DOWN-UNDER FLINGS: For the second time Alex Vandermaat of Rotorua, New Zealand, participated in the Cow Chip Fling at the Canton Country Festival. The young man first entered the fling as a Rotary Exchange student, at which time he became acquainted with Roger Hall. Alex returned this week for the marriage of friend Roger to Laura Santer of Plymouth. After serving as best man Saturday night, Alex donned the competitive gloves the next day to set a new record for longest distance in the Cow Chip Fling by a New Zealand resident.

MUSIC IN PARK: Brown baggers and others can enjoy a lunch in Kellogg Park and some fine music at the same time. The Plymouth Community Arts Council announced this week that local saxophonist Andrew Dahlke will open the series on Wednesday, July 2. The "Music in the Park" series will be from noon to 1 p.m. each Wednesday through Aug. 27.

Other performers include: July 9, Mary Kleam, clarinet; July 16, Eiva Hildebrandt, accordion; July 23, Bill Weaver, bagpipe; July 30, Karen Stone, marimba; Aug. 6, Marion Stokes, dulcimer; Aug. 13, John Upton, trombone; Aug. 20, "Just Me and the Boys" band, guitar, bass and dulcimer; Aug. 27, Dan Stacy, George Stepulla, violins.

TOP HORSES: Two residents are owners of reserve champions in the Hadley Hill Horse Show held last month in Ortonville by the Michigan Hunter-Jumper Association. Horses in hunter classes were judged for their style, manners and pace while jumping a series of fences and while ridden around a ring at a walk, trot and canter. In the primary junior hunter competition the reserve champion was "Darr's Dark Image," ridden by Jennifer Ezzo and owned by Joe Ezzo of Plymouth. In the baby green hunter division the reserve champion was "First Class" owned by Laurie Daniels of Canton.

Township may hire 3 more firefighters

Three additional firefighters will be hired in Plymouth Township this summer if firefighters and the township board ratify a revised labor contract, said Supervisor Maurice Breen.

Tentative agreement already has been reached between bargaining teams. The contract expired March 31.

Three more firefighters would increase the staffing level from 12 to 15, not including the chief. The hires would be the first for the department since the late 1970s, Breen said. The township operates two fire stations.

A two-tier wage scale for hires was a key element of negotiation from the township's perspective. Breen said he couldn't hire the additional personnel without the lower starting salary.

Fire hires would earn $16,264 annually after completing 240 hours of training and obtaining emergency medical training certification.

BASE PAY would rise to $17,890 after one year of employment, $19,516 after two years and $23,275 after three years.

The nine firefighters and three captains now on staff would receive a 5 percent increase retroactive to April 1, 3 percent next April, and 2 percent effective April 1, 1988.

Firefighters and captains currently earn $28,603 and $30,775, respectively. Last year, all but one pocketed more than $5,000 in overtime.

Chatham's future clouds

The Chatham supermarket at Ann Arbor Road and Haggerty in Plymouth Township will close July 26, according to the chairman and chief executive officer of the company, but why remains a mystery.

The closing was announced in a brief letter delivered to the store by a district manager Friday. No reason for the closing was given in the letter. A supervisor at the store who requested anonymity said no advance warning was received of the announcement.

Alex Dandy, Chatham's chairman and chief executive officer, declined to comment when contacted by telephone.

About 30 people — union employees and supervisors — currently work at the store. The union employees, represented by United Food & Commercial Workers, will have the right to bump less senior union workers at other stores.

HOWEVER, LESS than a dozen stores may remain open in the metropolitan area with the announced closing since Friday of the Plymouth store and 11 others, including Chatham's in Livonia and Redford.

Union representatives reportedly were out of town and unavailable for comment.

Lloyd Potts, manager of the Plymouth store, said Monday that he expects to learn specifics of the closings some time this week. Other employees have expressed concern at the recent turn of events, he confirmed.

The Plymouth store would seem to be in a good location on a well-traveled road next to a K mart within an easy drive of subdivisions, condominiums and apartments.

Hours at the Plymouth store have been cut in recent weeks, perhaps indicative of declining business, an effort to reduce expenses or both.

Even with the reduction, the store is open 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Sundays — at least until July 26.

Illegal fireworks: A dangerous game

Do you know what kind of illegal fireworks kids in your neighborhood are playing with?

You should, because youngsters could put their safety and your property at risk whenever they touch match to fuse. Not to mention strain good relations on the block.

Police and fire officials recognize they have a duty to keep the public peace. A bigger priority, some say, is to keep children from hurting themselves.

"Primarily, we're interested in the safety of kids," said Commander Michael Gardner of the Plymouth city police.

Canton Fire Capt. Art Winkel said: "We have a problem with young kids who don't know how to use them. Sometimes they don't realize what they're doing with them. They're not toys, and they're not to be misused."

Winkel suggests parents supervise use, follow directions and make sure the fireworks are permitted by state law.

IT'S FAIRLY easy to remember what's legal and what isn't in Michigan.

If it spins or twirls, flies or bangs, it's generally illegal. Included are bottle rockets, skyrockets, firecrackers, cherry bombs and M-80s.

Legal amusements include certain sparklers, caps, party snaps and poppers, cone fountains and smoke devices.

Just because something is legal doesn't mean it's always safe.

Several weeks ago, a legal smoke device ignited a fire that caused about $1,000 damage to a house in the city, said Fire Chief Al Matthews.

"It was thrown into bushes, pine needles ignited and caught the porch and some furniture on fire," he said.

Sale and possession of illegal fireworks is a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine, a jail sentence or both.

City officials have discovered only a couple of incidents of illegal sales during the past five years, Matthews said.

"The reason we don't have more is we've communicated with people what is and isn't legal. All stores have been excellent cooperating with me, checking before they buy something."

One local store, which Matthews declined to identify, had illegal fireworks for sale during a spot check last week. "It was an oversight. They were removed in my presence."

PLYMOUTH Township Police Chief Carl Berry said no illegal fireworks have turned up during spot checks of commercial establishments in his jurisdiction this year.

So where do they come from?

Fireworks that are illegal in Michigan can be bought in Ohio and southern states. And usually the parents are right there when the transaction occurs, Berry said.

Even though parents may not be directly involved in the procurement, the chief finds it difficult to believe that they wouldn't hear the loud noise of firecrackers or the whine and pop of skyrockets when their children are at play.

Concern sometimes arises too late. "Somebody will get burned," Berry said.

Police have much discretion for action depending on specific complaints and circumstances. They can issue warnings or tickets, confiscate the goods or both. If the devices are legal, perhaps a word about safety would be in order.

The township police will do what's necessary, writing tickets, confiscating items or even ticketing parents for allowing children to have illegal fireworks, Berry said.

Up to now, no tickets have been issued, he said.

Bernie Goodstein makes sure everything runs smoothly on softball fields and stylish restaurant.

Softball czar Manager battles scheduling maze

By Kevin Brown staff writer

Kenesaw Mountain Landis, Bowie Kuhn, Peter Ueberroth and Bernie Goodstein — they all have something in common.

Baseball fans around the country can usually identify those first three men as past and present czars of the major leagues. But while Goodstein is unlikely to be well-known outside the Canton-Plymouth area, he has his own baseball fiefdom of sorts.

As general manager of the Canton Softball Center, sprawled on the flatlands of southwest Canton Township, Goodstein and his staff have their hands full scheduling league play and tournaments involving nearly 800 softball teams per year.

Because he also manages "Cleats," the stylish restaurant-bar which serves up food and foamy pitchers of beer to thirsty ballplayers at the complex, you begin to understand why he puts in 55-60 hours per week at work, down from the almost 100 hours per week he logged when the complex opened last year.

MOTORISTS spot the tall light towers, which illuminate the manicured diamonds, rising from the farmlands just south of Michigan Avenue.

In his office at the center, Goodstein, who admits to being a bit harried by the job, still looks younger than his 43 years. Dressed in a beige sportshirt, red gym shorts and sneakers, he looks ready to grab a glove and join one of the games scheduled every evening.

And he would — if he had the time. "This is a business, you have to tend to business. But I really, truly love to play." In simpler times, Goodstein, then an industrial supply salesman, played softball three nights a week. "I played Softball City (in Detroit), I played all over for nine or 10 years," he recalls, at class C or D levels.

Then in 1980, Goodstein began looking for an investor to build a softball complex. He indicates there was a market for a complex in this area because both Softball City and Liberty Park in Sterling Heights serve the central and eastern suburbs.

While banks turned down Goodstein's loan applications, he eventually found an investor in Aaron Jade, an attorney. "Dreams are only as strong as the finances behind it," he offers. The dream came to fruition in 1985. "It took 2 1/2 years to find the right location, zoning, and affordable property. We built the 12 diamonds and hoped to open with 600-650 teams."

GOODSTEIN WENT to plants and labor unions to sign up interested teams, eventually attracting 500 for the first season.

While the complex broke even in 1985, he says they're making a profit this year, with 680-690 teams using the well-maintained fields.

Diamonds at the complex feature 4-inch PVC tiles under the graded infields, for quick drainage. "Last Thursday, it rained up to 3 o'clock, and we played at 6. The infield has brown lime like Tiger Stadium. We patterned our infields after Tiger Stadium and it worked."

Outfield grass is cut short for truer hops. "We're putting drinking fountains up next week," he adds.

Goodstein, assistant Sharon Hamerschmidt and umpire chief Robert Hope, schedule game times. "The hard part for us is when a team says, 'No 6 o'clock games or 10:40 games,'" Goodstein says. While other softball centers won't take a team unless they accept assigned game times, Goodstein says he tries to accommodate. "We're trying to build."

Rainouts provide the biggest scheduling headache. "In two months, I've already had 11 rainout days," Goodstein laments. "I've spent many hours scheduling," he adds, showing a sheet of paper sec-

Festival faces profit despite other events

By Diane Gale
staff writer

It's not easy to compete with the hoopla of Grand Prix V and a slew of events in neighboring communities.

Taking all in consideration, the Canton Country Festival, held last Friday through Sunday, was described as a success by Larry Bowerman, festival chairman. Friday and Saturday the festival was "pretty full" but by Sunday the attendance had dwindled. (Sunday was the Belleville Strawberry Festival and the Grand Prix.)

"There were a lot of people there with their children," Bowerman said. "People did get out with their families and that's the whole idea."

The festival is expected to make a profit for the first time. In fact, the festival committee refused a $5,000 loan offered by the township. However, exact figures were not available earlier this week.

"We got a line of credit from the board in the event we would need it," Bowerman said. "We didn't use any of that money."

ANOTHER FIRST this year was the absence of a parade.

Earlier this year Bowerman predicted the demise of the festival because of a lack of volunteer support. By March the 15 seats on the committee were filled. It was too late, however, to organize the parade.

In the past the publicity for the parade drew people to the festival, and that may be the reason "the crowds could have been better" on Sunday, Bowerman said.

"There were people that would call and ask about the parade and they said it was too bad we weren't having it but I didn't have anyone who really thought it was horrible we didn't have one," Bowerman said.

Other events like the fireworks display, pet show, Five Mile Run and the rodeo shows were clear successes.

The Five Mile Run attracted about 125 participants and the rodeo kept the stands packed. Onlookers applauded 38th District Judge John MacDonald for catapulting a cow chip the farthest in the fling competition Sunday.

Helen Maloney, 80, a longtime Canton resident was named "Winner of the Year" for overcoming physical disabilities and participating in a number of local organizations.

"She's one of those happy positive people whose goal is to always help others," said Mike Gouin, Canton recreation director.

The future of the festival and possible changes in dates will be discussed at the committee's next meeting, Bowerman said.

Top school official passes review with flying colors

While school's out for summer, one more report card was issued Monday — on the performance of Plymouth-Canton Superintendent of Schools John Hoben.

"It's one of the highest evaluations for a superintendent I've ever seen," said E.J. McClendon, board of education trustee, after presentation of the evaluation at Monday's board meeting.

Following that presentation, the board approved a one-year renewal of Hoben's contract, to June 30, 1989, and a 5 percent salary increase for this year, to $79,516.

In the evaluation, conducted by trustees Lester Walker, Elaine Kirchgatter and Marilyn Schwinn, all seven board members were asked to rate Hoben's performance in 15 areas. On a scale of one to five with five rated "outstanding," Hoben averaged 4.57 — an A.

HOBEN GOT highest marks — a five rating from all board members — in areas of fiscal responsibility and in legislation/legal affairs. He earned the highest rating from six board members in areas of non-instructional services and legal affairs.

The lowest ratings, averaging 4.29, were in community relations, personnel affairs, student performance, and in long-range and short-term planning — areas in which Hoben still won praise from several board members.

Board President Roland Thomas noted that by law, Hoben does not have to allow the evaluation to be made public, but he chooses to do so.

Hoben, who joined the school system in 1955 as a teacher at Plymouth High School, became superintendent in 1971.

Fire agreement reached contract language calls for a minimum of one hour's pay rather than two.

The pay increases, Breen said, should keep township firefighters among the upper third on compensation charts when compared with other departments in western Wayne County.

"You had a contract you've been working with for 20 years now," Breen said. "Most benefits have been negotiated over 20 years. We didn't increase any. We didn't take any away."

Mark Wendel, president of the township firefighters union, said his membership will accept most of the contract changes.

"Conceptually, it looks like we'll have a three-year contract. I wouldn't say we did extremely well. I'd say adequate."

Wendel added that while a 10 percent wage hike over three years may seem like a lot nowadays, the firefighters took a pay freeze last year.

tioned like a checkerboard on which schedules are figured.

After a rainout, Goodstein must scramble to find times later that week, acceptable by both teams for makeup games. "We're going computer next year."

Because Goodstein registers teams with both the American Softball Association and the U.S. Slow-Pitch Softball Association, and because the organizations like the quality of the softball center's playing fields, he also gets major exhibitions and tournaments at the complex, like the Men's Class C Championship scheduled for Labor Day Weekend.

STILL, Goodstein has to field his share of complaints.

"The teams when they lose like to complain, the grass is too long, the field is too hard," he says, stressing these things don't bother the winners.

And, of course, there's the usual complaints about umpires. "I hear them all every night. We can only have one umpire at each game. It's not easy for them to pick up everything, sometimes they're not going to see a tag."

Goodstein said the 60-member umpiring crew headed by Hope was trained in four sessions this season, making them better prepared.

"I like dealing with the people, the excitement," he explains. Goodstein recalls the emotion expressed by players on a recent tournament-winning team: "It almost brought tears to my eyes."

Yet, "There is a burnout factor," he says. "God willing, I have a strong heart . . . This doesn't take smarts, it takes perseverance."

Turner highlights human needs

By Teri Banas
staff writer

This is the second in a series of profiles on the Democratic contenders for Wayne County executive. Voters will select a Democratic candidate at the polls on Tuesday, Aug. 5. There is one Republican candidate; he is unopposed.

Samuel A. Turner, a veteran county commissioner for 14 years from Detroit's northwest side, is probably best known countywide for the two years he spent as commission chairman between 1981-1983.

Those were boisterous times - an era that shaped a county executive form of government with a new charter and a slightly less unwieldy commission of 15 instead of 27 members.

Today Turner, 60, has closed the door on his secure northwest Detroit commission seat, one he won in 1972, and recognizes he is taking a "risk" by hoping to become William Lucas' replacement. He needs to not only win Detroiters' votes - and he is one of two Detroiters running in the 11-man field - but gain favor in out-county areas.

county election '86

TURNER, A PRIVATE practice attorney who previously ran an insurance company in Detroit for 15 years, hails from a district bordered roughly between Livernois and the Chrysler Freeway and home to the University of Detroit and Mumford High School, and the residential area known as Palmer Park.

