Security improvements vowed at

staff writer

A high-ranking state corrections administrator Tuesday admitted that security at the Western Wayne Correctional Facility (WWCF) in Plymouth Township hasn't been airtight but vowed to implement immediate changes to prevent further escapes.

"There were some things that weren't done right," said Dan Bolden, deputy director of the state corrections department. "We've 'fessed up to it. It's the department of corrections' intent to be a good neighbor to you people. We owe it to you to make prisons safe and

Bolden addressed his comments to the Plymouth Township Board, about vehicles for patrolling the perimeter of two dozen township residents and several representatives of the Northville Township Board.

Bolden's appearance was prompted by concerns following the escape of eight inmates from the medium-security prison (formerly the Detroit House of Corrections) in two separate incidents Sept. 24 to Oct. 1. Five remain at · Formation of a liaison council of local law enforcement agencies and Emmett Baylor, WWCF superintendent, to encourage the sharing of information about goings-on at the facility and to devise warning systems in the event of future escapes.

"I'm optimistic once we start joint meetings with local law enforcement personnel, we'll brainstorm ideas to notify the local community," Bolden said.

SEVERAL TOWNSHIP residents asked questions and expressed opinions about the WWCF, which began housing inmates Aug. 1.

Bolden concurred.

'Gov. Blanchard has been very supportive, the department of manage-ment and budget has been supportive," Bolden said. "We just need to get our forces working together."

As for the escapees still at large, Bolden said he's optimistic that they will eventually be apprehended.

'Normally we contact the sentencing jurisdiction and the home jurisdiction, he said. "Most of them are just like homing pigeons. In a couple of weeks,

> Elementary enrollment jumped from last year's 7,151 students to this year's 7,250 students.

HIGH SCHOOL enrollment jumped year's 3,765 students. But middle school enrollment dropped, from last year's 4,487 students to this year's 4,335 students. The final tally showed an increase of 99 students at the elementary level; a decrease of 152 students at the middle school level; and an increase of 240 students at the high school level.

The increase at the elementary level could indicate that district enrollment is on the rise, following several years of decline.

The actual increase for 1985-86 is greater than figures indicate because only 400 adult education equivalencies can be counted this year, whereas nearly 600 were counted last year and close to 500 in three previous years.

If adult equivalents are discounted, then the actual enrollment increase is 187 students for all three levels.

The seven-year enrollment trend: 1979, 16,872 (327 adult education); 1980, 17,269 (356); 1981, 16,887 (455); 1982, 18,297 (474); 1983, 15,750 (538); 1984, 15,752 (586); and 1985, 15,770

Teacher shortages to bring salary raises

By Mary Klemic staff writer

Area districts will pay an average of $36,127 this year for teachers with a master's degree at the top of the salary scale.

Salaries at that educational and experience level, however, vary greatly among South Redford, Redford Union, Plymouth-Canton, Livonia, Wayne-Westland, Garden City and Clarenceville.

Salaries range from $38,842 in South Redford to $30,249 in nearby Clarenceville, which includes parts of Livonia, Redford Township and Farmington Hills.

The size of a school district or the state equalized valuation (one indication of a district's ability to pay) have relatively little correlation with how much teachers are paid in the districts surveyed.

Starting salaries for area teachers range from $15,350 (in Clarenceville) to $20,225 (in South Redford).

Although it is has one of the smallest enrollments of the districts surveved. South Redford led the districts surveyed in paying teachers at the top of the master's and bachelor's salary

WAYNE-WESTLAND, which has the largest student population of the districts surveyed, ranks fifth when it comes to paying teachers.

Livonia Public Schools, which has the highest SEV ($1.6 billion) of the districts surveyed, ranks third and fourth respectively on the salary schedules for bachelor's and master's

Last year, the average minimum pay for bachelor's level teachers throughout the state was $15,214. Figures were unavailable for those with a master's degree at the top of the scale. The average salary for teachers (at all levels) in Wayne County was $29,189, according to the Michigan Department of Education. Neither state nor county departments had the average salary for teachers with bachelor's or master's degrees.

Beginning teachers with bachelor degrees are paid a minimum $20,225 in South Redford, $19,287 in Redford Union, $18,307 in Livonia, $18,305 in Garden City, $18,060 in Wayne-Westland and $15,350 in Clarenceville.

Maximum levels for those teachers are $33,697 in South Redford and $31,682, after 10 years, in Redford Union. With a master's degree and experience, a teacher's salary ranges from $21,628 to $38,842 in South Red-ford and from $21,022 to $37,708 in Redford Union.

In South Redford, teachers with master's degrees receive money in addition to their regular salary if they have 10 hours ($250 a year), 20 hours ($500) or 30 hours ($750). The doctorate level pays $2,500 more than the maximum salary for the master's level, while a specialist degree pays $1,000 more.

A BACHELOR'S degree and 20 years experience brings an additional $400. A master's degree pays $500 extra after 16 years. Teachers who have participated in continuing education programs may earn up to an additional 1 to 2 percent of their salary for 12 to 24 hours of in-service work.

Redford Union teachers with a bachelor's degree receive an extra $867.92 a year if they have 15 hours of additional education, and $1,157.22 if they have 20 hours. Teachers with a master's degree and 15 hours are paid an extra $867.92, while those with 30 hours receive $1,735.83 extra. Teachers at the doctorate level are paid from $22,759 to $39,974.

Beginning teachers with bachelor degrees in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools earn $17,806. At the other end of the scale, teachers with master's degrees plus 30 hours and 12 years experience earn $37,392.

Additionally, teachers at the beginning of the 16th year in the district receive $250 annually above their sal-

Plymouth-Canton has no salary level for persons holding doctorate

Teachers' salaries in Plymouth-Canton have been negotiated through the school year 1987-88.

"We don't anticipate any adjust-ments," said Norm Key, assistant superintendent for employee relations. Key said the contract calls for increases of 5 percent for the next two years, through 1987-88. That means a starting teacher earning $17,806 for school year 1985-86 will have 5 percent added to this year's salary for 1986-87. For 1986-87, he would earn $18,696 and for 1987-88, he would earn $19,631.

FOR A MASTER'S degree plus 30 hours, the district will add 5 percent and then add $600 over and above the master's degree pay level.

In Livonia, a teacher can work 12 years and earn a master's degree to receive the maximum pay of $36,980. A doctorate can bring $1,354 more at

In Garden City, a teacher with a bachelor's degree earns a maximum

$29,636 after 10 years. A master's degree brings a salary from $21,051 to $35,512 after 11 years. With a Ph.D., a teacher can earn from $26,177 to $40,088, also after 11 years. An education specialist is paid $24,899 to

Eleven steps are be-tween the low and high pay for a teacher with a master's degree ($19,950 and $36,212) or with an education specialist or double master's degree ($21,260 and $38,370). A teacher with a Ph.D. is paid from $23,160 to $42,160 in 12 steps.

According to the old Clarenceville contract - contract negotiations are underway - the starting salary for a teacher with a bachelor's degree is 11 steps from the maximum $26,219. The pay for a teacher with a master's degree is $16,575 to $30,249, also 11 steps apart.

NONE OF THE districts has a shortage of teachers now, but Clarenceville Superintendent Michael Shibler predicted shortages of math and science instructors in the future because persons going to colleges aren't studying those fields. He said salaries will increase to attract those professionals.

Added Thomas Svitkovich, associate superintendent in Wayne-West-land: 'We haven't hired a beginning teacher since 1977. District enrollment has been declining over the years, reducing the need for teach-

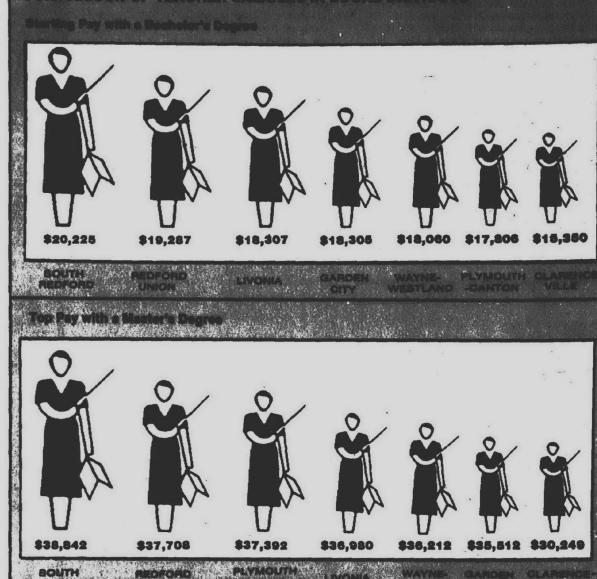

Among the subjects for which it is difficult to find teachers are computers, accounting, foreign languages, math, health occupations and vocational areas. Svitkovich said.

Out of about 1,000 teaching positions in Livonia, Roy Montambeau, assistant superintendent for personnel, recalled only two instances of the district having difficulty filling any of

"We're very selective," he said. "We've had trouble finding a chemistry teacher part time. If it were full time, we wouldn't have much trouble. We're having trouble finding a parttime librarian. If it were full time, we wouldn't have any trouble."

Thirty-five teachers are on the layoff list in Garden City. Plenty of early and secondary education teachers are still available, according to personnel secretary Denise Hanchett.

"I don't remember the last time one was hired," she said. "It's been many, many years."

Except for special education, the last instructor hired in Garden City was an industrial education teacher

"THE ONLY OPENING we have is a half-time in special education," Hanchett said. "Alot of our teachers on the layoff lists haven't been contacted in three or four years. A lot of them have left teaching or won't want to come back."

Livonia has 85 teachers on layoff, "give or take five," Montambeau estimated. Ninety-six in Wayne-Westland, 27 in South Redford and six in Redford Union are on layoff

A retirement law passed four months ago isn't expected to have much of an impact in local districts. Among its provisions, the new law allows teachers to retire during the next three years and receive full benefits if their age and the number of years of credited service totals 80 or

"I only have in my hand right now (notices) from one teacher for the end of the year and one administrator, Montambeau said. "In a typical year, we'll get 15 to 25 retirements. Last year it was as low as 15 because everybody was waiting for this law to pass. I think everybody will be surprised if (the number of retire-

"Within the next year, we will be hiring new people," said Dr. Lyle Kin-sey, assistant superintendent for administrative services with Redford Union. "It's difficult to say whether we'll have many retirements. This year we had three people retire, and it's remained at that level for the last few years.

"I would anticipate come next June, we probably will have more," Kinsey said. "But there's no way of knowing unless we've received notice in writing.

Small business climate improving — Ross

staff writer

Quiet progress is being made on two of Gov. James Blanchard's economic recovery programs, said state Commerce Director Doug Ross.

One is called "technology transfer"

— the ease with which college professors can make money from their research and inventions. The other is a streamlining of state franchising laws.

We and California led the nation in research and development," Ross said Monday at Schoolcraft College, where Livonia business and city officials dis-cussed an industry retention project.

"IN TECHNOLOGY transfer, there is opportunity on two levels," said Ross

First is to get professors to interact. with entrepreneurs over inventions with commercial possibilities," he said.

To do that, the state is setting up a computerized technology transfer network linking his Department of Commerce with five universities, including Wayne State and the University of

The network will contain an inventory of college professors and their areas of expertise. "We're taking applications for the network," he said

SECOND, he said, "We have initiated discussions with universities to have them review their own rules on proprietary involvement of faculty and patents."

Blanchard in 1983 said Michigan trailed other states in translating university research into productive inventions because of laws inhibiting professors from licensing their research. Blanchard held up the state of Minnemodel place where professors can reap maximum economic advantage of their

The administration now says, however, that amending university rules will surmount the problem.

Ross, a former Democratic state senator from Southfield (1978-82) and founder of the Michigan Citizens Lobby in the mid-1970s, said the area along the freeways from Oakland University in Rochester Hills to the U-M in Ann Arbor is emerging as a high-technology center of national prominence.

Ross said the belt - along I-696, I-275 and M-14 - has three major advantages: educational resources, quality of life and proximity to industrial

"WE REALLY did a job with the franchising laws," said Ross.

Franchising is a procedure whereby a national firm grants a local busipessperson a name and method of doing business for a fee. Examples are fried chicken restaurants and shopping center printing shops.

"Michigan has gone from one of the most difficult states to establish a franchise to what the Wall Street Journal called the most accommodating," Ross said. "I don't know yet what the impact will be on franchising," Blanchard won amendments to the state Franchise Investment Law eliminating the time-consuming review system by the Corporations and Securities Bureau. The changes were suggested to Ross' predecessor, Ralph Gerson, who left the Commerce post earlier this year, by the Governor's Commission on Small Business and Entrepreneurship. Among its members were Judd Freeman of American Speedy Printing Inc.,

sota, where he went to law school, as a Birmingham; Richard May, attorney in model place where professors can reap Bloomfield Hills; and Fred Woodworth, Birmingham lawyer with a Detroit

> Franchised businesses have a very high success rate after two years, while a majority of independent businesses call it quits in the same time frame.

ROSS TOLD the Livonia gathering Michigan will recuperate economically despite Texans' predictions that "you're turning into a big Greenfield Village, a museum to industry."

"They missed something vitally important - that this is the most powerful industrial sytem ever created in the world. They forget we knew how to change. They forget we knew how to

The success formula, he said, will be a partnership between government and business, an end to the "old confrontive relationship" between business and labor, and expansion by existing small

Public asked: Should SC develop I-275 land?

By Tim Richard staff writer

The public will get its chance Oct. 23 to tell Schoolcraft College trustees whether to develop commercially 15 acres of college-owned land at Seven Mile and I-275.

"It's not our choicest piece of land, from an educational point of view,' said trustee Rosina Raymond of Livo-

The hearing will begin at 7 p.m., an hour prior to the start of the regular 8 p.m. board meeting.

