Two suburban officials took issue with a Wayne County task force report suggesting how 9,500 more prison beds could be added by the year 2000.

County Commissioner Mary Dumas. R-Livonia, and Northville Township Supervisor Susan Heintz said Plymouth and Northville townships "already bear a disproportionate share of the correctional space burden."

Specifically, they objected to the 38member commission's recommendations to use the Detroit House of Correction (DeHoCo) both for temporary housing of 1,000 felons and as a site for construction of a prison when the old Five Mile Road facility is torn down.

LUCAS RELEASED the report trict includes Livonia, Plymouth and Thursday at a news conference in his office. The task force included officials of three counties, several legislators, local, business and labor leaders.

The commission also recommended: Two regional state prisons of 550 beds each be constructed within Detroit city limits.

WE ARE NOT part of the group which says 'Build prisons, but not in my neighborhood," Dumas and Heintz said in their dissent. "We speak as communities which have already accepted more than a proportionate share.

'The eventual closing of DeHoCo has been part of the development plans for our area for a number of years. We already have attracted several businesses to locate on Five Mile Road just a mile east of DeHoCo. There are numerous businesses with an interest in locating along the rest of Five Mile Road, including the DeHoCo site.

"Our prisoner population at DeHoCo and at the state-run Phoenix Correctional Facility has averaged 600-900 since 1980," they said. Phoenix is on Five Mile in Northville Township, just east of the DeHoCo site.

"We also provide space for Department of Mental Health facilities which house over 1,000 persons," they said, referring to the Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital on Seven Mile

Their dissent echoed common suburban complaints that for decades, Detroit, Wayne County and the state have treated the two townships - with prime industrial land on a railroad and prime residential land in rolling hills as a "dumping ground" for excessive numbers of institutions.

Land around the DeHoCo site has been prepared for industrial use, with the understanding DeHoCo would be closed. At stake is an estimated $1 billion of development on what is considered one of the hottest industrial corridors in southeastern Michigan.

THE RECOMMENDATION of Duggan's group was in line with a proposal for the state to lease DeHoCo as its inmates are transfered to county jails. In Lansing, state Department of Management and Budget officials said last week the leasing arrangement would be carried out administratively. Suburban legislators and local officials announced plans to bring the fight to the state Legislature. State Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth Township, and Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen are focusing their efforts on security issues at DeHoCo, as well as objecting to use of the site.

"I will ask our board Tuesday night to approve a request to our state representative to introduce legislation that is going to speak to security and siting problems in regard to DeHoCo if it is going to be used by the state for a prison," Breen said. Heintz reportedly will ask the Northville Township board for a similar motion.

"We don't think that facility can secure 1,000 prisoners. It wasn't built to house that many prisoners," Law said. "We visited both DeHoCo and the Phoenix facility to compare. Phoenix had substantial security. DeHoCo was another story," he said.

SOME 150 prisoners a year are processed through the 35th District Court on charges of escape from DeHoCo. Judge James Garber said the court averages about two cases a week.

The majority of DeHoCo prisoners are housed in "80-man wards and unsupervised cottages," Law said.

According to Law, DeHoCo employs 180 correctional personnel for an inmate population of 700, while Phoenix employs 150 personnel for a population

MacDonald now in judge's role

Cloaked in black and flanked by flags, a bespectacled Judge John Mac-Donald has assumed his rightful place on the 35th District Court bench And he looks judicial Presiding over a civil trial Tuesday. the freshman judge calmly cautioned the jury, over-ruled objections and entertained attorneys' motions, looking as though he'd been at it for years.

MacDonald, 50, was elected in November and sworn in by Supreme Court Justice James L. Ryan Jan 4 He succeeds the retiring Judge Dunbar Davis (now serving the Plymouth, Canton and Northville communities as visiting judge and magistrate) and joins presiding District Judge James Garber

Yet to complete a full week on the job, the area's newest member of the judiciary still is getting used to his new title and flowing outfit MacDonald held court Jan 2-4, but was relieved by Judge Davis through Jan 11 In the interim. MacDonald spent a few days observing Farmington's 47th District Judge Margaret Schaeffer and nearly a week in Lansing going to "school

BEING DISTRICT judge "is a nice feeling," said MacDonald in his new chambers "It's hard to get used to being called 'judge,' but everyone seems to want to call you that I tell them that outside court, they should call me John or whatever they're used to calling me."

MacDonald, who just completed a four-year term as Northville Township supervisor, says sitting on the bench "is an ongoing learning process.

There are a lot of things to learn in making the transition from being an advocate of one side to someone hearing both sides. And I'm learning to practice patience," added the judge.

MacDonald already is acting on one of his campaign promises - streamlining the civil docket.

The district court may institute a policy to expedite mediation cases whereby "if the parties agree, an attorney will serve as mediator" to help clear up an eight-month backlog, Mac-Donald said (Wayne County Circuit Court cases currently take more than three years to be heard, so things aren't too had at 35th District Court, he adds.)

A mediator could be appointed as soon as Feb 1 or March 1, according to MacDonald

MacDonald served on the 35th District Court's advisory board and practiced law for 24 years in Wayne and Plymouth The father of three, Mac-Donald is a graduate of the University of Michigan and Wayne State University Law School

Stay tuned for TV dish rules

By Gary M. Cates staff writer

The second reading of an ordinance to regulate satellite television dishes in Plymouth likely will be tabled by the City Commission tonight.

The first reading of the satellite ordinance was approved earlier this month and sent to the planning commission for further study and review.

"We did not recommend anything on the ordinance and tabled it for further factfinding," sald Don Keller, planning commission chairman

The planning consultants have been asked to prepare a draft ordinance for the planning commission, Keller said.

The proposed ordinance came from the city attorney's office, with the majority of it pulled from a resolution prepared by the Ohio Municipal League

At the first reading, questions were raised about the scope and intent of the ordinance. It is aimed at regulating the placement and installation of satellite dishes on commercial and residential properties

City Manager Henry Graper said the ordinance addresses the aesthetics of dish installations which ultimately would protect the values of adjacent

HOWEVER, because satellite television is considered an alternative to cable some cities have come under fire for restricting the placement of dishes.

Most cities receive franchise fees from their cable firms based on subscriber revenues

One resident said the proposed Plymouth ordinance was too burdensome. He said our residential garage plans don't require an engineer's signature while the ordinance would require such a signature for dish plans.

Also, because appeals would be sent to the Zoning Board of Appeals, there were fears it might create a backlog in the ZBA docket

The planning commission considers those factors in making a recommendation to the city commission.

"In looking at the materials we already have, there's a lot of variation in the ordinances we have received be-cause satellite dishes are so new," Keller said.

"We're going to consider it further at our next meeting on Feb. 13.

"If the consultants come back with a recommended ordinance then we probably will make some type of a deci-"If we don't take action at the February (13) meeting, because we do meet only once a month, the City Commission would have to wait until March before taking their action." In that case, "We might have a special meeting to address that one subject and get a recommendation back sooner," he said.

The adminstration is asking the city commission to table the ordinance until its Feb. 18 meeting.

ALSO ON tonight's agenda are:

 Several rezonings. Four lots on N. Mill from two-family residential to central business, property on Farmer Street from two-family to multiple family, and a lot on W. Pearl from multiple family to general business. The Commission also will consider denying rezoning for several lots adjacent to the Farmer Street property.

IT'S HOPED funds will enable up to 100 persons to learn to identify, understand and assist substance abusers in free sessions Conducting the program will be Community Intervention Inc. of Minneapolis, Minn.

