

Graper asks to reinstate fire rescue rig

Says city backup needed to protect public

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

City Manager Henry Graper has recommended that Plymouth reinstate its fire department rescue/ambulance service.

Currently the city relies on Community Emergency Medical Service (CEMS) for all rescue runs but a 17-minute response to a heart-attack victim in October raised concerns.

Graper recommends "reinstating the rescue service in the fire department but only responding when CEMS cannot make the time restraints placed upon them by the city."

City commissioners asked Graper in November to investigate reinstating the city ambulance. His recommendation memo was mailed to commissioners last week and is expected to be acted on in January.

"Although the fire chief recommends that we put our emergency medical unit back in service on a fulltime basis, I do not feel that this is prudent or economically sound for the city at this time.

"The cost of doing that would be something in the neighborhood of $65,000 to $75,000 per year," he wrote.

Instead, Graper wants to continue offering the CEMS paramedic service, with the fire department as a back-up to avoid situations like the one in October.

The heart attack victim was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia. He wasn't transported until 17 minutes after CEMS was called because CEMS couldn't contact its unit.

In the meantime, Plymouth Township firefighters were called and arrived. They decided to wait because they believed a CEMS advanced life support unit was enroute. The CEMS unit which arrived was a basic unit, just like the township's.

GRAPER HOPES to avoid such situations by providing city back-up.

"We have studied this further and still feel that it can be accomplished for around $7,000 to $10,000 per year," he wrote.

"The only difference is that we feel we should purchase a new unit."

Earlier this year, when the city went to CEMS as first-responder to rescue calls, Graper recommended the city sell its ambulance. Although the fire department has a van certified as an ambulance, Graper says an ambulance is needed.

"One of the dual purposes of this unit would be to carry all of the equipment which is used to free people from badly damaged automobiles. We presently do not have a vehicle which has the storage capacity to handle this equipment the way it should be and, therefore, we must roll one of our larger pieces of equipment whenever we have a bodily injury accident," he wrote.

"By having the new unit we would be able to respond to a bodily injury accident and any runs which CEMS cannot make with the time allowed for them."

If the commission wants to follow

Graper's recommendation, he said the city must negotiate with the firefighters union.

Besides providing back-up to CEMS and running the city ambulance full-time, other options Graper considered included:

- Contracting with Plymouth Township for rescue service.
- Contracting with CEMS for an ambulance assigned exclusively to the city.

- Leaving things the way they are with CEMS as first-responder and using the township as back-up.

Graper's recommendation is scheduled for discussion during the first meeting in January, he said.

Police brace for revamping

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

Plymouth's police department faces major changes in the wake of Plymouth Township's decision to start its own force.

Currently the two communities share the Plymouth department through a $467,000 a year contract.

"It's no secret we're going to have a smaller department. We never felt we needed 19 officers to police the city before the contract anyway," said City Manager Henry Graper.

The department uses a total of 19 officers (command, detective and patrol) to police both the city and township.

With the loss of the township contract, the department's jurisdiction will be reduced to 2.2 square miles, opposed to 18 square miles with the township.

"Monday night I will ask the City Commission for permission to contract with Bartell & Bartell to do a reorganization of the police department — both budgetary and criminal justice," Graper said.

"It will look at what we can afford and what is the best way to provide service," he said.

The Bartell work is expected to cost about $70 an hour, for a total of $5,000 to $6,000, he said.

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP trustees decided last week to start a police department and have it in place when the city contract expires in June.

Township officials believe they have reached the point where it is cost effective and beneficial to start a department. That recommendation was made by Supervisor Maurice Breen.

Growing concerns over the cost and control of the contracted services led the township to hire consultant Robert Parsons to coordinate an evaluation of the contract.

At the same time, the city hired Bartell & Bartell Ltd. to conduct a similar evaluation. Bartell recommended the shared service contract be rewritten to eliminate the control problems and better reflect the true costs of the service.

With the township deciding to follow Parsons' recommendation to start a department, Graper said the city must consider realigning its force.

Public safety (combining fire and police) isn't being considered by Graper, although he earlier said it was an option.

"In the future we're going to have to look at it, but not right now," he said.

"Public safety always must be considered because it always is an option but the timing isn't right unless that's what Bartell wants to do," he said.

THE CITY administration already met with Plymouth Police Officers Association (PPOA) President Mike Gardner to discuss the request for Bartell's assistance, Graper said Friday.

Was Supersewer busted up to stop urban sprawl?

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

Did Detroit want the original Supersewer project abandoned to stop development in western Wayne County?

That is one of the key questions being asked in a lawsuit filed by the townships of Plymouth and Canton following a 1983 decision to split Supersewer into north and south projects.

The decision was made by a governor's task force and eventually led to the loss of 75 percent federal funding for the north project — raising doubts whether it ever will be built.

The townships' lawsuit alleges, among other things, that Detroit officials played a major role in the task force's decision. The litigation currently is before Wayne Circuit Court with hearings set to resume in early 1985.

In a deposition taken during October, and released to the Observer last week, Detroit planning director Corrine Gilb discussed the impact of Supersewer and Son of Supersewer, or the North Huron Valley Wastewater system.

"Let me first say that my department has no positions separate from those of the mayor," Gilb said. "The mayor makes the policy for the city. We advise and we inform, but we have no independent positions."

"My impression is that the city feels, and certainly I feel this way as an 'urban expert,' that urban sprawl is not desirable; it leaves all sorts of social, and fiscal, and other kinds of pathologies in its wake," she said.

Gilb defined urban sprawl as development or growth activity "which has motivations or causes other than population pressure."

"It would be to the advantage of our society to stop urban sprawl."

Detroit's position on Supersewer was that any plan which included both the north and south areas "was unnecessary, was fiscally unsound, and was costly to society," she said.

WOULD IT be to Detroit's fiscal advantage to stop growth in western Wayne County?

"It would be of fiscal advantage to the state, to the people in the state, and Detroit is 13 percent of the state; so yes, in that respect."

"It is a cost benefit balance consideration and the costs are not only the direct costs of any projects, but the corollary costs, the supportive costs that go with any project, but also the costs of the social goods, the infrastructure which gets abandoned as a result of the growth, which gets no longer utilized, which constitutes waste of facilities," she said.

"I am against waste, very strongly against waste."

According to Gilb, it costs society $42 for every dollar spent on major projects designed to provide infrastructure for undeveloped areas — the ratio she uses when discussing Supersewer. She wasn't certain of the condition of western Wayne County's infrastructure.

"It is the policy of the city to curtail growth when that growth has the results that I just described. If the growth does not have the results, I think the city wouldn't be so concerned," Gilb said.

"Detroit has 15 square miles of vacant land," she said. Gilb prefers to see that area filled before an unbuilt area develops.

Thus, does Detroit hold a "zero-growth" position toward western Wayne County?

"I won't say that absolutely. It would be preferable that the balanced population remain in built-up areas," she said. "In general it is our position that we, society, the state of Michigan, should make the most of what it has already got."

Does that mean Mayor Coleman Young is against growth in the western suburbs?

"I believe that the mayor, with all his heart and soul, serves the people of the City of Detroit. Anything that would hurt their interest, he would be against," she said.

Gilb considers any project resulting in a population loss for Detroit as something the mayor opposes. Gilb said she was aware of the mayor's position and used it as her starting point in dealing with Supersewer.

UNDER WHAT authority does Detroit say whether other communities, recognized under state law with their own planning powers, can develop?

"It is the same sort of consideration that makes me worry about unborn children. There is such a thing as a higher good."

Does that mean people shouldn't be able to live where they want?

"That's right, not wherever they want. There should be social criteria.

There should be social guidance to some degree," said Gilb, who called herself "a considerable expert on world development."

Based on her beliefs and impressions of the Supersewer project, Gilb wrote a letter in June 1983 to Marge Malarney, just before Supersewer was split.

Malarney "represents the city in Lansing for whatever the mayor directs her to do," Gilb said.

"The purpose was to alert her to a series of events and actions which might result in the city's interest not being adequately represented," she said.

The letter, saying Supersewer would result in lost dollars for the Detroit sewerage system, was authorized by Young, she said.

The letter suggests Detroit's interest in Supersewer be reaffirmed and offers assistance from Detroit if the political pressure interferes with review of the project.

GILB SAID she relied on the Detroit Water and Sewer Department for a statement in the letter that Supersewer would result in excess treatment capacity at the Detroit treatment plant.

She said her statement was based on a general belief that "there needs to be repair, but that the costs of such repair would be less than the costs of new construction, all costs taken into account."

One of the problems with the current system is that raw human waste is discharged into rivers. Gilb was asked what her department's policy is on such pollution.

"Our thoughts about it most certainly would be that we should not do that," she said.

If the Supersewer split would increase such pollution, would that change her recommendation on splitting it?

"Yes, I would say that there should be better treatment of that water before it hits the river," she said. One of the reasons the north project was denied funding was a belief by federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) officials that it would increase pollution in the waterways.

Gilb was asked which is a more serious problem — urban sprawl or pollution?

"Pollution is technically correctable," she said. "Sprawl produces human and fiscal results which are irreparable."

After the Supersewer split, project planners decided to combine the North Huron construction with repair of pollution problems along the existing Rouge Valley sewer system which leads to Detroit.

Besides Detroit, other defendants include the state, county, and several downriver communities.

Rest stop cases common in court

By Diane Free
staff writer

The arrests of 31 men charged with homosexual activities at an I-275 rest stop in Canton Township are not out of the ordinary, according to 35th District Judge James Garber.

Michigan State Police plainclothes officers arrested the men in September and October on charges of disorderly conduct for engaging in indecent or obscene behavior in a public place.

The judge said that when he took the bench in 1978, 155 cases of "a similar nature" were awaiting him.

Since then, Garber estimates he has handled between 300 to 500 such cases and said the activities at the rest stop are a "relatively constant situation."

OF THE MEN charged, all but three have pleaded guilty or no contest to the charges, Garber said.

Richard Buerk, principal of Stevenson Junior High School in Westland, was cleared of the charges during a bench trial in November. Dennis A. May, a school bus driver for Plymouth-Canton schools, is scheduled for a jury trial in February. A jury trial for Robert D. Christian of Wayne is scheduled in March, Garber said.

Garber said he has asked for probation department reports on those who pleaded guilty or no contest. Sentencing is usually between 30 to 60 days after a plea is entered.

The judge said that last week he gave his first sentence in the recent rest stop cases. In the case, he gave a deferred sentence, which means the defendant was put under the court's jurisdiction for a year.

DURING that time the defendant must pay court and supervisory costs, seek court-approved medical or psychiatric counseling, report monthly to the probation department and stay out of trouble, Garber said.

At the end of the year, the judge will review the matter and has the option of imposing further sentence or dismissing the charges.

Taken into account in a pre-sentence report is the defendant's overall criminal history, with "specific emphasis on crimes of a sexual nature," Garber said.

"It's always of concern, interest and relevancy to take a look at criminal history," Garber said.

ALTHOUGH deferred sentences are "something you consider and reconsider," Garber said, the system has

update

"seemingly worked well over the last six years," Garber said there appears to be a lack of repeat offenders.

Garber said he has not sent anyone to jail in such cases. "What we're concerned about," said the judge, "is rehabilitation, not punishment. Jail punishes."

Garber said the aim of counseling is two-fold: to deal with the "public nature" of the offense, because the acts occurred in areas that are open to other adults and children; and to address self-image or self-esteem problems that may be present.

"THE PERSON has to come to grips

Members needed for local review board

A call has gone out for Plymouth Township residents interested in serving on the Board of Review.

"We have three members right now and we would like to get more. It gets more people involved," said Supervisor Maurice Breen.

State law allows boards of review to number between three and nine members. The board hears and rules on property tax assessment appeals once the assessment roll is completed in March.

"We would like to get nine so we can split up into three panels of three mem-with the circumstances," Garber said. "I'm not suggesting that we've changed anyone's sexual preferences."

