Library District wins voter approval

By Dennis Coffman staff writer

The voters of Plymouth and Plymouth Township overwhelmingly favored the establishment of a Plymouth District Library in a special election

The final tally: 1,570 voted for the establishment of the district; 389 voted

On the same ballot, the township and city elected nine members to serve on the community wide library district's board of trustees. By setting up the library district, voters have placed its operation in the hands of this panel.

Ten people ran for the nine board seats. Elected were: Carol Davis, the top vote-getter with 1,389 combined city and township votes; Betty Pint, 1,336; Stephen Harper, 1,297; Judith Morgan, 1,285; Janet Campbell, 1,274; Ralph Kenyon, 1,260; Jack Bologna, 1,205; Mary Ann Prchlik, 1,151; and Catherine Doetsch, 1.063.

Mona Irvine, with 970 votes, was the only candidate not elected to the board. In the township, there were 971 "yes" votes for the district and 290 "no" votes; in the city, 599 yes and 99

In the township, Davis was the top vote-getter, in the city, Pint gathered

Voter turnout was light. In the township, 9 percent of registered voters participated in the library district election. In the city, 10 1/2 percent took

"This is one of the lowest voter turnouts I've ever seen," said Esther Hulsing, Plymouth Township clerk.

CITY OF Plymouth clerk Gordon Limburg said the city voter turnout was slightly more than the number that voted in the August primary election.

Pat Thomas, director of the Dunning-Hough Library, which now be-said: "We're really all pleased. We no longer will have to go back and forth from the city to the township. This shows that the whole community supports the library.

Thomas said the first order of business for the new board of trustees probably would be to meet and set a millage election for Nov. 5.

The amount of the millage request could be as high as one mill, but Thomas said the board would study the library budget and very likely suggest a millage levy amount of 0.6 to 0.75 mill. 'We're off and running," Thomas

THE DISTRICT passage will mean that the city can roll back the one mill it has allocated for the library.

Even if the library board now seeks new millage, the levy upon city residents would be less than the full mill they now are paying.

There would be a savings to the township budget of about 0.3 mill, the amount allocated for the library. The

Both Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen and Plymouth City Manager Henry Graper favored the es-tablishment of the Plymouth District

According to Thomas, two-thirds of the library's patrons are township resi-

The library now operates on a budget of $330,000. The city and township each pay $120,000 for operating expenses and $26,000 to retire a debt incurred when a wing was added to the library through a bond issue.

Township chief fights car thefts

Plymouth Township Police Chief Carl Berry has issued a warning to motorists to be on the lookout for car

In recent weeks, there has been a significant increase in automobile thefts and larcenies from autos, Berry said. "We're going to try to catch a few

Michigan State Police are investigating an apparent attempted car theft and felonious assault that occurred in the Hilton parking lot Sunday at 4:30

Security guard Steven Malik arrived and saw a man reaching into the broken window on the driver's side of a

Hitt said the tree was 25 years old, 75 feet tall and had a 31/2 -foot trunk. Hitt and wife Ellie were not home when the tree was uprooted and fell on his roof, knocking a hole in it. Parents protest school busing policy

By Dennis Coffman staff writer

The school district's busing policy came under fire from several parents during a regular meeting of the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education Monday night.

Two parents - Arthur Beaudrie and Lark Samouelian - complained that because they lived just short of the 1.5 miles required for school bus service to their homes, they were being deprived of transportation

'My son, 8, in the third grade, is not allowed on the bus," said Beaudrie. "It bothers me that they allow a 12th grader to ride on the bus, because he lives 1.5 miles away, but they prevent a third grader, who lives 1.4 miles away from school, from riding on the bus.

'I have had a difficult time understanding this. The most important cargo is our children. Which is the lesser of two evils?" asked Beaudrie, "making a safety is adequately provided for." 12th grader or a third grader walk 11/2

BEAUDRIE, a resident of the Trailwood subdivision, said he found it "very disturbing" that the Trailwood area was not provided with school bus

He said his child faced not only bad weather, but the risk of molestation on his way to school.

Board Treasurer Dr. E.J. McClendon said: "We ought to put pressure on the Legislature to find out if the children's

> Other parents had complaints similar to that of Beaudrie.

> Samouelian, also a Trailwood resident, said she lives 1.2 miles from the school her children attend.

"They had been riding the bus for about two years, and then we found out they were not to ride. I would like the board to take immediate procedures to aid my subdivision because many women are beginning to work. It has been chaos every morning."

SAMOUELIAN said she and her husband travel as part of their jobs. She has a caretaker in the house but the caretaker does not drive. The children ride their bikes to school on good weather days and were instructed to ride the bus if bad weather occurred," she said.

Samouelian said it was not a situation in which she wanted to leave a

"I don't always know where I am going to be between 3 and 4 p.m.," she said. The Samouelians have been looking into the possibility of organizing a carpool.

Thomas said the safety of children was the responsibility of the local municipal governments. "At some point, parents must accept some sort of responsibility.'

"I take responsibility," Samouelian replied. "I'm a working parent, but I don't want to go to work while my child sits there. With this situation, my child is not receiving the best possible educa-

She asked that a steering committee be formed to look into the matter, but Thomas suggested that she and the Beaudrie family bring the matter before the district's safety committee.

David Artley, board vice president, said he had been to Lansing and had argued with state legislators. "But if you take $150 times the school enrollment, it adds up. We must change this law in Lansing. The place to attack it is at Lansing."

"Everybody passes the buck," said Samouelian.

Retiree finally has time for poetry

staff writer

Little did Frank Kullman think while spending eight years in Sacred Heart Seminary that the use of the English language he was taught would furnish him with the thoughts he needed for retire-

But today, with those years behind him, Kullman spends time in his home on Sutherland in Plymouth writing poetry and enjoying life with his wife of 51

Kullman, 79, was born in New York. He now finds that sitting in his parlor writing poetry is an enjoyable way of passing each day.

"I was all set to be a priest," he says, "I had attended St. Bernard High School and then entered the seminary with full intention of using my religion - and teaching it - the rest of my days.

Then the first bit of hard luck struck me. "My father passed away. And with his passing I had to quit school and go to work. It so happened that his family was friendly with Judge Frank Murphy. He succeeded in getting me a job with the Kresge Company and I learned accounting."

FROM THERE he was employed by several other stores.

He was always a follower of sports and he got really close to it when his uncle who was trainer for the Detrroit Tigers got him a job at the ballpark. The facility was then called Navin Field.

"I did all sorts of jobs with the Tigers," he recalled, "and the only one that bothered me was taking care of the electric scoreboard."

Kullman said he was in the pressbox when he met such sports writers as Harry Bullion, sports editor of the Detroit Free Press, Harry Salsinger of the Detroit News, and Bert Walker of the now-defunct Detroit Times.

With a twinkle, he also said, "One afternoon I met a young fellow named Edgar who was just beginning his career on the Free Press. And just think that we are meeting again after all these years."

ASIDE FROM writing poetry, Kullman has spent hours in his yard and his evergreens in the front section of his home look like the work of a master.

"I don't get out much anymore because my heart has gone a bit bad on me. That's why I grabbed my pencil and started to write verse here at the table.

"This may seem like an odd way to spend your retirement years, but it comes natural to me. I have been fortunate enough to write about the squirrels and birds and other of Nature's wonders. And when I finish the verses I enjoy typing them. It seems like an unusual way to spend your retirement but the 'work' comes natural and time never hangs heavy on my hands." While looking around his home, with his wife at his side, Kullman admitted he would have like to continued in the priesthood. "But when my father passed away there was nothing left for me to do but go to work.

As he cast aside his papers and latest poems, Kullman let the years go by and recalled his days at the ballpark.

"The one job I had, and I laugh when I think of it, was to sit on the press box roof, in front of a chicken wire fence, and retrieve all the baseballs that found their way up there. "I had to turn them all back to the club owners. But it was part of the life that lead me to writing verse to ease dire thoughts of my advancing years.

"It has been a great way to spend your time in

Partial Hospitalization

An Idea Whose Time Has Come

A NEW KIND OF MENTAL HEALTH TREATMENT

There is a new program for persons with mental or emotional difficulties who do not need 24-hour hospitalization but who do need more intensive and varied care than outpatient therapy can provide. The Mercywood Partial Hospitalization Program of Catherine McAuley Health Center allows patients to live at home while participating in structured, day-long sessions.

A VARIED AND EFFECTIVE PROGRAM Staff includes psychiatrists, social workers, nurses and other therapists. The emphasis is on group and individual therapy, creative arts therapy, physical health and mental health education. Physical fitness, leisure activities and effective coping skills for daily home and work life are also stressed.

REAL LIFE ORIENTATION The goals of partial hospitalization are to promote growth through real life situations and to provide family and community support for individuals. The treatment program emphasizes activities that improve physical and emotional health and develops the skills needed in handling the stresses of everyday life.

The Mercywood Partial Hospitalization Program is open 5 days a week. Many insurance plans will cover part or all of program costs.

Hot rodders ready to show off pride and glories

By Dennis Coffman staff writer

Mark Trostle of Canton doesn't need a BMW, Mercedes-Benz or Rolls Royce to get people to notice him when he drives down the streets of Plymouth and Canton.

Nor does Hugh Carpenter of Plym-

Both own what is considered the ultimate street rod by members of the National Street Rod Association. They own 1932 Fords.

"I have a '32 Ford Roadster I'll be showing in this weekend's National Street Rod Nationals and I have another Ford I'm working on, in the garage," said Trostle.

Not to be outdone, Carpenter, who is a detective with the Westland Police Department, also has a '32 Ford, a coupe, in the show and another one at home that he and his son, Tim, are

"I can't go anywhere," said Carpenter. "It's a problem, because other drivers look at the car while they're trying to drive, it draws so much attention and they veer over into my lane. Whenever I return to my parked car, there's always someone standing by it, waiting to ask questions."

ON THE surface, Trostle's '32 Ford Roadster and Carpenter's '32 Ford Coupe may appear similar, but they're somewhate different underneath.

Trostle built his car, part by part, by ordering the parts from a production house that specializes in antique cars. His car is a combination of fiberglass and metal components. "All you need is the money," said Trostle.

But Carpenter began with an 1932 metal body and added parts, some of themfiberglass, to his antique car.

Though Carpenter believes his car is worth more than $20,000 and Trostle said he could get $28,000, both drivers use their Fords as they would any other vehicle - sort of.

Both take out-of-state trips with their cars, but both try to keep them indoors during winter months.

Salt and moisture could be harmful to the undercarriage of Trostle's car, he said, because much of the suspension is chromed. I started this during my high school days," he said. "My father had a 1917 touring car. I'm always not satisfied with the original and want to change

Some of the changes include a Jaguar independent rear suspension, Chevy V-8 engine and decidedly not Depression-Era comforts such as air con-

"It took me four years to put it together," said Trostle. "I put about $15,000 into it. Today, it would take about $20,000. I was offered $28,000 for

TROSTLE HAS put 5,000 miles on the car. But after taking the car on a trip, he generally spends a weekend cleaning it up. Now he is working on a

Ford Victoria. "The '32 Ford has a rumble seat, which is all right except when there's bad weather," said Trostle. "You can make a street rod look any way you want it to look. You don't need original parts. It gets a lot of stares. Older people can relate to it from another era. They think it's original."

Trostle, whose Ford Roadster has won several awards including a best of class during the Autorama, said the Street Rod Association tries not to emphasize awards.

"They're trying not to turn it into a show car event," he said. "Cars are not trailered in, they're driven in. Otherwise, it would take the fun out of street-rodding."

For street-rodders, this is the end of the season - the driving season, because Michigan weather soon will take a turn for the worse - and end of the show season, because the NSRA show, to be held at the State Fairgrounds tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday is the final event of the season, at least in the northern tier of states.

CARPENTER worked on his first '32 Ford Coupe for five years. He and son Tim have been working on their second '32 Ford Coupe for three years.

"It's a father-and-son project," said Carpenter. "One of them has a Ford and the other a Chevy V-8. "It seems like I've been working on these cars my entire life. What I can't do, my son

Like Trostle, Carpenter drives his classic. He has put 8,000 miles on the completed coupe. "It's out quite a bit."

But Carpenter's car, with its original metal parts, usually obtained by meeting with other enthusiasts, qualifies for show-car events as well as street-car

His coupe was a Great Lakes Division champion at an International Show Car Association competition and was judged best overall street rod in NSRA competition in 1983-84.

Carpenter said he has sunk "$15,000, easy" in his '32 Ford Coupe. "There is $3,500 under the hood alone. The engine has been blueprinted and balanced, everything is polished." Carpenter said he has found many people who appear interested in buying the car, "until it's time to open their wallet. They're mainly tire-kickers." Carpenter, a Westland police sergeant, also has a chrome-plated Jaguar suspension under his '32 Ford.

But the car is far from all show, no

What does Mrs. Carpenter think about her husband and son spending their time in the garage working on 1932 Ford Coupes?

"At least she knows where both of us are," said Carpenter.

Other western Wayne County residents taking part in the NSRA Nationals include Barb and Bill Hanke, of Livonia, with a 1931 Ford Four-Door; Diane and Patrick James, of Garden City, with a 1940 Chevrolet Sedan; Karl and Terri Sharpe, of Livonia, with a 1935 Ford; Ray Horton, of Westland, with a 1932 Ford Roadster; John Hoskins, of Livonia; Billy and Pat Brown, of Westland, with a 1929 Ford; Dennis and and Linda Egan, of Redford, with a 1940 Chevrolet Two-Door.

About 1,500 rods, from conservative customs to the "absolutely outrageous," will be driven to the fairgrounds from North America. The rods are worth an estimated $21 million.

The NSRA consists of 30,000 members, with headquarters in Memphis. Tenn. Members range in age from their early teens to late 60s.

The Street Rod Nationals was first held in 1980 and has become a latesummer tradition at the fairgrounds. All events are open to the public from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday. Admission $5 for adults and $1 for chil-

Street rods are personalized, modernized versions of cars manufactured before 1949. There are no limitations, except that the cars must be able to be street-driven.

The cars typically cost $8,000 to $40,000 to create, with some running more than $100,000.

In all, summer teen volunteers were found in 28 different service areas, ranging from nursing units, the pharmacy and X-ray to the mailroom, print shop, and medical library.

The volunteers worked at the Arbor Health Building in Plymouth, in St. Josekph Mercy Hospital and the Reichert Health Building in Ann Arbor.

