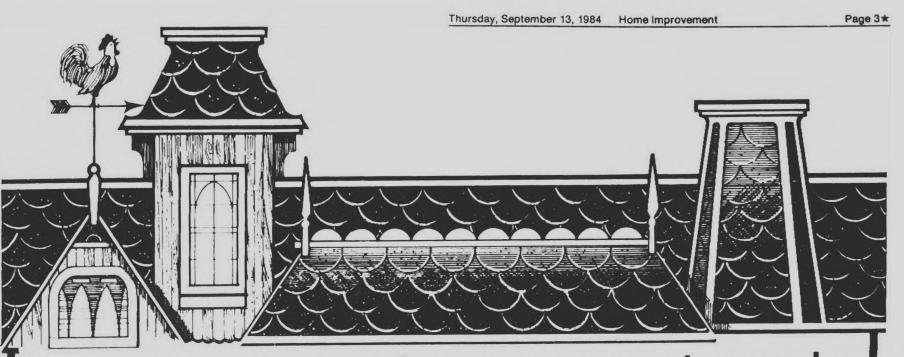

• Winterize roses after the first killing frost. Pile 8 to 10 inches of soil around the capes. Then cut capes back or tie them so the wind can't whin them, and cover with straw or hay Top with rose cones or additional soil or chicken wire to hold the mulch in place.

· Remove and destroy all iris foliage and any iris tubers showing signs of iris borer infestation. Borers are plump, pink caterpillars that tunnel in the iris rhizome, which usually becomes soft and mushy with bacterial rot. Eggs are laid on foliage in late summer and early fall, so removing and downspouts, new windows, or attic ventilation systems, the decision to make an improvement is just the beginning. Then come decisions concerning the product to use and the contractor to install it. Making the right decision involves asking the right questions. To help homeowners ask the right questions, Charles Gindele, staff engineer with Alcoa Building Products and a former remodeling contractor, was asked what questions he thinks are important to ask. According to Gindele, "When you buy a home improvement, you're

But saving a few dollars on an inferior product or less than professional installation can cost a lot more down the road. alternatives. If there are teens living at home, why not create a living space for them?

OR CONSIDER using parts of these rooms as studios for hobbies. Wood and metal working shops would be great for working on home repair projects through the winter

Sandwiched between the upstairs and downstairs are the main living quarters. Take a kitchen inventory. Are there sufficient appliances and work areas to aid you in your culiary expression? Is there a way of reorganizing your available space to make it more efficient?

Inspect the living room and den. Does any of the furniture need to be reupholstered or replaced? How about sprucing up these rooms with houseplants?

Has each room's appearance been maintained? Is it time to repaint, repaper or purchase wallhangings? Is the lighting suited to the room - soft and subtle in bedrooms, medium light in dens and living rooms, and bright in kitchens and bathrooms?

buying two things: the product and letters received at Alcoa Building

Whether it's siding, new gutters Products, there are generally four or five typical questions most often asked

How can I find a good siding contractor?

The best way is through referrals. Ask your neighbors or coworkers who have had wok done on their homes. Find out if they are satisfied with the products and workmanship. Inspect the work. Stand on the sidewalk and look at a house carefully. Ask yourself if it's the quality of work you would want on your house. Find out if the contractor's prices were competitive and if he cleaned up properly after the job was finished.

Is it necessary to get estimates?

Because most home improvements are a major expenditure, it's a good idea to get at least three estimates. After you've talked with all three contractors, you'll have to make a choice based on price, information contained in their presentations and your examination of jobs each has done.

Should I have a signed contract? If the contractor is highly recommended by someone you trust and has worked in the area for a number of years, a contract may not be necessary; otherwise, it's best to have one.

The contract should specify which products will be used (the brands, colors, styles), total purchase price, amount of down payment, terms, payment schedule and types of warranties from the manufacturer and installer. It should also specify that the job will be done in a workmanlike manner, and that the installers will clear away all trash and scraps when the job is completed.

Be wary of contracts that permit the installer to use an "equivalent" product on your home. You may pay for one brand of material and get another if you sign this type of contract. Another thing to watch for is a statement that allows the distributor to put a lien on your home if the contractor doesn't pay him for the material. Any contractor who asks you to sign this type of document should be investigated further.

