Law eyed to 'battle' malls

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

Shop owners in Old Village may be required to pay for advertising through a special assessment if a new state law is implemented locally.

City Commissioners discussed use of the Shopping Areas Redevelopment Act at Monday night's committee-of-the-whole session. (Committee-of-the-Whole sessions are held after regular meetings and function as workshops for the Commission.)

"The bill allows the city to do certain things for business districts so that downtown areas can compete with shopping center areas," said Mayor David Pugh.

Pugh brought up the act after reading about it recently, and thought it should be explored by the Old Village Association and the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce.

The act, Public Act 260 of 1984, was passed by the legislature and signed by Gov. James Blanchard last year and really is a reworking of Act 120 of 1961, which addressed shopping-area redevelopment projects.

The reworking was sought by the Michigan Municipal League and the Michigan Downtown Association, both of which lobbied heavily for its passage.

Lawmakers amended the old act to provide local governments with some new tools to be used in keeping downtown areas competitive. Among other things, the new act will

- Permit downtown associations to plan promotions requiring all businesses to contribute money through a special assessment. In the past, all contributions were voluntary.
- Give money to merchants who include promotion of the downtown area in their store advertising.

- Provide money for local merchants to recruit new businesses for the downtown area.

So far, according to City Manager Henry Graper, no city has decided to use the act.

CITY COMMISSIONERS believe the act could help either downtown Plymouth or Old Village combat some of the shopping centers going up in the area.

Many of the malls or shopping centers have coordinated advertising programs, many of which require contributions through rent payments.

"This act is designed to equalize that. It allows an area to tax themselves for such programs," Pugh said.

"Our idea is to get Old Village acquainted with it and then get their reaction," said Commissioner William Robinson.

Former commissioner Karl Gansler, who was at the meeting, said the act originally was designed for the City of Muskegon.

"They wanted to turn the downtown area into a mall and 5 to 10 percent blocked it," he said. "The minority was stopping the majority."

"This is an opportunity," Graper said. "Some might think it's harsh but if 50 to 60 percent want it then you go through a public hearing."

"If the majority wants it then you give them the ultimate tool to do it," he said.

If implemented, the act would require that a board be established to administer the program. The board would be appointed by the mayor and most likely would include city officials and business owners from the targeted area.

Bunny season

The Easter bunny visited the area Sunday, bringing with him a variety of Easter treats. Area families also marked the holiday by attending worship services at local churches. The bunny, after finishing his appointed rounds, paused briefly to read the paper.

Appointee sees government in new way

At least one member of the second Governor's Executive Corps will be returning from Lansing with an improved perception of state government.

Alan D. Stuart of Plymouth Township is one of eight corps members who brought their expertise to the state for six months.

"When I went up there, I had a feeling shared by many that state government and state employees basically were overpaid, underworked and anything or other terms you want to use," Stuart said in an interview Friday.

"What I found out when I got up there is that they are a fantastic group of hard working, dedicated individuals. It was quite a revelation to me," he said.

"I DID FIND a good amount of individual frustrations just due to the system," Stuart said pointing to the civil service structure and the rules and regulations in that structure.

"It's very difficult to make a great deal of progress in the system because of the great deal of limitations imposed by the system."

Stuart, 54, was on "loan" to the state from Ross Roy, a Detroit-based public relations group, and worked with the state's Department of Licensing and Regulation and the Department of Labor.

Executive Corps members are selected by the governor and continue to

Governor's Executive Corps lend their expertise to the state

The Governor's Executive Corps was started in 1983-84 in an attempt to improve relations between business and government.

Now in its second program for '84-85, the corps is coordinated by Gov. James Blanchard's office and provides participants with carte blanche ability to review departments and make recommendations.

Through working partnerships, corps members lend their expertise and the experience of the organization they represent to the state.

"AS A RESULT of the efforts of the first seven Executive Corps members, we have changed the way state government operates to improve efficiency and to make programs more effective," Blanchard said.

Through the first corps program, adopted recommendations included:

- Changing the focus of the state's international development efforts toward exporting products made in Michigan.
- Improving the efficiency of state employees by changing the state's use of computer technology.
- Creating the Office of Michigan Business Ombudsman, which has responded to more than 8,000 requests from Michigan businesses since its inception.
- Improving training programs and support materials for the state's industrial agents.

be paid by their private-sector employer.

The corps' goal is to utilize expertise from private industry to help state government become more effective and efficient, as well as promoting cooperation and understanding between the two.

The non-partisan appointments are made through a selection process which attempts to match state needs with participants' skills. Stuart utilized his experience in public relations to improve departmental communications.

"I WAS assigned to the Department of Licensing and Regulation because Director Elizabeth Howe had put in a request for someone with public relations and communication experience," he said.

"I became a consultant in internal and external communications. I tried to establish an image for the department, which has 38 different boards that it licenses and about a half-million licenses."

Howe, a former Rochester resident, had previously been in management at Bendix Corp.

One problem Stuart faced was a department with some 320 employees and an annual budget of $18 million.

"We had a very limited budget, but we were able to redesign a brochure which tells what the department is and what it does."

AS FOR internal communications, Stuart suggested forms which had a "family look to them," with all the materials having the "same look or same flavor."

The Central Michigan University graduate also worked with the department in addressing a statewide prescription drug problem.

"Michigan has 4 percent of the population in the United States, and 37 percent of the nation's leading prescription drugs were being sold in Michigan," he said.

"We were acting as a supply source for the nation."

Consequently, the department sought and implemented new rules for the use and dispensing of prescription amphetamines.

"The first corps members ended their six months with an expanded understanding of how state government works, and about the limitations as well as abilities of the state," Blanchard said.

Township to act on purchases

By Gary M. Cates

Once again, police purchases and police department requests will be the majority of items put before the Plymouth Township Board for action tomorrow night.

The township is building a police department from scratch and hopes to have everything in place by July 1 when a contract for shared services with Plymouth expires.

Among the items on Tuesday night's agenda are: decision on accepting donation of a police car, buying equipment to tie the township to the Law Enforcement Information Network (LEIN), graduation exercises for the Community Service Officers (CSOs) and buying accessories for the police fleet.

The meeting starts at 7:30 p.m. in the meeting room at Township Hall at Mill and Ann Arbor Road.

SUNSHINE HONDA on Ann Arbor Road has offered to donate a car to the police department in exchange for advertising. The offer was discussed and tabled at the last board meeting.

"We were acting as a supply source for the nation."

Consequently, the department sought and implemented new rules for the use and dispensing of prescription amphetamines.

Plymouth man collects Lotto jackpot

Plymouth Township has a new millionaire — William E. McCarthy.

McCarthy was the sole winner in the March 30 Michigan Lotto and grabbed $2.38 million for picking the winning combination of 2-10-17-34-37-38.

The 55-year-old building superintendent for Citizens Trust in Ann Arbor used winnings from previous Lotto drawings to purchase his winning ticket.

"I was confident that if I kept playing I would win the jackpot," he told lottery officials.

"I even warned my boss that it might happen when he was off on a Florida vacation. I had a little trouble convincing him it was true when I called him from his desk on April Fools' Day."

McCarthy, who lives with his wife on Beck Road, has been playing Lotto for some time. Since the game started last August, he has claimed third prize shares five times by matching four numbers and one second prize with five correct numbers.

An attempt to contact McCarthy last week was unsuccessful. His wife said he didn't want to talk with reporters.

HE COLLECTED his first installment of $119,904 Tuesday and will receive annual payments of $119,200 through the year 2004.

McCarthy told lottery officials he consulted a trust officer at the bank where he works before collecting the first payment.

He reportedly has an investment plan prepared, but said he would celebrate by buying a swing set for his granddaughter.

"I don't expect the win will bring any great changes in my life," he told the officials.

"I love my job and intend to keep on working and continuing to play the lottery. My wife, Shirley, and I also will keep on doing volunteer work at Greenfield Village."

After watching the televised Lotto drawing, McCarthy quoted himself as exclaiming, "I wonder who would pick such dumb numbers as those."

He didn't check his own tickets until Sunday when he discovered the happy answer. He said his wife was doing volunteer work that day, and he had to wait until she returned that evening to relay the news.

McCarthy CAPTURED the seventh highest individual prize yet awarded among 38 jackpot winners, whose combined winnings now total more than $76 million.

Lottery Commissioner Michael J. Carr had set a guaranteed minimum of $2 million for the March 30 jackpot prize, which never has been less than that amount since October.

McCarthy was one of some 5.2 million players vying for the jackpot he won. Lottery officials claim the odds of picking all six numbers is one in 3.8 million.

Schools' teams earn honors at Science Olympiad

Two teams from Plymouth-Canton Community Schools won honors at the Wayne County Regional Science Olympiad held recently at University of Michigan.

A team from Plymouth Salem High and one from Pioneer Middle School competed in the annual event, the first time the school district was represented in the event.

The Science Olympiad tournaments are held to increase student interest in science and to improve the quality of science education. The tourney consists of 24 contests or events.

There is a balance among the various disciplines of biology, earth science, chemistry, physics, astronomy, computer science and engineering.

THE EVENTS ARE divided into two categories — serious and lighthearted.

The serious and straight-forward include event such as the Science Bowl, patterned after the College Bowl where questions are directed at four-member teams.

The lighthearted category includes events such as paper airplane flight where teams of two members each design and construct a paper airplane and then fly it for distance and accuracy.

Other events include: "Fermi Questions," questions in physics which seek a fast rough estimate of quantity which is either difficult or impossible to measure directly, such as the number of drops of water in Lake Erie; "Rock to Riches," where contestants are required to identify rock and mineral specimens; "Egg Drop," where two-person teams are given one egg, ditto paper and Scotch tape with which to package the egg and then compete to see which egg survives the highest fall;

"Bridge Building" where a bridge is built using the criteria established by the American Society of Civil Engineers; and "Periodic Table Quiz," consisting of questions about knowledge and use of hte 103 elements which comprise the periodic table.

THE SALEM HIGH team competed in five events.

Mark Peterson and Malay Mody took first place in the computer programming competition.

Other Salem students attending the competition were Jenny Breed, Jane Klaes, Gary Bartz, Richard Kreuzer, Kim Cripps and Jim Thompson. Coaches were Fred Meier, Salem area coordinator, and Salem biology teachers Joan Pence and Linda Thomas.

The Pioneer team competed in 12 of 14 events.

Based on their fourth-place performance, the Pioneer Middle team was invited to represent Wayne County at the regionals to be held Saturday, April 27, at Michigan State University.

Winners for Pioneer included the Science Bowl team of Doug Donaldson, Matt McAmmond, Arul Chinnayan and Kevin Dilly. Chinnayan also took second place in the Periodic Table event, while Donaldson and Chinnayan teamed to take first place in Computer Lab.

Andrew Bazakis placed first in Periodic Table and took a fourth place in Metric Evaluation. Dave Foxworthy placed third in "Name That Organism" while Ian Corrunker finished third in "Facts and Five."

The team of Cathy Cebula and Pam Austin placed fourth in the Password event. Jarret Rogin placed fourth in Rocks to Riches.

Other team members were Shilpa Parikh, Jay Laney, Soo Son, Lillian Chang, and Scott Contini. Coaches were Pioneer science teachers Ernest Costantino and Pat Butzin.

"I really was proud of these kids," said Costantino. "It was tough competition, and we were pleased to be invited further to state competition." He was displeased at having forgotten to take the toothpick bridge which could have accounted for 45 points and would have raised the team to a first place overall finish. The team finished fourth out of the 20 middle school and junior high teams which competed.

Winning teams from the regionals at MSU will go to the nationals which will be held for the first time this year.

"Regardless of what we do at this regional competition," said Costantino, "we've learned a lot this year and are looking forward to future competitions. This not only makes science attractive to a greater number of students, but also provides recognition for schools like ours which have a well-balanced science program."

Burroughs processes machine

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

Burroughs Corp. unveiled a new document processor last week that will be manufactured at its Plymouth Township plant on Plymouth Road.

The new product, dubbed the DP 1800, has been hailed as a revolutionary development for financial institutions and was introduced at the Bank Administration Institute Check Processing Conference in Dearborn last week.

"Today's financial institutions continue to process ever increasing volumes of paper-based payments," said Martin A. Belsky, president of the Burroughs Financial Systems Group.

"Consequently, the financial community continues to focus on increased operating efficiencies to keep pace with this growing volume," Belsky said.

"The DP 1800 specifically addresses today's requirements for improved productivity and greater processing capabilities."

The new document processor is designed to speed the flow of checks and share drafts while improving operational controls and operator ease. The DP 1800 can process up to 1,825 documents per minute.

The new machine, with a price tag starting at $105,000, utilizes MICR - magnetic ink character recognition. It reads numbers and letters printed on checks and share drafts with the special ink.

to 200 a year. That should keep the 1,000 employees at the plant working, he said.

"However, cost competitiveness is always under review at all of the Burroughs facilities," he said.

Almost half of the plant's personnel consists of employees who are members of UAW locals 1313 and 1440.

Other machines produced at the plant include an automatic teller machine and other document and computer components.

THE INTRODUCTION of DP 1800 also is being hailed as good news for the Plymouth Township plant. Plant manager Max Okun hopes production of the new product will help keep the plant operating.

"It's a new version of a family of products which we are building," Okun said this week. "It should be a very competitive product."

Three years ago rumors circulated about a possible closing of the 865,000-square-foot facility on Plymouth Township's northeast side. A concession contract, offered by Burroughs employees, kept the plant open.

"The concession contract helped to keep us working. Even though the work force has shrunk, that's really what's happened in the industry as a whole as it moves from mechanical to electro-mechanical products," Okun said.

Production of DP 1800 most likely will start out slow this year, he said, anticipating between 15 and 80 machines will be built in 1985.

Starting in 1986, Okun said production of DP 1800 should increase to close

THE PLYMOUTH Township plant is located on 161 acres of land which Burroughs acquired in 1924. In 1938, the company put the land to use when it opened a five-story assembly building, which still stands today.

Over the next 20 years the facility was expanded to include three additional buildings to accommodate growing production and storage needs.

The second building was constructed in 1948, the third building in 1952 and the fourth in 1957. All of the buildings are interconnected and the plant has its own powerhouse.

Okun said the work force at the plant peaked around 1974 with some 6,500 employees.

Besides manufacturing, the complex is the headquarters for Burroughs Corporate Industrial Design, the company's literature distribution and the central clearing house for the employee suggestion program.

The Plymouth plant pays $575,000 in annual property taxes and is a supporter of the Plymouth Community Fund and the Plymouth Symphony, according to Carol Bowie, Burroughs' news relations manager.

Burroughs' plant on Plymouth Road actually is a combination of buildings put up over the years. The five-story assembly building (pictured above) was the first to go up on the company's Plymouth Township acreage.

One of many parking facilities at the Burroughs plant sits virtually unused. At one point the plant employed some 6,000 workers, who filled the parking areas.

The DP 1800 financial document processor is the latest machine to be built at the Plymouth Road plant. It is considered a revolution for the industry and hopefully will keep workers at the plant employed.

Executives lend talent to state government

ACCORDING TO Stuart, amphetamines were being prescribed by weight loss centers without checking patients. "There were some real prescription mills," he said.

Under the new rules, amphetamines can be prescribed only for medical reasons — excluding weight loss.

"I worked on putting together a plan for a Great Lakes conference, probably in September, on prescription drug diversion."

"The reason behind the conference is to inform and update the general population as well as the medical profession and educators with the problems of drug diversion, what we are doing in Michigan, and bringing in some outsiders to discuss what other states are doing," he said.

PART WAY through his six-month stint, which started in November and ends in May, Howe was transferred to the Department of Labor. Soon after Stuart went to her new department.

At the Labor Department, with 900 employees and an annual budget of $245 million, Stuart worked on a "generic guide" to put conferences together.

