Property tax bills prepared for mailings

By Doug Funke staff writer

Postal carriers will deliver more than holiday greetings to Plymouth, Canton Township and Plymouth Township property owners in the weeks

Winter tax bills - which include "requests" for money from Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, Wayne County, Wayne County Intermediate School District (special education), and the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority (metroparks) - go into the mails beginning this week.

Canton residents will be taxed at a rate of $40.72 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation or SEV (half of a property's market value). Plymouth Township and Plymouth property owners will be taxed at rates of $36 and $28.72 per

Forums on drugs take off

Children who have a drug dependency will be the focus of two different public forums on successive evenings next week in Canton and Plymouth.

'Keeping our kids safe - recognizing and responding to kids in trouble with alcohol and druga" will be pre-sented 6:30 to 9 p.m. hext Wednesday (Dec. 4) at the Canton Township Hall.

That program is sponsored by the Plymouth/Canton Substance Abuse

Scheduled speakers include Nic Cooper, co-director of the Alternative Education program for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, and Rick McCoy, an Alternative Education teacher.

Township Hall is at 1150 Canton Center Road south of Cherry Hill.

The following night, Dec. 5, the Central Middle School P.T.O. will host several students who are recovering drug or alcohol users and who will give firstperson accounts of their experiences.

That program gets under way at 7:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria at 650 Church at Main in Plymouth.

THE FORUMS, open to the public at no charge, may be especially timely with the approaching holidays stressful period for some persons.

There is a greater tendency to want to escape from problems during high periods off stress," said Sally Wisotzkey, co-director of the Alternative Education program.

Cooper and McCoy are expected to delve into signs and symptoms of a drug problem, understanding chemical dependence as a disease, how parents can respond and resources to help deal with the problem.

Two films - "Epidemic: Kids, Drugs and Alcohol" and "Teen-Age Drinking: A National Crisis" - also are on the

The owner of a house with a market value of $80,000 could expect to receive a tax bill of $1,628.80 in Canton, $1,440 in Plymouth Township and $1,148.80 in Plymouth. (Amounts shown include half of school taxes collected for the year).

"Tax bills should be going out Wednesday," said Sandy lock, assistant to the treasurer in Canton Township. "Everything is ready except the tax fact sheet from the printer. Everything is stuffed and sort-

JUST MORE THAN 12,000 bills will be mailed, Setlock said, about 60 percent to mortgage companies and 40 percent to individuals. Each homeowner will receive an informational copy even though bills are submitted to mortgage companies.

The breakdown of the Canton tax bill I'm sure we'll have them all out by per $1,000 of SEV is:

• $5 for general township operations, $3.33 for police, $1.56 for fire and $1 for library operations.

• $19.50 for the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, $67.51 for Wayne/ Westland Community Schools or $63.36 for Van Buren Schools - whichever

• $7.07 for Wayne County government operations.

• $1.91 for Schoolcraft College. • $1.10 for the Wayne County Intermediate School District.

• 25 cents for the Huron-Clinton metroparks.

Kenneth Way, city treasurer in Plymouth, said he and his staff are in the process of preparing 3,600 bills. We'll be mailing some this week.

Dec. 6," he said.

Way said he deals with 30 to 40 mortgage companies, but he had no idea whether more individuals or banks and savings and loans pay tax bills. "We have a lot of senior citizens who pay their own," he said.

THE BREAKDOWN of the Plymouth tax bill per $1,000 of SEV is:

• $19.50 for Plymouth-Canton schools • $7.07 for Wayne County.

• $1.10 for the Wayne County Intermediate School District.

• 80 cents for the Dunning-Hough Library

• 25 cents for the Huron-Clinton metroparks. Mary Brooks, treasurer in Plymouth Township, said she expects to mail upwards of 7,500 tax bills by Dec. 5 or 6.

'We're in the process of pulling bills apart now and rechecking records as we do every year to make sure the lists from mortgage companies coincide with cards we have in our files," she

"At least 75 percent go to mortgage companies," Brooks said.

However, as is the case in Canton and Plymouth, property owners whose tax bills are paid directly by mortgage companies will receive a copy from the township for informational purposes. The breakdown of the Plymouth Township tax bill per $1,000 SEV is:

• $1 for general township operations, $3 for police and fire, $1.37 for storm drain debt retirement and 80 cents for the Dunning-Hough Library.

• $19.50 for the Plymouth-Canton

• $7.07 for Wayne County.

• $1.91 for Schoolcraft College. • $1.10 for the Wayne County Intermediate School District. • 25 cents for the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority.

More than 90 percent of all tax bills are paid prior to the Feb. 14 deadline in all three jurisdictions. Plymouth will allow tax bills to be paid without penalty through the end of February.

Plymouth and Canton township boards have allowed extensions in the past, but no such decisions have been made yet this year.

Property owners who are delinquent are charged a 4 percent penalty, plus 1 percent for each month they're late.

Judges to get 5% salary hike

An advisory board made up of five communities has approved salary increases for 35th District Court Judges John MacDonald and James Garber.

Each will earn $71,632 in 1986 or about a 5 percent increase over his salary of $68,376 in 1985.

The state paid about $38,000 of that and the local communities about $30,000. However, because the communities receive "pass-through" monies from the state, they actually pay much less - about $1,000 from each community.

But even that amount is deducted from revenues each community receives from court operations.

THE FIVE communities served by the 35th District Court include Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Canton,

Last Friday, community representatives to the advisory board voted unanimously to approve the pay increase for the two judges.

If they had not gone along with those increases at the local level, state funds would have been in jeopardy, according George Wiland, court administrator, said the advisory board approved the pay hikes as part of the court's 1986

For the coming court year, which begins Jan. 1, 1986, the advisory board has approved a budget of $1.1 million.

Of that amount, $561,000 will go toward the payment of salaries. Benefits will account for $186,000.

WSDP begins funding campaign

A new funding campaign involving an annual allocation from the district's Canton and Plymouth businesses is being started this week by the student radio station at Plymouth Centennial Educational Park (CEP).

The campaign will be a mass mailing effort of an introductory letter, a fact sheet on the radio station and a self-addressed stamped envelope.

Each business will be asked to make a $50-per-year contribution in exchange for public mention of that business support on WSDP (88.1 FM).

LAST SPRING, WSDP renovated its on-air studio to allow for broadcasting in stereo at a cost of about $13,000. Of the total bill, WSDP had raised $12,000 over the past four years.

"Our effort to pay most of the cost of our main studio renovation left less than $200 in our fund-raising account,' said Andrew Melon, station manager. "It is now time to gradually begin to regenerate important funding dollars."

WSDP, owned by Plymouth-Canton Community Schools and located in Plymouth Salem High School, receives general fund to cover daily operational costs but that appropriation does not provide for renovation of facilities. The station presently is remodeling its production studio to allow for necessary stereo production. The studios were 14 years old and were operating with outdated equipment before the renovations were un-"We have proven to the school district and to the community that WSDP can help itself when it comes to renovating and fund raising," said Melon, 'and now we must continue to generate funding dollars."

THE FUNDING goal of WSDP is $2,000 to $3,000 per year.

Landlords battle tenants' rights legislation

staff writer

A suburban apartment boom is causing a battle over tenants' rights in the state House of Representatives.

Cooper, attorney for the Apartment Association of Michigan, told the House Consumers Committee last week.

But Cooper called a package of tenants' rights bills, sponsored by Rep. Maxine Berman, D-Southfield, "an over-reaction to the fantastic growth in the economy, especially in her dis-

"Your area is one of the hottest in America with EDS coming in," said Cooper, referring to a high-tech subsidiary of General Motors which is building in Oakland County.

Cooper and the landlords opposed all but one of the bills as burdensome.

"IT IS NOT burdensome," Berman countered, "to place into law what most good landlords are doing."

Troy and Farmington Hills, along with Macomb County, Ann Arbor and De-

"This doesn't control rents," she said, "There's a shortage of apartment noting that provisions to limit rental in-units — no question about it," Daniel creases to long-term tenant were dropped from one bill.

A Consumers Committee meeting last week turned into a polite tug-ofwar between Cooper and Berman. Cooper was a state legislator from southern Oakland County for 14 years until defeated by consumer advocate Doug Ross in a 1978 Democratic state Senate primary. (Ross now directs the state Department of Commerce.)

REPUBLICANS on the panel gave only one of Berman's bills any support HB 4525, requiring longer notices of rent increases. Otherwise, a thinlyveiled partisan split appeared to be developing on the Democratic-controlled committee.

Rep. Justine Barns, D-Westland, missed the meeting but cast a proxy testimony showed tenants are having problems in Westland, Birmingham, though only a few are bad. "There are a tenant is given a rent increase notice nuts everywhere. Your legislation is precipitous," he said.

Cooper also objected that the bills would require too much paperwork for landlords. Our society is smothered in paperwork," he said.

BERMAN COUNTERED, "Do you think 24 hours notice (of a rent increase) is sufficient?"

"No landlords are doing this," Coo-vote with recommendation for House THE BILL requiring landlords to provide a five-year history of rents drew more fire.

"Why am I responsible to report to him (tenant) my business? Does he have to tell me his?" said Grand Rapids landlady Teresa Cardinale. "They could care less what my costs are.'

Cooper agreed, arguing, "Does a car dealer have to give you the price history of a car?"

An outstate landlord association representative criticized the entire package of bills, saying apartment owners in other states "ask me why I would even want to own property in Michi"WE MUST have some good laws," countered Rep. Michael Bennane, D-Detroit, "or we wouldn't have so many landlords. People are making money a lot of money . . . They're picking up as much property as they can."

"Detroit, which used to be a homeowners' city, is becoming a renters' town," said Bennane, who supported Berman's bills.

'My parents - age 72 and 77 aren't part of this economic boom. They get no benefit, except a few more books in the library," he said.

HILE YOU and I are thinking about getting the snowblower tuned up, the folks at the Michigan Association of Recreational Vehicles and Campgrounds, based in Livonia, have summer on their minds.

Or at least summer-like temperatures. They'll be bent on getting us to think about the days when the livin' is easy when they display campers, trailers and motor homes at the 19th Detroit Camper and Travel Trailer Show Saturday, Nov. 30, through Sunday, Dec. 8, at Cobo Hall.

Billed as the largest indoor display of recreation vehicles in the country, the show annually draws more than 100,000. Hours are 2-10 p.m. Monday through Friday, noon to 10 Saturday and noon to 8 p.m. Sunday. Tickets are $4 for adults, $2 for children 6-12; no charge for children 5 and under accompanied by an adult.

ABOUT 400 recreation vehicles will $2,000 for pop-up tent campers to $300,000 motorhomes. Greater emphasis appears to be on RV interiors, which have been spiffed up with "hightech styling."

"Younger people live in a high-tech world, they work in a high-tech world, and they want to recreate in a hightech world," said Marge Wilk, partner in Wilk's Trailer Center in Dearborn

While the traditional trailer owner still can find colonial styling and rustic tweeds, those seeking a modern look will find art-deco interiors featuring greys, maroons and chrome.

Trailer designers are picking up on what interior decorators are doing in home and office setting, Wilk said. Overstuffed high-fashion furniture is part of the new look. The updated interiors add $200 to $300 on the Shasta models that she sells.

OTHER CHANGES featured at the show include:

- · New designs with kitchens in the front of trailers rather than in the mid-
- Decors in as many as 50 colors.
- Plush interiors with brass, glass and natural wood paneling with fireplaces in some models.

• Park model trailers, 12 feet in width. Some feature shingle roofs and vinyl drop siding.

School board 'interested' in Hudson history

By Dennis Coffman staff writer

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education Monday discussed the possibility of publishing a history of the school district written by Plymouth historian Sam Hudson.

Hudson recently wrote a series of articles on the history of the district for the Observer Newspapers and has offered to put the material into book form, if the district is willing to pay for the printing and binding costs of the Hudson said he is not asking for royalties or for payment for his services; instead, he said, he would be willing to write the history as a "labor of love."

"It has a great deal of potential," said trustee E.J. McClendon. "It's an intriguing idea. We ought to get cost estimates. We could make the community aware of the project and ask them to contribute photos and clippings."

But McClendon questioned the educational value of the project. "There are a lot of issues to be considered. such as cost and value. I'm interested."

During the Monday night regular meeting, the board also designated "Extra Miler" recipients.

The board presented one award to Elma Condash, the cafeteria manager at West Middle School.

Wayne Circuit Court Judge Sharon Finch was to decide yesterday if testimony from sexual assault victims will be heard in the five remaining of six jury trials against Darrell Morey of Canton Township.

Diane Odrobina, Wayne prosecuting attorney, requested a Similar Acts hearing, which began Tuesday. The motion asks that victims who were sexually assaulted in Canton and Van Buren townships be allowed to testify at trials involving each other's as-

"Each of the women will, of course, have to testify in their own cases," Odrobina said. "We're asking that the other women be able to testify in each

MOREY WAS FOUND guilty in the first case Nov. 21 by a jury of four women and 10 men.

"In this first case the other women were not allowed to testify," said Odrobina. Seymour Berger, Morey's attorney, argues that the victims should be banned from testifying in each other's

"They're not similar cases, and they should not be allowed to come in on each case," Berger said.

He said that two of the six cases against Morey would be dramatically weakened if the prosecutor fails to convince Judge Finch that testimony from the other victims should be heard.

MOREY WAS FOUND guilty Nov.

"Kathy's family needed hope."

A young mother with a serious illness. Her family in crisis. They came to Harper Hospital and found new hope. They learned that Harper is a university-based research and teaching hospital. A place where scientists work alongside physicians, transforming discovery into treatment. They found that Harper concentrates on the tough adult cases in cancer, heart disease and serious vision disorders. Patients like Kathy come to Harper Hospital at the Medical Center with confidence. They come because Harper is a major participant, together with the Sloan-Kettering Institute in New York and the M.D. Anderson Tumor Institute in Houston, in America's network of only twenty Comprehensive Cancer Centers. Patients know that if the diagnosis is cancer, there is no better place to be than Harper Hospital. And they come with confidence because the Kresge Eye Institute is at Harper Hospital. This important Medical Center resource is devoted exclusively to the problems of vision. And through its research and clinical work, the Kresge Eye Institute gives new hope to millions with impaired vision throughout the world. Harper is hope for heart patients, too. Its large scale, nationally recognized program brings together research, teaching, surgery and medicine. More open heart surgeries are performed each year at Harper than are performed at any other hospital in Michigan. But of more significance is the growing number of heart patients Harper is able to treat successfully each year without surgery. For Kathy and her family. For you and your family. Harper Hospital is Science. Research. Hope and Healing.

