Conspiracy charge aimed at Supersewer

and Gary M. Cates staff writers

An alleged conspiracy is at the heart of the third and final amendment to Plymouth and Canton townships' lawsuit over the demise of Supersewer.

Through the deposition process, the townships uncovered evidence they believe points to a conspiracy between state, county, and Detroit officials to deny them access to Supersewer. Officials cited include Gov James Blanchard, Wayne County Executive William Lucas, and Detroit Mayor Coleman Young

The amendment, filed Friday in Wayne County Circuit Court, lists 12 occasions between May 1983 and November 1983 when one or more of the individuals allegedly participated in communication aimed at excluding both townships from Supersewer.

'I think the add-on will help prove what we've said originally, and it adds a lot of credibility to the suit," said Supervisor James Poole.

Both townships claim they were forced to help pay for Supersewer's design and then were prohibited from taking part in the project. Among the items they are seeking are: reimbursement of some $625,000 pumped into Supersewer planning, plus interest, legal fees, compensatory damages of more than $10,000, and other punitive damages against the defendants. The list of defendants include the state, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR), Wayne County, Wayne County Department of Public Works, Detroit, Detroit Water and Sewer Department, Flat Rock, Gibralter. Romulus, Woodhaven, Brownstown Township, Huron Township, Van Buren Township, Novi and Wixom

WHILE BLANCHARD, Lucas and Young are not named as defendants, they are named as individuals involved in the alleged conspiracy to defraud the townships

Other individuals who allegedly participated in the conspiracy include. Fred Tumminia, Detroit's long-range planner; James Akhtar, an assistant Wayne County executive; and Greg Morris, an executive assistant to Blanchard.

The lawsuit doesn't spell out the content of the various communications which led to the alleged conspiracy, but does list the dates and places they oc-

Specified are phone conversations between Young and Blanchard, and Blanchard and the Detroit Water and Sewer Department.

Personal meetings cited include Lucas and Blanchard at Mackinac Island during Memorial Day weekend 1983, Lucas and Young during the 1983 Grand Prix Party in Detroit, Akthar and Tumminia at the Detroit Water and Sewer Department on June 5, 1983, and Morris and Lucas on June 16, 1983.

The lawsuit states "that all of the acts of the defendants, State of Michigan, Michigan DNR and James Blanchard, were done for the benefit of the defendants, City of Detroit, Detroit Water and Sewer Department, and others including Coleman Young, and their own political advantages."

THE LAWSUIT charges that the actions "are a part of a pattern of conduct consisting of injurious falsehoods, threats, harassments, and false statements by which said defendants, acting under color of law, have denied to the plaintiffs the rights, privileges and immunities guaranteed to them by the Constitution and the laws of the United States.

"This pattern of conduct, while carried out under color of law, has no justification or excuse in law, but instead is improper and illegal and it is unrelated to any activity by which any of the defendants may properly and legally engage in the course of their duties."

Although the lawsuit was filed Friday, Plymouth Township Attorney Brian James said a recent Michigan Supreme Court ruling on governmental immunity will have to be "closely examined" to determine whether it applies

The decision on Ross versus Consumer Powers, a culmination of eight other cases, said judges, legislators and chief alleged conspiracy, the lawsuit adexecutives are immune from personal liability as long as they are acting in the capacity of their delegated role.

We'll have to find out whether or not the Supreme Court ruled governmental officials can lie, cheat and steal because they are immune by the court," Poole said.

THE ORIGINAL lawsuit was filed last year, following the 1983 decision to split Supersewer into north and south projects.

Supersewer, then more than 15 years in the making, was supposed to increase sewer capacity for many western Wayne County and downriver com-

Rouge Valley Wastewater communities (between western Wayne County and Detroit) have been added to the northern project for the correction of pollution problems with the existing sewer lines

James said the downriver communities named as defendants will be dropped from the lawsuit provided they pay back the $625,000 in Supersewer planning money by April 1.

Although those communities earlier agreed to refund the money, James said the prospect of receiving it has diminished as two of the communities refused to sign final agreements for the southern project.

City seeks option to layoffs

Police committee to study budget, choices

By Gary M. Cates staff writer

A blue ribbon committee will be appointed by Plymouth's mayor tonight to look into the possibility of avoiding police layoffs and preserving the level of service

Faced with the loss of a $467,000-ayear contract with Plymouth Township, the city must explore all options to reduce the department's budget and/ or increase revenues, City Manager Henry Graper said The contract expires June 30, 1985

The ultimate goal is to preserve jobs and to preserve service at the current amount," he said.

Mayor David Pugh will appoint the committee at tonight's 7:30 City Commission meeting, in commission chambers, upstairs of City Hall at Main and

The committee will include representatives from the City Commission, administration, Bartell & Bartell police consultants and the Plymouth Police Officers Association (PPOA).

The blue ribbon study committee will address the question the policemen have raised about the availability of funds to maintain the department," Graper said Friday.

LAST YEAR the police union challenged the City Commission to open the city's books and explain where the township's payments went.

The officers said the department wasn't expanded when it started patrolling the township, and they don't believe it needs to be reduced now that the township is starting its own police

We would be in favor of any kind of thing that would show where we are," said Robert Scoggins, union secretary. We are very glad they brought Bartell in for the study

Beyond that we would have no comment until we see what happens," Scog-

GRAPER SAID some $400,000 in budget cuts or increased revenue must be found to maintain the department at the 19-man level. The bottom line alternative is cutting the department to 10 men, he said.

The administration is going to ask the police union for concessions. Whatever savings the union can offer, the city will match through cuts in other departmental budgets, he said.

Graper will ask for a three-to-fiveyear wage freeze, and will not fill vacancles in the department created through attrition.

The city manager doesn't want to cut the department to 10 men. Such a cut, he said, only would offer the men a "job rather than a career."

A 10-man department would mean the end to specialization, such as a traffic officer, evidence technicians, crime prevention and the opportunity to work in the detective bureau, he said. If the department has more than 10 men, he said the city could continue to offer the officers a career. One of the problems, however, is that layoffs would affect the lower seniority

Plymouth Kiwanis Club has asked for a special-event permit to hold a recreational vehicle and boat show sometime in late April or early May.

This could be the first year of what, hopefully, could be an annual event, depending on dealer and public response, according to Ted Campbell, chairman of the RV and boat show committee

The City Commission will act on the club's request at tonight's meeting. Requested is the bottom half of the deck.

This RV and boat show would be free to the public and income would come from renting spaces to RV and Wayne County market," according to sion Campbell.

"The first floor deck would provide cover for the display, in case of inclement weather, and lighting for the Saturday evening display interested, the club also would like to use The Gathering, on the Penniman mit. Avenue side of Kellogg Park.

"The Kiwanis Club would provide manpower for promotion, general operation, 24-hour security and clean up.