MICHIGAN RACING COMMISSION

LATE LAST year, the Hon. Frank J. Kelley, attorney general in and for the state of Michigan, tore himself away from utility bashing long enough to declare that William S. Ballenger's term as state racing commissioner ended Dec. 31, 1984.

Ballenger demurred, declaring that he was appointed by Republican Gov. William Milliken for a full four-year term that isn't due to expire until some time in

A colorful and ebullient fellow, Ballenger announced "the walls will be shaking" before he will yield his racing commissioner office to William L. Cahalan, the man Democratic Gov. James Blanci ard designated to take over the reins.

The walls have started shaking. A state Court of Appeals panel this week ruled that the governor has the authority to replace Ballenger.

IT'S A SHAME, however, for Michigan to lose the services of Ballenger as racing commissioner. He is a man who grasps that horse racing is an industry that can generate far more jobs, entertainment, profits and state taxes than it is providing.

He calls the industry "unimaginative and stodgy" in promoting itself. He sees the state as off-base in promoting the lottery, which is straight gambling with no entertainment value and which pays off only 45 cents on a $1 bet compared to horse racing's 80 cents.

THERE SHOULD be a course called

Richard

Ballenger had a program to change

 He wanted to stimulate attendance by realizing state and industry improve-

• He would have cut the state's drain on the industry by reducing the 6.23 percent tax on wagering to the 3.7 percent average of other states. He would offer better purses to horse owners to attract better horses.

The industry, since Ballenger has been around, ended a 20-year decline. Harnessrace wagering at Northville and Hazel Park started upward. Attendance at those tracks and the DRC in Livonia reversed its long downward slide.

CAHALAN, HIS apparent successor, was prosecutor of Wayne County for 16

In keeping with the bad old tradition of Wayne County politics, Cahalan quit in the middle of his final term, allowing for his successor to be appointed by fellow politicians, not elected by the people.

Whereas Oakland Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson developed a record, for better or worse, of advocacy for executing murderers, cracking down on welfare cheats and toughening up on prison sentences, we almost never heard the somber Cahalan voice an opinion - pro or con on these points.

Personally, I had just one dealing with Cahalan's office — an open-and-shut cage against the Schoolcraft College board for violation of the Open Meetings Act. Cahalan's troops dawdled with it, and dawdled with it, until finally I said the heck with it because it was too late to do anything about the matter.

THERE ARE political considerations. Sure, Ballenger is a Republican. But it's hard to see where he was any political threat to Blanchard. Since when is the post of state racing commissioner a passport to higher office?

Then there is Jimmy Karoub, the former Democratic legislator and now lobbyist for many interests, including the owners of Hazel Park. Ballenger had forced those owners to sell DRC, and the story goes that they and Karoub are out to get the racing commissioner. Maybe yes,

Ballenger was not only a tough regulator but an economic visionary, a man as fertile with ideas as Cahalan is devoid of

The answer, according to Business Week magazine, is that the typewriter keyboard was designed in 1872 by Christopher Latham Sholes. He quickly observed that a typist's fingers were faster than the early mechanical machines. The

In an eight-hour work day, the QWERTY typist's fingers would travel 16 miles; the Dvorak typist's, one mile.

 Users of the Dvorak keyboard can increase their speed by 50-70 percent.

TECHNICALLY, there's no reason why we can't convert word-processing ma-chines from the QWERTY to the Dvorak keyboard. All it takes is one little gizmo to reprogram the system.

Threat of lawsuits haunt police officers

By Henry E. Hockeimer Jr. special writer

IMAGINE A dusty, rough-and-tumble town of the Old West. Suddenly, gunshots ring out and screams are heard. A gun-toting bandit, money bag in hand, runs out of the bank, jumps onto his horse and starts to ride away.

Sheriff Noflack runs out of his office, draws his six-gun and fires, hitting the bandit. The bad guy falls over as his horse wildly gallops off the street, over the boardwalk and through the window of Wilson's General Store.

Three days later, the owner of Wilson's General Store, accompanied by his attorney, files a lawsuit seeking money from the town and sheriff for damages.

SOUND RIDICULOUS? In the Old West, such legal action would not have been taken.

After the chase, Mr. Wilson likely would have stepped across his store's broken glass and damaged merchandise, thanked Sheriff Noflack for keeping the community safe and everyone would have felt good.

But today, chances are the town and sheriff would be sued and probably would have to pay for the damages to Wilson's store.

And, perhaps more shocking to an Old Westerner, if the town were not held liable, Sheriff Noflack himself might have to pay out of his own pocket.

American society has obviously undergone great change since the Old West, and its perception and attitudes toward police have reflected this change.

Over the years, the unquestioned authority of law enforcement has eroded to the point that police officers are being brought before court almost as frequently as the criminals. Fear of liability is haunting innovative law enforcement.

MUNICIPAL IMMUNITY in America is traced to 1798 in the case of Russel vs. Men of Devon. At this time, there was no real distinction between a municipality and the larger "state" or its political subdivisions, such as counties, cities, villages, school boards, etc.

Because of an absence of precedent to law-suits against the state and a general inability to pay for any judgment, the court established governmental immunity from lawsuits. This immunity continued into modern times.

But by the 1970s, the immunity of governments, and specifically municipalities, changed

In Michigan, the Supreme Court case of Williams vs. City of Detroit stands as the significant, initial force in the abrogation of common law immunity.

THE WILLIAMS case involved a worker killed in a city-owned building because of an unsafe elevator shaft. Following the Williams case, the Michigan Legislature enacted PA 170 in 1964. This act established statutory immunity subject to certain exceptions — proprietary functions, highways, public buildings and operation of motor vehicles.

However, a section of this act was found to be unconstitutional. The Legislature attempt-'ed to cure the defect by amending the Act, with PA 155 of 1970. Thus, from 1970 to very recently, municipal immunity has been predicated on this amended act, with the courts interpreting the act in differing ways.

IN DECEMBER 1984, an attempt to quell these differing interpretations was made by the Michigan Supreme Court in Ross vs. Consumers Power Co. The Ross opinion essentially deals with three main areas: employees, definitions and vicarious liability.

The opinion provides greater immunity for the governmental agency and the "highest governmental officials" while diminishing the immunity of the lower-level employees. This aspect of the opinion — potential personal liability of the employee — is a very significant concern and one in which numerous groups are now attempting to remedy.

A VIABLE remedy, and one which a number of groups are supporting, is Senate Bill 327. This proposed bill, in addition to defining "governmental function" and limiting the recovery of non-economic damages from a governmental agency, would provide immunity to engovernmental officers and employees.

The need for broader immunity extended to governmental agencies and their employees is a seflected by a number of cases. Some examinates A VIABLE remedy, and one which a num-

South Tucson, Ariz. — Roy Garcia was accidentally shot by a South Tucson policeman in 1978. A jury awarded Garcia a $3.5 million

At that time, South Tucson had a $3.1 mil-on annual budget, and carried only $100,000 liability insurance. After almost six years court appeals and filing for bankruptcy, a tilement was reached where Garcia would ceive $1.50 million (coming from the sale of ty park property and londs) in one lump m. plus $500,000 over 10 years (to be cov-sed by a tax like).

A few months later, the man filed a civil lawsuit against the officer alleging false arrest, assault and battery and false imprison-ment. The plaintiff's attorney, knowing the benefits and detriments of the Ross decision, named only the officer as defendant. Thus, the officer now faces the potential of having to pay thousands of dollars out of his own pocket.

This potential of personal liability will undoubtedly harm effective and creative law en-forcement as well as deter many from entering into careers as city employees or officers.

New York City - In 1984, jurors awarded $1.5 million to the survivors of a man who drove his car into the rear of a city transit bus. This year, it is estimated that the City of New York will have to cover $110 million in judg-ments against the city.

These cases represent but samples of the burgeoning epidemic of lawsuits filed against governmental agencies and their employees. The effects are indeed serious including the potential for cities to essentially go out of

These are problems in desperate need of solutions. As our country has grown into a sophisticated and advanced nation, there is no longer a need for tough-guy, tobacco-spitting lawmen. Respect for individuals is indeed important as respect for government.

We cannot allow the status of government to dissipate into a vulnerable target for law-suits which carry the potential of destroying these local governments.

A situation must evolve where protection of individuals coincides with protection of government, so that both parties are allowed to act in ways beneficial to society.

Legislative remedies such as Senate Bill 327 and 328 are attempts to do this.

A turning point for U-M & Irish

N THE long history of college the loss of his position. football, there never has been a season opener with more drama than you will find this year.

Strangely, the peak of it will be in the Michigan Stadium, where the Wolverines Saturday will meet Notre Dame University in a game that means much to both teams.

One can hardly believe that these two teams will meet in the opener, for there was a time not too long ago when their meeting would be the feature of

And there was a time, too, when the late Fielding H. (Hurry Up) Yost would have no part of the Irish, no matter who was their coach.

This week, after all these years, they are meeting to give each team a chance to get back into winning ways. If Yost and Knute Rockne were available, they just wouldn't believe it.

JUST THINK of what they are fac-

The University of Michigan had one of its worst seasons under Bo Schembechler last year when it lost six games topped off by a loss in a bowl game. For Bo, this is the most important season since he has been in charge of the

He must get back on the winning side even though the Wolverines have not been listed in the top 20 for the nation. He must win again to assure the continuation of 100,000 crowds each week-

Much the same is true at South Bend, where the Irish are tired of being pushed around on the nation's gridirons. It is no secret that Jerry Faust. There never has been a coach for the past few years, is facing game with so much at stake.

So here are two nationally famous schools whose football teams are out to regain lost prestige. What a fight it

SCHEMBECHLER makes no secret of what he thinks the team will do. All he talks about is the strength of the defense - which is strange for a Michi-

He is working with quarterbacks who are prone to injuries, and he is keeping his fingers crossed with the hope that the injury jinx doesn't strike again as it did last year when he lost his firststring quarterback in an early game. While he may get the starting role, he still isn't up to par for a tough game.

So Bo is going on the old theory that if you keep the other team from scoring, you can't lose.

WITH FAUST and the Irish, the test will be supreme because not only are the team's national ratings at stake, but the coach's job, too. The Irish are tired of playing second fiddle when they used to lead the march.

The continuation of 100,000 crowds also is in the minds of Michigan officials. They have drawn capacity crowds for five seasons, and falling below that would be tragic.

The fans cheering lustily for each side will be there in large numbers. But when the final whistle blows and the Michigan band strikes up "The Victors," it means that Michigan is on the

A LOT OF pleasant happenings at the Plymouth Fall Festival.

Thursday, September 12, 1985 O&E

One was the couple in Kellogg Park Sunday afternoon. They were listening to the Plymouth Community Chorus and were a cheering section of their own at the end of each number.

I decided they must be the parents of a chorus member or at least staunch local fans. By the end of the concert, when they gave a standing ovation, I had narrowed their parentism down to that of Mike Gross, chorus director.

Mike had announced before the final offering the theme and dates of the annual Christmas concert, "A Fireside Christmas," Dec. 6, 7 and 8. As the couple left the area, both were muttering, "Dec. 6, 7 and 8— don't forget these dece." don't forget those dates."

If they were related to anyone in the chorus, they would be kept informed of the concert dates. They couldn't be Mike's parents. (I reasoned.)

Then they stopped and asked, "Could you tell us how to get to the antique mart from here? We're not familiar with Plymouth." It turned out, they were brand new fans.

The above incident does not infer that the chorus is supported merely by fond relatives. The three concert dates tell the story. Mike Gross and Company have gone from one Sunday evening Christmas performance in the Methodist Church to three in the large Plymouth Salem High School auditorium.

Their audiences have grown for one reason, they make beautiful

THE PLYMOUTH GRANGE maintained its reputation for serving fine food during the Fall Festival. For many, a Grange cookie or a piece of Grange pie is annual reassurance that all's well in the world.

It takes loyalty and stamina to keep going with a depleted membership. But Grangers like Louise Tritten, Betty Marsh, Mary Davison, Al O'Dell and Ray Masters pitched in to carry on the tradition. Puppeteer Ray Masters, who used to live next door to the Grange on Union Street, came from Ypsilanti

- to cook thousands of doughnuts. Liz Moehle Johnston came from New Orleans for the festival. She and her father, Jack Moehle of Plymouth, helped out all day Sunday. Liz, now an attorney, is not a Grange member, but her heart has been with them since she was a little girl in her Fall Festival sun bonnet and 19th century calico

Henry Berghoff, another volunteer, worked in the kitchen. They said Henry's help was invaluable and his remarks kept them all smiling in spite of the heat and their weariness.

Another pair of non-Grangers, Marilyn Marr and Darlene Little, made the project possible.

If they had a theme song, it should be "You Gotta Have Heart."

THE QUILT show was a popular addition to the Plymouth Community Arts Council's artists and craftsmen show. The band room at Central Middle School was abloom with handmade quilts classics and new quiits as well as settings of Christmas, summer and children's bedrooms.

Winner of the sampler quilt was Catherine Walls, a former Plymouth resident who now lives in Belleville. Her husband, Charles, is court administrator for 34th District Court. Their daughter, Candy Campbell, lives in Canton. Marat Garard, who chaired the

Relive 1985 Fall Festival in comfort on cable TV

The Plymouth Fall Festival was the word this weekend and everybody knew it! The crowds had to be the biggest yet and the weather definitely the hottest. The festival was in its prime, with entertainment galore, food everywhere and more fun than ever before. Actually, you could attend the festival and come home with some money in your pocket, which is more than I can say about the State Fair or any amusement park I know of.

I was fortunate to have a front-row seat for much of the entertainment as, for the very first time, I co-anchored live Omnicom coverage of the festival. I worked along with others from the community - J.P. McCarthy from Single Touch, Debbie Silverman of the food chain, Sharon Pettit from Spotlight on YOU and Sue Dueby of Single Touch each of us amateurs but veterans from our own

We were not alone, however. Joining us in the coanchor spots were the professionals: Ron Garlington, director and executive producer of many Omnicom shows including the Sandy Show; Maria Holmes, head executive producer, who brought us the Baskets Filled with Love Telethon last year on behalf of the Salvation Army; and the newest addition to the Omnicom staff, Pat McLaughlin, our new sports director. Pat is returning to his hometown of Northville from a reporting job with a station in Lansing. Last but not least, there was Suzanne Skubick, programming director at Omnicom and a veteran of the Plymouth Fall Festival line-up along with J.P. Mc Carthy.

