Pat Thomas, director of the Dunning-Hough Library, hopes voters in Plymouth and Plymouth Township will vote in favor of the establishment of a Library District serving both communities. The election is Tuesday, 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Small turnout forecast for Library District election

By Dennis Coffman
staff writer

Plymouth Township and City of Plymouth voters will decide Tuesday whether to form a communitywide library district.

The library district, with an elected board of trustees (also on the ballot), would determine how the Dunning-Hough Library in Plymouth will be funded and operated.

Currently, the library receives half of its operating expenses ($120,000) from Plymouth Township and a matching amount from the City of Plymouth.

"We want to maintain a continuity of service," said Pat Thomas, library director. "No one wants to see it change."

The library operates on a budget of $330,000. The city and township each pay $120,000 for operating expenses and $28,000 to retire a debt incurred when a wing was added to the library through a bond issue.

EVEN THOUGH the library is located in the city it is not true, according to Thomas, that most patrons live in the city.

"Two-thirds of our patrons are from the township," she said. "Twice as many people in the township use the library. Of the 13,000 to 14,000 registered patrons, 9,000 are from the township."

Thomas said a major advantage of having a library district would be the elimination of the need to appeal to the two communities for funds.

If the library board of trustees seeks to raise funds independently for the district, the district would hold its own millage elections.

If it did, the two communities would not have to contribute to the cost of operating the library and could drop the allocation from their budgets.

Each community then could roll back its tax rate by a corresponding amount, but because the township contributes to the library from its general fund and not from designated millage, the funds probably would be used for other purposes.

"Library boards typically limit the amount of millage levied to one mill," said Thomas. She said that if the library district board of trustees did decide to raise its own revenue, the amount levied probably would be 0.6 mill or 60 cents per $1,000 state equalized valuation (SEV).

That would result in a net savings to city residents of 0.4 mill (provided the city eliminated its 1 mill levy for the library) and would result in a net increase to township residents of about 0.3 mill (it is estimated that the township now contributes the equivalent of 0.3 mill to the library).

Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen said he favored setting up the library district. "I've favored it from day one," he said. "I was against the agreement to bind Plymouth Township to 'X' number of dollars regardless of millage. We can't be locked into 'X' number of dollars. But I have no problems with the library district."

Plymouth City Manager Henry Graper also supports the library district proposal.

"WE'VE BEEN talking about this for three years," said Graper. "The township has shared in the cost of the library, but had no legal share, as long as the city owned the building. The township contributed 50 percent but had no say-so."

"We tried to see what could be done, to see if we could have people elected and run their own library. This proposal is the best thing that could have happened."

Graper said the city's one-mill assessment for the library would be eliminated. "We would have to roll back its millage," he said.

The city has a total SEV or taxbase of $144 million. The township SEV is $361 million. A library district would be able to draw on the combined SEVs for revenue, should it decide to seek revenue through a millage levy.

"That way, all people would share in the library," said Graper. "It does not take a mill to run the library."

Esther Hulsing, township clerk, said she "enthusiastically" supports the library district proposal.

Hulsing, who served on a committee to study the feasibility of the district, said, "The best way is for the library to have its own board of trustees. It's a more responsible way to run it."

She said that, based on the combined assessed valuation of the two communities, less than a mill would be required to run the library.

Currently, the library is under the control of a six-member board — all city residents. The new library district board of trustees would be nearly equally divided between city and township residents.

The library, with its 48,000 volumes, has an annual circulation of 150,000 but so far this year it has circulated 175,000 volumes.

A LIGHT turnout was predicted for Tuesday's election, based on scant absentee voter balloting.

Nearly 400 absentee ballots had been sent out by the township last week, indicating a probable turnout of about 15 percent.

"That's too bad, because this is a very important election," said Hulsing.

The city had sent out about 300 absentee ballots last week, indicating a possible voter turnout as low as 10 percent.

Voting can be done by absentee ballot until 5 p.m. today. Polling places will be open Tuesday from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

All but one of the candidates running for the library district board of trustees will get a seat on the board — provided the establishment of the district is approved by voters tomorrow.

There are 10 candidates for the nine board positions. They are:

• Judy Morgan, a city resident active in the American Association of University Women (AAUW) and the Plymouth Community Arts Council (PCAC).

• Carol Davis, a township resident who has served on the school board and has been board president. Davis also is active in the AAUW and in the Plymouth-Canton Association for the Academically Talented (PCAAT).

P-C Community Education declares war on illiteracy

By Dennis Coffman
staff writer

Plymouth-Canton Community Education has declared war on illiteracy.

The school district has been placing posters on community bulletin boards saying, "Learn to Read Free," with a telephone number, 451-6555.

Elizabeth Barker, director of community education for the school district, said there is a variety of programs available in her department to provide non-readers with reading skills.

The programs are designed for the foreign-born, for non-high school graduates, for high school graduates, for all ages.

"This is the year of adult literacy," said Barker. "If anyone knows of a non-reader, he should call us."

TWENTY YEARS ago on Sept. 8, 1965, the World Congress of Ministers of Education on the Eradication of Illiteracy was convened.

UNESCO declared the day International Literacy Day to bring attention to the fact that millions of people lack basic reading, writing and math skills.

It's estimated that about one billion of the world's adults lack reading and writing skills. At least five million Canadians and 27 million U.S. residents cannot read or write.

The Plymouth and Canton area is not immune. According to Barker, there were 8,800 Canton residents, 2,800 Plymouth Township residents and 1,600 city residents without high school diplomas, based on the 1980 census.

More meaningful, there were 4,800 Plymouth-Canton school district residents who used English as a second language, according to the census.

"In some pockets of the community, 50 percent of the residents are illiterate," said Barker.

reading instructors tomorrow, under the Laubach Method, whereby each student teaches other students.

"We have 19 volunteers," said Sharon Strean, assistant director of community education. "They spend 1½ hours a week with a trainer in the Laubach Method and then go out and tutor non-readers. This is one-on-one tutoring. The students can be obtained from classes or they can call us for tutoring. If the instructor and student do not have a site, I can arrange one."

Strean said the district needs more tutors, especially male tutors. So far,

Gift from Ford dealer to aid Little League

Blackwell Ford, 41001 Plymouth Road in Plymouth, has contributed $3,750 to the Charter Township of Plymouth for a Little League baseball diamond improvement project.

The auto dealer's cooperative program with the township is among 32 metro Detroit Ford dealers' individual beautification campaigns within their communities.

Owner John Blackwell's $3,750 contribution goes to Plymouth Township which will add $250 and give the total amount of $4,000 to the township's Little League organization.

Blackwell Ford operates the dealership run for many years in Plymouth by Leo Calhoun.

THE LITTLE League organization had raised half the funds for the ball diamond improvement program, and the Blackwell Ford gift will enable it to purchase a much-needed sprinkler system and complete the project.

The improvement program consists of a general cleanup by Little Leaguers in preparation for the installation of a new sprinkler system.

The ball diamonds are in the township park on Ann Arbor Trail at McClumpha. Little League team members worked to clear the area of debris, rake and prepare for the sprinkler system to be installed last Wednesday.

In attendance were: John Blackwell Jr.; Township Supervisor Maurice Breen; Gene Hood, director of parks and recreation; Richard Madsen, president of the Little League; and Dr. Dennis Kennedy, assistant Little League director; plus several members of the Little League team.

EARLIER THIS summer, Ford Division and its 23 metropolitan area dealers joined forces with the State of Michigan and Detroit to launch a cleanup youth employment program called "Detroit Pride."

The program provided summer jobs for more than 250 young people (up to 75,000 hours of labor). They helped to clean up more than 600 miles of Detroit-area freeways in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

A K mart employee was killed in an accident Friday morning in which this pickup truck overturned in Plymouth Township. The driver allegedly was pursuing another vehicle when he failed to negotiate a curve on the Ann Arbor Road and I-275 entrance ramp.

Man killed after chase on I-275

An employee of the K mart Distribution Center in Canton was killed in an auto accident in Plymouth Township early Friday morning.

The Wayne County Sheriff's Office, which responded to the accident, reports that William Hartert, 29, of New Boston, was a passenger in a pickup truck driven by a Livonia man, after the pair left work after midnight Friday.

Sheriff's deputies report that Hartert's pickup apparently was traveling westbound on Ann Arbor Road about 2:30 a.m. when it was sideswiped by another vehicle.

Hartert's driver allegedly jumped the other vehicle, to obtain a license number.

When the truck entered the southbound I-275 entrance ramp, still in pursuit, it crossed and the driver lost control, according to witnesses.

The truck rolled over, throwing Hartert from the truck.

