Plymouth prepares for kickoff of Fall Festival

The Plymouth Fall Festival will be three decades old when the last barbecued chicken is sold Sunday night.

The festival which started with a picnic with barbecued chicken by Plymouth Rotary in 1955, will officially end with the Rotary Chicken Barbecue Sunday night when the last of some 12.000 dinners are expected to be sold.

Resides that similarity, though, little in common remains with the original festival" 30 years ago and the fourday community celebration of fall which opens Thursday.

A new feature this year is that all main meals" will be prepared at The Gathering which will be screened-in. based on instructions of the Wayne County Realth Department.

Most activities will be in the immediate area of Kellogg Park, although the Plymouth Community Arts Council (PCAC) Artist and Craftsman Show will be in Central Middle School and the Plymouth Symphony League's Antique Mart in the Plymouth Cultural Center

The main meal Friday will be the Fish Fry featuring Orange Roughy by the Plymouth Lions Club 2-9 p.m. Square dancers will be at the bandshell in Kellogg Park at 8:15 p.m. Friday.

The Antique Mart will open at noon Friday and run until 9 p.m. and will run from noon-9 p.m. Saturday and noon-6 p.m. Sunday in the Cultural Center.

ON SATURDAY the Plymouth Kiwanis Club will hold its Pancake Festival from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. and then the Plymouth Jaycees will have its Spaghetti Dinner 4-8 p.m.

The Plymouth area firefighters will have its waterball contest and muster on Main Street from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The PCAC art show will be from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday at Central Middle School and continue on Sunday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Another Saturday feature will be the Pet Show from 9 a.m. to noon in Kellogg Park sponsored by the Plymouth Optimists in cooperation with the community education department of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

The Three Cities Art Club will have its exhibit in Kellogg Park from noon to 6 p.m. Saturday.

Demonstrations will be held at the Plymouth Historical Museum, Church at Main, from noon to 6 p.m. Saturday

THE PLYMOUTH ROTARY chicken barbeque will be from noon to 6 p.m. Sunday at Kellogg Park with a carryout station operated at Sheldon and Ann Arbor Roads.

An antique car display will be all day Sunday on Penniman Avenue west of Main Street, and the produce tent will be at the Wilcox House at Union and Penniman all day Sunday.

The opening ceremonies and awards will be at the bandshell Thursday at 7 p.m. Featured entertainers Thursday in Kellogg Park will be guitarist Jayne Carter and Sherman Arnold with his Tribute to Elvis Show.

The R.E. Olds Museum of Lansing will be sending 17 cars vintage 1895 1914 through Plymouth from 3-4 p.m. Friday.

A controversial land rezoning. swearing in police auxiliaries, and action on a fire insurance withholding act are the top agenda items for tonight's Plymouth City Commission meeting. Commissioners will act on the rezoning of the former Clarence Moore farm, behind Burroughs Street, south of Kellogg and Deer The planning commission re mended denial of the request.

Also on tap will be the oath of office for nine auxiliary police officers. The supplemental unit plans to make its debut at this week's Fall Festival.

Based on the recommendation of the city attorney, commissioners also will consider passing a resolu-tion to adopt the state fire insurance withholding act. That act would allow the city to receive a portion of insurance proceeds to insure re-

THE MOORE farm property recently was sold to the Moore Property Development Co.

Former Mayor Jim Jabara, a partner in the company, has requested the parcel be rezoned from single-family residential to multifamily, two-story residential.

"This request has been approved by our planning consultants, Vilican-Leman & Associates," according to City Manager Henry Graper.

It was also brought before the planning commission on Aug. 14, where the vote was 3-3, and subsequently was denied.

Three of the planning commission members were not in attendance at that meeting. This Item probably should have been tabled until all the planning commission members were in attendance," Graper said.

According to planning commission minutes, the rezoning is being sought to allow construction of about 35 condo units - which is half of what density requirements would

The property is surrounded by residential single-family homes to the south, a creek to the east, and multiple family units to the west and north.

In another police-related item, the Commission will be asked to approve a $3,000 bid for installing a radio dispatch console.

"We have received two quotes from two firms for the installation of the new dispatch console, which will be shipped from California within the next week," Graper said.

We have done business with Communication Service Inc. in the past and their bid was $3,000. Another bid of $2,995 was

THE STATE'S fire insurance withholding act must be adopted by a local government before they can participate in the program.

"I contacted the city attorney for the purpose of studying Act 495, commonly known as the Fire Insurance Withholding Act," Acting Fire Chief Al Matthews wrote to Graper.

"I recommend that the city see formal adoption of this act and become an active participant in the

The outstanding feature of this act is that it would permit the city to recoup a portion, if not all, of its expenses if it were required to use its own personnel or hire a company to board up or remove a damaged structure," Matthews said.

'The act, as well, would discourage the owner of any given building to leave a damaged structure in a state of disrepair for an extended period of time."

Under the act, when a landowner collects insurance funds due to a fire or disaster, a portion of the funds are withheld to insure repairs or demolition take place.

Once the work is done, the withheld money is returned to the property owner.

Plymouth Township recently passed a similar resolution and oined the program.

Tonight's meeting starts at 7:30 in the second floor meeting room at City Hall, the corner of Main and Church. A precommission meeting starts at 7 p.m. in the city manager's first-floor conference room.

Have a learning problem? There's help

By Tim Richard staff writer

> OT A learning problem? Any learning problem.

Maybe you're enrolling in college after raising kids for 15 years. Or you're fresh out of high school but having trouble with the college learning environment. You've hired an otherwise good worker who has trouble filling out forms.

You're a high school student with a learning problem . . . or a high school student who wants to be well prepared to take a college entrance

"We provide academic assistance to all students," beams Sirkka Gudan, coordinator of Schoolcraft College's Learning Assistance Center.

"We've expanded," she adds, nodding not only to her redecorated suite in Rom 130 of the Liberal Arts Building at the north end of campus, but to the number of tasks her center is asked to perform.

INDEED THE Learning Assistance Center has expanded, according to academic Vice President Conway Jef-

"It's not just developmental (remedial) studies. It now covers all departments. It helps with basic English and at the highest level," Jeffress said.

"In 1978 it was established as the Learning Opportunities Center and was primarily counseling at that time. It grew slowly. It was in the Office of Student Services (along with counseling and admissions).