'We want the public to come. It's not just for developers," said trustee Harry Greenleaf of Livonia. The community college's seven trustees intend to make a decision by Nov. 13.

THE BOARD'S first decision will be the simple legal question of discontinuing the parcel's designation as public land. The board is a long way from deciding which developer to deal with in seeking commercial tenants.

The land is at the southwest intersection of Seven Mile and the freeway. It's the northeast corner of the college property, which faces Haggerty a halfmile away.

To the immediate west is an insurance company office. Across Seven Mile is the CBS Fox video production studio, now under construction.

In a 1970 land use plan, the college parcel is shown as a parking lot for a fine arts center - a structure which voters rejected four times in the '70s. Today it is grass and weeds.

Purchased for $4,200 an acre as farmland in the 1960s, the land today is $175,000 an acre. But it's not for sale.

IN INTRODUCTORY remarks at the hearing, the public, according to the trustees' script, will be told:

We prefer not to give up the title to the property. We may want to change the use of this property to achieve maximum benefits for the college and the community.'

And later: "We plan to use the services of an established, experienced developer who is able and willing to develop this project as a joint venture with one or more financial partners and the college."

Preliminary thinking is that the college as landowner would collect 20 percent of the rent from commercial buildings on the site.

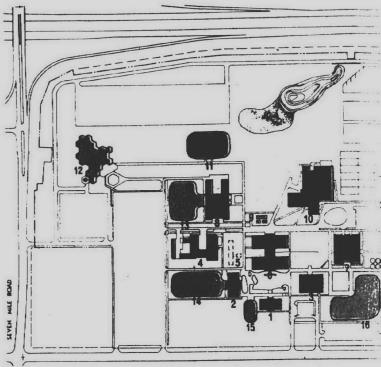

The total project would be added to the tax roll and add to the business investment and economic development of the community," the script says.

"DEVELOPMENT costs and final funding of the total project could be accomplished without any monetary out- ship with the college," the script says. lay on the part of the college.

Bones found here predate Pilgrims and Mayflower

Shane Cash, 8, son of Dougls Cash, and his cousin Chris Hutter recently uncovered some ancient bones on the Cash property on Ann Arbor Trail near the entrance to Plymouth Township

Shane was helping his father dig a septic tank when the amazing discovery was made. (For the story and pictures of this unusual event, see Page 3A of the Sept. 23 issue of the Observer.)

Douglas Cash notified the anthropology department of the University of Michigan which promptly sent a group of anthropologists to explore the site. Dr. John O'Shea, head of the department, accompanied the crew, which used a fine mesh screen and explored the area in detail. Each fragment was carefully labelled. Seven skulls and a quantity of bones were uncovered.

A TENTATIVE estimate was made that the bones were pre-Columbian, which would mean that they are be-tween 500 to 800 years old. Their exact age awaits the results of detailed carbon tests now bieng conducted.

Think of it! Before Columbus landed these ancient people roamed along Ann Arbor Trail. Before the Cabots explored North America these people were building mounds in our area and along the Huron River. Before the Pilgrims landed in 1620 these Indians were drinking from the pure water of Plymouth's artesian springs. In fact, near the Cash place today there are several artesian springs freely flowing.

Fascinated by these developments I have temporarily postponed my exploration of the 18th century to learn more about the Pre-Columbian era. Readers of this column may recall that Plymouth's own most celebrated Indian (for whom we named Tonquish Creek, Tonquish Lodge, Tonquish Plain, and so forth) was eliminated by one Captain McComb and the Detroit Militia in 1819. When compared with the Pre-Columbians - who roamed from here to Grand Rapids as early as 1,000

Helen Gilbert

.D. — 1819 was just yesterday. The last Tonquish Tales column (Observer, Sept. 19) found Sieur Celoron and his French from d'Etroit face-toface with that crusty chief of the Mi-- "LaDemoiselle" as the French called him - at his base at Pickiwillany (Picqua) Ohio. The outcome of this interview must be postponed in favor of the Pre-Columbian bones story.

Eventually Tonquish Tales Vol. 2 will continue its more or less orderly march through the 18th Century. Ahead of us we may anticipate some stirring stories of the French and Indian War, "Mad" Anthony Wayne, Roger's Rangers, Chief Pontiac, and George Washington.

I BEGIN THE exploration of the Pre-Columbian Indians with a two-hour luncheon interview with professor John O'Shea of the university's anthropology department. Most of the customers had drifted out of the cafeteria while I still was grinding away with my 40 questions. I must give O'Shea great credit for patience, knowledge, and know-how. Here

Dr. O'Shea believes that the burial on the Cash place probably is the "end result of a multi-stage, several-step ritu-

After viewing the remains I noted that each scalp had suffered puncture wounds and other evidence of mayhem, and so I assumed that these Indians had been done-in in some cruel, barbaric

You have a right to that assumption, but it is probably not a true one, stated O'Shea.

"Then what was it?," I asked. His answer involves more than 10

pages of notes which I summarize for you as follows:

1. These bones on Ann Arbor Trail do not represent a cross-section of a thenliving population. In other words, this is not a cemetery.

2. All of the bones are of mature

3. Not all of the bones of the body are present. There are no vertebra and no ribs. There are very few bones of hands

4. They appear to have been placed in their grave in an ordered, ritualistic fashion. The long bones were placed on the bottom and the skulls were placed on top of each pile. There is some evidence that each skull faced the north.

5. The known facts about Pre-Columbian Indians lead us to the conclusion that this order was intentional.

6. The bodies had no flesh encrusted on them. These are disarticulated bones which means they were taken out of normal position in the body and sep-

7. The carbon tests will probably tell us how this disarticulation occured and how the flesh was removed.

8. There is no evidence that these bones were heated or burned. There is, however, a considerable amount of old charcoal in the area immediately above them. This may have been from a camp fire that occurred at a much

9. From the carbon tests we can determine the age and sex of each indi-statement about the diseases from their mode of life. Some of these added which they may have suffered. They may reveal other evidence of trauma. We also may have some evidence of chronic diseas

11. The order in which these bones were interred clearly indicates a ritual widely practiced by Pre-Columbian Indians east of the Mississippi.

12. The holes in the head are a common pattern, a mortuary custom among many Indians of this period. This is how the dead of that era were treated throughout the Great Lakes. Some believed this facilitated the escape of the soul to a better place. It is a very common sight. I have examined literally hundreds of tombs of this

13. We used very fine mesh screening. There were no signs of pottery or other buried items. This further indicates a ritual burial rather than a cem-

14. Although some ritual burials left artifacts, it was not uncommon for the Indians of this period to periodically exhume their dead. Following this exhumation they sometimes had what was called the "Feast of the Dead" where the whole tribe went through the mourning process again and again.
This was followed by a kind of a wake for the souls of the departed. After the mourning ritual — which might take as long as four days - was finally finished, the enjoyed a speical feast.

15. The Chippewa (Ojibwa) of Michigan may have practiced this kind of a mortuary ritual during the prehistoric period of the Pre-Columbian era. It also is known that the early Huron in Canada followed these practices.

16. It is significant that there are many artesian wells in this area. These Indians usually camped near clear wa-

Fall bike tours in Hines Park

Edward Hines Drive in the Middle Rouge Parkway will be closed to motor traffic 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. this Sunday for the county park system's "Fall Color Bike Tour.

The event is intended to encourage bicyclists, runners and walkers to use the park free of street traffic, according to Vic Chaisson, recreation manager for the Wayne County Parks and Recreation Department.

Organized activities will include a bikeathon hosted by the American Dia-betes Association. The county park sys-tem will continue to host its "Trail of Quarters - Quarters for Bike Trails" programs to raise money to complete bike paths in the parkway.

Health warning: 'Avoid contact with Rouge'

By Teri Banas staff writer

Signs warning residents of chemical, animal and human waste pollution will primarily from animal waste, Lawrenbe posted by Wayne County officials at some spots along the Rouge River in Redford Township.

Rouge water was tested because a 23-year-old Novi man died six weeks ago of a rare disease called leptospirosis after falling into the Rouge during a drinking party.

The notices likely will extend to other sites in communities where people have been known to enter the water, said county health director Dr. Donald Lawrenchuk.

"We're again urging all residents to ed by the animals' urine. avoid any contact with the Rouge and will continue to remind them," Lawren-day to post warnings after reviewing the results of nine water samples taken from the Rouge last Friday. The results showed a low level of pollution,

These tests failed to prove that lep-tospirosis was present. More specialized environmental testing will be requested from the national Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta, Lawrenchuk said.

Main sources of leptospirosis are dogs, livestock and rats, in that order.

Although the bacterial infection is rare in humans, people reportedly have caught it by being bitten by carrier animals or by drinking water contaminatfrom four other locations in the town-

The tests were for levels of fecal coliform and streptococci bacteria. Animal waste was the most frequent source of pollution.

The levels found Friday were not much different from pollution levels cited at the county-owned Belleville Lake last summer when the recreational site was closed temporarily to swimming and waterskiing, Lawrenchuk

OTHER TEST results will help fill in the picture of what happened to Kenneth Hagstrom, the young and robust mechanic who died last Aug. 30 after swallowing several mouthfuls of the Rouge water.

Saliva samples taken from Hag-

Veterinarians commonly vaccinate dogs for leptospirosis.

Leptospirosis is fatal in 5 to 10 percent of those afflicted. It produces flulike symptoms such as a high fever, headaches, muscle aches, weakness and vomiting. Respiratory failure, as in Hagstrom's case, and liver and kidney failure are the chief causes of death.

It can be treated with any of several antibiotics. Penicillin and tetracycline are most frequently used.

Two other cases of leptospirosis were reported this year in Wayne County. Both occurred in the spring. A 79-year-old downriver woman died of kidney failure after she contracted the disease. Her medical history included no contact with the Rouge River, however, Lawrenchuk said.

A 30-year-old Wayne County man who contracted the disease while sta-

NO CASES of leptospirosis in Wayne County were reported from 1982 to

A more common health hazard associated with the Rouge has been hepatitis and other infectious diseases, Lawrenchuk said. But "the leading cause of deaths in the Rouge is drowning," he said.

"The pollution is certainly not a surprise. The Rouge River has been polluted for many years, long before I was born, and we're taking it very seri-

His department plans to get in touch with officials from the other 35 communities along the Rouge to find out where people have been reported en-

In Melvindale, at the mouth of the 125-mile Rouge system, the city council passed a resolution last month demanding the county put up a warning sign at a popular boat dock. "I've been screaming about this for the past nine years," Mayor Thomas J. Coogan said. "I think this could reach epidemic proportions. Especially with rats, you could have a bubonic plague."

MELVINDALE TRIED padlocking a gate to the boat dock, but boaters broke Melvindale is just south of where the three branches of the Rouge converge. Fred Rosen, attorney for Kenneth Hagstrom's widow, Diane Hagstrom, said he is investigating the river's condition on her behalf. "We can't bring Kenneth back, but we certainly hope something will be done," he said. "There's obviously a

HOUSE

TARGET PRICES - By a vote of 93 for and 334 against, the House rejected a Reagan 'Administration-backed amendment to reduce federal income support payments to wheat farmers.

The wheat "target price" in the new farm bill (HR 2100) is frozen at $4.38 per bushel for the next five years.

It would have diminished under this amendment to $3.57 by the 1990 crop year, lowering farm income but saving the Treasury an estimated $5.5 billion.

Income supports are the "deficiency payments" the government provides to growers to close the gap between the market price of a crop and the higher target price set by Congress.

Sponsor Barney Frank, D-Mass., criticized the farm bill as "a massive effort to continue an industrial policy for agriculture, which says we will continue to subsidize people to grow, whether we need it or not."

Opponent Byron Dorgan, D-N.D., called the amendment "a death sentence for thousands and thousands of family farmers across the country."

Members voting yes wanted to gradually lower federal income supports for wheat farmers. Voting yes: William Broomfield, R-Birmingham.

This was probably the most original and controversial section of HR 1200.

The vote was a rare victory for the Reagan Administration, which during several days of debate had lost most of its attempts to keep the new farm bill from increasing farm spending and enlarging the federal role in U.S. agricul-

Edward Madigan, R-Ill., who led the fight to delete the section, said "a farmer who chose not to participate in the program would not be able to sell the commodity that he produced in the United States of America.'

Timothy Penny, D-Minn., said the re-ferendum "gives the farmers a chance to vote for themselves to improve the price for their commodities."

Members voting no favored the new program. Voting no: Hertel and Levin. Voting yes: Pursell and Broomfield. Not voting: Ford.

LABOR DEPT. — The House passed, 322 for and 107 against, and sent to the Senate a $104.9 billion fiscal 1986 appropriations bill (HR 3424) for the departments of Labor, Education, Health and Human Services and independent agencies.

The sum is $4.3 billion above the administration's budget request but $3.4 billion below 1985 outlays for the three departments and 10 federal agencies.

Among its multitude of provisions, the bill earmarks $189.7 million for research into the disease AIDS, and ex-

BUDGET CUT - By a vote of 24 for and 72 against, the Senate rejected an amendment to increase fiscal 1986 spending for the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) by 5 percent, or $1.53 million, above the level set by the Appropriations Committee.

The vote occurred during debate on an appropriations bill ($ 3036) that was sent to conference with the House.

Sponsor James Abdnor, R-S.D., said reducing the OMB's budget would impair its ability to cut spending elsewhere in the government.

Opponent Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz.,

County drain boss' wings are clipped

Susan Rosiek assistant managing editor

HAT VOTERS couldn't do at the polls may be accomplished by a little heavy-handed politicking on the part of Wayne County Commission Chairman John Her-

The target is Charles Youngblood, both personally and in his capacity as county drain commissioner.