They must have your approval before they involve themselves in trying to establish the dates and how the event will be organized," City Manager boat dealers interested in this western Henry Graper wrote to the commis-

I don't believe it would be fair to the merchants in the downtown area or the shoppers who depend upon the use of the Central Parking Lot if we were to give them the exclusive use of both the upper and lower portions of the deck," Graper

OTHER ITEMS up for action at tonight's meeting include:

District scores well on student tests

If nothing else, students in the Plymouth-Canton Community School District will learn how to be good test-

The district gives three of them throughout each school year lowa Test of Basic Skills, the Cognitive Abilities Test, and the Michigan Educational Assessment Program (MEAP)

Administered by the district's Office of Research and Data Processing, the test results showed, in nearly every category. Plymouth-Canton students remain above the statewide average in their ability to think and learn

The tests are like photographs of what a student is doing," said David Rodwell, administrative assistant for third-graders had scores of 4.4 in reading and 42 in math, compared to the national average of 38, fifth-graders had scores of 65 in reading and 62 in math, compared to the national average of 5 8, and seventh graders scored 85 and 86, compared to the national average of 78

The Cognitive Abilities Test (winter), which examines the capacity of thirdand fifth-graders to discover relationships, show flexibility with symbols and perceive spatial relationships, indicated that Plymouth-Canton students are above the average standard score

On the quantitative subtest of the Cognitive Abilities Test, which uses numbers, third-graders averaged 105 6, on the verbal subtest, which uses letters and words, they scored 105.2, and on the non-verbal subtest (spatial relationships), they averaged 105 5

Fifth graders scored an average of 109.1 on the quantitative, 108.9 on the THE IOWA Test of Basic Skills, verbal and 108 9 on the non-verbal sub-

However, Plymouth-Canton students did not fare quite as well (in the fall) on the Michigan Educational Assessment Program

ALTHOUGH the overwhelming majority of fourth graders scored in the upper 25 percent, only 41 percent of the students showed positive responses toward reading, such as reading in free time, visiting reading places, requesting extra reading and talking about

Plymouth-Canton fourth grade students have shown a decline in reading skill areas and objectives on the Michigan test, from 83.3 in 1983, to 82.9 (the ercentage in the top quartile) in 1984.

But they showed a marked improvement in the mathematics skill areas of the Michigan test, from 82.9 in 1983, to 86 3 in 1984.

Seventh graders improved from 69.0 in 1983, to 77.0 in 1984, on the Michigan test in math and improved from 87.3 to 87.5 on the reading portion. They also showed a low score in the positive response-reading area (29 percent).

Tenth graders showed improvement in the math area, from 71.9 in 1983 to 72.7 in 1984, but a decline in the reading area, from 86.7 in 1983 to 84.8 in But overall, Plymouth-Canton students at all grade levels fared well TELEVISION, according to a questionnaire given to third, fifth and seventh graders, remains the chief competitor for children's time. More than 55 percent in grades three and five read two or more books a month (less than 50 percent in seventh grade). Other conclusions: Students prefer not to read aloud in class; they prefer to read to themselves rather than have the teacher read; most students say they are getting reading belp when they need it and students say they receive reading help at home.

Also, there is a dramatic drop in the percentage of students who prefer TV to reading, but reading still trails TV by a wide margin; most feel they receive adequate help in math, but only spend about 30 minutes of school time on math per day in the seventh grade, less than the 30-60 minutes spent on math in grades three and five.

Historical Museum's early days recalled

For the past 46 years, Betty and Louis Norman have lived on a portion of what was once the Spicer farm on Ann Arbor Trail, a bit east of Park Drive.

Norman built most of the house himself. The property was given to them as a wedding present by Alma and Sam Spicer, Betty's parents.

The original Spicer farm dates back to the 1860s when it was farmed by one of Betty's ancestors. Sam Spicer, her father who died in 1964, was Plymouth Township teasurer and a member of the Township Board in the 1940s and '50s. He served under longtime Township Supervisor Charley Rathburn. He was on the board in June, 1953, when Roy Lindsay was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Rathburn who died in office earlier that month.

Like the Spicer farm, the Murray farm, on Napier Road near Warren, has been designated as a Centennial Farm. It was there that Betty was

The first Murray to farm it was Archibald Murray who came here from Orange County, N.Y., to take up the land in 1826. The first tax asset roll of Plymouth Township in July 1827, shows that Murray was taxed $2.57 on the 240 acres he owned. He was a Plymouth Township poor director in 1828 and a school commissioner

Betty followed the lead of her parents in becoming a member of the Plymouth Historical Society. She recalls that the society met in the basement of the Plymouth Credit Union when she joined in the 1950s.

In the early 1960s, when Frank Henderson was its president, the society BETTY NORMAN's mother was a was successful in obtaining rent-free use of a city-owned house at 157 Main

Known as the Polley House, it was an eight-room, white-frame structure. It was in that building that the society's first museum was opened on May 25, 1962, with Norma Cassady as curator. One day, when Louis and Betty were on duty in the old Polley House, five boys arrived and asked to see the collection. They said they loved history but had only 25 cents to pay.

"We had lots of things within easy reach in those days," recalls Louis Norman, "so when three of the boys went upstairs I went with them, and Betty stayed downstairs with the other two. They seemed really interested in the historical artifacts and asked me a lot of questions. But I kept a sharp eye on them, and I still don't know how they

"There was a Confederate uniform and cap hung high on a wall. After they left the museum, it was missing. We told the police, but they had no success in locating the missing items.

Then one day, one of the boys turned up at a local meeting wearing the Confederate cap. It was reported to us, and we recovered the uniform as

WHEN BETTY NORMAN was presi-(1967-1969), the old Polley House was in a bad state of repair.

I remember walking across its front porch in 1967 with Frank Chapman, the Lord Mayor of Plymouth, England, and wondering whether our feet would go crashing through the boards.

Betty appointed a new building committee consisting of Clarence Moore, George Burr, Ezra Rotnour, Herald Hamili and Norma Cassady. The committee worked closely with Margaret Dunning who, in 1973, built and presented the new museum building to the society in memory of her parents, Bessie and Charles A. Dunning. Bessie Dunning was the Society's first curator.

Louis Norman spent hundreds of hours with Clarence Moore and other volunteers fixing up the interior of the building and constructing its "Main Street." Norman says they got the idea for the Main Street when Moore and Burr saw one similar in a museum in Louis and others began collecting old windows, parts of buildings and pieces of barns. They stored them in Herald Hamill's barn on Ann Arbor Trail until ready for use.

> The 1967 meeting, at which Township Supervisor John McEwen presided, featured greetings from Col. Frederick Davids, commander of Michigan State Police; an address by Ferris E. Lewis, professor of history at Henry Ford Community College; and the reading of poems by poet Max Ellison, who was then a resident of Plymouth Town-

These recollections of Plymouth past came to Norman as I talked to him in his garage on a clear, cold day in December 1984.