Hartert was taken to St. Mary Hospital, Livonia, where he was pronounced dead of wounds and head injuries at 7:37 a.m.

An inspection of the truck by sheriff's deputies showed signs that the pickup truck had been struck by another vehicle. Two witnesses were questioned.

Deputies are considering bringing charges of negligent homicide against the driver, who was treated and released. Deputies would not release his name Friday.

City's once-thriving cornbelt turned into pumpkins

By W.W. Edger
staff writer

Each year as Wilford Bunyea handles his big machine to heat the corn at the Plymouth Fall Festival, he takes his place at the side of the steam engine and mourns the loss of the old days when Plymouth was part of the cornbelt.

Pointing out that the area to the west of Plymouth and Canton was once the sweetcorn belt of the country, he said that now is just a memory and the corn must be purchased outstate.

"We had some large farms out our way," he said. From his home on Powell Road he could see acres and acres of the favorite dish, aside from the chicken at the annual barbecue.

"We had some large farms in those days," he recalled, "and it is just too bad that they have been replaced in fond memories."

As he spoke, Bunyea recalled that the Palmer farm, along with his own acreage and the plots belonging to Jim Kehrl and Ed Houk, helped to make the area famous throughout the land.

Those days are gone now and the Plymouth Rotary Club has to go through a plan whereby the Canton Rotary Club buys the corn outstate, and husks it on the night before the barbecue and then sells it to the Plymouth Rotary Club for the dinners on Sunday.

According to Bunyea, each year about 20,000 ears of corn are needed to meet the demand.

There was a time when the Rotary chicken barbecue was growing that all the corn was raised in the area.

The committee selected three plots in the corn area and had them raise the corn. Each plot was about seven acres. Then it became a race to see which area's corn would ripen on time.

THE ROTARY wanted the freshest corn and that was the system that was used.

Of course, it was a big job, getting the corn husked and prepared.

Then conditions changed.

Help became a problem, Bunyea confided. "We had to give up specializing in corn. We just couldn't get the force of helping hands we needed.

"It was the same with the other corn raisers. One by one they felt the pinch, with the result that Rotary had to look elsewhere for the 20,000 ears it needed."

It was then that a deal was made with Canton Rotary, whereby it bought the corn outstate, had it husked and then brought it to Kellogg Park for part of the boxed dinners that went on sale at noon.

"I hated to see the change that robbed us of the ranking as the leading cornbelt in the country, but if you can't get help you have no other choice."

With the change in conditions, Bunyea has retired and his son Guy runs the farm out on Powell Road and nearby areas.

He specializes in raising pumpkins, especially for the market trade and Halloween.

According to Bunyea, they now have 165 acres of pumpkins and that will keep them busy.

But as Bunyea sat there at his big boiler, watching the corn being served, he longed again for the good old days when the Plymouth area was part of the nation's sweetcorn belt, larger than that of the state of Iowa that now is the leader.

Adult education mounts battle against illiteracy most of the volunteer tutors have come from churches. Seven of them were affiliated with Geneva Presbyterian Church.

"We're really moving aggressively in this area," said Streen. "We're showing good growth, but many of the non-readers are hard to reach."

A $500 B. Dalton grant covers the cost of course materials. The instruction is free.

Plymouth-Canton Community Schools has a population that speaks 26 languages, some in addition to English, but some in place of English.

To meet the problem, the district has a class, "English as a Second Language," designed for households where the primary language is not English.

In addition, the district's regular community education program has a "Reading Improvement" class and a range of classes for every reading and writing skill level.

These classes, and dozens of others, are available free to anyone without a high school diploma, with a GED but no diploma, and to high school graduates who have not reached age 20 by Sept. 1.

The 15-week classes, available to residents and non-residents, lead to free resume writing, job leads and interviewing skills.

The district provides a child-care center for 50 cents an hour for children 6 months and older from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Senior citizens, 62 and older, who are residents of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, can take the classes free, depending on enrollment.

In addition to the English as a Second Language class, the district offers "English I," designed for students who have difficulty with written English or have not had an English course for a long time. This can be followed up with "English II" and "Spelling and Vocabulary."

THE DISTRICT also has a class designed for people who are "math illiterate."

"Math I" reviews the basic fundamentals of math from addition, subtraction, multiplication and division of whole numbers through fractions, decimals and percents. The pace is adjusted for each student.

Another class prepared for persons with minimal reading skills is "Adult Basic Education," a basic skills program for adults that focuses on diagnosing students' needs and developing a self-paced, comfortable learning program for each student.

Students with learning disabilities, non-readers and low-level readers can benefit from the class, because all learning is individualized, based on personal needs. The class can be repeated without repetition of material.

Chemical Addictions I: Theory is being offered by Madonna College of Livonia for persons who work in probation departments and social agencies as well as for students.

A "Reading Improvement" class helps either non-readers or weak readers by improving reading comprehension, teaching phonics and improving vocabulary. The class description stresses that this class, and the other basic classes, are given in a "no-stress" environment.

But Plymouth-Canton adult education offers far more than the basics. At the other end of the spectrum are classes in biology, chemistry, computer programming, microcomputer-electronics and geometry.

Many classes emphasize the practical need to prepare to earn a living: EKG technician, medical lab assistant, home health aide, dental assistant, veterinarian's assistant, cosmetology, manicure, speedwriting, typing, word processing, secretarial science, shorthand, dental secretary, legal secretary, medical secretary, drafting and blueprint reading, graphic arts, heating and air conditioning, machine shop, welding, security enforcement, auto servicing and auto body.

But there also are classes for the serious pursuit of leisure: photography, woodshop, sewing and tailoring, handcrafts, auto restoration, painting and physical fitness.

Classes are given either at Starkweather Center, 550 N. Holbrook, Plymouth, or at Plymouth Canton High School, 8415 Canton Center Road, Canton.

• Stephen Harper, a township resident who has served on the school board. Harper also serves on the Growth Works board of directors.

• Betty Pint, a city resident who recently retired as manager of the National Bank of Detroit's branch at Ann Arbor Road and Harvey Street.

• Cathy Doetsch, a city resident who serves on the Plymouth Library Board. Prior to her election to that board, Doetsch served on the appointed library commission.

• Mona Irvine, a township resident who is active in local politics. Irvine recently worked on two township campaigns, her husband Jim's campaign for trustee and Mary Brooks' campaign for treasurer.

• Mary Ann Prchlik, a city resident serving on the elected Plymouth Library Board.

• Janet Campbell, a township resident active with the PCAC and 4H Club. Campbell also has been active in school issues and most recently has been involved with bringing sculptor Peter Rockwell to the township park next spring to carve a "play sculpture."

• Jack Bologna, a township resident, the author of four books and an assistant professor of management at Siena Heights College. Bologna is a member of the Friends of the Library.

• Ralph Kenyon, a Plymouth City commissioner since 1979, would have to resign his commission seat if elected to the library board. If he resigns, the commission would have the option of filling his position or leaving it vacant until the term expires in mid-November.

Library trustees probably would take office within a week of their election, leaving only about two months remaining on Kenyon's term.

SOME OF THE GREATEST THINGS IN AMERICA

In Ansel Adams' eyes, America's wilderness is its most precious national treasure. Through photography, he immortalized the unspoiled beauty of Mt. McKinley for all to see. Some things never change.

NEVER CHANGE.

But one great American tradition has changed—U.S. Savings Bonds. Now Savings Bonds pay higher variable interest rates like money market accounts. That's the kind of change anyone can appreciate.

Just hold Savings Bonds for five years and you get the new variable interest rates. Plus, you a guaranteed return. That means you can earn a lot more, but never less than 7½%.

But some of the best things about Bonds haven't changed. The interest earned is still exempt from state and local income taxes. Still cost as little as $25. And can be purchased at almost any financial institution. Or easier yet, through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

Buy U.S. Savings Bonds. Like the wilderness, they're another part of our proud heritage.

For the current interest rate and more information, U.S. SAVINGS BONDS call toll-free 1-800-US-Bonds. Paying Better Than Ever Variable rates apply to bonds purchased on and after 11/1/82 and held to term. Bonds purchased before 11/1/82 carry variable rates which held beyond 10/1/87. Bonds held beyond 2 years earn lower interest.

Fonda and Bancroft disappointingly dull

When Jane Fonda as court-appointed psychiatrist Dr. Martha Livingston and Anne Bancroft as Mother Superior Miriam Ruth square off, one would expect sparks to fly.

The excitement of two superior actresses in conflict over the fate of Sister Agnes, accused of murdering her own baby at birth, and the major issues at stake in such a conflict are well calculated to energize the screen.

