A-team group shifts its gears

The A-team may be starting its final season in Plymouth and Canton.

The federally funded drunk driving detection effort, launched in 1983, has been hampered by dwindling police participation due to burnout and scheduling difficulties, at least in Plymouth, said traffic Officer Robert Henry.

Drunk drivers also are getting harder to find, Henry maintains.

Both Plymouth and Canton have been allocated about $5,200 for the budget year which began Oct. 1. The monies must be used for overtime.

"We don't have the manpower or interest," Henry said. "It will still work, but not on as large a scale."

Henry said he is currently the only City of Plymouth officer willing to work overtime specifically to deal with the drunk-driving problem. He said he gets out every other weekend.

"I think as people became aware of the program, drunk drivers got harder to find," he added.

Henry, though, believes that the program has served its purpose.

"WHILE ACCIDENTS are up, drunkdriving related accidents are down substantially," he said. The average breathalyzer reading when the program started was 0.15 to 0.16, he continued. Now, it's 0.11.

A reading above 0.10 is considered legally drunk.

Drunk-driving arrests and tickets increased dramatically the first year of the program in both Plymouth and Canton, Henry said, and even though those numbers declined significantly last year, they still were higher than before the program began.

He couldn't provide actual statistics.

Rick O'Toole keeps a watchful eye on comings and goings at Cen-

School security guard stands tall

By Alvia Lewis staff writer

His real name is Rick Brogdon. He's tried to use it in real life but it just doesn't work. Instead, most people know him as Rick O'Toole, the professional wrestler.

And if that doesn't ring a bell, you might remember him as one of the hosts of the "Ricky and Wicky Show," televised through Omnicom Cablevision on public access in 1981.

But it is his "real job," that of security and safety guard at Plymouth Can-ton High School, of which he is the

"I like my job," O'Toole zealously announced. "I think it's interesting and rewarding."

And he says the "kids," as he refers to them, like him as well. And well they should. After all, O'Toole stands 5-11 and weighs about 260 pounds.

"They respect me for just mere size, if nothing else," O'Toole said. "But the important thing is that I treat them like people and deal with them honest-

You have to romen er that in my job, I'm not only working about the physical surroundings, but 3,800 minds as well. I try to help make the atmosphere conducive to education, not to allenate people from education.

O'Toole's philosophy in the whole scheme of life is that people have to "learn their priorities and have respect for themselves and society."

And so in between talking with his kids and spending time with his wife, Karen, whom he said is his "best friend," O'Toole wrestles on a parttime basis for the National Wrestling Alliance.

If he had his way, he'd be wrestling full time, but in 1972 he was forced to get a "real job" as security guard because of a rib injury.

O'Toole began wrestling at age 15, a sport he took up as a child while growing up in Mount Healthy, Ohio, 12 miles northwest of Cincinnati. At age 19,

Canton teacher is suspended

By Diane Gale staff writer

A Plymouth Canton High teacher has been suspended without pay following a student's allegation that the teacher touched her buttocks and later made a remark about her body.

Norman Kee, assistant superintendent for personnel, said David Falzetti, an art teacher employed with Plymouth-Canton Community Schools since 1971, was first suspended with pay Oct. 8 pending an investigation of the alle-

An investigation uncovered enough information to take further disciplinary action, Kee said. As a result Falzetti has been given a six-week suspension without pay starting Oct. 15.

"We have made investigations have worked with the employee and his attorney - and have reason to believe that these allegations have some basis," Kee said.

Minister appeals talk by witch FALZETTI DENIES the allegations,

> A local minister said he plans to appeal the recommendation of a committee appointed by Plymouth-Canton school administrators to allow Marion Kuclo, a professed witch, to give a presentation next week to students at Plymouth Salem High.

The Rev. Thomas Pals, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Plymouth, said he will appeal the decision to Supt. Dr. John Hoben and, if necessary, to the entire school board. "I guess I would disagree with some of their conclusions . . . and feel they sidestepped some issues I raised," Pals said of the committee's report.

The committee didn't buy Pals' claims that Gundella (Kuclo) lacked academic credentials to address students, that allowing her to speak without rebuttal would violate academic fairness and that her appearance would besmirch the constitutional principle of separation of church and state.

"To take one of these strategies out of context is to cast a chill on all that is creative and innovative in the profession of teaching. 'Obviously, the school system has an

U.N. wins local endorsement at 40th birthday

By Doug Funke staff writer

The United Nations, established to ease world tensions, celebrates its 40th birthday today amid a growing concern about nuclear war and the proliferation of international terrorism.

Even though American interests often seem to take a beating in that forum, and the world hardly seems to be a safer place in which to live, local politicians, peace activists and community leaders unanimously believe that the U.N. can and should survive.

"Education has been important to the development of this nation," said Nancy Vernon, president of the Plymouth branch of the American Association of University Women (AAUW).

"If we stop communicating with each other, we stop educating ourselves and understanding other people," she added.

U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, and Rep. William D. Ford, D-Taylor, who represents Canton, concur.

"I THINK it's an appropriate place to have free discussions with our allies as well as our adversaries," Pursell said. "To that extent, I think it's a via-

'As all forums which try to emulate democracy, it's very inefficient," said Ford. "I think it's better to have long arguments than war every time you have a disagreement with somebody."

I think maybe we need to alter the framework a little - reduce veto power, make resolutions binding somehow," she said. "There needs to be consequences for resolutions."

Disbanding the U.N. would just muddy the peace process, she hypothesized.

There will come a day when we'll finally decide we can't fight an armed conflict," Pence said. "The risk of nuclear war is too great. We should at least have a mechanism in place for conflict mediation."

Many Americans are agitated about what they perceive as low return on this country's payment of $192 million to the U.N. - one quarter of that fo rum's annual budget. The U.N.'s seeming inability to deal with terrorism also raises doubts about its usefulness.

"IT'S DIFFICULT to monitor, control and resolve," Pursell admitted. "I think it's a natural agenda item. Terrorism is counterproductive to any nation in the world. It should be fully de-

One way to give the U.N. more teeth, Pence suggested, would be to suspend member nations for particularly outrageous behavior and deny them the spotlight of publicity there. "The U.N. is a tremendous propaganda machine."

Ford said he recalls that a majority of current U.N. countries didn't belong when the forum was established in

The temperament of some Americans may raise expectation levels to unreasonable levels, he suggested. "Americans like to have everything tidy - 'let's have a meeting and tie ev-the U.N.'s once bright hopes for peace have dimmed, they haven't died.

"If we tear it down, there will be nothing left and we'll have to start from scratch.

The only weapon left is non-violent conflict resolution, and the U.N. represents tremendous potential for doing that through mediation and negotiation," Pence said.

Ford concluded his analysis with this observation: "While the U.N. isn't a real bellringer of perceivable success in recent years as a peacekeeper, it's the only game in town.

Candidates speak to issues facing Plymouth

Women Voters of Northville, Plymouth, Canton, Novi offers the following voters guide on candidates for the Plymouth City Commision in the Tuesday, Nov. 5, election.

The League asked each candidate two questions and gave them a limit of a total of 200 words for both.

The League is a non-partisan organization whose purpose is to encourage voter participation in government by informing the electorate on issues and candidates. While the League will, at times, support ballot issues, it does not endorse support or oppose candidates for public office.

Eight residents are running for four seats on the Plymouth City Commission. The three top vote-getters will serve four-year terms while the fourthplace winner will be elected to a two-

The questions asked each candidate and their answers follows:

• Question: If you were to set the Commission agenda for the next two years, to which issues would you assign the highest priorities for Commission attention? Give reasons for each.

Anason: "1. Bring the full force of the city government to bear in an allout effort to convince the school board to preserve Central Middle School. 2. Restore our fire department rescue ambulance service. 3. According to national statistics, our police department is now undermanned because of the recent cuts. We must restore our police protection to the level of the average community of our size."

Bingley: "1. Establish a good line of communications with all citizens in our city: (a) To increase interest and participation at Commission meetings. (b) To eliminate the use of intimidation when a citizen appears before the Commission. (c) To supply necessary information through all medias, to help eliminate the voter apathy keeping them from the polls during elections.

"2. Continuous review of our departmental operations and budgets: (a) To be assured each department is operating efficiently and within the confines of their established budgets.

Gansler: "1. Budget: (a) Strive to confol spending through updating of probrams and services, such as — com-puterization of clerical functions. 2.

Following are brief biological sketches of the eight candidates for Plymouth City Commission in the Nov. 5 general election, as provided to the League of Women Voters of Northville, Plymouth, Canton, Novi:

• Anthony Anason: 26-year Plymouth homeowner; age 52; University of Michigan graduate, 1955, business administration; married, four children; coach, Plymouth Junior Basketball, nine years; manager, Plymouth Junior Baseball, three years; O.L.G.C. parish activities; PCEP Marching Band Boosters; Boy Scout and Girl Scout activities; Smith School PTA; Plymouth YMCA.

• William Bingley: Age 51; born Plymouth, Mich.; attended Plymouth and Northville high schools, Wayne State University and Lawrence Tech; member Engineering Society of Detroit, Plymouth Elks; former committeeman for Explorer Scouts; 21 years Northville Board of Appeals, seven years Northville Recreation Commission, past member Northville Housing Appeals Board; former precinct delegate in Oakland County.

• Karl W. Gansler, II: Currently vice chairman Zoning Board; city commissioner 1979-83; owner Rainbow Shop; member of Tree Board; member Plymouth Rotary; past president & life member of the Plymouth Jaycees; president, Michigan Association of Gift Salesmen; graduated from college 1966; born Aug. 21, 1941; married 22 years with two children.

e Robert L. Jones: 59 years old, born and raised in Detroit; married, three grown children; Plymouth resident since January 1982; degrees in engineering and law; employed by ANR Pipeline Co., group vice president; 36 years of business experience; member, Plymouth city planning commission; member committee to select a police chief.

• Don Keller: Bachelor of arts 1979, major economics; Plymouth Planning Commission, appointed 1982, chairman 1984, 1985; Plymouth Jaycees, joined 1979, president 1981-82; Detroit Edison, hired 1970, financial analyis department since 1982; married with two children; Western Wayne Chapter National Association of Accountants, joined 1983, board of directors 1984 and 1985.

• Robert L. Kroeger: Plymouth resident and homeowner for eight years; married with one son; Marine Corps veteran; master's degree Eastern Michigan University 1977; member Phi Kappa Phi honor society; teacher of U.S. history for 13 years, Plymouth-Canton Schools; volunteer firefighter, City of Plymouth, seven

e Jean L. Morrow: Born in Piggott, Ark., in 1922; served in U.S. Navy in World War II and the Korean War, employed at Monroe Steel Castings, Monroe, Mich., as finishing department superintendent. Uncle was mayor of Piggott and Morrow helped him in protocol, including Ernest

• William L. Robinson: College degree in business management and 40 years experience in that field, including chief executive officer of three major corporations. Political and civic positions held include: Planning Commission, City Commission, mayor pro tem, president Plymouth Housing Commission, president Plymouth Community Fund, finance chairman First United Methodist Church, and officer Colonial Plymouth Kiwanis.

4. Join with school, community services and others in the program to fight substance abuse by our young people. 5. Continue the program of property development, particularly in the northeast section of the city.

The reasons for each is to preserve and enhance life in Plymouth. In regard to the growing drug problem; the life of even one child is worth the effort. We should save many and try for all. The sellers will disappear when the customers no longer exist.

• Question: Elected representatives sometimes face conflicts between their desire to be responsive to citizen concern and their responsibility to act in the best interest of the whole city. How should the commission respond to the requests, demands, or pressures exerted by special interest acting individuals or in groups?

Robinson: "Every person, every group must be heard objectively and with full consideration. The desires of the commissioner in no manner should affect the decision. After full understanding and study, the primary consideration is the effect of the request on the majority of the people. If in the best interests of the majority, the request should be granted; if not, denied. If it will help a special group with no harm to anyone it should also be grant-should rely, on public hearings when confronted with concerned citizens in regard to situations that might affect the majority, and no decision should be made until this avenue has been exhausted. Every aspect of special interest groups should be studied to assure it would not become a burden on the majority and not affect the valuation of their property."

Morrow: "The City Commission are all in debt $2 million for it.

Kroeger: "There is only one interest group of importance: citizens."

Keller: "A commissioner is elected to represent all the citizens, for the best interest of the community. It is not always possible to know what constitutes the majority opinion, the most vo-cal is not always the majority. In the final analysis, an individual must follow what his conscience dictates is

Jones: "The Commission and specifically the individual commissioner should not represent any special seg-ment of our community but rather must represent the community as a whole. I believe that each issue, request, or concern should be addressed and solved on its own merits rather than a solution orchestrated by pres-sure from any one segment. It is important to maintain a balance between the various sectors of our community: residential, commercial and industrial such that each is contributing their fair Gansler: "Any citizen of our city, whether it be one person or 100, should be heard.

Each request should be judged on its own merits and dealt with as quickly as possible and acted upon in the best interest of the community."

Bingley: "I believe it is the duty and responsibility of every elected official to give courteous attention to all suggestions or complaints, weighing them on the balance of evidence, and evaluate them according to their bene-fit to the community, and how they will affect the general welfare.

I believe in majority rule, and true freedom does not permit any individual or groups to ignore the rights and privileges of others.

Anason: "Special interest groups sometimes are good for the whole community and sometimes their efforts are bad for us. An example of the latter is the parking structure which is the re-sult of special interest groups. No one else wanted it or needed it and now we

Neighborhoods: (a) A new priority on neighborhood programs; reaching a balance between neighborhoods and business. 3. Police and fire: (a) A continued updating of the Bartel program. An increase in manpower at the recommendation of the police chief or fire

4. Senior citizens: (a) An increase in funding of senior programs. (b) An allout effort to provide new housing at a reasonable cost for seniors. 5. Services: (a) Continued services to the citizens of Plymouth such as: leaf pick up, snow removal, street cleaning, etc. (b) Change all street lighting on our city streets to sodium vapor lights in order to cut electrical costs.