"All the departments and bureaus up there are always involved in conferences and seminars or meetings. The generic plan for conferences will be available in all of state government," he said.

The move to the Labor Department also did something else.

"The sheer size of the department gave me a different look at state government," he said.

"I found a number of very highly skilled women in positions of responsibility in state government, much more so than private industry," said the father of three daughters.

"I have been very impressed by their ability. We in the private sector don't always see women given the chances they are given in Lansing."

STUART BELIEVES the corps experience is valuable and would highly recommend it.

"The bottom line is it helps all of us. We get a better understanding of state government, and we're able to communicate that and bring it back to our peers and associates.

"We get a better idea where to go for help in state government. Also you develop one-to-one relationships with people so you know who's on the other end of the line when you call up to Lansing.

"From my viewpoint, although I've been able to contribute a great deal, my enthusiasm that I'm bringing back is more valuable, and from that point the experience has been extremely successful."

Stuart believes the same is true of the other corps participants.

"All eight of us had different experiences, but we all shared the basic feelings, the stereotype feelings about government that were changed. We all are very high on the program."

OTHERS PARTICIPATING in the second corps program were:

• Jack L. Butterick of Fremont, an assistant marketing manager for Gerber Products.

• John K. Heitchue of Mount Clemens, director of revenue inventory audit division of Detroit Edison.

• Thomas N. Clarke of Northville, payroll and employee benefit director for Cadillac Division of General Motors.

• Joe Roberts of Midland, business systems manager for Dow Chemical.

• Jacob R. Sawka of Troy, division manager for labor relations of Michigan Bell Telephone.

• Heinz P. Topol of Northville, area manager for employment of the Automobile Club of Michigan.

• Larry F. Zimmerman of Kentwood, employee benefits supervisor of Steelcase.

Participation in the program would be generated through a special assessment — either based on square footage, front footage or another formula. Besides paying for a coordinated advertising campaign, the funds could be used for paying for lighting, parking or other projects.

Commissioner Mary Childs said the act would be a good way for solving parking problems in Old Village.

The Commission directed Graper to compile more information on the act and forward it to the Chamber and Old Village Association.

Trustees consider appraisal work bid

Plymouth Township is looking into conducting ongoing property appraisals for property tax purposes.

Township trustees will be asked to review and approve a request for bids for appraisal services at Tuesday night's regular meeting.

The township recently went through a complete reassessment of residential property following an appeal of the State Equalized Valuation (SEV) factor.

In the proposed bid draft, Supervisor Maurice Breen explains the township "is interested in having all non-exempt real property and non-exempt personal property assessments maintained on an annual basis."

The successful bidder will provide personnel to conduct all phases of the appraisal work, including making determinations on fair market values, filling out property tax reporting forms, assisting the Board of Review, and other related duties.

A three-year contract for the work will be awarded to the lowest bidder.

Currently the work is being performed by the Wayne County Appraisal Co. in Westland. Wayne County Appraisal was retained to conduct the recent reassessment and has maintained the tax rolls since.

WAYNE COUNTY Appraisal also appears on the communications portion of Tuesday night's agenda. Company president Glenn Shaw has forwarded a letter which refutes accusations of real property assessment inequities made by resident Jim McKeon.

"Mr. McKeon is ignorant of both the methods of the current assessors for Plymouth Township and the function of the Board of Review," Shaw states.

In a letter to the Board of Trustees, McKeon had suggested the Board of Review employ a "random selection" process for selecting properties for on-site inspections.

Shaw wasn't certain how a random selection process would aid the Board of Review and went on to explain the process currently used.

"Dwellings are not assessed on the basis of a site plan and building permit information. The property is visited, measured, and graded in a system containing approximately 40 grades based on the quality of construction and the features both custom and standard.

"THE BOARD of Review neither assess nor appraises property," Shaw states.

"The board generally confines itself to receiving information on particular properties from taxpayers, checking the information with the assessor and making a determination on the particular property for that tax year.

"If in its opinion an error has been made, it corrects the error," he wrote.

"If Mr. McKeon knows of many inequities in property values, he should point them out to the assessors so that they might be corrected.

"We would be happy to review his list of properties needing both upward and downward adjusting and his reasoning," Shaw states.

"We certainly desire all residences be as near to 50 percent (of market value) as possible within the confines of a mass appraisal system."

Student journalists pull down awards in contests

Three national writing awards have been earned by student journalist Marjorie McClennen, a junior in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

McClennen has won awards from the American Newspaper Publishers Association (ANPA) Foundation, a Gold Circle award from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, and a gold key from the Quill and Scroll competition.

McClennen is a staff writer for the CEP Perspective, the student newspaper at Plymouth Centennial Educational Park (CEP).

THE GOLD CIRCLE awards presented by Columbia Scholastic Press Association also were earned by three other staff members of the CEP Perspective.

Brian Zubatch, a senior at Plymouth

Salem High, was awarded second place for his graphic art work. McClennen of Plymouth Canton High earned a second place award for her feature article, "She Chose to Keep the Baby" — the story of a high school student who became pregnant and made the decision to keep her child.

Columbia awarded a certificate of merit (fourth place rating) to Chris Olson, Canton High senior, for her photograph "Life On The Edge," and Doug Drake was awarded a certificate of merit for his book review, "Mailers Stumbles With 'Tough Guys Don't Dance'."

The CEP Perspective also was awarded a second place by the Columbia student press group for its feature page design.

McClennen earned a second place award from the ANPA Foundation for her "She Chose to Keep the Baby" feature.

"The ANPA is a very prestigious contest," said Rosalind Stark, publications editor of the ANPA, "Marjorie should be very proud." Her story was chosen one of the top winners from some 4,093 entries nationwide.

The ANPA Foundation contest is for high school students only. There are only eight first place winners and eight second place winners in the U.S. "To be among the top 16 winners out of more than 4,000 entries is quite an accomplishment," added Stark.

McClennen's third award was a gold key from Quill and Scroll International Honor Society for High School Journalists for her feature story, "When Plymouth Brushed with the Constitution."

That feature retold the story of Plymouth police arresting Plymouth High School students for circulating an underground newspaper in the city and the lawsuit which followed.

She was one of 207 students out of 3,470 who received this national award from Quill and Scroll. In the features category there were 30 winners and 551 entries. Quill and Scroll is the magazine published by Sigma Delta Chi, the professional journalism society for students and working journalists.

"It's quite an achievement for Marjorie," said Diane Roberts, office manager for Quill and Scroll, "to be recognized as a national winner for her feature story. That's a great accomplishment."

Stranded driver thanks helpers

To the editor:
I would like to award the "Good Apple Award" to three great fellows who got my car started for me on Saturday.

March 23. The alternator belt needed help and they were near the Grange Hall when I told them my car wouldn't start.

They refused any compensation. The car worked fine and I got home OK, thanks to them. (I'm a new resident here and like it).

● SPECIAL OLYMPICS

Special Olympics, an international program of physical fitness, sport training and athletic competition for mentally impaired children and adults, is being formed in the Plymouth-Canton area. Anyone interested in participating should contact a representative of the Special Education Parent Advisory Committee (SEPA) at 455-7684 or 420-0509.

● SEEKING DISCOUNTS

During April representatives from the Plymouth Community Council on Aging Inc. will be contacting new merchants to become participants in the Senior Discount Program.

● SPRING OPEN SKATING

Open skating at the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer, is operating under the following spring schedule through Thursday, May 16:

1-2:50 p.m. on Mondays; 8:30-11:40 a.m., 12:50-2:50 p.m. and 6-7 p.m. on Tuesdays; 1-2:50 p.m. Wednesdays; 8:30-10:40 a.m., 10:50 a.m. to 12:50 p.m. and 5-6 p.m. Thursdays; 9:30-10:40 a.m., 10:50 a.m. to 12:50 p.m., 1-2:50 p.m., and 8-9:50 p.m. on Fridays; and 2:30-4 p.m. on Saturdays.

Anyone with questions may call the recreation department at 455-6620.

● ART IN PARK

Art in the Park, held the past three years in conjunction with the Mayflower Hot Air Balloon Festival, will be held in 1985 even if the festival is canceled. Art in the Park is a juried show which will be held in Kellogg Park July 6, 7. For further information, or for an entry application, contact Show Director Diane Quinn at 453-0001 or the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce at 453-1540.

● FOURTH OF JULY

Plans are being made for the 1985 Fourth of July celebration in Plymouth featuring a parade and fireworks sponsored by the Plymouth Jaycees. Last year, the parade attracted some 4,500 spectators and the fireworks some 25,500 persons, according to Fred Eagle, parade co-chairman. The parade will begin at 10 a.m. Thursday, July 4. Parade entry forms soon will be available at Plymouth City Hall or Plymouth Township Hall or by calling Eagle at 464-6797. The parade also needs donations from businesses to cover the expenses of the parade. Send donations to: Plymouth Jaycees, c/o 1985 Fourth of July Parade, 14728 Ronnie Lane, Livonia MI 48154.

● SOAPSTONE CARVING

A rare soapstone collection is on exhibit through April 24 at the Plymouth Historical Museum, 155 S. Main at Church. Soapstone carving, a "cottage industry" of China passed down from one generation to the next, dates back to the Sung Dynasty (960-1279 A.D.). Also on exhibit is the museum's ivory collection (also carved in China); rocks, minerals and fossils displayed by the Plymouth Rock and Mineral Society; and children's chairs (1800s) including highchairs, rocking chairs, and potty chairs. The museum is open 1-4 p.m. Thursday, Saturday and Sunday. Admission.

● SCHOOLCRAFT SCHOLARS

Applications now are being accepted for the 1985-86 Schoolcraft College Presidential Scholarships. Recipients receive $500 their first year at Schoolcraft, and the awards are renewed for the second year if the student completes 26 credit hours with a minimum of a 2.5 grade point average. For applications or information, call the Schoolcraft College Financial Aid Office at 591-6400, Ext. 350.

● STATE TAX GUIDE

The Michigan Taxpayer's Guide, a booklet with helpful hints on filling out this year's tax forms, is available at post offices and banks, or by writing state Rep. Gerald Law, State Capitol, Lansing 48909 or calling Law at 1-517-373-3816. The guide contains information on property taxes, the property tax credit, the Michigan income tax, the single business tax and other tax-related subjects.

● INCOME TAX FORMS

Although most taxpayers receive a tax package from the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) by mail, the forms they receive may not meet all their needs. If you experience that problem as you prepare your 1984 tax report, the forms you need may be at the Plymouth Post Office. Office-in-Charge Vernon Raccine says that changes in filing status, capital gains or losses, or profit and loss on a business may require the taxpayer to seek IRS forms which are not included in the package. "We have many forms for these situations at the post office," adds Raccine.

● 'RIDE WITH US'

Plymouth Area Citizen's Team (PACT) is looking for new members. Take a ride with a PACT member and see how the team of volunteers works. For more information, call 455-5396.

● WEATHER SPOTTERS

Training meetings are from 9 a.m. to noon on the fourth Saturday of each month at Plymouth Township Hall.

Mill at Ann Arbor Road. Volunteers are trained by the Plymouth Township Office of Emergency Preparedness as severe weather spotters. As part of the area's early warning system, the volunteers are trained to spot and report emergency weather situations such as tornadoes, severe wind or hail storms.

● VETERANS PROGRAM EXTENDED

Area Vietnam era and disabled veterans should be aware of recent changes affecting the Veterans Readjustment Appointments (VRA) program. VRA is a federal hiring program providing special, non-competitive hiring of these veterans. Originally scheduled to expire Sept. 30, 1984, the program has been extended through Sept. 30, 1986, through passage of the Veterans Benefits Improvement Act (PL 98-543). It is not expected that the VRA program will be extended beyond that date.

In addition to extending the program, PL 98-543 raised the entry grade level maximum from GS/WG-7 to GS/WG-9 and also provided limited appeal rights during the first year of appointment. A Vietnam era or disabled veteran who has completed no more than 14 years of education may qualify for a VRA. (This restriction may be waived for disabled veterans). For further information, interested veterans may call the local American Legion hotline at 453-9494 and leave a message regarding information desired.

● CPR TRAINING

The Community Education Department of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools will be conducting CPR Instructor Training classes for persons who have completed the full course in CPR and currently have a valid CPR card. The Community Education Department has provided free CPR classes for a number of years. To continue this, more CPR instructors are needed. For that reason, the department is seeking currently trained CPR personnel to devote 12 more hours to receive their instructor's card. Anyone interested in becoming a CPR instructor may call the department at 451-6660.

● CANTON HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Canton Historical Society at 7:30 p.m. meets the second Thursday of each month in the Canton Historical Society Museum on Canton Center Road at Proctor.

● COMPUTERS IN LIBRARY

Four Apple IIe computers are available for public use in the Dunning-Hough Library, 223 S. Main, Plymouth. Children younger than age 14 will be required to attend a training workshop or pass a users test. Children younger than age 8 must be accompanied by a parent while using the computer. All patrons must have a library card and must sign a responsibility card also signed by a parent or guardian. Once the responsibility card is on file at the library, patrons may reserve computer time and software. Rules and instructions for using the computers, the responsibility card, and a list of software are available at the library. For more information, call 453-0750.

● MINOR HOME REPAIRS

The Conference of Western Wayne Minor Home Repair Program has been funded through Senior Alliance Inc., for fiscal year 1985. The program assists persons 60 and older and owning their home with minor home repair tasks. For information, call 525-8690.

● DIABETIC SUPPORT

A Diabetic Support Group will begin meeting 7-8 p.m. the third Monday of each month at Oakwood Hospital Canton Center at Warren and Canton Center Roads in Canton.

● ON-THE-JOB TRAINING

The employment program of the Wayne County Office on Aging is accepting applications for on-the-job training programs. The programs include on-the-job training with pay for a variety of positions in such fields as health care, sales, secretarial, clerical and maintenance. Assistance is provided for job search skills, resume writing, interview techniques, self-confidence building and goal setting. Eligibility criteria includes age 55 or older, low income, resident of Wayne County (excluding downriver and Detroit). For information, contact Herbert Alexander or Larry Gentile at 467-3454.

● BLOOD PRESSURE CHECKS

● CPR CLASS

CPR Heart Saver classes are taught the second Monday of each month at 7 p.m. in Oakwood Hospital Canton Center, Warren at Canton Center Road. This course covers one-person CPR on an adult, and what to do for a person with an obstructed airway.

● STUDENT OF MONTH

The Plymouth Elks will be honoring a student of the month for April and in May a student of the year. Students may apply or may be nominated by another student, teacher or member of the community. Students will be selected on the basis of any of the following: achievement, character, leadership, service, citizenship or scholarship.

● NEW HORIZONS

New Horizons, a sharing exchange for mothers, will meet the second and fourth Fridays of each month 9:30-11:30 a.m. at Faith Moravian Community Church, 46001 Warren west of Canton Center Road. For information, call Mary at 455-8221.

● CRISIS COUNSELING

If you want help in solving a problem, are looking for a referral, or need information about drugs or alcohol, counselors at Turning Point Counseling and Crisis Intervention Center can help you. Counselors are available 6:30-10:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Other hours are available by appointment. Phone 455-4900.

Turning Point is a non-profit community service of Growth Works Inc. which offers crisis intervention and counseling.

● BEGINNING STRING CLASS

The beginning string class for students in grades four to six will meet 6:30 p.m. each Tuesday in the music room of Plymouth Salem High. Janita Hawk, string specialist at Madonna College and Ladywood High School, will be teaching the beginner lessons for violin, viola, cello and string bass. Tuition for the group lessons will be $50 for the 1984-85 school year. Some instruments will be available at a moderate rental fee.

Golf course acquired during McLaren's 2nd term

(Part 8)

In November 1974 when J.D. McLaren was supervisor, the Plymouth Township Board made another major acquisition — it agreed to buy the 9-hole Hilltop Golf Course which abutted Township Park.

