School issues await voters' decisions

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

Voters go to the polls Monday to select candidates for three positions on the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education and to decide the fate of a $13 million bond issue.

Contained in the bond issue is $4.5 million for building a sixth elementary school in Canton, $925,000 for improvements to the Board of Education office, $2.65 million for renovation and repair at Central and Pioneer middle schools, $1.3 million for replacing 11 and adding two buses, and $2.9 million for miscellaneous equipment and computers.

Cost of the issue, to be paid off in 15 years, is $40 per year on a home with an $80,000 market value — a cost that can be cut or eliminated through various tax credit programs.

Vying for one two-year board term are Diane Daskalakis of Plymouth, E.J. McClendon of Plymouth, John Voymas of Plymouth and Patricia Zagorski of Canton.

Daskalakis stresses her Christian beliefs and supports the bond issue, saying a growing community needs to build and upgrade schools. McClendon is a former president of the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education who has served eight years on the board. He stresses experience and supports the bond issue, saying building repair is urgent, and elementary school construction would reduce class size.

VOYMAS HOLDS a bachelor's degree in business administration, works as a computer programmer-analyst, and has served as a substitute teacher. Voymas supports the bond issue, saying a new Canton elementary would meet population growth. Zagorski, president of the Plymouth Youth Symphony, holds a master's degree in communication from the University of Michigan. She supports the bond proposal, citing Canton's population growth.

Candidates for the two four-year terms are Joan Kotcher of Canton, Judith Lore of Plymouth, Jerry Raymor of Plymouth, Marilyn Schwinn of Plymouth, Richard Sumpter of Canton and Jeanette Wines of Canton.

Kotcher, a math teacher, has been active in schools-related activities. While she supports the bond issue to reduce class size, Kotcher said it should cost less, stressing cost-effective management and raised student achievement scores. Lore, a former teacher, supports the bond issue, saying construction is needed based on projected enrollment.

Raymor, a teacher at Henry Ford Community College, stresses his Christian beliefs, stating schools build the future. He supports the bond issue, saying it will provide a higher level of education. Schwinn, a registered nurse and current board member, supports the bond issue, saying more elementary classrooms would decrease class size district-wide.

Sumpter, a Scouting leader, supports the bond issue. "I am for making a good investment better."

Wines, who stresses she's attended board meetings for years, supports the bond issue, saying school construction would allow class-size reduction.

The polls are open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

James Dyer says he's thoroughly enjoyed his 21 years at Our Lady of Good Counsel, but it's time for a new challenge.

On the move Principal pursues job change

By Doug Funke
staff writer

A friendly and familiar face won't be around to greet students returning to Our Lady of Good Counsel Elementary School in Plymouth next fall.

James Dyer, principal since September of 1969 and a math and science teacher there four years prior to that, has decided to explore other opportunities in education.

"I just have felt after 21 years in the same place it's just time for a change," he said. "I really want to do what I missed being a principal — teaching. I want to teach at the high school or college level."

Dyer, 48, said he has no firm plans other than to help his replacement, Theodore Behn, get oriented to the school.

"I'm not worried about finding a job," Dyer said. "I feel I have an ability to teach and be a good teacher."

Dyer, who graduated from Plymouth High School and later earned a degree in industrial management from Eastern Michigan University, got into education in a roundabout way.

"I HAD some contact with one principal here in 1964-65. It was a time of great teacher shortage. They needed a math-science teacher. I accepted the position on a 90-day special certificate.

"You could teach, but you had to take six hours of education classes (per semester)," he said. "In 1969, I ended up with a teaching certificate and a master's degree in elementary education."

Children haven't changed much over the years, Dyer said, adding that he doesn't like to compare public and parochial students.

"They're kids in Plymouth. Kids are kids. They do the same kinds of things, experience the same kinds of problems."

"I think kids who come through here now are not a whole lot different than kids who came through in 1965," he said. "Sometimes, there are differences socially, but academics are the same."

"I WON'T say they're sharper, but they have opportunities to take more advanced classes. These kids are super kids. I'm certainly not changing due to the attitude of the kids at all."

Dyer, a Plymouth Township resident, said his decision to leave wasn't a sudden one.

"I've thought about this for two years. I talked it over with Father (Kenneth) MacKinnon. He delayed it. I delayed it. He had two years to go until he retired as pastor. I decided it wouldn't be wise for both of us to go at the same time. Unfortunately, we both are."

The Rev. MacKinnon died May 13 of a heart attack.

Six nuns were on the teaching staff when Dyer came aboard. None of the 16 teachers on staff this year belong to a religious order.

"The lay people I have and had are outstanding. They're certified to teach religious education and academics."

"You're getting a good education sound in teaching basic skills and, number two, you're getting religious education with that and that's what parents are looking for," Dyer said.

"If we don't teach religious education properly, I don't think these (parochial) schools should remain in business."

ALL AVAILABLE slots at Good Counsel — 580 — were filled this year and many names were on a waiting list, Dyer said. Tuition was $500 per student for one family member, progressively less for others.

All three of Dyer's children, Jacquelyn, Jennifer and Bill graduated from Good Counsel as did his wife,

Commissioner resigns post

Mark O. Wehmeyer's return to the Plymouth City Commission was brief.

Wehmeyer, appointed Feb. 3 to fill a vacancy, resigned effective last Saturday because he plans to move out of the city.

Mayor William L. Robinson, anticipating the move, said late last month that he would expect to nominate a replacement for Wehmeyer "in a couple of weeks."

Robinson reportedly was out of town earlier this week and unavailable for comment.

Wehmeyer, 59, said he had planned to sell his house on Maple, then rent an apartment in town until he retired as a product engineer from Ford Motor Co. next year. His term would have expired in November 1987.

However, he said he wasn't able to find a local rental.

"We tried, I'll tell you," he said. "We looked around, dug in and had others dig in and couldn't find anything."

WEHMEYER SAID he and his wife have found an apartment in Dearborn within a half mile of his job. They expect to relocate by next Tuesday.

The Wehmeyers also own property in South Carolina and in northern Michigan.

Illness has compounded Wehmeyer's housing problem in recent weeks. He has undergone surgery and expects to recuperate at home for a few more weeks.

"We planned to remain in the area another year," he said. "We've enjoyed Plymouth. I really loved it."

Wehmeyer was elected to a four-year term on the city commission in 1977 and to a two-year term in 1981. City charter prevents a candidate from serving more than two consecutive terms.

Wehmeyer was appointed to fill the term of Eldon "Bud" Martin, who resigned last December. Wehmeyer said at that time, "What I look on my role as is simply to serve citizens. The important thing, I think, is you have to listen."

Wehmeyer has lived in Plymouth since 1953.

Dumas files for re-election at wire

By Teri Banas
staff writer

Wayne County Commissioner Mary Dumas, R-Livonia, launched a re-election effort two hours before the filing deadline in the Wayne County Elections Bureau Tuesday, setting the stage for what could be her stiffest contest yet.

The 13-year incumbent had insisted for weeks that she was undecided on whether she would seek an eighth two-year term.

On Tuesday, she said "This is absolutely the last time" and plunked down the $100 filing fee.

Dumas, the commission's sole Republican, enters a four-way race for that nomination, barring any withdrawals or write-in candidacies.

Lively race seen in county district

THE OTHERS who filed by Tuesday's deadline in the 10th District include previously declared candidates and veteran campaigners Elaine Tuttle, the Livonia city treasurer, and Susan Heintz, Northville Township supervisor.

Larry Schweiger, a Livonian and perennial candidate, entered the race on Monday. He has never held elective office.

One Democrat filed for the 10th seat, political newcomer John Kopka of Livonia.

THE 10TH DISTRICT includes Livonia, Plymouth and Northville. Although Dumas said she enjoyed serving as county commissioner and considers it a full-time occupation, she said the paperwork alone was becoming "very demanding."

At least one other candidate predicts a close race.

"It's going to be very close all around," treasurer Tuttle said.

Tuttle, who ran unsuccessfully two years ago, maintains today like she did then that she could hold both elective offices simultaneously. "There's no law saying you can't, and there's no conflict of interest at all," she said.

HEINTZ, ON the other hand, believes two elective offices aren't compatible. She said she would not seek another term as township supervisor if elected to the county post.

A well-known entity in the 10th's western end, Heintz has spent months working to build name recognition in Livonia, where she is lesser known.

In addition, she already has won GOP endorsements from ranking individuals such as county executive and gubernatorial hopeful William Lucas, national committeewoman Ronna Romney and former state Rep. Jack Kirksey of Livonia.

"It's going to be a great race," she said excitedly when learning of Dumas' decision to run again. "It's going to be one of the hottest races in Wayne County."

HEINTZ SAID she also viewed the contest against three Republicans from Livonia as a benefit to herself, with the Livonians splitting up the vote.

Livonia makes up 70 percent of the district. The rest is comprised of the townships of Plymouth and Northville and the city of Plymouth.

Schweiger is not unknown politically, at least in Livonia. He waged unsuccessful campaigns for city clerk last year and also in 1981.

He ran unsuccessfully for county executive in 1982 and then two years later ran unsuccessfully for county register of deeds.

AT&T strikers picket facility in Plymouth

Mary Hamlin, an operator with 26 years experience, finds herself on the outside looking in during the strike.

By Doug Funke
staff writer

About 275 operators and technicians at the Plymouth AT&T Operator Services Center on Ann Arbor Road joined 150,000 other members of their union nationwide on strike Sunday against the communications giant.

A dozen striking Communications Workers of America carried picket signs here in small clusters Monday afternoon. They talked about loyalty to the union and its cause and wondered when they would be back on the job.

"I think the key issue is job security," said Joan Swalley, an operator and a chief steward for Local 4015. "My job can be phased out quite easily with machines. They consolidate, downsize."

Other major issues in national bargaining, she said, are wages and health care costs.

Swalley, a Livonia resident, said she currently earns $430 per week. AT&T has offered an 8-percent increase over three years.

SWALLEY ISN'T surprised to be walking a picket line. "Three years ago, we stayed out 20 days for some of the same reasons," she said. "I've heard from a lot of people more senior than me it will be the same thing."

The union has delivered a portable toilet to the strike site. Lawn chairs, empty soft drink cans and a radio were also found at the scene earlier this week.

Most strikers are asked to picket one six-hour shift per week. There are no strike benefits. The union, though, has a defense fund to help members who get into financial difficulties after at least two weeks off the job.

Tina, an operator who asked that her full name not be used, said she prepared for a strike even though she didn't know which way events would finally turn.

"I didn't have a feeling either way," she said. "I feel I'm accomplishing something out here. There's personal satisfaction. I like to find out what's going on, sit out here with co-workers and support the strike."

Mary Hamlin, a Livonia resident and operator, was wearing small telephone earrings while picketing. No special significance, she maintained.

"I'M OUT here to show my union I'm with them for anything they can do to better my position," she said. "You just do what you have to do. This is part of it."

"I didn't think we'd go (strike) right up to the last minute," Hamlin said. "I thought they were close to an agreement and a strike was the last thing they (AT&T) would want or need."

After 26 years on the job, co-workers have become almost like family, she added.

"I'd rather be in there working," said Beulah Hall, a Wayne resident. "This is not a vacation. I can't go anywhere. I've got to be ready to go back to work."

So, why picket for no strike benefits?

"I want the union to know I back them all the way," she said. "Sometimes, I don't think the company realizes how stressful our job is."

Barry Laub, an operations technician, said he earns $25,000-$28,000 per year. The Plymouth resident was picketing even though he wasn't scheduled to be on the line.

"For me, the national (union) has asked us what we want, asked what our feelings are and asked if we'd hit the bricks in support," he said.

Most people in the community might not sympathize with the strikers, Laub conceded, perhaps because they don't know exactly what they do.

"BASICALLY, what it is is our jobs have become more and more involved . . . more to the point of

motorized bikes lawfully, but too often the bikes are accidents waiting to be happen. (None of the young people pictured were interviewed for the accompanying articles.)

Laws limit moped use

By Diane Gale
staff writer

One of the keys to safe moped riding is parental guidance.

"A model has to be set for younger kids and even those in their teens," Plymouth Police Chief Richard Myers said. He enjoys riding mopeds, Myers added.

"The kids aren't going to act responsible until the parents act responsible," Myers said.

Moped stands for motorized pedal vehicle and can be two or three wheeled, two horsepower or less with no gears and have a maximum speed of 30 miles an hour.

To operate a moped, drivers must be at least 15 and wear a helmet if younger than 19.

"We're seeing an improvement in kids wearing the helmets," said Myers, who attributed the trend to publicity about the laws and from youngsters hearing about accidents.

Those younger than 16 must get a license to operate a moped, although a road test is not required. Mopeds don't require a title but must be registered with the Secretary of State. Operators must follow all roadway traffic rules and may not ride on sidewalks or bike paths. Only one person may ride at a time.

CANTON AND PLYMOUTH police stress that parents must learn the laws regarding mopeds and then teach them to their children.

Canton police will start ticketing moped riders for illegal operation next week. The mopeds will be towed away if the riders fail to show registration and license, ride on private property or seriously violate other state laws, said Eddie Tanner of the Canton Public Department.

"Mopeds are like bicycles, motorcycles and cars — you'll have good drivers and bad drivers," Tanner said.

Until recently, towing mopeds was up to the officer's discretion in Canton Township. The towing rule was strictly enforced a couple of years ago, and police will do so again because of a sharp increase in complaints, Tanner said.

"There was a crackdown then because of all the complaints by residents and from our own observations of how mopeds were being handled on public highways," Tanner said.

"We're just trying to save a life." Staff writer Tom Henderson contributed to this story.

Margo Panko

By Diane Gale
staff writer

A student petition drive to lower the minimum age of moped operators from 15 to 14 is under way at Central Middle School.

So far, organizers have signatures from 80 students. The drive originated from discussions in Margo Panko's fifth-hour career class.

"They asked how they can go about getting something changed, and I told them a petition," Panko said. "This is a very big issue with the kids right now."

Peter Kolotrones, 14, is leading the drive with Jason Griffith, who also attends Central. The teens plan to present the petition to state Rep. James Kosteva, D-Canton.

Kolotrones, a Plymouth resident, argues that he and his friends are capable of riding mopeds, now.

"I would follow the laws doing everything that they say and keeping out of other cars' way the best I could," he said. "My parents bought the moped when I was 13, and they didn't think I could ride it. But they think I'm mature enough now. It only goes 30 miles an hour. You can get a bicycle up that fast."

KOLOTRONES SAID he was unaware of moped laws until he was stopped by an officer who gave him a list of rules.

One benefit of lowering the age to 14 would be to speed up newspaper delivery for those who have routes and mopeds, Kolotrones said.

A 13-year-old student said her family has owned a moped for a year.

"I feel at age 16 you can drive a car and you don't get a chance to ride it (moped)," she said. "You only have a year, because if you have a car you'd just want to use the car. I've been riding (a moped) for about one year. As long as I use a helmet, they (my parents) don't care, and they know I'm really careful."

She said she usually rides her moped in her Plymouth neighborhood, but sometimes she takes it to the store.

Another 14-year-old student said he just sold his moped last week, and replaced it with a dirt bike.

"IN A year they say you're responsible enough to drive a car, and a car goes a lot faster," he said. "If they lower the age, the kids will follow the rules."

Another 14 year old in Panko's class said he has driven a moped for two years.

"My parents said that if I ever get caught doing something wrong, I'd be in trouble, but if I follow the rules, then it's OK."

However, not all of Panko's students agree the age change is a good idea.

Jennifer Jurkowski, a 13-year-old Central student, said the age-15 requirement is just.

"I feel strongly that lowering the age would cause more accidents," Jurkowski said. "Still at 15 people want to show-off and show how fast they can go. You see too many accidents on the street."

"If they do want to lower the age, I think they should have to take a special driving test."

Democrats to battle; Geake is unopposed

Two lawyers — Thomas H. Healy and Scott Bassett — will duel in the 6th Senate District Democratic Primary on Aug. 5.

Healy, 63, a special assistant to the state attorney general, lives in Plymouth. In 1968, he was an unsuccessful candidate for judge in the 35th District Court.

Bassett, 30, teaches law at the University of Michigan. He lives in Livonia and is making his first bid for elective office.

The winner of the primary will face R. Robert Geake, R-Northville, in the general election. Geake, 49, has served in the Senate since March of 1977. He also served in the state House for 4½ years.

Geake, an educational psychologist before winning election to the legislature, is unopposed in the Republican Primary.

The 6th Senate District includes Plymouth Township, Plymouth, Northville Township, Northville, Livonia and Redford.

"I've been doing a lot of work in law reform areas relating to family law," Bassett said. "One of my goals is to establish a family court. Only the legislature can do that.

Just one Republican and Democratic candidate filed for the 36th District House seat, so primary elections aren't necessary there.

"I guess my whole priority is to be someone to look out for children and families in Michigan," Bassett said.

Healy, a press release indicates, spends most of his time on state legal matters relating to highway condemnation cases and the liquor control commission.

"At this stage of my career," he said, "I am not interested in climbing a political ladder but interested only in providing better representation and maintaining closer communication with the electors.

"The incumbent has become complacent and takes for granted the people he is supposed to be representing," Healy said.

The machinations of a primary election won't be needed in the 36th House District, as only one candidate from each party filed. The district includes Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Northville, Northville Township and part of Canton Township.

Gerald Law, R-Plymouth Township, the incumbent, will be challenged by Kathy A. Reilly, a Democrat who also lives in Plymouth Township, directly in the November election.

Reilly, 28, a former teacher, is now a homemaker.

"I feel I can make a difference in the community," she said. "I have young children and I'd like to see changes that are going to be happening in the next few years for the better."

Reilly made an unsuccessful bid for constable in Plymouth Township in 1976.

Law, 44, has served two terms in the state House. He worked as a financial analyst prior to winning election to the legislature.

Exciting county primary ahead

THE 26-YEAR Livonia resident is a 1981 Livonia First Citizen recipient.

Democrat Kopka, a 20-year Air Force veteran now employed as a research technician for Eaton Corp. in Southfield, calls himself a conservative Democrat. He said he decided to run several months ago because he's concerned "it's costing too much to run Wayne County." To start, he said commissioners are "paid too much."

The salary is $27,000 a year, plus $100 a month for parking and full benefits.

"I'm going to make pay an issue," he said.

Blanchard campaign issue: 'more of same'

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Gov. James Blanchard will play up his suburban origins, raising few new issues as he seeks a second four-year term in Lansing.

"There were so many initiatives that it's going to take a lot of follow-through," Blanchard, 43, said last week in his first re-election news conference.

It was staged in his home town of Pleasant Ridge, just a few blocks from his boyhood school in Ferndale where he announced his candidacy April 27.

"It is a strength — particularly as a Democrat — to have a suburban base," said Blanchard, "because that's the growing base of our country. Democrats have to represent the suburbs to represent America."

"THE STATE and voters deserve more than promises about the future," he said, warning newspeople not to look for a string of new proposals from his campaign headquarters at 109 W. Michigan in Lansing.

His theme will be the economic "comeback" — the Michigan Strategic Fund, roads and bridges construction, business recruitment and job training. "We've lived up to our program," he said.

"I'm a very practical person with a lifetime of experience in economics," said Blanchard, who earned a master of business administration degree before becoming a lawyer,

It is a strength — particularly as a Democrat — to have a suburban base, because that's the growing base of our country.

— Gov. James Blanchard

assistant attorney general and U.S. Representative in the 1970s.

"We can do more. We've got to keep it going."

He plugged his House-passed plan to expand homestead property tax rebates at the cost of closing certain "loopholes." (Republican senators, however, say Blanchard's "loopholes" are tax increases for banks and insurers. The GOP is advancing a 1987 plan to lower property taxes by half, substituting a voter-approved increase in the sales tax.)

THE GOVERNOR fielded a series of questions on suburban issues, including:

- Reorganization of the 15-member Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority: "They need a smaller group that's accountable. They have no local basis of support (for operating money). SEMTA should be more than a conduit for (federal and state) money."

Blanchard said either a Big Four SEMTA board (mayor of Detroit, county executives of Wayne and Oakland, and the Macomb board chairman) or a Big Five (the four mentioned plus the state transportation chief) would be "acceptable."

- The exposure of the business and private life of Republican front-runner Richard Chrysler: "No comment" because "I do not have credibility with Republican primary voters."

"It will be a hard-fought, closely-decided race. I will behave as a governor, not a candidate, until fall. Politically, the best thing for me is to stay on the job."

- Republican legislative charges that the record 23,500 incorporations of 1985 aren't a sign of business strength, but are really defensive legal steps by taverns and restaurants to limit their liability against lawsuits: "Hogwash. Dun & Bradstreet (credit rating firm) collects the data. Michigan set a record for new business startups, and this year's record in the first quarter is even higher."

- The GOP charge that unemployment is down because people are moving out of the state: "Michigan is gaining population now. We did lose population in the early '80s and late '70s." Western states are now "experiencing serious downturns (while) Michigan is helping lead the national recovery."

"The trend is clear. We shouldn't minimize the comeback or think it's time to relax."

ON DETROIT issues, Blanchard answered:

- On the lack of a glowing endorsement from Mayor Coleman Young: "There are days when he's frustrated." Relations are good, however, and the two had lunch to discuss problems last week, he said.

