New land-use proposal explored

By Doug Funke staff writer

Plymouth Township planning officials are trying to nip a potential land use controversy in the bud with some preventive medicine.

Residents of the LakePointe Subdivision, Planning Director James Anulewicz and the planning commission met last week to discuss likely patterns of development on about 80 acres of vacant land in the northeast corner of the township.

The land (bounded by M-14, I-275, Haggerty and 5 Mile Road) is presently zoned residential. LakePointe is due west of the site.

Soaring land costs and construction of the two freeways now make residential development there extremely unlikely, Anulewicz said. Commercial development, specifically offices, is a much more likely occurrence, he add-

"IF WE FEEL there are differences with projected land use, maybe we should analyze alternatives with residents of the area so they have full input," he said.

"Then, we can at least modify the future land use plan so developers are put on notice that the community is ready to move in a direction and they are put on notice, 'Here are major con- said, but no specific proposals.

I firmly believe homeowners and landowners in the area can add a great deal to analysis," Anulewicz said. "If it's done before all the pressures, I believe we can all benefit - the community in general, future developers and residents in an area.

Many general inquiries have been received about the 80 acres, Anulewicz

"I cannot speak for the totality of LakePointe. People at the meeting, I would think, given a preference, would prefer single family residential but at the meeting they didn't express major objection to the analysis," he said.

LOCAL PLANNING officials would prefer a consolidation of parcels and larger projects on the 80-acre site rather than many smaller projects, Anulewicz said.

"We are unique in our responsiveness to students' needs, in offering over 50 career-oriented majors for men and women, in providing a barrier-free

Brohl's background would seem to be well suited to his current job.

He has studied in a seminary, toiled as a minor league baseball player and worked in the customer relations department at Ford Motor Co. He's sold insurance and sung for his supper.

BROHL, 40, has earned a bachelor of arts degree in radio and TV broadcasting from Wayne State University and a master of business administration from ing of mission to try to help people who want to further their education.

The mission isn't always an easy one, Brohl concedes. "This part of Michigan does have a lot of colleges," he said. "Certainly the student has a lot of choices and that's good for students.

"Our whole marketing thrust would be to set up programs and systems and communications to identify, segment and attract students who would most benefit from the education we offer."

And what exactly would that be? "A value-centered, strong liberal arts component as well as career preparation, all offered in a supportive atmosphere," he said.

Madonna, a private college with traditional age students. A lot of adults about 3,900 students, doesn't automatically admit everyone who applies.

"THE COLLEGE is selective with different levels of selectivity," Brohl said. "A basic student has to have at least a 2.5 grade point average from high school.

"The shrinking pool of students is sending chills up and down many of my colleagues. Since the 1970s, Madonna has had a very large component of nonare returning to school. People are doing this for professional reasons or career advancement."

Madonna, isn't for everyone, though, Brohl said.

"I always try to put students' needs first. There have been incidents where I felt students may best be served by other schools. You always have to be honest and up front with people."

Brohl started working as admissions director at Madonna in 1975. He and wife Rose have a daughter, Natalie.

Code violations lead to transfer of some inmates

As many as 125 inmates at the Western Wayne Correctional Facility that needed repairs can be completed (WWCF) in Plymouth Township will be transferred to other state prisons temporarily while fire code violations are corrected, said Warden Emmett Bay-

Installation of sprinklers and alarms in a cellblock were required following an inspection by the state fire marshal.

Inmates who are transferred will be moved to Jackson, Coldwater and perhaps Ionia, Baylor said. They were expected to be moved between last Thursday and this Friday.

"Some guys that leave may not be the same guys brought back. Others may be taking their place," Baylor

THE WARDEN said he's hopeful within eight weeks. Meanwhile, about 350 inmates will remain at WWCF.

WWCF, formerly the Detroit House of Correction, is classified as a medium-security prison. It reopened as a state prison last August.

Baylor also reported that seven of eight inmates who escaped from the prison in two separate incidents last fall have now been caught. The most recent apprehension occurred in New

Also still at large is a inmate who last month drove away from the prison site in a dump truck, Baylor said.

New source of funding studied for financing Haggerty paving

By Diane Gale staff writer

More funding options are being considered by the group of Canton residents determined to have Haggerty between Cherry Hill and Palmer paved.

Most recently Federal Aid to Urban Systems (FAUS) money allocated to counties is being eyed. A task force, composed of representatives from cities, decides how the money will be allocated. Townships are represented by Wayne County and have one vote collectively.

FAUS money already has been earmarked for 1986, so federal funding for the project is out of the question this year. If approved for 1987 projects FAUS would cover 75 percent of construction costs and Canton would pay 25 percent. However, FAUS funding could be cut in 1987, warns Jim Meyers, Wayne County Office of Public Services director.

HAGGERTY IS a county road but the county maintains it is unable to pay for paving projects.

In an effort to build better public relations, however, the county has been flexible with specification require-

Meyers said during 1985 his office fielded 25 to 30 calls from residents demanding to have Haggerty paved, which he considered a hefty public response. The county agreed last fall to allow a less-expensive paving plan than previously cited.

Originally Haggerty was required to be paved under Class A requirements - suitable for large trucks and heavy traffic. Paving the Haggerty stretch "I would not want to convey the im- with Class A specifications would cost pression that it's a sure thing because I about $1.5 million. The county agreed to allow Class B paving, which would cost about $500,000.

Some Canton Township Board trustees have opposed the lower classification citing increased future maintenance costs. They also said it would be unsuitable for high traffic volume as a main artery for I-275. The board has not yet voted on a Class B paving pro-

"I think it would be a whale of a deal for Canton Township if we received those monies and go with the Class A paving," said Trustee Bob Padget citing long-term problems with Class B

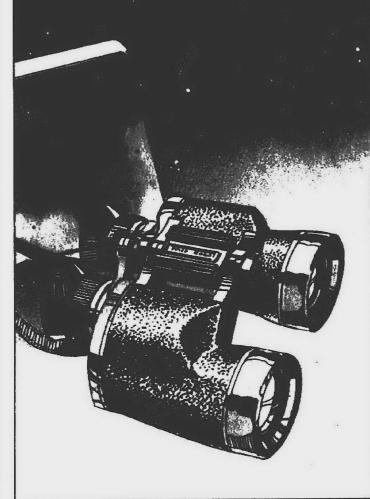

Whether paving Haggerty with Class specifications will be approved for FAUS money hinges on how much money Wayne County receives from the state, Meyers said.

FAUS funds are commonly used for repairing roads instead of for construction. About 30 projects are approved annually for FAUS funds, Meyers said, and most cost around $500,000 each.

"Haggerty is a high priority because it's a heavily travelled road, and traffic is increasing dramatically," Meyers said. "There are other roads in the county that are more severe. I understand the problems in Canton. It's a rapidly growing township, and it really needs attention. Projects are a function of the amount of money available."

Mack is optimistic Haggerty will be approved for FAUS funds in 1987.

'I think there is enough of a possibility that the county would agree to pave Class A with Canton participating to make it worthwhile for me to work closely with the office of Public Service to attempt to persuade them to include it the 1987 budget," Mack said.

Wayne County Commissioners are supporting the Michigan State Police's effort to fight eviction from Metropolitan Airport.

Last week, commissioners gave preliminary approval to an ordinance intended to assure the presence of the state police's four-person detail in a terminal at the airport.

But County Executive William Lucas said he will veto the ordinance after it returns for a final reading before commissioners in two weeks, according to a Lucas aide. Lucas wants to evict the State Police from the airport terminal building.

The commission's action pleased state police, who say it could boost their standing in an upcoming court hearing over the eviction.