"In 1982, shortly after I got here, we moved it to the Office of Instruction."

Schoolcraft felt two influences from the outside world.

First, the North Central Association accrediting team in 1981 found Schoolcraft's various assistance efforts were fragmented and needed to be under a single office. Schoolcraft saw a need to make sure students didn't fall by the wayside because no one cared enough to give them an extra bit of help.

Second, last December the Governor's Commission on the Future of Higher Education in Michigan strongly recommended that four-year colleges get out of the remedial business and turn the job over to two-year community colleges.

"My philosophy is different," Jef-fress added. "We should not solely concentrate on remedial work. Students need help at various times in their careers. "Sirkka — bless her heart — took that and ran with it."

GUDAN JOINED the former Opportunity Center in 1980 and was promoted to coordinator of the Learning Assistance Center in August of 1981.

A native of Finland, she couldn't speak a word of English when she landed in a first-grade class in the Clarenceville district at the age of 7.

After graduating from Wayne State, she taught in Detroit's Tart Junior High and Redford High schools in the '60s, then became a reading specialist in the Livonia District's Whitman Center. Currently she is a pre-doctoral candidate in educational psychology at the University of Mich-said Jeffress, there were two fulltime persons, one part-time tutor and part-time secretary. Today there are four full-time faculty (all with master's degrees in reading and study skills), five part-time lab coordinators and 125 paid student tutors.

One specialist, Judy Mack, is assigned to the Physical Education Department to monitor all 130 athletes and work with those who need academic and psychological help. That program was started in 1984. This fall it has its own room in the PE Building.

Faculty is supplemented by 20 unpaid volunteers - some of them retired teachers.

Has it worked? "We did studies," Jeffress answered. One was of students who had been academically dismissed after taking 30 credit hours and failing to achieve a 1.75 grade-point average.

"We tell them to drop down the number of courses and go through the Learning Assistance Center. Of those creased their grade point averages."

THE NUMBER of things the LAC staff does is almost equal to the number of students who have come to it — 2,700 of the approximately 8,000 enrollment. Examples:

• All 2,500 incoming students receive orientation or "asset" testing from the LAC.

• The academically dismissed who seek to continue college are assigned there. "We have videotapes that focus on their specific problems. The biology department has made some excellent tapes," said Gudan.

 Students on probation can get not only academic help but aid in working out a schedule to juggle family, work and school responsibilities. Many will overload themselves, Gudan said. "Many older adults are not familiar with how to be a student. An 18-year-old may know how to do it but won't do it - an attitude prob-

Surviving tyranny is hidden message in 'Spider Woman'

Good movies are entertaining, stimulating, thoughtful and thought-provoking. They require intelligence, talent and creativity. "The Kiss of the Spider Woman" adds humor and sensitivity to those characteristics and is one of the better movies

The entire production is pleasantly misleading from the very start. The Spider Woman is not some plastic Japanese monster who kisses her victims to death. Rather, the film is by turns a touching, amusing, frightening story of two men surviving inhuman imprisonment in a totalitarian regime.

Luis Molina (William Hurt) has been sentenced to an eight-year prison term for sexually corrupting a young boy. He survives, psychologically, by "telling" movies to his cellmate, Valentin Arrugiea (Raul Julia), a political prisoner who lives on anger at the repressive regime and on belief in the moral rightness of the resistance.

Ultimately, however, under torture, Valentin takes refuge in his memories of an upper-class girl, Marta (Sonia Braga), with whom he had an affair. He, too, survives in the dream world of illusions as irrelevant as Luis' movies to which Valentin ob-

"THE KISS of the Spider Woman" is set in South America, presenting a clear but simple statement about repressive dictatorships south of the border and the terrible methods used to achieve their ends.

But the film is not about Argentina or Chile or any other South American country any more than it is about a homosexual and a political activist. "The Kiss of the Spider Woman" is about tyranny and repression everywhere and the great courage some have to survive the worst tortures men can inflict. Those survivors become great symbols of human courage at its best because they value the humanity of their brethren while maintaining their own digni-

Luis has reached a terrible crossroad. He wants to love and be loved, but he is imprisoned for homosexuality. The prison warden promises him freedom, to care for his ill mother, in return for gaining

Valentin's confidence and, of course, underground

Luis overcomes Valentin's initial hostility and anger. Gradually they become such good comrades that Valentin requests that Luis continue "telling" his movie. It is a stupid Nazi propaganda film, vastly and humorously overplayed but, in Luis' words, Sonia Braga stars in that movie, as well as taking the title role in another film Luis tells, "The Kiss of the Spider Woman." Her versatility in three diverse but essentially sappy "B" movie roles complements the broad range of emotion William Hurt projects. Raul Julia, as well, displays tremendous passion in his anger, fear, frustration and humanity. The entire cast, in fact, is a great credit to the production.

BY FAR, Hurt excels as the tortured homosexual who cannot find peace. The sensitivity of his portraval and his range of acting skills prevent the film from degenerating into mawkish sentimentality. Hurt avoids the embarrassed posturing so often pictured as homosexual behavior, while acting like a man who prefers feminine characteristics. He is sentimental in the best sense of the term but never maudlin. He never simpers, he just suffers and we

The other remarkable feature of "Spider Woman" is the sophisticated way in which the film deals with reality and illusion; an age-old question, what is real? The film constantly and delicately threads its way in and out of the film stories Luis "tells." In these "B" movie characters and characterizations he finds salvation for they are "so romantic" and his surroundings are anything but.

A good deal of the smooth transition from reality to illusion and back develops as Valentin gradually accepts Luis' sensitivity and realizes that the silly film stories are not for pleasure alone. Their illusory setting is the only safe place in a tortured world.

Although ultimately grim and pessimistic in its conclusions about our world, "The Kiss of the Spider Woman" celebrates man's courage and humanity in such a sensitive way that you will leave the theater with a heightened sense of human worth.

Caymus Vineyards is noteworthy

California wine industry are written, they usually focus heavily on two important intervals. First is the 1850-1870 period when names like Charles Krug, Beringer, Harazthy, Schramm and Niebaum stand out as pioneers in creating a new industry.

Following the initial pair of decades, then punctuated by the phylloxera louse toward the end of the century and Prohibition sometime later, the next important time interval begins in the late 1960s when the industry as we know it today had its beginnings. This period is populated with names like Robert Mondavi, Sebastiani, Joe Heitz, Mayacamas, Joseph Swan, Fetzer, Ridge and Chalone - the list is a long one.

