Omnicom pushes cable rate hike

staff writer

Omnicom management is in the process of introducing a prospective new owner and simultaneously pushing for a rate increase requested last summer. Fredrick Collman, Omnicom general manager, and Harcharan (Harry) Suri, 90 percent owner of N-Com Inc., have been keeping a busy schedule meeting with officials from service communities including Canton, Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

Canton Township is hosting an informational meeting at 7 p.m. tomorrow at Canton Township Hall to allow Omnicom representatives to field queser the transfer of the cable company to denied a $1.60 basic rate increase re- is unrelated to the company sale.

THE PLYMOUTH City Commission is expected to consider the transfer at tonight's Commission meeting which begins 7:30 at city hall.

'In the Plymouth Township franchise there isn't a clause saying they have to approve the transfer, Collman said. "However, we will make a formal appearance before their board to introduce Mr. Suri."

Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton subscribers presently pay $8.35 for the basic rate.

On Jan. 14 the Canton board will vote on a $1.70 increase in cable basic rates which was requested by Omnicom last summer and denied by the

The Plymouth Township Board of Trustees also turned down a $1.70 basic rate increase last summer.

Tonight the Plymouth City Commission will consider a $1.70 basic rate hike. Paul Sincock, Plymouth assistant city manager, is recommending approval of the increase.

'The city commission should also be aware of the fact that Omnicom does have the right to raise movie channel rates in the event that this rate hike is denied," Sincock wrote in a note to Plymouth City Manger Henry Graper.

'Less impact will be felt by the subscribers in the city by granting a basic increase, rather than having Omnicom raise movie rates."

Collman said that the rate increase

OMNICOM HAS PADDED premium rates - movie channels like Home Box Office (HBO) - to compensate for the lower basic rates, Collman

However, the cable company earns a lower profit margin from premium rates than basic rates because Omnicom must share the premium rate increase with the servicing company.

In a recent meeting with the Canton Cable Commission, Collman and Suri discussed how institutional networks, security systems and local origination programming will be affected by the

The institutional networks - among the services included in the Canton franchise agreement - allow businesses to conduct telephone conversations with a video recording. However, the demand for institutional networks in Canton hasn't surfaced, Collman said.

"I can visualize that if we were located in downtown Detroit that perhaps several banks could utilize this facility, but out here it doesn't lend itself to tying together several businesses," Collman said. "It's a question of the technology being ahead of the market."

Holiday season bleak for strikers at Frito-Lay

By Doug Funke staff writer

The irony is inescapable.

While four strikers at the Frito-Lay distribution center in Canton try to keep warm inside a makeshift shanty, unemployed men and women file into a Michigan Employment Security Commission office across the street to pick up checks or check on job

It's been six weeks since about 40 drivers and warehouse workers walked off the job in Canton in a dispute they say centers on wage scales.

The four on picket duty one rainy day last week didn't seem all that optimistic about a settlement. Their comments have been heard hundreds of times in hundreds of other labor

"It looks like a long one," said Greg Lubin, 25, a Frito-Lay driver for four years. Lubin, a Plymouth resident, serves as a steward for Teamsters Local 337

"THEY DON'T want to negotiate in good faith," said Manny Melendez, a 46-year-old Westland resident who has worked as a driver only since

"Our families are really getting concerned," said Leroy Olah, 44, of Livonia, and a driver for six years. "I know my wife is upset."
Bill O'Connell, also a driver and an employee for 29 years, recalled a strike that lasted nine weeks in 1969. "If it isn't settled by Christmas, we'll probably be out until February, he said. O'Connell, a 57-year-old Livo-nian, said the snack business slacks nian, said the snack bu off considerably after peaking for the Prevention has been biggest medical change

That is the word of Dr. Lee Feldkamp, one of the veteran practitioners in Plymouth who has been making house calls in the area for 30 years.

"The biggest change I have seen," he said after a Rotary Club meeting, "is the switch to preventative medicine instead of only caring for those already stricken.

He has found that there is more satisfaction in helping a person avoid sickness than to serve them once the sickness has taken hold.

"It is better for the doctors, too," he went on, "because if we can prevent a case from taking hold of a person, we have done a better job than curing a case once it hits."

DR. FELDKAMP is a graduate of the University of Michigan, class of Following graduation, he located in Detroit where he had a practice from 1946 to 1954. From there he moved to Plymouth where he has been since.

He has been active in the area for all those years and takes pride in the fact that he answers house calls - something that many doctors don't do anymore. But it is his belief that a doctor should take care of patients at home or

Some of the things that help people to stay healthy include the Salk vaccine that changed the world's view of polio.

Other cases, such as multiple sclerosis, diabetis and brain diseases, years ago required hurried calls to the doc-

IT HAS BEEN proven that if one's heart loses some of its strength, it can't force the liquid to pass through the lungs. In that case, the victim is listed as having heart failure.

But the preventative course taken now is to get rid of the fluid in the lungs and then build up the heart. With that, the victim is assured that he or she had

It is those things that has pleased Dr. Feldkamp during his 40 years as a doctor. And he is looking for more. But he still clings to the belief that all doctors should make house calls.

Courts wary of evidence aided by hypnosis

MAGINE you are on a jury in a murder trial. The prosecutor's star witness testifies the defendant committed the crime.

She reports that with the aid of hypnosis, she was able to recall the events of the crime - even down to the color of the assailant's socks.

Are you impressed? Enough to vote for a conviction?

MANY PEOPLE would be. Self-assured eyewitness testmony from a credible witness can be very per-

When this testimony is the result of information "unlocked" by hypnosis, it is even more persuasive because people tend to assume that accuracy and truth are guaranteed.

Unfortunately, this assumption is dangerously inaccurate.

A professor staged a surprise, mock "assassination" of a guest speaker during an undergraduate psychology class. Afterwards, one student under hypnosis described the black gloves the assassin had worn, including th type of stitching and the location of worn spots. The problem was, the assassin had not worn memory, embellishments and all. Perhaps the idea of the assassin's black gloves came from an old, latenight movie, influencing the mind to automatically assume assassins wear black gloves.

BECAUSE OF the danger of hypnotically induced testimony not only being inaccurate but, more significantly, being inappropriately convincing to a jury, many court rulings in recent years have thrown out this type of evi-

Although there is no guarantee that hypnotic recall is totally accurate - a critical issue in a courtroom - hypnotic recall can nevertheless produce valuable information that had been accurately recorded by the mind, but blocked from conscious recall.

When a busload of children in Chowchilla, Calif., was kidnapped in 1978, a witness under hypnosis was able to recall five of the six numbers of the kidnappers' license plate. This information led to the capture of the kidnappers and to the safe release of the children, but could not be used as evidence for prosecution. Fortunately, other independent evidence turned up which led to a conviction.

That example demonstrates that there is a place for hypnosis in law enforcement. In recent years, hypnosis has become an important investigative tool for police to solve crimes, even though it cannot be used to prosecute America's wilderness is its most precious national treasure. Through photography, he immortalized the unspoiled beauty of Mt. McKinley for all to see. Some things never change.

But one great American tradition has changed— U.S. Savings Bonds. Now Savings Bonds pay higher variable interest rates like money market accounts. That's the kind of change anyone can appreciate.

Just hold Savings Bonds for five years and you get the new variable interest rates. Plus, you by a guaranteed return. That means you can earn a lot more, but never less than 71/2%.

But some of the best things about Bonds haven't changed. The interest earned is still exempt from state and local income taxes. Still cost as little as $25. And can be purchased at almost any financial institution. Or easier yet, through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

Buy U.S. Savings Bonds. Like the wilderness, they're another part of our proud heritage.

County board budget battle peaks this week

staff writer

· The Wayne County Commission is expected to meet Thursday to consider overriding Executive William Lucas' votos of three areas of the new county annual budget.

Commissioners say the override is critical because without it the vetoes will serve to eliminate funding to park services, the drain commission and youth programming. "If any of the vetoes are upheld, that'll mean that the departments won't be able to operate," said Commissioner Kay Beard, D-Inkster. "My inclination is to override the vetoes, get the budget in place and then get into discussions on reappropriation.'

"I'm going to vote to override," said Commissioner Milton Mack, D-Wayne. "We're almost compelled to. His veto eliminated almost all the funding in funding last week by implementing a contract with the U.S. Marshal's Office those areas."

Ten votes of the 15-member commission are needed to override.

IN ISSUING his line-item veto last week, Lucas said time was running out to effect a compromise with the commissioners, and therefore he said he was "forced" to veto the budget items.

In doing so, he asked that more than $2 million in cutbacks be restored in these areas:

 management audit — $231,420; • the park service - $500,000;

• the Economic Development Corp.

$100,000; • the sheriff's department -

THE COUNTY'S budget battles have taken the executive and commissioners up to the official start-up date of the budget, Dec. 1. Yet, neither the commissioners nor staff said the delay will curtail services this week or hold up payroll.

Commission Chairman John Hertel, D-Harper Woods, said Friday that despite Lucas' concerns there is no

"emergency" created this week. "We don't have any payroll issued until (this) Friday, and the board of commissioners will be meeting Thursday, the day before any payroll or vouchers are due out."

Hertel said that was the reason he declined Lucas' request last week for an "emergency" Thanksgiving holiday meeting of the commissioners. Even more, he said it would have been impractical to reach enough commissioners to form a quorum.

Even after commissioners take action this week, however, plans are shaping up to continue looking at ways to alter the county's $201 million budget for 1986.

Lucas has formally asked for supplemental appropriations for his office budget, which he did not veto, nearly $1 million for cuts in the sheriff's department, $231,420 to restore the management audit department, $500,000 for the park service, $38,100 for youth programs, and $100,000 for the Economic Development Corp.

Support appears to be shaping up for restoring funding in the sheriff's budget, where there are legal threats from Eliminated in the 1986 budget were 21 deputies in park patrols, and two special service sections including the OUIL (drunk driving) Squad and the Felony Warrant section.

IN THE PARKS budget, he said the commission-approved appropriation is "inadequate" for even "minimal level"

But Mack said Lucas' veto over the park budget strategically may serve to harm the park's ultimate funding level.

Frank Lloyd Wright's youngest clients: the Walls

When Jessie and I visited Phoenix a number of years ago we went to see Frank Lloyd Wright's "Taliesin West." An example of the architect's finest work, it was his winter home and school of instruction.

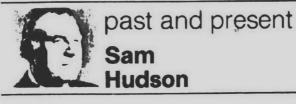

On display in the building, on the side of a hill overlooking the city, are photos of some of Wright's most famous buildings. As we moved from photo to photo, we suddenly spotted one that read "Plymouth, Michigan."

Here, among the most celebrated of the great architect's works - including his residence in Spring Green, Wis. (1911), the Imperial Hotel in Tokyo (1916) and the Millard House in Pasadena (1927) - was the house Carl and Margaret Wall had him design in 194 for their property on Beck Road.

AN OUTSTANDING example of Wright's "prairie house" style, the house was built for the Walls more than 40 years ago when Frank Lloyd Wright was at the height of his fame.

Over 70 at the time, he was reconized as the foremost American innovathe integration of form, function, building site and materials, and especially on the subordination of style to human

Inspired by the flat prairie country of the midwest, Wright introduced buildings with low-pitched roofs and horizontal thrusts at a time when box-tor of an organic architecture based on like, vertical proportions were the norm. His conviction that form should follow function and that a building should harmonize with its surroundings had a strong influence on modern European architecture, especially in Holland, Germany, France and the Scandinavian countries.

Our visit to Taliesin West came to mind when I read that the Walls had sold their home to Tom Monaghan, owner of the Domino Pizza chain and the Detroit Tigers.

Part of the local history as the first Frank Lloyd Wright structure built in Wayne County and the 12th of 31 Wright homes built in Michigan between 1902 and 1957, I felt impelled to learn more about how the house happened to be built here.

What prompted the Walls to engage Wright as their architect? How did

Wright go about the job? What were the Walls' impressions of the man who has been called one of the outstanding architectural pioneers of the 20th centu-

FORTUNATELY, Carl Wall, who still calls it "my house" even though he no longer owns it, is an enthusiastic believer in the architectural theories practiced by Wright and was quite willing to talk about the building of the house and the man who designed it.

First, however, a little bit about the Walls themselves.

Carl, whose father came from Sweden and whose mother was born in Maryland, was raised in Detroit. The family home was at Grand River and Joy. His father founded the Michigan Tool Co. in 1914, Continental Tool Works in 1928 and the U.S. Tool Co. in Warren and Wyoming.

Carl earned a bachelor's degree at Olivet College, founded by Congregationalists in the 1840s. It was at Olivet that he met Margaret Berghorst of Zeeland, Mich. They married and have four children, Krysten, Martha, David and Katy.

Carl, who says that living in a Wright house enriched his family's life in many ways, wrote a paper in 1979 enti-tled "Frank Llyod Wright Houses in Michigan." He has given me permission to quote from it.

He wrote, "My wife, Margaret, and myself attended Olivet College, which is a small Liberal Arts College here in Michigan. Olivet championed the arts, under its president Joseph Brewer, and generally had a resident artist who was either a painter or sculptor or writer, or the like.

"We became acquainted with Wright's work through these influences and we decided to build a house after we married. Joseph Brewer, who was a personal friend of Frank Lloyd Wright, took a hand in writing Mr. Wright a letter asking would he be interested in designing a house for us." After writing to the architect,

1941. He had received a note from Wright saying that he would be delighted to talk to the Walls and suggesting that Carl and Margaret visit him at his school, Taliesin, on 3,000 acres of rolling farmland near Spring Green, Wis.

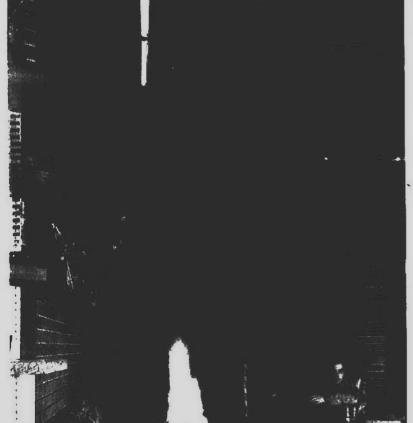

With an apparent understanding of human frailty, Brewer added, "Do all the blandishing you can get there — the old boy loves flattery — and be sure to pay attention to Mrs. Wright. I see no reason why they shouldn't both love you and Margaret dearly, and the more love, the better the house.'