Among other things that have changed in the Plymouth area since Norman roamed it as a boy is the water level. When he was young the water level was 4 feet. But you have to dig deeper to find water these days.

'Look," Norman says, "I checked the water level in 1978 and marked it on the wall here. See, in that year the level

Sometimes it brings back a period of sadness. At other times it causes one to relive a trying moment. And then there will come a time when the day causes a great smile and the feeling that it was one of the most important days of a stay on this foundation of life.

After the program he had a chance to meet the poet alone and the conversation got to the ponit where Mr. Guest asked all sorts of questions, then said, seriously, "There are any number of papers in this country that would gob-

"I am not promising anything," he said, "but I will do the best I can." Well, the letter was written. And in a never was he so amazed as he was that night. The Free Press had seven editions - one every hour from 7 p.m. until 2 a.m.

It was an amazing night - one never to be forgotten. And each year when he tears the January sheet from the calendar almost every move of that night comes alive again.

It has been a grand life. It has been filled with great moments and thrills that would stir even a monument.

What a great day it was.

WEIGHT AND ARTHRITIS

It is commonly thought that being overweight predisposes you to arthritis of the hips, knees and feet. The extra weight leads to additional strain resulting in extensive joint wear and tear and the order to the heavy individual to "lose weight, if you want to save your joints

This seemingly self evident truth has never been proven. No study has ever been able to show that overweight leads to arthritis, or that losing extra pounds relieves joint problems. However, do not take this lack of proven relationship to conclude that if you have arthritis, striving to reach a proper weight is unnecessary

It is important so that if surgery is needed, you won't carry the operative risks that come with obesity. These risks include increased possibility of failure of the surgical procedure, and in the days following surgery, greater than average chance of blood clots, infection and even death

Losing excess weight likely will make you feel better today, and definitely improve the potential for success if you need surgery tomorrow

Designer makes sorority elegant

By Mary Klemic staff writer

More than 60 persons live in the stately house at 1322 Hill in Ann Arbor. It features various rooms for sitting and/or entertaining, among them a television room, a music room and what its residents call a clock room.

You might think it would be intimidating to redecorate such a large house. But when that task was presented to Livonia resident Carol Fenzan after fire damaged it last September, she took it in stride.

FENZAN, AN interior designer who is a consultant for Honeywell's corporate offices in Southfield, often undertakes this kind of challenge. A member of Alpha Gamma Delta, a national sorority with 132 chapters, she is called upon to travel around the country decorating sorority houses. The Hill building houses the Alpha Beta chapter of the Alpha Gamma Delta sorority at the University of Michigan.

"I wanted just a warm, inviting, elegant look," said Fenzan, who works out of Lifestyle Decors in Livonia, her own business. "We usually do that with most of our houses.

There it's like Williamsburg, all colonial, with Queen Anne furniture." Fenzan works with a house association board as well, she adds.

THE ANN ARBOR sorority house is study in charm and comfort. Most of its rooms are decorated with flowered wallpaper and taupe, blue and other soft colors.

"We're very pleased," said Farmington Hills resident Marion Brewer, a member of the house association.

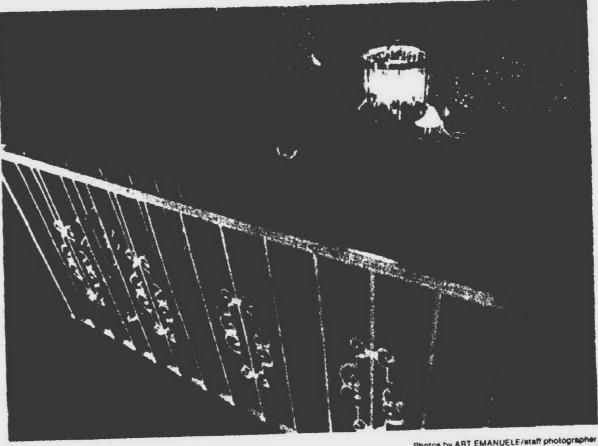

The television room - "the favorite room in the house," Fenzan says - is furnished in contemporary style. A large modular sofa sprawls under track lights. A macrame piece, custommade from California, hangs on the wall. Shelf units were added.

"It was covered in a velvet before. So "Usually, I tour the other houses (on impractical," Fenzan said of the furni-

The living room is more formal than the television room. It is decorated in blue and tan, and features a fireplace. A loveseat and six chairs are placed in two separate arrangements. This room is similar to the smaller "clock room," which contains a grandfather's clock.

A plane identifies the music room, which also contains a high-low table that easily can be changed from a card table to a coffee table and back again.

FENZAN IS "really pleased" with the foyer at the front entrance, she says. Here, a large ceramic swan poses on a chest, the flowers in its back arranged to resemble the flower pattern on the wallpaper.

Flowers even are found in the coatroom, where the wallpaper has a pattern of irises

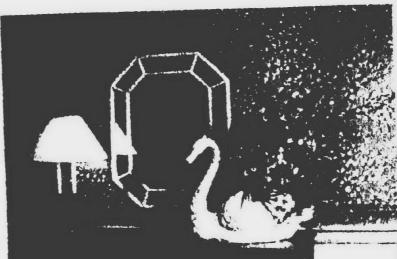

A white wrought-iron railing and dotted carpeting lead to the second floor, where bedrooms are located.

New carpeting and lighting were installed in the second floor hallway, and new sheer curtains placed in the bedrooms. All the rooms and closets were

THE FIRE started in a third-floor bathroom, according to Fenzan. Water seeped downward, its weight pulling down the ceiling in one room and loosening the tile

"One thing led to another," Fenzan

"It really wasn't burned down to the ground, but there was smoke and water

The flowers in the swan vase repeat the pattern in the wallpaper, adding a subtle and elegant touch to the foyer at the main entrance of the sorority house.

The hardest part of the job was having the work completed before the residents returned on Jan. 5, according to architecturally joined to form one Fenzan. An open house was scheduled for Jan. 27.

We were on a three-month schedule to do the entire house," she said. "And it was during the Christmas season so it was very hectic.

THE ANN ARBOR structure was built in 1923 to house 18. A fire damaged it in 1930, and the following year it was rebuilt and a new front added. In 1945, the house next to it was purchased, and 12 years later the two were large house. It now has the capacity for 75 nersons.

Work on sorority houses takes up a lot of Fenzan's time, she says. The week of the open house in Ann Arbor, Fenzan was to head to the University of Illinois But she also is decorating private homes, including one in Grosse

"Each house is different and a challenge, which is fun," Fenzan said.