Between these two intervals there were a few other important names in Wente and perhaps Stony Hill. But there really are not very many when the ask," is Wagner's re-extended time interval is sponse. Today his Special sole leader.)

Church St. school safety problem before 1937

Prior to 1937 Church Street ran directly in front of the school building which housed the high school and the grade school in Plymouth.

Beyond Church Street, facing the school, was Central Park which extended to Main Street opposite the old Village Hall. The lot immediately southwest of the park, where the boulevard section of Church Street now runs, was the site of the manse which the Presbyterians had built in 1911.

AT ONE TIME there seems to have been some doubt whether Central Park belonged to the school district or to the village.

In 1874, for example, acting on the premise that it belonged to the school, a group of citizens petitioned the board to build a plank walk from the school, through the grove of trees that stood in the park, to Main Street near the residence of O. J. Punches. The board approved the project on a motion from E. J. Penniman and the walk was constructed at a cost of $71.

In 1898, still operating on the supposition that the park belonged to the school district, the board decided that the walk on Main Street should be cleaned by the school janitor. In 1900, it decided that a well in the park in front of the school should be cleaned and a pump bought for the use of school children when they needed a drink.

At the annual meeting of the school district in 1900, on a motion by George Starkweather, it was decided to ask the village to pay one-half, and the school board the other half, of the cost of a new cement walk on Main Street. The walk from Mrs. Palmer's corner on the northeast to the Presbyterian property on the southwest, covered a distance of

Whether the school district ever actually owned the park is not clear, but it has been city property for as far back as current city officials can re-

AS MIGHT BE expected, wells and sidewalks were among the least of the problems addressed by school boards

Of a more serious nature was the safety hazard occasioned by the proximity of Church Street to the front entrance of the school.

In 1902, for example, the board instructed Superintendent J. E. Meally to see that playing of ball in front of the school and on the street itself was prohibited. And that was before the automobile really made its presence known in any great numbers.

The problem of student safety became more acute as automobiles began to proliferate. On June 8, 1932, on a motion by board member Herald Hamill, the board decided to ask the City Commission (Plymouth became a Home Rule City that year) to close Church Street from Main to the west line of the school property, and establish a new, less-hazardous route.

Nothing was done about this until 1936 when the Presbyterian Church was destroyed by fire on a cold day in January. Three months after the fire, city officials had surveys made of Central Park and of the Presbyterian Church and manse properties. Why Tigers won't repeat in 1985

You won't find the reason for the downfall of the Tigers from their role as world champions to farback also rans in the pennant race.

What caused the drop from what was termed a miracle team a year ago when as starter it won 35 of its first 50 games? It was something unheard of in all the years of the game.

But the great change has come as no great surprise to some of the officials who have watched them every day. In fact the first sign that things possibly would not go well as the defending champions came on the opening day of the current season. AS HAS BEEN his custom for years The Stroller visited some of the officials for lunch that day, and it was while visiting with Jimmy Campbell, the president of the club, he got a hint. During our conversation Campbell was asked about his feelings toward the fans in the bleachers and other so-called dyed-in-the-wool followers.

Without hesitating to answer, he said, "I hope they don't expect too much."

It was a surprising answer. But he wasn't asked to go into details. But it was surprising that he didn't give the usual answer that the team was strong enought to win again. So what really happened?

FIRST OF ALL we must realize that the team this year is a far different team than the one that won the World Series.

The big change came in the departure of Roger Craig, the pitching coach, and Gates Brown, the batting coach.

When you lose two of your top coaches it is bound to have an effect on the team. That would be bad enough. But when injuries creep in and slow down some of the players, it is bound to show in the league standings.

If you look at the team now, you'll see that Milt Wilcox, one of the top pitchers, has been of little use. His loss has been felt.

Then take the case of Jack Morris, the top pitcher. He has been an in and outer over a great part of the race so far. And Lance Parrish, the catcher, has been bothered and even Kirk Gibson, who was one of the main factors a year ago, is suffering from shin splints. His record thus far looks good on paper, but he isn't the asset he was in last year's race.

Take all these things into consideration, and you'll see that the team as a whole is far from the 1984 combination.

NOW, ASIDE FROM all that, Sparky Anderson, the manager who won the series with the Cincinnati team in the National League, has had trouble filling what he termed weak spots.

For several years he has been on the hunt for a third baseman. He had Brookens on hand, but wanted someone else. He even went so far at the start of the season of saying he was planning to shift Whittaker from second base to third. But at the last moment the player asked to keep his regular job at

And there have been all sorts of changes around first base. Several have been tried. But until recently there was no fixture. And there were some shifts in the outfield.

When these things happen, there is bound to be some uneasiness on the squad and it will show in

In recent weeks the bullpen pitchers have been less than phenomenal. Lopez has seen his best days and the others miss the coaching of Roger Craig. And the hitters could use some tips from Gates

And above all these weaknesses the fighting spirit on the field, such as Mickey Cochrane gave the team in 1934-35, is missing. The team has come to the point of playing very poor baseball at times.

So perhaps, Jimmy Campbell, the top executive, was giving his real feelings on Opening Day last April when he said, "I hope they (the fans) don't expect too much."

FEAR OF FALLING

Give-way weakness refers to a sudden loss of strength in the legs. When the individual is moving forward to take the next step, a leg buckles, and the person falls. No preceding pain or unsteadiness

What has occured is that the body anticipates that the next step will cause pain, and refuses to allow that move to occur. In most instances the potentially-painful area is the knee joint which goes into flexion, rather than taking its normal weightbearing position of extension. The result is loss of balance and a fail.

Older people with knee arthritis are fearful of-experiencing an episode of give-way weakness; falle, can be severe and lead to a broken hip or leg. As a result of this concern, the elderly individual may curtail walking and visiting, two activities necessary, for continued health.

Prevention of give-way weakness requires two approaches. First the individual's arthritis needs treatment to control underlying irritable hip and knee joints. Second, the person needs to be convinced of the need to walk with a cane, as it provides support when the leg cannot.

Commission may investigate Nystrom issue

By Teri Banas staff writer

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners may be donning boxing gloves in preparation for a battle with the county executive William Lucas this week over Lucas' approval of a $28-million renovation project his chief of staff stood to benefit from.