As was Wright's custom, he invited the Walls to stay with him at Taliesin until he could get to know their likes and dislikes, habits and preferences so that he could create a design to suit their needs. Carl was 24, Margaret a few years younger, and Wright 76 at the time. Carl says that when they first met Wright he exclaimed: "Why, you're just children!"

The Walls discovered later that they were Wright's youngest clients. As a result, Wright felt impelled to design what he called "a young romantic house for two young romantic peo-

(To be continued).

The real Christmas began Friday

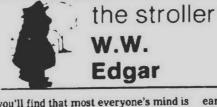

WHEN YOU TEAR the monthly sheet from your calendar you will notice that Dec. 25 is simply marked Christmas. That's fine, but it isn't the whole truth

Sure, it is Christmas Day and has been for years. But it is only the day we celebrate. It has been Christmas, in the average person's feelings, since

Thanksgiving Day. You see Christmas is not a single day but really a season. That's why you see the Christmas decorations put in place in the city even before Thanksgiving

You'll find the streets graciously lighted. You'll find the Three Wise Men in Kellogg Park before you tear the sheet from your calendar. And you will find the reindeer and Santa and his sled on the City Hall lawn before Thanksgiving Day meal is served.

BUT THAT is nothing new. In the public schools the Christmas season starts real early. You'll find the pupils preparing the trimmings for the tree - if the schools have one. And you'll find that most everyone's mind is set on the season. They go shopping for gifts. And they keep wondering about what they might get in their stockings on Christmas Day morning.

And mothers spend a lot of time shopping, and studying plans for the big family meal as the main part of a cele-

The Christmas season always has been a big time in the schools and The Stroller recalls the fun we used to have in making the trimmings for our tree in

We couldn't afford to purchase the streamers for the tree so we made them. We'd get enough change from our parents to purchase the colored paper. Once we had it, the work began early in December. We'd cut the colored paper in short enough pieces to make a ring for the paper chain that would be strung from the tree to selected places of the room.

There would be all sorts of colors and when they were in place the room was a real-Yuletide sight.

Ofttimes we found a dealer who would give us a tree from his Christmas tree corner, especially if it was damaged. The fact that it wasn't a perfect tree made no difference. We donated it and had fun doing it. One of the joyous times came if our tree won the prize as the best trimmed in the school

AND IT WAS real fun, too, on the that on the calendar, too.

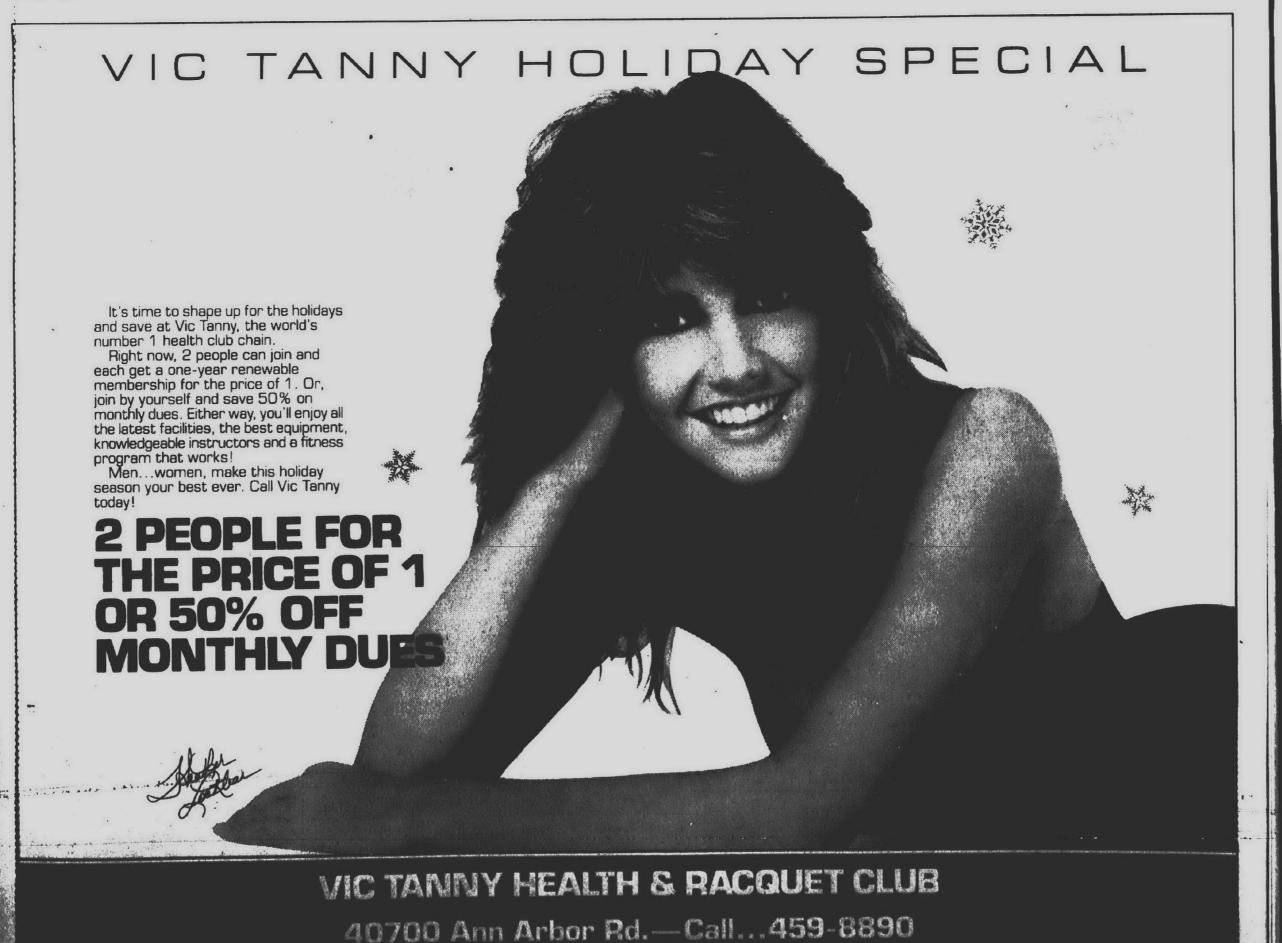

Friday before the actual holiday, when we had our Christmas programs in the

It was a day when the students had charge of the program and many of them recited verses while our teachers looked on. But you must remember this . Friday was not Christmas. It was a few days before the actual Christmas Day. But these days left lasting memories.

That's the reason the wording on the calendar should be changed to read Christmas Day.

If you recall when President Roosevelt issued his proclamation to change Thanksgiving Day from the fourth Thursday to the third Thursday, it was to give folks a longer time to do their Christmas shopping and the merchants a better chance to make the Christmas season a more profitable one.

So, you see, there has been a precedent to change the wording on the calendar from plain Christmas to Christmas Day and let the actual season — the Christmas season — start on the day after Thanksgiving and mark

WILL I BE ON MEDICINE FOREVER?

To a previously healthy person, having arthritis comes as a shock. It is difficult to adjust to a chronic disease - a state in which pain and impairment are present each day

For most people with arthritis, aspirin is the main medication. Proper dosage requires 4-12 tablets daily, depending on the form of aspirin used. For many individuals the need to take this much medicine every day is as upsetting as having the arthritis itself.

The question: "Will I have to be on medicine forever?" is a signal. It indicates the patient's distress over finding no swift and straightforward treatment that will take that

The initial reply is to point out that remission or improvement is always possible; there are over 100 types of arthritis, but they share the common characteristic of being unpredictable in their outcome. No one can say that the joint pain and swelling present today will never stop. However, it must be pointed out that treatment, no matter how faithfully followed, rarely ends arthritis; in most instances the purpose of therapy is to allow one to undertake a reasonable life despite their joint condition.

Easy...Thrifty...Elegant FOOD GIFTS TO GO

Will it fit? Is the style appropriate? Do they already have one? Many holiday shopping dilemmas can be happily resolved with tasteful gifts of food. Stirred up with ease, wrapped up with speed, presented with pleasure, they're affordable luxuries that won't blitz the budget.

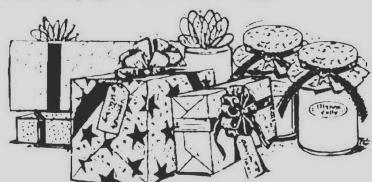

Each of the trio of food gifts shown here is made with a flavorful fruit nectar, available in a variety of can sizes; some in glass decanters. Choose from a fruit-basket of flavors: Apricot, Pear, Peach, Guava, Pear-Passion Fruit, Banana or Mango. Then, before you're snowed under with other holiday tasks, plan a special food gift for each person you want to remember in a warm and thoughtful way.

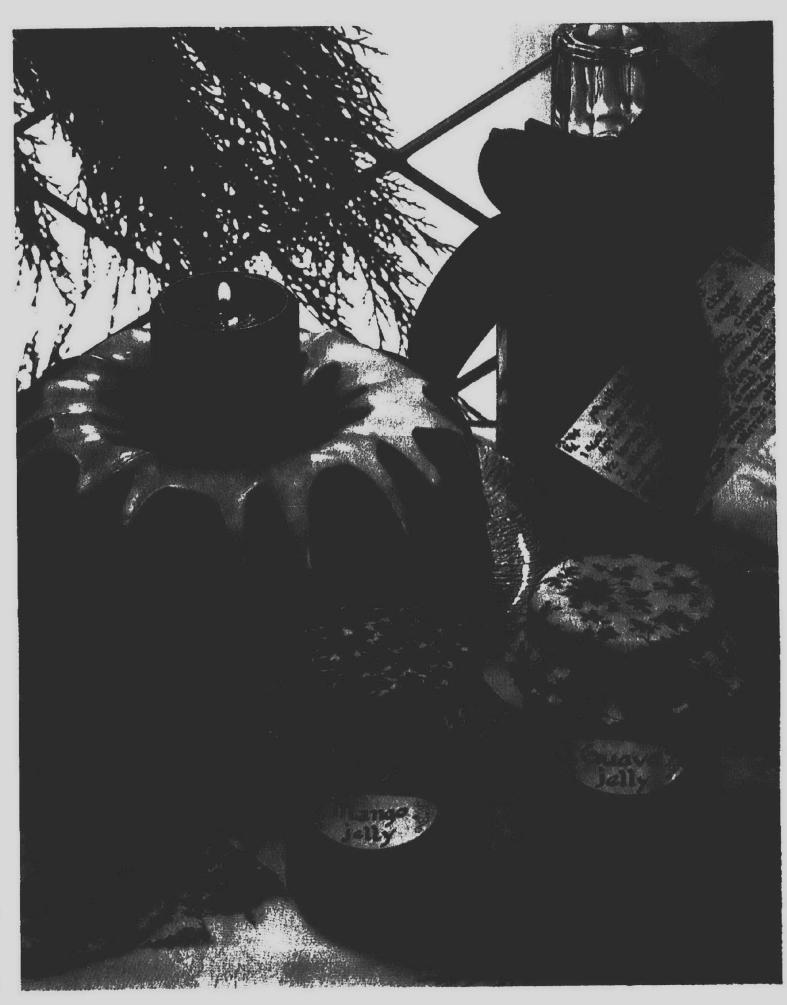

Fruit Nectar Jelly will be appreciated by anyone on your gift list, from a favorite teacher to the vacation-time caretaker of your plants or pets. The easy recipes yield "sweet success" when prepared with either powdered or liquid fruit pectin.

Gladden the spirits of a young relative in a dorm, or a friend in a Senior Center with a luscious Apricot Nectar Cake. Flavorfully moist, this "centerpiece cake" (complete-with-candle) offers a fine incentive for an instant get-together they could host with ease.

Mulled Apricot Nectar is so easily concocted. it bears repeating whenever a creative food gift is sought. Any holiday hostess will find this lightlyspiced nectar a pleasant alternative to the usual holiday beverage offerings. Wrap it "to go" with cinnamon stick stirrers tied in its topknot ribbon. Your choice of containers (and sharing the delectable recipes that fill them) can also "personalize your presents". This warming apricot beverage, for example, is attractively toteable in a quart glass nectar jar, an orange juice jug or an apothecarystyle decanter with a tight fitting top.

Food gifts are way at the top of many folks' "favorite presents" list. And, as anyone who's prepared them will tell you, it's a lovely way to catch the holiday spirit - and wrap it "to go"!

Fruit Nectar Jelly

Use your favorite nectar flavor: apricot, banana, guava, mango, peach, pear or strawberry.

Made with powdered fruit pectin:

- 2 cans (12 oz. each) of your favorite flavor
- Nectar I cup water

1 box (1-3/4 oz.) powdered fruit pectin

4-1/2 cups sugar Paraffin, melted

Combine nectar and water in a 6-8 quart saucepot. Add fruit pectin, mix well. Bring to a full boil over high heat, stirring constantly. Add sugar; continue stirring, bringing mixture to a full rolling boil. Continue to boil I minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Skim foam with large metal spoon. Immediately ladle into hot glasses or Jars, leaving 1/2-inch space at top of glasses, 1/8-inch for jars. With damp cloth, wipe any spills from inner sides of glasses, rims or threads of jars. Quickly seal glasses by spooning hot paraffin completely over hot jelly surface: prick air bubbles. Seal jars by covering with hot lids: screw bands on firmly. Let stand to cool. Store in cool, dry place. Small amounts of unsealed jelly may be covered and stored in refrigerator. Yields 6 cups.

Made with liquid fruit pectin:

- 2 cups of your favorite flavor Nectar 3-1/2 cups sugar
- I pouch (3 oz.) liquid fruit pectin Parafin, melted

Combine nectar and sugar in a 6-8 quart saucepot; mix well. Bring to a full boil over high heat stirring constantly. Add fruit pectin; continue stirring, bring mixture to a full rolling boil. Continue to boil 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Skim foam with large metal spoon. Immediately ladle into hot glasses or jars, leaving 1/2-inch space at top of glasses, 1/8-inch for jars. With damp cloth, wipe any spills from inner sides of glasses, rims or threads of jars. Quickly seal glasses by spooning hot paraffin completely over hot jelly surface; prick air bubbles. Seal jars by covering with hot jids; screw bands on firmly. Let stand to cool. Store in cool, dry place. Small amounts of unsealed jelly may be covered and stored in refrigerator. Yields 6 cups.