"IT IS HIS opinion that the Board of Commissioners doesn't have a right to manage," said Lucas spokesman Mike Conway. "The commissioners are Lucas notified the state police 11 months ago of the change in their 25-year status at the airport but recently sent an eviction notice effective March 12. The action prompted the State Police to request a show-cause court hearing, scheduled next month on the same day as the eviction deadline.

State Police Director Gerald Hough said he will not take steps to vacate the property before that

According to Conway, Lucas' intention is to remove the State Police from the airport terminal and move them, instead, to other quarters inside the Middlebelt Road office of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

'If there is a terrorist attack, or the governor declares a state emergency, then I'd have the authority there.' - Col. Gerald Hough state police director

The space inside the airport terminal is needed to create more room for expansion by Northwest Airlines, which has been "waiting patiently" for the space, he said.

Also being moved is the Sheriff Department's 77deputy detail, chiefly a patrol squad, to the Middlebelt Road site from an annex at the airport.

BUT HOUGH said that arrangement won't work for his plainclothes officers.

He said the officers - who handle such matters as fraud involving credit cards and airline ticket purchases, keeping an eye on narcotic dealers, and protecting visiting dignitaries - need immediate access to the airport terminal in case of emergencies. They are undercover officers, who now are able to travel by foot through the terminals. They also have training in terrorist attacks and disaster

"Our ability to respond would be greatly decreased," he told commissioners last Thursday.
"My position is that the State Police should maintain a presence in the state's major airport. If there is a terrorist attack, or the governor declares a state

LAST WEEK'S commission discussion on the ordinance led to similar concern over work performed there by the the Wayne County Sheriff's deputies, who unlike the small trooper detail maintain around-the-clock shifts,

Their roles are different — troopers serve more like detectives while the deputies have chiefly pa-

Deputies' union president Don Cox said his deputies also would like their presence at the airport assured, though the union reportedly is not opposed to changing their command base.

"We would like to be included in the ordinance; we've lost 53 deputies (from there) in the past," he

An attempt by Commissioner Mary Dumas, R-Livonia, to include an amendment that would insure their location on the airport grounds failed.

However, an amendment by Commission Chairman John Hertel, D-Harper Woods, that would insure "no reduction" of deputies' duties at the airport was supported.

Lucas to launch gubernatorial bid at 4 state sites Wednesday

Wayne County Executive William Lucas will launch his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor on Wednesday during a four-city plane hopping run across lower Michigan.

Lucas has chartered a plane to carry himself, close supporters and about 25 media representatives from Detroit to Freeland, Grand Rapids and Lansing and back to Detroit - to make his formal announcement, said campaign manager Mari Patter-

In Detroit, his announcement will be made at 9:30 a.m. in the Westin Hotel in the Renaissance Center.

He will then move on to City Airport in Freeland, Kent County GOP headquarters in Grand Rapids, and the steps of the State Capitol Building in Lansing. He will return that evening to Detroit and end the day at Little Rock Baptist Church in Detroit.

The announcement, scheduled purposefully on President Abraham Lincoln's national birthday observance, follows a Tuesday night kick-off fund-raiser at Detroit's Cobo Hall. There will be a $500-aticket reception and a $125-a-ticket general reception there. About 750 persons are expected, Patter-

Radtke tells of life as a congressional aide

Radtke stresses that all who write or call to voice opinions on U.S. government issues are truly heard, saying correspondence is passed on to Pursell. The northwest Detroit native became interested in politics when an old friend from high school, Jack McDonald, ran for Redford Township supervisor in 1960. Radtke worked on his winning campaign. Her interest in politics grew in 1963, while taking a required political science course at Schoolcraft Col-

She wouldn't return to college for 10 years, content to raise a family in Livonia. Still, her thoughts sometimes re-turned to politics. "My husband (she's divorced now) was self-employed. I sat down to do his books and I saw how much he was paying in taxes," she said.

WITH HER children grown, Radtke in 1973 returned to college, the University of Michigan-Dearborn, as a politient laws were enforced, we wouldn't college, I worked as an intern in Carl's need that." was coordinator of his 1974 state Senate campaign. Then when he decided to go for Congress, I coordinated that campaign."

Radtke moved to Plymouth in the late 1970s but continued to work in Pursell's Livonia office until redristricting in 1982 forced an office move to Plymouth.

Radtke contrasts campaigning methods between a small town like Plymouth and more populus Livonia. "In Plymouth, there's only 5,000 registered voters; you can go door to door," she said. She said this is more personable than than mass mailings and other more time-consuming campaign work necessary in larger urban areas.

Radtke says campaigns were more fun to work on in the past. "One thing that has really changed in campaigns they've become more automated than they were. You used to use volun-teers to stuff mail." While mailing houses do that job faster today, she helping to organize a Republican Wommisses the campaign spirit generated by many volunteers working together.

RADTKE, WHO enjoys gardening and embroidery, has been active in community groups over the years. Currently, she's working with Project Self-Sufficiency under the Livonia Housing Commission. 'It's a federal program to train people to be self-sufficient,' she explains. Radtke also is working with the Livonia 2000 planning project orga-nized through the mayor's office, and is mands are out of this world."

While Radtke says her three children sometimes express strong opinions on issues, none are politically active like their mother. "I have seen some politi-cal kids. They're either really into it or really away from it."

Hall of Fame nominees eyed

By W.W. Edgar staff writer

The Plymouth Hall of Fame Committee, at work for a few weeks, still is undecided on the number of outstanding citizens to be installed on June 3.

Thus far 10 candidates have been nominated and the review continues. It is expected that about three will be honored this year with induction in the Plymouth Hall of Fame, a project of the Plymouth Kiwanis Club. In the six years the Hall of Fame has been in existence, 10 have been hon-

Among the candidates considered this year is the late Frank Henderson, an ardent sports fan and former owner of Plymouth Plating Co. at Amelia and Farmer in the City of Plymouth.

After Henderson died the plant was and Northville was at its height. The moved to Joy Road east of Lilley in corner was kept in his office. Plymouth Township.

One of the historic items that was not taken along with the move is a cap owned by one of the original sponsors

Henderson used to like to show people, or tell them about, an outfield corwhen the rivalry between Plymouth would be short.

He always had season tickets to see the Detroit Tigers play and when the Silverdome opened in Pontiac, he took an interest in the Lions.

Another of his favorites was the theater. He thought nothing of flying into New York on a Saturday morning to see one of the shows he liked and then return home to await another trip in another week. He was active in the Rotary Club of Plymouth as a past president and past district governor.

As a Rotarian he often was asked to give the invocation. When it was his turn, Henderson would be asked if he were hungry. If the answer was yes, ner of the original baseball diamond Rotarians would know the prayer

Chuhran responds to J.R. Donahue

This is in response to J.R. Donahue's letter of Feb. 3.

Donahue is either grossly misinformed or not able to understand what is before him. Having read his reasons for a recall, I suspected the latter; having read some of the articles written about him during his tenure, in the Observer and other papers, I was con-

Most of his reasons, four of the five, are garbage — either half truths or out and out false. They are there only to give weight to the real reason for the recall, the lawsuit.

Make no mistake, the rest of the Canton Township Board, some of which are actively behind the effort, are scared to death of losing the suit because it will force the board to run the township's financial responsibility as state law

Put simply and briefly, the lawmakers in Lansing in their wisdom followed the lead of our forefathers who drafted the constitution and separated the financial responsibilities among the three elected administrators. The supervisor is responsible for the budget; the clerk is responsible for the financial books and records (state laws MCLA 41.75, MCLA 41.171, MCLA 41.65); and the treasurer is to disperse monies available to pay the bills.