"It is not against the law to be homosexual," Garber said. "The onus (of the crime) is its public nature." The law, which is "between consenting adults," Garber said, "doesn't inject itself into bedrooms."

"The problem is not unique to the 35th district," Garber said, but the circumstances, namely the proximity of the Canton Township "comfort station" to I-275, are unique.

Garber said he had handled cases involving "everything from representa-bers. It will cut down on the time people wait to make their appeal," Breen said.

"We don't anticipate a large number of appeals this year, but that's the time to get them on the board," he said.

To qualify, you must be a township resident, own property, and be willing to spend about 40 hours on the board during March and April. Interested persons should mail a resume to: Supervisor Breen, Plymouth Township Hall, 42350 Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth 48170.

Smokers get a fresh start

Crittendon Hospital will sponsor the American Cancer Society's Fresh Start Program for persons wishing to stop smoking, beginning Jan. 7.

There will be four sessions from 6:30-8 p.m., Jan. 7, 9, 14 and 16 at the Rochester Hills hospital, 1101 W. University.

There is no fee, but donations to the society will be accepted to help cover the cost of materials, including a Fresh Start kit.

Dan Tunnecliffe, supervisor in respiratory therapy, will be the leader. He said the program is designed for persons who prefer the structure and support that come from a group experience.

The leader begins each session by asking for questions or reactions from participants. Information and strategies are presented in the kit that participants can take home.

Tunnecliffe said the program "helps individuals to stop smoking as quickly as possible and to focus energy on planning ahead to avoid going back to smoking. Emphasis is placed on helping participants understand and deal with smoking as a chemical addiction, a habit and a psychological dependency."

Concrete methods for handling the two biggest obstacles for many new ex-smokers — weight control and stress management — are also offered.

Preregistration is necessary. For more information or to register, call the public relations office, 652-5269.

tives of the church . . . to any profession one could imagine. It has not been limited to any age, educational, ethnic or economic groups. It's completely across the board."

THE JUDGE said there is an increase of activity at the rest stop following any notoriety the cases receive, suggesting to him that "maybe some people are asking for help."

Lt. John Shewell of the Ypsilanti post of the Michigan State Police, disagrees, however.

"It hasn't picked up. It's still relatively quiet out there," Shewell said. Although he expects the activity to resume, "it takes awhile for the heat (of the media coverage) to die down."

Shewell said he has heard others at the post who regularly patrol the rest stop remark, "Boy, that place is dead."

Nominated to AF Academy

Margaret Gilligan of Plymouth has been nominated by U.S. Senator Donald W. Riegle, Jr., D-Michigan, to the U.S. Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs.

Gilligan was among a list of 56 men and women from Michigan Riegle has nominated to the armed services academies — the Military Academy at West Point, Naval, Air Force, and Merchant Marine.

Gilligan was chosen as a nominee from more than 500 applicants throughout Michigan. To make the nominations, Riegle formed six regional screening committees across the state which conducted personal interviews with the applicants.

Riegle then submits 10 names for each vacancy to be filled and the individual academy makes the final selection of the best qualified from among that group of nominees. For 1985 Sen. Riegle has five vacancies to fill in addition to his annual quota of 10 nominees to the Merchant Marine Academy.

The cost of educating each cadet is about $25,000 a year. Each student will be committed to spend no less than five years in the service following graduation.

Admission to the service academies is based on scholastic examination scores, physical aptitude scores, high school class standings, leadership potential, and medical examinations.

Cops to get reorganization

"It's important that they understand the methodology Bartell will use," Graper said. "We want their input but we're not going to let them sit down and dictate how many officers we're going to have."

Prior to the township's decision, Graper said a loss of the shared service contract would result in layoffs — possibly as many as eight.

"I now need to sit down with Supervisor Breen to discuss the three or four officers hired since we signed the contract," he said.

Holiday deadlines

According to the city manager, those officers were hired to fulfill the 19-man clause in the contract. He isn't certain which municipality is going to pay the unemployment costs.

GRAPER STILL has to hire a police chief. Former chief Ralph White is functioning as acting chief until Graper makes a decision. The city manager was waiting until the township decided what it wanted before hiring.

"The chief will be hired during the month of January," he said.

White has withdrawn his name from consideration, Graper said. Bartell is in the process of narrowing the field of applicants to be interviewed, and White was believed to have been a leading candidate.

Agent Orange claims are due

Vietnam veterans who are planning to become plaintiffs in the class action lawsuit concerning Agent Orange must file a claim by Jan. 2.

That reminder was given this week by Roger Cloutier, commander of Passage-Gayde Post 391 of the American Legion in Plymouth.

Failure to meet the deadline could permanently eliminate the veteran from taking part in the lawsuit action.

Cloutier points out there is a simple form available to those Vietnam veterans interested in taking part and urges them to call 1-800-645-1355 for detailed information if they are intending to be considered as part of the class action lawsuit.

Agent Orange is a common name given to a defoliant used by the U.S. military forces during the Vietnam War. Ever since the war ended, there has been controversy regarding the potential health hazards resulting from exposure.

Public Law 98-542, signed by President Reagan on Oct. 24, recognizes two physical conditions attributable to Agent Orange exposure.

Residential homes taking varied shapes, sizes

By W.W. Edgar
staff writer

Thanks to the architects the Plymouth Community is fast becoming a showplace for persons interested in unusual designs for living quarters.

In all sections of the area the town houses, ranch homes and condominiums are going up and each, in turn, is working on the latest plan of using as little space as possible.

The chief example is the group of condominiums on Wilcox Lake where there are 90 living quarters, including one and two bedrooms. The entire project is built on 8.65 acres between Wilcox Road and the expressway.

It was built in a few weeks, all because the homes were prefabricated and then driven here and unloaded, just as if they were being planted.

Around the area there are a series of unusual designed groups. For instance you will find a group of what appears to be three homes linked on one floor. But they are condominiums — on Ann Arbor Trail. There are three groups now in the process of getting finishing touches.

Meanwhile there is another series on Ann Arbor Trail near the railroad. They, too, give the appearance of being the welding of three homes on a bit of ground. In fact, on the Ann Arbor Trail project, there are three groups of what ordinarily would be a single home with a large front lawn and a garden in the rear.

THE TOWNSHIP also comes into the present plan with a series of what looks like three joining homes across Northville Road from the Plymouth Hilton. They not only take quite little ground but look attractive.

On Blanche Street is another fine group that is making the most of a small portion of property.

And on York Street are three condominiums that are most unusual in that they face the steep bank of the expressway with room for a park in the rear.

The homes are not alone in providing unusual designs. One of the finest is that of Charlestown Square, where 17 modern businesses have room to satisfy 1,000 square feet of space.

This area, for years, attracted little attention. It seemed higher than the street and backed into the former high school athletic field. But when the architects got hold of it the ground was leveled with the street and a three-sided building was arranged that has proven very attractive and a surprise to all who remember the old site.

Another pleasing feature along Main Street is the rebuilding of what was the Dairy King ice cream parlor. It now looks much like a cathedral and runs back the full length of the property. When finished it can accommodate indoor or outdoor customers — an unusual feature right in the heart of the city.

For some years buildings on Main Street have been renovated to meet present conditions. Old homes were changed into unusual offices that lent beauty to the area. And the Mayflower Hotel added to the unusual picture with its addition of motel space referred to now as Mayflower II.

County beefs up fleet, trains snowplow drivers

Wayne County is buying $6 million in new road maintenance equipment and training nearly 50 drivers for snow removal work.

"We have made a solid commitment to Wayne County taxpayers to spend less road money on management and administration, and more dollars on direct services to the public," said County Executive William Lucas.

The road department reports to the executive now that voters have approved abolition of the county road commission.

"OUR MANAGEMENT audit reveals that the old road commission was negligent in replacing vehicles at a rate of less than 1 percent per year — far lower than the breakdown rate," Lucas said.

"This negligence necessitates our expenditure of $6 million to replace broken-down vehicles and equipment. Meanwhile, our administrative costs will be much lower."

Purchase orders have gone out for loaders, pickup trucks, dump trucks, bucket trucks and excavators. County mechanics have been working overtime — six 10-hour days a week — to prepare the 162-truck fleet for the snow and ice season, he said.

CURRENT LABORERS are being tested and trained to become equipment operators, Lucas added. Early retirements caused a critical shortage of truck drivers.

Laborers who pass a written test qualify for one-week training sessions. Successful candidates then are given driving instructions are maintenance yards.

They will be evaluated on their training performances before being placed on the eligibility list for equipment operators jobs, Lucas said.

The county has more than 65,000 tons of salt on hand, about two-thirds of a winter season's supply. The executive said the county usually starts the season with 75,000 tons on hand, and that more salt is being delivered.

Walking is more than moving the legs

Often patients respond with surprise that an injection into the knee makes them feel "good all over."

Patients attribute this return of well being to the injection, believing that the medicine injected entered the bloodstream and coursed throughout the body. That view is incorrect.

Walking is more than just a motion by the legs; the whole body is involved in making a stride. Ambulation involves movement by the shoulders, neck, and lower back as well as the hips, knees, ankles and feet. When the knee is in pain, then the rhythm of all the joints is disrupted.

This loss of coordinated movement puts a strain on the arms and back as well as the legs. Discomfort and fatigue result. When medicine or injection stops further knee inflammation and pain, then it is possible for the individual to initiate his or her customary gait. Strain in the neck, shoulders and back is removed, and the individual feels "good all over."

This return of health has occurred not because of the magic of the medicine, but as a result of the body's ability to coordinate joints, muscles, and motion.

YOU SEE money was spread in

So, you see, things were a lot different and I still think we had every good reason to call those times "the good old days."

From all of this, you probably have got the idea that the Plymouth YMCA's dream is to have enough money to have its own building. If you know anyone with a building, property or the wherewithal to make that dream come true — tell Luce or any one of the board members.

The Michigan Department of Public Health advises against giving up exercise for the winter. When it comes to one winter activity — shoveling snow — you need to be in good condition.

Michigan economic gain meager in '84

The Michigan economy, as measured by the Michigan Business Activity Index, rose a meager one point from its depressed September level of 126 to a new level of 127, according to Manufacturers Bank.

The index now stands 11 percent ahead of its year-ago level.

"This small gain underlines the sustained effects of the automotive worker strike in September and the additional impact of October's Canadian UAW strike," said Manufacturers Bank economist Patrick L. Anderson.

"EMPLOYMENT continued to fall, with over 60,000 fewer workers employed in September and October than in June, July and August. Auto and truck production and car sales also remained depressed below summer levels.

"We anticipate that the state's economy will return to normal by the end of the year as long as the national economy keeps expanding," Anderson said.

MEA asks school security funding

The Michigan Education Association is seeking state funding for school security needs.

State Rep. Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, will sponsor the MEA's bill in January.

"This office is making school security a top priority for the next session," said Dan Sharp, a Bullard aide. "We still have a lot of details to iron out, but we expect to have a final document ready to go in the next couple of weeks."

THE MEASURE, to be called the Urban Safe Schools Act, would establish a fund to be used by Michigan school districts to enhance or initiate security programs. Money would be allocated via matching-fund grants based on need.

Bullard's action came in response to letters sent to all state legislators, Gov. James Blanchard and state Schools Superintendent Phillip Runkel by MEA President Larry Chunovich, a former Southfield teacher. The request came after three Detroit students were shot on school property during a single week in October.

"Rep. Bullard is just one of several legislators who are behind us all the way in this effort," said MEA Government Affairs Director Elizabeth Baker. "There is every indication that, once this bill is in final form, it will be supported across the board."

Runkel, in a meeting Monday with Chunovich, also offered his full endorsement.

SEVERAL STATE lawmakers met with Blanchard recently to discuss the proposal and its inclusion in the governor's message to the Legislature.

MEA, an affiliate of the National Education Association, has some 95,000 members. It is widely considered one of the most powerful political forces in the state.