By David Messing special writer

I am a living contradiction I write, but rarely read. I own a store and yet I never go shopping First of all. I am not good at comparing prices and second of all. I am a jinx'

For example, you would never want to get behind me in a line at a cash register or in any line for that matter Like at the bank, one line seems to really be moving along so I think. "that's the line for me" and it continues to move fast until the person ahead of me gets to the window

Then he or she pulls out a money order from Tahiti or tries to cash some check drafted against the First National Bank of Borneo Of course the whole bank shuts down as all the tellers all study the transac-

artifacts

tion just ahead of me I swear 1 bought my house faster than some people take at the window in a bank But I must say a shopping mall is where I really lose it

For the third time ever, I went with Sandy and the boys to the Fairlane Center "Oh wow." I said as we entered this multilevel maze of stores Everyone, shoulder to shoulder, with eyes fixed straight ahead, seemed to know just where they were headed Sandy jumped into the main stream and shouted. You guys follow me

WF. DID. like a mother duck with all her ducklings trailing behind. At the first sign of boredom, Sandy You guys go look around the mall. I'll meet you in front of Lord & Taylor's in two hours" So the boys and I kind of sauntered around with a "Where is Lord & Taylor's?" look on our face I saw a cute little coffee shop that looked down at it or down looking up at it. In frustration I said, "Well, boys, I guess you just can't get there from here wherever here is

To make a long story short, I was never so glad to see my wife, it seemed like we were there at least six hours. I promised myself never to look bored while shopping again.

Oh, another thing I discovered recently is those computer registers in grocery stores. You know the kind that you just pas the item over a green light and it rings the register

I was so fascinated with this operation that I guess it showed because Sandy said. 'Honey, don't look so surprised, these things have been out for quite a while, people will think you never get out of the house" So I tried to hide my curiosity But, when Sandy and the register girl started packing the bags, I couldn't help but to look down at the green light

IN FASCINATION, I took a head of lettuce and passed it over the light and sure enough the register rang it up I did it again and again trying to figure out how this thing worked Suddenly both Sandy and the girl looked at it and said, "Hey, you know that's adding into your bill," so with head drooped in embarrassment, I stood and waited for the manager to come and change the total So much for my shopping experience

If you are like me, and suffer from "mall-o-phobia" or "cashier's complaint," then you may not be aware of some out-of-the-way items in your local art store. Here are a few new or unusual items you may not have seen

This week I received a call inquir ing about "Acrylic board" by Crescent. Since I wasn't aware of what it was, I asked Chuck, the Crescent representative, to fill me in. When I told him that the caller was having a hard time finding it, he said it was no wonder because it isn't called actilic board anymore Lintex is Crescent's new name for it as the texture is like a fine linen

LINTEX IS like a heavy duty illustration board which comes in a 30 by 40 size. So it can easily be cut to any size and its texture is pleasantly less definite than canvas Lintex is also good for any media and not only for acrylics, hence the name change

Crescent's latest item is black process board. This board is excellent for photographers who like to only mount their photos for their portfolio On one side is Raven black which has a slight texture and on the other side is 921 which is very smooth black. The core of this board is also black so however you cut it you always have a black mounting

Did you know there is an illustration board which is acid free? This board is double thick and has a wonderful texture for water color. Before I leave the Crescent line, did you know that there is such a thing as "charko-board?" This board comes in white, tan and moss green

It has a nice, fine sharp tooth for all media, but it is especially great for charcoals and pastels A 32 inch by 40 inch sells for $2.85

Did you ever have to draw or cut a great big circle? There is a "neat" little gadget called (take a breath) a vardstick beam compass and cutter. It is merely two metal holders that clamp into a yard stick or any similar size straight edge. All you do is set it at the radius you desire and insert either a pencil lead or a razor point It sells for $3.50

SOMETIMES a fluorescent light seems too blue or bright and then again incandescent (light bulb) seems too red or dim There is now a combination light that offers you one or the other or both at the same time So if you are getting eyebags from squinting or headaches from dim lighting then consider a "duolamp It sells for $109.

If you want perfectly inked circles and you are tired of having ink gush out of your ruling pen compass then buy a tech-pen adapter. This little black ring fits into your compass and supports any size technical pen Cross my heart, it produces perfect circles for $2 50

Well. I have run out of room so the Artifolks I received this week will be in next week's column. Don't forget to send your helpful hints to the Art Store & More and write somewhere on the envelope "Artifolks" or simply call me at 476-

WHO'S COOKING IN TOD

In the kitchen of the 80s. you're as apt to find a man doing the cooking as a woman. With more women working outside the home, more husbands are involved with at least some of the family meal preparation. Plus, there are six million single men who must depend upon their own cooking skills for day-to-day survival. Add to that men who enjoy cooking as a creative outlet, and you've got a lot of males in today's kitchens

So, it's good to know that meal preparation can be quicker and easier than it used to be The recipes on this page - designed with the male cook in mind — illustrate two work-simplification strategies for the contemporary kitchen.

Maytag, which recently added cooking appliances, calls the first strategy "Complementary Cooking" A key to this technique is selecting the appliance that will produce the best results with optimum cooking efficiency in preparing a particular dish. For some recipes, the microwave oven is the best choice, because it's often the quick and easy route to flavorful results. Other recipes or larger quantities are best prepared in a conventional oven or by using a combination of these appliances

Another time-saving strategy is to use heat-resistant hylon oven cooking bags Specially made to work equally well in either microwave or conventional ovens, oven cooking bags simplify preparation of even complicated dishes. Foods cook faster, too. because moist heat is trapped inside the bag. This cooking method tenderizes meat. and also blends and intermingles flavors deliciously. Since all the ingredients are mixed and cooked right inside the bag. there's no pile-up of messy bowls or pots to clean up afterward. And there's no oven spatter. To serve, cut open the bag and dish. the food onto plates

Simple to prepare and a snap to clean up, all of these recipes are ideal for the man in the kitchen, be he novice or gourmet. To complete the meal, add a salad or vegetable and rolls to one of the entrees and top it off with the Maple Baked Apples for dessert.

For a copy of Maytag's "Complementary Cooking Guide," which lists 60 foods and the recommended method for preparing them, send $1 to: The Maytag Company, Dept. 3PR-ROP, Newton, Iowa 50208

You also can order more quick and easy oven cooking bag recipes by writing for "A Cooking Guide for Men," developed by The Reynolds Wrap Kitchens. To receive your free copy write to: The Reynolds Wrap Kitchens, "A Cooking Guide for Men," P.O. Box 27003/Dept. FE-22, Richmond, Virginia - 23261

I don't recognize cream choose as real choose. I don't consider cottage choose real choose either. That's why I can't understand why everyone calls cheesecake without real cheese cheese-

Real cheese is ricotta, Italian in origin, mild and great to cook with, espe-cially in desserts. I had about one-third of a three-pound container left from some Italian dishes so I decided to try a hand at my first cheesecake.

