Personal finance status put in focus

Canton school district are among the wealthiest in the state in terms of annual income, according to a study by the Michigan Department of Treasury. An analysis of 1983 state income tax returns by school district indicates that Plymouth-Canton residents ranked 21st among 574 districts statewide with an average adjusted gross income of $27,500. That figure was the fourth highest among the 36 school districts in Wayne County, topped only by Grosse Pointe, Grosse Isle and Northville.

The analysis, released in August, also yields other interesting tidbits such as: • Just more than half of the 28,216

Persons who live in the Plymouth- income tax returns filed in Plymouth-Canton in 1983 claimed a property tax credit.

The homestead credit averaged $468, which was higher than the average property credit in 79 percent of the school districts in Michigan.

However, taxpayers in 10 Wayne County school districts — including Garden City, Livonia and Northville received higher homestead credits on average than did Plymouth-Canton residents.

(Homestead credits are available if property taxes exceed 31/2 percent of household income.)

· Plymouth-Canton taxpayers rank in the bottom quarter statewide when taking property tax credits as a per-centage of tax before credits. The local figure is 18.2 percent. Only

River Rouge, Romulus, Woodhaven and Van Buren rank lower in Wayne Coun-That indicates residents in Plymouth are getting higher than average property tax credits off their income taxes but because their incomes are high, credits represent a lower percentage of the taxes they pay," said Howard Heideman, manager of the state's Taxation and Economic Policy Office.

· While the general homestead tax credit far and away was most used in Plymouth-Canton to lower property taxes, local taxpayers also made use of other options to reduce taxes

Nearly 2,100 returns indicated a senior citizen credit totalling $1.5 million; 136 returns had credits for veterans or the blind amounting to $29,500; 64 credits for the disabled totalling $34,500; and six farmland or solar amounting to $63,000.

• Taking account of all property tax credits, Plymouth-Canton taxpayers paid a total of $33.2 million in income taxes in 1983.

THE INCOME and property tax credit analysis was prepared to be used as an informational tool, Heideman said "I think people like looking at statistics for their community," he said. "This gives us an indirect indication of the amount of state aid people get through property tax relief.

The Department of Treasury advised caution interpreting the statistics.

"Not all income tax returns are represented . . . since 11.3 percent of total returns and 7.7 percent of property credits claimed listed no school district code or a nonexistent code," the report said.

Second, some taxpayers may have mistakenly listed an incorrect school code," it continued. "The third reason for caution is that as always, averages may give a misleading picture in some instances.

through the good times and the bad, has 'been a nice bunch of roses." "And that includes the time I spent in the Navy during war times," said Rogena. "And I've been through two of them - World War I and World War П."

Rogena remembers specifics about the war, like the number of men on both ships and the secretary of state during World War I - Edwin Denby.

"There were 955 men on my ship during World War I with room for 300 extras," Rogena quickly responds, "And 2,800 men during World War II; nothing else but airplanes and guns!"

ROGENA REMEMBERS the guns most of all.

Stationed on one of 18 battleships during World War I, Rogena was located in the turret of the USS Arkansas. "I spent all of my time with the nuzplanes blowing everything up."

AFTER THE WAR Rogena, who was born on March 17, 1899, in Pittsburgh, moved to Detroit with wife Louise to whom he was married for 47 years until her death in 1983.

"I opened a bar at 6460 Russell Street," Rogena said. "Had that bar for 35 years, back in the good old days when Al Cobo was mayor."

Rogena retired in 1965 at age 65, and he presently spends his time visiting friends at the V.F.W. once or twice a week. He said he doesn't have any hobbies, other than traveling to visit relatives, most of whom live in Bloomington, Ind.

On the subject of future wars, Rogena said that he'll never be in another one and he "hopes to God" that he'll never see one.

The philosophy of this two-time veteran is a simple one: "Peace is the best thing in the world for everybody. It's just that simple."

In uniform and displaying his two bronze good conduct medals, Rogena plans to spend Veteran's Day riding in a car to the ceremonies in Plymouth. Balanced-budget fight ignites hot seat State politicos consider federal issue

By Tim Richard staff writer

Lyn Bankes, a freshman state representative from Livonia, got more attention from lobbyists than the other 147 members of the Michigan Legislature combined during last week's showdown vote over a federal balanced budget/constitutional convention.

"She caved. She saw that full-page ad and was almost in tears. She can't handle the pressure," said a woman colleague.

Bankes switched Thursday to a "yes" vote, joining the losing side in an at-tempt to make Michigan the 33rd state five Democrats were in favor, one Reto petition the U.S. Congress either to ratify a balanced-budget amendment to the Constitution or call a constitutional convention.

Despite her switch, the measure failed, 51-56, in the House after being passed 24-14 in the state Senate.

"Now she has both sides mad at her," said the colleague, Rep. Shirley Johnson, R-Royal Oak.

THE BALANCED budget/con-con issue was pronounced "dead" for the remainder of this session by House minority leader Michael Busch, R-Saginaw, after Thursday's half-hour session.

Conservative backers of the plan the state Chamber of Commerce, the the state Chamber of Commerce, the National Taxpayers Union and the Michigan Bankers Association — saw their hopes dashed of scaring Congress into ratifying the balanced-budget amendment. If 34 state legislatures ask it, America's first constitutional convention in 198 years could become a reality. Here is how western Wayne County lawmakers voted:

• Yes - Reps. Lyn Bankes, R-Livo-nia, John Bennett, D-Redford, and Ger-ald Law, R-Plymouth; Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville,

• No - Reps. Justine Barns, D-

Westland, and James Kosteva, D-Can- from Bankes, who had voted against an vote yes by Congressman Carl Pursell, ton; Sens. William Faust, D-Westland, and Patrick McCollough, D-Dearborn. • Absent - Rep. William Keith, D-Garden City. This had the effect of a 'no" vote because it takes 56 "yes" votes to adopt a measure.

In the House, 43 Republicans and eight Democrats voted for adoption; 10 Republicans and 46 Democrats were opposed. Three members were absent. In the Senate, 19 Republicans and publican and 13 Democrats were opposed earlier version of the plan.

THE PRESSURE - from the White House, her congressman, the state Chamber of Commerce, the National Taxpayers Union and constituents was concentrated on prying a "yes"

Bankes said she favored a balancedbudget amendment to the Constitution in her 1984 campaign but voted last spring against the first version of the resolution because it contained a con-

But the final measure satisfied her because "the convention would be limited to a single topic or the resolution will be null, void and rescinded."

Senate Majority Leader John Engler, R-Mount Pleasant, arranged for President Ronald Reagan to give her a brief phone call of support. That occurred when she was visiting Geake on the Senate floor Wednesday.

"The president was not the deciding factor. He was an extenuating factor," said Bankes, who also was urged to R-Plymouth.

For other Wayne County lawmakers, it was just another vote on something they either did or didn't believe in.

"THE WHOLE thing's crazy," said Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, who supported the resolution nonetheless.

'I'm not for a convention that would do anything but balance the budget. But by the time a constitutional convention got around to doing it, we'd be another trillion dollars in debt," said the second-term lawmaker. "What bothers me is the long, drawn-out process.'

Law said he was persuaded by Con-gressman Pursell that a con-con would not be a "runaway" body. "Carl's not what you'd call the die-hard conservative," chuckled Law, referring to Pursell's relatively liberal voting record. "I wish the federal government would take care of it at their level instead of having the states involved."

IN THE SENATE debate, McCollough, whose district includes Garden City, warned that "once a constitutional convention is called, your reasons for calling it become irrelevant. Your ability to rescind it is not real."

McCollough said polls of his district showed 76-24 percent approval for a balanced budget amendment but 59-41 opposition to a con-con.

Faust of Westland didn't speak but concurred in McCollough's remarks. Geake — whose district includes Redford, Livonia, Plymouth and Canton - closed the Senate debate by saying other speakers had overlooked something: "This is only a constitutional convention, even if it's called. Anything that this constitutional convention proposes still has to be ratified by three-fourths of the states.

"The delegates are not going to go to Washington and just do whatever they feel like, even, if they decided to run away from the will of the people. "Michigan has a balanced budget article in its constitution. It has worked fairly welli ... Our federal govern-ment has never had a balanced budget provision. We need one badly," Geake said. BANKES' TROUBLES began when she confessed to her caucus that she was wavering. The word got out. First, the National Taxpayers Union bought full-page ads with coupons for readers to fill out and mail to her but Bankes thought they were "ineffec-tion."

A Plymouth-Canton teacher, who was suspended for six months in November 1982, has won the latest round in his attempt to recover back

An Ingham Circuit judge has affirmed a ruling by the state tenure commission rescinding the suspension of Scott Kurtz and ordering the payment of withheld salary less any mon-cy he earned during the suspension. The reasoning behind the rulings, said William Albertson, a lawyer for the school district, was that an attor-ney advising the school board during hearings resulting in Kurts's suspen-sion participated in the board's deliberations, therefore violating Kurtz's due process rights.

Albertson denies that the delibera-tions were tainted and said the school tions were tainted and said the school district has appealed to the state Court of Appeals. "The attorney in-volved was answering questions on le-galities, not evidence," he maintains. Albertson anticipates a decision from the appeals court within nine monthe months.