State horse betting revenue up in '84

Horse racing in Michigan is turning upward, as measured by state revenue, Racing Commissioner William S. Ballenger announced.

State taxes on racing were up $400,000 or 2 percent in the fiscal year ended Sept. 30 compared to the prior year, Ballenger reported.

And for the calendar year 1984, it's likely to be up nearly 5 percent over calendar '83 because of the current record-breaking Jackson-at-Northville

Downs harness racing meet, he said. It will make the second straight year the harness racing handle has increased after four years of declines.

Ballenger has embarked on a program of treating horse racing as a business that needs state help in promotion. His figures are based on state flat-rate taxes on pari-mutuel tickets sold to bettors at tracks.

Despite the overall improvement, he said, attendance and betting handle have deteriorated at two tracks — Hazel Park Race Track and Detroit Race Course in Livonia. Both are owned by Bernard Hartmand and Herbert Tyner, who have been ordered by law to divest themselves of operating control of one of the tracks.

Attendance was down 8 percent and handle 4.3 percent at Hazel Park and DRC, Ballenger said, and are at their lowest ebb in more than a decade.

U.S.-made cars in '85 comeback

American auto manufacturers may be making a comeback in their battle against foreign competition in the next six months.

Some 76 percent of all Americans who plan to buy a new car in the next six months say they plan to buy an American-made automobile, according to a survey recently completed by Dun & Bradstreet Corp.

"It appears that some of the foreign car mystique — both psychological and mechanical — may be wearing off. Detroit is benefitting from the increased consumer demand for larger cars," said a Dun & Bradstreet economist.

THE SURVEY also indicated that among Americans currently owning U.S.-built autos, and expecting to purchase a new car in the next six months, 85 percent would purchase another American car.

In contrast, 51 percent of all current foreign car owners plan to switch to American cars for their next purchase.

The D&B survey was more optimistic than reports made to the Economic Club of Detroit last week. Local industrialists see total demand for autos fairly level (10.3 million) next year, but imports increasing their sales by 200,000 and U.S.-made cars dropping 100,000.

"THE SURVEY results suggest that American auto manufacturers may be making some headway against foreign imports," noted Joseph W. Duncan, corporate economist and chief statistician of Dun & Bradstreet Corp.

"By stressing quality, value, performance and technical innovation, U.S. manufacturers have regained ground lost following the oil crisis of 1973.

The poll was begun in April and only recently concluded. It is the largest survey of intentions to buy new cars ever tabulated, D&B said. A nationwide mailing to more than 45 million homes yielded nearly 5.9 million responses, and more than a half-million people indicated that they planned to purchase a new car within the next six months.

The list of people planning to buy new cars was then cross-matched with one of D&B's data bases listing national automobile registrations.

AMONG THOSE who presently own both U.S. and foreign cars, 63 percent plan to buy a domestic auto in the next six months. Respondents who own both foreign and domestic autos represent 13 percent of the total number expecting to buy a new car within the next six months.

These percentages do not, however, indicate drastic changes in current expected sales of domestic autos. Rather, they indicate a buying trend that may not be fully realized for some time.

Dun & Bradstreet is a producer and disseminator of business information services.

ARM AND SHOULDER PAIN

Neck strain from poor posture, or from an accident of some kind, can result in a variety of shoulder, arm or hand problems, with accompanying pain. The cause is often an irritation or "pinching" of the large nerves in the neck as they leave the spine and extend into the extremities. An understanding of these conditions can help you avoid problems and suffering.

'Tis The Season To Be Baking

The aromas of holiday baking signal to all that the season to be jolly is here! This year, start the holiday excitement with the most festive and flavorful kitchen creations ever.

Add decorative pizzazz to the table with Snow Capped Cookie Trees, made from an old-fashioned sugar cookie dough delicately flavored with lemon. Each tree is ingeniously created by sliding together two cookies cut with opposite slots from the top and bottom. Decorate simply, as shown here, or more elaborately, with a thick or thin drizzle of glaze, colorful "M&M's" Chocolate Candies and shiny silver dragees. Once finished, the tasty "trees" make a festive forest for display.

Traditional pumpkin has never tasted better than in Streusel Pumpkin Cake, a moist cake marbled with a brown sugar, cinnamon and chopped nut mixture and crowned with a delicious crumb topping. Served with a hot drink, the cake is a wonderful treat for brunch, after caroling or while waiting up for Santa. Presented on a pretty plate, it also makes a nice offering when visiting friends.

When guests drop in, bring out a tray filled with special holiday goodies. Traditional shortbread takes a new, but familiar shape with Santa's Shortbread Crescents, a delicate buttery cookie with a sprinkling of cinnamon-sugar. Caramel Sparkle Bars are a bountiful combination of favorite holiday flavors — chewy caramel, delicious chocolate, toasted oats — with a special touch of orange.

Keep your merry munchers singing with Golden Graham Crunch, a surprise twist on traditional brittle. Chopped nuts and multi-colored chocolate candies make a fun, tasty topping on graham crackers glazed with homemade toffee. Keep some within reach for tree trimming or gift wrapping breaks.

Holiday Snack Packs are a sweet and savory combination of sesame sticks or pretzels, plain or peanut milk chocolate candies and raisins. This handy snack mix is ideal when the helpers are hungry and you're running short on time. It also makes a clever stocking stuffer or tree ornament when wrapped in colored cellophane tied by a snazzy ribbon, or an easy gift idea when presented in an attractive glass container.

Friends and family will agree: the quickest way to spread Christmas cheer comes through the kitchen door.

SNOW CAPPED COOKIE TREES

Cookies

- 3/4 cup butter or margarine
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 3/4 cup light corn syrup
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 3/4 cup flour
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon lemon rind

Glaze

- 2 egg whites
- 4 cups sifted confectioners sugar
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- Hot Water
- Food Coloring
- "M&M's" Plain Chocolate Candies
- Silver Dragees

For cookies, beat together butter, sugar, corn syrup and vanilla until light and fluffy. Gradually add combined flour, baking soda and salt, mixing well. Blend in lemon rind. Divide dough in half. Wrap each portion securely, chill 2 hours. On 17 x 14 inch cookie sheet, roll out one portion of dough to 1/4 inch thickness. Using patterns,* cut out one large tree half. Remove pattern, mark center point by making slight indentation in dough. Remove excess dough from around cut out tree, chill excess dough reserving for small tree halves. On separate cookie sheet, repeat with remaining portion of dough, forming a second large tree half. Bake at 350°F. for 16 to 18 minutes or until edges are lightly browned.

Immediately cut a slot on one large tree half from the center point to the top as wide as the cookie is thick (about 1/2 inch wide). Repeat on the second large tree half from center point to the bottom. Remove excess dough from center of slot of cookie.

Immediately gently loosen entire cookie from cookie sheet, cool 3 minutes. Remove to wire rack to cool 20 minutes. To test if slots are wide enough, carefully assemble tree halves by sliding cookie with bottom slot onto cookie with top slot. If tree halves do not fit, trim slot area so cookies will slide together and rest evenly while standing upright. Separate cookies, cool thoroughly. To make 4 small tree halves, repeat procedure with small tree pattern for rolling, cutting, baking and making center slots with reserved chilled dough as directed above.

To assemble, beat egg whites until foamy, gradually adding confectioners sugar. Add 2 tablespoons lemon juice, beating until glaze is of spreading consistency. Reserve 1/2 cup glaze, covering with damp cloth. Tint remaining glaze with food coloring, as desired. If glaze thickens, add a few drops of water. Glaze top side of each tree half, let dry. Carefully slide tree halves together. Add 1 to 2 tablespoons water to reserved 1/2 cup glaze and drizzle on trees. Decorate as desired with candies and silver dragees. Makes 1 large and 2 small cookie trees.

VARIATION: For Ornament Cookies, roll out chilled dough on lightly floured board about 1/8 inch thick. Cut with floured 3 inch assorted Christmas shaped cookie cutters. Transfer to cookie sheet. Bake at 350°F. for 10 to 12 minutes or until edges are lightly browned. Immediately make a hole at top of each cookie. Cool as directed. Glaze and decorate as desired. Makes about 4 dozen (3-inch) cookies.

*NOTE: To make large tree pattern, trace tree half outline onto wax paper. Fold wax paper in half along center line of tree and cut out pattern. Unfold to form pattern. Using wax paper tracing, cut one pattern from cardboard. Repeat process for small tree. Place cardboard pattern onto dough and cut around with sharp knife.

STREUSEL PUMPKIN CAKE

- 1/2 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 can (16 oz.) solid packed pumpkin
- 2 cups granulated sugar
- 1 1/4 cups vegetable oil
- 4 eggs
- 3 1/4 cups flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 2 teaspoons baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 4 teaspoons pumpkin pie spice
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Combine brown sugar, nuts and cinnamon in small bowl, reserve. Beat together pumpkin, granulated sugar and oil in large bowl until smooth. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Gradually add combined 3 cups flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt and pumpkin pie spice, mix well. Pour one half of batter into greased 10 inch tube pan, top with 1/2 cup reserved brown sugar mixture. Top with remaining batter. Add remaining 1/4 cup flour to remaining brown sugar mixture, mix well. Cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Sprinkle over top of batter, press lightly. Bake at 350°F. for 1 hour or until wooden pick inserted in center of cake comes out clean. Cool on wire rack 15 minutes. Remove from pan, cool upright on wire rack. If desired, drizzle with glaze by combining 1 cup confectioners sugar and 5 to 6 teaspoons warm water, mixing until smooth and of desired consistency. Makes one 10-inch tube cake.

SANTA'S SHORTBREAD CRESCENTS

- 1 egg white
- 2 teaspoons water
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 2 cups flour less 2 tablespoons
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup butter, chilled

Mix together egg white and water, reserve. Combine 1/4 cup sugar and cinnamon, reserve. Combine remaining 1/2 cup sugar, flour, cornstarch and salt, cut in butter with pastry blender until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Work mixture together with hands until dough forms ball. Divide dough into 6 portions. Roll out one portion of dough on lightly floured board about 1/4 inch thick to form a 6 inch circle. Cut into 8 wedges. Brush reserved egg white mixture over circle, sprinkle circle with 3/4 teaspoon cinnamon sugar mixture. Roll up each wedge starting with wide end to form a crescent shape. Place on ungreased cookie sheet. Brush with additional egg white mixture and sprinkle with cinnamon sugar mixture. Repeat with remaining dough. Bake at 325°F. for 20 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool completely on wire rack. Makes 4 dozen cookies.

CARAMEL SPARKLE BARS

- 32 individually wrapped caramels, unwrapped
- 2 3/4 cup (5 1/2 oz. can) evaporated milk
- 1/2 to 3/4 teaspoon grated orange rind
- 1 cup flour
- 1 cup quick cooking oats, uncooked
- 1 cup chopped nuts
- 1/2 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
- 1/2 cup wheat germ
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted
- 1 1/2 cups "M&M's" Plain Chocolate Candies

Combine caramels and milk in 1 1/2 qt. saucepan. Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally until smooth and blended. Stir in orange rind, reserve. Combine flour, oats, nuts, brown sugar, wheat germ, baking soda and salt in medium bowl. Stir in butter, mixing until crumbly. Reserve 1 cup mixture. Press remaining crumb mixture onto bottom of greased 13 x 9 inch baking pan. Bake at 375°F. for 10 minutes. Top with 1 cup candies, pour in caramel mixture, spreading evenly. Top with reserved crumb mixture and remaining 1/2 cup candies, press in lightly. Continue baking 25 minutes or until golden brown. Cool slightly, chill 30 minutes. Cool completely at room temperature. Makes one 13 x 9-inch pan of bar cookies.

HOLIDAY SNACK PACKS

- 2 cups sesame sticks or bite size pretzel twists
- 1 cup raisins
- 2 1/2 cups "M&M's" Plain or Peanut Chocolate Candies

Combine all ingredients. For each individual gift package, cut a 10 x 10 inch square of red, green or yellow colored cellophane. Place 1/4 cup snack mix onto center of each square. Bring four corners together, secure tightly with 20 inch long ribbon and make decorative bow. Use for gift exchanges, stocking stuffers, at place settings on table or attach ornament hook to ribbon and hang on tree as ornament. Makes about 2 dozen individual packages.