Glazed Apricot Nectar Cake

This delightful moist cake is a breeze to make and a pleasure to receive.

- 1 package (18.5 oz.) pudding included
- lemon cake mix 1/3 cup sugar
- 1 cup Apricot Nectar
- 1/2 cup vegetable oil
 - Nectar Glaze (recipe follows)

Preheat oven to 350 F. Combine cake mix, sugar, nectar and oil. Beat, using low speed on electric mixer, until blended. Add eggs, one at a time, mixing well after each addition. Pour into greased and floured 10x4-inch tube pan. Bake 40-45 minutes or until cake tests done. Cool 15 minutes; remove from pan. Yields 10-12 servings.

Nectar Glaze

Combine I cup confectioner's sugar, I teaspoon lemon juice and enough apricot nectar to make glaze pourable, about 1 tablespoon; mix well. Drizzle over warm cake.

Mulled Apricot Nectar A warm and cheering treat for blustery days.

- 46-oz. can Apricot Nectar
- 1/2 lemon, sliced 2 sticks, cinnamon
- 15 whole cloves
 - 1/4 cup sugar Extra cinnamon sticks for gamish

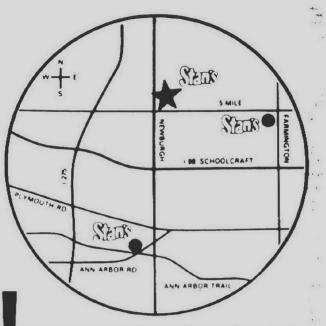

Combine nectar, lemon sitces, cinnamon sticks, cloves and sugar in saucepan. Bring to a boil: lower heat, cover and simmer for 5 minutes. Remove from heat, allowing to stand 30 minutes. Strain. Serve piping hot in mugs with a stick of cinnamon for a stirrer. Yields 5-1/2 cups.

Serve up pasties for a warm lunch, light dinner

What is regional American food? Many food experts have attempted to define and explain what constitutes an American dish, but there is no single

Several well-known regional cuisines includes Southwestern, Cajun or California. Basically, each region's cooking is influenced by the immigrants and/or ethnic groups that settle in the region.

Northern Michigan boasts a small regional ethnic group -- Cornish mine workers. They brought the increasingly popular 'pasty' to America in the mid-19th Century.

Pasties (pass-tees) are a seasoned meat and vegetable pie. The hot pasty originated as a lunchtime staple of Cornish miners living in northern Michigan because it could be wrapped tightly in the morning, easily carried to work and still provided a warm, filling meal at midday.

Today, pasties make a satisfying, take-along lunch or an informal evening meal. Prepare them the night before or on a leisurely weekend. For a unique adaption, enclose the filling in a Two-Herb Pastry. It contains a seasoning of basil and thyme right in the pastry. Keep the dough refrigerated until the pasties are ready to assemble.

The key to a well-made pasty is the proper wrapping of the dough around the filling. For the best results, the filling should be cool. Place about one cup of the filling in the center of a 9-inch pastry circle. Bring two sides together over the pastry and press the edges together to form a seam down the center. For a fancier and more decorative seam, crimp to form a rope-like edge.

When complete, a pasty makes a complete meal including bread, meat and vegetables. Serve it piping hot from the oven with a mixed green

Prepare Two-Herb Pastry (see below). Brown beef in 1 tbsp. oil in large frying pan over medium-high heat. Remove beef and season with salt and pepper, reserve. Add remaining 1 tbsp. oil to frying pan. Gradually add flour to make a roux, stirring constantly. Cook and stir over medium heat 2 to 3 minutes or until light brown. Gradually add water and whisk until smooth. Return beef to pan and reduce heat to low. Cover tightly and cook slowly 45 minutes, adding the potatoes, carrots, onions and turnips the last 20 minutes. Cook until beef is tender and vegetables are tender-crisp. Cool.

Meanwhile divide pastry into 4 balls. Roll each portion out on lightly floured surface into a 9-inch circle. Place ¼ of the beef filling in center of each circle. Fold one side of pastry up over filling; then fold up the other side and press edges together forming a seam down the center. With your fingers, crimp the seam into a decorative rope edge. Repeat procedure 3 times. Place pasties on ungreased baking sheet. Brush tops with egg. Bake in preheated 400 degree (hot) oven 25 to 30 minutes. Yield: 4

Cooking without a kitchen

If you are one of many who prepare meals in college dormitories, efficiency apartments or mobile homes, you are no doubt aware of the limitations of "kitchenless cooking.'

But a small food preparation area doesn't have to hinder the culinary experience.

The versatile toaster oven, which allows a wide variety of recipe preparations, is a basic olving the less dilemma. Below are suggested ways the toaster oven can do the job of several appliances.

 Bake: Remember that a toaster oven is a real oven. There's no need to give up roast poultry or beef because these foods won't fit. Just think small!

Substitute Cornish hen or rolled turkey breast for turkey or chicken. Or instead of a large rump roast, prepare a small eye round.

• Broil: Most toaster ovens can broil fish, kabobs or flank steak, for example. The see-through window allows you to monitor the progress of the broiled food without opening the door to slow cooking time.

• Top-Brown: This technique is ideal for preparing "cheesy" delights like cheddar-topped baked potatoes, English mulfin pizzas with mozzarella and open-faced tuna sandwiches with melted American cheese. Top-browning can turn any cold snack into a hot meal in seconds.

Toast: Toast is much more than a break-fast food. Next time you prepare a dish such as creamed chicken or seafood Newburgh, substitute pumpernickle, rye, whole wheat or white toast for rice.

The 'all-in-one' appliance not only makes cooking easy, it makes clean-up a breeze, too.

Spice up holiday parties with Mexican flavors

During the busy holiday season, convival cocktail parties are a favored form of entertaining. Ideally suited to our love of snacks and informality, they offer the opportunity to host a large group without long hours in the kitchen

To set the stage for merry making, a selection of libations and an appealing array of "finger foods" are all that is needed. Cocktail go-withs need not be extravagant or complicated, but to be memorable they should be imaginative, enticing and easy to eat.

One sure way to spice up party fare is to add south-of-the-border flavor. Everybody loves Mexican food, and appetizers boasting these festive flavors are sure to disappear quickly.

Chicken Flautas Appetizers are corn tortilla "flutes" filled with a zesty mixpicante sauce streamlining the way to authentic Mexican flavor. Choose mild, medium or hot picante sauce, as you prefer, for the filling and as a dip. Assemble these satisfying snacks an hour or two before the party if it's more con-

Store them uncovered in the refrigerator, ready to pop into the oven as the first guests arrive. Guacamole may be made up to an hour in advance. Press plastic wrap directly onto its surface to prevent discoloration, and refrigerate until serving time.

Served warm from the oven or microwave oven, Hot 'N Spicy Shrimp Dip is sure to please any holiday crowd. Teaming shrimp and two cheeses with artichoke hearts and the garden-fresh flavor of picante sauce, this extraorditure of chicken, cheese and onion, with nary dip invites a wide range of dippers. Surround it with a colorful complement of interesting veggies and crispy chips or crackers.

Sandwich wreath serves as appetizer, centerpiece

This holiday sandwich wreath is as delightful to the eye as it is to the palate and can therefore double as an attractive centerpiece as well as a scrumptious appetizer. Just place the mini sandwiches upright in a circle and add a bright satin bow for the festive finishing touch.

HOLIDAY SANDWICH WREATH

Deviled spread: 1 can (4 % oz.) deviled ham

1/4 cup finely chopped celery 1/2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce 20 party bread slices, pumpernickel softened butter or margarine

Chicken apple bread:

1 can (434 oz.) chicken spread 1/4 cup finely chopped apple 1 Tbsp. sour cream 20 party bread slices, rye

softened butter or margarine

Creamy pate spread:

1/4 lb. liverwurst

3 oz. cream cheese

2 Tbsp. finely chopped scallions 20 party bread slices, Dijon rye

softened butter or margarine

Combine first three ingredients of each recipe. Spread bread lightly with softened butter. Spread half bread slices with meat spread mixture; close sandwiches with remaining slices. Each recipe makes 10 sandwiches. To form wreath, arrange sandwiches, on edge, on a large, round platter to form a circle. Decorate with a ribbon bow, or garnish with holly or parsley and raw cranberries. Wreath contains 30 small sandwiches.

1/8 tsp. garlic powder

dash white pepper 1 (8-oz.) package cream cheese, cubed and softened

4 cup cream or milk 2 Thsp. drained, chopped pimientos Raw vegetables Tortilla chips

In medium saucepan, simmer tomatoes, chilis, onion, seasoned salt, garlic powder and pepper 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Blend in cream cheese and then cream. Over very low heat, stir and heat through. Turn into chafing dish or heat-proof casserole and keep warm over candle warmer, and garnish with pimiento. Serve with warm carrot sticks, celery, cauliflower florets, green pepper squares and tortilla chips. Thin with a little cream if needed during serving period. Any leftover dip may be chilled and used as cracker spread. For a milder dip, use only one chili.

THOSE inveterate bridge players, who meet Thursday afternoons at the Plymouth Community Center, don't take the game lightly. Sometimes they are displaced by events such as Thanksgiving and the Symphony League Antique Mart during the Fall Festival. Heavy snowfalls and sleet storms have been known to keep them at home.

But on any Thursday afternoon, enough of the faithful show up for several tables of party bridge. Chuck Skene, recreation director for the city of Plymouth, says they are special, one of his favorite groups. Chuck always is a guest of honor at the bridge players' annual harvest

Each November, they postpone the cards for a catered buffet luncheon and a social afternoon. This year 51 members attended the Thursday, Nov. 14, luncheon.

Special guests were Margaret Swartz Hall and her husband. Edward. Margaret was founder and original director of the bridge

DECORATING the community for the holiday season must be a cold-fingered chore for members of DPW staff. Just want you to know your efforts are appreciated

A thoughtful note from Carol Roddy expressed the feelings of residents as well as visitors:

"Today I took a walk through Plymouth. With all the Christmas decorations in place now, it certainly looked beautiful. The manger scene in lifelike figures made me stop and ponder the almost 2,000 years ago.

"Do we take time in this lovely town, state and country to appreciate the freedoms we have? I am grateful to live in an area where families are still caring and Godfearing."

Those were the thoughts of Carol, who took the time to ponder.

Even a harried shopper - with a gift list that seems a mile long must look at the lights and the holly wreaths with revived holiday spirit.

To the touch, marquetry is as smooth as glass. But the woods give it a textured look.

Marquetry older than the pyramids

By Elinor Graham staff writer

Tyle Sweet of Plymouth will be among the 75 artists and crafts people at this weekend's show and sale at the Plymouth Cultural Center. His hobby and specialty is marquetry, an art that dates back 3,000 years.

Marquetry is a ancient method of decorating wood surfaces with colorful, thin woods. The Egyptians left paintings on the walls and ceilings of tombs within the pyramids that revealed marquetry methodology. The paintings tell exactly how to saw and glue the woods. They also left boxes and furniture enriched with designs in wood, gems and precious metals.

Marquetry now is defined as assembling cut pieces of exotic woods - veneers - into a single sheet design, then gluing it on a wood surface.

The practice of marquetry has become a popular hobby in England during the past 20 years. The art has flourished in America since the founding of the Marquetry Society of America in 1972.

SWEET WORKS with more than 50 exotic wood veneers and his scenes are framed in black walnut

He counted 23 woods in his study of a candy shop. Among them were harewood from England, pearwood from Europe, purple heart from British Guiana, lacewood from Australia, padouk from India, mahogany from Honduras and holly from United States.

He knows them all. "The boy's pants and hat are black walnut," he said, taking a closer look at his handiwork, "and girl's dress is

For the pre-Christmas show at the Cultural Center, he will include tree ornaments - stars in two kinds of wood, and bears. The work is minute and exacting and he says he cannot consider his time when it comes to pricing his work. He does know he spent more than 800 hours on "The Old Curiosity Shop," one of his favor-

"We were in Sorrento, Italy and everyone in the town was doing marquetry. They weren't like these. They were manufacturing them; it was a commercial enterprise," said Jane Sweet.

Sweet's works range from small pieces, a sail boat or a perfect rose, to the larger paintings in wood. They range in price from $5 for a tree ornament, to $18 for a small "picture," to $800 and more for a large one.

The woods have their own color and texture. He uses zebrano from Africa for water and it looks exactly like water. The rosewoods come from Brazil, India and Honduras. There is French walnut and native walnut, African cherry and local cherry.

THE EXOTIC woods and their countries of origin have the fascination of faraway places.

Yet the native North American woods have their own beauty. Sweet uses ash, aspen, beech, poplar, birch, butternut, cedar, pecan, holly, white and birds eye maple, oak, Idaho pine, gum

Mercy-Salem switch roles in regional

BILL BRESLER/staff photographe

Laura Clifford (with basketball) and Dena Head (No. 43) have made rebounding against Plymouth Salem mighty difficult this season.

How's this for a change of pace?

"To be playing Plymouth Salem this early in the tournament is a pretty sobering thought," said Farmington Hills Mercy basketball coach Larry

Two years ago one might have heard a similar utterance from Salem coach Fred Thomann.

Mercy and Salem, no strangers to each other in the post-season arena, appear to have exchanged roles for Tuesday night's Class A regional tournament clash (6 p.m. at Salem).

In past campaigns, Salem has been the serious underdog in matches with the Marlins. In 1983, the two met in the quarterfinals and Mercy prevailed 37-25. Last year, the two met again in the quarterfinals - again Mercy won, this time in overtime, 49-45.

SO WHY is this year different? Because of what transpired on Oct. 1. On that night Mercy got shanghaied at Salem, 43-38. It was a convincing victory, one that has lingered in the back of Larry Baker's mind.