The committee already is a quarter of the way toward its goal, thanks to a $5,000 donation from the Canton Rotary and $1,000 from the Canton Chamber of Commerce

We do feel that what we have is an important problem affecting the whole community We want to do all we can to help these young people, but it will require a large effort on the part of lots of folks," said Homes, assistant superintendent for instruction.

While the district has realized success in combatting students' drug problems, "we want to take steps with our youth beyond where we've been so far,"

"If business people are aware, concerned and committed (to helping substance abusers), the same benefits will be afforded to their companies and families. We've seen it happen," said Cooper, coordinator of the alternative education program The Canton Chamber of Commerce

'How often have you heard someone say. 'Oh, she's from a divorced family with a lousy income and bad morals no wonder she's a diabetic?'

We've treated alcoholism and drug abuse like a symptom of anxiety, but it's a physiological disease," said McCoy "We're beginning to let go of old social values.

Help offered for smoking, overeating

Seminars to help smokers and heavy eaters keep their New Year's resolutions are being offered by the Plymouth Community Family YMCA.

Two hypnosis sessions are scheduled for Wednesday, Jan. 23, at Plymouth Township Hall at 42350 E. Ann Arbor Road at Mill.

Hypnotist David Rowe will help you eliminate destructive habits which damage your health and self-image.

The stop-smoking clinic will begin at 6 p.m. and the weight control clinic at 8:30 p.m. on Jan. 23. The fee for either session is $30. Registration is being taken by the YMCA at 453-

All participants will be given a cassette tape to reinforce the hypnotic suggestions which Rowe will give in four hypnotic inductions during the single session.

"My job is to deal with your subconscious," says Rowe, "where your feelings live. You conscious mind already knows that smoking and overeating are bad for your health, but both 'feel' good. Hypnosis can change that feeling and get the subscious decision to stop a had habit."

The YMCA emphasis that if you'd like to try hypnosis, you have nothing to lose but your habits. Halfway through the seminar, after the group has been hypnotized twice, particiback if they are in any way displeased.

The Self Psych follow-up survey indicated that two of three smokers become immediate non-smokers with the stop-smoking seminar. They receive a simple seven-day, self-help system to help convert them permanently to non-smoker.

In addition to the cassette tape, weight control participants receive specific instructions which they are expected to follow and receive to weight date; They receive it mostly of weight loss support, including five additional, different diaries which are sent to them when they return completed diaries to Self Psych.

The Self Psych seminars have been pants will be offered their money, offered by the American Lung Association affiliates in 74 cities in 11 states, and for community education programs in more than 100 in Michigan school districts.

MUSCLE PAIN IN ARTHRITIS

People with arthritis of the knee often note pain in their leg muscles. It comes as a surprise when their doctor states that it is their arthritis that is the cause of these aches.

The reason is not because joint inflammation has spread to the surrounding muscles. What has developed is undue strain on the muscles that anchor above and below the knees.

When a joint becomes arthritic, the body attempts to place the joint in such a way as to prevent the irritated areas of bone from rubbing against each other. Making this adjustment forces the muscles around the joint to pull for a prolonged period in ways that the muscles are not accustomed to undertaking. The result is leg

Louis Norman recalls Plymouth in the '20s

past & present

When the White Star Liner "Titanic" struck an iceberg at full speed at 2:20 a.m. on April 15, 1912, and went to the bottom of the Atlantic with a loss of 1,513 passengers and crew, one of those who might have been on board, but wasn't, was an English lad named James Norman.

For that, longtime Plymouth resident Louis Norman is thankful. James Norman, his father, was booked on the Titanic but missed it. Had he not done so, Louis Norman would not have been here to tell the story.

James Norman, a native of Birmingham, England, later emigrated to Canada. He arrived in America at age 17 and married a girl from New York State. The family was living in Detroit when Louis was born 70 years ago. They moved to Plymouth when Louis

A WELL-KNOWN excavator in the area for 30 years, a member of the Plymouth Township board for 18 years and a life-member of the Plymouth Historical Society, Louis Norman remembers Plymouth when he was a boy

"The chocolate factory wasn't there too long. I think part of the building was used when the plant for Pilgrim Drawn Steel was put up. But the smell of the chocolate stayed around for years. They used to dump syrup residue in the ground. It must have fermented because whenever the ground was dug up you could really smell it."

Norman remembers that the Merritt Slaughter House stood at the corner of Sheldon and Ann Arbor Trail, where Bird School was later built. West of the slaughter house was Charley Bennett's Beauna Vista Farm which extended from Golden Road (now Ann Arbor Road) on the south through Ann Arbor Trail and as far north as N. Territorial

"The farm was run by a hired hand," Norman remembers. "Charley lived on Main Street opposite the high school. All of the fence posts that surrounded the Bennett farm were made of con-

"The barn was really something to see, a real beauty. It had ceramic tile inside. Everything was clean and neat. But for some reason the herd of cows got TB and died. After that, Charley stopped operating the farm."

Norman recalls that the Bennett farmhouse was bought by Don Skinner about 15 years later. I talked to Skinner boyhood days in the "river valley" - who says he bought it from the developer who built a subdivision where the farm once stood.

The farmhouse orginally stood on the north side of Ann Arbor Trail, just west of Bird School. Skinner had it jacked up, put steel beams under it, and used truck axles to roll it down Ann Arbor Trail behind a truck. It is now the Skinner residence about two miles west of its original location but on the south side of Ann Arbor Trail.

Skinner says the house is beautifully built, with hardwood floors, a fireplace, terrazzo floors in the bathrooms, and special draft-prevention window channels. He bought the house from the developer for $1,000 spent $4,000 to have "The Henrys and the Bassetts had farms along the river. The Henry farm was near Plymouth, but the Bassett's were on the edge of Livonia. Henry's son, Ernie, later became assistant postmaster here.

The Henry property ran from the city limits east until it abutted the Spicer property. All of the ballfields now in Riverside Park were on the Henry property. The lane which ran from Ann Arbor Trail through the Henry Farm down to the stream is now Park Drive."

The city bought part of the Henry farm to make Plymouth Tourist Camp. Some years later, when the Hines Parkway was built, Wayne County leased the tourist camp land for 99 years. It is now called Riverside Park."

The Bassett Farm, also along the river, was east of the I-275 expressway in Livonia Township. Plymouth resident Warren Bassett says his family, after whom Bassett Drive is named, farmed there for more than 100 years.

The Bassetts came from Gaylord. trading land they owned there for property here. Bassett's grandfather, Edward Charles Bassett, had a tomato canning factory on the farm.

Bill Ray, another longtime resident of Plymouth, was visiting Louis Norman the day I talked to him. They were boyhood friends. They both remember fishing for suckers in the Middle Rouge, and going to one or more of the swimming holes in the river in the days before the county altered its course. One well-known spot was Bing's Hole, just west of Starkweather Avenue, at the north end of town.

Well, you won't have to wait long to get the answer.

Already the promotion-minded businessmen in the downtown section are planning what they call "something big." The idea is the revitalization of July Fourth with the hope it can take its place alongside the hot air balloon festival, the Ice Spectacular and the Plymouth Fall Festival.

In recent years July Fourth has been a low-keyed program which included a parade which seems to have simmered off. It now is planned to breathe new life into the parade and add a state band championship.

The thinkers behind this move feel it would be helpful across the entire state if the various cities would enter their community bands and crown a champion.

Plymouth long has been known for its fine high school marching bands under the direction of Jim Griffin. Then came the Plymouth Community Band, and now the idea of building interest across the state with the championship being decided in a wellplanned program by July Fourth.

