EXTRA MILER: Mary Kay Frey was honored Monday night by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education for being an "Extra Miler." Frey, who operates the reading program for adults for Community Education, joined the department in 1969 after earning a master's degree from Purdue. Her specialty is teaching adults how to read and she helped form the Community Literacy Council for the school district. She also is student teacher coordinator for the schools, is active in fund-raisers, and is involved as a leader in her church. Under her leadership, there has been a 300 percent increase of adults enrolling in the reading program from last year to this year.

FIRST RATE: With comments of "beautiful tone and interpretation," "this was a great performance," and "what a terrific band and wonderful individual players" echoing in their ears, the 65-member CEP Symphony Band returned to Plymouth last Saturday from the state band contest.

Held in the greater Lansing area, the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association-sponsored music festival saw the CEP bandmen awarded not only the top rating of straight "A's" in Class AA competition, but a standing ovation from fellow competitors. The band's performance included "The Northern Pines March" by John Philip Sousa, "Lincolnshire Posy" by Percy Grainger, and "Incantation and Dance" by John Barnes Chance.

The next public appearance for the band will be Friday, May 30, in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High when it will premier a work commissioned for them by the Plymouth Community Arts Council titled "Plymouth Rhapsody." In addition, Larry Livingston (Plymouth High Class of 1959), now dean of music at University of Southern California, will return to his hometown to guest conduct the band in one of its own compositions.

INTEGRATING: This year the program improvement plan for the Academically Talented and Gifted Program of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools is focused on "Integrating the Arts" throughout the curriculum. Written, visual and performing arts were interwoven through the curriculum to enhance content learning in math, English, social studies, science and foreign language. Students were encouraged to create art in response to the concepts they were learning.

The projects produced from this artistic emphasis are on display throughout downtown Plymouth as part of a tribute to Gifted Child Week (April 27 to May 3). An "Integrating the Arts" guidebook directory identifying the various art displays and their locations may be found at some 28 businesses in Plymouth.

RETIRING: A number of people are retiring from Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. Among them are: Bill Brown, principal of Salem High; Helen Kelly, elementary teacher at Tanger, 31 years' employment with Plymouth-Canton; Robert Horwood, industrial arts at Central Middle, 18 years; Janet Lawson, health teacher at East Middle, 20½ years; Ruth Burr, fifth-grade teacher, Fiegel; Karl Cotton, social studies, Salem High; Kathleen Schmidt, librarian, Gallimore; Kathryn Otto, principal, Hulsing; Vada Starr, reading teacher, Allen; and Ruth Hoeprich, secretary, Board of Education offices, 24 years' employment.

New principals to take charge

A number of administrative changes, including a new principal for Plymouth Salem High, were approved Monday night by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.

In other personnel action the board approved a contact with one of its employee unions.

Gerald Ostoin, an area coordinator at Salem High, has been named principal-designee of Salem to replace Principal Bill Brown, who is retiring.

The "designee" suffix will drop within two weeks, according to Supt. John M. Hoben, and at that point Ostoin's appointment is expected to become permanent.

The two-week wait is being implemented to insure no outside applicants have been unfairly prevented from applying. The internal posting period already had expired.

Brown, the only principal Salem has had, is retiring at the end of the school year. Last year Kent Buikema, the only principal Plymouth Canton High has had, was promoted to director of secondary education.

IN OTHER MOVES, the school board approved the transfer of Richard Bearup to area coordinator at Salem High.

Bearup, who was principal of East Middle School, was transferred at his request as he desired a return to area coordinator at Centennial Educational Park.

To replace Bearup as principal of East the board promoted Thomas Workman, principal of Allen Elementary. James Burke, an assistant principal at East Middle this year, has been named principal of Allen Elementary.

Cheryl Classon, now acting principal of Tanger Elementary, was named principal of Hulsing Elementary to replace Kathryn Otto who is retiring.

Hoben said he now has to fill the positions of principal at Tanger and Fiegel elementaries and assistant principal's spot at East Middle.

THE BOARD ALSO ratified a two-year agreement with the cafeteria's union.

The contract calls for a 5 percent pay increase in 1986-87 and a 5 percent raise in '87-88.

Longevity pay was increased by $50 at each level, and the days off for union business for the association president was increased from five to 10.

The contract also provides for a trial program — two personal days will be granted in 1986-86 to each employee who maintains perfect attendance in 1985-86, and two personal days off if perfect attendance is maintained next year.

The board also approved a new roof for Allen School and a roof for the greenhouse at CEP to gain more high school classroom space.

Richard Kaufman, chief judge of Wayne Circuit Court, is just plain dad to son Sean.

'Utopian socialist' fills top Wayne judge seat

By Teri Banas
staff writer

During the summer after his senior year at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, Richard Kaufman took off for Berkeley, Calif., with a group of close friends and fellow student activists.

He had spent five years working on a bachelor's degree in philosophy. He later admitted that had prepared him for little more than the odd jobs he found traveling in the West.

Stopping for a time in California, Colorado and Arizona, he found himself sweating out an existence as a restaurant "bus boy," waiter and later garbage truck loader.

A participant in the U-M Black Action Strike of the early 1970s and a self-described "utopian socialist," Kaufman later returned to Michigan, went to law school like his father and uncles before him.

Thirteen years later, Kaufman, at 34, is chief judge of the Wayne County Circuit Court.

"THE BONDS I made with that group of people back in those days are still the bonds which identify myself to who I am," said Kaufman, who lives in Plymouth Township with his wife, Elaine Lenart, and their two sons.

"Most of my identity comes from them. We grew up together," he said of this "close-knit group of 15-20 people," most of whom at one time shared a mountainside home in Boulder.

The era that shaped Kaufman's view of the world and life, itself, was defined by the Vietnam War. Because of it, every fabric of conventional American life was questioned. And when Kaufman attended college between 1969 and 1973, he was part of those events.

"I found problems with the way capitalist society divided out resources to people. Poor working-class people just weren't treated fairly. I thought society should have been reorganized fairer. I thought if everyone worried a little more about everyone else, you'd be better off," he mused.

On a recent day, Kaufman was about as far away from that previous life as can be imagined. Encompassed in his 12th floor office, Kaufman was considering other matters.

THERE WERE issues like picking up the pace of the circuit court docket and tackling a controversial merger between the Circuit and Records courts.

There was also the problem of working out an acceptable bond proposal for renovating parts of the City-County Building into more office and courtroom space for the 35 circuit courtrooms, thereby consolidating them out of two building sites in downtown Detroit.

Youth, 15, struck by train

The mother of a Plymouth Township youth hit by a train Tuesday afternoon said her son told her from his hospital bed that he never saw the train.

Sean Gress, 15, and a ninth grader at Central Middle School, was in intensive care at St. Mary Hospital, Livonia, yesterday, said his mother, Nancy Drew.

He has a skull fracture, a smashed optic bone in his left eye, a broken collar bone and damaged ribs, Drew said.

"He doesn't even know he was hit by a train," she said.

Sean had gone to a local pizza parlor immediately after school to pick up his first paycheck from a new job, Drew said. She speculated that he may have been distracted by the excitement of getting home and meeting up with his friends.

Sean was hit by the train at about 3:20 p.m. 150 feet north of the Ann Arbor Road overpass (near the Plymouth Elks), police accounts said. He was walking his bicycle across the tracks when he was struck by the engine of a northbound train.

The train was moving at a speed of 15-20 miles per hour, the engineer told police. The brakes had been applied prior to impact when the boy was spotted.

Sean was transported to the hospital by Plymouth Township fire rescue.

Virus suspected in probe at Allen

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

Allen School students and staff returned to school this week, as health officials narrowed the list of possible causes of last week's outbreak of stomach illness.

Health officials have turned to the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, Ga., for further clues on the source of contamination, which sent more than 160 Allen School students and staff home April 23 with stomach ailments.

Dr. Donald Lawrenchuk, medical director of the Wayne County Health Department, said, "Our suspicions are very high that we are dealing with a Norwalk or Norwalk-like virus."

Lawrenchuk said tests conducted in Lansing on specimens collected at the school "are negative for bacterial contamination" — the type associated with best-known forms of food poisoning, like salmonella.

He said it's likely that the 160 or so students and staff who first reported symptoms were infected by something that had left the environment by the time test samples were taken April 23. This indicates viral contamination between noon April 21 and noon April 22, said Lawrenchuk.

Lawrenchuk said this factor, added to the reported vomiting in 80 percent of those affected, time of incubation, and other factors indicate a virus.

John Gannels of Plymouth didn't let bleeding blisters send him to the sidelines last weekend during the March of Dimes Walkathon. After receiving some first aid, he completed the 30-kilometer walk and earned the right to collect on $1,000 in pledges.

Carpet cleaner is glad he followed hunch

By W.W. Edgar
staff writer

Thirty years ago Ed Soleau, who had been working at the Ford Motor Co., had a hunch.

He was spending his free time working for someone who was cleaning rugs, so he started his own business in his home on Mill Street in Plymouth.

He had been working for Jim Allen on Penniman Avenue to get experience. Here is where he got the hunch that carpet and rug cleaning could be his best bet.

To give his hunch a boost he purchased his home on Starkweather and went into business. Year after year he worked hard. With the aid of his wife, and the many friends he had, the business kept growing.

WITH HIS SUCCESS he soon became known as the Plymouth Rug Cleaner and his hunch was becoming a success.

Soleau kept on working and meeting people and allowing his work to speak for itself. The work was coming from the entire area. As neighboring Livonia started growing residents from there found him and business took up a faster pace.

Then, what usually happens with success, he decided to retire and turn the business on Starkweather over to his son.

This time Soleau's wife took a hand in the revamping of the business showrooms and set up a new office. When it was finished they spent a few weeks in Florida to celebrate.

Now the original carpet cleaner who had the hunch can't leave the place alone. He spends part of each day at the rug cleaning section and enjoys it.

While he wants to retire altogether he still has to play his hunch and greet customers who have been coming to him for years.

OFTEN HE RECALLS the day just a year ago when an eight-pound bass was caught in Wilcox Lake.

He is anxious that the planned work in the Rouge River will get under way. He possibly would like to fish there and still keep his eye on the business for his son's sake.

While he has been loyal so were many of the original employees. "Of course," his son said, "like workers any place, they come and they go. But we expect to be here cleaning carpets and rugs for a long time."

Township's new homes carry steep prices

By Doug Funke
staff writer

If you want to buy a new house or condominium in Plymouth Township, be prepared to pay a hefty price.

More than 350 units are either in progress or on the drawing board. The least expensive is a two-bedroom condominium priced at just under $83,000.

Declining interest rates have spurred developers to varying degrees of action on at least four fronts in the township. Some have work in progress while others have obtained only preliminary plat plan approval.

Township Planning Director James Anulewicz suggests that construction could be under way at all four sites sometime this year. "If they don't, they're foolish. The market is there."

Most of the township's higher-density, residentially designated land already has been developed, Anulewicz said. Larger lot sizes and larger houses usually translate into higher costs for developers and higher prices for buyers.

Development raises a community's tax base and often results in more local property tax revenue. Also, it often results in increased demand for school and municipal services.

PLYMOUTH CORNERS Development Corp., headed by Sheldon Korn, has started work on Plymouth Corners Condominiums, a 72-unit development.

Korn also has started building three model homes nearby in the Plymouth Corners Subdivision. Forty lots, most 65-by-120 feet, are available.

The condos will be at Five Mile and Bradner, the houses at Schoolcraft and Robinwood.

"Before the middle of next year, the Crossing should be done and by the end of this year, the condos will be done," said Don Converse, general manager for the projects.

Sixty percent of the two-bedroom condominiums, priced between $82,900 and $86,000, already have been sold, he said.

The houses — "old Victorian 1890s style" — are expected to carry price tags of about $120,000 and $140,000. Four floor plans and 16 exterior elevations are available.

Converse projected that 10 houses will be built by Korn on speculation, the other 30 to custom order. "In all of our projects sales have been excellent. Interest rates are really helping."

EIGHTY HOUSES and 42 condominiums dubbed Beacon Hill Meadows are planned north of N. Territorial between Portsmouth Crossing and Beacon Hill.

Robert Paciocco and Jan Masciulli are partners in the project, Paciocco said. Multi Building Co., owned by the relatives of the partners, will handle construction, he added.

Plans call for installing utilities within a month. Condos and houses will be built concurrently. "We'll have some occupied before the end of the year," Paciocco said.

Almost all of the houses will have four bedrooms and sell for about $200,000. The condominiums will contain two bedrooms each and a price of about $170,000. "People who want to live in Plymouth are capable of spending that kind of money," Paciocco said.

As many as six and four floor plans will be available for condo and house buyers, respectively.

The development is planned for 73 acres, 20 to 25 of which will be open, landscaped areas, Paciocco said. Houses will be built on the eastern part of the property, condos to the west.

HEATHER HILLS Subdivision, with 72 houses and 60 condominiums, has been proposed for an 80-acre site west of Beck south of N. Territorial.

Marcello and Silvio Scappaticci, in business together as Marcello & Silvio Building Co., will develop the project.

"Everything will be custom designed," said Marcello. The houses will sell for about $200,000, the condos $175,000-$200,000. Most buyers would probably want three bedrooms, he speculated.

Marcello said he hopes to work on utilities in June and start building six models in July.

"I would say it would take two years to be completed. Hopefully, some would be occupied by the end of the year."

Eleven of 14 residential lots remain to be developed in the Pine Cove Subdivision on the west side of Haggerty between M-14 and Five Mile.

JOSEPH AND JOHN Daratony, father and son, are partners in the venture, said John Daratony. He wasn't sure whether the lots will be sold to individual buyers who would hire their own builders or to a single builder.

One thing is certain, though — the Daratonys aren't interested in getting into the construction business themselves, John said.

The lots average 13,000 square feet. John Daratony projected that lots alone could command $23,000-$28,000. A house and lot there could cost $90,000-$110,000.

The elder Daratony has owned the land for about five years, John said. "Economic times weren't conducive to developing at that point."

The Daratonys anticipate starting with the utility work in July.

Cityhood pros, cons on drawing board

By Diane Gale
staff writer

A committee studying cityhood for Canton Township has been given an extra 60 days — to June 30 — to make its recommendation but plans to be done by May 15.

At its inception, the five-member committee was given an April 30 deadline for a recommendation to the Canton Township Board of Trustees on what form of government best suits Canton.

Indications are the committee will suggest Canton remain a township, committee chairman David McDonald said.

Even if the committee suggests cityhood, it takes an average three years and up to five years to make the switch, according to James Hyde, state boundary commission executive secretary.

The process includes filing an incorporation petition with the commission, receiving approval from the commission, which involves holding a public hearing for local input, holding a charter commission election, writing the charter and getting approval from Canton voters, Hyde said.

During two recent public forums sponsored by the study committee, the majority of those who spoke supported the township format. About 50 people attended each meeting.

DURING THE FACT-finding period, the committee has visited officials from communities where the form of government has changed or a switch has been considered.

The communities include Farmington Hills, Rochester Hills (formerly Avon Township), Redford Township and Clinton Township, McDonald said.

"We've found out that every municipality is different, and they can't be compared," McDonald said.

He made his point by naming communities with large business tax bases and others with minimal public services. The group's final investigation will be a meeting in Meridian Township near Lansing this week.

"Once we're finished with Meridian our biggest hurdle is what kind of report we'll submit," McDonald said. "I'm only one vote, but from all we've seen I can't see how we can become a city. There's not enough interest there."

"Why shoot yourself in the foot? But I think there are some benefits."

Other members of the review committee are: Dianne Neihengen, Canton coordinator of senior recreation; Ted Grabbe, manager of a 12,000-car fleet for the Association of American Railroads; Henry Whalen, roll manager for Ford Motor Co.; and Sandy Preblich, hostess of the "Sandy Show" Omnicon and an Observer columnist.

A proposal to study cityhood was presented last August by trustees John Preniczy, Stephen Larson, Robert Padgett, Loren Bennett and Bob Padgett. They said the review was needed in light of the residential and business growth in the community during the past 15 years.

Mopeds and skateboards will probably receive some special attention from city of Plymouth police officers in the days ahead.

Plymouth Township officers are putting the heat on people who park their cars with for sale signs in shopping center parking lots and truckers who leave their rigs near residential neighborhoods.

As the seasons evolve so, too, do different kinds of complaints.

Now, skateboarders zipping down ramps of parking structures and some young moped drivers who aren't properly licensed or aware of rules of the road have come to the attention of Richard Myers, police chief in the city.

"We're going to get tougher so we better put people on notice," he said.

The state motor vehicle code requires the registration of all mopeds with the secretary of state, Myers said. No one younger than 15 years of age can legally drive a moped on public streets.

ALSO:

• All people must have some sort of license — a regular driver's licence, a chauffeur's license or, if at least 15 years of age, a special restrictive license — to operate a moped.

• Mopeds can't be driven on public sidewalks.

• Moped drivers younger than 19 must wear helmets.

• Mopeds must stay as far to the right of the roadway as possible.

• Moped drivers must obey all rules of the road just as if they were driving cars.

Skateboarders who careen down parking ramps or zigzag among pedestrians in Kellogg Park create dangers to themselves and others.

Police have discretion to issue warnings, tickets or confiscate mopeds and skateboards, Myers said.

"Sometimes people think we make this up to go out and harass people. We're concerned about their safety," Myers said. "As soon as someone gets hurt, there's going to be a line of parents saying 'Why didn't you do something to stop this?' We are."

"I'M A BIG believer in parental responsibility," he continued. "We're not baby-sitters. These kids using skateboards and mopeds are going to graduate and become drivers."

Local police to enforce moped, car sale rules

Adults are causing headaches in the township by parking cars for sale in shopping centers, especially the K mart store at Ann Arbor Road and Haggerty.

"You get them taking up parking places of commercial establishments and those commercial establishments are not licensed to sell vehicles," said Police Chief Carl Berry.

"They generally park those cars at busy intersections. It causes traffic problems getting people diverted looking at cars," Berry said.

TOWNSHIP police have been monitoring the situation and issuing tickets, said Deputy Chief Marvin "Chip" Snider.

"If you don't watch it every day, that place will literally load up," he said. "I've seen on a Saturday morning where there were two cars, then 20."

Some truckers also have prompted noise and visual pollution complaints by parking trailers or rigs off Ridge Road near the Plymouth Hills Mobile Court. Again, tickets have been issued.

"People shouldn't have to look out their windows and see that all the time," Berry said.

Local teens gain insight into legal system in U.S.

Plymouth Canton, Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Christian Academy high schools are among the 40 high schools across the state preparing their cases for the 1986 Michigan Mock Trial High School Tournament, to be held Saturday, May 10.

The event is sponsored each year by the University of Detroit School of Law and the Detroit Street Law Project of Wayne County Neighborhood Legal Services. It will be held from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. in the courtrooms of the Detroit City-County Building.

The students play the roles of the lawyers and witnesses in a fictitious case. Actual judges and lawyers serve as the judges.

In this year's tournament, "People vs. Sloan Jackson," the defendant is accused of stealing a shirt from a store in "Merchandise Mall," which is located in "Zilwaukee County," Mich.

According to a store clerk, the defendant ran out of the store after stealing the shirt. The defendant, however, claims to have merely left in a hurry to go to a sale at a record store.

Canton High School is returning to the tournament for the third time, after capturing second place the two previous years. Both Canton and Plymouth Salem were scheduled to hold pre-trial tournaments yesterday.

Thirty-two students were set to participate in Canton's tournament before 35th District Court Judge James Garber. The judge was to determine the eight students who will represent the school in the May 10 tournament.

Canton's adult sponsor is government teacher Audrey Etienne. According to Etienne, the tournament "produces a lot of community involvement. It provides an opportunity to interact with lawyers, get expert advice and firsthand experience of what a lawyer must do to prepare for a case."

The students at Salem High School have been working just as hard. Six teams were set to compete for a chance to participate in the tournament.

Judge James McDonald of the 35th District Court was to hear the cases and choose the eight tournament participants.

The students are coached by social studies teacher Scott Beaman.

"The pre-trial tournament is a valuable experience, even if a student is not chosen to represent the school," Beaman said. "Through the pre-trial tournament, the student will be able to gain some insight into the law."

Plymouth Christian Academy also will be entering the tournament for the first time. The team is coached by Plymouth attorneys James McCarthy and John Vos III.

According to Alan Saltzman, director of the tournament, participation in the event "provides an intensive introduction to the operations of our traditional system of jury trials." Saltzman is a law professor at the University of Detroit.

"I am very pleased that so many students from across the state are participating," he said.

Judge reaches top

And in the midst of it all, the newest and youngest chief judge of the largest circuit court of Michigan faced a white slip of paper on his desk that noted in urgent, heavy-printed letters, "Call Lucas."

Kaufman was appointed to the court's top administrative post by his peers last month. He beat out three others, Marvin Stempien and James Mies, both of Livonia, and Leo Cahalan of Grosse Ile.

In his new post, Kaufman, who was elected to the circuit court six years ago, is in charge of 400 employees, 35 judges and a $30 million budget.

By virtue of its size, the Wayne County Circuit Court is the only one in Michigan that has a full-time judge-administrator.

For Kaufman, the transition has meant leaving behind his caseload. He now presides only in matters that are contested after disposition by other judges.

The second of five children of Circuit Judge Charles Kaufman, Richard Kaufman does not apologize and neither does he discount the name-game element that factored in his election to the bench six years ago.

"Obviously, I'm not in this position because 238,000 voters know I'm a bright, energetic, caring person, but because I happen to have a name that runs well in judicial contests," he said.

"However, I've never heard of a system proposed that's better for picking judges. Of the 35 judges here, 18 were elected and 17 were appointed by the governor. There's no perceptible difference among them."

Just 8 years old when his father was first elected to the Circuit Court, Kaufman grew up in an extended family that perceived entering law practice like going into the family business.

He recalls frequently being brought out to Democratic Party and judicial functions and being asked the familiar question about his future career plans.

Resisting for awhile during his college days, he later returned to Detroit and entered Wayne State Law School when he realized that's what he wanted to do.

Besides, he said, "We all learned that there wasn't a lot of ways to make a living and be completely true to bringing about our ideal society."

His father, Charles, registered a fatherly response when he learned of his son's decision to study law.

"I guess he realized he had to do something with his life," said the elder Kaufman.

"I thought he was wasting his life not doing anything productive with this bunch of intellectuals."

Along with being proud of his son's recent achievement, the elder Kaufman said his son's presence as a colleague on the bench in recent years was particularly meaningful during the highly publicized Vincent Chin case.

Charles Kaufman was criticized throughout the area when he sentenced to probation two men found guilty of clubbing Chin, a young Chinese-American man, to death.

"He was very helpful after I did what I did," said the elder Kaufman. "He helped me draft an explanatory letter to some of the objections. He was also supportive."

Because of the Chin case, Michigan has drafted sentencing guidelines, which Charles Kaufman said support the decision he then made. According to those guidelines, Chin's murderers could be sentenced to 0-18 months, "so probation is not so off the wall," he said.