PLANT CLOSINGS - The House defeated, 203 for and 208 against, a bill (HR 1616) designed to cushion the blow on workers and the community when a plant closes or suffers a massive layoff, by requiring employers to give at least 90 days notice of their plans.

This was a defeat for organized labor, which had made the bill a top legislative priority during the 99th Congress, and a victory for business groups

Supporters said the legislation would, at best, enable workers to develRoll Call Report op alternative uses for the closed facility and, at least, permit them to prepare for economic hardship.

Opponents called the bill undue meddling by government in the free enterprise system, saying its main effect was to make it difficult for companies to adjust to changing market conditions and remedy money-losing operations.

Members voting yes favored the plant-closing legislation. Voting yes: Hertel, William Ford, Voting no: Pursell, Broomfield.

JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF - The House passed, 383 for and 27 against, and sent to the Senate a bill (HR 3622) restructuring the Joint Chiefs of Staff (JCS) to give more power to its chairman at the expense of its other mem-

The JCS consists of the heads of the Army, Air Force, Navy and Marines and a chairman drawn from one of the services. Each member has equal voice in recommending battlefield actions and overall military policy to the presi-dent, secretary of defense and National Security Council.

Supporters of the bill said putting the chairman clearly in charge would lessen the inter-service rivalries and tradeoffs that now encumber the JCS and undermine national security.

Under the bill, the chairman could communicate on his own to his civilian superiors as well as to field commanders under him.

Supporter William Whitehurst, R-Va., said the present JCS system "stifles imaginative military thought, depriving the president . . . of the fruits of the best military minds that can be assembled."

Charles Bennett, D-Fla., said the bill

"clearly reduces the opportunities of the secretary of defense and the president to choose among different military solutions and strategies."

Members voting yes and favored restructuring the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Voting yes: Pursell, Hertel, William Ford, Levin, Broomfield.

SENATE MILK — by a vote of 50 for and 47 against, the Senate tabled (killed) an amendment to cut federal subsidies of dairy farmers by hundreds of millions of dollars in 1986, by moving up a year the date for lowering milk price supports from $11.60 to $11.10 per hundredweight.

The vote left intact language in the Senate version of the new farm bill to lower the support to $11.10 in Jan. 1, 1987. The amendment sought a Jan. 1,1986 trigger date.

The bill (S 1714) was headed for final passage and conference with the House, which has approved a fundamentally different attack on massive overproduction by America's dairy

The House's chief surplus-cutting mechanism is a diversion program that keeps farmers in operation by paying them to thin out their herds. The Senate approach of lower price supports would force inefficient farmers out of dairying by increasing their exposure to free-market forces.

Arlen Specter, R-Pa., said he was voting to table the amendment because it would cut dairy farmer's income at a time when "they are faced with very serious economic difficulties.

Paula Hawkins, R-Fla., the sponsor, called her measure "a pro-taxpayer amendment (that) will reduce budget outlays by $250 to $300 million per year" and "begin to remove the federal government from the dairy business." Senators voting yes were opposed to the amendment advancing the date for lower dairy price supports. Voting yes: Carl Levin, Donald Rie-

TARGET PRICES - By a vote of 55 for and 42 against, the Senate tabled (killed) an amendment to freeze for four years rather than just one year the 'target prices' for wheat, corn, upland cotton and rice.

This was a vote in favor of higher federal farm spending (and thus more income security for farmers) because the longer target prices are frozen, the longer it is before they can be lowered.

Lower targets means less government speding for "income supports," which are based on the difference between a crop's market price and the higher target price set by Congress.

Income supports comprise a large chunk of the estimated $50 billion, three-year cost of the new farm program. Voting no: Levin, Riegle.

Would deposits kill the wine cooler industry?

staff writer

Wine dealers and party-store owners are threatening to quit handling the increasingly popular "wine coolers" if Michigan becomes the first state to require a 10-cent deposit on their bottles.

'Our retailers will take it off the shelves," John Dagenais, representing the Package Liquor Dealers Association, headquartered in Southfield, told the state Liquor Control Commission Tuesday.

So what? say environmentalists, parks officials and farmers who are supporting a deposit rule. Wine cooler bottles are a dangerous litter problem, and society wouldn't be hurt if people consumed less alcohol, they said.

A 2½-HOUR hearing in Lansing was largely a replay of the 1976 debate over the so-called "bottle bill."

That was when the Michigan United Conservation Clubs won 65 percent voter approval of a law requiring a fivecent deposit on beer and pop bottles and a 10-cent deposit on cans.

Then as now, the chief arguments were roadsides, parks and streams littered by throwaway containers vs. "forced deposits" and high costs.

Maxine Perry, acting chairman of the LCC, said the four-member panel would also consider written testimony but declined to say when it might act.

BUT THERE are a few new elements in the 1985 debate:

• Wine coolers - a blend of wine, citrus juice and carbonated water with less than 7 percent alcohol - have emerged as a popular drink, particularly among young people, in the last couple of years. MUCC estimated 10 million "throwaway" containers were sold last year in Michigan.

• MUCC and state Attorney General Frank Kelley are asking that wine cooler deposits be implemented by LCC rule rather than state law. Because the 1976 deposit law was passed by the voters, the Michigan Constitution requires any amendments be made by a three-fourths vote of the state Legislature. The wine industry insisted MUCC and Kelley go the legislative route.

• Fines for violations are stiffer under LCC rules than under state law, according to Patrick Laughlin, president of the Michgan Beer and Wine Wholesalers Association, Lansing. Moreover, LCC rules would affect only licensees, not consumers, Laughlin said.

 Wine dealers argued that the problems of labelling, handling and storage are far more difficult for them than for pop and beer distributors bolstering the argument that many would simply quit handling wine coolers. "Do you really want to kill this industry?" asked Laughlin.

TO DEPOSIT supporters, however, the issue was litter - not legal fine points, not costs to the industry.

Throwaways end up alongside rivers, lakes and parks," said Attorney General Kelley. "We don't want to go back to the bad old days when bottles

"Even retailers have trouble telling the difference between returnable (pop bottles) and non-returnable (wine cooler) bottles," he said, displaying samples of each.

Dr. Ronald Skoog, director of the state Department of Natural Resources, reported "dramatic increases" of litter in state parks due to wine coolers in the last year or two.

MUCC President John B. Eichinger of Holland quoted highway officials as reporting that "beverage container litter dropped from 220 bottles and cans per mile of highway in 1978 to 34 bottles and cans per mile in 1979. And 22 of the 34 containers in 1979 were brought in from other states."

TRENTON parks director Larry Fitch said that after a Fourth of July fireworks display, "youngsters filled garbage bags with deposit bottles and cans" but left the non-deposit wine cooler bottles behind. Royal Oak parks superintendent Stephen Gillette, representing the Michigan Recreation and Parks Association, said his group found "90 percent of all identifiable beverage containers" littering parks today are wine coolers.

member Michigan Environmental Council called the wine-cooler situation a "loophole" in the bottle bill, that "threatens to undo a lot of good the bottle bill did." To industry charges that Michigan beverage sales fell after the deposit law took effect, Dansereau replied that raising the drinking age and Michig higher jaxes were more important faictors than deposits.

Ron Nelson, Michigan Farm Bureau legal counsel, said "litter is a cost tible"

'No financial relief has been provided to the beverage dealers for handling containers after seven years," said Edward Deeb, executive director of the 3,600-member Associated Food Dealers. "It's the financial responsibility of the state to provide financial relief. In other states, one to three cents is provided for beverage handling."

Each change in the season alters my perception of the same trees that were there the last time I walked by. I never know when I may flush a grouse or spook a deer.

Surprises are one reason I enjoy those woods. My most recent surprise occurred a couple of weeks ago. It had turned cold suddenly, and three inches of snow had fallen. Much of the snow was still plastered to the north side of

I thought it was unusual to see so many moths at once, and certainly unusual to see insects under such extreme conditions. As I later discovered, they were all male cankerworm moths, which were ready to mate. Only the male moths have wings which, even when extended, could be covered by a quarter. Females are wingless.

All the males in the woods were waiting for the females to ascend the tree, where they would lay their eggs on the topmost branches.

IN SPRING, the eggs will hatch and the larvae begin feeding on young, emerging leaves.

The cankerworm larvae, or caterpillar, doesn't have legs in the middle of OM WAS a likeable fellow. He never would set the world on fire, but he had a good job he really enjoyed. There was always plenty to eat.

In fact, his wife, Henrietta, who loved him dearly, was constantly trying to get him to diet.

'Tom, you're getting too fat," she admonished. You know your cholesterol count is up, and that's dangerous. Please lose some weight, darling. I don't want to be a young widow."

TOM PROMISED to try, but he hated to diet. Thinking exercise might be the answer, he took up

After a week of huffing, puffing and eating more than ever (running in the fresh air worked up his appetite), he decided it wasn't for him.

Waddling is more my style," he joked. And indeed he had gained so much weight that he really did seem to waddle.

But Tom was happy enough. He dressed well, in spite of his weight. He went in for bright colors for so portly a fellow, but he was far from unattractive. More than one of the young chicks at work flirted outrageously with him.

Although Tom assured her of his love and loyalty, Henrietta often was jealous.

THEN THE AXE fell. One day Tom was called into the main office and told the boss wanted to see

Jack had been a friend of his for years. There never had been any formality between them. Tom was unprepared for the cool way in which he was

Jack left Tom standing there for several minutes while he shuffled papers on his desk and avoided looking at him.

Finally, Tom could stand it no longer. "Hey, Jack," he said, "What's this all about? I got a message that you wanted to see me, and now you're acting like you don't know I'm here."

"I'm sorry, Tom old boy," Jack said sadly, "I really hate to be the one to have to tell you, what with the holidays coming and all. It's a bad time . We have to let you go.

"DO YOU MEAN I'm being fired?"

"Well, I guess that's one way of putting it," answered Jack. "Why?" demanded Tom. "I've always been a good worker - up at dawn, never missed a day, never been a minute late." "Frankly, Tom, it's your weight," said Jack.

"You were warned that once you reached a certain weight, you'd have to go. You've always known about the corporate image." Angry, Tom stormed out of the office shouting,

"I'm going to take this up with the union. You haven't heard the last of this yet. Discrimination that's what it is! I'm being deprived of my civil

HENRIETTA WAS frantic when Tom failed to show up for dinner. She became frantic as the hours ticked by, and he still wasn't home by midnight. At

Gem Carpet 532-8080

8 the next morning, she was called to come to the morgue to identify the body of her husband. Yes, it was Tom - stripped of his finery, naked, cold, dead on a slab, a numbered tag on his foot. Henrietta was in shock. "Not Torn! Just yesterday he was happy and carefree, strutting about, impressing the females. In spite of his faults, I loved him — and now he's dead. How did it happen?"

And that is the mystery for you to solve. Answer 1. Did Tom die of a) natural causes, b) suicide or

c) murder?

2. What was his boss Jack's business? 3. What was Tom's last name?

The solution

1. Tom was murdered.

2. His boss Jack was a farmer. 3. Tom's last name was Turkey.

Yes, it was Tom — stripped of his finery, naked, cold, dead on a slab, a numbered tag on his foot.

Henrietta was in shock. "Not Tom! Just yesterday he was happy and carefree, strutting about, impressing the females. In spite of his faults, I loved him - and now he's dead. How did it happen?"

And that is the mystery for you to solve. Answer these questions:

1. Did Tom die of a) natural causes, b) suicide or c) murder?

2. What was his boss Jack's business? 3. What was Tom's last name?

The solution

1. Tom was murdered.

2. His boss Jack was a farmer. 3. Tom's last name was Turkey.

7HO SAYS "you can't turn a sow's ear into a silk

Wayne Disposal Inc. of Belleville may disprove the old saying. The inovative landfill operator plans to take the bothersome and potentially dangerous by-product of garbage disposal dumps - methane gas - and turn it into a clean and usuable energy

The process will add nearly $500,000 per year to Wayne Disposal's pocket-book and the quivalent of 300 homesworth of electrical power to the Detroit Edison Co.'s system.

What we have here is a means of controlling the gas and gaining some benefit from doing it by the sale of electricity," said Mike Miller, manager of planning and development at Wayne

AS MILLER conducted a tour of the new $2 million landfill gas (LFG) recovery facility, he explained the factors leading to its construction.

"With good engineering practices in the development of landfills, that shouldn't be a problem. But there have been several incidents around the coutnry where migration has created hazardous conditions," said Miller.

THE RESULT has been statewide requirements that landfill operators manage a site and set up long-term methane control mechanisms.

"Rather that burning off the gas as some do, if we can get benefits from the gas in the form of heat or electricity, why waste it?" Miller asked.

The benefits of collecting the gas, purifying it, and using it to generate electricity are attractive for both Wayne Disposal and its customer, De-

"During the course of the co the price of other power (coal-fired plants currently produce power at two cents per kilowatt) will probably escalate, but this contract price will re-main the same," said Loeher who coordinates Edison's cogeneration task force department.

THE CAPACITY of the whole Edison system is 8,000 megawatts (one megawatt equals 1,000 KW). By comparison, the Wayne Disposal facility is rated at 1,400 kilowatts. Loeher noted the new plant will provide one additional power source his company could rely on during peak periods.

Wine coolers They cause lots of litter

I'S THE SAME, tired, old, wrong argument we're getting from the beverage industry

This time it's saying the cost of wine coolers will soar out of sight if the state Liquor Control Commission prohibits throwaway bottles and requires a 10cent deposit

Michigan voters wisely ignored the litany in 1976 when they gave 65 percent approval to a ballot proposal to require deposits on pop and beer bottles and cans.

NOTICE THE slippery way Edward Deeb, representing the Associated Food Dealers of Michigan, phrased it in last week's testimony to the LCC: "Prices of beer and soft drinks skyrocketed in Michigan after the law took effect.

He gives the impression that the deposit law caused the price increase but doesn't really say so - because it's untrue.

Yes, prices rose here - but they also rose in states that still allow throwaways. Because of internal cost factors, pop and beer prices were bound to rise anyway.