The project — to renovate the 83-year-old Old County Building — was approved by Lucas last December. It became the subject of new controversy last week, following disclosures that Lucas' chief of staff, Dennis Nystrom, was a director of a construction firm picked by a group of investors planning to renovate the downtown Detroit commission on Thursday.

The issue drew criticism from two western Wayne County commissioners.

"If indeed it's true that Mr. Nystrom is the director of that company, then I The matter has riled local commis-sioners and has prompted Chairman Lucas," said commissioner Kay Beard, D-Inkster. "This is something that should be thoroughly and completely investigated. We need to know what the ty," she said. "In the first place, there's no such position (chief of staff) in the charter or Lucas' own reorganization

"Lucas has not appointed a deputy CEO and the reason is because of Nystrom. So when Lucas is away, there's no one legally in charge. I think that's a very serious violation of the charter."

According to Beard, Nystrom has caused "great divisiveness between the commission and executive" by an "insulting and overbearing" manner in dealing with commissioners.

COMMISSIONER MARY Dumas, R-Livonia, agreed that the possible impropriety "definitely should be investigated." However, she said it would be unfortunate if the project was delayed because of a possible loss in incometax-credit exemptions for restoration.

Application for that consideration had been filed prior to a Dec. 31, 1984 Besides questioning the impropriety, change in tax law that sliced those ben-

Dumas questioned, however, whether the commission had the authority to appoint a special prosecutor or whether the board should request the state attorney general to do so.

Both commissioners said they weren't surprised by the matter which had been rumored since last Novem-

THE $28-MILLION renovation project was launched last Decen and was scheduled to be completed by 1987. A group of investors purchas the building from Wayne County for $3 million under an agreement calling for the group to spend $25 million renovating the building and then leasing it back to the county. The office of the Wayne County Economic Development Corporation is slated to occupy the building. Work has not begun on the project due to delays in the move-out of the 36th District Court, however.

To perform the interior renovation, the investment group selected the Auburn Hills construction company of Ut-ley-James, Inc., of which Nystrom is reported to have between 15-17 percent interest.

But the investors dropped Utley-ames from consideration last week James from consideration last week when Lucas told them of Nystrom's involvement. Among those working with the investors was Jerry Tannian, a longtime Lucas supporter and fund-ra-iser, who was working as an attorney

Lucas press secretary Bill Johnson said Lucas "has nothing to hide. The at-torneys for the investors group already severed Utley-James from any involvement in the project."

ASKED WHY Lucas didn't mention Nystrom's involvement sooner, such as last December when the investors were selected, he said: "Then he was interested in the restoration work, and the tax exempt benefits would no longer be available."

Nystrom was not available for comment late last week. In published reports, he denied it was a conflict of interest and was unaware of the details of Utley-James' bidding practices.

Even still, Lucas asked that corpora-tion counselor and chief county protion coun secutor John D. O'Hair investigate the matter and make a public report within the week, said Johnson.

Whatever results, it's certain that
Lucas and his staff are concerned about political fall-out. Lucas is now engaged in an unannounced quest for Republican backing for a run at the governership. As a newly-declared Republican, his working relationship with the primarily Democratic commission (Dumas is the sole Republican) is expected to become even more strained.

According to one commissioner, Hertel, himself, may be trying to "make hay" over the situation because of interest he may have in running to succeed Lucas as county executive.

U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, announced today the appointment of Gary M. Cates as press secretary.

Cates, 25, most recently worked as a reporter for the Plymouth and Canton editions of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers and also worked for the Livonia and Farmington Observers.

He replaces William S. Kerans who has accepted a position as public af-fairs manager with Bechtel Power Corp. in Ann Arbor.

During his work as a reporter, Gary has proven to be a hard working, effective writer," said Pursell, whose 2nd District includes Livonia, Plymouth,

"His professionalism and communication skills will be of great benefit as he joins my staff," he added.

For the past four years Gary has tackled some of the most complicated subjects in an informative and accurate manner. I am not the only one who has known Gary and admired his work. He is well thought of and respected by those in the district and by those in his chosen field."

while completing his degree.

"I have enjoyed covering a portion of the 2nd District as a reporter and look forward to serving this area in my new capacity," said Cates.

The new press secretary and wife Debbie are in the process of moving to Washington, D.C.

The issue is you feel Tony Henry should not pay court costs and in "your opinion" he was wronged by the decision of the court.

You stated both yourself and Henry are patriots and believe in this great country. Well, the criminal and civil justice sytsem is a very large part of this country and it's the best system around. Henry chose to file a lawsuit and have a trial by a jury of seven peers in federal court. The jurors listened to testimony and weighed evidence presented in court. (Also, the witnesses testified in court that Tony Henry did, in fact, resist arrest. You should check your facts!) They found after hearing the testimony of two weeks that Tony Henry was not abused nor did he have his civil rights

If you still believe in me, save me.

For nearly a hundred years, the Statue of Liberty has tood on the edge of the New World, America's most powerful symbol of freedom and hope. Today the ravages of almost a century of weather and pollution have left their marks. Corrosion has eaten away at the iron framework. New holes continue to appear in the copper sheets that form the exterior.

Less than a mile away, on Ellis Island where the ancestors of nearly half of all Americans first stepped onto American soil, the Great Hall of the Immigration Center is a hollow ruin. Rooms are vandalized, passageways overgrown with vegetation, walls crumbling in decay.

Inspiring plans have been developed to restore the Statue and to create at Ellis Island a living monument to the ethnic diversity of this country of immigrants. But unless restoration is begun now, ceremonies marking the hundredth anniversaries of these two landmarks in America's heritage could be held in commemoration of national treasures that no longer exist. Sections of the statue have already been declared unsafe and closed to visitors. The 230 million dollars needed to carry out the work is needed now.

All of the money must come from private donations; the federal government is not raising the funds. This is consistent with the origins of the Statue. The French people themselves paid for its creation. And thousands of American school children contributed to its construction and to the pedestal.

The Statue of Liberty-Ellis Island Centennial Commission appointed by President Reagan is asking every American business, every American citizen to join in raising these funds. The torch of liberty is everyone's to cherish. Could we hold up our heads as Americans if we allowed the time to come when she can no longer hold up hers?