What should I look for in terms of warranties?

The product warranty on siding varies among manufacturers. The two things to look for are: (1) The types of potential problems cov-ered — these should include such things as defects, chipping, peeling, blistering, rusting, the warranty. Standard coverage is 25-40 years. The first three to five years are generally a full and unlimited warranty under which the manufacturer will replace materials at his cost; the balance is usually prorated - the manufacturer and homeowner share replacement costs based on a table of percentages and time lapsed.

Installers usually warrant their work for at least 12 months. Be wary of any contractor offering

Federal law now requires that all home improvement contracts have a clause providing a 72-hour "cooling off" period, during which the homeowner can change his mind foliage eliminates the eggs that would hatch to become next year's pests.

• Clear dead and dying annuals and the dead tops of perennials from flower beds and borders. They may harbor insects and disease organisms.

• It's not too late to plant or divide and replant iris, daylilies, peonies and other spring and early summer flowering perennials.

• Reduce next year's rose disease and insect problems by cleaning up fallen rose leaves and pruning and disposing of dead, damaged or diseased canes.

• Repot house plants that outgrew their containers over the summer. Inspect plants that spent the summer outdoors and treat or discard them as necessary to control insect or disease problems

• Gather and destroy fallen fruits and rake up leaves of apples and crabapples to reduce the carryover of such insect and disease problems as apple maggot and apple scab.

 Do not prune spring-flowering trees and shrubs now except to remove dead, diseased or damaged branches. The flower buds for next year's display have already formed, and pruning now would remove them.

• Protect young fruit trees and other tender-barked trees and shrubs against damage by gnawing mice and rabbits. Place cylinders of quarterinch mesh hardware cloth around the trunks so they extend 18 to 24 inches above the usual snow level.

• If the weather has been dry, water trees and shrubs weekly until the soil freezes. Evergreens, particularly, need to go into winter well watered. They will continue to lose moisture from their foliage after frozen soil limits the ability of their roots to take up water to replace it. Needles or leaves can become severely dried out.

 After leaves fall, plant or transplant deciduous trees and shrubs. Be sure to remove any wire, plastic cord.

plastic burlap or other non-biodegradable materials from trunks or root balls before planting. If left in place, they will eventually girdle and kill a plant. Water new plants thoroughly and mulch. Support tall trees with stakes and guy wires as needed to prevent their being whipped or uprooted by the wind. Shield newly planted evergreens against drying sun and wind or windblown salt spray. Canvas or burlap screens supported by stakes will do the job.

• Collect cones, dried weed seed pods, meadow grasses, nuts and other dried plant materials for winter crafts projects.

· Rake leaves off the lawn at least once a week so they don't mat on the lawn and smother the grass plants.

• Remove and destroy diseased plant materials in the vegetable or flower garden. Remove or plow under other plant materials so the garden doesn't provide winter shelter for insect pests.

Fertilize lawn 1 more time

Before you retire your lawn-care equipment for the winter, one last task remains: a final lawn fertiliza-

Turfgrass specialists at Michigan State University advise applying a high nitrogen fertilizer to dormant lawns before the soil freezes. Fertilizing in the late fall helps thicken weak or sparse turf and strengthens the turf to withstand the winter. More importantly, it promotes root development that will strengthen the lawn in the coming year. It also provides the nutrients that grass plants will use to green up slowly without a lot of topgrowth the next spring. This means you aren't running for the lawn mower every couple of days and mowing when the soil is too wet.

Growth that occurs after fertilization could leave the turf more susceptible to winter injury. But this is not likely if you apply fertilizer at the recommended rates after the grass has stopped growing. This is usually about the first week of November.

Block is back

Popular during the '40s, glass block fell out of favor, but now it's fashionable again. Used in this kitchen and family room as exterior walls and a window, glass block filters light, is a good insulator and provides security. It's used again under the kitchen island which houses a night light.

Do you think your closets are full? Take another look. There is usually a way to redesign closets and provide valuable additional storage space. One way to make a closet for a man or a boy more orderly and increase storage area is to hang the closet rod at half the height of the closet. Suits, shirts, jackets — all clothes for men and boys - lend themselves to a pole which is hung low.