I didn't have a springform pan, with sides that unlatch and peel away, so I improvised and used a tube pan.

I've never seen a cheesecake with hole in the middle," my wife said.
"I know," I said, "but the pan can double as a nifty cake holder - you just lift up the tube and . . ." "Good luck," Anita said warily. I didn't tell her I planned to go crustless. Besides, I didn't have any graham crackers to break into crumbs.

Well, frankly, she was the first to eat

Check out better idea

Over a hundred years ago, a former high school principal with a good idea devised a product that's saving millions of people untold amounts of money

The inventor was named George La Monte and he was a paper salesman. He considered the need for a safe, dependable way of transferring funds without transporting large unprotected amounts of

What he came up with was the idea of checks printed on a special kind of paper treated with dyes and chemicals to make erasure and alteration of checks difficult and exact duplication virtually impossible. The dyes are sensitive to the same solutions that remove writing inks from paper, so any attempt at alteration removes the paper's color and design or produces a stain.

GAWAINE DART of Canton Township will participate in the Michigan Ceramics '85 exhibit that opens Friday in the Selo/Shevel Gallery, 329 S. Main Street, Ann Arbor. The exhibit, sponsored by the Michigan Potters' Association, will run through March 2.

Roland Thomas, president of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Trustees, was auctioneer. One of the traditions at these cake bakes is the sale of the cakes after they have been judged. The revenue goes to the pack's treasury.

Who buys whose cakes? Again tradition takes over as the parents bid on their own Cub Scout's creations. Sometimes a parent discovers he or she has been upping an enthusiastic son's bid.

From all reports, Roland was a most persuasive auctioneer. He didn't let those cakes go for a pittance. Pack 293's coffers should be bulging as a result.

Rocks White-hot; blitz Canton

Game anti-climactic: the event is fantastic

Plymouth Canton vs. Plymouth Salem: Impressions of the neighborhood game

HE CROWD arrived early. The fact that there's a big crowd at a Salem or Canton basketball game is big news in itself. The fact that it arrived early is stunning. The big man was there. Fred Thomann. You know deep inside it's hurting him to be on the sidelines. Coaching basketball is as much a part of his life as food and water - it's in his blood. But he's there supporting rookie coach Bob Brodie and the Salem program.

But, come on, Fred, you can't really justify Bob Knight's recent actions at Indiana, can you? He can. And he does. Where's Bob Blohm?

Mark LaPointe is going wild on the Canton junior varsity bench. The firstyear Canton coach isn't dealing well with the loss at all. He's screaming at the referees, his players, even at Salem JV coach Andy Melin

"Ah, that's just the way I am," he said afterward.

THE FANS are rowdy. The crowd noise nearly drowns out the playing of the national anthem. The fans are up dancing to the pre-game music, on both sides. The tension is building, the excitement thick

As each Canton player is introduced. the Salem fans pull newspapers up in front of their faces as if to ignore the introduction - funny stuff

At last the game LeSean Haygood looks like a glant compared to the gnat-sized Chiefs. Immediately he snares an offensive rebound and puts Salem up 2-0. What a nice basketball player Steve Sobditch has turned out to be. He blocks a Canton shot at one end, then hits a 3-point play at the other 5-0 Salem I feel good for Sobditch He took a lot of heat for Salem's bad year in football (he was the quarterback) I'm glad to see him contributing

I have been worried about Mike White For most of the season he has seemed helplessly out of place on the wing of Salem's offense I think he would have preferred to run from the point guard position, but coach Brodie had other designs Against Ypsilanti White seemed in a daze, lost offensively. He didn't seem to be enjoying him-

There was a different Mike White on the floor Friday. It was the Mike White of old. Sticking his jump shot confident-Driving to the hoop gracefully. When he's on his game, there isn't a more exciting player to watch.

ERIC SOVINE, who plays very well in a very quiet kind of way, was en route to a layup when out of nowhere came Canton's Brent Stack. Stack is all of 6-foot tall, but he was above the rim to swat Sovine's shot into the bleachers.

Stack. I've got to tell you, is one of my favorite players. Nobody works harder in practice and nobody plays harder in the game. What he lacks in natural ability he more than makes up for in intensity and desire. As his coach, Dave Van Wagoner, said about him, "I wish I had a 100 Brent Stacks, but I wish a few of them could be 6-7."

As I scan the crowd, I notice some familiar faces. Jacque Merrifield is here wearing her Hillsdale varsity jacket. There's Rick Berberet, looking like he just walked out of GQ magazine. Gary Thomas is up in the Canton side - how the Chiefs miss his deadly outside shooting. Hey, there's Rob Willette. Only time I see him is during our Plymouth recreation basketball games

Canton could use his jump shot, too. Where the beck is Bob Blohm.

There's a lot to like about this Canton basketball team, even though they aren't winning many games No. 1, they play with a great deal of intensity. There's no quit in them. They also play smart. Notice how Kevin Hawkins and the other smaller Chiefs always seem to be in good rebounding position? Notice how the taller Rocks aren't really beating them inside? The Chiefs are having trouble finding the basket, but they remain a very well-coached team.

The Rocks played head and shoulders above Canton Friday night, as demonstarted by Steve Potoczak (top) and Paul Makara. Canton's Joel Meis is in the middle.

basketball teams until after 10 games. "Come see me after game 10," be would say. "Then we'll know what kind of basketball team we have."

Well, Brodie's Salem team ran hot and cold through the first 9 games, playing 500 ball. In game 10 they came together and now have a 3-game win streak going.

"I think you can judge a team at any time," said Brodie. "It just takes a THERE, TOO, is a lot to admire while sometimes to get it going. My JV earlier this season, I commented that about Bob Brodie's team. Fred Tho- teams always started slow. It takes mann always held off judgment of his time to learn roles and get the rotations down. But, I don't know if I'd name game 10 as a magic number. We tried to get everything together in time for game one."

Whatever. In this case, game 10 was the turning point. Well, it's 67-46 Salem with 3:16 left to play. The crowd is starting to file out. In a way, the game was anti-cli-

But it didn't matter. Canton vs. Salem is always a good time. Clap, clap, woosh!

Salem offense turns CEP rivalry to rout

By Chris McCosky staff writer

Mike White crashed to the floor heavily and came up in pain holding his left wrist. Less than a minute had elapsed in the annual Plymouth Salem-Plymouth Canton basketball clash Fri-

When White got to the bench, Salem coach Bob Brodle made the choices very clear to his standout senior. He could either sit on the bench with an ice pack and let the wrist get stiff or get back out on the court and work the hurt

White opted for the latter - which was extremely bad news for Plymouth Canton. The flashy forward-guard scored 18 points, 12 in the first half, to lead the Rocks to a convincing 77-54 victory before a packed, emotional crowd at Salem

"Just because it was Canton." That was White's explanation of his explosive performance. "They got us last year. We were pumped up extra hard for this one.