One hundred years ago school children gave their pennies to put her up. Your dollars can keep her from falling down.

hef Shares Secret for Favorite Summertime Desserts

Peter Piper may have "picked a peck of pickled peppers," but Chef Steven Mark Weiss can tell you how to pick the best fruits of summer and turn them into dessert favorites, from pies to parfaits.

A graduate of the Culinary Institute of America, Steve is a chef, food writer and food consultant who's not interested in telling people how to cook "gourmet," but rather in teaching them how to cook "good" every day of the week. With his wit, imagination and know-how, Steve can mix up some simple convenience products such as Jell-O brand gelatin and Cool Whip whipped topping, add some fresh fruit and create a dessert impressive enough to set before a king. You can, too.

Steve laments the fact that many people approach cooking with fear instead of fun. "Stop thinking that you need to serve an internship, have three apprentices and five electrical appliances to be creative in the kitchen." He believes, "A little culinary silliness is good for the soul." To prove his point, Steve has created two simple yet inspiring desserts. Yet all they require are some convenient ingredients and the great fresh fruits of summer.

Fresh Fruit Ice Cream Pie looks and tastes luscious, yet it's so easy that a novice in the kitchen won't be intimidated. "The hero of this pie is the fruit," Steve points out, along with the fact that it's quickly and simply put together in one bowl.

Fresh Fruit Mousse Parfait is light and luscious. Steve shares a chef's secret for turning out this special dessert. 'The finest chefs use gelatin, whipping cream and egg whites when making a mousse." Household chefs can turn out "a truly fine mousse," he assures, with fruit flavor gelatin and frozen whipped topping. "You still need the egg whites for volume and lightness," Steve points out, "but you'll be pleased with the results." The key to its lusciousness is all the fresh fruit and care and patience when folding into egg whites.

So go ahead. Follow Chef Steven Mark Weiss's advice, "Have a ball in the kitchen." You can start this summer with two of Steve's summertime dessert recipes.

Fresh Fruit Mousse Parfait

- package (4-serving size) gelatin or sugar free gelatin, any flavor
- 1 cup boiling water 1/2 cup sugar pint fresh fruit*
- 2 egg whites

*Try these fruit and gelatin combinations: Strawberries, hulled, with strawberry flavor gelatin Peaches, pitted and quartered, with peach flavor gelatin Plums, pitted and quartered, with lemon flavor gelatin Pears, cored and quartered, with lime flavor gelatin

Fresh Fruit Ice Cream Pie

Beans taste good, hot or cold

Before I knew beans about beans, I was hot and cold on the subject. That's because:

When I was a kid, my dad made a soup with great northern beans, refrigerated it overnight, sprinkled on some black pepper and squeezed a little lemon over it. I really loved that soup.

When I was in the Army, I ate cold beans out of a can many times on maneuvers in West Germany, rain often dripping from my helmet. I hated that, and for many years wouldn't eat beans cold, soupy or not.

I didn't know what I was missing. Sure, I still love hot bean soup. But I have found my way back to the cold.

Since I'm older, I eat many things that are good for me that I once turned up my spoon at. Beans are loaded with nutrition: calcium, iron, niacin, phosphorous, protein, thiamin and zinc.

MICHIGAN RAISES most of the crop produced in a dozen states, from the red kidney beans to the white navy beans. In fact, Michigan accounts for about 95 percent of the total navy bean crop.

All varieties of dried beans are among the most economical staples around.

You can refrigerate bean soup about a week, but freeze it up to six months.

I prepared a large pot of navy bean soup and set aside half of it for the cold soup base. Four of us enjoyed the hot soup.

Then I went to work and prepared the cold soup base. It's simple. Just make sure the container is airtight. Place it in the freezer and forget about it.

I forgot about it for four weeks.

HOT NAVY BEAN SOUP 2 cups dried navy beans, soaked overnight and drained 5 cups water

2 medium onions, coarsely chopped 2 carrots, diced 2 celery ribs with leaves, chopped 1 garlic clove, minced

1 bay leaf 4 lb. salt pork, diced 1 Tbsp. vegetable oil

Place beans in large pot, add rest of ingredients except oil, bring to boil, reduce heat to low, add oil, cover and simmer 1 1/2 hours. Reserve half of bean mixture, removing to saucepan with slotted spoon, and ¼ cup cooking liquid for cold soup base. Serve remainder hot, adding salt and black pepper if desired. Serves 4.

COLD NAVY BEAN SOUP Half of cooked navy bean mixture, cooled

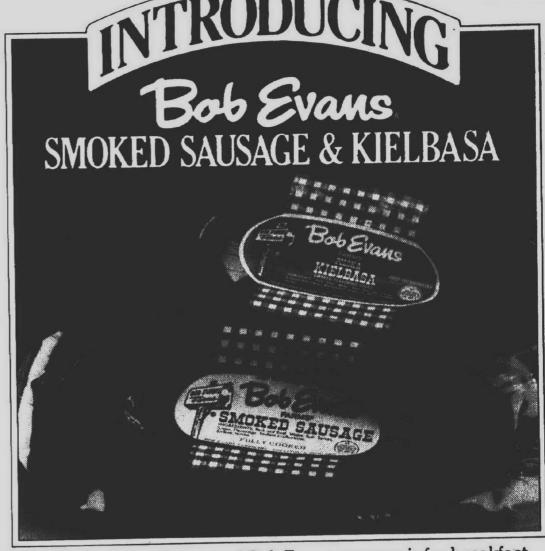

1/4 cup cooking liquid 3 Tbsp. margarine, cut in bits 1/2 tsp. salt

¼ tsp. black pepper 1¾ cups chicken broth

% cup light cream 2 Tbsp. chopped parsley 1/4 tsp. dried marjoram

¼ tsp. ground nutmeg

Puree bean mixture in blender or food processor a little at a time, gradually adding cooking liquid. Stir in margarine, salt and pepper; place in airtight container and freeze. When ready to use, defrost and pour soup base into large bowl. Stir in broth, remaining ingredients and adjust salt and pepper seasoning to taste; cover and chill. Serves 4.

This barbecue is a real taste pleaser

Here's a barbecue idea which will 2 cloves garlic, minced appeal to men!

Let dad prepare a beef barbecue in the backyard for a wonderful and memorable meal. He will welcome the opportunity to share his culinary skills with the rest of the family.