Whether the younger Kaufman agreed with the decision his father made, he is not saying.

"As a son, it's something I wouldn't want to do to my father; he's been second-guessed enough," Kaufman said. "Whatever I'd say would be a no-win situation."

The elder Kaufman said it's been nice having a son, who's also a judge, around the City-County Building to ask for professional help on "a little legal research."

"I like to ask him for a little legal advice because he's really up on everything," said the proud father, who in front of their colleagues planted a "big kiss on his son's cheek" when he was named top judge. "But now he's chief judge and he doesn't have time for things like that."

This week, Kaufman's administrative responsibilities took him to Lansing where he testified before a Senate committee.

Kaufman is deeply involved in winning support for a long-contemplated court merger between the county's Circuit Court and Detroit's Records Court.

Five years ago the state Legislature gave way to the plan by approving a statute to allow a merger between the 35-judge circuit court and 29-member Detroit court.

He also has several plans in progress aiming to improve the court's efficiency, up from its current 40-month-long wait for civil cases.

To accomplish that, he is changing the court's general docket to an individual docket, which means the same judge will be responsible for seeing a case through "from start to finish."

It has not been met with total support among the 35 judges, not to mention attorneys, who think it opens the door for judicial "tyranny." But Kaufman says he is energetic enough to "monitor it closely" enough to prevent that from happening.

He also has initiated an out-county case program using seven district judges to help with the higher court's extensive backlog, beginning in July.

And another major project brewing involves the $10 million bond project he is preparing for approval by County Executive William Lucas.

The plan would create more attorney conference rooms and jury rooms in addition to adding more courtroom space in the City-County Building, thereby consolidating the court. He says the current set-up, which daily leaves hallways crowded with witnesses mingling with defendants is sadly unworkable.

Career aside, the Plymouth Township resident said fatherhood and learning about unselfishness and caring for another individual over oneself, has had the second biggest impact on his life since those early college days.

Building site fire 'suspicious'

Suspicious is a word used by a Plymouth Township firefighter to describe a fire last weekend at a storage facility under construction on Ann Arbor Road.

Evidence from the scene was turned over to the Michigan State Police for analysis, said Capt. Frederick Honke.

Firefighters were notified of the fire at about 1:30 a.m. Saturday, Honke said. Nine men and five pieces of equipment responded to the construction site near Plaza Lanes.

Further information — including point of origin and damage estimate — wasn't available.

Guaranteed tuition plan guarantees debate

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Two fiscal experts disagree sharply on how Michigan colleges will respond 20 years from now to Gov. Blanchard's tuition trust fund plan.

Democrat Robert Bowman, the state treasurer, thinks parents will keep a sharp eye on college tuitions and fees. "There will be a downward pressure on shenanigans," he predicted.

Dr. Gary Wolfram, a Republican Senate staff economist, predicted just the opposite. He told the Senate Finance Committee last week:

"What we will have is a third party (trust fund) guaranteeing to cover tuition. There will be a larger and larger pool of persons for whom tuition is irrelevant because it's guaranteed."

With an inelastic demand, a small university can raise its tuition to $50,000 because there's no incentive to hold it down."

THE ISSUE began to develop on the first day of Senate committee hearings on the Blanchard administration's popular plan to help parents cover whatever colleges charge for tuition in 2004.

Bowman predicts the current level of $8,000 for four years at a state ulege age.

His Treasury Department would house a trust fund, independent from general state government, that would invest money from parents or other purchasers, accumulating interest and dividends so that the child would be guaranteed four years of tuition at a state university.

Chief Senate sponsor is Patrick McCollough, D-Dearborn. The issue could help him in a tough re-election fight in his blue-collar western Wayne County district.

"The major concern of every parent in the state," said McCollough, the lead-off witness, "is, will I have money to send my child to college when the time comes?"

Compared to private investment programs, McCollough said a state trust fund would have this advantage: "It's a guarantee (of coving four years). It's not just a lump sum back."

COLLEGES CHARGE a tuition rate per credit hours. They also charge fees — for student activities, the college paper, laboratory courses, locker rooms, computer usage, health service and so on.

The questions become: Will colleges jack up these fees? Will Blanchard's tuition trust fund cover them?

Interviewed in a fourth-floor corridor after his testimony, Bowman answered that the administration's plan "neither artificially inflates nor deflates tuition. There will be more people watching what's happening (to tuition and fees). The universe watching the universities will be much greater."

Bowman saw this parental watchdogging as "downward pressure on shenanigans" such as colleges' shifting costs to the "fee" area.

An aide added that "institutions will still have to compete in the marketplace. Not every student will be part of the (tuition guarantee) fund."

To a senator's question of whether universities could raise tuition to $50,000, Bowman said, "To think they will do it and the Legislature won't care is absurd. The Legislature could hold back its appropriation."

But Sen. Lana Pollack, D-Ann Arbor, whose district includes two state universities, said the universities are "very squeamish about the potential for the state to have a better handle on their tuition increases . . . This will increase state control on tuition at universities."

WOLFRAM, A University of Michigan-Dearborn economist on leave to work with the Senate GOP policy staff, replied he expects colleges to rely increasingly on fees.

"To the extent they're real user fees, it's OK," he added.

But he noted it would be possible for a college to use the same mainnance staff on both classrooms and dormitories. It could load some classroom charges into the dormitory accounts.

"It has to be clear to the purchaser (parent investing in the tuition plan) that it will not cover fees," Wolfram warned.

ONE UNANSWERED question, noted Sen. Doug Cruce, R-Troy, is whether the federal government could tax the income earned by the trust fund.

Treasurer Bowman gave one answer: "We believe it is tax exempt."

No chance of passing — Cruce

The tuition investment fund bill has 27 co-sponsors among the Senate's 38 members. What are its chances of sailing through the state Legislature?

"In this form here, zero," replied Sen. Doug Cruce, R-Troy, a member of the Senate Finance Committee holding the hearing.

Cruce said many questions need resolving.

"There's nothing to prevent a university from charging any rate it wants."

"Carry that a step further:

What if universities across the board raised rates higher than inflation? What about low-income students who aren't pre-paid?"

THERE IS a question whether community colleges, which have lower tuitions than the four-year schools, should be in the plan, Cruce went on. There is some pressure to include private colleges.

Chief sponsor Patrick McCollough, D-Dearborn, said that "along the line you could add private colleges . . . but you have to start somewhere."

But Sen. Lana Pollack, D-Ann Arbor, dislikes the idea of including private colleges because "we do not have a handle on private institutions."

THE LIST of sponsors includes six of the seven Observer & Eccentric area senators — Democrats McCollough, Jack Faxon of Farmington Hills and William Faust of Westland; and Republicans Cruce, Richard Fessler of West Bloomfield and Rudy Nichols of Waterford.

GOP candidates agree: welfare too costly

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Welfare recipients ought to be put to work and taught to work, say four Republican candidates for governor.

Reducing welfare and holding down state aid to Detroit were recurring themes as state Rep. Colleen Engler, Oakland County Executive Daniel Murphy, recall leader John Laue and industrialist Richard Chrysler faced a southern Oakland audience Tuesday.

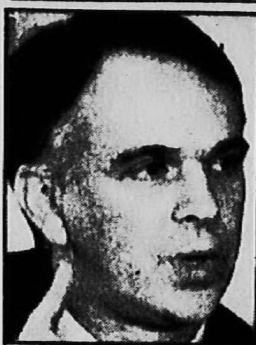

Citing "a sudden emergency," Wayne County Executive William Lucas withdrew from the panel, sponsored by the Active Republican Citizens Club. Lucas earlier announced he would cease speaking engagements to concentrate on fund raising.

Winner of the GOP primary will face Democratic incumbent James Blanchard Nov. 4.

HOW WOULD they cut welfare costs?

Engler, a four-term lawmaker from Mount Pleasant, praised the Senate Republicans' "Most" program requiring "those capable of working to work or lose their benefits."

She also advocated letting private

Dick Chrysler, owner of Cars & Concepts, advocates 'mandatory Learnfare' — requiring welfare recipients to take job training or basic schooling.

State Rep. Colleen Engler, praised the Senate GOP's 'Most' program requiring 'those capable of working to work or lose their benefits.'

Oakland County Executive Dan Murphy agreed with Engler, adding that 'only one-fourth of the eligible persons are in Most. It's not being pushed and promoted.'

right there," he said.

LAUVE CHARGED Detroit wastes money on the People Mover, city pay raises and the Magnum Oil scandal, "and nobody's got the guts to fix it."

Engler smiled at the vote question and replied, "53 percent of Wayne County voters are women" — to a great ovation.

The only legislator in the contest for the gubernatorial nomination, Engler said "I don't support" the Detroit aid package, "but it's part of a larger bill, and you can't pull it out. Except for the (Detroit Institute of) Arts, it's given to Detroit to use as they wish."

Engler said an "outstate equity" package was added to win votes of their legislators and outflank the suburbs, but Engler disapproved of it. "The money should be earmarked for specific purposes, and we should vote it up or down solely on its merits."

contractors administer the medicaid program of medical care for the poor, contending that would be "more efficient than the Department of Social Services."

Murphy, executive of Michigan's second most populous county for 12 years, agreed with Engler, as he did frequently, adding that "only one-fourth of the eligible persons are in Most. It's not being pushed and promoted."

MURPHY SAID DSS computers fail to get welfare information sent by Oakland. "I don't know of a computer operation in state government that works," said Murphy, advocating privatizing computer centers.

Laue, a General Motors engineer, said, "Michigan used to be a leader in per-capita income" but has sunk below the national average. "But Michigan is above average in what it pays welfare recipients," he said, advocating that benefits be kept to the average of neighboring states.

Chrysler, owner of Cars & Concepts, an auto customizer near Brighton, advocated "mandatory Learnfare" — requiring welfare recipients to take job training or basic schooling as the price for benefits. "In Kent county they tried it, and 67 percent of the people (recipients) never came back."

DETROIT was the focus of two questions — one about a Republican candidate's need for Detroit votes, the other on why Detroit gets $38 million in state aid when it's running a $52 million surplus.

"I try to be as nice as I can to (Mayor) Coleman Young," said Murphy, 62, a former chairman of the Southeast Michigan council of Governments.

A Republican candidate must gather at least 18 percent of the Detroit vote to win, Murphy said, and former Gov. William Milliken used to get 21 to 23 percent. But Murphy said "we've got to get more out to vote in Republican areas outstate. If we do that, we can forget about the city of Detroit."

On the Detroit aid appropriation, Murphy said, "It isn't only Detroit. Wayne County gets its courts paid for by the state" while Oakland pays for its own. "There's a lot of it going on, and a lot of it oughta be cut out."

Laue, 44, said 45,000 Detroiters signed his petitions to recall Gov. Blanchard over the 1983 tax increase. "That's a great beginning

Murphy laments insurance costs

Daniel T. Murphy, Republican gubernatorial hopeful, said soaring liability insurance costs are hitting taxpayers as well as governments and medical practitioners.

Accusing Democratic incumbent James Blanchard of failing to seek a legislative compromise, Murphy, the Oakland County executive, this week announced his own 10-point liability reform program in a State Capitol news conference.

"As a board member of a major hospital, I can tell you first hand that there has been no effort by the present governor to bring all minds together to develop a plan that is workable for the various industries," said Murphy, making his first bid for state office.

He said high liability and insurance costs were "crippling" Michigan as a place to do business.

HIS PROGRAM picked up many points in the Republican-controlled state Senate tort reform program:

- "Modify the joint and several liability" rule so that a defendant is responsible only for its percentage of the negligence — "not like today where large governmental units or hospitals are also named in lawsuits just because plaintiffs believe they can collect from those institutions."
- End "double dipping" — the practice of injured person collecting both from the insurance company and from a civil suit.
- Require pre-lawsuit arbitration through panels of doctors, hospitals, insurers and lay people.

• Limit non-economic ("pain and suffering") damages. Murphy didn't mention a figure, but the Senate bill specifies a cap of $250,000.

• Restrict fees to attorneys in cases of unusually high awards to plaintiffs, and discourage "frivolous" lawsuits.

• Place a 10-year (instead of 20-year) statute of limitations on medical malpractice suits involving childbirth.

• Tighten restrictions on incompetent physicians and dentists, both by state government and by health care organizations.

IN OAKLAND County alone, Murphy said, 23 percent of practicing physicians say high insurance rates are forcing them to quit.

Lucas orders freeze as huge deficit looms

By Teri Banas
staff writer

Declaring that Wayne County's "free spending days are over," Executive William Lucas this week called for a freeze on hiring, employee overtime and capital expenditures to avert a potential $30.4 million deficit this year.

He said the executive order would "forestall any impact on services."

Besides the freeze, some 300-400 positions will go unfilled this year, he said Monday.

"We will tighten the budget and now, the whole idea is to do it now," Lucas said.

The county's $201 million budget was launched just five months ago but is facing a revenue shortfall of $3.4 million plus $7 million in overspending. The losses are being realized in federal revenue sharing ($1.9 million), $950,000 less in county-generated fees, and a $520,000 loss because of a delay in implementing a jail-inmate contract with the U.S. Marshal Service. In overruns, Lucas cited the Westland Power Plant ($1.2 million) and the sheriff's department ($2.7 million).

BUT THE single largest problem looms in the area of indigent care, which is expected to exceed the budget by $20 million. Lucas blamed the projected overrun on the state of Michigan, which covers the medical bills for indigent residents before billing Wayne County its share. He said the state failed to vigilantly track medical costs, allowing abuses such as in-patient care when out-patient care would do. Auditors from both sides are examining records in the dispute.

In general, the freeze affects all departments with "sufficient" allowances for state-mandated services such as sheriff patrols in the parks, he said. Airport security should also remain unaffected because that service is directly paid by the airline companies.

In addition, he said he was freezing overtime because some departments have tried to get around a hiring freeze by stacking up work hours for existing employees.

LUCAS singled out the county sheriff's department saying it was "sufficiently staffed."

Earlier this week, Sheriff Robert Ficano said he could not say what kind of effect this would have on his department until receiving full details on the executive order.

But he criticized Lucas in several areas.

"If someone quits in the jail, how am I supposed to man the floors (under an overtime and hiring freeze)?" he asked.

Ficano said his department auditors tell him that the department's $55 million is "on target" and therefore he disputes Lucas' budget reading, putting the blame on the frequent change of accounting systems over the years. Furthermore, he said, Lucas has already declined filling 60 vacancies in the department this year, he said.

"Lucas has changed accounting systems three times in the last four years. And suddenly, the numbers are jumping around. At least I'm close. He underestimated (the cost of indigent medical care) and is only off by $20 million," Ficano said.

Commission chairman John Hertel, also criticized Lucas.

"This proves the budget he presented to us last September was a sham, misleading the people," Hertel said. "The budget should have been much more realistic from the beginning."

"(Monday's executive order) is too little and too late," he said.

Hertel predicted that cuts forthcoming because of the Gramm-Rudman Amendment will cause even bigger revenue reductions and further county finance problems next year.

In the meantime, he said Monday's executive order will not effect "the kind of savings that's needed."

Adamany to push closer ties at Schoolcraft

By Teri Banas
staff writer

Wayne State University President David Adamany will be the featured speaker at the Schoolcraft College commencement on Saturday honoring 950 graduates.

Adamany was asked to appear to symbolize the growing bonds between two-year colleges and four-year universities in Michigan, said Schoolcraft president Richard McDowell.

"When David Adamany took over at Wayne State in 1982 he got to work and within the first year called the community college (administrators) together and made it a lot easier for students to transfer," McDowell said.

"He's made it easier to transfer and he's also given us feedback on how our students are doing. I think he's an outstanding leader and that's why we've asked him to speak," he added.

McDOWELL SAID that Schoolcraft students who transfer to Wayne State carry the highest grade point averages of all transfer students from two-year and even four-year institutions.

"Adamany keeps saying 'yes, your students are good — how about sending us more of them,'" McDowell said.

Saturday's program begins at 6 p.m. in the college gym, located on the main campus off Haggerty in Livonia. A reception with light refreshments follows for students, their families and friends inside the Waterman Center.

College spokeswoman Sandra Florek said while 950 students have earned associate degrees and certificates, the college only expects some 320 to attend the weekend's ceremony. Many who completed programs earlier this year have either moved on to employment elsewhere or to other institutions, she said.

Of the 950 this year, the largest number, 569 students, earned associate degrees in applied science. Other associate degrees: 142 in arts, 64 in general studies, 59 in science, 18 in engineering. There are 85 students receiving a one-year certificate and six receiving a two-year certificate.

AMONG THOSE receiving special honors will be Shirley Ritter as the distinguished alumnus. Ritter, who is the director of the Livonia Family YMCA, attended Schoolcraft College after raising her family and received an associate degree in 1978. Today, she is working toward a master's degree at Central Michigan University. She is also active with the Livonia Chamber of Commerce, the Women's Economic Club of Detroit and the American College of Sports Medicine.

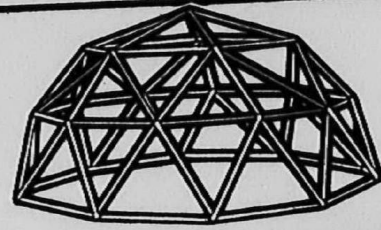

Besides Adamany, two other persons will receive honorary degrees this weekend.

Schoolcraft, which was founded 25 years ago, held its first commencement ceremony 21 years ago.

WANTED: CLERICAL VOLUNTEERS

The Senior Nutrition Program ("Meals On Wheels") needs clerical volunteers at its main office at 15495 Sheldon at Five Mile, Northville Township. The program's need for clerical help has created a backlog in servicing senior nutrition needs in the community. The program provides homebound senior citizens with home-delivered hot meals plus hot meals to sites in Plymouth and Canton. If interested, contact Office Manager Diane Barrett at 453-2525.

VOLUNTEER TRAINING

Turning Point, a non-profit community service of Growth Works Inc., 271 S. Main, Plymouth, is conducting volunteer recruitment and training to prepare volunteers for Crisis Phone intervention and phone line counseling. The training covers communication, empathy listening, building and bonding relationships, brokerage skills, crisis intervention, depression management, loss and grief, alcohol and substance abuse, and problem-solving methods.

Training is open to any interested person; no previous experience is necessary. After the initial training program it is required that volunteers make at least a six-month commitment to three nights per month. For further information and a training schedule, contact Sue Davis at 455-4902 from 9 a.m. to noon Monday through Friday.

VOLUNTEERS SOUGHT

Canton Care Council, an affiliate of the Ann Arbor-based Community Councils Association, is seeking volunteers interested in enhancing the quality of life for nursing home residents. Volunteers serve on the council, which meets once a month to plan social, service or educational activities for residents at Canton Care Center. The time commitment is three to six hours per month. For more information, contact Kathy Belisle at 981-2382.

SPECIAL EDUCATION SERVICES

Preprimary special education services for children 6 and younger are available through Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. If you have a child who may be mentally or emotionally impaired, has a physical or visual disability, a hearing or speech impairment or learning disability, call the Infant and Preschool Special Education Program at Farrand Elementary School, 451-6610, for information.

GENEALOGY INSTRUCTION

Is there a skeleton in your closet? Would you like to find out? Join Canton Seniors 12:30 to 3 p.m. Tuesdays at the Canton Recreation Center and get help tracing your family tree. A genealogy instructor will give individual attention and assistance. Also included are field trips and informational speakers. The class is free and high school credit may be earned. For information, call the Canton Seniors at 387-1000 Ext. 278.

CANTON HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Canton Historical Society meets at 7:30 p.m. the second Thursday of each month in the Canton Historical Society Museum on Canton Center Road at Proctor.

MINOR HOME REPAIRS

The Conference of Western Wayne Minor Home Repair Program has been funded through Senior Alliance Inc. for fiscal year 1985. The program assists homeowners 60 and older with minor home repair tasks. For information, call 525-8690.

Plymouth-Canton Community Education can help adults read. For more information about Adult Basic Education, call 451-6555 or 451-6660. Open enrollment. Students can begin classes at any time.

FREE PRESCHOOL

Are you the parent of a 3- or 4-year-old? Are you in a low-income bracket? Are you a foster parent or do you have a handicapped child? If you can show proof of any of the above, you still have time to enroll for this excellent free program designed for the family. Plymouth-Canton Head Start needs 3-year-olds and your child may qualify for this free preschool experience. For information, call 451-6656.

PLUS PRESCHOOL REGISTRATION

Preregistrations are being accepted for 4-year-olds enrollment in the free PLUS preschool program offered by Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. Children must be 4 on or before Dec. 1, 1986, to attend classes in the fall of 1986. Two half-day sessions are offered — one with a parent attending a concurrent parent education class. Many joint parent/child activities are planned. Children's activities are planned as readiness for their school's kindergarten program.

PLUS is sponsored by the school district and is financed by a federal grant. Children must live in the attendance areas of Gallimore, Field, Farrand, Eriksson, and Tanger elementary schools. Classes are held at Central Middle School. Registration may be made at local elementary schools. More information and phone registration may be made by calling PLUS at 451-6656.

NEW HORIZONS DAY CARE

A day care center, New Horizons for Children, is being operated in Plymouth by the Plymouth Church of the Nazarene. A defense against cancer can be cooked up in your kitchen.

Fruits, vegetables, and whole-grain cereals such as oatmeal, bran and wheat may help lower the risk of colorectal cancer.

Foods high in fats, salt- or nitrite-cured foods like ham, and fish and types of sausages smoked by traditional methods should be eaten in moderation.

Be moderate in consumption of alcohol also.

A good rule of thumb is cut down on fat and don't be fat. Weight reduction may lower cancer risk. Our 12-year study of nearly a million Americans uncovered high cancer risks particularly among people 40% or more overweight.

Now, more than ever, we know you can cook up your own defense against cancer. So eat healthy and be healthy.

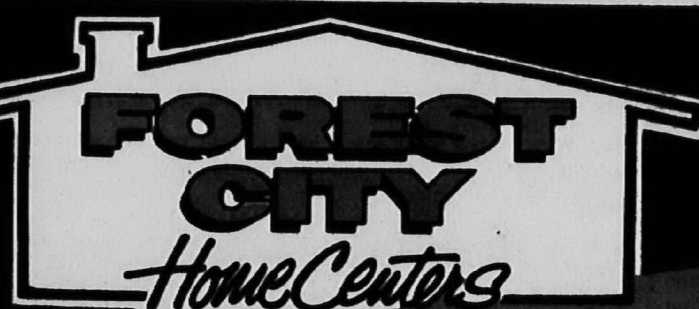

No one faces cancer alone.

AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY

There is evidence that diet and cancer are related. Some foods may promote cancer, while others may protect you from it.

Foods related to lowering the risk of cancer of the larynx and esophagus all have high amounts of carotene, a form of Vitamin A which is in cantaloupes, peaches, broccoli, spinach, all dark green leafy vegetables, sweet potatoes, carrots, pumpkin, winter squash and tomatoes, citrus fruits and brussels sprouts.

Foods that may help reduce the risk of gastrointestinal and respiratory tract cancer are cabbage, broccoli, brussels sprouts, kohlrabi, cauliflower.