IT WAS White's best performance of the season, and it produced a positive effect on the rest of the Rocks. White drained his first 3 shots, all from long range. It was a much needed confidence boost, not only for White but for the rest of the Rocks.

The 6 straight points helped Salem jump to a 23-14 lead after a quarter and forced Canton to play catch up for the remainder of the game.

"Mike rose to the occasion tonight," Brodie said. "Mike sometimes gets caught up emotionally, because he's such an intense competitor. But, when he plays simple, just goes out and plays basketball, he's incredible."

The Rocks, meanwhile, seemed to cruise. They never lost control of the game, never allowed Canton back into

"Bob Brodie did a nice job preparing his team," said Canton coach Dave Van Wagoner. "We got beat by a team that was better than us tonight. I'm not conceding that Salem is the better team. But, they played better than us tonight."

That was true in practically every Salem's Eric Sovine and Canphase of the game. The Rocks, by far ton's Brent Stack tangle.

the inside with LeSean Haygood's 16 points and 17 rebounds.

They worked the ball around the perimeter expertly. Besides White's 18 points, guards Eric Sovine and Paul Makara chipped in 16 points apiece.

And, the Rocks played a strong defensive game forcing Canton's offense far away from the basket.

"WE WANTED to force them to shoot from the perimeter," Brodie said. "And, that's pretty much what hap-

As a result, the Chiefs hit just 18 of 54 shots. Conversely, the Rocks shot well hitting 27 of 56 from the floor, 11 of 15 in the first quarter.

But don't get the idea that the Chiefs laid down and let Salem run all over them. Quite the contrary. Canton is a proud team and, in the third quarter, appeared poised to make a serious run

"We just couldn't seem to get more than one basket in a row," Van Wagoner said. "We couldn't string together two or three baskets to get us over the

Is Barrie Muzbeck too good? Gymnasts' talent overwhelms prepranks

By Chris McCosky staff writer

It's great to have Barrie Muzbeck back in high school gymnastics, isn't

As a sophomore two years ago. Walled Lake Western's Muzbeck set the state gymnastics scene on its ear by placing first in every event at the state meet

Last year she gave up high school gymnastics to pursue a berth on the United States Olympic team After winning the five-state zone qualifying tournament (the first of three Olympic qualifying tournaments). Muzbeck was forced out of further competition by a stress fracture in her leg The flashy explosive performer hasn't given up on her dream of becoming an Olympic champion, but Muzbeck is back performing for Walled Lake Western

She was there Wednesday night competing against Plymouth Canton She walked into the Canton gym with her boyfriend (Chris Jeannotte a Plymouth Canton sophomore and an outstanding gymnast in his own right) Immediately, a buzz of attention was directed toward Muzbeck.

There she is "

"Which one is she " "Oh, that's her."

HER PRESENCE affects everyone the opposition, the fans, her teammates and the judges.

Muzbeck, though, seems unaffected by it all She whips through her warm-ups, then through her routines. She scored 9.0 or better in all four events, head and shoulders superior than all others, and lead Western to a

Yet, this is not the same Barrie Muzbeck that brought us out of our seats two years ago She remains an impressive talent, for sure, but because of her superior skills, much of the competitiveness is gone from her routines She has removed most of the tougher tricks in all events.

"I guess what bothers me about her." said Canton coach John Cunningham. "is that I know how good she is I know what she is capable of doing She's taking so much out of her routines I love to see her I love to watch her perform But, I want her to show me something "

She scored a 94 on her vault, yet she stumbled on her landing in both attempts and didn't attempt the Tsukahara, a difficult trick usually in her vault. The consensus around the gym was the 9 4 was an inflated evaluation of her vault

Her uneven parallel bars routine was a smooth exercise. Within it, she demonstrated the combination of strength and grace that makes her a world-class talent. She scored a 9 25

MUZBECK SCORED a 90 on balance beam. She fell once, which produced a gasp from the crowd "I've never seen her fall before." She nearly fell two other times, costing her points each time Obviously, the routine didn't deserve a 9.0 But, Barrie Musbeck is Barrie Musbeck, afterall.

"I mean, this girl won the national zone meet on bars. Do you think that routine would have even qualified?" said Cunningham.

But Muzbeck's floor routine was beautiful. True, she still left out some of her tougher tricks, but the exercise

isfied all those in attendance who came just to see her perform. Afterward, Muzbeck talked about her effect on high school gymnastics.

was electric. She scored 9.75 and sat-

"Hopefully, I want to encourage others to work hard and achieve the same type of success," she said "I'm not in this for myself. I'm in it for the team I'd rather see the team do

PERHAPS THAT explains why she opts to tone down her routines. Cunningham, though, offers up another explanation

"I don't really know why she does it, and I don't know whether I think it's good or bad I'd have to put myself in her situation But, perhaps she would feel like it would be rubbing it in if she did her best," he said.

That may be the answer because Muzbeck is a very unpretentious, down to earth young woman. She would prefer to be just another member of the Western team. Of course, her enormous talent makes that Impossible.

"I do wish she would show me something out there." Cunningham said. "But she knows she doesn't have to She knows she's not going to be pushed. She won't even be pushed at the state meet - even by the exceptional people at Freeland.

The Plymouth Canton gymnasts, an extremely young and inexperienced group, were mixed in their feelings toward competing against Muzbeck. Some were in awe of her, some were embarrassed, some were angry because they felt she intimidated the judging and some weren't concerned one way or the other.

"I THINK the girls love to watch her," Cunningham said. "But I don't know if they can learn much from her. What she does is so far above their ability level - I mean, it's not like they can watch her then put her tricks into their routines."

Muzbeck, meanwhile, hopes to take her team to the state high school championship next month. In May, she will return to the Farmington Gymnastics Club (where she trains) and again begin the pursuit of her ultimate goal - to become a member of the U.S. Olympic team.

For better or for worse, it is indeed great to have Barrie Muxbeck back in high school gymnastics.

"We have set out to achieve what no other junior team from Plymouth has done before," the young man said. "That is to take it all - league, districts, the ACHL (Adray Community Hockey League) championships, and most importantly, to win the states."

The Plymouth Juniors, sponsored by Ed's Sport Shop, took the first step last week by wrapping up its regular season undefeated, 24-0-0, an awesome accomplishment.

Brother Rice guns down CC

staff writer

Finally, they found an arena large enough for the biggest regular season Catholic League basketball game of the year — University of Detroit's Calihan Hall.

So what happens? What else - the showdown fizzles. Birmingham Brother Rice blew Redford Catholic Central off the U-D court 75-52 Friday, a victory that moved the Warriors one step closer to the coveted Catholic League Central Division title.