The purchase was made from the estate of Margaret Volbrecht whose husband, an industrialist, had purchased it some years before. The township made a down payment on the $383,508 cost of the 63-acre golf course. Sometime later it contracted with Danny Ross to operate the course.

A RECURRING problem, that of policing the township, came up in 1975.

For several years Plymouth Township officials had been getting complaints from residents that police protection was inadequate. At that time the township still was relying for protection on a one-car road patrol detached from the Wayne County Sheriff's department.

In response to citizen pressure, Plymouth and Canton Townships sued the Wayne County Board of Commissioners and Sheriff William Lucas. They charged that the level of protection provided by the Sheriff's road patrol was inadequate and that the number of deputies provided to this area should be augmented.

The townships' position was that the sheriff was under legal duty to furnish a road patrol of 28 deputies or greater for use in the area he covered, and that the Board of Commissioners was under legal duty to provide funds for such an operation.

The townships lost this one. Wayne Circuit Judge Thomas J. Foley dismissed the lawsuit, indicating that the townships would have to pay for extra police protection if they expected to have any.

Prior to the lawsuit, Plymouth Township had asked the City of Plymouth how much it would charge to provide the township with police protection.

past and present

Sam Hudson

When it was told that the cost would be in the neighborhood of $575,000 annually, the township decided to get along with the one-car Sheriff's patrol.

ONE OF THE last events during McLaren's four-year tenure as township supervisor was the moving, in July 1976, of the giant, mushroom-like water tower in the Lake Pointe subdivision.

Described as one of the major engineering feats in local history, the move was supervised by Township Engineer Herald Hamill. The state paid the cost because the move was made necessary by construction of I-275 expressway.

The 150-ton tower was uprooted, moved across an open field on beams and rollers, and planted against its new site behind the new Wilcox Road fire station, also built at state expense.

McLaren chose not to run for election in 1976, telling the press he thought it was time for a change. In the year following he sold the last of his businesses.

McLaren died at age 64 in March 1980. His widow, Billie, still lives on Beacon Hill and his mother, Marion McLaren, in the city on Ann Arbor Trail. As an avid golfer, it is my unbiased opinion that the most important achievement of the township during McLaren's administration was the acquisition of the Hilltop Golf Course which since has been expanded to 18 holes.

THOMAS G. NOTEBAERT succeeded McLaren as supervisor in the fall of 1976 at age 54. He was re-elected in 1978.

A native of Detroit, of Belgian descent, Notebaert graduated from Holy Redeemer High in Detroit and studied engineering at the University of Illinois as part of a U.S. Army program during World War II. During his three years in the Army he saw action with the 104th Infantry Division of the First Army in France, Belgium, Holland and Germany.

Prior to the war, Notebaert clerked at the National Bank of Detroit, worked in the Cadillac Motor Car factory, and was an expeditor for the U.S. Rubber Company.

After the war, he worked for an uncle whose Ford dealership in Michigan.

Notebaert opened his own Dodge-Plymouth auto dealership on Forest Avenue in Plymouth in 1946, later moving it to S. Main at Sutherland.

In 1949, he married Rita Bruckner of Detroit. They live on Woodgate Drive in the township and have two grown children, Craig and Michelle.

It was during Notebaert's administration, in 1979, that Plymouth Township succeeded in preventing further attempts at annexation by the city.

Prior to 1979, Plymouth Township was a general law township. In that year it became eligible, with the change in the law, to become a charter township. Because it already had a fire department, all it had to do to meet the requirements was to contract with the Wayne County Sheriff's department for police service. This was done and the threat of annexation was a thing of the past.

Fond memories of that Opening Day way back in 1924

From his seat high up in the pressbox at Tiger Stadium this afternoon, unless the weatherman deems otherwise, The Stroller will be looking down on the playing field and living in memory of the outstanding stars of other years.

As he awaits the call of "Play Ball!" to send the Tigers into action, he will recall the first visit to what was then Navin Field and the sight of the immortal Ty Cobb swinging his three bats as he came to the plate.

It was in 1924 and to get to the lofty pressbox, one had to climb a ladder and then master a cat walk to get to his

the stroller
W.W. Edgar

seat in the working press row.

And while he thrilled at seeing Cobb for the first time, he also will be remembering the sight of Lou Blue at first base. He was the smoothest operator at that bag the Tigers ever had.

BUT AS THE years went on and The Stroller never missed the opener, he saw all of the stars and those who stood out above the others.

And now when he sees Sparky Anderson walk out to the pitcher's mound, he can't help recalling the sight of Hughie Jennings when he coached at third base in the '20s and let out a yell of "Eh yeh" each time he sought attention.

On that first visit to the stadium, it never dawned on The Stroller that the day would come when he would be covering all the details of the game and traveling with the team.

But that happened and the memory of those days never will be forgotten. This was during the reign of Mickey Cochrane as the manager and there seldom was a game that didn't provide a thrill and a memory.

FOR INSTANCE, there was the campaign of 1934 when the Tigers won their first pennant in 25 years and earned the right to meet the St. Louis Cardinals in the World Series.

Never can he forget the day the Cardinals, with the immortal Dizzy Dean, arrived at the stadium to open the series.

The Tigers had just finished practice when there was a roar from the right field section. In walked a rangy fellow with a large cowboy hat. He let out a yell and everyone knew it was Dean.

He jumped over the railing and headed toward the plate. Then he picked up a bat and yelled, "throw me one." The pitcher did and Dean hit the ball into deep right field.

"You guys are going to be easy," he said, and walked away.

That was the signal that the series would be a wild one. And Dizzy had the honor of pitching the deciding game to beat the Tigers.

THEN CAME the next year when little Tommy Bridges gained a place in Tiger history.

The Tigers battled the Chicago Cubs on even terms and the seventh and deciding game was played at the corner of Michigan and Trumbull.

Came the ninth inning and the first man up tripled for the Cubs. A great sigh went up from the crowd and it looked like curtains for the Tigers.

But little Tommy Bridges went to work and fanned the last batter. When the game was over and the Tigers had won, Mickey Cochrane described the thrill by saying, "Little Tommy threw his heart up there. It was just great."

Just prior to that, Cochrane scored what was to be the winning run when he came in from third base when Goose Goslin came through with his "bloop" hit. It was a bit of a blow over second base. But it won the game and got "Goose" in the Detroit Hall of Fame.

Oh, what memories there will be as we sit there high up in the press box to await the opener — and hope it, too, will provide some memorable thrills.

Health-O-Rama was a real big success

To the editor:
Oakwood Hospital Canton Center and Plymouth-Canton Community Education Department would like to thank the 104 volunteers who gave their time and energy to help us with Project Health-O-Rama.

We had the best Health-O-Rama ever — almost 1,300 residents took advantage of the free health screening and blood tests. This represents a 300-percent increase over last year's total of 400.

Those who participated in the health screening paid many compliments to the volunteers who worked so diligently to make this event an incredible success.

Everyone who volunteered should feel great pride that they contributed to the betterment of their community. Many of the Health-O-Rama participants were given referrals to physicians. Perhaps that early detection of a potential health hazard will make a difference in the quality of their lives.

Again, we wish to thank you all for your assistance — it made all the difference.

Auto sales rise in Plymouth

By W.W. Edger
staff writer

Proof that the economy is on the rise is shown by the sale of new automobiles in the Plymouth community.

With the arrival of spring when sales will be high, the Plymouth dealers were pleased with the results of an unofficial survey taken this week showing an average of 75 cars are sold each day in the city and township.

The dealers, while pleased with the showing thus far, were quick to explain that this average would be higher if it wasn't so difficult to acquire imported cars.

All of the dealers except one — Blackwell Ford — provided their monthly sales totals.

It was pointed out that these sales were made despite the fact the sales rooms were not open on Saturdays and Sundays. Also, the survey did not include the sale of used cars which would have boosted the average much higher.

Don Massey Cadillac led the way with an average of 35 car sales a day. And, Massey added, his dealership is set up to handle 60 cars a day.

Two other dealers — Honda and Subaru — were quick to point out that these foreign cars were difficult to get and their sales would skyrocket if the cars were available.

HERE ARE the unofficial survey figures which show that the economy is on the rise here:

CADILLAC: Massey, who sees a bright future for the automobile industry, admits his agency sells an average of 35 cars a day and could go up to 60 with the coming of spring and summer months.

CHEVROLET: Lou LaRiche reported his average sales amounted to 139 Chevrolets and 22 Subaru models. He added that the foreign cars would climb if they were readily available.

BUICK/DODGE: Dick Scott said he is watching a close race between the Buicks and Dodges, which are sold by his two dealerships on Ann Arbor Road. At present, he averages 110 cars a month in each model and is looking forward to a rise in the spring.

CHRYSLER: Fox Hills Chrysler-Plymouth sales performance has reached an average of 120 cars a month and they also expect to see a climb when the summer months are here.

FORD: For reasons known best to the sales manager, this agency refused to participate in the survey. When asked for even a ball-park number, the answer was: "We don't care to participate."

LINCOLN-MERCURY: Hines Park Lincoln-Mercury averages 135 car sales each month with plans afoot to handle 175 when the warm weather and the new models come on the scene.

HONDA: Sunshine Honda, at the time of the survey, was handling 75-95 cars a month, but would be much higher if the foreign cars were not so difficult to get. The dealership expects improvement along this line.

PONTIAC: Bob Jeannotte Pontiac reported an average of 80 cars a month at this time, but expects to see this climb to 180 when the new models and warm weather come along. The sales manager reported the agency averaged 95 cars a month last year.

So, the survey suggests, the Plymouth community is doing its part to help keep the economy on the rise.

Driver education sign up slated

Registration has been scheduled for the 1985 summer driver education classes.

Students may sign up for driver's ed May 6-10 in Room 3000 at Plymouth Salem High School. Registration will be held 2-4 p.m. each day according to the following schedule:

- Monday, May 6, for students born in March 1969 or before.
- Tuesday, May 7, for students born April through June 1969.
- Wednesday, May 8, students born July through September 1969.
- Thursday, May 9, students born October through December 1969.
- Friday, May 10, students born January through March of 1970.

Registration is based strictly on the age of each student.

Because the oldest students register first, students registering Friday, May 10, may be placed on a waiting list if classes have been filled. In case of cancellations, names will be drawn from this waiting list based on age with the older students filling any vacancies.

There will be two driver education sessions. Session I is from June 18 through July 18 and Session II will be from July 18 through Aug. 14. Any further questions can be answered by calling 451-6204.

Dentists find new 'shines' for pearlies

By W.W. Edger
staff writer

The dental profession has made many spectacular strides since the days when George Washington, our first president, was forced to wear wooden teeth.

Today, the wooden teeth are long out of use and their place has been taken by materials to meet the most demanding jobs.

When it comes to the color of fillings and shapes of the teeth, a substance is used called silver glass ionomer or commonly called TMJ.

Gary Hall, the dentist with offices on Schoolcraft Road just east of Northville Road, sat at his table the other afternoon and proudly showed the latest gem on the market.

"The women," he said, "grew to dislike the old time fillings because they turned dark. Now, this new combination that has just been placed on the market takes care of that complaint. It pleases the patient because it keeps its color and is easy to use."

HALL HELD one of the new pieces and explained that it was easy to use and would last — even with its color — for a number of years.

"And to make it more desirable," he added, "it is a lot cheaper than the old methods."

Dr. Hall then brought out another novel bit that would help those with "pinched" teeth. These are the teeth that for some reason are pressed between two good teeth.

"In the old days," he said, "it was the custom to cut a piece off the tooth and try to fit in with the others. No so today."

Then he lifted a piece of material that was porcelain and covered the entire tooth. And it fit in such a way that the cutting of a piece was spared and the tooth looked slick between its partner on each side.

"This is a great advancement," Hall commented, "because it spares the need to cut a piece off the bottom of the tooth. This new piece fits right over the old tooth and one can scarcely notice it. It is a porcelain veneer instead of a gold crown."

"THIS ALSO costs less, by a long way, than the old method of crowning the old tooth. As a matter of fact, the new style costs less than one-half the price of the old-fashioned crown."

The third improvement had to do with the children when their teeth are forming.

"Many times" he said, "the child complains of a headache up near his or her ear, or over the nose. When traced for a good reason, it is found that the child's teeth are not growing as they should."

He then showed the latest device to help in these cases and said the children can grow with good teeth if the parents catch the trouble in time.

Many people think the trouble is caused by the joint at the top of the jaw. But it is because the teeth are not growing properly.

"These latest things can almost chase us out of business," he said with a smile. "But it shows the great advancements that have been made since the days when General George Washington wore wooden teeth."

INJECTING TENDONS

A great deal of seemingly arthritic pain doesn't come from joints, but from tendons anchoring about the joints.

The discomfort comes from strain and old injury to the tendons. Repair goes on intermittently over a period of years; at any time calcium may be laid down in the involved area as part of the healing process. This calcium, or an addition to it, can become a source of irritation.

Experience has shown physicians that in such circumstances, steroid injections into the inflamed tendon are effective, as they interrupt the cycle of pain and irritation.

Such injections are free of serious side effects since the steroid required is too small to disrupt the body's own hormone activity. Care in placing the needle makes the possibility of causing a rent in the tendon a rare occurrence.

Finally, injection is preferable to drugs, as injection brings all the medication used to the location where it is needed.

SPRING DINNER

COUNTRY INN STYLE

For gracious, comfortable dining, there's nothing like an old country inn. Americans love the ambiance created by old stone fireplaces, antiques and polished woods. Even the foods served have a special charm.

The Beekman Arms in Rhinebeck, New York, is the epitome of a fine country inn. The Executive Chef, Bruce Harms, takes American classics such as roasted lamb, rice and cranberries and makes subtle changes that insure that the food is in step with the culinary times.

"Bone the leg of lamb before roasting for easier slicing," Chef Harms suggests. "Never overcook lamb," he adds. "Cook to an internal temperature of 140° for rare, 150° to 155° for medium. Baste it with a cranberry-orange glaze while cooking for a moist, succulent and unique flavor."

Rice also takes on a different taste when it is cooked in a flavored liquid such as chicken broth or orange juice. For this menu, orange flavoring is added to complement the lamb basting sauce and add a festive light coloring to the rice dish.

For the perfect finishing touch, cranberries, a native American fruit, are combined with a nouvelle favorite, white chocolate mousse. The tangy and tart cranberry sauce is an excellent contrast to the sweetness of the mousse.

CRANBERRY-ORANGE GLAZE FOR LEG OF LAMB

- |   |                          |
|---|--------------------------|
| 1 boned, rolled and tied leg of lamb (5 pounds) | 1/2 teaspoon sage leaves |
| 1/2 teaspoon marjoram leaves                    | 1 clove garlic, slivered |
| 1/2 teaspoon rosemary leaves                    | 1 medium onion, chopped  |
| 1/2 teaspoon thyme leaves                       | 1 stalk celery, chopped  |
|   | 1 medium carrot, chopped |

Before tying, rub lamb with marjoram, rosemary, thyme, and sage. Cut 1/4 inch deep slits in leg; insert garlic slivers, roll and tie. Place chopped onions, celery, and carrots in bottom of roasting pan; place lamb on top. Cook 1-1/2 hours at 350°, or until meat thermometer registers 140° for rare (150° to 155° for medium). Brush with Cranberry-Orange Glaze last half hour. Serve lamb with remaining glaze. Serve with Orange Rice. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

Cranberry-Orange Glaze

- |  |                                  |
|--|----------------------------------|
| 2 jars (14 ounces each) cranberry-orange sauce | 2 cups orange juice              |
|  | 4 ounces (1/2 cup) Grand Marnier |

In large saucepan, combine ingredients; heat, stirring, to melt.