Some political observers say that the well-to-do Turner is out of touch with low- and moderate-income residents.

His own background includes work as a Detroit welfare officer, supervisor and referee for the Michigan Civil Rights Commission.

In an interview this week, Turner talked of the recent history of county reform and outlined his six-point platform covering anti-crime measures, health concerns, industrial and commercial growth, recreation and government efficiency.

He spoke passionately on the federal cuts that have hurt the elderly and schoolchildren. He worried out loud that program cuts in home nursing care have forced elderly into still more disappointing nursing homes, leaving the nation's elderly "to suffer in silence."

"THE COUNTY executive has to interface with both senators and congressmen and the people in Washington. These programs don't just come out of the blue. I can't sit idly by when nutrition programs for schoolkids (are reduced). That kind of thing burns me up. . . . It's almost criminal the way the federal government is dealing with social problems."

Turner said his proudest achievement in county government occurred in 1978 when he was involved in urging construction of new county welfare offices under the then Bureau of Social Aid. Before that, rental offices had been used in less than desirable locations, such as old warehouses. Conditions were so deplorable, he said, "no one wanted one in their neighborhood."

IN FOUR months, a new, efficient office design was in place in one model site and eventually "the pattern was set. Now no one even notices them (in their neighborhood)," he said.

On today's issues, Turner said the county should tackle its chronic jail overcrowding by moving less serious offenders out into work release programs, and force better cooperation between court officers and detention officials for speedy sentencing.

On the county's role in providing health care to indigent persons, he said the state should have full responsibility for that service. Currently, costs are shared between the county and state with extreme deficits being rung up.

On recreational interests, he said private enterprise should be tapped to develop increased revenues - and therefore more operating revenues - for the county's park system.

ROB REED/staff photographer

Samuel Turner, a Detroit commission veteran running for the county executive's job, says "human" needs would be his administration's priority.

School budget allows smaller class sizes

A $50 million-plus 1986-87 budget allowing for smaller class size was unanimously approved by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education at its Monday meeting.

The proposed budget includes income of $52.6 million, an increase of almost $2.4 million or 4.7 percent. Expenses are expected to increase by 7.7 percent or $3.8 million for a total of almost $53.5 million.

If that difference between income and expenses holds, the ending fund balance will drop from $3.7 million to about $2.9 million. But because changes sparked by the recent passage of a $13 million bond issue should result in budget adjustments in February, the adjusted budget could end up $200,000 in the black.

Once the bond sale is formally sanctioned by the state, several items are scheduled for removal from the budget: capital outlay, $400,000; buses, $400,000; Allen roof, $135,000; instructional computers, $17,850; library references, $26,000; and flooring, $71,150.

Class sizes were an issue in the last round of contract talks with the teachers union, and also were a key to this month's $13 million bond issue. It called for a new elementary and classroom additions aimed at reducing class sizes districtwide.

The budget proposes teacher to student ratios as follows: elementary, 1-23; middle school, 1-22; and high school, 1-21. During the school year just ended, ratios were 1-23.5 for elementary, 1-22 middle school, and 1-21.5 high school.

The approved budget will add 11 1/2 certified positions plus another seven "contingency" certified staff positions, in line with the attempt to reduce the student-teacher ratio and to meet a project enrollment increase.

Some highlights of the budget are:

- The tax base should exceed $1 billion, a 5 percent increase.
- Enrollment is expected to increase by 100 pupils to 15,820.

• Utility costs may increase 7 percent.

• Due to the collection of one-half of the school's taxes in the summer, the school district will not have to borrow to meet operating expenses for a second straight year.

• The budget includes $801,000 for buses. About half that amount will go for final payment of 26 large-capacity buses and eight special education vans while the remainder will pay for eight more buses and four special education vans.

• Some $325,000 is budgeted for textbooks, a 40 percent increase.

• Liability insurance is expected to increase by $192,000 or 82 percent.

• Some $70,000 will provide half-time curriculum coordinators for math, science, social studies, and language arts.

Novelty bus faces major repairs

Plymouth's familiar double-decker bus is ailing and expected to be off the road until Aug. 1.

The Plymouth City Commission at its last meeting authorized spending up to $25,000 for corrective surgery. The engine and brakes will be replaced and adjustments will be made to the transmission, said Ken Vogras, public works director.

The vehicle was taken out of service when city officials determined that it couldn't pass a state police safety inspection for highway travel.

"We felt we were meeting safety regulations but obviously we couldn't pass their test," said City Manager Henry Graper.

Passengers haven't been in jeopardy, Vogras maintained. "It wasn't to the point where someone would get hurt."

Police decided to take a closer look at the mechanical condition of the bus earlier this year after observing it around Tiger Stadium on a fairly regular basis, Graper said.

About a half dozen charters have been cancelled.

Vogras said he was unaware until recently that the bus was subject to an annual inspection. "Being a municipality, I thought it was exempt."

The city acquired the vehicle in 1981 with $15,000 donated by the Plymouth Rotary Foundation and $10,000 from the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce.

Since then, revenues have exceeded expenses by nearly $20,000, Vogras reported.

Through the years, the city has realized $35,600 from charters, $14,600 from advertising and $600 from fares.

The bus, which seats 70, was initially put into service in 1966 in London, England, Vogras said.

Tires taken from car in driveway

All four tires, rims and wheel covers were stolen from a car on Turtlehead last weekend, according to a report filed with Plymouth Township Police.

The car was in the driveway when the theft occurred between 11 p.m. Friday and 7 a.m. Saturday. The vehicle was left on blocks.

The stolen items were valued at $300.

• A silver and red boy's Huffy 10-speed bicycle valued at $80 was reported stolen from a garage on Denise. The bike was taken between 9 p.m. Sunday and 9 a.m. Monday. The garage door had been left open overnight.

• A Cobra radar detector valued at $250 was reported stolen from a car at the Red Roof Inn on Ann Arbor Road at 12:30 a.m. Tuesday. A window had been smashed.

• A diamond tip drill bit valued at $200 and a wallet containing $100 were among items reported stolen from a car parked at Union and Main in the city of Plymouth between 11:30 p.m. last Thursday and 5:30 p.m. Saturday. A door was jimmied, police accounts indicated.

Insurance rate battle rages

Thursday, June 25, 1986 O&E

By Tim Richard
staff writer

The battle over liability insurance is far from over.

With solid support from area suburban senators, the Michigan Senate last week passed and sent to the governor a package of seven reform bills. But a new battle is heating up in Lansing over Democratic attacks on insurance companies.

"They should seriously be looking at rebates," said House Speaker Gary Owen, D-Ypsilanti, throwing out the figure of 20 percent.

"Gary Owen doesn't believe in the free market. Gary Owen isn't pro-business," replied Thomas E. Hoeg, the Canton resident who most often is spokesman for the industry. "Gary Owen's a supporter of redistribution of the wealth."

THE IMMEDIATE issue is a House substitute for Senate Bill 482, a leftover from the fight that ended last week.

Owen referred it to the House Appropriations Committee, which produced a substitute designed to reduce premiums 20 percent. Last week after a public hearing, it promptly reported out the bill on a party-line vote. Owen Tuesday said that although he'd hoped to bring in up for a vote this week, it will not be brought up to the full House until September.

Hoeg, a vice president and associate general counsel of Michigan Mutual Insurance, said the complicated bill is labeled a "windfall profits" measure. There is a formula for calculating "excess" profit and a requirement that insurers return half that amount to customers.

Insurance companies could exempt themselves by reducing premiums 20 percent.

Committee Chairman Dominic Jacobetti, D-Negaunee, said the proposal is in line with a Florida law that rolled back property and casualty insurance premiums about 40 percent.

HOEG'S OBJECTIONS were strong.

"What in heaven's name is an insurance bill doing in the Appropriations Committee?" he asked. His answer: "The Insurance Committee would have seen through this."

"The bill is only an attempt by government rather than the marketplace to dictate insurance rates."

It sends a bad message across the country: "When Gary Owen tries this political stunt, he will dry up the sources of insurance. Companies will not choose a state where the Legislature is constantly interfering in the market."

"Michigan has 84 domestic insurers. Illinois has 300. The last place an insurance company would look at to invest its money is Michigan."

THE LONGER Owen talks about the spiral of liability rates — for government, liquor licensees, business in general and health practitioners — the hotter he gets toward insurance companies. That became clear as his end-of-the-week news conference hit the 10-minute, 20-minute and 30-minute marks.

Insurance companies are foes of "children, women and low-income people who are the victims" of malpractice and damages, he said. When those groups seek justice from the courts, powerful insurers seek changes in the law to prevent the victims from collecting.

"Mismanagement" by insurance companies is to blame for the crisis, Owen went on. When interest rates were high, insurers competed with low rates for premium dollars but made profits on investments. Now that interest rates are down, insurers are jacking up rates — "a complicated and vicious cycle," he said.

"The restaurant owner sees the bill from the insurance company go from $10,000 to $30,000 and immediately gets mad at the guy who walks in the door because he thinks the guy is going to sue him," Owen went on.

In the public's mind, insurance propagandists have conjured up the image of "bad, mean, ugly lawyers" ripping off jury awards.

The companies have said that reforms in the tort (lawsuits for damages) system will lead to lower premiums, but Owen isn't satisfied with a mere market prediction. He wants it written into law. "We don't think they will pass the savings back to the premium payer. They should seriously be looking at rebates," the speaker said.

HOEG SAID insurance rates are based on two factors: 1) the loss experiences of companies through claims and lawsuits and 2) the competition.

Premiums will come down when losses are reduced and when the dozens of companies in the marketplace compete for business, he said.

Hoeg picked up a copy of a trade publication called Business Insurance and read aloud the page 1 headline: "Seven insurers withdraw from Florida market."

"This is what happens when you interfere in the market," he said.

County spending gets trimmed

By Teri Banas
staff writer

Wayne County commissioners approved $2.9 million in department reductions last week signaling an emerging fiscal crisis just six months into its budget year.

The cuts, requested by county Executive William Lucas, were in response to large losses in federal revenue sharing this year, county fees and under-realized gains in a prisoner housing contract with the federal government.

In April the executive's office had called for a hiring and purchasing freeze countywide largely because of 4 disputed $20 million cost overrun in the county's Patient Management Care System that is as yet unresolved. Under this program, the county shares the cost of medical treatment for indigent residents with the state of Michigan.

AT AN EARLIER commission Ways and Means committee hearing, department heads testified to the impact of the cuts.

Sheriff Robert Ficano warned that the $100,000 cut in his department could threaten violations of labor contracts this year. He said the earlier freeze halted filling more than 65 spots in the county jail, alone.

"Eventually, we'll have to close down floors in the jails. You can't just let inmates run by themselves," he said.

Deputy county clerk Orville Tungate, who spoke of a $186,000 reduction in the election bureau's account, said it could cause a shortfall in the cost of printing ballots for the upcoming August primary and November general elections. Referring to existing and potential court challenges, he said his office typically has to delay printing ballots until the final days because of those court challenges. At that point, added overtime costs could be costly.

'We might have to come back and ask for more.'

— Orville Tungate
deputy county clerk

"We might have to come back and ask for more," he said. "We have no contingency money now to carry out the elections."

He complained that the county has been slow in making payments, and cited one to the election bureau's printer in particular.

"I SUSPECT we'll be paying delinquent payments to our printer," he said.

Commissioner Kay Beard, D-Inkster, a committee member, called that "counterproductive . . . That's (late payment charges) just money down the drain."

The county's started its fiscal year on Dec. 1, 1985, with a $201 million budget.

Youth need place to land and stay

THIS SUMMER the city of Plymouth has refined special enforcement efforts to reduce trespassing and loitering by young people in the central business district.

The problem, which started in Kellogg Park a few years ago, has grown to intersections and business sites throughout the city.

During a period of about two weeks, Plymouth police have issued written warnings to some 105 young people for loitering on private property after business hours. Most choose the Farmer Jack parking lot as their roosting spot.

The interesting thing is that all but nine of the 105 youth were non-city residents. The vast majority — 34 — were from Canton with another 27 from Plymouth Township and 13 from Livonia.

What those numbers point out is that this is a communitywide problem, not just a downtown happening.

WHAT THE NUMBERS also suggest is the existence of a hole in the Plymouth-Canton community's recreation program.

The youth loitering downtown and cruising up and down Main Street are primarily high school-age and older. This is evident by observations from police that 200 to 300 carsload cruise the city per night. So we are looking at driving age, 16 and older.

In fact, a quick check of a computer printout of the 105 written warnings mentioned above shows 104 were issued to youths 16 and older — one 15-year-old was cited.

This is the age group which feels they have outgrown the little league and junior athletic programs, that they are too old for the YMCA or city recreation leisure-time activities. This is the mobile age group — mobile, but apparently bored.

No one should condone trespassing, loitering, loud noises in what should be quiet areas, needless cruising, etc. But we should be wise enough to recognize symptoms which suggest a need exists.

WHEN YOU FEEL too old for many of the organized activities in the community, what remains?

When you are mobile but are pouring limited dollars into gasoline and insurance premiums, how many dollars remain for recreation which costs money?

When you are so bored that standing on street corners or hanging around parking lots is the most entertaining thing to do for an evening, what's wrong?

Plymouth Police Chief Richard Myers is correct when he asks: "Why can't we find a place for them to gather without getting the police involved?" The chief offers two suggestions.

"Somebody ought to figure out something for these kids to do, somewhere to go without bothering anybody. Number two, all of the adults who are fearful and intimidated, get together, walk downtown, get an ice cream and see that the kids are harmless."

The chief suggests that parents should get more involved, which certainly is true. But involvement and action need not be limited to parents. Positive action could be generated by the recreation departments of Canton Township, Plymouth Township, and the city of Plymouth.

Because the numbers suggest a communitywide problem, maybe Plymouth-Canton Community Schools also could get involved because most are school-age. While the problem existed while school was in session, it seems to have escalated in the past week.

Growth Works has had valuable interaction with young people in this age bracket. An expanded drop-in center at that location with free billiards, table tennis, foosball, etc., and other activities could be explored. The new Salvation Army Community Center also is a facility with possibilities.

THE SYMPTOMS suggest an apparent need which should be addressed as a solution likely could be found which wouldn't require large expenditures of funds.

The best approach now might be formation of a communitywide task force to examine planned activities for young people 16 and older. Members of that task force should include representatives from Canton and Plymouth townships, the school district and city, Growth Works, the Salvation Army, Plymouth Community Fund, recreation directors, and police/court personnel.

Instead of chasing kids from one spot to another, let's find places for them to land and stay. Let's find the places and reasons to stay.

Hearings needed on JOA

REMEMBER JUNE 30. It will be one of the most important deadline days ever for Detroit-area newspapers, their readers and advertisers.

That Monday in June will be the deadline for all concerned residents to comment on the Detroit News and Detroit Free Press proposed Joint Operating Agreement.

A JOA is allowed under the Newspaper Preservation Act of 1970. The act stipulates that two newspapers may enter into a JOA if the U.S. Attorney General determines that one is a "failing newspaper." Currently, newspapers in 21 markets operate under this condition.