VARIATION: Combine all ingredients. Serve mixture in a bowl as a snack. Store in tightly covered container. Makes about 5-1/2 cups snack mix.

Meal planners final exam

Graduation is here, just in time for the holidays

Last in a series.

It's possible to produce attractive, delicious and nutritious company and holiday meals without increasing your weekly food budget or spending an unreasonable amount of time in the kitchen. The graduate meal planner simply uses the basic steps used to plan and prepare everyday meals with a slight exaggeration.

Starting with the basic menu, described in the first article of this series, and following with a mastery of money and time-saving techniques, special meals will be almost as easy as everyday meals.

Planning the company/holiday meal is the first step. Begin by satisfying nutrition requirements. Plan a dish from each of the four food groups, which are 1) Fruits & vegetables 2) Breads & cereals 3) Meat, poultry, fish & beans 4) Milk & cheese. As your budget allows, add vegetables, fruits, breads cheeses, meats and appetizers.

Plan dishes that you have prepared in the past with success. Never try out new recipes on guests or holidays. Garnishes can make the most basic food something special. For instance, paprika sprinkled over mashed potatoes topped with a parsley sprig makes this popular dish especially attractive.

New ideas are impressive. By using either new recipes or new decorating techniques meals can become happy memories. To get new ideas, watch newspapers and magazines or check a few special cookbooks at the library.

FOLLOWING A theme can make a meal a success. For example, using a Chinese drink, appetizer, soup, salad, bread, main dish and dessert creates a distinct impression.

Decide on the serving technique you will use at meal-planning time. Choose between family style (setting foods in attractive bowls and platters to be passed at mealtime), restaurant style (putting individual portions on plates garnished attractively), smorgasborg, (using a counter to arrange foods in large serving bowls) or a formal service (having dinner served course by course by either the host/hostess, or someone who is not eating the meal).

If dollars are really tight, it may be necessary for you to plan the special meal two or more weeks in advance. This gives you the extra advantage of purchasing one or two items well in advance, cutting down the special week's bill even more.

All this may sound expensive, but cost is something you can easily determine at planning time. To begin with you can spend at least as much as your budget allows for your normal meal. Add to that money you "borrow" from other days. By serving a budget stretching meal another day that week you can add dollars to your company/holiday meal. Just how elaborate you want your special meal determines how many days you have to schedule budget meals.

If dollars are really tight, it may be necessary for you to plan the special meal two or more weeks in advance. This gives you the extra advantage of purchasing one or two items well in advance, cutting down the special week's bill even more. It's all up to you — but remember, budget tightening can never interfere with nutrition requirements.

The budget stretching tip of using a soup, salad and bread basket can be used to round out the menu nutritionally, and to insure your guests will not leave the table hungry.

CONCENTRATE YOUR efforts on the mood. The reason for company/holiday meals is to get together and visit. It's hard to relax and enjoy your family and friends unless the meal is well-organized, and it's uncomfortable as a guest to watch a frazzled host/hostess. So, as you plan the meal, imagine yourself preparing and serving the foods you plan. Choose only dishes that will allow you to be a relaxed host/hostess.

Depending on the circumstance, you may compliment your guest, stretch dollars and eliminate a little work by asking your guest to bring a dish. Think of something you sincerely enjoy that they prepare — their "specialty" — and work it into your meal plan.

If you are the guest instead of the host/hostess, take advantage of this "free meal" to plan something extraordinary at home. Times like these are when you can try lobster, or filet mignon and stay in your budget.

To perk up regular weekly meal plans use the technique of "borrowing" money from other meals. Treat your family to an expensive Saturday candlelight dinner now and then at no extra charge.

In summary, the successful meal planner starts with a nutritionally balanced menu. The menu provides for any special dietary needs and is within the individual's budget and time allotments.

Following the meal plan, is a complete grocery list. This list includes everything needed to prepare and serve the planned week's meals.

When meal planning and preparation is done in a thorough, organized way, you save time and money while you gain peace of mind from knowing you and your family are satisfying nutrition requirements.

If you don't get the desired results this holiday season, don't be discouraged. Follow the plan for a year. Next season holiday meals will be a piece of fruit cake.

Eggnog can be ideal for party

Which holiday drink fits both the festive season and the pocketbook?

"The host or hostess at home as well as those in well-known restaurants may attempt to prepare something different — but the perennial favorite at Christmas is eggnog," said Jennifer Harvey Lang, who has worked as the first woman chef at New York's famous "21" Club Restaurant and authors the "Resolute Shopper" column for the Washington Post.

Of the many ways to prepare eggnog, Lang prefers a special made-from-scratch recipe which calls for Southern Comfort, an authentic American spirit created around the turn of the century in New Orleans.

She finds Southern Comfort with its original, unique flavor key to the special taste of her eggnog. She also suggests keeping this specialty libation on hand to enhance the flavor of other holiday recipes.

Lang opposes the common misgivings that eggnog is either expensive or complicated to make. And she explains why eggnog may be the answer to those looking for an economical holiday refreshment.

• Eggnog eliminates the expense of stocking a bar. Eggnog and a fruit-based punch make a complete and festive party fare, and the savings are considerable when compared to the cost of stocking a bar.

• It's a time-saver, taking just a few minutes to prepare.

• Eggnog is a drink and dessert in one. The one-of-a-kind taste of Southern Comfort and made-from-scratch ingredients combine for a smooth, creamy recipe that's incomparable.

• There are no leftovers to worry about with eggnog. Transform any unused portion into a sumptuous eggnog pie. The following recipe shows how. In fact, Lange advises that you may just want to make sure you'll have some extra to transform into this easy and elegant dessert.

Many of Jennifer Harvey Lang's food and drink recipes are included in a new booklet. For your free copy, write "Festive Comforts," 221 North LaSalle Street, Suite 1400, Chicago, IL 60601.

HOMEMADE COMFORT EGGNOG
6 eggs, separated

¾ cup superfine granulated sugar***
2 cups heavy whipping cream, whipped
1 cup heavy whipping cream
1 cup milk
2 cups Southern Comfort
Nutmeg to taste

In a punch bowl with an electric hand mixer, beat the egg yolks until they are thick and fluffy and lighter in color; gradually add sugar and mix until it is completely dissolved. Add to the yolk mixture the whipped cream, cream and milk, stirring well. Add, still stirring, the Southern Comfort. Chill this mixture until ready to serve.

Just before serving, beat the egg whites to the consistency of shaving cream and stir thoroughly into the eggnog in the punch bowl. Dust with nutmeg to taste, freshly grated if possible.

Makes about 2 quarts, which is 10 servings at about 5 ounces each. Double or triple the recipe to accommodate your holiday crowd.

*You can use ordinary granulated sugar, if you don't have the superfine.

To confuse the issue still further, culinary influences go beyond Cajun and Creole to native American Indian and African (sometimes via the Caribbean) . . .

The underlying hot flavor in much Louisiana cooking is the legacy of the Spanish, whose small but potent peppers play an important role in both Creole and Cajun pantries.

No. 1 rule: F

Enjoy party

1. Peel lemon with one continuous

Note: According to Ella and Dick Brennan, brulot sets are a New Orleans tradition, often given as wedding presents. If, however, you do not have a set, a chafing dish can be used instead to prepare the coffee, which should be served in demitasse cups.

Holder says the number-one rule is to enjoy your own parties, or at least appear to. She also recommends choosing unusual party themes or locations and avoiding dreary talk of cholesterol by serving at least a few "healthy" foods at each gathering.

Ready-to-use dough leaves time for the real fun

If you revel in all the fun of Christmas baking projects but find time at a premium, try these ideas to indulge your creative spirit. The decorated creations go together quickly, so you can prepare them in just a spare hour or two.

The big timesaver is ready-to-slice refrigerated cookie dough, eliminating the need to mix and roll cookies. Instead you use your valuable time on the fun part — assembling and decorating.

Turn your imagination loose and design Miniature Cookie Houses fit for the Sugar Plum Fairy. Unlike most traditional cookie house recipes, this one doesn't require intricate rolling and cutting dough shapes. You simply slice the refrigerated sugar cookie dough, following the instructions to straighten edges of the dough circles with a ruler.

To "build" the four-inch-tall houses, assemble the baked and cooled cookies using decorator icing. Use more icing to add "snow" on the roofs, "landscaping" and other decorative trim. Shiny or brightly colored candies can add more charming accents.

For an even simpler project that youngsters will enjoy, too, make Holiday Favors, turning the cookies into colorful Christmas tree decorations or cookie placecards.

Before baking the cookie slices, you use a plastic drinking straw to "cut" one or two holes in each slice, depending upon your use. After the cookies have baked and cooled, use colored icing and candies to create holiday designs or to write names for placecards or take-home favors.

For ornaments, thread colored yarn through the hole on each decorated cookie and hang on a tree branch. You can set up a miniature tree by your front door and give guests an ornament as a take-home favor.

The placecard is made by tying two cookies together, so they stand, tent fashion, to mark each guest's place at the holiday table.

MINIATURE COOKIE HOUSES
17-oz. roll refrigerated ready-to-slice sugar cookie dough
White and tinted decorator's frosting*
Decorator tubes and tips
Candy-coated chocolate pieces, caramels and decorator candies

Heat oven to 350°F. Slice well-chilled dough into 36 slices about ¼-inch thick.

To form sides: Place 16 slices on ungreased cookie sheets; allow to soften slightly. Using ruler or other sturdy flat utensil, gently push in sides of 16 slices to form 16 squares.

To form roof pieces: Place 8 slices on ungreased cookie sheet; flatten each slightly. Using ruler, gently push in one side of each slice to straighten edge.

To form bases: Place three slices, sides touching, on ungreased cookie sheet to form triangle shape. Repeat with 9 more slices to form three more bases.

Bake at 350° for 9-11 minutes, or until edges are golden brown. Using ruler, immediately straighten edge of roof pieces, and all edges of side pieces. Cool 1 minute; remove to cooling rack. Cool completely on rack before decorating.

To form houses: Use 4 side pieces, 1 base and 2 roof pieces for each house. Pipe white frosting on one edge of one side piece; stand piece on edge, frosting down, on base. Repeat with remaining side pieces joining at corners to form an open cube. Allow to stand 15 to 20 minutes for icing to set.

Generously pipe white frosting on top edges of two opposite side pieces.

Place roof pieces, straight edges together over frosted edges to form an A-frame roof. Pipe additional white frosting at top where two straight edges of roof pieces meet.

Repeat with remaining pieces. Decorate as desired with tinted frosting and candies. 4 cookie houses.

*DECORATOR'S FROSTING

In medium bowl, beat 2 egg whites with ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar until soft peaks form. Add 1 cup powdered sugar; beat 5 minutes or until stiff peaks form. Add 1 additional cup powdered sugar; beat 5 minutes longer until very stiff. Keep frosting covered with damp paper towels. 1½ cups.