Right now in Canton, the supervisor controls both the budget and the financial books and records. This situation being what it is, and human nature being what it is, the potential for abuse

Contrary to what Donahue stated, the clerk is "not" claiming the law is unclear as to her responsibilities, but indeed, very, very clear. The laws stated above are clear and to the point and the trustees know it. Also, contrary to what Donahue stated, the Michigan Townships Association was contacted

For instance, an opinion written June 18, 1985, by the MTA attornies states, in part: "The supervisor, clerk and treasurer are each delegated certain statutory duties which remain within their jurisdiction and responsibllly, and cannot be delegated to others, in conflict with state statutes," and "the township clerk and treasurer, of course, have their own statutory duties as herein before indicated.

"The township board cannot create a finance department which would give authority in violation of these other statutory duties;" and "Both the deputy clerk and the deputy treasurer are re-amount of compensation be established at a ridi or at zero,"

As can be readily seen, the clerk can and has backed up her statements with sound legal advice and state law its her statements can be proved to be

Finally, since the clerk is spending 50 to 70 hours a week at her job, the time she expends on the suit is not on your time but "my time." She gives to the community much more than she receives because she wants to see things done properly. The staffers in her office, as well as most if not all of the rest of the township, support her and think she is doing her job as it should be done.

lymouth Kiwanis club formed here in 1925

Kiwanis - the name comes from an old Indian term meaning "we make ourselves known.

Kiwanis International, a service organization, is headquartered in Chicago today but it was founded in Detroit in 1915. Since then almost every city, town and village in the United States has'established a Kiwanis Club.

Plymouth has had one for a little more than 60 years. The movement to start a local club began in 1925, the year Col. Billy Mitchell got into trouble for publicly criticizing the military high command and John T. Scopes got into trouble in Tennessee for teaching evolution in high school.

IN SEPTEMBER 1925, two members of the Ypsilanti Kiwanis Club met here with five residents - Stewart Dodge, Stan Corbett, Dr. Freeman Hover, Dr. Harold Brisbois and Bill Petz. They met at the Dodge Drug Store at 318 Main Street.

A week later the same men, plus Lawrence Johnson, John Embert, Charles Finlan, Alton Richwine, John Larkins, Ernie Allison and the Rev. S.C. Hathaway of the Plymouth Presbyterian Church, met at Dr. Brisbois' office at 292 S. Main. Their purpose was to discuss the formation of a club with a representative of the international, Franklyn Keen.

The group held its organizational meeting Oct. 12 at Lawrence Johnson's Riding and Hunt Club on Six Mile. By that time the Rev. Hathaway had given up the idea of joining. He had accepted a call from the Ypsilanti Presbyterian Church and was moving his family to that city. There were, however, 35 prospective Kiwanians in attendance to hear Keen explain the principles of the Kiwanis organization.

On the following Tuesday, the group held its first luncheon meeting at the Riding Club. Officers were installed at a dinner meeting on the evening of Oct. 13. The first officers were president Lawrence Johnson, vice president Charles Finlan, secretary A.J. Richwine, treasurer E.J. Allison and trustee John Larkins.

After three meetings at the Riding Club, the group moved to the dining room of the Methodist Church for weekly meetings and luncheon. The church then was located on Church adjacent to the high school. It was there, at an evening meal on Dec. 5, that the club received its charter from District Governor John Mustard of Battle

The 38 local business and professional men at the meeting also heard Franklyn Keen talk about their responsibilities to the International Organization and to the community of Plym-

AMONG THE charter members were names prominent in the business and civic history of Plymouth. They included Chevrolet dealer Ernie Allison, hardware merchant Ed Huston, homeopathic physician Dr. Luther Peck, Plymouth Township official Charles Rathburn, lumber dealer Russell Roe, Plymouth Village councilman John Henderson and Robert Mimmack who became the first mayor when Plymouth became a city in 1932.

The officers, having served only a short time in 1925, were all re-elected for the year 1926. It was during 1926 that Kiwanians established what was to become one of the club's major community projects - the formation and equipping of a Plymouth High School

To begin the project they invited Claude Dykehouse to a meeting to discuss the need. Dykehouse who was later to serve as principal of Plymouth High School (1929-1945) was a musician who had studied band organizaton. He became a member of the Kiwanis Club and served as its president in 1936.

In 1926, Dykehouse invited as guest speaker at one of the club's meetings a Professor Erikson, band leader at Ypsilanti High. Erikson answered questions about band formation and the club immediately began to raise funds for this

IN THE FALL of 1926 the Kiwanis Club of Plymouth helped to establish the Wayne Kiwanis Club, which was chartered in December. Plymouth thus became the youngest organization to sponsor a club in the Michigan district.

After the high school band was formed and instruments provided, the club tackled the matter of raising funds to outfit band members with uniforms. Instruments also were needed as the band grew in numbers. During 1928, Kiwanis purchased 20 new band uni-

In 1930, the club took the entire band by bus to furnish music for the day at the Kiwanis District Convention in Jackson, Mich. In that year, charter member Robert J. Jolliffe was elected lieutenent governor of Kiwanis' Sixth Michigan Division. He was the first from Plymouth to hold the position.

There will be no regular air operations on Omnicom Cablevision channels 8 and 15 for the week of Feb. 10-15. The programming department is going to conduct its twice annual in-house training and maintenance work during that week.

The announcement was made by Suzanne Skubick, community affairs program director, who stressed that Omnicom will be conducting all other normal operations including sales, service and technical aspects of its operation.

Only channels 8 and 15 will be affected this week by the programming maintenance. All other channels will air at their regular schedules.

Video Valentines will be the only exceptions for channels 8 and 15. These holiday greetings will air at noon, 3 p.m., 5 p.m. and 7 p.m. simultane ly on channels 8 and 15 Feb. 10-14.

"Our department is gearing up for the busy spring season, and we need to conduct maintenance on all our equipment," said Skubick. "We hope viewers will tune in the following week to channels 8 and 15 to catch their favorite local programs.

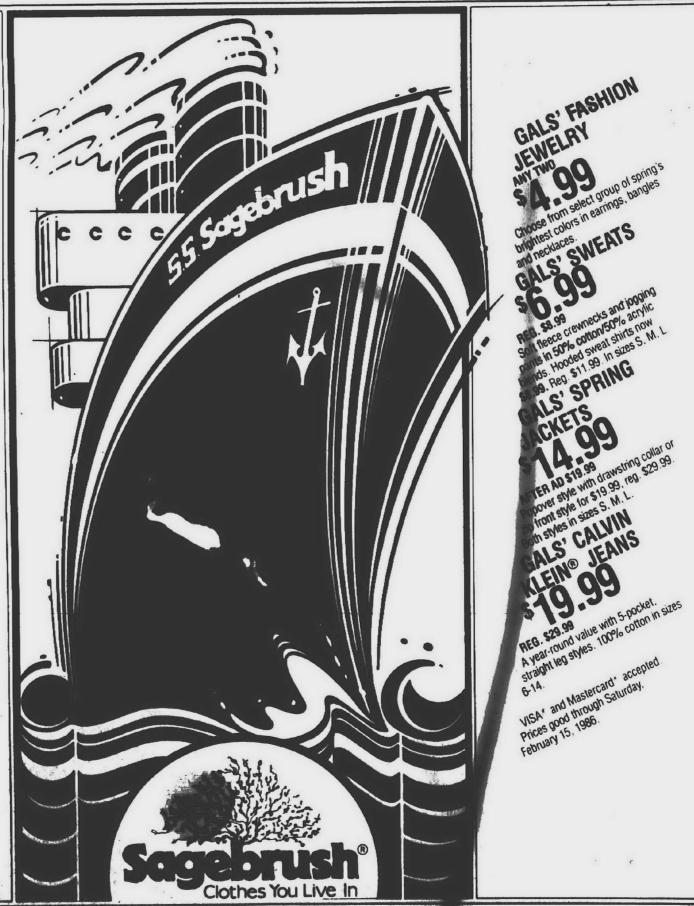

On Monday, Feb. 17, the entire operation will be shut down for Presidents' Day. "Our customers can, of course, call in the case of an outage or other emergency related to their cable service on that holiday."