THE MAJORITY of joint operations are part of large newspaper companies. The group with the largest number is Scripps Howard with eight, followed by Gannett with seven. Knight-Ridder has three. Gannett bought the Detroit News earlier this year. Knight-Ridder owns the Free Press.

We believe it is essential that all interested parties have their say in this decision, which will set the tone for how newspapers operate in the community for the next 100 years.

Who is an interested party?
• Small communities, often suburbs, that exist in the minds of large daily newspapers as sources of feature stories but not as individual thriving communities.

• Advertisers, who have benefitted from competition keeping advertising rates low and who may face steep increases in advertising costs under a JOA.

• Readers, who suspect that newspapers working for the same business purpose may not be editorially independent.

You may be in favor of a JOA. You may be opposed. Either way, you have an opportunity to tell the government how you feel about the issue.

ONE THING is clear, however, a public hearing on the JOA isn't guaranteed. It is up to us — readers and advertisers, union members and competing newspapers in the area — to demand that we have our day to speak on this issue.

The News and the Free Press have their story to tell. And, indeed, have told us all. They, too, have been to Washington, D.C., to tell the appropriate officials why they believe a JOA is necessary. But without a public hearing only one view — theirs — will be told.

Many questions are left to be answered about the impact of a JOA. Maybe it would be the best thing for the metro Detroit area. On the other hand it may be the worst. The only way to get a well-rounded answer is to let everyone who wishes to speak on the issue do so.

WE WANT more facts about the JOA. We need to hear more than just one side, and we need to clarify what up until this time have simply been rumors.

We believe it is essential that all interested parties have their say in this decision, which will set the tone for how newspapers operate in the community for the next 100 years. And everyone who reads or advertises in a Detroit area newspaper is an interested party.

• What effect will a JOA have on advertising rates?

• How many jobs will this cost metro Detroit?

• What is meant by a "failing" newspaper?

• How will the News and the Free Press maintain separate editorial voices?

• Will readers pay more for their newspapers?

• What effect will a JOA have on other publications in this area?

All these issues need to be openly discussed before a JOA is approved. And before the Justice Department decides about the JOA, it should hold hearings to answer these questions.

Those concerned can make their opinions known to the attorney general. Before June 30, write to: Janis Sposato, General Counsel, Justice Management Division, Room 1226, Department of Justice, 10th and Pennsylvania Avenues, NW, Washington, D.C. 20530.

Questions on the JOA can only be fairly considered if open public hearings are held.

AIDS column disgusts reader

To the editor:

I had a very strong negative reaction to a column you printed June 19, "Making a case for curing AIDS."

Let me first say that I am a student at Michigan State University and do not pretend to know all the answers. Also, though it does not pertain to my point, I am not homosexual.

I do not understand how some of this material was allowed to be printed.

It seemed to me that there were two central points to this piece: 1) that the second biggest group of AIDS sufferers are homosexuals and 2) that a large percentage of AIDS sufferers are both homosexuals and drug abusers.

Unfortunately, Mr. Richard does not make a very plausible case for curing AIDS. He only shows a closed-minded, self-righteous view, which undoubtedly is shared by many.

His statement such as "homosexuality is a severe psychological defect for which even prolonged and expensive psychiatry has a very low cure rate" would be argued by anyone who has taken even a beginning course in personality psychology or a competent psychotherapist who has successfully dealt with people professing to be homosexually oriented.

Richard's "Cure for AIDS" is only that the federal government spend more money on research: "... it would benefit respectable suburban homeowners..." The respectable homeowners are Oakland County housewives whose husbands, he implies, frequent the Woodward Avenue and Eight Mile area on their lunch hour.

Is it a known fact that all homosexual/drug abusers reside in Palmer Park? What right does this man have to speak for other people, to assume that everyone else finds people different from themselves "revolting"? Or that peaceful passive suburbia is synonymous with respectability?

I realize sadly that many readers agree with this man, that "divine justice" will deal with these "modern day lepers," but what purpose does printing this condemning, holier-than-thou attitude serve?

We have all heard the arguments concerning homosexuality before. Only now people are dying. Period. Why contribute to the senseless controversy?

Carrie L. Osborne, Bloomfield Hills

Drive targets wine coolers

MICHIGAN voters have made it clear they want clean roadsides, clean parks and clean yards.

Ten years ago voters passed a law requiring a deposit on cans and on bottles of beer and soft drinks. The law took effect in 1978 and the amount of litter has been drastically reduced.

But wine coolers are new and aren't covered by the 1976 law. So the Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC) took action.

MUCC has collected approximately 100,000 of the 243,000 signatures needed to place the expanded bottle law on the November ballot. It would like to collect at least 300,000 signatures and it has only a few days left to finish the job.

A spokeswoman at MUCC's Lansing office said nearly 600,000 petitions still are in circulation.

If you have a petition, get it signed and back to the MUCC by July 1.

Litter is litter. The job is to get wine cooler bottles out of our parks, yards, beaches and roadsides.

JOA proposal ignites ongoing controversy

By Bob Wisler
staff writer

April 14, 1986, was a historic day in Detroit. That was the day that Alan Neuharth, then chairman of the board of Gannett newspapers, and Alvah Chapman, chairman of the board of Knight-Ridder newspapers, made the announcement that the owners of the Detroit News and the owners of the Detroit Free Press had worked out an agreement to publish two daily newspapers and one Sunday newspaper under a joint operating authority.

The war was over. Or so it would seem at first blush.

The News and Free Press have been trying to outdo each other for years but the cost in recent years has been awesome. The newspapers say they have lost $63 million since 1980.

The joint operating agreement, or JOA as it is called, would enable both newspapers to not only survive but show a profit.

THE AGREEMENT was worked out with the expectation that it would be approved by the U.S. Justice Department, which, under 1970 federal legislation, can allow newspapers to be exempt from some provisions of anti-trust laws in order to preserve two newspaper voices in a metropolitan market area.

The Gannett and Knight Ridder chains, which own the News and Free Press, respectively, may have been hoping for smooth sailing, but as the days go on it is apparent that more than one critic is opposed to approval of such an agreement.

The most vocal opponents have included Jeanne Towar, publisher of the Royal Oak Tribune, a daily newspaper that has had considerable financial trouble in the past few years; Hillel Levin, executive editor of Metropolitan Detroit magazine; and Kurt Luedtke, a former Free Press executive editor.

Several unions of newspaper employees have asked for hearings on the proposed JOA and the state Senate briefly considered whether it should try to exert some muscle in the situation but decided that it was a federal and not a state government matter.

SOME OF the principal concerns involve whether it really is necessary for the two newspapers to join together at all, whether the cost to employees — loss of up to 1,000 jobs — is too high a price to pay, whether the quality of the papers would decline, and whether the government wouldn't be helping to create a market situation that would be unfair to suburban and community newspapers and their readers.

Community papers concerned

Suburban and community newspapers are particularly concerned about the Joint Operating Agreement proposed by the Detroit News and Detroit Free Press.

There is generally a concern that a JOA might use its special status to take unfair advantage of the smaller suburban and community papers.

The new JOA operation, for example, could offer intricate advertising combinations at below-market prices to weaken the smaller local newspapers.

Richard Agninan, president of Suburban Communications Corp., which publishes Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, who just finished a term as president of the national Suburban Newspapers of America trade association, said suburban and community newspapers are in favor of competition and against monopolies and would like to see two independently owned metropolitan newspapers.

"WE HAVE two strong independent metropolitan newspapers now and we'd like to see them continue," Agninan said. "What we have to be concerned about, if a JOA is approved, is how a JOA will operate. An organization which is offered exemption from anti-trust laws could try to take unfair advantage in the market area.

"We know from experience in Cincinnati where a JOA is in effect that initially the arrangement was not particularly harmful to the smaller suburban papers. The intermediate and long-term effects are not known. Nobody really knows how the JOA would operate in the Detroit area because we don't know how the owners would operate in the future."

AGINIAN SAID the Suburban Communications Corp. is in favor of public hearings on the JOA application in order to have the newspaper executives spell out exactly how they would operate.

"Hearings will also allow the opportunity for the public and Justice Department to fully understand what is involved in a JOA.

"Suburban newspapers want to be assured that JOA-operated newspapers will not take advantage of government-granted monopoly to compete unfairly in an attempt to diminish the role of smaller community papers.

"We have a niche in the Detroit area, by providing an excellent news and advertising services product, which is different than

'What we don't want to see is exemption from the anti-trust laws to produce unfair competition.'

— Richard Agninan
president, Suburban Communications Corp.

the area-wide services offered by a metropolitan newspaper.

"There is a competition for advertising dollars and news, but it is a good and fair competition. What we don't want to see is exemption from the anti-trust laws to produce unfair competition."

AGINIAN SAID the best thing for all parties concerned, including readers in the Detroit area, will be to hold extensive hearings on the proposed JOA to determine if such an arrangement is in the public's best interest and in accord with the intent of those who wrote the legislation allowing JOAs.

would ensure the best newspapers possible.

On the other hand, some critics say that precedent shows that in a JOA market area the quality of at least one paper diminishes. And, they say, the overall editorial quality of both papers is more likely to diminish than improve because the 55-45 and 50-50 profit splits ensure that each newspaper will have the same "Congress obviously was concerned enough about failing newspapers and the public service that newspapers provide to do something to help those in danger of collapse," he said.

"But Congress did not intend to offer a way for competing newspapers to join together merely because they wished to find an easier way to make money.

"Full and impartial hearings will help determine whether or not the JOA proposed for Detroit is in complete accord with the intent of the JOA legislation," Agninan said. "We don't want to be raising questions about it five years down the road when it is too late."

share in profits no matter how good or bad their respective newspapers become.

An arrangement that would guarantee competition would be one where profits are geared to circulation, for example.

There is a fear especially among editorial employees that as the newspapers settle into the JOA, there will be less corporate desire to be competitive and less desire to fill employees openings.

THE NEWSPAPERS could save money, for example, by not giving out-of-town assignments. The hockey writer could sit in front of a TV in Detroit and write about out-of-town games, as was once done at one of the papers. The paper could settle for a wire service report rather than sending a reporter to an event. There are many ways to cut back on costs and coverage.

Critics Luedtke and Levin argue that there is no need for a JOA at all, that the Free Press, which has been designated as a "failing newspaper" in the JOA proposal, is losing money primarily because the management decided to lose money in an attempt to gain circulation in the war with the Detroit News.

Raising the artificially low price of the paper or advertising rates could stem the flow of losses, they contend. The two co-authored an article, which appeared in the Free Press this week, that claims that raising the price of the Free Press from 15 to 20 cents would have pulled in $8 million last year for the Free Press.

STEPHEN LACY, an assistant professor in the Michigan State University journalism department, who is co-authoring the book "Press Concentration and Monopoly," devoted an article in the recent Crain's Detroit Business magazine to the argument that the Detroit area will not support two major metropolitan newspapers and the area will benefit more from a JOA than it would from a one-newspaper monopoly.

"Detroit will have either a JOA or one newspaper. The only question is which," Lacy wrote. "Unfortunately, JOA newspapers charge monopoly prices, but so do monopoly newspapers. The difference is that monopolies offer no choice between two editorial viewpoints."

Whatever the impetus for stopping the proposed JOA, there is enough precedent to suggest that approval of a JOA would be forthcoming no matter what the opposition.

In 1982, the Seattle Post Intelligencer filed a request with the Justice Department saying it was a failing newspaper with $12 million in losses in a decade. It asked for a JOA with the profitable Seattle Times.

Despite the opposition of the Justice Department's own anti-trust division and a coalition of newspaper employees and suburban papers, the JOA was approved.

An administrative law judge said it mattered little whether or not the newspaper could make money under better management, what mattered was the Post-Intelligencer's losses.

Under the proposed JOA, the editorial staffs of the two newspapers would remain separate, each putting out a competing newspaper Monday through Saturday. On Sunday there would be only a combined newspaper.

Each staff would report to a five-member board, three News representatives and two Free Press representatives. The News would take 55 percent of the profits for the first five years and the two papers would split 50-50 after that.

The business, advertising, circulation and production departments would be combined and this is where the jobs would be lost.

ADVOCATES OF a JOA say that there will be no loss of quality in the newspapers since the JOA would allow a competitive situation that

Facts about joint operating agreements

- Currently, there are 21 joint operating agreements. They exist around the country in every region except New England and the Rocky Mountains.
- Four have failed — St. Louis, Columbus, Franklin-Oil City and Chattanooga. (Chattanooga's agreement began in 1942, failed in 1966 and was renewed in 1980.)
- There were 22 joint operating agreements before the Newspapers Preservation Act of 1970.
- Only three cities have entered into joint newspaper agreements since the inception of the Newspaper Preservation Act of 1970. Detroit might be the fourth, if confirmation by the Justice Department.

• What led to the Preservation Act? A unanimous decision by the Supreme Court in 1969, which said a proposed Tucson, Ariz., joint operating agreement violated anti-trust legislation.

• In the next 15 years, 11 agreements are up for renewal.

- Smallest — Shreveport, La. (25,069 daily circulation).
- Largest — San Francisco (552,979 daily circulation, pending Detroit decision).
- The majority of joint operations are part of newspaper groups. The group with the largest number is Scripps Howard with eight, followed by Gannett with seven. Knight-Ridder has three.
- If Detroit's is approved, it would be the largest JOA in the country.

House upholds DSS veto

The state House of Representatives failed by six votes to override Gov. James J. Blanchard's veto of a budget that prohibited Medicaid abortions.

The vote was 68 in favor, with 74 needed for an override, and 39 against, with two members absent.

Wednesday's override attempt came only hours after Blanchard fired off the 14th gubernatorial veto of legislative attempts to prohibit abortions for low-income women on Medicaid.

"Because it is a legal medical procedure, it should remain one of the covered services of the Medicare program," Blanchard's veto message said.

Westland, Maxine Berman, D-Southfield; David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield; William Keith, D-Garden City; Judith Miller, R-Birmingham; and Gordon Sparks, R-Troy.

Thus, among area representatives, women voted 4-0 to allow Medicaid abortions, and men voted 6-3 against.

THE HOUSE then adopted an "interim" budget continuing Medicaid programs — including abortions — for three months into the new fiscal year, from Oct. 1 to Dec. 31. That will allow the legislature a chance to wrestle with the bill in fall. The new bill will go to the Senate on July 1.

Don Monta, House GOP staff analyst, said the Senate can either adopt that budget or re-insert the anti-abortion language and send it back to the House for concurrence. "So it's a continuation of the same old battle," he said.

The anti-abortion in the original budget bill was known as the "Dillingham Amendment" for Rep. Fred Dillingham, R-Fowlerville, its sponsor.

Auto glass etching offered

Free auto glass etching, aimed at deterring auto theft, will be offered by AAA at nine metropolitan Detroit shopping centers today through Saturday. Hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

This will be the second year for the program, whose sponsors say it effectively deters thieves. Last year 11,000 vehicles were etched.

Western Wayne County malls include: Westland (Westland) and Fairlane Town Center (Dearborn), as well as Twelve Oaks in nearby Novi and Briarwood in Ann Arbor. Lanes are clearly marked in parking lots. The procedure takes about 10 minutes. The VIN is inscribed in the windshield, rear window and front side windows.

The glass isn't harmed or made unsightly.

HERE IS HOW Observer & Eccentric area representatives voted:

• Yes — to override and to prohibit Medicaid abortions: John Bennett, D-Redford; W.V. Brotherton, R-Farmington; Mat Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion; Gregory Gruse, R-Madison Heights; James Kosteva, D-Canton; and Gerald Law, R-Plymouth.