A place for everything

One designer installed a vertical divider that supports one end of a low closet rod. The divider, the opposite side wall and the back wall were then lined with narrow wood slats.

Ordinary broom hangers were mounted on the slats to hold hats. shoes, sports equipment and other items. The result? Suits, jackets, shirts within easy reach and unused walls converted into valuable hanging snace

Another good remedy for overcrowded closets is to mount a kingsized canvas shoe bag on the closet door. This will hold 12 pairs of shoes or all types of items including your stereo headset, mittens, caps, stockings, socks, lingerie, belts, clutch bags, maps and even tools.

The back of a closet door is always a good candidate for creating additional storage space. There are inexpensive storage systems which you can purchase ready-made. They are easy to install and fit standard doors.

These units are made of vinyl-covered shelving.

Verticals are screwed into the door back and then adjustable wire baskets fit easily into the verticals. These baskets - available in two sizes can hold all sorts of household objects. Other units are available with fixed shelves which neatly store everything from tennis balls to camera equipment

The back of your closet door is one underutilized area which can clear up home storage problems. There is a wide variety of inexpensive storage systems available in local hardware or retail home centers which are easy to install.

Wall coverings can add elegance and charm to a room. But for wallpaper to look its best, it needs to be applied correctly and maintained properly.

and Installation

Great coverups require little care

Wallpaper changes the whole char-acter of a room, gives the homeowner a host of decorating possibilities and can be easily maintained and repaired.

Whether a large or small repair is required upon completion of the work or long-term maintenance necessitates cleaning, here are a few guidelines to help the homeowner do the work expertly himself.

Repairs are often necessary upon completion of a room. Minor flaws, such as bubbles, wrinkles and tears should be fixed, if possible, before the paste dries.

Air bubbles and blisters, for example, can easily be pushed out of the paper with a knife before the paper dries. If you discover the pocket after the project is finished, simply cut an angled corner with a razor, affix household glue to the paper and press to the wall with a seam roller.

Small tears are also repaired by applying glue to the loose paper and pressing towards the wall.

Large tears, even when the paper has dried, do not necessitate removing a strip. The damage can be effectively repaired by placing a larger piece of wallpaper over the area after matching the existing pattern and tacking it in place with masking tape.

CUT THROUGH both layers of paper with a razor blade along a straight edge, then lift off both layers and clean the bare wall.

Apply paste to the fresh piece of paper, press into the space and roll the edges into place.

Wrinkled paper must be removed when the paste is wet and repositioned on the wall.

Most wallpaper manufacturers suggest the paper be cleaned once or twice a year to keep it looking fresh. If you use a cleaning product such as spot removers or a commercial cleaner, do a test patch in a small area behind furniture to see if your paper will fade or suffer damage. Soap and water is recommended for non-washable paper.

If the soil is more serious than household dust, or if the stain is in a high visibility area, purchase a clear protective coating from your hardware store. Once applied, it enables you to scrub non-washable paper.

When papering areas in which you are likely to have a lot of dirt and wear, such as kitchens and bathrooms, it is best to apply sturdy materials, such as all-vinyl and foil papers which are stain-resistant and scrubb-

More delicate coverings, such as decorator fabrics, sheeting and yardage, can be spray-treated to ensure washability and durability.

Every year, it seems, crafts become more popular - possibly as a relief from our increasingly mechanized, computerized, systematized society in which the human element sometimes tends to get lost.

For example, take the "great room" (combination family roomdining area-kitchen) created by the interior designers at one large home furnishings company. To humanize this wide-open space, they not only filled it with comfortable furnishings in warm colors, but they accessorized it liberallly with many kinds of crafted objects d'art.

including a table lamp with woven wicker base; a wooden chandelier with gracefully curved wrought-iron arms and a butterscotch, navy and cobalt blue quilt, both in the dining area; a Shaker wall clock; Shaker hurricane lamps with heavy iron wall fastenings, flanking the fireplace; and a stoneware bowl and American Indian earthenware candle holders on the coffee table.