Jones: "The highest priority issue for the agenda is the efficient and effective use of our tax dollar. Like industry, our community is feeling the effects of competition from the surrounding communities for new residential, commercial, and industrial citizens. The effective balanced use of our tax dollar will help to meet the competition."

The second priority is the implementation of the long-term plan to main- tion. tain and replace, where necessary, the infrastructure; namely, the sewer, water, and roadway systems. It is far more costly to wait until it fails rather than adequately maintain it in an organized, planned manner."

The third priority is continual effort to enhance the communication process for letting the citizens know what is ing in our city government.

Keller: "1. Recently public services, police, fire and ambulance, have been focal points for Commission, community, and media attention. While much has been done in these areas, citizen's questions of how these services fit together and whether the present configuration is final or interim need clarifi-

2. In 1985 Plymouth's State Equalized Value decreased and sharing po-lice services ended. This placed serious strains on our city's budget. Future property value trends must be reviewed to forecast taxbase levels and property tax receipts so community operations can then be reviewed, prioritized, and planned. Plymouth residents' quality of life must be maintained to the extent revenues allow and citizens

3. Our citizens must be informed so they trust the actions community officials take. If citizens are informed, less time need be spent explaining and unnecessary conflicts can be avoided. Informed citizens supportive of their government will achieve greater cooperation and smoother community opera-

Kroeger: "1. Return basic city services to former standards: (a) Reinstating two firefighters; hiring fire chief. (b) Reinstating laid off policemen. (c) Return city fire department ambulance service. Reason: The primary concern of citizens in any community is basic services. It should be the primary job of any city government to provide those services.

2. Make the cultural center self-supporting if not a profitable city venture. Reason: Cities cannot cut basic services, as has been done, while supporting other ventures which drain its resources. The cultural center can be made self-supporting.

3. Work to save Central Middle School from possible extinction. Reason: Central Middle School provides many services for the citizens which cannot be replaced by a private devel-

4. Make city council and administration responsive, responsible and respectful to the citizens. Reason: Council should represent all citizens; the power of government belongs to them. The administration works for all citizens."

Morrow: "1. Maintain city police department at 20 officers because of the increase in crime. Recall two laid-off firemen and employ the present fire department ambulance service as the primary source. Examine other ways to balance the budget besides the federal revenue-sharing funds. Work to maintain our present school system with the school board or a satisfactory solution in regard to the city."

Robinson: "1. Maintain a constant vigil to assure that all municipal services continue their high level of service to all the people of Plymouth. 2. Continue street and sidewalk repair until completed. 3. Plan a program to repair and modernize the infrastructure.

staff writer

As he sat in the living room of his home on Blunk in Plymouth, the man who was christened William Carl Hartmen turned back the pages as he celebrated his 90th birthday.

"I'm really enjoying myself," he said. "I have no desire to go back to New York where I was born and I wouldn't go back. I wouldn't want to leave Plymouth, because I like it here and we have had many enjoyable times.

Rill, as he is affectionately called, has had some unusual experiences in Plymouth. First, when he arrived here from Benton Harbor in 1936, he and his wife and family couldn't find a home. So they moved to Northville.

Then, surprisingly, he was told that one of the Bennett homes on Main Street was available. When it came to renting, he was almost denied because he had children. But he was admitted and it wasn't long until they found their present home on Blunk.

BUT ONE of the real joyous moments he re-called was that he had been talked into running for the city commission. He won the race and later, through odd circumstances, he was recalled along with the other members.

But the real joy came when he ran for the office again and was elected. In fact he served three different times on the city's governing body.

The recall is listed as an oddity in the Plymouth city government way back in 1949.

As he recalled it, Ruth Houston Whipple was on the commission and always was the center of attention. One day one of her friends called City Manager Harold Cheek and told him that "there's a dead chicken on my front porch." In his usual style the city manager answered him, "Why don't you put it in a pot and eat it."

Mrs. Whipple was irked by this and organized a recall move of all commissioners. She offered to resign if the recall was successful. The move was successful and, of course, the commission had to be

EIGHT YEARS later Hartman ran again. His name had been bandied about for a spell so his name was not strange. As a result he won.

"Now I've slowed up," he explaned, "and walk downtown every Monday, Wednesday and Friday just to chat with the fellows at the round table in the Mayflower Hotel."

He smiles because he is the only commissioner who was recalled and then won again.

As he sat there awaiting his birthday, Hartman thought back to the days when he represented the Sinclair Refining Co. and was transferred from Benton Harbor to Plymouth.

He had worked here for a time and then worked out of Wyandotte. It was there he met his wife, Lillian, whose maternal grandparents owned the old Spruce Roost farm. It has been a happy union.

Hartman still serves on the Municipal Building Authority and is present at every meeting.

"I might be a little slowwr," he smiled as his birthday drew near, "but my enjoyment of life is just as great as ever and I'll be in for coffee as

Henry said he wouldn't be surprised to see federal funding end after this year. "When you don't put people out on a regular basis, the program won't be as good."

Still, the public has become aware of drunk driving through special enforcement efforts and seminars which is good in itself, said Henry, who's trying to drum up interest in a seminar next month at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

The Jaycees are general sponsors. Budweiser will provide a film and pamphlets. Ron Lowe, Plymouth city attorney, will discuss the law and Henry will talk about what he looks for when on the

SEVERAL PERSONS also will gradually get drunk under the supervision of authorities and then perform sobriety tests to demonstrate the effects of alcohol over time

"We'll let them drink in front of the public so they can see what they're drinking and see how their writing deteriorates, their speech deteriorates and coordination deteriorates," Henry said.

The veteran officer said he isn't really surprised that breweries are getting more and more involved in alcohol abuse seminars.

"Budweiser is very interested in making people aware of being responsible. Naturally, they want their sales to stay up."

Henry said he finds most drunk or impaired drivers are persons 18-40 years of age. Many are business or professional people who overindulge while entertaining clients or unwinding with colleagues.

Most are men, Henry said, but an increasing number of career-minded women have been stopped the last three years.

The seminar should be entertaining as well as educational, Henry said. "We're hoping to get several hundred people. We want to show you don't realize it, but when you drink, this is the way you get.

"When you have to go and tell people their son, wife or daughter is dead, it's a hard thing to do. My father was an alcoholic. I've got a personal crusade due to personal reasons and this job.

The seminar will run 8-10 p.m. Monday, Nov. 11. There is no admission charge.

Disagree with canceling camp

(An open letter to the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education).

For the first time last year, the 5th grade teachers and their students at Fiegel Elementary School took a weeklong field trip to Storer Outdoor Educa-

The program offered was so successful that a presentation on its merits was made to the other elementary school principals at the request of Shir-

Due to a change in administration philosophy, our request for the same field trip this year has been denied, even though conditions haven't changed

The reasons given for the denial are:
1. Plymouth-Canton is no longer involved with the 6th grade camp program. 2. Five days is too long away from basic academic subjects. 3. This cannot be provided for all 5th graders in the Plymouth-Canton schools.

SIXTH-GRADE camp was discontinued because it became a financial burden to the district. This experience is isers, community service organization donations and parents. No child is denied the opportunity for lack of funds.

Curriculum is a major concern for everyone. The program offered encompasses reading, social studies, math, any school that cares to undertake the science and the arts. It must be stressed that Outdoor Education is not just "camp," but an educational experience with important implications for the student both in the outdoors and back in the classroom.

Alternative classrooms are provided for those who do not wish to attend. At no time are they put down in any way for not attending.

Although five school days appears to be a lot of time, Plymouth-Canton Board of Education has recently set totally funded through student fund-ra- aside six half-days for teacher in-service in which all students will be away from "standard academics."

> We are not asking that this program become mandatory for all 5th graders. But it is a program that is available to necessary steps to prepare their class for this field trip.

THERE IS a lot of preparation by the teachers throughout the entire year. They choose the curriculum from the classes available from the center.

They then build classes around them in such areas as map reading, journal writing, learning about the settling of Michigan and its natives, and how to tell the weather by reading the signs of nature and, the most importrant part, how to identify a problem, plan a course of action and how to resolve the problem both as an individual and as a

In conclusion, we as parents feel that this is a program worth fighting for. The teachers went through all the proper steps to gain administration approv-

None of the reasons for denial are any more valid this year than last and

Don't exclude mentally ill

As a Canton resident and as executive director of the Mental Health Association in Michigan, I have followed with interest the Canton Observer's coverage on group homes.

While I appreciate the Observer's reporting on group homes, the coverage usually includes only the mentally retarded, not the mentally ill. A prime example of this is the Observer's October 3, 1985 editorial, "Group homes are gaining acceptance".

The Observer is commended for its positive attitude toward mentally retarded persons. The Mental Health As-sociation in Michigan would be pleased to see future coverage include both the mentally ill and the mentally retarded.

This decision ran contrary to the Christian Bible which emphatically states in Deuteronomy 18: 19-12 the following: "There shall not be found among you anyone that maketh his son or daughter to pass through the fire; or that useth divination, or an observer of times, or an enchanter, or a witch, or wizard, or charmer, or consulter with familiar spirits, or a necromancer; for all those things are an abomination unto the Lord."

A self-confessed witch named Gundella, whose real name is Mariannne Kuclo from Garden City, has been invited to speak to Salem High students on Oct. 30 which is "devil's night."

Gundella callously claims that she is searching for God. If so, why is she contradicting in action the words of the Bible? Is this not only a ploy for decep-

Atheists base their belief upon the conception that there is no God or devil. Because this is the rule of the public school system, why is the religion of witchcraft permitted? Why the discrimination against Christianity? The claim that "invitation of Christian clerics may cause a problem" is a gross violation of justice.

"If God is outlawed, why not Satan also?" is the question sensible Americans are asking and want implemented. Witchcraft is not a true science; therefore, it has no place in academic institutions. Why is real wisdom being suppressed, but fantasies and corruptions exalted? Would not a holy night be more logical than a devil's night?

Sonny Venkatrathnam, former political prisoner, speaks to students at Plymouth Salem High.

Apartheid foe speaks at Salem

staff writer

The horrors of life in present day South Africa were brought to life at Plymouth Salem High last week via Sonny Venkatrathnam, an Indian who in 1963 was arrested, detained, tortured, and imprisoned for the financial support of his political party.

Speaking Friday morning to a crowded library of about 400 students and guests, Venkatratham, invited to speak by the National Honor Society and Students Against Apartheid, told of the horrors enveloping his country.

Venkatratham opened with a brief breakdown of the four racial groups in his country, stressing the fact that all groups are separated by both "law and

"In South Africa, there are four racial groups, the whites, the coloreds, the Africans, and the Indians," said Venkatratham, who pointed out that while 25 million people live in South Africa, the"predominant" group is the VENKATRATHNAM ASKED the group to look back in history for just a few minutes, pointing out that racism has existed in South Africa "since the whites landed in 1652.

"And in 1948 the English speaking majority passed the Homelands Policy, restricting where people could live, subjecting them to despicable living conditions. The Group-Areas Act of 1956 determines where each racial group lives," Venkatrathnam said. "So as you can see, the present apartheid system, imposed upon people by the white majority regime, is not a new Venkatrathnam said that in the past his people have not fought challenges, that they were raised to view the white man as superior. The present genera-tion, however, is "frustrated and angry," thus, the anti-apartheid move-

"They read the newspapers, they watch the televisions, and they listen to the radios," Venkatrathnam said. "Today the uprisings are more sustained and more militant. It used to be that they were asking for higher wages or the right to go to school. Today they are demanding total freedom."

VENKATRATHNAM, A 1962 graduate of the University of Natal, Durban, with a bachelor of arts in general studies, was arrested while teaching at an Indian high school.

Of his time in detention and of the torture he sustained while there, he said, "If any one gave me the choice between one month in detention and 20 years in prison, I would glady take 20 years in prison."

Venatrathnam also spoke of murders, bloodshead, and rapes, all doings of the white police. "I know of a 67year-old woman who was raped, of townships that were invaded, and children who were shot with rubber bullets weighing one and a half pounds."

"It is truly a sad situation. Our people are throwing stones and the army is fighting back with guns," Venkatratham said.

In closing, Venkatratham asked the students to start thinking about oppression not only in South Africa but "all

County eyes clean up of household chemicals

staff writer

Wayne County has received funding from the Environmental Protection Agency to stage a household chemical waste clean-up next month at a western Wayne County collection site.

The clean-up targets discarded substances commonly found around the house, including such substances as antifreeze, pool chemicals, cleaning solvents, paint thinner, herbicides and pesticides, as well as art and hobby supply chemicals.

County health officials are asking residents to collect these so-called "household poisons" and deliver them to the one-day collection site at the Livonia Bentley High School parking plies.

lot, located on Five Mile, one-quarter mile east of Farmington Road. The collection will run 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 16.

THE OBJECT of the effort is to awaken the public to environmental and public safety concerns associated with often toxic household chemicals, said Bruce Davis, assistant director of the county health department's environmental health division.

Nationwide, thousands of children are poisoned each year after swallowing chemicals found in household cleaning solutions and other dangerous products. There is concern, as well, for the unregulated dumping of household chemicals into ground and water sup-

"Industry and commercial (businesses) are regulated for toxic waste but there is nothing for households," Davis

THE LIVONIA collection effort follows an earlier Downriver one that took place in Southgate. Though poorly attended with only 11 cars driving in for the day, it emphasized the presence of hazardous substances found in residential areas.