Orange Rice

- |                                   |                              |
|-----------------------------------|------------------------------|
| 1 cup uncooked rice               | 1/2 cup dry white wine       |
| 2 tablespoons butter or margarine | Grated peel of 1 orange      |
| 1/2 teaspoon salt                 | Juice of 1 orange            |
| 1-1/2 cups boiling chicken broth  | Salt and ground white pepper |

Combine rice, butter, and salt in baking dish. Stir in chicken broth and wine. Cover and bake at 350° for 25 minutes (35 minutes for parboiled rice), or until rice is tender and liquid is absorbed. Stir in orange peel and juice. Return to oven for 10 minutes. Season to taste. Fluff with a fork and sprinkle with parsley or slivered almonds, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

HEARTLAND LAMB STEW IN RICE RING

- |   |  |
|---|--|
| 3 pounds lamb shoulder, bone-in, cut into 1-1/2 inch pieces | 1/4 teaspoon dried rosemary              |
| 3 tablespoons vegetable oil                                 | 1 small bay leaf, crushed                |
| 1/3 cup flour   | 1 cup water                              |
| 1 tablespoon sugar  | 3 carrots, cut in thick slices           |
| 2 teaspoons salt  | 6 medium turnips, quartered              |
| 1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper                            | 1 package (10 ounces) frozen green beans |
| 1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes                                  | 6 cups hot cooked rice                   |
| 2 medium onions, quartered                                  | 1 cup grated Cheddar cheese              |
| 1 clove garlic, minced                                      | 1/4 teaspoon ground white pepper         |
| 3 whole cloves  |  |

In oven-proof Dutch oven, brown lamb in oil. Pour off drippings. In small bowl or cup, mix together flour, sugar, salt, and black pepper. Sprinkle over lamb; stir Catering to travellers since 1766, the Beekman Arms in Rhinebeck, New York, has always been known for its charm, comfort and excellent cuisine. Much of the colonial and 19th century atmosphere remains.

The menu is a blend of the old and the new. Roasts of all types have been featured regularly since the Inn was a stage coach stop. Today, a different roast is served every day, with lamb the special for Thursdays throughout the year. A favorite since olden days, rice is updated in a variety of ways to complement menu items daily.

The Inn is famous for its desserts—cheesecake, bread pudding with whiskey sauce and chocolate mousse. The chef also makes a white chocolate mousse layered with a cranberry sauce.

Chef Bruce Harms of Beekman Arms, one of the oldest inns in the country, suggests starting Easter dinner with smoked trout, followed by boned roasted lamb basted with a cranberry-orange sauce, orange flavored rice and a vegetable bowl of snowpeas, onions, broccoli and carrots. For dessert, a white chocolate mousse is layered with a colorful cranberry sauce.

well. Add tomatoes, onions, garlic, cloves, rosemary, bay leaf, and water. Cover, bake at 350° for 40 minutes. Add carrots and turnips. Bake covered, another 10 minutes. Correct seasonings, if necessary. Add beans, cover, and bake 10 minutes longer, or until meat and vegetables are tender. Combine rice, cheese, and white pepper. Pack firmly into well-buttered 6-cup ring mold. Unmold onto serving plate. Fill center with lamb stew. Makes 6 servings.

WHITE CHOCOLATE MOUSSE

- |                                 |
|---------------------------------|
| 12 ounces white chocolate       |
| 1/4 cup butter or margarine     |
| 3 tablespoons amaretto          |
| 1-1/2 teaspoons vanilla extract |
| 3 egg yolks, beaten             |
| 1 cup heavy cream, whipped      |
| 5 egg whites                    |

Break chocolate into pieces. Place in top of double boiler; add butter. Cook over hot water until chocolate melts. Remove from heat. Stir in amaretto and vanilla. Cool. Stir in egg yolks. Fold chocolate mixture into whipped cream. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Fold carefully but thoroughly into chocolate mixture. Turn into a glass dessert bowl or individual sherbet dishes. Let stand in refrigerator at least 12 hours. Serve with Brandied Cranberry Sauce. Mousse and sauce can be layered as shown in picture. Note: If white chocolate cannot be found in your supermarket, look for it in a candy store. Makes 12 to 16 servings.

Brandied Cranberry Sauce

- |   |
|---|
| 1 can (16 ounces) Whole Berry Cranberry Sauce |
| 2 tablespoons amaretto                        |

In a saucepan, melt whole berry cranberry sauce over low heat. Break up with a wooden spoon, stirring well. Remove from heat. Stir in amaretto. Put mixture through food processor.

Oriental cookery doesn't have to be mysterious

Restaurants have long purveyed the delights of Oriental cookery to an avid American public. With Cantonese restaurants leading the way, before many of the staunchest devotees of the Oriental way of dining were even born, there has been an endless stream of restaurants introducing adventurous diners to an ever-fascinating succession of dishes and cuisines.

Thus, Americans are eating with confidence the foods of countries as diverse as India and Japan, Korea, Thailand and Vietnam.

However, all too often, that confidence falters when it comes to cooking. Individuals who prepare Mexican, Italian, French and Greek foods as a matter of course, and even condescend on occasion to wok up a simple, stir-fried Chinese dish, still hesitate when it comes to taking up the chopsticks to recreate the cuisines of China's neighbors, near and far.

This occurs for a variety of reasons: Many of the ingredients are unfamiliar, the techniques confusing, the necessary equipment daunting.

However, this need not be so, as Jennifer Brennan proves in her recently published volume, "The Cuisines of Asia" (St. Martin's/Marek, $19.95).

Brennan sets out to and succeeds in demystifying Oriental cookery, making it more accessible to the many eager home cooks by breaking it down by technique rather than country of origin, and by creating recipes around ingredients which are widely available across the country. The result is to instill a feeling of confidence and the ability to improvise, mix and match.

THE COUNTRIES covered in Brennan's volume are China, India, Indonesia, Japan, Korea, Malaysia, The Philippines, Thailand and Vietnam.

The techniques which provide the backbone for these varied cuisines range from barbecuing to stir-frying, and include methods as diverse as currying and deep frying, steaming and simmering, plus baking (a brief excursion into Oriental bread-making) and creating dishes around the array of Oriental noodles which are currently gaining favor in this country.

Brennan begins by carefully discussing the necessary equipment for Oriental culinary endeavors, and goes on to provide sketches of the countries and cuisines covered in the volume: An attempt to stimulate the taste buds and the imagination, to bring to life the cuisines of the East, to simulate a sensory journey through the Orient.

General techniques — boning a chicken, cutting methods, creating vegetable garnishes — are covered next, then Brennan swings into the area of basics — sauces, marinades, spice mixes, won ton dough.

The chapters that follow are the meat of the book. "Souped Up" takes the reader/cook from China (Hot and Sour Meat Soup) — to India (Mulligatawny, or Indian Curry Soup), by way of Japan (Spinach Soup with Eggs) and the Philippines (Hearty Chicken Soup from the Philippines).

"The Knack of Snacking" seizes as its subject the wide range of Oriental finger foods — made in advance and sold by vendors in markets, food shops and on the street, to be eaten "on the run."

Chinese Egg Rolls are perhaps the most familiar of these savorys. Others which Brennan includes are Malaysian Curry Puffs, Steamed Pork Dumplings and Cooked Shrimp Sushi.

ENTICING AND still largely unknown in North America are Oriental salads, the subject of the chapter "Dressed to Fill."

The dressings Brennan recounts are from all corners of the Orient, and range from Japanese Miso Dressing and Korean Thin Salad Dressing from Indonesia, and Indian Spiced Yogurt Dressings and a Malaysian specialty: Thick Coconut Salad Dressing.

Prepared salads include a Chinese Radish and Carrot Curl Salad, Sweet and Sour Fresh Cucumber Salad from Thailand, and Japanese Turnip Chrysanthemum and Carrot Salad.

"Full Steam Ahead" focuses on Oriental steaming techniques, and the dishes covered range from a Korean Stuffed Steam Squid with Dipping Sauce to Whole, Steamed Fish with Spiced Ginger Sauce from China.

Other chapters, other specialties, some more familiar, some less so. Thus, "Stirringly Fried" brings us Philippine Chicken and Pineapple Adobo and Szechuan Stir-Fried Cabbage with Hot Peppers, and "Fried to a Crisp," Japanese Vegetable and Shrimp Fritters (Tempura) and Philippine Deep-Fried Stuffed Crabs.

Curry is not simply Indian in origin, a fact which Brennan resoundingly proves in her chapter entitled "Curry-ing Favor," which ranges through Indonesia, Thailand and Malaysia, as well.

Simmering is the subject of "Slow and Tender," which focuses on dishes as diverse as a Japanese Beef and Vegetable Fondue and the rich and savory Indian Whole Chicken with Spices, Moghul Style.

SATAYS (SKEWERED, marinated meats) from Indonesia, Malaysia and Thailand are the stars of the Charbroiling chapter, in company with the renowned Indian dish, Tandoori (Indian Oven-Barbecued Chicken).

Noodles are not simply pasta, Oriental style, and appear in a wide variety of guises, in broth (White Flour Noodles and chicken in Broth from Japan) and fried (Philippine Egg Noodles with Meats and Vegetables).

Preserves, Breads and Desserts round out the selection, providing the punctuation to the meals and dishes at the heart of Brennan's volume.

As an overview of Oriental cuisines, the book is successful. As an attempt to integrate the sometimes confusing, sometimes daunting preparations into the routine of the American kitchen, it is even more so, making Brennan's work an important contribution to the culinary bookshelf.

VIETNAMESE STIR-FRIED CHICKEN WITH VINEGAR
Preparation time: 25 minutes
Serves 4 to 6 (with 1 other dish)
Cooking time: 20 minutes

SHOPPING AND TECHNIQUE TIPS

You should use both dark and white chicken meat for this recipe. Boned thigh meat, as well as boned chicken breasts, is now available in many meat departments, although it is far cheaper to bone your own.

INGREDIENTS
2 cups of chicken meat boned, skinned and cut into bite-sized pieces
2 green onions finely chopped
The peel of 1 lemon grated
½ tsp. of salt
½ tsp. of freshly ground black pepper
3-inch piece of fresh ginger root peeled and grated or minced
4 tbsp. of white vinegar
2 tbsp. of vegetable oil
5 cloves of garlic peeled and chopped
1 small onion peeled and finely chopped
¼ cup of water
2 tbsp. of Southeast Asian fish sauce
1 tsp. of granulated sugar
15-20 mint leaves

METHOD:

1. Place the chicken meat, green onions, lemon zest, salt and pepper in a medium mixing bowl. Mix well and let marinate for 20 minutes.

2. Place the grated ginger in a small bowl and pour the vinegar over.

3. Heat the oil in a wok over medium-high heat and stir-fry the garlic and onion until the onion is soft but not golden. Add the chicken mixture from the bowl, turn the heat to high, and fry, stirring and tossing continually, until the chicken turns white and becomes firm (about 5 minutes).

4. Now add the ginger-vinegar mixture and the water and cover. Reduce the heat to medium-low and let the chicken simmer for 5 minutes.

5. Uncover, season with the fish sauce and sugar and stir well. Let it simmer for 5 more minutes, stirring occasionally, then sprinkle with the mint leaves and stir one more time.

6. Transfer to a serving bowl and accompany with plain, boiled rice.

ADVANCE PREPARATION AND nd transferred to a casserole, covered and left in a low oven. Do not stir in the mint leaves until 5 minutes before serving time if you are keeping it in the oven.

'New' restaurant, old recipe

Lunch in Litchfield, Conn., is a unique experience. While the youngsters went down the street for pizza and a dose of video games, we ate at The Village Restaurant, which faces The Green.

The Village Green is old and looks much the same as it did in the 1770s, when it was laid out. The Village Restaurant is fairly new — it has been serving meals since 1890.

Like most of the buildings in the historic town, the restaurant is painted white. Inside, the place is packed: two dining rooms connected by a hallway in the back.

We decided on four orders of Veal

Marengo, somewhat of a historic dish that dates back to 1800. Napoleon scored one of his greatest victories that June 14 at the Italian village of Marengo over the Austrians that led to the cession of northern Italy to France.

You'll find the recipe for Veal Marengo mostly in French cookbooks. It basically consists of cubed veal, usually cut from the less expensive shoulder, white wine, onion, tomatoes and mushrooms, cooked in a sauce.

I prepared the dish at home and served it over rice, just like at the restaurant. I also used more wine and less tomato flavoring; you can reverse the proportions.

If you happen to have dinner at The Village Restaurant, your meal will be cooked to order — just like at home.

VEAL MARENGO

¼ cup cooking oil
2 lbs. boneless veal, cubed
1 onion, finely chopped
1 garlic clove, finely chopped
1 cup dry white wine
1 cup beef broth
3 tbsp. tomato sauce
1 bay leaf
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. dried thyme
¼ tsp. dried rosemary

¼ tsp. black pepper
½ lb. fresh mushrooms, sliced
1 tbsp. lemon juice
3 tbsp. butter

Heat oil in large Dutch oven, add veal, saute and remove cubes as browned. Add onion and garlic, saute 5 minutes. Stir in wine, broth, tomato sauce, bay leaf and seasonings, return veal, bring just to boil, reduce heat to medium low, cover and cook 1 hour. Toss mushrooms with lemon juice, saute briefly in hot butter in skillet, add to veal mixture and cook 15 minutes; remove bay leaf. Serve with rice, garnish with parsley. Serves 5-6.

WE FEATURE USDA CHOICE MEATS

This goulash is an ideal make-ahead meal

Whether you are trying to determine the menus for the upcoming week or organizing a special "company" dinner, careful planning will help you make the most of a limited amount of time.

With today's busy schedules, it is often impossible to spend hours in elaborate meal preparation. Fortunately, creative, wholesome and attractive dishes are not prohibitively time-consuming.

By organizing your kitchen time effectively and coordinating related cooking projects, the food preparation process can be streamlined and the last-minute rush to decide what to make for dinner can be averted.

Although it may be unrealistic to plan to spend several uninterrupted hours in daily meal preparation; devoting some time to planning ahead and cooking during weekends (or whenever you choose during the week), will not only be beneficial in the days to come but will also allow you to have the pleasurable freedom of cooking under a less pressured schedule.

Not every part of every meal can be adapted to be of the ideal "make-ahead" variety. But, for each meal, there is generally something that can be prepared in advance, or a special touch that can be added with little extra fuss, provided it has been prepared previously.

BASIC SOUP, stocks are easily frozen and reheated when the occasion arises, and are perhaps the most classic of make-ahead foods. But, don't let your creativity end there.

The homemade rolls baked weeks ago can be defrosted and warmed in the oven shortly before serving time. The salad will have an extra sparkle with your special homemade dressing (already prepared and waiting in the refrigerator). And a robust stew, its pungent flavors having had a chance to blend together, will be even better than if it had been served when it was originally assembled.

There may be occasions when you'll have more time in the morning or during the middle of the day for food preparation than you'll have immediately before the meal is to be served. Or, if you prefer to spend more time socializing with your guests and less time in the kitchen, entrees which can be made several hours ahead of serving time may be the answer.

The recipe below for Fish Fillets in Mustard Sauce is ideal for these occasions. The recipe and accompanying serving suggestions are reprinted from "Make-Ahead Meals," one volume of the "Cooking with Bon Appetit" series from The Knapp Press.

FISH FILLETS IN MUSTARD SAUCE
Six 6- to 7-oz. fish fillets
1 cup chicken broth

Salt and freshly ground pepper
2 tbsp. (1/4 stick) butter
1 tbsp. flour
1 tsp. dry mustard
1 cup whipping cream
4 to 6 tsp. Dijon mustard
Salt and freshly ground pepper

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Pat fish dry with paper towels. Place in a single layer in two 9x13-inch baking dishes. Pour broth over and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Bake covered 10 to 15 minutes, or until fish loses its translucency. Transfer cooked fillets to platter.