THERE I SAT interviewing so many talented people in our community, and then watching their performances in and around the bandstand. What a

I hope you caught the many fine musical presentations, the Plymouth Community Band, the Plymouth Community Chorus, the C.E.P. Marching Band, Al Townsend and the Ambassadors with their Big Band sound and the always smooth singing style of vocalist Doug Kerr, just to mention a few. It's incredible to think about all the fine music and dancing that appeared on that stage in just four very hot days!

On Sunday afternoon alone, we had the Rock-Lettes, the Chiefettes, the C.E.P. Marching Band and the Fife and Drum Corps. All feature only children and all just as polished and professional as any you've seen. Not to mention the Plymouth Community Chorus performing that same afternoon in their long dresses and suits, in that heat, no less. · Now that's dedication.

WE BROKE all past records and provided 27 hours of live coverage of the festival, which can be seen next weekend on Omnicom.

So, for all of you who may have missed it, or a particular performance you were anxious to see, or, if you were in one of those performances, you can catch yourself next week when festival coverage will be replayed, from start to finish.

Perhaps you were visited by one of the roving cameras as it caught the slimnastics demonstration, the antique car display, the dunk tank, the police department fingerprinting the children, one of the many festival booths, or even people just being people. We'll see it all one more time. Actually, they will air parts of the festival throughout the coming year. So, as always, watch the Neighbors on Cable guide provided by this paper each Monday and Thursday to know exactly when you or yours will be on.

I CAN'T THINK of any event, anywhere, that has been covered to the extent this festival was. Imagine, 27 hours of live coverage.

Even the local broadcast channels cover only 10minute spots here and there throughout the Michigan State Fair. Omnicom never missed a chance to catch the important or unusual. Spare moments of fered pre-recorded public service announcements.

A recent poll taken by the Omnicom staff revealed approximately 7,000 people watched last year's coverage of the festival. They hope, with the added hours, there will be even more this year.

The festival was, as always, packed with people helping people. The whole idea is to give community service groups a chance to build up their treasuries to maintain all the wonderful programs, each offers throughout the year.

Started by Plymouth Rotary approximately 30 years ago to make enough money to purchase play-ground equipment for a city park, the festival cerground equipment for a city pairs, the restoral cer-tainly has grown and prospered. Now including many non-profit groups with the purpose of making enough money to help do something for the commu-nity, it truly remains a very worthwhile project for both those working and those patronixing.

I'LL NEVER understand how anyone working in one of the food booths is able to stand the additional

That chicken barbecue was a sure death trap but the crew never faltered. We interviewed several of bey men in the Rotary Club. Don Morgan, club seldent, held his own, even though harassed by veral friends while he was on camera and Ed ts, chairman of this year's barbecue.

World hunger walk seeks participants

It was easy for CROP recruits who showed up for an organizational meeting to get fired up after listening to Dave Bower last week in St. Matthew United Methodist Church, Livonia.

Bower is Church World Services CROP director for the state of Michigan. He recently returned from Africa where he visited various CROP project sites. Highlight of his address at the Livonia rally was a slide presentation of his trip.

CROP is the name given to local community hunger education and fundraising events sponsored by the Church World Services, an international relief, development and refugee resettlement agency of more than 30 Protestant and Orthodox churches in the United States. Goal of the world service organization is to help people create for themselves a better quality of life, marked by sustainability and balanced sharing in benefits and hundars. efits and burdens.

EFFORTS TO aid CROP in the Livonia area will take the form of a walk against hunger to be held Sunday, Sept. 29, starting at 1 p.m. with registration at St. Matthew's, 30900 Six Mile. Activities will conclude by 5 p.m.

The march is open to the public, according to Carol O'Connor, coordinator.

This is the second Livonia CROP walk. Last year 225 marchers participated in the event that raised $6,390.

"We're hoping to double the minher of walkers and the contributions," said

O'Connor.

Twenty-five percent of the funds collected at the Livonia Walk will go to support local relief efforts, O'Connor said. As an option, however, contributors can designate their gifts to other hunger fighting agencies.

ECONOMIC AID - By a vote of 260 for and 96 against, the House passed and sent to the Senate a bill (HR 10) extending the life of the Appalachian Regional Commission for five years and of the Economic Development Administration for three years.

Both agencies were created during the War on Poverty of the 1960s to channel economic aid to depressed areas of the country. Supporter James Howard, D-N.J., said "there is a continuing urgency to retain targeted econmic programs to help as many as possible of our most distressed areas."

Opponent Chalmers Wylie, R-Ohio, said the bill "flings wide open the door to pork-barrel abuse and increases our ever-worsening federal budget deficit."

Members voting yes wanted to keep the Appalachian Regional Commission and the Economic Development Administration in existence.

ELIGIBILITY - By a vote of 109 for and 247 against, the House rejected an amendment to tighten the eligibility requirements for communities receiving targeted federal aid from the Economic Development Administration.

Proposed to HR 10 (above), the amendment required a recipient community to have a per capita income of less than 80 percent the national average as well as an unemployment rate at least 1 percent above the national

This sought to tighten language in HR 10 that grants eligibility to communities that meet just one of the two standards. As finally approved, the bill also makes EDA money available to communities that have suffered a major economic shock.

Although EDA's original mission was to help the most distressed areas of the country, its money now can go to all but 19 of the 435 congressional districts and to about 80 percent of all U.S. com-

The bill, which was passed by voice vote and sent to the Senate, would spend $41.6 million in 1986 for a variety of safety and research and development programs administered by the Department of Transportation.

In addition to funding these programs, the bill strengthens the job security of railroad employes who report safety violations to the government or refuse to go to work because of unsafe conditions.

This amendment sought to reduce the federal subsidy of state safety inspections.

Sponsor Robert Walker, R-Pa., said American taxpayers "are sick and tired of the process in Congress that always finds ways to justify spending."

Opponent James Florio, D-N.J., said "if anything, we should be providing for an increase in rail safety."

Members voting yes supported the amendment to cut the budget. Voting ves: Purseil and Broomfield.

Voting no (to retain the $3.2 million): Hertel, Ford and Levin.

Playgoers in Livonia, Redford, Garden City, Plymouth and Westland can look forward this year to a veri-table cornucopia of colorful characters in productions that will range from light comedy to heavy drama. Interspersed with contemporary pieces will be plenty of old favorites and maybe even a few surprises.

Behind the scenes, script-reading committees from the Garden City Civic Theatre, the Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford, the Plymouth Theatre Guild and the Spotlight Players of Wayne-Westland have been busy, going over scripts since early in the year. Final selections for this season were made around the beginning of the summer, according to publicists for the various groups.

Herein, their choices for the 1985-

IN ITS 32nd year, the Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford will launch its season with Jane Martin's "Talking With," an award-winning play with an eclectic cast of characters, including a baton twirler, a mad housewife, a snake handler and a tattooed woman. In a contemporary setting, Martin's play is actually a series of monologues running the gamut from comedy to pathos.

In November, TGLR will present "Baby," an upbeat musical, which traces the experiences of three "expectant" couples in a small college town. The musical was nominated for a Tony award last year.

Next, TGLR will offer William
Mastrosimone's "Extremities," a highly dramatic depiction of an attempted rape, which debuted in New York in 1983.

The guild will conclude its season in May with "Beyond Therapy," a comedy by Christopher Durang, about a couple undergoing therapy, their relationships with each other and with their therapists, and how they learn to go on living beyond therapy.

One of our goals is to not do productions that have already been done everywhere," said Sarah Hope, publicity chairman for TGLR, when asked what factors are taken into consideration as the guild plans its upcoming season. "We try to do new, exciting, original work. Our audiences are real theater fans and very selective people. We try to cater to

OVER AT Garden City Civic Theatre, there's good news for fans of musicals this year. The group, which attracted its largest audiences in the past with musical productions, has chosen this year to go with not one but two musicals

GCCT's season will open Oct. 18 with Rodgers' and Hammerstein's "The Sound of Music" and close in May with "Stop the World, I Want to Get Off." In between will be Joe Mantegna's "Bleacher Bums," an adult comedy set in a present-day baseball

"Bleacher Bums" is different than anything we've done before," said GCCT publicist Mike Rothaar, adding that the group decided to do an adult comedy this year - after choosing the two musicals - to provide more balanced entertainment for theatergoers." "Bleacher Bums" is a character study, really - a bit like 'Chorus Line,' without the music," Rothaar explained. "We were after a light, upbeat season (when we chose Bleacher Bums')." Rothaar said the GCCT production of the play will mark the critically acclaimed show's debut in the Detroit area.

THE PLYMOUTH Theatre Guild will open its 39th season with Paul Loomis' "For Her Cheild's Sake," a melodrama, complete with hero, heroine and rascally, mustachioed villain. Following will be William Inge's 1953 drama, "Picnic," the story of a drifter who comes to a small town, and the changes he brings about in the lives of several women who Closing the season in May will be "Everybody Loves Opal." Described by playwright John Patrick as "a prank in three acts," the comedy centers around kindly, optimistic Opal and three shady characters who use her home as a hide-out, as they concoct Opal's demise' - in order to get their hands on her money.

"We try to be very conscientious about presenting (plays) the commu-nity will like," said Publicity Director Gail Mesner. "Everybody Loves Opal," for instance, is a traditional old favorite - something that's wellloved and that just about every community theater does.

"As to 'For Her Cheild's Sake,' Plymouth really likes melodrama, and we've always had good attendance at melodramas we've done in the past. They're something the entire family can come to, of course. A few years ago, when we did 'Dirty Work at the Crossroads,' we passed out bags of popcorn at the door, so play-goers could throw popcorn at the vil-lain." Mesner said that the guild hopes to do the same this year.

SPOTLIGHT PLAYERS of Wayne-Westland will begin its 26th season in October with Elizabeth Diggs' "Close Ties," a drama of the relationships among an aging grandmother, her children and grandchildren. In February, the players will do "Madwoman of Chaillot," Jean Giraudoux's comic fable of bizarre characters in turn-ofthe-century Paris. The Spotlight Players season will close in April with "No Sex Please, We're British," a British farce written by Anthony Marriott and Alistair Foot.

"We're really getting kind of international this year," Spotlight Players President Debra Polich-Swain said with a laugh. The players' script-se-

Theatre Guild of Livenia-Redford will present the monologues "Talking With," Oct. 11-12, 18-18, and 25-26, as its season's opener. Garden City Civic Theatre will do the musical "The Sound of Music," Oct. 18-19, 25-27 and Nov. 1-2, as the group's first show of the new season.

Season offers bright mix

"Doctor Detroit" (1983), 1 Saturday night on Ch. 50. Originally 89 minutes. TV time slot: 120 minutes.

Panzenhagen

There's no underestimating the taste of the American moviemaker, someone once said, or should have said. Of course, an American public which eats up poor taste — or at least makes it profitable — deserves a share of the blame. Case in point: "Doctor Detroit," a truly awful, insulting, tasteless film starring "Saturday Night Live" alumnus Dan Akroyd. (And, incidentally, you can count the number of good movies that bunch has made on one hand and still not drop your popcorn, can't you?)
The name alone — "Doctor Detroit" does more of a disservice to Motown than the inner-city scenes from "Beverly Hills Cop." Howard Hesseman and Donna Dixon co-star in this relentlessly vulgar, eminently missable romp. Rating: one quarter.

"The Greek Tycoon" (1978), 1 Monday night on Ch. 50. Originally 106 minutes. TV time slot: 125 minutes.

But if you liked "Doctor Detroit" and plan on watching it again, you're sure to love and not want to miss "The Greek Tycoon," a movie which shameless exploits Jacqueline Kennedy's relationship with Aristotle Onasis. Worse than that, it's dull. There's no polish, pace or prurient interest to be found in this labored soap opera. The casting is right - James Franciscus as the JFK type (of course the names are changed to protect the producers from lawsuits), Anthony Quinn as the shipping magnate, and the always-delectable Jacqueline Bisset as the impressionable politico's wife - but everyone's wasted and so is the scenery. When you can't even count on scenery, forget it. Rating: one (JFK) half dollar.

"Sherlock Holmes and the Voice of Terror" (1942), 1 Sunday night on Ch. 4. Originally 65 minutes. TV time slot: 90 minutes. At least the week's not a total loss. Sherlock Holmes and the Voice of Terror" is a departure from the earlier, and better, efforts of Basil Rathbone and Nigel Bruce as the indefatigable private eye and his trusted colleague, Dr. Watson. It's really a propaganda film, with Holmes battling Nazis instead of Victorian do-badders. Nontheless, it's always a pleasure to see Rathbone and Bruce together again, and here they're given ample support from Henry Daniell and Reginald Denny, too. It's elementary - any Holmes is better than no Holmes at all.

Rating: $3.

Study of film maker George Stevens to be shown

"George Stevens: A Filmmaker's Journey," a 1985 study by George Stevens Jr. of the work of his father, will be shown by Detroit Film Theatre at 7 and 9:30 p.m. Friday-Saturday in the Detroit Insti-

EFRESHING DIVERSITY marks the upcoming '85-86 season at the Meadow Brook, Actors Alliance and Birmingham theaters and at the many Oakland County community theater groups.

The excitement of a number of premieres in the lineup and the fact that there are few duplicate productions promises a bright theater season and one light on its feet with even more musicals than Lancelot and Guinevere, Maria and the Captain, Tevye and Golda, Charlie Brown and Snoopy and a bevy of "Chorus Line" hopefuls will strut their stuff. They'll be joined by "Joseph" known for the Coat of Many Colors he wore, and by "Gypsy," best known for what she didn't wear.

Traditional classics by Shakespeare, Moliere, Ibsen and Dickens anchor this season that's filled with a host of past and present hits from New York

SHAKESPEARE'S romantic tragedy "Romeo and Juliet" (Oct. 10 to Nov. 3) opens Meadow Brook Theatre's season of eight plays on the Oakland University campus near Rochester. Then Noel Coward's wit takes center stage (Nov. 7 to Dec. 1) in his partly autobiographical play, "Present Laughter," about a pampered stage star. They Tim returns (Dec. 5-29) to warm hearts in Dickens' "Christmas Carol" now in its fourth sell-out season and fast becoming a Meadow Brook holiday tradition.

Patrick Hamilton's mystery-thriller "Angel Street" brings in the new year (Jan. 2-26.) The tale on which the film "Gaslight" was based tells of a sinister Victorian husband who devises a diabolical plot to destroy his wife. Then, Meadow Brook presents the Detroit premiere of "84 Charing Cross Road" (Jan. 30 to Feb. 23), story of the extraordipary correspondence between an obscure London bookseller and a single American woman. Next the comic master, Moliere, pokes riotous fun at greed in "The Miser" (Feb. 27 to March 23).