A resident from Northville, for instance, delivered 30 gallons of the highly toxic herbicide, Agent Orange, to the Southgate collection site. According to Davis, county officials then took it to a haulers facility to be indefinately stored. There is no EPA-allowed disposal plan for Agent Orange at this they should be," he said. Davis stressed that the EPA currently licenses incinerator plants and land-fills for the particular kinds of substances that can be brought there. But many hazardous chemicals still find their way in either through inadequate checking or public unawareness of their dangers.

"NOT MANY companies are licensed to accept such waste materials so some (of what's collected) will be taken to Chicago where there is an (EPA) licensed incinerator. The landfill we'll use is also in another state."

time, Davis said.

"This is just the beginning to get he's aware of in this area can dispose (household chemicals) funneled where of solvents, for instance.

And what can't be properly or safely disposed of will be stored, he added.
A $37,400 EPA grant is enabling the effort in Wayne County and the one in Kalamazoo. The health director said later whether this one-time project should become a recurring service.

"This is really just the beginning," he said. "It's just a drop in the bucket now." but if we don't start somewhere we won't get anything going."

ips given on disposing hazards

Certain household chemicals can be hazardous to health if allowed to contaminate the environment through the groundwater. The Wayne County Health Department has prepared some tips for disposing of some of these substances.

Waste Motor Oil - This product, which contains lead, can contaminate the groundwater and should not be tossed into the garbage, poured down the drain or buried. It should be recycled and reused. Most service gas stations will accept household quantities of waste motor oil. Meijers Inc. also has four Detroit area locations, including the Canton Township location at 45001 Canton Center Road.

Transmission fluid also may be disposed of with waste motor oil. Brake fluid may be disposed of with waste motor oil, or it may be poured down the drain with large quantities of water only if the household has no on-site septic tank system.

Gasoline - Contaminated gasoline should be taken to Petro Chem Processing, Inc., 421 Lycastle, Detroit, the only local firm known to accept this and certain flammable solvents in household quantities. The charge is nominal.

Pesticides and Herbicides - The health department stresses that these products should be used up. Afterward, the product container should be triple rinsed, then wrapped in newspaper and discarded in the garbage. If any of the product remains, it's advised to pass it along to someone who

If the pesticide is a banned product, such as DDT, then it should be taken to a hazardous waste landfill. The only existing one in the area is Wayne Disposal, 1060 Rawsonville Road, in Ypsilanti Township. The number is 697-7830.

Other questions about hazardous waste can be forwarded to the DNR Division of Hazardous Waste, 459-9180, or the Wayne County Health Department, 326-4900.

Wood preservatives should be treated as pesti-

Household cleansers, polishes, etc. - The health department advises that many of these products are toxic; therefore, they should be used sparingly because of environmental dangers. Non-toxic alternatives should be used when possible.

Paints — Paints containing lead should be taken to a hazardous waste disposal site (Wayne Disposal). Unused paint can be donated to charitable organizations such as these: The Salvation Army, St. Vincent DePaul and the Maintenance Central for Seniors, 12775 Linden, Detroit, 935-2640.

The proper method to dispose of paint is to evaporate it until it's solid and then disposed of it with the garbage.

Solvents - Paint sludge may be allowed to settle from solvents, the clear liquid poured off and used again. Solvents not needed should be either given to someone who could use it or taken to a solvent recyling center, such as Petro Chem Processing in Pool chemicals — Chlorine and pool acid may be diluted and washed down the drain. This is not recommended is a septic system is used.

Other general safety tips include: 1.) Keep chemicals away from head, children and pets. 2.) When trasporting hazardous materials, use the appropriate container. The original is preferred; and flammables require metal containers; corrosives, such as strong acid or base, require glass containers. When transporting more than one container, place them in a box lined with a plastic bag. Make sure the car is well ventilated if the substance is capable of producing fumes. 3.) Never mix chemicals. Strong reactions could occur. Mixing ammonia and chlorine, for example, produces poisonous chloramine vapor. 4.) In case of emergencies, the number for the Southeast Michigan Regional Poison Center for the Detroit area is 494-5111.

It's time to finish the job on library

Susan Rosiek assistant managing editor

HE TASK NEEDS to be finished. Earlier this fall Plymouth voters approved establishment of a library authority as a first step in providing independence and permanence for the Plymouth Public Library.

The second step is to approve the library board's request for 0.8 mills, or eight cents per $1,000 state equalized valuation (SEV), to operate the library

We were told quite clearly that establishing the district was only the first step and that the newly elected library board would be meeting to decide how to finance the library and return to voters with a

That second step is needed because a library cannot truly be independent of political forces unless it also is financially independent.

And so on the Nov. 5 ballot will be the proposal to levy 0.8 mills for the library. If approved, the levy will result in an annual cost of $32 to the owner of an $80,000 home - a more than reasonable charge for library services.

The eight-tenths of a mill does not represent a tax increase for city or township residents. In the City of Plymouth, one mill was earmarked for library services and so the proposed levy actually will be a tax decrease of 20 cents per $1,000 SEV. The decrease occurs, of course, because the millage is to be levied over the larger taxbase of city and township, not just in

The township did not levy an earmarked tax for the library but instead paid its agreed-upon share out of the general fund. That amount can vary from year to year and represents a different "millageequivalent" amount each year as the taxbase changes. For township residents the amount invested in library services was roughly equivalent 0.5 to 0.7 mills a year. Thus, if there is to be an "increase" for township residents the added montly cost is less than the cost of a half-gallon of milk per month. For the owner of a $80,000 house, the added cost is less than

THERE ARE things in life which have value and are worth paying for. A library

A library is of value to the secondary student who must do research for term papers in the evening or weekend hours.

A library is of value to the elementary pupil who can be introduced to the world of literature, either by individual visits or by programs such as the summer reading

A library is of value to adults who enjoy reading best-sellers, "how-to" books, automotive or tax manuals, or other research materials.

A library is of value to high-tech residents who can try out software on the library's computers before buying or can sign up to use time on the terminals for personal use

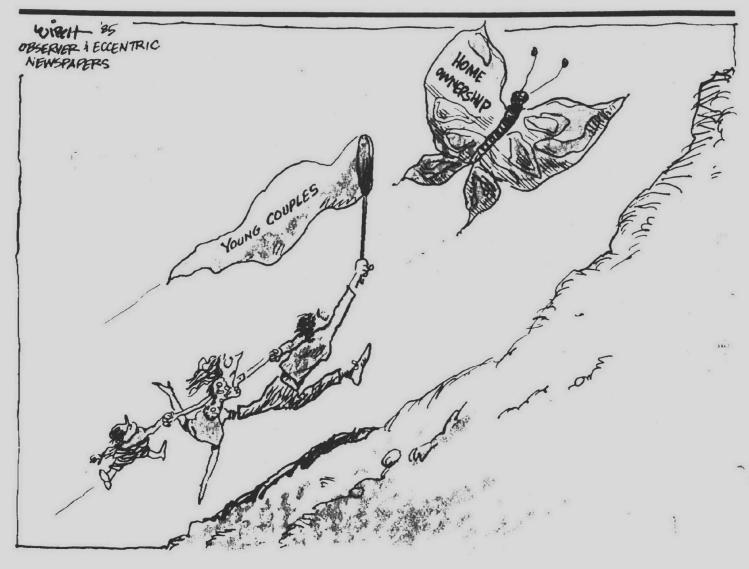

A library is of value to those who want information about the community and want to look at old newspapers or other materials on micro-film.

A library is of value to almost anyone in the community who needs information about a variety of topics in a variety of

Is the library valuable enough that we can afford to pay eight-tenths of a mill a year? We believe it is and think you agree with us. Agreeing, however, is not enough. If you support library services then you need to actually show up at the polls Tuesday, Nov. 5, and vote "yes" on the libary millage. There are not enough of the "other guys" around to depend upon. You need to vote Nov. 5.

The Plymouth Observer urges all city and township voters to approve the library millage. We endorse a "yes" vote, and we especially urge your appearance at the polls. It's time to finish the job we've started.

Pursuing impossible dream

WE'RE KILLING the middle class and that's a danger to the freedom that we have known in this country for so long. "The $24,000 lot is on its way out," said the newspaper clipping.

This bit of alarming news had passed my way via a concerned and obviously alarmed resident. More people should know, he noted.

"Sure enough," I thought rather cynically,"and so has the $3,000 car and the $20,000 home."

BUT A FEW weeks back I was mentally shocked out of my price stupor and reminded of how alarming the housing situation is for many. Once again, a newspaper article did the trick.

'Homearama '86: Builders showcase

This article featured the annual housing where several developers featured models they hope will entice consumers to buy. A natural-born browser, I dug right in to see

Sticker shock was too mild a word to describe the feeling. Those 14 models were priced anywhere between $400,000 and $600,000.

My mind skipped back to a few conversations I had with someone who lived in a place called Levittown.

crackerbarrel debate

Steve Barnaby

LEVITTOWN (actually there were three) was the brainchild of Abraham Levitt and sons Alfred and William. Their concept was to build an affordable house with all the amenities for a small, middleincome family. They primarily were built for GIs just home from World War II.

Sociologist Herbert Gans told us about it in his book, "The Levittowners."

His description sounds like something

"The houses were designed with young children in mind, with bedrooms just large enough to serve as playrooms as well, an extra bathroom for them and the kitchen located so mothers could watch their children play outside." But the dream just begins there.

The builder supplied all the kitchen appliances and absorbed the 5 percent settlement costs, built and donated the schools, subsidized its operation and still managed to price the homes so a GI and his wife could afford it.

BUT YOU'VE got to hear someone talk about Levittown to understand what it did for America.

My contact and her husband bought into the New Jersey development in 1949. They put down $400, paid $65-a-month house payments and $10 a year for water. She just kind of laughs when she talks about her $8,400 home. True it hadn't a basement or garage. But "each section had a village green and stores and very good schools," she says.

Levittown and its progeny were housing concepts that gave young Americans the chance to grow and to make a dream come true. Sure the scale was different. But maybe it was more sane.

Each year we build larger and more expensive homes that shut out more middle class families. Certainly a market exist for the half million dollar home. In every society since the beginning of time, rich people have been around.

But we must preserve the middle class. We must preserve a system that allows young persons to get a start on life - a chance to become part of the middle class.

If we continue on the road to more and more expensive housing, we could very well kill the goose that lays the golden

Residents speak on library choice

IN RECENT WEEKS the Plymouth Observer has received a number of letters from residents and community leaders supporting the library millage proposal on the Nov. 5 ballot. Instead of printing all the letters in total, the Observer offers below a summary of the opinions of many of your friends and neighbors on the library tax. Those views are shared to offer as broad a perspective as possible. While edited to avoid duplication, no view presented has been omitted:

• Irene Truesdell, resident: "Since Ben Franklin loaned his book to friends, then started a library, our ancesters and descendants gained information or an education by sharing books. The library has been the backbone of every community. One book serves many; ten books serve hundreds. Benefits are widespread. May we realize the importance of every voter backing the 0.8 millage on Nov. 5 to continue and improve services of the Dunninng-Hough Library."

• Chamber of Commerce: "We, the business community, care about the continuing service of the Dunning-Hough district library which provides our community with educationaal opportunities to improve our lives. We suggest every voter support the 0.8 millage on Nov. 5. We strongly feel that this community needs to maintain a fine library."

 Philip Rodgers Magee, senior minister, 1st Presbyterian of Plymouth: "Books mean ongoing enlightenment, education, growth, entertainment for one of our ed its Art Rental Gallery 10 years ago as a service to the community, the library has been most gracious in permitting us to operate from the second floor of their building. During the summer months, the Isbister Collection of chosen student art work finds a home at the library . . . On behalf of the PCAC I would urge city and township residents to vote on Nov. 5.

• Chet Solowiej, Plymouth Lions Club liaison: "Three years ago the Lions were asked to assist in establishing a large print collection that would enable the library to improve service to the adult community.

"The library has promoted many other organizations in the community: the American Association of University Women collect used books at the libary; the PCAC has its rental gallery upstairs; and the American Association of Retired Persons are there each tax season to assist the needy and our seniors with tax form information and preparation.

"More important than the library responding to our various clubs and organizations are the thousands of individuals who are helped each year with their various informational needs. I hope that, like me, every voter who has been served will vote on Nov. 5 to give the library the financial independence it seeks form the township and city governments." Namey Sharp, joint district library committee: "Unifying as a district was the first step toward meeting the community's library needs in efficient and equitable ways. Now is the time for a positive vote that will ensure the continued excellence of our library.'

e Sam Hudson, local historian: "I have been in many libraries in my life, here and aboard, and I can safely say that we have in Plymouth one of the finest anywhere for a community of this size. Those of us for a community of this may will wing would like it to stay that way will vote yes for the eight-tenths of a mill at the Nov. I election

Some critics have suggested that he did more than make lists of New York-based bonding attorneys and financial houses who "might" possibly contribute to the governor's re-election.

One critic has implied that Bowman's role amounted to coercion. The implication being that if you don't cough up you won't get any of the considerable bonding business that the state of Michigan awards to New York firms.

Bowman has refused to take such a rap claiming that all he did was prepare the lists of possible contributors.

IT IS probable that Bowman is no more guilty of arm twisting than any of hundreds of government and party officials engaged in soliciting campaign funds for a variety of national, state, county and local

One of the problems with electing offi-cials to any job is that the election process has become big business engaging the tal-ents of a variety of arm-twisters, fund-raisers, image-builders and assorted

There is a serious race going on in Virginia for governor, which one expert estimates will cost various donors $7 million.

has $1.5 million in his political campaign fund and is still intent on raising more, to beat a candidate who has only a ghost of a chance of defeating him in November.

Politicians in Wayne County are gearing up to run for Wayne County executive. The experts say a legitimate contender should plan on spending $400,000. Even races for local office are horrendously expensive. In Livonia, some council candidates have already reported spending $15,000 in the primary and the general election isn't until November.