Cyclists pedaling for Statue of Liberty fund

By Sue McDonald
staff writer

Looking for a way to spend a Sunday afternoon that not only promises to be fun but also will help finance the Statue of Liberty restoration?

If the answer is yes, then the Westland Cycling Club wants to hear from you.

The club's Ride Festivals that will be held nationally Sunday, May 18, to help the photographic supplies company meet its $5 million pledge for the Statue of Liberty restoration.

The club has been working on the May 18 event in Ann Arbor. It will include a festival with 10-, 20- or 30-mile bicycle rides, a picnic and a live satellite concert featuring rock stars Huey Lewis and the News and Hall and Oates.

It has been an arduous task for the club, which expects 4,000 bicyclists to participate in the festivities.

"It's an enormous event, and none of us (club members) realized how exciting and historic it would be," said Janis Doyle.

"The ride is the most ambitious event we've ever staged, and we estimate our volunteers are going to contribute more than 4,000 hours to making it happen."

The Ann Arbor site is only one of three in Michigan and will be held rain or shine. The other locations are Detroit and Muskegon.

ACCORDING TO Doyle, who, with Bill Smith, serves as local coordinator, Kodak decided on a bike ride to raise the $5 million. With the help of seven other sponsors, the bike ride blossomed into a picnic and the "America Rocks" concert, billed as the most extensive private satellite broadcasts produced, she said.

The festival will kick off with an opening ceremony at 11:15 a.m., which will include the launch of 5,000 balloons by students from Ann Arbor's Gabriel Richard High School. The Michigan chapter of the Wheelmen will then lead bicyclists out State Street from the University of Michigan campus beginning at 11:30 a.m., letting the cyclists pedal at their own pace once they reach Huron River Drive.

The Westland club has set up three looping routes for cyclists to follow, with the longest extending beyond the city of Dexter, Doyle explained. Local bicycle dealerships will be providing radio-equipped vehicles to help riders who have problems and a floating vehicle to transport riders deposited at points along the return route by the wagons, back to the staging area.

"We've done all this so people will know it will be a safe and enjoyable event," Doyle explained. "We're not expecting just the avid rider, but people of all ages, so we want to have plenty of sag wagons (specially equipped vehicles) with radio communications and first aid equipment."

THE SPONSORS are supplying bag lunches for participants, with the local event sponsors — The Ann Arbor News and radio station WQB — providing local entertainment on the steps of the university library before the satellite concert is televised at 3:30 p.m. in Hill Auditorium.

The fact that Hill Auditorium is being used for the concert has limited the number of participants to 4,000. The club, according to Doyle, had looked at using Crisler Arena for the concert, but decided on the smaller auditorium because the Detroit ride will use Cobo Arena as its concert site.

Kodak hasn't set a goal of how much it would like raised through the festival, Doyle said. The entry fee of $23 will go directly for the statue's renovation. If Kodak exceeds its pledge, it will donate the money to the restoration project.

That is seen as a distinct possibility by Doyle who said an estimated 850,000 riders are expected to take part nationally in the project.

Doyle isn't certain how many will register in advance for the ride. Many, she believes, will wait until festival day to decide.

The club has enlisted the help of other cycling clubs in the area to help with the festival. She figures at least 100 volunteers will be needed to make it a success.

She estimates she has put in about 4,000 hours since February on the event. She carries around a briefcase and two large ring binders filled with information provided by Kodak, which wants each of the 100 festivals to be the same as much as possible. The one that will be different will be the New Orleans festival, where participants will view the "America Rocks" concert live in the Superdome.

"I FIGURE I've spent four to five hours a day seven days a week since the first of February on this," Doyle said. "It took 1 1/2 hours just to work hanging a banner across State Street that day of the festival."

Riders interested in information on the Ann Arbor ride can call Doyle at 722-6280. A separate number — 224-1184 — has been set up for the Detroit ride, while a toll-free number — 1-800-235-5005 — offers information on the other rides planned for that day.

Tickets may be bought at Hill Auditorium's box office in Ann Arbor or through Ticket World outlets.

"It's a national event and with only 100 cities participating, it's an honor to be involved and an honor to be involved as a coordinator," Doyle added.

"We all agree, though, the day after will be a real let down."

MENTAL HEALTH 'BUDDIES'

People who have been frequently hospitalized for mental health problems and are living in Plymouth, Canton, Northville, Livonia or Redford are eligible for a new "Buddies Program" for out-patient community mental health operated by Suburban West Community Center, 875 S. Main, Plymouth, with main office at 11667 Beech Daly, Redford.

Former clients who have demonstrated successful adjustment in the community serve as "buddies," providing assistance in handling crises and achieving personal goals. To receive further information about the program, call Suburban West Community Center, 937-9500 or 981-2665.

CPR CLASS

CPR Heart Saver classes are taught the second Monday of each month at 7 p.m. in Oakwood Hospital Canton Center, Warren at Canton Center Road. This course covers one-person CPR on an adult, and what to do for a person with an obstructed airway.

'TELE-CARE'

Senior citizens in Plymouth-Canton may participate in a "Tele-Care" program in which telephone contact is made daily with senior citizens to check on their well-being. For more information, Canton residents may call 397-1000, Ext. 278, and Plymouth residents may call 453-3840, Ext. 37, or 453-2671, Plymouth Township Hall.

OAKWOOD VOLUNTEER GUILD

The Volunteer Guild at Oakwood Hospital Canton Center continues to offer free blood pressure checks 6-8 p.m. Tuesdays at the hospital, 7300 Canton Center Road at Warren.

COUNSELING, SELF-ESTEEM

Individual counseling and support groups are available on an ongoing basis to deal with lifestyle changes, depression, low self confidence, assertiveness, divorce, job changes and general anxiety. People can work with these issues individually or in groups.

Major insurance coverages are accepted. Counseling and groups are run by an experienced and state-licensed social worker. Call Plymouth-Canton Mental Health Services at 459-6580 before 5 p.m. and ask for Sandy Prochazka.

PROBLEMS IN LIVING

Suburban West Community Center, a non-profit community mental health agency, has announced that its Problems in Living Clinic has limited money available to pay counseling costs for clients based on their ability to pay. Profits generated by client fees or insurance reimbursement are put into this fund to pay for those who cannot afford the full fee.

The Problems in Living Clinic provides outpatient counseling to adults and families for a wide variety of problems including anxiety and depression, marriage conflicts, fertility and adoption, parenting concerns, headaches and pain reduction, sexual functioning, communication, stress management, spouse and child abuse.

The clinic also provides services to adults who have been hospitalized or who are in crisis, based on ability to pay. The center has two locations, veterans should be aware of recent changes affecting the Veterans Readjustment Appointments program. VRA is a federal hiring program providing special, non-competitive hiring of these veterans. Originally scheduled to expire Sept. 30, 1984, the program has been extended through Sept. 30, 1986, through passage of the Veterans Benefits Improvement Act. It is not expected that the VRA program will be extended beyond that date.

VETERANS PROGRAM EXTENDED

In addition to extending the program, the act raised the entry grade level maximum from GS/WG-7 to GS/WG-9 and also provided limited appeal rights during the first year of appointment. A Vietnam-era or disabled veteran who has completed no more than 14 years of education may qualify for a VRA. (This restriction may be waived for disabled veterans.) For further information, interested veterans may call the local American Legion hotline at 453-9494 and leave a message regarding information desired.

School election: Apathy is costly

IN JUNE THE annual school election will include a bond proposal request as well as the election of members to the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.

Residents interested in the well-being of the school district will want to pay close attention to both parts of June's ballot. The bond issue's passage or defeat will determine in a number of areas the quality and availability of facilities and equipment to educate Plymouth-Canton students.

Likewise, there is a wide range of school board candidates of varying degrees of knowledge, experience and insight. There could be some very good trustees elected; there could be decisions made that would be regretted later. This is no time for apathy because the choices made this June really do make a difference.

ONE GROUP that clearly does not want to be apathetic includes those residents concerned with the future of Central Middle School.

The former high school has been aging and is badly in need of major repairs. The school board, faced with a cost of $5 million for a complete overhaul or $1-$2 million for a less extensive renovation, has chosen the less expensive route.

The bill is costly enough, though, that it cannot be picked up from normal operating costs. Instead the district plans to borrow the money through the sale of bonds. To pay back the bonded debt, the district needs voter approval to levy a special tax only to be used for debt retirement.

The proposed bond $13 million issue contains other major repairs besides Central Middle, one new elementary school and other steps to increase classroom space, the purchases of buses and the purchase of instructional equipment at all levels. The tie to education is certainly close enough to warrant concern and examination from all those concerned with instructional quality.

The bond issue particularly should be a cause for concern for residents in the Central Middle School attendance area, particularly city of Plymouth residents. When rumors circulated that Central might be closed and the property sold, a number of Central parents and neighbors were up in arms. All those who stormed city hall and the school board offices then should seriously consider now their obligation to become informed of what the bond issue means for Central and to vote next month.

In the last city election, a slate of candidates ran on a common program that included a call to do what was possible to keep Central Middle open. The Observer suggested that the slate was misdirected in making the status of Central an issue in city politics as the future of the school lies in the hands of the school board. Now the school's future lies in the hands of voters. If that slate was sincere about keeping Central open, and not using the issue only for political gain, then slate leaders should become very active now, and publicly vocal, in urging residents to vote "yes" or "no" on the bond issue.

RESIDENTS THROUGHOUT the district will want to pay attention to the school board race.

Elaine Kirchgatter of Canton has decided against seeking re-election. She has almost nine years' experience on the board which will be missed. Trustee E.J. McClendon, another veteran of the board, is seeking election to a two-year term and likely will step down after that. With the current board relatively inexperienced, it will be important to elect people with knowledge of the district.

McClendon of Plymouth represents one choice for knowledge and experience, and incumbent Marilyn Schwinn of Plymouth has grown in office since being appointed. Another knowledgeable person is Jeannette Wines of Canton who has served the district on a number of committees for some years now and has been to more board meetings than many current members. Joan Kotcher of Canton also has been active in school affairs and has attended many meetings herself.

Richard Sumpter of Canton started out as a single-issue uninformed candidate but has gained viability as a candidate. Judith Lore of Plymouth has not been involved in school affairs at the board level but has a broad base of community involvement.

Some years there really hasn't been much of a choice in school board elections. This year there are choices and it does make a difference how you choose. The bond proposal also is an important issue. Much is at stake. Too much for you to sit it out. Remember, every vote counts.

Let Lee engineer cars, not country

IT WAS inevitable someone would come up with the idea of drafting Lee Iacocca to become a presidential candidate, no matter how bad the idea is.

An engineer who was the driving force behind one of the company's most successful cars, a man who was fired from one automobile company only to resurrect another dying car company, the author of a fabulously successful best-selling book about his own life, Iacocca has become an American folk hero.

The fact that Iacocca is the son of an immigrant and a man who rose to the top through hard work and a never-say-die attitude is an affirmation of the values of America.

That he made $11 million or so last year as chairman of the New Chrysler Corp. doesn't seem to bother people a whit. After all, this is an era when people who can hit 40 home runs a year or slam dunk a basketball behind one's head while flying through the air are paid $2 million per. It no longer seems unreasonable to reward the captains of industry so handsomely.

WHAT HAS all this to do with being a president? Unfortunately, nothing at all. What it has to do with is running a campaign for the presidency.

Those who would like to draft Iacocca — including one of former President Jimmy Carter's aides — recognize that Iacocca has become the kind of person that Americans like to see when they think about electing presidents.

The general public attitude toward

Bob Wisler

Washington and the federal government is mistrust and skepticism.

THERE IS a psychic need within us that cries for some kind of savior to appear and lead us away from the confusion of life into a time of national sanity and safety. We look for the person who is really not a part of the erratic and undependable national government. He is the outsider, the one who knows how to get things done, who can come into Washington and make sense of it all.

In modern times, various presidential candidates have rode into the White House on almost the same kind of wave. Eisenhower was the war hero, the man outside of national government. Kennedy's glamor, charm and mystique obscured the fact that he was a politician.

Nixon couldn't get elected president until after he dropped out of government. Carter became president because he was an outsider, a successful businessman who had a new vision. Even Reagan fulfills the need. The fact that he was a one-time governor of California was about as important as the fact that he was a former actor when he was first elected president.

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Eric Reickel, county parks administrator, wants to restore then upgrade the area parks. Reickel, pictured here in Edward Hines at Riverside in Plymouth, believes a viable parks system can be a catalyst for an expanding economy and tax base.

Let's save Reickel's dream

ERIC Reickel is one of the jewels in the Wayne County administration, and it behooves the next county executive and County Commission to pay attention to what the parks director has to say about one of our most valuable assets — our parkland.

Lured to his present post by Wayne County Executive William Lucas, Reickel is one of America's top professionals in community recreation.

A native of Rockwood, in southern Wayne County, Reickel earned a bachelor of science degree in community recreation from Michigan State University. His first professional jobs were in Wyandotte and in Trenton, both downriver suburbs.

From there he went to Bucks County, Pa., as executive director of parks and recreation. Oakland County hired him in 1972, and by all accounts, its park system flourished. Under Reickel, Oakland's system grew from six parks on 2,200 acres to nine with 3,700 acres.

Reickel left his mark by improving facilities, organizing activities, promoting public use of the parks and raising fee revenues to supplement tax funds. The state's first wave-action pool and the nation's first dome-covered golf driving range were at the top of a list of innovations.

Despite an inadequate budget allocation in Wayne County ($2.5 million compared to $7-$8 million in Oakland), Reickel has managed to improve the face of our parks. Along Edward Hines Park, in particular, the litter has diminished, grassy areas are mowed, and picnic tables have been repaired.

BUT THERE'S lots more left to do — upgrading athletic playing fields, parking, new comfort stations and picnic shelters.

Reickel accepted the Wayne County post because he likes a challenge. Well, he got one. And despite this week's announcement by Lucas of a spending and hiring freeze, Reickel will forge ahead to restore and upgrade county parks.

Reickel believes a viable parks system can be a catalyst for an expanding economy and tax base. He's right. Clean, safe, accessible parks enhance the quality of life in any given area. Business and industry undoubtedly consider the quality of life — as Oakland County has demonstrated.

But a budget allocation that falls short of what was available in the '50s and '60s won't finish the restoration or start the upgrading that must follow.

Reickel is upfront when he talks about park funding. He points out that any successful system has a guaranteed source of funding. It will take money — at least 0.5 mill to finish the job he has started. And that's what Wayne County needs to correct what hard economic times and fiscal blundering at the county level have wrought.

WAYNE COUNTY PARKS — the most well-known of which is Edward Hines, in the Middle Rouge River valley — are financed by the general fund budget.

"There is so much potential here. Parks are the cheapest fix in this county," said Reickel.

The key is money.

Reickel said he intends to stick around and finish the job he started. However, the results of a task force that is studying park funding and a state-funded master plan of the county's role in providing leisure services will certainly help determine Reickel's future.

It's rare today that Wayne County can brag about having the best of anything, but in Reickel's case the boast is accurate.

The next county executive and board of commissioners will have a long list of problems to address and most certainly those needs that directly address the health, safety and welfare of county residents must come first. The county parks should be up there near the top.

Hats off to academic stars

"A people who mean to be their own governors must arm themselves with the power which knowledge gives."

— James Madison

The former Founding Father and president had it down pat when talking about the importance of education to this country. Without a sound system, we soon would lose our freedom. Dramatic but true.

And while today we all seem to enjoy taking shots at educational standards in this country, reason for hope certainly exists. That reason, of course, is best exemplified by the students produced by the system.

So for a minute forget about millages, student-teacher ratios and locker searches.

In today's edition of the newspaper we are highlighting several examples of how our system has succeeded. Those reasons come in the form of the Observer & Eccentric Academic All-Stars. That's right, academic.

Throughout the years we have followed a tradition that has grown in journalistic circles by highlighting all-stars in the sports arena.

Steve Barnaby

Not until last year were we able to get our wits about us to present all-stars who had gone unheralded for far too many years — the academicians.

ACTUALLY THE CREDIT has to go to Redford Union principal Bob Schramke who came to us with the idea. Many other area high school administrators act as judges in the competition. We all owe them a debt of gratitude for the time they take to participate.

We're certainly proud to be the messengers of this news. The chief messenger in this project, by the way, is assistant managing editor Kathy Moran. She spent countless extra hours coordinating this project.

Personally, I'm delighted this newspaper is presenting today's special feature. Like many folks, I have been a little disturbed that the sports types get all the glory. Nothing against sports, mind you. It certainly is more exciting to watch a young, healthy kid run for a touchdown than watch a student toil in a library.

But a lot of us out there know which one really is more rewarding — and more important.

TRUTH OF the matter is that a sound body and sound mind go hand-in-hand. Unfortunately, we've reserved sound body for an elite minority.

But with academic pursuits, if you're smart enough, you can continue to excel and accomplish.

The really impressive aspect about the academic all-stars you'll read about today is their diversity. Forget the nerd image. These are a well-rounded bunch of students. Some do play sports — cross country, soccer, volleyball and tennis. Others are in symphony bands, debate clubs and drama clubs.

They are the type of people who find time to expand their horizons. They are the type of students who will be our leaders in the future — who will govern this nation and be the caretakers of our freedoms.

Ellie Graham, by one of her erstwhile readers

An era in the history of journalism in Plymouth came to an end in the 1960s when Sterling Eaton's Plymouth Mail gave way to the Observer.

Another era may have ended a few months ago with the retirement of Ellie Graham as suburban life editor of the Observer's Plymouth and Canton editions.

During the days of Sterling Eaton and his father, Elton, the Mail carried to small-town extreme the old axiom "names make news." Believing that people read the Mail to discover who was entertaining whom, the Eatons insisted that each issue carry at least 100 items of social gossip.

The advent of the Observer, and the appointment of Elinor Graham as its suburban life editor, brought a more sophisticated version of the names-make-news philosophy.

IN THE STORIES Ellie wrote, and particularly in her column, "The View From 489 S. Main," she managed to include the names of a multitude of local residents over the years — but she did it in a more subtle fashion: Individual achievements, unusual happenings involving people, and organizational news took the place of who-was-entertaining-whom.

And Ellie did it with a flair and an engaging style that attracted a readership far greater than might be expected of a social column.

Whether her performance will be duplicated, only time will tell. But it is not of Ellie's writing, it is of Ellie herself that this is about.

ELINOR PRICE GRAHAM was born in London, Ontario, of British descent. Her father was of Welsh origin; her mother's people came from England and Scotland.

When she was young, the family moved to Wheatley, 50 miles southeast of Windsor. There was no high school in Wheatley, so she attended Leamington High, where, among other subjects, she took five years of French.

Her childhood ambition was to be a lawyer. Not having the money to go to law school, she attended a teacher's normal school in London.

Ellie taught for 3½ years in a Canadian one-room schoolhouse equipped with "outside plumbing." She was paid $550 a year.

Sam Hudson

"I had 35 kids, ranging from first to eighth grades. They were great. When they had a game to go to, I packed the whole team in my car. When the car wouldn't start, they would all get behind and push. Each kid had his own pushing spot on the car."

During her first year, Ellie organized an evening party. All her pupils, their students, the principal and the board of education were invited. She made salmon sandwiches and egg salad sandwiches and thought everything was set.

BUT WHEN the group got to the school and found it in darkness, she remembered that it had no lighting system. Everyone laughed, a few farmers went home and got Coleman lanterns, and the party got under way.

Ellie Price loved teaching, but she left it to marry Donald Graham in 1941. His parents, Americans, had a summer home near Wheatley. Don, a graduate of the University of Michigan, worked for a packaging company, then opened a bowling alley in Forest, Ontario. It went well until a fire put him out of business.

The family moved to Plymouth in 1955 when he got a job as manager of sales and service at the Harvey Container plant. The family — Don and Ellie and children, Donald, Janet, Duncan and Martha — was the subject of one of the Mail's Newcomer photo series the year they arrived.

DURING HER school days, Ellie like to read and write. She won a prize essay contest for an article on safety first.

When she lived in Wheatley, she wrote local news items for the Windsor Star (the skating is good this year, the so-and-so's have a colony of bees in their attic, and items about the Menonites who lived in the area).

In the early 1960s, the Observer, based in Livonia, wanted a Plymouth columnist. Ellie took the job and began writing "Around Plymouth With Ellie."

Don died of a heart attack in September 1966. Ellie, who had given up writing the column, went back to work for the Observer in May 1967. First she was a proofreader, then worked on the copy desk. Then she was transferred to the Livonia office.

When Emory Daniels was named editor of the Plymouth Observer in 1975, he asked that Ellie be transferred to the Plymouth office where she established the first suburban life section for the Plymouth and Canton editions.

She also wrote a column, "The View

From 489 S. Main." Her one regret was that she never had time to polish. "How wonderful it would be to have time to sharpen everything you write."

ELLIE'S HOME is full of interesting antiques. Of one old piece, Ellie says she once heard her mother, then visiting, say to another woman, when she thought Ellie was out of ear-shot: "Imagine anyone putting that thing in the living room."

Ellie is an inveterate collector of unusual picture frames and the house has many of them on the walls. A handsome old organ sits in one corner — "it belonged to the Art Haeskes who had no room for it when they moved."

Ellie says she's a "bookoholic." She likes good books but these days seems to read mostly escape fiction. Asked what one book she would choose if cast away on a desert island, she thinks for a minute then says, "A complete set of Shakespeare."

Ellie can't think of any pet peeves she has. On the positive side, she thinks that the Plymouth community is unusual in the way people work together for the common good, newcomers as well as the old residents.

Her parting words: "I wish you wouldn't write this. I haven't done enough to warrant it. Emory went overboard when he wrote about me when I retired."

Michigan 150 years old

TWO KEY figures call the shots in Michigan's state capitol. The state is better off for having both of them.

You already know that one is Gov. James J. Blanchard. A very different kind of figure is Senate Majority Leader John Engler of Mount Pleasant — different somewhat in politics, far different in style, and far more productive legislatively than his Democratic counterpart, House Speaker Gary Owen.

Shortly after Engler took the reins, Sen. R. Robert Geake of Northville, one of the senior Republicans in Lansing, called Engler the best of three leaders he has worked with — tireless, innovative, grasping a wide variety of issues.

Opinions are to be shared

Opinions and ideas are most fertile when shared with others.

That's why the Observer encourages its readers to share their views with others by making use of the From Our Readers column.

While the Observer expresses its opinions on the editorial page, we always leave space open for our readers to express their ideas.

Submitting a letter to the editor for publication is easy. We ask that letters be typewritten or printed legibly and kept to 300 words or less. They must be signed and include the address of the sender.

Names will be withheld only for the best of reasons, and the decision to do so will be made by the editor.

Letters may be mailed or hand-delivered to our news office at 489 S. Main, Plymouth 48170.

There is a phenomenon that occurs on a regular basis in our household which, given sufficient government grant money, would probably make a very interesting scientific study.

I am referring to the mystery of empty cereal boxes, cookie packages, milk cartons, juice cans, etc., being replaced in the cupboard or refrigerator rather than put into the garbage where they belong.