Skubick noted that the next series of port-a-pak and editing workshops are about to begin. A sixweek series is being conducted on Wednesday and Thursday nights begin-ning Feb. 19, 20. Those interested should contact Maria Holmes at 459-

Area mourns death of publisher Paul Averill

By Dave Varga staff writer

E WAS the type of man who still sent Christmas cards to former employees every year, 15 years after he retired; the kind of man who, along with his wife, befriended a woman whose husband was missing in action during World War

He was Paul Neal Averill, former publisher of The Birmingham Eccentric newspaper and longtime activist in community affairs, from social issues to health to the arts.

Averill, who was 79, died of pneumonia Thursday in West Palm Beach, Fla., after suffering from cancer. A memorial service was held Sunday in Florida, where he had lived since he retired from the newspaper business in 1971. A local memorial service will be held at 3 p.m. Friday at Christ Church Cranbrook in Bloomfield Hills.

MR. AVERILL, former president of the Averill Press, was associated with the Eccentric newspapers for 45 years. He served as publisher from 1961 until his retirement.

A close friend and business associate, Harris Paul N. Averill O. Machus of the Machus Restaurants and Bakeries, called Paul Averill "a vital part in building Birmingham into the fine community that it is today.

His lengthy list of volunteer and community services included terms as first president of Family Services of Oakland County and vice president of the Family Service of America. After retiring and moving to Florida, Mr. Averill served as president of the Family Service Association of Palm Beach, a counseling or-

HE WAS PRESIDENT of the Michigan Welfare League and charter director of the United Foundation of Detroit. He was one of the founders and twice president of the Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association, then called the Bloomfield Art Association.

He also served on the boards of directors of the United Community Services of Metropolitan Detroit, Michigan United Fund, Michigan State Association of Community Mental Health Boards, and Friends of Modern Art.

In 1960, Mr. Averill received the "Volunteer of the Year" award from the Oakland County Chapter of the National Association of Social Professionally, he was honored in 1985 by the Suburban Newspapers of America with its Lesher Award for outstanding service and contributions to the industry. He was recognized for his efforts to implement professional business practices at the community newspaper level and to enhance the standing of community newspapers within the local business com-

MR. AVERILL was born in Cleveland in 1906. His older brother, George Rodgers Averill, took control of The Birmingham Eccentric newspaper in 1920. Paul joined the newspaper in 1926 as advertising manager after attending the University of Michigan, majoring in litera-

By 1929, they helped build the newspaper to the point where it carried the largest volume of advertising of any of the nation's 10,000 weekly newspapers.

Paul was in charge of the advertising side of the operations. But it was the Averill Press that was "his baby," according to Mr. Averill's son-in-law, Henry M. Hogan Jr. The Averill Press grew into one of the area's largest independent printers, Hogan said.

George, who had the journalism background after a stint as a reporter on the Detroit Journal newspaper, retired from the business in 1961. He died 10 years later.

nancial interest in The Birmingham Eccentric in 1961, with Mr. Averill serving as publisher and Hogan as associate publisher.

During his decade as publisher, Mr. Averill introduced an "Arts of Living" section, which has evolved into the Creative Living section.

He retired in 1971. Three years later, the newspapers were merged with Observer Newspapers Inc., forming the Observer & Eccentric

"He had the ability to understand a community newspaper's function," said John W. Reddy, vice president/editorial, Suburban Communications Corp., parent company of the Observ-er & Eccentric Newspapers.

"HE WED the interest of the paper with the interest of the community," Reddy said. "He was a hell of a nice guy — very demanding but very people-oriented."

'He was a delight to know and a very caring person to the extent that he kept in touch with his employees, at least as far as I know he did." said former Eccentric reporter Barbara Underwood, now in the public relations department at Birmingham Schools. "I've had a Association said Mr. Averill had good business judgment, good foresight and an understanding of the community.

"Paul was a very outstanding civic leader, especially so in the guidance that he brought to the BBAA in the early days," Hall said. "He knew the community and how to get things

But, in addition, Mr. Averill helped with the nitty-gritty details of BBAA events, said Carolyn Hall, an early member of the BBAA. "He was right in there with his Bermuda shorts doing the wiring and setting up for parties," Machus said his friendship with Mr. Averill and his late wife, Mae, was cemented after Machus served a stint in World War II, was captured by the Italian Army and held in a prison camp.

"I WAS MISSING in action and a prisoner of war after that and they were very understand-ing and supportive of my wife," Machus said.

Under Averill's guidance, Eccentric flourished

Paul Averill did not found The Eccentric, but for the last 50 years the name Averill has been inseparable from it.

Averill made a great contribution to The Eccentric by building the Averill Press into a strong organization that allowed the combined newspaper-job printing shop to keep busy at least five days a week, even though The Eccentric was published just once a week.

Under the direction of Paul and his older brother George, also deceased, the combined Averill Press/Birmingham Eccentric grew as strong as the suburb in which the businesses

During Paul's tenure as publisher, The Birmingham Eccentric was known as "The Nation's Most Honored Suburban Newspaper." It was known as this because it was - the solid business practices of Averill allowed the newspaper to do a far better job of covering the news than any other suburban newspaper.

TREATING ARTHRITIS WHEN YOU DON'T KNOW ITS CAUSE

At some future time you may see a physician because of painful or swollen joints. You will be questioned and examined; perhaps the doctor will undertake x-rays and blood studies. Yet it still may not be possible to state what type of arthritis you have. How will the physician be able to treat you, not knowing the cause of your pain?

In reality the problem is much like that of a park ranger discovering a forest fire. The ranger may not know if the fire occurred because of lightning or a careless match. But no matter what the cause, the ranger uses the same methods to fight the blaze.

Joint pain accompanied by swelling means that inflammation is present. At such times, even if the reason for the inflammation is unclear, aspirin or medications like it are the treatments of choice. If such therapy controls the pain and swelling, then the satisfaction of obtaining a diagnosis can wait. If initial that allows diagnosis will likely develop. In turn, this knowledge will permit a better fit of treatment to

For the first 15 years after acquiring ownership, older brother George regularly attended commission meetings, library board meetings and township board meetings - a new policy for The Birmingham Eccentric.

Despite the Depression, The Birmingham Eccentric grew until it was able to move its offices to 220 N. Woodward and hire additional printers, reporters and advertising salesmen. Paul Averill considered himself fortunate to be working with George Averill.

"HE (GEORGE) WAS a person of great integrity and honesty and a person of unusual character In fact, I think back and think of him as being a mentor in my life.

The first would be to manufacture a product whose appearance attracts and retains subscriber support. Secondly, to have a product that advertisers respect and use for the development of their own business goals.

Dinner for 2: It'll be love at first sight

The tradition of Valentine's Day is centuries old. Heartsand cupid-decorated cards, flowers and chocolate are typical expressions of affection, but this year, why not show your Valentine your love by preparing this special meal?