Pour poaching liquid into small saucepan and bring to boil over high heat. Continue cooking until liquid has reduced to 1/4 cup.

Melt butter in medium skillet over medium heat. Add flour and dry mustard and cook, stirring constantly, 2 minutes. Remove from heat and add reduced liquid, stirring until smooth and well blended.

Combine cream with Dijon mustard and stir into sauce. Return to burner and stir until thickened. Add salt and pepper to taste. Return fillets to baking dish and cover with sauce. Dish may be covered and refrigerated up to this point. Remove from refrigerator and let stand 2 hours before reheating.

Just before serving, preheat oven to 400 degrees. Bake uncovered 6 to 8 minutes, or until sauce is bubbly and fish is heated through.

6 servings.

ADVISE THE editors of "Make-Ahead Meals." "Set off this tangy offering with thick slices of tomato masked with mayonnaise that has been mixed with some finely chopped onion and Parmesan cheese, then broiled until puffed and golden. Tender green peas and hot buttered rolls followed by fruit and cheese for dessert could round out the menu. Choose a vigorous dry white wine like a Pinot Blanc or Pouilly-Fuisse."

The goulash recipe below is a hearty and easy-to-prepare main course. According to the editors of "Make-Ahead Meals," "The Hungarian stew can be prepared ahead and reheated before serving. It goes well with boiled potatoes dusted with fresh dill, a salad of romaine with thin slices of sweet red onion and a loaf of warm black bread."

GOULASH WITH WINE-BRAISED SAUERKRAUT
8 servings

2 lbs. sauerkraut (fresh, canned or packaged)
2 tbsp. vegetable oil
2 onions, chopped
3 to 4 tbsp. Hungarian sweet paprika
2 garlic cloves, minced
1 cup dry white wine
3 1/2 lbs. boneless pork stew meat, cut into 1-inch cubes

1 1/2 tsp. caraway seed
1/4 cup tomato puree
2 cups chicken broth
1/2 cup whipping cream
1/2 cup sour cream
2 tbsp. all purpose flour
Salt and freshly ground pepper
Minced fresh parsley (optional garnish)

Thoroughly rinse sauerkraut under cold running water and drain well. Transfer to large bowl. Cover with cold water and let stand 20 minutes, changing water once. Squeeze sauerkraut to remove as much water as possible and set aside.

Heat oil in Dutch oven or large flameproof casserole over medium heat. Add onion and paprika and cook, stirring occasionally, until onion is limp and pale gold, about 10 minutes.

Add garlic and cook 1 to 2 more minutes. Stir in 1/2 cup wine and bring mixture to boil. Add pork. Place sauerkraut over pork. Sprinkle caraway seed over top. Combine tomato puree and remaining wine in small bowl and whisk well. Stir tomato mixture and broth into pot. Bring mixture to boil. Reduce heat, cover and simmer, stirring occasionally and adding more liquid if necessary, 1 to 1 1/2 hours.

Remove pork and sauerkraut from pot and keep warm. Combine cream, sour cream and flour in small bowl, blending well. Whisk cream mixture into sauce and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, 10 minutes. Return pork and sauerkraut to pot, blending well. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Ladle goulash into shallow bowls or rimmed plates. Sprinkle with parsley if desired and serve.

Even as leftover, chicken's fine

At one time the phrase "Chicken Every Sunday" meant that a family was thriving. The aroma of a slowly roasting bird filled the house on a long afternoon and promised good eating for all.

Today, chicken is the favorite everyday choice of all households from the smallest to the largest.

But roasting a whole chicken is still the ultimate method for enjoying the robust succulent goodness of this poultry. If there's too much for one meal in a two-person household, the extra meat on a 4-pound bird can be just as delicious the second time around.

Chicken's compatibility with a host of other flavors means it is possible to create a great dish with leftovers that will satisfy even a jaded appetite. For example, oranges give chicken a fresh, lively flavor without overpowering its natural taste.

Orange Glazed Chicken is stuffed with a mixture of rice, pecans and vegetables. Orange juice and rind add moisture and zip to the stuffing and to the apricot-orange glaze that coats the bird's crisp brown skin during the last minutes of roasting.

For a complete change of pace, leftover chicken meat stars in Hot Chicken Salad. The dish, which can be assembled beforehand and heated just before serving, combines cooked diced chicken, crisp celery, crunchy walnuts and fruity orange segments. Baked and served in individual ramekins, the dishes fit easily into a toaster oven, making this a delightful choice for the busy cook.

ROAST STUFFED CHICKEN

1 roast chicken, about 4 lbs.
Salt and pepper
1/2 cup (1/2 6-oz. pkg.) raw long grain and wild rice mix
1/2 cup orange juice
1/2 cup water
2 tbsp. butter or margarine
1/2 cup diced celery
2 tbsp. chopped scallion
1/4 cup chopped pecans
1 tsp. grated orange rind
Glaze:
1/2 cup apricot preserves
1/2 cup orange juice

Wash chicken thoroughly and pat dry. Sprinkle chicken with salt and pepper inside and out. Prepare half of rice mixture, using orange juice and water for the cooking liquid; cook according to package directions. In small skillet, melt butter; saute celery and scallion until tender. In a small bowl combine cooked vegetables, pecans, orange rind, and prepared rice. Spoon rice mixture loosely into cavity of chicken; close cavity with skewers. Place in a shallow roasting pan, breast-side-up. Roast in a 325 degree oven 2 1/2 to 3 hours or until done. Combine apricot preserves and 1/2 cup orange juice. Use to baste chicken during the last 30 minutes of roasting.

Yield: 4 servings.

HOT CHICKEN CITRUS SALAD

2 cups cooked, cubed chicken
1 cup diagonally sliced celery
1/4 cup chopped walnuts
1 tsp. grated onion
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. dried leaf tarragon
1/2 cup orange juice
1/4 cup mayonnaise
2 oranges, peeled and sectioned
1/4 cup dry bread crumbs
1/4 cup grated Parmesan or Romano cheese

In a medium mixing bowl, combine chicken, celery, walnuts, onion, salt, tarragon, orange juice and mayonnaise; mix well. Cover. Refrigerate 1 hour. Stir in orange sections. Spoon mixture into 2 ramekins or individual casseroles. Sprinkle with bread crumbs and Parmesan cheese. Bake in a 350 degree oven 20 to 25 minutes or until mixture is heated through and cheese is lightly browned. Yield: 2 servings.

Quick tips for good cooks

There could be good news for those short on time and long on yearning for delicious food. Gourmets on the go can easily fix meals at home using canned food and beverages.

Quick to prepare and ever in season, canned foods are convenient and equal in nutritional value to cooked fresh or frozen foods. Canned foods are versatile, too. With a little creative thinking, they help budget-minded epicures get the most from their food dollars.

Here are a few ideas that can help you:
• Freeze leftover fruit juices in ice cube trays to add flavor to iced tea or punch.
• Use the syrup from canned fruits to flavor plain yogurt or gelatin or as a topping for waffles and pancakes.

• Puree leftover green vegetables and combine with canned chicken broth and seasonings as a terrific sauce for potatoes or cauliflower.

Canned foods can provide the centerpiece of an exotic tempting dinner featuring baked ham with a crusty peanut-butter glaze. All the fixings to complement this succulent main course can be made using easy-to-prepare canned ingredients.

The meal could begin with Pina Colada Plus, a refreshingly fruity rum cocktail, followed by a crisp buffet salad of lettuce, chili peppers, pickled onions and olives. Side dishes could include savory coconut roasted potatoes, peach fruit cups and vegetable curry in zucchini boats. Top the meal off with light, luscious apricot cheese pie.

CARIBBEAN BAKED HAM
1 boneless, fully cooked canned ham (3 pounds)
3 tbsp. reserved apricot or grape syrup
3 tbsp. natural chunky peanut butter*
1 tsp. dry mustard
Fresh pineapple wedges

Place ham on rack in open roasting pan. Trim off excess fat and gelatin. In small bowl, blend together apricot syrup, peanut butter and dry mustard. Consistency should be thick but spreadable. Spread glaze evenly over top and sides of ham. Bake in 325 degree oven for an hour and 15 minutes or until meat is thoroughly hot and glaze is crusty golden brown. Decorate with pineapple. Serves 10 to 13.

*Smooth peanut butter may be substituted for a more spreadable glaze.

PUBLIC RADIO (WDET-FM) gave enthusiastic reviews Thursday morning to Martha Graham's newest work. "Song of Songs" opened Wednesday night in the Lincoln Center in New York with Peter Sparling, formerly of Plymouth, as the lead male dancer. The production, based on the songs of Solomon in the Old Testament, is booked through April 27 in the Lincoln Center.

Peter spent the fall term at the University of Michigan as an associate professor in the School of Music Dance Department. His contract with U-M calls for three, more fall terms with the dance department and he is looking forward to them.

Peter choreographed and danced in an exciting student show presented in the Power Center. He was impressed with all the resources at their disposal. The cello soloist on the U-M staff played music composed by a member of the U-M faculty. The School of Architecture assisted in building the sets and engineering the elevation of the cellist to a point 20 feet above deep left stage. Costume design and construction were handled by students.

His dancing and choreography skills have taken Peter around the world. He works with a Sydney, Australia dance company for six- to eight-week stretches. He does lecture demonstrations for the London Contemporary Dance Company in England and a dance company in Sweden.

A NOTE FROM Sue Brennan, who heads the Open Door program at Fort Street Presbyterian Church in Detroit. She referred to a story in our March 21 issue about the Friday morning dinners served at the old church. "We surely do appreciate the efforts of all our volunteers. Many, many fine people are responsible for the effectiveness of our program. Among the churches in your own area, the Geneva Presbyterian Church in Canton Township gives consistent generous support to us. Please include them among our benefactors."

Sue can be excused for omitting the names of some of her volunteers. When I talked to her, she was confined to her bed with the flu and I appreciated her giving me even a few minutes of her (miserable) time.

TWO PLYMOUTH Canton High School students have been selected to participate in the Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp international exchange program this summer.

Sheila Harris, soprano, and Polly MacIsaac, french horn, are among the young American and European musicians involved in 15th annual Blue Lakes exchange program. The fine arts camp will send four musical groups to Europe this summer while 12 groups from three European countries will visit Michigan. In addition, Blue Lake will operate two sessions at its satellite camp in southern Germany — Blue Lake in Bavaria. The camp attracts students from the United States, Canada and 10 European countries.

Gretchen Stansell, international director, said Blue Lake will send 260 musicians and singers to Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Finland and West Germany from June 17 to July 15. In return, more than 500 members of 12 bands, orchestras, choirs, jazz bands, dance groups and a gymnastics team from Denmark, West Germany and Belgium will visit Michigan between March and August.

Fancy that There are 'nice' restrooms

Several weeks ago, the Observer Newspapers printed a two-part series on women's restrooms. The series pointed out that a national survey revealed that women using restrooms routinely face long lines, congestion, dirty conditions and lack of sanitary and convenience features to meet their needs. The series continues with an upbeat view of the situation.

By Penny Wright
special writer

WE SEE AN abundance of overcrowded and offensive women's public restrooms. What about nice restroom facilities? To what standards should public powder rooms aspire?

Plymouth resident Doris Hoover answers: "I care about cleanliness. I get a bad impression of a place, especially food establishments, that aren't maintained or clean."

"The ideal powder room?" Nancy Huessner of Custom Gallery and Lighting Studios in Southfield, responds, "CLEAN, workable faucets... a warm, nice look."

Co-worker Robin Kromm replies, "My ideal is a separate makeup room with velvet-covered chairs, mirrors and a nice vanity."

SHIRLEY MADDALENA of Birmingham: "Ideally, it should have two separate rooms. The lavatory and toilet room would be in soft, delicate colors... pristine, elegant and clean."

Maddalena, owner of an interior design agency catering to business, admits it is hard to get building owners thinking about providing more attractive and better maintained restroom facilities.

The Bloomfield Mountain Jack restaurant is notable. The restaurant offers female dining guests a spacious, well-equipped restroom with an attractive female grooming area highlighted by marble-topped counters and brass sea-motif water faucets.

MOUNTAIN JACK manager Tony Agosta says the investment in such posh facilities is smart business and gives them a competitive edge over other restaurants.

"People these days have a wider selection of good dining places," Agosta said. "Niceties are important now, they count."

Agosta believes a dirty and unattractive restroom will project a bad image for the restaurant. "It (the restroom) is as important as good service."

Guests often take an interest in maintaining the toilet facilities and politely point out when supplies are depleted, he said.

A SIMILAR PHILOSOPHY rules at the Quo Vadis theater in Westland. The theater complex was built 20 years ago with the intention of being a showcase. According to the theater management, that goal is still the intent. The plush restroom facilities are part of the effort.

Influenced by the elegance of the old Detroit theaters, the main floor women's room is tastefully decorated with pastel pink walls and matching pink fixtures, sinks, counters, mirrors and lounge chair seating. The restroom is geared to accommodate a large volume of users.

A SMALLER facility on the second floor of the theater provides separate walk-in compartments, each with a toilet, sink, mirror and counter shelf.

"The Quo Vadis was the last of the big fancy theaters," manager Mike Butler said. "When the Quo Vadis was built, they went way over in the extras. Most businesses won't spend the money unless they have to."

Although Butler can't put a number or dollar figure on the payback of keeping up such restrooms, "We're satisfied with the investment."

WHY ARE THESE restrooms a rarity? Industry professionals offer two reasons.

"The budget is a big factor," architect Tivador Balogh of Plymouth said. Some owners might be smart enough to know that providing posh facilities will get a return, he said. Yet, 90 percent of the owners look at the minimum plumbing code requirements and say: "Do we have to have that many fixtures?"

It takes effort, space and money to provide toilet rooms that are large enough to have amenities, he said.

VANDALISM IS another reason. Quality restrooms depend on the quality of the establishment and the quality of the patrons, said Robin Kromm, interior designer with Custom Gallery and Lighting Studios in Southfield.

"Vandalism is a big problem in public restrooms. Many times, people don't care about keeping the restroom clean or in good shape." The result, she said, is that building owners put little effort or resources into giving anything more than minimal facilities.

Butler is concerned about vandalism, particularly graffiti, he said. "Women are as bad — if not worse — than men," he said.

To counter destruction, the theater keeps a matron on duty to restock supplies, check that all fixtures are in working order and to oversee the proper use of the restroom.

IN SPITE of the difficulties of providing decent and attractive restroom facilities, designer Maddalena thinks a trend toward nice facilities is occurring. One of her clients spent $15,000 on a small skylight-equipped powder room, she said.

"The trend comes from the Europeans," Maddalena said. "They pay more attention to restroom design. People in this area that are paying more attention to restrooms are finding it worthwhile."

New Japanese 'Super Pill' Insures Rapid Weight-Loss

No Dieting — Eat All You Want, Pill Does All The Work

BEVERLY HILLS, CA — An exciting new "all natural" weight-loss "Super" Pill developed by the JMA (Japanese Medical Association) has just been approved for distribution in the United States. Reportedly, it can guarantee that you will lose more than a pound a day without dieting, from the very first day until you reach your ideal weight and figure. News of this "Super Pill" is literally sweeping the country. It's called Amitol and there has never been anything quite like it before.

"Flushes Calories Right Out Of Your Body"

What makes Amitol so thrilling and unique is its reported ability to flush calories right out of your body. Amitol is completely safe, it contains no drugs whatsoever. Its ingredients are derived solely from the Konjac root which grows primarily in Northern Japan.

Why the Konjac root? It has been used in Japan for over 1600 years to produce rapid and natural weight-loss!

Japanese studies verify that Konjac root actually prevents fat producing calories from being absorbed into your system. They say it does this by surrounding much of the fats, proteins and carbohydrates you have eaten with a protective viscous coating which is then gently flushed out of your system. And according to Japanese research this produces absolutely amazing results.