Chill chasers Cozy comfort requires safe stoves, heaters

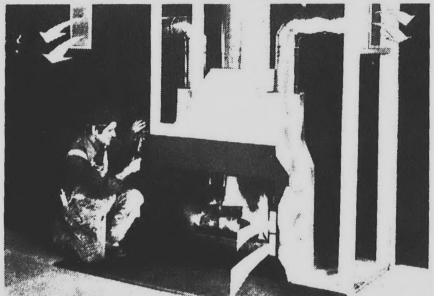

It's getting to be the time when homeowners are warming to the idea of taking a good look at their home heating equipment.

A beginning-of-season cleanup of all types of heating equipment can go a long way toward keeping your familv safe at home.

Fires involving wood and coal burning heating equipment have in-creased sharply in recent years, doubling in the years between 1978 and 1982, say experts at the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission. If you have a wood or coal burning stove, check it thoroughly at the beginning of each heating season.

The stove pipe and chimney should also be cleaned at this time. During the heating season, the pipe and chimney should be checked frequently for creosote build up. Failure to keep the pipe and chimney pipe clear of creosote, a black, tarry substance, can lead to a fire hazard. Also, check the stove for cracks, faulty legs and hinges, and damaged or missing gaskets

It is a good idea to have the entire heating system inspected professionally once a year to ensure that all linings and parts of the chimney are intact and that the stove is properly adjusted and clean.

Portable electric heaters have also become popular, and, like wood and coal burning stoves, fire is a primary hazard with them. It's estimated that 3,300 fires in 1982 were associated with portable electric heater use. There must be a guard around the heating coil, as a wire grille or other protection is essential to keep fingers or fabrics from touching the hot element. Also, if you have been using an extension cord, make sure it's one marked with a wattage rating at least as high as that on the label of the heater itself. Before using your electric heater, see that any broken parts are replaced or repaired, and the cords are in good condition.

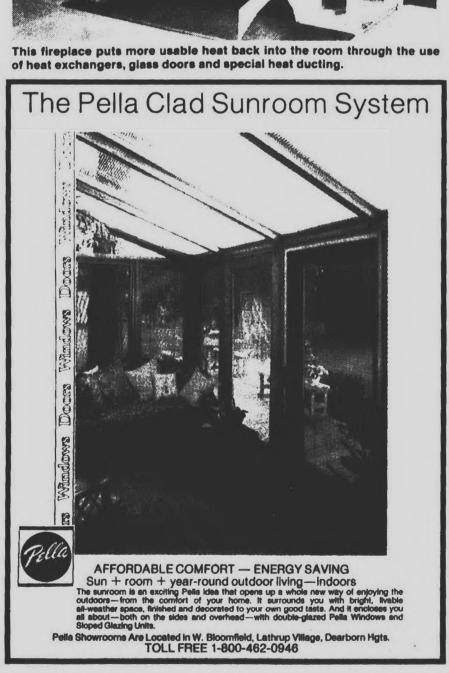

GAS ROOM heaters are also increasingly popular but can cause carbon monoxide poisoning if not properly installed or maintained. If you have a vented gas heater be sure it is vented correctly, with a properly sized vent pipe that is free of leaks and blockages. Joints must be tight, and both the heater and the vent pipe must be free of cracks through which carbon monoxide might leak. An undersized or clogged vent is also hazardous. Both vented and unvented heaters should be kept free of dust by vacu-ming. As an added measure of safety for consumers, unvented gas room heaters manufactured in 1982 and later have a safety shut-off device that will automatically extinguish the heater when the room oxygen falls below the safe level.

If you have a kerosene or oil burning room heater, use only the fuel for which the heater was designed. Never use gasoline. Keep the wick clean and properly adjusted. Inspect these heaters annually to ensure that they are properly adjusted and clean. Before storing, drain the fuel

No matter what type of room heater you have been using, always refer to the manufacturer's instructions for proper use, maintenance and storage.

For more information about safe operation of wood and coal burning stoves, kerosene, gas or electric heaters, or to report a product hazard or product-related injury, write to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, Washington, D.C. 20207 or call the toll free hotline, 800-638-CPSC