- Detroit's desire for casino gambling: "I remain to be convinced. I have an open mind. I've never seen it as a panacea. I've never been a fan or supported it."

- On the charge that his administration is dominated by an "Oakland County Mafia": "I am proud I represented Oakland and Macomb counties in Congress (1977-82). We have people from all over the state and nation on my staff," he said, citing Treasurer Robert Bowman from Wall Street, former Commerce Director Ralph Gerson from Washington, D.C., Transportation Director James Pitz from Illinois and Public Health Director Gloria Smith from Oklahoma.

Blanchard to OK reform bill

Gov. James J. Blanchard said he expects to sign into law the beginning of reforms dealing with dramshop insurance and medical malpractice.

Speaking at last weekend's Mackinac Island conference of the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce, Blanchard said these reforms should make costs more reasonable and policies more accessible.

"They are not the full answer to the problem," he said, "but we think we have come up with some very good legislative responses."

McCarthy heads UF Torch Drive

Walter J. McCarthy Jr., chairman of the board of Detroit Edison Co., is the new chairman of United Foundation. The Birmingham resident last week was elected at UF's 37th annual meeting in Detroit.

John A. Betti, Ford Motor Co.'s executive vice president for technical affairs and operating staffs, was appointed 1986 Torch Drive general chairman.

Betti's responsibilities include recruiting, organizing, and managing the 1986 campaign team which raises funds for 143 health and human service agencies in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

Elected at the meeting was Charles T. Fisher III, chairman and president, National Bank of Detroit, as UF first vice chairman. More than 430 UF officers, board members, volunteers, agency representatives and contributors attended the meeting.

The Torch Drive is conducted annually each fall. The goal will be established in September.

MCCARTHY SUCCEEDS Roger B. Smith, General Motors Corp. chairman. Smith praised the 1985 Torch Drive volunteers and contributors in the tri-county area for raising more than $56 million. The 10.3 percent increase over 1984 was the first double-digit increase since 1977.

"As a direct result of this unprece-dent success, 16 new agencies were admitted to the Torch Drive package and received funds totaling $790,000," Smith said.

"This was the first time since 1980 that we have been in a position to admit new agencies. These new agencies are addressing important community needs to provide emergency food and shelter, programs for disadvantaged youth, substance abusers, juvenile delinquents, and victims of domestic violence."

Baker bids for Congressional seat

Dean Baker

By Teri Banas
staff writer

An organizer of last month's successful Ann Arbor ballot issue opposing U.S. military support of the Contras in Central America has announced plans to seek the Democratic nomination for Congress in the 2nd District.

Dean Baker, 27, of Ann Arbor said he will wage a campaign, albeit a "low budget" one, using volunteers who promoted the passage of Proposition A. Baker said he will draw from a list of 300-500 volunteers who worked to win 62 percent of Ann Arbor's voting population in that city election.

Baker, a University of Michigan teaching assistant and economics doctoral student, was a member of Proposition A's steering committee. Besides encouraging the United States to stop supplying the Contra rebels in Nicaragua with military aid, the proposal also asked Ann Arbor to set up a "sister-city relationship" with a counterpart in Central America.

BAKER, who is critical of incumbent Carl Pursell's congressional voting record on issues like military spending, the MX Missile and cuts in Social Security and Medicaid, calls Pursell a "rubber stamp for Reagan." He said he will direct his campaign at highlighting Pursell's track record and "down the line" support of Reagan Administration policies.

The candidate was among protesters who held a seven-day "sit-in" at Pursell's Ann Arbor field office last March during the Congressional vote on a $100 million Contra aid package.

"Reagan's proposed military spending now amounts to about $5,000 a year for a family of four. While this money is being squandered on an escalating arms race and to support corrupt military dictators, we are told we can no longer afford lunch programs for our own schoolchildren. We need to reorder our priorities to reflect what Americans really need and want," Baker said.

Baker is a native of Chicago, Ill., where he worked on a number of local Democratic campaigns. He was a 1972 campaign worker for George McGovern. He has lived in Ann Arbor for three years and previously attended school and lived in Denver, Colo., as well as in Pennsylvania where he attended Swarthmore University.

HE HAS never sought an elective office before, and is unrelated to a former candidate by a similar name. Deane Baker, a U-M regent, ran for U.S. Senate as a Republican four years ago.

The 2nd Congressional District takes in parts of Livonia, Plymouth, Northville and Washtenaw, Jackson, Hillsdale and Lenawee counties. It is generally considered a Republican-voting district.

Baker will face Don Grimes, an economist working in Ann Arbor, in the 2nd District Democratic primary.

Grant starts Rouge cleanup

By Tim Richard
staff writer

The cleanup of the polluted Rouge River will inch ahead this year with $350,000 worth of planning and engineering work.

First target: the "combined" sewers that carry both stormwater and sanitary sewage, and which overflow into the river during heavy rains.

"We'll start with engineering studies of combined sewer overflows," said Jim Rogers, a senior environmental planner with the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments.

SEMOG will administer much of the $350,000 state grant, taking its cues from a state Water Resources Commission advisory committee. SEMOG will be a "pass-through" agency, accepting the money and letting the engineering contracts, Rogers said.

STATE SEN. Patrick McCollough, D-Deerborn, took credit for preserving the Rouge money as the Legislature passed the natural resources budget.

The money is for fiscal 1987, which starts Oct. 1.

"As one involved in the Rouge River cleanup," McCollough said, in a statement from Lansing, "I was extremely concerned that the (appropriations) subcommittee was eliminating money for the Rouge River cleanup project."

"We shifted into high gear and convinced members of the Senate appropriations subcommittee on natural resources to keep the Rouge cleanup grant in the bill."

"The subcommittee reinstated the $350,000 appropriation, which was endorsed by the full Senate Appropriations Committee and passed the

First target: the 'combined' sewers that carry both stormwater and sanitary sewage, and which overflow into the river during heavy rain

Senate as part of the Department of Natural Resources budget this week," he said.

It will be one of McCollough's last major acts because he will not seek re-election this year after a total of 12 years in the Senate.

ROGERS, OF SEMOG, said first priority would be engineering studies of combined sewer overflows.

Generally, older urban areas have combined sewers, he said, citing Detroit, Dearborn, Redford Township, Birmingham, Farmington and portions of Livonia, Garden City, Westland, Bloomfield Township and the village of Beverly Hills.

Other studies will be conducted of:

- Sediments.

- Non-point pollution — runoff from roads, parking lots, lawns, farms and illegal connections.

- Logjams. "Saturday's (volunteer cleanup) effort will be a little nibble out of that," Rogers said.

- Downriver odors. "It's quite possible we'll take a look at interim remedial measures. One method could be to 'perfume' the river at times. Did you know they do that in Dearborn at certain times, during a festival?"

The Rouge, which drops very little in the western Wayne County flatlands, fails to flush itself out, particularly in warm weather. Polluted water just stands, giving off odors.

Seasonal hiring up in state

Seasonal hiring throughout the state caused unemployment rates in all 12 of Michigan's major labor market areas to drop in April, according to Richard Simmons Jr., director of the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

The release of local labor market estimates follows the release of the statewide estimate. On May 2, MESC reported that Michigan's April jobless rate had dropped 0.5 percent to 9.1 percent from 9.6 percent in March.

The number of jobless workers fell by 21,000 during the month to 393,000.

Typically, unemployment declines throughout the state from March to April as seasonal employment begins to increase. April seasonal employment gains were reported in the construction; transportation, communications and utilities; service; and retail trade industries.

The Benton Harbor and Muskegon areas had the largest declines as the jobless rates in both areas fell by 0.9 percent to 8.7 and 10.8 percent, respectively.

The Ann Arbor area with a rate of 4.8 percent had the lowest jobless rate among the 12 labor markets. The Upper Peninsula had the highest rate at 16.9 percent.

Fiegel gets new principal

Five administrative appointments, including a new principal for Fiegel Elementary School, were approved Monday in a special meeting of the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.

Barbara Young, an elementary school principal in the Dryden School District for the last two years, has been named principal at Fiegel. She holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan and a master's degree from Michigan State University.

In other appointments, William Pearson was named assistant principal at East Middle School and Claudia Kulnis will be the administrative intern at Tangor Elementary School. She is presently a teacher at Erikson Elementary. The assistant principalship is Pearson's first administrative appointment. He is presently at teacher at Erikson and has worked in the district for 11 years. He recently received his doctorate in education from Wayne State University.

Also approved by the board were Joan Claeys as the new area coordinator for Centennial Education Park and John Rychlicki, supervisor of energy and afternoon operations for the district.

Rychlicki holds a bachelor's degree in education from Eastern Michigan University and has experience in sales and supervision. He lives in Westland.

Claeys is an English teacher at the educational park.

Warrants sought in stabbing at prison

Michigan State Police expect to seek charges of first-degree murder on "more than one" suspect by the end of this week in connection with the stabbing death Saturday of a prisoner at the Western Wayne Correctional Facility in Plymouth Township.

Det. Sgt. Wayne Bullen of the state police Northville Post said "suspects have been developed" in his continuing investigation of the stabbing death of prisoner Raymond L. Downey, 21. Downey was found at 8:54 a.m. Saturday beside his bed in the prison dormitory, bleeding from several stab wounds.

Prison spokesman Kurt Jones said Downey was likely sleeping at the time he was attacked. "There was a guard inside the door; however, he did not observe the incident taking place," Jones said.

Bullen said the guard was not negligent in the incident.

Following the stabbing, Downey was taken by emergency medical personnel to St. Mary Hospital in Livonia, where he died at 9:52 a.m.

The latest reported incident at the facility follows others reported earlier this year: a non-fatal stabbing, a fire, injuries to guards who confronted prisoners out of their beds after hours, and the escape of a trustee who fled the prison driving a snow plow.

Downey was serving a two-to-15-year sentence for breaking and entering. He arrived at the facility on Aug. 21, 1985.

Patterson sees shift toward death penalty

By Tim Richard
staff writer

A confident L. Brooks Patterson sees "an explosion" of public interest in the death penalty.

The Oakland County prosecutor said his petition drive has a sudden "momentum," and the odds are "above 60-40" that his proposed constitutional amendment will be on the Nov. 4 state ballot.

"We're seeing a tremendous shift of public opinion," Patterson told a news conference Wednesday morning.

He announced that a "milestone" — 240,000 petition signatures — has been reached. State law requires 304,001 signatures by the July 7 deadline.

Patterson said he wants 100,000 more signatures, for a total of 340,000, by June 30 to allow for errors.

ONLY A MONTH ago Patterson was only 50 percent hopeful that enough signatures would be collected. But recent news events have prompted requests for 26,000 petition forms. The prosecutor cited:

- A Detroit judge's comments in the conviction of the killers of a Wayne State University graduate student, his wife and 9-month-old son that the killers "should ride a lightning bolt to eternity."

- Revelations that 71 men convicted of first-degree murder were serving their mandatory life sentences, not at hard labor, but in unfenced, minimum-security trusty camps. The list included six from Oakland County.

To Assistant Wayne County Prosecutor George Ward's remarks that "we lock 'em up and throw away the key," Patterson retorted, "We don't lock 'em up. We treat 'em far, far too lightly."

Closing his second campaign for the death penalty, Patterson vowed that if this one failed, there wouldn't be a third.

- The state Corrections Department's announcement that it would fence 13 trusty camps. Patterson called it "a day late and a dollar short."

- Democratic Gov. James J. Blanchard's remark that he supported the death penalty in certain types of cases.

- The murder of 77-year-old twin sisters in Detroit.

- The murder of an Otsego County deputy sheriff.

- This week's Florida court sentencing of a Michigan man to the electric chair for a murder spree.

- A statistical study which Patterson said shows "a baby born in Detroit has a greater chance of being shot and killed than a soldier in World War II."

"I REALLY don't want to win at that cost," said Patterson, adding he would prefer to convince voters on the merits of the issue rather than see them inflamed by a homicidal bloodbath.

As evidence that interest in the drive is suddenly picking up, Patterson said:

- The Fraternal Order of Police recently picked up 10,000 petition forms.

- Life Action Ministry, a group of western Michigan churches headquartered in Niles, asked for 10,000 petition forms.

- His office phone — 858-8656 in Pontiac — is being flooded with calls from individuals who have been sent 6,000 petition forms. Waving four sheets of mailing labels, Patterson called out "Livonia... Westland... Three Rivers... Inkster... Sterling Heights."

In addition, his campaign office will send 22,000 post cards to persons who have received petitions but haven't returned them yet. Patterson encouraged them to return the forms, even if they don't have the full 15 signatures apiece.

His 1982 campaign collected 309,000 signatures with 278,000 valid ones needed, but the Secretary of State's office ruled there weren't enough valid signatures.

If the proposal reaches the ballot, polls show that 75 percent of Michiganders would support it, he said.

Polls by Observer & Eccentric area legislators showed even stronger support — 80 percent — in the Oakland and Wayne suburbs.

The proposal would amend the Michigan Constitution, which has prohibited the death penalty since 1846, by substituting a sentence which says: "The Legislature shall enact legislation providing for the penalty of death for the crime of first degree murder."

The Legislature would have six months to act, Patterson said.

MICHIGAN COURTS convict 100 to 150 persons a year of first-degree murder, but not all would be likely candidates for execution, he said.

"Many states have a bifurcated system," he said, explaining that once guilt has been established, a second proceeding is held in which the prosecution tries to show the murder was "aggravated" while the defense brings in "mitigating" facts.

"You may have only one or two executions a year once this thing is on line," the prosecutor said.

Legg only surprise in exec race

By Teri Banas
staff writer

There was only one surprise when the filing deadline arrived for Wayne County executive candidates.

Michael Legg, 2nd District Republican party, was one of the candidates.

He said he has been promised state GOP help to mount a "serious" campaign.

Wayne County traditionally elects only Democrats to office.

the announced major Democratic candidates had filed — Livonia mayor Edward McNamara, county commission chairman John Hertel, county sheriff Robert Ficano, assistant county executive Frank Wilkerson and county commissioner Samuel Turner. Sumpter Township treasurer Thomas Gondek had also filed.

Lesser known Democrats to file included: Gerald Berg, a Detroit and perennial candidate; Charles J. Nemeth of Detroit; Michael Tifrea, a perennial candidate from Dearborn; James Malinowski of Taylor; and Henry Kozak of Detroit.

LEGG, a former Livonia resident now living in Northville, faces opposition for the Republican nomination from only one other Republican, who is not considered a serious candidate.

"People who know me know I wouldn't do this for the sake of being a sacrificial lamb," Legg said. "I'm very serious, of course. I plan to announce my formal intentions on Monday."

Legg said he made his decision to enter the race in what's considered a Democratic stronghold only after encouragement from statewide GOP leaders who promised organizational help.

He said "GOP pockets" have grown in Wayne County in recent years, beginning with Ronald Reagan's original presidential success.

"For the second time in a row the Republican party has filed candidates for each state house and state senate district seat in Wayne County. That's a tribute to the maturation of the Republican Party in Wayne County," he said.

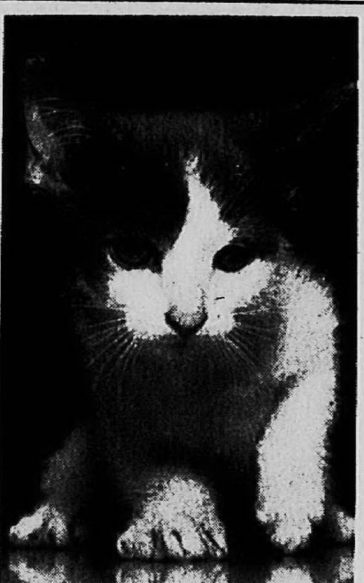

Legg, 33, an attorney, is employed as a product manager for Computware in Southfield.

Voters will nominate Republican and Democratic candidates in the primary elections Aug. 6. The two nominees will be on the November general election ballot.

● BACKYARD POOLS NEEDED

If you live in Plymouth, Canton or Northville and have a backyard pool you would be willing to donate for one to two hours a day for a two-week period, call the Plymouth Community Family YMCA at 453-2904. The backyard pool program will run in two-week sessions Monday through Friday, July 7-18, July 21 to Aug. 1, and Aug. 4-15. Times are optional.

● ICE-SKATING LESSONS

Registration for summer group classes will be held from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, June 21, at the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer at Theodore. Each class is 25 minutes long and taught for eight consecutive weeks beginning the week of June 23. Classes are available for all levels of skaters from beginner to advanced. Minimum age is 4. For information, call Plymouth Parks and Recreation at 455-6620.

● SOCCER REGISTRATION

Registration for soccer leagues sponsored by Plymouth Parks and Recreation will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays through June 27 at Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer. Boys and girls ages 4-18 are eligible to play. The registration fee is $25. Birth certificates required for all new participants. League play begins in September.

● CANTON SOCCER CLUB

The Bonanza Select Team Tryouts of Canton Soccer Club for boys born in 1975 will begin at noon June 14-15 at Canton Recreation Complex. For more information, call Joe Kuchmay at 397-0073.

● BONANZA TRYOUTS

Plymouth-Canton area Bonanza tryouts are being held for any interested boy players born in 1972. For information, call Frank Carey at 459-0824 or Bob Sheppard at 455-1561 before June 8.

● CANTON BONANZA

The Canton Enforcers Boys 1974 Soccer Team will conduct tryouts for its team June 9-11 at the Canton Recreation Complex. Those interested in trying out may call 981-4891 or 453-0008.

● SCRAMBLES GOLF TOURNAMENT

The sixth annual Canton Festival "Scrambles" Golf Tournament, sponsored by Canton Parks and Recreation, will be held Sunday, June 22, at Fellows Creek Golf Course. The format is a three-person team concept open to all area golfers. Awards will be given for the top three teams, longest drive, and closest to the pin. The tournament begins 11 a.m. June 22. The fee is $40 per team with registration deadline being Thursday, June 19. For information call 397-1000 from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

JOHN J. KORWIN

Services for John J. Korwin, 68, of Plymouth were Saturday at the Lambert-Vermeulen Funeral Home of Plymouth with burial at the Glen Eden Cemetery. Officiating was the Rev. Thomas Belczak of St. John Neumann Church.

Mr. Korwin, who died May 25 in St. Mary Hospital, Livonia, was born November 1917, in Wisconsin. He was a retired painter for the Burroughs Corp. with 27 years of service.

SAMUEL L. MCFARLAND

Services for Samuel L. McFarland, 79, of Canton, will be at 11 a.m. today (Thursday) in the Newburg United Methodist Church with the Rev. Edward Coley and the Rev. Roy Forsyth officiating. Burial will be in the Parkview Memorial Cemetery, Livonia. Memorial contributions can be made to the Newburg United Methodist Church. Funeral arrangements were made by the Schrader Funeral Home.

Mr. McFarland, who died June 2 in Livonia, was born Jan. 26, 1907, in Arma, Kansas. After retiring from the Wilson Dairy in 1969 where he was a wholesale milk driver, he moved to Canton in 1970 from Redford. He was a member of the Newburg United Methodist Church and a former member of the Calvin Presbyterian Church in Detroit. Mr. McFarland had been active in his church senior citizen group, and loved wood carving and gardening.

Survivors include wife Arline of Canton; son Stanley of Armada, Mich.; daughter Beverly Hothorn of Plymouth; brother Paul of Cass City, Mich.; sisters Bertha Yocum of Webb City, Mo., Olive Allsbury of Carterville, Mo., Hazel Hall of Fort Scott, Kan., and Dorothy Ashmore of Carthage, Mo.; five grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren.

CARMEN M. CARPENTER

Services for Carmen M. Carpenter, 70, of Plymouth Township, will be at 2 p.m. today (Thursday) at the Schrader Funeral Home with the Rev. Phillip Magee officiating. Burial will be at Parkview Memorial Cemetery, Livonia. Memorial contributions can be made to the Kidney Foundation.

Mr. Carpenter, who died June 2 in Ann Arbor, was born Dec. 31, 1915, in Hornbeak, Tenn. He moved to the Plymouth area from Washington, D.C. in 1942. Mr. Carpenter retired from the General Motors Co. in 1970, with 17 years of service. He was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth, and Plymouth Rock Lodge 47.

Survivors include wife LaVerne of Plymouth; daughters Theresa Dennis and Carolyn Erdman, both of Naples, Fla.; brother Bradley of Grand, Ala.; and three grandchildren, Mike, Pat and Kelly.

IONE M. KING

Services for Ione M. King, 56, of Plymouth were June 2 in Lambert-Vermeulen Funeral Home. The Rev. James Severance officiated. Burial was in Lapham Cemetery in Salem Township.

management decisions, higher-level decisions, and, quite frankly, we're not being paid any money for it," he said.

Loss of American jobs is an unspoken issue, Laub added.

"Financially, who can afford it?" he said of the strike. "But we can't afford not to. I can't afford to be abused in the process, either."

Non-union personnel are staffing union jobs in 12-hour shifts six days per week at the Plymouth facility.

Staffing is below normal levels.

Ana Gabriel, a spokeswoman for AT&T, would confirm only the company's wage offer of 8 percent.

"Our objective is to come out of this with an enhanced ability to compete in a highly competitive market with a wage and benefit package good enough to attract and keep good people," she said. "We just feel our offer has been fair and equitable."