Not so, however, in "Agnes of God," a disappointing film rendition of the Broadway success. Both play and film were written by John Pielmeier who, somewhere along the line, lost his touch.

Murky motivation, unresolved plot complications and childish dialogue leave the audience wondering what the hoopla is all about.

WHEN DR. LIVINGSTON first visits the convent, Mother Superior Miriam, with coy smile and adolescent twinkle, greets her: "Dr. Livingston, I presume."

While such a line is intended, no doubt, to endear us to the human qualities in this otherwise dour and severe nun, the cliché is beyond revival and reflects a simple-minded rendition of major issues. One can only speculate, in the absence of other motivation, that Fonda's character was so named solely to prepare for that cliché. Such dramatic inspiration is, at best, weak.

Unfortunately, it is indicative of the entire scenario and editing pattern which flows erratically. Sven Nykvist's beautifully evocative cinematography, for example, a series of stately shots slowly building to describe the serenity of the convent and its spirituality, are interrupted much too early with a pattern of jumbled cuts reflecting psychiatrist Fonda's own mental confusion.

That cutting pattern is typical of the film's lack of clarity. One leaves the theater wondering what was said in a good deal of inaudible dialogue — sometimes the fault of recording or sound mixing levels and sometimes the lack of clarity in French-accented speech.

One wonders how Mother Superior Bancroft rose so high in the order, having joined the order after 23 years of marriage. One puzzles at Fonda's contorted psyche and her almost faceless detective/boyfriend who exists only to provide evidence she needs in evaluating Agnes.

FINALLY, ONE WONDERS what dying Sister Paul told Agnes that led to her rape and impregnation. While that latter act and its perpetrator are necessarily ambiguous to set the scene for the clash between body and spirit, all the rest of it is lost, in Fonda's underlit apartment, apparently a simple-minded symbol of her own psychological imbalance, and elsewhere.

The expected screen magic between Fonda and Bancroft never materializes, with the latter alternating between coy and severe in a very artificial manner.

Fonda, on the other hand, is largely abrasive for the film's first third as she postures about in her stylishly irrelevant Guccis. Only when she begins to act, and react, to Sister Agnes does her talent appear. By then, however, the issues, and the film, are hopelessly lost in the unresolved conflict between Mother Superior and psychiatrist — neither of whose psyches are sufficiently clearly realized for them to effectively represent the issues that divide them: body, spirit and human love needed by Sister Agnes as a symbol of humanity's two major drives.

Only Meg Tilly achieves the emotional intensity these roles demand as she effectively alternates moods of fear, serenity, belief, love and hate. Tilly's characterization as Sister Agnes, while the most tortured and complex, is also the most effective and best drawn.

With the exception of Tilly, and Nykvist's cinematography, "Agnes of God" is largely disappointing and it is a shame such talent has not been more effectively utilized.

Boss' fans sing new anthem

By Paul Winegarden
staff writer

Two things happened at Wednesday's Bruce Springsteen concert that haven't happened at many concerts at the Pontiac Silverdome in a long time.

Come to think of it, one of the things that happened didn't actually occur at the concert site. But I'll come to that shortly.

Opening the concert, everyone stood and sang not the national anthem but different words and music. Try the lyrics of "Born in the USA" as a new anthem. You could have taken a vote on the idea at the concert and 69,000 would have voted in favor, I'm sure.

TIME MAGAZINE recently ran a cover on Springsteen. So did Life, as did numerous other publications. All made an attempt to understand just what it is that Springsteen has that puts about every crowd, including Wednesday's, on its feet. And keeps it there. All night.

The Silverdome was not just a concert site Wednesday. It became a mecca site. From just before 8 p.m. until well past 11, everyone stood. And clapped. And you could see them "Dancin' in the Dark" (one of the songs Springsteen sang).

ANOTHER STRANGE thing. There was no definitive makeup to the crowd. No one particular age or apparent economic background dominated. Looking back on it now, nobody cared either.

As for the other thing that took place, but not at review

the Silverdome itself, you have to take a look at other recent major concerts.

When Michael Jackson came to town last summer three of the seven major radio stations covered his tour stop extensively. Same thing goes for Prince. Just about any major recording and touring artist has a defined following and that includes the stations willing to air his or her music.

FOR EXAMPLE, the heavy-metal station would hardly be expected to give extensive coverage to, say, Bette Midler. You get the idea, I'm sure.

Not so for the Boss. Before the concert began, it was a festival of competition on every major Top-40, rock, dance and news radio station in the lower part of the state. Every one of them!

Each aspect of his life, tour and career was available to his following camped in the parking lot.

The Springsteen "Born in the USA" tour is without parallel for the Silverdome in this decade. Those willing to dispute that can ask any of the other 69,000 fans. I'm sure they'd be willing to "Cover Me" (which Springsteen also sang).

Dancing banned in Plymouth schools until 1926

(Part 20)

As indicated earlier, music was not part of the curriculum in the Plymouth school system until 1901. Similarly, dancing was not permitted at class parties held in the school until the mid-1920s.

The prohibition against dancing during the early years was no doubt a reflection of the origin of many of the early settlers. Most of those who settled in Plymouth were of British descent — either English or Scotch-Irish. They were descendants of the Puritans who had banned dancing during the Protectorate of Oliver Cromwell in the mid-1600s, and did not approve of its return during what they considered to be the profligate days of the Restoration.

Perhaps because they considered dancing to be sexually stimulating, or merely looked at it as a frivolous waste of time, early church leaders in the area discouraged members of their congregations from attending the ball-rooms popular in the 1890s.

Because elders, deacons, vestrymen and other church leaders also were prominent in civic affairs, and took an active interest in education, their presence on school boards and other civic bodies helped to set the morality tone of the community. When called upon to make decisions on school activities, they tended to put into practice the moral beliefs they professed in church. Dancing rated low on their lists of what was needed to make the well-educated girl or boy.

IT WAS NOT until well after World War I that dancing at Plymouth school functions was approved.

As late as 1920, when two members

past and present

of the school board — Dr. Luther Peck and Evered Jolliffe — tried to get the other members to remove the prohibition on dancing, their motion was quickly defeated.

The new interest in popular dancing which began just before World War I, however, was not to be denied. Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Castle had a lot to do with the craze. They polished the early jazz steps and popularized such dances as the Castle Walk and the import from Argentina, the Tango.

The Castles were followed by their protege, Arthur Murray, who simplified modern dancing in 1925 and later imported the Lambeth Walk from England.

On April 7, 1926, the year after Murray became the guru of modern dance, a group of residents petitioned the board of education to permit the use of the school auditorium for dancing. The board decided to defer its decision until the next meeting when it was reported that an adverse petition would be presented.

No further mention of that petition is contained in the minutes, but on May 5 board member Charles H. Bennett, president of the Daisy Manufacturing Co. and a pillar of the First Presbyterian Church, moved that dancing in the auditorium, under proper supervision, be allowed until the board saw fit to rescind the action. His motion was carried.

Four months later, on Sept. 1, with another Presbyterian, John Henderson, presiding, the board conceded that "there is a demand for this type of recreation in the community" and agreed to make the school auditorium available for dancing at high school class parties.

Ada S. Murray, who wrote the minutes, indicated that Bennett, seconded by Frank J. Pierce, moved to approve the recommendations of Superintendent George A. Smith for the conduct of such events.

Among the rules laid down by Superintendent Smith were these: each class party dance is to be attended by at least three parents of the members of the class giving the party; one member of the board of education is to be present; one "censor of dancing selected and hired by the board of education" must be present; the orchestra furnishing the music for the party is to consist of not more than four pieces; and class parties are to end promptly at 11 p.m.

WHILE THE board was considering what to do about the petition on dancing it received another petition, this one signed by a group of Plymouth dry-goods merchants.

The petitioners asked that the school board prohibit the sale of merchandise in the school. Exhibiting a notable display of political independence, the board responded by instructing Superintendent Smith to tell the store owners that when they agreed to meet the prices the school was charging to its students, the board would agree to stop the sale of merchandise in the school.

The matter of dancing came up in the minutes again in Jan. 29, 1954, when representatives from the Plymouth Ministerial Association appeared at a board meeting to question the practice of holding Saturday night dances at the school.

The practice, the ministers declared, affected attendance at church choirs and services on the following morning.

There is no indication of what action the board took regarding this petition but it is safe to say that, barring the ascendancy of an American Cromwell, dancing is here to stay.

Are political posters effective?

As you drive leisurely through some of the nearby communities one can't help noticing the street corners almost flooded with election placards.

Candidate after candidate has used this method of letting the voters know that election day is at hand and hope that the signs will be remembered on election day.