Anton Chekov, pillar of literature and a doctor by profession, is the subject of Neil Simon's "The Good Doctor" (March to April 20), vignettes about the renowned Russian who wrote plays long before Neil Simon penned his first hit. Rogers and Hart's "Sing for Your Supper" closes the Meadow Brook season (April 24 to May 18). The musical spawned eight enduring hit songs including "Blue Moon" and "Where Or When."

THE ACTORS Alliance Theatre at the Lycee International in Southfield will present two Michigan premieres and one world premiere in its seven-play season, which opened Friday with "Going to See the Elephant." The title of this drama refers to the yearning to see wonders, the quest for new horizons. Four women on the 1871 Kansas prairie explore the pain and the wonder that comes of the quest as they challenge the rough land.

Next, Frank Gilroy's Pulitzer-Prize-winning dra-

The world premiere of the stage adaptation of "Miracle on 34th Street" confirms our faith in Kris Kringle alias Santa Claus and in the magic of miracles (Nov. 29 to Jan. 4). Jeff Nahan, artistic director of Actors Alliance, is creating the stage version of the endearing story of book and movie fame.

Then the musical fantasy "Celebration" by Tom Jones and Harvey Schmidt, the pair who wrote "The Fantasticks," follows (Jan. 17 to Feb. 23) and tells of the battle between a young man and an outrageously rich old man to win the heart of a fallen angel.

Ibsen's dark classic drama, "Ghosts," continues the Actors Alliance season, as it unravels how the sins of the fathers return to haunt the lives of the innocent (March 7 to April 13). Next, Arthur Kopit's "End of the World" makes its Michigan premiere (April 25 to May 25). The comedy tells of the shocking reality and "Catch 22" absurdity a young play-wright must contend with when he does research on how the world will end.

Closing the season is "Fiddler on the Roof," a heartwarming musical comedy set in the little Russian village of Anatevka where "there is a tradition for everything." The irrepressible Tevya commands the Actors Alliance stage (June 6 to July 27).

Ah, Michigan

all choked up as the U.S. Coast Guard marches the flags out of the room at the Grand Traverse Resort. The national anthems of the United States and Canada have been played and the 30th annual convention of the Society of American Travel Writers (SATW) has begun.

This is the first time in 10 years that this organization of writers, editors and travel promotion specialists have met in the United States, and Michigan has greeted them with a spectacular sound and light show: thunderstorms, floods, disrupted plane schedules and all.

But we are all here now and Michigan Travel Director John Savich has welcomed delegates representing states across the country, several provinces of Canada and a large number of foreign countries. Finally, the lights go down, the red-sweatered band from Inversity fight song and Gov. James Blanchard is on stage to open the con-

There are a lot of facts and figures in the next half hour, some of which may surprise even you. Michigan is surrounded by 95 percent of the surface water of America, 20 percent of the surface water of the world; it has 3,200 miles of Great Lakes shoreline, 11,000 inland lakes, 3,600 miles of rivers and streams, and registers 600,000 pleasure boats, more than any other state.

SOME OF the people attending this convention grumbled when Michigan was first chosen as a convention site. The most recent conventions have been held in Hungary, Bahamas, Thailand, Poland, Hawaii and India. Who wants to go to Michigan; isn't that the place where they make cars?

It is of course "the place where they make cars" but editors and writers from around the continent are finding out this week that it is also the place where beautiful lakes and wood country is a setting for fishing, touring and good eating.

I have been a member of SATW for many years, so I know what the members are used to seeing and doing on convention. Members are divided into travel writers and editors, who are active members, and public relations directors of state, city and national tourist bureaus, who are Associate members. They convene to conduct their business and to write stbries about the Michigan was eager to show them as much of the state as possible. Tourism is a $12 billion industry generating $566 million in taxes and employing 274,000 people, so a mass of travel stories published throughout the U.S. and Canada will be an economic plus.

DELEGATES MEET in Traverse City for four days, divide up into a dozen tour groups traveling various parts of the state for three days and end the convention Sept. 13-16 in Detroit. I wonder how many of you have seen the attractions chosen to be of special interest to these 300 world travelers.

Interlochen, for example. Texans and Californians and Canadians gave standing ovations to the talented students who performed for us on the stage of this nationally acclaimed school in the woods near Traverse City. The last time I visited Interlochen was probably 15 years ago.

The tours offered on this gold coast of Michigan included the Sleeping Bear National Lakeshore, with its glorious sand dunes; Fishtown in Leland; the fruit farms of the Mission and Leelanau peninsulas; the studios of art-Ist Gwen Frostic; Mackinac Island; and the many resorts where Michigan people regularly play on the tennis courts and the championship golf courses.

Fishing was a sensation. Photographers shooting for publication were snapping photo-album shots of grinning delegates with their catches.

LAST SUNDAY night was dinearound. There were 11 area restaurants to choose from: Bowers Harbor Inn on Mission Peninsula: The Hannah Lay Room here at Grand Traverse Resort; The Cove and the Leland Lodge in Leland; Epicure in Suttons Bay; The Inn at the Homestead in Glen Arbor, La Bacasse in Burdickvillke; Leelanau Country Inn in Maple City; The Rowe Inn in Ellsworth; Tapa Wingo, also in Ellsworth, and founded by a former chef of the Rowe Inn; and Spencer Creek Landing in Alden.

As you read this, the SATW delegates are scattered all over the state in

You can't plan ahead and play profootball

TEFF WISKA HAS been the man caught in the middle for some time now, so pardon him if he accepts abrupt career changes with almost bored resignation. For most of us, not knowing what we'd be doing for work a month from now might cause severe trauma. At least lines of worry might crease our face, or our hair would start falling out. But Wiska isn't like most of the people in the work force. He's a pro football player.

That's a career with a foundation as firm as . Jell-O. But worse yet, Wiska plays in the United States Football League (USFL), which means that life in transition is the only life there is.

"It's a crazy league," admitted Wiska, a starting guard for the Oakland Invaders. "It's hard to keep track of what's going on.' What an understatement. Tracking Wiska's career is like following a pinball - where it bounces next is anyone's guess. The Farmington native grew up playing football like everyone else - in the fall. He began his career at Redford Catholic Central, graduating in 1977 with a scholarship to Michigan

State University. He finished at MSU in 1982 and was signed by the NFL's New York Giants, where he spent a year on injured reserve only to be cut in 1983. That led him to the USFL and the Michigan Panthers in the spring of 1984.

SPRING FOOTBALL was an adjustment, but it was minor by USFL standards. Wiska stuck with the Panthers through the '84 season as the third guard. He was renting a house in Southfield while building a home in Novi when the news reached

The Panthers were folding. No inside source informed Wiska that his career, which had finally gotten off ground floor, might be headed for a

"I was watching TV," he recalled, "when I found out the team was moving to Oakland. I didn't know anything about it until then.

'Meanwhile, I'm in the process of buying a house. The mortgage company calls a couple of days later and asks for verification of employment. That was in October. I didn't find out until December that I was on (Oakland's) protected list.

"And you know, the team never called me. I had

At least he had a job. True, it was in Oakland, Calif., more than 2,000 miles away from his new home, but a job's a job.

Wiska unseated Thom Dornbrook in the starting early in preseason practice and started all 20 games for the Invaders. The team reached the USFL championship game before losing to the

The season ended in July, and so did spring football. The USFL heirarchy decided to start its next season in the fall of 1986.

THE INVADERS won't be part of it, Wiska believes. His contract expired, and no one has contacted him about resigning. Few of his Invaders teammates remain with the team.

"I don't think (the Invaders) will be back next year." he predicted. "I've heard they're just hanging on to see if the USFL wins its antitrust suit against the NFL. They're around in name

"Unless the USFL merges with the NFL, there isn't much hope for them.'

Which is unfortunate. Wiska is convinced there are NFL-caliber players throughout the USFL.

He's one of them. He was contacted by the Cleveland Browns for a tryout, but a torn rotator cuff in his shoulder has put his career on hold. "In the preseason I could bench-press 515 pounds," he said. "By the end of the season I could only lift 315. I was getting a shot (of cortisone) before every game.

Going to an NFL camp right after completion of a 20-game season would have been suicide, Wiska decided. His shoulder needed time to heal. "I wouldn't have been at my best performance level, and to make it in the NFL you really have to kick butt." So now he waits for a call. The chance for him to continue his career, he knows, is "not in my hands, really. It depends on someone else's

WHICH MEANS if someone gets hurt and an NFL team needs a lineman, he might get a call. To fill his time, Wiska has returned to his roots. He's back at his alma mater to help coach Catholic Central's junior varsity team, another new experience for him.

"I wouldn't have coached anywhere but Catholic Central," said Wiska. "I have a lot of regard for coach (Tom) Mach. Plus it's a chance for me to give something back to Catholic

"I'm kind of in limbo right now. I'd like to play a few more years, but I played at MSU and in the pros for three years. I can hang up my cleats right now, but if someone wants to pay me I'll play." And whatever the future brings, he'll always

"One thing that still sticks in my gut is when the authors folded," he remembered. "When they oft town, it left a bad taste in everyone's mouth But Qakland proved better than other USFL Oakland proved better than other USPL

Willows Sunday. Her 18-hole score of 75 set a new tournament record.

Repasky's 75 gets O&E title

By C.J. Risak staff writer

What a difference two weeks can

Not just in the weather either, although the downpour that caused the Observer & Eccentric/Whispering Willows Women's Golf Classic to be postponed from Aug. 24 until Sunday was nothing for Geralyn Repasky to grieve

Two weeks ago, Repasky, the defending O&E champion from Livonia, finished the 12th hole at Whispering Willows in a virtual tie with Ann Lauer from Birmingham, the 1983 champ. That's when a steady rain turned into a deluge that flooded greens and left day was a different story. tournament director Gary Whitener Repasky wasn't about with no choice but to reschedule.

Thirty-eight of the 40 women who entered the tournament were on hand for the make-up, and it was Repasky who proved unbeatable. The Bowling Green State University junior took a twostroke lead with a 40 on the front nine, then buried her competitors with a sizzling 35 over the back nine to win easily with a tournament-record 75.

LAUER AND LIVONIA native Ruth Melton stayed in the hunt over the first nine holes, each carding 42s. But neither could keep pace with the red-hot Repasky down the backstretch. Melton's 40 earned her second place with an 82; Lauer was third with 84.

The reason for Repasky's easy triumph was simple: "I knew that when the tournament was washed out I'd be able to practice more," she said. "I've been playing 18 holes of golf every day (on BGSU's women's team).'

Repasky had not played for nearly a month prior to the original tournament. A busy spring and early summer tournament schedule had left her burned out and contemplating quitting BGSU and golf altogether. Instead, she talked to the new Falcon coach, Greg Nye,

and he advised taking time away from

So when Repasky started the original tournament, her mind was refreshed but her game was rusty. She and Lauer were tied at 40 after nine holes, and by the 12th a battle to the final hole seemed certain.

BUT THE RAIN made it all inconsequential. "I didn't know if I would have won or not," Repasky conceded. Sun-

Repasky wasn't about to miss her chance to repeat. Not even a long drive following 54 holes of golf Friday and Saturday could keep her away.

"A friend picked me up late last night," a weary Repasky said. "We get in about one (in the morning)."

On Friday and Saturday she played for BGSU in the Southern Illinois University Tournament in Normal, Ill., finishing with rounds of 88-81-77 for a 238. She drove back with the team to Bowling Green on Saturday afternoon before returning home.

Her travels affected her on the first nine holes. "My swing was slow, real slow," she said. But that changed after she made the turn. She steadily increased her lead, picking up at least one stroke on each of the last five holes. She had birdies at 11 and 17, offsetting her only bogey on the back

IF ANYTHING insured Repasky's victory, it was her putting. She needed only 11 putts to negotiate the final nine greens.

"I wasn't putting very good my first four or five days at school," his said. "I was cutting (the ball). Coach Nye gave me some pointers that really helped."

Womens Golf Tournament at Whispering

If you needed proof that this isn't a typical Livonia Stevenson soccer team consider Tuesday night's match with Plymouth Salem.

Stevenson has virtually owned the Rocks the past three or four years. Tuesday night, the final score

"We were delighted to tie them," said Salem coach Ken Johnson. "It feels like a win to us. It's not like the old days, but they are still a very good team - top five in the state for sure."

Stevenson coach Pete Scerri isn't likely to agree: "No, I'm not disappointed with a tie. I don't expect things to be like last year or the past years. But I'll tell you, no one is going to walk over us. We won't

Lars Richiers put Stevenson ahead five minutes into the game, taking a pretty pass from John

With three minutes left in the first half, Salem's Mike Tanner slipped a long through pass to Dave Dameron who beat Spartan goalie Dan Millner.

The rest of the game belonged to the defenses, and according to Scerri, the officials.

"We almost dominated the second half," Scerri said. "We just couldn't put it in the net. Our problem was the officials, they wouldn't let us play. Everytime we hit somebody they blew the whistle. We got tentative. Everything in high school soccer is improving, except the officiating. It's bad. It's ruining the game."

D.J. Ward and Steve Karfis helped keep Salem at bay, while Andy Orr and Eldon Nash played superb-ly along the Salem back wall. Goalie Joe Knoerl was also effective for the Rocks. "Yes, I'd say Stevenson had the better of it in the second half," Johnson said. "But we had some great chances in the first half."

The shots on goal were fairly even, 21-17 in favor Stevenson is 3-0-1, Salem 1-0-1.

CANTON 2, N. FARMINGTON 6: Plymouth Canton (2-0) fired 46 shots at North goalie Dennis McCarthy Tuesday.

"And only two beat him. It's great to have him back," said North coach Cathy Cole, who's goalie had missed time with various injuries.

Said Canton coach Mike Morgan: "Forty-six shots, can you tielieve it? I told the kids, 'Don't kick it at the guy with the gloves on (the goalie) because he'll catch it."

Steve Morell was the only Chief that could beat fcCarthy. He did it ence in the first half and again the second.