"We're talking and I think both sides are interested in reaching agreement as soon as possible."

Several school hopefuls merit a look

ON MONDAY residents will decide a $13 million bond issue and elect three members to the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.

There are two incumbents seeking re-election to the three seats and so there will be at least one newcomer chosen to serve on the school board.

There are several good candidates to choose from and so it is quite likely the district will be well represented after the polls close. The choice for voters may rest on how pleased they are with the present board.

FOR THE TWO-YEAR term the obvious choice is Dr. E.J. McClendon, incumbent from Plymouth Township.

McClendon is a veteran on the school board with experience, expertise and knowledge which would be hard to pass by. He is a former school board chairman and vice chairman, among other offices held, and has provided valuable service to the district over the years. He has been a very effective trustee and the Observer recommends his candidacy.

If a voter is so unhappy with the district that voting for an incumbent does not seem like the thing to do then Patricia Zagorski of Canton is a good alternative choice. A resident of the district for 13 years, Zagorski knows more about the district and is more involved in the community than the other candidates for the two-year term.

FOR THE FOUR-YEAR terms the only incumbent in the running is Marilyn Schwinn.

Schwinn has grown in the office since being appointed to fill a vacancy — an appointment made because of her previous involvement in and knowledge of the district. She has functioned well in the job and improved. For awhile Schwinn showed a tendency to let personalities get in the way of dealing with issues but in recent months has outgrown that sortcoming.

For the other position we believe the best-qualified challenger is Jeannette Wines of Canton. Wines has a long record of involvement with the school district as a volunteer — serving on district committees involving all interests of residents instead of at a building level only where the perspective is more limited.

A resident of Canton for 13 years, Wines has been a very active member of the districtwide safety committee, which resulted more than once in her taking field trips for first-hand inspections of conditions throughout the district. She has been a regular attendee at board meetings and has a wide perspective of the needs of the district. The Observer endorses Wines for the four-year seat.

For those residents dissatisfied enough with the district that they do not want to vote for an incumbent, an alternative choice is Joan Kotcher of Canton. Kotcher also has been a regular attendee of school board meetings, which has given her a broad view of the strengths and weaknesses of the district. She has served on advisory committees for special education and for talented and gifted programs. On a districtwide level she has served on the bond committee and on the PTO Council. She would represent the district well.

Property owners, parents, students and staff will be best served by electing trustees capable of representing the best interests of all sectors of the school district. The Observer endorses E.J. McClendon, Marilyn Schwinn and Jeannette Wines because they have the broad background and viewpoint to represent all.

We urge all electors to vote Monday, June 9. Much is at stake. Remember — every vote counts.

Bond proposition deserves support

TOMORROW'S ELECTION includes a $13 million bond issue on the ballot as well as election of three school trustees.

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education is seeking a "yes" vote on the bond issue to build a new school, an addition to another, major renovations of two buildings, maintenance, educational equipment, bus purchases and site improvements.

A "bond issue" really is nothing more than a long-term loan. A school district borrows money, with voter approval, and payments are made annually. The money to pay off the loan is generated by ear-marked taxes — a debt retirement millage.

State law provides that the millage levied each year can only be the exact amount needed to make that year's payment. Thus as the taxbase (SEV) goes up or down the millage rate goes up or down proportionately. What voters approve is that millage may be levied to meet the annual payment on the loan. For the $13 million loan over 15 years, the district will be levying about one mill each year for the payments. That amounts to about $40 a year for the owner of an $80,000 home.

SO FAR THERE is no known opposition to the bond issue.

In fact, there seems to be general agreement in the community that the money is needed. Most residents appreciate the fact that during the economic downturn of recent years the school district has let maintenance and equipment purchases slide. There are items that need to be taken care of and too many necessary projects have piled up so they cannot be handled in any single budget year with operating funds.

At last week's Candidates Forum, sponsored by the League of Women Voters, there were a number of different views provided on issues from 10 divergent candidates. But on one issue all 10 were unanimous — on the need for the bond issue. All 10 urged residents to vote "yes."

The Observer Newspapers also urges its readers to vote YES on the bond issue Monday, June 9. We believe the bond issue makes economic sense, that it contains needed projects and equipment, and that students and taxpayers will suffer if the proposal is defeated.

It took more than a year to come up with the bond issue. The process involved discussions with students, teachers, administrators, taxpayers and residents. Three alternative bond proposals were submitted to the board from a citizens group. The board chose the lowest loan of the three options.

A FULL DISCUSSION, item by item, of the complete bond issue would be cumbersome. The following examples of projects and purchases within the proposal, though, suggest why the $13 million is needed.

- Renovation of Central Middle School. The building is so old that to keep it in use as a school requires the minimum work proposed to bring it up to code. While $5 million could be spent on a major renovation of Central the bond issue designates $1.7 million. Needs to be done for continued use.

- A new elementary school ($4.5 million) for southern Canton and addition of six classrooms to Gallimore Elementary. Class sizes have crept upward throughout the district and need to be lowered to maintain quality instruction. A lot of makeshift steps could be taken to patch the teacher-student ratios from one year to the next but the challenge can only be met with new construction. Needs to be done for reasonable class size.

- Purchase of new buses and vans ($1.3 million). During the recession years bus purchases were delayed to save as much money as possible for the classroom without seeking additional operating millage. It's time to make up for those delayed purchases now. Additional buses also are needed for grade realignment — moving ninth grade back to high school and sixth grade to middle school. Needs to be done to spread student population more equitably throughout district.

- Construction of passing lane to existing drive at Plymouth Canton High. As the community has grown traffic has increased dramatically over the years. Congestion on Canton Center Road at Joy has reached the point where safety is now an issue. Needed for safer driving for motorists along Canton Center Road.

- Purchase of educational equipment (almost $3 million) at all levels. The world has changed and maps and globes are badly outdated. Typewriters need replacing, science labs need updating, library book replacements, desks and chairs replaced, computer lab equipment added, voc tech equipment modernized. As the world changes, the tools used for learning must change. Needed to keep pace with the '80s.

Residents interested in examining the bond proposal item by item, or checking out improvements for any specific school site, may do so by stopping by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education at 545 Harvey, Plymouth. The information is readily available.

The Observer has examined the complete proposal and has kept track of the process over the past year, and watched the needs develop over the past three to five years. We believe the bond issue is a well thought-out proposal that warrants our support. The Observer endorses a YES vote on the bond issue June 9.

Keeping up with government

Looking for information about state government? The League of Women Voters has a toll-free telephone service (1-800-292-6623) that may be helpful.

The league's Citizen Information Center in Lansing offers to help citizens find out about such things as pending legislation, the state constitution, election laws, voting regulations or tax information.

The phone is answered 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. weekdays.

The telephone service is paid for by the league's education fund. The League of Women Voters is a non-profit organization which works to keep voters interested and informed about governmental issues.

Nature rallies our kindness

THE IMAGE WILL remain stamped in the mind.

It's a simple scene — a suburban park nestled against the passing river. Volleyballs, Frisbees and baseballs fly through the air.

Children run and laugh while men and women talk, nibble on chips and enjoy the smell of charcoal smoke wafting over hamburgers.

Few notice the seagulls as they fly to-and-fro, scavenging for scraps dropped by playful picnickers.

For the moment it is typical — typical until a frightened and violent squawking interrupts the sun-drenched reverie. Heads turn upward, toward the intersection of two trees.

SUSPENDED FROM a fishing line is a hapless seagull, one wing caught in the accidental snare.

Barbecue utensils and jump ropes are dropped, picnic tables deserted as crowds run to gather around the spot where the bird has become a prisoner. Overhead, the seagull's companions gather en masse, jostling as sky sentries. Their protest echoes through the trees and out over the water.

Dogs bark and young children cling

closely to mothers' legs as the captive's cries become louder and more frequent.

Adults gather in a loose pow wow to map out a strategy.

A man, in his 30s, starts to climb one of the tall trees but is stopped when his memory of tree-climbing days is captured by the reality of what his mind and body are willing to do this day.

Remaining in his lowly perch, he instructs a younger, more eager replacement who climbs to a loftier height.

The crowd yells advice and encouragement. Limbs shake and loosened leaves wander listlessly to the ground. But the bird remains tethered, like an acrobat hanging by one arm from a fractured high wire.

Soon several men take to the trees, some bolstered by the false security ladled out by the beer consumed earlier in the day.

JUST MINUTES before strangers, the picnickers are allies, wedded in a common cause — to return the captive to freedom.

After several futile attempts, the rescuers rig a long pole volunteered by a faceless member of the crowd. The wire is finally snapped, and the bird, still wrapped in his snare, tumbles to the ground like a flying ace shot from the air.

The crowd laughs as the rescuer who unravels the line from around the captive's wing is bitten.

He drops the bird to the ground and silence sweeps through the gathering. They wait to see if the bird will fly. It flaps and struggles and, like the virgin plane at Kitty Hawk, struggles to the sky.

Applause and cheers overcome the crowd as the seagull reaches for the skies and becomes lost among the swarm that awaits its return.

The birds return to their foraging. The picnickers wander back to their leisure and children laugh while adults nibble on chips and enjoy the smell of charcoal wafting over hamburgers.

Isbister picnic planners say thanks for support

To the editor:

The Isbister Elementary School's Old Fashioned County Picnic was just great. We were most impressed with the tremendous support and generosity of so many Plymouth and Canton merchants and individuals. It's wonderful to live in a community where people are willing to do what they can to help our children and support our schools.

Special appreciation goes to our hard-working committee chairpersons:

Chairs — Jane Jager and Linda Lindbergh, ticket sales — Beverly Maltese, ice cream — Mary Archbold, raffle and mini-affle — Christie Newland, food — Debbie Hosh.

Games and Prizes — Pat Holman, bake sale — Roselva Yost, painted faces — Janie Hunt, cake walk — Charlotte Casagios, pony rides — Phyllis Pratt, talent show — Duncan Jones and Pam Hoadley, and slushes — Mr. and Mrs. Del Hoover.

We would like to express our thanks to the parents, teachers, friends, and workers at Isbister School for their time and effort. A school bolstered by local community, business and parental support can only thrive and pay off in dividends in our children.

Rain washes out fan's Indy race record

In the aftermath of the double rainout at Indianapolis which forced a week's postponement of the 500-mile battle for auto racing's richest and most coveted championship, a friend gave away his rainchecks for two of the best seats at the speedway. He did it without remorse, saying he was willing to settle for television's first live presentation of the race.

Thus did Mel Blunk let Mother Nature wash down the drain the opportunity to extend his record of having heard the call, "Gentlemen, start your engines," 34 successive years, starting with Troy Ruttman's victory in 1952.

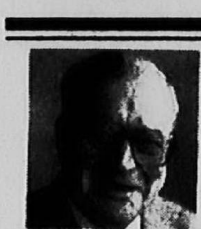

AN EDUCATOR by trade, Blunk in retirement is a spry, agile 70 who had his son-in-law, Douglas Jaskierny, in tow when the deluge hit May 25. At $45 a copy, their tickets were for seats 30 rows up in the covered main straight-away paddock area, looking directly down on what should have been the bustling pits.

"The 40-acre parking lot that fans call 'the north 40' became a 40-acre mud hole," Mel commented. "The infield golf course was solid mud. Concession stands were virtually sold out by noon. The estimated 300,000 or more spectators had nothing to do but eat, drink and go for walks. That's what we did, too — for seven hours.

"The wreckers had a busy day, making a lot of money pulling cars out of the mud. And there were two fellows with golf carts running people in from 30th street to the gate at a dollar a head. They could carry five and picked up hundreds of dollars.

"Also there were spontaneous vendors selling plastic garbage bags. They'd turn them upside down, cut a hole in the middle to put the head through, plus two holes for the arms. They were selling these as rain capes to people who were trying to keep dry. The conditions were the worst I had ever seen at Indy."

Although short in stature, Blunk was a nine letter athlete in football, track, tennis and basketball back in his high school days, but he's at a loss to explain his interest in auto racing.

The bug bit him back in '52 when a newspaper ad for Kirby Tours lured him into taking the train to Indianapolis the night before the 500, then back to Detroit by train after the race. Through the years he became a frequent patron of the tracks at Mt. Clemens, Flat Rock, Toledo, and MIS south of Jackson.

AS A TRUE devotee, he goes equipped with two stop watches, binoculars, and a radio with earphones. His wife often accompanies him, and at Indy they frequently have gone down for the qualifying trials as well as the main event.

This mania would not have been surprising had Mel been in the automotive field himself, for Indianapolis is an annual "must" for thousands of that ilk. But Blunk has obtained tickets on his own instead of at the corporate trough and recalls, "In the '50s you could go down there, stay at the YMCA downtown at $4.50, eat for $1 a day, go to the race, and I know very well I didn't spend $20 for gas and everything. You can't do that any more, of course."

The man never has driven a race car, and the only time he got a driver's view of the fabled 2½ mile Indianapolis track came when he and his wife took a tourist bus at the Speedway Museum and were driven around the oval at the breakneck speed of 25 miles an hour!

Mel is a meticulous mathematician and in his working days was an expert on school budgets. It was only natural, then, that he would take note of some of the impromptu ways of making a buck that arose at Indianapolis. This I liked best:

Every ticket has a raincheck stub and as we were leaving, with the rain still coming down, I saw at least half a dozen men shouting, "Buy your rainchecks, buy your rainchecks, buy your rainchecks." Some people were selling $25 seats for $2, or whatever they could get.

"Maybe some had 500 miles to go to get home. For whatever reason, they were willing to sell. Some of these guys had packets of stubs a couple of inches thick. They knew they could come back and sell them when the weather cleared and the race was rescheduled.

"There's no law against scalping in Indiana. For some of those seats they probably charged $200 apiece."

Well, I'll be damned. Mel, I'm proud of you that someone got your pair for free.

Recalling Rouge mystery

Over the years a lot of strange things have been dredged from the Rouge River. But no Rouge River story is as strange as the case of the 1937 Oldsmobile that was never found.

The story is traced from the dusty files of the Melvindale Police Station. In October 1937 a brand-new Oldsmobile was reported missing. Some thought it might have gone into the river.

But unlike the junkers that routinely get dumped into the murky waters at Detroit's Eliza Howell Park or the reported taxi cab that surfaced off Hines Drive during one summer cleanup, this auto had occupants.

"It's a fact; there was a disappearance," recalls Deputy Police Chief James Brophy. "It was always believed that while they might have gone off and changed their identities, they probably ended up at the bottom of the Rouge River."

According to Brophy, the leading theory of the day was that the car and its three occupants disappeared off Schaeffer Road where the road once dead-ended into the river.

"THE RIVER flowed a little differently then. The currents were stronger," says Brophy.

Over the years police kept looking for the Olds. When the city's new ice arena was built along the river banks, they went looking. But all they came up with was a couple of junkers.

Once, when one of the original duck ponds was being covered over on the grounds of the nearby Henry Ford Museum, police were told an old hubcap was found. But the hubcap didn't belong to the Olds.

One longtime resident, who asked to remain unnamed because of her connection to the missing driver, a Melvindale man, Thomas Lorimar, recalls the case made headlines in the local press and even attracted the attention of the Detroit dailies for months with seemingly endless speculation.

"I remember October 1937. It was the first day hunting season opened. They searched day and night," says the now elderly woman. "We were told the water was 40 feet deep and had a real mucky bottom and that there could be quick sand down there."

THE WOMAN, who says she is the last living person connected with the case, says Lorimar met two women at the Hollywood Bar where they all had more than a few drinks. The other two women, she said, made a curious pair. They were Arty Mabel, wife of then Melvindale city clerk Cy Mabel, and Margaret Redden, Cy Mabel's secretary and girlfriend.

Beside the controversy surrounding the relationships, the scandal was augmented by the previous disappearance of Redden's own parents and grandfather in separate, seemingly unrelated incidents.

She recalls Lorimar had just bought his new car and had yet to make his first payment on it.

Brophy says the "case has never been closed. Maybe we'll never know (what happened). Maybe they just disappeared into the world, but I kind of doubt that."

Now What?

Thousands of tri-county high school graduates leave high school behind forever every May and June. Jubilant in June at the prospect of "getting out," many do not plan for September. Summer passes quickly. Consider:

The basic entry ticket to many professions is the baccalaureate degree. Indeed, a college degree is now required in many entry level positions that formerly required only the high school diploma.

And college graduates earn more. The United States Census Bureau reports that male college graduates aged 25 to 64 earn $362,000 more during their working years than high school graduates. Female college graduates in the same age range earn $144,000 more than their high school graduate counterparts.

Don't miss a good bet.

Plan now to enter college in the fall. You won't have to wonder "What Now?" come September.

And consider Wayne State University:

- More than 28,000 students—most from the tri-county area—choose Wayne State University each year.
- Of WSU's 157,590 alumni, more than 56,000 still live—and work—in Wayne County, while 30,000 live in Oakland County and 14,000 in Macomb County.
- Wayne State University is a "University." Whether you choose to sample courses for a while—perhaps in the College of Liberal Arts or the College of Lifelong Learning—or you are ready to commit to a career plan in one of the University's 13 schools and colleges,

Go to College.

Wayne State University is the right choice.

• Wayne State University is a nationally-ranked research university. Of the nation's more than 2,500 colleges and universities, WSU ranks 34th in enrollment, among the top 100 in research. It offers some 5,500 courses each year and offers degrees in 300 major subject areas.

A Degree of Excellence

Sculpture gets finishing touches

By Julie Brown
staff writer

MONTHS OF hard work have gone into the project, and the results of all that work are there for all to see.

The play sculpture in Plymouth Township Park has just about reached the point of completion, with the dedication ceremony scheduled for 4 p.m. Saturday.

Sculptor Peter Rockwell, creator of the play sculpture, is pleased with the progress of the project.

"This is the biggest thing I've ever done, and in a way the one I've had the most control over. I was given a great deal of freedom."

The sculptor worked with Jim Anulewicz, Plymouth Township's planning and building director. They agreed to put the sculpture where it is and to work with the existing landscape in the park.

"One of the things in working out here, I've realized how much this park is used," Rockwell said.

The sculpture, which has a gargoyle theme, includes a fountain. The sculpture is designed to be climbed on and played on. It includes a board where park visitors can play chess or checkers.

"THE ONLY thing people have to provide is their own checkers and chess pieces," said Rockwell, who is the son of the late Norman Rockwell, the illustrator.

The sculptor, who lives in Italy, has enjoyed his time in the Plymouth-Canton community and the people he has worked with here.

"Their capacity to organize and the amount of volunteering is just amazing to me. And even their flexibility on occasion. To do it this way was a whole experiment."

The $60,000 project is being financed through donations and pledges from area businesses, organizations and individuals.

Last Saturday, Plymouth-Canton residents had a chance to meet the sculptor and to see the sculpture as it neared completion. A Family Day for the young and young-at-heart was held at Plymouth Township Park.

A similar event was held on an earlier Saturday in May.

"We had a real good turnout that day," said Judy Lore, chairwoman for the Family Day program. The weather cooperated for the event.

"We've just had the two days, and it's been beautiful both days."

The activities at Family Day were varied, including several arts activities for children.

"We wanted to give the kids a chance to do some creative artwork near where Peter was working," Lore said.

DURING THE Saturday event, a drawing was held to determine the winners in a treasure hunt. The treasure hunt — for "monster eggs" hidden in local store windows — was held recently to promote the sculpture project in area schools.

During the Saturday event, children also made badges and colored gargoyle designs. They also were able to have their pictures taken while looking through cardboard gargoyle designs. Those designs were created by Kris Darby's art students at Plymouth Salem High School.

T-shirts and sweatshirts with a Rockwell design were also sold at the Saturday event.

The festivities at Plymouth Township Park will continue at 4 p.m. this Saturday with the dedication ceremony for the sculpture. Judge James Garber of the 35th District Court will serve as the master of ceremonies. Maurice Breen, Plymouth Township supervisor, will give welcoming remarks.

At the dedication, three Plymouth-Canton students will describe what the sculpture project has meant to them. The three will be Geoff Ward, a Hulsing Elementary School pupil, Steven Laurette, a student at West Middle School, and Gale Tang, a student at Plymouth Canton High School.

"We want everybody to come," said Janet Campbell, co-chairwoman for the sculpture project. "It is open to everyone."

Dress for the dedication ceremony will be "very casual," she said.

In addition to the three student speakers, a Plymouth-Canton Community Schools art teacher, Lynne Lonigro, will speak at the dedication ceremony. Lonigro teaches at West Middle School. A community representative, David Campbell, will also speak at the dedication ceremony, which has been organized by Elaine Kirchgatter as the chairwoman.

Musical entertainment at the ceremony will be provided by the Centennial Educational Park Singers and by Andrew Dahlke, saxophonist. Hundreds of balloons will be released.

"We hope we'll have a huge crowd," Campbell said.