• No — against overriding and to allow Medicaid abortions: Lyn Bankes, R-Livonia; Justine Barns, D-

Summertime pickings are plentiful

By Julie Brown

SHOPPING FOR groceries on Saturday can take a different twist in Plymouth and Canton during the summer and early fall months.

The local farmer's markets allow Plymouth-Canton residents to buy fresh produce, baked goods and other items — without venturing into the air-conditioned aisles of area supermarkets. The farmer's markets also provide a pleasant meeting place for family, friends and neighbors.

In downtown Plymouth, the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce sponsors a farmer's market at The Gathering, across from Kellogg Park. Hours are 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday.

The farmer's market in Plymouth began May 24 and is scheduled to continue each Saturday through the end of October.

"We try to have special events occasionally throughout the summer," said Lin Anderson, executive director of the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce.

Such special events aren't really needed on a regular basis, she said. The other special events held in Plymouth through the summer and early fall complement the farmer's market activities.

"They do complement the market, or the market complements them."

"I count on buying my produce there during the summer." The farmer's market provides a good opportunity to meet with people, she said.

Meeting friends and neighbors is part of what attracts people to the farmer's market in Plymouth.

"That's part of it. But it is the freshness of the produce, too. I think people like the freshness of it."

The Plymouth farmer's market has been popular with area residents, Anderson said.

"It's real busy, generally, right when it opens. People wander in and out through the whole thing. There's ... a continual flow of traffic."

Arts Council seeks items

The Plymouth Community Arts Council is developing a cultural arts program.

Boxes full of items representing different cultures will be taken to Plymouth-Canton schools. The items will be used to introduce students to the cultures of different countries.

The purpose of the program is to create interest in and appreciation of each student's own heritage, along with knowledge and understanding of the heritage of others.

Items suggested by the Plymouth Community Arts Council for the program are those that represent the culture of a country, such as clothing, books, pottery, art and toys. The organization is seeking assistance in locating such items.

A brief explanation of each item will be needed. Materials for the program may be delivered to the Plymouth Community Arts Council office at 332 S. Main St. in Plymouth between 9 a.m. and noon Wednesdays.

For additional information, call Pat McCombs at 453-7537 before 5 p.m.

Lions choose new leaders

Officers of the Plymouth Lions Club were recently installed at the annual Officer Installation/Ladies' Night Party, June 19, at the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth.

Those who will serve through June 1987 are: Phil Hirnebaugh, president; Jim White, first vice president; Leon Piekarski, second vice president; Jack Stoops, third vice president; Mark Stamper, secretary; Ken Siegner, treasurer; Ed Kerstens, Lion Tamer; Edgar "Skip" Dorrington, Tail Twister.

Directors are: Michael Carpenter, Michael Gubert, Fred Link, Lou Morton, Michael Romanik, John

Roose, Roger Vaughn and Roland Widmayer.

Plymouth Lions Club officers were installed by charter members William Fehlig, Bruce Richard and Roland Widmayer.

New member Allen Odell was inducted into the club by Harger Green, past president and past deputy district governor. Odell was sponsored by Niles Beaugrand.

President's appreciation awards and 100 percent attendance awards were given to several Plymouth Lions Club members by William Baxter, outgoing president.

Canton Township's Tony Guzzo tends to his tomato plants. Produce grown in Canton — including plenty of tomatoes — will be available before too long when the Canton farmer's market begins. The market's opening date is scheduled for Saturday, July 19.

Sale's proceeds benefit foundation

Volunteers at the Michigan Cancer Foundation are offering 1985 Christmas cards for sale during July. The holiday cards are available at savings of up to 50 percent.

Cards may be bought at the Plymouth branch of the Michigan Cancer Foundation, 173 N. Main St. The office, staffed by volunteers, is open from 1 to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday. The phone number is 453-3010.

"It may be hard to think of Christmas in July, but this sale is a real opportunity to save money and support cancer research while getting a head start on holiday planning," said Nancy Van Deusen, Plymouth branch chairwoman.

Proceeds from the sale will benefit the patient services and cancer control programs of the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

The farmer's market in Canton Township also provides plentiful fresh produce and other items for Plymouth-Canton residents.

Canton Township's farmer's market is scheduled to begin Saturday, July 19, at the K mart parking lot, 44444 Ford Road, Canton. Hours will be 8:30 a.m. to 3:15 p.m. Saturday.

THE FARMER'S MARKET in Canton will continue Saturdays through Oct. 25. The farmer's market is also planned for 3 to 8 p.m. Wednesdays, July 23 through Sept. 10, in Canton.

"It's just a non-profit group," said Sherry Gill, secretary for the Canton program. "There really isn't a sponsor."

The Canton farmer's market features a variety of Canton-grown fresh produce, she said, with no shortage of tomatoes.

"Tomatoes like crazy. Everybody has tomatoes."

The Canton market began in 1980. The number of vendors participating in the farmer's market varies from 8 to 15.

Gill and the others are hoping the farmer's market in Canton Township will attract plenty of local residents this year.

"I hope so," she said. "We do every year, so I hope so."

(Those interested in having a stall for the Canton farmer's market may call Gill, 495-0967, or Mary Hauk, president, 495-0639.)

What's that?

The play sculpture in Plymouth Township Park draws the attention of 4-year-old Armand Barbone. Balloons were tied to the sculpture pieces for the recent sculpture dedication ceremony held in the park. The sculpture, done by Peter Rockwell and his assistant, Gilham Erickson, provides an ideal playing spot for Plymouth-Canton youngsters and for the young at heart.

St. Paul Retreat Center marks 25th year

THE PASSIONIST Community will celebrate the 25th anniversary of the St. Paul of the Cross Retreat Center on Sunday.

The occasion also will celebrate the renovation of the St. Paul of the Cross Monastery.

The Most Rev. Edmund C. Szoka, Roman Catholic archbishop of Detroit will celebrate an outdoor Mass at 1 p.m. on the monastery grounds, at Schoolcraft and Telegraph in Detroit. An open house and reception will follow 2:30-4:30 p.m. at the monastery and retreat center.

The retreat center, which has accommodations for 95 persons, was opened in 1961. It serves as a retreat center for priests, nuns, married couples, educators, students and others.

The retreat center and monastery both underwent extensive renovations during a recent renovation project. The $800,000 project included a more modern look for the monastery's interior, including lower ceilings, and new windows for the retreat center.

The Passionists, a Catholic religious congregation formed in 1740, came to Detroit in 1927. The ground was broken for the monastery in 1929.

The Rev. Patrick Brennan, director of the St. Paul of the Cross Retreat Center, says Mass in the center's chapel. The center is the site of retreats for priests, nuns, educators, senior citizens and others.

As part of a major renovation project, the retreat center got new windows (above) that increase the building's energy efficiency and reduce noise coming in from outside. The Rev. Francis Cusack (right) has performed some 2,000 weddings in his 10 years as the chaplain of the monastery chapel.

DEACON ORDERS

The Rev. Gregory Evan Rowe of Livonia was elected to Deacon's Orders recently and was received as a probationary member of the Detroit Annual Conference of the United Methodist Church at the group's annual meeting in Adrian.

Rowe, a 1972 graduate of Livonia Franklin, was ordained a Deacon by Bishop Judith Craig, resident bishop of the Michigan area of the United Methodist Church.

Rowe, after graduating with a bachelor's degree from Eastern Michigan University in 1983, received a master's in Divinity in May from United Theological Seminary in Dayton, Ohio.

Currently, Rowe is the minister at L'Anse, Sidnaw and Zeba churches. Previously he served as a minister at Spartanburg United Methodist Church in Lynn, Ind.

ALIVE IN CHRIST

The Come Alive Singers of Cincinnati Bible Seminary will perform at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, July 3, at Memorial Church of Christ, 35475 Five Mile, Livonia.

The 12-member group travels throughout the summer and uses a variety of styles of music, emphasizing a contemporary Christian sound. Everyone is invited to attend.

POSSIBLE FAMILY CENTER
Livonia Baptist Church is hoping to build a $250,000 family life center, which would provide an area for recreational activities, banquets and senior citizens activities.

The building, if erected, would be located between the church auditorium and the educational center. A committee, headed by Ron Ide, has been set up to gauge interest amongst church members on a family center.

A fund-raising banquet and door-to-door campaign among church members has netted $125,000 so far, Ide said.

Construction of the facility, according to Ide, could start a little more than a year from now.

PASTOR APPOINTED

The Rev. William Murphy, pastor of St. Agatha Roman Catholic Church in Redford, has been appointed as pastor of Our Lady of Refuge Parish in Orchard Lake effective Tuesday, July 1.

Many changes occurred at St. Agatha in Murphy's seven-year tenure. A bronze bell was installed that rings before daily Mass and Sundays. Also the gymnasium was renovated and the church, the chapel and Juliette Center were redecorated.

Murphy was also very active in Redford Township affairs. He was a member of the North Redford Detroit Community Organization and regularly attended in the monthly meetings of the Ecumenical Group of pastors in the township.

South Africa issue difficult to interpret

SOUTH AFRICA June 16, 1988. A day of relative calm and non-violence in a country of strife and conflict. It could have been a day of bloodshed and death.

June 16, 1988, was a day of commemoration and remembrance in South Africa. It was the 19th anniversary of the Soweto uprising where at least 576 people were killed. Banning all meetings under its state of emergency declared on June 12, the South African government later allowed basic life church services on Monday but not outdoor gatherings.

With the South African government insisting that June 16, 1988, was a normal work day in South Africa, hundreds of thousands of blacks simply took the day off. Under severe restrictions, the reports by the news media from South Africa seem to indicate an effective nationwide strike as a statement of protest against the abuse of civil rights in South Africa.

It will be easy for the South African government to claim the effectiveness of the declared state of emergency and the resulting measures. They will be quick to point to the fact that the country has not descended into chaos and order has remained largely intact.

June 16, 1988, from becoming a day of bloodshed and violence. Their protest against oppression was made in deeds of courage and hope. Their remembrance of Soweto was a commitment to the ultimate dignity of humanity.

How will we interpret the events of recent weeks in South Africa? Will we praise the government for preventing a bloodbath, or will we praise the blacks for avoiding a violent confrontation?

Will we ask for continued restraint from the blacks of South Africa, or will we ask for restraint from the government of South Africa in its violation of civil rights?

Let us not pretend to any neutrality. The blacks of South Africa have loved a peaceful, non-violent way of life. They have shown a willingness to negotiate and a desire for a peaceful resolution of their problems.

Let us not pretend to any neutrality. The blacks of South Africa have loved a peaceful, non-violent way of life. They have shown a willingness to negotiate and a desire for a peaceful resolution of their problems.

Musician recruits local instrumentalists

A former local musician is in Walled Lake recruiting other instrumentalists interested in a career in music.

Martin Hinckley, a 1978 graduate of Plymouth Canton High School, is now a Marine Corps recruiter in Walled Lake.

In that position, Sgt. Hinckley just recently recruited four persons who enlisted as musicians including one, Staff Sgt. Lisa Mitchell, who now is a member of the "President's Own," the Marine Band.

FROM HIS alma mater, Canton High, Hinckley has recruited 12 people of whom three have enlisted for the musician's program. One of the sergeant's teachers at Canton High was James Griffith, music and band instructor who has been teaching for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools for 29 years. Griffith, who has helped thousands of students pursue perfection in music, urges his students to look at all options, including the military.

"I encourage students to look at the military as an option to build their musical skills and career," says Griffith. "The military's music programs have escalated to become very demanding and challenging experiences."

The CEP symphony, concert, varsity and marching bands, under Griffith's direction, have consistently dominated district and state competitions with the marching band winning the state championship in 1984 and 1985. Several of his students are now highly touted professionals.

"Many of my former students have entered the military music program," adds Griffith. "One of them directs the Army's top band. Others have become teachers, entertainers, and college professors in music."

THE INCENTIVE to enlist in the Marine Corps' musician program is high, says Hinckley, as Marines in the music program are automatically promoted to private first class when graduating from recruit training, and to lance corporal after formal training.

Just back from recruit training is Pfc. Matthew Ruppert who will be attending the school of music at Little Creek, Va. He played the tuba in the ensemble which won the state championship om 1984.

Ruppert said he plans to improve his talents in the corps while building his funds for education through the new GI Bill. He will be entitled to $300 a month for 36 months for college expenses after 36 months active duty. "My goal is to become a member of the Marine Band."

Polishing the image

Regional strengths must be promoted to attract business

By Carolyn Smith
staff writer

The image of the business climate in southeast Michigan is Detroit, said several members of the economic development strategy planning committee of the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce.

That's why it's in the best interests of Detroit, the suburbs and outlying areas to "borrow" strengths from one another, they said.

One committee member, Dr. Patricia Weber, associate dean of the business college of Eastern Michigan University, said, "To attract businesses it is important to increase the volume of publicity, building on a common theme. We need a coherent, unified image."

WEBER, WHO lives and works in Washtenaw County, cited the "high-technology belt" between Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti as a good example of how all of southeast Michigan may benefit by a unified front.

"There are relatively few areas in the country that can boast of such high-tech development. We are in a unique position to (highlight) the entire area," Weber said.

Committee members acknowledge the notion of "borrowing" may help neutralize Detroit's negative image. But most say it should not excuse Detroit from rigorously addressing problems such as high crime and a deteriorating educational system.

Michael Brady, vice president of finance and administration of the Michigan Credit Union League, Southfield, has served on the chamber committee for six years.

"The marketability of Detroit has to be the top priority" of the Greater Detroit Chamber, he said. "But the crime and educational problems must be solved."

"There must be more unity, more communication between the city of Detroit and the suburbs," Brady said.

HOW DOES the Greater Detroit chamber plan to do this?

Committee Chairman Phillip I. Levin, a partner at Coopers & Lybrand in Detroit, said the chamber will continue to sponsor speeches and slide presentations around Detroit and in outstate areas.

"We've tried to promote the (southeast) region throughout the state, up in Saginaw and in the western part. We've listened, too. Dialogue is very important," Levin said.

He acknowledged that the chamber survey, which included 100 responses (70 percent of those from suburban business people), had a familiar refrain over several years.

"They keep saying labor costs, unemployment compensation and the cost of doing business are too high. The (Michigan) Legislature, I'm told, is working hard to solve those problems."

Levin said the chamber would continue its "very powerful lobbying" efforts to help city, state and federal government officials identify issues and problems and work toward solutions that would benefit all of southeast Michigan.

ONE CHAMBER target, Levin said, is the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments. A seven-county agency, SEMCOG deals with planning the region's transportation, environment and utilities such as wastewater treatment plants.

Asked about the incidence of crime in Detroit and the suburbs compared with its frequency a few years ago, Levin said: "The survey shows there's a real problem in Detroit. The perception is that crime is getting worse."

Have the Greater Detroit and suburban chambers worked closely to narrow the unifying gap? Pamela G. Miller, research manager of the Detroit chamber and a member of the committee, said they haven't.

"The scope of Detroit's chamber activities is too broad, and the local chambers' resources too limited for us to work together," she said.

Miller qualified that by saying most suburban chamber officers work part time at chamber jobs and don't have the same contacts — such as economic development corporations — as a regional chamber.

But she added that the Detroit chamber's activities will benefit all suburban and southeast Michigan chamber members.