"We will be entering Tuesday night's game at virtually every disadvantage," said Baker. "They beat us earlier this year, dispelling any doubt in their mind that it could be done. They have improved greatly since then. They have gotten into their roles far better than we have. And, you have the constant factor of having a great coach, great support and momentum from their league and district championships.

"We feel we're in a position to be fed to the lions, but we'll give it a shot."

That's startling stuff coming from the coach of the winningest girls basketball program in this area over the past decade, a coach whose basketball program has made it to the state finals the last three years, and whose team posted a respectable 16-5 record this

Thomann isn't sold on the role of overwhelming favorite.

"All that win early in the year did was give us some credibility in the state," he said. "It was a great game for us. We had opened the season with a pair of losses to state-ranked teams. You don't like to go 0-3 against that type of competition.

"THAT GAME has no effect on Tues-best against their best and whoever executes wins. You can't say that we are going to win because we beat them last time. That would be like us saying, 'OK, we lost to Plymouth Canton the first time so no way can we beat them."

Each team has a different look about them since that Oct. 1 meeting.

For Salem (19-3), super sophomore Dena Head remains the key weapon. But she has become much more a factor offensively since Thomann inserted senior Julie Tortora at point guard. In the eight games since the switch, Head has averaged better than 18 points per Jessica Handley remains the team's perimeter sharpshooter and zone buster. Kristen Hostynski, Keri McBride and Laura Clifford have been consistent contributors defensively and on the boards. Off the bench, Stacy Sovine, Leslie Plichta and Suzie Balconi have given the Rocks quality minutes.

The strength of the team remains its defense. The Rocks' man-to-man defense suffocated its foes in the Western Lakes and it suffocated Mercy Oct. 1.

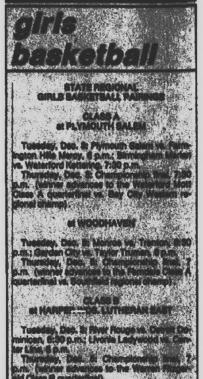

In 22 games, Salem has allowed an average of less than 30 points per game (29.95). The Rocks have kept their opponents under 30 points 14 times. Besides Ladywood, who scored 61 against Salem in the season opener, only two teams have scored more than 40 points.

OFFENSE HAS been the achilles heel of the Marlins this season. But, in recent outings, the Mercy scoring machine has begun to roll.

Missy Duczynski and Yvette Maison have emerged as the key offensive players for Mercy. Duczynski, headed for Central Michigan University next fall, has been the team's most consistent scorer. Maison is the team's floor leader. Her job, one that has become increasingly critical for the Marlins, is to read the defenses and keep the offense flowing.

Other key components for Mercy include senior guard Michelle Fryatt, a gritty player with ferocious defensive skills and a potentially dangerous jump shot; Terri Nalodka, a strong inside player; and Terri Ford.

Ford, an All-Area player as a junior last year, may or may not play Tuesday. She injured her ankle in practice prior to the district tournament opener. Baker said her cast would be removed Friday and he would monitor her progress from that point on.

Margaret DeMattia did a good job filling in for Ford in the two district games. Mercy has also gotten solid play off the bench from Jan Herberholz.

WHILE THE chemistry is different, one thing remains intact: the Mercy press. In the district championship game, the Marlins threw a variety of presses and traps against North Farmington, each disrupted the Raider attack. The press may be Mercy's most dangerous weapon.

The winner of Tuesday night's game will play the winner between Birming-ham Marian (12-10) and Waterford Kettering (22-0) at 7:30 p.m. Thursday. Marian and Kettering will battle Tuesday after the Salem-Mercy game.

The regional champion will advance to quarterfinals, the final stop prior to Kalamazoo, at Waterford Mott against the winner of the Bay City Western regional (which is likely to be the state's No. 1 team, Flint Northwestern).

Wendt persists at EMU

By Chris McCosky staff writer

The shadow that has engulfed Ron Wendt for the better part of his athletic life is moving away

Ron Wendt, 1982 Redford Catholic Central graduate, is the least visible member of a very visible athletic family.

The elder Wendt, Art, was a standout baseball player in the semipro ranks. Art Wendt Jr. played basketball and baseball at Livonia Stevenson. Greg Wendt, the most visible of all the Wendts, is a headliner with the University of Detroit basketball

Even the youngest Wendt, C.J., a senior at CC, has gotten considerable acclaim for his prowess on the soccer

THEN THERE'S Ron Wendt.

At 6-5, coaches and friends at Catholic Central took for granted that Ron would follow in brother Greg's footsteps and play basketball.

"Everyone kind of expected me to play basketball, but at that time, my coordination hadn't caught up with my size," he said.

He was cut from the team as a sophomore, cut again as a senior. "I thought I was good enough to make the team my senior year, but you know how that goes," he said. Ron Wendt set out to make a name for himself in football. By the time he was a senior at CC his weight had topped the 200-pound mark and, like all the Wendts, his physique was mus-

But Wendt was a seldom-used player in high school. To this day, he doesn't fully understand why.

"I played some on double tight end situations," he said. "There were some games I didn't play at all. I didn't think I was that bad."

Ron Wendt EMU tight end

IT IS his staunch belief in his own ability that has allowed Wendt to persevere through the arduous times.

"It has gone in phases," he said. "In high school a lot of people thought I'd be a good prospect, and I kind of didn't live up to expectations. And all through high school, all I heard was 'you're brother this, you're brother that.' Now I love to hear about my brother. It's kind of a joke now. Whenever I get my name in the paper it says, 'Ron Wendt, the younger brother of Greg Wendt.' It doesn't bother me

Ron Wendt has indeed etched out his own athletic identity. He is a major college football player, a good one, at Eastern Michigan University.

He wasn't recruited out of high school. He walked on and earned his scholarship — a feat few achieve at the Division I level.

"I contacted coach Bob LaPointe over the summer, and he told me to come out," Wendt said. "I was a preferred walk-on. I went into the practices all geeked-up, ready to work as hard as I could. I just tried to catch the coaches' eye as often as possible.'

A week into camp, Wendt was offered a scholarship. From that day on, he has steadily chipped away at that pesky shadow.

AFTER SITTING out his first year at Eastern as a red-shirted defensive lineman, he saw limited duty as an offensive lineman the next two years.

He began this season as a secondstring lineman. Midway through, Wendt approached head coach Jim

"Coach, I think I can help the team more if I played tight end," he said. Harkema, surprised by Wendt's request, said he'd have to think about it. Two weeks later, Wendt was the starting tight end. "I like tight end a lot more," Wendt said. "But, playing tackle wasn't as bad as I thought it would be, either. I'll play wherever they need me."

Wendt's response to his tight-end assignment was this: He caught 14 passes for 116 yards and two touchdowns (one in each of the last two games) and was a punishing blocker.

"My first couple games they didn't throw to me," he said. "Then against Central (Michigan University) I caught four. That got my confidence up. I knew I could catch the ball. Before, I was pretty nervous."

GUESS WHO Ron Wendt's No. 1 fan was during the season? Greg

"He came to everyone of my home games except one," Ron Wendt said.
"We're really tight. We call each other all the time to find out how each other did. When I caught that first touchdown he was pretty excited."

Stebbins plays key role as Chippewas' tight end

staff writer

Bob Stebbins had a good football season, but it wasn't quite up to Bob Stehhins standards

There is much more to accomplish for the 6-foot-4, 225-pound tight end from Central Michigan University.

The Livonia native tied teammate John Deboer for the team lead in receptions, catching 26 passes for 344 yards (13.2 per grab) and one touch-

"I was really pleased with the season," said the Franklin High School grad. "But I would have had 30 catches if I hadn't missed the last game." Stebbins underwent surgery for a broken right thumb, suffered in practice four days prior to the season finale with Northern Illinois. A broken left thumb caused the tight end to miss most of his freshman year, but the injury turned out to be a blessing in disguise because it enabled Stebbins to red-shirt, giving him an extra year of eligibility.

Sitting out the Northern Illinois game, however, may have cost the CMU tight end a spot on the All-Mid-American Conference team.

"THERE WERE an awful lot of good tight ends in the league and sometimes they just go on stats," said CMU assistant coach Mike Poff. "But Bob caught the ball well and he's an exceptional blocker. He's very smart. "And don't forget he's young. He's got two more years left."

Central Michigan finished with a 7-3 record, but according to Stebbins, that wasn't good enough.

CMU tight end

"I'm looking forward to next year," he said. "We were three plays away from winning the title this year. We lost three games by a total of 13

"We were decimated by injuries and went 7-3. We lost five or six key players and that's what hurt."

Deboer, a senior split end rated highly by the pros, was among the casualties, missing the final three games with a knee injury.

"We lost All-MAC and All-American type players," said Stebbins. "I'm sure Deboer would have ended up with a lot more catches than 26."

WITH MAC CHAMP, Bowling Green losing a number of big-name players to graduation, CMU could be the league's top contender next year along with Miami of Ohio. Both teams lose very little to graduation.

"We have the talent and we're always in the game," Stebbins said. "But we're not delivering in the clutch. We hope to make it happen next year.

"I'll be disappointed if we don't win it (the MAC) in my five years. It was frustrating as a team this year. Four or five years in a row we've been coming close. We should have won it last year, and that was our year. (Toledo took the title).

"Nobody wants second or third, You get sick and tired of it." CMU could have big plans next year for Stebbins. "I really hope to have a lot of catches and I hope to be a key part of the offense," he said. "I hope to work on my strength over the winter and summer so I can dominate people. "NOT TO USE the old army slogan, but I want to be the best I can be. I'm going to work in the weight room and gain about 10 pounds."

Stebbins' biggest concern at the the moment, however, is getting through final exams. Sporting a 3.84 grade point average in business-finance, Stebbins was recently placed on the national ballot for the College Sports Information Directors of America Academic All-American team. That news came after he made the GTE

District IV squad. "It's kind of tough when you can' write," Stebbins said. "Exams are going to be tough. I can type, but I can't even do that."

Stebbins will manage handicap. His self-impose

Omnicom pushes cable rate hike

staff writer

Omnicom management is in the process of introducing a prospective new owner and simultaneously pushing for a rate increase requested last summer. Fredrick Collman, Omnicom general manager, and Harcharan (Harry) Suri, 90 percent owner of N-Com Inc., have been keeping a busy schedule meeting with officials from service communities including Canton, Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

Canton Township is hosting an informational meeting at 7 p.m. tomorrow at Canton Township Hall to allow Omnicom representatives to field queser the transfer of the cable company to

THE PLYMOUTH City Commission is expected to consider the transfer at tonight's Commission meeting which begins 7:30 at city hall.

'In the Plymouth Township franchise there isn't a clause saying they have to approve the transfer, Collman said. "However, we will make a formal appearance before their board to introduce Mr. Suri.'

Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton subscribers presently pay $8.35 for the basic rate.

On Jan. 14 the Canton board will vote on a $1.70 increase in cable basic rates which was requested by Omnicom last summer and denied by the Canton board. In February 1985 Canton

The Plymouth Township Board of Trustees also turned down a $1.70 basic rate increase last summer.

Tonight the Plymouth City Commission will consider a $1.70 basic rate hike. Paul Sincock, Plymouth assistant city manager, is recommending approval of the increase.

'The city commission should also be aware of the fact that Omnicom does have the right to raise movie channel rates in the event that this rate hike is denied," Sincock wrote in a note to Plymouth City Manger Henry Graper.

'Less impact will be felt by the subscribers in the city by granting a basic increase, rather than having Omnicom raise movie rates.'

Collman said that the rate increase

OMNICOM HAS PADDED premium rates - movie channels like Home Box Office (HBO) - to compensate for the lower basic rates, Collman

However, the cable company earns a lower profit margin from premium rates than basic rates because Omnicom must share the premium rate increase with the servicing company.

In a recent meeting with the Canton Cable Commission, Collman and Suri discussed how institutional networks, security systems and local origination programming will be affected by the Gareth R. Volz, elementary school principal at Plymouth Christian Academy in Canton, complimented the performance of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools students this year on a standardized state achievement test.

Fact is, though, that a higher percentage of fourth, seventh and 10th graders at Plymouth Christian mastered at least three-quarters of math and reading objectives on the Michigan Education Assessment Program (MEAP) than did local public school students.

Specifically, 90.9 percent of Plymouth Christian fourth-graders demonstrated mastery of at least three-quarters of math objectives and 86.4 percent attained that level on the reading

'Number one, parents are motivated to work with students because they pay tuition," Volz said. "When you pay big dollars, you tend to pay attention to what's going on and make sure students are getting their work in."

Tuition this year ranges between $1,450 and $1,715.

"We have a very dedicated staff," Volz continued. "Our thrust is a religious education — a God-centered education, but an education. We just don't tell Bible stories.

'We look at it as a ministry - teachers, administrators and parents. We're partners in education. I think that helps when students know that.

Holiday season bleak for strikers at Frito-Lay

By Doug Funke staff writer

The irony is inescapable.

While four strikers at the Frito-Lay distribution center in Canton try to keep warm inside a makeshift shanty, unemployed men and women file into a Michigan Employment Security Commission office across the street to pick up checks or check on job

It's been six weeks since about 40 drivers and warehouse workers walked off the job in Canton in a dispute they say centers on wage scales.

The four on picket duty one rainy day last week didn't seem all that optimistic about a settlement. Their comments have been heard hundreds of times in hundreds of other labor

"It looks like a long one," said Greg Lubin, 25, a Frito-Lay driver for four years. Lubin, a Plymouth resident, serves as a steward for Teamsters

"THEY DON'T want to negotiate in good faith," said Manny Melendez, a 46-year-old Westland resident who has worked as a driver only since "Our families are really getting concerned," said Leroy Olah, 44, of Livonia, and a driver for six years. "I know my wife is upset."

Bill O'Connell, also a driver and an employee for 20 years, recalled a strike that lasted nine weeks in 1969.

"If it isn't settled by Christmas, we'll probably be out until February,' he said. O'Connell, a 57-year-old Livo-nian, said the snack business slacks off considerably after peaking for the Frito-Lay strikers in metropolitan Detroit, receive $45 per week for picketing a five-hour shift every other day. Nowadays, the Canton crew spends much time in the shack, warmed by a portable heater. Exciting it isn't. 'I listen to the radio most of the day and work puzzles," Olah said. O'Connell smokes cigarettes and

'We just sit around and shoot the bull," said Melendez. "There's not much you can do when it was raining.