Kurts, initially hired in September 1976, was suspended for using exces-sive force against a disruptive stu-dent. He since has returned to teaching industrial arts at Central Middle School.

"What the district is attempting to do is get the appeals court to look at whether the evidence supported the action rather than was there a procedural problem," Albertson said. We're saying his presence didn't violate due process."

A broader question is also at issue, Albertson said.

"Are boards or tenure commissions able to have legal advisers?" Albert-son asked. "These hearings are held all the time."

Women take their place in the House

Though still out-numbered but not silent

By Tim Richard staff writer

HIRLEY Johnson tells the story of a lobbyist who spoke briefly before the Appropriations Committee of the state House of Representatives. "I will give this documentation to your secretary," he said, handing it to her.

The chagrined labbyist felt his case collapse when Johnson informed him that she wasn't a secretary - she is the representative from the 68th House District of Oakland County and a member of one of the most potent committees in the Michigan Legislature.

That's what it's like, some days, in Lansing.

But the women lawmakers - there are 14 in the House and two in the Senate - don't meet as a separate caucus, even though they sometimes feel a bit isolated when the good ol' boys exercise power.

They reinforce each other socially, rather than as a political caucus, and they are extremely fair about how they dress, both in the Capitol Building and on the campaign trail.

FIVE SUBURBAN women representatives were interviewed about their roles in a body that is 89.2 percent male. They are, alphabetically:

• Lyn Bankes, 44, Republican of Livonia, in her first term after serving on the Wayne County Charter Commission.

• Maxine Berman, 39, Democrat of Southfield. in her second term, a one-time high school English teacher and the only single member of the group. She chairs the Elections Committee.

• Justine Barns, 60, Democrat of Westland, in her second term after 17 years on the Westland City Council and service on the city charter commission and Wayne County Charter Commission. She chairs the Committee on Constitutional Revision and Women's Rights.

• Judith Miller, 48, Republican of Birmingham, in her first term after service on the Birmingham City Commission.

• Shirley Johnson, 47, Republican of Royal Oak, son predicted will cost Bankes a lot of female supin her third term after coming up through the ranks of the PTA, civic groups and party politics.

THERE IS NO longer a women's caucus in the Legislature - deliberately.

There are differing opinions if there should be one," said Berman. "I have strong feelings against it. So I volunteered to chair the group, knowing I'd never call a meeting." Why not? After all the 1982 talk about Republican Richard Headlee's "gender gap," and after the apparent female enthusiasm for Geraldine Ferraro in 1984, isn't there some commonality of views among women?

"We don't all speak with one voice on every issue," Berman answered. "The press would focus on one or two (who didn't vote with the caucus) and say, 'See, women don't agree.'

YET THERE are points where women, even if they aren't unanimous, clearly vote differently from men.

Take the issue of funding Medicaid abortions. Women representatives were 11-3 in favor while men were 75 percent opposed. Women made the difference in upholding Gov. James J. Blanchard's veto of the fund cutoff.

Take last week's balanced budget/constitutional convention resolution. Women were 11-3 opposed. Of the suburban group, only Bankes, in the closing port.

"All of us support ERA (federal Equal Rights Amendment)," said Johnson.

"We communicate," said Bankes. "We used to have breakfasts," added Barns. "We wanted to get acquainted. The good ol' boys go to bars. We're not as ingrained in The System."

ONLY TWO women serve in the state Senate after a dozen years in which there were none. One is Connie Binsfeld, a conservative Republican from Leelanau County; the other is Lana Pollack, a liberal Democrat from Ann Arbor. There is no woman among Michigan's 20-member congressional delegation.

"Lana tells me they are very lonely," said Berman.

"They nominate women to Congress only when they can't win," Berman went on. "As seats become more powerful, it becomes more difficult for women and minorities to get those seats."

Johnson recalled she was approached to seek a state Senate seat when the veteran Bill S. Huffman retired in 1982, but turned it down because "I had a good House seat and didn't want to be viewed as extremely ambitious."

Barns recalled that she wanted the state representative seat in 1970, but was shunted aside by the powers-that-be because "Tom Brown needs a job and you have kids." She made it in 1982.

need to do their homework thoroughly.

"To be a woman legislator, you have to have some pretty strong opinions," said Barns. "We're all issue-oriented.'

"In general," said Berman, "no matter what the issue is, women of the Legislature. . .

"Are smarter!" Bankes interjected.

.are much tougher in terms of not caving in. Most of us went through so much go get where we are. You have to do twice as much work to be equal," Berman finished.

"That's no joke," Bankes added. "I always bring in a lot of paperwork."

OF THE FIVE, three wore suits that day; the other two, conservative dresses.

"I wear suits because I find I'm taken much more seriously," said Miller. "What you wear must neither attract nor detract from your work."

"I will never wear a flamboyant or flashy dress," said Barns. "I will never wear slacks."

Johnson said she wears slacks only for the knockdown, drag-out midnight sessions over tax increases so she can put her legs up on her desk.

Shirley Johnson, R-Royal Oak, turned down a senate try so she wouldn't seem "extremely ambitious."

Rep. Maxine Berman of Southfield: "We don't always speak with one voice on every issue."

Johnson, but tough when you're on the primary campaign trail on a hot July afternoon. A male candidate can doff his coat and roll up his sleeves, but a woman candidate knocking on doors is advised to stick with the suit and bear the heat.

MANY ECONOMIC issues have faded as "women's issues" in recent months and years. An appeals court struck down a state of Washington "comparable worth" ruling which would have required equal pay for different jobs where certain jobs were female-dominated. The difficulty of women getting bank credit to start businesses seems to have faded as a legislative issue.

Child care centers for working parents, however, are on the front burner. "Day care clearly is the most important issue for women who want to work or need to work," said Berman. Bankes said, "A poll shows it's becoming a man's issue. They need the woman's income."

"And more (divorced) fathers are getting custody of the children," added Johnson.

"We're talking pay equity," said Barns, who chairs the Constitutional Revision and Women's Rights Committee. But she deplores the fact that women are not taking the math" they need to get better jobs.

WITH THAT handful of exceptions, the women are interested in the same issues as the men.

"My focus is higher education," said Miller. "Anything we do affects every one."

Bowler beating odds at age 73

By W.W. Edgar staff writer

If awards were given for showing courage against odds at age 73 one of the largest would have to be presented to Laura Blake, now a member of the senior league at Super Bowl in Canton.

Over the years she has competed in the Detroit area and won prizes. She also competed in the prestigous Peterson Classic in Chicago and in the major tournaments in Las Vegas.

But along the way she suffered two strokes and had to switch from being a right-hand bowler to delivering from the southpaw side. This is one of the most difficult moves in any sport but more difficult in bowling.

Now, at the age when most persons, would be sitting on the sidelines she still is showing her competitive form by bowling every Monday morning in the senior league and averaging 140. Her high game thus far has been a 180.

When bowling in the major events in and around Detroit years ago she averaged around 170. And she bowled regularly in the Detroit area for 30 years.

That would have satisfied most bowlers. But not Blake. Fifteen years ago, when she was 58, she entered the famed Petersen Classic in Chicago and won the ladies division. She was then rated with the best in her age group and became known nationwide.

Three years later she gained more national acclaim when she and her partner, Carol Sheppatd, won their division title in the W.I.B.C. tournanent at Las Vegas.

With these two titles she was rated one of the nation's top women bowlers. But misfortune struck and she was the victim of two strokes. Not only did that cause her to take time off but she couldn't resist the temptation and decided to switch deliveries from right to left for a year.

It was a bold move but, as she explained it, bowling was in her blood and she had to take her turn at topping the ten pins to help overcome her misfortune.

Despite her advancing years Blake still is very competitive and no one in the senior league puts more of their energy into the game.

t was this competitive spirit that helped her roll the high game of 180 this season and enables her to average 140 for the season thus far.

She and her husband also are avid bingo players but bowling is by far her chief competition as she goes on to gain a place among the leaders, despite her many misfortunes. But her competitive spirit carried her on and still does.

LAST YEAR'S telethon and food drive resulted in some 30,000 canned goods being donated and some $2,000 in contributions.

For the Salvation Army, its collections from Christmas Kettles last year were $4,000 higher than in 1983.

"This increase in donations and food allowed the army to expand its assistance from 175 to more than 230 families for Christmas 1984, not including more than 100 families fed at Thanksgiving," said Manzella.

Board knocks clerk's actions

In a dramatic move, the Canton Township Board of Trustees voted to admonish Clerk Linda Chuhran.

A resolution written by Trustee Robert Padget was toned down to say the board "admonishes" rather than "censures" the clerk's reactions to a comment made during a public meeting by Ed Portschell, chairman of Canton's "implementation committee." This group was formed to switch the administrative makeup in Canton from a strong-supervisor to a strong-superintendent format.

Portschell asked the clerk why she attended a Detroit Edison-sponsored seminar concerning streetlights in North Carolina. In a number of subsequent letters and a telephone conversation, Chuhran charged Portschell with accusing her of taking "kickbacks" from, and "playing favoritism" toward, Detroit Edison.

PADGET'S RESOLUTION was passed 6 to 1 with Chuhran casting the sole opposing vote at last week's meeting.