A slow charcoal fire cooks beef to its most flavorful, tender and juicy best by cooking at low to moderate temperatures. Beef easily picks up the smoky barbecue flavor to enhance its own flavorful taste. Some like their beef unadorned, but other outdoor cooks add flavor variety with marinades, sauces, wood chips or chunks.

The whole family will enjoy the following recipe.

TERIYAKI STEAK WITH ONIONS 1 1/2 lb. beef flanks steak

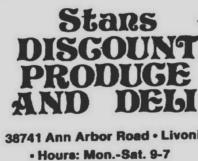

1/4 cup dry white wine 2 thsp. brown sugar 1 tsp. grated ginger root

large sweet onion, sliced 1 thsp. butter or margarine

Combine soy sauce, wine, brown sugar, ginger and garlic. Place steak in plastic bag. Add marinade, turning to coat. Tie bag securely and marinate in refrigerator 6 to 8 hours (or overnight), turning at least once. Drain marinade from steak; and reserve. Broil steak over medium coals 10 to 15 minutes, to doneness desired (rare or medium); turn once. Meanwhile, cook onion in butter in frying pan until soft. Stir in ¼ cup reserved marinade; cook 4 to 5 minutes. Carve steak into thin slices. Serve with onion. 5 to 6 servings.

In the 1800's, baseball was a child's sandlot game. Then came the curve ball, the slide, the crowds and the legends-like Babe Ruth. Baseball had become our national pastime.

Some things never change. But one great American tradition has changed—U.S. Savings Bonds. Now Savings Bonds pay higher variable interest rates like money market accounts. Currently, Bonds are paying 9.49%. Just hold Savings Bonds for five

The Workout Company is setting for aerobics champ

By Tom Baer staff writer

HE COACHES at Farmington Mercy missed out on a good thing when Jacqui Chabot picked ancing over sports back in her high school days.
Watching Chabot now 23 and Watching Chabot, now 23 and seemingly as physically fit as a woman can be, lead the advanced aerobics class at The Workout Company, you get the idea that she would have excelled at basketball or gymnastics or swimming or softball or anything requiring stamina or physical skills.

But Chabot — raised in Garden City, educated at the all-girl parochial school in Farmington Hills and now employed at The Workout Company, a Bloomfield Township health spa—stuck with the ballet, tapp, jazz and modern dance which had been her life since age 10.

"I was busy dancing five nights a week," she remembered.

Now she's combined her dance background and her interest in physical fitness. The result: aerobic dancing.

Chabot and David McKay of Dearborn combined to win a mixed doubles regional championship last month in the Crystal Light National Aerobic Competition in Chicago.

By winning, the duo earned the right to represent the midwest at the national competition in Los Angeles in October.

"They're trying to establish aerobics as a sport, a physical sport," Chabot said in a recent interview. "It's a three-minute routine that you do. You're judged on originality, and there's a series of compulsory exercises you must do."

day,

AEROBICS, WHICH has become a national exercise fad, is "designed to increase your heart rate so that you burn off calories after you sustain it for 20 minutes or so," Chabot, who is majoring in exercise physiology at Wayne State University.

Wayne State University.

"Any type of exercise can become aerobic. Swimming is, jogging is, bike-riding is, You're getting your heart rate up. As your blood circulates, you're burning off calories and you're body is using more oxygen.

Aerobic essentially means with oxygen. It's basically a matter of getting your heart rate up so you can burn off calories and increase the capacity of your heart and circulatory system.'

— Jacqui Chabot aerobics instructor

"Aerobic essentially means with oxygen. It's basically a matter of getting your heart rate up so you can burn off calories and increase the capacity of your heart and circulatory

Aerobics (with "dance interpretations" in Chabot's words) is usually in a group to the beat of upscale, fastpaced music.

"That's what makes it different from jogging or swimming," she said. "That's what makes it fun.

"People like to move to music. It's a group situation. If you get the right teacher . . . well, the right teacher can get the group really revved up. People scream and yell."

Chabot considers herself to be "the right teacher" — and most of her students would agree.

"I decided to cross over to the fitness field because it seemed to offer a little more stability as a career," she said. "I chose this particular part of it so I could incorporate some of my dance background.

"I love working with people, and I love seeing improvements in people."

TEACHING AEROBICS, however, could get to be too much of a good thing for Chabot, who also teaches classes at the Dearborn Athletic Club.

"I really enjoy teaching and I think I'll always do it at least part of the time," she said. "But it's not something I want to continue for the rest of my life.

"Right now, I'm teaching about 15 to 20 classes a week, and no one can maintain that for very long, physically. That's an awful lot of exercise."

Chabot, a Detroit resident, found time to dance in three television commercials. One of them, which touted MTV (rock videos), appeared throughout the midwest. The others were for Pontiac autos and radio station WLBS.

"I also had an exercise show on a local cable TV channel, but I quit," she said. "I just didn't have the time."
Her studies at WSU is one reason she couldn't find time for television.

"I'm a senior in status, but I changed my major just last year, so I have a couple of years to go," she

"I'll probably go right into a master's program. A bachelor's in the field doesn't get you anywhere. What I'd like to do is work as a consultant for firms which are trying to promote

"Either that or I'd like to get involved in the certification process for teachers. There are too many instructors around the country who really don't know what they're doing."

CHABOT AND McKay, a 24-yearold student of aerobics, are laying off practice for about a month "after rehearsing five to seven days a week before we left (for the Chicago competition)," she said.

"We had to let our bodies recover," she said. "In September we'll start again on that schedule — rehearsing and more rehearsing."

Chabot said she hopes a good showing in the Los Angeles tournament may help her future. If she and KcKay win the nationals, which will be televised nationally, they'll be on the Crystal Light Aerobics Team.

"You travel around the country and promote their products," she said.

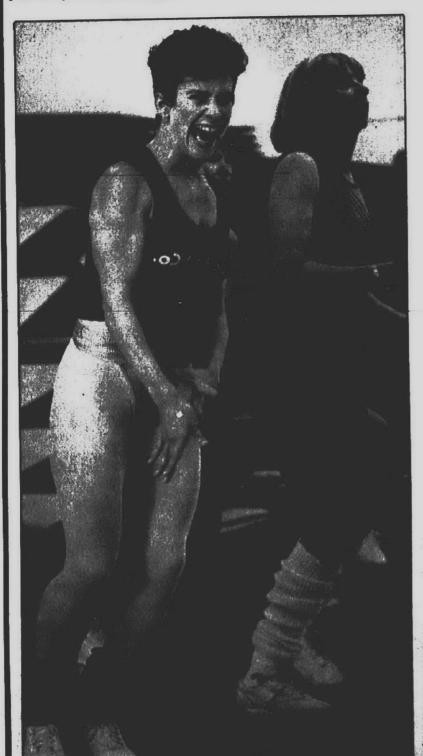

"And also you perform and demonstrate and talk at press conferences and various industry conventions.