We'd play catch out here - baseball Melendez and Olah didn't anticipate being out this long when they first struck. "Everyone expected two or three weeks," Melendez said. Emotions seem to fluctuate. Lubin said he wouldn't be surprised if some of the strikers, himself included, were to begin looking for permanent employment elsewhere if the la-

Melendez said he expects to get an offer to work construction next spring. Whether he accepts depends on the status of the strike.

Olah said his wife works but only earns about half as much as he did before going out. "She's worried I'm not going to get back. She's worried about the holidays coming up and no paycheck coming in.

"I plan to stick it out," Olah continued. "I plan to make this my last stop. I've been around to a lot of places."

O'Connell seemed to be the least ff considerably after peaking for the olidays.

"If the strike keeps going on, the international will give us clearance to close down other parts of the country," O'Connell said. "It came down to that last time. We closed Chicago, Cleveland."

Mediators are now involved in the bargaining process, said Richard Gremaud, a Teamsters' negotiator.

"I'm hoping we can get this set-tled," he said. "If it's not settled before Christmas, I think it will be March or April. Once we get past the holidays, they'll let 'em sit out there. We're willing to negotiate.

"This is my first time bargaining with Frito," Gremaud said. "They are not like other companies. They more or less dictate to you — you're going to take this or else. They don't negotiate with you."

Gregg Overman, a spokesman for Frito-Lay, takes issue with some of the strikers' assertions.

"OF COURSE we're bargaining in good faith if good faith means trying to settle the dispute and that's what we're trying to do," he said. "We're very hopeful we can resolve this as soon as possible. "We would never force anyone to go on strike," Overman said. "I don't understand what that means."

While the two sides wait each other out, it's business as usual at the unemployment office. "Junior" said he stopped by to check on job leads.

"I'll be happy to work anywhere—a job is a job," he said. "If the unemployment office told me Frito-Lay was hiring even if they were striking. I would go over there as long as my life wasn't in danger. I'm looking for work anywhere."

A recent nationwide survey found that the numbers of high school seniors who use alcohol every day increased slightly, with other categories such as monthly use and heavy drinking in the last two weeks declining slightly. Most other drug use areas increased. A survey of Birmingham seniors last year found 42 percent drank alcohol at least every weekend.

They also want families in action groups set up in every community in the state. They haven't gotten there, but they're working on it.

Hansen and Mackler are the only two full-time employees of the Michigan Communities in Action - a statewide network of local groups dedicated to fighting the problem of drug and alcohol abuse in families through specific action.

From their tiny downtown Birmingham office, the women organize what they call a "grassroots" movement to spur local interest in getting the message out to their community members. Their target group is ob-

And they have just recently started the red ribbon campaign. It really has nothing magazines to stop carrying "High Times" to do with the Christmas season. The idea is to promote drug-free and alcohol-free youth, to show concern for our own, by displaying ribbons - similar to the yellow ribbons that symbolized concern for prisoners of war from Vietnam and later hostages in Iran and the green ribbons for the children

MCA is encouraging groups to pressure local drug stores and other shops that sell and other pro-marijuana-use magazines. Members are also working on tobacco shops, gas stations and drug stores to stop selling rolling papers used to make marijuana cigarettes.

The group campaigns against shops selling drug paraphernalla and is working to fight the use and advertising of alcohol and smokeless tobacco on television.

The Birmingham office is stuffed with educational materials about the effects of drugs and alcohol on teen-agers, families and society. Providing resources is a most important part of their job, Mackler said.

"WE CAN'T stop the influx of drugs, we know that," Mackler said. "But we can educate people.

Although Hansen said they are proud of what they've accomplished, MCA members know they have more to do.

For instance, a statewide MCA conference occurred about the same time a University of Michigan study found a five-year decline in drug use among America's high school students had stalled. Increases were recorded for cocaine use, along with PCP and opiates other than heroin.

Mackler said they were "very concerned" about those figures. "We'll just have to work all that much harder, redouble our efforts,"

"We think we're on the right road," Mackler said. "Parents are unique in this because these are our young people and we have to help them."

Courts wary of evidence aided by hypnosis

MAGINE you are on a jury in a murder trial. The prosecutor's star witness testifies the defendant committed the crime.

She reports that with the aid of hypnosis, she was able to recall the events of the crime - even down to the color of the assailant's socks.

When this testimony is the result of information "unlocked" by hypnosis, it is even more persuasive because people tend to assume that accuracy and truth are guaranteed.

Unfortunately, this assumption is

A professor staged a surprise, mock "assassination" of a guest speaker during an undergraduate psychology class. Afterwards, one student under hypnosis described the black gloves the assassin had worn, including th type of stitching and the location of worn spots. The problem was, the assassin had not worn recall can nevertheless produce valuable information that had been accurately recorded by the mind, but blocked from conscious recall.

When a busload of children in Chowchilla, Calif., was kidnapped in 1978, a witness under hypnosis was able to recall five of the six numbers of the kidnappers' license plate. This information led to the capture of the kidnappers and to the safe release of the children, but could not be used as evidence for prosecution. Fortunately, other independent evidence turned up which led to a conviction.

That example demonstrates that there is a place for hypnosis in law enforcement. In recent years, hypnosis has become an important investigative tool for police to solve crimes, even though it cannot be used to prosecute

Declining interest rates may be good for home buyers, but for school districts, it's another story.

According to Raymond Hoedel, associate superintendent for business for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, interest rates on school investments have dropped by about 3 percent in just percent on its investments. But the rate fell to less than 8 percent for 1985-86.

The last time the district got 11 percent interest was in October 1984; for October 1985, the district is getting between 7.75 percent and 8 percent.

For the 1984-85 school year, the district was receiving between 10 and 11 percent on its investments. But the rate $1.35 million in interest.

Local revenue is expected to be about $37.19 million from taxes and $600,000 from other local sources.

The district will receive about $9.35 million in state aid, based on an enrollment of 15,720 students.

County board budget battle peaks this week

staff writer

· The Wayne County Commission is expected to meet Thursday to consider overriding Executive William Lucas' votos of three areas of the new county annual budget.

Commissioners say the override is critical because without it the vetoes will serve to eliminate funding to park services, the drain commission and youth programming.

"If any of the vetoes are upheld, that'll mean that the departments won't be able to operate," said Commissioner Kay Beard, D-Inkster. "My inclination is to override the vetoes, get the budget in place and then get into discussions on reappropriation.

"I'm going to vote to override," said Commissioner Milton Mack, D-Wayne. We're almost compelled to. His veto eliminated almost all the funding in

Ten votes of the 15-member commission are needed to override.

IN ISSUING his line-item veto last week, Lucas said time was running out to effect a compromise with the commissioners, and therefore he said he was "forced" to veto the budget items. In doing so, he asked that more than $2 million in cutbacks be restored in these areas:

- management audit $231,420; the park service — $500,000;
- the Economic Development Corp.
- $100,000; • the sheriff's department -

- his personal office budget -$269,425;
- the youth program $38,100.

He pointed to the possibility of new funding last week by implementing a contract with the U.S. Marshal's Office over the placement of up to 84 federal prisoners.

THE COUNTY'S budget battles have taken the executive and commissioners up to the official start-up date of the budget, Dec. 1. Yet, neither the commissioners nor staff said the delay will curtail services this week or hold up payroll.

Commission Chairman John Hertel, D-Harper Woods, said Friday that despite Lucas' concerns there is no

"We don't have any payroll issued until (this) Friday, and the board of commissioners will be meeting Thursday, the day before any payroll or vouchers are due out."

Hertel said that was the reason he declined Lucas' request last week for an "emergency" Thanksgiving holiday meeting of the commissioners. Even more, he said it would have been impractical to reach enough commissioners to form a quorum.

Even after commissioners take action this week, however, plans are shaping up to continue looking at ways to alter the county's $201 million budget for 1986.

Lucas has formally asked for supplemental appropriations for his office budget, which he did not veto, nearly $1 million for cuts in the sheriff's department, $231,420 to restore the management audit department, $500,000 for the park service, $38,100 for youth programs, and $100,000 for the Economic Development Corp.

Support appears to be shaping up for restoring funding in the sheriff's budget, where there are legal threats from Eliminated in the 1986 budget were 21 deputies in park patrols, and two special service sections including the OUIL (drunk driving) Squad and the Felony Warrant section.

IN THE PARKS budget, he said the commission-approved appropriation is "inadequate" for even "minimal level"

But Mack said Lucas' veto over the park budget strategically may serve to harm the park's ultimate funding level.

Frank Lloyd Wright's youngest clients: the Walls

past and present

When Jessie and I visited Phoenix a number of years ago we went to see Frank Lloyd Wright's "Taliesin West." An example of the architect's finest work, it was his winter home and school of instruction.

On display in the building, on the side of a hill overlooking the city, are photos of some of Wright's most famous buildings. As we moved from photo to photo, we suddenly spotted one that read "Plymouth, Michigan."

Here, among the most celebrated of the great architect's works - including his residence in Spring Green, Wis. (1911), the Imperial Hotel in Tokyo (1916) and the Millard House in Pasadena (1927) - was the house Carl and for their property on Beck Road.

AN OUTSTANDING example of Wright's "prairie house" style, the house was built for the Walls more than 40 years ago when Frank Lloyd Wright was at the height of his fame.

Over 70 at the time, he was reconized as the foremost American innovator of an organic architecture based on the integration of form, function, building site and materials, and especially on the subordination of style to human

Inspired by the flat prairie country the midwest, Wright introduced buildings with low-pitched roofs and horizontal thrusts at a time when box-like, vertical proportions were the norm. His conviction that form should follow function and that a building should harmonize with its surroundings had a strong influence on modern European architecture, especially in Holland, Germany, France and the Scandinavian countries

Our visit to Taliesin West came to mind when I read that the Walls had sold their home to Tom Monaghan, owner of the Domino Pizza chain and the Detroit Tigers.

Part of the local history as the first Frank Lloyd Wright structure built in Wayne County and the 12th of 31 Wright homes built in Michigan between 1902 and 1957, I felt impelled to learn more about how the house happened to be built here.

What prompted the Walls to engage Wright as their architect? How did

Wright go about the job? What were the Walls' impressions of the man who has been called one of the outstanding architectural pioneers of the 20th centustill calls it "my house" even though he no longer owns it, is an enthusiastic believer in the architectural theories practiced by Wright and was quite willing to talk about the building of the house and the man who designed it.

First, however, a little bit about the Walls themselves.

Carl, whose father came from Sweden and whose mother was born in Maryland, was raised in Detroit. The family home was at Grand River and Joy. His father founded the Michigan Tool Co. in 1914, Continental Tool Works in 1928 and the U.S. Tool Co. in

Carl earned a bachelor's degree at Olivet College, founded by Congregationalists in the 1840s. It was at Olivet that he met Margaret Berghorst of Zeeland, Mich. They married and have four children, Krysten, Martha, David

Carl, who says that living in a Wright house enriched his family's life in many ways, wrote a paper in 1979 enti-tled "Frank Llyod Wright Houses in Michigan." He has given me permission to quote from it.

He wrote, "My wife, Margaret, and FORTUNATELY, Carl Wall, who myself attended Olivet College, which is a small Liberal Arts College here in Michigan. Olivet championed the arts, under its president Joseph Brewer, and generally had a resident artist who was either a painter or sculptor or writer, or the like.

We became acquainted with Wright's work through these influences and we decided to build a house after we married. Joseph Brewer, who was a personal friend of Frank Lloyd Wright, took a hand in writing Mr. Wright a letter asking would he be interested in designing a house for us." After writing to the architect,

1941. He had received a note from Wright saying that he would be delighted to talk to the Walls and suggesting that Carl and Margaret visit him at his school, Taliesin, on 3,000 acres of rolling farmland near Spring Green, Wis.

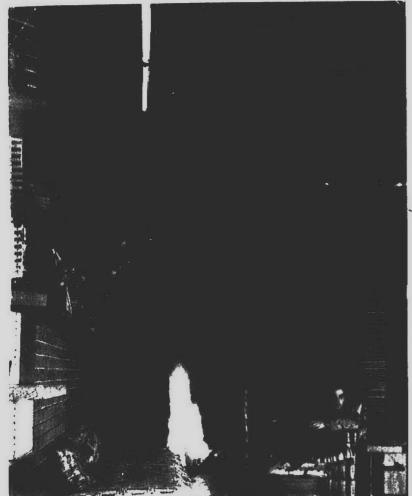

With an apparent understanding of human frailty, Brewer added, "Do all the blandishing you can get there - the old boy loves flattery — and be sure to pay attention to Mrs. Wright. I see no reason why they shouldn't both love you and Margaret dearly, and the more love, the better the house.' As was Wright's custom, he invited the Walls to stay with him at Taliesin until he could get to know their likes and dislikes, habits and preferences so that he could create a design to suit their needs. Carl was 24, Margaret a few years younger, and Wright 76 at the time. Carl says that when they first met Wright he exclaimed: "Why, you're just children!"

The Walls discovered later that they were Wright's youngest clients.

As a result, Wright felt impelled to design what he called "a young romantic house for two young romantic peo-

The real Christmas began Friday

WHEN YOU TEAR the monthly sheet from your calendar you will notice that Dec. 25 is simply marked Christmas. That's fine, but it isn't the

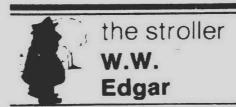

Sure, it is Christmas Day and has been for years. But it is only the day we celebrate. It has been Christmas, in the average person's feelings, since Thanksgiving Day. You see Christmas is not a single day but really a season. That's why you see the Christmas decorations put in place in the city even before Thanksgiving Day is here.

You'll find the streets graciously lighted. You'll find the Three Wise Men in Kellogg Park before you tear the sheet from your calendar. And you will find the reindeer and Santa and his sled on the City Hall lawn before Thanksgiving Day meal is served.

BUT THAT is nothing new.