The voice of disapproval was sparked by Chuhran requesting Portschell's resignation from the "implementation committee," and her request for his apology.

PARAFFIN and turpentine makes a terrific floor wax. Melt a half cake of paraffin and add a cupful of turpentine. Will make hardwood floors sparkle. Turn idle items into cash with an Observer & Eccentric Classified Ad.

The resolution says the board "by majority vote hereby strongly admonishes the clerk of Canton Township for her behavior and actions aimed at discouraging open participation of citizens in the government process."

At last week's meeting, Chuhran acknowledged that Portschell never actually mentioned "kickbacks" or "payoffs" during the public meeting.

Trustee Stephen Larson said "the whole point of it" is that those terms never were used by Portschell, and Chuhran's actions could cause a lawsuit to be filed against the board, Larson said.

Before the vote, Chuhran said: "I consider this censorship as strictly a slap on the wrist" for a lawsuit she filed against Supervisor James Poole.

Chuhran added that the resolution was written because she "refuses to be one of the boys" on the board. "I think the action is ill advised and unwarranted.'

Poole said he objected to the clerk using township stationery when presenting her argument to Portschell.

"Township stationery was used to correspond these thoughts and feelings, and it implies the board objected to Portschell's comments and that there was an official board objection," Poole said. "This could subject Canton residents to a lawsuit that we just don't need.'

The Wayne-Westland Board of Education will review a citizens' committee recommendation Monday for a special millage election proposed for Jan.

The Funding Effective Schools Committee will discuss its recommendation for a renewal of the entire 32-mill tax levy of the district which includes the southeast portion of Canton.

The tax represents $32 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation, or $640 for a resident with a home valued at $40,000.

The tax levy expires next June, but the collection of taxes twice yearly has prompted the district to schedule an earlier election rather than wait for the annual school election next June.

According to Superintendent Dennis O'Neill, the earlier election will permit the district to budget for the coming fiscal year, and if the millage is rejected, permit the scheduling of another election.

The committee, made up of local residents, was directed to review and research information regarding money required to support an effective school program. That task includes making a recommendation on the ballot language for the renewal as well as stag-

It also has been looking at the possibility of new millage in relation to the district's ability to meet the educational goals it has set for itself. What direction the committee will take in that area, however, will not be known until Monday evening, when it presents its final report to the school board.

THE COMMITTEE is looking at the district's ability to make longe range plans as it relates to a stable millage," O'Neill explained.

"They have been looking at reactions to the Project Outreach survey of April 1984, and the positive comments made about the district's curriculum it contained in making their determination."

Apparently, the committee will rec-ommend that the 32-mill renewal be for a 10-year period, a move away from what had been standard threeyear requests. That recommendation, according to O'Neill, follows a trend among county school districts for millage of longer duration to facilitate long-range planning. The suggested date of the election comes as no surprise to district officials or the board. Plans for that date began two months ago to move things along in anticipation of the few weeks

O'NEILL doesn't see problems with the renewal request, based on past votes. The school district's political climate has calmed down after several years of turmoil and school board recalls

The committee, meeting for several weeks, will determine if the district should seek a millage rate increase and, if it does, how to get voters' approval.

The committee's decision could be for more millage, but earmarked for

"We wanted people on the commit-tee, who were more than just positive about the school district," O'Neill said. "The meeting I attended showed they are strong-willed and for education, but concerned about where the dollars go for education."

YRICITA

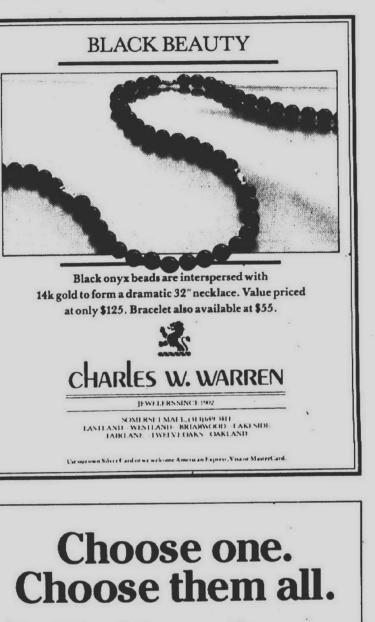

PSORIATIC ARTHRITIS

As if having psoriasis didn't give enough trouble, people with this condition are prone to a special form of arthritis.

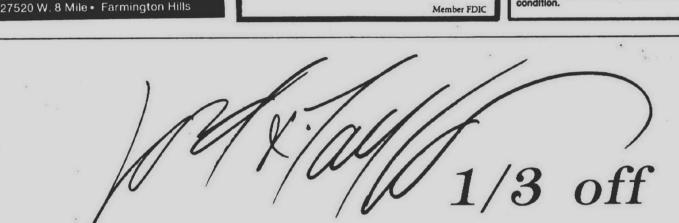

of artinitis. Psoriatic arthritis is unique in that initially it involves one finger or toe, causing a swelling known as a "sausage digit." Over months to years more joints of the hands or feet become swellen and eventually the extremities are indistinguishable from rheumatoid arthritis. However, unlike rheumatoid disease, psoriat-ic arthritis can involve the low back. The result is chronic stiffness and backache which can be mistaken for the arthritic condition of ankylosing spondylitis.

In some people diagnosis of psoriatic arthritis is difficult, as joint pain and swelling occur before skin changes are present. The person is thought to be suffering from nervous tension until skin changes reveal the cause of the joint complaints.

The arthritis associated with peorlasis flares when the skin condition becomes worse, and joints improve as the skin clears. Therefore, treatment for peorlatic arthritis, in addition to a number of drugs from aspirin to gold to joint injection, includes consultation with a dermatologist to determine how to control the skin condition condition.

Saxtons became a garden center in 1940s

(Part 3)

10A(P)

When Dean Saxton opened the Plymouth Feed Store in the mid-1930s his competitor was the Eckles Coal and Feed firm located near the Pere Marquette Railroad tracks.

Later Carl Groschke opened a feed store in the building at 637 S. Main where U.S. Congressman Carl Pursell's father later ran a stationary business. It was in Groske's feed store that the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra got its start 40 years ago. A few local musicians met in the building to play for their own entertainment. Later they formed the symphony. Groschke gave up the feed store to go into the musical instrument business before he and wife Evelyn Wood moved from Plymouth.

DURING SAXTON'S early years in the feed business, he kept long hours. The store was open from 7:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m., but Dean spent an additional three to five hours a night going from farm to farm, drumming up his feed and seed business by giving free vaccinations and worm treatments to chick-

Saxton sold his Nothville store in the early 1940s and the Redford store in Until 1941, he had employed a 1946. manager at his Plymouth store. In that he began to manage the local stope himself. Many residents at the time didn't realize that he had owned it for the preceding seven years.

Business began to change as agriculture became less and less important to the local economy. First Saxton had sold seed, feeds and fertilizers. Then, when farming began to diminish, he began to stock lawn mowers and other implementaneeded by surburban home owners Over the years the name changed from the Plymouth Feed Store to Saxton's Farm and Garden Supply and then, in 1948, to Saxton's Garden Center Operating a business in the early days was much simpler than it is today. "It's all bookwork today," said Sarton. "In the old days I never gave much thought to paperwork. At one period I even ran the business when I was sick in bed. People came to my sickbed and asked me where items were and I'd tell them." The Saxton's lived above the store at the time.

Dean and Margaret Van Fleet Saxton were married in 1920, celebrating 65 years of marriage earlier this year. They have four children. Molly sells real estate. Dean Jr. was educated to be a veterinarian but now translates the Bible for Indians in Arizona. William runs the store. And Margaret lives in Maine. The Saxtons have 15 grandchildren.

the Plymouth Kiwanis Club for the past 43 years and is a past president. He is past commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Redford and of the American Legion in Livonia. He was a senior warden at St. John Episcopal Church.

Saxton recalls that there was no basement in St. John's old church that stood at the corner of Maple and Harvey, where the Plymouth Credit Union is now located. A number of men in the congregation decided to dig one. Among them were Saxton, Bob Willoughby, Ken Hulsing, Gus Worth and Ernie Henry.

Hulsing also recalls the occasion: "All of the dirt had to be carried out of a door or basement window. Never worked so hard in my life."

Saxton's taste in reading runs to history. He was once a golfer but could play only on Sunday. He gave that up to devote time to the four children. He loves baseball and has seen Ty Cobb, Dean Saxton has been a member of Walter Johnson and other greats in action. He was at the ballpark the day Babe Ruth pointed out the direction of the stands to indicate where he intended to hit the home run, then did it.

Saxton also likes to travel. He and Margaret have been to Britain, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Bermuda, Hawali and Alaska. They were in Cuba when Sergeant Batista was that country's dictator. Dean says he particularly liked the Scandinavian countries and Ireland.

SINCE THE mid-1960s the store has been run by Saxton's son, William.

Bill, who had worked at the Redford store for 25 cents an hour when he was 13, graduated from Plymouth High School in 1944. He spent two years in the Navy Air Corps, then earned a bachelor of arts degree in business administration at the University of Michibusiness by the firm's employment mmanager who said: "You don't want to get into this business." The manager was a neighbor named Jack Wilcox.