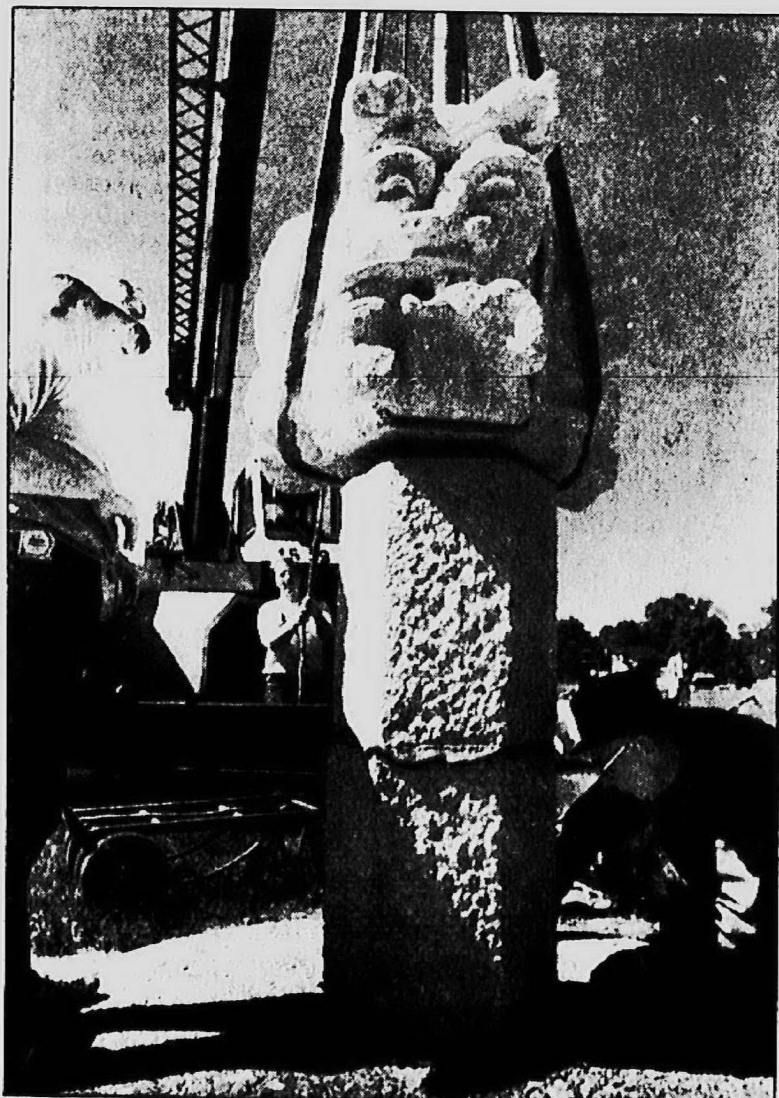

Rockwell, who will leave Plymouth soon after the day of the dedication ceremony, intends to return to see the sculpture he and his assistant, Gilham Erickson, have created.

"Of course I'll come back. I'll want to see it."

Jane Darby admires the Peter Rockwell creation she won during Saturday's Family Day program. A drawing was held Saturday to determine the winners in a treasure hunt for "monster eggs" hidden in local store windows. The treasure hunt was held to promote the sculpture project in area schools.

Sculptor Peter Rockwell, left, was a spectator Tuesday when the fountain portion of the sculpture was put into place. Mike Allen, of Allen Monuments, applies grout to the base.

By Julie Brown
staff writer

Although he has been working on the sculpture for months, on Tuesday all sculptor Peter Rockwell could do was watch.

Rockwell and his assistant, Gilham Erickson, have been working on the play sculpture project in Plymouth Township Park during the past several months. On Tuesday, the pieces for the fountain portion were put into place with the help of an Allingham Corp. crane.

"The main thing to do is to have real experts for setting it and these people really are," the sculptor said, as he watched the men at work. "The crucial thing is that they know how to move stuff."

"All I can do is stand back and watch because I'm not a stone setter. I'm a carver."

Allen Monuments Inc. handled the fountain work on Tuesday.

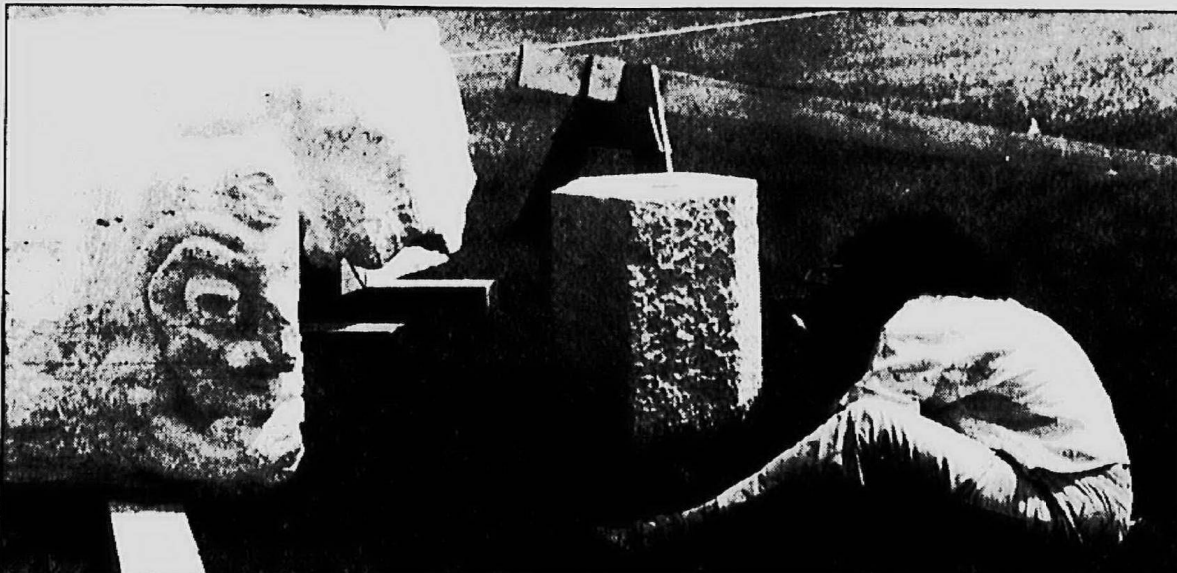

"They're placing all of these," said Janet Campbell, co-chairwoman for the sculpture project. The R.A. DeMattia Co. has been responsible for overall site work, she said.

Watching the work on Tuesday was exciting for the sculptor, who lives in Italy and is the son of the late Norman Rockwell, the illustrator.

"It is. It's just nerve-racking until it does come together. It's not like you can try it out beforehand."

Creative crafts offered at show

The city of Plymouth's Parks and Recreation Department has scheduled a Summer Arts and Crafts Show, to be held Friday through Sunday, at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

Hours for the show will be 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Friday and Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday. Admission and parking for the show will be free.

This is the first time the Parks and Recreation Department has offered a Summer Arts and Crafts Show.

"We have had so many crafters interested in applications to our spring show and two Christmas shows that we felt the necessity to hold another show," said Tom Willette, show director. "We have also had numerous requests from crafters in our existing shows to hold another show."

The show will feature more than 50 crafters. It will be held in the ice rink area of the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer St. in Plymouth.

A NUMBER of the regulars will be at the show. Petoskey's Will Shomin will be there with his wood items, and Betty Alcorn from Livonia will be there with her clown dolls.

"There will also be a lot of new faces in the show with a variety of crafts," Willette said.

The Plymouth-Canton area will also be well represented. Local crafters will include: Debra Dufort, dolls and doorstops; Janet Urban, country wood accessories; Marie Faunce, cut and pierced lampshades; Lynette Chensworth, Victorian decorative items; Sue Smith, spice wreaths; Christine Souter, stenciling; Nancy Lenski, decorative painting; Lyle Sweet, marquetry; Barbara Fair, handwoven baskets.

Other local crafters will be: Veda McNutt, homemade bears; Teresa Neino, wood items; Val Davis, wood cut-outs; Connie Kish, custom knitting; Marge Stacey, potpourri and accessories; Gail Murrah, baskets; Ruth Risdale, ceramics; and Lorry Boxberger, cross stitch.

Willette, the show director, is hoping the three-day show will draw a large crowd.

"We have always had good crowds at our other shows and we've done a lot of advertising for this show, so I'm expecting a good crowd."

For additional information, call the Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department at 455-6620.

“To make the right decision, you have to know about Harper.”

For yourself or for someone you love, take the time now to learn what's going on at Harper Hospital and the Comprehensive Cancer Center.

This is where major cancer research is headquartered and where cancer treatment and clinical knowledge are concentrated. The federal government organized the Comprehensive Cancer Center Program to funnel research funds into a few strong centers like this with advanced research and treatment capabilities. Many of the other centers, such as Memorial Sloan-Kettering in New York and the M. D. Anderson Tumor Institute in Houston, refer midwest patients to Harper for treatment. The idea is to keep cancer patients close to the leading edge of medical science and discovery, up front where breakthroughs in research are translated quickly into treatment. Breakthroughs like the cancer-fighting superconducting cyclotron, which Harper helped develop. This amazing machine, the first of its kind anywhere in the world, will bombard cancer tumors that are resistant to conventional radiation therapy. And Harper patients will be there. At the beginning.

There is new hope every day. So ask your physician or general hospital about a consultation at Harper Hospital. Every cancer patient deserves this opportunity.

Rockwell arrived in Plymouth in March to begin his work in Plymouth Township Park. The dedication ceremony for the sculpture will be held at 4 p.m. Saturday at the park.

The $60,000 project is being paid for through donations and pledges from businesses, organizations and individuals in the Plymouth-Canton area.

The fountain portion of the sculpture is approximately 17 1/2 feet tall, Rockwell said.

Self-doubt holds us back

WHAT IS the most pernicious sin of good people? It is the sin of not believing in yourself, in your future, in your capacity, in your strength.

A person who doesn't believe in himself soon allows that doubt to discolor his whole world. He can't love another person, because he can't believe another will really take him seriously.

He can't give of himself, because he doesn't believe he has anything to give, anything to contribute. Obsessed with his own faults and failures, he sees faults and shortcomings in everyone around him and learns to anticipate failure in himself.

Unfortunately, our society often makes us feel like failures, and strains our faith in our own sense of self-worth. Failure is built into the American system. Any contest that produces winners, by definition, has to produce losers as well.

SO MANY people struggle with self-doubt and low self-esteem:

the man or woman who has recently lived through divorce and feels abandoned and rejected, and suffers in silence the self-doubt and pain of this separation;

the individual who has lost his job in this period of economic turbulence, and who begins to doubt his own abilities;

the young student who hasn't determined his career and is unsure of his ability to succeed in a society

where success seems so important; those who have recently suffered bereavement, who feel they have no strength to continue, no will to rebuild their lives.

SO MANY of us lead, in the phrase of Thoreau, "lives of quiet desperation," struggling with self-torment and a sense of failure. For who can claim to have succeeded in meeting all the challenges of life?

I detect a plague of lost confidence in this country, an epidemic of the inability to believe in oneself. So much of the anger and bitterness and despair in our world is a result of that plague.

The most widespread disorder which handicaps more of us than any other malady, including heart trouble, cancer and alcoholism, is depression, affecting about 15 percent of the population.

I have in mind those individuals who feel so unworthy and helpless that they can't find the strength and the motivation to get out of bed in the morning.

What suggestion can I offer? A Jewish teacher once said, "A person should have two pockets in his coat. In each he should carry a slip of paper containing an ancient quotation. In one pocket, the slip will read 'For my sake the world was created.' In the other, it will state, 'I am but dust and ashes.'"

For those who have given up hope, who live with despair, who see only their shortcomings and inadequacies, remember that, "for your sake the world was created."

The sculptor who had carved out of Mount Rushmore the faces of four of our country's leading presidents, Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt, was asked how he could accomplish such an enormous feat. He replied: "The figures were right there in the mountain. All I had to do was uncover the rock surrounding them."

We all have within us marvelously etched features of brilliance, greatness, strength and grandeur. We need to work through the hard surface of fear, self-doubt and trepidation, and reveal our best self to the world.

BEST tuition plan clears House, on to Senate

By Tim Richard
staff writer

State Rep. James Kosteva, D-Canton, was doubly pleased when the House of Representatives passed, 89-11, his bill setting up a guaranteed college tuition investment plan.

He and wife Laura are expecting twins about September.

"From both prospective and retrospective viewpoints, I appreciate the bill myself," he smiled.

Under the bill, which he sponsored, his twins could benefit from a tuition guarantee.

And, future students may not have to do the same thing he and his wife did — borrow money to attend college.

"My wife and I are paying off $25,000 in college loans ourselves," said the 34-year-old freshman lawmaker.

KOSTEVA, WHO waged a tough

1984 battle to win his legislative seat, was picked by the House leadership to sponsor Gov. James J. Blanchard's so-called "BEST" program — for Baccalaureate Education System Trust.

The House passed it recently and Gov. Blanchard hailed "strong bipartisan support" for the plan.

But two Oakland County Republicans warned the bill shouldn't be pushed until the Internal Revenue Service clearly rules that contributions to the trust fund are exempt from the federal income tax.

Under "BEST," parents would invest $2,400 or more in a state-managed fund for a child. Principle and interest are expected to cover four years of tuition at a Michigan public college when the child reaches college age.

BUT EVEN IF they didn't cover the cost, the state would guarantee investors four years of college tuition for their child. That prospect worries some Republicans.

State Rep. James Kosteva, D-Canton, said his bill calling for a guaranteed college tuition investment plan could some day insure the college tuition of the twins he and his wife are expecting in September.

The bill goes now to the Republican-controlled Senate, where its future is less certain.

"BEST" was one of only two new programs in Blanchard's election year State of the State message. The other — drunk driver check lanes — is tied up in a court test and in trouble among legislators.

Among the 11 House opponents were Republicans Judith Miller of Birmingham and Gordon Sparks of Troy.

MILLER PROTESTED that the bill shouldn't take effect "until the IRS determines that purchasers (parents) will not be taxed upon the difference between the amount invested and the amount returned through a tuition credit.

"Without tax exemption, this program offers nothing beyond what is available in the private market."

"Further, it presents a real opportunity for tax dollars to be inappropriately spent for a 'ball out' in later years."

"Finally, the bill could contribute to an unnecessary escalation or an unwarranted supervision of tuition rates at the participating institutions of higher learning," Miller said.

Sparks voiced similar objections, adding that parents who invest their money through private funds "should receive the same tax break."

BUT KOSTEVA said in an interview that many details of the complex program had been fixed through amendments. Among the amendments:

- Community colleges would be

Give check lanes chance — Blanchard

By Tim Richard
staff writer

The state Senate resurrected Gov. James J. Blanchard's plan for drunk driver check lanes one day after knocking them out of the state police budget.

"All I propose to do is test it," a thankful Blanchard told a news conference in his hometown of Pleasant Ridge after the Senate vote.

"I expect we will prevail in court. I'm optimistic we can demonstrate it will be effective."

BUT THE PLAN to use state troopers and local police at post-midnight check points to stop all drivers still has strong opposition in the Michigan Legislature. And it splits lawmakers across party lines.

Some doubt its constitutionality, which is being tested in a court case brought by the American Civil Liberties Union. Others doubt it's an efficient use of resources. And a few see it as election-year grandstanding by Blanchard for votes of Mothers Against Drunk Driving.

The Senate voted 23-13 to allow check lanes if they survive a court test. The key vote came on a budget bill amendment offered by Sen. Gary Corbin, D-Clio.

Area senators supporting the Corbin amendment — and thus drunk driver check lanes — were William Faust, D-Westland, R. Robert Geake, R-Northville and Patrick McCollough, R-Dearborn.

"ARE WE ALIENS in our own state that we have to be checked?" asked state Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington, who argued that check lanes are unconstitutional and unAmerican.

"This (check lanes) begins to smack of the police state mentality, the kind you see in Eastern Europe."

Faxon said check lanes amount to "arbitrary harassment." He delivered an almost-impassioned speech against them as he supported an amendment to prohibit spending state funds on them.

The Senate, in a highly technical procedure, voted 14-13 against check lanes. Sen. Phil Arthurhult, R-Whiteland, offered an amendment to the state police and military affairs budget bill that put language in every line item prohibiting the use of check lanes.

Because it was an amendment, it didn't require a 20-vote majority of the entire Senate — just a majority of those voting.

SEVERAL SENIOR senators argued that the amendment muddled up the appropriations process.

"We should allow the check lanes to go forward and evaluate their success," said Sen. Harry Gast, R-St. Joseph, appropriations committee chairman.

"We should deal specifically with it, not in the state police budget," said Corbin. "To me, it's not that big an invasion of privacy."

"It was considered in the full appropriations committee and not adopted," said Sen. Nick Smith, R-Hillsdale County.

SPONSOR Arthurhult replied, "We regularly attach strings to tell departments how we want it spent and not spent."

'Balancing act' on wages

Labor investigator asks tough questions

By Carolyn Smith
special writer

Nancy Bowlby says her job as an investigator for the U.S. Department of Labor offers "the challenge of the unknown."

The Garden City resident, who works in Troy, performs a delicate balancing act of resolving employee complaints of unfair labor practices and helping employers understand the laws.

She also asks tough questions:

Is the employer paying the minimum wage? Is the employee receiving earned overtime pay? Is the firm complying with laws on federally financed construction jobs?

BOWLBY'S WORK takes her to businesses in Oakland, Macomb and Livingston counties.

Her bible is the Fair Labor Standards Act, which covers employees of retail and service businesses grossing yearly sales of more than $362,500 and other types of businesses with gross incomes of more than $250,000.

Complaints come from people of all ages and occupations. But most, she said, involve low-wage earners such as children and adults entering the labor market in unskilled jobs.

Payment of overtime wages, she said, tends to be a problem shared by many workers — secretaries, bookkeepers, bank tellers, restaurant and construction workers, and manufacturing employees who include piece-rate workers.

EMPLOYERS RUN the gamut.

"They're mom and pop operations to major corporations, to state and local government agencies," she said.

Bowlby admits to witnessing some sad situations. "Some of them involve exploitation of children. I've seen 10- and 11-year-old migrant workers making $1.50 an hour," she said.

And she recalled the man who lost his job as a gas-station attendant after he blew the whistle on an employer who ordered him to illegally pump leaded gas into vehicle tanks with altered or missing emission-control devices. The worker never got his job back, but the matter was settled to everyone's satisfaction.

Bowlby stresses that fairness and objectivity are her basic working tools.

"I can get tough when I have to, but my greatest satisfaction is to work out violations with an employer for an employee . . . and everybody ends up happy."

SHE BRINGS a ready smile and easy wit to the job. A positive, upbeat attitude, she reasons, can be attributed to a childhood in which nothing stayed the same for very long.

"My dad traveled a lot with us, and I developed a great sensitivity to other cultures. So I'm not the least bit threatened by change, other people or their attitudes."

She has traveled and lived in various parts of this and other countries, including Indonesia, Spain, Thailand, China, Italy and Norway.

She began working for the labor department in 1975, after graduating from Kalamazoo College. Earlier this year, Bowlby served on a task force in Washington, D.C., aimed at helping state and local governments understand 1986 minimum-wage and overtime laws affecting their employees.

She said most of her work days are long. But she has found time to serve as president for two years of the 58-member Garden City Business and Professional Women's organization.

She was recently elected secretary of the district federation of the BPW, which includes western Wayne and Oakland counties.

Bowlby is married and enjoys gardening, music and taking care of her two cats and three birds.

'Don't make decisions based on tax effects'

By Doug Funke
staff writer

Do proposed changes in the federal tax code have you concerned?

Several financial advisers interviewed by the Observer & Eccentric may advocate different tactics, but all agree that investors should move cautiously until a new tax bill becomes law.

"The very bottom line is don't jump off any ledges, don't do anything drastic until you see what's written," said Thomas Tybinka, a senior vice president for the investment company of Prescott, Ball and Turben in Plymouth.

"We're telling everybody the same thing we always tell them — don't make decisions based on tax effects," said Robert Czapiewski, a certified public accountant with the Livonia firm of Swad and Co.

"If it makes economic sense, do it. If it doesn't, don't. Worry about taxes later."

INVESTORS, though, shouldn't sit on their hands oblivious to what may or may not transpire, said Walter Kerrigan, chairman of the Metropolitan Detroit Society of the Institute of Certified Financial Planners.

Consider appropriate reactions to different possible scenarios, he advises.

"Uncertainty shouldn't deter management of assets. Plan for an ultimate course of action," said Kerrigan, president of the Institute for Financial Planning in Farmington Hills.

A wide-ranging bill unanimously approved by the Senate Finance Committee would reduce the highest tax bracket for individuals from 50 to 27 percent. In exchange, many adjustments for income and deductions would be eliminated or substantially curtailed.

Taxpayers most likely would be touched by proposed changes in the treatment of Individual Retirement Accounts, deductibility of state sales taxes and consumer interest charges, and capital gains on the sale of stocks, bonds and mutual funds.

INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT ACCOUNTS

Individuals may now subtract from income contributions to IRA accounts of up to $2,000 annually whether or not they're covered by a private pension plan. The Senate bill would limit the adjustment only to persons not covered by retirement plans where they work.

Interest and dividends earned on IRA investments would continue to be tax-deferred for all contributors until they're withdrawn at age 59½.

For that reason, adding to an IRA account could still be a bargain even though the front-end deduction is lost. "It would definitely be a good deal," Kerrigan said. "It would still add to their wealth and add to the capital base of the nation."

"For many people, it's still a very viable and attractive way to save money for the future," Tybinka said.