Youngblood had a battle in 1984 for renomination as drain commissioner. He had built up a lot of enemies, but a glut of other candidates split up the Democratic vote. Youngblood survived the primary, and voters routinely gave him a new fouryear term in November.

Recently Hertel adroitly moved to clip the wings of Drain Commissioner Youngblood, bringing that independent office's operation more into line with other county operations. In an interview, he told us

"IT WAS LIKE a war," said Hertel, serving his second term as a county commissioner after two terms in the State

"When I got to be chairman," said Hertel, D-Harper Woods, "I found out I was a member of the Drainage Board and that I could appoint a third person. I appointed Commissioner Clarence Young, D-De-

"I've been told the public and the cities don't get service from Charles Youngblood. We tried to get him to make change in the bidding procedure, in hiring, firing and promotion practices, and tell us how assessments are spent.

"He literally would not provide that information. We saw arrogance and lack of cooperation with citizens, townships and If Hertel's lament sounds familiar, that's because it was the same thing Youngblood's opposition said in the 1984 Democratic primary.

"WE DID research on the powers of the Drainage Board," Hertel went on.

'We found the drain laws gave a majority of the Drainage Board power to set procedures. We (he and Young) put a resolution together, and two weeks ago we Some provisions of majority's resolu-

 All contracts for more than $5,000 shall be advertised and awarded on the basis of competitive bids.

 All emergency work contracts must have the signed approval of two members of the Drainage Board.

· "All hiring, firing, transfers and promotion of personnel shall require the prior written approval of two members of the Drainage Board.'

 An annual audit shall be performed by the county auditor general, who reports to the County Commission.

· All bank accounts shall be opened in the name of the county treasurer, who must sign all drain account checks.

PAST ATTEMPTS to eliminate the drain commissioner as an elective office have been resisted by Wayne County Demo-

More interested in politics than in public service, they argued against eliminating elective offices that they can win.

Reform groups in county government generally have favored consolidating all three public works functions: the Road Commission (which previously was an autonomous appointed agency); the Public Works Department (created by the county board); and the drain commissioner (an independent elective office).

The reformers' notion is to bring all three under the Public Services arm of the county executive.

The home-rule charter approved by Wayne County voters in 1981 was unable to force consolidation, but it did require the three agencies to submit semiannual work plans to the executive, thereby requiring an element of coordination.

COUNTY EXECUTIVE William Lucas - a man often criticized but who deserves credit when correct - won jurisdiction over the Road Commission in a court case early in his term.

Hertel's 2-1 coup on the Drainage Board is another step in the right direction for Wayne County government.

That's assuming anyone cares about Wayne County government.

Barnaby Society has just never been willing to back a rehabilitation program with enough money to make it work. The word rehabilitation brings a sneer to the faces of those who see prisons as a place to punish and a grimace to supporters who have watched it fail. In truth, our prisons have become noth-

The rest — the smart and the wealthy mostly go free.

FINDING A purpose for a system that has failed us is a task, indeed. That's not to say that someday society may come around and really deal with the problems of crime and prisons. But, for the time, let's talk about today.

Well, today we can save some kids from the fate of prison by having them spend a day in one of those medieval detention centers. Oh, now wait a minute. I'm not talking about taking little Johnny or Susie and shutting them up in the the clink.

Let's give them a look-see. Let's take em on a tour. Crammed in to one of those busy school years full of trips to the petting farm, the nature trail and the science center, let's show 'em a prison.

I'll bet they'll think twice before listening to a friend about committing a crime.

The People Mover, as seen by Schwartz

THE MACHINATIONS, charges and counter-charges concerning construction of the downtown Detroit People Mover leave me perplexed. I decided to ask expert government watcher Joe Schwartz what it is all about.

"Joe, explain to me about the People Mover. I am confused."

"Apparently you haven't been following the pea," Joe started. "Listen closely and you will get a lesson in government.

"The People Mover started out as part of a master plan designed to provide public transporation for the metropolitan area. Back in the days when it was invented, the People Mover drew hardly a squeak. Everyone then was fighting about whether or not SEMTA should build a subway from the foot of Woodward to E. Grand Boulevard as part of a rapid rail line to Pontiac.

"SOME SUBURBAN representatives then howled that the subway would cost too much, the suburbanites wouldn't benefit from it and the city of Detroit would be getting the lion's share of transit money intended for the entire metropolitan area.

"Unspoken in many instances was the fear that a subway would be like New York's subway instead of Toronto's and the presence of inhospitable Detroitbased muggers would make traveling for most suburban citizens uncomfortable — unless you happened to be Bernhard Goetz or an off-duty policeman.

"After eighteen hundred meetings, a compromise was reached among subur-ban and Detroit government leaders. The compromise was never put into effect be-compromise was never put into effect be-cause the ruler of government during all-ths swing had switched from Democrat in Republican and the new leaders decided not to put any more money into transit systems, associally those involving holes best manager quit when he saw the handwriting on the wall - federal money was disappearing and the public transportation industry was going the way of the pony express.

'Well, cracks started appearing in the People Mover stanchions and the cost went over $100 million and a lot of people started saying, 'Who needs it?' Unspoken in some instances is the idea that the People Mover won't be too classy anwyway since some of the people being moved will be the same Detroit-based muggers who would have been moving on the subway if one had been built.

"SO, NOW you have suburban lawmakers saying, 'Why is all this money intended for area transportation being spent on a system which will mostly be moving Detroiters around the downtown area and benefiting mostly Detroit?'

"Out of this comes eighteen hundred meetings and telephone calls which ends up with the governor saying the People Mover will be given to the city of Detroit and the state will make sure that any more cost overruns will be paid for by federal transit money.

"Of course, this makes not everyone happy. Detroit's mayor doesn't think that any money should come from Detroit's share of transit money and Oakland County. Executive Dan Murphy says the same thing about Oakland County money. Suburban lawmakers claim that the governor can't, give away something that has already cost suburban people hig bucks, even if suburban people haver use the Mover.

Reporters can't be cops

WJBK-TV (Channel 2) deserves an "attaboy" for resisting a Wayne County citizens' grand jury subpoena for videotapes the station never broadcast.

The grand jury is displaying the kind of Third World mentality which views the news media as an arm of the government.

It seems that Channel 2 interviewed members of a teen gang in Detroit for a series some time in July. Police believe members of the gang may be tied to the Aug. 29 killing of a Michigan State Police Michigan law enforcement officials are adopting the same mentality.

A Kalkaska County presecutor, too lazy to do his own investigating, reads in the Traverse City Record-Eagle an interview with a woman in his jail awaiting trial for murdering her abusive husband.

The prosecutor thinks there may be a confession in the reporter's notes that wasn't published in the story. He subportant the notes — and gets them.

THE REPORTER has presented himself or herself to the news source as a reporter for a private business — not as an investigator for local prosecutor or the Wayne County citizens grand jury. Following the interview, the governmental agency seeks to change those rules by turning the reporter into a tool of the government. Newspeople, such as those at Channel 2, resent being "used" in this way.

It's not as if the reporter actually witnessed the murder. In fact, Channel 2's interview occurred long before a crime was committed. And it's not as if Wayne County government lacks information gathering resources of its own. It has hundreds of sheriff's deputies, dozens of lawyers on the prosecutor's staff, and a big batch of people making television shows for County Executive William Lucas to show around the state.

LET THE COUNTY unleash those peo-ple to interview street gang members, not subpoena a private company's videotapes and subvert its credibility with news

Suppose you were in hot water with the law. I come to you and ask you to tell your side of the story. Are you going to trust me and this newspaper if you suspect that the prosecutor is plotting to turn me into an instrument of his governmental office? "Attaboy," Channel 2.

Women leaders against 'con-con'

"The opposition to a constitutional convention is bipartisan, too," said Elaine Donnelly, spokeswoman for the Republican Women's Federation of Michigan, in a Lansing news conference last week.

Donnelly of Livonia joined U.S. Sen. Nancy Kassebaum, R-Kansas, in contradicting two Republican senators who favor calling America's second constitutional convention to write balanced-budget language into the nation's basic law.

A week earlier, Republican Sens. Robert Dole of Kansas and Dennis DeConcini of Arizona asked the state Legislature to make Michigan the 33rd state to petition Congress for a "con-con." Such a convention would have to be called if 34 states petitioned

"THE DRIVE for a constitutional convention is dangerously close to becoming a reality," said Donnelly, "primarily because of a nationally directed campaign that has either censored the truth, disguised it, or stretched it beyond the breaking

"In other words, Mr. Davidson seems perfectly willing to let people believe what they want to believe with regard to a con-con — a classic example of political 'bait and switch.'"

WHILE SUPPORTERS of balanced-budget/con-con have cited polls, Donnelly called the poll results misleading because:

"Virtually all of the public opinion polls on this issue by the proponents have censored out the fact that a con-con call is at the heart of the Balanced Budget resolution, known in this state as Senate Joint Resolution A."

The Livonia precinct delegate, an alternate to last year's GOP National Convention, operates her own media-consulting business. Although known for supporting such conservative causes as opposition to the Equal Rights Amendment, Donnelly insists con-con isn't a true conservative issue because conservatives tend to oppose tampering with the U.S. Constitution.

KASSEBAUM, Kansas' junior senator, is at odds with her senior senator and Senate majority leader, Dole, on con-con. She urged Michigan lawmakers to reject SJR A, which has passed the Senate but been rejected in the House.

Dole, in a Lansing news conference a week earlier, called the con-con fears "a specious red herring." At his news conference, he was greeted by a number of Republican women wearing homemade badges resembling a Campbell's Soup can with the slogan "Can Con-Con."

Last year, then state-Rep. Ruth McNamee, R-Birmingham, stalled the issue when her key vote kept the resolution from being reported out of a House committee.

Bob Storen taking all bets

'Can do:' builder's success formula

From groundbreaking to occupancy in 10 weeks

By Teri Banas

Bob Storen cashed in on a bet last week when he flew out to San Francisco's Ernie's Restaurant for a juicy steak dinner.

The bet was made over whether he could finish constructing the Republic Airline reservation center in Livonia in time. Most people - including project architect Lee Askew - said he couldn't do it. Ten weeks was just not enough time to finish a project that typically runs six to eight months.

Two weeks before schedule, Storen turned over the building to Republic, and that's what put him out at Ernie's for his just reward — a dinner served anywhere in the world.

When Lee Askew bet Bob he couldn't complete the building in 10 weeks, Bob just said, 'Like hell, I can't,' recalled Storen's secretary, Lise Slater. "That's when Lee said he'd buy him the best steak dinner in the world, knowing Republic would pay

THE REPUBLIC project caused quite a stir around Livonia - because of the impact 400 new jobs could make and later for its quick construc-

The airline, which made Detroit Metro Airport its main hub, first had selected Taylor for its reservation site, but when the financing couldn't be worked out for that location, they quickly turned to Livonia. One month had been lost and the race was on. The company was pinned to a July deadline when its Atlanta reservation center was closing. There would be severe financial losses if the Livonia center wasn't ready in time to begin taking the incoming reservations and telephone calls previously made to Atlanta. A Bloomfield Hills construction manager with a relatively small business, Storen had been involved with the deal since the Taylor days. And the pace quickened in Livonia where city officials bent over backward to insure the favored project got off the City planner John Nagy recalled it was given "emergency treatment" and expedited with officials practically "hand carrying" construction appplications from one city office to another.

Special meetings were called by both the planning commission and the city council," recalled

For city officials, the special attractions, of course, were the job prospects.

Said Nagy of the construction process, "It all happened so fast. It was really a whirl. I was impressed. They were really committed it. You could see they wanted it so badly.

The morning after the city council rezoned the property for office use, Storen's crews broke Storen was able to fly into action, so to speak, because much of the construction supplies and equipment had already been ordered.

"REPUBLIC REALLY went out on a limb for me and ordered some things before we even had a contract," Storen said. "Basically, they said to me,

'I'll cover you.' Three weeks before construction they had on hand all the steel and electrical and mechanical equipment needed for the highly computerized cenThen he turned to organizing the labor force. The various subcontractors needed on the job had been pre-qualified, said Storen, meaning he knew they had the manpower and ability to perform the jobs.

"We gave them a tight and difficult schedule," he

An untypical sense of "team work" and spirit grew as Storen instilled the project's importance on those involved. He had weekly meetings with corporate officers and field foremen from each firm and made attendance mandatory.

"What I started instilling was pride," he said. And apparently it was contagious.

From the start deadlines were treated with reverence. No one wanted to be responsible for missing one, and delaying the project. "It became almost a game. . . Nobody's gonna stop this whirl,"

In the end, the $10 million project came in at $1 million less than anticipated. Storen estimated that he saved the owners that much on interest for the construction loan and labor costs (there was no

Storen said he was able to do it with good old fashioned "hands on management" techniques involving a close relationship with workers and their

Employee leasing

Freedom from personnel worries

By Richard Lech staff writer

Executive Staff Leasing Inc. (ESL) is in the business of getting small-business employees fired.

The employees don't really lose their jobs, though. They end up working where they've always worked. But instead of working directly for their employer, they're leased to him or her by ESL representatives call it a "winwin" situation that benefits everybody involved.

Employers are freed from personnel-administration headaches and can set up individual benefit plans for themselves, indep ployees, according to ESL.

And employees get an improved benefit package because of the better buying power ESL has as a larger firm.

They've got all the benefits of their neighbors who work for General Motors or Ford," ESL business manager James J. Sullivan said. "Yet they've got the personal feeling of being with a small business and making it a suc-

SULLIVAN and his wife, ESL president Karen I. Faerber, started the Dearborn-based firm in August 1984 to tap into what they see as a booming national industry. They have more than 50 years of combined experience in project management and consulting, supervision, management and business ownership.

Employee leasing has been successful in other parts of the nation, particularly the Southwest, but has not caught on yet in Michigan, Sullivan said. According to Fortune magazine, an estimated 275 leasing companies now employ about 75,000 people for thousands of small businesses across the country.