The problem with such extravagant election spending is that office-seekers and office-holders have to rely too much on large contributors to ensure any tenure

Unfortunately, the average John Q. Citizen is not interested enough in providing funding for political campaigns and the politicians have to turn to businesses, rhich as often as not wish to curry favor of government for some business advan-

THE OFFICE-SEEKERS think they have to spend just as much as the next guy, the cost of campaigning escalates and the campaigners look desperately for additional cash

It all works to create an atmosphere where the office seekers and holders feel more of an obligation to the big political contributors than to the average citizen.

What is needed is a thorough scrutiny of the kinds of expenses being piled up and a decision to set limits on what will be spent in any given campaign.

Most of the spending on political campaigns is useless — primarily for TV or radio ads that repeat endlessly inane messages the creators hope will do nothing more than firmly implant the name of their candidate in the minds of voters, or for home-delivered literature, which is barely or rarely read.

THERE HAVE been some efforts to hold down the costs of campaigns. In Michigan, the Legislature has limited spending on gubernatorial races — to $1 million in the general election — if candidates take the matching funds that can be applied for by candidates who raise a minimum of $50,000.

But there is still a long way to go to keep the political process from becoming an overspending political headache, which keeps government officials beholden to the big contributors.

The Legislature should look into limiting spending in races for state, county and local offices so that the costs are reasonably related to the importance of the office.

House OKs study of women's pay

Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes during the week ending Oct. 11.

WOMEN'S PAY — By a vote of 259 for and 192 against, the House passed a bill (HR 5680) authorizing a study of the federal workforce to determine whether women, as a result of sex discrimination. are being paid less than men for similar work.

The "comparable worth" legislation, which has become a major issue for feminists, was sent to the Supporter Benjamin Gilman, D-N.Y., said "it is time for the largest employer in the nation - the federal government - to examine any discrimination . . . in its own structure.

Opponent Dan Lungren, R-Calif., said the study would invite lawsuits having "a very severe impact on that person rarely talked about here, the lowly

Members voting yes wanted a comprehensive study of pay equity in the federal workforce.
Voting yes: Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, Dennis
Lertel, D-Harper Woods, William Ford, D-Taylor, Sander Levin, D-Southfield.

Voting no: William Broomfield, R-Birmingham.

MALPRACTICE - The House passed, 317 for and 90 against, and sent to the Senate a bill (HR 3174) enabling members of the armed services to sue for medical or dental malpractice that occurs in a stationary hospital or clinic.

The bill nullifies a U.S. Supreme Court ruling that active-duty personnel lack standing to sue military doctors for malpractice.

Sponsor Dan Glickman, D-Kan., noted that the government can be sued for malpractice by a wide range of civilians, including penitentiary inmates and military dependents and retirees.

Opponent Roy Rowland, D-Ga., complained that the bill "potentially adds thousands of cases to an already overburdened civil court system" and makes no attempt to upgrade the quality of military medicine.

TEXTILES - By a vote of 262 for and 159 against, the House passed and sent to conference with the Senate a bill (HR 1562) using tariffs and other protectionist devices to force deep cuts in textile and clothing imports from Asian nations.

Supporters said the legislation was needed to safeguard hundreds of thousands of U.S. jobs against the ravages of unfair foreign competition, while opponents said it was wrong for Congress to protect inefficient industries and invite retaliation against American exports.

Members voting yes wanted to protect the American textile and apparel industries against imports. Voting yes: Hertel, William Ford, Levin.

Voting no: Pursell, Broomfield.

DEFICITS — By a vote of 75 for and 24 against, the Senate adopted an amendment designed to eliminate annual budget deficits by fiscal 1991, which begins Oct. 1, 1990.

The austerity plan, drafted by Republicans, was attached to a bill temporarily raising the debt-ceiling that later was sent to the House (HJ Res 372).

Supporters called it the most significant step toward fiscal discipline taken by the Senate since deficit spending flew dangerously out of control a few years ago.

But critics termed it a pass-the-blame measure that fails to supply lawmakers with the essential and heretofore missing ingredient for fiscal restraint — political courage.

Under the plan, Congress and the president are forced to cut the annual deficit (projected at 180 billion in 1986) by set amounts each year so that it has vanished by 1991.

If they fail to agree on the necessary cuts in a given year, the president would be compelled to order across-the-board reductions within guidelines set by Congress. Defense, agriculture and virtually all other categories except Social Security would be cut by equal percentages.

Senators voting yes favored the plan. Voting yes: Carl Levin.

Voting no: Donald Riegle.

DEMOCRATIC PLAN — By a vote of 40 for and 59 against, the Senate rejected a Democratic plan that differed chiefly in that it sought to reach a zero deficit one year ealier, by 1990, made it easier to balance the budget by raising taxes, and encouraged softer cuts in programs for the poor along with deeper military cuts.

Voting yes: Levin, Riegle.

Ann Arbor Trail Indians part of prehistoric past

"Nine Moons had become Crescent, become Full, and had Passed away. Winter Man had been Lazy with his Cold and there had been many Days of Sunshine. The Wings of Thunderbird Stirred the Air and brought the Gentle Southern Breeze to the Camp of White Shield.

Was this the camp by the ancient artesian spring along the path through the forest that is now a busy concrete strip running merrily toward Ann Ar-

The quotation is from "Seven Arby Hyemeyohsts Storm, an American Indain who writes with a deep understanding of the folkways of his people. If you would know the Indian spirit, read Storm.

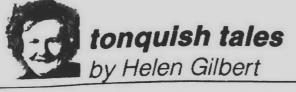

ANOTHER REMARKABLE book is Ruth Landes' "The Praire Potowatomi Traditions and Ritual.

Landes devotes much of her study to conversations with Chief Thomas Topash at his resettlement home in Kansas. (Readers of Tonquish Tales will recall that my took does not follow the Michigan Potowatomi beyond the exodus of 1838). Landes brings the story down to the present.

The Topash Family, upon which she bases much of her study, formerly lived in Cass County along the river, and in Berrien County near Buchanan. Some still are there today. The tradition and ritual Tem Topash interprets for Professor Landes are based upon ancient rites known to all Indians of this ilk.

The Topash family can trace their lineage from Anaquiba, once overlord of mroe than six million acres in Michigan, northern Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois. Among his children were Princess Kaukema, Chief Topenebee, Chief Sawawk (whose daughter, Acuarie, was the first wife of Chief Leopold Pokagon who is pictured in my book, Tonquish Tales), and Chief Cheboss.

Chief Cheboss is believed to have been an ancestor of the Topash family and, thereby, a close relative of Plymouth's Chief Tonquish. If you would like to know where the spirit of Chief Tonquish may reside today, listen to the brave words of Tom Topash as he talks with Ruth Landes.

A THOUSAND YEARS ago some Indians conducted a ritual burial out at the Cash place near the entrance to the Plymouth Township Park. (For this story read this column in the Oct. 10 Observer, "Bones found here predate Pilgrims and the Mayflower.")

Who were these Indians? Where did they come from? What were they doing here? Those are enormous questions and it is very difficult to come up with precise answers.

We are awaiting a report from University of Michigan on the results of the detailed carbon tests of the bones. In a few weeks, we hope to be able to share this analysis with you. Meanwhile we can do no more than speculate, and study the available evidence.

If we would really understand these ancient peoples, we must study their religious practices, explore their ritual, evaluate their beliefs.

All the books we have read on this subject, and there have been quite a few, say that the ancient Indian is not terrified by death. This stoical viewpoint also is held by many of today's Indians. Why?

They seem to believe, really believe, that they go to the "Land of the Eternal." And they go, as Elijah Haines wrote in "The American Indian," to a far better place where there is the 'hope of fairer fields and happier hunting grounds." To many a red man, death is only an escape from the ills of Perphas this philosophy plays a role in influencing the problems tribal leaders are facing. Suicide is epidemic among the young men on several Indian reservations in the West.

Unemployment plays a part in this, but when the chips are down, the young braves have little to encourage or comfort them. But they do have faith in that mystical land "over the rainbow."

This theory is not unlike the oriental viewpoint. A Kamikaze pilot will fly in the face of certain death, smiling and confident, knowing he will never fly home again.

Some East Indian women will immolate themselves in the flames of their husband's funeral pyre. They go gladly hoping for a reunion in spirit.

The ancient Jews practiced certain mortuary rituals which are part of some Christian doctrine today. The Hebrew regarded life as a journey, as a (read Hebrews 12, verses 13, 14, 16). They believed that the traveler, when he arrived at the end of his journey, was received into the company of his own ancestors.

Even Balaam, a corrupt and heathen prophet, saw the light fo immortality gleaming through the shadows of death, and when he prayed, he finally said, "Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like his.' (Numbers 33:10).

These ideas are not foreign to the American Indian, and were a part of his life before he ever met a missionary from the Christian faith.

Perhaps Cadillac was right when he wrote so convincingly that the American Indian came from the Lost Tribes

WE CONCLUDE THIS phase of our explorations with the conviction that the Pre-Columbian Indians on Ann Arbor Trail exhumed their dead, bored holes in skulls so that the soul might escape, and then reburied their disarticulated bones. They did so with the belief that their friends were going home again.

In the Indian dance of life, this was a necessary step. It followed the cycle of the seasons. Most primitive people expressed a belief in a future life and in sky deities. There is no reason to assume that the Ann Arbor Trail Indians had a different point of view.

Now the exigencies of space and time turn out thoughts to another phase of this study — the actual identity of the Plymouth Indians. This leads us to another notable book - "A New Discovery of a Vast Country" by Fr. Louis Hennepin.

This book, written in 1682, has been pilgrimage on the face of the earth translated into 30 languages all over this troubled globe. It is one of the best documentations we have of what the Middle West was really like in the > Father Hennepin, a Recollect Father of the order of St. Francis, accompanied Sieur Robert de La Salle on his famous journey through Michigan, Illinois, and down the Missippi probably as far as the great mounds of Cahokie.

LaSalle and Hennepin must have seen the high earth mounds that once looked across the river from where Fort Wayne is today. As they canoed along the Rouge, they may have stopped to explore the large Mound complex at Springwells near Dearborn. This ancient edifice is now buried under the Ford plant.

They probably noticed many other mounds as they cruised along the Huron River. When they reached the area of Dixboro Road, about where the Edison Pumping Station is today, there was a mound which seemed to have a number of totems and other ornamentation at its entrance.

A short distance beyond this place, on the campus of what today is Concordia College, perhaps some friendly In-dians led them to the fresh water freely flowing from a spring at the top of a hill. That same spring is flowing freely

What does this journey tell us? Our area was inhabited by mound builders who were probably descendents of an ancient Indian culture archeologists call the Hopewell.

The Hopewells flourished in Michigan and Ohio, and elsewhere in the middle west, from about 200 A.D. to 500 A.D. or later. Their descendants are the Ojibwa (Chippewa), Ottowa and Potowatomi of our own historic times.

BUT THERE STILL is a long, long gap between LaSalle's trips in the 1670s and the Ann Arbor Trail Indians of 1,000 A.D.

How do you get a true historical perspective on this when the Adena-Hopewell left no written record? We have no trouble keeping track of what the rest of the world was doing in 1,000

For instance, we know that Lief the Lucky, son of Eric the Red, and his long boats with their crews of hardy Norseman pulled into Mt. Hope Bay, Rhode Island, in the year 1,000. Later Thorwald went down the St. Lawrence and on to the Great Lakes. Souvenirs of this voyage turn up from time to time.

We know that England was ruled by a Danish King Canute in 1016, and 50 years later, a battle was fought which changed the world. It was Oct. 14, 1066, when William of Normandy and about 60,000 troops met King Harold and his minions on Senlac Hill near the town of Hastings. When the battle was over, England had a new king, William the Conqueror.

When the Indians were digging those graves on Ann Arbor Trail, Richard the Lion Hearted was crossing Europe on horseback to join the Third Crusade. That was in 1190. It was a long, long time ago when those Indians were drinking from Plymouth's pure artesian springs. We have some perspective on the enormous distances between between their world and ours.

The next edition of Tonquish Tales will tell you of the lifestyle of the Adena-Hopewell cultures. And I hope that I may tell you the results of the carbon tests presently being conducted in Ann

FRIENDS from Northern Ontario contributed this clipping (one single paragraph) from their small-town weekly newspaper:

"A family reunion that turned into a nightmare for the Stevens family happened over the holiday weekend. Wayne had hit his shin on the trailer hitch, breaking the skin. They left here for Penetanguishene and then on up to Sundridge for his family camping reunion. His leg went from bad to worse and he was taken to Burk's Falls Hospital. Too late for penicillin to help, and he was moved to Huntsville Hospital. Later, he went by ambulance to Sarnia Hospital. They managed to save his leg and he is now home, but cannot go to work for a week or more. Meanwhile, Phyllis, with three youngsters, tents and camping equipment is alone so, Annice and John went up and took down the big tent, and took that, plus the boys, to their cottage. Phyllis and Diana slept in the car and found raccoons had ripped and torn everything in the small tent, in the night. They went to the Blake cottage overnight, then collected the trailer and camping equipment and on to Maureen's for the next night and home in daylight. She said she didn't dare call home here for she would cry and her Dad would be off to her

One would assume that all the subscribers to the weekly publication are acquainted with the Stevens family. They also must know Annice, John, Maureen and Diana. If everyone knows everyone that well, the story of the Stevens' problems must have been all over town before it appeared in print.

Canton BPW selects Woman of the Year

Nancy J. Zimmerman was named Woman of the Year by the Canton Business and Professional Women. Teresa Solak, who chaired the search for the club's Woman of the Year, made the announcement at a meeting in the Roman Forum restaurant.

Zimmerman is branch officer of Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit, Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth. Her responsibilities include administration of the branch, customer service and sales, business development and community involvement.