It's not as if it's easier for the perpetrator to return an empty cookie bag to the cupboard after the contents have been sneakily disposed of. The wastebasket is in very close proximity to the cupboard — one doesn't even have to reach up to toss out their empties.

NATURALLY, neither hubby nor either of our sons will own up to being the culprit. They even have the nerve to look at me as though I were slightly demented for being irritated over such trivialities.

I suspect this particular behavior of hoarding empty packages may be in some way related to another dreaded affliction — drinking directly out of a juice can, milk carton or large pop bottle. (Somehow my sons have come to believe that this practice is perfectly acceptable AS LONG AS MOM DOESN'T SEE YOU.)

I'm sure a quick surreptitious slurp from the juice can is no doubt followed by an even quicker replacing of said can into the fridge in order to avoid detection. Doesn't allow much time to check and see if the can is empty, does it?

So along comes grocery day. I check the cupboard and see four cookie bags and a cupcake box. The fridge holds two juice cans, two pop bottles and a Twinkie box. A novice shopper would naturally assume that we are well-stocked in those particular items and need purchase no more.

This group is intended to provide educational and emotional support to couples who suffer from the effects of physical impotence. Confidentiality assured. To register, call 467-4570.

● HANDICAPPERS' HANDBOOK

The Metropolitan Society for Crippled Children and Adults, an organization serving the disabled since 1938, has just completed the fifth edition of its Directory for the Disabled. It contains information on where a disabled person can go for help, including government aid, orthopedic shoes, equipment, housing and recreation.

The free handbook can be obtained by contacting Metropolitan Society for Crippled Children and Adults, 287 North Ave., Mount Clemens 48043. Phone: 465-5522. Include in your letter requesting the directory the disabled person's name, address, phone number, date of birth and disability. A copy may be purchased by a service organization by sending a letter on letterhead stationary and enclosing $5. A copy may be bought by the general public for $10.

● HEALTH SPEAKERS BUREAU

Two area medical facilities have speakers bureaus for local groups and organizations.

Annapolis Hospital in the city of Wayne will provide a speaker for community groups or organizations. A variety of health-related topics can be tailored for specific requests. For further information, call 467-4570.

Catherine McAuley Health Center (CMHC) will provide speakers free to clubs and community groups interested in learning more about health care.

Teen-agers and drugs, herpes, nutrition facts and facts, and health care for senior citizens are just a few of the many topics speakers of the McAuley Health Speakers Bureau can address with your group. If you are interested in a subject not on the extensive list of presentations, the bureau will find a health care professional qualified to discuss the issue.

All speakers are familiar with the health center and with what is being planned in response to changing health care needs. Their presentations will be tailored to the time limitation and special requirements of your group. To arrange for a free speaker, call 572-4033.

All-Stars look to the future

Jacqueline Acho

THEIR FUTURES are bright, their determination is strong and their academic achievements are indisputable.

The 15 members of the 1986 Observer Academic All-Star team are heading for careers in engineering, medicine or business.

Students were selected by a committee from the Michigan Association of Secondary School Principals. A formula that took into account grade averages in academic subjects and test scores in the SAT, ACT or PSAT (for juniors only) was used to rank the students.

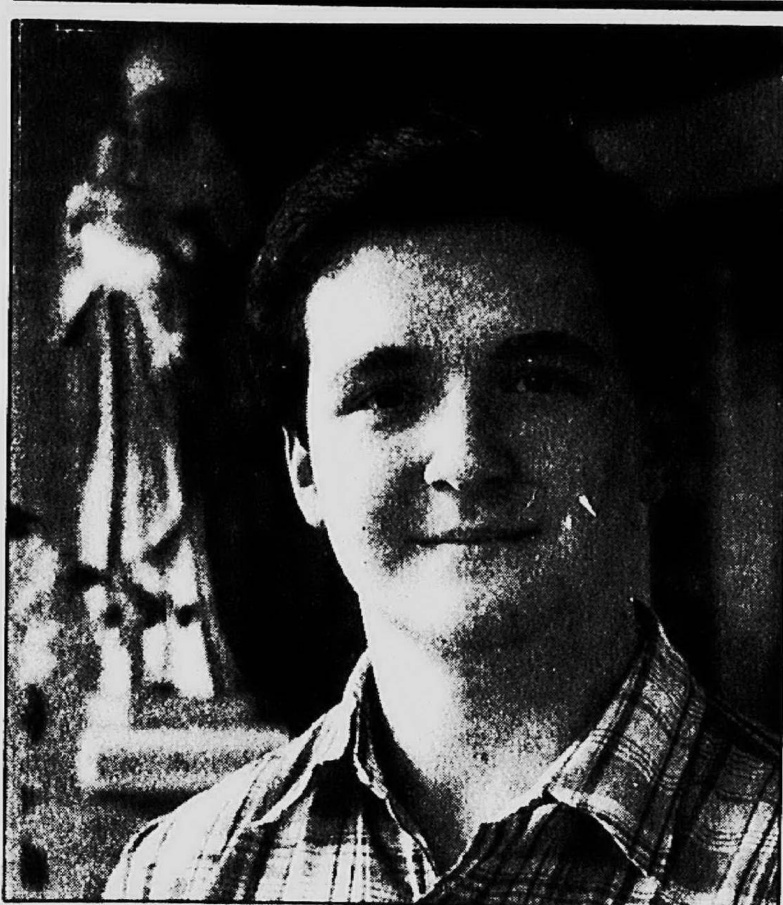

Each high school in the Observer circulation area was invited to nominate two students, either juniors or seniors, to the team. In all, 38 were nominated.

The following achievers make up the 1986 team:

JACQUELINE A. ACHO — North Farmington High School, Farmington Hills. Acho plans to attend the University of Michigan. She is a special writer for the Farmington Observer and is a member of forensics, the marching band, track team, Spanish Club and National Honor Society. Acho, who lives on Muer Cove in Farmington Hills, was a summer exchange student in Spain and is a National Merit semifinalist. Asked who has influenced her academic career, Acho said, "My parents, through their continuing support of my efforts and encouragement in the pursuit of my own interests."

JOHN D. BRINKMAN — Bishop Borgess High School, Redford Township. Brinkman, who lives on Minock Street in Detroit, is aiming for a career specializing in robotics and plans to obtain a master's degree in electrical engineering. He is co-president of the National Honor Society, member of the Michigan Mathematics League and participated in the Wayne State Watertower Building Contest and the Great Lakes Invitational Model United Nations. He is a National Merit semifinalist and member of Phi Beta Kappa and placed second in the National Science Olympiad in chemistry and physics. He also received outstanding achievement awards in science, math and English. Brinkman said his academic career has been influenced by "many people — family, friends and teachers (both grade school and high school) who have continued to provide challenge, room to stretch and encouragement when I felt overwhelmed."

KENNETH CLARK — John Glenn High School, Westland. Clark is aiming for a bachelor's of science degree in aerospace engineering at the University of Michigan, four years as an Air Force officer and then graduate studies at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. His activities include cross country, tennis, orchestra, forensics, French Club and National Honor Society. He was a finalist in the Michigan Math Prize competition. Clark, who lives on Brookfield Street in Canton Township, credits his parents for inspiring academic achievement because they "gave me discipline and helped to set my standards."

Daniel Shakespear of Catholic Central High School in Redford Township won the top ranking among the Observer Academic All-Stars. Shakespear, who lives in West Bloomfield, will study electrical engineering at General Motors Institute while working through co-op with Delco.

DAVID DARMOFAL — Stevenson High School, Livonia. Darmofal, who lives on Bennett Street in Livonia, plans to attend the University of Michigan where he will study math and engineering. He has held leadership positions in the Student Senate, Sophomore Class Council, Chess Club, National Honor Society, computer team and Quiz Bowl Team. He is a member of the Literary Arts Magazine staff, Jazz Band, debate team, Livonia Youth Choir, Math Club and forensics team. He is a National Merit finalist, was awarded a SAE/Uniroyal engineering scholarship, received the Summa Cum Laude award and was a district forensics tournament winner. He placed in the top 50 Michigan math students in 1985 and top 100 in 1986. "I have been greatly influenced by my parents," Darmofal said. "They have given me a set of values which stress the value of hard work. This hard work ethic has been one of the important factors in my academic career in high school."

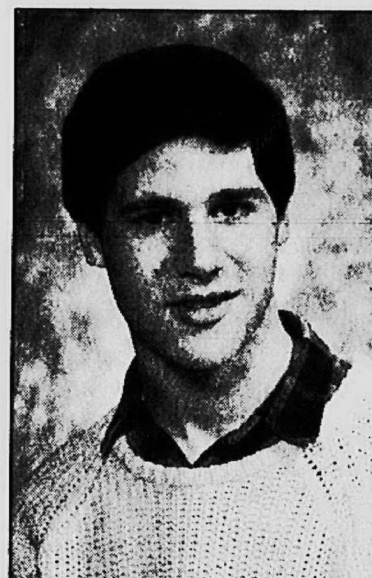

WILLIAM D. KELLOGG — Churchill High School, Livonia. Kellogg plans to study mechanical engineering at Colorado State University and later join the Air Force and become a test pilot. A Livonia resident,

Kellogg is president of the Aerospace Club, vice president of the Physics Club and co-captain of the computer team. He has worked on the Walk for Mankind and is a crossing guard coordinator. He received an honorable mention in the Michigan Math Competition and is a member of the National Honor Society. Who has influenced his academic career? "Big Bird and Kermit the Frog," said Kellogg. "I'll never forget Sesame Street."

PAUL KRAJEWSKI — Stevenson High School, Livonia. Krajewski, who lives on Hammer Street in Livonia, will attend the University of Michigan and study engineering. His school activities include Quiz Bowl team, math team, Class Council, treasurer of the National Honor Society and president of the Math Club. He is a member of the pep and marching bands and is assistant coach of the St. Colette softball team. He is a Michigan Math Prize finalist, will graduate summa cum laude and attended Boys' State. His eighth-grade teacher, Dana Hardwidge, influenced his academic pursuits, Krajewski said. "She challenged me to work and the study habits that she helped me to develop have really helped me throughout my high school years."

SOO JIN KWON — Plymouth Salem High School, Plymouth. Kwon, a Plymouth resident, will attend Yale to study business and music. She was offered an alumni scholarship and a music scholarship to the University of Michigan. She is captain of the varsity tennis team, opinion and commentary editor of the school newspaper, member of the student council, pianist with the Jazz Band and manager of the boy's tennis team. Kwon is vice president of the National Honor Society and was the Elks Club Student of the Year in 1984-85. Her English teacher, Ruth Tonner, has been "my teacher and my mentor," said Kwon. "She helped me to grow intellectually and spiritually. She taught me courage and self respect. She taught me to seek and persevere. She showed faith in me and thus gave me faith in myself."

Daniel Weiner

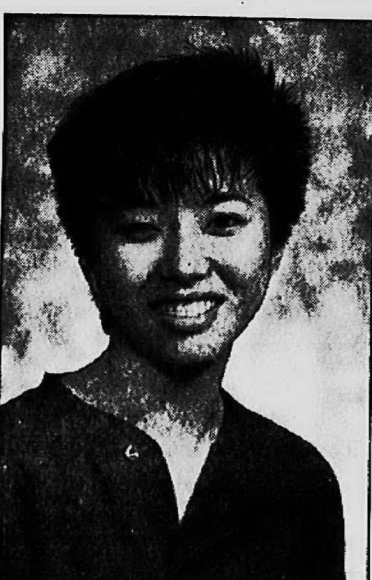

IAN MCCREERY — John Glenn High School, Westland. McCreery would like to study history or Russian studies at the University of Michigan or Williams College. He is aiming for a career in teaching or archaeology. His school activities include varsity football, French Club and National Honor Society. He is vice president of the Student Council and a crew trainer at McDonald's. McCreery, a resident of Wayne, is a National Merit finalist, semifinalist for a Senate youth scholarship and is listed in Who's Who of High School Students. "My mother has most influenced my academics because of her attitudes toward education and learning," McCreery said. "Education isn't just school, but learning from everything around you."

PETER MUELLER — Bishop Borgess High School, Redford Township. Mueller, who lives in Detroit, is aiming for college and possibly a graduate degree. He is vice president of Close Up Congress, head delegate to Model United Nations and a member of Computer Club, stage crew, forensics and his parish council. Mueller was a medalist from the National Science Olympiad and a National Merit semifinalist. "I feel that my parents have had the greatest influence in my academic career. They have always had high expectations," Mueller said.

DENNIS J. PAIGE — Garden City High School, Garden City. Paige, a Garden City resident, plans to study engineering at the University of Michigan. His activities include bowling, wallyball, designing games, canoeing and writing poems and stories. He is president of a local gaming society, student-teacher at a junior high school and member of National Honor Society. His academic career has been influenced by "my brothers in the sense that I have always tried to compete and surpass their high academic and aesthetic standards. They have always supported me," Paige said.

CHRISTINE PELLAR — Redford Union High School, Redford Township, who lives on Leona Street in Redford Township, is aiming for a career as a biomedical engineer or technical writer. Her school activities include participating in the Olympics of the Mind, Science Olympiad and Quiz Bowl as well as being captain of the Color Guard and president of French Club. She received Rensselaer awards in math and science, Madame Curie award from Society of Women Engineers and is a nominee for All-State Academic team. She has been influenced most by "Daniel Ehle, by explaining and showing me how important academics are," Pellar said.

LINDA RHEE — Plymouth Salem High School, Plymouth Rhee, a Plymouth resident, plans to attend either Princeton University or the University of Michigan to study math or German. She is a member of the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park Marching Band, symphony band and orchestra, Drama Club, Student Council and German Club. She is a member of the National Honor Society and was a National Merit commended student. Rhee said teacher Barb Masters has influenced her academic career. "She is the best teacher I've ever had. She made me realize that I have to find a career that I like a career that will let me enjoy myself and be myself. She also opened my eyes to some really interesting writers and artists."

MARK J. SCHIEFSKY — Harrison High School, Farmington Hills. Schiefsky plans to earn a degree in a natural science or in music and ultimately earn a doctoral degree and pursue a career in research or music performance. Schiefsky, who lives on Kiltartan Street in Farmington Hills, performed in the Jazz Band, Marching Band, Metropolitan Youth Symphony and Oakway Symphony and participated in the Olympics of the Mind and Warren Astronomical Society. His honors include National Honor Society membership, Michigan Math Prize finalist, top ratings in the AATG German test, Congress-Bundestag scholarship semifinalist. Although he believes he has had some excellent teachers and counselors, Schiefsky says his "parents shaped me to the greatest extent, by encouraging me to love learning and knowledge. It is only with their support and guidance that I have been able to be successful in school."

DANIEL SHAKESPEAR — Detroit Catholic Central High School, Redford Township, Shakespear, who lives in West Bloomfield, will study electrical engineering at General Motors Institute while working through co-op with Defco. He is editor of the school newspaper and holds a second-degree brown belt in judo. He is a member of National Honor Society, is a National Merit scholar, received two bronze awards in the Michigan Math Prize Contest and earned a Rensselaer medal. He also won a grand award in Edison McGraw scholarship program. Shakespear said his parents influenced him "by encouraging me to use my time to learn about whatever I was curious about, and by helping me to do so."

DANIEL WEINER — Harrison High School, Farmington Hills. Weiner plans to obtain an undergraduate degree in biomedical sciences at the University of Michigan, and then go on to earn a medical degree, specializing in pediatrics. He participates in French Club, Future Problem Solving and the computer team. Weiner, who lives on Danvers Drive in Farmington Hills, is production manager of the literary magazine and treasurer of National Honor Society.

Girl Scouts laud service

Local residents were honored recently at the Recognition Dinner of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council. Jeanne Wood of Canton received the Adult Appreciation Pin, which recognizes dedicated and enthusiastic service to the Girl Scouts over a period of years.

Wood has served the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council as troop leader, troop cookie chairwoman, area cookie chair, council cookie chair and council calendar sale chair.

During each of the last four years, the council cookie sales goal has been set progressively higher and has been met each year.

VERNA GEORGE of Canton received the Torchbearer Award, which recognizes an outstanding promoter of Girl Scouting in the community.

George is a Brownie Girl Scout leader who has served as a troop committee member, on the Plymouth Northville Canton Area Chairman Advisory Committee, and as chairwoman of a local blood drive.

She and her Girl Scouts have been involved in projects that have carried the message of Girl Scouting beyond the local community.

Troop projects have included collecting glasses for "Eyes for the Needy" and designing a patch promoting world peace. The patch was carried aboard the Discovery space shuttle, it became the 1986 Thinking Day greeting from Girl Scouts of the U.S. to Girl Scouts throughout the world.

RUBY MONK of Canton received the Green Tree Award, which recognizes significant service in providing understanding and enjoyment of the outdoors.

Monk helped develop programs and has logged many hours in camp certification, cabins and cookouts, and outdoor program courses. In addition to being a Cadette Girl Scout leader and craft director for an adult weekend, she has been part of the day camp and encampment staffs.

Monk has also directed the outdoor program aide training, given day camp director's training and helped to train resident camp staffers. She attended the Michigan Outdoor Education Association Weekend Conference and brought back ideas for making camp accessible to the handicapped.

During the summer of 1985, Monk was chosen to attend the national "Windows on Wildlife" program held at National Center West in Wyoming.

SEVERAL AREA residents received the Order of the Silver Trefoil at the Recognition Dinner. The Order of the Silver Trefoil recognizes those who have been registered members of the Girl Scout organization for at least 25 years and who are currently registered.

Charter members from Plymouth Northville Canton are: Fran Bauer, Esther Hulsing, Marjorie Jennings, Mary Lou Johnson, Ruth Paul and Priscilla Snyder.

How to submit news

News of clubs, service organizations, engagements, weddings and wedding anniversaries are printed without cost in the Suburban Life Section of the Plymouth Observer and Canton Observer newspapers.

News items may be dropped off or mailed to the office at 489 S. Main St., Plymouth 48170. Special forms are available for club news, engagements, weddings and 50th wedding anniversary announcements.

Black and white pictures are preferred as they reproduce more clearly than color photographs. A self-addressed, stamped envelope assures return of the pictures, or, they can be picked up at the office a week after they have been published. Mail should be addressed to the attention of Elinor Graham, Suburban Life editor.

Activities of more major scope than regular club meetings may warrant more extensive coverage and a photograph. Call the newspaper, 459-2700, well in advance of the event to permit scheduling a photograph.

Breaking news stories (and we appreciate telephone calls on these) like fires, accidents, etc., receive on-the-spot coverage. Other events, planned for in advance, should be announced a week or so before the actual date.

Commission plans local hearing

The Michigan Women's Commission will be conducting hearings throughout the state to determine the status of older women in three major economic areas.

A Canton Township hearing has been scheduled 4-8 p.m. Thursday, May 8, at UAW Local 735, 48055 Michigan Ave.

In its 1985-86 budget, the Michigan Legislature directed that the commission study the availability and impact of pension systems, employment and training programs, and health insurance as they relate to older women.

The testimony gathered will be included in a report to be presented to the Michigan Legislature before Oct. 1 of this year.

Those who wish to submit written testimony should send it to: Michigan Women's Commission, Department of Management and Budget, 100 N. Pine St., P.O. Box 30026, Lansing 48909. Written testimony will be taken up to May 15, said Earlene Neal, director of programs for the Michigan Women's Commission.

Those who wish to testify at the Canton Township hearing should call the Michigan Women's Commission at (517) 373-2884 to be included on the agenda.

Weight No Longer
Be another Be Trim! success story.

Another Be Trim! class is about to begin at Arbor Health Building

Experience the feeling of success with Be Trim!, a proven program that can help you control your weight.

Be Trim! isn't just another diet program. Or just a plan for better nutrition. It's not another quick weight loss program where the weight comes right back on.

Be Trim! is a program for lifelong weight control that fits you and your lifestyle. Because you design your program yourself.

When you attend a Be Trim! session, you'll learn how to develop a lifestyle that gives you total control of your weight. With Be Trim!, you'll make better nutritional choices and be able to handle stress without overeating—or feeling deprived.

At the program's end, your days in the diet/weight gain cycle will be over. At long last, you'll be able to take charge of your weight. For the rest of your life.

All it takes is nine informative sessions. And the first session is free.

Come to a Be Trim! session and be on your way to permanent weight control.

church bulletin

FAITH LUTHERAN

World-renowned organist Paul Manz will play a hymn festival at 7 p.m. Sunday, May 4, at Faith Lutheran Church, 30000 Five Mile, Livonia. "Prelude to Unity" is the theme of a program celebrating the proposed union of Lutheran churches in 1988 and their growing unity with other Christians.

Along with the classic hymns of the church, the festival will feature several new hymns for a new church, including the Kyrie and Hymn of the Day from "Una Sancta: A Mass in Thanksgiving for the Unity of the Body of Christ," being written by Manz in collaboration with the Rev. Walter Wangerin Jr. for the 1988 union.

The event is one of 24 hymn festivals being sponsored throughout the country by Christ Seminary-Seminex, a Chicago-based theological school. Manz is a Christ Seminary-Seminex professor and artist in residence at the Lutheran School of Theology in Chicago.

MOUNT HOPE CONGREGATIONAL

Mount Hope Congregational and St. Matthew United Methodist Church will have a joint musical worship service featuring the contemporary service "The Gathering" by Ken Medema. The service, under the direction of Neal Stahl, will include soloists, dancing and an instrumental ensemble. The service will be performed at Mount Hope, 30330 Schoolcraft, between Merriman and Middlebelt, at 10:30 a.m. Sunday, May 4, and at St. Matthew, 30900 W. Six Mile, Sunday, May 18.

WESTLAND ALLIANCE

Dr. James Dobson's new film series, "Turn Your Heart Toward Home," will be shown as a ministry of Westland Alliance Church. The series will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Tuesdays, May 6 to June 10, at the Wayne Ford Civic League, 1645 N. Wayne, Westland. Dobson previously produced the "Focus on the Family" film series. In his new series, the family life expert turns his attention to the strengthening and protecting of family relationships. The first film shown in the series will be "A Father Looks Back."

FIRST METHODIST OF PLYMOUTH

Musical Youth International will perform the first of its prelude concerts at 3 p.m. Sunday, May 11 (Mother's Day), at First United Methodist Church, on N. Territorial Road in Plymouth. The 70 MYI musicians were selected by audition from more than 100 students from the Great Lakes region. In July they will tour Korea, Japan and Hawaii. MYI, a People-to-People Chartered Youth Chapter, received the Eisenhower Chapter Award in 1981 as one of the five outstanding chapters in the world. The conductors for this season are R. Paul Barber, music coordinator for the Farmington School District, and Leonard L. Riccinto, an associate professor of music at Eastern Michigan University.