The first course in this Valentine's special is a glamorous grapefrult-cherry soup, served either hot or cold, swirled with a dollop of cream fraiche. The cherries enhance the citrus and vice versa; it will be dazzling in white, unpatterned chi-

Roast Pork Tenderloin with Green Peppercorn Sauce is an elegant entree. Served with sliced pineapple and steamed spinach, it's sure to please the discriminating palate. And the Parslied New Potatoes are a fresh and colorful accompaniment to the roast pork.

To top off a special meal, there are several choices of special endings.

Kids can be the cooks with this stir-fry media

Junior cooks will delight in the fast pace of this cooking method as well as the flavorful results. For newcomers to the kitchen, learning to stir-fry sparks a healthy interest in vegetables while providing the opportunity to master a variety of cooking terms and skills.

Explain to boys and girls that stirfrying is cooking food in a small amount of fat, such as margarine or vegetable oil, while constantly stirring, lifting and turning the food to help it cook evenly. A large, heavy skillet and a long-handled wooden spoon are the appropriate untensils for stir-frying.

Have children begin by scrubbing the garine to spatter during cooking. Hands should be dried, too, since wet hands can cause a knife to slip.

Vegetables to be stir-fried should be cut or sliced into small, uniform pieces so they will cook quickly. Provide a small, sharp knife with a 2- to 5-inch blade that your junior cook can handle easily, and emphasize that all cutting and slicing must be done on a cutting Teach beginners to cut vegetables and measure all remaining recipe ingredients before heating the skillet. Once stir-frying begins it proceeds quickly and there is no time to stop for additional ingredient preparation.

Stir-fried vegetables are cooked just vegetables under cool running water, until they are "crisp-tender," when flathen thoroughly drying them as wet vors are at their peak and colors are Demonstrate to first timers the look and feel of crisp-tender vegetables tender enough to pierce easily with a fork, but still slightly firm. To avoid overcooking, which dulls colors and flavors, junior cooks should frequently test vegetables for doneness toward the end of the recommended cooking time.

Start beginners with Colorful Vegetable Medley, a tasty trio of vegetables sauced with convenient pasteurized process cheese spread. Demonstrate how to diagonally slice the celery and carrots and how to use a narrow rubber scraper to remove the process cheese spread from the jar into a metal measuring cup.

When vegetables have been stir-fried just until crisp-tender, have junior cooks remove the skillet from the heat to prevent further cooking, then stir in the process cheese spread. It will melt to a smooth, golden sauce in no time at

Garbanzos make soup nutritional, good tasting

• From an old sage: You'll say "Where's the beef?" but it'll be right there, disguised as pork, thanks to a little seasoning.

A colleague suggested combining a liberal amount of sage and some crushed red pepper with ground beef, shaping into patties and frying in a nonstick skillet.

My wife did. It tasted just like pork.

• From the fish monger: Marinate fresh fish overnight with salt, hot pepper and lemon juice. Coat with flour, fry to a golden brown in a hot oil and remove fish. Pour off old oil, add new oil and brown chopped onions. Return fish, pour on tomato sauce or crushed tomatoes, sprinkle on a little thyme and heat through. Tastes great.

• From a nutritionist: "Your recipe for Navy bean soup interested me from the nutritional point of view as well as sounding great to prepare and eat," writes Lorraine B. Jarvis, a registered dietitian from Plymouth.

"So I decided to run an analysis . . . with my computer program. Not too many calories, great food values. Put milk, bread and fruit with this and you would have it made."

The soup is high in iron, protein and potassium, with no fat or cholesterol. It also contains every except vitamin D: A and B6 are the highest.

One of my favorite bean soups contains garbanzos. It's almost as nutritional and, frankly, is better tasting.l

GARBANZO SOUP 1 package (12 oz.) garbanzos, soaked overnight

4 ham backs or nork backs

2 chorizo (Spanish sausage) links, sliced 1 bay leaf

salt to taste

2 potatoes, cut up 2 Tbsp. cooking oil

l green pepper, finely chopped

1 onion, finely chopped 3 garlic cloves, minced

1/8 tsp. each black pepper and oregano 1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce

Drain garbanzos, place in large pot, add hocks and chorizos, cover with water, add salt and bay leaf, leave lid ajar and cook on medium heat about 11/2 hours, until beans are almost tender. Add potatoes. Heat oil in skillet, add remaining ingredients, cook on medium low heat 5 minutes, stirring, and dump in bean pot. Bring soup to boil, allow to thicken, reduce heat to low, leave lid ajar and cook 25 to 30 minutes. Serves a crowd.

A do-ahead (as much as a day ahead) dessert, Almond Peach Trifle, makes party preparation ex-tra easy. This variation of the classic English dessert (sometimes called Tipsy Cake) is prepared with pound cake, red raspberry preserves, juicy peach slices, and vanilla pudding and pie filling mix blended with whipped topping.

The cake is sprinkled with almond liqueur, then spread with preserves and layered in an elegant glass bowl with the creamy pudding blend and sliced peaches. Whipped topping flavored with almond liqueur and garnished with sliced peaches and toasted almonds, caps the big and beautiful refrigerated dessert.

For a perfect accompaniment to the showy trifle, serve Irish coffee or provide a coffee bar. Be sure to provide sugar, cinnamon, nutmeg and a bowl of whipped topping to add a dollop of instant elegance

ALMOND PEACH TRIFLE 1 10%-oz. frozen pound cake, thawed 1/2 cup almond-flavored liqueur 1/3 cup red raspberry preserves 1 31/2-oz. pkg. vanilla instant pudding and pie filling

1 12-oz. container (4 % cups) whipped topping 1/2 cup chopped almonds, toasted 1 16-oz. pkg. frozen peach slices, thawed, drained

Slice cake in half lengthwise. Reserve 1 tablespoon liqueur, sprinkle remaining liqueur over cake. Spread with preserves. Cut each half into eighths.

Prepare mix as directed on package for pudding, except using 1½ cups milk. Fold in 2 cups whipped topping and almonds. In 2-quart serving bowl, layer one-third of cake slices, whipped topping mixture and peaches; repeat layers ending with cake. Combine remaining whipped topping and reserved liquer, spread over cake layer. Top with additional almonds and peach slices, if desired. Chill several hours or overnight. Makes 10-12 servings.

IRISH COFFEE

2 cups hot coffee 2 tsp. sugar 4 cup whiskey Whipped topping with real cream, thawed

Combine coffee, sugar and whiskey; top with whipped topping. Makes two 1-cup servings.

Single parents get survival advice

By Marie McGee staff writer

HEN LESLIE Charles talked about "risks, setting goals and taking positive action steps," to an audience of single parents recently at Schoolcraft College, she was more than a dynamic speaker who punctuated her talk with humorous anecdotes.

She was a powerful "voice of experince."

Sponsored by the college Women's Resource Center, the seminar featured the address in the morning by Charles, followed by group discussion and afternoon workshops conducted by Farmidgton Hills counselor Margaret Cotter, Schoolcraft assertiveness instructor Paye Driscoll and parenting instructor Ellen Graczyk.

Right off the bat, the audience had no problem relating to Charles — or vice versa.

FOR ONE THING, Charles immediately broke with tradition — that of delivering her address from the podium and using a prepared text.

Instead, she stepped toward the audi-

Instead, she stepped toward the audience of 50 single parents and began her address by declaring that she was "not going to talk on the assigned title, 'Let the Rest of Your Life Be the Best of Your Life.'"

"I'm going to be more personal," she said with a big grin that immediately endeared her to the audience.

"I want to give as much of myself as I can," she said. "I know it's not the gay I usually start my talks, but I want to make this as special as I can."