She has served as president of the Canton BPW and has chaired the BPW Young Career Woman at local, district and state levels. Zimmerman has worked with her club in community projects - the Canton Country Festival and parade, Healtharama, Walkathon and other activities.

When asked what advice she would give to a young woman just starting out in her career, Zimmerman responded, "I would advise young women to establish goals and priorities, to be dedicated, energetic and enthusiastic about their careers and goal attainment.

"Young women must present themselves in a professional manner and exude self-confidence."

SHE WORKED with young adults in the Junior Achievement program. She taught them basic banking skills through the operation of a basic banking system for the local JA companies.

Her JA group achieved Bank of the Year Award in the Detroit Metro area for two years in a row.

Through Project Business, a division of Junior Achievement, she taught basic economics, marketing, management and history in a classroom set-

As an employee of the Wayne County Intermediate School District, she was a business education teacher. Among her responsibilities were teaching typing, shorthand, accounting and office procedures to teen-age high school unwed mothers. Her job was to teach them skills to make them self-sufficient.

ZIMMERMAN graduated from Erie-Mason High School in 1975 and from Eastern Michigan University in December 1978.

She was coordinating advisor for Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit for five years and worked with the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce.

She has taught seminars for the American Institute of banking, Livonia Public Schools, Ford Motor Company and Livonia Community Extension Programs.

Hers is a world of composition bodies, porcelain heads, glass-blown eyes, china paint, greenware and bisque. According to Pam Flick, this world was "created out of necessity and anger" after her grandmother, Dorris Belts, died in 1969.

Flick, a portrait artist by trade, decided to occupy her mind with something that they both loved — dolls. And what began as a hobby in her home 16 years ago is still a hobby, with one exception. Flick now has a studio, 71 students, and teaches classes seven times

"I just love what I'm doing," said Flick, who thrives on teaching authenticity to her students, students who always come back with one ribbon or another after attending various competitions.

MARY NALEPKA of Plymouth, who has been Flick's student for three years, said she "can't say enough about Flick's teaching skills.

"She's a great teacher. She's patient, and she loves what she's doing," said Nalepka, who took first place in the historic division at the 1985 Michigan State Fair with a reproduction of a Poudy Indian doll.

Mona, as she is called, stands 18 inches tall and is attired in a tan doeskin dress enhanced with authentic

Sioux sunburst beads of blue, red, not teaching adult classes through the orange and yellow. She carries a rabbit skin in her left hand and wears porcupine quills in her long, black, braided

Nalepka says that with Flick as the instuctor, "the sky's the limit."

BUT FLICK remembers a time, the last week of January '85 to be exact, when the sky, literally, could be seen through her 100-year-old house-turned-"This hasn't been all fun. I bought the house in November of '84, and the place was falling apart," Flick re-called. "Everything had to be repaired the walls, the floors, the parking lot, the plumbing, the ceiling.'

Flick said she and her family, all of whom knew "nothing about repairing ceilings and plumbing," refurbished the

"It became a family project, had to doing it," Flick said.

But wonderful times vanished quickly when, one week before the studio was to have its grand opening, the last week of January 1985, the roof fell in.

Once again, the Flick family, now professionals at the trade, got together in the middle of the winter to repair the week, children's classes through the summer, and selling dolls in the front section of the house, she's creating her own dolls from scratch and enjoying "every minute of it."

FLICK'S MOST special creation, Nan, stands 15 inches tall.

She is attired in a white dress with pink trim, pink knee socks, and patent leather shoes. Auburn curls envelop a white china face and brown glassblown eyes imported from Germany pensivley greet curious passers-by.

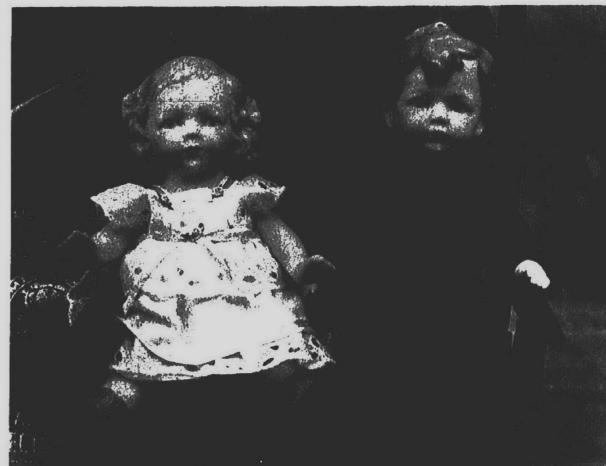

Nan, named after Flick's grandmother, is Flick's favorite doll, and appropriatley so. She was the recipient of a 1985 blue rosette at the Down River Raindrops and Rainbows Doll Show, the highest honor a doll can acquire. Flick said putting a doll together is a time-consuming project, as every step is done by hand.

every from painting the eye brows and eye lashes to making the clothing. We use wools, silks, cotton and leather. Nothing is manmade, except the hair."

Costuming the doll is very important, and Flick doesn't know what she would do without her doll seamstress, Mary Jane Neschich, who has been with her for five years.

Flick said, "There is nothing in the world like holding a litle doll that you have made because you know it is totally yours." And when asked how many of those little dolls she has made, she couldn't answer.

"Gracious, I have no idea. There are just too many of them, just too many," she said.

Newcomers is blending of old and new-comers

Another week has passed and I didn't hear too much from any of you. I was pretty busy with an urgent family crisis so I was unable to get around to scrape up news. But to my rescue comes a highly respected and popular group in our community, the Canton

I always like to take the opportunity to remind all of you that you needn't be a NEW-comer to join the group. As a matter of fact, you needn't be from Canton. We have members from many of our surrounding communites, old and new. More knowledgeable, who know their way around the area, allows us an even better opportunity to make the new newcomers comfortable in their new surroundings. By adding members from other communities we allow ourselves an even broader spectrum of expertise. So, if your are new or if you have been here for a while and haven't settled into more groups than you can handle, this is an excellent

The Newcomers are known for their wide variety of activities and special interest groups. When first I settled in Canton I was working full time at American Airlines. I taught catechism, joined the PTA, etc., but I never even heard of the Newcomers until after I had lived here past the residency time limit. Shortly after I discovered the Hospice. Thus we come to the reason

Newcomers, they changed their rules so that there is no longer a residency cut-off date. In clearer language, you couldn't join, or remain a member after you had lived here for more than two (or maybe it was three) years.

Anyway, that is no longer true and you, too, could join tomorrow and have the best year of your life, doing as much or as little as you like.

I urge you to give a call to Sharleen Immonen, 981-3844, or Ann Colwell, 453-6552, and start being a part of something grand.

For instance, coming up is their annual fund-raiser for the Hospice organ-

Many of you may already be aware of Hospice, but for those of you who might like to know a little something about them, allow me to explain. Hospice was designed to aid terminally ill patients and their families. Its service is centered around counseling needs.

Hospice is indeed a very worthwhile organization, often overlooked due to the nature of its work. Although it is my deepest hope that none of you will need the service, it is our responsibility to support such an organization.

With this in mind, our Newcomers sponsor an annual auction specifically for the purpose of raising funds for for mention in this column today. At 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 6, Newcomers will hold said auction at Faith Community Church, Warren west of Canton Center. All items are donated by local businesses with the exception of some special hand-crafted items created and donated by anyone who cares to, which includes you.

They are still accepting items and you are indeed invited to make any cash donation you may choose. This is one of those functions that you can attend with a spouse and perhaps get some Christmas shopping done. Refreshments will be served, so why not make an evening of it and come on down. You don't have to buy anything and you may meet some new friends and get to know your neighbors.

For any questions you may have, call Sharleen or Ann. This auction has proved to be a very profitable and fun activity in the past. We are certainly looking forward to no less this year.

BY THE WAY, a private note to Charles Zazula.

981-6354

Charles is the gentleman who wrote the song about the Newcomers and dedicated it to their past president, Sharleen Immonen, who was hospitalized at the time. Sharleen says the song was wonderful and did great things for her spirits and that all the Newcomers appreciated it and enjoyed it very, very

Everyone seems to like it, Charles, so it looks like you are in a brand new business. I'll be waiting to publish your next little-bitty ditty.

AN INTERESTING note for any interesed Cantonites: How many of you have wondered why the new food market on Sheldon is called Canton Center Food Market? I know it has been a puzzlement to me. I suppose it would have been a great name if there wasn't a main road nearby called Canton Cen-

It always seems as though they missed the correct street when they built it. They got close, but no cigar. Well, I asked and I asked, and we giggled and we giggled, but no one seems to know. It just seemed like a good name if you didn't know about the road nearby by the same name. Actually, possible, do it yourself.

Just an old football cheer I thought they were kind of hoping for the Canton Center Cut-off (he he he), that long awaited road for which we shall continue to long await. But alas, since that road hasn't arrived, and our questions have arrived, the owner has decided to change the name.

> I considered running some sort of contest but the deed is done, and the name is chosen. It shall be "Canton Community Food Market." Not a leap, but definitely a small step for mankind. At least we shall not think we are on the wrong street.

Just think about a newcomer, or visitor, just arriving in Canton. They pass our beautiful sign that our Beautification Committee created and they know they are on the right street, Sheldon. Not too far west on Canton Center, or too far east on Lilley, but just right, Sheldon. They pass a big market. The sign says CANTON CENTER. Oops! Stop! Quick! Turn around! Now we have an accident, one right after the other. (OK, so I have a great imagination.) But it could, maybe might happen.

Well, we don't have to worry now. Thank you, Canton Center Food, ah, Canton Community Market. You saved a lot of lives and terrible accidents,

Pruden-Wehmeyer

Susan Louise Wehmeyer and Roy Daniel Pruden Jr. exchanged marriage vows in a July ceremony in First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth with the Rev. Philip Rodgers Magee officiating. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Mark Wehmeyer of Plymouth and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Daniel Pruden of Babylon,

The bride's ivory tissue taffeta gown was trimmed at bodice and back with Alencon lace and had a chapel-length train. She carried a bouquet of white roses, orchids, carnations, mums, baby's breath and ivy. Jaime Weiser of Helena, Mont., was maid of honor and bridesmaids were the bride's three sisters, Ann Wehmeyer, Pam Wehmeyer and Nancy Bedinger. They wore lilac gowns trimmed with ivory lace and carried white carnations, mums, daisies, statice, baby's breath and ivy.

Peter Pruden was best man. Groomsmen were Norman Pruden, Barclay Shultz, and John Shultz. The couple traveled through Northern Michigan after their wedding reception at Madowbrook Country Club. They are living in Houston, Texas. The bride graduated from Michigan State University in 1981 and her husband graduated from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in 1977.

Diabetics can control illness

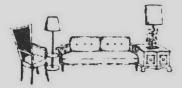

Although diabetes affects more than 10 million Americans, some two out of every five diabetics don't know they have the disease or are ignoring it and not receiving proper medical attention If you are excessivly thirsty, suffer from frequent urination and have a craving for sweets, you could be a diabetic. If you have frequent infections, blurred vision, pains in legs, feet and fingers, you could be a diabetic. If diabetes runs in your family, you could be a diabetic. If you're a woman, your chances of being diabetic are higher than a man's. In spite of all this, the diabetic picture is steadily brightening. Self-management has always played an important role in treatment and control of diabetes. That requires motivation and knowledge about the condition and reliable tools for the jobs.

A wife and mother and basketball star

NE MORE HOUR . . It's not much, just 60 minutes. One episode of "Dallas" or "Dynasty." What I could do with one more hour per day. I'd catch up on my reading or household chores (honest), or I'd just talk to my wife while she watched another hour of "Dallas" or "Dynasty. If only someone could find a way to add an hour to each day. I know I could sure use it.

Mary Kay Whalen could, too. In fact, after witnessing what Whalen is attempting to stuff into a conventional 24-hour day, I'd consider donating my extra hour to her.

Not that 26 hours in a day would be enough,

"IT'S A LITTLE hectic," was how a smiling Whalen described her life Tuesday. She appeared happy, though, fielding questions while standing on the Calihan Hall basketball court.

Time is precious to this former Livonia Franklin standout. She's as busy as any co-ed trying to combine sports with studies and searching for time to accommodate both.

Only Whalen is no ordinary co-ed. She's a junior, a transfer from Michigan State University. She's married, and less than a year ago she gave birth to son Erik.

Attention, all advertising types looking for ways to hype health foods or vitamins. Here's your perfect subject. Mary Kay Whalen: wife, mother, student — and basketball star.

Where does she get the energy? The time? The stamina?

"I HAVE A relative who watches (Erik) during the day," she said, still smiling, "and Chris is home at night. It is hectic because he's coaching football right now.' Husband Chris Whalen coaches the Franklin freshman football team. He's been a big help, she said. "He's been there whenever I need him." Whalen was a major reason for optimism regarding MSU basketball following the 1983-84 season. Why not? She averaged 13.4 points and 7.8 rebounds for the Spartans as a sophomore and was the team's MVP.

But she was still Mary Kay McNall then. During the summer of 1984 that changed. She decided to marry.

When she became pregnant, she knew her college plans would be altered. But that didn't mean they would end.

"Right from the beginning, (Chris) knew I wanted to finish school and that I wanted to play basketball," Whalen said. "Inside, I knew I wanted to play again if I could. That helped me keep off excess weight while I was pregnant."

STILL, PRACTICALITY made it seem doubtful. They wanted to live in Livonia, and commuting to MSU daily for classes and basketball was impossible.

That's when U of D women's coach DeWayne Jones stepped in, with the help of an intermediary — Titan softball star Kim Redwood, another Franklin graduate and a friend of Whalen's.

"We knew she wasn't going back to MSU," Jones said Tuesday. "Kim Redwood was working in our office, so we asked her if she thought Mary Kay would be interested. She said she didn't know,

"After that, I talked to (Whalen). It took awhile to convince her, but we finally did.'