"That will allow us to meet people

"That will allow us to meet people and open doors which we'd have to crawl into otherwise. They don't offer great monetary prizes, but they do offer massive exposure. That's what we want"

Jacqui Chabot's a holler gal during the aerobics sessions she leads in the mirrored studio of Ti Workout Company in Bioomfield Township.

Chiefs may 'Blohm' in brand 'Neu' year

By Chris McCosky staff writer

The Plymouth Canton gym is quiet but for Rob Neu's soft voice. As he addresses an attentive band of girl basketball players, Bob Blohm strolls in. "Come on Bob, we've got to get to work. Let's go," sald Neu. 'This guy's a slave-driver, isn't he,"

The irony is obvious. Most of what Rob Neu knows of the game of basketball was taught to him by Blohm and Fred Thomann, the two men he played for not too long ago at Plymouth Sa-

But now Neu is the head man at Canton and Blohm is his assistant.

You have an assistant that won more than 100 basketball games in five years as Salem's head girls coach and a 23year-old head coach that has yet to coach a game at the varsity level.

An odd situation, to be sure. Maybe all, having Blohm at his side should ket and a consistent outside jumper.

help reduce Neu's growing pains. Both have similar philosophies on how the game should be played.

It's been a harmonious situation thus far. Heck nobody thought Oscar Madison and Felix Unger could get along ei-

"THE PLAYERS have been very responsive to us," Neu said. "I think they are very excited about this season. They've listened well and have worked very hard. I see nice desire, their work capacity is tremendous."

Canton returns an experienced and talented team that finished with a 12-10 record last year.

Three starters return from last year's team: Beth Frigge, Diana Knickerbocker and Laura Darby.

Frigge, an exciting player, has been touted as one of the area's top point guards. Only 5-2, she plays with reckless abandon on the court, challenging just odd enough to be successful. After- taller opposition with drives to the bas-

Knickerbocker showed tremendous promise as sophomore two years ago until forced to the sidelines with a knee injury. Last year, her game was on and

"Knickerbocker has been a pleasant surprise this summer," Neu said. "She's really played well. She's going to surprise some people."

Darby was the Chiefs' top scorer last year. A solid 5-10, she can be a force inside scoring and rebounding.

TWO OTHER players returning that saw significant duty last season are Lori Schauder, a quick, explosive senior forward and Penny Piggott, a 6-foot junior who appears to have gained a good deal of strength over the summer.

Neu is also high on 5-10 sophomore

"She's a good one. You're really going to like her," he said.

Vicki Ferko, a junior, is also returning. She was impressive in her very limited time at the varsity level a year

"I don't want to come out and say we are going to win a specific number of games," Neu said. "Let's just say we are going to be able to step in the gym and play. We are prepared to challenge for the league championship."

The cynics will snicker at that, but most area coaches agree. In fact, the general consensus is that the Western Division of the Western Lakes may come down to a Livonia Churchill-Plymouth Canton duel.

"The girls want to win. You can see that in the way they've been working," Neu said. "It's almost like they feel they have something to prove."

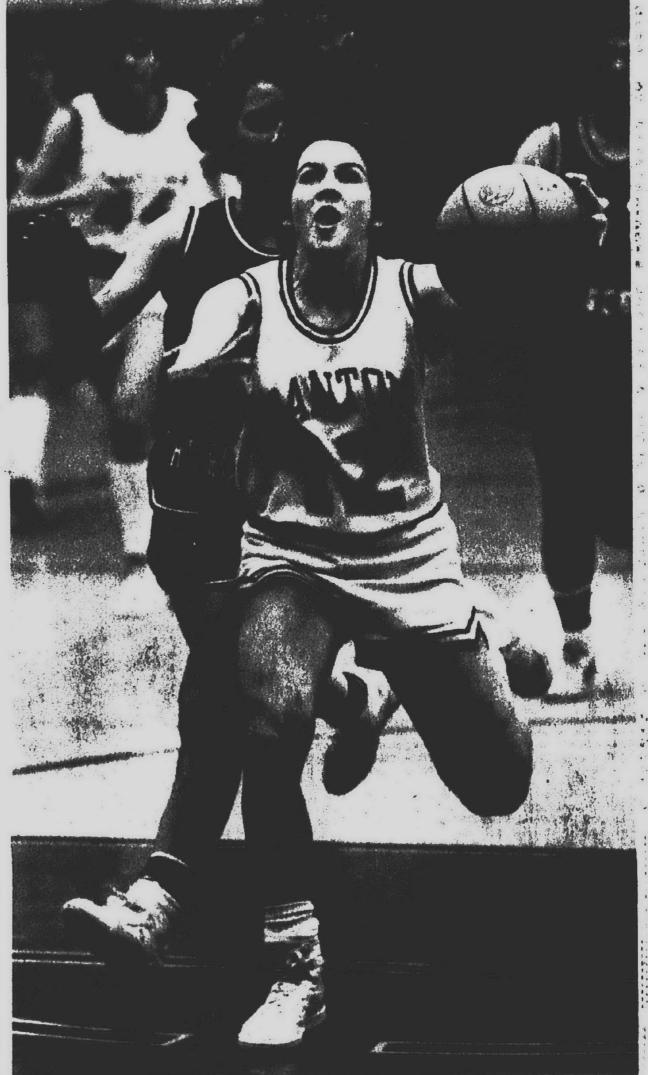

THE ONE concern that lingers in the Canton camp is a lack of preparation time. While most area teams were playing in summer camps, Canton was still looking for a head coach. When Neu was finally hired, there was only two months of summer left.

Yes, we were a bit worried about that. We got a late start," Neu said. "We just had to work extra hard to make up for it.. I'll never use that as an excuse. Some of the girls went to skills camps and we scratched around and got in a few games. We aren't looking to make excuses."