A REAL PROPERTY OF

Bill then went to work at Saxton's. Bill and Valerie were married in 1947 and have three boys and a girl. Alan, Craig, Chris and Karin all work at the store as does Valerie and a daughter-in-law. Alan and Craig are veterans of the Vietnam War.

In addition to the garden center, Saxtons has two other businesses. One is a small-parts distribution firm in Ann Arbor. The other, operated from the Mercury. He was sold off the idea of Plymouth store, is a statewide distribu-making a career in the automotive tor for Honda engines and parts and for tor for Honda engines and parts and for Roper power equipment and parts. In all, Saxton's employs a total of 22 people

Dean and Margaret Saxton now spend about six months in Plymouth and the other six months in Boynton Beach, Fla. Dean, who is 88, has this advice to a young person thinking of going into business for himself or herself.

Work in the business first, even if for free. Learn from the salesmen who call on you and from your customers. I remember in the early days that farmers were always willing to help me."

eterans Day stirs memories

Armistice Day.

It does not seem like 67 years have slipped by since that morning in 1918 when the entire country went wild in celebrating the end of World War I.

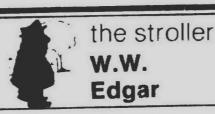

To many, this day is now called Veterans Day but to those, like the Stroller, who were lucky enough to be in the old-time celebration, it will always be remembered as Armistice Day, with memories that never can be forgotten.

Perhaps it is because it was one of the greatest days of our young lives, especially to those who lived in a small town.

It was an unusual celebration - unusual because it was celebrated twice. There was a premature word passed along that had the war ended on a end during the night and that he would remain

ple bell and our members will be the first to know came and the church bell peeled the news. Most everyone was awake and headed for the streets and the town's fire hall. It wasn't long until all the horse carriages were out and the parade was on. The noisemakers subbed for music and the parade and yelling was up and down the streets.

or since. All the saloons were opened and many of the folks back in the Dutch Country still talk of it even though we have gone through another war and still are feuding with folks across the sea.

But reguardless, there never will be a celebration like the Armistice Day activity way back in 1918.

Those of us who were lucky enough to be in the all-day marches will never forget it. The Stroller walked with his granddad, a Civil War veteran who had a hand in the original Armistice celebration.

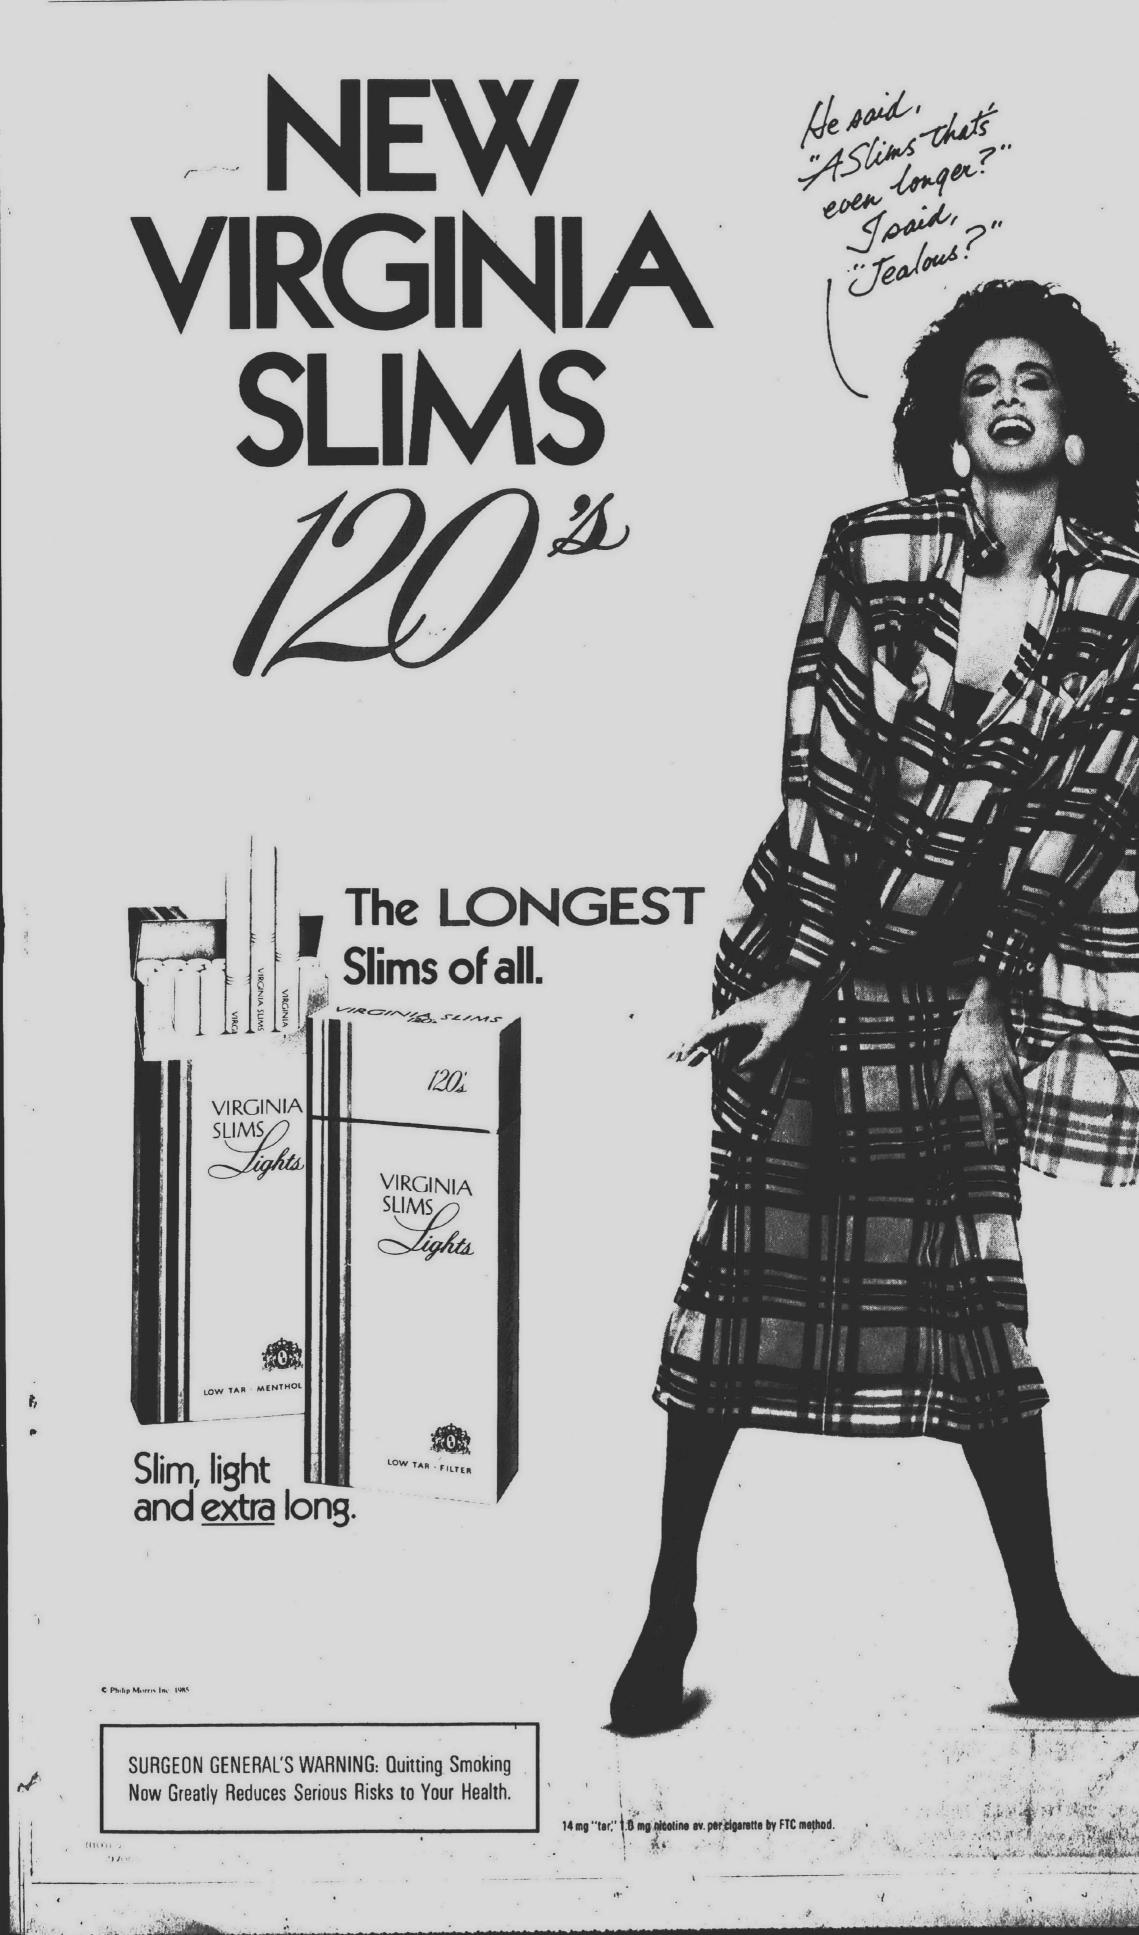

Memories! What golden memories they are. They will never be forgotten and as we now celebrate again it is with the hope that there never need be another Ar-

Winning Fare for Game-Time Parties

For ardent fans of any team, now is a popular time for entertaining either before or after the big game.