That made Jones happy. It was a risk of sorts, giving a woman with a family an athletic scholarship, not knowing how she'd bounce back — mentally and physically — from a year off after having a child. If Jones or anyone else ever had doubts, though, Whalen quickly dismissed

"She came back in super condition after having her son," Jones said. "She ran the second fastest mile on the team during drills. I don't know how much that year off is going to hurt her. Only time will tell, but her having a son won't be a factor."

JONES IS CONVINCED, more than ever, that Whalen was worth the risk. At 6-foot-3, she's big enough to play center, but her excellent outside shot makes her a natural forward. She'll play both for the Titans while they break in 6-4 freshman center Cammie Maki. On Tuesday, Whalen kept smiling with anticipation of a season ahead playing forward instead of center, the position she filled at MSU. Whalen took a beating trying to rebound against Big Ten opponents, always hoping to switch to

If she has a concern, it's finding time. But even that looks like less a problem than Whalen first anticipated. "Actually, I thought it would be much harder," she said. "Of course there are some little problems, but Coach Jones is really understanding."

ONE QUESTION lingers: What will Whalen do when the inevitable occurs, when she finds herself in the U of D library trying to study for an afternoon exam, knowing she has a big game that night, and all she can think about is her family?

Before the year's out, she's bound to ask herself, "What am I doing?"

My het is she'll survive those moments of tents.

My bet is she'll survive those moments of truth. She'll try to squeeze 25 hours in a day before giving up.

Whalen has her family's help and support, which eases the burden, and when needed she has

"I'm happy," she said. "I get a smile out of my

Gilles is queen of state court

By Chris McCosky staff writer

Posted on Wendy Gilles' locker at school last week was a Detroit News article on Sterling Heights tennis standout Candy Kopetzki.

The article labeled Kopetzki the queen of high school tennis - "Unmatched" said the headline. Gilles, the No. 1 singles player at Plymouth Salem, found the article inspirational. "Oh, it pumped me up for sure," Gilles said of the article. "I played her four times last year (in USTA amateur matches), and I beat her three of the Gilles and Kopetzki met again Saturday in the state No. 1 singles finals at Midland Dow where Gilles unseated the reigning queen, 6-3, 5-7, 6-2.

"ALL THE pressure was on her," Gilles said. "I think she knew it would not be an easy ride for her." Kopetzki had lost only one other match in her three-year high school career and was the state singles champion last year. Gilles hadn't played high school tennis since her freshman season, preferring to concentrate on USTA events. That year she was ousted from the tournament in the semifinal round.

Gilles was the aggressor throughout the cham-pionship match Saturday. Her hard, accurate ground strokes kept Kopetzki pinned to the baseline and constantly on the run.

"I felt like I was more ready to play," Gilles said. 'I was prepared for an all-day match. I don't know if she was really ready to play that type of match. I was willing to do anything I had to do to win." A key for Gilles was keeping Kopetzki on her backhand. The Sterling Heights senior has a devastating forehand, but Gilles was able to neutralize it. "I played my game," she said. "I played on the baseline, but I was aggressive and I kept the ball real deep.

GILLES' TRIP to the state championship began with a first round bye. She dusted Birmingham Seaholm's Missy Hueston, 6-3, 6-1, in round two and Dearborn's Susan Sommerville in round three, 6-2,

In the semifinals, Gilles beat Bloomfield Hills Lahser's Kristin Ashare 6-3, 6-2. It was Ashare who handed Kopetzki her only defeat prior to Saturday. The set Gilles lost to Kopetzki in the finale was

"That was a nice way to wrap up my high school career," Gilles said. the only one she gave up all season.

Gilles will graduate from Salem in January and begin the winter semester at the University of Wisconsin. She will immediately join the Badger tennis team where her sister Chris plays No. 1 singles.

The daily papers had all but given the state Class A to Saturday's match. But the winner and state champisingles title to Sterling Heights' Candy Kopetzki prior on is Salem's Wendy Gilles.

A PLYMOUTH HIGH SCHOOL FLASHBACK

Plymouth High School's 1968 Varsity football season came to a disappointing end with a 19-13 loss to Walled Lake on a chilly November evening. The defeat dropped Coach Mike Hoben's Charges to a mediocre 4-4 season record. Fullback Bob Thornbladh scored both Plymouth TD's on short runs. Wally Lee and Bill Tobey were standouts on defense and Ned Terry, Bob Clayton and Bruce Bauman excelled on defense. Plymouth was making a bid to finish with its first winning season in 4 years but had to settle with a .500 record.

By Marty Budner staff writer

Rochester High School's boys golf team traveled to East Lansing Friday hoping to get in a few practice rounds in preparation for Saturday's big Class A tournament.

The trip was a washout, as rain postponed the tourney. The Falcons returned to Rochester Saturday afternoon then headed back to East Lansing early Monday for their 10 a.m. tee off at the par-71 Forest Acres Golf Course on the Michigan State University campus.

It turned out to be well worth the wait.

Rochester, turning in a sensational 307 team score, walked away with its first Class A boys golf title in the school's history after winning the annual Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSAA) tournament by seven strokes. It was the lowest winning state-meet score since Lansing Eastern won with a 305 in 1979.

Livonia Churchill was second at 314, followed by defending state champion Birmingham Brother Rice (317), Detroit Catholic Central (322) and East Kentwood (324). Troy Athens, the Eccentric-area's other representaive, finished in a three-way tie for 18th place with a 338.

"IT WAS an outstanding accomhad," said Al Barkeley, who's coached and Dave Brown (83). the Falcons the past 15 years.

"We knew we could be competitive up there. We played some six times against Athens this season and we beat Brother Rice two times. We know we can play with the better teams and we just had a tremedous

"Last year we were fourth with a 321 and this was basically the same team," said Barkeley. "We had some experienced players up there."

Barkeley said the key this year was the three returning seniors - Paul Vermuelen, Dave Rice and Dave Tull - improved on their 1984 performances by 11 total strokes. The Falcons played incredibly as their highest scorer on the Forest Acres West Course was Vermeulen's 80 (41 in, 39-out). Their other scorers were Rice (40, 35) and Jim Reading (39-36) with 75s and Tull (36-41) at 77.

"Reading was shooting good at the beginning and that kind of got us started," said Barkeley, whose team also won regional and county titles

"ANYTIME YOU get to the state competition, anything can happen," he said. "It was just our day, and we got a tremendous team effort."

Brother Rice, seeking to become the first repeat champion since 1971-72 when West Bloomfield turned the trick, scored just one stroke higher than it did last year in winning. They were no match for the Falcons on

I never thought anyone would shoot 307 because the rough was very heavy," Rice coach Jim Rademacher said. "I would have thought a score in the upper teens would have won. I could see 314 winning, but a 307 is unbelievable."

Rice's low scorer for the day was plishment by our players, and it was Mike Brown with a 75. Anthony Dietz the most successful season we've ever shot 79, followed by Rob Morad (80)

> Troy Athens, state champions in 1982 with a score of 308, tumbled to 18th as all four of its players carded plus-80 rounds. The Red Hawks were led by Ron Clark's 82.

We were hoping to be among the top five. It was just a bad day, and we were disappointed," said Athens coach Glenn Baird. "We won the regional and the league, so we had a good year. It was just an honor to be at the state meet."

Rochester Adams won the state Class A title in 1978 under coach Carl Pasbjerg. The Highlanders are not the only state golf champs from the Rochester area any longer.

Hawks gun for WLAA title

staff writer

Even before his team's biggest ballgame of the year, Westland John Glenn football coach Chuck Gordon has maintained a sense of humor.

Reporter: "I like to ask you some questions about your next opponent.

Gordon: "Who are we playing?" But all kidding aside, Observerland's biggest game of the year to date will occur Friday night at Glenn as the Rockets lay their unbeaten record (7-

0) on the line against two-time defending Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) champion Farmington Harrison (6-1). "Harrison is so good because of coach (John) Herrington and his staff," said Gordon. "They do such a good job. Their record and tradition speak for themselves. They're one of the powers in the And although Gordon's team is a slight favorite, the Glenn coach is taking the game seriously, having scouted the Hawks twice personally. Gordon maintains his Rockets must contain Harrison tailback Brian Smolinski and quarterback Mike Mack in order to win.

WE'VE GOT to control Smolinski, and that Mack is a good one," Gordon said. "And we're going to have to generate offense against their defense. They really haven't given up many points at all. It's the best defense we've faced."

Herrington hasn't personally scouted his next opponent, but his assistant coaches have a lengthy scouting report on Glenn, featuring tailback Tony Boles and company.

"We have to stop their fullback (Paul Beasley) up the middle and their passing game," Herrington said. "The last two games they've thrown effective-

"I've never seen Boles, but I'm told he has tremendous speed. You can't give him a crack because

"Defensively they do the same things we do. They play good, solid fundamentals. They really don't use any trick defenses or blitzes. They use a 5-2 alignment just like we do."

Both coaches said their teams are anxiously awaiting Friday's 7:30 p.m. start.

"My kids were flying today (Monday) in practice," Herrington said. "I had to calm them down.

SATURDAY GAMES

NORTHVILLE at N. FARMINGTON (1 p.m.): Northville (4-3) is one of the Western Lakes' hottest teams of late. North (3-4) got back on track last week against rival Farmington. Mustang quarterback Paul Newitt is a threat to run and pass. PICKS — Emons goes with Northville, while McCosky takes North.

PLY. CANTON at FARMINGTON (1 p.m.): The Chiefs (0-7) are now playing under a lame duck coach (Richard Barr). Farmington (2-5), one of the WLAA's pre-season favorites, is riding a roller coaster. Tackle Craig Petersmark has stood out despite the lackluster campaign. PICKS -Farmington escapes the Chiefs, both agree.

MELVINDALE at REDFORD THURSTON (1 p.m.): Can Thurston (2-5) pull off another upset in as many weeks? Melvindale (2-5) has been somewhat of a disappointment in the Tri-River League. PICKS — Melvindale survives, says McCosky; while Emons counters with the Eagles.

BISHOP BORGESS vs. BROTHER RICE (2 p.m. at Garden City Jr. High): It hasn't been a state championship season for Birmingham Brother Rice (2-5), which has lost to five teams with a combined record to 34-2. Redford Bishop Borgess (2-5) is coming off a valiant effort against unbeaten Warren De La Salle (a 28-14 loss). The Spartans must contain Rice's quarterback-wide reciever combination of Chris Sullivan and Dave Plunkett. PICKS -

CATHOLIC CENTRAL vs. WARREN De La SALLE (7:30 p.m. at Pontiac's Wisner Stadium): The site of this game was switched from Clarenceville to Wisner to accomodate more fans. The field conditions will be poor as Redford CC (6-1) tries to stop De La Salle's speedy backfield of Allen Jefferson and Eric Ford. PICKS - De La Salle moves into the Catholic League championship game to face Dearborn Divine Child.

ST. AGATHA vs. PONTIAC CATHOLIC (7:30 p.m. at RU's Kraft Field): The Aggies (4-3) blew last week's game against Orchard Lake St. Mary's, 7-0, in overtime. A three-way C Division tie finds Redford St. Agatha locked with OLSM and Pontiac Catholic. All three teams have 3-1 division records. PICKS - Pontiac Catholic (4-3) claims a share of the title with Orchard Lake, which should win its final regular season game against Ann Arbor Gabriel Rich-

McCosky was 11-3 last week improving his seasonal mark to 69-25. Emons was 8-6. He's 59-35 on the year.

Harrison drops to Class B in 1986

Farmington Harrison High School will become a

Class B school again in 1986 The Michigan High School Athletic Association divides its member high schools according to enrollment sizes: those with enrollments of 1,150 or more are classified Class A; 587-1,149 Class B; 311-586 Class C; and less than 311 Class D.

Harrison's enrollment figures for 1986 show a population of 1,100 students.

"It seems to me that the previous figures for Class A were 1,138. Now they have gone up. We're kind of shocked," Harrison principal Clayton Graham said.

"Really, though, it won't affect the sports program or our position in the Western Lakes Activities Association at all. Football may be the only problem," he said.

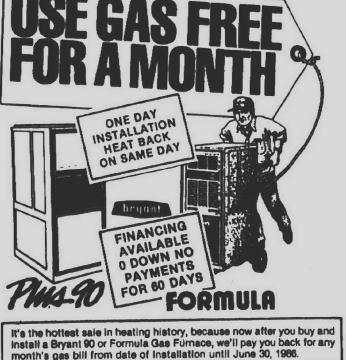

FOOTBALL TEAMS qualify for state playoffs based on a computer-point system which takes into account wins and losses for both the team and its opponents. Victories against Class A schools, generally, count for more than victories against Class B

But Harrison football coach John Herrington isn't concerned about the new classification.

"We're still in the Western Lakes and our schedule won't change that much," he said. "What it does is give us a better chance at getting into the state tournament. In terms of prestige and status, playing in Class B doesn't bother me.'

Harrison was a Class B school until 1981. It

Steve Morell of Canton (white jersey) tries to advance the ball past Stevenson's Mel Karlis Monday night. The Chiefs were bumped from the state tournament, losing 1-0.

Late Spartan goal ends Canton's bid

staff writer

"Hey, referee, how much time is ft?" yelled Livonia Stevenson soccer coach Pete Scerri during the final minutes of Monday's regional semifinal match against Plymouth

"Three minutes," said referee Tom

"Can you make it two?" Scerri asked. "I think I'm going to have a heart attack."

The match was indeed a strain on the nervous system, but Scerri, much more than Canton coach Mike Morgan, could afford a moment of levity.