HOLIDAY FAVORS

17-oz. roll refrigerated ready-to-slice sugar cookie dough
Plastic drinking straw or wooden skewer
Tinted decorator frosting
Decorator tubes and tips
36 (6-inch) pieces of yarn

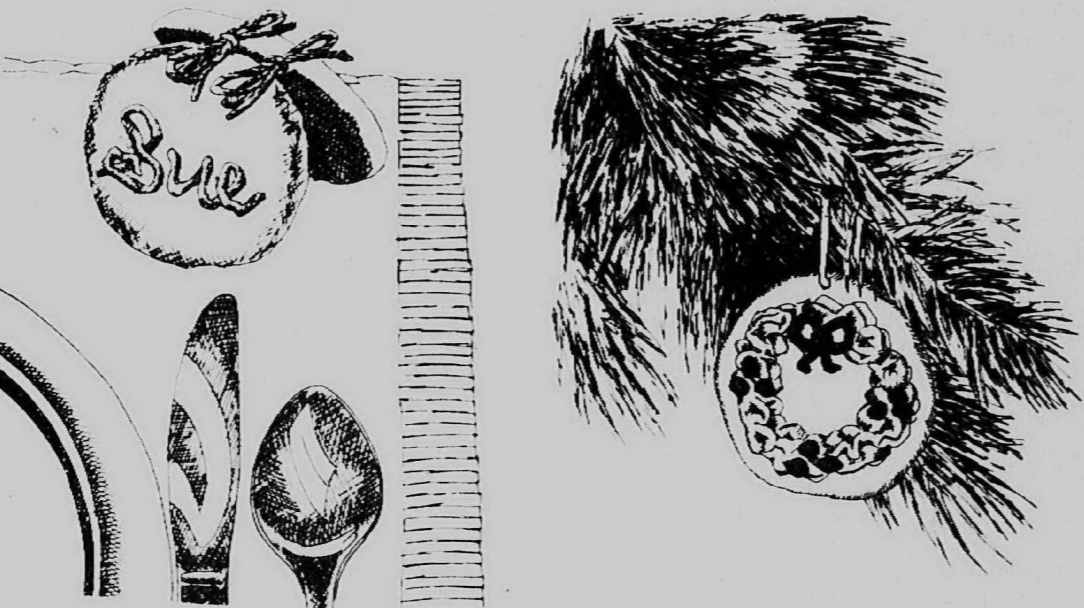

Heat oven to 350°. Slice well-chilled dough into 36 slices, about ¼-inch thick. Place slices 2-inches apart on ungreased cookie sheet.

Bake at 350° for 9-11 minutes or until golden brown around edges. For ornaments, immediately use plastic drinking straw to make a small hole, about ¼ inch from edge of cookie to form hanger for ornaments. (For placecards, make two holes, ¼ inch apart, close to edge of each cookie. Cool 1 minute; remove to cooling rack. Cool completely before decorating.

For ornaments, thread one piece of yarn through hole and tie. (For placecards, use two pieces of yarn. Tie two cookies together loosely by threading yarn through holes.) Decorate as desired. 36 cookie ornaments or 18 cookie placecards.

These cookie houses are easy to make when you eliminate a lot of the work by using refrigerated cookie dough.

PATRICIA Moore, principal of Central Middle School, took 16 of her students out to dinner and a movie.

They had dinner at Seva Restaurant in Ann Arbor, where they were introduced to a vegetarian menu. Later, they saw "Amadeus," the movie that stars local actor Tom Hulse in the title role. The halls of Central are familiar to Tom who was a student there when it was Plymouth High School. And I remember him singing a medley of songs from "Sound of Music" at a Plymouth Symphony Orchestra pop concert in the Central gymnasium. At that time, the symphony concerts were in the gym.

To cap their "evening on the town," they all had Gelatta Clasico, an Italian ice cream.

The 16 students were being rewarded for their scholastic achievements. Each had a 4.0

point grade average for the first quarter and had made the Central Middle School Principal's List.

The students were Darcy Gignac, Teresa Coletta, Michelle Fortier, Dan Gorsich, Laura Porterfield, Sue Rogers, Chris Romanowski, Joan Zaretti, Mark Madrilajo, Paul Croll, Nick Purzer, Jennifer McGrath, Kathryn Shirmohammad, Courtney Lemon, David Swegles and Julian Sell.

Faculty advisers Kathy Freeman, Barb Murphy, Barb Church, Jim Mazer and Margo Panko accompanied the group to Ann Arbor.

Students who achieve membership in the Principal's List for the second quarter can anticipate an equally entertaining outing.

THE PLYMOUTH Canton Community Schools Clothing Bank has an unexpected $180 in its kitty, thanks to the Lehmann College of Beauty on S. Main. Students at the school chose last Monday for their clothing bank benefit.

From 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. they gave Love haircuts for $4 and manicures for $2, turning all the money over to the clothing bank. They took in about $177 and Marilyn Lehmann made it an even $180.

And the students didn't stop there. Instead of having their own gift exchange, they spent the money on items for the clothing bank. Helen Decker, volunteer at the clothing bank, had an added surprise when she picked up the check on Thursday. There was a box full of added gifts to go along with it.

NOW THAT IT'S too late, along comes a set of instructions on how to save your poinsettia and have it bloom again next Christmas. Last year's poinsettia is bushy and healthy. And the whole thing is a green as grass.

Now I see where I went wrong. I should have removed the flower and cut the stems to six inches back in March. June was fine — put the plant outside in a pot.

But I missed July. That's when you pinch all lateral shoots to four inches. These shoots can be rooted and later planted in pots. If you root them in a mixture of half peat moss and half sand, you can have them all flowering for Christmas.

Take them inside before the first frost, usually about Sept. 15, and put them in a sunny window. Now here comes the key to success: You must keep the plant in complete darkness from 5 p.m. until 8 a.m., daily, from the end of September until color shows in the bracts. This should occur before mid-December. When the color appears, they can be left in the light and will bloom for Christmas. Temperatures should remain between 60 and 70 degrees.

If I don't lose the instructions, I'll probably have enough poinsettias for the whole neighborhood next Christmas.

FRANCES PETERS came in first at Thursday's party bridge games at the Plymouth Cultural Center. She had 6,420 points. Mary Jo Rothfuss was second with 5,790.

Can you believe, Betty Urquhart hasn't played bridge once since she moved to North Carolina? Really miss that lady and it's good to hear she is happy down there with her family and friends.

Wed 60 years, the Hoppings still set pace

Louis and Helen Hopping of King's Mill, Northville celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary recently at a family dinner party at Gentili's Hole-in-the-Wall in Northville. They were married Nov. 27, 1924.

Both have many friends in the Plymouth community. Louis continues to serve as a magistrate of the 35th District Court, performing as many as five marriage ceremonies in a single day. And Helen still operates her catering service. She is a member of Sarah Ann Cochran Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

They have two sons, William of Northville and George of Sterling Heights, and 10 grandchildren. They also had two daughters, both of whom are deceased.

The Hoppings were featured in the King's Mill Cooperative newsletter, the Grapevine, and the writer gave permission to reprint the article that tells about this unusual pair:

THE WORD "interesting" is indeed pallid when applied to Helen and Louis Hopping. A more dynamic, involved, and unique couple would be hard to find. They met at the University of Illinois and, it must be said, Illinois' loss was definitely Michigan's gain.

For starters though, Mr. Hopping is an attorney. He has been called "Doc" since he was 3 because his father was a doctor! He left high school to join the Navy and was on a destroyer when the Armistice was signed in 1918. He resumed his schooling, simultaneously being employed by the Hearst News Service and a Washington newspaper.

He graduated from Law School at George Washington University which, plus an honorary doctorate from the Bar Association in Venezuela, gave him double qualifications of his own to be called "Doc." As an officer of the Inter-American Bar Association, comprised of lawyers of the Western Hemisphere, he made many far-flung contacts, the Venezuelan being among them.

BUT WE'RE GETTING ahead of our story — which isn't surprising considering how crammed with activities Mr. Hopping's life has been.

He spent 8 years in Washington, D.C. — five of them as right-hand man for the youngest person ever elected to Congress. And what a job that was — with Representative McLeod in a cast as the result of his plane hitting a mountain! In his name Mr. Hopping wrote a bill which became our present re-apportionment law.

As Time Magazine recently stated, it's "a subject guaranteed to put most ordinary citizens to sleep," but after every census, it often results in heated struggles in State Legislatures. He proposed a bill for the creation of a Pan-American highway, vital before the widespread use of planes, and still the only motor route to the southern extremities of South America.

Of incalculable value, in the light of the country's present dilemma, was work he did to create a commission to investigate issuing a special patent for "free Energy" — harnessing elemental forces of the universe. Unfortunately, there were objections to setting a precedent for special patents, so, while it passed the House, it did not pass the Senate. But what a realm of possibilities that evoked!

IN THE MEANTIME, commuting between Washington and Detroit for Mrs. Hopping and the two daughters and two sons "acquired" during this period, was becoming a little wearing. So in the fateful year of 1931, "Doc" did a reverse of "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington."

STEVE FECHT/NorthvilleRecord

Louis and Helen Hopping, married 60 years, still have active careers. He is a magistrate and she has a catering service.

On his return to Detroit, there were plans to run for Congress. However, sensing the imminent 1932 Roosevelt Democratic Deluge, it was decided to concentrate on Republican McLeod's campaign — and he was the only Republican victor in the area!

From 1931 to 1945, Mr. Hopping was an assistant U.S. attorney. Actually, he became an immigration specialist and from this position they accrued lifelong friends from every walk of life and a rainbow of hues. They're still attending weddings into the second and third generations. Typical fascinating tidbit: on the day WWII was declared,

Here's a gift suggestion for teen-ager

Parents may consider a special Christmas gift for their teen-ager who has studied French — a four-week homestay in France this summer. The suggestion comes from Evelyn and Julian Prince, state coordinators for Nacel Cultural Exchanges. Nacel, a non-profit organization, is the largest exchange program between France and the United States.

"The cost of our homestay in France is quite reasonable and the benefits are enormous. The complete cost from Detroit, including all expenses for the month except pocket money, is less than $1,000," said Evelyn Prince.

The teen-ager will have the opportunity to become part of a French family, to speak French, and to experience the French culture and lifestyle first hand.

MICHIGAN students will become part of a group of 1,500 American teen-agers who will visit France through Nacel this summer. Participants may choose between four-week visits in July or August. Last year approximately 100 Michigan students took part in this French Discovery Program.

"Our students certainly seem to enjoy their homestays in France. Of the 1,350 students who participated last summer, 96 percent rated their stays as good or excellent," said Prince.

"In addition, French teachers usually are thrilled by the results. They report that the student's knowledge and motivation increase tremendously as a result of living with a French family."

NACEL ALSO offers the homestay program for families who prefer to bring some French influence into their home.

Host families are needed for 150 French teen-agers who will visit Michigan for four weeks during July. The French students, who have studied English, are welcomed each summer as a son or daughter, sharing American culture and lifestyle.

Interested families may call the Princes, 634-4441, or write to them, 3453 Buckingham Trail, West Bloomfield, Mich. 48093.

Junior Honor Society a first for Central

Central Middle School bases membership in the National Junior Honor Society on a 3.4 grade point average, character and leadership qualities and recommendations by the staff. Central, the first middle school in the district to have an honor society, has planned a variety of programs to provoke student interest and attitudes.

There will be debates on abortion and capital punishment, a trivia bowl, cross-country skiing, high school orientation, games night, field day and a pot luck. The Principal's List acknowledges academic excellence and a new careers program encourages planning.

National Junior Honor Society members must maintain a 3.2 GPA or better, as well as volunteer six service hours each semester. New members are accepted after second and fourth marking periods. Seventh graders are eligible after the first semester.

OFFICERS FOR the year are Wendy West, president; Laura Porterfield, vice president; Lori Peterson, vice president — programs; Theresa Colletta, recording secretary; and Lauri Madsen, corresponding secretary.

Advisors for the society and their duties are Barb Murphy, membership; Kathy Freeman, service; James Mazer, refreshments, fund-raiser; and Margo Panko, programs, communications.

Faculty, students and parents have combined efforts to upgrade the quality of education and morale at Central Middle School.

all Eastern District of Michigan aliens had to register with his office.

How he found time to be International President of Civitan, a trustee of the Michigan Horticultural Society, vice president and legal advisor for the Detroit Amateur Baseball Federation, office holder in the PTA and his church is an unsolved mystery.

SINCE "retirement," he has been a magistrate.

Not to be outdone, the distaff side of the family was not exactly sitting by twiddling her thumbs. Even as a high school student she taught sewing at home. She learned the millinery trade at Marshall Field's, even making the flowers.