A PLYMOUTH HIGH SCHOOL FLASHBACK

In September of 1970, Plymouth Salem football coach Tom Moshimer moved a journeyman tailback Greg LaMirand, a 6'1" senior, into the staring quarterback position. Against rival Northville High in the opening game of the 1970 season, LaMirand, making his first start at Varsity QB threw 3 TD passes to glue-fingered 6'4" senior Charley Wolfe. That performance plus the durable running of Capt. Ed Scott, Don Chopp and Carl Huter enabled Plymouth to blitz Northville 36-8 and capture the Silver Bell of football supremacy in the rivalry between the two teams. It also marked the last time ever the Silver Bell was un for grabs. the Silver Bell was up for grabs.

S'craft spikers stun OU

By C.J. Risak staff writer

Here's what was supposed to happen at last weekend's Oakland University Invitational volleyball tournament:

• The host Pioneers would put on a show against some of their Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (GLIAC) rivals — Saginaw Valley State and Hillsdale - while waltzing to victory, gaining valuable experience for the freshmen team members;

 Schoolcraft College would concentrate on just getting some playing time in the team's first action of the season, hoping that competition against three four-year schools would prove beneficial to a two-year school that starts five freshmen and a sophomore.

WELL, YOU know what happens to such plans. Things go awry, twisting whatever expectations a coach had prior to a competition into something quite different.

"We consider it an upset," said OU

tain a consistent level of play.'

More precisely, OU lost, according to Hurdle, because "we just didn't play well in the finals.'

On the other hand, Schoolcraft won throughout the tournament and continue on an upward trend.

'We started out (the tournament) missing some serves we shouldn't have," first-year coach Tom Teeters said. "Our passing was strong throughout the tournament, but our spiking was off and on.

"But everyone improved by Saturday's finals."

THE OCELOTS needed all the momentum they could muster to subdue OU. The two combatants split the first two games of the final match, Ol' pinning the opener 15-13 and Schoolcraft taking the second game 15-8.

In the deciding contest, the Pioneers crept to within two points of victory, forging a 13-10 lead. But that's when coach Bob Hurdle after his Pioneers Patti Kozicki from North Farmington lost the championship match in three rallied Schoolcraft with adept serving games to — of all teams — School- Combined with a strong defensive craft. "We lost because we did not susgame, the Ocelots overtook OU to claim the victory 16-14.

"Strategically, we were able to eliminate their middle game with strong serving," Teeters said. "We focused our serves toward their weaker passers, because it was able to gain momentum and our girls were able to pinpoint their serves. (OU) had to go to their outside hitters, and that gave us more time to set up defensively.'

> TEETERS USED freshmen Kozicki, Kim Relyea (Livonia Stevenson), Kathi McIntosh (Wayne Memorial), Sue Cyrus (Garden City), Anne Bennett (Walled Lake Western) and Amy Lotero (Livonia Franklin), together with sophomore Linda Loeffler (Stevenson), with great efficiency. Schoolcraft isn't tall — the best hitters are Cyrus (5-foot-6) and McIntosh (5-4).

But they were effective. Schoolcraft stopped Macomb CC in straight games, 15-6, 15-7, in Friday's opener, and followed that with a 11-15, 15-2, 15-13 victory over SVSC. The Ocelots reached the finals with a 15-6, 15-7 win over Hillsdale.

Meanwhile, Hurdle was forced to juggle his lineup somewhat when Noelle Graham suffered a severely sprained thumb Friday. The combination of Graham's injury and Hurdle trying to insert some of his promising freshmen into the lineup led to his experienced team members "trying to be too good, too perfect."

THE RESULT was overly aggressive play that led to unnecessary errors.

"I'm a little disappointed, but if it was going to happen I'm glad it happened now (at the beginning of the season)," Hurdle said. "I think it will benefit us down the road. The young kids learned first hand what can happen if you don't do what's necessary to win."

OU reached the finals by beating Macomb 15-3, 15-6; Hillsdale 15-9, 17-15; and SVSC 15-4, 12-15, 15-3. Mary Pike finished with 27 kills and a .321 hitting

"Schoolcraft played very well," Hur-dle conceded. "They served tough to our left back, and that's the toughest pass to make from there. We just didn't execute the pass.'

Rocks, Chiefs improve, so does WLAA

By Chris McCosky staff writer

As in all other sports, the new 12team alignment in the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) has produced a powerhouse conference for area girls swimming teams - the competition in the Lakes Division being especially intense.

Traditional WLAA frontrunners Livonia Stevenson and Plymouth Salem will now be challenged by traditional Northwest Suburban League champions North Farmington and traditional NSL bridesmaid Westland John Glenn in the Lakes.

The 20-year-old Northwest Suburban League was disbanded last season. North, Glenn and Livonia Franklin defected to the WLAA.

In the Western Division, Plymouth Canton, Farmington Harrison and Livonia Churchill have all improved and should have quite a fight for the division crown.

Also as in other sports, the new 12team alignment is causing some initial administrative pains. WLAA officials have blocked off three days on the schedule to facilitate the league meet. With each team allowed four competitors per event, some coaches are wondering if three days will be enough

Lead vanishes in 4th quarter, Salem dumped

By Chris McCosky staff writer

It was understood going in that one of four outstanding teams competing in the Great Lakes Tip-Off Girls Basketball Tournament last week would come away with an 0-2 record.

But few expected that team to be Plymouth Salem.

But that's the way it worked out as Salem, after suffering a 61-41 drubbing from Livonia Ladywood Thursday, lost a frustrating 47-43 decision to Detroit St. Martin DePorres Saturday.

Salem led 41-35 with 5:49 left in the game. But the Rocks didn't score again until the final seconds of the game. De-Porres, meanwhile, ran off 12 straight points and forced nine Salem turn-

"But, like I told the kids, you have to be able to execute when the pressure is on. We had some opportunities to put that team away. We had the season form. Holding a high-powered basketball so many times it was unreal. But we just couldn't take care of it."

Salem had four consecutive chances to add to their six-point lead but turned the ball back over to DePorres. Finally, the Eagles began to score. And the more DePorres scored, the more its press intensified.

We still have 18 more games to play," Thomann said, not wanting to overplay the consequences of his team's two early defeats. "We have to go back into the gym and get ready for Walled Lake Central (Thursday night).

"This is a new group of players. Right now, they are trying to find out

"It was physical," said Canton coach wide-open, fast-paced basketball game Rob Neu. "We forced them to step out in its season opener with Detroit and play hard. And as the game wore on, we got more intelligent. We figured out what they were doing and capitalized on it.

Aggies face monumental task said the Agatha coach. "But we'll be ready to play." Agatha came out of last week's win against Servite short-handed at quarterback. Starter Tom Trujillo took a hit in the back and suffered a collapsed lung. He'll be out for at least four weeks, according to Goddard. Chris Orzech, the backup quarterback, is out with a separated shoulder, leaving the signal calling to defensive back Jim Knittel, a 6-foot-1, 180-pound "It's a challenge for Jim," Goddard said. "But he throws well and is a good athlete. He's a little nervous right now, but he'll be fine.' How does the Observer sports staff see it? Pick - St. Francis wins a close "We had the best Monday practice one, both writers agree.

FRIDAY GAMES

PLYMOUTH SALEM at LIVONIA CHURCHILL (7:30 p.m.) — Salem was pushed around last week by a good Trenton team. Churchill showed tough defense in a 13-7 win over Sterling Heights. The teams appear to be equal. The team making the fewest mistakes wins. Pick — McCosky takes Churchill, but Emons takes Sa-

LIVONIA STEVENSON at LIVONIA FRANKLIN (7:30 p.m.) — Both teams, losers last week, need to generate more offense. Stevenson quarterback Dave Rosochaki wasn't as bad as his 5-for-19 passing performance indicated. Franklin quarterback Dave Drabicki needs to put on a better show than he did last week against Fordson. Pick — McCosky likes Stevenson, but Emons says Franklin's defense pulls them "They're saying this is their year," grid predictions

WESTLAND JOHN GLENN at PON-TIAC CENTRAL (7:30 p.m.) — if this was basketball, Glenn would be in trouble. But it's foot-ball, and Central, yet to play a game (coming off a 3-6 season), is no match for the powerful Rockets. Pick - Two votes for Glenn.

BISHOP BORGESS at REDFORD UNION (7:30 p.m.) — Borgess let the heat and fumbles get to them last week in a one-point loss to Dearborn Edsel Ford. RU got coach Jim ons his first win in a mild upset over Stevenson. Pick - Borgess, it's unanimous

REDFORD THURSTON at ALLEN

PARK (7:30 p.m.) — What do you make of this Thurston team, which snapped a 10-game los-ing streak last week? Coach Ron Powell of the Eagles returns to his old stomping grounds, taking on Allen Park veteran coach Ed Bellas. The Jag-uars, a 3-0 winner last week over Grosse Ile, are the defending Tri-River League champs. Pick -

ANN ARBOR HURON at WAYNE MEMORIAL (7:30 p.m.) — Wayne (1-0) should have three of its starters back (off suspension), giving them a better chance at upaetting Ann Arbor Huron, which lost last week to Lansing Sexton, 21-0). Can running back Darren Tatum do it again? Pick — Emons likes Wayne again; McCosky takes the River Rats. CATHOLIC CENTRAL at YPSILAN-TI (7:30 p.m.) — You remember when Ypsi's Eric Ball, a high school All-American now at

UCLA, was held to 34 yards by CC? Things won't

WALLED LAKE CENTRAL at PLYMOUTH CANTON (7:30 p.m.) — Central beat Milford last week, 13-3, while Canton is doing a little soul-searching after being pounded last week by North Farmington, 23-0. Canton QB Tony Aiken abould be back in action this week. - More soul searching in line for Canton

N. FARMINGTON Vs. WALLED LAKE WESTERN (7:30 p.m. at W.L. Central) — This is a mismatch from the word go. Western lost to Class B Novi last week, 23-7. North's defense held Canton to minus-29 yards rushing last week. Pick — North pulls out the ball-

SATURDAY GAMES

CLARENCEVILLE at BLOOM-FIELD HILLS CRANBROOK (2 p.m.) The Metro Conference season opens with both schools coming off lopsided non-league defeats last week. Cranbrook beat Clarenceville handily in past years, but this is a different year. Plek — McCosky tries Cranbrook, while Emons says

Clarenceville gets untracked.

FARMINGTON HARRISON at FARMINGTON (1 p.m.) — This will be a much better game than you may think. Farmington isn't as bad as its 34-0 loss to Southfield might indicate, and even though Harrison was impressive over West Bloomfield last week, the jury is still out on the young Hawks. As always when these intta-city rivals meet, it'll be a rock 'em, sock 'em affair. Pick — Falcon QB Joe Bob Wenson is a questionable starter because of an ankle injury - Harrison wins.L

GARDEN CITY at WARREN WOODS TOWER (1 p.m.): Can the Cougars come back after the heartbreaking loss to Wayne? Tower zipped L'Anse Creuse North 19-0. Pick — It's 0-2 for the Cougars, the "experts" concur.

Last week, McCosky was 9-5 and

It wasn't pretty, but Redford Thurston football coach Ron Powell didn't care. It was a victory - a much needed one.

On Saturday, Thurston broke a 10-game losing streak with an 8-0 victory over visiting Gibraltar Carlson. It was also the first win for the secondyear coach.

"We're capable of playing better offensively," Powell said. "We had our chances.

"But I feel they (the players) needed this win. Now that they've got a taste, they'll feel better about themselves." Despite the torrid heat and humidity, Thurston's defense rose to the occasion, making a goal line stand in the fourth quarter. The Eagles' defense, led by linebackers Chris McFarland and Dave Dietrich, recovered four Carlson fumbles. The only score of the game occurred in the second quarter when Dietrich picked off a pass and returned it 35 yards for a touchdown. Quarterback Kevin O'Connor added a two-point conversion pass to Ron Rousseau to account for all the scoring. "We had about 150 yards total offense," Powell explained. "We did not execute that well."

On Friday, Powell returns to his alma mater, Allen Park, to face the Jaguars in the Tri-River League opener for both teams. Allen Park is the defending league champions.

Powell, who played for Allen Park in 1960, goes against his old coach, Ed Bellas, who has been the Jaguars' head coach for 21 years.

"I know the coaching staff," Powell said. "Allen Park is quick and they execute well. They're the cost Redford Bishop Borgess a season-opening victory Saturday at Dearborn Edsel Ford. Quarterback Dan Enos ran for a pair of touchdowns and threw for another, all in the first half, as the Thunderbirds held off the Spartans. "We shut Edsel out in the second half," said Borgess coach Gary Cook. "And we should have been on the board in the fourth quarter. With four minutes to go we had the ball on their 35-yard line, first and down, and fumbled. "Turnovers were the big thing." After the Spartans missed the extra point in the third quarter, which would have tied the game, they turned the ball over three times in the final period on a pair of fumbles and an interception. Borgess, outgained by Edsel Ford 276-215 in total yardage, relied primarily on 8-foot-2, 215-pound senior fullback Mike Stewart, who scored all three Spartan TDs on runs of 44, 9 and 6 yards. He had 95 yards in 15 carries for the day. Quarterback Mike Ritchie hit 5 of 10 passes for 92 big role in Redford St. Agatha's shutout Saturday night against Detroit Servite in a non-league game at Redford Union's Kraft Field.

The Aggles held Servite to a mere 41 yards on the ground and allowed just one completed pass for 11 yards. "The whole defense played a great game," said Agatha coach John Goddard. "Our front people — John Marnon, John Modes, Kevin Rich, Nick Phillips, Ron Rychlinski were outstanding.

Agatha racked up 269 total yards, 197 on the ground.

The Aggles opened the scoring in the first quarter on Tom Trujillo's 1-yard quarterback sneak. Jim Kitchen's extra point made it 7-0 at half.

In the third quarter, Kevin Foulks fumbled the ball on a 2-yard run, but lineman Marty Emery recovered in the end zone for Agatha's second TD. Fullback Tom Kutch then hit Phillips with the two-point conversion pass to

Heat streak stops Bloomfield race

By Michele Glance staff writer

Saturday's heat may cause the cancellation of next year's West Bloomfield Invitational cross-country meet. Three female runners were rushed to the hospital after suffering from heat exhaustion at the high school meet at Marshbank Metro Park.

Although the runners have recovered, West Bloomfield High School Track Coach John Averill is unsure if he will host the meet next year. This year marked the meet's 20th anniver-

The event is the first high-schoolsponsored meet in the state and leads the season, Averill said.

The emergency medical services unit of the West Bloomfield Fire Department was on the scene and rushed the girls to area hospitals. All of the girls were released from hospitals the same day.