This came about when the late Lord Mayor Frank Chapman, along with his cabinet, came across the ocean to help Plymouth celebrate its 100th anniversary. He then presented the city with a "bit of rock" taken from the dock from which the Mayflower sailed in 1620, and it now rests in a suitable case on City Hall lawn.

Each year the story of the "bit of rock" is told but with few listeners. It is planned now to rearrange this part of the program and bring it to the attention of people who gather for the

The parade usually is one of the most colorful in the area, but it can be boosted and take a place with other demonstrations in the state.

After all, the Sister City plan has brought about a much-heralded practice of the Stars and Stripes being flown on all the government buildings in Plymouth, England, on July Fourth. It could be one of the features of a nationwide Sister City Day.

While the plans are only in the talking stage now, the promotion-minded businessmen are hopeful something big can be worked out to keep the City of Plymouth one of the most promotionally active in southeastern

Faces left a memory etched in stone

At the luncheon table the other day, the subject switched surprisingly from how the government should be run to the fond memories a fellow has of his many vacations around the globe.

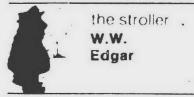

'You've been around quite a lot in your time," one of the diners asked The Stroller, "and of all the things you have seen what is the one that sticks out above all the others?"

This was not difficult to answer for the one sight which never will be forgotton is the first glimpse of Mt. Rushmore during a trip to the west coast.

We had been at a convention in Minneapolls and at its conclusion decided to drive to California and see what things were like. And it turned out to be a fascinating journey.

We were getting along the highway in good style when, of a sudden, the traffic piled up. No one seemed to know what was wrong. There was no word of an accident. But in due time we learned of the oddest traffic tie-up we ever had seen.

When we got to moving we found that a beautiful horse - a tame one was holding up traffic until he could stick his head in the window and greet you. Nothing like this ever had happened on many trips. But it was the most unusual of all Our spirits still were high when we reached the area of Mt. Rushmore and all hands were excited. We followed all the instructions and get to the parking lot. The car safely placed, we started to walk toward the entrance to the park.

On one of the hurried steps The Stroller turned his head and there, through the trees, he got a glimpse of the famed monument. He had to stop. The sight stunned him. Finally we got to the viewing position and The Stroller just couldn't believe what he saw

He looked silently for a while. Then he heeded the plea of an Indian photographer, in full dress, to have his picture taken. That done, he just sat there and stared at that massive bit of rock that has the heads of four presidents sculptured on them.

The sight was stunning. But when he read that the George Washington nose was 60 feet long, he just couldn't believe it. But that is official. And as he sat there he couldn't help wondering how any human being could look at a rock that size and then visualize a face being cut in it. It became more exciting and difficult to believe when it was learned that the sculpting was done by blasting.

How could a human being figure something like that and then see it happen? Not only with Washington's face, but with the others - Teddy Roosevelt, Jefferson and Lincoln

So impressed was The Stroller that he just sat there and looked at that mass of rock with the faces of the presidents so true that it almost seemed

Since that day trips have been made virtually halfway around the world. We have seen the Grand Canyon, the Canadian Rockies, the New England mountains, the pleasure beaches at Hawaii, and the Black Forest of Germany along with the great sights in Switzerland.

But when it comes to unforgettable memories there is nothing that can beat The Stroller's first view of Mt. Rushmore and the faces of our famous presidents blasted from the stone.

It always will be tops.

ENGLISH MUFFINS NOW AN AMERICAN FAVORITE

table the coulds, apper class had their Linglish multins heated up and served to them on silver trays. The activities Linglish multims from the limiting men, who strolled the cobbled streets of England. Today, the perpendicularly to the Linglish street of the preparation of breakfast, build und dinner dishes.

Did you know that until recently English muffins had virtually disappeared in England? The once popular British specialty had been supplanted by the scone.

Before it fell out of favor in England, the English muffin enjoyed a lengthy reign as the "most fancied" bread on the isle. The muffin started out at the lower rungs of class-conscious Victorian England. Back when English homes routinely had large household staffs, the family baker would combine the remains of all of the doughs and mashed potatoes he made for the "upstairs" that day. and fry the mixture on a griddle. The result was a tasty muffin for

Soon the families "upstairs" discovered the delectable doings "downstairs," and began eating the muffins themselves. Victorian society even created an etiquette for serving them. Muffins would come served in a heated, covered silver dish, accompanied by a fold-

As English muffins grew in popularity, English muffin factories sprang up. Freshly-baked muffins were sold by colorful "muffin men, who could be seen strolling through the misty streets of England, ringing a small bell to get the attention of kitchen maids and housewives. The muffins would be split and toasted over an open fire and served at teatime. Indeed, the "muffin man" and his goods were considered crucial to a successful teatime. "Oh, have you seen the muffin man" became a familiar nursery rhyme to many British children.

The English muffin reached its heyday in England just before World War I. However, its popularity began to fade after World War II. By the 1950's it was rumored that only the Queen Mother had access to her own private supply. But by that time, the English muffin had found a home across the sea in America.

In 1933, George W. Bay, founder of Bays English Muffins, started making and selling English muffins in Chicago using an authentic recipe brought to America from England by his Bays uses the same recipe to make its muffins today, although potato flour now replaces the mashed potatoes called for in the recipe used by the "downstairs" staffs of England's Victorian kitchens. Bays muffins get their buttery, crunchy goodness from other natural ingredients including Hawaiian cane sugar, spring wheat flour and whole milk from Minnesota, AA butter from Wisconsin and Idaho potato flour.

English muffins were first sold in the U.S., not by "muffin men" bearing trays, but in paper sacks. Bays was among the first to package the muffins in the late 1930's.

The English muffin was considered a specialty item in America until the introduction of the now-familiar breakfast sandwich that combines a fried egg, cheese, and Canadian bacon on top of an English muffin. It allowed the public to rediscover the English muffin and to see new possibilities for cooking with the muffin. Today the English muffin is an American favorite. Word of the English muffin's popularity in the U.S. has even reached England, where Bays sells its product to an American-style restaurant chain.

The recipes here from Bays English Muffins demonstrate just a few of the imaginative ways English muffins can be used in cooking, any time of day. For more ideas on how to make the most of an English muffin, write for a free copy of the recipe booklet: "New Ways to Serve Bays," Bays Home Service Institute, 500 North Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill. 60611.

4 eggs

12 cup cream 2 tablespoons sugar

12 teaspoon vanilla extract 6 English Muffins 4 tablespoons butter

Beat together eggs, cream, sugar and vanilla extract. Place muffins, cut side down, in the egg mixture and soak for about one minute; turn over and dip other side to moisten. Stack muffins, cut side up, until ready to cook. Preheat oven to 425 degrees. Place butter in sheet pan, put in oven to melt. When butter is bubbling, place muffins, cut side down, in pan and bake for 7 minutes or until cut side is brown. Turn over and bake 2-3 minutes more. Serve with butter and maple syrup or powdered sugar and preserves. Leftover slices can be refrigerated and then reheated in a toaster.

Chicken Melt

6 English Muffins hutter 4 cups cubed chicken meat I cup chopped celery to show off the best of the season's fresh fruits. Pears and apples, in abundance throughout the fall and winter, are the fruits chosen to be showcased in these two delectable double-crust pies.

Even if you didn't learn how to master pies at grandma's side, you will find Raspberry-Pear Pie and Caramel Apple Spice Pie easy to make. Convenient refrigerated pie crusts take the guesswork out of pastry-making and result in the same tender, flaky crusts grandmas are famous for.