And much more growth is being projected for the industry. One expert, quoted in Nation's Business magazine, predicts the number of leased employpes may reach 10 million in the next 10

ESL leases 140 employees at a dozen different firms, some in the Detroit area, some as far away as Petoskey. The firms, which range in size from two employees to 43, include a dental clinic, legal firm, accounting firm, florist, gift shop, and a parts distribution company. The types of employees leased range from manual laborers to legal partners, secretaries to accountants.

Ben Bolt is ESL's business representative for the Livonia area, and Steve Otto has been working as a business representative for the Macomb and Oakland county areas. Both have expeence operating small businesses and will be out to recruit small businesses "In those areas, Sullivan said.

ONE OF THE biggest hurdles they have to overcome, Sullivan and Faerber said, is that few people have theard of or understand the concept of

"employee leasing.
"There is no other Michigan company that we're aware of yet," Sullivan said. "I think competition would be a big plus because it would get the word out on this kind of company.'

The impetus for employee leasing was the Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act (TEFRA) of 1982, Sullivan

Designed to encourage individual pensions as an alternative to Social Security, TEFRA made IRAs (Individual Retirement Accounts) and 401K pension plans possible. And it also gave formal recognition to employee leas-TEFRA has two basic requirements for a qualified leasing company.

• The leasing company must provide at least a 7.5 percent nonintegrated money pension plan in which all employees are fully and immediately

By divesting themselves of all their employees, employers now have the right to negotiate their own, more lucrative pension package.

• The leasing company also must have a true employer/employee relationship with the staff. The leasing company must provide control and supervision of an employees' daily activi-

WHAT USUALLY happens under a leasing program is that the employees are terminated, then rehired by the leasing company. The leasing company then serves the same function as a personnel department.

get involved in the business," Sullivan said. "The personnel department deals with people. We don't get in there and try to run a business.'

The business owners are freed from such personnel-administration tasks as recruiting, hiring, training, evaluating, promoting, firing, salary administration, payroll processing, tax reporting and insurance claims, Sullivan said They then can concentrate on the things they do well, the things they went into business to do in the first place, he said.

ESL appoints a working supervisor at each work site who handles the personnel and directs the work. The supervisor also serves as a llaison between the owner and the leasing company. The supervisor usually is selected by the client from among his most trusted employees, Sullivan said. MOST EMPLOYEES are pleased with the changes leasing brings, according to ESL representatives and national magazine reports on employee leasing. The employees can end up with a vested pension plan, group life insurance, group medical and dental insur-ance, credit union privileges and other perks they might not have had before.

With better benefits, employees are more apt to stick with their small-business employer, Sullivan said. As it is, ess owners lose 15-20 percent of their employees to larger firms with better benefits, he said.

The leasing package also gives the small-business owner a competitive adsmall-business owner a competitive advantage over other small businesses en recruiting employees, Sullivan

We pull the cream of the crop when we place an ad," Sullivan said.

The first thing ESL asks prospective leasing customers to do is fill out a confidential work sheet detailing their overall employee costs.

Payroll makes up only about 50 per-cent of those costs, Sullivan said. Other, 'hidden" costs include the insurance, unemployment compensation rates even the time the owner spends talking to an insurance agent or filling out a tax form.

"We complete the same work sheet, project what it would cost if he leased from us," Sullivan said. "Generally it winds up, we're cheaper." He credits that to the volume buying ESL is able to do when investing in pension plans, insurance contracts and so.

The ESL staff uses its knowledge of pay scales throughout industry to let employers know if they are overpaying or underpaying an employee, Sullivan

EVEN AN EMPLOYER can become leased employee.

"We have a company that's taking advantage of that," Faerber said. "It's very small, and what the owner likes is that by leasing himself he is able to get better insurance than he could afford by himself at very reasonable rates."

The leasing market doesn't preclude large corporations either. Sullivan said one of the biggest surprises they've had is that some corporations want to lease "The personnel department doesn't out the employees of one department, such as a photocopying department or secretarial pool. ESL, for instance, leases out 10 employees in the technical library of a utility.

Although ESL has not handled any unionized companies, Sullivan said a leasing firm could handle all the personnel matters of a union shop - with one exception. We wouldn't be in a position to act as a bargaining unit," he said. "We know very little about the profitability of the company, so the owner still has to work as the bargaining agent."

Sullivan added that he doubted a company could use employee leasing as a way of blocking employees from starting a union.

"I think the courts would stop that very quickly and say it's unfair," he

ALTHOUGH the whole concept of employee leasing is based on one law, TEFRA, Sullivan and Faerber said they aren't worried that Congress could one day upset the applecart by cancel-

"Tidon't see them changing to diminishing the benefits of the small businessman," Sullivan said. "I think you're going to see an impetus to have more, leased employees by the end of this year. Sullivan pointed out that the firm has a wide market from which to draw.

"All businesses have one thing in common, and that's employees, and we're in the employee business."

Franchises breed success

But modern franchising involves more than toting cleaning powder door-to-door. It's sophisticated. It's growing. But it's not a ticket to instant wealth.

"There's nothing I know of in this life where you can make a killing," said William Cherkaski, executive vice president of the International Franchise Association, a Washington, D.C.-based trade association. "You have to work hard, put in long hours." Dreams do come true. Though not exactly a business tipsheet, Playboy Magazine posted odds on hitting it big ($100,000 to $1 million yearly) through venture capitalism at a mere 5-1. (Inventions, for instance, was posted at 1,606-1. Hitting the lottery? It's estimated at 3.5 million-1.)

Capitalization aside, franchises hold several built-in advantages.

They generally provide an instantly recognizable logo, along with as-surances of standardized quality and pricing, that help keep customers coming back.

"Where would you rather stay," asks the off-camera voice on a videotape Chuhran shows to prospective franchise holders. "Here (a Holiday Inn flashes on-screen) or here (Joe's Motel)?" The voice doesn't wait for Keeping that in mind, Michigan revised its franchising law last summer. A battery of state investigators who poured over franchise documents has been eliminated. "We've probably quadrupled the number of franchises in Michigan since we deregulated franchising, said Marilyn Bradley, who administers the state's Franchise Act. "It's been good for business overall." Franchises must file a statement of Suburban bus riders one day may see bus drivers with a corporate patch on their shoulders instead of a SEMTA patch. They may see jail administrators with a corporate ID hadge instead of the sheriff's star.

The trend is called "privatization" - hiring a company under contract to perform functions that were previously performed only by civil servants. Although fairly new in Michigan, it's a trend that's spreading across the nation.

The college never was able to expand the way planners in 1970 had expected. But board chairman Michael W. Burley and trustees aren't even thinking of selling the land.

Plans must go through a public hearing stage, but the thinking is that the community college would "marry" a private developer who would put up compatible commercial buildings on the land. The college would be Bloomfield, as chairman of the Senate Transportation Committee, is looking to reorganize the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority under more compact lines. His reorganization plan would give SEMTA the option of using private contractors to provide bus service.

BUT THE HEAD of the Michigan State Employees Association is resisting efforts at privatization of state operations.

Althea Williams, MSEA president and a Social Services worker, complains that "the state is currently trying to subcontract every service that we provide," though Democratic Gov. James J. Blanchard has talked little about it.

"One example would be in the County of Kent," Williams said in an interview last year. "The Department of Sealed County of Se ment of Social Services purchased a contract for $138,000. The contract covers the work of 11/2 state employees, had there been a state employee doing it. Through that contract, they (DSS) have five people doing that job and providing less service.

Authors bank on ideals

Don't be misled by the title. "Re-inventing the Corporation" (Warner Books) probably should be called "Megatrends II." Following the success of the bestseller, John Naisbitt and co-author and wife Patricia Aburdene don't tell us how to reinvent the corporation as much as tell corporate leaders what demands are going to be placed on the workplace for the rest of the century.

Meeting those demands will mean a major overhaul of how corporations do business and especially how they deal with their employees, Naisbitt and Aburdene say. Consider:

By 1987 more people will be leaving the labor force than will be joining it. If, as the authors predict, full employment is just around the corner, person-nel departments will be beside themselves trying to fill positions with competent workers.

BEFORE GRAPPLING with issues, Naisbitt and Aburdene contend that the first step in reinventing the corporation is "a powerful vision - a whole new sense of where the company is going and how to get there."

Who has such a vision? Roger Smith in transforming General Motors with the development of Saturn Corp. and the purchase of Electronic Data Systems. W.L. Gore, whose business is Gore-tex, the sports and military fabric maker. His company has no titles, no bosses and no lines of authority, and its only two objectives are to make money

'Re-inventing the Corporation'

After deciding on a vision, the "new information" corporation must decide on a structure and "help attract people who can help realize it by adopting the vision as their own and sharing responsibility for achieving it." As the authors see it, new structures sound the death knell for: hierarchical structures where "everyone has a superior and everyone has an inferior," middle managers, thanks to computerization of tasks, and the union movement. New structures will include contract labor and small teams of self-managed workers in workplaces of no more than 150 employees. Intrapreneurship (innovation within a large company), cafeteria selection of fringe benefits, day care, and health and fitness centers will help reinforce the concept that work is related to other parts of their employee's lives.

People know intuitively that work should be fun. But only a few corporate innovators have created an environment in which fun, profit and productivity flow," the book says.

"That interconnectedness between the corporation and the other aspects of life - education, health, the family and the community — means a company cannot sit back and complain about the lousy school stystem, about the women's movement making it harder to transfer people, about the high cost of the employee health bills. Corporations have to act and act on the basis of the interconnectedness between people and profit. That is better than social responsibility. It means that corporate interests and the interests of people and communities are increasingly the

It's more concerned with teaching the principles of jobsharing than with explaining what to do with our smokestack industries. He went to his stockbroker for a solution to his problem, but could find nothing that totally satisfied him. The closest thing was municipal bonds, but he rejected this idea because of their callable feature and perceived risks.

A conventional and immediate annuity was ruled out, because John didn't want something that would use up every cent he had. John wanted something that was guaranteed to produce $35,000 annually for 25 years.

UPON INVESTIGATION, we found an insurance company that would provide an immediate annuity at a cost of $341,307 that would pay $35,000 annually for 25 years. In addition, at the end of the 25-year period, John will receive his original investment of $341,307 from the insurance company.

The accompanying table entitled

"Auto X" presents a complete view of the investment John was looking for. Like Auto 7, a portion of each payment is principle, so of the $35,000, only $25,179 is taxable.

As an alimony payment, John would get to deduct $35,000 from his tax return, but would be taxed on $25,179.

The same portion of the $341,307 would become taxable when he gets it, but he can drastically reduce his tax liability by electing to take the distribution over a number of years instead of a lump

CLEARLY, AUTO "X" does not solve all investment problems. However, it offers an attractive investment alternative to someone who has a problem similar to the one presented here. Be sure to consult your financial planner (preferably a certified financial planner who has been admitted to the Registry of Financial Planning Practitioners) before making a deci-

THE ANNOUNCEMENT

"Producers Tim and Suzanne Skubik are proud to announce the release of 'A Wonderful Baby Girl Starring Carly Blair.' Carly made her debut at 2:28:34 Friday, Sept. 27, in Sparrow Hospital, Lansing. The young star is expected to be a smash hit. Her stunning beauty, blue eyes and straight black hair will win her raving reviews from producers everywhere! At 7 lb., 9 oz., 20 inches long and with her adorable personality, she is worthwhile waiting to see." Suzanne is the community affairs and program director at Omnicom of Michigan Cable Co. in Canton. Tim is senior capital correspondent out of Lansing and host of the "Off the Record" television program on PBS-Channel 56.

Congratulations to the Skubiks. BRENDA Krachenberg has achieved special professional recognition by the Michigan Music Teachers' Association as a teacher of piano. She was recommended for this advanced professional standing on the basis of "continued outstanding achievement and high professional standards in the field of music pedagogy."

The MMTA was founded in 1885 and is affiliated with the Music Teachers National Association, the first professional music organization in the United States, founded in 1876. It represents music teachers in independent studios, conservatories and music schools, private schools and institutions of higher learning. Its primary goal is to raise the level of musical performance, understanding and teaching. Brenda has her studio in her home and gives private lessons to more than 20 pupils each week. She has both her bachelor's and master's degrees in music education from the University of Michigan. She also has earned a certificate from Schoolcraft College in piano pedagogy.

CANTON AND Plymouth artisans will have their works in the Country Folk Art & Fine Art Fair, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 27, at Roma's of Garden City, Cherry Hill between Merriman and Venoy.

Canton will be represented by Marie Altobello with painted sweatsuits; Connie Kish, custom knitting: Letia Woods, country candles;Gene Rice, country tole on wood; and George Durham with clay sculpture characters.

Jill Lazarus, stenciling on fabric; Debbie Tucker, country stenciling; and Sue Vogel, country applique and wood, will represent Plymouth. Admission to the fair is $1.

CRAFTS FROM all over the world will be offered for sale Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 19 and 20, at First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth. The International Gift Fair is truly an international bazaar with brass from the Orient, woodcarvings from Africa, wicker baskets from South America.

Beautiful handcrafted items from more than 40 developing countries will be assembled for the fair. The artisans include members of native tribes from Thailand, the Zulus of Africa, refugees from mainland China, and the very poor of Mexico and India

The purpose of the project is to help native astisans in underdeveloped countries by selling their work and sending the proceeds back to them. For some families and handicapped people, the money they receive this fair and other such sales is their only means of support.

Sue Langley and Jean Pritchard are co-chairing the project. Jean Bacheldor and Beth Walsh are doing the decorations and Marsha Livermore is lining up volunteers to work in the booths. Susan Seidel is handling publicity. Shopping at the fair is like taking a world tour. The workmanshipis beautifully done and no two articles are alike. The bake sale items are local right from the kitchens of the women of the church.