This is especially true in Livonia and each time The Stroller sees the grouping of these multicolored signs he gets to wondering how much good they do. And he has good reason to wonder.

MORE THAN A quarter of a century ago he was a warrior in the political battles. He entered into the fray when the drive was on to have Livonia Township become a city. The drive was for a good reason.

The race tracks had taken options on several farms for the erection of the stands and the track that would make the city a sports stronghold. More than that, according to state law, the city would receive $500,000 a year, as its share of the parimutuel betting.

Because he had once covered the tanning races for the papers he was the stroller

named to the committee to try to "sell" the people on the plan to become a city.

It was an interesting battle. But we won and Livonia became a city and collected the money.

Up to his eyes in politics, The Stroller won a place on the charter commission. He travelled the state to get acquainted with the way things are done. Later, he was elected to the first Livonia city council, where he served for six years.

THEN CAME the big step up to the mayor's chair. It was a gamble, but he was assured of making a great run for the top job.

Round and round the city he went, preaching his gospel for a first-rate city.

Then came election day. It was 1956, and he was told that he would be a favorite of the folks who went to the polls.

Prior to that there were the usual multicolored placards in all sections of the city, and he had been told that his campaign booklet was one of the best ever by some of the big city officials.

It was now election day. During the afternoon while visiting the polls he was told to go home and take it easy as he was a "shoo-in" for the mayor's chair.

Even the labor union officials called him to make a date for a meeting to discuss plans for the coming year. He did just that. He went home and rested. That night when the ballots were counted he finished in last place. Despite his multicolored posters he didn't win.

Ever since he has wondered how good the posters that clutter the intersections are.

To his knowledge there were only two successful mayors in the area who used placards with success.

The first of these was Mayor Orville Hubbard in Dearborn and Ed Jeffries in Detroit.

Hubbard placed his posters in downtown Detroit and explained that his working people from Dearborn would see them there and discuss them.

Jeffries stressed being a friend of the bowlers. He spent a lot of time at the lanes and his posters were aimed to get the attention of the bowlers. They elected him.

But posters, no matter how fancy they may be, don't pay off with the voters on the way to the polls.

The Stroller found that out. And he has been a graduate of politics ever since.

MIGRAINE
Also called sick headaches, a typical migraine attack begins with a dull throbbing ache in one area of the head and progresses to a piercing pain. These torturous attacks may be preceded by a change in the field of vision — a flickering before the eyes, flashes of light or a partial blocking of the vision. They are sometimes accompanied by nausea or vomiting. They are seldom relieved by aspirin. Their duration is from 2 to 48 hours.

REASONS FOR KNEE PAIN
When you knee hurts, you will assume that the cause is arthritis. However, a number of structures in the knee, separate from the joint, can generate a similar pain.
For instance: there is a special cartilage in the knee known as the meniscus. From injury or unusual hard use, this meniscus may become frayed or cracked. The result is pain, particularly when you make a turning movement.
The knee also contains two ligaments positioned in the middle of the joint called the cruciate ligaments. Their job is to stabilize the knee so it will not shift forward or backward to excess. If these ligaments are torn, then you will feel pain on walking and intense pain when moving up or down stairs.
When there is pain in the knee, but the fault lies in a structure other than the bone, the condition is called: Internal derangement of the knee.
My next column will discuss how physicians diagnose and treat this problem.

SPINAL DEGENERATION

WHEN YOUR SPINE IS INJURED IT BEGINS TO DEGENERATE.

Almost everyone has had at one point in their lives some strain, pull, fall or injury that involves their spine. These traumas cause your vertebrae to be altered from their normal position. This can happen without spinal pain. From that initial injury, your spine begins to degenerate as time passes.

The spine goes through four phases of degeneration. These phases can be determined with x-ray and are pictured below.

NEAR NORMAL
NO SUBLUXATION SMOOTH AND REGULAR

PHASE I
0-20 YEARS 0.205-1 YEARS
MISALIGNMENT

PHASE II
20-40 YEARS 1-2 YEARS
SOME DECAY

PHASE III
40-65 YEARS 2-3 YEARS
MUCH DECAY

PHASE IV
65 YEARS AND OLDER
LITTLE RECONSTRUCTION
FUSION

UNDER EACH PICTURE ARE THE LENGTH OF DEGENERATION & THE TIME REQUIRED FOR CORRECTION (EXAMPLE: PHASE II, 20-40 YEARS OF DEGENERATION, 1½ to 2½ YEARS TO CORRECT)

The only means of stopping the degeneration is to move the vertebrae back to their original position. This is done with chiropractic spinal adjustments.

If the degeneration progresses to the latter phases, it may not be correctable. A simple x-ray can detect degeneration and chiropractic adjustments can halt and many times reverse the process.

The adjustment technique Dr. Mashike uses is low force resulting in safe recovery without pain. Don't neglect your spine, it's your lifeline.

Next week we will discuss the effects of degeneration on the nervous system.

For Collegians:

A Breakfast Survival Guide

Is this the year—the breakaway semester when your son or daughter off at college has decided to live off campus? And you're just a little nervous at the prospect? It's not just the total independence of it. There is also that nagging question, what are they going to eat? He can't cook. She'll skip breakfast. He'll never eat and make his 8 o'clock classes.

Not to panic; there's help right here. If they can just get over the breakfast hurdle, get the day off to a healthier start, they'll be well on their way. Most nutritionists agree that a nourishing breakfast is important for young college students with active schedules. Here, a clip-and-save plan you can send to your collegian to help get him or her off on the right foot.

It's a three-way plan: 1) Give them suggestions for quick on-the-go breakfasts that use the kinds of things they like to eat—fruit, yogurt, cereal. 2) Help them out by preparing breakfast makings and sending them off in a "Breakfast Survival Package." One idea—a practical muffin mix you send with baking instructions and perhaps a new muffin pan as incentive. The other—easy Granola Bars, as welcome as the more traditional brownies. 3) Suggest an idea for a weekend build-it-yourself breakfast pizza that's not just good for them, but fun as well.

Flakes Muffins

This recipe comes in two parts: the mix part, which Mom (or Dad) makes at home, then sends on with the appropriate instructions, so the student can whip up a batch of muffins in a jiffy.

Flakes Muffin Mix

- 4 cups all-purpose flour
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons plus 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 3 teaspoons salt
- 1-1/3 cups vegetable shortening
- 5 cups Fruit & Fibre cereal, any flavor*

*Or use raisin bran or Grape-Nuts flakes.

Mix flour with sugar, baking powder and salt in large bowl. Cut in shortening with pastry blender or 2 knives. Stir in cereal. Store in covered jar in refrigerator for as long as 4 weeks. Makes 10 cups, enough for 4 batches of 10 to 12 muffins each.

What you do: Put mix in plastic container and seal tightly. Pack well and send off, accompanied by this recipe. (Note: When made with vegetable shortening, there is no problem about sending mix unrefrigerated.)

Flakes Muffins

To make 10 to 12 muffins:

- Place 2-1/2 cups Flakes Muffin Mix in a bowl.
- Combine 1 cup milk and 1 well-beaten egg; add to muffin mix. Mix only enough to dampen flour.
- Spoon into greased muffin pans, filling each about two-thirds full.
- Bake at 400° for about 25 minutes or until lightly browned.

Crunchy Granola Bars

- 3 cups Grape-Nuts Flakes
- 1 cup Grape-Nuts cereal*
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1/2 cup raisins*
- 1/2 cup Angel Flake coconut
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/4 cup melted butter or margarine
- 1/3 cup honey
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla

*Or use raisin Grape-Nuts brand cereal and eliminate raisins.

Combine cereals and milk in bowl and let stand 5 minutes. Stir in raisins, coconut and cinnamon. Add butter, honey, eggs and vanilla; mix well. Press into ungreased 9-inch square pan. Bake at 350° for 30 to 35 minutes or until golden brown. Cool and cut into bars or squares. Makes about 12 bars.

For college breakfasts, a cereal pizza and easy muffins from a make-ahead mix.

CLIP AND SEND THIS BREAKFAST SURVIVAL GUIDE

Weekday Breakfast

When you're off to class and in a big hurry, here are quick and good-for-you ideas to go with your juice and milk and get you and your roommates off to a good start:

- Cereal Parfait: Just layer cereal with yogurt or cottage cheese and fruit.
- Fruity Pour-Ons: Whirl milk and fruit (berries, banana, peaches, pears) in a blender and pour over cereal in bowl.
- Sprinkle-Ons: For breakfast on the run, sprinkle crunchy nutlike cereal nuggets over fruit, cottage cheese or yogurt.
- Make-Ahead Muffins: (This needs a little help from Mom; all you add are egg and milk.) Make muffins the night before, then reheat the next morning. Spread with peanut butter.
- Grab-a-Granola-Bar: An easy make-ahead (by you or Mom) that's quick and satisfying with milk, fruit and a wedge of cheese.