Whatever the solutions to enhancing the image of Detroit and the entire region, committee members agree that people here and outstate must become involved.

"THINGS MUST be addressed," said Brady. "We chamber members simply can't go home to the suburbs, as we do every night, and expect the problems to solve themselves."

By their own best estimates, 70 percent of the committee members who studied the image issue live in Detroit suburbs.

Brady, a Rochester resident, said he "would love to live in the New Center area of Detroit," but his wife fears reports of crime. Their children, he said, would have to wonder where they could get into college if they were products of Detroit Public Schools.

"The quality of life is very important to me and my family," said Brady.

COMMITTEE MEMBER Laura A. Stern, assistant staff manager of the economic development department of Michigan Bell Telephone Co. in Detroit, cautioned that those looking at Detroit as a place to do business should not sell it short prematurely.

"Crime is not a factor in Detroit in my professional activities," she said. "It's congenial, and downtown streets are safe."

Stern added that crime is more likely to be a problem for retail establishments than for other kinds of businesses.

Stern, who lives in Farmington Hills, said, "I hate to commute, but I love both situations . . . I and my professional colleagues love the pulse of the city during the day."

WEBER EMPHASIZED that southeast Michigan residents should guard against falling into a trap of "self-consciousness" from what she termed "negative national publicity about Detroit."

Vividly recalling the evening of the Detroit Tigers' 1984 World Series victory, Weber said, "The news coverage, especially by the local media, should have been a lot more positive for the occasion, but it wasn't . . . I think the Detroit-area media could make much better editorial decisions on how and why to find more positive news," said Weber.

Claiming "some perceptions about Detroit are only partially based on fact," Weber said southeast Michigan needs to strike a balance between what's good and bad.

Detroit's cultural institutions and the suburbs' business growth, plus southeast Michigan's legendary "community support" and "spirit of giving" just may improve everyone's image of the business climate, Weber said.

Business leaders point fingers

Unless both Detroit and southeast Michigan are perceived as good places to conduct business, the region will be unable to overcome negative impressions hindering its economic life.

That's the crux of the 1986 Business Climate Report on Improving Southeast Michigan's Business Climate produced by the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce.

Although the report offers no surprises in outlining the region's less desirable features, particularly in Detroit, it also highlighted the region's strengths, particularly the quality of life in the suburbs.

Participants were identified as "business leaders" in southeast Michigan and association executives.

Issues were quality of life, skilled work force, economic development, favorable geographic location, crime, the image of Detroit, employment costs, tax structure, overregulation of retail business, small business/bank relations, small business/supplier relations and regional cooperation.

Here are some findings:

● QUALITY OF LIFE: Perceived to have improved by the overwhelming majority of survey participants and to be a major strength in the local business climate.

But "it is important to note that this favorable perception is a function of defining the area as southeast Michigan rather than Detroit."

Specific factors that contribute to Crime, taxes, Detroit's image offset area's quality of life this positive image are good-quality, affordable housing; diverse cultural and recreational activities; the "excellent" education in suburban schools and area colleges; plentiful and highly regarded medical facilities; and people living in the area who are "friendly and caring."

The area's quality of life has resulted in a rapidly growing business activity in many suburban areas.

The report recommends that promotional campaigns focusing on quality of life "should emphasize southeast Michigan rather than Detroit. The result of such promotion would be beneficial to everyone — the image of Detroit will benefit as it is a part of an area that is more positively perceived nationally and internationally."

● SKILLED WORK FORCE: Perceived as highly skilled, well educated and very productive.

"While business people may complain that wage levels are too high because of union influence in the area, the basic quality of the work force is considered to be quite high."

In recommending a promotion program to recognize the quality of working people, the report expects productivity to improve because "people tend to behave as they perceive that others expect them to behave."

● AVAILABLE ECONOMIC SUPPORT: Considered to be a strength.

Included are availability of significant venture capital locally; "excellent" professional-technical support; plentiful office-industrial facilities; and an "excellent" infrastructure.

As a result, the report sees commercial and housing developments progressing in downtown Detroit and an active office-industrial development growing in many suburbs.

● CRIME: Identified as a "very serious" problem that is hindering businesses, a problem that is perceived as getting worse.

"The fear of crime is restricting the activities of many people so that they will not shop, work or even travel in certain areas. The cost of this to business and to society is enormous."

Although most of the crime issue concerned Detroit, the report pointed out that "auto theft has reached epidemic proportions and is not limited to Detroit."

The impact on business is serious, ranging from high costs for security measures to employers' inability to hire or retain personnel, depressed real estate values and 5 percent of each retail sales dollar lost to shoplifting.

The report makes a host of recommendations regarding crime: More jail and prison space, more Detroit police outside the downtown area, more career programs for students in Detroit Public Schools.

● IMAGE OF DETROIT: Seen nationally as a city beset with crime, an outstate Michigan vs. Detroit-Wayne County problem that involves intrastate tax and budget issues, and a local problem because many suburban residents continue to have a negative perception of the city.

Suggestions include national promotion of such events as the Montreux Jazz Festival and the Grand Prix and promoting Detroit to suburbanites.

● EMPLOYMENT COSTS: Unemployment compensation continues to be a serious concern. So does the availability and rising cost of workers compensation.

Also troublesome is employment-related litigation — especially in Wayne County, which the report says has "developed a national/international reputation for the frequency of litigation and the amount of damages awarded."

The report recommends that employment costs should be given the highest priority along with the crime issue in any program to improve the business climate.

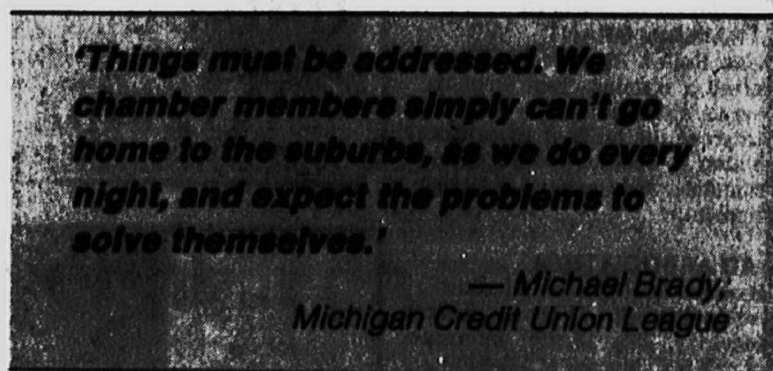

Specifically, it mentions the use of professional arbitrators to move employment litigation out of the courts, tightened legal procedures to eliminate frivolous suits and establishment of caps or guidelines for awards.

● TAXES: Survey reflects the belief that taxes are not competitive with business taxes in other areas and that businesses are not getting their money's worth.

Not only does this discourage business activity, but "there is an indication that this issue is discouraging business support for government. This problem seems to be focused in local government, particularly Detroit/Wayne County. Business attitudes toward state government seemed to be much more positive, although state taxes were also considered to be too high."

The report recommends that programs to increase governmental efficiency would be most likely "to make business people feel better about their taxes. Even if taxes cannot be reduced, some improvement in services/government efficiency, particularly in Detroit/Wayne County would be helpful."

The report also recommended privatization of some services including bus services, trash pickup and jail/prisons.

Here's a look at Senate's tax reform bill

On Tuesday, the U.S. Senate approved its tax reform bill.

But the bill has a ways to go before it is signed into law. In fact, the road ahead for the legislation might be tortuous and strewn with hazards. However, the parameters of the new tax law are clearly discernible.

The outlines of the Senate bill have appeared in all major publications including the Wall Street Journal, Business Week and Forbes. In addition, large accounting firms have issued special bulletins on this bill.

Here is a brief — albeit incomplete — summary of the bill prepared from these publications.

Simply stated, the bill would provide a top marginal tax rate of 27 percent for individuals as shown in the accompanying table.

These new rates would apply starting in 1988. For 1987, a combination of old and new rates apply for 1987.

taxable income

individual return	joint return	percentage rate
0-$17,600	0-$29,300	15
more than $17,600	more than $29,300	27

*new rates apply starting in 1988 combination of old and new rates apply for 1987 nation of old and new rules would apply.

1. The bill allows a $2,000 personal exemption ($1,900 for 1987) for most families, with the exemption phased out for high-income tax payers.

2. Above $75,000 taxable income, taxpayers will start paying 27 percent on a part of the first $29,000 in income, previously taxed at 15 percent. Above $145,000, taxpayers will begin losing their personal exemption. At even higher incomes, the marginal tax rate reaches 32 percent.

3. The bill makes several changes in capital cost recovery revisions. It repeals the investment credit for property placed in service after 1986. It also lengthens the recovery period of real estate (residential rental) from 15-19 years to 27.5 years and other properties from 19 to 31.5 years.

4. The bill repeals the IRA deduc-tion for taxpayers covered by other pension plans.

5. The bill also repeals the capital gains exclusions for individuals so that capital gains will be taxed at the same rate as other income.

6. The bill drastically reduces the advantages of investing in tax shelters. It provides that, with certain exemptions, credits and losses from either rental activities or other activities in which the taxpayer does not actively participate may be used only to offset income from those activities.

7. The bill places a $7,000 annual limit on deferrals of income to 401(k) plans.

8. The 10-year averaging for lump-sum distributions from a qualified pension plan would be replaced finances and you

with five-year averaging. However, the bill would retain the current law of 10-year averaging for lump-sum distributions to employees age 50 by Jan. 1, 1986.

Next week: Tax reform and the investment climate.

Educational seminar: Main Topic "Impact of proposed tax legislation on your 1986 investment, tax and retirement planning." The seminar, sponsored by Observer & Eccentric Newspapers and Coordinated Financial Planning Inc., will be held 7-9:30 p.m. Tuesday, July 8, at the Baldwin Public Library, 300 Merrill, Birmingham.

Sid Mittra is director of certificate program in personal finance at Oakland University and president of Coordinated Financial Planning Inc.

Some no-load funds are adding charges

I was surprised when I sent a deposit to my mutual fund a couple of weeks ago to get a letter back saying that in the future there would be a sales charge of 5 1/2 percent on all future purchases. I don't understand how this could happen. I thought there was a whole industry based on the fact that there was no sales charge on the funds.

Change is part of life, and a trend seems to be starting for no-load mutual funds to add a sales charge. The reason being given by the funds adding the sales charge is that the no-load funds are not being bought because they can't compete with the big advertising budgets of the load funds.

The original thinking was that no-load funds would be investing a higher percentage of the customer's funds and therefore would provide a higher return to the investor. Investors are reputed to be wise and sensible and were expected therefore to buy the no load funds in preference to the load funds.

THAT HAS NOT BEEN HAPPENING. While many of the no-load funds have been selling very well, a great many have not. This is not because of their earnings record.

Many of the no-load funds have outperformed load funds. One of the funds that is adding a sales charge is the Charter Fund.

Its earnings record has been outstanding. The Lipper organization, today's investor

Thomas E. O'Hara

of the National Association of Investors Corp.

which ranks a total of 984 mutual funds, recently named it as having the highest appreciation of any fund for the last 15 years.

Yet the Mutual Fund News Service quotes the president of the Charter Fund as saying that for the last two years redemptions each month have exceeded sales.

Two things are responsible for this trend: One, a great many investors don't pick investments themselves, but are sold investments by salesmen and advisers. The result is that the investments sold to them are often the ones which yield the highest sales commission.

THE OTHER is that the no-load concept worked well when the number of funds available was quite small and discerning people could assess the differences. Now that the funds are in the hundreds, it's very difficult for the individual to make a choice.

As the president of a fund said, "A number of years ago a small ad would bring in a flood of sales." But that is no longer true. With all the competition a major sales effort is now required.

It is likely that the commissions being added by the no-loads that are making the change will be less than those that have been added by the load funds.

Canton Festival 5-miler a showcase for the locals

Allan Cook of Canton and Peggy Diroff of Farmington were the big winners at the eighth annual Canton Country Festival 5-mile run Saturday.

The event attracted 122 runners. Cook, running in the 20-29 age division, came across first with a 26.27 clocking. Diroff, same age group, finished in 32.52.

It was a milestone day for Canton runners. Prior to the event, Canton residents Melba Hatch and Bill Boyd were honored for being named Michigan Runner Magazine's Runners of the Year.

Boyd proceeded to establish an event record in the 40-49 age group finishing in 27.37.

Here are the mens age group winners: Erik Opdyke, Dearborn, 14-under; Michael Frampus, Redford, 15-19; Cook, Canton, 20-29; Thomas Taylor, Ypsilanti, 30-39; Boyd, Canton, 40-49; Paul Ettinger, Plymouth, 50-over.

The age group champs for the women were: Stacy Nield, Northville, 14-under; Lynda Schendel, Plymouth, 15-19; Diroff, Farmington, 20-29; Diane Rizik, Plymouth, 30-39; Dawn Teller, Canton, 40-49.

Men of Steele's come to Canton

By Chris McCosky staff writer

You read the stat sheet and wonder.

Mike Bolen, 545 at-bats, 414 hits, 228 home runs, 392 RBI, .760 average. Joe Young, 461 at-bats, 333 hits, 158 homers, 289 RBI, .722. Charles Wright and Doug Roberson, 411 home runs between them in 1,011 at-bats.

It goes on and on. The lowest batting average on the team is .500. The team has walloped 1,928 home runs in 113 games.

They are the men of Steele's. Steele's Sports Co., the No. 1 mens slow-pitch softball team in the country. And they are coming to the Canton Softball Center this weekend.

The Steele's mens and womens teams will highlight the Coor's-Steele's Open Classic Softball Tournament Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Tournament director Don Dedonatis expects some 65 teams to compete in three classifications. Included are five of the nation's top 10 teams in both mens and womens divisions.

"IT'S PROBABLY one of the biggest softball events of the year outside the world tournament," Dedonatis said. "It's very rare when you get the No. 1 womens team and the No. 1 mens team playing at the same place at the same time."

The No. 1 womens team is Empress Chili out of Cincinnati. Steele's women are also nationally ranked. It all begins Friday night. At 7 p.m., the Steele's women will play an exhibition against a coed team of journalists from the Detroit Press Club. At 8:15 p.m., the Steele's men will take on Bunca Car Wash of Kalamazoo, the No. 2-ranked Class A team.

The round-robin tournament will be played throughout the day Saturday, beginning at 9 a.m. Dedonatis expects games to continue through 11 p.m. The tourney will resume at 9 a.m. Sunday, with the finals slated for 2 p.m.

THE PREMIER local entry in the tournament, without question, will be Jamies of Livonia-Westland. The team is on top of the Detroit Major Metro League and has qualified for the World Tournament this year.

Jamies, 26-8, features players from all parts of Observerland. Its leader is Farmington's Dave Kieilty. Kieilty is hitting .635 with 26 home runs and 85 RBI.

Other Detroit-area entries include Coor's, Snyders and the Trailblazers — all anxiously awaiting a shot at Steele's.

"I would think anytime people come out, they'll have a good chance of seeing Steele's," Dedonatis said. "They will probably end up playing five of six games."

As of Tuesday, Steele's record was 117-6. They had won major tournaments in five states. They average 34.7 runs per game and 17.1 homers.

The team's season runs from March through September and involves some 250 games. The grind, though, is beginning to show on the club.

"RIGHT NOW, we're a little tired," said the team's public relations director, Jerome Ernest. "We have a 17-man roster, but we've got some people hurt. We're a little thin right now."