PLYMOUTH CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

Lanson Ross, founder and leader of Planned Living Seminars, will speak 7-10 p.m. Thursday and Friday, May 1 and 2, at Plymouth Church of the Nazarene, 41550 Ann Arbor Trail. Lanson's organization has brought the message of how to build a positive self-image to thousands of people nationally. He emphasizes the importance of setting goals and living a planned life. He is the author of the books "Total Life Prosperity," "A Kid's Goal-Setting Guide for Parents" and "Take Charge of Your Life." For more information, call 453-1525.

CHURCH WOMEN UNITED

Church Women United will have a May fellowship breakfast at 9:15 a.m. Friday, May 2, at St. Matthew United Methodist Church, 30900 Six Mile, between Middlebelt and Merriman, Livonia. A representative from First Step will discuss domestic violence and its effect on families and the resources available to victims. The breakfast cost is $2.50. The deadline for reservations is Tuesday, April 29. For reservations, call Helen Bartuff at 464-0094. Baby-sitting will be provided. Bring Heinz Baby Food labels for Mott Children's Hospital.

CHRIST THE GOOD SHEPHERD LUTHERAN

Speaker and author Elise Arndt from Faith Lutheran Church in Troy will be the guest speaker at the Monday, May 5, meeting of the Ladies Guild of Christ the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church in Canton. Her topic will be "The Godly Woman." The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. at the church, 42690 Cherry Hill.

WOMEN FOR JESUS

Jeanne Buzzo, a minister and pastor's wife, will discuss how she overcame depression, at the next meeting of Women for Jesus. The group will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday, May 5, at Roma's of Garden City, on Cherry Hill between Venoy and Merriman. For more information, call Clara Maddy at 722-4224. Mary Carothers at 453-8218, Chris Mathis at 382-1350 or Mary Yester at 722-9198.

CHRIST LUTHERAN

Christ Lutheran Church, 14356

Wormer, Redford, will be showing the film series "Turn Your Heart Toward Home" by Dr. James C. Dobson. The first film will be shown at 9 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday, May 4. For more information, call the church at 534-3462.

ST. MARY OF REDFORD

St. Mary Church of Redford conducted an Offering of Letters recently in support of legislation in Congress that would help immunize the world's children against six deadly diseases by the year 1990. Church members wrote in support of the Universal Child Immunization Act of 1986. If enacted, this legislation would provide $50 million worldwide for immunization programs to help prevent measles, tetanus, whooping cough, polio, diphtheria and tuberculosis. Supporters of the legislation estimate these immunizations could save up to 3.5 million children's lives each year.

CHRISTIAN FAMILY CAMPING

The Christian Family Camping Association will have its first campout the weekend of May 16-18 at Camp Michawana. There will be a potluck and program that Saturday, and a church service on Sunday. Reservations should be made by Tuesday, May 6 to CFCA, Box 562, Pontiac 48056.

VILLAGE PRESBYTERIAN

The Women's Association of Village Presbyterian will have its spring boutique from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday, May 2, and from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, May 3. The boutique will feature handcrafted items, Christmas and children's gifts, used books, house plants, white elephants, a bake sale and more. The church is at 25350 W. Six Mile, Redford.

ST. MATTHEW METHODIST

St. Matthew United Methodist Church in Livonia is in full swing with the Steven Ministry Training Program. There are 16 people participating in the course with four instructors. The participants will have had 50 hours of training when finished. Some of the sessions covered are "Art of Listening," "Feelings," "Traditional Christian Resources," and "Assertiveness Training." The 16 participants will be commissioned at the morning worship service on Sunday, June 1. There will be a fall training course offered.

HOLY TRINITY LUTHERAN

Fourteen ninth graders will affirm their baptism in the rite of confirmation on Sunday, May 4, at Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, 39020 Five Mile, Livonia. Special music will be provided by the adult choir and the bell choirs.

Clown makeover

Judy Spada of Westland applies clown makeup to 11-year-old Cindy Stakley of Belleville during a recent carnival at Warrenwoods Wesleyan Church in Westland. Besides clowns, the carnival featured a cafe, games and prizes. The event kicked off the Sunshine Club, a ministry for children ages 4-12. The club meets 6:50-8:10 p.m. Wednesdays at the church, 6615 Venoy. Juniors have chapel time at 7, music at 7:15 and an activity at 7:35. Tots meet for story time at 7, activities at 7:15 and music at 7:35.

Raid shouldn't have encore

"ENCORE! Encore! Encore!"

So was reported the text of the telegram sent to President Reagan by Frank Sinatra following the raids on Tripoli and Benghazi. The publicity given the telegram could make one assume that the president was made aware of its existence.

I didn't send a telegram to the President. I wrote a letter to my congressmen, William Broomfield and the two senators from Michigan, Carl Levin and Donald Riegle. What I wanted to say could not be reduced to three words.

We are told that politicians are especially sensitive to mail from their constituents. And one hand-written note may have more influence on their thinking than a hundred form letters from an organization.

EVERY LETTER I have ever written to my representatives in Washington have always been answered. Some of their answers seem to be more carefully addressed to the issues I have raised than others. Modern technology has made it easier to appear more interested. They may not always be so.

My feelings and responses to the raid on Tripoli and Benghazi were not shared by the majority of the American people.

moral perspectives

Rev. Lloyd Buss

Even the most cursory sampling of reactions indicated a strong and overwhelming endorsement of the actions taken against Libya. A goodly number even added the rejoinder that it was about time.

I FULLY AGREE with others who believe that terrorism must be stopped. I fully agree with others who believe that our public order must be unfolded within the framework of law and justice.

I fully agree with others who believe that Libya has played a major role in the development and use of terrorism in the world today. I just do not believe that air raids were the only options left in wiping out terrorism today.

Listing and explaining some of the options that I would prefer certainly required more than three words. Before we can use international systems of law, we need to be convinced that we should support them.

Before we can seek out some relief for the root causes of terrorist activity, we need to be convinced that these root causes are legitimate and true expressions of human experience.

BEFORE WE CAN ask for restraint in the use of raw power, we need to be convinced that self-control can reflect integrity.

My letters took some time to read. I tried to make clear and concise points, but they were not as clear and concise as the repetition of the word "encore."

My letters were not the kind of item the media would pick up for effect and attention.

One might be tempted to conclude that this kind of letter writing is ineffective. Perhaps.

But telegrams calling for encores might also become ineffective. Another air raid or two will be all that we need to prove their wantonness.

Ms. editor to speak at conference

Letty Cottin Pogrebin, editor and founder of Ms. Magazine, will be the keynote speaker at "Women: Focus '86," a daylong program Saturday, May 10, in the Recreation and Organizations Center at the University of Michigan-Dearborn.

Pogrebin will address women's decisions regarding independence and authority at 1 p.m., in a speech entitled "Will Women Change Power, or Will Power Change Women?"

An 8:30 a.m. general session by Rosemary Sarri of U-M's Institute for Social Research will focus on "World Feminization of Poverty: A Growing Social Problem." Feminization of poverty from 1980 to 1984 will be examined, with special attention towards children as victims.

The conference will also include presentations on Selling Yourself, "What We Know About Midlife," "Public Watch: Contagious Disease," "Gender Perceptions," "Personal Financial Planning," "Women in Art," and "Surviving Workplace Politics."

Registration for the entire program, including lunch, is $20, and deadline for registration is today (May 1). A limited number of scholarships will be available.

Nuke freeze group walks for pledges

"Legs Against Arms" is the slogan of the third annual nuclear weapons freeze walk sponsored by the Detroit Area Nuclear Weapons Freeze.

Walkers will circle Detroit's Belle Isle, starting at 1 p.m. Saturday, May 10.

Organizers have been seeking corporate and office-pool pledges as well as individual donations.

Last year the event drew 1,000 walkers and raised $46,000, said coordinator Kim Stockwell-Lobert.

The Freeze is headquartered in the Newman Center on the Wayne State University campus.

Date for the walk was chosen because it is the day before Mother's Day. Stockwell-Lobert said, "The first Mother's Day was a peace festival called by pioneer feminist Julia Ward Howe in 1870," she said.

Universities double as tools for economic growth

By Tim Richard
staff writer

A new patent policy at Wayne State University may pay bigger dividends to faculty members and the region's economy.

"We have processed 20 patents," said Dr. Garrett Heberlein, the Troy resident who for nine months has been vice president for research at WSU as well as dean of the graduate school.

"They (inventions) are not all patented yet. But we'll probably quadruple the number."

He called WSU's patent policy "among the most liberal in the country" in the percentage payoff of faculty inventors.

"WAYNE WAS very backward. Wayne is one of the best now," agreed Dr. Samuel C. Brooks, Orchard Lake resident who is professor of internal medicine and a co-worker on a cancer treatment.

Dr. Garrett Heberlein
Views WSU as an 'octopus, reaching out'

"In 1978 Wayne didn't even know what to do" when a faculty member sought a patent, said Brooks, who had to hire his own patent attorney in Arlington, Va. Now he and Jerome Horwitz of the Michigan Cancer Foundation have been awarded three patents with others pending.

"From 1978 to now, everything has changed," Brooks said.

Heberlein, a biologist who came to the Detroit campus from Bowling Green (Ohio) State University, referred to the policy which awards an inventor 52.5 percent of the first $100,000 in royalties from an invention. Yale allows 50 percent, Michigan 50, Minnesota 36 and Harvard 30.

It's early to say how much the new WSU policy has been worth, but Heberlein supplies a long list of patent applications of possible use in the auto, construction and health care industries.

PATENT POLICY was underlined by Gov. James J. Blanchard as a key ingredient in his economic strategy for Michigan. A Minnesota Law School graduate, the governor cited his alma mater's policy as an example of how higher education could double as a tool for economic growth.

At first Blanchard talked of liberalizing state laws, but it turned out that policies were made individually by state universities, according to Doug Ross, a Southfield resident who heads the state Commerce Department.

"What is going on," said Heberlein, "is that a university that could have been a one-armed structure now is an octopus, reaching out."

"Universities and industries are different animals. Universities are non-profit corporations with long-term responsibilities for basic research — a base for 10 or 15 or 100 years from now."

WSU is one of 21 comprehensive cancer centers in the U.S. Brooks of WSU and Horwitz of the Cancer Foundation are working on a compound as an agent in treating hormone-dependent breast cancer. They have been testing it six years or more in laboratory animals, and Brooks said it "looks promising."

"Toxicology must still be done in humans," Brooks said. "It's going to the National Cancer Institute and takes about a year." Meanwhile, they have talked to five or six drug companies.

Robert L. Thomas, WSU physics professor from Huntington Woods, does research under contract with government and industry. He reports that lasers will reflect heat to the surface if the substance has a crack, air bubble or defect.

One application is non-destructive testing to find small cracks in high-performance structural ceramics for advanced gas turbine engines.

"Most of what we do is by contract," Thomas said, citing the Army Research Office, Sohio and Monsanto as supporters. "In some cases they will support a graduate student. Patent rights are negotiable."

Dr. Albert King, professor of mechanical engineering and Bloomfield Hills resident, said, "Our mission, in the auto capital of the world, is to reduce injuries." Under federal contract, supplemented by grants from General Motors and other auto makers, King tests and evaluates restraint devices.

In a biomechanics lab, he uses dummies, cadavers and human volunteers to test such devices as air bags, passive belt systems and knee ball restraints. Purposes: to learn under what conditions they're effective and assure they, too, don't become a cause of injury rather than a cure.

"We still don't know how much injury the head can stand," said the 20-year WSU faculty member.

Thomas Celani was one of 15 distributors in the country to be honored by the Miller Brewing Co.

He masters distributing action

Success hasn't spoiled Thomas Celani, but being a four-time winner has bolstered his pride.

The 30-year-old president of Action Distributing Co. in Livonia leans against the front of his desk, eyeing the engraved crystal representing his fourth Miller Masters' award for business excellence.

"This award is so satisfying," Celani said with a smile. "Out of 900 distributors in the country, it means I'm among the best — the top 15. And I'm also the youngest."

The award includes an eight-day trip to Switzerland next month. Similar awards from the Miller Brewing Co. have taken Celani to China, Africa and Spain. His father, Ben, had won three Miller Masters' awards before he died four years ago.

That's when his only son took the reins. "I was only 26 when I took over, but I'd been in the business since I was 10, learning and watching it grow under my dad's leadership," Celani said.

With 20 years of experience as a driver, street salesman, sales manager and general manager, Ben Celani left a Detroit distributing company and started his own company in the city in 1966 before moving to Ford and Middlebelt in Garden City.

MILLER BECAME the state's best-selling brew in 1976, the same year Action Distributing moved to a 40,000-square-foot building in Livonia. Two years later, the company added 53,000 square feet to the structure.

By 1984, growing pains forced the company to relocate to a new 153,000-square-foot building down the street on Veronica near Schoolcraft and Levan.

"We're now the biggest beer distributor in the state," Celani said. His company is also the exclusive distributor in the tri-county and Washtenaw area for a California-based pop and fruit juice producer.

Average inventory includes 250,000 cases and 10,000 kegs of beer, and 15,000 cases of pop and fruit juice, according to Action vice president, Dick Rose.

IF THERE IS a female behind every successful man, Celani, who is single, claims he's found her.

"Meet Mimi," he said with a flourish of a hand as a 5-year-old wheaten terrier snuggled up for a snooze at the foot of Celani's desk. Constantly at her master's side, Mimi attends board and staff meetings in exchange for two bones every afternoon. She also pays visits to most of the company's 130 employees.

Jeanne Thomas, executive secretary to Celani, explained Mimi's role. "She's part of the executive structure. She has the run of the building, and she's spoiled rotten."

Business aside, Celani said he's also proud to be an active fund-raiser for multiple sclerosis, Easter Seals and the Livonia Heart Fund. The company and the city of Livonia will sponsor a Sept. 10 golf outing to benefit the heart fund and St. Mary Hospital.

Celani, who expects to raise $200,000 statewide for multiple sclerosis this year and who worked with the city to enrich the Livonia Heart Fund by $110,000 last year, said the fund-raisers are important to him.

"My dad used to tell me, 'If you do well, you definitely should give some of it back.' They were wise words, and I intend to live by them. It's the least I can do for this great community."

Handling lump-sum payout from a retirement plan

One of the most vexing problems faced by many is how to take out the money from a retirement plan. The question is complicated and should be addressed only by a qualified professional. The choices

The accompanying chart shows the choices available to a retiree. The Tax Reform Act of 1984 added further options to the distribution of retirement funds. These include the following:

- Life expectancy can be recalculated each year.
- Distributions can be paid out to the retiree and a beneficiary who need not be the spouse.
- Partial distributions from a qualified plan can be rolled over tax-free into an IRA.

Magic of roll over into IRA

If a retiree rolls over his or her retirement money into an IRA, he or she defers the tax but loses the 10-year forward averaging privilege. However, there is a way to salvage this permanent loss.

The retiree must establish a separate conduit IRA for the distribution and keep it from mixing with any other IRA accounts. Later, he can roll it into the qualified plan of another employment or, if he sets up a business, his own qualified retirement plan. Through this mechanism he regains the 10-year forward averaging privilege.

The bottom line

Decisions about plan pay-outs take time, knowledge and careful plan-finances and you

Sid Mittra

Each case is different, and creative solutions to individual problems are required to maximize the advantages associate with a qualified retirement plan payout.

Don't dump growth stocks when you retire

I am 63 and taking early retirement. I have about $100,000, which I have just moved from Fidelity Equity Fund, American Capital Pace and Eaton Vance Growth Fund into top grade industrial bonds and treasury notes.

Since I am retiring, it seemed important to me to put my money where it would not be subject to fluctuation and where the income would be quite certain. Also, with the market selling at an all-time high, it seemed like a good time to get out of common stocks.

I have good retirement, and I feel I can go five or six years before I will need to use the income from my investments for living expenses. My broker says he believes I should have stayed with the fund. Do you think I made a good change?

I believe your broker gave you good advice. As I see it, you moved from investments where both your income and the value of your assets were increasing at a rate well above the rate of inflation, to investments where your income and the value of your assets are fixed with no opportunity for growth.

You did this in the belief that, because you have retired, it is wise to eliminate the fluctuation that comes with the ownership of stock. Also you probably felt the stock market was so high that a sizeable dip was likely today's investor

Thomas E. O'Hara

of the National Association of Investors Corp.

to occur, or that there was a little risk in getting out of the market at your age.

I THINK IT'S important for you and others at retirement age to look at the life expectancy tables and realize the number of years likely to be ahead of you. At the normal retirement age of 65, most people will still face a 20-25-year period when they could benefit from increasing income.

But unfortunately many people immediately shift to fixed dollar instruments like you have and give up the possibility of future increases in value.

That step toward security is good, but you should keep in mind that even at 3 or 4 percent annual inflation, it's not many years until you need 10 to 20 more just to keep even. When you have money available, I would keep a fair amount in the kind of investments that could increase in both income and value in the years ahead. Since you're not expecting to need your investment income for several years, I would suggest you invest it where there is reasonable security and a potential for growth as well.

tional Association of Investors Corp. and editor of Better Investing magazine. O'Hara welcomes questions and comments but will answer them only through this column. Treat all your credit cards as if they were cash

A credit card allows people to organize bills and plan their budgets. But the bill for card fraud could reach $2.3 billion in 1986, according to a report by the American Bankers Association.

Ultimately, this comes from your pocket, so card holders should know their rights and what they are financially liable for, according to the Michigan Association of CPAs.

The government places a $50 limit on the amount a credit card holder may be held liable for when a card is stolen and used illegally. But that $50 limit on each card adds up quickly when you own 10 or 15 credit cards.

If you report the theft or loss to the card company immediately — before it can be used to make illegal charges — you will not be held liable for that $50. Quick action is the key.

Don't be fooled by a telephone caller who advises you he has "found" your cards and will send them in the mail. That could be a ruse by a thief who is buying time while he used your card to buy a color television set.

FOR SOME people, it may be convenient to join a card protection service. These services will contact credit card companies for you when a card is reported lost or stolen.

If you have a wallet full of cards, this may be worthwhile. But if you hold only a few cards, it may be easier to contact the companies yourself.

In either case, it's wise to keep a list of all your card numbers along with the credit card issuer's toll-free telephone number. Keep that information in a safe place. You can photocopy your credit cards at work or most libraries — just don't throw away any spoiled copies.

ONE WAY to avoid becoming a victim of fraud is to read your monthly bill closely. Waiters and store clerks can easily use your card to run off a second transaction slip without your noticing.

In addition, you may want to tear up carbon copies when your credit card transaction is completed.

Michigan's gold coast — golfer's paradise

By Jean Adamczak
special writer

THERE'S GOLD in the rolling hills of northern lower Michigan. It's not in the form of shimmering, irregularly shaped nuggets, but round, white, dimpled golf balls. Promoters and marketers are now calling this area Gold Coast.

Sylvan Resort, scheduled to open this fall in Gaylord, will bring the Gold Coast's tally to 10 resorts and 19 championship courses.

Links-lovers can play courses designed by such golf greats as Jack Nicklaus, Robert Trent Jones, Arnold Palmer and Bill Newcomb. Many feel this golf mecca rivals the courses at Myrtle Beach and Pebble Beach.

"Northern Michigan is probably one of the finest areas for public golf in the country," says Plymouth resident Dave Richards, advertising and promotions director of P.A.R. Golf, a Dearborn-based company promoting golf vacations in the area.

THE GOLD COAST was formed about two years ago when P.A.R. Golf founders Doug Paul and Ron Butkovich were hired to pull the northern Michigan resorts together and market them as one area. This type of promotion is already done in Hilton Head and Myrtle Beach.

"If you took the Northern Michigan Gold Coast and compared it to the best-known area, Myrtle Beach, the only thing different would be the ocean," Richards said. "They have four or five very nice golf courses, but after that it's more quantity than quality."

According to Richards, the terrain of northern Michigan with its hills, trees, lakes and the abundance of sand, makes the area a natural for golf courses. The Legend, Arnold Palmer's course at Hilton Shanty Creek, cuts through ravines and offers tree-lined fairways in a natural setting that makes it very attractive.

"There is a lot of land in northern Michigan so you can make the courses long and difficult," Richard says. "In Florida and Myrtle Beach where land is selling for maybe $40,000 an acre, you just can't afford that much."

NORTHERN MICHIGAN weather allows golf courses to stay open from about May through September, which is comparable to Myrtle Beach's season, says Richards.

One of the newest courses in the Gold Coast area is "The Bear" at the Grand Traverse Village resort. Here golfer's enjoy the 13th hole.

The diversity of the links in northern Michigan lures golfers from around the country. Some courses are built on easy, rolling hills. Others, like the Boyne Mountain Monument Course, remind golfers that they are playing on a ski slope; golfers tee off down the side of the mountain and finish off on a spectacular 460-yard, par 4 island green.

Another notable is the Boyne Highlands Heather Course, designed by Robert Trent Jones. This course has been one of Golf Digest's "Top 100" courses for the past 11 years. "The greens, fairways and marshlands have earned a reputation of toughness," according to Richards.

THE AREA'S newest golf gem is Jack Nicklaus' The Bear at Grand Traverse Resort Village. This championship course has back tees that are even tough on the pros, but alternative front tees enable weekend golfers to enjoy it too. An addition to the resort this summer will be a $23 million, 15-story condominium tower, overlooking east Grand Traverse Bay. It will contain 186 suites with a restaurant and lounge on top.

It is hoped that such expansion will continue in the areas around the resorts as more people are made aware of Michigan's Gold Coast. P.A.R. golf set up northern Michigan golf vacations for about 1,500 people in 1985. This year they hope to increase that to 4,000 to 5,000.

Their long range goal is to make northern Michigan a national golf destination within the next three years.

"We want to bring in the out-of-state people and let the people in the Detroit and Grand Rapids areas know that there's great golf up there," Richard said. "Approximately 21 percent of the golfers in the country live in Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin."

THE BEST GOLF market is in the midwest and is there for the taking, according to Richards.

"With 21 percent of the golfers in the country in our five states, all we have to do is let them know the courses are up there," he said.

To reach that audience, the Gold Coast is advertising in Golf Digest and various Ohio and Chicago magazines, covering a 12-state area around the midwest. Last year responses were received from over 40 states and from as far away as Saudi Arabia and Belgium.

If you're not a golfer you can still enjoy all the amenities the Gold Coast has to offer. Most of the resorts have indoor-outdoor pools, children's programs and tennis. Many have racquetball courts, exercise rooms and even a masseuse.

The terrain of northern Michigan with its hills, trees, lakes and the abundance of sand, makes the area a natural for golf courses.

PRICES for a three-day, three-night golf vacation range from $180 per person to $258, including golf fees. The resorts are also close to such attractions as the Sleeping Bear Dunes on Lake Michigan, the Star of Charlevoix dinner cruise, Mackinac Island and the Cherry County Playhouse in Traverse City.

If you already have vacation plans for this year, keep a golf vacation in mind for next year. Golfers can take advantage of new and improved courses as early as this fall. A Robert Trent Jones course called Tree Tops will open this autumn at the Sylvan Resort in Gaylord.

For more information about golf vacation packages or courses in Michigan, call P.A.R. Golf at 1-800-222-2220 or 562-2533 locally.

Golfers hole out on the 15th at the Boyne Mountain course.