The game was billed as perhaps the final shootout between two of the best guards in the state: CC's John McIntyre and Rice's B.J. Armstrong.

But the confrontation never developed. Armstrong was superb as he drilled in 11 of his 18 floor attempts and 9 of 10 free throws to finish with a game-high 31 points.

McIntyre, conversely, shot as poorly as he probably felt all week. The normally hot-shooting guard managed to hit just 4 of 29 field goal attempts. He led CC with 12 points.

BROTHER RICE, the home team, was responsible for moving the game to U-D after years of taking turns cramming huge crowds into each other's crackerbox gyms. CC hosted Rice at Schoolcraft College earlier this season, which was an improvement, but not enough of one. Schoolcraft's 2,200-seat gym was filled an hour before game-time.

Calihan Hall did not overflow, but the crowd was sizable enough to put smiles of anticipation on the collective faces of the U-D athletic staff in attendance. After all, they own the rights to one of the reasons for the large turnout (estimated at better than 3,000): McIntyre, who has signed to play for the Ti-

Of course, U-D coach Don Sicko certainly hopes whatever was ailing McIntyre - he had been ill and missed practice the entire week - is out of his system by September.

AT THE ONSET of Friday's game it was Rice that looked ill. The Warriors were coming off their first league setback, suffered Tuesday at Warren De-

The loss narrowed their Central Division lead to a mere game ahead of DeLaSalle and CC. And that made Rice coach Nick Conti nervous.

"Whoever wins the division has a big

basketball

advantage going into the (league) playoffs," Conti said before Friday's

The reason is that in the new expanded playoff format (from 8 to 16 teams). the champion would be: A. playing weaker opponents; and B. would have the home-court advantage until the semifinate and finals, slated for Cal-

BUT CC BROKE on top, leading 13-11 after the first quarter and then building their advantage to 23-20 with a 10-2 spurt in the middle of the second. Paul Tavana, who finished with 11 points in the game, sparked the second-quarter Shamrock rally with 4 points.

Conti had seen enough. He called timeout with 3½ minutes left in the half, a break which, he later explained, was the difference.

"More than anything, it was an emotional timeout," Conti said. Why it worked so well Conti couldn't explain. 'Sometimes you don't know why things happen the way they do.

We got on a roll."

They did at that, scoring the final 10 points of the quarter to assume a 36-23 halftime lead. Armstrong had 4 points in the streak and 9 in the quarter.

WITH McINTYRE failing to connect, CC had little chance. The Shamrocks made just 2 of 15 floor shots in the quarter; McIntyre was 0-for-8.

With Armstrong pumping in 8 more points in the third period, Rice pulled away to a 52-31 lead, outscoring CC 22-8. The Shamrocks shooting was again dismal: 1 for 10.

Armstrong finished CC off with 10 fourth-quarter points. Jeff Herberholz chipped in with 15 points in the game for the Warriors, who improved to 7-1 in the league and 11-2 overall. CC is 9-4 overall and 5-3 in the league.

"We have no excuses, no alibis," Shamrock coach Bernie Holowicki offered. 'That's not the way we coach.

"They got 10 straight at the end of the second quarter. That's what did it." As for Armstrong, Conti said it best: "B.J.? He's one of the best in the state, one of the best in the country. His performance speaks for itself. "It was typical of him."

Flower shatters pool record in Chief win

The Observerland diving wars took on an interesting twist Thursday night.

For the record, the Observerland diving wars have boiled down to Livonia Churchill's Vic Valente against Plymouth Canton's Andy Flower.

The two squared off face to face in a dual meet Jan. 22. Valente won that encounter and has led the Observerland rankings all season. Until Thursday night.

In Canton's 119-37 whitewashing of Wailed Lake Western, Flower busted an 8-year varsity and pool record by scoring 275.85 points. The old Canton pool diving record was set by Scott Whale in 1977. 261 points.

Ironically, Valente also scored a personal best Thursday against Plymouth Salem. He racked up 263 points. But the Charger diver has a ways to go to better Flower's new mark.

John Ahrans also had a nice meet against Western. The Canton senior won the 50-yard freestyle (24.4) and the 100 freestyle (54.5), as well as anchoring the first-place 200 medley relay teaming with Jim Casler, Mickey Adamczak and Dean Roberts

Other Canton winners were: Frank Wisniewski in the 200 freestyle (2:06.5), Scott Cratty in the 200 individual medley (2:31.7), Jim Walker in the 500 free (5:55.0), Casler in the 100 backstroke (1:03.3) and Rob Tiplady in the 100 breaststroke (1:14.5).

Adamczak, Walker, Wisniewski and Roberts combined on a 3:50.0 to win the 400 freestyle relay. The win evens Canton's record at 5-5 (3-2 in the Western Lakes). The Chiefs will travel to Walled Lake Central Thursday.

PLYMOUTH SALEM got back into the winning ledger Thursday with a 109-65 triumph at Livonia The Rocks scored big in both relays. Don Harwood, Rick Cummings, Tony Atwell and Jon Cain combined on a 1:50.27 to win the 200 medley relay. Cain, Jim Burns, Atwell and Greg Wolff went 3:34.7 to take the 400 free relay.

Other Salem winners were: Burns in the 200 free (2:02.64), Atwell in the 100 butterfly (1:00.64), Wolff in the 100 free (52.38), Paul South in the 500 free (5:31.22) and Don Harwood in the 100 backstroke

Eric Hutchison won both the 200 IM (2:13.8) and the 100 breaststroke (1:03.70) for Churchill. Salem (6-2) will host Brighton Tuesday.

Salem spikes Northville; Stevenson bounces Chiefs

Led by some powerful net play by Fran Whittaker and Leanne Becker, the Plymouth Salem volleyball team won its second straight match beating Northville Wednesday, 15-10, 13-15, 15-12.

The scores are a bit deceptive in that they suggest a close match. In reality, the Rocks were in control throughout. They rolled to early leads in all three games. Northville was able to battle back into contention (and eventually win the second game) only against Salem's reserve players.

"We are getting scrappler all the time," said Salem coach Betty Smith. "It's really exciting to see them come together finally after all the hard

An 11-point second quarter by Kevin Hawkins kept Canton in the game in the first half. Then in the third quarter, the Salem shooters cooled a bit (6-16) Canton closed the gap to 9 points on a pair of jumpers from Jim Schlicker, but failed to convert on the next 4 possessions.

WHITE THEN drained a jumper and Sovine hit two straight to close out the third quarter and the Rocks were never again threatened. They outscored Canton 24-14 in the final quarter

'Bizet's Carmen' is a feast for eyes as well as for ears

"Carmen" is beautiful!