Bolen and Roberson have been out of the lineup, but are expected to play this weekend.

Ernest has a wealth of Steele's stories to recount. Here's one: They played a tournament in a small southern town. The fences at the field were 280 feet. In two mercy-rule-ended, five-inning games, Steele's banged out 80 home runs and scored 64 runs.

"It's as a good a ball as you'll want to see," Dedonatis said.

MHSAA ruling could shut down kick classic

SORRY, MARY KAY Hussey. Sorry, Katy Andreae. Sorry to all past and future All-Area girls soccer players.

It looks like the Michigan High School Athletic Association is going to take away your game — the Observer & Eccentric All-Star Classic. Or at least alter it drastically.

Sorry, Jim Hughes and Dennis O'Connor. They are taking your baby away.

The decision-making body of the MHSAA, the representative council, has declared that underclassmen may not participate in any all-star game at any time. Those underclassmen who compete will be ineligible for the following sports season.

The state's all-star rule has been on the books a long time. But in the past, it affected only basketball, football and hockey. Last month, the council agreed to inflict the rule on all MHSAA-sponsored sports beginning Aug. 1.

"The original reason for the all-star rule was that kids were never in school. They were out playing in one all-star game after another," said Fred Sible, assistant director of the MHSAA. "Magic Johnson, when he was in high school, played in something like 13 or 14 all-star games. Now, the other sports are starting to have all-star games."

ON THE SURFACE, the state's all-star ruling is a good one. It is designed to control potential exploitation of high school student-athletes (big corporations like McDonald's and 7-Up have had great success using all-star games as tax write-offs) and to keep the athletes in school.

You can't dispute the validity or reality of those concerns.

But the MHSAA has spread the blanket of this rule too far. To simply wipe out all-star games or make them just for graduating high school seniors is a disservice to the high school athlete.

Think about this. Which sports are conducive to all-star games? Football, certainly, and basketball. Baseball, yes, and, I suppose, hockey.

But how many all-star volleyball matches have you been to? How many all-star gymnastics meets or wrestling tournaments? Have you seen us publicize the O&E all-star swim meet?

Of course not. There aren't any such events. As far as we can tell, ours was the only all-star soccer game in the state.

You just aren't going to have an overabundance of all-star games with the so-called "minor sports."

LET'S TALK about who sponsors all-star games and why.

Certainly, the corporations who sponsor the events are interested in boosting their public image and in legal tax shelters — not the most altruistic of motives. Coaches' associations are prolific sponsors of all-star games. Their motives are genuine. Their primary interest is to provide a showcase for the athletes, a chance for them to gain extra recognition on a statewide platform. Profit, generally, is not an issue.

Then there are media groups, such as the Observer & Eccentric. I'll speak only for the O&E. We consider our newspaper a community service and part of that service is to support the athletes within our community.

We do not sponsor the soccer classic, but a mens and womens golf tournament, a junior bowling tournament, and we help sponsor several 5K and 10K runs.

We do not sponsor these events for profit; we've never made a profit on anything we've sponsored. We do not, as one MHSAA official suggested, sponsor these events to boost our circulation. That's plain silly.

WHEN HUGHES and O'Connor began formulating plans for the O&E Soccer Classic, we talked about the ethics and practicalities involved. We took our plan to the MHSAA for approval. The MHSAA had no problems with it. We asked our coaches and our athletes about it, and all feedback was positive.

The game, now four years old, has been a success. The community has supported it by attending the games. The games themselves have been clean, well-played and enjoyable. And most importantly, the players love them.

Katy Andreae, the Birmingham Seaholm star, said the game provided her the chance to play with and against the very best players in the region and state — something she wouldn't have otherwise been able to do in her career at Seaholm.

Mary Kay Hussey, the three-time all-star from Livonia Stevenson, begged us not to let anyone take the classic away. "It's a great game for the players," she had said.

SO WHOM ARE we exploiting with this game? Whom are we taking away from the classroom? (The classic always has been played after the end of the school year.) The answer is, of course, no one.

The logic behind the state's all-star ruling does not apply to our game. Nor does it apply to others. We will petition the MHSAA for a waiver of the all-star rule so we can continue our game.

And in the meantime, we encourage the MHSAA to take another look at the all-star rule. Perhaps a fairer rule would be to limit the number of all-star games an athlete can play in rather than simply taking the all-star games away.

Smart Consumers Will Ask WHY THE Bid Is Lower Brought To You By Ed Kepley

"Call several contractors and get the low bid." We see that advice so often in magazines and newspapers that it is now accepted as Gospel, but nobody ever warns you of the hazards of the low bid. In newspapers and on T.V. every day you can see results of the lowest bid syndrome — balconies collapse, bridges fall down, houses burn up, roofs leak or blow away, furnaces or boilers explode, and it all is attributable to the myth of the lowest bid. Any smart consumer will look for the best price. But any smart consumer also will know enough to ask one question: Why?

Why is this bid lower? Are the materials the same? Do the products involved have the same specifications for performance? Is the design and the construction the same or equivalent?

Whether you are buying a garage or a roof, siding or a swimming pool, learn to ask why when you hear a bid that is lower than the others, and especially if it is a lot lower. When the bid is lower, there has to be a reason.

It might be a good enough reason, but it always is wise to find out what the reason is.

This message is just to help you be an educated consumer. You don't need it when you deal with us, where value for the money is guaranteed.

LCBL title chase begins to heat up

The pack got a little tighter after last weekend's play in the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League (LCBL). First place Redford Little Caesars (9-4-1) maintains a slim two-point lead over Livonia Adray (8-5-1) and Tom Holzer Ford of Northville (8-5-1) after splitting a double-header with West Bloomfield, Sunday at Capitol Park. Caesars, sparked by Tyrone Gaines' 3-for-4 showing, including a two-run homer in the sixth inning, won the first game, 7-3. Mike Kocesi also clubbed a two-run homer in the first for Caesars.

Mike McClure led West Bloomfield with a homer in a 3-for-3 showing. Mark Coburn, who worked the first 5 1/2 innings before giving way to Chris Kloc, was the winning pitcher. Craig Mathews took the loss.

In the second game, Mathews went 2-for-3 and knocked in the winning run in the fifth as West Bloomfield scored a 4-2 win. Caesars took an early 1-0 lead on Mike Harte's successful suicide squeeze bunt. After West Bloomfield had taken a 2-1 lead, Caesars came back to tie it in the fifth when Gaines doubled and later scored on a passed ball.

Tim Delgado, who came on in relief in the third, was the winning pitcher. Dennis Mattison took the loss. On Friday, Caesars took only five innings to mercy last place Ann Arbor Wendy's, 15-1. Brian Roney's pinch-hit two-run triple in the fourth proved to be the game-ender.

Harte was Caesars' offensive leader, going 3-for-3 with four RBI. Don Taylor contributed two hits and three RBI. Todd Mahaney, who worked four innings before giving way to Pat Miller, was the winning pitcher. He scattered three hits and did not walk a batter.

LIVONIA ADRAY and Tom Holzer split a double-header Sunday at Ford Field. Holzer captured the opener, 2-1, behind Dan Kopitzke's 11-strikeout performance. Kopitzke, who outdueled Adray's Rick Rozman, scattered seven hits and held Livonia hitless over the final three innings. Holzer scored both of its runs in the fourth on a lead-off homer by Troy Connors followed by Martin Eddy's two-out double and Chris Stout's RBI single.

Eddy and Eric Engel each had two hits for the winners. In the second game, Jeff DePorter's three hits, capping the week with a .581 average, lifting Livonia to a 16-5 rout of Holzer. John Poszywak, who worked the final 3 1/2 innings in relief of starter Pat McAllinden, was the winning pitcher.

On Friday, Livonia Adray and fourth place Walter's Appliance (8-6-1) battled to a 7-7 draw. The game was halted in the ninth inning by a City of Livonia curfew. Walter's sent the game into extra innings on Ron Cortez's two-run single.

DePorter, meanwhile, had given Adray a short-lived 6-5 lead in the top of the seventh with a check-swinging RBI double down the left-field line. Kirk Boyd had two doubles and a single for Walter's, while Scott Weiler had two singles for Adray.

Pitcher Doug Doyle worked eight innings for Walter's before giving way to Chris Semik in the ninth. Rob Ognian, Pat McAllinden and Poszywak threw for Adray. In another game Friday, West Bloomfield blanked Tom Holzer, 9-0. WALTER'S APPLIANCE swept a double-header Sunday at Ford Field, beating Wendy's, 13-5 and 15-3. John Stoltziadis and Bob Foust each collected two singles and a triple to propel a 13-hit Walter's attack in the opener. Cortez, Boyd and Ed Shepler added two hits each. Greg George, the winning pitcher, tossed a four-hitter and allowed five walks.

In the second game, Scott Kraning of Walter's contributed two singles, a double and three RBIs. Teammate Scott Hille, sidelined most of last year with a leg injury, added two hits and three RBIs. The second game lasted only five innings because of the 14-run mercy rule. Walter's pitcher Ray Samolin went the rout. He allowed all five runs on five hits.

In another game played last week, Tom Holzer drilled Walter's, 8-3. Pitcher Chris Willerer picked up his second win, tossing a four-hitter in going the distance. Ritter, Connors, Engel and Darren Genereau each had two hits for the winners.

Chor wins Jantzen heavy-hitting title

By Brad Emons staff writer

Roscoe Tanner, watch out. Here comes David Chor.

The 6-foot-3, 230-pound Livonian has the fastest serve in the Midwest (Ohio, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan) after being clocked at 133 mph by a radar gun in the Jantzen Fast Serve Tennis Challenge, held Sunday, June 8, at Westland Center.

Chor, 29, has earned a trip for two to Hawaii to compete in the finals of the Jantzen Challenge. "I had no idea that I would win," said Chor, a 1975 graduate of Stevenson High School. "I just wanted to go and see how fast I could serve."

"My friends told me I have a really fast serve, so I decided to try it." A marketing coordinator for Automotive Products in Sterling Heights, Chor began playing tennis three years ago at the Livonia Family Y. He has attained a 4.5 doubles rating

(on a 7.0-point scale). Chor cranked up his serves using a Donnay mid-size graphite racket.

Tanner, known for blistering serves as fast as 150 mph, was once ranked in the top 10 in the world and was a Wimbledon finalist.

He is a national spokesman for Jantzen.

Hydroplane driver jumps ship

By Marty Budner
staff writer

Talk about being left high and dry. That's what owner Bill Wurster, driver Scott Pierce and the Miss Executone U-8 racing crew must have felt like this winter. They all were looking forward to 1986 after a tremendously inspiring 1985 campaign on the Unlimited Hydroplane Racing circuit.

However, because of new marketing strategies at the corporate level of parent company Continental Telecom Inc., Miss Executone will not be among the field of boats pounding across the Detroit River Sunday in the American Power Boat Association's unlimited Gold Cup race.

In fact, Wurster's boat is still sitting back home in Seattle collecting dust and awaiting new sponsorship. The turn of events was extremely disappointing to everyone involved with Executone racing, including Chief Executive Officer Paul Boudreau of the Troy-based Executone Business Systems.

"Although it's regrettable and disappointing, the story is simple," explained Boudreau, a Bloomfield Hills resident. "There was a complete change in management and the whole philosophy in terms of promotion and advertising completely changed.

"Each year it seemed like we had a big improvement in performance of both the boat and the crew. Each year we would learn more about promoting. I thought we were just starting to get rolling in terms of promotion.

"Our four-year racing program for the Executone came to a screeching halt," he said. "But I still haven't given up hope that we'll be able to do something in the future."

MISS EXECUTONE firmly established itself last year as a future threat to such unlimited VIP's as the Miller American (the former Atlas Van Lines), Miss 7-11 and the Miss Budweiser. There was even talk of switching over to the turbine-powered engines that are fast becoming the modus operandi on the unlimited circuit.

Pierce piloted the Rolls-Royce-Merlin-powered Miss Executone to a surprising 1985 season-opening victory in Miami. The Executone crew managed to stay atop the American Power Boat Association's national point standings throughout most of the summer.

Even entering the season's last race in San Diego, Miss Executone people in sports

mathematically was in contention for the sport's coveted national championship.

Miss Executone ultimately finished second that September afternoon in California to the more financially endowed and turbine-powered Miller American racing team.

But the foundation was laid. After four years of Executone sponsorship, including two fine seasons of improvement and refinement with the Wurster racing camp, optimism was at a feverish pitch.

Then the news came crashing down like a Detroit River white cap. Executone Telephones would not renew its sponsorship for the 1986 season.

The turn of events certainly stunned Pierce.

"I was very pleased with the (Executone) team," said Pierce, the 1981 co-rookie unlimited hydroplane driver of the year. "We were learning and growing together. We didn't have a clue there was going to be a problem.

"We were even preparing a turbine boat. Then, all of a sudden, bang. I didn't know about it personally until November. Then we had to go scratching and there just wasn't any funds available.

"But, you know the old saying: 'No bucks, no Buck Rogers,'" he said. "And that was the end."

ALL OF A sudden Pierce was unemployed in a sporting field with very few opportunities. But he found new life some three months later.

The 30-year-old Seattle native received a call from unlimited czar Bernie Little in February asking him to drive the Miss Budweiser Griffon-powered boat this season.

Naturally, Pierce jumped at the opportunity to be part of the world's most famous unlimited racing team.

"For years being in the smaller camps and with the lower-budget boats, you always dream of being in a camp like (Budweiser)," said Pierce. "When Mr. Little called I was very pleased. It was one of the happier days of my life."

Little actually has two Miss Budweiser boats racing on this year's circuit — the new turbine-powered boat driven by former World Champion Jim Kropfeld and Pierce's Griffon boat.

The turbine boat won the season's first race two weeks ago in Miami with an average speed of 102.495 miles per hour (fastest competition lap of 107.357). Its fastest qualifying lap was 122.795 mph.

Miss Madison, driven by Ron Snyder and formerly sponsored by Speedy Printing out of Birmingham, was second followed by Pierce in the Griffon Budweiser.

Pierce admits the pressures of driving Miss Budweiser are uniquely higher than when he was with the "lower-budget boats."

"With the Executone you were the underdog fighting the big boys all the time," said Pierce. "You're the top dog with Budweiser."

"It's like a role reversal for me. It took me out of a challenger position to the favorite position. It does put extra pressure on you. It puts you in a different frame of mind than what I was last year with Executone."

"If I finished and did well everyone was happy," he said. "Now, I can't find justification to lose a race. It's a complete different set of ideals."

Metroparks get new officers

The Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority has elected officers for 1986-87. They are:

Chairman: John C. Hertel, who represents Wayne County on the HMCA and is also chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners and a professor of government, environment and technology at Lawrence Institute of Technology.

Vice chairman: James Clarkson, who represents Oakland County on the MHCA. He is chairman and chief executive officer of First Federal Savings Bank and Trust.

Treasurer: Harry E. Lester, an appointee of Gov. James Blanchard who represents the district at-large. He is the director of the United Steelworkers of America, District 29.

The Grayling, a native Michigan fish related to the trout, which disappeared from state waters during the 1930s, may be making a comeback. Some 150,000 eggs of the Montana Grayling species arrived at the Department of Natural Resources Wolf Lake Fish Hatchery at Matawan where they will be raised to yearlings for release in the spring of 1987.