Scerri's Spartans pulled off a narrow 1-0 victory on a mud-slick Canton field to advance to the regional finals Saturday against the winner of Wednesday's Redford Catholic Central vs. Ann Arbor Pioneer match. "I never thought this team could go this far," said Scerri, whose team has yet to lose in 18 matches this season (16-0-2). "We put so much work, so much time into this. We work real hard. It's just unbelievable." THE MATCH was decided in the final 10 minutes on a goal by Lars

Richters. But for the first 70 minutes,

both teams jockeyed unsuccessfully to gain an offensive advantage.

The action stayed, for the most part, at midfield. The few scoring chances that did occur - a break for Steve Morell of Canton, and a blistering 30-yard boot from Stevenson's Christian Amborg — were turned away by two of the area's finest goaltenders, helped by two of the area's best defensive players.

Canton goalie Brian Gavigan and defender Rob Opatrny kept the rushing Stevenson attack in check, while Stevenson goalie Dan Millner and defender Steve Karfis did the same to Finally, with 10 minutes left in the match, Stevenson forced a corner kick. John Mikkelsen placed it nicely in front of the Chiefs' goal. Karfis, battling several Canton defenders, managed to get the ball to Richters, who booted it into the empty corner of the Canton goal.

"STEVENSON PLAYS a really good corner," said Morgan. "And they had seven corner kick chances. They were bound to capitalize on one of Canton, which was outshot 17-3, had only one corner kick opportunity.

"We really rely on our speed and control," Morgan said. "It's difficult to keep control and make good passes when you're sliding into every ball.

"But, no excuses. They outplayed us. We gave them a little hell, though. I'm really proud of our kids."

The Chiefs (14-6-1), with less than five minutes remaining in the match, put together a rush. Bryan Whiteley, Scott Morgan and Steve Morell worked the ball beautifully up field. The final pass went from Morell to Pat Frederick, who put the ball in the net; sadly for the Chiefs, he took the pass offsides.

For Scerri, the game was played exactly as he expected.

"You have to be cautious in this type of game," he said, explaining each team's inability to assume control of the match. "There's no tomorrow. We just wanted to keep the ball out of our end. Nothing fancy. You aren't going to see any good individu-al plays on a day like this."

The regional final match will be played at 2 p.m. at Northville.

Ocelot spikers win tourney

ing opponents to be wary when they approach the net. The power at the net doesn't force the opposition to adjust, to keep the ball away from a certain player because she can put it away with authority.

Even the serves aren't impossible to handle. Like the hitting, they're good, perhaps a bit better than average.

So why is Schoolcraft College's volleyball team 27-7, with victories over a bundle of four-year schools and, on Saturday, a win over the top-rated junior college team in the state?

Defense and consistency, that's why The Ocelots make few mistakes. What they do is outlast their opposition.

"Our hitting average is not very

The spikes aren't threatening, warn-high," admitted Schoolcraft coach Tom team in the state, but exceptional play Teeters. "In fact, I'll bet it's among the lowest in our region. But when they block us it's no error because we get it back up. Our hitters aren't afraid to go after it. They keep hitting until it drops or goes off a block and out of bounds."

> SUCCESS IS DIFFICULT to argue with, and Teeters' strategy has been just that. The Ocelots emerged from Saturday's Schoolcraft Invitational with five straight wins and their second championship in three tournaments (they were second in the other).

In pool play, Schoolcraft defeated Kalamazoo Valley CC 15-2, 15-4; Mott CC 15-5, 15-9; and Lansing CC 15-8, 9-15, 15-9. Lansing was the top-ranked JC comeback. Cyrus was instrumental, comb.

from Kim Relyea (from Livonia Stevenson) and Ann Bennett, each with 11 kills, and Sue Cyrus (Garden City), with eight kills, sparked the triumph.

The Ocelots faced Henry Ford CC in the semifinals and won 15-7, 15-8. Linda Loeffler (Stevenson) had two aces among her nine serves. Bennett added five kills and Relyea four in the win.

This advanced Schoolcraft into the finals opposite University of Windsor, the only four-year school in the eightteam tournament. It took a come-frombehind effort to win, 13-15, 15-13, 15-

In the second game, Schoolcraft trailed 8-0 and 11-2 before mounting its travels Thurdsay night to meet Ma-serving for 12 straight points. She also collected 11 kills in the match, while Relyea had 12.

Setters Patti Kozicki (North Farmington) and Loeffler were flawless throughout the tournament.

ON TUESDAY, Schoolcraft turned back visiting Henry Ford in a conference match, 15-13, 16-14, 13-15, 15-10. Relyea led the way with 21 kills, while Cyrus added 15.

Loeffler, normally a setter, posted a .500 percentage on attacks.

Falcons sweep WLAA titles

By Larry O'Connor

Both the Farmington boys and girls cross country teams took the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) meet Tuesday with all accounts received and paid.

The debt repaid to Walled Lake Central was especially gratifying for the Falcons as they edged out the Vikings in both meets at Cass Benton Park.

Last Thursday, Walled Lake Central knocked off the Falcons, leaving their previously unbeaten boys and girls teams without WLAA Lakes Division titles.

The boys team vindicated itself with three runners in the top 10 as Farmington captured its second straight WLAA meet. The Falcons, with 55 team points, triumphed over the runner-up Vikings' 73.

The Falcon girls' win, which also included three runners in the top 10, was third-year coach John Barrett's first title. Farmington scored 72 team points to Central's 103.

OTHER TOP BOYS team finishers included Plymouth Canton, third, 105; Plymouth Salem, fourth, 118; and Northville, fifth, 127. (See statistics).

After Farmington and Central, the girls meet order of finish was Livonia Churchill, third, 118;, Northville, fourth, 128; and Plymouth Salem, fifth, 141.

For the second-consecutive year, Farmington's Chris Inch won the boys meet in 16:09. Al Stebbins (16:33) was added.

cross country

third and Bryan Lawton (17:00) ninth

But Ron Smedley's 16th place finish in 17:24 kept the distance between Farmington and Central, according to Falcon coach Jerry Young.

"Ron Smedley ran a good race for us," said Young. "He ran out of his tree for us. He certainly helped our cause today.

Glenn's Karen Opp won the girls meet in 20:14. Opp was followed by Farmington's Nicole Jelley, who was second in 20:20.

BONNIE STECKER (20:22) came in fourth, Leslie Martin (20:49) was ninth and Judy McKeever (20:36) rounded out the top Farmington finishers.

"We thought that on paper we had it." said Barrett, "but you never know how those things are going to work out. We knew it wasn't going to be a pushover."

For Young's squad, the second time around wasn't a cake walk, either. The Falcons won last year's conference meet with an incredibly low 19

Satisfaction at last.

Schoolcraft College's men's soccer team "finally put the whole thing together," according to coach Van Dimitriou. "They played a beautiful game."

Listening to that, you might think the Ocelots have been struggling. Not so. They improved their Region XII record to a perfect 6-0 and their overall mark to 8-1-1 with a 7-0 victory at Lakeland Community College Saturday.

The triumph clinched at least a tie for the region title - and an automatic berth in the NJCAA Interregionals - and also proved that Schoolcraft deserved its No. 8 national ranking in the latest Gelmisi scored the next two Ocelot goals, the first at 20 minutes with an assist from Abe Yaffai, and the second five minutes later on an assist from Anwar Yaffai. Both Yaffais are Livonia Bentley products.

Four weeks ago, Rochester Adams head football coach Jack Runchey should have been celebrating his first victory of the 1985 season. Instead, the second-year Highlander coach stood by the school bus in the Bloomfield Hills Lahser parking lot shaking his head.

Late in the game, Adams senior running back Tom Mulinax was tripped up on a short run and injured his knee. As coaches and trainers looked over Mulinax, there was an eerie silence. About 20 minutes later, Mulinax left the field on a stretcher and was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Mulinax suffered ligament and cartilage damage to his knee, and Runchey put the football victory aside as he conveyed his concern over his star player.

He got a knee brace today, and it's in his locker," Runchey said. "He wanted to wear it in practice before using it in a game."

WOULD A BRACE have prevented the injury to Mulinax?

A study by the Sports Medicine Committee of the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons (AAOS), published in the September issue of "The Physician and Sportsmedicine," concluded "the effectiveness of knee braces is a controversial area that needs further biomechanical and epidemiological study to aid in better designs."

The article, quoting surgeons, raises both sides of the issue. Said Dr. George Hewson Jr., an orthopedic surgeon and athletic consultant to the University of Arizona, "It would be great if a (prophylatic) brace could decrease the incidence of tears to the medial collateral ligament, anterior cruciate ligament and the meniscus.'

Dr. Frank Noyes, clinical professor of orthopedic surgery at the University Cincinnati Medical Center: "No scientific conclusions can be made for or against prophylactic braces, and ethical advertising should state this.'

Dr. Dale Daniel, associate professor of orthopedic surgery at the University of California, San Diego, adds, "We at the AAOS are very concerned that prophylactic braces not be sold as proven

Jon L. Schringer, associate professor of clinical medicine at Michigan State University, surveyed 1,246 football players in 12 high schools. He found that 197 players who wore knee braces as preventive braces did not sustain any injuries from a lateral blow. Two players sustained hyperextended knee injuries but returned to play the same

ANOTHER STUDY, conducted in 1981 through the spring of this year by Herbert A. Haupt, former associate team physician at Wake Forest University, found there were 24 medial collateral injuries in the two years Wake Forest players did not wear the brace and 29 in two years the brace was

There's confusion on the effectiveness of protective braces; some studies say they decrease medial collateral injuries, others say they enhance the chance of injury.

Dr. Warren Schildberg, who practices in Garden City, said positive signs are associated with braces. A year-old statistic, according to Schildberg, says there were 40,000 surgical procedures for ligament and cartilage knee injuries out of 1.4 million high school and college football players.

"That's not too awfully bad," Schildberg said. "I think they're valuable as protective devices. I look at 25-30 sets of knees a day. I personally recom-mend them (braces) for practice. It's kind of dumb for a kid to blow his knee in practice. Some (high school players) are even using them in games.

"Do the Detroit Lions use them? Yes. Does the University of Michigan use them? Yes. They may be wrong, but I'll take their advice," added Schildberg.

A GROUP OF coaches in the Observer & Eccentric area were interviewed on protective knee braces; six of the seven questioned said some play-

"It's mandatory for all of our linemen," said Brother Rice coach Al Fracassa, who added braces can be purchased for about $70-80. "We believe they have helped a lot. Of course, you can still get a knee injury with the braces on, but it's like the face mask. You're not totally protected, but there is some protection.

Armand Vigna, head coach at Livonia Franklin, just recieved 24 braces purchased by the school's booster club. We had a couple of kids with knee injuries so we had to buy some braces," he said. "Our first priority is the injured players, and our second is our running backs. I'd like to have a couple for each kid. I believe in it."

At Farmington Hills Harrison, wearing the brace was contagious. "I originally bought 12, but I didn't think the kids wanted to wear them, so I sent six back," said coach John Herrington. Then, one of our players got hurt, and they all wanted them. We're experimenting. I'd eventually like to have them on all the players.

Westland John Glenn coach Chuck Gordon said "I think it looks like the next coming thing in high school football," but Troy Athens coach John Walker said no player on his team wears a brace.

"I HAVE MIXED emotions," Walker said. "Some help, and they may help more psychologically than anything else. We haven't had any rash of knee injuries, and as a result, we haven't felt the need to get preventive braces.

"Steve McAnelly (former Athens linemen now at Central Michigan University) wore a preventive brace, and, while dropping back on a pass play, was injured and required knee surgery. There's really no acceptable way to predict whether or not a knee brace will or will not prevent injury."

Cal Fletcher, Southfield High's head football coach, said most of his offensive linemen wear braces. "We believe strongly in them. They may not prevent knee injuries, but the player may only be out for a shorter time than the whole year."

Because of what appears to be mixed results of some studies and the differing opinions of both doctors and coaches, the jury is still out on knee braces. Whether braces become mandatory - which some coaches see happening down the road - is another question.
"I can visualize that happening,"

Fletcher said of forcing schools to supply braces. "But that would be tough for a Class D school with a budget of nil. That would almost force a school like that out of the sport."

"There's some feeling that they're going to become mandatory," Vigna said. "More and more college and pro players are wearing them."

Gordon summed it up best: "The problem I see is the cost. With the budget they have for football, it's hard to have them on hand, but, if it's to prevent football injuries, I'm all for it."

Performances of the Garden City Civic Theatre production of "The Sound of Music" continue at 8 p.m. Fridays-Saturdays, Oct. 25-26 amd Nov. 1-2, and 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 27, at the O'Leary Performing Arts Center in Garden City. For ticket informtion, call 836-0053 or 525-9258.

The Garden City Civic Theatre opened its 1985-86 season last week with a version of Rodgers' and Hammerstein's "The Sound of Music" that hits just about all the right notes.

The venerable musical (in case you've been in a cave for many years) is set in pre-World War II Austria and focuses on the real-life von Trapp family — Capt. Georg von Trapp and his seven children — and Maria Rainer, a young postulant who even-tually becomes a member of that family. The sentimental story, as presented by GCCT, is marked by some outstanding performances by several adult players and a group of kids that are nothing short of irresistible.

In the role of Maria, Robin Lynn Walker does a nice job, although her Maria seems overly sweet at times. Perhaps, though, this is simply a problem that comes with the territory. In any case, Walker has a lovely singing voice and appearance, and her musical numbers always come across with considerable effect and appeal.

Stephen Sell, who plays the children's father, Captain von Trapp, is a veteran of musical productions in the Detroit area and not only is a fine baritone but an able actor as well. His portrayal of the stern-on-the-outside von Trapp is often subtle and moving.

IN A SUPPORING role, Helen Thomas (although she's sometimes hard to hear) seems just right as the dignified but warmhearted Mother Abbess. And Judy Hebda-Johnson as Sister Sophia and Marilyn Hirtzel as Sister Margaretta — although they aren't onstage that much — make an impression with impressive voices.