Pre-game get-togethers and post-game victory celebrations call for something extra special in the menu department. An old favorite such as chicken takes on new interest when it's combined with juicy canned Bartlett pears or a colorful rice mixture.

Almost everyone likes the taste of chicken and guests will applaud its low calorie content. Chicken is economical, too, so a sports party won't wreck your family food budget.

Canned Bartlett pears, when teamed up with the chicken or featured in a delicious dessert or refreshing salad, have a natural sweet flavor that adds just the right touch. They also offer convenience as they're already perfectly ripened, peeled and ready to enjoy.

Tea is the ideal beverage for any occasion, served hot or cold. It is an ideal partner in a punch, giving body without masking the flavors of the other ingredients. And tea takes well to flavor accents, such as spices, fruit juices and even spirits.

For brunch before the game serve Baked Chicken and Pears accompanied with colorful stir-fried vegetables and a spicy hot Kickoff Punch. Or, invite friends for a post-game party. and begin with Victory Tea Punch followed by the entree - Herbed Chicken and Rice. Finally, salute your favorite team with a delectable Pear Oatmeal Cake

Hot chili pie — autumn favorite

When the first cool winds of autumn begin to blow, one's thoughts often turn to chili, which is likely to be avoided during hot, summer months.

Spicy hot chili, made with beer and topped with dollops of delicious cornmeal dumplings, puts a new face on an old familiar friend. It's a great crowdpleaser and it's economical too.

Many time-honored recipes, passed down through generations of western chili-lovers, mix all the traditional seasonings with beer. Beer has been used as a meat marinade and sauce base for centuries. It tenderizes chili meat and adds a unique flavor that you won't find in any spice can. The alcohol in the beer evaporates during cooking, leaving an unmatched aromatic flavor.

Chili originated around 1850 in Texas. Trail cooks along cattle drives through barren prairies were responsible for providing grub to ravenous cowboys. Cooks threw whatever meat they had into the stew pot and flavored it with plenty of chili peppers. Chicken, buffalo, rabbit and rattlesnake all found their way into countless chili recipes.

One enterprising trail cook ensured his spice supply by planting small gardens of peppers and other spices in mesquite patches along the cattle drive trail. By the time he returned, the spices were ready to harvest and dry in the sur.

MANY FOLKS today still dry their own chili peppers, by lining on strings 18 oz. can of tomatoes, cut up and hanging them in a dry place. This provides a ready supply of fresh spicy peppers and is an attractive decoration as well. Whether you dry your own or use canned spices, you'll find that beer adds a unique taste to the spicy goodness of chili.

Beer can also brighten a variety of other foods. A new historical book published by Adolph Coors Company, "A Taste of the West from Coors," is full of delicious ideas for mixing food and beer.

The book costs $7.95 and can be bought in local bookstores or ordered by sending check or money order to Coors Cookbook, P.O. Box 10227, Des Moines, Iowa 50336.

The book's 113 recipes, compiled from more than two years of research throughout the West, show westernfood lovers how to marinate, bake, mix and flavor foods with one of the oldest cooking ingredients known to man.

Soften meat by braising

Braising, a form of moist-heat cookery, is best suited to the less-tender cuts of meat such as beef pot roasts, beef short ribs, lamb shanks and pork shoulder cubes.

According to the National Live Stock and Meat Board, braising is used to soften connective tissue in less tender cuts and to provide a moist cooking medium to help reduce surface drying. By following proper braising techniques, tender, juicy, and flavorful meat entrees are obtained from economical meat cuts.

Braising Made Easy

Brown meat in a small amount of oil in large frying pan or Dutch oven. Remove excess drippings; season meat to taste. Add small amount of liquid to keep meat moist. Cover utensil tightly. Cook at low temperature on top of range or in slow oven (300 degrees to 325 degrees F).

Fix the queen's beans

I'd like to nominate my wife for bean-cooking queen. Red or white, Anita really knows her beans.

Unfortunately, she belongs to the pinch-of-this, pinch-of-that club. So you have to persuade her to join the measure-this, measure-that circle for a spell.

She did, one Sunday afternoon, so I could share with her friends and you the fantastic recipe for red beans. She says the concoction is a cross between Cuban and Puerto Rican red beans.

Anita also cooks on unusual settings - such as a little higher than medium or a little lower than medium high - on our electric stove. For convenience, I've rounded off the burner designations.

Alas, she has her own method of beanmanship. First, she does not soak beans overnight.

"You don't have to," she contends. Secondly, Anita snubs the quickboil technique.

She just washes the beans, picks out any foreign particles and plunks them in a large pot, such as the bottom half of a pressure cooker.

You know, the beans come out great.

Anita usually adds a little salt, depending on how salty the beans end up. Actually, most of the time, they need none. ANITA'S RED BEANS 1 package (14 oz) kidney beans bay leaf

2 ham or pork hocks

1 soup spoon bacon fat 1/2 lb salt pork, sliced and halved

1 medium onion, chopped % green pepper, chopped 3 garlic cloves, minced % tsp dried oregano leaves 1/2 tsp dried parsley flakes 1/4 tsp cumin % tsp black pepper 1 can (8 oz) tomato sauce

Wash beans, place in large pot halffilled with water, bring to boil and cook loosely covered on medium-high heat 30 minutes. Add bay leaf and hocks, reduce heat to medium, cover and cook about 1 hour, until fork-tender, adding water if needed. In large skillet, melt bacon fat, brown salt pork on both sides, add onion, green pepper and garlic, stir in seasonings and fry several minutes; stir in tomato sauce, bring to boil and lct bubble several minutes, stirring. Stir mix-ture into beans. Cook beans covered on medium heat another 15 minutes. Serve over white rice. Serves a crowd.

BEVERLY BINGHAM, an arthritic, has written a unique book which brings to the public and to the therapist a resource book as well as a cookbook. She has drawn on her many years of knowledge as a therapist and chef, combining the two in this helpful and hopeful,

"Cooking With Fragile Hands."

Prior to writing "Cooking With Fragile Hands," Bingham mailed over 1,000 questionnaires to occupational therapy departments throughout the United States requesting information on how best to fulfill the needs of those who cook with fragile hands.

She received an overwhelming and positive response as well as many suggestions. These suggestions along with her considerable knowledge as a chef and therapist are her response to an area of cooking which is not provided elsewhere.

Bingham received her bachelor's degree from the university of Rochester and her degree in occupational therapy from the University of Pennsylvania. She holds title of Dame Maitre Rotisseur in the international food society of the Chaine des Rotisseur.

CHANGE OF SEASON brings a run on the Plymouth Community Schools Clothing Bank and reveals a lack of much-needed items.

Boys and girls slacks in sizes 4 to 6X are in very short supply. New hats, mittens, gloves, socks and underwear also are in demand. especially in sizes to fit middle and high school students.

Funds are needed to buy shoes for middle and high school students. Last year the clothing bank purchased 40 pairs of shoes and it already has bought 29 pairs this year. The bank does not handle used shoes nor does it buy gym shoes. When money is available, new socks and underwear are purchased.

"Some of our children never get new underwear. They love it when we are able to give it to them," said Flossie Tonda, founder and director of the clothing bank. Flossie is looking for new volunteers for the clothing bank staff. The clothing bank is located behind Central Middle School and is open 9:30 a.m. to noon Tuesdays and Thursdays. For more information, call Virginia Kocik, 455-6122. Number at the bank is 541-6673.

Students in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools never have to stay home from school because they aren't properly dressed. A school nurse or principal will help them take advantage of the clothing bank, privately and without embarrassment. Clothing for babies, preschoolers and adults also is available.

Individuals as well as clubs can make a worthy holiday donation to the bank. Even a couple of dollars will help. And when you're cleaning out your closets, don't forget Flossie's clothing bank.

They helped define their responsibili-ties as: "helping people out," "having happier feelings toward each other,"

Group home residents learn their rights

They talked about their rooms as their special place and this grew into the definition of the word "trespass." Residents could not enter another person's room without an invitation. They had the right of privacy, that is the law. What should they do if someone

Gray: 'I never missed a call'

"I don't umpire for need. I umpire for the love of the game." - Earl G. Gray

By Chris McCosky staff writer

Earl G. Gray, who for the better part of 57 years upheld the law on baseball and softball diamonds throughout Wayne County and Northern Oakland County, passed away Oct. 24 (the day of his 60th wedding anniversary) in his Plymouth home. He was 89.

Gone but far from forgotten.

"You can go to any baseball or softball game you want, and if you get there early and see the umpires shining their shoes or cleaning their equipment, you know they were taught by Earl Gray," said John Peace, long-time one of the first umpires to register with the state back in the late 1920s. friend and former umpiring partner of Gray's. "He was an excellent teacher. He taught us to take pride in what we did and to be neat and clean - professional.