To dress up the top crust on twocrust pies like these, use a little imagination in making the vents needed for the escape of steam during baking. First unfold the refrigerated crust onto a cutting board or counter. Then try using small cookie or canape cutters to create decorative designs. Or simply use a knife to cut slits in an attractive pattern. To help prevent the pie filling from spilling over into the oven, make cutouts or slits toward the center of the

A little culinary experimentation results in the delightful combination of raspberries and pears in Raspberry-Pear Pie. The fruit filling is crowned with a decorative crust drizzled with powdered sugar glaze.

Caramel and Spice Apple Pie offers apple pie lovers a new twist on their traditional favorite. Reminiscent of caramel apples, the pie features a caramel topping which is drizzled over the pie after baking. Cherries and pe-can halves are the finishing touch to this handsome pie.

Here are basics for good old-fashioned roasting

The palate is not an arbitrary judge. Influenced by the effects of environment, and by current fashion, it perceives certain foods and cooking methods as better-tasting in some decades than in others.

The '70s and early '80s in America have brought to the fore the pleasures of stove-top cookery — stews redolent with onions, garlic and bouquet garnis, sauted acallopini sparked with the fresh fragrance and flavor of lemon juice; rapidly wokked meat and crunchy vegetables, tantalizing tastebuds with flavors of fresh ginger, chile peppers and hoisin sauce.

With all this interest in European and Oriental forms of cooking, which are quick, energy-efficient and novel, many traditional forms of American cooking have been neglected, except on special occasions when, Pasta Primavera notwithstanding, the occasion demands an elegant crown roast, a succulent turkey or a hearty roast beef.

But, often, the aspiring cooks who've come of age as members of the Pesto-Sushi generation, know as little about the secrets of grandmother's kitchen, as their grandmothers did of tofu, green peppercorns and avocados.

How, then, to go about preparing a special meal, with all the fixings, short of calling mother, on the morning of the big day, with the frantic query. "I've got the standing rib — now, what do I do?"

IF YOU'VE found yourself nodding at the familiarity of this scenario, what you need is some elementary grounding in one of the oldest, most basic and most reliable of cooking methods — roasting.

Scattered allusions indicate that, when man first learned to cook the meat of animals he'd killed, he learned to roast. Then, and for millenia afterwards, roasting was done on a spit, over an open fire.

The spit would be turned laboriously by hand, continuously throughout the roastng process, resulting in evenly cooked meat, which was flavorful and

The high heat forced some of the internal juices to the surface, where they evaporated to form a dark, savory crust. Cuts of mest, at that time, would have been unknown; animals were roasted whole and, chances are, were feasted upon by an entire village or settlement.

This idealized picture, in some societies, falls shorts of the truth. A taboo on eating meat with the blood still visible resulted in a cooking process which took its toll in both texture and flavor. As an aesthetic step, some civilizations (that of Classical Greece was one) tended to boil meat prior to roasting (which leached the juices from the meat), and only slowly learned to eliminate this unnecessary and, in fact, detrimental step.

Later civilizations learned to cut down on the labor necessary to roast meat. Spits once rotated by hand were the beneficiaries of "alternative energy sources" — a treadmill operated by running dogs, for instance, or, at a later time, a spit which turned based on a system of counterweights.

Today, roasting is only rarely done over an open fire: Working fireplaces equipped with spits are rare, and access to an outdoor pit where a spit can be erected — or even a barbecue with rotisserie attached — is proscribed for people living in apartments.

THUS, MOST roasting by necessity takes place in the oven — a process that, in previous centuries, would have have been referred to as "baking."

A properly calibrated oven is, in fact, an efficient environment for roasting, as long as a few details are carefully tended to Keep in mind that roasting cooks meat through what is referred to as a "dry-heat process," and that it is essential that air be allowed to circulate not only around but above and below the piece of meat being roasted.

Thus, whether you are roasting a turkey, a Cornish game hen, or a loin of pork, it should be put on a rack which is in turn suspended over a shallow roasting pan, to catch the drippings.

The roasting meat should under no circumstances be allowed to sit in its own juices: That would render is underside soggy. The ideal finished roast shold be evenly browned and cooked all around.

Because roasting is a "dry heat process," does not mean that besting is unimportant. Rather, a finished roast that is juicy and flavorful in most cases has benefited from basting during cooking.

Remember to baste at regular intervals, and use a basting spoon in preference to a bulb baster, as the former is more efficient.

An important factor to keep in mind when roasting is the dimensions of the meat — not only its weight, but its shape. Two roasts of equal weight will have different cooking times if one is longer and thinner, the other rounder.

If possible, the meat to be roasted should be brought to room temperature before being put into a preheated oven. This functions as an energy-saving measure and, more importantly, ensures that the outside will not overcook before the inside of the roast is done.

AS FAR as determining cooking time is concerned, minutes-per-pound charts can only provide a general idea of the cooking time. Far more accurate is a good meat thermometer, used to test the interior temperature of the meat.

Keep in mind also that roasted meat continues to cook for 15 minutes or so after being removed from the oven (during which period it should be allowed to rest, before being carved and served). Thus, it should be removed from the oven when slightly underdone.

For roast beef, for instance, an internal temperature of 125-130 degrees indicates that it is ready to be removed from the oven, after the brief rest period, you'll have a roast that is rare (people who prefer their meat well-done should make adjustments accordingly).

The range of roasting possibilities extends far beyond the traditional roasts mother used to make, providing a repertoire of unusual treatments for cooks who enjoy experimenting with something "just a little bit different."

The following recipes both provide this difference. Super Crispy Roast Chicken with Celery Root Dressing is culled from "Greene on Greens" by Bert Greene, Workman Publishing, New York. Reprinted with permission of the publisher.

SUPER-CRISPY ROAST CHICKEN WITH CELERY ROOT DRESSING 1 large celery rost (about 1% lbs.) 12 thep. (1% sticks) unsalted butter, softened

I large shallet, minced is cup plus 2 thep. heavy or whipping cream root in a large mixing bowl.

1. Preheat the oven to 425 degrees. Trim and peel the celery root. Cut it into strips about ¼ inch wide, ¼ inch thick, and 1 inch long. You should have 4½ to 5 cups. Cook in boiling salted water for 2 minutes. Rime under cold running water and drain. Place the celery

 Melt 2 tablespoons of the butter in a small skillet over medium low heat.
 Add the shallot and cook until tender, about 5 minutes. Add this to the celery root

3. Place ½ cup of the heavy cream in a small saucepan. Slowly heat to boiling, reduce the heat. Simmer until reduced to he lemon juice, nutmeg, pepper, hot pepper sauce, parsley, and salt to taste. Mix well.

4 Spoon the celery root mixture into the cavity of the roasting chicken. Sew securely and truss. Pat the chicken dry with paper towels. Place it on a rack in a roasting pan. 5. Mash the garlic with 8 tablespoons of the softened butter. Beat in the breadcrumbs until smooth. Slowly heat in the brandy. Spread the butter mixture evenly over the top and sides of the chicken. (Make sure chicken is well control.)

6. Place the chicken in the oven. Roast 15 minutes. Reduce the heat to 350 degrees and continue to roast until done, about 2 hours. Juices will run clear when thigh is pricked with a fork. Thirty minutes before the chicken is done, add the chicken stock to the juices in the roasting pan.

7. When the chicken is done, transfer it to a platter and let it stand 15 minutes. Remove the trussing strings. Strain the pan juices.

8. Melt the remaining 2 tablespoons butter in a medium saucepan over medium-low heat. Stir in the flour. Cook, stirring constantly, 2 minutes. Whisk in the pan juices and remaining 2 tablespoons cream. Cook until slightly thickened. Add salt and pepper to taste. Serve with the chicken.