With lower tax rates, the loss of the IRA deduction — especially for persons now in brackets substantially less than 50 percent — wouldn't have much of an impact.

CAPITAL GAINS

The maximum tax on long-term capital gains — property which has appreciated in value and held for at least six months — is now 20 percent.

All capital gains would be taxed as ordinary income at a maximum of 27 percent under the Senate bill.

Planners advise against selling stocks, bonds or mutual funds just to avoid paying the higher taxes.

"The extra 7 percent, I don't think, should come into play here. You should invest for economics," Kerrigan said.

Terence Reed, a certified financial planner and president of Priority Planning Corp. of Livonia, suggests that now might be a good time to scrutinize portfolios.

"I think the stock market's reaching a peak," Reed said. "If you feel (your) stock is so high now you wouldn't want to buy it, you should get out."

"If you need money some time in the next year or two, you're probably better off taking the gain (now)," Tybinka said. "If you're a long-term investor, you shouldn't worry about it."

"Once all the turmoil is over with, my opinion is the stock market has a long way to go."

Remember, if you do take a gain, you have to put the cash somewhere.

Interest rates on money markets are now fairly low. Higher interest rates on certificates of deposit usually require tying up money for longer periods of time. Is your investment insured? How safe really is it?

SALES TAX, CONSUMER INTEREST DEDUCTIONS

Sales tax paid on the purchase of a car or boat is currently deductible. Ditto for interest on monthly car payments and finance charges assessed on credit cards.

The Senate bill would repeal those deductions.

But their loss may have less of an impact than might be apparent at first blush.

People buy cars because they need them. Decisions on what or when to buy generally aren't based on sales tax. Also, auto manufacturers frequently offer low-rate financing deals.

"In the final analysis, it won't make much of a difference," Tybinka speculated.

"People are still going to buy cars," Czapiewski said.

Kerrigan speculated that a change in the tax law may prompt more persons to lease rather than buy cars.

Still, if you're in the market to buy and are undecided about whether to do so this year or next and the Senate bill were to become law, it may pay to make the purchase before the end of the year.

Credit has become so ingrained in our economic system that repealing interest deductions probably won't have much of an immediate impact, advisers project.

There may be a way around a potential interestdeductibility prohibition.

BECAUSE mortgage interest would continue to be deductible, advisers predict that some persons may take out an equity loan against the equity of their houses, then deduct that interest as mortgage interest.

All apparently legal.

Other proposed tax changes — such as repeal of the so-called marriage-penalty deduction — probably won't hurt as much as now anticipated due to the lowering of tax rates.

Whatever happens, look before you leap. Today's law can be history tomorrow. The tax code has been revised 19 times in the past 23 years, Tybinka said.

"Look at every investment from an economic standpoint," Reed said. "Don't go for any quick deals. Don't let the tail wag the dog."

DuPont sees ballooning opportunities in autos

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Seeing a quadrupling of opportunity in the auto industry, DuPont Co. is elevating its Michigan operations to major department status.

And the chemical giant is sending John P. McAndrews, 61, a group vice president, from Delaware to Troy where he can be close to the auto industry.

"This is no small commitment. A department is the single largest business unit we have at DuPont," Board Vice Chairman Edgar S. Woolard Jr. told a news conference at the 950 Stephenson Road headquarters.

"And this new organization will be one of the biggest of our 11 operating units," Woolard said. "In fact, if it was an independent company, it would rank among Fortune's list of the nation's top 200 firms."

McAndrews' newly designated Automotive Products Department accounts for about $2 billion of DuPont's $29.5 billion in worldwide sales. Half the automotive sales are to original equipment manufacturers, half to the after-market.

DON'T LOOK for any big job expansion right away, even though McAndrews sees automotive opportunities increasing "four-fold by the year 2000" as more and more plastics are used in vehicles.

The reorganization and new executive face are part of DuPont's adaptation to industry trends. Said McAndrews: "We will see tighter links between manufacturers and suppliers."

"This will include earlier supplier involvement in vehicle design and development, more just-in-time delivery arrangements, and the additional servicing of manufacturers at their assembly plants."

DuPont ranks with PPG and BASF as one of the three largest suppliers to the auto industry of finishes, thermoplastics, electronics, specialty polymers, films and chemicals, the executives said.

AT PRESENT, DuPont's new department consists of a half-dozen plants in the metropolitan area, other states and abroad, employing 5,000 to 6,000. The new department is being pieced together from parts of five existing departments.

Some 900 people work in Michigan — half in Troy, others at a Flint finishes plant.

McAndrews will work out of the $25 million, year-old corporate automotive development center and office in Troy. It has administrative and marketing offices, a showroom, seminar room and meeting rooms. It also has a color display center — a kind of room-sized "palette" with the company's 1989 paint offerings.

A block distance away is a month-old, multimillion-dollar laboratory, where the company tests thermoplastics for use in auto body parts. That 10,500-square-foot building will be expanded in 1987, Woolard said.

It's time to test your investment personality

Have you ever analyzed your investment personality? Is it aggressive, cautious, confident or speculative?

The following quiz and results are designed to determine your investment personality.

A. I consider myself the following kind of investor:

1. cautious
2. subjective
3. action-oriented (anxious to buy and sell frequently)
4. sound
5. objective

B. I like to think of the stock market as a place:

1. where I can make a lot of money within a relatively short time
2. where I can build a sound investment portfolio
3. where I can invest all my savings safely
4. where I can gamble
5. which is a never-never land

C. I am a person who:

1. likes action in the market
2. takes a cautious but optimistic approach to investing
3. acts on intuition in the market
4. feels comfortable when I blindly carry out my broker's recommendations
5. knows so little about the market that I should not operate in it

D. I would consider myself a successful investor if I were to:

1. make money every time I sell a stock
2. realize a net gain from my investment every year
3. double my money every two years
4. make 25 percent on my investment every year
5. gain on an average 10-15 percent a year in the long run (over 5-to-10 year period).

E. If my past investment record were a shameful one, this would suggest that:

1. I had a very bad broker
2. I failed to do my investment homework properly
3. I lost money only because the market in general was bad
4. big traders fixed the prices and made money at my expense
5. I should have sold my losing stocks and switched to some that were getting ready for major moves

F. If I ever need information about a stock, I would obtain it:

1. from a broker
2. from a successful investor
3. from a number of reliable sources
4. from the company
5. from an advisory service

G. When I look at the price of a stock, I like to think of this price as being:

1. synonymous with the value of that stock
2. somehow related to the value of the stock but not necessarily equal to it
3. too low, too high, or just right, depending upon the amount of money I have
4. an index of popularity of the stock
5. of little consequence, since the ruling price can be totally out of line with what it should be

H. I would consider a stock worth buying if:

1. its price has been going up consistently
2. it is low-priced
3. I had read something good about the company that issued the stock
4. some advisory service has recommended it
5. some of my successful investor friends own the stock

I. Before making a decision to buy or sell a stock, I would like to:

1. investigate the stock as long as possible because I am never in a hurry to buy stocks
2. spend very little time for fear I might lose the buying opportunity forever
3. get as many views on the stock as possible
4. re-evaluate my investment objectives
5. first decide whether the market situation is ideal for making such a move

J. If my broker recommends I sell a stock I am holding, I should:

1. ignore his recommendation on the grounds that he is trying to make money for himself
2. investigate his reasons for giving me this advice
3. find out whether or not I could put my money in a better stock before deciding whether or not I should sell my stock
4. sell the stock right away
5. sell it if I could make a profit, but hold it if I would have to take a loss

K. If I were forced to take a loss in the stock market, I would:

1. consider my misfortune as part of the game
2. get terribly upset
3. check to see if I have made any profits in the recent past to offset the loss

4. make a serious attempt to learn from my misfortune

5. try to take my loss philosophically

L. If my broker were to call up and recommend that I buy a certain stock, I should:

1. buy the stock without delay
2. ask the broker if he has his interest or mine at heart
3. request the broker to send me all the relevant information he has on the stock
4. tell the broker I am going to think about his recommendation so as not to hurt his feelings and then do nothing about it
5. examine all the facts dispassionately and then make a decision

M. If the price of a stock were to decline sharply after I purchased it, I should:

1. be critical of myself for failing to get rid of the stock earlier

N. Buying at the low and selling at the high:

1. is the only way to invest in the stock market
2. is the best investment objective
3. is a worthwhile goal to pursue
4. can rarely be attained

2. sell the stock at a loss and charge the loss to my bad luck
3. hold the stock until its price goes up so I may recover my loss
4. buy more of that stock to bring my average purchase price down
5. investigate the stock thoroughly before making another move

O. If a stock I didn't own were to make a major move, I would:

1. not touch it with a 10-foot pole
2. grab it before the price advances even further
3. investigate the company which issued the stock before buying the stock
4. watch the stock closely
5. try to buy it on a short-term dip

P. I prefer to treat the past performance of a stock as:

1. of no consequence
2. of some importance
3. of utmost importance in a bull (rising) market, but of little importance in a bear (falling) market
4. only one factor to consider
5. of significance when the price of that stock is declining

R. I consider the study of some leading stock market averages (for instance, the Dow Jones Industrial Average):

1. to be of little value
2. of great importance in making investment decisions
3. of importance only for the chartists (those who graph fluctuations in market averages)
4. useless, because what good is it to know where the market has been
5. important only for buying and selling stocks, but not for holding them

S. If the price of a stock I had purchased were to go down substantially, I should:

1. buy more of it to average my

- buying price
2. sell it immediately
3. switch to a stock that is performing better
4. ask my broker for advice
5. hold that stock for my children

T. If I were to meet someone who boasted of his great success in the stock market, I would:

1. take his/her story with a grain of salt
2. ask him what his secret of success is and try to follow his methods religiously
3. compare his method with mine in the hope of benefiting from the comparison
4. give his broker my business
5. tell the successful investor my story and ask for his suggestions
U. I believe that a successful winner in the stock market, however defined, concentrates on:
1. acting defensively
2. outperforming the market
3. learning new and better market techniques and perfecting the ones he already has
4. trading, that is, buying and selling stocks frequently
5. putting all his eggs into one basket and watching that basket carefully
V. The words "puts" and "calls":
1. mean nothing to me
2. say something about how to make lots of money cheaply
3. are something too technical for me to comprehend
4. are concepts I know I must understand before I can act intelligently
5. are terms used by big professionals
W. During the 1969-70 bear market when stock prices declined sharply, I:
1. took substantial losses
2. did nothing thereby losing most of investment values
3. bought several stocks very cheaply and came out a winner
4. stayed away from the market completely
5. got out of the market with huge losses and then got back into it when prices of most stocks had already reached their recent highs
X. Investing in the market is good for those who:
1. want to make a lot of money in a short time
2. wish to play the game defensively
3. like to have a fixed monthly income
4. have lots of money to play with
5. possess technical knowledge about the market
Y. I have heard that every investor should attempt to buy different kinds (such as speculative, income, growth) of stocks so his/her twin objectives of safety and appreciation in investment are simultaneously met. I think this idea:
1. is a sound one
2. is basically bad
3. should not be treated as a universal investment concept since each investor must buy stocks according to his own needs
4. is an excellent one only for those who are wealthy and can purchase lots of stocks
5. can work successfully in a bull (rising) market but not in a bear (falling) market

- Z. During the next three years or so, I expect to:
1. make a lot of money on the stock market
2. become a professional investor
3. stay in the market and try to break even
4. do better than the average investor
5. learn a lot about the market and become an intelligent investor

Summer's here and the travelin' is easy

SOMEONE SAID once, there are only two things you can count on in this life: death and taxes. But there is one more. Summer vacation. American family life is planned, arranged, structured around summer vacation.

Beginning in June when school is out, families pack up the car, put the dog in the kennel and get out on the road.

This year, with gas prices lower and terrorism fears higher, even more thousands will be summer vacationing in the United States and Canada.

From the mailbag here are ideas for your two weeks anywhere from Chicago to Texas:

• CHICAGO'S Museum of Science and Industry on Lake Shore Drive announces the opening of its new Henry Crown Space Center on July 1. "The Dream is Alive," a 70 mm film spectacular depicting a day in space with astronauts and the Space Shuttle, will be shown at the new, domed Omnimax Theatre.

The Omnimax will be a quantum leap ahead of other Omnimax Theatres already in operation. Viewing images 10 times larger than ordinary motion pictures, on a wrap-around screen, audiences will actually feel the lift-off -- a you-are-there experience.

Other space exhibits are on display at the new center. Admission to Omnimax is $4 for adults, $2.50 for children under 12 and senior citizens.

YOU ARE invited to celebrate America's 210th birthday in Chicago with music: a Blues Festival, a Soul Music Day, folk and symphony concerts under the stars. Call 1-800-637-8560 for a list of events, museums and their hours, theater performances and lake cruises. Chicago has 20 miles of lakefront paths for joggers and bicyclers.

• If you've ever wanted to touch a beluga whale, trek to Sea World. Thirty minutes from Cleveland in Aurora, Ohio, the park is also where you can make friends with a sea lion, see dolphins perform or watch a killer whale spectacular. New this year is a show featuring John "LaFet," a swash-buckling, barefooted buccaneer, in a "Pirate Ski Show."

A 3½-hour drive from Detroit, the park is open all day with fire works at dusk every evening during July and August and weekends in June. All day rate is $13.95, children under 3 are free. Call (216)562-8101.

• IN TENNESSEE you can see a replica of singer Dolly Parton's childhood home. Its back porch faces an open air amphitheatre for musical performances.

While you are in Tennessee see the authentic reconstruction of Davy Crockett's birthplace, opening in time for Crockett's 200th birthday in August; or go to Opry Land in Nashville where the musical theme park adds a new country music show and an $800,000 miniature golf course.

North of Memphis is the Alex Haley State Historic Site opening in July. The boyhood home of the author of "Roots" is being restored and will feature memorabilia collected by the author.

For more information about Tennessee summer vacations, write to Tennessee Department of Tourist Development, Box 23170, Nashville, Tenn. 37202 or call (615)641-7994.

• TRAVELERS TO Washington, D.C., may rely on the Washington Reservations Bureau to help with hotels, dinner reservations, details on special events, show times, political activities and details of museums exhibits. A new free service, the Bureau will plan your entire trip for you before you leave home. They'll help you get about the city on the Metrorail system and offer discounted hotel rates. Call 1-800-HOTEL DC.

• News for the handicapped traveler:

Delta Airlines now offers a service to hearing impaired travelers who have telecommunications devices for the deaf in their homes or offices. Using the toll-free number (800-831-4488) passengers may contact Delta about flight information and reservations. Republic also has a toll-free number for the hearing impaired: 1-800-328-2213.

"Accessible Georgia: A Traveler's Guide for the Mobility Impaired" may be obtained by writing to the Georgia Tourist Division, P.O. Box 1776, Atlanta, Ga. 30301.

A TENNESSEE Accessibility Guide is available at: Tennessee Department of Tourist Development, Box 23170, Nashville, Tenn. 37202.

• Write to Arkansas Sesquicentennial Commission, University Tower Building, Suite 900, 12th and University Streets, Little Rock, Ark. 72204, for a directory of special events and projects celebrating Arkansas' admission into the Union in 1836.

Among the most interesting restorations listed will be the Arkansas Territorial Restoration, a walled enclave of 14 buildings in downtown Little Rock, sometimes described as one of the finest restorations outside Williamsburg, Va.; Pioneer Village in Rison, featuring a typical 1840s homestead; and Mountain Village 1890 in Bull Shoals, a re-created village in the Ozark Mountains.

• FURTHER WEST, comes information about Club Med for Kids. Club Med for Kids? Sounds like a contradiction in terms. But they tell us that Kids of the World, a camp in Copper Mountain, Colo. is just that.

Planned for children 8-13, the camp, operated by Club Med in the Rocky Mountains, offers activities from circus workshop and outdoor cooking class to sailing, hiking, swimming, team sports, all with instruction. Hosted by professional guides, children can go whitewater rafting on the Colorado River or go on overnight camping trips with children from other lands. Write to Kids of the World, Club Med, 3 East 54th Street, N.Y., N.Y. 10022. But hurry, the first session begins June 28.

• 1986 is theme park "Six Flags Over Texas" 25th anniversary year. To celebrate, a new bobsled ride and additions to concert facilities have been planned.

Reaching speeds up to 32 miles per hour, the Avalanche Express will climb more than six stories into the air and then make a free-wheeling descent through the course.

THE MUSIC Mill Amphitheatre will double its seating capacity this year and will be the site of 20 concerts during the season. Call (817)640-8900 for more information.

• If your idea of a great summer vacation is to drive somewhere, leave your car and then bicycle around a scenic destination, then write to Bicycle USA, 6707 White-stone Road, Baltimore, Md. 21207 or call (301)944-3399 for a copy of their 1986 Bicycle USA TourFinder.

This is a compilation of bicycling tours in almost every country and throughout the USA, with offerings of more than 150 companies and organizations catering to a wide range of cycling vacation tastes and budgets.

The TourFinder gives descriptions of each tour: length, daily miles to be covered, costs, scenic attractions, dates, etc. Cost is $2 per copy.

• BIKE VERMONT celebrates its 10th year with a "photo on wheels" contest. Bike Vermont leads inn-to-inn bicycling tour trips from May through colorful October.

Bicyclists are invited to take pictures of the Vermont countryside during a five-week midweek tour; pictures of quiet back roads, covered bridges spanning rivers, plus farms or historical villages may be entered in the contest.

Color slides and black and white prints are eligible. A color brochure describing the tours, open to all levels of bikers, may be obtained by writing Bike Vermont, P.O. Box 207-T, Woodstock, Vt. 05091, or by calling (802)457-3553.

• More for bicyclists' vacations: Spokesongs, the largest bicycling vacation company in the North Central Midwest, offers two-, three- or five-day trips with historic bed and breakfast stays, pedal-and-paddle combinations and international excursions.

Spokesongs rates their trips from novice class to advanced depending upon experience and quality of physical fitness. Package tours are available including lodging, all meals, support van and use of helmets. For free brochure, contact Spokesongs, 130 Fir Street, Mahtomedia, Minn. 55115 or call (612)429-2877.

Sea World in Ohio has such things as these Macaroni penguins. The park has 110 Penguins in a year-round science center which features daily snowfall and polar terrain.

Glenn, Irwin stalk Chiefs

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

Plymouth Canton will bring the worst record of the foursome into Saturday's Class A regional baseball tournament hosted by the Plymouth-Canton Community School District.

The Chiefs will also have the most suspect pitching staff and an inconsistent offensive attack.

But the Chiefs have history on its side and the other schools are wary.

Westland John Glenn, 24-2 and ranked No. 1 in Observerland, will play the Chiefs at 10 a.m. on Canton's field. Glenn has never won a regional title. The Rockets came close in 1978, but Canton beat them in the regional finals.

"Canton is very well coached," said Glenn coach Norm Hoenes. "They aren't going to make a lot of mistakes. They have the reputation, you know. When you say Canton, people know what you are talking about."

MONROE WILL put its 21-7 record on the line against Redford Union (15-10-1) in the other semifinal game at 10 a.m. at Plymouth Salem.

Monroe coach Butch Foster also has a fond memory of Canton. The last time Monroe was in a regional, 1982, it lost to Canton.

If you're looking for favorites, try Glenn. Hoenes's team won the grueling Western Lakes title going away. The Rockets boast five hitters averaging .300 or better: Mike Hammon-tree, Chuck Hammon-tree, Rick Tavormina, Steve Irwin and Clint Straub.

And they have what every state championship team must have: solid pitching with at least one dominant hurler.

Steve Irwin is regarded as one of the top pitching prospects in the state. He has already been granted a full-ride to Eastern Michigan and is expected to be drafted by a Major League team. He is 9-0 on the season with an 0.85 ERA. He has struck out 100 of the 200 batters he's faced.

Irwin will start against Canton, according to Hoenes.

"He's a great pitcher and he'll be very tough to work against," Canton coach Fred Crissey said. "But I can't worry about him. I have to worry about my own folks."

THE CHIEFS are proven tough against fastball pitchers. But Irwin has been effective with a devastating curve ball and slider.

"We can't change our hitting pattern," Crissey said. "If we go up there thinking breaking ball and trying to adjust to the fastball, that just won't work. What we have to concentrate on is not swinging at balls out of the strike zone."

"But Irwin, really, is the least of my concerns right now. I'm concerned that we get good pitching and play good defense. If we do that, then we have a chance."

Crissey will probably start left-hander Adam Kocik. He and righty Jeff Lyle have become Canton's 1-2 staff.

Despite its uncharacteristic 18-14 record, the Chiefs have been a red-hot team the last three weeks, winning eight of their last nine games. Leading the charge has been the smoking bats of Mike Culver, Chris

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Mark Stevens (right) and the Plymouth Canton baseball team hope to continue the celebration, and their season, Saturday at the Class A regional.

Sisler, Tony Aiken, Tom Kenyon and Mark Stevens.

SPEAKING OF hot teams, Stu Rose's Redford Union team was 1-7 at one point this season. They have won 14 of 17 games coming into the tournament.

"We've certainly turned things around, but we've never been blown out of a game. Eight of our 10 losses have been by one run," Rose said. "I think John Glenn is the best team I've seen and Canton is the best coached. It's just nice to be in their company."