EGETTING PERSONAL meant diguiging her own background: a pregnant 16-year-old high school junior, she dropped out of high school to marry; by 20, she had three children; at 25 her marriage ended and she was left with three small children, a 10th-grade education, no work experience and no visible means of support.

ble means of support.

Within 10 years, she gained an education and valuable work experience, then founded her Lansing-based consulting firm, Trainingworks Inc. Her Professional Development Series for Women, a series of one-day seminars, is in its fifth year. In 1984, she was named Career Woman of the Year by the Lansing Association of Career Women.

"I can identify as a single parent with many of your problems," she said, in outlining a plan of action that relies heavily on risk-taking and goal-setting achieved through positive action steps.

mieved through positive detion seeper

Charles said, "but I've found it's worth it. For you, just being here today was taking a risk.

"You never know what you can do until have to do it," she said.

"How many of you are doing things you've never done before?" she asked.

Almost every hand went up.

"What does that tell you about your potential and capabilities. If you can do that, think about all the other things you could do if you wanted to.

"So one of the things we have to think about are what our underlying assumptions are of ourselves and our capabilities," she said.

"We don't know what we can do until we have to do it.

"HOW MANY times," she asked, "do we back off from something we're not good at" because of the fear of failure.

"But do you know how long failure lasts? Just as long as we let it." Unfortunately, she said, some people let it last for the rest of their lives.

"To risk failure is to risk growth," she said. "Don't be afraid of failing. Be afraid of not trying.

"Please believe these words when I tell you that I am a totally different person today than I was 20 years ago."

Back then, she continued, she was "totally disorganized and couldn't take the responsibility for myself. I thought someone should be helping me."

THE CHANGES CAME, she pointed out, when she made up her mind to get an education.

She recalled "moaning about the fact that I'd be 40 years by the time I got my college degree."

A friend reminded her: "Look at this way, you're going to be 40 regardless."

Being without goals, she said, is like traveling without a map.

She encouraged setting one-, two-and five-year goals. "After five years, it becomes too nebulous."

"What's absolutely the worst thing that could happen to you if you didn't reach your goals?"she asked. Someone in the audience answered: "Throwing them away and making new

TO REACH YOUR goals, she cau-

TO REACH YOUR goals, she cautioned, positive action steps are necessary, "like rungs on a ladder."

Action steps, she explained, are any thing you have to do to get closer to your goal. It could be as simple as reading an article or taking a class.

"Everyone here deserves the best life possible," she continued. "The catch is it's up to you to do it for yourself."

TAKING RISKS means changing, self.

So many people are afraid of failure so they pull back, "Who me? I can't do that," dramatizes Leslie Charles.

Resident proves you can go home again SAKALL HAD been married for 50

By Dennis Coffman staff writer

A woman who was "falling apart" when she entered a nursing home 21 months ago was released recently, proving, the home's social worker said, that a nursing home is not necessarily a dead end.

"It's not always a one-way trip," said Maria Yeagy, director of social work at Whispering Willows Manor, a group home in Canton.

She was referring to Nell Sakall, 72, who entered the home in November 1984. She was, according to Yeagy, an emotional wreck. Sakall also had some physical problems suffered in an accident that broke her pelvic bone.

"She was not able to cope with her own aging," said Yeagy.

SAKALL WAS driving the nursing home staff up the walls. "Within one month after she arrived, we were pulling our hair out of our heads. She was very demanding, like in your wildest dreams you would not imagine," said Yeagy. "She was crying, depressed, angry over her whole uncontrollable circumstances. She had to give up her home and her dog, Honey.

But Sakall's physical injury healed and, it appears, so have her emotional

"Now, she is the loveliest lady you would ever want to meet," said Yeagy. 'She is going back to her home, back to independent living."

Yeagy said she did not want to put pressure on Sakall, however. "She hopes to succeed on her own, but there's always a chance she might wind up back in a nursing home."

Visiting nurses and outside agencies will provide assistance. A friend will stay with Sakall at home and, of course, her dog Honey will be there.

GOING HOME was like a tonic, to Sakall, as she was the center of attention during a going-away party organized by the nursing home staff.

"I'm going back to live in my own home," she said. "I'm going to live a little. After the accident, I was confined to a wheelchair. I thought I was going here to die, but here I am, because of a lot of work from a lot of people. The nurses are firm, but kind.

Some go home like me. Not everybody goes to a nursing home to die."

When I came here, I hated everybody at first,"she said. "Now I'm going home with a sad heart. They were difficult, but so was I. I prayed a lot, but I didn't think it would work. Being in a wheelchair scared me. It was frightening, but I had to overcome all of that. I got to know that they were people, too. Other people were pulling for me."

years and was a widow for the last five years. She said she looks forward to returning to the home where she spent 20

"I read about nursing homes, some good and some bad. This one is not all bad and it's not all good," said Sakall.

"Thanks," said Yeagy,"that gives us some room for improvement."

Yeagy said it was unusual for nursing home residents to return to their former, independent lifestyles.

"I'll give it one hell of a try," saic

the movies

√ Dan Greenberg

Woody Allen pays a glorious tribute to New York City

If Woody Allen did not exist, New York would find it necessary to invent him. "Hannah and Her Sisters," (PG-13), Allen's latest paean to life and love in Manhattan, has a greater virtue than love and New York: It travels beyond the Hudson by telling the timeless tale of how hard it is to be human - and how much fun.

Hannah (Mia Farrow) presides as a saintly, modern, upbeat earth-mother of a rather complex family establishment whose nexus is the Thanksgiving dinner. She and her two sisters, Lee (Barbara Hershey) and Holly (Dianne Wiest), suffer, and benefit, from the rich, albeit complicated and tortured heritage of their theatrical parents, Margaret O'Sullivan (Farrow's natural mother) and Lloyd Nolan.

Much of the film was shot in Farrow's New York apartment with seven of the eight children appearing being her offspring. New York's Mt. Sinai Hospital, the RCA Building, the Waldorf Astoria, Bellevue, the Metropolitan Opera and one of lower Manhattan's most famous punk rock clubs (CBGB's) provide the background for Allen's love affair with New York and, more importantly, with so rich a life that you don't have to like New York or theater people to enjoy this film. The complications in Hannah's life include her ex-husband, Mickey (Allen), a television director with a number of personality crises, not the least of which is whether or not life is worth living; in other words, vintage Allen with a gestalt of angst that would drive Freud to analysis. Fortunately, this time, the distress is restrained, pleasant, humorous and warmly reminiscent of all the terrors of the night when each of us wonders what we're doing here.

HANNAH'S SECOND husband, Elliott (Michael Caine), a successful financial advisor, develops an uncontrollable lust for her sister Lee who is living with Frederick (Max Von Sydow), an older fellow, a painter who is teaching her all about life while himself resisting its joys and temptations.

While that affair progresses, Hannah is supporting sister Holly's cocaine habit, and other assorted follies, not the least of which is a catering business with partner and friend April (Carrie Fisher), who always manages to reinforce Holly's basic insecurities by beating her out of men and the parts for which they audition.

Holly claims she only wants theatrical success, like her parents and like Hannah, who has successfully resurrected her theatrical career now that her family is well underway. Somehow Holly doesn't ring true.

The film's rich tapestry flows smoothly and clearly. If nothing else, and there is much more, Allen tells an easily understood story, no matter how complicated its description may seem. The story has a great deal of New York ambience, but its greater value lies in warm, rich interpersonal relationships of the very human characters who people writer-director Allen's world, and everyone

The cast is about as accomplished as any you'll see, and what their considerable acting talent provides under Allen's direction is an ensemble presentation of really nice folks going about the diffi-cult business of living. There are moments when the realism has a seemingly rough, unpolished quality that is actually quite refined and sophisticated, providing a sense of peeking in on life as it

Carlo Di Palma's photography is diffused to just the right level with rich earth colors so that "Hannah and Her Sisters" is filled with rich images of life's fecundity and a happy nostalgia for a non-existent romantic world that we would all like to think is going on, right now, but somewhere else, of course.