As Michigan United Conservation Clubs, a big promoter of the deposit law in 1976 and now, noted: "Michigan beer prices have since returned to a level that equates with regional and national averages. That initial price boost was little more than an overreaction, particularly by wholesalers, to anticipated costs that never developed.

THE INDUSTRY emitted a two-hour moan to the LCC that handling millions of returnable wine cooler bottles would cost it tens of thousands of dollars.

Well, someone has to pay, and the ques-sions and all the parks departments, which have to dissipate their programs to pick up trash? In the last year or two, such agencies have been reporting dramatic increases in litter - most of it due to throwaway wine cooler bottles.

Should it be the farmers, who have to stop their equipment to pick wine cooler bottles out of their field? Should their cattle suffer by getting glass splinters in

The wine cooler wholesalers and distributors say. "Hey - not us." And we say: Why not? Who better than the businesses that manufacture and sell it?

Someone must pack and move those returnable bottles. Better that it be done in stores and warehouses - generating another 4,500 jobs the way the 1976 deposit law did - than that trash have to be picked off lawns, roadsides, parks, streams and lakes.

NO ONE NEEDS a "scientific" study. as one industry spokesman demanded, to demonstrate with columns of statistics that wine coolers are indeed a source of

But if you like numbers, consider these from the Michigan Department of Transportation: Prior to the deposit law taking effect, beverage litter amounted to 220 bottles and cans per mile of state highway. Afterwards, it dropped to 34 bottles and cans - an 85 percent drop. And twothirds of the remaining litter were throwaways from other states.

A final threat from the industry — as if it were important - is that a deposit rule would be so burdensome that the beverage would be taken off the market.

Big deal. Wine coolers have been around only three of the last 10,000 years. We have survived this long without them.

If they're taken off the market, well, mix your own. The formula is wine, citrus juice and carbonated water.

A splash developed over allowing a cable network known as C-Span to do live coverage of the Walter Cronkite roast poking fun at and honoring the retired CBS anchorman.

Society leaders at first barred C-Span cameras, insisting a roast was a private entertainment event, not meant for blowby-blow viewing, same as the Gridiron Club roasts in Washington, D.C. Some of the roasters reportedly had objected to doing their stuff live on camera.

They said it was a private "entertainment" event, not a "news event."

THERE WERE fears that things would be said that could be embarrassing to Cronkite, the roasters or the Society if aired verbatim. There were concerns that the roasters would tone down their comments and strip the "show" of its

The press needs to pay attention to how it's perceived by the public. It can't afford to practice double standards.

Many of our local towns allow cable companies to televise their meetings. Birmingham, Southfield, Canton and Redford are just a few.

In one case, opening the meetings to the TV cameras came after a heated electionyear battle.

THE IMPORTANT thing is public access, whether it's a perception or an actual case. The public puts its trust in both the press and its public officials, and both must show it's justified.

SPEAKING of freedom of information and protecting confidential sources, our newpspapers have taken a strong position that neither the prosecution nor the defense should be allowed to tie up materials collected in the news gathering process - reporters' notes, broadcast videotapes, outtakes, scripts and film.

This same issue popped up in Circuit Judge Thomas J. Brennan's court in Wayne County when the judge wisely refused to force a Detroit television station to preserve newscasts about a Northville State Hospital psychiatrist accused of having sexual relationships with male patients. One of his former patients was Ronald Bailey of Livonia, accused in the slaying of 13-year-old Shawn Kidnap Moore.

The doctor's lawyer said the tapes might be needed for the doctor's defense if he's criminally charged.

The television station's lawyer said the doctor's lawyer wants to use the news media as his "own private investigator." He said knowing that every contact with a source might become public could stifle news gathering.

The judge agreed that tying up all that future material could "have a chilling effect on news gathering."

It's a textbook principle that local governments are creatures of the state. As creatures, they can't overrule the parent. Thus, their court battle against group homes was futile from the very beginning.

Years, thousands of pages of legal documents and many hours of courtroom time later, the Michigan Supreme Court said no to these transparent attempts to keep out group homes. If the plaintiffs have accomplished anything, it has been only to vent their spleen, to enjoy the cathartic benefits of howling. Other than that, they accomplished nothing — as any school kid could have told them. FOR THOSE who believe courts and state government can do something good, we share with you some delightful paragraphs from Justice Michael Cavanagh's

Prior to the early 1960s, mentally re-morded and other developmentally disbled perons were routinely institutional-led. Institutionalization was initially designed to shelter such persons from the risks of society. By the early 20th century, however, the rationale for institutionalization changed to that of protecting society from these persons. "By the 1960s, a distinct humanistic renaissance' had occurred, which stressed the 'normalization' of these disabled indi-tibiduals. According to this approach, dis-

> "SOME COMMUNITIES, however, were and are reluctant to allow 'community,' 'group' or 'foster care' homes in residential areas. Zoning ordinances and practices have been used either to exclude such homes entirely or to restrict them to commercial areas.

> The result frequently is creation of ghettos' of foster care homes, particularly in transitional residential areas, business, or institutional zones. Such concentrations of foster care homes often change the character of the neighborhoods, thus undercutting the purposes behind normalization and provoking negative reactions by area residents . . .

> "Plaintiff homeowners . . . failed to sufficiently allege any deprivation of these property rights. Contrary to plaintiffs' repeated assertions, the issuance of a license (to operate a foster care home) does not rezone any property.'

And as any school kid could have predicted, "Adult foster care facilities remain exempt from local zoning ordinances."

Bowl games hardly important

NOW THAT the college football season is over as far as championships go, one can see how much times have changed.

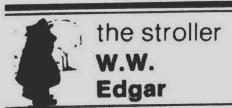

There was an era when there was a single bowl game on New Year's Day. That was the Rose Bowl on the Pacific Coast, and Michigan had a hand in inaugurating it by beating Stanford 49-0.

Now there are at least eight bowl games, and every section of the country is planning an extravaganza for the holi-

That's fine for those sections. It is a way of calling attention to that area. But it really means nothing to the winner except that schools that have been invited wind up with a bucketful of money.

FOR INSTANCE, what is so important about the Cherry Bowl game to be played in the Silverdome?

Neither of the schools invited to send their teams to Pontiac for holidays is high class. They didn't build up a local following through the season. And unless there is a hard sell from here on, there may be plenty of empty seats when the game gets

This is a far cry from the days when the Rose Bowl was alone, and the winner was looked upon as national champion.

Of course, Michigan's victory in the first Rose Bowl meant a great deal. But now the bowls are being overdone. The winner gets little prestige but a lot of Here again Michigan plays an unusual role. The Wolverines must share their "take" with other schools in the Big Ten. True, the money goes to the conference, but all teams share in it. And Michigan State will have to do the same thing.

Of course, there is the angle that boosts the players' part in the games. It is fine for the players who will be able to say that they competed in a bowl game.

THEN THERE is a chap like Rich Hewlett of Plymouth. By a quirk of the rules, he played in five bowl games. And as he looks back now, he says that playing in the Rose Bowl - and winning - was the biggest thrill of his football careers.

There is no denying there is some prestige connected with a bowl, but very little beyond the players' feelings.

And it is strange that most players feel that appearing in a bowl is paying a debt to the school. After all, some of them say, the school is helping me with my education and preparing me for the future.

Otherwise, few remember the games.

WHAT THE games do, though, is call attention to the sport and bring the top teams together.

And that would mean a lot more if they were brought together in a tournament to decide a national champion.

Hugh (Duffy) Daugherty, the former Michigan State coach, has been preaching about linking the bowl teams in a title race. Nothing ever came of it. That's too bad. A title tournament would bring more prestige to the bowl

Perhaps some day it will happen.

Tenants rights

Landlords battle Rep. Berman's bills

A suburban apartment boom is causing a battle over tenants' rights in the state House of Representatives.

"There's a shortage of apartment units - no question about it," Daniel Cooper, attorney for the Apartment Association of Michigan, told the House Consumers Committee last week.

But Cooper called a package of tenants' rights bills, sponsored by Rep. Maxine Berman, D-Southfield, "an over-reaction to the fantastic growth in the economy, especially in her dis-

"Your area is one of the hottest in America with EDS coming in," said Cooper, referring to a high-tech subsidiary of General Motors which is building in Oakland County.

Cooper and the landlords opposed all but one of the bills as burdensome.

"IT IS NOT burdensome," Berman countered, "to place into law what most good landlords are doing." And the second-term lawmaker, herself an apartment-dweller, said public testimony showed tenants are having problems in Westland, Birmingham, Troy and Farmington Hills, along with Macomb County, Ann Arbor and De-

"This doesn't control rents," she said, noting that provisions to limit rental increases to long-term tenant were dropped from one bill.

A Consumers Committee meeting last week turned into a polite tug-ofwar between Cooper and Berman. Cooper was a state legislator from southern Oakland County for 14 years until defeated by consumer advocate Doug Ross in a 1978 Democratic state Senate primary. (Ross now directs the state Department of Commerce.)

REPUBLICANS on the panel gave only one of Berman's bills any support - HB 4525, requiring longer notices of rent increases. Otherwise, a thinlyveiled partisan split appeared to be developing on the Democratic-controlled committee.

Rep. Justine Barns, D-Westland, missed the meeting but cast a proxy vote for all of Berman's bills.

Cooper objected that Berman's package would be a burden on all landlords though only a few are bad. "There are nuts everywhere. Your legislation is precipitous," he said.

Cooper also objected that the bills would require too much paperwork for landlords. "Our society is smothered in paperwork," he said.

BERMAN COUNTERED, "Do you think 24 hours notice (of a rent increase) is sufficient?"

"No landlords are doing this," Cooper replied. "The tenant must give a 30-day notice to vacate," Berman shot back. "If a tenant is given a rent increase notice one day before, it gives them (tenants) precious little time to look for a new

"No money changes hands. This bill doesn't require anything new. It gives the tenant notice so the tenant can have time to look around," she added.

That bill was reported out on a 6-3 vote with recommendation for House

THE BILL requiring landlords to provide a five-year history of rents drew more fire.

Why am I responsible to report to him (tenant) my business? Does he have to tell me his?" said Grand Rapids landlady Teresa Cardinale. "They could care less what my costs are."

Cooper agreed, arguing, "Does a car dealer have to give you the price history of a car?" An outstate landlord association representative criticized the entire package of bills, saying apartment owners in other states "ask me why I would even want to own property in Michi-

"WE MUST have some good laws," countered Rep. Michael Bennane, D-Detroit, "or we wouldn't have so many landlords. People are making money . a lot of money . . . They're picking up as much property as they can."

"Detroit, which used to be a homeowners' city, is becoming a renters' town," said Bennane, who supported Berman's bills.

"My parents - age 72 and 77 part of this economic boom. aren't They get no benefit, except a few more books in the library," he said.

Landlord-tenant bills await House action HB 4695 - Tenant can't be required

Only one of the landlord-tenant bills before the House Consumers Committee has been reported out. Sponsor of each is state Rep. Maxine Berman, D-Southfield. Here is the status of each:

HB 4525 - Landlord must provide tenant written notice of a rent increase in twice the period for which the tenant must give notice of intent to leave. Thus, if tenant is required to give 30 days notice of intent to move, landlord must give 60 days notice of rent increase. Reported out of committee to House floor.

HB 4580 — Tenant's security deposit can't be increased during occupancy. Withdrawn by sponsor.

State's lottery millionaires think they could win again

By Jeanne Whittaker staff writer

"Oh, yes, hope to die, I'm going to win the lotter-i!"

otto fever. The symptoms, general physical nervousness, sweaty palms and dreams of early retirement, trips to exotic locations, fur coats and $35,000 Porsche sportscars, can be acute while trying to guess which numbers will make up the elusive winning combination in the State Lotto drawing.

But, be forewarned, should you be the one to pick the right numerical sequence there is really only one thing you will find in common with the millionaires who have preceded you.

If you say early retirement, long vacations or a pricey sportscar, you picked the wrong combination, again. Also wrong are queasiness, nervousness, sweaty palms and apprehension. If you say you think you could win again despite your million dollar-plus windfall, count yourself right.

Last week 48 of the 123 individuals who have won the state lottery's top prize were guests of the Michigan Lottery Commission at Dearborn's Hyatt Regency. On the agenda were sessions with representatives of Coopers & Lybrand, Deloitte, Haskins and Sells, and Danielson, Schultz & Co., brunches, lunches, dinners and a fashion show staged by some of Fairlane Town Center's headline stores, including Saks Fifth Avenue, Gantos, Anton's and Hudson's.

The schedule, according to Commissioner Michael J. Carr, was designed to allow the winners to pool their experiences and concerns to find out what happens to an individual's life when he suddenly finds out he, or she, is the winner of $1 million or more.

The results, said Carr, will be put together as a guide for future winners.

Included on the list of invitations sent to 79 cities and four states were Oakland County residents Alfred Bennett of Troy, Claudia Susalla of Novi, William McCarthy, Mary Ling and Betty Parker of Plymouth, Erma Woodman of Rochester, Farmington Hills resident R. Zuliani, Robert Smith of Northville and Mike and Harry Mammo of Southfield. Also, Livonia residents Barbara Papler and Casimer Kliza and Kathryn Boyle of Westland.

ONE BY ONE, the "millionaires," with wives and/or children, began checking in on Friday afternoon. Among the last to arrive were the lottery's newest winners, Canton residents Nancy and Ray Reed. The Reeds checked in on the return trip from Lansing where they picked up the first installment of the earnings that will be doled out to them over the next 20 years.

Reed made a wry face when he explained that the day's events had proved to be so hectic that the side trip to Mount Pleasant to take their daughter, a Central Michigan University student, out to dinner had turned into a trip to McDonald's.

Already checked into their rooms were winner Erma Woodman, 70, and her daughter, Suzanne Nurek. Woodman, a Rochester resident who won $50,000 a year for life on June 3, 1980, said her plans included a shopping trip to nearby Fairlane Town Center.

Asked if she would indulge any particular or spectacular fantasies, Woodman smiled and said that she was looking for a toy store to buy a surprise for her 2-year-old youngest grandchild. The family's teen-agers, she said knowingly, prefer money.

Said Carr, few, if any of the millionaires have gone to extremes in terms of purchases or a change in lifestyle. Some, he says, have bought new homes, but almost always in the same community.

PRIOR TO the weekend, said Carr, the commission mailed a blind survey questionnaire to 98 individuals who have become millionaires since the $1 million-plus drawings began in February 1973. The 78 responses, he said, provided a good profile of the winners.