Gray, up until he retired from um-piring in 1981, held the distinction of being the state's oldest active umpire he was simply, the dean.

"He finally sold his equipment about three years ago," said Edna Gray, Earl's wife. "It was a big, big part of his life. We have a whole basement full of his trophies and things."

AMONG THE awards is a plaque from the Michigan High School Athletic Association commemerating his lifetime of distinguished service. He was Ironically, Gray had vision in only one eye. Scarlet fever left him virtually blind in the other when he was three years old. Still, he never wore a pair of eyeglasses until he was 65 years old.

"He never caught too much flak for having only one good eye," Peace said. "Some people ribbed him about it, mostly it was other umpires. The coaches never said anything about it, even when he was older. He had such great mechanics, he was always in the right position to make the call."

Said Gray in an Observer article written in the summer of 1978: "As far as I'm concerned. I've never missed a call.'

Fact is, few that knew him would argue that statement - wouldn't win the argument anyway. "He had complete respect of the coaches," Peace said. "They may not have always agreed with him, but they respected him. And for an umpire, that's saying an awful lot."

HE BEGAN his umpiring career in 1928 working the Inter-County Baseball League, which played its games at the old Riverside Park on Hines Drive and Haggerty Road in Plymouth.

In 1947, he and Clarence Levandowski organized the Suburban Umpires Association, which is still a thriving organization. At one point under Gray's reign, the association handled some 60 umpires and a bankroll of $28,000. They scheduled umps for high school, semipro, men's fast-pitch softball and little leagues.

Today, under the direction of Peace, the association schedules umpires to work high school games in the Northville, Novi, South Lyon, Saline and other areas.

"He really did a good job," said Levandowski, who besides being a life-time friend of Gray's umpired with him for 22 years. "He knew the rules and he stuck by them. You couldn't put nothing over on him. He was a strict umpire.'

GRAY HAD a simple philosophy about umpiring.

"These coaches are hired to teach the kids," he said in the 1978 interview. "It never bothered me if coaches came out and questioned a close decision. As long as they handled themselves as professionals and forgot about the argument after it was done.

(P,C)1C

Earl Gray's passion was umpiring, but he was also a strong civic booster. He belonged to nine community groups, including the Plymouth Oddfellows and the Plymouth Historical Society.

He graduated from Plymouth High School in the 1910s and was a retired engineer with Wayne County.

Earl Gray will be remembered as the dean of amateur umpires in this state and as a tireless worker who strove for professionalism and perfection.

Fitting then, that he nearly missed the award ceremony given by the state honoring him for 50 years of service he had umpired a softball game the same afternoon.

Rocks and Chiefs finish in high gear

The Plymouth Salem basketball team appears to be picking up momentum at exactly the right time.

After a brief midseason lull, the Rocks have now turned in two superlative performances in a row.

They crushed Livonia Franklin 44-25 on Tuesday. Thursday they demolished a good Westland John Glenn squad, 40-25. With the league championship game on tap Friday, coach Fred Thomann has to feel confident.

"This was one of our better efforts," he said of the Glenn game. "We were very good tonight.

The defense, I thought, was sensational - especially in the first half."

Hard to argue that point. The Rocks limited John Glenn to seven first half points. That bought some time for the offense, which began to cook in the second half.

"We had some great scoring opportunities against their zone in the first half," Thomann said. "They packed it in on us. Once we got into the second half, we seemed to get more into the flow of the game."

Dena Head, who has been scoring at a torrid pace of late, turned in a 20point effort to pace the Rocks. Kristen Hostynski and Jessica Handley each tossed in 10.

Julie Tortora contributed seven assists, helping motivate the Rocks on the offensive end. Jenny Okon led Glenn with 12 points.

more score to settle in this historic girls basketball season.

The Chiefs' lone defeat in 19 games was at the hands of Northville a month ago. Canton settled the score Thursday but not without significant toil.

The score was tied 19-19 at half and Canton led 27-24 after three quarters. "This was a good game," coach Rob Neu said afterward. "We made some adjustments at halftime. We reinforced the fact that we were playing well and it was only a matter of time before we started to spread things out."

The Chiefs assumed total control with a 10-3 edge in the final quarter. A key to that was the defensive play of sophomore Karen Boluch. She was assigned to Northville's top gun Tricia Ducker. Ducker managed 14 points on the night, but only one basket in the fi-

Shamrocks get by feisty Tractors, 7-2

By Brad Emons staff writer

How does Catholic Central's football team spell relief? D-E-F-E-N-S-E.

The Shamrocks from Redford repelled every Dearborn Fordson offensive threat Saturday, scoring a hardfought, 7-2 state Class A playoff victory over the Tractors before an estimated crowd of 3,500 rain-soaked fans at Pontiac's Wisner Stadium.

CC, 9-1, next faces unbeaten Grosse Pointe North in the second round of the playoffs at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at Lincoln Park. North was a 19-18 firstround victor over Detroit Murray-Wright.

"This is as tough a ballgame as we've played," said CC coach Tom Mach. "Fordson always comes to play and they did a great job. They play as well as anybody.'

But it was the Shamrocks' defense, once again, that told the story.

Fordson's outstanding 6-foot-4 quarterback Mike Iaquaniello was sacked five times and intercepted twice.

"Our defense has been good all year, but we were really tested out there today," Mach said. "The key was doing the job when we had to. And our defense was on the field a long time.

16-yard scoring toss with 3:26 remaining. (George Daraban added the extra points to make it 7-2.)

The TD was set up by a couple of key plays — Chaney hurled a 30-yard halfback pass to Mark Grenier, who made a circus grab at the Fordson 30; followed by a Stieve 7-yard pass to Ken Wandzel on fourth-and-five.

In the third quarter, Fordson marched down to the CC 27, but tackle Dan Nash and linebacker Matt Fras sacked laquaniello for a 10-yard loss on fourth down.

IAQUANIELLO, playing in the defensive secondary, gave CC some anxious moments when he intercepted a Stieve pass and returned it 47 yards down to the Shamrocks' 30 with 6:27 left in the final period.

But the CC defense dug in again, as Jeff Brand batted down an Iaquaniello fourth down passing attempt.

"The interception by Wandzel was certainly a key, but everybody had a hand in this victory," Mach said. "And we were saved by Chris Kassa on a couple of runs up the middle. We were able to get some first downs and that took some time off the clock."

Salem, champions of the western Lakes Lakes Division, is 16-3 on the season with a 15-1 final league mark. The Rocks will meet Plymouth Canton next Friday for the Western Lakes conference title.

Glenn finishes the league season with a 10-6 mark.

CANTON 37, NORTHVILLE 27: Plymouth Canton had long before accomplished its goal of winning the Western Division title. But it had one Diana Knickerbocker led the Chiefs with 12 points. Beth Frigge and Laura Darby added eight points each, and Lori Schauder came off the bench to add another seven.

"Our kids were really in the game mentally," Neu said. "They thought the game through real well."

Canton is 18-1 on the season, the best mark ever posted at the school, 15-1 in the league. Northville finishes with an 8-8 league mark, 10-8 overall.

Julie Tortora (with ball) gave the Salem offense a big lift Thursday night with seven assists as the Rocks rolled past John Glenn in the Western Lakes regular season finale.

Cage scene brighter at S'craft

By C.J. Risak staff writer

Coach Rocky Watkins isn't boasting about what qualities his Schoolcraft College men's basketball team es. It's what the team doesn't have that makes the Ocelots superior.

First and foremost, Watkins won't be faced with the rebuilding job he normally has to cope with. Seven players return from last year's 12-19 team, all with starting experience.

Second, Watkins won't have to spend half the season preaching the importance of defense. "We worked on it all summer," said Watkins. "This is the best defensive group we've had in some time.'

THIRD, WATKINS won't be forced to use - or overuse - players who aren't performing. "There were times last season when we didn't have enough bodies to scrimmage at practice," said Watkins. "Clarence Jones had to play 40 minutes a game. He was the only one who could handle the ball.

"That's not the case now."

And fourth, Watkins won't be saddled with worries over his players' academ-ic elgibility. All team members, except a few with solid grades, are required to attend a study table three times a week. Judy Mack serves as academic coach.

"The program's run through the learning assistance center," said Watkins, who lost two or three players every year to grades at the semester break. "She has her office right across from the gym."

ALL SHOULD help the Ocelots get back on the winning track after two consecutive losing seasons.

"We should be vastly improved," said Watkins. "We're coming together as well as I could hope, for this early. It really helps having seven players back. it makes the transition easier.

The top returnee is Jones, a 6-foot-1 guard who played point last season but will move to off-guard this year. Jones "led us in just about everything," said Watkins. He averaged 16 points a game.

Also back are Brad Turner, a 6-7 forward who collected 13 points and six rebounds per game for the Ocelots. Turner has muscled up and should be more effective on the boards.

Other front-court returnees are 6-4

Dwight Pooler (10 points per game and 6-61/2 Ernie Ziegler, who Watkins called "a vastly improved player." Harold Martin, a 6-2 wing who averaged 14 points, Dave Carravallah, a 6-1 wing from Livonia Franklin, and Rufus Nixon, a 5-10 guard, are also back.

It's a solid nucleus, but the influx of new talent is what makes Schoolcraft formidable.