Hours of the International Gift Fair are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 19, and 12:80-2:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 20. The church is at 701 Church St., at Main, Plymouth.

Museum gift shop caters to mixed clientele SINCE RETURNING to Michigan, the same - dolls.

Ruth Jacobs continues her search for attractive new items for her shop with all the enthusiasm of an entrepreneur an entrepreneur whose livelihood depends on sales quotas.

Charles Greenwell

Jacobs' business is the gift shop in the Plymouth Historical Museum. All profits go to the museum.

She stocks the shop with an eye to her clientele. There are the children who have a few cents to spend after a tour of the museum; the out-of-towners who want to take home a worthwhile memento of their visit, for themselves or a member of their family. And there are the local residents who depend on Jacobs to come up with everything

SHE HAS HER regular crafters who produce the oldtime pieces.

Bruce Richard, a member of the Plymouth Historical Society, works with wood. He makes the Shaker boxes, sewing boxes, and a new item, a carrier. Even the Shakers would approve his fine workmanship. The oval minicarriers are anded and rubbed to bring out the grain and patina of the woods sugar maple, walnut or mahogany.

Tinsmith Dick Jablonski has added a pierced tin napkin holder to his candlesticks, cookie cutters and match holders. His wife, Jerry, makes the corn husk dolls. Donna Douglas makes the hand-painted thimbles.

"Although the craftsmen are never paid for their time, their work is necessarily more exp ports," Jacobs said.

SHE SHOWED a jacks set made by an American craftsman. The metal jacks and wooden ball were in a suede draw-string bag.

"This is the real thing — although the game of jacks is several thousand years old and originally was played with stones," she said, showing the type of set a child would have played with 100 years ago. She added, that because of the workmanship, it sold for $3.50.

"The average child could not afford this, so I stock some cheaper imports that sell for a few cents." Many of the old-fashioned toys are made of brightly painted tin or natural wood. These and and other less expensive items such as plastic kewpie dolls, tin whistles, harmonicas and tiny wicker prams come from Taiwan, Sri Lanka or China.

BARBARA KINGSBURY of Cement City is Jacobs' newest "find."

I met her at a craft show in Brooklyn, Michigan, this summer. She makes these little bisque dolls, about one-inch long. She hand paints them, and dresses them in little pink, blue or yellow bunt-ings. When I saw them, I thought, 'One of these will fit in our little wicker pram.' As it turned out, two will fit, even twins," Jacobs said.

Kingsbury also makes faceless cloth dolls — a pioneer doll, a little black doll with a black lamb and one in a christening dress that sells for $5.

Jacobs points out the workmanship,

"It is perfect." Kingsbury was an exhibiting folk artist in upstate New York for 10 years. Her work was shown and sold through the Norwich Museum and the Robertson Center for the Arts and Sciences. She made three-dimensional miniature sculptures all of which are in private collections.

The satellite teleconference will take place from noon to 3 p.m.

Focusing on sustainable long-term development, the relationship between poverty and hunger and the impact of governmental degradation and resource repletion on global food security, the program will originate in Washington, D. C. and be transmitted live to more than 150 colleges, universities and other institutions nationwide.

World Food Day, now in its fifth year and observed in 150 countries, marks the anniversary of the founding of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the U.N. in 1945. The event is sponsored in the U.S. by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the Agency for International Development and a coalition of 350 private voluntary organizatio s making up a National Committee for World Food Day.

FEATURED SPEAKERS will be Peter McPherson, administrator of USAID; U.S. Sen. Paul Simon, D.-Ill.; Barbara Huddleston, chief of the Security and Information Service of FAO; and Marie Savane, president of the Association of African Women for Research on Development in Dakar, Sene-

Moderator will be Rene Pouissant, the Emmy award winning anchorwoman of WJLA-TV in Washington. Pouissant recently returned from covering the African famine.

Also participating in the teleconference will be St. Theodore Catholic Church, 8200 Wayne Road, Westland.

'Old World' fun Market days passport to ethnic festival

The Detroit 59th Original Old World Market is "Your Passport to the World" at the International Institute

Thursday through Sunday, Oct. 17-20.

This four-day ethnic extravaganza is a full-fledged international festival complete with food, ethnic dancing, thousands if imports for sale and a host of ethnic crafts from near and far.

The Old World Market began during the Depression as a way for new immi-grants to make a little extra money selling their old world crafts. The event is the year-round effort of more than 600 volunteers headed by past presidents of the International Institute, Mrs. Hazel Boltwood of Southfield and Dr. Helen T. Suchara of Livonia.

DEMONSTRATIONS of all types highlight the event, including American and Lao weaving, Belgian and French lacemaking, Estonian woodburning, China painting, Ukrainian pysanky egg decorating and embroidering, American Indian beadwork, Faberge type egg decorating, Polish Wycinanki paper cutting, Hmong stitchery, Japanese ori-gami paper folding and East Indian sari wrapping.

Each demonstrator offers gifts for sale, lessons, or a friendly explanation of the procedure and technique involved in their unique artistry.

Ethnic dance workshops are also a feature of the Old World Market. Special Hispanic and Polish activities will offer free dance workshops from 7-9 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

Friday, classical and flamenco dancers will perform and offer workshops.

The Melting Pot Cafe will also feature Hispanic dishes and the market will be decorated in a Hispanic theme.

Saturday, the Wawel Folk Dance Ensemble will entertain with colorful Pol-their Polish style folk dances to mark- able in advance. Market hours will be eters on Polish Night, Special Polish 11 a.m. until 9 p.m. Thursday through decorations and foods will also be fea-Sunday when the hours will be 11 a.m.

A parish time of renewal, under the theme "Jesus, Gather Us In," will take place Monday through Friday, Oct. 14-18, at St. Edith Catholic Church, 15089 Newburgh, Livonia. The Rev. Jim Burke, a Dominican priest, will return from abroad to present a parish mission. Since 1971, he has been involved in parish renewal work and missions in such places as Pakistan, India, South America, the Philippines and the Dominican Republic.

He will present sessions on relation-ship with God, God's love, reconciliation and forgiveness, healing — both personal and within a family, and personal prayer. Morning sessions will begin at 9 a.m. and evening sessions at 8 p.m. He will be available at each session. sion for prayer and counseling.

I was traveling by train through Milan, Italy, when four men attempted to rob me. It was a clever plan. They had me surrounded in a train aisle. My hands were filled with luggage.

The man behind me had my wallet halfway out of my pocket when I caught him in the act. We were virtually alone in the passageway, but as soon as I felt my wallet leaving my pocket and yelled out, they backed off and left the train. Ever since this experience, I have wondered why they did not physically restrain me while they took my money. There were four of them and no help

Later we questioned people in Rome about trouble on the streets. Even at night, they said, they may try to snatch your purse but never physically attack you. I wish I could say as much for bur cities.

Why is there so much personal vio-lence in America? We can recall that our our nation was born in violence. The frontiers were a violent place. My great-grandfather noted that those men who carried gams were often the ones, who were killed.

brave a man is the capacity to fight. In the James Bond stories, we enjoy the portrayal of a man who escapes every kind of violence.

John Wayne was the symbol of a man who hated to get in a fight, but he enjoyed beating the tar out of them when he did. His barroom battles are waged with a smile on his face. He is seldom wounded in his movies, and McWHIRTER tells us of a study done in Europe which found that young men equate fast driving with virility. So it is an America with violence. Ultimately a man in our society is supposed to judge himself by the question: If put to the test, will he be willing to fight?

We need to call it what it is one national temptetion to do violence. One temptetion to do violence. One temptetion is care in the case of processors. One temptetion is care in the case of processors with the case of processors with the case of processors with the case of the case

Don't let truth ruin a good homecoming

NICKER IF YOU want, but it wasn't so long ago that I was a cub reporter working on the bowling beat. Like anyone submerged in the day-to-day details of a complex profession - I'm certain surgeons and engineers know what I mean - I spent a great portion of the day daydreaming about what fun I

My pop never liked that. "You can't live in the past," he'd say. "You have to look to the future."

PROBLEM WAS my life was mired in the very dull present, so I rarely listened to my pop. Oh, he tried different methods in an effort to get through to me, but I was adamant: The past was better.

"You can't live in the past," he'd insist, wagging his finger at me for emphasis. I wouldn't

"You can't live in the past," he'd announce, shaking his fist under my nose. I was like a rock.

"YOU CAN'T LIVE IN THE PAST," he yelled one day from the porch, jingling keys in his hand. This tactic puzzled me, but I remained firmly planted in front of the television, refusing to give

A week later, when my parents didn't return, I understood. It was time for me to find a home of my own, to go out and start my life. My pop made certain I'd do it by selling the house, moving out of town and leaving no forwarding address.

Forced to face the hard realities of workaday life, I got out of bowling and into sports. I now have a home of my own, with a wife and two cats

MY POP'S words remain a constant companion. Each and every day, I go home and tell my family, "You can't live in the past." My wife believes me. She's back in college, working on her degree

The cats, I'm not so sure about. But the past still fascinates me. Particularly at this time of year, when people are expected to tumble back in time. It's homecoming, you know. High schools are preparing for returning alumni. High school administrators are hoping returning alumni don't retreat too far into the past and start behaving like they did in high school.

Needless to say, my pop hated homecoming. I used to think he hated it because I liked it so much. True, I did overcelebrate. I would scan the newspapers, searching for homecoming football Anyone's homecoming. I wasn't particular.

DIFFERENT SCHOOLS had different homecoming traditions, of course, so the proper pre-invasion intelligence data had to be gathered. For instance, at my high school, homecoming always seemed like Halloween. Our football team won something like three games in three years, losing by embarrassing margins.

Parents would show up for our homecoming games, but by then the losses had started to mount. Fearing they'd be forever identified with a loser, some parents started wearing masks. The practice caught on, and soon the stands were filled with a bizarre array of grotesque figures. When players would ask their fathers if they had seen the game, they'd get an answer like, "Sure — didn't you see me? I was the best-looking Frankenstein in the third row!'

When the game became too painful to endure, parents could always hire someone to sit in the stands wearing their disguise. I paid for half of my college education garbed in a devil's mask, giving parental guidance to someone else's kid.

THE BEST camouflage for infiltrating another school's homecoming was a letter jacket. Put one of those on and you could chum around with the star quarterback from a few years before, talking all night about that "touchdown pass you threw me against Central. That was a beaut, remember?

Most quarterbacks wouldn't argue, even if they didn't remember. But if they did question my identity, I'd say, "How could you recognize me? I was wearing a helmet."

Letter jackets weren't easy to come by, though. You could buy one, but that took money. You could make one, but that took time and effort. You could steal one, but that took cunning and

I usually lied. I'd wear any letter jacket I could find. When someone asked what school my jacket was from, I'd explain that it was my dad's, and that the school's colors used to be navy blue and yellow, not brown and gold. "This is North Farmington," some would protest suspiciously. "What's that "T" stand for?" I'd answer indignantly, "This wasn't always known as North Farmington, dummy. Don't you know anything?"

AH, HOMECOMING - what fun I had, particularly at other schools. I could be whomever I wanted to be by merely choosing a name from an old yearbook. My past was as engressing as I wanted to make it. I could be a former house of them.

former hostage from Iran or a pilot trainee for the space shuttle.

Homecoming is a license to reminisce, even if most of the recollections are pure fabrication. Everyone should indulge. But remember, too, my father's stern warning about living in the past.

If it's too difficult to abandon the past and return to the present, think about this — as much fun as you thought you had back then, look how hard you worked to escape it.

Late goal stops Salem

By Chris McCosky staff writer

One of these days the Plymouth Salem soccer team is going to beat Livonia Stevenson in Western Lakes play one of these days.

That day was not Monday night, however, as the Spartans took a huge step toward clinching the Western Lakes title with a dramatic 2-1 victory at Salem.

The winning goal came with 19 seconds left in the match. Jim Kimble let go a strong shot at the Salem net that deflected off a Salem defender, off the goal post and onto the foot of Steve Karfis who buried it past a sprawling Joe Knoerl in the Rocks' net.

"This was a great win for us," said Stevenson coach Pete Scerri. "It's No. 155 for me at Stevenson, and it puts us in good shape in the league."

Salem came into the match trailing league-leading Stevenson by four points. The win gives the Spartans a six-point bulge with five league matches remaining.

"WE COULD not have played any better," said Salem coach Ken Johnson.

To that, Scerri replied, "Plymouth Salem always gives us trouble. When we play Salem I tell myself that we are going to win, but try to tell that to my

It was as close a soccer match as you'll see. The action was end-to-end, non-stop for virtually all 80 minutes. Each team tried to beat the other with fast breaks and long through-passes.

"You can't dominate Stevenson, they're too fast," Johnson said. "We practiced the break, and the kids were up for it. After the half is where we could have won the game. We got the goal and had five or six other good gutsy play of Knoerl.

"One of the things he does best is come out of the goal and break up the rushes," Johnson said. "He's a hockey

STEVENSON GOALIE Dan Millner got his chance to shine in the second

Ted Hanosh tied the score early in the half after taking a nice pass from Steve Hanson. The goal lit a fire under the Rocks and for the next 10 minutes Millner was swarmed.

He was equal to the challenge, stopping seven shots, including one from Mike Tanner — a blistering shot from five yards out.

For the final 20 minutes, each team traded golden scoring chances. Dave Dameron, Tim Stahl, Hanosh and Ebon Nash attacked the Stevenson goal, while Mel Karfis, Steve Karfis, Christian Amborg and Kimble applied the pressure to the Rocks' goal.

"You have to give that man credit over there," Scerri said of Johnson. 'Year in, year out there isn't a more consistent team than Salem. They are really under-rated."

The Rocks are now 5-1-4 in the league and 7-2-4 overall.