"Most used their initial prize payments to pay bills, buy a new car, fix up a home or make a move. Their responses indicate that many popular conceptions about what happens to large prize winners are simply untrue."

MILLIONAIRE William McCarthy, who won $2,384,704 on March 30, told of advice he received from another millionaire he met during the weekend get-together. Since that encounter, he said, his response to unsolicited requests for donations will be that if things are that tough there are numerous charitable organizations better equipped to address the request than he is.

Besides, said McCarthy, most millionaires already know people and organizations they wish to help or include in their windfall.

Commissioner Carr said unwanted solicitations are not as common as one might expect. "Only one in five reported being particularly bothered by people seeking to share in winnings," he said. "Most of these contacts came from sales people by telephone or mail."

It should ease concern, he said, to know that solicitations appear to diminish after the first month.

Among the most recent winners of $1 million-plus, Nancy and Ray Reed of Canton demonstrated similar characteristics to 120 previous winners. Tempted by an array of gorgeous clothes the couple were appreciative but remain committed to the lifestyle they knew before becoming millionaires.

William and Shirley McCarthy of Plymouth (left) and Erma Woodmann of Rochester, with daughter Suzanne Nurek, were among 48 instant millionaires who were guests of the state Lottery Commission during a weekend devoted to social events, financial seminars and a fashion show.

Nancy and Ray Reed (left) and Mark and Barbara Gieseking (right) of Grosse Pointe have a lot in common although the two couples had never met before the invitational weekend at Dearborn's Hyatt Regency. One significant difference is in the way that the instant millionaires selected their winning numbers. Both couples have elected to continue with jobs they like.

The concept is simple. Cold air is drawn in, heated 100%, then distributed evenly, throughout an area by a powerful fan. Just 6" square, 6.6 pounds, this revolutionary heater can bring the temperature of a 9x12x8' room from 50° to 70° in 15 minutes. An energy-efficient marvel, our Microfurnace™ draws 12.5 amps at the start of the heating cycle and drops to 10 amps when temperature stabilizes. On maximum, it puts out 5200 BTU's per hour, and can be manually adjusted from 175 to 1500 watts. It can be plugged into regular outlet and operated non-stop without overheating. UL approved.

Dual purpose, the unit may be used in summer as an air-circulating fan. 5-year warranty. All this for just $179.

Lotto winners say they win all over again

The smartest thing instant millionaires can do is to immediately get themselves in touch with a trust officer, McCarthy said. On the morning after his windfall he presented himself at the trust officer's desk at the bank where he works.

McCarthy also advises instant millionaires to keep quiet, at least for awhile. He wishes, he said, that he had taken more time to adjust to his new finanabout four months," he said. "I couldn't unteer work over picking up the recall a thing that I said. I wish now check," said McCarthy.

COMMISSIONER CARR said, "In their long-range planning, nearly all of them sought some sort of financial counseling. Their interests run to investment programs, saving funds and trusts for children.

Carr explained that by law the Lotwork until his scheduled retirement in tery Commission is prevented from advising the millionaires. "Other than advising them of tax withholding requirements, we aren't empowered to

But, he adds, that doesn't mean that the Commission doesn't become emotionally involved with the millionaires. "You can't help but hand out the checks on Monday morning and not share in some of the excitement with them," he said. "It's a wonderful experience for

WHILE THERE are overwhelming similarities between the millionaires, there is one area in which the winners are remarkably dissimilar. All had their own method for picking the win-

they picked their winning number by stuck with the same numbers, with combining their birthdays - 6, 15, 35, 12, 11, 34. "If I hadn't married her I wouldn't have won," said Reed, a unit supervisor at Ford Aerospace Commu-

William McCarthy said his initial plan was to number table-tennis balls, but when that idea proved expensive he settled for little pieces of paper.

John Felosak, a Flint resident who won $2,395,125 on March 9, said that at the last moment he decided to change the last two digits of his usual numerical sequence. Still others say they have some saying that they continue to play the same numbers that earned them their exclusive status as instant millionaires.

Their initial excitement past, the millionaires were reticent when asked how their windfalls have changed their lives, preferring instead to talk about the discovery that their lives were already pretty satisfactory. Oh, there will be a few extravagances, said Nancy Reed of Canton. "This Christmas, she said, "the presents might be a little bit bigger."

Offer 'your time, talent or treasure'

A time to be thankful, a time to share, a time to give. Now is our time.

So many groups are working tirelessly to make sure no one is without a Christmas. All they need

Perhaps you don't have the time to work in one of these groups but still have a great desire to help, especially this time of year. As my pastor, the Rev. Edward Baldwin keeps telling us, "All we need is your time, talent or treasure.

So if you haven't had the time, and feel you lack the talent, perhaps the treasure is your department. Now is the time to share yours - no matter how large or small - with others.

LET'S BEGIN WITH the Salvation Army and the "Baskets Filled with Love Telethon."

All it takes is one can of food from each family. Simply drop the can in one of the many boxes placed throughout the community. At the same time, teach your children charity, brotherhood, caring, kindness, love, generosity, responsibility, all in

You'll also remind yourself of the goodness within you that you sometimes forget during the busy

If you haven't had a chance to participate, just look around. I'm sure you'll find a box at Kroger, K mart, all muncipal halls, fire, police stations, schools, Canton Library, and places like Burroughs, the Ford plant on Sheldon Road and so on.

This is the second annual telethon for the Salvation Army. You should know all the food is used and distributed right here in the Canton, Northville and Donations come from individuals, merchants, schools, service groups, anyone who cares to become involved. The telethon will air noon to 10 p.m. Dec. 7. I will be there for the full 10 hours along with loads of your friends and neighbors who have volunteered their time. And I'll be having a ball. I get the easy job of interviewing the people as they bring in their donations.

I will have the privilege of meeting some of the big-time talent we are fortunate to have coming in. Wayne County Executive Bill Lucas, a frequent guest on the Sandy Show, will be coming in to help out this year. How about Gary Cubberley from Channel 2, another biggie who never turns us down?

FROM THE RADIO world, Brad Bianchi from WWJ, or Jim Ellis of WCZY, or another cable talent that you can tune in on your radio, Debra Danko from W-4.

If you prefer the more local type, Andy Melin is coming from WSDP.

Returning to do his bit for the community is Pat McLaughlin, sports producer at Channel 7 and former sports producer at Omnicom. Speaking of community, lets not forget J.P. McCarthy, producer and host of Single Touch on Omnicom, or my director and executive producer, Ron Garlington (the fellow with a voice that will set your mind whirl-

IF YOU'RE LOOKING for support from elected officials, we can count on Jim Poole, Canton supervisor; Suzie Heintz, Northville Township supervisor, Jim Kosteva, state representative; Bob Padget, Canton trustee - just to mention a few. Budd Russell from Burroughs, like representatives from K mart and P.Y.A. Monarch Food Service have been so helpful and involved.

The kids in the schools are doing their part, too, with Alan Price and Lynn Massey from the high schools, will be there to put in their two cents. Speaking of schools, how about Sara Berry from Plymouth School of Hair Design and Marilyn Lehmann from the Lehmann College of Beauty? I can't possibly name everyone, but I wanted to give you a feeling of how many people are involved in this. It truly is a community project.

Pulling it all together this year is Pete Smith, who has taken over from Maria Holmes, also of Omnicom. Maria started all this last year but is now programming director at Omnicom. So now Pete is our leader, and one of the kindest, warmest Pete has a smile that would melt my heart and he'll need it to get through this enormous project.

Santa will be there until 6 p.m. to listen to all the special requests of all the boys and girls who bring a can of food. So if you've got the Christmas Spirit, or are still looking for it, take a trip to Omnicom Dec. 7. Bring a can of food (or more) and get that special feeling. Don't forget to watch the live telethon on Channels 8 and 15.

THAT'S NOT all, folks.

Dec. 7 also marks the Goodfellows' day of activity. They plan to make sure everyone has food for Christmas and that the children have toys. If you're not participating in the telethon, we have another way for you to make Christmas points sharing the

How about getting out there and helping the Goodfellows sell their papers? Believe it or not they are in need of workers. I know there are many of you former newspaper carriers out there and you can help. Contact either Lt. Larry Stewart of the Canton Police Department, 397-3350, or Art Winkel of the Canton Fire Department, 397-3100, Ext. 336.

They are trying something new this year, offering any individual, club, group of people, or service group, an opportunity to sponsor a whole basket. The baskets are $50 each. If you pay the full amount, the basket or baskets will be marked as such, (donated by — through Goodfellows).

Also, any service club can have its own corner this year. Offer to man the corner throughout the day from 16 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Being thankful a soothing experience

ESPITE WHAT Billy Crystal says in song, how we feel is much more marvelous than how we "luuk." In this sense, Thanksgiving can be very good for our health and those who are into wholistic medicine agree. Feelings of gratitude can be as healing as they are warm. Unfortunately we often deprive our-selves of such warmth because we are so busy complaining or feeling sorry for ourselves. The rain that fell on Michigan for so many days of the present November is but one case in point. No doubt, it made for soggy ground but as for soggy feelings, that was a matter of choice.

It occurred to me that soggy ground in Michigan was better than soggy mud in Colombia. It even beat having to wade through the floods of Virginia. If it is good to feel good about the roof overhead when one is busy complaining about the rain outside. God bless my

It was remarked to me this week that the world is full of jerks. Perhaps by someone's standards we all fall into the category at one time or another. But again, it is perhaps a matter of focus. There are any number of people for whom I can be thankful.

FOLKS WHO RESPOND when I say, "Hello" are worth a moment of gratitude. They remind me that I'm alive. They also make up for those who respond as though they were in the middle of a migraine and I just interrupted the best part of their pain.

This year I met a man to whom I am thankful even after five months. It was 'a hot day in July and I was on my way to a funeral. I was also lost and in a traffic jam all at the same time. The result was that I became one of those drivers for whom the other guy's horn was made. What do you do when you just maneuvered your way from the left lane to the right only to discover that you had to make a left turn? This gentlemen, whose name I'll never know, saw it all. He slowed down and had his passenger roll the window down and give me a message — no obscenities from this guy. "Friend," he said, "you look like you're having a problem. Why not scoot in front of me and make your turn?" And he didn't even know I was on my way to bury a friend. How refreshing, when the road is cluttered with those who cannot give up even a parking space without a fight

There are lots of other people for whom I'm thankful. Near the top of the list are those who believe that people are more important than policies. You can tell them by the decisions they make. Then there are those for whom people are also more important than schedules or even ideologies. These kind of folks can really make me feel

AS IF ALL OF this were not enough, I am also thankful for those who challenge me, as well as those who support me. Each of these contributes to whatcver growth I manage to muster. Most of all I am grateful for those who love me "even though" rather than "only if." And I'm thankful when other people have these kinds of things for which to be thankful. When this happens, we all feel better and everyone touched by us is a winner.

Being thankful can be fun and sometimes exciting. It is a soothing experience and one which offers hope for the future while digesting the good of the past and the present. And that, my friends, is truly marvelous.

It occurs to me that if I wrote of these things more often I would be more aware of places for gratitude in the heart. I already feel better than before I started and hope that maybe you

• CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

First Christian Science Church of Plymouth will have an hourlong Thanksgiving service at 10:30 a.m. Thursday, Nov. 28, at the church, 1100 W. Ann Arbor Trail, two blocks west of Main Street. The sermon will focus on expressing gratitude to God by following Jesus Christ in daily life. The service also will include hymns of praise, brief silent prayer and the Lord's Prayer. A portion of the service will be set aside for spontaneous expressions of gratitude. It is not unusual for Christian Scientists to briefly relate instances of spiritual healing among their blessings.

Care for infants and toddlers will be provided by church members. Sunday School-age children are welcome to attend the service.

 DETROIT LAESTADIAN The Detroit Laestadian Congregation will have Thanksgiving Day services at 6 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 28. The church is at 290 Fairground, Plymouth. Donald Lahti, pastor of the congregation, and Brian Hillstrom will preach.

• IMMANUEL LUTHERAN

Immanuel Lutheran Church in Dearborn Heights will have Thanksgiving services at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 28, in the congregation's remodeled house of worship, on Ann Arbor Trail near Inkster Road. Immanuel recently celebrated its 120th anniversary, which also marked the dedication of the remodeled church. Included in the new look are padded pews, cathedral lights, altar paraments and furnishings and appointments. A new decoration is a stained glass of Luther's coat of arms.

The church has services at 10:30 a.m. Sundays, with Sunday school at 9:15 a.m. The church is planning an Advent program of "Christmas Around the World." The December Bible study topic will be "Getting Ready for Christ-

UNITY OF LIVONIA

Unity of Livonia will have its family Thanksgiving service, "Live on Thanksgiving Street," at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 27. The service will be followed by homemade pumpkin pie and refreshments in the church fellowship hall. A nursery service will be provided. The church is at 28660 Five Mile, Livonia.

NATIVITY CHURCH OF CHRIST

Livonia will start its Advent mini concert series with an organ-piano presen-vice. Future concerts will be Sundays Dec. 8, 15 and 22 and Christmas Eve. The church is at 9435 Henry Ruff.

• LANDMARK BAPTIST

Singer Diane Hull will perform in concert at 6 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 1, at Landmark Baptist Church, 11095 Haggerty, Plymouth.

WESTLAND CHURCH OF GOD

The drama "Judgment Morning" will be performed at 7 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 30, at the Westland Church of God, 35212 Melton, Westland. Judgment Morning Ministries of Dearborn will be performing this drama ministry. The group is a national touring group and soon will become international with its 14-day trip to Israel. The church is two blocks north of Palmer, one block east of Wayne Road. For more information, call 595-1932.

• FIRST PRESBYTERIAN OF PLYMOUTH

First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth will mark the first Sunday in Advent and its Ninth Annual St. Andrew Day Observance on Sunday, Dec. 1. Advent trees will be in place, decorated with Scottish tartan bows. The first candle of Advent will be lighted by families who have joined the church in the last year. The church's senior minister, Philip Rodgers Magee, will deliver the sermon "Crowded" at the 9:15 and 11:15 a.m. services. Communion will be celebrated at both services, and new members will be welcomed to the Lord's Table at the 9:15 worship.