The last known stronghold of the Michigan Grayling was the Otter River in the Upper Peninsula. Habitat destruction, primarily due to deforestation and compounded by the massive log drives of the late 1800s is considered the most likely factor leading to the extinction of the fish, according to the DNR.

Fitness buffs can get a workout even when attending a family picnic. A "Fit-Trail" fitness course, with 20 exercise stations over a 1.75-mile course is open at Stony Creek Metropark near Rochester.

The course begins at the top of the hill at Eastwood Beach, then proceeds along the bike-hike trail to a point between the Southdale and Oakgrove picnic areas and returns on a trail through woods and fields. The trail has three lengths: easy — .75 of a mile; average — one mile; full — 1.75 miles.

Several nature programs will be held at Huron-Clinton Metroparks the weekend of June 28.

Stony Creek: "Nature for Tots," a program designed for 3-5-year-olds and their parents, will be at 10 a.m. Saturday at the nature center.

"Pedalin' Nature," a bike-nature tour around the seven-mile route to learn about nature, will be at 9 a.m. Sunday. Participants must bring a bike or rent one from the park. Meet at Eastwood Beach site.

Indian Springs: "Summer Wildflowers" will be viewed during an outing at the park near Clarkston at 10 a.m. Sunday. Meet at the nature center.

Kensington: "Crawlers, Jumpers and Fliers," a program about the identification and habits of common insects, will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday, at the nature center.

Most programs are free but require advance registration. Vehicle entry permits are required.

City with worldly flair

San Diego has everything from tea time to siestas

By Doris Scharfenerg
special writer

The bodies crowding into the U.S. Grant Hotel elevator said plenty, even though I understood none of the languages spoken. Lean, eager athletes dressed for a track meet; male and female, some wearing earrings, tattoos and even decorative facial scars.

This granola-fed version of the U.N. turned out to part of the competition in an important race held that day on the downtown streets. It's the kind of global fete San Diego takes in stride.

Born in Spanish colonialism, raised western-American, with a large population that has joined the Navy and has seen the world, San Diego breathes an intercontinental air. Mission architecture stands near Victorian Italianate, new world modern. Tea time is common; so is the siesta.

The second largest city in California is wonderfully attractive. Hills rise like bleachers around a long, curving harbor that is protected from the ocean by manmade and natural islands linked into one long peninsula.

Tiers of office buildings, hotels and homes form a gallery of box seats to watch Pacific sunsets, fleets of sailboats, the grey silhouettes of battle ships, or jets swooping into Lindbergh Field.

Exploring should start in the heart of town, a heart that has had major surgery, with a few operations still to go. Suffering the same urban malaise as every large city in the nation, San Diego has had dowdy days in recent years. Drastic measures were needed to update her Navy-base image, restore sagging vitality.

THE 76-YEAR-OLD Grant Hotel is a case in point. What started out to be a $20 million facelift rose to $80 million as generations of paint were scraped from fine old woodwork, photos by Doris Scharfenerg

In cosmopolitan San Diego, you can see a theater with a church-like spire, listen to a street musician, meet an Asian hotel doorman, see guests in kilts at the House of Moor Restaurant and feed a whale at Sea World.

new floors and plumbing installed. The staff had four months of rigorous training in traditional civilities. They couldn't replace the turtle soup in the Grill Room (no two people could agree on how it used to taste), but lovers of the old Grant say the new one keeps its promise.

Across the street, the Westgate also threw cost-accounting to the winds. Modern on the outside, the Westgate echoes Versailles with European antiques, tapestries, Baccarat crystal and things that speak fluent rich. No two rooms are alike, which befits the royal and presidential people who occasionally drop in. If the Westgate is France, Venice is in the next block. Horton Plaza, one of the jazziest malls ever to hit an unsuspecting midtown, has the flashy colors and Roman arches of sunny Italy plus a doge's palace outlined in black and white tile. Pink, green, yellow balconies, walls, open stages, theaters, restaurants, shops. Slightly narrow and winding, Horton Plaza could easily be a garish mess, but the colors and forms are an architectural feast instead.

The Plaza will probably become as standard an attraction as Balboa Park and Point Loma. Don't had for either one, however, before sauntering around the Gaslight Quarter, 16 blocks of Victorian architecture, edged by the Plaza.

Bustling back to 1890, storefronts and offices are being tenderly restored to the days when every window had its own gingerbread topping, every lamp post its curlicue braces. A few adult-type establishments are still in the mix, but its a good neighborhood to browse for antiques and ethnic eating.

CLOSE TO downtown, Balboa Park is a non-stop world's fair. Only in Washington, D.C., has anything like the concentration of museums, exhibit halls and points of interest as this thousand-plus acres of lush layout.

I stood between a kilted Scotsman and East Indian, watching Japanese drummers do a temple dance during their ethnic festival. One hundred yards away, Ansel Adams was being featured at the San Diego Museum of Art; up the street in the Fleet Space Theater visitors in a wrap-around movie were being taken though the air locks and out into space, along with the astronauts.

One hundred fifty years ago this was a dreary canyon area beyond town, as a local dump. Two fairs, one in 1915, and the California International Exposition of 1935-36 changed all that. Trees were planted, ornate plaster structures (in constant repair) of Spanish grandeur built for the fair now house the Museum of Man, Museum of San Diego History, Space Museum, Botanical Pavilion, etc.

Visitors can unwind listening to the Spreckels outdoor organ, bells from the California Tower, or watch street magicians and assorted free souls do tricks for a passed hat.

The Cafe del Rey Moro (House of the Moorish King) provides a green garden respite and excellent Cal-Mex cuisine. San Diegans consider the Cafe "their place" for weddings or family reunions.

Balboa Park teems with athletic facilities, picnic areas, learning centers. The San Diego Zoo, address B.P., is all three.

You'd need the stamina of a Grand Canyon mule to do the entire circuit of paths and downhill byways in this champion zoo where the world's largest collection of animals attracts one of the largest continuing streams of humans. It takes several visits to see every koala (not a bear) and cockatoo in the place.

A zoo of a different stripe is Wild Animal Park, a separate branch of the Zoo Society, operating in the sun-baked hills north of town. Eerily like Africa, you are taken on a monorail around a large preserve where animals of the veldt live much as they would at home, might even eat careless intruders for lunch.

Trained bird and beast perform, and there's a photo caravan for close-up animal pics from an open-air truck.

SEA WORLD numero uno sits on Mission Bay, letting you gaze at ocean life or gasp at killer whales leaping out of water like self-energized space ships. The story lines of the aquatic shows get a little silly, but Sea World is a clear must, especially for kids.

In winter, grey whales migrate near Point Loma, a wondrously scenic peninsula from which to view the bay area. The drive winds past a sobering Navy graveyard to a monument of Cabrillo, first European to visit southern California, then to a Visitor's Center, old Point Loma lighthouse and glass-walled whale viewing perch.

The Navy may provide a show by sending some ships to sea while you watch. Or go to the parade grounds on base to see the close-order drilling. Your taxes have already paid your admission.

Old Town San Diego State Historic Park and Presidio Park give lessons in the area's Spanish beginnings. There's a touch of the English crown at the legendary Hotel Coronado, grande dame of west coast resorts, and a bit of the colonies at Seaport Village, shops and eateries made to look like New Bedford.

The red streetcars zinging through town travel 16 miles to the Mexican border, close to Tijuana's new Cultural Center, Rio Plaza shopping.

The city on the seashore is less than an hour to desert or mountains. Never really gets cold. Expressways don't seem to suffer Los Angeles's dead-stop congestion. Streets are clean. More than 350 hostels, hotels, bed and breakfasts, condo rental agencies, RV parks, campgrounds, et al. are listed in area directories.

Born in Spanish colonialism, raised western-American, with a large population that has joined the Navy and has seen the world, San Diego breathes an intercontinental air.

... and, in wide world San Diego, they talk your language.

For more information: San Diego Convention & Visitors Bureau, 1200 Third Ave., Suite 824, San Diego, CA 92101-4190. Phone: (619)232-3101.

Bells from the California tower are a familiar sound in Balboa Park.

Diverse festival steps up theater

By Ethel Simmons
staff writer

The Ann Arbor Summer Festival is back for a third year — this one running from Saturday, June 28, to Tuesday, July 22 — and there will be less movie theater, in response to the public's desire.

Festival Administrator Alan Brown, in a visit to the Birmingham office of the Observer & Eccentric, compared the 1986 performing arts festival to the previous two.

"The first year was a multi-arts festival with a wide spectrum of events," he said. "The second year, some cancellations occurred, mostly in theater. We wound up with mostly a music festival."

Brown, who was raised in Birmingham and studied music and business at the University of Michigan, has been with the festival since its inception. The previous two years he was responsible for activities at the Top of the Park adjacent to the Power Center, which offers food and free live entertainment and movies during the festival.

HE DESCRIBED the year's events as "a lighter program. We have virtually no classical music this year."

Brown said that for the first two years, other organizations financed the attractions. "This year, for the first year, the Ann Arbor Summer Festival is paying for the attractions. We wound up with a lighter program, a more diverse program."

The first year of the festival was very successful in sales and the second year was also successful.

"Ticket sales were the same last year. They totaled $250,000 last year."

Projecting sales for this year, he said, "If we sold out, we would do $250,000 in tickets. We hope to break even."

This year, he said, the festival is being located at the Power Center World Square Center, the same as previous years. "Tickets were sold mostly at the Power Center box office, which was very possible as it needed to be," he said.

French mime Marcel Marceau, who appeared at the first festival, will be back again this year. He will give two performances and also hold classes.

"HE'S PROBABLY the strongest identity we have for our festival," Brown said. "We hope to bring Ann Arbor the permanent home of his mime school outside of Paris."

Theatrical attractions will include two productions by the Act Company, which he has called America's foremost classical repertory theater company. To be presented are Shakespeare's romantic comedy "As You Like It" and a new production of "The Merchant of Venice" by Charles, adapted by contemporary American playwrights.

Brown said "Orchestra" will be performed for the first time in Michigan. Another Michigan premiere will be the all-black Market Theatre Company of South Africa's production of "Assassins," a play about the hardships of life in that country. Prominent actor Kevin McCarthy

'Give 'em Hell' Actor portrays Truman

By Ethel Simmons
staff writer

THE VOICE WAS that of Kevin McCarthy, cheerfully answering the phone from his home in Los Angeles one afternoon last week.

The actor was obviously in good spirits — "You've called at a perfect time" — as he talked willingly about his role as Harry Truman in the one-man show "Give 'em Hell, Harry."

McCarthy, whose credits include stage, screen and television, is bringing "Give 'em Hell, Harry" to the Ann Arbor Summer Festival for one performance, at 8 p.m. Tuesday, July 15, in the Power Center. The noted actor has been doing the show for about eight years, playing in 47, he said.

This will be the first time for the show in the metropolitan Detroit area, although McCarthy has done the Truman portrayal in East Lansing, Sturgis and Saginaw.

"I DO TRUMAN when it's feasible," he said. "I did a TV series for a while — and I could slip away — and films. I did 65-70 performances in 1984 of Truman, on the centennial of his birthday. I did work on the Broadway stage then. It's a great thing to have that man nearby."

The actor said Margaret Truman saw a performance he did as Truman about two and a half years ago. "She was so full of praise for what I did, she gave me a quote for the flyer: 'Kevin McCarthy is superb as my father in 'Give 'em Hell, Harry.'"

McCarthy isn't the first actor to appear in this particular one-man show. "It was first done by James Whitmore 10 years ago. He walked away from it."

McCarthy said Whitmore did the role on stage, but after Whitmore recorded it in Seattle for a film performance, which was shown as a feature film, he no longer had any interest in doing the role.

"Another actor tried to take over the road tour after the film, but he wasn't too successful," McCarthy said.

The author, Samuel Gallu, suggested McCarthy might like to play the role. Although the performer

'I try to get near to him without trying to impersonate him. I don't wear any paint or powder.'

— Actor Kevin McCarthy

doesn't bear a physical resemblance to Truman, and is more a leading-man type than a character actor, the author told him, "You'll do just fine."

WHAT DOES the handsome, strong-featured McCarthy do to make himself look like Truman? "I don't do anything," he said. "I comb my hair on the left hand side of my head. I wear rimmed spectacles and blousy, baggy suits of the era. I wear a Stetson of the type Harry used. I go up and down the aisles with a cane. I try to get near to him without trying to impersonate him. I don't wear any paint or powder."

McCarthy said he admires Truman for his candor, his humility, his modesty and his courage.

The qualities of this man are just so attractive. As he said, "I am a one-man lobby for the people."

Doing the show is a hard job, McCarthy said. "You stand up on the stage for two hours. I work with a stage crew four or five hours and go on. And I don't know if the cues will work."

The actor sends ahead a prospectus to the theater, listing the things he wants, which include a desk, a bale of hay, a lawnmower and a platform for a whistle-stop train, to name just a few. "I tell them what I need... a pool of light in the Oval Office."

The play starts in the Executive Office. "It opens with a letter to Margaret," McCarthy said. "He strides to the footlights and tells what it's like to become president." To illustrate, the actor quoted Truman saying, "Hell, I can't compare myself to Roosevelt or Churchill."

McCarthy SAID the play rambles around to when Truman first started out. He got into politics after the depression of 1922. "He was a haberdashery guy and found himself running for country judge."

During the show, McCarthy as Truman talks about the conflict with MacArthur, the dropping of the atomic bomb, and meeting Stalin and Churchill at Potsdam. There's the episode where the president is out in his shirt-sleeves cutting his lawn on Sunday morning, and scandalizes the neighborhood.

McCarthy described Truman as a "fleshy, pragmatic at times, funny and salty kind of guy."

The actor and his wife, Catherine Crane McCarthy, have lived in their Los Angeles home for the last five years. He said they're really New Yorkers but stay in L.A. because of the family life with their children.

Kate has a daughter, 14, and they have two children together, a daughter, 9½, and a son, 4½. McCarthy also has three grown children.

When the Observer & Eccentric called, McCarthy had been working beside the pool pruning roses, he said.

"Psycho" (1960), 1 a.m. tonight on Ch. 9. Originally 109 minutes. TV time slot: Last scheduled program.

Everybody remembers the shower scene in this Alfred Hitchcock thriller. The usual Hitchcock touches are here, including some shocking surprises and a mordant sense of humor. Anthony Perkins began a long career of playing unbalanced people with his work here as a mother-obsessed killer. This is perhaps more vicious than most of Hitchcock's films and less stylish. But it is the raw energy that makes it so popular. It has been the source book for numerous lesser films. The major flaw is a needless addendum giving psychobabble explanation for what goes on.

Rating: $3.50.
"Sisters" (1973), 2:35 a.m. tonight on Ch. 7. Originally 93 minutes. TV time slot: 115 minutes.
Here is a "Psycho" descendant by Hitchcock's most determined imitator Brian DePalma. This was DePalma's first venture into an area that he would mine many times over. The suspense is handled quite well at times but the basic plotting is absurd and the acting pedestrian except for Margot Kidder in the duo role of twin sisters — one good and the other homicidal.

"MacArthur" (1977), 7:30 p.m. on Ch. 9. Originally 130 minutes. TV time slot: 150 minutes.