When she married and lived in Silver Springs, Md., and Georgetown, in one of the earliest co-ops in the country, she became a buyer in millinery and children's wear. She tells about buying trips to New York when the original Waldorf-Astoria was so rundown, her supervisor took her to the sumptuous new Roosevelt Hotel of Guy Lombardo's New Year's Eve fame.

AS A CONTRAST to their "itinerant" life as part of the Washington scene, when they settled in Detroit they lived on the same street for 40 years.

Helen was president of her children's grade school (Noble) PTA, the largest in the country, and probably the most active. They had a 200-member dancing class, an orchestra which met at the Hopping house, and a men's chorus. She was president and a member for over 50 years of the fabled Detroit Review Club which supported charities such as the Salvation Army. In a competition of the Federation of Women's Clubs she was chosen "best cook."

She has done catering and even baked wedding cakes for 500-guest weddings!

When her children were at Mackenzie High, she was president of the Parents' Club which ran dances twice a month with as many as 1,000 in attendance - and NO problems!

They sponsored trips to Buffalo, Mackinaw, Tawas, including one where in 22-degree BELOW weather, a would-be photographer had his eyes frozen shut upon contact with the metal of the camera!

Perish the thought they should rest on their laurels. Even before they moved to King's Mills 12 years ago they acquired two acres in Plymouth which they've farmed for 35 years. They have two gardens, each 100 x 200 feet, with fruit trees, grape arbors and raspberry bushes. They plant tomatoes, peppers, shallots, asparagus, Chinese cabbage - name it and they have planted it. What a well stocked freezer theirs must be!

Salem erupts for win, 51-40

Plymouth Salem broke open a close game in the final quarter Friday to give rookie coach Bob Brode his first-ever win as a varsity basketball coach, 51-40, over Walled Lake Central.

And it even happened in front of a partisan Salem crowd.

The Rocks (1-1) played dead even with Walled Lake in the first half, 23-23. Both teams were tied at 10-10 after the first period.

Salem opened up a slim 2-point lead, 31-29, heading into the final quarter when the lid came off the Rocks' basket.

Walled Lake was outscored by the Rocks, 20-11, in the final period and Brode attributed that to his team's adjustment on offense.

"(Walled Lake) played a different defense on us and it took us until the fourth quarter to adjust to it," he said. "And that helped."

Salem got some help from its defense as well, forcing 3 quick turnovers in the final period that resulted in 6 Salem points.

Eric Sovine finished with 12 points to lead the Rocks. He pumped in 8 in the decisive final period. Lesean Haygood and Mike White added 11 and 8 points, respectively.

Daron Edmonds and Tom Cummings combined for 19 first-half points for Walled Lake, keeping the game tight. Cummings finished with 17 and Edmonds had 12.

CANTON 82, W.L. WESTERN 63: Visiting Plymouth Canton used Walled Lake Western's basketball team as a welcome mat Friday, rolling to an easy victory.

The Chiefs (2-1 overall and 1-0 in league play) walked all over the Warriors in the first 5 minutes of play, building up a 22-6 lead.

Canton led 46-35 at intermission.

"(The first 5 minutes of play) kind of dictated the tempo of the game," Canton coach Dave Van Wagoner said. "It wasn't our offense that scored 46 points (in the first half), it was our defense. We got a lot of layups because of it."

Kevin Hawkins led four Chiefs in double figures with 20 points and 8 rebounds. Joel Mies (15 points), Dave Knapp (12) and Brent Stack (10) rounded out the balanced Canton attack. Jim Schlicker returned from an ankle injury and scored 9 points.

Dan Gabrielle led the winless Warriors with 17 points.

PLYMOUTH CHRISTIAN 92, WARREN LUCKETT 80: Plymouth Christian won its first game of the year Friday in a run-and-gun, high-scoring affair over Warren Luckett Academy, in Plymouth.

"That's what we wanted to do," the Eagles' coach Jeff Cook said. "It's up and down and that's what Luckett wanted to do too. I'm glad we're putting the ball in the hoop, but I think our defense could be better."

Plymouth led 48-42 at halftime.

Pat McCarthy led the Eagles' attack with 23 points and 11 rebounds. Jim Stevens pumped in 22 points and grabbed 9 rebounds. Rod Windle and Dave Cadaret were standouts at both ends of the court for Plymouth, scoring 18 and 12 points, respectively, and combining for 17 steals.

The Eagles are 1-3 overall and 0-2 in league play.

Salem's Eric Sovine makes his move to the basket in Friday night's contest against Walled Lake Central. Sovine led the Rocks with 12 points.

Rocks pin Churchill wrestlers

The Plymouth Salem wrestling team put on an impressive display Thursday, winning 12 of the 13 weight divisions enroute to a 60-6 pounding of host Livonia Churchill.

The Rocks (2-0) won every match except for Dave Hooks' pin over Bill Atwell at 112 pounds. Hooks won in 39 seconds.

For Salem, the rest of the night was perfect. Todd Boulier (98) defeated Tom Shara, 10-7, and Tim Ott (105) stuck Tim Thibodeau in 3:44.

Kevin Freeman defeated Mike Krause at 119 pounds, 6-5. Dave Dameron (126) pinned John Parr in 47 seconds. Ken Freeman beat Scott Priebe, 6-4, at 132 pounds.

At 138, Brian Wheble pinned Richard Khmiewicz in 5:09 and Bill Moreley (145) downed David Dudek, 7-2. Andy Ward (155) pinned Tim Kravens in 3:40 and Eric Redding (167) pinned Brian Chen in 5:59.

Jamie Woodchuck (185), Brian Johnson (198) and Mark Cygan (heavyweight) made quick work of their opponents, all winning on pins in less than 1:30.

Dearborn sinks Salem

Host Plymouth Salem swam like rocks Thursday night when Dearborn High School scored a big 121-51 win.

Salem diver Bob Longridge was the only Rock to take top honors all night. He performed very well for a first place score of 196.6.

Don and Mike Harwood combined with Jamey Dunn and Jim Burns for a third-place finish in the 200 yard medley relay (1:51.6). In the 400 freestyle relay, Dunn, Tony Atwell, Jon Caine and Greg Wolf combined for a second place finish (3:38.5).

Mercy dream dies in Kalamazoo, 71-55

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

It's over.

The high school basketball careers of Annette Ruggiero, Amy DeMattia and Mary Rosowski — three girls who comprised the nucleus of one of the most successful basketball teams in the state for three straight years — ended on a very sad note Friday night.

Farmington Hills Mercy lost to Benton Harbor, 71-55, in the state semifinals at Kalamazoo Hackett.

The Marlins left the court in tears, but as coach Larry Baker said, they had nothing to hang their heads over.

"These girls have nothing to apologize for. Those three, our nucleus for the past three years, have accomplished every significant goal available to them. They have won league, city and state championships.

"This year, hey, we were the only team to beat Benton Harbor. We have been the only team in two years to beat Flint Northwestern. And we were the only team to beat Ladywood this year. I think their record speaks for itself."

Still, the Marlins, state champs two years ago, missed their final destination by one step — just like a year ago.

Benton Harbor, a team that Mercy beat earlier this season 63-62, came out of the gates on fire.

DEPLOYING a ferocious full-court press, the Tigers ran off a 12-1 lead and eventually led 22-9 at the quarter. There were those who felt Benton Harbor's quick start was the deciding factor.

"Our press was the key," said Tiger coach Paul Wilhite. "We wanted to wear them down. And I think by the third quarter, they were pretty much out of steam."

Baker, however, saw it differently.

"I don't think that was it. In fact, I was laughing after the first quarter. They only scored 22 points. They scored 25 the last time we played."

Mercy, led by reserves Bev White and Jean Wassenberg, and the brilliance of Ruggiero, got itself back in the game in the second quarter.

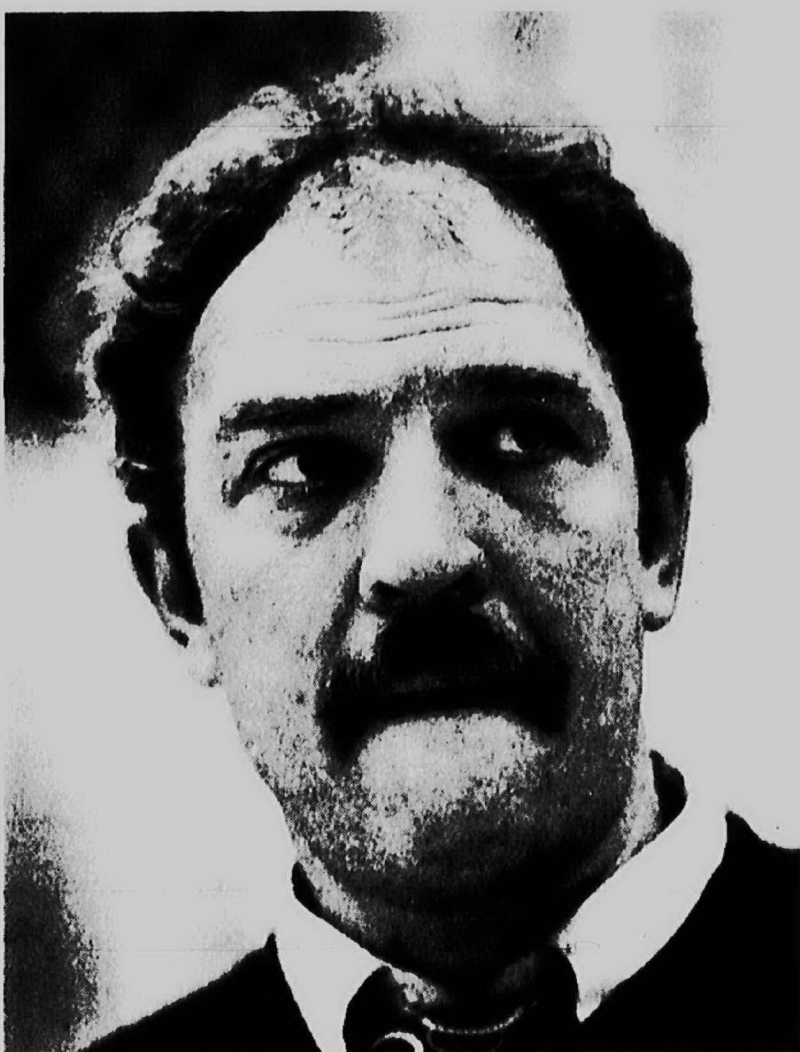

Ruggiero scored 8 points, dished out a pair of assists and forced 3 turnovers, as Mercy pulled within 7, 34-27, before the half.

The third quarter was a crucial test for Benton Harbor, and they passed. Mercy made several strong runs — runs that have made other teams collapse. But the Tigers, led by Trena Sanders and Veronica Holton, didn't wilt.

"They hit some key baskets, we missed a slew of layups and there were some colorful calls — all of those things hurt us," Baker said.

Loss can't mar Thomann's masterpiece

Plymouth Salem girls' coach Fred Thomann created a coaching masterpiece last week despite his team's overtime loss to Farmington Mercy, 49-45.

LATE IN the fourth quarter, Farmington Hills Mercy center Mary Rosowski fouled Plymouth Salem freshman Dena Head — it was the culmination of an intense personal battle — the rookie vs. the veteran.

The rookie nodded her head in Rosowski's face as if to say, "That's right, you fouled me."

The vet, somewhat put out with the fresh frosh, nodded back mockingly. Then, Rosowski ripped down Head's missed shot and started Mercy back up court.

The two had battled each other fiercely throughout the game. Both got in their licks. In the first half, Head flat-out blew past Rosowski along the baseline for a layup. Rosowski, perhaps the finest defensive center in the state, hadn't been beat like that in two years. She didn't get beat like that again Wednesday night, either.

Rosowski finished with 10 points, the result of Kendra Hostynski's flypaper defense. The 6-footer did pull down 12 rebounds, however. Head, with Rosowski covering, scored 13 points and grabbed 9 rebounds.