Quatro awaits new album

CHAEL QUATRO and Claudia Hoffman have returned to Archibald's in downtown Birmingham, continuing Friday and Saturday.

Quatro, Detroit-area rock music personality who hasn't recorded an album in four years, played the piano at Archibald's in September. He was dressed in black tie and unlaced tennis shoes, and his dark, curly hair gave him the appearance of a slightly naughty boy. In his sets at Archibald's he was accompanied by blond singer Hoffman, who will be on Quatro's new album due out this fall. The supper club act that Quatro and Hoffman do - Quatro rambles through "Canadian Sunset" and Hoffman sings "Send in the Clowns" - doesn't at all suggest how important Quatro was in the rock-music world in the late 1960s and early 1970s when he was in the forefront of the classical rock scene along with groups like Yes, and Emerson, Lake and Palmer. In between sets, when Quatro talked about Hollywood scripts, million dollar deals, Clive Davis and distribution arrangments, it was obvious that this is an entertainer who's been around the music business a few years.

In fact, Quatro, who now lives in Grosse Pointe, was playing classical music in public performances by age 7 and as a regular on the Lawrence Welk show by age 12.

But he's still looking for the elusive platinum album, and he thinks with video support his new album could be the cluding Marty's in Birmingham. A graduate of Oakland University's Music Department, Pitt started her music career 10 years ago. She recorded an album in California before coming home to raise a family. Now she's ready to perform again.

The new album features several songs Pitt wrote, and in addition has a Bob Dylan tune ("Forever Young"). She refers to her music as New Age Music.

"This is all music that's aimed at positivity," said Pitt, who was in town re-cently before a return to Fairfield, Iowa, where she's spending the winter. "It doesn't have any murder stories or broken hearts. I guess it's about growth. My music comes from the point of view that things are getting better through personal growth."

She said, to complete her explanation of New Age Music, that it combines folk, classical, jazz and blues "in a positive vein."

The professionally produced album also features Pitt's voice on the songs that seem guaranteed to make you feel a little better about the state of the

He then stayed in Europe for eight years working as a jazz vocalist and as a composer for the Frankfurt Radio Orchestra before returning to the United States in 1983.

Naylor readily admits he inherited a very good program at Oakland University, but he still wants to put his own signature on the Commercial Music Program. "I want to make it a really good environment to prepare students for films, Broadway shows and recordings," Naylor said. "I'd like to add balance to the commercial program so that it's relevant for getting employment in the mu-

It's not just good performances, though, that make this production a real winner. Costumes, makeup, lighting, and some sets that are truly first-rate prove that director Michael Rothaar and his behind-the-scenes the right one.

No, he's not a great singer, but who cares? He manages to carry off his musical numbers with charm and a kind of natural aplomb — and he's alcrew have given a remarkable amount of care and attention to small, but oh-so-significant detail.

Last, and certainly not least, mention should be made of music director Martha Kuykendail and orchestra, who do a commandable to marking. ways fun to wate And then there are the children. And then there are the children. What to say about this disarming group of handits who practically walk away with the show? Food, atmosphere blend nicely at Romanik's

Your traveling taster visits area eateries and rates them on a 100-point scale. Up to 30 points are awarded for ambiance, which includes general atmosphere and service; 55 points for food, and 15 points for price/value rating. A total count of 55 points or less indicates a restaurant is not recommended; 56-74 points signify from passing to good; 75-89 points designate very good with some extraordinary features, and 90-100 points show that a very special dining experience awaits you.

ROMANIK'S, 6303 Orchard Lake Road in the Orchard Mall, West Bloomfield, (855-6511) is a flourishing restaurant, featuring fresh fish, poultry and a variety of daily specials. The appearance is clean and natural, with hardwood floors. There is a rather small bar, and reservations are a must, especially on weekends.

Romanik's is a very popular spot for area eaters. The atmosphere is informal (many diners are in sport coats, without ties). The restaurant is bright and cheerful but a bit hectic, with seating fairly close together. Tables do have fresh flowers, and each table has its own unique salt and pepper set. General atmosphere - 15 points maximum. Points awarded 12.

We visited Romanik's on a Friday night. Our reservations were honored immediately. Service was very good, at times almost too speedy. The waiter was helful in explaining and recommending menu choices. Water was refilled regularly, and extra rolls were brought without our asking. Our dinner for four took about an hour and 40 minutes. Service — 15 points maximum. Points awarded -

Drinks were stong, although the Bloody Mary was too spicy for one drinker's taste. Our waiter suggested Coconut Shrimp ($6.25 for five shrimp), which was a very tasty appetizer. The onion rolls and croissants were exceptional. Served warm, they tempted our group to eat a basket and a half. Drinks, appetizers, and bread - 10 points maximum. Points awarded - 9.

A choice of Caesar Salad or Garden Salad is included with each entree. Both salads were fresh and tasty. Although the Caesar Salad is not prepared at the table, it has anchovies and fresh ground pepper. The chilled forks were another nice touch. Salad - 5 points maximum. Points

We sampled a variety of entrees, all in the $12-$16 price range. The veal chop (a regular daily special) was thick, juicy and as tasty as could be. The barbecued ribs were plentiful, meaty and tangy. The duck with bananas and walnuts was a very interesting change from more usual treatments. It came crisp and the sauce was quite pleasing. The fresh halibut, ordered without sauce, was also delicious. Seasonal vegetables, served with each entree, were fresh. Entree, vegetables and garnishes - 30 points maximum. Points awarded

Romanik's has built a formidable dessert reputation on its Brownie — and for good reason. Served

Courtroom art The picture — only one shot and a fast draw

By Shiriee Rose Iden staff writer

Artists work to capture a lovely scene, a fascinating face or the depths of emotion. Carole Kabrin says her art is that of the artist as a recorder

A courtroom illustrator for television, Kabrin, a Southfield resident, is presently showing the drawings through which she has chronicled newsworthy events for 10 years.

The show will run in the Oakland County Court, Pontiac through Nov. 26 and from Nov. 27 to Jan. 31 in Federal Court House, Detroit. l see courtroom art as last remaining art forms of a longstanding tradition," she said. "Through expression and gesture, I strive to express a moment in histo-

Included in the exhibition are drawings from trials such as that of Vincent Chin, Vista, Victor Malone murder trial, the Billy Simms contract dispute, the grand jury arraignment of John Delorean, the Karen Norman murder trial and others.

Kabrin is offering the show to celebrate her 10th year as a news artist and her fourth year with Channel 7,

"I ALSO thought it would be fun and interesting to do," she said.

Born in Detroit, Kabrin grew up in Livonia and came to Southfield 18 years ago. She was graduated from Southfield High School in 1969.

She earned her bachelor of fine arts degree from Wayne State University in 1975, the same year she starting working at WWJ-TV Channel 4 on the Jimmy Hoffa case.

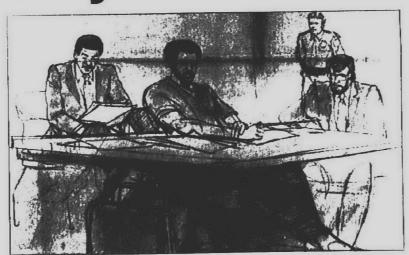

"I heard about a drawing job at school and went right to the television station," she recalled. "They made me draw someone at the station to see how I worked."

Kabrin said her courtroom work ust be quick and accurate. "In just a few minutes, it may be necessary to capture the defendant, attorney, the judge and jury foreman.

"I have to draw them in action, but I also have to draw what the reporter is writing. My illustrations are done so the camera can pan. They tape my stuff right in the court and send it via microwave to the station for editing."

She's a regular in courts such as Recorder's, the federal courts, district and circuit courts in southeastern Michigan and elsewhere. When cameras are allowed in the courtroom, it will end a time in which it was the artist that physically recorded current events with pencil and paint," she said.

KABRIN has worked for all three television stations locally and for the CBS network. Presently, she works exclusively for Channel 7 and ABC. "My work has appeared on the networks, as well as 'Good Morning America, the CBS Morning News, and 'Nightline,' "she said. "In 1980 I worked five weeks in Winimac, Ind., for CBS doing the Ford Pinto trial. It was quite a thrill seeing my drawings on with Walter Cronkite three to four nights a week on national television.

"It was very hard work. I drew for 11 hours a day. I didn't get lunch because at lunch I was finishing the morning drawings so I could finish the afternoon drawings in time for shooting and feed the tapes back to New York to be put on the air.

"Each network shared the satellite, special kind of drawing. so if the drawings weren't done, they didn't get on the air. They got done.

Another exciting story, Kabrin described, was coverage of the Republican Convention in Detroit for WJCB-

"I did the behind-the-scenes drawings of the news operation," she said.

"I WAS allowed on the floor for 45 minutes. A person needed a million passes to get on the convention floor. It was very exciting."

In 1983, the ABC network sent Kabrin to Chicago to cover a deportation hearing for "Nightline." A black South African professor was being dee of proble passport. He was afraid to go back because he had spoken out against the ruling government.

Kabrin's vital tools are her beeper, a sufficient supply of paper, sharpened pencils and gas in her car.

of working rapidly and under pressure, she is an acknowledged expert in her field.

"I feel externely fortunate to be able to do what I got my degree to do, to draw," she said. "Drawing for television news demands everything I of being a fine artist and exhibiting ever studied and more. It's a very

"The subject is always moving, and usually have three to six drawings to do to fulfill the assignment. There has to be a picture of the defendant, the defense attorney, the judge, the prosecutor, the jury and what's called an overall sketch or 'situationer.'

"IF THERE are witnesses, then I have to stop and draw each witness. It's difficult. They must be good likenesses, drawn with a loose, expressive line, and with feeling, and all in a short time."

Kabrin said there's no time to make mistakes, but the work is exciting and she never gets bored.

Another interest of the artist is drawing horses whose action correlates well with the action she has illustrated in courtrooms. "I love horses and I love capturing them in movement." she said.

Presently working on her master's Added to the skill she has acquired degree in drawing at WSU, Kabrin is proud of the work she does because she said it helps inform people and preserve the freedoms we enjoy.

Barton's mixed- up baby boomers ring true

By Hugh Gallagher staff writer

THE EL CHOLO FEELING PASSES, by Fredrick Barton. Peachtree Publishers, $14.95. Every so often a book comes along that speaks to the problems of a specific generation. "The El Cholo Feeling Passes" is about hard times for baby One suspects that this is Barton's semiautobiographical coming-of-age novel. It is a dark comedy, bizarrely amusing and deeply disturbing. It's about growing up in the South (New Orleans), being forced into a career (academia) and, most of all, trying to make a modern marriage work

Barton has an incredible ear for dialogue, especially the angry give and take of marital arguments, during which two people who love each other seem to always find ways to wound.

THE BOOK alternates objective third-person narrative with a first-person memo written by Richard Janus to explain to the UCLA history doctoral committee why he isn't writing a dissertation. The book looks back on Janus' life up to the mid 1970s when, at age 28, he is giving up an academic career. But the heart of the novel is a painful examination of Janus' marriage to Faith, a woman torn between a and her demands that he succeed. Yet sense of insecurity and dependency and a desire to be free and equal in all

This is a classic, male exploration of that famous Freud question "What do women want?" The only conclusion Janus reaches, or anyone can, is "who really knows." The reverse is also true here, "What do men want?" Even they don't know.

The objective chapters are meant, I suppose, to provide a less biased view of things, especially in the more dramatic scenes, Janus being too much a Southern gentleman to detail in his memo all the bizarre incidents of his marriage. But this technique doesn't uite work. The ojective chapters are still from Janus' point of view. Faith's behavior is presented from Janus' bewildered reaction. But this is perhaps good antidote to the flood of women's books detailing the basic degeneracy and selfishness of men.

Janus is sympathetic to his wife's desires, but he cannot contend with her shifting needs, her constant criticism he retains a possessive, destructive de-

IN all of this Barton delivers a devastatingly accurate portrait of our mixed-up world. Women grew up learning one thing and now must cope with whole new expectations, but the old expectations live on. The same is true for men. Men grow up being told they must succeed, get ahead, compete.

Men who fall short of expectations are quickly cast aside as losers. Yet men, now, also must be there for family, must be sensitive to the demands of their wives and lovers, must be capable of emotion but strong enough not to show it. Superman and Superwoman end up colliding when it all falls to

Janus is a driver, an excellent student, a basketball star, an achiever. He grew up in that strangest of contradictions, a liberal Southern Baptist home He was praised from grade school for his maturity. He is a sensitive lover, eager but always giving. Then, one day, perfection becomes a grind. Janus realizes that he doesn't want to become the historian that everybody wants him to be. His memo is an attack on the academic community that wants to welcome him with open arms. It is an attack on being forced to live up to the expectations of others to the point where you lose contact with your own

Faith is bright, attractive, often good-humored, ambitious and sexy. But she is also insecure, disappointed, pulled in several directions at one time (the demands of marriage, radical feminism, a need to please men, a need to succeed equally with her husband). Every word becomes a challenge, eve-ry act an assault. Nothing is taken at face value by Faith because she can't series of half endings and tentative new trust that stranger who shares her bed. beginnings. She drives him away and calls him back and drives him away again. The subject matter is serious, but Barton is a good storyteller. He uses humor and exaggeration to make his numor and exaggeration to make his points. Janus' favorite book is Joseph Heller's "Catch 22," and though "El Cholo" never achieves Heller's grand sense of the absurd, the tone is very similar. We are dealing with something important here — let's laugh at it before we cry.

The book has some explicit but curiously sensitive sexual scenes.

Barton doesn't tie things up neatly. Relationships do not begin and end simply; Barton understands that life is a