The opera, the film, the character, the actress - all beautiful to see and hear. In fact "Bizet's Carmen," directed by Francesco Rosi, is one of the most rewarding visual experiences you will ever

That's pretty ironic since one usually talks about listening to opera, but 19th-century grand opera is a visual as well as aural spectacle of the first order. It is much to Rosi's credit, and the credit of the entire crew, that this film is such a marvelous display in all regards.

Another one of life's ironies: Bizet died three months after the disastrous premiere of "Carmen" in 1875. Today his work is the most popular of operas and some 25 to 30 films have been based on

Last year Carlos Saura's dance version was a hit in Detroit with Antonio Gades as lead dancer and choreographer. Gades also choreographed Rosi's "Carmen." Jean-Luc Godard's "Carmen" is opening in New York (with most of the music by Beethoven) but it is another "Carmen "

THE STORY IS a simple one with all the best ingredients: love, passion, jealousy, freedom, self-restraint, crime, smugglers and murder. Carmen, the free-spirited and feisty gypsy, attracts and discards men with an insouciant, happy air.

Don Jose, a soldier, deserts his post because of her and in spite of the love of Micaela. Escamillo, the toreador, also loves Carmen. When she leaves Don Jose for Escamillo, tragedy ensues.

Rosi filmed his "Carmen" in Seville, Carmona and Ronda, Spain, which in itself is unusual for opera films. So often the fixed spectator/camera position of opera in a theater or sound stage doesn't work because film is so realistic and opera is highly synthetic. Apparently one of Rosi's goals was to meld these two opposites and he did so admirably well.

Rosi was able to overcome the innate contradicton between opera and film by restrained camerawork. Director of photography Pasqualino De Santis first fixes the camera in the opera house's best seat, except the camera is on a real location.

This is particularly true at the opening of the arias. Then, once the scene and aria are set, slow, langorous camera movements match the lush, senuous images of the countryside filmed, the story told and the music sung.

IN THIS WAY, the proper balance between synthetic conventions of opera and the super-realism of film is achieved. Generally the movements of the camera are very limited and slow, but that is all right considering the scenes chosen are absolutely gorgeous.

The caves of Ronda and the surrounding countryside have lush, endless vistas with a romantic depth of focus that leads the eye deep into the picture and captures the imagination.

The temporarily restored-to-19th-century Seville is, by contrast, harsh, bright and sun-baked. But even those images, particularly in the bullring, are softened by dust stirred by horse and bull hooves.

The performances are excellent. Placido Domingo is a superb Don Jose and Ruggero Raimondi is properly macho and condescending as Escamillo. But the opera is a feminine tour de force as Rosi presents it.

Julia Migenes-Johnson is lovely and sensuous in her singing, acting and dancing. She is not well-known in the United States although she has had a successful career here and in Europe, including the role of Hodel in the original "Fidler" with Zero Mostel

Her Carmen is about as lush and passionate as anyone can han-Faith Esham compliments Carmen's abandon with her forbearance and restraint as Micaela She is lovely, controlled, spiritual, yet a woman in more ways than Carmen.

THE CHORUS, the tobacco factory girls, and Carmen's partner's in crime - Mercedes (Susan Daniel) and Frasquita (Lilian Watson) - are also extremely feminine - so much so as to cast the opera in a different light. Minimized is the masculine aspect of the bullring, even though that spectacle is there in good measure. This version creates a very graceful presentation of love and trag-

Trends include just 'red wine'

Let's review some recent trends in the affairs of the world of wines. What are some of the more notable tende cies that will have the greatest effect on us, the consumers? Here are some that come readily to my mind.

The use of generic terms such as burgundy, chablis and rhine is rapidly decreasing. Especially at the higher quality level, terms such as red when that simple and because were just that simple, are becoming more common. This suggests that winemakers feel that it is no longer necessary to emulate the wines of Europe to espouse quality. This evolution has occurred in the last three or four years, truly an astonishing pace.

Paralleling this is the greater use of premium varietals in jug wines. Small and large jugs of cabernet sauvignon, sinfandel and colombard are increasingly common on the shelves, both at Kroger's and the classy wine shoppe down the street. Sebastiani Vineyards started this trend toward the end of the '70s. It is now accepted practice.

The tremendous upsurge in the de-mand, and supply, for sparkling wines must be noted. While sales of still table wines, both domestic and imported, have flattened out nationally, sparklers sales are booming. Imports increase steadily, especially the excellent and modestly priced Spanish wines, and the California market is taking off with increased production by established

Trends being the flexible things they are, it is never prudent to announce the "death" of a grape. But sales and production of two from California are extremely tough now. And they have been

While German wine sales remain strong, the equivalent from California. riesling, does not. The latter has never truly established a set style, and consumers seem to go with the predictable quality of German wines and eschew the sometimes-dry, sometimes-sweet

Use of the zinfandel grape to make red wine is the other near-obit story. There are some notable exceptions to this trend but, in general, consumption of this once highly esteemed grape is way down. Perhaps because winemakers did too many different things with it during the '70s, consumers are now

Its variability and its adaptability, for some its charm, may now be its liability. Zinfandel has been marketed as a port, a late harvest, a fresh berry-like wine, a near-cabernet, and more. Now it is not marketed well at all.

sparkling produces, and new wineries are also invading the field.

FRENCH WINE sales, both of true

terparts, have never been stronger. Sparkling wines are, it would seem, no longer for holidays and celebrations

The flip side, however, is the dramatic turn zinfandel has taken in being produced as a white wine. We have nearly a score of zinfandels available to us locally. Reports indicate that more than 50 wineries produce it, some of them in huge quantities. EVEN SEBASTIANI is marketing zinfandel in 1.5-liter juga. This trend has kept many zinfandel vines in the ground and producing that otherwise would have been torn out, awaiting a better day when they can be used to make the good red wine of which they California products.

are capable. California cabernet sauvignon is no longer being vinified as the heavy, brutal monster it once was. Wine makers are endeavoring to develop wines closer to the eloquence of the best of the bordeaux wines. This way they win fewer competitive taste-offs by sheer power, now they will attempt to do so with class and complexity.

French burgundy wines continue to be expensive as they always have been, but their style is increasingly light.

Veteran imbibers of this most marvel-ous red are saddened by the continuing trend toward ready-to-drink-spon-re-lease wines that lack the depth and richness of the Burgundians of the '64r

Sauvignon blanc continues, under its various names, to do well in the marketplace as well, as the glass as an alternative to chardonnay. More available than ever, the selection in wine stores is huge, the price range modest to de-cent. Interestingly, white bordeaux interest has not developed in the same

Finally, while the prices in general of European wines have dropped soundly (due to the present strong dollar), California prices have at least stabilized in the last year or two. The cap, however, may have come too late, allowing many Americans to once again return to imported wines as their choice. One can hardly blame them; the parallels to the automobile market are very close.