Gregory Peck struts through the Pacific theater as Douglas MacArthur, great general and giant ego. Peck is good and the battle scenes are full of thunder, but the real depths of MacArthur's arrogance and brilliance are never explored. The style is reminiscent of "Patton" and certainly MacArthur was every bit as interesting a subject as his junior comrade in Europe. But "Patton" was a more courageous film, less reverent and it even dared to be wholly theatrical to catch the essence of Patton's Caesar complex.

briefly speaking

A CHILDREN'S arts and crafts workshop will be held at the Livonia Mall July 11, 18 and 25, with two sessions each Friday. The morning session will run 10-11:30 a.m. with the afternoon session 1-2:30 p.m. The program is free and a different craft will be made each week. Children ages 5-12 are eligible. The program is co-sponsored by the Livonia Mall and Livonia Parks and Recreation Dept. For information, call 476-1166. Registration is limited.

IT WOULD be difficult to imagine July in Ann Arbor without the Art Fair. But you won't have to do any such thing because the process of jurying more than 5,000 slides of art is over and the momentum for the approaching fair is picking up. It will take place July 23-26 and close to half a million people are expected to attend. Located on South University and East University streets, 240 artists from 27 states will take over the streets with displays of their work. Show hours are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday.

ART AND fashion come together for one dynamic evening when the Founders Junior Council of the Detroit Institute of Arts and J.L. Hudson stores team up for "Fash Bash," Wednesday, Aug. 13 in the fourth level ballroom of the Westin Hotel, Renaissance Center. Tax-deductible tickets are $20 and available at the DIA Ticket Office and at Hudson's and other Ticket World outlets.

On top of watching the fashion show by Hudson's — and the one put on by the crowd itself — there's a silent auction with more than 300 items ranging in value from $25 to several thousand dollars, including art work, jewelry trips and things-to-do.

MILL RACE Weavers Guild will hold a handwoven sale from noon to 5 p.m. Friday, July 4, in the Weavers Cottage in Northville's Historical Village. A variety of distinctive handwoven articles will be available. The public is welcome and admission is free.

"THE PHILADELPHIA Story," starring Katherine Hepburn, Cary Grant and Jimmy Stewart, will be shown at 1:30 p.m. and again at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, June 25, in Kresge Hall on the campus of Madonna College, Livonia. It is open to the public and there is no admission charge. Madonna is at I-96 and Levan in Livonia.

TOP HONORS for exhibits at the Livonia Arts Commission's arts and crafts show last weekend at Greenmead went to Petoskey photographer Luciano Duse, River Rouge wood sculptor Greg Joseph and Robert Kitchens of Farmingdale, N.Y., with his marquetry and inlaid wood designs. Honorable mentions went to painters Karl Larsen and Nick Varkula and graphics artist Sue O'Neil. A show featuring selected works by all the winning artists is planned for the Livonia City Hall by the Livonia Arts Commission, which sponsors the event, now in its 10th year.

A REMINDER that the next event at Greenmead, Livonia's historical site, will be an antique auto show and ice cream social from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday, July 13, co-sponsored by the Packard Club and the Livonia Historical Commission. Many of the same cars that appear at Concours d'Elegance at Meadow Brook are in the Greenmead show.

ICE CREAM gets special hands-on treatment at the Detroit Historical Museum Saturday, July 19, when two workshops on handmade ice cream — open all ages — is held. One session is scheduled for 10 a.m. and the other at 12:30 p.m. Fee is $1.50. Participants will mix the custard and freeze an old-fashioned treat for some finger-lickin' fun. The museum is at 3401 Woodward, corner of Kirby in Detroit's University Cultural Center. For more information, call 533-1800.

Summery summary: concerts aplenty

MUSIC UNDER the sun and under the stars gets underway in July and continues through August in the communities of Plymouth and Livonia.

The one-hour-long noon-time series on Wednesdays is called "Music in the Park," and is hosted by the Plymouth Community Arts Council. While the sun may be overhead, the setting will be cool and shady Kellogg Park in the heart of downtown Plymouth.

Noon-time listeners will be treated to a talented selection of entertainers. Kicking off the program Wednesday, July 2, will be saxophonist Andrew Dahlke whose repertory includes both classical and jazz selections. Dahlke is the winner of numerous awards and honors, including two arts council scholarships, the Margaret E. Wilson Scholarship for the Performing Arts and the Joanne Winkelman Hulce award.

ON JULY 9, Mary Kleam will perform on the clarinet. A University of Michigan graduate in music, she is an instructor of the Plymouth Marching Band as well as soloist in the Plymouth Community Band.

On July 16, accordionist Eva Hildebrandt is featured. Her specialties are polkas, German melodies and pop tunes. The popular instructor has been a musical entertainer for over 40 years.

Bill Weaver takes over the stage — kilts an all — on July 23 with Scottish tunes on the bagpipe.

Marimba music by Karen Store is scheduled for July 30. Store is band director at Lowell Middle School and also is drum instructor for the Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps.

August will see Marion Stokes with sweet mountain melodies on her Butternut wooden dulcimer, Aug. 6; trombonist John Upton, Aug. 13; "Just Me and the Boys" performing Blue Grass, Irish, folk and old-time music, Aug. 20; and chamber music concert by violinists Dan Stacy and George Stapulla, Aug. 27.

Listeners are reminded to bring their own seating arrangements and brown-bagging is encouraged.

The Thursday night "Music Under the Stars" in the Civic Center area in downtown Livonia gets off to rousing start 7:30 p.m. Thursday, July 3, with the Max Davey Singers and orchestra.

The group appeared in the winter Sunday afternoon performing arts series and were so popular that the arts commission, which sponsors the two series, decided to put the singers in the summer spotlight as well.

The following week will feature the big band sound by Richard Sywinski. The Detroit Concert Brass takes over on July 17 with Saxophone Symphony on July 24. The Austin-Moro band will be spotlighted July 31.

Part of the August lineup will be: Tony Russo concert band, Aug. 7; Bob Durant Big Band, Aug. 14; Jimmie Wilkin orchestra, Aug. 14. Unmasking a talent

Current pop trend is moulding his career

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

FACIAL MASKS, the pop art trend of the moment, are captured by artists in a variety of artistic expressions, using a wide variety of mediums.

The masks range in size from miniatures appearing on jacket lapels, to larger-than-life versions that decorate walls. They are created from metal or ceramic, papier-mache or fabric. Some are contemporary, as real as life. Others are traditional, an exercise in fantasy.

John Sutton of Garden City is an artist of facial masks. The 58-year-old Sutton has taken the medium and personalized a style of expression he describes as "on the average, realistic."

SUTTON'S MASKS are nearly life-size and a majority of his 62 or so samples are realistic. Some are extremely life-like, portraits of women done on commission.

But an equal number possess fantastic colored hair of blue, purple or green, and traces of animal-like features.

The most-personalized aspect of Sutton's masks are the eyes. Eyes in a normal mask are cut out, revealing human eyes when worn. Sutton's masks are not intended to be worn and the eyes are intact.

Most are shaded traditional blues, browns and black but there are startling sets of eyes colored gold, turquoise or lavender. All are outlined with thick, luxurious lashes, "beautiful sets of lashes," Sutton said.

Because the masks are hand-painted, no two are alike. Each is signed by the artist, making them collector pieces of potentially increasing value.

MOST OF Sutton's masks represent female faces, whether it be a girl's face plastered with freckles, Sutton's interpretation of Juliet or a fantasy mask with feline features.

Sutton fashions his human portraits from colored photographs supplied by the customer. He uses the photograph to gauge accurate eye and hair color. He said the photo is all he needs to paint an authentic likeness.

The most difficult commissioned order was a mask of a female lion, complete with a mane. "Lionesses don't have manes," Sutton explained. He ended up with a mask containing a mane of feminine curls laced with forget-me-not flowers.

Sutton, who was raised in Traverse City, said he has no idea where his artistic talent came from. Neither parent was artistic. Yet each of their children are.

Sutton's sister, Edith Knapp of Ypsilanti, is an artist of local renown and his brother, Harry, is Sutton's right-hand man.

It is Harry who casts the ceramic masks for Sutton to paint. They are cast from molds Sutton designed. As he "dreams new ideas," he said, he designs new molds.

The two do seminars throughout the midwest.

This Christmas season Sutton will release two new styles, one mask decorated with mistletoe and berries, and another festooned with mistletoe.

CERAMIC IS not a new medium to Sutton. He served for 16 years as art director for Ceramic Arts & Craft Magazine, a national trade magazine. During that time he began painting ceramics. He has also authored two books, "Brushwork on Ceramics" and "A Guide to Painting Features."

Sutton was trained as an artist at Bradley University in Illinois and he has studied at Kennebunk Art School in Maine. Prior to working for the magazine, he was a commercial artist for 21 years.

A year ago, Sutton said, "I'd been the property of other people long enough." Last November he created his first mask and business has been good ever since.

His mask samples are displayed for sale with the Michigan Association of Gift Salesmen in Northville. His work was displayed by Jacobson's in June and countless smaller shops carry the masks as well. Sutton said they are priced between $50 and $60 each.

If Sutton is not busy fashioning masks, he and Harry are attending Indian powwows in Michigan and neighboring states. The Sutton brothers are descendants of Potawatomi Indians.

"We are big fans of Indian lore and crafts," Sutton said.

This interest has led Sutton to paint ceramic pots in a style strongly reminiscent of traditional Indian style. Sutton also works with oil, water color and pastels.

John Sutton (left) and his brother Harry team up to do ceramic masks. John designs the molds and paints them, with the casting of the molds falling to Harry.

Changing attitudes ease artistic struggle

By Faye Kuzma
special writer

WOMEN ARE changing their attitudes toward themselves," observed artist Electra Stamelos during her recent slide presentation chronicling the accomplishments of Michigan women artists for "Women: Focus '86."

The conference, held on the University of Michigan's Dearborn campus, reflected that changing attitude. Stamelos' story mirrors that of many women-strivers in traditionally male fields. Persistence in the face of mixed messages from male tutors and colleagues and determination in spite of family responsibilities and illness characterize the attitude of the successful woman artist. Such an attitude often leads a woman to take ground-breaking steps.

Stamelos, for instance, was only the second woman to graduate with a master of fine arts in water color from Eastern Michigan in 1976. She was about 49 years old.

Stamelos recalls her father's well-meaning advice: "It's OK to be an artist, but learn typing." Such comments were typical from her parent's generation; yet, even after returning to school — having put in 15 years as a typist — Stamelos still heard non-supportive remarks such as: How can you be an artist and be married? This time, it came from the Pepsi generation.

TODAY, STAMELOS is a successful water color painter whose vision

newsmakers in the arts

incites figurative abstractions. Her works are exhibited in such galleries as So Ho's Arbitrage and the Michelson Gallery in Washington, D.C. In the metro-area, she is perhaps best known for her efforts in saving the Wilson Dairy Barn in Livonia; her encouraging style of teaching water color for the Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association, BBAA; and her rapid-fire insights in commenting on art as an adjunct lecturer at the University of Michigan-Dearborn. She also serves the university as director of art acquisitions and exhibitions.

Stamelos paints organic shapes with technical veracity, as in "Blue Cabbage," on exhibit at the Cantor Lemberg Gallery on N. Woodward. Inspired by the farm life near her home in Hartland, the study of cabbage is also based on her love of geometric forms. For hidden beneath the leaves and layers of glasses, Stamelos designed a pattern of triangles arranged according to the ancient method for creating dynamic symmetry, the golden mean.

While teaching beginning and advanced water color at the BBAA, Stamelos has tutored several well-known Michigan women artists, in-

To make as an artist today, a woman must view herself first as a professional, Electra Stamelos told a Women Focus '86 audience recently at the University of Michigan-De-

Mixed messages dictate need to be persistent cluding Laura Whiteside Host, Lillian Moran and Mary Lou Westmas. Reflecting the struggles and achievements of Michigan's women artists, their stories were echoed throughout the slide presentation covering the lives and work-styles of some two dozen women artists.

HOST, WHO EARNED a bachelor of fine arts degree and teaching certificate from the University of Michigan in 1971, has two children, ages 4 and 6. Still, she has managed to teach art in elementary and secondary schools while also working as a free-lance artist. When her daughter was five years old, she determined to take water color classes at the BBAA. Since that time, she has started to produce more finished work. In fact, she has begun to show her work and pick up prizes. Contact with other artists, Host comments "keeps the juices flowing."

The vital interaction possible in the art class is also valued by Lillian Moran, who received her bachelor of fine arts degree from Wayne State University. Moran asserts: "Art classes create the proper environment for total artistic freedom." Such an approach is reflected in Moran's entirely original vision of a still life.

Stamelos explains that she sets up a still life "merely as a reminder of shape and form." Moran takes it from there. "If all the student's work looks like the teacher's," Stamelos advises, "Run." An art class should inspire interaction, not imitation.

APPLYING HER UNIQUE style, Moran designs the Michigan Water Color Society's catalogues and invitations. Added to this full schedule are responsibilities as wife and mother. Yet, Moran maintains her commitment through her art classes. Stamelos commented that Moran frequently completes two paintings during one class period.

Sometimes, however, keeping an artistic appointment becomes a trial. A refrain among stories of women artists is the struggle to find time for their art amid the demands of family and illness. Westmas, the oldest artist Stamelos profiled, is fighting illness. Michigan winters are particularly troublesome to her. Nevertheless, she continues to paint and vivify the woman artist's requisite determination despite adversity.

Often women can offer each other the support lacking elsewhere. "I advocate support groups," Stamelos affirms. Like the artists who met in Paris Salons, Stamelos recommends compatible artists from small critique groups. Including spouses can also enlighten attitudes about women artists. Stamelos suggests artists keep groups small and practice honesty, acceptance and love.

To make it as an artist today, a woman must view herself first as a professional. According to Stamelos, "Her 8 to 10 hours a day at work should not be interfered with." However, Stamelos acknowledges "At the same time, marriage takes work and support." Therefore, for women, the effort remains, as Stamelos puts it, "a juggling act."

Exhibit steps back to the future

A look at where 20th-century design and technology have been — and where they might have gone — will be the subject of two separate exhibits scheduled for Henry Ford Museum in the fall of 1986.

"Streamlining America," scheduled to open in September, examines the design style that influenced almost every aspect of American consumerism from the early '30s through the 1950s.

Defined as "any shape or contour designed to offer minimum resistance to fluid or air flow," the concept of streamlining was first applied to such speed-oriented products as automobiles and airplanes.

AS THE NEW technology began to offer Americans the hope of a bright future, streamlining became synonymous with "modern" and "up-to-date." The exhibit, sponsored by the ANR Pipeline Co., will feature numerous artifacts from the various museum collections illustrating what can only be called a cultural phenomenon.

Even more intriguing than the 20th-century quest for "modern" is man's conception of "ultra-modern." "Yesterday's Tomorrows," the museum's second exhibit, will document our most imaginative, and sometimes outrageous, expectations of life in the future.

Remember to attend this event

Pat Oleszko, New York performance artist, will present a benefit performance titled "The Event to Remember" for the Craft Emergency Relief Fund.

The supper party for artists and craftsmen will be in the courtyard and gallery of the University of Michigan School of Art 8-11 p.m. Tuesday, July 22. Oleszko's performance begins at 9 p.m.

Oleszko, an alumna of the School of Art, also will be conducting a summer workshop, "Sculpture Without Scruples."

The "Event to Remember" is sponsored by the U-M School of Art. Joan Mondale will be the honorary hostess for the event.

Donations are $15 per person at the door or $10 per person, by mail before July 1. Checks may be made payable to School of Art/C.E.R.F. Benefit and sent to S. Rose Smith, School of Art, 2000 Bonisteel, Ann Arbor 48109.