Roast is reproduced from the recently published book, "Garlic" (Harmony Books), by Sue Kreitzman.

GARLIC-STUFFED PORK ROAST
1 pork shoulder roast (Boston butt), boned, trimmed of top fat, and butterflied, about 4 pounds

Salt and freshly ground pepper to taste 5 cloves of garlic, coarsely chopped 3 heaping tablespoons freshly grated Parmesan cheese 20 sprigs paraloy, trimmed of stee (save steems for afuture stock) 2 thep. pine nots

Dry white port

1. Preheat oven to 325 degrees.
2. Spread the butterflied pork roast flat on your work. surface, bound-side up. With a sharp knife, score the top surface in several places. Sprinkle with salt and a generous amount of freshly ground pepper.

 Sprinkle the garlic, cheese, paraley, and pine nuts over the meat. Rell the roast and tie it securely several places.

 Piace the meat on a rack on a shallow roasting pan. Pour in ¼ cup stock and ¼ cup port. Begin roasting in the preheated oven.

5. When the liquid in the pan is almost gone and beginning to leave an encrustation on the bottom of the pan replenish stock and wine as needed. It will cook about 2¼ hours in all. (It is done when a meat thermometer registers a temperature of 170 degrees.)

 Remove the roast to a cutting board and let it rest for 10 minutes.
 Skim the pan juices of as much fat as possible.

7. Strain the liquid into the roasting pan and bring to a boil on top of the stove. Boil rapidly for 2 or 3 minutes until thick and syrupy, acraping up the browned bits and encrustations on the pan as the liquid boils.

8. Remove strings from roast and slice. Arrange on a platter and serve. Serve the pan juices separately.

Side dishes add flair

Meal planning is a task that requires thought and organization. Whether it's a simple family supper or an elegant feast for company, deciding what to serve always poses special challenges.

Your choice of entree should be suitable to the season and to the preferences of those who will be enjoying the meal. When selecting a side dish, choose one which complements the entree in terms of taste, texture and color.

Despite their appearance as a category on modern menus, side dishes have been around for quite a long time. Cookbooks published in the 1700s refer to side dishes served with leg of mutton and roasts. The term "side dish" was even immortalized in verse by the famous British poet Lord Byron.

main dish. They help carry out special theme dinners. And, they enhance the nutritional content of a meal. Best of all, they taste good!

Side dishes needn't take long to prepare. You can serve a tasty, attractive and nutritious side dish in just minutes by taking advantage of the quality prepared frozen side dishes available at your supermarket.

For a nationality theme dinner, you can add Italian zest to your Veal Scallopini by serving a side dish of fettucini Alfredo. If you prefer a meal with French flair, try pairing beef with Bearnaise sauce with a side dish of colorful ratatouille.

For everyday use, side dishes may be selected for their taste, texture or color to complement your entree. Poultry and game are frequently served with side dishes offering a fruity or sweet taste such as escalloped apples.

Sam Waterston is New York Times correspondent Sydney Schanberg, who feels guilty about having falled to help his Cambodian friend escape from the Khmer Rouge, in 'The Killing Fields.'

World's suffering is sharply etched in 'Killing Fields'

"The Killing Fields" is all the more strange and incredible because it is true.

Particularly for those of us living comfortably in suburban America — only distantly touched by the horrors and sufferings of the world — viewing "The Killing Fields" is obligatory.

We all share, however slightly, the guilt for misapplication of our power, whether in southeast Asia or elsewhere. Dealing with that guilt is what "The Killing Fields" is all about.

The film is also about the terrible crimes committed in Cambodia in the '70s by American forces and by the Khmer Rouge, who ultimately murdered over three million of its own countrymen.

Even more important, "The Killing Fields" is about the love of brothers. It is the true story of New York Times correspondent Sydney Schanberg (Sam Waterston) and his Cambodian assistant and friend, Dith Pran (Haing S. Ngor).

THEIR RELATIONSHIP and brotherhood rise above the incredible politics and passions of the times, making this film a dramatic narrative in spite of its documentary potential.

From 1972 until the complete Western evacuation from Cambodia under-pressure from the Khmer Rouge in 1975, Schanberg and Pran worked closely reporting the "secret" American war in Cam-bodia. The story of their work and their brotherhood is the first half of this long (140-minute) film.

When the American Embassy in Phnom Penh was evacuated, Schanberg arranged safe transport for Pran's wife and four children, but Pran remained and soon disappeared into the Khmer Rouge's horrible "re-education" and murder camps that sought to eliminate all Western influence.

Pran's four-year struggle to survive this inhumane madness, and Schanberg's attempts to save him from the Cambodian countryside that had become a nation's "Killing Fields," is the film's sec-

Waterston, Ngor and the supporting cast are exceptionally convincing. Whether their performances' strength is talent or the power and emotion of the drama - or both - is hard to tell. In any event, they are to be commended.

THE FILM DEALS with guilt, collective and personal, on several levels. The guilt gets pretty sophisticated when Schanberg is abused for not insisting that Pran leave with his family in 1975.

It's easy to look back after the hurried, panicked withdrawal and tell someone what he should have done. It's not quite so easy to do the right thing under pressure.

Most important of all, however, the film deals with the beautiful strength of the human spirit and its will to survive.

Have no illusions, "The Killing Fields" is a gruesome story, realistically told, as it should be. We are too often insulated from the world's grim realities, and it is that very isolation that allows tyrants to abuse their people. Thomas Jefferson and our Founding Fathers understood the importance of freedom of information for the survival of democracy. Hiding our heads in the sands of television sitcoms is like not having a First Amendment at all. The heritage of "The Killing Fields" is evident on today's front pages as the Soviet-backed Vietnamese invasion continues Cambo-

So, I urge you all to see "The Killing Fields" and deal with the world as it is. When we understand how the world operates and how people abuse their brothers, we are better able to appreciate a story of brotherhood.

Hopefully, too, we are better able to work toward a happier vision of peace and tranquillity.

Heing S. Ngor plays Dith Pran, the Cambodian interpreter who is captured by the Khmer Rouge.

Here are 10 of California's best

An article in the Jassany 1986 issue of Pood and Wine by staff writers McCoy and Walher caught my attention. "Ton California Wineries That Are Doing It Right" is the modest title.

Their choices are hard to argue with, except — they selected Petrer, Mondavi, Jordan, Chateau Bouchane, Ridge, Simi, Acacia, Phelps, Mayacamas and Clos du Val. As my good, friend Charlotte would say, "Some pig."

Lists are terrible things. Their exclusivity is their strength as well as their weakness. But if McCoy and Walker can have their 10, so can I. And like any list maker, I like mine better. (Of course, you'll feel that way about the course, you'll feel that way about the one you make.)

At least, here are 10 that for me are too good at what they do to be omitted from any list on excellence-in-

BOTH PETZER AND RIDGE Are on my list as well — Fetser because it is a family-run, bootstrap operation turned-giant that makes a wide range of some of the fairest-priced wines in America.

Ridge must be included for its Zinfandels, some of the consistently finest of all: And they have been doing it for over 15 years. History is worth some-

Domaine Chandon, now in its 10th annual cuves they produce, there is little variation each year. Any bottle of brut or blancs do noir one purchases will, in effect, be as fine as the one you purchased last mouth or last year. This quality has been maintained during dramatic growth in the decade, going from zero to 250,000 cases per year in that brief time.

BURGERS CHILARS, now producing only Cabernet, Chardonney and Einfandel, seems to have found its metier. Now settled in at about 20,000 cases a year, Tem Burgess oversees all aspects of the operation and produces excellent to great wines, fairly priced.