But don't get the idea that RU is the tournament patsy. Far from it. With Pat Miller (0.77 ERA), Mark Thierry (1.89) and Jeff Stroble (1.72), the Panthers have a good chance of staying in contention.

The offense, which until last week was on the timid side, is led by shortstop Dennis Bushart (.350). Sophomore Rick Rutledge has been hot, going 4-for-6 with a home run and six RBI in the district tournament. Junior catcher Mike Stefanski is also hitting .300.

MONROE HAS a solid pitching staff also. Junior left-hander Dan Hilliard has posted numbers equal or better than Irwin. He is 13-0 on the season with a 0.59 ERA. In 84 innings he has fanned 141, allowed 18 hits and seven earned runs.

Offensively, Monroe is led by second baseman James Goins (.397, six home runs, 28 RBI) and designated hitter Eric Nisley (.377).

"This is a strong regional," Crissey said. "I think whoever gets out could go all the way." The three other coaches echoed that sentiment.

The championship game is slated for 12:30 p.m. at Salem.

The wrongs of spring

THE WACKY WORLD of prep spring sports:

If state tournament time in basketball is known as "March Madness," then what can possibly describe the lunacy of spring tournaments?

It just doesn't make sense. High school sports seasons in the fall and winter are reasonably constructed and fairly simple to figure.

Take football, for example. Players and fans know there will be a game every weekend. They know when league games are upcoming. Both have ample time to psyche up.

And if they win eight or nine games, they know their bonus will be a trip to the state playoffs.

BASKETBALL IS similar. Games are basically on the same days. Players get used to that routine. It's a long season, but it can be divided into phases: preseason, league season, state tournament. And both players and fans know that when the regular season ends, the state tourney begins.

Now consider spring sports.

If Alfred Hitchcock, Stephen King and Edgar Allan Poe had collaborated in twisting diverse elements into one massive mess of a season, they could have fared no better.

How did we sink to such depths? Search me. I'm fairly certain I can't even say how deep we've sunk.

A season should build toward a crescendo. Nearly every sport follows the same basic plan. It's the one in which the season ends with a championship game.

Week after week, the field of competition narrows until just two teams remain for the climatic showdown.

SOUND FAMILIAR? The object is to build the drama through the season until the do-or-die finale.

Another important element of spring sports in relation to drama: Don't overdo it.

Too many ultimate showdowns not only ruin it for the athletes as well as the fans. How many times can even the best athlete peak in a season?

well-conceived sports season is date planning. Set your playing dates so fans can plan around them, and so athletes can point toward them. It serves as another form of goal-setting.

All three elements are vital in the construction of a sports campaign. So how many high school spring sports seasons meet all the criteria?

HOW ABOUT NONE?

As for building toward a climax: It's true each spring sport has a state tournament or championship. However, teams in baseball, softball and soccer can be eliminated from the state tourney by midseason.

Troy's girls' soccer team, for example, won the Southeastern Michigan Association championship, but the Colts were ousted from the state tourney on May 7 by Grosse Pointe South. It was their 11th game of the season, roughly two-thirds of the way through their schedule.

Ditto for Garden City's softball team, which was rated No. 1 in the state, and Rochester Adams baseball squad, which reached sixth-ranked statewide status. Both lost in pre-district games.

AS FOR TOO many pivotal, all-important showdowns: Consider what many Metro Suburban Activities Association track teams experienced in a two-week period — state regionals, May 16; MSA league meet, May 20; Oakland County meet, May 23; Ambrose-Eccentric Relays, May 27; state finals, May 31.

Was the Western Lakes Activities Association track schedule any less stressful? Pretend you're a WLAA track coach for a moment. Try telling your star sprinter to concentrate on Wednesday's league meet when the state finals are Saturday and see how successful you are.

As for specific timing of events: Need I go into this? A schedule containing at least three contests a week is often transformed into something still more monstrous by unpredictable weather. A well-planned campaign can be devastated by a week of rain-outs.

DON'T STOP there, though. A baseball or softball coach who has maneuvered his team through this morass might start feeling smug, until he realizes he's reached the state regionals but hasn't a team left.

Proms and graduations have more than once humbled the elite, bumping them from powerhouse to pitiful.

So, all things considered, what have we got here? I'm not sure I know, but it sure is ugly.

And yet, as twisted and godawful as spring sports may seem, it would take just a few changes to set things right.

First, put state tournament competitions after the completion of the regular seasons for every sport. What incentive can a kid have to play a game when he knows his team is already out of the state tournament?

SECOND, CUT on the number of scheduled events. Allow a set number of regular-season tournaments or invitations. Same thing with dual meets or games. And put state tournaments on Fridays, when they won't interfere with proms and graduations.

Third, set aside specific days each week as rain days. If Monday's game is rained out, then it will be played Tuesday. If the game can't be made up in a week's time, cancel it (unless a league championship depends on it).

It's time those responsible for establishing spring sports policy became more organized. Goals must be clearly set so athletes can easily focus their priorities.

In the current state of confusion — with regular-season and state-tournament contests mixed together during the same week at times no one is sure of — everybody suffers.

The Plymouth-Canton Chiefs came from behind to win their semi-final matchup against Walled Lake Western.

Western's Dan Gabriele — considered a top pro pitching prospect — and the Chief's Mark Coburn hooked up in a pitcher's duel that saw Coburn ahead in stats but Canton trailing 3-1 going into the seventh inning.

In the seventh, Gabriele retired the first two Canton batters, then walked Kenyon, Mark Stevens (who had homered in the sixth) and Dwayne Bennett, loading the bases for Pete Mormon.

The count on Mormon went to 2-and-2 before the slender first baseman drilled a low hard one on one hop to the fence in left-center field, scoring all three base runners for a 4-3 Canton lead.

Jeff Pierce chases Tour de France

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Jeff Pierce doesn't make the Tour de France sound as easy as counting the spokes in the wheel of his bicycle.

Then again, the Livonia cyclist should be a little apprehensive. Pierce is a member of the first all-American team to participate in the prestigious race, which runs from July 4-24.

The 20-day race consists of nothing but grueling, all-out racing on a course with plenty of hills. Which hardly leaves any time to stop for a nip of escargot or a sip of wine at a little French cafe.

"It's not always going to be fun," said Pierce, 27, a graduate of Livonia Stevenson who now lives in San Diego. "It's a little scary and exciting."

In preparation, Pierce has been training five to nine hours per day in which he logs 500-700 miles a week. He'll be keeping plenty of fine company in France.

The 7-Eleven team, for which Pierce was chosen to run in the Tour de France, has Eric Heiden, Olympic gold medalist Alexi Grewal, Doug Shapiro, and Birmingham's Tom Schuler as some of its members.

THE TEAM has been in the midst of a 24-race tour in preparation. The Detroit Millender Center-Trolley Plaza Cycling Classic last Saturday was a part of the 7-Eleven Cup Series.

Pierce's Schwinn Icy-Hot team finished a disappointing third at the Detroit event. But Sunday in Chicago, Pierce tied for first place as his team took first overall.

"I always like to come back to see my family and friends," said Pierce. "I've never won a big race in Detroit, and I'm still trying after this weekend."

What Pierce has missed in the Motor City he's made up for elsewhere.

Last year, he was chosen the top amateur cyclist by the United States Cycling Federation. He won a stage of the Coors Classic, considered the top cycling event in the country, and several races in Europe.

Pierce was a member of the U.S. National Cycling team from 1980-85. He was also on the U.S. National and Pan-American squads during those years.

YET HE never competed in either the Olympics or Pan-American games.

"It was really frustrating," said Pierce. "It was one of the reasons I turned professional. Things are a little bit more straight forward in the pros."

Another reason was that he didn't exactly see eye to eye with U.S. National coach Eddie Borysewicz. Self-admittedly an independent person, the team-above-all-else philosophy of Borysewicz didn't jive with Pierce's.

"It always seemed I got the short end of the stick," said Pierce. "I wasn't into the politics of it as some riders are, and brown-nosing it."

The transition to the professional ranks has not been difficult. In fact, Pierce said he's making more from prize money than as a worker at General Dynamics.

The travel, though, can be draining. With the Tour de France and other races, including the Coors Classic, Pierce will be on the road from July until mid-September.

CYCLING HAS taken Pierce all over the world: Europe, Asia, Central America, Canada and Mexico.

As a professional, he's stayed mainly in the U.S. But those are just a few of the differences between racing as an amateur and a pro.

The team aspect is still there. Cyclists encounter wind resistance and work as a unit to overcome it. The end result is allowing teammates a good finish.

From an individual standpoint, Pierce has his own perspective.

"It's a different sport on how it blends man and machine," he explained. "That combined with the tactics involved. You always have to be thinking about certain situations."

"And there's about 100 different situations which can come up." Which is about 100 more situations than Pierce was used to when he first started riding competitively in the annual Belle Isle marathons. He joined the Wolverine Sport Club where his love of cycling took off.

It eventually landed him in France.

"Our first goal is to survive," said Pierce of the Tour de France. "They say every time you do that race, it takes a year off your life."

CC wins 2nd straight net title

By Brad Emons
staff writer

A record-breaking opening day of tennis carried Redford Catholic Central to its second straight Class A title.

Shamrock netters went undefeated during the first three rounds on Friday, scoring 21 of their 24 points in the two-day event held at the Midland Community Tennis Center.

Midland Dow finished second with 22 points, while three teams, including Catholic League champion Birmingham Brother Rice, tied for third with 19 each.

"It was more difficult winning it this year because the points were more on target," said CC coach Frank Garlicki. "The weather was a factor this year and everybody played their normal game."

Catholic Central reached the semifinal round in six of seven flights.

The Shamrocks' lone champion was No. 3 singles player Steve Campbell, a sophomore who beat Chris Madison of East Lansing for the crown, 6-4, 6-1. He finished the season with a 33-1 overall record.

"STEVE IS JUST a fantastic kid and a neat kid to coach," Garlicki said. "He's a serve and volley player. He uses the baseline game, but prefers being at the net."

CC's No. 3 doubles team of Mark Frederick and Walt Bartels reached the finals of before being ousted by Birmingham Seaholm's Joel Bodine, 7-6, 4-6, 6-3. The CC pair finished with a 20-5 record.

At No. 1 doubles, CC's Jim Gillespie and Jeff Huston reached the semifinal before losing to another Seaholm duo, Pat Dunn and Jeff Ingold.

At No. 2 doubles, Randy Janis and Rob Transou of CC ran into Catholic League nemesis Tim Kalil and Dave Piazzon of Rice in another semifinal.

Phil Eagleson, the Shamrocks' No. 2 singles player, reached the final four before losing to No. 1 seed Tony Grover of Dow. Such was also the case of No. 4 man Anthony Mikulec, a freshman, who was ousted by No. 1 seed Ed Bowman, also of Dow.

The only Shamrock denied a spot in the semifinals was No. 1 singles player Mark Agah, who was taken out in a quarterfinal match by top seed Chris Walker of Grand Rapids Creston.

GARLICKI said he was confident his team could repeat, even after losing the Catholic League crown to Rice on May 24.

"I was never concerned," said the CC coach. "I could tell right away that they were playing to their best performance levels."

With only the No. 3 doubles team of Frederick and Bartels graduating, Garlicki and his team are already eyeing a third consecutive crown in 1987.

Falcons score big at states

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

The dual between Farmington's Chris Inch and Monroe's Todd Williams in the 3,200-meter run is reminding many area track enthusiasts of the battle waged in the early 1970s between Farmington's Mike McGuire and Brother Rice's Pat Davey.

At last Saturday's state Class A meet, Williams and Inch, both juniors, ran 1-2 in the 3,200. Williams set a disputable state record with his 9:11.63. Inch, who set the pace of the meet, finished on Williams heels in 9:12.61.

Back in 1972, McGuire and Davey were both juniors. McGuire beat Davey in the 2-mile run at the state meet. McGuire ran a 9:00.3, Davey a 9:00.4. Those times have been tossed out by the Michigan High School Athletic Association in favor of metric times.

"I don't understand why they would throw out those times," said Farmington coach Dave Catherman. "McGuire ran a further distance in a faster time and he gets no credit for it. But Williams and Inch ran a great race in all that heat Saturday. They remind me of McGuire and Davey. The year after McGuire won, Davey nipped him at the state meet. McGuire went on to be an all-American at Michigan and Davey went on to Tennessee."

FARMINGTON'S AL STEBBINS, also a junior, ran an impressive race in the 1,600. He finished third with a 4:17.71. The heat took its toll on Stebbins, however. He couldn't come back to race in the 800.

"He was very upset about that, but he ran an outstanding time for a junior," Catherman said.

North Farmington's Kirk Armstrong placed seventh in the 1,600 (4:21.88).

Farmington's Craig Petersmark scored in the discus. He placed eighth with a 151-10.

North Farmington's speedy 400 relay team placed sixth. Marc Brown, Mark Weintraub, Chris Christman and Scott Selzer ran a 43.51.

IN THE GIRLS MEET, Farmington Hills Mercy Terri Ford scored extremely well in both the 100 and 200. She took third in the 100 (12.17) and second in the 200 (25.23).

She led Mercy to a 16th place finish with 13½ points.

Plymouth Canton's Angie Miller placed seventh in the high jump with a 5-1.

Canton shot down

The Livonia Bullets, a Bonanza Soccer League under-13 girls team, won the Premier Division championship recently at the Canton Invitational. A 1-0 victory against Canton in the final sealed the title.

The Bullets also posted wins over Perrysburg, Ohio (1-0), Genesee Star (3-0) and Fraser (5-0).

The Bullets outscored their opponents 10-0 in the two-day tourney. Christina Garry collected three goals in the win over Fraser. Lori Place also had three goals, including the game winner in the final against Canton.

Players with one goal included Karen Cavanaugh, Nataka Litkewycz, Amy Ketola and Lori Godlewski.

Goalkeeper Debrah Westerkamp was outstanding, posting four shut-outs in the tournament. Westerkamp was aided by defenders Susan Gibson, Alyssa Belaire and Fran Pribe.

The midfield consisted of Michelle Geyer, Stephanie Speen and Jenney Gleksiak. The team is coached by Dennis Place.

THE MICHIGAN KICKS won the State Cup Championship Saturday.

The Kicks, a 16-and-under Maxwell Division Bonanza soccer team comprised of players from the western suburbs, beat the Birmingham Blazers, 1-0, in the final to win the title. In the semifinal, the Kicks beat Troy United, 2-0.

The cup win puts the team in a 13-state regional competition in July.

Members of the team from Livonia include Gregg Buell, Darren DeRoach, Mel Karfis, Ted Lukewski, Brian Thomas and Brad Wylie.

Carbo holds baseball school

Two more sessions of the Bernie Carbo Baseball School have been scheduled for June 18-20 and June 23-27 at the Wayne Ford Civic League fields.

The sessions are for youngsters ages 7-14 and run from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Bernie Carbo, a Livonia Franklin graduate, was a key member of the Cincinnati Reds and Boston Red Sox in the early 1970s. His home run in game six of the 1975 World Series was one of the most memorable moments in the history of the series.

Youngsters interested in participating in the Carbo Baseball School should call 595-6775 or 281-7567.

Junior A teams scour area

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

Although training camps don't begin until early September, administrators of Michigan's only Junior A hockey league have been very busy.

The North American Junior Hockey League held its annual player draft Sunday and 22 players from the Observer & Eccentric coverage area were selected.

and Art Eastman of Southfield were picked.

In the re-entry phase, the Engineers picked Doug Campbell of Plymouth, Jeff Temple of Livonia, Todd Hohl of Redford, Rick Robitaille of Livonia, Bob Wilson of Livonia, Brian Beaufait of Livonia, J. Jewett of Southfield, Jamie Meier of Southfield, Rick Sullivan of Livonia and Jim Kowalski of Livonia.

"We're very pleased with our draft," said Engineer's first-year coach A.J. Baker. "I got a couple of phone calls from people saying I did well for my first year."

THE ENGINEERS are still look-

ing for a place to play. Team executives are considering relocating in either Plymouth, Livonia, Lincoln Park, Allen Park or Ecorse.

Last year's league champions, the Falcons, have moved from St. Clair Shores to Fraser. They drafted five area players: Matt Evo from Detroit Country Day, Eric Kapelanski from

Compuware selected four players from this area: Rich Stromack from Redford, Mike Kesson from Plymouth, Rob Tustian from Livonia and Steve Kovich from Livonia.

Each team selected 45 players on Sunday. Teams may also invite free agent players to camp. Teams may carry a maximum of 20 players.

League play in the NAHL will begin in October.

Bass aplenty in area waters

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Area bass fishermen don't have to go any farther north than Oakland County or south than Belleville Lake for some excellent catches.

With the bass season officially open, a lot of anglers head to the northern part of the state in search of large- and small-mouth bass. But according to Andy Nuhfer, a fishery biologist with the Pontiac district of the Department of Natural Resources, bass are in abundance in many lakes in Oakland and Wayne counties.

SOME OF the county lakes where bass are plentiful include Cass, Orchard, Orion, Maceday, Wolverine, Tipsico, Lakeville, White, Oakland, Kent and Pontiac.

Small-mouthed bass, especially, can be found in Cass Lake.

In Wayne County, Belleville Lake provides for some excellent bass fishing. Nuhfer said the pollution levels should have no effect on the fish caught.

"A lot of people have been worried about it," said Nuhfer. "For some it's been a blessing because there's no swimmers or water skiers disturbing the waters."

"It's no problem unless you're in the habit of eating raw fish without cleaning them first."

The way to catch bass varies. Rubber or plastic worms are the most popular since they don't snag when fishing down in weeds.

MOST ANGLERS use what's called a "Texas worm" where the flip is placed ahead of a large hook. Spinner baits are also popular.

Nuhfer said anytime of the day is a good time to fish for bass. But with all the weekend traffic at area lakes, he suggests fishing during the week when there's less pressure on the lakes.

In other fish-related news, the DNR reports excellent catches of walleye and white bass in the Detroit River. There's also good catches of walleye in Lake Erie while many fishermen are limiting out their catches of bass in the Raisin River in Monroe.

In Oakland County, crickets are being used to take bass in Orion Lake and Lakeville Lake.

The Four Seasons Fishing Club in Livonia has a walleye tournament slated for Saturday, June 14, from 12:01 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Sterling State Park.

The fishing takes place in the Michigan waters of Lake Erie, Brest Bay area. Cost is $8 per night for camping plus a $4 registration fee.

Guests may enter by paying a $5 guest fee.

DNR rules will apply. The limit is 10 walleye, 10 or more inches in length. A trophy will be awarded to the winner.

For more information, call Stan Mann at 261-1615.

All-Area meetings set

It's All-Area time once again.

Observerland spring sports coaches will be meeting to select the top performers in baseball, softball, soccer, girls track and boys track.

The All-Area meeting schedule is as follows:

• Soccer: 4:30 p.m. Thursday, June 5.

• Softball: 4:30 p.m. Monday, June 9.

• Baseball: 6:30 p.m. Monday, June 9.

Tucker bolsters swim team

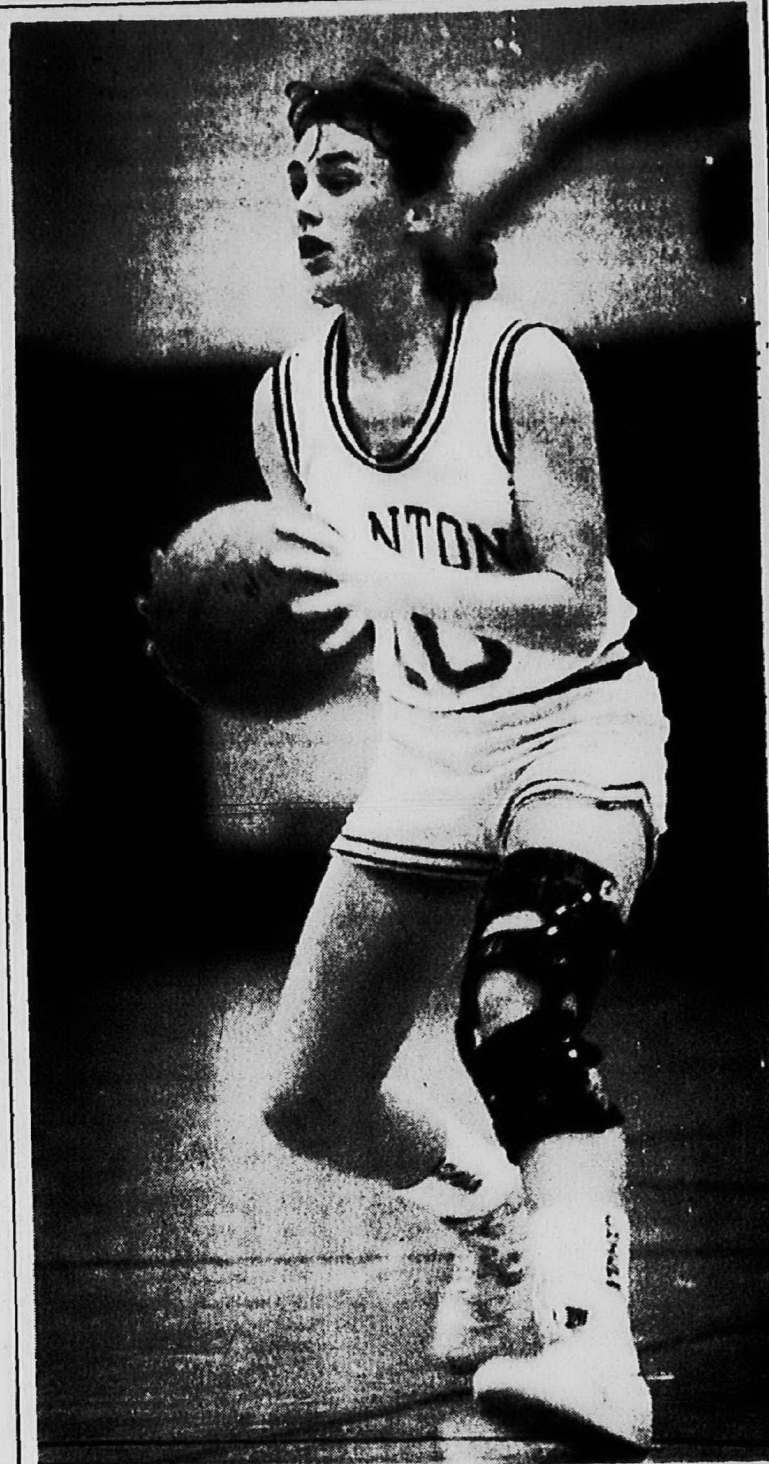

Helen Tucker, a 1984 grad of Farmington Harrison, was a key member of the Principia College swim team.