And who can disagree! Amitol (although brand new to this country) is already being called by many people, "the most exciting weight-loss breakthrough of the century." In fact, everywhere there are reports of easy and fast weight-loss from formerly overweight people (in all walks of life) who are now slim, trim, and attractive again.

Company Offers Extraordinary Guarantee

You now can purchase Amitol direct from the North American distributor, and it comes with an extraordinary guarantee.

If you place your order now and then follow the simple instructions for a period of 30 days, you must be completely satisfied with the dramatic visible results or just return the empty container and Dyna Labs will immediately send back your entire purchase price. This guarantee applies regardless of your age or current weight level. What could be better than that! It's just that simple. If you've tried to lose weight before and failed you no longer have an excuse. Amitol is available, it's easy and it works without dieting!

$19.95 — 30 day supply, or $35.95 — 60 day supply. Order immediately by sending a check or money order to DYNALABS, 270 No. Canon Dr., Ste. 1255 (Dept. U-21) Beverly Hills, CA, 90210. Chances are you won't see Salem's Tim Robinson bunting too much this season. The senior will be counted on to provide some long ball for the Rocks.

Diamond in rough?

Rock 9 could be surprise of '85

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

When Western Lakes baseball managers discuss pre-season league favorites, the names Walled Lake West, Plymouth Canton, Livonia Churchill and Livonia Stevenson are tossed around.

Plymouth Salem is never mentioned.

There are reasons for that. The Rocks struggled both internally and on the field last year despite a somewhat respectable 14-9 record. Key players off that team, Mike Cindrich, Scott Anderson and Rick Berberet, have moved on. The returning group admits second year coach John Gravin, had non-productive seasons a year ago.

But, and it is a significant but, Gravin has a hunch his group will fool the experts this season.

"We're a real secret throughout the league this year," Gravin said. "Nobody considers us to be any good. We could be very surprising to some people."

FOR ONE thing, the Rocks have a wealth of experience. Twelve seniors are on the roster, most of whom will either start or contribute significantly.

"Of course, as a group these kids all had terrible years last year," Gravin said. "But, they are good ballplayers. I'm as optimistic as I could possibly be."

Also, the Salem junior varsity team posted a 12-1 league record a year ago and seven players off that team are expected to contribute at the varsity level this year.

Nothing is set in Gravin's lineup. In fact, the Rock camp has been most interesting with serious duels going on at nearly every position.

In the infield, veterans Tom Moore (an outfielder last year) and Chris Belhart are battling it out for the second base job. Seniors Steve Sobditch and Doug Kirkpatrick are gunning for the shortstop position. Dom DeBello and Darrel Brees will share third base, both with also pitch. At first base, Tim Robinson and Curt White are battling. Mike Kesson could fill in at several spots.

Pat Walsh, who hit 400 last year, will be in the lineup somewhere, either as a designated hitter, catcher or first baseman.

Outfield spots are wide open. Jim Lynch will most likely hold fort in center field. Jason Scott (perhaps the best fielding outfielder on the squad) and Brian Tiller are also looking for spots.

Dan Knapp, a crafty left-hander, should see plenty of work on the mound for Salem this season.

Compuware hockey empire still supreme

By Brad Emons
staff writer

The Birmingham-based Compuware Midgets team has a proud hockey tradition.

They've produced such standouts as Pat LaFontaine (New York Islanders), Alfie Turcotte (Montreal Canadiens), Kevin Hatcher (Washington Capitals) and Livonia's Al Iafrate (Toronto Maple Leafs).

Playing on their home ice last week in Oak Park, Compuware continued the tradition by capturing the Midget (15-16 year-olds) Nationals championship with a 7-1 victory over Little Caesars.

The eight-team tournament, sponsored by the Amateur Hockey Association of the United State (AHAUS), was the culmination of another successful season for Compuware.

Compuware opened tourney play with a 5-4 win over Caesars, a rival member of the Michigan National Hockey League. It followed with victories over Amherst, N.Y. (10-2), the Seattle, Wash. Chiefs (16-3) and the Chicago, Ill. Young Americans (9-2) before meeting Caesars again.

AFTER FINISHING the year with a glittering 78-6-2 record, comparisons are now being made with the 1981 national championship Compuware squad, which featured LaFontaine and Iafrate.

"I think the two teams are pretty close," said Compuware coach Real Turcotte. "What really impresses me about this team is their tremendous individual skills. It's probably the best we've ever had."

"And the thing about this team is that they clicked at the right time."

Turcotte said that 11 or 12 of Compuware's players are rated highly by scouts in Canada's Major Junior A leagues in Ontario and Quebec.

Several players from the Observer & Eccentric coverage area figured prominently in the team's success.

Here is a brief look at Compuware's seven area players:

• CHRIS EISENHART, Garden City: The 5-foot-11 1/2, 165-pound goalie, who attends Garden City High, is rated the No. 1 prospect in Major Junior A.

"He is a stand-up goalie and those are hard to find," Turcotte said. "Most goalies have the habit of going down, but Chris doesn't panic. He has tremendous reflexes."

• BILL PYE, Canton: The 5-7, 140-pound goalie, who attends Plymouth Canton, will return next season.

The 15-year-old alternated with Eisenhart and was voted the best goalie at the Silver Stick Tournament earlier this season at Sarnia, Ont.

• ADAM BURT, Westland: The 6-3, 185-pound defenseman, who attends Catholic Central, is built along the same lines as Iafrate.

"We have a chance to keep him next year, but the Junior A teams want him because of his size," said the Compuware coach. "Adam is a good skater, a good shot and handles the puck extremely well."

• PETE PODRASKY, Canton: The 5-9, 160-pound Podrasky, who also attends Catholic Central, is the team's most agile defenseman, according to Turcotte.

"He plays extremely well," said the coach. "He's not a big kid, but he has the smarts."

Podrasky was also selected to play for Team Michigan in the Junior Olympic High School All-Star series, held over the weekend in Danvers, Mass.

• NICK KARMANOS, West Bloomfield: The 5-10, 165-pound left winger, who attends West Bloomfield High, is the son of Pete Karmanos, the man who built the vast Compuware youth hockey empire.

"He can play pro if he wants to," Turcotte said. "There's a possibility he could play for the Windsor (Junior A) Spitfires (also owned by Compuware) if they draft him, but I don't know where he'll be playing."

"He's by far the fastest skater on the midget level."

• CHRIS TANCILL, Livonia: The 5-

10, 170-pound team captain, who attends Stevenson High School, was asked to play defense this season.

"Wing is his real position," Turcotte said. "He's just a good athlete. He could play anything he wants — even goalie."

"He's an excellent skater and stick handler. He's very strong and is an excellent leader. He's highly rated."

• ALEX ROBERTS, Bloomfield Hills: The 6-1, 180-pound defenseman, who attends Lahser High School, is the team's policeman.

"He's our bouncer, but a good player," said the Compuware coach. "He's the kid everybody fears. He cleans house — very tough."

"He'll play junior hockey because he's tough."

THE WINNING TRADITION attracts the metro area's top players to Compuware, but there are other factors involved, too.

"They want to play for us because they can get the best exposure," Turcotte said. "And we have good practice ice. That's very appealing."

"We can go and practice in the late afternoon. We don't get shuffled around at different rinks. We don't have to practice at 6 in the morning."

Coaching is also a factor. Turcotte is rated highly as a teacher. He appears at numerous camps and clinics during the summer.

Dawson, Podrasky make select squad

The talent on the Compuware hockey team didn't go unnoticed by officials of Team Michigan, a select team of high school players that competed in the Junior Olympic High School All-Star Tournament this past weekend in Danvers, Mass.

Five Compuware players were selected to Team Michigan: Pete Podrasky from Canton, Mike Wolak from Utica, Rob Brown, Steve Beadle and Kip Miller from Lansing.

Livonia Stevenson product Chris Tancill was also selected off the Compuware team but declined the invitation. Tancill will be in France during Easter break with his French class.

Another Observerland talent selected to Team Michigan was Plymouth Salem junior Steve Dawson, a much sought-after defenseman, played Midget AAA hockey for the St. Clair Shores Falcons. This season he scored 20 goals and had 89 assists in 70 games.

Dawson has received 11 letters of inquiry from major college hockey programs.

ONLY 22 players were selected for Team Michigan. The team was coached by Terry Christensen, Michigan State University assistant.

Team Michigan competed in a round-robin tournament with teams from New England, Massachusetts and Minnesota. The tournament, known throughout the Boston area as Hockey Night in Boston, attracted more than 150 scouts from all levels of hockey.

The purpose of the tournament is to help the United States Olympic Hockey Committee select its 1988 Olympic team.

Team Michigan opened the tourney Thursday night with a 6-3 loss to New England. Michigan was scheduled to face Massachusetts Friday night and Minnesota Saturday.

Sports agent finds success in being in right place at right time

By Jim Hughes
staff writer

Harold Curry is living testimony to the "being in the right place at the right time" adage. The right place is Rochester, and he's having the time of his life.

Curry, 36, is a 12-year resident of Rochester. He moved to the northern suburbs after earning his law degree from Wayne State University, and now, he's making his living as an agent for professional football players.

"After I got out of law school, I moved to an apartment complex right around the time the Detroit Lions moved from Detroit to Pontiac," Curry recalled. "It seemed half of the players from the team were living in the same complex."

"I ran into Charlie West on the tennis courts or while I was out jogging, and we developed a friendship. We had been friends about a year and a half, and Charlie asked me if I'd represent him. Ever since then, it's had a mushroom effect."

WEST, A LION defensive back from 1974 to '77, was Curry's first client. He now represents Lions Leonard Thompson, Dexter Bussey, Homer Elias, Bobby Watkins, Alvin Hall and Rosey Barnes. Other clients include former Penn State running back Booker Moore, now with the Buffalo Bills, and ex-Michigan Wolverines Marion Body, Brian Carpenter and Evan Cooper.

Rick Rogers, a senior at U-M, and Aaron Roberts, a Michigan State University senior and Detroit Catholic Central graduate, also are Curry's clients, and will be eligible for the upcoming NFL draft.

"What happens is, once you get a player from a certain team, you get a lot of referrals," Curry said. "This wasn't something I had planned. At first, I was reluctant to get involved because I didn't want to exploit my friendship for professional reasons, but Charlie asked me."

"Perhaps this was my niche."

Curry, whose Harold Curry Sports Agency Inc. office is next to Meadowbrook Courts in Rochester, is a corporate member of the athletic club. It's not rare for his football clients to drop in and use some of the facilities — either for aerobic workouts or weight-lifting.

"It's really convenient, because if one of my clients drops in to see me and I'm not here, they can go over and work out," he said. "It's been a good investment. It keeps me in shape, anyway."

Curry, who also represented former Lions Larry Walton, Ray Jarvis, Ernie Price, Vince Thompson and Horace King, says an enjoyment from his role comes as he sees players grow.

"I REALLY enjoy this. There's some problems, though. A lot of the time, guys out of college are not all mature about matters pertaining to business decisions. If someone gets $200,000, it's more like $125,000, and they ask, 'What happened to the money?' You have to explain to them you have to pay taxes in this country."

"As time progresses, they grow and develop. It's nice to see someone like Leonard Thompson, who made $19,000 when he started, and now, he's making, well, let's say he's making a considerable amount more."

Curry said he hasn't had any "single act of drama" as when Billy Sims' agent, Jerry Argovitz, was trying to renegotiate Sims' contract in 1982. He approaches contract negotiations like football coaches approach Sunday — with a game plan.

"I've never been involved in any single act of drama," he said. "You start with a plan and you put it into motion. It's important to understand that it has to run its natural course. You have to identify your goals from the beginning, and do things in relationship to those goals and objectives."

"The toughest thing is keeping the players informed. You have to keep them patient because things aren't going to happen overnight. You have to know the value of the player and what the market is. I would not hold someone out of camp if they were vying for a position, because if they're not there, it's hard to establish a market value."

"For someone who has a position locked up, that's a different story because you know their value to the team."

Although Curry deals with familiar faces all the time, the other end of the dealings are somewhat unfamiliar.

"In the course of the day, I'm talking to general managers from different teams about different players from different cities," he said. "I think I know more voices than I do faces."

Nagy paces Chief victory

A powerful showing in field events helped the Plymouth Canton girls track team to a 68-60 victory over Livonia Franklin Wednesday. It was the non-league season opener for both teams.

Carolyn Nagy was the top point-getter for Canton. She won both the high jump (4-10) and the discus (88-0). Also, she anchored the first-place mile-relay team, combining with Marie Jarosz, Angie Miller and Karen Boluch on a 4:35.3.

girls track

Nagy combined with Tricia Carney, Lori Schauder and anchor Kim Bennett to win the 880-yard relay (1:55.7). Canton swept the field events as Hollie Ivey won the shot put (31-5 1/4) and Carney took the long jump (14-4 1/2).

"IT WAS about what I expected," said Franklin coach Steve Dolloway. "We were good in the running events and got killed in the field. Canton is a good team, they gave us a real good test."

Bennett, besides anchoring the 880 relay, teamed with Carney, Sherry Figurski and Terri Pniewski to win the 440 relay in 56.6. The senior sprinter also won the 220 dash in 28.8.

Jarosz was the only other individual winner for Canton. She ran a 6:05.1 mile.

Lisa Dominato won both hurdle events for Franklin. She ran a 17.1 in the 110 highs and a 53.0 in 330 lows.

Borgess boys better Churchill

Redford Bishop Borgess showed once again that it will be a team to be reckoned with as the Spartans opened the boys track season Wednesday with a 76 1/2-60 1/2 victory over host Livonia Churchill.

The defending Observerland Relays champions won the early-season showdown without its top sprinter, 1984 area Trackman of the Year Fred Owens.

"Fred did not run because he's had a problem with his thigh," Borgess coach Gene Grewe said. "He's not ready to come back yet. He had been off a week."

The Spartans received some sterling efforts, but none better than Jim Rzep-ka's victory in the shot put over Churchill standout Dave Mize. Rzepka threw the shot 51 feet, 3 inches to Mize's throw of 49-7. Mize, however, won the discus with a toss of 154-2.

Marlon Montgomery helped in Owens' absence, winning the 300-meter hurdles (39.4) and 100 dash (11.3). He also anchored Borgess to a 1st-place finish in the 400 relay, teaming up with Steve Staron, Corey Ivey and Marlon Pittman for a time of 45.7.

Another double winner for Borgess was Marlon Cates, who took the long jump (20-5 1/4) and the 400 dash (53.5). Pittman, meanwhile, captured the 200 dash (24.2), and teammate DeVaughn Elledge took the 800 (2:07.6).

Brian Kelly, Mark Pittman, Derrick Green and Ivan Cotman combined to win the 1,600 relay for Borgess in 3:37.1.

Doug Plachta had a pair of firsts for Churchill, winning the 1,600 and 3,200 events with times of 4:41.2 and 10:38.7, respectively.

Other Churchill individual winners included Mike Meehan, high jump, 6-3; and Gordon Babcock, 110 hurdles, 15.9. The Chargers also won the 800 and 3,200 relays.

"I'm very pleased," Grewe said. "That's why we like to run Churchill. It gives us a good indication of what we have. It's very competitive."

WESTLAND JOHN GLENN also opened with a victory, downing Ypsilanti last week, 78-54.

Sean Bono was the star, sweeping the 100-, 220- and 440-yard dashes with times of 10.56, 24.6 and 55.2, respectively.

Teammate Jay Hunt won the mile (4:55.8) and 2-mile (10:29.8). The Rockets' Kyle Szukaitis took the 880 in 2:09.3 and teamed with Dan Liedel, Jim Lakatos and Hunt to win the 2-mile relay in 9:01.0.

Glenn's Ron Bushaw and Chip Hall tied for 1st in the pole vault (by forfeit), and Bill Grisamer won the long jump (17-11 1/4).