IF YOU HAVE a bone in your body over 25, or an ear that doesn't live for rock noise, you will love the soundtrack with Count Basie, Harry James, Rodgers and Hart, Johnny Mercer, Sammy Cahn, Jimmy Van Heusen, Jerome Kern, Cole Porter, J.S. Bach and other lesser-known musical lights.

If you guessed that I loved the movie, you're quite right. I bet you will, too.

Cast excels but play falls short

Performances of the Meadow Brook Theatre production of "84 Charing Cross Road" by Helene Hanff, adaped by James Roose-Evans, continue through Sunday, Feb. 23, on the Oakland University campus in Rochester Hills.

By Cathie Breidenbach

"84 Charing Cross Road" really isn't a play. It is an intriguing character study of Helene Hanff, an American writer with a fetish for old books and a forthright, witty way of expressing herself in letters. The Meadow Brook production does well by this collection of letters that never quite makes it as a play despite an expert cast and fine staging.

The script is entirely structured around reading letters aloud - some 20 years of trans-Alantic correspondence in the guise of book orders between Hanff and a stiffly correct seller of antique books in London, one Frank Doel.

Director David Regal skillfully handles the constantly shifting focus of the action from the New York side of the stage to the London side at 84 Charing Cross Road, offices of Marks & Co. Book-

Action in the "play" is inconsequential. Except for Hanff shuffling from typewriter to bookshelf to scruffy sofa, she doesn't really do anything much except talk. Thank heavens, Jeanne Arnold as Helene talks well, because the entire play depends on hooking the audience with the wit and intelligence of her personality. Arnold pulls it off partly because she's so adept at bringing out every nuance of humor in the letters, which change hardly at all over the years spanned by the play.

HER HELENE is a big, frizzy-haired spinster with a robust way of talking that belies the loneliness of her life. Her friends, for the most part, are the great minds of history - from Roman historians through the 18th-century poets and essayists. That's not bad company, except for the fact that they're all long dead. She spends her days alone, cranking out Ellery Queen scripts and docu-dramas for television and schlepping around her one-room New York apartment in baggy slacks and tennis shoes or robe and slippers. She reads and cherishes books and writes letters to Frank Doel.

On his side of the Atlantic, the action is scarcely more dramatic. People move from desk to bookshelf and back again, occasionally making the little bell jingle when they go out the door.

Doel is supposed to be a terribly English fellow, restrained and proper but underneath a basic good chap. Will Love, as Frank, comes off as a good chap although he doesn't sound terribly English. The bookshop people (Barbara Barringer, Liz Zweifler, Eric Johnson, Paul Hopper and Wayne David Par-ker) tell bits and pieces of what's going on in their lives as they move books around in the charming bookshop set, which is brighter and airier than the description of it.

Director David Regal does well at manufacturing movement for the sake of movement and making us care about the plebian lives of the nice people who work in the bookshop during the years of Helene's and Frank's correspondence. Still, it must be a challenge making a play out of an autobiographical character sketch that was better off as a

This is an old-fashioned play, older even than the timely mentions of Churchill and the coronation of Elizabeth II or Ellery Queen mysteries on early American television.

"84 CHARING Cross Road" makes old-fashioned assumptions. For one, it takes a classical education for granted and assumes that people know Catullus, have read Samuel Pepys' diary and know the Latin Vulgate.

Those not booked on books may find the play tedius because every letter centers on Frank's and Helen's shared love of fine leather-bound editions of classic literature. Helene spends an inordinate amount of time clutching one book or another to her breast and rapsodizing about it. What's more, the books are all classics - old classics.

Modern playgoers who cut their teeth on television and think Hemingway is a classic writer are bound to miss many references. To Helene, Hemingway is an upstart who borrowed the title "For Whom the Bell Tolls" from her favorite genius, John Donne

Lisa Madis (No. 2) and Denice Tackett rise as one to block a Walled Lake Central attack Wednesday.

Salem spikers see the light

Rocks hit stride in victory

Plymouth Salem volleyball coach Betty Smith has been trying to tell her team all year that they had the ability to be successful. Maybe after Wednesday night the team will be-The Rocks put all the pieces together and knocked off talented Walled Lake Central 15-11, 12-15, 15-8 in a Western Lakes home match.

"Walled Lake didn't play at their best," Smith said. "Their middle hitter was out of the lineup. But we played good besides that. I think we would have won either way.

Smith adjusted her lineup slightly, inserting Jessica Handley as the primary setter and freeing Lisa Madis to attack. The move brought mixed results at first.

"We confused ourselves at first," Smith said. "Jess and Lisa weren't confused, the rest of the team was. It was a little shaky for a while." Things began to jell in game three.

Tied 7-7, Salem assumed command. Handley's passes were on the mark and hitters Madis (nine kills) and Leanne Becker (eight kills) took full advantage of them.

THE ROCKS also got a big boost throughout the match from Kelli Theard. She was successful on 19 of 20 serves with three aces. "The last couple of weeks we've been getting progressively better," Smith said. "Early in the season we had some internal problems - that was really strange since the girls are all pretty close friends. But, we had a big team meeting right before our tournament and ironed out the problems. Things have been getting better since then. We may be peaking at the right time."

The Rocks are 4-5 in the Western Lakes and out of contention for the Lakes Division title. But, for the first time, the Western Lakes champ will be decided by a league tournament. Salem is hoping to make some noise at that tourney Saturday, Feb.

The Rocks are 4-10 overall this sea-

Free throws save Salem

Plymouth Salem offset a second-half Livonia Stevenson comeback with free throws, canning 15 of 21 in the fourth quarter to beat the homecourt Spartans 69-66 Friday

The win improved Salem's record to 8-7 overall and 7-5 in the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA).

Mike Hale ignited the Rocks with 21 points, including 13-of-17 free throws. Paul Makara added 15 and Dave Col-

"We got the ball inside and they were fouling us," said Salem coach Bob Bro-

The Rocks started fast, rolling to a 23-17 lead after one quarter and building that to a 39-29 lead by the half. But Stevenson trimmed the deficit to three with a 16-9 third-quarter surge.

"They got hot," said Brodie. "Everybody was hitting for them, and we came down at the other end and couldn't score. We were getting our shots, they just weren't falling."

Stevenson managed to go in front 53-51 in the early moments of the fourth quarter, but Salem regained the lead and never trailed again. Chip Finneran topped the Spartans with 22 points. Jim Kimble had 11 and Dan Palmisano and Jeff Gibbons added 10 each.

Salem hit 37 of 37 free throws in the game to 14 of 23 for Stevenson.

CANTON 67, CHURCHILL 60: There was no stopping Plymouth Canton in the second half, which overcame a 21-6 first-quarter deficit to upend visiting Livonia Churchill Friday.

"We talked about out defense and our offense," was Canton coach Tom Niemi's description of his halftime talk. "We had a meeting of the minds, so to speak."

Joel Mies and Tyrone Reeves got the message for the Chiefs. Mies popped in nine points and Reeves added eight in a 21-12 third-quarter rally. That cut Churchill's lead to 46-44 entering the fourth quarter, and that melted away underneath a 23-14 surge.