I, personally, cannot name the winner of this sub-battle. I can say this, Dena Head, at 14 years of age, gave one of the state's premiere players all she could handle.

THE HEAD- Rosowski battle was one of several fascinating sideshows in Wednesday's main event: Mercy's 49-45 overtime win against Salem in the quarterfinals.

I have witnessed close to 50 girls basketball games this season, including the state semifinals and championships over the weekend. I have not, however, enjoyed one more than the Salem-Mercy clash.

The game had everything: suspense, drama, unbelievable defense on both sides, outstanding individual play (Head, Annette Ruggiero, Mary Beth West, Rosowski) and horrendous officiating (perhaps the worst all season).

But, more than anything else, the game showcased Fred Thomann's remarkable coaching ability.

Now, before I go on, let me remind you that Mercy did win the game and coach Larry Baker, in his own right, is in an elite class among state coaches. He has surpassed 200 career wins and has averaged better than 20 wins every season he's been at Mercy. His team plays with intelligence and phenomenal poise. It's hard to believe, sometimes, that the Mercy players are still in high school. They simply do not get ruffled in tight situations and that is a tribute to Baker's influence. Their poise also enabled them to win Wednesday.

BUT, THE problem with being as powerful a program as Mercy is, and has been, people sometimes take you for granted. It becomes a case where simply winning the game isn't enough. If someone comes close to knocking you off, fans and the media want to know what went wrong — even if the scare comes in the state quarterfinals.

That's why Baker, in the aftermath of Wednesday's triumph, emphatically reminded members of the media that his team, indeed, won the game.

Still, it was Thomann's night Wednesday — win or lose.

I couldn't help but think of Bud Van De Wege, the fledgling University of Michigan women's coach. He was in attendance Wednesday. He's trying, and so far succeeding, to build a winning program at Michigan. What he saw Wednesday was more valuable than any clinic he could have attended.

(The Big 10, by the way, is in desperate need of women's basketball coaches of Thomann's caliber.)

In just 35 minutes of basketball, Fred Thomann, like a maestro, directed a composite guide to successful coaching.

TO SAY the least, Salem was undermanned against Mercy. The Marlins were bigger, stronger and quicker per player. Yet, Salem played Mercy dead even for four quarters — succumbing finally in overtime.

That didn't happen by accident or because Mercy had a bad night. It happened because Thomann brought a team into the Southfield gym that was "ready" to play.

Smothering man-to-man defense is the trademark of a Fred Thomann-coached team. Baker accurately describes Salem's defense as "oppressive." It was an oppressive Salem defense that forced Mercy out of its run-and-gun game and into Salem's slow, methodical half-court game.

And, as Baker said before Wednesday's game, "When you start getting into a ball-control type game with them, they are something to fear."

The Salem scouting report was so thorough, the Rocks seemed to know Mercy's every move a split second before it happened, especially on out-of-bounds plays.

The Marlin offense had to work extra hard to score because Salem simply wouldn't allow them to run their patterns. Every Marlin route to the basket had to be redirected.

I could go on and on about the little things that allowed Salem to stay in the game with Mercy. But, I think you get the idea.

PEOPLE ALWAYS come up to me and say they are tired of hearing about what a great coach Fred Thomann is. Well, I just wish those people could have been in the Southfield gym Wednesday night. They would have seen Thomann work a masterpiece.

Yes, the players deserve equal credit. And, in most instances, they get it. But, this time . . .

You know, the old adage is that outstanding talent will beat outstanding coaching on the basketball court. You would be wrong to apply that in this case.

Thomann was up against outstanding talent and outstanding coaching. And still, the man took them into OT. Give him his due.

Top area coaches honored

By Brad Emons
Staff writer

In the world of team sports, coaching is often overlooked in favor of the athlete.

But when it comes to prep sports, coaching often is the determining factor in terms of wins and losses.

This year, the Observer sports staff would like to honor six coaches who made a great impact on their respective programs this season. The jobs they turned in are noteworthy, and they are to be commended for their efforts.

Here is a rundown of the fall sports Coaches of the Year.

JIM O'LEARY, North Farmington, football: Riddled by graduation the previous year, the second-year coach took a relatively inexperienced team and led it to an 8-1 record and the Northwest Suburban League (NSL) crown (for the second straight year).

After succeeding one of the state's top coaches, Ron Holland, O'Leary's record over the past two years has been 14-4.

O'Leary's performance in 1984 is to be saluted along with the performances turned by Garden City coach Dean Shipman and Livonia Stevenson's Jack Reardon, whose teams each went 7-2. Farmington's Don Kuick should also receive mention. His team finished 6-3, with two of the losses coming to top-rated Farmington Harrison. The Falcons also dashed North's dream of an unbeaten season with a win in the final game.

TIM NEWMAN, Livonia Franklin, girls basketball: The third-year Franklin coach worked wonders this year with a team whose tallest player was 5-foot-6.

The 27-year-old Newman led Franklin to a 17-5 overall record and brought the school its first ever district championship. The Patriots also were co-champions of the NSL for the second straight year.

In three seasons, Newman's record is 44-21. He is a Franklin graduate.

Other fine jobs turned in by area coaches that shouldn't be overlooked are those of last year's coach of the year, Plymouth Salem's Fred Thomann, and North Farmington's Greg Grodzicki.

MIKE MORGAN, Plymouth Canton, boys soccer: In his first year with the boys, Morgan led the Chiefs to the second best record in the Western Lakes Soccer League behind Livonia Stevenson.

The Chiefs won the Western Division and finished the year with a 14-3-1 overall record.

Morgan also coaches the Canton girls.

Among other area boys soccer coaches who deserve mention, include Stevenson's Pete Scerri, who led his team to the state championship final; and Plymouth Salem's Ken Johnson, who directed his team to the Class A regional final.

LOIS McDONALD, Livonia Stevenson, girls swimming: The veteran Stevenson coach has led the Spartans to a trio of second-place finishes in the state Class A meet.

This season, Stevenson won the Western Lakes Relays and the WLAA title, setting numerous records. Stevenson was unbeaten and ranked No. 1 before being nosed out by Ann Arbor Pioneer in the state finals.

Not to be overlooked are the efforts turned in by North Farmington's Pat Duthie, whose team was sixth in Class A; and Plymouth Salem's Chuck Olson, whose team finished second behind Stevenson in the WLAA.

TONY MAGNI, Catholic Central, boys cross country: Perfection is something rare in high school sports, but Tony Magni, along with assistant Kevin Kavanagh, directed Redford CC to 13 straight dual-meet wins without a loss.

Magni also led CC to its second straight Class A state and regional crowns, not to mention the Operation-Friendship and Catholic League titles.

Magni was also honored last month as Class A Coach of the Year by MITCA, the statewide organization of cross country coaches.

In addition to the outstanding year by Magni, the Observer would also like to recognize Farmington's Jerry Young, whose team qualified for the state meet, won the WLAA and was ranked in the top 10; and Westland John Glenn's Ed Phillips, whose team won the Northwest Suburban League meet and finished second in the regional.

ALAN MARTENS, Livonia Churchill, girls cross country: Led by Martens, Livonia Churchill came on strong at the end of the season to earn the No. 1 ranking in Observer-land.

An also-ran at mid-season, Churchill's young team came of age late in the year, winning the Western Lakes meet and qualifying for the state by finishing first in the regional.

Martens, though, gives much of the credit for the team's success to veteran boys coach Dave Westover.

Also to be saluted is first-year coach Tom Truesdale, who guided Plymouth Salem to its first-ever state meet berth; and Redford Union's Jim Millen, whose team placed second in the regional.

Livonia Bentley scored two goals in the third period Wednesday to complete a 4-3 come-from-behind hockey win over visiting Southfield Lathrup.

John LaBurn scored the game winner off an assist by Bobby Hachigian in the final minutes of the last period. Mark Scott's goal early in the third period for the Bulldogs knotted the score at 3-3.

Lathrup jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the first period and led 2-1 at the end of the period. Bentley tied the score at 2-2 after two periods of play.

Gary LaRocca and Monty Horn scored the first two goals for the Bulldogs. Hachigian finished with two assists.

Bentley outshot Lathrup 34-27. Kevin Sayed was in the net for Bentley.

Local bowler reaps awards

By W.W. Edgar
Staff writer

For more than two decades Ann Setlock has been working as a clerk behind the counter at Garden Lanes without any sort of identifying name plates. She often gives an occasional bowling lesson with the same anonymity.

And over all those years, hundreds of bowlers have walked by her, never realizing she has received more awards than any woman bowler in Michigan.

Setlock has been inducted into five bowling Halls of Fame, she has been a member of two national championship teams, and for years she held the state scoring record. She was also anchor on the team that won the first outdoor bowling title when the tournament was sponsored by the Bowling Proprietors Association on the banks of the Detroit River.

She started on her Hall-of-Fame parade when she was inducted into the Detroit Hall of Fame in 1970. Eight years later she was honored with a place in the Michigan State Women's Association Hall. Then came a place in the Michigan Amateur Sports Hall in 1983. A few months later she was placed in the Polish-American Hall at St. Mary's of Orchard Lake and then in the Hall of her hometown in Indiana, Pa.

"I ENJOYED ALL of them," Setlock said of her honors. "But the one that stands out came when I was honored in my hometown. I felt highly honored because only a short time before that, Jimmy Stewart, who was also born and raised there, was honored as a guest. It sure gave me a thrill to be honored under those conditions."

Her scoring record of 779, rolled on the Garden Lanes, stood as the state's best for years. Setlock rolled it in 1970, and it wasn't bettered for more than a decade.

As a team player she helped her teams win the Women's International Bowling Congress Tournament title on two occasions. First she was with the Colonial Brooch team in the Ladies All-Star League and later won the title with the team sponsored by the Snetkamp firm.

The only woman bowler in Michigan who can come close to matching Setlock's awards is Marion Ladeig of Grand Rapids. Setlock just smiles when Ladeig says, "I couldn't match her records. I'm not Polish."

By Scott Adler

In 1968, Peggy Flemming won the hearts of Americans with her stellar performance in the Winter Olympics. In 1976, the Dorothy Hamill hairstyle was the rage.

Who knows? In 1988, it may be the Jeri Campbell coliffour.

Campbell, a 13-year-old phenom from Garden City, skated her way to second place in the Novice Ladies National Figure Skating Championships last year and could be on her way to winning on the junior level.

The Garden City Junior High student said she started skating when she was 5-years-old because she "liked it," and has continued because she loves it.

Campbell's coach at the Garden City Civic Ice Arena, Barb Barski, said she knew Campbell was a gem right from the start.

"She was gutsy," Barski said of her star pupil. "She never cried when she fell. She always got up and said, 'Let's do it again.'"

CAMPBELL ENTERED her first competition when she was 6 and skated in local tournaments until last year when she entered the national novice competition.

She won the regional and Midwest competition before finishing second in the nationals.

This year, Campbell has moved up a notch to the Junior Ladies National Figure Skating Championships, but is eyeing that title nonetheless. The finals are Jan. 28 through Feb. 3 in Kansas City, Mo.

"I could possibly win," she said. "I think I have a pretty good chance if I do what I'm capable of doing."

Her coach agrees.

"She certainly has the ability," Barski said. "I hope she wins."

All the glory and medals that have become a part of Campbell's winning ways on the ice have been bought only through years of hard work. She practices 30 hours a week and, according to Barski, that's the reason she has gotten so prolific.

Campbell's dance teacher, Sandy Heff, taught Westland's Carol Fox, the famed ice dancer who finished fifth with Richard Dalley in the 1984 Winter Olympics.

CAMPBELL HAS other heroes as well.

"I used to watch Pete and Kitty Carruthers," she said of the Olympic greats. "I hope to be in the Olympics in 1988."

A short-term goal of Campbell's is to win the nationals so she can compete in the Junior World Championships, an international event in Sarajevo, Yugoslavia, the sight of the 1984 Games.