In the public schools the Christmas season starts real early. You'll find the pupils preparing the trimmings for the tree - if the schools have one. And you'll find that most everyone's mind is set on the season. They go shopping for gifts. And they keep wondering about what they might get in their stockings on Christmas Day morning.

And mothers spend a lot of time shopping, and studying plans for the big family meal as the main part of a celebration.

The Christmas season always has been a big time in the schools and The Stroller recalls the fun we used to have in making the trimmings for our tree in the classroom.

We couldn't afford to purchase the streamers for the tree so we made them. We'd get enough change from our parents to purchase the colored paper. Once we had it, the work began early in December.

We'd cut the colored paper in short enough pieces to make a ring for the paper chain that would be strung from the tree to selected places of the room.

There would be all sorts of colors and when they were in place the room was a real-Yuletide sight.

Ofttimes we found a dealer who would give us a tree from his Christmas tree corner, especially if it was damaged. The fact that it wasn't a perfect tree made no difference. We donated it and had fun doing it. One of the joyous times came if our tree won the prize as the best trimmed in the school

AND IT WAS real fun, too, on the that on the calendar, too.

Friday before the actual holiday, when we had our Christmas programs in the

It was a day when the students had charge of the program and many of them recited verses while our teachers looked on. But you must remember this . Friday was not Christmas. It was a few days before the actual Christmas Day. But these days left lasting memories.

That's the reason the wording on the calendar should be changed to read Christmas Day.

If you recall when President Roosevelt issued his proclamation to change Thanksgiving Day from the fourth Thursday to the third Thursday, it was to give folks a longer time to do their Christmas shopping and the merchants a better chance to make the Christmas season a more profitable one.

So, you see, there has been a precedent to change the wording on the calendar from plain Christmas to Christmas Day and let the actual season — the Christmas season — start on the day after Thanksgiving and mark

WILL I BE ON MEDICINE FOREVER?

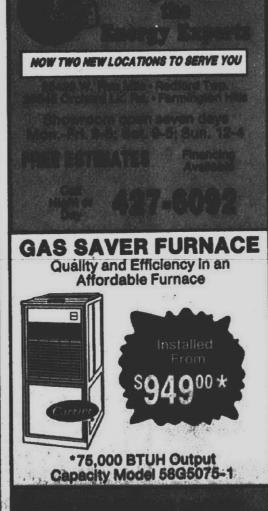

To a previously healthy person, having arthritis comes s a shock. It is difficult to adjust to a chronic disease - a state in which pain and impairment are present each day

For most people with arthritis, aspirin is the main medication. Proper dosage requires 4-12 tablets daily, depending on the form of aspirin used. For many individuals the need to take this much medicine every day is as upsetting as having the arthritis itself.

The question: "Will I have to be on medicine forever?" is a signal, it indicates the patient's distress over finding no swift and straightforward treatment that will take that

The initial reply is to point out that remission or improvement is always possible; there are over 100 types of arthritis, but they share the common characteristic of being unpredictable in their outcome. No one can say that the joint pain and swelling present today will never stop. However, it must be pointed out that treatment, no matter how falthfully followed, rarely ends arthritis; in most instances the purpose of therapy is to allow one to undertake a reasonable life despite their loint condition.

Easy...Thrifty...Elegant FOOD GIFTS TO GO

Will it fit? Is the style appropriate? Do they already have one? Many holiday shopping dilemmas can be happily resolved with tasteful gifts of food. Stirred up with ease, wrapped up with speed. presented with pleasure, they're affordable luxuries that won't blitz the budget.

Each of the trio of food gifts shown here is made with a flavorful fruit nectar, available in a variety of can sizes; some in glass decanters. Choose from a fruit-basket of flavors: Apricot, Pear. Peach, Guava, Pear-Passion Fruit, Banana or Mango. Then, before you're snowed under with other holiday tasks, plan a special food gift for each person you want to remember in a warm and thoughtful way.

Fruit Nectar Jelly will be appreciated by anyone on your gift list, from a favorite teacher to the vacation-time caretaker of your plants or pets. The easy recipes yield "sweet success" when prepared with either powdered or liquid fruit pectin.

Gladden the spirits of a young relative in a dorm, or a friend in a Senior Center with a luscious Apricot Nectar Cake. Flavorfully moist, this "centerpiece cake" (complete-with-candle) offers a fine incentive for an instant get-together they could host with ease.

Mulled Apricot Nectar is so easily concocted, it bears repeating whenever a creative food gift is sought. Any holiday hostess will find this lightlyspiced nectar a pleasant alternative to the usual holiday beverage offerings. Wrap it "to go" with cinnamon stick stirrers tied in its topknot ribbon. Your choice of containers (and sharing the delectable recipes that fill them) can also "personalize your presents". This warming apricot beverage, for example, is attractively toteable in a quart glass nectar jar, an orange juice jug or an apothecarystyle decanter with a tight fitting top.

Food gifts are way at the top of many folks' "favorite presents" list. And, as anyone who's prepared them will tell you, it's a lovely way to catch the holiday spirit - and wrap it "to go"!

Fruit Nectar Jelly

Use your favorite nectar flavor: apricot, banana, guava, mango, peach, pear or strawberry.

Made with powdered fruit pectin:

2 cans (12 oz. each) of your favorite flavor Nectar

1 box (1-3/4 oz.) powdered fruit pectin

4-1/2 cups sugar Paraffin, melted

1 cup water

Combine nectar and water in a 6-8 quart saucepot. Add fruit pectin, mix well. Bring to a full boil over high heat, stirring constantly. Add sugar, continue stirring, bringing mixture to a full rolling boil. Continue to boil 1 minute. stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Skim foam with large metal spoon. Immediately ladle into hot glasses or jars, leaving 1/2-inch space at top of glasses, 1/8-inch for jars. With damp cloth, wipe any spills from inner sides of glasses, rims or threads of jars. Quickly seal glasses by spooning hot paraffin completely over hot jelly surface; prick air bubbles. Seal jars by covering with hot lids; screw bands on firmly. Let stand to cool. Serve up pasties for a warm lunch, light dinner

Many food experts have attempted to define and explain what constitutes an American dish, but there is no single

Several well-known regional cuisines includes Southwestern, Cajun or California. Basically, each region's cooking is influenced by the immigrants and/or ethnic groups that settle in the region.

Northern Michigan boasts a small regional ethnic group -- Cornish mine workers. They brought the increasingly popular 'pasty' to America in the mid-19th Century.

Pasties (pass-tees) are a seasoned meat and vegetable pie. The hot pasty originated as a lunchtime staple of Cornish miners living in northern Michigan because it could be wrapped tightly in the morning, easily carried to work and still provided a warm, filling meal at midday.

Today, pasties make a satisfying, take-along lunch or an informal evening meal. Prepare them the night before or on a leisurely weekend. For a unique adaption, enclose the filling in a Two-Herb Pastry. It contains a seasoning of basil and thyme right in the pastry. Keep the dough refrigerated until the pasties are ready to assemble.

The key to a well-made pasty is the proper wrapping of the dough around the filling. For the best results, the filling should be cool. Place about one cup of the filling in the center of a 9-inch pastry circle. Bring two sides together over the pastry and press the edges together to form a seam down the center. For a fancier and more decorative seam, crimp to form a rope-like edge.

When complete, a pasty makes a complete meal including bread, meat and vegetables. Serve it piping hot from the oven with a mixed green

Prepare Two-Herb Pastry (see below). Brown beef in 1 thsp. oil in large frying pan over medium-high heat. Remove beef and season with salt and pepper; reserve. Add remaining 1 tbsp. oil to frying pan. Gradually add flour to make a roux, stirring constantly. Cook and stir over medium heat 2 to 3 minutes or until light brown. Gradually add water and whisk until smooth. Return beef to pan and reduce heat to low. Cover tightly and cook slowly 45 minutes, adding the potatoes, carrots, onions and turnips the last 20 minutes. Cook until beef is tender and vegetables are tender-crisp. Cool.

Meanwhile divide pastry into 4 balls. Roll each portion out on lightly floured surface into a 9-inch circle. Place ¼ of the beef filling in center of each circle. Fold one side of pastry up over filling; then fold up the other side and press edges together forming a seam down the center. With your fingers, crimp the seam into a decorative rope edge. Repeat procedure 3 times. Place pasties on ungreased baking sheet. Brush tops with egg. Bake in preheated 400 degree (hot) oven 25 to 30 minutes. Yield: 4

If you are one of many who prepare meals in college dormitories, efficiency apartments or mobile homes, you are no doubt aware of the limitations of "kitchenless

But a small food preparation area doesn't have to hinder the culinary experience.

The versatile toaster oven, which allows a wide variety of recipe preparations, is a basic for solving the kitchen-less dilemma. Below are suggested ways the toaster oven can do the job of several appliances.

 Bake: Remember that a toaster oven is a real oven. There's no need to give up roast poultry or beef because these foods won't fit. Just think small!

Substitute Cornish hen or rolled turkey breast for turkey or chicken. Or instead of a large rump roast, prepare a small eye round. • Broil: Most toaster ovens can broil fish, kabobs or flank steak, for example. The see-through window allows you to monitor the progress of the broiled food without opening the door to slow cooking time.

• Top-Brown: This technique is ideal for preparing "cheesy" delights like cheddar-topped baked potatoes, English muffin pizzas with mozzarella and open-faced tuna sandwiches with melted American cheese. Top-browning can turn any cold snack into a hot meal in seconds.

. Toast: Toast is much more than a break-fast food. Next time you prepare a dish such as creamed chicken or seafood Newburgh, substitute pumpernickle, rye, whole wheat or white toast for rice. The 'all-in-one' appliance not only makes cooking easy, it makes clean-up a breeze, too.

Spice up holiday parties with Mexican flavors

During the busy holiday season, convival cocktail parties are a favored form of entertaining. Ideally suited to our love of snacks and informality, they offer the opportunity to host a large group without long hours in the kitchen.

To set the stage for merry making, a selection of libations and an appealing array of "finger foods" are all that is needed. Cocktail go-withs need not be extravagant or complicated, but to be memorable they should be imaginative, enticing and easy to eat.

One sure way to spice up party fare is to add south-of-the-border flavor. Everybody loves Mexican food, and appetizers boasting these festive flavors are sure to disappear quickly.

Chicken Flautas Appetizers are corn tortilla "flutes" filled with a zesty mixpicante sauce streamlining the way to authentic Mexican flavor. Choose mild, medium or hot picante sauce, as you prefer, for the filling and as a dip. Assemble these satisfying snacks an hour or two before the party if it's more con-

Store them uncovered in the refrigerator, ready to pop into the oven as the first guests arrive. Guacamole may be made up to an hour in advance. Press plastic wrap directly onto its surface to prevent discoloration, and refrigerate until serving time.

Served warm from the oven or microwave oven, Hot 'N Spicy Shrimp Dip is sure to please any holiday crowd. Teaming shrimp and two cheeses with artichoke hearts and the garden-fresh flavor of picante sauce, this extraordi-

ture of chicken, cheese and onion, with nary dip invites a wide range of dippers. Surround it with a colorful complement of interesting veggies and crispy chips or crackers

Sandwich wreath serves as appetizer, centerpiece

This holiday sandwich wreath is as delightful to the eye as it is to the palate and can therefore double as an attractive centerpiece as well as a scrumptious appetizer. Just place the mini sandwiches upright in a circle and add a bright satin bow for the festive finishing touch.

HOLIDAY SANDWICH WREATH

Deviled spread: l can (4 % oz.) deviled ham

1/4 cup finely chopped celery 1/2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce 20 party bread slices, pumpernickel softened butter or margarine

Chicken apple bread:

1 can (4% oz.) chicken spread 1/4 cup finely chopped apple 1 Tbsp. sour cream 20 party bread slices, rye softened butter or margarine

Creamy pate spread:

1/4 lb. liverwurst

3 oz. cream cheese 2 Thsp. finely chopped scallions

20 party bread slices, Dijon rye

softened butter or margarine

Combine first three ingredients of each recipe. Spread bread lightly with softened butter. Spread half bread slices with meat spread mixture; close sandwiches with remaining slices. Each recipe makes 10 sandwiches. To form wreath, arrange sandwiches, on edge, on a large, round platter to form a circle. Decorate with a ribbon bow, or garnish with holly or parsley and raw cranberries. Wreath contains 30 small sandwiches.

THOSE inveterate bridge players, who meet Thursday afternoons at the Plymouth Community Center, don't take the game lightly. Sometimes they are displaced by events such as Thanksgiving and the Symphony League Antique Mart during the Fall Festival. Heavy snowfalls and sleet storms have been known to keep them at home.

But on any Thursday afternoon, enough of the faithful show up for several tables of party bridge. Chuck Skene, recreation director for the city of Plymouth, says they are special, one of his favorite groups. Chuck always is a guest of honor at the bridge players' annual harvest luncheon.

Each November, they postpone the cards for a catered buffet luncheon and a social afternoon. This year 51 members attended the Thursday, Nov. 14, luncheon.

Special guests were Margaret Swartz Hall and her husband, Edward. Margaret was founder and original director of the bridge

Jo Fountain at the piano led the singalong, maintaining a tradition that began back when the harvest luncheon was a Christmas luncheon. The group presented a check for $100 to Chuck in support of the Special Olympics Program at the Directors of the group are Luella Cook, Wanda and Walter Hoops, Dorothy and Boyd Shaffer, and Evelyn Beck and Judy Guideau, cotreasurers.

The next Thursday, they were back to the business of playing bridge, with a turnout of 35. Frances Lacombe came in first with 5,710 points. Carl Peters was a close second with 5,570.

DECORATING the community for the holiday season must be a cold-fingered chore for members of DPW staff. Just want you to know your efforts are appreciated. A thoughtful note from Carol Roddy expressed the feelings of residents as well as visitors:

"Today I took a walk through Plymouth. With all the Christmas decorations in place now, it certainly looked beautiful. The manger scene in lifelike figures made me stop and ponder the message sent through that baby almost 2,000 years ago.

"Do we take time in this lovely town, state and country to appreciate the freedoms we have? I am grateful to live in an area where families are still caring and God-

Those were the thoughts of Carol, who took the time to ponder. Even a harried shopper - with a gift list that seems a mile long must look at the lights and the holly wreaths with revived holiday spirit.