LEADING THE NEWCOMERS is transfer Derrick Kearney, a 6-5 guard who was all-state at Detroit Kettering in 1984. Kearney went to Louisians Tech last season, injured a knee and decided to transfer.

Desmond Steele is destined to take over for Jones at the point, and Frank Jones (6-5) and Don Edwards (6-8) will get plenty of time in Watkins' doublepost offense. Edwards, from Dearborn Fordson, transferred from Henry Ford CC and won't be eligible until Dec. 17.

Mike White, a 6-2 guard from Plymouth Salem, is slated to back up Jones and Steele at guard - for now. "He's looking great," said Watkins. "He's going to play a lot. It's going to be tough for him to come in and start, but he'll get his minutes."

Others Watkins is banking on are 6-4 wing Brian Bond, a Willow Run grad who transferred from University of Kansas-Newman; Les English, a 6-2 wing from Detroit St. Hedwig; Ronnie Leach, a 6-2 guard from Benedictine; and Zollie Stevens, a 6-2 point guard from Mumford.

TWO PROBLEMS that plagued Schoolcraft last season were poor defense and lack of rebounding. Extra work and experienced players should turn the defense around, and more beef up front will make a difference on the boards.

Even though Edwards won't be available until mid-December, Watkins is unconcerned. "With Frank Jones and an improved Ziegler up front, we can hold our own," he said. "Plus, Brad (Turner) is bigger."

Highland Park CC, the defending Eastern Conference champion, is still formidable, according to Watkins. So are Flint Mott and Henry Ford CC.

But Watkins thinks his team will be back in the hunt, too. "I'm confident we'll do well," the Ocelot coach said.

Schoolcraft's home-opener is $ p.m. tonight against Orchard Lake St. Mary's.

'Iaquaniello gave us a lot of problems. He's so tall. Even when we had him contained, he somehow was able get the ball away against our defense."

FORDSON'S DEFENSE was equally as impressive.

Enjoying good field position a majority of the first half, the Tractors only scored two points.

Defensive back Moe Berry and linebacker Kirk Rydzik tackled CC's Perry Chaney in the end zone for a two-point safety with 8:47 left in the first half.

The Shamrocks also scored their only points of the game in the second quarter.

CONVERSELY, Glenn quarterback Steve Irwin hit just two of 20 for 12 yards with two interceptions.

"Rather than criticize our passing, why don't you give them credit. They are not a bad team," Gordon said.

Tony Boles, Glenn's all-state tailback, single-handedly kept his team in contention. Boles gained 185 yards in 23 carries. He scored on runs of 36, 15 and 50 yards.

Pioneer will move on and play the winner of the Lansing Sexton-Trenton ballgime next Saturday in Jackson. Glenn, the Western Lakes champi-ons, finish the season at 9-1.

HRIS INCH, Al Stebbins and Bryan Lawton in that order, always.

Or so it has seemed for the Farmington cross-country team the past two seasons. With that trio leading the way, the Falcons placed 11th in the state in 1984 and 10th in the state this season. They have lost just one dual meet in that span and captured the Western Lakes crown both years.

Not too shabby, especially since inch and step-bins will return next year for their senior season. Part of the reason for the trio's, and Farming-ton's success has been coach Jerry Young. The veteran track and cross country coach is a master motivator, running the courses with his team during practices.

Young, the Observerland's cross country coach of the year, and his trio of standouts headline the 1985 Observerland All Area boys and girls cross country teams.

PGA president

By C.J. Risak staff writer

From such humble beginnings . . At age 11, Gary Whitener started a career in golf by caddying at Western Golf Club in Redford. He's climbed a long ladder since then, but one thing remained consistent: It was always in an upward direction.

Whitener, who now serves as Livonia's director of golf, was recently voted president of the Michigan PGA. For the next two years, he will guide the state's golf program toward what he hopes is a brighter future.

"It's a non-compensation job, but it's fun, it's exciting," said Whitener, a Farmington Hills resident. "It doesn't take up too much of my time because many of our meetings are in the winter. And if everyone knows what their job is, it will be very easy.'

THERE ARE currently 303 members of the state's PGA, with 162 apprentices and 20 non-registered apprentices. Full members are golf pros who have earned 32 credits (one credit is awarded for each month of teaching under a PGA head pro) and com-pleted two required PGA business classes.

Apprentices have at least eight credits and are working toward full membership.

When Whitener was nurturing an interest in golf as a high school student at Livonia Bentley, the game was still considered the domain of the wealthy.

"Not any more," Whitener said. "Twenty-five years ago it was a rich man's sport, but today there are so many golf facilities and people have so much time off that it's changed.

"Here I am, a municipal golf course operator and I'm head of the Michigan PGA."

WHITENER'S CAREER in golf explained. was assured when he won an Evans Scholarship, awarded to caddies on the basis of need and scholastic achievement. That was in 1956. By 1960. Whitener had his bachelor of arts degree in marketing from Michigan State and had set in motion his plans for a life after college.

From 1959 through 1961, he worked for Warren Orlick at Tam O'Shanter Country Club in West Bloomfield. For six years after that, Whitener was an tic when talking about golf's future, assistant teaching pro at Knollwood Country Club in Franklin.

In 1968, the city of Livonia opened its first golf course, Whispering Wil- he's concerned with what he called lows. They chose Whitener to be di- "sandbaggers" at pro-am tournarector of golf. morial Day, 1968, then expanded to 18 the following year. In 1977, the city purchased Idyl Wyld Golf Course and left it in Whitener's charge.

His responsibilities will expand again. By the summer of 1987, the city is planning to open its third 18hole course, adjacent to Bicentennial Park.

Until then, his Michigan PGA duties will keep him busy enough. He's been an elected member of the executive board of the state's PGA for 10 years, holding offices of treasurer and first vice president, among others.

WHITENER HAS established goals for his two-year term, with the PGA's creed always foremost.

"Our No. 1 goal will always be the promotion of golf," he said. "I do have a few major goals. First, I want to increase our educational opportunities to our membership. I want more seminars in the state.

"I want to establish a long range planning commission. I'd like to get all the past Michigan PGA presidents involved in this, to improve our image, increase public awareness, set future objectives.

"I'd also like to increase (job) placement of our golf pros in the state."

According to Whitener, the state's PGA does not currently sponsor any in-state seminars, so any pros interested in certain topics offered by the national PGA must travel to other states. Whitener wants to hold four seminars a year in Michigan, with topics ranging from merchandising to leasing a facility to club repair.

"The educational opportunities, to me, are very important," he said.

Whitener also wants to make certain assistant pros are aware of all openings in the state. "I want to establish more member services, particularly in terms of employment," he

THE PUBLIC'S awareness of the state's PGA is most acute at tournament time. The Michigan PGA sponsors four major events: the Michigan PGA, the Michigan Open, the Michigan Match Play Tournament and the Michigan Pro-Pro Best Ball tourney. A 36-hole assistant pro's championship is also a Michigan PGA event.

Whitener can't help but be optimisparticularly with the emergence of more public courses instead of private clubs. There are problems -"sandbaggers" at pro-am tourna-

Ocelots win in regional Schoolcraft College erupted for five second-half goals to eliminate Hinds County (Miss.) Community College from the NJCAA Inter-regional 8-1 at DuPage College in Chicago Thursday.

Schoolcraft coach Van Dimitriou called Hinds CC a "good team, very physical. This was one of the roughest games we've played." Forward John Gelmisi (from Livonia Stevenson) and defender Scott Steiner (Plymouth Salem) both went out early in the game and did not return.

Matt Pace and Joe Novak (Stevenson) picked up the scoring slack in the absense of Gelmisi, the Ocelots leading scorer, by scoring two goals each in the second half.

Schoolcraft's Dan Ortiz got a goal five minutes into the game on an assist from Joe Novak. Gelmisi made it 2-0 at the 24-minute mark, Rick Hamers assisting, and Abe Yaffai (Livonia Bentley) hit a drive from 40 yards out for the Ocelots' third goal with five minutes left in the half.

Pace got the first two goals of the second half, with Randy Johnson (Salem) assisting on the first. Novak got the next two, with Hamers assisting on the second. Kevin Sultana (Salem) capped the scoring, with Jeff Neschich (Salem) assisting.

The win raised Schoolcraft's record to 11-1-1.

is a little shocking.

LADY OCELOTS TIE MSU

In a defensive battle waged at midfield, Schoolcraft College's women's soccer team fought Michigan State University to a 1-1 tie in its final regular-season game of the season Wednesday at MSU.

The Lady Ocelots, 12-3-5 and headed to the NJCAA tournament at Mercer Community College in Trenton, N.J., Nov. 28-30, capitalized on a mistake by the Spartan goalie to strike first. Angle Butterfield fed Lori Nicley (Troy Athens) to make it 1-0.

Schoolcraft frustrated MSU (15-2-3) the entire game until, with just 10 seconds left, Farmington Harrison grad Michelle Wise knotted it.

MSU had a 7-4 shot, advantage, but Schoolcraft got exceptional defensive play from goalkeeper Doreen Beagle (Livonia Stevenson), sweeper Julie Nowka, and defenders Sheri Wolfe (Livonia Bentley) and Shannon Bowler (Livonia Ladywood).