SCERRI WASN'T as kind speaking about the officials. Both he and Johnson were disgusted with the way the game was controlled, and both filed grievances after the match.

You were here. You saw for yourself how bad the officiating is," he said. "It's just a tragedy when you have the level of soccer players we have and such bad officiating. These guys couldn't referee in little leagues."

Jurek among EMU leaders in tackles

Two Plymouth Salem graduates are making their marks in college football this season. Scott Jurek is Eastern Michigan University's third leading tackler. The sophomore linebacker has 13 solo hits and 19 assists, with two tackles for losses.

Dave Houle, a sophomore from Salem, filled a big role at offensive tackle for Michigan State in Saturday's 35-31 loss to Iowa. Houle helped open holes for running back Lorenzo White, who gained 226 yards.

SPARKLING SUB

Last Saturday started like any other game day for Ken Kish, a junior back-up quarterback for Albion College. He figured he'd be on the sidelines, cheering his Briton teammates to victory at Ohio

The script changed when starter Dave Yaw became ill and could not play. Kish, a Farmington Harrison grad, got the call and responded with a solid performance in Albion's 25-13 victory, which raised its record to 3-1.

Kish completed 10 of 16 passes for 136 yards, including a 7-yard scoring strike to split end Bryan Crosby. He suffered one interception.

• TITAN LEADER

Ken Dubois, a sophomore at University of Detroit from Livonia Stevenson, continued to pace the Titan cross country team last weekend at the Notre Dame Invitational. U-D placed 13th out of 24 teams, with Dubois taking 26th overall in 25:27.3 over the five mile course. Tom Zakrzewski, from Redford Catholic Central, placed second for U-D and 60th overall (26:04.4).

In six events this season, Dubois has been U-D's top finisher every time, with a best clocking of 25:02 (at the National Catholic Championships) and a best overall finish of ninth (at the Akron Invita-

Poor officiating dilutes soccer

ETE SCERRI is absolutely correct. Mike Morgan is correct.

Ken Johnson, Paul Scicluna, Ed Bartram, John Neff, Cathy Cole - they are all 100 percent, on-the-nose, correct.

The level of officiating in high school soccer in the Observerland area stinks.

It's awful. Pitiful. The coaches have been saying this all year. They've been complaining in the newspapers, and they've been complaining to their respective athletic directors. Their beef is simple: The level of officiating is far below the level of soccer talent in this area. And the officials are ruining the game.

The athletic directors, for the most part, have not been sympathetic with their coaches. The standard reaction from ADs is to reprimand coaches for blasting officials in the newspapers, on the field, or

I'VE WITNESSED four soccer matches this season. Colleague Brad Emons another four. In virtually every match, the officials lost control of game situations.

The worst was Monday night. Plymouth Salem and Livonia Stevenson battled in a key Western Lakes match. The players were hustling up and down the field, but the officials could not keep up the pace. They were out of position most of the night. Free kicks and indirect kicks were mysteriously, seemingly arbitrarily, awarded - especially late in the match. Both teams were confused and angry. It got to the point where every officials' ruling was challenged either by a player or a coach.

The result was a dramamtic 2-1 win for Stevenson and the 155th win for coach Pete Scerri. But afterward, before congratulating his players, he corraled the officials.

"Why don't you referee little league before you come referee here?" he raged at one official. "You are doing an injustice here.

The referee's feeble repy: "Why don't you referee

I'M NOT going to list officials' names in this story because I don't feel these men are the villains. They don't referee poorly on purpose. They are simply unqualified to officiate at such a high level

The villain in this case is the Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSAA).

All you have to do to become a high school soccer official is fill out an application with the MHSAA. There is no formal test required. No previous experience is needed, and, as far as the state is concerned, no knowledge of the game is requisite.

The MSHAA requires its basketball and football officials to take a test. Baseball umpires have their own governing association. But anyone who wants to, and can sign their name, can referee soccer.

This, to me and to all the coaches in the area, is an outrage. Players devote a large part of their young lives to developing their soccer skills. Why should their talent be upstaged, diluted in some cases, by shabby officiating?

THE MICHIGAN High School Soccer Coaches Association needs to go before the MHSAA and fight tooth and nail to improve the state of officiating in their sport.

And athletic directors, instead of chastising the coaches for their criticism of the officials, should stop hiring officials that draw the complaints.

The coaches are not crybabies. And they are not poor sports. They are concerned that the poor quality of officiating is ruining their game.

Weary Salem bounced from state tourney

Canton, with a 6-3-1 league record, trails undefeated league-leader Stevenson by seven points with five league matches remaining.

The first time Canton played North it fired 46 shots on goalie Dennis McCarthy and only scored twice. Fitting then, that with only eight shots Monday the Chiefs were unable to beat the talented McCarthy.

"Our defense was very stingy," Cole said. "We kept the ball out of midfield which is their strength."

With 10 minutes left in the game, Jorge Lopez knocked home a throw-in pass from Karsten Fetton for the lone goal of the match. For North, 4-6-1 in the Western Lakes, it was an energizing way to kick off a four-game-in-four-day

"We'll play them one at a time," Cole said. "We'll eat, drink and sleep soccer."

PRE-REGIONAL MATCHES

PLYMOUTH CANTON 2, DEARBORN 0: Brad Neville and Steve Morell teamed up on both goals Tuesday to advance Canton to the pre-regional draw. The Chiefs will host the winner of the the Northville-Ypsilanti qualifier next Tuesday.

Neville scored the first goal on an assist from Morell in the first half. In the second half, Neville assisted Morell.

Dean Barbario registered the shutout in the Canton nets. He turned away six shots. Canton is 9-4-1 overall.

BRIGHTON 1, PLYMOUTH SALEM 0: It's over for the luckless Rocks. Keith Murphy's goal 10 minutes into the second half was all state-ranked Brighton needed. The Rocks (8-3-4 overall), coming off a tough loss to Stevenson Monday, missed several good scoring chances in the first half. "We're still a little dead from yesterday," Salem coach Ken Johnson said Tuesday night. "Brighton's a good team; quick and aggressive.'

It marked the first time all season the Rocks failed to score in a match.

NORTH FARMINGTON 3, FORDSON 2: Paul Najar's goal early in the second half provided the margin of victory for the resurgent Raiders (4-6-1), winners of three straight matches.

Zack Beim scored once and earned an assist Karsten Fetton scored on an assist from Najar. Monty Najar also drew an assist.

North will travel to Milford in the pre-regional Tuesday.

CATHOLIC CENTRAL 5, HARRISON 0: Casey Burke and Brent McViegle combined for CC's fifth shutout of the season. CC will host Ann Arbor Huron in the pre-regional Tuesday.

Tom Goodwin, Brent Wasik, Jamike Rama, Brian Raftery and Dan Jakubowski scored for the Shamrocks (11-2-3).

Harrison lost a Western Lakes match to Livonia Churchill Monday, 2-1.

ANN ARBOR PIONEER 2, FARMINGTON 1: After a convincing 7-0 pounding of Royal Oak Dondero Monday, the Falcons came up a bit flat Tuesday.

"We just didn't play up to our potential," Falcon

Chris Hackman, who scored three goals Monday, brought Farmington even with Pioneer halfway through the second half. But, with 1:30 left, Pioneer scored the game winner.

Salem 3rd in WLAA

Bill Dorough's 78 and Kirk Goetzke's 81 propelled state-ranked Livonia Churchill to the Western Lakes Activities Association golf title Monday.

The Chargers teamed for 410 strokes at the tough Willows Metro Park Golf Course near Trenton. Walled Lake Western was a close second (415). Livonia Stevenson and Plymouth Salem tied for third with 426 strokes.

The course was made doubly tough by challenging pin placements and finely contoured greens. Dorough and Western's Brent Kish shared medalist honors, each firing a 78.

Rounding out the All-WLAA team (first five) were Northville's Kirk Winbish (79), North Farmington's Chris Bayer (79) and Salem's Jeff Speaks (80). See below for complete results.

Churchill's other scorers were Dean Kobane (83), Drew Placzek (84) and Steve Dixon (84).

Where Bob Wasczenski goes, no one

Yesterday it was East Lansing. Today it's Toledo. And tomorrow it could very well be Chicago.

Wasczenski has always been a traveler, always looking for a spot to im-prove his position. That's what led him from Plymouth Canton, where he was the star of a mediocre football team, to Farmington Harrison, where he was a good player on a great team.

He went from Harrison to Michigan State University, where he received a scholarship as a wide receiver. In hisfreshman season Wasczenski caught three passes, including two in the Cherry Bowl, one covering 36 yards for MSU's only touchdown.

PROMISING future beckoned, but Wasczenski decided not to stick around for it. He left MSU following the season-opener against Arizona State, transferring to University of

"They weren't throwing the ball at all," Wasczenski said from his room at U-T. "I was under the impression, from (MSU) coach (George) Perles, that they were going to throw the ball 30 to 40 times a game. I think in their first two games they averaged about

"I felt I was out of place there. They weren't throwing to me." So Wasczenski left, perhaps surrendering a year of eligibility because he felt his talent wasn't being used. HIS FATHER, Leonard Wasczenski, agreed with the switch. "They were giving him quite the shaft there," the elder Wasczenski said. 'He'd had enough of State. "He told me what was going on and asked me what I thought. I went and watched State's practice a couple of days, staying out of sight. No one knew I was there. They didn't throw the ball to him twice in three days of practice.

Bob is certain he'll get a better opportunity with Toledo. NCAA regulations prohibit his playing with the Rockets until next season. He is hopeful he will still have three years of eligibility remaining.

'We have to write some letters to the NCAA," Wasczenski said. "I'm 90

people in sports

percent sure I'll have three years left."

IF HE'S AROUND long enough to use them, that is. Wasczenski said he is being courted by the Chicago Cubs for his baseball ability. He contemplated a contract with them, but a major league baseball rule prohibits the signing of college students, who have not finished their junior year, for 120 days after they leave school.

That's when Wasczenski opted for U-T, one of the few schools that, like MSU, starts class late in September, allowing Wasczenski the opportunity to transfer and begin immediately.

'I've been thinking about (transferring) since spring," said Wasczenski. "I thought I'd wait and see how things went in fall practice."

HIS MOVE may have been hasty, considering MSU's passing assault at Iowa Saturday. But Wasczenski doesn't think so.

"I haven't had any second thoughts at all," he said. "They had to do that (against Iowa) if they were going to have any chance to win. (Tailback) Lorenzo White was taking a beating back there.

"Still, I was surprised they put the ball up so much."

Wasczenski isn't worried what people might think regarding his gypsylike wanderings. Following his junior year at Canton, his parents bought a house in Farmington, which gave him the opportunity to play football at Harrison. They still own houses in Canton and Farmington.

Bob Wasczenski CC faces stiff test in Rice

Looking strictly at the records, it appears that unbeaten Redford Catholic Central (5-0) is an overwhelming favorite to beat rival Birmingham Brother Rice (1-4) in Sunday's Boys Bowl clash at Pontiac's Wisner Stadium.

But don't let Rice's record deceive you. The Warriors have played one of the country's toughest prep football schedules.

Rice has lost to the No. 2-ranked team in Illinois, Chicago St. Rita; the No. 2 team in Ohio, Canton Glen Oak; and two state-ranked teams from Michigan, Lansing Sexton and Warren De La Salle (21-14

Rice, sporting a vaunted passing attack, poses numerous problems for CC.

Quarterback Kevin Sullivan has hit 100 of 167 passes this season for 1,009 yards and eight touchdowns. His favorite receiver is David Plunket, who has 33 catches for 326 yards and four TDs.

CC COACH Tom Mach said Sullivan belongs in the same category as former Rice greats Jon English and Dave Yarema.

"He (Sullivan) is equal to any of them," Mach said. "He feels out his receivers real well. When he can't pick out his primary man, he'll find the secondary man. They like to throw to the backs as well. They often send out five men out on a pat-

In a 15-0 triumph last week at Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher, CC's defense limited the Lancers to a mere 38 yards total offense.

"Most of the coverages we use have already been put in," Mach said. "We've faced over 100 passes CC's secondary of Ken Wandzel, Jeff Brand, Pat Nolan and Mike Valvona have been stingy. Mach admits that Sullivan and Co. will add even more pressure on the four Shamrock defensive backs. "We have to put pressure on the quarterback and try to disrupt his rhythm early and make him work harder," said the CC coach. "If he (Sullivan) gets

FRIDAY GAMES

W.L. WESTERN at LIV. CHURCHILL (7:30 p.m.): Both teams are in a must-win situation as far as the Western Division race is concerned in the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA). Walled Lake Western was shocked last week by Northville, 31-6, while Livonia Churchill may still be reeling from its 17-3 defeat against Farmington Harrison. PICK — Churchill stays in the chase.

LIV. FRANKLIN at NORTHVILLE (7:30 p.m.): A loss would put Livonia Franklin out of the Western Division race. It's the first meeting ever between the two schools. Anything could happen. PICK — Franklin stays in the hunt, says Ernons. McCosky counters with Northville WSLD, JOHN GLENN at W.L. CENTRAL (7:30 p.m.): Is unbeaten Westland John Glenn living on borrowed time? Running back Tony Boles is due to break loose. Walled Lake Central (4-1) could get back in the Lakes Division race with a win. PICK — Glenn makes it 6-0.

N. FARMINGTON at PLY. SALEM (7:30 p.m.): It's a battle between two teams going nowhere in the Lakes Division. Plymouth Salem (1-4) was embarrassed by Farm-Ington, while North (2-3) lost a heartbreaker in three overtimes to Walled Lake Central. PICK - North gets two

HARPER WOODS at CLARENCEVILLE (7:30 p.m.): This is a game Livonia Clarenceville can win. Both teams are looking for their second Metro Conference victory. PICK — Clarenceville gets No. 2.