A bagpiper will pipe in the choirs at both services and accompany the congregation in the singing of "Amazing Grace." The blue and white St. Andrew banner will hang over the chancel, and heather will be in the chancel bouquets. Scottish dancers will perform in the coffee hour 10:15-11:15 a.m. in the Nichol/Walch Fellowship Hall. The church is at 701 Church, Plymouth

• WOMEN FOR JESUS

Women for Jesus will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Dec. 2, at Roma's of Garden City, Cherry Hill between Venoy and Merriman roads. Sports writers don't grow old

HE SPORTS WRITER stands along the sidelines watching the high school team act out the dreams of his spent youth. He does so with pleasure. Brian Smolinski makes a catch along the sidelines, barely staying in bounds, barely able to out his hands on the ball. The crowd cheers. The coaches shake their heads in wonderment. "How does he do it?"

Smolinski, calm and collected on the outside, is smiling deeply inside, feeling every sensation of the accomplishment. The sports writer shares the sensation with the crowd, the coach and the athlete. He's intruding, but nobody knows it. It's an unobtrusive intrusion. Brian Smolinski walks through a line of John Glenn football players. A gentleman, he shakes their hands and congratulates them on winning the championship — his team's championship. he's calm and collected on the outside. On the inside, though, he's grieving. The sports writer senses and shares his grief.

THE SPORTS WRITER has had similar experiences occur in his life. He has felt his own sense of accomplishment (that home run that beat Pat Sheridan's Connie Mack team back in 1976, the several softball championships) as well as his own grief (the time back in 1974 when he committed six errors in one baseball game — at first base. It got so bad that, after a botched pickoff attempt, the pitcher wouldn't even accept the throw back from his woeful first basemen).

Everyone has their tales of woe and glory. But for most people, once those grand days are through, they are through. Few get to redo the ages between 16 and 18.

The sports writer does And for that he is thankful.

He is thankful for the opportunity to witness and chronicle the innocence, brashness, brilliance, clumsiness and spontaneity of high school and amateur sports.

HE IS THANKFUL for the opportunity to stay tuned to the energy of the young.

It tickles him to catch glimpses of the awkwardness and embarrassment that accompany the maturation process:

The scene is the Plymouth Salem pool, the Western Lakes conference swim meet. One of the meet assistants is a young man wearing a Canton varsity sweater adorned with a ton of medals.

Glimpse No. 1: The queen of the area's diving board has just impressively won her event. Upon leaving the victory stand, she and the young man in the Canton varsity sweater share a tender and lingering hug — even the old sp tell there is something special between the two.

Glimpse No. 2: A pretty North Farmington swimmer is eying the Canton kid's sweater disdainfully. "Is that heavy?" she asks in sarcastic reference to the tonage of victory medals. The Canton kid turns a deep shade of red but handles the situation well (far better than the sports writer would, age 18 or 28). He merely smiles and fakes like he's falling forward.

THE SPORTS WRITER gets a big kick out of watching teams like Livonia Stevense (swimming and soccer), Farmington Hills Mercy (basketball, swimming), Farmington (cross country), Livonia Ladywood (basketball) Troy Athens (soccer), Andover (swimming), Birmingham-Bloomfield area (tennis), Rochester (cross country) and Cranbrook (hockey) dominate their sport year after year.

At the same time, he gets a charge out of teams like Troy (football), Livonia Churchill (girls basketball) and Schoolcraft College (volleyball) who rally themselves past bigger and better and for this he is extremely grateful. For every blowout he covers, there's a Canton-Salem game, a Mercy-Ladywood, a John Glenn-

Dull moments are few for the sports writer,

For every spoiled-rotten, snot-nosed brat, there's a diligent, hard-working young person who calls you sir and tells you he enjoyed your last article. For every coach who forgets (time and time again) to call in his scores, there's a coach who delivers the results and statistics of his game in person - win, lose or draw.

FOR EVERY coach who rages at the newspaper, blames it for either a lack of coverage or for swelling the heads of the athletes, there's a coach who welcomes you into the gym (stadium, field, rink, court) with a handshake and a "we really appreciate you being here."

For every athletic director who admonishes you at the gate to show a minimum of six pieces of identification before allowing you into the event, only to kick you out of the press box to make room for a school's scouting team, there's a Roh Holland or a Paul Cummings or a Fred Goldberg who will bend over backward to make sure you are taken care of. For every parent that squawks about imbalanced (impartial, insensitive, ignorant) coverage, there's the one who calls to say how much their son-daughter enjoyed the article and how grandma cried when she read it and how it is permanently lodged in the family scrapbook.

To all, the sports writer gives thanks. He is a

Rocks tune in to district title

staff writer

Fred Thomann has his Plymouth Salem girls basketball team moving up

The Rocks were solid gold Monday night, rocking and rolling in the second half for an impressive 61-29 victory over Livonia Churchill for the Class A district championship at Plymouth

Salem, which won its third consecutive district title under Thomann, appears to be in complete harmony for the upcoming Canton regional, which begins Tuesday night. The Rocks' firstround opponent will be Farmington Hills Mercy, a team they beat earlier in the season, 43-38.

Thomann knows the reasons why his team is playing string music these

"We're playing with a lot of confidence," he said. "And we're doing a better job of getting our players to help their teammates.

"We're also playing seven or eight deep. We can make adjustments, go with certain lineups and not be hurt."

CHURCHILL came into the matchup at perfect pitch, having pulled off a 47-34 upset victory Saturday over Salem's chief rival, Canton.

The Chargers played cool and composed for nearly two quarters before going sour.

They led 19-16 near the midway point of the first half, but went off key in the final five minutes as Salem grabbed a 26-21 halftime lead.

In the third quarter, Salem opened things up with a 17-4 scoring surge. The Rocks continued their script in the final quarter, pulling away with an 18-4

Most instrumental in Salem's second half showing was 5-foot-11 sophomore Dena Head, who finished with a gamehigh 25 points.

Once Salem gets a five- or six-point lead, they're very tough," Churchill coach Roger Springsteen said. "They force you to play man-to-man defense, and Dena Head is tough to stop one-onone. And she's such a dominant player."

ALTHOUGH HEAD orchestrated the victory, she got help from her team-

Point-guard Julie Tortora kept the offense in tune, while 5-11 senior center Laura Clifford came off the bench and made her presence known on the boards, scoring six points. Contributing on the defensive end was junior forward Kristen Hostynski. Junior guard Jessica Handley, meanwhile, kept Churchill's zone defense honest, scoring 10 points.

But Head was the conductor, according to Springsteen.

"Her biggest asset is her jumping ability and quickness," the Churchill coach said. "And every time there was a loose ball in the paint (the foul lane), she'd get her hands on it.

"She's really done a number on us this year."

In a meeting between the two.teams earlier this year, Head scored 25.

Churchill was able to stay close behind the shooting of senior Amy Weber, who scored 11 of her team-high 13 points in the first half. The Chargers also controlled the boards.

"THE THING YOU have to remember is that Churchill has a lot of ability," Thomann said. "They got us in a position where they made some great shots, and defensively, they packed it inside. We had a tough time dealing

"But once we got through the first quarter, our intensity moved up a level and they dropped down a notch."

Churchill ended the season at 14-7, while Salem enters regional action at

Salem gets crack at Mercy in regionals

By Chris McCosky staff writer

For the third straight year, Farmington Hills Mercy and North Farmington met for the district girls basketball championship.

For the third straight year the undermanned North team played as hard and as good as it could. For the the third straight year, Mer-

That's about all that was typical in Mercy's 48-23 win at North Tuesday

For starters, Mercy's talented senior forward Terri Ford was on the bench in street clothes. She sprained her ankle in practice, according to Mercy coach

Larry Baker, and the cast isn't due to come off until later this week. Baker said Tuesday that it was "doubtful" Ford would be ready to play in time for next Tuesday's regional tournament game against Plymouth

ON THE COURT, Mercy threw a barrage of player combinations at North, as well as a smothering mixture of presses and defenses. With a hawking man-to-man full court press resulting in eight Raider turnovers, Mercy forged a 14-4 lead in the first quarter.

Mercy came out in a zone in the second half, maintained the full court press, and on offense, ran a slow-down delay game. This was with a lead that at one point reached 20-7 in the second

"We did not want to let North settle into a pattern," Baker said. "We felt it was to our advantage if we pressed. And I think you saw us do as many different things as we did because of early foul trouble. We weren't experimenting. We played it as close to the vest as possible and at the same time maintained pressure." There's another theory that could explain why Mercy played the type of game it did. Baker knew that Salem coach Fred Thomann was in the stands with his team scouting. Why not confuse the scouting reports a bit by altering the plan of attack as often as Nonsense, says Baker.

"AT THIS point in the season, there's too much at stake to worry about gamesmanship. We played the game to win it." he said

Whatever the theory, the bottom line is clear: Mercy overwhelmed North.

"We had to score points and we had to be able to break the press," said North coach Greg Grodzicki, whose team finished with a better-than-ex-pected 14-9 record. "We just got too rattled. Mercy was very effective with their press

"I really admire everything he's (Baker) done over there. I'm envious and our girls are envious. I wish they would go all the way."

All was not dreary for North, howev-

An hour prior to the game, Grodzicki, with an assist from North boys basketball coach Tom Negoshian, implemented a new matchup zone de-

"I realized that our normal zone just wouldn't be effective so we put in the new one," Grodzicki said. "That's tough on a team but I thought our kids played

ESPECIALLY SO in the second quarter. Only two of Mercy's points were scored via its half-court offense. Four points were scored off offensive rebounds and another eight were direct scores from North turnovers.

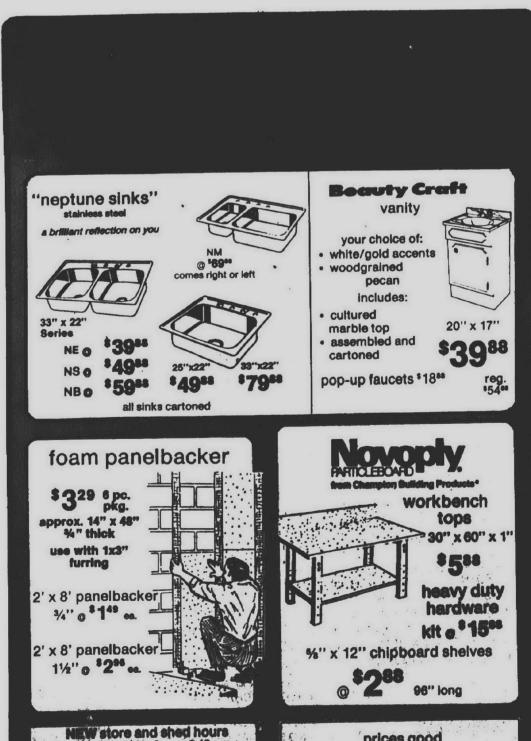

That dreaded press. Mercy forced 26 turnovers on the night. In one stretch, North failed to inbounds the ball from underneath its basket three straight

"You have to give the credit there to Margaret DeMattia, Michelle Fryatt and Yvette Maison. They applied the pressure we needed," Baker said.

Fryatt made eight steals on the night and Maison seven.

Fryatt also played well offensively, scoring 11 points. Terri Nalodka led the Marlins with 12. Maison added 10.
Sandy Spahn played a strong inside game for North, scoring nine points to ad the team.

The Marlins will take a 16-5 record into Tuesday's regional tournament.

Raiders adopt a Salem flavor

staff writer

Oakland Community College basketball coach Tom McPhillips said his team is quick and he's defensive about

In fact, so much so that McPhillips has brought Plymouth Salem girls coach Fred Thomann, known for his tenacious defensive units, on board to work with the Raiders' backcourt.

OCC, which had its 1985-86 campaign opener canceled Monday after Jordan College notified the school it had canceled its basketball program, returns four starters from last years'

"We have a very quick team," said McPhillips, who returned last season after a three-year hiatus. "We play excellent team defense and we should eventually score some points off our team defense.

If the Raiders are to contend in the highly competitive Eastern Conference of the Michigan Community College

Rodney Thompson returns to the OCC backcourt as the other vacant spot has been turned over to newcomer, 6foot freshman Gary Holt. The lone spot in the starting lineup was won by Holt a strong showing last week against the likes of Walker D. Russell and Kurt James in the annual OCC alumni game.

"GARY HOLT showed he can shoot with the big guys," said McPhillips. "He'll lend us the consistency we need."

Coupled with the tutelage provided by Thomann, who won't join the team full time until his Salem squad has completed post-season play, things should tighten up defensively for the

Thomann, who's only been to a few practices, has already made an impact, according to McPhillips

Athletic Association, an austerity plan (Thomann's) going to be a tremenfor their opponents' offense will be in dous help," said McPhillips. "He's already shown that we're going to have a good defensive team. I've known him for a long time. We're going to have a lot of fun this year."

> The front line, which returns three starters, should have a good time this season also.

WILLIE JONES, a 6-6 forward, heads the list. Last season, Jones averaged in double figures scoring and will be counted on again this season.

The other forward spot is inhabited by 6-3 Darrell Darling, who can play at guard also. At center, 6-5 Patrick Gardner returns also.

In the wings, the Raiders have two area players to go along with Wilson Summerville for added depth. Freshmen frontliners LeSean Haygood, a 6-5 foward from Plymouth Salem, and Matthew Lundh, a 6-81/2 forward from Farmington can also come off the McPhillips expects another fine year from Highland Park, despite a good number of losses from last season's

"I'm sure (they) have a strong nucleus coming back," he said. "Our league is very competitive. You have to show up to play every night."

OCC, which finished fourth in conference play with a 5-5 mark, finished strong last season. McPhillips hopes the momentum can carry over.

Records fall, Spartans keep WLAA title

staff writer

High School swim coaches from across the state of Michigan will look in awe at the results of the 1985 Western Lakes Activities Association TWLAA) meet that took place Friday night at Plymouth Salem.

Not because Livonia Stevenson won that was anticipated. The Spartans Tomped to their fourth consecutive WLAA crown, amassing 280 points to second-place North Farmington's 182.

But the times registered at the meet, the nature of the races and the abundance of state-class swimmers had many coaches shaking their heads in amazement.

"That was an unbelieveable meet," Salem coach Chuck Olson said Monday. "I was talking to the Ann Arbor Pioneer coach today and he just couldn't believe some of the times.