Midfielders Jane Moylan (Ladywood), Sue Caprara (Livonia Franklin) and Tina Bazur were instrumental in stopping the Spartans and keeping top goal-scorer Julie Gnau (Bloomfield Hills Lahser) off the board.

The Lady Ocelots now have three weeks until nationals, and Schoolcraft coach Ed Dudek is searching for teams (male or female) that wish to scrimmage indoors. For more information, call the Schoolcraft athletic offices at 591-6400, Ext. 480.

SOME OF THE GREATEST THINGS IN AMERICA

"We got our share of firsts, that's for sure," North coach Pat Duthie said. "But I thought it would be closer than it was. We were fortunate."

The Raiders (9-2) took nine firsts in 11 events.

Marge Cramer, Cindy Cramer and Jennifer Rowe each brought in a pair of firsts.

Rowe won the 200-yard freestyle (2:01.77) and established a Salem pool record in the 500 free with a 5:10.01.

Marge Cramer won the 50 freestyle (26.07) and the 100 butterfly (1:03.58). Sister Cindy captured both the 200 individual medley (2:18.86) and the 100 breaststroke (1:10.09).

Liz Worthen won the 100 backstroke (1:09.11). She also swam the first leg of North's winning 200 medley relay teaming with the Cramers and Amy Meneilley on a 2:01.25.

North's other first came in diving as Jennifer Smith turned a 179.45-point performance.

Laura Shaffer won the 100 freestyle for Salem (57.44). She also helped her team win the 400 freestyle relay. She teamed with Kristal Taylor, Karen Dalpe and Tracy Meszaros on a 4:00.51. The Rocks are now 8-3 on the season.

CANTON 111, HARRISON 58: Diana Raddatz and Catherine Tucker won a pair of events each for Farmington Harrison, but it wasn't enough to offset the overall strength of Plymouth Canton Thursday in the Western Lakes Western Division meet.

Raddatz won the 200 free (2:07.1) and the 500 free (5:44.2). Tucker took the 50 free (26.1) and 100 free (56.8), edging Canton's Lynn Massey in both races.

Canton, though, won everything else. Julie Cox won the 200 IM (2:27.1) and the 100 backstroke (1:07.1). Kellie Daily took diving honors (178.5 points), Amy Schmitz won the 100 butterfly (1:13.0) and Jean McLenaghan took the 100 breaststroke (1:19.4).

Sue Schendel, Amy Schmitz, Danielle Dickinson and Michelle Stackpoole won the medley relay (2:09.4). Sarah Schmitz, Cox, McLenaghan and Massey teamed to win the 400 freestyle relay in 4:05.3.

Canton is 5-3 on the season, Harrison

STEVENSON 114, FARMINGTON 57: The Western Lakes-leading Spartans surrendered just two events to the Farmington Falcons Thursday.

Lori Kiel won the 100 breaststroke (1:17.08) and Jackie Daly won the diving (144.2 points).

Sheila Taormina won two events for Livonia Stevenson.

Naples sets scene for bright comedy of reunited buddies

"Marcaroni" is a delightful dish of the very best pasta in town. The town is Naples and Marcello Mastroianni is charming in a tour-de-force performance well worth the price of several admissions. Jack Lemmon is no slouch either. The two of them brighten the screen with a number of electric moments.

Robert Traven (Lemmon) is a headache-ridden, pill-popping, obviously distraught and distracted airline executive who arrives in Naples to inspect Aeroitalia programs and facilities. While it is never quite clear what relationship his company has with the Italian airline, it doesn't matter. It is obvious that he is a Very Important Person.

Important or not, Traven is so compulsively obsessed with his corporate life that his personal life is a shambles and even his past is repressed. It turns out his past includes a trip to Naples 40 years earlier as part of the U.S. Army liberating Italy and a brief romance with Maria, sister of his then-good friend, Antonio Jasiello (Mastroianni).

Well, as any warm and hospitable Neapolitan will tell you,, the visit of an old friend must not go unnoticed, particularly when he is an important, visiting American dignitary and the centerpiece of the Jasiello family fantasy for four decades.

DURING THAT time, via an incredible series of letters, Traven has kept in touch and related his exploits. Everyone still refers to him as Maria's fiancee, even though she has married and become a grandmother. There's just one catch. Traven never wrote a word.

Jasiello, a writer of limited success, has created a "persona" of the indefatigable Roberto Traven, international correspondent and hero of countless exploits. As Jasiello's letters over Traven's signature reveal, single-handedly Traven has saved more women and children and averted more disasters than the entire International Red Cross

All this, as you might well imagine, comes as something of a shock to Traven who first must struggle even to remember Jasiello, Maria and their past friendship. Traven isn't even polite when first approached by Jasiello.

All that changes under the spell of Jasiello's unbounded optimism. His belief in life's potential for good and for accomplishment overwhelms the realities of his rather unsuccessful life and the dreary, mundane existence of those around him.

"The Cult of Roberto," as it were, is the central and guiding image of Jasiello family existence. Traven's selfless devotion to truth and helping others inspires them all. It is unimportant that none of it is true.

JASIELLO'S courageous human spirit and unrelenting optimism shine through and, in the end, he will have you believe he can rise from the dead. Now that's optimism!

Mastrioanni exudes warmth and humanity at every turn, always excusing the shortcomings of others, quick to praise and slow to condemn. The role is a natural for him, and he plays it to the hilt. Every moment with Mastrioanni on screen is a pleasure and a delight. His voice, mannerisms and movements all project the cosmopolitan sophisticate who can and does cope with failure.

As a counterpoint, Lemmon's Traven is acerbic, compulsive and distraught. While the qualities are stereotypical of the obsessed executive, Lemmon underplays it sufficiently well, with the raised eyebrow and the slight grimace. His role is realistic rather than cliched. The transformation that Mastrioanni's warmth causes in Lemmon's behavior is never overdone, always reserved, always credible.

To those two excellent performances, add a wide range of competent supporting roles, particularly the touching confession of jealousy by Maria's husband. The marvelous Neapolitan setting and cinematography enhance those performances with only a heavy-handed musical track marring a fine picture.

1940 Chophouse is sophisticated

By Ethel Simmons staff writer

Farmington Hills resident Don Vargo and his partner Peter Elefterio of Livonia recently opened the 1940 Chophouse, a chic restaurant that has a New York 1940s look. It's the second restaurant they now own in downtown Detroit.

Vargo, a former Livonia resident, operated Vargo's of Livonia from 1970 to 1981. "It had the most prestigious wine collection in the state," he said. The 1940 Chophouse will continue this tradition, offering only "the creme de la creme" in drinks, he noted.

After closing his Livonia restaurant, Vargo decided to come downtown and, with his partner, opened the Rivertown Dance Emporium and Eatery two years ago. The two men also are partners in the Plymouth Rock Saloon in Plymouth

The 1940 Chophouse at 1940 E. Jefferson, in a building that formerly was a wholesale and retail jewelry store built in the 1940s, comes by its name and motif naturally

THE RESTAURANT is on two floors, each with its own complete kitchen featuring exhibition cooking. The menu features melt-in-your-mouth "charbrilled" Certified Angus Beef from Liberal, Kans. Seafood also is accented.

Gerald Mound, formerly of Livonia, was brought up from his home in Jupiter. Fla., to do the exterior and interior design. White mini-blinds are at all the

Milsap to give benefit concert

Ronnie Milsap will perform in a benefit concert for the Ronnie Milsap Foundation at 8 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 14. at the Music Hall in Detroit.

The Benefit Concert and Scholarship Presentation will be directed toward visually impaired students who have been chosen to receive awards.

Tickets to a black-tie benefit, priced at $100 each, may be purchased at the Music Hall Box Office or through the foundation's business office: P.O. Box 43517, Detroit 48234.

General admission tickets at $15 and $10 are on sale at the Music Hall Box Office and Ticket World outlets.

windows. From the upstairs dining room, the view across Jefferson looks out on 1300 Lafayette and the Lafayette Towers.

Chairs pulled up to tables are a silverly black lacquered design, upholstered in navy blue. Carpeting and trim in the room is blue, mauve and maroon.

Vargo has received the Spirit of Detroit award twice from the City of Detroit. The first was for the Rivertown Dance Emporium, the second for the 1940 Chophouse. "I created 100 jobs here and 40 at Rivertown," he said.

Visualizing the changes in the downtown riverfront area, Vargo sees the new chophouse as "one of the most important cogs in the wheel." Stroh's Riverplace development, shops and condos are in the works. "I'm a dumb Hungarian, but I'm not that dumb," said Vargo, indicating he knew the corner at Jefferson and St. Aubin was a great place to put his latest restaurant.

THE RIVERTOWN Dance Emporium is nearby, at Riopelle and Franklin. It is open evening hours and serves finger foods. The 1940 Chophouse, which had been serving dinner only, is now also open for lunch.

Late hours at the chophouse make it an interesting spot for dining throughout the night. Dinner is served until midnight Mondays-Thursdays and till 1 a.m. Fridays-Saturdays. A bar seating 60 people, plus live entertainment with a singer and accompanist, also make the restaurant an attractive place to gather.