Observerland icers make elite squad

All-Observer players Todd Hohl, Matt Wiljanen and Jim Kowalski have been selected to play for Team Michigan in the first U.S. High School Invitational hockey tournament Friday through Sunday at Franklin Park (Ill.) Arena.

The game, developed by Johnson's Sports of Chicago, will showcase the top high school senior players nationally. The tournament features eight teams representing Michigan, Anchorage, Alaska, St. Louis, Mo., Buffalo, N.Y., Ohio, Wisconsin, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Chicago.

The three area players were chosen based on their performance last month in the second All-State game, sponsored by Midwest Hockey and Little Caesars Pizza. (Players from Team Michigan participating in the U.S. Invitational must forfeit their eligibility for high school spring sports).

HOHL, a forward at Redford Catholic Central, was the Shamrocks' second leading scorer this season with 17 goals and 13 assists.

Kowalski, a defenseman, scored 9 goals and added 21 assists as Livonia Franklin won its first regional since 1976.

Wiljanen, a forward for Livonia Churchill, led the Suburban Prep Hockey League (SPHL) with 31 assists to go along with 12 goals.

Former Livonia Churchill and University of Michigan-Dearborn coach Adam Mitchell has been selected to coach Team Michigan. He will be assisted by A.J. Baker of Midwest Hockey and Danny Belisle, amateur hockey coordinator for the Detroit Red Wings.

TEAM MICHIGAN ROSTER

Goalies: Bobby Segura, South Lyon; Keith Nickerson, Trenton; Ray Nagy, Brighton Hills; Grant Brock, Dearborn.

Defensesmen: Ron Lamb, Flint; Powers, Pat Moran, Allen Park; Cabrin, Kevin Steele, Grand Blanc; Jim Kowalski, Livonia; Franklin, and Richy Cunningham, Port Huron.

Forwards: Todd Hohl, Redford Catholic Central; Kevin O'Gerner, Allen Park; Cabrin, Chris Mull, Grand Rapids Catholic Central; Tony Scaturro, Ann Arbor; Pioneer, Tom Nettell, Marquette; Darren Schmitz, Howell; Jim Kortum, Marquette; J.C. Cerny, Ann Arbor; Huron, and Chris Lippert, Ann Arbor; Pioneer.

Coaches: Adam Mitchell (head coach), A.J. Baker (assistant) and Danny Belisle (assistant).

Experienced Salem 9 out to cross experts

Salem has always been blessed with solid catching. Tradition remains intact for this season. Junior Steve Dawson, who contributed mightily when called upon last year, appears ready to fill the shoes of Anderson.

THE MAJOR question mark, and one of the weaknesses a year ago, will be the pitching staff.

"We should do quite well offensively," Gravelin said. "We make good contact, we're going to run, we've finally learned how to hunt this year — we should score runs. But, like last year, are we going to get the kids to play defense and are we going to get enough pitching?"

Left-hander Dan Knapp and righty Brees saw a lot of mound duty last year and are going to have to carry a heavy load again this year. DeBello, Chris Davis, Tiller and Tim Helman-kangas should also see considerable innings this season.

Salem opens the 1985 campaign with a double-header at home Wednesday with Wayne Memorial and last year's Class B state champs Redford Thurston.

It's far too early in the season to be naming dark-horse contenders in the talent-laden Western Lakes. But, with a little pitching help, Plymouth Salem could become one of the better-known secrets in the league.

For now, though, Gravelin is content to keep the secret under wraps.

Cyclist-skater seeks double Olympic gold

By Tom Panzenhagen
staff writer

Speed skater John Coyle, 16, is sharpening his blades for the 1988 Winter Olympics in Calgary, Alberta.

Cyclist John Coyle also is sprinting toward the 1988 Summer Olympics in Seoul, South Korea.

He's confident of making both U.S. Olympic squads. In fact, he said, "If this was an Olympic year, I would have been an alternate on the speed skating team."

But cycling may be his best sport. At least that's the one he started with before following in the tracks of former Olympians Sheila Young Ochowicz of Detroit and Eric and Beth Heiden, who competed in both events.

Coyle, who lives in West Bloomfield and attends Southfield Christian High School, competed March 24 in the North American Speed Skating Championships in St. Louis.

"I did terrible," he said. "I fell in the finals with three laps to go."

En route to the finals in the 500-meter and 800-meter events, however, he set new world records. His time of 1:19.51 in the 800 broke the record of Canadian Olympic gold medalist Gaetan Boucher, and his 48.9 in the 500 established a new mark for Coyle's age bracket.

Boucher's gold medal, it should be noted, was won outdoors. It was Boucher's indoor mark that Coyle topped.

INDOOR speed skating events are run on 100- or 110-meter ovals on a track that fits within a hockey rink, John's father, David, explained. The outdoor events are run on 400-meter tracks.

Indoor meets are skated pack-style, "with six skaters going at once, racing each other rather than the clock," David Coyle said. Racers compete in heats, with winners advancing to the finals.

Coyle set his recent world records in the heats before falling in the finals. "I got my skates caught in a rut," he said.

According to his father, "David will be ready for both indoors and outdoors in 1988, but right now he's more specialized in indoors because we have the rinks here that he can skate in."

The only outdoor speed skating tracks in the United States are in Lake Placid, N.Y., and West Alice, Wis.

Coyle practices about three hours during the week, lifts weights, works out on a slide board at home and competes most weekends, his father said.

ONE RECENT, six-day "weekend" event was in Amsterdam, Netherlands. Coyle qualified as an alternate on the five-man U.S. squad to the World Short-Track Speedskating Championships, and he skated in a couple of the events.

The United States finished in the middle of a 15-team pack, though, well behind frontrunners the Netherlands, Canada and Japan.

But Coyle wasn't daunted and said he enjoyed the experience, adding that the Dutch were very friendly to the American skaters.

His father said, "At 16, John's just breaking into the top, elite group. He's not going to win a world championship, but everything is still upward."

"It was his first time in another country, and not to be treated as an ugly American but to be well liked was really a good experience for him."

Next stop on the speed skating circuit is the U.S. Olympic Sports Festival in Baton Rouge, La., in July. Top qualifiers in all Olympic sports will be on hand.

BUT FIRST comes Coyle's first love, bicycle racing.

He was only 9 when he started long-distance cycling for recreation with his father.

By the time he was 11, Coyle was competing for the Wolverine Sports Club, a Detroit-area organization of cross country skiers, speed skaters and cyclists. His cycling coach was Mike Walden.

Coyle won the Michigan cycling championships in the midget (9- to 11-year-olds) division in 1979 and the nationals a year later.

It was after the 1979 season that Wolverine coaches Walden and speed skater Clair Young (Sheila Young Ochowicz's father), recommended he take to the ice over the winter to stay in shape.

Right now Coyle's gearing up for June cycling trials for the Junior World Cycling Championships, which will be this summer in Stuttgart, Germany.

COYLE SAID he broke out his bike a few days ago for the first time this year. "I'll be riding every day now but not far — just 20 miles or so at first," he said.

Coyle's also a member of a cycling team sponsored by 7-Eleven convenience stores. Walden said, "7-Eleven developed a national racing team for the '84 Olympics. Now they're developing riders at the other end like minor league farms clubs, supporting good bike riders while they mature."

Walden said Coyle has a good shot at the 1988 Olympics in both sports.

"Potentially he could make it. There's a lot of subtleties in there that take a long time to learn. He'll need international experience and more coaching before he's ready, and he needs to fill out and get stronger."

Coyle's 5-10, 135 pounds and still growing, according to his father, who said many indoor speed skaters are slender and quick as opposed to big and strong. But Eric Heiden, who won five gold medals in outdoor skating in the 1980 Olympics, "is built like a football player," the senior Coyle conceded.

IN ONE SENSE time is on Coyle's side, because he has three years to gain more experience and girth before the 1988 Olympic games.

"The toughest thing about competing is that I don't have that much spare time," Coyle said. His regimen, for instance, forced him to miss a recent U2 rock concert, he said.

But Coyle, an 11th grader, still maintains an A- average, and he has completed 18 college credits by taking night classes at Oakland County Community College. He hopes to have 30 in the bank by the time he finishes high school so that when 1988 rolls around, he'll be able to devote his time to certain other golden endeavors.

John Coyle hopes to earn Olympic berths in both cycling and speed skating in 1988.

SPINAL DEGENERATION

WHEN YOUR SPINE IS INJURED IT BEGINS TO DEGENERATE.

Almost everyone has had at one point in their lives some strain, pull, fall or injury that involves their spine.

These traumas cause your vertebrae to be altered from their normal position. This can happen without spinal pain. From that initial injury, your spine begins to degenerate as time passes.

The spine goes through four phases of degeneration. These phases can be determined with x-ray and are pictured below.

NEAR NORMAL
NO SUBLUXATION SMOOTH AND REGULAR

PHASE I
0-20 YEARS 6 MOS.-1 1/2 YEARS
MISALIGNMENT

PHASE II
20-40 YEARS 1 1/2-2 1/2 YEARS
SOME DECAY

PHASE III
40-65 YEARS 2 1/2-3 1/2 YEARS
MUCH DECAY

PHASE IV
65 YRS AND OLDER
LITTLE RECONSTRUCTION
FUSION

UNDER EACH PICTURE ARE THE LENGTH OF DEGENERATION & THE TIME REQUIRED FOR CORRECTION (EXAMPLE: PHASE II, 20-40 YEARS OF DEGENERATION, 1 1/2 TO 2 1/2 YEARS TO CORRECT)

The only means of stopping the degeneration is to move the vertebrae back to their original position. This is done with chiropractic spinal adjustments.

If the degeneration progresses to the latter phases, it may not be correctable. A simple x-ray can detect degeneration and chiropractic adjustments can halt and many times reverse the process.

The adjustment technique Dr. Mashike uses is low force resulting in safe recovery without pain. Don't neglect your spine, it's your lifeline.

Next week we will discuss the effects of degeneration on the nervous system.

"WHERE THE SICK GET WELL"

Another showplace to open

It was a classic deja vu situation. Ten years ago I walked in on Mike Rowan, uninvited then as now, as he supervised the construction of a huge, hidden, new chateau-winery in the hills of Alexander Valley. He was so surprised by the visit that he gave me a wholly unauthorized tour — with us wearing appropriate hard hats — of what has since become the Jordan Winery. Mike's skills and Tom Jordan's money developed that into one of the premier wineries in all of California.

A couple of weeks ago I did it again, this time catching Mike even before ground had been broken at his West Dry Creek Road property, soon to be known to the world as Domaine Michel. The architectural drawings are most impressive. It will be another showplace and also will produce only cabernet sauvignon and Chardonnay. Mike has already done one crush, in space at Jordan, and we will see his first issues perhaps by fall.

Early on, the decision was not to call it Jordan West.

Additionally, there are a couple of other new wineries in the building stage, sporting names that will soon be familiar to all of us.

Down in Paso Robles, footings were being poured for the new Arciero Winery and Vineyard, when I was there cheerfully sipping 1984 chardonnay in the sun at 7:45 in the morning amidst the chaos of construction.

THE NAME IS a family one, the money from the Southern California construction business. Vast acreage has already been developed, more to follow, to support the needs of this planned 500,000-case-per-year

wine

enterprise. The focus will be on Italian-style wines (cuttings of nebbiolo were contracted for as I waited), but the scope will be broad. An early and initial pressing of 1984 grapes was done, some 9,000 tons, but that was done only to test the staff and the machinery.

The winery itself will be on the awesome side. It will cover some 78,000 square feet. That will enable the place to become a kind of community center as well as complete winery. Usual business and hospitality services will be present, as well as a visitor center, art gallery and community meeting and dining areas.

The property is about five miles east of Paso Robles on Highway 46, between Gary Eberle's new winery and Estrella River, a place soon to hit the 300,000-case-a-year level of production.

The third winery still undergoing construction worth reporting is Carment Vineyards in the upper Mayacamas region of Sonoma, next door to Martini's famous Monte Russo vineyards. This is the property of the people who make Chalone and Edna Valley wines, in Monterey and San Luis Obispo respectively, in the South Central Coast.

While those two wineries are essentially burgundian in nature (producing pinot noir and chardonnay), Carment is to be a bordeaux venture, making exclusively cabernet sauvignon and sauvignon blanc. The vineyards surround the new, redwood and essentially circular winery, with a magnificent view of the Sonoma Valley, Santa Rosa and Sonoma below.

CARMENET'S INITIAL issue, which has been available to us locally for a couple of months through the Merchant of Vino, is a wine made at its Edna Valley facility. But full-scale operations will put its wines in general distribution within a year — wines made in Sonoma from Sonoma grapes.

Two other wineries need mention here. Both in recently completed facilities, but just, are the Thomas Fogarty Winery and the La Jota Vineyard Co. The former is on Skyline Drive west of Palo Alto and is a 5,500-case-per-year operation that is getting extremely good press.

Julie Hagerty and Albert Brooks are Linda and David Howard, an upwardly mobile couple who decide to try a different lifestyle that includes gambling in Las Vegas, in the comedy "Lost in America."

Yuppies drop out in mostly unfunny 'Lost in America'

"Lost in America" should be consigned to whatever oblivion dumb movies go.

Some movies start out stupid and go nowhere. "Lost in America" is a clever movie whose first 20 minutes show great promise before it turns terminally awful.

David Howard (Albert Brooks) is about to be promoted to senior vice president at a major ad agency, while his wife, Linda (Julie Hagerty), labors as personnel director for a well-known department store. They've just bought a $450,000 house and are shopping for a $45,000 Mercedes. How yuppie can you get?

But wait, here comes life at its quirkiest — at least from the point of view that characterizes the film. David doesn't get promoted. In the film's funniest scene (which fizzles instead of ending with a bang), David insults his boss and gets fired.

Well, all of a sudden, with a lack of motivation that characterizes the film, David decides to become irresponsible because Linda idly noted he was a bit stuffy.

DAVID CONVINCES sweet Linda of the pursued lips to quit her job and drop out with him. They sell everything, buy a motor home and head to Las Vegas. The bridal suite of the Desert Inn hardly represents exploring America to discover what life is about.

The problem with David's irresponsibility is that it permeates everything but Albert Brooks' tight, dull and uninvolved characterization. Brooks wrote and directed "Lost in America."

Now, that's irresponsible! Once the Howards hit the road, the film is a series of loosely connected episodes that are incomplete and unfulfilling.

The least comprehensible activity occurs in Vegas. Linda rises in the middle of the night, loses their $150,000 nest egg at roulette and shrugs it off with, "I'm sorry."

It might have been exciting to see her gambling and losing. It might have been interesting to learn why she did it. Hearing about it afterwards is silly, particularly without an explanation.

While there are some funny concepts in the dim recesses of the script, they never surface in any completed way. We never see real humans. David and Linda meander stupidly through alleged adventures all across a countryside photographed with the style and zeal of a sophomore travelogue.

Warning: This film is hazardous to entertainment. If you don't believe me, sit through until the total cop-out with which "Lost in America" ends.

Musical 'Vino!' to premiere

A world premiere charity gala of Joe Marrocco's new musical comedy "Vino!" will be presented at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 24, at Mercy College of Detroit. The gala is sponsored by the Mercy College of Detroit Alumni Association, in cooperation with the local wine community. The special preview performance of "Vino!" will be followed by a champagne reception with the playwright and Detroit community leaders and radio and TV personalities. Tickets are $50 ($35 is tax-deductible). Proceeds will go to the Student Scholarship Fund of Mercy College. For more information, call Mercy College at 592-6114.

'20s,'30s dance band to play

The 11-member Hotel Savarine Society Orchestra will present an evening of nostalgia, dancing and entertainment in a return visit to Oakland Community College's Highland Lake Campus in Union Lake. The program at 8 p.m. Friday, April 12, will be held at the Highland Lakes Student Center Arena. Admission is $5 per person. Light refreshments, as well as beer and wine, will be available. For reservations, call 360-3041.