Chateau St. Jean must be included. It has for a decade set a standard for has for a decade set a standard for white wines, both in quality and packaging. They have been champions of vineyard designation almost as long as Ridge, and they are now seriously in the sparkling wine business.

Their Chardonneys, Ricelings and Fume Blancs are always exciting. My one negative roles is with their release.

one negative point is with their pricing, but it sells easily. People know!

Feel

wine Richard Watson

Although new in our state, Trefethen has been around for more than a decade, consistently producing exceptional wines, including two popular generics, Eschol Red and White, that are usually best buys on many lists. Good marketing, decent pricing, lovely wines consistently. Their Chardonneys are the real winners for them.

STAG'S LEAP WINE Cellers has been for years one of the most es-teemed producers of elegant Caber-nets, full of violets and other riches. A consistent award winner, Warren Winaneki is part of California's wine

It was his Cabernet that did so well in Steven Spurrier's 1976 Paris Tasting. His Cask 23 Cabernets are some of the priciest yet most sought-after wines in all the world.

Most of the wineries on this list so far are about 10 to 12 years old. But age the bardert of all California to recurs, just maling the only of lag relie out should it may easily to decad this is who of great deciment year from a jewel of a whilst up in the Mayacamas Mount Cally five years old, Storybrook Mountain Vineyards produces one wine: Zinfandel. Grown on his own M acres in northern Napa, Bernie Soppe has exploded onto the national scene is a couple of years from his essentially one-man winery. His 1996 Sonoma and 1982 Estate are perhaps two of the finest Zinfandels I have ever tasted. He does Zinfandel right!

THAT'S NINE.

Only one more choice. Only one more choice.

I declare a tie; cannot leave any ofthese out: Girard Winery (astonishingly good wines at good prices), Santa Crus Mountain (Pinot Noir), Caymus (class and distinction), Chateau Montelena
(always exceptional wines), Duckhorn (Merlot of the highest order) and Chalone (Pinot Noir and Chardonnay).

Topuld do 10 more too.

I could do 10 more, too.

Salem matmen still best

It was billed as a key meet in the Western Lakes wrestling conference, but it turned out to be more proof of the growing strength of Plymouth Sa-

The Rocks, at home, bumped the hard-luck Farmington Falcons out of contention for the Western Lakes dual meet crown, 47-24.

"Let's be realistic about this," Salem coach Ron Krueger said. "They (Farmington) have a lot of people hurt and a lot out of their lineup. They are a much better team than tonight's score would

They have 3 kids that could go a long ways at the state meet. They may not win the league, but they might score higher than any other team in the league at the state meet - I hope not, but they could.

The 3 wrestlers Krueger spoke of were Dave Hovey, Ab Hazen and Dan Parilo. Those 3, plus heavyweight Bill Critcher, were the only winners for Farmington Thursday.

Hovey, at 105, pinned Fred Calma in 2:31. Hazen (169) pinned Greg Woochuk in 2:21. Parilo (200) pinned Brian Johnson in 2:33, and Critcher pinned Marc Cygan in 47 seconds.

But, that was all the Falcons could smile about.

Salem's Dennis Dameron whipped Mike Stern, 18-5, at 98. Tim Ott (112) defeated Mike Papp 11-4. Kevin Free-man (119) pinned Mark Pallo in 3:03. Kirk Rentz (134) defeated Paul Barringer 9-4, and Bill Morely (140) pinned Mike Cody in 2:59.

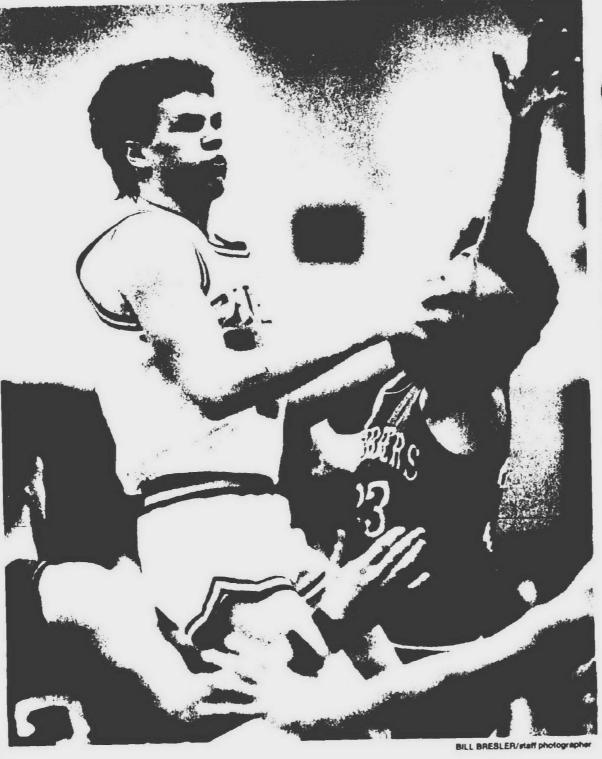

At 157, Eric Retting pinned Scott Martinuzzi in 49 seconds. Jamie Woochuk (187) pinned Mike Lane in 1:33. Dave Dameron (126) and Andy Ward (147) won by voids.

"We've some kids that are starting to come on and others who can still get a lot better," Krueger said.

Chief shooters frigid in loss to Chargers

Plymouth Salem basketball coach Bob Brodie hasn't had much to smile about this season, but he was one happy man Friday night.

His team, on the heels of a bitter 10-point setback to Livonia Stevenson Tuesday, traveled to Farmington to play a much-improved Falcon contingent. And the resilient Rocks played perhaps their best game of the season winning $5-54.

"We finally played like a team in-stead of a bunch of individuals," the first-year coach said. "Our scorers were acoring, our passers were pass-ing and we got a lot more people to the glass.

LeSean Haygood, Salem's 8-5 center, led all acorers with 20 points. Mike White added 15 and Eric Sovine

Paul Makara, junior guard, chipped in 9 assists and some choking defense on Farmington guard Bruce Kratt. Kratt scored just 10 points on the

But, don't look for Farmington coach Richard Roy to be too down in the dumps.

"You never like to lose," he said. "But, it was a good ballgame. Our kids didn't play bad. Salem just shot the lights out in the third quarter."

THE ROCKS drained 11 of 16 shots in that third quarter enroute to a 22-13 run that took the Falcons out of the

Matt Lundh was the big gun for Farmington. The 6-7 center was filling it up, ironically enough, from the perimeter. He pumped in 16 to lead Farmington.

Brodie sent Mike Hale, a sophomore, in to defend against Lundh in the final quarter and Hale blanked

"That was a key for us," Brodie said. "We had Haygood on Lundh, but Lundh was taking him away from the boards. So, we stuck Hale on him and he shut him down."

The win leaves Salem at 3-2 in the Western Lakes, 4-4 overall. The Rocks have yet to win 2 games in a CHURCHILL 55, CANTON 49: Plymouth Canton has not been able to do the one thing that is most basic, and most critical, in the game of basketball: put the basketball through the basket.

The Chiefs were a woeful 22 for 67 from the field and 9 of 17 from the free throw line against the visiting Livonia Churchill Chargers.