No need to. All in all, there's reason for optimism in the Canton camp. The team has size, skilled players and senior leadership.

And it has about as dynamic and enthusiastic a coaching duo as there is in the area - and it is said that a team's character reflects that of its coaches.

By the way, you might want to circle the date Oct. 15 on your calander. That's when Canton plays Salem. Make sure you wear non-flammable clothing. Sparks are going to fly.

There is one significant difference between last year's Oakland University mens soccer team and this season's edition - newcomers.

A year ago, coach Gary Parsons was trying to blend five junior college transfers — Meally Freeze (Olle). Day Haisel from Rogers State (Okla.), Don Gemmell and Greg Nasello from Lewis and Clark (Ill.) and Dan O'Shea from Schoolcraft College — into the lineup.

The Pioneers got off to a bit of a shaky start, losing in the first round of their own National Invitational Tournament to California State-Los Angeles, but the transition wasn't too unsetthing. They finished 16-3-1 and earned their third-straight NCAA Division II playoff appearance.

OU LOST its first-round match to Seattle-Pacific in a 1-0 shootout. In an effort to bolster the offense, Parsons, the signed just three new recruits, ande two of them front-liners.

"Realistically speaking," the OU coach said, "all of them are challenging for a starting position."

One of the trio expected to break into and players with experience at every the starting lineup is forward Brian Fitzgerald, a sophomore in eligibility who transferred from Indiana-Purdue at Ft. Wayne. Fitzgerald played in high school at Southfield.

Another newcomer getting a long look is Ray Cerekas, a transfer from Macomb Community College where he was a two-time NJCAA all-American. Cerekas will play both forward and midfield. The third recruit challenging for a starting role is stopper John Stewart (Sarnia, Ontario).

"We only lost two players, (forward) Tag Graham and (back) Barry Vince," said Parsons. "We're already a lot further along than last year.

"I'd like to think we'll do much better. By the end of last season, we were at this level," he said, raining his hand to his shoulder. "We hope to take it from there and go higher. Whether we do or not is up to the coaches and play-

Back on the front line is Freeman, a senior left wing from Monrovia, Liberia, who netted 16 goals and 10 assists.

Joining him are Marty Hagen, a junior from Troy (Athens) who finished with nine goals and 10 assists, and Mark Christian, a senior from St. John's, Antigua, who had 10 goals and four as-

Help wanted: Jones needs lots to build Ocelot run program

What Tobin Jones needs as he starts his first season as Schoolcraft College's cross country coach is help. For one, he could use some more Plymouth Canton and Plymouth in the Observerland area, will have plenty of competition in their quest for Western Lakes conference and and Birmingham Brother Rice. state championships this season. Observer sportswriter Brad Emons takes a pre-season look at area's formidable foes for 1985.

By Brad Emons staff writer

Pete Scerri, the highly successful boys soccer coach at Livonia Stevenson, admits his team is rebuilding.

That's good news for the rest of the state -and especially the Spartans' rivals in the Western Lakes Soccer

With one Class A title (1982) and three consecutive trips to the state finals to its credit, Stevenson can't be counted out of the running.

But with Livonia Churchill returning a veteran team to go along with several Bentley High School transfers, and Plymouth Canton getting just about everybody back from a team which tied mighty Stevenson once last year, things could be interesting in 1985.

"This is our rebuilding team, but as usual, we'll work hard and we'll be competitive," Scerri said.

Churchill's John Neff said his team should be improved, but expects Stevenson and Canton to be strong forces

"STEVENSON is always strong and have such a good pool of talented players to pick from," said Neff, who guided Churchill to the 'A' final in 1982. "And Canton did not lose any key players to graduation, and they were an excellent team last year."

Another team to consider once the state tourney begins is Redford Catholic Central, despite the loss to graduation of state record goal scorer Andy Rama. Coach Paul Scicluna has a veteran team back and picked up two important transfer students, including All-Area standout Kevin Tuite from Bent-

Scicluna's team will try for its third Salem, among the best soccer teams straight Catholic League title, but must fend off challenges from Warren De-LaSalle, Harper Woods Notre Dame

With players like All-Observer pick Rob Opatrny returning, Canton believes this is the year, and Scicluna rates them highly.

"Canton has good talent, good coaching and lots of experience coming back," said the CC coach. "Churchill has lots of balance and a good coach and Stevenson is strong because of their past performances."

AREA TEAMS such as Livonia Franklin (Western Lakes), Redford Bishop Borgess (Catholic League) and Garden City (Expressway League) will be hard-pressed to break through and challenge for its respective titles.

Garden City is in a most awkward position. The Cougars' first-year coach, George Vella, is in the midst of a threeweek vacation to Malta and will miss the team's season opener Thursday, Joe Cavolan, the interim coach, admits his soccer background is limited.

It could be a fast learning experience for Cavolan, whose team opens with Livonia Stevenson.

OU eyes national title

The pride of any defense rests in the goals-allowed column, and OU has plenty to be proud of. Senior Paul Larkin (Scarborough, Ontario), an all-Mideast selection and a three-year starter in goal, boasts a 0.70 goals-against average, with a school-record 29 shutouts. He is backed up by senior Dave Marttila (Okemos), who has given up just one goal in 15 games. In all, OU has surrendered just 25 goals in its last like us to be stingier on defense, as a team," he said. "We were a little loose in some areas. We did ing the hall out of the net, but we could play tighter.

THE PIONEERS face another tough schedule, with NCAA Division I powers Akron (home, Oct. 23) and Illinois State (away, Nov. 3) providing difficult tests. Games against Michigan State (home, Oct. 2), Gannon University (away, Oct. 19) and Wright State (home, Nov. 9) are also key confrontations.

But Parsons figures the second annual National Invitational Tournament, at OU Sept. 14-15, may provide the greatest challenge on the schedule "because they are all national-caliber teams."

In the Sept. 14 opening round, Bridgeport faces Davis and Elkins (1 p.m.) and OU meets East Stroudsburg (4 p.m.). The consolation game is at 1 p.m. Sept. 15, with the championship following at 3:30 p.m.

OU and Davis and Elkins were the Mideast Region qualifiers to the NCAA Division II tournament last year. "They have most of their team back, and they have a very strong program," said Parsons of Davis and Elkins. The tournament's championship game will be televised by Pro-Am Sports Systems.