Shopping Tactics

Breakfast is no problem if your breakfast pantry is up to par and your refrigerator's in good shape.

Check for these:

- Cereals, a variety to satisfy all tastes
- Protein-providing extras—whole, lowfat or skim milk, yogurt, cottage cheese, eggs
- Fresh fruit and fruit juice
- Bread for toast
- Pancake mix
- Toppings, such as pancake and waffle syrup, preserves
- Dried fruits, coconut
- Coffee, tea

On Weekends

When there's time for more leisurely breakfasts, and friends are likely to drop in, here's a super idea for a pizza pancake that bakes in the oven. Have ready an assortment of toppings so each can go creative with that slice of breakfast pizza.

Weekend Breakfast Pizza

- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- 3/4 cup milk
- 1/4 cup oil
- 1 cup regular pancake and waffle mix
- 1 cup Grape-Nuts flakes*
- 2 tablespoons cinnamon-sugar
- Toppings

*Or use raisin bran or Fruit & Fibre whole wheat and bran cereal, any flavor.

Or use 2 tablespoons sugar mixed with 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon.

Combine egg, milk, oil and pancake mix in bowl; mix until well blended. Pour into greased 12-inch pizza pan or 13x9-inch pan. Sprinkle cereal and cinnamon-sugar evenly over batter. Bake at 425° for 10 to 12 minutes, or until top springs back when lightly pressed. Cut into wedges and serve at once with toppings. Makes 4 servings.

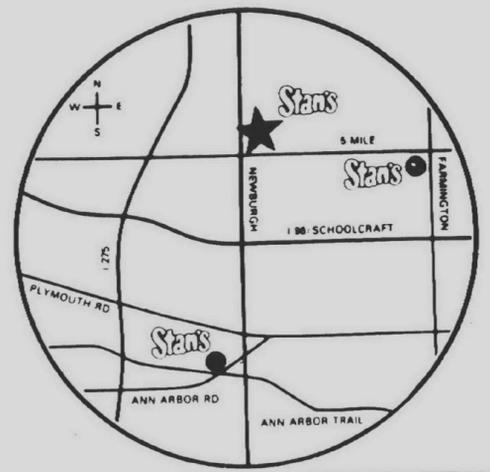

Toppings ideas: Pancake and waffle syrup, plain or fruited yogurt, fresh fruit, dried fruit, coconut, nuts, preserves.

Stuffed baked potatoes are easy to prepare

Meat and potatoes are the mainstay of good American cooking.

That's just one of the reasons the recent trend in eating potatoes stuffed with just about any food, including meat, has become so popular.

Many fast-food restaurants serve them stuffed with steamed broccoli and cheese or a Mexican-flavored tomato sauce. Some restaurants even offer a "Stuffed Potato Bar" where you can choose from the traditional sour cream, butter, chives and bacon bits or sliced tomatoes, green pepper, or grated cheese toppings. Just about any combination goes!

Not only do stuffed potatoes make a fun and unique meal, they're good for you. When making a meal out of a stuffed potato, it's probably best to select a large potato, which is a little over half a pound and contains about 190 calories. At the same time, it's an important source of fiber, complex carbohydrates, vitamin C and several of the B vitamins.

WHEN A nutritious potato is topped with other equally nutritious food, such as beef and a cheese sauce, it can practically become a meal by itself.

For example, one serving of Tasty Beef Stuffed Potatoes (which includes one potato, a three-ounce meat portion and a cheese sauce topping) has the following amounts of nutrients an adult needs every day — 110 percent vitamin C; 76 percent protein; 35 percent phosphorus; 35 percent niacin; 27 percent iron; 22 percent riboflavin; 19 percent calcium; and 19 percent thiamin.

Another advantage to serving a stuffed potato meal is that it is relatively easy to prepare. After scrubbing the potatoes gently, but thoroughly, prick them lightly with fork to allow steam to escape while cooking. Next, lightly oil the skins to soften them. (Omit this step if you cook the potatoes in the microwave oven.)

As the potatoes bake (about an hour in the oven or just under 15 minutes in the microwave oven) prepare the beef and cheese toppings.

For an economical dish, use fresh, boneless beef chuck top blade steaks. This steak is a tasty, but less expensive, piece of beef. You'll need to remove any excess connective tissue, and then cut the beef into thin strips which are quickly fried with green pepper and shallots.

Spoon a portion of this beef mixture on top of an opened baked potato, top with cheese sauce and serve piping hot.

TASTY BEEF-STUFFED POTATOES

Preparation time: 30 minutes

Cooking time: 50 to 60 minutes

1 lb. boneless beef chuck top blade steaks, cut 1/2 inch thick
4 large baking potatoes

Oil
1 small green pepper, coarsely chopped
1/2 cup coarsely chopped shallots
2 Tbsp. butter
Salt
Pepper
1/2 cup half and half
1 Tbsp. Dijon-style mustard
1/2 cup shredded Swiss cheese

Scrub potatoes, prick each with a fork. Rub skins lightly with oil. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 50 to 60 minutes or until done. Meanwhile partially freeze steaks to firm. Divide each steak into 2 pieces, following natural seam and removing connective tissue between pieces. Cut each piece across the grain into thin strips. Cook green pepper and shallots in butter in large frying pan over medium-high heat 2 minutes. Add beef (1/2 at a time) and continue cooking 3 to 4 minutes, stirring constantly. Season with salt and pepper; keep warm. Place half and half in small saucepan, stir in mustard and cheese and cook and stir over medium heat until cheese is melted. Cut potatoes lengthwise across top; gently push ends to open and break up pulp. Spoon an equal amount of beef mixture into each potato; top with an equal amount of cheese sauce. Serve immediately. 4 servings.

MICROWAVE DIRECTIONS:
Preparation time: 30 minutes

Cooking time: 15 minutes

Omit rubbing potato skins with oil. Bake potatoes in microwave oven at HIGH 12 to 14 minutes; rotating 1/4 turn after 6 minutes. Let stand 5 minutes. Proceed with conventional directions. 4 servings.

You should know watts

Whenever you get ready to follow a new recipe it's important to know the wattage of your microwave oven and compare it to the wattage recommended in the recipe. They may be different. That's because there is currently no standardized power level for microwave ovens. Some subcompact microwave ovens are as low as 300 watts, compact ovens range from 450 to 550 watts, full-size ovens range from 650 to 750 watts and one oven is as high as 1,000 watts.

Many cookbooks and recipes base the cooking power instructions on the most commonly purchased full-size ovens with a full power output of approximately 650 watts. However, if your oven operates at a different wattage, cooking times should be adjusted accordingly. For example, 30 percent power on an oven operating at 750 watts is 225 watts, so cooking time, based on minutes per pound, may be slightly less. However, 30 percent power on an oven operating at 550 watts is 165 watts, so the number of minutes per pound should be increased.

TO FIND out the wattage of your oven check the microwave oven literature provided by the manufacturer or look on the oven's name plate for the wattage output. To get the exact time requirement for your oven, some "trial and error" experimentation may be required.

The following recommendations are for microwaving meat products in ovens which operate at 650 watts of cooking power:

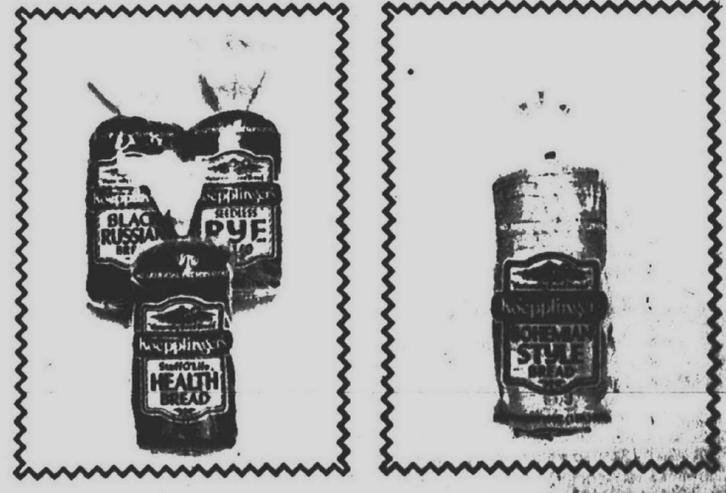

HIGH (100 percent power, 650 watts): Ground meat, bacon, smoked and precooked sausage.