Mies and Reeves got 17 each for Canton (8-7 overall and 7-5 in the WLAA). Jeff Lyle contributed 12 and 10 rebounds and Roger Trice had nine points and eight rebounds.

Mickey Katschor paced Churchill with 14 points. Ken Gendjar and Brad Wylie chipped in 10 apiece.

Paul Makara scored 15 points for Salem Friday.

HURON VALLEY LUTH. 76, PLY. CHRIST. 64: Plymouth Christian's 11game unbeaten streak came to a 'foul' end Friday at Huron Valley Lutheran.

Five Eagles - four starters and the top reserve - fouled out, forcing coach Jeff Cook to finish the game with just four players on the court.

"Huron Valley executed better than we did," said Cook, whose team fell into a tie for first in the Michigan Independent Athletic Association at 9-1 with Troy Oakland Christian. "We made a lot of turnovers — the most we've had in a game in two years.

"I told our guys we can't do anything about it. It's over. Let's pick up the pieces and go from there.

Plymouth Christian (11-1 overall), which beat Huron Valley by 16 last month, led 15-13 after one quarter. But Huron Valley rallied to take a fourpoint halftime lead (32-28) and a 50-39 edge after three periods.

Rod Windle paced Plymouth Christian with 17 points. Pat McCarthy had 14 and 18 rebounds and Jim McCarthy 12 points.

Tony Mitchell's 22 points was best for Huron Valley. Eric Huetter added 14 and Ernie Trapp 13.

Boles to U-M, Nash goes west

By Brad Emons staff writer

Tony Boles confirmed Thursday what everybody pretty much knew all

The All-State running back from Westland John Glenn verbally committed Thursday to the University of Michigan. He will sign a national letter-ofintent Wednesday with the Fiesta Bowl champions. Boles expressed his desire to stay in the state and was leaning toward U-M as early as last fall.

Meanwhile, another area blue chipper, Redford Catholic Central tackle Dan Nash, rated the top lineman in the state, will attend Stanford in Palo Alto, Calif. Nash, a 6-foot-4, 235-pound two-way tackle, made just one visit, Jan. 17-19, to Stanford and cancelled scheduled trips to Notre Dame and Michigan. He verbally committed to Cardinal coach Jack Elway on Jan. 24. Boles, who helped Glenn reach the state playoffs, rushed for 1,526 yards and 17 touchdowns this year.

MICHIGAN STATE also made a strong pitch for the 6-2, 195-pound runner, but Boles chose coach Bo Schembechler and his staff.

"Nothing in particular made me choose U-M," Boles said. "Bo came out to the school to talk to me a couple of times. He's a nice guy to talk to. He motivates you, and he makes you like his school a lot.

"I'm glad the pressure (of recruiting) is over. It was getting on my nerves, especially State. They were really recruiting me hard - coming to school all the time and coming to my (basket-

backs. The Wolverines have also received commitments from Warren DeLaSalle's Allen Jefferson and an allstate running back from Ohio. Southfield's All-Stater Torin Dorn is also considering Michigan.

When Tony was going through the recruiting process, he didn't care who was going where," Glenn coach Chuck Gordon said. "His whole decision was based on where he felt comfortable and that was at U-M. The fact that Lorenzo White (a junior All-American running back) was at MSU had no effect on his

"The toughest part was going away from home, but I thought a lot about Nash said. "The advantages outweighed the disadvantages.

"The first time I was on campus, the coaches and players had a positive attitude. They were a bunch of winners. I wanted to go there since last year."

Two of Nash's talented teammates at CC, Nick Varajon and Ken Wandzel, made commitments last month and will sign Wednesday with Toledo and Michigan State, respectively.

Other expected area signings include Farmington Harrison wide receiver Brian Smolinski (with MSU) and Glein swimmers have big night

If someone would have told Plymouth Canton swim coach Hooker Wellman that his young team would finish above .500 in dual meets this season, he may have been skeptical.

But with their 94-77 win against Livonia Franklin Thursday night, the Chiefs virtually assured themselves of at least a .500 year.

'We should finish with a 6-5 record now," Wellman said. "We needed to beat Franklin to do it. I'm just rea! happy about this group. We are real young. Our freshmen and sophomores are doing a great job for us."

The Chiefs gave up seven firsts out of 11 events to the Pats, but had enough depth to survive.

"We outscored them in the middle," Wellman said. "We placed either one through five in every event. We didn't have any sixths. That's unusual. Dean Roberts, a junior, picked up firsts in the 200-yard individual medley (2:14.8) and the 100 butterfly (1:02.31). Steve Schwinn won the 500 freestyle (5:24.3) and Andy Flower captured the diving competition with 286.05 points.

Bryan Madigan won a pair of events for the Pats. He took the 200 freestyle (1:51.4) and the 100 free (50.5). He also anchored Franklin's winning 400 freestyle relay team (3:37.0).

Canton is 5-4 on the season and will travel to Farmington Harrison Thursday.

PLYMOUTH SALEM upped its dual meet record to 6-3 with a convincing 114-55 win against Farmington.

Kevin Zarow, back in the water after a bout with the flu, was Salem's top point-getter. He won the 50 free (23.0) and anchored both of the team's winning relays. He teamed with David Miller, Rick Cummings and Tony Atwell in the 200 medley relay (1:45.9), and with Cummings, Jeff Anderson and Phil Bocketti in the 400 freestyle relay (3:28.8).

Other Salem winners were: Jamie Dunn in the 200 IM (2:13.8), Bob Longridge in diving (218.55), Bocketti in the 100 free (53.1), Miller in the 100 backstroke (59.3) and Geoff Taylor in the 100 breaststroke (1:09.2).

Chris Inch won a pair of events for the winless Falcons. He took the 200 free (1:54.7) and the 500 free (5:06.8). Jim Vlk won the 100 butterfly (57.5).

The Rocks have an important division showdown with North Farmington at home Thursday. The meet will decide the runner-up in the Lakes Division behind Livonia Stevenson and will affect the Observerland swim rankings. Currently, Salem is ranked third and North fourth in the area.

Beth Rafail the talented senior, led the way with a 34.2 all-around performance. She won on vault with an 8.55, placed second on uneven parallel bars with an 8.05, tied for first with teammate Jackie Huff on balance beam each with an 8.7 and won floor exercise with an 8.9.

Huff scored her highest all-around of the season, 33.8. Besides her 8.7 on beam, she placed second on vault (8.45), third on bars (7.85) and tied for second with teammate Becky Talbot on floor (8.8).

Talbot had her best meet of the season also, tallying 32.7. She placed third on vault (8.15), first on bars (8.1) and third on beam (7.65) in addition to her 8.8 on floor.

"The thing that put us over the top, though, was our backup people," Kinsella said. "They really came through for us. That's what I'm counting on."

Sue Lally, Dana Holda and Amy Pastori were singled out by the coach. Hol-da, a freshman, placed fourth on both vault (7.9) and bars (7.65). Lally placed fourth on floor (7.8) and Sharon Way. placed fourth on beam (7.35). Pastori Julie Jacob won both beam (7.99) and floor (8.30) for the Trojans. Roberta Stevens won vault (7.80) and Denise Ahnert won on bars (7.35).

C'ville is 5-3 on the season.

FARMINGTON, too, posted its season's-best team score, accumulating 115.1 points Thursday. But the Falcons were hosting powerful Hartland, which tallied 127.6. The loss dropped Farmington to 3-6.

Jackie Daly was the team's lone bright spot. She was first in the vault (8.8) and balance beam (8.6), third in the uneven bars (7.7) and fourth in the floor exercise (8.1).

Farmington's only other top four finisher was Debbie Ford, who was fourth in the bars (7.3).