JACKSON LUMEN CHRISTI at GARDEN CITY (7:30 p.m.): Perennial state Class B power Jackson Lumen Christi is yet another tough opponent on Garden City's schedule. The two teams have a common opponent. GC lost to Bishop Gallagher, 34-6, while Christl was beaten by Gallagher 10-7. PICK -- Garden City falls to 1-5.

REDFORD UNION at MASON (7:30 p.m.): Coach Jim Gibbons takes his 4-1 RU Panthers to the Lansing area to face a 3-2 Mason team, which is coming off a 7-6 victory dogs rely on defense and the running of junior Chris "Glor-die" Howe. RU needs to get injured tackle Jerry Manus back in the lineup. PICK — Mason beats the Panthers.

WAYNE MEMORIAL at TRENTON (7:30 p.m.): The Zebras (2-3) got back on the win track last week, beating Belleville 21-0. Unbeaten Trenton will be without longtime coach Jack Castignola for the first time in 30 years. He entered the hospital Monday for surgery. His team is on a roll after dousing previously unbeaten Dearborn Fordson last week, 27-0. PICK — Trenton marches toward the

SATURDAY GAMES

LIV. STEVENSON at FARMINGTON (1 p.m.): Livonia Stevenson (1-4) played its heart out in a 7-0 loss last week to unbeaten Westland John Glenn. Farmington is a hard club to figure. The Falcons have won two straight after losing its first three against unbeaten Southfield, once-beaten Harrison and unbeaten Glenn. PICK — Emons likes Stevenson, while McCosky says the Falcons

PLY. CANTON at FARM. HARRISON (1 p.m.): Winless Plymouth Canton isn't doing anything right these days. Farmington Harrison (4-1) gets a breather and appears to be in good shape to gain a least a share of another Western Division title. PICK — Harrison in a walk.

RED. THURSTON at D.H. ANNAPOLIS (1:30 p.m.): Redford Thurston (1-4) could escape the cellar of the Tri-River League with a win over winless Dearborn Heights Annapolis. The Eagles can't seem to score points. PICK — McCosky says Thurston finds a way to lose. Emons says the Eagles find a way to win.

BISHOP BORGESS vs. BISHOP GALLAGHER (2 p.m. at GARDEN CITY JR. HIGH): Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher (2-3) has played a tougher schedule than Central Division foe Redford Bishop Borgess (2-3). The Spartans, 1-1 in the Central Division, went with a new quarterback, Eric Emanuel, who threw a TD pass in a 26-13 win last week over Harper Woods Notre Dame. PICK - It's Gallagher over the Spartans.

SUNDAY GAME

ST. AGATHA vs. OUR LADY OF LAKES (2:30 p.m. at WATERFORD): This is a battle for first place in the C Division of the Catholic League. Redford St. Agatha (3-2) and Waterford Our Lady (3-2) have waged fierce battles over the years. Quarterback Jim Knittel is getting better each week for the Aggles: PICK — Waterford Our Lady has the

No. 10 holds the charm for Canton; Rocks win No. 8

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

Nobody needed a calculator to know the number 10 was the route to take in Plymouth Canton's win over North Farmington Tuesday.

The Chiefs, the No. 10-ranked girls basketball team in Class A, won their 10th straight of the season as they tugged past the Raiders, 43-29, in a Western Lakes gam Canton's No. 10, Diana Knickerbocker, was the team's leading scorer with 14 points. And only 10 points separated North and Canton until the final two minutes of play, which was a little too close for Chiefs coach Rob Neu. "This was a struggle," said a relieved Neu. "We had a hard time getting people to the open areas. And when we did, we couldn't score."

AT TIMES, the Chiefs looked sluggish offensively but provided the needed points to take the win.

The Raiders, 4-5 (2-5 WLLA), made Canton earn every dime of its 10th victory with a two-three zone in the early going. North's Heather McPhillips, with 19 points and 13 rebounds, put her two cents in as she drew fouls and kept the Raiders within striking McPhillips scored 10 of her points in the second quarter as North outscored Canton 12-10. She connected on two free throws midway in the quarter to bring North within six, 20-14.

But it was as close as the Raiders could get as the Chiefs opened with a 14-point rally in the first eight minutes. Knickerbocker was 3-for-4 from the floor with six points in the quarter.

"We got behind too early," said North coach Greg Grodzicki. "I played a lot of kids off the bench, and I was pleased with the way they played."

But his starting center, McPhillips, drew the Kentucky cloggers, country western and bluegrass lovers, square dancers and French Canadians are among those bound to recognize sounds and sights during "Music in the Glen," a concert of Irish champions sponsored by Comhaltas Ceoltoiri Eireann (Association of Irish Musicians) at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Oct. 18 at Orchestra Hall.

Featuring the cream of Ireland's traditional musicians, singers, dancers and storytellers - 20 in all - the Detroit concert will offer entertainment as ancient and unadulterated as an Irish mountainside. Detroit is among the 21 stops scheduled on the group's 26-day sweep of the U.S. and Canada. Other destinations include Boston, New York, Chicago, Phoenix, San Francisco, Vancouver, Winnepeg, Toronto and Ottawa.

Though Comhaltas revives for audiences reams of airs, ballads, reels and jigs that lightened the hearts of their ancestors, it wasn't always that way Along with language, education and reigion. Irish music suffered under British occupation and oppression — in fact it almost died out. Established in 1951 in Ireland to prevent that, Comhaltas has since grown to include more than 400 branches in Britain, Australia, Canada and the U.S.

JUST PLAIN fun lovers should enjoy what Comhaltas has in store: look who's gracing the mobile marquis.

Close Ties' misses the mark

Performances of the Spotlight Players production of "Close Ties" by Elizabeth Diggs continue at & p.m. Friday-Saturday, Oct. 11-12, at John Clenn High School Auditorium in Westland. For ticket information, call 729-6453.

By Victoria Diaz special writer

Elizabeth Diggs' touching drama "Close Ties," as performed by the Spotlight Players of Wayne-Westland, is a little frustrating. It comes close to being a really first-rate production but ultimately doesn't quite hit the mark. The players' rendition of the two-act play is fast moving and enthralling throughout, and certainly can't be considered a failure. It's more like something that simply doesn't measure up to the potential inherent in such a fine

Directed by Rosemary Moorehead, "Close Ties" focuses on Josephine Whitaker and her daughter and grandchildren, who are agonizing about whether or not to place the aging, sometimes confused matriarch in a nursing home (or, as Josephine refers to it, "an old fogies' home — where they put you in cribs").

As in life, there are not a lot of easy answers to questions raised here and Diggs' contemporary characters are, all of them, as endearingly imperfect as ourselves and our own families. Not only thought-provoking, but entertaining as well (even comical at times), "Close Ties" seems one of those plays you could see again and again and never really tire of. ALTHOUGH as the 84-year-old Josephine, Lois Tobin doesn't look, act or move as if she were nearly that old, these shortcomings aren't really all that important. What is important—and what detracts considerably from her nortrayal of the alderly Josephine her partrayal of the elderly Josephin - is a curious tendency to rush through comfortable in her role. Overall though, her Josephine comes perilously close to being one of those stereotypical elderly characters often referred to as "feisty" or "cute" - and Josephine deserves a good deal more depth than

Lorraine Parent as Josephine's granddaughter, Evelyn, fares some-what better. Playing a "bitchy grad student," who claims to hate her mother but who actually despises herself, Parent manages to evoke a great deal of sympathy for her self-centered character. "There's something tight as wire inside Evelyn," says her grand-mother, and most of the evening that's exactly how Parent portrays her young

In supporting roles, Gail Susan Mack as Evelyn's pretty sister, Anna, and Vicki Cravens as another sister, Connie, seem well-cast.

Russ Holderness as their younger brother, Thayer, provides much of the comic relief and has some of the best lines in the play. ("Those people are zombies," he says, speaking of the in-habitants of the local old folks home. "They sit in rocking chairs, and they don't even rock." Also, when asked by one of his sisters when he's going to get a job, he replies, "I don't want to get a ob. I want to get rich, and the two don't mix.")

ROUNDING OUT the cast are Jeanne Horvath as Josephine's well-meaning daughter, Bess; Lewis Sequin as Bess' husband; and John Eastman as Ira Benstock, Evelyn's Jewish boyfriend. All turn in adequate performances, although Eastman doesn't come across as especially Jewish. (It's not perfectly clear why Diggs has found it necessary to make the character Jewish in the first place, however.)

Sets, costumes, lighting are done well, as is makeup, with the exception of Russ Holderness's, which seems to have been done with an awfully heavy ROUNDING OUT the cast are

Uncle Louie's is neat place for bargain dining

Your traveling taster visits area loon is peppy, but better ventilation ateries and rates them on a 100- would do wonders for the air. General eateries and rates them on a 100point scale. Up to 30 points is awarded for ambiance (which includes general atmosphere and service), 55 points for food and 15 points for price/value. A total count of 55 points or less indicates a restaurant is not recommended, 56-74 points signifies from passing to good, 75-89 points designates very good with some extraordinary features and 90-100 points shows that a very special dining experience awaits you.

UNCLE LOUIE'S DINING SALOON, 25641 Plymouth Road, Redford (937-8220) is similar in appearance to many other popularly priced eateries. The smoke-filled room, busy bar, booths with oilskin tablecloths and short-skirted waitresses are designed to give Uncle Louie's a trendy feeling.

Uncle Louie's attracts a wide variety of diners, from mothers with small children to couples in jeans or jackets. Our table was not cleaned very well from the previous occupants. The sa-

Atmosphere — 15 points maximum. Points awarded — 9.

We visited Uncle Louie's on a week night. The restaurant does not take reservations, except for large groups, but we were seated immediately. Our waitress was as pleasant as she could be. Service was prompt, and we finished our meal, from drinks through dessert, in one hour. Water is not served unless requested, which we had to do several times. Unfortunately, our dinner rolls and butter were still on the table while we finished dessert. Service - 15 points maximum. Points awarded

Drinks were quite weak, and we were urged to "have another round," which may explain why water is not routinely served. Our plate of mixed hors d'oeuvres included batter-dipped mushrooms and zucchini, cheese sticks and chicken fingers - all for $3.50. The batter was very greasy, and we did not think the items were especially were considerably overcooked and good. The rolls were ordinary. Drinks, Appetizers and Bread - 10 points maximum. Points awarded - 4.

There are a number of salads on the menu. We sampled a small house salad. which was fairly fresh but uninteresting. Salad — 5 points maximum. Points awarded — 3.

The menu offers a selection of burgers, omelettes, Italian and Mexican dishes, ranging in price $4-$9. Daily specials, including fish, are also in this price range. We chose a Buster Keaton Burger at $3.75, with chili and cheese, and the Shrimp and Rib special at $8.95. The burger arrived mediumrare, as ordered, and with ample chili and cheddar cheese. The ribs, however, seemed to have been sitting in a steam table, waiting for the evening's orders. The criss-cross potatoes were more greasy than we like. Entree, Vegetables and Garnishes — 30 points maximum. Points awarded — 18.

There is a limited dessert selection of several varieties of cheesecake. We had the cherry cheesecake, which tasted as if it had come from the grocery-store freezer counter. Dessert and Coffee - 10 points maximum. Points awarded

Total cost for our meal was under $30 per couple, and we ordered heavily. An average dinner for two should cost about $20, with a drink or two, and that is not unreasonable.

From big to small, Chicago's rich in hotels

TTENDING a travel industry function in Chicago last weekend, I decided to do something that has been on 'want list" for four years: stay at the Mayfair Regent Hotel.

The Mayfair is one of those small luxurious hotels that were originally built as suite hotels for wealthy travelers who stayed in Chicago a month or two while visiting friends along the lakeshore.

It is on East

Shore Drive in what is known as the near north side,

Lake

half a block east of Michigan Avenue and The Drake, half a block west of Lake Michigan. I had spent an hour or two at the Mayfair on a couple of occasions once to have dinner at Ciel Bleu, a 19th-floor restaurant with a magnificent view, and once to tour the hotel for a story I wrote about the restored hotels in Chicago.

THERE ARE several such hotels, including the Knickerbocker, Rapha-el, Midland, Drake, Ambassadors East and West, Tremont, Whitehall, Barclay, Richmont, Inn of Chicago and now the Chicago Hilton. All but the Midland and the Hilton are north of the river, in what is called the Magnificent Mile.

On my first visit to the Mayfair Regent I met Biba Roesch, then concierge and now public relations director. She is an attractive, interesting woman from Copenhagen who keeps meticulous notes about the likes and dislikes of her guests in the tradition of Pearl Mesta, the "hostess with the mostest.

Roesch is full of wonderful tales about musicians who order baked fish at 2 a.m., the floral tastes of Placido Domingo and having tea with Danny Kaye in the grand salon.

When the 210-room Mayfair, originally the Lake Shore Dirve Hotel, was reopened as a luxury hotel five years ago by the Regent International Hotels, all of the wonderful old details of the original apartment hotel were restored and a few new ones

YOU CHECK in under a beautiful gold and white ceiling in a lobby filled with fresh flowers, and go up a few stairs to the salon for afternoon tea, Viennese coffee, cocktails or just to read your morning paper

Afternoon tea at the Mayfair Regent is a ceremony, the kind that tea inspires all over the world when tea drinkers gather to honor the brew. The setting is perfect: a large opulent room under a pink and cream ceiling, with murals and mirrors to background the grand piano playing softly in the afternoon. Tea is served every afternoon

The opening of the New Chicago Hilton and Towers marked the end of the most extensive hotel renovation in the nation. Nearly 60 years of grime was removed from the ceiling of the Great Hall to provide a proper setting for the 30-by-100 foot mural by artist A. Bonanno. The massive hotel complex (right) now has 1,620 guest from 3 to 5:30, tea carts rolled across the floor to your table, the tea of your choice made in individual china tea pots and served in china cups.