HERE ARE some of the highlights: • Stevenson's Michele McKenzie established two league records. She eclipsed teammate Sherrie Sudek's 1983 200-yard freestyle record of 1:57.40 with a 1:56.80. She also set a record in the 500 freestyle, topping North Farmington's Jennifer Rowe's 5:14.96 (set in the prelims) with a swift 5:11.59.

McKenzie was also in on Stevenson's record-setting 400 freestyle relay, teaming with Robin Greshaw, Sudek and Sheila Taormina on a 3:42.75. That tops Stevenson's 1984 mark of 3:45.72.

Stevenson now holds every WLAA swim record. Salem's Cindy McSurely's 1982 diving record is the lone non-Spartan record on the board.

 All six finalists topped state qualifying times in three of the events, five of the six in two events, and four in four events. There were at least three state qualifying times swum in each event

• State qualifying times were bettered in three consolation events. The seventh and eigth best swims in the 100 backstroke were state qualifying

• Fifty-one state qualifying times were turned in Friday night.

AND THE races were electrifying, especially the 50 free and the 100 free. The 50 free featured six swimmers who finished within .35 of each other. It was like a straight line traveling up and down the Salem pool. The electronic timer registered North Farmington's Marge Cramer and Stevenson's Ann Bollinger finishing exactly at the same time: 25.51. Livonia Churchill's Carol Baker was next at 25.61, followed by Plymouth Canton's Lynn Massey (25.67), Salem's Kristal Taylor (25.75) and Farmington Harrison's Catherine Tucker (25.86).

The 100 free featured a four-way ; battle - Stevenson's Maureen Sudek (55.39) edged Salem's Kristal Taylor (55.54), John Glenn's Kelly Taylor (56.23) and Churchill's Baker (56.37).

The diving competition lived up to its premeet hype as well. Stevenson's Cathy Stafford and Glenn's Jamie Koester took their grudge match to the final dive. Stafford prevailed amassing 373.25 points to Koester's 353.55.

talent, Churchill's Audra Martin. The powerful freshman won both the 200 individual medley (2:09.45) and the 100 breaststroke (1:08.71).

In the breaststroke, another of the meet's thrilling races, she just beat out both North Farmington's All-American Cindy Cramer (1:09.21) and Canton's Julie Cox (1:09.54).

THE MEET also showcased the power of the Spartans. The area's No. 1ranked team won eight of the 11 events and put the meet away with a 1-2-3 sweep in the backstroke (Bollinger, 1:01.77; Sherrie Sudek, 1:01.91; and Kathy Sullivan, 1:03.47).

Stevenson also got a first from Sheila Taormina in the 100 butterfly (1:00.13). "We never come in here expecting to win," said Stevenson's coach, Lois McDonald, drying off after taking her obligatory fully clothed plunge into the pool. "There's just too much strength. North Farmington, John Glenn, Salem and Canton - they all push us. The exciting thing is that we had three girls qualify for state that hadn't done so until tonight." (The three are Maureen Sudek, Nicole Hemplemann and Cindy

North Farmington, a new addition to the WLAA after dominating the Northwest Suburban League for nearly a decade, took first place in the 200 medley relay with Marge Cramer, Cindy Cramer, Liz Worthen and Amy Meneilley teaming on a 1:55.93.

Franklin rips Milford; Spartans rally to win

Livonia Franklin won its first hockey opener ever for fourth-year coach Terry Jobbitt, routing Milford in a non-league game Friday at Edgar Are-

Not only did the Patriots put the puck in the net, but they held the Redskins to 17 shots as goalies Jeff Vaden and Dan Murray, splitting time in the pets, had an easy night.

"We did some strong defensive work," Jobbitt said. "I'm happy with the team, but I'm not sold on being as good a team as this score (9-1) indicates. "Our first big test is at Wyandotte (Wednesday,

Paul Zajdel and Tim Olschanski each scored the hat trick for Franklin. Zajdel, injured much of last year, also contributed two assists. Other Patriots figuring in the scoring were: Dan Hernandez, one goal and four assists; Charlie Ol-schanski, one goal and one assist; Jim Bushey, one goal; Dave McCallum and B.J. Wilson, two assists Franklin returns to the ice at 8 tonight, facing South Lyon at Edgar. STEVENSON 5, G.P. SOUTH 2: Livonia Stevenson won its opener Friday at Grosse Pointe, scoring three times in the final period to beat the Blue Devils.

Senior Mickey Johnson, playing his first varsity game for the Spartans, scored the game-winner early in the third period on an assist from Hugh Griffin. Johnson then assisted on Brian Mulcahy's goal and Griffin's goal to cap the scoring.

South led 2-0 after one period, but Stevenson came back in the second on goals by Sean Skinner from Rob Allerton; and Brian Beaufait from Steve Chafe.

"Johnson is new, but he kept getting better and better the more ice time we gave him," Stevenson coach Matt Mulcahy said. "He was just outstanding.

"And in the second and third periods we seemed to get our legs."

Mulcahy also singled out the play of another first-year player, senior Rob Tustian, who spearheaded the Spartans' defense. Goalies Len Buckman and Cary Tiodori split time in the nets. Stevenson returns to the ice at 8 tonight, traveling to Trenton to face the perennial state-contending Trojans.

CHURCHILL 12, BRIGHTON 1: Livonia Churchill, co-champions of the Suburban Prep Hockey League (SPHL) last season with Stevenson, opened its 1985-86 season in impressive style last week, whipping non-league foe Brighton.

I thought we worked hard, but I thought we took too many penalties," Churchill coach Rudy Varvari said. "We can't afford that against the harder teams.

"We're going to have to be more disciplined as a unit Bentley transfer Rick Sullivan and Sean Grace led the Churchill scoring parade with two goals each.

Royal Oak Shrine gave Livonia La-dywood a game Monday night.

For about four minutes.

After falling behind 6-4, Ladywood rattled off 16 usanswered points and said good night to the Lady Knights in the Class B district championship at Schoolcraft Community College.

Final score! Ladywood 75, Shrine

It was Latywood's ninth district crown in 10 years. The Blazers advance to the state Class B regional tournament at Harper Woods Lutheran East. Also advancing to that regional is defending Class B champ River Rouge. The two Class B finalists from a year ago are likely to battle in the regional championship.

In three district tournament contests, Lacywood has outscored its opponents Clawson, Redford Thurston and Shrise) 233-81 - nearly 3-1.

Afterward, Ladywood coach Ed Kavanaugh was asked if he could foresee the day when his teams would get a challenge in the district tourna-

"I hope not," he said.

SERIOUSLY, coaches fret over blowout victories. They worry about their team losing its intensity. Kavanaugh, though, isn't worried about his group.

"One way of looking at it (lopsided wins) is that it makes everybody happy because they all get to play," he said. "I don't think our starters will lose any intensity because of this. We've been working real hard. It could have a bad effect, but I don't think it will."

Ladywood's strength this season has been its balance and depth. Both were on display Monday.

Senior guard Jenny Nadeau led the scoring parade with 19 points. Sue Laliberte added 17, Cathy Schram 14 and ever-improving sophomore Katie McNulty had 12.

"She's been playing well," Ka-vanaugh said of McNulty. "She scored her points, but did you notice how many times she had her hand on the ball? She's always around the ball."

McNULTY IS an impact player. She came off the bench in the first quarter. Within two minutes she had scored seven points, blocked two shots and grabbed two rebounds.

An underrated aspect of Ladywood's game is its defense. The Blazers baffled Shrine with an assortment of presses and traps. Shrine had 20 offensive possessions in the second quarter. The Blazer defense forced turnovers in 15 of them.

On the night, Shrine turned the ball over 39 times.

Kavanaugh, with his team sitting with a 22-1 record and Catholic League and district titles under its

Troy: 1 last egg to fry

By Jim Hughe staff writer

This is the time of the year for the annual television airing of "Miracle on 34th Street." The updated version, entitled "Miracle on Opdyke Street" performed by the Boys on Livernois, may be seen at a Silverdome near you.

Those never-say-die kids from Troy High (a.k.a. the Giant Killers) will try to finish off a miracle season at 1 p.m. Saturday when they take on undefeated Traverse City for the Class A State Championship at the Pontiac Silverdome.

It will probably be the fourth straight playoff game the Colts go in as the underdog, a role they've relished while making those who pick against them eat their words.

The Colts (11-1) are coming off perhaps their most surprising win of the season. The 10-0 shutout over Redford Catholic Central was stunning in that the Shamrocks had not yielded a touchdown in their last four games, and they were not shut out the entire season.

STANDING IN Troy's way is Traverse City, a 19-10 winner last week over defending state champion Ann Arbor Pioneer. The Trojans have outscored their opponents, 401-116, and this year.

"They have a strong secondary, and one of the reasons their secondary is so effective is because they send (blitz) the corners and the strong safety a lot," Troy coach Jeff Keller said "They send their backs a lot. If you come out with a tight end, they come at you right now and they put a lot of pressure on the quarterback.

"It's difficult to beat them deep." Troy will try to beat the Trojans with the pass. After all, it's worked against Athens, Henry Ford, Sterling Heights Stevenon and Catholic Central. But that doesn't mean Keller is going to put the running game on the shelf.

We're going to have to move the ball on the ground," he said. "That is crucial. We think we'll be able to run the ball better in the Silverdome. They have a quick defense, but we think we'll be able to run. We have to."

Offensively, Traverse City is led by quarterback Chris Hathaway, halfback Doug Lautner, fullback Tony Olson and receiver Jeff Durocher.

HATHAWAY, A 6-foot, 180-pound senior, has completed 58 of 93 passes for 768 yards and nine touchdowns. He has thrown just one interception this year. Olson (5-11, 200), is the wor-150) is the breakaway back with

Although the Trojans do not throw a great deal, they have been effective. Durocher is the leading receiver with 27 catches for 362 yards and five TDs.

"They run a power offense," Keller said. "Lautner can break it outside and Olson is a tough runner inside. We have to stop a tandem group of rushers, and that is difficult to do.

"They execute well on offense. They're similar to Athens in that they power the ball at you and they hang onto the thing. I expect a low-scoring game between two real quick defensive teams. I think specialties will play a big role in establishing field position:

Keller is hoping big plays enter into the picture. Big plays have been the key in Troy's recent success. Against Athens, it was Scott Kania's 44-yard field goal into the wind and quarterback Kurt Schram's 46-yard TD pass to Eric Jenkins.

AGAINST HENRY Ford, it was a Schram-to-John Locker 45-yard touchdown pass and a key fumble recovery by Chris Lin which set up Kania's winning field goal.

Against Stevenson, it was Jim Milewski's halfback option pass to Lock-er, which set up a Bill Hayes touch"We have to come up with the big plays like we have the past few weeks," Keller said. "Schram and Locker are two of our big-play people. These kids surprise me. It seems every time we need a big play, someone comes up with one."

What's even more surprising to Keller is the team's attitude and lowkey approach to the games since the playoffs started. It's even more evident

"They may be the most relaxed group of people in the whole school." Keller said with a grin. "The kids surprise me how level-headed they are." We had a team meeting and everybody was pretty straight. They take everything in stride.

"THERE'S NO overconfidence, there's no cockiness, there's no fear and there's no intimidation. It shows how mature they are."

The matchup with Traverse City the first Troy game at the Silverd since the 1983 season finale when the Colts played Athens. To prepare for playing indoors, Troy practiced Tuesday and Wednesday inside at Macomb Community College, and Thursday and Friday at the University of Michigan indoor football facility in Ann Anna Control indoor football facility in Ann Arbor.

"The noise level in the Silverdome is phenomenal," Keller said. "That's something we're going to have to get used to. I think our kids know what to

• GATT TOP QB

Mike Gatt, the Redford Catholic Central grad from Livonia, was named to the all-Great Lakes Intercollegiate • SMEDLEY HEADS MIAA Athletic Conference (GLIAC) football first team last week

Also named to the GLIAC first team were Darrell Bartkowiak, a Plymouth Canton grad now at Saginaw Valley State, and Steve Tracy, from Livonia Churchill now at Michigan Tech.

Gatt earned first-team honors at quarterback after leading Hillsdale College to the GLIAC championship and into the NAIA playoffs. The senior completed 97 of 154 passes (63 percent) for 1,344 yards and 12 touchdowns, with eight interceptions. His 63 completion percentage and 12 TD passes were both league highs.

Tracy, a 5-8, 170-pound senior at Michigan Tech, was fourth in the league with 25 pass receptions for 313 yards and one TD and first among punt returners with an 11.0 yards per return, one for a touchdown. He also served as the Huskies placekicker. He was named to the all-GLIAC team as specialist.

Bartkowiak, a 5-foot-11, 200-pound senior, started at inside linebacker for SVSC for four seasons

Picked to the all-GLIAC second team were Tracy, as a wide receiver, and Plymouth Salem graduate Jeff Hubert. a senior strong safety for Hillsdale who tied for the league lead in interceptions with four

Adrian senior tight end Bob Smedley was honored as co-most valuable offensive football player of the year in the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association (MIAA) last week.

Smedley, a 6-3, 238-pound Redford • DUBOIS SETS PACE Bishop Borgess product, caught a league-high 23 passes for 313 yards, with one touchdown. He shared offensive honors with running back Lance Brown of Albion.

Also named to the MIAA first team was Ed Ewald, from Redford Catholic Central, a 6-0. 200-pound junior inside linebacker for league champ Albion College. Ewald paced the 7-1-1 Britons with 115 tackles.

Chosen to the second MIAA team was Charlie Waszenski, a Garden City grad and an outside linebacker for Albion who registered seven sacks and 15 tackles for loss.

RUNNERS APPLAUDED

Redford Union grads Craig Sickmiller and John Thrash were both chosen to the all-MIAA men's cross country.

Sickmiller, a junior at Albion College, placed third in 26:22 at the MIAA championships at Hope College Nov. 9 at Hope College.

Thrash, a senior at Albion, finished fourth at the MIAA meet in 26:27 to earn all-MIAA honors for the third time. Thrash was Albion's top runner in five of their six dual meets, with three individual victories to his credit. His 26:00 clocking against Hope was the best by a Briton this season.

Ken Dubois finished his cross country season for the University of Detroit with a strong performance at the NCAA District meet at Indiana University Nov. 16.

Dubois, a sophomore from Livonia Stevenson, placed 23rd overall in 32:52.2 to lead U-D. The Titans placed 16th out of 23 teams. Dubois' finish missed earning him a position in the NCAA finals by five positions.