MEDIUM (50 percent power, 325 watts): "Fully-cooked" ham, Canadian-style bacon, ribs, roasts, pieces of meat in soups and stews

MEDIUM-LOW (30 percent power, 200 watts): Roasts, chops, Corned beef, pieces of meat in soups and stews.

Active season ahead for Ex-Newcomers

The hundred or so members of the Plymouth Ex-Newcomers Club are looking forward to their 1985-86 season with anticipation.

Activities are in full swing with the couples bowling league starting play Sunday, the first general meeting tonight, and the ladies bowling league Tuesday. Substitutes are needed and there still is time to sign up by calling Rose or Chuck Schroeder, 459-6821, for the couples league, and 459-4384 or 453-4388 for the women's league.

The couples fall social will be a buffet dinner and dancing to the big band sound of Al Townsend and the Ambassadors. Members and guests will have reserved tables at the Yankee Air Force Annual Founders Day celebration at Willow Run Airport. The party will be at 7 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 21. Admission is $12.50 per person with beer and setups provided. Reservations may be made at Monday's meeting, 7:30 p.m. at the Colony Farms Meeting House. Annual dues are $7.

EX-NEWCOMERS will collaborate with their alma mater, Plymouth Newcomers, in the Crafty Affair planned for Thursday, Nov. 7, at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

The affair begins with a brunch. Craft displays will be open to the public. Holiday shoppers will have an opportunity to get a head start on their gift lists from the full range of handcrafted items made by both Newcomers and Ex-Newcomers.

Board members for the new season are: Marilyn Alfonso, president; Nancy Draboe, vice president; Stella Greene, recording secretary; Jan Raison, corresponding secretary; Wilda Warkentin, treasurer; Mary Zelenock, membership chair; Sharlene Lundy, couples socials chair; Jean Snyder, interest groups chair; and Pat Weis, adviser.

A GROUP OF former Newcomers formed the Plymouth Ex-Newcomers Club in September 1976. They were anxious to continue the fellowship and enthusiasm sparked by their membership in the Newcomers Club.

Stated purpose of the club was to promote fellowship and community awareness. At their first service project, they did volunteer work with the Red Cross on swine flu inoculations.

Charter board members were Mary Koltys, president; Patsy Rollins, vice president; Helen Belser, treasurer; Joan Leary, recording secretary; Charlene Lundy, corresponding secretary; Marge LeBlond, interest groups; Lynn Lyon, membership; and Joann Donovan, social.

THROUGH THE years, the Plymouth Ex-Newcomers provided interest groups and couples social events to its members.

In November of 1976, the group began the gourmet dinners which proved to be one of the most popular interest groups. Many of the original members still belong to the gourmet group.

The Bond is the single duly authorized Industrial Development Revenue Bond, issued for the purpose of acquiring the Project, as defined in the Lease Purchase Agreement of even date (the "Lease Purchase Agreement") by and between the Issuer and Kathleen Dul Amavorian, Estelle C. Dul and Alexander S. Dul (the "Lessees") for lease and subsequent sale to the Lessees in order to promote the industrial and economic development of the Issuer in order to alleviate and prevent conditions of unemployment, to assist and retain local industry, to meet growing competition for new industries and to strengthen and revitalize the Issuer's economy in general.

This Bond is secured by the Indenture and Mortgage dated as of July 1, 1985 (the "Indenture") duly executed and delivered by the Issuer to the Bondholder and reference is hereby made to the Indenture and to all indentures supplemental thereto for the provisions, among others, with respect to the nature and extent of the security, the rights, duties and obligations of the Issuer, the Depositary and the Bondholder and the terms and conditions upon which the Bond is issued, secured, subject to mandatory redemption and acceleration of payment.

The Bondholder by the acceptance hereof, assents to all the provisions of the Indenture and Lease Purchase Agreement.

This Bond may be assigned upon ten days prior notification to the Issuer and the Lessees by the registered holder in person or by his attorney in writing with a duly executed instrument or assignment in the form set forth below, which instrument sets forth the principal amount then outstanding on this Bond, the name of the assignee and an address of the assignee where confirmation of the principal amount hereof outstanding (and any subsequent notices required hereby or by the Indenture) may be sent, and any assignee shall take this Bond subject to these conditions. Such assignment shall be noted on the registration books of the Issuer kept by the Depositary and no assignment of this Bond shall be valid unless made on said books.

This Bond is subject to optional redemption on any principal and interest payment date after August 1, 1987 in its entire remaining unpaid principal amount or in part in the amount of $45,000 or any multiple thereof to be applied against principal installments in the inverse order of maturity, at par plus accrued interest to the redemption date. Notice of any such optional redemption shall be given by the Lessees on behalf of the Issuer and with a copy to the Issuer at least ten days prior to the redemption date by mailing to the registered holder of this Bond a notice fixing such redemption date, and the amount of principal which shall be redeemed on or prior to such redemption date.

This Bond is also subject to mandatory redemption following the occurrence of any of the events set forth in Section 10.3 of the Lease Purchase Agreement, in which event this Bond shall be redeemed in whole on the first interest payment date following the occurrence of such event and consequent purchase of the Project by the Lessees under the Lease Purchase Agreement at a redemption price of 100% of the principal amount hereof outstanding plus accrued interest to the redemption date.

This Bond is issued pursuant to the Constitution of the State of Michigan and to the laws of said State, particularly Act 62 of the Michigan Public Acts of 1963, as amended, and a Resolution of the Township Board of the Issuer adopted on July 23, 1985 (the "Resolution"). This Bond is a limited obligation of the Issuer, is payable as to principal, premium, if any, and interest solely out of Net Revenues as defined in the Resolution and is not otherwise an obligation of the Issuer. This Bond and the interest thereon shall never represent or constitute a debt or general obligation of the Issuer within the meaning of any constitutional or statutory provision or limitation and shall never constitute nor give rise to a charge against the general credit or taxing powers of the Issuer or general funds or assets of the Issuer, nor shall this Bond or the interest thereon constitute a pledge of the full faith and credit of the Issuer. Rental payments sufficient for the prompt payment when due of the principal of, premium, if any, and interest on said Bond are required by the Lease Purchase Agreement to be paid by the Lessees. The Issuer, the members of its Board, its officers, employees and agents shall not be liable, directly or indirectly, for payment of principal or interest on this Bond or for any other pecuniary liability relating thereto, except from the security as described in the Indenture.

No provision of this Bond or the Indenture and no reference herein to the Indenture shall have the effect of incorporating into the terms of the Bond any provision which would alter or impair the obligation of the Issuer to pay, but solely from Net Revenues, the principal of, premium, if any, and interest on this Bond at the times and places and in the coin or currency provided herein or affect the right of the holder of this Bond to enforce payment hereof from Net Revenues.

AND IT IS HEREBY CERTIFIED that all legal conditions and things necessary to be done by the Issuer pursuant to and in compliance with the terms of this Bond in order to make it a legal, valid and binding special obligation of the Issuer in accordance with the intent and in the execution and delivery of the Indenture and Lease Purchase Agreement, have been done and performed and have happened in regular and due form as required by law; that the Issuer has, to its best knowledge, believed and faith, no other legal, valid and binding obligation of the Issuer which would conflict with or violate any constitutional or statutory limitation.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the Charter Township of Plymouth, by the County of Wayne, State of Michigan, has caused this Bond to be signed in its name by the Issuer by the signature of the duly appointed Clerk of the Charter Township of Plymouth, and the same to be attested hereto by the duly appointed Supervisor of the Charter Township of Plymouth.

WITNESSES my hand and the seal of said Charter Township of Plymouth, this 23rd day of July, 1985.

Rocks fumble home opener

By Chris McCoosky
staff writer

It wasn't as if Plymouth Salem didn't have its chances to beat a big, rugged Trenton football team Friday night.

Sure, on paper it looks like Trenton's 21-7 victory was a one-sided romp. In the first half, Trenton ripped through Salem's defense as if it was paper. The Trojans amassed 171 yards on the half, 100 of it gained by 6-3, 210-pound full-back John Milligan.

The game totals read 310 yards for Trenton, 156 for Salem.

But, "We're in the ballgame all the way if we don't fumble it away."

Salem coach Tom Moshimer's assessment was accurate.

AFTER TRENTON scored on its first possession — a methodical drive covering 73 yards in 15 running plays capped off by Milligan's 2-yard run — Salem marched from their 36 to Trenton's 26.

On a third-down-and-one play, Salem quarterback John Storm fumbled the snap and Trenton's Steve Voss fell on it.

Trenton promptly marched 73 yards again, this time in only five plays. Milligan carried it home from 41 yards out. Bill Cheplick converted the extra point and Trenton led 13-0 (the first extra point attempt was fumbled away by Trenton).