IF ONLY THE GOVERNMENT SPENT OUR TAX DOLLARS AS SCRUPULOUSLY AS THEY COLLECT THEM.

Last year, the federal government collected over $300 billion in personal income taxes.

Money that was used to take care of the needy. To run the country. And to protect it. But that's not all it was used for.

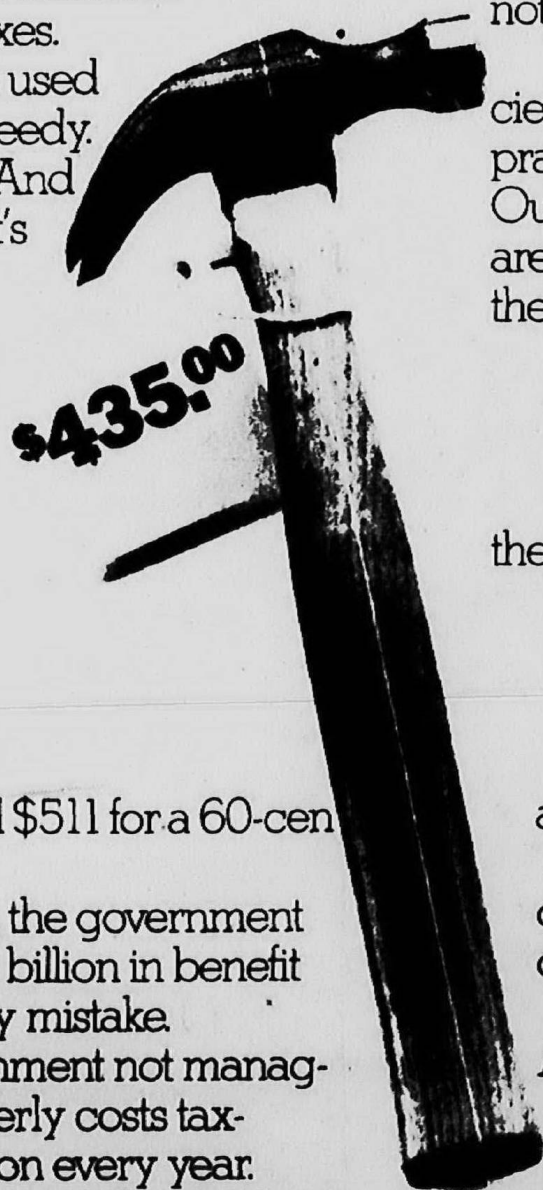

LAST OF THE BIG-TIME SPENDERS.

Your taxes also went to pay $435 for a $7 hammer. $7,417 for a 1-cent pin. And $511 for a 60-cent light bulb.

In a single year, the government gives away over $5 billion in benefit payments. Totally by mistake.

And the government not managing its money properly costs taxpayers over $2 billion every year.

These incidents of inefficiency and mismanagement are so vast they could fill a book. (To be exact, they fill over 21,000 pages of documents in the President's Private Sector Survey on Cost Control.)

Yet as wasteful as they are, they're not the problem, just the symptoms.

The problem is a system of inefficient government procedures and practices that allows them to happen. Out-dated policies and controls that are out of control and threatening the interests of all Americans.

IS AMERICA GOING TO WASTE AWAY?

America is staring straight down the barrel of a financial disaster. The federal deficit is closing in on $200 billion a year. The national debt has already reached an unimaginable $1.8 trillion.

One of our only chances to head off disaster is to stop wasting our tax dollars.

That's why we formed Citizens Against Government Waste.

WHO AND WHAT IS CITIZENS AGAINST GOVERNMENT WASTE?

Citizens Against Government Waste is a non-profit educational foundation made up of concerned citizens. Democrats, Republicans, Conservatives, Liberals.

Taxpayers just like you, who are extremely concerned with how their tax money is being mismanaged.

To that end, we've established a toll-free phone number: 1-800-USA-DEBT. By calling it, you can receive information that will give you a better understanding of the real magnitude and consequences of government waste. And what you can actually do about it.

So call, or write us at 1511 K Street, N.W., Suite 540, Washington, DC. 20005. Please.

Because our country can't afford this. And neither can you.

For more information write: 1511 K Street, N.W., Suite 540, Washington, DC. 20005

Mexican eatery isn't noteworthy

Your traveling taster visits area eateries and rates them on a 100-point scale. Up to 30 points are awarded for ambiance, which includes general atmosphere and service; 55 points for food, and 15 points for price/value rating. A total count of 59 points or less indicate a restaurant is not recommended; 60-74 points signify from passing to good; 75-89 points designate very good with some extraordinary features, and 90-100 points show that a very special dining experience awaits you.

OLD MEXICO restaurant, 28407 Five Mile, Livonia (421-9681), has a small, rustic dining area with a take-out counter. The decor is not exciting. Both the staff and the patrons are very casually dressed. Unfortunately, our vinyl tablecloth was not really clean, and one of the appetizer serving plates came to the table dirty. The menu does a nice job of explaining the dishes and their ingredients. Dinner took us about 45 minutes. General Atmosphere — 15 points maximum. Points awarded — 7.

Service was enthusiastic but not very competent. Appetizer plates were left through dinner and would have stayed with the dinner dishes through dessert if we had not asked that they be cleared. Food came very quickly, sometimes before we were ready for it. At times, however, it was not as hot as it should have been. The check was presented before we could even order dessert. Service — 15 points maximum. Points awarded — 7.

The best dish of the meal was our mini botana ($4.50), a mixture of pinto beans, sausage, cheese and vegetables over corn chips. It was a tasty combination. The "mini" portion served three people easily. Also good were the fresh and crisp homemade chips and hot sauce, which was quite spicy. There is no liquor served. Drinks, Appetizers and Bread — 10 points maxi- mum. Points awarded — 7.

Although the sauce was hot, the entrees were surprisingly bland. The chimichanga dinner (small, $4.25; large $5.25) was all right. The tortilla was crisp and the guacamole topping good. But neither the beef filling nor the rice had much flavor. The vegetarian combo ($4.65) featured three dishes that were also mild: a burrito, an enchilada and a tostado, each with cheese and vegetables. None of them was especially noteworthy. The burrito beef dinner ($4.40) had large chunks of beef but, again, it needed more seasoning. Entree, Vegetables and Garnishes — 35 points maximum. Points awarded — 25.

The cinnamon crisp ($1.30), a homemade tortilla, cooked with sugar and cinnamon, was really delicious. The Mexican cookies (3 for $1.04) did not seem particularly Mexican. They were a little dry but enjoyable nonetheless. Dessert and Coffee — 10 points maximum. Points awarded — 8.

Dinner cost about $18 per couple, with tip but without drinks. While some of the dishes were good, too many did not have any special oomph, and the problems with the service and atmosphere detract from the meal. Price/Value — 15 points maximum. Points awarded — 10.

A Counting for Taste — 100 points maximum. Total points awarded: 64. Although the food at Old Mexico is adequate, this restaurant lacks any special appeal.

Sarkis Halajian rehearses the Cranbrook Jazz Band, in the outdoor setting where it will perform at Le Gala de Cuisine.

Le Gala: Music, dance back up event

By Ethel Simmons
staff writer

AT LE GALA DE CUISINE, not only will guests be stuffing themselves with glorious food but they also will be enjoying music and dance — performed by students at Cranbrook Kingswood Schools.

The elegant food festival, which is in its eighth year, has expanded its offerings of cuisine prepared by some of the finest chefs in the Detroit area. Along with more lavish presentations of culinary delights, entertainment has been given increased emphasis, to create an all-around total festival.

Presented the first Sunday in May, as a harbinger of spring, the festival this year will be 3-7 p.m. outdoors on the Quadrangle at Cranbrook School and indoors at the school's Great Dining Hall. (For information, call 645-3134.) Once again, there will be music by choral and instrumental groups, highlighted by the Cranbrook Jazz Band, and dance by the Jessica Sinclair Dancers.

BAND DIRECTOR Sarkis Halajian, who is responsible for the jazz band and a classical flute duet that will play during Le Gala, talked about changes in the festival entertainment through the years.

"We've increased the numbers," he said. "When we started out, we only had a couple of different ensembles. The kids really enjoy performing. It's a food spectacular, and they enjoy eating after the performance."

Music will be presented both indoors and out, at various locations during the hours of Le Gala. Guests at the big party (which is a benefit for Cranbrook Kingswood Schools) can snack during the performances, or just take a breather to look and listen to the talented performers.

The Chamber Singers, a coed choir; the Madrigal Singers, a female chorus; and a classical string quintet are other groups that will appear at Le Gala.

Much of the entertainment will be centered at an area just outside the library, where the public-address system is set up during the festival. Here the Cranbrook Jazz Band will play its popular selections from the big-band era. The Jessica Sinclair Dancers will perform alone and, in one instance, do a number with the band.

EACH YEAR, some couples get out on the flagstones and dance while the band plays. No dance area, as such, is set aside. "People would love to dance," Halajian said. "The problem is a matter of space."

"At Le Gala, we play everything from 'Tuxedo Junction' to 'In the Mood,' 'String of Pearls' and 'Pennsylvania 6-5000' — all the big-band charts of Glenn Miller. In addition, we will do some contemporary charts. We zero in on big bands of the '30s and '40s," he said.

One of the reasons the jazz band concentrates on the big-band era during Le Gala is because this kind of music has a special appeal for the festivalgoers. Halajian said, "The age group that day is 40-70."

EVERY YEAR but one the sun has smiled and shone on Le Gala de Cuisine. "If it rains, the jazz band still performs outside but under a tent. One year it rained. The kids played their hearts out that year," Halajian said.

Not only will the band be playing, but some Cranbrook students will get a chance to sing with the musicians. "As many as a dozen boys and girls from the choir will audition and perform on a couple of big band numbers," he said. "They can ham it up."

Asked what her dancers would do this year, Jessica Sinclair said, "I choreographed a suite of dances Brolly Day (a recent event at Cranbrook). They use parasols. We were rained out one year (at Le Gala). This year, if they use the umbrellas, they could perform rain or shine."

THE DANCE director said all 10 dancers in the troupe are in the dance program for the entire year. "This is just one of the events they perform at," she noted.

For Le Gala, she selects dances that are going to look good outdoors. "That don't need any special lighting effects, are fun to do and don't require any concentration on the part of the audience because the air is so festive and the audience just wants to be entertained," Sinclair said.

Tunes are pleasant in 'Stop the World'

Performances of the Garden City Civic Theatre production of "Stop the World, I Want to Get Off" continue through Sunday, May 4. For ticket information, call 836-0053 or 525-9258.

If you're looking for some pleasant entertainment for a pleasant spring evening, the Garden City Civic Theatre's production of "Stop the World, I Want to Get Off" may be just the ticket for you.

Directed and choreographed by Michael Burden — and with musical direction by Richard Alder and Elizabeth Potter — this version of the Bricusse and Newley musical may not be exactly memorable, but it offers some first-rate tunes, features some attractive performers and never fails to entertain.

As Littlechap — the "Everyman" character, around whose up-down, funny-sad life the play revolves — Fred Buchalter has his work cut out for him. He's onstage throughout the play and, during that time, is usually delivering one of the (many) musical numbers, and sometimes even dancing a bit as he sings.

The energetic and youthful (and, one would presume, physically fit) Buchalter, for the most part, does a commendable job, although some of his vocalizing comes across as rather strained and tentative.

ULTIMATELY, his Littlechap is a likable sort and it's to Buchalter's credit that after all that time onstage (with one brief intermission), his character never palls or bores but manages to evoke sympathy and interest to the very end.

Collene Hackney does a nice job as Littlechap's "typically English" wife, Evie, and as his "All-American Irish-Polish-Jewish" girlfriend, Ginnie. But she's an absolute delight as the Party-loving Russian, Anya, and as the goose-stepping German, Ilse, two other comic participants in Littlechap's "world affairs."

If her renditions of "Glorious Russian" and "Typische Deutsche" don't make you smile, better check out your funny bone.

The eight-member chorus is nice looking but a little inconsistent and disappointing at times.

The unadorned sets and simple, red-and-black costumes are attractive and work well; thankfully, they don't have that always-distracting, going-to-seed-around-the-edges look of too many amateur theater productions.

The eight-member chorus is nice looking but a little inconsistent and disappointing at times.

upcoming things to do

• SUNDAY CONCERTS

Primavera, an early music duo with Mary Johnson and Jennifer Burke, will perform from 2-4 p.m. Sunday, May 4, in the Center Court at Somerset Mall in Troy. Other programs in the free Sunday series include a Mother's Day concert with the J.C. Heard Jazz Quartet, May 11; Milhaud Trio, classical woodwind trio, May 18; Johanna Beth Bowers and Paul Burns, classical flute and piano, May 25, and Alexander Zonjic Jazz Quartet, May 26.

• 'DAMN YANKEES'

Dan Cooney of Westland stars as Joe Hardy, a baseball rookie with a mighty batting stroke, and Daniel Booth of Westland co-stars as Applegate, the wily devil, in the Performing Arts Department of Henry Ford Community College production of the musical "Damn Yankees." Performances are at 8 p.m. Thursday-Saturday, May 8-10, at Adray Auditorium of the MacKenzie Fine Arts Center. Supporting cast members are Kari Stearns of West Bloomfield as Sister and Jacqueline Eastman of Canton as a teen-ager. Tickets are $5 general admission, $4 for students and HFCC staff and $3 for senior citizens. Tickets may be purchased at the College Store or at the door.

• COUNTRY WINNERS

Detroit area band Hot Grass won the Marlboro County Music Talent Round-up finals last week at the High Kicker Saloon in Pontiac and will perform on the bill with Hank Williams Jr., Merle Haggard and Ricky Skaggs at the Marlboro Country Music Concert at 7 p.m. Saturday, May 3, at the Joe Louis Arena in Detroit. For ticket information, call 567-6000. First prize was $5,000. Runner up was Branded ($1,000). Third place went to Kickin' Country ($500). Two area residents — Mark Cornell of Westland and Danny Ball of Livonia — are members of Kickin' Country.

Watkins leaves with sour taste

WHEN THE SUBJECT of sports at Schoolcraft College comes up, the first thing that comes to mind is soccer. There are as many soccer fields on the school's grounds as there are tennis courts or basketball courts.

Soccer is The Sport on campus. The men's and women's teams win, and they do it with local talent and local coaches.

Conversely, the men's basketball program is made up primarily of obscure, but talented inner-city players who often lack academic skills and discipline.

Last week Schoolcraft College athletic director Mary Gans decided to make a change in the men's basketball program, relieving Quinton "Rocky" Watkins of his duties as head coach. Watkins had spent 10 years coaching at Schoolcraft, six as head coach.

Gans called it a "mutual agreement" between the two parties, but Watkins reluctantly stepped down. He wanted to finish the 1985-87 season because of a commitment he made to his underclassmen.

THE CRITICISMS of Watkins mounted over the years.

Despite a 100-70 career record and 1982-83 Eastern Conference crown (Schoolcraft was 23-7 that season), the rap on Rocky was more than wins and losses.

During his stint, Watkins' teams were constantly plagued by academic woes. Several key players were lost because of poor grades at the end of the first semester. Four starters this year were ruled ineligible.

Gans, although appreciating Watkins' efforts, said that Schoolcraft needs a better mix of players from the inner city and the suburbs. Others found fault with Watkins' practice habits, resulting in a lack of discipline on the court during game situations. This season he went without a full-time assistant coach.

Watkins was firm on the bench, but some critics maintained the team could have accomplished more.

UNLIKE SOME of his competitors in the Michigan Community College Athletic Association (MCCAA), Watkins coached basketball on the side because "it was a special love affair with me." Watkins has a full-time job. He is an assistant to the fire commissioner of the city of Detroit.

"If they knew all along about the firing, I'd prefer them doing it right after the season," Watkins said. "Instead, they harassed me and my family through the banquet (April 19). I had already started my recruiting and preparing for next year. I was maybe going to stay one more year anyway, but I wanted to see these guys underclassmen through here."

Despite the circumstances surrounding his departure, Watkins is proud of the job he did.

"I really have no regrets," he said. "I'm satisfied that if I had everything, I possibly could... given the resources."

"THE PEOPLE don't come here as polished students. What they're saying is that I'm totally responsible for the academic student."

Schoolcraft's academic requirements for athletes is probably tougher than most community colleges in the state. SC student athletes are monitored by Judy Mack, an adviser to the school's athletic department.

"I stressed academics even before we went to the athletic support system," Watkins said. "This past team did better academically than any other team I had, but they did not play as well. (Schoolcraft's record was 17-11.)"

WATKINS REFUTES the charge that he didn't recruit the suburbs and surrounding Observerland area. He points to such players as Eric Sink (Livonia Bentley), Bill Keyes (Livonia Stevenson), Scott Conrad (Livonia Churchill) and Mike White (Plymouth Salem).

"I don't want to knock the area, but you won't win with players just from that area," Watkins said. "There's some quality players, but not the quantity."

Watkins is right. The Observerland area often has trouble to choose from. He wouldn't have survived in his league without recruiting such former SC standouts as Carlos Briggs, Phil Blevins, George Merriweather and Patrick Kearney.

"A lot of coaches don't have contacts I have in the (SL, Detroit Public School League)," Watkins said.

GANS HAS INDICATED he wants a coach with local ties to the area. Next season Schoolcraft will award four basketball scholarships to students in its service area.

Gans also admitted he needs to upgrade salaries for all his coaches. He firmly stands behind his academic requirements, even though both the NCAA and NJCAA have relaxed the rule on mid-year grade accountability for next season.

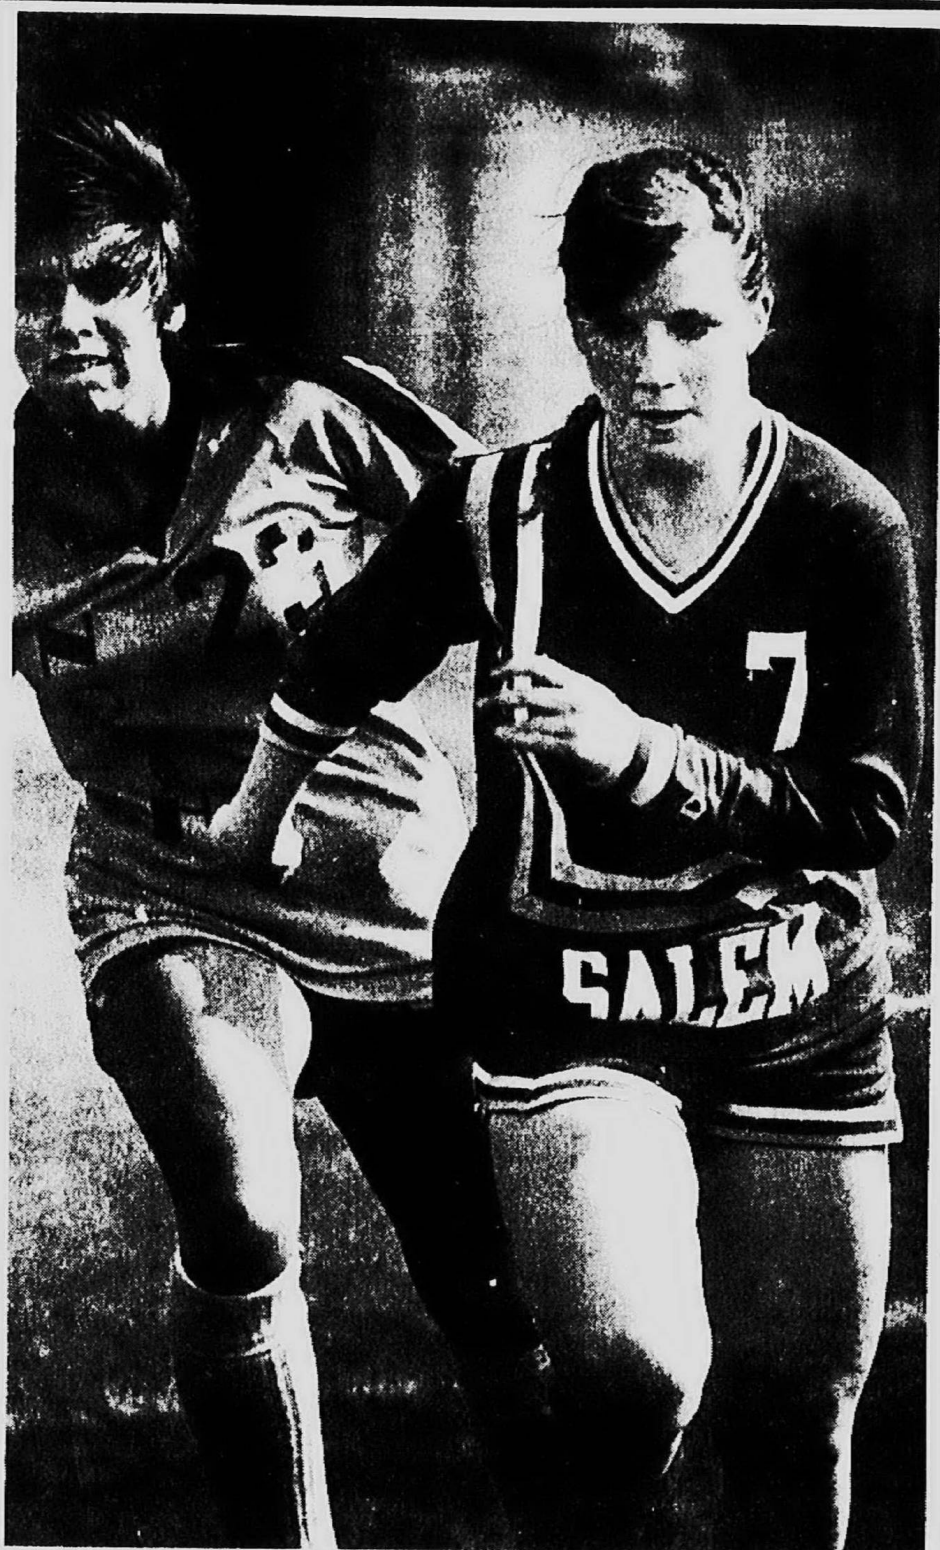

But before Gans and school administrators hire their next coach, this question should be asked: What kind of commitment is Schoolcraft going to make toward basketball?

To run a successful JC basketball program, in terms of academic and athletic success, you need an in-house coach who is also a member of the faculty. The demand is too great on someone with a full-time job who works outside the school.

WATKINS WAS LOYAL to his players and loyal to his bosses. He is a decent man who went beyond the call of duty given the conditions he had to work under. He helped many of his players get scholarships to four-year schools.

"The greatest satisfaction can't be measured in wins or losses," Watkins said. "The fact that I was able to deal with young men in their formative stages is what I draw my greatest satisfaction from."

Watkins shouldn't hang his head. He did the best job he could. But the question Schoolcraft chiefs should ask: Are we doing the best we can for basketball like we do for soccer?

S'craft ousts Rocky Watkins

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

Quinton "Rocky" Watkins, for six years the Schoolcraft College men's basketball coach, has resigned, it was learned Monday.