She swam the 500-yard, 1,000-yard and 1,650-yard freestyle events as well as the 200 individual medley. She holds the school record in the 1,000 free.

Principia is a small liberal arts college in Elsah, Ill., located 40 miles southeast of St. Louis.

COACHES NEEDED
The Farmington Public School District is accepting applications for two non-teaching coaching positions for the fall of 1986. Openings are for a middle school basketball coach and a varsity high school wrestling coach.

Resumes should be sent to Ronald G. Holland, 32500 Shiawassee, Farmington MI., 48024 or call 471-6337 weekdays from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

All-Star

Plymouth Canton senior Diana Knickerbocker has been selected to compete in the Basketball Coaches Association of Michigan's annual all-star game at 3 p.m. Saturday, June 14, at Central Michigan University's Rose Arena. Plymouth resident and Farmington Hills Mercy senior Misay Duczynski also has been selected.

Cranbrook kids to sing with star

By Ethel Simmons
staff writer

Twelve children from Brookside School Cranbrook will become the Rainbow Kids, joining children's entertainer Bob Schneider onstage when he performs at 2 p.m. Sunday, June 15, at the Birmingham Theatre.

Schneider, who is from New York, gained fame in Canada, writing and singing children's songs, which he recorded. In live stage shows, he is accompanied by youngsters who sing and move along with him.

The upcoming show is the second children's concert at the Birmingham Theatre sponsored by Jabberwocky, a toy and book store in Birmingham. The first, starring Raffi, who is another children's star from Canada, sold out with little publicity, store owner Becky Golden said.

Tickets for Schneider's concert are $5, and $6 for reserved seating. Tickets are available at Jabberwocky, 336 E. Maple.

WENDY GEOGHEGAN, drama teacher at Brookside, was asked to select the 12 children who will appear with Schneider locally. She chose six boys and six girls, including Julie Kriegel and Vimal Saigal, first grade; Eric Carlson and Kyra Selman, second grade; Alyssa Cooper and Smitha Reddy, third grade; Isaac Johnson, Alexis Radogst-Givens and Carolyn Schneyer, fourth grade, and Dylan Cooper, Will Surber and Sika Dagbovie, fifth grade.

Geoghegan is a big fan of Schneider's. She said by telephone from Brookside School: "I saw one of his concerts in Toronto. It's wonderful. It's innovative. It's new. It's unlike any children's concert you have seen before."

For each concert, a group of children is selected to be a part of the show, as the Rainbow Kids, she said. "The children are not trained professionals traveling around with him."

In Toronto, a friend's daughter was one of the youngsters chosen. "All here friends were there. They had such a thrill seeing their classmate onstage."

The Brookside children will spend 60-90 minutes rehearsing with Schneider the day before the concert, and Geoghegan will be right there.

"The day of the concert, we all have lunch at the theater, a little rehearsal, and then they're on. They're the performers," she said.

Rock band striving for big-time success

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

MAKING IT in rock 'n' roll can seem easy to those outside the music scene looking in — just a matter of cashing in that "Money for nothing," to quote Dire Straits' popular send-up of the misconception.

But for every Bob Seger, there's umpteen-jillion bar bands bashing out the radio hits at local clubs. Most hope to leave the club stage for the concert stage, but never do. That's partly because figuring out how to succeed in the business is tougher than playing a flatted 11th-chord on a warped 12-string guitar.

Jeff Hill, a rock singer from Garden City, has been working on that problem. Hill's only 22, but you can almost call him a veteran — he's been playing in public since age 17. While Hill has played major Detroit-area clubs like Harpo's and Jagger's with various groups, he views that experience as a warm-up to launching his own band, Thrust.

"Previous groups I was in were learning experiences. This is my project group," says Hill. Just gearing up in recent months, Thrust performs at 7 p.m. Saturday at the Garden City Festival.

THE BAND'S STORY begins about a year ago. "I was playing at the Sidestreet WLLZ Rock Party with another band — That's when I met the keyboard player, Rob Slykerman. He came up and said he liked my singing, and if I ever needed a keyboard player to call him. A few months after that, the band split up and I called him," Hill recalls.

He learned from experience to seek musicians with enthusiasm. "Some guys who were older were giving 50 percent, they were past their prime," he says. "Everyone in this group gives their 100 percent; everyone's got that hunger," Hill says. But Hill also stresses that he's learned much from older musicians. "I learned how to handle myself as a performer. You can't have a superstar attitude and be successful."

After adding bassist John Starr and guitarist Rocco Calappari, both from Southgate, and drummer Pete Tavormina from Garden City, rehearsals opened at a Canton recording studio in January, two or three nights each week. Hill describes the band's material as commercial rock, cover versions of songs by Night Ranger, Aldo Nova and others.

Just gearing up in recent months, Thrust performs at 7 p.m. Saturday at the Garden City Festival.

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Rock band Thrust is just one of the groups hoping it has that special something to project it into the top ranks. Jeff Hill, lead singer, center, figures not playing the bar scene but instead getting known at outdoor and teen shows, as well as major clubs, is the way to go.

Hill says that while the band has written enough original songs to fill an album, they'll stick to covers in the bars. "Lots of people in groups I was in were concerned about playing their kind of music. But you're not on stage to satisfy yourself," says Hill. "I'm trying to groom these guys into having good stage presence," Hill says. Live performing, he adds, "is basically a contact sport with the crowd — eye contact is important; even shaking hands."

HILL SAYS YOU can learn a lot from watching major groups' performance habits: "Things not to do on stage; things to do on stage. We don't like to see bands that scream their lungs out... We're a straight-ahead rock group. We're the type of group parents don't have to worry about their kids going to see."

While the band hopes to sign with a booking agency and play clubs for a year or so, Hill says, "We're really staying away from the bar scene." Hill says he's seen friends make it in the bars, only to remain there. He plans outdoor shows and teen shows along with major club jobs, and hopes contacts he's made with agents, record company talent representatives and others will help them toward their goal — national recognition. "I'll work hard with it for a couple years."

WHAT'S IT WORTH?
A ratings guide to the movies
Bad	$1
Fair	$2
Good	$3
Excellent	$4

"The Last Picture Show" (1971), 11:30 p.m. Friday on Ch. 56. Originally 118 minutes. TV time slot: 135 minutes.

Channel 56 is holding a movie marathon this weekend with several fine films. This is one of the finest. In some ways this Peter Bogdanovich film of Larry McMurtry's novel is a soap opera with all the stock soap characters. But it rises to levels of insight that Bogdanovich never even approached again. The film is studied with brilliant performances by Ellen Burstyn, Timothy Bottoms, Jeff Bridges, Cybill Shepherd, Cloris Leachman (an Oscar winner) and, especially, Oscar-winner Ben Johnson, who finally stopped holding horses and showed a depth of sympathy as Sam the Lion. Also Robert Surtees' stark black and white photography ranks with the best ever.

Rating: $3.80.

"The Wild One" (1954), 6:30 a.m. Saturday on Ch. 56. Originally 79 minutes. TV time slot: 105 minutes.

"What are you rebelling against, Johnny?" "What've you got." Marlon Brando sneered out that famous reply and set a standard for angry young men everywhere. So what if this is just another western on motorcycles instead of horses. The important thing is that the bad guys are the good guys and we are never quite sure that Brando and his bikers might not be right about the world. Brando gave better performances but none so emblematic of his time as this one. It's worth seeing as a bit of history if nothing else.
Rating: $3.50.

"Lone Ranger and the Lost City of Gold" (1958), 10 a.m. on Ch. 50. Originally 80 minutes. TV time slot: 120 minutes.

It was a sad day when the owners of the Lone Ranger copyright told Clayton Moore he couldn't wear the mask. Moore was the perfect television Lone Ranger. He had a barrel chest and a commanding but pleasant voice. He exuded the power and mystery of the famous lawman (created here in Detroit at WXYZ during radio's Golden Age). Jay Silverheels was equally well suited to the part of Tonto, the Lone Ranger's faithful Indian companion. Yes, the part had a racist tinge to it but Silverheels was always intelligent, courageous and honest, a total break from Indian stereotypes. This movie is on a level with the television shows, pleasant Saturday afternoon diversion. But the characters matter, they are part of all our childhoods whether on radio or television. And they were good role models, defenders of a better life and a better way. Also the Lone Ranger never killed anyone.
Rating: $2.25.

FRANÇOIS BOUCHER (1703-1770) MAY 27 - AUGUST 17, 1986

The splendor of 18th Century France as depicted by François Boucher (1703-1770). First Painter to King Louis XV can be seen in this century's largest tribute to his work. Approximately 120 works from public and private collections in Europe and the United States survey Boucher's career from his early work in the 1730s to the fully developed and more famous works of his mature period.

François Boucher 1703-1770, is open free during regular museum hours. This exhibition was organized by The Detroit Institute of Arts, The Metropolitan Museum of Art and the Réunion des Musées Nationaux de France and made possible by grants from the National Endowment for the Arts, the City of Detroit, the State of Michigan and the Founders Society Detroit Institute of Arts.

IDA

Mike Aquilina (left) as Peters and Kevin Rusenstrom as Ace hoist Beth Patton as the Princess in the musical "The Paradise."

Songs are joyous in 'The Paradise'

Performances of the musical "The Paradise" continue Fridays-Sundays, June 6-8 and 13-15, at Trinity House in Livonia. For ticket information, call 464-6302.

By Victoria Diaz
special writer

If you haven't been inspired lately to leave a theater humming the tunes of the musical production you've just seen, your time may have just come with "The Paradise," a sparkling little gem of a musical now being performed at the Trinity House in Livonia.

"The Paradise," directed by Sarah Hope, is set in a peculiar little warm pink-and-aqua hotel on a tropical island. At least, it looks like a hotel. But, soon enough, you'll see that the Paradise is more than just a place to call room service.

The motley crowd of guests includes Ace, the blonde, blue-eyed bard. Kevin Rusenstrom seems at first to be going a bit overboard with his exaggerated mannerisms, stagey movements and blissful, theatrical smile, but soon, his Ace seems to fit perfectly with the rest of the guests at the hotel, run by a man named Peters (Mike Aquilina).

Art McCoy is appealing as the chubby, funny, sad Sharkey, who sweeps up around the place. Beth Patton, as the amusingly self-important "Princess," has just the right touch, and rubbery-faced Sandra Liddell as Esther, a guest at the hotel who checks in still wearing her surgical gown, is a delight to watch.

COLLENE HACKNEY, as the stuttering, high-strung demolitions expert, Titro ("rhymes with nitro"), who comes upon the scene to demolish the Paradise, deserves special mention, though. As Titro, she's a riotous, outstanding performer.

The music, all of it put together by local talent — Paul Patton, Jack Pierson and Henry Woodworth wrote the music; Patton and Sarah Hope, the lyrics — is a real pleasure to listen to. If there's a fault here and there, it usually lies with a less-than-capable singer, and not the music itself.

"Am I Motley?" "Welcome to Paradise" and "You Get What You Paid For" are special treats. And, near the play's conclusion, tiny Hannah Hope as Amy will steal your heart with a plaintive little tune, "Someday."

If there's anything negative about the play it may be that it's too much of a good thing. Too long, too many tunes and, as fun to watch as all the colorful characters are, maybe too many of them.

Excalibur boasts American cuisine

By Ethel Simmons
staff writer

Chef Marty Wilk of the Excalibur in Southfield describes the food he serves at the upscale restaurant as "an American cuisine."

The way Wilk looks at it, European or French cuisine isn't what he wants to copy. "They're following us more than we're following them now. We're setting the trends now," he said firmly.

On a recent afternoon at the Excalibur (28875 Franklin Road at Northwestern Highway and 12 Mile Road), the chef took a breather after the luncheon rush to talk about some of the menu offerings. Samples of many dishes at lunch proved this restaurant is serving some things that are extra special.

For starters there was a water-cress salad with dijon and light vinaigrette dressing. Then followed pasta primavera with spinach fettuccine; a plate of swordfish, soft-shell crab and salmon; and veal chop morel.

ESPECIALLY delightful was the crunchy crab and the tasty veal chop in sauce full of delicate morel mushrooms.

Dessert was a tasting of several offerings. The Excalibur regularly serves cheesecake with strawberries, a Gold Brick sundae, chocolate mousse torte and that extravaganza, Baked Alaska.

Chef Wilk said fish and provimi veal are among the restaurant's most-wanted dishes. But there's a good variety of choices. "We touch on just about everything you can imagine," he said. "We prepare everything ourselves. We do a lot of catering and parties, too."

Wilk studied food preparation at Chadsey High School in Detroit and also took courses at the Culinary Institute in Hyde Park, N.Y. He does presentations on veal and fish at the Great Lake Food Show, presented through the Michigan Restaurant Association.

His restaurant background has included working at the London Chop House, as executive sous chef, for seven years; the Ramada Inn in Southfield, Doug's Body Shop and, for the last seven years, the Excalibur.

CATERING TO an upper-middle-class clientele, the Excalibur started off as a watering spot and then went to a full-service restaurant. It's gone from an emphasis on casual fare to more elegant, fine dining.

The restaurant opened in February 1978, and Chef Wilk arrived in August. "I came and got rid of Sindhads," he said, referring to the informality.

The Excalibur, which used to have an example of the vintage luxury car parked out front, is planning to upgrade its menu and get rid of the cute names for the dishes. For example, the veal saute with zucchini, mushrooms and marsala is called "the Maserati" on the current menu.

Interesting decorative touches at the restaurant include a front door from a castle in Germany and an 18th century bar with 20 stools surrounded by a large stand-up area. The restaurant's decor is seasonal, changed four times yearly for an always-new look. At present, the dimly lit smart interior is accented by pretty kites overhead.

Bunny tales

The second Playboy Bunny Reunion will be Tuesday, June 10, at Nicky's at the Top of Troy building. Bunnies, husbands and friends will gather to swap stories and eat a buffet supper at 7 p.m. in the banquet room.

Last year, 25 Bunnies attended.

This year, 35 are expected. The event, which is open to the public, recalls the early '60s, the heyday of the Playboy Clubs with their big-bosomed, cotton-tailed waitresses. For more information, call Nicky's at 362-1262.

ENTERTAINER Frank Sinatra, a friend of the restaurant's owner, Pat Archer, is one of the celebrity customers who has Chef Wilk send him orders of ribs. Said Wilk, "I send ribs to Rancho Mirage (Calif.) twice a year."

Wilk uses a Canadian back rib. He said the sauce is "not really hot — it's warm with spices. It's pretty interesting."

The Excalibur regularly serves two, four and seven-pound Maine lobsters. On a foray through the kitchen, the chef also showed off a big 15 pounder, awaiting its fate, in the live-lobster tank.

cultural cues

● CHORALE TO PERFORM

The Suburban Chorale of Livonia, sponsored by the Livonia Parks and Recreation and directed by Bea Scaglione, will be presenting a spring concert in the Livonia City Hall auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Friday, June 13. The public is invited and there is no charge.

● SYMPHONY CRUISE

A cruise on the Detroit River aboard the "Wayward Princess," sailing at 7 p.m. Friday from the Windsor dock (not far from the bridge) is being sponsored by the Women's Association for the Dearborn Orchestral Society (WADOS) to benefit the Dearborn Symphony. The cruise will feature the "Winifred Reel Quartet" and the barbershop quartet, "Sound Ambassadors," who will provide entertainment on two decks throughout the evening. For further information, including transportation-car pools to docksides, call 277-2959 or 563-8386/1.

● SPIRIT OF 1812

On June 14 — Flag Day — a military cortege will march out of the gates of Historic Fort Wayne carrying the remains of four soldiers from the War of 1812 to a final resting place in the Federal Military section of Woodmere Cemetery. The horse-drawn funeral caissons will be accompanied by American and Canadian military units and bands and will march down West Fort Street arriving at Woodmere Cemetery at 10:30 a.m. For further information, call 297-9360.

● PLANT SALE

The Detroit Garden Center in historic Moross House invites the public to an open house featuring a perennial plant sale and sale of used books from the horticultural library from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, June 7. Landscape architect Marguerite Decker will be on hand to answer garden questions between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. Free admission and parking. Tours of Detroit's oldest brick house will be available. The center is located at 1460 E. Jefferson between Ropelle and Rivard, near downtown. For more information, call 259-6363.

● VAAL ART SHOW

Visual Arts Association of Livonia's (VAAL) spring art show is now under way at the Livonia City Hall lobby and will continue through Friday, June 27.

● PORCELAIN DOLL COURSE

The Detroit Historical Museum will conduct classes in porcelain doll reproductions. The total process will be taught in the two-week course that will meet 10:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Saturday, July 12 and July 19. Fee is $25 plus a $25 materials fee due the instructor at the first class session. Classes are limited to those 16 and up.

● VOICES OF SPRING

The Dearborn Recreation Department presents opera in concert in "Voices of Spring" at 3 p.m. Sunday, June 8, at the Centennial Library auditorium on Michigan Avenue between Southfield and Greenfield roads in Dearborn. The program will feature the music of Verdi, Mozart, Richard Strauss and others in arias and ensembles. Featured vocalist will be tenor Jonathon Swift of Livonia in excerpts from "Carmen" by Bizet.

● DETROIT BRONZE

Michigan Gallery is coordinating "Detroit Bronze," an exhibition of contemporary bronze sculpture. More than 20 artists will exhibit the versatile expression of the medium. It is believed to be the first such exhibit in the metropolitan Detroit area in more than 10 years. All work presented is current and, for the most part, unpublished. A reception will be held from 7-10 p.m. Saturday. After that, the exhibit may be viewed during regular gallery hours of 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday through Saturday through June 27. For more information, call 591-7667. The gallery is located at 2601 Michigan Avenue, Detroit.

Concert Sunday launches new arts group

By Marie McGee
staff writer

THE NEWLY formed area Arts Alliance Group — an organization of business and industry leaders — is inviting the community to TAAG along in its endeavor to enhance the quality of life by a visible commitment to the arts.

TAAG also happens to be the acronym the group is using to make identification easier.

TAAG's first efforts will come to fruition at an inaugural concert Sunday in the Novi Hilton. The cabaret-style concert will be preceded by a champagne reception at 7 p.m. followed by a concert performed by the Greater Michigan Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Maestro Carl Karapetian.

THE ORCHESTRA is a professional ensemble headquartered in Livonia and will be performing popular works of Mozart, Dvorak and Strauss.

The orchestra made its premier appearance in a concert at the Mai Kai theater recently under auspices of the Livonia Cultural League.

"The community response was great," said Robert Bishop, cultural league president, "but the whole program was a bit more than the league could financially undertake."

TAAG, he explained, is an outgrowth of that initial effort.

Karapetian's precise orchestral techniques and personal style at that concert were a hit with the sparse but enthusiastic audience.

Karapetian has served as music director and conductor of both the Grand Rapids and Palm Beach Symphony orchestras. He is the founder of the Opera Association of Western Michigan and heads the nationally recognized "Music to People" organization.

FEATURED SOLOIST at the inaugural concert will be Misha Rachlevsky, popular Detroit musician who is also a world-renowned violinist. In addition to impressive credentials as a soloist, Rachlevsky is the founder of the Renaissance City Chamber Players, who will be touring the Scandinavian countries later this summer.

The Arts Alliance Group has been raising money to underwrite the expense of the inaugural concert as well as for the following series of three concerts, by soliciting sponsorship donations from area corporations and businesses.

"Businesses will be interested in becoming sponsors of TAAG once they hear about the activities we plan to support," said Fred Fehlauer, TAAG's chairman and senior vice president of CBS-Fox Video.

"BUSINESS NEEDS a vibrant arts climate in order to attract and retain a qualified flow of talented people for their firms. TAAG and its activities will help them toward this end," he added.