Popular music of the 1920s and early '30s will be featured. Specializing in the look and sound of the dance bands of the era, the group's repertoire consists of familiar period hits such as "Charleston," "Bye Bye Blackbird" and "Brother Can You Spare a Dime." Recently featured in the Greenfield Village "1920s Great Escape Weekend," the Hotel Savarine Society Orchestra has performed locally at parties, conventions and other special events for several years.

Group takes strides to appease runners

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

You've been running for a while now. Nothing special, just on your own after work — just trying to keep in shape. You started out with a casual mile jaunt through the subdivision. It was a grueling at first, but now you're feeling pretty strong after three, four, even five miles on a good day.

You feel real good about your conditioning, but something is missing. You're getting bored running alone through the streets. You don't want to quit running, but you need a change, some new incentive. You need competition and companionship.

Dr. Edward Kozloff and 1,300 people ranging in age from 6 to 76 know exactly what you're going through. And they have a remedy.

It's called the Motor City Striders. It's the largest running club in the state and among the largest in the Midwest. It's been around for 27 years. Kozloff has been with the club since 1963, its president since 1975.

"Running alone can sometimes get stale," Kozloff said. "When you get with others, it's much more stimulating."

KOZLOFF, in conjunction with the Striders, has set up a schedule of runs throughout the summer aimed at stimulating the state's ever-increasing running populace.

"We get all levels of runners," Kozloff said. "I would say about 20 percent of our club is women, the youngest member is 6 years old and the oldest is 76."

"Unlike basketball or baseball, there are really no losers (in running). We kind of operate on two levels. On one level you want to finish the race in first place, but most people know they don't have a chance. So the other level is competing within yourself. You can finish fast two races in a row, but see improvements in your times and feel a terrific sense of accomplishment."

The Motor City Striders run a race every other week through the summer. It costs $10 per year to become a member of the Striders. Membership includes discount tickets on race entry fees, a newsletter and several other helpful items. You do not have to be a member of the Striders to run in any of the Striders' races.

HERE IS a partial listing of the 1985 Motor City Striders running schedule. This list is also a cross-section of most of the better runs offered in the tri-county area.

APRIL

- MCS 15K Race begins 10 a.m. Sunday, April 14, at Belle Isle in Detroit.
- Blue Cross 1 Mile, 5,000-meter and 10,000-meter runs. Begins 9 a.m. Saturday, April 27, through Detroit.

MAY

- Farlane Charley's 10,000-meter Run. Begins 10 a.m. Sunday, May 5, in Dearborn.
- Elias Brothers 10,000-meter Run. Begins 10 a.m. Sunday, May 11, at the Pontiac Silverdome.

At ease Relaxing through yoga

By Karen Hermes-Smith
special writer

A SERIES of soothing musical notes called "Eastern Peace" softly played in the background. Sixteen men and women, stretched out on mats in the dimly-lit room, quietly followed Karen Farkas' instructions for yoga exercises.

"Stand with your feet about two feet apart, toes relaxed, knees straight," she said. "Extend your arms at shoulder level and clench your fists. Inhale and pull your shoulder blades tightly together like you're squeezing an orange between them."

"You're going to feel a lot less tired by the end of the class," she promised.

Fifteen years ago, yoga changed Karen Farkas' life.

"It rescued me from a nervous breakdown," the Livonia woman said. "It cured my insomnia and made me more self-confident."

FARKAS WAS a first-year teacher who couldn't manage the badly-behaved junior high school students in her class. "I got so desperate I quit my job in the middle of the year," she said. "It was a tough time emotionally for me."

A year later, she read an article about the benefits of yoga in Fitness for Living, a health magazine. "I showed up for my first yoga class (at the Redford YMCA), and I knew it was for me," she said.

Now, in teaching yoga at Livonia's Bryant Junior High School, Farkas is sharing with others how the ancient Indian exercises reduce stress, lower blood pressure, strengthen muscles, soothe aching backs and condition joints.

The Thursday evening class is offered through Livonia School District's Leisure-time program. The current 8-week session began last week.

One of Farkas' students, Nadene Mitcham of Westland, said yoga relieves the soreness in her muscles brought on by arthritis. "It makes me feel good," she said, adding that her doctor suggested she take a yoga course.

ANOTHER STUDENT, Peggy Brewer of Livonia, has a sedentary job and finds yoga soothes the pain in her back after an eight-hour work day. "It's also a good stress-reliever," she said.

Farkas, who has 12 years experience teaching yoga — the first year at the Farmington YMCA — teaches the Hatha branch of yoga. She belongs to, and is a founding member, of the Yoga Association of Greater Detroit which certifies teachers to assure they have proper credentials.

Hatha, Farkas explained, is the physical branch of yoga. It involves more exercise, more breathing techniques and less meditation than its counterparts Raja, Bhakti and Karma. All branches are part of a vast philosophical system devised in India several centuries before the birth of Christ.

People shy away from yoga, Farkas said, because of its many misconceptions. "People think it's a religion. They think we (yogis) lay on beds of nails, eat snakes, stare at our navels. They say they can't stand on their heads. Actually, only a few of the very advanced postures involve standing on the head."

PEOPLE ALSO mistakenly think yoga is not challenging enough of an exercise. Although the movements are very slow, rhythmic and gentle, they work to tone the muscles. "You can become an athlete through yoga," Farkas said. Combined with an aerobic workout to condition the heart and lungs — the only body parts yoga misses — yoga can provide a total health regimen, she added.

Yoga's also an exercise — because people go at their own speed — that can successfully be done by all ages and body types.

Yoga reached a peak in popularity during the 1960s and early 1970s, Farkas said, when many of the flower children began practicing it. "A typical yoga class had about 50 people in it," Farkas said.

Then, in the late 1970's, the emphasis in health and fitness turned to aerobics.

HOWEVER, Farkas predicts a resurgence in yoga because of the attention health experts are giving to the harmful results of stress and yoga's ability to relieve them. Her current class enrolls 26, Farkas said, which is an increase from earlier class registrations.

Human beings are born with the ability to do yoga, Farkas said. Babies can lift their feet to their heads with ease. They sit in yoga postures without even thinking about it.

But, as we grow up in the stressful West, our muscles tighten. "We spend our whole lives cramping up, cramping up," Farkas said, illustrating her point by pulling her arms and hands tightly to her chest. The Western culture provides no avenue like yoga for relaxing those muscles. "People actually grow shorter (as they age)."

Farkas, who practices yoga four to five times a week, said she's learned through yoga to cope with the daily stresses of her job in a newspaper advertisement placement office. If she notices her breathing start to accelerate or her movements becoming rushed, she consciously can slow down her breathing and begin to relax.

Taking precautions helps avoid injuries

WHETHER YOU'RE a weekend athlete or a competitive long-distance runner, knowing proper exercise safety precautions will help you avoid injuries.

Today, too many people suffer from "exercise burnout" and sports-related injuries because they throw themselves into an exercise regimen without adequate preparation.

Many fitness experts believe that instead of being a "sweat and suffer" ordeal, an exercise routine should be enjoyable part of life.

Here are 10 recommended exercise safety tips:

- Check with a doctor before engaging in any exercise regimen. Know your limitations. Don't expect to get back into shape overnight. Pace yourself. Learn to prevent back injuries. Exercise that concentrate on the abdominal muscles require extra safety precautions.

doing these exercises, flattening the back to the floor will relieve unnecessary strain on the back. In order to keep the lower back on the floor, bend the knees and tuck in chin to chest gently without reducing your airflow.

- Stretch out and warm up. Bouncing stretches are too harsh. Cardiovascular routines should not come to a screeching halt. Learn to breathe properly. Learn to relax.

Plenty in store for running buffs

Runners: Treat heel injury early

The following column discusses various injuries caused by running or jogging. It is written by Dr. Bruce I. Kaczander and Dr. Brian L. Kerman, partners in Family Podiatrists in Canton and Southfield. Both doctors live in West Bloomfield Township.

jogging

THE MOST common cause of heel pain in a runner is a condition known as "plantar fasciitis." The plantar fascia is a protective tough tissue which extends from the base of the heel to the ball of the foot and protects the 17 muscles which lie in four distinct layers within the arch of the foot. It acts as the foot's shock absorber.

The plantar fascia normally is a fairly resilient structure which helps maintain the total architecture of the foot. But sometimes the ligaments binding the bones of the arch become weakened. Then, the muscles of the sole of the foot lose some of their elasticity, and sooner or later, the protecting fascia becomes stretched and painful.

PLANTAR FASCIITIS is an overuse syndrome. As in other overuse injuries, the pain develops at the beginning of a workout, but diminishes during running, only to recur at the finish or later. Frequently, the patient will experience pain with the first few steps taken in the morning. If left untreated, this condition can progress to what is known as a heel spur.

When runners have a plantar fasciitis, their pain is more severe when running on the balls of their feet. When there is a heel spur problem, the pain appears to be more severe at heel contact.

Initial treatment consists of ice, compression and extremity elevation. Occasionally, steroid injections at the point of maximum tenderness will successfully interrupt the pain-injury cycle. Treatment must be individualized.

Remember, all athletes have one thing in common — the better trained they are, the closer they are to being on the brink of disaster. The brink of disaster is that state between athletic excellence and athletic disaster.

Too much training can lead to injury. Don't overuse your body.

MANY COMMON sports injuries fit into the category of tendinitis or inflamed tendons. Achilles tendinitis is the second most common injury seen in runners. The Achilles tendon is the cord that arises behind and above the back of the heel bone — it unites the calf muscles and attaches to the heel bone. It bears the brunt of our foot's activity, while transmitting forces through the ankle, leg and thigh.

Inflammation, characterized by swelling and tenderness, usually is a result of prolonged irritation to an area.

Athletes engaged in running sports must use deep and superficial muscles in the back of their legs. These muscles become overdeveloped which produces a compensatory shortening of muscles in the calf and a tightening of the Achilles tendon.

When your body weight glides over your foot, the ankle bends and stretches the heel cord. An inflexible calf muscle, or short leg, can be the cause of excessive stretching of the Achilles, which can produce the inflammation.

THE MOST common symptom is a burning pain in the heel cord when getting out of bed or pain at the start of a run. This usually will dissipate early in the workout and recurs after the exercise is completed.

The most common causes of the development of an Achilles tendinitis are uphill/downhill running and wearing shoes with a rigid sole. When running uphill, a strain is placed on the Achilles as the runner toes off to go up the hill. During downhill running, landing hard on the heel places an excessive strain on the heel. A rigid soled shoe provides inadequate shock absorption.

Other common causes include inadequate and improper warmup, improper positioning of the heel when the foot contacts the surf, tight hamstrings, and too rigid a running surface (concrete).

THE BEST treatment for an Achilles tendinitis is prevention.

Adequate warm-ups and cooling down with stretching and flexing of the Achilles tendon may be the only therapy necessary to clear up this condition. Avoiding extensive uphill/downhill running, or banked soft surfaces, as well as orthotics to control rotation of the heel bone, are helpful. Stretching over ice, or a 1/2-inch or 3/8-inch heel lift also is beneficial.

Injection of steroids should be avoided because this can produce tendon rupture.

Running does not have to be stopped, just decrease the distance and stretch properly before and after the run.

If neglected, a hard nodule will form in the tendon, which may necessitate surgical removal.

Get medical OK before exercising

Most authorities recommend that people older than age 35 who have previously been inactive, or people suspecting a medical problem, obtain a physician's clearance before beginning a vigorous exercise program.

Taking a fitness test is a good way to get an idea of what shape you're in when you start an exercise program, and how to gauge your progress. Standard tests exist which measure cardiorespiratory endurance, flexibility, muscle strength and endurance and body fat.

Studies show that you are more likely to stick with your exercise program if you establish specific and realistic goals and schedules. Set aside a regular time for your workouts and set goals for distance covered, games completed or exercises performed.

National Cancer Awareness Month happens everyday at the American Cancer Detection Center

As seen on Channel 7 News, PM Magazine and PBS Late Night America

By presidential proclamation, April is National Cancer Awareness Month.

The idea is to build Americans' personal awareness and knowledge about our country's #2 killer.

We think it's a great idea. An idea we put into practice everyday.

But the fact remains—Cancer is a terrifying disease and justifiably so; 1 out of 4 Americans will develop cancer in their lifetime and 500,000 Americans will die of cancer this year alone.

The mere numbers alone are terrifying, but they don't have to be as bad as they are now.

The most important fact to remember about cancer is that cancer is the most curable of all chronic diseases—if it is detected early!

That's why the American Cancer Society recommends a yearly cancer related examination for everyone over forty, before the symptoms appear.

And that's also why we've designed medical facilities dedicated exclusively to early cancer detection—with every cancer screening test all under one roof. The American Cancer Detection Centers.

Remember, the best way to fight cancer is to find it—and find it early.

Get into the habit of having a cancer detection exam at least once a year. It simply makes good health sense for everyone. Call for more information or an appointment.

Natural remedies can ease backaches

CONTRARY TO public opinion, backaches are not normal to the aging process.

There are a myriad of causes for backaches. One cause of backache may be the furniture in your house or apartment — particularly the bed. A soft mattress that "gives" a great deal is a likely source of back trouble. Without proper support, the spine may become unaligned. Soft chairs can cause the same result. If your mattress is too soft, buy a new one. If you can't afford it, stick a board between the mattress and bedsprings.

One major cause of backache among women is high heels or platform shoes. Such shoes distort the posture and the spine, putting strain on lower back muscles.

Some people with backaches discover — after paying huge medical bills — that one leg may be shorter than another, causing strain to back muscles. Lie on the floor and see if your feet touch each other in perfect alignment. If one leg is shorter, spinal adjustment often can eliminate the disparity.

DON'T ENGAGE in a lot of unnecessary bending. Stoves, counters and tables that are too low should be replaced.

Bending and lifting result in a large percentage of backaches. People should keep the burden of weight in front of them, bend their knees, and lift with their arms and legs — not with their lower back.

Many people have thrown out their backs carrying the laundry or groceries off to one side. Keep the spine straight. Carry the burden in front of you.

The two most important causes of backache, according to some experts, are a lack of exercise and an improper diet. It may be hard to believe that an unbalanced diet may cause such a problem, but scientific tests have proved that the addition of a nutritional balance often can eliminate backache quickly and completely.

MANY BACKACHES result from allergic reactions to certain foods and can be eliminated when the food is no longer eaten. Backaches disappear when protein, calcium and magnesium, as well as other nutrients, are balanced.

A study at Baylor University found that frequent doses of Vitamin C relieved lower back pain. Vitamin E and manganese have been shown to work as maintenance vitamins, helping to keep ligaments and back muscles in top form.

It must come as no surprise that exercise can eliminate back problems. Healthy back muscles aid the spine, helping to keep it straight and in place. Sit-ups are recommended for strengthening back muscles.

When driving long distances, stop often to relax these muscles. The same is true at work. Get up and walk around every hour or so.

Weight No Longer

Be another Be Trim! success story.

Be Trim! classes are about to begin at Arbor Health Building.

Experience the feeling of success with Be Trim!, a proven program that can help you control your weight.

Be Trim! isn't just another diet program or just a plan for better nutrition. It's not another quick weight loss program where the weight comes right back on.

Be Trim! is a program for lifelong weight control that fits you and your lifestyle. Because you design your program yourself.

When you attend a Be Trim! session you'll learn how to develop a lifestyle that gives you total control of your weight. With Be Trim! you'll make better nutritional choices and be able to handle stress without overeating or feeling deprived.

At the program's end, your days in the diet/weight gain cycle will be over. At long last, you'll be able to take charge of your weight. For the rest of your life.

All it takes is nine informative sessions. And the first session is free.

Come to a Be Trim! session and be on your way to permanent weight control.