SC athletic director Mary Gans verified that Watkins "resigned," although Gans added that the decision "was not exactly mutual."

Watkins agreed. "I felt it coming," he said, "but I wanted to get through the next year because I made a commitment to these underclassmen."

Rumors had circulated in the past weeks regarding Watkins' tenuous position after a season that saw the Ocelots start strong, then stumble after four key players became academically ineligible in January. Three of the four — Clarence Jones, Frank Jones and Bradley Turner — started the fourth — Mike White — was first off the bench.

Rocky's a good guy," said Gans. "I just felt we needed a change."

SEVERAL MOTIVES for Gans' decision to replace Watkins have surfaced, but the Ocelot AD refused to elaborate on his reasons. Watkins did have trouble keeping track of his players' grades because he did not work at the school. Watkins is employed as assistant to the city of Detroit fire commissioner.

Discipline, too, may have suffered because of his full-time job. Watkins was often late for team practices, which meant either the assistant coach would have to start the practice or the players would start on their own.

A third reason rumored to be integral in Watkins' leaving was his inability to recruit players within SC's district. Many of his recruits were from Detroit and played in the Public School League.

Although avoiding comment on Watkins, Gans did say he is searching for a replacement who "knows the local basketball scene, someone who knows the caliber of basketball it takes to play in community college, and someone who can recruit this district."

GANS ADDED: "Hopefully, there will be some local people out there who might be interested. Whoever is chosen as head coach I want to give the opportunity to select his own assistant. I don't want to force anyone on him."

Watkins served as Ron Hall's assistant coach at SC from 1975 to 1980. When Hall's restaurant business expanded, he stepped down and Watkins became head coach prior to the 1980-81 season, with Hall becoming his assistant. In his six seasons as head coach, Watkins had a 100-70 record.

His best team was the 1982-83 squad, which won the Eastern Conference championship and went 23-7. Carlos Briggs, who became an NJCAA All-American, was a freshman on that team.

Sure-fire picks hard to find at Observer meet

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

In most years, if you picked Livonia Churchill, Plymouth Salem or Bishop Borgess to win the Observerland Track and Field Relays, you had a good chance of being correct.

Only four times since 1973 has one of those three teams failed to win at Observerland.

Saturday at Churchill, in the 16th running of the Observerland Relays, things could be different.

"I think in the past some teams have been able to dominate this meet. But this year, whoever comes and is ready to compete has a chance to win," said Fred Price, Churchill coach.

Don't get the idea that perennial favorites Churchill, Salem and Borgess are weak this year. On the contrary, all three are expected to be in the thick of the title chase.

IT'S JUST that other teams seem so much stronger. Teams like Redford Catholic Central and Plymouth Canton are just to name two.

"This is one of the most balanced meets we've ever had for this meet," Price said. "Southfield-Lathrup has a lot more depth this year. They'll field a full team. Livonia Franklin has some real nice pole vaulters. Plymouth Salem will score. Plymouth Canton looks real good. You know Borgess, once on the track, can be very dominating. It's just a real balanced field."

The Observerland's setup is unique in that it puts a premium on overall team depth. The team with the absolute fastest runners isn't always the team that is able to score enough points to win. There are only three open or individual races in the 16-event meet.

"The key to winning this meet is to score in every event," Price said. "And with the balance of talent this year, that could be difficult."

Here's a brief look at the frontrunners in this event.

WHAT: The 16th annual Observerland Boys Track and Field Relays.

WHEN: Saturday, May 3. Pole vault relay will begin at 2:30 p.m., other field events at 3 p.m. Track preliminary races at 6:30 p.m., track finals at 7 p.m.

WHERE: Livonia Churchill High School, Newburgh Road at Joy.

WHO: Thirteen teams — Livonia Churchill (defending champ), Redford Bishop Borgess, Plymouth Canton, Catholic Central, Livonia Franklin, Garden City, Southfield-Lathrup, Northville, Redford Union, Plymouth Canton, Plymouth Salem, Redford Thurston and Westland John Glenn.

HOW MUCH: $2 adults, $1 students.

proved the rest of the teams are, Bishop Borgess has to be considered the favorite. First-year coach Gary Hicks has put together a strong field event team to supplement the Spartans' always-formidable sprint and hurdle teams.

The Spartans, ranked No. 1 in Observerland, recently placed second at the Dearborn Elks Relays and has whipped Churchill in a dual meet.

Key Spartan individuals include Marion Pittman, Corey Ivey, Brian Kelly, Eric Harp and Ivan Cotman.

CATHOLIC CENTRAL: After a couple down seasons, CC has again gained respect in both the Catholic League and in Observerland.

"I don't like to make predictions, but if I did, I think Borgess and Catholic Central may wind up 1-2," said Price.

The team is Catholic Central's powerful field event and distance teams. At the Elks, CC's Dan Nash, Tim Efrid, Matt Fris and Perry Panto combined on a 185-5 1/2 to win the shot put. Efrid, Fris and Nash also won the discus relay with a 358-3.

Other key Shamrocks will be Dave Nagy, Jim Fedewa, Kevin Wooley and John Regan.

PLYMOUTH CANTON: The Chieftains grabbed two firsts at the Elks, beat Churchill in a dual meet and placed second at the Belleville Tiger Relays — it's a strong team.

Tony Aiken (No. 3) celebrates with teammates after hitting a game-tying home run Monday. The celebration ended suddenly for the Chiefs.

Woes mount on CEP diamond

What's the old saying? When it rains it pours. Please allow Plymouth Canton baseball coach Fred Crissey to modify that just a bit.

"When it's bad, it's worse," said Crissey after his team lost a galling 8-6 decision to Western Lakes foe Livonia Churchill Monday. It was Canton's fifth loss in eight games.

"I have no idea what the reasons are for this," Crissey said of his team's slump. "We pride ourselves on consistency, excellence over a period of time. It's like someone pulled the cart out from under us."

The Chiefs made two field errors and a number of mental errors, both contributing to the loss.

The Chiefs led 5-1 after two innings, but Churchill scored five times off starter Derek Darkowski in the third to take a 6-5 lead.

Canton tied the game in the bottom of the fifth on a long home run by Tony Aiken, his second of the season.

Adam Kocik came on to relieve Darkowski in the third and had pitched scoreless ball through the fourth, fifth and sixth innings.

But with two outs in the seventh he walked Ken Gendjar. Mickey Katschor then settled the issue with huge two-run home run.

"This is a good group," Crissey said. "They're not just good athletes, they're good kids. Right now, they are walking around school like someone kicked them in the stomach. But they've got to come out and play the next day. I'd like to think we can turn this thing around. You know, if it were just one or two things, you could put your finger on it. But it's a combination of things. We'll keep after it, we're not going to let it go."

Chris Sisler and Aiken had two hits apiece for the Chiefs.

Churchill is 4-3 on the season, 4-2 in the Western Lakes.

Canton split a non-league twin bill with Redford Union on Saturday, winning 9-5 and losing 3-2.

STEVENSON 6, SALEM 5, 8 innings: The other team at the Centennial Educational Park is having its troubles as well.

The Rocks saw a 4-0 lead vanish rather quickly Monday. They took a 5-4 lead into the bottom of the seventh inning. Fidell Cashero, who relieved starter John Storm, yielded a two-out single to Dan Krafft to tie the score.

In the bottom of the eighth, Joe Conway rapped a bases-loaded, one-out single to score the game-winner. Conway had three hits on the day.

Chris Davis had two hits including a two-run double for Salem. Mike Kesson had an RBI triple that put Salem up 5-4.

Mike Olschanski, making his first start for Stevenson, pitched the entire game for the victory. Stevenson is 2-5-1, 2-4 in the league. Salem falls to 3-5.

Rochester colt in derby bid

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

Pardon John McKinnon if he floats on his own private cloud for a while, allowing only family to intrude. After nearly 25 years in the horse business, he figures he deserves it.

The cloud McKinnon is gliding on is en route to fulfilling a fantasy every horseman dreams of. On Saturday, a horse owned by the Rochester resident will be running for the Roses in the most prestigious race of the year — the Kentucky Derby.

To be accepted into the field is an accomplishment enough for McKinnon, who owns what he called "a small horse farm in Ocala (Fla.)."

He added: "There are something like 12,000 horses born every year, and only about 12 picked for the Derby. Good Lord."

McKinnon's entry is Wheatley Hall. He was sired by Nercliff, a former Canadian champion who has bloodlines tracing to former Derby champion Northern Dancer.

HALL'S DAM is Labonzo, a horse of McKinnon's who won $300,000 before hurting an ankle and retiring.

"I bred this one and raised it from a colt," said McKinnon of Hall via telephone from Louisville, Ky. "I've had handicap horses before, but never anything in the Kentucky Derby. He's a big horse, a big animal. We brought him along slowly because of Jack's recommendation."

"Jack" is Jack Vanberg, considered one of the top trainers in the world. Vanberg-trained horses have more than 4,500 wins to their credit.

Wheatley Hall, though, might be considered a project. The result of Vanberg's advice to bring him along slowly means that Hall has far fewer races than the horses he'll run against Saturday. His best racing days may come after the Derby.

"He's only run four times in his life," admitted McKinnon. Hall was nosed out for first in his maiden race at Oak Lawn in Arkansas. He won his next two races at Oak Lawn in preparation for the Arkansas Derby.

THAT RACE — Hall's fourth and last before Saturday's Kentucky Derby — was not his best, according to McKinnon. Hall finished second to Rampage, another Kentucky Derby rival.

"We weren't happy with that race," said McKinnon of the Arkansas Derby. "There was lightning and thunder and it was very dark, and we thought the rider could have taken him on the rail and done much better. But in the horse business, not everything goes the way you like it to."

Still, Hall showed enough promise to earn an entry into Saturday's race, much to the pleasure of McKinnon, who calls himself "a small operator" in the horse business. He currently has nine brood mares at his Ocala farm and "four or five horses in training."

McKinnon has tasted the bitter side of the Kentucky Derby before. Two of his horses — Tennessee Rite and Gemini Dreamer — were nominated and were among the final 50 horses considered for the race when "they got sick on me. It's just about then when you say, 'Why should I subject myself to this?'"

BUT THEN, along comes a horse like Wheatley Hall. McKinnon admitted Hall is inexperienced compared to his rivals — "The others have probably double or triple the number of races" — but he doesn't think that will be a factor.

"(Hall) comes out of the pack real well, plus he's a smart horse," said McKinnon. "He doesn't go around kicking in stalls or anything."

"And he can go whatever way we want him to go. He has the speed to go to the front, but we like him to stay back until the stretch. Kentucky has a long stretch run."

Holding the reins on Hall will be Gary Stevens, who seems a good match for the inexperienced horse. Stevens is only 21, so he's not one of the more experienced Derby jockeys. But his credentials are solid: Stevens has already earned nearly $3 million in winnings this year, tops in California.

McKinnon thinks oddsmakers will put Hall somewhere between the favorites and the longshots, going to the post at perhaps 10-to-1. That doesn't matter much to McKinnon, whose cloud is halfway to his dream. Winning Saturday's race would convert that dream into reality.

Can Wheatley Hall accomplish such a feat? As McKinnon said, "We'll know Saturday."

Rocks roll, face Pats

It's showdown time already in the Western Lakes softball wars.

Plymouth Salem, undefeated and on top of the Lakes Division, will travel to state-ranked Livonia Franklin, leaders of the Western Division at 3:30 p.m. Thursday.

The Rocks geared up for the game with a convincing-but-sloppy 19-7 mercy-rule shortened win against Livonia Stevenson Monday.

Of the seven runs allowed by Salem hurler Maggie Meissner, only two were earned. The Rocks committed five errors.

But Salem's 12-hit attack more than compensated for the fielding lapses. Jessica Handley led the parade with three hits, including a triple and three RBI. Sandy Oberliesen and Darlene Gagleard each had a pair of hits. Denise Tackett and Leshe Plichta each rapped long triples.

The Rocks are 6-0, Stevenson falls to 1-5.

CANTON 17, CHURCHILL 1: The bats woke up.

Plymouth Canton had trouble hitting the ball last week but made up for lost time at the expense of Churchill Monday.

Kelly McCumber led the Chiefs' 11-hit attack with a home run, single and three RBI. Kristina Wines ripped a double and a triple, and Laura Darby and Peggy Najarian both had two hits.

Darby was the winning pitcher, working the last three innings. Diana Knickerbocker started and pitched two scoreless innings.

The game was stopped after five innings. Canton is 4-2, Churchill 1-7.

Canton has shot at Observer title

"Our pre-season goal was to do well at Observerland, and the kids are really looking forward to going into this kind of competition," said first-year Canton coach Rob Neu.

The Chiefs have strong jumpers and solid hurdlers. The long jump trio of Tyrone Reeves, Roger Trice and Geoff Estevez has taken first at both the Elks and Tigers. Reeves has jumped consistently better than 21-0 every time out, his best being 21-3.

Steve Genyk, Ron Ziembra and Dave Mac won the high jump relay at the Tigers and placed third at the Elks.

The hurdles team of Dan Houdek, Jake Michaelson, Larry Allman and Bryan Whiteley won at Elks (1:07.35 high hurdles) and placed second at the Tigers (1:07.2).

Jim Swiecki, a sophomore, has bolstered Canton in the distance events.

The question mark for Canton will be in the sprint events.

LIVONIA CHURCHILL: You can never count the Chargers out of this meet. Price's teams are built perfectly for the Observerland meet — not outstanding individually, but solid and deep in every event. That's why the Chargers have won the meet seven times, including last year.

"It can happen," Price said of the likelihood of Churchill repeating. "If you come in ready and others drop their efforts, we have an outside chance. We certainly weren't expected to win last year. We are not blessed with great speed, but this really isn't a speed meet."

Churchill is strong in middle distance and distance events with Rob Annett, Pete Mills, John Tracy, Dave Belanger, Keith McGorisk and Chris Pfeifer.

Churchill should also score in the field events with Doug Copely, Erich Brandemuhl and Jim Rintilla. Other key Chargers are Brent Widlak, Mark Beebe and Curtis Burton.

PLYMOUTH SALEM: "For us to win? It'll take a lot of surprises," said coach Gary Balconi. But Salem has posted many surprises at this meet over the years.

Brian Neuhardt will be one of the premier sprinters at the meet. He won the open 100-meter dash last year.

Gymnasts vie for region title

Two Class I gymnasts from the Plymouth-Canton community have qualified for the Midwest Gold Region V gymnastics championships, which will take place near Columbus, Ohio, this weekend.

Andrea Dewey of Canton Township and Debra Skeppstrom of Plymouth put forth impressive showings at the Michigan state meet to qualify for the Red Roof Inns-sponsored meet.

Dewey, a 13-year-old eighth grader at West Middle School, placed eighth all-around at the state meet with a 67.95 score. Dewey has been busy this season. She placed third all-around at the Circle City Classic in Indiana, seventh all-around at the Great Lakes Invitational in Lansing and third all-around at the Michigan Pizza Classic.

She trains out of Gym America in Ann Arbor.

SKEPPSTROM, a junior at Plymouth Canton, scored 67.50 all-around at the state meet. She trains out of the Michigan Academy of Gymnastics in Garden City.

The Midwest Gold championships will bring together more than 100 Class I gymnasts from Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Ohio and Michigan. The top six all-arounders will advance to the national championships to be held in Boca Raton, Fla., in June. Those finishing 7-12 will earn a berth at the Eastern National Qualifying Meet.

Canton 2nd at Tiger Relays

Both Plymouth Canton track and field teams made strong showings at the annual Tiger Relays at Belleville Saturday.

The Canton boys team placed second to Belleville; the girls finished third behind Ann Arbor Huron and Grosse Ile.

Plymouth Salem's boys team placed fourth, its girls third.

"We had some really good performances out there," said Canton boys coach Rob Neu. "We had to overcome injuries to some key people coming in and at the meet. We had to make some last-second lineup changes to patch things up, but the guys responded."

The Chiefs amassed 53 points, second to Belleville's 87.

Tyrone Reeves, Roger Trice and Geoff Estevez picked up a first for Canton in the long jump relay, jumping 58-11. Reeves leaped 21-2.

Canton also won the high jump relay with Steve Genyk (6-0), Ron Ziembra and Dave Mac.

The Chiefs took third in the distance medley and established a school record in the process. Pat Frederick, Dave McCollum, Jim Swiecki and Keith Rosol went 11:19.5.

Canton also registered a pair of seconds: Bill Boyd, Al Byrnes, Rosol and Swiecki went 19:25.0 in the 4-mile relay and Dan Houdek, Jake Michaelson, Larry Allman and Bryan Whiteley completed the shuttle hurdle in 1:07.2.

SALEM'S BOYS got a second-place finish in the high jump relay as Tony Moore (5-10), Dave Collins (5-10) and Doug Soho (5-8) combined on a 17-4.

Brian Neuhardt, Alan Rye and Ming Quech placed third in the long jump with a combined leap of 52-4.

Rick Kreuscher, Jeff Anderson and Jay Blaylock earned Salem a third in the discus relay (346-6).

In the 440 relay, Bill Campbell, Keith Larson, LaMar Crayton and Garrett Bowie teamed for a third-place finish (no time available).

Other Observerland teams competing were Redford Union (sixth, 24 points) and Livonia Franklin (seventh, 22).

THE GIRLS RACE was dominated by Ann Arbor Huron. The River Rats won seven events and claimed 90 points. Grosse Ile was second with 52.

Canton edged Salem by one point, 46-45, for third place.

Angie Miller, Janet Armstrong and Marie Jarosz got a first for the Chiefs with a 14-2 combined leap in the high jump relay.

Karen Boluch, Tricia Carney, Rachel Mann and Jarosz placed second in the distance medley with a 13:45.6.

Salem placed second in two events and earned a third. Karen Marciniak, Keri McBride and Shelly Bohlan threw 272-0 combined to take second in the discus medley; Marciniak, Bohlan and Nancy Reuk placed second in the shot put relay (87-0).

Rock kickers boot North

A few compasses might've been in order Monday as North Farmington was blown off course in the first half in girls' soccer action.

As a result, visiting Plymouth Salem directed in four goals and came away with a 4-1 victory in a Western Lakes match under blustery conditions.

The Rocks (5-2-1), with the wind at their backs, could do nothing wrong in the first 40 minutes. Julie Tortora, Pam Mayer, Michelle Cygan and Rachel Thiet all knocked in first half goals for the Chiefs.

Cygan's goal was actually scored by a North Farmington player. Cygan sent a high cross to the middle of the field which bounced off a North Farmington defender and into the net.

Sandy Spahn had the Raiders' lone goal in the second half as North Farmington couldn't capitalize with the wind at its back. The first-half damage the Rocks dealt was too much to overcome.

"I think Plymouth Salem was lucky to get the wind in the first half," said North Farmington coach Cathy Cole, whose team is 2-5-1. "If it were the other way around, it could've been a different story."

Jennifer Belhart drew an assist on Tortora's goal while Lisa Hysko set up Mayer's tally. Mayer also assisted on Thiet's goal.

Salem outshot North Farmington, 16-6.

CANTON 7, W.L. WESTERN 0: Michelle Longro booted in three goals while Kendra Whiteley added two more Monday as the Chiefs romped over Walled Lake Western in a WLA match.

Strong winds posed a problem for Plymouth Canton (5-3-1) in the first half. Then the Chiefs posed a problem for the Warriors in the second half, scoring six goals.

Beth Frigge and Trish Greenhalge each added a goal for Canton.

"We were going into that wind," said Canton coach Mike Morgan. "We controlled the play, but we couldn't score in the first half."

The Chiefs outshot Walled Lake Western, 52-3. Canton goalkeeper Jenny Saul picked up her third shut-out of the season.

MERCY 2, LADYWOOD 2: Blame it on the wind, blame it on overconfidence, blame it on Rio — for whatever reason, Farmington Hills Mercy had to struggle from behind to gain a tie with Catholic League rival Livonia Ladywood Tuesday.

"There was a very strong wind," said Mercy coach Gene Fogel. "We had it with us in the second half."

That's when the Marlins scored their two goals. Stacy Nolte scored the first one unassisted. Margaret DeMattia tied the game, scoring off an indirect kick from Amy Stock.

"Ladywood played a very aggressive, strong game," Fogel said. "Their goalie was strong. And we might have been a little flat after upsetting both Regina and Marian."

The Marlins are 3-1-2 overall, 2-0-2 in the Catholic League. Ladywood is 5-2-1.

Celebrate Cinco de Mayo!
Join In On The Fun May Fifth With Carta Blanca, Tecate & Bohemia Beers.
On May 5, 1986, the Mexican Army, outnumbered three to one, fought a valiant battle to drive out an invasion of the French Army. This victory captured the spirit of Mexico. It became a yearly celebration with music, food, and drink. Drink, music and dance.
On Saturday, May 3rd, join in the fun. Celebrate the spirit of Mexico with three great Mexican beers: Carta Blanca, Tecate and Bohemia. Look for Cinco de Mayo parties at restaurants and continue near you. Or pick up a six pack or ten, now at specially reduced prices at participating stores.

No-holds-barred approach in Lap of America road race

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Cops on the prowl in Ohio, snow storms in Montana and partners bailing out in Nevada.

Call it zaniness, call it sheer drudgery, call it the Uniroyal Lap of America road rally where white-line fever will be a premium. This year, the eight-day, 8,300-mile endurance drive kicks off Saturday, May 3, and ends Sunday, May 11, at the Renaissance Center in Detroit.

More than 130 teams from 26 states and Canada are slated to compete, including teams from Livonia, Troy and Southfield.

The event, in its third year, was started by automotive enthusiast Brock Yates. Steve Lash, a designer engineer with Uniroyal in Troy, has been involved with the rally for all three years of its existence in an official capacity.

THIS IS Lash's first year driving in it, though.

"The time they (the drivers) must have had," said Lash, who lives in Birmingham. "I figured I had to do it. The intense looks on their faces was something to be had."

The Lap of America is a cross-country excursion, but it's not a race. Drivers are expected to travel an average speed of 48 miles per hour and are penalized points for early or late arrivals at designated check points.

Each team consists of three people. Any car or van with two axles is eligible, which might explain the wide variety of automotive machinery competing.

Last year, some of the competing vehicles were a 1984 Cadillac limousine and a 1959 Rolls Royce. The Rolls, driven by Japanese restaurateur Rocky Aoki, came in 65th out of 71 finishers.

Aoki and his troupe, according to reports, still had the time of their lives, hitting several gambling establishments along the route.

SOME AREA participants like Lash, Chris Ally of Troy, Joe Machiorlatti of Southfield and Chris McDonald of Livonia all hope to have better finishes than Aoki's, though.

Only Ally, who's driving a car for Falvey Motors of Troy this year, has driven in the Lap of America before.

Last year Ally finished 38th, despite being sidetracked by a blizzard in Montana.

Plus, some law enforcement agencies along the way weren't very helpful.

"I came through looking like a microwave Danish," said Ally, who's driving the Falvey Flyer's Saab 900 Turbo this year. "The police in Ohio were unbelievable."