"We had our chances to win at the end," said Canton coach Dave Van Wagoner. "We were down 50-47 and we made two steals and grabbed a re-

Milkman a 'Hitt' in bowling circle

By W.W. Edgar staff writer

If you were assigned the task of locating the most dedicated bowler in the Observer area, chances are that you would pay little attention to the fellow driving the milk truck down the road in the wee hours of the morning

Strangely, if you did, you'd find Bob Hitt, the Plymouth milkman, who is rated the most dedicated bowler in the entire state. His dedication to the ancient game earned him a place in the Greater Detroit Bowling Hall of Fame several weeks ago, putting his name right along side the top bowlers in the Hitt, 62, was considered a a more studious bowler than the others when he was introduced to the game at the old Parkview Recreation Center on Detroit's east side

He first gained attention as one of the stars in the early days of television (the 1960's) when the game was getting all sorts of record because of his dediincreased exposure

FOR MORE than 20 years, this Marine Corps veteran of World War II carried a 200 average, and for another six years he rolled along a 190 pace although being limited to three games

With averages such as that, Hitt was welcomed by the all-star leagues in Detroit, later becoming a member of some of the best teams in the area. He belonged to the Pfeiffer team and the E&B squad, followed by Helin Tackle. During this span he became known throughout the state.

He was part of record breaking events in St. Louis, Mo. and St. Paul, Minn., which earned him a place on the Milton

Berle TV Show. While driving his Twin Pines Dairy truck through the Plymouth area on early mornings, Hitt was introduced to such legendary stars as Billy Golembiewski, Ed Lubanski, George Young, Bob Kwolek and Joe Joseph. They formed a team that became almost unbeatable. It was with this group that Hitt set numerous records, helping to spread his fame throughout the coun-

EVEN THOUGH he continued to study the game, Hitt brought major scores and records to the area. He was so thorough in his dedication to the game, that one year he came to the late Clarence Hoffman, then owner of Livonia Lanes, and made an unusual deal for practice sessions

He was entered in the Rich Petersen Classic in Chicago and wanted special training This classic was bowled on old lanes and was known for the oily condition of the lanes on which the stars

In order to be prepared. Hitt joined Hoffman at 6 a m each morning when no one else was present, and had the lanes oiled After he was done, the oil was removed for the regular custom-

Hitt never won the Petersen, but set cation to the game

In 1958-59 and again in 1959-60, Hitt made the prestigious Detroit All-City team As a member of E&B, Hitt helped beat the great Stroh team for the state team title.

IN THAT TOURNEY, Hitt posted a 2,206 total, shooting a 679 in the team event, a 661 in the doubles and a 685 in the singles

Known as a strong-arm type, Hitt did just as well in the doubles and singles. He won the World Doubles title at Northbrook, Ill., teaming up with the late Pete Carter. He then came home to win the prestigious Fred Wolf King of the Hill event on TV with a 1,119 score on five games across 10 lanes. Hitt once bowled a trio of 300 games and had a series of 299 games on the Pro Bowlers Tour.

While sporting a 222 average, the highest in the metro Detroit area in 1960, Hitt also gave lessons five days a week at various area locations.

Now he is rightfully in the Hall of Fame as a reward for his dedication, while still driving his milk truck during the wee hours of the morning.

Ptymouth milkman Bob Hitt was recently enshrined in the Greater Detroit Bowling Hall of Fame. Hitt carried a 200-plus average for more than 20 years.

Ocelots triumph despite errors

By C.J. Risak staff writer

Three straight losses to start league play teaches a lesson no basketball coach wants his team to master: how to lose.

On Wednesday, Schoolcraft College's men's team had trouble remembering how to win a game. The Ocelots nearly blew a 9-point lead in the game's final 7 minutes but held on for a 57-56 triumph over equally hap-less Oakland Community College at Schoolcraft.

"We were trying to find a way to give the game away," said Schoolcraft coach Rocky Watkins.

INDEED, OCC may have been more responsible for the win than the Ocelots. The final Schoolcraft basket of the game was scored by Tony Randle - with 7:38 to play.

It gave the Ocelots a 52-43 lead, their largest of the night, and it capped a 7-0 spurt. Schoolcraft went into a stall offense, but that nearly proved disastrous: the Ocelots turned the ball over 10 times in the stretch run, and they hit just 3-of-7 free throws, including misses on the first in 2 1-and-1 situations.

"If we're going to run a delay game, we're going to have to hit our free throws," Watkins said. Schoolcraft made just 15 of 29 free throws for the game and committed 26 turn-

THE OCELOTS' sloppiness was offset by OCC's failure to capitalize on its chances. The Raiders had 4 turnovers in the same span (25 for the game) and missed a half-dozen floor shots. At least Schoolcraft had a reason for not scoring a basket in the fipal 7 minutes: The Ocelots weren't shooting, instead opting to hold the ball and protect their lead.

But OCC went 4 minutes — from 4:31 to :30 - without a bucket. For the game, OCC hit just 23-of-62 field goal attempts (.371 percent), including 9-of-26 in the second half (.346

"That's been our problem all year," said Raider coach Tom McPhillips. "We're giving up 55 to 65 points a game but we can't score.

"We're really struggling. We hold a team to 57 points on the road, we should win."

THE EVENTUAL winning points were scored by Clarence Jones, who hit 2 free throws with 18 seconds left. It was some redemption for Jones, who managed to make just 3-of-7 from the line in the final 3:47.

Jones' foul shots put Schoolcraft abead 57-52. Baskets by Darrel Darling and Rodney Thompson narrowed the gap for OCC, but didn't change the outcome.

Schoolcraft had a 32-30 halftime lead thanks to Bradley Turner's 35foot heave at the buxser. OCC's Anton Hall kept the poor-shooting Raiders in the game with 12 first-half points, but he was limited to 4 in the second half. Hall led all scorers with 16. Next highest for OCC was Willy

Jones with 9 and Thompson with 8. Schoolcraft got 13 points apiece from Jones and Dwight Pooler. Turner netted 12 and Curt Ullstrom came off the bench to contribute 7

The win raised Schoolcraft's record to 8-12 overall. OCC dropped to 5-9.

Knee injuries put Archer Maleske on the sidelines

Former All-Observer basketball standouts Mike Maleske and Kim Archer unfortunately have a lot in common.

Knee injuries to both have curtailed their collegiate basketball sea-

Maleske's injury appears to be more severe and more disheartening. The 6-foot-8 sophomore forward from Bowling Green University underwent surgery Saturday to repair torn ligaments, which directly effects his lateral movement.

Maleske, a product of Catholic Central, went down last week during the first half of Bowling Green's Mid-American Conference game against Miami of Ohio (a 56-50 loss). He was setting up to take a charge against's Miami's Ron Harper when he lost his footing.

"The knee just buckled," Maleske, via phone from his bed at Wood County Hospital in Bowling Green. "It just gave out I guess my luck wasn't right '

MALESKE, who missed the first three games of the season with a bruised knee, was working his way into the starting lineup. He was coming off his best game of the year, a 10point performance on 5-of-5 shooting against Ball State.

"I wasjust getting back into the swing of things," said Maleske. "And this just kind of ruined me."

Maleske was told by doctors that it may take an entire calender year before he's ready to play again.

But the Livonia native remains positive about his future, despite the fact that he'll be in a cast for months and later go through a painful rehabilitation process.

Injuries are not new to Maleske. As a junior in high school, Maleske dislocated his knee and missed the final six games of the year. But he recovered to enjoy a banner senior year, leading the Shamrocks to Catholic League, district and regional tired-shirted next year (held out)," he said. "It will be a mutual decision between myself and the coaches."

ARCHER'S CASE, meanwhile, isn't nearly as distressing.

A starting sophomore forward for the Michigan State women's team, Archer went down with a knee injury Dec. 30 in a game at Miami of Florida against the nation's 20th-ranked team. State was leading at the time by 9 points when Archer was injured The Spartans eventually lost the

According to MSU women's sports information director Cindy Van Matre, Archer was scheduled to undergo arthroscopic surgery yesterday for a cartilage tear.