Eight other girls were treated for heat exhaustion and about 15 other runners either fell or left the 3.1-mile conditions to be running under."

When you buy bonds, it's tempting to look for the highest possible yields. But the yield figure can be misleading unless you also consider the quality of the bond.

The safest bonds are issues for which the U.S. government is directly obliged to meet interest and principal payments. The government, after all, can create money to pay its debts if neces-

Bonds issued by these are called municipals or tax-exempts because their interest payments usually are exempt from federal income tax. Measuring Quality

Fortunately, you can quickly check the quality of a bond by its credit rating. Most widely traded bonds are rated by at least one of the three agencies in the field - Moody's Investors Service, Standard & Poor's Corp. and the lesser-known Fitch Investors Service. Non-smokers back ban on public puffing

By Tim Richard staff writer

Fear - that's what keeps nonsmokers from complaining to their bosses and fellow employees about how they suffer from others' puffing.

Over-regulation - that's how the tobacco industry sees a Michigan legislative bill to confine smoking in public buildings to designated areas.

"I'm not getting the static I thought I would from the smokers," said state Rep. Justine Barns, D-Westland, after a three-hour public hearing Monday in Westland City Hall on her House Bill Fanned by the American Lung Association, 19 opponents of "second-hand smoke" urged a House subcommittee on public health to report out favorably Barns' bill. Two industry spokesmen opposed it, and one impartial observer contended the bill wouldn't work.

"MY PARENTS smoked three and four packs a day," said Judy Speir-Crawford of Ypsilanti. "I was trained by my parents not to ask" others to refrain from smoking.

"My lungs are permanently damaged," she said. Traveling through the lobby of Detroit Metropolitan Airport, the University of Michigan graduate student said she must "arrange for aid and oxygen. Can you imagine the hum-

Speir-Crawford displayed a poster board with the medications she takes to treat asthma and a rare lung disease. "The cost is well over $100 a month," she said. "I cannot physically tolerate cigarette smoke."

"MARSHMALLOW management" is to blame in companies where bosses fail to designate smoking areas, said Gerald O'Grady, a Bloomfield Hills resident and president of People Against Tobacco Smoke.

"Many workers are afraid to complain. Some are afraid they will lose their jobs," said O'Grady, who said his group has complained to "50 to 75" companies on behalf of workers who suffer from smoke. O'Grady — who said his own employer, General Motors, and such large companies as Boeing are good about designating smoking areas - insisted that "many times management is not willing to listen. Unfortunately, it will take legislation in too many corpora-

But when O'Grady declined to name the companies, Rep. Mat Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion, turned visibly cool to his testimony. Though a non-smoker, Dunaskiss said he "prefers to see people approach management" rather than pass a rigid state law.

TOBACCO spokesmen said the bill would be costly to enforce and be "an intrusion" into the work place.

'Most distressing is that employees are forced to play police" on other workers, said Dennis Muchmore, representing the American Tobacco Institute. A Chicago court which handles public smoking violations reported 92 percent of defendants were black - indicating the law was racially discriminatory, he said.

Walt Maner, representing the Michigan Tobacco and Candy Distributors and Vendors Association, said there are 2,000 to 3,000 stores, theaters, work places, institutions and public buildings in Ingham County which were be subject to the law, but only 20 public health inspectors on the job.

"We can see a larger bureaucracy in- and non-union workers mingle. volved." Maner warned.

When Maner said business could be asked to cooperate voluntarily to designate areas for smokers, Barns pounced hard. "Your answer isn't quite good enough. I'm very concerned that this is not happening," said the second-term

MANY LEGAL problems were fore-seen by Rich Birkett, a Superior Town-ship resident who had researched the matter. Among the conflicts:

• The bill is vague on property with multiple uses — e.g., a houe that doubles as a store or office.

• "A smoker smokes at the privilege of the property owner," so a bill restricting smoking infringes on property owners' rights.

 A home becomes a workplace when a maid is hired and could be considered a public place. "A house should never be considered a public place," Birkett argued.

• The bill exempts workplaces where designated smoking areas are covered by union contract, but gives no guidance to workplaces where there are multiple unions, or where union

MOST TESTIMONY, however, came from people who suffered burning eyes, itching noses, tightening chests and coughing spasms from exposure to "second-hand smoke."

Peter Pellerito, a Plymouth resident and immediate past president of the American Lung Association, with 350,000 contributors, said "passive smoking," as it's sometimes called, appears to be a greater health hazard than air pollution.

Harry Perstadt, associate professor of sociology at Michgian State University, said a University of Michigan Institute of Survey Research poll showed 'substantial and significant support" for restricting public smoking: 82 percent in favor and 68 percent "strongly"

Dale Wofford, Westland resident representing unionized employees of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, said HUD, though strongly against racial discrimination, does nothing to protect its employees from the effects of cigarette smoke. 'We tried to negotiate stronger language," he said. "I'm an expert — an expert in failure."

Others favoring HB 4500 were Landon Davis of Troy, Jill Frost Merke of Lathrup Village (for American Lung Association), Martin Pawlicki of the Oakland County Health Department, Dru Perkins of Southfield (for American Lung Association) can Cancer Society) and Larry Lock-ridge of the Macomb County Health

JANE CONRAD of Rochester Hills said, "If you want an example of why this bil should become law, go to the Pontiac Silverdome" — noting the Leg-islature still votes a state subsidy for Silverdome bonds.

Although non-smoking signs are posted as a favor to non-smokers, Conrad said, "it's not enforced . . . the air is blue with smoke . . . I could sit through only one quarter of a Panthers

A GMF Robotics employee, Conrad said that her company's policy is that non-smokers shall prevail "because they're not hurting anyone."

Dr. Bruce Dubin, Southfield physician who treats lung diseases, called cigarette smoke "a trigger" to many sufferers from emphysema and asth-ma. "You have to be brought up in a cage not to know cigarette smoking is hazardous to your health."

To tobacco industry arguments about the cost of enforcement, Dubin cost of the cost said that cost should be against the cost of being sick.

SUSAN NINE, owner of a Grand Traverse resort and wife of a Bloo field Hills attorney, said her hus law firm won't hire smokers.

Rep. Dunaskiss asked whether the firm didn't risk a discrimination suit from a smoker.

The answer came from Raymond J. Staley, Livonia resident who runs a small auto repair company. "It is not illegal to discriminate against smokers in hiring. I asked the Civil Rights Department, and the lady said, 'You sure can (discriminate),' "Staley said.

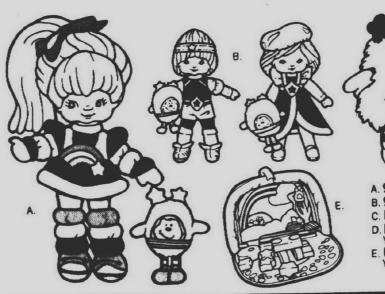

Then he told a tearful story of his heavy-smoking wife's death from a lung cancer which cut off fluids, causing her head to swell to the size of a asketball and her hands to the size of a catcher's mitt. "No one should smoke. No one should smoke. It makes as much sense as hitting yourself in the head with a hammer," Staley said.

Performers

Who's acting and who's watching?

By Corinne Abatt staff writer

Painter Deborah Kashdan's involvement with people is a back and forth game of fantasy and reality. Is she watching the people or are they watching her? Are they performing or are they merely the audience watching a performance? Are those clothes their costumes or are those costumes their clothes?

Whatever the nuances, Kashdan is blossoming as a first-rank documenter of the urban crowd. She recently had seven paintings juried at an international competition at the Mussavi Gallery of New York City, and she is working on a new series "Cafe Couples" and doing more for an ongoing "Performance" series.

Although it is always hazardous to say an artist is the only one using a certain technique, Kashdan is certainly among a very few adding real three-dimensional objects to her paintings - eye glasses, flowers, jewelry, clothing, hair - anything she finds that fits into her visual

This could be distracting in the hands of a less-skilled artist, but Kashdan integrates these items so cleverly that they become a natural part of the painting.

"I don't add until I find the right pieces," she said. "I'll know which I'll put on them."

And if the right pieces don't show up immediately from her sallies to gararge sales, antique markets and roadside stands, she simply waits it perverse delight in being honest with her viewers. And her honesty becomes an integral part of the enjoyment of each painting.

The man in "Hellman and Hammett" from the "Cafe Couples" series, is obviously wearing a toupee (a real one), but he looks comfortable with it. He knows it, his lady friend knows it, the artist knows it and so does the viewer. And most would agree he looks better with it than without.

In the "Performance " series, there are some which Kashdan calls "volunteer performance" pieces. That's when the figure is posed, rather than caught off guard.

Her lady, clad in a scanty black lace outfit, sitting on the bathroom floor, is a volunteer.

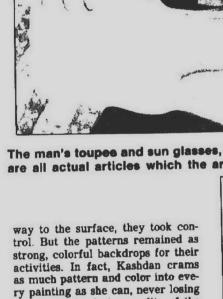

"It's a very uncomfortable position; she would have to volunteer for it," Kashdan said sympathetically, adding that the position is the viewer's clue to the fact that this is a painting, not a reproduction of reality."And the (lady's) delightful smirk tells you it's all just a jest."

Some such as "Mother and Daughter" in the "Cafe Couples" are much closer to reality. Kashdan said they're obviously discussing someone at another table.

There's nothing outrageous about these two; they're just enjoying their own world.

When Kashdan started seriously painting 8-10 years ago, she felt there were figures trying to break loose from her heavily patterned ab-control of the design quality of the overall work. She is happy spending hours wedging bits of color and pattern into every corner. Her longtime interest in tile patterns is showing up in many of her new pieces. In one she made a real towel to match the tile in the bathroom. In another the tile pattern is closely related to the clothes of the In addition to the museum crowds of Paris and New York in the "Performance" series, Kashdan has fun with groups she describes as "the old scotch and sirloin crowd" and the Bayview Association crowd." While she enjoys "the which is fantasy and which is reality" aspect of her paintings, their strength is in the visual commentary they make on today's urban society.

Kashdan's work is shown at Carol Hooberman Gallery of Birmingham and has been in group shows this year at Detroit Artists Market, Meadow Brook Gallery, Livonia Cultural League and the First Congregational Church of Birmingham's "Celebrate Life" where she won honorable mention.

Sometimes artist Deborah Kashdan almost becomes a part of the world she observes and paints. Is she the artist or is she part of the picture? She said this one was done just for fun because no would normally assume such an unnatural position.

The new Novi Hilton just off I-275 at the Eight Mile Exit is at the corner of four communities — Livonia, Farmington, Northville and Novi. The Michigan artists represented in the collection which premiered earlier this month represent an even broader area. There are several paintings by Richard Kozlow of Birmingham, sculpture by Glen Michaels of Troy, paintings by Louise Nobili of Grosse Pointe, Barbara Keidan of Beverly Hills, Mary Jane Bigler, Zubel Kachadoorian, Deena Morguloff-Kachadoorian and Charles McGee of Detroit.

Among the other outstanding artists represented is Ann Arbor painter and sculptor, Gerome Kamrowski, Vincent Hartgen, Sarkis Sarkisian, Mary Elizabeth Bodor, Jean Paul Slusser and Linda Heckenkamp.

Weddige has been a part of the Michigan art scene ever since he came to the University of Michigan in 1937 as a teaching fellow. The same year he received his masters in design from U-M and was appointed an instructor. In 1957 he became professor of art and in 1974 was appointed professor emeritus.

Exhibit spotlights Philippine project

A program which improved the quality of life for many in the Philippines, directly involving Cranbrook Academy of Art, is on permanent record in the UN Dag Hammarskjold Library.

It is a detailed report, written by Irene Murphy of Birmingham, describing the cottage industry which she organized for the Philippines 1951-53.

The goal of the program, established by the United Nations with Murphy as advisor, was to develop sources of income for the rural people of the Philippines. Although there was a history of successful cottage industry in the islands, all the skills were lost in the years between 1926-1946.

It was the freedom in the philosophy of the Cranbrook Academy of Art which attracted her attention as she began to set up the program. She liked the avant garde approach - the pursuit of new, untried answers to old problems teaching by creative approach rather than imitation.

The Cranbrook group who came up with the answers in the Philippines included Lysbeth Wallace, textile designer; John H. Risely, sculptor and furniture designer; his wife, Mary Kring, ceramist; Marianne Strengell, textile designer; and her husband, Olaf Hammarstron, furniture designer.

Before they came up with their recommendations for products, they researched the labor market and the skills, facilities, equipment and the wood, fibers and clay available locally.

Murphy said, "They followed the old Cranbrook idea — we're all going to do our own thing and try to find customers." She paused and added, "Any woodcarving they had done until we started was figures of saints for churches and doors for churches."

It was Risley who came up with the wooden fish tray - the popular picnic and buffet plate. Also developed were mats and rugs of local materials and dyes and ceramics from local clay.

Murphy's 63-page report is an in-depth study of the Philippine economy at a crucial time.

It was Glen Leet, co-director of the Trickle-Up Program Inc., who wrote to Javier Perez de Cuellar, secretary general of the United Nations, earlier this year about Murphy's report.

In describing it in his letter, he said, "As the program grew, it became a joint program sponsored by both the United Nations and the United States government. It may have been the first such joint program undertaken by the Murphy said, "This is the highest kind of recognition you could get with the UN speaking for 150 nations.

She takes pride in what those Cranbrook people were able to do for the Philippine economy in a relatively short period of time. With a broad smile, she said, "It tripped off the whole inventive, creative skill for hundreds of people."

Take time to become involved in the arts bedroom, I guessed it was about 9 a.m. I rose - no make that crawled out of bed and everything seemed so peaceful. Too, peaceful. In this blissful state of solitude and quietness I quickly slapped my cheek to be sure I hadn't crossed over that "great divide" in my sleep. "Yep!" I was very much alive, and "no" I wasn't in heaven. But, as I meandered toward the kitchen table I really began to wonder, "where is everybody?'

There was bread in the box, there were no empty cereal boxes on the counter tops and there was milk in the refrigerator. Normally I awake to whatever program is on the Disney channel and the crunching of my three The quietness was so loud it woke me (eating machines) boys. Hey, these guys up. I could hear the wind in the trees. make sharks look like picky eaters. But There was soft music playing in the as I was saying, there was food in the clean and I was thinking maybe I woke up in a "Better Homes" magazines.