The story is that Mr. Twining, founder of the Twining Tea Co. stayed here several times and finally wagged his finger at the management for the way they served tea. Now it suits Mr. Twining very well, except for one thing - he doesn't like the tea cosies placed over every tea pot to keep the brew hot.

I LIKE my tea scalding hot and my only complaint during two wonderful days at the Mayfair Regent was that neither the tea in the lounge nor the coffee at breakfast upstairs in Ciel Bleu was quite hot enough to burn my mouth. I vote to keep the tea

The Mayfair Tea, at $9 per person, is definitely a small meal. Six tiny finger sandwiches, a pastry and a scone with cream and raspberry preserves, the way they serve scones in Devonshire, England.

All this is served with your choice of 15 teas and a silver tea strainer to strain out the leaves as you pour, of course. I'm a Devonshire Tea fan so I skipped the finger sandwiches and went for the scones and cream.

Afternoon tea is one of life's great pleasures, so I have enjoyed it in may settings: the Empress Hotel in Victoria, British Columbia, Canada; the Mulberry Inn in Savannah, Georgia; and the Grosvener Hotel in Chester, England, to name a few.

THE EMPRESS probably serves the most famous English tea on this continent. It serves a much larger spread of delicacies for the same price charged at the Mayfair, but the Mayfair wins hands down for the most beautiful setting.

The rooms are beautiful too, with some of those small touches only found in a luxury hotel: a newspaper outside your door in the morning, a limousine available from 7 to 9 a.m. to take you to your meeting, a knock on the door a few minutes after check-in and a pot of hot Chinese tea, with a plate of fruit, to welcome you "home.

All of these little luxury touches it certainly will appeal to any family cost money of course. Singles range from $155 to $175, doubles from $174 to $195. Like most hotels frequented by business travelers during the week, there are interesting weekend packages.

For more information, contact your travel agent or the Mayfair Regent at 181 East Lake Shore Drive, Chicago, IL 60611.

AN OLD friend came back from the grave in October when the decrepit old Conrad Hilton Hotel reopened as the glamorous new Chicago Hilton. The old CH was once the biggest hotel in the world, with 3,000 rooms. After more than $150 million worth of reconstruction, the largest hotel renovation in U.S. history, the new CH will hve 1,600 rooms, so the size of each room has doubled.

Construction has been going on in the building and on Michigan Avenue in front of the hotel for most of 1985, while Hilton and a group of private investors tore the place apart and put it together again. The Chicago Tribune recently referred to it as a positive example of cost overruns: the dollar signs went up, not because it cost more to do what was planned but because the investors kept upgrading the product.

ONE OF the unexpected decisions

was to leave most of the old bathrooms where they were. This means that a large number of the rooms have two bathrooms. Another unexpected decision was to upgrade the

be "double doubles," which means

two beds and two marble bathrooms.

Whether this makes any sense or not,

rooms will be finished at a rate of

That's probably not in your budget, to be the perfect hotel, as a cost of $27 million.

It had 3,000 guest rooms, a grand ballroom patterned after the Versailles Palace, and it took ten freight cars to bring in the 300,000 pieces of

The hotel went to war during the World War II, serving as a luxurious and spacious army barracks. Conrad Hilton bought it in 1945 for $7.5 million, renamed it the Conrad Hilton, and it dominated hotel life in the windy city until classier digs began to open north of the river during the last 20 years.

I have never stayed there, but I always thought of it as a white elethe rest of the herd moved on. What you will see there now is the Grand Hall with sixty years of grime removed from its muralied ceiling, and all of the marble columns restored.

The 24-karat gold leaf has been put back on the Versaille-inspired ballroom. There is a new eight-story parking garage, a new canopy at the front entrance. They are even redoing the street in front, so don't trip over the construction crews.

Sounds like the old grand dame is making quite a comeback.

By Corinne Abatt staff writer

Artistically and spiritually, few settings can rival Meadow Brook Hall for the exhibition of 36 masterworks from the Reader's Digest collection.

And an equally few collections rival the quality of this one, even though the works represent a small portion of the total acquired by Lila Acheson Wallace, who with her husband DeWitt Wallace, founded Reader's Digest in 1922. They continued as sole owners until he died in 1981.

"Selections from the Reader's Digest Collection" will be open to the public at Meadow Brook Hall of Rochester Oct. 18-22. In some of the eight cities on the international tour, it is open by invitation only

Included in the collection are oil paintings by Bonard, Braque, Cezanne, Chagall, Gauguin, Manet, Matisse, Modiglaini, Monet, Pisarro, Renoir, Seurat, Sisley, Soutine, Utrillo, Van Gogh, Vlaminck and Vuillard; sculptures by Brancusi, Giacometti, LaChaise and Picasso; pastels by Degas, Morisot and Vuillard; watercolors by Dufy; and a crayon drawing by Morisot.

MRS. WALLACE, born in Canada, daughter of a Presbyterian minister devoted her life and wealth to the sharing beauty. She began collection

In all, there are more than 3,000 works in the Reader's Digest collection, considered to be one of the finest corporate collections of Impressionist art in America.

There are parallels in the lives of the two women who made the showing of the collection at Meadow Brook Hall possible, Matilda Dodge Wilson, who with her second husband, Alfred Wilson, built Meadow Brook Hall, and Mrs. Wallace who collected the art.

Both were born in Canada of middle class families. Mrs. Wilson's father, George Rausch, brought his family to Detroit and operated a saloon. Mrs. Wallace, born in Canada, was the daughter of a Presbyterian minister. Both were avid gardeners and excellent businesswomen.

Both married sons of Presbyterian ministers and both were deeply involved in collecting fine art and sup-porting many areas of the arts. The Wilsons built Symphony Hall and Music Hall, gave the land and funds for Oakland University, and provided for the preservation of Meadow Brook

AMONG THE MANY Wallace philanthropies were the restoration of Monet's home at Giverny, outside of Paris, the Egyptian galleries at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the preservation of Boscobel, considered to be one of the most beautiful 19th century mansions in the country, the Metropolitan Opera, the Museum of Modern Art, the Martha Graham Dance Company and the Egyptian temples at Abu Simbel.

One of her quotes which served as a guideline for her art collection was, A painting is like a man, if you can live without it, there isn't much point in having it.'

It is said she had memorized her will and liked to quote it, "I, Lila Acheson Wallace, being of sound mind and body . . . spent it."

The first Holiday Gift Shoppe at Meadow Brook Hall is open now through Sunday, Oct. 20. Featured will be thousands of handmade items from crafters and folk artists from all around the county - a full range of gifts for weddings, aniversaries, births, birthdays house warmings and the holidays. The gift shop, in the Carriage House, is open 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. weekdays and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays.

Admission to Meadow Brook Hall includes the exhibition. Hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday, Saturday, Monday and Tuesday, 1-5 p.m. Sunday.

California look

Builder comes home

By Corinne Abatt staff writer

To many builder/developers, 40 acres equals 60 or more houses - to Robert Blake, president of Holly Development Company, 40 equals seven.

Blake, who grew up in West Bloomfield and went to California to make his fortune, plans to have seven homes on the 40 acres on the northeast corner of Maple and Middlebelt, Bloomfield Ridge.

The 30-year old entrepreneur decided on this kind of a project for several reasons. He has owned the land for some time. The Michigan economic climate is improving and he wants to make a statement in his home area.

THE lots are between five and seven acres each. The house, under construction now and being built on spec, is a 6,200 square foot California contemporary. The entire first floor will be travertine mar-

"I've tried to bring a little of California to Michigan," said Blake. "I condsidered putting condos on it, but the property was deed restricted. I could win in a court battle, but I didn't want to. I was raised in West Bloomfield. My parents still live here. This is our first project here . . . It's very important to me that this comes out really well.

"If these were built in California, they would be a million and a half, not including the land.

Then to explain a statement about not expecting to make a profit on the project with the houses on these giant lots priced at around a half a million, he said, "With the reputation I'll make from doing it, I'll make a greater profit in the long run.'

Blake said each house will have its own private drive. The 40 acres backs up to 30 acres of wetlands - flood plain that can't be built on, so the views of woods and meadows will always be safe.

The lot on which the house under construction is situated is 220 by 1,400 feet meaning there will be neighbors about 80 feet away.

BLAKE SAID, "Trees shield each house, but we want people to feel they have neighbors."

David Lubin is the architect. The house is open for visitors 2-5 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays. For information, call the real estate agent, Esther Sha-

The son of an Italian immigrant, his work has received national recognition, including praise from Nancy Reagan and one-man shows in the Wally Findlay Galleries and the G. Harvey Gallery. He also has a 15,000-member PERILLO FIRST became interested in art at the age of 4. In the midst of the Depression, his family was so poor that he rarely had white paper and he had to use espresso for paint.

"Before he went to bed, he used to tell us stories about American history,"

Perillo became intrigued by the stories and began to draw Indians on paper bags that his mother would iron for him. Perillo's interest in Indians grew and, as he started to do his own historical research, his artistic work im-

Perillo has spent a great deal of time learning. A high school drop-out in Sta-ten Island, N.Y., Perillo learned that he had to go back to high school if he wanted to study art.

Perillo finished high school and went to study at Pratt Institute, the School of Visual Arts and the Art Students

In 1950, Perillo met western artist Robert William Leigh, who had a profound affect on Perillo's technique.

"I was his only student for two years," he said. "He was my Mohammad Ali. He was my idol supreme."

HE ALSO worked for an ecclesiastical artist, painting murals of the crucifixion and the Last Supper. The elaborate costumes and symbols of tradition are similar to those of the American Indian, he said.

"It's almost the same subject," he said - "the earthly type."

Perillo got his first break in New York, where he got in an argument with a man who painted tug boats. The argument ended quickly and after seeing Perillo's work in a gallery, he was

From there, Perillo's career blossomed to its present success, with his work in 11 galleries in the nation.

According to Perillo, his highest honor came in Germany in 1983, when he represented America in honoring the mans on the Mayflower.

While Perillo's paintings were successful, Perillo has branched out into different mediums, including wood carving and sculpture. "I just finished a 650-pound bronze sculpture for the front of my house," he said. "It's an Indian horse raised in a cry of vengeance against the white man. I'm not hostile, I'm on the Indi-

PERILLO'S COLLECTIBLES range from $40 to $100 for plates and approximately $225 for lithographs. Most of his better-known works are of Indians, horses and wildlife.

Perillo's favorite work is "The Peaceable Kingdom," a plate with an Indian boy, a lion, a tiger and other animals living in an unthreatening environment.

"Chief Crazy Horse," a Chiefton series plate, has Perillo's face in place of the Indian face.

"In the series of Great Chiefs, I used great likeness (from photos)," he said. But I would give the faces the spirit of commander and chief."

Since there was no photo of Crasy Horse, Perillo thought his face would

ONE OF the most celebrated works is "Chief Sitting Bull." The plate shows the pride and courage of the American Indian, through the powerful facial image and headdress.

Although Perillo's pictures depict Indians in peaceful surroundings, Perillo knows that this is not the case today. He finds the situation of the comtemporary Indian sad.

Despite the recognition, openings and social gatherings that accompany a recognized artist, Perillo believes art means dedication. "If you've got dedication," he said, "that means you are in love, because you are obsessed.'

Although Perillo has philosophical artistic beliefs, he is not a sterotypical artist. One of his favorite hobbies is dancing and his favorite singers are Tina Turner and Madonna.

"I DANCE like Michael Jackson and John Travolta," he said. Perillo said that sometimes his whole family, including hs daughter, son and wife, dance together. He usually dances at 4 p.m., after working from 6:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. and running at 11 a.m.

Perillo's unique art has progressed into a book, as well as painting a picture titled "The Cowboy and the Lady," which is of the President and Nancy

He will also be a part of the PBS series "The West of the Imagination," which will feature the American West

According to Juanita Luther, who has been collecting Perillo's work for three years, all of the attention for his work is deserved.

"He introduced a lot of depth and beauty through everything that he does," she said. "He has given me a different perspective."

But for Perillo, recognition is not a ign that the work is com "I want to grow artistically," he said.

EQUITY LOAN

Unlocking Your Buying Power ...NOW!

What is an Equity Loan?

Many homeowners have accumulated money value in their homes over the years as a result of property appreciation or a reduction of their loan balance or combination of both. This money value is commonly referred to as Equity. An Equity Loan is a loan given on a percentage of that money value. This loan is secured by a first or second mortgage on the property.

What are the benefits?

- ☐ You can purchase a new home without having to first sell your existing home.
- ☐ You can take advantage of the equity in your home without liquidating other investments or drawing on your savings.
- You can obtain the loan approval prior to the purchase of your new home, thus giving you a negotiating advantage.
- ☐ You and your family will have peace of mind knowing the funds are available if and when you need them.
- ☐ You can use the loan even if you are moving out of town.

What are the features?

- ☐ One year loan term.
- □ Interest-only monthly payments calculated on an annual simple interest computation.
- ☐ Repayment of the loan principle balance upon closing of the sale of your home.
- OPTIONAL PAYMENT PLANS: 12 equal monthly interest payments or nine (9) equal monthly interest payments which allows for 120 days delay from the date of loan closing before your first payment is due.
- ☐ An optional payment feature on your present first mortgage for up to six (6) months.

How are loan amounts calculated?

The maximum amount of your equity that can be borrowed is 75% of the market value of your home, less any existing mortgage balance(s).

Depending on the available equity in your home, you'll have access to funds ranging from $5000 to $50,000.

How do I apply for an equity loan?

Real Estate One and its affiliated companies have made exclusive arrangements with a lender for this Equity Loan Program for the purchase of a new residence. Additional information for application can be obtained from any Real Estate One sales associate, or by calling and asking for Equity Loan information.