Salem's offense again began a nice march down field. With Storm guiding the wishbone offense and Ron Adams, Joe Jouppi, Jerry Sumner and Paul Makara carrying the ball, the Rocks marched down to the Trenton 20. But an offside penalty on a third and five play stalled that drive.

"FOURTH DOWN play and we blow a blocking assignment and we fumble the ball away — you just can't do those kinds of things and expect to beat a team like Trenton," Moshimer said.

The backbreaker for the Rocks came only minutes after their lone score.

Storm connected with Makara on a 30-yard pass play to set Salem up at the Trenton 10. Makara was bumped as the ball reached his hands but he managed to hang on.

Three plays later, on a fourth and goal from inside the 1, Storm again fumbled the snap from center. This time, an alert Adams fell on the ball in the end zone.

Brian Storm kicked the extra point and Salem was back in business, 13-7.

But, with just 2:46 left in the half Trenton marched 69 yards in 10 plays, capped by a pretty 9-yard pass from Bill Giffin to Chris Davis.

Russ Behm ran in the two-point conversion and Trenton took a 21-7 lead into halftime.

"THAT LATE touchdown really hurt us," Moshimer said. "We really shut them down in the second half. We knew what we wanted to do against them. They didn't do anything different. We just made too many mistakes."

Salem's defense limited Trenton to just 98 yards in the second half. But the offense, despite gaining 116 yards on the ground, couldn't score.

The Rocks had two scoring threats in the fourth quarter. The first was set up by Makara's 51-yard punt return which put Salem on Trenton's 43 just minutes into the final quarter.

But the Rock offense, plagued by a holding penalty and a sack, moved backwards.

The Rocks got the ball back with 7:09 left to play. They marched from their own 48 to Trenton's 16. Again, a fumble stopped the drive.

"I'm disappointed at the mistakes but I'm not at all disappointed in the intensity and desire to play our kids showed tonight," Moshimer said. "We keep playing like that, and if we stay healthy, then people are going to have to take us seriously this season."

Raiders 'D' KOs Canton

By Chris McCoosky

The way the North Farmington defense manhandled Plymouth Canton Saturday, you'd have thought it had studied the Chiefs' play book.

North Farmington, en route to a 23-0 win in their home opener, checked the Chiefs on negative 29 yards rushing and held them to 19 yards total offense — two first downs were all Canton could muster.

"We knew their slants offensively," said North defensive coordinator Mark Babcock. "They were bigger than us up front, so we didn't want to attack them straight on. We knew where the holes were in the line."

Indeed, Time and again North defenders boited through the Canton line untouched. Canton quarterback Tony Aiken was knocked out of the game in the second quarter. He was sacked four times and pulled a leg muscle on the last one. He is expected to return next week.

"I WAS very disappointed in our offense today," said Canton coach Richard Barr. "We just weren't blocking. We have to get back to the basics. We have a lot of work to do offensively."

The game started poorly and got worse for the Chiefs. Aiken, on the first offensive play from scrimmage, fumbled the snap and North's Jay Sturtz fell on it at the Canton 20.

That led to a 22-yard field goal by Mike Rudin.

North added to its 3-0 lead in the second quarter when 215-pound full-back Steve Goss burst through the line and rambled 33 yards for the score.

Goss, who sat out half the game with a shoulder bruise, gained 54 yards in seven carries.

His backfield partner, speedy Marc

Brown, made the spectacular play of the day. His 19-yard TD run late in the second half brought the large North crowd to their feet. He dived-dodded his way through the Canton line then hurdled a linebacker before sprinting into the end zone.

Brown finished the day with 70 yards rushing.

THE NORTH defense closed out the scoring in the second half when Rudin picked off a Tony Boucher pass and ran it in from 18 yards out.

The game wasn't totally satisfying to North head coach Jim O'Leary.

"The defense did a great job and that was our big question mark coming into the season," the third-year coach said. "But offensively we made too many crucial mistakes. We moved the ball well enough but we'd break down. It cost us some points."

Part of the problem was Canton's defense which played a strong game. "I thought our defense played a good game considering the poor field position we had all day and the mistakes that were made," Barr said.

Leading the defensive effort for Canton was junior Jeff Krollick (five unassisted tackles and one fumble recovery) and Dan Olaszewski.

THE DEFENSIVE stars for North? Everyone. Rudin was exceptional. He picked off two passes and covered the secondary like a blanket. Corky D'Ascenzo also picked off a pass for North. Derek Cribley and Brian Haack put constant pressure on the Canton line.

"Coach Babcock did a nice job preparing the defense for this game," O'Leary said. "You know, people always say Bob Sutter (Farmington Harrison assistant) is a great coach, and he is. But I think Mark does a great job, too."

The bizarre play of the day, and a tell-tale play for Canton, occurred in the final quarter. Olaszewski blocked a North punt, but the ball deflected to Raider back Scott Selzer who advanced it for a first down.

The lone offensive highlight for Canton was a 37-yard pass from Boucher to Dan Haarala. But, two incompletions a sack later, Canton was out of striking range.

It was that type of day for the Chiefs.

The chase was on Saturday: North was doing the chasing and, for the most part, Canton quarterback Tony Aiken was doing the running.

Ocelots earn MSU respect

By C.J. Rieak
staff writer

It was hot. It was humid. And it was even.

The last fact impressed Schoolcraft College men's soccer coach Van Dimitriou the most. Few figured the Ocelots could stymie talented Michigan State University, but they did Friday night, battling the Spartans to a 1-1 tie at Livonia Stevenson.

And, although neither team had an advantage on the scoreboard, if there was a winner Friday it was Schoolcraft. A moral victory, then?

"Absolutely," agreed Dimitriou. "We played a very strong game."

INDEED THE OCELOTS did. The first half ended scoreless, with both teams showing the effects of the 80-plus temperature and humidity. But halftime is a chance to rejuvenate, and Schoolcraft did just that.

The Ocelots took control in the early moments of the second half behind the play of forward John Gelmis and mid-fielder Rick Hamers. Still, two solid scoring opportunities slipped away, the first when a perfect centering pass from Hamers in the right corner was headed over the net by Joe Mase, the second when Hamers got off a clean shot that went right to MSU goalie Paul Zimmerman.

Persistence finally paid off for Schoolcraft — with a little help from Gelmis. The former prep all-stater from Stevenson dribbled the ball through an MSU defender into the right corner, then fired a centering pass. A point-blank shot was deflected straight to Joe Novak, another Stevenson grad, who buried it to give the Ocelots a 1-0 lead with 20 minutes to play.

As UPSETTING as the goal might have been for Schoolcraft, it seemingly had a greater effect on MSU. The Spartans pressed relentlessly, and only a pair of diving stops by Ocelot goalkeeper Sam Matovski, from Livonia Churchill, kept them from scoring.

At least for awhile. Matovski's heroics weren't enough to halt Sberin Elwy's drive from 10 yards away, directly in front of the net, off a corner kick. The goal came with 24 minutes to go, and was one of Schoolcraft's few defensive lapses.

"That was the first time we've ever seen corner kicks like that," Dimitriou said. "They were hitting them low and hard, and then swarming to the ball."

Throughout the contest both teams failed to finish solid scoring chances. Gelmis lofted one shot over an open net in the first half, then saw a bloop shot barely deflected away by Zimmerman in the second.

"We had some opportunities," admitted Dimitriou. "I think the kids felt the pressure early on."

BUT WHILE the offenses struggled, both defenses were sharp. Ocelot stopper Scott Steiner, from Plymouth Salem, "was our savior back there," said Dimitriou. "He plays that position like it's supposed to be played."

Schoolcraft also got solid defensive play from Abe and Anwar Yaffal, both Livonia Bentley grads, and Todd Ericson, from Stevenson. MSU's defense was anchored by Troy Athens grad Steve Smith.

As nice as a win would have been, Dimitriou was more than satisfied with the tie.

"We're getting there," he said, evaluating his team's progress. "I think we'll be ready for our league opener."

But that's Saturday at perennial powerhouse Macomb CC. Isn't that a pretty tough way for the Ocelots to start the defense of the Region 12 title? "I wouldn't have it any other way," said Dimitriou, "than coming off a game like this."

Ladywood guard Jenny Nadeau (wearing jersey) battles with Salem's Julie Tortora during the first round of the Great Lakes Tip-Off Classic Thursday night at U-M Dearborn.

Blazers' charge cools off Salem

By Chris McCoosky
staff writer

For all its fancy defenses, its intricate offenses, its alley-oops and shake-and-bakes, basketball is a simple game: The team that puts the ball into the basket the most times wins.