I looked outside and there wasn't even any bicycles in the driveway. Then I saw Sandy's note; "Honey, everyone has gone to school . . . Adam too." "Adam too?" I gasped aloud. Whose gonna watch cartoons with me?" What about the Beverly Hillbillies? Then it hit me as I further awoke

. . my bables are all gone. For 16 years there has always been a little one around here. I always knew that someday all three of my boys would be in school but I likewise rejected the revelation or pushed it out of my mind with a quick game with one of them. Here I am and there they are and . . . woe is

GEE, IS this house ever quiet. I'm desperately homesick but I'm the one who is home. Could this possibly be what mother's talk about as "normal?" You know, when they say, "I can't wait till the kids are back in school and everything is back to normal again." This is the first time in the 21/2 years of writing the Artifacts Column that I have ever written in the day light. . . Might as well, it's too quiet around here anyway. Of course everyone isn't facing the trauma of having there last little guy walk out the door to school. The term "normal" in this reference usually means routine, and to accomplish

Now in establishing a routine one very important word comes into operation; "priority." I use Adam's Fred Flintstone dictionary because if the word isn't in there, I have no business using it. Well, Fred defines priorities as "things you do in order of importance." So getting back to "normal" is merely getting things in order according to importance. The question I would like to ask you today is - where is art in your list of priorities?

any thing a normal routine is a must.

Unfortunately art with all its values, gets pushed to the end of most priority lists and sometimes off the list completely. With working men and women it is their job and family that somehow separates them from fulfillment that art affords. To the housewife, "arttime" is almost "no-time."

No matter how solemn your decision to take time out for art, it soon slips down the priority list from "once a week" to "sometimes" and finally "never." If you are serious about your expression through art then you must make a commitment. Don't say you are too busy. Some of my students are doctors, owners of their own businesses, lots of working mothers and hundreds are teen-agers whose schedules boggle the mind. A few of my students asre working professional artists, so why do they come? Partially to learn new techiques, but primarily just to set aside their own time to do their own art, with no deadlines or commercial requirements. Probably in acheduling your priorities the worst mistake is the false concept of "finding the time." Which as you probably know does not

In this day and age, you don't "find" time, you must "take" time. Only God gives time, all you can do is schedule it. So schedule yourself some "art time" this year. Enroll in an art class even if you think you know it all. At least you will be using your abilities and you never know when, where or from whom you will learn something new.

Of course as you may know art instruction is a major function at both art stores. There are, however, several alternatives to private instruction. If you are craft minded most craft stores offer classes. Night classes in local high schools offer a great variety of art instruction. Colleges often allow you to audit art classes but you may find them to move a little slow as college courses are set up in a four year program.

It is not uncommon to spend 15 weeks drawing still life in charcoal. Wherever, with whomever, or whatever you do; get into your art and you'll wonder why you waited so long . . . speaking of waiting a long time. Let's e it's twelve, one two, three . . . just 31/2 hours and everything will be back

Night lighting will bring drama to your garden

Have you ever considered night lighting for your garden? This can be dramatic in an area you use for entertaining such as a patio, terrace or porch - even for an exciting view from within your home.

Many people have permanent lighting installed while others prefer a temporary installation using outdoor electrical cords.

There is nothing more pleasing than entertaining in your home and having a lighted garden to give atmosphere to a party. I like light located at the ground level focusing on the trunk and branches of a deciduous tree. And don't discount the beauty of night lighting focusing on evergreens 12 months of the year

You shouldn't have complaints from neighbors if you focus the beam upward to spotlight the leaves for many months of the year and in the winter to profile the branches and catch the a yardstick upright near the tree in the glamour of snow on the branches.

JACOME IMPROVEMENT

Garden wrapup

That autumn nip in the air can't be denied. Timely lawn and garden tasks listed by Michigan State University Extension specialists have a decidedly fall flavor:

● After frost has killed the tops, dig and storm corms, bulbs and tubers of tuberous begonias, cannas, gladioli, dahlias and caladiums. Let them dry for a few days before storing in dry sand, peat or vermiculite. A cool (45-50° F), dry storage place is best.

• Winterize roses after the first killing frost. Pile 8 to 10 inches of soil around the canes. Then cut canes back or tie them so the wind can't whip them, and cover with straw or hay. Top with rose cones or additional soil or chicken wire to hold the mulch in

• Remove and destroy all iris foliage and any iris tubers showing signs of iris borer infestation. Borers are plump, pink caterpillars that tunnel in the iris rhizome, which usually becomes soft and mushy with bacterial rot. Eggs are laid on foliage in late summer and early fall, so removing foliage eliminates the eggs that would hatch to become next year's pests.

 Clear dead and dying annuals and the dead tops of perennials from flower beds and borders. They may harbor insects and disease organisms.

 It's not too late to plant or divide and replant iris, daylilies, peonies and other spring and early summer flowering perennials. Reduce next year's rose disease and insect problems by cleaning up fallen rose leaves and pruning and disposing of dead, damaged or diseased canes.

 Repot house plants that outgrew their containers over the summer. Inspect plants that spent the summer outdoors and treat or discard them as necessary to control insect or disease problems.

 Gather and destroy fallen fruits and rake up leaves of apples and crabapples to reduce the carryover of such insect and disease problems as apple maggot and apple scab.

Do not prune spring-flowering trees and shrubs now except to 12move dead, diseased or damaged branches. The flower buds for next year's display have already formed, and pruning now would remove them.

• Protect young fruit trees and other tender-barked trees and shrubs against damage by gnawing mice and rabbits. Place cylinders of quarterinch mesh hardware cloth around the trunks so they extend 18 to 24 inches above the usual snow level.

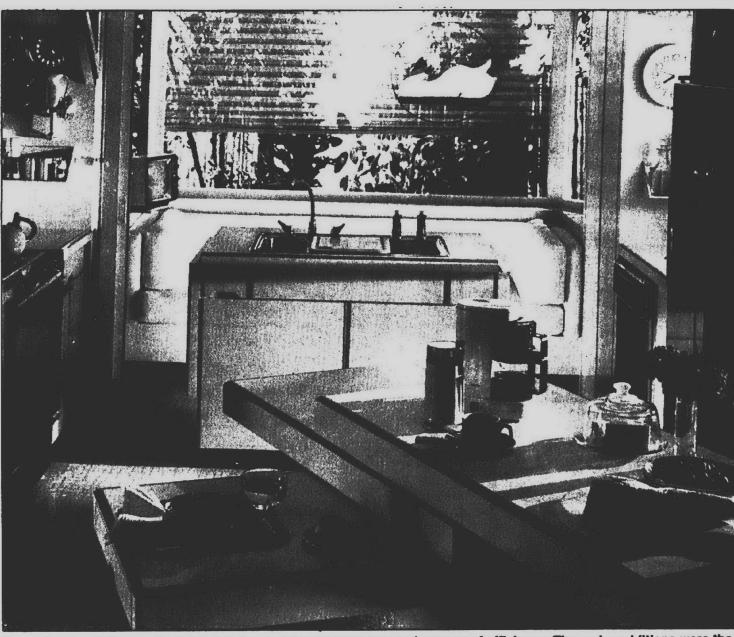

• If the weather has been dry, water trees and shrubs weekly until the soil freezes. Evergreens, particularly, need to go into winter well watered. They will continue to lose moisture from their foliage after frozen soil limits the ability of their roots to take up water to replace it. Needles or leaves can become severely dried out.

• After leaves fall, plant or transplant deciduous trees and shrubs. Be sure to remove any wire, plastic cord, plastic burlap or other non-biodegradable materials from trunks or root balls before planting. If left in place, they will eventually girdle and kill a plant. Water new plants thoroughly and mulch. Support tall trees with stakes and guy wires as needed to prevent their being whipped or uprooted by the wind. Shield newly planted evergreens against drying sun and wind or windblown salt spray. Canvas or burlap screens supported by stakes will do the job.

This table actually has three "tope" that pivot and slide, allowing the table to assume just about any shape you can imag-

Once dingy and disorganized, this kitchen has been turned into a showcase of efficiency. The major additions were the bay window and window seat, the island unit and the pedestal table.

Working

couple's

kitchen

If you and your spouse are among the millions of working couples in the U.S., you know how precious time is.

There are only so many hours in a day. That's why efficiency counts in the operation of your household — and nowhere does it count more than in the kitchen.

Now, the designers at Armstrong, the building products company, have come up with what they call "the kitchen that works for the couple that works." It's designed to save time.

They took an old, poorly laid out kitchen and remodeled it. In the process they turned it into an example of compact organization.

The designers didn't expand the kitchen, other than bumping out the rear wall to make room for a spacious bay window and window seat. The kitchen, which had been dingy and cheerless, is now flooded with sunlight during the day.

For after dark, movable track lights were mounted on the ceiling. This flexible lighting system lets you direct a beam of illumination wherever you need it most.

The next step was to scrap the old cabinets, which provided insufficient storage, and replace them with floorto-ceiling pantries with disappearing pocket doors. The pantries are sleekly contemporary in the European fashion and have white plastic-laminate surfaces with oak trim.

In fact, as newly remodeled, the entire kitchen is white: the walls, countertops, window seat cushions. Everything except the appliances which are

. . . black (onyx). Oddly enough they serve only to accentuate the whitener of the room. The Armstrong Solarian no-wax flooring is also white.

The problem of too-little workspace was solved by two additions, an island, located near the bay window, has lots of surface area — plus drop leaves that lift up to give you still more. Raise the leaf next to the window seat and — presto! — a dining table for two. Clear away the dishes and you have a desk for writing letters, preparing menus or doing office homework.

With several drawers and cabinets, the island also furnishes more storage. And it has two stainless steel sinks, separated by a chopping board.

The pedestal table is unique. It has not one but three tops, arranged in tiers. It may be the only table you'll ever see with a top on top, a top on the bottom and a top in between

The three tiers pivot and slide every which way, allowing the table to assume an infinite variety of shapes. The top tier is just the right height for someone standing, the bottom for someone sitting.

The decorating accessories and accouterments are minimal but dramatic. Zebra-striped throw pillows on the window seat, black-and-white china in a New Wave pattern and flame-red tea towels, to cite a few.

Wall coverings can add elegance and charm to a room. But for wallpaper to look its best, it needs to be applied correctly and maintained properly.

Great coverups require little care

Most modern wallcoverings are labeled "nonwashable," "washable," or "scrubbable." If your paper wasn't la-beled, but you have a small piece, take it to a wallpaper dealer and ask them what they would recommend. Or test an inconspicuous area (as behind furniture) by wiping it with a damp cloth. If the wallpaper does not change in color or appearance, it probably can be safely cleaned as a washable wallpaper. Always test any cleaning method in an inconspicuous spot before trying it on a wall open to Vacuum off dust frequently. Don't let paper get too dirty before cleaning Remove dust periodically by brushing gently downward from the ceiling with vacuum cleaner wall brush, long handled soft brush, or clean cloth tied around broom or dry mop. Change cloth when it gets soiled to prevent streaks. If there are cobwebs, lift up with brush, as they may cause streaks when brushed down.

If paper is flocked, use only the vacuum dusting brush attachment to clean to prevent matting or shedding. If ceiling is papered, dust that first.

CLEANING non-washable papers: Buy commercial wallpaper cleaner, (a dough-like material). Rub over surface, following directions on product exactly. Test first on place usually not seen, as behind furniture, to see how it affects paper and that it does not streak. Vacuum or brush off any bits of cleaner that stay on wall.

CLEANING washable papers -"Washable" papers are usually paper with a plastic coating. Clean with a damp cloth or sponge; use water sparingly and do not get them wet. Make a sudsy solution of a mild white detergent (hand dishwashing liquid) in cool water in one bucket, and cool rinse water in a second bucket.

Cleaning "scrubbable" wallcoverings — wallcoverings labeled "scrubbable" are vinyl or vinyl-imings pregnated paper. They can be scrubbed with a foam cleanser or allpurpose detergent, using a sponge or soft cloth, and rinsed with clean sponge or cloth. Do not use any abrasive liquid cleansers.

Cleaning fabric wallcoverings Some are vinyl-coated and easy to wash, others, like burlap or grass cloth, are very hard to clean when stained. You might try wiping lightly with a sponge dampened in suds and water; test first in an inconspicuous spot to be sure the water won't stain the covering.

Shape up at home and charcoal for accents. How would you like to have a health and fitness salon right in your own

Over the past few years Americans in ever-growing numbers have taken to regular exercise and workouts.

Many join clubs. But you can get the benefits of a health club without leaving home. If you need convincing, just look at what Armstrong's designers have done in remodeling a portion of a house for a pair of "empty nesters" (persons whose children have grown up and moved away).

The designers took two tiny spare bedrooms and a cramped bath and transformed them into a large spa. The spa retains all of the functions of a bath while adding exercise and Dominating the room in a central position is a large sunken whirlpool tub, surrounded by a raised platform and a chrome frame on which to rest towels, face cloths and bathrobes.

The whirlpool is just the thing for soothing tired or sore muscles. It beckons you to relax while you turn the pages of a novel or watch TV and sip a glass of wine.

No time to luxuriate? The spa also has a shower stall.

Overhead, drenching the whirlpool area and the whole room in sunshine, is a huge skylight.

The tub, commode, sinks and other fixtures, which are a warm gray, were the starting point for the color scheme. It's gray and peach with rose

Also gray is the Armstrong Designer Solarian II no wax. The rest of the spa (wallpaper, cabinets) is done in soft peach. Rose and charcoal were picked for the colors of the towels and for the upholstery on the cushions of a chaise lounge and ottoman in the lounge area. The wicker chaise and ottoman are painted peach.

The lounge area leads onto an outdoor patio. The two are separated by a frosted glass door which, like the skylight, admits loads of sunshine.

The most conspicuous piece of exercise equipment in the spa is a stationary bicycle. It's computerized. As you pedal along, a digital readout tells you how you're performing. There's space, too, in the exercise area for aerobics, bending and stretching or, yes, pumping iron.

The mirror of the double vanity slides open to reveal rows of glass shelves holding beauty aids and phar-maceuticals. For putting on makeup or shaving, generous artificial lighting is provided by a theatrical string of bare bulbs above the mirror.

The head of the whirlpool tub butts against the back wall of an outsize cabana closet whose top nearly brushes the ceiling. And there's more storage in a mirror-fronted closet which runs the length of one wall.

Take the plunge into plumbing

Many plumbing emergencies can be solved by the home owner who possesses a few tools and understands the basic structure of kitchen and bathroom fixtures. While clogged sinks, bathtubs and toilets may even-tually require the skill of a plumber, it's still worthwhile to take the time to learn a few basic repairs.