TRUDY SIEWART, a Plymouth resident for 15, made her Michigan debut as a dancer Saturday night. She performed with the musical duo, Heartsong, in First Unitarian Church in Ann Arbor.

Trudy has very little formal dance training in dance, although she said she has had a passion for dance for as long as she can remember. She always found time to dance although she was involved in the health food business and working as an audio technician. But she never danced professionally. This past June, she decided to devote her full attention to dance. since making that decision, she has performed in Chicago, Virginia Beach, at the National Speakers Association Convention in Washington, D.C., and at the Human Unity Conference in Hawaii.

She describes her distinctive style of dancing as a blend of ancient and traditional dance form which add up to a "universal dance style." Her audiences say she is a

To the touch, marquetry is as smooth as glass. But the woods give it a textured look.

Marquetry older than the pyramids

By Elinor Graham staff writer

Lyle Sweet of Plymouth will be among the 75 artists and crafts eople at this weekend's show and sale at the Plymouth Cultural Center. His hobby and specialty is marquetry, an art that dates

Marquetry is a ancient method of decorating wood surfaces with colorful, thin woods. The Egyptians left paintings on the walls and ceilings of tombs within the pyramids that revealed marquetry methodology. The paintings tell exactly how to saw and glue the woods. They also left boxes and furniture enriched with designs in wood, gems and precious metals.

Marquetry now is defined as assembling cut pieces of exotic woods - veneers - into a single sheet design, then gluing it on a

The practice of marquetry has become a land during the past 20 years. The art has flourished in America since the founding of the Marquetry Society of America in 1972.

SWEET WORKS with more than 50 exotic wood veneers and his scenes are framed in black walnut.

He counted 23 woods in his study of a candy shop. Among them were harewood from England, pearwood from Europe, purple heart from British Guiana, lacewood from Australia, padouk from India, mahogany from Honduras and holly from United States.

He knows them all. "The boy's pants and hat are black walnut," he said, taking a closer look at his handiwork, "and girl's dress is purple heart."

For the pre-Christmas show at the Cultural Center, he will include tree ornaments - stars in two kinds of wood, and bears. The work is minute and exacting and he says he cannot consider his time when it comes to pricing his work. He does know he spent more than 800 hours on "The Old Curiosity Shop," one of his favor-

Sweet, a retiree, has been doing marquetry for five years. Until then, he was a wood carver.

AS LYLE SWEET and his wife, Jane, wrapped and packed his works for the show, both had favorites they hoped no one would

"We were in Sorrento, Italy and everyone in the town was doing marquetry. They weren't like these. They were manufacturing them; it was a commercial enterprise," said Jane Sweet.

Sweet's works range from small pieces, a sail boat or a perfect rose, to the larger paintings in wood. They range in price from $5 for a tree ornament, to $18 for a small "picture," to $800 and more

The woods have their own color and texture. He uses zebrano from Africa for water and it looks exactly like water. The rosewoods come from Brazil, India and Honduras. There is French walnut and native walnut, African cherry and local cherry.

THE EXOTIC woods and their countries of origin have the fascination of faraway places.

Yet the native North American woods have their own beauty. Sweet uses ash, aspen, beech, poplar, birch, butternut, cedar, pecan, holly, white and birds eye maple, oak, Idaho pine, gumwood and sycamore.

He will have a wide selection of his marquetry at the three-day arts and crafts show this weekend at the Cultural Center, 525 Farmer Street.

Other skilled artisans from Canton Township and Plymouth will be in the show sponsored by the Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department.

They are: Rita Cleaver, soft sculpture; Sherri Tutor, ornaments; Lorraine Justice, silk and dried flowers; Pat Armstrong, ceramics; Kathleen Piontek, silk flowers; and Ruth Risdale, ceramics.

Mercy-Salem switch roles in regional

BILL BRESLER/staff photographe

Laura Clifford (with basketball) and Dena Head (No. 43) have made rebounding against Plymouth Salem mighty difficult this season.

By Chris McCosky staff writer

How's this for a change of pace?

"To be playing Plymouth Salem this early in the tournament is a pretty sobering thought," said Farmington Hills Mercy basketball coach Larry

Two years ago one might have heard a similar utterance from Salem coach Fred Thomann.

Mercy and Salem, no strangers to each other in the post-season arena, appear to have exchanged roles for Tuesday night's Class A regional tournament clash (6 p.m. at Salem).

In past campaigns, Salem has been the serious underdog in matches with the Marlins. In 1983, the two met in the quarterfinals and Mercy prevailed 37-25. Last year, the two met again in the quarterfinals — again Mercy won, this time in overtime, 49-45.

SO WHY is this year different? Because of what transpired on Oct. 1. On that night Mercy got shanghaied at Salem, 43-38. It was a convincing victory, one that has lingered in the back of Larry Baker's mind.

"We will be entering Tuesday night's game at virtually every disadvantage," said Baker. "They beat us earlier this year, dispelling any doubt in their mind that it could be done. They have improved greatly since then. They have gotten into their roles far better than we have. And, you have the constant factor of having a great coach, great support and momentum from their league and district championships.

We feel we're in a position to be fed to the lions, but we'll give it a shot."

That's startling stuff coming from the coach of the winningest girls basketball program in this area over the past decade, a coach whose basketball program has made it to the state finals the last three years, and whose team posted a respectable 16-5 record this

Thomann isn't sold on the role of overwhelming favorite.

"All that win early in the year did was give us some credibility in the state," he said. "It was a great game for us. We had opened the season with a pair of losses to state-ranked teams. You don't like to go 0-3 against that type of competition.

"THAT GAME has no effect on Tuesday. Now it's a situation where it's our best against their best and whoever executes wins. You can't say that we are going to win because we beat them last time. That would be like us saying, 'OK, we lost to Plymouth Canton the first time so no way can we beat them."

Each team has a different look about them since that Oct. 1 meeting.

For Salem (19-3), super sophomore Dena Head remains the key weapon. But she has become much more a factor offensively since Thomann inserted senior Julie Tortora at point guard. In the eight games since the switch, Head has averaged better than 18 points per Jessica Handley remains the team's perimeter sharpshooter and zone buster. Kristen Hostynski, Keri McBride and Laura Clifford have been consistent contributors defensively and on the boards. Off the bench, Stacy Sovine, Leslie Plichta and Suzie Balconi have given the Rocks quality minutes.

The strength of the team remains its defense. The Rocks' man-to-man defense suffocated its foes in the Western Lakes and it suffocated Mercy Oct. 1.

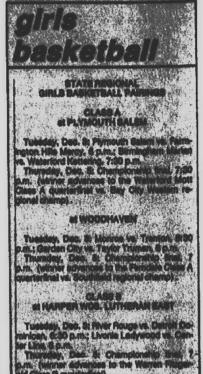

In 22 games, Salem has allowed an average of less than 30 points per game (29.95). The Rocks have kept their opponents under 30 points 14 times. Besides Ladywood, who scored 61 against Salem in the season opener, only two teams have scored more than 40 points.

OFFENSE HAS been the achilles heel of the Marlins this season. But, in recent outings, the Mercy scoring machine has begun to roll. Missy Duczynski and Yvette Maison have emerged as the key offensive players for Mercy. Duczynski, headed for Central Michigan University next fall, has been the team's most consistent scorer. Maison is the team's floor leader. Her job, one that has become increasingly critical for the Marlins, is to read the defenses and keep the offense flowing.

Other key components for Mercy include senior guard Michelle Fryatt, a gritty player with ferocious defensive skills and a potentially dangerous jump shot; Terri Nalodka, a strong inside player; and Terri Ford.

Ford, an All-Area player as a junior last year, may or may not play Tuesday. She injured her ankle in practice prior to the district tournament opener. Baker said her cast would be removed Friday and he would monitor her progress from that point on.

Margaret DeMattia did a good job filling in for Ford in the two district games. Mercy has also gotten solid play off the bench from Jan Her-

WHILE THE chemistry is different, one thing remains intact: the Mercy press. In the district championship game, the Marlins threw a variety of presses and traps against North Farmington, each disrupted the Raider attack. The press may be Mercy's most dangerous weapon. The winner of Tuesday night's game will play the winner between Birming-ham Marian (12-10) and Waterford Kettering (22-0) at 7:30 p.m. Thursday. Marian and Kettering will battle Tues-day after the Salem-Mercy game.

The regional champion will advance to quarterfinals, the final stop prior to Kalamazoo, at Waterford Mott against the winner of the Bay City Western re-gional (which is likely to be the state's No. 1 team, Flint Northwestern).

Plymouth Salem is on Joy Road, just west of Canton Center.

Wendt persists at EMU

By Chris McCosky staff writer

The shadow that has engulfed Ron Wendt for the better part of his athletic life is moving away

Ron Wendt, 1982 Redford Catholic Central graduate, is the least visible member of a very visible athletic

The elder Wendt, Art, was a standout baseball player in the semipro ranks. Art Wendt Jr. played basketball and baseball at Livonia Stevenson. Greg Wendt, the most visible of all the Wendts, is a headliner with the University of Detroit basketball

Even the youngest Wendt, C.J., a senior at CC, has gotten considerable acclaim for his prowess on the soccer

THEN THERE'S Ron Wendt. At 6-5, coaches and friends at Catholic Central took for granted that Ron would follow in brother Greg's footsteps and play basketball. "Everyone kind of expected me to play basketball, but at that time, my coordination hadn't caught up with my size," he said. He was cut from the team as a sophomore, cut again as a senior. "I thought I was good enough to make the team my senior year, but you know how that goes," he said.

Ron Wendt set out to make a name for himself in football. By the time he was a senior at CC his weight had topped the 200-pound mark and, like all the Wendts, his physique was mus-

But Wendt was a seldom-used player in high school. To this day, he doesn't fully understand why.

"I played some on double tight end situations," he said. "There were some games I didn't play at all. I didn't think I was that bad."

Ron Wendt EMU tight end

IT IS his staunch belief in his own ability that has allowed Wendt to persevere through the arduous times.

"It has gone in phases," he said. "In high school a lot of people thought I'd be a good prospect, and I kind of didn't live up to expectations. And all through high school, all I heard was you're brother this, you're brother that.' Now I love to hear about my brother. It's kind of a joke now. Whenever I get my name in the paper it says, 'Ron Wendt, the younger brother of Greg Wendt.' It doesn't bother me

Ron Wendt has indeed etched out his own athletic identity. He is a major college football player, a good one, at Eastern Michigan University.

He wasn't recruited out of high school. He walked on and earned his scholarship — a feat few achieve at the Division I level.

"I contacted coach Bob LaPointe over the summer, and he told me to come out," Wendt said. "I was a preferred walk-on. I went into the practices all geeked-up, ready to work as hard as I could. I just tried to catch the coaches' eye as often as possible."

A week into camp, Wendt was offered a scholarship. From that day on, he has steadily chipped away at that pesky shadow. AFTER SITTING out his first year at Eastern as a red-shirted defensive lineman, he saw limited duty as an offensive lineman the next two years. He began this season as a secondstring lineman. Midway through,

Wendt approached head coach Jim "Coach, I think I can help the team more if I played tight end," he said.

Harkema, surprised by Wendt's request, said he'd have to think about it. Two weeks later, Wendt was the starting tight end. "I like tight end a lot more," Wendt said. "But, playing tackle wasn't as bad as I thought it would be, either.

I'll play wherever they need me." Wendt's response to his tight-end assignment was this: He caught 14 passes for 116 yards and two touchdowns (one in each of the last two games) and was a punishing blocker.

"My first couple games they didn't throw to me," he said. "Then against Central (Michigan University) I caught four. That got my confidence up. I knew I could catch the ball. Before, I was pretty nervous."

GUESS WHO Ron Wendt's No. 1 fan was during the season? Greg

"He came to everyone of my home games except one," Ron Wendt said. "We're really tight. We call each other all the time to find out how each other did. When I caught that first touchdown he was pretty excited."

Stebbins plays key role as Chippewas' tight end

staff writer

Bob Stebbins had a good football season, but it wasn't quite up to Bob Stebbins standards.

There is much more to accomplish for the 6-foot-4, 225-pound tight end from Central Michigan University.

The Livonia native tied teammate John Deboer for the team lead in receptions, catching 26 passes for 344 yards (13.2 per grab) and one touch-

"I was really pleased with the season," said the Franklin High School grad. "But I would have had 30 catches if I hadn't missed the last game.

Stebbins underwent surgery for a broken right thumb, suffered in practice four days prior to the season finale with Northern Illinois.

A broken left thumb caused the tight end to miss most of his freshman year, but the injury turned out to be a blessing in disguise because it en-abled Stebbins to red-shirt, giving him an extra year of eligibility.

Sitting out the Northern Illinois game, however, may have cost the CMU tight end a spot on the All-Mid-American Conference team.

"THERE WERE an awful lot of good tight ends in the league and sometimes they just go on stats," said CMU assistant coach Mike Poff. "But Bob caught the ball well and he's an exceptional blocker. He's very smart.

"And don't forget he's young. He's got two more years left." Central Michigan finished with a 7s record, but according to Stebbins, that wasn't good enough

Bob Stebbins

CMU tight end

"I'm looking forward to next year," he said. "We were three plays away from winning the title this year. We lost three games by a total of 13 points.

"We were decimated by injuries and went 7-3. We lost five or six key players and that's what hurt.'

Deboer, a senior split end rated highly by the pros, was among the casualties, missing the final three games with a knee injury.

"We lost All-MAC and All-American type players," said Stebbins. "I'm sure Deboer would have ended up with a lot more catches than 26."

WITH MAC CHAMP Bowling Green losing a number of big-name players to graduation, CMU could be the league's top contender next year along with Miami of Ohio. Both teams lose very little to graduation. We have the talent and we're always in the game," Stebbins said. "But we're not delivering in the clutch. We hope to make it happen next year. "I'll be disappointed if we don't win it (the MAC) in my five years. It was frustrating as a team this year. Four or five years in a row we've been coming close. We should have won it last year, and that was our year. (Toledo took the title).

"Nobody wants second or third, You get sick and tired of it."