Junior Tom Zakrzewski, from Redford Catholic Central, was U-D's No. 2 runner, finishing 96th overall in 34:40.1

over the five-mile course.

U-D's women's team was a disappointing last-place finisher at the district meet. Junior co-captain Lisa Bagdady, a Livonia Ladywood grad, was the Titans' best runner, placing 134th in 21:27 over the rain-drenched 5,000meter course. Freshman Sue Willey of Redford, another Ladywood grad, was 150th (22:21)

• SUPER SPIKER

Lori Swanson, a Livonia Bentley graduate, finished her senior volleyball season at Central Michigan University with 17 kills, three solo blocks and a .312 attack percentage against Ohio University Nov. 15 and 12 kills and a 444 attack percentage against Kent State Nov. 16.

Swanson finished the season with 307 kills, 40 block assists, 10 solo blocks and a .280 attack percentage in 108 games for the Chippewas.

Inch, Stebbins on run

The Motor City Track Club, buoyed by a pair of All-Area runners, won a TAC (Track Athletic Congress) regional meet at Lexington, Ky. Nov. 24.

Farmington High's Chris Inch placed second in the 5,000 meters (15:59) and Falcon teammate Al Stebbins placed sixth (16:30) to help the club.

Motor City scored 30 points to win the meet. Next competition for the club is the TAC nationals, Dec. 14 in Cincin-

CLINTON STROEBEL, Secretary

OFFICE OF THE CLERK STATE OF MICHIGAN IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF WAYNE LEGAL NOTICE

RE: HELENA ADCOCK, et al. v. THRIFTY STATIONS, INC. et al.

CIVIL ACTION NO. 84-416901-NZ

TO ALL PERSONS WHO PURCHASED GASO-LINE DURING MARCH 1984 FROM THRIFTY STATIONS, INC., STATION LOCATED AT PLYM-OUTH AND LEVAN ROADS, LIVONIA, MICHI-GAN AND WHOSE VEHICLES SUBSEQUENTLY SUSTAINED FUEL SYSTEM DAMAGE AND/OR INTERNAL ENGINE DAMAGE AS A RESULT OF TAINTED, ADULTERATED, IMPURE AND/OR CONTAMINATED GASOLINE.

Pursuant to MCR 3 501; this is to advise you that: There is now pending in this Court a class action for money damages for alleged violation of the Consumers Protection Act, negligence, willful, wanton and/or gross negligence, with respect to the purchases of gasoline at a Thrifty Gas Station, also known as a Union 76 Station, in March, 1984. This civil action is brought as a class action on behalf of the class as defined in bold type above and whose representatives are described in more detail below:

This notice is being sent and published in the belief that there are consumers who may be a member of the class whose rights may be affected by this litigation.

THIS NOTICE IS NOT TO BE UNDERSTOOD AS AN EXPRESSION OF ANY OPINION BY THIS COURT AS TO THE MERITS OF ANY OF THE CLAIMS OR DEFENSES ASSERTED BY EITHER SIDE OF THIS LITIGATION, but is being sent that the court of the class was a sent of the court of the claims of the claims. and published for the sole purpose of informing members of the general public of the pendency of this litigation so that any such member may make appropriate decisions as to what steps to take in relation to this litigation.

The Complaint filed in this action seeks money damages together with reimbursement of costs and award of attorneys' fees on behalf of the named Plaintiffs and the class of Plaintiffs respectively (described below), of whom they are representatives, for damage assertedly caused by sale of adulterated, contaminated and/or otherwise unpure gasoline during the period of March, 1984.

The Court has designated the Plaintiffs as class representatives and the class on whose behalf these actions are being maintained are as follows:

Plaintiffs HELENA ADCOCK and ROBERT SHERWOOD on behalf of themselves and all others buying and using gas from Defendant, THRIFTY STATION located at Levan and Plymouth Roads in Wayne County, Michigan, in March of 1984, whose vehicles subsequently sustained fuel system damage and/or internal engine damage as a result of tainted, adulterated, impure and/or contaminated gasoline.

The Defendants are: THRIFTY STATIONS, INC., and CORDER LEASING INC. The Defendants have denied the allegations of the Complaint and have denied all liability.

NOW. THEREFORE, TAKE NOTICE:

1. If you bought and used gas from THRIFTY STATION located at Levan and Plymouth Roads in Wayne County, Michigan, in MARCH of 1984, and your vehicle subsequently sustained fuel system damage and/or internal engine damage as a result of tainted, adulterated, impure or contaminated gasoline, you will be included in the class, unless you request to be excluded from such class, on or before December 15, 1985, in the manner described below.

ber 15, 1985, in the manner described below.

2. If you remain a member of the class, you will be bound by the judgment whether favorable or unfavorable, but if there is a recovery, you will be entitled to share in the proceeds less Plaintiffs' costs, expenses and attorneys' fees which the Court may allow, to be reimbursed out of any such recovery, provided you file your claim (see information below), and it is approved. You will not be responsible for any Court costs to the Defendant.

3. If you do not elect to be excluded from the Class of Plaintiff, as a class m you will be represented by the attorneys acting on behalf of the class. To obtain a proof of claim form, you must contact the attorneys for the Plaintiff class, as identified at the end of this Notice, by December 15, 1985. You may, but need not, enter an appearance through your own counsel if you desire, and you have all the rights set forth in MCR 3.501. Entry of appearance by your counsel must be made by December 15, 1985.

EXCLUSION FROM THE CLASS

4. If you elect to be excluded from the Class of Plaintiffs, you will not be bound by any disposition of the class action and you will retain any claims you may have against the Defendants.

against the Defendants.

5. To be excluded from membership in the class, you must complete and return the form headed "Request for Exclusion" attached to this Notice.

6. If you elect to be excluded from the class, you should be aware that the law with respect to the Statute of Limitations states that you must bring a claim within three years from the date of your damages or you may be foreclosed from asserting any claims based on the allegations of the Complaint.

7. Your "Request for Exclusion," appearance of counsel and any other documents to be filled or record in this case should be addressed to:

Joint ownership of stocks won't cut tax bill

Second of two parts

Last week we commented on the advisability of owning property jointly. Here are some more pointers on the advantages and disadvantages of owning property jointly.

Securities Investments

There is only one good reason to jointly own stocks, bonds, certificates of deposit and so on. The reason is the feeling of security you will both have which must be replaced by trust when separate ownership is selected, since the sole owner can dispose of the

But you can enjoy the income-tax exclusion of up to $200 in dividends on a joint return, no matter which spouse actually owns the stock.

Separate ownership does away with troublesome double-signature requirements when it is time to sell.

Right of Creditors

State laws about your creditors' rights are complicated. Whether you own property separately or jointly can influence how much of your assets your creditors can reach, so get legal coun-

Have a Will

Many misinformed couples hold their assets jointly in the believe that the right of survivorship would keep their assets out of probate court and eliminate the need for wills.

That is totally false.

Joint ownership is frequently inflexible and can have adverse tax and legal consequences. There is no substitute for a sophisticated estate plan, implemented by a carefully drafted will.

"What Can You Do Now to Benefit "What Can You Do Now to Benefit From the Proposed Tax Changes?" is the main topic for a seminar to be conducted by the Observer and Eccentsic Newspapers and the Coordinated Pinancial Planning staff. The seminar will be 7:00-9:30 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 10, at the Bloomfield Township Library. 1099 Lone Pine Road, Bloomfield Hills. Crowley's Westland store will occupy 58,000 square feet in a building that has been vacant for about a year. Renovation by Crowlev's is scheduled to begin April 1.

WESTLAND'S ECONOMIC Development Corp. will issue $2 million in tax-free industrial revenue bonds to provide financing for the renovation, fixtures and equipment for the

The renovation program for the building calls for a contemporary design that will be consistent with Crowley's other new and remodeled stores.

"Westland's Economic Development Corp. and the city of Westland welcome the opportunity to assist Crowley's in locating a new store in our community." said Robert Matzo, director of economic development for Westland.

'The addition of Crowley's and jobs that will be created for our community will enhance the retail atmosphere for our citizens and neighboring communities.

"CROWLEY'S IS very excited about the plans for expansion in the city of Westland," Carlson said. "We look forward to serving the 84,000 residents of Westland, along with tens of thousands of shoppers in neighboring communities, and to becoming an active participant in community affairs and economic development of this city."

Jon Greenberg & Associates of Berkley, will carry out the interior design of the store. Frankel Associates of Troy, owner and developer of Wildwood Plaza, will help make exterior improvements to the building.

We are extremely pleased that Crowley's will become a principal anchor for the fine group of retailers in Wildwood Plaza," said Samuel Frankel, president of Frankel Associates. "The residents of Westland and the surrounding areas will very much enjoy shopping at the high-quality store Crowley's is planning for Wildwood.

Speaking of Christmas

Author, illustrator share their skills

By Corinne Abatt staff writer

Cynthia Holt Cummings' newest book for children, "Christmas Surprise," is receiving as warm a welcome as a batch of oatmeal cookies fresh from the oven.

Cummings, who started this second career when most people are kissing theirs goodbye, has built a new lifestyle as well. Now, with four, self-published books and 66 years to her credit, she not only writes, publishes and markets the books, but she makes personal appearances for school and community

Cummings and her illustrator, Danna Clark of Oxford, may be a few decades apart chronolgically, but they are of one mind when it comes to the books.

Clark, who did "Christmas Suprise" and "Christmas Love." appreciates Cummings' poetry and stories, and Cummings marvels at the detail and interest Clark puts into the illustrations.

Clark was unfamiliar with book illustration when Cuminings found her, but Clark, who said she has always liked challenges, plunged in and learned

LIKE CUMMINGS, she is selftaught, tunned in to children, determined, open and friendly. Both draw on experience and the world around them.

Cummings, who grew up on a farm in New England, brings a kind of smalltown naive charm to her work. The books are filled with a childlike idyllic vision of love. She has happy memories of Christmas in New England, and those are reflected in her writing.

Clark said, "I won a coloring contest at 7. My name was announced on the local TV, and I knew I wanted to be an

Clark, too, visits lots of schools to talk about book illustration. "The key when talking to children is to keep it simple. I tell them to start drawing what you're familiar with."

And she's as good as her admonition to the kids. The rooms in "Christmas Surprise" and "Christmas Love" will look very familiar to her friends, rela-

Her drawing of the Little Gift Shop in "Christmas Love" is really the Sign of the Mermaid where she and Commings met. She said she wanted each of the bears in "Christmas Surprise" to look unique.

And indeed they do - Prince William (bear) has a monocle, top hat and cape to protect his white fur. The sadeyed Muffy wears an Indian design deer skin suit and beaded moccasins. Surprise is a homey, but dapper, Clif-ton Webb-type (for those who remem-ber the father in "Cheaper by the Dozen"). Mandy is a pert little thing with bows in her hair (fur?).

"I couldn't do this without the help of my husband," Cummings said. The books are selling in 27 states. She has signed 15,000 copies of "Christmas Surprise." "Christmas Love," already in its second printing, is doing well.

Cummings wrote her first poem, "Convoy," when she was a Navy nurse during World War II. It was about an American convoy ship she was on that was rammed by a tanker. She read it for the men aboard a second ship, and "Convoy" was later included in the history of the 77th Field Artillery.

SHE CONTINUED to write poetry, but it wasn't until she published "Christmas Ribbons" in 1980 that her life changed. That book was followed "Christmas Memories," 1982, "Christmas Love," 1984 and now "Christmas Surprise.".

Cummings is as likely to be hopping out of her car with an armload of books to show a store manager in Topika, Kan. or St. Louis Mo., as she is in Naples, Fla., Livonia or Birmingham.

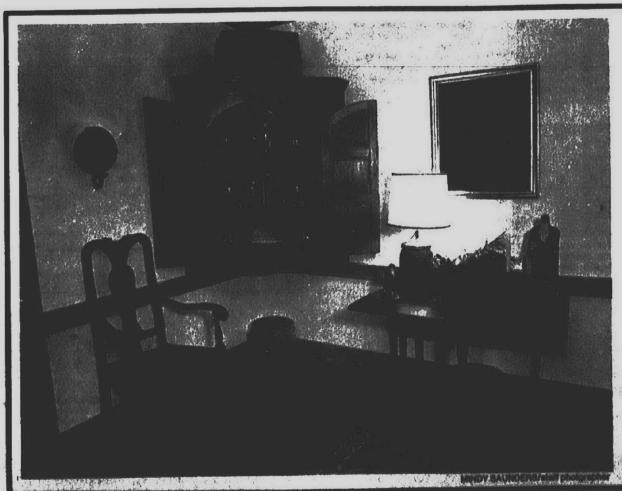

She gives them a friendly smile, talks about her books, herself and her second career and usually talks them into selling her books.

That's because she believes in what she does, likes what she does and just wants to share a little love and happi-

The annual Westside Christmas Walk, sponsored by the Detroit Symphony League, will be held 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 5. The tour of five homes and Kirk-in-the-Hills, includes two historic homes in Franklin Village. At left is a sample of the interior of one of the Franklin homes, complete with antique Santa statue and Santa pull toy. Tickets are available at the Kirk on tour day or by calling Judy Gavoor, 851-0692, Barb Suhay, 642-8514 or Judy Harris, 629-8584. Harris, 628-8584.

This is another in a series of lessons on art and drawing by special columnist David Messing.

He has taught for 10 years and operates two art stores, Art Store and More, 16338 Middlebelt, Livonia, and 265 N. Main, Plymouth. Messing encourages questions and comments from readers. . . . it's Thanksgiving and I have many things to be thankful for.

artifacts

band on all my corduroys. This way I am able to stay in the same size no matter what over-weight state I happen to be in. I think by Thursday evening that my waist band will be stretched to the max. I am thankful for lots of little things though. Like every week or so one of my boys will remem-ber to turn off their bedroom light. Sometimes when I go to pour a bowl of cereal, I find the boys even leave a little milk in the refrigerator. I am thankful when the weeks grocery's are under $150. I even appreciate my standard poodle who occasionally lets me sit in 'our" favorite chair.

Of course I am seriously thankful for

I'm thankful for the elastic waist the many blessings in my life. First of which is my faith. Not religion, nor ritual, but my faith. I believe that all that happens to me is by the hand of God. If someone comes along to bless me, then they are sent by God and I am immediately blessed. If someone comes along to curse me than I believe it was allowed by God for my ultimate or future

So whether it be blessing or cursing, all is sent or allowed by God for my immediate or future good.