Acquire the tools you need before an emergency arises. In addition to standard equipment such as wrenches and a screwdriver, purchase plungers (especially designed for sinks and toilets), a snake, assorted washers, Orings, a few automotive hose clamps, wire coat hangers and electrical tape.

Locate your main water valve to avoid having to search for it when an emergency arises. Each fixture may have its own, with the valves under the sink, or there may be one for an entire room.

In unstopping clogged sinks, toilets, bathtubs and even showers, always try a plunger first. Toilets work best with a plunger with a cone; sinks and bathtubs require a standard model.

In whatever fixture you are unclogging, press the plunger up and down rapidly for about 15 seconds. If the water still doesn't drain, wait an hour and then repeat the process.

IF PLUNGING fails, you will have to reach the obstruction by other means. Clogged toilets respond well to the use of a snake, which is attached to a tubular guide on a closet auger. Insert the snake into the drain hole as far as it will reach and then turn the handle in a clockwise direction.

Repeat this process several times and then flush to see if the obstruction has been cleared. The snake is constructed to dislodge the mass and then push it further down into the drain.

While snakes may be rented inexpensively, it is probably better to buy your own, especially if you have a house with many fixtures and the problem occurs frequently.

In the case of sinks, the obstruction may lie in the P-trap located right below the drain. After removing the strainer, insert a snake or a coat hanger into the drain and attempt to push the blockage through.

If the obstruction is in the pipe below the sink, you may work above to rectify the matter by removing the cleanout plug and pulling out the mass

If this fails, remove the P-trap and insert a snake into the branch drain, turning the crank in a clockwise direction to dislodge the obstruction.

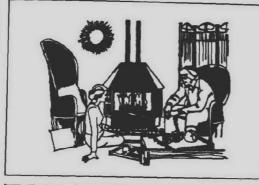

This bath is done in peach with whirlpool tub, fixtures and floor in gray.

More to windows than meets the eye

Home planners, builders and owners selecting windows need to consider 11 questions, says the University of Illinois building research council.

• Will the window provide adequate daylight?

Can it provide desired ventila-

 Is it free from objectionable obstructions to view?

Can it be operated easily?

 Is it adaptable to the building's framing system?

 Can it provide an emergency exit?

• Is the window weather-tight when closed?

· Can it be opened without interfering with draperies, blinds or furniture?

• Can it be fitted easily with screens, storm sash, or insulating panels, as required?

• Can it be washed easily?

 Can it be maintained inexpensively?

RESIDENTIAL windows are one or a combination of three basic types sliding, swinging, or fixed there are a variety of combinations, designs and materials, says the university's Small Homes Council-Building Research Council in the eight-page, illustrated publication, "Selecting Windows.

Sliding windows are awkward to open and close when located above the kitchen sink or large pieces of furniture. Windows controlled by hand cranks do not pose this problem.

Divisions of a window may block a view if bars are at eye level. Out-swinging windows should be avoided if they protrude into walk or play areas.

Fixed windows do not provide ven-tilation, but do admit daylight and provide view. Weatherstripping, hardware and screens are unnecessary, saving costs. Fixed windows may be of large size. They are often combined with sliding or swinging windows to provide light, ventilation and view all in one opening.

Sliding glass patio doors provide passage and large areas of floor-toceiling glass with light and unobstructed view, but are now being used less often due to difficulty in controlling heat gain and loss, the publication

BASEMENT windows which are above grade level could provide easy access to intruders. Bottom-hinged windows provide better security. Basement windows below grade are usually in window wells, which tend to accumulate leaves and debris.

These lead to paint peeling, metal corrosion and frame deterioration. Removable plastic covers over the window wells minimize this accumulation and also provide rain cover.

For best results, choose right wood

Whether building cabinets, a floor or a house, the proper selection of lumber is necessary to ensure economy and permanence.

The many species of wood have particular hardnesses, strengths, cutting qualities, moisture content and gluing qualities that make it imperative that the homeowner learn the basic terminology of wood.

Experts at the lumberyard will be glad to answer questions and suggest specific wood for your project, but the more knowledge you possess before you go, the easier shopping will be.

Learn the terminology you will need to order properly. For example, the three types of board lumber are: "dimension lumber," with a thickness of two inches or more; "timber," five inches by five inches or more; and "board lumber," which is less than two inches thick.

You should know that lumber is graded according to its moisture factor. Normally you will want wood that has a moisture content of 19 percent or less since the wood will shrink as water evaporates, especially in a dry climate.

Gradings for moisture content, species, thickness and the certifying agency are stamped on individual boards; plywood is also certified according to grade of veneer, span index, type and product standard.

INSPECT THE boards for flaws such as knots, holes and splits. While finished window casings or moldings are made of quality lumber, when buying the lumber to build these yourself, you must check for flaws which may diminish the strength of the boards as they age.

When selecting the right wood species for your project, there are a number of factors to consider, such as hardness, strength, cutting and gluing quality

According to the experts, floors, stair treads and counter tops require lumber that rates high in the hardness categorey. Some examples are beech, birch, hard maple, white oak, red oak hickory and teak.

Hardwoods are also recommended for areas that bear a lot of weight, wear and traffic over the years, such as handrails and furniture.

If you want to stain the finished product, such as a floor, cabinet or piece of furniture, consider the type of stain that should be used with the lumber you select.

For example, oil-based varnish works best on Douglas fir, hemlock, cedar and redwood, while water-basd stains are recommended for cypress, basswood, elm, mahogany, beech, cherry, red and white oak, walnut and hickory. Surprisingly, not all wood (including hickory, teak, mahogany and cherry) is sufficiently absorbent to be painted.

WOODS WITH a spongy texture or large pores are difficult to cut, causing the fibers to collapse and deform. When cutting ash, hard maple, white and red oak and hickory, use especially sharp tools to make certain the end grain is smooth.

Several wood species, such as ash, hard maple and teak, are much more difficult than others to glue. You should keep this in mind when building furniture or other pieces that require glue instead of nails.

Certain woods are recommended for common carpentry projects the home owner is likely to tackle. For example, in constructing floors, hardwoods such as oak or maple strips are the norm, although several softwoods, among them Douglas fir and southern pine, are also popular.

Baseboards, ceiling mouldings, picture rails, chair rails and door and window casings are frequently made of clear pine.

Softwood and hardwood veneers in sheets or strips are suitable for finish surfaces while plastic laminated veneers of the same hardness are used when constructing kitchen and bathroom counter tops.

Insulation still a wise purchase

Despite growing interest in energy and energy savings, homeowners con tinue to be troubled by the amount of insulation they need and the proper material to install.

Here are the most asked questions on insulation answered by the CertainTeed Home Institute.

How does insulation work?

Heat naturally flows from warmer to cooler spaces. During the winter heating season, warmth is flowing from your heated living areas and then directly outdoors. In the summer warmth from outdoors flows into the rooms you are trying to keep cool.

Insulation guards against this heat transfer by providing a barrier to block the flow of heat. The end result warmer in winter, cooler insummer.

Does my house need insulation? If your home was built before 1980, chances are that it is one of the millions in the United States that are underinsulated. Most likely, energy was cheap and abundant when your home was built, and the amount of insulation installed in it was minimal.

Even if you have already added some insulation, you may find this is inadequate in view of the rapid rate at which energy costs are rising. Anything less than 10 inches (R-30) of fiberglass insulation in the attic is inadequate regardless of where you

• Why should I insulate?

As a homeowner, there are several reasons to add insulation: to save money, to save energy, to increase the resale value of your home and to increase your personal comfort.

Adequate amounts of insualtion will enable you to use less energy to heat and cool your home so you will be saving year after year. You also will be conserving energy - a valuable and limited resource. Proper amounts of insulation help to maintain uniform temperatures throughout a house thereby incresing personal comfort.

• What is R-value?

An R-value is the measure of an insulating material's resistance to heat flow. The higher the R-value, the greater the insulating power. Specific thicknesses of insulation are recommended to achieve certain R-values.

• How much insulation do I need? If your attic has six inches or less of insulation, at least the equivalent of six-inch thick R-19 fiberglass insulation should be added, according to government recommendations.

If your attic has no insulation, up to 12-inch thick R-38 fiberglass insulation my be required. For specifics, consult your utility company.

• What kind of insulation should I

The most popular kind of insulation among homeowners today is fiberglass which is available in rolls and batts for easy installations.

Fiberglass is an extremely effective insulationg material because it contains millions of tiny pockets which resist the flow of heat. In addition, fiberglass insulation won't deteriorate with age and, unlike some other kinds of insulating materials, it is noncombustible.

 Do I need insulation with a vapor barrier?

Insulation with a vapor barrier should only be installed in new homes or in homes with no previously installed insulation. When upgrading a home which already has home insuation, use unfaced insualtion.

When using vapor barriers, they should be installed toward the warmin-winter side of your home.

More information on saving energy can be obtained by writing the CertainTeed Home Institute, P.O. Box 860, Valley Forge, Pa. 19482 for the free booklet, "Insulation Facts."

Paint-mixing ti

The first step toward a perfect paint job is careful paint preparation. If you are planning a painting job using paint you have just purchased, the only preparation you need is careful stirring. But if you are using paint that you have had on hand for a while, you may need to thin, strain and drain the paint.

There is a real trick to stirring paint. Professional painters use a "boxing" technique to be sure colors match when they are using a number of cans of paint.

Here is the way it works. First step is to pour most of the thin top paint into a separate container. Then stir the thick paint until it is smooth and the color is uniform. Then, slowly pour the "thin" paint back into the can, stirring it into the heavy paint. Pour paint back and forth between can and container until the color and consistency are uniform.

It is often better to stir latex paint rather than have your dealer put it into the mechanical shaker. Shaking can create fine air bubbles which can show up as craters on your walls.

Every painter knows the problem created by dribbles of paint that have settled in the groove around the top of the can. This paint residue then prevents an airtight seal. Solution? Just pound a few nail holes in the bottom of the groove. Thinning paint can be a problem. Add just an ounce of water or thinner at a time, stirring thoroughly and test the paint on the wall to see if it is right. If it is still too thick, add another ounce. This "ounce-at-a-time" trick will prevent adding too much water or thinner and having to buy more paint to beef up the runny mix-

Cozy comfort requires safe stoves, heaters

It's getting to be the time when homeowners are warming to the idea of taking a good look at their home heating equipment.

A beginning-of-season cleanup of all types of heating equipment can go a long way toward keeping your family safe at home.

Fires involving wood and coal burning heating equipment have increased sharply in recent years, doubling in the years between 1978 and 1982, say experts at the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission. If you have a wood or coal burning stove, check it thoroughly at the beginning of each heating season.

The stove pipe and chimney should also be cleaned at this time. During the heating season, the pipe and chimney should be checked frequently for creosote build up. Failure to keep the pipe and chimney pipe clear of creosote, a black, tarry substance, can lead to a fire hazard. Also, check the stove for cracks, faulty legs and hinges, and damaged or missing gask-

It is a good idea to have the entire heating system inspected professionally once a year to ensure that all linings and parts of the chimney are intact and that the stove is properly adjusted and clean.

Portable electric heaters have also become popular, and, like wood and coal burning stoves, fire is a primary hazard with them. It's estimated that 3,300 fires in 1982 were associated with portable electric heater use. There must be a guard around the heating coil, as a wire grille of other protection is essential to keep fingers or fabrics from touching the hot element. Also, if you have been using an extension cord, make sure it's one marked with a wattage rating at least as high as that on the label of the heater itself. Before using your elec-tric heater, see that any broken parts are replaced or repaired, and the cords are in good condition.

GAS ROOM heaters are also increasingly popular but can cause carbon monoxide poisoning if not properly installed or maintained. If you have a vented gas heater be sure it is vented correctly, with a properly sized vent pipe that is free of leaks and blockages. Joints must be tight, and both the heater and the vent pipe must be free of cracks through which carbon monoxide might leak. An undersized or clogged vent is also hazard-ous. Both vented and unvented heaters should be kept free of dust by vacuuming. As an added measure of safety for consumers, unvented gas room heaters manufactured in 1982 and later have a safety shut-off device that will automatically extinguish the heater when the room oxygen falls below the safe level.

If you have a kerosene or oil burning room heater, use only the fuel for which the heater was designed. Never use gasoline. Keep the wick clean and properly adjusted. Inspect these heaters annually to ensure that they are properly adjusted and clean. Before storing, drain the fuel from these heaters and do not store the fuel near living quarters or from year to year.

No matter what type of room heater you have been using, always refer to the manufacturer's instructions for proper use, maintenance and storage.

For more information about safe operation of wood and coal burning stoves, kerosene, gas or electric heaters, or to report a product hazard or product-related injury, write to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, Washington, D.C. 20207 or call the toll free hotline, 800-638-

This fireplace puts more usable heat back into the room through the use of heat exchangers, glass doors and special heat ducting.

Get out the spreader 1 more time

Before you retire your lawn-care equipment for the winter, one last task remains: a final lawn fertilization.

Turfgrass specialists at Michigan State University advise applying a high nitrogen fertilizer to dormant lawns before the soil freezes. Fertilizing in the late fall helps thicken weak or sparse turf and strengthens the turf to withstand the winter. More importantly, it promotes root development that will strengthen the lawn in the coming year. It also provides the nutrients that grass plants will use to green up slowly without a lot of topgrowth the next spring. This means you aren't running for the lawn mower every couple of days and mowing when the soil is too wet. Because clippings are fewer, you can return them rather than remove them from the lawn.

Growth that occurs after fertilization could leave the turf more susceptible to winter injury. But this is not likely if you apply fertilizer at the recommended rates after the grass has stopped growing. This is usually about the first or second week of November in most of lower Michigan.

Although the possibility is remote, a heavy rain just after application could result in some water pollution by fertilizer runoff. To avoid this, put on no more than 1 pound of actual nitrogen per 1,000 square feet. On sandy soils, cut that to % pound. If it's available, use fast-release nitrogen — urea or ammonium nitrate. Slow-release forms are more expensive and their nutrients are not available to the plants during late November and December when roots can still grow and develop. Fertilizing before the ground freezes reduces the potential for run-off. Applying the fertilizer carefully with a spreader is also important. Fertilizer carelessly scattered on pavement and other hard surfaces goes straight into storm sewers or ground water. Turf is a thick mat. Fertilizer that gets through that tan-gle to the soil in quantities that meet but don't exceed the lawn's needs is not likely to go much farther.