CMU could have big plans next year for Stebbins. "I really hope to have a lot of catches and I hope to be a key part of the offense," he said. "I hope to work on my strength over the winter and summer so I can dominate people.

"NOT TO USE the old army slogan, but I want to be the best I can be. I'm going to work in the weight room and gain about 10 pounds."

Stebbins' biggest concern at the the moment, however, is getting through final exams. Sporting a 3.84 grade point average in business-finance, Stebbins was recently placed on the national ballot for the College Sports Information Directors of America Academic All-American team. That news came after he made the GTE

District IV squad.

"It's kind of tough when you can't write," Stebbins said. "Exams are going to be tough. I can type, but I can't even do that."

Stebbins will manage despite the handicap. His self-imposed standards won't let him slack off.

Miller stays upbeat at MSU

special writer

Has Farmington Harrison produced an invisible man?

Although John Miller, Harrison's two-time All-American football star, appears to have vanished into thin air in terms of playing time and publicity, he is still very much alive and doing well on the Michigan State University campus.

Miller, the state's first high school player to be named All-American two consecutive years, was a highly touted, highly publicized recruit for MSU head football coach George Perles after the 1984 prep season.

HE WAS given his high school jersey number, No. 44, and began the season as the second string safety behind Southfield's Paul Bobbitt.

He saw considerable duty against Iowa after Bobbitt went down with an injury. According to Perles' assessment, he performed well against the high powered Iowa offense, but his playing time dwindled considerably after that game

'It was exciting," Miller said of his playing time. "I expected just to learn my position this year because Bobbitt was in front of me.'

Dean Altobelli, a sophomore at MSU, moved ahead of Miller on the Spartan depth chart and played the majority of the time throughout Bobbitt's injury. Miller spent the remainder of the season as MSU's sixth defensive back and a member of the special teams.

Not being an instant star at the college level hasn't bothered Miller. "I expected this was how it was going to be," he said. "I prepared myself for the worst. I enjoy what I'm

"The experience I got this year will help me tremendously in the future."

THE LACK of playing time hasn't caused Miller to second-guess his decision to attend MSU, even though several of his friends have left the university (namely, former Harrison players Dave Blackmer and Bob Wasczenski).

'I love it here," he said. "I fit in more with the people up here and I love the atmosphere of the campus. I think that even if I hadn't been in football, I would have chosen State as my college

Miller may not yet be a household name in East Lansing, but few in Observerland have forgot his gridiron prowess: taking Harrison to the state championship in 1982, his 4,100-plus yards rushing, his punishing tackles and his uncanny maturity and leadership qualities.

He's just biding his time until he can have a similar impact on the Spartan

"I expect that by the time I graduate, MSU will be national champs," said Miller.

Tricia Alexander is a Farmington Hills native studying journalism

Time along the MSU bench hasn't soured John Miller's attitude nor his optimism this season.

S'craft takes 3rd in cage tourney

Shooting 72 percent from the floor in the second half, the Schoolcraft College men's basketball team captured third place in the Queen City Classic with a 99-95 triumph last week over Sinclair Community College of Dayton, Ohio.

The victory increased Schoolcraft's overall record to 8-2.

The Ocelots made 21 of 29 field goal attempts after shooting a dismal 38 percent in the first half.

Point-guard Clarence Jones was instrumental in the win.

The Detroit Southeastern product led Schoolcraft with 22 points, hitting 8 of 11 shots, to go along with five assists and three steals.

Jones coerced a Sinclair violation with only six seconds left, trading places on the lane with an opposing player, nullifying the potential tying free throws.

Plymouth Salem product Mike White, who scored 12 points and had five assists in the win, added a shot at the buzzer to give Schoolcraft the four-point victory.

WHITE was one of 11 Schoolcraft players scoring.

Using a revamped starting lineup, coach Rocky Watkins also got contributions from Frank Jones, 10 points and 13 rebounds; Dwight Pooler, 10 points; Harold Martin, 10 points; Ernie Ziegler and Brad Turner, nine points and 11 rebounds each.

Schoolcraft played in the consolation final of the Cincinnati tournament after losing to Cincinnati Tech. 85-64. The Ocelots won their firstround game against Clark Tech, 93-

Wendt makes name

It's ironic that Wendt's development has paralleled the team's development. EMU won just four football games in Wendt's first three seasons. The team won four games this season alone.

MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION

NOTICE PROPOSED IMPROVEMENTS TO US-12

CITY OF WAYNE AND CANTON TOWNSHIP

All interested parties are advised that the Michigan Department of Transportation is proposing to widen US-12 between Haggerty Road in Canton Township and the C & O railroad overpass in the city of Wayne, Wayne County.

The existing two lanes in each direction would be replaced with four 12-foot lanes, except between Lotx and Haggerty roads, where there would be only three through lanes in each direction. Most of the new pavement width would be through lanes and deceleration lanes for left turns would be added. Most of the existing two-way crossovers for left turns will be closed and replaced by eleven pairs of direction-al (one-way) crossovers at each of the major cross streets and traffic generators. The gravel shoulders will be replaced by curb and gutter and enclosed drainage. A combination sidewalk and bicycle path will be added,on the north side of the road. The project will be constructed on existing right-of-way, except for small triangular parcels to be purchased for clear-vision areas and curve radii at four intersections: US-12 and Haggerty, Lotx, Hannan, and John Hix roads. No relocation of homes or businesses will be required.

Under Federal and State Policy, any citizens who would be affected by the proposed project may request in writing, that a formal public hearing be held concerning the social, environmental and economic effects of this proposal.

As required by Federal regulations, an Environmental Assessment has been prepared. Studies and coordination for this project demonstrate that implementing the proposed action will not have a significant impact upon the quality of the environment. Copies of the Environmental Assessment for this project may be obtained from the addresses halow.

SPINAL DEGENERATION

WHEN YOUR SPINE IS INJURED IT BEGINS TO DEGENERATE.

Almost everyone has had at one point in their lives some strain, pull, fall or injury that involves their spine. These traumas cause your vertebrae to be altered from their normal position. This can happen without spinal pain. From that initial injury, your spine begins to degenerate as time passes. The spine goes through four phases of degeneration. These phases can be determined with x-ray and are picture below.

UNDER EACH PICTURE ARE THE LENGTH OF DEGENERATION & THE TIME REQUIRED FOR CORRECTION (EXAMPLE: PHASE II) 20-40 YEARS OF DEGENERATION, 11/2 to 21/2 YEARS TO CORRECT.

The only means of stopping the degeneration is to move the vertebrae back to their original position. This is done with chiropractic spinal adjustments. If the degeneration progresses to the latter phases, it may not be correctable. A simple x-ray can detect degeneration and chiropractic adjustments can halt and many times reverse the process. The adjustment technique Dr. Mashike uses is low force resulting in safe recovery without pain.

Don't neglect your spine, it's your lifeline.

Tidball Family Health Improved we first started with chiropractic care because of severe headaches I was having. My husband had pain between the shoulder blades which was a constant nag.

My husband and I progressed and in about a month we noticed a lot of improvement. I felt better in general, I also felt good because I wasn't taking any drugs, no side effects, sleepiness or a buzzy feeling that I got from the drugs.

Our children also have their spines checked. We want them to grow up without health problems. We definitely recommend chiropractic, it's the way to go.

Pastor & Mrs. Tidball & Family

My mother, a patient of Dr. Mashike's, took me to see him because I had many nosebleeds, leg cramps, headaches and I was always tired. I couldn't do the things I wanted to because it bothered me.

After 4 or 5 adjustments, I was not tired all the time, my headaches stopped and my nosebleeds went away. My leg cramps took a little longer to correct, about 1 month, but now they feel better.

Chiropractic makes me feel good and Dr. Mashike

Since I've been under chiropractic care and have followed Dr. Mashike's instructions completely, the pain in my right groin is better and I generally feel more pain-free.

I now understand the importance and value of maintenance-preventative chiropractic care. Don't wait for pain to bring you in.

Greenberg

Everything meshes in putting together film 'White Nights'

"White Nights" is a rich film, its wealth found in the work of talented actors, dancers, cinematographers, musicians and the di-

Noted Russian dancer Nikolai "Kolya" Rodchenko (Mikhail Baryshnikov) defected 10 years ago and is now an American citizen. As the film opens, he is on a British airline with his manager, Anne Wyatt (Geraldine Page). The plane develops electrical problems and force lands at a Russian military airfield in Siberia.

What greater nightmare could any defector imagine than literrally dropping from the air into KGB hands?

The KGB is deftly represented by Colonel Chaiko, played with slick, chilling and ominous sophistication by Jerzy Skolimowski, the Polish filmmaker, himself a refugee from East European op-

Under Taylor Hackford's ("An Officer and Gentleman, "Against All Odds") direction, Skolimowski characterizes Chaiko as a smooth and bloodless operator, far removed from the conventional representation of KGB officers as thugs from the provinces.

COLONEL CHAIKO'S mission is to convinced Kolya to dance again at the Kirov Ballet where he had starred prior to his defection and where Baryshnikov himself debuted in 1962. To complicate matters, Kolya's former lover, Galina Ivanova (Helen Mirren), is now in a managerial position at the Kirov

The Colonel uses her and an attractive, but unlikely couple, Raymond Greenwood (Gregory Hines) and his wife, Darya (Isabella Rossellini), a Russian translator, to reconvert Kolya to "Russianism." Greenwood is an American who defected to Russia to protest our Vietnam tragedy and the black experience in America. Now out of favor, he languishes in Siberian provincial theaters, where the long, maddening Arctic nights give the film its title and a touch of repressive, KGB insanity.

Mr. and Mrs. Greenwood are set to work as watchdog/companions to convince Kolya he must perform. The rehearsal-hall dance sequences with Hines and Barysnikov are superb. Baryshnikov needs no introduction as a premier ballet dancer. "White Nights" should insure his reputation as a modern jazz dancer and as an Hines performance, equally, is worth the price of admission, as he dances both solo and with Baryshnikov. In particular, while still ber explaining why ran/tan nur he, a black, defected. It is a significant expression of the despair blacks suffer and an excellent, expressive performance.

Amidst all these accomplished performances, Isabelia Rossellini stands out for her talented acting and for a nostalgic evocation of her mother, Ingrid Bergman. Although her role is overshadowed by the scope of the other characters, she manages, in a supporting role, to shine with the best spirit of humanity as the loving wife,

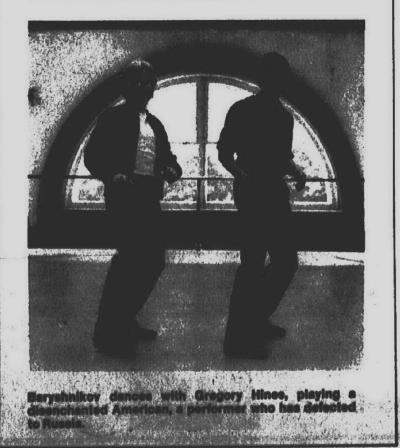

DIRECTOR OF Photography David Watkin ("Return to Oz," "Yentl," "Chariots of Fire") filmed rich, well-planned compositions on location in Finland, Portugal and Scotland.

The Finnish locales accurately represent Russian sites obviously out of bounds to Western film makers. The slightly diffused, softened images have an artistic quality associated with the greater density of European composition, much richer than the more pragmatic American image.

The film is an interesting political statement, released in time for the Geneva summit. "White Nights" effectively emphasizes recent agitation to free Russian refuseniks and political prisoners Sarkhov, Scharnsky, Nudel and others.

Add to all this an excellent music score by Michel Colombier. choreography by Twyla Tharp, Hackford's well-paced direction and the sum is a treasure chest of visual and aural treats.

Some gift packages have sparkle

This is the first of at least two columns that offer holiday gift suggestions. It is written before gift boxes and other gift paraphernalia packages have been released. Next column will focus on those. There are reportedly many coming out this year.

This reports some attractive releases that are out of the ordinary, that offer good value and that are attractively packaged. Your recipient will probably not know these wines, always an attribute in the gift-giving marathon to which we all seem to succumb each year about now.

Beginning with sparkling wine suggestions (what else?), there are some fine selections to be had. For $10 there is a French sparkler in a gift box with two flute glasses called Chantaine Brut. An attractive wine and the glasses, while a bit thick, are pleasantly shaped.

From Touraine there is a bottle under the J.M. Rose label, a Brut, that should sell for about $8 and looks like a great deal more. Finally, an old favorite is still around, Gratien Brut, a beauty at $10. All three of these French sparklers are quality wines that look good as well. Throw in the two glasses with the first and you're a winner.

STAYING WITH French wines (though prices on these are going up), there is a lovely Burgundy that is remarkably inexpensive at $5. This is a Jabolet-Vercherre issue called Bourgogne Pinot Noir 1983.

Inquiries into French white wines among several people in the trade brought an almost universal recommendation of Chablis. "Any Chablis. We won't see prices on Chablis like this again until the economy turns another circle, if even then," said Dennis Walsh of the Red Wagon Wine Shoppe (yes, they do spell it that way).

As an example, he pointed to a Grand Cru Valmur, an excellent wine, and said that it will easily cost $15-$18 soon. It is now available for $10, a joy for the lover of steely, crisp chardonnay. The California chardonnays recommended below are all more money and, of course, represent a dramatically different concept of wine style.

For the person who appreciates the supple, opulent tastes of German wines there is a Burklin-Wolf 1983 Forster Mariengarten Riesling Spatlese worth much more than its $6.50 price tag. The label is most impressive and wholly Germanic in design, the pedigree of the wine sound.

EXPRESS

wine Richard Watson

A caveat should be appended to purchases of some other wines from this land of the VW. Beware of anything called "Liebfraumilch," a historically famous name but one used too frequently to market some most inferior white wine blends.

One should purchase these no more than one would a vin du pays from France as a holiday gift, nor a Chablis from California. And the gift sets with colored glasses are as much to be avoided as are all German wines in earthenware bottles. Ugh! :

GIVING AND receiving wines from California involves, increasingly and sadly (though not necessarily), spending $15-$30 a bottle to come up with a truly distinguished selection. Our increasingly weakening dollar raises the cost of imports and may in turn encourage California winemakers to do the same as we move into the new year.