"Kim has had two varying opinions (from the doctors)," Van Matre said. "They'll go in and probe, and if it's only the cartilage, she may be out only two weeks. Right now she's walking pretty well on it."

MSU, 8-5 overall and 1-3 in the Big 10, has lost four straight without 5-10

Through nine games, Archer was averaging 13.2 points and 7 rebounds per game. She still leads the team in steals (31) and is second in assists (37).

Caddies earn Evans Scholarship awards

Evans Scholarships have been awarded to 13 area high school seniors who are headed to Michigan State and University of Michigan in the fall.

The awards are part of a national Evans Scholars program administered by the Western Golf Association. This unique caddie-scholarship concept was initiated by amateur golfer Chick Evans in 1930. Since then, more than 4,000 caddies have graduated as Evans Scholars. The scholarships are awarded on a

With that 8.35, she knew her team had survived Walled Lake Western and the brilliance of Barrie Muzbeck. "Once Lucine got above 8.0, I knew we had it," Glitz said. "Because Barrie would have had to score better than 10.0 on her routine and not even she could do that."

So it was. North Farmington remained undefeated with a 123.7-123.0 triumph at Walled Lake Western.

"I was really worried that Barrie might psych my girls out," Glitz said. "Most of them hadn't seen her perform."

Muzbeck's talent can be intimidating. As a sophomore two years ago, Muzbeck was the state's No. 1 high school gymnast in every event. She left the prep gym last year to compete internationally. She was making a bid for the U.S. national team before an injury sidelined her. She returned to high school competition this year.

And her ankle injury hasn't slowed her. On Thursday, she scored 9.35 on vault, 9.05 on uneven parallel bars, 9.4 on balance beam and a 9.55 on floor exercise. She won all four events.

"She was very impressive," Glitz said. "She made our girls produce to the best of their ability and that's what they did.

Toroyan and Eileen Murtaugh helped North offset Muzbeck's phenomenal 37.35 all-around score with solid performances of their own. Besides ber third place on floor, Toroyan grabbed seconds on vault (8.15) and bars (8.0) and a fourth on beam (7.55).

Murtaugh tied Toroyan for second on bars, added another second on floor (8.4), a third on beam (7.55) and a fourth on vault (7.9).

Kara Karhu had a nice night, placing third on vault (8.1), fifth on bars (7.4) for about a week.

scored in two events placing fifth on vault (7.1) and fifth on beam (7.5). North, at 6-8, will host Farmington Harrison on Monday. Walled Lake Western is now 2-1.

FARMINGTON'S GYMNASTS IDproved their team score by 10 points but still fell .15 shy of its first victory, as Grosse Pointe North escaped with a 111.55-111.4 win Thursday.

"Very nice improvement," was how Farmington coach Mary Beth Schornhorst summed up the meet. "Although, I think the judging may have been a little inflated. It was an exciting meet. The girls are taking the loss better than their coach."

Katle MacIntosh won both the vault (7.95) and the bars (8.05) for the Falcons. The talented senior grabbed seconds on beam (7.5) and floor (7.85).

Debi DeWitt scored in two events placing third on floor (7.65) and fourth on beam (7.05).

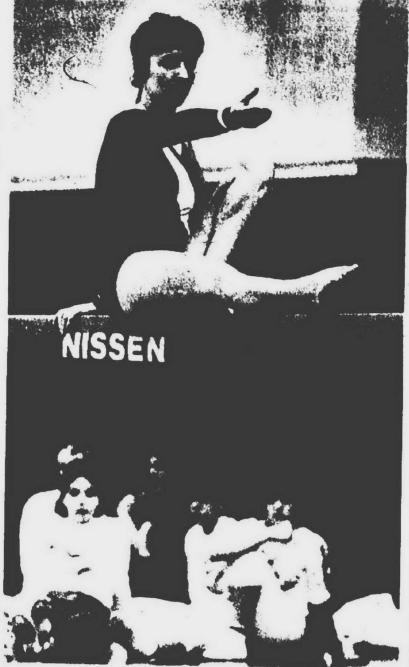

Stacy Swanderski placed fifth on vault (7.4), Pam Goodhue fifth on bars (5.65), Karen Runyan third on beam (7.35) and Lauren Mistor fourth on

The Falcons (0-3) host Plymouth Salem Tuesday.

FARMINGTON HARRISON will take its 119.75-106.4 victory over Plymouth Canton Wednesday night, but don't expect the Hawks to gloat over it. "It was not a very good night," said Harrison coach Linda Perkins.

A pall was cast over the meet early and neither team was able to shed it. Canton's Ann Healey took a frightening fall during her bars routine. She was carted out of the Canton gym on a stretcher and rushed to the hospital.

Healey was not seriously injured, but a sore neck will keep her out of action

Canton's Ann Healey was the latest injury victim for the hard-luck Chiefs. Healey injured her neck in a fall on her bars routine.

Injuries continue to mount for 0-3 Canton

The Plymouth Salem gymnestics team had absolutely no difficulty with Walled Lake Contral last Tuesday night. The Rocks did, however, have a tuesde with Central's equipment.

"The equipment was scary," coach Kathi Kinselle said. "It was real old. I almost didn't let the siris exponent on Kathi Kinsella said. "It was real old. I almost didn't let the girls compete on the beam it was so shaky."

The Rocks did compete on all events, albeit very cautiously, and won 119.58-85.25 for their third straight win.

Jackie Huff and Beth Rafail, Salem's dynamic duo, led the way with significant help from Sara Michalits.

Huff won the vault (8.6) and the floor

Still, her fall took much of the com-petitive spirit out of Wednesday's meet. Harrison's Tracy Solomos led the Hawks with firsts on vault (8.06), bars (7.6) and floor (8.2).

Jill Birsa scored in all four events placing second on vault (7.95), second on beam (7.25), third on bars (7.18) and second on floor (8.06) — a successful meet for the versatile senior.

Jody Solomon placed third on beam for Harrison (7.1) and Lauri Runk placed third on floor (8.0).

For Canton, Carol Horvath came through with a first on beam (7.5). Megan McGow placed second on bars (7.5) and Healey, prior to her injury, took third on vault (7.5).

The loss is Canton's third straight this season, but coach John Cunningham remains positive.

"Even though we didn't score well, we had some nice routines, especially on beam," he said. "And we were consistent on vault. I'm pleased with the performances. We're going with an allrookie team now."

Injuries to Healey and Cheryl Battaglia have put a huge dent into the Chiefs' depth.

Canton travels to Northville Monday. The Hawks are 5-0.

Flower's effort inspires

Flower put on quite a show Thursday night in the Chiefs' 112-56 win against Livonia Bentley.

Flower, with a broken hand and performing just the basic required dives, scored a solid 220.90 points to gain one of Canton's 10 firsts.

"It didn't affect him at all," said Canton head coach Hooker Wellman of Flower's injury. "It was a nice little warm up for Tuesday." On Tueday, Canton hosts Livonia Reye syndrome is a rare but dangerous condition that can develop from flu or chicken pox. It occurs mainly in children under 16, usually when they appear to be recovering. Watch for these signs:

■ Persistent vomiting ■ Fatigue ■ Confusion and belligerence.

If your child displays any of these symptoms, consult a doctor immedithat there may be an association between the use of aspirin for flu and chicken pox and the development of Reye syndrome. Further studies are being conducted on this possibility. In the meantime, the U.S. Surgeon General suggests that you check with your doctor before using aspirin or any medication when your child has flu or chicken pox.