"I'm looking forward to the nationals," she said. "But I usually don't get nervous until during the week (of the competition)."

Mercy dream dies, 71-55

"We did not lose this game," he added. "Benton Harbor just won it."

The Tigers led 46-40, entering the final quarter. But Angeliue Bell scored 10 points and Lisa Harvey 9 in the final quarter to bury Mercy.

The Marlins, rotating three players on all-stater Harvey, managed to shut her down until the frenzied fourth quarter. She wound up with 19 points but hit just 6 of 21 shots from the floor.

"We tried to key on Sanders, Bell and Harvey," Baker said. "And Carliotta Taylor and Holton killed us."

Bell finished with 20 points and Holton added 14.

THE ULTIMATE difference in the game, Baker admitted, was rebounding. Benton Harbor dominated the glass, especially on its offensive end.

"Rebounding was something we took for granted," Baker said. "Harbor boarded extremely hard."

Ruggiero played a superb game. She scored 14 points and dished out 4 assists. She also pestered Harbor with her defense.

Rosowski scored 11 points and grabbed 11 rebounds. Terri Ford added 10 points.

Sue Scott, playing her final game for the maroon and gold, made 7 steals and scored 8 points.

Benton Harbor (24-1) and Flint Northwestern (last year's state champs) will meet in the finals Saturday.

Mercy's season ends at 21-3.

If you still believe in me, save me.

For nearly a hundred years, the Statue of Liberty has been America's most powerful symbol of freedom and hope. Today the corrosive action of almost a century of weather and pollution has eaten away at the iron framework, etched holes in the copper exterior.

Less than a mile away, on Ellis Island where the ancestors of nearly half of all Americans first stepped onto American soil, the Great Hall of the Immigration Center is a hollow ruin. Rooms are vandalized, walls crumbling in decay.

Inspiring plans have been developed to restore the Statue and to create at Ellis Island a living monument to the ethnic diversity of this country of immigrants. But unless restoration is begun now, these two national treasures could be closed at the very time we celebrate their hundredth anniversaries. The 230 million dollars needed to carry out the work is needed now.

All of the money must come from private donations; the federal government is not raising the funds. The Statue of Liberty-Ellis Island Centennial Commission appointed by President Reagan is asking every American to contribute. The torch of liberty is everyone's to cherish.

Could we hold up our heads as Americans if we allowed the time to come when she can no longer hold up hers?

You can keep the torch of liberty burning bright. Send your tax-deductible contribution to The Lady, Box 1986, N.Y.C. 10018. Or call, toll free, 1-800-USA-LADY.

In Christian Science, Christmas stands for the real, the absolute and eternal - for the things of Spirit, not of matter. The basis of Christmas is love loving its enemies, returning good for evil, love that "suffereth long and is kind."

Millions of dollars don't save 'Dune' from being so-so

Last week, in less than 24 hours I had the rare displeasure of seeing 100-million dollars wasted on two new films I viewed, "Dune" and "Cotton Club."

Actually the DeLaurentis family ("Dune") and the Coppola entourage ("Cotton Club") took much longer than 24 hours to spend that money making their films, but the results are just OK and certainly not worth the expenditure.

If "Cotton Club" survives legal battles, opens on time and is still running next week, I'll write about it then. For today, on to "Dune."

Dino DeLaurentis is an interesting film personality, having produced some of the best and some of the worst films ever, from Fellini's "La Strada" to "Orca the Killer Whale," with detours to remake "King Kong" and "Flash Gordon," among others.

"DUNE" WAS PRODUCED by his daughter, Raffaella; features his wife, Silvana Mangano; and is dedicated to his son, Federico.

All the family DeLaurentis efforts and all that money doesn't show as well as it might. "Dune" is not a bad space opera but it is not the richly rewarding film experience widely expected.

The plot is well-known to aficionados of Frank Herbert's 1965 best-selling novel. The film version is flawed by its assumption that all viewers have read the book. That not being the case, the story is difficult to follow, at least for the first hour ("Dune" runs 140 minutes), in spite of a concise, opening summary.

The complicated story involves the houses of Atreides and Harkonnen in their struggle to control the planet Arrakis where the spice, melange, is mined. Giant worms make mining difficult but melange is needed by the Spacing Guild Navigators to fold time and space. The navigators look a little wormy themselves, although they're closer to giant embryos.

Meanwhile, the Emperor (Jose Ferrer) and the Bene Gesserit Sisterhood, led by the Rev. Mother Ramallo (Silvana Mangano), maneuver for power. The sisterhood has been breeding selectively for 90 generations to produce a hero to cleanse the universe.

PAUL (KYLE MAC LACHAN), son of the Duke of Atreides (Jurgen Prochnow), bears his messianic burden well, looking only mildly dyspeptic as he rides a giant worm into battle. He should be happy worm-riding is so easy.

Rather than projecting the uplifting spirit of redemption, "Dune" is mired in conventional space opera with a medieval quality reminiscent of warrior-bishops riding off to the Crusades.

The film simply is not visually imaginative. Its medieval motif relies on dark and dank castles and heavy weapons. "Dune" evokes images from "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court" and the technology a 19th-century mechanic might "invent" were he flung back 10 centuries.

Much of the combat is phony: Paul and his allies, the Fremens, easily ride the suddenly docile giant worms into battle. Battles consume much of the film's 140 minutes, scenes so dimly lit it's difficult to tell the good guys from the bad as myriads of dark figures disappear in repetitious electronic flashes. When the worm-like embryos who navigate space are zapped, they aren't very spectacular in their visual pulsations either.

Good worms and bad worms notwithstanding, "Dune" does flow along fairly well to a rather simple-minded conclusion, albeit a positive one.

In this visually sophisticated day and age, however, producers who spend 40- or 50-million bucks on a film ought to be able to deliver a more imaginative product.

Sean Young is the Fremens named Chani, whom Atreides loves.

These wines make perfect gifts

One of the great joys of holiday gift giving to an appreciative wine drinker is in the great wealth of choices that one faces in any good store. Indeed, the experience may be a bit overwhelming, such is the wide range of choices.

This column will review what seems to be some of the outstanding gift choices this season. The focus will be on panache as well as quality for cost, in both still wines and sparkling wines.

Initial recommendations of imported wines are by category rather than specific items. There have been two excellent vintages in recent years, both of which are just now becoming available locally.

They are 1982 bordeaux, all of which are excellent value because of the vintage and the present status of the dollar. Excellent purchases could include the Chateau Palmer ($30) or the Chateau Leoville Barton ($11). The other prime vintage is the 1983 German wines across all categories, from spatlese through beerenausele and ice wine.

Regarding the last, there is a $600 Scherzofburger Riesling Ice Wine by Ego Muller that can only be described as for the most select audience in the world. That's $600 a bottle, not case, by the way. But the 1983 crush is uniformly good in the affordable range as well, comparable only to the 1978.

A FINAL category recommendation is the excellent value to be had in true chablis wines. Between $6-$12, great purchases may be made for the lover of these steely, austere whites.

Possibly the most spectacular issue now available from France is the Chateau Margaux '81, a most prestigious gift at $50.

In the domestic field, read California. There are a great many attractive issues that warrant individual attention. Because of the more heterogeneous nature of California wineries, it is not possible to issue blanket endorsements of vintage years. Rather special issues by premium wineries will be noted.

Perhaps one of the most respected wineries is Acacia Winery from the cool, Burgundian-like region of southern Napa, called Carneros. The rolling hills and cooling fog from San Pablo Bay permit the growing of its excellent chardonnay and pinot noir. Both are now available locally and, in the nearly $20-a-bottle range, are prime examples of the best of California. Acacia's efforts with the difficult pinot noir grape are considered by many to be the best of their type grown in the United States.

Another highly esteemed Napa winery is Stag's Leap Wine Cellars. Its 1981 cabernet has just been released ($17) along with a very costly Merlot ($20). Both would honor Santa's efforts.

DUCKHORN VINEYARDS has just released its 1982 Merlot ($20) and 1983 sauvignon blanc ($14). Both have special reputations.

In the less heady atmosphere, the classiest zinfandel to be had is from Storybook Mountain Vineyards. It produces a standard issue at about $9 and a premium at about $2 more. Either would cheer the heart of any zinfandel lover.

The 1981 Kenwood Artists Series Cabernet has just been issued. This one carries an excellent vinicultural reputation and is graced by a lovely representation of the Golden Gate Bridge. The cost of this Kenwood series keeps rising dramatically until now we are at $25 for this. A collector's issue, this will warrant saving a long time and should be reserved for the true California collector.

For chardonnay lovers, recent issues of Chalone and Edna Valley have just been released. They represent a kind of Rolls-Bentley marketing mentality, and the breeding is there. At considerably less cost, but still a wine of fine distinction, is the '83 Kendall-Jackson ($9). A wine of rich butteriness, it also has a good acid balance, making it a lovely thing to own.

Ingenook, proudly boasting a new wine

label, has a stunner in its 1980 Cabernet Sauvignon Limited Cask. It can be found at about $14; do not pay the $18 initially asked. At the lower price it is a real value for the connoisseur. Another cabernet of great class is the '79 Simi. At $8, cheap enough to buy one for someone special and another to take home for yourself.

Finally, in the good-wine, classy-label department, there is the 1983 issue of Carmentel Sauvignon Blanc. Buy one for a white wine drinker who wants and will appreciate something special.

In the most unusual category, there is the "Bottle of Bordeaux" that is filled with hazel nut and chocolate corks. At $10, you drink this one from the bottom!

PIPER SONOMA Tete de Cuvee 1980 is the most expensive ($35) and resides in the most elegant presentation package. The verdict is still out on the quality of this wine, but reviews have been favorable on its standard brut at half the price. Both Chateau St. Jean and Schramsberg are offering their usual $20-$25 bottles and will sell a lot over the holiday season.

However, better values and more thoughtful gifts may be had by selecting some less obvious, and sometimes less expensive, bottles. For example, Iron Horse Ranch and Vineyards has two beautiful wines, some of California's finest, in the $20-a-bottle range, a blanc de blanc and a brut. These would be at the top of the wish list. Add to that the Scharffenberger, just released.

And there are others in the $15-$20 range. S. Anderson has a lovely blanc de noirs that is among the more distinguished in this price range.

Choices in the $10-$15 range are easy to settle on. One is the new Gloria-Ferrar issue from Sonoma, a non-vintaged beauty at $11. It's very citrusy. Few of your recipients would know this one and should find great pleasure from it.

Finally, it is impossible, day in and out, to beat Domaine Chandon for value. A marvelous combination of French winemaking skills have blended with California grapes to produce a great brut and a most elegant blanc de noirs. Chandon is always in good taste. I have seen bottles in stores recently at $10, though $14 is more common.

When considering gifts such as this, don't forget your spouse either. He or she should be glad to share.

The other prime vintage is the 1983 German wines across all categories, from spatlese through beerenausele and ice wine.

Satirical ballet troupe to appear

Les Ballets Trockadero de Monte Carlo, an all-male ballet company, will play its sixth engagement at Detroit Music Hall Center from Friday, Dec. 28, through Monday, Dec. 31.

The troupe satirizes the tradition and pageantry of classical ballet and modern dance innovations. The program gives biographies of such stars as Sonia Leftova, Adam Baum and Lavrenti "Biff" Stroganoff.

"The Trocks" was created by Artistic Director Natch Taylor and Peter Anastos in 1974. The dancers' performances in various Greenwich Village lofts earned them theater engagements, which led to world tours spanning five continents.

The company has been featured on network television with Shirley MacLaine (on her Emmy-winning special), with Dick Cavett and on "Real People."

This year's performances at the Music Hall will offer three separate programs including "Giselle," "Three Dances of Ruth St. Denis," "Swan Lake, Act II," "The Lamentations of Jane Eyre," and the troupe's signature piece, "The Dying Swan."

Tickets at $17.50-$12 may be purchased at the box office, phone 963-7680.