In addition to Fehlauer and Karapetian, the TAAG board of directors consists of various community and business leaders including Bishop, who is also president of the Livonia City Council; Edward McNamara, Livonia mayor; Dave Palmer, Co-Ordinated Business Interiors Inc.; Dr. Roger Ajluni; Jeanne Bonner, Schoolcraft College; William Brashear, Brashear, Tangora and Spence; Thomas Celani, Action Distributing Co.

Others are Angelo DiPonio, Greenfield Construction Co.; Lewis

George, Nicholas George Theaters; Ken Hale, Cambridge Underwriters Ltd.; Robert Kross, Kross Associates Inc.; Martin Leavitt, Sullivan and Leavitt; Larry O'Brien, Lawrence O'Brien Associates; George Roumell, Riley and Roumell; Robert Schostak, Schostak Brothers and Co.; Charles Tangora, Brashear, Tangora and Spence.

Also, Betty Jean Awrey, Awrey Bakery; Alan C. Helmkamp, Helmkamp, Ellis and Abraham; Dan Wollenschlager, Michigan National Bank; Nancy Combs, Health Alliance Plan; Mary Ann LaForest, APT Services Co.; Peter Ventura, Wonderland Realty; and Ken Kelsey, Kelsey Advertising.

Ticket and sponsorship information is available by calling 591-8800 or by writing to The Arts Alliance Group, P.O. Group 9226, Livonia 48151.

Arts fair blooms in Kellogg Park

The Michigan Guild of Artists and Artisans, in conjunction with the city of Plymouth, will hold the fourth annual Spring Arts Festival Saturday and Sunday, June 14-15, in Plymouth's Kellogg Park.

Hours will be 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Sunday.

The juried two-day festival will feature the exhibition and sale of work by more than 100 fine artists and craftspeople from Michigan and throughout the Midwest. The media represented will include painting, jewelry, wood and wood toys, fibers, glass and ceramics.

The Spring Arts Festival will include several demonstrations by artists of their work.

John Hyde, also known as "the Clarkston carver," will demonstrate his expertise in creating decorative decoys of ducks, geese, swans and shorebirds.

Other exhibitors at the festival will include: Ron Bishop, a blacksmith from Ypsilanti, who will demonstrate a variety of smithing skills; Susan Wright, a weaver from Ann Arbor; Tom LeGault, a painter from Plymouth; Simon and Joy Tarasiewicz, toymakers from Grand Rapids; and Irving Tasco, a caricaturist from Southfield.

Another highlight of the Spring Arts Festival will be the "Arts Dollars" raffle. A total of $300 will be given to the winners of the six raffle drawings, to be used for purchase of artwork of their choice at the festival.

For additional information, call the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce at 453-1540 or the Michigan Guild of Artists and Artisans at 662-3382.

On the shady side

The towering maples and giant fir trees that dot picturesque Greenmead, Livonia's historical park at Eight Mile and Newburgh roads, will be the backdrop for the city's annual arts and crafts show Saturday-Sunday, June 21-22. In the past, the show was held in the civic center area, but construction of several new buildings prompted the move to Greenmead. Over 200 exhibitors will take part, including Ken Allen of Livonia, who will feature handcrafted wood items; and the mother-daughter quilting team of Fran West (center) of Canton Township and Nola Hykal of Northville. Continuous entertainment, refreshments, benefit drawings on the hour both days are some of the highlights of the event that precedes Spree, Livonia's birthday observance. There is no admission charge. Parking also is free and will be available off Newburgh Road.

Safety zone breeds stagnation

AS THE OLD saying goes, "There is a first time for every thing." I remember the first time I ever tried water skiing, I set a Guinness' World Record for the longest fall in the history of the sport. The first time I ever tried downhill snow skiing is also the first time I ever remember literally screaming.

The first time I ever tried golf was the last time I ever truly enjoyed it, and as a result of my first attempt, parts of my elbow are still stuck to the cinder block walls of a racquet ball court in Livonia. Then there was the first time I ever tried roller skating at a rink . . . well . . . Let's just say that was the last time.

The first time I ever went skeet shooting was also the first time I ever held a shotgun. My friend threw the first skeet so hard that he fell backwards over a fallen tree.

Of course I closed my eyes when I pulled the trigger only to open them and view his feet as he flew backwards over the trunk of the tree. Convinced that I killed my friend, I dropped the gun and have yet to touch one.

THE FIRST ARTIFACTS column that I ever wrote came back with a note that read, "Just write the way you talk." Then, the second article also came back with a note that read, "Learn to talk, then write the way you talk." After 150 articles, I hear that the proofreaders still draw straws and the loser handles my column.

Well I am going to stop giving you examples before I sound like "Super Klutz." The point is, however, clear that the "first" is often the "worst," especially in the world of art, a medium that is no exception to the rule.

The first time you attempt a new medium it is an uncharted course. You have no experience to draw from and must rely heavily upon the teacher. As you gain relative mastery of the medium, you apply it to many different subjects i.e., scenery, still-life and portraits etc.

It is at this point that many artists stop trying new media. This is, of course, a natural response. After all, it feels good to know that you can make your medium do what you want it to.

WITHIN THAT FAMILIARITY and safety, however, one can become stagnated and dull. Often the risk of a new medium because of its unfamiliarity can produce a better expression. The best way to approach a new medium is to think, "Hey, I don't know anything about this medium but I'm willing to try." That confession, "I don't know," often seems to be a difficult one. But until you have handled a medium several times, there just is not a great deal that you could know.

artifacts

I always tell my students, the ultimate goal of artistic training is "to reach the point when you pick the medium that best fits the expression and not bend the expression to fit your best medium."

Perhaps I could make that point clear with an example. Imagine you have a request to do a picture of an antique automobile.

IDEALLY YOU as an artist should ask yourself, "Would this be a candidate for pen and ink or perhaps colored pencil. Maybe a watercolor would be better. What if I did this picture in air-brush?" So it is a far better feeling when you pick the "most appropriate medium" for the subject and indeed the artist is limited who must render the subject in the only medium that he or she can handle.

It is odd that your success in mastering a particular medium can limit your desire to try another.

So please don't be content to be a medium artist. Try new media and stick with them until you gain relative mastery. Look at me. It used to be that I couldn't even write right and now I'm writing right always . . . er is that always writing write?

David Messing has been an art teacher for 10 years and operates an art store, Art Store and More, at 16338 Middlebelt Road, Livonia. A second franchised outlet is at 265 Main, Plymouth. Messing encourages readers' comments and questions. These can be directed to him in care of this newspaper, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150.

Young keyboard artists' competition set

The Young Keyboard Artists Association will host the sixth annual International Piano Competition June 6-14 at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

More than 1,600 talented musicians, some from as far away as West Germany, are expected to participate in the classical music event. Just as important, over 15,000 people, including teachers, musicians, concert arrangers, talent agents and music lovers from all over the globe will attend.

Unlike most competitions, the YKAA contest is open to the very young, including participants six years of age and under. Other categories include finalists from ages nine to 60.

FESTIVITIES FOR the week include recitals by Barry Synder and Barbara Nissman. The concerto finals will take place at 7:30 p.m. Friday, June 13 in the Power Center auditorium. A banquet and awards ceremony will top the week's activities at 7 p.m. Saturday, June 14, at Weber's Inn ballroom.

Tickets will be available at the door. For further information, call 884-6699.

Recording honors Statue of Liberty

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra's recording of Richard Adler's "The Lady Remembers," a tribute to the Statue of Liberty, has been released by RCA Red Seal on digital L.P. and cassette. Compact discs will be available in June.

The recording features Gunther Herbig, musical director, and Julia Migenes Johnson, soprano.

"The Lady Remembers" was recorded in Washington, D.C.'s Constitution Hall last October following its world premiere performance by the DSO at Kennedy Center.

Subtitled The Statue of Liberty Suite, "The Lady Remembers" consists of seven movements that chronicle the history of the statue and the drama of the immigrant experience in the United States.

The recording and the premiere performance were produced with support from the Chrysler Corp. Fund. Royalties from the sale of the recording will be paid to The Statue of Liberty-Ellis Island Foundation Inc.

Attendance soared for exhibit

From the opening in February through closing day in April, "Diego Rivera: A Retrospective," at Detroit Institute of Arts drew 227,966 people.

Although most were Michigan residents, the exhibition drew guests from Russia, France, Germany and Japan.

The partnership of the Founders Society Detroit Institute of Arts and the Instituto Nacional de Bellas Artes of Mexico City, with the corporate support of the Ford Motor Co. Fund, produced the extensive free exhibition, which brought together some 115 paintings, 130 works on paper, 112 photographs and a new half-hour film on Rivera's frescoes.

The exhibition is being shown at the Philadelphia Museum of Art through Aug. 10 and then travels to Museo del Palacio de Bellas Artes of Mexico City, Sept. 29 to Jan. 4, then Madrid, Spain, February to April, 1987, and West Berlin, Germany, in the summer of 1987.

SPRING FESTIVAL

JUNE 7-8

Festival holds fun for all

GARDEN CITY WILL show off its downtown progress for suburban shoppers and festival-lovers this weekend with a full schedule of events and fun for all ages.

Sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, the festival will be held from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturday and noon to 6 p.m. Sunday at the Ford-Middlebelt business section.

The chamber, celebrating its 30th anniversary this year, initiated the festival in early 1981 to encourage local and neighboring residents to drive to the downtown section and enjoy the new improvements and developments.

Since then, the festival has grown to attract tens of thousands of shoppers and festival-goers who enjoy a parade, flea market marts and crafts displays, sidewalk sales, food booths, pony rides for children, kiddie amusements, new car displays, free health tests, and two days of continuous free entertainment.

THE FESTIVAL WAS the brain child of Mitchell Nimmoor, then chamber of commerce president and active in getting city officials and business persons together to improve the city's downtown.

A committee of chamber board members and other civic groups convened and planned the first festival which has now become an annual tradition.

The display of new cars, vans and recreational vehicles by local dealers will be on the northwest corner of Ford and Middlebelt, along with the portable stage for the free entertainment, and pony rides.

Arts and crafts displays will be located along the Ford Road strip of businesses as well as in front of the new Sheridan Square retail center one block west.

Free public parking will be located on the southeast and southwest corner of Ford-Middlebelt as well as behind Garden City City Hall, Middlebelt at Block.

THE FLEA MARKET, a popular attraction for bargain hunters, will be relocated to a new site next to the Biscuit Company Restaurant opposite City Hall and within easy walking distance of the downtown section.

Garden City Osteopathic Hospital will continue to have an informational booth at which free blood pressure tests will be given as well as serve as a first aid station for festival goers.

The festival will get under way at 8:30 a.m. Saturday with the annual fun run, sponsored by the Garden City Public Schools' adult and community education department, behind City Hall, on Central at Block.

The traditional parade will start at 10 a.m. at Garden City High School, Middlebelt at Maplewood and conclude at the Garden Plaza business section on the northwest corner of Ford and Middlebelt.

A full afternoon of free entertainment is scheduled on a portable stage on the northwest Ford-Middlebelt corner.

The high school band, directed by James Cheyne, will start performing for the public at noon.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT will have a waterball battle between 1 and 3 p.m. behind City Hall.

The installation of the Sheridan Square clock tower will be at 3 p.m. at the under construction building of phase II of the retail center on Ford between Brandt and Henry Ruff. The clock will have chimes to keep local shoppers on time.

The Amazing Jacks musical group will perform at 4 p.m., followed by the Western Line country dance at 6 p.m., "Thrust" band at 7 p.m., and the American Dance Academy at 8 p.m.

Sunday's festival schedule will begin at 8 a.m. with the Kiwanis Club having its annual pancake day at the American Legion Hall, 2061 Middlebelt, south of Ford, for families.

The Sing-Out Dearborn vocal musical group will perform at noon, followed by the Karate Studio demonstration at 1 p.m. and Robert Lee Dance Studio show at 2 p.m.

Crestwood Dodge, at Ford and Venoy, will be the site of the fifth annual "Scat Pack" car show and swap meet Saturday.

Car entries are $6 with swap spaces going for $8, or $12 for both. Admission is $1 for the event, open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Interested persons may contact the Scat Pack Club at 563-5974 for more information. The club will have games, door prizes, awards, and a technical session.

Author is festival celeb

Gail Oust, author of romantic books, will take part in the Garden City Spring Festival Saturday to autograph her first book, "Sweet Possession," at the Tales and Tapes book store.

The book has just been published.

She will be at the store, in the Sheridan Square retail center, on Ford west of Brandt, from 1-3 p.m., said bookstore owner Joan Holmes.

The book by the author, a West Bloomfield resident, is her first for Pocket Books Tapestry line.

The book is written under the pen name of Elizabeth Turner and is set in 1850 and is centered around the legendary underground railroad through which black slaves were able to reach free states in the north.

Oust is a graduate of Holy Cross High School, Marine City, and Providence Hospital's Nursing School, then in Detroit.

A clock tower with his decorative design and chimes will be placed atop a Sheridan Square chimney at 3 p.m. Saturday during the Spring Festival.

A chiming addition

Shoppers in downtown Garden City will soon have an easier time keeping track of time.

The reason is a new decorative clock tower with chimes scheduled to be installed at the under-construction Sheridan Square building on Ford, between Brandt and Henry Ruff, during the Garden City sixth annual Spring Festival.

The three-foot high clock will be fitted around the a nine-foot high chimney of Phase II of the Sheridan Square retail complex. The first building opened last fall.

Sheridan Square is being developed by Robert Sheridan of Sheridan Construction Co., Garden City.

He said the clock tower is scheduled to be installed at 3 p.m. Saturday during the Spring Festival, scheduled for Saturday and Sunday.

Sheridan said the clock took about a month to build at his construction building.

He had help from Donald Holmes, whose wife, Joan, manages the Tapes and Tales store in Sheridan Square, and Tom Miller, a friend in the clock business.

"I love to hear chimes," said Sheridan, president of the Garden City Chamber of Commerce which is sponsoring the festival.

He said the idea for the chime clock came out of a discussion on how to handle the chimney on the under-construction building, formerly the North Brothers Ford showroom.

Parade's best view

This hardware store employee sits in a wheelbarrow to watch a Spring Festival parade, to start this year at 10 a.m. from Garden City High school and ending at the Garden Plaza business district on the north-west corner of Ford and Middlebelt.

Festival flapjacks

The Garden City Kiwanis Club has moved back its traditional pancake day two months so that it will be held during the sixth annual Garden City Spring Festival.

The service club will sell all-you-can-eat pancakes from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. Sunday in the American Legion Hall, 2061 Middlebelt, just south of Ford.

Meals are $3 each and $10 for a family. Proceeds are used to support the club's numerous community service projects, including development of Kiwanis Park.

Mini-golf tourney set

It won't be the PGA Open but the Garden City Business and Professional Women's Club is planning its own miniature golf tournament Saturday during the sixth annual Garden City Spring Festival. The club's second annual Garden City Open will have tee-off times from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at the golf course on Ford at Central, one block east of Middlebelt.

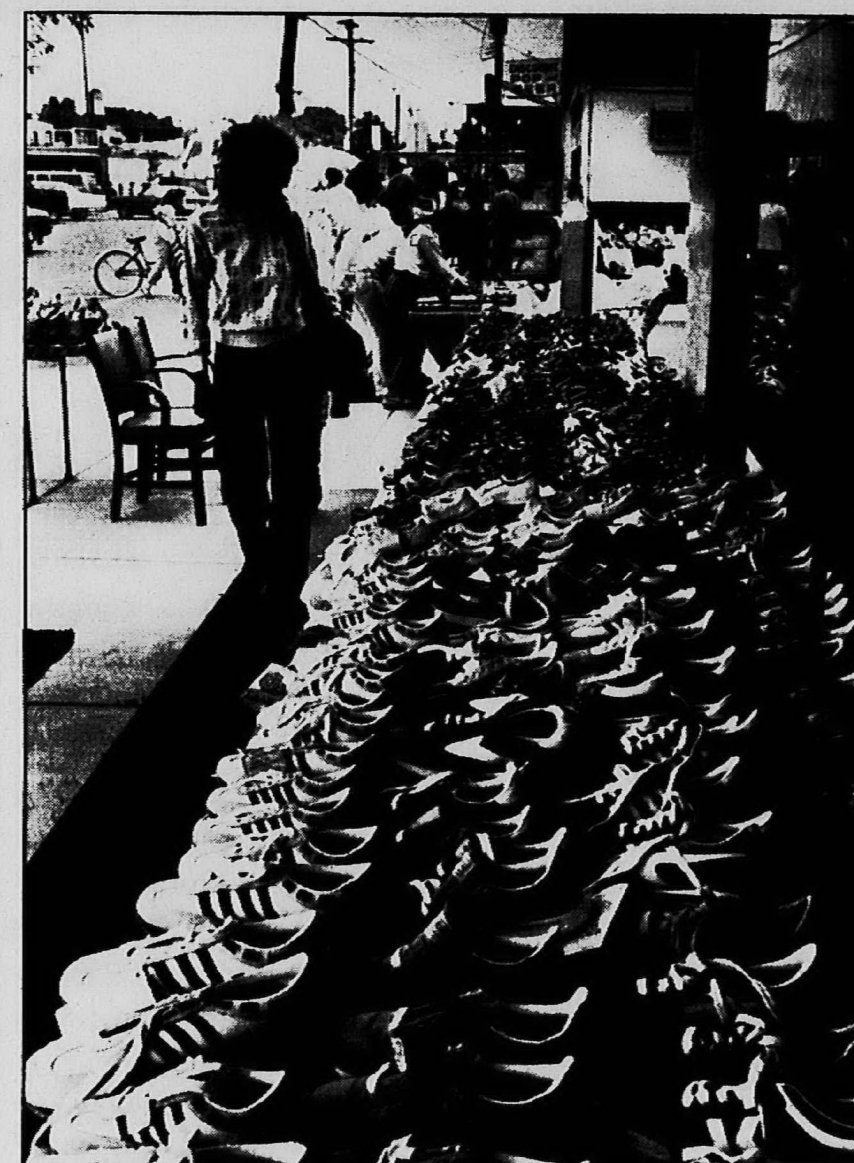

Prizes will be awarded for individual and team low scores, including the Mayor's Trophy for the overall low score, hole-in-one, and the most original golf hat. There is a $5 charge with senior citizens charged $4.50 and children 12 and under $3.

Registration forms are at the golf course, Hair Hut on Ford at Brandt, Orin Jewelers, Ford at Middlebelt, or can be obtained by calling 421-2987.

Send in the clowns

Flowers — real and imaginary — are springing up in downtown Garden City for this weekend's annual Spring Festival. There will be a parade, clowns, sidewalk sales, arts and crafts displays, and free entertainment Saturday and Sunday.

Runners, walkers get in shape

Adults and children are getting into shape for the sixth annual fun run, sponsored by the Garden City school district's community education department as part of the annual Garden City Spring Festival.

The run, actually three runs, will start at 8:30 a.m. Saturday from the rear of City Hall, on Central at Block.

Registration forms are available at municipal and school buildings.

There will be a 3.1-mile and 1-mile route and a 1-mile walkathon.

Fun-run planners have different categories for ages, gender, handicapped and those over 200 lb.

Trophies will be presented to the winners in the men's and women's divisions in the 1-mile and 3.1-mile runs and T-shirts given to all runners.

Entrants must register by Friday to be eligible for prizes.

Ribbons will be given to all runners and refreshments will be served.

The community education department has a "fun-run hot-line" at 422-7198 for persons who want more information or registration forms.

Entry fee is $5 for senior citizens and children 12 and under and $7 for adults and children 13 and older.

Hundreds of runners of all ages, sizes, and skills are expected for the annual fun run, part of the Garden City Spring Festival. The runners will start at 8:30 a.m. behind Garden City City Hall on Central at Block.

The honor guard for the Garden City Spring Festival parade will be provided by Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 7575.

Parade has variety

You don't have to wait until Thanksgiving Day to enjoy a colorful parade.

The Garden City Chamber of Commerce promises a parade that will appeal to all tastes when it opens its sixth annual Spring Festival Saturday morning.

Thirty-five units are scheduled to take part in the parade to start at 10 a.m. from Garden City High School, Middlebelt at Maplewood, proceed south to Ford, west to Henry Ruff, north to Beechwood, and then east again, winding up in the Garden Plaza parking lot near the K mart Store.

The parade will include the popular Shriners mini-cars, floats, scouts, cheerleaders and decorated cars and horses.

Among the groups to take part are Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 7575, color guard, Shriners, Boy Scout Troop 1241, fire department, Creative Edge beauty salon, city officials, Business and Professional Women's Club, Dr. James Tscoucaris, Brownie Troop 817, Doug's Auto Body Shop, Gymnastics Club and Little Devils square dancers.

Also, Shriners' horse troop, Tales and Tapes book store, unicyclists, Wayne County Sheriff's Department, karate club, school board members and elementary schools, Al and George Standard Station, Garden City High School marching band, Boy Scout Troop 764, Shriners' clown troop, Robert Lee Dance School, R.G. and G.R. Harris Funeral Home with a horse-drawn hearse, square dancers, clown organ grinder, Norm Trezil in an antique car, Spiriters cheerleaders and baton twirlers, and the Garden City Chamber of Commerce.