"All my kids will be born with strange appendages with all the radar we went through."

BUT SUCH minor nuisances are just a part of the rally. Consider the plight of a poor chap in last year's rally, who went to the restroom at a Sear's Pointe, Calif., gas station.

His two partners, not realizing their partner was gone from the backseat of the limo they were driving, left without him. Stranded, the person hitchhiked to an airport.

He caught up with his partners 14 hours later in Los Angeles.

McDonald, who will be driving a 1976 Eldorado convertible this year, heard similar anecdotes from last year's rally. The Livonia real estate broker monitored radio calls from drivers on the route.

This year, he just had to get in on the fun.

Entries to last year's rally were closed, so McDonald didn't get the opportunity to participate. This year, he made sure he was one of the first to sign up.

THE CONVERTIBLE he's driving, along with Andrew Coppola and Garry Kwasiuk, both of Redford, was completely revamped.

"It's a classic," said McDonald of his car. "It's a show piece."

"There's a lot of preparation to do it efficiently and to do it safely," added McDonald. "I was amazed. Our biggest problem is trying to figure out a change of clothes for eight days."

Another problem is what to eat on the trip. Most, though, said they would pulling into a lot of drive-thru restaurants.

That doesn't dampen Kwasiuk's enthusiasm for the upcoming rally.

"I like doing crazy things," said Kwasiuk.

Some, like Machiorlatti, see it as an opportunity to get involved in a sport they love. He's the manager of Mr. Joe's Racing Team, which participates in the ISMA circuit.

"I'VE NEVER driven in a car rally before," said Machiorlatti, owner of Mr. Joe's in Southfield who will drive a 35-foot stretch Chevrolet Suburban. "There's not a lot of speed involved and it's safe and competitive."

Machiorlatti plans to make the 8,300-mile trek in relative comfort. The vehicle he's driving is equipped with beds, a videocassette recorder, a television and a telephone.

Lash, a design engineer at Uniroyal in Troy, is also looking forward to his first time behind the wheel of a rally car. In previous years, he was involved in the design of the tires used on most of the cars on the excursion. He flew around to different sites of last year's rally in a public relations role.

Lash is driving a 1985 Pontiac Grand Am for Team Tiger Paw.

"As it gets closer, I'm getting more intense," he said.

Forham star played with Lombardi

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

The helmets were leather, and toothless smiles weren't hidden behind a face mask.

The venues were Yankee Stadium and the Polo Grounds. And Astroturf certainly wasn't the surface the game was played on. College football was played on real grass, the kind maskless players tasted when driven into the ground.

It was a different game in the 1930s. Players played both offense and defense for the entire 60 minutes.

Frank Mautte, a longtime Bloomfield Hills/Birmingham resident and former All-American running back at Fordham, recalls as much as memory lets him from the bygone era.

Yet images of a young Fordham halfback carrying the ball with his head down, charging ahead like a missile in pursuit of a target, might be scratchy like the black and white newsreels they're documented on but vivid just the same.

MAUTTE, WHO tonight is going to be inducted into the Fordham Hall of Fame, was a captain at the collegiate football powerhouse in 1935-36. It was a time when professional football hadn't really made its impact, and the Four Horsemen of Notre Dame could've been considered current events.

Collegiate teams from all over the United States used to travel to New York for games with Fordham at either Yankee Stadium or the Polo Grounds.

"A lot of the teams liked to come to New York because that's where all the newspapers and magazines were," said Mautte, 71, who's involved with the Executive Oakland County Area Labor Management Committee.

Mautte gave scribes plenty to write about himself. In his junior season in 1935, the New Haven, Conn., native had the fifth longest run from scrimmage against Vanderbilt.

The Fordham team was good copy also. The squad had a front line tagged the Seven Blocks of Granite with Leo Paquin, Al Barbursky, Nat Pierce, Ed Franco, Johnny Druze and Alex Wochiehowicz (who later starred with the Detroit Lions).

A SCRAPPY lineman named Vince Lombardi also was part of that contingent.

Jim Crowley, one of the Four Horsemen, was Fordham's head coach. Frank Leahy, who later went on to glory years at Notre Dame, was Crowley's assistant.

"That's the kind of coaching we had back then," said Mautte.

Probably the most revered coach ever was spawned from that Fordham team. His name was Lombardi — the legendary head man of the National Football League's Green Bay Packers. Mautte was Lombardi's classmate in addition to being his teammate.

Mautte recalls a Lombardi, much like the coach, who was emotional and intense as a player.

"When I was captain, I gave him his first game ball after we had won," said Mautte. "Later, he returned the favor by sending one to my son when he was at Green Bay."

MAUTTE REMEMBERS others like Crowley and Leahy with the same respect.

He recalls how Crowley took a group of All-American players to Europe to play some exhibition games in Hitler's Germany. But with things heating up to what would later be World War II, the team was warned against playing there.

Crowley took his group home. Two players, though, named Schwartz and Bates decided to go to Germany anyway to visit relatives.

They were interned for six months.

Mautte fought in World War II and earned seven battle stars as an Air Force operations officer.

But it was the 90-yard run from scrimmage that earned Mautte the captaincy of Fordham in 1936. The Vanderbilt game was tied 6-6 in the third quarter, and New York football team was looking for a possible Rose Bowl bid.

Vanderbilt fumbled the ball inside the Fordham 20.

"I WAS PRETTY much a ball hog and I recovered it," joked Mautte. "On the next play, I took the handoff and went to the left through the tackle hole and cut back to the right. Then I sprinted some 88 yards."

Fordham won the game, 13-6, on Mautte's TD run. He was named captain by Crowley the following season.

In 1936, Mautte didn't let Crowley down, scoring eight touchdowns and receiving All-American honors for the second consecutive year.

After he graduated, Mautte didn't play professional football. "I was too smart," he said.

Instead, Mautte scouted for Notre Dame and played some semi-professional football on the side. He arrived in Detroit in 1945 and worked for the Ford Motor Co.

Comparing today's brand of football to the kind that was played in the 1930s, Mautte likes the newer game despite its artificial turf. He goes to Lions games when he gets the opportunity.

Wright's Snowflake House in Plymouth was a source of fascination for those who attended the symposium on Frank Lloyd Wright architecture at the University of Michigan.

Wright hand Architect's work studied

By Susan Steinmueller
staff writer

A THREE-DAY Frank Lloyd Wright symposium held in Ann Arbor climaxed last week with a bus trip to two area houses designed by the legendary architect — the Wall House, or "Snowflake," in Plymouth, and the Affleck House in Bloomfield Hills.

The symposium, "The Wright Hand," was sponsored by the University of Michigan College of Architecture and Urban Planning and Domino's Pizza Inc.

It was attended by approximately 1,200 architects, owners of Wright-designed homes, and Wright aficionados from around the country.

Leonard K. Eaton, University of Michigan professor of architecture, calling Wright "the greatest American architect that ever lived," said that based on the success of the first-time conference, a second would "hopefully" be held.

"IT'S A search for personal survival," said architect Nils Schweizer of Florida of the continuing interest in Wright. "You see in Mr. Wright's work a prototype for that kind of a search for meaning."

About 300 toured the two houses. They admired them inside and out despite a slight drizzle, and took numerous photographs.

Both the Wall (1941) and the Affleck (1940) residences are brick and cypress structures from the Wright "Usonian" period. The major difference is that Wright used hexagonal forms in the Wall house, and rectangular shapes in the Affleck residence.

Visitors seemed hard pressed to pick a favorite house — as Steve Barstow, Shepherd architect, said, "They're different approaches."

"SNOWFLAKE" was recently bought by Tom Monaghan as an addition to his Ann Arbor-based Domino's Pizza headquarters, Domino's Farms.

The house reveals a snowflake structure from the air and its various levels spin into a rolling hill site. The young Carlton David Wall built it as a wedding present for his wife, and Wright designed it as a "romantic house for a romantic couple."

Indiana visitor Courtney Robinson, attending with his wife, Barbara, said, "I think that we would both like to be 24 and 21 (the ages of the young couple when it was built) and to move into this house, or even to build it."

Bloomfield Hills architect turned tour-guide for the day, John Davids, lived there as caretaker with his architect wife, Judy, for a year.

"We felt like newlyweds," he said. "We loved it when we moved in, even more so after moving in. A lot of times, people say Wright's homes aren't livable, but they are."

AMONG the Wright homeowners examining the two houses was Donald Schaberg. His residence, completed in 1958, was the last of four that Wright built in Okemos. Like the Wall and Affleck residences, Schaberg said his cypress, mahogany and brick house is Usonian.

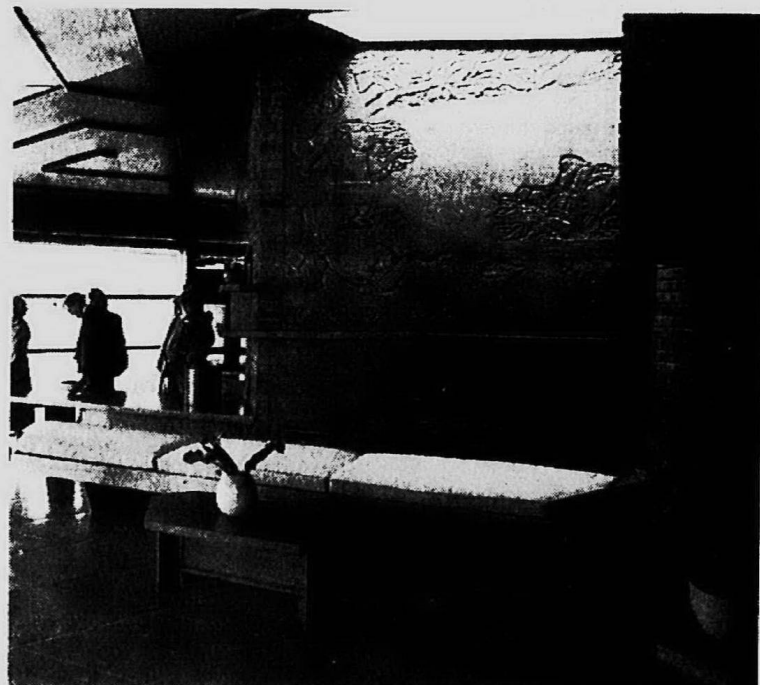

While Schaberg said the two local houses reminded him somewhat of his house, he added, "They're all unique. They're custom made for the builder, and client."

He described Wright as "exceptional" to work with. "He gave us everything we wanted. But we approved of his work and had no reason to question the things that he wanted done."

"Its overall livability, comfort, views, having a warm environment inside and out," Schaberg cited as part of the experience of living in a Wright-designed home.

Schaberg said he attended the Monaghan builds Wright collection

By Dale Northup
special writer

TOM MONAGHAN, owner of the Detroit Tigers and Domino's Pizza and a Frank Lloyd Wright enthusiast, has amassed a superb collection of Frank Lloyd Wright artifacts.

It was shown in conjunction with a symposium on Wright, sponsored by University of Michigan. Furniture, stained glass windows, books, photographs and memorabilia are displayed in his corporate headquarters in Ann Arbor Township.

He also purchased a Wright house which was built on the site of the Guggenheim Museum in New York City in 1953 and later dismantled. All these will eventually be on view in a Frank Lloyd Wright Museum to be constructed by Monaghan.

Domino's $120-million dollar office complex in Ann Arbor Township was designed by Gunnar Birkerts of Birmingham. It bears a strong resemblance to Wright's Banff Pavilion in Alberta, Canada (1911) which was never built.

BIRKERTS' DESIGN has a strong dominant horizontal, longitudinal axis, hip roofs, large overhanging eaves and ribbon windows.

Monaghan's input as a client is apparent in the design of his office. It reflects a Wrightian propensity.

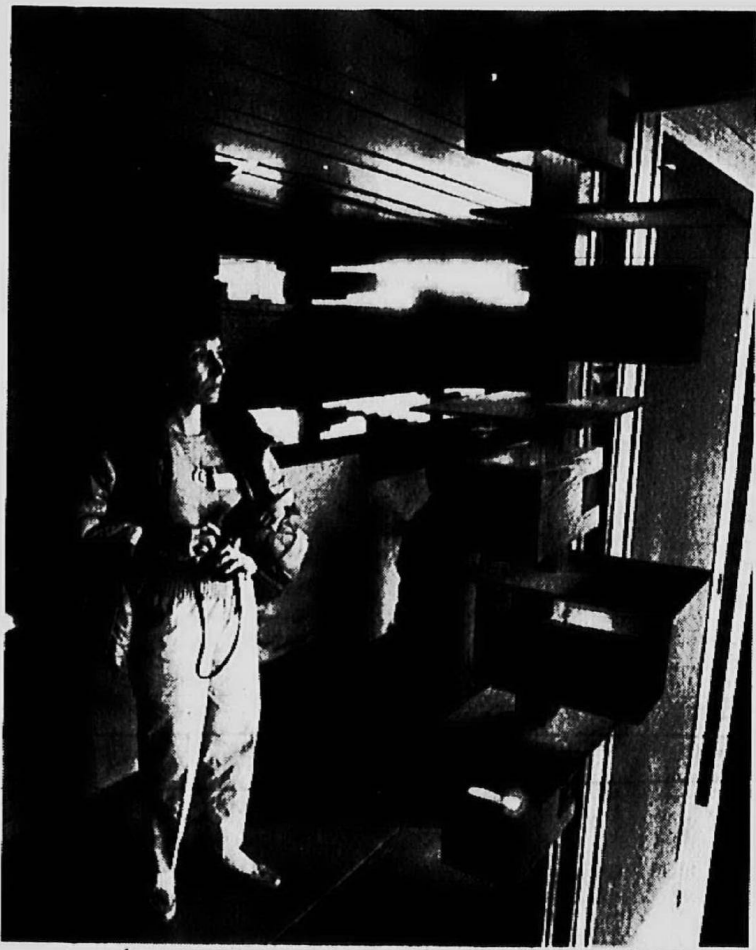

it was after completion, he said kiddingly to Birkerts, "Now I can't enjoy it."

Monaghan referred to Birkerts as "The greatest living architect in America." He also said, "My relationship with Gunnar Birkerts has been one of the richest experiences in my life. . . He has a great ability to understand what I'm saying without my saying it. . . His buildings have a way of working out with time. . . I have the luxury of arguing with him because I'm his client."

BIRKERTS WAS also given recognition by the keynote speaker of the symposium, Bruno Zevi, the leading force in European architectural journalism and foremost European exponent of Wright's work.

Zevi extolled the architect's exploration of freedom and the elements of a Wrightian vision.

The Wright hand, the Wright stuff, Gunnar Birkerts is the heir apparent contributing to the further development of American architecture in Ann Arbor Township and the country.

Brush off water coloring mistakes

By David Messing
special writer

OH, NO!" I exclaimed as I jumped out of bed. I had to teach my class at 9:30 a.m. and it was 9:10 a.m. Quickly I shaved, washed and ran out of the door.

Still wrestling with the alignment of my shirt buttons, I again exclaimed "oh, no!" But this time it was because of a flat tire. I have a Oldsmobile 98.

Because of it being an '83, it's the last of the dinosaurs. Quickly I opened the trunk and took the cover from off the spare. "Oh, no!" I exclaimed, again. "Someone put a motorcycle tire in my trunk." No, not really. But that silly little spare looks so ridiculous on a big car.

Well, I finally got to the store and when I walked into class, with my shirt still out of alignment, guess what I heard from one of my watercolor students? "Oh, no!" she exclaimed. "I just sprinkled paint across my watercolor!" "Relax," I told her. "It's just one of those 'oh, no's'."

SOME OF THE tools for a watercolor repair may seem as silly as the spare tire on my car, but they do the job.

First of all, when you are watercolor painting, always have a tissue or paper towel on hand. Often a color will flow on too dark. While the color is still wet, it can be quickly removed by dabbing it with tissue or towel.

One way to avoid this problem is to always test your color on a piece of scrap watercolor paper.

Just about every other problem in your painting can be effectively removed with the right tool. A razor knife for cutting and scraping and sand paper for lightening large areas. You may also need household bleach, a small synthetic brush and some watercolor pencils for small touchups.

First, I must mention that all of these repair techniques should be performed when the paint and paper are dry. A razor knife is a great repair tool. Even though you may feel like running it over your wrist at the time, don't do it.

This is another in a series of lessons on art and drawing by special columnist David Messing. He has taught for 10 years and operates two art stores, Art Store and More, 16338 Middlebelt, Livonia, and 265 N. Main, Plymouth. Messing encourages questions and comments from readers. You may call him at 522-6311, write to him at his store or in care of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 33203 Grand River, Farmington, Mich. 48024.

THE MOST POPULAR "oh no" in watercolor is a sprinkle, splash or spat of color on a precious white area. After the area is dry and you have collected your wits, try this technique: scrape off the spot with the point of a razor knife with a new blade.

Scrape from the outside of the spot towards the inside. This way you affect only the area within the spot rather than all around its perimeter.

I like to use a dry bristle brush to dust away paint particles as they form. When all of the paint particles have been scraped and dusted off, the spot will still have a slight color to it.

This can most often be removed with a kneaded eraser. Have no fear about scraping again if the spot requires more work. Watercolor paper is the same color all the way through and 140 pound will hold up to all the repair work needed.

Now the spot is gone but the surface of the paper is roughed up. So simply burnish with a tool or your finger nail and hopefully the spot will disappear. If your paper has a definite texture, you can re-texture the area with a stylus or any sharp, pointed object. Hopefully all of your "oh no's" will turn into a "oh wows!" You too will, like many of my students, find yourself bragging about where the mistake used to be.

Now be sure and goof up some watercolors this week because I have some more repairs for you next week.

Visitors pause outside the Snowflake House. The exterior view shows the length of the house. At the left is the bedroom wing. The taller area is the kitchen and living room area.

Wright influence still dominant conference because "I wanted to learn more about Wright," and said he enjoyed talking with other Wright homeowners.

THE GREGOR Affleck residence is owned by the Lawrence Institute of Technology and its School of Architecture, a gift from the late Gregor S. and Elizabeth B. Affleck's daughter, Mary Ann Lutomski, and her older brother, the late Gregor P. Affleck.

It is being restored, a project targeted for completion in late 1986.

Lutomski, who showed visitors through her old home, reminisced about growing up there, saying "I practiced my printing, like all children, on the walls."

"My friends loved it here," she said.

However, Lutomski, like all children, wanted what her friends had — "flower print bedspreads and white walls."

Nevertheless, she said she enjoyed best "the lightness, all the windows, the feeling that the outdoors comes right in, and that nature is all around you."

Rae Ruskin, an interior designer from Huntington Woods, attended the symposium and tour to gain new ideas for her practice.

"I think we all use things that we see," said Ruskin. "I'm here trying to absorb feelings and ideas that will probably play back in the future when it's appropriate."

She said about some of his interior or woodwork, "Someone might come in and say, 'that's practically unfinished.' It's almost raw. Wright cared about the overall concept. He cared about detail, but not with that sense of elegance."

Ruskin said she sees the influence of Wright in many of the homes that she works with.

If you have a question about art, the Plymouth Library may be just the place to go for the answer.

Books on a variety of art topics have been donated to the library by the Three Cities Art Club.

The books were recently presented to Pat Thomas, director of the library, by Betty Manthey and Marilyn Walsh from the Three Cities Art Club.

Books at the library include: "Wildlife Artists at Work" by Patricia Van Gelder; "The Pen and Pencil Technique Book" by Harry Borgman;

"Creative Watercolor Techniques" and "Painting Nature's Hidden Treasures" by Zoltan Szabo; and "Creative Painting from Photographs" by Rudy De Reyna.

Other books donated by the Three Cities Art Club are: "Painting Portraits, Nudes and Clothed Figures" by Jan DeRuth; "Chagall Watercolors and Gouaches" by Alfred Werner; "New Ways of Gravure" by Stanley W. Hayter; "How to Draw Plants" by Keith West; and "The Painter's Handbook" by Smith and Holt.

The library is at 223 S. Main St. in Plymouth.

Recital part of symposium

Nine area musicians will be featured in a student recital highlighting the Music Education Spring Symposium at Schoolcraft College Saturday and Sunday, May 17 and 18.

The musicians are winners of the Livonia Youth Symphony Society's 1986 scholarship competition. The symphony society and Schoolcraft are sponsoring the event.

Soloists are violinists Christian Hebel, Yvonne DeSaraate, Matt Milewski, Suzanne Nagrant, Debby Butler and Laura Rowe; Jean Preston, viola; Matt Butler and Alicia Rowe, cello.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER will be Russell Reed, professor of music at Eastern Michigan University. His topic will be "Current Trends in Youth Band and Orchestra Programs."

Panelists will be R. Paul Barber, Farmington Public Schools music coordinator; David Butler, community school specialist; Attila Farkas, LYSS music director; Janita Hawk, LYSS string orchestra conductor; E. Daniel Long, president of the American String Teachers Association; David McCoy, director of instrumental activities at East Grand Rapids High School; and Kay Rowe, president of the LYSS. Topics will include:

- The long-term importance of early string programs.
- Youth programs: preparation for college music study.
- Incorporating an outstanding player in your program.
- Communication and coordination to avoid conflicts.
- The role of the private teacher.
- Youth orchestras as part of the total picture.
- Parent participation in the growth of a musical child.

The two-day event will wind up with the symphony in concert at 1:30 Sunday at Orchestra Hall in Detroit. Special guests will be young string players of the Livonia Public Schools and the Lansing Lyric Chorus. A program featuring orchestral selections and Beethoven's "Mass in C" is planned.

Cost of the entire package, including dinner on Saturday, is $12. For further information, call 455-1487.

Plymouth Symphony presents cabaret pops, 'Fascinating Rhythms'

"Fascinating Rhythms" will be the musical focus of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra's annual cabaret pops concert at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in Plymouth-Canton High School.

Conductor Charles Greenwell has programmed selections from "My Fair Lady," "The Desert Song," "Carousel," "Porgy and Bess" as well as favorites such as "Blue Tango," "The Syncopated Clock," "Funeral March of the Marionette" and "Emperor Waltz."

Performing with the orchestra will be guest soloist tenor Bob Angus. Angus' list of credits includes solo performances with the Chicago Lyric Opera Theatre, Detroit Symphony, Chicago Symphony, Dearborn Symphony, Saginaw Symphony, St. Clair Shores Symphony and the Detroit Women's Symphony.

There also will be a special appearance by Wayne Dunlap, the former conductor of the symphony from 1951-79, giving nearly 200 concerts during that time. Dunlap is now retired and lives in Denton, Tex.

Paul Burnett, assistant conductor, will lead the orchestra in "Two Slavonic Dances Op. 46" by Dvorak.

For ticket and additional information, call 453-3042.

Art classes offered

Madonna College Adult Education art classes will be held from 10 a.m. to noon Tuesday, May 6. Classes will be held Tuesdays and Thursdays through June 5.

Experimental and creative approaches to drawing and the use of various media and diversity in subject matter will be used. Cost is $50 for the non-credit drawing class. For information, call 591-5187.