Livonia Ladywood put the ball into the hoop much more consistently than Plymouth Salem Thursday night, and as a result carted away a convincing 61-41 victory in first round play of the Great Lakes Tip-Off Girls Basketball Tournament at U-M Dearborn.

In the other first round game, Dearborn Divine Child held off Detroit St. Martin DePorres 51-50. DC and Ladywood will play for the championship Saturday at 8 p.m. Salem and DePorres will precede that game at 6 p.m.

(Championship and consolation results will appear in Thursday's Observer sports sections).

WITH FOUR minutes remaining in the third quarter, Salem trailed Ladywood by only a basket, 37-38. But in the next nine minutes, the Rocks would miss 14 consecutive shots without grabbing an offensive rebound. Ladywood, as a result, ran off a 16-1 spurt to put the game out of reach.

"I thought our press forced them to do what we wanted, that is to shoot quick," said Ladywood coach Ed Kavanagh. "We felt that Salem was a set-up type team. If we pressed, we felt they would take wild shots."

The game got away from Salem in a matter of minutes. With the Blazers ahead 41-38 as the final seconds ticked off in the third quarter, Ladywood's Mary Joy Kostant followed up a pair of missed shots with basket of the buzzer (43-38).

Then Cathy Stevens, who played a solid game for the Rocks, put the final period in the books with a layup that won the Rocks nothing.

"Salem made a nice run at us in the third quarter," Kavanagh said. "But our kids beat them off. I was very concerned at that point. Hey, Salem is a fine basketball team. We had to play pretty good to beat a team like that."

SENIOR CENTER Sue Laliberte led all scorers with 20 points (10 of 13 from the free throw line). Guard Jenny Nadeau scored 13 and Schram 12.

Salem coach Fred Thomann, though not pleased with the final score, was not totally displeased with his team's effort.

"We found out how to play this game tonight," Thomann said. "We're a young team with only one starter back from last year. They've never faced that type of pressure for 32 minutes. Ladywood is a very, very good team and so are we."

Of the frigid shooting, Thomann said, "We have been accused in the past of not shooting the ball enough. Tonight, we wanted to come out and shoot. We took a lot of first opportunity shots and that's OK. We want to find out if we can score."

The Rocks, who wound up hitting 17 of 63 shots (2 of 21 in the final quarter), got 10 points and 19 rebounds from sophomore Debra Hunt and another 10 points from Leslie Plichta.

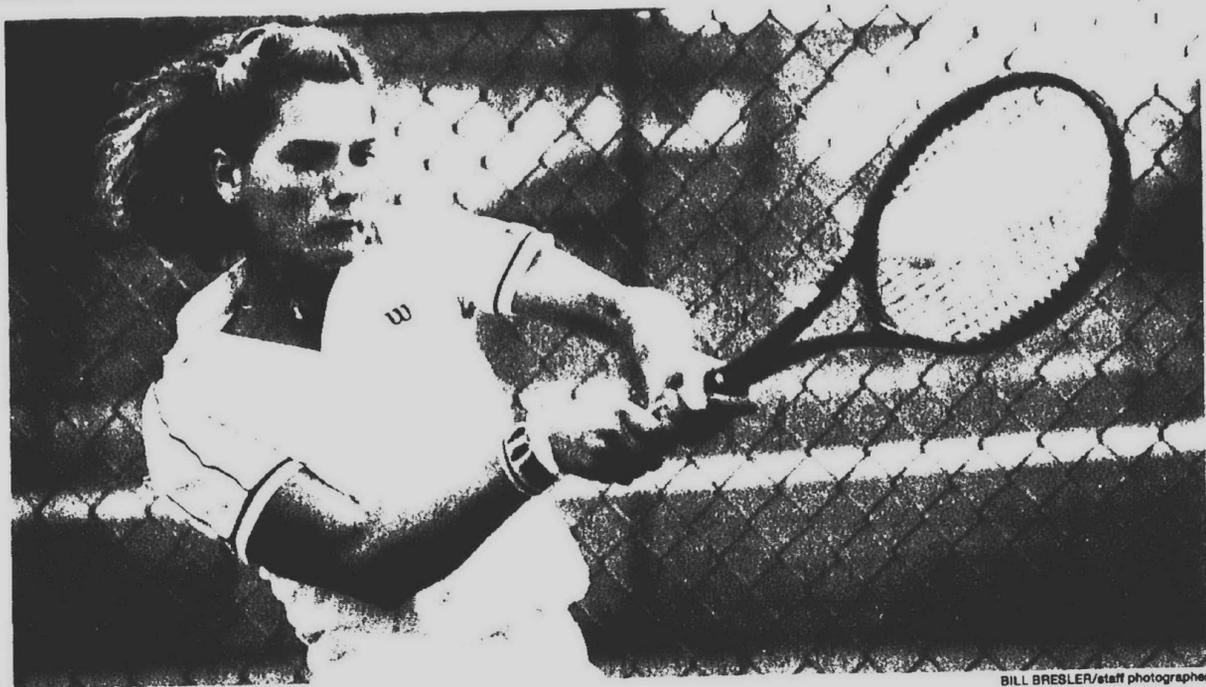

CANTON 54, SOUTHEASTERN 29: Rob Noy's coaching debut at Plymouth Canton couldn't have been more pleasant.

"This was a good win because the girls stepped out and showed that they executed, and we did what we had to do to win," the Plymouth coach said.

The Chiefs started out 21-12 and after one quarter were down 29-12. The game was a blowout.

Bob Price scored 11 points and the team's defense was solid. The game was a blowout.

Wendy returns

With a casual "OK" from the lips of Wendy Gilles, the Plymouth Salem tennis team became a state contender. Gilles, a highly ranked amateur player, has sat out the last two prep seasons after making it to the quarterfinals of the state tourney in No. 1 singles as a freshman. She agreed to play again this year. Gilles plans to graduate from Salem in January and join her sister Chris on the University of Wisconsin tennis team in time for the spring Big 10 season.

Canton golfers nip Rocks

Jeff Gonyea fired a 37 and Larry Barkoff a 38 to help the Plymouth Canton golf team eek out a 209-211 victory over rival Plymouth Salem Friday at Brae Burn Golf Course.

Mike Granger paced Salem with a 38. Jeff Speaks (41), Dan Hutko (43), Mike Pilley (45) and Chris Braidwood (44) rounded out the Rocks' scorers.

For Canton, Ralph Reeve and Matt Rivard fired 44s and Chris Trim carded a 46.

It was the first match for both teams.

Canton, Salem win soccer openers

Plymouth Canton survived a rough and tumble soccer opener Thursday against an aggressive Northville team thanks to some brilliant defense and goalkeeping.

The Chiefs, defending Western Division champions of the Western Lakes, won the match 2-0 behind the sterling play of netminder Brian Gavigan, sweeper Rob Opatrny and midfielder Scott Morgan — all of whom helped keep the Mustangs away from the net.

"There were a lot of penalties," said second-year Canton coach Mike Morgan. "The officials called it close. We started to jell more as the game went on."

Co-captain Steve Morell opened the scoring in the first half, knocking home a penalty kick.

Half-way into the second half, Canton notched an insurance goal — a 20-yard boot from Steve Rudelic off a Brad Neville pass.

SALEM 5, FRANKLIN 2: Thursday night, host Plymouth Salem broke a 2-2 deadlock, scoring three goals in the final nine minutes to beat Livonia Franklin in a season opener for both teams.

Sophomore Randy Balconi scored twice in a matter of four minutes to put the Rocks ahead to stay in the second half. Ted Hanosh also scored twice for the winners. Mike Zaretti tallied the other goal and Dave Dameron chipped in three assists.

"Talk about history repeating itself," said Salem coach Ken Johnson. "This game was a carbon copy of last year's match."

Last year, Franklin led Salem 2-1 late in the match, and Mark Flower exploded for three unanswered goals.

"I knew Franklin would give us a game," Johnson said.

Franklin led 2-1 in the first half on goals by Bob Neumann and Bill Adams. Midfielder Gary LaRocca also played a strong game in defeat.

"I think we got tired and two of our kids got hurt — we're not very deep," said Franklin coach Doug Marks. "But it was a fun game."

CATHOLIC CENTRAL 6, TROY 1: Freshman Troy Larson scored two of Redford Catholic Central's final three goals Thursday as the Shamrocks (2-0) pulled away from the visiting Colts in a non-league game at Bell Creek Park.

John Rehm and Brian Rafferty each scored in the first half to give CC a 2-0 lead.

Troy then cut the margin to one, 10 minutes into the second half, on John Phillips' header from Don Hicks.

It's a whole new wall game