I am thankful for my family. By word and deed they are my highest priority. For no amount of success in my profession could offset my failure as a husband or a father. I am of course thankful for my art. My art causes me to appreciate the colors that surround me. Some may only see a color, I sense the mood, feel the warmth or coolness that this hue may evoke. Some may only look at shapes or forms where my art pushes me to understand the basic structure or grasp a three dimensional shape. Some may only feel textures where my art invites me to enjoy the play of light across the hills and valleys of a surface.

Many have an interest in nature and delight in the attempt to understand it. My art not only seeks to understand nature's function but challenges me to accurately represent it in painting or sculpturing. I am thankful the art affects the whole person. A work of art is not just the business of the hand. It is not just the understanding of the mind, nor a spiritual inclination, nor just an observation of the critical eye, the appreciation of sound or in the tectile re-

Art is the total person and when technical mastery is achieved their art is their purest expression. I am thankful that the teaching of this technical mastery of media is my business. Our staff of fourteen teachers share my enthusiasm and fulfillment as each week we teach over 450 students. For my teachers, all my students and my employees, I am truly thankful. I am thankful for Bill and Judy Oldenburg for the Plymouth franchise of the "Art Store & More."

Finally my warmest thank you to many readers of the Artifacts column. I better not forget Steve Barnaby who started me out writing, also Roy Meadows who represents me to many. I need and appreciate the many letters from non-artists who read Artifacts for whatever reason . . . I haven't quite figured out yet. And to the may artists who read for the technique or motivation. So to all of you please accept my deepest thanks for your support and participation in my column, my store, my classes and my life.

It was a brightly-wrapped box with a bow on top. And it had a tag that said "To Marie, From Santa Claus." Of course the bear did not know this because he could not read, and he had never heard of Santa Claus.

"Perhaps," the bear thought, "there is something good to eat in this box." But before he could open it, a voice came from above.

"You can't keep that box," called a wise old owl, "That's a gift from Santa Claus. It must have fallen from his sleigh tonight."

"Who is Santa Claus?" asked the bear.

The owl explained the story of Santa Chairs, and how he rought presents to children

"If you want to get a good idea about what a toy is like and how safe it is, sit down with your kids on a Saturday morning and watch television with them," suggested Mary Woodworth of Tomy Corp.

"The important thing to notice in any commercial is the 'island,' " she said. "It tells you almost everything you need to know safetywise.'

The island is the shot at the end of each commercial that shows the toy by itself. If the toy is a set, all its pieces are pictured in this still shot, and here any manufacturer's disclaimers are made.

"This is when you can find out if the toy comes with batteries or if it has to be asembled," Woodworth said. "Here's also where you can look at all the pieces and check each one for safety. Look for sharp edges, for small pieces that can be swallowed, for anything you feel wouldn't be appropriate for your

The biggest mistake most adults vanced for the child in question.

"What you often see is something like a father buying an electric train "It's a case where the father actually wants the toy for himself because he remembers how much he enjoyed trains when he was a little boy. But the problem is that while an electric train is appropriate for an older child, it can be very dangerous for a very young one.

"The solution might be for the father to go ahead and buy the electric train for himself, making sure it's clear that the toy is for Dad, not for the child. Then he can buy a similar but more appropriate toy for the toddler - maybe a plastic choo-choo that can be pulled around."

CHILDREN WHO are apt to put anything and everything into their mouths shouldn't have toys with batteries, Woodworth said. Batteries contain acid and can be very harmful.

Parents who have children of different ages in the home should be especially careful in toy selection.

"What's safe for an 8-year-old may not be safe for a 2-year-old," Woodward said. "The small parts of a building set or board game are potential hazards for little ones who may put things into their mouths. Make sure older children keep their toys out of the reach of toddlers."

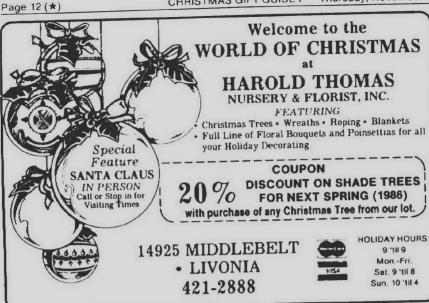

Toys for toddlers should be checked for parts that can be romoved and swallowed, sharp edges, pinching points and other hazards. Seams on stuffed toys and should be closely examined, she said.

magical figure with the power to melt hard hearts and suspend doubts during the season of peace? According to the book "A Family Christmas" by the Reader's Digest Association, the story of Santa Claus begins with the birth of St. Nicholas, approximately 270 A.D., along the Mediterranean coast of northern Turkey.

According to one account, Nicholas was born to a childless couple after 30 years of marriage and was orphaned at the age of 9. Reared by guardians, he developed a strong sympathy for the poor and needy and devoted a great deal of his time to providing food, clothing and money to the underprivileged. Much of his gift giving was accomplished in secret and, invariably, at night.

While perhaps still in his teens, Nicholas became the bishop of Nast. Myra, subsequently to be identified in early manuscripts as a saint and miracle worker. Destined to become patron saint of children, Russia, author of such tales as "Rip Van bankers, sailors, pawnbrokers, vagabonds and thieves. But it was not until 1626 that St Who is this universally loved Nicholas made his way across the Atlantic Ocean to North America. He came in the form of a figurehead on the prow of a Dutch ship filled with settlers bound for Manhattan Island. It was here that St. Nicholas's foothold in the New World was firmly established.

Popular pronunciation over the years managed to contract St. Nicholas into "Sinterklaas," which eventually was corrupted to "Sancte Claus." With Sancte Clause now on the scene, could "Santa Claus" be far behind?

Three people generally are credited with the further transformation of St. Nicholas from the gift-bearing hishop of Myra to the beloved giftbearing Santa Claus. They are author Washington Irving, theological professor Clement Clarke Moore and political cartoonist Thomas

This comes close to our own conception of Santa Claus, but it was not until 1822 when Clement Clarke Moore penned his timeless poem, "A Visit from St. Nicholas," that Santa took on the appearance of the familiar figure of today.

USING IRVING'S conception of St. Nicholas as a model, Moore created the "jolly old elf" with merry dimples and twinkling eyes. He dressed him in fur, gave him a pipe and provided him with a team of eight tiny reindeer to draw a miniature sled. This poem established itself as a classic, appearing in hundreds of newspapers and periodicals.

It was not until the Civil War era, however, that political cartoonist Thomas Nast produced a figure that would be affixed forever in the minds of people as Santa Claus.

Nast drew his first Santa Claus for the cover of Harper's Weekly, a leading newspaper of the day.

Between the years 1864 and 1886, Nast's drawings of Santa, eagerly awaited by a large public, appeared annually. In these, Santa generally appears as a portly, bewhiskered old gent, climbing in and out of chimneys with an enormous sack of toys on his back.

Up until 1886, Nast always had drawn Santa in black ink.

When asked to produce color drawings of Santa for a book, Nast had the inspiration to give him a bright red suit with white ermine trim. Jolly, plump, bewhiskered and all in red, here, at last, was the Santa Claus known so well today.

Christmas season spiced with tradition

THE HOLIDAY season is rich in legend, tradition and customs. In some cases, the origins date back hundred of years.

ACCORDING to a pious legend, a small bird tried to relieve the suffering of Jesus Christ by plucking thorns from his crown. In so doing, the bird became stained with the Christ's blood.

The bird now is known as the robin redbreast.

WHY IS MISTLETOE small?

According to early Christmas legends, mistletoe was once a tree, but shrank in shame after Christ's cross was made from its wood.

The current romantic custom of stealing a kiss under a sprig of mistletoe comes from Scandinavian mythology.

But only "one berry, one kiss,"wrote Washington Irving in his "Sketch Book." No more kisses once the berries are all gone, he said.

HOLLY WAS sacred to the Druids, priests of ancient Gaul and Britain who appear in Welsh and Irish legends as sorcerers and pro-

They believed the sun never deserted the holly tree, which was why it never lost its leaves.

A 15TH-CENTURY forerunner of the modern Christmas card was the European custom of leaving special visiting cards when paying New Year's calls. These often were small woodcuts or engravings of the baby Jesus, bearing messages of good will.

MISTLETOE is "tree thief." The scientific name of the romantic parasite, mistletoe, comes from Greek words meaning "tree thief."But that's not completely true, for mistletoe doesn't rob its host entirely.

It makes its own sugar and starch from its own chlorophyll, but draws on the host tree for water and certain minerals. Hardy oaks and other hardwood trees can survive this sort of petty larceny.

But the dwarf mistletoe, another species, is a slow killer of conifers in the western and southwestern United States.

IN GERMANY the Christmas tree, or tannenbaum, is decorated with hand-carved toys amid great

On Christmas Eve, to the delight of children, lighted candles are placed on the tree.

AN ENGLISH superstition concerning holly says boughs of it should not be brought into the house before Christmas Day, and all traces of holly must be removed before the Twelfth Night or bad luck will befall the household.

ROAST EEL is a traditional Christmas dish in Italy.

Holiday festivities with a British flair

ENTERTAINING for the holi- one stick cinnamon days takes on historical and interna- 12 egg whites tional tones with David Sandeman, sixth generation of the House of Sandeman, a producer and distributor of port wines and sherries.

Nestled on a 550-acre estate in simmer Sussex is the classic British farmhouse where Sandeman and his wife, joy wassail and other delicious and British accompaniments during the holidays.

"Waes hael, the original words from which wassail was derived, was ceined by a Saxon," Sandeman said. In 450 A.D., the Saxon princess Rowena saluted British King Vortigen with 'waes hael' - a toast to health. Britishers take their toasts seriously, and we have derived numberous customs from the original."

By the 17th century, the British began to refer to wassail as a loving cup or bowl brimming with a warm and delicious combination of ales and spices. As new countries were colonized and trade formalized, new wines and exotic spices were added.

In the spirit of giving, well-to-do people offered wassail to people who came to their door wassailing singing for a cupful.

Here are some distinctive and easy recipes for wassailing with friends and family:

SINCE PEOPLE who own and work in restaurants like to spend Christmas with their families, finding a place open for holiday dining be taken by surprise. can present special problems.

If you plan on dining out on pay particular attention to the following pointers:

check to make sure the restaurant of your choice will be open, and its hours. Nail down your reservation. This is a top rule for all dining out, anytime - and it's doubly important for Christmas.

As a rule of thumb, almost every hotel has at least one of its restaurants open on Christmas to serve live-ins and other customers.

Although some ethnic restaurants closed. And, of those that are open, few serve traditional Christmas meals such as turkey and ham.

Ask about prices. Some restau-

It on the final evening, eight candles also serves to keep alive the memory of a miracle in which oil, which under normal circumstance could have lit the temple of Jerusalem for only one day, stretched to eight days and eight nights.

This year, Hanukkah begins on Sunday, Dec. 8.

In 175 B.C. Antiochus IV became king of Syria, the land to which Israel had been annexed. An admirer of Greek civilization, he tried to force all of his subjects to worship Greek gods. He wanted to forge a nation with one culture and one religion. The Jews refused to acquiese to his demands that they forsake their own religion and culture.

IN ANGRY response, Antiochus decreed that any Jew caught observing the Sabbath, or possessing either a Torah or Five Books of Moses or maintaining any separate customs would be killed.

Vastly outnumbered by the Syrians, the Jews nonetheless resisted. In the small town of Modin, northwest of Jerusalem, a man named Mattathias, along with his five sons, rallied the Jews across the land to join in a guerilla movement against the Syrians.

On his deathbed. Mattathias asked his son, Judah Maccabee, to continue the fight for religious and personal freedom. His name, Maccabee, has many meanings.

"Maccabee" is the Hebrew word for hammer and symbolizes Judah and his followers as the hammer of the Lord. In addition. Mattathias' rallying cry had been, "Whoever is for God, follow me." In Hebrew the first letters of those words spell "Maccabee '

Between 168-165 BC, Judah Maccabee and his small band resisted the Syrians and managed to win a series of military victories. Their struggle culminated in a victory at the town of Emmaus, which was significant since it opened the road to Jerusalem. Gaining possession of Jerusalem, the Maccabees began to cleanse and rededicate the temple which the Syrians had desecrated.

AFTER THE restoration, preparations were begun for the its rededication. But only one container of oil could be found to burn over the Ark. Miraculously the container lasted for eight days. This is the miracle of Hanukkah, the Hebrew word for dedication

In. commemoration of this miracle Hanukkah candles are lit in Jewish HANUKKAH, THE FESTIVAL A candle is lit on the first night of are burning.

In addition to the eight colorful candles on the menorah, the candelabra used during the holiday, there is a special candle called the shamas which is used to light all the other candles. It commands a special place on the menorah. It's placed on the side or in the middle of the menorah. Always, it is given the highest position on the menorah.

During the candle lighting, blessings are chanted. Songs follow. Special prayers of praise and thanksgiving hymns are recited as part of each service during the eight days of Hanukkah.

IN SYMPATHY to Soviet Jews, special prayers are said on their behalf. Many homes keep an unlit menorah as a reminder of the Soviet Jews. The family lights a menorah of

There are lighthearted moments during the celebration, too. Each night, gifts are given. Dreidel, a favorite game is played. The dreidel, a four-sided top, is spun. When it stops, the letter on top of the dreidel dictates the player's next move. The player will either contribute to the kitty, take the entire kitty, win half of it or pass. The kitty usually consists of nuts, candy or small amounts of change.

Four Hebrew letters printed on the dreidel are the initial letters of the Hebrew words, Nes, Gadol, Haya, Sham, which mean, "A great miracle happened here."

Among the special foods prepared for the celebration are latkes, potato pancakes.

Hanukkah isn't a celebration which belongs only in the home. There are parties, concerts and plays. Jewish community organizations arrange

IN OAKLAND County, a children's party to celebrate and explain the holiday will be conducted at 6 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 17, in the Farmington Community Center, Farmington Road near 10 Mile, Farmington Hills. Reservations are required. To reserve a place call the center at 477-8404. There is a fee of $2 per person or $5 per family.

A recent addition to Hanukkah customs in Israel is the torch relay. A torch is lit in Modin, home of the Maccabees and is passed in relay until the final runner presents the torch to the president of the state of Israel. The relay is symbolic of modern Israel's own struggles.
